pontoon. Vingt-(et)-un, the card-game: 1900: military coll. >, by 1910, gen. S.E. A corruption of, more prob. an approximation to, vingt-un. S.O.D.

Pony. An 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Moore: military: from ca. 1885. F. & Gibbons. Ex 'a well-known sporting character': actually 'Pony' Moore of the Moore & Burgess Minstrels.

pony. A bailiff; esp. an officer accompanying a debtor on a day's liberty: coll.: C. 18—mid-19.—2. Money: low: ca. 1810–40. Lex. Bal., Moncrieff (see quotation at pew, stump the), Ainsworth. Prob. ex sense 2.—3. £25: 1797, Mrs. M. Robinson, 'There is no touching her even for a poney,' O.E.D. Perhaps because only a small sum, as a pony is a small horse. (Cf. pony up, q.v.) N.B., among brokers, a pony is £25,000 of stock, i.e. 25 £1000-shares. Cf. monkey, n., 2.—4. A small glass of liquor: 1884, in U.S.; anglicized ca. 1890, chiefly as a small measure of beer. O.E.D.—5. In gambling, a double-headed or double-tailed coin: c. > low s.: late C. 19–20.—6. A erib: school-boys' (—1913). A. H. Dawson.—7. Inferior goods: market-traders' (e.g., Petticoat Lane): C. 20.

pony, post the. To pay: a C. 19 variant of post the pole: see post, v., 2, and pony, 2. (Baumann's pot the pony is an error.)

pony (occ. lady), sell the. To toss for drinks: low: late C. 19–20. Ex pony, third and fifth senses. Hence, he who has to pay, buys the pony.

pony and trap. See tom-tit.

pony in white. A sum or value of twenty-five shillings: racing c.: C. 20. Ex pony, 3; in white, in silver.

pony up, v.i. and t. To pay; settle: a mostly U.S. variant and derivative of post the pony: 1824, U.S.; partly anglicised ca. 1840; ob. by 1920. (O.E.D.; Thornton.) Prob. ex pony, 2.

pooch. See pouch.

poodle. Any dog: (sarcastic) coll.: from ca. 1880; slightly ob.—2. (Poodle.) The same as Paul Pry, q.v. (Dawson).—3. (Rare in singular.) A sausage: low: C. 20. A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, 1914, 'We fair busted ourselves on poodles and mashed' (Manchon); slightly ob.

poodle-faker. A man, esp. a naval or military officer, that, for the time being rather than habitually, cultivates the society of women: Anglo-Indian, hence military, hence naval: from middle 1920's (? earlier). Hence, poodle-faking, vbl.n. O.E.D. (Sup.). In reference to lap-dogs.

poodler. A 'womaniser' or confirmed flirt among cyclists: cyclists': from ca. 1930. Ex preceding. The opp. is a blinder.

poof. A male pervert: c. (—1932) and low. 'Stuart Wood.' Ex poof! or pooh!. Also spelt pooffe. See also puff, n., 2.

pooh-pooh. A rifle; a big gun: New Zealand soldiers' (rare): in G.W. Cf. poop, v., 4.

pooja, puja. (Gen. in pl. form.) Prayers: Anglo-Indian: 1863, Trevelyan in The Competition Wallah (O.E.D.). Ex Sanskrit puja, worship.

Poole. An excellent suit; perfect clothing: male society coll.: from ca. 1840. Ex Poole, a leading tailor, at 37–9 Savile Row, London. Messrs Henry Poole & Co. were established in 1823 by James Poole at 171 Regent Street; their fame has forced them to open a branch in Paris (10 rue Tronchet). Ware; The Red Book of Commerce, 1906 (ed. of 1935).

poon. To prop (a piece of furniture) with a wedge: Winchester College (—1891). Wrench. Notions. Prob. ex L. ponere, to place. Imm. ex:—2. V.i., to be unsteady: ibid.: ca. 1830–70. Wrench, 'Hence you wedged the leg that pooned.'

poona. £1; a sovereign: costermongers': from ca. 1855. H., 1st. ed. ? pound corrupted or ex Lingua Franca (cf. ponte, q.v.) or, less likely, pound influenced by poonah, a painting, etc., on the analogy of Queen's picture (q.v.).

Poona Guards, the. The East Yorkshires, formerly the 15th Regiment of Foot: military: from ca. 1860. Ex residence in India. Also the Snappers.

poonts. The paps: low: from ca. 1870. Etymology obscure.

poop. The seat at the back of a coach: coll.: ca. 1614–80. Ex the poop of a ship. (O.E.D.)—2. The posteriors: low coll.: from ca. 1640. Ned Ward, 'While he manages his Whip-staff with one Hand, he scratches his Poop with the other,' O.E.D. Ob. Cf. sense 1.—3. A breaking of wind: low coll.: late C. 18–20. Ex v., 2; cf. † S.E. poop, a short blast, a toot.—4. A foolish person: 1924, E. F. Benson, David of King's, 'When we're young we're piffers, and when we're old we're poops.' Cf. poop-stick, q.v.

poop. To coit: C. 17–18: low coll. Cf. poop-noddy, q.v.—2. To break wind: dial. and low coll.: C. 18–20. Bailey, 1721, 'To Poop, to break Wind backwards softly'. Ex S.E. poop, to make an abrupt sound; to toot. Occ. poupe. (O.E.D.)—3. Hence, to defecate (L. cacare): (? late) C. 19–20: low coll., mostly of and by children (E.D.D.).—4. With senses 2 and 3, cf. the military v.i., to fire a gun, i.e. a big gun, not a rifle or machine-gun; (of a gun) to bang: coll.: from not later than 1916. B. & P. Often poop off (F. & Gibbons).—5. Hence, v.t., to shoot a person: coll.: from ca. 1930. (Georgette Heyer, Why Shoot a Butler?, 1933.)

poop-downhaul. An imaginary rope: nautical coll. (—1883). Cf. the operation, equally imaginary, of 'clapping the keel athwart-ships'. Clark Russell's glossary.

poop-noddy. Sexual intercourse: low coll.: C. 17. (Cf. poop, v., 1.) Anon., Wily Beguiled, 'I saw them close together at poop-noddy.' So F. & H.; the O.E.D. suggests that it = cony-catching, occ. cony-catcher, noddy being a simpton.

poop off. See poop, v., 4.

poop-ornament. An apprentice: nautical: ca. 1850–90. The Athenæum, Feb. 8, 1902, 'Misalled "a blarsted poop ornament", the drudge even of ordinary seamen'.

poop-stick. An objectionable fellow, esp. if a soldier: C. 20. P. MacDonald, Rope to Spare, 1932, '"You make me sick!" he said. "Let a little poop-stick like that walk all over you!"' Virtually a euphemism for shit, n., 2. Cf. poop, n., 4.

pooper. A great wave coming over the stern (formerly called the poop): nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

poor. Unfortunate; in pitiable condition or circumstances: C. 13–20: S.E. until ca. 1855, then coll. Mrs Carlyle, 1857, 'He looked dreadfully weak still, poor fellow!'—2. When said, as from ca. 1785, of the dead person whom one has known, poor verges on coll. O.E.D.

poor as a Connaught man. Extremely poor: Anglo-Irish coll.: ca. 1802, Maria Edgeworth.

poor as a rat, as. Extremely poor: a C. 18–20 (ob.) coll. variation of as poor as a church-mouse. E. Ward, 1703, 'Whilst men of parts, as poor as rats . . .', with which cf. Hugh Kimber's 'The country is full of hungry men with brains' (March 1933); Marryat, 1834; W. De Morgan, 1907. Apperson.

poor creature. (Gen. pl.) A potato: low London: ca. 1820-50. Bee.

poor knight of Windsor. See next: coll. and dial.: C. 19. Scott, The Bride of Lammermoor, 1818, has this footnote, 'In contrast . . . to the baronial "Sir Loin", ' concerning:

poor man (of mutton). The blade-bone of a shoulder of mutton: Scots coll.: C. 19-20. Scott: see preceding entry.—2. (poor-man.) As a heap of corn-sheaves, four upright and one a-top, it is prob. dial.: Scots, C. 19-20.

poor man's blessing. The female pudend: low coll.: C. 19-20.

poor man's goose. Bullock's liver, baked with sage, onions, and a little fat bacon: (low) coll. (—1909). Ware. Cf. poor man's treacle. (In Warwickshire dial., it is 'a cow's spleen stuffed and roasted', E.D.D., 1903.)

poor man's oyster. A mussel: coll.: 1891, Tit-Bits, Aug. 8; ob.

poor man's side, or with capitals. The poor man's side of the Thames, i.e. South London: a coll. (—1887; very ob.) verging on S.E. Bau-mann. Opp. rich man's side, the North side of the Thames: same period.

poor man's treacle. An onion: (low) coll.: late C. 19-20. The Century Dict.

poor Robin. An almanach: coll.: ca. 1660-1760. Ex Robert Herrick, who issued a series of so-called almanachs.

poorly. (Always in the predicate, except in poorly time, q.v.) In poor health; unwell: from ca. 1750: S.E. until ca. 1870, then near-coll.; in C. 20, coll. O.E.D.

poorly time. The monthly period: lower-class women's coll. (—1887). Baumann.

pooser. 'A huge, uncouth thing': low North-amberland s. (—1903). Ex dial. poose (or pouse), to strike. E.D.D. Cf. whopper.

poot. A shilling: East London (—1909). Ware. Ex Hindustani. Oriental beggars were, before that date, common there.

poove; pooving. Food; feeding, i.e. grazing for animals: either circus s. or Parlyaree (—1933). E. Seago, Circus Company. Origin?: perhaps ultimately ex the root pa, as in Sanscrit gô-pas, a herdsman.

pop. (Pop.) A club chiefly of Oppidans: Eton College: C. 19-20. Founded in 1812; see e.g. Etoniana, 1869. Traditionally derived ex L. popina, a cook-shop, the rooms having long been over a confectioner's.—2. A popular concert: coll.: 1862 (O.E.D.). W. S. Gilbert, 'Who thinks suburban hops more fun than Monday Pops'. Cf. prom, q.v.—3. (Gen. in pl.) a pistol: C. 18-20; ob. Hall, 1714; Harper, 1724, 'Two Pops Had my Boman when he was ta'en'; Grose; Marryat. Like the next, ex the sound.—4. A drink that fizzes from the bottle when the cork—'pop goes the cork'—is drawn; gen. ginger-beer: coll.: 1812, Southey. Occ., but † by 1870, champagne, as in Hood, 'Home-made pop that will not foam.' Cf. juza, q.v.—5. An, the, act of pawning: 1866, Routledge's Every Boy's Annual (O.E.D.). Ex pop, v., 3.—6. See pop, in.—7. As = father, orig. and almost wholly U.S. (1840). Also poppa (—1897), popper (—1901): likewise mainly U.S. Ex papa. (Ware.)—8. Abbr. poppycock: 1924, Galsworthy (O.E.D. Sup.).—9. (Pop.) Poperinghe, near Ypres: military, esp. officers': G.W., and after. (F. & Gibbons.)

Pop. See pop, n., 1, 9.—2. the Pop; the Poplolly. Lady Darlington, notorious and prominent in English society of the 1820's. John Gore, Creevey's Life and Times, 1934.

pop, v. To fire a gun: coll.: 1725, A New Canting Dict.; ob.—2. V.t., to shoot: s. or coll. >, in C. 20, S.E. Gen. with down (1762) or off (1813). O.E.D.—3. To pawn: 1731, Fielding; Barrie, 1902, 'It was plain for what she had popped her watch,' O.E.D. Cf. pop-shop and pop up the spout.—4. See pop off and pop the question.—5. To lose one's temper: tailors': late C. 19-20.

pop, give (a person) a. To engage in a fight (from ca. 1910); to fire at with machine-gun (G.W.): New Zealanders'.

pop, go. To go to the pawnshop: low (—1923). Manchon. Ex the lit. sense of the phrase.

pop, in. In pawn: from ca. 1865: low. The n., only thus. Cf. pop, v., 3, and n., 5.

pop!, sure. Certainly!; 'sure!': children's (—1923). Manchon.

pop-eyed. Having bulging eyes, or eyes opened wide in surprise: U.S. (ca. 1820), anglicized by ca. 1910. (O.E.D. Sup.)

pop goes the weasel!, now gen. regarded as a nursery-rhyme tag, was in the 1870's and 80's a proletarian (mostly Cockney) c.p. Ware, 'Activity is suggested by "pop", and the little weasel is very active. Probably erotic origin. Chiefly associated with these lines—Up and down the City Road | In and out the Eagle, | That's the way the money goes, | Pop goes the weasel!' pop it in, v.i. To effect intromission: low coll.: C. 19-20. Contrast:

pop it on, v.t. To ask for more, esp. a higher price: coll.: 1876, Hindley.

pop-lolly. A sweetmeat: cheapjacks' s. or coll.: 1876, Hindley, 'Lollipop and pop-lolly'.

pop off. See pop, v., 2.—2. To die: 1764, Foote, 'If Lady Pepperpot should happen to pop off', O.E.D. Also, but ob. by 1930, pop off the hooks, from ca. 1840, as in Barham.

pop-shop. A pawn-shop: 1772, The Town and Country Magazine; 1785, Grose. Ex pop, v., 3. (O.E.D.)

pop the question. To propose marriage: 1826, Miss Mitford, 'The formidable interrogatory . . . emphatically called "popping the question"', O.E.D.: s. >, in C. 20, coll. Rarely, to pop († by 1920). Ex S.E. pop the question, to ask abruptly.

pop up the spout. Same as pop, v., 3: low: 1859, H., 1st ed. See spout.

pop visit. A short visit: society coll.: C. 17-18. Jonson in The Alchemist. (Ware.)

pop-wallah. A teetotaler: military: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons. Lit., a ginger-beer fellow. See pop, n., 4, and wallah.

pope. As a pejorative (a pope of a thing), as an imprecation ('A pope on all women,' 1620), in as drunk as a pope, and in (e.g. know, read) no more than the pope, i.e. nothing, the term is on the borderland between S.E. and coll.: all these phrases are † except in dial.—2. See Pope of Rome.

pope-holy is catachrestic when = popishly devout or holy: C. 17-20; ob. O.E.D.

Pope o' Rome. See trot the udyju.

pope of Rome. A home; home, adv.: rhyming s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Often abbr. pope (Ware, 1909).

poperine pear. The penis: low coll.: late C. 16-mid-17. Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet, in the quarto edition; passage afterwards suppressed. Ex shape.

pope's eye. The thread of fat, properly 'the lymphatic gland surrounded with fat', in (the middle of) a leg of mutton: from ca. 1670: S.E. till C. 19, then coll. Shirley Brooks, 1852, 'The pope's eye on a Protestant leg of mutton'. Presumably eye ex its rounded form. (O.E.D.)

pope's (occ. Turk's) head. A round broom, with a long handle: from ca. 1820: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; ob. Maria Edgeworth, in Love and Law, 'Run . . . for the pope's head.'

pope's nose. A turkey's, a fowl's rump: coll.: late C. 18-20. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. parson's nose, q.v.

pope's size. Short and fat: trade s. > j.: from ca. 1885; ob. Mostly tailors'.

Poplar finance. Maladministration of public funds, esp. by a town-council: political coll.: from ca. 1925. Collinson. Ex the misuse of the relief system in Poplar ca. 1920-5 and with a pun on popular.

poplars, popler(s), poppelars; rarely, paplar. Porridge; esp. milk-porridge: c.: C. 17-early 19. Dekker (poplars); Middleton (popler); Grose, 1st ed. (poplers). Prob. a corruption of pap (for infants, invalids).

popletic, popletical. Incorrect for poplitic(al): mid-C. 16-17. O.E.D.

Poplolly, the. See Pop, 2.—poppa. See pop, n., seventh sense.

popped. Annoyed; esp. in popped as a hatter, very angry: tailors': from ca. 1860. ? = popped off, apt to pop off. Cf. mad as a hatter.

poppelars. See poplars.

popper. A pistol: 1750, Coventry; ob.: s. > coll. in late C. 19-20, also a rifle or a shot-gun (E. Seago, 1933).—2. See pop, n., 7.

popping-crease. A junction station: railway officials' (—1909). Ware. Punning the cricket term.

poppite. A performer at (1895), a frequenter of (1901), the popular concerts: coll. Ex pop, n., 2. O.E.D.

poppy, adj. Popping, exploding: coll.: 1894, Kipling, 'Little poppy shells'. O.E.D.—2. (Of the ground) causing the ball to 'pop' (itself, j.): cricket coll.: from 1874. Lewis.

poppy-show. A display, esp. if accidental, of underclothes; orig. and properly, of red or brown flannel underclothes: low coll.: late C. 19-20. Ex dial. poppy-show, a peep-show, a puppet-show (see E.D.D.).

poppycock. Nonsense: U.S. s. (1865, Artemus Ward), orig.—and throughout C. 19—in sense of bombast; anglicised ca. 1905; by 1930, coll. Thornton. ? ex the flower's flamboyancy.

pops or Pops. Father: C. 20, but rare before 1919. (E. M. Delafield, Gay Life, 1933, 'Pops says that . . .' and 'My Pops says . . .') pops and a galloper, his means are two. He is a highwayman: late C. 18-early 19: c. or low s. Grose, 2nd ed.

popsy. An endearment for a girl: nursery coll.: 1862. Ex S.E. pop, similarly used: see the next entry. O.E.D.

popsy-wopsy. A foolish endearment: (mostly nursery) coll. (—1887). Baumann; 1892, Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday, March 19, 'Bless me if the little popsy-wopsy hasn't been collecting all the old circus whoops and covering them with her old muslin skirts.' Reduplicating popsy ('archaic pop, darling, short for poppet', W.).

popularity Jack. An officer given to currying favour either with the men or with the public: naval, gen. as nickname: C. 20. Bowen.

por, pore. Sol. pronunciation of poor: C. 19-20 (? earlier). Often so printed: e.g. in Frank Swinerton's quiet masterpiece, The Georgian House, 1933, 'Pore old lady!'

Porch, the. See Academy, the.

porgy. See Georgey-porgy, pudding pie.

pork. A spoiled garment; goods returned by a customer: tailors': from ca. 1860. Cf. pig, n., 5.—2. Women as food for men's lust: low: C. 18-20; ob. Cf. mutton.

pork, cry. To act as an undertaker's tout: low: late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. The raven, 'whose note sounds like . . . pork', is 'said to smell carrion at a distance'.

Pork and Beaners. An occ. variant of:

Pork and Beans. Portuguese; esp. Portuguese soldiers: military: from 1916. Ex vague similarity of sound. Pork and beans: a tinned food frequent in the Army. (F. & Gibbons; B. & P.) The New Zealanders called them Pork and Cheese. (The Portuguese, by the way, called their 'gallant allies' by two names that may be translated 'Beef-Eaters' and 'the Horses', as John Gibbons tells me.)

pork-boat. (Gen. pl.) A Worthing fishing-boat: nautical: ca. 1860-1910. Bowen., Cf. the Sussex pork-boller, a Worthing fisherman (E.D.D.).

pork-pie. A coll. abbr. of pork-pie hat (a style modish ca. 1855-65): 1863; ob.—2. A 'toreador' hat, modish in the 1890's: coll.: The Spectator, Dec. 26, 1891, 'The bull-fighter's hat known in England as the "pork-pie"', O.E.D.

porker. A sword: c. of ca. 1685-1740. Shadwell, The Squire of Alsatia, 1688, 'The captain whipt his porker out'; B.E. Cf. pig-sticker; but porker is more prob. a perversion of poker, a sword.—2. A Jew: low: ca. 1780-1900. Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann. Because, traditionally, Jews never eat pork: on the principle of lucus a non lucendo. Cf. porky, n.—3. A pork-pie: Bootham School (—1925). Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang.

porky. A pork-butcher; a Jew (cf. porker, 2, q.v.): low (—1909). Ware.

porky, adj. Of, concerning, resembling pork; obese; coll.: 1852, Surtees. O.E.D.

porpoise. A very stout man: late C. 19-20: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.

porpoise, do a. (Of a submarine) to dive nose first at a sharp angle: naval: from 1916. Bowen.

porpoising, vbl.n. 'The movement of an aeroplane when an imperfect "get-off", or landing, is made': Air Force: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Contrast the preceding.

porps! porps! 'The old time whalers' cry when porpoises were sighted', Bowen: C. 19.

porracious. Incorrect for porraceous: C. 17-20. (Adj., leek-green.) O.E.D. porridge-bowl. The stomach: low: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Cf. bread-basket and contrast porridge-hole.

porridge-disturber. A punch in the belly: pugilistic: from ca. 1815; ob.

porridge-hole. The mouth: lower-class Scots' (—1909). Ware.

Porridge Island. The nickname for 'an alley leading from St. Martin's church-yard, to Round court, chiefly inhabited by cooks, who cut off ready dressed meat of all sorts, and also sell soup', Grose, 1785: London coll.: ca. 1780-1830.

porridge-pot. A (heavy) shell: military (not very gen.): in G.W. (G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.)

Porridge-Pots. 'Linesmen's satirical mode of naming the Scotch guard [sic]: military (- 1909); ob. Ware. Ex porridge as staple food of Scotland (cf. porridge-hole).

Port Egmont fowl. The large Antarctic gull: nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen. (Port Egmont is in the north-west of the Falkland Islands.)

port for stuffs. 'Assumption of a commoner's gown', Egan's Grose: Oxford University: ca. 1820-40. The double pun is obvious.

port-hole. The fundament; the female pudend: low coll.: from ca. 1660; ob.

port-holes in your coffin!, you want. A naval c.p. (C. 20) addressed to a man very hard to please. F. & Gibbons.

Port Mahon sailor. An inferior seaman: naval: C. 19. Bowen. 'A perfectly safe port' in Minorca: Chisholm's Gazetteer.

portable property. 'Easily stolen or pawned values—especially plate': coll.: 1885, The Referee, June 7. Ware.

portal. A C. 17 incorrect form of portas, a portable breviary. O.E.D.—portatur(e). Incorrect for portaiture: C. 15. O.E.D.

portcullis. A silver halfpenny: coll. bordering on S.E.: late C. 16—early 17. Jonson. Ex portcullis design.

portentious. Portentous: semi-literate sol.: C. 19-20. On pretentious.

port-hole. See port-hole.—portigue. See pestle of a portigue.

portmanteau. A 'big high explosive shell, a name introduced during the Russo-Japanese War': naval; ob. Bowen.

portmantle, portmanty. A portmanteau: C. 17-20: S.E. till C. 19, then resp. dial. and low coll.

portrait. See Queen's picture.

portrait, sit for one's. To be inspected 'by the different turnkeys . . . that they might know prisoners from visitors', Dickens in Pickwick: prison: ca. 1835-80.

portreeve. Erroneous when made to = the reeve of a seaport town: C. 17-20. O.E.D.

Portugoose. A Portuguese (soldier): jocular military, mostly officers': 1916, John Buchan, Greenmantle.

Portug(u)ee. A Portuguese: low coll., largely nautical: 1878, Besant & Rice. O.E.D.—2. Any foreigner except a Frenchman: naval: late C. 19. Bowen.

Portug(u)ee parliament. 'A fore-castle discussion which degenerates into all talkers and no listeners': nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

Portuguese man-of-war. A nautilus: nautical coll. verging on S.E.: C. 19-20; ob.

Portuguese pumping. A nautical phrase (- 1909), of which Ware was unable to discover the meaning. Nor have I; but I agree with Ware that 'it is probably nasty': it refers almost certainly to either defecation (suggested by pump ship, q.v.) or masturbation.

pos, poss, poz, pozz. Positive: coll. abbr.: resp. 1711, 1719, 1710 (Swift), 1710 (Swift): all † by 1860. The most frequent, poz, may date from as early as 1706 or 7, occurring as it does in Polite Conversation; poss (e.g. D'Urfey, 'Drunk I was last night, that's poss') is rather rare.—2. As adv., positively: coll.: late C. 18—early 19, but adumbrated in Swift.—3. Only pos and poss (gen. the latter): possible; usually in if poss. Low coll.: from ca. 1885; slightly ob. 'Pomes' Marshall.—4. (Gen. poz.) A certainty: rare coll. verging on s.: 1923, Manchon. Ex sense 1.

posa. A treasurer: Pidgin English (- 1864). H., 3rd ed. A corruption of purser.

pose. A puzzling question: children's (- 1923). Manchon. Ex S.E. poser. Cf. the † S.E. pose, a state of perplexity.

posey. See posy.

posh. Money; specifically, a halfpenny or other coin of low value: c. (- 1839); ob. Brandon; H., 1st ed. Ex Roman posh, a half, as in posh-horri, a halfpenny, and posh-koorona, a half-crown.—2. A dandy: Society s. (- 1897); † by 1920. Barrère & Leland, 2nd ed. ? ex sense 1; i.e. a moneyed person (cf. plum, 1, 3). Or perhaps a corruption of (big) pot.—3. When, in The White Monkey, 1924 (Part II, ch. xii), Galsworthy wrote 'Pity was posh!'; he was confusedly blending punk and tosh: all he meant was 'Pity was bosh'.

posh, adj. Stylish, smart; (of clothes) best; splendid: military >, by 1919, gen.: 1918, says O.E.D.; but it appears as Cambridge University s., though as push or poosh, in 1903, when P. G. Wodehouse, in Tales of St. Austin's, says of a brightly coloured waistcoat that it is 'quite the most push thing at Cambridge'. Avoided by polite society since ca. 1930. B. & P. Ex posh, n., 2; or possibly a corruption of Scottish tosh, clean, neat, trim.

posh; gen. posh up. (Gen. in passive—esp. all poshed-up.) To make smart in appearance; to clean and polish: military > gen.: from 1917 or 1918. F. & Gibbons; B. & P. Ex posh, adj.; and, like it, slightly ob.

poshteen, poshtin. Incorrect for posteen or postin: in C. 19-20 India. Yule & Burnell.

posish; occ. pozish. A position: coll., orig. (ca. 1860) U.S.; anglicised ca. 1915. (O.E.D. Sup.)

positive. Certainly no less than; downright; indubitable, 'out-and-out': coll.: 1802, Sydney Smith, 'Nothing short of a positive miracle can make him . . .', O.E.D.

poss. See pos.

posse mobilitatis. The mob: coll.: ca. 1690-1850. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. On posse comitatus.

possible. A coin, gen. in pl.; money: ca. 1820-50. Esp. the 'Bce'-Egan group.—2. Hence, means or necessaries; supplies: 1824 (O.E.D.).—3. (Orig. highest possible.) The highest possible score, esp. in rifle-shooting: coll. abbr.: 1866 (O.E.D.).

possibly. Catachrestic or, at the least, incorrect for possible in such phrases as if possibly, by all means possibly, soon as possibly: mid-C. 16-20; ob.; indeed, rare after C. 17. O.E.D.

possie. See possy.

posse; more correctly postle. An earnest advocate: lower classes' satirical (- 1909). Ware. I.e. apostle.

possum. Opossum: C. 17-20; S.E. till mid-C. 19, then coll.

possum, play. To pretend; feign illness or death: orig. U.S. (- 1824); partly anglicised ca. 1850. Ex the opossum's feigned death. The variants to possum, to act possum, and to come possum over have remained wholly U.S. (O.E.D. and Thornton.)

possum-guts. A pejorative, gen. in address: Australian: 1859, H. Kingsley; ob.

possy; occ. possie, pozy. A position; esp. a dug-out, or other shelter: military, mainly Australian and New Zealand: from 1915. B. & P.; F. & Gibbons.—2. Hence, from 1919, mostly in the Colonies, a house, a lodging, etc.; a job. Jice Doone.—3. See pozy, 3.

post. Such mail as is cleared from one receiving-box or as is delivered at one house: coll.: from ca. 1890.

post, v. Often post up and gen. in the passive, esp. in the past passive ppl.: to supply with information or news: U.S. coll. (1847) anglicised ca. 1860; > S.E. ca. 1880. Prob. ex posting up a ledger. (O.E.D.)—2. 'To summon (a candidate) for examination on the first day of a series': Oxford University: C. 18. Amherst, 1721, 'To avoid being posted or dogged', O.E.D. (See dog, v.) Ex S.E. post, to hurry a person.—3. To pay: from ca. 1780; ob. Esp. post the cole, orig. c., 1781, C. Johnston; post the neddies, c., 1789, G. Parker; post the pony, 1823, Moncrieff,—see pony; post the tin, 1854, Martin & Aytoun. After ca. 1870, the term is influenced by post, to send by post.

post, bet on the wrong side of the. I.e. on a losing horse: turf coll. (—1823); † by 1900. 'Jon Bee.'

post, between you and me and the (bed-; in late C. 19–20, often gate—). In confidence: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.: 1832, Lytton; Dickens. O.E.D.

post, kiss the. See kiss the post.—post, knight of the. See knight.

post, make a hack in the. To use, consume, a considerable part of a thing: from ca. 1840: coll. >, by 1870, S.E.; ob. O.E.D.

post, on the. Dealing with postage; applied esp. to the clerk dealing with this: commercial and insurance coll.: late C. 19–20. (M. Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935.)

post-and-rail tea. Ill-made tea: from ca. 1850; ob. Only Australian. Ex floating stalks and leaves; the reference being to post-and-rail fences. Morris.

post-chaise. To travel by post-chaise: coll.: 1854, Thackeray. Ob. O.E.D.

post-chay, post-shay. A post-chaise: ob. coll.: 1757, F. Greville. O.E.D. Cf. po'chaise, q.v.

post-horn. The nose: ca. 1820–90: (low) coll. H., 1st ed. Ex noise and shape.

post meridian, n. Incorrect—indeed, sol.—for post meridiem: late C. 18–20. O.E.D.

post-mortem. The examination after failure: Cambridge: 1844, Punch, 'I've passed the post-mortem at last.' Punning the examination of a corpse.

post-nointer. A house-painter: 1785, Grose; † by 1850.

Post Office Bible. The London Delivery Book: Post Office: ca. 1880–1920. Cf.:

Post Office Prayer-Book. The Post Office Guide: Post Office: from ca. 1880.

post-shay. See post-chay.

post te, e.g. chum or hat. A Charterhouse c.p., from ca. 1870, to indicate disapproval (of, e.g., hat or companion). A. H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900, implies derivation ex a post te of (anything), the right to use a thing after the 'owner' has done with it (mid-C. 19–20); itself ex post te (in L., 'after thee') as in post te math. ex, 'May I glance over your mathematical exercise?'

post the blue. To win the Derby: racing-men's (—1909). Cf. post, v., 3; the blue is the blue riband of racing, the Derby. Ware.

Postage Stamp, the. Any hotel, etc., known as the Queen's Head: taverns': 1837–ca. 85. Ex the design on stamps. (Ware.)

postie; occ. posty. A postman: coll. (—1887). Baumann. It is recorded in dial. in 1871: E.D.D. For form, cf. goalie, goal-keeper.

postil(l)ion of the Gospel. A gabbling person: 1785, Grose; † by 1870.

postle. See posse.

postliminary, postliminiate, postliminious, postliminous. Erroneous for postliminary (C. 18–20), postliminate (C. 17), postliminious (late C. 17–20), postliminious (C. 17). O.E.D. postman's sister, the. An unnamed or secret informant: middle-class coll.: ca. 1883–1914. Ware. Cf. Jinks the barber.

postmaster general. The prime minister: a late C. 17–early 19 nickname. Grose, 1785, '... Who has the patronage of all posts and places'.

postor. A praepostor: Shrewsbury School coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.

posty. See postie.—posy. See Holborn Hill.

pot. (The money involved in) a large stake or bet: 1823, 'Jon Bee': sporting. E.g. Lever, 'The horse you have backed with a heavy pot.'—2. Hence, any large sum: coll.: 1870, L. Oliphant, 'Harrie ... won a pot on the French horse.'—3. Any horse heavily backed, i.e. gen. the favourite: 1823, 'Jon Bee'; H., 'Because [he] carries a pot of money'.—4. A prize, orig. and esp. if a vessel (gen. of silver), given at sports and games: 1885, O.E.D.—5. (A) sixpence: medical students': ca. 1858–1915. H., 2nd ed., 1860, 'A half-crown ... is a five-pot piece'; Household Words, June 20, 1885, 'Because it was the price of a pot or quart of "half-and-half"'.—6. A person of importance, gen. as a big pot: coll.: 1880, Hardy (O.E.D. Sup.); 1891, The Licensed Victualler's Gazette, Feb. 9, 'Some of the big pots of the day'. Coll. >, by 1910, S.E. Cf. the naval nuance (—1909); an executive officer.—7. A steward: nautical: ca. 1870–1920.—8. the pot or Pot, the Canal: Winchester College: from ca. 1840. Hence, pot-cad, a sawyer on the Canal; pot-gates, lock-gates; pot-houser, a leap into the Canal from the roof of a house called pot-house.—9. Top: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed.—10. See pots.—11. A woman: c. (—1857); virtually †. 'Ducange Anglicus'.—12. A stew: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Abbr. (the inevitable) pot of stew.—13. Stomach: Bootham School (—1925). Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang.—14. A person: in pejorative s. or coll. combinations, as fuss-pot, a fussy person, and swank-pot, a conceited one: late C. 19–20. Cf. sense 6.

pot. To shoot or kill for the pot, i.e. for food; to kill by a pot-shot: coll.: 1860 (O.E.D.).—2. V.i. to have a pot-shot, v.t. with at: 1854 (O.E.D.): coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Cf. pot away, q.v.—3. To win, 'bag': 1900, H. Nisbet, 'He has potted the girl,' O.E.D. Cf. pot, v., 1, and pot, n., 4.—4. See pot, put on the.—5. To deceive; outwit: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then s., as in Tom pot, as good a piece as ever strode a. As good a girl as you could find: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. pissed, as good as ever, and piss upon . . ., qq.v.

Taylor's Still Waters, 1855, 'A greater flat was never potted'; ob.—6. See pot on.

pot, give moonshine in a mustard. To give nothing: coll.: ca. 1660–1800. Ray.

pot, go to. To be ruined or destroyed; to get into a very bad condition: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. till C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, low coll. (Whence go to pot!, go to the devil: coll.: late C. 17–20.) Orig., go to the pot, lit. 'to be cut in pieces like meat for the pot', S.O.D.

pot, gone to. Dead: C. 19. See preceding entry.

pot, old. See pot, the old.

pot, on the. At stool: low: ca. 1810–60. Lex. Bal.

pot, put in the. Involved in loss: turf (— 1823); † by 1900. Bee.

pot, put on. To exaggerate, e.g. to overcharge: from ca. 1850; ob.—2. (Also to pot.) To wager large sums: sporting: 1823, 'Jon Bee'; ob. See pot, n., 1.

pot, put on the big. To snub; to be patronising: from ca. 1891: coll. (Occ., big omitted.)

pot, the old. One's father: mostly Australian (— 1916). C. J. Dennis. Abbr. the old pot and pan, 'the old man'.

pot, upset the. To beat the favourite: sporting: from ca. 1860. 'Ouida.'

pot and pan. A rather rare form of old pot and pan, q.v.

pot and spit. Meat boiled and meat roasted: coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 17–18. B.E. Ex the respective modes of cooking.

pot away, v.i. To keep shooting: coll.: from ca. 1855. Ex pot, v., 2.

pot-boiler. Any literary or artistic work done for money: coll.: 1803 (S.O.D.). I.e. something that will keep the pot boiling.—2. Hence, a producer of 'pot-boilers': coll.: 1892, G. S. Layard (O.E.D.).

pot-cad. See pot, n., 8.

pot calls the kettle black arse, the. See black arse.

pot-faker. A hawker, a cheapjack, esp. in crockery: low: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed.

pot-gates. See pot, n., 8.

pot-hat. In Notes & Queries, 1891 (7th Series, xii, 48), we read: 'Until lately . . . always . . . short for "chimney-pot hat", less reverently known as a "tile"; but at the present time . . . often applied to a felt hat,' the latter—to be precise, a 'bowler'—being, by 1930, slightly ob., the former historical. Coll.: 1798, Jane Austen (O.E.D.).

pot-head. A stupid person: coll.: 1855, Kingsley. O.E.D. App. ex:

pot-headed. Thick-headed, stupid: coll.: More, 1533. O.E.D. Whence preceding entry.

pot-herb is catachrestic when, as by Stevenson in 1882, used as = pot-plant. O.E.D.

Pot-Hooks. The 77th Foot, in late C. 19–20 the 2nd Battalion of the Duke of Cambridge's Own (Middlesex Regiment): military: C. 19–20; ob. Ex the similarity of the two 7's to pot-hooks.

pot-hooks and hangers. Shorthand: coll.: C. 19.

pot-house. An easy-going club: clubmen's coll. (— 1909). Ware. Jocular on S.E. sense.—2. (Pot- House, the.) Peterhouse, Cambridge: Cambridge: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

pot-houser. See pot, n., 8.

pot-hunter. One who follows sport for profit, lit. for pots: coll. till C. 20, then S.E.: 1874, H., 5th ed. See pot, n., 4. Ex S.E. sense, one who hunts less for the sport than for the prey. Cf. the next entry.—2. In very local c. of late C. 16, the same as a 'barnacle'. Greene, 1592.

pot-hunting. The practising of sport for the sake of the prizes: coll. till C. 20, then S.E.: 1862, The Saturday Review, July 7; Good Words, 1881, 'Some men are too fond of starrng or pothunting at "sports"', O.E.D. Cf. pot-hunter, q.v.

pot in the pate, have a. To be the worse for drink: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1650–1780. Bracken, in his interesting Farriery Improved, 1737, 'An Ox . . . would serve them to ride well enough, if they had only a Pot in the Pate,' O.E.D.

pot joint. In grafters' s. of late C. 19–20, thus in P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934, 'An enormous number of crockery sellers are Lancashire men, and their great stalls, where they sell all kinds of china by mock auction, are usually called "pot joints".'

pot o' honey. See honey, 2.

pot of all. A leader-hero, a 'demi-god': Cockneys': ca. 1883–1914. Ware.

pot of beer. Ginger beer: teetotalers' (— 1909). Ware.

pot o(f) bliss. 'A fine tall woman': taverns': from ca. 1876; ob. Ware.

pot of O is the abbr. of pot of O, my dear: rhyming s. for 'beer': 1868, says Ware; ob.

pot on. To be enthusiastic for: non-aristocratic s. (— 1887) >, by 1900, coll.; ob. Baumann quotes Punch: 'When their fancy has potted on pink' (Wenn sie sich in Rosa verliebt haben).

pot walks, the. A c.p. applied to a drinking bout: ea. 1560–1750. (O.E.D.)

pot-walloper. A heavy drinker: coll.: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex:—2. A tap-room loafer; (theatrical) a 'prosser', q.v.: low: from ca. 1870.—3. A scullion; a cook on a whaler: s. (— 1860) > coll.—4. A pejorative term of address: 1820 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1870, S.E. Ex the S.E. political sense = potwall.—5. Incorrectly (prob. on preceding sense) applied to anything very big and/or clumsy: late C. 19–20. O.E.D. Whence:

pot-walloping. Making vigorous but clumsy movements: catachrestic: 1899 (O.E.D.). Ex preceding, 5.

pot with two ears, make a or the. To set one's arms akimbo: coll.: ca. 1670–1760. Cotton, 1675, ' . . . A goodly port she bears, | Making the pot with the two Ears.' O.E.D.

pot-wrestler. The cook on a whaler: nautical: from ca. 1840. Cf. pot-walloper, 3.

potaquaine is (mid-C. 19–20) erroneous for potoquane; potaro (C. 17) for pedrero. O.E.D.

Potater, or Potato. The French race-horse Peut-être: sporting: 1st decade, C. 20. Ware.

potato. A pejorative coll., as in Smollett's 'I don't value [him] a rotten potato,' O.E.D.: ca. 1750–1850. Cf. potatoes, q.v.—2. A large hole in fleshings or stockings: coll.: late C. 19–20. Baumann.

potato, hot. See hot potato.

potato, the or the clean. The best; the corrector most apposite thing: resp. 1822, 1880. Esp. in quite or not quite the (clean) potato. (O.E.D.)

potato-box. The mouth (cf. p.-jaw, q.v.): from ca. 1870.

potato-finger. A long thick finger; a penis; a dildo: (low) coll.: C. 17–18. Esp. in Shakespeare's Troilus and Cressida. Ex supposed aphrodisiac virtues of the sweet potato. (O.E.D.)

potato-jaw or -trap. The mouth: resp. 1791, Mme D'Arblay; 1785, Grose. Orig. Irish. (O.E.D.)

potato-masher (grenade). A German hand-grenade so shaped: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons.

potato-pillin' (orig., prob. peelin'). A shilling: rhyming s. (mostly workmen's): C. 20. John o' London's Weekly, June 9, 1934. Cf. the more gen. rogue and villain.

potatoes. Abbr. of potatoes in the mould. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

potatoes in the mould. Cold: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

potatoes, small. Nothing much, nothing great: orig. U.S. (1836) anglicised ca. 1860. Cf. potato, 1.

potching. The taking of tips from a person that one has not served: waiters' (—1883). The Graphic, March 17, 1883. Prob. = poaching. (Ware.)

potecary. An apothecary: sol. (—1887); ob. Baumann. Ex dial.: 1805 (E.D.D.).

potence. A potent or crutch-staff: erroneous: late C. 17–18. O.E.D.—potential: C. 17–18 erroneous for potential. O.E.D.

potle-bell, ring the. 'To confirm a bargain by linking the little fingers of the right hand', F. & H.: Scots dial. and coll., mostly among children: C. 19–20.

potomaine. Ptomaine: from ca. 1880: sol. Cf. ptomaine, q.v.

pots or Potts. North Staffordshire Railway ordinary stock: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1885. The railway serves the potteries.

pots; gen. be pots, to be mad, or extremely eccentric: from ca. 1925. (Anthony Weymouth, Hard Liver, 1936.) Ex potty on bats, q.v.

pots and pans, make. 'To spend freely, then beg', Bce, 1823: ca. 1820–1900. (Baumann.)

potted; occ. potted out. Confined (e.g. in a lodging): coll.: 1859, The Times, July 21; ob. by 1890, † by 1920.—2. Dead and buried: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex horticulture.—3. (Of a racehorse) favourite, favoured: turf (—1923). Manchon. Ex pot, n., 1.

potted fug. Potted meat: either dial. or local s.: Rugby (town): from ca. 1860.

potter-carrier. An apothecary: low coll. and dial. form of pothecary: ca. 1750–1820. Foote, 1764, 'Master Lint, the potter-carrier'. O.E.D.

Potteries, the. Stoke City Football Club ('soccer'): sporting: C. 20.

pottery. Poetry: sol. when not a deliberate perversion: C. 19–20.

potting. Shooting; esp. the taking of pot-shots: coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.). Ex pot, v., 2.

pottle. A bottle (of hay): incorrect: ca. 1730–1850. Fielding. O.E.D.

Potts. See pots.

potty. A tinker: lower classes' (—1909). Ware. Ex his pots and pans.

potty, adj. Indifferent; shaky; very unpromising (business scheme): 1860, H.; rather ob.—2. (Of a stroke) feeble; clumsy: cricketers': from 1870. Lewis.—3. Trivial, insignificant: 1899, Eden Phillpotts (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex potter (about).—

4. Easy, simple; safe: 1899: s. >, by 1930, coll. Ibid.—5. Silly; crazy: from ca. 1910. Ex sense 1.

pouch. A present of money: 1880, Disraeli: s. >, by 1910, coll.; ob. O.E.D. Ex sense 1 of the v. (N.B., pouch is, by soldiers, almost always pronounced pooch. F. & Gibbons.)

pouch, v. To supply the pouch, i.e. the purse or pocket, of; to tip: s. >, in C. 20, (low) coll.: 1810, Shelley (O.E.D.); 1844, Disraeli, 'Pouched in a manner worthy of a Marquess and of a grandfather'. Slightly ob.—2. To eat: low coll.: 1892, Milliken, 'Fancy pouching your prog on a terrace.' Ex S.E. sense, to swallow.—3. To steal: low (—1923). Manchon. Ex dial., where it dates from C. 18.

pouch a gun. To carry a revolver: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace, The Squeaker, 1927. On U.S. pack a gat.

pouch-mouth, n. and adj. A ranter; ranting: coll., somewhat rare: early C. 17. Dekker, 'Players, I mean, theaterians, pouch-mouth stage-walkers.' I.e. ore rotundo.

pouchet. A pocket: either coll. or a corruption of pocket by Fr. pochette. Radcliffe, 1682, 'Did out of his Pouchet three nutmegs produce.' † by 1800.

Powdering-tub. See Powdering-tub.

pouf. A would-be actor: theatrical: ca. 1870–1910. Ex poof!, pouf!

pouffe. See poof.

poulain. A chancre: low coll.: 1785, Grose; ob. Ex Fr. poulain.

poulderling. An undergraduate in his second year: university: C. 17. Anon., The Christmas Prince, 1607. ? origin.

poulterer. A thief that steals and guts letters: c.: C. 19. Lex. Bal. ? ex quill = a quill pen, perhaps via metaphor of feathers as letters.

poultice. A fat woman: Society: ca. 1880–1900.—2. A 'very high collar, suggestive of a neck poultice, ring-like in shape': Society: ca. 1882–1912. Likewise, Ware.—3. See poultice over.—4. A bore (person or thing): Glasgow (—1934).

poultice-mixer. A sick-bay attendant: naval (—1909). Ware. Cf. poultice-wallah, q.v.

poultice over the peeper. A punch or blow on the eye: low (—1909). Ware.

poultice-wallah. A physician's, esp. a surgeon's, assistant: military: from ca. 1870. See wallah and cf. poultice-mixer and:

poultice-wallopers; also with capitals. Occ. P. Wallahs. The Royal Army Medical Corps: military: from ca. 1870; ob. Also the Pills (see pills, 2), Linsced Lancers.—2. Occ. in the singular, esp. in the Navy: a sick-bay attendant: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

poultry. Women in gen.: coll.: C. 17–20. Chapman. Hence, celstial poultry, angels, ex the wings. Cf. hen, hen-party, and contrast cock.

poultry-rig. The 'dodge' noted at poulterer, q.v.: c.: C. 19. Lex. Bal.

poultry-show. A 'short arm' inspection: military: 1915; ob. B. & P., 'It had no reference to hens.'

pounce. A variant of ponce.

pounce, on the. Ready to leap verbally: Anglo-Irish: 1887, when brought into fashion by E. Harrington, M.P. The Daily News, Oct. 10, 1890, "'On the pounce", as the irreverent phrase goes.'

pounce-shicer and pouncey. See ponce.

pound, v. See pound it and pounded.

pound. Pounds, whether weight or sterling:

S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. and dial. 'He's worth a thousand pound if he's worth a penny'; 'That bullock weighs eight hundred pound.' (In combination, however, the uninflected pl. is S.E.: e.g. 'a four pound trout'.)

pound, go one's. To eat something up: military: ca. 1870-1914. Ex the fact that a soldier's ration of bread used to weigh 1 lb., his ration of meat nearly 1 lb. (actually $\frac{3}{4}$ lb.), as mentioned in The Pall Mall Gazette, July 1, 1885 (cited by O.E.D.).

pound, in for. Committed for trial: c.: C. 19-20; ob. Ex pound = prison.

pound, shut (up) in the parson's. Married: 1785, Grose; † by 1860.

pound and pint. 'The bare Board of Trade ration scale': nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

pound-and-pint idler. A naval purser: naval: late C. 19-early 20. Bowen. Ex preceding.

pound it. To bet, wager, as on a virtual certainty, esp. in I'll pound it: 1812, Vaux; ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. Ex offering £10 to 2s. 6d. at a cock-fight. Dickens, 'I'll pound it that you han't.' Cf. poundable, q.v.

pound (of lead). Head. See bake, n.

pound-not(e)ish. Stylish; aristocratic; affected of speech or manner: lower classes': from ca. 1930. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'Her pound-noteish voice both annoyed and amused the Gilt Kid.'

pound-text. A parson: coll.: late C. 18-20; ob. Cf. cushion-thumper.

pound to an olive, (it's a). It's a certain bet: Jewish coll. (- 1909). Ware. Perhaps ex Jewish fondness for olives.

poundable. (Esp. of the result of a game, the issue of a bet) certain, inevitable; or considered to be such: low (? c.): 1812, Vaux; ob. by 1890, † by 1920.

pounded, ppl.adj. Discovered guilty of impropriety: male Society: ca. 1820-50. Egan, Life in London, 1821. Ex the pounding of strayed animals.

pounders. (Rare in singular.) Testicles: coll.: late C. 17-18. Dryden's Juvenal, VI, 117.

poundrel. The head: coll.: 1664, Cotton, 'Glad they had scap'd, and sav'd their poundrels'; † by 1830. Origin obscure, though prob. connected with weight.

poupe. See poop, n., 2, and v., 2.

pour. A 'continuous' rain; esp. a steady pour (all the morning): coll.: late C. 19-20.

pouter. The female pudend: low: C. 19-20; ob. Cf. diddly-pout.

Poverty and Grief. Messrs. Pollock & Gilmour, shipowners: Clydeside nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Ex reputed abstention from pampering their crews.

poverty-basket. A wicker cradle: s. or coll.: ca. 1820-70. Bce, 1823.

poverty-corner, more gen. p.-junction; or with capitals. The corner formed by York and Waterloo Roads, London: music-hall and variety artists' (- 1890); ob. Tit-Bits, March 29, 1890. There they used to wait to be engaged. Since ca. 1910, it has gen. referred to a corner in the Leicester Square district and is a gen. theatrical coll. Cf. the Slave Market of New York.—2. The corner of Fenchurch Street and the approach to the Station: nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen. (The haunt of out-of-work seamen.)

Poverty Row; Poverty Row picture. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 8.

povilion. Erroneous for pavilion: late C. 17-18 O.E.D. powder. (Of a horse) vigour, spirits: turf (- 1923). Manchon. Perhaps ex gunpowder + sense 2 of:

powder, v.i. To rush: coll. and dial.: lit., in Quarries, 1632, 'Zacheus climb'd the Tree: But O how fast . . . he powder'd down agen!'; fig., from ca. 1730. O.E.D. Ex the rapid explosiveness of powder.—2. Hence, to spur (a horse) to greater speed: sporting (- 1887). Baumann.—3. V.t., to 'camouflage' the fact that a horse is glandered: horse-copers': from ca. 1860. 'No. 747', p. 20.

powder, burn bad. To break wind: coll. (- 1923). Manchon. Euphemistic.

powder away, v.i. To perform fine but useless deeds: coll. (- 1923). Ibid. Ex S.E. powder, to scatter or sprinkle like powder.

powder-monkey. A boy employed to carry powder from magazine to gun: 1682, Radcliffe, 'Powder-monkey by name': naval coll. till C. 19, then S.E. powder or shot, not worth. Not worth cost or, esp., trouble or effort: 1776, Foote: coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E.

powdering (one's) hair, be. To be getting drunk: taverns': C. 18-20; extremely ob. Ware, 1909, remarks: 'Still heard in remote places. Euphemism invented by a polite landlord.'

powdering-tub. A salivating cradle or pit, used against syphilis: late C. 16-early 19: humorous S.E. until C. 18, then coll. Shakespeare; Grose, 1st ed.—2. With capitals, 'the Pocky Hospital at Kingsland near London', B.E.: low coll.: late C. 17-mid-18.

power. A large number of persons, number or quantity of things; much: from ca. 1660: S.E. until ca. 1820, then dial. and (low) coll. Dickens, 'It has done a power of work.' O.E.D. Cf. nation and:

poweration. A large number or quantity; much: coll.: ca. 1830-1910. Also dial.

powerful. Great in number; in quantity: dial. and low coll.: 1852, in U.S.; anglicised in 1865, by Dickens, 'A powerful sight of notice', O.E.D.—2. Adv., powerfully; exceedingly, very: dial. and, esp. in U.S. (1833, Thornton) and Canada, low coll.: 1835, Washington Irving; Besant & Rice, 1876, 'Rayner seems powerful anxious to get you on the paper,' O.E.D.; Tit-Bits, Sept. 17, 1892, 'He's powerful bad, miss.' Ob. as coll. in Great Britain. (The adj. ex the adv., the adv. ex power, q.v.)

Powos, the. The Prince of Wales's Own Regiment: late C. 19-20 military; ob. Also known as the Old and Bold, q.v., and Calvert's Entire.

powwow. A conference of, discussion of plans by, senior officers before a battle, or during manœuvres: military: from ca. 1912. F. & Gibbons. A natural extension of the S.E. sense.

pox. Syphilis: C. 16-20: S.E. until mid-C. 18; then a vulg. That the word was early avoided appears in Massinger's 'Or, if you will hear it in a plainer phrase, the pox', 1631. Often French pox (Florio, 'The Great or French poxe'); occ. Italian, German, Spanish, Indian pox, also (the) great pox,—Swift has the greater pox; cf. French gout. Altered spelling of pocks, orig. applied to the pustules of any eruptive disease. (O.E.D.) See also powdering-tub. Cf. pox l, q.v., and:

pox, v. To infect with syphilis: late C. 17-20:

S.E. until mid-C. 18, then a vulg. Amory, 1766, 'She . . . lives . . . to . . . pox the body,' O.E.D. Cf. :

pox ! (Cf. pox, n. and v.) In imprecations and irritated exclamations, esp. a pox of or on . . . !, (a) pox take, a pox !, what a pox !, with a pox !, pox on it ! Late C. 16–mid-19 : S.E. until C. 18, then a vulg. Shakespeare, 1588, 'A pox of that jest' ; Fielding, 1749, 'Formalities ! with a pox !' O.E.D.

poxed, poxt, ppl.adj. Infected with syphilis : late C. 17–20 : S.E. until mid-C. 18, then a vulg.

poysen ; poysoned, poysen'd. See poison, poisoned.—poz, pozz. See pos.

pozish. See posish.

pozy. See possy, 1, 2.—2 Pozzy. Pozières, a small village on the Somme front, the scene of fierce fighting in the 'Big Push' : July, 1916 : mostly among the Australian soldiers.—3. (pozy.) Jam : military : late C. 19–20. B. & P., esp. the 3rd ed. Perhaps ex a South African language, for the natives in S.A. 'used the word, before 1900 at least, to designate any sort of sweetmeat or preserve' ; its revival in the G.W. may have been caused by the Posy brand of condensed milk being, in 1914–early 15, often spread on bread when jam ran out. I myself hazard posset.

pozy-wallah. 'A man inordinately fond of jam' : military : C. 20. B. & P. Ex sense 3 of the preceding + wallah, q.v.

practicable, n. A door, window, staircase, etc., actually usable in a play : theatrical coll. : 1859, Wraxall. Ex the corresponding theatrical adj. (1838). O.E.D. practicable, adj. Gullible ; illicitly accessible ; facile : 1809, Malkin. O.E.D. Ex practicable, feasible.

practical, n. (Rare in singular.) A practical joke ; a trick : 1833, M. Scott. Ob. O.E.D.

practical politician. A public-house, self-appointed orator or spouter : coll. : late C. 19–20.

practice, n., and practise, v., are often catachrestically confused in spelling.

practise in the milky way. To fondle a woman's breasts : low cultured coll. verging on, but not achieving, S.E. : C. 17–20 ; ob. Carew, 1633.

practitioner. A thief : c. : from ca. 1865 ; ob. J. Greenwood, 1869.

prad. A horse : c. : app. not recorded separately before 1799, but implied in Grose, 2nd ed., 1788, in prad-lay. Egan, Dickens, Mayhew, Marriott Watson. Ex Dutch paard, a horse (O.E.D.). Cf. Charing Cross, gee, prancer* ; and esp. prod, 2.

prad-cove. A horse dealer : c. : from ca. 1820 ; ob. Egan's Grose.

prad-holder. A bridle : c. : 1798, Tufts, A Glossary of Thieves' Jargon.

prad-lay. 'Cutting bags from behind horses' ; the stealing of bridles, etc. : c. : 1788, Grose.

prad-napper ; -napping. A horse-thief ; horse-thieving : c. : C. 19–20 ; ob. H., 2nd ed. See prad.

pradback. Horseback : c. (— 1812) ; ob. Vaux. See prad.

prae. An occ. variant of pre, a prefect. Desmond Coke, The School across the Road, 1910.

prag, pragge. A thief : c. of ca. 1590–1600. Greene, 1592. Prob. ex prig, n., and v.

Pragger-Wagger, the. The Prince of Wales : Oxford undergraduates' : from ca. 1913 ; ob. Collinson. By 'the Oxford -er'.

praise. (The name of) God : a Scots euphemistic coll. : C. 17–early 19. Callander, 1782, 'Praise be blest, God be praised. This is a common form still in Scotland with such as, from reverence, decline to use the sacred name,' E.D.D. Ex † S.E. praise, 'an object or subject of praise'. pram. A perambulator (for infants) : (until ca. 1920, considered rather low) coll. abbr. : 1884, The Graphic, Oct. 25, 'Nurses . . . chattering and laughing as they push their "prams"'.—2. Hence, a milkman's hand cart : coll. : 1897 (O.E.D.).

prance. To dance, caper, gambol : mid-C. 15–20 : S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. (O.E.D.).

prancer. A horse : c. : ca. 1565–1860. Harman, B.E., Grose, Ainsworth. Cf. the S.E. usage : a prancing or mettlesome horse. See also pranker.—2. A highwayman : C. 17 : c. >, ca. 1680, low s. Day, Head. O.E.D.—3. Hence, a horse-thief : c. : C. 18–mid-19. Anon., The Twenty Craftsmen, 1712, 'The fifteenth a prancer . . . If they catch him horse-coursing, he's nooz'd once for all'.—4. A cavalry officer : military : from ca. 1870 ; ob. H., 5th ed.

Prancer, the Sign of the. The Nag's Head (inn) : from ca. 1565 (very ob.) : c. >, in C. 19, low s. Harman. Also the Sign of the Prancer's Poll, B.E., Grose.

prancer's nab or nob. A horse's head as a sham seal to a counterfeit pass : c. : late C. 17–mid-19. B.E., Grose. Cf. :

prancer's poll. The same : late C. 17–mid-18. B.E.—2. See Prancer, the Sign of the.

pranker. A horse : c. : late C. 16–17. Greene. Prob. a corruption of prancer, 1.

p'raps. Perhaps : coll. abbr. (in C. 19, rather low) : 1835, Hood ; prob. much earlier. (O.E.D.)

prat, pratt. A tinder-box : c. : late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. ? origin.—2. (Gen. in pl.) A buttock ; a thigh : mid-C. 16–20 : c. >, ca. 1820, low : Harman, Brome.—3. A behind : late C. 16–20 : c. >, in C. 19, low. Rowlands, 1610, 'And tip lowr with thy prat' ; Marriott-Watson, 1895, 'We ain't to do nothing . . . but to set down upon our prats.' Cf. U.S. c. sense, a hip-pocket.—4. The female pudend : low : C. 19–20.

prat, v. To go : c. : 1879, Horsley. Connected perhaps with prat, n., 3, but prob. with Romany praster, to run.—2. Hence, prat oneself—or, more gen., one's frame in, to butt in, come uninvited, interfere : low : late C. 19–20.—3. To beat, to swish : late C. 16–20 (ob.) : low. App. ex prat, n., 3. Shakespeare, Merry Wives, IV, ii.

prat one's frame in. An Australian and N.Z. variant of prat, v., 2 : C. 20.

prate-roast. A talkative boy : ca. 1670–1840 : low : Glanvill ; B.E. ; Grose (1st ed.), who, by the way, certainly errs when he describes it as c. pratie, praty. A potato : dial. and Anglo-Irish : 1832, a Scots song (O.E.D.) ; Marryat ; Reade, 1857, has the very rare spelling pratee. A slurred abbr. Also see tater (-ur), tatie.

prating cheat. The tongue : c. : ca. 1565–1860. Harman ; B.E. ; Grose, 1st ed. See cheat, a thing.

pratt. See prat, n.

pratting-ken. A low lodging-house : c. : from ca. 1860. 'No. 747.' Ex prat, n., 2. Cf. kradying-ken, q.v.

prattle-broth. Tea : late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 1788. Cf. chatter-, scandal-, broth.

prattle-cheat. See prattling cheat.

prattling-box. A pulpit: low: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 1785. Cf. hum-box.

prattling-cheat. An occ. variant of prating cheat, q.v.

prattling-parlour. A private apartment: ca. 1820–60. Moncrieff, 1821.

pratts. See prat, n.

praty. Talkative: coll. (gen. low): C. 19–20; ob. Ex S.E. prate, (idle) talk.—2. See pratie.

prawn, silly. A pejorative applied to persons; gen. you silly prawn or the s.p.: coll.: from ca. 1905; slightly ob. It may date from ca. 1890, for in 1895 W. Pett Ridge, Minor Dialogues, has: 'Ah, I expect you're a saucy young prawn, Emma.'

pray with knees upwards. (Of women) to coït: low: 1785, Grose.

prayer-bones. The knees: low coll.: from ca. 1850; ob.

prayer-book. A small holy-stone (cf. bible, q.v.): nautical s. >, ca. 1870, nautical coll. (ob.): 1840, Dana, 'Smaller hand-stones . . . prayer-books . . . are used to scrub in among the crevices and narrow places, where the large holystone [see bible] will not go.'—2. See Post Office Prayer-Book.—3. (Also the sportsman's prayer-book.) Ruff's Guide to the Turf: sporting: mid-C. 19–20. Ware. (The Guide dates from 1842.)

prayer-book parade. 'A promenade in fashionable places of resort, after morning service on Sundays', F. & H.: ca. 1880–1920; very ob. Cf. church-parade, q.v.

prayers, at her last. (Adj. applied to) an old maid: late C. 17—mid-19. Ray, Grose. Cf. lead apes in hell: see at apes.

prayers, say. (Of horses) to stumble: sporting: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. devotional habits.

prayers backwards, say. To blaspheme; to curse: coll.: late C. 17—early 19. Ray's Proverbs; Ned Ward, 1706, 'They pray . . . backwards'; Nathan Bailey's Erasmus, 1725.

pre. A prefect: Public-Schoolboys': late C. 19–20. Collinson. Also prae, q.v.

preach. An act of preaching; a sermon; a discourse; tediously moral talk (cf. pi-jaw, q.v.): C. 16–20. Mrs Whitney, 1870, 'I preached a little preach', O.E.D. Slightly ob.

preach at Tyburn Cross. To be hanged: c. or low s.: ca. 1810–60.

preachification. Vbl.n. of next: coll.: 1843, Lockhart (O.E.D.). Cf. preach, q.v.

preachify. To deliver a (tedious) sermon; moralise wearisomely: coll.: 1775, S. J. Pratt (O.E.D.). preachifying. Tedious moralising: coll.: 1828 (O.E.D.). Ex preachify. Cf. preachification.

preachiness. The being preachy, q.v.: coll.: 1861, O.E.D. Cf. preceding entry.

preaching-shop. A church; more gen., a chapel: coll.: from ca. 1840. Thackeray. Pejorative on preaching-house (1760), Wesley's name for a Methodist Chapel. (O.E.D.)

preachy. Given to preaching; as if, as in, a sermon: coll.: 1819, Miss Mitford, 'He was a very good man . . . though preachy and prosy', O.E.D. Whence:

preachy-preachy. Tediously moral or moralising: coll.: 1894, George Moore, 'I don't 'old with all them preachy-preachy brethren says about the theatre.'

precede and proceed have been confused since

C. 14. Rather different is the C. 17 erroneous use of precedential for precedential. O.E.D.

preceptacyon. A C. 17 incorrectness for precipitation. O.E.D.

precession and procession: occ. catachrestic, the one for the other: C. 16–20. (O.E.D.)—2. Moreover, precession is a C. 17 erroneous form of the † presecession. O.E.D.

precious. Egregious; arrant; (pejoratively) thorough; occ. an almost meaningless intensive: coll.: late M.E.—C. 20. Lydgate; Jonson, 1605, 'Your worship is a precious ass'; Darwin, 1836. O.E.D.

precious, adv. Exceedingly; very: coll.: 1837, Dickens (who, as W. remarks, popularised this use), 'We've got a pair o' precious large wheels on'; Baumann, however, implies its use as early as the 1740's. Ex the adj. Cf. precious few.

precious coals! A coll. expletive: ca. 1570–1620. Gascoigne. Prob. ex precious! = precious blood or body, recorded by the O.E.D. in 1560.

precious few. Very few: coll.: 1839 (O.E.D.). Ex precious, adv. (q.v.).

Precious John. Prester John: C. 17 sol. Sir T. Herbert, 1634, mentions it. O.E.D.

preciously. Exceedingly; very: coll.: 1607, Middleton; Thackeray. O.E.D. Cf. precious, adv.

precipitate(ly) and precipitous(ly) are often confused: C. 19–20. (E. F. Benson amusingly in Secret Lives, 1932.)

precisionist. Incorrect for precisionist (a purist): C. 19–20. Error due to precisian. O.E.D.

precognizance, -nization. Incorrect for preconizance, -ization: C. 18. O.E.D.

predeceased. Obvious: ca. 1890–1915; orig. legal. Ware. Perhaps ex Queen Anne's dead.

predicate. Catachrestic for predict: from ca. 1620. Similarly predication for prediction. O.E.D.

predic(k)lement. A predicament: sol., esp. Cockneys' (—1887). Baumann.

preëempt. A preëemptive right: Australian coll.: 1890, Rolf Boldrewood. Morris. Ob.

prefector, -ship. Incorrect for prefect, prefecture: C. 17–18. O.E.D.

preferable, more. Preferable: an indefensible incorrectness: late C. 19–20. Fowler.

preference. A choice; e.g. 'Of the two authors, X is my preference': coll.: from ca. 1890. By 1935, virtual y S.E.

pregnable. Pregnant: a C. 17 catachresis. O.E.D.

prejaganint. (Too) thrustful, interfering; having the unfortunate knack of being always in the way: New Zealanders': from ca. 1912. Perhaps a corruption of prejudiced.

prejurie. An † incorrect form of perjury. O.E.D.

prelim. A preliminary examination: students': from ca. 1883.—2. In pl., the pre-text pages of a book, i.e. title-pages, preface, contents-page and, when there is one, the dedication: printers' and publishers': C. 20. Abbr. preliminaries.—3. A preliminary practice or match: sporting: C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

premises. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20. Cf. lodgings to let.

premunie. A præmunire (= a predicament): coll. abbr.: ca. 1755–1800. Mrs Lennox, 1758. O.E.D.

prep. Preparation of lessons; the period of such preparation: school s.: 1862, O.E.D.; Eden Phillipotts, in The Human Boy, 1899.—2. Abbr. of next: school s.: from 1900 at the latest. Collinson.

prep. school. A preparatory school: school s.: 1899 (O.E.D. Sup.), but prob. earlier.

preposter. Incorrect for præposter: mid-C. 18–20. O.E.D.

prescle. Erroneous for presle (shavegrass): C. 18. O.E.D.

Prescott. A waistcoat: rhyming s. Gen. Charley Prescott (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

presence, this. The present document: C. 15–17 catachresis. On these presents. O.E.D. present. A white spot on a finger-nail: coll.: C. 19–20; slightly ob. Suggested by S.E. gift in the same sense. Supposed to betoken good fortune.

[Present tense for preterite: a common sol.: prob. contemporaneous with the language. Esp. give for gave (see, e.g. quotation at reener), run for ran. Cf.: 2. Present infinitive for do(es), or did, + that infinitive: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. E.g., R. Keverne, Menace, 1935, “Mr Parry get away all right?” “Yes. Went off early, as you arranged.”] presenter. A whore: low coll.: ca. 1820–70. F. & H. (A presenter of herself.)

preserve (of long bills). A collection of outstanding debts: Oxford University: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

preservitor. Incorrect spelling of preservator: C. 16. (Gen. -our.) O.E.D.

President Bob. Robert Spencer, 2nd Earl of Sunderland (1640–1702). Very versatile. (Dawson.)

press, hot. See hot press.

press the button. To be the person to make a definite and/or important beginning: coll. (— 1931). Lyell.

press the flesh! Shake hands!: a c.p. from ca. 1910. A. E. W. Mason, The Sapphire, 1933.

pressed off, ppl.adj. Finished: tailors' coll.: late C. 19–20.—2. Hence, asleep: tailors' s.: C. 20.

presumptious. Presumptuous: sol.: late C. 19–20; C. 15–18, S.E.; ca. 1810–70, coll.

preterite, n. and adj. (A) very old (person): Society: ca. 1870–1900. Ware, ‘Especially applied to women’. Cf. B.C. and has been.

[Preterite misused for present-perfect tense results, mainly, from an aping of ‘gangsterese’, orig. and chiefly U.S.; esp. in ‘You said it’ for ‘You’ve said it’: illiterate coll.: from ca. 1930.]

preterm. is catachrestic when = to cease completely: from ca. 1830. (O.E.D.)

prettification. Rendering finically or cheaply pretty: coll.: from ca. 1855.

prettified, adj. (Made) pretty in a too-dainty or in a cheap way: coll.: from ca. 1851. Ex:

prettify. To make pretty, esp. if cheaply or prettily: to represent prettily: coll.: 1850, Mrs Trollope, ‘Your money to prettify your house’, O.E.D. prettifying. Vbl.n. of preceding, q.v.: coll.: C. 20. Cf. prettification.

pretty. (Always the p.) The fairway: golfers' coll.: 1907. O.E.D. (Sup.).—2. As the ornamented part of a glass or tumbler, it is S.E.

[pretty. This S.E. adj. has, since ca. 1850, had a slightly coll. tinge.—2. The adv. (C. 16–20) has been almost coll. since ca. 1890: i.e. in sense of ‘rather’, ‘considerably’. Contrast:]

pretty, adv. Prettily: 1667 (O.E.D.): S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, low coll.

pretty, do the or speak or talk. To affect amiability or courtesy in action or speech: low coll.: from ca. 1890. J. Newman, Scampering Tricks, 1891, ‘We can talk pretty to each other.’

pretty, sit. To (be very comfortable and) look pretty: coll.: C. 20. Orig. U.S. Ex fowls, esp. chickens, sitting prettily on the nest.

pretty as paint, as. Very pretty: coll.: 1922, E. V. Lucas, ‘She’s as pretty as paint’ (Apperson). Because like a painting. Cf. oil-painting and picture, qq.v.

pretty-behaved. Prettily behaved: coll.: late C. 18–20. Cf. pretty-spoken.

pretty-boy clip. ‘Hair brought flat down over the forehead, and cut in a straight line from ear to ear’: Society: ca. 1880–1900. Ware.

pretty dancers, the. The Aurora Borealis: Scots coll.: C. 19–20. Cf. merry dancers.

pretty-face. A small kangaroo: Australian coll.: from ca. 1885; very ob. Morris.

pretty Fanny’s way, only. Characteristic: c.p. (in C. 19, a proverb) on only her (his) way: ca. 1720–1900. Ex Parnell, ca. 1718, ‘And all that’s madly wild, or oddly gay, | We call it only pretty Fanny’s way’ (O.E.D.).

pretty-perch. A very neat landing: Royal Air Force’s (— 1932). Opp. a thumped-in landing.

[pretty-pretties, pretty things, knick-knacks, 1875, and pretty-pretty, rather too, or prettily pretty, 1897, are given by O.E.D. as S.E.: but orig. they were almost certainly coll.]

pretty-pretty. ‘Ornamental work on ship-board’: nautical coll.: from ca. 1880. Bowen. Ex preceding.

Pretty Royal. H.M.S. Princess Royal: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

pretty-spoken. Speaking prettily: coll.: 1809, Malkin. Cf. pretty-behaved (12 years earlier).

prettyish. Rather pretty: coll.: 1741, Horace Walpole, ‘There was Churchill’s daughter, who is prettyish and dances well’, O.E.D.

[preventative, despite the opinion of many, is S.E.; in C. 20, however, preventive is preferred. Prob. there has been some confusion with:]

preventive, n. and adj. Incorrect, C. 17–20, for preventative, i.e. preventive. Doubtless due to influence of preventive (1639) on preventative (1654). O.E.D.

preventive. A preventive officer: nautical: 1870, E.D.D.

previous; gen. too previous. Premature; hasty: s. >, ca. 1895, coll.: 1885, The Daily Telegraph, Dec. 14, ‘He is a little before his time, a trifle previous, as the Americans say, but so are all geniuses.’ Whence:

previousness. The coming too soon or being premature, hasty: coll.: 1884 in U.S.; anglicised ca. 1890. Ex preceding term, q.v.

prey. Money: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Ex S.E. sense.

price — ? , what. (Occ. admiring, but gen. sarcastic; in reference to a declared or well-understood value.) What do you now think of — ? Just consider, look at — !: orig. racing (‘What odds — ?’), then gen.: from ca. 1890. P. H. Emerson, 1893, ‘What price you, when you fell off the scaffold.’

priceless. (By itself, it =) ludicrous; extremely amusing. With n., egregious: e.g. ‘priceless ass’ (of a person): s. >, ca. 1935, coll.: from ca. 1906. ‘Now a favourite schoolboy word’, W., 1920. Ex S.E. sense, ‘invaluable’.

prick. A pimple: coll.: C. 17-18. Jonson, Marston, et al., in Eastward Ho!, III, ii, 'I have seen a little prick no bigger than a pin's head . . . swell to an ancome,' i.e. a boil or ulcer; this is a quibble on sense 3.—2. An endearment: late C. 16-17. (Cf. pillcock, 2.) Ex:—3. The penis: 1592 (O.E.D.): S.E. until ca. 1700; in C. 18-20, a vulg. verging, in C. 20, on low coll. Shakespeare; Robertson of Struan, Hanbury Williams, Burns. Ex basic sense, anything that pricks or pierces. Cf. cock, q.v. See esp. Grose, P., and Allen Walker Read, Lexical Evidence, 1935 (Paris; privately printed). (The variant prickle, dating from ca. 1550, has always been S.E.: in C. 19-20, literary only.)—4. An offensive or contemptuous term (applied to men only), always with silly; gen. you silly prick, occ. the s. p.: low: late C. 19-20.—5. A pin: 'tramps' and beggars' c. (— 1933).

prick-ear or -ears; or with capitals. A Round-head: a coll. nickname: 1642; † by 1690. Though influenced by prick-eared (or -lugged), q.v., prick-ear derives mainly ex the fact that 'the Puritan head-gear was a black skull-cap, drawn down tight, leaving ears exposed,' F. & H., or, as B.E. defines prick-eared fellow, 'a Crop, whose Ears are longer than his Hair'.

prick-eared, adj. Roundhead: ca. 1640-1700: coll. verging on S.E. Cf. preceding.

prick for a (soft) plank. 'To find the most comfortable place for a sleep': nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

prick has no conscience. See standing prick.

prick-(in-)the-garter; also prick-(in-)the-loop. A fraudulent game, in which pricking with a bodkin into the loop of a belt figures largely: C. 19. In C. 17-18 called prick-(in-)the-belt; in C. 18 s., the old nob. Orig. coll., but almost imm. S.E.

prick-louse; occ., as in Burns, prick-the-louse. (Also nip-louse.) A tailor: coll.: C. 16-20; in C. 19-20, mainly dial. Dunbar, L'Estrange. (O.E.D.) prick-the-garter, play at. To coit: C. 18-19: low. Ex prick-in-the-garter, q.v.

prick-the-louse. See prick-louse.

pricked, with its ears. (Of a horse winning) easily: race-course coll. (— 1932). Slang, p. 243.

pricket. A sham bidder: auctioneers': C. 19-20; ob. Cf. putter-up.

prickly Moses. See Moses, prickly.

pride-and-pockets. Officers on half-pay: coll.: ca. 1890-1915. P. H. Emerson, 1893.

pride of the morning. A morning erection due to retention of urine: late C. 19-20 (low) coll. Also morning-pride. Perhaps suggested by the S.E. and dial. p. of the m., an early morning shower of rain.

pridgeman. See prigman.

priest, a great. An ineffectual but strong desire to stool: Scots coll.: C. 18-19.

priest-linked. See priest say grace, let the.

priest of the blue bag. A barrister: coll.: from ca. 1845; ob. Kingsley, 1849, 'As practised in every law quibble . . . as if he had been a regularly ordained priest of the blue bag'. Cf. green bag.

priest say grace, let the. (V.i.) to marry: coll.: C. 17-18. Hence, priest-linked, joined in matrimony: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose.

priest spoke on Sunday, know more than the. To be worldly-wise: coll.: C. 15-20; in C. 19-20, mostly dial. Bale, ca. 1540. Apperson.

priestess. A priest's wife: coll.: 1709, Mrs Manley. (O.E.D.)

prig; in C. 16-18, often prigg. A tinker: c.: 1567; † by 1690. Harman. Perhaps ex dial. prig, v.i., to haggle about the price; prob., however, connected closely (see, e.g. prig, prince) with:—2. A thief: 1610, Rowlands: c. >, ca. 1750, low s. In C. 19-20, gen. a petty thief. Ex prig, v., 1.—3. Hence, a cheat: late C. 17-early 19: c. >, ca. 1750, s. B.E., Grose.—4. See prig-napper, 2.—5. A fop, coxcomb: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., 'A Nice beauish, silly Fellow, is called a meer Prig'; Grose, 'a conceited coxcomical [sic] fellow'.—6. Hence, a vague pejorative (dislike, contempt): late C. 17-18 coll. Shadwell, 1679, 'A senseless, noisive Prig,' O.E.D.—7. A religious precisian, esp. a dissenting minister: coll.: late C. 17-mid-18. O.E.D. Facetious Tom Brown, Arthur Murphy. 'Perhaps partly a violent shortening of precisian', W.—Hence, 8, a precisian in manners, a purist in speech, esp. if conceited, didactic, or tedious: coll. >, in C. 19, S.E.: 1753, Smollett (O.E.D.); George Eliot, in Middlemarch, 'A prig is a fellow who is always making you a present of his opinions.'

prig; prigg (as for n.). To steal: 1561, Awdelay; Harman: c. >, in C. 19, low s. In C. 19-20, gen. applied to petty theft. ? a corruption (cf. that in sense 4) of †prick, to pin, to skewer.—2. Hence, to cheat, to swindle: low s.: 1819, The Sporting Magazine, '[He] shook hands with me, and trusted I should soon prig the London cocknies,' O.E.D.—3. V.i., to beg, importune: 1714, Woodrow; G. Douglas, 1901 (O.E.D.): coll. and dial. Prob. ex prig, to haggle.—4. To ride: 1567, Harman; B.E. and Grose at prigging: c. and dial.; † by 1850. Cognate with S.E. prick, as in Spenser's 'A gentle Knight was pricking on the plaine.'—5. Hence, v.i., to coit: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose: at prigging.

prig, prince. C. of late C. 17-early 19: B.E., 'A King of the Gypsies; also a Top-thief, or Receiver General', i.e. a notable (or important) thief, or a very important 'fence'. Ex prig, n., 2.

prig (or prigging-lay), work on the. To thief: c.: C. 19-20; ob. Cf.:

prig and buzz, n. and v.: picking of pockets: resp. 1789, G. Parker (p. and b., work upon the), ob.; C. 19-20, ob. Both, c. See buzz and prig, n., 2, and v., 1.

prig-man. See prigman.

prig-napper. A thief-taker: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. A horse-stealer: c.: mid C. 17-mid-18. Coles, 1676. This sense leads one to posit an unrecorded prig, n., a horse, ex prig, v., 4.

prig-star. A rival in love: c.: mid C. 17-18. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Ex prig, n., 2, or prig, v., 1. Obviously, star may = -ster.—2. Cf. prigster, 1 and 2.

prigg. See prig, n. and v.

prigger. A thief: c. >, in C. 19, low s.: 1561, Awdelay; B.E. E.g. p. of cacklers, prancers, a poultry-, horse-thief. Ex prig, v., 1. (In C. 16, often priggar.)—2. A highwayman: C. 17 c. Ex prig, to ride; prigger also meaning any rider: c. (or low s.) and dial.—3. Hence, a fornicator: c. (? > low s.): C. (? 18-19). Bee, 1823. Ex prig, v., 5. Cf. parish-prig.

priggery. Thievery; petty theft: c.: C. 18-early 19. Fielding, 1743. Cf. priggism, q.v.

Prigging, vbl.n. to prig, v., q.v.: e.g. B.E. 'Riding; also Lying with a Woman'; Greene, 1591, 'This base villany of Prigging, or horse-stealing'. From ca. 1820, mostly of petty theft; and, as such, low s.

prigging, adj. Thieving; thievish: from ca. 1567: c. >, in early C. 18, low s. Ex prig, v., 1.

prigging law, lay. Theft; esp. pilfering: c.: resp. late C. 16–17 and C. 19–20; ob. Greene; Maginn, 1829, 'Doing a bit on the prigging lay'. (Prob., despite a lack of examples, the law form endured till ca. 1750, when—again prob.—the other arose: see law and lay.) Ex prig, v., 1.

priggish. Thievish; dishonest: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. Ex prig, n., 1.

priggism. Thieving: (c. or) low s.: C. 18. Fielding, 1743, 'The great antiquity of priggism'.

prigman; occ. prig-man. A thief: c. of ca. 1560–1600. Awdelay (prygmán); Drant, 1567 (pridgeman). Ex prig, n., 1, or, more prob., v., 1. (O.E.D.)

prigster. A thief: c. >, by 1840, low s.: C. 19. Ex prig, v., 1–2. A vague pejorative: 1688, Shadwell; † by 1750. Ex prig, n., 6, in same sense. —3. See prig-star, 2: B.E. and Grose both spell without hyphen: prigstar.

prim. 'A silly empty starch Fellow', B.E.: late C. 17–19: low s. >, by 1750, coll. and dial. Ex both the adj. and the v.

primætiāll. An incorrect form of primitiāll: C. 17. O.E.D.

Prime, the. The Prime Minister: from ca. 1919. John Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 1924, 'Didn't he think that the cubic called "Still Life—of the Government", too frightfully funny—especially the "old bean" representing the Prime?'

prime as a universal approbative adj. ca. 1810–40 is a coll. almost s. Vaux; Bee; Egan's Grose.

prime, adv. Excellently; in prime order: coll.: 1648, Gage, 'Prime good'; C. Scott, Sheep-Farming, 'The hoggets will be prime fat by Christmas.' O.E.D.

prime kelter, in. (Of a ship, esp. her rigging) in excellent condition: nautical coll.: C. 19–20. Bowen.

primitive. Unmixed; undiluted: society s. of ca. 1890–1910.

primrose. 'A beverage composed of old and bitter ale mixed': West Yorkshire s. (— 1905), not dial.; slightly ob. E.D.D. (Sup.).

primo. The chairman, or master, of a Buffalo lodge: friendly societies': from ca. 1880: coll. > in C. 20, j. Ex L. primus, the first.

primogenial (occ. -eal), -genian, -genious (occ. -geneous). Incorrect for primigenial, -genian, -genious: C. 17–18. O.E.D.

prinado. A sharper, prob. female: c. of ca. 1620–60. Dekker; Brathwait, Clitius's Whimzies, 1631, 'His Nippes, Ints, Bunges, and Prinado's . . . oftentimes prevent the Lawyer by diving too deep into his Client's pocket.' Origin obscure: the O.E.D. hazards Sp. preñada, pregnant: unmarried pregnant women of the lower classes used to tend to become criminals.

Prince Alberts. 'Burlap wound round the feet when a man's socks are worn out': sailing-ships': from ca. 1860; ob. Bowen.—2. Hence, rags worn by swagmen and bushmen in the same way: Australian: C. 20.

prince prig. See prig, prince.

Prince Robert's metal. Incorrect for Prince Rupert's metal: late C. 17–20. O.E.D.

Prince's points. 'Shilling points at whist':

Society and clubmen's coll.: 1877–1901. H.R.H. (afterwards King Edward VII) argued that 'the best whist-players were not necessarily the richest of men,' Ware.

Princess Pats, the. Princess Patricia's Regiment: Canadian military: G.W., and after. F. & Gibbons (at colours).

principle. Incorrect for principiate: ca. 1660–1700. O.E.D.

[principe. See 'Westminster School slang', near end.]

princecock, -cox. The female pudend: low coll.: C. 16–mid-19. Ex S.E. sense.

princod. 'A round, plump' person, Grose, 1st ed.: Scots coll.: ca. 1780–1860. Ex S.E. sense, a pincushion. (Possibly, however, it never emerged from dial.)

princum. Nicety of dress, fastidiousness of behaviour: coll.: late C. 17–18. D'Urfey, 1690. A mock-Latin perversion of prink, q.v. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

princum-prancum. See prinkum-prankum.

Princum Prancum, Mistress (B.E.) or Mrs (Grose, 1st ed.). A fastidious, precise, formal woman: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. See prinkum-prankum, stressing prink rather than prank.

prink, n. An act of making (gen. oneself) spruce: coll.: 1895 (O.E.D.). Ex:

prink, v.t. To make spruce; in reflexive, to dress oneself up: coll.: 1576, Gascoigne, 'Now I stand prinking me in the glasse,' O.E.D. The v.i., in the reflexive sense, is also coll.: C. 18–20 (D'Urfey); in C. 19–20, much the more gen. Cognate with equivalent prank.

prinked. The ppl.adj. of prink, v.t., and = 'all dressed up'. Coll.: 1579, North. (O.E.D.)

prinker. A very fastidious dresser of self: coll.: from ca. 1860. Webster, 1864. Cf.:

prinking. A fastidious adorning, mostly of oneself: coll.: 1699, Farquhar (O.E.D.). See prink, v.

prinkle, esp. prinkled. To sprinkle; sprinkled: children's sol.: since when? Manchon. (But I believe Manchon's 'prinkled in all her finery, en grande toilette' is simply an error or, more prob., a misprint for prinked . . .)

prinkum-prankum. A prank: coll.: late C. 16–17. Nashe. A reduplication on prank with um (see princum) added to each element. (O.E.D.)—2. (Mostly in pl.) Fine clothes; fastidious adornment: C. 18–early 19: coll. Here the stress is laid on prink (see the v.). See also Princum Prancum, Mistress.

print, out of. See out of print.

printed character. A pawn-ticket: low s. (? > coll.): from ca. 1860; ob.

Printing House Square, adj. 'Powerful—crushing, ex cathedra, from The Times being published in that locality': London clubmen's coll.: ca. 1810–80. Ware.

priorily. An incorrect variant of priorly, adv.: late C. 18–20; ob. O.E.D. priscillas. See pucellas.

prison-bug. A man that spends most of his time in prison: c.: from ca. 1920.

prithe. I pray thee; i.e. please!: coll.: 1577 G. Harvey; †, except as an archaism, by 1880. Addison, 'Prythee don't send us up any more Stories of a Cock and a Bull.' An abbr. corruption. O.E.D.

private business. Additional work done with a tutor: Eton College: late C. 19–20.

Private Leak. 'One whose position cannot be discovered': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf. up in Annie's room.

private peace, (I think) I'll make a. See separate peace.

private property. The generative organ: low coll.: C. 19–20. Suggested by privity (-ies), privates.

privee, n. A private one: Charterhouse: from ca. 1880. A. H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.

prize, adj. Egregious; esp. 'prize idiot': coll.: C. 20. Ex S.E. sense, first-class.

prize faggots. 'Well-developed breasts in women'; low London (— 1909). Ware. A faggot is a kind of rissole.

prize-packet. A novice that pays to play: theatrical: late C. 19–20. The Globe, July 27, 1899, 'Another man spent a happy holiday as . . . a prize packet.' Punning S.E. prize-packet and, I suggest, surprise-packet.

prizer. A prize-winner: coll., somewhat rare: mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

pro. A pro-protector: university (esp. Oxford coll.: 1823, Anon., Hints for Oxford, '[Freshmen] cap the Pro's too in the street'; Bradwood, O.V.H., 1869.—2. An actor: theatrical (— 1859). H., 1st ed. (Introduction). I.e. one who belongs to the profession, i.e. acting. (N.b., the profession is rather j. than coll., though orig. it may possibly have been theatrical coll.)—3. Hence, any professional as opp. to an amateur: e.g. cricketer, 1867; journalist, 1886; golfer, 1887. Coll. O.E.D.—4. In post-War days, esp. of a prostitute whose profession is body-vending: as opp. to a notoriously or very compliant 'amateur', esp. an 'amateur' that makes a little extra by sexual 'adventures'. —5. A probationer (nurse): medical: late C. 19–20.

pro-donna. An actress: music-halls': from ca. 1880; ob. Ware. Lit., professional lady.

processh. A procession: late C. 19–20. (Never as v.; contrast:)

process. To be part of, go along with a procession: coll.: 1814 (O.E.D.). Ex procession, on progress.

process-pusher. A lawyer's clerk: legal (— 1909). Ware. He serves writs.

procession, as applied to a race, esp. a boat-race (above all, one in which there are only two crews), implies 'an ignominious defeat' (The Graphic, March 24, 1883): in C. 19, coll.; in C. 20, S.E.

procession, go on with the. To continue (esp. in the imperative): coll.: late C. 19–20; very ob. Displaced by on with the dance!, itself somewhat ob. by 1935.

processional. A procession: a catachresis of late C. 19–20. O.E.D. proclamations, have one's head full of. See head full of proclamations.

proctors' dog or bulldog. The orig. of bulldog, one of the University police: Oxford and Cambridge University: 1847, Tennyson in The Princess, 'He had climbed across the spikes . . . | And . . . breath'd the Proctor's dogs.' O.E.D.

proctour, i.e. proctor. Awdelay, 1561, 'Proctour is he, that will tary long, and bring a lye, when his Maister sendeth him on his errand,' i.e. of the 12th of the 25 orders of knaves: c.: mid-C. 16—early 17. Ex S.E. sense, one licensed to beg for a hospital.

prod, n. and v. (Of a man) the act of coition; to coit: C. 19–20: low coll. Cf. poke.—2. A horse;

esp. an old horse: from ca. 1890. A perversion of prad, q.v. (O.E.D.)

prodigious. Prodigiously; very greatly; very: from ca. 1670: S.E. until ca. 1750, then coll.; in late C. 19–20, low coll.; ob. E. de Acton, 1804, 'A prodigious high hill'. O.E.D. Cf.:

prodigiously. Exceedingly; very: coll.: C. 18–20; ob. Swift, 1711, 'It snowed . . . prodigiously.' (O.E.D.)

produce, gen. in imperative. To pay over the money won: two-up players': C. 20. Abbr. produce the money.

prof; often, in C. 19, proff. A professor: U.S., 1838; anglicised ca. 1860. Thornton.

profession, the. See note at pro, 2.

professional. A 'professional examination' (medicine): Scottish universities', mostly medical students': C. 20. (O.E.D.)

profit!, all. A barbers' c.p., indicating that a customer having his hair cut requires no 'dressing' on his hair; gen. said to the customer. C. 20.

proforce, profos. A provost: Scots sol.: C. 18–20. (O.E.D.)

prog. Food in gen.: 1655, Fuller, 'The Abbot also every Saturday was to visit their beds, to see if they had not shuffled in some softer matter or purloyned some progge for themselves'; Swift; Disraeli. Prob. ex corresponding v.—2. Hence, food for a journey, a picnic: coll.: 1813 (O.E.D.)—3. A proctor (Oxford, Cambridge): undergraduates' s.: C. 20. By perversion. Also progger and prog-gins. Cf. sense 1 of the v.—4. A programme: not very gen. coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

prog, v.t. To proctorise: C. 20 Oxford and Cambridge. Ex prog, n., 3.—2. To poke about for food; to forage: C. 17–20; in C. 17, (low) s.; C. 18, s. > low coll.: C. 19–20, mainly dial. Origin obscure.—3. To prognosticate: printers': from ca. 1870.

prog-basket. A provision-basket on journey or picnic: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex prog, n., 2. progger. A beggar: late C. 17–20: s. until ca. 1750; then coll. till ca. 1850; then dial. (O.E.D.) Ex prog, v., 2.—2. (Also proggins, which is more gen.) A proctor: C. 20 Oxford, Cambridge. Ex prog, v., 1.

progging, n. A proctorial discipline: Oxford, Cambridge: C. 20. Ex prog, v., 1.—2. Foraging: mid-C. 17–20: s. >, by 1700, coll.; ob. J. Chappelow, 1715, 'All their . . . progging is for themselves.' O.E.D.

progging, adj. Begging; foraging: from ca. 1620: s. >, by 1700, coll.; very ob. Ex prog, v., 2.

proggins. A proctor: from ca. 1898. See prog, n., 3, and cf. progger, n., 2. (O.E.D.)

prognostic. An artistic eater: literary, ca. 1900–10. I.e. prog, n., 1 + gnostic, one who knows; obviously with pun on S.E. prognostic.

proing, vbl.n. Being a professional (esp. actor, showman, singer): coll. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann.

[Projector, the.] John Law, financier (d. 1729). Also Beau Law and the Paper King. Rather sobriquets than true nicknames.]

proling. See prowl, 1. Spelling in B.E. and A New Canting Dict.

prom. A promenade, a place for promenading: coll., orig. (1899), U.S.; anglicised by 1910. (O.E.D. Sup.)—2. A promenade concert: 1902, The Free Lance, Jan. 4, 1902, 'There is never one of the programmes at the Proms . . . unworthy of the . . . most cultured music lover.' Cf. pop and:

promenade. A promenade concert: coll., now verging on S.E.: 1901, The Westminster Gazette, Sept. 18. O.E.D. (—Contrary to a wide-spread opinion, promenade as used by soldiers is S.E.)

promiscuous. Carelessly irregular; haphazard; casual: low coll.: 1837, Dickens; L. Oliphant, 1883. O.E.D.—2. Casually; incidentally: 1885, Grant Allen. (O.E.D.) Cf. sense 2 of:

promiscuously. Unceremoniously; promptly: coll.: C. 17. Rowlands, 1609 (O.E.D.).—2. Casually; incidentally: coll.: 1812. Leslie Stephen, 1871, 'The stone was dropped promiscuously.' O.E.D. promise. Declare; assert with assurance: coll.: mid-C. 15–20. Esp. in I promise you, I assure you; I tell you confidently or plainly. O.E.D.

promo. A promotion: Charterhouse: from ca. 1880. A. H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900. An unexpected, perhaps an undeserved promotion was, ca. 1890–1905, a Stedman.

promoss. To talk rubbish; play the fool: Australia: ca. 1895–1910. ? origin.

promoted. Dead: Oct.–Nov., 1890. Ex the public funeral of Mrs Booth, General Booth's wife, and Salvation Army j. (Ware.)

promoter. A fool-catcher: coll.: ca. 1880–1920. Ex company-promoter.

promotion, be on one's. To behave with marriage in view and mind: coll.: 1836 (O.E.D.); 1848, Thackeray, "'Those filthy cigars," replied Mrs Rawdon. "I remember when you liked 'em, though", replied her husband . . . "That was when I was on my promotion, Goosey", she said.' Ex on promotion, on approval or trial.

promotionitis. The symptoms displayed by officer; potentially promotable: naval coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

prompter. A member of the 2nd Form: Merchant Taylor's School: C. 19–20 coll. > j.

prone, at the. Adj.-adv., lying with face down: military coll., esp. of firing position: C. 20.

pronunciation. Pronunciation: sol., written as well as spoken: C. 16–20: not incorrect until C. 19. Owing to pronounce, pronounceable, etc. (Yet I have never heard—or seen—denunciation.)

pron o. Promptly; quickly: U.S., anglicised in 1918, esp. in the Navy and Army. Bowen; F. & Gibbons. Ex Sp. pronto, promptly.

Prooshan, -in. (A) Prussian: low coll.: C. 19–20. Cf. quotation at Prussian blue.

Prooshan blue, my. See Prussian blue.

prop. See props, 2–4.—2. Any stage requisite; a portable article used in acting a play: theatrical: 1864, H., 3rd ed. Ex property. Gen. in pl.: actor's props, acting material provided by himself; (manager's) props, articles provided by the manager for stage use. Cf. props, n., 4.—3. A breast-pin; a tie-pin: c.: 1850, Dickens, 'In his shirt-front there's a beautiful diamond prop.' Perhaps ex prop, a support; more prob. ex Dutch prop. In C. 20 c., also a lady's brooch: Manchon.—4. The leg: s. and dial. (1793); the arm extended: s. only: 1869. See props, 3. Hence partly:—5. A straight hit; a blow: pugilistic and low street: 1874, H., 5th ed., 'A prop on the nose'; 1887, The Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, Dec. 2, 'Ned met each rush of his enemy with straight props.' Ex prop, v., 1.—6. The gallows: Punch and Judy s. verging on j.: from ca. 1860.—7. A proposition, as in geometry: schools': 1871, 'M. Legrand' (O.E.D.). Ex abbr.—8. A propeller: aviators' coll.: from ca. 1915. B. & P.

prop, v. To hit; knock down: pugilistic and low: 1851, Mayhew, 'If we met an "old bloke" . . . we "propped him".' Perhaps by antiphrasis ex prop, to support, influenced by drop; but cf. prop, n., 5.—2. Only in prop and cop, a four-handed game in which one says I prop (I propose), and another I cop (accept): 1923, Manchon; ob.

prop, kick away the. To be hanged: low coll.: early C. 19.

prop-nailer. A stealer of pins or brooches: c.: 1856, Mayhew. Ex prop, n., 3.

prop on, put the. To seize an opponent's arm and thus prevent him from hitting: pugilistic: from ca. 1860; ob. Cf. props, 3.

propaganda. Exaggerated talk; senseless rumours or information: military coll.: 1916–18. F. & Gibbons. (Comment unnecessary.)

propeller-guards. Ladies' stockings: nautical (officers'): C. 20. Bowen. Punning the technical term + legs as propellers.

propensities, have musical. (Of a horse) to be a 'roarer': sporting, esp. journalists' (—1887); ob. Baumann.

proper. (Of things.) Excellent; admirable: from late M.E.: S.E. >, ca. 1850, coll. >, ca. 1890, low coll.—2. (Of persons.) Respectable; decorous: 1818, Moore: somewhat, and increasingly, coll. O.E.D.—3. Thorough; complete; perfect: C. 14–20: S.E. till C. 19, then dial. and coll. Miss Yonge, 'Old Markham seems in a proper taking,' O.E.D. Cf. sense 1.

proper, adv. Excellently; thoroughly; without subterfuge; handsomely: an intensive adv. = hard ('Hit him proper!'), very much: mid-C. 15–20: S.E. until ca. 1820, then coll.; since ca. 1880, low coll.; since ca. 1920, almost a sol. Conan Doyle, 1898, "'Had 'em that time—had 'em proper!" said he,' O.E.D.

proper, make oneself. To adorn oneself: low coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. Fr. propre, clean.

proper bit of frock. A 'pretty and clever well-dressed girl': London lower classes': ca. 1873–1910. Ware.

properly. Admirably; handsomely; well: C. 14–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, low coll.—2. Thoroughly, perfectly; very: C. 15–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. The Daily News, March 18, 1896, 'The accused said he got "properly drunk"', O.E.D.

propers, adj. Rejected, refused: lower classes' (—1909). Ware implies an erotic connotation.

property, alter the. To disguise oneself: late C. 17–early 19: coll. >, by 1750, S.E. (Implied in) B.E.; A New Canting Dict., 1725.

prophecy, the n., and prophesy, the v., Often confused in writing; occ. in speech.

prophet. A sporting tipster: journalistic: 1884, The Pall Mall Gazette, May 3 (O.E.D.); slightly ob.—2. Prophet, the. The Cock (tavern) at Temple Bar, London: 1788–ca. 1830: a London nickname. Grose, 3rd ed. Presumably because a cock announces the dawn.

prop'ly, proply. Properly: slovenly coll.: C. 19–20. E.g. Frank Swinnerton, The Georgian House, 1933.

propose, v.i. To offer marriage: coll.: 1764 Gray in his poem The Candidate. O.E.D.

proposition. A matter: C. 20 coll. (orig. U.S.); prob. soon to be S.E. 'That's quite a different proposition.' Ex the very closely allied S.E. (orig. U.S.) sense, 'a problem, task, or undertaking . . . a person to be dealt with', S.O.D. See, e.g., the Fowlers' King's English.—2. A tough proposition retains its U.S. flavour.

propopy. Like a prop or pole: coll., but rare: 1870, O.E.D.

propriet. To own: journalistic: 1887, The Referee, July 31; ob. Ware (at Pink 'un). Ex proprietor.

props. See prop, n., 2.—2. Crutches: late C. 18–20. Grose, 2nd ed. I.e. things that support.—3. The arms; not, as Manchon defines it, fists: low: 1869, Temple Bar, vol. XXVI, 'Take off your coat and put up your props to him.' Cf. prop, v., 1. Prob. same semantics as for sense 2; cf. prop, n., 4.—4. (Also propster.) The property-man: theatrical: from ca. 1889. Cf. prop, n., 2.—5. (props or Props.) Shares in the Broken Hill Proprietary Company: Stock Exchange (—1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

props, piss on one's. See piss on one's props.—propster. See props, 4.

pros; occ. pross. A water-closet: Oxford and Cambridge University (—1860). H., 2nd ed. Abbr. πρός τινα or τὸν τόπον. Cf. the old undergraduate 'wheeze': 'When is pote used [or, put] for pros? | When the nights are dark and dreary, | When our legs are weak and weary, | When the quad we have to cross, | Then is pote put for pros': doubtless a double pun, for pote = (chamber-)pot, pros = a w.c., and pote = Gr. πότε, when?, pros = Gr. πρός, to. Cf. topos, q.v.

pros, adj. Proper: low London (—1887); ob. ? ex prosperous.—2 Occ. as adv.

Pros' Avenue; p. a. The Gaiety Bar: theatrical: 1880's. Because a resort of actors. Ware. Cf. Prossers' Avenue, q.v.

prose, n. and v. A lecture; to lecture: Winchester College: from ca. 1860. Ex S.E., a prosy discourse or ex:—2. Familiar talk; a talk: coll.: 1805, Mrs Creevey; ob. by 1890, virtually † by 1930. O.E.D. Ex:—3. prose, v. To chat; gossip: coll.: 1797, Tweddell; ob. by 1890, † by 1930. O.E.D.—4. A prosy, esp. if dull, person: coll.: 1844, Dickens (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex sense 2.

prosecute. See persecute.

prospect. A person more or less likely to take out an insurance policy: an insurance coll. now verging on j.: C. 20. Ex S.E. mining sense, a spot giving prospects of, e.g., gold.

Prosperity Robinson. Fred. Robinson (d. 1859), Viscount Goderich. Ex untimely eulogy of British prosperity. (Also known as Goosey Goderich.) Contrast Adversity Hume and cf. Starvation Dundas. (Dawson.)

pross. One who, to an (itinerant) actor, throws money: low theatrical: 1851, Mayhew; very ob. Prob. ex prosperous: cf. pros, adj.—2. Hence, a cadger drink: theatrical: from ca. 1860.—3. A prostitute: low (mostly London): from ca. 1870.—4. See pross, on the, and cf. prosser and pross, v.—5. A variant of pros, n.

pross, v. To cadge (a meal, a drink); occ. v.i.: theatrical: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed. Either ex pross, n., 2, or pross, v., 2. Anon., ca. 1876, 'I've prossed my meals from off my pals.'—2. 'To break in or instruct a stage-infatuated youth', H., 1st ed.: theatrical: from ca. 1858; ob. This sense may have been influenced by Romany pross, to ridicule.

pross, on the, adj. and adv. Looking for free drinks, etc.; on the cadge: theatrical >, ca. 1890, low gen. s.: from ca. 1860. P. H. Emerson, 1893.—2. Breaking in (and sponging from) a stage-struck youth: theatrical: from ca. 1865.

prosser. A cadger of refreshment, stomachic or pecuniary: theatrical: from ca. 1880. Cf. Prossers' Avenue and 'For he don't haunt the Gaiety Bar, dear boys, | A-standing (or prossing for) drinks,' The Referee, Nov. 18, 1883.—2. Hence, a loafer, a hanger-on: 1886, The Cornhill Magazine, Nov. Senses 1 and 2, prob. ex:—3. A 'ponce' (q.v.): low: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Ex pross, n., 3.

Prosser's, occ. Prossers' Avenue. The Gaiety Bar: theatrical: from ca. 1882. Ex prosser, 1, q.v.

prostitute. To prostrate: a C. 17 catachresis. O.E.D. prostituted. (Of a patent) so long on the market that it has become known to all: commercial coll. (—1909). Ware.

[protagonist. See Fowler.]

protected. Lucky; uncannily or very lucky: Australian and New Zealand: C. 20, but not gen. before G.W. Prob. protected by the gods or by one's superiors. Cf.:

protected man. 'A merchant seaman unfit for the Royal Service and therefore free of the press-gang', F. & H.: naval coll.: ca. 1800–50.

protervicious. An incorrect form of †protervovous: mid-C. 16–17. O.E.D.—protest. See detest.

prothesis, prothetic, are incorrect for the prosthesis, prosthetic, of surgery: from ca. 1840. O.E.D.

[proud. Feeling very gratified, delighted: S.E. verging on coll. and dial.: C. 19–20. Whence:]

proud, do one. To flatter (ob.); to honour; to treat very generously: coll.: 1819 (O.E.D.); 1836, Clark, Ollapodiana Papers, 1836, 'I really thought, for the moment, that "she did me proud".' Cf. 'the Cull tipt us Rum Prog, the Gentleman Treated us very High,' B.E. and:

proud, do oneself. To be delighted (ob.); to treat oneself well, live comfortably: coll.: from ca. 1840. Ex preceding entry.

proud as an apothecary. Very proud or conceited: a C. 17 coll. Apperson. Cf.:

proud as old Cole's dog. Exceeding proud: C. 19: coll. Southey explains that this animal 'took the wall of a dung-cart and got squeezed to death by the wheel'. Anecdotal origin. (Apperson.)

prov, on the. Out of work and on the provident funds of a trade society or union: workmen's: from ca. 1870; > ob. on the Dole's arrival.

provencion. An incorrect form of prevention: C. 16–17. A C. 17 incorrectness for the same is provension: C. 17. O.E.D.

provender. 'He from whom any Money is taken on the Highway', B.E.: c. of late C. 17–early 19. Ex provender, food, a provider thereof.—2. Hence, money taken from a person on the highway: c.: C. 18. The New Canting Dict., 1725.

provender pricks one. One grows amorous: coll.: ca. 1540–1750. Heywood, E. Ward. (Apperson.)

proverbial, the. A fall, smash; disaster: military: 1916; ob. F. & Gibbons. Abbr. the proverbial gutser that comes after pride: see gutser.

providence. One who appears, or acts, in the character of Providence: coll.: 1856, Emerson (O.E.D.). province of Bacchus. Drunkenness: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. Egan's Grose.

provost. A garrison or other cell for short-sentence prisoners: military coll. (— 1890) >, ca. 1905, S.E.; ob. Abbr. provost-cell.

prow. A bumpkin: naval: ca. 1800–90. ? ex ob. prow, good, worthy.

prowl. To womanise: low coll.: late C. 17–20. B.E., as proling [sic]. (Like a wild beast for meat: cf. mutton, q.v.)—2. To wait for 'the ghost to walk': theatrical: from ca. 1870; ob. See ghost.—3. To go about, looking for something to steal: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

Prowler, Hugh. A generalised (? low) coll. nickname for a thief, a highwayman: mid-C. 16–17. Tusser, 'For fear of Hugh Prowler get home with the rest.'

proxime. Proxime accessit: coll. abbr. (schools', universities'): 1896. O.E.D.

Pru, the. The Prudential insurance company: insurance: late C. 19–20. Collinson.

pruff. Sturdy: Winchester College: from ca. 1870. Ex proof against pain. Pascoe, 1881, 'Deprive a Wykehamist of words . . . such as quill . . . pruff . . . cad . . . and his vocabulary becomes limited.'

prugg(e). A female partner; a doxy: C. 17: either (low) s. or c. Nares (1822); Halliwell (1847). Prob. cognate with prig and perhaps with prog, q.v.

prunella, leather and. This misquotation of Pope's leather or prunella has been misapplied to mean something to which one is completely indifferent. (Fowler.)

Prunella, Mr; or prunella. A clergyman: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 1st ed. Clergymen's, like barristers', gowns were formerly made from this strong (silk, later) worsted stuff.

Prussian blue, my. An endearment: ca. 1815–70, though app. not recorded before 1837, Dickens, "Vell, Sammy," said the father. "Vell, my Prooshan Blue," responded the son.' Punning the colour; ex the tremendous popularity of the Prussians after Waterloo: cf. the old toast, Prussian blue. Brewer.

prygge. See prig, n. and v.—prygmán. See prigman.—pr'ythee. See prithe.

P's and Q's. See imm. after 'p.s or P.S.'—2. Shoes: rhyming s. late C. 19–20. B. & P.

psalm-smiter. A ranting nonconformist; a street preacher: low: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed. ? ex psalm-singing, noisily religious. Cf. cushion-smiter and -thumper.

psico-, psicro-. Incorrect for psycho-, psychro-. C. 19–20. O.E.D.

Psych. See Sike.

psyche (pronounced sik). To subject to psychoanalysis: coll. (— 1927). Collinson. Cf.:

psycho. Psycho-analysis (1921); to psychoanalyse (1925): coll. O.E.D. (Sup.).

psychological moment. (Cf. the misuse of inferiority complex.) The critical moment; at the p. m., in the very nick of time: catachrestic: from ca. 1871. The error arose from the French moment psychologique, a confusion of das psychologische Moment with der p. M., i.e. the 'momentum' or factor for the moment of time. Esp. common in journalism. See esp. W., O.E.D., and Fowler.

ptomaine. The pronunciation toe-mane was in 1909 condemned by the O.E.D. as illiterate; but by 1920 (so I infer from W.) it was no worse than coll.; by 1930, it was S.E., for the orig. correct toe-may-in had disappeared,—the author (horrible dictu!) has never even heard it. Cf. potomaine, q.v.

pu-pu. A variant of pooh-pooh.

pub. A public-house (see public, n.): 1859, H., in his first ed.: s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Anon., The Siliad, ca. 1871, 'All the great houses and the minor pubs.'—2. See P.B.

pub (always pub it). To frequent 'pubs': coll.: 1839, Jerome K. Jerome. Ex preceding. O.E.D.

pub-crawl; esp. do a p.-c. A liquorish peregrination from bar to bar: from not later than 1910. Hence pub-crawler, pub-crawling: from ca. 1910.

pubes. An incorrect pl. of pubis, a part of the innominate bone: from ca. 1840.—2. Also incorrect for pubis, the pubic bone: 1872. O.E.D.

pubis. A mistake for pubes, the hypogastric region: from ca. 1680. O.E.D.

public. A public-house: coll.: 1709, a churchwarden's account (O.E.D.); ob. Scott, 'This woman keeps an inn, then? interrupted Morton. A public, in a prim way, replied Blane.' Cf. pub, q.v.

public, adj. In, of, a public-house: coll.: mid-C. 18–20. Ex preceding.

public buildings, inspector of. An idler; a loafer: from ca. 1850; ob. Hence, one in search of work: from ca. 1860; † by 1930.

public ledger. A harlot: low: late C. 18–20; very ob. 'Because like that paper, she is open to all parties,' Grose, 2nd ed. Punning not The Public Ledger (of Philadelphia, 1836) but perhaps the Public Register.

public line, something in the. A licensed victualler: coll. Dickens, who, in 1840, originated—or, at the least, gave currency to—the phrase; prob. on the public business.

public man. A bankrupt: ca. 1810–30. Lex. Bal., 1811. Perhaps suggested by † S.E. public woman (Fr. femme publique), a harlot.

public patterer. A 'swell mobsman' (see mobsman) who, pretending to be a Dissenting preacher, harangues in the open air to attract a crowd for his confederates to rob: c.: ca. 1860–1910. H., 3rd ed., 1864. See patterer.

public-room men. 'In modern liners, the deck, smoke-room, library and lounge stewards and the like': nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

puccellas; priscillas. Incorrect for procello: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

Publican. A nickname for General Booth 'after buying the Grecian Theatre and Tavern in the City Road': 1883–ca. 90. Ware.

puck-ball. Erroneous for puff-ball: C. 18–20. Ex Bailey's misreading of Kersey. O.E.D.

pucka. See pukka.—pucker, adj. See the same.

pucker. Excitement; (a state of) agitation: coll.: 1741, Richardson (O.E.D.); Smollett, 1751, 'The whole parish was in a pucker: some thought the French had landed.' Rare except as in a pucker, which Grose, 2nd ed., defines as 'in a dishabille', a sense † by 1880; 'also in a fright', which is a little too strong. Common, moreover, in dial.; cf. the Lancashire puckerashun, vexation or agitation. Ex the puckering of facial skin. See pucker up.

pucker, v. To talk privately: showmen's s. (perhaps orig. c.): 1851, Mayhew, 'The trio . . . began puckering . . . to each other in murdered French, dashed with a little Irish.' ? a corruption of Romyan rok(k)er or vok(k)er, to talk: cf. rock, q.v.

pucker up. To become angry: coll.: C. 19–20. Ex. n., q.v., and S.E. v., primary sense.

pucker-water. An astringent employed—esp. by 'old experienced traders', i.e. prostitutes—to counterfeit virginity: low coll.: Grose, 1785; † by 1890. Gen., water impregnated with alum. (Cf. post-parturition astringents.) Ex pucker, to contract.

puckering, vbl.n. Private talk: c. and showmen's s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex pucker, v., q.v.

puckerow; occ. pukkaroo. To seize: Anglo-Indian and military (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex Hindustani, where this, as in all the Anglo-Indian -ow vv., is the form of the imperative, not of the infinitive. Perhaps cf. pakaru, q.v.

pud. A (child's) hand; an animal's fore-foot: a nursery coll.: 1654, O.E.D. Lamb, 1823, 'Those little short . . . puds.' Origin unknown: but cf. Dutch poot, a paw (W.) and the later pudsy, plump, chubby.

pudden. Pudding: dial. and low coll.: C. 16–20. And cf.:

pudden, v. C. 17–20. To supply with pudding; treat with a pudding(-like substance): low coll.—2. Esp., in c., to silence a dog by throwing a narcotic ball to it: 1858, Youatt (O.E.D.).

pudden-basin. An illiterate variant of pudding-basin, q.v. (B. & P.)

pudden club, put in the. To render pregnant: low: late C. 19–20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. See also pudding, with a bellyful of marrow.

pudding. Liver drugged for the silencing of nouse-dogs: c.: 1877, but prob. much earlier,—see pudden, v., in c. sense. Horsley, Jottings from Jail. Cf. the old saying 'Pudding is poison when it is too much boiled' (Swift).—2. Coition; the penis; the seminal fluid: low coll.: from Restoration days. Wit and Mirth, 1682; D'Urfey.—3. See puddings.—4. An English 60-pound bomb: military: 1916–18.

pudding, give or make or yield the crow(s) a. To die; also and orig., to hang on a gibbet: late C. 16–19. Grose, 3rd ed. (give); Shakespeare, 'He'll yield the crow a pudding one of these days.'

pudding !, not a word of the. Say nothing about it: coll. c.p. of late C. 17–early 18. B.E., at mum-for-that.

pudding, ride post for a. To exert oneself for a small cause: coll.: C. 18–19 coll.

pudding, with a bellyful of marrow-; in the pudding club. Pregnant: low: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. pudding, n., 2. The latter, esp. as put in the pudden club, to render pregnant, is still current: witness James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

pudding about the heels. Thick-ankled: low coll.: C. 19–20; very ob.

pudding for supper, have a hot. See hot pudding. pudding-bag. 'A stocking pennant used as a vane': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex shape.

pudding-basin. A British shrapnel-helmet: military: 1915; ob. Ex its shape. (F. & Gibbons.)

pudding-bellied. With great paunch: coll.: C. 18–20.

pudding-filler. A glutton: Scots coll.: C. 16–19. Dunbar. See puddings.

pudding-house. The stomach, the belly: low: late C. 16–20; ob. Nashe. Cf. bread-basket.

pudding-ken. A cook-shop: c.: C. 19–20; ob. P. H. Emerson. Cf. pudding-snammer.

pudding-sleeves. A clergyman: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. prunella, q.v.

pudding-snammer. A cook-shop thief: o. (— 1839); slightly ob. Brandon.

puddings. The guts: mid-C. 15–20: S.E. till C. 18, then dial. and low coll. Shakespeare; Brydges, 1772; Grose, 1st ed., 'I'll let out your puddings,' i.e. disembowel you.

puddings and pies. Eyes: rhyming s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Later, mince pies.

puddle. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20.—2. the Puddle or puddle, the Atlantic Ocean: coll.: from ca. 1880. Cf. the Pond, q.v.—3. A muddle, a mess: late C. 16–20: S.E. till ca. 1850, then coll. and dial.

puddle, v. To tipple: low coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. ? ex piddle on fuddle.

Puddle-Dock, the Countess or Duchess of. An imaginary aristocrat: coll.: C. 18–mid-19. Swift, 'Neverout. I promised to squire the Countess to her box. Miss. The Countess of Puddledock, I suppose.' Ex an almost permanent, large and dirty pool in Thames Street, which runs parallel to the river, London, E.C.4. puddling, adj. A vague pejorative: coll.: 1764, Foote; ob. Ex to puddle. Cf. piddling. O.E.D.

pudge. A short squat person; anything both short and thick: coll. and dial.: 1808, Jamieson. Of obscure origin but prob. cognate with podge.

pudsy. A foot: late C. 18–20: a nursery coll. A diminutive of pud, q.v.

pudsy, v. To greet affectionately or with familiarity: coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex pudsy, a term of endearment, esp. to a baby, itself ex pudsy, plump.

puff. A decoy in a gambling-house; a mock-bidder at auctions: resp. 1731 and (— 1785). O.E.D.—2. A sodomist: tramps' c.: from ca. 1870.—3. Breath, 'wind': s. and dial.: 1827, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.). Hence, out of puff, out of breath: same status and period.—4. Life; existence: tailors' > (low) gen.: from ca. 1880. As in never in one's puff, never, and as in 'Pomes' Marshall, 'He's the winner right enough! It's the one sole snip of a lifetime—simply the cop of one's puff.' puff and dart. Beginning, commencement: rhymings. (on start): C. 20. The Evening Standard, Aug. 19, 1931.

puff-ball, v.t. In the 1890's, John Masefield tells us in his history (1933) of the Conway training ship, 'large cakes of soft bread were moulded in tea at tea-time to the size and similitude of dumplings and then thrust down the victim's neck between his shirt and the skin': a mess's punishment of an 'impossible' member.

puff-guts. A fat man: low coll.: 1785, Grose; slightly ob.

puff-puff. A locomotive; a railway-train: nursing coll.: from ca. 1870. Echoic. Cf. puffer and puffing billy.

puff the glim. Horse-coping s. from before 1890, thus: 'Old horses are rejuvenated by puffing the glim, . . . filling up the hollows . . . above [the] eyes by pricking the skin and blowing air into the loose tissues underneath,' Til-Bits, April 11, 1891. (Verging on c.)

puffer. A steam-engine: coll.: verging on S.E.: 1801 (O.E.D.). Cf. puff-puff.—2. A steam barge: nautical coll. verging on S.E.: C. 20. Bowen.

puffin, plump as a. Very plump: coll. > S.E.: C. 19–20. Ex corpulence of young bird. (W.) puffing Billy or billy. A locomotive: coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf. puff-puff and puffer, qq.v.—2. Hence, a person puffing or much given to puffing: coll.: C. 20.

pug. A boxer: sporting: 1858, Mayhew, 'Known by his brother pugs to be one of the gamest hands in the ring'. Abbr. pugilist. Hence Pug's or Pugs' Acre, that corner of Highgate Cemetery where Tom Sayers and other 'pugs' lie buried.—2. A dog of no matter what breed: coll.: from ca. 1860. See sense 7.—3. A bargeman: coll.: late C. 16–early 17. Lyly, 1591, 'With a good winde and lustie pugges one may goe ten miles in two daies.' O.E.D.—4. A ship's boy: coll.: late C. 16–17. 'Hudibras' Butler. (O.E.D.)—5. A harlot: coll.: C. 17–early 18. Ned Ward.—6. An upper servant in a large house (etc.): from ca. 1840. Halliwell.—7. A nickname for a dog or a monkey: coll.: resp. (–1731), Bailey; 1664. † except in dial.—8. Hence, like 'monkey', to a child: mid-C. 18–20, but since ca. 1850, † except in dial. O.E.D.—9. A fox; gen. as a nickname: C. 19–20: coll. R. S. Surtees, 1858, 'Pug . . . turns tail, and is very soon in the rear of the hounds,' O.E.D. In C. 20, virtually S.E.

pug-nasty. A dirty slut: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. Ex pug, 5. Cf. pug Nancy in Addenda.

puggard. A thief: c.: C. 17. Middleton, 1611. Ex pug, to tug, pull.

puggle, puggly. See poggle.—puggle pawnee. See poggle p.—puggled. See poggled.

puggy. A coll. endearment to a woman or a child: C. 17–early 18.—2. A monkey: Scots coll.: from ca. 1820. Ex pug, 7.—3. A nickname for a fox: coll.: 1827. Ex pug, last sense.

puggy-drunk. Extremely drunk: rather low: late C. 19–20. Prob. ex pogy influenced by poggle (puggle), 2, and with an allusion to puggy, a fox (cf. foxed, drunk).

pugified. Snub-nosed: coll.: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. S.E. pug-nosed.

Pug's or Pugs' Acre. See pug, 1.

pug's or pugs' hole, parlour. The housekeeper's room in a large establishment: coll. (–1847). Halliwell (pugs'-hole). The latter not till late C. 19.

puja. See pooja.

puker. A good-for-nothing: a Shrewsbury School coll.: C. 19–20. Prob. ex the famous Shakespearian passage beginning: 'The infant Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms'.

pukka; often, though rare in C. 20, pucka. Also pakka, puckah, pucker: all rare in C. 20. Certain, reliable; genuine; excellent: Anglo-Indian coll.: from ca. 1770. Grant Allen, 1893, 'That's a good word . . . Is it pucker English, I wonder.' In pukka sahib (in C. 20, often derisive), it connotes the acme of gentlemanliness.—2. Permanent, as of an appointment: mid-C. 19–20: coll. Ex Hindu pakka, substantial. O.E.D.; Yule & Burnell.

pukkaroo. See puckerow.

pull. A mechanical 'catch' or knack; an ulterior and hidden motive: c.: 1812, Vaux; † by 1890. Prob. ex pulling of strings and wires.—2. Hence, an illicit trick or manipulation: card-sharpers' o. (–1861). Mayhew.—3. Ex have a pull, i.e. an advantage, over one, comes the sense in 'What's the good of having push'—energy—'if the other chap has the pull?', i.e. personal or private influence that one can use for one's advantage: U.S. s. (1889) anglicised ca. 1900 as a coll.; by 1920, S.E. Thornton; O.E.D.—4. See pull in.—5. An anxious moment: lower classes' (–1909); slightly ob. Ware. Ex the pull at one's heart.

pull, v. To arrest: c.: 1811, Lex. Bal. Cf. pull in and pull up.—2. Hence, to raid: c. (–1871); ob. Figaro, April 15, 1871.—3. To steal; occ., to cheat: c.: 1821, Haggart; Mayhew. † by 1900.

pull, in. Under arrest: c. of ca. 1810–70. Vaux. Ex pull, v., 1.

pull, take a. 'To desist, to discontinue', C. J. Dennis: Australian: C. 20. In the imperative, occ. take a pull on yourself!

pull a kite. To look or be serious: low: C. 19–20; ob.

pull a soldier off his mother! ('pull'? He or you) wouldn't. A c.p. directed at laziness or slacking: nautical (from ca. 1880) >, by 1900, military.

pull about. To treat roughly or without ceremony: coll. and dial.: C. 19–20. Ex S.E. sense, to pull this way and that. (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, to take liberties with a woman: low coll.: from ca. 1860. Cf. pully-hauly, play at, and muck about, qq.v.—3. Pull oneself about, to masturbate: low coll.: C. 19–20.

pull-back. A retarding or repressing act or influence: late C. 16–20: S.E. till C. 19, then coll. and dial.

pull-down. The moustache that succeeded the 'nap': Society: ca. 1870–90. Ware. Ex its shape.

pull down, v. To steal from shop doors: c. (–1839). Brandon.—2. To earn (money): from ca. 1920. (D. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933.)

pull down the blind! A c.p. addressed to couples love-making: London lower classes': from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

pull foot. To decamp; run hard: coll.: 1818. M. Scott, 'The whole crew pulled foot as if Old Nick had held them in chase', 1833. O.E.D. Cf. pull it and dial. pull feet or hot-foot, to walk fast (E.D.D.).

pull in. To arrest: c. >, ca. 1890, low s.: C. 19–20. Implicit in Vaux, 1812, 'To pull a man, or have him pulled is to cause his apprehension for some offence; and it is then said that Mr. Pullen is concerned.' Cf. pull, v., 1, pull over, and pull up.

pull it. To decamp; run as fast as possible: coll.: 1804 (O.E.D.). Cf. pull foot, q.v.

pull off. To obtain (some benefit): sporting: 1870 (O.E.D.). Ex sporting j., to win.—2. Hence, to succeed with, or in effecting, something: 1887, Black, 'We haven't pulled it off this time, mother.' O.E.D.

pull . . . on. To cite (something) as an excuso. Canadian (and U.S.): C. 20. John Beames.

pull one's load. To do all one can: coll., mostly Canadian: late C. 19–20. (Esp. in present perfect.) Cf. the S.E. pull one's weight.

pull one's wire. (Of the male) to masturbate: low: late C. 19–20.

pull-ons. A pair of women's drawers that are merely pulled on without fastening: from 1923 or 1924. Coll.: by 1935, virtually S.E. Ex S.E. pull-on, n. and adj., (of) a garment that can be pulled on and needs no fastening or tying. Cf. step-ins.

pull out. To hurry work in hand: tailors' s. verging on j.: from ca. 1860.—2. To achieve, as in 'He pulled out a special effort': C. 20.

pull over. To arrest: low: mid-C. 19–20; very ob. Cf. pull, v., 1. and pull up.—2. pull (oneself) over (an edible). To eat: London lower classes': 1886, The Referee, June 6; very ob. Ware. Cf. get outside of.

pull the chocks. To depart: aircraft engineers': from ca. 1930. The Daily Herald, Aug. 1, 1936. Thus is an aeroplane released for flight.

pull-through. A very thin man: military: from ca. 1905. F. & Gibbons. Ex the rifle pull-through.

pull up. To arrest: 1812, Vaux: c. >, by 1835, low s. >, by 1870, coll. >, by 1910, S.E. Dickens in Boz. Ex the act of pulling up, a checking, a fugitive. Cf. pull, v., 1.

pull up a Jack. To stop a post-chaise on the highway with a view to robbery: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux.

pull up one's boot. To make money: costermongers' (— 1909). Ware, 'When a man prepares for his day's work, he pulls on and strings up his boots.' Cf.:

pull up one's socks. See socks...

pull your ear! Try to remember!: lower classes' c.p. of ca. 1860–1910. Ware.

pulled. See pull, v., 1.—pulled up. See pull up.

pulled trade. Secured work: tailors' coll.: from ca. 1860.

Pullen is concerned, Mr. See pull in.

pullet. A young girl: coll.: C. 19–20: ob. Bee; H., 3rd ed. Cf. pulley, q.v.

pullet, virgin. 'A young woman... who though often trod has never laid,' Bee, 1823: low: ca. 1820–70. Ex pullet; and cf.:

pullet-squeezer. A womaniser that 'likes 'em young'; a 'chicken-fancier': from ca. 1830; somewhat ob. Ex pullet; cf. pullet, virgin.

pulley. A confederate thief, gen. a woman: c. (— 1859); very ob. H., 1st ed. Ex Fr. poulet.

pullies. Women's drawers that are pulled on: feminine coll.: from ca. 1932. See quotation at neathie-set. Imm. ex pull-ons, q.v.

pulling the right string?, are you. Are you correct?; are you going the right way about it?: cabinet-makers' c.p.: from 1863, says Ware. Ex small measurements being made with string. Cf. who pulled your chain?, q.v.

Pullman Pup, the. The night train running from Leeds to Scotland precedes that much more luxurious one from London to Scotland; hence this nickname of the former. Railway s. (— 1890); ob.

pully-hauly (in Grose, -hawly). A rough-and-tumble; a romp: coll.: late C. 18–19, but in C. 20 surviving in dial. and, as coll., in:

pully-hauly, play at. To romp with women; esp. to copulate: coll.: late C. 18–20; slightly ob. The idea, however, is extant in dial. pulling and hauling time and dragging time: cf. the † dial. pulling time. See Grose, P.

pulp. Nonsense; excessive sentimentality: Society: 1924, Galsworthy, The White Monkey; ob. (Collinson.)

pulpit. An artillery observation-ladder: military, esp. artillerymen's: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

pulpit-banger, -cuffer, -drubber, -drummer, -smiter,

-thumper; pulpit-cuffing, -drubbing, etc. A ranting parson; a violent sermon or moral exhortation: coll. bordering on S.E.: late C. 17–20; -drubber (-drubbing), † by 1850; -cuffer and -drummer, very ob.

pulpiteers. A 'Cloister-time' rearrangement of two upper forms: Winchester (— 1891): coll. See Wrench's Winchester Word Book and cf. cloisters.

pulse, a heart-beat, is sometimes construed mistakenly as a pl. (Fowler.)

Pumice-Stone. See Pam (Palmerston).

pum-pum. A fiddler: coll.: C. 18–mid-19. (F. & H.) Echoic.

pump. The female pudend: low coll.: late C. 17–20; ob. Also (as in Ned Ward) pump-dale.—2. The penis: low: C. 18–20; ob. Also pump-handle.—3. A breaking of wind: Scots low coll.: C. 19–20.—4. A public-house: Scots coll.: C. 19–20; ob.—5. A solemn noodle: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob.—6. See pumps.

pump, v. To coit with (a woman): low: C. 18–20; ob.—2. To urinate: low coll.: C. 18–20; ob. except in form pump ship.—3. To break wind: Scots low coll.: C. 19–20.—4. To duck under the pump: coll.: late C. 17–mid-18. Esp. as treatment applied to bailiffs, constables, and pick-pockets. B.E.—5. To weep: low: 1837, Marryat, 'And she did pump | While I did jump | In the boat to say, Good bye.' Ob. Partly ex S.E. sense, partly ex pumps, n., q.v.

pump, ignorant as a. Extremely ignorant: coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 19–20. Manchon.

pump, purser's. See purser's.

Pump-and-Tortoises, the; or the Pump and Tortoise. The 38th Regiment of Foot, in late C. 19–20 the South Staffordshire Regt.: military: from ca. 1770; ob. Ex their enforced abstemiousness and physical debility when kept in the West Indies for an appalling number of years in the earlier C. 18. F. & Gibbons.

pump at Aldgate, draught on the. See Aldgate.

pump-handle, n. See pump, n., 2.—2. V. In greeting, to shake (a hand or person by the hand) as if working a pump: coll.: 1858, R. S. Surtees (O.E.D.). Also v.i.

pump-handler. A hand-shake as in preceding: coll.: J. T. Hewlett, 1844, 'Exchanged the salute for a most hearty old English pump-handler', O.E.D.

pump is good but your or the sucker's dry, your. A c.p. addressed to one trying to pump, i.e. extract information: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose.

pump (oneself) off. To masturbate: low: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. frig.

Pump Parliament, the. The Long or Pension Parliament of Charles II of England: nickname: 1677, J. Verney, 'A little water put into a pump fetches up a good deal,' O.E.D.; now only historical.

pump ship. To make water: nautical s. (— 1788) >, ca. 1870, gen. gentlemanly coll. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. To vomit: nautical: late C. 18–mid-19. Ibid.

pump-sucker. A teetotaler: low: from ca. 1870; ob.

pump-thunder. A blusterer: coll.: C. 19–20.—2. Also, without hyphen, a v.; likewise ob.

pump-water, christened in or with. Red-faced: coll. or, in form he (she) was christened... c.p.: late C. 17–mid-19. Ray; Grose, 2nd ed.

pumped, be. 'To stand drinks all round': nautical: C. 20 Bowen.

pumper. Any effort that puts one out of breath: coll. (—1886). Cassell's Encyclopædic Dict.—2. Hence, a signal defeat: turf and sports coll. (—1923). Manchon.—3. A very boring or wearisome questioner: coll. (—1923). Ibid. Ex S.E. pump, to question.

pumping. The vbl.n. of pump, v., 4, q.v. Grose. pumpkin; pompkinn. A man or woman of Boston: late C. 18—early 19. Grose, 1785, 'From the number of pompkins raised and eaten' there. (Whence, perhaps, the orig. and mainly U.S. some—occ. big—pumpkins, persons—occ. things—of importance. Coll.: mid-C. 19–20.)—2. The head: mid-C. 19–20.

Pumpkinshire; also Pomp-. 'Boston, and its dependencies', Grose. See pumpkin, 1.

pumps. Eyes: low: 1825, Buckstone, 'Your pumps have been at work—you've been crying, girl': ob. by 1910, † by 1935. Cf. pump, v., last sense.

pun. Punishment: Harrow School: mid-C. 19–20. Abbr., s. > coll. Cf. pun-paper.—2. Pound or pounds (£): sol.: C. 19–20. Cf. Northern dial. pund.

pun (v.i.) or pun of (v.t.), at Hertford; pun out (v.i. and t.), London. To inform (against): Christ's Hospital, orig. at the country section: mid-C. 19–20. Ex dial. pun, to pound.

pun-paper. Ruled paper for impositions: Harrow. See pun, n., 1.

punce. An occ. variant of ponce.

punch (or P.); Suffolk punch. An inhabitant of Suffolk: coll. nickname (—1884). Ex the famous breed of horses.

punch, v. To deflower: coll.: C. 18–19. Grose implies it in punchable, q.v. Ex S.E. punch, to pierce.—2. (Gen. punch it.) To walk: c.: 1780, Tomlinson, 'Now she to Bridewell has punch'd it along'; Grose; Haggart.—3. V.i., to drink punch: 1804, Coleridge (O.E.D.). Never very gen.; in C. 20, ob.

punch, cobbler's. Urine with a cinder in it: low: ca. 1810–60. Lex. Bal.—2. See cobbler's punch.

punch a cow. 'To conduct a team of oxen', C. J. Dennis: Australian: C. 20. Cf. the now S.E. cow-puncher.

Punch and Judy. Lemonade: English Illustrated Magazine, June, 1885; † by 1920.

punch-clod. A farm-labourer; clodhopper: rural coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

punch-house. A brothel: coll.: late C. 17—mid-19. B.E. Ex the S.E. sense, a tavern where punch may be had, and ex punch, v., 1.

punch it. See punch, v., 2. Cf. also beat it and punch outsides.

punch one's ticket. To hit (a man) with a bullet: from 1899 (ob.), mostly military. J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902.

punch outsides. To go out of doors: c.: C. 19–20; ob. See punch, v., 2.

punchable. 'Ripe for man': (low) coll.: C. 18–19. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed. Ex punch, v., 1.

Puncheon Pilate. A lower classes' c.p. (—1909) 'jocosely addressed to a person in protest [against] some small asserted authority'. Ware. Punning Punch and Pontius Pilate.

puncture. To deflower: cyclists' low s.; late

C. 19–20. Ex punctured tyres. Cf. punctured.—2. V.i. and in passive, (of cycle or rider) to get a puncture: coll.: from ca. 1893. Ex the tyre's being punctured. (O.E.D.)

punctured. Damaged, fig., as in 'a punctured reputation': coll.: C. 20.

pundit; occ., before C. 20, pundet. An erudite expert: coll.: 1816. The Saturday Review, March 15, 1862, 'The doctors of etiquette and the pundits of refinement'. (By 1930, virtually S.E.) Ex Hindi pandit, a learned man. O.E.D.; Yule & Burnell.

pung. A surreptitious doze while on telephone duty: Army signallers': G.W., and after. F. & Gibbons. Corrupted bung: cf. caulk, a sleep.

pungo, go. (Of a rubber tyre) to burst: from ca. 1920. Manchon. Ex punctured.

punish. To handle severely, as in boxing (1812); food and drink (1825); the bowling, at cricket (1845); a horse (1856); a plant (1882): s. >, in C. 20, coll. (O.E.D.)—2. To hurt, pain: coll. and dial.: from mid-C. 19. E.D.D.

punisher. A hard hitter: in boxing, 1814, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.); at cricket, 1846 (Lewis).—2. A heavy task: coll.: 1827, ibid., 'Fifty miles' road-work this day . . . a punisher', O.E.D.—3. A farrier that visits forges and cadges from his fellows without doing any work or rendering any service for the loan: London farriers': late C. 19–20.

punishing, adj. Exhausting; handling severely; esp. hard-hitting: s. >, ca. 1850, coll.: 1819, Moore, 'An eye that plann'd punishing deeds'; in boxing, 1820, J. H. Reynolds (O.E.D.); in cricket, 1846; The Field, Jan. 28, 1882, 'Each course to-day was of the most punishing kind.'

punishment. Severe handling, orig. that dealt out by a cricketer or a boxer: s. >, ca. 1890, coll.: 1846, W. Denison (Lewis); 1856, H. H. Dixon.—2. Pain; misery: coll. and dial.: from mid-C. 19. E.D.D.

punk. A punctured tyre: cyclists': late C. 19–20; ob. Cf. next entry.—2. See punk and plaster.—3. Nonsense, 'bilge', twaddle: 1927, Dorothy Sayers, Unnatural Death, 'We had to sit through a lot of moral punk . . . about the prevalence of jazz and the immoral behaviour of modern girls.' Like the adj., it comes from the U.S.A. Semantically, it is comparable to rot, n.

punk, v. To puncture (a tyre): cyclists': late C. 19–20; ob. Cf. the n., 1.

punk, adj. Worthless; decidedly inferior; displeasing, 'rotten': from ca. 1917, via American soldiers: low, as in U.S., where, via punky (1876), ex punk (touchwood), it originated in late C. 19. Thornton; Irwin.

punk and plaster. Bread and margarine: tramps' c. (—1932). F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps. Ex U.S.—2. In the Army, however, and as early as 1915, the term meant, food (F. & Gibbons); often simply punk (B. & P.). And in Canada, punk, bread, dates from ca. 1900.

punkah one's face. To fan oneself: Anglo-Indian (—1909). Ware. Ex the punkah.

punker. A frequenter of punks or harlots: ca. 1735–1800. Addison. (O.E.D.)—2. (Also punkar) An incorrect form of punka(h): C. 18. Yule & Burnell.

punse. The female pudend: Yiddish and low London: late C. 19–20.

punt. An occ. variant (recorded in 1862: F. &

H. at Sheeney) of poona, £1.—2. A promotion in school: Scottish Public Schools': C. 20. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935. Ex v., 4.

punt, v. To act as a decoy: auctioneers' (—1891). See punter, 1. Prob. ex:—2. To bet upon a race, etc.: 1873, implied in punter; The Pall Mall Gazette, Sept. 13, 1887. O.E.D. Ex punting at faro, baccarat, etc.—3. Hence, to be a purchaser, to buy something: grafters': late C. 19–20. Philip Allingham, Cheappack, 1934. Cf. sense 4 of punter.—4. (V.t., gen in passive.) To promote to another form: Scottish Public Schools': C. 20. Ian Miller. Ex football.

punt-about. An irregular form of football: Charterhouse coll. (—1900). A. H. Tod. Cf. shoot-about.

punter. An auctioneer's decoy or mock-bidder: auctioneers': from ca. 1880. See esp. Answers, April 2, 1891. Prob. suggested by punting, q.v.—2. An outsider betting on horses in a small way: s. (—1874) >, by 1900, coll. >, by 1920, S.E.—3. Hence, a small-scale speculator 'watching the fluctuations in speculative securities' (A. J. Wilson); from the early 1890's: s. >, by 1910, coll. >, by 1920, S.E.—4. (Prob. ex sense 2.) 'A grafter's customer, client, or victim': grafters': late C. 19–20. Allingham. Ex punt, v., 3.—5. A large mug or tankard (of beer): jocular public-house term: from ca. 1930. With a pun on sense 2: 'a big mug'.

punting. (Gen. of an outsider) a betting on horse-races: from ca. 1873. See punt, v., 2.

punting-shop. A gambling den: 1874, H., 5th ed. Cf. punt, v., 2.

pup. A pupil: school and college s.: 1871, 'M. Legrand'. Jocularly approximated to pup = a puppy. Cf. pupe, q.v. (O.E.D.)—2. A small, fast Sopwith single-seater 80 H.P. aeroplane: Air Force: 1915; now only historical. F. & Gibbons.

pup. To be brought to childbed: low coll.: from ca. 1860. (As a bitch.)

pup, buy a. The opp. to sell a pup, q.v.: coll.: from ca. 1920.

pup, in. Pregnant: low coll.: from ca. 1860. As a bitch: cf. pup, v.

pup, sell a. To swindle, v.i. Gen. sell one a pup. C. >, ca. 1905, gen. coll.: late C. 19–20, though not recorded before 1901, The Daily Chronicle, May 4, 'There is a poetical phrase in our language, "to sell a man a pup"', O.E.D. Cf. see a man about a dog.

Pup and Ringer, the. The Dog and Bell, 'a flash public-house' in London ca. 1860–70. H., 3rd ed.

pupe. A pupil-room: Eton College: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. pup, n, 1.—2. One who, to learn acting, is attached to a company: theatrical: from ca. 1920. (The Passing Show, April 29, 1933.) Ex pupil.

puppy, n. and adj. (A) blind (man): c. > low s.: from ca. 1850; ob. Mostly U.S. (e.g. in Matsell). Ex the 'blindness' of new-born puppies.

puppy-dog. A puppy: children's coll.: late C. 16–20. Shakespeare. (O.E.D.)

puppy-match. A snare: coll.: ca. 1690–1750. J. Smyth's Scarronides, 'He . . . might catch | Us Trojans in a puppy-match.' ? ex the stealing of puppies.

puppyism. Affectation or excessive care in costume or posture: Army officers' coll. (—1923).

Manchon. Cf. doggy, adj.

puppy's mamma. See dog's lady.

pupsie, pupsy. A puppy: a children's coll.: C. 17–20. Cotgrave. Cf. popsy. (O.E.D.)

pur- for pre- (as in purlend) and pro- is a sol.; for per-, a spelling sol. Both are mainly Cockney and of C. 19–20. Baumann.

puradventure. Incorrect for peradventure: †. O.E.D.

Purby, the. The Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood: Society: ca. 1850–90. Ware. Ex the initials P.R.B.

purchase. Stolen goods; booty: c.: late C. 16–mid-17. Greene; Shakespeare. (Baumann.) —2. Those from whom it is taken: c.: late C. 16–early 17. Greene, 1592.

pure. A mistress, esp. a kept mistress; a wanton: ca. 1685–1830: c. >, ca. 1750, low s.: 1688, Shadwell, 'Where's . . . the blowing that is to be my natural, my convenient, my pure?' Cf. purest pure, q.v. By antiphrasis.—2. A 'pure' physician, a 'pure' surgeon. (I.e. the one, not the other; not a general practitioner.) Medical coll.: 1827, The Lancet (O.E.D.).—3. 'Dog's-dung is called pure, from its cleansing and purifying properties,' Mayhew: coll. >, ca. 1905, j.: 1851.

pure, adj. Excellent; splendid; very pleasant. (Indeed, a gen. intensive.) Ca. 1675–1900, though ob. by 1850; it is, however, extant in several diall. Wycherley, 1675 (O.E.D.); Cibber, 1704, 'She looks as if my master had quarrelled with her . . . This is pure'; Henley & Stevenson, 1884, 'O, such manners are pure, pure, pure!' Cf. purely, q.v.—2. See pure and . . .

pure, purest. 'A Top-Mistress, or Fine Woman', B.E.; 'a courtesan of high fashion', Grose: ca. 1690–1830: c. >, ca. 1750, (low) s. Ex pure, n., 1.

pure and . . . (another adj.). Nice, or fine, and . . .; also quasi-adverbially, excellently, very well, thoroughly. 1742, Fielding, '[The hogs] were all pure and fat': coll. >, ca. 1840, dial. (O.E.D.)

pure-finder. A street collector of dogs' dung: coll. from ca. 1850; in C. 20, j.; slightly ob. Mayhew, 1851. See pure, n., 3.

pure Merinoes. See Merinoes, pure merinoes.

purely. Excellently; very well: 1695, Congreve: s. >, ca. 1750, coll. Hood. O.E.D.

purgatorial list. (Of officers) to be retired: Army officers' jocular coll. (—1923). Manchon. Ex purgatory (between hell and heaven).

purge. Beer: military and low gen.: from ca. 1870. Cf. the barrack-room c.p. rhyme, recorded by F. & H. in 1902, Comrades, listen while I urge; | Drink, yourselves, and pass to purge, ob. by 1925, and:

purge. To dismiss from employment (gen. in passive): from ca. 1930. Cf. Pride's Purge.—2. V.i., to swear, grumble; worry audibly: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons, 'The Captain purged no end about it.'

purger or perger. A teetotaller; hence, a pejorative: ca. 1860–1920: low. Vance, ca. 1864, in The Chickaleary Cove, 'My tailor serves you well, from a purger to a swell.' ? one who, to keep himself fit, takes laxatives or purges instead of beer: cf. purge, n.

puritan, Puritan. A whore: coll.: C. 18. Prob. ex Puritans' reputed hypocrisy.

purko. Beer: military: ca. 1870–1910. Ex the name of the makers, Barclay, Perkins and Co. Perhaps influenced by purger and suggested by perkin.

purl. A fall, or a dive, head foremost or head over heels: 1825, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1870, coll. Ex. S.E. purl, to whirl or spin round. Cf. purler and:

purl, v.i. and v.t. To turn head over heels: coll. and dial.: 1856, Reade. Ex purl, n.—2. To dive: Winchester College: late C. 19–20. Wrench. Ex the n.

purler. A headlong fall; a throw head foremost; a knock-down blow, esp. a blow that casts one head foremost: coll.: 1867, Ouida, in her best-known story, Under Two Flags. Ex purl, v. (q.v.), influenced by purl, n. Variant pirler; pirle is frequent in dial. for the preceding pair of terms.

purple, adj. Glorious; 'royal': coll., 1894, The Pall Mall Gazette, Dec. 20, 'A purple time of it'. Ex the purple of royal robes (cf. born in the purple). O.E.D.

purple. Blood: Scottish: 1804, Couper, Poetry; ob. E.D.D. Cf. claret.

purpose, a- or o'. On purpose: S.E. (gen. a purpose) >, ca. 1790, dial. and low coll. (O.E.D.)

purpose as the geese slur upon the ice (or as to give a goose hay), to as much. Uselessly: semi-proverbial coll.: late C. 17–19, C. 18–20. Cf. to no more purpose than to beat your heels against the ground or wind.

purposes, for (e.g. dancing). For (e.g.) dancing: coll., tautological: late C. 19–20. Cf. side, on the.

purse. The female pudend: low coll.: C. 17–20. (Beaumont & Fletcher).

purse, v.i. To take purses; to steal: late C. 16–17: low coll. (? orig. s.). Lyly, 1592 (O.E.D.) Beaumont & Fletcher, in The Scornful Lady, 'Why I'll purse: if that raise me not, I'll bet at bowling alleys.'

purse, no money in his. Impotent: low: C. 19–20. Ex purse, n.

purse a purgation, give a person's. To take money from one: coll.: ca. 1540–80. Heywood; Bullcin. Apperson.

purse-bouncer. A swindler practising the purse-trick: C. 20: low. O.E.D. records it for 1902.

purse-catcher, -emptier, -lifter, -snatcher. A stealer of purses: s. or coll. verging on S.E.: resp. C. 17, C. 17, late C. 19–20, late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

purse-finder. A harlot: low: C. 19–20, ob. purse-proud. Lecherous; amorous: low: C. 18–20, ob. See purse, n.

pursenets. C. of ca. 1608–1830: 'Goods taken upon Trust by young Unthrifths at treble the Value', B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; but first in Dekker. Cf. the dial. purse-net, the movable net in which ducks are snared, and rabbit-sucker.—2. Also, though prob. in the singular form: a small purse: ca. 1690–1750: app. likewise c. B.E. purser's. Contemptuous or derisive in purser's dip, an undersized candle; purser's quart (Smollett), a short quart; etc.: nautical coll.: C. 18–20; slightly ob. Because a purser, i.e. ship's store-keeper and treasurer, was often dishonest. Cf.:

purser's (gen. pusser's) crabs. 'Navy uniform boots, with toe-caps': naval: late C. 19–20: Bowen. See crab-shells.

purser's (gen. pusser's) dagger. A service clasp-knife: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf.:

purser's (gen. pusser's) dip. A candle: nautical: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob. Bowen.

purser's (gen. pusser's) dirk. Same as purser's dagger: naval: late C. 19–20. Ibid.

purser's (gen. pusser's) grin. A hypocritical grin; a sarcastic sneer: nautical coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Esp. in the c.p., there are no half laughs or purser's grins about me; I'm right up and down like a yard of pump water.

purser's grind. A coition bringing the woman no money but some consolation in the size or potency of the member: low nautical: mid-C. 19–20.

purser's name. A false name: nautical coll. >, in C. 20, S.E.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex false name given to the purser by a passenger travelling incognito. W. purser's (gen. pusser's) pack. The Slop Chest: naval coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

purser's pump. A siphon, because prominent in a purser's stores; a bassoon, 'from its likeness to a syphon', Grose, 1788: nautical of ca. 1785–1890.

purser's shirt on a handspike, (like a). (Of clothes) ill-fitting: nautical: C. 19–20; ob.

purser's (gen. pusser's) stocking. A metaphorical article in the Slop Chest: naval: mid-C. 19–early 20. Bowen.

purser's (gen. pusser's) tally. A name assumed by a seaman, esp. if naval: (naval) coll.: C. 19. Bowen.

purser's (gen. pusser's) yellow. Naval soap: naval coll.: late C. 19–20. Ibid.

purvend. See pur-.

purting glumpot. A sulky person: dial. and low coll.: from ca. 1850. Ex glum, gloomy, and dial. purl, to sulk.

purty. See perty.

Puseum, the. Pusey House in St. Giles's Street, Oxford: Oxford University: late C. 19–20; ob. On museum.

push. (As enterprise, moral energy, it has, contrary to frequent opinion, been always S.E.: 1855, O.E.D.)—2. A thronging, a crowd, of people: low s. (perhaps orig. c.) >, in C. 20, gen. s.: 1718, C. Hitchin, 'A push, alias an accidental crowd of people'; Vaux, 1812, 'When any particular scene of crowding is alluded to, they [the underworld] say, the push . . . at the . . . doors; the push at the . . . match.' Ex the inevitable pushing and jostling.—3. Hence, a gang or a group of convicts, as in Davitt's Prison Diary, 1888; or a band of thieves, as in Anon., 'No. 747', reference to the year 1845; or, in Australia, a gang of larrikins, as in The Melbourne Argus, July 26, 1890, and esp. in Morris's dictionary: in C. 19, c.; in C. 20, low s., as indeed the 'larrikins' sense was from the first.

—4. Hence, any company or party, group, association, or set of people: C. 20. (The U.S. sense (Thornton, 1912), 'a combination of low politicians', derives directly from Australia.)—5. Hence, in G.W. and in post-War military and naval, a military or a naval unit, but esp. a battalion, a battery, or a ship's crew. Cf. military sense of mob, n.—6. A robbery; a swindle; a dealing out of profits: c.: from ca. 1860; slightly ob. H., 5th ed. Not unnaturally ex sense 3.—7. See push, do a.—8. Mostly in give or get the push. A dismissal, esp. from employment: from ca. 1870: s. >, by 1910, coll. Anon., ca. 1875, 'The girl that stole my heart has given me the push.' Cf. push, order of the.—9. See tidderly push. (—10. The military sense, 'an attack', is S.E. of a century's standing.)—11. A foreman: Canadian, esp. among lumbermen: from before 1932. John Beames. Ex his urging the men on.

push, v. See push off and pushed.—2. V.i. (occ. push on), rarely v.t., to coit (with): low coll., gen. of the male: C. 18–20. Robertson of Struan.

push, adj. See posh, adj.

push, do a. See do a push.

push, do a. To coit: low, gen. of the male: late C. 19–20.—2. See do a push.

push, give or get the. A coll. abbr. (from middle 1920's) of the phrase in:

push, order of the. A dismissal, esp. from employment, and gen. as give or get the o. of the p.: s. >, by ca. 1910, coll. 'Pomes' Marshall. An elaboration of push, n., eighth sense. Cf. order of the bath.

push, stand the. (Of a woman) to coit: coll.: C. 18–19. Cf. push, do a. push a bit of bow back. To have a sleep: Regular Army's: C. 20. B. & P. I.e. bowed back.

push-and-pull. A (little) motor-train that reverses at the termini: railwaymen's (— 1935).

push-bike, s.; push-cycle, coll. A foot-propelling bicycle as opp. to a motor-cycle: coll.: resp. from ca. 1910 and ca. 1904. Cf. derivative:

push-cyclist. A bicyclist, opp. to a motor-cyclist: coll.: from ca. 1905.

push off. To depart: late C. 19–20. Same semantics as for shove off: pushing off a boat.—2. Hence, to begin, v.i., esp. of a game: C. 20.

push one's barrow. To move on, away; to depart: mostly costers': from ca. 1870.

push out the boat. See boat, push out the. Contrast push the boat out (next entry but two).

push-penny. A coll. variant (— 1903) of shove-halfpenny.

push-pin, occ. -pike, play at; play at put-pin. To coit: low coll.: resp. C. 17–18, late C. 17–18, and mid-C. 16–mid-18. Rychardes, Misogonus, 1560; Massinger, 1623, 'She would never tell | Who play'd at pushpin with her'; Ned Ward, 1707, 'When at push-a-pike we play | With beauty, who shall win the day?' Cf. push, v., 2, push, do a, and pushing-school.

push the boat out! Go ahead!; I'm all right: military c.p. in G.W.

push the brush out. (Of a convict) to attract the attention of a warder: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach. It is occ. done in this way when the convict is in his cell.

push-up, be at the. To work with a gang of pickpockets: c. (— 1933). Ibid. Cf. push, n., 3, 6.

push up the scale. A rise in salary: lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

pushed. Short of money: coll.: from ca. 1825. Abbr. pushed for money.—2. Drunk: ca. 1870–1910. Perhaps ex the tendency to fall; cf. the next entry.—3. Bustled: ship-stewards' coll. (— 1935).

pushed?, did she fall or was she. A late C. 19–20 e.p. applied to a person stumbling; also, and orig., to a girl deprived of her virginity.

pusher. A fledgling canary unable to feed itself: ca. 1690–1750. B.E. Perhaps because it pushes with its bill.—2. A girl, a woman: low. Also square pusher (q.v.), a virtuous girl. See also square-pushing. Late C. 19–20.—3. A blucher boot: shoemakers': from ca. 1860.—4. A finger of bread used as a feeding-implement: nursery coll.: from ca. 1880.—5. An aeroplane with propeller behind the main lifting surface: aviators' coll.: from 1916. O.E.D. (Sup.).—6. A scene-shifter: theatrical (— 1935).—7. In pickpocketry, he who pushes the prospective victim against the actual thief: c.: late C. 19–20. (Charles E. Leach, 1933.)

Pushful Joe. Joseph Chamberlain (d. 1914). Cf. his sobriquet among African potentates: Moatlodi, he who gets things done. Dawson. Also Brummagem Joe, q.v.

pushing daisies. Dead and buried: see daisy-pushing.

pushing-school. A brothel: low: late C. 17–19. Ex the S.E. sense, a fencing-school: cf. also push, v., 2, and push, do a.

pushing-tout. A thieves' scout or watchman that brings intelligence of an accidental crowd or assemblage: c.: C. 18. C. Hitchin, 1718.

pushing up daisies. A variant of pushing daisies, than which it is more gen.

puss. The female pudend: low: C. 17–20. Cotton, 'Æneas, here's a Health to thee, | To Pusse and to good company.' Also, in C. 19–20, pussy, pussy-cat.—2. A cadet of the Royal Military Academy: ca. 1820–80. Ex the short jacket with pointed tail.

puss-in-boots. A swaggerer: military: from ca. 1908. F. & Gibbons. Ex the fairy tale.

pusser is the inevitable nautical shape of purser: coll.: C. 20. Bowen. But for combinations, see under purser.—2. Any wound, sinus, or boil that freely discharges pus: medical students' (— 1933). Slang, p. 192.

pusserpock. 'Bad, hard salt-meat': naval (— 1909); ob. Ware. A corruption of purser's pork, the purser being the purchaser.—2. (Gen. pl.) A fur: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

pussey- or Pussey-cat. See next, sense 2.—pussy. See puss, 1.

pussy-cat. See puss, 1.—2. A Puseyite: Church: from ca. 1839; ob. by 1880, † by 1900. Cf. Puseum, q.v. Suggested by Puseyite (1838). Occ. Pussey-cat, as in H.—3. A cat: nursery coll.: 1837, Marryat (O.E.D.).

put. A rustic; a dolt: 1688, Shadwell; Grose (country put, a frequent variant): s. until ca. 1750, then coll. until ca. 1830, then S.E. and archaic. The discrimination of put, a blockhead, and country put, a bumpkin, is logical: but the distinction cannot be pressed.—2. Hence, loosely, a chap, fellow: coll.: ca. 1800–30. Gen. applied, somewhat contemptuously, to elderly persons: cf. Thackeray in Vanity Fair, I, xi, 'The captain . . . calls [his father] an old put'.—3. A harlot: ? C. 17–18: F. & H., but who else?! (Ex Fr. putain, a whore.)—4. See:

put, do a; have a put-in. To coit: low coll.: C. 19; C. 19–20 (ob.).

put, play at two-handed. To coit: low: C. 18—early 19. Cf. push-pin.

put, stay. Remain in position, firm, lit. and fig.; to continue to be safe, satisfactory, sober, honest, faithful, in training, etc.: coll.: from ca. 1915. Ex U.S.; Bartlett stigmatised it in 1848 as 'a vulgar expression'.

put a bung or sock in it. (Gen. imperative.) To 'shut up'; cease being noisy: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Here, it is the mouth.—2. (In barracks or hut) to close the door (bung only): id.: id. Ibid.

put (or lay) a churl upon a gentleman. See churl.

put a hat (upon) a hen. To attempt the impossible: proverbial coll.: mid-C. 17–mid-19. Ray.

put a new face (or head) on. To disfigure by punching; hence, to get the better of: U.S. (— 1870); anglicised by 1890; † by 1920.

put a poor mouth on (a position). To complain (moaningly) about: Anglo-Irish (— 1884). Ware.

put a sock in it. See put a bung . . .

put a steam on the table. 'To earn enough money to obtain a hot Sunday dinner': lower classes': from ca. 1860. Ware, 'Refers chiefly to boiled food'.

put a tin hat on. See tin hat on, put a.

put across. To achieve; execute successfully: from ca. 1910: coll., now verging on S.E. Whence:

put across a beauty. To execute a smart move: coll., mostly New Zealanders': from ca. 1911.

put along; gen. put her along. To cause (a motor-car) to travel at a high speed: motorists' coll.: 1924, Francis D. Grierson, The Limping Man.

put-away. An appetite; a (considerable) capacity for food or drink: low: late C. 19–20. Ex the v., 1.—2. Imprisonment: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex the v., 2.—3. An information to the police: (c. or) low s.: late C. 19–20. Ex the v., 3.

put away, v.t. To eat, drink, gen. in large quantities: 1878, Besant & Rice, 'I never saw a man put away such an enormous quantity of provisions at one time.'—2. To put in gaol: s. >, in C. 20, coll.: 1883 (O.E.D.).—3. To inform against: (c. or) low s.: from ca. 1890; app. orig. Australian.—4. To pawn: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1887, The Daily News, Oct. 22 (O.E.D.).—5. To kill: coll.: 1847, Anne Brontë (O.E.D. Sup.).

put down. To eat: lower classes', esp. Cockneys' coll. (— 1909). Ware.—2. To cash (a cheque): c., and police s.: late C. 19–20. Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld, 1933.

put down south. See south.

put 'em up! Raise your arms!: from ca. 1860: coll.—2. Put up your fists!: coll.: late C. 19–20. A variant is stick 'em up!, in both senses. Contrast put it up!

put-in, n. See put, do a.

put in, v. To pass (a period of time), gen. at or with the help of some occupation: coll.: C. G. Gibson, 1863 (O.E.D.).—2. See put the windows in.

put in a bag. Killed, esp. in battle: military: 1914; ob. Ex shot birds put in a game-bag.

put in a hole. To defraud: c.: from ca. 1860. A variant of put in the hole, q.v. at hole, put in the.

put in one's eye, as much as one can. (Virtually) nothing: coll.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.

put in one's motto. To 'lay down the law'; butt rashly into a conversation: low coll.: from ca. 1880.

put in pie. To spoil or bungle (a thing), lead (a person) astray: printers' (— 1887); ob. Baumann. Ex the jumble of printers' pie.

put in the boot. See boot, put in the.

put in the bucket, garden, hole, pin, squeak, or well. See at the nn.

put in the pudden club. See pudden club, put in the.

put inside. In detention: military coll.: C. 20.

put it across (a person). To punish, get even with, revenge oneself on: coll.: from ca. 1914. (Now verging on S.E.)—2. To deceive, delude, trick, impose on: coll., now verging on S.E.: 1915, Edgar Wallace. O.E.D. (Sup.).—3. See put across.

put it in, v.i. To achieve intromission: perhaps rather an S.E. approximation to euphemism than a coll.: when, however, there is no thought, intention or subconscious impulse towards euphemism, it may be considered a coll. and not, from the psychological nature of the case, S.E.

put it on, v.i. To overcharge: C. 20 coll. Ex put on the price; prob. influenced by:—2. V.t. To extract money from (a person) by threats, lying or whining: low London: late C. 19–20. The People, Jan. 6, 1895 (Ware).

put it on her. To drive a ship hard in a strong breeze: nautical coll. (sailing-ships): mid-C. 19–20. Bowen. The it = her set of sails.

put it over (a person). See put it across, 1, 2: same status and period.—2. See put over.

put it there! Shake hands: coll.: late C. 19–20. Mostly Colonial.

put it up! Have done!; stop!; shut up!: low (— 1859); † by 1910. H., 1st ed.

put it where the monkeys put the nuts! Go to blazes!: a low c.p.: late C. 19–20. An elaboration of the low familiar S.E. stick it up your a!

put off. To disconcert, disturb: s. (1909) >, ca. 1930, coll. (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, to annoy, be distasteful to: Bootham School: from ca. 1920. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

put-on. A deception, subterfuge, excuse: coll.: from ca. 1860.—2. An 'old woman mendicant who puts on a shivering and wretched look': c. or low (— 1909). Ware.

put on, v. To begin to smoke, as in F. W. Crofts, Mystery in the Channel, 1931, 'Dispirited, he sat down on the shore . . . , put on a pipe, and gave himself up to thought': coll.: C. 20.

put on a boss. To assume a malevolent look: low (— 1909). Ware, 'Squinting suggests malevolence.'

put on a cigar. To assume gentility: lower classes': mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ware.

put on the bee. See bee, put on the.

put on the floeence (unnecessary spelling) or fluence. See fluence.—put on the peg. See peg, put on the.

put on the pot. To give oneself airs: late C. 19–20. Ware. See pot, n., 6.

put one's hair in(to) a curl or put a curl in one's hair. To make one feel (very) fit: coll.: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. H., 5th ed.

put oneself outside. To eat; occ., to drink: from ca. 1860. Ware. Cf. get outside.

put out. To kill: c. and low: late C. 19–20. Ware. Ex:

put out (a person's) light. To kill: c. and low: 1884, The Graphic, Sept. 24. Ware.

put over. To knock over with a shot, to kill: Australian: 1859, H. Kingsley; ob.—2. To cause to be accepted; to succeed in getting a favourable reception for: orig. U.S.; anglicised ca. 1920 as a coll., > by 1935 S.E.

put paid to. See paid to.

put some jildi into it. To 'jump to it' (q.v.): military: C. 20. B. & P. See jildi.

put stuff on. See stuff on the ball.

put that in your pipe . . . ! See pipe and smoke it.

put the acid on. To test (man or statement); to put a stop to; lower classes': from ca. 1908. F. & Gibbons.—2. To ask (a person) for a loan: Australian: from ca. 1912.

put the black on. V.i. and t. To blackmail: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace, passim. Abbr. blackmail.

put the block. To 'mask' or cover a thief at work: o. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

put the gloves on. To improve (a person): Scots c.: 1868; slightly ob. Ware. put the hard word on. See hard word.
put the lid on. See lid on.
put the miller's eye out. See miller's eye. put the nips in. See nips in. put the pot on. To bet too much money on one horse: sporting: from ca. 1820. See pot, n., 1. put the strings on. See strings on.
put the traveller on. See tip the traveller. put the value on. To sign (a canvas): artists' (— 1909); ob. Ware. put the windows in. To smash them: low urban (— 1909). Ware. put through. To succeed with (some plan, e.g.) by swindling: low: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex the S.E. (orig.—1847—U.S.) sense, carry to a successful issue. (Thornton.) put through the hoop. See hoop, put through the.
put to bed. (The journalistic sense is S.E.—2.) To defeat: music-halls' (— 1909); ob. Ware. put to find. To put in prison: low (— 1909). Warc. (? fined.) put to sleep. See sleep, put to. put together with a hot needle and burnt thread. To fasten insecurely: ca. 1660–1850: semi-proverbial coll.
put-up. A laying of information against a fellow-criminal: c. (— 1823); ob. Bee, who implies that put-up serves also as n. to put up, v., 2, q.v.
put up. To show, achieve, e.g. a good fight or, G.W. †, a good show: coll.: from ca. 1890. The Field, Jan. 30, 1892, 'Pettitt put up a good game.' —2. To plan in advance (a robbery, a swindle, a fraud): c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.—3. Hence, to preconcert anything devious or underhand or disingenuous: from ca. 1890. 'Barclay put up a job to ruin old Overton,' The Sporting and Dramatic News, Aug. 13, 1892 (O.E.D.).—4. See put it up.—5. To wear: military coll., only as in pip, n., 4: C. 20.—6. To charge (a soldier) with a 'crime': military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. the C. 15–16 S.E. sense, to bring (a person) into court on a charge.
put up a squeak. To give information to the police: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace. put up a stall. To act or speak misleadingly: low: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.
put-up job. (The chief use of the adj. put up.) A pre-arranged crime or deception: as the former, c. (from ca. 1838); as the latter, s. >, ca. 1930, coll. A put-up robbery occurs in 1810, a put-up affair in 1812 (Vaux). (O.E.D.) put up one's hat; put one's hat up. To pay serious court; often put your hat up there!, I see you mean to make one of the family: lower classes': late C. 19–20. Ware.
put up the fanny. See fanny, put up the.
put (a person) up to. To enlighten or forewarn about; inform of; instruct in: coll.: 1812, Vaux.—2. To incite or excite to (some act, to do something); to induce, persuade (to do something): coll.: 1824 (O.E.D.). put wise. See wise, put.
put your head in a bag! Be quiet: (low) coll.: from ca. 1890. A horse with its head in the nose-bag does not trouble about other things.
Putney!, go to. Go to the devil!: from ca. 1840; ob. From ca. 1850, occ. go to Putney on a pig, by a typical assonantal addition. Kingsley, 1863, 'Now, in the year 1845, telling a man to go to Putney was the same as telling a man to go to the deuce.' Cf. Bath, Halifax, Hong-Kong, Jericho.

putred. Incorrect for putrid: C. 16–17. O.E.D. putrescent. An occ. variant (ca. 1906–13), noted by Collinson, of:

putrid. A pejorative of the awful kind: C. 20: s. now verging on coll. The Sporting Times, April 27, 1901, 'All beer is putrid, even when it's pure.' Prob. suggested by rotten (q.v.); cf. poisonous, q.v.

putt. See put, n., 1, of which it is a C. 17–18 variant.

putter-down. A presenter of forged cheques or counterfeit money: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

putter-up. One who plans and pre-arranges robberies, frauds, swindles; esp. 'a man who travels about for the purpose of obtaining information useful to professional burglars', H., 5th ed.; also, in C. 20, an instigator to crime: c. >, ca. 1910, low s. and police coll.: 1812, Vaux; 1933, Charles E. Leach.

putting the black on. Blackmail. See put the black on.

puttock. A whore; a greedy person: coll. verging on S.E.: in C. 20, dial.: C. 16–20.

puttun. A regiment: Anglo-Indian, esp. military, coll. (— 1874). H., 5th ed. See Addenda.

putty. Money: mostly (? and orig.) U.S.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Prob. glaziers' at first.—2. A glazier, a house-painter; in the Navy, any painter rating: from ca. 1820. Bee; Bowen. Ex frequent use of putty.—3. 'Sticky mud at the bottom of a body of water': 1880, P. H. Emerson: dial. and s. >, by 1910, coll.

putty, adj. Stupid, idiotic: low (— 1923). Manchon. Perhaps ex up to putty, but cf. dial. putty-brain, a blockhead, a mental defective (E.D.D.). Perhaps ex putty cove.

putty, could not fight. I am, he is, you are, etc., a very poor fighter (with one's hands); hence, also of, e.g., an army. Coll.: late C. 19–20. Semantics as in the following entry. Cf. could not fight his way through a paper bag.

putty, up to. Of very poor quality; disappointingly inferior; (virtually) negligible: C. 20. Mostly Australian, as Jice Doone implies. Either ex the softness of putty or ex the idea in preceding entry.

putty and plaster on the Solomon knob, the. Be silent!; the Master's coming: a Freemasons' c.p. intimation: from ca. 1870. Masonic punning on Masonic j.

putty cove or covess. An unreliable man or woman: c. of ca. 1820–90. Egan's Grose. Ex softness of putty.

putty medal. (A satirical recommendation to) a reward for mischief, incompetence, or injury: non-aristocratic coll.: 1856, says Ware, who adds: 'No medal at all'. See also medal, a putty.

puz(z). A young man about town: London Society: ca. 1760–80. O.E.D. Cf. piz(z).

puzzle-cause; *-cove. A lawyer: resp. coll. of ca. 1780–1830, Grose, 1st ed.; c. or low of ca. 1830–1900, mostly U.S. (Matsell). But while p.-cove = any lawyer, p.-cause is one 'who has a confused understanding.' Cf. puzzle-text, q.v.

puzzle-headed spoon. An Apostle spoon: C. 19: coll.

puzzle-text. A clergyman; esp. 'an ignorant, blundering parson', Grose, 1st ed., 1785: ob. by 1830, † by 1870. Cf. puzzle-cause, q.v.

puzzling arithmetic. A statement of the odds: gamblers' coll. (? > j.): C. 17. Webster, 1613, 'Studying a puzzling arithmetic at the cockpit'.

puzzling-sticks. 'The triangle to which culprits were tied for flagellation': (prob. c. >) low s.: 1812, Vaux; † by 1870.

pyah. Weak; paltry, inferior; useless: mainly nautical (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex pariah.

pye. A contraction of pariah-dog: Anglo-Indian military (— 1886). Yule & Burnell.

pygostole. A 'M.B.' coat or waistcoat: Church:

1844; † by 1920. (See M.B. coat.) Lit. pygostole, i.e. rump-stole, ex Gr. πυγή.

pyjamas, the cat's. The correct thing; 'just it': ca. 1920–7. Ex U.S.

pÿjams. Abbr. pyjamas: from ca. 1910: s. >, by 1935, almost coll. Never pajams.

pyke off. See pike, v. (Thus in Bowen.)

pynacle. Incorrect for piacle, expiation: late C. 15 (?–16). Caxton.

pyrage. Incorrect for piroque: C. 17.—pyro-geneous. Erroneous for pyrogenous: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

pysoe. A close-fisted seaman: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cognate with † Scottish pyster, to hoard up (E.D.D.).

pyze. A variant of pize: see pize on.

Q

[In F. & H., at Q, there are the following inadmissible terms. 1, S.E.: —q, a coin; quab; quaff; quag; quail, a harlot, yet see entry; quaint; quaker-gun; qualm, qualmish; quantum, a sufficiency; quash; quat; quean; queasy; queed, the devil; queen of holes, Rochester's euphemism; queen's or king's ale; queen's or king's carriage or cushion; Queen's or King's English; queen's herb; quickening peg, a euphemism; quid of tobacco, with corresponding v.; quid for quod, quid pro quo and quidnunc; quietus (est); quiff of hair (but see separate entry); quill-driver, etc.; quill phrases, except the Wykehamist; quill-pipes; quillet; quilt, a fat man; quip, n. and v.; quirk; quirky; quiver, a euphemism; quiz, n. and v.; quizzer; quizzify and quizzical(ly); quodling; quot(quean); quoz.

2, Dial.: —quavery wavery; Queen Bess; quilt, v.; quockerwodger.]

q. See letter Q.

q, que, cue, kue, not worth a. Of negligible value: coll. > S.E.: C. 16. Skelton, 'That lyberte was not worth a cue.' Ex q, half a farthing. —2. See p and q, p's and q's.

Q.b.b. A Queen's bad bargain: reign of Queen Victoria: coll. Cf. K.b.b., and see bad bargain. Also (K.h.b. and) Q.h.b., Queen's hard bargain, as in The Cornhill Magazine, Feb., 1865. Cf. Queen's or King's bad shilling.

q (or Q) in a corner. Something not at once seen but brought to subsequent notice: legal: from ca. 1870; ob. Perhaps = query in a corner, suggested by the old game of Q in the corner (prob., puss in the corner).

Q.S. 'Queer Street', q.v.: non-aristocratic: late C. 19–20; ob. Ware.

q.t. (or Q.T.), on the; or on the strict q.t. On the quiet: resp. ca. 1870, 1880. Anon., Broadside Ballad, 1870, 'Whatever I tell you is on the Q.T.'

Q.V.R.'s, the. See Queen Vics, the.

Qantas; pedantically Quantas. The Queensland and Northern Territory Aerial Service: Australian coll.: from 1933.

qua; qua-keeper. A prison; a gaoler: c. of late C. 18–early 19. Tufts (dict. of flash), 1798. I suspect an error for quad = quod.

quack. A pretended doctor: 1659 (O.E.D.): coll. till C. 19, then S.E. Abbr. quacksalver, q.v. See esp. the essay entitled 'Quacks and Quackery' in my Literary Sessions.—2. A duck: late C.19–20. More often, quack-quack. Cf. quacking-cheat.

quack, v. Play the quack (see quack, n., 1): C. 17–20: coll. till C. 19, then S.E.—2. To change (the title of a book), v.t.: C. 18: booksellers'. Centlivre, 1715, 'He has an admirable knack at quacking titles . . . When he gets an old good-for-nothing book, he claps a new title to it, and sells off the whole impression in a week.' Ex quack, to palm off as a quack would.

quack, in a. In a mere moment: Scots coll.: from ca. 1840.

quack-quack. A duck: an echoic nursery coll.: recorded 1865 (O.E.D.), but prob.—as indeed with all such words—used much earlier. Cf. bow-wow.

quacker. A duck: coll.: C. 19–20. Cf. quack, n., 1, and:

quacking-cheat. A duck: c.: from ca. 1565; † by 1860. Harman, B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. See cheat.

quacksalver. A pretended doctor: 1579, Gosson: coll. till ca. 1660, then S.E.; ob. One who sells his salves by quacking (noisy patter). W. Cf. quack, n., 1.

quad. A prison: c.: late C. 18–20. Also and much more gen. quod, q.v. Prob. ex quadrangle.—2. A quadrangle: 1820 (O.E.D.): Oxford s. >, ca. 1860, gen. coll. Trollope, 'The quad, as it was familiarly called . . .'.—3. A horse: low: 1845, 'No. 747' (p. 416); 1885, The English Illustrated Magazine, April, 'The second rider . . . got his gallant quad over, and . . . went round the course alone.' Abbr. quadruped.—4. A bicycle for four: 1888 (O.E.D.). Abbr. quadruple.—5. A quadrat: printers': from ca. 1880: coll. >, by 1890, j.—6. Hence, a (printer's) joke: printers': 1884 (O.E.D.). quadra- is incorrect for quadri-: C. 17–20, as quadri- is for quadru- in the very few words beginning thus (e.g. quadrumanous: mostly C. 18. (O.E.D.)) quædam. A harlot: cultured coll.: late C. 17–18. Hacket. Lit., a certain woman: cf. one of those, euphemistic for 1, harlot; 2, a homosexual.

Quads, the. See Quins, the.

quaegemes or quæ-gemes. A bastard: coll.: C. 18–early 19. F. & H.

Quagger. A student at the Queen's College: Oxford undergraduates': from late 1890's. By 'the Oxford -er', and perhaps, as Ware suggests, ex gooser, q.v., thus: gooser, goose, quack, quacker, Quagger. Cf.:

Quaggers. The Queen's College, Oxford: Oxford undergraduates: late C. 19-20. By 'the Oxford -er'.

[quail, a harlot, or a courtesan.—C. 17-early 18,—may orig. have been coll. or even s., but it is gen. treated as S.E.: cf., however, pheasant and plover. C. 17-18. Motteux, 'With several coated quails, and lac'd mutton, waggishly singing'. Ex the bird's supposed amorousness.—It is interesting to note that in U.S. university s. (now ob.), quail is a girl student. Thornton.]

quail-pipe. A woman's tongue: late C. 17-19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.—2. The throat: late C. 17-18 (Dryden, Pope): on border-line between coll. and S.E., the O.E.D. treating it as the latter. Ex the pipe with which quail are decoyed.

quail-pipe boot. (Gen. in pl.) A rather coll. or illiterate form of quill-p. b.: C. 17-18.

quaint. In C. 14-15, queinte or queynte; in C. 15-16, also quaynt(e). The female pudend: C. 14-20: in C. 14-16, a vulg.; in C. 17-20, dial., now † except in parts of the North Country, where ob. Florio, 'Conno, a woman's privie parts or quaint, as Chaucer calls it.' If not a mere variant of, certainly cognate with cunt: 'Chaucer may have combined Old French coing with M.E. cunte, or he may have been influenced by the Old Fr. adjective coint, neat, dainty, pleasant,' Grose, P., q.v. for fuller discussion.

quaint, adj., as used from ca. 1920 (the practice was on the wane by 1934) to mean amusingly old-fashioned, entertainingly unusual, even occ. as funny in an odd way, is (mostly upper-)middle- and upper-class s. It is less relevant than may at first appear to note that B.E. included quaint, 'curious, neat; also strange' in his glossary, for, so far as we are aware, he had no reason to treat it at all.

quake-breach or -buttock. A coward; dolt; sot: coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 16-17.

Quaker. A member of the Society of Friends: 1653, H. R., (title) A Brief Relation of the Irreligion of the Northern Quakers (O.E.D.): coll. until ca. 1810, then S.E., but never recognised, though in mid-C. 19-20 often used, by the Society. Orig. a pejorative nickname, ex supposed 'agitations in preaching', Grose.—2. A rope or lump of excrement: low: C. (? 18-19). H., 3rd ed. Cf. Quaker, bury a.—3. A conscientious objector (conchie): military coll.: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. Ex the honest attitude of Friends towards war.

Quaker oat; gen. pl. and more properly, Quaker Oats. A coat: C. 20. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Quaker, bury a. To defecate: low: C. (? 18-19). See Quaker, 2.

Quaker's bargain. A 'yea or nay' bargain; a 'take it or leave it' transaction: coll.: late C. 18-19. Ex the well-known directness, reliability and integrity of the Quakers, as honourably honest as a well-bred Chinese quaking cheat. A calf; a sheep: c. of ca. 1560-1850. Harman. See cheat.

Quaker's or Quakers' burying-ground. A privy; w.c.: low: C. 19. Ex Quaker, 2.

qualified. Damned, bloody, etc.: euphemistic coll.: 1890, Kipling, 'He was . . . told not to make a qualified fool of himself.' O.E.D. (Sup.).

qualify, v.i. To coit: cultured s.: late C. 19. ? ex qualify as a man.—2. To register one's name as playing football, or as being changed: Bootham School: from ca. 1910. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

qualify for the pension. To be getting on in years: coll. (—1927). Collinson.

quality, the. The gentry: late C. 17-20: S.E. until ca. 1830, then dial. and low coll. Mrs Centlivre notably omits the; A. Trollope, 1857, 'The quality, as the upper classes in rural districts are designated by the lower . . .'. Whence:

quality hours, the. Late hours for rising and for eating: lower classes' ironic coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Manchon.

qually. (Of wine) 'Turbulent and Foul', B.E.: late C. 17-mid-18: coll. rapidly > j. ? cloudy corrupted.

quamino or Q. A negro on shipboard: nautical: mid-C. 19-20. Bowen. ? ex a Negro name. Cf. quashee.

quandary. A state of perplexity; the difficulty causing it: coll. till C. 19, then S.E.: 1579, Lyly, 'Leaving this olde gentleman in a great quandarie' (O.E.D.). Occ., C. 17-early 18, as a v.: the Rev. T. Adams (d. 1655), 'He quandaries whether to go forward to God, or . . . to turn back to the world.' The O.E.D., concerning the etymology, rejects M.E. wandreth, abbr. hypochondry, and Grose's and Baumann's qu'en dirai-je? Prob. L. quam dare? or quando dare?, less likely quantum dare?

Quantas. See Quantas.

quantum. A drink: from ca. 1870; very ob. Baumann. Ex S.E. sense, a sufficiency.

quantum suff. Enough: coll.: C. 19-20; slightly ob. J. Beresford, 1806 (O.E.D.); 1871, Anon., The Siliad, 'I, too, O comrade, quantum suff. would cry.' Ex the medical formula in prescriptions: quant(um) suff(icit), 'as much as suffices'.

quaquiner is incorrect for quaviver: C. 17-18. O.E.D. quarrel-picker. A glazier: coll. (? orig. s.): late C. 17-18. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. A pun on quarrel, a small pane of glass, ex Old Fr. (cf. carreau).

quarrom(e) or -s; quarron or -s. A or the body: c. of ca. 1565-1830. Harman and Grose, quarromes; Brome and B.E., quarron; Anon., The Maunderer's Praise . . ., 1707, quarrons. Perhaps ex Fr. charogne or It. carogna.

quarry. The female pudend: C. 18-19: coll., bordering on S.E. euphemism.

quart. A quart-pot, esp. as a drinking vessel: Australian coll.: late C. 19-20. Perhaps ex Devonshire usage (1865: E.D.D.).

quart-mania. Delirium tremens (cf. gallon-distemper): ca. 1860-1910.

quart-pot tea. Billy tea: Australian coll.: Mrs H. Jones, Long Years in Australia, 1878 (Morris); 1885, Finch-Hatton, Advance Australia; ob. Ex its making in a tin pot holding a quart.

quarter, the; in address, Quarter or Quarters. (The) quartermaster sergeant: military coll.: C. 20. (F. & Gibbons.)

quarter bloke, the. The same; also, the quartermaster: id.: id. (Ibid.)

quarter bloke's English is 'the business-like, itemised English affected by Quartermasters and their assistants' in the Army; thus gum boots > boots, gum. Military coll.: from 1916. B. & P.

quarter-decker. An officer with manners (much) better than his seamanship: naval coll.: from ca. 1865; slightly ob. Ex deck used by superior officers and/or cabin-passengers. Like the next, recorded first in Admiral Smyth's Sailor's Word-Book, 1867. Cf. queen's parade.

quarter-deckish. Punctilious: naval coll.: from ca. 1865; slightly ob. Ex preceding.

quarter-jack. A quartermaster: military: from not later than 1917. Cf. quarter bloke and, for the form, popularity Jack.

quarter of a sec !, (wait) a. A Society intensification of half a sec !: ca. 1900-14. Ware.

quarter pound bird's eye. A quarter-ounce of tobacco: lower classes' (-1909); † by 1930. Ware.

quarter sessions ! A jocose form of swearing: legal coll. (-1909). Ware.

quarter-sessions rose. A 'perpetual' rose: gardeners' coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex the Fr. rose de quatre saisons, i.e. all the year round.

quarter stretch. Three months' imprisonment: c.: (?) from ca. 1815. Ware. See stretch, n., 2.

quarter-to-one feet. 'A man who turns out his feet more than [is] usual': naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

quartered. See rider, 2. A coll.

quartereen. A farthing: (low) theatrical and showmen's: from ca. 1850. (Cf. quatro, q.v.) Perhaps suggested by U.S. quarteroon, a quadroon (Thornton), but more prob. by the It. quattrino.

quarterer. Four, esp. in quarterer saltee, fourpence: Parlyaree: mid-C. 19-20. Ex It. quattro.

quarterfoil or -foyle. Incorrect for quatrefoil: C. 19, C. 15.—quatern(e). Incorrect for quartan, adj.: C. 16. O.E.D. quartermaster's erasmic. Soap for scrubbing floors: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Jocular ex Erasmic, the deservedly popular toilet soap.

[quatern]. See 'Westminster School slang', at end.]

quatern of bliss. A small, attractive woman: low London: from ca. 1882; ob. Ware. Cf. pot of bliss.

quarters. See quarter, the.

quarto ; Mr Quarto. A bookseller; a publisher: coll.: mid-C. 18-mid-19.

quash ; quash kateer. Resp. good; very good, pleasant, etc.: Eastern Fronts coll. in G.W. F. & Gibbons. In Arabic, kwush kethir = very good.

quashee, -ie ; occ. quassy. A Negro; above all, a Negro seaman from the British West Indies; esp. as a nickname: coll.: from ca. 1830. E.g. Michael Scott, 'I say, quashie.' Ex a Negro proper name. O.E.D.; Bowen.

quat. A contemptuous pejorative applied to a (gen. young, nearly always male) person: early C. 17. Shakespeare, Webster. Ex quat, a pimple. (O.E.D.)

quat, go to. To defecate: low coll.: C. 19-20; very ob. Ex quat, to squat.

[quatch, as in Shakespeare's quatch-buttock, may be coll. and may = flat.]

quaternify. A quarter = a C. 17 catachresis. O.E.D.

quatro. Four: from ca. 1850: Parlyaree. Ex It. quattro. Cf. quarterer.

quaver. A musician: low coll. or s.: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.

quean; incorrectly queen. A homosexual, esp. one with girlish manners and carriage: low: late C. 19-20; ob. except in Australia. Prob. ex quean, a harlot, influenced by Queenie, a girl's name, and dial. queanish, effeminate. Cf. queanie.

Quean Street. See Queen Street.

queanie; incorrectly queenie. A 'Nancy': late C. 19-20: Australian. See quean.—2. A very good-looking man or boy: military: from ca. 1920.

queen. See quean.

Queen Anne—Queen Elizabeth—my Lord Baldwin—is dead. A c.p. retort on old news: coll.: resp. 1722; C. 18, e.g. in Swift; ca. 1670-1710, as in Ray. A ballad of 1722, cited by Apperson, 'He's as dead as Queen Anne the day after she dy'd'; Barham. Swift, 'What news, Mr Neverout? Neverout. Why, Madam, Queen Elizabeth's dead.' The first was occ., ca. 1870-1910, elaborated to Queen Anne is dead and her bottom's cold. Cf. the Yorkshire Queen Anner, 'an old-fashioned tale; a tale of former times', E.D.D.

Queen Anne's fan. Fingers to nose: coll.: mid-C. 19-20; ob. (Manchon).

Queen Anne's Mansions. 'The combined control tower and fore bridge of the Nelson and the Rodney, named after the tallest block of flats in London', Bowen, 1929: naval: from ca. 1910; ob.

Queen Dick. See Dick.—2. Queen Dick, to the tune of the life and death of. To no tune at all. Grose, 2nd ed. Late C. 18-early 19 coll.—3. Richard Cromwell, Protector in 1658-9. Ex his effeminacy. Dawson.

Queen Elizabeth. See Queen Anne.—2. The street-door key: c.: ca. 1860-1910. On betty.

Queen Elizabeth's pocket-pistol. 'A Brass Cannon of a prodigious Length at Dover Castle', B.E.: a coll. nickname, ca. 1680-1780. Smollett.

queen (or Queen) goes on foot or sends nobody, where the. A water-closet: low coll.: ca. 1860-1915.

queen of the dripping-pan. A cook: coll.: from ca. 1850; ob.

Queen Sarah. The first Duchess of Marlborough (d. 1744). Dawson.

Queen Street, live in ; or at the sign of the Queen's Head. To be governed by one's wife: coll.: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed.

Queen Vics, the. The Queen Victoria Rifles (9th Battalion London Regiment): military: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons. Also the Q.V.R.'s.

queenie. See queanie.—2. queenie ! A 'mock endearing name called after a fat woman trying to walk young': Cockneys': 1884-ca. 1914. Ex Queenie, come back, sweet, addressed in a Drury Lane pantomime of 1884 to H. Campbell, who, exceedingly fat, was playing Eliza, a cook. Ware.

Queenite (opp. Kingite). A partisan of Queen Caroline, George IV's wife: coll.: † by 1860. Southey, 'He thought small beer . . . of some very great . . . Queenites.'

Queen's. The Queen's College, Oxford: coll.: C. 19-20. Queen's men do not like outsiders—even undergraduates of other Oxford colleges—to use the term.

Queen's bad or hard bargain or bad shilling. See Q.b.b. and bad bargain.

Queen's Bays, the. The Third Dragoon Guards: military coll.: from ca. 1840. Since Queen Victoria's death, the Bays. Ca. 1767, they were mounted on bay horses, the other heavy regiments—excepting always the Scots Greys—having black horses.

Queen's bus or, as in Baumann, carriage. A prison van: ca. 1860-1901: c. (But the King's bus did not 'take on'.)

Queen's College. See college.

Queen's gold medal. (Gen. the.) A shilling: lower classes' (— 1887); † by 1902. Baumann.

Queen's head. A postage stamp: (low) coll.: ca. 1840–1901. King's head, † by 1910. Moncrieff, The Scamps of London, 1843.

queen's or Queen's parade. The quarter-deck: naval coll.: ca. 1865–1901. Smyth.

Queen's or King's picture or portrait. Money; coins: coll. verging on S.E.: C. 17–20; slightly ob. Brome; Ned Ward, 'Queen's pictures, by their features, | Charm all degrees of human creatures'; Judy, April 27, 1887.—2. A sovereign: C. 19–20; ob. Mayhew.

Queen's pipe. See pipe, her Majesty's. Orig. Queen's tobacco-pipe.

Queen's or queen's stick. A stately person: (low) coll.: ca. 1870–1910.

Queen's woman. (Gen. in pl.) A soldier's trull: military coll., bordering on S.E.: ca. 1860–1905. A Royal Commission report of 1871.

queer, adj. (Orig. opp. to rum, excellent, which in C. 19–20 has approximated to queer: see rum.) Base, criminal; counterfeit; very inferior: c.: C. 16–20. First in Scots, 1508 (O.E.D.), as = odd, eccentric, of questionable character, prob. coll. (not c.) and soon > S.E., this sense being perhaps independent of the c. (not attested before 1561); by 1560 very gen. in Eng. c. Awdelay, as quire; Harman, quyer, of liquor; Dekker, quier; Fletcher the dramatist, quere; B.E., queere; The Spectator, queer, as in Grose. Origin obscure, but perhaps ex quire = choir: Awdelay, 'A Quire bird is one that came lately out of prison': cf. Grose's (1st ed.) definition of queer-bird, and see canary and canary bird; or, as H. suggests, ex Ger. quer, crooked.—2. Not until C. 19 do the derivative senses occur: drunk, 1800, W. B. Rhodes, 'We feel ourselves a little queer' (in C. 20, gen. he looks, looked, rather, etc., queer), O.E.D.—3. Hence, unwell; giddy: s. >, in C. 20, coll. (cf. the Australian crook, q.v.): from ca. 1810, e.g. in Vaux. Cf. query, q.v.—4. Unfavourable, inauspicious: coll.: late C. 19–20.—5. Not honest; 'shady': coll.: late C. 19–20.—6. Shrewd; alert: c.: late C. 18–early 19. Parker, 1789. But this may merge with preceding sense.—7. Of strange behaviour; (slightly) mad, orig. (a bit) queer in the head: coll.: 1840, Dickens. This links with sense 3, but prob. deriving imm. ex queer in one's attic. (In gen., cf. the n. and v.; also the queer combinations and phrases.)

queer, n. Counterfeit money: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux; Egan, 1821, 'The dealer in queer'. Cf. shover of the queer, a counterfeiter.—2. An inferior substitute for soot: dealers in soot: (low) s.: ca. 1815–70. Egan in Boziana, vol. ii.—3. A hoax, a quizzing: low: late C. 18–20, ob. Ex queer, v., 1, q.v.—4. A look: low s. verging on c.: Henley & Stevenson, 1892, 'Have a queer at her phiz'; ob.—5. See queer, tip the, and queer, in and on.

queer, v. To ridicule; to puzzle: from ca. 1790; ob. Grose.—2. To hoax; cheat; trick; evade: c. or low s.: late C. 18–20. Anon., 1819, 'There's no queering fate, sirs.'—3. To spoil, ruin: from ca. 1790. Grose, 3rd ed.; 1812, Vaux: c. >, ca. 1840, low s. Cf. pitch, queer the, q.v. E.g. queer the eyes, blacken someone's eyes (Grose).—4. Hence, 'to put (one) out; to make (one) feel queer', S.O.D.: 1845, W. Cory, 'Hallam was rather queered,' O.E.D.; Hindley, 1876, 'Consumption was queering him.'

queer, in. Wrong, e.g. with the police: c.: late C. 19–20.

queer, on the. Acting dishonestly or shadily: low: C. 20.

queer, shover of the. See queer, n., 1. Cf. queer-shover, q.v.

Queer, Sir Quibble. 'A trifling silly shatter-brain'd Fellow', B.E.: late C. 17–mid-18.

queer, tip (one) the. To pass sentence of imprisonment on: c.: from ca. 1820; ob.

queer as Dick's hatband. See Dick's hatband.

queer bail. Fraudulent bail: c.: 1785, Grose; ob. Cf. straw-bail.

queer bird; in C. 16–mid-17, quire bird. One only recently out of gaol but already returned to crime: c.: mid-C. 16–early 19. Awdelay.—2. An odd fellow: from ca. 1840: s. Cf. queer cove, q.v.

queer bit, cole, money, paper, screens, soft. Base money, q. paper and soft obviously applying only to notes: resp. c., late C. 18–20; late C. 17–20, ob., c.; C. 19, s. or low coll.; C. 19–20, low; C. 19–20, c. (ob. in C. 20); mid C. 19–20, c.

queer bit-maker. A coiner of counterfeit: c.: 1785, Grose; Ware. Cf. queer cole-maker.

queer bitch. 'An odd out-of-the-way fellow', Grose, 1785; recorded 1772; † by 1870.

queer bluffer. 'A sneaking, sharpening, Cut-throat Ale-house or Inn-keeper', B.E.; 'the master of a public house, the resort of rogues and sharpers', Grose, 1st ed.: c.: late C. 17–early 19. See also bluffer.

queer booze. Poor lap, swipes; 'small and naughty drynke', Harman: c. >, ca. 1750, low s.: ca. 1560–1830. See also booze.

queer bung or bough. An empty purse: c.: mid-C. 17–early 19. B.E.

queer card, fellow, fish; in pl., also queer cattle. A person odd in manner, strange in opinion: coll.: resp. C. 19–20; 1712, The Spectator; 1772, 'Gods are queer fish as well as men'; (gen. of women), 1894, G. Moore—but prob. much earlier—coll. >, in C. 20, S.E. Cf. odd fellow, etc.

queer checker. A swindling box-keeper: low theatrical: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.

queer clout. 'A sorry, coarse, ord'nary or old Handkerchief, not worth Nimming' (i.e. stealing), B.E.: c.: late C. 17–18.

queer cole. Counterfeit money: c.: from ca. 1670. B.E. See queer bit.

queer-cole fencer. A receiver, or utterer, of false money: c.: late C. 17–19. B.E.

queer cole-maker. A counterfeiter: c.: late C. 17–20; ob. B.E.

queer-cove. A rogue: c.: late C. 16–mid-19. Greene (quire cove); B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. A strange fellow: low >, by 1900, gen. s.: from ca. 1830. Cf. queer bird, q.v.

queer cramp-rings. Bolts; fetters: c. (— 1567); † by ca. 1750. Harman.

queer cuffin, occ. q. cuffen or cuffing; even cuffin quire (Elisha Coles, 1676). A magistrate: c.: C. 17–19. Dekker, 'Because he punisheth them belike' and 'Quier cuffin, that is to say, a Churle, or a naughty man', which gives the secondary sense, 'a churl', recorded by B.E. and Grose.

queer cull. 'A Fop, or Fool, a Codshead; also a shabby poor Fellow', B.E.: c.: late C. 17–mid-19: c. See cull.

queer degen. 'An Iron, Steel, or Brass-hilted Sword', B.E.; 'an ordinary sword', Grose, 1st ed. C. of ca. 1670–1830. Opp. rum degen, q.v.

queer diver. A bungling pickpocket: c.: mid-C. 17–early 19. B.E.

queer doxy. A jilting jade; an ill-dressed harlot: c.: mid-C. 17–mid-18. B.E.

queer drawers. 'Yarn, coarse Worsted, ord'nary or old Stockings', B.E.: c.: late C. 17–18.

queer duke. A decayed gentleman; a starveling: c.: late mid-C. 17–18. B.E.

queer 'em or 'um or 'un; queerum. The gallows: c.: ca. 1820–60. Bee, 1823 (queer 'em); Sonnets for the Fancy, 1824, 'The queerum queerly smear'd with dirty black'. ? queer them or queer one.

queer fellow; queer fish. See queer card.

queer fun. A bungled trick or swindle: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E.

queer-gammed. Very lame; crippled: c., in C. 20 slightly ob. George Parker, 1789, 'Though fancy queer-gamm'd smutty Muns | Was once my fav'rite man.' See gam.

queer gill. A shabby fellow: c.: ca. 1800–40. Ainsworth, in Rookwood, 1834, 'Rum gills and queer gills'. See gill and cf. cull.

queer in one's (occ. the) attic. A variant—ca. 1820–1910—of queer, adj., 7. 'Jon Bee', 1823; Baumann. Ex queer, adj., 3.—2. Hence, perverse, wrong-headed: low (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

queer it. See queer, v., 3. Cf. pitch, queer the.

queer ken. A prison: c.: 1608, Dekker; Grose. † by 1850.—2. A house not worth robbing: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E. Here, queer = worthless. Cf.:

queer-ken hall. A prison: c.: 1610, Rowlands, who spells quirken hall. C. 17; on queer ken. Prob. genuine c., but Rowlands often 'improved on' Dekker, who, although he used Harman somewhat à la Molière, prob. knew the underworld intimately.

queer kicks. 'Coarse, ord'nary or old Breeches', B.E.: c.: late C. 17–early 19.

queer money. See queer bit.

queer mort. 'A dirty Drab, a jilting Wench, a Pockey Jade', B.E.: c.: C. 17–early 19. Grose (2nd ed.) records only 'a diseased strumpet'. Contrast rum mort, q.v.

queer nab. A shabby hat, or a cheap one: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., who uncompromisingly defines it as 'A Felt, Carolina, Cloth, or ord'nary Hat, not worth whipping off a Man's Head'.

queer-ogled. Squint-eyed: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

queer on or to. To rob; treat harshly: resp. c. and low s.: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. queer, v., 3 and 4.

queer paper. See queer bit.

queer peeper. An inferior mirror: late C. 17–18. B.E.

queer peepers. Squinting or dim-sighted eyes: c. >, by 1830, low s.: C. 18–20; ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

queer place, the. Prison: c.: late C. 19–20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'In the queer place'. By euphemism. Cf. queer ken, 1.

queer plunger. One who works a faked rescue of a drowning man: c.: 1785, Grose. It applies both to the 'victim' and to the 'rescuer'. In order that the 'rescuer' 'wangle' a guinea from a humane society; moreover, the supposed 'suicide' often got a small sum.

queer prancer. An inferior or a foundered horse: late C. 17–early 19 c. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed., who records also 'a cowardly . . . horse-stealer': c.: late C. 18–early 19.

queer roost, dorse (or doss) or sleep (up) on the. To live together as supposed man and wife: c.: late C. 18–mid-19. George Parker (dorse).

queer rooster. A police spy residing among thieves: c.: 1785, Grose; † by 1890.

queer-rums. Confusing talk: c. of ca. 1820–50. Bee. Lit., bad-goods.

queer screen. A forged bank-note: c. (— 1812). Vaux; H., 1st ed. Cf. queer soft.

queer-shover or shover of the queer. See queer, n., 1. From ca. 1870.

queer soft. See queer bit.

queer stick. A very odd, or incomprehensible, fellow: coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf. dial. rum stick and the c. and dial. rum duke.

Queer Street, in. In a serious difficulty; very short of money: c. >, ca. 1840, s. >, ca. 1890, coll. >, ca. 1930, S.E.: 1811, Lex. Bal.; 1837, Lytton, 'You are in the wrong box—planted in Queer Street, as we say in London'; Dickens.

queer the pitch. See pitch, queer the.

queer thing, the. 'A basket or sack hoisted in a Grand Banks schooner to recall the dories': fishermen's: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

queer to. See queer on.

queer topping. A frowsy or inferior wig or other head-dress: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E.

queer wedge. Base gold or, more gen., silver: c.: ca. 1800–60.—2. A large buckle, says Grose, in his 3rd ed.: c.: late C. 18–early 19.

queer whidding. A scolding: c.: C. 18–mid-19. F. & H. Ex:

queer whids. Esp. in cut queer whids, to give evil words: c.: 1567, Harman. Ob.

queered. Tipsy: 1822, Scott, 'You would be queered in the drinking of a penny pot of malmsey.' † by 1850. See queer, adj., 2.

queerer. A quizzer, a hoaxer: ca. 1810–50. Colman, 1812, 'These wooden wits, these quizzers, queerers, smokers'. Ex queer, v., 1.

queerish. Somewhat 'queer', in various senses: coll.: mid-C. 18–20. Also in dial.

queerly. Like a criminal: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.

queerum. See queer 'em.

queery. Shaky: low, esp. boxing: ca. 1820–70. Jones, The True-Bottomed Boxer, 1825.

queint(e). See quaint.—queme. See quim.

quencher; frequently a modest quencher. A drink: coll.: 1840, Dickens.

quep, in Scott, is erroneous for guep (= gup). O.E.D.

querier. A chimney-sweep irregularly soliciting custom, e.g. by knocking at the doors of houses: low: from ca. 1858. H., 1859; Mayhew (also gumbler). Cf. knuller.

querry and quetry in Greene's Second Cony-Catching, 1592, are prob. misprints for quarry; nevertheless they are late C. 16 c. and = a surety (to be victimised).

question, ask (a horse) a. To test before racing: the turf: The Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, Nov. 7, 1890, 'A thorough judge of horses . . . and . . . not afraid of asking them a question, like some trainers we know of.'

question, pop the. See pop the question.

question lay. 'To knock at the Door, and ask for the Gentleman of the House, if a Bed [a-bed] you desire the Servant not to disturb him, but you will wait until he rises, and then an opportunity to steal something', C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718: c.: C. 18.

queynte. See quaint.—Quhew. See whew, the. qui, get the. To be dismissed: printers': from ca. 1875. Ex quietus.

qui-es-kateer? How are you: Regular Army's (late C. 19–20) and Eastern Front (1915–18). B. & P. Direct ex Arabic.

qui-hi or -hai or -hy. An Anglo-Indian, esp. of the Bengal Presidency: Anglo-Indian coll.: 1816, Anon., Quiz; Thackeray, 'The old boys, the old generals, the old colonels, the old qui-his . . . paid her homage.' Ex Urdu koi hai, 'Is anyone there?'—in India a summons to a servant. Yule & Burnell, who cf. (Bombay) duck and mull, q.v.—2. In the Regular Army, qui-hi is used (mid-C. 19–20) in its lit. sense. B. & P.

qui tam; qui-tam, quitam. A solicitor that seeks such a conviction that the resultant penalty goes half to the informer (i.e. the lawyer himself), half to the Crown: also adj., as in Moncrieff, 1843, 'The quitam lawyer, the quack doctor'; qui tam, as n., app. recorded first in this sense in H., 3rd ed., 1864; in C. 20, ob. except as legal s.—2. The adj., however, figures also in the earlier qui-tam horse, 'one that will both carry and draw', Grose, 3rd ed.: legal, † by 1860. Ex the legal action so named; L., 'who as well'.—3. But qui tam, an informer, occurs as early as 1816 in 'Quiz's' Grand Master (O.E.D.): coll.

Quibble Queer, Sir. See Queer, Sir Quibble.

quick and nimble; more like a bear than a squirrel. A c.p. addressed to one moving slowly when speed is required: C. 18–mid-19. 'Proverbs' Fuller, 1732; Grose, 2nd ed.

Quick Dick. A certain quick-firing British gun on the Western Front: military nickname. F. & Gibbons.

quick-firer. A field-service stereotyped postcard: military: from 1915. Frank Richards, Old Soldiers: Never Die, 1933. Cf. whizz-bang.

quick one. A drink taken quickly: coll. verging on familiar S.E.: from ca. 1910.

quick stick(s). Rapidly; hurriedly. Esp. in the s. phrase, cut quick sticks, to start or depart thus (cf. cut one's stick, q.v.): coll.: from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed. Occ. in quick sticks (Rolf Boldrewood, 1890). The first phrase and the last occur also in various diall.: E.D.D.

quickee. See quicky.

quicker than hell would scorch a feather. Promptly: sailing-ship officers' c.p. 'duly impressed on all youngsters': mid-C. 19–20; ob. Bowen. Cf. an icicle's chance in hades.

quick(e)y; occ. quickee. The act of backing a horse after the result of a race is known: Glasgow sporting (— 1934). Perhaps ex quick return on one's money.—2. A fast bowler: cricketers' coll.: 1934, P. G. H. Fender in several articles (e.g. on June 21) in The Evening News.

quicumque (loosely quicunque) vult. A very compliant girl (sexually): 1785, Grose; † by 1850. Also an Athanasian wench. Ex quicumque vult salvus esse, whosoever will be saved, the opening words of the Athanasian Creed (O.E.D.).

quid. A guinea: c.: 1688, Shadwell; † by 1800. Perhaps L. quid, what?, for 'the where-withal': cf. quids, q.v.—Hence, 2, a sovereign, or the sum of twenty shillings: low: C. 19–20.—3. A shilling, says Grose, 3rd ed., but this I believe to be an error.—4. As a pl. = quids, sovereigns or £, as in Dickens, 1857, "'Take yer two quid to one'", adds the speaker, picking out a stout farmer.'—5. See quids.—6. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20; ob.

'quid est hoc?' 'hoc est quid.' A late C. 18–early 19 punning c.p.: Grose, 3rd ed. As H. explains, the question is asked by one tapping the bulging cheek of another, who, exhibiting a 'chaw' of tobacco, answers 'hoc est' quid. Lit., 'What is this? This is a quid [of tobacco].'

quid-fishing. Expert thieving: c. (— 1909). Ware. Ex quid, 2.

quid to a bloater, (it's) a. (It's) a certain bet: low urban (— 1909); slightly ob. Ware.

quidding, vbl.n. The chewing of tobacco: Conway training ship (— 1900). John Masefield's history thereof, 1933.

quiddle. 'Custard, or any sauce for pudding': Bootham School: C. 20. Perhaps cf. squish.—2. To spit: id.: † by 1925, says the anon. Dict. of Bootham Slang of that date.

quidlet. A sovereign; £1: low: C. 20. Diminutive of quid, 2.—2. In pl. = :

quids. Money, or rather cash, in gen.: late C. 17–20 (ob.): c. >, ca. 1750, low s. B.E. (quidds); Moore, 1819, 'If quids should be wanting, to make the match good'. Ex quid, 1.

quids, tip the. To spend money: c.: late C. 17–19. B.E., Grose.—2. To lend money: c.: mid-C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 1st ed. See quids.

quien. A dog: low (? orig. c.): mid-C. 19–20; ob. Reade, 1861, "'Curse these quiens," said he,' Origin obscure, but obviously cognate with L. canis, Fr. chien, a dog. Perhaps ex Northern Fr. dial.

quier. See queer, adj., 1.

quiet, on the. Quietly, unobtrusively, secretly: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1860, H., 2nd ed. Whence q.t., on the, q.v.

quiet as a wasp in one's nose(, as). Uneasy, restless: coll.: 1670, Ray; ob.

quiff. 'A satisfactory result: spec. an end obtained by means not strictly conventional', F. & H.: low: from ca. 1875; ob. Esp. as in F. & Gibbons (C. 20 senses): 'Any specially ingenious smart, tricky, or novel or improvised way of doing anything' (naval); 'in the Army . . . any drill method peculiar to a battalion'. Ex dial. quiff, a dodge or trick, a knack, a 'wrinkle' (E.D.D.).—2. Whence, 'an idea, fancy, movement, suggestion': Anglo-Indian (— 1909). Ware.—3. As an oiled lock of hair plastered on forehead, the S.O.D. considers it S.E., W. as s., orig. East End of London. Perhaps ex It. cuffia; cognate with coif. F. & H., 1902 (first record), says 'military'; Ware dates it at 1890.

quiff, v.i. To copulate: C. 18–20 (very ob.): low. D'Urfey, 'By quiffing with Cullies, three Pound she had got'; Grose, 2nd ed., gives as quiffing, copulation. Not in O.E.D.; origin problematic.—2. V.i., to do well; jog along nicely, merrily: from ca. 1870. Prob. ex the dial. n. quiff (see quiff, n., 1); cf.:

quiff. Smartly dressed (esp. for a particular occasion): military: from ca. 1908. F. & Gibbons. Ex quiff, n., 1.

quiff in the press. To move a breast pocket to the other side: tailors': from ca. 1870. Cf. the Somersetshire dial. use (E.D.D.).

quiff tack. 'Materials for cleaning harness equipment': military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Ex quiff, adj.

quiff the bladder. To conceal baldness: low: from ca. 1870. Lit., to coil the bladder-resembling head; more prob.—cf. quiff, n., 1—ex dial. quiff, a dodge, a trick.

quiffing. See quiff, v., 1.

quifs. Manœuvres: military: late C. 19–20; virtually †. Ware. Ex quif, n., 1 or 2.

quill. To curry favour: Winchester College: C. 19–20. Perhaps ex jump in quill, to act in harmony, and in a or the quill, in concert. Cf. quilled.

quill, brother—knight—of the. See brother and knight.

quill, drive a. See drive a quill.

quill-driver. 'Anybody on shipboard doing clerical work': nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex S.E. sense.

quilled, adj. Pleased: Winchester College: C. 19–20. Prob. ex quill, q.v.

quiller, occ. quilster. A toady: Winchester: C. 19–20. Ex quill, q.v.

quim. The female pudend: a vulg.: C. 17–20. Variants, queme, quim-box, quimsby, quin, all † except the second, itself ob. Grose, 2nd ed., suggests ex Sp. quemar, to burn.—Hence such C. 19–20 compounds as quim-bush, -whiskers, -wig, the female pubic hair; q.-stake or -wedge, the penis; q.-sticker, a whoremonger: q.-sticking or -wedging, and quimming, sexual intercourse.

quimsby, quin. See quim.

quimp. Slack; unsoldierly: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps a corruption of dial. quim, pleasant, smooth.

quincenary. Incorrect for quingentenary: late C. 19–20. O.E.D. See also quint-.

Quins. Harlequins Rugby Football Club: sporting: C. 20.

Quins, the. The Dionne quintuplets of Canada; born May 28, 1934: coll., mainly journalists'. Cf. the Quads, the English quadruplets born in 1935.

quinsy, choked by a hempen. Hanged: C. 16–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed.

quint- Wrongly used in combinations instead of quingu(e), as in quintangular (1787), quintagenarian (1844), for quinguagenarian (1843), quintennial (1871) for quinguennial. Likewise, quinti- is incorrect for quingue-: late C. 17–20. O.E.D.

quire. See queer, adj., 1.

quirk. An Air Force officer while under instruction: Air Force: 1916; ob. Cf. erk, but ex:—2. A 'B.E.' aeroplane, stable but very slow: Air Force: 1915; ob.—3. Hence, 'any freak type, or unusually designed aeroplane' (F. & Gibbons): Air Force: from 1917.

quirken. See queer-ken hall.

quirklum. A puzzle: Scots: late C. 18–19. ('A cant term' in Jamieson = s.)

quis? Who wants some?: Public-Schoolboys': mid-C. 19–20. The answer is ego! Collinson. Direct ex Latin.

quisby. An idler: 1837 (O.E.D.); † by 1920. Desmond, Stage Struck, 'That old quisby has certainly contrived to slip out of the house.' † ex quiz, an eccentric.—2. See quisby, do.

quisby, adj. Bankrupt, 1853; out of sorts, 1854; queer, not quite right, 1887, Punch, July 30, 'Arter this things appeared to go quisby.' † ex quiz, an eccentric, or ex quisby, q.v.

quisby, do. To idle: 1851, Mayhew. Ob. See quisby, n.

quisi. Low; obscene: Anglo-Chinese (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.

quit, to leave off in a very lazy or a cowardly manner, and quitter, a shirker, are C. 20 coll. ex U.S. Ultimately ex S.E. quit, to cease doing something (in C. 20 U.S.), or ex Anglo-Irish quit, to 'clear out'—as in Lover, 1848, 'Quit this minit,' cited by E.D.D.

quitam. See qui tam.

quite !; quite so ! Yes !; no doubt !; I agree: coll.: from the mid-Nineties. Cf. Fr. parfaitement and our exactly and rather. (O.E.D. Sup.) The clergyman in Sutton Vane's excellent and most original play, Outward Bound, continually says quite !

quite a stranger ! See stranger !, quite a.

quite too. Too; esp. quite too dull, which Ware quotes in his introduction: orig. and mainly Society: from ca. 1905. Prob. on the earlier too too.

quiteish, not. Indisposed: from ca. 1920. Richard Keverne, Carteret's Cure, 1926, 'You look a bit not quiteish, eh?' I.e. not quite the thing.

quitsest. A release, discharge: late C. 16–early 17: prob. coll. Holinshed. † ex quietus est. O.E.D. quitter. See quit.

quivication. An equivocation: sol. (? orig. nautical): from before 1887. Baumann.

quiz. (Of arbitrary origin, perhaps on queer, adj.; cf. quoz.) An eccentric person: 1782, Mme D'Arblay (O.E.D.): Oxford s. >, ca. 1830, gen. coll. and, ca. 1860, S.E.—2. Hence, an odd-looking thing: coll.: 1798, Jane Austen; ob. O.E.D.—3. A monocle: from ca. 1810: coll. Abbr. quizzing-glass, as in Thackeray, 1843, 'The dandy not uncommonly finishes off with a horn quizzing-glass.' Ob. Prob. ex sense 1.

quiz, v.i. and t. To watch; play the spy: c.: from ca. 1890. Ex dial.

quockerwodger. A politician acting under an outsider's orders: political (— 1859); † by 1887. H., 1st ed. (Introduction); Baumann. Ex dial. quocker-wodger, a puppet on strings.

quod or, never in C. 20, quad. A prison: late C. 17–20: c. until ca. 1780, then low s. B.E.; Fielding; Tarras, Poems, 1804 (quad). Gen. in quod. Prob. ex quadrangle. Cf.:

quod, v. To imprison: from ca. 1810: c. >, ca. 1840, low s. Vaux, Tom Taylor. Ex n.

quod-cove. A turnkey: c.: 1812, Vaux; † by 1910. Ex quod, n. Cf.:

quod-cull. A prison warder: c.: C. 18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

quodded, adj. In prison: low: from ca. 1820. Ex quodded, imprisoned. See quod, v.

quodding dues are concerned. It is a case of imprisonment: c. (— 1812); † by 1890. Vaux.

quodger; quodjer. By what law?: legal: 1864, H., 3rd ed. Ex L. quo jure.

quoniam. A drinking-cup of some kind: drink-ing s.: early C. 17. Healy, 1609, 'A Quoniam is a glasse . . . well knowne in Drink-allia.'—2. The female pudend: low: C. 17–18. † a learned pun, suggested by quim (q.v.), on L. quoniam, whereas (all males desire it).

quota. App. c. for a share (esp. of plunder): late C. 17–early 18. B.E. Cf. earnest, q.v.

quote. A quotation, 1885.—2. A quotation-mark, 1888. Literary, publishing, and printing coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E., but certainly not dignified S.E. (O.E.D.)

quoz. An odd or absurd person or thing: coll.: ca. 1790–1810. Also, as in Mme D'Arblay, as a plural. A jocular perversion of quiz, n., 1, q.v.—2. As an ejaculation or a retort, indeed a monosyllabic c.p.: same period. O.E.D.

*quyer. See queer, adj., 1. (A variant spelling of quire.)

R

Under R, F. & H. has the following ineligibles: S.E.:—rabbit, a pejorative, also a drinking-can, rabble; rack and manger, rack and ruin; rack off, to tell; racket, v. and (except as c.) n.; racketer, racket(t)y; play racket and without racket; raff; raffle; raffing-shop; rag, a ragamuffin, a newspaper; rag-tag, rag-tag and bobtail; ragamuffin; rage, v., and ragerie; rag(e)man; ragout; raid the market; railery; rain proverbs; rainbow-chase; rainy day; raise, to rear; rake, rakehell, rakehellion, rakeshame; rake, lean as a; rake and scrape, rake-down, rake in the pieces, better with a rake than a fork; rake-kennel and raker, scavenger; rally, in theatrical sense; ramagious; ramhead; rammish; ramp, a and to wanton; rampage; rampager, rampaging, rampageous; rampallion; ramrod, penis; ramshackle; randan; range, ranger, to whore, a whoremonger, or a highwayman; Rangers, military; rank, as intensive adj.; rannel; ransack, ranshackle; rant, to talk big, etc.; corresponding ranter, ranting; rantipole; rap, n. and v., indicating quickly forcible or explosive action or speech, also a coin; rapparee; rapper, a lie (but see entry), and rapping, great or very; rapscallion; raree-show(man); rascal; rat, a renegade; like a drowned rat and smell a rat; ratten, rattening, ratter; rattle, a dice-box, a clamour, a scolding, a lively talker; and the death-rattle; rattle, to censure or to confuse, irritate; rattle-baby; rattle-bag, etc.; rattle down and up; rattled, confused; rattler, constant talker, a smart blow, a snake, anything of notable size or value; rattling, brisk, lively, and as adv. before e.g. good; rattle-trap, n. and adj., (anything) broken down, curiously mechanical; raw, a novice, anything raw, a tender point; the corresponding adj.; raw-flesh or -head, a spectre; ready, prepared, and ready-money; reckon and reckon up; record, beat or cut or lower the; recreant; red, a republican; all red combinations and phrases not hereinunder; red-tape, -taper, -tapery, -tapeism, -tapist; reefer (jacket); reefing; reel, off the, and reel-off, reel-pot; reflector; refresher, a fee; a regular (visitor, etc.); relieve; remainder; remedy at Winchester School; renovator; repartee; reptile, n. and adj.; Republican; respectable; respond; Responsions; resty; resurrection-man or -woman, and resurrectionist; revel-dash, -rout; revenge; reviver (tailor); reward; rex, play; rib; ribald, etc.; rib-roasting; rich face; ride phrases not hereinunder; rider, coin and 'commercial'; riff-raff, etc.; riggish; all right combinations and phrases not listed separately; rigol; a ring (boxing, racing, etc.); ring, come on the; ring the changes; riotous living; ripe, ready; rip(p)on; rise and its phrases not done separately; rivet, v.; road to heaven or paradise; roadster; roarer, roaring; roaring buckie, drunk, and Meg; roast proverbs; roaster; rob-altar and -pot and -thief; robe, gentleman of the; robbery, exchange is no; Robin Hood terms, etc., not detailed; rock and phrases, etc., not listed separately; rocketer; rod; rodomontade; rogerian; rogue, etc., if not separately; roister; Roland for an Oliver; roll combinations and phrases not done hereinunder; roller as go-cart and wave; rolley; romance, n. and v.; Romany, etc. (but see note); rook, etc., where not defined; room, leave the; ro(o)mbelow; roost, etc., if not defined; rope, id.; rosary, the coin; rosin, to drink; rosy, favourable, and rosy about the gills; rouge at Eton; rough, etc., where not separately; rough-and-tumble, adj.; rough music; roughshod; round, etc., if not defined; rouse, rouser, rousing; roust, roust-about; rout; rove, rover; row in the same boat and row to hoe, a hard; rowdy, etc., where not defined; royster; R's, the three; rub, etc., where not done separately; rubber; rubicon (at cords; n. and v.); ruby and ruck, etc., if not listed; rudesby; rug-gown(ed), -headed; ruff; ruffian, etc., where not listed; ruffle, ruffler, id.; rufty-tuft; rug (liquor; tug); ruge; rule of thumb; rum-blossom or -bud; rumbly; rumkin; rump, etc., if not separately; run, id.; runabout, runner, runner-up, running; runt; rural; rush, etc., where not defined; rustic and rusticate; rusty-fusty-dusty; ruttish; rutter.

Dial. are these:—ramgumption; rannack; randy, n.; randy-dandy; rap, in a; rattler, a sound scolding; rick-ma-tick; rid the stomach; ridiculous; riners; roaring game; router; rudge (= rug, esp. in rug-gown); rumgumptious;

r. Intrusive after another r, or as 'Upper rousemaid, ain't you, at St. James's Palace?', W. Pett Ridge, 1898, in his Cockney novel, Mord Em'ly: mostly Cockney: C. 19–20 (? from earlier).—2. r! More gen. written ar!: mostly Cockney: (? late) C. 19–20. Manchon suggests that it is an abbr. of right!, certainly!; more prob. = ah!, i.e. ah, yes!—3. -r' for -rt (as in star) is Cockney: since when?

r.i.p. (or R.I.P.), let him, her, it, etc. Let him, her, etc., rip; i.e. don't bother about him, her, etc.: late C. 19–20. Ex the abbr. of requiescat in pace, on tombstones. Cf. rip!, let him or her, q.v.

R.M.D. (separately articulated). Immediate payment: (unexalted) financial coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex ready money down.

R.O. See relieving officer.

R.O. workers. Men who 'frame' a mock auction: showmen's: C. 20. P. Allingham in The Evening News, July 9, 1934.

rabbit. A new-born babe, mostly in rabbit-catcher, a midwife: low: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1785,—2. Political (ob.) as in report of the House of Commons Election Commission, 1866, 'Out of £50 . . . he had paid a number of rooks and rabbits . . . In general . . . "the rabbits were to work in the burrow and the rooks to make a noise at the public meetings."—3. 'A rabbit, as a horse that runs "in and out" is sometimes called,' 1882, The Standard, Sept. 3: racing; slightly ob.—4. Hence, an inferior player of any game: C. 20: s. >, by 1930, coll. Related also to S.E. use of rabbit as a pejorative. (The derivative rabbitry is too academic and rare to be eligible).—5. 'Property stolen from the Royal Dockyards, most frequently used in Devonport': naval: C. 20. Bowen.—6. Sol. for rebate: C. 20. Manchon.

rabbit, v. In imprecations, it = confound, as in Fielding's "Rabbit the fellow!" cries he,' 1742, and Smollett's 'Rabbit it! I have forgot the degree,' in the same decade. Cf. drabbit! (—1787), and od(d) rabbit: qq.v. The O.E.D. considers rabbit an alteration of rat in od rat, drat; F. & H.'s rot it won't 'fit'.

rabbit or rabbits, buy the. To have the worst of a bargain; to be a dupe: orig. (1825) U.S.; anglicised ca. 1850; very ob. Cf. the C. 16 proverb, who will change a rabbit for a rat?

rabbit, fat and lean like a. A mid-C. 17–early 19 coll. Ray, 1678; explained in Swift's Polite Conversation, Dialogue I: 'I am like a Rabbit, fat and lean in Four-and-twenty Hours,' a rabbit responding very promptly to food.

rabbit, live. The male member: low: C. 19–20; ob. Whence skin the live rabbit or have a bit of rabbit-pie, to coît: cf. rabbit-pie.

rabbit, run the. 'To convey liquor from a public-house', C. J. Dennis: low Australian (—1916). Why?

rabbit-catcher. See rabbit, n., 1.

rabbit dies, I hope your. See hope . . . A variant is may your rabbit die!

rabbit-hunting—or (a) coney-catching—with a dead ferret, go. To undertake something with unsuitable or useless means: coll.: ca. 1670–1820. Ray; Fuller, 1732.

rabbit-pie. A harlot: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ex rabbit, live, q.v. also for phrase.

rabbit-pie shifter. A policeman: low London: ca. 1870–1920. Barrère & Leland quote a music-hall song of ca. 1870, 'Never to take notice of vulgar nicknames, such as "slop", "copper", "rabbit-pie shifter", "peeler".'

rabbit-skin; occ. cat-skin. An academical hood: university: from ca. 1850; ob. Cf.:

rabbit-skin, get one's. To obtain the B.A. degree: university: from ca. 1850; ob. Ex preceding; the trimming is of rabbit's fur.

rabbit-sucker. A young spendthrift 'taking up Goods upon Tick at excessive rates', B.E.: c. of C. 17–early 19. Dekker. Prob. ex Shakespearian sense, 'baby' rabbits. Cf. pursenets, q.v.—2. Also, a pawnbroker; a tally-man: c. or low s.: ca. 1720–60. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

rabbiter. A side-handed blow on the nape of the neck: Winchester College: from ca. 1875. As in killing a rabbit.—2. In pl., a form of punishment: Charterhouse: C. 19. A. H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.

rabbits out of the wood! It's 'splendid' or sheer profit or a windfall!: racing c.p. (—1932). See Slang, p. 245, note 15.

rabbit's punch. A cuff on the nape of the neck: pugilistic: from ca. 1920. (The Daily Telegraph, Jan. 30, 1936.) Ex one method of killing rabbits. Cf. rabbiter, 1, q.v.

rabble. Fun of any sort; as v.i., to 'rag': Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

rabsha(c)kle. A profligate: coll.: ? C. 17–18. F. & H.: but who else? Cf. S.E. ramshackle.

race-card, the. The morning sick-report: jocular military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. The odds are heavily against the 'entrants'.

Rachel or rachel, v. To rejuvenate; renovate: ca. 1890–5. Ex Madame Rachel, the 'beautiful for ever' swindler. (The C. 20 is kinder to such impositions.) rack. A bone, gen. in pl.: slaughterers' coll. >, ca. 1890, j.: 1851, Mayhew.—2. A rib of mutton: Winchester School coll. (—1870). Ex S.E., a neck of mutton.

rack, stand the. To stand the strain: low: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. I.e. the racket.

rack off. To make water: low coll.: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex wine-making.

rack-rider. The samlet: Northern fishermen's coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Because gen. it appears in bad weather.

rackaback. A 'gormagon', q.v.: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 3rd ed.

rackabimus. 'A sudden or unexpected stroke or fall', Jamieson, who adds that 'It resembles racket': Scots: late C. 18–19.

racket. A dodge, trick; plan; 'line', occupation, esp. if these are criminal or 'shady': c. (—1812) >, ca. 1860, low s. >, ca. 1930, gen. s.; it now verges on coll. Vaux. Ex racket, noise, disturbance.—2. Esp. as in be in a racket, be privy to an illicit design, and as set forth in Egan's Groser, 1823, 'Some particular kinds of fraud and robbery are so termed, when called by their flash'—i.e. underworld—'names; as the Letter-racket; the Order-racket . . . In fact, any game'—i.e., illicit occupation or trick—'may be termed a racket . . . by prefixing thereto the particular branch of depredation or fraud in question.' Whence the various U.S. 'rackets': see esp. Irwin. Cf. racket-man.—3. See racquet.

racket, stand the. To take the blame for one's gang: c. (—1823) >, by 1850, s. >, by 1900, coll. 'Jon Bee'.—2. Hence, to pay the bill, stand the expense: late C. 19–20: s. >, by 1930, coll.

racket-man. A thief: c.: from ca. 1850; ob. Mayhew. Ex racket, 2.

raclan. A married woman: tramps' c.: from ca. 1830. Brandon. Cf. Romany rakli, a girl.

racquet 'is . . . incorrect . . . [The implement used in lawn tennis] is spelt "racket" in all the official books of the various associations, and nearly all the authorities from the early days up to the present time spell it thus. In some mysterious way it has got mixed up with the French spelling "raquette", Sir Gordon Lowe, May, 1935, in Lowe's Lawn Tennis Annual (1935).

rad. A Radical: political s., in C. 20 coll.: 1831, The Lincoln Herald, Jan. 7 (O.E.D.). Disraeli in Coningsby, 'They say the Rads are going to throw us over'.—2. A radiator: servants': from ca. 1905. Francis E. Brett Young, White Ladies, 1935, 'The rads are stone-cold.'

Radder, the. The Radcliffe Camera: Oxford undergraduates': C. 20. Collinson. By 'the Oxford-er'.

raddled. Tipsy: late C. 17–18. Motteux. Cf. dial. raddle, to do anything to excess; but more prob. ex raddle, to colour coarsely with red.—2. (Of a face) much made-up: pejorative coll.: from ca. 1920. Collinson. Ex raddle, red ochre.

rafe or Ralph. A pawn-ticket: low; esp. at Norwich: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed.

Rafferty rules. No rules at all, esp. as applied to boxing—'M.Q. (and Rafferty) rules' is the heading of a boxing section in The Sydney Bulletin of 1935—hence to a 'rough house'; according to Rafferty rules, without rule or restraint or, in politics, honour: Australian coll. (—1914). Ex dial. raffatory, raffertory, ref(f)atory: refractory (E.D.D.).

Raffish. Connected with the Royal Aircraft Factory: Air Force: 1915; ob.. F. & Gibbons. Punning S.E. raffish.

raffle-coffin. A ruffian, lit. a resurrectionist: C. 19 low coll. Corruption of rifle(-coffin).

raffs. 'An appellation given by the gowmsmen of the university of Oxford to the inhabitants of that place', Grose, 1785: coll.: ca. 1780–1920. Cf. riff-raff.

rag. (See the S.E. list at beginning of R.—) 2. A farthing: e.: ca. 1690–1850. B.E.; Egan's Grose. Because of so little value.—3. A bank-note: 1811, Lex. Bal., which proves that rag also = bank-notes collectively.—4. Hence, money in gen.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.—5. A flag: from ca. 1700: coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Kipling, 1892. Cf. rag, order of the, q.v.—6. The curtain: theatrical and showmen's: from ca. 1875.—7. Hence, a dénouement, a 'curtain': id.: from ca. 1880.—8. A street tumbler: circus: 1875, The Athenæum, April 24.—9. See rag, order of the.—10. The tongue: from ca. 1825. Ex rag, red, q.v.—11. Talk; banter, abuse: from ca. 1880. Gen. ragging. Cf.:—12. A jollification, esp. and orig. an undergraduates' display of noisy, disorderly conduct and great high spirits, considered by the perpetrators as excellent fun and by many outsiders as 'a bloody nuisance': university >, ca. 1910, very common in the Army and Navy; by 1930, pretty gen.: 1892, The Isis, 'The College is preparing for a good old rag to-night,' O.E.D.; The Daily Mail, March 10, 1900, 'There was keen excitement at Cambridge yesterday when the magistrates proceeded to deal with the last two prosecutions of students arising out of the notorious rag in celebration of the relief of Lady-smith'; but in existence from ca. 1860 (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex the S.E. v., to annoy, tease.—13. See Rag, the, three senses.—14. See rags.

rag, v.t. and i. To question vigorously or jocularly; waylay, or assail, roughly and noisily; to create a disturbance, hold a 'rag' (see n., 12): university: The Isis, 1896, 'The difficulty of "ragging" with impunity has long been felt,' O.E.D.; but implied by Baumann in 1887 and, in the first nuance, recorded by O.E.D. (Sup.) for 1891. Perhaps abbr. of bully-rag. Origin: see rag, n., 12.—2. Hence, to wreck, make a mess of, by way of a rag: Public Schools': 1904, P. G. Wodehouse, The Gold Bat, 'Mills is awfully barred in Seymour's. Anybody might have ragged his study.' In c. (mainly of Norwich) to divide (esp. plunder): 1860, H., 2nd ed. Prob. ex, or at the least cognate with, the † S.E. sense, to tear in pieces. Also go rags.

rag, chew the. To scold, complain; sulk or brood: low and military, 1888. Ex rag, tongue.

rag, dish of red. Abuse: low: from ca. 1820; ob. Egan, Anecdotes of the Turf, 'She tipped the party such a dish of red rag as almost to create a riot in the street.' See rag, red.

rag, have two shirts and a. To be comfortably off: coll.: ca. 1670–1800. Ray.

rag, lose one's. To lose one's temper: Glasgow (—1934). Ex rag out, get one's: q.v.

rag, order of the. (Preceded by the). The military profession: coll.: 1751, Fielding; slightly ob. See rag, 5.

rag, red. (Also red flannel.) The tongue: low: late C. 17–20; slightly ob. B.E., Grose, Combe, Bruton (1826, 'Say . . . why that red rag . . . is now so mute'), W. S. Gilbert, 1876. See rag, n., 10, and cf. Rag, the, q.v.

rag, sky the. To throw in the towel: Australian boxing (—1916). C. J. Dennis.

Rag, the. The Army and Navy Club: naval and military: 1839 (see The Times Literary Supplement, June 21, 1934, in its review of Capt. C. W. Firebrace's The Army and Navy Club, 1837–1933,—published in 1934). Ex an officer's description of a meal there as 'a rag and famish affair'. Also the Rag and Famish.—2. 'The Raglan' public-house: London: from ca. 1864. Ex Lord Raglan, the British Commander in the Crimean War. (Near Leather Lane: see esp. Greenwood, The Seven Curses of London, 1869.)—3. (Also the rag.) The regimental brothel: Indian Army (non-officers') from ca. 1880. Frank Richards, Old-Soldier Sahib, 1936.

rag, too much red. Loquacious: low: from ca. 1840. See rag, red.

rag, win the shiny. See shiny rag . . .

rag, without a; not a rag (left). Penniless: coll.: late C. 16–20; ob. Shakespeare, 'Not a rag of money', though here rag rather = 'scrap'; B.E.

rag a holiday, give the red. To be silent: low: from ca. 1850; ob. See rag, n., 10.

rag about. To fool about: C. 20: orig. and mainly universities': Collinson. See rag, v., 1.

rag-(and-bone)-shop. A very dirty and untidy room: coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Baumann.—2. Hence, a woman in rags: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon. Occ. corrupted to ragaboneshop.

Rag and Famish. See Rag, the, 1. This form is perhaps ex 'Ensign Rag and Captain Famish, imaginary characters, out of which Leech some years back obtained much amusement', H., 5th ed., 1874; but see Rag, the.

rag-bag or -doll. A slattern: coll.: from ca. 1862.

rag-box or -shop. The mouth: low: from ca. 1890. Kipling, 1892, 'You shut up your rag-box and 'ark to my lay.'

rag-carrier. An ensign: 1785, Grose; † by 1890. Ex rag, n., 5.

rag-fair. An inspection of soldiers' kit-bags, etc.: 1785, Grose; ob. by 1915: military. Ex the S.E. sense, an old-clothes market at Houndsditch, London: which, contrary to F. & H., is certainly S.E.

rag-gorger or gorgy. See rag-splawger.

rag-mannered. Violently coarse or vulgar; coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

rag money. Bank notes, bills of exchange, etc.: from ca. 1860: coll. till C. 20, then S.E.

rag on every bush, (oh,) he has a. He is, or is in the habit of, paying marked attention to more than one girl at a time: from ca. 1860; ob.

rag out, v.i. To show the white flag or feather: ca. 1880–1910.

rag out, get one's. To bluster (ob.); to grow angry: low: from ca. 1880. Explained by the synonymous get one's shirt out, 2, and by rag, n., 10.

rag-sauce. Chatter; impudence: low: from ca. 1840. Egan. Ex rag, n., 10.

rag-seeker. See rag-sooker. rag-shop. See rag-box.—2. See rag-and-bone shop.—3. A bank : c. or low s. : 1860, H., 2nd ed. ; ob. Whence : rag-shop boss or cove. A banker : from ca. 1865 ; ob.—2. See :
rag-shop cove. A cashier : low : from ca. 1865.—2. See preceding entry.
rag-sooker, occ. -seeker. C. as in Anon.'s The Tramp Exposed, 1878, 'The ragsooker, an instrument attached to the end of a long pole for removing clothes-pins from the lines, and afterwards dragging the released clothes over the fence.' Cf. angler. rag-splawger. A rich man : low (if not orig. c.) : ca. 1858–1900. H., 1st ed., 1859 ; Baumann. Gen. 'used in conversation to avoid direct mention of names'. Also rag-gorger or (Vaux) gorgy : low (perhaps orig. c.) : ca. 1820–1900. See gorger. rag-stabber. A tailor : from ca. 1870 ; ob. Also stab-rag, q.v. Cf. snip, q.v. rag-stick. An umbrella, esp. if 'loose and unreefed' : lower classes' (—1909). Ware. rag-tacker. A coach-trimmer : ca. 1820–70.—2. A dressmaker : ca. 1850–1920.
rag-tailed. Tattered ; of, or like, a ragamuffin : coll. (—1887). Baumann.
rag-time, adj. Merry : coll. : from 1901 or 1902.—2. Haphazard ; carelessly happy-go-lucky ; farcical : coll. : from ca. 1910. Esp. in a rag-time army : military coll. : from 1915. Cf. Fred Karno's army. B. & P. Cf. the naval coll., from 1915, rag-time navy, esp. of the auxiliary patrol during the G.W. : Bowen. Cf. : rag-time girl. A sweetheart ; a girl with whom one has a joyous time ; a harlot : all, from 1901 or 1902. Ex rag-time (music) = jazz. Cf. jazz.
rag-trade. The purchasing of false bank-notes, which are then palmed off on strangers : 1843, Marryat : mostly U.S. ; ob.—2. Tailoring ; dress-making ; the dry-goods trade in gen. : from ca. 1880 : coll. Barrère & Leland.
rag-waggon. A sailing-ship : steam or turbine, esp. if Australian (or American) : seamen's pejorative : from ca. 1910. Bowen. I.e. rag, set of sails. rag-water. Any inferior spirits : late C. 17—early 19. B.E.—2. Esp. gin : ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 2nd ed., 'These liquors seldom failing to reduce those that drink [such spirits] to rags' : which is not an etymology but a pun. ragaboneshop. See rag-and-bone shop, 2.
rage, the. The fashion or vogue : 1785, The New Rosciad, 'Tis the rage in this great raging Nation, | Who wou'd live and not be in the fashion ?' Coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Cf. go.
rager. An old, fierce 'bullock or cow that always begins to rage in the stock-yard', Morris : Australian coll. : 1884, 'Rolf Boldrewood'. ragged. Collapsed : rowing s., says F. & H., 1902 ; but † by 1920.—2. Inferior, wretched (game, form, display) : coll. (—1887) ; from ca. 1920, verging on S.E. Baumann.—3. (Of time, a period) wretched, unfortunate, ill-starred : coll. (—1887). Baumann, 'A ragged week'. ragged-arise, adj. Tattered ; fig., disreputable, ruined : a vulg. : from ca. 1880.
Ragged Brigade, the. The 13th Hussars : military : C. 19–20 ; ob. (In early C. 19, also the 14th Hussars). Ex their tattered uniforms. F. & Gibbons. Also the Evergreens, Green Dragons, and Great Runaway Prestonpans.

ragged robin. A keeper's follower : New Forest s. or dial. : from ca. 1860. (Rare in singular.)
ragged soph. See soph. ragger. One given to 'ragging' (see rag, v., 1) schools' (—1923). Manchon. raggery. Clothes, esp. women's : coll. bordering on S.E. : very ob. Thackeray, 1855, 'Old hags . . . draped in majestic raggery'. Cf. Fr. chiffons. raggie, raggy. A particular friend (ex the sharing of brass-cleaning rags : Bowen) ; but gen. in pl., as be raggies, to be steady chums : naval (—1909). Ware implies that it is mildly pejorative. raggy, adj. Annoyed, 'shirty' : 1900, G. Swift (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex rag out, get one's.
raging favourite. A coll. variant (—1887) of a hot favourite. Baumann.
rags. See rag, n., 4.—2. rags, go. See rag, v., c. sense. H., 3rd ed.—3. 'Old lace used for decorative purposes' : art s. verging on coll. and j. : from ca. 1880 ; ob. Ware.—4. A steward in charge of the linen : nautical : late C. 19–20. Bowen.—5. A low-class harlot : proletarian (—1935). rags, flash one's. To display, gen. ostentatiously, one's bank notes : low (? orig. c.) : from ca. 1860.
rags, glad. See glad rags. rags a gallop, tip one's. To move ; depart, esp. if hastily : low : 1870, Hazlewood & Williams, in Leave It to Me, 'I see ; told you to tip your rags a gallop, and you won't go.' Here tip = give.
rags and bones. The Salvage Corps ; a member thereof ; an officer in charge thereof : military : 1915 ; ob. F. & Gibbons. rags and jags. Tatters : coll. : from ca. 1860 ; very ob. rags and sticks. A travelling outfit : showmen's and low theatrical : from ca. 1870. Hindley, 1876, 'Rags and sticks, as a theatrical booth is always termed'.
rah ! A coll. abbr. of hurrah ! : orig. and mainly U.S., anglicised ca. 1910. N.b., rah ! (shouted thrice) forms the termination of the Maori war-cry, now—and since late C. 19—affected by Maori and other New Zealand Rugby teams. rail-bird. A tout watcher of race-horses being exercised : sporting, esp. turf : from ca. 1890 ; slightly ob. Ex his vantage-point on gate or hurdle. (Ware.)
railings, count the. To go hungry : low : from ca. 1860 ; slightly ob. See also Spitalfields breakfast. railly. Really : a sol. (or an ignorantly affected) pronunciation (—1887). Baumann. railroading. See jarring.
rails. See head rails.—2. rails, dish of. 'A lecture, jobation, or scolding from a married woman to her husband', Grose, 1st ed. (where misplaced) : late C. 18—mid-19.—3. Railway stocks and shares. Stock Exchange coll. (—1887). Baumann, 'home—s, englische Eisenbahnaktien'. rails, front. The teeth : low : C. 19–20 ; slightly ob. Also head-rails, q.v. rails, off the. Not in normal or proper state or condition ; 'morally or mentally astray' : 1859, Gen. P. Thomson : coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Ex railway phraseology. (O.E.D.) Railway Men, the. Swindon Football Club ('soccer') : sporting : C. 20. A noted railway junction. Cf. Biscuit Men and Toffee Men.
railways. Red stockings worn by women : railwaymen's (—1909). Ware. Ex red signal.

rain, (know enough to) get out of the. To (be shrewd enough to) look after oneself, e.g. to refrain from meddling: to be common-sensical: coll.: 1848, Durivage, 'Ham was one of 'em—he was. He knew sufficient to get out of the rain'; but anticipated by H. Buttes in 1599: 'Fooles . . . have the wit to keep themselves out of the raine' (O.E.D.). In Australia, to keep out of the rain (C. J. Dennis): cf. U.S. go in when it rains.—2. Hence, get out of the rain, 'to absent oneself when there's likely to be any trouble' (Lyell): coll.: C. 20.

rain, right as. See right as . . .

rain-napper. An umbrella: low: ca. 1820–1910. Moncrieff, 1823; H., 1874; Baumann.

rain trams and omnibuses. A coll. variant (–1923) of rain cats and dogs. Manchon.

rainbow. A discoloured bruise: from ca. 1810; ob. (O.E.D.). An excellent example of what G. K. Chesterton well names the poetry of slang.—2. A mistress: ca. 1820–70. Egan, Life in London, 1821, 'The pink of the ton and his rainbow.' Because dressed in a variety of colours.—3. A footman: from ca. 1820; very ob. Egan, ibid., 'It was the custom of Logic never to permit the Rainbow to announce him.' Abbr. rainbow, knight of the, q.v.—4. A pattern-book: ca. 1820–60. Egan, ibid. Ex the variety of colours.—5. A sovereign: costers': from ca. 1850; ob. Perhaps suggested by rhino, for rainbow is in Costerese pronounced rinebo; perhaps, however, ex rainbow as a sign of better weather—as a sovereign is of better times.—6. A post-Armistice reinforcement or recruit: military: late 1918–19. F. & Gibbons, 'As arriving after the storm was over'.

rainbow, knight of the. A footman in livery. Grose, 1785. See knight.

rains, the. The rainy season: Anglo-Indian coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): 1616, Sir T. Roe. Yule & Burnell.

Rainy Day Smith. J. T. Smith (1766–1833): from 1845, when his fascinating Book for a Rainy Day was published; it was reprinted, with excellent notes by 'John o' London' (W. Whitten).

raise. A rise in salary: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex U.S. sense, an(y) improvement (1728: O.E.D. Sup.).

raise, v.i. To rise: in late C. 19–20 ranked as sol. 'The ball didn't raise an inch.'

raise a barney. See raise a barney.—raise Cain. See Cain.

raise-mountain. A boaster: coll.: ? C. 17–18. F. & H.

Rajah, the. The Mogul (place of entertainment): Drury Lane district: ca. 1850–80. Ware.

rake. A comb: jocular: from ca. 1860. Also, garden-rake and, ca. 1840–60, raker: low, says Ware.

rake, v.i. and t. To steal from a letter-box: c. (–1933). Charles E. Leach. Gen. as vbl.n. (raking).

rake-jakes. A blackguard: C. 18–20; ob. Rhyming on jakes, q.v. Cf. S.E. rake-kennel.

rake off. A(n) unlawful profit; a commission: orig. (1899), U.S.; anglicised as coll. ca. 1920. Thornton; O.E.D. (Sup.).

rake out. To coit with (a woman): low: C. 19–20.

rake the pot. To take the stakes: racing: from ca. 1825. See pot, n., 1.

raked fore and aft. Desperately in love: naval: late C. 19–20. Ex damage done by well-directed shelling. (Ware.)

raker. A very fast pace: coll.: 1876 (S.O.D.). Perhaps ex rake, (of hunting dogs) to run head down.—2. A heavy bet: sporting: 1869, Bradwood, The O.V.H. (O.E.D.); 1884, Hawley Smart, in From Post to Finish; 1891, The Sportsman, March 25, 'Jennings . . . stood to win a raker . . . over Lord George.' Esp. in go a raker (cf. sense 1), to bet heavily or, more gen., recklessly (1869).—3. See rake, n.—4. A good stroke: golfers' coll.: 1899 (O.E.D. Sup.).

rakes, carry heavy. To swagger; put on 'side': C. 17 coll. Terence in English, 1614.

raking. See rake, v.

ral, the. The admiral: naval (–1909). Ware.

rally-o(h)! Proceed vigorously: Conway c.p. of encouragement (–1891). John Masefield's history of the Conway training ship, 1933.

Ralph, ralph. See rafe.—2. In printers' s., from ca. 1860, ob. by 1930, 'The supposed author of the tricks played upon a recalcitrant member of a chapel (q.v.)', F. & H.

Ralph Spooner. A fool: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. In Suffolk dial., Ralph or Rafe means the same thing (E.D.D.).

ram. An act of coition: low: C. 19–20. Cf. S.E. ram-rod, the penis. Ex v., 1.—2. A crowd; a crush: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1880. (Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.) Ex the force of a battering ram. Cf. v., 2.

ram. To coit with (a woman): low: C. 19–20. Cf. poke and ride.—2. V.t., to get (a boy) off a punishment: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1880. (D. Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.)

ram and dam(n). A muzzle-loading gun: jocular coll.: 1866; ob. (O.E.D.)

ram booze. See rum booze.

ram-cat; ram-cat cove. A man wearing furs: c.: from ca. 1860. Ex ram-cat, a he cat.

ram-jam. A surfeit: s. and dial.: from ca. 1885. Ex ram-jam full, q.v.

ram-jam, v. To stuff (esp. with food): from ca. 1885. Ex:

ram-jam full. Packed absolutely full: dial. and (mostly U.S.) s.: 1879, Waugh. O.E.D.

ram-reel. A dance, men only: Scots coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): C. 19–20. D. Anderson, 1813, 'The chairs they coup, they hurl an' loup, | A ram-reel now they're wantin'. Cf. bull-dance and stag-party.

ram-rod. A ball bowled along the ground: Winchester School: from ca. 1840. (Also ray-monder.) Mansfield. Ex the straightness of its 'flight'.

Ramasammy or r. A Hindu: Southern India. An Indian coolie in Ceylon: Ceylon. This coll. (–1886) is a corruption of Ramaswami, a frequent Hindu surname in Southern India. Yule & Burnell.—2. Whence, in Natal and the Cape, this word is used as a generic name for Indian coolies', Pettmann, Africanderisms, 1913.

rambounge. 'A severe brush of labour', Jamieson: Scots: late C. 18–mid-19. This ram is the dial. prefix = strong; very. Cf.:

rambustious, ramgumption. See rambustious, ramgumption. (Cf. U.S. rambunctious, 1854. Thornton.)

ramfeeled. Exhausted, worn out: mostly dial., whence, ca. 1890–1910, coll.

ramiram. Incorrect for ramizan, ramadan: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

ramjollock. To shuffle (cards): C. 19. ? lit., jumble well. Also late C. 19-20 Shropshire dial.: E.D.D.

rammaged. Topsy: Scots coll. (F. & H.) or, more prob., dial.: late C. 18-20. Ex ramished.

rammed up, ppl.adj. Crowded; chock-a-block: Public Schools': C. 20. Desmond Coke, The School across the Road, 1910. Ex ram, v., 2.

rammer. An arm: c.: late C. 18-20; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

ramming. Forceful, pushing: 1825, The Sporting Magazine, 'The most ramming . . . cove you ever saw perform', O.E.D.; ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. Ex ram, the animal.

rammo. The former naval evolution, 'Prepare aloft for action': bluejackets': late C. 18-mid-19. Bowen. Ex ramming a ship.

rammy. A 'row', quarrel, altercation: Glasgow (— 1934). Perhaps ex on the rampage.

Ramnuggar Boys, the. The 14th (King's) Hussars: military: from 1848; ob. In this battle, they bravely encountered tremendous odds. F. & Gibbons. Also the Emperor's Chambermaids.

ramp. A robbery with violence: c.: Vaux, 1812; ob. Moncrieff, 1830, 'And ramp so plummy'. Ex ramp, to storm, rage, violently, or v.t., to snatch, tear.—2. A swindle: c. >, by 1905, s.: from ca. 1880. G. R. Sims.—3. Hence, a swindle 'depending on an artificial boom in prices': 1922. S.O.D.—4. A footpad and garrotter: c.: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. ramper.—5. A race-course trickster: c.: from ca. 1860. Also, rampsmen (H., 1st ed., 1859) and ramper, as in H., 5th ed., 1874, and in Runciman's Chequers, 1876, 'A man who is a racecourse thief and ramper hailed me affably': cf. the quotation at ramper.—6. A hallmark: c.: 1879, Horsley. Ex the rampant lion forming part of the essay stamp for gold and silver (F. & H.).—7. See ramps.—8. A parody: a skit: book-world: 1934.—9. A counter (in a shop, etc.): c. (— 1935). David Hume. One climbs over it.

ramp, v.t. To thief or rob with violence: c. (— 1811) >, ca. 1860, low s. Lex. Bal.; Vaux; H., 1st ed. See ramp, n., 1, for origin. Cf. rank and rant, hereinunder.—2. Esp. to force (a person) to pay an alleged debt: c.: 1897, The Daily News, Sept. 3, 'Charge of "ramping" a book-maker', O.E.D.; but it must be at least as early as the horse-racing sense of ramper (see ramp, n., 4).—3. To change the colour of (a horse): c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

ramp, on the. Engaged in swindling: c.: late C. 19-20. Manchon.—2. On a 'spree': low (— 1923). Ibid.—3. Finding fault: Glasgow (— 1934).

rampacious. An illiterate form of S.E. rampageous. Manchon.—2. Hence, mad: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

ramper and rampsman. See ramp, n., 5. Cf. The Daily News, Oct. 12, 1887, "'Rampers", i.e. men who claimed to have made bets to bookmakers, and hustled and surrounded them if they refused to pay' (O.E.D.). Cf. ramping.—2. (ramper only.) A noisy, turbulent street-ranger, esp. if a youth: low London (— 1909); ob. Ware.

ramping. The practice described in sense 1 of preceding entry: c. (— 1891) >, by 1905, s.

ramping, adj. and adv. Rampant(ly): lower classes' coll. (— 1887). Baumann has ramping mad.

ramps. A got-up quarrel or 'row' to cover a theft or a swindle: c. (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. ramp, n., 1 and 2.

ramps, the. A brothel: Regular Army's: late C. 19-20. B. & P. Perhaps ex rampant or on the rampage.

rampsman. See ramper.—ramrod. See ram-rod. ramrod-bunger. An infantryman: military (— 1923). Manchon.

Rams, the. Derby County 'soccer' team: sporting: late C. 19-20. Ex the famous breed of Derbyshire rams.

ram's challenge. See give the ram's challenge ram's horn. One who shouts as he talks: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

Ramsgate Jimmy. Ranjitsinhji (see Ranji): Cockneys' nickname: 1893; † by 1930. See esp. Roland Wild, Ranji, 1934. By 'Hobson-Jobson.'

ran-cat cove. See ram-cat.—ran-tan, on the. See rantan.

rancid. Very objectionable or unpleasant: upper classes': from ca. 1910. Barry Pain, Stories in Grey, 1912, 'Black kid gloves, the most rancid form of gloves'; E. F. Benson, David of King's, 1924, 'How frightfully rancid!'; John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934. Prob. after putrid, q.v.

Randal's-man or randlesman. A green handkerchief white-spotted: pugilistic (— 1839); ob. Ex the colours of Jack Randal, the famous early C. 19 boxer. (Brandon.)

randan. See rantan.

randem-(or random-)tandem. Three horses driven tandem: from ca. 1870: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; ob. Ex:—2. Adv. In that manner in which three horses are harnessed tandem: 1805: coll. >, by 1870, S.E. Ex S.E. randan on tandem. Also, as in H., 1860, random.

randle. 'A set of nonsense verses, repeated in Ireland by school boys, and young people, who have been guilty of breaking wind backwards, before any of their companions; if they neglect this apology, they are liable to certain kicks, pinches, and fillips, which are accompanied with diverse admonitory couplets,' Grose, 1785; ob. by 1880, † by 1930. Whence:

randle, v. To punish (a schoolboy) for breaking wind: C. 19. Halliwell. Ex preceding.—2. See randling which is much commoner than the v. proper.

randlesman. See Randal's-man.

randling. The punishment, by hair-pulling, of an apprentice refusing to join his fellows in taking a holiday: mostly at Birkenhead: 1879, Notes and Queries. Ob.

random. See randem-tandem.

Randy. Lord Randolph Churchill: nickname (— 1887); † by 1920. Baumann.

randy. Violent; esp. sexually warm, lecherous: from ca. 1780: dial. and coll.; in C. 20, mainly dial. Burns, 1785; Lex. Bal., 1811; Halliwell 1847; E.D.D. ? ex rand, to rave.

randy beggar. A Gypsy tinker: Northern coll. (— 1874) and dial. (— 1806). H., 5th ed.; E.D.D. Ex preceding.

randy Richard. See Richard, 2.

randyvoo. A tavern that is the resort of recruiting sergeants: military (— 1909). Ware.—2. Hence, noise and wrangling: mostly military (— 1909). Ware. Ex rendez-vous.

ranger. The penis: low: C. 18-20. Ex range, to be inconstant.—2. See Atlantic ranger.

Rangers, the. The Connaught Rangers: military coll. (C. 19), now S.E. (F. & Gibbons.)

[ranging, n. 'Intriguing, enjoying many Women' is S.E.: not, as B.E. says, c.]

rangling. Misprint in Lex. Bal. and Egan's Grose for the preceding.

rank. To cheat: c. and low s. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Prob. ramp corrupted, with some influence exercised by U.S. outrank, 1842, and rank, 1860, to take precedence of (Thornton). Cf. rant.

rank and riches; or hyphenated. Breeches: rhyming s.: 1887, 'Dagonet' Sims.

rank and smell. A common person: lower classes': ca. 1870–1905. Ware. Punning rank, smelly and (high) rank + 'swell'.

[rank-rider, highwayman, jockey: S.E., says O.E.D.; c., says B.E.: the former, right.]

ranker. An officer risen from the ranks: 1874, H., 5th ed.; 1878, Besant & Rice, 'Every regiment has its rankers; every ranker his story': coll. till ca. 1915, then S.E.—2. A corruption of rank duffer: low London: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed.

rant. To appropriate forcibly: low (— 1887). Walford's Antiquarian. Corruption of ramp, v.—2. To be unduly free with (females): low (— 1887). Ibid. Perhaps ex ramp, v., 1, influenced by S.E.; rantipole, v.; more prob. a dial. form of rend (see E.D.D.). rantallion. 'One whose scrotum is so relaxed as to be longer than his penis', Grose, 1st ed.: low: ca. 1780–1850. Cognate with, perhaps even a blend of, 'rantipole' and 'rapscallion', so closely related to each other in meaning.

, rantan; ran-tan. Also randan. A spree: from ca. 1710: coll. >, in C. 19, S.E. except as in the next entry; by itself, randan (etc.) is extremely ob. ? ex at random.—2. Hence, a riotous person: coll. soon > S.E.: 1809; ob. by 1890, † by 1920. (O.E.D.)

rantan, on the. On the spree; drunk: coll.: from ca. 1760; slightly ob.; since 1853, gen. in the form, on the ran-tan. See preceding.

rantipole, ride. Same as ride St George (see riding . . .). Low: late C. 18–19. Grose, 2nd ed.

rantum-scantum. Copulation, esp. in play at r.-s. (Grose, 2nd ed.): low: mid-C. 18–early 19. ? a rhyming combination ex † S.E. rant, to be boisterous or noisily gay; cognate with rantipole.—2. A wordy and mutual recrimination: low: ca. 1820–95. 'Jon Bee'; Baumann.

Ranzo. 'A native of the Azores, from the number named Alonzo who shipped in the whalers, where "Rueben [sic] Ranzo" was a favourite shanty': nautical coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen.

rap, n. See rap, on the, and rap, take the.—3. A charge; a case: c.: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'That is if they did not do [arrest] him on this murder rap.'

rap, v.t. To barter; 'swop': late C. 17–20: s. († by 1850) and dial. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps ex ob. S.E. sense, to transport, remove.—2. V.i., to take a false oath: c.: from ca. 1740; † by 1890. Fielding, in Jonathan Wild, 'He [is] a pitiful fellow who would stick at a little rapping for a friend'; Id., Amelia, I, ch. X, the footnote establishing the c. origin; Grose, 2nd ed. Perhaps ex rap (out) an oath.—3. Also, v.t., to swear (something, against a person): 1733, Budgell, 'He ask'd me what they had to rap against me, I told him only a Tankard.' O.E.D.—4. To knock out; to kill: e., esp. Australian > low s.: 1888, Rolf Boldrewood, 'If he tries to draw a weapon, or move ever so little, he's rapped at that second'; ob. Ex Scots rap, 'to knock heavily; to strike', E.D.D.

rap, not care a. To care not at all: 1834: coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E. Ex rap, an Irish counterfeit halfpenny.

rap, on the. On a bout of dissipation; slightly drunk: low (— 1893). Milliken, 'The way the passengers stared at me showed I was fair on the rap.'

rap, take the. To be (punished or) imprisoned, esp. for another: orig. (late C. 19 or first decade of C. 20), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1920: low s. verging on c.

rape. A pear: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. rapped, ppl.adj. Ruined: from ca. 1870; ob.—2. (Killed) dead: low (? orig. c.): from ca. 1888. See rap, v., last sense.

[rapper, an arrant lie: S.E., declares O.E.D.; coll., F. & H. Arising early in C. 17, this sense is prob. best considered as coll. until ca. 1850, then S.E.; in C. 20, it is mostly dial. See esp. Grose, P.]

rapping. Perjury: mid-C. 18–19. 'Ducange Anglicus.' See rap, v., 2 and 3.

rare. Excellent, fine, splendid, as applied to comparatively trivial objects; often ironically. Coll.: 1596, Shakespeare, 'Master Bassanio, who indeed gives rare new liveries'; 1878, Mrs. Henry Wood, 'Guy will about die of it . . . Rare fun if he does.'—2. As an intensive: coll.: 1833, Harriet Martineau, 'They put me in a rare passion.' (Both senses, O.E.D.) Cf.:

rare and (another adj.) A coll. intensive: 1848, Mrs. Gaskell, 'We got a good supper, and grew rare and sleepy,' O.E.D.; slightly ob. except in Northern dial.

rarebit, Welsh. Welsh rabbit: this sol. would seem to have been inaugurated by Grose in 1785: 'A Welsh rabbit, bread and cheese toasted, i.e. a Welsh rare bit.' With Welsh rabbit cf. Bombay duck; for alteration, cf. catsup for ketchup. (W.) rarefied. Tamed, subdued: Society: ca. 1855–90. Ware. Ex one Rarey (1828–66), a horse-tamer.

rarely or ever. Almost never: a catachresis caused by a confusion of rarely if ever and rarely or never: 1768, Anon., 'But those schemes . . . rarely or ever answer the end.' O.E.D.

rarified. A frequent error for rarefied.

rarze(r). A 'raspberry' (sense 1): theatrical: C. 20. B. & P. (at raspberry in 3rd ed.). By 'the Oxford -er'. Also spelt ras in its shorter form.

rascal. 'A man without genitals', Grose, 1785: low: ca. 1750–1850. Ex deer.

rasher of bacon. Some fiery liquor: ca. 1750–70. Toldervy, 1756. See quotation at slug, n., 1.

rasher of wind. A very thin person: from ca. 1860; slightly ob. Cf. yard of pump-water.—2. Any person or thing of negligible account: from ca. 1890. The Daily Telegraph, April 7, 1899, 'Lets 'em howl, an' sweat, an' dic, an' goes on all the time, as if they was jest rashers o' wind'.

rasp. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20; ob.—2. See rasp, do a.

rasp, v.i. and t. To coit (with): low: C. 19–20; ob. Rare compared with:

rasp, do a. To coit: low: C. 19–20. Gen. of the male: for semantics, see pucker-water, which not only astringes but roughens and hardens.

rasp, get the. A variant of berry, get the.

Raspberries, the. The King's Royal Rifle Corps: military: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the colour of their (former) facings.

raspberry. A disapproving, fart-like noise, described by F. & H. as stable s., but gen. considered to be theatrical of late C. 19-20. Ex raspberry-tart, 1. Cf. rarzer.—2. Hence, a gesture or a sign made in disapproval: theatrical: from the middle 1890's.—3. Abbr. raspberry-tart, 2: low, mainly military: late C. 19-20.

raspberry, get or give the. To 'get the bird', to be 'hissed'; to 'hiss': theatrical: late C. 19-20. Mainly and properly when the disapprobation is shown by a raspberry, 1.

raspberry, old. See old raspberry.

raspberry-tart. A breaking of wind: low rhyming s. on fart: from ca. 1875.—2. The heart: rhyming s.: from ca. 1890. 'Pomes' Marshall, in the Sporting Times, Oct. 29, 1892, 'Then I sallied forth with a careless air, | And contented raspberry-tart.' (In U.S., though now ob., a dainty girl: cf. Eng. jam-tart.)

rasper. A difficult high fence: hunting s. (1812) >, ca. 1840, j. >, ca. 1870, S.E. (O.E.D.) Ainsworth, 1834, 'A stiff fence, captain—a reg'lar rasper'.—2. 'A person or thing of sharp, harsh, or unpleasant character': 1839, Dickens, 'He's what you may a-call a rasper, is Nickleby.' O.E.D.—3. Anything that, in its own way, is extraordinary; e.g. a large profit on the Stock Exchange: from ca. 1860.—4. In cricket, a ball that, on leaving the bat, glides 'fiercely' along the ground (e.g. from a slashing stroke by McCabe): from not later than 1910. Cf. rasping shorter.

raspin, the. A house of correction; a gaol: c.: early C. 19. ? lit., the unpleasant thing, perhaps a pun on grating, adj., and gratings, n. Cf. the † Scots rasp-house, as in Scott, 1818 (E.D.D.).

rasping. (High and) difficult to jump: 1829 (O.E.D.): hunting coll. >, ca. 1870, S.E. Dr J. Brown, 1858, 'You cannot . . . make him keep his seat over a rasping fence.' See rasper, 1.

rasping gang. 'The mob of roughs and thieves who attend prize-fights', H., 1864: c.; ob.

rasping shorter. The same as rasper (last sense), of which it is the earlier form: a cricketing coll. of ca. 1900-20. F. & H.

rasted, adj. and adv. 'Blasted', of which it is a euphemistic perversion: 1919, J. B. Morton (O.E.D. Sup.).

rat. A drunken person taken into custody: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. ? ex idea of a drowned rat or, more prob., ex drunk as a rat, q.v.—2. A clergyman: C. 17. 'Microcosmography' Earle, 'A profane man . . . nicknames clergyman . . . rat, black-coat, and the like.' Prob. current also in C. 18, since Grose puns thus: 'Rats. Of these there are the following kinds: a black rat and a grey rat, a py-rat and a cu-rat,' esp. as, in C. 17-early 18, rat occ. designated a pirate.—3. A police spy: c.: from ca. 1850. Ex the gen. term of contempt.—4. An infernal machine for the foundering of insured bottoms: nautical coll. (from ca. 1880) > j. Barrère & Leland.—5. See rats and rats !—6. In Australia, 'a street urchin; a wharf labourer', C. J. Dennis: late C. 19-20.—7. A workman that has not served his time and can, therefore, enter no union: artisans' (— 1909). Ware.—8. A thief: c.: from ca. 1920. E.g. in Edgar Wallace, The Twister, 1928.—9. (the Rat.) Sir R. Ratcliffe, a C. 15 statesman. Dawson.

rat, v.t. To steal or rob; to search the body of (a dead man): military: 1914. F. & Gibbons.—2. See rat it.

rat it. 'To run away quickly', E.D.D.: Berkshire s. (— 1903), not dial.

rat !, rat it ! or rat me ! A low coll. imprecation: late C. 17-20; ob. Vanbrugh, Hoadly, Thackeray, Conan Doyle. Ex rot. Cf. drat ! O.E.D.

rat, do a. To change one's tactics: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex S.E. rat, to desert.

rat, drunk as a. Hopelessly tipsy: coll.: mid-C. 16-17. Boorde, 1542.

rat, smell a. See smell a rat.

rat and mouse. A house: rhyming s.: late C. 19-20. B. & P.

rat back-clip. Short hair: lower classes': ca. 1856-1900. Ware.

rat-catcher. Unconventional hunting dress: hunting people's (— 1930). O.E.D. (Sup.).

rat-firm, -house, -office, -shop. A workshop, etc., where less than full union rates are paid: trades unions' coll. (— 1888) >, in C. 20, S.E.

rat-hole. Too large a gap between printed words: printer's: from ca. 1870.

rat it !; rat me ! See rat !—rat-office. See rat-firm.

rat-shop. A shop or factory that employs non-union workers: lower classes': from ca. 1910. Manchon. See also rat-firm.

rat-trap. A bustle or dress-improver: ca. 1850-80. Cf. bird-cage, q.v.—2. The brake on a bicycle: cyclists' (— 1923). Manchon. Cf.—? ex—Fr. rat-trappe-pédales.—3. The mouth: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

ratich. An incorrect form of †rotch: late C. 17. O.E.D.

ratepayers' hotel. A workhouse: tramps' c. (— 1935). Workhouses are maintained out of the rates and taxes.

rather ! (In replying to a question) I should think so; very decidedly: coll., orig. somewhat low: 1836, Dickens, "'Do you know the mayor's house ?" inquired Mr Trott. "Rather," replied the boots, significantly, as if he had some good reason for remembering it.' Occ. rayther, from ca. 1860: very affected; ob. by 1905, † by 1920. Cf. the very genteel quite, q.v. Often emphasised as in Denis Mackail, Greenery Street, 1925, "'Rather," said Ian enthusiastically, "Oh, rather !"' rather of the ratherest. Slightly in excess or deficit: dial. and coll.: 1787, Grose's Provincial Glossary; 1860, H., 2nd ed. Ob. by 1920, virtually † by 1935.

ratherish, adv. Slightly; somewhat: coll., orig. U.S. (1862), anglicised ca. 1890. Ob. (O.E.D.)

rations. A flogging: naval and military: ca. 1880-1910. See iron rations.

rats. A star: back s.: from ca. 1875. (Not very gen.)—2. See rats, get.—3. the rats, delirium tremens: from ca. 1865. Ex rats, (have or) see, q.v.

rats ! A contemptuous retort = 'bosh !': (low) coll.: orig. U.S., but anglicised ca. 1891. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'One word, and that was Rats !' Prob. ex the following:

rats and mice. Dice: from ca. 1870. (P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.)

rats, get or have or see. To be out of sorts (rarely with see): 1865, E. Yates, "'Well . . . old boy, how are you ?" . . . "Not very brilliant . . . " "Ah, like me, got rats, haven't you ?" '—2. To be drunk; very drunk: from ca. 1865. Likewise ob., very ob.—3. (Rarely get or have.) To have delirium tremens: low: from ca. 1865.—4. Hence (though not with get), to be eccentric: (low) coll.:

from ca. 1880.—5. Hence, from ca. 1885, to be crazy.

rats, give (one) green. To malign; slander: ca. 1860–1910. Perhaps ex rats: sick 'em!, a call to a dog . . . Perhaps not.

Rats After Mouldy Cheese. The Royal Army Medical Corps: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons.

rats in the garret or loft or upper storey. Eccentric; mad: from ca. 1890; ob. Prob. ex bats in the belfry and rats, get . . ., 3, 4, 5.

rat's-tail. A writ: legal: from ca. 1870. ? ex scroll on cover.

ratse's. Rats', esp. in ratse's holes: sol. (—1887). Baumann.

rattat. See rutat.

rattle. A coach: c. late C. 18—early 19. Grose, 1785. Rare except in rattle and pad, a coach and horses. More gen. is rattler, q.v.: yet cf. rattle, take.—2. 'The commander's report of defaulters': naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf. the † S.E. rattle, a sharp reproof.—3. A quarrel: see 'Miscellanea' in Addenda.

rattle, v. To move or work quickly and/or noisily: s. and, from ca. 1850, dial.: late C. 17–20. Esp. in rattle away or off. B.E., who wrongly classifies as c.—2. (Also rattle on.) To strike (a person) in (the, e.g. ivories, teeth): c. (—1923). Manchon.

rattle, be in the. To be a defaulter: naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. See rattle, n., 2.

rattle, spring the. (Of a policeman) to give the alarm: policemen's (—1887); ob. Baumann.

rattle, take. To depart hurriedly: c.: late C. 17—mid-18. B.E., 'We'll take Rattle, . . . we must not tarry, but whip away': a quotation that may possibly premise rattle, a coach, as early as late C. 17; otherwise we must suppose that rattle, v., has been substantivised.

rattle, with a. With unexpected rapidity: turf (—1909). Coll. (Ware.)

rattle and drive (or hyphenated). Scamped work: workmen's coll. (—1887). Baumann.

rattle-bag, devil's (Scots deil's). A bishop's summons: coll.: from ca. 1725; † by 1900. Scott.

rattle-ballocks. The female pudend: low: late C. 18–20; ob.

rattle on. See rattle, v., 2.

rattle one's cash. To 'stump up': c. (—1923). Manchon.

rattled. Very drunk: coll.: late C. 19–20. Lyell. Cf. floored.

rattler. A coach: early C. 17—mid-19: c. >, ca. 1750, s.: 1630, J. Taylor the Water Poet; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; H. Like rattle, because it rattles.—2. Hence, a cab; ca. 1815–1910: Moore, 1819; Egan, 1821, 'At length a move was made, but not a rattler was to be had.'—3. A train: c. (1845: 'No. 747') >, by 1874 (H., 5th ed.), low; in C. 20, mostly a bookmakers' term. Cf. rattlers, 2.—4. A bicycle: 1924, D. H. Lawrence (O.E.D. Sup.).—5. (Rattler.) The inevitable nickname of men surnamed Morgan: naval and military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex Morgan Rattler (or r.), common in dial. in various senses, e.g. anything first-rate (E.D.D.).

rattler, mace the. To travel, esp. on a train, without a ticket: c.: mid-C. 19–20. (Manchon.)

rattlers. Teeth: s. > low coll.: C. 19–20; ob.—2. A railway (—1859); ob. by 1900, † by 1915. H., 1st ed. Cf. rattler, third sense.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca. 1820.—2. (With the often omitted.) The croup: somewhat coll.: C. 18–20.

rattletrap. The mouth: from ca. 1820. Scott. (O.E.D.).—2. A chatterbox: coll.: 1880, Anon., Life in a Debtors' Prison, 'You're as great a rattle-trap as ever.' Both senses tend to be low; the former is somewhat ob.

rattling cove. A coachman: c.: mid C. 17—early 19. Coles, 1676. Cf. rattle, n. and v. Cf.:

rattling mumper. A beggar plying coaches and carriages: c.: mid C. 17—early 19. Coles; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

rattling-peeper. A coach-glass: c.: mid-C. 18. The Scoundrel's Dict., 1754.

ratty. Wretched, miserable; mean: orig. (—1885), U.S. and Canadian, anglicised ca. 1900. Blackwood's Magazine, Nov., 1901, 'Both were pretty "ratty" from hardship and loneliness.' O.E.D. Ex lit. sense, infested with rats.—2. Angry, irritated: from ca. 1906. ? ex U.S.; cf. rats in the garret and rats!, qq.v. But prob. ex the appearance of a cornered rat.

raughty. See rorty.

rave. A strong liking; a craze; a passion: from ca. 1899; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. F. & H., 1901 (pub. 1902), 'X has a rave on Miss Z.' (Cf. crush, q.v.) Ex the ob. late C. 16–20 S.E. sense, a raving, a frenzy, excitement (O.E.D.).—2. Esp. of a warm friendship between school-girls: 1919, Arnold Lunn, Loose Ends. Cf. pash.

raven. A 'small bit of bread and cheese': taverns' (—1909); ob. Ex the story of Elisha and the ravens. (Ware.)

Ravilliac, any Assassin, B.E.: coll.: ca. 1610–1750. Properly Ravalliac. Ex François Ravalliac, who, the assassinator of Henry IV of France, died in 1610.

raw lobster. A policeman: C. 19. In contrast with lobster, a soldier.

raw meat. The penis: low coll.: mid-C. 18–20. Anon., The Butcher (a song), 1766.—2. A nude (female) performer of the sexual act: low: C. 19–20; ob.

raw recruit. A nip of undiluted spirits: from ca. 1860; very ob.

raw stock. Coll., from ca. 1925, as in 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 6; q.v.

raw uns or 'uns, the. The naked fists: pugilistic: 1887, The Daily News, Sept. 15, 'This encounter was without gloves, or, in the elegant language of the ring, with the raw uns'; 1891, Sporting Life, March 26, 'Even Jean Carney . . . has been obliged to abandon the raw-un's for gloves pure and simple.' Slightly ob. (Here, raw = unprotected or uncovered.)

ray. The sum of 1s. 6d.: c.: 1861, Mayhew. ? ex or cognate with the already long-† S.E. ray, a small piece of gold or gold leaf.

ray-neck. 'A landsman in a clipper packet's crew': nautical: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Bowen thinks that it may represent a corruption of raw-neck.

raymonder. See ram-rod.—rayther. See rather.

Razor. Smith, the English right-hand slow bowler prominent ca. 1910–26: cricketers'.

razor, real. 'A defiant, quarrelsome, or bad-tempered scholar': Westminster School: from 1883; ob. Ware.

razor-strop. A copy of a writ: legal: from some date after 1822, when the lit. sense appears (O.E.D.). razors. Inferior liquor: Regular Army: late C. 19–20; very ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex the gripe it produces.

razoo. A small coin; razoos, (human) testicles: New Zealanders': C. 20. App. a corruption of the Maori rahu.

razzle. Abbr. of razzle-dazzle, 2. Esp. in razzle, on the, on the spree.

razzle-dazzle. 'A new type of roundabout . . . which gives its occupants the . . . sensations of an excursion at sea', The Daily News, July 27, 1891 (O.E.D.); † by ca. 1915.—2. A frolic, a spree; riotous jollity: U.S. (1890, Gunter), anglicised ca. 1895, esp. in on the razzle-dazzle, after ca. 1920 gen. abbr. to on the razzle and gen. of a drunken spree. Binstead, More Gal's Gossip, 1901, 'Bank-holidayites on the razzle-dazzle'. An echoic word expressive of rapid movement, bustle, active confusion, but orig., I think, a reduplication on dazzle as in Gunter's 'I'm going to razzle-dazzle the boys . . . with my great lightning change act,' 1890, in Miss Nobody.

razzle-dazzle, v. To dazzle: anglicised ca. 1895 ex U.S.; ob. See preceding, 2. Cf.:

razzle-dazzler, gen. in pl. A sock that dazzles: 1897, The Daily News, Aug. 10, 'Two dozen pair of plain socks and half a dozen pair of the sort known as "razzle-dazzlers"'. O.E.D. Ex razzle-dazzle, v. Cf. bobby-dazzler, q.v.

razzo. The nose: c.: from ca. 1895. Clarence Rook, The Hooligan Nights, 1899; James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Prob. fanciful; cf. boko.

re, in the matter of, is considered rather low except in business letters (etc.) or when jocular. The full form in re is now ob.

re-dayboo. Re-début: music-halls' coll.: 1899–ca. 1903. Ware. Lit., a first appearance for the second time.

re-raw, occ. ree-raw. Esp. on the re(e)-raw. A drinking-bout: low: from ca. 1850; ob. Dickens, 1854 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex Scots ree, excited with drink, + Anglo-Irish ree-raw, noisy, riotous.

reach-me-down, adj, 1862; reach-me-downs, n., 1862. Thackeray; Besant & Rice. Ready-made, or occ. second-hand, clothes; in late C. 19–20, often of such, hence of any, trousers: perhaps always S.E. (ex U.S.). Coll.; in C. 20, S.E. (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, anything improvised: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

reacher. A beggar that walks always with a female mate: c.: early C. 17. Dekker.—2. A gross exaggeration, a 'stretcher': coll.: 1613, Purchas; † by 1720. (O.E.D.).—3. A blow delivered at one's full reach: boxing: late C. 19–20; ob.

reaching I, excuse me. A lower-middle class c.p. uttered when one reaches for something at table: C. 20. Rather ob. Punning retching.

read, v.i. Rarely v.t. To steal: c.: Anon., A Song, ca. 1819, 'And I my reading learnt be-time, | From studying pocket-books, Sirs.' Ex reader, 1, q.v.—2. To search (esp. a shirt) for lice: military: 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons. The shirt spread on one's knees resembled a newspaper being read in that position.

read and write. To fight: rhyming s. (— 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus'.—2. A flight: id.: ibid. Rare.

read between the lines. To discern the underlying fact or intention: from ca. 1865: coll. till C. 20, then S.E.

read me and take me. (In reference to riddles) a Restoration c.p. equivalent to get me? or get me! Dryden, Marriage à la Mode.

[read of tripe. Transported for life: rhyming s. (— 1859). H.'s approximation; † by 1900.]

read the paper. To have a nap: coll.: from ca. 1860.

reader. A pocket-book: c.: 1718, C. Hitchin, The Regulator; Grose, 2nd ed.—2. Whence, a newspaper, a letter, etc.: c.: from ca. 1840.—3. A marked card: c. or gamblers' s.: 1894, Maskelyne, 'The preparation of "faked" cards or "readers"', O.E.D.

reader-hunter. A pickpocket specialising in pocket-books: c. (— 1812). Vaux. Ex reader, 1.

reader-merchant, gen. in pl. 'Pickpockets, chiefly young Jews, who ply about the Bank to steal the pocket-books of persons who have just received their dividends there,' Grose, 2nd ed.: late C. 18–20; ob. Ex reader, 1, and see merchant.

readered. Wanted by the police: c.: from ca. 1845. 'No. 747' (p. 412). Ex reader, 2, and the fact of being 'advertised' in The Police Gazette.

readies. Money in bank and/or currency notes: bank-clerks' (— 1935).

Readings. Shares in the Pennsylvania & Reading Railroad: Stock Exchange coll. (— 1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

ready, or the ready. Money, esp. money in hand: c. until C. 19, then low s. till ca. 1870; by 1930, rather ob. Shadwell, 'Take up on the reversion . . .; and Cheatly will help you to the ready'; Arbuthnot, 1712, 'He was not flush in ready'; Egan, 1821, 'The waste of ready'. Abbr. ready money. Often with rhino: ready rhino (T. Brown, 1697) is adumbrated in Shadwell's the ready, the rhino (1688).—2. See readies.

ready, v. To pull a horse so that he shall not win: racing: Black, 1887 (O.E.D.).—2. To give, illicitly, a drug to (a person) in order to render temporarily innocuous: c.: C. 20. E.g. in Edgar Wallace, The Gunner, 1928. Prob. ex sense 1, whence certainly.—3. To contrive, manipulate, engineer, 'wangle': from ca. 1890. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'He made us all . . . believe he could ready his chance.' (Sense 1 is ex † S.E. sense, prepare, put in order.) Cf. ready up, q.v.—4. Hence, to bribe: low (— 1909). Ware.

ready, (at) a good. Thoroughly alert; occ. dead certain: low (? orig. c.): from ca. 1890; ob. Cf. spot, on the, 1.

ready gilt. Money (in hand): a C. 19 variant of ready, n., ('Ducange Anglicus.') For gilt, cf. gelt.

Ready-Reckoners. The Highland regiments: Army: ca. 1850–90. H., 3rd ed. Ex the legendary Scots aptitude for reckoning money.

ready to drop. (Of a person) exhausted: late C. 19–20: coll. >, by 1920, S.E. (Lyell) ready-up. A conspiracy: Australian low s. (— 1926). Jice Doone. Ex:

ready up. To prepare, or contrive, illicitly or not honourably: Australian: 1893, The Melbourne Age, Nov. 25, 'A great deal has been "readied up" for the jury by the present commissioners' (Morris). Prob. ex ready, v., 3.

readying, readying-up. Vbl.nn. of ready, v., and ready up, qq.v.

real, adv. Extremely, very: coll.: from ca. 1880 in England, earlier in Scotland and U.S.; esp. in real nice. Ex real as adj. before another adj., esp.

when no comma intervenes (J. Fox, 1718, 'An Opportunity of doing a real good Office', O.E.D.).

real jam. A very delightful person or thing: s. verging on coll.: 1879, Justin McCarthy, 'Real jam, I call her'; Punch, Jan. 3, 1885, 'Without real jam—cash and kisses—this world is a bitterish pill.' Earlier, a sporting phrase for anything exceptionally good: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.

real Kate. A kind matron: Clare Market, London: ca. 1882–1900. Ware. Ex Kate, the charitable queen of the market.

real live. See live, adj., 2.

real peacer (or P.). A 'dashing' murderer: low coll.: late C. 19–early 20. Ware. Ex Charles Peace, the celebrated murderer.

real raspberry jam. The superlative of jam tart, a girl: low: ca. 1883–1915. Ware.

real thing, the. The genuine article (fig.): 1818, Lady Morgan, 'He is the real thing, and no mistake,' O.E.D.

Really Not a Sailor. (A member of) the Royal Naval Air Squadron: naval: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.) Mostly a merchantmen's c.p.: witness W. McFee, North of Suez, 1930.

ream. Genuine; honest, honourable, above-board: an occ. C. 19 c. variant of rum, adj. very rare outside London. Mayhew, 1851, 'A "ream" . . . concern'; Baumann. Cf.:

ream-penny, gen. in pl. = Peter-pence. C. 17: coll. and dial. Ex Rome-penny.

ream-pennies, reckon (up) one's. To confess one's faults: coll.: ca. 1650–1700. Ray. Ex ream-penny, q.v.

rear, rears, the. The latrine: university: from ca. 1880. Cf.:

rear, v. To visit the latrine; to defecate: from ca. 1890: university >, ca. 1905, gen: s. Ex rear, n. Cf.:

rear, do a. To defecate: C. 20. Ex preceding pair of entries.

rear-rank private. See lance-private.

rear-up. A noisy argument; a quarrel; a 'row': lower classes: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex:

rear up, v. To become extremely angry: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex horses.

rearer. The upsetting of a vehicle—the wheel(s) on one side going into a ditch, drain, etc.—so that the vehicle turns underside up: 1827 (O.E.D.); very ob.—2. A battledore: Restoration period.

rebound, catch on the. To get engaged to (a person) after he or she has been refused by another: coll.: from ca. 1908. Ex lawn tennis. (Collinson.)

rec, the. The recreation ground: lower-class, esp. Cockneys' coll.: C. 20. Ernest Raymond, Mary Leith, 1931. Cf. Recker, the, q.v.

receipt. Recipe: S.E. till C. 20, then considered somewhat sol.—2. Punches received: boxers': mid-C. 19–20; extremely ob. Bell's Life, 'He showed strong symptoms of receipt' (Baumann). Cf. receiver-general, 2.

receipt of custom (or hyphenated). The female pudend: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. Grose's custom-house goods, q.v. (Where Adam made the first entry.)

receiver-general. A harlot: C. 19. Lex. Bal., 1811. Ex S.E., a chief receiver of public revenues.—2. 'A boxer giving nothing for what he gets', F. & H.: boxing: from ca. 1860; ob.

Recent Incision. The New Cut, properly Lower Marsh, a busy thoroughfare on the Surrey side of the Thames: London jocular coll. of ca. 1859–95. H., 2nd ed.; Baumann.

recission, -ory. Incorrect forms of rescission -ory: C. 17–20. O.E.D.

Recker or Rekker, the. The town recreation-ground, where the School sports are held: Harrow: late C. 19–20. Oxford -er. Cf. rec, the, q.v.

reckernise. See reckonize.

reckoning, cast up one's. To vomit: low (—1788); very ob. Grose, 2nd ed. More gen. cast up one's accounts.

reckoning, Dutch. A bill that, if disputed, grows larger; a sharing of the cost or the money, plunder, etc.: coll.: late C. 17–20; ob. Swift. See the paragraph on Dutch.

rec(k)onize or -ise. To recognise: sol. (—1887), esp. Cockneys'. Baumann. Also reckernise.

reconnoitre, v.i. To 'scrounge' (q.v.): military: 1916; ob. B. & P.

[record, a performance superior to all others of the same kind, dates from 1883 (O.E.D.): the S.O.D.—quite rightly, I feel sure—gives it as S.E.: The Times has always (?) spelt it with quotation marks, as though it considers it to be coll.]

record, smash the. To go one better: coll., esp. in athletics: from ca. 1890. Break, cut (†), lower the record are S.E.

Recordite, adj. and (gen. in pl.) n. (Of) the Low Church Party of the Anglican Church: a Church coll.: 1854, Conybeare, Church Parties, for both adj. and n.; ob. Ex The Record, the party's official organ.

records. (Shares in) the African Gold Recovery Company: Stock Exchange (—1895). A. J. Wilson's glossary.

recourse. See resort.

[recrudescence. See Fowler.]

recruit, n. See recruits.—2. 'To get a fresh supply of money', Grose, 1785: coll. Cf. the next two entries.

recruiting service. Robbery on the highway: ca. 1810–40: s. verging on c. (Lex. Bal.) Ex:

recruits. Money, esp. expected money: late C. 17–early 19: c. B.E., 'Have you rais'd the Recruits, . . . is the Money come in?' Ex Army.

rector. 'A poker kept for show: curate (q.v.) = the work-a-day iron; (2) the bottom half of a tea-cake or muffin (as getting more butter), the top half being the curate, and so forth', F. & H.: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob.

[rector of the females. The penis: C. 17–20; ob. Either low coll. or, more prob., euphemistic S.E. Rochester.]

red. A sovereign: c. or low (—1923). Man- chon. Ex the adj.—2. See reds.

red, adj. Made of gold; golden: C. 14–20: S.E. till C. 17, then c. See esp. red clock, kettle, one or 'un, rogue, stuff, tackle, toy.

red, paint the town. To have a riotously good time: U.S. (—1880), anglicised ca. 1890 as a coll. Anon., Harry Pludger at Cambridge, 'Won't he paint the whole place red on Tuesday night!'

red, see. To be in, fly into, a rage: coll.: C. 20. Ex a bull's reaction to red.

red ace; occ. red C. The female pudend: low: mid-C. 19–20.

red and yellow, Tom Fool's colours. A c.p. (semi-proverb) in allusion to brightly coloured clothes: already old in 1874. Ex a jester's parti- coloured dress. Apperson.

red beard. (App.) a watchman or constable:

C. 17: ? c. Dekker & Webster, 1607, 'White haire may fall into the company of drabs as red bearded into the society of knaves,' O.E.D.—2. A red marble: London schoolboys' (—1887). Baumann.

red Biddy. Cheap red wine, also called crimson dawn: Glasgow (—1934). Alastair Baxter.

red breast, redbreast. A Bow Street runner: C. 18—early 19, though app. first recorded by Dickens in 1862. Ex red waistcoat.—See redbreast.

red cap (or with capitals). A military policeman: military coll.: G.W. +. B. & P. Cf.:

red cape. A sister in Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service: military coll.: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

red clock. A gold watch: c.: from ca. 1860. Baumann. Also red 'un, q.v. Cf. red lot.

red coat. A woman inspector in the Anti-Poison Gas Department: coll.: 1916–18. F. & Gibbons.

red cross. An English ship: nautical coll.: C. 17. Smith, 1626.

red(-)dog. Prickly heat: Anglo-Indian coll.: ca. 1740–1800. Yule & Burnell.

red duster. The Red Ensign: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

red eel. A term of contempt: coll.: C. 19. F. & H.

red face (or neck), have a. To be ashamed: Glasgow (—1934). Ex blushing.

Red Feathers, the. The 46th Foot (in late C. 19–20, 2nd Battalion of the Duke of York's Light Infantry): military: from ca. 1777; ob. Ex an incident of the American War of Independence. F. & Gibbons.

red flag. See red rag, mount the.

red flag at the mast-head. In dead earnest: naval coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Bowen. Ex a single-flag signal enjoining either 'close action' or 'no quarter'.

red flannel. The tongue: low: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. red rag, 1, q.v.

red fustian. Red wine, esp. port or claret: c.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.—2. Porter: C. 19. F. & H.

red hat. A staff officer: military: 1915; ob. Ex red tabs. Cf. the more gen. brass hat, q.v.

red-headed. Zealous: Conway training-ship cadets': late C. 19–20. John Masfield, The Conway, 1933.

red-headed tea and bare-footed bread. Lenten fare: Anglo-Irish: C. 20. Milk in tea and butter on bread being prohibited on the fast-days.

red heart. 'Redheart' rum; hence, any rum: London taverns': ca. 1870–1910. Ware. (Coll. rather than s.)

red herring, a soldier (1853; very ob.). Cf. soldier, a red herring.—2. See herring, red.

red herring ne'er spake word but e'en, Broil my back, but not my weamb or womb (i.e. stomach). A c.p. of ca. 1670–1700. (The weamb form is dial.) Ray. (Apperson.)

Red Herrings. Lord Yarmouth (1777–1842). Dawson. Yarmouth is famous for its bloaters.

red hot. 'Extreme; out-and-out', C. J. Dennis: coll. >, by 1930, S.E.: late C. 19–20. Not as, e.g., a red-hot socialist, but as that's red hot, that is!

red-hot treat. An 'extremely dangerous person': lower classes' (—1909); ob. Ware.

red incher. A red bull-ant: Australian children's: C. 20. Opp. black incher. (Some of these bull-ants are nearly an inch long.)

red ink. Red wine: military: 1914–18. F. & Gibbons.

red ink, in. Having no pay forthcoming: naval: from ca. 1910. Ibid. Ex the notation in the ledger.

red kettle. See red toy.

Red Knights, The. The 22nd Regiment (in late C. 19–20, the Cheshire Regt.): military: from 1795, when served with red clothes instead of their proper uniform. Ob. F. & Gibbons.

red lamp. A brothel: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex U.S. red light district.

Red (or Scarlet) Lancers, the. The 16th (in C. 19, the Queen's) Lancers: military: C. 19–20; very ob. They were the only lancers to wear a scarlet tunic.

red lane. The throat: coll.: late C. 18–20. Grose, 1st ed.; 1812, Colman; ob. Also in dial.

red-letter man. A Roman Catholic: coll.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E., Grose. Ex red-letter day and cf. red neck, q.v.

red(-)liner. Ca. 1840–80, as in Mayhew's London Labour, II, 564, 'The Red Liners, as we calls the Medicity officers, who goes about in disguise as gentlemen, to take up poor boys caught begging'. ? ex putting a red line under an offender's name.

red lot. Gold watch and chain: c., and low: late C. 19–20. See red, adj.

Red Lion Lane. See lane, 2.

Red Marines. The Royal Marine Light Infantry: naval coll.: C. 19—early 20. Bowen. Ex their (former) red tunic.

red neck. A Roman Catholic: Northern (esp. Lancashire) coll. and dial.: C. 19.—2. See red face.

red Ned. A cheap muscatel wine: Sydneyites' (—1935). Why Ned?

red-nosed rooter. A port-maintopman: Conway cadets': 1890's. John Masfield, The Conway, 1933.

red one. See red 'un and cf. ruddock.

red petticoat shall pay for it, the lass in the. See lass in ...

red rag. The tongue: late C. 17–20, ob. B.E., Grose, W. S. Gilbert. Cf. red flannel.—2. A menstrual cloth: low coll.: C. 19–20. Cf.:

red rag, flash the. To menstruate: low: C. 19–20. Ex red rag, 2.

red rag, mount the. To blush: coll.: C. 19–20. Occ. red flag.

red ribbon. Brandy: ca. 1820–60. (Contrast red fustian.) Egan's Grose.

red rogue. A gold coin: c.: C. 17. Fletcher, in The Mad Lover. See red.

red-sail (yard) dock. A buyer of 'stores stolen out of the royal yards and docks', Grose, 1st ed.: c. of ca. 1780–1840.

red shank, red-shank, redshank. A duck: c.: mid-C. 16–19. Harman, B.E., Grose.—2. A turkey: C. 18. Ex the pool-snipe so named.—3. A woman wearing no stockings: Connaught coll.: ca. 1840–1920. (O.E.D.) Ex the historical S.E. redshank.

red stuff. Gold articles: c.: late C. 19–20. David Hume.

red tab. A staff officer: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. the more gen. brass hat.

red tackle. A gold chain: c.: 1879, Macmillan's Magazine, 'I touched for a red toy . . . and red tackle.'

red tape. Red wine: c. of C. 19. Lytton in Paul Clifford. Cf. red fustian, q.v.

red tie. Vulgarity: Oxford University coll.: ca. 1876-1900. Ware.

red toy. A gold watch: c.: 1879 (see quotation at red tackle).

red-triangle man. A member of the Y.M.C.A.: military coll.: 1915; ob.. F. & Gibbons. Ex the Association's badge.

red 'un. The O.E.D. instances red ones in C. 16: prob. coll. But red 'un is c.: from ca. 1860. Gen., a gold coin and usually a sovereign; occ. an object made of gold (Sims, in The Referee, Feb. 12, 1888); e.g. a gold watch: c. (-1864), as in H., 3rd ed. Cf. redding, q.v.

red, white and blue. Cold salt beef: Conway cadets': late C. 19-20. J. Masefield, The Conway, 1933.

red wings. A staff officer: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. red tabs, q.v.

redbreast. See red breast.—2. The Redbreasts: the 5th Lancers, i.e. the Royal Irish: military: C. 19-20, ob. Cf. Red Lancers.—3. The New South Wales Lancers: 1899 (O.E.D.); †.

redding. A gold watch: c. of ca. 1860-1915. H., 3rd ed. A corruption of red 'un, q.v., perhaps influenced by dial. redding, oxide of iron, red ochre (E.D.D.).

redemptioner. A man that works his passage: nautical coll.: C. 19. Bowen.

Redfern. A 'perfectly-fitting lady's coat or jacket': Society coll.: ca. 1879-1915. Ware. Ex a celebrated ladies' tailor.

redge. See ridge. (Brandon; H., 1st ed.)

[Reduplication is 'a common phenomenon of baby speech . . . esp. in imitative words (bow-wow, gee-gee), and in popular words formed either by rime (hurly-burly, roly-poly) or by variation of original vowel (see-saw, zig-zag),' in which last 'the fuller vowel is usually the original,' W.]

redraw. A warder: low back s. (-1875). Greenwood, in *Low-Life Deep*s, 'Shying a lump of red oakum at the redraw'.

reds. Blushes: coll. and dial.: C. 19-20.—2. The menses: mid-C. 16-20; S.E. till C. 18, then coll.; almost †.

redshank. See red shank.

redundant. Impertinent: City of London: 1899-1900. Ware. Ex a phrase by Horatio Bottomley.

redwop. Powder: back s.: from ca. 1890. Collinson.

ree-raw. See re-raw.

reeb. Beer: back s. (-1859). H., 1st ed.

reef. 'To draw up a dress-pocket until a purse is within reach of the fingers', F. & H.: c.: from ca. 1860. Ex nautical S.E.

reef (or two), let out a. To undo a button or so, esp. after a meal: from ca. 1870: nautical > gen. Baumann.

reef taken in, need a. To be drunk: from ca. 1880: nautical > gen.

reefer. A midshipman: nautical: 1829, Marryat. Because, says Smyth, he has to 'attend to the tops during the operation of taking in reefs'. (O.E.D.)

reek. Money: c.: early C. 19. † ex reek-penny.

Reekie. See Auld (or Old) Reekie.

reel, dance the miller's; dance the reel o' stumpie or of bogie. To have sexual intercourse: low Scots coll.: C. 18-20; ob.

reeler. A policeman: c. (-1879); ob. Presumably on peeler, q.v.

reeling, n. Feeling (gen. pl.): rhyming s. (-1909). Ware.

reener. A coin (less, app., than a florin): tramps' c.: from ca. 1890. P. H. Emerson, 1893, 'The old man never give her a reener.' † deaner corrupted.

reesbin. A gaol: tramps' c., and tinkers' s. verging on c.: 1845, reference in 'No. 747' (p. 413). Prob. a corruption of prison on Romany stariben (whence stir, q.v.).

ref. A reformer: political (-1909); ob. Ware.—2. A referee: sporting: C. 20.—3. A reference (as to ability, etc.): commercial: 1907, P. G. Wodehouse, Not George Washington.

refresh. A refreshment, esp. of liquor: coll., verging now on s.: from ca. 1884. Ex refresher.—2. A 'horizontal' (meal): C. 20. Manchon.

refresh, v.i. To take refreshments: C. 20. Manchon. Ex the n., sense 1.

refresher. A drink: coll.: 1841, T. Hook (O.E.D.). Cf. the pun in 'As a rule barristers don't object to refreshers,' Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday, Aug. 3, 1889. Cf. pick-me-up.

reg. duck-egg. An egregious '0': cricketers': late C. 19-20. Ware.

regalio. Incorrect for regalo: ca. 1650-1750. O.E.D.

regardless. See got-up regardless.

regimental. A downfall: military: from 1916. Esp. come a regimental, 'to be court-martialled and reduced to the ranks'. F. & Gibbons. Sc. smash. Cf. proverbial, the, q.v.—2. The Regimental. The Regimental as opp. the Company Sergeant-Major: military coll.: C. 20. Ibid.

regimental sports. Coal-carrying fatigue: Regular Army: late C. 19-20; ob. F. & Gibbons.

reg'lar; regler. When not deliberate, the adj. is a sol. form of regular: C. 19-20. Baumann. As adv., it is sol.

regular. A drink taken at a fixed hour: coll.: from ca. 1850.—2. See regulars.

regular, adj. Thorough, absolute; perfect: coll.: 1821, Shelley, 'A regular conjuror', O.E.D.; 1850, Smedley, 'A regular sell'; 1888, The Cornhill Magazine, March.—2. As adv., C. 18-20: S.E. till C. 20, then sol.

regular Callao. A free-and-easy ship lax of discipline: nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

regularly. Thoroughly; wholly: coll.: 1789, 'Regularly dissipated', O.E.D. Cf. regular, adj.

regulars. A division of booty: c.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal., Vaux, Moncrieff, 'Gypsy' Carew. Abbr. regular share(s). regulated, be. 'To go through the Press Gang's perfunctory medical examination': naval coll.: ca. 1750-1840. Bowen.

regulator. The female pudend: low coll.: late C. 18-19. Prob. ex the S.E. sense, a regulating power or principle (1766, O.E.D.).

rehoboam. A shovel hat: coll. of ca. 1845-70. C. Brontë, 1849.—2. A quadruple magnum, a double jeroboam, gen. of champagne: from ca. 1860; ob.

reign. A period of wrongdoing; a successfully criminal period out of gaol: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux; Egan's Grose. Cf.:

reign, v. To be at liberty, esp. at profitable liberty: Australian c. >, by 1910, gen. c.: late C. 19-20. James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934, 'Full-time crooks don't "reign" long.' Ex preceding.

reign of Queen Dick. See Dick, Queen.

reinstatement. A reinforcement: Australian military: 1916; ob. See stoush.

Rekker, the. See Recker, the.

relations (or country cousins) have come, her. She is in her menstrual period: lower classes' c.p.: mid-C. 19-20. Manchon (les Anglais ont débarqué).

reliever. An old coat usable by all (the workmen): ca. 1845-1900. Kingsley.

relieving officer (rarely a). One's father, because he pays one's debts: 1857, G. Lawrence (O.E.D.). Grenville-Murray, 1883, 'The Relieving Officer, or ... the "R.O.", was a term of endearment which [he], in common with other young noblemen and gentlemen at Eton, applied to his father.' Slightly ob.

religieuse. A monk: incorrect for religieux: C. 18-19. (A Gallicism.) O.E.D.

religion, get. See get religion.

religious. (Of a horse) apt to go down on his knees: late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. devotional habits and contrast the old West American religious applied to horses: free from vice.

religious painter. 'One who does not break the commandment which prohibits the making of the likeness of any thing in heaven or earth, or in the waters under the earth', Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1780-1820. Either a little joke of Grose's or painters' s.,—he was a painter and draughtsman (see Grose, P.).

relish. Coition with a woman: low: C. 19. Lex. Bal. Cf. greens, q.v.

Relish, the. The (sign of the) Cheshire Cheese: late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed.

reluctance, regret or sorrow, is a catachresis: C. 18. O.E.D.

rem-in-re, esp. be caught with. Copulation, esp. be taken in the act of: low: from ca. 1860; ob. Lit., a thing in a thing.

remedy. A sovereign (coin): c.: ? mid-C. 18-early 19. F. & H. Ex the technical S.E. remedy, the permissible variation of weight in coins (also called tolerance).

remedy-critch. A chamber-pot: late C. 18-early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. A critch = any earthenware vessel; remedy, because therewith discomfort is remedied.

remember Belgium! A c.p. (1915-18) heard, among soldiers, 'with ironic and bitter intonations in the muddy wastes of the Salient', B. & P. Ex the famous enlistment-poster: cf. Kitchener wants you, q.v.

remember I'm your mother and get up those stairs! A military c.p. of the G.W. (B. & P.)

remember Parson Mallum (or Meldrum, Malham, or Melham)! See Parson Mallum.

remember there's a war on! See war on.

remi. A holiday: Westminster School: from ca. 1860. Ex remedy in that sense.

reminisce. To relate reminiscences, esp. if freely: coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex the jocular reminisce, v.i. and t., to recollect, + reminiscences.

remnants, a man of. A tailor: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

removal. A murder: political: 1883-5. Ware. Ex a witness's euphemism in the Phoenix Park assassination case.

rench. To rinse: sol. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Also dial.

render, v.i. (Of any mechanical thing) to act; to work properly: naval and military coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Ex nautical j. render, as applied esp. to a rope. 'A rope is said to render or not, according as it goes freely through any place,' R. H. Dana, 1841 (O.E.D.).

rent. Plunder: c.: late C. 18-mid-19. Implied in Grose's collector, q.v.—2. See rents—3. Money; cash: lower classes': late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons.

rent, collect. To rob on the highway: c.: late C. 18-mid-19. See rent, n., 1; also in Bee, 1823. See esp. rent-collector.

rent, pay (someone) his. To punish: coll.: C. 14-(?) 16. S. Oliphant's New English. (?)

rent-collector. A highwayman, esp. one who fancies money only: c.: (? late C. 18)—early 19. Bee. Cf. collector, rent, and rent, collect.

rents (in C. 17, rent) coming in. Ragged; dilapidated: a punning coll. c.p. of C. 17-mid-18. Withals, 1616, 'That hath his rent come in', O.E.D.; Swift, Polite Conversation, Dialogue I, 'I have torn my Petticoat with your odious Rumping; my Rents are coming in; I'm afraid, I shall fall into the Ragman's Hands.'

rep. Reputation: coll.: ca. 1705-50 (extant in U.S.). Shippery, 'Upon rep', O.E.D.; D'Urfey, 'Dames of rep'; Fielding. (See rep, (up)on or pon.)—2. Hence, a man (ob.) or woman († by 1850) of loose morals: coll.: 1747, Hoadly (O.E.D.). Here, rep is ex reprobate (W.), influenced by rep, 1, and suggested by demi-rep, q.v.—3. Hence, a worthless or inferior object: coll.: 1786, Wolcot, 'The fiddle . . . though what's vulgarly baptiz'd a rep', O.E.D. Very ob.—4. A repetition (lesson): school s., esp. at Harrow: from ca. 1860. Anstey. At Charterhouse, esp.: poetry as repetition: late C. 19-20. Cf. prep, q.v.: W.—5. A repertory theatre; gen. the Rep, a specific theatre, or the Reps, the world of repertory: mainly theatrical: from ca. 1920. See esp. Ivor Brown's 'The "Reps"' in The New Statesman, Dec. 15, 1934.

rep, on or 'pon or upon. On (my) word of honour, lit. on my reputation: coll.: C. 18, though rare after ca. 1750. See rep, 1. Swift, 'Do you say it upon Rep?'

repairs, no. Reckless; neck or nothing: from ca. 1880; ob. (Gen. of contests.)

reparty. A repartee: Society: 1874—ca. 90. Ware. (Satirical.)

repentance curl. The English society form of the curl known in Fr. as repentir: 1863—ca. 90. Ware.

[Repetition is a mark of illiteracy—or of a minor intelligence. E.g. this dialogue from Freeman Wills Crofts, Sudden Death, 1932, 'It looked bad, that it did! With all the . . . Very bad, it looked. Hersey wouldn't half be interested, he wouldn't!'] reporter. A (hair-trigger) pistol: coll., mostly Irish, verging on S.E.; † by 1910. Jonah Barrington, 1827. Ex the suddenness of the report.

reposer. A final drink; a nightcap: coll.: from ca. 1870. (Repose-inducing.)

repository. A lock-up, a gaol: ca. 1780-1830 Grose, 1785.

reprehend for apprehend or occ. represent: sol.: late C. 16–20. (O.E.D.)

republic of letters, the. The Post-Office: ca. 1820–50. Bee. Punning S.E. sense.

repulsive. Unpleasant; dull: Society: 1930, Evelyn Waugh, Vile Bodies, 'Isn't this a repulsive party?'

reservoir!, au. Au revoir!: jocular coll. (— 1897); ob. Cf. olive oil!

residential club. A usual assemblage of idlers, esp. those frequenting the British Museum for warmth or shelter: jocular coll. verging on S.E.; from ca. 1890; ob., as (thanks be!) is the practice.

resin up. To smarten up (a man) at his work: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex resining a fiddle.

resort, resource, recourse: often confused: C. 19–20. See esp. Fowler.

respectively is often used catachrestically, esp. in C. 20. Fowler.

responsible. A sensible actor able to take the lead: theatrical coll.: from ca. 1890. Ware.

respun; occ. rispin. To steal: tinkers' s., bordering on c.: from ca. 1850. ? origin. Just possibly ex or cognate with Scots risp, to rasp, to file.

rest. A restaurant: urban (— 1923). Manchon.

rest, v. To arrest: mid-C. 15–20: S.E. until C. 19, then dial. and low coll.

rest ?, and the. A c.p. retort on incompleteness or reticence: from ca. 1860.

rest and be thankful, the. The female pudend: C. 19–20; ob.

rest camp. A cemetery: military: 1917; ob. B. & P. Ex military j.

resting. Out of work: theatre, music-hall: late C. 19–20: since ca. 1920, coll.

results. News of sports results: journalistic coll.: from ca. 1921.

resurrection-bolly. Beefsteak pudding: preparatory schools: late C. 19–20. (E. F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916.)

resurrection-cove. A body-snatcher: low: ca. 1810–95. Vaux; Baumann.

resurrection-jarvey. A nocturnal hackney-coachman: ca. 1820–60. Westmacott (O.E.D.). resurrection(-pie). A dish made from remains: from ca. 1864: coll. till C. 20, then S.E.: orig. and esp. a schoolboys' term. H., 3rd ed.

Resurrectionists, the. The Buffs, i.e. the East Kent Regiment: from 1811, when, at Albuera, they rallied after a severe dispersal by the Polish Lancers. Ob. F. & Gibbons.

reswort. Trousers: back s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed.

ret. A reiteration in printing: printers' (— 1874). H., 5th ed.

retoure. See tour(e).

retriever. A 'verser' (q.v.): local c. of ca. 1592. Greene.

retrogate, retrogradation. Incorrect for retrograde, -gradation: late C. 16–18. O.E.D. retsio. An oyster: back s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed.

return home. (Of a convict) to be released on ticket-of-leave: police coll.: C. 20. (Charles E. Leach, 1933.)

returned empty. A Colonial bishop returning to, and gen. taking up a post in, Britain: Church: from ca. 1890. (Much the same sort of feeling prevails regarding those who, having held professorships in the Dominions, seek for jobs in England.)

reune. To hold a reunion: 1929, E. W. Springs (O.E.D. Sup.).

rev. An engine's revolution: Air Force: 1914. F. & Gibbons. Cf.:

rev, v.i. To circle rapidly in the air: Air Force: 1915. F. & Gibbons. Cf.:

rev up. To increase the revolutions of (an engine): from ca. 1916: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. Also v.i., of the engine. O.E.D. (Sup.).

revenge in lavender. A vengeance reserved: coll. bordering on S.E.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose. See lavender and cf. rod in pickle.

reverence. See sir reverence.

reverent. Reverend, n.: erroneous use: C. 14–15. W.

reverse. Incorrect for revers, revesh (to revest): C. 14–15 (? 16). O.E.D.

[reversed, as given by B.E. and Grose (a man set on his head by bullies, who thus obtain the money in his pockets), is but a special application of S.E.]

Review. See Magazine.

review of the black cuirassiers. A visitation by the clergy: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 1785. Ex priestly black and shining crosses and/or crucifixes. Cf. crow fair.

reviver. A drink (rarely of non-intoxicants): orig. Society: 1876, Besant & Rice, 'It was but twelve o'clock, and therefore early for revivers of any sort.' Cf. refresher, q.v.

revlis. Silver: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

rewrite. A virtual re-writing of another person's book: publishers' coll. (— 1933). Slang, p. 181. Ex the v.

-rf for -th (e.g. barf for bath) is sol., mostly Cockney: C. 19–20. Cf. the equally sol. orf for off in off itself, cough, trough: Cockney: C. 19–20.

rheumatic dodge. The gaining of sympathy—and alms—by a pretence of (acute) rheumatism: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

rheumatically. Afflicted with rheumatism: coll.: from ca. 1850.

rheumatics; often the r. Rheumatism: late C. 18–20: coll.: from ca. 1890, considered increasingly low coll.; indeed, in C. 20, it ranks as a sol. Ex the adj. Cf. rheumatiz and rheumatically.

rheumatism in the shoulder. Arrest: low: from ca. 1820; ob. Egan's Grose. Esp. have r. in the s., to be arrested.

rheumatiz, r(h)umatiz; occ. (esp. until ca. 1830) rheumatise or -ize, or rheumatis (Baumann). Rheumatism: dial. and low coll. (in C. 20, a sol.): 1760, Foote, 'My old disorder, the rheumatise', O.E.D.

rhino; occ. rino, ryno, but not after C. 18. Money: 1688, Shadwell; B.E.; Grose; Barham. C. until ca. 1820, then low s. >, ca. 1870, gen. s. Often ready rhino: cf. ready, q.v. Origin problematic; there is prob. some allusion to the size of a rhinoceros: cf. next three entries. C. synonyms are bit(e), cole, gelt, loaver, lurries, pewter, quids, reek, ribbin; the s. and coll. synonyms are too numerous to list,—see F. & H. at rhino and H. at pp. 61–5.—2. Rhinoceros: coll. abbr.: 1884 (S.O.D.).—3. Cheese: military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Ex the all too prominent rind.

rhino-fat. Rich: C. 19. Ex preceding; suggested by rhinocerial; cf.:

rhinoceral. Rich: from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed. See rhino; abbr. cf.:

rhinocerical. Rich: c. until C. 19, then s.; † by 1860. Shadwell, B.E., Grose. As Shadwell has both rhino and rhinocerical in 1688, the latter may well be the origin of the former. See rhino.

rhody, -ie. A rhododendron: 'nursery' and familiar coll.: C. 20. Cf. rod, q.v.

Rhondda'd, be. (Of things) to be lost: 1918-early 19: mostly Army officers'. Ex Lord Rhondda, the food controller (1917) who died for his country. W. rhubarb. A loan: dockers': late C. 19-20. Bowen. Ex its ruddy length.

rhumatiz. See rheumatiz.

rhyme-slinger. A poet: coll.: from ca. 1850.

[Rhyming slang dates from ca. 1840; originated among Cockneys, where now still commonest; eschewed by the middle and upper classes, it had its apotheosis in the G.W. E.g. Abraham's willing, a shilling; the second word is often suppressed, as in elephant's (trunk), drunk. See my Slang, revised ed.]

ri. See lep.

rib, crooked. A cross-grained wife: coll.: late C. 18-20, ob. Grose, 2nd ed. (The S.E. rib, a wife, is Biblical in origin and affected esp. by Scottish poets.)

rib-baste or, much more gen., -roast. To thrash: coll.: resp. late C. 16-17, lato C. 16-20, ob. Occ. a n., with variant rib-roasting, -basting. Gascoigne, 'I hope to give them all a rybbe to roste for their paynes'; Smollett, 'He knew he should be rib-roasted every day, and murdered at last'; H., 1874, 'Ribroast . . . Old; but still in use.' Cf. next two entries.

rib-bender or -roaster; occ. rib of roast; ribber. A punch on the ribs: boxing: from ca. 1810; the 2nd and 3rd, very ob. Tom Moore has ribber, 'Cuthbert Bede' rib-roaster, Hindley rib-bender. Cf. the next entry.—2. A ball rising so high as to endanger the batsman's body: cricket: 1873; ob. Lewis.

rib-bending or -roasting; ribbing. The vbl.n. counterparts of rib-bender, etc.

rib-roast, -roaster. See rib-baste and rib-bender.

rib-shirt. A front or dickey worn over a grubby shirt: lower classes': from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

rib-tickle; rib-tickler. To thrash, also tickle one's ribs. A punch in the ribs; thick soup. From ca. 1850; slightly ob. Cf. rib-baste and -bender.

ribband. See ribbin—ribber. See rib-bender.

ribbin; also ribband, ribbon. Money: c.: late C. 17-mid-19. B.E.; Vaux (ribband). ? cf. fat, being ex ribbing (cf. ribs, q.v.), or ex ribbon, gen. of rich stuff. Cf.:

ribbin runs thick or thin, the. There is, he (etc.) has, much or little money: late C. 17-mid-19. B.E., Grose. See ribbin.

ribbon. See ribbin.—2. See ribbons.—3. A bell-pull: c.: lato C. 17-mid-18. B.E., 'Pluck the Ribond, . . . ring the Bell at the Tavern.' Ex likeness of ribbon to rope.—4. Esp. blue ribbon: gin: o.: from ca. 1810; ob. Lex. Bal. Prob. suggested by satin, q.v.—5. After ca. 1860, ribbon (but not blue ribbon) = spirits in gen.; ob. H., 3rd ed. ('Servants' term').

ribbons. Reins: 1813 (O.E.D.): sporting coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Dickens in Pickwick. Esp. in handle or † flutter the ribbons.—2. Ropes forming the boundary; hence, loosely, any boundary: cricketers': from ca. 1920. Neville Cardus, Good ribs. (A nickname for) a stout person: coll.: C. 19-20; ob.

Days, 1934, 'George Gunn cut it to the ribbons, as the saying goes.'

ribby. Destitute; (of places) poverty-stricken, squalid: c.: from ca. 1930. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Ex ribs, on the, 2.

ribs, on the. (Of horse or dog) no good at all: racing c.: from ca. 1926.—2. Destitute; down and out: c.: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Cf. on one's back and down on the knuckle (q.v. at knuckle).

ribston(e). A Cockney's term of affectionate address: 1883, Milliken in Punch, Oct. 11; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. Abbr. ribston(e) pippin. See pippin.

ribuck! 'Correct, genuine; an interjection signifying assent', C. J. Dennis: (low) Australian: C. 20. Perhaps—very obscurely!—ex rybeck, q.v. Cf. jonnick.

rice-bags. Trousers: a trifle low: ca. 1890-1910. On bags, trousers, q.v.

rice-cake!, for. Public Schools' euphemistic s. for for Christ's sake!: C. 20.

rice Christian. An Aboriginal 'accepting' Christianity for food: Society coll.: 1895, The Referee, Aug. 11 (Ware); ob.

rich. Very entertaining—preposterous, ridiculous—outrageous: mid-C. 18-20 S.E. verging on coll.—2. Spicy; indelicate: coll.: from ca. 1860.

rich as a new-shorn sheep. An ironic, semi-proverbial c.p. of C. 16-mid-18. Churchyard, Breton, Fuller. (Apperson.) rich as crazes. Rich as Cræsus: Anglo-Irish (—1909). Ware.

rich man's side. See poor man's side.

rich one. The wealthy wife of 'a man who finds home not to his liking': better-class harlots' coll. (—1909). Ware.

Richard, Richard Snary, Richardanary. A dictionary: s., low coll., sol.: resp. late C. 18-20, e.g. in Grose, 2nd ed., an abbr. of R. S.; from ca. 1620, as in 'Water Poet' Taylor; C. 19-20 (also dial.), a corruption of R. S. All ob. Cf. Dick (or dic), which indicates the semantics.—2. (randy) Richard. An observation balloon: military: 1915; ob. B. & P.

Richard, get the (ripe). To be 'ragged', hooted, or publicly snubbed: military, esp. officers': 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps suggested by raspberry, get the, q.v.

Richard the Third. A bird: rhyming s.: late C. 19-20. B. & P.

Richardanary. See Richard.

ricing. The throwing of rice over the bride: middle-class coll. (—1909). Ware.

rick. A 'gee' in the grafters' sense (trade accomplice): grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheap-jack, 1934. Perhaps ex rick, a wrench.

rick(-)ma(-)tick. Arithmetic: school s. and gen. sol.: C. 19-20. On 'arithmetick, as in the three R's, reading, 'riting and 'rithmetick.

ricko. A ricochet: military: from 1914. B. & P.

rid. Rode: after ca. 1850, gen. considered a sol. (Cf. dial. red.) Baumann.

ride. (Gen. used by women.) An act of coition: low: C. 19-20. Ex ride, v. (Cf. the scabrous smoke-room story of the little boy that wanted 'a ride on the average'.) Esp. in have or get a ride.

ride, v. To mount a woman in copulation: v.i. and t.: M.E.—C. 20: S.E. till ca. 1780, then (low) coll. D'Urfey has ride tantivy. Cf. riding and rider, 1.—2. See rider, 2. (3. For relevant phrases not under ride, see the second member; e.g. ride bodkin.)—4. To cart: South African coll.: 1897, Ernest Glanville, Tales from the Veld, 'I want you to ride a load of wood to the house.' Pettman.—5. To keep girding at: Canadian: C. 20. John Beames. Ex Lancashire dial. ride, to be a burden to (E.D.D.).

ride, take (one) for a. To take a person in a motor-car and then, at a convenient spot, shoot him dead: U.S. (C. 20), anglicised ca. 1930, often loosely (i.e. in order to thrash). Gordon Fellows, They Took Me for a Ride, 1934. Cf. the old U.S. ride (one) on a rail, to expel forcibly (Thornton).

ride as if fetching the midwife. To go in haste: coll.: late C. 17—mid-19. Ray.

ride behind. See rider, 2.

ride (a man) down like a main-tack. To overwork him: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19—20. Bowen.

ride out. To be a highwayman: coll.: C. 17—18. Anon., The London Prodigal, 1605. Cf. Chaucer's riden out, to go abroad, serve on a military expedition (the description of the knight, in the Canterbury Prologue).

ride rantipole. See rantipole, ride.—ride rusty. See rusty, ride.—ride St. George. See riding St. George.

ride the black donkey. To be in a bad humour: coll.: mid-C. 19—early 20. H., 2nd ed.

ride the donkey. To cheat in weight (weighing): c. (—1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.'

ride the fore-horse. To be early; ahead of another: coll.: ca. 1660—1840. Etherege; Scott. (Apperson.)

ride the fringes. To perambulate the boundaries of a chartered district: Irish coll. of ca. 1700—1820. Anon., Ireland Sixty Years Ago, 1847. A corruption of ride the franchises.

ride the mare. To be hanged: (c. or) low: late C. 16—17. Shakespeare. See three-legged.

ride the wild mare. To play at see-saw (Onions); hence, I conjecture, to act wildly or live riotously: coll.: late C. 16—mid-17. Shakespeare; Cotgrave, 'Desferrer l'asne . . . we say, to ride the wilde mare.' Apperson.

rider. An—esp. customary—actively amorous man: low coll.: C. 18—20; ob. Ex ride, v., q.v. Cf. riding St. George.—2. 'A person who receives part of the salary of a place or appointment from the ostensible occupier, by virtue of an agreement with the donor, or great man appointing. The rider is said to be quartered upon the possessor, who often has one or more persons thus riding behind him,' Grose, 3rd ed. Coll. of late C. 18—mid-19.—3. A passenger: cabmen's coll. (—1887); ob. Baumann.

ridg. An early variant of:

ridge; occ., in C. 19, redge. Gold: c.: from ca. 1660; ob. by 1840, † by 1900. Head (implied in ridge-cully, q.v.). A cly full of ridge, a pocketful of money.—2. Hence, a guinea: ca. 1750—1830. Grose, 1st ed. ? ex ridge, a measure of land.

ridge, thimble of. A gold watch: ca. 1830—60: a. Ainsworth, 1834. (O.E.D.)

ridge-cully. A goldsmith, lit. a gold-man (see ridge and cully): c.: 1665, Head (O.E.D.); B.E.; Grose. Very ob. by 1880. Whence, prob.:

ridge-montra. A gold watch: C. 19 (?—20):

c. Egan's Grose. See ridge and montra.

riding. Adroitness; ability: sporting (—1886); ob. Ware. Ex a jockey's skill.

riding-hag. A, the, nightmare: coll.: C. 19—20; ob.

riding St. George or the dragon upon St. George. N. and adj. (The position of) the woman being on top in the sexual act: late C. 17—mid-19. B.E.; A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1785. (This posture was supposed to be efficacious if the parents wanted their child to be a bishop.) A pun on the legend of St. George and the dragon, adumbrated in Fletcher's Mad Lover.

rifle. A shuffle 'in which . . . the thumbs "rifle", or bend up the corners of the cards', Maskelyne: from ca. 1890: sharpers' s. verging on c. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

riffle, v. To do this (see the n.): same period, status and authority.—2. See:

rifle; in C. 17, often riffle. To coit with, or to caress sexually, a woman: coll. verging on S.E.: C. 17—20; ob. Prob. ex the S.E. rifle, (of a hawk) to tread (the hen).

rifler. In 'prigging law' (horse-stealing), app. he who takes away the stolen horse: c. of late C. 16—early 17. Greene's Second Cony-Catching, 1592.

rifting, vbl.n. 'Cleaning gear, harness, etc.': Regular Army: late C. 19—20. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex dial. rifi, 'to break up (grass-land) with the plough', O.E.D.

rig. Ridicule, esp. in run one's rig upon a person: from ca. 1720: s. till C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, dial. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Thackeray.—2. A trick or dodge; a swindling scheme or method: 1775, Anon., 'I'm up to all your knowing rigs.' Cf. rig sale, q.v.—3. A prank; a mischievous or a wanton act: coll.: from ca. 1720; ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725.—4. A (somewhat 'shady') manipulation of the money-market; a corner: 1877 (O.E.D.); s. >, ea. 1890, coll. (Senses 2—4 follow naturally ex sense 1.)—5. Outfit; (style of) dress: coll.: mid-C. 19—20. Ex the rig of a ship; but cf. rig, v., 3. Also rig-out and -up.

rig, v. To play tricks on, to befool: from ca. 1820: s. >, ca. 1860, coll.; in C. 20, dial. Ex rig, n., 1 and 3.—2. Hence, to manipulate illegally or illicitly: from ca. 1850: s. >, ca. 1880, coll.; slightly ob. Cf. rig the market and rig up, v.—3. To clothe; supply with clothes: from ca. 1530: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, rather slangy. The Sporting Magazine, 1821, 'The gentlemen were neatly rigged, and looked the thing to a T' (O.E.D.). Cf. rig out, v.

rig, run a or the; run one's rigs. To play pranks, even if wanton ones; run riot: s. >, ca. 1820, coll.: thus, Cowper, 1782, 'He little dreamt, when he set out, | Of running such a rig!'; r. the r., 1797; r. one's rigs, 1818. O.E.D.

rig-me-role. See rigmarole. Only in C. 18.

rig-mutton. A wanton: coll.: C. 17—18. Elaboration of rig, a wanton.

rig-my-role or -roll. See rigmarole. C. 18 only.

rig-out, n. An outfit; (esp. a suit of) clothes, a costume: coll.: from ca. 1820. Cf. rig, n., last sense; rig, v., last sense; rig-up; and:

rig out, v. To dress; provide with clothes: from ca. 1610: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.

rig sale. An auction-sale under false pretences: 1851, Chambers's Journal.

rig the market. To engineer the (money-) market in order to profit by the ensuing rise or fall in prices: 1855, Tom Taylor, 'We must rig the market. Go in and buy up every share that's offered': in C. 20, coll. Ex rig, v., 2, and n., 4.

rig-up, n. An outfit; (style of) dress: coll.: from ca. 1895; ob. Cf. rig-out, n.

rig up, v.t. To send (prices) up by artifice or manipulation: commercial s. >, in C. 20, coll.: 1884, The Pall Mall Gazette, Feb. 14. O.E.D. Ex rig, v., 2.

rigby. See rigsby.

rigged. Ppl.adj. of rig, v., 2, q.v.: O.E.D. records at 1879, but prob. considerably older.—2. Of v., 3.

riggen (riggin; properly, rigging), ride the. To be extremely intimate: dial. and low coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Here riggen (rigging) is the back(bone), though the coll. use may have been influenced by sartorial rigging.

rigger. A racing boat: Durham School: late C. 19–20. ? ex —2. Outrigger: coll. abbr.: late C. 19–20.—3. A thimble-rigger: from ca. 1830: low coll. >, by 1900, S.E.—4. One who 'rigs' an auction (1859) or the market (1883): s. >, by 1910, coll. O.E.D.

rigging. See riggen, ride the.—2. Clothes: C. 17–20; ob. Not c., as B.E. asserts, but s.—3. The vbl.n. of rig, v., 2.

rigging, climb the. See climb the rigging.—rigging, ride the. See riggen, ride the.

rigging, rum. Fine clothes: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

riggmonrowle. An occ. C. 18 form of rigmarole, q.v. Foote. (O.E.D.)

right, n. Incorrect for rite: late C. 16–20. Shakespeare. (O.E.D.)

right, adj. See right, all, 2; right, too; right as . . .; right enough; right you are.—2. Favourably disposed to, trustable by, the underworld: c.: ca. 1865, 'No. 747' has right screw, a 'good fellow' warder.

[right, adv. With adjj. (e.g. right smart) and advv. (e.g. right away): very: C. 13–20: S.E. that, in C. 19–20, borders on coll.; in C. 20, however, archaic.]

right, a bit of all. Excellent; most attractive, delightful: coll.: from ca. 1870. Often applied by a fellow to a girl, with the connotation that she is very pretty or very charming or, in the sexual act, ardent or expert (or both). Slightly ob. Cf. the mock-French translation: un petit morceau de tout droit.

right!, all. Certainly!; gladly!: 1837, Dickens: coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Like next entry, prob. ex c. sense (ca. 1810–50), 'All's safe or in good order or as desired': Lex. Bal. Cf. right-(h)o, rightio (righty-o)!, and right you are!

right, all, adj. and adv. As expected; safe(l)y; satisfactor(il)y: coll.: 1844, Edward FitzGerald, 'I got your letter all right' (O.E.D.). Ex preceding entry.

Right, Mr; Miss R. The right person—the person one is destined to marry (i.e. he or she who, before marriage, seems to be the right life-partner): coll.: Sala, 1860, 'Mr Right'; Kipling, 1890, 'Miss Right' (O.E.D.). Since the G.W., Miss Right is increasingly rare. (Collinson.)

right!, that's. I agree: coll.: C. 20. Prob. ex all right (as above). Cf.:

right!, too. Most certainly: coll.: from ca.

1910. Often too bloody right (cf. too bloody Irish)! An extension of right!, all, q.v.

Right-Abouts, the. The Gloucestershire Regiment: military: from 1801. F. & Gibbons. Also the Back Numbers (q.v.), the Old Braggs, the Slashers, the Whitewashers.—2. Rights (of a case), special circumstances: jocular (—1923). Manchon.

right as . . . There are various coll. phrases denoting that one is quite well or comfortable or secure, that a thing, a job, a prospect, etc., is dependable or quite safe:—right as a fiddle (—1903; F. & H.), an ob. corruption of the much earlier fit as a fiddle; . . . a line (C. 15–early 17; e.g. Chapman); . . . a trivet (1837, Dickens); . . . anything (—1903; F. & H. Very gen.); . . . my glove (1816, Scott; ob.); . . . my leg (C. 17–18; e.g. Farquhar); . . . ninepence (1850, Smedley), in C. 19 often nice as nincpence (H., 5th ed.); . . . rain (1894, W. Raymond; 1921, A. S. M. Hutchinson); . . . the bank (1890, 'Rolf Boldrewood', ? on safe as the Bank of England). O.E.D. and esp. Apperson.

right as a ram's horn. (Very) crooked: ironic coll.: C. 14–17 (? early 18). Lydgate, Skelton, Ray. Apperson. Cf. the late C. 19–20 coll. as straight (occ. as crooked) as a dog's hind leg.

right away. Immediately, directly: U.S. (—1842), perhaps ex Eng. dial.; anglicised as coll. by 1880.

right-coloured stuff. Money: Norfolk a. (—1872), not dial. E.D.D.

right-down. Downright, outright; veritable: low coll. (—1887). Baumann, 'A right-down swindle'. Ex dial., which has also right-up-and-down (E.D.D.).

right enough, adj. Esp. in that's right enough = that's all right so far as it goes (but it doesn't go nearly far enough); or, that's all right from your point of view. Coll.: late C. 19–20. Contrast:

right enough, adv. All right, well enough; esp., all right (or well enough) although you may not at present think so. Coll.: from ca. 1880; O.E.D. records it at 1885 in Anstey's The Tinted Venus. Cf. preceding entry.

right eye, or hand, itches,—(and) my. A coll. c.p.; the former denotes prospective weeping, the latter a(n unexpected) heritage or gift of money: C. 18. Swift.

right fanny. 'Real, or pathetic, story or tale': c.: from ca. 1925. George Ingram, Stir, 1933.

right forepart. (One's) wife: tailors': late C. 19–20. Ex tailoring j.

right-(h)o, right-oh, righto. Very well!; certainly!; agreed!: C. 20. Cf. right you are, rightio (righty-o).

right in one's, or the, head. (Gen. preceded by not.) (Un)sound of mind: coll.: C. 19–20. Randolph Hughes, in The Nineteenth Century, July 1934, 'The meanderings of a man not quite right in the head'. App. orig. dial.: cf. the Scottish no richt.

right off, put. To give a violent distaste for a thing, a plan, or dislike for a person: coll.: late C. 19–20.

right sort. Gin: low: ca. 1820–50. 'Peter Corcoran' Reynolds.

right tenpenny on the cranium, hit. To hit the nail on the head: non-aristocratic jocular coll.: ca. 1890–1915. Ware.

right there!, put it. Shake hands!: coll.: orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1905.

right up and down, like a yard of pump-water. 'Straightforward and in earnest': nautical: mid-C. 19-20. Bowen. Cf. right-down, q.v.

right you are! All right!; certainly!; agreed!: s. (— 1864) >, ca. 1920, coll. H., 3rd ed.; Churchward, 1888, 'Right you are; I don't think I'll go up,' O.E.D. Prob. the origin of right-(h)o and rightio (righty-o), qq.v.; cf. right!, all, q.v.

righteous. Excellent, e.g. 'a righteous day', a fine one: coll.: from ca. 1860. Contrast wicked.

righteous, more holy than. Very holey or tattered: late C. 19-20. Applied to both persons (now ob.) and, always more gen., garments, esp. socks, stockings. (This kind of pun is rare among the upper and upper-middle classes.)

rightio!, righty-o!, righty-ho! All right!; certainly; gladly!: from ca. 1920. Ex right-(h)o! Dorothy Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927, Lord Peter Wimsey loquitur: 'Righty-ho! Wonder what the fair lady wants.'

righto! See right-ho.

rights, be to. To have a clear (legal) case against one: c. of ca. 1850-1910. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

righty-o(h) or -ho. See rightio.

rigmarole; in C. 18, occ. rigmarol. A string of incoherent statements; a disjointed or rambling speech, discourse, story; a trivial or almost senseless harangue: coll.: from ca. 1730. Mme D'Arblay, 1779 (O.E.D.). A corruption of ragman roll, C. 13-early 16, a rambling-verse game; also a list, a catalogue. (Other C. 18 variations are rig-me-role, -my-roll or -role, and riggmonrowle.)—2. (Without a or the.) Such language: coll.: C. 19-20.

rigmarole, adj. (With variant spellings as for the n.) Incoherent; rambling; trivially long-winded: coll.: from ca. 1750. Richardson, 1753, 'You must all . . . go on in one rig-my-roll way'; 1870, Miss Bridgman, 'A rigmarole letter'. O.E.D.

rigmarole, v.i. To talk rigmarole: coll.: from ca. 1830. (O.E.D.) Note: rigmarolery and rigmarolic are too rarely used to be eligible.

rigmarolish. Rather like a rigmarole: coll.: 1827, J. W. Croker (O.E.D.). The adv. (-ly) is too seldom used to be eligible.

rigs. See rig, n., 1, and rig, run a.—rigs, up to one's or the. Wide-awake, 'fly'; expert: s.: C. 19-20; ob. In late C. 18-early 19, up . . . rig, Grose, 1st ed.

rigsby. A wanton; a romping (lad or) girl: coll.: from ca. 1540. In late C. 17-20, only dial. In C. 16, occ. rigby. Ex rig, a wanton.

rile. To vex, anger: coll.: U.S. (1825), anglicised ca. 1850, though the consciousness of its U.S. origin remained until ca. 1890; the v.i. rile up, grow angry, has not been acclimatised in Britain. A later form of S.E. roil.

riled, ppl.adj. Vexed, annoyed, angry: see rile.—riling, annoying, etc.: id.

rim-rack. To strain or damage (a vessel), esp. by driving her too hard in a sea: Grand Banks fishermen's coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Prob. cognate with the Aberdeen rim-raxing, a surfeit (-ing): E.D.D.

rimble-ramble, n. and adj. Nonsense, nonsensical: late C. 17 coll. Reduplication on ramble.

rinder. An outsider: Queen's University, Belfast: mid-C. 19-20. Ex rind of fruit.

ring (gen. with the). 'The female pudend: low coll. verging on euphemistic S.E.,—or is it the other way about? C. 16-20, but rare after C. 18. Also black-hairy—Hans Carvel's ring.—2. 'Money extorted by Rogues on the High-way or by Gentlemen Beggars', B.E.: c. of late C. 17-early 19. By 1785, it applied to any beggars; 'from its ringing when thrown to them', Grose.—3. See ring, the dead.—4. A good-conduct stripe: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

ring, v. To manipulate; change illicitly: from ca. 1785: perhaps orig. c.; certainly low s. (See ring the changes.)—2. Simply to change or exchange: from ca. 1810: orig. low, then gen. s. Vaux.—3. Hence, or ex sense 1, to cheat (v.i.; also ring it): low: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons.—4. V. reflexive: c. from ca. 1860, as explained in The Cornhill Magazine, 1863 (vii, 91), 'When housebreakers are disturbed and have to abandon their plunder they say that they have rung themselves.'—5. See ring in.—6. V.i. (of cattle), to circle about: Australian coll. (— 1884) >, ca. 1910, S.E. 'Rolf Boldrewood.'—7. Even more essentially Australian is ring, v.i. and v.t., to shear the most sheep in a day or during a shearing (at a shearing-shed): from ca. 1895: coll. A. B. Paterson (Banjo as Australians affectionately call him), 1896, 'The man that "rung" the Tubbo shed is not the ringer here.' (Morris.) See ringer, 2.—8. See ring a peal.—9. See ring it.

ring, cracked in the. No longer virgin: late C. 16-20; ob.: coll. In C. 16-17, occ. clipped (with in the ring. Lyly; Beaumont & Fletcher. See ring, n., 1.

ring, go through the. To go bankrupt: commercial: ca. 1840-80. H., 2nd ed. ? ex circus.

ring, have the. To ring true: coll. (— 1923), now verging on S.E. (Manchon.)

ring, the dead. 'A remarkable likeness', C. J. Dennis; astonishingly or very similar: Australian: C. 20. Perhaps 'as like as ring is to ring'; prob. suggested by the U.S. be a ringer for, to resemble closely.

ring (a person) a peal. To scold: coll.: C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed., 'Chiefly applied to women. His wife rung him a fine peal!'

ring bells. A coll. that (dating from ca. 1930) is gen. in the negative, as in Gavin Holt, Trafalgar Square, 1934, 'When it comes to pets, snakes don't ring any bells in my emotional system,' i.e. do not appeal to me. Ex the bell that rings when, at a shooting-gallery, a marksman hits the bull's-eye.

ring-dropper, -faller. One who practises ring-dropping: c.: resp. from ca. 1795 and ca. 1560-1600. Cf. fauney-dropper, q.v., and:

ring-dropping. The dropping of a 'gold' ring and subsequent prevailing on some 'mug' to buy it at a fair price for gold: c.: from ca. 1820. Bee.

ring in. To insert, esp. to substitute, fraudulently: from ca. 1810: orig., perhaps c., certainly at least low s. Vaux. (Notably in gambling.) Cf. ring, v., 1.

ring it. The v.i. form of the preceding: low: late C. 19-20.—2. See ring, v., 2.—3. To show cowardice: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps cf. ring, v., 6.

ring-man. The ring-finger: from ca. 1480: coll. till C. 18, then dial. Ascham. (O.E.D.)

ring-money. A wife's allowance from the Government: military: 1914-19. Collinson. Ex showing her marriage-lines; perhaps with reference to ring-paper.

ring off! Desist!; shut up!: C. 20 coll. Lyell. Ex telephonic ring off, please!

ring-pigger. A drunkard: coll.: ca. 1560–1600. Levins. (O.E.D.)

ring-neck. A jackaroo: Australian coll.: 1898, Morris, 'In reference to the white collar not infrequently worn by a Jackaroo on his first appearance'.

ring-tail. A recruit: military: ca. 1860–1914. Cf. rooky, snooker.

ring the changes. See changes, ring the.

ringer. A bell: (low) coll.: late C. 19–20; ob.—2. An excellent person or thing, esp. with regular: Australian: 1894, The Geelong Grammar School Quarterly, April, 'Another favourite [school] phrase is a "regular ringer"' (Morris). Ex ringer, that shearer who does the most sheep.—3. A quick changer of disguises: C. 20 c. Cf. Edgar Wallace's title, The Ringer, and changes, ring the, 3.

ringie, the. The man that, at two-up, keeps the ring, arranges the wagers, and pays out the winnings: Australian and New Zealand coll.: late C. 19–20.

ringing castors. The practice of substituting bad hats for good: c. (— 1812); virtually †. Vaux.

rings round, run. To beat hollow: Australian s. (— 1891) >, ca. 1910, fairly gen. coll. The Argus, Oct. 10, 1891. Ex sport, prob. ex Rugby, or ex Australian football. Morris. Cf. circling-boy, q.v.

rink, get out of one's. To sow wild oats: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. Perhaps ex skating; prob. ex Scots rink, 'the sets of players' forming sides at curling and quoit-playing (E.D.D.).

rinkasporum. An occ. Australian error for rhyncospora (a genus of plants): from ca. 1880.

rino. See rhino.

rinse. A wash: coll.: 1837, Dickens, "'I may as well have a rinse," remarked Mr Weller' (O.E.D.).

—2. A drink: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. C. 20 gargle. rinse, v.i. To drink, esp. liquor: from ca. 1870. Prob. ex rinse down (with liquor).

rinse-pitcher. A toper: coll.: ca. 1550–1640. Bullein. (O.E.D.)

Rio. Rio de Janeiro: coll., mostly nautical: mid-C. 19–20. (W. McFec, The Beachcomber, 1935.)

Riot Act (to), read the. To reprove, administer a reproof: coll.: from ca. 1880.

rip. A mild term of reproof: coll. and dial.: C. 19–20. Ex rip, a rake, which may be ex reprobate. Rarely applied to a female.—2. A quick run, a rush: coll. ex dial.: from ca. 1870; ob. in coll.—3. A sword: ca. 1690–1750. Ned Ward, 1700 (Matthews). Proleptic.

rip! An exclamation: coll.: late C. 16–mid-17. Cf. rip me!

rip!, let her. Let her go!: U.S. (— 1859) anglicised ca. 1875; in C. 20, coll.

rip!, let her or him. A callous punning on r.i.p., i.e. requiescat in pace, let him (her) rest in peace. Late C. 19–20. Cf. r.i.p.!, let . . ., q.v.

rip and tear. To be very angry: from ca. 1870 (ob.): coll. and dial. Prob. on rip and swear, an intensive of dial. rip, to use bad language, to swear.

rip me! A low coll. asseveration: mid-C. 19–early 20. Marriott-Watson.

ripe. Drunk: C. 19–20; ob. Bee. Either ex reeling-ripe (Shakespeare, Tennyson) or ex ripe, (of liquor) fully matured, with the occ. connotation of potent, or merely suggested by mellow.

ripe Richard. See Richard, get the.

rippen. A sol. variant (— 1887) of rippin' = ripping, q.v.

ripper. A person or thing esp. good: 1838, of a ball bowled extremely well at cricket (Lewis); 1851, Mayhew. Prob. ex ripping, adj., q.v.—2. In boxing, a knock-down blow: from ca. 1860; very ob.—3. A notable lie: from ca. 1860; ob. Cf. whopper.—4. One behaving recklessly; a rip: 1877 (O.E.D.); ob.—5. A longshoreman taking his fish inland to sell: fishermen's: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

ripping, n. A ceremony (involving the ripping of his gown), 'incidental to the departure of a Senior Colleger for King's College, Cambridge', F. & H.: Eton College: C. 19–20: s. > coll. > j. ripping, adj. Excellent; very fast; very entertaining: 1826, The Sporting Magazine, 'At a ripping pace'; 1858, 'Ripping Burton' (ale). O.E.D. Cf. rattling, stunning, thundering (W.).—2. Occ. it verges on the advl., as in 'A ripping fine story' (Baumann, 1887) and 'A ripping good testimonial' (Conan Doyle, 1894: O.E.D.). Cf.:

rippingly. Excellently; capitably; splendidly: 1892, Hume Nisbet.

ripstone. An incorrect form of ribstone: Dickens in Pickwick. O.E.D.

ris; riz. (E.g. he) rose; risen: both senses, sol. (— 1887). Baumann.

rise. A rise in salary: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.: 1837, Dickens, 'Eighteen bob a-week, and a rise if he behaved himself'.—2. In Australia, 'an accession of fortune', C. J. Dennis: coll.: late C. 19–20.—3. A fit of anger: Cockney coll.: 1895, H. W. Nevins, Neighbours of Ours. Ex v., 2.

rise, v. To raise, grow, rear: coll. (in C. 20, almost a sol., certainly low coll.): 1844, Dickens, 'Where was you rose?', O.E.D.—2. To listen credulously, often—esp. in C. 20—with the connotation of to grow foolishly angry: coll.: 1856, Whyte-Melville. Ex a fish rising to the bait: cf. bite, v., q.v., and the S.E. get, have, or take a rise out of a person.

rise a Barney. To collect a crowd: showmen's: from ca. 1855. H., 1st ed.

rise and shine. (Gen. in imperative.) To get up in the morning: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. The imperative is partly c.p., partly j.

rise (or raise) arse upwards. To be lucky: coll.: ca. 1670–1800. Ray. Rising thus from the ground was regarded as lucky.

rise the plant. See plant, rise the.

risky. Secretly adulterous: Society coll.: ca. 1890–1905. 'John Strange Winter.' (Ware.)

rispin. See respun.

risy, adj. Apt to, trying to, take a rise out of persons: Cockney: C. 20. Esp. 'Don't be risy!' (Heard on Aug. 21, 1936.)

Rit, rit. A ritualistic Anglican clergyman: university: ca. 1870–1910. Ware.

rith. Three: back s. (— 1923). Manchon.

ritualistic knee. A sore knee caused by kneeling at prayers: medical coll.: ca. 1840–60. Ware.

river, up the. Reported to the Trade Union officials for speeding: workers' (— 1935). Perhaps ex American c., wherein sent up the river = sent to prison.

river hog or pig. A lumberman specialising in river work: Canadian lumbermen's: C. 20. John Beames.

River Lea. The sea: rhyming s. (— 1903). F. & H.—2. But orig., and until ca. 1900 gen., tea (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Cf. Rosy Lee.

River Ouse. A drink; a drinking-bout: rhyming s. (on booze): late C. 19–20. B. & P. river pig. See river hog.

river(-)rat. 'A riverside thief: specifically one who robs the corpses of men drowned', F. & H. In the former sense, S.E.; in the latter, c.: from ca. 1880.

river tick; gen. River Tick. (F. & H. refers us to tick, where, however, no reference is made to r.t.) Standing debts discharged at the end of one's undergraduate days: Oxford University: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

rivets. Money: ca. 1890–1910. Prob. suggested by brads, q.v.

rivet(t)ed, ppl.adj. Married: app. ca. 1695–1730. Congreve, The Way of the World, 1700. (G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.) Cf. 'the modern spliced and tied up, the Scottish buckled, and the Australian hitched or . . . hitched up', Slang, p. 64.

riz. See ris.

rizzle. 'To enjoy a short period of absolute idleness after a meal': provincial s. (not in E.D.D.): 1890, Cassell's Saturday Journal, Aug. 2, 'the newest of new verbs'. Perhaps ex dial. rizzle, to dry by the heat of sun or fire, via the notion of sunning oneself.

roach, sound as a. See sound as . . .

roach and dace. The face: rhyming s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed.

road. A harlot: coll.: late C. 16–17. Shakespeare.—2. The female pudend: C. (?) 17–20, very ob.: either low coll. or S.E. euphemism. Cf. road-making, q.v.—3. Way, manner; esp. in any road, occ. anyroad: non-aristocratic, non-cultured coll.: late C. 19–20. Indial. before 1886; Australian by 1888 (Boldrewood). P. MacDonald, Rope to Spare, 1932, 'Anyroad, sir, to cut a long story short, I gets down to the mill-'ouse.' Ex:—4. Direction; esp. all roads, in every direction: (mostly lower-class) coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

road, gentleman or knight of the. A highwayman: C. 18–19: coll. > journalistic S.E. See the paragraph at knight.

road, get the. To be dismissed from employment: Glasgow (— 1934). Prob. suggested by walking-orders, q.v.

road, give the. See give the road.

road-hog. An inconsiderate (cyclist or) motorist: 1898 (O.E.D.), though, in U.S., as early as 1891, of a cyclist: coll. >, by 1910, S.E.

road-making; road up for repairs. A low phrase indicating menstruation: mid-C. 19–20. See road, 2.

road-starver. A long coat without pockets: mendicants' c.: ca. 1881–1914. Ware.

roadster. 'A parcel to be put out at a roadside station', The Times, Feb. 14: 1902: railway coll. O.E.D.—2. A young 'swell' in the Mile End Road: East London (— 1909); † by 1930. Ware.

roadster. A tramp: tailors': late C. 19–20. Cf. road, get the.

roof. (Cf. rouf, q.v.) Four: back s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed. Ex the sol. pronunciation of four as foär or foër.—2. Whence (same period) roof gen, four shillings; roof yanneps, fourpence.

Roaming. See Roming.

roar. (Of horses) to breathe noisily: 1880 (O.E.D.): coll. >, in C. 20, S.E. Cf. roarer, 1.

roar up. To speak abusively to; shout at: lower classes': from ca. 1905. F. & Gibbons.

roaratorio. See roratorio.—roaration. See roration.—roaratorious. See roritorious.

roarer. A broken-winded horse: from ca. 1810: coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. Lex. Bal. Cf. roar, v.—2. A riotously noisy reveller or bully: late C. 16–early 18: coll. D. Rowland, 1586; 1709, Steele. Ex roar, rore, to riot. O.E.D.—3. A noisy or a rousing song: 1837, Marryat: coll., though the O.E.D. considers it S.E.

roaring. The disease in horses noted at roar and at roarer, 1. From ca. 1820: coll. >, by 1900, S.E.

roaring, adj. Brisk, successful, esp. in roaring trade: from ca. 1790: coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. Grose, 3rd ed.—2. Boisterous; (of health) exuberant: 1848, Thackeray. O.E.D.

roaring, adv. Extremely; very greatly: lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

roaring blade, boy, girl, lad, ruffian. A street bully; a riotous, noisy, lawless female: C. 17–mid-18 (later, only archaic): coll. A roaring blade, 1640, Humphry Mill; r. boy, 1611, J. Davies (O.E.D.); r. girl, 1611, Middleton & Dekker (title); r. lad, 1658, Rowley, etc. (but current from ca. 1610); r. ruffian, 1664, Cotton.

roaring forties; R. F. 'The degrees of latitude between 40° and 50° N—the most tempestuous part of the Atlantic', F. & H.; occ. the corresponding zone in the South Atlantic. Nautical coll.; in C. 20, S.E. From ca. 1880.

roaring ruffian. See roaring blade.

roast. To arrest: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 2nd ed. Perhaps on (ar)rest, via the idea of giving a person a hot time.—2. (Also roast brown.) To watch closely: c.: 1888, G. R. Sims, 'A reeler was roasting me brown.' Cf. roasting, n., c. sense.—3. To ridicule, to quiz (a person), severely or cruelly: 1726, Shelvocke: s. >, ca. 1760, coll.; ob. Cf. to warm. (O.E.D.) In C. 20 Glasgow, esp. to pester.—4. In telegraphy, to click off a message so fast that it cannot be followed by (a person; v.t.): 1888 (O.E.D.): telegraph-operators'.

roast, smell of the. To get into prison: coll.: ca.: 1580–1640. Nares.

roast a stone. To waste time and energy: coll.: ca. 1520–1620. Skelton. Apperson.

Roast and Boiled, the. The Life Guards; military: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 2nd ed., '[They] are mostly substantial housekeepers, and eat daily of roast and boiled,' i.e. roast meat and boiled potatoes. Cf. roast-meat clothes, q.v.

roast-beef dress. Full uniform: naval coll. (— 1867); ob. Smyth. Either ex roast-meat clothes, q.v., or ex the uniform of the royal beef-eaters.

roast brown. A C. 20 variant of roast, v., 2. Manchon.

roast (h)and an(d) new (or noo). Roast shoulder (of mutton) and new potatoes: eating-house waiters' (— 1909). Ware.

roast meat, cry. To talk about one's good fortune or good luck: coll.: C. 17–early 19. Camden, B.E., Grose, Fielding, Lamb. Northall, 1894, notes that in dial. it also = to boast of women's favours. (Apperson.)

roast meat and beat with the spit, give (a person). 'To do one a Courtesy, and Twit or Upbraid him with it', B.E.: coll.: ca. 1670–1820.

roast-meat clothes. Sunday or holiday clothes: coll.: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E., Grose.

roast meat for worms, make (one). To kill:

coll.: late C. 16—early 18. Shakespeare. Cf. the jocular S.E. food for the worms.

roast snow in a furnace. To attempt the absurd or unnecessary: coll.: C. 19—20; ob. Apperson.

roaster. A person hurnt to death in a crash: Royal Air Force's (— 1935). By influence of 'the Oxford -er'.

roasting, vbl.n. of roast, v., in all senses except the first: sense 2 occurs mostly in give (one) a roasting, recorded for 1879, and in get a roasting, to be very closely watched.

roasting-jack. The female pudend: low: mid-C. 19—20; oh. Ex S.E. sense.

Rob All My Comrades. The Royal Army Medical Corps: military, more gen. as c.p. than as nickname: G.W., but rare after 1916. F. & Gibbons.

rob(o')-Davy. Metheglin: a mid-C. 16—mid-17 coll. variation of roberdavy. Taylor the Water Poet.

rob Peter to pay Paul. See Peter to pay Paul, rob.

rob the barber. To wear long hair: lower classes' coll.: late C. 19—20. Ware.

rob(-)the(-)ruffian. The female pudend: low coll.: C. 19—20; oh.

roba. See bona roba.

robe. A wardrobe: furniture-dealers' coll.: late C. 19—20. The Spectator, June 7, 1935. Cf. board, n., 2: they may be written 'board and 'robe.

Roberdsmen, Robert's men, etc. 'The third (old) Rank of the Canting Crew, mighty Thieves, like Robin-hood', B.E.: c.: C. 16—17. In other than this technical sense, it covers the period C. 14—20 and is S.E., though long archaic. Proh. on Robert + robber.

Robert; Roberto. A policeman: coll.: resp. 1870, ca. 1890; both ob. Ex Robert Peel. Cf. peeler.

robin. See Robin Redbreast.—2. A penny: low: from ca. 1890; ob.—3. A 'little hoy or girl heggar standing about like a starving robin': c. and low: late C. 19—20; oh. Ware.

Robin Hog. (Prob.) a constable: coll.: early C. 18. O.E.D.

Robin Hood. An audacious lie: coll.: ? C. 18—19. F. & H. Abhr. tale of Robin Hood.

Robin Hood, adj. Good: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Robin Hoods, the. 'The 7th (Territorial) Battalion of the Sherwood Foresters': military nickname: late C. 19—20. F. & Gibbons. Sherwood Forest was Robin Hood's reputed haunt.

Robin Hood(s) bargain. A great hargain: coll.: C. 18. Cf. pennyworth, Robin Hood(s).

Robin Hood's choice. This—or nothing. Coll.: C. 17. (Apperson.)

Robin Hood's mile. A distance two or three times greater than a mile: coll.: ca. 1550—1700. Almost proverbial.

Robin Redbreast; r. r. A Bow-Street runner: ca. 1840—70. Also robin and redbreast.

Robin Ruddock. Gold coin: ? late C. 16—mid-18. Manchon. See ruddock, 1.

robin's-eye. A scab (sore): low: mid-C. 19—20; oh. Ex shape.

Robinson. See Jack Robinson.

Robinson Crusoe. Do so: from ca. 1890. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

roble. An † error for romble (rumble). O.E.D.

robustious was, ca. 1740—90, a coll. See esp. Johnson.

Roby Douglas. The anus: nautical: ca. 1780—1850. Grose, 1785, 'One eye and a stinking breath': which indicates an allusion to one so named.

Rochester portion. 'Two torn Smocks, and what Nature gave', B.E.: late C. 17—early 19. (N.b., portion is marriage-portion, dot; what = physical charms in gen., but esp. the genitals in particular.) Cf. the C. 18—19 equivalent, a Whitechapel portion. Pegge, 1735, cites R. p. as a Kentish proverb.

rock. School (opp. to haker's) bread: Derby School: from ca. 1850. Less s. than coll. > j.—2. A medium-sized stone: Winchester School coll.: from ca. 1860. Perhaps owing to U.S. and Australian use of rock as a stone however small.—3. See Rock, the.—4. See rocks.—5. See sense 2 of:

rock, v. To speak: tramps' c. (— 1893); very ob. Abhr. rock (rokker), q.v.—2. V.t. 'To hit with a missile; . . . also used by children for a hit when playing at marbles', Pettman: South African coll. (— 1913). Ex Dutch raken, to hit, to touch.

Rock, the. Gihraltar: coll.: from ca. 1840. Ex the main feature of Gihraltar.—2. See Old Steadfast.

rock-a-low. An overcoat: dial. and (low) coll. (— 1860); ob. by 1890, † hy 1910. H., 2nd ed. = Fr. roquelaure.

rock-nosing. 'Inshore hoat work in the old whalers': whalers' coll.: ca. 1850—1910. Bowen.

rock of ages. Wages: rhyming s.: C. 20.—2. by the rock of ages, relying on sight; without a measure: tailors': 1928, The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29. Cf.:

rock of eye and rule of thumb, do by. To guess instead of measuring precisely: tailors': from ca. 1860. Presumably rock = a movement to and fro.

Rock(-)Scorpion. A mongrel Gihraltarine: naval, military: from ca. 1850. Cf. S.E. Rock English, the Lingua Franca spoken at Gibraltar (Borrow, 1842). Ex Rock, the, q.v.

rocked. Absent-minded, forgetful: low (— 1812) † hy 1900. Vaux. Ex:

rocked in a stone kitchen. A little weak in the head; foolish: coll.: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed., 'His hrains having been disordered by the jumpling of his cradle' on the stone floor. Cf. half-rocked.

rock (or rokker); occ. rock, q.v. To speak: tramps' c.: from ca. 1850; since ca. 1900, gen. low s. H., 5th ed., 1874; C. Hindley, 1876, 'Can you rocker Romany . . .?'; A. Morrison, 1894, 'Hewitt could rokker better than most Romany chals themselves.' Ex Romany roker (Sampson's raker), to talk, speak, with variant voker (cf. L. vox, vocare); cf. Romany roker(o)mengro, lit. a talk-man, i.e. a lawyer.

rock, off one's. (Temporarily) mad; extremely eccentric: low: 1897 (O.E.D.). Ex the piece of wood that enables a chair or a cradle to rock.

rocket, off one's. A military perversion (G.W.) of the preceding. F. & Gibbons.

rockiness. Crazy: from ca. 1898. Ex S.E. term influenced by rock, off one's.

rocks. Jewels; pearls; precious stones: c.: from ca. 1920. Ex U.S. rocks, diamonds.

rocks, on the. Without means: coll. (— 1889) >, hy 1910, S.E. Ex stranded ship.

rocks, pile up the. To make money: U.S. (rocks, money, 1847), partly anglicised ca. 1895. Kipling uses it in 1897 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex rock = a nugget: cf. rock, n., 2, and, in C. 20 U.S. c., rock, a precious stone.

rocks and boulders. (The) shoulders: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. B. & P.

rocky. A R.N.R. rating; a R.N.V.R. rating: naval: resp. ca. 1890–1914 and from ca. 1914. Bowen.

rocky, adj. A vague pejorative: e.g. unsatisfactory (weather), unpleasant or hard (for, on a person): 1883 (O.E.D.). Ex S.E. rocky, unsteady, unstable, tipsy. Hence go rocky, go wrong.—2. Penniless—or almost: coll.: 1923, Galsworthy (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex on the rocks.

rod. The penis: coll.: C. 18–20. Also fishing-rod: C. 19–20: s. Cf. the Fr. verge, which is literary.—2. Incorrect for rad, afraid: C. 16. O.E.D.

rod, v.i. and t. To coit (with): low: C. 19–20. Ex rod, n., 1.

rod at, or under, one's girdle. With various vv., it implies a whipping, present or past: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1579–1620. Lyly, Jonson. O.E.D.

rod in pickle. See pickle and piss. rod-maker. 'The man who made the rods used in Bibling (q.v.)', Mansfield, referring to ca. 1840: Winchester School: coll. > j.; † by 1920.

roddy. A rhododendron: London lower-class coll.: 1851, Mayhew (E.D.D.). Cf. rhody, q.v.

rodger. See roger, v.

rodney or R. A (very) idle fellow: coll.: ca. 1865–95. Ex dial., where still extant, in the North and Midlands. Cf. the sad declension of Sawney.

roe. The semen: low: from ca. 1850; ob. Hence, shoot one's roe, emit. Ex fish-roe.

rofeil; occ. ro(u)l-effil. A life sentence: back s. (–1859) of for life. H., 1st ed. On for life.

roge, roging. C. 16–17 forms of rogue, roguing, qq.v.

roger. A beggar pretending to be a university scholar: c. of mid-C. 16. Copland. Cf. rogue.—2. A goose: c.: mid-C. 16–18. Harman, Grose. Also Roger (or Tib) of the buttery: C. 16–18.—3. A portmanteau: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Perhaps a corruption of poge.—4. A thief-taker: c. of ca. 1720–60. A New Canting Dict., 1725. ? via postulated rogue-er, a taker of rogues.—5. The penis: from ca. 1650: perhaps orig. c. Ex the name Roger: cf. dick, John Thomas.—6. A ram: rural coll. of ca. 1760–1900. Ex the name.—7. A bull: coll. (–1785); ob. Grose, 1st ed.—8. See Roger, jolly.—9. See old Roger.—10. A gas-cylinder: military: 1916. W. Ex the code word therefor (F. & Gibbons).—11. Rum: military: from ca. 1912. F. & Gibbons. Ex a U.S. coon-ditty with the refrain 'O Rogerum!'—12. 'The naval nickname of the senior officer of each section of the 4th Division of the Homo Fleet . . . A contraction of Rozhdestvensky, the Russian Commander-in-Chief', Bowen: C. 20; † except historically.

roger; often rodger. To coit with (a woman): perhaps orig. c.: 1750, Robertson of Struan, who spells it rodger; Grose, 1st ed., 'From the name of Roger, frequently given to a bull'.

Roger, jolly; in late C. 19–20, occ. Roger. A pirate's flag: 1785, Grose: coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E. Earliest record, 1723, as old Roger (W.). (A white skull in a black field; ironic.)

Roger Gough. Scrub (or brush) bloodwood: Australian coll.: from early 1880's. 'An absurd name', Morris: either ex the general that won the battles of Sobraon and Ferozeshah, or, as The Australasian, Aug. 28, 1896, suggests, a corruption of an Aboriginal word now lost.

Roger (or Tib) of the buttery; or r. (or t.) . . . See roger, n., 2.

Rogers. 'A ghastly countenance': Society: ca. 1830–50. Ware. Ex Rogers, the poet when old, or ex the Jolly Roger of the pirates.

rogue. A professed beggar of the 4th Order of Canters: c.: mid-C. 16–17; then historical. Awdelay implies it in wild rogue; Dekker; B.E.; Grose. Whence S.E. senses. Perhaps an abbr. of roger, n., 1, of problematic origin, unless a perversion of † rorer, a turbulent fellow, on L. rogare, to ask.

rogue, v. To be a beggar, a vagrant: e. of ca. 1570–1630. Ex the n.

rogue, wild. A born rogue ever on tramp or a-begging: c.: ca. 1560–1700. Awdelay.

rogue and pullet. A man and woman confederate in theft: c.: mid-C. 19–20.

rogue and villain. A shilling: rhyming s. (–1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.' On shillin'.

rogue in grain. A corn-chandler: ca. 1780–1840. Grose, 2nd ed. Lit., a great rogue. Cf.:

rogue in spirit. 'A distiller or brandy merchant', Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1780–1840. Prob. suggested by rogue in grain, q.v., with a pun on spirit(s).

rogue's salute. 'The single gun on the morning of a court-martial': naval jocular coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

Rogues' Walk, the. From Piccadilly Circus to Bond Street: Society: ca. 1890–1905. Ware.

rogue with one ear. A chamber-pot: late C. 17–early 18. Randle Holme.

roguing, n. Tramping as rogue or vagrant: ca. 1575–1720: prob. orig. c. Harrison, 1577 (O.E.D.). The c. origin is postulated, for roguing is ex rogue, n., via the v. Cf.:

roguishness. The being a rogue, q.v.: late C. 16–early 17: prob. orig. c.

rogum pogum, or dragum pogram (-um). The plant goat's beard eaten as asparagus: late C. 18–mid-19: less s. than dial. and low coll. Grose, 3rd ed., 'So called by the ladies'—ironic, this—'who gather cresses, &c.'

roister, royster. In C. 17–early 18 c., one of a band of 'rude, Roaring Rogues', B.E.

roker. A ruler (esp. flat roker): stick; poker: schools': from ca. 1850. Ex roke, to stir a fire, a liquid: Halliwell.

roker (rare), rokker, v. See rock.

[role or (unashamedly Fr.) rôle (italicised) is correct, the former being preferable as thoroughly English; but either role (italicised) or rôle (without italics) is illogical—and silly.]

roll, n. See rolls.—roll, v. See the next seven or eight entries.—N., 2. Conceit; 'side'; presumption: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1890. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906. Also at Harrow: witness A. Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913. (Cf. lift, a Shrewsbury synonym.) By pun ex the words roll from sidc to side.

roll, be at the top of (a person's). To be heartily scorned by him: Regular Army's: from ca. 1910. Frank Richards, 1933. Perhaps = at the head of the crime-sheet.

roll in every rig. To be up to every trick; be up-to-date: low: Old Song, 1790, 'We roll in every knowing rig.'

roll in one's ivories or ivory. To kiss: 1780 Tomlinson in his Slang Pastoral, 'To roll in her ivory, to pleasure her eye'. After ca. 1850, always ivories. C.; ob. Cf. ivory, ivories; e.g. flash the ivories.

roll into. To pitch into; to thrash: coll.: Australian (and U.S.): 1890, 'Rolf Boldrewood'. (O.E.D.)

roll me in the dirt (occ. hyphenated). A shirt: rhyming s. (— 1874); † by 1915. H., 5th ed. In late C. 19–20, dicky (or Dicky) dirt.

roll me in the gutter. Butter: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

roll of snow. (A piece of) linen; (bundle of) underclothing: c. (— 1839). Brandon. See snow.

roll on, (big ship)!; roll on, duration! A military c.p. (1917–18) expressive of a fervent wish that the war might end. Manchon. See duration; the ship is that which takes one back home.

roll on, cocoa! (Ex the preceding phrase and the phrase succeeding the present one.) A prison c.p., esp. as the indication of a desire for the evening meal to arrive: from ca. 1919. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

roll on, demobilisation. Engines of the Railway Operating Department plying between 'Pop' and 'Wypers': military: 1917–18. B. & P.

roll one's hoop. To go ahead; be successful (both with a connotation of playing safe): coll.: from ca. 1870; ob.

roll out. To rise (esp. in the morning): coll.: from ca. 1880. Abbr. roll out of bed.

roll the leet. To pick pockets: c.: from ca. 1820; † by 1900. Egan, Boxiana, vol. iii, 'The boldest lad | That ever mill'd the cly, or roll'd the leet'.

roll up. A roly-poly pudding: coll.; in C. 20, S.E. and ob.: 1856 (O.E.D.). 1860, George Eliot. Cf. dog in a blanket.—2. A meeting: Australian: 1861 (O.E.D.): coll. till C. 20, then S.E.; anticipated in Grose (at Hussar-Leg). 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1890, 'As if you'd hired the bell-man for a roll-up'.—3. An order for a 'three-cross double' (q.v.) doubled: Glasgow public-houses' (— 1934).

roll up, v.i. To assemble: Australian s. >, ca. 1910, gen. coll.: 1887, J. Farrell, 'The miners all rolled up to see the fun.' Morris. Cf. roll-up, n., 2.—2. Hence, to appear on the scene: coll.: C. 20. (C.O.D., 1934 Sup.) rolled on Deal Beach. Pitted with small-pox: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex 'the shingly nature of that beach'.

roller. A roll-call: Oxford University: 1883 (O.E.D.). Occ. rollers. Oxford -er.—2. See:

rollers. The horse and foot (police) patrols: c.: ca. 1810–40. Vaux. Presumably because they rolled along at a great pace.—2. U.S. rolling stock: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1885.—3. See roller.

Rollickers, the. The 89th Foot Regiment, later the Royal Irish Fusiliers: from ca. 1830: military; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex their habits. Also, in 1798 +, known as Blayne's Blood-Hounds.

rolling. Smart, clever: low: ca. 1770–1870. ? ex rolling blade; cf. rolling kiddy.—2. Very rich: coll.: 1905, H. A. Vachell, 'He's going to marry a girl who's simply rolling' (Manchon). Abbr. rolling in money (or wealth).

rolling kiddy. A smart thief: c.: ca. 1820–90. Egan, 'With rolling kiddies, Dick would dive and buy'; Lytton.

rolling off a log, (as) easy as. Very easy, easily: U.S. (1847), anglicised as a coll. ca. 1870.

rolling-motion dickey. The three-wavy-lined blue jean collar worn by the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve before the G.W.: naval: late C. 19—early 20. Bowen.

rolling-pin. The male member: low: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. roly-poly, 2.

Rolling Rezzie. H.M.S. Resolution of 1889: naval. Bowen.

rolls. A baker: C. 19–20, ob.: coll. Also, but rather S.E. than coll., master of the rolls: mid-C. 18–20; slightly ob. Adumbrated by Taylor the Water Poet. (O.E.D.)

Rolls. A Rolls-Royce motor-car: motorists' coll.: from ca. 1925.

rollster. An incorrect form of roster: C. 19. Occ. rolster. O.E.D.

roly-poly. Un-deux-cinq (a game): Londoners': ca. 1820–50. Bee.—2. A jam roll pudding: 1848, Thackeray: coll. till ca. 1880, then S.E. Abbr. roly-poly pudding, also in Thackeray (1841). Also roll-up and dog in a blanket.—3. The penis: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

rom. See rum (adj.).—2. Occ. among tramps, rom = a male Gypsy: from ca. 1850. In Romany, rom is a bridegroom, a husband; any (adult) male Gypsy: see esp. Sampson.

Roman. 'A soldier in the foot guards, who gives up his pay to his captain for leave to work; serving like an ancient Roman, for glory and the love of his country,' Grose, 1st ed.: military: ca. 1780–1830.

Roman fall. That affected posture in walking which throws the head well forward and puts the small of the back well in; mostly among men, the women favouring the Grecian bend, q.v.: coll.: ca. 1868–71. The Orchestra, March 25, 1870.

[Romany. The language of the English Gypsies. See esp. O.E.D. and F. & H. It contributes many words to c. and to low s., esp. grafters'.]

Romany, patter. To talk Romany: C. 19–20: low. Vaux; Ainsworth.

Romany rye. A gentleman that talks and associates with Gypsies: mid-C. 19–20: coll. Ex Romany rai or rei, a gentleman. Popularised by Borrow's The Romany Rye, 1857.

romboyle, or -s. The watch (early police): mid C. 17–18 c. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose. Occ. rumboile, -boyle.

romboyle. To make hue and cry; search for with a warrant: c.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Esp. romboyed, wanted by the constables. Whence rumble, q.v.

rombulation. See rumbulation.—rombustical, rom-bustious. See rumbustical, rum-bustious.

rome. See rum, adj., 1.—So for combinations, e.g. rome mort.

Rome, gone to. See gone to Rome. Cf. return from Rome, (of bells) to resume ringing after the forty-eight hours' Easter silence: Roman Catholic coll. (— 1890). Ware.

Rome-runner. A person, esp. a cleric, constantly running off to Rome in search of spiritual and monetary profit: coll.: mid-C. 14–15.

Rome Ville, Romeville; in C. 16—early 17, often -vyle. Also Rumville. London: c.: mid-C. 16—mid-19. Harman, Dekker, B.E., Grose. Lit., excellent city. See rum, c. adj., 1.

romely. See rumly.

Romeo. Robert Coates (1772–1848), a London leader of fashion. Also Diamond Coates. He was very gallant, very wealthy. (Dawson.)

Romeville. See Rome Ville.—Romford. See Rumford.

Romford. See Rumford.

Roming (or Roaming) Catholic. A sol. pronunciation of Roman Catholic: C. 19–20. Dorothy Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927, 'A nice lady . . . a Roaming Catholic or next door to one'.

romp. To move rapidly (and with ease): racing: from ca. 1890. J. S. Winter, 1891, 'To use the language of the turf, she romped clean away from them,' O.E.D. Cf. romp away with.

Romp, Miss. Mrs. Jordan (1762–1816), the actress. She was William IV's mistress when he was Duke of Clarence. Dawson.

romp away with. To win (a race) easily: racing s.: from ca. 1890. In C. 20, it is gen. coll., often used fig. Ex romp, q.v. Cf.:

romp home or in, v.i. To win very easily: racing s. >, in C. 20, gen. coll.: 1888, 'Thormanby' (romp in); Sporting Life, March 20, 1891 (romp home, fig. of the winner of an athletic half-mile). O.E.D. and F. & H.

ronny. See rouny.

roo, 'roo. A rake: Society coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. I.e. roué.—2. A kangaroo: Australian: late C. 19–20. Properly a termination: cf. kangaroo, potoroo, wallaroo (Morris).

Roody Boys. Rue du Bois, near Neuve Chapelle (Flanders): military coll.: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.)

roof. A hat: 1857, Hughes; ob. O.E.D.—2. The head: 1897, 'Pomes' Marshall; slightly ob.

roof, hit the. See hit the roof.

roof-scraper. A spectator at the back of the gallery: theatrical coll. (—1909). Ware. Cf.:

roofer. A wretched little theatre: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

Rooinek. A British immigrant (1897); in Boer War, a British soldier: Boers' nickname: late C. 19—early 20. In Sth. African Dutch, lit. red-neck. The name replaced rooiwatje, red coat. Pettman; W.; O.E.D. Cf. rough neck, q.v.

rook. A housebreaker's jemmy or 'crow' (whence rook): ca. 1786–1850. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. As a swindler or a sharper, from ca. 1575, and until C. 19, s. (in C. 18, coll.); perhaps orig. c. Cf. hawk.—3. A clergyman: 1859, H., 1st ed.; ob. Ex black clothes.—4. A sloven: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. ? because his laziness 'rooks' others of their time.

rook, v. To cheat; defraud, and defraud of; charge extortionately: late C. 16–20: s. (? orig. c.) >, in C. 19, coll.

rookery. A gambling-hell: coll.: 1751, Smollett; ob. Like the next, ex rook, to cheat.—2. A brothel: coll.: 1821, Egan; ob.—3. A densely populated slum: coll.: 1823, Bee: coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Ex rookery, a colony of rooks.—4. The subalterns' quarters in barracks: military (—1860). H., 2nd ed. Ex the noise.—5. A scolding-match, a row, disturbance: s. > coll.: 1824 (O.E.D.). Also dial. Cf. preceding sense.

rook(ey); rookie. A (raw) recruit: military: 1893, Kipling. A perversion of recruit, no doubt; but with a pun on rook, rascally, scampish.

rooking. Vbl.n. of rook, v., q.v.: mid-C. 17–20.

room. See fore-room.—room(e), adj. See rum, adj., 1.

roomer. A lodger, esp. if occupying only one room: coll.: anglicised ca. 1875 ex U.S.

Rooshan. A Russian: sol. (—1887). Baumann.

roosher. A constable: c.: from ca. 1870; ob. Either a corruption of rozzer, q.v., or ex Scots rooser, ruser, a braggart.

roost. A garret: low Scots coll.: C. 19–20. Jamieson, 1808. (O.E.D.)—2. A resting-place; a bed: coll. (—1860). H., 2nd ed.

roost, v.i. To perch; seat oneself: coll.: 1816, Scott (O.E.D.). Ex fowls.—2. V.t., to imprison: military: ca. 1870–1910. ? ex roster.—3. V.i., to cheat; v.t., roost over; also, to take a rise out of a person: low: from ca. 1880; ob.

roost-lay. The practice—and art—of stealing poultry: c.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.

rooster. The female pudend: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Where the — roosts.—2. See queer rooster.—3. A member who makes himself heard: Parliamentary: from ca. 1860; ob. Ware.—4. An angler keeping to one place: River Lea anglers' (—1909). Ware.

roosting-key. A lodging-house; a 'doss-house': c. (—1887). Baumann.

root. Money: coll. (—1899); ob. Abbr. root of all evil.—2. (Also man-root.) The penis: low coll.: C. 19–20.—3. Whence, a priapism: low: late C. 19–20. Esp. in have the, get the r. Cf. rootle, q.v.—4. Bottom (of, e.g., a class): Charterhouse: C. 20.—5. A kick on the posterior: late C. 19–20; orig. Public Schools'. Ex:

root, v.t. To kick (a ball, a person): late C. 19–20. Semantics: uproot, root up. Perhaps orig. Public Schools'; Ian Hay, The Lighter Side of School Life, 1914, 'We rooted Sowerby afterwards for grinning.'

root, the old. The male member: perhaps rather coll. than s.: C. 19–20.

root, the real. The real thing; the best or the correct thing (to do): C. 20; slightly ob. Prob. ex the real root of the matter is . . .

root-about. Promiscuous football practice: school's (orig. Leys): late C. 19–20.

root about, v.i. To indulge in such practice: ib.: same period.—2. To search, esp. by rummaging about: dial. and, by C. 20, coll. Ex pigs rooting.

rooter. Anything very good, of prime quality. 1860, H., 2nd ed. E.g. a very smart dress, a brilliant gem.—2. Hence, anything (or any act) very flagrant (e.g. a lie) or brutal (attack, blow, ? orig. kick): from ca. 1865. Both senses very ob.

rooti. See rooty.

rootle, v.i. To coit: low: from ca. 1850; ob. Ex S.E. sense, to grub, poke about.—2. Also as n., in do a rootle: from ca. 1880. Cf. root, n., 2, 3.—3. To go or run about the place: from ca. 1925. Ronald Knox, The Body in the Silo, 1933. Ex root (around) + tootle (to go).

rooty; rooti. Bread: military: in India, from ca. 1800; fairly gen. from 1881, when the Army was reorganised. First recorded in 1883, G. A. Sala (a notable slangster) in The Illustrated London News, July 7. Ex Hindustani roti. (After the G.W., common among tramps as = casual-ward bread. Frank Jennings, 1932.)—2. Hence, food in gen.: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

rooty gong. A long-service medal: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Ex preceding + gong, q.v. Occ. rooty medal.

rope, v.t. To hold a horse in check so that it shall not win: racing coll.: 1857, G. Lawrence (O.E.D.); in C. 20, S.E. Also, in late C. 19–20, rope in.—2. V.i., to hold back in order to lose a race: racing and athletic coll. >, in C. 20, S.E.: 1874, H., 5th ed.

rope, cry (a). To cry a warning: late C. 16–17; coll. Shakespeare, 'Winchester Goose, I cry a rope! a rope!'; Butler, 1663, 'When they cry rope'. ? Ex hanging rope.

rope, for the. Due, or condemned, to be hanged: police coll.: late C. 19-20. Charles E. Leach.

rope-hooky. (Of hands) with fingers curled in: nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Esp. an old shell-back's, from years of handling ropes.

rope in. See rope, 1.—2. To decoy; enlist the services of: U.S. (— 1848) anglicised, as a coll., ca. 1890; after ca. 1918, S.E. Prob. ex lassoing.—3. Hence, rope in the pieces, to make money: coll.: late C. 19-20.—4. (rope in.) To arrest: coll. (now verging on S.E.): from ca. 1920.

rope to the eye of a needle, put a. To attempt the absurd, the impossible: semi-proverbial coll.: C. 19. Apperson.

Rope-Walk (or r. w.), go into the. 'In the law . . . a barrister is said to have gone into the rope-walk, when he has taken up practice in the Old Bailey,' Temple Bar, 1871; ob. As Serjeant Ballantine shows in his Reminiscences, 1882, when he says, 'What was called the Rope-Walk [at the Old Bailey] was represented by a set of agents clean neither in character nor person', the rope-walk meant also a set of shysters battenning on Criminal Law; moreover, he implies that the term dates back at least as early as 1850.

rope-yarn Sunday. A Sunday off: nautical coll. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann.—2. More correctly, a synonym of make and mend, q.v.: nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

ropeable. Angry; quick-tempered: from ca. 1890: Australian. Ex ropeable (i.e. wild) cattle.

roper. A hangman: †, says Bee in 1823. See Mr Roper.—2. One who 'ropes' a horse (1870) or, in athletics, himself (1887): coll. till C. 20, then S.E. See rope, 1 and 2. Occ. (of a horse only), roper-in. Dates: O.E.D.

roper-in. See roper, 2.—2. A decoy to a gambling den: U.S. (— 1859), anglicised ca. 1880: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. See rope in.

Roper, Mr; or the roper. The hangman: jocular coll.: ca. 1650-1750. (Cf. John Roper's window, q.v.) Charles Sackville, 6th Earl of Dorset. Cf. Roper's news, no news, in the Cornish that's Roper's news—hang the crier! (Apperson.)

Roper, Mrs. A Marine; the Marines: naval (— 1868); ob. 'Because they handle the ropes like girls, not being used to them' (Brewer). Cf. the C. 17 S.E. sense of roper: one deserving the rope.

Roper, marry Mrs. To enlist in the Marines: naval (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex preceding.

Roper's window, John. A rope-noose: ca. 1550-1640: coll. Huloet (O.E.D.).

ropes, be up to or know the. To be well-informed, expert; artful: coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): 1840, Dana, 'The captain . . . knew the ropes'; be up to, not before ca. 1870 and only in 'artful' sense.

ropes, on the high. See high ropes.

ropes, pull or work the. To direct; exercise one's influence: coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): from ca. 1880.

ropes, put up to the. To inform fully; to 'put wise': from ca. 1875: coll. Ex ropes, know the, q.v. Besant & Rice, 1877, have 'You've put me up to ropes'; up to the . . . is much commoner, at least in C. 20.

roping, vbl.n. See rope, v.

ropper. A scarf; a comforter: tramps' c.: 1873, Greenwood. ? wrapper perverted, asks

F. & H.: this seems viable, for cf. † Scots roppin, to wrap. (E.D.D.)

roram. The sun: c.: late C. 18-mid-19. Tufts. ? ex Roland, suggested by Oliver, c. for the moon, as F. & H. ingeniously suggests.

roration; rarely roaration. 'An oration pronounced with a loud unmusical voice', Grose, 1785; † by 1890: jocular coll. or s. As in roratorio, roar is punned. Cf.:

roratorio or roaratorio. 'Roratorios and Uproars, oratorio's and opera's', Grose, 1785; † by 1890. Sometimes sol. (cf. the Northamptonshire roratory, an oratorio), sometimes jocular coll. or s. Cf.:

roritorious; roaratorious. (Jubilantly) noisy: ca. 1820-60. Egan, 1821, 'The Randallites'—i.e. partisans of the great boxer—'were roritorious and flushed with good fortune.' Punning oratorio and uproarious, and perhaps notorious. Cf. the S.W. dial. roxy-ory, 'loud, noisy, stirring' (E.D.D.).

rort at. To complain of; blame fiercely: low: C. 20. (Michael Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935, 'It isn't you . . . that I'm rorting at.') Ex rorty, q.v.

rortiness; rarely rortyness. The abstract n. of:

rorty; occ. raughty. Of the best; excellent; dashing; lively; jolly; sprightly: costers': from ca. 1860. 'Chickalcary' Vance, ca. 1864, 'I have a rorty gal'; Milliken, 1893, 'We'd a rare rorty time of it'; Whiteing, 1899, 'A right-down raughty gal.' Ware ranks a rorty toff as inferior to a rorty bloke. W. suggests a rhyme on naughty.—2. Amorous: low: from not later than 1893. Manchon.—3. Likewise ex sense 1; always in trouble: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

rorty, adv. to rorty, adj., 1: C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

rorty, do the. To have a good time: costers' (— 1893). Milliken. Ex rorty, adj., 1.

rorty dasher; 2, rorty toff. A fine fellow; 2, an out-and-out swell: costers': from ca. 1880.

rory; R. Short for:

Rory o' More. A whore (— 1874; ob.); a floor (— 1857); a door (— 1892). Resp. H., 5th ed.; 'Ducange Anglicus'; 'Pomes' Marshall, 'I fired him out of the Rory quick.'

Rorys, the. The 93rd Highlanders, later the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders: military: mid-C. 19-early 20. F. & Gibbons. Rory being a common Scottish name.

ros-bif Yorkshee. A red-faced Yorkshireman: in the catering trade, esp. in Italian restaurants: C. 20. Ex the fact that Yorkshiremen expect to find roast beef and Yorkshire pudding even in Italian restaurants.

rosa, sub. See sub rosa.

Rosalie. A bayonet: rare military: 1915-18. B. & P. Adopted from Fr. s., where it was more common among civilians than among soldiers.

rosary, the. A variation of the confidence trick: c.: C. 20. Charles E. Leach.

rosary-counter. A Roman Catholic: Irish Orangemen's (— 1934).

rose. The female pudend; a maidenhead: C. 18-20.—2. A bitch: showmen's: from ca. 1860.—3. An orange: 1860, H., 2nd ed.; † by 1915. ? ex the sweet smell.

rose, v. Raised. See rise, v.—2. Risen: S.E. until C. 19, then sol. Baumann.

rose, pluck a. To take a virginity; (among women) to ease oneself in the open air: both coll.

verging on euphemistic S.E.: C. 18–20. Swift (2nd sense).

rose, strike with a feather and stab with a. To punish playfully: coll.: ca. 1888–1914. Ex a music-hall refrain; cf., however, Webster's 'M. If I take her near you, I'll cut her throat. F. With a fan of feathers,' 1612. Cf. run through the nose with a cushion, q.v.

rose, under the. In confidence; 'on the quiet'; secretly: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. >, ca. 1660, coll. >, ca. 1850, again S.E. Dymock, 1546; Grose. Here, rose = rose-bush; sub rosa is modern, not Classic, L. Grose, 2nd ed., mentions that the rose was 'sacred to Harpocrates, the God of Silence', as does Sir Thomas Browne.

rose-coloured. 'Bloody': coll. euphemism (— 1923); ob. Manchon. Also roseate: id.; id. Ibid.

Roseberys. London County Council 2½% Stock: money-market: late C. 19–early 20. Ex Lord Rosebery, who was the first Chairman of the Council. Incorrectly Roseberrys or -berries.

rosebuds. Potatoes: rhyming s. (on spuds): late C. 19–20. B. & P.

rosella. A European working bared to the waist: Northern Australia (— 1898). 'The scorching of the skin . . . produces a colour which probably suggested a comparison with the bright scarlet of the parrakeet so named,' Morris.

roses and raptures. A literary c.p. (ca. 1830–90) applied to the Book of Beauty kind of publication. Ware.

rosey. See rosy.

rosh; roush. To horse-play: Royal Military Academy: from ca. 1880. Hence, stop roshing!, be quiet! Perhaps a corruption of rouse.

rosie. A rubbish-tin: nautical, esp. stewards' (— 1935). Perhaps ex the stench.—2. See rosy.

rosin. A fiddler: coll.: 1870, Figaro, Oct. 31, 'They playfully call me "Rosin" . . . yet I must . . . go on with my playing.' Ex the rosin used on violin bows.—2. Fiddler's drink: coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex S.E. rosin, to supply with, or to indulge oneself in, liquor.

rosin-the-bow. A fiddler: coll. (— 1864); very ob. Ex a song so titled. Cf. rosin, 1.

Rossacrucian. A follower of O'Donovan Rossa: journalistic: 1885–6. Invented by G. R. Sims, punning Rossa and Rosicrucian.

rosser. See rozzer.—rost = roast. See roast.

rost, turn roast to. From arrogant to become humble: coll.: C. 16. Halliwell. Prob. ex the humbling of a boastful cook, rost being rust.

rosy, always preceded by the. Wine: 1840, Dickens, 'Richard Swiveller finished the rosy, and applied himself to the composition of another glassful.' Orig. and properly, red wine; cf. Fr. s. le rosé, which Kastner & Marks have omitted in their excellent Glossary.—2. Blood: sporting (— 1891); ob. Sporting Life, March 25, 1891. Suggested by claret, q.v.—3. Good fortune: Cockney (— 1893). Milliken. Ex rosy, favourable, of good omen.—4. (Rosy.) Abbr. of Rosy Lee: esp. among grafters: C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

rosy, do the. To have a 'rosy', i.e. pleasant, time: Cockney (— 1893); ob. Milliken, 'A doin' the roty and rosy as lively as 'Opkins's lot'.

rosy, give the. See give the rosy.

Rosy Lee. Tea: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

rot. Nonsense trash, 'bosh' (q.v.): s. >, ca.

1920, coll.: 1848, O.E.D.; 1861, H. C. Pennell, "'Sonnet by M. F. Tupper". A monstrous pile of quintessential rot.' Like rotter, 'app. first at Cambridge', W. Ex rot, dry rot, decay. Also tommy rot, q.v., and dry rot: coll. (— 1887); † by 1920 (Baumann).

rot, v. To chaff severely: 1890, Lehmann, 'Everybody here would have rotted me to death'; slightly ob. Ex rot, n. (O.E.D.)—2. To talk nonsense: 1899, Edén Phillpotts; ob. (O.E.D.)—3. In imprecations: late C. 16–19: coll. Shakespeare, 1588, 'But vengeance rot you all.' Semantics: 'may you go rotten!' Also in rot it!, C. 17–18, and rot (up)on, C. 17. In rot um!, um = 'em, them. (Extant, though ob., in dial.)—4. To spoil; mar nonsensically or senselessly: 1908, A. S. M. Hutchinson, 'He was rotting the whole show.' Also rot up, as in Desmond Coke, The House Prefect, 1908: orig. Public Schools'.

rot! Nonsense!; bosh!: from ca. 1860. Henley & Stevenson, 1892, 'Oh, rot, I ain't a parson.' Ex the n., q.v.; quite independent of rot, v., 3. Cf. rotten!

rot about. To waste time from place to place; to play the fool: from late 1890's. Ware.

rot-funk. A panic: cricketers': ca. 1890–1914. Ware.

rot-gut; occ. rotgut. Any unwholesome liquor; esp. inferior weak beer: late C. 16–20: coll. >, by C. 19, S.E. G. Harvey, 1597. Occ. as adj.: C. 18–20. T. Hughes, 'rot-gut stuff'. Grose, 1785, rhymes thus, 'Rot gut, small beer, called beer a bumble, | Will burst one's guts before 'twill make one tumble.'

Rot-His-Bone, be gone to. To be dead and buried: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 1785. Punning Ratisbon. Cf. be gone to the Diet of Worms.

rot it!; rot on!; rot um!; rot upon! See rot, v., 3.—For rot up, see rot, v., 4.

rotan. A wheeled vehicle: 1725, A New Canting Dict.; Grose; † by 1870. Prob. c. Ex L. rota. Whence, according to Bee, comes Rotten Row: which etymology may be correct.

Rothschild. See come the Rothschild.

rotten. In a deplorable state or ill-health; ill; worthless; 'beastly': from ca. 1880. R. L. Stevenson, 1881, 'You can imagine how rotten I have been feeling,' O.E.D.—2. Drunk: Glasgow (— 1934). Proleptic.

[rotten, bells go. In C. 20, certainly j.; prob. always j. For those who wish to claim it as unconventional English, I supply two references: E.D.D. at bell, n.; R. G. K. Wrench, Winchester Word-Book, 2nd ed., 1901, at peals and rotten.]

rotten! An expletive corresponding to rotten, sense 1: from ca. 1890.

rotten-guts. A person with stinking breath: lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

rotten orange; Rotten Orange, the. A follower of William III: William III himself: Jacobites': 1686–ca. 1700. Ware. Because he was Prince of Orange.

Rotten Row. 'A line of old ships-in-ordinary in routine order', Smyth, 1867: nautical; ob.—2. A bow: rhyming s. (— 1909). Ware.

Rotten Row, belong to. (Of ships) to be in ordinary: naval: C. 19. Bowen.—2. Whence (likewise of ships) to be discarded as unserviceable: nautical: from ca. 1890; ob. A pun on Rotten Row, perhaps via rotten borough.

rotten sheep. A useless person (esp. male). a mean traitor: Fenian: 1889, The Daily News, July 3; ob. Ex a sheep affected with the rot.

rotter. An objectionable person: 1894, George Moore (O.E.D.). Ex rot, n., and rotten. (Addenda.)

Rouen, client for. A soldier venereally infected: military coll.: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. The main venereal hospital was there.

rouf. Four: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

rouf-efil. See rofeffil.

rough, n. A rough rider: coll.: 1899, The Daily News, Feb. 23 (O.E.D.); ob. Cf. rougher.

rough, adj. See rough on.—2. Of food, esp. fish: coarse, inferior, stale: London coll.: from ca. 1850; slightly ob. Mayhew, 'The . . . "rough" fish is bought chiefly for the poor.'

rough, a bit of. A woman, esp. if viewed sexually; low: from ca. 1870.

rough, cut up. See cut up rough.

rough and tough. A (? rhyming) coll. variant of rough: ca. 1880–1915. Baumann. = rough neck, q.v.

rough and tumble (often hyphenated). A free fight; a go-as-you-please fight: from ca. 1810: boxing coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. (The adj. is S.E.)—2. The female pudend: low: from ca. 1850. Also the rough and ready. Cf. rough, a bit of, and rough malkin.

rough as a sand-bag. (Of a story) very exaggerated; (of a person) uncouth or objectionable: military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. rough as bags.

rough as a tinker's budget (bag). Very rough: ca. 1650–1700. Howell. (Apperson.) Cf.:

rough as bags. (Of persons) very rough or uncouth: Australian coll.: C. 20.

rough as I run or it runs. Though I am rough, coarse, ignorant; it's certainly rough: coll.: late C. 17–mid-19. T. Brown, 1687, 'If you don't like me rough, as I run, fare you well, madam'; Ray, 1813, 'Rough as it runs, as the boy said when the ass kicked him.' Apperson.

rough diamond. A person of good heart and/or ability but no manners: from ca. 1750: coll. till ca. 1880, then S.E. The Adventurer, 1753; Lytton.

rough fam or fammy; occ. hyphenated. A waistcoat pocket: c.: ca. 1810–50. Vaux. In c., fam (q.v.) is the hand: ? ex the habit of putting one's thumb in the pocket.

rough house. Disorder; a quarrel; a noisy disturbance or struggle: coll.; U.S. (1887) anglicised ca. 1910.

rough-house, v. To treat roughly: coll., orig. (ca. 1900) U.S.; anglicised ca. 1914. O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex the n.—2. Hence, to act noisily or violently: coll.: 1920, 'Sapper' (ibid.).

rough Malkin (or m.). The female pudend: low Scots: C. 16.

rough neck, rough-neck, roughneck. A rough, ignorant fellow: U.S. (1836, a rowdy), anglicised ca. 1910: coll. Cf. rooinck, q.v.

rough on. Hard for; bearing hardly on: coll.: U.S. (1870, Bret Harte), anglicised ca. 1885 (e.g. Besant, 1887). ? ex rough luck (cf. tough luck).—2. Severe on or towards (a person): coll.: U.S. (1870), anglicised ca. 1890. Hardy, 1895. O.E.D. Cf.:

rough on rats; gen. it's . . . Rough luck: from ca. 1890. See rough on.

rough-rider's (or -ers') wash-tub. The barrack water-cart: military: ca. 1890–1915.

rough-up. A contest arranged at short notice; an informal contest: orig., boxing: 1889, The Referee, Jan. 26.—2. Hence, a trial race: esp. turf s.: C. 20. (O.E.D.; Manchon.)

rougher. A rough-rider (cf. rough, n.): coll.: C. 20; ob. (O.E.D.)—2. A rough time; a severe tackle at Rugby football: Scottish Public Schools': from ca. 1910. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935. By 'the Oxford-er'.

roughing, vbl.n. A students' 'scragging' of a university teacher of whom they disapprove: Scottish undergraduates' s. (late C. 19–20) >, by 1920, coll.

roughy. A rough man; a rough horse, etc.: Australian coll.: C. 20. What I Know, by a Philosophic Punter, 1928,—a little-known and amusing book; Ion L. Idriess, Flynn of the Inland, 1932.

round. A shirt collar: 1859, H.; † by 1910. Perhaps ex trade names all rounds, all rounders.—2. 'A bedside dissertation and demonstration of cases in a ward by the senior physician or surgeon to students'; if the audience consists of qualified practitioners, and if the cases are obscure, it is a hot-air round or shifting dullness (cf. the technical sense): medical students' (— 1933). See esp. Slang, p. 192.—3. 'Punishment consisting of running round playground': Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

round, v.i. To peach, lay information: low: from ca. 1859. V.t., round on. H., 1st ed. Prob. a development of round on, to turn upon and berate.

round. Languid: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. ? ex circular padding.

round, bet. To bet upon—or against—several horses: the turf: from ca. 1820; in C. 20, coll. 'Jon Bee', 1823.

round-about. A treadmill (invented ca. 1821): prison coll. rather than s. or c.: from ca. 1823; ob. Bee.—2. A female thief's all-round pocket: c.: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee', 1823.—3. A house-breaking tool that cuts out a round piece (about five inches in diameter) from shutter or door: c.: from ca. 1820. Egan's Grose. Occ. round Robin, C. 19.—4. A big belly: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

round and square. Everywhere: rhyming s. (— 1903). Not very gen.

round betting. See round, bet.

round dozen. Thirteen lashes with the cat-o'-nine-tails: naval coll.: C. 19. Bowen.

round me houses. The earliest form of round the houses, q.v. 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857. In C. 20, gen. . . . my . . .

round mouth, gen. preceded by the. The fundament: low: ca. 1810–70. Also brother r. m., esp. in Brother round mouth speaks, he has broken wind. Lex. Bal.

round-mys. Trousers: rhyming s. (— 1909). Ware. Abbr. round my houses.

round o (or O). A notable lie: coll.: C. 17. Ex the oh / of remonstratory surprise.—2. No runs; batsman's score of '0': cricket coll.: ca. 1855–65. Reade in 1863 refers to it as 'becoming obsolete' (O.E.D.).

round one or un. A notable lie: mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 5th ed.

round robin. The host: low coll.: mid-C. 16–17. Coverdale, Foxe, Heylin. Cf. jack-in-the-box, q.v.—2. A housebreaker's tool: see round-about, 3.—3. 'A good hearty swindle', Clarkson & Richardson, 1889: c.

round shaving. A reprimand: (low) coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex dial.

round the bend. Crazy; mad: naval: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Bowen.

round the buoy. See buoy, round the.

round the corner. A military c.p. reply to 'How far is it?': 1914; ob. B. & P.

round the corner, get (one). Deliberately to annoy an irritable person: c.: ca. 1810-50. Vaux, who notes the variant get (one) out.

round the corner, wrong (all). Having had something strong to drink: lower classes': from the middle 1890's; slightly ob. Ware.

round the houses. Trousers: rhyming s. (1859) on sol. pronunciation, trousies. H., 1st ed. An improvement on orig. form, round me houses.

round 'un. See round one.

roundem. A button: c.: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed. A disguising of round (cf. roundy).—2. Whence, the head: c. (—1923). Manchon.

rounder. One who peaches: low: 1884 (O.E.D.). Ex round, v.—2. A short, close-fitting jacket: coll.: mostly Cockney: from ca. 1890. Milliken, 1893, 'That's me in plaid dittos and rounder.' Ex round-about in same sense.

Roundhead. A Puritan: coll.: 1641; S.E. by ca. 1825-60. Ex cropped head. Cf. square head.

rounding. A betraying of one's associates: low: 1864. See round, v.; cf. rounder, 1.

rounds. Trousers: tramps' c.: from ca. 1890. P. H. Emerson. Ex round the houses.

rounds of the galley. Openly expressed abuse of a seaman by his mess-mates: naval: ca. 1850-1910. Bowen.

roundy(-ken). A watch-house or lock-up: c. of ca. 1825-60. Egan. Lit., round place.

rouny. A potato: c. of ca. 1820-70. Haggart. Also (? misprint), ronny. A corruption of roundy, a round object: cf. dial. roundy, a lump of coal.

rouse, v.i. To fight: c.: 1888, The Evening Standard, Dec. 26; ob.—2. (Pronounced rouss.) To 'grouse', to scold (v.i.), esp. if coarsely: Australian: C. 20. An Australian c.p. runs: If a woman caught a louse (occ. mouse) | In her blouse [pron. blouss], | Would she rouse? Perhaps ex rouse a person, to anger him. Constructed with on (a person).—3. (Also roust.) V.t., 'to upbraid with many words', C. J. Dennis: Australian: C. 20. Ex sense 2.

rouse and shine (naval, C. 19); rise and shine (naval and military, C. 20). A c.p. order to get out of bed. Bowen. B. & P.

rouser. A formidable breaking of wind: coll.: C. 18. Swift.—2. A handy man: Australian coll.: C. 20. Lawson, 1902. Ex rouseabout.

roush. See rosh.—2. See 'Winchester College slang', § 2, and cf. housle (q.v.) for hustle.

roust. An act of kind: coll.: late C. 16-17. Hall, Satires, 'She seeks her third roust on her silent toes.' Ex roust, a roaring or bellowing.

roust, v.i. To coit: coll.: late C. 16-17. Ex roust, n., q.v.; the corresponding S.E. sense is 'to shout, bellow'.—2. To steal: c.: ca. 1820-80. Haggart. Ex dial. roust, to rout out.—3. See rouse, 3.

roustabout. A rouseabout or handy man, esp. at a shearing: Australian: 1883 (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1905, S.E. Ex U.S. roustabout, a deck hand or wharf labourer.

router-putters. Cows' feet: c.: ca. 1820-60. Haggart. Ex router, (Scots dial. for) a cow rovers. Thoughts: Scots coll.: C. 19-20; ob. Jamieson. Ex wandering thoughts.

row. A disturbance; a noisy quarrel: 1785, Grose, who says that it was a Cambridge term. S. until ca. 1910, then coll. Esp. in make a row (1787, O.E.D.), kick up a row (1789, O.E.D.), and get into a row. Origin obscure; W. suggests that it is cognate with rouse = carouse.—2. A noise: 1845 (O.E.D.); s. >, ca. 1910, coll. Eton School Days, 1864, 'Chorley cried, Hold your row, will you?'

row! 'Shut up!'; 'pax!': Charterhouse: from ca. 1920. Perhaps elliptic for stow that row row, v. To assail roughly: attack (a person or his rooms): 1790 (O.E.D.): s. until ca. 1890, then coll.; ob. Ex row, n., 1.—2. V.i., to make a disturbance; to quarrel: 1797 (O.E.D.).—3. To 'rag', v.i.: university: ca. 1820-80.—4. To scold severely, to reprimand (v.t.): from ca. 1810: s. > coll. ca. 1910. Byron.—5. To criticise harshly or sharply: from ca. 1825; in C. 20, coll. (O.E.D.).—6. See row in the boat.

Row, the. Goldsmith's Row: C. 17: coll. Middleton. O.E.D.—2. Rotten Row: from ca. 1810: coll.; in C. 20, S.E. Combe, 'Vulgar tradesmen, in the Row'. 3. Paternoster Row: booksellers' coll.: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee'.—4. Holywell Street: booksellers' coll.: ca. 1860-80. H., 3rd ed.

row?, what's the. What's the noise about? What's the matter or trouble?; 1837, Dickens, 'What's the row, Sam?' (O.E.D.) row in. To conspire: low: from ca. 1860. Ware. Ex next entry.—2. To work or enter into association (with): grafters' s. (—1934). Philip Allingham, Cheapjack.

row (in the boat). To go shares (with): c. of ca. 1810-60. Vaux.

row-man. Incorrect for roundsman, a peripatetic labourer: from ca. 1830; ob. O.E.D.

row up. To reprimand severely: 1845 (O.E.D.): coll.; in C. 20, S.E. but ob. ? ex.—2. To rouse noisily: C. 19-20; ob. S. >, ca. 1890, coll.

rowdy. Money: from ca. 1840: low. Ob. Leman Rede (rowdy); Thackeray (the r.). ? ex ruddy, n.

rowdy, adj. (Of horse or bullock) troublesome: Australian s. (—1872) >, by 1900, coll. C. H. Eden, 1872; A. B. Paterson, 'And I can ride a rowdy colt, or swing the axe all day.' Extension of S.E. sense. Morris. Cf. roughy, q.v.

rowdy-dow. Abbr. of next, q.v., or ex row-de-dow, a din. From ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed., 'Low, vulgar; "not the cheese", or thing.'

rowdy-dowdy. Noisily rough; turbulently noisy: from ca. 1850. Reduplication on rowdy.

rowing, vbl.n. To row, v., esp. in senses 1 and 4.

rowl. Money: low: C. 19. Prob. a corruption of royal (images), q.v.

rowlock phrase. See rullock.

'Roy. 'Fitzroy, a suburb of Melbourne; its football team', C. J. Dennis: Australian coll.: late C. 19-20.

royal. A member of the Royal Family: coll.: 1788, Mme D'Arblay (O.E.D.); ob.—2. A privileged labourer working regularly enough but not on the staff: dockers' coll.: 1883, G. R. Sims.—3. See Royals.—4. See spread the royal.

royal, adj. Noble; splendid; excellent: coll.: from ca. 1580; but not gen. before ca. 1850. E.g. a royal time. (O.E.D.)

royal bob. Gin: ca. 1729-70. Cf. royal poverty, q.v. ? origin.

Royal Goats, the. The 23rd Foot, afterwards the Royal Welch Fusiliers: military: from ca. 1850. F. & Gibbons. Also the Nanny-Goats. Ex their goat mascot.

royal image. A coin: mid-C. 18-early 19: coll. or perhaps S.E.; coll., however, is royal images, money: mid-C. 18-mid-19. On royal (ryal), the coin; on the analogy of King's and Queen's picture, q.v.

Royal N. Royal Navy: naval coll.: from the late 1870's; ob. E.g. W. S. Gilbert in H.M.S. Pinafore.

royal poverty. Gin: ca. 1725-80. N. Bailey. Cf. royal bob. Perhaps because, though a 'royal' drink, gin is apt to lead to poverty.

royal-roast. Roast meat and vegetables for, and on, the lower deck: naval coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Cf. royal roast and straight bake, roast meat and baked potatoes: id.: id. F. & Gibbons.

royal scamp. A highwayman that, without brutality, robs only the rich: c.: late C. 18-early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. See scamp.

Royal Standbacks, the. 'A regiment imagined by others... not to have shewn particular keenness about going into action': military coll.: C. 19-20; slightly ob. F. & Gibbons.

Royal Tigers, the. The 65th Foot, now the York and Lancaster Regiment: military: from ca. 1823. F. & Gibbons, 'From the "Royal Tiger" badge, granted for distinguished service in India between 1802 and 1822'.

royally. Splendidly; excellently: coll.: 1836, E. Howard, 'Royally drunk', O.E.D.

Royals. The Marines: 1797, when they were loyal in the naval mutiny: nautical, esp. naval, coll.; ob. by 1900, † by 1930. Smyth.

royster. See roister.—rozin. See rosin.

rozzer; occ. rosser. A policeman: c.: from ca. 1870. See roosher for possible etymology; cf., however, Roinany roozlo (or -us), strong.

-rr-. Cockney for -t a: C. 19-20. See gorra and norra.

rub. A rubber in card-games: 1830, 'An occasional rub or two of whist', O.E.D.: coll. till C. 20, then S.E.—2. A loan (e.g. of a newspaper): military: ca. 1880-1910. F. & H.

rub, v. See rub down, in, off, out, rub, to, up. —2. F. & H. postulates rub as a variant of rub off and rub up; I doubt its independent existence. —3. As the base of rub to, q.v., it occurs in 1737. —4. B.E. and Grose describe rub, to go, run away, as c., but it is familiar S.E.

rub-a-dub, n. and v. A 'sub', to 'sub' (advance wages): workmen's rhyming s.: C. 20. John o' London's Weekly, June 9, 1934.—2. A 'pub'; a club: late C. 19-20. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

rub-a-dub-dub. The club in Crown and Anchor: military rhyming s.: C. 20. B. & P.

rub about. To make a fool of: tailors': C. 20. The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928, 'Took me for a jossier. Nothing below the waist, me. I'm not to be rubbed about.' Ex a process in tailoring.

rub and a good cast! A c.p. warning: ca. 1635-90. Clarke; Ray. Ex bowls. (Apperson.)

rub-down, n. corresponding to the ensuing v.: c. of late C. 19-20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

rub down. To search (a prisoner) by running the hands over his body: coll.: 1887 (O.E.D.).

More gen., run the rule over.—2. To scold, reprimand: from ca. 1895; ob.

rub-down, give (a person) a good. To thrash: coll. (—1923). Manchon.

rub in. To emphasise annoyingly; insist vexatiously or unkindly upon; remind naggingly of. Esp. as rub it in. The Daily News, May 26, 1870. 'Rubbing it in is a well-known phrase amongst the doubtful portion of the constabulary,' esp. as = to give fatal evidence (Ware). Cf. dial. rubber.

rub of the thumb, give (a person) a. To explain something to; esp. to show him how to do something: coll.: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Ex some trade. Cf. —2. To show appreciation for good work: tailors': late C. 19-20. E.g. The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.

rub-off. A copulation: coll.: late C. 17-early 19. Congreve.—2. A masturbation: low: C. 19-20; ob. In this sense, rub-up is much more gen. Cf.:

rub off, v. In same senses and periods as rub-off. —2. See rubbed off.

rub out. To kill: orig. (1848), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1870: S.E. until C. 20, then coll. Ex erasing. The phrase was used fairly often in the G.W.

rub, rub! 'Us'd on the Greens when the Bowl Flees too fast, to have it forbear, if Words wou'd do it', B.E.: a bowling c.p. soon > j.: late C. 17-18.

rub to. (See rub, v.) To send, carry off, to (prison): c.: ca. 1670-1840. Anon., Warning for Housekeepers, 1676; Grose. Prob. a development of rub, to go, to run.

rub-up. See rub-off, 2. From ca. 1620: low coll. Esp. do a rub-up. Also rubbing-up. Ex:

rub up. The v. corresponding to rub off, 2, and rub-up, n. Low coll.: C. 17-20. This sense is almost inseparable from:—2. So to caress a person that he or she becomes actively amorous: low coll.: from ca. 1620. Fletcher's Martial.

rubacrock; gen. rubbacrock. A filthy slattern: coll.: C. 19-20; ob. Ex S.W. dial.; the word occurs in the famous Exmoor Scolding, 1746 (E.D.D.).

rubba(d)ge; rubbi(d)ge; occ. rubbich. Rubbish: C. 19-20. When not dial. (see esp. E.D.D.) it is low coll., verging indeed on sol.

rubbed about, be. (Of a person) to be made a convenience: tailors': from ca. 1870. Cf. rub about.

rubbed-in. 'When a picture is commenced, it is spoken of as being "rubbed in"' (J. Hodgson Lobley): artists' coll.: from ca. 1910. Ex the technical sense of the phrase.

rubbed off. Bankrupt and gone, indeed run, away: coll.: late C. 17-18. B.E.

rubbed(-)out. Dead: see rub out. 'Of late frequently used in fashionable novels', H., 1864.

rubbedge. See rubbadge.

rubbege. See rubbadge.

rubber. A caoutchouc eraser: coll.: late C. 18-20.—2. Some illicit device or swindling trick: c.: early C. 17. Dekker, 'Betting, Lurches, Rubbers, and such tricks'. Prob. connected with the rubber of games of skill and/or chance.

rubber, fake the. See fake the rubber.

rubber gun. 'A big gun firing at a very long range': military: 1917; ob. B & P. Esp. a German naval high-velocity shell, which the New Zealanders called rubber guts.

rubber(-)neck; (-)necking. A very inquisitive person; excessive curiosity or inquisitiveness: U.S. (— 1900), partly anglicised, esp. in Australia, ca. 1905; slightly ob. Ex 'considerable craning and stretching', as though one's neck were made of rubber: as in The Pall Mall Gazette, March 8, 1902.

rubber-neck, v.i. in sense of the n. (q.v.): 1932, Dorothy Sayers, Have His Carcase, 'Sho... could not waste time rubber-necking round Wilvercombe with Lord Peter [Wimsey].'

rubber-up. The agent expressed in rub up, v., q.v.: low coll.: C. 19–20.

rubbish. See rubbadge.

rubbing-up. The act in rub up, v., q.v. Also rub-up.

rubbish. Money: low: ca. 1820–60. Egan, 1821, 'She shall stump up the rubbish before I leave her.' Cf. S.E. dross and filthy lucre.—2. Luggage, esp. household effects and furniture: Anglo-Indian military: early C. 19. Ware.

rupe; reub, reuben or Reuben. A country bumpkin: U.S. (middle 1890's); anglicised, among 'movie-fans', by 1931. O.E.D. (Sup.). Cf. hick (ex Richard).

rubiform, in Johnson and later lexicographers, is erroneous for rubriform. O.E.D.

rubigo. The penis: (low) Scots coll.: late C. 16–17. R Sempill. ? ex L. ruber, red, on L. rubigo (or robigo), rust (on metals), perhaps influenced by L. prurigo, lasciviousness.

rubric, in or out of the. In, out of, holy orders: coll.: late C. 17–18. Farquhar. Like rubigo, it is by the O.E.D. considered as S.E.: provisionally, I believe F. & H. to be right.

ruby. Blood: boxing: 1860, Chambers's Journal; 'Pomes' Marshall, ca. 1886, 'You'd be sure to nark the ruby round his gilt.' Cf. carmine, claret, qq.v.—2. See:

Ruby, cross the. To cross the Rubicon: fast life: early C. 19, when ruby was s. for port wine. Ware.

Ruby Queen. A young nurse or nursing sister of fresh complexion: military: 1916–18. F. & Gibbons. Ex the issue tobacco so named.

ruby red. The head: rhyming s.: C. 20; ob. F. & Gibbons. (Not very gen.)

ruck. A word, or a deposition, that is idiotic: c. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex sense 1 of the v.—2. A cigarette-end: lower classes' (— 1923). Ibid. Perhaps because rucked up (S.E. senso).

ruck, v. To lay information (see also ruck on): c. >, by 1900, low s.: from ca. 1884.—2. To grow angry or irritated: low: from ca. 1890; ob. Ex senso 1, or independently ex ruck (up), as applied to clothes; origin of sense 1 is hazy.

ruck (or rucket) along. To walk quickly: ca. 1900–10: Oxford University. While ruck, prob. the earlier form, may derive ex dial. ruck, to go, rucket may be an elaboration suggested by rocket along.

ruck on; occ. ruck upon. To 'split on a pal'; blab about (a person): c. >, ca. 1900, low s.: 1884, The Daily News, 'I told the prisoner that I was not going to ruck on an old pal.' See ruck.

ruck up, v.i. To get angry; 'blow up': lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

ruckerky. Recherché: Society: 1890's. Ware quotes The Daily Telegraph of April 4, 1898.

rucket along. See ruck along.

rucktion; gen. ruction. A disturbance, uproar, noisy quarrel, 'row': dial. (— 1826) >, ca. 1830, coll. In the pl., trouble, esp. noisy and avoidable trouble. The C. 19 variant ruction, combined with Lover's use of the word, points to origin in insurrection; P. W. Joyce, in English in Ireland, postulates 'the Insurrection of 1798, which was commonly called "the Ruction".' (W.; O.E.D.)

Rudders. The Rudiments of Faith and Knowledge: Oxford undergraduates': ca. 1895–1905. Ware. Now divvys.

ruddock. A gold coin: 1567, Turberville: † by 1750; ob. indeed by 1650,—it occurs in neither B.E. nor Grose. Occ. red or golden ruddock. Prob. ex ruddock, a robin (redbreast); cf. ruddy.—2. In pl., money, gold; esp. gold money: late C. 16–17. Also red or golden r. Heywood, ca. 1607 (printed 1631), 'They are so flush of their ruddocks.' Cf. glistener and redge and red one (or un).

ruddy. A sovereign: c. and low sporting (— 1887). Baumann has thirty ruddy, £30. Ex colour. Cf.:

ruddy, adj. Bloody; confounded: euphemistic s.: from ca. 1905 (see Collinson, p. 26). (Synonymous colour; rhyme.) Cf. rose-coloured, q.v.—2. Hence, the ruddy edge, the utter 'limit' (— 1923). Manchon.—3. Adv., as in Maurice Lincoln, Oh! Definitely, 1933, 'I'd have ruddy well... locked the door.'

Ruff. Ruff's Guide to the Turf: sporting coll.: from ca. 1860. (With this title, 1854; actually begun, in its first form, in 1842.)

ruff, the wooden. The pillory: c.: ca. 1690–1830. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Punning the neckwear.

ruff-peck. Bacon: c. of ca. 1565–1750. Harman, Dekker, Shirley (1707). ? lit., rough food.

ruffelar or -er. See ruffier.

ruffemans. A variant of ruffmans.

ruffer. One who is rough: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware.

ruffian. See ruffin.—2. In boxing s., a boxer disregarding science in his desire for victory: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

ruffin or Ruffin; also spelt Ruffian. The devil: c.: 1567, Harman (ruffian); Dekker (Ruffin); B.E. (Ruffin); Grose (Ruffian); Ainsworth (Old Ruffin). Ruffin, the name of a fiend (C. 13—early 16), influenced by ruffian, a cut-throat villain.—2. Whence, a justice of the peace: c.: ca. 1620–1820. Fletcher, ca. 1622 (Ruffin); B.E. (Ruffin); Grose (ruffin, 1st ed.; 2nd ed., ruffian).

ruffin, to the. See nines, to the.

ruffin cook ruffin, who scalded the devil in his feathers. A c.p. applied to a bad cook: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 2nd ed. Prob. influenced by puffin, q.v.

Ruffin's (or -ans') Hall. A coll. of ca. 1590–1680, thus in Blount, 1674, 'So that part of Smithfield was antiently called, which is now the Horse-market [in London], where Trials of Skill were plaid by ordinary Ruffianly people, with Sword and Buckler.' Nashe, Massinger. (O.E.D.)

Ruffians' Hall, he is only fit for. A c.p. applied to an apprentice overdressed: London: coll.: ca. 1640–1820. Fuller; Grose's Provincial Glossary. Ex preceding.

rufflar. See ruffier.

ruffle, gen. in pl. A handcuff: c.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed.; Ainsworth, 1839.

ruffler; also ruffelar or -er, rufflar, ruffleer, rufier. A vagabond: c.: ca. 1530–1620. Copland.—2. Esp. one of the 1st or the second order or rank of 'canters': C. 17–18. B.E. and Grose (1st order); A New Canting Dict. (2nd).—3. A beggar pretending to be a maimed soldier or sailor: c. of ca. 1560–1830. Awdelay; Grose, 1st ed. (The term derives ex ruffle, to deport oneself arrogantly.)

ruffmans. A hedge: c. of ca. 1620–1840. Fletcher (1622), Grose. Lit., rough time.—2. Harman and B.E. define it as the wood, a bush; Grose as a wood, a bush, or a hedge: as wood or bush, it is a special application of sense 1: ca. 1565–1840. See -mans.

rufier. See ruffier.

rufus or Rufus. The female pudend: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ex rufous.

rug. See bug.—See rug, at.—Rug. A Rugby-beian: Rugby School (—1892).—See:

rug, all. Safe; certain: c. > gaming s.: late C. 17–18. B.E., 'It's all Rug, . . . the Game is secured'; Grose, 1st ed.—2. Hence, 'safe' in general: C. 18–early 19: s. Rowe, 1705, 'Fear nothing, Sir; Rug's the Word, all's safe.' O.E.D. Perhaps ex the warmth and snugness afforded by rugs. Cf.:

rug, at. In bed; asleep: low (? c.): ca. 1810–60. Prob. rug (of bed) influenced by all rug: an interesting clue is offered by the Devonshire rug, warm. Cf. ruggins, q.v. (Egan's Grose.)

Rugby, real. Cruel: Public Schools' (—1909); virtually †. Ware. Ex the roughness of Rugby football.

[Rugby School slang:—Its sole (?) remarkable feature is that -er which, when introduced among Oxford University undergraduates, > 'the Oxford-er', q.v.]

rugger. Rugby football: s. (1893, O.E.D.) >, ca. 1920, coll. Ex Rugby on Oxford -er.

ruggins; more gen., as in Vaux and in Egan's Grose, Ruggins's. Bed: c. of ca. 1810–70. Lytton, 1828, 'Toddle off to ruggins'. An elaboration of rug of bed, influenced by all rug and at rug; or perhaps merely rugging (coarse blanket cloth) pluralised or genitived (ruggings's), with g omitted.

ruggy. Safe; withdrawn, secluded: c. (—1887); ob. Baumann. See rug, all.

ruin. See blue ruin. By itself, rare: 1820, J. H. Reynolds (O.E.D.).—2. (Ruin.) Rouen: military: 1915; ob. B. & P. Prob. because it was the centre for treatment of venereal diseases.

rule of three, (the). Penis and testes; low: C. 18–20. D'Urfey.—2. Hence, copulation, C. 19–20. Other mathematical indelicacies are addition, multiplication, subtraction, all implying the juxtaposition of opponent genitals.

rule over, run the (occ. a). To search: c. (—1874) >, ca. 1910, gen. s.; now coll. H., 5th ed.; Horsley; 'Pomes' Marshall, 'Run the rule through all His pockets.' Cf. rub down, which has remained low s., and frisk, ob. c. 'No. 747' has it for 1845: (of a pickpocket) to feel over the person of (a prospective victim).

ruler, v. To rap, beat, with a ruler: coll.: 1850, Dickens; ob. O.E.D. rullock. A rowlock: nautical coll. (—1887). Baumann, who has shove one's ear into a seaman's rullock (to seek a quarrel with a sailor), which is ob.

rully. Really: a coll. pronunciation: late C. 19–20. (D. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'I'm rully very sorry.') rum, n. A needy rural clergyman in Ireland:

ca. 1720–40. Swift (O.E.D.). Perhaps ex rum, adj., 1, as a mark of appreciation.—2. A 'rum', i.e. questionable, person (gen. male): ca. 1800–50. Barham. Ex rum, adj., 2. (O.E.D.).—3. An old, hence an unsaleable book: ca. 1810–30. 'Anecdotes' Nichols. Ex rum, adj., 2. O.E.D. rum, v. To cheat: ca. 1810–20. 'He had rummed me,' 1812. Ex rum, adj., 2. O.E.D.

rum, adj. Variants: rome, C. 16–18; room(e), C. 17. Excellent; fine, good; valuable; handsome; great: c.: ca. 1565–1910; but comparatively rare after ca. 1810. The sense varies with the n.: see the ensuing list of terms, to many of which there is a precisely contrasted sense afforded by queer with the same n.: see queer, adj. Harman, 1567; Jonson; B.E.; Grose; Vaux; H.; Smyth (rum-gagger). Quotations are here unnecessary: see the combinations, which illuminate and objectify this strange adj. It may well, as H. suggests, derive from Rome ('the glory that was Rome') as a city of splendid repute and fame; the dial. rum, very or strong, is ineligible, for its history does not go far enough back; Romany rom, a male (Gypsy) is a possibility, but not so probable as Rome. (Cf. ream.) Note that in Turkish, 'Roman' is Rûm; the Gypsies passed through Turkey,—indeed there is a Turkish Gypsy dialect. Note, too, that L. Roma is cognate with, perhaps actually derived ex, that Teutonic radical hrud (fame) which occurs in Roger and Roderick, and in Ger. Ruhm (fame), whence ruhmvoll, famous: cf. the s. sense of famous itself.—2. Either hence, by ironic 'inversion', or ex Rom, a Gypsy, used attributively (for the adj. is Romano or -ani).—A New Canting Dict.'s (1725) and Grose's remarks (1785) at Gypsies, make it clear that, even so early, the Gypsies had a 'rum' reputation,—comes the sense 'queer, odd, eccentric, strange, questionable, disreputable': such terms as rum bite, rum bob (sense 2), rum bubbler, (esp.) rum cove, rum cull, rum fun, rum ned, taken along with those C. 18 strictures on the Gypsies, may have caused the change of sense from excellent, fine, etc., to queer, strange, etc. The earliest record is of 1774, but this sense does not > gen. until ca. 1800, as the O.E.D. points out. The remarkable merging with the c. sense of queer (q.v.), of which, from ca. 1820, it is mostly a mere synonym, is due, in part, to the vitality of queer itself, for in c. queer was more potent after ca. 1790 than rum was. H. Kelly, 1774, 'Rum tongue' (language); Grose; Dickens, 1837, 'There's rummer things than women in this world' (O.E.D.); Besant & Rice. Cf. rummy.—3. Strangely silly: late C. 17–18. This is an extremely rare sense: I know it only in rum ned, where the silliness may reside only in the second member. (N.B. Of the clear instances in Grose, 3rd ed., forty belong to sense 1; three to sense 2; only one to sense 3. And practically all of Grose's terms were already in B.E.; B.E.'s terms, with one exception (rum ned, q.v.), are all in sense 1.) rum, come it. To talk oddly: low: ca. 1820–70. 'Jon Bee', 1823.—2. Hence, to act oddly: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Baumann.

rum beak or beck. A justice of the peace: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. See beak, beck.

rum bing. See rum bung.

rum bit or, mostly, bite. A clever trick or swindle: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. See bit and bite.—2. (Only bite.) Hence, a clever rogue: c.: early C. 19. F. & H.

rum bleating cheat. A (very) fat wether: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.

rum blowen (C. 19) or blower (late C. 17–18). 'A handsome wench', Grose, 1st ed.; esp. one 'kept by a particular Man', B.E. See blowen, blower.

rum bluffer. A jolly inn-keeper or victualler: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E. See bluffer.

rum bob. 'A young Prentice; also a sharp, sly Trick, and a pretty short wig', B.E.: late C. 17–early 19, except the third († by 1780).

rum-boile. A variant of romboyle, n.: q.v.

rum booze, bouse, bouze, buse, buze. (See booze, n.) Good wine (mid-C. 16–19) or other liquor (C. 17–19): c. Harman; B.E.; Grose.

rum-boozing welts. Bunches of grapes: c.: mid-C. 17–early 19. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose. Lit., excellent-liquor lumps or bunches.

rum-bottle. A sailor: naval: ca. 1860–1900. Ware. Ex his fondness for rum.

rum bub. Very good liquor: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E. at bub.

rum bubbler. 'A dexterous fellow at stealing silver tankards from inns and taverns', Grose, 1st ed.: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E. Ex bub, liquor.

rum buffer (C. 18–early 19) or bughar, gen. bugher (late C. 17–early 19). A handsome and/or valuable dog: c. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. See buffer, bugher.

rum bung (occ. bing). A full purse: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.

rum chant or chaunt. 'A song', Grose, 3rd ed.; 'a good song', Vaux, 1812: the latter seems to be the correct definition. A late instance of rum, adj., 1.

rum chub. 'Among butchers, a customer easily imposed on', Grose, 1st ed.: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. For chub, cf. gudgeon.

rum clan is Baumann's misprint for:

rum clank. A gold or silver cup or tankard: c.: C. 18–early 19. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

rum clout, wipe, wiper. 'A Silk, fine Cambrick, or Holland Handkerchief', B.E.: c.: late C. 17–19; wipe not before C. 19.

rum cod. A full purse (esp. of gold); a large sum of money: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Cf. rum bung.

rum co or coe. A smart lad: late C. 16–early 17. Cf. rum cove.

rum cole. 'New Money'; 'Medals, curiously Coyn'd', B.E.: c.: late C. 17–early 19. Grose. See cole. Also, in first nuance, rum gelt.

rum coll. A rhyme-needed variant, early C. 18, of rum cull, 1.

rum cove. 'A great Rogue', B.E.: c.: C. 17–mid-18. Rowlands; Dekker's use stresses rum, rich.—2. Hence, 'a dexterous or clever rogue', Grose, 1st ed.: c.: mid-C. 18–mid. 19. (Cf. cove.) A very operative term: see rum, adj., 2.—3. A 'queer fish': low: mid-C. 19–20.

rum cull. 'A rich Fool, that can be easily . . . Cheated . . .; also one that is very generous and kind to a Mistress', B.E.: c.: ca. 1670–1840. Cf. the U.S. sugar-daddy.—2. A manager: low theatrical: from ca. 1860. Esp. the master of a travelling troop (—1864). H., 3rd ed.; ob. Perhaps ex:—3. An intimate friend (gen. in the vocative): low: ca. 1840–90. Selby, 1844, 'What's in the wind, my rum cull?'; 1886, Stephens & Yardley.

rum cully. Elisha Coles's variant (1676) of rum cull, 1.

rum customer. A person, an animal, that it is risky, even dangerous to meddle with or offend: late C. 18–20. Cf. queer cuss.

rum cuttle. A sword: c.: early C. 17. Rowlands, 1609. A cuttle is a knife.

rum dab. 'A very Dextrous fellow at fileing, thieving, Cheating, Sharping, &c', B.E. (at dab, not at rum): late C. 17–early 18: c.

rum degen or tol or tilter. A splendid sword; esp. a silver-hilted or silver-inlaid one: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E., Grose.

rum dell, doxy, mort. A handsome whore: C. 17–early 19. Jonson (roomer mort); B.E. (in this sense, dell and doxy); Grose (id.).—See separately rum doxy and rum mort.

rum diver. A skilful pickpocket: c.: C. 18–mid-19. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Also rum file.

rum doxy. A beautiful woman, a fine wench: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose.—2. A 'light Lady', B.E.: late C. 17–early 18.

rum drawers. Silk, or very fine worsted, stockings: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E., Grose.

rum dropper. A vintner (wine-merchant); landlord of a tavern: c.: mid-C. 17–18. Coles, 1676; Ned Ward (1709); Grose.

rum dubber. A dexterous picklock: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose.

rum duchess. A jolly, handsome woman: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. Cf. rum duke, 1.

rum duke. A jolly, handsome man: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose, who (1785) adds, 'an odd eccentric fellow', or, as he defines at duke, 'a queer unaccountable fellow': c.: late C. 18–mid-19. Extant in East Anglian dial. in 1903 (E.D.D.).—3. Gen. in pl., 'The boldest and stoutest fellows lately among the Alsations [see Alsatia], Minters, Savoyards, and other inhabitants of privileged districts, sent to remove and guard the goods of such bankrupts as intended to take sanctuary in those places', Grose: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. (This is the only one of Grose's rum-terms that we find in dial.: in sense 3.)

rum fam or fem. A diamond ring: c.: ca. 1850–90. F. & H. See fam.

rum file. See rum diver: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

rum fun. A sharp trick; a clever swindle: c.: late C. 17–18. Ibid.

rum gagger. One of those impostors 'who tell wonderful stories of their sufferings at sea, or when taken by the Algerines', Grose, 1st ed.: c. of ca. 1780–1850; then nautical s. (witness Smyth, 1867), with the Algerian gambit omitted; ob.

rum gelt or gilt. (In B.E. and Grose, rum ghelt.) See rum cole.

rum gill. A clever thief; a handsome man: c. of ca. 1820–50. Ainsworth.

rum glimmer, gen. spelt glymmar (or -er). The chief of the link-boys: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E., Grose. See glim and glymmar.

rum go. A puzzling and not too respectable contretemps; a mysterious (not merely because wholly unexpected) occurrence or, esp., development of a plot, situation, etc.: from ca. 1850. Thackeray, 1850 (O.E.D.), and George Eliot, 1876; rummy go is in Punch, 1841. See rum, adj., 2, and go, n.

rum going. Fast trotting: c. or low s.: ca. 1820–60. Jones, 1825, The True Bottom'd Boxer.

rum gut(t)lers. Canary wine c.: mid-C. 17-18. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose. Cf. S.E. guzzle.—2. 'Fine Eating', A New Canting Dict., 1725: c.: C. 18.

rum hopper. A drawer at a tavern: c.: late C. 17-18. B.E. One who hops or 'springs to it' with great alacrity.

rum-jar. A kind of German trench-mortar bomb: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex shape.

rum johnny or Johnny. A native wharf-labourer: Anglo-Indian: C. 19-20; ob. Prob. ex rum, adj., 2; but see Yule & Burnell.—2. A whore: naval and military: mid-C. 19-20. Ex Hindustani ramjani, a dancing-girl. Yule & Burnell.

rum Joseph or Joseph. A very good coat or cloak: c.: late C. 17-18. B.E. at Joseph.

rum ken. A popular inn, tavern, brothel: c. of ca. 1810-60. Egan, 1821.

rum kicks. 'Breeches of gold or silver brocade, or richly laced with gold or silver', Grose, 1st ed.: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E.

rum kiddy. A clever young thief: c.: late C. 18-early 19. G. Parker, 1781.

[rum kin, postulated by F. & H., is prob. an error on S.E. rumkin.]

rum maund (or maund). 'One that Counterfeits himself a Fool' while begging: late C. 17-18. B.E., Grose. See maund. Cf.:

rum maunder. A late C. 18-19 early form of the preceding. F. & H., where it is defined as 'a clever beggar'.

rum mizzler. A thief clever at escaping: c.: ca. 1780-1900. Parker, 1781; H., 5th ed.; Baumann. Cf. needy mizzler and see mizzle.

rum mort. See rum dell.—2. A queen; the Queen: c.: Harman, 1567 (Rome mort); B.E.; Grose. † by 1840.—3. Hence, a great lady: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose. See mort.

rum nab. 'A Beaver, or very good Hat', B.E.: late C. 17-early 18, the former (Shadwell, 1688); until ca. 1830, the latter. See nab, n.

rum nantz or Nantz. Good French brandy: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum ned or Ned. 'A very silly fellow', B.E.; 'a very rich silly fellow', Grose: c.: late C. 17-18. Cf. rum cull, 1; cf. rum, adj., 2.

rum one or un ('un'). (Gen. r. one) a settling blow, punch: boxing: early C. 19. 'Jon Bee.'—2. (Gen. r. un). An odd or eccentric fellow; a strange-looking animal or object; a strange affair: from ca. 1825. Dickens. Prob. ironic on:—3. (Only rum un.) A 'stout fellow'; a capital chap: c.: ca. 1820-50. Jones, 1823; Moncrieff, 1830, in the vocative. Cf. rum cull, last sense.

rum ome (or omer), occ. rum homer, of the case. See omee, omer.

rum pad; Moore writes it rumpad. The highway: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose. The v. rum-pad, to attack, rob, on the highway, is only 'literary' c. of late C. 19.—2. A highwayman: an error or a catachresis: C. 17-mid-18. J. Shirley; The Scoundrel's Dict. (O.E.D.) rum(-)padder. One of 'the better sort of Highwaymen, well Mounted and Armed', B.E.: mid-C. 17-early 19: c. (Coles, 1676.) Ex rum pad.

rum peck. Good food: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E. (at peckidge); Grose; Moncrieff.

rum peeper. A silver looking-glass: c.: late C. 17-18. B.E., Grose.

rum phiz or phys. 'An odd face or countenance'; Grose, 1st ed.: low: from ca. 1780; ob.

rum prancer. A very fine horse: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum quick is a misprint in Baumann for;

rum quid(d)s. A large booty; a great share of spoil: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose.

Rum Row. 'Position outside the prohibited area taken up by rum-running vessels': coll.; U.S., anglicised before 1927; ob. Collinson; C.O.D. (1934 Sup.)

rum ruff peck. Westphalia ham: c.: late C. 17-18. B.E.; Grose. Contrast ruff peck, q.v.

rum slim or slum. Punch: c.: ca. 1780-1890. Parker (slim); Egan (slum); H., 3rd ed. (slim). ? the 'originator' of rum sling, rum punch (cf. gin sling).

rum snitch. A hard blow on the nose: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum squeeze. Copious drink for the fiddlers: c.: id. Ib.

rum start. An odd occurrence: s. and dial.: from ca. 1840; slightly ob. as s. Recorded in 'No. 747' as used in 1845.

rum strum. A long wig, esp. if a fine one: c.: late C. 17-18. B.E., Grose, both at strum.—2. A handsome wench or harlot: c.: late C. 17-early 18. B.E. (at strum).

rum tilter; rum tol (see tol). A rum degen, q.v.: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum Tom Pat. A clergyman (not a hedge-priest): c. of ca. 1780-1840. See adam, v.

rum topping. A rich head-dress: c. of ca. 1670-1810. B.E.; Grose. Orig. of the style designated by commode.

rum touch. See touch, rum.—rum un ('un'). See rum one.

Rum ville or vyle; Rumville. London: c.: C. 17-19. See Rome Ville.

rum wipe or wiper. See rum clout and quotation at rummy, adj.

rumble. An (improvised) seat for servants at the back of a carriage: 1808 (O.E.D.): coll. till ca. 1840 > then S.E.; ob. Abbr. rumble-tumble, q.v.—2. A stage-coach: coll.: ca. 1830-50. This differentiation (F. & H.) is open to dispute.—3. The surreptitious opening of the throttle to enable one to land at the desired spot: Royal Air Force's: from 1932. Perhaps ex sense 2 of:

rumble, v. To rule out unceremoniously, handle roughly: ca. 1810-50. (O.E.D.) Ex rumboyle, v.—2. Hence, to test, try; handle; examine: c. of ca. 1820-1900. Haggart.—3. Hence, v.i. & t., to detect; fathom, understand; low: from ca. 1875. Binstead, 1898, 'I soon rumbled he was in it when I heard...' Cf. tumble to, by which this sense may have been suggested and has certainly been influenced.

rumble-tumble. See rumble, n., 1. C. 19: coll. till ca. 1830, then S.E. Ex the noise.—2. Any wheeled vehicle that rumbles: 1806, J. Beresford (O.E.D.); † by 1910. Coll. till ca. 1840, then S.E. and dial.

rumbler. Same as rumble, n., 1: coll.: ca. 1800-20.—2. A hackney coach: ca. 1815-60: coll. Moncrieff, 1823, 'A rattler... is a rumbler, otherwise a jarvey.—3. Hence, a four-wheeled cab: ca. 1860-1910. H., 3rd ed. ('Not so common as bounder').

rumbler, running. A carriage-thief's confederate: c.: ca. 1820-80. ? ex:

rumbler's flunkey. A footman; one who, for tips or wages, runs for cabs, etc.: low: ca. 1815-90. Anon., The Young Prig (song), ca. 1819. See rumblor, 2, 3.

rumbo. Rum-punch: ca. 1750-1840, then archaic: coll. till C. 19, then S.E. Smollett, 1751, 'He and my good master . . . come hitber every evening, and drink a couple of cans of rumbo apiece.' Either fantastic on rum or ex rumbullion. —2. A prison: c. of ca. 1720-1830. Also rumbo-ken (Harper, 1724). Perhaps ironic on rum, adj., 1. A New Canting Dict., 1725.—3. Stolen rope: nautical and dockyard s. (-1867). Smyth. Cf. rumbo-ken, 2.

rumbo, n. and adj. Plenty, plentiful; sufficiency, sufficient; good: low: 1870, Hazlewood & Williams; 1876, Hindley, 'Chuck rumbo (eat plenty), my lad'; The Pall Mall Gazette, Dec. 21, 1895 (horses and carts described as rumbo, good). Prob. ex coll. Sp. rumbo, liberality, generosity (cf. rumbosamente, grandly, liberally), via Lingua Franca.—2. Elegant, fashionable: C. 20. Manchon. Perhaps ex rumbo!—3. Successful: theatrical (-1923). Ibid.

rumbo! Splendid!: lower and lower-middle classes': ca. 1860-1915. Ware: ex Sp. via the Gypsies.

rumbo-ken. See rumbo, n., 2.—2. A pawnbroker's shop: c.: (?) ca. 1700-1850.

rumbowling. Anything inferior or adulterated: nautical (-1864). H., 3rd ed. (Occ. as adj.) Prob. a corruption of S.E. rombowl.—2. Grog: nautical (-1885). Ex sense 1, but perhaps influenced by rumbo and:

rumbullion, -ian; occ. rombullion. Rum: ca. 1650-1750: coll. soon > S.E. ? etymology.

rumbumptious. Obstreperous: coll.: ca. 1786-1895. Grose, 2nd ed.; H., 5th ed., 'Haughty, pugilistic' (? quarrelsome). Ex dial. ram (see rumbustious) + bump on fractious; cf. rumgumption on gumption. (N.b., bumptious is later than rumbumptious, gumption earlier than rumgumption.)

rumbustical; occ. (†) rombustical. Boisterous, very noisy; unruly: coll. and dial.: 1795, O.E.D. Prob. on † S.E. robustic ex rumbustious, q.v. Cf.:

rumbusticate. To coit with (a woman): late C. 19-early 20. Ex rumbustical on spificate.

rumbusticator. A moneyed man: ca. 1890-1910. Cf. preceding two entries.

rumbustious; occ. († in C. 20) rombustious. Same as rumbustical, q.v.: coll.: 1778, Foote, 'The sea has been rather rumbustious.' Lytton, 1853, rambustious. Prob. a perversion of robustious on dial. ram, very, strong, and rum, adj., 1. (This type of word >, ca. 1840, very gen. in U.S.: cf. catawampus, rambunctious.)

rumdadum. The posteriors: low (-1923). Manchon. Echoic.

Rumford (properly, Romford), ride to. To get a new pair of breeches, or an old pair new-bottomed: coll.: ca. 1780-1830. Grose, 1st ed.; in the 2nd he adds, 'Rumford was formerly a famous place for leather breeches.' But cf.:—you (one, etc.) may or might ride to Romford (up) on a (this, etc.) knife, a c.p. imputing bluntness: ca. 1705-1860. Swift, 'Well, one may ride to Rumford upon this knife, it is so blunt'; Notes & Queries, 1901, referring to ca. 1850-70, 'You might ride to Romford on it.'

Rumford or Romford lion. A calf: coll.: C. 18-mid-19. A New Canting Dict., 1725. More gen. is Essex lion, q.v.: calves being very numerous in Essex.

rumgumption. Common sense: coll. (mostly Scots and Northern): from ca. 1770. A strengthened form of gumption, q.v. (The adj. is gen. considered to be dial.)

rumly. Finely; excellently; gallantly; strongly: c. of ca. 1670-1770. Head; B.E. In C. 17, often romely, as in Rowlands, 1609. Ex rum, adj., 1.—2. Oddly; eccentrically: s.: 1819, Moore, 'Thus rumly floored'. Ex rum, adj., 2.

rummage. To caress a woman sexually; possess her: low coll.: C. 19-20; ob. Ex S.E. rummage, to disarrange, disorder; to knock about.

rummagy. Such as may be found, obtained, by rummaging in rubbish: coll.: 1899, Baring-Gould, 'The "rummagy" faces', O.E.D.; slightly ob.

rummily. Oddly, queerly: 1827, Scott (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Ex rummy.

rumminess. Oddness; singularity: 1899, Eden Phillpotts: s. >, ca. 1920, coll. O.E.D. Cf.:

rummish. Rather odd or peculiar: 1826 (O.E.D.); somewhat rare in C. 20. Ex rum, adj., 2.

rummy. A Canadian term of address (-1932). John Beames. Perhaps ex:

rummy, adj. Odd; singular: 1828, The Sporting Magazine, 'A neat, but rather rummy looking blue pony', O.E.D. Moncrieff's 'rummy Spitalfields wipes' may mean odd handkerchiefs, but it might be a variant on rum wipe, a silk handkerchief.

rummy, adv. 'Capitally', excellently, well: c. of ca. 1825-40. Moncrieff, 1830, has 'We chaunt so rummy' (cf. rum chant, q.v.) and 'We frisk so rummy.' Ex rum, adj., 1, via some of the rum* combinations.

rumour!, it's a; often 's a rumour. A military c.p. (1915-18) in retort on 'an opinion expressing a very well-known fact or [on] a statement emphatically (and, usually, disagreeably) true', B. & P.

Rump. (The R.) The Long Parliament remnant from Dec. 1648 to April 1653: coll.: 1648.—2. That remnant of the L.P. which, after being restored in May 1659, was dissolved in Feb. 1660: coll.: 1659. Prob. an anatomical pun. O.E.D.

rump. To flog: ca. 1810-90: coll. Vaux, 1812.—2. (Of the male) to coit with, esp. dorsally: low: from ca. 1850; slightly ob. As v.i., of either sex: cf. rumper. Cf. loose in the rump, rump-splitter. rump, he hath eaten the. A semi-proverbial c.p. applied to one who is constantly talking: ca. 1670-1800. Ray.

rump, loose in one's or the. (Of women) wanton: coll.: C. 18-mid-19. D'Urfey.

rump and a dozen. An Irish wager, 'A rump of beef and a dozen of claret', Grose, 2nd ed.: coll.: late C. 18-mid-19. Also called buttock and trimmings (Grose).

rump-and-kidney men. 'Fidlers that Play at Feasts, Fairs, Weddings, &c. And Live chiefly on the Remnants, of Victuals', B.E., who—wrongly, I think—classifies it as c.; Grose doesn't. (Prob.) coll.: late C. 17-early 19.

rump(-)and(-)stump, adv. Completely; utterly: dial. and coll.: from ca. 1820; ob. Lit., rump and tail; cf. lock, stock, and barrel. A rhyming phrase perhaps suggested by (utterly) stumped. The synonymous rump and rig is wholly dial.

Rump Parliament. (See Rump.) Not before 1670; soon S.E.

rump-splitter. The penis: low coll.: ca. 1650–1800. Urquhart. Cf. rump, v., 2.—Whence, a whoremonger: low: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. rump, loose in the, and:

rump-work. Copulation: low coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. rump, v., 2, and:

rumpad. See run pad.

rumper. A whore; a whoremonger: low: C. 19–20; very ob. Ex rump, v., 2, though partly a pun on Rumper, a member of the Rump Parliament.

rumption. A 'rumpus': 1802 (O.E.D.): coll. till ca. 1820, then dial. Prob. ex rumpus on gumption. rumpy. One thirty-second of £1: Stock Exchange: 1887. Cf. tooth, q.v.

rumpus. An uproar or, † in C. 20, a riot; a 'row', quarrel: coll.: 1764, Foote, 'Oh, Major! such a riot and rumpus!' Always in collocation with riot before ca. 1785; Grose has it in his 2nd ed. Also without article, gen. as riotousness, noise, quarrelling: 1768, O.E.D.; slightly ob. W. suggests a s. use of Gr. ρόμβος, spinning top, also commotion, disturbance; tentatively, I suggest a fanciful perversion of rumble, used, esp. as v., of the noise made by the bowels (C. 16 onwards), for Grose, 1785, says 'There is a rumpus among my chitterlins, i.e. I have the cholick.'—2. A masquerade: c.: ca. 1810–40. Vaux.

rumpus, v. To make a 'rumpus': coll.: 1839, Hood (O.E.D.); ob.

rumtitum. In fine condition, gen. of a bull or a whoremonger: ca. 1810–40. Egan's Grose. Cf. rumtitum, rumtidy(-tum), in refrains, though these are unrecorded before 1820.

Rumville. See Rome-Ville.

rumy. A good girl or woman: tramps' and Gypsy c. (—1859). H., 1st ed. A perversion of Romany romeni, a bride, a wife.

run. To manage: U.S. (1827), anglicised as coll. ca. 1860; in C. 20, S.E.—2. Ran (the preterite tense): a frequent C. 19–20 sol. Cf. give for gave.—3. To tease, irritate, nag at: Australian coll. (1888) >, ca. 1910, S.E.; rather ob. 'Rolf Boldrewood'. (O.E.D.)—4. To charge with a 'crime': naval (Bowen) and military: from not later than 1915. Ex run in, q.v.—5. To arrest: military (C. 20) > gen. s. (—1931). Lyell. See run, be, for it is gen. in the passive.—6. To report (a prisoner) to the governor of a gaol: c. (—1932). Anon., Dartmoor from Within.—7. To go out often with (a person of the opp. sex; gen. of a man with a girl): from ca. 1910. Prob. ex the turf.—8. To let the water run into (the bath): domestic coll.: C. 20. R. Hichens, The Paradine Case, 1933, 'Without summoning his valet, [he] went to "run" the bath.'

run-about. From ca. 1890: coll. See compulsory.

run, be. 'To be placed in arrest': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. run, 4, 5, and run in.

run, have a. To take a walk, a 'constitutional': coll.: from ca. 1880.—2. Esp. have a run for it, q.v.

run, let it. See let it run.

run, on the. Wanted by the police: orig. (late C. 19), c.; by 1925, coll. In c., however, it implies leaving the usual haunts when one is wanted by the police.

run a rule over. See rule over.

run across. To meet by chance: late C. 19–20: coll. till ca. 1905, then S.E.

run as swift as a pudding would creep. To be very slow: coll.: early C. 17. Apperson.

run away and play marbles! An insulting c.p. rejoinder or dismissal: late C. 19–20. C. H. Bacon, a Sedbergh boy, aptly pointed out, in July 1934, that an exact equivalent occurs in Shakespeare's Henry V: where the Dauphin sends the King a present of tennis balls. Cf.:

run away and play trains! See trains.

Run Away, Matron's Coming. Less a nickname for than a military c.p. directed at the Royal Army Medical Corps: G.W., but not very gen. F. & Gibbons.

run big. To be out of training: sporting: late C. 19–20; ob.

run down. The gangway or bridge between stage and auditorium: conjurors' coll. (from ca. 1880) >, in C. 20, S.E.

run (something) fine. (Esp. run it or that fine.) To leave only a very small margin (gen. of time): coll.: 1890 (O.E.D.).

run for it, have a. To make a fight: coll.: from ca. 1890; slightly ob.

run for one's money, a. An ample quid pro quo; extended liberty; a good time in exchange for one's money: from ca. 18: racing s. >, ca. 1890, coll. >, by 1930, S.E.

run goods. 'A maidenhead, being a commodity never entered', Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1786–1840. Punning the nautical sense, contraband.

run in. To arrest: coll. >, in C. 20, S.E.: 1872 (O.E.D.); H., 5th ed.

run of one's teeth or knife and fork, the. Victuals free: s., 1841 (in C. 20, coll.); coll. (ca. 1860) >, in C. 20, S.E. Ex the run, freedom, of a place.

run off one's legs. Bankrupt; gen. he is run off his legs. Coll.: ca. 1670–1760. Ray. (Apperson.) Cf. run over shoes.

run on. To run up an account: lower classes' coll. (—1887). Baumann.

run on (a person), get the. To play a dirty trick on (him): c. (—1887). Baumann.—2. See run upon.

run on, get the. See run upon . . .

run one way and look another. To play a double game: coll.: from ca. 1850; ob.

run one's face, or shape, for. To obtain an article on credit: coll.: orig. (—1848) and mainly U.S.; anglicised ca. 1880; ob. (O.E.D.; F. & H.)

run one's tail. To be a whore: from ca. 1850. See tail.

run out on. To embroider, enlarge on: coll.: late C. 19–20; ob.

run-out, the; often abbr. to R. O. A faked auction: grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. See also R. O. workers.

run over him, the coaches won't. He is in gaol. Also where the coaches . . ., gaol. A coll. c.p. ca. 1820–70. Cf. where the flies won't get at it.

run over shoes; be run over shoes. To get, be, heavily in debt: coll.: late C. 16–early 17. Apperson.

run rings round. See rings round.

run rusty. See rusty.—run the rule over. See rule over.

run the show. To 'manage' an enterprise, entertainment, etc.: from ca. 1915.

run thin. To back out of a bargain: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex dial.

run through the nose with a cushion. To strike playfully: coll.: late C. 17—early 18. Apperson. Cf. stab with a rose.

run to. To understand, comprehend: coll. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.—2. To afford, be able to pay: 1859, H.: coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Always in the negative or the interrogative. Ex horse-racing, thus:

run to it !, won't. A sporting c.p. (— 1909; ob.) applied to a horse that has insufficient staying power to reach the winning-post. Ware.

run to seed; occ. hyphenated. Pregnant: low coll.: from ca. 1860; ob.—2. Shabby: coll.: 1837, Dickens, 'Large boots running rapidly to seed'.

run upon (a person), get the. To have the upper hand of; be able to laugh at: coll. (— 1859) >, by 1890, S.E.; very ob. H., 1st ed. Also get the run on.

Runaway Prestonpans, the (Great). The 13th Hussars: military: 1745; ob. Some of their men panic'd in this battle which Sir John Cope lost to the Young Pretender. Also the Evergreens and Green Dragoons; Geraniums; Ragged Brigade.

runned. Run; ran: sol., esp. Cockneys' (— 1887). Baumann.

runner. A clothes-thief entering a house in the dark: c.: late C. 17—early 18. B.E. Cf. budge. —2. A wave: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob.—3. A dog-stealer: c. (— 1909). Ware.—4. An exchange clerk: bank clerks': from ca. 1916.—5. A clerk, or a collector, for a street 'bookie': Glasgow (— 1934).

runner-up. A docker 'employed by gangers to liven up the gangs and expedite the work': nautical: late C. 19—20. Bowen.

runners. He who 'calls over' the names of the horses competing or running in a race: turf c. (— 1932).

running glazier, glazier. A thief posing as a glazier: c. of ca. 1810—70.

running horse or nag. A gleet, a 'clap' (q.v.): low: ca. 1780—1860. Grose, 1st ed.

running leather, have shoes of. To be given to wandering or rambling: semi-proverbial coll.: from ca. 1850; ob.

running (occ. flying) patterer or stationer. A hawk of books or, more gen., broadsheets, newspapers, about the streets: C. 19, c. > low s. (Mayhew); late C. 17—19, coll., as in B.E., Grose, H.

running rumbler. See rumbler.

running smobble. 'Snatching goods off a counter, and throwing them to an accomplice, who brushes off with them,' Grose, 2nd ed.: c. of ca. 1787—1840. Cognate with smabble (or snabble), q.v.; cf. the next entry; as running smabble, it occurs in 1718, in C. Hitchin, The Regulator.

running snavel. A thief specialising in the kinchin-lay, q.v.: c.: C. 18. Cf. preceding entry and see snaffle, of which snavel is a corruption on snabble.

running stationer. See running patterer.

ruof. Four: back s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed.

Rupert. A kite; an observation balloon: military, esp. the Air Force: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. By personification. Cf. Richard, 2.

rural, do a. To ease oneself in the open air: coll.: C. 19—20; ob. Obviously suggested by Swift's pluck a rose (see at rose).

rural coach. A tutor not attached to a college: undergraduates' (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

rush. (See also rusher.) A robbery (specifically with violence) of many objects at one rush: c.: from ca. 1785. Cf. U.S. rush, a street encounter, which Thornton records at 1860.—2. Hence, any swindle: c. or low s.: from ca. 1840. Cf. rush, v., 1 and 2.—3. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', p. 6.

rush, v.t. To cheat (gen. rush out of); esp. to charge extortionately: 1885, former; ca. 1895, latter. From ca. 1910, coll. O.E.D., S.O.D.; F. & H., 'I rushed the old girl for a quid.' The semantics being: not to give time to think.—2. Hence, to deceive: Glasgow (— 1934).—3. To arrest: c.: from ca. 1890; ob. Clarence Rook, The Hooligan Nights, 1899.

rush, do a. To back a safe horse: racing: from ca. 1860; ob.—2. To lay a dummy bet: bookmakers': from ca. 1870. I.e., rushing the public into betting on this horse.

rush, give it to (one) upon the. To make a violent effort to get in or out of a place: c.: ca. 1810—40. Vaux.

rush, give one the. To sponge on a person all day and then borrow money from him at the finish, 'or pursue some such procedure,' H.: low: from ca. 1860.

rush, roam on the. In horse-racing, to swerve as the finishing spurt begins: sporting: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. rope, v., 1.

rush-buckler. A violent bully: coll.: ca. 1530—90. Robinson's More, 'Bragging rush-bucklers.'

rush-dodge. See rush, n., 1, and rusher, 1.

rush for and rush out of. See rush, v.

rush-light. Some strong liquor: ca. 1750—80. Toldervy, 1756. See quotation at slug, n., 1.

rush one's fences. To be impetuous: 'County' coll.: C. 20. Ex the j. of hunting.

rush up the frills or petticoats or straight. To coit with a woman without any preliminary blandishments: low coll.: from ca. 1850; ob. The third comes from horse-racing (cf. rush, roam on the).

rusher, gen: in pl. 'Thieves who knock at the doors of great houses, in London, in summer time, when the families are out of town, and on the door being opened by a woman, rush in and rob the house; also house breakers, who enter lone'—unoccupied—'houses by force,' Grose, 1st ed.: c. of ca. 1780—1850. Cf. rush, n., 1.—2. A person (gen. male) of a 'go-ahead' nature or habits: coll.: late C. 19—20; ob.

rushing-business. Robbery by adroitness or with apparent fairness: c.: from ca. 1880.

ruskit. Rustic: a late C. 19—20 sol.

russia; R. A pocket-book: c. (— 1877); ob. The reference in 'No. 747' is valid for 1845. Because made of Russia (leather).

Russian. A 'difficult', unruly animal: Australian: 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood'; ob.

Russian Coffee-House, the. The Brown Bear tavern in Bow Street, Covent Garden, 'a house of call for the thief-takers and runners of the Bow-street justices,' Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1787—1830. Because the brown bear is a characteristic of Russian fauna.

Russian duck. Muck: rhyming s. (— 1923). Manchon.

Russian law. 'A 100 blowes on his bare shins,' John Day, 1641: mid-C. 17 coll.

Russian socks. Rags bound about one's feet on a march: French Foreign Legion (— 1935).

Russki. A Russian soldier: military: 1914; slightly ob. B. & P. Ex Russian + -ski, a frequent Russian termination.

rust, n. Old metal: London (— 1884); ob. Cf. rusting and rust, v.—2. Money: low: ca. 1855–1910. Mayhew, 1858, 'There's no chance of nabbing any rust (taking any money).'³—3. See rust, nab the.—4. See rust, in.

rust, v.i. To collect and sell old metal: London (— 1884); ob.

rust, in. Out of work: theatrical: 1889 (O.E.D.); ob. Punning rest (see resting) and rusty.

rust, nab the. To be refractory (orig. of horses); hence, take offence: c. of ca. 1780–1890. Grose, 1st ed.; H., 5th ed. Cf. rusty.—2. To be punished: c.: from ca. 1890; † by 1850. Cf. nab the stoop, the teize, qq.v.—3. See rust, n., 2.

rust, take (the); also nab the rust. (Of horses) to become restive: coll.: 1775, Colman (take rust). Ob. (O.E.D.)

rustic. A recruit: military (mostly officers'): from ca. 1925. Ex his 'greenness'.

rustiness. Annoyance (state of); bad temper: 1860, Whyte-Melville (O.E.D.); ob. Ex rusty, adj.

rusting. The frequent vbl.n. of rust, v., q.v.

rustle. To bestir oneself, esp. in business: U.S. (— 1872), anglicised ca. 1885 as a coll. But rusiler (adopted by Morley Roberts in 1887) has not caught on. In C. 20, gen. hustle, q.v.—2. Among Canadian soldiers in the G.W., rustle and rustler, ex the U.S. senses, to steal cattle and cattle-stealer, were the equivalents of scrounge and scrounger. B. & P.

rusty. An informer: c.: 1830, Lytton, 'He'll turn a rusty, and scrag one of his pals!'; † by 1910. Ex:

rusty. Ill-tempered; annoyed: coll.: 1815, Scott, 'The people got rusty about it, and would not deal.' Esp. cut up, or turn, rusty. Prob. ex:

rusty (or grub), ride. To be sullen: coll.: ca.

1780–1840. Grose, 1st ed. Ex reasty, restive, applied esp. to a horse.

Rusty Buckles. The 2nd Dragoon Guards: military: C. 19–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Also the Bays.

rusty guts, rusty-guts; rustyguts. 'An old blunt fellow,' B.E.: late C. 17–mid-18.—2. Then, though now slightly ob., any 'blunt surly fellow,' Grose, 1785. Both B.E. and Grose consider it a 'jocular misnomer of rusticus'.

rut, keep a. To make mischief: coll.: late C. 17–18. ? ex dial. rut, friction (itself ex rub); the O.E.D. considers it ex † rut, noise, disturbance, which is the more likely, for dial. rut may not date back so far.

rutat; occ. rattat. A potato: back s. on tatur. Mid-C. 19–20. H., 1st ed.; Ware, 'Ruttat-pusher (1882). Keeper of a potato car' (i.e., barrow).

rutter. One of a party (gen. numbering four) of swindlers; he stood at the door: c.: late C. 16; Greene.

ruv, v. To reprimand, or blame, scold, severely: T. M. Ellis, 1899 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex dial. ruz, shake; to tread upon (E.D.D.).

ruv. Bad temper; (a gust of) anger, passion: Public Schools' (— 1934). C.O.D. (1934 Sup.). Either ex Lincolnshire ruck, a noise, a racket, or, more prob., ex Kentish have one's ruck up, to be angry (E.D.D.). —2. To 'rag', to get up to mischief: Dartmouth Naval College: C. 20. Bowen. Either ex the orig. of sense 1 or ex rags.

ry. A sharp trick; a dishonest practice: Stock Exchange: late C. 19–20; ob. It may possibly be a distorted abbr. of rig, n., q.v.

ryakonite. Incorrect for rhyacolite: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

rybeck. A share: low London (mostly Yiddish): 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.).

ryder. A cloak: low: ca. 1870–1910. ? rider, that which rides on.

rye. See Romany rye.

rye mort; rye mush. A lady; a gentleman: c.: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. For rye, see Romany rye; mort, c. for a girl or woman; and see mush, n., 7,—cf. coring mush and tober-mush.

ryer. One shilling and sixpence: turf c. (— 1932). Perhaps a corruption of kye, q.v.

ryno. See rhino.

S

[F. & H. records the following ineligibles under s. S.E.:—Sabin or s.; Sacheverel(1); saddle a place, s. one with a thing; sadly (> dial.); safe phrases not done separately; sail near (etc.) the wind; St. Martin's evil and St. Lawrence's tears; for (old) sake's sake, etc.; salad days or stage; salamander, anything fire-proof; sally-port; salmagundy, the dish; salt (senses and phrases not treated separately); saltimbando; sample of sin; Samson's posts; sandwich boat; sandy pate; sap, ale; sap-pate (or -skull) and sap-head(ed); sappy, polish; sard; sauce, vegetables; sauce for the goose...; sauce-pate; sauce, pay, pay an extortionate price; serve with the same sauce; saunter; save-all, a miser; saw in cords; say-so; scabbard (sexually); scablonian; scabby sheep; scaffolders; scalda- banco; scamp, a rogue,—to do badly; scampery; scandal-proof, lost to shame; scant of grace; scape; scape-gallows, -grace, -shift; Scaramouch(e); scarlet, to wear; Scarlet Woman; scatterbrain(ed); scattergood, scatterling; scene and behind the scenes; sceptre; schism-monger; scissors and paste; scob; sconce, a fine; scorpion of the brow; scoundrel; scout, watchman, mean fellow; scraggy; scramble; scrape, trouble, a miser, a term at fiddling, and scrape, to bow; scrape-shoe and -trencher; scraper, scraping; scrappy, etc.; scrat(ch), also dial.; scratch, adj. and v.; screecher and screechly; screw, senses, etc., not listed; scroyle; scrub where not herein-under; scrunch; scud, v.; scal (or skul)-duggerly; scum; scumber; scumble; scurry; scute; scuttle (gait); sea phrases, etc., not listed; season; see, etc., not separately; see-saw; seedy, seediness; seek-sorrow; seggon; send down; sense; servant; set-down, -off, and -to; seven-year; sewer, sense 3; sex; shab off; get or make shabby; Shades, the; shadow, n. and v.; shad-rach; shady spring and shaft of Cupid as sexual complements; shag-rag; shake phrases, etc., not separately listed; shaky; shallow unlisted; sham, id.; shamble-legged; shambroque; shameless; shandry(gan); shandygaff; shanghai; shank, etc., not listed; shanker; shanty (hut), n. and v.; shap, also dial.; shape, v.; shape-smith and in good shape; share, share-penny; shark unlisted; sharp, id.; shatterbrain(ed); shave, v.; shaveling; shay; sheath; she-familiar; sheep, etc., if unlisted; sheets, euphemistic; shell (in schools); shell-out, n.; shift, v., shifter and shift-work; shin (up), v.; shin-rapper; shindy, a disturbance; shine, to make an impression, excel, (cut a) shine and s., a flash; shining light; shinier; ship, except where listed; shirk, shirker; shit terms if unlisted; shocker; shoddy; all shoe phrases, etc., not given later; shog; shoot, etc., when unlisted; shooter; shooting-iron; undesignated shop's; Shoreditch fury; short terms if unspecified; shotten herring; shoulder-clapper, -knot, -pegged, and shoulder-of-mutton fist; all over bar the shouting; shovel, unspecified show's; shrimp; shuffle; shuttle-brain, -head, -wit; (fight) shy; sick, etc., if unrecorded; side, id.; siege; sieve; unlisted sight's; sign-manual; silk-petticoat and -stocking; silly if unnoted; silver-cooper; simkin; simple Simon, simpleton; (sin); sinews of war; undenoted sing's; single-broth, -soldier, and -woman; sink, a slum, etc.; sink, v.; (old) sinner; siquis (public announcement); sir, Sir John Lack-Latin, and Sir Martin Wagstaffe; sirrevence (as apology); siserara; sister, sisterhood; all unspecified sit's; six (beer); sixes and sevens, set on seven; six-footer, -shooter, six of one . . . ; size, sizar; skeet; skeleton; skilly, skilligolee; skimble-skamble; skimming-ton; skimp; skin phrases, etc., unrecorded; skink; skip phrases unspecified; skipper, captain; skipping; skirry; skirter; skirts, sit upon one's; skit; skittles phrases; skue; skulk; unrecorded sky's (including compounds); slabbergullion; slack (time); slam (cards); slam-bang; slampam; undetailed slang terms; slangam, slangrill; slap-sauce; slapdash; slappaty-pouch; unrecorded slash, etc.; slaughter, v.; sledge-hammer; sleep; sleeping-house, -partner; sleepy (fruit) and s.-head; unspecified sleeve's; sleeveless; slobber-slapper; slick (S.E. > dial. and U.S.); unrecorded slide's; slim, adj.; slinging; slink, a bastard; slip, etc., undenoted; slit; slither; slive; slobber, v., and slobberer; slop, etc., not recorded; slosh, a drink; slouch, slouchy; slow, n.; slow-back, -coach, -up; slug(-a-bed); sluice, v.; slum, v.; slump, n. and v.; slur, an affront; slush, a drunkard or filthy feeder; slut, etc.; sly, secret; smack, a tang, and s., to kiss; smacking; small's unrecorded; smart's, id.; smash, to ruin; smatterer, -ering; smectymnus; smell, to investigate; smell-feast, -smock; smelly; smelt, a dupe, simpleton; smicker, smickering; smickly; smiling; smirk; smiter, a sword; smock, etc., unrecorded smoke's; smoother; smouch, v.; smug, adj.; smuggle, to fondle; smulkin; smush; smut, etc. (obscenity); snack, except in games sense; snag, snaggler; snail; unspecified snake's; snap, id.; snarler; snatch entries unnoted hereinunder; sneak, etc., id.; sneck-drawer, -drawing; sneering; sneeze; snickersnee; snigger; snick's unrecorded; snip-snap, -snipper-snapper; snivel, -ler, -ling, and s.-nose; snob, an inferior, a vulgarian; snoozer; snort; snot-gall; snout, nose, face, and snout-fair; snow-ball, snow-broth; snub; snub-nose; snudge (now dial.), a miser; s.-snout; snuff, etc., except as specified; snuffle (-r, -s); snugger; so !; so-and-so, so-so; soak(er), soaker, soaking; sobersides; sock (comedy); s., to sew up; socket; unrecorded soft's; soiled dove; solace; solid; solution of continuity; song and change one's song; sonnikin; sootierkin; sop and sop in the pan; sorry; sort, after a; sound, to examine; sour, adj.; sow; spade and call a s. a s.; spado; Spain, build a castle in; spaniel; spanker (nautical); spark (dandy, lover) and sparkful, sparkish, sparky; sparrow, mumble a, and sparrow-mouth, -tail; speak phrases, etc., not listed; special, n.; speedy man; spell, a period of work or rest, with corresponding v.; spell for; spend-all, s. the mouth, spendings; spew; spick(-and)-span(-new); spicy, racy, indelicate; spider-shanked, -shanks, and s.-web; spigot; spill-good, -time; spin a fair thread and s. out; spindle-legs, spindly; spirit, spitter; spit's unrecorded; spital or spittle; spittoon; splatter-face; splay-foot; unspecified split's; splodgy; spoil, id.; spoke in one's wheel; sponge's unspecified; spook, spooky; spoonage; all unspecified sport's; spot (sexual); spout, a pawnbroker's shoot, his shop; spout, v.; spouting-club; spouter; sprat (pejorative); spread (sexual, v.); spread-eagle; sprig; spring, except as defined; springal; spry; spud (dwarf, spade); spy; squab, n., and s., to fall heavily; squabash; squabbled; squail(er); squall; all square's not treated separately; squarson; squash, etc., not detailed; squat; squatter; squawk; squeak, n.; squeaker, a young bird; squealer, id.; all unspecified squeeze's; squelch; squench; squib, a satire, to satirise; squin-eyes; squinny (-eyed, eyes), squint-minded, and squintafuego; squire, etc., undenoted; squireen; squiress; squirm, v.; squirt, a spurt, and squirts; squishop; stab, v., and stab-shot; stable; stack, n.; staff (of life) and other staff terms not hereinunder; stage-fever; staggerer; stale's unrecorded; stall, id.; stallion; stamps (printing); undenoted stand's; stang, ride the; unspecified star's; starch, starched; starling (coin); start-up; starter, a milksop; startler; state of nature; unrecorded stay's; steam, energy; steel-boy; steenkirk; steeple, s.-fair, -house; stepper (horse); undenoted stern's; stew (pond, brothel), stewed, stewish; stew in one's own grease, juice, etc.; stibbler; stichel; unspecified stick's; stickler; stiff, id.; stifler, a heavy blow; stigmatic; stile phrases; stingy; stinkard; stinking fish, cry; stitch-back and stitch, go through; stive; all undenoted stock's; (in one's) stockings; stocky (build); stodge (food); stoke; unrecorded stomach's; stone, id.; stools, fall between two; unspecified stoop's and stop's; (blind) story; untreated straught's; strain; stranded; stranger, a visitor; unrecorded strap's, including strapper, strapping; straw, id.; all strawberry terms; streak, a sequence; streamers; undescribed street's; stretch, id.; stride, take in one's; unrecorded strike's; string, id.; strip, v.; stroker; stroller; strum (v. in music); strumpet; strut-noddy; stub, a fool; study; unspecified stuff's; stuffy, airless; stump, etc., unrecorded; suburb, etc.—but see note on; succuba, -us; suck, etc., where unspecified; sufferer, a loser; sugar, flattery, and sugar-loaf; suit (complete series, etc.); sulky, n.; sullen; unrecorded summer; sumpsinus; unspecified sun's; Sunday best, Sunday's fellow; superannuate; unrecorded sure's, including suresby; surtout; suspercollate; swab, etc., unspecified; swag-belly; swaining; unrecorded swallow's; swarm; swash (and -er, -ing); unspecified swear's; sweat, id.; sweater, a jersey; sweep, etc., undetailed; sweet, id.; swill; swim, etc., where not detailed; swine, id.; swing, id.; swinge, id.; swish, id.; swobber; swollen head.

Dial. —Sandgate rattle; saucebox, the mouth; scaff-and-raff; scallops; scate; screed o' drink; screw, a stomach-ache; shrudge; shack, n. and adj.; shackbag, etc.; shalley-gonahey; shammock; shaney; shank it; shard; sharge; sherry-mow; (do a) shift; shine, n.; shinefast; shoard; shot-pot and, shot-flagon; side-winder; sit (of milk), sit a woman sit in, sit-still nest; skelper; skinsmedam; skitter-brain; sky-wannocking; (on the) skyte; slab; slake; slam (a sloven), slam(mer)kin and slammocks; slamtrash; slapper; slive-Andrew; sliverly, sliving; slump, adv.; smeekeit; smicket; smouch (hat); smug (snail); snaggy; snifter (a breath); snirp; snoach; snob (mucus); snook, n. and v.; so (pregnant); soldier, v., and soldier's thigh; sonkey; sow-child and -drunk (cf. swine-drunk, S.E.); sozzle, a heavy fall; spaddock-pot legs; spitter; sprug; squirt; squitters; stacia; stag (a romping girl); staggering Bob; stam-bang; stand-further; stange(y); star-bason; starf; stepmother; stickit minister; stifler, a busybody; stimbly; stink-a-puss; (go a good) stitch; stocky, irritable; Stockport coach (properly chaise); strava(i)g; strunt (liquor); stump and rump (perhaps also coll.); sumph; swad (lout, lump); swankey (small beer); swatbled.]

'S; rarely 's. A coll. euphemistic abbr. of God' in oaths; gen. continuous with governing words as in 'Sblood and 'Slife: C. 16–20; from mid-C. 18, only 'literary'.

's. (Contrast with dial. s, shall.) Is: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 18, then coll. (though permissible in verse). Richardson, 1741, 'The Devil's in't if we are not agreed in so clear a case' (O.E.D.). Or even = 'it is' (the s forming liaison with the next word): coll.: C. 20. E.g., H. C. Bailey, Mr. Fortune Wonders, 1932, 'You wouldn't blame your dear boy! Your only one! 's too bad.' —2. Are: sol.: C. 19 (and presumably centuries earlier)—20. Baumann.—3. Has: coll.: from ca. 1540.—4. Us: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 18, then dial. except in let's, which is coll. Richardson, 1741, 'Let's find him out' (O.E.D.).—5. As: C. 18–20: dial. and, more rarely, coll.—6. As a; mostly in 's matter of fact: low coll.: late C. 19–20. E.g. J. A. Bloor in The Passing Show, July 7, 1934.—7. As = 'his', 's has not emerged from formal and, in C. 19–20, dial. speech.—8. This: coll.: late C. 19–20. See quotation at 'smorning.—9. Does: coll.: late C. 19–20. Neil Bell, Winding Road, 1934, 'When's Parliament reassemble, Stephen?' Mostly after when but not unknown after how, as in 'How's he do it? It beats me!'—10. See preceding entry.

s-. 'As I write (1917) there is a slang tendency to say snice for nice, etc.,' W. See esp. snice mince pie.

s.a.; S.A. Sex appeal: from ca. 1929. Agatha Christie, 1930; Dorothy Sayers, Have His Carcase, 1932, 'The girl . . . exercising S.A. on a group of rather possessive-looking males.'

's luck! (Pron. 'sluck; occ. written so.) Here's luck!: coll.: from ca. 1912. Francis D. Grierson, Murder at Lancaster Gate, 1934.

s. and b.; S. and B. An occasional variant (— 1887; very ob.) of b. and s. Baumann.

S.M., the. The company sergeant-major: military coll.: C. 20. (Never in the vocative.) F. & Gibbons.

S.O.B. or s.o.b. 'Son of a bitch': mostly Australian: from ca. 1925. Christina Stead, Seven Poor Men of Sydney, 1934, 'That s.o.b. Montagu got me the job 'ere, you know.'

S.O.L. Unlucky: Canadian: C. 20. B. & P. Euphemistically 'short of luck', actually 'sh*t, out of luck'.

S.O.S. See same old stew.

S.O.S. course. The Sniping, Observation and Scouting 'course of training at the Sniping Schools established in 1916': military jocular coll.: 1916–18. F. & Gibbons. Prompted by S.E. 'S.O.S.'.

S.P.Q.R. Small profits, quick returns: jocular coll.: C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

S.R.D. See seldom reaches destination.

S.P.O. A cheap restaurant specialising in sausages, potatoes and onions: London: from ca. 1925.

sa. Six: showmen's, mostly Parlyaree: from ca. 1850. P. H. Emerson, 1893, 'I was hired out . . . for sa soldi a day.' Ex Lingua Franca.

sa'. Save, esp. in God sa' me: C. 17–mid-19: S.E. till ca. 1660, then coll. Shadwell, 1668, 'As God shall sa' me, she is a very ingenious Woman' (O.E.D.).

saam. 'E.g. "Can I come saam?" "He went saam"; meaning "Can I come with you?" "He went with them." . . . An imitation of the Dutch idiom, '—samen, together—' and is current in the Midland districts of the Cape Colony,' Pettman: South African coll.: C. 20.

Sabæan. Incorrect for Sabian: C. 18–20. O.E.D.

sabe, save, savvy. See savvy.

sable Maria. A variant († by 1920) of black Maria, q.v.

sabby. A pidgin English variant (— 1864) of savvy, q.v. H., 3rd ed.

saccer. The sacrament: Harrow School: late C. 19–20. By the Oxford-er.

*sack. A pocket: c.: late C. 17–mid 19. B.E.; Mayhew, 1858.

sack, v. To 'pocket', take (illicit) possession of: coll.: C. 19–20; ob. E. S. Barrett, 1807, 'He sacked the receipts, without letting them touch one farthing,' O.E.D.—2. To dismiss one from employment or office: from ca. 1840. Gen. in passive. Ex (get and/or give the sack.—3. To defeat (in a contest, esp. in a game): from ca. 1820 (orig. Anglo-Irish); rare after ca. 1860. ? ex sack, to plunder.—4. To expel: Public Schools': from ca. 1880. Desmond Coke's school stories, passim. Ex sense 2.

sack, bestow or confer the order of the. See sack, order of the.

sack, break a bottle in an empty. To make a cheating bet, a hocus wager, 'a sack with a bottle in it not being an empty sack,' Grose, 2nd ed.: coll.: late C. 18—mid-19.

sack, buy the. To become tipsy: s. > coll.: ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed. Ex sack, generic for the white wines formerly imported from Spain.

sack, dive into a. To pick a pocket: c.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.

sack, get or give the. See get or give the sack. Cf.:

sack, the order of the. Gen. as get or give (occ. bestow, confer) the order . . . A dismissal from employment, a discharge from office, a being discarded by sweetheart or mistress (rarely lover): from ca. 1860. Yates, 1864, 'I'd . . . confer on him the order of the sack.' See also give the sack, and cf. order of the.

sack of coals. A black cloud (gen. black clouds) in the Southern Hemisphere: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sacking, prostitution; sacking law, harlotry as practised by the underworld with a view to further gain: c. of late C. 16—early 17. Greene, 1592, 1591 resp. Ex the S.E. v., sack, to lay waste.

sacks. Long trousers: Charterhouse: C. 20. On bags.

sacks to the mill!, more. Pile it on!; there's plenty here!: coll.: late C. 16–18, then dial. Nashe; Middleton & Rowley in The Spanish Gipsie; Richardson. (Apperson.)

Sacramentarian, gen. in pl. A Methodist: an Oxford nickname: ca. 1733–1810. O.E.D. sacratil, -tyle. An error for serratile: ca. 1540–80. O.E.D. sacred lamp. A ballet-girl burlesque: theatrical: 1883–ca. 1900. Ware. Ex a cynicism by John Hollingshead ('The sacred lamp of burlesque').

sacrifice. A(n alleged) loss: coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Dickens, 1844, 'Its patterns were last Year's and going at a sacrifice.' Esp. alarming or astounding s.

sacrifice. To sell, or claim to sell, at less than cost price: from ca. 1850: coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Ex the n.

sad. Mischievous, troublesome, merry, dissipated: late C. 17–20 (ob. except in sad dog): coll. Chiefly of a place ('London is a sad place,' Mackenzie, 1771) and of a person, esp. in sad dog, in C. 18—mid-19 a debauched fellow, and thereafter rare except in playful reproach. Farquhar, 1706, 'S. You are an ignorant, pretending, impudent Coxcomb. B. Ay, ay; a sad dog.'

sad vulgar. A vulgarian: Society: ca. 1770–1820. Ware cites The St. James's Gazette of Aug. 17, 1883.

saddle. The female pudend; woman as sexual pleasure: coll. verging on euphem. S.E.: C. 17–20, but rare since C. 18.—2. 'An additional charge upon the benefits' from a benefit-performance: 1781, Parker: theatrical, † by 1920.

saddle-back. See saddleback.—saddle becomes . . . See saddle suits.

saddle-leather. The skin of the posteriors: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Punning S.E. sense.

saddle on the right or wrong horse, put the. To blame—occ., to praise—the right or wrong person (loosely, act, thing): coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): from ca. 1750. Ex the earlier set . . . (1607) and lay . . . (1652), both † by 1840. An occ. variant: place, mid-C. 19–20, ob. (O.E.D.) Also s. upon . . .

saddle one's nose. To wear spectacles: coll.: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed.

saddle-sick. Made ill or very sore by riding: coll. and dial.: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. saddle-leather, q.v.

saddle suits a sow, suit one as a. To suit, become, fit ill; be very incongruous: coll.: C. 18–19. Swift, who has become for suit.

saddle the spit. To give a meal, esp. a dinner: coll.: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed. Ex S.E. saddle a spit, to furnish one.

[saddle up. To saddle (a horse). Considered by Pettman to be a South African coll.: but it has always, and everywhere, been S.E.]

saddle upon . . . See saddle on . . .

saddleback. A louse: C. 19–20; ob. (Not in the best circles).—2. Incorrect for saddle-bag (upholstery): from ca. 1830. W.

saddling-paddock. A place where lovers tend to congregate: Australian (— 1909). Ware. Semantics: ride, riding.

safe . . . , a. E.g. 'He is a safe second', i.e. he is sure to obtain second-class honours: coll.: late C. 19–20. (S.O.D.)

safe (and sound), be or arrive. To have duly arrived, be at one's destination: coll.: 1710, Swift, 'I send this only to tell that I am safe in London.'

safe as . . . , as. Very safe: coll.: none recorded before 1600, thus: as safe as a church, 1891, Hardy (not very gen.); safe as a crow (occ. sow) in a gutter, ca. 1630–1730, Clarke, Ray; as a mouse in a cheese, ca. 1670–1750, Ray; as a mouse in a malt-heap, ca. 1630–1700, Clarke, Ray; as a mouse in a mill, ca. 1600–50, Davenport; as a thief in a mill, ca. 1620–1750 (then dial.), Beaumont & Fletcher, Swift; as anything, from ca. 1895, F. & H. (1903); as Chelsea is dial.; as coons, 1864, † by 1920; as houses, 1864, Yates; as safe, 1860, Whyte-Melville (O.E.D.); as the bank, 1862; as the Bank of England, 1923, J. S. Fletcher; as the bellows, 1851, Mayhew (mostly Cockney, † by 1930). With hearty thanks to Apperson, the 'locus classicus' for safe as, as for so many other coll. similes and semi-proverbial c.pp.

safe card. An alert fellow: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. H., 5th ed. Cf. card, q.v.

safe un. A horse that will not run, certainly will not (because meant not to) win: the turf: 1871, 'Hawk's-Eye', Turf Notes, 'The safe uns, or "stiff uns" . . . horses that have no chance of winning.'

sag. 'To drift off a course': nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sahib. A 'white man', a thoroughly honourable gentleman: mainly in the Services: late C. 19–20. Since ca. 1925, often derisive of 'Public School' morals and mentality. Ian Hay, 1915. Ex Arabic and Urdu respectful address to Europeans. W.

saida; saida bint or girl. See bint.

said. Have said; esp. in you said it: U.S., anglicised ca. 1931 via the 'talkies'. Dorothy Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, "'The idea being that . . . ?'" "You said it, chief".

said he. E.g. "'Do you like that?" . . . "No, said he frowning!"': a coll. c.p. (— 1927). Collinson. Prob. ex the novelist's trick and the journalist's mannerism.

said than done, no sooner; 2, (that's) easier. Both these phrases, obvious in meaning, are C. 19–20 coll.

sail about. To saunter about: coll.: late C. 17—mid-18. B.E.

sail in, v.i. To arrive, to enter: coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex S.E. sail in, to move in a dignified or a billowing manner.—2. Hence, to begin boldly (to act): from ca. 1880.—3. Hence the special sense, to begin to fight: 1891, The Morning Advertiser, March 30. Cf.:

sail into. To attack, e.g. with one's fists: from ca. 1891.—2. To begin vigorously on (e.g. a meal). Cf. sail in, 3.—3. To enter (a building, a room, etc.): C. 18—20. Tom Brown, 1700, 'From thence I sailed into a Presbyterian Meeting near Covent-Garden,' O.E.D.: cf. sail about, q.v.

sailor-teasers. 'Studding sails and flying kites which the sailor disliked intensely': nautical coll.: C. 19. Bowen.

sailor's blessing. A curse: nautical: from ca. 1880. Cf. fuck you, Jack, I'm all right and sailor's farewell.

sailor's champagne. Beer: lower classes' jocular coll. (— 1909); ob. Ware.

sailor's farewell. A parting curse: nautical, military: C. 20. Cf. sailor's blessing, soldier's farewell, and builer's grace.

sailor's friend, the. The moon: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19—20. Bowen.

sailor's pleasure. 'Yarning, smoking, dancing, growling, &c.', Clark Russell, 1883; ob. As applied to the first three, it is S.E.; to the last, coll. Cf. soldier's privilege.—2. 'Overhauling his sea chest or bag and examining its contents': nautical: C. 20. Bowen.

sailor's waiter, the. A second mate on a sailing-ship: nautical (— 1840); ob. Dana; Bowen.

sailor's weather. 'A fair wind and just enough of it': sailing-ships' coll.: C. 19—20. Bowen.

sails. A sail-maker: nautical (— 1840). Dana. Cf. chips, q.v.

sails, take the wind out of one's. To nonplus; surprise, gen. unpleasantly: mid-C. 19—20: coll. (orig. nautical) >, ca. 1905, S.E.

sails like a haystack. See haystack.

saint. 'A piece of spoilt timber in a coach maker's shop, like a saint, devoted to the flames,' Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1785—1850.—2. (Saint.) One belonging to a religious association at Cambridge: a nickname: ca. 1793—1830. They affected a great sanctity and a marked zeal for orthodoxy (see e.g. Gradus ad Cantabrigiam, 1803).—3. A member of that party which, in England, instituted and fostered the agitation against slavery: a nickname: ca. 1830—50. O.E.D.—4. An inhabitant of Grahamstown, the City of the Saints (q.v.): South African (— 1913). Pettman.—5. (Gen. pl.) See Saints.

[St is more logical than St., as the Fowlers indicate. (St', more accurate still, is pedantic.) The same applies to Bp (Bishop), Dr, Mr, etc.]

St Anthony, dine with. A variant of dine with Duke Humphrey, to go without dinner or, loosely, any other meal: 1749, Smollett, translation of Gil Blas.

St Alban's clean shave. The clean-shaven face of a high churchman: ecclesiastical: late C. 19—early 20.

St Alban's doves. Two active canvassers of 1869: political of that year. Ware. Ex their church.

St Anthony pig. See Anthony.—St Anthony's pigs. See Anthony's pigs, St.

St Benedict. See St Peter.

St Bernard Croly. The Rev. George Croly (1780—1860), author of Tales of the Great St Bernard, 1829. Dawson.

St Francis. See St Peter.

St Geoffrey's day. Never: coll.: ca. 1786—1850. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. Queen Dick.

St George, riding and the dragon upon. See riding St George.

St George a-horse-back. The act of kind: C. 17—18. Massinger, ca. 1632, omits St.

St Giles, dine with. See dine with St Giles.—St Giles's bread. See Giles's bread.

St Giles's carpet. A sprinkling of sand: Seven Dials, London: C. 19. Ware.

St Giles's Greek. See Giles's Greek, St.

St Hugh's bones. Shoemaking tools: coll.: C. 17—mid-18; then dial., extant in Cheshire. Dekker, 1600; E. Ward, 1700. Apperson.

[St John to borrow. 'See borrow', F. & H.: but not there. ? = a nut: see E.D.D. at St John. Or perhaps a loan or a pledge or surety: see E.D.D. at borrow. Prob. there is an error.]

St John's Wood donas. Harlots, courtesans: taverns': ca. 1880—1912. Ware. Many once lived there.

St Lubbock's day. A bank-holiday: 1871: coll.; ob. Ex Sir John Lubbock, the institutor, who brought in an Act in that year. Ware records St Lubbock, an orgy or drunken riot: lower London: ca. 1880—1914.

St Luke's bird. An ox, 'that evangelist being always represented with an ox', Grose, 1st ed.: c. or low: ca. 1780—1850.

St Marget's ale. Water: coll.: 1600, Munday & Drayton; † by 1800. Cf. Adam's ale.

Saint Maritan. A Samaritan: sol., esp. Cockneys' (— 1887). Baumann.

St Martin's lace. Imitation gold-lace: coll.: 1607, Dekker; H., 5th ed. (Cf. etymology of tawdry.)

St Martin's ring. A copper-gilt ring: coll.: C. 17—early 18. Anon., early C. 17, Plain Percival, 'I doubt whether all be gold that glistereth, sith Saint Martin's rings be but copper within, though they be gilt without.'

St Martin's the Grand. A hand: rhyming s. (— 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.'

St Mary's knot, tie with. To hamstring: Scots coll.: 1784, The Poetical Museum. (F. & H.)

Saint Monday. Monday: South African coll. (— 1896). Because observed as a holiday by the Malays. Pettman. Ex:—2. Esp. keep Saint Monday, to be idle on Monday as a result of Sunday's drunkenness: 1753, The Scots Magazine, April, (title) 'St. Monday; or, the tipling tradesmen.' O.E.D.

St Nicholas. See Nicholas.

saint of the saucepan. A good cook: coll. verging on S.E.: 1749, Smollett; ob.

St Old's. St Aldgate's, Oxford: Oxford undergraduates': late C. 19—20. Collinson.

St Partridge. The 1st September, when the partridge-shooting opens: sportsmen's coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

St Patrick. The best whiskey: coll.: ca. 1650—1850. Ex drink at St Patrick's well: coll.: 1648, anon., A Brown Dozen of Drunkards; † by 1850.

St Peter, silence and mortification; St Radegonde, a small cross studded with nails; St Benedict, a hair-shirt; St Francis, the discipline, i.e. the whip or scourge :—Roman Catholic ecclesiastical s. : late C. 19–20. Ex incidents recorded in hagiology.

St Peter's son. (Gen. in pl.) A general thief, 'having every finger a fish-hook', Grose, s.v. fidlam ben, q.v. : c. of ca. 1780–1840.

St Peter's the Beast. St Peter-le-Bailey : Oxford undergraduates' : from ca. 1890. To rhyme with St Peter's in the East. Ware—whose definition is incorrect.

St Radegonde. See St Peter.

St Stephen's hell. No. 15 Committee Room, House of Commons : Parliamentary : in the 1880's. Ware. (See also Addenda.)

St Taur. H.M.S. Centaur of 1746 : naval : mid-C. 18. Bowen.

St Thomas a' Waterings, the 'Spital (or 'spital) stands too nigh. A semi-proverbial c.p. derived ex London topography, waterings being a pun : C. 17–mid-18 ; e.g. in the anon. play, The Puritan, 1607. 'Widows who shed most tears are sometimes guilty of such indiscretions as render them proper subjects for the public hospitals,' Hazlitt. (There is a cynical early C. 17 play dealing with a woman successfully courted at her husband's funeral.)

Saints. 'A football team of St Kilda, Victoria' (Australia), C. J. Dennis : Australian sporting : late C. 19–20.—2. The Southampton Association Football Club : English sporting : late C. 19–20. Ex Southamptonites slurred.

sakes (alive)! A (low) coll. exclamation : from ca. 1840 : mostly dial. and U.S. (O.E.D.) sal. A salivation, or treatment for syphilis : 1785, Grose, who adds 'in a high sal, in the pickling tub or under a salivation'. † by 1860.—2. A salary : theatrical : 1859, H., 1st ed. ; 1885, Household Words, Aug. 29.

sal hatch, or S.H. An umbrella : lower classes' (—1909). Ware. Perhaps ex a proper name : cf. Mrs Gamp and † S.E. sal hatch, a dirty wench.

sal slappers. A common woman : costers' (—1909). Ware.

saalaams! (My) compliments (to you, her, etc.) : Anglo-Indian coll., fairly gen. in C. 20 and almost S.E. Ex Arabic for 'Peace (be upon or with you).'

salad. After having been wakcnd, to have another nap : nautical, applied only to officers (—1877). Cf. the C. 16–early 17 S.E. pick a salad, to be trivially engaged.

salad march. A 'march of ballet girls in green, white, and pale amber—from the usual colours of salads' : late C. 19–early 20 theatrical coll. Ware.

salad oil. Hair-oil : lower classes' (—1923) Manchon.

salamander. A fire-eating juggler : circus (—1859). H., 1st ed.—2. A nickname for 'the first type of Sopwith 'plane with armoured fuselage' : Air Force : mostly 1915. B. & P.

salamon. A C. 17–19 form of salmon, q.v.

sale, house of. A brothel : coll. : late C. 16–17. Shakespeare in Hamlet.

salesman's dog. A shop-tout : ca. 1690–1840. B.E. ; A New Canting Dict., 1725 (saleman's . . . , prob. a misprint) ; Grose. On barker, q.v.

Salisbury. A civil lie ; a polite evasion : political : ca. 1890–1900. The Pall Mall Gazette, March 5, 1890, 'The famous Salisbury about the Secret-Treaty . . . must henceforth be read "cum grano salis-bury"'. Ex the statesman.

Sallenger's (or Sallinger's) Round, dance. To wanton ; copulate : coll. : C. 17–early 18. Sal- lenger's Round was an indelicate ballad of ca. 1600 ; lit., St Leger's.

Sallies. See Johnnies.

Sally. See Aunt Sally.—2. (Also sallow.) An Australian corruption of Aboriginal sallee, acacia. Morris.

sally, v. ; sallying, vbl.n. These c. terms, valid for 1865 in 'No. 747', are of obscure sense ; it is, however, clear that they refer to some not very skilled 'dodge' for illicitly obtaining money.

Sally Nixon (occ. s.n.). Salenixon (sal enixum) : workmen's : from ca. 1880. O.E.D. (Sup.). By 'Hobson-Jobson'.

Sally Booze. Saily-la-Bourse, a village on the Western Front : military : G.W. (F. & Gibbons.)

sally-port. The mouth : nautical (—1923).

Manchon. Ex a ship's sally-port.

salmagundy. A cook : coll. : C. 18–early 19.

Ex the dish so named.

salmon ; occ. salamon, salomon or -an, and solomon. The Mass ; Harman defines as also an altar, a sense not recorded after C. 16. Rare except in by salmon!, by the Mass!, the beggar's expletive or oath, or in the C. 18–early 19 so help me salmon! : c. of ca. 1530–1830. Copland, Overbury, Moore-Carew, Scott. Prob. a corruption of the Fr. serment, an oath.—2. A C. 20 abb. of sense 3 of :

salmon and trout. The mouth : rhyming s. (—1859) ; ob. H., 1st ed., as salmon trout, which is rare after ca. 1870 ; the 5th ed. has s. and t.—2. The nose : id. (on snout) : C. 20. B. & P.—3. Gout ; a tout : C. 20. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

salmon-gundy. A (rather low) coll., indeed almost sol. form of salmagundy : late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. (See also salmagundy.)

saloman, -mon. The former a frequent, the latter a rare variant of salmon, q.v. : resp. C. 17 and mid-C. 16–early 19. Resp., Overbury ; Harman, Middleton, Shirley.

Sal's, sleep at. To sleep at a Salvation Army shelter : lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

salt. A sailor ; esp. one of long experience, when often old salt (as in Hughes, 1861) : coll. : 1840, Dana, 'My complexion and hands were enough to distinguish me from the regular salt.' Occ., though by 1910, ob. : salt-water.—2. (An instance of) sexual intercourse : coll. : mid-C. 17–early 18. Ex salt, amorous, lecherous. Cf. :

salt, v.i. To copulate : coll. (?) C. 17–early 18. Ex the S.E. adj. : cf. salt, n., 2.—2. V.t., to admit (a freshman) by putting salt in his mouth, making him drink salty water, or practising on him some similar burlesquery : students' : ca. 1570–1650. (O.E.D.)—3. In an invoice or account, to price every article very high, gen. in order to allow a seemingly generous discount on settlement (salt an account, an invoice, etc.) : commercial : 1882, Ogilvie. Perhaps directly ex next sense :—4. To insert in the account books fictitious entries with a view to enhancing the value of a business to a prospective buyer : commercial (—1864). H., 3rd ed. (Gen. salt a book, the books, etc.) Prob. suggested by :—5. In mining, to sprinkle or plant an exhausted or a bogus claim with precious dust, nuggets, or gems : orig. (—1864), of gold in Australia ; of diamonds, ca. 1890 ; of oil, ca. 1900. H., 3rd ed. ; The Pall Mall Gazette, Dec. 22, 1894, 'Even experienced mining men and engineers have been made victims by salters.'—6. To introduce secretly into (a meeting) opponents of, or persons to oppose, the speaker: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

salt, adj. Dear, costly, excessive in amount (of money): C. 18–20 dial. >, ca. 1850, s.; as s., slightly ob. H., 2nd ed., ‘‘It’s rather too salt,’’ said of an extravagant hotel bill; F. & H., ‘as salt as fire = salt as may be.’ Also salty.—2. Aristocratic; wealthy: 1868 (O.E.D.); slightly ob. Ex the salt of the earth, a phrase that began ca. 1840 to be used of the great in power, rank, wealth,—a trivial use that, during the G.W., > ob.—3. Drunk: late C. 19–early 20. Abbr. salt junk, adj. (q.v.). Ware.

salt, we shan’t take. Our box-office returns will be very small: theatrical c.p. (— 1909). Ware, ‘We shall not take enough money to pay for salt, let alone bread.’

salt and spoons, come after with. To be slow or dilatory: coll.: late C. 17–18. B.E., ‘One that is none of the Hastings’; cf. Hastings (sort), q.v.

salt away. See salt down.

salt-beef flag. ‘The Blue Peter, in anticipation of the diet’: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

salt-beef squire. More usual than salt-horse squire, q.v. (F. & Gibbons.)

salt-box. A prison cell; esp. the condemned cell at Newgate: c. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux; Egan’s Grose; H., 2nd ed. Ex (? smallness and) bitterness.

salt-box cly. A flapped outside pocket: c.: ca. 1810–40. Vaux.

salt-cellar. The female pudend: low: C. 19(?–20). Cf. salt, n., 2.—2. (Gen. pl.) A very deep hollow, above the collar-bone, in the female neck: coll.: from ca. 1912. O.E.D. (Sup.).

salt down; occ., in C. 20, away. To put by (money, 1873, or stock, 1897); store it away. Ex salt, to preserve with salt. O.E.D.

salt eel. A rope’s end, esp. in have (a) salt eel for supper, to receive a thrashing: ca. 1620–1830: naval coll. Mabbe, Congreve, B.E., Smollett, Colman, Grose. (O.E.D.)

salt horse or junk. Salted beef: nautical coll. >, ca. 1870, S.E.: resp. 1840 (O.E.D.); 1837, Marryat. Whence salt-horse squire.—2. A non-specialist naval officer: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

salt-horse squire. A warrant as opp. a commissioned officer: naval: mid-C. 19–early 20. Ware.

salt it for (a person). To spoil or ruin something for: C. 20. Manchon. Ex salt, v., 5.

salt junk, adj. Drunk: rhyming s.: ca. 1890–1910. Ware.—N.: see salt horse.

salt on one’s, its, the tail,—cast or fling or lay or put or throw. To ensnare, capture: coll.: mid-C. 17–mid-19, C. 18–19, late C. 16–mid-19, mid-C. 19–20, and C. 19–20. Lyly; ‘Hudibras’ Butler, ‘Such great achievements cannot fail | To cast salt on a woman’s tail’ (see tail); Swift (fling); Lamb, 1806, ‘My name is . . . Betty Finch . . . you can’t catch me by throwing salt on my tail’ (Apperson); Dickens, 1861 (put).

salt-pits. A or the store of Attic wit: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. Egan’s Grose. Ex Attic salt.

salt-water. See salt, n., 1. (Ainsworth, 1839.)—2. Urine: coll.: late C. 17–18. Tom Brown.

Saltash luck. ‘A wet seat and no fish caught’: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex Saltash, a small town four miles N.W. of Devonport.

salted. Experienced: of horses, coll., 1879; of persons, s., 1889. O.E.D.—2. See salt, v., 5.:

recorded by O.E.D. in 1886, but doubtless twenty years older.—3. Topsy: from before 1931, but not very gen. For semantics, cf. the synonymous corned and pickled.

saltee. A penny: Parlyaree: mid-C. 19–20. H., 1st ed.; Reade, ‘It had rained kicks all day in lieu of saltees.’ Also saulty. Ex It. soldi.

salter. One who salts mines: from ca. 1890. See salt, v., 5.

salting, vbl.n. See salt, v., 2.—2. See salt, v., 5.

salts. Smelling salts: coll.: 1767; slightly ob.—2. Epsom salts: coll.: 1772. O.E.D.

salts and senna. A doctor: a nickname from ca. 1860; ob. Ex salts; cf. No. 9.

salt’s pricker. A ‘thick roll of compressed Cavendish tobacco’: naval (— 1909). Ware.

salty. See salt, adj., 1: mostly U.S. (1847, Robb).

salubrious. Drunk: from ca. 1870; ob.—2. In reply, esp. to a query as to health, ‘Pretty or very well, thanks!’: from ca. 1880; ob. Perhaps via scrumpious, q.v.

salvage. A New Zealand soldiers’ synonym of to make (steal), scrounge, souvenir, win: in G.W. By meiosis.

Salvation Army, the. The Salvage Corps: military: from 1915. (B. & P.) Contrast salvo.

Salvation jugginses — rotters — soul - sneakers. Members of the Salvation Army: London lower classes’: 1882–84. Ware.

salve, n. Praise; flattery: 1859, H., 1st ed.; rather ob. Cf. S.E. lip(-)salve, flattery.

salve over. To persuade or convince by plausibility or flattery: coll.: 1862 (O.E.D.).

Salvo. A Salvation Army recreation hut: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

Sam; occ. sam. A Liverpoolian: dial. and s.: from ca. 1840. Perhaps ex sammy, 1., q.v. Also and gen. Dicky Sam (1864, H., 3rd ed.).—2. Hence, a fool: 1843, Moncrieff, ‘I’m a ruined homo, a muff, a flat, a Sam, a regular ass.’ Ex sammy, n., 1, and adj.—3. See sam, upon my, and sam, stand.

sam, v. Abbr. (— 1909; proletarian) of the next. Ware.—2. To slam (esp. a door): Lancashire rhyming s. (— 1905) rather than dial. E.D.D. Sup.

sam, or Sam, stand. To pay the reckoning, esp. for drinks or other entertainment: 1823, Moncrieff; 1834, Ainsworth, ‘I must insist upon standing Sam upon the present occasion’; Henley. Prob. the sam is cognate with that of upon my sam, and derives either ex salmon, q.v., as I prefer, or ex Samuel, as the O.E.D. suggests; H.’s theory of U.S. origin (Uncle Sam) is, I feel sure, untenable. Also stand sammy.—2. stand sam to, to promise (a person something): C. 20. (Neil Bell, Andrew Otway, 1931.)

Sam, uncle. See Uncle Sam.

sam !, upon my; more gen. ‘pon my sam ! A jocular asseveration: 1879, F. J. Squires (O.E.D.). See preceding entry for etymology; it is, however, not improbable that ‘pon my sam is a corruption of dial. ‘pon my sang(s), recorded as early as 1860, by my sang occurring at least as early as 1790, and my sang ca. 1840 (E.D.D.). Cf. say-so, on my (sammy), q.v.

Sam Hill. Hell, e.g. ‘What the Sam Hill’: Cockney euphemism: C. 20.

Sambo, gen. in address. A Negro: coll.: from

ca. 1860; orig. U.S. (Nautically, any Negro rating.) Ex S.E. sense, a Negro with a strain of Indian or European blood.

same, the. The same person: coll. 'in confirming a conjecture as to the identity of a person mentioned by the speaker': 1889, Chatterbox, Aug. 24, "The bushranger, do you mean?" asked Allan. "The same". O.E.D.

same like. Same as; exactly like: coll., almost sol.: from ca. 1870. W. Pett Ridge, Mord Em'ly, 1898, 'Beef Pudding same like Mother makes'—a cheap eating-house's advertisement.

same o.b. Same old 'bob' (shilling): lower classes' c.p.: ca. 1880–1910. Ware. Ex usual entrance-fee.

same old stew. A punning c.p. on the inevitable stew: military: 1915; ob. B. & P. With reference to an S.O.S. message.

same old 3 and 4. Three shillings and four pence a day wages: workmen's (— 1909); † by 1920. Ware.

same time. At the same time: i.e. nevertheless, or, 'but, mark you, . . .': coll. (mostly in dialogue); C. 20. E.g. Freeman Wills Crofts, Mystery in the Channel, 'Same time, if we do not learn of her elsewhere, we shall see the skipper of every lugger on the coast.'

same to you with knobs on(, the). See knobs.

samey. Monotonous: coll.: from ca. 1920. Ex:—2. Indistinguishable; the same: school-boys': late C. 19–20. Ernest Raymond, A Family That Was, 1929, 'The days that followed, becoming "samey" . . ., sank out of memory's sight.'

samkin. An occ., now ob., variant (— 1886) of simkin, 2.

Sammy or sammy; occ. sammy soft or S.S. A fool: from ca. 1830; slightly ob. Peake, 1837, 'What a Sammy, give me a shilling more than I asked him!' Cf. Sam, n., 2, q.v.—2. (Sammy. A Hindu idol (e.g. of Siva): British soldiers' (in India): late C. 18–20. Ex Swamy, ex Sanskrit suamin, Lord. Yule & Burnell (at Swamy).—3. A South African abbr. of Ramasammy, q.v. Pettman, 1913. Also for an Indian pedlar of fruit.—4. An American soldier: a coll. nickname: Oct. 17, 1917. Ex Uncle Sam, q.v. (W.) sammy, v. To clean (equipment, esp. if of leather): military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex S.E. sammy, to dry (leather) partially. Also sammy up: whence sammying-up, preparations for guard-duty (B. & P.).

sammy, adj. Foolish: from ca. 1810; ob. Lex. Bal. Whence the n., 1. Cf. Sammy Soft.

sammy (or S.), stand. A variant of sam, stand, q.v.: 1923, Moncrieff; ob.

sammy-house. An idol-temple: British soldiers' (in India): 1859 (Yule & Burnell). Ex Sammy, n., 2.

Sammy Soft (or s.s.). A fool: from ca. 1840; slightly ob. See Sammy, n., 1.

sammy up; sammying-up. See sammy, v.

Sampan. The ship Sans Pareil: naval: late C. 18–early 19. Ware.

sample. To caress intimately, or to 'occupy', a woman for the first time: coll.: C. 19–20. Ex sample, to 'obtain a representative experience of'. Cf.:—2. To drink: from ca. 1845. Porter, 1847, 'Old T. never samples too much when on business.' Via 'drink as a test or trial.'

sample-count. A commercial traveller: commercial coll.: 1894, Egerton; very ob.

sampler. The female pudend: C. 19–20; ob. Semantics: needlework.

sam(p)son or S. A drink of brandy and cider, with a little water and some sugar: dial. and s.: from ca. 1840; ob. Halliwell. Also, mainly dial. and from ca. 1880, Samson with his hair on, which denotes a very strong mixture of the same ingredients, as in 'Q', Troy Town, 1888 (E.D.D.).—2. A baked jam pudding: Durham School: from ca. 1870. Both senses ex the sense of power, the second perhaps also ex toughness.

samshoo. Any spirituous liquor: Anglo-Chinese (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex samshoo, a specific fiery spirit, rice-distilled.

Samson and Abel. Oxford University: from ca. 1860. 'A group of wrestlers in the quadrangle of Brasenose. [Some said it represented Samson killing a Philistine; others Cain killing Abel: the matter was compromised], F. & H., 1903; H., 5th ed., 1874.

san fairy (Ann or Anna). See sanfairyann.

san. A sanatorium: coll.: from not later than 1913. Orig. Public Schoolboys': witness Ian Hay, The Lighter Side of School Life, 1914.

san skillets, or S.S. The sans-culottes of Paris: proletarian: late C. 18. Ware.

San Toys. Crooks: c. rhyming s. (on boys): C. 20. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

sanakatowmer. A heavy fall; a violent blow: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Echoic.

sanatarium, sanatry. Incorrect for sanatorium, sanitory: mid-C. 19–20.

sanc. A hiding-place (e.g. for pipes): Dartmouth Naval College cadets': C. 20. Bowen. Ex sanctuary.

sancipees. See sank.

sand. Moist sugar: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux, Egan's Grose.—2. Money: C. 19. Cf. dust, q.v.—3. Constancy of purpose; courage; stamina: orig. (ca. 1870), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1895, but never very gen. and, by 1930, ob. Cf. grit, q.v.—4. Salt: nautical: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen.—5. Any sugar: Canadian, and at Bootham School: late C. 19–20. B. & P. Cf. sense 1.

sand, eat. (Gen. of the helmsman) to shorten one's watch by turning the hour-glass before it has quite run out: nautical s. or coll.: ca. 1740–1820. Memoirs of M. du Gué-Trouin (properly Du Guay Trouin or Duguay-Trouin), 1743. Ex the sand in the glass.

sand-bag, -boy, -groper, -man, -paper. See these as single words.

sand-storm. 'A soup of boiled maize . . . from its brownish colour': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

sand-storm medal. (Gen. pl.) An Egyptian Army decoration: military: late C. 19–20. Ibid.

sandbag. A long sausage-shaped bag of sand used as a weapon: orig. (— 1871) c.; by 1900 gen. s. and by 1820, S.E. Pocock, Rules of the Game, 1895. (It leaves almost no mark; often employed by soldier deserters or gangsters on Salisbury Plain and on the Etaples dunes during the G.W.) Hence:

sandbag, v. To fell with a sandbag: orig. (— 1890) c. >, ca. 1910, gen. s. >, ca. 1919, S.E. App. both weapon and word—see O.E.D.—were first used in U.S. Hence sandbagger.

sandbag duff. An Army pudding made from ground biscuit: New Zealanders': in G.W.

sandbagger. A ruffian using a sandbag as a weapon: c., orig. (1884) U.S., anglicised ca. 1890: by 1910, gen. s.; by 1920, S.E.

Sandbags, the. The Grenadier Guards: from ca. 1855: military. Ob. Also known as the Bermuda Exiles, Coal-Heavers, Housemaids' Pets, and Old Eyes.

sandbeef. A sandwich: Anglo-Indian (—1887); ob. Baumann.

sandboy (properly sand-boy), as happy or jolly or merry as a. Very happy, etc.: resp. late C. 19–20, never very gen.; 1823, 'Jon Bee', this being the usual form; 1841, FitzGerald, 'We will smoke together and be as merry as sandboys' (O.E.D.). These coll. phrases > S.E. ca. 1850, ca. 1870, ca. 1910.

Sandgroper. (Gen. pl.) A Western Australian: Australians': C. 20. The State of W.A. consists mainly of sand.

sandman (from ca. 1870, occ. sandy man) is coming, the. Addressed to, or remarked of, children showing signs of sleepiness: a nursery coll.: 1861 (O.E.D.). Cf. dustman, q.v. Ex rubbing eyes as if sand were in them.

sandpaper. To rub out or off; to remove: 1889, Answers, Feb. 9, "'Can't do it," said Lancaster, "and I hope to be sandpapered if I try".' Ob.

sandpapering the anchor. 'Doing unnecessary work aboard ship': nautical jocular coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen.

sands, leave or put a person to the long. To abandon; place in a difficulty: Scots coll. of ca. 1670–1700. J. Brown, 1678, 'How quickly they were put again to the long sands (as we say),' O.E.D. Ex sands, a desert or perhaps a sand-bank.

sandwich. A sandwich-man: 1864 (H., 3rd ed.) though adumbrated by Dickens ca. 1836: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.—2. One of the two boards carried by a sandwich-man: a catachrestic sense dating from ca. 1880.—3. A gentleman between two ladies: from ca. 1870 (H., 5th ed., 1874); ob. Perhaps ex Thackeray's 'A pale young man . . . walking . . . en sandwich' (Vanity Fair, 1848). Rather coll. than s. sandwich, v. To set or insert between dissimilars: from ca. 1860: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.

sandwich board. A police-ambulance stretcher: lower classes': ca. 1870–1914. Ware.

Sandy. A Scotsman: a coll. nickname (—1785), mostly Scots. Grose, 1st ed. Ex Sandy, abbr. Alexander, a very gen. Scottish name.—2. (sandy) Gen. pl., 'Thames barge men who dredge for sand in the river': nautical coll., esp. Thames-side: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sandy blight. Ophthalmia: Australian coll. (—1916). C. J. Dennis.

sandy man. See sandman is coming, the.

sanfairyann !, or san fairy Ann ! It doesn't matter: military c.p.: from late 1914. B. & P; F. & Gibbons; Hugh Kimber ends his War novel, San Fairy Ann, 1927, thus: 'There is a magic charter. It runs, "San Fairy Ann".' A perversion of Fr. ça ne fait rien (that makes no odds). Variants: san fairy, san fairy Anna, and (Aunt) Mary Ann.

sang (occ. sank) bon. Very good indeed; as n., a 'nap' hand at cards: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex Fr. cinq fois bon. Cf. sankey.

sangaree. A bout of drinking (to excess): coll.: ca. 1820–70. Halliwell. Ex S.E. sense, a cold drink made of spiced wine (diluted).

Sangster. An umbrella: London: ca. 1850–70. Ex the inventor of a special kind. (Ware.)

sanguinary, jocular for bloody, is s. verging on coll.: C. 20. O.E.D., 1909. Cf. blood-stained, rose-coloured, ruddy.

Sanguinary Doubles, the. The Piccadilly Saloon: ca. 1850–62. H., 3rd ed. Because situated at No. 222 (Piccadilly).

sanguinary James. (Cf. bloody Jemmy, its origin.) A (raw) sheep's-head: 1860, H., 2nd ed.; ob.

sanitory is incorrect for sanitary: mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D.

sank, sanky, occ. sancipees (or centipees,—F. & H. erroneously centipers). A tailor employed by a clothier in the making of soldiers' clothing: ca. 1780–1870. Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps ex Yorkshire dial. sanky, boggy, spongy, but prob. cognate with dial. sank, to perform menial offices as servant in a dining-room, itself a variant of skink, to wait on the company (see Grose, P.).

sank bon. See sang bon.

sank-work. The making of soldiers' clothes: coll.: ca. 1850–1920. Mayhew, 1851; Baumann. This word bears a curious resemblance to the C. 14 S.E. sank, to bring together; cf. blown together, q.v.; see, however, remarks at sank, whence it derives, and cf. Mayhew's suggestion that the origin resides in Fr. sang (Norman sanc), blood, in reference to a soldier's work or to the colour of his coat.

sankey. A five-franc note: military: late 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex Fr. cinq francs.

Sankey's Horse. The 39th Foot, now the Dorsetshire Regiment: military: C. 18–20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the name of its colonel in the War of the Spanish Succession (1701–13) and a 'tradition that the battalion was mounted on mules for special service.'

sanniferan. Rare for sanfairyann.

sans ill-used: see Fowler.—2. Worthless; useless; 'dud': Bootham School (—1925). Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang. Ex the Shakespeare quotation. Cf. the Bootham wet.

Santa. Santa Claus: coll., mostly of the nursery: from ca. 1880. Cf. Santy.

santar or -er. He who, in a trio of thieves working together, carries away the booty: c.: late C. 16–early 17. Greene, 1591. I.e. to sanctuary.

santeit ! See under geluk !

Santy. Santa Claus: coll., mostly Canadian: late C. 19–20. (John Beames, Gateway, 1932.) Cf. Santa.

sap. A fool or a simpleton: 1815, Scott: coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. Milliken, ca. 1893, 'Sour old sap.' Abbr. sapskull.—2. One who works, esp. studies, hard; a book-worm: schools': 1798, Charlotte Smith; 1827, Lytton, 'When I once attempted to read Pope's poems out of school hours, I was laughed at, and called a sap'; Goschen, 1888, '... Those who ... commit the heinous offence of being absorbed in [work]. Schools and colleges ... have invented ... phrases ... such as "sap", "smug", "swot", "bloke", "a mugster".' Whence:

sap, v. To be studious or a great reader: schools': 1830 (O.E.D.), but implied in sapping. See also 'Eton slang', § 3.

sap out. To work up (a subject); resolve (a problem or a 'construe'): Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1880. Desmond Coke, The Pending of a Twig, 1906. Cf. sap, v.

sapper. One who studies hard: Eton: 1825, Westmacott (O.E.D.). Cf. sap, v. and n, 2.—2. A gay, irresistible fellow : music-halls' : late C. 19. Ware. Ex Fr. sapeur.

Sappers, the. The Royal Engineers : military coll. : from 1856, when the Royal Sappers and Miners were amalgamated with the Royal Engineers as the Corps of Royal Engineers. F. & Gibbons.

sappiness. Foolishness ; folly : coll. : late C. 19–20. See sap, n., 1.

sapping. Hard study : schools : 1825, Westminster. Cf. sap, n., 2, and v.

sappy. (Of a caning) severe : Durham School : from ca. 1870. Ex S.E. sense : vigorous, rich in vitality, perhaps influenced by dial. sense, putrescent. (—As = foolish, sappy dates from C. 17 ; certainly S.E. up till ca. 1860 ; by 1870, it seems to have > coll. : see e.g. H., 5th ed.)

Sara. A Saratoga trunk : Australian : C. 20. E.g. John G. Brandon, Th' Big City, 1931. (Often personified.)

Sarabs ; more gen. Saras. Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway deferred ordinary stock : late C. 19–20 (ob.) : Stock Exchange. Prob. on Doras and Coras and Floras. Cf. Sheffields.

Sarah's Boots. The Sierra Buttes Gold Mining Company's shares : late C. 19–20 : Stock Exchange. Cf. preceding entry.

sarc. (Occ. sark.) Sarcasm : schools' : from ca. 1920. Cf. sarky, q.v.

sarky. An occ. form of sarky, q.v. John Brophy, Waterfront, 1934.

sarcy. A low coll. form of saucy : C. 19–20. Moncrieff, 1843. Prob. influenced by sarcastic : see sarky.

[sard, to copulate, C. 10–17, seems to have, in late C. 16, > a vulg.]

Sardine. 'The nickname of the Prince of Wales, son of King George V, when [a few years before the G.W.] he was a naval cadet at Dartmouth,' Bowen.

sardine-box. A prison-van : lower classes' (—1909) ; ob. Ware. (Packed as if with sardines.)

sardine-tin. A clumsy steamer : nautical : late C. 19–20. Bowen.

Sardines. Royal Sardinian Railway shares : Stock Exchange : late C. 19–20.

sardines, packed like. Crowded, huddled : mid-C. 19–20 : coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Ex the close packing of sardines in tins. Occ. like sardines (in a tin). Cf. the U.S. sardine, a sailor on a whaling ship.

Sarey Gamp. An elaboration of gamp, an umbrella : mid-C. 19 London. Ware.

sarga ; sarge. Sergeant : military coll. ; sarga only, sarge mostly, in address : C. 20. F. & Gibbons. (Not merely, nor prob. even orig., U.S.) sargenteanly. So gentlemanly : satirical low coll. : ca. 1870–1900. Ware.

sark. To sulk : Sherborne School : from ca. 1880. Prob. ex sarcastic ; cf. sarky.—N. : see sarc.

Sarken News, the. The Clerkenwell News : London : 1860–83. Ware.

sarky. Sarcastic : (low) coll. : late C. 19–20. Cf. sarc and sark.

sarnt. 'A smart and soldierly pronunciation of sergeant', used only before the surname ; sarnt-major can, however, be used without the surname : coll. : C. 20. B. & P. sartin. Certain : sol. : mid-C. 18–20. Colman, 1762. (O.E.D.) Cf. :

sarvice. Service : low coll. and dial. : C. 18–20. 'Jon Bee', 1823.

sashy, sas(s)hay. To chassé (in dancing) : sol. : mid-C. 19–20 ; mostly U.S.

sassage. A sausage : either sol. or low, esp. Cockneys', coll. (—1887). Baumann. Cf. :

sassenger ; sassiger. A sausage : sol., mostly children's : late C. 19–20 ; slightly ob. Baumann.

sasshay. See sashy.

sassiety. A jocular form of satiety and a sol. form of society : both, from before 1887. Baumann.

sat. Satisfaction : universities' : ca. 1860–1900. Ware. (Ex L. satis.)—2. A fag : Public Schools' (—1909) ; ob. Ware. Abbr. satellite, a jocular name for a fag.

sat-upon. Repressed, humiliated ; down-trodden : coll. : from ca. 1890. O.E.D. (Sup.).

Satan Montgomery. Robert Montgomery (1807–55), who, at the ripe age of twenty-three, wrote a long poem entitled Satan, compounded of piffing pretentiousness. (Dawson.)

sate-poll. A stupid person : low s. > coll. : late C. 19–20. ? = sated poll (head).

satin. Gin : from ca. 1860, ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex white satin, q.v.

satin, a yard of. A glass of gin : mostly among women (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Cf. ribbon and tape, esp. among servants.

sating. (Pronounced satting.) Satin : sol. (—1887). Baumann.

saturated. An occ. variant (—1931 ; ob.) of soaked, very drunk. Lyell.

Saturday nighter. At Harrow, an exercise to be done on Saturday evening : late C. 19–20.

Saturday pie. A 'resurrection' pie : lower classes' (—1909) ; ob. Ware.

Saturday soldier. A volunteer : 1890, The Globe, Aug. 11 ; ob. Also cat-shooter.

Saturday(-)to(-)Monday. A mistress for the week-end : coll. (—1903) ; very ob.

Saturday-to-Monday Station, the. The Gibraltar naval base, so near England : naval : C. 20. Bowen.

satyr. A professional stealer of cattle, horses, sheep : C. 18 c. 'Highwaymen' Smith, 1714 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex the Roman representation of satyrs as goat-like.

sauce. Impudence, impertinence : coll. and dial. : 1835, Marryat (O.E.D.) ; perhaps much earlier (see sauce than pig, more). Ex saucy, q.v.—2. A venereal infection : coll. : C. 18–early 19. Vanbrugh.

sauce, v. To charge (a person) extortionately : coll. (or jocular S.E.) : late C. 16–early 17. Shakespeare.—2. To strike ; to thrash : coll. : 1598, Jonson ; † by 1750.—3. Hence, in C. 17–18, to reprimand (severely) ; rebuke smartly : coll. Shakespeare. (Extant in dial.)—4. Hence, to address impertinently : low coll. : from ca. 1860. Dickens, 1865, 'Don't sauce me in the vicious pride of your youth.' (All dates, O.E.D.)

sauce, carrier's or poor man's. Hunger : mid-C. 19–20 : coll. ; but the latter soon S.E.

sauce, eat ; gen. to have eaten sauce. To be saucy : coll. : C. 16. Skelton, who has the variant to have drunk of sauce's cup.

sauce than pig, (have) more. (To be) very impudent, impertinent : coll. : late C. 17–18. B.E. Cf. saucepan runs over, q.v.

saucebox. An impudent or impertinent person : coll. : 1588, Marprelate's Epistle ; ob. Tylney, 1594, 'You, master saucebox, lobcock, cockscomb' ; Fielding ; Miss Mitford. Cf. sauce, n., 1.—2. (Also dial.) 'In low life it also signifies the mouth' ; H., 3rd ed., 1864 ; recorded, without comment, in the ed. of 1860.

saucepan on the fire, have the. To be desirous of, ready for, a scolding bout: coll. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20; almost † as coll. Cf.:

saucepan runs (occ. boils) over, your. You're very saucy: a late C. 17–18 c.p. or coll. B.E. (runs . . .). Cf. sauce than pig.

saucers. Eyes, esp. if wide-opened or very large: coll.: 1864, Mark Lemon, 'I always know when he has been in his cups by the state of his saucers.' Ex S.E. eyes like (or as big as) saucers, saucer-eyes (or -eyed), etc.

saucy. Impudent or rude; impertinent: coll.: late C. 18–20. Ex C. 16–18 S.E., senses (insolent, presumptuous).—2. Hence, smart, stylish: coll.: from ca. 1830. An East End tailors' broadside advertisement of ca. 1838 runs, 'Kicksies made very saucy.'

saucy box. A 'saucebox' (1), q.v.: coll.: 1711, Swift; † by 1780. (O.E.D.)

Saucy Greens, the. The 36th Foot Regiment, now the Worcester Regiment: military: mid-C. 18–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex facings of 1742–1881.

saucy jack. An impudent fellow: coll.: ca. 1550–1700. Cf. Jack sauce.

Saucy Pompeys, the. See Pompadours, the.

Saucy Seventh, the (old). The 7th Hussars: military: C. 19–20; almost †. Also the Lily-White Seventh, Old Straws, Strawboots, and Young Eyes.

Saucy Sixth, the. The 6th Foot Regiment >, in 1881, the Royal Warwickshires: military: late C. 19–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Also Guise's Geese and the Warwickshire Lads.

saulted. Incorrect spelling of salted, 1, q.v.: from ca. 1880. (O.E.D.)

saulty. See saltee.

sausage; live sausage. In sexual sense, it is on the marches of coll. and S.E.—2. (sausage or S.). A German: lower classes': late C. 19–20. Ware; B. & P.; Manchon. Suggested by German sausage.—3. A German heavy trench-mortar bomb: military coll.: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons. Ex its shape.

Sausage Hill, go to. 'To be taken prisoner, "Sausage Hill" being generic for a German prison camp' (F. & Gibbons): military: 1915–18.

sausage toad. Sausage toad-in-the-hole: eating-houses' coll.: late C. 19–20.

sausanmash. A sausage and mashed potatoes: junior clerks' (— 1909). Ware.

savage, adj. Furiously angry; unsparing in speech: from 1820's: mostly coll. (O.E.D.)

savage, Savage. (Gen. pl.) A member of the Savage Club: coll.: late C. 19–20. The Observer, Aug. 11, 1935.

savage as a meat-axe. See meat-axe.

savage rabbits, do. To wait in readiness for action; 'to conceal small concentrations of tanks for local counter attacks against an enemy offensive': Tank Corps: Feb., 1918; ob. F. & Gibbons, 'From a phrase used by General Elles' in that month; Clough Williams-Ellis, The Tank Corps.

save. A piece of economy, a saving: dial. >, ca. 1905, low coll.

save, v.t. To protect oneself, or one's book of bets, by hedging; to keep (a horse) on one side, not betting against it, thus making it a clear winner for oneself: the turf: 1869. In C. 20, coll.

save!; save? See savvy.

save-all. One of 'boys running about gentlemen's houses in Ireland, who are fed on broken meats that would otherwise be wasted,' Grose. 1785: Anglo-Irish coll.: mid-C. 18–mid-19. Prob. ex the save-all candlestick.

save oneself. To hedge: racing coll.: 1869, Broadwood, The O.V.H., 'Most who received the news at least saved themselves upon the outsider.' See save, v.

save-reverence. See sir-reverence.

Saveloy Square. Duke Place, Aldgate: East London (— 1909). Inhabited by Jews, it rarely sees a sausage. Ware, 'On the lucus a non lucendo principle.'

saver. A prudent covering bet: the turf: from ca. 1890. Nat Gould, 1891, 'I've put a saver on Caloola.' Ex save (oneself), to bet thus.

savers! Halves!: boys': late C. 19–20. Cf. saver, q.v.

savvy, savie. See savvy.

saving!, hang. See hang saving.

saving chin. A projecting chin: coll.: ca. 1776–1840. Bridges; Grose, 'That catches what may fall from the nose.' Cf. the proverb he would save the droppings of his nose, applied to a miser.

savvy; also sabby, sabe, savvy, savie, savvy, scavey. Common sense; good sense; gumption: 1785, Grose; 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1888, 'If George had had the savvy to crack himself up a little.'—Hence, acuteness, cleverness: 1864, H., 3rd ed. Forms: savvy, mid-C. 19–20; sabby, q.v. (— 1864); sabe, late C. 19–20, now rare; savvy, 1785; savie, Scottish, C. 19–20; savvey, from ca. 1880; scavey, C. 19. Ex Negro-ising of Fr. savoir, to know, or more prob of Sp. sabe usted, do you know; imm. ex:

savvy; also sabby, sabe(e); savvy; savvey; scavey. (Resp. C. 19–20; mid-C. 19–20; C. 18–20; C. 19–20; C. 18.) V.t. (in C. 20, occ. v.i.), to know: 1785, Grose, "'Massa me no scavey'". For etymology, see end of n.—2. In pidgin English, also to have, to do, etc., etc.: C. 19–20.

saw, held at the (occ. a) long. Held in suspense: coll.: ca. 1730–1830. North's Lord Guilford, 1733, 'Between the one and the other he was held at the long saw over a month.'

saw your timber! Go away!: low: from ca. 1855; ob. H., 2nd ed. On cut your stick; a further elaboration is amputate your mahogany.

sawbones. A surgeon: from ca. 1835, Dickens in 1837 saying 'I thought everybody know'd as a sawbones was a surgeon.'

sawder, rare except as soft sawder. Flattery; soft speech: 1836, Haliburton (O.E.D.); Grant Allen, 'I didn't try bullying; I tried soft sawder.' Perhaps ex solder, n.; prob. sawder, v. Cf. blarney.

sawder, v. To flatter; speak softly to: 1834, Lover. Prob on to solder, perhaps influenced by sawdust, for cf. next two entries.

sawdust. Same as sawder, n.: rather low (— 1887). Baumann; 1893, Milliken, 'True poetry . . . not sawdust and snivel'; ob. Either sawder (n.) corrupted or ex sawdust as used, in various sports, to soften a fall.

sawdusty. The adj. of the preceding: low: 1884, Punch, Oct. 11, 'Me doing the sawdusty reglar'; ob.

sawmill, the. The operating theatre in a hospital: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons.

Sawney; occ. Sawny. A Scot: a (mainly pejorative) coll. nickname: C. 18–20. Tom Brown; Gay, 'He sung of Taffy Welch, and Sawney Scot'; Henley & Stevenson. Ex Alexander; cf. Sandy, q.v.

sawn(e)y. A fool; a stupid or very simple (gen., man): late C. 17–20. B.E., Grose. In late C. 19–20, through (non-Scottish) dial. influence, it often = a soft, good-natured fellow. Prob. ex zany (in 1567 spelt zauue in Edwards's Damon and Pythias), though conceivably influenced by Sawney, q.v.—2. Bacon: c. (—1812). Vaux; Mayhew, who restricts to stolen bacon. ? ex sawn, bacon being cut off in slices (rashers). Cf. sawney-hunter, q.v.

sawn(e)y, v. To wheedle or whine: coll.: ca. 1805–90. Southey, 1808, 'It looks like a sneaking sawneying Methodist parson.' Ex the adj., perhaps also in part ex, or influenced by the East Anglican sanny, 'to utter a whining, wailing cry without apparent cause', E.D.D.—2. To be soft; to fool about: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex n., 1, and adj., 2.

sawn(e)y, adj. Whining, wheedling: ca. 1800–1850. Cf. sawney, v., 1.—2. Foolish; softly good-natured or sentimental: s. > coll.: C. 19–20. Rhoda Broughton, 1873 'There is no sawny sentiment in his tone, none of the lover's whine.' Ex sawney, n., 1.

sawn(e)y (rarely sawny)-hunter. One who purloins bacon and/or cheese from grocers' shops: 1856, Mayhew, The Great World of London. See sawney, n., 2.

sax. A saxophone: trivial: from ca. 1910.

saxpence !, bang goes. A c.p. (—1890) addressed to a person excessively careful about small expenses. Manchon. Popularised by Sir Harry Lauder.

say. Yes: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. (Logically but not actually sey).—2. Six: Parlyaree: mid-C. 19–20. Ware. Ex It. sei.

say !; I say ! An introductory interjection; a mere exclamation: coll.: resp., orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1900; C. 17–20. Beaumont & Fletcher, 1611, 'I say, open the door, and turn me out these mangy companions,' O.E.D.

say. See ape's paternoster, boh, Jack Robinson, knife, mouthful, nothing, prayers, Te Deum, thing, when.

say away ! Speak, then !; 'fire ahead !': coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. fire away.

say, bo ! A c.p. (term of) address: C. 20. Orig. U.S. (see bo).

say for oneself, have nothing to. To be, by habit, silent: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

say it with flowers ! See flowers, say it with.

say nothing when you are dead. Be silent !: c.p. of ca. 1670–1750. Ray.

say-so, on my (sammy). On my word of honour: coll.: mid-C. 18–20 (. . . sammy . . . not before ca. 1880); ob. Cf. sam, upon my.

say so !, you don't. Expressive of astonishment (occ. of derision) at a statement: coll.: from ca. 1870. (O.E.D.)

sayin(g) were, as the. As one says; as the saying is: lower classes' coll. (—1923). Manchon.

says, it. The book mentioned, or its author, says: C. 10–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. (O.E.D.)

says he. Said he: coll.: late C. 17–20. Congreve. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

says I; says you. I say; you say: sol. or jocular coll.: late C. 17–20. Dryden, Bage. O.E.D.

says you ! See sez you !

'Sblood or 'sblood ! A coll. form of (by) God's blood !: late C. 16–mid-18, then archaic. See 'S and cf. the following more or less coll. oaths: 'Shobs (i.e. Od's bobs), late C. 17–mid-19; 'Sbodikins (= God's bodikins), ca. 1670–1800, then archaic; scab. A pejorative applied to persons, a 'scurvy' fellow, a rascal or scoundrel: from ca. 1590; slightly ob. except in next sense; not after C. 18 applied to women. Occ., as in Lyly, a constable or a sheriff's officer (not after C. 18). Shakespeare, Defoe, Kipling. Ex the skin-disease or the crust forming over a sore: cf. scurf, 2.—Hence, a workman refusing to strike, esp. one working while his companions are on strike: orig. (1811), U.S., anglicised ca. 1880. Occ. attributively.—3. Among tailors, a button-hole: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex the shape of a sore-crust.

'Sbody (God's body), C. 17; 'Shores (like 'Shobs, obscure in meaning), C. 17; 'Sbud(s), which = 'Sbodikins, ca. 1670–1760, then archaic. (O.E.D.)

scab, v. To behave as a, be a, 'scab' (n., 2): C. 20, O.E.D. recording at 1905.—2. See Addenda.

scab coal. See black coal.

scab-raiser. A drummer: military: ca. 1850–95. H., 3rd ed. Because one of his duties was to wield the cat-o'-nine-tails, thus raising sores.

scabbado. Syphilis: mid-C. 17–mid-18: coll. verging on S.E. Bailey's Erasmus, 1725. Ex S.E. scab + ado, a mock-foreign suffix.

scabby. Vile, contemptible, beggarly: C. 18–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. Smollett; Meredith, 1861, 'A scabby sixpence?' Ex lit. S.E. sense. Cf. scabby sheep, q.v.—2. Among printers, unevenly or blotchily printed: from ca. 1870. Ex sense 1.—3. At Christ's Hospital, stingy: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. quotation in sense 1.—4. Pertaining to one who does not employ Union labour: from ca. 1890: Australian s. >, ca. 1910, coll. Ex scab, n., 2.

Scabby Liz. Scapa Flow: naval: from 1914. Bowen. A place of which one easily wearies.

scabby neck (or S.N.). A Dane; esp. a Danish sailor: nautical (—1864); ob. H., 3rd ed.

scadger. A mean fellow, a contemptible beggar of loans: low: from ca. 1860; ob. Perhaps ex cadger (q.v.) on Cornish scadgan, a tramp. At Winchester College, a rascal: † by 1901. E. J. K. Wrench.

scaff. A selfish fellow: Christ's Hospital: mid-C. 19–20. (Cf. scabby, 3, and scaly.) Perhaps influenced by dial. scaff, one who wanders idly about, or derived ex † dial. scaff-and-raff, the rabble (E.D.D.). scaffold-pole. A fried potato-chip: low London (—1909). Ware.

scalawag; more gen. scallawag and (esp. in C. 20) scallywag; occ. scal(li)wag, scallowag, skallewag, but very rarely in C. 20. A ne'er-do-well or disreputable fellow; a scoundrel. (Esp. in C. 20, frequently playful like rascal.) U.S. s. (—1848), anglicised ca. 1860 and >, ca. 1910, coll. Bartlett, 1st ed.; Haliburton, 1855, 'You good-for-nothing young scallowag'; The Melbourne Argus, 1870, 'Vagrants are now [in Melbourne] denominated scallawags.' The earliest recorded dates (considerably earlier ones prob. occur in unpublished letters) of the various forms are: scalawag, 1848; scallawag, 1854; scallywag, 1864; scalliwag, 1891; scallowag, 1855; skallewag, ca. 1870. Origin problematic: I suggest that wag (a playful scamp) has, through a lost reduplication scag-wag, hence scagga-wag, > scal(li)wag; but it is possible that the term = (scabby >) scaly wag, as applied to 'lean and ill-favoured kine', as in O.E.D. at scallywag, p. 3, second quotation; W. suggests origin in dial. scall, skin-disease.—2. Hence, in politics, an impostor or a rascally intriguer: 1864, Sala (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1890, coll.—3. Ex sense 1, in trade-union s., one (rarely of women) who will not work: 1891, in the Labour Commission glossary (O.E.D.); ob.

scalawag, etc., as adj., dates in England from ca. 1865. In C. 20, coll.

scald. To infect venereally: coll.: late C. 16–20; ob. (Lit., to burn.) Cf.:

scald, adj.; scalded. Venereally infected: coll.: resp. C. 17–18; C. 18–20.

scald-rag. A dyer: a C. 17 coll. nickname. 'Water Poet' Taylor.

scaldier. A venereal infection, esp. a 'clap' (q.v.): low: from ca. 1810; ob. Lex. Bal. Cf. scalding-house, q.v.—2. Tea, the beverage: low: from ca. 1890. Sydney Watson, Wops the Waif, 1892, 'I'm good at a hoperation, I can tell yer, when it's on spot and scaldier (which being interpreted, meant cake and tea).' Ex the heat.

[scalding-house, Cupid's]. A brothel: late C. 16–17: on border-line between coll. and S.E. Middleton's quotation, cited by F. & H., makes it, however, appear as if the term had no such gen. meaning, though it may have been so used in allusively jocular S.E.]

scaldings! A warning, esp. among sailors and at Winchester: 'get out of the way!'; 'be off!'; 'look out!': mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob. Smyth's Word-Book and Adam's Wykehamica. Ex cry scaldings, to announce loudly that one is carrying scaldings, i.e. boiling liquid. Cf. gangway for a naval officer, q.v.

scaldrum. A beggar: tramps' c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Prob. ex:

scaldrum-dodge. Tramps' e. of mid-C. 19–20 (ob.), as in Mayhew, 1851, London Labour, vol. i, 'By then Peter was initiated into the scaldrum-dodge, or the art of burning the body with a mixture of acids and gunpowder, so as to suit the hues and complexions of the accident to be deplored.' Practised chiefly by 'schools of shallow coves', groups of men pretending to have escaped from shipwreck, fire, or similar perils. Prob. a perversion of scald or scalding (nn.).

scale. To mount a woman: coll.: C. 17–20. Wentworth Smith, The Puritan, 1607.—2. To impress; to astound: low (—1887); ob. Baumann. Perhaps ex S.E. scale, take by escalade.—3. (Also scale off.) To run away; depart hurriedly or furtively; to disappear of one's own motion: C. 20: mostly Colonial (esp. Australian). Possibly ex scale in, (of a jockey) to be weighed after a race.—4. To steal (a thing), rob (a person): New Zealanders': C. 20. Perhaps ex sense 3.

scale-backed 'un. (Gen. pl.) A louse: low (—1923). Manchon.

scaler. One who decamps with his mates' share of the loot: New Zealand c. (—1932). Ex scale, 3. scaley. See scaly.—scaliwag, scallawag, scalli-wag, scallowag, scallywag. See scalawag.

scalp. A charm worn on a bangle: Society: 1896–1914. Ware, 'Given by young men to young girls.'

scalp. To buy very cheap so as to sell at less than ruling price: Stock Exchange coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: 1888, The Pall Mall Gazette, Oct. 15, '... "Scalped" the market on a big scale for a small profit per bushel' (O.E.D.). One who does this is a scalper, which occurs in the same article; scalping arose about the same time: both coll. > S.E. not later than 1910.

scaly; incorrectly scaley. Shabby, poor, in poor health: late C. 18–20; ob. Southey, 1793 (O.E.D.). Ex S.E. skin-disease sense.—2. Hence, stingy: from ca. 1810; like sense 1, slightly ob. Lex. Bal.; Egan, 1821, 'If you are too scaly to tip for it, I'll shell out and shame you.' The sense is very common at Christ's Hospital (cf. scaff, q.v.).—3. Ex senses 1 and 2, despicable: mid-C. 19–20. Besant & Rice, 1875, 'If I were an author—they are a scaly lot, and thank Heaven I am not one,' O.E.D.

scaly-back. A sailor: nautical: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen. Perhaps suggested by scaly fish, q.v.

scaly bloke. A thin man: New Zealand (—1935).—2. See scaly, 2 and 3.

scaly fish. An 'honest, rough, blunt sailor', Grose, 2nd ed.: late C. 18–19.

scamander. To loaf: 1860, H., 2nd ed., 'To wander about without a settled purpose.' Coll. Cf. (perhaps ex) Yorkshire dial. skimandering (hanging about), which may—or may not!—derive ex the Classical river Scamander.

scammered. Tipsy: low: from ca. 1840; ob. 'Ducange Anglicus'; Carew's Autobiography of a Gipsy, 1891—the reference being valid for the year 1845. Perhaps (scuppered on) dial. scammer, to elimb or scramble.

scamp. A highway robber: 1781, Messink, 'Ye scamps, ye pads, ye divers.' Ex v., 1, q.v.—2. Hence, highway robbery (cf. scampery): 1786 (O.E.D.); like sense 1, † by 1840 or, at latest, 1850.—3. A cheat or a swindler: ca. 1805–40: rather s. than c. Ex sense 1. (Other senses, S.E.)

scamp, v. To be, or go out as, a highway robber: c.: ca. 1750–1840; implied, however, as early as C. 16 in scampany, 'used in imitation of rampant in a rogue's burlesque coat of arms', W. The Discovery of John Poulter, 1753, 'I'll scamp on the panney,' i.e. go out and rob on the highway. Prob. ex scamper.—2. V.t., to rob (a person) on the highway: c. (—1812); † by 1870. Vaux.

scamp, done for a. Convicted (esp. for highway robbery): c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux.

scamp, go (up)on the. To rob as occasion offers: c. of ca. 1820–1910. Bee; Baumann. (Applied to tramps and beggars, not to professional thieves.)

scamp, royal. 'A highwayman who robs civilly,' Grose, 1st ed.: e. of ca. 1780–1840.

scamp, royal foot. A footpad who does this. Ibid. and id.

scamper. To run hastily; to 'bolt': 1687, 'Facetious' Tom Brown: s. until mid-C. 18, then coll. till ca. 1830, then S.E. (B.E. errs in calling it c.) Either ex scamp, v. of motion, or ex † Dutch schampen, to go away, to escape. O.E.D.; W.

scamperer. A street ruffian: C. 18—early 19 prob. orig. c. Steele. (O.E.D.)

scamping, adj. Dishonest: ca. 1820–60: orig., prob. always, c. Bee, 1823, 'Fellows who pilfer in markets, from stalls or orchards, who snatch off hats, cheat publicans out of liquor, or toss up cheatingly—commit scampering tricks.'

scampsman. A highwayman: e.: late C. 18—mid-19. Vaux. Ex scamp, n., 2.

scandahoofian. An occ. form of Scandihoovian, q.v. (John Beames.)

scandal-broth, -potion, -water. Tea: coll.; resp. 1785 (Grose), 1786 (Burns), 1864 (H., 3rd ed.): all ob. by 1900, † by 1930.

scandal-proof. Adj. applied to 'a thorough pac'd Alsatian [q.v.] or Minter,' B.E.: prob. c.: late C. 17—mid-18.

scandalous. A wig: c.: late C. 17—18. B.E., Grose.

Scandihoovian, Scandiwegian. A Scandinavian: West Canadian and nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Cf. Scovegian.

scanmag, from ca. 1850; scan-mag, from ca. 1820; scan. mag. (or S.M.), 1779, Sheridan. Scandal. Abbr. scandalum magnatum, an old law term for a scandal of magnates. (O.E.D.)

scanties. A pair of women's knickers: from ca. 1930. Cf. panties, tighties. See quotation at briefs.

scapa. An occ. form of scarper. Cf. scaper.

Scaparey. See Johnny Scaparey.

scape. A snipe: a coll. nickname: from ca. 1860. Ex flushed snipe's cry.—2. See 2 in:

scape. 'To neglect one's brush,' Bee: artistic: ca. 1820—50.—2. N. and v. (To) escape: S.E. in Shakespeare, but by 1850 it is coll. Baumann.

scaper. An occ. variant of scarper. Mayhew. (E.D.D.)

Scarborough warning; in C. 19, occ. S. surprise. A very or too short notice, or none at all: coll.: mid-C. 16—20; ob. 'Proverbs' Heywood, Fuller, Grose, P. H. Emerson. 'In 1557 Thomas Stafford entered the took possession of Scarborough Castle before the townsmen were aware of his approach,' E.D.D. scarce, make oneself. To retire; to absent oneself, disappear: coll.: 1749, Smollett, 'It was my fixed purpose to make myself scarce at Seville'; Grose, 1st ed.; 1821, Scott, 'Make yourself scarce—depart—vanish!'

scare up. To find, discover (e.g. scare up money): coll.: from ca. 1850. Ex shooting game.

scarecrow. C.: 1884, Greenwood, 'The boy who has served [a thief] until he is well known to the police, and is so closely watched that he may as well stay at home as go out.' Ob.

scarehead. A headline in large, thick type meant to arouse attention: journalistic coll.: ca. 1900—1920. Abbr. scare headline.

scarf-bolt. Erroneous for scarp-bolt: from ca. 1870. O.E.D. scarlatina. Catachrestic when used of a mild attack of scarlet fever: mid-C. 19—20. Properly, scarlatina (C. 19—20) is merely another name for scarlet fever (1676). O.E.D.

scarlet. A Mohock or aristocratic street ruffian: coll. or s.: ca. 1750—60. J. Shebbeare, 1755 (O.E.D.). Either ex colour of dress or on blood.

scarlet, dye. To drink deep or hard: late C. 16—early 17. Shakespeare.

scarlet beans. See sow potatoes.

scarlet countenance, wear a. To be impudent or shameless: coll.: late C. 19—20. Manchon. Ex S.E. scarlet, (of an offender) deep-dyed.

scarlet-fever. (A) flirtation with or passion for a soldier: jocular: ca. 1860—1910. Mayhew. With reference to the scarlet uniform.—2. A great admiration for soldiers: jocular (—1889); † by 1910. Barrère & Leland.

scarlet horse. A hired horse: ca. 1780—1840. Grose, 1st ed. Punning high-red.

Scarlet Lancers. The 16th Lancers: military: from ca. 1880; ob. F. & Gibbons, 'The only British lancer regiment wearing scarlet.' Also Red Lancers.

scarlet runner. A Bow Street officer: mid-C. 19. Ex the scarlet waistcoat.—2. A footman: from ca. 1860. Partly ex sense 1, partly ex the vegetable.—3. A soldier: late C. 19—very early 20. Manchon.—4. A battalion despatch-carrier in action: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex his red brassard and his familiar name, runner.—5. See sow potatoes.

Scarlet Town. Reading, Berkshire: provincial coll.: from ca. 1800; very ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex pronunciation.

scarper. To run away; v.t. to decamp from: Parlyaree and c.; as latter, it > low Cockney ca. 1905. Selby, 1844, 'Vamoose—scarper—fly!' Ex It. scappare via Lingua Franca. See Slang.—2. On the stage, it = to leave a play without notice: from ca. 1900.

scarper the letty. To leave one's lodgings without paying: mid-C. 19—20: Parlyaree >, by 1900, theatrical. Ex scarper, 1.

scat! Go away: coll.: 1869 (O.E.D.). Hence, occ. as jocular v. Mostly U.S. The O.E.D. ingeniously proposes ss! cat (i.e. a hiss + cat); 1, a hiss + get! There are, however, of the dial scat (sec E.D.D.) several senses that might easily have originated our term. (But see Adenda.)

scatter, esp. in imperative. To go (away); move quickly: coll.: C. 20. Prob. influenced by scat!, q.v.

scatter-gun. A shot-gun: coll.; U.S. (ca. 1870), anglicised ca. 1920. (The Passing Show, Dec. 24, 1932.)

scatty. (Not very) mad; crazy: lower classes': C. 20. B. & P., 3rd ed. Perhaps ex scatter-brained: cf. Derbyshire scattle (scattel), easily frightened (E.D.D.).

scavage. To clean up a mess: Public Schools': from ca. 1920.

scavenger's daughter. An instrument of torture: coll.: C. 17. (Afterwards, merely historical.) Journals of the House of Commons, May 14, 1604. On Skevington's (or Skeffington's) torture, the technical S.E. term being Skevington's gyves (1564) or irons. Invented ca. 1545 by Leonard Skevington (or Skeffington), Lieutenant of the Tower of London.

scavenging party. In society s. of 1932—34, thus in Ronald Knox, The Body in the Silo, 1933, "A scavenging party—what on earth's that?" "Miles, dear, don't be old-fashioned. A scavenging party is when you go round in cars picking up tramps and feeding them fish and chips . . . ; or collecting sandwich-boards and doorscrapers and things like that. All the brightest young people do it."

scavey. See savvy.—scawfer. See scoffer.

sceau. Incorrect for seau, a dish in the form of a pail: mid-C. 19—20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

scellum. See skellum.

scene-rat. A supernumerary in ballet or pantomime: theatrical: from ca. 1880; ob.

scene-shifter. 'The nickname of a big gun in action on the Arras sector in 1917': military; now only historical. F. & Gibbons. Its shells displaced much earth.

scent-bottle. A water-closet: euphemistic s. (—1887); † by 1920. Baumann.

scent-box. The nose: pugilistic: from ca. 1825; virtually †. Cf. smeller.

sceptre; in C. 18, occ. scepter. A sceptred gold unite: coll.: C. 18—20; in mid-C. 19—20, virtually screw. See skew.—schack-stoner. See shack-stoner.

S.E. In 1736, Folkes writes, 'Sovereigns or Unites [properly unites], vulgarly called Scepters.' O.E.D.

scheme. A collection of the questions likely to be asked in the various subjects of examination: universities': ca. 1775–1810. The Gentleman's Magazine, 1780. (O.E.D.)—2. A practical joke at Winchester, ca. 1840–1910. Wrench, 'The candle on reaching a measured point ignites paper, which by burning a string releases a weight; this falls on the head of the boy to be waked.' Cf. old S.E. scheme, 'a party of pleasure' (Grose), and the more relevant dial. sense, an amusement.

schemozzle. See shemozzle.—schice(r). See shice(r).—schickster. See shickster.

schism-shop. A nonconformist place of worship: Anglican pejorative coll.: late C. 18–20. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. heresy-shop, q.v.

schitt. A goal at football: Winchester: ca. 1830–60. Wrench. Prob. ex shot.

schlemozzle. See shemozzle.

schlenter. Dubious, untrustworthy; make-believe: South African (diamond fields): from ca. 1890: c. >, by 1900, low s. The Comtesse de Brémont, The Gentleman Digger, 1891.—Whence, 2, as a n.: imitation gold: 1898, The Cape Argus, weekly ed., March 16.—3. (Also n., only in pl.) Imitation diamonds: 1899, Griffith, Knives of Diamonds. Senses 2, 3 were prob., at first, c. Pettman gives no etymology: the term derives ex Dutch slenter, a trick (O.E.D. Sup.).

schliver. A clasp-knife: c. (or low): ca. 1820–1910. Bee; Baumann. Ex chive, q.v.

schnorrer. A Jewish beggar: Yiddish coll.: 1892, Zangwill. Ex schnurren, to beg. O.E.D.

schofel or -ful. See shoful.

schol. A scholar: Harrow: mid-C. 19–20.—2. A scholarship: late C. 19–20, ibid.; in C. 20, gen. school term. Cf. schols, q.v.

scholar. 'In illiterate use, one whom the speaker regards as exceptionally learned,' mid-C. 17–20. 'Often merely, one who is able to read and write,' C. 19–20. O.E.D. Not s. but coll.

scholar as my horse Ball, as good a. No scholar at all: a coll., semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1630–70. John Clarke, 1639.

scholard, schollard. A scholar: resp. C. 19–20 C. 16–20; low coll. > ca. 1850, sol. Also in senses indicated at scholar, q.v.

scholion. Incorrect for scolion: C. 17–20. O.E.D.

schols. (Often without article: e.g., in for schols.) A scholarship examination: schools' (orig. Public Schools'): C. 20. Cf. schol, 2, q.v.

school. A number or a group of persons met together in order to gamble: from ca. 1810: perhaps orig. c. > low s. ca. 1880. Vaux. Cf. schooling, 2, q.v.—2. Hence, a 'mob' or gang of thieves or beggars: mostly c. (in C. 20, however, s.): mid-C. 19–20. Mayhew. (The term may apply to four, three, or even two persons.) See quotation at scaldrum-dodge.

School Board will be after you!, the. Take care!: London lower classes': ca. 1881–1900. Ware.

School-Board worrier. A school-inspector: London teachers' (— 1887); † by 1920. Baumann.

school-butter. A flogging: C. 17–19. Pasquill's Jests, 1604; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. (Apperson.)

school of Venus. A brothel: coll.: late C. 17–19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.

School-Street. The University: Oxford University coll.: C. 18—early 19.

schoolgirl complexion, that. A c.p. dating from ca. 1923; P. G. Wodehouse has the phrase in Ukridge, 1924. Ex the inspired advertisement-poster by Palmolive Soap. (Collinson.)

schoolie or -y. A naval instructor: naval coll.: C. 20. Bowen. Ex schoolmaster.—2. A school—as opp. to a house—prefect: Scottish Public Schools': from ca. 1880. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.

schooling. A term of confinement in a reformatory: c. (— 1879); slightly ob.—2. 'A low gambling party,' H., 1859: c. >, ca. 1890, low s. See school, 1.—3. Hence, a, or the, playing of pitch and toss: c. (— 1888); slightly ob.

schoolman. A fellow-member of a 'school' (q.v.): c. or low s.: 1834, Ainsworth; ob.

schoolmaster. (Gen. in training other horses) a horse good at jumping: stables' coll.: late C. 19–20. Prob. ex S.E. sense, the leader of a school of fishes; esp. of a bull whale.—2. schoolmaster, bilk the. See bilk.

schooly. See schoolie.

schooner; frigate; full master. Among youths, new-comer; handy fellow; passed master in navigation: naval: late C. 19—early 20. Ware.

schooner on the rocks. 'A cooked joint surrounded by potatoes': naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

schooner-rigged. Destitute: sailing-ships': late C. 19–20; ob. Bowen.

s(c)hroff. A banker; treasurer; confidential clerk: Anglo-Indian coll.: mid-C. 16–20. Yule & Burnell. Ex Arabic.

schwassle-box. See swatchel-box.—science, blinded with. See blinded with science.—science, dazzle with. See dazzle.

sciatic. A sciatic nerve: medical coll.: 1919. E. F. Brett Young, The Young Physician.

science, the. Boxing or, as in Dickens (1837) fencing: from ca. 1830: s. >, ca. 1870, coll (O.E.D.) Cf. profession, the, q.v.

scientific. A scientist: coll.: 1830, Lyell; De Morgan. Slightly ob. O.E.D.

scientifics. Scientific matters: low coll.: ca. 1840–70. Lover. (O.E.D.)

scintillation. Catachrestic for scintilla, a fig. spark: mid-C. 17–20. O.E.D.

scissor-bill. A nagging, gossiping, and otherwise objectionable woman: low (— 1931). O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex the bird so named.

scissor-grinder. An engine-room artificer: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

scissorean operation. Gutting a book: literary: ca. 1890–1915. On Caesarean operation.

scissors!; oh, scissors! Indicative of disgust or impatience: 1843, Selby; ob. Cf.:

scissors, give (a person). To treat drastically, pay out: mid-C. 19–20; ob. ? ex cut up.

scoff. Food: South African coll.: 1856, the Rev F. Fleming, Southern Africa (Pettman); 1879, Atcherley. Ex Cape Dutch: see the v.—2. Hence, a meal: id.: late C. 19–20. (The term, ca. 1890, > gen. among tramps and sailors, often as scoff.) Cf.:

scoff; often scorf; in South Africa, gen. skoff. V.t. To eat voraciously: s. (— 1864) and dial. (1849). H., 3rd ed. Prob. ex dial. scaff.—2. Hence, modified by South African usage (see scoff, n.), v.t., simply to eat : from ca. 1880 : outside of South Africa, nautical (W. Clark Russell, 1883). —3. Occ., but seldom after ca. 1920, v.i. : late C. 19–20 and rare outside South Africa. But this may be the primary sense, as we see from Lady Barnard's South African Journal, 1798, '[The Boer] concludes that the passengers want to scoff (to eat)': see W.—4. (Ex sense 1.) To seize; to plunder : 1893, Kipling, 'There's enough [gold-leaf] for two first-rates, and I've scoffed the best half of it,' O.E.D.

scoffer; occ. scawfer. Gold or silver plate : c. : mid-C. 19–20; ob. 'Gypsy' Carew : a reference that is valid for 1845.—2. Hence, a (single) plate : vagrants' c. : C. 20.

scold. A scolding : coll. and dial. : from ca. 1725; ob. except in Scots.

scold, v.i. To be constantly uttering reproofs : coll. : mid-C. 18–20.

scoldrum (dodge). A variant of scaldrum (dodge).

scold's cure. A coffin : low : ca. 1810–60. Lex. Bal. Esp. nap the s.c., be confined.

scolicecoid. Incorrect for scoleccoid : mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D.

scollogue. To live or act dissipatedly, wildly : low (— 1857); † by 1900. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Perhaps ex scalawag, q.v.

scolopendra. A harlot : ca. 1630–1700. D'Avenant. Ex sting in centipede's tail.

scolopendria. Incorrect for scolopendra, a centipede : C. 17. O.E.D.

sconce. The head; esp. the crown of the head : 1567, Damon and Pythias; Thackeray. Perhaps ex sconce, a fort, or its Dutch original, schans.—2. Hence, Wit, sense, judgement, ability : coll. : mid-C. 17–20; ob.—3. Occ. the person himself : coll. : ca. 1570–1750. Kendall, 1577 (O.E.D.).—4. See sconce, build a. (— As a fine, sconce is S.E.)

sconce, v. To fine, mulct : university (orig.—see Minshew, 1617—and mainly Oxford) : C. 17–20. Until C. 19, of officials fining undergraduates; in C. 19–20, of undergraduates fining one of themselves (gen. a tankard of ale) for a breach of manners or convention. Randolph, 'Honours of Oxford' Miller, Colman the Elder, 'C. Bede.' Perhaps ex sconce, n., 1 (via 'so much a head').—2. (Gen. sconce off.) To reduce (the amount of a bill, etc.) : coll. : 1768, Foote; † by 1910. Occ. to sconce one's diet, to eat less : coll. (very ob.) : C. 19–20.—3. V.i. and v.t. to hinder; get in the way (of) : Winchester, mainly in games (e.g. a catch at cricket) : late C. 19–20. The Public School Magazine, Dec. 1899. Prob. ex preceding sense.

sconce, build a. 'To run a score at an ale-house,' Bailey (1730); 'run deep upon tick,' B.E. defining build a large sconce. There is often the connotation of lack of intention to pay the account, for Grose, 1785, defines it as 'a military term for bilking one's quarters'. Ca. 1640, Shirley; Tom Brown; Goldsmith. † by 1840. Ex sconce, a (small) fort.

sconce off; sconce one's diet. See sconce, v., 2. sconcing is the vbl.n. of sconce, v., all senses. Very gen.

[scone. Despite many purists, the pronunciation scôn is equally correct with scôn; indeed, in C. 16–19, scon (or skon) was a frequent spelling. The Scottish town, however, is always pronounced with the o long.]

scooch. Spirituous liquor(s) : naval and hence, occ., military : from ca. 1920. Bowen. A corruption of hooch.

scoodyn. 'The fouling of a ship's bottom' : nautical coll. : C. 19–20; ob. Bowen. Possibly by antiphrasis ex dial. scud, to clean, scrape clean; but prob. ex Shetlands dial. scovin, crust adhering to 'a vessel in which food has been cooked' (E.D.D.)

scoop. Male hair worn low and flat on the forehead : military : ca. 1880–90. Ware.—2. See scoop, on the.—3. News obtained (and, of course, printed) in advance of a rival newspaper : journalistic : orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1890 : s. >, ca. 1920, coll.—4. In the money-market, a sudden reduction of prices enabling operators to buy cheaply and to profit by the ensuing (carefully planned) rise : Stock Exchange : orig. (— 1879) U.S., anglicised ca. 1890 : after ca. 1920, coll.—5. An advantage, a (big) 'haul', a very successful or, more properly, a lucky stroke in business : 1893, Kipling; The Daily Chronicle, July 27, 1909, 'Her engagement . . . at the Palace is a big "scoop"', O.E.D. This last sense follows ex nos. 3, 4, which, in their turn, derive ex the S.E. sense, an act of scooping.—6. In singing, the attack on a commencing note 'by way of a chromatic slide from the "fourth" below' : coll. (— 1911). O.E.D. (Sup.).

scoop, v. (Gen. scoop in, occ. scoop up.) To obtain (a lot of money), make a big 'haul' of; to appropriate in advance : orig. (ca. 1880) U.S., anglicised ca. 1890. Ex S.E. sense, to heap up by means of a scoop.—2. (Occ. scoop out.) To get the better of (a rival) by anticipating him or by obtaining what he has failed to obtain : journalistic; orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1890. Elizabeth Banks, The Newspaper Girl, 1902, 'Miss Jackson . . . [is] going to print it in to-morrow's paper, and I shall be scooped,' O.E.D. (—3. As applied to a whale feeding, scoop is wholly U.S.) scoop, on the. On the drink; engaged in dissipation : 1884 (O.E.D.); ob.

scoop in. To persuade (a person) to participate : nautical : from ca. 1915. Hamish Maclaren, The Private Opinions of a British Blue-Jacket, 1929.—2. See scoop, d., 1.

scoop out. See scoop, v., 2.—scoop up. See scoop, v., 1.

scoot, occ. skoot or skute. A scooting (see the v.) : s. and dial. from ca. 1860. Esp. in do a scoot, run away, late C. 19–20, and on the scoot, on the run (lit. and fig.), 1864.

scoot; occ.—though, as to the n., very rarely in C. 20—skoot, skute; skewt seems to have remained U.S. (Gen. with about, along, away, off, round, etc., as adv.) To go (away) hurriedly or with sudden speed : orig. (ca. 1840) U.S.; anglicised ca. 1860 : s. until ca. 1910, then coll. The Quarterly Review, 1869, 'The laugh of the gull as he scoots along the shore.' Ex the mainly nautical s. scout, to dart, move quickly : see scout, v., 1.—2. Loosely, to go, to depart : C. 20. Collinson.

scoot-train. An express train : late C. 19–20; ob. Ex scoot, n., but see v.

scooter. One who goes with sudden swiftness or hurriedly : dial. (— 1825) and (from ca. 1860) s. >, ca. 1910, coll. See scoot, v.—2. A coastal motor-boat : from 1915, when introduced as a defence-measure : naval coll. Bowen. Ex scoot, v., q.v.

scôp, scôp. Pedantic errors for scop, poet, minstrel : mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D.

scope. A cystoscope (used in examining the bladder): medical students' (—1933). Slang, p. 190.

scorch. A very fast run on (motor-) cycle or motor-car: 1885 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. Ex:

scorch, v.i. To ride a bicycle, drive a motor-car, etc., at considerable or very great speed: coll. (—1891) >, ca. 1905, S.E. Implied in n. and in:

scorcher. A furious propeller of cycle or car (etc.): 1885 (O.E.D.): coll. The Daily Telegraph, Jan. 7, 1901, 'Tho police have been keeping a sharp look-out for scorchers.' Ex the v.—2. An exceedingly hot day: coll.: 1874 (O.E.D.). Often a regular scorcher.—3. Any thing or person severe, notably eccentric, deplorably hasty; a scathing remark, vigorous attack, etc.: orig. schoolboys': 1885, Hawley Smart.—4. Hence, a sensation-causer, habitual or incidental, deliberate or unintentional: 1899, Conan Doyle (O.E.D.); ob.—5. A rotten potato: green-grocers' (—1887). Baumann.

scorching, n. Furious riding (of cycle) or driving (of car, etc.): from ca. 1890: coll. till ca. 1905, then S.E. Ex scorch, v.

scorching, adj. Very hot; esp., immoral or indelicate: coll.: 1897, The Referee, Oct. 24.

scorching your eyes out!, the sun's. A military c.p. at reveille, no matter whether it is summer or winter, clear light or pitch-darkness: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Prob. suggested by rise and shine.

score, n. The gaining of a point or points in games: coll.: from ca. 1840.—2. Hence, a notable or successful 'hit' in debate, argument, or keen business: likewise coll.: from ca. 1890. Cf. the v.—3. Twenty pounds (£20): c.: late C. 19–20. (George Ingram, Stir, 1933.)

score, v.i. and v.t. To gain (a success): from ca. 1880: coll. Cf.:

score off. To achieve a success over, make a point at the expense or to the detriment of (gen. a person): coll.: 1882, 'Lucas Malet', 'For once she felt she had scored off her adversary,' O.E.D. Ex scoring at games: cf. the n., sense 1.

scorfi. See scoff. (A low variant, more frequent of the v. than the n.)

scorium. A catachrestic singular, ca. 1680–1710, of scoria (slag). O.E.D.

scorn; occ. scorney. Scornful: low coll.: 1836, Haliburton. Also Cornish dial. E.D.D.

scorp. A late C. 19–20 naval and military abbr. of the next, sense 1. Bowen.

scorpion. A civilian native inhabitant of Gibraltar: military: 1845. Also, from ca. 1870, as in H.M. Field, 1889, 'A choice variety of natives of Gibraltar, called "Rock scorpions",' (O.E.D.) Ex the scorpions that infest the Rock of Gibraltar. See Rock and cf. Gib.—2. A very youthful actor or actress, whose advice and remarks are of little use: theatrical (—1909). Ware. (There is no sting in his tale.)

Scot. A very irritable or quickly angered person: from ca. 1810; slightly ob. Vaux; Bee, 1823, shows that, orig. at least, it may have been a butchers' term, 'the small Scots oxen coming to their doom with little resignation to fate.'—2. Hence, gen. scot, a temper, or passion of irritation: 1859, H., 1st ed. Cf. scotty and scottish, adj., and paddy, n., qq.v.

Scotch or (though very rare in C. 19) scotch. (A drink of) Scotch whiskey: from ca. 1885: coll.

>, ca. 1905, S.E. ('Pomes' Marshall, 'He had started well on Scotches').—2. A leg: abbr. Scotch peg, q.v.

Scotch, adj. Mean (of persons); ungenerous (of acts): coll.: C. 19–20. Esp. be Scotch, as in 'He's (or He must be) Scotch.' (The Scot's, like the Jew's, meanness is actually apocryphal.) Ex following combinations.

Scotch bait. A halt and a rest on one's staff as practised by pedlars: coll.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed.

Scotch bum. A kind of (dress-)bustle: coll.: C. 17. Dekker & Webster.

Scotch casement. A pillory: late C. 18–mid-19.

Scotch chocolate. Brimstone and milk: coll.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

Scotch coffee. Hot water flavoured with burnt biscuit: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Orig. and mainly nautical; prob. suggested by S. chocolate.

scotch fashion, answer. To reply to a question by asking another (à la Jésus): coll.: 1834, Michael Scott, The Cruise of the Midge; slightly ob.

Scotch fiddle. The itch: coll.: 1675, Rochester; ob. Also Welch (welsh) fiddle.

Scotch fiddle, play the. 'To work the index finger of one hand like a fiddle-stick between the index and middle finger of the other': coll.: ca. 1820–1920. H., 2nd ed. To do this 'provokes a Scotchman in the highest degree, it implying that he is afflicted with the itch,' H.

Scotch (occ. Scots) Greys or greys. Lice: C. 19–20. Egan's Grose; H., 2nd ed. Punning the regiment. Hence, headquarters of the Scotch Greys, a lousy head: from ca. 1820 (ob.): Egan's Grose.

Scotch hobby. A scrubby little Scotch horse: coll.: C. 17–early 19. B.E.

Scotch or (mid-C. 19–20) Scottish mist. Rain: coll.: 1589, Anon., Pap with a Hatchet; 'Phraseologia' Robertson, 1681; Grose, 1st ed., 'A sober soaking rain; a Scotch mist will wet an Englishman to the skin'; Scott. (Apperson.)

Scotch navy. The Clan line of steamers: nautical: C. 20. Bowen.

Scotch ordinary. A privy: ca. 1670–1750. Ray.

Scotch peg. A leg: rhyming s. from mid-50's. H., 3rd ed., has it in full, whereas H., 1st ed., only implies it in 'scotches, the legs'; it occurs, however, in 'Ducange Anglicus,' 1857.

Scotch pint. A bottle holding two quarts: from ca. 1820; ob. Egan's Grose.

Scotch prize. A capture by mistake: coll., mostly nautical (—1867); ob. Smyth.

Scotch rabbit. A Welsh rabbit (cf. at Scotch fiddle): ca. 1740–70. Mrs. Glasse, the C. 18 Mrs. Beeton, gives a recipe in 1747. (O.E.D.)

Scotch seamanship. Seamanship by brute force: nautical coll. from ca. 1890; slightly ob. St James's Gazette, April 9, 1900. Cf. Scotch prize, q.v.

Scotch tea. See tea.

scotch up. V.i. and t. To follow up (an attack): military coll.: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. Ex scotching a snake.

Scotch or occ. Scottish warming-pan. A wench: coll.: ca. 1670–1880. Ray; S. Wesley the Elder; Grose. An elaboration of warming-pan, 1.—2. A breaking of wind: low: ca. 1810–1910. Lex. Bal.

scotchie (or S.). A marble with gay stripes: schoolboys' (—1887). Baumann. In reference to tartan.—2. (Gen. in pl.) A leg: late C. 19–20. E.G. in P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Ex Scotch peg.—3. See Scotch.

Scotchman. A florin: South Africa, esp. among the natives (—1879). (Atcherley, whom Rider Haggard repeats in Jess, 1886). Ex that canny Scot who, among the Kaffirs, passed off a number of florins as half-crowns; which may account for a story related in J. Milne's The Epistles of Atkins, published in 1902 and dealing with the Boer War.—2. A Scotch fir: coll.: 1901, 'Lucas Malet' (O.E.D.).—3. The less gen. form of:

Scotchman, the Flying. The Scotch Express from Euston to Edinburgh: coll.: 1874. The abbr. Scotsman, rare in C. 20, occurs in 1881. (O.E.D.)

Scotchman hugging a or the Creole, often without a. or the before Scotchman. A clusia or kind of creeper: West Indian coll.: 1835, M. Scott.

Scotchmen. Lice: c. (—1887). Baumann. Ex Scotch greys.

Scotchy. A coll. nickname for a Scotsman: from ca. 1860. Cf. Jock, q.v.

Scotlands. Shares in the Great North of Scotland Railway: Stock Exchange coll. (—1895); † by 1920. A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary. Also haddocks.

Scots, the. The 26th Foot Regiment (in late C. 19–20, the 1st Battalion Cameronians Scottish Rifles): military: coll. rather than s.: C. 19–20; slightly ob.

Scots Greys. See Scotch Greys.

Scotsman's Cinema, the. Piccadilly Circus: Londoners': from 1933. Ex the numerous electric-light advertisements to be seen there—without admission charge.

Scott I, great. See great Scott!

Scottish. Irritable; easily angered: low: ca. 1810–80. Vaux. Ex Scot, 1.

Scottish mist, warming-pan. See Scotch m., w-p.

Scotty. A Scotsman: coll.: late C. 19–20. Prob. ex Scotch, q.v.

scotty. Angry; apt to grow easily annoyed: late C. 19–20. Ex Scot, 2, q.v.

scour. A cleansing; a polishing: coll.: C. 20. 'Give the floor a good scour,' O.E.D. Ex Scots.

scour; often spelt scow(e)r, scowre. To decamp, run away, depart hurriedly: ca. 1590–1870: s. with more than a tinge of c., as have the next three senses. Greene, Shadwell, Grose. Ex S.E. scour, to move rapidly or hastily.—2. V.i. to roam noisily about at night, smashing windows, way-laying and often beating wayfarers, and attacking the watch: ca. 1670–1830. Shadwell, Prior.—3. Hence, v.t., to ill-treat (esp. the watch or wayfarers) while street-roistering: ca. 1680–1750. Dryden, 'Scowring the Watch grows out of fashion wit.'—4. V.t. 'to roister through (the streets)': ca. 1690–1830. Grose.—5. To wear, esp. in scour the cramp-ring(s) or darbies, to wear, i.e. to go or lie in chains: ca. 1450–1840 (cramp-rings not before mid-C. 16, darbies not before late C. 17): s. >, ca. 1560, c. Awdelay, B.E., Egan's Grose. Ex scour, to cleanse by rubbing. (Ex this sense comes scouring, n., q.v.).—6. To coit with (a woman): coll.: C. 17–19. (All dates, O.E.D.)

scourer, often scowrer. One who behaves as in scour, 2, q.v.: s. verging on c.: ca. 1670–1830. Wycherley. Cf. hawkabite, mohock, mum, nicker, tityre-tu, qq.v.—2. Hence, a night-thief: c.: late

C. 17–18. Anon., The Gentleman Instructed, ca. 1700, '[In London] he struck up with sharpers, scourers, and Alsatians.'

scouring. (An) imprisonment: c.: 1721, Defoe; † by 1820.—2. Adj. to scour, v., 2–4, q.v.

scours. A purge: coll. (—1923). Manchon. Ex S.E. scours, diarrhoea.

scouse. Any kind of stew: Conway cadets' coll.: from ca. 1880. John Masfield, 1933. Abbr. lobscouse, q.v.

scout. A college servant at Oxford (cf. the Cambridge gyp): Oxford University: C. 18–20: coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Hearne, 1708 (O.E.D.); Grose, 1st ed.; 'Cuthbert Bede.' Prob. ex the military, just possibly (W.) ex the † cricket, sense.—2. A member of the watch: c. of mid C. 17–early 19. Coles, 1676; Shadwell, 1688; Haggart, 1821. Ex † scout, a watchman.—3. See scout, good. Cf.:—4. A detective: Glasgow (—1934).

scout, v.i. To dart; go, move, suddenly and swiftly: mid-C. 18–early 19: orig. and mainly nautical. Captain Tyrrell, 1758; Anon., Splendid Follies, 1810, 'Sponge was actually obliged to scout out of the room to conceal his risible muscles,' O.E.D. Ex Swedish skjuta, v.i., to shoot (W.). Cf. shoot, v., q.v.—2. See scout on the lay.—3. 'To shoot pigeons outside a gun-club enclosure,' F. & H.: coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex S.E. pigeon-shooting sense of the n.

scout, good. (Occ., scout is used independently = a fellow.) A good, a trustworthy or helpful person: U.S., anglicised ca. 1920. Cf. the Scottish scout, a term of contempt.

scout-cull. A watchman: c.: C. 18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

scout-ken. A watch-house: c. of ca. 1810–40. Vaux. Ex scout, n., 2.

scout-master, scoutmaster. A schout (Dutch chief magistrate): catachrestic: ca. 1650–1700. O.E.D.

scout on the lay. To go searching for booty: c.: late C. 18–19. See c. lay.

scowbank, n. (1861). See scowbanker.—2. V., to loaf: dial. (—1868) >, ca. 1880, s. ? etymology. (E.D.D.)

scowbanker; also skow-, occ. skull- and, ca. 1890–1910, showbanker. A loafer, a tramp: mostly Australian (—1864); by 1910 slightly, by 1930 very ob. H., 3rd ed. Prob. ex scowbank, v., q.v.—2. 'An outside paper-maker, one who has not served seven years to the trade': paper-makers' (—1909). Ware, who spells it skal-banker.

scowbanking, n. Loafing: see scowbank, v.

Scowegian. (Pron. Scow-wegian.) A Scandinavian: West Canadian and nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex Scandinavian + Norwegian. Cf. Scandihooivan.

scow(e)r. See scour.—scowre(r). See scour, v., and scourer.

scrag. A person's neck: c.: from ca. 1750; slightly ob. ? ex crag, Scottish craig, the neck.—2. The gallows: C. 19 c. Ex scrag, v. 1, or abbr. scrag-squeezer, q.v.—3. At Shrewsbury School (—1881), a rent across a paper signifying 'no marks'. Perhaps ex scrag, to handle roughly.—4. A very rough tackle at Rugby football (cf. scrag, v., 4): Public Schools': C. 20. (P. G. Wodehouse, Tales of St. Austin's, 1903, 'There's all the difference between a decent tackle and a bally scrag like the one that doubled Tony up.') scrag, v.t. To hang by the neck: from ca. 1750 (slightly ob.): c. until ca. 1840, then s. Toldervy (O.E.D.); Tomlinson; Grose; Barham.—2. Hence, to wring the neck of: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee,'—3. To garotte: c. or low s.: mid-C. 19–20.—4. To manhandle, properly (as in Rugby football), to twist the neck of a man whose head is conveniently held under one's arm: late C. 19–20. Kipling, Stalky & Co., 'Don't drop oil over my "Fors", or I'll scrag you.' (I'll scrag you has > a vague threat and c.p., esp. among schoolboys.) Ex dial.

scrag a lay. 'To steal clothes put on a hedge to dry,' Tufts: c.: late C. 18–early 19. Cf. snow, q.v.

scrag-boy. A hangman: c.: from ca. 1780; ob. Ex scrag, n., 1 and v., 1.

scrag-'em fair. A public execution: c. of ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal.; Bee. Ex scrag, v., 1.

scrag-hole. The gallery: theatrical (—1909); ob. Ware. Ex the craning of scrags or necks.

scrag-squeezer. A gallows: ca. 1820–1900: c. Henley, 1887, Villon's Straight Tip, 'Until the squeezer nips your scrag.' Ex scrag, n., 1.

scragged. Dead by hanging: c.: mid-C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 1st ed.

scragger. A hangman: c. or low s.: 1897, P. Warung. O.E.D.

scragging. An execution: C. 19–20: o. >, ca. 1880, low s.; slightly ob. Ex scrag, v., 1.

scragging-post. A gallows: c.: from ca. 1810; slightly ob. Vaux.

Scragg's Hotel. The workhouse: tramps' c.: from ca. 1880; ob. The Daily Telegraph, Jan. 1, 1886.

scram! Clear out!: U.S.; anglicised, among devotees of the cinema, by 1930. Perhaps ex scramble (v.): cf. South Cheshire scramble, 'to get away; with a notion of fear or stealth' (E.D.D.).

scran; occ., though—except in dial.—very rare in C. 20, skran. A reckoning at a tavern or inn: c. of ca. 1710–1740. In Bacchus and Venus, 1724, 'Frisky Moll's Song' by Harper. App. this sense, without leaving any record that I have found, survived until 1903, when listed as low s. by F. & H.; by 1930, virtually †. ? etymology.—2. ? hence (or perhaps cognate with scrannel: W.), food, esp. broken victuals: s. (—1785) and dial. (—1808); in mid-C. 19, the word verged on c. (witness 'Ducange Anglicus,' 1857). Grose, 1st ed., 'Scran, victuals.'—3. Hence, refuse (of food): mostly dial. (—1808) and, as s., † by 1910.—4. Ex sense 2, a meal: from ca. 1870: mostly military.—5. Bread and butter: military: C. 20. B. & P.—6. See scran to, bad.—7. See scran, out on the.

scran, v.t. To provide with food: c. (in C. 19–20, low s.): from ca. 1740; slightly ob. (This entry seems to show that scran, n., 2 existed half a century before our earliest record.)—2. V.i. to collect broken victuals: c. (? orig. dial.) >, ca. 1880, low s.: from the 1830's. H., 1st ed. Ex scran, n., 2.—3. V.i. to eat a meal, to take food: military: C. 20, esp. in G.W. Ex scran, n., fifth sense.

scran, out on the. Begging for scraps of food: o. (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Prob. ex scran, v., 2. Cf. scranning.

scran-bag. A receptacle for scraps of food: c.: from ca. 1850. Burn, Autobiography of a Beggar-Boy, 1855 (O.E.D.). Ex scran, n., 2.—2. Hence, a haversack: military (—1864). H., 3rd ed.—3.

A receptacle for the impounding of articles carelessly left about: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

scran-pocket. A c. variant (—1887) of scran-bag, 1; ob. Baumann.

scran to, bad. Bad luck to —!: Anglo-Irish coll.: from ca. 1840. Lever, P. H. Emerson. Perhaps ex scran, n., 2, q.v. Cf. cess, q.v.

scrand. An occ. variant of scran, n.

scranning, vbl.n. A begging of scraps of food: Scots dial. (—1839), whence c. (—1859), as in H., 1st ed. Ex scran, v., 2; cf. scran, out on the.

scrap. A blow, a punch: c. of early C. 17. Rowlands in Martin Mark-All. Cf. sense 3, of independent origin.—2. (In C. 18–19, occ. scrapp.) An intention, design, plot, always either vile or villainous: ca. 1670–1830: either c. (see Grose, 1st ed.) or low s. E.g. in B.E. (at whiddle). ? ex scrape.—3. ? hence, a struggle, scrimmage, fist-cuffs (the predominant C. 20 sense): from ca. 1873. H., 5th ed. (In G.W., a battle.) Cf. U.S. scrape, a rough encounter, 1812 (Thornton).

scrap, v.i. To fight, esp. with the fists (—1874). H., 5th ed. Ex scrap, n., 3.—2. To scrimmage (—1891). O.E.D.—3. Ex sense 1, v.t. to box with: 1893, P. H. Emerson, 'I was backed to scrap a cove bigger nor me.'

scrap, do a. See do a scrap.

scrap-up. An occ. variant of scrap, n., 3: Barrère & Leland.

scrape. A shave: jocular coll. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Cf. v. and scraper.—2. Cheap butter: 1859, H., 1st ed.—3. See scrape, bread and.—4. Short shrift: coll: 1899, The Pall Mall Gazette, April 5, 'From the French adventurers he was only likely to get what schoolboys call scrape.'

scrape, v.i., v.t., and v. reflexive. To shave: jocular coll.: from ca. 1770.

scrape, bread and. Bread with but a smear of butter: orig. schools': coll.: 1861 (O.E.D.); 1873, Rhoda Broughton, 'Happiness thinly spread over their whole lives, like bread and scrape!' Ex S.E. scrape, a thin layer.—2. Hence, short commons: coll.: from ca. 1865.

scrape!, go. Go away!: contemptuous coll.: early C. 17. Cotgrave.

scrape the enamel. To scratch the skin by falling: cyclists': from ca. 1890; ob.

scraped 'em off me putties! A ranks' c.p. directed against the Staff: G.W. military. B. & P. The allusion is to *sh*t*, n., 2.

scraper. A barber: pejorative coll.: from ca. 1790.—2. A razor: jocular coll.: from ca. 1860. See scrape, v.—3. As a cocked hat (1828, Moir), coll. verging on S.E. (E.D.D.).—4.—4. A 'short one to two-inch whisker, slightly curved': Society: ca. 1880–90. Ware.

scrapers, take to one's. To make off: Anglo-Irish: from ca. 1820. Here, scraper = a foot, esp. a heel; cf. scrape with one's feet.

scrapping-castle. A water-closet: low: ca. 1850–90. H., 1st ed.

scrappings, be away to. To be doomed or done for or dead: lower classes': C. 20.

scrappings of his nails!, he wouldn't give you the. A semi-proverbial, coll. c.p. (—1887), applied to a very mean person; slightly ob. Baumann.

scrapp. See scrap, n., 2.

scrapper. A pugilist; any fighter, whether with fists or weapons: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.

scrapping. Fighting or boxing: from ca. 1890. See scrap, v., and cf. scrapper.

scrappy. A farrier: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the scraps of iron or hoof he leaves about.

Scratch. Gen. and orig. Old Scratch. The devil: coll.: 1740 (O.E.D.); Amory, 1756 (Scratch). In late C. 19–20, mostly dial. Ex scrat, a goblin, on scratch.

scratch. A competitor starting from scratch in a handicap contest: coll.: 1867 (O.E.D.).—2. In billiards, a fluke: coll.: from ca. 1890.—3. Generic for genuine bank- and currency- notes: c. (— 1935). David Hume. Contrast slush.

scratch, bring to the,—come (up) to the or toe the. To bring oneself or another to the requisite point, lit. or fig.; to do, or cause to do, one's duty: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.: resp. 1827, Scott; 1834, Ainsworth; 1857, 'Cuthbert Bede.' Ex the line drawn on the ground or floor to divide the boxing-ring.

scratch, no great. Of little value or importance: orig. (1844), U.S., anglicised ca. 1858; slightly ob. H., 1st ed. Lit., not very painful.

scratch a beggar before you die, you'll. You will die a beggar: a semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1630–1800. Clarke, Ray, Fuller. (Apperson.)

scratch-down. 'The public scolding of a man by a woman': low (— 1909). Ware.

scratch it. To depart; make off: low (— 1923). Manchon.

scratch-me. A lucifer match: London's lower classes' (— 1909). Ware.

scratch my breech and I'll claw your elbow. Let us indulge in reciprocal flattery: C. 17–19: a semi-proverbial c.p. Cf. ca me, ca thee, and S.E. scratch me and I'll scratch thee.

scratch one's arse with, not a sixpence to. Penniless: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

scratch one's wool. To puzzle; wonder greatly: tailors': from ca. 1870. On S.E. scratch one's head; and see wool, hair.

scratch-platter. See tailor's ragout.

scratch-rash. A scratched face: artisans' (— 1909). Ware. Cf. gravel-rash, q.v.

scratch with, not a sixpence to. Penniless: coll. (— 1931). Lyell. Ex scratch one's arse . . ., q.v.

scratched. Tipsy: C. 17 c. or s. 'Water-Poet' Taylor, 1622.

scratcher. A lucifer match: proletarian (— 1909). Ware. Cf. scratch-me.—2. A paymaster, or his clerk: naval: late C. 19–20; ob. Ware, 'From the noisy times of quill pens.'—3. A bed: low Glasgow (— 1934). For the semantics, cf. flea-bag.

Scratchland. Scotland: ca. 1780–1890. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. Scotch fiddle, q.v.

scratchy. (Of a batsman) lacking sureness and confidence in his strokes: cricket coll.: 1904, P. F. Warner (Lewis).

scream. An extremely ridiculous or funny person or thing: 1915 (S.O.D.): s. >, by 1935, coll. Often a perfect s. An abbr., with modification of sense, of screamer, 2 and 3. scream. To turn King's evidence: low: from the early 1920's. O.E.D. (Sup.) Cf. squeal.

screamer. An animate or inanimate of exceptional size, intensity, attractiveness: orig. U.S., anglicised in 1850 by Frank Smedley. Runciman, 1888, 'She's a screamer, she's a real swell.' (O.E.D.)—2. A startling, exaggerated, or extremely funny book, story, etc.: 1844, Dickens (O.E.D.).—3. Hence, one who tells exaggerated or very funny stories: 1849, Albert Smith (O.E.D.).—4. 'A thief who, robbed by another thief, applies to the police,' F. & H.: c.: from ca. 1890.—5. An exclamation-mark (cf. Christer and shriek-mark): from ca. 1920 and mostly among printers, authors, journalists, typists, and copy-writers. D. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'Capital N, capital P, and screamer.'

screaminess. The quality of being screamy, q.v.: coll.: from ca. 1880.

screaming. Splendid; excellent: orig. theatrical (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex screamer, 1, q.v.

screaming gin and ignorance. Bad newspaper-writing: sporting reporters': 1868–ca. 80. Ware.

screaming ostrich. A 'super bird', an exceptionally marked hissing by the audience: theatrical (— 1935). See bird in this sense.

screamy. Apt to scream; (of sound) screaming; fig., very violent, exaggerated, or unseemly in expression; (of colour) glaring: coll.: in 1882, The Spectator describes two of Swinburne's sonnets as 'thoroughly unworthy and screamy'. O.E.D. Cf. scream and screamer (2), qq.v.

screave. See screeve.

screech. Whiskey: low: from ca. 1880; ob. ? ex its strength, or possibly ex its tendency to make females [sic] screech. See also screigh.

screecher. A street singer: showmen's: C. 20. P. Allingham in The Evening News, 9: vii: 1934.

screed. Ca. 1870–90 a journalistic coll. (later S.E.) for 'an illogical or badly written article or paper upon any subject,' H., 5th ed.—2. Hence, a picture execrably painted: artists' (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

screen. A bank or currency note; esp. if counterfeit: from ca. 1810: c. Vaux. (Cf. screen, queer, q.v.) Ca. 1820–50, it often meant esp. a £1 note (cf. screave, n., 2), as in Egan, 1821. The word, which may be a witty perversion of screave (q.v.), was ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930.

screen, queer. A forged note: c. (— 1812). Vaux, Lytton, Ainsworth. See screen.

screen-faking. The forging of notes: c.: 1830, Moncrieff. See screen.

screeve (1801); also screave (1821), scrieve (from ca. 1850), scribe (1788). Any piece of writing: 1788; Scots s. or coll.—2. Whence, a banknote: (mainly Scottish) c.: ca. 1800–1890. The Sporting Magazine, 1801, 'The one-pound screeves'; Haggart.—3. A begging letter, a petition, a testimonial: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux, Mayhew. (From ca. 1890, letter is the predominant sense.)—4. A drawing in chalk on the pavement: c.: from ca. 1855. Ex screeve, v., 2; and see screeving. (Dates, mainly O.E.D.) The etymology is not so simple as it looks: prob. ex. dial. scrive, to write, or ex the Dutch schrijven; ultimately ex L. scribere; cf.:

screeve; occ. scrieve. V.t. to write (esp. a begging letter, a petition): c. and East-End s.: mid-C. 19–20. 'No. 747', reference 1845; Mayhew, 1851. Ex It. scrivere via Lingua Franca; perhaps imm. ex screeve, n., 1–3.—2. Whence, v.i. draw on the pavement with chalk; to do this as a livelihood: c.: 1851, Mayhew.

screeve, fake a. See fake a screeve.

screeve-faker. The same as screever, 1, q.v.: ca. 1850–1910.

screever; occ. scriver. One who, for a living, writes begging letters: c.: 1851, Mayhew. Ex screeve, v., 1, q.v.—2. A 'pavement artist': c. and East-End s.: implied by Mayhew in 1851 (see quotation at screeving) and recorded by H. in 1859.

Punch, July 14, 1883, 'Here is a brilliant opening for merry old Academicians, festive flagstone screevers, and "distinguished amateurs".'

Screeveton. The Bank of England: low (—1903); ob. Ex screeve, n., 2.

screeving. Vbl.n. of screeve, v., 1 and 2. Mayhew, 1851, 'By screeving, that is, by petitions and letters'; ibid., 'Screeving or writing on the pavement.'

screich; occ. skreich. Whiskey: Scottish s.: C. 19–20. Lexicographer Jamieson (E.D.D.). I.e. a screech: proleptic usage.

screw. A skeleton key: c.: 1795, Potter; slightly ob.—2. ? hence, a turnkey or prison warder: 1821, Egan: c. until ca. 1860, then low s.—3. A robbery effected with a skeleton key: c. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux.—4. the screw, the doing of this, esp. as an occupation: c.: ca. 1810–80. Vaux.—5. An old or otherwise worthless horse: 1821 (O.E.D.); 'Nimrod' Apperley, 1835, 'Mr Charles Boulton, the best screw driver in England.' Coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Perhaps by the semantic process illustrated by rip (see W.) or orig. of a race-horse that can, by 'screwing', be made to gain a place (O.E.D.)—6. Wages, salary (—1859). H., 1st ed.—7. Hence (?), a dram, a 'pick-me-up': 1877. Cf. 7, a, a bottle of wine: Anglo-Irish (—1827); ob. Barrington (E.D.D.).—8. See screw, female.—9 (Whence, or more prob. ex screw, v., 3), an act of copulation: C. 19–20: low.—10. Whence, a woman qua sexual pleasure: low: late C. 19–20.—11. See screws, the.

screw, v. To break into (a building) by using a skeleton key: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux; Arthur Morrison. See screw, n., 1, 2, and 3.—2. Hence, v.i. to burgle; also, to keep watch for one's burglar-confederate: c.: C. 20. Charles E. Leach, 1933. Also, v.t., to look at: grafters': C. 20. Allingham.—3. To copulate with (a female): low (—1785). Grose, 1st ed.

screw, all of a. Very crooked or twisted: coll. —1887). Baumann. Perhaps influenced by askew.

screw, fake a. See fake a screw.

screw, female; occ. simply screw. A harlot: resp. ca. 1780–1850 (Grose, 1st ed.) and ca. 1720–1870 (A New Canting Dict., 1725).

screw, under the. See under the screw.

screw-jaws. A wry-mouthed person: coll. (—1788) verging on S.E.; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

screw loose, a. A phrase indicative of something wrong: from ca. 1820: s. until ca. 1840, then coll. till ca. 1880, then S.E. Egan, 1821; Dickens; Trollope. Ob. in this gen. sense.—2. Hence, (slightly) crazy or mad, gen. as have a screw loose: coll.: from ca. 1870.

screw one's nut. To 'dodge a blow aimed at the head': London lower classes': from the early 1890's. The People, Jan. 6, 1895 (Ware). A double pun—on nut and on screw.

screw-thread, drunken. A defective spiral ridge of a screw: a technological coll.: from ca. 1850. Ronalds & Richardson, Chemical Technology, 1854. O.E.D.

screw up, v.i. To force one into making a bargain: coll.: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E. Ex S.E. sense, to tighten up with a screw.—2. To garotte: c.: 1845 (p. 419 of 'No. 747'); ob.

screwed. Topsy: 1838, Barham, 'Like a four-bottle man in a company screw'd, | Not firm on his legs, but by no means subdued.' S. >, ca.

1870, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. For semantics, cf. tight. Cf. screwy, 2, and blind, blotto, corned, elevated, fuzzy, lushy, muzzy, paralysed, scammered, squiffy, three sheets in the wind, up a tree, wet. F. & H. gives a magnificent synonymy; H., in the Introduction, a good one.

screwed on right or the right way, have one's head. To be shrewd and businesslike; be able to look after oneself: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

screwed up. Vanquished: Oxford and Cambridge undergraduates': late C. 19–early 20. Ex 'the ancient habit of screwing up an offender's door,' Ware.—2. (Also screwed up in a corner.) Penniless: artisans' (—1909). Ware, 'Without money—can't move.'

screw or screwman. Occ. variants (C. 20: Edgar Wallace, Soober Speaking, has the latter; 'Stuart Wood', the former) of screwsman.

screwing. A house- or shop-breaking: c.: from ca. 1810. See screw, v., 1.

screws, the. Rheumatism: coll. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex instrument of torture.

screwsman. A thief using a skeleton key: c. (—1812). Vaux. Ex screw, n., 1–3. In C. 20, esp. a petty house-breaker: 'Stuart Wood', Shades of the Prison House, 1932.

screwy. Mean, stingy: 1851, Mayhew, 'Mechanics are capital customers . . . They are not so screwy,' coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Ex S.E. screw, a miser.—2. Drunk (cf. screwed, q.v.). 1820, Creevey (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; ob.—3. (Of horses) unsound: 1852, Smedley, 'It's like turning a screwy horse out to grass,' O.E.D.: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Ex screw, n., 4, q.v.—4. Crazy, mad; (very) eccentric: lower classes' (—1935). Perhaps ex sense 2.

scribbler's luck. 'An empty purse and a full hand,' The Pelican, Dec. 3, 1898: coll. of ca. 1890–1915.

scribe. See one-eyed scribe.—2. A bad writer: journalistic: ca. 1870–90. Ware.—3. Any clerical rank or rating: naval coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

scrieve. See screeve.

scrim. An abbr. (—1923) of both scrimshank (n. and v.) and scrimshanker.

scrimmage. A free-fight, scuffle, or confused struggle: coll.: 1780, Johnson (skrimage); 1826, Fenimore Cooper (skrimage); 1844, The Catholic Weekly Instructor (scrimidge); 1859, H., 1st ed. (scrimmage). Ex S.E. sense, a skirmish, prob. via dial. (O.E.D.)

scrimshander. See scrimshaw.

scrimshank; occ. skrim-. A shirking of duty: military: C. 20. Ex:

scrimshank; occ. skrim-. V.i. to shirk work: military (—1890). Barrère & Leland; Kipling, 1893. Prob. a back-formation from scrimshanker, q.v. scrimshanker; occ. skrimshanker. A shirker: military (—1890). Barrère & Leland. Tit-Bits, April 26, 1890, 'Besides the dread of being considered a skrimshanker, a soldier dislikes the necessary restraints of a hospital.' Etymology obscure: perhaps a perversion of scowbanker, q.v. The importance of the subject may be gauged from the fact that in 1843 there appeared a book entitled On Feigned and Factitious Diseases, chiefly of Soldiers and Seamen.

scrimshanking; skrim-. Vbl.n. and ppl. adj. ex scrimshank, v., q.v.

scrimshaw (work); occ. scrimshander, -y, mostly U.S. Small objects, esp. ornaments, made by seamen in their leisure: nautical: from ca. 1850: s. >, ca. 1880, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E., as the v. has prob. always been. Etymology unknown, though the word is prob. either ex, or influenced by, the surname Scrimshaw. W.; O.E.D.

scrip. A small (gen. written-upon) piece of paper: from ca. 1615: S.E. until ca. 1680, then c. till early C. 19, then dial.; in c., esp. in blot the scrip, it occ. = a bond. B.E., Grose. ? ex scrap: cf. the famous mere scrap of paper. (In its commercial sense, despite Grose, 2nd ed., scrip, having originated as an obvious abbr., has prob. always been S.E.)

scrip-scrap. Odds and ends: coll.: C. 19–20. Reduplication on scrap.

scripper. He who, in a swindle, keeps watch: c.: late C. 16–early 17. Greene, describing ‘high law’. ? etymology, unless ex † Scots scrip, to jeer.

scrippet. Prob. a misprint for, rather than a variant of, the preceding: id. Ibid.

[scripturience is a variant of S.E. scripturiency and lies on the borderland between literary s. and literary j.: late C. 19–20; very ob. Ware; and see esp. Slang, p. 178.]

scrive. See screeve, n.

scrobby, or claws, (for breakfast),—be tipped the. ‘To be whipt before the justices,’ Grose, 1st ed.: c. (orig. at least) of ca. 1780–1850. The C. 18 form is be tipped the scrobby; claws came ca. 1810, for breakfast (rare with scrobby) was added about the same time; from ca. 1850 († by 1890), the term survived as get scrobby (H., 1st ed., 1859, ‘to be whipped in prison before the justices’). See tip, v.; with claws cf. cat-o-nine-tails; scrobby is a mystery unless perchance it = scrubby, scurvy, here used fig. (cf. do the dirty on).

scroo(d)ge. See scrouge, v.

scroof. A sponger: c. or low (— 1823); † by 1890. Egan’s Grose. A variant form of scruff, scurf, hence anything worthless.

scroop. To skirt very closely; to rub: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex S.E. scroop, make a scraping sound.

scrope. A farthing: c. of ca. 1710–1820. Hall; Grose, 2nd ed. ? origin.

scroudge. See scrouge, v.

scrouge; occ. scrowge. A crush; a crowd: low coll.: 1839. C. Keene, 1887, ‘I went to the Academy “Swarry” last night—the usual scrouge.’ O.E.D. Ex:

scrouge, the earliest and gen. form; also scroo(d)ge (C. 19–20), scroudge (C. 19–20), scrowge (C. 19–20), skrouge (C. 19–20), and skrowdge (C. 18). V.t. to crowd; to inconvenience by pressing against or by encroaching on the space of: low coll.: mid-C. 18–20. Ex scruze, to squeeze, ‘still preserved, at least in its corruption, to scrouge, in the London jargon’, Johnson, 1755. (O.E.D.)—2. V.i. in same senses: from ca. 1820. Egan. (The vbl.n. scrouging is fairly gen.)

scrounge. Esp. in do a scrounge, to go looking for what one can ‘find’; to take it: military: 1914 or ’15. Ex the v.—2. A ‘scrounger’: from ca. 1916.

scrounge, v.t. To hunt for; cadge, to get by wheedling; to acquire illicitly; hence, to steal; also v.i.: military in G.W.; from ca. 1920, fairly gen. Ex dial. scrunge, to steal (esp. apples) or ex dial. and coll. scrouge, q.v., of which, clearly, scrunge may be a variant; cf. skrump, q.v. The

S.O.D. records at 1919; W. quotes The Westminster Gazette of Jan. 1920; but the soldiers used it from the early days of the War. See esp. B. & P. scrounge on. To sponge on: U.S. (— 1911) >, by 1918, anglicised. (O.E.D. Sup) scrounger. One who does ‘scrounge’ (see the v.): military: from 1915.

scrounging. Vbl.n. and ppl.adj. of scrounge, v.: military: 1914 or ’15.

scrouperize. To coit: a rather literary coll.: mid-C. 17–early 18. Translations of Rabelais. Cf. later S.E. scroop, to scrape.

scrovie, -y. A useless hand shipped as an able-bodied seaman: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cognate with S.E. scruffy: cf. scroof.

scrowge. See scrouge, v.

scrub. ‘One who pays not his whack at the tavern,’ Bee: public-house coll.: ca. 1820–60. Ex scrub, a shabby fellow.—2. Handwriting: Christ’s Hospital: mid-C. 19–20. Ex sense 2 of: scrub, v. To drudge: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex scrubbing floors, steps, etc.—2. V.t. to write fast: Christ’s Hospital: mid-C. 19–20. Ex L. scribere.—3. See scrubbing-brush, 2: low coll.: C. 20.

scrub and wash clothes. ‘A substitute expression in reading aloud for a word suddenly come upon which the reader cannot pronounce’: naval coll.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

scrub-dangler. A wild bullock: ca. 1885–1920. Cf. scrubber, 1.

scrub her (gen. ’er). To sponge off the big odds on one’s [bookmaker’s] board: turf c. (— 1932). Cf. scrubbing-brush, 2.

scrubbed. See get scrubbed.

scrub(b)ado. The itch: mid-C. 17–early 19: coll. on † S.E. scrub, the same.

scrubbed-hammock face. ‘A miserable-looking person’: naval: C. 20. Bowen, ‘The naval hammock . . . does not look at its best when wet.’ Hence, have a scrubbed-hammock face, to look gloomy (F. & Gibbons).

scrubber. An animal living in the scrub: Australian coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.: 1859, H. Kingsley in Geoffrey Hamlyn; F. D. Davison, Man-Shy, 1934.—2. Hence, a person living there: 1890, ‘Rolf Boldrewood’.—3. An outsider; in university circles, ‘one who will not join in the life of the place’ (cf. the Oxford smug): Australian: 1868; slightly ob. Morris. Ex sense 1, as is:—4. Any ‘starved-looking or ill-bred animal’: Australian coll. (— 1898). Morris. Cf. the Australian j. scrub-bull, an inferior bull or bullock.—5. See dry scrub.

scrubbing. A flogging of four cuts: Winchester: ca. 1840–1900. Mansfield, ‘The ordinary punishment was called scrubbing.’ Ex gen. coll. of ca. 1810–50, often in sense of defeat (O.E.D.). scrubbing-brush. The pubic hair: low: mid-C. 19–20.—2. An ‘outside’ horse or dog that ‘scrubs’ or beats the favourites: turf c. (— 1932). Slang, p. 246.

Scrubs, the. The convict prison at Wormwood Scrubs: c. (— 1916) >, by 1923, low s. E.g. in Manchon, 1923; George Baker, The Soul of a Skunk, 1930; Anon., Dartmoor from Within, 1932.

scruey. See screwy, 2. Thackeray, 1855.

scruff. Newfoundland s. of ca. 1860–1900. Figaro, Nov. 25, 1870, quoting from The Montreal News, on ‘Codland Habits’: ‘The best society is called "merchantable", that being the term for fish of the best quality; while the lowest stratum is "scruff" or "dun". Ex ob. S.E. scruff applied to anything valueless or contemptible.

scruff, v. To hang: C. 19 coll. Ex scruff, the nape of the neck.

scrum. A scrummage in Rugby football: 1888 (O.E.D.): coll. till C. 20, then S.E.

scrum, v. To scrimmage: C. 20: Rugby Football coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Ex n.

scrumdolious. 'Scrumptious', of which it is an elaboration; late C. 19-20. (J. B. Priestley, Faraway, 1932.)

scrummy. 'Scrumptious' (whence it derives): from ca. 1906, on the evidence of Collinson (p. 24); 1918, Galsworthy (O.E.D. Sup.).—2. An occ. corruption of crummy, lousy: New Zealand soldiers' in G.W. scrump. See skrimp.

scrumptious. First rate, excellent, 'glorious': coll.: 1859, H., 1st ed.; 1865, Meredith, 'Hang me, if ever I see such a scrumptious lot,' O.E.D. Ex U.S. coll. sense, stylish (of things), handsome (of persons).—2. The sense 'fastidious, hard to please' is by the O.E.D. queried as U.S. only: perhaps orig. U.S. (whence the O.E.D.'s quotation, 1845), but app. current in England ca. 1855-75, for the life-time edd. of H. define the word as 'nice, particular, beautiful.' Prob. ex dial. sense of mean, stingy; sense 1, therefore, as W. points out, may have been influenced by sumptuous.

scrumptiously. The adv. of the preceding: coll.: from not later than 1880.

scruncher. A glutton: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex scrunch, to bite crushingly.

scrunch. An illiterate form of (to) scrunch: 1851, Mayhew.

scud. A fast runner: schools': 1857, Hughes in Tom Brown, 'I say . . . you ain't a bad scud'; ob. Ex scud, to move quickly.—2. Hence, a fast run: from ca. 1870; slightly ob.

scuddick, the gen. form; also scuddock, scurrick, scuttick (mostly dial.), skiddi(c)k (id.), and skud-dick. An extremely small sum or coin, amount or object: s. and dial.: from ca. 1780 (E.D.D.); in C. 20, only dial. 'Jon Bee,' 1823, 'Used negatively; "not a scuddick" . . . "Every scuddick gone"; "she gets not a scuddick from me".' Perhaps ex † S.E. scud, refuse; more prob. ex dial. scud, a wisp of straw, despite the fact that this sense is not recorded until 1843 (O.E.D.),—many dial. terms were almost certainly existent 'ages' before their earliest appearance in print.—2. In c. of ca. 1820-60, a halfpenny: only in form scurrick. Egan's Grose, 1823; Moncrieff, 1843.

scuff. (Any) crowd: c.: from late 1870's. Macmillan's Magazine, 1879 (XL, 501), 'This got a scuff round us': 'Dagonet' Sins in The Referee, Feb. 12, 1888. Ex more gen. S.E. sense, a noisy crowd.

scuffle-hunter. One who hangs about the docks on the pretence of looking for work but actually to steal anything that 'comes his way': c. and nautical s. from ca. 1790; ob. Colquhoun's Police of the Metropolis, 1796; Bowen.

scuffy. Inferior, contemptible: Christ's Hospital (— 1887). Baumann. Prob. ex scurfy.

scutter. A policeman: Northern c. (cf. bulky): ca. 1855-90. H., 2nd ed. Ex either scuffe, to throw up dust in walking (cf. dial. scuff, to shuffle), or, more likely, scuff, to buffet.

scug; also (very rare in C. 20) skug. An untidy or ill-mannered or morally undeveloped boy; a shirker at games; one 'undistinguished in person, in games, or social qualities': Eton and Harrow: from ca. 1820. Westmacott, 1825, refers it to sluggish; perhaps, however, ex Scots and Northern scug (skug), a pretence; ex Yorkshire and Lancashire dial. scug, scum; but possibly scadger, q.v. See esp. 'Eton Slang', § 2.

scuggish; scuggy. Adj. to the preceding.

scull. The head of a college: university (— 1785); ob. by 1864 (see H., 3rd ed.), † by 1890. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. scull-race and Golgotha, qq.v.—2. 'A one horse chaise or buggy,' Grose, 1st ed. (also sculler): ca. 1780-1830.—3. See sculls.

scull-race. An examination: University: ca. 1810-70. Ex scull, 1, q.v.

scull-thatcher. A wig-maker: coll. (— 1785); ob. Grose, 1st ed.—2. Whence, a hatter: C. 19-20; ob.

sculler. See scull, 2.

scullery-science. Phrenology: jocular coll.: ca. 1830-60. Chorley, 1836. Punning skull.

sculling around. (Of a person) wandering aimlessly; (of a thing) left lying about: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex leisurely rowing.

sculls. A waterman plying sculls: coll.: C. 18-20. Cf. oars.

sculp. A piece of sculpture: coll.: 1883, The Daily News, Jan. 18. (Ware.) Cf.:

sculp, v.t. To sculpture: from ca. 1780: S.E. until ca. 1880, then (gen. jocular) coll. R. L. Stevenson, 1887.—2. Hence, v.i.: coll.: 1889, W. E. Norris; 1893, Kipling, 'Men who write, and paint, and sculp.' O.E.D. (Rather S.E. than 'unconventional' is sculpt, which, recorded for 1864, is very rare in C. 20. See O.E.D.)

scum. Enough: c. of ca. 1720-50. Street Robberies Considered, 1728. ? etymology.

scupper. To take by surprise and then massacre: military: 1885 (the Suakin Expedition). W.—2. Hence, to kill: military: late C. 19-20. B. & P. ? ex cooper (q.v.), to ruin.

scuppered. Killed, dead in battle: naval, hence military: late C. 19-20. Ex preceding.—2. Sunk: naval: C. 20. Bowen.—3. Scattered; demoralised: naval and military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

scurf. A mean, a 'scurvy' fellow: ca. 1850-1915. Mayhew, 1851, "'There's a scurf!" said one; "He's a regular scab," cried another.' Cf. scab, n., 1.—2. A 'scab' as in scab, n., 2, q.v.: from ca. 1850.—3. Also, an employer paying less than the standard wage: from ca. 1850. Like sense 2, first in Mayhew.

scurf, v. To apprehend, arrest: o. of ca. 1810-50. Vaux. ? ex S.E. scruff.

scurrick. See scuddick.

scuse or 'scuse. (Esp. in 'scuse me !') To excuse: late C. 15-20: S.E. until C. 19, then (when not, as occ., deliberately humorous) coll. verging on illiteracy. T. E. Brown, 1887, 'Scuse me, your honour.' O.E.D. scushy. Money: Scottish: late C. 18-mid-19. Shirrefs, Poems, 1790. E.D.D. Origin ?

scut. The female pudend or pubic hair: coll.: late C. 16-20; ob. Ex scut, a short upright tail, esp. of hare, rabbit, deer. (Implied in Shakespeare, Cotton, Dufey, and several broadsides, but not, I believe, defined as the pudend before Grose, 1st ed.) Also, the behind: C. 18. Ned Ward, 1709 scutter. To go hastily and fussily or excitedly or timorously: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1780. Mrs. Delany, 1781, 'She staid abt 24 hours, then scutter'd away to Badminton.' The vbl.n. is frequent, the ppl. adj. rare. O.E.D. Prob. ex scuttle on scatter. Imm. ex dial. (1777: E.D.D.).

(Matthews).—2. A person; occ. a number of persons: coll. and dial., either jocose or pejorative: from early 1890's. O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex S.E. sense.

scuttick. See scuddick.

scuttle. An undignified withdrawal: political: 1884 (O.E.D.); slightly ob. Ex:

scuttle, v.i. To withdraw with unseemly haste from the occupation, or the administration, of a country: political: 1883, Lord Randolph Churchill in a speech delivered on Dec. 18; slightly ob. Ex S.E. sense, 'to run with quick, hurried steps.' O.E.D.—2. V.i. to shout in order to attract the attention of the masters to one's being roughly treated: Christ's Hospital: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Whence scuttle-cat, one who does this: † by 1903.—3. To deflower: orig. nautical: mid-C. 19–20. Whence scuttle a ship, to take a maidenhead.—4. To stab: c.: from ca. 1860; ob.—5. To go; to depart: schoolboys' s. (from ca. 1906) now verging on coll. Collinson. Cf. S.E. scuttle away.—6. See scuttle a nob.—7. See scuttling, 2.

scuttle, do a back. To engage in an act of sodomy: low: late C. 19–20.

scuttle, on the. On a bout of drinking or a round of whoring: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. Cf. preceding entry and see scuttle, v., 3.

scuttle a nob. To break a head: pugilistic: from ca. 1810; ob. Randall.

scuttle a ship. See scuttle, v., 3.—scuttle-cat. See scuttle, v., 2.

scuttle-mouth. A small oyster in a very large shell: costermongers': 1848, though first recorded in vol. I (1851) of Mayhew's London Labour.

scuttled, ppl.adj. Captured: military: 1914; ob. G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.

scuttler. An advocate of 'scuttle' (see the n.): political: 1884 (O.E.D.); ob.

scuttling. The policy implied in scuttle, v., 1: political: 1884 (O.E.D.); ob.—2. As street-fighting between youthful groups, scuttling, like scuttle the v. (1890) and the n. (1864), is gen. considered S.E.: perhaps orig. coll. or dial.—see E.D.D.

'sdeath!, 'sdeynes!, 'sdiggers! Abbr. God's death!, deynes or dines!, and diggers!: resp. C. 17–18, then archaic; early C. 17 (Jonson); late C. 17. (O.E.D.) All coll. except perhaps the first, which should perhaps be considered S.E.; all may be euphemistic, though this is to underestimate the power of colloquialism, which is at least as great as that of euphemism.

'sdheart. See 'sheart.—se. See sey.

'se. Are: sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann, 'If they'se left to theirselves.'—2. See Addenda.

sea?, who wouldn't sell a farm and go to. A nautical c.p. spoken when something unpleasant or extremely difficult has to be done: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen.

sea-blessing. A curse; curses: jocular nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sea-boot face, have a. To look gloomy: naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. scrubbed-hamock face, q.v.

Sea-Boots, the. 'The naval name for the old turret-battleships "Hero" and "Conqueror", which had . . . the upper works bunched aft': early C. 20. Bowen.

sea-coal. Money: C. 19, mainly nautical. On sea-cole = sea-kale.

sea-cook, son of a. A term of abuse: nautical coll.: 1825 (O.E.D.). M. Scott, 1836, 'You supercilious son of a sea-cook.'

sea-coot. A seaman, esp. if of fresh water or scant ability: nautical (— 1887); ob. Baumann; Manchon. Prob. ex preceding, with a pun on (silly) cool.

sea-crab. A sailor: nautical: ca. 1780–1890. Grose, 1st ed.; 'Jon Bee,' 1823; Baumann. Cf. scaly fish, q.v.

sea-galopper. A special correspondent: naval coll.: C. 20; ob. The Army and Navy Gazette, July 13, 1901, 'These sea-gallopers—to use Lord Spencer's historical designation.'

sea-grocer. A purser: a nautical nickname: from ca. 1860; ob. Smyth, 1867.

sea-lawyer. A shark; esp. a tiger-shark: coll. nickname: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal. (N.B., sea-attorney, the ordinary brown shark, is a mere derivative—and S.E.)—2. A grey suapper: id. (— 1876). O.E.D.—3. Ex sense 1 a. captious and argumentative, or a scheming, fo'c's'le hand: nautical coll.: 1848, C. C. Clifford (O.E.D.); Smyth, 1867. (Cf. bush-lawyer, q.v.) Whence sea-lawyering, such behaviour: mid-C. 19–20.

Sea-Orphan. H.M.S. Seraphim: naval: C. 20. Bowen. By 'Hobson-Jobson'.

sea-pheasant. A bloater or a kipper: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sea-pork. The flesh of young whales: id.: id. Ibid.

sea-rover. A herring: mostly London (— 1890). Gen. in a doorstep and a sea-rover, a slice of bread and a herring, and doorsteps and (a) sea-rover, a herring sandwich, as in Whitting's No. 5 John Street, 1899.

sea-toss. 'A toss overboard into the sea' (Century Dict.): coll.: late C. 19–20.

sea-wag. An ocean-going vessel: nautical: late C. 19–20; ob.

sea William. A civilian: naval: ca. 1800–50. Marryat. (Warc.)

seagly. See Sedgley curse.

seagull. 'An old sailorman retired from the sea': nautical: late C. 19–20; ob. Bowen.—2. Chicken: Royal Naval College, Dartmouth: C. 20. Ibid.

seal. A preacher's convert: ecclesiastical: ca. 1850–80. Conybeare, 1853. Either ex set one's seal to or ex under (one's) seal. Cf. own, q.v.

seal, v. To impregnate (a woman): C. 19–20; ob. Cf. sew up.

sealer. 'One that gives Bonds and Judgments for Goods and Money,' B.E.: c.: late C. 17–early 19. Shadwell, Grose. Also known as squeeze-wax.

seals. Testicles: C. 19–20; ob. Because they seal a sexual bargain.

seam. See white seam.

seam-squirrel. A louse: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons. Body-lice make for the seams of one's clothes.

seaman if he carries a millstone will have a quail out of it, a. A mid-C. 17–mid. 18 semi-proverbial c.p. alluding to the ingenuity displayed by sailors as regards meat and drink. Ray.

seaman's disgrace. A foul anchor: nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

sear; sere. The female pudend: coll.: late C. 16-17. Partly ex sear, the touch-hole of a pistol, and partly ex light (or tickle) of the sear or sere, wanton.

search. (Of a pickpocket) to rob (a person): o.: C. 20. David Hume.

search me! or you can (or may) search me! I don't know: c.p.: C. 20 (U.S., anglicised by 1910); slightly ob. by 1935. (Sc.—but you won't find it.) searcher. A searching question, an embarrassing problem: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

seaside moths. Bed vermin: middle classes' (— 1909); ob. Ware.

seasoner. A person in the fashion: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

seat. A rider: sporting coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Ex have a good seat (in the saddle).

seat of honour, shame, vengeance. The posteriors; jocular coll. (in C. 20 ob.): resp. 1792, Wolcot (adumbrated in Bailey's Erasmus, 1725); 1821, Combe, and rare; 1749, Smollett,—likewise rare. Ex the fact that 'he was commonly accounted the most honourable that was first seated, and that this honour was commonly done to the posteriors' (Bailey).

seat of magistracy. 'Proctor's authority', Egan's Grose: Oxford University: ca. 1820-50.

seat, hot. See hot seat.

Seats Bill. Redistribution (of Seats) Bill: political coll.: 1884. Baumann.

Sebastianist. A Mr Micawber, one who believes that something good will turn up some day: coll. (late C. 19-20) among the English Colony at Lisbon. Ex the Portuguese. In 1578, King Sebastian was defeated in Morocco and never again heard of; but half Portugal, refusing to credit his death, believed that he would return and lead them to victory.

sec. A second: coll.: from ca. 1880. Orig.—ca. 1860 (Ware)—a mere abbr.—2. A secretary: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

secetary or -try. Incorrect pronunciation of secretary: C. 18-20.

second; third. Second mate; third mate: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Often in address, as in 'Go easy, third!'

second dickey. The second mate: nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

second fiddle. See fiddle.

second greaser. 'Second mate under sail': nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

second-hand sun. Refracted sunlight: poor peoples' coll. (— 1909). Ware.

second-hand woman. A widow: Army in India: 1859-ca. 1900. Ware.

second-liker. A second (e.g. drink) like—the same as—the first: taverns': 1884; slightly ob. Ware.

second mate's nip. 'A full measure of liquor': nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

second over the head. Rather worse than the first: Conway cadets': late C. 19-20. John Masfield, The Conway, 1933.

second peal. See peal.

second picture. The 'tableau upon the rising of the curtain to applause, after it has fallen at the end of an act, or a play': theatrical coll.: 1885. Ware.

second-timer. A prisoner convicted for the second time: coll.: late C. 19-20.

seconds up! Second helpings available: Canadian Army cooks' c.p. in G.W. (B. & P.)

secret, in the grand. Dead: coll.: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. join the great majority and contrast:

secret, let into the. Swindled, e.g. at horse-racing, sports, games: late C. 17-early 19: c. >, ca. 1730, s. B.E., Grose. Contrast preceding entry.

sect. Sex: C. 13-20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. until ca. 1850; then low coll. till C. 20, when sol. unless deliberately humorous. Cf. persuasion, q.v.

Sedgley (occ. Seagly) curse. A semi-proverbial coll. of ca. 1620-1840. Fletcher, ca. 1625, 'A seagly curse light on him, which is, Pedro: The feind ride through him booted, and spurd, with a Sythe at's back'; Ray; Defoe; Scott. Ex a town in Staffordshire; but I cannot improve on Apperson's 'I know not why'.

see, v.i. To coit: low s. verging on c., for it is a prostitutes' word: C. 19-20 (? ob.). Also see stars lying on one's back.—2. Saw (in all persons, both numbers): sol.: C. 19-20. Cf. seed and seen.—3. To bet (a person); call his bluff: cotton-factors' (— 1909). Ware. Ex the v. see in the game of poker.

see, I. I agree or understand (as comment on an explanation or an argument): coll.: C. 19-20.

see a man or, occ., a friend(, go and). To have a drink: late C. 19-20 (Lyll), as is see a man about a dog, loosely in same sense, properly to visit a woman sexually.

see about it, I'll. A coll. evasion: mid-C. 19-20.

see and (another v.) To take care to (do something): coll.: from ca. 1760; slightly ob. Mrs F. Sheridan, ca. 1766, 'David . . . told me he'd see and get me another every jot as pretty,' O.E.D.

see as far into a millstone (or milestone) as . . . See millstone, look.—see candles. See see stars.

see (a person) coming. To impose on; esp., to charge too much: coll.: late C. 19-20. Gen. in some such phrase as 'He saw you coming,' i.e. saw you were gullible and so took advantage of you. Perhaps ex the Fr. voir quelqu'un venir, see one's drift.

see him (her, etc.) damned or further or hanged or to hell or the devil first, I'll. I certainly don't or won't agree to his proposal, etc.: coll.: resp. 1631, Heywood; mid-C. 19-20; 1596, Shakespeare; C. 19-20. (O.E.D.)

see home. See home, see.

see London. See show London.

see off. To 'tell off', reprimand, scold severely. from ca. 1912. Ernest Raymond, The Jesting Army, 1930. Cf. see home, q.v. at home, see.

see one's aunt. To defecate: euphemistic s. > coll.: mid-C. 19-20; ob.

see-otches. See seeo.

see stars or spots or candles. To be dazed: coll.: resp. late C. 19-20 (The Century Dict., 1891), mid-C. 19-20, and mid-C. 18-mid-19. Smollett, 1749, 'He . . . made me see more candles than ever burnt in Solomon's temple'; Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 1924, "'Per ardua ad astra," "Through hard knocks we shall see stars."' see stars lying on one's back. See see, I. see the breeze. To enjoy the fresh air (on a heath): Cockneys': ca. 1877-1900. Ware. Cf. taste the sun, q.v.

see the devil. To become drunk : mid-C. 19–20 ; ob.

see the king. To be very experienced, knowing, alert : ca. 1870–90. H., 5th ed. An English modification of the orig. U.S. to have seen the elephant (see elephant).

see things. To experience hallucinations : coll. : late (? mid) C. 19–20.

see through. To 'get through' (a meal) : coll. : 1863 (O.E.D.) ; slightly ob.

seed, see'd. Saw : (dial. and) sol. : C. 18–20. Foote, 1752 (O.E.D.)—2. Seen : id., id. Pegge, Anecdotes of the English Language, 'The common people of London . . . will say, for instance,—"I see'd him yesterday"; and "he was see'd again to-day."' (O.E.D.)—3. seed in lawn tennis is S.E.

seed, run to. See run to seed.

seed-plot. The female pudend : C. 19–20 (ob.) : coll. verging on S.E.

seedy. Of a 'shady' character : low : ca. 1780–1910. G. Parker, 'A queer procession of seedy brims and kids'; Baumann. Ex seedy, shabby. (In other senses—shabby, almost penniless, in poor health—perhaps orig. coll. ; out the O.E.D. does not think so.) seedy(-boy). A Negro : Anglo-Indian coll. : mid-C. 19–20. Also sidi(-boy). Ironically ex Urdu sidi, my lord.

seek others and lose oneself. To play the fool : coll. : late C. 16–17. Florio.

Seeley's pigs. Pig iron, orig. and properly in Government dockyards : nautical : ca. 1870–1910. H., 5th ed. Ex Mr Seeley, the M.P. for Lincoln, who revealed that some of the yards were half-paved with iron pigs : cf. the use in the G.W., of boxes of ammunition and bully-beef as trench-flooring,—for which, however, there was often justification.

seem to, cannot or could not. See cannot seem to.

seems to me. Apparently : coll. : 1888, 'John Strange Winter,' 'Seems to me women get like dogs—they get their lessons pretty well fixed in their minds after a time,' O.E.D.

seen dead with, (he, I, etc.) would not be. I detest (properly a person, loosely a thing) ; it, he, etc., is disgusting : coll. : late C. 19–20. Lyell.

seen the elephant. See elephant. (Ware's sense was not adopted.)

seen. Saw (all persons, both numbers) : sol. : late C. 18–20. Cf. see (2), seed.

seco (occ. see-o). Shoes : back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. (Instead of seohs.) Baumann records the form see-otches.

seer. An eye (gen. the seer) : c. (— 1785) > low s. ; very ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. :

sees. The eyes : c. or low s. : from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal. ; Moore, 1819, 'To close up their eyes—alias, to sew up their sees,' in a boxing context. Cf. seer and daylights.

seething. (In surgery) a seton : low coll. (latterly, sol.) : C. 19–20. O.E.D.

segnotic. Incorrect for stegnotic (ca. 1670–1750), as seisant (C. 17) is for sejant. O.E.D.

seldom reaches destination. A c.p. parallel with soon run dry, q.v. (B. & P.)

Selborne's Light Horse. Short-service ratings under Lord Selborne's scheme : naval : G.W. Bowen. Ex discipline of certain Light Horse units in the Boer War.

self, be. (E.g. be himself.) To be in one's normal health or state of mind : coll. : 1849, Macaulay ; The Daily News, May 23, 1883, on a cricket match, 'Mr Grace was all himself.' Also, late C. 19–20 (very rarely of things), to feel like (e.g. one-self). Cf. be one's own man or woman : see own.—2. Hence, of things, be in its usual place : mid-C. 19–20.—3. self and company (or wife, etc., etc.) is jocular coll., excusable only as a jocularly : late C. 19–20. O.E.D. ; Fowler.

sell. A successful deception, hoax or swindle (the latter rare in C. 20) : 1850, Smedley. Ex the v.—2. Hence, a planned hoax, deception, swindle : from ca. 1860.—3. Ex sense 1,—a (great) disappointment : 1860, H., 2nd ed. ; 1874, Mrs H. Wood, 'It's an awful sell . . . no hunting, and no shooting, and no nothing.'

sell, v. To take in, deceive ; impose on, trick, swindle (these more serious senses being somewhat rare in C. 20) : C. 17–20. Jonson, 1607, Volpone, 'When bold, each tempts the other again, and all are sold'; Smedley ; 'Rolf Boldrewood'. Prob. ex sell, to betray (a person, cause, party, or country).—2. See sold out and sold up.

sell (a person) a pup. See pup, sell a.

sell (a person) blind. To deceive or swindle utterly : c. (— 1887). Baumann.

sell-out. A contest for which all the seats are sold : sporting coll. : from ca. 1930. G. Simpson, in The Daily Mail, Dec. 1, 1934, 'The interest in McAvoy's fight with Kid Tunero . . . is so great that . . . the match is a sure sell-out.'

sell the pass. To give away an advantage to one's opponent(s) : coll. : C. 20. Ex mountain warfare.

seller ; sellinger. A selling race (one in which the winner must be auctioned) : sporting coll. : from ca. 1921. O.E.D. (Sup.)

selopas. Apples : back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. (A few back s. terms are only in the pl. : cf. pinurt pots, seco, spinsrap, starps, stoob, q.v.)

s'elp (loosely, selp). So help, esp. in s'elp me God : C. 14–20 : S.E. until C. 19, then coll. ; in C. 20, almost a sol. Kipling, 1888, 'S'elp me, I believe 'e's dead,' O.E.D. Cf. swelp and :

s'elp me Bob (bob)! So help me God ! : low coll. : from ca. 1840. Barham ; J. Payn ; 'Pomes' Marshall. Cf. preceding entry and s'elp my greens.

s'elp me never ! 'May God never help me if I lie now' (Ware) : low (— 1909). Ware.

s'elp my greens ! So help me God ! : low coll. : ca. 1850–1910. Mayhew. Obviously greens (q.v., however) jocularly varies Bob, which itself euphemises or perverts God. See preceding three entries and swelp and swop my Bob !

semi-bejan. See bejan.

semi-quotes. Single (instead of double) quotation-marks : coll. : world of books, esp. and orig. printing : late C. 19–20. See quotes.

seminary. The female pudend : mid-C. 19–20 ; ob. Punning seminary, a school, college, etc., and semen = liquor seminale.

semoletta. Incorrect for semoletta, a variety of semolina : mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D. semper. A Winchester term explained by Mansfield (1866) in reference to ca. 1840 as 'A very common prefix ; e.g. a boy was said to be semper continent, tardy . . . if he was often at Sick House, or late for Chapel . . . An official who was always at the College meetings went by the name of Semper Testis.' Ex L. semper, always. (The s., coll., and j. at Winchester, even more than at Westminster, abound in Latinisms: both schools have always been rightly famous for the excellence of the teaching given in the Ancient Classics). See also 'Winchester College slang', § 6.

senal pervitude. Penal servitude: cheap urban witticism: ca. 1900-14. Ware. In addition to the switch-over of initial letters, there is a glancing pun on senile.

send. See Coventry, daylight, flea in (one's) ear, and the next ten entries.

send for Gulliver! A Society c.p. (1887-ca. 95) on 'some affair not worth discussion. From a cascadescent incident' in Part I of Gulliver's Travels (Ware).

send for Mary Ann! An occ. variant of san-fairynn, q.v. (F. & Gibbons.)

send (a person) for yard-wide pack-thread. To despatch on a fool's errand: coll.: ca. 1800-60. Apperson.

send in. To drive in: ca. 1810-60. Lex. Bal., 'Hand down the jemmy and send it in; apply the crow to the door, and drive it in.'

send it down, David! See David!, send it down.

send me !; or simply send ! An 'exclamation of surprise, amusement, annoyance, etc.': Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Perhaps abbr. send me to blazes!

send-off. A God-speed: coll.: orig. (1872), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1875.—2. Hence, a start in life, in business, etc.: 1894, A. Morrison, 'A good send-off in the matter of clothes.'—3. Occ. as adj.: 1876, Besant & Rice, 'A beautiful send-off notice.'

send round. C. 20. coll. a, v.t. to send to someone near-by; b, v.i. to send a message to a neighbour. (O.E.D.)

send round the hat. See hat, send round the.

send up. To commit to prison: orig. U.S. (1852); anglicised by 1887, when Baumann recorded it without comment on its American origin. The Westminster Gazette, April 30, 1897, 'Two prisoners . . . occupied the prison-van . . . Burns was being "sent up" for wife-beating, and Tannahill for theft,' O.E.D.: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.—2. (Gen. in passive.) En masse to scoff at and mock: upper- and middle-class coll. (—1931). Lyell, 'He was sent up unmercifully by half the room.' Ex the Public School j, to send (a boy) to the headmaster for punishment.

sender. A severe blow: from ca. 1890; ob. Perhaps ex send spinning.

seneschance. Incorrect for seneschalsy, a seneschal's territory (C. 16); senical for sinical (C. 17-18). O.E.D.

senior. See junior.

Senior, the. The United Service Club in London: naval and military: C. 20. Bowen.

sensation. Half a glass of sherry: Australian: ca. 1859-1890. (O.E.D.) Prob. ex sense 3, though this is recorded later.—2. In England, a quartern of gin: 1859, H., 1st ed.; † by 1920.—3. A (very) small quantity, esp. of liquor, occ. of food, rather rarely of other things: mid-C. 19-20: coll. Lit., just so much as can be perceived by the senses; cf. the French souppçon.

[sensational, adopted from U.S.A. ca. 1870, is, in its exhaustion by journalists and crude authors, on the border-line between S.E. cliché and s. Ware.]

sense, it stands to. It stands to reason, it's only sensible: coll.: 1859, George Eliot (O.E.D.). Ex † it is to (good) sense on it stands to reason.

sensual; -ity. 'Obstinately self-willed' 'self-willed obstinacy': catachrestic: ca. 1520-90. O.E.D., which also notes sententiary wrongly used by Lytton for a sententious discourse.

sent. Sent to prison: lower classes' coll.: late C. 19-20. The People, March 20, 1898. (Ware.)

sent ashore. Marooned: nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.—2. Dismissed from the service: naval: C. 20. Ibid.

sent for, be. To be done for; to be dead (has been sent for) or dying, doomed to die (is sent for): C. 20, esp. in the Army.

sent to the skies. Killed, murdered: lower-middle class's (—1909); † by 1920, the G.W. intervening. Ware.

sent up, be. See send up, 2.—sententiary. See sensual.

Sentimental Club, the. The Athenæum: literary: ca. 1890-1915. Is this prompted by a jealousy that imputes to the members a 'mushy' anecdote?

sentimental hairpin. 'An affected, insignificant girl': Society: ca. 1880-1900. Ware.

sentimental journey, arrive at the end of the. To coït with a woman: from ca. 1870; very ob. F. & H. says 'common' (i.e. used by the lower classes): should not this be read as 'cultured'? Ex the conclusion of Sterne's Sentimental Journey, 'I put out my hand and caught hold of the fille-de-chambre's —. FINIS.' The unworldly postulate 'hand'; the worldly, 'c': to those who know their Sterne, verb. sap.

sentiments !, them's my. That's what I think about it: jocular c.p.: C. 20. (Galsworthy, Swan Song, 1928.)

sentinel. A candle used at a wake. Anglo-Irish coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Punningly: because it keeps watch.

sentry, on. Drunk: rather low: ca. 1885-1914. Ex on sentry-go: but why? Perhaps home-service sentries are tempted to take a tot too many in the laudable desire to keep out the cold on night-duty.

sentry-box, Chelsea Hospital to a. See Chelsea Hospital.

separate; but extremely rare in the singular. A period of separate confinement in prison, esp. during the first year of a sentence: from ca. 1860: prison c. >, ca. 1890, low s. >, ca. 1920, coll. The Cornhill Magazine, 1862, vol. vi, p. 640; Anon., Five Years' Penal Servitude, 1877. Abbr. separate confinement.

separate between. Catachrestic for distinguish between or, occ., separate (one thing) from (another): ? before C. 20. E.g. Freeman Wills Crofts, Mystery in the Channel, 1931, 'He had . . . to separate between what was essential and what was accidental.' separate (or, occ., private) peace, I'll make a or I think I'll make a. A wistfully jocular soldiers' c.p. of 1917-18. B & P.

separates. The period (often three months) served in a local prison by one condemned to penal servitude before he begins that servitude: c. (—1932). 'Stuart Wood', Shadows of the Prison House. Ex separate, q.v.

Sepoy. Any Indian foot-soldier, esp. an infantryman: Regular Army coll.: late C. 19-20. B. & P.

septa- is incorrect for septua- in septuagenary, etc.; septual, for septal. O.E.D.

septic. Sceptic: jocular: C. 20. (The author first heard it in 1912.)—2. Unpleasant; objectionable: from ca. 1930. (H. A. Vachell, Moonhills. 1934.) Suggested by poisonous, q.v.

sepulchre. A large, flat cravat: London middle classes: ca. 1870–85. Ware. Ex the 'sins' it covered.

seraglietto. 'A lowly, sorry Bawdy-house, a meer Dog-hole,' B.E.: coll.: late C. 17–18. A diminutive of:

seraglio. A brothel: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Ex seraglio, a harem, though seraglio itself was orig. incorrect when used for serai, a Turkish palace. (The term > gen. ca. 1750 with Mrs Goadby, 'the great Goadby', who kept an excellent house in Berwick Street, Soho: Beresford Chancellor, Pleasure Haunts of London.)

serang. See head serang.—sere. See sear.—serene, -eno. See all serene, -eno.

serg(e). See sarga, sarge.—2. A tunic: Regular Army: C. 20. B. & P.

sergeant. See come.—2. A commander: naval: C. 20. Ex 'the similarity of his three gold stripes to a Marine sergeant's chevron' (Bowen). Contrast major.—3. sergeant I, kiss me. (Occ. kiss me, corporal I, if a corporal is deputising for a sergeant.) A military c.p. of C. 20. Meant to annoy and gen. uttered during the sergeant's final rounds of barracks, tents, etc. Either derisive of nursemaids' invitations or, less prob., reminiscent of Nelson's kiss me, Hardy.

Sergeant Kite or Snap. A recruiting sergeant: allusive coll.: from ca. 1850. H., 3rd ed.: ob. by 1900; † by 1920.

sergeant-major. A fat loin of mutton: butchers': late C. 19–20. Ex the usual plumpness of sergeant-majors, with whom the cooks and the quartermaster's staff know that it pays to stand well.—2. 'A large piece of mutton in the rib part': butchers' (—1889). Barrère & Leland, 'From the white stripes like sergeant's stripes'.—3. A zebra: South African: C. 20. Pettman, 'On account of its very distinct stripes'.—4. In the game of crown and anchor, the crown: military: C. 20. Often the (good) old sergeant-major. F. & Gibbons; B. & P.—5. In c., dating from ca. 1840 but now ob.: 'a large cold-chisel . . . for cutting through metal plates', p. 422 of 'No. 747', The Autobiography of a Gipsy, 1891,—the reference valid for 1845.—6. (Also sergeant-major's.) Tea; orig., strong tea esp. if good, then tea drunk between meals: military: from ca. 1910. B. & P. (The S.M. could get tea almost whenever he desired it.) sergeant-major's brandy and soda. A gold-laced stable jacket: military: ca. 1885–1914. Barrère & Leland.

sergeant-major's tea. Tea with sugar and milk; esp. tea laced with rum: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Ex sergeant-major, 6.

sergeant-major's wash-cat. A new kit: cavalry: ca. 1885–1910. Barrère & Leland.—2. A troop's store-man: ca. 1885–1914. Ibid. ? because he supplied a basin.

Sergeant Snap. See Sergeant Kite.

Seringy. The Blackwall frigate Seringapatam: naval: mid-C. 19. Bowen.

serpent, stung by a. Got with child: coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

serpent by the tail, hold a. To act foolishly: coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Ray, 1813.

Serpentiners. Those who like (?) to bathe in the Serpentine when it is icy: from ca. 1925.

serpently. (Only in dialogue.) Certainly: jocu-lar: ca. 1930–35. Dorothy Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933.

serræform. Rare error for serriform, C. 19. O.E.D.

serried. Serrated: catachresis: C. 19. Ibid.

serve. A service in lawn tennis: coll.: C. 20. Ex the v.

serve, v. To treat in a specified—and, gen., unpleasant or inequitable—manner: C. 13–20: S.E. until 1850, then—except in formal contexts—coll. (O.E.D.)—2. To rob, thus 'I served him for his thimble,' I robbed him of his watch: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux.—3. To convict and sentence: c.: from ca. 1810; ob.—4. To injure, wound, treat roughly: c.: ca. 1810–90. Vaux. Cf. serve out and out and serve out.—5. To serve a term of imprisonment: criminals' coll. (rather than c.): late C. 19–20. Ware.—6. 'To impose a punishment': Bootham School coll.: late C. 19–20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang. Cf. service.

serve (a person) glad. See glad, serve.

serve-out. An issue (of, e.g. clothes): naval coll.: C. 20. Cf. fit to bust a double ration serve-out of navy-serge.

serve out, v. To take revenge on, to punish; retaliate on (a person) for . . . : from ca. 1815: boxing s. >, ca. 1830, gen. coll. The Sporting Magazine, 1817, 'The butcher was so completely served out, that he resigned all pretensions to victory,' O.E.D. By 'an ironic application of nautical serve out (grog, etc.)', W.—2. To smash (a fence): hunting s.: 1862 (O.E.D.).

serve out and out. To kill: c. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux. Cf. serve out.

serve out slops. To administer punishment at the gangway: naval: ca. 1830–90. Bowen. Cf. serve out, 1, q.v.

serve right. Coll. only in (and) serve (e.g. you right I, and serves (e.g. you) right I, which indicate satisfaction that someone has got his deserts: from ca. 1830. Dickens, 1837, 'Workhouse funeral—serve him right,' O.E.D.

serve the poor with a thump on the back with a stone. To be a miser: semi-proverbial coll.: ca. 1670–1750; Ray.

serves you right! See serve right.

Servia(n). An incorrect form, very gen. until 1914, of Serbia(n): C. 19–20. Ex native Serb. 'Perhaps due to some vague association between Slavs and serfs,' W. service. An imposition: Bootham School: late C. 19–20; 'practically obsolete', says the anon. Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

service about, sling one's. See sling one's service about.—service-book, to have eaten one's. See teethward.

service lay. The 'dodge' by which one hires oneself out as a servant and then robs the house: c.: C. 18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

-ses, for -s, the sign of the pl., is frequent in illiterate speech: C. 19 (? earlier)–20. Mayhew, 1861, 'You wants to know if them rowses is common.'

sessions. To commit (one) to the sessions for trial: 1857, Mayhew. O.E.D. sessions! Well, I'm blowed!: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex dial. sessions, a fuss, disturbance, argument, difficulty, task (E.D.D.). set. Abbr. dead set (see set, dead): 1829, The Examiner (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1860, coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.

set, v. To sit, be seated: C. 13–20: S.E. until C. 19, then low coll.; in C. 20, sol. except in dial.—2. To sit, lie, in fig. senses: C. 15–20: S.E. until C. 19, then low coll.; in C. 20 (except in dial.), sol. Anon., 1803, 'A disappointment that ought not to set very heavily on her mind,' O.E.D.—3. V.t., to fix on as prey or victim; to watch with a view to robbing; make a set at: from ca. 1670: perhaps orig. c., as also in late C. 19–20 Australian. Gay, in The Beggar's Opera, 1727, 'There will be deep play to-night at Marybone, . . . I'll give you the hint who is worth setting,' O.E.D.—4. 'To attack; to regard with disfavour,' C. J. Dennis: low Australian (—1916). Cf. set, dead, 3, q.v., and set, have.

set, adj.; gen. all set. Ready and willing; thoroughly prepared: coll.: C. 20: mostly Australian. Prob. ex S.E. sense, carefully arranged in advance.—2. Cf. the late C. 17–18 all set applied to 'disparate fellows, ready for any kind of mischief' (Duncombe).—3. See set, have.

set, dead. Esp. in make a dead set at. 'Dead Set, a Term used by Thief-catchers when they have a Certainty of seizing some of their Clients,' A New Canting Dict., 1725: † by 1850.—2. Also, ca. 1780–1860, 'a concerted scheme to defraud a person by gaming', Grose, 1st ed.: like sense 1, it is c.—3. The extant senses—a determined onslaught, an incessant attempt, and (in sport) an abrupt stop—date from ca. 1820, derive from those two c. senses, and are gen. considered S.E.: prob., however, they were orig. coll.

set, have (a person). 'To have [him] marked down for punishment or revenge,' C. J. Dennis: low (esp. in Australia): C. 20. Cf. set, v., 4, and set, dead, qq.v.—2. To get the better of; take at a disadvantage: low: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

set about. To attack, set upon: coll.: 1879, Horsley, 'He set about me with a strap till he was tired,' O.E.D. set back. To cost (a person) so much: U.S., anglicised by 1932, via 'the talkies'. (O.E.D. Sup.)

set-down. A sit-down meal: tramps' c. (—1932). F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps.

set (something) in a crack. To settle (a matter) quickly; e.g. set a bet in a crack, to wager smartly at two-up; be set in a crack, (of persons) to be comfortably placed (lit. or fig.), to be very pleased with circumstances: New Zealanders': from the 1890's. Perhaps ex the idea of doing a thing as sharply as the crack of a whip.

set jewels; gen. as vbl.n., setting jewels. To purloin the best parts of a little-known (esp. if clever) book for incorporation in a new work by another author: literary coll.: 1873, when originated by Charles Reade à propos of a flagrant instance published at Christmas, 1872; ob. H., 5th ed.; Baumann.

set-me-up, often preceded by young. One who sets himself up to be somebody: often pejoratively: late C. 19–20. Ian Hay, David and Destiny, 1934.

set-out. A set or display of china, plate, etc.: coll.: 1806, J. Beresford.—2. (Of food) a 'spread': coll.: 1809, Malkin.—3. A 'turn-out', i.e. a carriage 'and all': a mainly sporting coll.: from ca. 1810.—4. A person's costume or manner of dressing (cf. rig-out, q.v.); an outfit, equipment: coll.: from ca. 1830.—5. A public show or performance; 'an entertainment for a number of people'; a party: coll.: 1818, Lady Morgan.—6. Hence, a company or a set of people: from ca. 1850: coll.

(—As a beginning (1821), set-out is rather S.E. than coll.) O.E.D.—7. A to-do or fuss: (low) coll. late C. 19–20. D. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'Coo! that was a set-out, that was.'

set the hare's head to the goose giblets. To balance matters, to give as good as one gets: coll.: C. 17—early 18. Dekker & Webster.

set the swede down. To have a (short) sleep: military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Ex the resemblance of a large Swede turnip to a man's head. Cf. couch a hog'shead.

set-up. Bearing, carriage, port: coll. (slightly ob.): 1890, T. C. Crawford.

set up, v. To sit up late: late C. 17–20: S.E. till C. 20, then coll.; in C. 20,—except in dial.—it is sol. Cf. set, v., 1.

set-up, adj. Conceited: coll. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20.

set up for, be. To be well supplied with: coll.: 1863, Mrs Henry Wood, 'I'm set up for cotton gownds,' O.E.D. Ex S.E. set up, to establish or to equip in business, etc.

setaceous. Incorrect for cetaceous, C. 17–18; setaceous, for setaceous, C. 19. O.E.D.

sets-off, -out, -to. Incorrect for set-offs, -outs, -tos, nn.: C. 19–20. Even -off's, -out's, -to's are catachrestic.

setta; occ. setter. Seven; sevenpence: Parlyaree (—1859). H., 1st ed. Ex It. sette.

setter. See setta.—2. An enticer to liquor or gambling; a confederate of swindlers or sharpers: c.: late C. 16–17. Greene, 1592; ob. Ex the dog.—3. Hence, a person used by criminals to watch intended victims: c.: from ca. 1640; ob. Memoirs of John Hall. (O.E.D.)—4. Hence, 'a Sergeant's Yeoman, or Bailiff's Follower, or Second, and an Excise-Officer to prevent the Brewers defrauding the King', B.E.: c. of late C. 17—early 19. Grose, 1st ed. Also setting-dog (B.E.).—5. A police spy; an informer to the police: from ca. 1630: S.E. until ca. 1850, then c. and low s. Barrère & Leland. (O.E.D.)—6. A runner-up of prices: late C. 17–20 (ob.): mostly among auctioneers.—7. Only in combination, as in 'a long four setter' (Sir Gordon Lowe, in Lowe's Lawn Tennis Annual, 1935), i.e. a four-set match: lawn tennis coll.: from 1933.

setter, clock-. One who, to shorten a spell of duty, tampers with the clock: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob.—2. Hence, a 'sea-lawyer': late C. 19–20 (ob.): nautical.

setting-dog. See setter, 4.—setting jewels. See set jewels.

settle. To stun, finish, knock down: C. 17–20: S.E. until ca. 1750, then coll. Grose, 1st ed.; Dickens; Kipling. (O.E.D.)—2. To give (a person) a life-sentence: c.: mid-C. 19–20. Ca. 1850–70, it also = to transport as a convict, as in 'Ducange Anglicus' and H., 1st ed. Cf. winded-settled, q.v.

settle (a person's) hash. See hash, settle one's.

settlement-in-tail. An act of generation: legal: C. 19–20; ob. (Pun.)

settler. A parting drink: mid-C. 18–20; ob. M. Bishop, 1744 (O.E.D.). Because it is supposed to 'stabilise' the stomach.—2. A crushing remark: coll.: from ca. 1815.—3. A knock-down blow: coll.: 1819, Moore, 'He tipp'd him a settler.'—4. Hence, any 'finisher' whatsoever: from ca. 1820: coll.

Settler's Bible, the. The Grahamstown Journal:

South Africans' from ca. 1860; ob. Pettman. Cf. saint, 4, and City of the Saints, qq.v.

seven, all in the. To be expected; (as) a matter of course: military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons, 'In allusion to the soldier's term of service [seven years] with the Colours.'

seven, be more than. To be wide-awake; knowing: coll.: from ca. 1875; slightly ob. A music-hall song of ca. 1876 was entitled You're More Than Seven; Gissing, 1898. Occ. more than twelve.

Seven and Sixpennies, the. The 76th Foot (the 2nd Battalion Duke of Wellington's): military: C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons, 'From the figures of the number, and . . . seven and sixpence, a lieutenant's pay per diem.'

seven bells out of a man, knock. To knock him out; give him a thrashing: nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

Seven Dials raker. A harlot 'who never smiles out of the Dials'; London costers' (-1909); very ob. Ware.

seven(-)pennorth; sevenpence. Seven years' penal transportation: c. of ca. 1820-70. Egan (sevenpence); Bee and H. (1st ed.) (seven pennorth). —2. (seven-penn(y)worth.) Seven days' confinement to barracks: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

seven-sided animal. (U.S. variant, C. 19, s.-s. son of a bitch.) 'A one-eyed man or woman, each having a right side and a left side, a foreshide and a backside, an outside, an inside, and a blind side,' Grose, 2nd ed.: low jocular, also Somersetshire dial.: ca. 1785-1890. H., 5th ed.

seven-times-seven man. A 'hypocritical religionist': proletarian-satirical (-1909); ob. Ware. Perhaps seven-times-seven is meant to rhyme heaven.

seven ways for Sunday, looking. See looking seven ways . . .

seven years are the worst, the first; often prefaced with cheer up! A military c.p. of late 1915-18. B. & P., 'Usually either Job's comfort to a grouser or a whimsical encouragement to oneself.'

sevendible. Very 'severe, strong, or sound': Northern Ireland: mid-C. 19-20. 'Derived from sevendouble—that is, sevenfold—and . . . applied to linen cloth, a heavy beating, a harsh reprimand, &c.,' H., 3rd ed. Coll. rather than s., as in the adv. sevendibly: same period (E.D.D.).

severer. A criminal sentenced to seven years: coll.: from the 1890's.

sevenpence. See seven(-)pennorth.

several is occ. used very loosely as in the following excerpt from an academic foreword of 1929: 'We are also indebted to Professor [—] for reading through our manuscript and making several helpful suggestions, most of which we have adopted.' Admittedly common in dial., but elsewhere it is catachrestic.

severe. Excellent; very large or strong or hard to beat: orig. (1834) U.S. (esp. Kentucky), anglicised ca. 1850. De Quincey in 1847 refers to it as 'Jonathan's phrase.' O.E.D.

severe dig or prod. A reprimand from a senior (officer): military coll.: from 1915. B. & P. severely. Greatly, excessively: coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Whyte-Melville. Ex severe, q.v.

Seville, learn manners in. To learn respectable though somewhat childish manners: coll. (-1923). Manchon. By a pun on civil.

sewed in his blanket. Dead and buried: naval and military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

sew up. To impregnate (a woman): coll. C. 19-20; ob.—2. See sewed up, 1-8.

sew up a person's stocking. To silence, confute: coll.: 1859, C. Reade; ob.

sewed(-)up; occ. sewn up. Pregnant: coll. (not upper nor middle class): C. 19-20; slightly ob.—2. Exhausted: from ca. 1825 (orig. of horses; not till 1837 of persons): as in Dickens's Pickwick; Smedley, 1850, 'I thought she'd have sewn me up at one time—the pace was terrific': slightly ob.—3. Cheated, swindled: 1838, Haliburton (O.E.D.). —4. At a loss, nonplussed, brought to a standstill: 1855, Smedley; 1884, Clark Russell; slightly ob.—5. Severely punished; esp. with 'banged-up' eyes: boxing: from ca. 1860; ob.—6. (Ex senses 2, 7.) Sick: late C. 19-20; slightly ob.—7. Drunk: 1829, Buckstone, 'This liquid . . . will sew him up'; ob.—8. Grounded: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Also sued up.

sewer. The Metropolitan and Metropolitan District Railways: late C. 19-early 20: London.

sewer, common. An indiscriminate tippler: coll. bordering on S.E.: C. 19-20.—2. The throat: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Cf. red lane, q.v.

sewers. East London Railway shares: Stock Exchange: ca. 1895-1910. Cf. sewer.

sewn up. A variant of sewed up (q.v.), esp. in senses 4, 6, 7.

sexa. Incorrect for sex(i). in a few scientific terms: late C. 19-20. O.E.D.

Sexton Blake. The provost sergeant: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex a detective of fiction popular early in the century.

sexy. A sexual offender, esp. against children: police coll.: from ca. 1910.

sey; occ. se. Variants of say, q.v.: mid-C. 19-20; se † by 1920.

sez you!; occ. says you! A derisive c.p.: orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1930. John Brophy, English Prose, 1932. See also says.

'sflesh!, 'sfoot!, 'sgad! Coll. euphemisms for God's flesh!, foot!, and Egad!: C. 18, C. 17, C. 18. (O.E.D.)

[sh for ts, as in thash for that's, is one of the commonest devices for representing the blurred speech of drunk persons. Truncations are common (cf. ri for right, as in 'All ri, ol' man'), as is the omission of a syllable in trisyllabics or longer words, and of two syllables in long words. Cf. the thickening effect of a cold in the head.]

shab. A low fellow: 1637, Bastwick; 1735, Dyche & Pardon, 'Shab, a mean, sorry, pitiful Fellow, one that is guilty of low Tricks, &c'; 1851, Borrow. Ex shab, a sore. Cf. scab, n., 1, q.v.

shab, v.i. To play low or mean tricks: mid-C. 18-19; extant in dial. Johnson. Ex shab, n.—2. V.t., to rob; perhaps rather, to cheat or to deceive meanly: coll.: ca. 1780-1800. W. Hutton, 1787. O.E.D.—3. V.i., to run away: tramps' and Gypsies' c.: C. 19-20. Smart & Crofton. Cf. much older S.E. shab off, to sneak away.

shab-rag. Shabby, damaged, very worn: from ca. 1760: s. till mid-C. 19, then dial. T. Bridges (O.E.D.). Ex shab, n. The n., C. 19-20, is solely dial. Cf.:

shab(a)roon*; also shabbaroon (C. 18-19), shabberoon (C. 17-18). A ragamuffin; a mean, shabby fellow; an otherwise disreputable or a mean-spirited person: late C. 17-mid-19. B.E.; Ned Ward; Halliwell. Ex shab, n., on picaroon (O.E.D.).

shabby, cut up. See cut up rough.

Shabby Woman, the. The statue of Minerva at the portal of the Athenæum: literary: ca. 1860–1910. Ex shabby, stingy, 'for since the Athenæum Club was established, no member has ever afforded the simplest rites of hospitality to a friend', H., 3rd ed. (All that has been changed!)

shabroon. See shab(a)roon.

shabster, listed by F. & H. as a variant of shab, n., is not in the O.E.D., nor is it supported by quotation in F. & H., nor have I seen it elsewhere. Prob. genuine, but rare and of ca. 1850–1905.

shack. A misdirected or a returned letter: Post Office: late C. 19–early 20. Perhaps ex shack, 'grain fallen from the ear, and available for the feeding of pigs, poultry, etc.' (O.E.D.), or ex dial. shack, a vagabond, a worthless fellow. F. & H.

shack-per-swaw. Everyone for himself: London's East End and gen. London sporting (— 1864): † by 1930. H., 3rd ed. A corruption of Fr. chacun pour soi.

shack-stoner; occ. schack-s. A sixpence: low s., perhaps c.: ca. 1890–1910. P. H. Emerson, Signor Lippi, 1893. ? ex six-stoner.

shackle-up. A meal of stew or broth: vagrants' and tramps' c.: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Ex shackles, 2: q.v.

shackles. Remnants and scrapings of meat in a butcher's shop: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon. Prob. ex shackle, abbr. shackle-bone, a knuckle-bone.—2. Stew; meat-soup: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

shadder. A, or to, shadow: sol. pronunciation: C. 19 (? earlier)–20.

shade. A very small portion or quantity added or taken away: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex shade, 'a tinge, a minute qualifying infusion' (O.E.D.).

shade, v. To keep secret: c.: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex shade, to hide.

shadow. A new boy in the care of one who is not new (the 'substance') and learning the ropes from his temporary guardian: Westminster School: from ca. 1860. Wm. Lucas Collins, Public Schools, 1867.

shadow never grow (occ. be) less!, may your. May you prosper: a Persian phrase introduced to England by Morier in 1824 and, ca. 1880, generalised as a coll. The Referee, Jan. 2, 1887. (O.E.D.) shadwoking. A 'grotesque rendering of shadowing': Society: ca. 1900–14. Ware.

shady. Uncertain, unreliable, inefficient; unlikely to succeed: 1848, Clough (of a tutor), 'Shady in Latin,' O.E.D.: coll.; though perhaps orig. university s.—2. Hence, disreputable; not quite honest, not at all honourable: coll.: 1862, The Saturday Review, Feb. 8, 'Whose balance-sheets are "shady"?' O.E.D.

Shady Groves of the Evangelist, the. St. John's Wood, London: London: ca. 1865–1910. Punning shady, 2; once a haunt of harlots and demi-mondaines.

shady side of, on the. Older than: 1807, W. Irving, 'The younger being somewhat on the shady side of thirty,' O.E.D.: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.

shaft or a bolt of it, make a. To determine that a thing shall be used in one way or another: late C. 16–20: coll. till ca. 1660, then proverbial S.E.; in C. 19–20, merely archaic. Nashe, 1594; Isaac D'Israeli, 1823. (Apperson.)

shaft(e)sbury; S. A gallon-potful of wine with cock: s. > coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose. Presumably ex the Dorsetshire town of Shaftesbury.

shag. A copulation; also, copulation generically: C. 19–20. Ex:—2. A performer (rarely of a woman) of the sexual act, esp. in 'he is but bad shag'; he is no able woman's man', Grose, 2nd ed.: late C. 18–mid-19. Ex the v., 1, q.v.—3. 'Any coat other than an "Eton" or "tails" is a "shag"', R. Airy, Westminster, 1902 (O.E.D.): Westminster School: late C. 19–20. Ex shaggy.

shag, v.t. To coit (with a woman): late C. 18–20. Very gen. among soldiers in G.W. Grose, 2nd ed. Prob. ex † shag, to shake, toss about. Cf. n., 1, 2.—2. Whence perhaps, v.i., to masturbate: Public Schools: certainly ca. 1900 and prob. many years earlier. Cf.:

shag, adj. Exhausted, esp. after games: Marlborough College: C. 20. Perhaps ex shag, v., 2, q.v. (A thin and weedy dog that, ca. 1919–23, haunted the college precincts, was known as Shagpak or Shagphat, as Mr A. B. R. Fairclough, formerly of the Alcuin Press, tells me.)

shag, wet as a. Very wet indeed: a mainly rural coll.: from ca. 1830. Marryat (O.E.D.). Ex shag, a cormorant.

shag back. To hang back; refuse a fence: hunting coll.: from ca. 1870.

shag-bag. A poor, shabby fellow; a worthless fellow: coll.: late C. 17–20; slightly ob. B.E. Ex shake-bag on shag-rag, via cock-fighting.

shag-bag, adj. Shabby; worthless; inferior: coll.: 1888 (O.E.D.). Ex preceding.

shagger. A 'dud' boy: Public Schools': C. 20. Perhaps ex shag, v., 2.

shags, go. To get extremely tired: schoolboys': C. 20. Cf. shag, adj.

shake. A harlot: low London (— 1860). H., 2nd ed.; ob. Ex Northern dial.—Whence (or ex shake, v., 1), 2, a copulation: from ca. 1860; ob.—3. See shakes, no great.—4. Abbr. milk-shake, egg-shake, etc.: coll. (— 1903): ? orig. U.S.—5. Generic for instantaneous or very rapid action: from ca. 1815: by C. 20, coll. Esp. in a shake (late C. 19–20), in the shake of a hand (1816), in a brace (1841) or a couple (1840) of shakes, in two shakes (from ca. 1880), in the shake of a lamb's tail (— 1903) or jocularly, from ca. 1905, of a dead lamb's tail.—6. Hence, a moment: (? late C. 19–) C. 20. E. Nesbit, 1904, 'Wait a shake, and I'll undo the side gate,' O.E.D.—7. Hence also, a great shake, a very fast pace (— 1903).—8. See shakes, the.

shake, v.t. To coit (with a woman): coll.: ? C. 16–20; ob. In late C. 19–20, rare except in shake a tart. Halliwell, 'This seems to be the ancient form of shag, given by Grose' (see shag, v., 1).—2. ? hence, v. reflexive, to masturbate: C. 19–20. Cf. shag, v., 2.—3. V.t., to rob (a person): low s., or perhaps c.: C. 19–20. Lex. Bal.; in C. 20, mainly Australian. Cf. the C. 15–16 S.E. shake (a person) out of (goods, etc.).—4. (? hence) to steal: from ca. 1810: c. >, ca. 1880, low s. Vaux; H. Kingsley, 1859, 'I shook a nag, and got bowled out and lagged.' In C. 20, almost wholly Australian. See also shook.—5. See shook on.—6. See shake an elbow.—7. See:

shake! Shake hands!: from ca. 1890; mainly U.S. Often shake on it! (Other forms are very rare, except for, e.g., 'Well satisfied, they shook on it.') shake a cloth in the wind. To be hanged: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.

shake a fall. To wrestle: C. 19–20; ob. shake a flannin. To fight: navvies': ca. 1870–1914. Ware. A flannin is a flannel shirt or jacket. shake a leg. (Gen. in imperative.) To hurry: coll. (mainly military and nautical): late C. 19–20. Anstey, 1892, 'Ain't you shot enough? Shake a leg, can't yer, Jim?' Ex S.E. shake a foot, leg, etc., to dance.

shake a loose leg. To go 'on the loose': coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

shake-bag. The female pudend: low: mid-C. 19–20.

shake-buckler. A swashbuckler or bully: coll. nickname: mid-C. 16–mid-17. Becon.

shake (a person's) fleas. To thrash: low: C. 19. Ware.

shake-glim. A begging letter, or petition, on account of fire: ca. 1850–90. Cf.:

shake-lurk. The same, only for shipwreck: e. of ca. 1850–1900. Mayhew, 1851. See lurk, a dodge or 'lay'; and cf. lurker.

shake one's shambles. See shambles . . .

shake one's toe-rag. To decamp: vagabonds' and beggars' c. (– 1909). Ware. Cf. toe-ragger.

shake-out. A 'sudden revulsion and following clearance—due to panic': Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1880. Ware.

shake the bullet or red rag. See bullet and red rag.—2. To threaten to discharge a person: tailors': from ca. 1870; slightly ob.

shake the (occ. one's) elbow. To dice: C. 17–20 (ob.): coll. >, ca. 1800, S.E.

shake the ghost into. To frighten (a person) greatly: mid-C. 1920; ob.

shake the gum out of a sail. To test new canvas for the first time in bad weather: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

shake up, v.i. To masturbate: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. shag, v., 2.—2. V.t., to hurry: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex S.E. shake up, to rouse with, or as with, a shake.

shake your ears !, (go). C.p. advice to one who has lost his ears: ca. 1570–1790. G. Harvey, 1573; Shakespeare; Mrs F. Sheridan, 1764. (Apperson.) Cf. the modern crudity get the dirt out of your ears !, wake up !

shaker. A hand: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob.—2. A shirt: from the 1830's: e. >, ca. 1870, low e. Brandon; Snowden; H., 1st ed.—3. An omnibus: busmen's: from ca. 1870; rather ob. Cf. bone-shaker.—4. A beggar that pretends to have fits: c. (– 1861). Mayhew.

shakes, in a brace or couple of. See shake, n., 5.

shakes, no (occ. not any) great. Nothing remarkable or very important or unusually able or clever: from ca. 1815: coll. till C. 20, then familiar S.E. Moore, 1819, 'Though no great shakes at learned chat.' Ex dicing.

shakes, the. Any illness or chronic disease marked by trembling limbs and muscles: coll.: from the 1830's. O.E.D.—2. Hence, delirium tremens: coll.: from ca. 1880. The Cornhill Magazine, June, 1884, 'Until she is pulled up by an attack of delirium tremens, or, as she and her neighbours style it, a fit of the shakes.'—3. Hence, extreme nervousness: coll.: C. 20.

shakes ?, what. What's the chance of stealing anything: c. (– 1859). H., 1st ed.

Shakespeare-navels. A 'long-pointed, turned-down collar': London youths': ca. 1870–80. Ware. Precisely why ?

shakester. See shickster.—shaler. See sheila.

shaller dodge. See shallow dodge.

shallow. A hat: c. of ca. 1810–40. Vaux.—2. See shallow brigade, cove, dodge, mort, scriver. Perhaps ex dial. shalleygonahay, shallegonaked (i.e. shall I go naked?), used chiefly of insufficient clothing (E.D.D.).

shallow, do the ; go shallow. To practise the 'shallow dodge' (q.v.): c. (– 1887). Baumann (go shallow); P. H. Emerson (both forms). The earliest shape of the phrase is go on the shallows, H., 1st ed. Cf. run shallow.

shallow, lily-. A white whip-hat, i.e. a low-crowned one: fashionable s.: ca. 1810–40.

shallow, live. To live in discreet retirement, when wanted by the police: c.: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. Contrast shallow, do the.

shallow, run. To practise the 'shallow dodge': c. (– 1893). The Ripon Chronicle, Aug. 23, 1893, 'By running shallow I mean that he never wears either boots, coat, or hat, even in the depths of the most dismal winter.' A synonym of do the (or go) shallow.

shallow brigade. Perhaps merely a more or less literary synonym for school of shallow coves (see s. cove). Mayhew, 1851.

shallow cove ; s. fellow. C. 19–20 tramps' c. (first recorded in 1839 and now ob.), as in Brandon and in Mayhew, 1851, 'He scraped acquaintance with a "school of shallow coves"; that is, men who go about half-naked, telling frightful tales about shipwrecks, hair-breadth escapes from houses on fire, and such like . . . calamities.' Also a shivering Jemmy, q.v. Cf.:

shallowdodge. The capitalising of rags and semi-nudity: c.: 1869, Greenwood, 'A pouncing of the exposed parts with common powder blue is found to heighten the frost-bitten effect.'

shallow fellow. See shallow cove.

shallow mort or mot(t). A female practiser of the 'shallow dodge': 1842, The Edinburgh Review, July (mott); H., 1st ed. (mot). O.E.D. Cf. shallow cove, q.v.

shallow screever, scriver, etc. A man who, very meagrely dressed, sketches and draws on the pavement: c. (– 1859). H., 1st ed. See shallow and screever, n.

shallows, go on the. See shallow, do the.—shally-shally. See shilly-shally.

sham. A trick or hoax, an imposture, a fraud: 1677: orig. s., it had by 1700 > S.E. The same with the corresponding v., also in Wycherley in 1677. Prob. ex shame, n. and v.: cf. cut a sham, 'to play a Rogue's Trick', B.E. (who wrongly, as I think, classifies this phrase, along with the simple n., as c.), late C. 17–18, and upon the sham, fraudulently (late C. 17 only), and put a sham upon, to 'sell', to swindle; ca. 1680–1830,—all three, by the way, s. only for a year or two before being made S.E.—2. Hence, a false testimonial, certificate, or subscription list: e.: from ca. 1840; ob. 'No. 747.'—3. As false sleeve or shirt-front, prob. always S.E.—4. Champagne: 1849, Thackeray. Cf. the early C. 20 album c.p.: 'A bottle of champagne for my real friends; of real pain for my sham friends.' Occ. (– 1874) shammy, as in H., 5th ed.: very ob. The more gen. C. 20 term is fizz.

sham, v. To ply with, or treat oneself to, champagne: rare: from ca. 1820. Byron. (Baumann.) Cf. cham, n., 3.

sham Abra(ha)m. See Abra(ha)m. sham-legger. A man that offers to sell very cheaply goods that are very inferior: low s. (mostly London) of ca. 1870–1910.

sham the doctor. To malingering: military: from the 1890's. F. & Gibbons.

[shamateur, contrary to gen. opinion, is S.E. and it dates from ca. 1900. O.E.D. (Sup.).]

shambles, shake one's. (Gen. in imperative.) To be off: late C. 17–mid-18: either low s. or perhaps, orig. at least, c. B.E.

shambly. Shambling, lurching: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. W. E. Llewellyn has described sailors thus: 'Their hands were in a grab half-hook [i.e. as though grasping a grapnel], always, and their shoulders shamblly.'

shame. Anything very ugly, painfully indecent, disgracefully inferior: coll.: 1764, Gray, 'His nose is a shame'; 1815, Scott, 'Three [hens] that were a shame to be seen.' O.E.D.

shame, the last. Imprisonment; prison: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Euphemistic.

shaming. Shameful; 'shy-making': Society: ca. 1929–34. Evelyn Waugh, Vile Bodies, 1930, 'How too shaming.'

shammy. See sham, n., last sense.

shamrock. A prick with a bayonet: military: ca. 1850–1905. Ware.—2. See puff and dart.

shamrock, drown the. To drink or go drinking on St Patrick's Day, properly and nominally in honour of the shamrock: 1888, The Daily Telegraph, March 22, but prob. in spoken use many, many years earlier: coll. till ca. 1910, then S.E.

shan(d). Base or counterfeit coin: c. (— 1812); very ob. Vaux. Ex dial. shan, paltry. Cf. sheen, q.v.

[shandy, for shandygaff, is on the border-line between coll. and S.E.]

shanghai. To stupefy and then put on a vessel requiring hands: nautical s. (orig. U.S.) >, in C. 20, coll.: 1871 (U.S.) and 1887 (England). Ex Shanghai as seaport, or perhaps as propelled from a shanghai or catapult (shanghai, to shoot with a shanghai, is not recorded before C. 20). O.E.D.

Shanghai gentleman. One definitely not a gentleman: naval (— 1909). Ware..

Shank-End, the; hence Shankender. The Cape Peninsula; an inhabitant thereof: South African jocular coll.: late C. 19–20. Pettman. Cf. the heel of Italy.

Shanks'(s) mare, nag, naggy, pony. One's legs as conveyance: coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): resp. 1795 (S. Bishop); nag, 1774 (Ferguson), and naggy, 1744 (an anon. Scottish song, W.), the former being mostly, the latter wholly Scots; pony, 1891, The Globe, June 5. (O.E.D.) Jocular on shanks, the legs, and gen. as ride S. m. (or n., or p.).

shanky. 'Thrifty; close-fisted': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex one who walks (see preceding entry) when the ordinary person would ride or go by bus or train.

Shannon, to have been dipped in the. To be anything but bashful, the immersion being regarded as a cure completely effectual and enduring against that affliction: coll.: ca. 1780–1880. Grose, 1st ed.

shanny. Idiotic, silly; mad: Cockneys' (— 1887). Baumann. Ex Kentish dial.

shant. A quart or a pot; a pot of liquor (esp. shant of gatter, a pot of beer): mid-C. 19–20: c. and low s. Mayhew, 1851; P. H. Emerson, 1893. ? etymology: cf. shanty and shanty-liquor, qq.v.

sha'n't (less correctly, shan't). Shall not: coll.:

1664, S. Crossman, 'My Life and I shan't part'; 1741, Richardson (shan't); 1876, Black, 'He sha'n't marry Violet' (app. earliest record of this form). O.E.D.—2. As a n., 1850, Smedley, 'A sulky, half-muttered "shan't" was the only reply,' O.E.D.: likewise coll.

sha'n't! A somewhat uncouth and gen. angry or sullen form of:

sha'n't!, I. I shall not (do so): a coll. peremptory refusal: C. 18–20.

sha'n't be long!, now we. It's all right!: a c.p. of ca. 1895–1915. The Daily Telegraph, Sept. 8, 1896; Maugham, Liza of Lambeth, 1897, 'Now we shan't be long! she remarked.' Ware derives it from 'railway travellers' phrase when near the end of a journey'.

shanty. A public-house; a 'sly-grog shop'; showmen's s. (prob. from ca. 1850) >, by 1860, Australian coll.; in C. 20, virtually S.E. H. Lawson, 1902, 'They got up a darnse at Peter Anderson's shanty across the ridges.' Prob. ex Fr. chantier; nevertheless, derivation direct ex shant (q.v.) is not impossible: cf. senses 3 and 4.—2. Hence, a brothel: nautical: from ca. 1890. F. & H.—3. A quart of liquor, esp. of beer or ale: 1893, P. H. Emerson. Prob. ex shant, q.v.—4. Beer-money: 1893, P. H. Emerson, 'Any shanty in your sky-rocket.' Prob. sense 3 is slightly earlier than, and the imm. source of, sense 4. shanty, v. To drink often, habitually, at a 'shanty' (sense 1): 1888: Australian coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1888, 'The Dalys and us shantying and gaffing.' The Century Dict.

shanty-bar. The bar in a 'shanty' (sense 1): late C. 19–20: Australian coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. H. Lawson, 1902, 'Throwing away our money over shanty bars,' O.E.D. shanty-keeper. One who keeps a 'shanty' (sense 1): 1875: Australian coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Cf. preceding and ensuing entry. Morris.

shanty(-)liquor. Sly-grog-shop drink: Australian coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.: 1886, H. C. Kendall, 'He'll . . . swig at shanty liquors,' O.E.D. Ex shanty, 1.

shanty-man. An electrician: circus-men's (— 1932). Edward Seago, Circus Company. Prob. suggested by juice, electricity: cf. shanty, n., 3.

shap. See shapo.

shape, spoil a woman's. To get her with child: coll.: late C. 17–20; ob. Facetious Tom Brown, 'The . . . king who had spoil'd the shape . . . of several mistresses.' By an indelicate pun.

shape, travel on one's. To live by one's appearance, to swindle: coll.: C. 19.

shape for you!, there's a. A c.p. in respect of an extremely thin person or animal: mid-C. 19–20; very ob. Cf.:

shapes. An ill-made man often in vocative: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E.—2. Hence, a very tightly laced girl: ca. 1730–1910. Dyche & Pardon, Halliwell, O.E.D.—3. 'An ill-made irregular Lump of Flesh, &c,' Dyche & Pardon: ca. 1730–1830.—4. 'The meat ingredient of a meal, especially breakfast: usually the same but in a different shape: rolled for sausages, in a ball for faggots, or round and flat for rissoles': military: C. 20. B. & P. shapes, cut up or show. To frolic; exhibit flightiness: mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 1st ed. Cf.:

shapes, show one's. To 'turn about, march off', B.E.: late C. 17–mid-19.—2. 'To be stript, or made peel at the whipping post,' Grose, 1st ed.:

mid-C. 18—early 19.—3. To come into view: coll.: 1828, Scott; ob. (O.E.D.)

shapes and shirts. Young actors' term, ca. 1883–1900, for 'old actors, who swear by the legitimate Elizabethan drama, which involves either the "shape" or the "shirt"—the first being the cut-in tunic; the . . . shirt being independent of shape.' Ware.

shapo, rare; gen. shappeau or shappo; rarely shop(po); less rarely shap. A hat: late C. 17—early 19: c. B.E., 'Shappeau, c. or Shappo, c. for Chappeau,'—properly Fr. chapeau—'a Hat, the newest Cant, Nab being very old, and grown too common'; Grose, 2nd ed., has shappo and shap, in 1st ed. only shappo; C. Hitchin, 1718, has shap.

share that among you! A soldiers' c.p. (from 1915) on hurling a bomb into an enemy trench or dug-out. B. & P.

shark. A pickpocket: e. of C. 18. J. Stevens, 1707; Grose. (O.E.D.)—2. (? hence) a customs officer: ca. 1780–1880. Grose, 1st ed.—3. See sharks.—4. (Also black shark: Baumann.) A lawyer: nautical coll.: 1840, Marryat (O.E.D.)—5. A recruit: military: ca. 1890–1910. ? on rooky, a rook being a shark.—6. A sardine: jocular nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf. whale.—7. A professional punter: bookmakers' (—1932). Slang, p. 241.

shark-baiter. A too venturesome swimmer: Australian coll. (—1935).

shark out. To make off; decamp slyly: dial. (—1828) >, by 1880, low coll. Manchon.

sharks, the. The press-gang: 1828, D. Jerrold; † by 1900.

shark's mouth. 'An awning shaped to fit round a mast': nautical coll. verging on j.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sharp. A swindler; a cheat: coll.: 1797, Mrs M. Robinson (O.E.D.); Vaux; Maskelyne's title for a most informative book, Sharps and Flats.—2. Hence, an expert, connoisseur, actual or would-be wise man: coll.: 1865, The Pall Mall Gazette, Sept. 11, "'Sharps" who advertise their "tips" in the sporting journals,' O.E.D. Ex sharp, alert.—3. (Gen. in pl.) A needle: c.: late C. 19–20. Ex S.E. sharps, one of three grades of needles, including the longest and most sharply pointed.

Sharp come in yet?, has Mr. A traders' c.p. addressed by one (e.g.) shopman to another 'to signify that a customer of suspected honesty is about': from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed. Cf. two-pun-ten, q.v.

sharp and blunt. The female pudend: late C. 19–20 rhyming s. on cunt.

sharp as the corner of a round table. Stupid: coll. (lower classes): from ca. 1870; ob. Prob. by opposition to S.E. sharp as a needle or razor or thorn.

sharper's tools. Fools: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. (As = dice, it is S.E.)

sharping omee. A policeman: c. and Parlyaree: ca. 1850–90. H., 1st ed. See omee.

sharpo. See go on the sharpo.

Sharp's Alley bloodworms. Beefsauages; black puddings: ca. 1850–1900. Ex a well-known abattoir near Smithfield. H., 1st ed.

sharp's the word and quick's the motion. A c.p. implying that a person is 'very attentive to his own interest', Grose, 2nd ed.: late C. 18–20; slightly ob. Ex sharp's the word, an enjoining of promptitude.

sharpy. A derisive coll. nickname for a person self-consciously alert: late C. 19–20.

sharry. A charabanc: low coll.: 1924 (O.E.D. Sup.). Imm. ex chara.

s'hart. See 'sheart'.

shat. A tattler: ca. 1709–20. Steele in The Tatler, No. 71, 1709. O.E.D.

shattered; shattering. Nervy, nervous; tiresome, upsetting, boring, unpleasant: Society: from ca. 1925. Agatha Christie, The Murder at the Vicarage, 1930, 'I feel shattered' and 'Life's very shattering, don't you think?'; E. Waugh, Decline and Fall, 1928, 'My dear, how too shattering for you.'

shave. A narrow escape: 1834, R. H. Froude (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. Ex S.E. sense, 'a slight or grazing touch'.—2. Hence, passing an examination by a 'shave': university (orig. Oxford): 1840, Theodore Hook (O.E.D.); slightly ob.—3. A definitely false, or at the least, an unauthenticated report: military: 1813, Capt. R. M. Cairnes (O.E.D.), so that Sala was wrong when, in 1884, he implied that the term arose (instead of saying that it > gen. popular) during the Crimean War, though he may have been right when he said that as = a hoax, it arose then; the latter nuance, unless applied to a deliberately false rumour, was † by 1914. 'From a barber's shop, the home of gossip' (B. & P.). Cf. latrine rumour, q.v.—4. 'The proportion of the receipts paid to a travelling company by a local manager', F. & H., 1903: C. 20 theatrical. Ex shaved-off.—5. 'A money consideration paid for the right to vary a contract, by extension of time for delivery or payment, &c.', F. & H.: orig. U.S.; anglicised ca. 1900.—6. A drink: proletarian: ca. 1884–1914. Ware. Perhaps ex the excuse of going for a shave.—7. A customer for a shave: barbers' coll.: 1895, W. Pett Ridge. So too hair-cut, shampoo, singe.

shave. To deprive a person of all his money or goods; to charge him extortionately: late C. 14–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. verging on s. Cf. shaving the ladies, q.v.—2. Hence, to steal (v.t.): late C. 16–mid-18. D'Urfey, 'The Maidens had shav'd his Breeches,' O.E.D.

shave through, v.i. Abbr. just shave through: from ca. 1860: university coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. H., 2nd ed. A variant is make a shave: see shave, n., 2.

shaver. A fellow, chap; also a joker, a wag: late C. 16–20: coll. From ca. 1830 (though young shaver occurs as early as 1630) only of a youth, and gen. preceded by young or little, very often depreciatively,—except that, at sea, old shaver = a man throughout C. 19 (see, e.g. H., 5th ed.). Marlowe, 1592, 'Sirrah, are you not an old shaver? . . . Alas, sir! I am a very youth'; 1748, Smollett, 'He drew a pistol, and fired it at the unfortunate shaver'; Dickens; P. H. Emerson. Ex shaver, one who shaves (for barbers have always been 'cute, knowledgeable fellows); or perhaps ex shaver, an extortioner (esp. cunning shaver).—2. Very rarely applied to a woman: prob. only in C. 17, e.g. Cotton, 1664, 'My Mother's a mad shaver, | No man alive knows where to have her.' (This instance may, however, be merely an extension of the C. 17 coll. mad shaver, a roysterer.) Cf. the C. 20 sporting women's use of chap in address or application to women.—3. A short jacket: late C. 19—early 20: lower classes. Because it gen. fits close; cf. bum-freezer, -perisher.

shaving. A defrauding, whether process or completed act: C. 17–20. Dekker. (O.E.D.) Hence shaving terms, the making all the money one can: C. 19–20.

shaving-brush. The female pubic hair: from after 1838; ob.

shaving-mill. An open boat, sixteen-oared, of a type used as privateers in the war of 1812: Canadian. Bowen.

shaving the ladies. A drapers' phrase for overcharging women: 1863, 'Ouida', 'We have all heard of an operation called shaving the ladies'; ob. Ex shave, n., 1.

shavings. Illicit clippings of money: late C. 17–20: c. >, ca. 1750, s. >, ca. 1800, coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

shawl. A greatcoat: jocular military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. shawly. An Irish fisherwoman, esp. of Dublin: Anglo-Irish: late C. 19–20. (F. Tennyson Jesse, Many Latitudes, 1928.) Ex the great shawl they wear.

shay sho (or so) !, you don't. A jocular form of 'really!': C. 20. Ex tipsy distortion of say and perhaps influenced by so say, q.v. Also I should shay sho or so !, certainly, as in Ian Hay, David and Destiny, 1934, 'I should shay sho! Go right ahead!'

She. Queen Victoria: Society's nickname: 1887–88. Ware. Ex Rider Haggard's She, published early in 1887: it was so popular that Andrew Lang and W. H. Pollock, in the same year, parodied it as He.

she. A woman: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19 then coll.; in C. 20, low coll. when not jocular.—2. (Also shee.) A plum pudding: Charterhouse: late C. 19–20; † by 1923. A. H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900. Cf. he.—3. Her: C. 16–20: S.E. until late C. 17 then coll.; ca. 1750–1810, low coll.; from ca. 1840, sol. Foote, 1752, 'The fat Cook . . . full out at the Tail of the Waggon; so we left she behind,' O.E.D.

she didn't seem to mind it very much. A proletarian ironic c.p. intimating jealousy: ca. 1885–1900. Ware.

she-dragon. A termagant or a forbidding woman, esp. if elderly: from the 1830's: coll. bordering on, in C. 20 >, S.E.—2. A kind of wig, says F. & H.: ? early C. 19: prob. coll.

she-flunkey. A lady's maid: coll. (lower classes): from ca. 1875.

she has (or she's) been a good wife to him. An ironic proletarian c.p. 'cast at a drunken woman rolling in the streets' (Ware): from ca. 1905; not wholly †.

she-house. A house under petticoat rule: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 1st ed.

'She' is a cat's mother. A c.p. addressed to (esp.) a child constantly referring thus to his mother: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob.

she-lion. A shilling: from ca. 1780; very ob. Grose 1st ed. By a pun.

she-male, n. and adj. Female: orig.—ca. 1880—London lower classes' > by ca. 1912 fairly gen. jocular. Ware. Pairing with he-male, q.v.

she-napper. A female thief-catcher; a bawd, a pimp: late C. 17–mid-19: c. > ca. 1750 low s. B.E.; Grose 1st ed.

she-oak. Native ale: Australian (1888), hence New Zealand; ob. Cf. shearer's joy. Ex the Australian tree so named: quite! but why? (Morris.) Whence:

she-oak net. A net spread under the gangway to catch seamen drunk on 'she-oak': nautical: late C. 19–20; ob. Bowen.

she-school. A girls' school: C. 19–20 (ob.): coll. Cf. she-house.

she thinks she's wearing a white collar! She's putting on 'side'!: a W.A.A.C.'s c.p.: 1917–18. B. & P. Among the 'Waacs', a white collar was worn by N.C.O.'s.

she will go off in an aromatic faint. A Society c.p. of 1883–ca. 86, 'said of a fantastical woman, meaning that her delicate nerves will surely be the death of her' (Ware).

sheaf. Incorrect for sheath: late C. 17–20; rare in C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

shearer's joy. Colonial beer: Australian coll.: 1892, Gilbert Parker. Cf. she-oak q.v. Morris.

shears, there's a pair of. They're very like: coll.: C. 17–18. Ex the more gen. there goes or went but a pair of shears between (e.g.) them.

'sheart; occ. s'heart, shart, s'harte, incorrectly (C. 18) 'sdheart. A coll. euphemism for God's heart!: late C. 16–18. Occ. s'hart. O.E.D. sheath !, by my. A trivial oath: coll.: ca. 1530–50. Heywood, More. O.E.D.

sheave-o, sheaveo, sheavo or sheevo. A drunken bout; a free-fight: nautical. F. & Gibbons; Manchon. A late C. 19–20 derivative of:—2. An entertainment: naval: C. 19–20. Indeed, F. & Gibbons records it for 1798 thus: 'Sir John Orde gave a grand chevaux' (letter of Lieut. Charles Cathcart, May 6). See chevoo.

sheba. An attractive girl or woman; esp. as the counterpart of sheikh (sense 1): from 1926, and mostly American. Ex the Queen of Sheba, reputedly alluring.

shebang. As a hut, room, dwelling, shop, it has remained U.S.; but derivatively as a vehicle (Mark Twain, 1872) it was anglicised in the late 1890's; the debased sense, a thing, matter, business (— 1895 in U.S.) esp. in the whole shebang, is not, in C. 20, unknown in the British Empire. Prob. ex Fr. cabane (De Vere).

shebo. Navy soap: naval: C. 20. Bowen. ? ex the Queen of Sheba, because so rich (in colour).

sheckles. See shekels. (The form given by Ware.)

she'd. She would: coll. See 'd.

shed. To give; give away (something of little value); drop, let go: coll.: 1855, Dickens, 'Would shed a little money [for] a mission or so to Africa.' O.E.D.

shed a tear. To make water: mid-C. 19–20.—2. (? hence by antiphrasis) to take a dram, hence— from ca. 1860—any drink: 1864, H., 3rd ed.; 1876, Hindley, 'I always made time to call in and shed a tear with him.' Less gen. and very ob.

shedduff. A middle-class corruption (— 1909) of chef-d'œuvre. Ware.

shee. See she, 2.—sheela(h). See sheila.—sheele. See 'le.

sheen. Counterfeit coin: e. (— 1839). Brandon; H., 1st ed. Occ., from ca. 1880, as adj. Ex shan(d), q.v., very prob. (cf. Brandon's and H.'s designation as Scottish); but perhaps influenced by:

sheeny (gen. S.); occ. sheeney, -nie, or shen(e)y. A Jew: 1824 (O.E.D.): in C. 20, opprobrious (witness S.O.D.); in C. 20, inoffensive (witness H., 5th ed., 1874 = 1873). Thackeray, 1847, 'Sheeney and Moses are . . . smoking their pipes before their lazy shutters in Seven Dials.' From ca. 1890, occ.

as adj., as in The Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, Jan. 23, 1891, "Don't like that Sheeney friend of yours," he said.—2. Hence, a pawnbroker: mid-C. 19–20.—3. A dark-coloured tramp: tramps' c. (—1932). F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps.—4. A very economical, money-careful man: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. W. risks the guess that sheeny may derive ex Yiddish pronunciation of Ger. schön beautiful, used in praising wares; very tentatively, I suggest that the term arose from the sheeny, i.e. glossy or brightly shiny, hair of the average 'English' Jew: cf. snide and shine, q.v.

sheeny or S.; etc. Adj. See sheeney, n., 1.—2. Fraudulent (person); base (money): late C. 19–20. A rare sense, due prob. to sheen, q.v.

sheep. A second-classman: Aberdeen University: 1865, G. Macdonald.

sheep by moonlight, keep. To hang in chains: late C. 18–mid-19. A. E. Housman's note to The Shropshire Lad (1898), ix. (O.E.D.)

sheep-guts, old. A term of contempt: coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

sheep-shearer. A cheat or swindler: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E.

sheep-walk. A prison: c. of ca. 1780–1840. Messink, 1781.

sheep-wash. To duck: Winchester: from ca. 1890. Ex sheep-dipping.

sheep's head, all jaw,—like a. A c.p. of a very talkative person: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 2nd ed. See jaw, n.

sheep's head,—two heads are better than one even if one is only a. A c.p. aimed at the second party to a plan, etc.; often in retort to the trite two heads are better than one. C. 20 (? late C. 19–20).

sheep's tail. Sheep's-tail fat: South African coll. (—1888). Pettman.

sheepskin-fiddle. A drum: ca. 1810–60. Whence sheepskin-fiddler, a drummer (Lex. Bal.).

sheer-cloath is incorrect for cerecloth; † shehide for shahi. O.E.D.

Sheer Nasty; Sheer Necessity. Sheerness: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen. (Naval men go there only when necessary.)

sheet, on the. Up for trial; 'crimed': military coll.: from ca. 1905. F. & Gibbons. See sheet it home to.

sheet-alley or -lane. Bed: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Cf. Bedfordshire and blanket fair, and Baumann's (go) down sheet lane into Bedfordshire, to go to bed.

sheet in the wind or (less gen. and, by 1930, slightly ob.) wind's eye, a. Half drunk: 1840, Dana, in adumbration; 1862, Trollope, 'A thought tipsy—a sheet or so in the wind, as folks say,' O.E.D.; R. L. Stevenson, 1883 (wind's eye). S. >, ca. 1890, coll.; now virtually S.E. Ex three sheets in the wind, q.v. below.

sheet it home to (a person). To prove something against him: coll. (—1923). Manchon. Perhaps ex entry of person's name on a charge-sheet.

sheet of tripe. A plate of tripe: low urban (—1909). Ware.

sheets, between the. In bed: from ca. 1860: coll. now verging on S.E. sheets in the wind, three. Drunk: 1821, Egan; 1840, Dana: mainly sporting s. >, ca. 1860, coll. >, ca. 1930, S.E.

sheevo. See sheave-o.

Sheffield handicap. A sprint race with no defined scratch, the virtual scratch man receiving a big start from an imaginary 'flyer': Northern coll. and dial.: late C. 19–20; ob.

Sheffields; Sheffs. Shares in the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway: Stock Exchange (—1895): resp. coll. and s. A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary. Cf. Saras.

sheikh; often incorrectly sheik. A 'he-man': from 1925. Collinson; Slang. Lit., Arabic for a chief; Miss Edith Maude Hull's best-seller The Sheikh,—for its sales were, lit. and fig., phenomenal,—appeared in 1924.—2. Hence, a lover, a girl's 'young man': from ca. 1926; mostly U.S. (O.E.D. Sup.)

sheila or -er; occ. shiela(h) or sheela(h). A girl: Australian, hence New Zealand: late C. 19–20. The -a form has, in G.W. and after, been much the more gen.; presumably influenced by the female Christian name. A perversion of English dial. and low s. shaler (Brandon, 1839; H., 1st ed.).

shekels; occ. sheckles. Coin; money in gen.: coll.: 1883, F. Marion Crawford, but prob. used at least a decade earlier,—cf. Byron's anticipation of 1823. Ex shekel, the most important Hebrew silver coin.

shele. See 'le.

shelf. An informer; esp. one who has himself participated in the crime: Australian c. (—1926). Jice Doone. Because he very effectually puts a criminal there. Cf. shelfer.

shelf, off the. See sense 4 of:

shelf, on the. In pawn: C. 19–20. Lex. Bal.; H., 1st ed.—2. Under arrest: military: from ca. 1870; ob.—3. Transported: ca. 1850–70: c.—4. Dead: from ca. 1870. Whence off the shelf, resurrected (gen. as take off the shelf): C. 20. (—5. As applied to old maids and unemployed or involuntarily retired persons, it is S.E.)

shelfer. An informer to the police: New Zealand c. (—1932). Ex shelf, q.v.

shell. An undress, tight-fitting jacket: military: from ca. 1880. St. James's Gazette, Dec. 22, 1886, 'Tunics and shells and messing-jackets and caps.' Abbr. S.E. shell-jacket (1840, O.E.D.).—2. The female pudend: C. 19–20: coll. verging on euphemistic S.E.—3. See shells.—4. A hearse: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon ('corbillard des pauvres').

she'll. She will: coll.: C. 18–20. Cf. he'll, q.v.

shell, old. See old shell.

shell-back. A sailor of full age, esp. if tough and knowledgeable: nautical coll. (—1883). Perhaps for the reason given by W. Clark Russell in Jack's Courtship (1883), 'It takes a sailor a long time to straighten his spine and get quit of the bold sheer that earns him the name of shell-back.'

shell out. To disburse; pay (out): coll.: C. 19–20. Maria Edgeworth, Tom Moore, Headon Hill. Scott, in 1816, has shell down, but this form is very rare. Ex shell, remove a seed from its shell (etc.).—2. As v.i., to hand over what is due or expected, pay up: coll. from ca. 1820. Egan, 1821.—3. To club money together, gen. as vbl.n.: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.—4. shell (a person) out, to pluck him at cards or dice: low (—1923). Manchon. Ex senses 1, 2.—5. V.t., ex sense 1, to declare: a rare coll. of ca. 1860–1910. Mrs Henry Wood. (O.E.D.) shell-proof, n. and adj. (A) boastful or foolhardy (fellow): military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. bomb-proofer.

shell-shock. Cocoa: c.: from ca. 1918 (Michael Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935.)

shell-shock bread. Bread arriving, impaired, to those in the front line: New Zealand soldiers': 1916-18.

shell with name on it. See bullet . . .

shelling peas, as easy as. Very easy: coll.: C. 19-20. (O.E.D.)

shells; occ. shels. Money: cf. of ca. 1590-1620. Greene. (Cf. the use made of cowries.)

s'help. See s'elp. (1904, O.E.D.); cf. s'welp.—shels. See shells.

[Shelta is 'a kind of cryptic Irish spoken by tinkers and confirmed tramps; a secret jargon composed chiefly of Gaelic words disguised by changes of initial, transposition of letters, backslanging and similar devices,' F. & H. Discovered in 1876 by Leland, who published his account of it in his Gypsies, 1882: considerable attention has been paid to it since the Gypsy Lore Society started in 1889, its Journal in 1890. (See, e.g. toby.)] shelter-stick. An umbrella: Cumberland s. (— 1904), not dial. E.D.D.

shelve, gen. v.t. To hold over part of (the weekly bill): printers' coll.: from ca. 1870. Contrast horsing, q.v.

shemozzle; occ. shimozzel, s(c)hlemozzle, even chimozzle. A difficulty or misfortune; a 'row': from late 1880's: East End, orig. (esp. among book-makers) and mainly. The Referee, Dec. 1, 1889, schlemozzle; Binstead, 1899, shlemozzle; Anon., From the Front, 1900, chimozzle; J. Maclaren, 1901, 'If Will comes out of this shemozzle.' Ex Yiddish (Ware).—2. Hence, loosely, 'an affair of any sort' (F. & Gibbons): lower classes' and military: C. 20.

shemozzle (etc.), v. To make off, decamp: orig. (ca. 1901) and mostly East End, >, by 1914, fairly gen.

shenan(n)igan or -in; occ. shenan(n)iken, shi- (with either ending), and, nautical, shenanecking (Bowen). Nonsense. chaff; (the predominant C. 20 sense:) trickery, 'funny' games: orig. (ca. 1870), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1890. R. Barr, 1902, 'If I were to pay them they might think there was some shenanigan about it.' Perhaps fantastic on the Cornish shenachrum, a drink of boiled beer, rum, sugar, and lemon; but much more prob. the base is nenan(n)igan (etc.) and the origin the East Anglian and Gloucestershire nanna(c)k, nan(n)ick, to play the fool, with imm. origin in the vbl.n. nannicking (etc.): E.D.D. It has, however, been suggested by Mr A. Jameson (of Sennen) that the term derives from the Erse sionnach (pronounced shinnuch): cf. Anglo-Irish foxing, hiding or malingering.—2. Hence, as v.i. and t.: late C. 19-20.

shenan(n)(c)ker. A shirker: from the middle 1890's. Ex preceding, 2.

shen(e)y. See sheeny.

shepherd. 'Every sixth boy in the cricket-bill who answers for the five below him being present,' F. & H.: Harrow: late C. 19-20.

shepherd, v.t. To shadow; watch over (e.g. a rich relative, an heiress, a football or hockey opponent): 1874, H., 5th ed., 'To look after carefully, to place under police surveillance': s. >, ca. 1910, coll. See esp. Barrère & Leland. Perhaps ex the tending of sheep. (O.E.D.)—2. To follow (a person) in order to cheat or swindle him, or else to get something from him: from ca. 1890: Australian s. >, ca. 1920, coll. Morris.—3. To force (the enemy) into a difficult position: military s. (Boer War) >, ca. 1915, coll.; by 1930, almost S.E. The Daily Telegraph, April 2, 1900, 'Cronje was shepherded with his army into the bed of the Modder by a turning movement.'

shepherd pie. Incorrect for shepherd's pie: C. 20. Seen on the 'Special Lunch' label attached to the Hart Street (London) branch of the Express Dairy's eating-houses on June 4, 1935.

shepherd's plaid. Bad: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932. Contrast Robin Hood, q.v.

sherbet. (A glass of) any warm alcoholic liquor, e.g. a grog: s. (— 1890) ex catachresis. (Not among the upper classes.) Barrère & Leland. Cf.: sherbet(t)y. Drunk: 1890, The Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, Feb. 8, 'By the time one got to bed Tom was a bit sherbetty'; ob. Ex sherbet, q.v.

sheriff's ball. An execution: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. Whence:

sheriff's ball and loll out one's tongue at the company, dance at the. To hang (v.i.): ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. go to rest in a horse's night-cap (ibid.), and a variant of the entry-phrase: dance on nothing at the sheriff's ball (Grose in his Olio).

sheriff's basket or tub. A receptacle set outside a prison for the receipt of charity for the prisoners: resp. late C. 16-mid-17 (Nashe) and ca. 1630-60 (Massinger). O.E.D.

sheriff's bracelets. Handcuffs: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

sheriff's hotel. A prison: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

sheriff's journeyman. A hangman: early C. 19. Lex. Bal. Cf.:

sheriff's picture-frame. The hangman's noose: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed.; Egan.

sheriff's posts. 'Two painted posts, set up at the sheriff's door, to which proclamations were affixed,' O.E.D.: late C. 16-mid-17. Jonson.

sheriff's tub. See sheriff's basket.—sherk. See shirk.

Sherry. The English dramatist Sheridan: from ca. 1770. (The title of an important review in The Observer, Oct. 8, 1933.)

sherry; shirry. A scurry; a rapid or furtive departure: from ca. 1820; even in dial., very ob. Haggart, 1821, 'The shirry became general—I was run to my full speed,' O.E.D. Ex the v.—2. A sheriff: low (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed., at tip the double.—3. Cheap ale: taverns': late C. 19-early 20. Ware.

sherry, v. (Also sherry off.) To run away (esp. hastily): 1788, Grose, 2nd ed. In C. 19-20, often shirry (as in Haggart, 1821) and, from ca. 1850, † except in dial. The O.E.D., prob. rightly, suggests ex (to) sheer (off); less likely, a perversion of Fr. charrier, to carry off; less likely still, though not impossibly, ex an offensive-nationality idea, sherry the wine being from Xeres (now Jerez) in Spain.

sherry, go to. To die: circus-workers' (— 1887). Baumann. Ex sherry, n. and v.

sherry-cobbler. A cobbler made with sherry: coll.: 1809; ob. 'Ouida.' (Thornton.)

sherry-fug. To tiddle sherry: university: ca. 1870-1915. (Cf. fug, q.v.)

sherry off. See sherry, v.

Sherwood Foresters, the. The 45th Regiment; from ca. 1881, the 1st Nottinghamshire Regiment: mid-C. 19-20: military coll. >, by 1910, S.E. (Dawson.)

shet for shut, sheltered for shuttered: sol. pronunciation seen in other words as well: C. 19 (? earlier)—20. Ware.

shevoo. A party, esp. in the evening: C. 20: mostly Australian. Prob. ex Fr. chez vous: cf. sheave-o, q.v.

shevle. C. 1860–90, as in The Daily News, Dec. 2, 1864, 'This is a term recently introduced as a genteel designation for cat's meat, and evidently derived from cheval, French for horse, as mutton from mouton, &c.'

shew a leg. To run away: c. (— 1823); † by 1900. Egan's Grose.—2. (Gen. in imperative.) To rise from bed: mid-C. 19–20: nautical >, ca. 1910, military. Lit., show a leg from under the bed-clothes. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933, notes that the full call on that training ship has, from before 1891, been: 'Heave out, heave out, heave out, heave out! Away! Come all you sleepers, Hey! Show a leg and put a stocking on it.' Cf. rise and shine.

shew-leg day. A windy day: London coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann.—2. A very muddy day: London coll.: ca. 1880–1925. Ware. Often pron. shulleg-day.

shice; occ. chice, schice, shise. Any worthless person or thing: c. of ca. 1860–1910. Rare. Prob. ex.—2. Nothing, as work for shice: c. or low s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.—3. Counterfeit money: c.: 1877, Anon., Five Years' Penal Servitude, 'I ascertained while at Dartmoor that a very large "business" is done in shice.' Either ex shicer, 1, q.v., or direct ex Ger. Scheisse, excrement, or ex the v., sense 1.—4. 'An unprofitable undertaking. A wash-out. "To catch a shice" = to have an unremunerative deal': grafters': late C. 19–20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

shice, v. To deceive, defraud, leave in the lurch, betray; v.i., to 'welsh': c.: from ca. 1860. Baumann. Ex n., 2.—2. To befoul: low (— 1887). Baumann.

shice, catch a. See shice, n., 4.

shice (chice, schice, shise), adj. No good: c. or low s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. at chice, 'The term was first used by the Jews in the last century.' ? ex Ger. Scheisse. (See also shish).—2. Whence (or directly ex shice, n., 3, q.v.), spurious, counterfeit: c.: 1877, 'Two shice notes' (source as in n., 3).—N.B.: Senses 1 and 2 have variants shicery, shickery.—3. Drunk: low: late C. 19–early 20. Presumably ex sense 1 influenced by shicker, adj., q.v.

shicer; occ. schicer, shiser, and, in sense 2, rarely skyer. An unproductive claim or (gen. gold-) mine: Australia: 1855, The (Melbourne) Argus, Jan. 19: s. >, ca. 1880, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. (The occ. spellings are, in this sense, merely illiterate and, in any case, very rare.) Either ex shice, adj., 1, or n., 2, qq.v., or—as W. suggests—direct ex Ger. scheisser, a voider of excrement; or, just possibly, ex shicery, q.v.—2. (? hence, or ex shice, adj., 1) A worthless person (the predominant, and virtually the only C. 20, sense); a very idle one; a mean, sponging man; a humbug: low (— 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus'; H., 1st ed. Also shyster (H., 1874).—3. A welsher or defaulter: Australian racing: from mid-1890's. Morris. Ex sense 1 or 2—or both.

shicery. Bad; spurious: c. or low s.: from ca. 1860; very ob. F. & H., giving no illustration. Either ex shicer, 2, or a perversion of shickery, q.v.

shick. Drunk: low Australian: C. 20. C. J. Dennis. Abbr. shickered, q.v.

shicker. Intoxicating liquor: C. 20: mostly Australian. C. J. Dennis. Much less gen. than its origin:

shicker, v.i.; occ. schicker, shikker, shikkur. To drink liquor; get drunk: C. 20 (prob. from late 1890's: cf. next entry): mostly Australian and not gen. considered respectable. ? ex Arabic, as is the tradition in Australia and New Zealand, or, as is more prob., a derivation and corruption of she-oak, q.v. No; ex Hebrew shikkur, drunk, as is:

shicker, etc. Adj., drunk: from late 1890's. (? ex the v.) Binstead, 1899, 'She comes over shikkur and wants to go to shleeb.' Cf.:

shickered; shick. Tipsy: C. 20 (? also very late C. 19). Ex shicker, v. Cf. 2 in:

shickery; rarely shikerry. (Cf. shicery, q.v.) Shabby, shabbily; bad, badly: c. or low s.: 1851, Mayhew, 'The hedge crocus is shickery togged.' ? ex shice, adj., 1.—2. Occ., in late C. 19–20 (though very ob. by 1935), drunk. Perhaps ex shicker, adj. Cf. shick and shickered.—3. Spurious: see shice, adj.

shi(c)ksel. A nice Gentile girl: Jewish coll.: mid-C. 19–20. A diminutive of shiksa: see sense 2 of:

shickster; occ. shickser, shiksa, shikster, shickster, and († by 1903) shakester. A lady: 1839, Brandon, shickster; 1857, Snowden (Magazine Assistant, 3rd ed.), shikster; 1859, H., 1st ed., shakester and shickster; 1899, Binstead, shiksa.—2. Hence, any (Gentile) woman or girl: mostly Jewish and pejorative: late C. 19–early 20. Contrast shicksel, q.v.—3. A Gentile female servant: among Jews: late C. 19–20.—4. A none-too-respectable girl or woman: mid-C. 19–20: low. Carew, Autobiography of a Gipsy, 1891, p. 414, 'As I was leavin' the court, a reg'lar 'igh-flying shickster comes up,' refers to mid-C. 19; cf. H., 3rd ed., 'A "gay" lady.' Possibly the term derives ex shice, adj., 1: that shickster is, in any case, from Yiddish is a virtual certainty; that senses 1 and 4 may orig. have been c. is a possibility, as appears also in:

shickster-crabs. Ladies' shoes: tramps' c. (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed.

shie. See shy, v.—shielah (Jice Doone). See sheila—shier. See shyer.

shif. Fish: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

shift, v.t. To dislodge (a body of the enemy): coll.: 1898.—2. To murder: 1898.—3. (The operative origin of senses 1, 2) to dislodge from its back, i.e. to throw (of a horse its rider): coll.: 1891.—4. To eat; more gen. to drink: s. (1896) >, ca. 1910, coll. All four senses, O.E.D.—5. To change (clothing): nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen. Ex dial. shift, do a. To stool: low: from ca. 1870; slightly ob.

shift-monger. A young man-about-town: taverns': ca. 1881–90. Ware. Ex stiff shirt-front of evening dress.

shift yer barrow! Move on!: Glasgow, mostly lower classes' (— 1934).

shifter. A sly thief; a sharper: ca. 1560–1640: c. >, ca. 1600, s. or coll. Awdelay, Florio, Withals. Prob. ex S.E. shift, to use shifts, evasions, expedients, though this is recorded not before 1579 (O.E.D.).—2. 'An alarm, an intimation, given by a thief to his pall,' Vaux: c. of ca. 1810–40. Because it causes him to shift.—3. A drunkard: from ca. 1896; ob. Ex shift, v. (above).

Shiftesbury. See Old Tony.

[*shifting. A warning; esp. an alarm conveyed by the watching to the operating thief: c.: from

ca. 1820; ob. Cf. shifter, 2. This may be a F. & H. error.]

shifting ballast. Landsman—esp. soldiers—aboard: nautical: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 1st ed.

shifting dullness. See round, n., 2.

shifty cove. A trickster: from ca. 1820 (ob.): low. See cove; cf. shifter, 1.

shig. A shilling: Winchester: from ca. 1840; ob. Mansfield. Cf. shiggers, q.v.—2. Hence, shigs, money, esp. silver: East End: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed.

shiggers. White football shorts costing 10s.: Winchester: mid-C. 19–20. Ex shig, 1.

shigs. See shig, 2.

shikerry. See shickery.—shikker, -ur. See shicker.—shiksa, shikster. See shickster.—shiksel. See shicksel.

shillen; shillin'. Whereas the latter is merely a pronouncing coll., the former is a sol. (—1887). Baumann.

shilling, take the Queen's or King's. To enlist in the Army: C. 18–20: coll. >, by 1830, S.E. Also, though not in C. 20, take the shilling.

shilling(-)dreadful († in C. 20), shocker. A (short) sensational novel sold at one shilling: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: 1885, The Athenæum, Nov. 14, 'Mr R. L. Stevenson is writing another shilling-dreadful'; s. shocker, July, 1886 (O.E.D.). The earlier term is on the analogy of penny dreadful, q.v.; the latter, due to desire for variation. Cf. thriller and yellow-back qq.v.

shilling tabernacle. A Nonconformist tea-meeting at one shilling per head: lower classes' (—1909); ob. Ware.

shilling emetic. 'A pleasure boat at a seaside-resort': nautical (officers'): C. 20. Bowen.

shilling to ninepence, bring a. See ninepence to.

shilly-shally. To be undecided; to hesitate; vacillate: 1782, Miss Burney: coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Ex the n. (1755, Shebbeare), itself ex the adj. (1734, Chesterfield), in its turn ex stand shall I, shall I (Congreve, 1700), earlier stand shall I, shall I (Taylor, 1630); shilly-shally as n. and (in C. 20, ob.) adj., orig. coll., both > S.E. early in C. 19. F. & H.; O.E.D.

shim; shim-plough. Catachrestic for skim, skim-plough: C. 19–20. O.E.D. shimmy (1837, Marryat); more gen. shimmy (1856, H. H. Dixon, O.E.D.). A chemise: coll.; not, as the O.E.D. asserts, merely dial. and U.S. Whence shimmy-shake, q.v.—2. The game of chemin de fer, of the first two syllables of which it is a corruption: Society: late C. 19–20. (A. E. W. Mason, The Sapphire, 1933, 'I think we ought to play a little at the shimmy table.') shimmy-shake. A kind of fox trot popular in 1920's: coll. > S.E. shimozzel, -le. See shemozzle.

shin. A kick on the shin-bone: (esp. London) schoolboys' coll. (—1887). Baumann.

shin-plaster. A bank-note: U.S., anglicised ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.

shin-scraper. A treadmill: c.: 1869, J. Greenwood, 'On account of the operator's liability, if he is not careful, to get his shins scraped by the ever-revolving wheel.' † by 1920.

shin-stage, (take) the. (To go) a journey on foot, not by stage-coach: non-aristocratic coll.: mid-C. 18—mid-19. Ware. Cf. Shank's mare.

shinan(n)igan or -in or i(c)kin. See shenan(n)igan, shindy. A spree or noisy merrymaking: from ca. 1820. Egan, 1821, 'The Jack Tar is . . . continually singing out, "What a prime shindy, my mess mates"'. Either ex 'the rough but mainly old game of "shinty"' (J. Grant, 1876) or, more prob., ex sense 3, which therefore presumably derives ex shinty.—2. A (rough) dance among sailors: nautical (—1811). Lex. Bal.; Smyth.—3. See shines (cf. shindy, 1, 2). (The sense, a row or a commotion, from the 1840's, is gen. considered S.E., but it may orig. have been coll. Ex sense 1 or sense 3.) shine. A fuss, commotion, row: coll.: from ca. 1830. Dickens, 1852. Esp. make (or kick up) a shine. Perhaps ex shine, brilliance, influenced by shindy, 1. Hence, boasting; chaff(ing); esp. no shine, honestly, sincerely, genuinely: tailors': mid-C. 19–20. E.g. The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.—3. Money: from ca. 1840: (? c. >) low s. Egan, 1842. ? ex shiners (q.v.). Cf. shiney, shino.—4. See shine to, take a.

shine, adj. Good; likable, e.g. 'A shine chap': New Zealanders': C. 20. Ex brightness as opp. obscurity.

shine, v.i. To raise money, or display it: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex shine, to excel.—2. shine up to, see shine to, take a.—3. To boast: tailors': from ca. 1860; ob. Cf. shiner, 4.—4. See shines like . . .

shine, shyin', adj. 'Excellent; desirable', C. J. Dennis: low Australian (—1916). Ex brightness: cf. dazzler.

shine, cut a. To make a fine show: coll.: 1819 (O.E.D.). Occ. († in C. 20), make a shine.

shine!, rise and. See rise and shine!

shine from or out of, take the. To deprive of brilliance; to surpass, put in the shade: coll.: 1818, Egan, Boziana, I, out of; 1819, Moore, from, which is † in C. 20. (O.E.D.)

shine-rag, win the. To lose; be ruined; London, ca. 1850–1910. Mayhew. Occ. shiney-rag, as in H., 1st ed., 'Said in gambling when any one continues betting' after the luck sets in against him.

shine to, take a. To take a fancy to or for: coll.: U.S. (—1850), adopted ca. 1890 by Australians, who occ., in C. 20, use shine up to. Cf. dial. shiner, a sweetheart, one's flirt.

shiner. See shiners.—2. A mirror; esp. a card-sharpers': from ca. 1810: perhaps orig. c. Vaux.—3. A clever fellow: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1820. Halliwell.—4. A boaster: tailors': from ca. 1860. Cf. shine, v., 3.—5. A silk hat: coll.: 1867, F. Francis (O.E.D.).—6. A stone so built into the wall of a house that its thick end is outward: South African: 1881, Douglass, Ostrich Farming.—7. A diamond: South African: 1884, The Queenstown Free Press, Jan. 15. Pettman. Cf. shiners.—8. (Shiner.) The inevitable nickname of any man surnamed Green or Wright, Black or White, Bryant (Bryant & May's matches) or Bright: naval and military: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

shiners. Money; coins, esp. guineas and/or sovereigns: 1760, Foote, 'To let a lord of lands want shiners, 'tis a shame.' Occ. in singular as a gold or, less gen., a silver coin: C. 19–20: Surr, 1806 (O.E.D.); 'Pomes' Marshall. Cf. shine (n., 2), shindy, shino.—2. Jewels: C. 20. (D. Sayers, 1934.) Ex shiner, 7.—3. A cleaning-up parade; something highly polished: military: from ca. 1920.

Shiners, the. The 5th Foot Regiment >, in late

C. 19, the Northumberland Fusiliers: military: since the Seven Years War, in which they shone with 'spit and polish'. F. & Gibbons.

shines. Capers; tricks: U.S. (1830), anglicised ca. 1860: coll. Cf. shindy with its sense-history very similar to that of shine, shines, nn.—2. ? hence, copulation between human beings: from ca. 1870.

shines like a shitten barn door, it. It shines most brilliantly: a low coll. of C. 18—mid-19. Swift, Polite Conversation, 'Why, Miss, you shine this morning like a sh—barn-door'; Grose, 3rd ed.

shiney, properly shiny. Money; esp. gold nuggets: 1856, Reade; very ob. Cf. shiners, shino.—2. (Shiney.) The East, esp. India: Regular Army's: late C. 19–20. B. & P. Ex the brilliant sunlight. Cf. Sweatipore, q.v. shiney-rag. See shine-rag.

shingle. Incorrect for single (tail of roebuck or deer): from ca. 1660. O.E.D. shingle short, have a. To have a 'tile loose', to be mentally deficient: from ca. 1850: Australian s. >, ca. 1910, gen. coll. Mundy, 1852; Mrs Campbell Praed, 1885. (O.E.D.)

shingle-splitting. The bilking of creditors by retiring to the country: Tasmanian: 1830, The Hobart Town Almanack; † by 1900. Here, shingle = a piece of board. Morris.

shingle-tramper. A coastguardsman: naval coll. (— 1867); ob. by 1900, † by 1920. Smyth. Because he constantly walked the shingle of the (pebbly) shore.

shining saucepan and rusty pump. A nautical c.p. (late C. 19–20) applied to a happy ship. Bowen.

Skinkin-ap-Morgan. A Welshman: a coll. nickname: mid-C. 17—mid-18, when Taffy (q.v.) > gen. A broadside ballad of ca. 1660 (see Farmer's Musa Pedestris) has: 'With Shinkin-ap-Morgan, with Blue-cap, or Teague [q.v.], | We into no Covenant enter, nor League.'

Shinner. A Sinn Feiner: coll.: 1921. O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex pronunciation (shin fāner).

shino. An ob. variant of shiny, q.v.: from ca. 1860. On rhino, q.v. Cf. shiners, shinery; see also shine, n., 2.

shins, break (one's). To borrow money (cf. U.S. skinner, skinning): late C. 17–20; slightly ob. B.E. Ex the old Russian custom of beating on the shins those who have money and will not pay their debts (see O.E.D.).

shins, clever. See clever shins.

shiny, adj. See Shiny Seventh.

shiny, the. See shiney. Cf. shine (n., 2), shiners, shino.

shiny rag, win the. See shine-rag.

Shiny Seventh, the. The 7th Battalion City of London Regiment: military: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Ex 'the always brightly polished brass buttons of their tunics, in contrast to the dark metal buttons worn by the other three battalions with which they were brigaded under the Territorial System.'—2. Also, the 7th Hussars and the 7th Royal Fusiliers: military: mid-C. 19—early 20. "'Shiny" is the normal nickname of all regiments bearing the number Seven,' R. J. T. Hills, 1934.

Shiny Tenth, the. The 10th Royal Hussars: military: late C. 19–20. (R. J. T. Hills, Something about a Soldier, 1934.) Formerly the China Tenth, q.v.

ship. A body of compositors working together: printers' coll.: 1875, Southward's Dict. of Typo- graphy (O.E.D.). Abbr. companionship. Cf. stab, q.v.—2. See ship, old.—3. See ship, out of a.

ship, v.t. To pull out of bed, mattress on top: Sherborne School: from ca. 1860.—2. To turn back in a lesson: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1860. Both are prob. ex ship (off), to send packing.—3. To drink (v.t.): nautical coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Lit., take on board.—4. (Ex sense 1.) To turn upside down, to 'rag': Oxford undergraduates': C. 20. Alec Waugh, The Babiols, 1934, 'Aesthetes . . . whose rooms are shipped on bump-suppers.' And in the same author's The Loom of Youth, 1917, as Public School s.

ship, old. A jocular coll. address to a sailor: orig. and mostly nautical to a former ship-mate: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Cupples, The Green Hand, 1849 (O.E.D.); Bowen.

ship, out of a. Out of work: theatrical: ca. 1880–1910. Ware (at whispering gallery).

ship a swab. To receive a sub-lieutenant's commission: naval: mid-C. 19—early 20. Bowen. The 'swab' was the single epaulette conferred by this rank.

ship blown up at Point Nonplus. (Indicates that a man is) plucked penniless or politely expelled: Oxford University: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose. Point Nonplus is a punningly imaginary geographical feature.

ship for a ha'porth of tar, lose (or spoil) a. Erroneous for lose a sheep . . . : mid-C. 19–20. 'Tar is used to protect sores or wounds in sheep from flies, and the consequent generation of worms,' Apperson; tar being the cause of the error. (The proverb dates from late C. 16.)

ship-husband. A sailor seldom on shore and even then anxious to return to his ship: nautical coll.: from ca. 1840; ob. Marryat, 1842. Punning the now ob. ship's husband, an agent that looks after a ship while it is in port.

ship in full sail. (A pot of) ale: rhyming s. (— 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.'

ship-mate with, be. To have personal knowledge (of a thing): nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen, 'E.g. "I've never been shipmate with single top-sails".'

Ship of Troy, the. A variant of (the) Horse of Troy, q.v. F. & Gibbons.

ship one's land-face. To revert to one's sea-going attitude: nautical: late C. 19–20; ob. Bowen. With hard-case skippers a significant c.p. was fetch me a bucket of water to wash off my land-face: a hint to the crew of squalls ahead.

ship's. Naval cocoa or tobacco: naval coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

ship's cousin. A rating or apprentice berthed aft, but working with the men: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Prob. suggested by S.E. ship's husband.

ship's lungs. Dr Hall's patent bellows for ventilating men-of-war: naval coll.: late C. 19—early 20. Bowen.

shipwrecked. Topsy: East London (— 1909). Ware. Cf.:

shipwrecky. Weak; 'shaky': mid-C. 19–20: coll. (not very gen.). Hughes, 1857. O.E.D.

shiralee; shirralee. A swag or bundle of blankets, etc.: Australian: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex an Aboriginal word. Cf. bluey, q.v. Morris.

shirk. (As used at Eton, j. = S.E.—) At Winchester, from ca. 1860, shirk in is to walk, instead of plunging, into water, while shirk out is to go out without permission. Cf. shirkster.

shirk, in its orig. sense, 'shark, sharper', 'needy parasite' and 'to live as a parasite' (C. 17-18), may have been coll. or s. or even c. Also sherk, shurk. A variant of shark.

shirkster. One who shirks: Winchester: from ca. 1860. Ex shirk, q.v.

shirralee. See shiralee.—shirry. See sherry, n. and v.

shirt. See boiled shirt and historical or illustrated s.

shirt, fly round and tear one's. To bestir oneself: coll.: C. 19-20; ob.

shirt, lose one's. To become very angry: from ca. 1865. Ex shirt out . . ., q.v.

shirt !, that's up your. That's a puzzler for you! mid-C. 19-20; ob. F. & H.

shirt, up my (your, etc.). For myself, to my account (etc.): c. (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. watch, my*.

shirt collar. (The sum of) five shillings: rhyming s. (on dollar): from ca. 1850; ob. Everyman, March 26, 1931. Oxford scholar is more usual.

shirt does !, do as my. Kiss my ae!: low c.p.: C. 18-20; ob. D'Urfev.

shirt-front wicket. A cricket-pitch that looks glossy and is extremely hard and true: Australian cricketers' coll. (— 1920) >, by 1934, S.E. (Lewis.)

shirt full of sore bones, give one a. To beat him severely: coll.: C. 18. Thomas Fuller, Gnomologia, 1732. (Apperson.)

shirt in the wind. A piece of shirt seen through the fly or, much more gen., through a hole in the seat: late C. 19-20; ob. Gen. flag in the wind.

shirt on, bet or (in C. 20, much more gen.) put one's. To bet all one's money on, hence to risk all on (a horse): from ca. 1890. The O.E.D. records bet at 1892, put at 1897.

shirt out, get or have (a person's). To make or become angry: from middle 1850's. 'Ducange Anglicus' (have); H., 1st ed. (get). Ex the dishevelment caused by rage. Cf. shirty, q.v.

shirt-sleeve. A flannel dance: Stonyhurst: late C. 19-20. 'The costume is an open flannel shirt and flannel trousers,' F. & H.

shirtey. Incorrect for shirty, q.v.

shirtiness. The n. (late C. 19-20) formed from shirty, q.v.

shirtsleeves and shirt-sleeves is a lower classes' c.p. (ca. 1900-12) distinguishing the poor from the rich, hard work from luxury. Ware.

shirty. Angry (temporarily); ill-tempered (by nature); apt to become quickly angered: from late 1850's. H., 1st ed.; Maugham, 1897, Liza of Lambeth, 'You ain't shirty 'cause I kissed yer?' Ex shirt out, q.v.

shise, shiser. See shice, shicer.

shish. A late C. 19-20 variant of shice, adj., 1, and the v., qq.v. Perhaps on shit(ty).

shish joint. A 'shady' bookmaker and assistant: turf c. (— 1932). Also knocking-joint.

shisher. A variant of shicer, 3; C. 20. Slang, p. 246.

shit, shite. Excrement; dung: late C. 16-20 (earlier as diarrhoea, a sense † by C. 15): S.E., but in C. 19-20 a vulgarism. As n., shite is in C. 19-20 comparatively rare except in dial. As excrement, prob. ex the v., common to the Teutonic languages: of. shice, shicer, qq.v. I.e. it is ultimately cognate with shoot.—2. As a term of contempt applied to a person (rarely to a woman), it has perhaps always, C. 16-20, been coll.; in C. 19-20, it is a vulgarism. In C. 19-20, esp. a regular shit, in late C. 19-20 an awful s. Cf. shit-house, q.v.—3. (Gen. subjectively.) A bombardment, esp. with shrapnel: G.W. military. B. & P. Cf. shit, in the, 2.—4. Mud: military: G.W., and prob. before, as certainly after. B. & P.—N.B., 5, many compounds and all proverbs (even Swift's shitten-cum-shites) from n. and v. are S.E., but where they survive (e.g. shit-breech) they survive as vulgarisms: they (e.g. shit-fire, s.-word) do not here receive separate definition unless (e.g. shit-sack) in a specifically unconventional sense: all those which are hereinunder defined have always been coll. or s. See Grose, P., and A. W. Read, Lexical Evidence, 1935 (Paris; privately printed), for further details.—6. 'Before the war [of 1914-18], didn't you sportsmen call everybody who didn't hunt and shoot by a very coarse name, which we can change euphemistically into—squirts?', H. A. Vachell, The Disappearance of Martha Penny, 1934.

shit, shite, v. To stool: C. 14-20: S.E., but in C. 19-20 a vulgarism; at the latter stage, shite is less gen. than shit. See n., 1.—2. To vomit: low coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

shit !; rarely shite ! An exclamation: rather low coll. than a vulgarism: C. 19 (? earlier)—20 Cf. Fr. merde !

sh, in the. In trouble: low coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Often land (another) *in the sh.—2. Hence, in G.W. military, in the mud and slush; in mud and danger; in great or constant danger.

sh, stir-; also sh-hunter. A sodomist: low: C. 19-20. F. & H.

sh, only a little clean. A derisive c.p. addressed to one bedaubed or self-fouled: C. 19-20. In Scottish, gen. . . . clean dirt.

sh-bag. The belly; in pl., the guts: low: mid-C. 19-20. F. & H.

sh cinders !, go and eat coke and. A low, derisively defiant c.p. of late C. 19-20; ob. (A good example of popular wit.)

sh 'em !,—soldiers (! or ?), I've. C. 20 military c.p. derisive of another unit. Prob. suggested by the proverb, applied to the mean, misshapen, ridiculous: He (etc.) looks as though the devil had shit him flying.

sh-hole. The rectum: low coll.: C. 19-20.

sh-house. A C. 20 variant of *sh, n., 2, q.v. Cf. sh-pot, q.v.

sh-hunter. See sh, stir-.

sh in your teeth ! A retort on disagreement: C. 18-mid-19: coll.

sh it in silver, swallow a sovereign and. A semi-proverbial c.p. indicative of the acme of convenience: C. 19-20 (ob.) vulgarism.

sh or bust with (e.g.) him, it's. He loves bragging: low coll.: late C. 19-20. Key: 'He's all wind.'

sh-pot. A thorough or worthless humbug (person); a sneak: low s., and dial.: mid-C. 19-20; ob.

sh-sack. A Nonconformist: 1769, Granger's Biographical History of England, concerning Wm. Jenkin; this coll. term may have arisen in late C. 17; † by 1860. Grose, 2nd ed., repeats Granger's anecdotal 'etymology'.

sh-shark. A nightman: low: mid-C. 19-20; ob.

sh-shoe (occ. s.-shod). 'Derisive to one who has bedaubed his boot,' F. & H.: a low coll. of mid-C. 19-20; very ob. Cf. sh, only a little clean.

sh through one's or the teeth. To vomit : low : late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed., gives the following c.p., (Hark ye, friend,) *have you got a padlock on your a'se, that you sh*te through your teeth?*

sh to a shovel, like. Very adhesive(ly) indeed : low coll. : mid-C. 19—20.

shite. See shit, n. and v.—shitten door. See shines like . . .

shitters. Diarrhoea : dial. and low coll. : C. 19—20.

shittle-cum-shaw, shittle (or shiddle)-cum-shite, shittletidee. Occ. as nn. in allusion, often as exclamations : both contemptuous : C. 19—20 (ob.) dial. and low coll. reduplications on shit and shite, app. influenced by shittle, fickle, flighty.

Shitten Saturday. Easter Saturday : (dial. and schools' : from ca. 1855 ; ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex Shut-in Saturday, for on it Christ's body was entombed.

shivaree. (Much) official talk : 1926, Galsworthy, The Silver Spoon, concerning a law-suit, 'Next came the usual "shivaree" about such and such a case, and what would be taken next, and so on.' For the etymology, see :

shivaroo. A spree ; a party : Australia : 1888, The (Sydney) Bulletin, Oct. 6, 'Government House shivaros' ; slightly ob. On Fr. chez vous (cf. shevoo) ex U.S. shivaree, a noisy serenade, itself a corruption of charivari, itself echoic.

shiver my timbers ! See timbers !, shiver my.

shivering Jemmy (occ., in late C. 19—20, James). A beggar that, on a cold day, exposes himself very meagrely clad for alms : low, mostly London (—1860). H., 2nd ed. Perhaps ex s. J., dial. for shivering grass. Cf. shallow cove and see shallow dodge.

shivers, the. The ague : coll. : 1861, Dickens, in Great Expectations (O.E.D.).—2. Hence (often cold shivers), horror, nervous fear : coll. : from ca. 1880. In C. 20, both senses are S.E. Cf. :

shivery-shakes. The same ; chills : coll. : mid-C. 19—20. Whence :

shivery-shaky. Trembling, esp. with ague or the cold : coll. : mid-C. 19—20. Anon., Derby Day, 1864, 'He's all shivery-shaky, as if he'd got the staggers, or the cold shivers.'

shlemozzle. See shemozzle.—*shlenter. Occ. variant of schlenter.—*shliver. An occ. variant of shiv(e), a knife. Manchon, 1923.—shoal. See shool.

shoal-water off, in. E.g. 'In shoal-water off the horrors,' on the brink of delirium tremens ; 'near' in any fig. sense : nautical coll. : late C. 19—20 ; ob. Bowen.

shock-absorber. An observer (opp. the pilot) : Air Force : from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

shocker. See shilling shocker, which, from 1890, it occ. displaces. Coll. > S.E. shocking. Extremely shocking or disgusting or objectionable : coll. : 1842, Browning, 'Shocking | To think that we buy gowns lined with Ermine | For dolts . . .', O.E.D., but doubtless in spoken use a decade earlier at least. Cf. shockingly.

shocking, adv. Shockingly : low coll. : 1831, "Vot a shocking bad hat !" —the slang Cockney phrase of 1831, as applied to a person : in 1833, Sydney Smith describes New York as 'a shocking big place'. O.E.D.

shockingly. Extremely or very, esp. in pejorative contexts : 1777, Miss Burney, 'Dr Johnson . . . is shockingly near-sighted,' O.E.D. Cf. shocking, adj.—2. Shockingly ill : coll. : 1768, Goldsmith, 'You look most shockingly to-day, my dear friend,' O.E.D.—3. Hence, from ca. 1880, 'abominably', very badly. W. G. Marshall, 'Shockingly paved,' O.E.D.

Shocks. Choques, a small Fr. town near Bethune : military : G.W. (F. & Gibbons.)

shod, come in hosed and. To be born to a good estate : coll. : C. 19—20, ob. Cf. be born with a silver spoon in one's mouth.

shod (all) round, be. To know all about married life : coll. : C. 18—early 19. Swift, in Conversation, I, "Mr Buzzard has married again . . ." "This is his fourth wife ; then he has been shod round."—2. 'A parson who attends a funeral is said to be shod all round, when he receives a hat-band, gloves, and scarf : many shoeings being only partial,' Grose, 2nd ed. : late C. 18—mid-19.

*shoddy-dropper. A seller of cheap serge : New Zealand c. (—1932).

shoe (or S.). Always the—. A room in Southgate Debtors' Prison : C. 19.—2. A tyre, esp. of a motor-car : garages' s. : from ca. 1920. Richard Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934.

shoe-buckles, not worth. Worthless : coll. : late C. 17—18. Ray.

shoe is on the mast, the. 'If you like to be liberal, now's your time' : a c.p. of C. 19 : sailors' > gen. lower classes'. In C. 18, 'when near the end of a long voyage, the sailors nailed a shoe to the mast, the toes downward, that passengers might delicately bestow a parting gift.' (Ware.)

*shoe-leather ! Look out ! ; be careful ! : c. : mid-C. 19—20 ; ob. 'Ducange Anglicus' ; H., 1st ed. Perhaps cf. Warwickshire dial. s.-l., a kicking (E.D.D.).

shoe pinches him, his. He is drunk : coll. : C. 18. Franklin's Drinker's Dict.

shoe the cobbler. 'To tap the ice quickly with the fore-foot when sliding,' F. & H. : coll. : from ca. 1840 ; ob. Cf. cobbler's knock, q.v.

shoe the goose. To undertake or do anything futile or absurd : coll. : C. 15—18. Hoccleve, Skelton, Breton. By late C. 18, it has > a proverb, gen. in form shoe the goslings, usually, however, applied to a busybody smith. Apperson.—2. To get drunk : coll. : C. 17. Cotgrave. Extant in Shropshire and Herefordshire diall. (E.D.D.).

shoe the horse. To cheat one's employer : lower classes' (—1923). Manchon. Perhaps ex :

shoe the (wild) colt. To demand an initiation-fee from one entering on office or employment : dial. (—1828) and coll. ; very ob. as the latter. Punning colt, a greenhorn. F. & H. favours wild, Apperson omits it.

shoemaker. The large Antarctic gull : nautical (—1867). Bowen. Perhaps jocular on its scientific name, skua antarcticus.

shoemaker's pride. Creaking boots or shoes : dial. and coll. : mid-C. 19—20. Cf. :

shoemaker's stocks, be in the. To be pinched by strait shoes : ca. 1660—1910. Pepys, 1666 (O.E.D.) ; Ray, 1678 ; B.E. ; Grose. Cf. shoemaker's pride.

shoes, die in one's. To be hanged : ca. 1690—1910 : S.E. until C. 19, then coll. Motteux ; Barham ; H., 5th ed. (O.E.D.)

shoes, make children's. To be occupied absurdly or trivially ; (to be made) to look ridiculous : coll. : late C. 17—19 ; in C. 19, mainly dial. Behn, 1682, 'Pox ! shall we stand making children's shoes all the year? No: let's begin to settle the nation, I say, and go through-stitch with our work.' Cf:

shoes, make feet for children's. To coit: late C. 18-mid-19. Ex preceding.

shoes are made of running leather, my, your, etc. I, you, etc., am—are—of a wandering disposition, or very restless: semi-proverbial coll.: from ca. 1570; ob. Churchyard, 1575; Hone, 1831. Apperson.

shoesmith. A cobbler: jocular coll.: C. 19-20; ob. On S.E. sense, a shoeing-smith.

shoey. A shoeing-smith: military: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons.—2. (Shoey.) The 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Smith: military: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons.

shoful (1854, but implied for ca. 1850 by Carew's Gipsy); occ. schofel(l) (1839), schoful (1859), shofel (1839), shofle (1862), shouful (—1914), (? only in sense 4) shovel (1864); often showfull (1851). (Only in sense 1 as an adj.) Counterfeit money: Brandon, 1839; 1851, Mayhew; Carew's Autobiography of a Gipsy. Yiddish almost imm. > Cockney s. verging on c., which indeed it may orig. have been—as Smythe-Palmer, 1882, says it was. Ex Yiddish schofel, worthless stuff, ex Ger. schofel, worthless, base, ex Yiddish pronunciation of Hebrew shaphel (or -al), low, as the O.E.D. so clearly sets forth. (Also shoful money: cf. shoful-man, q.v.)—2. A low-class tavern: low: ca. 1850-1910, and perhaps never very gen. Mayhew, 1851. Prob. directly ex the adj. schofel (see sense 1) with place or tavern suppressed.—3. A humbug, an impostor: ca. 1860-90. H., 3rd ed. See sense 1.—4. (Often spelt shofle, occ. shovel.) A hansom cab; among cabmen, a 'shoful' cab, according to Mayhew (London Labour, iii, 351), is one infringing Hansom's patent: 1854, Household Words, vol. viii. (O.E.D.); ob. by 1910, virtually † by 1930. There is little need to suppose with the O.E.D., that this sense may have a distinct origin, though H., 3rd ed., suggests the similarity of a hansom to a shovel or a scoop, and his successor in the 5th ed. cites (à titre de curiosité) a friend's 'shoful, full of show, ergo, beautiful—handsome—Hansom.'—5. See:

shoful (jewellery). Sham jewellery: 1864, H., 3rd ed., but prob. a decade older. Here, shoful may be adj. or n. (see shoful, 1): cf. shoful money.

shoful-man. A counterfeiter of coins, notes, etc.; occ. = shoful-pitcher: c.: 1856, Mayhew.

shoful(-)money. Counterfeit money: c.: from the 1850's. See shoful, 1.

shoful(etc.)-pitcher. A passer of counterfeit money: c. (—1839). Brandon (schofels-); H., 1st ed. (shoful).

shoful-pitching. Passing of counterfeit money; c. (—1857). 'Ducange Anglicus'; H., 2nd ed.: but the reference in Carew's Autobiography of a Gipsy is to some twelve years earlier than in 'Ducange Anglicus'.

shoful pullet. 'A "gay" woman', H., 2nd ed.: low (? c.): ca. 1860-90.

sholl. (Gen. v.t.) To crush the wearer's hat over his eyes: c.: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. ? ex shola (hat), a sola topee.

shoo to a goose, cannot say. To be timid, bashful: from ca. 1630: coll. till C. 19, then S.E.—with boh much more frequent.

shook, ppl. (adj.), itself sol. Robbed; lost by robbery: c. of ca. 1810-80. Vaux, 1812, 'I've been shook of my skin, I have been robbed of my purse.' See shake, v., 3 and 4, and cf. next entry.

—2. A synonym, ca. 1810-50, of rocked, q.v. Vaux.

shook?, have you. Have you succeeded in stealing anything? : c. of ca. 1810-80. See shake, v., 4, and cf. shook. Vaux.

shook on. (Sense 1, gen. of a man; 2, of either sex.) In love with, or possessed of a passion for: Australian: 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'He was awful shook on Madge; but she wouldn't look at him.'—2. Having a great fancy for (a thing): 1888, Boldrewood, 'I'm regular shook on the polka.' Cf. the very Australian crook, ill.

shook-up; esp. reg'lar s.u. Upset; nerve-racked: low coll.: late (? mid) C. 19-20.

shool; Shool. A church or chapel: East London: from ca. 1870. Ware. Ex the Jews' term for their synagogue.

shool; occ. shoole (Grose, 2nd ed.) or shoal (C 19); often shule (C. 18-20) To go about begging, to sponge, to 'scrounge': dial. and s.: from 1730's. Smollett, 1748, 'They went all hands to shooling and begging'; Lover, 1842. Perhaps ex shool, a shovel, via dial. shool, to drag the feet, to saunter.—2. Hence, to skulk: dial. and s.: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed.—3. To impose on (a person): 1745, Bampfylde-Moore Carew (O.E.D.). Ex sense 1.—4. To carry as a 'blind': 1820, Clare: dial. and s.; ob. O.E.D.

shooler or shuler; occ. shoolman. A beggar, vagabond, 'scrounger', loafer: 1830, Carleton, 'What tribes of beggars and shulers,' E.D.D.; F. & H. (shoolman).

shoon. A fool; a lout: c. of late C. 19-20; ob. ? on loon.

shoot. Amount, number: see shoot, the whole. —2. Dismissal, esp. in get or give (a person) the shoot: C. 20.—3. See Shoot, the.

shoot, v.i. (Also shoot a bishop.) To have a wet dream: low: from ca. 1870; ob.—2. V.t., to unload: railway: 1872, The Echo, July 29; slightly ob. Prob. on shoot rubbish.—3. To give utterance to: 1929. Ex shoot!, q.v.—4. See phrases herein-under.

shoot! Go ahead; speak!: from ca. 1925. Ex the cinema: in making a film, shoot! = use your camera now: orig. U.S.

Shoot, the. The Walworth Road station: London: late C. 19-20; ob. Because 'a large number of workpeople alight there', F. & H.; punning rubbish-shoot. shoot, the whole. The entire amount or number or price, etc.: 1884 (O.E.D.) or perhaps from as early as 1880 (Ware): s. >, ca. 1920, coll. Occ. the entire shoot (? first in 1896). Hence, go the whole shoot (—1903), to risk everything. Suggested by whole shot. Cf. shooting-match, q.v.

shoot?, will you. Will you pay for a (small) strong drink? : Australian c.p.: ca. 1900-14.

shoot a man. Gen. as vbl.n., shooting a man, the common practice of jobbers who, guessing whether a broker is a buyer or a seller, alter their prices up or down accordingly: Stock Exchange (—1935).

shoot a paper-bolt. To circulate a false or unauthenticated rumour: coll. (—1923). Manchon.

shoot-about. See shootabout.

shoot-and-scoots. A gen. military synonym of imshee artillery, q.v.: 1915-18.

shoot between or (bet)wixt wind and water. To coit with a woman: coll.: late C. 17-20; ob. Implied in Congreve, 1695.—2. To infect venereally: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., Grose. Gen. in the passive, punning the S.E. sense, 'to receive a shot causing a dangerous leak'.

shoot-fly. The snatching theft of watches: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

shoot in the eye. To do (a person) a bad turn: coll.: late C. 19–20.

shoot in the tail. To coit with (a woman); to sodomise: low: mid-C. 19–20.

shoot into the brown. To fail: Volunteers': ca. 1860–1915. Ware. Ex rifle-practice, at which the poor shot misses the target, his bullet going into the brown earth of the butt.

shoot off one's mouth. To talk; esp. to talk boastfully or indiscreetly; to tell all one knows (cf. spill the beans): orig. (1887) U.S. and = talk abusively; anglicised, thanks to the 'talkies', in 1930–31; in Canada, by 1925. Cf. say a mouthful, spill the beans.

shoot one's linen. To make one's shirt cuffs project beyond one's coat cuffs: coll.: 1878, Yates, in The World, Jan. 16. Cf. shoot your cuff, q.v.

shoot one's lines. To declaim vigorously: theatrical: from ca. 1870.

shoot one's milt or roe. To ejaculate seminally: low: mid-C. 19–20.

shoot one's mouth off. A variant of shoot off one's mouth. Dorothy Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933. Also, as H. Wade, Constable Guard Thyself, 1934, shoot one's mouth.

shoot one's star. To die: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex evanescent shooting stars.

shoot (out) one's neck. 'To butt into a conversation with an unwarranted air of authority; to make a long speech where either brevity or silence is indicated. Often with an implication of boasting or exaggeration': military: from 1915. B. & P. Of American origin.

shoot over the pitcher. To brag of one's shooting: coll.: C. 19.

shoot that! Oh, be quiet!: late C. 19–20. Possibly ex such Americanisms as shoot that hat!—2. Stop talking (about), as in shoot the shop!: late C. 19–20.

shoot the amber. (Of a motorist) to increase speed when the amber light is showing, in order to pass before the red ('stop') light comes on: motorists': from late 1935.

shoot the cat. See cat, shoot the.—2. 'To sound a refrain in the infantry bugle call to defaulters' drill, which, it is fancied, follows the sound of the words "Shoot the cat—shoot the cat",' F. & H.: military: late C. 19–early 20.

shoot the crow. To depart without paying: 1887, Fun, June 8; ob. Cf. burn.

shoot the moon. See moon, shoot the; also shove the moon.

shoot the sitting pheasant. 'To injure or destroy the life or reputation of one who is entirely helpless to defend himself, and therefore has no chance': coll. (— 1931) now verging on S.E. Lyell, 'To shoot at a bird, except when it's in flight, is the height of unsportsmanship.'

shoot up the straight, do a. To coit with a woman: low: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. do a rush . . . and shoot in the tail.

shoot (a person) up with. Not to do something that someone wishes done; to do something other than what was desired: military: from ca. 1925.

shoot your cuff! 'Make the best personal appearance you can and come along' (Ware):

lower classes': ca. 1875–90. The semantics are those of shoot one's linen, q.v.

shootable. Suitable: sol. when not jocular: from ca. 1830. (O.E.D.)

shootabout. An irregular form of football: schools', esp. Charterhouse: late C. 19–20. Also shoot-about, as in A. H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900. Cf. punt-about and run-about.

shooter. A gun or pistol; esp. a revolver: resp. 1840, 1877: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. O.E.D.—2. A shooting-stick: printers': from ca. 1860. Prob. on sense 1.—3. A black morning coat as distinguished from the tail coat worn by the Fifth and Sixth Forms: Harrow: from ca. 1870. Hence, more gen. = any black morning coat: C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

shooter's hill. The 'mons veneris': low: late C. 19–20; ob. Punning Shooter's Hill, London.—2. Whence take a turn on Shooter's Hill, to coit.

shooting a man. See shoot a man.

shooting-gallery, the. The front line: military: 1914–18. The metaphor exists also in Ger. military s.

shooting-match, the whole. The whole thing, affair, etc.: from ca. 1915. (R. Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934.) Ex the whole shoot by influence of the G.W.

Shop, always preceded by the. The Royal Military Academy: Army: mid-C. 19–20. Kipling. A special use of:—2. (shop.) A place of business; where one works: coll.: 1841, Thackeray. An extension of the basic sense (a building, a room, where things are sold).—3. Often, Oxford or Cambridge University: from ca. 1840: s. >, ca. 1880, coll.; slightly ob. Clough in his Long Vacation Pastoral, 'Three weeks hence we return to the shop'; Thackeray, 1848. Esp. the other shop, which is often used of a rival (chiefly, the most important rival) establishment of any kind.—4. Linked with the preceding sense is the jocular one, place—any place whatsoever. (Thus, in political s., the House of Commons, as in Trollope's Framley Parsonage, 1861; among small tradesmen, one's house or home, as in H., 5th ed.; among actors, the theatre, from ca. 1880, says Ware.) Mid-C. 19–20. Cf. shop, all over the, q.v.—5. Hence, in racing, a 'place' (1st, 2nd, or 3rd): from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.—6. An engagement, 'berth': theatrical: 1888, Jerome K. Jerome, 'Being just before Christmas . . . , there was no difficulty in getting another shop,' O.E.D. From twenty years earlier in dial.: see the E.D.D. (Also gen. s.: 1898, W. Pett Ridge, Mord Em'ly.—7. (Cf. sense 1.) the Shop. Stock Exchange s. >, ca. 1900 coll. >, ca. 1910 j., as in The Rialto, May 23, 1889, 'The latest name for the South African gold market is the Shop.'—8. (the shop.) The promoting interest behind an issue of stock: Stock Exchange (— 1935).—9. (shop.) A prison: e.: late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose. Cf. to shop in c.—10. ? hence, the mouth: dial. and s.: from ca. 1860. Whence shut your shop!, be silent!—11. (Certainly ex 'prison' sense.) A guard-room: military: mid-C. 19–20; ob. by 1914, virtually † by 1930.—12. A causing to be arrested: o.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace, e.g. in A King by Night, 1925.. Ex:

shop, v. To imprison: late C. 16–20: S.E. until mid-C. 17, coll. till late C. 17, then c. B.E., Grose.—2. To put (an officer) under arrest in the guard-room: military (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.—3. To lay information on which a person is arrested:

c.: mid-C. 19–20. Frequent in Edgar Wallace's detective novels. Ex sense 1.—4. Whence, or directly ex sense 1, to kill: c.: late C. 19–20. F. & H. Perhaps influenced by ship, to send packing.—5. To dismiss (a shop-assistant): from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Prob. ironically on S.E. shop, to give a person work (1855, O.E.D.).—6. be shopped, get a shop: to gain 1st, 2nd or 3rd place: the turf: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. (get a shop; the other from ca. 1890). Ex the corresponding n.—7. (Gen. in passive.) To engage a person for a piece: theatrical (— 1909). Ware. Ex shop, n., 6.

shop, all over the. Much scattered, spread out, dispersed; erratic in course: 1874 (= 1873), H., 5th ed., 'In pugilistic slang, to punish a man severely is "to knock him all over the shop", i.e. the ring, the place in which the work is done'; 1886, The Pall Mall Gazette, July 29, 'Formerly, the authorities associated with our fisheries were "all over the shop", if a vulgarism of the day be permissible,' O.E.D.: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Ex shop, n., 4.

shop, come or go to the wrong. 'To come (go) to the wrong person or place to get what one requires': coll.: late C. 19–20. Lyell. See shop, n., 4.

shop, get a. See shop, v., 6.

shop, shut up. To cease talking: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. shop, n., penultimate sense.—2. shut up (a person's) shop. To make him cease; to kill him: late C. 19–20; ob.

shop, sink the. To refrain from talking shop: coll.: late C. 19–20. Prob. on sink the ship. (This sense of shop is excellent S.E.; in many ways preferable to jargon, except where a technical term is indispensable.)

shop, top of the. 'No 99 in the game of "Crown and Anchor"': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

shop-bouncer. Mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 1st ed.: low s., bordering on c. A variant of shop-lift, q.v. Ex:

shop-bouncing*. Shoplifting: o. (— 1839). Brandon.

shop-lift*. A shop-thief; esp. one who, while pretending to bargain, steals goods from the shop: ca. 1670–1830: c. until ca. 1700, then S.E. Head, 1673; B.E. See lift.

shop-lifter*. The same: 1680, Kirkman (O.E.D.): c. or s. until C. 19, then coll. till ca. 1840, then S.E. Cf. shop-lift. (Perhaps always S.E.: shop-lifting.)

shop-masher. A very well, or much, dressed shop-assistant: lower classes': ca. 1885–1910. Baumann.

shop-numper*. A beggar operating in shops: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

shop-officer. A professional soldier: military coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Prob. ex shop, n., 1.

shop-pad. A shop-thief: C. 18: s. > coll. Duntun, 1705 (O.E.D.). See pad, n.

shop-'un. A preserved as opp. to a fresh egg: coll.: 1878, dramatist Byron, 'I knows 'em! Shop-'uns! Sixteen a shilling!'

shopkeeper. An article still, after a long time, unsold: 1649, G. Daniel, who uses the frequent variant old shopkeeper. (O.E.D.)

shopper*. He who causes the arrest of a malefactor: c.: C. 20. Edgar Wallace.

shoppie. See shoppy.—shop(p)o. See shappo.

shoppy. A shop-girl or, less often, -man: coll.: C. 20 (H. A. Vachell, Martha Penny, 1934).

shore boss. 'The steward's name for the superintendent steward': nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

shore loafer. Any civilian: bluejackets' pejorative coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

shore saints and sea devils. A nautical (mid-C. 19–20; ob.) c.p. applied to such sailing-ship skippers as were lambs with the owners and lions with the crew. Cf. ship one's land-face, q.v. Bowen.

Shoreditch, the Duke of. A mock-title: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1547–1683. See esp. Ellis's History of Shoreditch, p. 170.

Shores. Lake Shore & Michigan Railroad shares: Stock Exchange coll.: late C. 19–20. A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary, 1895.

short. A card (any below the 8) so tampered with that none above the 8 can be cut, thus reducing the chances of an honour's turning up to two to one: gaming: mid-C. 19–20. (Not to be confused with shorts, short whist).—2. The same as short, something, q.v.: coll.: 1823, Egan's Grose. Cf. short, adj.—3. A short excerpt; a short film or musical composition: coll.: from not later than 1927.

short, adj. Undiluted: coll.: from ca. 1820. See n., 2, and short, something.—2. A cashier's 'Long or short?' means 'Will you have your notes in small or large denominations?'; short because thus there will be few notes, long because many, or because the former method is short, the latter long: bankers' > gen. commercial coll.: from ca. 1840.—3. 'A conductor of an omnibus, or any other servant, is said to be short, when he does not give all the money he receives to his master,' H., 3rd ed.: from ca. 1860; ob. Cf. short one, q.v.

short, bite off. To dismiss, or refuse, abruptly: tailors': from ca. 1870. Prob. ex the habit of biting instead of cutting thread or cotton.

short, something. (A drink of) undiluted spirits: coll.: from ca. 1820. Either because, as Egan (1823) suggests, 'unlengthened by water' or, as O.E.D. proposes, ex short name—e.g. 'brandy', not 'brandy and water'.

short, the long and the. See long and the short. short and sweet, like a donkey's gallop. A coll. elaboration of short and sweet: late C. 19–20: coll. and dial. Apperson.

short and thick, like a Welshman's prick. A low c.p. applied to a short person very broad in the beam: mid-C. 19–20.

short-arm inspection. An inspection 'conducted periodically . . . to detect symptoms of venereal disease': military: from ca. 1910. B. & P. With a pun on pistols.

short-arse driver. An artillery driver: artillerymen's: from ca. 1910. Irrespective of height.

short circuit. Gastro-enterotomy: medical: C. 20. Richard Ince, Shadow-Show, 1932, 'The pleasant little major operation they call . . . facetiously "a short circuit".'

short cock. Cheese: Yorkshire s. (— 1904), not dial. E.D.D.

short hairs, have by the. See hairs, have by the short.

short(-)head. A horse that fails by a short head: racing coll.: 1883, J. Greenwood, 'That horribly anathematised short head.'

short home, come. To be put in prison: coll.: C. 17–18. Ex S.E. sense, to fail to return (orig. and esp. from an expedition).

short(-)length. A small glass of brandy: coll. (Scots, esp. Glasgow): 1864, The Glasgow Citizen, Nov. 19, 'The exhilarating short-length.'

short-limbered. Touchy: late C. 19—early 20. Cf. short-waisted.

short of a sheet. Mentally deficient: late C. 19—20; ob. Cf. shingle short.

short(-)one. A passenger not on the way-bill: coaching: ca. 1830—70. Because the way-bill is short of this passenger's name: C. short, adj., 3.—2. See short 'un.

short(-)stick. (Occ. collective.) A piece, or pieces, of material of insufficient length: 'drapers': from ca. 1860. Once a Week, 1863, viii, 179.

short time. A visit to a prostitute for one copulation only: low coll.: late C. 19—20. Hence:

short-timers. An (amorous) couple hiring a room for an hour or two: low: C. 20. Manchon.

short 'un. A partridge: poachers' (— 1909). Ware derives ex 'the almost complete absence of tail feathers'. Contrast long 'un, and see tall 'un.

short-waisted. Irritable; touchy: esp. among tailors: from ca. 1870. Cf. short-limbered.

shortening, vbl.n. Clipping coins (as a profession): c.: ca. 1865; ob. 'No. 747.'

shorter. A coin-clipper: low s. verging on c.: 1857, Borrow's Romany Rye.

shorthorn; mechanical cow. A Maurice Farman biplane, either without (shorthorn) or with (m. cow), long front skids: Air Force nicknames: 1913; now only historical. O.E.D. (Sup.).

shorts. Short-dated securities: money-market coll.: from ca. 1930. O.E.D. (Sup.).

Shorty is an inevitable nickname of men surnamed Wright: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

Shot. (Always—or virtually—the Shot.) Alder-shot: Regular Army: from ca. 1880. F. & Gibbons.

shot. Amount due for payment; one's share thereof: late C. 15—20: S.E. until late C. 18, then coll. Grose. Cf. shoot, the whole, q.v.—2. A corpse disinterred: body-snatchers' s. > j.: 1828, The Annual Register; ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. App. ex a good shot for the doctors. O.E.D.—3. A meridional altitude ascertained by shooting the sun: nautical (— 1867). Smyth.—4. An extremely hard cake, tart, etc.: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.—5. Hence, something difficult to tolerate or believe: id. Ibid.—6. Money: low (— 1923). Ib.—7. A photograph taken with cinematograph camera: coll.: U.S. (ca. 1923), anglicised by 1925. O.E.D. (Sup.).—8. A dram (of spirits): coll.: U.S., anglicised by 1932. Ibid.—9. A dose (of a drug): 1929. Ibid.—10. A stroke with cane or strap: Harrow School: late C. 19—20. Arnold Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913.

shot, v. To make a weak-winded horse seemingly sound: horse-dealers' (— 1874). H., 5th ed. By dosing with small shot to 'open his pipes'.

shot, adj. Topsy: from ca. 1870. Ex being wounded by a shot. Cf. the U.S. shot in the neck, perhaps the imm. origin, and shot-away, and overshot.

shot! Look out, a master's coming!: Royal High School, Edinburgh: late C. 19—20.—2. Abbr. good shot!; gen. 'shot, sir!': late C. 19—20: coll. >, by 1920, S.E. (Collinson.)

shot, be. 'To make a disadvantageous bet which is instantly accepted,' F. & H.: the turf: from ca. 1880.—2. To be photographed: photographers' coll.: from ca. 1885.

shot, do a. See do a shot.

shot, hot. See hot shot.

shot, like a. Very quickly; immediately: coll.: 1809, Malkin (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, very willingly, unhesitantly: coll.: late C. 19—20.

shot, pay the. v.i. and t. To coit (with a woman): coll.: C. 17—19. F. & H. quotes two C. 17 broadside ballads. Ex pay the shot, to pay the bill or one's share of it, now coll. (see shot, n., 1.).

shot at dawn, to be. A jocular military c.p. (1915; ob.) applied to a person in trouble. F. & Gibbons. Ex death at the hands of a post-court-martial shooting-squad.

shot-away. Topsy: nautical: late C. 19—20. Bowen. Cf. shot, adj.

shot-bag. A purse: 1848, Durivage, 'Depositing the "tin" in his shot-bag'; slightly ob. Ex shot, money, as in shot in the locker.

shot between or (be)twixt wind and water. See shot between . . .

shot-clog. A simpleton tolerated only because of his willingness to 'pay the shot': mid-C. 19—20; ob. Cf. shot-ship, q.v.

shot down, ppl.adj. Beaten in an argument: aircraft engineers': from ca. 1918. The Daily Herald, Aug. 1, 1936. Ex 'planes being shot down in G.W.

shot first, I'll see (him, her, gen.) you. Damned if I'll do it!: low coll.: 1894, 'John Strange Winter' (O.E.D.). A variant of:

shot if —, I'll (or may I) be. Mildly imprecatory or strongly dissenting: low coll.: 1826, Buckstone, 'He, he, he! I'll be shot if Lunnun temptation be anything to this.' H., 1st ed., has the ob. variant, I wish I may be shot if —. Cf. shot first . . .

shot in the eye. An ill turn: coll.: late C. 19—20; slightly ob. Pearson's Magazine, Sept., 1897, 'Getting square with the millionaire who had done him such an unscrupulous shot in the eye.'

shot in the giblets or tail. Pregnant: low: mid-C. 19—20.

shot in the locker, nct a. Destitute of money, ideas, or anything else: naval coll.: mid-C. 19—20. Bowen.

shot of. A mid-C. 19—20 Cockney variant of shut of, q.v. H., 2nd ed.

shot on the post, be. To have a competitor pass one as one eases for, or wearies at, the finish: athletics coll.: 1897. Ex:—2. The same of horses in racing: adumbrated in 1868: coll. (By 1920, both senses were S.E.) O.E.D.

shot-ship. 'A company sharing and sharing alike,' F. & H.: printers': from ca. 1875.

shot-soup. Inferior pea-soup: nautical: late C. 19—20; ob. Ex peas like bullets.

shot 'twixt . . . See shot between . . .

shot up the back, be. To be put out of action or detected: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

shotter. See fly-balance.—shouful. See shoful.

should say (suppose, think), I. I'm very much inclined to say, etc.; I certainly do say, etc.: coll.: 1775, C. Johnston, 'I should rather think he has a mind to finger its finances,' O.E.D.

shoulder, v.i. and t. To take passengers without entering them on the way-bill, thus defrauding the employer: coaching: ca. 1820—70. 'Jon Bee', 1823; cf. his Picture of London, 1828 (p. 33).—2. Hence, v.t., of any servant embezzling his master's money: from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed.; ob. Both senses very frequent as vbl.n.

shoulder (or, more gen., shoulders), narrow in the. Not good at taking a joke: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

shoulder, over the (left). See left (shoulder), over the.

shoulder, slip of the. (Of the woman 'victim') seduction: coll.: C. 19.

shoulder-feast. A dinner for the hearse-bearers after a funeral: ca. 1810-60. Lex. Bal.

shoulder-sham. A partner to a 'file', q.v.: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E. shoulder-stick. A passenger not on the way-bill, i.e. one whose fare goes into the pockets of driver and guard: coaching: ca. 1825-70. Cf. short one.

shouldering. See shoulder.

shouldology; sleeveology. Discussion of shoulders and sleeves by: tailors: C. 20. Cf. collarology.

shout. 'A call to a waiter to replenish the glasses of a company: hence, a turn in paying for a round of drinks. Also, a free drink given to all present by one of the company; a drinking party,' this last being rare: Australian, hence New Zealand; by 1903 (indeed, long before that: see H., 3rd ed., 1864), fairly gen.: 1863, H. Simcox, 'Many a "shout" they're treated to.' O.E.D. and Morris. Ex shout, v.i.—2. Hence, one's turn to entertain another: from ca. 1885. E.g. 'It's my shout this time.' Baumann.

shout, v. To stand drinks to the company, hence to even one person: v.i., 1859, H. Kingsley; v.t., to pay for drinks for (a person, persons), hence for (say) 'smokes', 1867, Lindsay Gordon; hence, late C. 19-20, to entertain (a person, persons). Australian, hence New Zealand; by 1864—witness H., 3rd ed.—well-known in England. (Morris; O.E.D.) Ex shouting to the waiter to fetch drinks.

shout, go on the. To embark on a bout of drinking; to drink to excess: from ca. 1890: orig. Australian; by 1905, gen. Kipling (O.E.D.). See shout, n., and cf. next two entries.

shout, stand (a). To pay for drinks all round: 1887, 'Hopeful', 'There is a great deal of standing "shout" in the Colonies,' O.E.D. See shout, n., 1.

shout oneself hoarse. To get drunk: gen. s. (—1903). Punning lit. sense of the whole phrase and the s. sense of shout, v. (q.v.).

shout the odds. See odds, shout the.

shout up. To address vigorously by way of warning: coll.: from ca. 1930.

shouter. One who 'shouts': 1885, Douglas Sladen (O.E.D.). See shout, v. Cf.:

shouting, vbl.n. (Issuing) an 'all-in' invitation to drink. See shout, v. 1.

shov. A knuff: c. (—1909). Ware. Ex chiv(e) on shove.

shove, n. See shove, the and on the; also shove in the eye and the mouth.—2. A coition: coll.: C. 18-20. Ned Ward, 1707. Esp. in give (a woman) a shove. Cf. shove, v., 2, and push.—3. Empty talk; self-glorification: coll., at first (ca. 1880) low urban, but by 1887 (at latest), gen.; † by 1920. Prob. ex:—4. Energy; initiative: (low) coll.: from the 1870's; ob. Presumably suggested by equivalent push.

shove, v.t. To thrust, put, carelessly or roughly or hurriedly into a place, a receptacle: familiar S.E. often merging into coll.: 1827, Scott, 'Middlemas . . . shoved into his bosom a small packet.' Also shove aside (1864) or away (1861). O.E.D.—2. Gen. v.t. To coit (with): coll.: C. 17-20; ob.—3. See vbl. phrases here ensuing.

shove, be on the. To keep moving, to move: coll.: late C. 19-20.

shove, get and give the. See shove, the.

shove, on the. On the move; moving: coll.: late C. 19-20. Milliken, 1893, 'There's always some fun afoot there, as will keep a chap fair on the shove.'

shove, the. A dismissal: 1899, Whiteing in No. 5 John Street, has both get the shove and give the shove, to be dismissed, to dismiss. Cf. push, get or give the.

shove along. See shove off.

shove for. To go to; make a move towards: coll.: 1884, Mark Twain, 'Me and Tom shoved for bed.' Cf. shove, be on the, and shove off.

shove-halfpenny. A gambling game akin to shovel-board: 1841, Punch, Nov. 27, 'The favourite game of shove-halfpenny': s. >, ca. 1910, coll. On the † shove-groat, slide-groat, and shove-board (later shovel-board).

shove in (a thing). To pawn it: low coll.: late C. 19-20. Ware.

shove in one's face. To put in one's mouth: low coll.: late C. 19-20. A. A. Milne, Two People, 1931, (self-made millionaire loquitor) 'For years . . . I used to say, "Here, shove that in your face," whenever I offered anybody a cigar.'

shove in the eye, etc. A punch in the eye, etc.: coll.: late C. 19-20. Whiteing, 1899, 'Mind your own bloom'n' business, or I'll give yer a shove in the eye.'

shove in the mouth. A drink: 1811, Lex. Bal.; ob.

shove off. To depart: coll.: C. 20. Ware. Ex nautical sense, prob. on push off, q.v. Cf. shove along: coll. (—1923): To make one's way quietly. Manchon.

shove on. To lay a bet of so much on (a horse): turf coll.: late C. 19-20. Manchon.

shove the moon. To slip away with one's goods without paying the rent: low: 1809, G. Andrewes, slang-lexicographer; † by 1880. Cf. moon, shoot the.

shove the queer, the article being occ. omitted. To pass counterfeit money: c.: mid-C. 19-20: ? orig. U.S. Matsell. See queer, n.

shove the tumbler. To be whipped at the cart's tail: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E.; Hall's Memoirs, 1708, 'Those cast for Petit-larceny shove the tumbler'; Grose. A tumbler is a cart.

shove-up. Nothing: c. or low s. of ca. 1810-60. Ex † shove-up socket, a 'gadget' enabling a candle to burn right out. (Vaux.)

shovel. A hansom cab. See shoful, 4.—2. An engineer in the Navy: nautical: ca. 1855-70. Because they were rough and ignorant. Century Dict.

[shovel, bloody. Generic for unnecessarily coarse speech: C. 20. Ex the chestnut of the bishop who, to a workman asserting that he always called a spade a spade, replied that that was all right but that he thought the workman usually called it a bloody shovel.]

shovel, or fire-shovel, he or she was fed with a. A c.p. applied to a person with a very large mouth: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. (fire-shovel).

shovel, put to bed with a. To be buried: coll.: from ca. 1780; very ob. Grose, 1st ed. In C. 19, occ. with a spade.

shovel!, that's before you bought your. That is one against you; that settles your hash: coll.: ca. 1850-1910.

shovel-engineer. An artificer engineer: naval coll.: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons.

shover. A passer of base coin: c.: orig. U.S.: anglicised ca. 1890. Abbr. shover of the queer.—2. (Also shuvver.) A chauffeur: jocular coll.: 1908 (S.O.D.).

shover of the queer. The same: c.: U.S., anglicised ca. 1870. Figaro, Feb. 20, 1871, 'A saloon . . . headquarters of all the counterfeiters and shovers of the queer in the country.' See queer, n.

show. Any public display (a picture-exhibition, a play, a fashionable assembly or ceremony, a speech-making, etc.): coll.: 1863, Sala. O.E.D. Ex show, an elaborate spectacle.—2. Hence, a matter, affair, 'concern': 1888, Rider Haggard, in the Summer Number of the Illustrated London News, 'Their presence was necessary to the show.'—3. A group or association of persons. Mostly in boss the show, and implicatively in give the show away, qq.v.—4. A fight, an attack: G.W. military, but not, I think, before 1915. Ex sense 1. (Cf. show, put up a.) B. & P.

show, v.i. In boxing, to enter the ring as a combatant: boxing coll. of ca. 1813–50, the O.E.D.'s latest example being of 1828.—2. Hence, to appear in society or company; at an assembly, etc.: coll.: 1825, Westmacott, 'He shows in Park'; 1898, Jean Owen, 'If the king was in the cabin . . . no subject might show on deck.' O.E.D. In C. 20, this sense is ob., show up being much more gen.: show up, likewise coll., occurring first in W. Black's Yolande, 1883 ('Don't you think it prudent of me to show up as often as I can in the House . . . so that my good friends in Slagpool mayn't begin to grumble about my being away so frequently?') and meaning also to 'turn up' for an appointment.—3. To exhibit oneself for a consideration: coll.: 1898, The Daily News, April 2, 'He got a living by "showing" in the various public-houses.' O.E.D.

show, boss or run the. To assume control; act as manager: 1889, boss (perhaps orig. U.S.); in C. 20, often run. See show, n., 2, 3.

show, do a. To go to a public entertainment: coll.: from ca. 1906. See show, n., 1.

show, put up a. To give some, gen. a good, account of oneself. Usually defined as a (very) good, a bad (or rotten) show: from 1915, orig. military. See show, n., last sense.

show, run the. See show, boss the.

show, steal the. To gain most of the applause; greatly to outshine other performers: music-hall and variety s.: C. 20. The New Zealand Free Lance, late June or early July 1934 (reprinted in Everyman, Aug. 24, 1934), in an article entitled 'The Star Turn', represents a British Lion batsman saying to an Australian Kangaroo bowler, 'It seems we've stolen the show, Aussie.'

show, there's another. A 'tic-tac' (q.v.) has signalled new odds: turf c. (—1932).

show a leg! See shew a leg.

show a point to. See point to.

show away, give the. To blab, confess; to expose the disadvantages or pretentiousness of an affair, esp. one in which a group is concerned: 1899, Delannoy, £19,000, 'I didn't want to give the show away': s. >, by 1930, coll. (Lyell.)

show (him) London. To hold one, upside down, by the heels: schools': from ca. 1880. Opp. see London, to be thus held; also, to hang by the heels from a trapeze, a horizontal bar, etc.

show kit. To go sick: military coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. If, as a result, one left one's unit, certain equipment was, in certain circumstances, handed in at the quartermaster's stores.

show-leg day. See shew-leg day.

show off, v.i. To act, talk, ostentatiously or in order to attract attention to oneself: coll.: from ca. 1790. Gilbert White; D. C. Murray. O.E.D. Frequently as vbl.n.

show-up. An exhibition (of work): coll.: 1930. O.E.D. (Sup.) Prob suggested by Fr. exposé and exposition.

show up, v. See show, v., 2. Esp. of a released convict reporting once a month to the police: c. (—1933). Charles E. Leach.—3. To report (a boy): Charterhouse: C. 20. E.g., 'I'll show you up.'

showbanker. See scowbanker.—showed. Shown: sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann.

showful(l) and compounds. See shoful.

showing, a front. A short-notice parade: military: late C. 19–20; ob. Because while one might possibly pass muster in front, at the back . . .

[Showman, The. For this 'gag'-recitation, see B. & P., 3rd ed., pp. 271–72.]

[Showmen's s. is an 'odd mixture of rhyming slang, Yiddish and Romany [and Italian and cant], P. Allingham in The Evening News, July 9, 1934. Cf. 'Grafters' slang', q.v.]

shrap. Wine used in swindling: very local c. of ca. 1592. Greene, The Black Book's Messenger. Prob. ex † shrap(e), a bait, a snare.—2. Shrapnel: military coll.: from 1914. F. & Gibbons.

shrapnel. French currency notes of low denomination: New Zealanders': in G.W. They were often holey, as though punctured with shrapnel.

shred(s). A tailor: late C. 16–early 19. Jonson, shreds; Massinger & Field, B.E., and Grose, 1st ed., shred. O.E.D. Cf.:

shreds and patches. A tailor: coll.: C. 18–20; ob.

shrewd head. A New Zealand and Australian variant (C. 20) of:

shrewdy. A shrewd, esp. a cunning, person; a trickster: coll.: late C. 19–20. Mostly military and Australian. (F. & Gibbons.)

Shrewsbury clock, by. A coll. phrase lessening or even cancelling the period of time—or the fact—mentioned: late C. 16–20; ob. Shakespeare; Gayton, 'The Knight that fought by th' clock at Shrewsbury'; Mrs Cowley, 1783; Stevenson, 1891. Apperson.

shriek. An exclamation-mark: coll.: 1864, Dean Alford; ob. Whence shriek-mark.—2. An alarmed, surprised, or reproachful outcry: coll.: 1929 (O.E.D. Sup.).—3. A 'scream' (q.v.): coll.: 1930, E. Bramah (ibid.).

shriek-mark. An exclamation-mark: authors', typists' coll.: C. 20. Cf. Christer.

shrieking sisterhood. Women reformers, hence female busybodies: journalistic coll.: ca. 1890–1910. Milliken, 1893, 'This yere shrieking sisterhood lay ain't 'arf bad.'

shrift!, he hath been at. An ecclesiastical c.p. of C. 16: applied to one who has been betrayed he knows not how. Tyndale, The Obedience of a Christian Man, 1528. The implication is that the priest to whom he confessed has betrayed him.

shrimp. A harlot: ca. 1630–70. Whiting, 1638, in Albino and Bellama.

shroff. See schroff.

shrubby. (Gen. the female) pubic hair: coll.: late C. 19–20.

shtumer. See stumer.

shucks! Nonsense!; I don't care!: coll.: 1885 (O.E.D.): U.S. partly anglicised ca. 1900. Ex shuck, typifying the worthless, itself orig. (and still) a husk or shell.

shuffer. A chauffeur: from ca. 1905. (Milward Kennedy, Death to the Rescue, 1931.)

shuffle, v.t. To feign, as in shuffle asleep, pretend to be asleep. Whence shuffler. Winchester: mid-C. 19–20. Ex S.E. sense, act evasively.

shuffler. (App.) a drinker; prob. one who 'wangles' or 'scrounges' drinks: Brathwait, 1652. Always with ruffler and snuffler. O.E.D.

shule, shuler, shuling. See shool, shooler, shoaling—shulleg-day. See shew-leg day.

'shun! Attention!: military coll. (from the middle 1880's) >, ca. 1910, j. Cf. hipe, q.v.

shunt. To move aside (—1859); to kill (—1909): railwaymen's coll. H., 1st ed.; Ware. Ex lit. sense. —2. To shift the responsibility of (a thing) on to another person: coll. (—1923). Manchon. —3. See:

shunt, v.; shunter. The v. is app. unrecorded before 1908 (O.E.D.). The n.: 'One who buys or sells stock on the chance of undoing his business, on one of the provincial Stock Exchanges, at a profit,' Atkin in Home Scraps, 1887: Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1885. Ex railway terminology. Also shunting, C. 20.—2. An able organiser: C. 20. S.O.D. Likewise ex railway sense.

shurk. A variant of shark. See shirk.

shut-eye. Sleep: tramps' c. (from not later than 1915) >, by 1925 at latest, gen. jocular. On Jan. 13, 1934, the incorrigible K.G.R. Browne speaks of 'A spot of shut-eye.'—2. Hence, a deception, a trick, a swindle: Glasgow (—1934).

shut it! Be silent!; stop that noise!: from mid-1880's. 'Pomes' Marshall, ca. 1890, 'Oh, shut it! Close your mouth until I tell you when' shut of, be or get. (See also shot of.) To be free from, rid of: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; in late C. 19–20, low coll. Rolf Boldrewood, 1888, 'Father . . . gets shut of a deal of trouble . . . by always sticking to one thing'; R. L. Stevenson, 1891, 'What we want is to be shut of him.' In active mood from ca. 1500, whence this passive usage. Cf. dial. be shut on, as in Mrs Gaskell's Mary Barton, 1843, and shut, a riddance.

shut one's lights off. To commit suicide; whence, loosely, to die: from ca. 1829. (Lyell.)

shut up. To end (a matter): coll.: 1857, Dickens, 'Now, I'll tell you what it is, and this shuts it up,' O.E.D.—2. (Gen. in imperative: cf. shut it! and shut your face, head, mouth, neck!) To cease talking; stop making a noise: 1853, 'C. Bede' (O.E.D.); Mursell, Lecture on Slang, 1858, 'When a man . . . holds his peace, he shuts up'; Maugham, 1897. S. >, ca. 1890, coll. Ex S.E. sense, to conclude one's remarks. The C. 17 equivalent was sneck (or snick) up!, q.v.—3. V.i. 'To give up, as one horse when challenged by another in a race,' Krik, Guide to the Turf. (Krik being the pseudonym of B. Reid Kirk, Amicus Equus . . . And a Guide to Horse Buyers, 1884): racing coll. (? orig. s.). Cf. shut up, adj.—4. Hence, to stop doing something (no matter what): low: C. 20.

shut up, adj. Completely exhausted: ca. 1860–1900. H., 3rd ed.

shut-up house. 'The land headquarters of the local Press Gang': naval coll.: late C. 18–mid-19. Bowen.

shut up shop. See shop, shut up.

shut up shop-windows, have. To be bankrupt: coll.: ca. 1675–1850. Ray, 1678 (Apperson). Cf. shutters, put up the, 2.

shut up, you little . . . See what did you do . . . ?

shut up your garret! Hold your tongue!: low (—1909). Ware. Cf.:

shut your face, head, neck, rag-box! Be quiet!: Stop talking: low: from mid-1870's: perhaps (except for last, which occurs in Kipling, 1892) orig. U.S., for shut your head! is recorded first in Mark Twain in 1876 and this appears to be the earliest of these phrases; shut your neck is in Runciman, Chequers, 1888; shut your face, from before 1903. All on the analogy of shut your mouth!, which, though admittedly familiar, is yet S.E. Cf. shut it! and shut up, 2, qq.v.

shuts. As n., a hoax, a 'sell'; as interjection, 'sold again!' Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1860. Cf. done!

shutter, gen. pronounced shetter. To convey a 'drunk' on a shop-shutter to the police-station, the police carrying him: low Cockney (—1909); very ob. Ware.

shutter-racket. The practice of stealing from a building by boring a hole in a window-shutter and taking out a pane of glass: c. of ca. 1810–60. Vaux.

shuttered (often pron. shettered). In a state of complete ignominy: low (—1909). Ware. Perhaps ex sense 2 of:

shutters, put up the. To 'bung up' the eyes of one's opponent: boxing: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob.—2. To stop payment, announce oneself bankrupt: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex S.E. sense, to close a shop for the day. Cf. shut up shop-windows.

shutters up, got the. See got the shutters up.

shuttle-bag, swallow the. To get husky-throated: (? dial. and) coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

shuvly-kouse. A public-house: low urban (—1909); virtually †. Ware, 'This phrase spread through London from a police-court case, in which a half-witted girl used this phrase.'

shy. A quick and either jerky or careless (or jerkily careless) casting of a stone, ball, etc.: coll.: 1791, Brand (O.E.D.). Ex v., 1, q.v.—2. Hence, A 'go', attempt, experiment, chance: coll.: 1823, Egan's Grose; 1824, Egan (vol. iv of Boxiana), 'I like to have a shy for my money.' —3. Fig., a 'fling', a jibe or sarcasm (at . . .): 1840, De Quincey, 'Rousseau . . . taking a "shy" at any random object,' O.E.D.—4. The Eton Football sense, orig. (1868) coll., soon > j.—5. A thrower, esp. in cricket: coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.).

shy, v. (In late C. 19–early 20, occ. shie.) V.i., to throw a missile jerkily or carelessly or with careless jerkiness: coll.: 1787, Bentham, 'A sort of cock for him . . . to shie at,' O.E.D. Perhaps ex shy(-)cock, q.v.—2. Hence, v.t.: To throw, toss, jerk: coll.: lit., 1824, Egan; fig., Scott, 1827, 'I cannot keep up with the world without shying a letter now and then.'

shy, adj. Short, low (of money): low: 1821, Haggart, 'Although I had not been idle during these three months, I found my blunt getting shy.' † by 1900.—2. Whence shy of, short of (money); hence provisions, etc.): Australia: late C. 19–20. Cf. U.S. shy, shy of, lacking, short of (O.E.D., 799, § 6, b), a usage perhaps influencing, but not originating, the Australian.—3. Disreputable; not quite honest: 1849, Thackeray, 'Mr Wagg . . . said, "Rather a shy place for a sucking county member, ay, Pynsent?"'; 1864, H. J. Byron, 'Shy turf-transaction.' S. >, ca. 1900, coll.; by 1930, ob. Prob. ex S.E. sense, timid, bashful.—4. ? hence, doubtful in quantity and/or quality: 1850, Thackeray, 'That uncommonly shy supper of dry bread and milk-and-water'; Mark Lemon, 1865, 'Her geography is rather shy, and I can make her believe anything,' O.E.D. Rare in C. 20, virtually † by 1935.

shy, coco-nut. An amusement (and its means) consisting in throwing balls at coco-nuts: 1903 (S.O.D.): coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.

shy(-)cock. A wary person, esp. one who keeps indoors to avoid the bailiffs: 1768, Goldsmith (O.E.D.); Grose, 1st ed.—2. Hence, a cowardly person: 1796, F. Reynolds (O.E.D.). Both senses † by ca. 1850, the latest record being of 1825 (F. & H.). Prob. ex lit. sense, a cock not easily caught, one that will not fight.

shy-making. Alluded-to by Somerset Maugham in Cakes and Ale, 1930, thus, 'Popular adjectives (like "divine" and "shy-making"),' this adj., used lit., was nevertheless ob. by 1934. It was coined, or rather first recorded, by Evelyn Waugh.

shyer; shier. One who throws as in shy, v. (q.v.): coll. (— 1895). O.E.D.

shyin'. See shine, adj.

shyster. An unprofessional, dishonest, or rapacious lawyer (1856); hence, anyone not too particular as to how he conducts business (1877); hence (— 1903), a generic pejorative: U.S., anglicised resp. ca. 1890, 1900, 1905. Either ex shy, adj., 3, or ex shicer: cf. next sense. Thornton, F. & H., O.E.D.—2. 'A duffer, a vagabond,' H., 3rd ed.: from ca. 1860. This sense, independent of U.S. shyster, is a variant of shicer, 2, q.v.

si quis. A candidate for holy orders: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex the public notice of ordination, so named because it began Si quis, if any . . .

sice. Sixpence: c.: ca. 1660–1850. Tatham, 1660 (O.E.D.); Covent Garden Drollery, 1672; B.E.; Grose; Lytton. Ex sice, the six in dice.

sich, sitch. Such: sol. and dial.: C. 19 (? earlier)–20. Baumann.

sick. Disgusted; exceedingly annoyed or chagrined: 1853, Surtees, 'How sick he was when the jury . . . gave five hundred pounds damages against him,' O.E.D. Ex sick (of), thoroughly weary (of), prob. via sick and tired (of).—2. (Of a ship) 'in quarantine on suspicion of infectious disease' (Bowen): nautical coll.: C. 20.

sick, enough to make a horse. See sick as a cat.

sick, knock (a person). To astound, 'flabbergast': coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex sick, 1.

sick, the. See sicks, the.

sick as a cat, cushion, dog, horse, rat,—as. Very sick or ill indeed: coll. verging on S.E.: resp. 1869, Spurgeon; ca. 1675–1800, Ray, Swift; late C. 16–20, G. Harvey, Garrick, Mrs. Henry Wood; ca. 1680–1830 (Meriton, 1685; Sterne; Grose), then coll.; late C. 19–20, ob. (F. & H.). As a horse does not vomit, to be as sick as a horse connotes extreme discomfort. Northamptonshire dial. is logical in that it applies the phrase to a person 'exceedingly sick without vomiting' (Miss Baker, 1854).

sick-bay moocher. A malingerer: Conway cadets: from before 1891. (John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.) See moocher.

sick friend, sit up with a. (Of a man) to excuse oneself for absence all night from the conjugal bed: from ca. 1880; slightly ob. Cf. see a man about a dog (at dog).

sick-list, on the. Ill: coll.: C. 20. Ex s.-l., an official list of the sick.

sick man (or S.M.) of Europe, the. 'Any reigning sultan of Turkey': political nickname (coll. verging on S.E.): 1853, when used by Nicholas I of Russia to Sir George Hamilton Seymour, the English Ambassador at St Petersburg; slightly ob. (Ware.)

sick of the fever burden. To be 'bone' lazy: coll.: C. 16–17. E.g. in Fulwood's Enemy of Idleness, 1593, 'You have the palsey or eke the fever burden'; Ray. (Apperson.) Cf. sick of the Lombard fever.

sick of the idle crick and the belly-work in the heel. As preceding: coll.: ca. 1670–1750. Ray, 1678, thus: sick o'th' idle crick, and the belly-work i' th' heel, therefore prob. orig. Northern dial. Derisive, presumably, of an illness alleged to excuse idleness. Cf.:

sick of the idles. Exceedingly lazy; idle without the will to work: coll.: 1639, John Clarke; Ray, 1670. Ob. by 1850, but not yet †. Cf. preceding two entries and:

sick of the Lombard fever. The same: coll.: ca. 1650–1720. Howell, 1659; Ray, 1670. (Apperson.) Cf. sick of the fever burden.

sick of the simples. See simples, be cut for the. sick up, v.i. and t. To vomit: low coll.: late (? mid-) C. 19–20.

sickening. Unpleasant; inconvenient; (of persons) rude: Society coll.: from ca. 1920. Denis Mackail, Greenery Street, 1925, "'Just a little demonstration of two men telephoning to each other. Twenty seconds by the clock.'" "Don't be sickening, Ian," [said Felicity].

sicker, the. The medical officer's report: military, mostly officers': from 1914. F. & Gibbons. I.e. sick + 'the Oxford-er'.

sickrel. 'A puny, sickly Creature,' B.E.: late C. 17–early 18. O.E.D. says that it is c.: but B.E. does not so classify it. Pejorative on sick: cf. cockerel on cock.

sicks (occ. sick), the. A feeling of nausea. Esp. in give one the sicks, to get on a person's nerves: late C. 19–20. (Compton Mackenzie, Water on the Brain, 1933, the sick; John Brophy, Waterfront, 1934, the sicks.)

sid down. A low, slovenly form of sit down, esp. in the imperative, which is occ. written siddown, as, e.g., in James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. The t has been blunted by the d of down.

siddown! See sid down.

side. Conceit, swagger; pretentiousness. Earliest and often put on side, to give oneself airs, to 'swank'. Hatton, 1878; 'Pomes' Marshall. Ex side, proud, or more prob., as W. suggests, by a pun on put on side at billiards.

side! Yes: Northern c. (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. ? on It., Sp. si, yes.

side, on the (e.g. cool). Rather cool: 1923, A. J. Anderson: coll. >, by 1933, S.E. (Collinson; O.E.D. Sup.)—2. Often tautological, as in the musical side, music. Cf. purposes, q.v.

side, over the. See over the side.

side about. To put on 'side': Public Schools': C. 20. (P. G. Wodehouse, Mike, 1909.)

side-boards. A shirt-collar: low (— 1857); † by 1900. 'Ducange Anglicus'. Prob. the same collar as that defined at sideboard.—2. See sideboards.

side-kick. A close companion; a mate, occ. an assistant, on a job: Canadian and Australian: from not later than 1914. Ex the side-kicker of U.S.A., where, since 1920, side-kick has been the more frequent; side-kicker is occ. heard in England, as e.g. in P. MacDonald, Rope to Spare, 1932. Cf. offsider, q.v.

side-lever, gen. in pl. Hair growing down the cheek at the side of the ear: C. 20. (Author first heard it in 1923.) Cf. side-wings, side-boards, and the U.S. side-burns.

side-lights. Eyes: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

side-pocket, wanted as much as a dog (or toad) wants a. A c.p. applied to one who desires something unnecessary: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 1st ed., toad (at toad); dog in Grose, 2nd ed., where also the variant as much need of a wife as a dog of a side-pocket, applied to a debilitated old man. Quiller-Couch, 1888, 'A bull's got no more use for religion than a toad for side-pockets.' Occ. monkey, unrecorded before 1880 and † by 1930; very rarely cow, as in Whyte-Melville, 1862. (Apperson.) side-scrappers. 'Side-wings', 'side-levers', qq.v.: London middle classes: ca. 1879–89. Ware.

side-sim. A fool: C. 17 coll. Nares records for 1622. ? opp. Sim subtle, a crafty person or a subtle one. Sim = Simon. Cf. simple Simon.

side up with. To compare, or compete, with: 1895, Punch, Feb. 23 (O.E.D. Sup.); ob.

side-wings. Whiskers: late C. 19–20; ob. Contrast side-lever, side-boards.

sideboard. A 'stand-up' shirt-collar: 1857, 'Ducange Anglicus'; ob. Gen. in pl. (H., 1st ed., shows that the term was applied to the collars of ca. 1845–55.)

sideboards. Whiskers: from ca. 1890; very ob. Cf. side-wings; contrast side-lever.—2. See sideboards (above).

'sides. Besides; moreover; late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. and dial.

sidey. See sidy.—sidi-boy. See seedy-boy.

siddledywry. Crooked: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. Ex sidle † awry.

sidy; occ.—but incorrectly—sidey. Conceited; apt to 'swank it': 1898 (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1910, coll.; ob. Ex side, q.v.

sif, siff. See syph.

sift, v.t.; occ. v.i. To steal small coins, i.e. such as might be conceived of as passing through a sieve: thus F. & H. (1903); but in 1864, H. says that it = to purloin 'the larger pieces, that did not readily pass through the sieve!' It appears, however, that F. & H. is right, for in H., 1874, we find 'To embezzle small coins, those which might pass through a sieve—as threepennies and fourpennies—and which are therefore not likely to be missed.'

sig. A signaller: C. 20 military (esp., G.W.). Also in sig (signalling)-station.

sigarneo. A loose form of sirgarneo. See Sir Garnet.

sigh. Incorrect for sith: C. 16. O.E.D.

sighing Sarah. See Whistling Willie.—2. A shell that 'sighs' in its distant flight: military: 1915; ob. (G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.)

sight. A multitude or a (great) deal: late C. 14–20: S.E. until mid-C. 18, then coll. (in C. 20, virtually s.). Sheridan & Tickell, 1778, 'They wear . . . a large hat and feather, and a mortal sight of hair,' O.E.D.—2. As adv.: coll. >, ca. 1890, s.: 1836, T. Hook; 1889, Grant Allen, 'You're a sight too clever for me to talk to.' O.E.D.—3. An oddity, often pejoratively ('You've made yourself a perfect or regular sight'): late C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. Cf. fright, q.v.—4. An opportunity or chance. Esp. get within sight, to near the end, and get within sight of, to get anywhere near. Coll.: late C. 19–20.—5. 'A gesture of derision: the thumb on the nose-tip and the fingers spread fan-wise: also Queen Anne's fan. A double sight is made by joining the tip of the little finger (already in position) to the thumb of the other hand, the fingers being similarly extended. Emphasis is given by moving the fingers of both hands as if playing a piano. Similar actions are taking a grinder . . . or working the coffee-mill . . . ; pulling bacon . . . ; making a nose or long nose; cocking snooks, &c,' a passage showing F. & H. to advantage. (The custom seems to have arisen in late C. 17: see the frontispiece to the English Theophrastus, 1702, and cf. The Spectator, 1712, 'The 'prentice speaks his disrespect by an extended finger.') T. Hook, 1836, 'Taking a double sight,' O.E.D.; Dickens, 1840, 'That peculiar form of recognition which is called taking a sight'; cf. H., 2nd ed., at sight.

sight, v. 'To tolerate; to permit; also, to see; observe,' C. J. Dennis: Australian: C. 20.

sight, put out of. To consume; esp., to eat: coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. get outside of.

sight, take a. See sight, n., 5.

sighter. A minute dot on a card: card-sharper c. (— 1894). O.E.D.—2. See fly-balance.

sights, take. To have a look, to glance; v.t. with of: low: C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

sigma (phi). Syphilis: coll. medical euphemism (— 1933). Slang, p. 193. Ex Gr. letters written on the patient's certificate.

sign of a house or a tenement to let. A widow's weeds: 1785, Grose; ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. In American low s., a house for rent (Irwin).

sign of the cat's foot, live at the. To be hen-pecked: C. 19–20; very ob.

sign of the feathers, the. A woman's best good graces: mid-C. 19–early 20.

sign of the five, ten, fifteen shillings, the. An inn or tavern named The Crown, Two Crowns, Three Crowns: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

sign of the horn, at the. In cuckoldom: C. 19–20; very ob.

sign of the prancer, the. See prancer.

sign of the three balls, the. A pawnbroker's: C. 19–20: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.

sign on the dotted line. See dotted line.

[Signalese is the use of Ack for A, Beer for B, etc. See, e.g., o pip and pip emma.]

signboard. The face: from ca. 1870; very ob. Cf. dial, q.v.

signed all over. (Of a good picture) clearly characteristic of its creator: artists' (— 1909). Ware.

signed servant. An assigned servant: Australian coll.: ca. 1830–60. Morris. Ex that convict system under which convicts were let out as labourers to the settlers.

significant. Attractive, esp. as being in the forefront of modernity: art s. verging on j.: from ca. 1920. A vogue-cheapening of significant, very expressive or suggestive, perhaps influenced by significant, important or notable.

Sike or Psych (pron. sike), the. The Society for Psychical research: from middle 1880's. Baumann.—2. A member thereof: id. Ibid. (Also sike.)

sil. See silver-beggar.

silence. To knock down, to stun: implied in 1725 in A New Canting Dict. (at silent).—2. Hence, to kill: C. 19–20.

silence in the court, the cat is pissing. A c.p. addressed to anyone requiring silence unnecessarily: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

silence-yelper. An usher in a court of law: c. (— 1909). Ware. I.e. 'silence!'-yelper.

silencer. A blow that knocks down or stuns: C. 19–20. Ex silence, 1.

silent. Murdered: c. (— 1725). A New Canting Dict. Cf. silence, 2. silent beard. The female pubic hair: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. T. Brown (d. 1704): Works, ii, 202.

silent deaths. A night patrol, armed with daggers, lurking in No Man's Land to surprise German patrols: military: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

silent flute. The male member: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.

[silent match, one that makes no noise on being struck, is classified by Baumann as c.: but a S.E. term does not > c. simply because it is used by criminals.]

silent Percy or Susan. A type of German high-velocity gun, and its shell: military: 1914–18. F. & Gibbons; B. & P.

silk. A Q.C. or K.C.: 1884 (O.E.D.): coll. till ca. 1905, then S.E. Abbr. silk-gown, a Q.C.: 1853, Dickens, 'Mr Blowers, the eminent silk-gown.' A Counsel's robe is of silk; a Junior Counsel's, stuff.—2. A bishop: ecclesiastical: late C. 19–early 20. The apron is of silk.

silk, carry or sport. To ride in a race: turf coll.: 1884, Hawley Smart. Ex the silk jacket worn by jockeys.

silk, obtain, receive, take. To attain the rank of Counsel: legal coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: obtain, very rare before C. 20, and perhaps always S.E.; receive, 1872, The Standard, Aug. 16; take, 1890, The Globe, May 6. Contrast:

silk, spoil. To cease being Counsel; esp. on promotion: legal coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.: 1882, Society, Nov. 4, 'Ere long he "spoiled silk" (as the saying is), and was made a Serjeant.' ? ex despoil oneself of.

silk facings. A beer-stained coat-front: tailors': C. 20.

silk-gown. See silk, 1.

silk-port. 'Assumption of a gentleman commoner's gown': Oxford University: ca. 1820–60. Egan's Grose, 1823. (Pierce Egan added a fair amount of Oxford s. to Grose.)

silk-snatcher. A thief addicted to snatching hoods or bonnets from persons walking in the street: c. of ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed silks and satins, support one's. To parade, or prank oneself out in, silk and satin: modistes' coll. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann.

silkworm. 'A woman given to frequenting drapers' shops and examining goods without buying': coll.: C. 18. Steele, 1712, in The Spectator, No. 454. (O.E.D.)

sillikin. A simpleton: 1860, G. A. Sala (O.E.D.). Since ca. 1920, ob. Cf.:

silly. A silly person: coll.: 1858, K. H. Digby, 'Like great sillies,' O.E.D.

silly, adv. Sillily: C. 18–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then (low) coll. and dial.

silly, knock. To infatuate: coll.: from ca. 1890. (Lit., to stun, stupefy.)

silly (or S.) Billy. A clown's juvenile butt: coll.: ca. 1850–1900. Mayhew, 1851, 'Silly Billy . . . is very popular with the audience at the fairs.'—2. Hence, gen. affectionately, a 'silly' (q.v.): coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf. silly Willy.—3. William Frederick (1776–1834), Duke of Gloucester. Dawson.—4. William IV (d. 1837). Ibid.

silly season. In Great Britain, the months of August and September, when—owing to recess of Parliament and to other prominent persons' being on holiday—there is a shortage of important news, the lack being supplied by trivialities. (Such a periodical as The Times Literary Supplement, however, welcomes August–mid-September for the working-off of arrears: the authors and publishers concerned feel perhaps less enthusiastic.) 1871, Punch, Sept. 9, 'The present time of the year has been named "the silly season",' O.E.D.: coll. till ca. 1910, then S.E. Whence:

silly-seasoner, -seasoning. A typical silly-season article or story (1893); the writing and publishing of such matter (1897). Still coll. O.E.D.

silly Willy. A simpleton: coll.: C. 17 (? till C. 19). Cf. silly Billy, 2. (Also dial.: mid-C. 19–20.)

sillybrated; occ. silly brated. Celebrated: sol., mostly Cockneys' (— 1887). Baumann.

silver-beggar or -lurker. C.: s.-b., 1859, Sala; s.-l. (H., 3rd ed.) from ca. 1860; both ob. 'A tramp with briefs (q.v.) or fakements (q.v.) concerning bogus losses by fire, shipwreck, accident, and the like; guaranteed by forged signatures or shams (q.v.) of clergymen, magistrates, &c., the false subscription-books being known as delicates (q.v.). Also' from ca. 1870—'sil = (1) a forged document, and (2) a note on "The Bank of Elegance" or "The Bank of Engraving",' i.e. a counterfeit banknote; likewise ob. F. & H.

silver bullets. 'Money contributed to the war loans': journalistic coll. verging on j.: 1916–18. Collinson.

silver-cooped. (Of a naval seaman) deserting for the merchant service: nautical coll.: late C. 18–early 19. Ex the bounties offered to the crimps. Bowen.—2. Hence, (of any merchant seaman) 'shipped through the crimps': nautical coll.: C. 19. Ibid.

silver fork. A wooden skewer, used as a chopstick when forks were scarce: Winchester: † by 1870.

Silver Fork School, the. A school of novelists stressing the etiquette of the drawing-room and affecting gentility: literary coll. of ca. 1834–90. The school flourished ca. 1825–50 and included Disraeli, Lytton, Theodore Hook, Lady Blessington, Mrs Trollope. Four-pronged silver or electro-plated forks, though known long before, ousted the steel two-prongs only ca. 1860.

silver hell. A low-class gaming saloon or den: coll.: from ca. 1840; ob. Moncrieff, 1843, 'He's the principal partner of all the silver hells at the West End.' Only or mainly silver was risked.

silver hook, catch fish with a. To buy a fish (or several fish) to 'conceal unskilful angling', as F. & H. delicately say: anglers': C. 19-20; ob. Perhaps on the proverbial angle with a silver (or golden) hook, to get things by bribery, or only through paying for them.

silver-laced. Lousy: low s. (? orig. c.) of ca. 1810-1910. Lex. Bal.; Baumann. Ex the colour of lice.

silver pheasant. A beautiful society woman: from ca. 1920; ob. Manchon. (See bird.) Cf. silver-tail, q.v.

silver spoon in one's mouth, born with a. Born rich: C. 18-20: coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Motteux, 1712; Buckstone, 1830, 'Born . . . as we say in the vulgar tongue, with . . .' Anticipated by John Clarke in 1639, born with a penny in one's mouth. (Apperson.)

silver-tail; silver-tailed, n. and adj. (A) "swell": Australian bushmen's coll. (-1890); ob. Opp. copper-tailed, democratic. A. J. Vogan, The Black Police, 1890. (Morris.)

Silver-Tailed Dandies, the. The officers of the 61st Foot Regiment: 'a Peninsular War nickname, in allusion to the elaborate silver embroidery on the tails of their coats,' F. & Gibbons.

silver-wig, A grey-haired man: coll. (-1923). Manchon.

silvers or S. Shares in the India Rubber, Gutta Percha, and Telegraph Company: Stock Exchange: ca. 1890-1915. Ex the works at Silvertown.

silvoo play! Please! G.W.+. (Gavin Holt, Drums Beat at Night, 1932.)

Sim. 'A follower of the late Rev. Charles Simeon,' H. (2nd ed.): ca. 1850-60. The Rev. Charles, d. 1836, was 54 years Vicar of Holy Trinity, Cambridge. Abbr. Simeonite (1823).—2. Hence, and far more widely at Cambridge University, a quiet, religious (esp. if evangelical) man: ca. 1851-70, then only historical. Bristed, 1851.

simkin or simpkin; or with capitals in sense 1. The fool in (comic) ballets: theatrical coll. of ca. 1860-1920. Mayhew, 1861 (O.E.D.). Ex simkin, a fool.—2. (simkin; occ. samkin.) Champagne: Anglo-Indian coll. (1853); slightly ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex native pronunciation.

simon (or S.). A sixpence: c.: late C. 17-19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; H., 5th ed. Prob. by a fancy on the name: since tanner, 6d., is unrecorded before 1811, simon cannot derive from 'the old joke . . . about St Peter's banking transaction, when he "lodged with one Simon a tanner"' (Household Words, June 20, 1885), but tanner may well have come from Simon in this connexion.—2. A trained horse: circus: from ca. 1850; ob. Is this a pun? On what?—3. A cane: King Edward's School, Birmingham: ca. 1850-90. Ex Acts ix, 43.

Simon Pure (occ. Simon- or simon-pure), the or the real. The real or authentic person or, from ca. 1859 (H., 1st ed.), thing: coll.: the real S.P., 1815, Scott; the S.P., 1860, W. C. Prime (O.E.D.). Ex Simon Pure, a Quaker who, in Mrs Centlivre's A Bold Stroke for a Wife, 1717, is, for part of the play, impersonated by another character; see esp. Act V, scene 1.—2. Its use as an adj. is mainly, as it certainly was orig. (Howells, 1879), American.

Simon soon gone. In Awdeley, Simon soone agon, 'He, that when his Mayster hath any thing to do, he will hide him out of the way': c. of ca. 1560-90.

simp. A simpleton: coll.; U.S. (-1916), partly anglicised—owing to the 'talkies'—by 1931. (O.E.D. Sup.)

simper like a furmity-kettle. See furmity-kettle.

simpkin. See simkin.

simple infanticide. Masturbation: pedantic coll. or s.: late C. 19-20.

simple-lifer. One who leads 'the simple life': 1913: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. Collinson; O.E.D. (Sup.).

simpler. A simple or foolish man much given to lust: c. of late C. 16—early 17. Greene, 1592; Rowlands, 1602. O.E.D. I.e. simple + er.

simples, be cut for (in C. 17—early 18 of) the. To be cured of one's folly: mid-C. 17-20: s. (not c.) until ca. 1820, then mainly, and in C. 20 nothing but, dial. Apperson records it for 1650; B.E.; Swift; Grose, 1st ed. In C. 18 often in semi-proverbial form, he must go to Battersea, to be cut for the simples, as in Grose, 1st ed., where also the corrupt variant, . . . to have their simples cut, for at Battersea simples (medicinal herbs) were formerly grown in large quantities. Cognate is the C. 18 semi-proverbial sick of the simples, foolish: coll.

simpson; occ. incorrectly, simson. Also with capital. Water used in diluting milk: dairymen's: 1871, The Daily News, April 17, 'He had, he stated on inquiry, a liquid called Simpson on his establishment.' Ex the surname Simpson, that of a dairyman who, in the late 1860's, was prosecuted for such adulteration.—2. Hence, inferior milk: 1871, The Standard, May 11, Police Report, 'If they annoyed him again he would christen them with Simpson, which he did by throwing a can of milk over the police.'—3. Almost co-extensive is the sense, 'That combined product of the cow natural and the "cow with the iron tail"', The Standard, Dec. 25, 1872. See also Simpson, Mrs; cf. chalkers and sky-blue, and next entry.—4. A milkman: mostly London (-1887); † by 1910. Baumann.

simpson or S.; incorrectly simson. To dilute (milk) with water: 1872, The Times, Dec. 24. Ex n., 1, q.v. Also Simpsonise, gen. v.t.

Simpson, Mrs. The (village) pump: mostly among dairymen (-1874). H., 5th ed. Also Simpson's cow and:

Simpson-pump. A pump as a means of diluting milk: dairymen's: from ca. 1879. Punch, Jan. 31, 1880. Cf. preceding entry.

Simpsonise, -ize. Gen. v.t., to dilute milk with water: dairymen's: 1871, The Echo, Dec. 13 (O.E.D.). Ex simpson, n., 1; cf. simpson, v.

Simpson's cow. See Simpson, Mrs: dairymen's (-1903).

simulate. See at dissolute.

Sims' circus. 'The American flotilla of destroyers sent over first on America coming into the War': naval: 1917-18. F. & Gibbons. Ex Admiral Sims, commanding the U.S. navy during the G.W.

sin. (E.g. 'It's a sin that or to . . .') A shame; a pity: C. 14-20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

sin, like. Very vigorously; furiously: late C. 19-20. Here, sin = the devil.

Sinbad. An old sailor: nautical: ca. 1860-1910. Ex the legendary figure.

since leads often to a catachrestic use of tense. It is obviously incorrect to write 'He is a notability since he has written that book'; less obviously incorrect is 'He has been a notability since he has . . .', the logical (and correct) form being, 'He has been a notability since he wrote . . .'

since Caesar was a pup. Since long ago (or before): Canadian (— 1932). John Beames.

since when I have used no other A c.p. applied to any (gen. domestic) article: from ca. 1910. Collinson. Ex the witty Pears' Soap advertisement of a tramp ('Twenty years ago I used your soap, since when I have used no other'). Cf. good morning, have you . . .

sines. (Generic for) bread, whereas a sines is a small loaf: Winchester: from ca. 1870; † by 1915. Perhaps a pun on natural sine(s) and sign(s).

sing like a bird called the swine. To sing execrably: coll.: ca. 1675–1750. Ray, 1678; Fuller, 1732. (Apperson.)

sing out. C. of ca. 1810–40. Scott, 1815, in a note to Guy Mannering, ch. xxviii, says, 'To sing out or whistle in the cage, is when a rogue, being apprehended, peaches against his comrades.' (N.B., the phrase is not sing out in the cage.) Cf.:

sing out beef. To call 'Stop thief': c. of ca. 1810–40. Lex. Bal. (More gen. cry beef or give (hot) beef.) Possibly a rhyming synonym.

sing placebo (or P.). See placebo.

sing small. To make less extravagant or conceited claims or statements: coll.: 1753, Richardson, 'I must myself sing small in her company'; Grose, 1st ed.; Clement Scott, 1885. Perhaps suggested by S.E. sing another, or a different, tune, to speak, act, very differently, though it may follow naturally ex C. 17–early 18 sing small, to sing in a small voice: cf. Shakespeare's 'Speaks small like a woman.'

[sing-song.] Perhaps orig. coll., but prob. always S.E.]

single-peeper. A one-eyed person: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. On single-eyed.

single-pennif. A five-pound note: back s. on finnup (q.v.): from ca. 1850. Also, in C. 20 c., a £1 note.

single-ten or singleten. See senses 1, 2 of:

singleton. 'A very foolish, silly Fellow,' B.E., where spelt single-ten: late C. 17–early 19. Grose, 1st ed. Prob. ex † S.E. single, (of persons) simple, honest, on simpleton, but possibly ex single(-)ten, the 10 in a card-suit, thus: the '10' is below and next to the knave and—by the age-old juxtaposition of fools and knaves—is therefore a fool.—2. 'A nail of that size,' says B.E. puzzlingly; Grose, who likewise has singleten, is no clearer with 'a particular kind of nails'. Late C. 17–early 19. Possibly an obscure allusion to the single ten in cards: cf. sense 1.—3. 'A cork screw, made by a famous cutler of that name [Singleton], who lived in a place called Hell, in Dublin; his screws are remarkable for their excellent temper,' Grose, 1st ed.: coll.: ca. 1780–1830.

singular or plural? A hospital c.p. inquiry when eggs appear on the diet-sheet: military: 1915–18. B. & P. singulary. Singular, odd, strange: sol. (— 1887). Baumann. Perhaps influenced by leary.

sinister, bar. Incorrect for bend sinister (occ. baton sinister).

Sinjin's (or -un's) Wood. St. John's Wood: London satirical: 1882–ca. 1900. Ware. Ex the pronunciation of the English surname St John as Sinjun.

sink. A toper: coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Cf. sewer, common.—2. the sink. The throat: mid-C. 19–20.—3. A heavy meal: Leys school: late C. 19–20. Cf. stodge.—4. Hence, a glutton: ibid.: late C. 19–20.—5. the sink (or S.). The Royal Marine office in a battleship: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sink, v. To 'lower' or drink: from ca. 1926. Gavin Holt, Drums Beat at Night, 1932, 'Let's go out and sink a few beers. We can talk at the pub.'

sink, fall down the. To take to drink: late C. 19–20: ? rhyming s.

sink me! A coll. imprecation: 1772, Bridges, 'But sink me if I . . . understand'; very ob. Prob. orig., and mainly, nautical.

sinker. A counterfeit coin: c. (— 1839). Brandon. Gen. in pl., bad money, 'affording a man but little assistance in keeping afloat', H., 3rd ed.—2. A small, stodgy cake (of the doughnut kind): late C. 19–20. Gen. in pl.—3. A shilling: tramps' c. (— 1932). F. Jennings.

sinks. The five: dicing coll. (— 1860). H., 2nd ed. Ex Fr. cing.

sinner. A publican: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex Luke xviii.

sip. A kiss: London's lower classes': ca. 1860–1905. Ware. Ex the bee sipping: cf. that popular early C. 20 song in which the male warbles, 'You are the honeysuckle, I am the bee.'

sip. To make water: back s. (— 1903) on piss, q.v.

sip, do a. See do a sip.

sipper. Gravy: low: late C. 19–20. ? ex dial. sipper-sauce (ex C. 16–17 S.E. sibber-sauce), sauce, influenced by to sip. Cf. jipper, q.v.

Sir Cloudesley. A choice drink of small beer and brandy, often with a sweetening and a spicing, and nearly always with lemon-juice: nautical: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. (at flip) spells it Clousley. Ex Cloudisley Shovell (1650–1707), knighted in 1689 for naval services, esp. against pirates.

Sir Garnet; often all Sir Garnet. All right: whether as predicate or as answer to a question: from ca. 1885. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'And the start was all Sir Garnet, | Jenny went for Emma's Barnet.' In C. 20 often corrupted to (all) sirgarneo. Both forms were slightly ob. by 1915, very ob. by 1935. Ex Sir Garnet (later Viscount) Wolseley's military fame. (Wolseley, 1833–1913, served actively and brilliantly from 1852 to 1885.)

Sir Harry. A privy; a close-stool. Esp. in go to, or visit, Sir Harry: C. 19–20: coll. and (in C. 20, nothing but) dial.; app. orig. dial. H., 2nd ed. Cf. Mrs Jones. Cf. Sir John, 2.—2. Whence, constipation: lower classes' (— 1923); ob. Manchon.

Sir Jack Brag. General John Burgoyne (1722–92), notable dramatist as well. Dawson.

Sir Jack Sauce. See Jack Sauce.

Sir John. See John, Sir. (By itself, sir, a parson, is † S.E.)—2. A close-stool: coll. (C. 19) and dial. (C. 19–20; ob. Cf. Sir Harry, q.v.

Sir Oliver. See Oliver.—Sir Petronel Flash. See Petronel.—sir reverence. See sirreverence.

Sir Roger, (as) fat as. A real Falstaff in girth and weight: lower classes' coll.: ca. 1875–1900. Baumann. Ex Sir Roger Tichborne of the famous law-suit.

Sir Sauce. See Jack Sauce.

Sir Sydney. A clasp-knife: c. of ca. 1810–50.

Vaux. Why? : unless Sydney, Australia, already had a notorious underworld.

Sir Thomas Gresham, sup with. To go hungry : C. 17 coll. Hayman, 1628, 'For often with duke Humphrey [q.v.] thou dost dine, | And often with sir Thomas Gresham sup.' Sir Thomas Gresham, 1519-79, founded the Royal Exchange and was a noted philanthropist.

Sir Timothy. 'One that Treats every Body, and pays the Reckonings every where,' B.E. : coll. late C. 17-early 19. Prob. ex a noted 'treater'.

'sir' to you! A c.p. of mock dignity : C. 20. P. G. Wodhouse, The Pothunters, 1902; H. A. Vachell, Vicar's Walk, 1933.

Sir Tristram's knot. A hangman's noose : coll. : mid-C. 16-early 17. Wm. Bullein. Prob. ex some famous judge or magistrate.

Sir Walter Scott. A pot (of beer) : rhyming s. (-1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

siretch. See sirretch.—sirgarneo; all sirgnareo. See Sir Garnet; cf. sigarneo.

Sirlogical Gardens. Zoological Gardens : Cockney sol. (-1887). Baumann.

sirname. Incorrect for surname.

sirrah may orig. (C. 16) have been coll.

sirretch. A cherry; more properly, cherries : back s. (-1859). H., 1st ed., where spelt siretch and defined as cherries. The 'logical' seirrehc is impossible, the former e is omitted, hc reversed, and t interpolated to make the ch sound unequivocal.

sirreverence; frequently sir-reverence. Human excrement; a lump thereof : late C. 16-20 : S.E. until ca. 1820, then mainly (in C. 20, nothing but) dial. In late C. 18-mid-19, a vulgarism. Grose. Ex save (via sa) reverence, as an apology.

sis; often siss. Sister : coll. : gen., term of address : orig. (-1859), U.S.; anglicised before 1887 (Baumann). (The O.E.D. dismisses it as 'U.S.'?) Cf. sister and :

sissie, sissy; occ. Cissy, cissy. An effeminate boy or man; hence a passive homosexual : late C. 19-20; ob. in latter sense (cf. pansy, q.v.). Ware declares it to have originated in 1890 as a Society term for an effeminate man in Society; the O.E.D. (Sup.) that it was orig. U.S. s.,—but is this so? Ex sissy, sister, as form of address orig. (-1859) U.S. but anglicised before 1887 : coll. : cf. sis.

sister. A term of address to any woman : (low) coll. : orig. U.S.; anglicised, ca. 1925, chiefly among journalists, but not yet at all gen.—2. sister of the Charterhouse. See Charterhouse.—3. Sister [in charge of the] Children's [Ward, etc.], Sister Theatre, etc. : medical coll. : C. 20. See Slang, p. 193.

sister Susie. 'A woman doing Army work of any sort. Primarily a Red Cross worker' : military : 1915-18. F. & Gibbons, 'From a war-time popular song, "Sister Susie's sewing shirts for Soldiers".'

sit. An engagement (for, in, work) : printers' : 1888, Jacobi (O.E.D.). Abbr. situation. But that it has always been also gen. is shown by Baumann (1887).

sit, v. To hang (on a branch); lie, rest (on the ground) : South African coll. : C. 20. Ex Cape Dutch zetten, to lie, to rest. Pettman.

sit, be at the. 'To travel by buses and trams for the purpose of picking pockets,' G. R. Sims in The Referee, Feb. 17 : 1907 : c. (O.E.D.)

sit down. To land : aviators' coll. : from the middle 1920's. O.E.D. (Sup.).

sit-down-upons. Trousers : 1840, J. T. Hewlett (O.E.D.); ob. Cf. sit-upons.

sit her down. (Of an aviator) to land : Royal Air Force's (-1935). The her is the 'plane.

sit-in-'ems. Trousers : jocular (-1887); ob. Baumann. Cf. sit-down-upons.

sit longer than a hen. See sitting breeches.

sit-me-down. One's posterior : semi-nursery, semi-jocular : late C. 19-20. Cf. :

sit-me-down-upon. A C.20 jocular variant of the preceding. Dorothy Sayers, Clouds of Witness, 1926, 'He's left the impression of his sit-me-down-upon on the cushion.'

sit on or (rare in C. 20) upon. To check; snub or rebuke : 1864. H., 3rd ed. (sit upon). Often as sat upon, squashed, 'pulled up'.

sit on the splice. See splice, sit on the.

sit still. (Of the Aborigines) to be peaceful : South African coll. : 1852, Godlonton, The Kaffir War, 1850-51. Pettman.

sit up, make one. 'To make one bestir oneself, to set one thinking, to surprise or astonish one,' Pettman, who wrongly regards it as esp. South African : coll. (-1887). Baumann.

sit up and take notice. To take (a sudden) interest : coll. : orig. (1889) U.S., anglicised by 1900. (O.E.D. Sup.)

sit up and take nourishment. To be convalescent : coll. : from 1915, and orig. among officers in military hospitals. On the analogy of the preceding.

sit upon. See sit on.—2. (Only in pl. : sit-upons.) Trousers : 1841, J. T. Hewlett; ob. Suggested by sit-down-upons, q.v. Contrast sit-me-down.

sitch. See sich.

sith-nom, sithnom. A month : back s. (-1859). H., 1st ed.

sitiuation. A situation : Cockney sol. (-1887); ob. Baumann.

sitter. A sitting-room : Harrow (from ca. 1890) >, by 1902, Oxford University undergraduates'. Charles Turley, Godfrey Marten, Undergraduate, 1904. The term has > gen. in bed-sitter. Cf. brekker, rugger, soccer; see '-er, Oxford'.—2. In cricket a very easy catch : 1898, Til-Bits, June 25, 'Among recent neologisms of the cricket field is "sitter". So easy that it could be caught by a fieldsman sitting.' W. J. Lewis, The Language of Cricket, 1934.—3. An easy mark or task (1908). Ex shooting a sitting bird. S.O.D. Senses 2 and 3 > coll. ca. 1930.—4. (Cf. senses 2, 3.) A certainty : C. 20. Hence for a sitter, certainly, assuredly : Arnold Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913.

sitting(-)breeches on, have one's; in C. 19, occ. wear one's sitting breeches. To stay long in company : coll. : ca. 1870-1910. Grose, 1st ed. From ca. 1880, sit longer than a hen. Cf. the Yorkshire sit eggs, to outstay one's welcome : E.D.D.

sitting drums. One's working-trousers : tailors' : C. 20.

sitting on their hands. (Of an audience) that refuses to clap : theatrical : from ca. 1930.

sitting-pad. Begging from a sitting position on the pavement : c. (-1859); ob. H., 1st ed. See pad, n.

sitting-room. The posteriors : late C. 19-20 jocular; slightly ob. (Cf. sit-me-down, q.v.) Prob. ex the smoke-room story of 'only a pair of blinds for her sitting-room' in connexion with a pair of drawers. Cf. the mid-C. 16-early 18 sitting-place, the posterior, the rump.

situation. A 1st, 2nd, or 3rd place : 1871

(O.E.D.): racing coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. 'Thormanby,' Men of the Turf, ca. 1887, 'The three worst horses, probably, that ever monopolised the Derby "situations".'

siv(v)ey or sivvy, 'pon my! On my word of honour!: low: mid-C. 19-20; slightly ob. H., 1st ed.; J. Greenwood, 1883. Not asscveration, but prob. davy, corrupted, or, as Baumann implies, soul.

siwash. A mean and/or miserable seaman: Nova Scotian (and U.S.) nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen, 'The Siwash is described as the meanest type of Indian.' six. A privy: Oxford University: ca. 1870-1915. ? origin.

six-and-eightpence. 'The usual Fee given, to carry back the Body of the Executed Malefactor, to give it Christian Burial,' B.E., who classes it as c.: more prob. coll.: late C. 17-mid-18.—2. A solicitor or attorney: coll.: 1756, Foote; Baumann. † by 1910. Because this was a usual fee. Cf. green bag.

six-and-tips. Whiskey and small beer: Anglo-Irish coll.: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. An elaboration of †six, six-shilling beer.

Six-and-Two's, the. The 62nd Foot, now the Wiltshire Regiment: military: C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the figures of the number.

six-by-four. 'Bumf' (q.v.): Army officers': 1915; slightly ob. B. & P., 'The dimensions in inches of the Army Article.'

six-cylinder hat. A large, non-regulation cap affected by many despatch-carrying cyclists: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons.

six feet and itches. Over six feet: lower classes' (— 1909); ob. Ware. Ex inches written as ichs.

Six Mile Bridge assassin. (Gen. pl.) A soldier: Tipperary: late C. 19-early 20. Ware, 'Once upon a time certain rioters were shot at this spot, not far from Mallow.'

six-monther. A third-term cadet in the old training-ship Britannia: naval coll.: late C. 19-early 20. Bowen.

six-monthser. A very severe stipendiary magistrate: police coll. (— 1909). Ware. I.e. one 'who always gives, where he can, the full term (six months) allowed him by law.'

six-o-six; gen. written '606'. Salvorsan, a remedy for syphilis: medical, hence military coll.: from ca. 1910. B. & P.

six of everything, with. Respectably married: work-people's coll. (— 1909). Ware. Applied only to the girl: her trousseau contains six of everything.

six-on-four, go. 'To be put on short rations': naval: late C. 19-20. Thus, a six-on-four is a supernumerary borne on a warship: Bowen, 'Supposed to have two-thirds rations.'

six pips and all's well! Six o'clock and all's well!: c.p.: from 1933. Referring both to the radio time-signal and to the nautical six bells and all's well.

six-pounder. 'A servant maid, from the wages formerly given to maid servants, which was commonly six pounds [per annum, plus keep],' Grose, 1st ed.: coll.: ca. 1780-1850.

six-quarter man; three-quarter man. A superior—an inferior—employee: cloth-draper's' (— 1909). Ware, 'There are two widths of cloth—six quarter and three quarter.'

six upon four. Short rations: nautical coll.:

1838, Glascock in Land Sharks and Sea Gulls; ob. Because the rations of four had to suffice for six. See also six-on-four, go.

six-water grog. Grog in which water: grog :: 1:6. Nautical coll.: 1834, Marryat. In mid-C. 19-20, often six-water.

sixer. Six months' hard labour: c. or low s.: 1869, 'Pomes' Marshall, 'I see what the upshot will be, | Dear me! | A sixer with H.A.R.D.'—2. A sixth imprisonment: 1872 (O.E.D.): low s. rather than c.—3. The six-ounce loaf served with dinner: prison c. (— 1877).—4. Anything counting as six: orig. (1870) and mainly in cricket: coll. H. A. Vachell, The Hill, 1905, 'Never before in an Eton and Harrow match have two "sixer" been hit in succession,' O.E.D. (This is that novel which did for Harrow what E. F. Benson's David Blaize did in 1916 for Winchester, which the author 'disguises' as Marchester).—5. 'A naval cadet at the beginning of his second year': naval: C. 20. Bowen. ? because he has six terms ahead of him.

sixes. Small hook-curls worn by men; composed of forehead hair, they are plastered to the forehead: military: ca. 1879-90. Ware. Ex shape. If Manchon has not erred, the term app. > number sixes and an underworld term, still extant though ob.

sixpences, spit. See spit sixpences.

sixpenny. A playing-field: 1864, Eton School Days: Eton College; ob.

sixpenny, adj. Inferior, cheap; worthless: coll.: ca. 1590-1630. Esp. sixpenny striker, a petty footpad (as in Shakespeare's 1st Henry IV).

sixth-forming. A caning by the prefects assembled in the sixth-form room: Public Schools' coll.: late C. 19-20. Desmond Coke, The School across the Road, 1910.

sixty. A British 60-pounder gun: military coll.: from ca. 1910. B. & P.—2. Sixty is the 'inevitable' nickname, in the Regular Army (esp. on Egyptian service), for men surnamed Hill: from ca. 1919. Ex Hill Sixty, a famous locality on the Western Front in the G.W.; cf. Jebbel, q.v.

sixty, like. Very vigorously or rapidly: orig. (1848) U.S., anglicised ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed.; O.E.D. ? abbr. like sixty to the minute or like sixty miles an hour. Cf. forty, q.v.

sixty per cent. A usurer: coll.: 1853, Reade; slightly ob. Cf. Fletcher, 1616, 'There are few gallants . . . that would receive such favours from the devil, though he appeared like a broker, and demanded sixty i' th' hundred.'

sixty-pounder. A suet-dumpling: military: 1915-18. (Sidney Rogers, Twelve Days, 1933.)

size; gen. size up. To gauge, estimate; to regard carefully (in order to form an opinion of): coll.: orig. (1847), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1890. Marriott-Watson, 1891, size († by 1930); Newnham Davis, 1896 (O.E.D.), size up. Cf. the rare S.E. size down, v.t., to comprehend.

size of (a thing), the. What it amounts to: coll.: from the middle 1880's. E.g. 'That's about the size of it.' O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex dial.: E.D.D.

sizes. Short rations: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Ex six-on-four, go.

skalbanker. See scowbanker.—skallewag. See scalawag.

skate. A troublesome rating: naval: from ca. 1920. Bowen. Ex U.S. skater. An N.C.O.'s chevron: Regular Army: late C. 19-20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps because its wearer 'skates on thin ice'.

skates, put on (one's); get one's skates on. To hurry; evade duty; desert: military (from not later than 1916) >, by 1919, gen. F. & Gibbons.

skates(-)lurk. 'A begging impostor dressed as a sailor,' H., 1st ed.: c.; † by 1903. Perhaps = skate's lurk, a fish's—hence a 'fishy'—trick! (Bowen has skate-lurker.)

skeary, skeery. Terrifying; (mostly U.S.) timorous: low coll.: C. 19–20. Blackmore.

skedaddle. A hasty flight; a scurry: coll.: with article, 1870, Mortimer Collins; without, 1871, The Daily News, Jan. 27. O.E.D. Ex:

skedaddle; occ. (though not in C. 20) skeedaddle, v.i. (Of soldiers) to flee: orig. (1861), U.S., anglicised ca. 1864. H., 3rd ed., 'The American War has introduced a new and amusing word.' Prob. of fanciful origin, though H.'s 'The word is very fair Greek, the root being that of "skedan-numi", to disperse, to "retire tumultuously", and it was probably set afloat by some professor at Harvard' is not to be dismissed with contempt.—2. Hence, in gen. use, to run away, decamp, hastily depart: coll.: 1862; Trollope, 1867, O.E.D.—3. Also ex sense 1, (of animals) to stampede or flee: 1879, F. Pollock. O.E.D. skedaddler; skedaddling. One who 'skedaddles' (1864, O.E.D.); the act (— 1898).

skeery. See skeary.

skeeter. A mosquito: coll.: orig. (1852), U.S.; then, ca. 1870, Australian; then ca. 1880, English, —but it is still comparatively rare in Britain.

Skeffington's daughter. See scavenger's daughter.

skain. A glass of beer: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Origin?

skain of thread. Bed: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

skelder, v.i. To beg, esp. as a wounded or demobilised soldier: c.: late C. 16—mid-17, later use (esp. in Scott) being archaic. Ben Jonson.—2. V.t., to cheat, defraud (a person; obtain (money) by begging: c.: late C. 16—mid-17. Ben Jonson. Perhaps Dutch bedelen perverted.

skeldering, vbl.n. and ppl.adj. of skelder: late C. 16—mid-17 c. Ben Jonson, who, I surmise, introduced it from Holland; cf. skellum.

skeleton. 'A typical sentence, not to exceed sixty words; no word therein to be of more than two syllables,' as an old journalist defines it: journalists' coll.: C. 20.

skeleton army. Street-fighting or -brawling: London: late 1882–3. Ware. Ex the Skeleton Army 'formed to oppose the extreme vigour of the early Salvation Army' (Ware).

skelington. A sol. (and a dial.) form of skeleton: C. 19–20. E.D.D.

skel(l)um; scellum. A rascal, villain: perhaps orig. coll., but certainly very soon S.E. Coryat, D'Urfey. Ex Dutch or Ger. schelum.

skelter. A quick run, a rush, a scamper: dial. (— 1900) >, by 1920, coll. O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex helter-skelter.

skerfier. A punch on the neck: boxing: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex scruff.

skerrick. A small fragment: 1931, I. L. Idriess, 'Not a skerrick of meat on it' (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex scurrick (see scuddick). Also in dial.

sket. A skeleton key: c.: from ca. 1870. By telescoping skeleton.

sketch. A person whose appearance offers a very odd sight (cf. sight, 3, q.v.): coll.: from ca. 1905. E.g. 'Lor', what a sketch she was!—2. A small amount; a drop (of liquor): 1894 (O.E.D.); very ob. Cf.:

sketchy. Unsubstantial (meal); flimsy (building, furniture); imperfect: coll.: 1878, O.E.D.

skettling. Full-dressing: naval officers' (— 1909). Ware. Perhaps a pun on scuttling.

Skevington's daughter. See scavenger's daughter.

skew; occ. scew. A cup or wooden dish: c. of ca. 1560–1830. Awdelay, Brome, B.E., Grose. ? etymology.—2. At Harrow School, from ca. 1865, a hard passage for translation or exposition; also, an entrance examination at the end of term (that at the beginning of term is a dab). F. & H.; O.E.D. Ex skew, v., q.v.—3. In back s. (— 1859): see kews.

skew, v.t. To fail in an examination: gen. as be skewed: 1859, Farrar in Eric, or Little by Little; 1905, Vachell. O.E.D.—2. Also v.t., to do (very) badly, fail in (a lesson): likewise Harrow (— 1899). Occ. v.i.: late C. 19–20: Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913. Perhaps ex skew at, look at obliquely, esp. in a suspicious way.—3. App. only be skewed, to be caught or punished: schools' (— 1923). Manchon. Ex sense 1.

skew-fisted. Ungainly, awkward: coll.: late C. 17–18. B.E.

skew-gee. Crooked; squinting: low coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex on a, or the, skew, slantwise (1881). Cf. skewvow.—2. Hence, a squint: low coll.: C. 20.

skew-the-dew. A splay-footed person: low late C. 19–20; ob. Cf. skewvow.

skew-whiff, adj. and adv. Crooked(ly); askew: dial. and coll.: 1754 (S.O.D.).—2. Hence, tipsy: C. 20. See fog-bound.

skewed. See skew, v., 1 and 3.

skewer. A pen: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex shape.

skewgy-newgy. A composition of caustic used to keep decks clean: yachtsmen's: 1886, St. James's Gazette, April 7, 'The mysterious name.' Very!: unless it be perchance a reduplicated perversion of caustic.

skewings. Perquisites: gilders', from ca. 1850. Ex skew, to remove superfluous gold leaf. 'Analogous terms are cabbage (tailors'); blue-pigeon (plumbers'); menavelings (beggars'); fluff (railway clerks'); pudding, or jam (common),' F. & H. See those terms.

skewvow. Crooked: coll. or s.: ca. 1780–1880. Grose, 1st ed. (An elaboration of skew, a slant, or possibly a jocular perversion of skew-whiff, q.v.) Whence skew-gee and skew-the-dew, qq.v.

Ski. See Sky.

skid, n. See skiv.

skid, v. To go; to depart: mostly jocular, esp. schoolboys': C. 20; ob. Collinson. Cf. scoot (sense 2) and scuttle.

skid, put on the. To act, speak, cautiously: coll.: 1885, Punch, Jan. 31. Ex skid, a chain or block retarding a wheel. Also (s)he might put the skid on is a coll. semi-c.p. applied to a talkative person, occ. with the addition with advantage to us, you, his listeners: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed.

skiddi(c)k. See scuddick.—skiddoo. See skidoo.—skie. See sky (v.).

skidoo, skiddoo. To make off, to depart: 1907, Neil Munro (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex skedaddle.

skied; skyed. (Of a picture) hung on the upper line at the Exhibition of the Royal Academy: artistic coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.: 1864, H., 3rd ed., at skyed. Opp. floored, q.v.

skiff. (Presumably) a leg: low s. of ca. 1890–1910. The Morning Advertiser, April 6, 1891, 'To drive an "old crock" with "skinny skiffs".' ? origin: perhaps cognate is dial. skiff, to move lightly, skim along; ? cf. also † dial. skife, to kick up one's heels.

Skiff Skipton. Sir Lumley Skeffington (1771–1850), dandy and playwright. Dawson.

skiffle. A great hurry; among tailors, a job to be done in a hurry; low coll. or s.: late C. 19–20. With this thinning of scuffle, cf. that of bum in bim (q.v.); the word exists also in West Yorkshire dial.

skilamalink. Secret; 'shady': East London: late C. 19–20; ob. Ware, 1909, remarks: 'If not brought in by Robson, it was re-introduced by him at the Olympic Theatre, and in a burlesque.' Origin ?

skill. 'A goal kicked between posts': football: ca. 1890–1920. F. & H. This being the result of skill.

skillet. A ship's cook: nautical: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex the cooking-utensil.

Skillegreen. An extremely thin person: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon. Perhaps, by slurring, ex S.E. skin-and-bones.

Skillingers, the. The 6th (Inniskilling) Dragoons: military: mid-C. 19–20; very ob. Also known as the Old Inniskillings.

skilly. Gruel; oatmeal soup: 1839, Brandon: low s. >, ca. 1890, coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Abbr. skilligolee, perhaps on skillet, often, in dial., pronounced skilly: W.—2. Hence, a fount-carrying its own lead: printers': ca. 1870–1910. It was unpopular with compositors, for it lent itself to ill-paid piece-work.—3. 'Tea or coffee supplied to messes': Conway cadets: late C. 19–20. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.

skim. C.: 1869, The Daily News, July 29, 'They thought it contained his skim (money)'; ob. Perhaps the 'skim' of milk, i.e. cream.

skimish. Drink; liquor: tramps' and beggars' c. (— 1933). W. H. Davies in The New Statesman, March 18 of that year. Origin ?

Skimmery. St. Mary's Hall: Oxford University: ca. 1853–1910. Whence Skimmeryman, as in Verdant Green. By slurred pronunciation of St Mary.

skin. A purse: c. of ca. 1810–80. Vaux, Haggart, Mayhew. Because made of skin. Hence, a queer skin is an empty one.—2. ? hence, and ? ca. 1830–60, a sovereign. F. & H. Perhaps partly by rhyming suggestion of 'sovrin'.—3. See skins.—4. A horse; a mule: military: from the late 1890's. F. & Gibbons.—5. An official explanation required for any discrepancy: Post Office telegraph-messengers' (— 1935). Perhaps ex skin, v., 7. Among railwaymen, it = a report.

skin, v.t. At cards, to win from a person all his money: 1812, Vaux.—2. Hence, to strip (of clothes, money); to fleece: 1851, Mayhew. In C. 20, almost coll. Cf. skin-game and skin the lamb, qq.v.—3. To steal from: c. or low s.: 1891, The Morning Advertiser, March 21, 'Sergeant Hiscock . . . saw him skinning the sacks—that is, removing lumps [of coal] from the tops and placing them in an empty sack.'—4. To shadow, esp. just before arresting: c.: from ca. 1880; ob.—5. In gaming, to 'plant' (a deck of cards): from ca. 1880.—6. To lower (a price or value): 1859, H., 1st ed.; ob.—7. Also skin alive. To thrash: orig. (— 1888), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1895. Heaton Hill, 1902, 'I'd have skinned the 'ussy if I'd caught her prying into my grounds.'

skin, in a bad. Angry: ill-humoured: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed. Prob. suggested jocularly by S.E. thin-skinned.

skin, in his, her, etc. An evasive reply to a question as to a person's whereabouts: coll.: C. 18–20. Swift, Polite Conversation, Dialogue I. Cf. there and back.

skin, next of. Next of kin: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

skin-a-guts. A proletarian variant (— 1923) of S.E. skin-and-bones, a very thin person. Manchon. Cf. skin-and-grief.

skin a razor. To drive a hard bargain: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob.

skin alive. See skin, v., last sense.

skin and blister. A sister: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

skin-and-grief. A variant of skin-and-bones, (a) skinny (person): lower classes (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

skin and whipcord, all. Extremely fit; with not a superfluous ounce of fat: coll.: (U.S. and) Colonial: from ca. 1880; slightly ob.

skin-coat. The female pudend. Esp. in shake a skin-coat, to coit: mid-C. 17–18.—2. Skin. Only in curry one's skin-coat, to thrash a person: C. 18–mid-19.

skin-disease. Fourpenny-ale: low: ca. 1880–1914.

skin-game. A swindling game: 1882. Ex skin, v., 1, 2.—2. Hence, a swindle: C. 20. Cf.:

skin-house. A gambling den: from ca. 1885; ob. Suggested by skin-game.

skin-merchant. A recruiting officer: coll.: late C. 18–mid-19. Burgoyne, 1792. A cynical reflection on the buying and selling of skins; cf. gun-fodder.

skin of one's teeth, by or (C. 16–17) with. Narrowly; difficultly: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. Orig. a lit. translation of the Hebrew.

skin of the creature. A bottle (containing liquor): Anglo-Irish: mid-C. 19–20. See creature.

skin off your nose !, here's to the. Your good health!: mostly military: from ca. 1910; virtually †. F. & Gibbons.

skin out. To desert (v.i.): naval: C. 20. Bowen.

skin the cat. 'To grasp the bar with both hands, raise the feet, and so draw the body, between the arms, over the bar,' F. & H.: gymnastics: 1888 (U.S.).

skin the lamb. Lansquenet (the game of cards): 1864, H., 3rd ed.; ob. A perversion of lansquenet.—2. V. When an outsider wins a race, the book-makers are said to 'skin the lamb': 1864, H., 3rd ed. Lit., fleece the public. Also, from ca. 1870, have a skinner, ob. by 1930.—3. Hence, to concert and/or practise a swindle: from ca. 1865.—4. Also to mulct a person in, e.g. blackmail: from ca. 1870.

skin the live rabbit. To retract the prepuce: low: late C. 19–early 20.

skin-tight. A sausage: (lower classes') coll.: from ca. 1890; ob.

skin-the-pizzle. The female pudend: low: mid-C. 19–20. See pizzle.

Skinflinteries, the. The Museum of Economic (by 1903, Practical) Geology, in Jermyn Street, London, W.1: ca. 1889–1910. The Daily Telegraph, May 11, 1889.

Skindles. A restaurant at Poperinghe: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex the fashionable resort at Maidenhead.

skinful, to have got a or one's. To be extremely drunk: low coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. tight and got all (or more than) one can carry.

skinned, keep one's eyes. See eyes skinned, keep one's. See also peeled.

skinned rabbit. A very thin person: coll.: from ca. 1870; slightly ob.

skinner. Mayhew, 1856, "Skinners", or women and boys who strip children of their clothes, in order to eye lustfully their nakedness: low s. verging on c.; ob.—2. skinner, have a. See skin the lamb, 2. (Here, skinner may be a punning corruption of winner; the whole phrase, however, is prob. a light-hearted perversion of skin the lamb, as H., 5th ed. (1874) suggests. Hence, a skinner has by 1893 > = a result very profitable to the 'bookies' (O.E.D.), as it had, in essence, been twenty years earlier.)—3. A driver of horses: Canadian: late C. 19–20. Cf. skin, n., 4. (John Beames.)—4. See.

skinners. Mental torture; terrible anxiety: low urban (— 1909); slightly ob. Ware. Because it 'flays' one.

skins. A tanner: coll.: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 1st ed.

skint. Very short of or wholly without money: jocular, lower classes' and military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. I.e., skinned.

skip. A dance: Anglo-Irish coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf. hop, q.v.—2. A portmanteau; a bag, a valise: grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. One 'does a skip' with it.—3. See 'Shortenings' in Addenda. At Scottish Public Schools it = captain: C. 20: witness Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.

skip, v. To make off (quickly): C. 15–20: S.E. until ca. 1830, then coll. (mostly U.S.) with further sense, to abscond. Marryat, King's Own, 1830.—2. Hence, to die: late C. 19–20. Often skip out. Savage, Brought to Bay, 1900.

skip-kennel. A footman: coll.: ca. 1680–1840. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

skip-louse. A tailor: coll.: 1807, J. Beresford; ob. Cf. prick-louse. (O.E.D.)

skipper; in C. 16–mid-17, often skyppeer. A barn: c.: mid-C. 16–19; but after late C. 19, only in skipper-bird, q.v. Harman, 1567; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. As H. suggests, prob. ex the Welsh ysgubor (a barn), of which the y is silent, or, as O.E.D. proposes, ex Cornish sciber (the same).—2. Hence, a 'bed' out of doors: tramps' c.: late C. 19–20.—3. The devil: C. 19. ? ex skipper, a captain.—4. A master, a boss: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex skipper, captain: cf. coll. sense of captain.—5. A military captain: naval (— 1909), hence military (mostly officers') coll. in G.W., and for a few years before. Always the skipper and not Skipper So-and-So.—6. One who is retreating: c. (— 1909). Ware. Cf. skip, v., 1.

skipper; gen. skipper it. To sleep in a barn or hay-rick, hence under, e.g. a hedge: c.: mid-C. 19–20. 'No. 747', p. 413, valid for 1845; Mayhew, 1851, 'I skipper it—turn in under a hedge or anywhere.' Ex skipper, n., 1. Cf. hedge square and:

skipper-bird. Mid-C. 19–20 c., as in: Mayhew, 1851, 'The best places in England for skipper-birds (parties that never go to lodging-houses, but to barns or outhouses, sometimes without a blanket).'

Also keyhole-whistler. Ex skipper, n., 1, and v., qq.v.

skipper's daughter. A crested wave: from ca. 1888: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.

skipper's doggie. A 'midshipman acting as captain's A.D.C.': naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

[skirry. A run or scurry: either coll. or familiar S.E., as is the v.: resp. 1821, Haggart (who also has the v.) and 1781, George Parker. Ex scurry.]

skirt. A woman: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until late C. 19, then s. Hence, a light skirt is a loose woman: late C. 19–20 (Manchon).—2. the skirt, women in gen.; women collectively: late C. 19–20. Hyne, 1890. Cf.:

skirt, v.i. To be a harlot: late C. 19–20, ob. Cf. skirt, flutter a.

skirt, a bit of. A woman, a girl: late C. 19–20. Not necessarily pejorative. Hence:

skirt, do a bit of. To coit with a woman: late C. 19–20. Ex preceding.

skirt, flutter a. To be a harlot: late C. 19–20: coll. Ob.

skirt-foist. A female cheat: c. of ca. 1650–1700. A. Wilson, ca. 1650.

skirt-hunting. A search, 'watch-out', for either girls or harlots: coll.: late C. 19–20. (James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934.)

skit. Beer: military: from the 1890's. F. & Gibbons. Ex S.E. skit, a small jet of water.—2. A large number; a crowd; esp. in pl., lots (of): coll.: 1925, A. S. M. Hutchinson. O.E.D. (Sup.). Cf. U.S. scads in same sense.

skit. (Gen. v.t.) To wheedle: c.: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Prob. ex S.E. skit, to be skittish, to caper.

skite. A boaster; boasting: Australian: late C. 19–20. Abbr. blatherskite; or possibly ex Scottish and Northern dial., a person viewed with contempt; cf. also skyte.—2. A motor-cyclo: 1929. O.E.D. (Sup.). Perhaps ex the abominable noise it makes.

skite, v.i. To boast: Australia: C. 20. Ex skite, n., 1. skiter. A boaster: Australian: C. 20. C. J. Dennis. Ex preceding.

skitter. A person: pejorative: C. 20. Perhaps ex mosquito.

skitting-dealer. A person feigning dumbness: C. 19 c. Ex † skit, to be shy.

skittle. Chess played without 'the rigour of the game': coll.: mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D. (Sup.).—2. Also as v.i.: id.: id. Ibid.

skittles. Nonsense: coll.: 1864, The Orchestra, Nov. 12, 'Le faire applaudir is not "to make oneself applauded", and "joyous comedian" is simply skittles.' Perhaps ex not all beer and skittles.—2. Hence, an interjection: coll.: 1886, Kipling, "Skittles!" said Padgate, M.P.

skiv (1858, O.E.D.); skid (1859, H., 1st ed.). A sovereign (coin). 'Fashionable s.', says H.; ob. by 1910, virtually † by 1930. ? on sov.

skive, v.i. To evade a duty: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. ? ex Lincolnshire skive, to turn up the whites of the eyes (E.D.D.). skivvy; occ. skivey. A maid servant, esp. a rough 'general': from ca. 1905. Ex slavey, q.v. skivvy! A naval asseveration or exclamation (— 1909). Ware. Ex Japanese.

skolka, v.t. and i. To sell or bargain: Murmansk and North Russia forces': 1918–19. F. & Gibbons. A Russian word meaning 'how many?'

or 'how much?' Vbl.n., skolkering. (Applied esp. to illicit traffic in food and rum between our men and the natives.)

skoff. See scoff.

skoosh or skosh. A sweetheart: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Possibly cognate with dial. scouse, scousse, etc., to frolic.

skoot. See scoot.—skowbanker. See scowbanker.—skower. See scour.

skran. See scran.

skreak, skreek. To creak: sol., mostly Cockneys': mid-C. 19–20. Baumann.

skreigh. See screigh.

skrim. See scrim.—skrim(m)age. See scrimmage.

skrimp, skrump or scrump, v.i. and v.t. To steal apples: dial. and provincial s.: late C. 19–20. In James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934, it appears as Birmingham s. (C. 20) in the gen. sense: to rob orchards. Cognate with scrounge, q.v.—2. Hence, to 'scrounge': Regular Army: late C. 19–20.

skrimshank, -er. See scrimshank, -er.—skrip. A c. spelling of scrip, q.v.

skrouge, skrowdge. See scrouge, v.—skrump. See skrimp.

skrunt. A whore: Scots dial. >, by 1890, coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

skuddick. See scuddick.—skug. See scug.

skulker. 'A soldier who by feigned sickness, or other pretences evades his duty, a sailor who keeps below in time of danger; in the civil line, one who keeps out of the way, when any work is to be done,' Grose, 1st ed.: 1785: coll. till ca. 1830, then S.E.

skull; skull-race, -thatcher. See scull, etc.

Skull and Crossbones, the. The 17th Lancers: military: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ex the regimental badge. Also Bingham's Dandies, (the) Death or Glory Boys, (the) Gentlemen Dragoons, and (the) Horse Marines.

skullbanker. See scowbanker.

skull's afly I, my. I'm awake, alert, shrewd!: C. 19. Cf. fly, adj.

skunk. A mean, paltry, or contemptible wretch: coll.: orig. (1841), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1870. H., 5th ed., 1874; The Referee, June 1, 1884, 'The bloodthirsty and cowardly skunks.' Ex the stink-emitting N. American animal.

skunk, v. To betray; leave in the lurch: London school-boys' (—1887). Baumann. Ex preceding.—2. Whence (?), not to meet a bill of exchange: commercial (—1923). Manchon.

skunk-haul. A very small catch of fish: Grand Banks fishermen's: C. 20. Bowen. Cf. skunk, n.

skutcher. A synonym of snozzler, q.v.: New Zealand (—1935). Fanciful in origin.

skute. See scoot.

Sky; occ. Ski. An outsider: Westminster School (—1869). Ex the Volsci, a tribe traditionally inimical to Rome; the Westminster boys being Romans.—2. Hence, though recorded earlier, 'a disagreeable person, an enemy' (H., 2nd ed.): ca. 1860–1910.

sky. A pocket: c.: 1893, P. H. Emerson; Edgar Wallace; Charles E. Leech. Abbr. sky-rocket, q.v.—2. A tackle at football: Harrow School: C. 20. Arnold Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913. Ex v., 3.

sky, v. To throw up into the air; esp. sky a copper, as in the earliest record: 1802, Maria Edgeworth.—2. Hence, with pun on blue (v.), to spend freely till one's money is gone: from ca. 1885. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'With the takings safely skyed.' Ob.—3. To throw away; at football, to charge or knock down: Harrow: from ca. 1890. F. & H., 1903; Vachell, 1905. Ex sense 1.—4. See skied. Coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.

sky-blue. Gin: perhaps orig. c.: 1755, The Connoisseur; Grose, 3rd ed. † by 1859.—2. Thin or watery milk: late C. 18–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. H., 1859. Ob. Cf. simpson, n., and chalkers.

sky falls,—we shall catch larks, if or when the A semi-proverbial c.p. retort on an extravagant hypothesis: late C. 15–20; ob. Cf. if pigs had wings... See esp. Apperson, who quotes Heywood (1546), Randolph (1638), Bailey (1721), Spurgeon (1869), G. B. Shaw (1914), and others.

sky-farmer. A beggar who, equipped with false passes and other papers, wanders about the country as though in distress from losses caused by fire, hurricane, or flood, or by disease among his cattle: c.: 1753, John Poulter. † by 1850. As Grose, 1st ed., suggests, either because he pretended to come from the Isle of Skye or because his farm was 'in the skies'.

sky-gazer. A sky-sail: nautical: from ca. 1860; ob. On nautical sky-scraper.

sky-high. Very high indeed: coll.: 1818 (Lady Morgan), adv.; 1840, adj. O.E.D.

sky-lantern. The moon: coll.: ca. 1840–70. Moncrieff, 1843.

sky-light; skylight. An eye: nautical. 1836, Michael Scott; ob.

sky... limit. See limit, the sky is one's.

sky-line. The top row of pictures at an exhibition: artistic coll. (—1911). Webster. Suggested by skied, q.v.

sky-parlour. A garret: 1785, Grose: coll. >, ca. 1840, S.E. Also (in Baumann) sky-lodging: lower classes' coll. (—1887); slightly ob.

sky-pilot. A clergyman, esp. if working among seamen: low (—1887; Baumann) > nautical s. (1888, Churchward) > by 1895 (W. Le Queux, in The Temptress) gen. s. >, by 1910, gen. coll. Because he pilots men to a heaven in the skies. Cf. pilot-cove, q.v.—2. Hence, loosely, an evangelist: from before 1932. Slang, p. 245.

sky-rocket; occ. skyrocket. A pocket: rhyming s.: 1879, J. W. Horsley. Cf. sky, n.

sky-scraper; occ. skyscraper. A high-standing horse: coll.: 1826, Hone (O.E.D.); ob. Like the following senses, it derives ex the nautical sky-scraper, a sky-sail.—2. A cocked hat: nautical: ca. 1830–90.—3. The penis: low: from ca. 1840.—4. An unusually tall person (gen. of a man): coll.: 1857, 'Ducange Anglicus'.—5. In cricket, a skied ball: coll.: from ca. 1890; slightly ob.—6. A rider on a 'penny-farthing' bicycle: ca. 1891–1900. The Daily News, March 7, 1892, '... Often derisively styled "sky-scrappers"', O.E.D.

sky the towel. To give in, yield: boxers' (from ca. 1890) >, by 1910, soldiers' coll. F. & Gibbons.

sky the wipe. A variant of rag, sky the, q.v. (Australian: C. J. Dennis.) sky-topper. A very high person or thing (e.g. house): coll. (—1923). Manchon. A variant of sky-scraper.

skycer. See shicer.—skyed. See skied.

Skying a Copper. Hood's poem, A Report from Below, 'to which this title was popularly given until it absolutely dispossessed the true one'

(Ware).—2. Hence, 'making a disturbance—upsetting the apple-cart': lower classes': ca. 1830–50; Hood dying in 1845. (Ware.)

[skylark, n. and v.; derivative skylarker, skylarking. Perhaps orig. nautical coll. (as F. & H. supposes), but soon S.E.; prob. (see O.E.D.) always S.E.]

*skylarker. A housebreaker that, both as a blind and in order to spy out the land, works as a bricklayer: c.: from ca. 1850; ob.

skylight. See sky-light.—*skypper. See skipper, n., 1.

skyrocket. See sky-rocket.—skyscraper. See sky-scraper.

skyte. A dayboy: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1840. Pascoe, 1881. Gen. in pl.: Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906, 'Are not the despised Day Boys called Skytes—"Scythians" or "outcasts"?' Cf. the Westminster Sky.

slab. A milestone: low: ca. 1820–1910. 'Jon Bee', 1823; Baumann. Abbr. slab of stone.—2. A bricklayer's boy: ca. 1840–90. Ex dialect.—3. A portion; a tall, awkward fellow: both Australian: late C. 19–20. C. J. Dennis.

slabbering-bib. A parson's, lawyer's, neck-band: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Lit., a slobbering-bib. (F. & H., wrongly, slabbering-bit.)

slack. The seat (of a pair of trousers, gen. mentioned): coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Prob. ex slacks, q.v.—2. A severe or knock-down punch: boxing: C. 19. Ex Jack Slack, a powerful hitter. Also slack un. Cf. Mendoza and auctioneer.—3. Impertinence, decided 'cheek': dial. (1842) >, ca. 1870, s. >, ca. 1910, coll. T. Hardy, 1876, 'Let's have none of your slack.' (O.E.D.) Abbr. slack-jaw.—4. A 'spell of inactivity or laziness': coll.: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.). Ex slack period or spell.

slack, v. To make water: late C. 19–20. Ex relaxation. Also slack off.

slack, hold on the. To be lazy; avoid work: nautical (—1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex the loose or untautened part of a rope.

slack and slim. Slender and elegant: non-aristocratic (—1887); slightly ob. Baumann.

slack in stays. Lazy: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen, 'From the old description of a ship which is slow in going about.'

slack off. See slack, v.—slack un. See slack, n., 2.

slack out. To go out: Public Schools': C. 20. (E. F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916.)

slacken your glib! Shut up!: low (—1887). Baumann.

slacker. A shirker; a very lazy person: coll.: 1898 (O.E.D.). Cf. slackster.

slacks. Trousers (full length): 1824: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. Surtees. (O.E.D.) In C. 20, applied esp. to an English soldier's trousers.—2. Pilfered fruit: late C. 19–20: greengrocers' s. >, by 1920, j. slackster. A 'slacker' (q.v.): C. 20 coll.; ob. The Daily Chronicle, Nov. 6, 1901, 'There are "slacksters", as the slang of the schools and universities has it, in all professions.' O.E.D.

slag. A coward; one unwilling to resent an affront: late C. 18–early 19. Extant, however, in showmen's s.: Neil Bell, Crocus, 1936. Grose, 2nd ed. Corruption of slack(-mettled).—2. A (watch-) chain, whether of gold or of silver: c.: (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus'. Perhaps a perversion of slack (hanging slack).—3. A rough: grafters':

late C. 19–20. (P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.) Ex dial.

*slagger. A brothel-keeper: c. or low (—1909). Ware. Prob. a corruption of slacker: cf. slag, 1.

*slam. A variant (—1887) of slum, n., 2, 4, 5.—2. An attack; esp. the grand slam, the big attack: military: 1915; ob. Frank Richards, Old Soldiers Never Die, 1933. Ex bridge.

slam, v. To brag; esp. among soldiers, to simulate tipsiness and brag of numerous drinks: from ca. 1880. Cf. slum, v. Perhaps ex:—2. To 'patter'; talk fluently: itinerant showmen's: from ca. 1870. Henley, 1884, 'You swatchel coves that pitch and slam.' According to H., 5th ed., ex 'a term in use among the birdsingers'—presumably dealers in singing birds—'at the East-end [of London], by which they denote a certain style of note in chaffinches.'

slam-bang shop. A variant (Bee, 1823; † by 1910) of slap-bang shop: see slap-bang.

slam-slam. To salute: Anglo-Indian (—1909). Ex salaam. (Ware.)

slammer, slamming. (Anything) exceptional; a 'whopper', whopping: from ca. 1890; ob.

*slaney. A theatre: c.: from ca. 1880. Ex slum, to act.

slang. The special vocabulary (e.g. cant) of low, illiterate, or disreputable persons; low, illiterate language: 1756, Toldervy (O.E.D.): c. >, ca. 1780, s. >, ca. 1820, coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E. Likewise, the senses 'jargon' (1802), 'illegitimate colloquial speech', i.e. what now we ordinarily understand by 'slang' (1818), and 'impertinence' or 'abuse' (1825), began as s. and > S.E. only ca. 1860. (Earliest dates: O.E.D.) The etymology is a puzzle: the O.E.D. hazards none; Bradley, Weekley, Wyld consider that cognates are afforded by Norwegian slenja-keften, to sling the jaw, to abuse, and by several other Norwegian forms in -sleng; that slang is ultimately from sling there can be little doubt,—cf. slang the mauleys, sling language and sling the bat, qq.v.; that it is an argotic perversion of Fr. langue is very improbable though not impossible. (See esp. the author's Slang To-Day and Yesterday, revised edition, 1935, at pp. 1–3.) All the following senses, except the last two, derive ultimately ex sense 1.—2. Nonsense; humbug: ca. 1760–90. Foote, 1762.—3. A line of work; a 'lay' or 'lurk': c. of ca. 1788–1800. G. Parker.—4. A warrant or a licence, esp. a hawkers': from ca. 1810: c. >, ca. 1850, s. Vaux; H., 3rd ed.—5. A travelling show: showmen's (—1859). H., 1st ed. Ob.—6. Hence, a performance or 'house' in a show, e.g. a circus: showmen's: 1861, Mayhew. Cf. slang-cove and -cull.—7. (Gen. in pl.) A short measure or weight: London, mostly costermongers': 1851, Mayhew.—8. (Ex Ger. c. schlange, a watch-chain, or Dutch slang, a snake: O.E.D.) A watch-chain; any chain: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.—9. See slangs, 1.

slang, adj. Slangy: 1758: c. >, ca. 1780, s. >, ca. 1820, coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E. Ex slang, n., 1.—2. (Of persons or tone.) Rakish, impertinent: ca. 1818–70: s. > coll. Ex sense 1.—3. (Of dress.) Loud; extravagant: coll.: ca. 1830–70.—4. (Of measures, weights.) Short, defective: costers': 1812, Vaux.—5. Hence, adv., as in Mayhew, 1851, 'He could always "work slang" with a true measure,' O.E.D.; ob.

slang, v.i. To remain in debt: University s. of ca. 1770–1800. See (?) Smeaton Oliphant (à propos of tick), The New English, at II, 180. F. & H.—V.i.—2. To exhibit at (e.g.) a fair: 1789, G. Parker; † by 1860.—3. V.i. and t., to cheat, swindle, defraud: 1812, Vaux. Also slang it (Mayhew, 1851).—4. To fetter: c. of ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal.; Vaux. Implied in slanged, q.v., and prob. ex slangs, 1.—5. V.i. to use slang; rail abusively: 1828, Lytton: s. > coll.; slightly ob.—6. V.t. to abuse, scold, violently: 1844, Albert Smith (O.E.D.); in C. 20, coll. Cf. slanging, q.v.

slang, boy of the. A C. 19 variant of slang-boy, q.v.

slang, on or upon the. At one's own line of work: c. of ca. 1788–1850. G. Parker.

slang, out on the. Travelling with a hawker's licence: 1864, H., 3rd ed.

slang-and-pitcher shop. A cheapjack's van or stock-in-trade: mid-C. 19–20. Ex slang, a hawker's licence, + pitcher, q.v.

slang-boy. (Gen. pl.) A speaker of (under-world) cant: late C. 18–mid-19. G. Parker, 1789. Also boy of the slang.

slang-cove, -cull. A showman: cull, c. or showmen's s. of ca. 1788–1850 (G. Parker, 1789); cove, showmen's s. of mid-C. 19–20 (Mayhew, 1851).

slang-dipper; -dropper. A slang-dipper is 'one who gilds metal chains for the purpose of selling them as gold.' A slang-dropper is the man 'who disposes of them, as he usually does so by pretending to pick [one] up in the street under the nose of his victim, [whom] he immediately asks to put a value on it': c. (–1935). David Hume. See slang, n., 8.

slang it. To use false weights: low: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. slang, n., 7 and v., 3.

slang the mauleys. To shake hands (lit., sling the mauleys): late C. 18–20: low London. G. Parker, 1781. Of mauley (q.v.), the hand, the dial. form is mauler: E.D.D.

slang-tree. A stage; a trapeze: resp. itinerant actors' and showmen's: mid-C. 19–20. Ex slang, a travelling show. Cf. slang-cove and:

slang-tree, climb (up) the. To perform; make an exhibition of oneself: showmen's: resp. mid-C. 19–20 and late C. 19–20.

[slang-whang, -er, -ery, -ing. Prob., as O.E.D. indicates, always S.E.]

slanged, ppl. adj. In fetters: c.: 1811, Lex. Bal. Cf. slangs, 1, and slang, v., 4.

slanger. A showman: circus-men's (–1933). Edward Seago, Circus Company. Prob. ex slang, n., 5.

slanging, vbl.n. Exhibiting (e.g. a two-headed cow) at fair or market: showmen's s. verging on c.: late C. 18–19. G. Parker, 1789. Ex slang, v., 1.—2. Abuse; violent scolding: mid-C. 19–20: s. >, ca. 1880, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Lever, 1856 (O.E.D.). Ex slang, v., 6.—3. Singing: music-halls': ca. 1880–1900. Ware derives it ex 'the quantity of spoken slang between the verses.'

slang-dues concerned, there has or have been. A low London c.p. uttered by one who suspects that he has been curtailed of his just portion or right: ca. 1810–50. Vaux.

slangs. Fetters; leg-irons: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux. Cognate with slang, a watch-chain or any chain whatsoever. Cf. slanged, q.v.—2. the slangs. A collection of travelling shows; the travelling showman's world or profession: showmen's: prob. from ca. 1850, though app. the first record occurs in T. Hood the Younger's Comic Annual, 1888 (p. 52). Ex slang, a travelling show.

slangular. Belonging to, characteristic of, slang (highly colloquial speech): jocular S.E. verging on coll.: 1853, Dickens. On angular. (Likewise, language, which, however, is definitely, S.E.: 1899. Cf. Slango-Saxon, from ca. 1920: a word condemnatory of the slangy tendency of English.)

slangy, flashy or pretentious (ca. 1850–90), and (of dress) loud, vulgar (ca. 1860–1900), may orig. have been coll. Cf. slang, adj., 2, 3.

slant. A chance; an opportunity (e.g. of going somewhere): 1837, Fraser's Magazine, 'With the determination of playing them a slippery trick the very first slant I had,' O.E.D. Ex nautical slant, a slight breeze, a favourable wind, a period of windiness.—2. A plan designed to ensure a particular and favourable result (or scene of operations for that result): Australian: 1897, P. Warung; slightly ob. (O.E.D.).—3. A sidelight (on); a different or a truly characteristic opinion (on) or reaction: U.S., anglicised ca. 1930. Via angle (on).

slant, v. To run away: c.: from ca. 1899. Ex dial. (Graham, 1896), to move away, itself ex slant, to move, travel, obliquely (O.E.D., § 3, a).—2. (V.i.) to exaggerate: from ca. 1900; ob. Prob. ex slant, 'to diverge from a direct course.'—3. In racing, to lay a bet (v.i.): from ca. 1901.

slanter. 'Spurious; unfair,' C. J. Dennis: Australian (–1916). Ex on the slant: cf., however, s(c)hlenter, q.v.

slantindicular (1855, Smedley); occ. slanting- (1840, J. T. Hewlett) or slanten- (1872, De Morgan). Slanting, oblique; neither perpendicular nor horizontal: jocular coll., orig.—1832—U.S. (see esp. Thornton). O.E.D.—2. Hence, fig.: from ca. 1860.—3. Occ. as n. and adv. Ex slanting on perpendicular. Cf.:

slantindicularly, etc. Slantingly, obliquely: 1834, De Quincey: jocular coll. (O.E.D.). Though recorded earlier than the adj., it must actually be later.

slaoc. Coals: back s. (–1859). H., 1st ed.

slap. Plunder, booty, 'swag': c.: late C. 18—early 19: mainly Anglo-Irish. ? ex slap, a blow.—2. Make-up: theatrical: 1860, H., 2nd ed.; ob. 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'You could just distinguish faintly | That she favoured the judicious use of slap.' Perhaps ex the dial. version of slop; perhaps, however, as Ware suggests, ex 'its being liberally and literally slapped on.'

slap, v. Gen. slap along. To move, walk, quickly: from ca. 1825: coll. and (in C. 20, nothing but) dial. ? ex slap, i.e. bang, a door.

slap, adj. Excellent; first-rate; in style from ca. 1850; ob. Mayhew, 1851, 'People's go' proud now . . . and must have everything slap. Abbr. slap-up.

slap, adv. Quickly, suddenly, unexpectedly coll.: 1672, Villiers; Sterne. Also slap off (Read, 1852, 'Finish . . . slap off') and † slap down (1861, Dickens). Lit., as if with a slap.—2. With vv. 'motion: coll.: 1676, Etherege (slap down); 176 Mrs F. Sheridan; 1890, 'Rolf Boldrewood.'—With vv. of violent collision or impact: coll. 1825. Meredith, 1861, 'A punch slap into O Tom's belt.'—4. Directly; straight: coll.: 1815 Marryat, 'I . . . lay slap in the way'; Barha 'Aimed slap at him.' All senses: mainly O.E.—5. Precisely: coll.: 1860, H., 2nd ed. "'S' in the wind's eye," i.e. exactly to windward.'

slap at, have a. To engage in a fight with; to attempt: coll.: late C. 19–20.

slap-bang, whether adj., adv., or n. (except in its c. sense), is almost certainly S.E.; but slap-bang shop, which 'lived' ca. 1780–1850, is prob.—until C. 19, at least—coll., while its abbr., slap-bang (in 'Ducange Anglicus'), is c. In 1785, Grose, who gives a secondary sense that is indubitably coll. or even s., defines it thus: 'Slap-bang shop, a petty cook's shop where there is no credit given, but what is had must be paid down with the ready'—i.e. with cash—'slap-bang, i.e. immediately. This is a common appellation for a night cellar frequented by thieves, and sometimes for a stage coach or caravan': with the latter, cf. the later, long †, slap-bang coach.

slap down and slap off: see slap, adv., 1 and (s. d. only) 2.

slap-up. A battle; an attack: New Zealanders': in G.W. The word persists, both in N.Z. and—though less gen.—in Australia, for a fight of any sort.

slap-up, adj. Excellent; superior, first-rate; grand: 1823, Bee, who says that it is Northern but does not distinguish between persons and things; 1827, The Sporting Magazine, 'That slap-up work, The Sporting Magazine' (O.E.D.); of persons, certainly in 1829, 'slap-up swell' (Thackeray, 1840, has 'slap-up acquaintances'): both, s. >, ca. 1860, coll.; in England, ob. since ca. 1905. Or bang-up, q.v.

slash. An outside coat-pocket: c. (—1839). Brandon; H., 1st ed. Abbr. slash pocket. Ex slash, a vertical slit for the exposition of the lining or an under garment of a contrasting or, at the least, different colour.

slash, v.i. To cut a person across the face with a razor: c. (—1933). Esp. as vbl.n. Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld.—2. V.t. To deprive (an accomplice) of his share: c. (—1933). Ibid. Cf. carve up, q.v.

slasher. Any person or thing exceptional, esp. if exceptionally severe: from ca. 1820: coll. Cf. ripper, q.v.—2. A man in charge of a 'fleet' of steam or petrol locomotives: Public Works' (—1935).

Slashers, the. The 28th Regiment of Foot (now the Gloucestershire Regiment): military: during and since the American War of Independence. James, Military Dict., 1802. Ex an attack delivered, at the Battle of White Plains in 1776, with their short swords: F. & Gibbons. Also the Old Braggs and the Right-Abouts.

slashing. Exceptionally vigorous, expert, successful, brilliant, notable: from ca. 1820: coll. till C. 20, then S.E. Dickens, 'A slashing fortune,' 1854. Cf. slasher.

slashing, adv. Very; brilliantly: coll.: from 1890's; slightly ob. F. & H., 1903, 'A slashing fine woman; a slashing good race; and so forth.' Ex slashing, adj.

slat. A sheet: c.: a mid C. 17–mid-18 variant of slate, n., 1, q.v. Coles, 1676; B.E.—2. A half-crown: c.: a late C. 18–early 19 variant of slate, n., 2. Grose, 2nd ed.—3. See slats.

slate. A sheet: c.: 1567, Harman; 1622, Fletcher; Grose, 1st ed.: † by 1840, and prob. ob. a century earlier. ? origin, unless a perversion of flat (even, level): cf. Ger. Blatt. Cf. slat, 1.—2. A half-crown: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E. ? origin. Cf. slat, 2—3. As in Andrew Lang, 1887 (earliest record), '“Slate” is a professional term for a severe criticism,' O.E.D.: book-world coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.; by 1930, slightly ob. Ex:

slate. To criticise severely: coll.: 1848, Alario Watts; Blackmore; Saintsbury; Kipling; Kernahan. Ex:—2. To abuse; reprimand or scold severely: 1840: s. (orig. political) >, ca. 1870, coll. Ex:—3. To thrash; beat severely: ca. 1825–70, then very rare: app. orig. Anglo-Irish. If this sense is earlier than the next but one, then it may well derive ex the Scottish and Northern slate, 'to bait, assail, or drive, with dogs,' esp. since this hunting term was used fig. at least as early as 1755.—4. Hence, as a military coll., to punish (the enemy) severely: 1854, in the Crimea; ob. by 1914,—1, for instance, never heard it used during the G.W.,—and by 1930 virtually †.—5. (Perhaps the originating sense: presumably ex covering a roof with slates.) To 'bonnet', knock his hat over the eyes of (a person): 1825, Westmacott; H., 3rd ed. Ob. by 1890, † by 1930. As v.i. in form, fly a tile.—6. (Perhaps ex the military sense.) To bet heavily against (a horse, a human competitor): sporting: from early 1870's; slightly ob. H., 5th ed. (1874)—7. In medical s., gen. in the passive, to prophesy the death of (a patient): late C. 19–20. Ware. Ex putting his name on a slate: see the author's Slang. (For all except the last two senses, dates from O.E.D.) slate, on the. 'Written up against you': lower classes' coll.: late C. 19–20. Ware.

slate loose or off, have a. To be mentally deficient: s. >, ca. 1900, coll.: loose, 1860, H., 2nd ed.; off, 1867, Rhoda Broughton (O.E.D.). The latter, ob. Cf. shingle short and tile loose, qq.v., and dial. have a slate slipped.

slated, ppl.adj. See slate, v., esp. in senses 1, 2. Cf. slating.—slated, be. To be expected to die. See slate, v., last sense.

[slater, a wood-louse, is, in New South Wales, ess coll. than a survival ex English dial.]

Slater's pan. A coll. nickname for the gaol at Kingston, Jamaica: West Indies: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. Ex the deputy provost-marshall.

slating, vbl.n. See slate, v., esp. in senses 1, 2, 4.—2. Adj., little used.

slats. The ribs: U.S., whence Australian (—1916) and Canadian. C. J. Dennis; John Beames. Ex shape.

slaughter. A wholesale dismissal of employees: lower classes' (—1935). Also a work-out.

slaughter-house. A gaming-house where men are employed to pretend to be playing for high stakes: sharpers' c.: 1809 (O.E.D.); ob.—2. A shop where, at extremely low prices, goods are bought from small manufacturers (glad of a large turn-over even at a very small profit): 1851, Mayhew. One would, if it were not for the libel laws, name several firms that buy thus. Cf. slaughterer.—3. A factory paying miserable wages: operatives' (—1887). Baumann.—4. The Surrey Sessions House: c. (—1909). Ware.—5. 'A particularly hard sailing ship with a brutal after-guard': nautical: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. Bowen.

slaughterer. A vendor buying very cheaply from small manufacturers: 1851, Mayhew. Cf. slaughter-house, 2.—2. 'A buyer for re-manufacture: as books for pulp, cloth for shoddy, &c.': late C. 19–20 commercial. F. & H.

slaughterman. A manufacturer paying very low wages: (esp. furniture) operatives' (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. slaughter-house, 3.

slave-driver. A stern taskmaster or master: coll.: from ca. 1840.

slave one's life (coll.) or guts (low coll.). To work extremely hard: late C. 19–20. Manchon.

slaver. 'One engaged in the "white slave traffic",' C. J. Dennis: Australian: C. 20.

slavey. A male servant: coll.: ca. 1810–60. Vaux, Thackeray. Ex slave.—2. A female servant: coll.: ca. 1810–70. Vaux.—3. Esp. a hard-worked 'general': 1821, Egan; P. H. Emerson. Cf. skivvy.—4. A servants' attic: London students' (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

slawmineyeux. A Dutchman: nautical: ca. 1860–1910. Ex Dutch ja, mynheer (yes, sir).

slay. At Shrewsbury School, from ca. 1890, as in Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906, "'Slays" are spreads [feasts], ambitious beyond all imagining, ordered from the Shop.' Cf. the adj. killing.

sleek-and-slum shop. 'A public house or tavern where single men and their wives resort,' Bee: c. of ca. 1820–90. See slum, a room.

sleek wife. A silk handkerchief: c. (— 1823); † by 1920. Egan's Grose.

[sleep, put to. To kill: a euphemism that is, rather, familiar S.E. than coll.]

sleep-drunk. Very drowsy; 'muzzy': coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex heavy awaking.

sleep on bones. (Of children) to sleep in the nurse's lap: coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

sleep with Mrs Green. To sleep in the open: New Zealand tramps' c. (— 1932). I.e. on the green grass. Cf. Star Hotel.

sleeper. A player too much favoured by his handicap: lawn tennis (— 1923). Manchon.

sleeping. Slow-witted: Glasgow (— 1934). Cf. sleep in, q.v.

sleeping near a crack, (I, he, or you) must have been. A c.p. reply to an inquiry as to how a male has caught a cold: lower and lower-middle classes': late C. 19–20. (Ernest Raymond, Mary Leith, 1931.) An innuendo in respect of the anatomical crack.

sleeping-partner. A bed-fellow: jocular coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

sleepless hat. A hat with the nap worn off: ca. 1860–1905. H., 3rd ed.; Baumann. Cf.:

sleepy. Grose, 2nd ed., has this punning c.p.: the cloth of your coat must be extremely sleepy; for it has not had a nap this long time: late C. 18–early 19. Whence sleepless hat, q.v.; cf. wide-awake.—2. Repaid, recompensed: low (— 1923). Manchon.

Sleepy Queens, the. The 2nd Foot Regiment (ca. 1880–1901, the Queen's Royal Regiment): military: from ca. 1850; very ob.

sleepy-seeds. The mucus forming about the eyes in sleep: nursery: late C. 19–20. Suggested by sand-man (q.v.) and sleepy sickness.

sleepy-walker. A sleep-walker: lower classes' coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

sleeve-board. A word hard to pronounce: tailors': from ca. 1870. Ex hardness.

sleeveology. See shouldology.

sleever. An order taken by a 'commercial' on a good day but held up for the next day, to preclude reporting a blank day to his employers: commercial travellers': late C. 19–20. I.e. an order 'up one's sleeve.'

slender in the middle as a cow in the waist, as. Very fat: C. 17–20 (ob.): coll. till C. 19, then dial. Burton, 1621; Fuller, 1732; Evans, Leicestershire Words, 1881. Apperson.

sleep. See -p.

slept in (he, she, etc.). A Glasgow c.p. (— 1934) = too late; not quick enough.

slewed; occ. slued. Topsy: coll.: 1834, M. Scott (slewed); Dickens, 1844 (slued). Ob. Ex slew, to swing round.—2. Hence, beaten, baffled: coll.: late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

Slice. The same as Silly Billy, 3.—2. (slice.) A slice of bread and butter: coll.: C. 20. (Anon., 'Down and Out' in The Week-End Review, Nov. 18, 1933.)

slice, take a. 'To intrigue, particularly with a married woman, because a slice of [sic] a cut loaf is not missed,' Grose, 2nd ed.: coll.: mid-C. 18–mid-19. Ex the C. 17–20 proverbial it is safe taking a shive (in C. 18–19, occ. slice) of a cut loaf, as in Shakespeare's Titus Andronicus. Apperson.

slice of fat. A profitable robbery: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

slice off. To settle part of (an old score): military (— 1909); very ob. Ware.

slick. 'A fine result or appearance': Conway cadets': C. 20. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933. Ex the adj.

slick, v. To despatch rapidly, get done with: coll.: 1860, H., 2nd ed.; ob. Ex slick, to polish: cf. polish off, q.v.—2. See 'Eton slang', § 2.

slick-a-dee. A pocket-book: Scots c. (— 1839); ob. Brandon; H., 1st ed. On dee, the same.

'Slid! Coll. abbr. God's lid, a late C. 16–17 petty oath. O.E.D.

slide. (Esp. in the imperative.) To decamp: coll.: U.S. (— 1859) anglicised ca. 1890. Whiteing, 1899, 'Cheese it, an' slide.' Occ. slide out. Ex slide, to move silently, stealthily.

slide up the board or the straight, do a. (Of a man) to coit: low: from ca. 1870. Cf. rush up the straight.

slider. An ice-cream wafer: Glasgow (— 1934). Alastair Baxter.

sliders. A pair of drawers: coll.: late C. 17–mid-18. J. Dickenson, 1699.

'Slife! God's life!: C. 17–18 coll. Preserved only in period plays and Wardour Street novels. By abbr. Cf. 'Slid, q.v., and: slightly-tightly. Bemused (not drunk) with liquor: fast life: ca. 1905–14. Ware. Perversion of slightly 'tight'.

'Slidikins. A petty oath: coll.: late C. 17–18. Ex 'Slid on 'Sbodikins. (O.E.D.)

'Slight! God's light!: a late C. 16–17 oath: trivial coll. O.E.D.

sligo, tip (someone) the. To warn by winking; wink at: 1775, S. J. Pratt, 'I tips Slappim the sligo, and nudges the elbow of Trugge, as much as to say, . . . I have him in view,' O.E.D. Prob. on sly: o is a common s. suffix.

slim. Rum (the drink): c.: 1789, G. Parker; † by 1850. ? rum perverted.

slime, v.i. To 'cut' games; to loaf: Durham School: late C. 19–20. Ex S.E. slime, to crawl slimily.—2. To sneak along: Felsted: late C. 19–20. Whence do a slime, to take a mean or crafty advantage. Cf. —3. To move, go, quietly, stealthily, or sneakingly: Harrow: late C. 19–20. Howson & Warner, 1898, 'His house-beak slimed and twug him.'—4. Hence, to make 'drops' at racquets: Harrow: from ca. 1900.

slime, do a. See slime, 2.

slimy. Deceitful; treacherous: coll.: C. 20. Ex slimy, vile.

sling. A draught of, 'pull' at a drink, bottle: 1788 (O.E.D.); † by 1903, prob. by 1860, perhaps (cf. W.) by 1830. Cf. go.

sling. To utter: coll.: C. 15–20. (O.E.D.) See sling language and cf. sense 3.—2. To distribute or dispense: s. (— 1860) >, ca. 1890, coll. H., 2nd ed., 'Sling, to pass from one person to another.'—3. Hence, to give (as in 'Sling us a tanner'): low (— 1887) >, by 1910, low coll. Baumann.—4. To do easily: from ca. 1864: s. >, ca. 1900, coll. Mainly in sling ink, etc.—5. To use (e.g. slang); relate (a story): from ca. 1880: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. Mrs Lynn Linton, 'I am awfully sorry if I slung you any slang,' O.E.D. See sling a yarn and sling slang.—6. To abandon: C. 20: mostly Australian. H. Lawson, 1902, 'Just you sling it [liquor] for a year,' O.E.D.—7. For c. usage, see sling one's hook, 2, and sling the smash. In c., moreover, sling = to throw away: late C. 19–20: cf. sling, to abandon.—8. See sling a snot.—9. V.i. to sleep in a hammock: Conway cadets: late C. 19–20. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933. Abbr. sling one's hammock.

sling l, let her. See sling yourself!

sling a book, poem, an article. To write one: from ca. 1870: s. >, 1900, coll. Cf. sling ink, q.v.

sling a cat. To vomit: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Cf. cat, jerk the.

sling a daddle. To shake hands: low: from ca. 1870. Cf. slang the mauleys.

sling a foot. To dance: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob.

sling a hat. To wave one's hat in applause: coll.: from 1830's; ob.

sling a nasty part. To act a part so well that it would be hard to rival it: orig. and mainly theatrical: from ca. 1880. Ex:

sling (or jerk) a part. To undertake, to play, a role: theatrical: from ca. 1880.

sling a pen. See sling ink.

sling a pot. To drink (liquor): from ca. 1870: coll. rather than s.

sling a slobber. To give a kiss; hence, to kiss: low (— 1909). Ware. Ex sling, v., 3 (q.v.) and slobber, which, very low s. for a kiss, dates from late C. 19.

sling a snot. To blow one's nose with one's fingers: low: from ca. 1860. Also, from ca. 1870, simply sling (v.i.): ob. H., 5th ed.

sling a tinkler. To ring a bell: from ca. 1870; ob.

sling a yarn. To relate a story: C. 20: s. >, ca. 1930, coll. Cf. sling language, q.v.—2. Hence, to tell a lie: 1904, The Strand Magazine, March, 'Maybe you think I am just slinging you a yarn,' O.E.D.

sling about, v.i. To idle; to loaf: from ca. 1870; in C. 20, coll.

sling ink; occ. sling a pen. To write: from ca. 1864: s. >, ca. 1900, coll. Orig. U.S. and app. coined by Artemus Ward.

sling language or words. To talk: mid-C. 19–20: s. >, ca. 1900, coll. Cf. sling, v., 1, sling a yarn, 1, and sling the bat.

sling-next. The two cadets sleeping on either side of oneself: Conway cadets: late C. 19–20. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933. See sling, v., 9.

sling off, v.i. To utter abuse or cheek or impertinence.—2. V.t. with at, to give cheek to, to jeer at, to taunt. Both: late C. 19–20. See Slang, 2–3.

sling (a person) one in the eye. To punch one in the eye, gen. with the implication of blackening it: 1899, Whiteing.

sling one's body. To dance vigorously: London lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. I.e. sling it about.

sling one's Daniel; sling one's hook. To make off; decamp: Daniel, 1873, J. Greenwood; hook, 1873 or 1874 (H., 5th ed.). The origin of neither is clear; the latter may be nautical, though Ware derives it from mining-procedure. Cf. sling yourself!

sling one's hammock. To get used to a new ship: naval coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sling one's hook. See sling one's Daniel.—2. In c., to pick pockets: from the 1870's. Anon., 1877, Five Years' Penal Servitude. O.E.D.

sling one's jelly or juice. To masturbate: low: from ca. 1870.

sling one's service about. To boast: military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Lit., to talk much of one's length of service.

sling over. 'To embrace emphatically': Society: ca. 1905–14. Ex U.S., says Ware.

sling round on the loose. To act recklessly: from ca. 1875; in C. 20, coll. Possibly an elaboration of sling about, q.v.

sling (a person) slang. To abuse, scold violently: from ca. 1880: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. See sling, v., 5.

sling the bat. To speak the vernacular (esp. of the foreign country, orig. India, where one happens to be): military: late C. 19–20. Kipling, 1892. See bat.

sling the booze. To stand treat: low: from ca. 1860. Cf. sling, v., 2.

sling the hatchet. To talk plausibly: military: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.—2. See hatchet, sling the.

sling the language. To swear fluently: lower classes' (— 1903); ob.—2. To speak a foreign language: military: from 1915. Cf. sling the bat.

sling the lead. See lead, sling the.

sling the smash. To smuggle tobacco to prisoners: c.: from the 1870's. Anon., 1877, Five Years' Penal Servitude. O.E.D. Cf. sling, v., 2.

sling type. To set type: printers's. (— 1887) >, by 1910, coll.; ob. Baumann.

sling words. See sling language and contrast sling the language, 2.

sling yourself! or let her sling! Bestir yourself! get a move on!: low: from ca. 1880; the former is very ob. Cf. sling one's Daniel.

slinger. (Gen. pl.) A piece of bread afloat in tea or coffee; a dumpling, a sausage: low (— 1889) >, by 1910, military. Barrère & Leland; F. & Gibbons.—2. (Slinger.) An inevitable nickname of all men surnamed Woods: naval and military: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf. Lac(k)ery.

slink. A sneak, skulker, cheat: dial (— 1824) >, ca. 1830, coll. The Examiner, 1830, 'Such a d—d slink,' O.E.D. Ex slink, an abortive calf, etc.

slink, v.i. To abort: low (— 1923). Manchon. Same origin as the preceding.

slinky. Sneaky, mean, sly, furtive: dial. and coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex slink, q.v.—2. Hence, (of a person's gait) stealthy: late C. 19–20.—3. Hence, (of gait) slyly smooth; glidingly and unobtrusively sensuous or voluptuous: C. 20. Senses slip. A counterfeit coin: ca. 1590–1630: perhaps orig. c., as its use by Greene suggests. Origin doubtful. The derivative nail up for a slip, to try and find wanting (late C. 16–early 17), may, orig. at least, have been coll.—2. A slash-pocket in the rearward skirt of a coat: ca. 1810–40. Vaux.—3. A Royal Air Force coll. (—1932), abbr. of side-slip, ‘a method of losing height quickly without gaining speed’.

2, 3 have been influenced by slink, to move stealthily.

slip, v.i.; gen. be slipping. To weaken, physically; go downhill, fig.; lose grip, ground, status, etc.: coll.: C. 20. Ex one’s foot slipping.

slip at, let. To rush violently at a person and then assault him vigorously: coll. (—1860). H., 2nd ed. Cf.:

slip into. To begin punching (a person) vigorously, gen. with the connotation that the person ‘slipped into’ receives a sound beating: low coll. (—1860). H., 2nd ed. Cf. preceding entry.—2. To set about a thing, a task, with a will, vigorously: low coll. (—1887). Baumann.

slip it across or over (a person) To hoodwink; to befool: from ca. 1912. B. & P.

slip off the hooks. See hooks.

slip one’s breath, cable, wind. To die: resp. 1819, Wolcot (O.E.D.); 1751, Smollett, ‘I told him [a doctor] as how I could slip my cable without direction or assistance’; 1772, Bridges. Orig. nautical s.; by mid-C. 19, gen. coll. In post-G.W. days, slip one’s breath and wind are never heard; they > † ca. 1910.

slip-slops. ‘Soft’ drinks: C. 18. Ned Ward, The Whole Pleasures of Matrimony, 1714 (cited by W. Matthews).

slip up. To swindle; to disappoint: Australian: 1890, The Melbourne Argus, Aug. 9, ‘I’d only be slipped up if I trusted to them,’ O.E.D. Ex slip, to elude, evade, stealthily; give the slip to.—2. slip a girl up, to render her pregnant unexpectedly or by trickery: lower classes’ (—1923). Manchon.—3. v.i. To make a mistake, to fail: mid-C. 19–20; U.S. anglicised ca. 1910 as a coll. variant of make a slip. O.E.D.; Lyell.

slipper. A sixpence: tailors’ (—1909). Ware. Because it slips into corners and cracks.

Slipper-Slopper, old Mother. A little old woman: coll. (—1923). Manchon. She slip-slops along.

slippery. Soap: e. (—1839); slightly ob. Brandon.

slippery, adj. Quick: coll.: late C. 19–20. Prob ex:

slippy. Quick; spry, nimble: dial. (—1847) >, ca. 1880, coll. Esp. look slippy (Runciman, 1885) and be slippy (Rolf Boldrewood, 1889). Coulson Kernahan, 1902, ‘We must look slippy about it . . . It’s lucky I haven’t far to go.’ Ex slippy = slippery in its fig. as well as lit. senses. O.E.D.

slither. Counterfeit money: e. (—1929). O.E.D. (Sup.).—2. A rush, a great hurry: 1915, Edgar Wallace (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex:

slither, v.i. To hurry (away): low (—1889). Barrère & Leland. Ex slither, to slide: cf. slide, q.v. Imm. ex dial.: E.D.D.

sloan. To hamper, obstruct, baulk: lower classes’: 1899 only. Ex jockey Sloan’s trick—learnt from Archer—of slanting his horse across the track and thus obstructing the other riders. Ware.

slobber. Ink badly distributed: printers’ coll.: from ca. 1870.—2. See sling a slobber.

slobber, v. To fail to grasp (the ball) cleanly in fielding: cricket coll.: 1851, Pycroft; † by 1890. Lewis. For semantics, cf. butter in its cricketing sense.

slobber-swing. A complete circle on the horizontal bar: circus s. verging on j. (—1933). E. Seago.

slobberation. Kissing; esp. (lit.) sloppy kissing: low coll. (—1923). Manchon. Cf. sling a slobber.

slobberings. Money, esp. cash: c. (—1923). Manchon.

slobgollion. ‘An oozy, stringy substance found in sperm oil’: whalemens’: from ca. 1880. Clarke Russell. Perhaps a perversion of slumgullion (q.v.) on slob, mud, ooze.

slockdologer; slogdologer. See sockdologer.

slog. (A period of) hard, steady work: coll.: 1888 (O.E.D.). Ex v., 6.—2. A hard punch or blow; (at cricket) a hard hit: coll.: 1867 (Lewis); as a ‘slogger’ (sense 3), it appears also in 1867 (ibid), but is rare. Ex v., 1; cf. v., 4.—3. A large portion, esp. of cake: Public Schools’: late C. 19–20.

slog, v.t. To punch, hit, hard: coll.: 1853, Bradley in Verdant Green; v.i., not before 1888. Cf. to slug.—2. Hence, to thrash, chastise: 1859, H., 1st ed.—3. Hence, fig., attack violently: coll.: 1891, The Spectator, Oct. 10, ‘They love snubbing their friends and slogging their enemies,’ O.E.D.—4. (Ex sense 1.) To make runs at cricket by hard hitting: v.i. and v.t.: coll.: resp. early 1860’s (H., 3rd ed.) and in 1867 (Lewis).—5. V.i., to walk heavily, perseveringly: coll.: 1872, Calverley (O.E.D.). Prob. ex sense 1. Cf. foot-slogger, q.v.—6. V.i. To work hard and steadily, often with away, v.t. with at: coll.: 1888, The Daily News, May 22, ‘I slogged at it, day in and day out,’ O.E.D. Ex sense 1.—7. V.i., to steal fruit, esp. apples: school-children’s: from ca. 1880. (Neil Bell, Crocus, 1936.) Cf. scrounge, v.

slog on, have a. To work hard or hurriedly or both: 1888.

slogdologer. See sockdologer. (Manchon.)

slogger. Gen. in pl. A trial or 2nd division rowing-race: Cambridge: ca. 1852–80. In etymology, prob. cognate with ensuing senses; H., 1860, proposes slow-goers, but this seems unlikely. Cf. the Oxford toggers, q.v.—2. A deliverer of heavy blows: coll.: 1857, T. Hughes, ‘The Slogger pulls up at last . . . fairly blown.’ Ex slog, v., 1.—3. At cricket, a hard hitter: coll. (—1864). H., 3rd ed.—4. A (hard) punch: pugilistic (—1887); ob. Baumann. Ex sense 2 reinforced by sense 3.—5. A slung shot (as a weapon): c.: 1892 (O.E.D.). slogging, vbl.n. (cricket, 1860: Lewis) and ppl. adj. See slog, v., various senses.

slood. A variant of slud, q.v.

sloop. A neckerchief: c. (—1933). Charles E. Leach. Perhaps because ’s a loop.

sloop of war. A whore: rhyming s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. † by 1874: H., 5th ed., has ‘Rory o’ More, the floor. Also to signify a whore.’

sloosh. A wash, a sound of washing: from ca. 1905. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex sluice.—2. Hence, sloosh or slooshy, v.i. and v.t., to wash: 1907, W. De Morgan (ibid.).

slop. A policeman: abbr. of back s. (—1859) esclop (properly ecilop, police); ob. H., 1st ed. Already in the 2nd ed. (1860), H. writes ‘At first back slang, but now general.’—2. A tailor: from ca. 1860; ob. Cf. slops.—3. At Christ’s Hospital, pejorative for a person: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. Nashe's 'slop of a ropehailer' (1599).

slop-feeder. A tea-spoon: low (? orig. c.): from ca. 1810. Vaux. Ex slop(s), tea.

slop-made. Disjointed: Australian coll. (–1909); very ob. Ware. Presumably ex sloppily made.

slop-pail. A man doing housework: low coll. (–1923). Manchon.

slop trade. Trado that is 'no class': tailors' coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

slop-tubs. Tea-things: c. >, ca. 1870, low: from ca. 1820; ob. Egan's Grose. Cf. slop-feeder.

slope. A running-away, making-off; escape: coll.: U.S. (–1859) anglicised ca. 1880. Esp. do a slope: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1890. Ex:

slope, v. To make off; run away, decamp: coll.: orig. (1839) U.S., anglicised ca. 1857 (see 'Ducange Anglicus'). Song-writer Vance; 'Pomes' Marshall. Either ex let's lope! as H., 1st ed., proposes, or ex slope, to move obliquely.—2. With adv., esp. off (1844, Haliburton) and occ. home(ward), the latter in Mayne Reid, 1851: coll.: orig. U.S., anglicised by 1860.—3. (Ex sense 1.) 'To go loiteringly or saunteringly,' 1851. S.O.D.—4. (Likewise ex sense 1.) V.t., to leave (lodgings) without paying: 1908 (O.E.D.). Ex slope, 1, influenced by dial. slope, to trick, cheat. O.E.D.—5. In c. of early C. 17 (e.g., Rowlands, 1610), to lie down to sleep; to sleep. (Cf. slope, v.t., to bend down). It replaced couch a hog's head.

slope, do a. See slope, n.

Sloper's Island (or i.). A weekly-tenement neighbourhood: London: from ca. 1870. Esp. ca. 1870, 'the Artisans' Village near Loughborough Junction, originally in the midst of fields; now in the centre of a densely populated neighbourhood,' F. & H., 1903. Ob. by 1910, † by 1930. Prob. ex sloper, one who decamps.

sloping billet. A comfortable job for a married naval man: naval: C. 20. Bowen. I.e. with many opportunities to be ashore with one's family: ? ex sloping roofs.

slopper. A slop-basin: Leys School: late C. 19–20. See '-er, Oxford'.

slopping-up. A drinking bout: low: from ca. 1870; ob.

sloppy. Very sentimental: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex sloppy, feeble, infirm. Cf. slushy.

slops, tea still in the chest, is to be considered either s. or low coll. (–1859). H., 1st ed. Ex slops, (weak) tea as beverage.—2. A synonym of ales, q.v.—3. Subjects other than Classics or Mathematics: Cambridge University (–1923). Manchon.

slosh. Slush (liquid mud): dial. and Cockney coll. (–1887). Baumann.—2. A drink; drink in gen.: from the middle 1880's.—3. Hence, tea: schoolboys' s. (C. 20) ex dial. (–1899) E.D.D.—4. Nonsense, esp. if sentimental: from ca. 1920. (Denis Mackail, 1933.) Ex slush + bosh.

slosh. V.t., to hit, esp. resoundingly: from not later than 1915. E. M. Forster, in Time and Tide, June 16, 1934, 'Sir Oswald Mosley . . . sends them [his followers] to slosh the Reds.' Prob. ex S.E. slosh, to splash about in mud,—influenced by dial. sloush, v.t., to sluice,—via U.S. slosh around, explained by 'Major Jack Downing' in 1862 as 'jes goin rite through a crowd, an mowin your swath, bittin rite an left everybody you meet' (Thornton).

slosh around. To strut about; take one's slosher. A school boarding-house assistant: Cheltenham College: late C. 19–20. ? ex U.S. slosh, to move aimlessly about.

'swanky' ease: lower classes' (–1923). Manchon. Cf. preceding.

sloshiety paper. A gushing Society periodical: journalistic: 1883–ca. 1890. Ware. Punning society + sloshy, slushy.

sloshing. The vbl.n. of slosh, v.; esp. a thrashing: from ca. 1916. Lyell.

sloshy. Emotional, excessive in sentiment: orig. at Harrow: A. Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913; 1924, E. F. Benson, in his delightful Cambridge novel, David of King's, "Positively his last appearance," said David. Rather theatrical, but not sloshy . . ."; 1933, The Daily Mirror, Oct. 26, "Sloshy talk." Ex sloppy + slushy.—2. Very moist: preparatory schools: from ca. 1910. E. F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916, 'Sloshy buttered toast.'

slouch at, no. Rather or very good at: U.S. (1874) partly anglicised in late 1890's. F. T. Bullen, 1898, 'He was no "slouch" at the business either,' O.E.D. Ex slouch, a lout, a clumsy fellow.

slour. To lock (up); fasten: c. (–1812); ob. by 1890, virtually † by 1930. Vaux; Ainsworth; H., 3rd ed., classifies it as prison c. ? origin unless perchance a perversion of lower.—2. Also, to button (up) a garment: esp. in sloured hoxter, an inside pocket buttoned up: 1812, Vaux, slour up; the simple v. is unrecorded before 1834 in Ainsworth's Rookwood.

sloured is a variant (–1923) for slowed, q.v. Manchon.—2. See slour, 2.

slow. Old-fashioned; behind the times: 1827, The Sporting Times, 'Long courtships are . . . voted slow,' O.E.D. (The Winchester sense 'ignorant of Winchester notions', dating from ca. 1880, is a variant.)—2. Hence, (of things) tedious, dull, boring: coll.: 1841, Lever (O.E.D.).—3. (Of persons) hndrum; dull, spiritless: 1841, Lever (O.E.D.).—4. Hence, sexually timid: lato C. 19–20. 'If there's anything a woman hates, it's a slow man': heard by the author late in 1914, the aphorist being a virtuous, lively and intelligent middle-aged woman, speaking en tout bien, tout honneur.

slow as molasses in winter. See molasses.

slowed. Imprisoned; in prison: c. (–1859); ob. by 1890, † by 1920. H., 1st ed. Ex slow, retard, but perhaps influenced by slour, 1, q.v.: cf. late C. 19–20 slower, to check.

slowpoke. A dull or (e.g. socially or sexually) slow person: Australian: C. 20. Christina Stead, Seven Poor Men of Sydney, 1934. Perhaps a corruption of slowcoach.

slows, troubled with the. Slow-moving: sporting: from ca. 1870. Perhaps orig. U.S. and punning U.S. slows, milk-sickness.

slubberdegullion. A dirty and/or slobbering fellow; a sloven ne'er-do-well: from ca. 1615; ob. Perhaps orig. coll., which (witness B.E. and Grose, who wrongly spells it slubber de gullion) it may have remained till C. 19. On slubber (later slobber): cf. tatterdemalion: W.

sluck. See 's luck!

Slud! A C. 17–18 oath: coll. variant of 'sblood! Jonson, Fielding. O.E.D.

slued. See slewed.

slug. An unascertained kind of strong liquor: 1756, Toldervy, 'Tape, glim, rushlight, white port, rasher of bacon, gunpowder; slug, wild-fire, knock-me-down, and strip me naked'; † by 1790. (O.E.D.) --2. ? hence, a dram, a drink: 1762, Smollett, '... That he might cast a slug into his bread-room.' (Since ca. 1880, only U.S.) Hence, fire a slug, to take a drink of potent liquor, as in Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780-1840.—3. A set-back; a (great) disappointment: coll.: late C. 19-20. Ex dial. slug, a defeat. Cf.:

slug, v.t. To strike heavily: dial. (— 1862) soon > coll. The Echo, March 8, 1869, 'He has several times been told by unionists on strike that he would be "slugged" if he went on as he was going,' O.E.D. Perhaps ex dial. slug, a heavy blow, recorded thirty years earlier. Cf. slog, v., 1, q.v., and slug, n., 3.

slug, fire a. See slug, n., 2.

sluice. The female pudend: low coll.: late C. 17-20; ob. 'Facetious' Tom Brown.—2. The mouth: low: from ca. 1830; ob. Prob. ex sluice, a channel, influenced by † sluice, a gap; but perhaps imm. ex:

sluice-house. The mouth: low: 1840, Egan; very ob. Cf. sluice, 2.

sluice one's or the bolt, dominoes, gob, or ivories. To drink heartily: low: resp. mid-C. 19-20 (H., 3rd ed.), idem, late C. 18-20 (Grose, 2nd ed.) and mid-C. 19-20. All slightly ob. Cf. sluice, 2, and:

sluicery. A public-house: low: ca. 1820-90. Egan's Grose; H., 1st ed. Contrast sluice-house.—2. Hence (?), a drinking-bout: low (— 1923). Manchon.

sluicing. Pickpocketry in public wash-places: c.: from ca. 1920. E.g. in Edgar Wallace, Room 13.

Sluker. An inhabitant, esp. a harlot, of the Parish of St Luke, London: Cockney (— 1909). Ware. Cf. Angel, q.v.

slum. A room: c.: ca. 1810-50. Vaux. ? origin, unless Bee is right in deriving it ex slumber.—2. Nonsense, gammon, blarney: c.: ca. 1820-1910. Egan's Grose cites, from Randall's Diary, 'And thus, without more slum, began'; H., 5th ed. Prob. ex sense 4.—3. Hence, Romany: c. of ca. 1821-50. 'Jon Bee', 1823, 'The gipsy language, or cant, is slum.'—4. A trick or swindle: c.: 1812, Vaux; 1851, Mayhew. Cf. slum, fake the, and slum, up to, q.v.—5. ? hence, a begging letter: c.: 1851, Mayhew, 'Of these documents there are two sorts, "slums" (letters) and "fake-ments" (petitions).' Ob.—6. Hence, any letter: prison c. (— 1860). H., 2nd ed. Ob.—7. (? ex slum, a begging letter.) An innuendo, a discreditable insinuation: c. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.; † by 1900.—8. A chest; a package (e.g. a roll of counterfeit notes): c. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed., "'He shook a slum of slops", stole a chest of tea.' Perhaps ex sense 4.—9. In the language of Punch and Judy showmen (partly c., partly Parlyaree), the call: from ca. 1860. Cf. slum-fake and slumming, 2, qq.v.—10. Sweetmeats for coughs: market-traders' (e.g. Petticoat Lane): C. 20.—11. Abbr. (1908: O.E.D.) of slumgullion, q.v.

slum. To talk nonsense; speak cant: c. of ca. 1820-80. Cf. slum, n., 2.—2. Hence, v.t., to trick, cheat, swindle: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed., in variant form, slum the gorger, 'to cheat on the sly, to be an eye servant,' which is †—prob. since late C. 19.—3. Hence, v.t., to hide; to pass to a confederate: c. (— 1874). Implied in H., 5th ed. though already implied in slumming, 1, q.v.—4. V.i., to hide: c. (— 1923). Manchon.—5. V.t., to do hurriedly and/or carelessly: coll. (1865) >, ca. 1900, S.E. (O.E.D.). Perhaps suggested by to slam (a door), influenced by slum, a poverty-stricken neighbourhood.—6. V.i., to enter, or haunt, slums for illegal or rather for illicit or immoral purposes: University s.: Oxford, ca. 1860; Cambridge, ca. 1864 (H., 3rd ed.): ob. by 1910, virtually † by 1935.—7. Hence, 'to keep to back streets in order to avoid observation', Barrère & Leland: University s. (— 1897); ob.—8. Hence, from ca. 1899, to keep in the background: gen. coll.; ob.—9. V.i., to act: low theatrical: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. slumming, 2.

slum, cough. Cough-lozenges: grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Also slum: see slum, n., 10.

slum, fake the. To do the trick; effect a swindle: c.: mid-C. 19-20.

slum, up to. Alert; knowing: c. (— 1823). Egan's Grose. Ex slum, n., 4.

slum-box. A (typical) house in the slums: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

slum-fake. The coffin in a Punch and Judy show: showmen: from ca. 1860. Cf. slum, the call, and slumming, 2.

slum-scribbler. One who employs penmanship for illicit ends, e.g. for begging-letters: c. (— 1861). Mayhew.

slum shop, sleek-and-. See sleek-and-slum shop.

slumber in. Public Schools' s. of late C. 19-20, as in P. G. Wodehouse, Tales of St Austin's, 1903, 'To slumber in is to stay in the house during school on a pretence of illness.'

slumber-suit. Pyjamas: derisive: from ca. 1924. Ex drapers' j. slumgullion. 'Any cheap, nasty, washy beverage,' H., 5th ed.: from ca. 1870; ob. Perhaps a fantasy on slub (= slob) and the gullion of slubberdegullion (cf. slobgollion, q.v.); certainly fanciful. (As a watery stew or hash, it is U.S.)

slumguzzle, v.t. To deceive: anglicised ca. 1910. Ex U.S.

slummery. Gibberish; 'ziph': ca. 1820-50: low s., perhaps orig. c. 'Jon Bee', 1823, 'Dutch Sam excelled in slummery—"Willus youvus givibus glasso ginibus".'

slumming, vbl.n. Passing counterfeit money: c. (— 1839); ob. Brandon. Perhaps ex slum, v., 1.—2. Acting: low theatrical: from ca. 1870; ob. Miss Braddon, 1872, 'The gorger's awfully coolly on his own slumming, eh?' Cf. slum, the call, and slum-fake, q.v.—3. 'The secreting of type or sorts,' Jacobi: printers' s. (— 1888). Ex slum, v., 2, q.v.

slummock, improperly -uck (v.t. and i.). To clean carelessly, imperfectly; to dust: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. A back-formation from S.E. slummocky, slovenly.

slummy. A servant girl: low: late C. 19-20. ? ex slummy, careless, influenced by slummy, from a slum neighbourhood. Cf. slavey.—2. One who lives in a slum: coll.: late C. 19-20. (Pat O'Mara, The Autobiography of a Liverpool Irish Slummy, 1934).

Slumopolis. Slum London: jocular coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann. On Cottonopolis.

slung. (Of a picture) rejected: artists' and art-students' (— 1909). Ware. Prob. suggested by hung.

slung out on hands and knees. Dismissed: tailors': from ca. 1870.; ob.

slung sword, ship one's. To be promoted to warrant officer: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

slur. A method of cheating at dice: ca. 1640–1750: perhaps orig. s. or coll., but soon j. (therefore S.E.). Ex slur, to make a die leave the box without turning (Nash, 1594: O.E.D.).

slush. Food: nautical: late C. 19–20. Ex nautical S.E. slush. Cf. slushy, n.—2. 'Coffee and [?] or tea served in a common coffee-house': low urban (—1909). Ware.—3. Counterfeit paper money (esp. notes): c., orig. U.S., anglicised in 1924 by Edgar Wallace (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex the inferiority of slush. (—4. As = sickly sentiment, slush is familiar S.E.)

slush-bucket. A foul feeder: coll.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. (Extant in dial.)

slusher. A cook's assistant at shearing time on a station: Australian coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. The Melbourne Argus, Sept. 20, 1890. Cf. slushy, 2. (Morris).—2. One who (prints and) circulates counterfeit paper-money: c.: 1924, Edgar Wallace, Room 13. Ex slush, 3.

slushy. A ship's cook: nautical coll. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Ex slush, refuse fat of boiled meat. Cf. slush, 1.—2. Hence, influenced by slusher (q.v.), a cook's assistant at a shearing: Australian coll.: 1896, A. B. Paterson, in The Man from Snowy River, 'The tarboy, the cook, and the slushy . . . with the rest of the shearing horde.' Morris. In C. 20, slushy is much more gen. than slusher (sense 1). slushy, adj. Extremely sentimental: C. 20. Ex slushy, washy, rubbishy. Cf. sloppy, q.v.

sly. Illegal, illicit: earliest and mainly in sly grog, Australian s., 1844 (O.E.D.),—sly grog-selling, seller, shop. Mayhew, 1851, 'sly trade'. Ex sly, secret, stealthy. Cf. sly, on the, and sly, run, qq.v.

sly, on or upon the. Private(ly), secret(ly), illicit(ly): 1812, Vaux: coll. >, ca. 1870, S.E. Mayhew, 1851, 'Ladies that liked a drop on the sly,' O.E.D.

sly, run. To escape: low s. (? c.): late C. 18–early 19. F. & H., whose quotation long anticipates the sporting sense: (of a dog) to run cunningly.

sly-boots; ca. 1730–1830, occ. sly-boot. A sly or crafty person: coll.: ca. 1680, Lord Guilford was thus nicknamed (North, Lives of the Norths, p. 169). Esp.—see B.E. and Grose—a person seemingly simple, actually subtle or shrewd. In C. 19–20, often jocular and hardly if at all pejorative. Cf. † sly-cap, a sly or a cunning man (Otway, 1681), and the much more gen. smooth-boots, late C. 16–early 18.

sly grog. See sly.—sma'am. A variant, mainly dial., of smarm, q.v.

smabble or snabble. To despoil, knock down, half-skin: arrest: c. of ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725. See snabble.

smabbed or snabbed. Killed in battle: ca. 1780–1840. Grose, 1st ed. Ex smabble.

smack. A liking or fancy: tailors' coll.: from ca. 1870. 'He had a real smack for the old 'un,' F. & H. Cf. C. 14–mid-17 S.E. smack, enjoyment, inclination (for a place).—2. A 'go': coll.: 1889, The Pall Mall Gazette, 'I am longing to have a smack at these Matabeles,' O.E.D.—3. Hence, an attempt (at): coll.: late C. 19–20. Manchon. Prob. ex dial.: see E.D.D. Hence:

smack, at one. At the first attempt; (all) at the one time: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex senses 3, 2 of the preceding.

smack at, have a. See smack, n., 2.

smack(-)smooth. Perfectly even, level, smooth: 1755, Smollett (O.E.D.): coll. until late C. 19, then dial. Ex smack, vbladv.—2. As complement, with semi-advl. force: 'so as to leave a level surface': 1788, Dibdin.—3. Hence, adv.: smoothly; without hindrance: C. 19–20: like sense 2, coll. till C. 20., then mainly dial. H. Martin, 1802, 'A tour . . . went on smack smooth,' O.E.D.

smack-up. A fight: New Zealanders': from ca. 1906.—2. Hence, a battle: id.: in G.W.

smacked up, be. To come off worst in a fight of any kind: New Zealanders': C. 20.—2. Hence, in G.W., to be wounded: id. Also be smacked.

smacker. A peso: South American English: late C. 19–20. C. W. Thurlow Craig, Paraguayan Interlude, 1935, "'I will give you a thousand beautiful smackers for your church . . .'" 'Mac took out a thousand peso bill and handed it to me.'—2. £1, note or coin: Australian: from ca. 1929. Christina Stead, Seven Poor Men of Sydney, 1934.

smacker, (go down) with a. (To fall) 'smack': lower classes' coll. (—1887). Baumann.

smacking-cove. A coachman: c.: mid C. 17–early 19. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Ex whip.

small, n. See smalls, 2.—small, sing. See sing small.

small and early; (or hyphenated). An evening party, few-personed and early-departing: 1880, Lord Beaconsfield (O.E.D.); coll. till C. 20, then S.E.; slightly ob. Adumbrated in Dickens, 1865, 'Mrs Podsnap added a small and early evening to the dinner.'

small arm, one's or the. The penis. Esp. in small-arm inspection, a medical inspection, among men, for venereal disease: military: from ca. 1910. Ex small arms, revolvers and rifles. See esp. B. & P. (3rd ed., 1931).

small beer of, think. (Gen. with no.) To have a low opinion of (persons, mostly oneself): coll.: 1825, Westmacott (O.E.D.); Thackeray; Lytton. Ex small, i.e. weak or inferior, beer. Also small coals and small things, qq.v.; cf. potatoes, small, q.v.

small cap O. A second-in-command; an under overseer: printers': from ca. 1870; ob. Lit., a small capital letter O, i.e. a capital in a word all of equal-sized capitals, as OVERSEER.

small cheque. A dram; a (small) drink: nautical: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. knock down a cheque, spend all in drink: see knock down . . .

small coals . . . A ca. 1860–90 variant of small beer . . ., q.v. H., 2nd ed.

small cuts. A small pair of scissors: tailors': late C. 19–20.

small fry. See fry.

small-gang, v.t. To mob: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Mayhew, 1851 (O.E.D.).

small jeff. A small employer: tailors': late C. 19–20. Cf. flat-iron jeff, q.v.

small-parter. A player of small parts: theatrical coll.: C. 20. (The Passing Show, June 24, 1933.)

small pill. A diminutive football (used on runs): Leys School: late C. 19–20.

small potatoes. See potatoes.

small things of, think. A variant of small beer . . ., q.v.: coll.: 1902, The Pall Mall Gazette, Sept. 19, 'Vogler'—the South African cricketer (gogly bowler)—'had reason to think no small things of himself.' Cf. small coals.

smalls. The Responsions examination: Oxford University coll.: ca. 1841, as E. A. Freeman (1823–92) shows in his article in The Contemporary Review, vol. li, p. 821; Bristed, 1852; ‘Cuthbert Bede’, 1853; Hughes, Tom Brown at Oxford, 1861. Perhaps, as the O.E.D. points out, ex in parviso (or -sis). At Cambridge, the corresponding term is little-go, q.v.—2. ‘Towns not boasting a regularly built and properly appointed theatre,’ The Ardrossan Herald, Sept. 11, 1891: theatrical coll.: from ca. 1890. F. & H., however, in 1903 defines thus, implying a singular: ‘A one-night performance in a small town or village by a minor company carrying its own “fit-up”’. Hence do the smalls, to tour the small towns: theatrical coll.: C. 20.

smarm; occ. smalm, v.i. To behave with fulsome flattery or insincere politeness: coll.: from not later than 1915. Ex:—2. smalm, smarm, coll. (late C. 19–20), to smooth down, as hair with pomade. S.O.D. The word prob. represents a blend: ? ‘smarten with cream’.

smarmy. Apt to flatter fulsomely, speak toadyingly or over-politely or with courteous insincerity: coll.: from ca. 1915. Ex:—2. smarmy, (of hair) sleek, plastered down: coll.: C. 20.—3. Also as adv. in both senses, esp. 1.

smart. A very elegant young man about town: (London) Society: ca. 1750–80. O.E.D.

smart, adj. Rather steep (ground): mid-C. 17–20: S.E. until late C. 19, then coll. (ob.) and dial. O.E.D., and esp. E.D.D. Cf. steep (price).

smart Alec. A know-all, an offensively smart person: coll.; orig. (ca. 1870), U.S., anglicised by 1930. (O.E.D. Sup.) Also smart Allick.

smart as a carrot, (as). Gaily dressed: 1780: coll. until mid-C. 19, then dial.,—which it had been since 1791 at least. Grose, 2nd ed., as smart as a carrot new scraped. (Apperson.)

smart as be damned, (as). Extremely smart in appearance: coll.: C. 20. (F. Brett Young, Jim Redlake, 1930.) See also the like paragraph and the be damned entry.

smart as threepence. Smartly dressed: lower classes’ coll. (—1887); ob. Baumann.

smartie. A would-be clever; cunning, or witty person: U.S. (1880), anglicised—as a coll.—ca. 1905, chiefly as an impertinent and esp. in Australia and New Zealand.—2. A fashionable person; one in the swim: coll.: from ca. 1930. E. F. Benson, Travail of Gold, 1933, ‘Social smarties.’

smash. Lit. and fig., a heavy blow: coll. and dial.: 1779, O.E.D. In 1780, it was used like smack, 2, q.v.—2. Mashed vegetables, esp. turnips: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 1st ed., ‘Leg of mutton and smash, a leg of mutton and mashed turnips, (sea term).’ Cf. modern smash, mashed potatoes.—3. Counterfeit coin: c.: late C. 18–20; slightly ob. Potter, 1795. Cf. smash, v., 2, and smash-feeder, q.v. ? because it ‘smashes’ acceptors.—4. Loose change: c.: mid-C. 19–20; rhyming s. on cash. F. & H.—5. Tobacco: c.: from late 1880’s. Cf. sling the smash, q.v. ? because it breaks regulations.

smash, v. To kick down stairs: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 2nd ed. Prob. imitative (O.E.D.).—2. To pass, occ. to utter (counterfeit money): c.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.,—but see smasher, 4. Cf. smashing, adj.—3. To give change for (a note, a coin): from ca. 1810: either c. or low s.; ob. Vaux.—4. To beat badly: pugilistic coll.: from ca. 1820.—5. V.i., to go bankrupt; be ruined: coll.: 1839, Hood (O.E.D.). Occ. smash up: not before 1870’s; very rare in C. 20.—6. Esp. smash a brandy-peg, to drink one: military: from ca. 1880. Ware cites The Daily News, May 7, 1884.—7. To break burglariously into (a house, etc.): c.: from ca. 1920. E.g. in Edgar Wallace, We Shall See I, 1926.

smash !; smash me !; smash my eyes ! A coll. and dial. imprecation: ob. in C. 20: resp. 1819 (mostly North Country dial.); 1894; 1833, Scott. O.E.D. H., 3rd ed., defines smash-man-Geordie as ‘a pitman’s oath’ in Durham and Northumberland: cf. Geordie and smasher, last sense, qq.v.

smash, go (to). Variant of smash, v., fifth sense: coll.: mid C. 19–20. H., 1st ed.

smash a load. To get rid of twenty counterfeit coins: c. (—1933). Charles E. Leach.

smash-feeder. A silver or a Britannia-metal spoon: c.: resp. ca. 1839–59 and ca. 1859–1910. (The best imitation shillings were made from Britannia metal. Ex smash, n., 3.

smash me !; smash my eyes ! See smash !

smash the teapot. To break one’s pledge of abstinence: urban lower classes’ (—1909); ob. Ware.

smashed, adj. Reduced in rank: naval (—1909). Ware.

smasher. Anything very large or unusually excellent; (in post-G.W. s., often it = an extremely pretty girl): 1794 (E.D.D.). Ob.—2. Hence, a crushing reply, a very severe article or review: coll.: 1828, Blackwood’s Magazine, ‘His reply . . . was a complete smasher,’ O.E.D. Slightly ob.—3. Hence, a heavy fall (1875) or a damaging or settling blow (1897): coll. O.E.D.—4. A passer (1795, Potter) or, less gen., an utterer (1796, O.E.D.) of false money, whether coin or note: c.: late C. 18–20. Ex smash, n., 3, or it may argue an existence for smash, v., 2, at least sixteen years before the app. earliest record.—5. Hence, a base coin or, says F. & H., forged note: c.: mid-C. 19–20; very ob. Mayhew, 1851.—6. A North Country seaman: nautical (—1883). Clark Russell. Prob. ex smash !, q.v.—7. ‘A soft felt hat with a broad brim,’ Pettman: South African coll.: from ca. 1885. Pettman.—8. A receiver of stolen goods: c. (—1929). O.E.D. (Sup.); Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld, 1933. Prob. influenced by senses 4 and 5.

smashing. The passing or uttering of false money: c. (—1812). Vaux. Ex smash, v., 2.

smashing, adj. Counterfeit: c.: 1857, Borrow.—2. Engaged in ‘smashing’: c.: 1899, O.E.D.—3. Excellent; the adj. corresponding to smasher, 1: C. 19–20.

smatteract. As a matter of fact: shorthand typists’: C. 20.

smawm. A variant, mainly dial., of smarm, q.v.

smear. A house-painter: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. Street Robberies Considered, ca. 1700. Ex the rough work of many painters.—2. Hence, a plasterer: ca. 1720–1820: c. >, ca. 1750, s. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed.

smear-gelt. A bribe: ca. 1780–1840: c. or low s. Grose, 1st ed. Ex Ger. gelt, payment; with smear, cf. grease a person’s palms.

smeer. An incorrect spelling of smear, q.v.

smell. To make smelly; fill with offensive odour: coll.: 1887. O.E.D.—2. (Gen. with negative.) To approach at all, be even compared with, in ability: from ca. 1915. E.g. ‘Fleetwood-Smith can’t’—rarely ‘doesn’t’—‘smell Grimmett as a batsman’; “‘Are you as good as he is at batting?" "No; can't smell him". Ex smell, to detect, have an inkling of. Cf. smell at, q.v.

[smell a rat. Ca. 1780–1830, it was, to judge from Grose (all edd.), c.: not, however, that one lexicographer connotes irrefragable certainty.]

smell at, get a. (Only in interrogative or negative.) To get a chance at; to approach: (low) coll. (—1887). Baumann. Cf. smell, 2, q.v. Ex olfactory inaccessibility.

smell one's hat. To pray into one's hat on reaching one's pew in church: jocular coll. (—1887). Baumann.

smell-powder. A duellist: coll.: ca. 1820–60. Bee. Cf. fire-water.

smeller*. A garden: c.: early C. 17. Rowlands. Prob. ex smelling cheat, 1, q.v.—2. The nose: late C. 17–20: c. >, ca. 1750, s. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Walker, 1901, In the Blood, 'I tipped 'im one on the smeller as soon as 'e said it.' Cf. smellers, 1, q.v.—3. Hence, a blow on the nose: boxing: from early 1820's. 'Jon Bee.' Cf. noser.—4. Hence, in late C. 19–20, fig.: a grave set-back. In April, 1931, a well-known novelist told the author that he had got 'a rap on the smeller of a criticism' from a certain London periodical.—5. Anything exceptional in the way of violence, strength, etc.: coll.: 1898, Kipling, 'Good old gales—regular smellers' (O.E.D. Sup.) Cf. snorter.—6. A sneaking spy; a Paul Pry: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. The Century Dict.

smeller, come a. To have a heavy fall (lit. or fig.): low: late C. 19–20. Manchon. Cf. smeller, 3 and 4.

smellers. Nostrils: 1678, Cotton, 'For he on smellers, you must know, I Receiv'd a sad unlucky blow.' Prob. ex smeller, a feeler, e.g. of a fly.—2. As a cat's whiskers', it may orig. (1738) have been coll.—Grose, 1st ed., clearly classifies it as coll. or s.,—but from ca. 1850, at latest, it has certainly been S.E.

smelling cheat or chete*. A garden; an orchard: c.: 1567, Harman; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. † by 1830; ob. as early, prob., as 1700. Lit., a smelling, i.e. fragrant, thing.—2. A nosegay: C. 17—early 19 (prob. ob. by 1750): c. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. It seems likely that after C. 16, the predominating sense of smelling cheat is nosegay, for in 1610 Rowlands writes, 'Smellar, a garden; not Smelling cheate, for thats a Nosegay.'—3. The nose, says F. & H.: but this I believe to be an error caused by confusion between smeller and smelling cheat.

smelly. 'Shady', dishonourable, illicit: low (—1923). Manchon. Prob. after fishy.

smelt*. A half-guinea: c. of ca. 1630–1830, but ob. as early, prob., as 1750. Shirley, 1635 (O.E.D.); Shadwell; Grose, 1st ed. Not impossibly an s perversion—s perversions are fairly common in English c. and s. (cf. the prefix-use of s in Italian)—of melt (v. as n.): the 'melt' or melting-down of a guinea. Cf. smish for mish, qq.v.

smelts, westward for. (Esp. go westward . . .) On the spree: semi-proverbial coll.: early C. 17. Dekker & Webster. Lit., in search of 'conies', male or female, a smelt being a simpleton.

smiff-box. The nose: pugilistic: ca. 1860–90. H., 3rd ed.

Smiffield. Smithfield (Market), London: Cockney (—1887). Baumann.

smifigate; smifigation. Ob. variants of spifigate, -ation: 1839, Dickens (O.E.D.).

smiggins*. A barley soup, a (cold) meat hash: prison c.: ca. 1820–80. Knapp & Baldwin, The smile. A drink of liquor, esp. of whiskey: U.S. (1850), anglicised ca. 1870: s. till C. 20, then coll. Jerome K. Jerome, 1889 (O.E.D.). Cf.:

Newgate Calendar, vol. iii, 1825 (O.E.D.); Brandon. A nickname, perhaps ex a warder named Higgins. (C. etymologies are heartbreaking.)

smile, v.i. To drink (liquor, esp. whiskey): U.S. (1858), anglicised ca. 1870.

smile !, I should. A lot I care!: c.p.: 1891 (O.E.D.). Cf. worry !, I should.

smile like a brewer's horse. To smile delightedly or broadly: coll.: C. 17. Howell, 1659. A brewer's horse thrives on its food and the circumambient odour of hops.

smilence ! Silence: non-aristocratic (—1909); ob. by 1920, † by 1930. Cf. smole (Ware).

smiler. A kind of shandy-gaff: 1892, The Daily News, Nov. 16; ob. O.E.D.

smirk. 'A finical, spruce Fellow,' B.E.: late C. 17—early 19. Ex the v.

smish*. A shirt: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux. Perversion of mish, q.v., or via s(e)miche = chemise (Baumann).

smit. In love: mid-C. 19–20 coll., jocular on archaic past ppl.

smite. To obtain money from (a tutor): University: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 1st ed. ? ex smite hip and thigh. Cf. rush and sting, qq.v.

smiter*. The arm: c.: ca. 1670–1815. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

Smith. See Duplep.

Smith, Mr. Mussolini: from ca. 1924 among British residents on the Italian Riviera, esp. at Bordighera. By euphemism.

Smith !, what an O. What a grim laugh!: non-aristocratic: ca. 1835–50. Ware. Lit., 'what an "O. Smith"!' ex the cavernous laugh of one O. Smith, a popular actor of villains' parts.

smithereens; smithers. Small pieces or fragments: coll. and dial., orig. Anglo-Irish: from ca. 1840; the latter, only dial. after ca. 1890. S. C. Hall, 1841, 'Harness . . . broke into smithereens'; Halliwell, 1847, 'Smithers, fragments, atoms.' Actually, smithers, of obscure etymology but perhaps cognate with smite, is the earlier, -een being (as in colleen) an Irish diminutive suffix. Esp. go, and blow, to smithers, and blow, break, knock, split to or into smithereens, and (rare in C. 20) go to smithereens; cf. all to smithereens, all to smash. O.E.D.; E.D.D.

Smithfield bargain. A bargain or deal in which the purchaser is taken in: coll.: ca. 1660–1830. 'Cheats' Wilson, 1662; Richardson, 1753. Adumbrated in Shakespeare's 2nd Henry IV, Act I, Sc. 2. Ex the horse and cattle (now the great meat) market.—2. Hence, ca. 1770–1840, a marriage of convenience, with money the dominant factor: coll. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. Breton, 1605, 'Fie on these market matches, where marriages are made without affection.'

smoak, -y. C. 17–18 spelling of smoke, smoky, qq.v.

smock. Of all the numerous phrases in F. & H. and O.E.D.—'usually suggestive of loose conduct or immorality in, or in relation to women,' O.E.D.—only two are to be considered; these may possibly be coll. and certainly the latter is not s.:—smock-alley (Ned Ward), the female pudend; smock-pensioner, a male keep. Cf. skirt, q.v.

smoke. A cigar, cigarette, or pipe: 1882 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.—2. Smoke, the, 1864, H., 3rd ed.; the big S. (—1897); the great S.

(— 1903). London: tramps' s. >, ca. 1900, gen. coll. Cf. Auld Reekie, Edinburgh.—3. smoke, Cape. See Cape Smoke.—4. (Also smoke-on: ex have a smoke on.) A blush: Scottish Public Schools': from ca. 1885. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.

smoke, v. To ridicule, make fun of: late C. 17–mid-19: coll. >, ca. 1800, S.E. Ned Ward, in The London Spy, 'We smoak'd the Beaus . . . till they sneak'd off one by one'; Miss Burney; Keats. Perhaps ex smoke, to suspect (a person).—2. As a specific nuance of this: 'to affront a Stranger at his coming in,' B.E.: late C. 17–18.—3. To coit with (a woman): C. 17–19.—4. V., to blush: Public Schools': from ca. 1860. Farrar in St Winifred's, 1862 (O.E.D.). Cf. the C. 16 smoke, to fume, be very angry.—5. To decamp: low Australian: from ca. 1890. Morris. Ex smoke along, to ride at great speed.

smoke, Cape. See Cape Smoke.—smoke, in. See in smoke.

smoke, like. Rapidly: ca. 1806, an Irish lady's-maid writes of the Russian postillions that 'they drive like smoke up the hills' (The Russian Journals of Maria and Katherine Wilmot, 1803–1808, edited by J. H. M. Hide; 1833, M. Scott: coll. till ca. 1870, then S.E. Ex the manner in which smoke disperses in a high wind.

smoke, the great. See great smoke and smoke, n., 2.

smoke-boat. A steamer: sailing-ships' pejorative: late C. 19–20; ob. Bowen.

smoke, gammon, and spinach,—all. See all smoke . . .

smoke-ho; -oh; smoko. A cessation from work in order nominally to smoke, certainly to rest: coll.: 1897, Frank Bullen; H. Lawson, 1900. O.E.D.

smoke-jack. An inspector of factories, esp. of their chimneys: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

smoke-on. See smoke, n., 4.

smoke-stack. A steamer: sailing-ship seamen's pejorative coll., as is their steamboat man for a sailor therein: from not later than 1885.

smoker. A chamber-pot: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ex steam arising therefrom in cold weather.—2. A voter: Preston s. or coll.: ca. 1800–1832. See Halliwell. Because every man that used the chimney of his cottage had a vote.—3. A steamer: coll.: ca. 1825–50. O.E.D. Cf. puffer.—4. One who blushes: Public Schools': 1866 (O.E.D.). Ex smoke, v., 4.—5. A sultry day: low coll. (—1887); slightly ob. Baumann. Cf. sense 1.

Smokes, the great. An occ. variant (—1923) of smoke, n., 2. Manchon.

smoking. Vbl.n. of smoke, v., esp. 1, 4.—smoko. See smoke-ho.

smoky. Jealous: s. or coll.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E., who is, I think, wrong in classifying it as c. Ex smoky, suspicious.—2. (Smoky.) The inevitable nickname of men surnamed Holmes: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. With a jest on smoky homes.

smole, n. and v. Smile; esp. in (he) smoled a smile (or smole): jocular >, by 1900, non-aristocratic (—1909); slightly ob. 'Invented' by F. C. Burnand, ca. 1877, in Punch, says Ware. Cf. smilence!

smoodge, v.i. To flatter, wheedle, speak with deliberate amiability: Australian: late C. 19–20. Ex to smoothe.—2. Hence, to make love, pay court: Australian: C. 20. C. J. Dennis (smooze). Hence, smoodger, the agent, and smoodging, the action. Prob. ex ob. S.E. smudge, v.t., to caress, and dial. smudge, to kiss, to yearn for, smudge after, to begin to pay court to: on dial. smouch, to kiss.

smoot, n. and v. See smoot.

smooth white. A shilling: c. and low: late C. 19–20; ob. (F. & H.)

'smorning. This morning: coll.: late C. 19–20. Dorothy Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, "When's he coming?" "Smorning".

smother. A hiding-place for stolen goods; an overcoat folded over a pickpocket's arm to mask his movements: c. (—1933). Charles E. Leach.—2. Trade s., mid-C. 19–20, as in Mayhew, 1851, 'A "lick-up" is a boot or shoe re-lasted, and the bottom covered with a "smother" . . . obtained from the dust of the room.' O.E.D.—3. 'A fur coat or overcoat': grafters': C. 20. (P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.) Prob. ex the warmth it gives.

smother, v.t. To cover up; to hide: New Zealand c. (—1932). Cf. n., 1, q.v.

smother (or s'm'other) evening! A c.p. of cynical refusal: music-halls': 1884–5. Ware. Ex one of the great Arthur Roberts's songs; it was thus titled and themed.

smother a parrot. To drink, neat, a glass of absinthe: Anglo-French: ca. 1900–14. Ware. Like so many parrots, absinthe is—or was—green.

smouch. 'Dried leaves of the ash tree, used by the smugglers for adulterating the black, or bohea teas,' Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1840: perhaps orig. c. or s., despite the O.E.D.'s assumption that it is S.E.—2. See:

Smous, Smouse; Smouch, Smoutch. A Jew: Smouse, 1705 (Bosman); Smous, 1785 (Grose, who restricts it to a German Jew); smouch, 1765 (C. Johnston); Smoutch, 1785 (Cumberland). The -s, -se, forms are rare in C. 19; both -s(e) and -ch forms are † by 1880, except as archaisms. Why the O.E.D. should treat smou(t)ch—an alteration of smous(e)—as S.E., and smous(e) as s., I cannot see: both, I believe, are s., smous(e) coming direct ex the Dutch smous (identical with German-Jewish schmus), patter, profit, Hebrew schmuoss, news, tales (O.E.D.; W.); Sewel, 1708, proposed derivation ex Moses,—cf. Ikey.—2. Hence, in South Africa, an itinerant (esp. if Jewish) trader: coll.: smou(t)ch, 1849; smouse, 1850, but antedated fifty years before. Also Smouser: 1887 (Pettman); smousing, itinerant trading, from mid 1870's, is another South African coll. O.E.D.; Pettman.—smousing. See Smous, 2.

smouse, v.i. corresponding to Smous(e), n., 2. Pettman. smousing. See Smous, 2.

smout; smoot. A compositor seeking occasional work at various houses: printing (—1888). Jacobi. While smoot is, in C. 20, more gen., smout is recorded the earlier. Ex:

smout; smoot, v.i. To work on occasional jobs at various houses or even at one if it is not one's regular place of employment: printing: from ca. 1680: in C. 20, smoot (app. unrecorded before 1892) is the more gen. Moxon. In C. 17–18, v.t. as smout on (a firm). O.E.D. Perhaps ex Dutch smutte, to slink: cf. dial. smoot, to creep, and smoot after, to court (a girl) furtively (E.D.D.).

Smoutch. See Smous.

smudge. A photograph: grafters': from ca. 1920. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Ex blurred effect seen in many cheap photographs.

Smudger. One of several 'inevitable' nicknames (cf. Shoey) of men surnamed Smith: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

smug. A blacksmith: C. 17-18: perhaps o. Rowlands, 1609; Ned Ward; Grose. Prob. ex C. 16-27 smuggy, grimy, smutty, dirty.—2. Smuggling: Anglo-Chinese (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Cf. smug, v., 1, and smug-boat, qq.v.—3. A (quiet and) hard-working student; esp. (at Oxford) one who takes no part in the social life of the place: University: 1882 (O.E.D.); ob. See quotation from Goschen at sap, n., 2, and cf. scrubber, 3, q.v.; Ex smug, consciously respectable.—4. Hence, an unpleasant, unhealthy boy to be avoided: schoolboys' (—1923). Manchon.—5. A person affectedly clean: coll. (—1923) Ibid. Ex the S.E. sense, a self-satisfied person.

smug, v. To steal; run away with: 1825, T. Hook (O.E.D.): o rapidly > low s. Perhaps ex smuggle: cf. smug-boat and smuggling, 2, qq.v.—2. To hush up: 1857, The Morning Chronicle, Oct. 3. 'She wanted a guarantee the case should be smuggled'; prob. orig. c.; by 1900, s. ? ex sense 1 or ex smug, to smarten up.—3. (? hence) to arrest, imprison: c.: from mid-1880's. J. W. Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 1887, 'Then two or three more coppers came up, and we got smugged, and got a sixer each.'—4. V.i., to copy; to crib: from ca. 1860; ob. Perhaps ex sense 2.—5. To work hard: university: from ca. 1890. Ex smug, n., 1, q.v.

smug-boat. A boat carrying contraband; esp. an opium boat off the Chinese coast: nautical coll. (—1867) Smyth. Ex smuggle; cf. smug, v., 1, and:

smug-lay. The 'dodge' of selling (almost) worthless goods on the ground that they are valuable contraband: c. of ca. 1810-50. Lex. Bal. Ex smuggling.

smuggling. See smug, v.—2. (In pl.) smuggings! Mine!: schoolboys' s. (—1859), shouted at the conclusion of a game, when (e.g. at top-spinning or marbles) it was lawful to purloin the plaything. H., 1st ed.; in 1825, Hone notes that this practice is called smuggling. Ex smug, v., 1.

smuggle, gen. v.t. To sharpen (a pencil) at both ends: schools: late C. 19-20; ob. Cf. the late C. 17-18 smuggle, to caress.

smuggle the coal (or cole). 'To make people believe one has no money when the Reckoning is to be paid,' Miège, 1687; † by 1750. See cole.

smuggler. A pencil sharpened at both ends: schools': see smuggle. Esp. at Winchester.

smuggling-ken. A brothel: c. of ca. 1720-1830. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed. Punning smuggle, to caress, and smuggle, to 'contraband'.

smut. A furnace; a copper boiler: c. (—1811) >, ca. 1840, low s.; † by 1890. Lex. Bal. As a furnace, app. † by 1859: witness H., 1st ed. Ex smut, soot.

Smut!, ditto, brother. See brother Smut.

smuvver. See -uvver.

snab. See snch, 1.

snabble. To arrest: c.: 1724, Harper, 'But fileing of a rumbo ken, | My Boman is snabbled again'; † by 1790. Gen. as snabbled.—2. To rifle, plunder, steal; knock down, half-stun: c. of ca. 1720-1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose. Also snabble, q.v.; cf. snaffle.—3. Hence, to kill, esp. in battle: c.: mid-C. 18-early 19. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. snabbled, q.v.—4. Gen. v.t., to copulate: low s.: late C. 18-early 19. F. & H.

snack. A racquets ball: Winchester: from ca. 1860; ob. (—2. It is possible that snack, a share, esp. in go snacks, be partners,—cf. go snicks,—may orig. have been c.: see B.E.)

snaffle. 'A Highwayman that has got Booty,' B.E.: c.: late C. 17-18. Perhaps ex snaffle, a bridle-bit; but prob. allied with snaffle, v., 1, q.v.—2. Talk uninteresting or unintelligible to the others present: coll.: from ca. 1860; almost †. H., 3rd ed. Perhaps because such conversation acts as a snaffle; more prob. ex East Anglian snaffle, to talk foolishly.—3. Hence, (a) secret talk: o. (—1923). Manchon.

snaffle. To steal: 1724, Harper, 'From priggs that snaffle the prancers strong'; Grose: c. >, ca. 1840, dial. and low s. Cognate with snabble, q.v. Cf. snaffle, n., 1, snaggle, and snavel.—2. To seize (a person); arrest: c. (—1860) >, ca. 1890, low s. H., 2nd ed. Ex snaffle a horse.—3. To 'appropriate', to seize a thing for oneself: mostly military: from the middle 1890's. (O.E.D. Sup.; B. & P.) Ex sense 1.—4. To catch or cut off (in the air): Air Force: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Ex sense 2.

snaffler. A thief, only in snaffler of prancers (horses): from ca. 1780: c. >, ca. 1840, dial. and low s. Grose, 1st ed. Ex snaffle, v., 1.—2. A highwayman: ca. 1786-1840: c. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. snaffle, n., 1.—3. As = one who arrests, very rare: C. 19.

snaffling lay. Highway robbery as a trade: c.: mid-C. 18-early 19. Fielding, 1752, 'A clever fellow, and upon the snaffling lay at least.' Ex snaffle, v., 1; cf. snaffle, n., 1, and snaffler, 2. snag. 'A formidable opponent,' C. J. Dennis: Australian coll.: C. 20. Ex snag, an obstacle.

snag-catcher. A dentist: low: from ca. 1880; very ob. Ex angling.

snaggle, v.i. and t. To angle for geese as a means of stealing them: either c. or low s.: from late 1830's; ob. Often as snagging, vbl.n. Brandon; H., 1st ed. Prob. a corruption of sniggle (as in eel-fishing) and perhaps cognate with snabble and snaffle, 1, qq.v.

snaggle-tooth. A proletarian woman, esp. if a shrew, with an irregular set of teeth: urban lower classes' coll. (—1909). Ware.

snail(e)y. A bullock with horn slightly curled, like a snail's: Australian coll.: from ca. 1880. 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1884. Morris.

'Snails! God's nails!: a coll. petty oath: late C. 16-early 19. O.E.D.

snail's gallop, go a. To go very slowly indeed: semi-proverbial coll. >, ca. 1850, dial.: from ca. 1545. 'Proverbs' Heywood; Ray, 1670; N. Bailey, 1725; Colman, Jr., 1803; Combe, 1821; Brogden's Lincolnshire Words, 1866. Apperson.

snaily. See snaily.

snake. A skein of silk: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Ex shape.

snake. To steal (something) warily: o.: from ca. 1885. Ex dial.

snake, give (a person) a. To vex, annoy: low (—1887); ob. Baumann.

snake-charmer. A bugler; a Highland piper: military: late C. 19-20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex music played to charin snakes.

snake in the grass. A looking-glass: rhyming s. (—1859). H., 1st ed.

snake-headed. 'Annoyed; vindictive,' C. J. Dennis: Australian: C. 20. (Australia abounds in snakes.)

snake-juice. Whiskey: Australian: from ca. 1890. C. J. Dennis. Ex see snakes.

snake-tart. Eel-pie: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Cf. dove-tart.

snake the pool. To take the pool: billiards: from ca. 1880.

snakes. A prison-warder's felt-shod shoes or slippers: c. (-1923). Manchon. So he snakes along silently.

snakes, a caution to. (Something) very surprising, odd, eccentric, or unusual: 1897, 'Pomes' Marshall, 'Her Sunday best was her week-day worst, | 'Twas simply a caution to snakes'; ob. Cf. caution (q.v.), which, prob., it merely elaborates.

snakes!, great. A coll. imprecation: 1897, F. T. Bullen; slightly ob. Orig. U.S. (why in snakes occurring in 1891 in Scribner's Magazine). O.E.D.

snakes, see. To have delirium tremens: U.S.; anglicised as coll. ca. 1900. Earlier form, have or have got snakes in one's boots, remained U.S.

snakesman. Only in little snakesman, q.v. Cf. sneaksman.

snam. To steal; esp. to snatch (from the person): c.: from ca. 1835. Brandon. Origin?

snam, (up)on the. Thus engaged: c.: mid-C. 19-20. Cf. snam.

snam. A share: c.: from ca. 1560; ob. Awdelay, 1561. Also snaps, as in go snaps, to go shares (cf. snack, q.v.): late C. 18-20: Pegge, ca. 1800; H., 1st ed., spells it snapps, q.v. Cf. snick, n., q.v.—2. (A synonym of cloyer, q.v.) A sharper, cheat, pilferer; esp. a thief claiming a share in booty (cf. sense 1): c.: late C. 16-early 17 for 'cloyer' nuance; ca. 1620-1720 for 'sharper' senses: former in Greene, latter in Fletcher and L'Estrange. In Ned Ward, 1731, brother snap is a sharking lawyer: C. 18 s.—3. Affair, business; easy job: see snap, soft, and snap away, give the.—4. Energy: U.S. (1872), anglicised ca. 1890: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Doyle, 1894, 'A young . . . man with plenty of snap about him,' O.E.D. Cf. go, pep, vim, qq.v.—5. An engagement (for work): theatrical: from ca. 1890. Cf. snapps, q.v.

snap, v.i. To go shares with sharpers or thieves: early C. 17 c. Field, 1609. O.E.D. Cf. snap, n., 1 and 2; also snack, snick (n.).

snap, on the. On the look-out for something to steal: c.: mid-C. 19-20. Cf. snapper-up of unconsidered trifles and snap, 2, q.v.—2. Hence, looking out for occasional work: from ca. 1890: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.

snap, soft. An easy matter, business, project; a profitable affair; an easy job; occ. a pleasant time: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: from ca. 1885; orig. U.S. (1845). In C. 20, often simply snap, esp. in it's a snap.

snap away, give the. To blab; 'blow the gaff': low s.: from ca. 1870.

snap out of it! Go away quick!: low: U.S., anglicised ca. 1925.

snap the glaze. To break shop-windows or show-case glasses: c.: ca. 1780-1840. Grose, 1st ed.

snappage. A share in booty: c.: early C. 17. Rowlands. Cf. snap, 1, and snappings.

snapped, ppl. adj. Abrupt, sudden, unexpected: coll.: 1893, Leland. O.E.D.

snapper. An accomplice; a sharer (in booty):

c.: ca. 1530-50. Cf. snap, n., 1.—2. A taker of snapshot photographs; the taker of the snapshot in question: from ca. 1908: coll. now verging on S.E. snapper-rigged. (Of a ship) poorly rigged and found; (of a man) poorly clothed: East Canadian (and U.S.) nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

Snappers, the. The 15th Foot, now the East Yorkshire Regiment: military: 1777 in the American War. F. & Gibbons: owing to lack of ammunition, the men snapped their musket locks in order to befool the enemy. Also known as the Poona Guards, ob.

snapping. A share in booty: c.: late C. 16-early 17. Greene, 1591. Cf. snap, n., 1, snappage, snapper, and snapps.

snapps. A variant of snap, n., 1, q.v. H., 1st ed., "'Looking out for snapps'", waiting for wind-falls'; H., 2nd ed., 1860, adds 'or odd jobs'. Cf. snap, 5, q.v. snappy. Smartly intelligent; energetic; lively; pointed (story) coll.: 1873.—2. Whence, smart (of dress); neatly elegant: coll.: 1881; ob. O.E.D.

snappy!, make it. Look lively!; be quick! C. 20: coll. (orig. U.S.). Cf. snap out of it!, q.v.

snare. 'To acquire; to seize; to win,' C. J. Dennis: Australian: late C. 19-20. Ex snaring animals.

snarge. An ugly or an unpleasant person: lower classes and military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex snitch, 3, + nark (s. sense).

snarl. An ill-tempered discussion; a quarrel: tailors': C. 20. (The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.)

snarls, bunch of. A disagreeable man: id.: id. (Ibid.) snatch. A hasty or illicit or mercenary copulation: coll.: C. 17-20. 'Melancholy' Burton, 'I could not abide marriage, but as a rambler I took a snatch when I could get it.'—2. Hence, ultimately, though imm. ex Yorkshire dial.: the female pudend: late C. 19-20. Cf. the next term.—3. Hence, girls viewed collectively as 'fun': from ca. 1930. Peter Chamberlain, 'Yet another couple of "snatch".'

snatch-blatch. The female pudend: ca. 1890-1915. On snatch, 2.

snatch-cly. A pickpocket, esp. one who snatches from women's pockets: c.: late C. 18-19. Grose, 2nd ed.; Baumann. See cly.

snatcher. One who, when hire-purchasers fail to pay instalments, seizes (part of) the furniture: trade: from ca. 1920. (The Daily Telegraph, Oct. 19, 1934.) Abbr. of an assumed furniture-snatcher.

snavel, n. See running snabble and cf. running smobble.—2. V., to steal, esp. by snatching or by pocket-picking: c.: from ca. 1850. 'Jon Bee.' A corruption of snabble or of snaffle (v., 1), or perhaps a fusion of both.

'Snayles! A C. 16-17 variant of 'Snails!, q.v.

sneak; in late C. 18-19, gen. the sneak. The practice, or a specific act, of creeping in stealthily with a view to robbery; a theft thus effected: c.: late C. 17-20; ob. Esp. in sneak, (up)on the, q.v.—2. Partly hence, a stealthy departure or flight: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.—3. A pilferer, a stealthy enterer with a view to theft: from ca. 1780: s. >, ca. 1830, coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Grose, 1st ed.—4. See sneaks.

sneak, v.t. To steal from (a place) after stealthy entry: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux. Prob. ex sneak, go upon the, q.v. Cf. sense 4 and sneak, n., 1. —2. To escape from (a person) by stealth: c.: from ca. 1810; extremely ob. Vaux. Cf. sneak, n., 2.—3. To walk about looking for something to steal or pilfer: c.: from ca. 1820; ob. Bee.—4. To filch; steal furtively, stealthily: coll.: 1883 (O.E.D.). Ex sense 1.—5. To tell tales (v.i.): schools': 1897, The Daily News, June 3, 'Sneaking, in the ethics of the public school boys, is the unpardonable sin,' O.E.D.; by 1930, coll. Ex sneak, to be servile.

sneak, area. See area sneak.—sneak, evening. See sneak, evening.

sneak*, give it to (a person) upon the. See sneak, v., 2. Vaux.

sneak*, go upon the. To slip into houses whose doors are left open and there steal: c.: late C. 18–20; ob. Ex sneak, upon the, q.v.

sneak*, morning. The practice of 'going out early to rob private houses or shops by slipping in at the door unperceived,' Vaux: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Ex:—2. In late C. 18–20, the person doing this: c. Grose, 1st ed., where also evening sneak, one given to pilfering in the evening, also (in C. 19–20) the doing of this.

sneak*, upon or (in C. 19–20) on the. Stealthily: c.: late C. 17–20. B.E., Vaux. Mainly in reference to robbery (see sneak, n., 1), but see also sneak, give it . . . the.—2. Prowling for booty: c.: from ca. 1820. Cf. sneak, v., 3.

sneak*, upright. A thief preying on potboys, whom he robs of the pots as they are engaged in collecting them: c.: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 1st ed.

sneak-cup. Erroneous for sneak-up, a sneak or skulker: late C. 16–17. O.E.D.

sneak on the lurk*. To prowl about for booty: c.: from ca. 1820; ob. An elaboration of sneak, v., 3, q.v. See lurk.

sneaker. 'A large cup (or small basin) with a saucer and cover,' esp. for drink; e.g. a sneaker of punch: from ca. 1710: perhaps orig. s., soon > coll.; by 1830, S.E. Yule & Burnell.—2. (Gen. pl.) A variant of sneak (at sneaks): coll., orig. (—1891) U.S.; anglicised by 1920. Manchon.

sneaking-budge*. A lone-hand thief or robber: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Cf. sneak, n., 1, and v., 1, and see budge.—2. Fielding incorrectly uses it to mean pilfering or stealing, n. and adj.

sneaks*. C. from ca. 1870 as in James Greenwood's In Strange Company, 1873, 'Sneaks . . . are shoes with canvas tops and india-rubber soles.' Ex sneak, n., 2.

Sneaks!* God's neaks!, a coll. petty oath: early C. 17. Marston. Properly, neaks should be neakes or neagues = nigs. A variant of the oath occurs in Fletcher, 1619, 'I'll . . . goe up and downe drinking small beere and swearing 'odds neagues.' O.E.D. Cf. 'Snigs!', q.v.

sneaksman*. A stealthy thief, cowardly pilferer: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux. Properly, one who goes 'upon the sneak', q.v. Ex sneak, n., 1, but perhaps influenced by snakesman, q.v.—2. Hence, a shop-lifter: c.: mid-C. 19–20. H., 1st ed.

sneck up!; snick up! Go hang!: late C. 16–17 coll.; extant in dial. 'Women of Abingdon' Porter, 1599; Shakespeare; dramatist Heywood. Lit., lath! Cf. shut up!, q.v., and the Derbicism put a sneck before one's snout, to watch one's speech, to say little or nothing.

sneerg. Greens: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed sneeze. The nose: from ca. 1820; very ob. 'Jon Bee.' Ex sneezer, 2.

sneeze at. To underrate, disregard, scorn: coll.: 1806, Surr (O.E.D.); Combe, 1820, 'A . . . dame . . . who wish'd to change her name, | And . . . would not perhaps have sneezed at mine.' In C. 20, mainly in not to be sneezed at: see sneezed at.

sneeze- or snuff-lurker*. A thief that operates after disabling his victim with snuff, pepper, or any similar unpleasantness: c.: from ca. 1859; ob. H., 1st ed., sneeze-lurker. As = snuff, sneeze, once S.E., is now dial. Cf. snuff, 1, and:

sneeze- or snuff-racket*, give it (to a person) on the. To do this: from ca. 1820; slightly ob. See sneeze-lurker.

sneezed at, not to be. Not to be underrated, disregarded, despised: coll.: 1813, Scott; 1891, Nat Gould. O.E.D. Ex sneeze at.

sneezer*. A snuff-box: c. of ca. 1720–1880. A New Canting Dict., 1725, 'Cog a Sneezer, Beg a . . . Snuff-box'; Vaux. Ex sneeze, snuff.—2. The nose: 1820 (O.E.D.). Cf. snorter, last sense.—3. Hence, a pocket-handkerchief: low (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.'—4. A drink, esp. a dram of something strong: from ca. 1820: dial. >, ca. 1835, s. J. T. Hewlett, 1841, 'He knew he should get a sneezer of something short for his trouble'; Dickens. O.E.D. Lit., enough to make one sneeze. Cf. snifter, 1.—5. Something exceptionally good or bad, big or strong or violent, in some specified respect: s. >, in late C. 19, coll.: 1820, a blow (dial. >, ca. 1840, s.); a gale, 1855 (mainly nautical; a very well-bowled fast ball, late C. 19–20 (cricket); in 1836, Haliburton speaks of 'a regular sneezer of a sinner'; a martinet (military s. of —1903). O.E.D.; F. & H. Cf. preceding sense, snorter, 2, and snifter, 2.—6. A mouth-gag: c.: from ca. 1890. Clarence Rook, The Hooligan Nights, 1899. Ex sense 3.

sneezes (or S.), like. Vigorously, intensively; remarkably: lower-class coll.: C. 20. Dorothy Sayers, Strong Poison, 1930. Perhaps Sneezes is a euphemism for Jesus and, oddly yet—ins.—possibly, the phrase = like the devil.

sneezing-coffer*. A snuff-box: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux. Cf. sneezer, 1.

Sneezy. The second month in the French Republican Calendar: late C. 18–early 19. Ex (le mois) brumaire, the foggy month.

snell*. A needle: c.; hawkers' s.: from ca. 1845. Ex Scots snell, sharp.

snell-fencer*. A needle-hawker: id.: id. Carew, Autobiography of a Gipsy.

snib*. A petty thief: c.: ca. 1605–1840. Dekker; Egan's Grose, where it is described as Scotch cant. O.E.D. ? cognate with snib, to check.

snib, v. To coit with (a woman): low Scots: from ca. 1810. Prob. ex snib, to fasten (a door); cf. snib a candle, snuff it.

snice mince-pie, it's a. A c.p.: from ca. 1916; ob. Suggested by the sibilance of a nice mince-pie, esp. when preceded by it's. See s-.

snick. A share: s. and dial.: from ca. 1720. At Winchester, go snicks (—1891), to go shares. A variant of snack, q.v.

snick, v. To slip, cut, across or along (a road) suddenly or quickly: coll.: 1883 (O.E.D.). Ex snick, v.i., to cut, snip, esp. crisply.

snick-fadge. A petty thief: c.: mid-C. 19–20 Ex S.E. snick off.

snick up ! See sneek up !

snicker. A glandered horse : late C. 18—early 19. Grose, 3rd ed. Cf. snitched.

snicking. A surreptitious obtaining : c. or low s. : ca. 1670–1750. Head, 1673 (O.E.D.). See snick, n., and cf. snack, snap (v.), and snicktog.

snickle, v.i. To inform, peach : c. : mid-C. 19–20 : mostly U.S. Matsell. Prob. ex the now dial. snickle, to snare.

snicks, go. See snick, n.

snicktog. To go shares : c. : late C. 19–20 ; ob. Perversion of snick, n. Cf. snack (esp. as go snacks), snap, n., 1, and v., snick (esp. go snicks), and snicking, qq.v.

snid. A sixpence : mainly Scots c. (— 1839) ; ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. Brandon.

sniddy. See snide, adj.

snide. An occ. form of snid, q.v.—2. (Occ. snide.) Anything spurious, esp. base coin or sham jewellery : c. (in C. 20, low) : implied in snide-pitcher, q.v., as early as 1862, but by itself unrecorded before ca. 1885, except in H., 5th ed., 1874, ‘Also . . . as a [n.], as, “He’s a snide”, though this seems but a contraction of snide ‘un’ ; perhaps, however, the reference in ‘No. 747’ at p. 416 is valid (as = base metal) for 1845. Origin obscure. Cf. schlenter, q.v. ; prob. ex Yiddish.—3. Hence, a contemptible person : c. >, by 1890, low : see quotation from H. for sense 2.—4. ‘The business of passing counterfeit half-crowns and other imitation silver coins’ : c. : from ca. 1920. James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934. Abbr. snide-pitching, q.v.

snide ; snyde, adj. Spurious, counterfeit, sham, bogus : e. : 1862, “‘Snyde witnesses’”, O.E.D. ; but the reference in Carew’s Autobiography of a Gipsy, p. 418, points to 1845.—2. Hence, mean, contemptible : c. : from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. ; ‘Pomes’ Marshall, ‘His pockets she tried, | Which is wifely, though snide.’ Both senses also in forms sniddy and snidey : late C. 19–20.—3. Hence, loosely, wrong, incorrect : C. 20. David Esdaile in The Daily Mirror, Nov. 18, 1933, ‘Slang is snide . . . the antithesis of correctitude.’

snide and shine (or S. and S.). A Jew, esp. of East London : East London Gentiles’ (— 1909). Ware. For shine, cf. sheeny.

snide lurk. The passing of counterfeit money : c. : from ca. 1845. ‘No. 747.’

snide-pitcher. A passer of base money : c. : 1862 (O.E.D.). See snide, n., 2.

snide-pitching. The passing of counterfeit money : c. : 1868, Temple Bar, ‘Snyde-pitching is . . . a capital racket.’ See snide, n., 2 ; cf. snide-pitcher.

snide shop. An agency for the selling of counterfeit notes : c. : from ca. 1920. E.g. in Edgar Wallace, Mr Reeder.

snider. See snyder.—2. A sly fellow, a spy, a connoisseur : e. (— 1923). Manchon. Prob. ex snide, adj.

snidesman. A ‘snide-pitcher’ (q.v.) : c. : 1897, Arthur Morrison. O.E.D.

snidey. See snide, adj.—2. Snappish, irritable : Glasgow (— 1934).

snie ; occ. sny. A hole filled with water ; a hidden pool, even if large : Canadian coll. : C. 20. John Beames. Origin ?

sniff, v.i. To drink (strong liquor) : from ca. 1920. (Michael Harrison, Weep for Lycidas, 1934.) Cf. :

sniffier?, will you have a. Will you take a drink? : Anglo-Irish c.p. (— 1935). Perhaps influenced by snifter, 1.

sniffy. Scornful, disdainful ; occ. ill-tempered : coll. and dial. : from ca. 1870. Lit., apt to sniff in contempt. Cf. sneeze at, q.v.

snifter. A dram : low : from ca. 1880 ; ob. Prob. ex U.S. snifter (1848), a small drink of spirits : Thornton. Cf. sneezer, 4.—2. Any thing or person excellent, or very big or strong : late C. 19–20. Ex dial. snifter, a strong breeze. Cf. sneezer, last sense, and snorter, 2.

snifter, adj. (Very) good or satisfactory : C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex sense 2 of the n.

snifty-snidey. Supercilious, disdainful : Lancashire s. (— 1904), not dial. E.D.D. Cf. sniffy and snidey, 2. : qq.v.

snig. To steal ; pilfer : 1892, Kipling (E.D.D.). Ex dial.

sniggered if (e.g. you will), I’m. A mild asseveration (— 1860). Very ob. H., 2nd ed., ‘Another form of this is jiggered.’ Cf. :

Sniggers ! A trivial oath : coll. : ca. 1630–1890. Rowley, Smollett, Haliburton (O.E.D.). Whence perhaps sniggered, q.v. Cf. :

sniggle, v.i. To wriggle ; creep stealthily : dial. (— 1837) >, ca. 1900, coll. Ex snuggle.—2. Whence, to get (something) in surreptitiously : dial. (— 1881) >, ca. 1900, coll. O.E.D. sniggy. Mean, penurious : C. 20 ; ob. E.D.D. Prob. ex Yorkshire dial.

Snigs ! God’s nigs, a trivial oath : coll. : ca. 1640–90. (O.E.D.) More prob. a variant than an abbr. of ‘Sniggers !, q.v. Cf. Sneaks !, q.v.

snilch, v.i. ; rarely v.t. To see ; to eye : e. of ca. 1670–1850. Coles, Grose (1st ed.). ? origin.—2. Hence, to examine closely, to feel suspiciously : c. : mid-C. 19–20 ; ob. Manchon.

snip. A tailor ; often as a nickname : late C. 16–20 : s. >, in C. 18, coll. Jonson, Grose, Trollope. In late C. 19–20, the inevitable naval and military nickname of all men surnamed Taylor or Parsons. Ex to snip, as in tailoring.—2. A swindle or cheat : low (— 1725) ; † by 1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Cf. the v.—3. A good tip : racing : from ca. 1890. ‘Pomes’ Marshall.—4. Hence, a bargain ; a certainty ; an easy win or acquisition : 1894 (O.E.D.—5. Hence, an easy job : C. 20. B. & P.—6. See snips.

snip, v.t. To cheat : low : ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Cf. snip, n., 2, q.v.

snip-cabbage or -louse. A tailor : resp. C. 18—early 19 (E. Ward, 1708) ; from ca. 1820 (Bee, 1823). Both are very ob. For former, cf. trade sense of cabbage.

snipe. A lawyer : from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed. Prob. ex.—2. A long bill, esp. among lawyers, whose bills are often tragi-comic in their length : from ca. 1855. H., 2nd ed. Ex the long-billed bird.—3. See snipes.—4. (Gen. in pl.) A cigarette-end : vagrants c. : C. 20. W. A. Gape, Half a Million Tramps, 1936. Cf. the v., 2.

snipe, v. F. & H.’s ‘to fire at random into a camp’ is prob. an error.—2. To pilfer : low (— 1923). Manchon. Prob. ex shooting.

Snipe, the. Madame de Lieven, prominent in English society of the 1820’s. The Creevey Papers.

snipes. A pair of scissors : c. : from ca. 1810 ; ob. Vaux.—2. Second-mortgage bonds in the New York, Lake Eric, and Western Railway :

Stock Exchange (— 1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

snippy. Snappy; captious: coll.: C. 20. Ex dial. Lit., cutting. (E.D.D.)

snips. Handcuffs: low: from ca. 1890. Ex snip, adv. denoting sound. O.E.D.

snish. Ammunition: military: from ca. 1905. F. & Gibbons. Ex Scots and Northern dial. snish (more gen. sneesh), snuff.

snitch. A filip on the nose: c.: ca. 1670–1750. Coles, B.E. Also snitchel: same status, period and authorities.—2. The nose: late C. 17–20: c. >, ca. 1830, dial. and low s. B.E. at snite.—3. Hence (cf. nose, n.), an informer, esp. by King's evidence: only (? first in Lex. Bal.) in snitch, turn, q.v.—4. See snitches.

snitch, v.i. To peach, turn King's evidence: c.: C. 19–20. Vaux, Maginn. Prob. ex the n.; perhaps cognate with snitch, q.v. Cf. to nose.—2. V.t. To inform against: c.: C. 19–20; rare, the gen. form being snitch upon. O.E.D.—3. To purloin: 1933, Dorothy Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'He . . . snitched other people's ideas without telling them.'

snitch, turn. To turn King's evidence: c.: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. nose, n.

snitchel, n. See snitch, n., 1.—2. V.t. to filip on the nose: c.: late C. 17–early 18. B.E.

snitched, ppl.adj. Glandered: horse-dealers' s. (— 1876). Hindley. Cf. snicker, q.v.

snitcher. A member of a set of bloods: ca. 1760–80. The Annual Register, 1761. O.E.D. ? origin.—2. One who peaches; an informer: c.: 1827 (O.E.D.); John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934. Ex snitch, v., 1.—3. In pl., handcuffs; or strings used therefor: c. (— 1860). H., 2nd ed. Cf. snitches.—4. A detective: c. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex sense 2.—5. A person or thing remarkably good, strong, attractive, etc.: New Zealand (— 1935). Perhaps influenced by snifter.

snitches. Handcuffs: c.: from ca. 1870. A corruption of snitcher, 3.

snitching. The art and practice of peaching; turning King's evidence: C. 19–20: c.

snitching-rascal. A variant of snitcher, 2. Vaux. († by 1890.)

snite his snitch. 'Wipe his Nose, or give him a good Flap on the Face': resp. late C. 17–20 (c. >, in C. 19, lows.; B.E.) and late C. 17–early 19 (c.); Grose, 1785). By itself snite is S.E. > dial.

sniv. To hold one's tongue: c.: ca. 1810–50. Ex snib, to fasten.—2. sniv! See bender! C. of ca. 1810–40. Vaux.

sniveller. A toadying seaman: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

snizzle. To fornicate: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon. Origin ? Possibly cognate with dial. sniggle (see E.D.D., at sniggle, v., 2).

snob. A shoemaker, cobbler, or an apprentice thereto: from ca. 1780: s. >, ca. 1800, coll. and dial. In Scots coll., C. 19–20, snab. Grose, 1st ed. ? etymology. Cf. snobber.—2. Hence, in the Navy, 'a man earning extra money by repairing shipmates' boots in spare time': late C. 19–20: coll. F. & Gibbons.—3. A townsman: Cambridge University: ca. 1795–1870. Perhaps ex sense 1. Cf. the corresponding cad.—4. Among workmen, a 'blackleg' or 'scab': coll.: from ca. 1859; very ob. Abbr. snobstick, q.v.

snob, v.i. and t. 'To sloven one's work,' F. & H.: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob.

snob-shop. 'The regimental boot repairer or maker's workshop': military coll.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. See snob, n., 1.

snobber. A shoemaker, cobbler: coll.: 1900 (O.E.D.). Ex snob, n., 1.

snobbery. Slovenly work; slack trade: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. snob, v. Whence, hide the snobbery, to conceal bad workmanship, inferior material.

snob's boot. A sixpence: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. snob's duck snob's cat, full of piss and tantrums,—like a. A low c.p. applied to a person: ca. 1820–50. 'Jon Bee.'

snob's duck. 'A leg of mutton, stuffed with sage and onions,' F. & H.: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. See snob, n., 1, and cf. snob's boot.

snobstick. A non-striker, a 'scab': workmen's coll. (— 1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Prob. a corruption of knobstick, q.v., as H., 2nd ed., suggests.

snodder. One who dislikes spending: grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Ex Yiddish.

snoddy. A soldier: low: ca. 1890–1914. A corruption of swaddy, q.v.

snoodge. See snooze.—snook. See snooks, cock.

snooker. A freshman at the Royal Military Academy: R.M.A.: 1872 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex snook, a variant of snoke, to sneak about (v.i.).

snooker, v. To delude, trick, 'best', 'be too much for': from 1914 at latest. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex the game: cf. S.E. euchre.

snooks. 'The imaginary name of a practical joker; also a derisive retort on an idle question—Snooks!' F. & H.: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed.

snooks, cock; occ. cock a snook; also cut a snook, cut snooks. To make the derisive gesture described at sight, 5: coll.: (resp.)—1903; 1904; 1879;—1903. F. & H.; O.E.D. Origin obscure. 'Cf. Fr. faire un pied de nez, Ger. eine lange nase machen. Perhaps name Snook-s felt as phonetically appropriate (cf. Walker),' W. snookums. A trivial endearment; esp. applied to a lap-dog: coll.: 1928. O.E.D. (Sup.) Cf. diddums.

snoop; gen. snoop around. To pry; go about slyly: orig. (ca. 1830) U.S.; anglicised as a coll. ca. 1905; by 1935, gen. considered virtually S.E. Ex the Dutch snoepen. Thornton. Hence snooper, snooping, one who does this, and the action; also snoopy, adj. to all anglicised ca. 1920.—2. Hence v.t. snoop, to 'appropriate', steal on the sly: coll.: 1924, Galsworthy, The White Monkey.

snoose. See snooze.

snooty. (Of persons) unpleasant; cross, irritable; supercilious: Society and near-Society: from ca. 1930. (Denis Mackail, Summer Leaves, 1934.) Perhaps on snoopy (see preceding entry) but ex snorty: cf. Lancashire snoot, v.i. to sneak, hang round. Adopted ex the U.S.A.; used in Canada from ca. 1920.

snooze; occ. snoose (ob.); in late C. 18–early 19, occ. snoodge. A sleep; esp. a nap or doze: 1793 (O.E.D.): c. >, by 1820, s. >, ca. 1840, coll. Ex snooze, v.—2. Whence, a lodging; a bed: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux; Brandon.

snooze, v.; occ. snoose († in C. 20) and snoodge (late C. 18–20: Grose, 2nd ed.: since ca. 1850, illiterate). To sleep: 1789, George Parker: c. >, ca. 1810, s. >, ca. 1840, coll. Grose, 1788, 'To snooze with a mort [wench] . . . Cant.—2.

Hence (in late C. 19–20, the prevailing sense), to doze, take a nap: from ca. 1840: coll. Thackeray, 'Snooze gently in thy arm-shair, thou easy bald-head.' Etymology problematic: the word may have been suggested by 'sleep', 'nap', and 'doze'.

snooze-case. A pillow-slip: low (— 1864); slightly ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex snooze, n., 2.

snooze-ken. A variant of snoozing-ken, q.v.

snoozem. Sleep; a sleep: low: 1838, Beckett, Paradise Lost; ob. by 1900, † by 1930. An elaboration of snooze, n., 1.

snoozer. One who 'snoozes': coll.: O.E.D., 1878; prob. half a century earlier.—2. 'One of those thieves who take up their quarters at hotels for the purpose of robbery': c.: mid-C. 19–20. Mayhew.

snoozing, n. and adj. See snooze, v. From ca. 1810. Cf.:

snoozing(-)ken. A brothel: c. (— 1811). Lex. Bal. See snooze, v. Also, according to F. & H., a lodging-house, bed-room, bed. Occ. snooze-ken.

snoozle, v.i. To nestle and then sleep; to nuzzle: resp. ca. 1830, 1850: coll. and dial. Perhaps, as W. suggests, ex snooze + snuggle + nuzzle.—2. Hence, v.t. to thrust affectionately, nuzzle: coll. and dial.: 1847, Emily Brontë. O.E.D.

snoozy. A night-constable: c. of ca. 1820–60. Egan's Groser. Ex snooze, v., 1.

snoozy, adj. Sleepy; drowsy: coll.: 1877 (O.E.D.). See snooze, n., 1.

snork. To surpass; cap (another) in argument, repartee; do the whole of (an examination paper): Shrewsbury School: late C. 19–20. Perhaps ex:—2. A rebuff, a setback: id.: from ca. 1880. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906. Perhaps cf. dial. snork, a snort.—3. Whence, snorks!, a term of defiance: id.: from ca. 1885. Ibid.

snorter. A gale; a strong breeze: 1855 (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Cf. sneezer 5, q.v.—2. Anything exceptional, esp. in size, severity, or strength: 1859, J. Lang, 'The Commander-in-Chief . . . certainly did put forth "a snorter of a General Order,"' O.E.D.: s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Cf. snifter, 2.—3. A blow, punch on the nose: from ca. 1873. H., 5th ed. Cf. sneezer, 5, q.v.—4. The nose: from ca. 1880. Cf. sneezer, 2. Baumann defines it as the mouth and classifies it as boxing s.: I do not know it in this sense, but he may well be right: he almost always is!

snorting. The ppl.adj. corresponding to snorter 2; esp., excellent: late C. 19–20.

snorty. Irritable, irritated; peevish; captious: 1893, Kate Douglas Wiggin, 'She found Mr Gooch very snorty, very snorty indeed,' O.E.D. Ex snort contemptuously. Cf. snotty, adj., 2.

snossidge. A sausage: London's lower classes': ca. 1890–1900. Ware.

snot. Nasal mucus: C. 15–20: S.E. until C. 19, when dial. and a vulgarism. Cognate with snite, q.v.—2. Hence, a term of contempt for a person: C. 19–20: s. when not dial.; ob. except in dial.—3. A gentleman: Scots c. (— 1839); ob. Brandon.

snot, v.i., v.t., and v. reflexive. To blow the nose: late C. 16–20: mostly dial.; in C. 19–20, also (though very ob.) a vulgarism. Ex snot, n., 1.

snot-box. The nose: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ex snot, n., 1.

snot-rag. A pocket-handkerchief: low: late C. 19–20. Cf. snot-box and snotter.

snotted, ppl.adj. Reprimanded: c.: late C. 19–20; ob. Prob. a perversion of snouted, rooted up as with the snout; perhaps on snotty, adj., 2.

snotter. A dirty, ragged handkerchief: low: from ca. 1820; ob. Bee. Ex snot, mucus.—2. The nose: low: from ca. 1830; very ob.—3. A handkerchief-thief: c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 1st ed.—4. A midshipman: nautical (— 1903). F. & H. Perhaps influenced by nautical snotter (a short rope spliced at the ends). More gen. snotty, q.v.

snotter-hauling. The thieving of handkerchiefs: c.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex snotter, 3.

snottery. A C. 20 Glasgow variant of snotty, adj., 2.

snottie. See snotty, n.—snotties' nurse. See snotty, n.—snottily. Adv. of snotty, adj., 2, q.v.

snotting. A reprimand: tailors': 1928, The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29. Cf. snotty, adj., 2. snottinger. A handkerchief: low: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex snot, n., 1, on muck-inger, q.v. Cf. snot-rag, and snotter, 1.

snottle-box. The nose: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Cf. snot-box.

snotty; occ. snottie. A midshipman: nautical (— 1903). F. & H.; Kipling, 1904 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex snotty, adj., 2, not snotty, adj., 1; 'Taffrail', however, derives it ex the buttons worn by midshipmen on their sleeves, whence arose the jest that the buttons were there to prevent them from wiping their noses on their sleeves (cited by F. & Gibbons). Hence, snotties' nurse, a naval officer detailed to look after the midshipmen. Bowen.

snotty, adj. Filthy; mean, contemptible: late C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then dial. and s. Ex snot, n., 1. Cf. S.E. snotty-nosed.—2. Angry, short-tempered; apt to take offence; very proud; proudly conceited: dial. (— 1870) >, ca. 1880, s. Prob. ex sense 1.

snout. A hog's head: c. of ca. 1720–1800. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Ex a hog's nose.—2. Tobacco: c. (— 1896: O.E.D.). 'Stuart Wood.'? origin.—3. Among hawkers, a cigar: late C. 19–20. Ex sense 2 and (?) shape.—4. A betrayer; an informer to the police: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace; Charles E. Leach. Cf. nose, q.v.—5. Hence, a detective: low Glasgow (— 1934).

snout. 'To bear [a person] a grudge,' C. J. Dennis: military and Australian: C. 20. Ex pigs.—2. Whence snouted, 'treated with disfavour', id.: ibid.: id.

snout-piece. The face: coll.: C. 17–19. 'Melancholy' Burton, 1621.

snouting, vbl.n. Giving information to the police: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace.

snouty. Overbearing; haughty; insolent: coll.: 1858 (O.E.D.); somewhat ob. Cf. sniffy.

Snow. See snowy, 2.

snow. Linen; esp. linen hung out to dry or bleach: c. (— 1811). Lex. Bal.; H., 1st ed. Ex whiteness. Also occ. snowy.—2. Cocaine: U.S.; anglicised ca. 1920 as c. >, ca. 1930, s. Edgar Wallace, passim; Irwin. Ex colour.—3. Silver; silver money: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. the c. adj. white, of silver.

snow, sweeping the. A variant (— 1935) of snow-dropping. David Hume.

snow-broth. Cold tea: 1870, Judd; ob. Ex snow-broth: melted snow.

snow-dropper or -gatherer. A linen-thief: c.:

from ca. 1810, though snow-dropper is unrecorded before 1864, -gatherer before 1859. Ex snow, 1.

snow-dropping. Linen-thieving: c.: from ca. 1810; recorded, 1839. Cf. snow-dropper.

snow rupee. A genuine rupee: Southern Indian coll. (—1886). Ex Telegu tsanauvu, authority, currency, by process of Hobson-Jobson. Yule & Burnell.

snowball. A Negro: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Ironic nickname.

Snows. A trivial oath: late C. 16—early 17; coll. abbr. Od's nouns. O.E.D.

snowy. Linen; esp. that hung out to dry: c. (—1877). Ex snow, 1.—2. (Snowy) An inevitable nickname of men with flaxen or bleached hair: lower classes: late C. 19–20. Also, in Australia, for men surnamed Baker: C. 20. (Cf. Dusty Miller.) Also, there, of Aborigines: late C. 19–20. In the second and third nuances, often Snow.

snozzler. Any person or thing remarkable for excellence, skill, strength, etc.: New Zealand (—1935). Prob. suggested by such terms as snifter and bobby-dazzler, of which pair it may be a blend.

snub-devil. A clergyman: ca. 1780–1900. Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.

snubber. A reprimand: Public Schools' (—1909). Ware. Prob. by 'the Oxford -er'.

snudge. One who, to steal later, hides himself in a house, esp. under a bed: c. (—1676); † by 1840. Coles; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. A special development ex snudge, to remain snugly quiet.

Snuff. Charles Stanhope (1780–1851), Lord Petersham, who concocted the Petersham snuff-mixture. Dawson.

snuff, v.i. To blind (esp. a shopkeeper) with snuff and then, all being well, steal his goods: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux.—2. See snuff it, snuff out.

snuff, beat to. To defeat utterly: coll.: 1819 (O.E.D.); ob.

snuff, give (a person). To rebuke, reprimand, scold: coll.: 1890, Anon., Harry Fludyer, 'He rather gave me snuff about my extravagance, but I was prepared for that.'—2. Hence, to punish: coll.: 1896, Baden-Powell (O.E.D.).

snuff, in high. In 'great form'; elated: coll.: 1840, Dana; slightly ob. O.E.D.

snuff, up to. Alert; not easily tricked; shrewd: coll.: 1811, Poole, 'He knew well enough | The game we're after: zooks, he's up to snuff.' Lit. of one who knows to what dangerous uses snuff can be put. Egan's Grose adds: 'Often rendered more emphatic by such adjuncts as "Up to snuff and twopenny," "Up to snuff, and a pinch above it."' snuff-box. The nose: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede'; ob. O.E.D.

snuff it. To die: s. (—1874) >, ca. 1900, coll. H., 5th ed., 'Term very common among the lower orders of London . . . Always to die from disease or accident.' Ex snuff out, q.v.

snuff-lurker. See sneeze-lurker.

snuff out, v.i. To die: s. (—1864) >, ca. 1900, S.E. H., 3rd ed. Prob. ex snuffing out a candle. Cf. snuff it.

snuff-racket. See sneeze-racket and cf. sneeze-lurker.

snuffers. The nostrils: ca. 1650–1750: s. and dial. Cleveland. O.E.D.

snuffy. Drunk: low: from ca. 1820; ob. Bee, 1823; H., 3rd ed. Perhaps ex snuffy, apt to take offence, displeased, angry.

snug. A bar-parlour at inn or 'public': from ca. 1860: s. (ob.) and dial. Ex snug, comfortable; cf. S.E. snuggery.

snug, v. To coit with: C. 19–20; ob. Ex snug, to make comfortable: cf. euphemistic ease. 2.—Also v.i.: C. 19–20; ob. Prob. ex snug down, to nestle.

snug, adj. Drunk: low: late C. 19–20; very ob. Cf. euphemistic comfortable.

snug as a bug in a rug. Very snug, cosy, comfortable: coll.: from ca. 1760. See quotation at mopus, 3. Apperson.

snug, all's. All's quiet: c. of ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed. Cf. the † S.E. snug, secret, concealed, private. Cf.:

snug as a pig in pease-straw. Very comfortable (-bly): coll.: ca. 1635–70. Davenport, 1639, 'He snores and sleeps as snug | As any pigge in pease-straw.' Apperson. Cf. snug as a bug in a rug.

snug's the word! Say nothing of this!: coll.: C. 18–19; ob. by 1860. Congreve, Maria Edgeworth, Lover. O.E.D. Cf. snug, all's, q.v.

snurge. 'To get out of doing some unpopular job': nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Prob. ex dial., snudge, to sneak, to sulk, curry favour (E.D.D.).

sny. See snie.—snyde. See snide.

snyder; snider. A tailor: coll.: C. 17–20; ob. F. & H., an early C. 17 quotation; H., 2nd ed. Ex Ger. Schneider, tailor; prob. imported by soldiers.

so. Topsy: coll.: from ca. 1820. Ex so-so, 1.—2. Menstruating: women's euphemistic coll.: mid-C. 19–20.—3. Homosexual: from ca. 1890. Thus 'a so man' is a homosexual, 'a so book' a Uranian novel, poem, etc. Cf. The Venetian così.

so, adv. Very: as a mere counter of vague emphasis, it is admittedly S.E.; yet it has a coll. tinge.—2. Tautologically in intensifications, it is a proletarian coll.: (?) mid-C. 19–20. 'It gets on my nerves, so it does!'; 'A well-doing young man, so he is' (both in MacArthur & Long, No Mean City, 1935).

so, ever. See ever so.

so and so; So and So. Senior Ordnance Store Officer: military: ca. 1890–1914. Ware.

so as; so's. So that; in order that: catachrestic: late C. 19–20.

So Brien or S'O'Brien (or -an). The Australian steamship Sobraon: nautical: late C. 19—early 20. Ware.

so glad! A c.p. of ca. 1847 (introduced by the French King) and of 1867–68 (from a song in W. Brough's Field of the Cloth of Gold): mostly London. Ware.

so is your old man! A c.p. from ca. 1900; ob.; often so's . . . (John G. Brandon, 1931; Slang, p. 280.)

so long! Au revoir!: coll.: 1865, F. H. Nixon. Cf. Ger. so lange (O.E.D.), but more prob., as W. suggests, the term is a corruption of salaam, though Ware's suggested derivation ex the Hebrew Selah (God be with you) is not to be wholly ignored.

so say. Say so. Esp. you don't so say: c.p.: C. 20. Cf. shay so.

so-so. Drunk: coll.: 1809, Malkin.—2. Menstruating: women's euphemistic coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

so sudden !, this is. A jocular c.p. applied to an unexpected statement or offer: from ca. 1910. Ex the reputedly usual reply of a girl to a proposal of marriage. (Collinson.)

so very human was. ca. 1880–84, applied in so many ways that The Daily News, Oct. 27, 1884, could speak of it thus: 'In the slang of the day, "so very human."' (Ware.) Rather a c.p. than s.

soak. To ply with liquor: coll.: 1822, Banim (O.E.D.). In C. 20, gen. in passive. Ex soak, to saturate. (N.b., soak, v.i. to drink heavily, is S.E.) —2. Hence, to spend in drink: coll.: C. 20.—3. To pawn: 1882, G. A. Sala, 'Soak my gems.' O.E.D.—4. V.i. gen. as soak it, to belavish of bait: anglers' coll.: late C. 19–20.—5. To charge (a person) an extortionate price; to tax heavily: orig. (late 1890's) U.S.; anglicised by 1914. O.E.D. (Sup.)—6. Hence (?), to catch (a person) out, 'have him set', give (him) unpleasant work: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Esp. in passive, as 'I was soaked for a fatigue.'—7. To borrow money from: from ca. 1925. Dorothy Sayers, Have His Carcase, 1932, 'Poor, but not mercenary or dishonest, since he refused to soak Mrs W.' Ex senses 5 and 6.

soak, in; come out of soak. Drunk; to regain sobriety: low coll. (—1887). Baumann. Ex S.E. soak, a heavy drinking-bout.

soak one's clay or face. To drink; esp. to drink heavily: resp. C. 19–20 (slightly ob.) and C. 18. Barham, 1837. Cf. soak, 1. O.E.D. soaked. Tipsy; very drunk: see soak, 1. Cf. saturated.

soap. Flattery: 1859, H., 1st ed.; ob. In C. 20, gen. soft soap, q.v. Ex the v.—2. Cheese: Royal Military Academy (—1903); ob. F. & H.—3. Girls collectively: ca. 1883–1900. Ware. Ex the more gen. bits of soap, girls, esp. harlots and near-harlots.—4. 'A hard worker; one who curries favour': Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Cf. the synonymous sap and soft soap.

soap, v.t. To flatter; address ingratiatingly: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede'; ob. Cf. soft-soap, v.—2. 'To work hard; to curry favour': Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Cf. sap, to study hard, and soft-soap, v.

soap?, how are you off for. A c.p. senseless question: 1834, Marryat; 1886, Baring Gould (O.E.D.). Ob. by 1910, † by 1935. Origin obscure,—but then the origin of almost every c.p. is obscure!

soap, soft. See soft soap, n. and v.

soap-and-baccy pay(master). An accountant officer of the Victualling Branch: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

soap and bullion. Soup-and-bouilli: nautical (—1883); ob. Clark Russell. Partly a play on words and partly because of its nauseating smell. Also hishee-hashee.

soap and water. Daughter: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

soap-crawler. A toady: ca. 1860–1910. Ex soap, n., 1.

soap over, v.t. To humbug: low (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Cf. soft-soap.

soap-suds. 'Gin and water, hot, with lemon and lump sugar,' Bee: low: ca. 1820–70.

soaps. Shares in A. & F. Pears: Stock Exchange (—1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

soapy. Unctuous; ingratiating; given to 'soft soap': 1865 (O.E.D.). Cf. Soapy Sam.—2. (Offits) simulated, or caused by, chewing or eating soap: 1886, The Daily News, Dec. 13. O.E.D. Cf. cordite-chewing in C. 20.

soapy Isaac. See suet(ty) Isaac.

Soapy Sam. Bishop Wilberforce: ca. 1860–73. Ex his unctuous manner. Samuel Wilberforce, 1805–73, became Bishop of Oxford in 1845, about which time diarist Greville described him as 'a very quick, lively, and agreeable man'.

sob-stuff. Intentional and, gen., excessive sentimentality (to appeal to the emotions—and often the pocket): orig. (ca. 1919) U.S.; anglicised, by 1921, as a coll., now verging on S.E. (O.E.D. Sup.; Lyell.)

sober as a judge on Friday (, as). Very—oh, so very slightly—tipsy: coll. (—1923). Manchon. His work for the week ends on Friday. Elaboration of the dial. sober as a judge (1864: E.D.D.).

sober-grudge fight. A fight arising out of a long-standing quarrel: Canadian coll. (—1932). John Beames.

sober-water. Soda-water: punning coll.: from ca. 1873; ob. H., 5th ed.

soc, Soc. A trades-union man: printers': ca. 1870–1910. Ex Society.

soccer. See socket, 3.

social E. A middle-class evasion of social evil (prostitution): coll.: ca. 1870–1905. Ware.

society. A workhouse: artisans' (—1909). Ware. Evasive.

[Society Clown, the. George Grossmith, the actor: rather a sobriquet than a nickname. Ex his book, A Society Clown. (Dawson.)] society journalist. A contributor to The Society Journalist: journalists': ca. 1875–78. Ware.

Society-maddist. A person that, not born in Society, spends much time and money to get there: Society: ca. 1881–95. Ware.

socius. A companion, a chum: Winchester: C. 19–20; ob. Ex the school precept, sociati omnes incedunt. Cf. the occ., cultured use, since mid-C. 19, of socius as a comrade, itself perhaps ex the ecclesiastical term.—2. Whence, v.t., to accompany: ibid.: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

sock. A pocket: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E.—2. As used by Shadwell in The Squire of Alsatia, 1688, in Act I, Sc. 1, it seems to = a small coin (cf. rag): prob. c.—3. A blow, a beating: late C. 17–20: c. >, ca. 1850, low s.; † as a beating, except in give (one) socks. B.E. at tip; H., 3rd ed. Cf. sock, v., 1.—4. Eatables; esp., dainties: Eton: 1825, C. Westmacott (O.E.D.). Perhaps ex suckett, dainty.—5. ? hence: credit: low (—1874). H., 5th ed.

sock, adv. Violently: (low) coll.: late C. 19–20. Charles Turley, Godfrey Marten, Undergraduate, 1904, 'One of you 'as 'it Susan sock in the eye.'

sock. To hit; strike hard; drub, thrash: late C. 17–20: c. >, ca. 1850, s. B.E.; Kipling, 1890, 'We socks 'im with a stretcher-pole.' Origin obscure.—2. Hence, to 'give it' to a person: 1890, Kipling, 'Strewth, but it socked it them hard!'.—3. V.i., to deliver blows: 1856 (O.E.D.). E.g. 'Sock him one on the jaw!' Ex sense 1. Cf. sock into, q.v.—4. To treat one to 'sock' (see the n., 4): Eton (—1850). O.E.D.—5. Hence, to give (one something): Eton (—1889). A mere extension of this occurs in the upper and upper-middle classes' sock, to offer, as in Evelyn Waugh, A Handful of Dust, 1934, 'I'll sock you to a movie.'—6. Cf. v.i. to buy, to eat, 'sock': Eton: 1883, Brinsley Richards, 'We . . . socked prodigiously.'—7. ? hence, v.i., to get credit: low: late C. 19–20; ob. F. & H. Cf. sock, n., last sense.—8. To win: Winchester College: late C. 19–20. Wrench. Cf. sock, n., 3.

sock, give (one). To beat or thrash soundly; 1864, H., 3rd ed.; ob., the C. 20 preferring give (one) socks, recorded by O.E.D. at 1897. Ex sock, n., 3. Cf. sock, v., 1 and 2, and sock into.

sock, on. 'On tick': see sock, n., 5. (Baumann.)

sock a boot into. To take advantage of the misfortunes of (a person): lower classes': C. 20. F. & Gibbons. See sock, v., 1 and 2; prob. imm. an elaboration of sock into, q.v.

sock in (or into) it!, put a. Be quiet!; stop talking, it being the offender's mouth: from ca. 1910: military (esp. in G.W.) >, by 1920, gen. B. & P. Cf. wood in it, put a bit (or piece) of.

sock into. To hit vigorously; pitch into: 1864, H., 3rd ed. Ex sock, v., 3. Australia, in C. 20, has the variant sock it into: C. J. Dennis.—2. See sock in it.

sock (a person) one. To hit him hard: from not later than 1915. Ex sock, v., 1 and 2.

sock-shop. The tuck-shop: Eton: mid-C. 19–20. Ex sock, n., 4.

sockkastic. Sarcastic: sol.: mid-C. 19–20.

sockdologer (1830), -ager (—1848), rarely -iger (1842); occ. sog- (1869) or slock- (1838) or slog- (1862); also stock- (1864, H., 3rd ed.). Occ. -ll-. A very heavy blow; a 'finisher': U.S., anglicised, to some extent, ca. 1870; ob. A fanciful, assonantal elaboration of sock, a blow (see sock, n., 3, and cf. v. 1), influenced by doxology, 'regarded as final' (W.).—2. Hence, anything exceptional: U.S. (1869), partly anglicised ca. 1890; slightly ob. Blackwood's Magazine, Feb. 1894; 'The pleasant remembrance of the capture of a real sockdologer' (large fish), O.E.D.

socket. A sloven, lout, simpleton, fool: coll.: 1772, Bridges, 'The rabble then began to swear, | What the old socket said was fair'; ob. Also sockie (ob.) and sockhead, †.—2. A heavy blow: low: from ca. 1870. Ex sock, v., 1.—3. Also soccer. Association football: from ca. 1890: orig. Harrow School; by 1903, gen. The O.E.D. records socket at 1891, soccer at 1895; in C. 20, usually soccer. By truncated assoc. + Oxford -er. Cf. rugger.—4. One who strikes hard: low: from not later than 1930. O.E.D. (Sup.) Ex sock, v., 1.

socket, burnt to the. Dying: late C. 17–18: coll. >, ca. 1700, S.E. Ray.

socket-money. 'Money demanded and spent upon marriage' B.E.: late C. 17–18. Perhaps ex socket, the female pudend.—2. Hence, 'money paid for a treat, by a married man caught in an intrigue,' Grose, 1st ed.: mid-C. 18–mid-19. Bridges, 1772. Cf. dial. socket-brass, hush-money.—3. Also, 'a whore's fee, or hire,' Grose, 1st ed.: late C. 18–mid-19.—4. Ex senses, 2, 3: hush-money: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Cf.:

socketer. A blackmailer: ca. 1860–1910. H., 5th ed. Ex socket, last sense.

socketing. A variant (ca. 1810–50) of burning shame, 2. 'Jon Bee'.

sockhead; sockie. See socket, 1.

socks, hot. See hot socks.

socks, old. See old socks.

socks, pull up one's. To brace oneself for, to make an effort: from early 1920's. R. Blaker, 1922. Ex that significant preparation for action.

sod. A sodomist: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob.—2. Hence, a pejorative, orig. and gen. violent: late C. 19–20. Often used in ignorance of its origin: cf. bugger.—3. A sodden damper: Australian: from ca. 1910. (Ion L. Idriess, Lasseter's Last Ride, 1931.) Prob. influenced by Scots sod, a bap.—4. At Charterhouse, it is, in C. 20, applied to a person, esp. another school-boy, doing anything dirty, e.g. spewing. sodduk. (Soft) bread; Conway cadets': from before 1880. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933. Prob. a slurring of soft tack.

sodger. See soger and soldier, n., 1.

Sodgeries, the. The Military Exhibition, Chelsea Barracks, in: 1890: London. Ex sodger on Colinderies, Fisheries, etc. Ware.

Sodom. London: literary coll.: C. 19. Ex Sodom, generic for any very corrupt place.—2. Wadham College, Oxford: from ca. 1870; very ob. H., 5th ed. Rhyming.

sods, odds and. See odds and sods.

soft. A weakling; a very simple or a foolish person: dial. (—1854) >, by 1860, coll. George Eliot, 1859 (O.E.D.). Cf. softy, q.v.—2. Bank-notes (as opp. to coin): c. (—1823). Egan's Groser; H., 1st ed. Also soft-flimsy, from ca. 1870. Cf. U.S. soft, adj. applied to paper money as early as ca. 1830.

soft, adj. Half-witted: coll. (and dial.): 1835, Marryat, 'A good sort of chap enough, but rather soft in the upper-works'; adumbrated by Miss Burney in 1775. O.E.D. Ex soft, 'more or less foolish, silly or simple.'—2. (? hence). Foolishly benevolent or kind; constantly helping others without thinking of one's own advantage or interests: coll.: 1890, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'He . . . did a soft thing in bringing those other chaps here,' O.E.D. Ex soft, compassionate.—3. Easy, idle, lazy: coll.: 1889, The Daily News, Oct. 12, 'People crowd into literature [sic], as into other "soft" professions, because it is genteel'; 1905, H. A. Vachell, 'You wanted a soft time of it during the summer term,' O.E.D. Ex soft, involving little effort or no work.—4. Broken in spirit: 1898, Sir G. Robertson (O.E.D.): coll., Anglo-Indian >, by 1910, gen. Ex soft, physically weak, lacking in stamina.

soft, a bit of hard for a bit of. Copulation: low: mid-C. 19–20.

soft, do. To utter counterfeit notes: c.: from ca. 1870. See soft, n., 2.

soft?, hard (arse) or. Third class or first?: low coll.: late C. 19–20.

soft ball. Lawn tennis: Royal Military Academy, Woolwich: late C. 19–20 coll.

soft down ou. In love with: low coll.: from ca. 1870. Elaboration of soft on.

soft-flimsy. See soft, n., 2.

soft horn. A donkey, lit. or fig.: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Because an ass's ears, unlike horns, are soft.

soft is your horn. You've made a mistake: c.p.: ca. 1820–50. Bee.

soft number. An easy task or job: mostly military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex music.

soft on or upon. In love with; sentimentally amorous for: 1840: S.E. >, ca. 1880, coll soft-roed. Tender-hearted: non-aristocratic London coll. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann. Ex fish-roe.

'Rolf Boldrewood,' 1888, 'I . . . thought she was rather soft on Jim,' O.E.D.

soft sawder, n. See sawder.—2. V.t. and i. (gen. hyphenated): to flatter: coll.: 1843, Haliburton; Hickie's Aristophanes, 1853. O.E.D. Ex soft sawder, n. (see sawder). Cf.:

soft sawder to order. An elaboration of soft sawder, n.: 1883, Entr' Acte, April 7; ob.—2. Ware records the sense 'clothes made to order' and implies existence ca. 1883–1900.

soft-sawderer. A flatterer: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex soft-sawder. Cf.:

soft soap. Flattery; 'blarney': U.S. (1830), anglicised ca. 1860. T. Hughes, 1861, 'He and I are great chums, and a little soft soap will go a long way with him.' Ex soft soap, potash soap, on soft sawder.

soft-soap, v. To flatter: U.S. (1840), anglicised ca. 1870. Ex the n.

soft tack. See soft tommy.

soft thing, a. A very obliging simpleton: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex soft, adj., 1.—2. A pleasant, an easy, task; an easy contest or win: coll.: from ca. 1890. Ex soft, adj., 3, q.v.

soft to, do the. To flatter, to 'blarney' (a person): coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

soft tommy. Bread, as opp. to biscuits: nautical coll. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.; 1878, W. S. Gilbert, 'I've treacle and toffee, and excellent coffee, [Soft tommy and succulent chops.] Also soft tack (H., 1859), which has its corresponding hard tack. See tommy.

softie; properly soffy. A silly, very simple, or weak-minded person: coll. and dial.: 1863, Mrs Gaskell, '[Nancy] were but a softy after all.'

sog. A sovereign (coin): schools': late C. 19–20; very ob. Ex sov, q.v.

soger, sojer; sodger. A soldier: coll. and dial.: C. 15–20.—2. If applied to a sailor, it constitutes a grave, disgracing pejorative, for it connotes shirking and malingering: nautical coll. (— 1840). R. H. Dana in Before the Mast; cf. Clark Russell in Sailor's Language, 1883.—3. See soldier, n., 1.—4. Gen. sodger: a big cross made on an examination-paper to indicate a glaring error: Winchester (— 1839). Wrench. Cf. percher.—5. For Sogeries, see Sodgeries.

soger; occ. sodger or sojer. To shirk and/or mangle; to pretend to work: mainly nautical (— 1840); in C. 20, coll. Dana. Also soldier.

solar. Sola (topee): orig. (— 1878) a sol. spelling. Yule & Burnell. Ex Hindustani shola.

solay, v. Error for splay (a fish): C. 18–20; ob. O.E.D.

sold, ppl.adj. Tricked: see sell, v. Cf.:

sold again and got the money! A costermonger's c.p. on having successfully 'done' someone in a bargain: ca. 1850–80. H., 1st ed. Ex sell, v. Cf.:

sold like a bullock in Smithfield, ppl.adj. Badly cheated or duped: almost a c.p.: ca. 1810–50. Vaux. Cf. preceding entry.

sold out. Bankrupt: coll. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Cf.:

sold out, be. To have sold all one's stock (of some article): coll.: late C. 19–20. Perhaps on the analogy of S.E. be sold up, to have had part or all of one's goods sold to pay one's creditors. Cf. preceding entry.

soldier. A red herring: from ca. 1810: sailors' and seaports'. Lex. Bal., 1811. Also sodger, soger.—2. A boiled lobster: ca. 1820–1910. Both ex red uniform.—3. An inferior seaman: nautical coll.: from ca. 1835; ob. Cf. sojer, n., 2.—4. A forest kangaroo: Australian coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.: from the late 1890's. 'Rolf Boldrewood' (O.E.D.)—5. (Gen. Soldier.) 'The senior Royal Marine officer on board. Young Soldier, his subaltern': naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.—6. An upright (often, in j., termed a 'runner') of 9 inches by 3, gen. used as a support for 'shuttering': Public Works' (— 1935). They are usually placed at intervals, edge on to the shuttering: and thus they resemble a rank of soldiers.

soldier, v. See sojer, v.; but this form began by being coll., and in C. 20 is S.E.—2. V.i., to clean one's equipment; doing routine work or fatigues: military: 1885 (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1915, coll.—3. V.t., to use temporarily (another man's horse): Australian (— 1891); ob. Century Dict.

soldier, old. See old soldier.—2. An empty bottle: ca. 1880–1910. Cf. dead marine, q.v.—3. old soldier, come the. See come the old soldier.

soldier on. To persevere against peril and/or hardship: military coll.: esp. 1916–18. Often as a c.p. in form soldier on, chum (B. & P.). soldier-walking. 'Any operations by blue-jackets on land': naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf. soldier, n., 5.

Soldiers, the. Aldershot Football Club ('soccer'): sporting coll.: C. 20.

soldiers!, oh. A proletarian exclamation: from ca. 1880; ob. by 1909, † by 1918. Ware.

soldier's bite. A big bite: coll. and dial.: C. 19–20.

soldier's bottle. A large bottle: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

soldier's breeze. A variant, dating from the early 1890's, of soldier's wind, q.v.: coll. >, by 1910, S.E.

soldier's farewell, a. 'Go to bed!', with ribald additions and/or elaborations: military (— 1909). Ware. Cf. sailor's farewell, q.v.—2. Also (in G.W., and after) = 'Good-bye and bugger (or fuck) you!' M. Lincoln, Oh! Definitely, 1933, 'Good-bye . . .!' he yelled . . . "Soldier's farewell", he said amiably.

soldier's friend. A rifle: military coll.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. the Ger. soldier's bride.—2. 'The metal polish used for cleaning brass buttons, etc.': military coll.: C. 20. Ibid.

soldiers?, I've shit 'em! A c.p. 'expression of contempt for another unit (especially if slovenly)': military: from ca. 1912. B. & P. Contrast scraped 'em off me putties.

soldier's joy. Masturbation: low coll.: ca. 1850–1910.

soldier's mawnd. A sham sore or wound in the left arm: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. Cf. mason's mawnd, q.v.—2. Hence, 'a pretended soldier, begging with a counterfeit wound, which he pretends to have received at some famous siege or battle,' Grose, 1st ed.: c.: mid-C. 18–early 19.

soldier's mast. A pole mast without sails, 'during the transition period from sail to steam in the Navy,' Frank C. Bowen: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19.

soldier's pomatum. A piece of tallow candle: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.

soldier's privilege. Complaining: G.W. military coll. See grouse; see sailor's pleasure soldier's supper. A drink of water and a smoke : coll. : 1893 (O.E.D.). Ware, 'Nothing at all—tea being the final meal of the day.' Cf. subaltern's luncheon.—2. As a c.p. (e.g. a soldier's supper to you!), 'piss off and go to bed': esp. in Glasgow (—1934). Cf. soldier's farewell.

soldier's thigh. An empty pocket: dial. and s.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. E.D.D.

soldier's wind. A fair wind either way, a beam wind: 1833, Marryat (O.E.D.): nautical coll. >, ea 1890, j. Kingsley, Clark Russell.

sole-slogger. A shoemaker: lower classes' (—1887); ob. Baumann recalls Shakespeare's 'surgeon to old shoes'.

[Solecisms have received more attention in these pages than in those of any other dictionary. It is, indeed, a curious fact that whereas catachrestic usages are almost adequately treated in the O.E.D. and in Webster, solecisms are not. Catachrestes may be defined as solecisms of the literate: but why should the mistakes of the less literate be ignored? The usual answer, that solecisms are obvious and catachrestes are not so obvious, seems a trifle snobbish; certainly it is unsatisfactory.]

solemn(h)oly. Excessive seriousness: coll.: from ca. 1860. This blend of solemn + melancholy is an extension of the jocular S.E. adj. coined in America in 1772 (O.E.D. Sup.). A ludicrous perversion is lemoncholy, q.v.

solfa. A parish clerk: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Ex intoning responses.

solid. (Of time) complete, entire: C. 18–20: S.E. until ca. 1890, then coll. 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1890, 'I walked him up and down . . . for a solid hour.' (O.E.D.).—2. Severe; difficult: Australian (—1916) and gen. coll. C. J. Dennis.—3. Adv., solidly: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20. As = severely: C. 20.

solitary. Solitary confinement: 1854, Dickens (O.E.D.): prison s. >, by 1900, coll.—2. 'A whale cruising by himself, generally an outcast and savage bull': nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sollomon. See solomon.

Solly. The Marquess of Salisbury: comic papers': ca. 1880–1900. Baumann.

solo. A solitary walk (without a 'socius', q.v.): Winchester: from ca. 1870.

solo player. 'A miserable performer on any instrument, who always plays alone, because no one will stay in the room to hear him,' Grose, 1st ed.: jocular coll. of ca. 1780–1850 punning the lit. sense.

solomon. A late C. 17–early 19 variant of salmon, q.v.

solomon-gundy. A mid-C. 18–19 coll. form of salmagundy. Cf. salmon-gundy.

sols and obs. See ob and sol. solus. An advertisement on a page containing no other advertisement: advertising coll. (from ea. 1926) verging on j.

some. Both as adverb of quantity and as an intensive adjective—equivalent respectively to much, or very, and great, lovely, etc.—some was originally, and still is, an Americanism that has contributed laudably to the gaiety of nations and enabled the English to take their pleasures less sadly. As an adjective, e.g. some girl!, it is a 20th century importation (rare before the G.W.) into England, but as an adverb, e.g. going some, it was known at least as early as 1890 in Britain. In America, the earliest examples are 'I hunt some and snake a little', 1834, or in a slightly different sense, 'He stammers some in his speech', 1785; and 'She's some woman now, that is a fact', 1848. Nevertheless, the Americans prob. adopted both the adj. and the adv. from English dial.: see E.D.D. Cf. the French, 'Ca, c'est quelque chose' and the next entry. (O.E.D. and Supplement; Ware; Thornton; Weekley; Fowler.)

some, and then. And many, or much, in addition: U.S. (ca. 1913), anglicised by 1919. O.E.D. (Sup.). Prob. a mere elaboration of the Scots and some, and much more so, as in Ross's pastoral poem, Helenore, 1768, and as in the 'She's as bonny as you, and some' of lexicographer Jamieson (E.D.D.).

some hopes! It is most unlikely: a c.p. dating from ca. 1905. B. & P. Cf. what hopes!

some say 'Good old sergeant!' A c.p. spoken or shouted by privates within the sergeant's hearing; gen. one added (often affectionately), others say 'Fk the (old) sergeant!': military: from ca. 1890. B. & P.

some when, adv. Some time: Society c.p.: ca. 1860–70. Ware.

something, adv. with adj. An intensive, esp. with cruel (s. cruel = cruel or cruelly): dial. and low, in C. 20 sol., coll.: mid-C. 19–20. E.g. 'E suffered something cruel'—or, frequently, 'something cruel'; 'the heat was something frightful'.—2. As in 'the something something' (the bloody bastard), 'the something horse' (the bloody horse): a coll. euphemism: mid-C. 19–20; in C. 20 use, gen. considered S.E.—3. Hence as v. in past ppl., somethinged = damned, etc.: 1859 (O.E.D.).

something damp. See damp.

something good. A good racing tip: s. (from ca. 1890) >, ca. 1920, coll.—2. Hence, a profitable affair, a safe but not generally known investment, venture, etc.: coll.: C. 20. E.g. 'I'm on something good.'

something in the City. See City, something in the.

something short. See short, something.

something the cat's brought in. See like something.

something to hang things on. An infantryman's jocular coll. description of himself: G.W. F. & Gibbons, 'In allusion to the paraphernalia of his heavy marching order kit.'

somethinged. See something, 3.

something, n. and adv. Something: sol.: C. 19–20; mid-C. 19–20. Cf. something, and see -ink.

somewhere in France was, in 1914–18, often put to jocular uses or to senseless variations and thus > a e.p. B. & P., 'The heading of most Western-Front soldiers' letters home.'

somewheres. Somewhere; approximately: dial. and low coll.: mid-C. 19–20. 'It's somewheres along of fifty quid,' F. & H.; R. L. Stevenson, 1883, 'I know you've got that ship safe somewheres,' O.E.D. Cf. the frequent sol. anywheres and the rare nowheres.

son. In such phrases as son of Apollo, a scholar (late C. 17–mid-19), son of Mars, a soldier (C. 16–19), son of Mercury, a wit (id.), son of parchment (id.): B.E., by a slip, has parclement, son of prattlement, a barrister (C. 18–mid-19), and son of Venus, a wencher (late C. 17–mid-19) are—except for son of Mars, perhaps always S.E.—coll. verging on, and in C. 19 being, S.E.: prattlement is in A New Canting Dict., 1725; the first, third, fourth, and sixth in U.E.—2.

son of wax, a cobbler, C. 19, is coll.—3. See son of a . . .

son, every mother's. See mother's son, every.

son of a bachelor. A bastard : coll. bordering on S.E. : late C. 17–20 ; ob. Ray.

son of a bitch or whore. (Lit., a bastard, hence) a pejorative for a man, a fellow : coll. : C. 18–20 : the former in The Triumph of Wit, 1712, the latter, ca. 1703, in 'Facetious' Tom Brown.

[son of a dunghill and son of a shoemaker, pejorative : S.E., not coll.]

son of a gun. 'A soldier's bastard', Bee, 1823 ; but, as gen. pejorative (increasingly less offensive), it dates from early C. 18 : see gun, son of a. son of a sea-cook. See sea-cook.

son of a sow or sow-gelder. A pejorative for a man, a fellow : coll. verging on S.E. : C. 17–mid-19. Chapman has sow-gelder.

son of the white hen. A lucky person (properly male) : C. 17–18 : coll. Jonson, 1630 ; Poor Robin's Almanack, Feb., 1764. Ex Juvenal's gallinae filius albae. Apperson.

song about, nothing to make a. Very unimportant : coll. : mid-C. 19–20.

song do not agree, his morning and evening. He soon tells another story for one told even recently : late C. 18–19 : coll. >, ca. 1830, S.E. Grose, 2nd ed. An elaboration of change one's, or sing another, song.

sonkey. A lout : c. or perhaps only low (—1887). Baumann. Cf. sawney and sukey for both form and sense.

sonnie ; properly sonny. A coll. term of address to a boy or to a man younger than oneself, though not if the addressee is old or middle-aged : O.E.D. records at 1870, but prob. existing a decade earlier. In Australia, the -on- is occ. pronounced as in the preposition, as Morris remarked, citing A. B. Paterson's rhyme of sonny with Johnnie.

sonny. To catch sight of, to see, to notice : c. : 1845, in 'No. 747' ; app. † by 1900. Cf. granny, to understand.

sooner. See soor.—sook(e)y. See sukey, 4.

sool. To set (a dog) on : Australian coll. : from ca. 1890. Morris. Also sool on : C. 20. Prob. ex dial. sowl, to handle roughly, or sowl into, to attack fiercely (E.D.D.).—2. Hence (as of a dog a cat), to worry : id. : 1896, Mrs Parker, "'Sool 'em, sool 'em' . . . the signal for the dogs to come out.'

soon run dry. An occ. military c.p. (1915–18) on rum-jars, on which were stamped the initials S.R.D. (service rum diluted). B. & P. sooner. A shirker : naval (—1935). Ex sooner dog, one that would sooner feed than fight : from before 1914.

sooner, adv. Better, as in 'You had sooner go,' you had better go, you would do well to go : lower classes' coll. (—1923). Manchon. Ex S.E. sooner, 'more readily as a matter of choice' (O.E.D.). sooner dog. See sooner, n.

soonish. Rather soon ; quite soon ; a little too soon : 1890 (E.D.D.) : coll. and dial.

soop. An occ. variant (from ca. 1910 ; e.g. in John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934) of :

sooper. A variant (—1909) of super, n., 1–5. Ware.

soor ; occ. sooer. An abusive term : Anglo-Indian (—1864) and Regular Army's. Ex Hindustani for a pig. H., 3rd ed.

soor dook. See sour dook.

Soos. Shares in the Minneapolis, St Paul, & Sault Ste Marie Railroad : Stock Exchange coll. (—1895), Sault being pronounced soo. A. J. Wilson's glossary.

soot. A foolish variant spelling of suit : mid-C. 19–20.

soot-bag. A reticule : c. (—1839) >, by late 1850's, low s. Brandon ; H., 1st ed.

so'p. Esp. in so'p me bob !, a variant of s'elp . . . , q.v. : Cockney : 1898, W. Pett Ridge.

sop. A simpleton ; a milk-sop : from ca. 1620 : S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. ; ob. H., 1st ed.

soph, Soph. A sophister : coll. : mid-C. 17–20 : mainly Cambridge ; ob. at Oxford by 1720, † by 1750. O.E.D. records at 1661 ; D'Urfey, 1719, 'I am a jolly soph.' Partly ex sophomore, which since C. 18 is solely U.S. Cf. Harry Soph.

sopped through. Sopping-wet : lower classes' coll. (—1887). Baumann.

soppy. Foolishly sentimental, 'soft' . coll. : 1919. Manchon. (Cf. wet.) Lit., wet with sentiment.—2. Hence, be soppy on, to be foolishly fond of (a person) : coll. : from ca. 1924.

soppy boat. Gen. pl. 'Nickname for Folkestone fishing craft' : nautical : mid-C. 19–early 20. Bowen. Ex their wetness.

Sopwith pup. A Sopwith aeroplane : Air Force : 1914–18. B. & P.

sore. Incorrect for sire, an † variant of sir, n. O.E.D.

sore, get. 'To become aggrieved,' C. J. Dennis : coll. (esp. Australian and U.S.) : late C. 19–20.

sore finger, dressed up like a. Too elaborately dressed : Australian : from ca. 1912.

sore fist. A bad workman : tailors' : from ca. 1870 ; ob. ? ex write a poor hand, to sew badly, likewise tailloresse.

sore-head. A curmudgeon : Australian : late C. 19–20. C. J. Dennis.

sore leg. A German sausage : military : ca. 1880–1915.—2. A plum pudding : low London : from ca. 1880 ; ob. Prob. ex spotted dog.

sorra. Dial. and, to some extent, coll. form of sorrow : C. 19–20.

sorrow ! Sorry ! : late C. 19–20 : orig. and mainly jocular, and mostly Society. E.g., F. Morton Howard in The Humorist, Feb. 3, 1934, 'Oh, sorrow, uncle ! Sorrow—sorrow !' Ex sorrow as an imprecation (cf. sorrow on . . . /). The O.E.D.'s C. 15 instance of sorrow = sorry is inoperative ; this use was prob. rare.

sorrowful tale. Three months in gaol : rhyming s. (—1859) ; ob. H., 1st ed.

sorry. 'Mate, pal, chum. Usually in vocative and chiefly among Yorkshire and Lancashire troops' : military in G.W. and after (as, doubtless, before). From dial. ; perhaps ultimately ex sirrah. B. & P.

sorry ! I am sorry ! : C. 19–20 : coll. >, by 1850, S.E.

sort, a bad or a good. A bad, a good, fellow or girl, woman : coll. : from ca. 1880. In C. 20, bad sort is rare except as not a bad sort. J. Sturgis, 1882, 'They cursed and said that Dick was a good sort', O.E.D. Cf. Fr. espèce (de).

sort !, that's your. A term of approbation, gen. of a specific action, method, occ. thing : 1792, Holcroft ; H., 3rd ed. Ob. by 1910, virtually † by 1935. By ellipsis.

sort of ; a sort of. In a way ; to some extent ; somehow ; one might say : dial (—1790) >, ca 1830, coll.: a sort of, ob. by 1890, † by 1930; sort of, app. not before ca. 1830. Thackeray, 1859, "You were hurt by the betting just now?" "Well", replied the lad, "I am sort of hurt". Orig. and mainly U.S. is sorter (1846), orig. a sorter (as in Marryat's American Diary, 1839); cf. Thornton, passim. See also kind of, kinder.—2. Hence, merely modificatory, deprecatory, or tautological: C. 20. E.g. Denis Mackail, Summer Leaves, 1934, 'Wissingfield's our sort of village', i.e. (simply) our village.

sort of, these. E.g. 'These sort of cases' for 'this sort of case', i.e. 'such cases': mid-C. 16–20: S.E. >, by 1887, somewhat catachrestic >, by 1920, coll. Baumann. In 'These sort of things are done by conjurers' (well-known novelist) there is a confusion between 'This sort of thing is done . . .' and 'These sorts of things are done . . .'

sort-out. A fight, a mellay: workers' (— 1935). Ex what the combatants do after the fight.

sorter. See sort of. Occ. sorter kinder: C. 20.

sorts, all. Coll. >, in late C. 19, idiomatic S.E. is the phrase as used in two examples from the O.E.D.: 1794, Mrs Radcliffe, 'There they were, all drinking Tuscany wine and all sorts'; 1839, Hood, 'There's a shop of all sorts, that sells everything.'

sorts, of. Inferior; unsatisfactory: coll.: C. 20. E.g. 'He's certainly a writer—of sorts.' Ex the ob. of sorts, of various kinds.

sorts, out of. Dispirited; slightly unwell: from ca. 1620: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. In C. 19, it received an unconventional impetus from printers.

sorty. Similar: coll.: 1885; ob.—2. Mixed: coll.: 1889, 'A "sorty" team.' (Both O.E.D.)

so's. See so is.

so(-)ss(-)brangle. A slatternly wench: low coll. and dial.: late C. 17–19. Grose, 2nd ed.; E.D.D. Cf. so(-)ss, a slut (in mid-C. 19–20, dial.).

so(-)ssed, so(-)ssiled; so(-)ssled. See sozzled.

so(-)ssidge is frequent but unnecessary, for sausage should, in ordinary dialogue anyway, be pronounced precisely thus. Ware has so(-)ssidge-slump, decline in popularity of Germans consequent on the Kaiser's telegram to Kruger in 1896: political: 1896–7.

sot, v. Sat: sol., esp. among Cockneys: C. 19–20. Mayhew, 1861.

sot-weed. Tobacco: coll.: C. 18–early 19. T. Brown, 1702; Grose.

sou or souse, not a. Not a penny; penniless: coll.: not a sou from ca. 1820 (Byron); not a souse, ca. 1675–1820, as in D'Urfey, 1676. Ex the French coin, orig. of considerably higher value than 5 centimes. In C. 19 and occ. (though ob.) in C. 20, not a sous: see sous.

sou oneself. To wound oneself deliberately: military: 1917–18. Ex s.i.w. (self-inflicted wound) pronounced as one word.

souji-mouji. 'Any cleansing composition' (Merchant Service coll., C. 20); even canvas and sand used for cleansing (naval coll., C. 20). Properly 'one special preparation'—a trade name. Bowen.—2. Hence, fig., from ca. 1905, as in "There are no sailors to-day", says [Conrad], "only Suji-Muji men" . . . Mere washers of paint. Deckhands on modern ships wash and chip paint, morning, noon and night," James Hanley in The Spectator, Jan. 26, 1934.

soul, be a. To be a drunkard, esp. on brandy: coll. or s.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E., 'He is a Soul, or loves Brandy' Ex soul, a person, + Fr. soûl, tipsy (as in Mathurin Régnier, d. 1613). Cf. soul in soak, q.v.

soul !, bless my; 'pon my, etc. A mild asseveration: coll. and dial.: the former, C. 19–20; the latter, C. 15–20, but S.E. till C. 19.

soul, have no. To lack sensibility or decency or emotional force: coll.: 1704, Swift (O.E.D. Sup.).

soul above, have a. To care not about, be indifferent or indifferently superior to (something): coll.: 1899, G. B. Burgin (O.E.D. Sup.).

soul-and-body lashing. 'Under sail, a piece of spun yarn tied round the waist and between the legs to prevent a man's oilskins blowing over his head when aloft': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Because a matter of life and death.

soul-case. The body: late C. 18–20; ob. by 1900. Grose, 3rd ed.

soul-doctor, -driver. A clergyman: resp. late C. 18–mid-19, late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. (both). On soul-chaplain or -priest. (In U.S., ca. 1818–49, an Abolitionists' name for an overseer of slaves. Thornton.)

soul-faker. A member of the Salvation Army: lower classes: 1883–ca. 85. Ware, 'Before their value was recognised.'

soul in soak. Drunk: nautical: ca. 1820–1910. Egan's Grose. Lit., soaking drunk: see soul, be a, and soak.

soul-smiter. A sensational novel (of the sentimental sort): book-world coll. (— 1923); ob. Manchon. The 1930's prefer to speak of 'a sloppy thriller'.

souldier's mawnd. B.E.'s spelling of soldier's mawnd, q.v.

sound. Gen. sound a cly, to 'try' a pocket: c.: C. 19. Lex. Bal.—2. V.i., to knock or ring to see if the occupants of a house to be robbed are at home: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld. Cf. drum, v.

sound as a bell, roach, trout. Perfectly sound or healthy: coll. bordering on S.E.: resp. 1576 (1599, Shakespeare); 1655, T. Muffett, but in lato C. 19–20, † except in dial.; from late C. 13, also in Skelton, but in C. 19 mainly, and in C. 20 only, dial. (Dial., by the way, has also, from mid-C. 19, sound as an acorn.) Apperson.

sound egg. A very 'decent' fellow: C. 20. Denis Mackail, in The Strand Magazine, April, 1934, 'Another and infinitely superior sex still remained, full of stout fellows, sound eggs, and great guys.' sound on, be. To have orthodox or well-grounded views concerning: coll.: orig. (1856) U.S., anglicised ca. 1890.—2. Hence, to be both intelligent on and reliable in (a given subject): coll.: from ca. 1900. E.g. 'He's very sound on the little-known subject of psychopaedics.'

sounder. Catachrestic when, in C. 18, used of a wild boar's lair and when, in C. 19–20, applied to a boar one or two years old, or when, as by Grose in 1785, it is used, in the pl. form !, for a herd of any swine. Properly, sounder is a noun of assembly for a herd of wild swine.

soup. (Collective from 1856, simple from ca. 1890.) Briefs, a brief, for prosecutions given to junior members of the Bar (esp. at Quarter Sessions) by the Clerk of the Peace or Arraigns, to defend such poor prisoners as have no choice, at two guineas a time: legal s. >, ca. 1910, coll. The Law Times, 1856, 'But will soup so ladled out . . . support a barrister in the criminal courts ?'—2. Hence (both collective and simple), the fee paid for such briefs or such a brief: 1889, B. C. Robinson: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. O.E.D.—3. Bad ink: printers': from ca. 1870. Ex its thickness or intrusive clots.—4. A fog: coll.: C. 20; ob. except in pea-souper.—5. Melted plate: c.: late C. 19–20; ob. If of silver, also white soup.—6. Nitro-glycerin: c. (— 1905). Prob. orig. U.S. In New Zealand c. (— 1932), gelignite.—7. 'Any material injected into a horse with a view to changing its speed or temperament,' Webster, 1911: low s., orig. and mainly U.S. (—8. Rare, though prob. to be considered coll., is soup, a picnic at which 'a great pot of soup is the principal feature,' Century Dict.: from ca. 1890; ob.)—9. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 6.

soup, in the. In a difficulty; in trouble: coll.: orig. U.S. (1889), anglicised ca. 1895. The Pall Mall Gazette, Nov., 1898, 'Of course he knows we're in the soup—beastly ill luck,' O.E.D.

soup, white. See soup, 5.

soup-shop. A house (see fence, n.) for the disposal of stolen plate: c.: 1854 (O.E.D.). Punning the S.E. sense. F. & H., 'Melting-pots are kept going, no money passing from fence to thief until identification is impossible.'

souper. A 'super', i.e. a watch: c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. 'Ducange Anglicus'; H., 1st ed. See super, 6.—2. A cadger of soup-tickets: coll.: from ca. 1875. Ex souper, a Roman Catholic converted to Protestantism by free soup or other charity.—3. See pea-souper.

soupy. Vomitingly drunk: low (— 1909). Ware.

sour. Base silver money, gen. made of pewter: c. 1883, J. Greenwood. Cf.:

sour, plant the. To utter base silver coin: c.: from ca. 1833. See sour.

sour ale (dial. only, milk) in summer, mend like. To get worse: (dial. and) coll.: late C. 17–early 19; extant in dial. E.D.D.

sour apple-tree, be tied to the. To be married to a bad-tempered husband: semi-proverbial coll.: late C. 17–18. Ray; Bailey. (Apperson.) Via crab-apple.

sour cudgel, a. A severe beating: coll.: C. 17. Withals, 1608.

sour-dook; Scottish soor dook. Buttermilk: c. (— 1932). T. B. G. Mackenzie in The Fortnightly Review, March, 1932. Adopted from Scots.

sour on. To form a distaste or dislike to: U.S. (1862), anglicised as a coll. ca. 1895. The Daily News, Nov. 13, 1900, 'Dan soured on Castlereagh boys . . . forthwith,' O.E.D. Ex be sour towards.

sour-planter. An utterer of base silver coin: c.: from ca. 1885. Ex sour, plant the. Cf. shover, q.v., and see snide, n. and adj.

sours, swallow the. To conceal counterfeit money: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

sous. As a sou in not a sous, it is a C. 19–20 coll. that, though ob. by 1880, is not quite † by 1937. W. quotes Barham, 'Not a sous had he got, not a guinea or note' and The Daily Chronicle, May 15, 1918, 'He had not given a sous since the war began.'

souse. A getting drunk: from late 1920's. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex:

souse. To drink to intoxication: from ca. 1920. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex souse, to drench.

souse, not a. See sou, not a, and cf. sous.

souse, sell. To be sullen, surly; to frown: C. 17 coll. Cotgrave.

souse-crown. A fool: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Ex souse, a thump soused. Tipsy: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex soused, soaked in liquor. Cf. sozzled.

soush. A house: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Additional s, euphonic.

south, put down. Lit., to put into one's pocket; hence, to put away safely, to bank, not to spend: late C. 19–20. Cf. trouser, q.v., and:

south, dip. To put one's hand in one's pocket for money, esp. if it is running low: New Zealanders': C. 20.

[South-Easter. Itself S.E., it has three coll. synonyms: see table-cloth.]

south jeopardy. The terrors of insolvency: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. Egan's Grose, 1823. Ex jeopardy, danger, + some topical allusion.

south-paw; occ. southpaw. A left-handed boxer: pugilistic: U.S., anglicised in: 1934, The Daily Telegraph, Sept. 21, concerning Freddie Miller, 'He is, in boxing parlance, a "southpaw".' Ex U.S. baseball s. (— 1918).

south sea or S—S—. Any strong distilled liquor: c. of ca. 1720–50. A New Canting Dict. (1725), where also south-sea mountain, gin: c. of ca. 1721–1830 (also Grose, 1st ed., where confusingly printed as 'SOUTH SEA, mountain, gin'). Prob. ex the South Sea Bubble (1720).

South Spanier. 'A North Country ship in the Spanish trade'; nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

southerly buster. See buster, 6.—southpaw. See south-paw.

Souths. Shares in the London & South-Western Railway: Stock Exchange coll. (— 1895); † by 1930. (A. J. Wilson's glossary.)

souvenir. (Gen. pl.) A shell: military: 1915; ob. (G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.)

souvenir, v. To take illicitly: military: 1915; ob. B. & P. Ex s., to pick up as a souvenir. (Cf. the jocular S.E. senses in the O.E.D. Sup.)

sov. A sovereign: coll.: 1850, The New Monthly Magazine, 'As to the purse, there weren't above three or four sovs in it.' Also half-sov. (O.E.D.)

sovereign, for a. Assuredly; 'I'd bet on it': coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

sovereign's not in it, a. A nautical c.p. (— 1909) applied to a person with jaundice. Ex the sufferer's dark yellow. Ware.

Sovereign's parade, the. 'The quarterdeck [officers'] of a man-of-war in' C. 18–early 19: naval. Bowen.

sow, as drunk as a. A C. 19–20 (ob.) variant of David's sow . . . , q.v.

sow-belly. Salt pork: naval and military: from ca. 1870; ob. In Canada, any pork.

sow by the ear, get the right, wrong. See ear, get the . . .

sow in or on the arse, grease a fat. See grease a fat . . .

sow potatoes (or scarlet-runners, etc.) on his neck, you could or might. A lower classes' c.p. (— 1887; ob.) applied to a man with a dirty neck. Baumann.

sowar. An Indian cavalryman: Regular Army coll.: late C. 19–20. B. & P. By the extension of a Hindustani word. Opp. Sepoy, q.v.

sowcar. A Regular Army term of abuse: late C. 19–20. Ex Hindustani for a miser.

sowr. To beat severely: c.: ca. 1720–50. A New Canting Dict., 1725. ? = sour.

sow's baby. A sucking pig: late C. 17–20. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. Sixpence: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Because smaller than a hog (a shilling).

sow's ear, come sailing in a. A coll. of ca. 1670–1770 (Ray, Fuller). Apperson does not explain the phrase; ? = to prosper.

sozzled; occ. (rare after ca. 1920) sossled; rarely sosseled (virtually † in C. 20). Tipsy: late C. 19–20. 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'She was thick in the clear, | Fairly sosseled on beer'; Norah James in Sleeveless Errand, 1929 (sozzled). Prob. ex dial. sozzle, to mix in a sloppy manner (O.E.D., E.D.D.): cf. dial. sozzly, sloppy, wet, and, more significantly, U.S. sozzle, to render moist (Thornton).

spaces, the wide open; occ. the vast open spaces, This once serious phrase has, since ca. 1925, >, for the irreverent, something of a derisory c.p. (Cf. Collinson, p. 89.)

spad. A type of single-seater biplane: Air Force coll.: 1916–18. F. & Gibbons. Ex the initials of the Société pour Aviation et ses Dérivés.

spade. A Negro: low: from ca. 1920. Ex the colour of the card-suit.

spadge. To walk: Christ's Hospital: ca. 1820–80. ? origin. Whence spadge, an affected or mincing manner of walking: ibid.: from ca. 1880.

spadger. A sparrow: dial. (recorded, 1862, as spadger-pie) >, ca. 1880, coll. (orig. provincial). Occ. adj. By dial. corruption rather than fanciful change.

spalme. An † incorrect form of psalm, as spalter of psalter. O.E.D.

spalpeen. A low fellow; a mean one; a scamp or rascal: Anglo-Irish coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: 1815, Maria Edgeworth, 'The spalpeen! turned into a buckeen, that would be a squireen,—but can't,' neatly illustrative of the Celtic diminutive suffix -een (properly, in); the radical is of uncertain meaning. The imm. source is S.E. spalpeen, a casual farm labourer.—2. Hence, a youngster, esp. a boy: coll.: 1891. Bram Stoker (O.E.D.); by 1920, virtually S.E. spandau or S—. Generic for the latrines at Ruhleben internment camp, 1914–18. Ex the 'mushroom' munition-town of Spandau.

spang. Entirely; exactly; fair (e.g. in the centre); straight and with impetus: coll.: C. 20, mostly Colonial. Ex U.S. right spang (1843), wholly, exactly, fair (e.g. in the centre), ex spang, irresistibly or with an impetus, a spring, a smack, itself ex Scottish and Northern spang, to leap, bound. (Thornton; E.D.D.)

spange, adj. and, occ., adv. New; dressy, smart: R.M.A., Woolwich: from ca. 1880. 'A spange uniform,' a new one; 'You look spange enough.' F. & H. Perhaps ex Northern dial. spanged, variegated.

spangle. A seven-shilling piece: c. (— 1811); † by 1903. Lex. Bal.; Egan's Grose. Ex its brightness.—2. A sovereign: theatrical: ca. 1860–1905. Ware.

spangle-guts, -shaker. A harlequin: theatrical: from ca. 1870. Ex spangled costume.

Spaniard. Gen. pl. 'Brighton fishing boats, from a colony of Spanish fishermen in that town' (Bowen): nautical: C. 19.

Spanish (or s.); gen. the S. Money; esp. ready money, and again esp., in coin: from ca. 1786; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.; Barham, 1837, 'Bar its synonyms Spanish, blunt, stumpy and rowdy.' Elliptical for Spanish coin or gold.

Spanish, adj. As a pejorative, common in coll. and s. ca. 1570–1750 and by no means rare until well on into C. 19. Ex commercial and naval rivalry (cf. Dutch, q.v.). See ensuing terms and, esp., 'Offensive Nationality' in my Words!

Spanish, walk. See chalks, walk one's.

Spanish coin. 'Fair words, and compliments,' Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1850. Ultimately ex Spanish courtesy derided; imm. ex Spanish money.

Spanish fag(g)ot. The sun: 1785, Grose; † by 1850. Ex heretic-burnings.

Spanish gout, needle, poz. Syphilis: coll.: resp. late C. 17–early 19 (B.E.; Grose, 3rd ed.); early C. 19; C. 17–early 19. French, Italian, similarly used.

Spanish mare, ride the. To sit astride a beam, guys loosed, sea rough, as a punishment: nautical: ca. 1840–80. F. & H.

Spanish money. 'Fair Words and Compliments,' B.E.: coll.: late C. 17–18. Cf. S. coin.

Spanish padlock. 'A kind of girdle contrived by jealous husbands of that nation, to secure the chastity of their wives,' Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1786–1850.

Spanish pike. A needle: coll.: 1624, Ford, 'A French Gentleman that trayls a Spanish pike, a Tailor'; † by 1700.

Spanish plague. Building: dial. and coll.: late C. 17–mid-18. Ray.

Spanish poz. See Spanish gout.

Spanish trumpeter; also King of Spain's trumpeter. An ass braying: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. The clue is Don Key.

Spanish worm. A nail met in a board while sawing: carpenters' coll. (— 1785); † by 1860. Grose, 1st ed. Ex shape.

spank. A resounding blow, esp. with the open hand: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed.; in cricket, 1873 (Lewis). Ex spank, v., 1.—2. Hence, the sound so caused: coll. and dial.: 1833, H. Scott (O.E.D.).—3. A robbery effected by breaking a window-pane: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux. See spank, v., 4.—4. See spanks.

spank v. To smack, slap, with the open hand: coll. (— 1727, N. Bailey) and dial. Echoic (cf. spang).—2. Hence, to crack (a whip): coll. (rare and ob.): 1834, M. Scott (O.E.D.).—3. To bring down, insert, slappingly: coll. and dial., mainly the latter: 1880, Tennyson, 'An 'e spansks 'is 'and into mine.'—4. To rob (a place) by breaking a window-pane (spanking a glaze is the c. term): c. (— 1812). Vaux. Cf. spank, n., 3.—5. V.i., to fall, drop, with a smack: coll.: 1800, Hurdis, 'The sullen shower . . . on the . . . pavement spansks,' O.E.D.; slightly ob.—6. V.i., of a boat pounding the water as it sails along: coll. (— 1891).—[The next group derives ultimately ex spank, to slap, to make a spanking sound, etc., influenced by dial. spang (see spang above).]—7. To move quickly and briskly; to ride, drive, smartly or stylishly at a smart trot or a graceful canter: dial. (— 1807) >, by 1811, coll. Lex. Bal.; Thackeray, 1860, 'A gentleman in a natty gig, with a high-trotting horse, came spanking towards us.' Frequently with along (first, 1825, in dial.); and esp. of a ship bowling along.—8. Hence, v.t., to drive (horses) with stylish speed: coll.: 1825, Westmacott (O.E.D.); 1840, Thackeray, 'How knowingly did he spank the horses along.' Slightly ob.

spank, adv. With a smack: coll.: 1810 (O.E.D.); rare, ob. Ex spank, v., 5.

spark, upon the. By employing spark (n., 3): c.: C. 19. Vaux.

spark a (or the) glaze. See glaze, spark a, and cf. spark, v., 4.

spanker. A gold coin; gen. in pl. as = ready money, coin: prob. c. (1663, Cowley) >, ca. 1730, s.; † by 1830. Grose, 1st ed. Prob. ex † dial. spark, to sparkle. Cf. sparks, q.v.—2. Any thing or person unusually fine, large, or excellent: coll. and dial.: 1751, Smollett (concerning 'a buxom wench'), 'Sblood, . . . to turn me adrift in the dark with such a spanker.' Ex spanking, adj., 1, q.v.—3. Hence, a resounding blow or slap: coll.: 1772, Bridges; Meredith, 1894, 'A spanker on the nob,' O.E.D.; in cricket, 1877 (Lewis).—4. A horse that travels with stylish speed: coll. and dial.: 1814, Scott (E.D.D.). Ex spark, to trot (etc.) smartly.

spanking. A (good) beating, esp. with the open hand: coll. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20. H., 1st ed. Ex spark, v., 1.

spanking, ppl.adj. Very large, fine, smart, showy; excellent: coll. and dial.: from early Restoration days. Fanshawe, ca. 1666; Bridges, 1772, 'A table . . . a spanking dish.' Esp. of girls (—1707): cf. spanker, 2, q.v.—2. Hence, though influenced by the v. of motion, (of a horse) rapidly and smartly moving: coll. and dial.: 1738 (O.E.D.).—3. Hence, (of persons) dashing: coll.: C. 19–20; ob.—4. (Of a breeze) brisk: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.—5. (Of pace) rapid; esp. smartly and vigorously rapid: coll.: 1857, T. Hughes, 'The wheelers in a spanking trot, and leaders cantering,' O.E.D.

spanking, adv. Very: coll. (—1887). Baumann, 'A spanking fine dinner.' Ex dial.

spankingly. Rapidly; esp. with smart rapidity: coll.: C. 19–20.

spanks. Coin (gold or silver): c.: ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Ex spanker, 1.

spanky. Smart; showily smart: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. Ex spanking, adj., 1.

spar. A dispute: coll.: 1836 (O.E.D.). Ex spar, a boxing-match.

sparagrass. See sparrow(-)grass.

Sparagras, the. That express freight train which 'takes Asparagus during the Season from Worcester to Crewe': railwaymen's: from ca. 1905. The Daily Telegraph, Aug. 15, 1936. Cf. the Spud.

spare, adj. Idle; loafing; low: from ca. 1919. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Ex:

spare, look. 'To be idle: not engaged on any particular job': military coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Cf. dial. spare, dilatory.

spare general. An overbearing or conceited superior below the rank of general: sarcastic military coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Cf. spare parts, q.v.

spare me days! 'A pious ejaculation,' C. J. Dennis: Australian coll.: C. 20.

spare parts. A person either incompetent or unsuitable: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. I.e. not actually in use.

spark. See spark, bright.—2. A diamond: c. (—1874). H., 5th ed. Cf. spark-prop. Ex S.E. spark, a small diamond, orig. diamond spark.—3. Hence, in pl., other precious stones: c.: C. 20. Manchon, 1923; Charles E. Leach, 1933.

spark, v. To watch closely: Australian c. (—1901).

spark, bright. Ironie for a dull fellow: coll.

verging on S.E.: late C. 19–20. Cf. S.E. gallant spark; ex spark, a beau, via gay spark.

spark, have a. To be a youth, or man, of spirit: Conway cadets': from before 1890. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933. Ex the cliché, have no spark of courage.

spark in one's throat, have a. To have a constant thirst: 1785, Grose; but adumbrated in Scots ca. 1720. Ex the proverbial the smith had always a spark in his throat (Ray, 1678); cf. Spurgeon, 1880, 'He is not a blacksmith but he has a spark in his throat.'

spark out; gen. pass spark out. Utterly; to become unconscious through liquor, to faint, to die: pugilistic: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Ex dial. spark out, utterly extinguished (E.D.D.).

spark prop. A diamond breast-pin: c.: from the middle or late 1870's. Ex spark n., 2.

sparkle. A diamond: low (—1923). Manchon. Prob. ex a confusion of spark, n., 2, and sparkler, 2: for there is no connexion with the S.E. sparkle (a diamond) of late C. 15–early 18 (O.E.D.).—2. Hence (?), generic for jewellery: c. (—1935). David Hume.

sparkler. A bright eye (gen. in pl.): mid-C. 18–20: S.E. until 1850, then coll.; in C. 20, s.—2. A sparkling gem; esp. a diamond: from ca. 1820: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, virtually s.

sparks. (Nickname.) A wireless operator: from ca. 1916. F. & Gibbons. Ex electrical sparks.—2. The torpedo officer: naval: from ca. 1915. Bowen.—3. The X-ray department: medical students' (—1933). Slang, p. 193.

sparks, get the. To set the aim of a machine-gun on an enemy trench after dark 'by firing into the wire-entanglement and noting where the sparks fly off as the bullets cut the wire': machine-gunners' coll.: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

sparm-fish. A sperm-whale: nautical coll. (—1887). Baumann.

sparrer. A boxer: coll.: 1814, 'Rival sparrers,' O.E.D.—2. Hence, from ca. 1860, a sparring partner: coll. This is virtually the sense in Thackeray and Shaw (O.E.D.).—3. A sol. form, C. 19–20, of sparrow.—4. (Properly sparrow.) A find in a dust-bin, e.g. silver spoon or thimble: dustmen's (—1895). Ware. Cf.:

sparrow. Gen. in pl.: beer, or beer-money, given to dustmen: 1879 (O.E.D.). Perhaps ex the colour of these birds and these men.—2. A milkman's secret customer (gen. in pl.): milkmen's (—1901). O.E.D. Why? —3. (Sparrow.) The ship Spero: nautical sol. or perhaps rather nickname: C. 19. Ware.—3. See sparrer, 4.

sparrow-catching, n. Walking the streets in search of men: low: from ca. 1880.

sparrow-fart, at. At daybreak: dial. >, ca. 1910, coll.; popularised by G.W.

sparrow(-)grass; sparagrass. Asparagus: mid-C. 17–20: S.E. until early C. 19, then dial. and coll.; by 1870, low coll. or, rather, sol. 'Cuthbert Bede', in 1865, 'I have heard the word sparrow-grass from the lips of a real Lady—but then she was in her seventies,' O.E.D. sparrow-mouthed. (Of a person) having a large mouth: lower-class coll. (—1923). Manchon.

sparrow-starver. A collector of dung from off the streets: lower classes' (—1923). Ibid.

spasm. The verse of a song, stanza of a poem: jocular coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex stanza + the agony caused by much amateur singing.

spassiba! Thanks!: military coll. in North Russia in 1918-19. F. & Gibbons. Direct ex Russian.

spat, a quarrel, a smart blow, a smacking sound,—all C. 19-20,—is, when not U.S., rather dial. than coll.—2. See spats.

spat, v. To cane: Public Schools': from ca. 1910. Francis Beeding, Take it Crooked, 1932. Ex the preceding, sense 1.

spatch(-)cock. A fowl killed, dressed and either grilled or broiled at short notice: orig. (— 1785) Anglo-Irish, but from ca. 1850 mainly Anglo-Indian: coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. Grose, 1st ed.; R. F. Burton, Goa, 1851 (O.E.D.). Either abbr. dispatch-cock, or corrupted spitchcock (? spit-cock): W.

spatch(-)cock, v. To insert, interpolate: orig. military coll. >, almost imm., gen. S.E.: 1901, General Redvers Buller, The Times, Oct. 11, 'I therefore spatchcocked into the middle of that telegram a sentence in which I suggested it would be necessary to surrender.' Ex the n.—2. Hence, to modify by interpolation: military coll. >, by 1902, gen. S.E.: 1901, Oct. 24; 1901, Nov. 16, The Speaker, 'Generals spatchcock telegrams and receive dismissal,' O.E.D.

spats. Those stream-lined covers over landing-wheels which are in aircraft designed to reduce air-resistance: aviators': from 1934. The Daily Telegraph, Feb. 9, 1935.

speak, v. See speak at the mouth, to, with.—2. To pay court: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware.

speak, make a (gen. good or rum). To make a (gen. good) haul, get a (good) 'swag': c. (— 1811); † by 1860. Lex. Bal. Ex speak to, q.v.

speak, that would make a cat. See cat speak.

speak at the mouth. To say one's say: ca. 1870-1910. Ex North Country dial.

speak brown to-morrow. To get sun-burnt: Cockney: 1877-ca 1900. Ware. Cf. taste the sun.

speak-easy. A shop or café where liquor is illicitly sold: U.S. (late 1880's), anglicised by 1925. (O.E.D. Sup.). One speaks softly in ordering it. Cf. speak-softly shop.

speak French. See French, speak.

speak like a mouse in a cheese. See mouse in a cheese.

speak to. To rob (person, place); to steal: c.: 1799 (O.E.D.); 1812, Vaux; † by 1860. A variant of speak with, q.v.—2. See spoke, or spoken, to.

speak to, not to. Not to see or know at close quarters: jocular coll.: from ca. 1925. Richard Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934, of a motor-car, 'I've never seen one like this before—not to speak to.'

speak with. C. of ca. 1720-1810, as in A New Canting Dict., 1725, 'I will never speak with any thing but Wedge or Cloy, I'll never steal, or'—the basic sense—'have to do with'—a nuance † by 1785—'any thing but Plate, or Money'; Grose, 1st ed. (to rob, steal). Cf. speak to, 1.

speak-softly shop. A smuggler's house: c. or low (— 1823); † by 1890. Bee.

speakie. A 'talkie': coll.: 1928-9. O.E.D. (Sup.). (In the senso of a stagio-play, the word did not catch on at all.) speaks the parrot! See parrot, speaks the.

speaky. Booty; capture of booty: c. (— 1887). Baumann. Ex speak, make a, q.v.

Spearmen, the Delhi. The 9th Lancers: military: from middle 1850's (ob.). Coll. verging on journalistic S.E. Ex Indian Mutiny.

spec. A commercial venture: orig. (1794), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1820 as s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Bee, 1823. Abbr. speculation. Cf. spec, on, q.v.—2. Hence, 'a lottery, conducted on principles more or less honest, the prize to be awarded according to the performance of certain horses,' J. Greenwood, 1869: racing (mostly London): ca. 1850-65.—3. A good or enjoyable thing or a pleasant occasion: Winchester s. (— 1891). Perhaps rather from special or from speculation influenced by special. Cf. spec, on, 2.—4. Spec, the. The Speculative Society: Edinburgh advocates' coll.: late C. 19-20.—5. See specs.

spec, on. On chance; as, or at, a risk; esp. on the chance of getting something or of making a profit: 1832, Marryat (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1890, coll. See spec, 1.—2. At Winchester, on a pleasant occasion or outing: from before 1891. Wrench.

speci. Abbr. specimen: s. (— 1923) rather than coll., for it is infelicitous. Manchon.

special, adv. In a special way; especially, particularly: C. 14-20: S.E. until early C. 19, then coll. (in C. 20, almost sol.). Helps, 1851, 'A case came on rather unexpectedly . . . and I was sent for "special" as we say.' O.E.D.

specimen. A person: from middle 1850's: derogatory, coll. if with bright, poor, etc., s. if alone. Thoreau, 1854, 'There were some curious specimens among my visitors,' O.E.D. Ex such phrases as specimens of the new spirit abroad, via such as strange specimen of the human race (Dickens, 1837). Cf. spess, q.v.

speck, v. To exult; to show oneself confident of a victory: at certain Public Schools, esp. at Shrewsbury: late C. 19-20. Desmond Coke, The House Prefect, 1908, 'Look at the joy of the beastly County [players]! "They're specking horribly," the watchers say.' Ex expect.

Speck, the. Tasmania: Australian Continentals': C. 20. Because Tasmania is so small compared with Australia.

specked wiper. A coloured handkerchief: o.: ca. 1690-1890. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

speckle-belly (or S.). A Nonconformist, a Dissenter: provincial s. (— 1874); slightly ob. H., 5th ed., 'A term used in Worcester and the North, though the etymology seems unknown in either place.' Perhaps ex the tendency of the lower middle class to wear coloured waistcoats: cf. specked wiper, q.v.

speckled. Of a mixed nature, appearance, character, merit; motley: coll.: 1845, S. Judd, 'It was a singularly . . . speckled group' (of persons). O.E.D.

speckled potato. A spectator: C. 20. A jocular perversion of spectator. Ob.

speckled wipe. Variant, early C. 19, of specked wiper. Egan's Grose.

specks. (App. never in singular.) Damaged oranges: costers' coll.: 1851, Mayhew; H., 1st ed. Ex the markings caused by mildew, etc.—2. See specs.

speckt. Erroneous for specht, speight (green woodpecker): C. 16-17. O.E.D.—2. See specked wiper.

specs; also specks. Spectacles for the sight: dial. (orig. and mainly specks; 1807, Hogg) >, ca. 1830, coll. (mainly specs). Barham, 1837, 'He wore green specs with a tortoise-shell rim'; R. D. Blackmore, 1882, 'Must have my thick specs,' O.E.D.—2. Since 1900 (when used by P. F.

Warner), and also as pair of specs, an occ. abbr. of spectacles. Lewis.

spect. To expect: sol. (— 1887). Baumann.

spectable. Respectable: id. Ibid.

spectacles. (Cf. specs, 2, q.v.) Two scores of 0 by a batsman in the one match: cricket coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.: 1865, Wanostrocht, 'The ominous "spectacles" have been worn by the best sighted men'; 1885, P. M. Thornton; 1898, Giffen; W. J. Lewis, 1934. Abbr. pair of spectacles, same meaning: 1862. Lewis records the rare v., be spectacted, as early as 1854. Ex '0—0' in statistics.

spectacles-seat. The nose: 1895, Meredith, in The Amazing Marriage (O.E.D.); ob.

speech. 'A tip or wrinkle on any subject. On the turf a man will wait . . . until he "gets the speech", as to whether [a horse] . . . has a good chance. To "give the speech" is to communicate any special information of a private nature,' H., 5th ed.: mainly racing: from ca. 1872. Since ca. 1920, largely superseded by dope, q.v.

Speecher (or s.). The speech-room: Harrow: from ca. 1890. Influence of 'Oxford-er'.—2. Hence, speech-day: ibid. (— 1903). F. & H.; Vachell, 1905.

speechless. Extremely drunk: coll.: 1881, Besant & Rice (O.E.D.).

speed-cop. A policeman observing the speed of motorists: coll., orig. (ca. 1924) U.S., anglicised by 1929. (O.E.D. Sup.)

speed-merchant. One who cycles or, esp., motors at high speed: U.S.; anglicised ca. 1920. Cf. road-hog, q.v. (The forms speed-bug and speed-hog are hardly eligible, for they have not 'caught on'.)—2. Whence, from ca. 1926, a very fast bowler: cricketers'. In this compound, merchant = chap, fellow.

speedo. A speedometer: motorists': from ca. 1920. (The Passing Show, July 21, 1934.)

speedy. Living a loose life; apt to be amorous: jocular coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Punning fast.

speel. To decamp: Northern c. (— 1839); ob. by 1910, virtually † by 1930. Brandon; H., 1st ed. Ex speel (Scottish and Northern dial.), v.i., to clamber, (of the sun) to mount. Cf. speel the drum, q.v.—2. See spiel.

speel-ken. See spell-ken.

speel the drum. To make off for, or to, the highway, esp. with stolen property: c. (— 1859); very ob. H., 1st ed. Ex speel, 1.

speeler. See spieler.—spefficate. See spificate—speiler. See spieler.

spæg, adj. Smart: Winchester; † by 1903. F. & H. Perhaps ex spick and span.

spell. An incorrect spelling: coll.: C. 18–20.—2. Hence, a mode of spelling a word: coll.: C. 19–20. The Monthly Magazine, 1801, 'Why should this spell (as school children say . . .) be authorised?' O.E.D.—3. A playhouse, a theatre: c. (— 1812); ob. Also as adj. Both in Vaux, 1812. Abbr. spell-ken, q.v.

spell. To advertise; put in print: c. (— 1864) H., 3rd ed. Esp. spell in the lear, advertised-for in the newspaper, hence 'wanted'. Ob.—2. To be spelt: coll., esp. children's (— 1877). Baumann, 'How does it spell?'

spell-binder; spellbinder. A 'spiller of rhetorical dope' (Allan M. Laing): journalistic coll. (from ca. 1920) verging on rank j.

spell-ken or spellken; occ. speel-ken (— 1860). A theatre: c. of ca. 1800–90. Jackson, ca. 1800, as quoted by Byron in Don Juan, note to XI, 19; Vaux. Ex Dutch spel (Ger. spiel), play; of. spieler, q.v., and † S.E. spill-house, a gaming house.

spell-oh; occ. spell-ho or (in C. 20) spell-o. A rest: Conway training-seap, and Australian, coll.: late C. 19–20. Henry Lawson, 1900, 'Bill . . . was having a spell-oh under the cask when the white rooster crowed,' O.E.D. Ex spell-oh, a call to cease work or to rest.—2. Allotted work: on the Conway: from before 1891. (John Masfield, The Conway. 1933.)

spelt in the lear. See spell, v.

spencer. A small glass of gin: low London: 1804 (O.E.D.); † by 1880.

spend, (up)on the. Spending: late C. 17–20: S.E. until late C. 19 then coll. (rarely upon). The Saturday Review. Dec. 17, 1904, 'The Government is "on the spend",' O.E.D. spending departments, the. War Office and Admiralty: Parliamentary jocular coll. (— 1887); † by 1920. Baumann.

spendulicon(s) is a low perversion (— 1923) of spondulicks, q.v. Manchon.

spirrib. A wife: London lower-middle classes' (— 1909); slightly ob. Ware. Corruption of spare rib.

speshul if pronounced with accent on first syllable is unnecessary, for that is precisely how special is pronounced; if, however, with accent on the second, it is sol.—2. As n., it meant, in 1884–5—the time of the Soudan War—a lie. Ex the news-vendors' cry. (Ware.) Cf. British official, q.v.

spess. A specimen: Felsted School: 1899, The Felstedian, July, 'Others . . . calling out . . . "frightful spesses", which word is specimens.' Cf. speci, q.v.

spew-alley. The female pudend: low: C. 19.—2. The throat: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Cf. gutter lane and red lane.

spew her caulking or spew (the) oakum. 'A ship spews oakum when the seams start,' F. & H.: nautical coll. (from ca. 1860) >, ca. 1890, j. Young's Nautical Dict., 1863.

spice. C. of ca. 1800–50, thus: a spice, a footpad; the spice, footpad robbery. Vaux. ? ex spice of adventure or danger. See spice, high toby.

spice, v.t. To rob: c. (— 1811); † by 1850. Lex. Bal. Cf. the n.—2. Gen. in full, spice the soot, to mix ashes and earth in with soot: chimney-sweepers' s.: 1798, O.E.D.; ob.

spice, high toby. Highway robbery: c.: late C. 18–mid-19. Jackson, ca. 1800, as quoted by Byron in his notes to Don Juan, xi, 'On the high toby spice flash the muzzle.' See spice, n.

spice-gloak. A footpad: c. of ca. 1810–60. Vaux. Ex spice, n.

spice island. The rectum; a privy: low: ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal.—2. Whence, applied to: any filthy, stinking vicinity: low coll.: ca. 1810–70. Ibid. Punning the Spice Islands.

spicer. A footpad: c.: ca. 1820–60. F. & H. Ex spice, v., 1.

spicy. Spirited; energetically lively: 1828, 'A remarkably spicy team,' O.E.D.; Puck, 1844, 'The milliners' hearts he did trepan, | My spicy, swell small-college man.' Ob. Perhaps ex † Scottish spicy, proud, conceited.—2. Hence, smart-looking; neat: 1846, T. H. Huxley, 'The spicy oilcloth . . . looks most respectable,' O.E.D. Cf. spicy, adv.—3. Hence, handsome: 1868, Whyte-Melville, (of a horse) 'What a spicy chestnut it is.'—4. Sexually spicy, adv. Smartly: low: 1859, Meredith, 'He've come to town dressed that spicy,' O.E.D. Ex spicy, adj., 2, q.v.

'luscious' or attractive: low coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex spicy, highly flavoured.

spicy, cut it. To act the beau, the dandy: lower classes: from ca. 1880. Manchon. Ex spicy, adj., 2.

spider. A wire pick-lock (of considerable utility): c.: 1845 in 'No. 747'; † by 1920.—2. Claret and lemonade: ca. 1890–1915. Ex:—3. A drink of brandy and lemonade: Australian: 1854, The Melbourne Argus; ob. by 1900, † by 1930.

spider, swallow a. To go bankrupt: coll.: mid-C. 17–18. Howell, 1659; Ray; Berthelson, 1754. Gen. he has, you have, etc., swallowed a spider. Apperson.—2. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 3.

spider-brusher. A domestic servant: 1833, T. Hook (O.E.D.); ob. by 1890, † by 1930.

spider-catcher. A very thin man: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E., whose for is, I think, obviously a misprint for of in 'a Spindle for a Man'.—2. A monkey: coll. and dial.: ca. 1820–70. Halliwell.

spider-claw, v.t. To grasp and stroke (the testes): low: late C. 19–early 20. (As F. & H. gives no date, this is a mere guess.)

spider-web. (Gen. pl.) Wire-entanglement: military, but not very gen.: 1915; † by 1920. G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.

spidereen. Nautical, ca. 1860–1915: 'an imaginary vessel figuring in an unwilling reply: "What ship do you belong to?" "The spidereen frigate, with nine decks, and ne'er a bottom,' F. & H. (H., 3rd ed.)

spiel. A hard-luck story: tramps' c. (—1932). 'Stuart Wood.' Ex sense 2 or 3 of the v.—2. A grafter's patter: late C. 19–20. (P. Allingham, 1934.)

spiel, v. See speel.—2. To talk glibly, plausibly; to patter: mostly Australian: from ca. 1870. Perhaps a back-formation ex spieler.—3. Hence, to 'tell the tale': tramps' c. (—1932). 'Stuart Wood.'

spieler; occ. speeler or speiler. A gambler, esp. a card-sharper; a professional swindler: Australia and New Zealand: 1886, The New Zealand Herald, June 1, 'A fresh gang of "speelers" are operating in the town,' O.E.D. Ex Ger. spieler, player, esp. at cards, a gamester.—2. Hence, a glib and crafty fellow: Australia: from ca. 1905.—3. A 'weaver of hard luck stories': tramps' c. (—1932). 'Stuart Wood.' Cf. spiel, v., 3.—4. A gambling-den: c.: from ca. 1925. Charles E. Leach.—5. A 'barker': grafters': C. 20. Cf. senses 2, 3. (P. Allingham, 1934.) spierized, be. To have one's hair cut and shampooed: Oxford University: ca. 1870–1910. H., 5th ed. Ex Spriers, a barber in 'the High'.

Spierpon orchestra. The orchestra of Spiers and Pond: Society coll.: 1885–ca. 1900. Ware.

spif. See spiff, adj., 2.

spiff, n. See spiffs.—2. A 'swell': from ca. 1873; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. H., 5th ed. Abbr. spiffy, but imm. ex spiff, adj., 2.

spiff, v.t. Only in past ppl. passive: see spiffed.—2. V.t., to pay, or allow, commission as to (say) half-a-crown on (a named article): trade: from ca. 1890. The Ironmonger, Sept. 19, 1891, 'A "job" chandelier . . . may be "spiffed", say 1s., but a more unsaleable one should bear a higher sum,' i.e.

carry a higher commission. O.E.D. Ex spiff, q.v. Cf. spiff, adj.

spiff, adj. Esp. s. stores, one where 'spiffs' are in force, and spiff system (recorded by O.E.D. at 1890), the procedure of paying commission to the assistants: from ca. 1889. Ex spiffs, q.v.—2. (The form spif is almost wholly dial.) Smartly dressed; dandified; in good spirits or health; excellent, superior: dial. (—1862) >, ca. 1870, s. >, ca. 1890, coll.; ob. F. & H. has: 'Awfully spiff,' 'How spiff you look', "'How are you?" "Pretty spiff"?' ? abbr. spiffy, q.v.; cf. spiffing, q.v.

spiffed, ppl.adj. Smartly dressed; tricked out; very neat; spruce: 1877, W. S. Gilbert (O.E.D.); ob. See spiff, v., 1, and cf. spiffing and spiffy, qq.v.—2. Topsy: mainly Scottish (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Perhaps ex skew-whiff, or even ex squiffed (q.v.) influenced by skew-whiff. Cf. screwed and squiffy.

[spiffin is by Baumann wrongly distinguished from:]

spiffing; occ., though rarely in C. 20, spiffin. (In dial., spiving.) First-rate, excellent; (of, or as to, dress) fine, smart, dandified, spruce: dial. and s. >. ca. 1900, coll.: 1872, 'The vulgar Pupkins said . . . "It was spiffing!"'; G. Moore, 1884. Perhaps ex dial. (—1865) spiffym, n., work well done. O.E.D., which relates ratting, ripping, topping. Cf. spiff, adj., 2, and spiffy, qq.v., and the dial. spiffer (1882), anything exceptional or very large, fine, good.—2. Hence, adv.; ob.

spifficate, etc. See spificate, etc.

spiffs; occ., esp. in C. 20, in the singular. Trade (esp. drapery) s. as in H., 1859: 'The percentage allowed . . . to [assistants] when they effect sale of old fashioned or undesirable stock.' (Cf. spiff, v., 2, and adj., 1.) Prob. cognate with dial. spiffyn: see spiffing.

spiffy. Smart, in the fashion; fine (in appearance); spruce; first-rate, excellent: coll. and dial.: 1860, H., 2nd ed. Recorded before spiff, adj., 2, but prob. ex this adj., which may have existed in dial. (where earliest in print) some years earlier than 1860. Cf. also spiffing, for it is certain that spiff, n., 2, spiff, v., 1, spiff, adj., 2, spiffed, 1, and spiffy form a semantic and presumably a phonetic group, and I suspect that the trade group,—spiff, n., 1, spiff, v., 2, spiff, adj., 1, spiffs, and dial. spiffyn (see spiffing etymology),—is cognate and ultimately ex the same radical; that root, prob., is either an echoic v.—cf. biff—with some such sense as to hit (hard), hence to startle or astonish, or an adv. of the spang kind—cf. its use in dial spiff and spack bran new, quite new (E.D.D.).

spificate (—1785); often spifficate (1841,—in dial.) and, mainly Cornish dial., spefficate (1871): s. that, ca. 1870, > coll. 'To confound, silence, or dumbfound,' Grose, 1st ed., 1785; hence, to handle roughly, treat severely, to thrash, O.E.D., 1796; hence, to crush, destroy, kill, as in Moore, 1818, 'Alas, alas, our ruin's fated; All done up, and spificated!' (O.E.D.); hence, as in 'Jon Bee', 1823, to betray (a thief) to the intended victim or to the police,—a very ob. sense; and, ex the first or the third nuance, to do something mysterious (and unpleasant) to, often as a vague threat to children,—a sense dating from ca. 1880 or at latest 1890, the author hearing it first, as a child, ca. 1900. In C. 20, the last is the prevailing signification, the first nuance being very ob. In C. 20, it is often fig.: to ruin, to destroy, as in D. Sayers, Have His

Carcase, 'It completely busts up and spifficates the medical evidence.' Etymology: O.E.D., 'Prob. a purely fanciful formation. Cf. smifligate, v.'; W., '? Fanciful formation on suffocate. Cf. dial. smothercate,' which word blends, or perhaps, confuses smother and suffocate; H., 3rd ed., 'A corruption of ["stifle"], or of "suffocate"'; E.P., very diffidently, 'Ex spill, to spoil by injury or damage, to render useless, to destroy the value of (a thing),—as in O.E.D., 600, § 5, c,—on the analogy of either castigate, the f being perhaps due to the influence of stifle or even of smother (in both of which the vowels are obviously inoperative on a problematic spilligate) or, more prob., merely arbitrarily intrusive as are so many elements of unconventional vocabularies; or, preferably, ex spill, as above, + stifle, the dial. form of stifle, +, or with ending on the analogy of, castigate, or ex spill + stifle + ending as in fustigate, to cudgel. Cf. the later smifligate, q.v., and the (app. much later) dial. tussicated, intoxicated.' spifficating, ppl.adj. Castigatory; crushing: coll.: 1891, Meredith, 'You've got a spifficating style of talk about you,' O.E.D. Rare and ob. Cf.:

spiffication. The being 'spifficated', the action of 'spifficating'; severe punishment; complete destruction: (mostly jocular) coll.: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob. Sir Richard Burton, 1855, 'Whose blood he vowed to drink—the Oriental form of threatening spiffication.' Ex spifficate, q.v. Ronald Knox, in The Body in the Silo, 1933, uses it (p. 296) for 'suffocation'.

spiffification. A sol. form of spiffication: late C. 19–20. Due to -ifli-.

[spigot, brother, knight, man, son of the S.E. clichés verging on coll.: from ca. 1820; Scott has the second and third. A tapster; an alehouse-keeper. O.E.D.]

spigot-sucker. A tippler: coll.: C. 17–18. Cotgrave. Ex the vent-hole peg of a cask.—2. A mouth-whore: low: C. 19–20; ob. Ex physiological spigot.

spike. A casual ward: tramps' c.: 1866, Temple Bar, xvi, 184. Ex the hardness of beds, fare, and treatment.—2. Hence, the workhouse: (low) s.: 1894, D. C. Murray, 'To sleep in the workhouse is to go "on the spike",' O.E.D. Cf. spiniken (-kin), q.v.—3. An Anglican High Church clergyman: ecclesiastical: late C. 19–20. (The O.E.D. records it at 1902, but Mr R. Ellis Roberts clearly remembers it in the middle and late 1890's.) Ex spiky, 1, q.v.—4. A bayonet: military: late C. 19–20.—5. A needle: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.—6. Spike. The inevitable nickname of all (male) Sullivans: naval and military: late C. 19–20. Bowen. In areas where Irish potato-hoers were working, tramps used frequently to assume the name on entering the spike (sense 1).

spike, v. (Of an editor) to reject (a news-item, etc.): journalistic: 1908, A. S. M. Hutchinson, Once Aboard the Luggar.

spike, get the. To become annoyed or angry: low: 1895 (E.D.D.). Cf. get the needle in the same sense. Ex spike, n., 5. Also, in C. 20, have the spike (E.D.D.).

spike-bozzle. To demolish: Air Force (orig. Naval): 1915; ob. Ex to spike (a gun) + a fanciful ending.—2. Hence, to do away with, supersede: Air Force and military: from ca. 1918. O.E.D. (Sup.).

Spike(-)Park. The grounds of a prison; hence, from ca. 1860, the Queen's Bench Prison: 1837, Dickens (O.E.D.); H., 3rd ed. (secondary sense); both † by 1890.

spike-ranger. A continual tramp from casual ward to casual ward: c.: from ca. 1897.

spiky. 'Extreme and uncompromising in Anglo-Catholic belief or practice': orig. and mainly Church: 1881 (S.O.D.). Ex the stiffness and sharpness of opinions and attitude. Cf. spike, 3.—2. Spiky. A variant of spike, 6. F. & Gibbons, 'From the celebrated prize fighter.'

spill. A small fee, gift or reward, of money: 1675, Crowne (O.E.D.); B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. † by ca. 1840. Constructed with of (e.g. a spill of money): C. 18—early 19. Prob. ex to spill; cf. a splash, a small quantity, of liquid.—2. A fall; a tumble, esp. from a horse: from ca. 1840: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Barham. Ex spill, v., 1.—3. A drink: ca. 1890–1914. Ware.

spill, v. To cause to fall from vehicle (from ca. 1706 or 7) or from horse (—1785): coll.: resp. Swift and Grose.—2. Hence, from a boat, a box, etc., etc.: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)—3. V.t. To confess, divulge: c. (—1932) now verging on low s. 'Stuart Wood', Shades of the Prison House. From U.S.

spill and pelt. 'The practical fun at the end of each scene in the comic portion of a pantomime': theatrical: from ca. 1830. Ware. Ex things deliberately spilt and hilariously thrown.

spill milk against posts. A phrase, says Ware used in 'extreme condemnation of the habits of the man spoken of': lowest class (—1909).

spill the beans. To blab; to divulge, whether unintentionally or not, important facts; to confess; to lay information: U.S., anglicised by: 1928, D. Sayers, The Ballona Club, 1928.; J. Brophy, English Prose, 1932. Orig., to 'make a mess' of things. Cf. mouthful and shoot off one's mouth, qq.v.

spill the works. A c. variant, from ca. 1929, of the preceding. E.g. in John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934.

Spillsbury, come home by. To have a 'spill', lit. or fig.: coll.: late C. 17–18. Hackett's Life of Williams, 1692. Cf. Clapham, Peckham, qq.v.

[spilt in Lex. Bal., Egan's Grose, Baumann, Manchon, is a misprint for spill, n., 1.]

spilt milk, cry over. To indulge vain regrets: 1836, Haliburton; 1860, Trollope; 1900, Dowling: coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. In mid-C. 19, spilt water offered a feeble rivalry. (O.E.D.)

spilter. Incorrect for spiller (branchlet on deer's horn): mid-C. 17–20. O.E.D.

spin. A brisk run or canter; a spurt: coll. >, by 1890, S.E.: 1856 (O.E.D.); 1884, The Field, Dec. 6, 'After a short undecided spin, Athos took a good lead.' Ex to spin (along).—2. A spinster: Anglo-Indian coll.: 1872, 'A most unhappy spin,' O.E.D. Ware dates it from 70 years earlier.—3. A chance, esp. a fair chance, as in 'Give a chap a spin, can't you!': C. 20 Australian. Ex to spin a coin, to decide (e.g. a bet) by spinning a coin.

spin, v.t. To fail in an examination: mostly military colleges (—1859) and esp. the R.M.A., Woolwich. H., 1st ed.; mostly in passive, as in Whyte-Melville, 1868, 'Don't you funk being spun?' Ex spin, to cause to whirl.—2. Hence, v.i., to be failed in an 'exam': 1869 (O.E.D.); rare. Cf.:

spin, get a. The same as spin, v., 2: same period; ob.—2. To be given a (fair) chance: C. 20 Australian. See spin, n., 3.

spin, go for a. To go for a drive in a motor-car; occ. on a motor-cycle or in its side-car: coll.: from ca. 1905. Cf. spin, n., 1.

spin, go into a flat. See go into a flat spin.

spin, up for a. (Of an N.C.O.) 'brought up for a reprimand for some minor offence': military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Cf. spin, v., 2.

spin a cuff. To 'bore a mess with a long, pointless story': naval (—1909). Ware. Cf.:

spin a cuffer; spin a dippy. To tell an improbable story; a probable one: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen. See cuffer; the dippy, used only in this phrase, may possibly derive ex dippy, crazy.

spin a twist. See twist, spin a.—spin a yarn. See yarn, spin a.—spin-house. See spinning-house.—spin street-yarn. See street-yarn.—spin-text. See spintext.

spin the bat. To speak vigorously, very slangily: the Army in India: mid-C. 19—early 20. Ware. Perhaps ex spin a yarn + sling the bat, qq.v.

spinach (occ. spelt spin(n)age), gammon and. Nonsense; humbug: coll.: 1850, Dickens, 'What a world of gammon and spinage it is, though, ain't it!'; ob. 'The words gammon and spinage are part of the refrain to the song, "A frog he would a-wooing go"', O.E.D. Cf. gammon.

spindle. The penis: (low) coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Cf. S.E. spindle side.

spindles, make or spin crooked. (Of a woman) so to act as to make her husband a cuckold: coll.: late C. 16–17. Florio.

spiniken, -kin. See spinniken.

spink. Milk: R.M.A., Woolwich: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. ? origin if not a perversion of drink nor ex spinked cattle nor ex Fifeshire spinkie.

spin-house. Incorrect for spin-house (see spinning-house).—spinage. See spinach.

spinniken, loosely -kin. A workhouse: c. (—1859). H., 1st ed.—2. Spinniken, the. St Giles's Workhouse: c. (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Cf. the Lump, that of Marylebone, and the Pan, that of St Pancras, both in H., 3rd ed.; note, however, that by 1874, these two terms were 'applied to all workhouses by tramps and costers', H., 5th ed. Ex ken, a place, on spin-house (see spinning-house).

spinning. Rapid: coll.: 1882, Society, Dec. 16, 'The Cambridgeshire enjoyed a spinning run', O.E.D.; slightly ob. Ex spinning, gyrating.

spinning-house; spin-house. Both ex spin-house, a house of correction for women, on the Continent (ex Dutch spinnhuis, cf. Ger. spinnhaus): the former, a house of labour and correction, esp. for harlots under University jurisdiction: Cambridge: C. 19: perhaps always S.E., but prob. orig. coll.; the latter, a workhouse: C. 18—mid-19 coll., as in Brand's History of Newcastle (1702), where spelt spinn-house. Cf. spinniken. O.E.D. and F. & H.

spinning-out. Loquacious: lower classes' coll. (—1887). Baumann, 'A spinning-out sort of chap.'

spinsrap. A parsnip; parsnips: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Also spinsraps.

spinster. A harlot: coll.: ca. 1620–1720. Fletcher, 1622; Fuller, 1662, 'Many would never be wretched spinsters were they spinsters in deed, nor come to so public and shameful punishment.' Cf. spindles, make or spin crooked, qq.v.

spintext; spin-text. A clergyman: late C. 17–20: coll. (in earliest examples, a nickname or an innuendo-surname) >, ca. 1830, S.E.; very ob. Congreve, 1693, 'Spintext! Oh, the fanatick one-eyed parson!' Because he spins a long sermon from the text; cf. the spider-spinning lucubrations of medieval (and a few modern) philosophers.—2. Esp. a prosy one: C. 18–20; ob. Vicesimus Knox, 1788, 'The race of formal spintexts, and solemn saygraces is nearly extinct.'

Spion Kop. Monkey Island: nautical of first decade, C. 20. Bowen. Ex the unpleasantness of Spion Kop as a military experience in the Boer War and the island's 'unpleasantness in bad weather'.—2. City Road: London taxi-drivers': C. 20.

[spirit, to kidnap (for export to the American plantations), ca. 1665–1800, may orig.—to judge by B.E. and Grose—have been coll. See Grose, P.]

spirit of the troops is excellent!, the. A military c.p. (late 1916–18) 'taken from newspaper blether and used in jocular, and often in bitterly derisive irony', B. & P.

spiritual. A sacred song; a hymn: coll. (since ca. 1920, S.E.): 1870, "'Negro Spirituals"', T. W. Higginson, in Army Life. (O.E.D.) Abbr. spiritual song.

spiritual case. 'The lower-deck term, probably unintentional at first [i.e. orig. a sol.], for spherical case shot': naval: ca. 1840–1900. Bowen.

spiritual flesh-broker. A parson: coll.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

spiritual whore. A woman infirm of faith; esp. as a C. 16 ecclesiastical c.p., she is a spiritual whore (Tyndale, 1528). Cf. S.E. go lusting or whoring after strange gods.

spirity. Spirited; energetic; vivacious: from ca. 1630: coll. till C. 19, then dial. (O.E.D.)—2. Ghostly: supernatural: jocular coll. (—1887). Baumann.

spirter. See spurter.

spiry. Very distinguished: 1825, T. Hook (O.E.D.); ob. by 1890, † by 1930. Ex height.

spit; gen. the very or, in C. 20, the dead spit of. A speaking likeness (of): 1825 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.—but still rather familiar. Mayhew, 1851, 'the very spit of the one I had for years; it's a real portrait'. Ex such forms as 'As like an urchin, as if they had been spit out of the mouths of them,' Breton, 1602, and 'He's e'en as like thee as th' had'st spit him,' Cotton. Cf. Fr. c'est son père tout craché.—2. A (distinguished or remarkable or attractive) manner of spitting: coll.: C. 20. (Henry Wade, Constable Guard Thyself, 1934.) spit, v. 'To foraminate a woman', F. & H.: v.t.: coll.: C. 18–20; ob.—2. To leave (visiting-cards), gen. at So-and-so's: coll.: 1782, Mme D'Arblay; ob. O.E.D.

spit, put four quarters on the. To have sexual intercourse: low: C. 19. Cf. make the beast with two backs and spit, v., 1.

spit alley (or S.A.). 'The alleyway in which the junior officers' cabins are situated' (in a man-of-war): naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

spit and a drag, a. A smoke on the sly: naval: late C. 19–20. Ibid. Ex spit and drag, a cigarette: rhyming s. (on fag): late C. 19–20. B. & P. spit and a draw. A proletarian variant (—1935) of the preceding.

spit and a stride, a. A very short distance: Fletcher, 1621 (Apperson); 1676, Cotton, 'You are now . . . within a spit, and a stride of the peak,'

O.E.D.; Scott, 1824. Coll. until early C. 19, then dial.

spit and polish. Furbishing; meticulous cleaning: naval and, esp., military: from ca. 1860 or perhaps even earlier, though unrecorded before 1895 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Cf. elbow-grease. Hence, the Spit-and-Polish Navy is the C. 20 coll. (naval) term for the Victorian Navy: Bowen.—2. In G.W., any officer exigent of the spick-and-span was likely to be dubbed '(Old) Spit-and-Polish or Shine' by the (gen. rightly) exasperated soldiery.

spit and polish; no wonder . . . See clean and polish.

spit-and-scratch game. A hair-pulling fight: lower classes' coll.: C. 20. A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, 1914. (Manchon.)

spit and shine. See spit and polish, 2.

spit brown. To chew tobacco: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

spit button-sticks. (Gen. as vbl.n. spitting . . .) To use forcible language: Regular Army: C. 20. B. & P. A button-stick was a 'gadget' used in button-polishing.

spit-curl. A curl lying flat on the temple: U.S. (— 1859); anglicised ca. 1875 as a coll., chiefly among costers: cf. agg(e)rators.

spit one's guts. To tell or confess everything: low s. verging on c.: from not later than 1931.

spit out. To confess; gen. as spit it out!: coll.: C. 20. Lyell. Ex S.E. spit out, to utter plainly, bravely, or proudly.

spit sixpences or white broth. To expectorate from a dry, though healthy, mouth: resp. coll. (1772, Graves, 'Beginning to spit six-pences (as his saying is)' and s. (late C. 19–early 20).

Spitalfield(s) breakfast. 'A tight necktie and a short pipe'; i.e. no breakfast at all: East End (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex the poor district in East London. Cf. Irishman's dinner and soldier's supper, q.v., as well as dine with Duke Humphrey, q.v., and the c.p. (— 1874; ob.) I'll go out and count the railings, 'the park or area railings, mental instead of maxillary exercise,' H., 5th ed.

spitcher. To sink (an enemy submarine): naval: from 1916. (O.E.D. Sup.) Perhaps a perversion of spificate. Cf. spike-bozzle.

spite Gabell. To cut off one's nose to spite one's face: Winchester: from ca. 1820. Mansfield; Wrench. Ex the inadvisability of trying to get a rise out of him. Dr. Henry Gabell (1764–1831) was head master of the College from 1810 to 1823.

Spithead nightingale. A boatswain or his mate: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20; ob.

splarm. To smear: Dulwich College: C. 20. Collinson. App. a blend of Scottish spla(i)rge, to bedaub, + smarmy.

splash. Ostentation; a display thereof; a dash; a sensation: coll.: esp. in cut (1806) or make (1824) a splash. (O.E.D.) Cf. cut a dash. Ex noisy diving or swimming.—2. Hence, without article: coll.: late C. 19–20; rare. The Westminster Gazette, Dec. 5, 1899, 'That last speech . . . caused enough splash for some time to come,' O.E.D.—3. Face-powder: 1864, H., 3rd ed.; very ob. Cf. slap in the same sense.—4. A small quantity of soda-water (added to whiskey, etc.): coll. (— 1927). Collinson.

splash, v.i. To be actively extravagant with money: coll.: from ca. 1912. Ex splash, n., 1, + splash money about. Whence splasher.—2. V.t., to expend: Australian (— 1916). C. J. Dennis.

splash, adj. Fine, elegant, fashionable, distinguished: c. (— 1887) >, by 1920, low s. Baumann; Manchon. Ex splash, n., 1.

splash-up, adj. and adv. (In) splendid (manner); 'tip-top': lower classes' (— 1887); ob. Baumann. Cf. bang-up.

splasher. A person very extravagant with money. coll.: from ca. 1919.—2. A piece of oil-cloth protecting the wall against the splashing from a wash-hand bowl: domestic coll. (now verging on S.E.): late C. 19–20. E.g. R. H. Mottram, Bumphrey's, 1934. Ex the S.E. splasher on vehicles.

Splashers, the. The 62nd Foot Regiment, in late C. 19–20 the Wiltshires: military: from ca. 1850; ob. Ex their dashing manner.

splashing, adj. and adv.; splashy, adj. Fine(ly); splendid(ly): ca. 1885–1920. Baumann, 'A splashing (fine) feed.' Cf. splash, n., 1.

splathers!, hold your. Be silent!: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Prob. ex Yorkshire splather, noisy talk (E.D.D.). Whence:

splatherer. A loquacious person; a braggart: tailors': from ca. 1875; ob.

splatterdash. A bustle; an uproar: late C. 19–20; ob. ? ex splutter + dash.

splendacious, splendidious, splendidous, splendidiferous. Very splendid, remarkably fine, magnificent; excellent: resp. 1843, Blackwood's, 'Some splendacious pattern in blue and gold', O.E.D., which notes forms in -aceous (Thackeray, 1848) and -atious, all slightly ob. and all coll.; C. 15–20, being S.E. until C. 19 (rare before 1880; now ob.), then coll.; splendidous, S.E. in C. 17, is rare in coll. and now extremely ob.; splendiferous,—loosely -erus, S.E. in C. 15–16 for 'abounding in splendour', was in C. 17–early 19, like splendidious, 'subterranean' in usage, and, like splendacious, it arose again in 1843 (Haliburton's 'Splendiferous white hoss,' O.E.D.), to be more gen. in U.S. than in Britain. All four are, in mid-C. 19–20, jocular in tendency.

splice. A wife: ca. 1820–1930. Ex splice, to marry.—2. Marriage; a wedding: 1830, Galt; 1876, Holland, 'I'm going to pay for the splice,' O.E.D.

splice, v. To join in matrimony: gen. in passive, as in the earliest instance: 1751, Smollett, 'Trunnion! Trunnion! turn out and be spliced, or lie still and be damned.' Ex lit. nautical sense.—2. Hence, to coit.: low: C. 19–20.—3. At Winchester College (— 1903), to throw or fling.

splice, sit on or (upon) the. To play a strictly defensive bat: cricket s. >, by 1935, coll.: from ca. 1905. Lewis. As if to sit on the shoulder of the bat.

splice the main-brace. See main-brace, splice the.

spliced, get). (To get) married: late C. 18–20. Ainsworth, 1839. Ex splice, v., 1.

spliced, with main-brace well. Drunk: orig. nautical. See main-brace.

splicer. A sailor: lower classes' coll.: late C. 19–20. Manchon. Ex the S.E. sense, one (gen. a sailor) who splices, or specialises in splicing, ropes.

split. A detective, a police spy, an informer: e. (— 1812). Vaux. Ex split, v., 2, q.v. Cf. split (up)on.—2. See splits.—3. A drink of two liquors mixed: coll.: 1882, Society, Nov. 11, 'The "nips", the "stims", the "sherries and Angosturas", the "splits" of young Contango,' O.E.D.—4. A split soda: coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.); but a soda split occurs in H., 5th ed., 1874.—5. Hence, a half-size bottle of mineral water, 1896. O.E.D.—6. A half-glass of spirits: coll. (— 1903).—7. In the same semantic group as senses 3-6: a split bun or roll: coll.: 1905; and a split vote, 1894. O.E.D.—8. See split, like.—9. A harlot's hully: c. (—1909). Ware. He splits her earnings with her.—10. 'A division of profits': low (—1919). O.E.D. (Sup.).—11. A ten-shilling currency-note: low: C. 20. (The half of a £1 note.)

split, v.i. To copulate: low: C. 18-20.—2. To turn informer, give evidence to the police: c. (—1795) >, ca. 1850, low s.—3. Hence, to betray confidence, give evidence injurious to others: 1840, Dickens, hut prob. a decade earlier. See also split about and split on.—4. Hence, v.t., to disclose, let out: 1850, Thackeray, 'Did I split anything?', O.E.D.; oh.—5. V.i., to act vigorously: coll.: U.S. (ca. 1848), anglicised ca. 1870; oh. Proh. ex:—6. V.i., to move, esp. to run, walk, gallop, etc.: coll.: 1790, R. Tyler, 'I was glad to take to my heels and split home, right off,' O.E.D.; 1888, Adam Lindsay Gordon, Poems, 'We had run him for seven miles or more, | As hard as our nags could split.' Also split along and go like split.—7. V.i., to divide, or share in, profits: low (—1919). O.E.D. (Sup.). Cf. split, n., 10.

split, (at) full. At full speed: coll.: U.S. (middle 1830's), anglicised ca. 1865. 'Rolf Boldrewood,' 1890, 'In saddle and off full-split,' O.E.D. Cf.:

split, like; esp. go like split. (To go) at full speed: coll.: U.S. (ca. 1848), partly anglicised ca. 1870, but never so gen. as full split.

split, make all. To cause, make, a commotion: coll.: late C. 16-17. Shakespeare.

split about. To divulge; esp. to the police: 1836, The Annual Register. O.E.D.

split along. To move very fast: coll.: C. 19-20. See split, v., sixth sense.

split-arse, adv. A low variant (—1923) of (at) full split, full speed. Manchon.

split-arse cap. The (former) R.F.C. cap, rather like a Glengarry: Air Force: 1915-ca. 1920. B. & P.

split-arse mechanic. A harlot: low: C. 19. Cf. split-mutton, 2.

split-arse merchant. A merely reckless flyer; a fine 'stunt' flyer: Air Force: from 1915. B. & P. Cf.:

split-arse turn. A flat turn, without hanking; it is caused by using the rudder instead of rudder and ailerons. Royal Air Force's (—1935).

split-arsing. 'Stunting low and flying near the roofs of hillets or huts': Air Force: from 1915. B. & P. See also split-hairing and splitassing.

split asunder. A costermonger: rhyming s. (—1859); oh. H., 1st ed.

split-cause. A lawyer: coll. (—1785); oh. by 1870, † hy 1910. Grose, 1st ed.

split chums. To break friendship: Conway cadets: from before 1891. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933. Cf. part brass-rags, q.v.

Split Crow, the. The Spread Eagle, tavern and sign: from ca. 1780; oh. Grose, 1st ed., '... Two heads on one neck, gives it somewhat [this] appearance.'

split fair. To tell the truth: mid-C. 19-20. See split, v., 2.

split-fig. A grocer: coll.: late C. 17-early 19; then dial. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Cf. nip-cheese.

split-hairing. A euphemism for split-arsing. (B. & P.)

[Split infinitives: see Fowler.]

split-mutton. The penis: low: ? C. 17-19.—2. Women in gen.; a woman as sex: low: ? C. 18-20; oh. See mutton; cf. split-arse mechanic.

split my windpipe! 'A foolish kind of a Curse among the Beaux,' B.E.: coll.: late C. 17-mid-18. Also split me: C. 18-early 19 (Cibber, Thackeray: O.E.D.).

split on or upon. To inform the police about (a person): c. (—1812) >, ca. 1840, low s. >, ca. 1870, gen. s. Vaux (upon; on app. unrecorded before 1875, O.E.D.). See split, v., 2, and cf. split about and split fair.

split out. V.i., to part company, to separate: c.: from ca. 1875; oh.

split pea. Tea: rhyming s. (—1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.' Rare; † hy 1900.

split pilot. A variant of split-arse merchant: from 1932.

split-up. A division of hooty: c., and low: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

split-up. A lanky person: from ca. 1875. Ex (well) split-up, long-limbed, itself (Baumann) s. from ca. 1870, proh. suggested by splits, q.v.

split soda. 'A bottle of soda water divided between two guests. The "bahy" soda is for one client': tavern coll.: from ca. 1860. Ware.

split upon. See split on.

split with. To break off acquaintance with; to quarrel with: 1835, G. P. R. James (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1910, coll. In C. 20, occ. absolutely, split, as in 'For good reasons, we don't wish to split.'

splitacer. A 'stunting' aviator: Air Force: from 1918. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex split-arse. Cf. split-arse merchant.

splitassing. A euphemism of split-arsing, q.v. (B. & P.)

splits, the. In dancing or acrobatics, the act of separating one's legs and lowering oneself until, right-angled to the body, they extend flat along the ground: 1851, Mayhew (ii, 569): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Also, though rare and oh., in the singular, as in Mayhew, iii, 1861.—2. The police: grafters': late C. 19-20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. E. & P. Cf. split, n., 1. splitter of causes. A lawyer: coll.: late C. 17-18. B.E. Cf. split-cause.

splodger. A country lout: coll. (—1860). H., 2nd ed. Ex splodge, to trudge through mud and/or water.

splash. Money: low: 1893, Gus Elen, 'Since Jack Jones come into that little hit o' splash'; oh. ? ex splash; proh. cognate with splosh, adv. (q.v.). 2. An abrupt, resounding fall into water; a 'quantity of water suddenly dashed or dropped': dial. (1895) >, hy 1910 at latest, coll. E. M. Stooke (E.D.D.); Collinson. Echoic.

splosh, adv. Plump: coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.: 1891, Anon., Harry Fludyer, 'Such larks when you heard the ball go splosh on a man's hat.' Echoic.

splutter. A 'shindy' or 'dust'; a scandal: low (—1923). Manchon. Ex C. 19-20 dial.

spo. A spot: Charterhouse: C. 20. Cf. squo for the form.

Spoff. Spofforth, the great Australian howler: cricketers' nickname: 1898, Giffen. (Lewis.)

spoffish. Fussy, bustling, officious: 1836, Dickens; 1935, Ivor Brown in The Observer, Aug. 11. Very oh. Perhaps suggested by officious or fussy; obviously, however, derived ex or cognate with spoffle, q.v.; cf. spoffy.

spoffle, v.i. To fuss or bustle: from ca. 1830; very ob. Ex East Anglian dial. spuffle, to fuss, bustle; be in a flurry or great haste (Forby's glossary, ca. 1825). E.D.D. Cf. spoffish, spoffy.

spoffskins. A harlot: low: ca. 1880-1910. Perhaps ex:

spoffy. The same as, and ex, spoffish, q.v.: 1860, H., 2nd ed.; ob.—3. Hence, n.

spogh. V.i., 'to show off, make a display': South African coll.: 1871, Dugmore, Reminiscences of an Albany Settler. Ex Dutch pochen, to boast. Pettman.

spoil in New Zealand c. (— 1932) has the specific sense: stolen property.

spoil, v. In boxing, to damage, injure, seriously: sporting: 1811 (O.E.D.); very ob. Egan, 1821, has spoil one's mouth, to damage the face.—2. To prevent (a person) from succeeding, to render (a building, etc.) unsuitable for robbery: c. (— 1812); ob. Vaux.—3. Hence, in seashore-nautical s., as in R. C. Leslie, 1884, "Spoil a gent" is used . . . in the sense of disgusting him with the sea and so losing a good customer,' O.E.D.

spoil-bread. A baker: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. Cf.:

spoil-broth. A cook: same status and period. Cf. next two entries.

spoil-iron. A smith: coll.: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

spoil-pudding. A long-winded preacher: ca. 1785-1850. Grose, 2nd ed.

spoil the shape of. See shape, spoil one's.

spoiling salt water. A sea-cook's job: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19-early 20. Bowen.

spoke. Spoken: in C. 19-20, coll. (latterly, low coll.) when neither dial. nor jocular (e.g. 'English as she is spoke').—2. See spoken to.

spoke-box. The mouth: jocular coll.: 1874, Anon., The Sibiad; ob.

spoke to. See speak to.

Spokeshay. Shakespeare: jocular Australian: C. 20. By perverted reversal: perhaps on spoke-shave.

spoken, illiterately spoke, to. Robbed; stolen: see speak to.—2. In a bad way (gen. physically); dying: c. (— 1812); ob. Vaux. Lit., warned.

spoke(n) to the crack, hoist, screw, sneak, etc. Robbed or stolen in the manner indicated by the nn., q.v.: c.: C. 19.

spok(e)y. A wheelwright: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the spokes of a wheel.—2. (Spokey.) An 'inevitable' nickname of men named Wheeler or Wheelwright: id.: id. Ibid.

spondoolic(k)s, -ix; spondulacks; spondulicks (the most gen.), -ics, -ix. Money; cash: U.S. (1857), anglicised ca. 1885: resp. — 1903, 1902; — 1903; 1863, ca. 1870, and 1857. G. A. Sala, Dec. 8, 1883, derives it, by 'enlarged vulgarisation' (or perversion and elaboration), from greenbacks, its orig. signification; 'Pomes' Marshall. Thornton.

sponge, v.t. To throw up the sponge on behalf of (a defeated person or animal); gen. to be sponged, to have this happen to one: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.); ob. Cf.:

sponge, chuck or throw up the. To give in; submit: coll.: resp. from ca. 1875 and 1860 (H., 2nd ed.). Rolf Boldrewood, 1889 (chuck); 'Captain Kettle' Hyne, 1899. Ex boxing, where this action signifies defeat.

spoof. A nonsensically hoaxing game: 1889 (O.E.D.). The name and the game were invented by Arthur Roberts the comedian (1852-1933).—2.

Hence, a card game in which certain cards, occurring together, are called 'spoof'; 1895 (O.E.D.).—3. Ex sense 1: humbug; hoaxing: 1897 (O.E.D.); an instance of this (— 1903).—4. A theatrical variation (ca. 1896-1914) of oaf, money. Ware.

spoof, v.t. To hoax; humbug: 1895, 'I "spoof" him—to use a latter-day term,' Punch, Dec. 28 (O.E.D.). Ex n., 1, q.v.—2. Hence, v.i., to practise hoaxing or humbugging, gen. with present ppl. ('You're not spoofing, are you?'): from ca. 1920.

spoof, adj. Hoaxing; humbugging: 1895, A. Roberts, 'My "spoof French" has often been the subject of amusement,' O.E.D.—2. Hence, bogus, sham: C. 20.

spoofier. One who 'spoofs': see spoof, v. From ca. 1910; by 1935, almost coll.

spooferies, the. A sporting club—or, generically, sporting clubs—of an inferior kind: ca. 1889-1912. Ware. Ex spoof, n., 1. Cf. the coll. spoofery, cheating (1926: O.E.D. Sup.).

spook. An artillery signaller: artillerymen's jocular s.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

spoon. A simpleton; a fool: 1799 (O.E.D.); s. >, ca. 1850, coll.; ob. Vaux, 1812, 'It is usual to call a very prating shallow fellow a rank spoon.' Ex its openness and shallowness, but imm. ex spoony, n., 1.—2. A sentimental, esp. if silly, fondness: in pl., 1868; in singular, from ca. 1880. Slightly ob. Ex be spoons on or with, q.v.—3. Hence, a sweetheart: 1882 (O.E.D.); slightly ob.—4. Hence, a flirtatious person; a flirtation: C. 20.—5. At spoons, H., 3rd ed. (1864) gives several terms that, used by a certain firm in 1861-62, he thought might > gen. commercial s.: but they didn't.

spoon, v.i. To make love, esp. if very sentimentally and, in addition, rather sillily: 1831, Lady Granville (O.E.D.). Prob. ex spoon, n., 1.—2. Hence, to flirt: C. 20.—3. V.t. To court, to make love to, in a sentimental way: 1877, Mrs Forrester (O.E.D.); ob. Cf. spoon on.—All senses are frequent as vbl.n. in the same status; but derivatives not listed here are not much used and are rather S.E. than 'unconventional'.

spoon, come the. To make ridiculous, too sentimental love: from ca. 1890; ob.

spoon, feed with a. To corrupt by bribing: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

spoon about, v.i. To run after women; play the gallant: C. 20. Ibid. See spoon, v. 2.

spoon and gravy. Full-dress evening clothes (men's): C. 20; ob. (Mr R. Ellis Roberts vouches for its use in 1903.)

spoon in one's mouth, born with a silver. See silver spoon.

spoon in the wall, stick one's. To die: coll.: mid-C. 19-20; virtually † by 1930. H., 5th ed., 1874.

spoon on. Same as spoon v., 3: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex spoon, v., 1.

[Spoonerisms: see Slang, pp. 279-80. Ex the Rev. W. A. Spooner (1844-1930) of Oxford.]

spoon-victuals. (Of a batsman) getting under a ball: Cambridge cricketers': 1870's. Lewis. An elaboration of spoon (in cricket j.). spooney, spoony. A simpleton, a fool: 1795, Potter; ob. Cf. spoon, n., 1.—2. Hence (— 1812), adj. Vaux.—3. Sentimentally in love, foolishly amorous: 1836, Marryat (O.E.D.); in 1828 with (up)on,—'I felt rather spoony upon that vixen,' spoons, fill the mouth with empty. To go hungry: coll.: late C. 17–18. Ray.

O.E.D. Ex spoon, v., 1.—4. Hence, one thus in love or thus amorous: 1857, 'C. Bede' (O.E.D.).

spoons on (1863) or with (— 1860; † by 1910), be. To be sentimentally, esp. if sillily, in love with (a girl; very rarely the converse). H., 2nd ed. Prob. ex spoon, n., 1.—2. Also (of a couple) it's (a case of) spoons with them, they are sentimentally in love: from ca. 1863; ob.

spoony. See spooney.—2. Adv., foolishly or sentimentally, esp. in spoony drunk, sentimentally drunk, as in the Lex. Bal., 1811; ob.

spoony stuff. 'Weak, sentimental work, below contempt': London theatrical: ca. 1882–1915. Ware.

sporran. The pubic hair: late C. 19–20 low. Ex S.E. sporran.

sport. A 'good sport', either one who subordinates his or her own personality or abilities to the gen. enjoyment; or, of women only, one who readily accords the sexual favour: coll.: C. 20. Hence, be a sport! = don't be a spoil-sport! Abbr. a good sport, ex sport, a sportsman: cf. sporty, q.v.

sport, v. (Thanks mainly to O.E.D., but by no means negligibly to F. & H.) To read (a book, an author) for sport: ca. 1690–1710. T. Brown, 'To divert the time with sporting an author.'—2. To stake (money), invest (it) riskily: ca. 1705–1860: s. >, ca. 1750, coll.—3. Hence, to lay (a bet): ca. 1805–50.—4. Prob. ex senses 2, 3: to treat (a person) with food, etc.; to offer (a person) the hospitality of (wine, etc.): ? elsewhere than, 1828–30, in Lytton, as e.g. 'I doesn't care if I sports you a glass of port.' Cognate, however, is: to provide as in sport a dinner, a lunch, etc.: from ca. 1830.—5. Ex sense 2: v.i., to speculate or bet: ca. 1760–1820. 'Chrysal' Johnston.—6. V.t. to spend (money) extravagantly or very freely or ostentatiously: 1859, H. Kingsley 'I took him for a flash overseer, sporting his salary.'—7. To exhibit, display, in company, in public, gen. showily or ostentatiously: from ca. 1710 (esp. common ca. 1770–1830): s. >, ca. 1830, coll. Steele, 1712; J. H. Newman, 'A man . . . must sport an opinion when he really had none to give.'—8. Hence, to display on one's person; esp. to wear: s. (1778) >, ca. 1890, coll. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'She sported her number one gloss on her hair | And her very best blush on her cheek.'—9. To go in for (smoking, riding, billiards, etc, etc.); to maintain (e.g., a house, a carriage): from ca. 1805: s. >, ca. 1900, coll.—10. To shut (a door), esp. to signify 'Engaged': orig. and mainly university. Ex sport oak or timber: see oak, sport. Cf. sport in, q.v.—11. (Perhaps hence by metaphrasis:) to open (a door) violently, to force (it): ca. 1805–20.—12. See vbl. phrases here ensuing.

sport, old. See old sport.

sport a baulk. See baulk.

sport a report. To publish it far and wide: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

sport a right line, be unable to or cannot. To be drunk: ca. 1770–1800. Oxford University. Because of inability to walk straight.

Sport and Win. Jim: rhyming s. (— 1859); ob. H. 1st ed.

sport in. To shut (one) in by closing the door: 1825, Hone, 'Shutting my room door, as if I was "sported in"': ob. Cf. oak, sport.

sport ivory or one's ivory. To grin: from ca. 1785; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

sport literature. To write a book: 1853, Mrs Gaskell; ob.—very ob.!

sport oak. See oak, sport.

sport off. To do easily, as if for sport: late C. 19–20; ob. Cf. sport, v., 1.

sport silk. To ride a race: the turf (coll.): 1885, The Daily Chronicle, Dec. 28. Ex the silk jacket worn by jockeys.

sport the brown. C., from ca. 1875; as in Anon's Five Years' Penal Servitude, 1877, 'If a man wishes to see the governor, the doctor, or the chaplain, he is to "sport the broom"', lay his little hair-broom on the floor at the door, directly the cell is opened in the morning,' O.E.D.

sport timber. The Inns of Court variation of sport oak: from ca. 1785; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

sported oak or door. Same as sporting door, q.v.: from ca. 1870.

sporter. A wearer (of something showy, notable): coll.: late C. 19–20.—2. The Sporter is The Sportsman: Public Schools' of ca. 1900–14. P. G. Wodehouse, A Prefect's Uncle, 1903.

sportiness. Sporty characteristics or tendency: coll.: 1896, The Daily Chronicle, Oct. 31 (O.E.D.).

sporting, adj. Like, natural to, a 'sport', q.v.: C. 20.—2. See:

sporting action. At Winchester College, 'an affected manner, gesture or gait, or a betrayal of emotion,' F. & H.: from ca. 1870. Cf. sport, v., 7.

sporting chance. A slight or a problematic chance: coll.: from mid-1890's: sporting >, almost imm., gen.; by 1935, virtually S.E. Mary Kingsley, 1897, 'One must diminish dead certainties to the level of sporting chances along here,' O.E.D.

sporting door. A door closed against intruders: university: from ca. 1850; ob. Bristed, 1852 (O.E.D.). Also the oak. See sport, v., in corresponding senses.

sportings. Clothes worn at the exeat: Charterhouse (— 1900). Tod's Charterhouse, 1900.

Sports Ship, the. The S.S. Borodine: naval coll.: G.W. (F. & Gibbons). It was supply-ship and entertainment ship to the Grand Fleet at Scapa Flow.

sportsman for liquor. 'A fine toper' (Ware): sporting: ca. 1880–1910.

sportsmanlike. Straightforward; honourable: coll.: 1899, E. Phillpotts (O.E.D.).

sportsman's gap. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20. (Cf. S.E. sporting-house, a brothel, and sporting-piece, a plaything.) Ex gaps in hedges.

sportsman's prayer-book, the. See prayer-book, 3.

sportsman's toast. For this allusive coll., see pointer and stubble.

sporty. Sportsmanlike; sporting; generous: 1889 (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1920, coll.

Spo's, the. The School Sports meeting: Charterhouse: C. 20. For the form cf. spo and squo.

s'pose. Suppose, esp. in s'pose so!: coll.: C. 19–20. Baumann.

sposh. Excellent: mainly theatrical: from ca. 1929; ob. A. A. Milne, Two People, 1931, 'Sposh . . . I should adore to.' Perhaps a blend of spiffing + posh.

spot. A drop of liquor: coll.: 1885, D. C. Murray, 'A little spot of rum, William, with a squeeze of lemon in it.' In C. 20 Anglo-Irish coll., it has a specific sense: a half-glass of whiskey. Ex spot, a small piece or quantity. Cf. Fr. larme.—2. Hence, a small amount of. Gen. a spot of . . ., e.g. lunch, hence of rest, work, pleasure, music, etc. C. 20, but common only since ca. 1915: s. >, ca. 1930, coll. Dorothy Sayers, Have His Carcase, 1932.—3. A cake: low: from ca. 1890; ob. See quotation at scalded, 2.—4. A person—usually a man—employed by an omnibus company to watch, secretly, its employees: 1894 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1910, j. Ex spot, to detect.—5. Hence, any detective: low (— 1923). Manchon.—6. See spots on burnt.—7. A worn patch on the pitch: cricketers' coll.: C. 20. Neville Cardus, Good Days, 1934, concerning the third test match, 'It is the duty of all loyal subjects to talk about "a spot" in loud voices so that the Australians will hear.'

spot*, v. To note (a person) as criminal or suspect: c.: 1718 (O.E.D.); 1851, Mayhew, 'At length he became spotted. The police got to know him, and he was apprehended, tried, and convicted.' Perhaps ex † spot, 'to stain with some accusation or reproach'.—2. Hence, to inform against (a person): c.: 1865, Dickens (O.E.D.); rare in C. 20.—3. (Prob. ex sense 1:) to guess (a horse) beforehand as the winner in a race: orig. turf >, ca. 1890, gen. coll.: 1857, The Morning Chronicle, June 22, 'Having met with tolerable success in spotting the winners'.—4. Hence, to espy; mark, note; recognise, discover, detect: coll.: 1860, W. W. Holmes.—5. Whence, prob.: to hit (a mark) in shooting: coll.: 1882, Bret Harte (O.E.D.). Although the earliest record of this, as of the preceding sense, is U.S., there is perhaps no need to postulate an American origin for either; cf., however, H., 1864, 'Orig. an Americanism, but now gen.'—6. (Ex spotting winners.) To gamble, v.t. and v.i.: low: from ca. 1890; ob. F. & H.—7. To pick out the best of (the land) for one's farm or station: New Zealand (— 1898). Morris. Cf. the Australian peacock and pick the eyes out.—8. Hence, to look for (a building) to break into: c., (— 1933). Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld.—9. (Gen. spot at.) To jeer (at); make fun (of): South African coll. (— 1906). Ex Dutch spotten, to mock or jeer. Pettman.

spot*, be in a. To be in a very difficult or dangerous position or condition: c.: from ca. 1930. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Perhaps ex be put on the spot.

spot*, on the. Alert; quite certain: 1887, Henley, 'Palm and be always on the spot': low, if not orig. c. Hence, off the spot: uncertain, not alert (in S.E., inexact, irrelevant).—2. A C. 20 U.S. c. sense, anglicised ca. 1930 as s. rather than as c.: in the place (and position) pre-arranged for one's murder. The rapidity of the anglicising, once it started, was largely owing to the popularity of Edgar Wallace's play (On the Spot), an excellent 'thriller', and of the ensuing novel (1931). Merely a special application of the S.E. sense, 'at the very place or locality in question'. See esp. Irwin.

spot, put on the. To determine and arrange the murder of: U.S., anglicised by 1930. Ex spot, on the, 2.

spot, soft. 'An easy, comfortable, or desirable berth, thing, or circumstance,' F. & H.: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. Ex Northern dial. spot (— 1877), a place of employment, a job (E.D.D.).

spot, vacant; gen. have a vacant spot. To be half-witted: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. Cf. shingle short, tile loose.

spot at. See spot, v., 9.

spot-joint. A booth for the presentation of a form of amusement popular at fairs: grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

Spot Ward. Joshua Ward (1685–1761), quack doctor. Ex 'a birth-mark on his face' (Dawson).

spots off or out of, knock. See knock spots.—spots, see. See see stars.

spots on burnt (e.g. two). (E.g. two) poached eggs on toast: low (— 1923). Manchon.

spotted*, ppl.adj. Known to the police: c. (— 1791). Tufts. Ex spot, v., 1.

spotted covey*. A c. variant (— 1923), noted by Manchon, of:

spotted Dick. A suet pudding made with currants or raisins: 1849, Soyer, The Modern Housewife (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Ex the raisins that, on the surface, give the pudding a spotty appearance. Cf. the next three entries.

spotted dog. The same: from ca. 1865: coll. that had by 1920 > S.E. Prob. dog puns dough, as Ware suggests.—2. Among soldiers, a sausage or a saveloy: from ca. 1885; very ob. Ex the legend. Cf. spotted mystery.

spotted donkey; spotted leopard. The same as spotted Dick: resp. schools' (— 1887), ob. (Bauermann); low urban, from ca. 1880 (Ware).

spotted duff. A coll. variant (from ca. 1870) of spotted Dick. Ware.

spotted mystery. Tinned beef: military: from ca. 1880; ob. An elaboration on mystery, a sausage, and on potted (mystery). Cf. spotted dog, 2.

spotter. A variant of spot, n., 3; an informer (see spot, v., 2); a detective whose job it is to unmask beggars: all in Manchon and therefore from before 1923: the first, s.; the second, c.; the third, police coll.—4. He who 'spots' a likely victim for a 'mob' to rob: police s.: C. 20. Charles E. Leach.

spousy. A spouse; gen., husband: jocular coll.: ca. 1795–1820. (O.E.D.) On hubby.

spout. A large mouth, esp. if mostly open: lower classes' coll. (— 1909). Ware.—2. A showman's 'palaver' or patter: showmen's: from ca. 1880. Neil Bell, Crocus, 1936. Cf. v., 2.

spout*, v. To pawn: c. (— 1811). Lex. Bal. From ca. 1850, (low) s.; in C. 20, ob. Hughes, 1861, 'The dons are going to spout the college plate.' Ex spout, a pawnbroker's shoot, which, despite F. & H., is S.E.—2. To talk (without any such modification as characterises S.E.): c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

spout, in great. In high spirits; noisy: late C. 18–mid-19; then dial. Grose in his Provincial Glossary, 1787. Perhaps ex spout, to declaim.

spout, up the. In pawn: coll. (— 1812). Vaux; Barham. See spout, v.—2. Hence, imprisoned; in hospital: low (— 1823); ob. Bee.—3. Hence, in a bad way (1853); bankrupt (— 1854), this being mainly dial. O.E.D.—4. Pregnant with child: low: late C. 19–20. Often in form, to have been put up the spout.—5. (Of a bullet) in the rifle-barrel and ready to be fired: military: from 1914. B. & P.

spout Billy. To make a living by reciting Shakespeare in tap-rooms: low coll. (— 1823); ob. by 1900, † by 1930. Bee. (Poor William!) Also spout Bill. Cf. swan-slinger, q.v.

spout ink. To write books, etc.: coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. sling ink.

sprag. 'To accost truculently,' C. J. Dennis: Australian (— 1916). Possibly ex snag + rag (v.t.); prob. ex dial. sprag, to put the brake on.

sprained one's ankle, to have. See ankle.

sprang. Tea; any drink: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. A corruption, prob. of Southern dial. sprank, a sprinkling, a slight shower (E.D.D.).

spraser, spras(e)y. A sixpence: grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Perhaps ex sprat, 1, on Susie (Suzie). A variant is sprowsie.

sprat. A sixpence: low s. (— 1839) >, ca. 1880, gen. s.; slightly ob. Brandon. Prob. ex its smallness and that of the fish.—2. A sweetheart: low: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. fig. use of bloater, duck, pippin.

sprat-weather. A dark winter's-day: fishermen's coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann; Bowen. Such weather is suitable for the catching of sprats.

sprats. Personal effects; furniture: low: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. sticks.

sprawne. A prawn: sol.; or, at best, illiterate coll.: mid-C. 17—mid-18.

spread. A saddle: c.: late C. 18—mid-19. Tufts. Cf. S.E. spread, a coverlet.—2. ? hence, a shawl: low (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed.—3. Butter: c. (— 1811) >, ca. 1840, low s.; slightly ob. Lex. Bal.; H., 3rd ed., 'A term with workmen and schoolboys.' Because spread, but prob. influenced by bread. Cf. spreader, q.v.—4. An umbrella: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.—5. A banquet; an excellent or a copious meal: coll.: from ca. 1820. 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'E didn't even give me an invite | To 'is New Year's spread.'—6. Hence, among sporting men, a dinner: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.—7. An option: Stock Exchange: late C. 19–20; ob. Prob. suggested by straddle.—8. Gen. middle-aged spread, q.v.—9. See do a spread.—10. 'A herbalist who sells a mixture of dried plants. He spreads these herbs out in front of him and lectures on the health-giving value of each'; work the spread, 'to graft as a herbalist': grafters': late C. 19–20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

spread, do a. See do a spread.

spread it thick, thin. To live expensively, poorly: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex spreading butter thick or thin.

spread oneself. To make every effort, esp. monetary; to do one's very best, 'damn the expense!': orig. (1832) U.S., in sense of making a display; anglicised ca. 1890 as a coll.; by 1920, S.E.

spread the royal. (Gen. as vbl.n.) To give evidence against confederates: c. (— 1935). David Hume. Ex 'turn King's evidence.'

spreader. Butter: c.: early C. 17. Rowlands. Cf. spread, 3.

[spreame. An error (? a nonce-error) for sperm: C. 16. O.E.D.]

'Sprecious, Sprecious, S'pretious. A coll. oath: C. 17. Jonson. Abbr. God's precious. O.E.D.

spree. A boisterous frolic; a period of riotous enjoyment: Scots dial. (1804, Tarras) >, by 1810, coll. Origin problematic; but W.'s provisional identification, via early dial. variant spray, with spreagh, spreath, foray, cattle-raid, ex Gaelic spréidh, cattle, may well be correct.—2. Hence, a drinking bout, a tipsy carousal: coll.: 1811, Lex. Bal. Cf. spree, on the.—3. Hardly distinguishable from senses 1, 2: 'rough amusement, merry-making, or sport; prolonged drinking or carousing; indulgence or participation in this,' O.E.D.: Scots dial. (— 1808) >, ca. 1820, coll. Occ. without article, as in Frank Bullen, 1899, 'A steady course of spree.' (O.E.D.; E.D.D.)—4. A conceited person: Winchester College: from ca. 1870; ob. Pascoe, Public Schools, 1881. Ex adj.

spree, v.i. To carouse; have, take part in, a spree: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Mrs Gaskell, 1855 (O.E.D.) Ex n., 1, 2. Whence spreeing, vbl.n. and, occ., adj.

spree, adj. Befitting a Wykehamist; smart: Winchester: from ca. 1860; ob. Perhaps ex spree-mess, q.v.—2. Conceited: ibid.: from ca. 1870. This sense is applied only to juniors; used of acts, it = 'permissible only to prefects, or those of senior standing', Wrench. Ex dial.; cognate with S.E. spry and spruce.

spree, on a. Enjoying oneself: coll.: 1847 (O.E.D.). Ex spree, n., 1. Cf.:

spree, on or upon the. E.g. go on the spree. Having a riotous time, esp.—and in C. 20 almost solely—on a drinking bout: coll.: 1851, Mayhew, who has the † get on the spree; H., 1st ed., "'Going on the spree"', starting out with intent to have a frolic.' Ex spree, n., 1, 2, and cf. spree, on a.

spree-mess. A feast, esp. in the form of a 'spread' at tea-time, raised by subscription or given by departing boys and always held at the end of the half-year: Winchester College: ca. 1840–60. Mansfield. Ex spree, n., 1, 2, 3.

spreeish. Fond of or frequently sharing in 'sprees': coll.: 1825, C. Westmacott (O.E.D.)—2. Slightly intoxicated: coll. (— 1888). See spree, n., 2.

spress or 'spress. Express; express train: sol.; or rather, low coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

spring. V.i., to offer a higher price: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.); ob. by 1890, † by 1930. Whence spring to, q.v.—2. To give; disburse; buy (a certain amount): coll.: 1851, Mayhew, 'It's a feast at a poor country labourer's place when he springs sixpenn'orth of fresh herrings'; 1878, J. F. Sullivan, The British Working Man, 'Wot's 'e sprung?' (how much money has he given?). Ex spring, to cause to appear. Contrast rush, to charge extortionately.—3. Hence, to afford to buy: late C. 19–20. Cf. spring to, q.v.

spring a partridge. To entice a person and then rob or swindle him: c.: late C. 17—mid-18. B.E. In A New Canting Dict., 1725, collectively as spring partridges. Ex spring partridges, to cause them to rise.

spring-ankle warehouse. 'Newgate, or any other gaol,' Grose, 1st ed.: c. of ca. 1780–1840: Anglo-Irish. A sprained ankle = disablement = imprisonment.

spring at one's elbow, have a. To be a gamester: coll.: latish C. 17—mid-18. Ray, 1678. (Apperson.) Cf. the to raise one's elbow of drinking.

spring fleet. N.E. coast collier brigs going into the Baltic trade in the slack coal season: nautical coll.: late C. 19—early 20. Bowen.

spring-heeled Jack. A rocket-propelled torpedo: naval: very late C. 19—very early 20. Bowen.

spring like a ha'penny knife, with a. Floppy; with no resilience: lower classes' (— 1909). Ex 'deadness' of such a knife. Ware.

spring the plant. See plant, spring the.

spring to. To be able to pay or give; to afford: coll.: 1901, Anon., Troddles and Us, 'It's seven pound fifteen, and we can spring to that between us.'

Ex spring, 1, q.v.—2. Hence, to be able to accomplish: coll.: 1903, F. & H.

spring to it! Look lively!: coll.: from 1918 or 1919, esp. among ex-service men. Ex the military order. Cf. wait for it!, q.v.

[Springboks, South Africans, is journalese.]

springer. A 'dark' horse so much an outsider that no odds are quoted until just before the race: turf c. (— 1932). Ex springing a surprise.

springer-up. A tailor selling cheap, ready-made clothes: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Mayhew, 1851; H., 1st ed., 'The clothes are said to be "sprung up", or "blown together"'.—2. Hence, an employer paying 'famine' wages: lower classes': C. 20. Manchon.

Springers, the. The 10th Foot, from ca. 1881 the Lincolnshire Regiment: military: mid-C. 19–20.—2. Also, from 1777, the 62nd Foot (the Splashers), now the Wiltshire Regiment. F. & Gibbons. Ex a compliment passed by General Burgoyne in the American War.

sprinkle. To christen: jocular coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

sprook; sprooker. See spruik.

sprout wings. To become angelic, extremely upright, chaste, etc.: C. 20 jocular coll.

spowser. A costermongers' variant (— 1935) of: spowsy, -ie. A sixpence: nautical, c., low: C. 20. G. Orwell, 1933. See spraser.

spruce. A field: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld. Perhaps ex spruce growing there.

spruce, v.i. To tell lies or 'tall stories': v.t., to deceive thus: military: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. Prob. a corruption of spruik, q.v.—2. Hence, sprucer, one who does any, or all, of these things: from 1916. Cf. spruiker in:

spruik. 'To deliver a speech, as a showman': Australian: C. 20. C. J. Dennis. Presumably ex Dutch spreken, to speak.—2. Whence spruiker, a plausible 'spouter': id.: id. Hence, a platform speaker: Australian (— 1926). Jice Doone.

sprung. Tipsy: low s. >, in C. 20, coll.: from ca. 1825; ob. Often as in Judd, 1870, 'Ex-Corporal Whiston with his friends sallied from the store well-sprung.' Either ex spring, to moisten (in C. 19–20, only in dial.), or, as the O.E.D.'s earliest quotation tends to show, ex sprung, split or cracked, masts.

sprung-up, adj. See springer-up.

spud. A potato: dial (— 1860) >, by 1868, s. Possibly ex Spuddy, the nickname for a seller of bad potatoes (Mayhew, 1851), but prob. spud is the earlier. Perhaps an Anglo-Irish corruption of potato via murphy, q.v.: cf. Spud, the inevitable nickname of any male Murphy and occ. of anyone with an Irish name (F. & Gibbons). W., however, proposes a s. 'application of spud, weeding instrument', and pertinently compares the etymology of parsnip. Possible also is the spud adduced in the etymology of:—2. A baby's hand: dial. and nursery: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Halliwell. ? a corruption of pudsy, pudgy, or simply a special application of spud, a stumpy person or thing.

Spud, the. A fast goods-train carrying potatoes to London: railwaymen's: C. 20. The Daily Telegraph, Aug. 15, 1936. Cf. the Sparagras and the Flying Pig, and see the Bacca.

spud run. The bringing-off, in the duty cutter, of the weekly supply of potatoes: Conway cadets' (— 1917); ob. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.

spud-adjutant. An orderly corporal: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons: ex 'his duty in superintending the party carrying rations (potatoes) from the cook-house'. Cf. spud-practice.

spud-barber. A man on cook-house fatigue, esp. potato-peeling: military, esp. New Zealanders' in G.W.

spud-hole. A detention cell: military: C. 20. B. & P.

spud-practice. Peeling potatoes: military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. spud-peelers, men detailed for cook-house fatigue: id.: id. B. & P.

spuddy. See spud, 1.—2. A seller of baked potatoes: costers': late C. 19–20.

spun. See spin, v., 1.—2. Exhausted, tired out: 1924 (S.O.D.).—3. Checkmated; at a loss: C. 20. E.g. Miles Burton, To Catch a Thief, 1934, policeman loquitur, 'We know our way about . . . the underworld . . . But when it's a case . . . of the overworld, as one might say, then we're spun.'

spun from the winch. (Of a story that has been) invented: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Punning yarn.

spun-yarn major. A lieutenant-commander: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

spun-yarn trick. (Gen. pl.) An unfair trick: naval coll.: late C. 19–20. Ibid. Ex the unfair use of spun yarn in competitive evolutions.

spunk. Mettle, spirit; pluck: 1773, Goldsmith, is preceded by Bridges, 1772, 'Whether quite sober or dead drunk, | I know, my dear, you've too much spunk'; Grose. App. coll. >, ca. 1800, S.E. >, ca. 1850, coll. >, ca. 1890, s.: cf. the quotations and remarks in F. & H., O.E.D., and W., who derives it ex Gaelic spong, tinder: cf. phonetically and contrast semantically punk, q.v.—2. Hence, the seminal fluid: C. 19–20. Cf. mettle, q.v.—3. As in:

spunk-fencer. A match-seller: c. or low s. (— 1839). Brandon. Ex dial. spunk, a match.

spunky. Spirited; plucky: dial. (Burns, 1786) >, ca. 1800, coll. Lamb, 1805, 'Vittoria Corom-bona, a spunky Italian lady,' O.E.D.; 1819, Moore, 'His spunkiest backers were forced to sing small.'

spur. To annoy: c.: from ca. 1875; ob. Whence:

spur, get the. To be annoyed: c.: from ca. 1880. Cf. needle, q.v.

spur in one's head, have got a. To be (slightly) drunk: ca. 1770–1800: orig. and mainly jockeys'. The Gentleman's Magazine, 1770. O.E.D.

[Spurious words:—See 'Ghost words'.]

spurlos versenkt. Disappeared; gone completely: naval and military coll.: latter 1917; ob. F. & Gibbons. In Ger., lit. 'sunk traceless': ex a Ger. official despatch concerning recommended treatment of Argentine ships.

Spurs, the. Tottenham Hotspur Football Club: sporting: late C. 19–20.

spurs, dish up the. To cause guests to feel that it is time for them to depart: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. I.e. spurs to speed them on their way.

spurt. A small quantity: s. (— 1859) and dial. >, ca. 1890, dial. only. H., 1st ed. Prob. ex spurt, a brief effort, a short run, etc.

spurter. A blood-vessel severed in an operation: medical students' (— 1933). Slang, p. 193. It spurts blood.

spy in c. of C. 20 is thus mentioned in Edgar Wallace, Angel Esquire, 1908, 'It may mean policeman, detective, school-board official, rent collector, or the gentleman appointed by the gas company to extract pennies from the gas meters.'

Spy, Black; b.s. See black spy.

spying. A vbl.n. corresponding to spy, q.v.

squab, v.i. To squeeze by: King Edward's School, Birmingham: late C. 19–20. Prob. ex squab, to squeeze flat, influenced by sense of squash. —2. (Gen. as squob.) V.i. and v.t., to treat thus: 'With foot on wall or desk, and back against the victim who is similarly treated on the other side, or pressed against the opposite wall,' F. & H.: ibid.: id.

squab up, v.i. and v.t. To push: ibid., id.

squabash. A crushing blow; to crush, defeat: resp. 1818, Prof. Wilson, and 1822: s. >, ca. 1860, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.; ob. A blend of squash + bash. Cf. Scottish stramash. W. squabble. (Of type) to be or get mixed: printers' (— 1887). Baumann.

squad. A squadron: naval (— 1887). Baumann. (This is independent of the S.E. use in late C. 17.)

squad, halt! Salt: military rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

squaddy. An occ. perversion of swaddy: rare before C. 20. George Ingram, Stir, 1933.

squalino. To squeal: ca. 1818–60. (O.E.D.) Ex squall + squeal; fanciful suffix.

squall. A voice: c. of ca. 1720–60. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

square, n. See the adj., which it merely substantivalises.—2. Here, however, it may be noted that, in the underworld, all just and honest practices and actions are called the square, as opp. to the cross: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal. Cf. fig. straight.—3. A square dance: ball-room coll.: ca. 1890–1914. Ware.

square, v. To settle (a matter) satisfactorily: coll.: 1853, Dickens, 'I have squared it with the lad . . . and it's all right,' O.E.D. Ex square, to equalise, to balance (accounts).—2. Hence, to satisfy or win over, esp. by bribery or compensation; to get rid of thus: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1859, Lever, 'The horses he had "nobbled", the jockeys squared, the owners "hocussed"': 1879, T. H. Huxley. Specifically, square his nibs is to give a policeman money: H., 1st ed.—3. Hence, to get rid, or dispose, of by murder: 1888 (O.E.D.). Cf. square, get.—4. See square at, square it, square round, square up, square up to.

square, adj. Only in (up) on the square. (Pre-dicatively.) Free from duplicity; just; straightforward, upright: from ca. 1680: S.E. until ca. 1830, then coll.; by 1860, s. Cf.:

square, adv. Justly; honestly; straightforwardly: late C. 16–20: S.E. until ca. 1840, then coll.; in C. 20, s. Mayhew, 1851, ' . . . I wished to do the thing square and proper,' O.E.D.—2. Solidly, (almost) unanimously: coll.: 1867 (O.E.D.); mostly U.S.—3. Correctly, duly: coll.: 1889, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'Here they were married, all square and regular, by the Scotch clergyman,' O.E.D. square, be on the. To be a Mason: mid-C. 19–20.

square, be pushed off the. To be excused, or dismissed from, recruits' preliminary drill: Regular Army coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. The square is the barrack-square.

square, on or upon the. See square, n., 2.—2. On the tramp: beggars' and tramps' c. (— 1926). F. Jennings, In London's Shadows.—3. Engaged in squad-drill: military coll.: late C. 19–20. B. & P. I.e. on the barracks-square.

square, straight down the crooked lane and all round the. A late C. 19–early 20 c.p.: 'A humorous way of setting a man on his word,' F. & H. square, turn. To reform, and get one's living honestly: from ca. 1850. H., 1st ed.

square at (1827, De Quincey; ob. by 1890, † by 1920); square up to (from ca. 1850). To take up a boxing stance against (a person): coll. till ca. 1880. then S.E. Ex squaring one's shoulders.

square an' all! 'Of a truth; verily,' C. J. Dennis: (low) Australian: C. 20.

square bit, piece, (rarely tack). A sweetheart: military: from not later than 1916. F. & Gibbons; B. & P. Ex:—2. square bit, piece, pusher, a respectable girl or young woman: low and military: from not later than 1914. Ibid. Here, bit and piece = a girl or a woman. For pusher see square-pushing.

square clobber, square cove, square crib. Here, square = respectable, reputable: C. 19–20: coll. (though clobber and crib are not coll.). Vaux. A variation of square, honest, honourable, etc., applied to the implied activities.

Square Drinks, the. See Diamond Dinks.

square dinkum is an occ. variant of fair dinkum, itself an intensive of dinkum (q.v.), genuine, honest, straightforward: from ca. 1910. G. & Gibbons. A square dinkum bloke is the highest Australian praise for any man.

square-face; squareface. Gin; schiedam: 1879 (O.E.D.). Mostly South African. Ex 'the square bottles in which it was retailed in all parts of South Africa,' Pettman.

square-head; squarehead. A Scandinavian or, esp. in G.W. and after, a German: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex shape of head.—2. Earlier, a free immigrant: Australia: ca. 1870–90.—3. In c., an honest man: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

square it. To act, esp. to live, honestly: 1873 (O.E.D.): coll.

square-mainsail coat. A frock coat: nautical, esp. naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

square number. An easy billet: naval: C. 20. Ibid., 'the "number" refers to the station bill in which every man's job is entered.'

square off. To placate (a person): Australian: from ca. 1905.

square peg in a round hole, a. See peg in . . .

square piece. See square bit.

square-pusher. A decent girl: lower classes' (— 1902) >, by 1915, almost exclusively military. Lit., a 'square' or respectable 'pusher' or girl. F. & H. (at pusher); B. & P.—2. In pl., civilian boots: military: 1914–18. B. & P., 3rd ed.

square-pushing. An instance, or the habit, of 'walking out' with a girl or young woman: military: from ca. 1885. Ex the military practice of strolling with nursemaids and other maids round the square, or perhaps by back-formation ex the preceding. See also pusher. B. & P. Frank Richards considers (wrongly, I think) that the phrase originated 'in the care that men took to get their knapsack to look properly square before parading in full order': Old-Soldier Sahib, 1936.

square round. To make room: Winchester coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Wrench. Ex dial. sense, 'to sit so as to widen the circle and make room for others' (E.D.D.).

square-rigged. Well-dressed: from ca. 1850

(ob.); coll., orig. and mainly nautical. Ex the lit. S.E. sense. Cf. rig-out, q.v., and:

square tack. See square bit.

square (the) yards. To settle a score, esp. to take vengeance: from ca. 1835 (ob.): nautical. Dana, 'Many a delay and vexation . . . did he get to "square the yards with the bloody quill-driver"'; Bowen.

square-toes. See old square-toes.

square up. To pay (a debt): coll.: 1862, Mrs Henry Wood, 'I can square up some of my liabilities here,' O.E.D. Ex square, v., 1.

square up to. See square at.

squaresel. A square-sail: nautical coll. (—1887). Baumann.

squarum. A lapstone: shoemakers': from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed. I.e. a square one.

squash. A scrimmage or rough scrum: school football s.: from middle 1850's.

squash, v. To silence or snub (a person) crushingly: coll.: from ca. 1900.

squash ballad. A ballad 'prompting war and personal devotion': pacifists': 1896–1910. Ware. ? ex sentiment.

squashed fly or, gen., flies. A sandwich biscuit with currants: children's: late C. 19–20.

squat. A seat: London lower classes' (—1909). Ware. Also do a squat.

squatter. A kind of bronze-wing pigeon: Australian coll. nickname: from ca. 1870. Morris.

squattez-vous! Sit down!: from late 1890's. Kipling's Stalky, 'Be quick, you ass! . . . Squattez-vous on the floor, then!' Cf. twiggez-vous.

squawl. A variant of squall.

squeak. A criminal that, apprehended, informs on his colleagues: c. (—1795); ob. by 1850, † by 1880. Cf. squeak, v., 1, and squeal.—2. A piece of information to the police: c.: C. 20. Edgar Wallace. Esp. put in the squeak, to turn informer: c. (—1935). David Hume. Ex:

squeak. To turn informer: c.: C. 18–20; ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Ainsworth. Cf. squeal. Ex:—2. To confess (v.i.): s.: late C. 17–20; ob. In C. 10–20, rare except as in sense 1. Dryden, 1690, 'Put a civil question to him upon the rack, and he squeaks, I warrant him.' In construction, squeak on (a person), as in Edgar Wallace, Room 13.

squeak, put in the. See squeak, n., 2.

squeak beef. To cry 'Stop thief!': c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

squeak on. The v.t. form of squeak, v., 2, q.v.

squeak than wool, more. See wool, more squeak than.

squeaker. A pot-boy: ca. 1670–1830. Coles, 1676; Egan's Grose.—2. A child; esp. a bastard: from ca. 1670. Coles, B.E., Grose. Cf. squealer, 2.—3. A youngster: nautical: mid-C. 18–19. Bowen, who notes that in the training-ship Conway it designates a mizzon-top cadet (late C. 19–20). John Masefield, however, in his history of the Conway (1933), defines it as 'a small, noisy cadet', —not that the definitions are mutually exclusive! Comparable is the late C. 19–20 Public School sense, a boy in the lowest form (e.g. in Ian Hay, David and Destiny, 1934).—4. A blab; an informer, esp. to the police: C. 19–20. Cf. squeak, n.—5. A foxhound: sporting: 1828 (O.E.D.).—6. A pig, esp. if young: coll.: from ca. 1860.—7. A heavy blow: 1877 (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1890, coll.; ob. Ex effect.—8. See squeakers.—9. An Australian coll. name 'applied to various birds from their cries': 1848, J. Gould, The Birds of Australia. (Morris).—10. A cicada: South African coll. (mostly juvenile): from the 1890's. Pettman. It's 'cry' is hardly a squeak.—11. A tapioca pudding: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

squeaker, stifle the. To get rid of a bastard: late C. 17–20; ob. B.E.—2. Hence, in C. 19–20, to procure abortion. Both senses, low s.; almost c.

Squeaker, the. The Speaker: journalists': 1890's. Ware. It was the Radical mouthpiece.

squeakers. Organ pipes: c.: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

squeal. An informer: Scots c. (—1823); ob. Egan's Grose. Cf. squealer, 1.—2. Bacon: late C. 19–20. 'Hamadryad' in The Saturday Review, April 21, 1934, 'The farmer's land, crops, pigs and squeal.'

squeal, v.i.; v.t. with on. To turn informer: c., orig. (—1864), North Country; but in late C. 19–20 mainly U.S. H., 3rd ed. Cf. squeak, v., 1.

squealer. An informer: c. (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex squeal, v.—2. An illegitimate baby: low s. (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Cf. squeaker, 2.—3. A noisy small boy: Wellington (the English public school): late C. 19–20. Cf. squeaker, 3.—4. A pork sausage: tramps' c.: C. 20. (W. A. Gape, Half a Million Tramps, 1936.)

squealer, v.i. To behave as a noisy lower-form boy: Wellington College: C. 20. C.O.D., 1934 Sup.

squeeege. Squeeze (n. and v.): (in C. 20, low) coll.: late C. 18–20.

squeeegee band. 'An improvised ship's band': nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex the sound made by the squeeegee when vigorously used.

squeek, squeeker. B.E.'s spelling of squeak, squeaker, qq.v.

squeeze. The neck: c. (—1812); ob. Vaux. Also squeezer. Ex squeezing by the gallows-rope.—2. Hence, the rope itself: c.: from ca. 1830; ob.—3. Silk: c. (—1839). Brandon. Also as adj. from ca. 1870. Ex squeezeability into very small space.—4. Hence, a silk tie: c.: 1877 (O.E.D.).—5. Work, esp. in a crowd, e.g. stealing at a theatre: c. (—1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Perhaps ex:—6. A crowded assembly or (social) gathering: coll.: 1799, Mrs Barbauld, 'There is a squeeze, a fuss, a drum, a rout, and lastly a hurricane, when the whole house is full from top to bottom,' O.E.D.—7. An escape, esp. if a narrow one: coll.: 1875 (O.E.D.); ob. Ex squeeze by or past.—8. A strong commercial demand or money-market pressure: coll.: 1890 (O.E.D.): trade and Stock Exchange.—9. An illegal exaction: Anglo-Chinese coll.: from ca. 1880. Yule & Burnell.—10–12. Without date or quotation, F. & H. gives the following three s. senses: a hard bargain (from ca. 1870); hence, a Hobson's choice (ca. 1880–1920); a rise in salary (ca. 1890–1910), this last because of the difficulty of obtaining it.—13. An impression: police coll.: C. 20; G. D. H. and M. Cole, Burglars in Bucks, 1930; Richard Keverne, Menace, 1933, 'Parry's "squeeze" of the key to the Bruges warehouse.' squeeze. To bring into trouble: 1804 (O.E.D.); ob. by 1890, † by 1920.

squeeze, at (1897) or upon (1892; ob.) a. At a pinch: coll. O.E.D.

squeeze-box. A ship's harmonium: naval (—1909). Ware, 'From the action of the feet.'

squeeze-crab. A morose or a peevish man: low — 1887). Baumann.

squeeze-em-close. Sexual intercourse: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

squeeze-wax. A surety: C. 18—early 19. Grose, 1st ed. Ex sealing.—2. An accommodating sort of fellow: c. (— 1923). Manchon.

squeezable. Easy to make speak: lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

squeezer. The hangman's noose: c.: from ca. 1830; ob. 'Father Prout' Mahoney.—2. Hence, the neck: c. of ca. 1840–90. Cf. squeeze, n., 1.

squelcher. A heavy blow, crushing leading article, etc.: coll.: 1854, 'Cuthbert Bede', 'There's a squelcher in the bread-basket'; 1876, Besant & Rice (editorial). O.E.D.

squib. An apprentice 'puff', getting half the salary of a 'puff' (one who, at a gaming-house, receives money with which, as a decoy, to play): ca. 1730–1830: c. > s. > coll.—2. A gun: 1839, G. W. R. Reynolds (O.E.D.); almost †.—3. A sweet in the form of a squib: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Mayhew. O.E.D.—4. (Gen. pl.) A head of asparagus: London (mainly costers'): from ca. 1850. Mayhew. Ex shape.—5. A paint-brush; gen. pl. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.—6. In Christ Church (Oxford) s., any member of the University not privileged to belong to 'the House': ca. 1860–70.—7. A professional punter: turf c. (— 1932). Ex his often 'pyrotechnic' gains.

squified. Tipsy: late C. 19–20; ob. Prob. ex squiffy, q.v.

squiffer. A concertina: rather low: 1911, George Bernard Shaw (O.E.D. Sup.), but prob. dating from ca. 1890, for it was orig. a nautical term (Bowen). Perhaps a perversion of squeezer: cf. dial. squidge for squeege.—2. 'By a process of excusable exaggeration, an organ-bellows, or even the organ itself. By a characteristic confusion of ideas, a person who blows an organ', Ian Hay (in David and Destiny, 1934): Public Schools'.

squiffy. Slightly drunk: from ca. 1873. H., 6th ed.—2. Hence, drunk in any degree: from ca. 1880. Kipling, 1900, 'I never got squiffy but once . . . an' it made me horrid sick,' Prob. ex skew-whiff, perhaps on swipey, q.v.

[squigly, squirmy and wriggly, is rather S.E. than coll.]

squilde. A 'term of street chaff': London proletariat: 1895–96. A blend of a Christian and a surname. (Ware.)

squillagee. An unpopular seaman: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex nautical squillagee, a small swab; itself a diminutive of squeegee.

squinsy. See hempen squinsy.

squint. 'A man who hangs about the market with a paltry order, and who will not deal fairly': Stock Exchange (— 1909). Ware. Cf. Fr. louche.

squint, v. To lack (anything material): tailors': from ca. 1870; ob.

squint-a-pipes. A squinting person: from ca. 1786; † by 1870. Grose, 2nd ed.

squint is better than two finesses, one. A c.p. addressed, in bridge, to one's partner, to warn him that the opponents are trying to see his hand: from ca. 1925, and mostly Anglo-Irish.

squinters. The eyes: boxers' and low: from ca. 1860; ob. Baumann.

Squinting Jack. John Wilkes (1727–97), writer-politician. Ex his deformity. Dawson.

squire. A title prefixed to a country gentleman's surname and thus forming, very often, part of his appellation: mid-C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. (O.E.D.) Cf. squire, the, q.v.

squire, stand. To stand treat: coll.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

squire, the. 'A Sir Timothy Treat-all,' B.E.: late C. 17—early 19. Sometimes amplified to squire of the company, as in Grose, 1st ed. Cf. preceding entry.—2. A simpleton or a fool: late C. 17—mid-18. B.E., who adds: 'A fat Squire, a rich Fool.' Cf., perhaps abbr. of squire of Alsatia.

Squire Gawk(e)y. Richard Grenville (1711–79), 1st Earl Temple, the statesman. 'Ridiculously awkward' (Horace Walpole). Dawson.

squire of Alsatia. See Alsatia.—squire of the company. See squire, the, 1.

squire of the gimlet. A tapster: jocular coll.: ca. 1670–1800.

squire of the pad. See pad.

squire of the placket. A pimp: jocular coll.: ca. 1630–1800. D'Avenant. O.E.D. With these squire terms, cf. the much larger knight group.

squirish. Of 'One that pretends to Pay all Reckonings, and is not strong enough in the Pocket,' B.E.: late C. 17—mid-18. Ex squire, the, 1, q.v.—2. Foolish: same period. B.E. See squire, the, 2.

squirl. A flourish in writing: dial. (ca. 1840) >, before 1900, coll. (O.E.D. Sup.) Prob. ex squiggle and twirl.

squirm. A small objectionable boy: Public Schools: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. squirt.

squirrel. A harlot: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed., 'Because she, like that animal, covers her back with her tail. Meretrix corpore corpus alit.' squirt. A paltry person; a contemptible person, esp. if mean or treacherous: coll.: U.S. (— 1848), anglicised ca. 1875; common also in dial. Cf. squirt.—2. Hence, at Public Schools, an obnoxious boy: from ca. 1880. Cf. squirm, q.v.—3. A doctor; a dispensing chemist: from late 1850's; slightly ob. H., 1st ed. Ex squirt, a syringe.—4. Champagne: low: from ca. 1870; ob. Ware, 'Suggested by its uppishness.' Cf. fizz.—5. A water-pistol: mostly boys': from ca. 1900. Collinson.—6. Hence (?), a revolver: Australian c. (— 1926) >, by 1930, low s. (Jice Doone); in N.Z. c. by not later than 1932. It sprays with bullets. 7. The cheapest (and worst) beer: low: from ca. 1920. Ex its effect: cf. squitters and belly-vengeance, qq.v.

squirt, v.i. To blab: low coll.: C. 19. Prob. ex excremental sense.

squirt, do a squeeze and a. (Of the male) to coit: low: C. 19–20. Also squirt one's juice.

squirt a mouldy. See mouldy, 2.

squish. Marmalade: university (— 1874), hence Public Schools'. H., 5th ed. Ex squishy, soft and wet, or squish, v.i., to squirt out splashily or gushingly.—2. At Winchester, from ca. 1880, also and mainly, it = weak tea.—3. Nonsense: 1912 (O.E.D. Sup.); ob. Ex senses 1, 2—esp. 1. Cf. slush.

squit. In same sense as, and prob. cognate with, squirt, n., 1, q.v.: dial. (— 1825), partly colloquial—used ca. 1880 (cf. Anstey, 1889, 'He's not half a bad little squit,' O.E.D.) and by 1920, > s. Esp. a small cadet (Conway s.: late C. 19–20,—witness John Masefield's history of the Conway, 1933), and used, in gen., esp. of a small man, as in G. D. H. and M. Cole, The Great Southern Mystery, 1931, 'Little squit of a chap.'

squitters. Diarrhoea: mid-C. 17–20: S.E. till C. 19, then dial.; in late C. 19–20, also schoolboys' s. Cognate with squirt.

squivalens. Extras; perquisites: Australian: ca. 1870–1910. R. D. Barton, Reminiscences of an Australian Pioneer, 1917. Perhaps ex equivalents.

squiz. 'A brief glance,' C. J. Dennis; a sly glance: (low) Australian. Ex squint + quiz. (Cf. swiz.)

squo. Racquets played with a soft ball: Charter-house: from ca. 1880. Also in squo-ball and -court. By a slurring of squash, that game. (A. H. Tod.) Hence, squo off, to snub (a person): ibid.: C. 20. By a pun: cf. squash, v.

squob; squob up. See squab, squab up.

[squooch in Manchon is dial.—more gen. squa(i)ch.]

sres-wort; sreswort. Trousers: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. See:

sret-sio; sretsio. Oysters: back s. (—1874). H., 5th ed., where, of spinsrap, sret-sio, sres-wort, stargs, stools, storrac, stun, and stunlaw, qq.v., it is said that 'all these will take the s, which is now [i.e. there] initial, after them, if desired, and, as may be seen, some take it doubly.'

St. See saint, Saint.—st. Shall: orig. and properly dial., but occ. illiterate coll.: late C. 16–mid-18. Cotton, 1670, 'Hee st give me Kisses half a score,' O.E.D. Gen. written as in we'st = we'll.

stab, 'stab. Establishment, as in on (the) stab, in regular work at a fixed wage, as opp. to occasional piece-work: printers' (—1864). H., 3rd ed.

stab, v.i. S. or coll. (? orig. c.), ca. 1670–1780, as in Cotton's Complete Gamester: 'Stabbing, . . . having a smooth box and small in the bottom, you drop in both your dice in such a manner as you would have them sticking therein . . . the dice lying one upon another; so that, turning up the box, the dice never tumble . . . by which means you have bottoms according to the tops you put in.'

stab at, have or make a. To attempt, endeavour, have a shot at: coll., orig. (ca. 1907) U.S., anglicised ca. 1929. O.E.D. (Sup.).

stab in the thigh. To coït (with a woman): coll.: C. 19–20.

stab-rag. A (regimental) tailor: military: from ca. 1840. Punch, 1841; H., 3rd ed.; O.E.D. (Sup.). Also rag-stabber: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. prick-louse.

stab yourself and pass the bottle! Help yourself and pass the bottle: a theatrical c.p. (—1864); very ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex dagger-and-poison melodrama.

stabbed with a Bridport dagger. See Bridport dagger.

stable-companion. A member of the same club, clique, etc.: coll.: C. 20. Ex lit. sense, a horse from the same stable.

stable Jack. A cavalryman: infantrymen's (—1909); ob. Ware.

stable-mind. Devotion to horses: Society (—1909); ob. Ware. By a pun.

stable-my-naggie, play at. To coït: C. 19–20; ob.

stack. To shuffle (a pack of cards) in a dishonest manner: C. 20: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. Ex U.S. (late C. 19).—2. Hence, to take an unfair advantage: from ca. 1905: coll. >, by 1933, S.E.

stacks (of the ready). Plenty of money: coll.: late C. 19–20. F. & H. In the singular, stack, a quantity, is S.E. (unrecorded before 1894: O.E.D.).

—2. Hence, stacks = much, as in stacks of fun (cf. heaps of fun): C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.).

staff. (Gen. the.) Staff-sergeant: Regular Army coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. major, the.

staff, the worse end of the. (Gen. preceded by have.) The disadvantage: coll.: ca. 1530–1890. One of the Coventry Plays, 1534; J. Wilson, The Cheats, 1664; North, 1740. (Apperson.) Whence wrong end of the stick.

staff-breaker or -climber. A woman: low: C. 19–20. Ex such literary euphemisms as staff, staff of life, and staff of love. Cf. allusive S.E. lance.

staff crawl. An inspection tour of the trenches by a general and his staff: military coll.: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

staff naked. Gin: low (—1857); † by 1920. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Perhaps a mere misprint for stark-naked, q.v.

Stafford court, be tried or have a trial in. To be (severely) beaten, greatly ill-used: coll.: early C. 17. Cotgrave. (Cf. the late C. 14–early 15 clad in Stafford blue, blue-bruised by beating: either coll. or merely jocular S.E.) Prob. ex:

Stafford law. 'Club' law; violence: coll.: late C. 16–mid-17. Occ., as in 'Water-Poet' Taylor, Stafford's law. Punning staff. Cf. preceding entry.

Staffordshire Knots, the. The 80th Foot—now the South Staffordshire—Regiment. Military: C. 19–20. Their badge, adopted in 1793, is a knotted cable; prob. suggested by Stafford's knot, a knot resembling that used heraldically in the badge of the Stafford family. (F. & Gibbons.)

stag. An informer: c. (—1725) >, ca. 1820, low s.; virtually †. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose; Ainsworth. Ex the animal; cf. stag, turn, q.v.—2. A professional bailsmen or alibi-provider: c. of ca. 1820–90. 'Jon Bee.' Perhaps ironically on 'noble beast'.—3. Any such applicant for shares as intends to sell immediately at a profit or, if no profit quickly accrues, is ready to forfeit the deposit money: commercial: 1846, Thackeray (O.E.D.). Perhaps ex sense 1.—4. Hence, an irregular outside dealer: commercial: 1854 (O.E.D.).—5. A shilling: low s. (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus', 1st ed.; Henley, 1887. Cf. hog.—6. See stag-dance, -month, -party, -widow.—7. See stag, in.—8. Sentry-go: military: late C. 19–20. B. & P. Prob. ex sense 1.

stag, v.t. To observe, watch, detect: late C. 18–20: c. >, ca. 1850, low s. (Also, from ca. 1820, as v.i. 'Jon Bee.') Grose, 3rd ed.; H. Kingsley, 1859. Ex stag, n., 1.—2. Hence, v.i., to turn informer (against): c.: from late 1830's. W. Carleton, 1839 (O.E.D.). Cf. stag, turn, q.v.—3. To be severe towards (a person); to cripple (him) financially; refuse a loan to: from ca. 1810. The Daily News, July 13, 1870, 'A man refusing . . . his line was . . . "staged"', and when he went for an advance it was resolutely refused,' O.E.D. Ex sense 1.—4. V.i. and v.t., to beg (money); dun (a person): low s., perhaps orig. c. (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed.—5. V.i., to deal in shares as a 'stag' (see stag, n., 3 and 4): commercial: mid-C. 19–20. Often stag it, as in Thackeray, 1845.—6. To cut; mostly in stag off: Canadian, esp. lumbermen's (—1932). John Beames. Ex Midlands dial. stag, 'to cut a hedge level at the top' (E.D.D.) stag, in. Naked: C. 17 coll. Dekker, 1602. ? ex a stag's colour.

stag, turn. To impeach one's accomplices: o. (—1785) >, ca. 1840, low s. Grose, 1st ed., 'From a herd of deer who are said to turn their horns against any of their number who is hunted.'

stag-book. A book containing (gen. only) the names of bogus shareholders: commercial: 1854, Household Words (O.E.D.). See stag, n., 3.

stag-dance. A dance with only men present: U.S. (— 1848), partly anglicised ca. 1870. Cf. bull-dance and see stag-party.

stag-mag. A stage-manager; to stage-manage: theatrical: from ca. 1880.

stag-month. The month of a woman's lying-in: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. the C. 18 gander-month, q.v.; cf. also the next two entries.

stag-party. A party of men: U.S. (1856), anglicised ca. 1870. Cf. stag-dance.

stag-widow. A man whose wife is lying in: from ca. 1870. Cf. stag-month.

stage; always the s. The privilege-period of a convict's imprisonment; gained by a certain number of good-conduct (or remission) marks: c. (— 1932). Anon., Dartmoor from Within. I.e. the final stage.

stage, v. To do or accomplish, esp. if unexpectedly or very effectively or effectually: mainly sporting: from ca. 1920. E.g., Crawford was, in the Wimbledon semi-finals, 1934, said to have staged a come-back against Shields after being two, and very nearly three, sets down. Cf. s. use of show.

[stager, old. A veteran; a person (occ. an animal) of experience: late C. 16–20: either coll. > S.E. or always S.E. Cf. Old Fr. estagier, an inhabitant or resident.]

stagger. A spy; a look-out: c. (— 1859) >, ca. 1880, low s. H., 1st ed. Ex stag, v., 1.—2. An attempt: dial. (— 1880) >, ca. 1890, s. Esp. in telegraphers' s. (— 1895), 'a guess at an illegible word in a telegram,' Funk & Wagnall.—3. See staggers.

stagger, v. To go: among young men-about-town: from ca. 1908. P. G. Wodehouse; Dorothy Sayer's Lord Peter Wimsey novels. Hence, stagger off (c.g. to bed), to depart.

stagger, do a. See do a stagger.

stagger out, to depart: 1909, P. G. Wodehouse, Mike.

stagger-juice. Strong liquor: Australian: 1907 (O.E.D.); slightly ob. Also, in gen. low s., staggering juice (Manchon).

staggers, get the. To lose one's touch, temporarily lose one's skill; to be making mistakes: sporting: 1933, The Passing Show, July 15. Ex the next.

staggers, the. A drunken fit: coll.: C. 19–20. Ex have the staggers, to be unable to walk straight.

staggers. (Of an animal) affected with staggers (1778); (of a person) apt to stagger; unsteady (1837, Dickens). Coll. O.E.D.

staggering, vbl.n.; ppl.adj. See stag, v., the fifth sense. Kinglsey, 1849: both.

Stagyrite is incorrect for Stagirite: C. 18–20. (O.E.D.)

Stahlhelmer. A member of the Stahlhelm (the Ger. organisation of Steel Helmets): coll.: 1928 (O.E.D. Sup.).

Staines, be at. To be in pecuniary difficulties: ca. 1810–50. Vaux. Also, be at the Bush, in reference to the Bush Inn at Staines.

stair-steps, -steppers. Children at regular intervals, as one sees by (e.g.) their height: coll.: both in C. R. Cooper, Lions 'n' Tigers, 1925. O.E.D. (Sup.).

stairs without a landing, the. A treadmill: c.: ca. 1880–1910. J. Greenwood, 1884, 'He's lodging now at Coldbaths Fields—getting up the stairs without a landing.' Cf. everlasting staircase.

stajum. Stadium: sol., mostly Cockney and Australian (— 1916). C. J. Dennis.

stake. A booty acquired by robbery, a 'swag'; if large, a prime or a heavy stake: c. (— 1812) >, ca. 1850, low s.; ob. Vaux.—2. Hence, same period, a valuable or desirable acquisition of any kind is a stake. Vaux.

stake one's lot. To gamble all: Glasgow coll. (— 1934).

stakes, the —. The [specified] 'line', way of life: coll.: C. 20. As in James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'Both men looked as if they might be on the Jo Roncing stakes' (q.v. at Joe Ronce). Prob. ex racing j. stalding is incorrect for scalding: C. 16–17. Holinshed. O.E.D.

stale. A thief's or sharper's accomplice, gen. acting as a decoy: ca. 1520–1650: S.E. >, ca. 1590, c., as in Greene and 'Water-Poet' Taylor. Ex stale, a decoy-bird. An early form of stall.

stale bear or bull. A 'bear' having long been short of, a 'bull' having long held, stock: Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1890.

stalk, the. The gallows in Punch and Judy: showmen's: mid-C. 19–20.

stalk a judy. To follow (and accost) a woman: low: late C. 19–20. Cf.:

stalk the streets. (Of either sex) to look for sexual satisfaction: late C. 19–20; ob.

stalky. Clever, cunning; cleverly or cunningly contrived: schoolboys': ca. 1895–1900. Thus in Kipling's school-story. (O.E.D. Sup.) I.e. good at stalking.

stall. A pickpocket's helper, who distracts the victim's attention: c.: from ca. 1590. Greene, 1591; Dekker. (Also stallsman.) Ex stall, a decoy-bird. Cf. stalc, q.v.—2. Hence, the practice, or an act, of 'stalling', i.e. thus helping a pickpocket: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux, 'A violent pressure in a crowd, made by pickpockets.'—3. Hence, a pretext—or its means—for theft or imposition: from ca. 1850: c. >, ca. 1910, low s. Mayhew.—4. Hence, any pretext or excuse; esp. a playing for time: from ca. 1855. H., 1st ed. Cf. stall-off, n.

stall, v. To screen (a pickpocket or his thieving): c.: from ca. 1590. Greene, 1592; Head; 'Ducange Anglicus'. Ex stall, n., 1, q.v. Also stall off, q.v., and cf. stall up.—2. V.i., to make excuses, allege pretexts, play for time: from ca. 1870. Ex stall, n., 3.—3. V.i., to play a role: theatrical: from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed. Perhaps suggested by preceding sense.—4. V.i., to lodge, or to stay the night at, a public house: from ca. 1855; slightly ob. H., 1st ed. Prob. ex dial. (in Shakespeare, S.E.) stall, to dwell.—5. V.i., to travel about: c.: ca. 1840–90. 'No. 747.' Perhaps the imm. origin of sense 4.—6. See stall one's mug and stall to the rogue.—7. V.i., to hang about; grafter's: late C. 19–20. (P. Allingham, 1934.) Ex senses 2 and 4.

stall, chuck (one) a. The same as stall, v., 1: c.: from ca. 1880. J. Greenwood in The Daily Telegraph, Dec. 30, 1881, republished in 1884.

stall, make a. To effect a robbery as in stall up, q.v.: c. (— 1812). Vaux. stall, put up a, v.i. To mislead, to deceive, to hoodwink: lower classes' (late C. 19–20) and military (C. 20). F. & Gibbons. Ex stall, n., 4.

stall-off. An act of 'stalling off'; an evasive trick or story; a pretence, excuse, or prevarication: c. (—1812). Vaux; Mayhew. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

stall off, v. See stall, v., 1: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.—2. Hence, to avoid or get rid of evasively or plausibly: c. (—1812) >, ca. 1850, s. Vaux; H., 1st ed.; Sala (O.E.D.).—3. Hence, to extricate, free, get off (a person) by trickery or other artifice: c. (—1812) >, ca. 1860, s.; ob. Vaux.—4. Hence, or ex sense 2, to keep the mastery, maintain superiority, over (a competitor, be it horse, as orig., or man): sporting: 1883 (O.E.D.). Frequently stall off the challenge of (another horse in the race).

stall one's mug. To depart; esp. hurriedly: c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Gen. stall your mug!, a sharp order. 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857; H., 1st ed. Prob. ex stall off, v., 2, q.v.

stall-pot. (Gen. pl.) The occupant of a stall-seat: theatrical (—1909). Warc.

stall to the rogue; occ. to the order of rogues. To instal (a beggar) in roguery, appoint him a member of the underworld: c.: ca. 1565–1840, but archaic after C. 17. Harman, B.E. By itself, stall is rare; Fletcher, 1622, has 'I . . . stall thee by the Salmon'—by the beggar's oath—. . . To mand on the pad.'

stall up. To hustle, after surrounding, a person being robbed: c. (—1812). Vaux, who specifies the method whereby the victim's arms are forced up and kept in the air. Cf. stall, v., 1.

stall-whimper. A bastard: c. (—1676); † by 1840. Coles, Grose.

staller. A person constantly, or very good at, making excuses or playing for time: from ca. 1870. Ex stall, n., 3, via v., 2.

staller-up. One who acts as in stall up, q.v.: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.—2. Hence, any accomplice of a pickpocket: c.: from ca. 1820.

stalling. The 'ordination' and/or actual 'ordaining' of a beggar: c. (—1688); † by 1850. Randle Holme. See stall to the rogue.

stalling-ken. Also, in C. 16, staulinge, stauling-; in C. 17, stauling-, stuling. A house, office, or room for the reception of stolen goods: c.: ca. 1565–1840, but archaic after ca. 1750. Harman, B.E., Grose. Here, stalling simply = placing.

stallsman; incorrectly, stalsman. See stall, n., 1: c. (—1839); ob. Brandon; H., 1st ed.

stalume. Incorrect for stallion: C. 16. O.E.D.

stam flash. To talk the s. of the underworld: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose (1st ed.), who repeats B.E.'s misprinted flesh. See flash, n.; stam, unrecorded except in this phrase and ignored by the O.E.D., is prob. cognate with A.-S. stemn, a voice, via the stefne (steven) of M.E., which has occ. examples in -m- or -mn-; its imm. source is prob. either Ger. stimmen, to make one's voice heard, to sing (cf. the lit. meaning of to cant, particularly significant for our phrase), or the corresponding Dutch v., stemmen.

stammel. 'A brawny, lusty, strapping Wench', B.E.: late C. 16–early 19. Deloney, 1597 (O.E.D.); Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps = 'wearer of a stammel'—coarse woollen—'petticoat', O.E.D. The form strammel does not occur before C. 18 and is gen. applied to an animal.

stammer. An indictment: c. of ca. 1820–60. Egan's Grose. Ex its effect.

stamp. See stamps.—2. 'A particular manner of throwing the dice out of the box, by striking it with violence against the table,' Grose, 2nd ed.: from ca. 1770: dicing coll. >, by 1830, j.; ob.

stamp-and-go. A chanty 'sung for a straight pull along the deck': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

stamp-crab. A heavy walker: late C. 19–early 20; ob. On beetle-crusher.

stamp-drawers. Stockings: c.: C. 17–early 19. See drawers and stamps.

stamp-in-the-ashes. Some fancy drink: early C. 16. Cf. swell-nose.

stamper. Shoes or boots: c.: from ca. 1565; ob. Harman; B.E.; Grose; Egan, 1828, 'My padders, my stampers, my buckets, otherwise my boots.' Cf. stamps, 2.—2. Hence, fect: c.: ca. 1650–90. Brome, Head. Cf. stamps, 1.—3. Carriers: c.: from ca. 1670. Coles; B.E.; The Sporting Magazine, 1819, 'Coster-mongers, in all their gradations, down to the Stampers,' O.E.D.; † by 1860. Hence, in late C. 17–18, deuseaville stampers, county or country carriers: B.E.

stamps. Legs: c.: ca. 1565–1840. Harman, Grose. Because with them one stamps. Cf. stampers, 2.—2. Hence, shoes: c. (—1812); ob. Vaux. Cf. stampers, 1.—3. Types, esp. in picking up stamps, composing: printers' s. (—1875). O.E.D. Cf. stamp, a die.

stan. To stand: sol.: C. 19–20. Michael Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935, 'A sharp word of command bit like acid into the lush half-silence. Company: fohm-fowers! Stan-nat ease!'

stand. A thief's assistant that keeps watch: o. of ca. 1590–1640. Greene; 'Water-Poet' Taylor. (O.E.D.) Ex standing on watch: cf. standing.—2. An erectio penis: low coll.: C. 19–20. Ex the v.—3. A mouth-whore: low (? rather, c.): late C. 19–20.

stand, v. To make a present of; to pay for: coll.: 1835, Dickens, '[He] "stood" considerable quantities of spirits-and-water', O.E.D.—2. Hence, to pay for the drinks of (a person, or persons): coll.: 1894 (O.E.D.).—3. To make stand; set upright, leave standing; set firmly in a specified place, or position: 1837, Dickens: coll. >, ca. 1870, familiar S.E. E.g. 'stand a child in the corner.'—4. See stand in and stand up; also see pad, patter, racket, sam, treat, and velvet.

'stand always!', as the girl said. A c.p., mid-C. 19–20 (ob.), with a punning reference to priapism. Ex the physiological S.E. sense of stand.

stand at ease! Cheese: military rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

stand bluff or buff. To swear it is so; to stand firm; to take the consequences: late C. 17–20; bluff, † by 1900; buff, ob. 'Hudibras' Butler; Fielding; Sheridan, 1777 (bluff: ? earliest record); Scott. See buff.

stand for. To endure, tolerate; agree to: U.S. (middle 1890's), anglicised as a coll. in early 1920's. O.E.D. (Sup.).

stand (one) in. To cost (a person) so much, the sum gen. being stated: C. 15–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll.; in C. 20, fashionable s. when not dial. Thackeray, 1848, 'It stands me in eight shillings a bottle,' O.E.D. stand-off. Stand-offish: Australian coll. (—1916). C. J. Dennis.

stand on me for that! You can take my word for it!: sporting c.p.: from before 1932. Slang, p. 242.

stand on one's hind legs. To show temper: coll.: late C. 19-20.

stand on the stones. See stones, stand on the.

stand one's hand. To meet the bill (esp. for the company's refreshment or entertainment): coll.: from ca. 1880. H. Nisbet, 1892, 'I used to see her . . . "standing her hand" liberally to all . . . in the bar,' O.E.D. Cf. stand shot, q.v.

stand pad or (derivatively) Paddy. (Of a pedlar) to sell from a stationary position: tramps' c.: resp. C. 18-20 and late C. 19-20. Ex pad, a road.

stand ready at the door. To be handy for use: coll.: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Ex spade, axe, saddle and bridle, whip, gen. standing there.

stand right under! Clear out!: nautical coll. (-1887). Baumann. Ex nautical j. stand from under.

stand sam. See sam, stand.

stand shot; rarely stand the shot. Same as stand one's hand, q.v.: coll.: from ca. 1820. V.t. with to. Cf. stand sam and S.E. stand treat.

stand the patter. See patter, stand the.

stand to, boys! the Jocks are going over. A c.p. jocularly directed at 'kilties': 1916-18. B. & P. The 'Jocks' were extremely popular with women, Australians, journalists.

stand to sense. See sense, stand to.

stand-up. A dance: low coll.: 1851, Mayhew, 'It was a penny a dance . . . and each stand-up took a quarter of an hour,' O.E.D.—2. A meal or a snack taken standing: coll. (1884: O.E.D.) >, ca. 1910, S.E. Cf. perpendicular.—3. An act of copulation done standing: low coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Also a perpendicular or knee-trembler.

stand up, v.i. To shelter from the rain: coll. and dial.: 1887, 'Mark Rutherford'; 1908, G. K. Chesterton, 'Hoping . . . that the snow-shower might be slight, he . . . stood up under the doorway,' O.E.D.—2. V.t., to keep waiting; to deceive: c.: from ca. 1925. J. Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'He didn't want Maisie to think that he was standing her up.'

stand up in. To be wearing at that moment: coll.: C. 20. 'I can't very well stay the night, I've only the things I stand up in.'

stand-up prayers. Divine Service under makeshift conditions: naval coll.: 1914-18. F. & Gibbons.

stand-up seat, have a. To (be obliged to) stand, e.g. in a train: jocular coll.: C. 20.

stand up with. To dance with: coll.: 1812, Jane Austen, 'If you want to dance, Fanny, I will stand up with you'; ob.—2. To act as bridesmaid or groomsman for: mid-C. 19-20; ob. by 1910, † by 1935.

standard. (A person's) height: catachrestic for stature: C. 19-20. O.E.D.

stander. A criminal's, esp. a thief's, sentinel: early C. 17 c. Rowlands, 1610.

standing. A thieves' station: o.: 1548, Latimer; † by 1590.

standing, take. To accept composedly, endure patiently or without fuss: coll.: 1901, The Free Lance, April 27, 'Like a philosophical American, he took it standing, merely remarking . . . ' Ex taking a high jump without a run up.

standing bridge. A thief's or thieves' sentinel: c.: late C. 17-early 19. B.E., 'The Thieves Scout or Perdu'; Grose. Cf. sneaking bridge; see bridge.

standing part. 'The original structure of anything that has since been embellished, even down to a much-patched pair of trousers' (Bowen): nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Ex the nautical j. senses.

standing patterer. One of those men 'who take a stand on the curb of a public thoroughfare, and deliver prepared speeches to effect a sale of any articles they have to vend' (esp. broadsides), H., 1st ed.: London s. (from ca. 1850), ob. by 1890, † by 1910; The Metropolitan Streets' Act, 1867, made it very difficult for them. Contrast flying stationer and cf. paper-worker.

standing prick has no conscience, a. A low c.p. (mid-C. 19-20) that, from its verity and force, has >, virtually, a proverb.

standing room for (a man), make. To receive him sexually: low: late C. 19-20. Whence understandings, a woman's conquests; ob.

standing ware. A variant of stand, n., 2, q.v.: mid-C. 19-20.

stang(e)y. A tailor: low: late C. 18-20; ob. Grose, 1st ed. (also twangey); H., 2nd ed. (Cf. prick-louse.) Ex the needle: cf. stang, an eel-spear.—2. A person under petticoat government: rural (-1860). H., 2nd ed. Ex the custom of riding the stang, where stang = a pole.

[stangs, says Manchon, is c. for 'chains': but is not this an error for slangs? See slangs, 1.]

stap my vitals! A coll. exclamation or asseveration: late C. 17-20; ob. Ex Lord Foppington's pronunciation, in Vanbrugh's The Relapse, 1696, of stop. In late C. 19-20, occ. affectedly, stap me! (O.E.D.)

staph. Staphylococcus, a common type of bacteria: medical students' (-1933). Slang, p. 190. Cf. strep.

Star. (Always the Star.) The Star and Garter inn at Richmond: coll. (-1864). H., 3rd ed.

star. A 'starring the glaze'; the star, this practice: c. (-1812); ob. Vaux, 'A person convicted of this offence, is . . . done for a star.' See star the glaze.—2. One who 'shines' in society; a very distinguished person: mid-C. 19-20: mostly coll.—3. Hence, in late C. 19-20, a famous actor or actress, esp. the most prominent one in any given play or film: coll. Ex to star, 2, q.v.—4. 'An article introduced into a sale after the catalogue has been printed: marked in the official copy by a star,' F. & H.: auctioneers': from ca. 1880.—5. In reference to the badge worn by first offenders: prison s.: 1882 (O.E.D.). E.g. star-class prisoners.—6. Hence, a prisoner of the 'star' class: coll.: 1903, Lord W. Neville (O.E.D.).

star, v. See star the glaze.—2. V.i., to act the leading part in a play: 1824 (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1860, S.E. Also, from 1825, star it: same status.—3. Hence v.t., as in star the provinces, to tour there as the 'star' of a dramatic company: 1850, Thackeray, 'She . . . had starred the provinces with great éclat,' O.E.D.: coll. till ca. 1870, then S.E.

star and garter! my; gen. my ss. and gg. A coll. expression of astonishment: 1850, R. G. Cumming, 'My stars and garters! what sort of man is this?' (O.E.D.) Cf. stars! my, q.v.

star-back. An expensive seat: circus s. (-1933). Edward Seago, Circus Company. I.e. a seat with a back, not a mere plank.

star company. A company with one star, and the rest mere nobodies: theatrical coll.: ca. 1884-1914. Ware.

star-gazer. A penis in erection: C. 18-20; ob.—2. A hedge whore: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed.—3. A horse that, in trotting, holds its head well up: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 1st ed.—4. An imaginary sail: nautical: from ca. 1865; ob. Smyth; Clark Russell. Prob. suggested by nautical sky-scraper.

star-gazing on one's back, go. (Of a woman) to coit: low: mid-C. 19–20. Ex star-gazer, 2, q.v.

Star Hotel, sleep in the. To sleep in the open: New Zealand tramps' c. (— 1932). Cf. sleep with Mrs Green.

star it. See star, v., 2.

star-lay. Robbery by breaking windows: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Lex. Bal., Egan's Grose, Baumann, misprint it as star lag. Ex star the glaze.

star man. A prisoner on first conviction: c. and police s. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach. Ex the official mark against his name.

Star of the Line, the. The 29th Foot—in late C. 19–20, the Worcestershire—Regiment: military: C. 19–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex the 'eight-pointed "Garter Star", worn as a special distinction on the greatcoat straps.'

star of the movies, the. The No. 9 pill: military: 1917; ob. B. & P. It caused one to move briskly to the latrine.

star-pitch. A sleep(ing) in the open: tramps' c.: from ca. 1870. Cf. Hedge Square and do a starry (see at starry) and Star Hotel . . .

star the glaze. 'To break and rob a jeweller's show glass,' Grose, 2nd ed.: c.: from ca. 1786; ob.—2. Hence, to smash any window (or show-case) and steal the contents: c.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex star, to mark or adorn with a star. Cf. star, n., and star-lay, qq.v.

starboard fore-lift(, give a person a shake of one's). The right hand: nautical: mid-C. 19—early 20. Bowen.

starbowlines. The starboard watch: nautical: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Bowen. Cf. larbowlines, q.v.

Starch Johnny. John Crowne (d. 1703), the dramatist. Dawson.

starch out of, take the. (Of a woman) to receive sexually: low: mid-C. 19–20. Ex the S.E. sense, to abase or humiliate.

starcher. A stiff white tie: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex † starcher (starched cravat).

starchy. Drunk: from ca. 1870; ob. (Not upper-class s.)

stare, as like as one can (or could). Very like in appearance: coll.: 1714, Gay, 'A fine child, as like his dad as he could stare'; Jane Austen. Ob. O.E.D.

stare-cat. An inquisitive neighbour, esp. if a woman: women's: orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1902. Cf. rubber-neck, q.v., and copy-cat.

stare like a dead (1694, Motteux) or a stuck (1720, Gay) pig. To gape and stare in utter astonishment or dismay: coll.: the former, rare and † by 1800; the latter (G. Parker, 1789; Joseph Thomas, 1895), actively extant, but considered, in C. 20, as slightly vulgar. Apperson, who cites the Cheshire stare like a choked throistle and like a throttled cat or earwig.

starers. Long-handled eye-glasses; a lorgnette: coll. (society > by 1900, gen.): 1894, Anthony Hope, The Dolly Dialogues.

staring-quarter. An ox-cheek: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 1st ed. In dial., a 'staring quarter' is a laughing-stock.

stark-naked. (Neat or raw) gin: low: 1820, J. H. Reynolds (O.E.D.); almost †. Cf. strip-meked, q.v.—2. Occ. any unadulterated spirit:

from late 1850's. H., 2nd ed.—3. Hence, adj.: unadulterated: mid-C. 19–20. All senses derive ex the notion of resultant poverty.

starkers; starko. Stark-naked: from ca. 1910: resp. Oxford University s. and low coll. Manchon. I.e. stark + 'the Oxford-er' with 'familiar pluralisation', and stark + the lower-class suffix o (as in wido).

starling. See brother starling.—2. A marked man: police: from ca. 1890. Because 'spotted' or starred, marked with an asterisk for future reference.

starn, n. Stern: nautical coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Ex dial.

starps. Sprats: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See sret-sio.

starrer. See angler.

starry, do a. To sleep in the open: tramps' c.: C. 20. Cf. star-pitch.

stars, see. See see stars.

stars!, my. Good heavens!: coll.: 1728, Vanbrugh & Cibber, 'My stars! and you would really live in London half the year, to be sober in it?', O.E.D.—2. stars and garters!, my. See star and garter. Cf.:

stars out! A Conway cadets' c.p. expressive of incredulity: ca. 1900. John Mascfield, The Conway, 1933.

start. The brewer's procedure whereby he empties several barrels of liquor into a tub and thence conveys it, through a leather pipe, down to the butts in the cellar: late C. 17—mid-18. B.E.—2. A prison: from ca. 1820; ob. C. >, ca. 1860, low s. Ex Start, the, 1, q.v.—3. A surprising incident or procedure: 1837, Dickens (queer start). Often rum(my) start: mid-C. 19–20: cf. rum go. O.E.D. Ex the start of surprise.—4. See Start, the, 2 and 3.

start, v.t., as in the Gentleman's Magazine, 1825, "I started him." To start is to apply a smart word to an idle or forgetful person, O.E.D. In short, to make him jump by startling him.

Start, the. Newgate prison: c.: mid-C. 18–19. Also, in late C. 18–19, the Old Start, as in Grose, 2nd ed. Perhaps because Newgate represented the beginning of a personal 'epoch'; but cf. Romany stardo, imprisoned,—it is therefore ultimately cognate with stir, a prison.—2. Hence, the Old Bailey: c.: mid-C. 19–20. Mayhew. Likewise, the Old Start.—3. London: tramps' c. >, ca. 1870, low s. 'No. 747', reference valid for 1845; Mayhew, 1851; H., 5th ed. (status). Also without article: mid-C. 19–20 (ob.), as in 'Gypsy' Carew's Autobiography and 'Ducange Anglicus'. 'The great starting point for beggars and tramps,' H., 2nd ed.

start in, v.i.; v.t. with on. To begin work, one's job (on or at): coll.: U.S. (— 1892), anglicised ca. 1900. E.g. 'I start in, Monday.' start on. To tease, jest at, bully: coll.: late C. 19–20.

start tack or sheet. See tack or sheet.

starter. A question: c.: late C. 17—early 18. B.E. Because apt to make one start in surprise or dismay. Cf. start, n., 3., and v.—2. A laxative: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

Starvation; Starvation Dundas. Henry Dundas, first Viscount Melville (1742–1811). On March 6, 1775, Dundas, in a famous speech on American affairs, introduced starvation; which word > thenceforward a nickname that survived until some years after his death. H. Walpole, April 25, 1781, 'Starvation Dundas, whose pious policy suggested that the devil of rebellion could be expelled only by fasting'; W. Mason, in 1782, was app. the first to use the shorter name.

starvation, adv. Gen. starvation cheap, as in Kipling, 1892 (the adv.'s first appearance in print): coll. Lit., so as to cause starvation; hence, excessively, extremely.

starve, do a. To be starving: (mostly lower classes') coll.: from ca. 1910 at the latest.

Starve'em, Rob'em, and Cheat'em. Stroud, Rochester, and Chatham: naval and military: ca. 1780-1890. Grose, 1st ed.; H., 3rd ed. Cf. the London Smash'em and Do-for-'em, the old London, Chatham, and Dover Railway.

Starving Fifty or Hungry Half Hundred. 'The R.N.R. officers admitted into the Supplementary List of the R.N., in 1913': naval. Bowen. Cf. Hungry Hundred, q.v.

stash. To stop, desist from: c. (- 1811) >, ca. 1840, low s. >, ca. 1870, s. Lex. Bal., 1811, 'The cove tipped the prosecutor fifty quid to stash the business'; Vaux; 1841, Leman Rede, 'Stash your patter'—shut up!—'and come along.' Prob., as W. suggests, ex stow + squash: cf. Vaux at stash. Perhaps, however, it blends stop + squash: Chignell. —2. Hence, to quit (a place): 1889, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'The rest of us . . . stashed the camp and cleared out,' O.E.D.—3. See next three entries.

stash it. Specifically, 'to give over a lewd or imtemperate course of life,' H., 1859; ob.—2. stash it! Specifically, be quiet!: ibid. See stash, 1.

stash the glim. To cease using the light; to extinguish it: c. (- 1823) >, ca. 1840, low s.; † by 1890. 'Jon Bee', 1823. Cf. douse the glim. Ex stash, 1.

stash up. To terminate abruptly, as in the earliest record (H. G. Wells' Tono Bungay, 1909), 'She brought her [piano-]playing to an end by—as schoolboys say—"stashing it up"', O.E.D. Ex stish, 1. Among dockers, from ca. 1920, to have stashed the game up is to have stopped the job: The Daily Herald, late July or early Aug., 1936.

state. A dreadful state, esp. of untidiness, confusion, dirtiness: coll.: 1879, F. W. Robinson, 'Just look what a [dirty] state I am in!' O.E.D.; C. 20, 'The house is in a state!'—2. Agitation, anxiety, state of excitement: coll.: 1837, Marryat (O.E.D.); W. E. Richards, in The Humorist, Aug. 18, 1934, 'When I reached the station, my wife was in what is known in domestic circles as "a state".'

state, lie in. To be 'in bed with three regular harlots', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780-1850.

State frighters. 'Those who foolishly fear any infringement of their own State-rights': Australian (- 1935).

[State nicknames, U.S.A., are very little known in the British Empire. The best lists are those in F. & H., vol. 6, 1903, at State Nicknames; Thornton's American Glossary, 1912, passim; and Harvey's Oxford Companion to English Literature in the latest edition.]

state of elevation, in a. A coll. >, in late C. 19, S.E.; very ob. As in Smollett, 1749, 'We drank hard, and went home in a state of elevation, that is half-seas over.'

state tea. A 'tea at which every atom of the family plate is exhibited': Society: ca. 1870-1914. Ware, 'Probably suggested by State ball.'

state-the-case man. 'A pressed seaman whose protests were strong enough to bring an Admiralty order that he should be given a chance to state his case': naval coll.: ca. 1770-1840. Bowen.

Stater. A member of the Irish Free State Army: Anglo-Irish coll.: from 1922.

states can be saved without it. A political, hence cultured, c.p. expressive of ironic condemnation: ca. 1880-90. Ware.

states of independency. The 'frontiers of extravagance,' Egan's Grose: Oxford University, ca. 1820-40.

station—see 'Westminster School slang'—is on the border-line between coll. and j. station-jack. A meat pudding used on stations: Australian coll.: 1853. (Morris.)

stationery. Free passes: theatrical: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex synonymous paper, q.v.—2. Cigarettes: C. 20; now rare.

stationmaster's hat. 'The cap with gilt peak worn by commanders and above': from ca. 1916: naval officers'. Bowen.

statiscope. Incorrect (C. 20) for statoscope; statory (C. 17), for statuary. O.E.D.

staulinge-, stawling(e)-ken. See stalling-ken.

stay. A cuckold: ca. 1810-50. Lex. Bal. ? because he stays his hand.

stay. To lodge or reside regularly or permanently: standard Scots (C. 18-20) >, in late C. 19, Colonial, esp. South African, Australian, and New Zealand. (O.E.D.)

stay, come to. To become permanent, established, recognised, regularly used: coll.: orig. (1863, Abraham Lincoln), U.S.; anglicised in late 1890's. The Athenæum, April 13, 1901, 'Lord Byron as a letter-writer has come to stay.'—2. Hence, (of merchandise, etc.) to secure a position in public favour as fulfilling a general need: coll.: 1903, The Referee, Feb. 8, 'No one with half a grain of sense could . . . question the autocars' many merits, nor their having come to stay and become a great power in the land.'

stay and be hanged! A lower-middle class c.p. of C. 19-early 20: 'Oh, all right!' Ware.

stay out. To stay in, esp. because on the sick list: Eton College (- 1857). See esp. Brinsley Richards's and 'Mac's' memoirs of Eton. By antiphrasis.

stay put. See put, stay.

stay-tape. A tailor: coll.: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed. Ex the frequency with which that article figured in tailors' bills. Cf.:

stay-tape is scorched, one's. One is in bad health: tailors': late C. 19-20. E.g. in The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.

stay with. To keep up with (a competitor, a rival, in any contest): U.S. (1887); anglicised, as a coll., ca. 1920.

staying. For a day, a week, etc., as in 'They have staying visitors': non-aristocratic coll. (- 1887). Baumann.

Staymaker, the (old). Sir Alex Thomson, Chief Baron of the Exchequer in 1815-17. Dawson, 'From his habit of checking witnesses.' staysel. A staysail: nautical coll. (- 1887). Baumann.

'stead for instead is coll. in late C. 19-20. O.E.D.; Baumann.

steady. A steady admirer, wooer, of a girl (rarely vice versa): U.S. (ca. 1899); anglicised by 1907; by 1930, coll. O.E.D. (Sup.).

steady, the Buffs! A c.p. of adjuration or of self-admonition: mid C. 19–20: military and, in C. 20, naval. Of anecdotal origin.

steal. A thieving; a theft; a thing stolen: Scots (— 1825) >, ca. 1890, coll.; since ca. 1920, rare except in U.S. The Saturday Review, July 26, 1890, 'This is an audacious steal from "In a Gondola"!'. O.E.D.

steal a manchot or a roll out of the brewer's basket; gen. have stolen . . . To be tipsy: coll.: ca. 1670–1820. Ray, 1678, manchet; Fuller, 1732, roll.

steal the show. See show, steal the.

stealers, the ten. The fingers: first half of C. 17. Davenport, 1639 (O.E.D.). Ex Shakespeare's pickers and stealers, q.v.

steam. A trip or excursion by steamer: coll.: 1854, Kingsley (O.E.D.). Ex nautical usage as in a few hours' steam away.—2. A dish cooked by steaming: coll. (orig. military): 1900 (O.E.D.); by 1930, > rare. Cf. steaming.—3. The phrases get (one's) steam up, to start, and put the steam on, to try or begin to work hard, are S.E. verging on coll. Baumann, 1887.—4. Cheap, fiery liquor (esp. 'plonk'—Australian brand): Australian, esp. Sydney, v.t. from ca. 1930.

steam, v.t. To convey on any steam-propelled vessel: coll.: 1901 (O.E.D.)

steam, keep up the. See steamer.

steam ahead, away. To put on speed: coll.: 1857, T. Hughes, 'Young Brooke . . . then steams away for the run in,' O.E.D.; ahead not before late C. 19. Ex the motion of a railway engine or of a steamer.—2. Hence, to progress rapidly, to work vigorously: coll. (— 1911). C.O.D.

steam antics. See antics.

steam boatswain or bo'sun. An artificer engineer in the Navy: C. 20. Bowen.

steam builders. Shares in the Dublin & Liverpool Steam Building Company: Stock Exchange (— 1895). A. J. Wilson's glossary.

steam-bus. A steam pinnacle or launch in the Navy: C. 20. 'Taffrail', 1916.

steam-engine. A potato-pie: Lancashire s. (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Prob. ex the steam it emits when properly served at table.

steam-kettle. A steamer: sailing-ships' pejorative: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Bowen. A C. 20 variant is steam-pot (Manchon).

steam on the table, have. To have 'a boiled joint—generally steaming, on Sunday': workmen's: late C. 18–20. Ware.

steam-packet. A jacket: rhyming s. (— 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.'

steam-pot. See steam-kettle.

steam-roller. A man that is 'sure—but very slow and usually too late': military: 1915; ob. B. & P. Ex the Russian steam-roller, a journalistic term applied to the Russian Army in 1914–15.

steam tug. A 'mug', a simpleton or easy dupe: low: rhyming s.: C. 20.

steam-tugs. (Bed-)bugs: from ca. 1890. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932. Contrast steam-tug.

steamboat man. See smoke-stack. Virtually †.

steamboating, n. 'Cutting simultaneously a pile of books which are as yet uncovered': bookbinders' s. (— 1875) >, by 1890, coll. >, by 1910, j. steamed-up. Tipsy: Glasgow (— 1934). Because heated.

steamer. A tobacco-pipe. A swell s., a long one. Ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal., 1811; Bee, 1823, "'Keep up the steam or steamer," to smoke indefatigably.'—2. A 'mug': turf c. (— 1932). Ex steam tug, q.v. (See Slang, p. 241.) Also gen. c.: witness James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

steamer in one, have a. To be the worse for drink: naval: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Ex the stertorous breathing.

steaming. A steamed pudding: military (— 1903). Cf. steam, n., 2.

Steel, the. Coldbath Fields prison, London: c. from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal., 1811; J. Greenwood. Dick Temple, 1888. Virtually † by 1910. Abbr. Bastille.—2. Hence (gen. the steel) any prison or lock-up: c. >, ca. 1900, low s.: 1845, 'No. 747', p. 413 (steel); 1889, Thor Fredur, 'He pitched into the policeman, was lugged off to the steel, . . . and got a month'; but adumbrated in Lex. Bal., 1811. Cf. chokey, quod, limbo, stir.—3. A rare c. sense, viable only ca. 1835–60, is that given by Brandon and 'Ducange Anglicus': the treadmill.

Stedman. See promo.

steel-bar driver or flinger. A tailor; esp. a journeyman tailor: resp. ca. 1850–90 ('Ducange Anglicus'); ca. 1780–1890 (Grose, 1st ed.). Prob. steel bar, a needle, is also s. of same period; Grose, ibid.

steel jug. A shrapnel-helmet: military, but not very gen.: 1916; ob. B. & P. Cf. tin hat. (First used on Aug. 12, 1915.)

steel-nose. Some kind of strong liquor: mid-C. 17. Whitlock's Zootomia, 1654. O.E.D.

steel-pen coat. A dress coat: coll.: 1873 (O.E.D.); ob. Ex the resemblance between the split nib and the divided coat-tail.

Steelbacks, the. The 48th Foot (in late C. 19–20, the 1st Battalion of the Northamptonshire Regiment; the 57th Foot, in late C. 19, become the 1st Battalion of the Middlesex Regiment: military: resp. mid-C. 18–20 and C. 19–20. Either ex the weighty packs they carried or with reference to steelback, Alicant wine, in some connexion with the Peninsular War; or, best of all, ex adj. phrase steel to the (very) back, very robust, trustworthy, or brave, as in Titus Andronicus, IV, iii.

Steenie. George Villiers, Duke of Buckingham (1592–1628). 'Given by James I . . . from his fancied resemblance to the head of S. Stephen at Whitehall' (Dawson). For a brilliant character-sketch, see Evan John, Charles I, 1933.

steep. Excessive, resp. of price, fine or damages, taxes, and figures; hard to believe, exaggerated, esp. of stories: U.S. (1856), anglicised ca. 1880. Baumann, 'This sounds very steep'; The Westminster Gazette, April 22, 1895, 'This is rather a steep statement,' O.E.D. Cf. stiff (price) and tall (story).

steer. A piece of information; mostly give a steer: nautical: from ca. 1870. F. & H.

steer a trick. To take a turn at the wheel: nautical: mid-C. 19–20.

steer small. To exercise care: from ca. 1860: nautical coll. >, by 1900, j. Ex S.E. sense, 'to steer well and within small compass' (Smyth).

steerage, the. The gun-room: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

steerage hammock. A long meat roly-poly (meat-pudding): nautical: late C. 19–20. Ibid.

steever. See stiver.—steevin*. A rare variant of stephen. Bee, 1823.

stems. Legs: low: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed. (Despite F. & H., not coll.)

stenog. A shorthand writer: office coll., orig. (ca. 1905) U.S.; anglicised ca. 1920. (O.E.D. Sup.) Abbr. stenographer.

step. Gen. a good step (Sterne, 1768) or a tidy step (Blackmore, 1894); occ. a goodish step (— 1888). A walking distance: dial. and coll.: mid-C. 18–20. O.E.D.—2. A stepfather or stepmother: coll.: late C. 19–20.—3. A step-brother or -sister: coll.: C. 20. (G. Heyer, Why Shoot a Butler?, 1933) step. To depart, make off, run away: coll.: mid-C. 19–20, though adumbrated as early as C. 15. The variant step it occurs both in Mayhew, vol. III, and in H., 1st ed.—2. Hence, to desert: military: from ca. 1870.—3. To clean one's own doorstep or others' doorsteps: coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.); slightly ob. Ex doorstep.

step !, mind the. A c.p. 'look after yourself !' to a parting visitor: from ca. 1880. Ware. Ex lit. admonition, perhaps orig. to a drunkard.

step off. To die: 1926, Edgar Wallace (O.E.D. Sup.). Cf. step out.

step on it. To hurry: from ca. 1929. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex:

step on the gas. See gas, step on the.

step out. To die: low: U.S., anglicised in late C. 19. Cf. pop off.

step up to. To pay court to (a girl): lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

stephen; gen. steven. Money; esp. ready money: c. and low s.: ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal., 'Stephen's at home; i.e. he has money'; Ainsworth. Perhaps suggested by steven = *stiv(v)*er.—2. Esp. in Stephen's at home, the money's there or ready.

stepper. A treadmill: prison c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Mayhew. Cf. everlasting staircase.—2. See steppers.—3. A doorstep-cleaner, esp. a step-girl: coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.). Ex step, v., 3, q.v.—4. A trotting horse: Cockneys': 1899, C. Rook, The Hooligan Nights.

steppers. The feet: 1853, Household Words. Cf. stampers, 2, and stepper, 1.

stepping-ken. A dance-hall: late C. 19–20: orig. c. and mostly U.S.

steps. 'Thick slices of bread and butter, overlapping each other on a plate': London lower classes': mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ware. Cf. doorstep.

steps, up the. Committed for trial: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach. Ex going into the dock.

stereo. Stale news: printers' coll.: from late 1880's. Ex stereotype.

stereo, adj. Stereoscopic: from ca. 1875: coll.; now verging on S.E. (O.E.D.)

sterics, the. Hysteria: a low coll. abbr. of hysterics: 1765, Foote. O.E.D.

sterling. Persons born in Great Britain or Ireland: Australian coll.: ca. 1825–1910. Peter Cunningham, 1827. Gen. in juxtaposition to the complementary currency, q.v.

stern. The buttocks, esp. of persons: late C. 16–20: mostly jocular, and since ca. 1860 gen. considered a vulgarism. Furnivall, 1869, 'We don't want to . . . fancy them cherubs without sterns.'

stern, bring (a ship) down by the. To over-officer (a ship): nautical coll.: from ca. 1835. Dana. Officers slept towards the stern.

stern-chaser; -post. Resp. a sodomite, a penis:

nautical: mid-C. 19–20.—2. (s.-chaser only.) A leg: nautical (— 1923). Manchon.

stern galley. Posteriors: Conway cadets': from before 1887. John Masfield, The Conway, 1933.

Steve. A gen. term of address, esp. in believe me, Steve!: C. 20, and mostly Australian. Cf. the generic use of George and Jack. For terms of address, see my essay in Words!

Steve !, come on. See come on, Steve !—Steve ?, got me. See got me(, Steve) ? Also I've got you, Steve !

stewen. See stephen.—stever. See stiver.

stew. (Great) alarm, anxiety, excitement: 1806, J. Beresford (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. In late C. 19–20, esp. be in an awful stew.—2. A state of perspiration or overheating: coll.: from ca. 1890. Ex stew, to remain in a heated room (etc.). Cf.:

stew, v.i. To study hard: orig. and mainly school s.: 1866, Every Boy's Annual, 'Cooper was stewing over his books,' O.E.D. See stew, n., 2; cf.:

stew-pot. A hard-working student: gen. derisory: from ca. 1880. Ex stew, v.; the pun on the kitchen utensil was perhaps suggested by swot.

stewed. (Not very) drunk: s. (— 1874; virtually †) synonym with corned, pickled and salted. H., 5th ed.

stibber-gibber, adj. Given to telling lies: mid-C. 16: ? c. Awdelay, 1561. ? origin.

stick. See sticks.—2. A sermon: late 1750's—early 1760's. ? because wooden.—3. A dull, stupid, awkward, or (in the theatre) incompetent person: C. 19–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. Via wooden.—4. Quasi-adverbially as an intensive of alliterative phrases; esp. in stick, stark, staring (wild), 1839, Hood; mad, 1909. W. J. Locke. O.E.D.—5. Gen. the stick, esp. give (a child) the stick; (in C. 20) get the stick, to be caned. A beating with a stick: coll.: 1856, Charlotte Yonge. O.E.D.—6. A crowbar or jemmy: c.: from ca. 1870. Horsley, Jottings from Jail.—7. A candlestick; a candle: silversmiths': resp. coll. and s.: late C. 19–20.—8. A badly printed ink-roller: printers': from ca. 1870.—9. A mast: nautical coll.: C. 19–20.—10. Gen. the stick. A venereal disease: low: from ca. 1880.—11. A variant form of sticker, 4 (q.v.): 1863; ob. Lewis.—12. See board, n., 3.

stick, v.t. (Of the man) to coït with: low: C. 19–20.—2. V.t. (Mostly of persons) to continue long, remain persistently, in one place: C. 19–20: coll. until late C. 19, then S.E. Of a cricketer, as early as 1832 (see sticker, 4).—3. V.t., to put up with (things), tolerate (persons): 1899, 'He could not "stick" his mother-in-law,' The Daily News, Oct. 26 (O.E.D.). Also stick it, to continue, without finching, to do something: the phrase was used by soldiers in the Boer War (1899–1901), as J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902, makes clear. In the G.W., one often heard "Stick it, lads!" "Appears to be a . . . variation on to stand it," W.—4. To bring to a stand(still); incapacitate from advance or retirement: coll.: 1829, Scott, in the passive as in gen.; The Westminster Gazette, July 14, 1902, 'The climber may easily find himself "stuck" on the face of a precipice,' O.E.D.—5. Hence, to nonplus; puzzle greatly: coll.: 1884, The Literary Era, 'You could not stick me on the hardest of them,' O.E.D.—6. To cheat (a person) out of money or in dealing; impose illicitly upon: 1699; slightly ob. Blackwood's Magazine, 1843, 'They think it ungentlemanly to cheat, or, as they call it, "stick" any of their own set.' Sometimes, esp. in the underworld, to desert: mid-C. 19–20; esp. stuck by a pal. Also, stick with, to saddle (a person) with (anything unpleasant, sham, or worthless), e.g. with an inferior horse: 1900. O.E.D.—7. To settle (a matter); gen. stick a point: from ca. 1890; ob. Lit., make it stick: cf. stay put.—8. To persuade to incur expense or loss; 'let in' for: coll.: 1895, J. G. Millais, '[He] publishes his work (at his own expense) and sticks his friends for a copy,' O.E.D.—9. See stick it in or on, stick out, stick with, etc.—10. See stuck on.—11. See sticked, be.—12. (Cf. sense 2.) Of a horse: to refuse to start, to jib, to be obstinate: South African coll. (— 1891). Pettman. Cf. sticks, 6, q.v.

stick, as close or full as (ever) it (he, they, etc.) can or could. This coll. phrase expresses crowding or repletion: 1776, G. Sempie, 'Piles . . . driven in as close together as ever they can stick'; 1889, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'She . . . was . . . as full of fun . . . as she could stick,' O.E.D. Slightly ob.

stick, be high up the. To be eminent in one's profession or at one's work: 'So high up the stick, they have no time . . . to answer inquiries,' Sir C. Morgan, 1818; † by 1890. O.E.D.

stick, cut one's. A variant (Barham, Dickens, De Quincey, Thackeray, Kingsley, Boldrewood), ob. in C. 20, of cut one's sticks: see cut . . . sticks.

stick, every. See (furniture) sticks.

stick, fire a good. To be an excellent shot: shooting coll.: from ca. 1840. The stick is the gun or rifle; suggested by play a good stick.

stick, get the. To be, as the most smartly turned out man, excused guard-duty and made the guard's orderly: Regular Army coll.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. See also stick wallah.

stick, give some. See give some stick.

stick, have the fiddle but not the. To have the means but not the sense to use them properly: coll.: C. 19. Cf.:

stick, play a good. (Of a fiddler) to play well: 1748, Smollett (O.E.D.); ob. Ex stick, a violin bow.—2. Hence, to perform, or play one's part, well at anything: coll.: C. 19–20.

stick, shoot for the. To shoot with a view to a good bag, not merely for pleasure: sporting coll.: 1834 (O.E.D.). Ex a tally-stick.

stick, the wrong or right end of the; gen. preceded by have or get. To have the advantage or the disadvantage in a contest or a bargain: coll.: 1890, 'Rolf Boldrewood'; by 1920, virtually S.E. Cf. staff, worse end of the.—2. Hence, in C. 20, to have got hold of the wrong end of the stick is either to have misunderstood a story or to be ignorant of the facts of a case: still coll.

stick, up the. (Very) eccentric; crazy, mad: workers' (— 1935). Ex synonymous up the pole.

stick a bust. To commit a burglary: c. (— 1899). Ware.

stick a pin there! Hold hard: coll.: C. 18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

stick and bangers. A billiard-cue and balls: sporting: late C. 19–20. Ware.—2. Whence, in C. 20, a man's sexual apparatus. Ibid.

stick and lift, v.i. To live from hand to mouth: low: from ca. 1870; ob.

stick-and-string man. 'The old type of seaman, generally applied by a junior with a touch of envy' (Bowen): nautical: late C. 19–20; ob.

stick-at-it. A persevering, conscientious person: coll.: 1909, H. G. Wells (O.E.D. Sup.).

stick away, v.t. To hide (an object); v.i., to go into hiding: South African coll.: late C. 19–20. Hicks, The Cape as I Found It, 1900. Pettman. Cf. S.E. stick (a thing) out of the way.

stick-flams. A pair of gloves: c.: late C. 17–19. B.E., Grose, Baumann. Perhaps a corruption of stick(-on-the)-fams (lit., stick-on-the-hands).

stick for drinks. To win the toss to decide who shall pay for them: late C. 19–20. An elaboration of stick, v., 5, q.v.; cf. ibid., 8.

stick, frozen on the. See frozen on the stick.

stick-hopper. A hurdler: athletic coll.: late C. 19–20; ob. See (athletic) sticks.

stick in it, with a. (Of a drink, esp. tea or coffee) with a dash of brandy: C. 19–20. In late C. 19–20, only Colonial and U.S. Cf. Fr. du café avec.

stick-in-the-ribs. Stick soup (like glue): from ca. 1870: not upper-class.

stick it. See stick, v., 3, and cf. stick it out.

stick it in or on, v.i. To charge extortionately. V.t. stick it into or, occ., on to: s. >, ca. 1880, coll.: 1844, Dickens, 'We stick it into B. . . and make a devilish comfortable little property out of him,' O.E.D. See stick, v., 5, and cf. rush.—2. stick it into (a person) is also, in Australia, to ask, esp. if surprisingly or abruptly, a person for a loan: C. 20.

stick it out. To endure and go on enduring: coll.: 1901, 'Lucas Malet', 'It would be ridiculous to fly, so she must stick it out,' O.E.D. A variant of stick it: see stick, v., 3.

stick it up. To cause a charge to be placed against one's name, orig. (1864) in a tavern-score, hence (also in 1864) in gen.—i.e. to obtain credit—as in stick it up to me!, put it on my account! Coll. Both in H., 3rd ed.

stick-jaw. A pudding or, as predominantly in C. 20, a sweetmeat that is very difficult to chew: coll.: 1829, Caroline Southey (O.E.D.). Occ. as adj.: late C. 19–20: coll.—2. Something extremely boring: lower classes' (— 1923). Man-chon. Cf. sticking-plaster, q.v.

stick man; stickman. The accomplice of a pair of women engaged in robbing drunken men; to him they entrust their booty: c. (— 1861); slightly ob. Mayhew.

stick on. See stick it in.—stick on the price, to increase it: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. H., 1st ed., 'stick on, to overcharge, or defraud.'

stick one's spoon in the wall. See spoon in the wall.—stick oneself up. See stick up to be.

stick out. V.i., to be conspicuous; esp. too conspicuous: mid C. 17–20: S.E. until mid C. 19, then s. (mainly U.S.). The Daily Chronicle, Dec. 3, 1902, "'Of her" is all very well . . . , but when it occurs too often it "sticks out", as Mr Henry James would say,' O.E.D. Esp. it sticks out a mile, it's obvious: used absolutely or with that.—2. See stick it out.—3. To persist in demanding (e.g. money): coll.: v.i., 1906; v.t. with for, 1902. O.E.D.—4. Hence, (v.t. with that) to persist in thinking: coll.: 1904, R. Hichens, 'Do you stick out that Carey didn't love you?' Also stick (a person) out, to maintain an opinion despite all his arguments: coll.: from ca. 1905. O.E.D.

stick-slinger. One who, gen. in company with harlots, robs or plunders with violence: c. (— 1856). Mayhew. Cf. bludger, q.v.

stick to. To remain resolutely faithful to; or, despite all odds, attached to (a person or a party):

C. 16-20 : S.E. until ca. 1860 ; thereafter, coll. ; ca. 1800-60, however, it was familiar S.E. H., 2nd ed., 1860 ; 'Mrs Alexander', 1885, 'But I should have stuck to him through thick and thin,' O.E.D.

stick-up. A stand-up collar : from ca. 1855 (ob.) : coll. >, by 1890, S.E. 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857.

stick up. See stick up for—to—to be—and stick it up.—2. V.i., to stand firm in an argument : coll. : 1858, Darwin, 'I admired the way you stuck up about deduction and induction,' O.E.D.—3. (V.t.) In Australia, to stop and rob (a person) on the road : 1846, J. L. Stokes : coll. >, by 1880, S.E. Ex making the victim stick up his hands. Morris.—3a. Hence, to rob (a bank, etc.) : 1888, Boldrewood : coll. >, by 1890, S.E. Morris.—4. Hence, to demand money from (a person) : 1890, Hornung : Australian coll. >, by 1910, S.E.—5. To stop : 1863 : Australian coll. >, by 1890, 'standard'. Morris.—6. To pose or puzzle : 1896 : Australian coll. Morris.—7. To increase (the price or, in games, the score) : ca. 1875-1920. C. Sheard, in his song, I'm a Millionaire, ca. 1880, 'Though some stick it up, now I'll pay money down' ; F. & H., 1903, 'To stick up tricks (points, runs, goals, &c.) = to score.'—8. In cricket, to cause (a batsman) to play strictly on the defensive : coll. : 1864, Pycroft (Lewis). Cf. stick, v., 4, q.v.

stick up for. To champion (a person) ; defend the character or cause of : coll. : U.S. (1837) >, almost imm., British. H., 1859 ; Thackeray, 1862 ; Anstey, 1882, "Why, you are sticking up for him now !" said Tom . . . astonished at this apparent change of front.' Cf. stand up for.

stick up to. To oppose ; esp. to continue offering resistance to : coll. : from ca. 1840 : dial. till ca. 1860, then coll. H., 2nd ed. ; Baumann ; The Contemporary Review, Feb., 1889, 'If there is no one who dare stick up to [the head boy], he soon becomes intolerable,' O.E.D.

stick up to be ; occ. stick oneself up to be. To claim to be : coll. : 1881, Blackmore, 'I never knew any good come of those fellows who stick up to be everything wonderful,' O.E.D.

stick wallah. A man scheming 'get the stick' (see stick, get the), esp. one who habitually aims at this : Regular Army : late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex S.E. button-stick.

stick with. See stick, v., 6.

stickability. The ability to preserve and/or endure : coll. : from ca. 1920. O.E.D. (Sup.).

sticked(, be). (To be) caned : Wembley County School : from ca. 1925.

sticker. A commodity hard to sell : coll. : 1824, Dibdin (O.E.D.). Cf. shop-keeper, q.v., and see sticky, adj., 2.—2. Hence (— 1887), a servant that a registry office has difficulty in placing. G. R. Sims.—3. A lingering guest : coll. (— 1903). F. & H.—4. A slow-scoring batsman hard to dislodge : cricket coll. : 1832, Pierce Egan, in his Book of Sports ; 1888, A. G. Steel ; 1903, W. J. Ford ; 1934, W. J. Lewis's Language of Cricket.—5. 'A pointed question, an apt and startling comment or rejoinder, an embarrassing situation,' F. & H. : coll. : 1849, Thackeray (O.E.D.). Ex stick, v., 5.—6. A sticking knife, fishing spear, gaff : coll. : 1896, Baring-Gould (O.E.D.).—7. A two-, three-, four-sticker is a two (etc.)-masted ship, esp. a schooner on the Canadian and American coast : nautical coll. : late C. 19-20. Bowen.—8. A good worker : Glasgow (— 1934).—9. A supporter of a mob-'king' : Glasgow c. : C. 20. MacArthur & Long, No Mean City, 1935.

sticker-up. One who warmly or resolutely defends (always for something) : coll. : 1857, Borrow in Romany Rye (O.E.D.). Ex stick up for.—In Australia :—2. A rural method of cooking meat by roasting it on a spit : 1830, The Hobart Town Almanack : coll. >, by 1870, S.E. Morris.—And, 3, a bushranger : 1879, J. W. Barry : coll. >, by 1890, S.E. ; ob. (Morris.) Ex Australian stick up, q.v. Cf. sticking-up.

stickiness. The n. ex all senses of sticky, adj. : q.v. (Compton Mackenzie, 1933, 'The stickiness of the Treasury.') sticking-parade. See stuck, be.

sticking-plaster. An extremely boring visit (made by another person on oneself) : from ca. 1920. Manchon. Ex its adhesiveness. Cf. stick-jaw, 2, q.v.

sticking-up. The action of stopping (person or vehicle) on the road and robbing him or it : 1855, The Melbourne Argus, Jan. 18 : coll. >, by 1890, S.E. Ex Australian stick up (v.). Cf. sticker-up, last sense.

stickler. Erroneous for sticker, a gatherer of sticks for firewood : mainly lexicographical, Cowel (1607) having misread a passage in a Roll of 1422 and Todd (1818) and others following him. O.E.D.

stickman. See stick man.

sticks. (Rare in singular.) Pistols : from ca. 1786 : c. >, ca. 1840, s. ; ob. by 1859 (H., 1st ed.) ; † by 1914, except in still extant shooting-stick (1890). Grose, 2nd ed. Whence, stow your sticks!, hide your pistols. Ex shape.—2. Household furniture : from ca. 1810 : s. until C. 20, then coll. Lex. Bal. ; 'Jon Bee'. Abbr. sticks of furniture. The singular is rare and, in C. 20, ob. : 1809, Malkin, every stick, app. the only form (O.E.D.).—3. Legs : 1830, Marryat (O.E.D.).—4. The stumps : cricket coll. (in C. 20, S.E.) : from ca. 1840. Lewis.—5. Hurdles : athletic coll. : from mid-1890's. Cf. stick-hopper.—6. A horse that will not move ; one that won't pull : South African coll. (— 1891). Bertram Mitford. Ex Cape Dutch steeks, used in the same way.—7. Hence, likewise South African coll. (— 1913), a person either obstinate or obstructive. Pettman. Cf. stick, n., 3.—8. A drummer : military (— 1909). Ware. In the Navy, also of a bugler : C. 20. Bowen.—9. A ship's derricks : London dockers' (— 1935). Perhaps by the suggestion of rhyme.

sticks, (as) cross as two. Very angry : coll. : mid-C. 19-20 ; ob. H., 1st ed.

sticks, beat (1820)—rarely knock (Thackeray, 1840 ; † by 1930)—all to. Utterly to overcome, clearly or completely to surpass : coll. Barham, 'They were beat all to sticks by the lovely Odille.' (O.E.D.) Cf. S.E. in bits.

sticks, cut one's. To make off : see cut . . . sticks ; cf. stick, cut one's.

sticks, go to. To be ruined : coll. : ca. 1842, Carlyle. Emphatically, go to sticks and staves, as in Susan Ferrier, 1824. Kingsley, 1855, has the variant go to noggin-staves, † by 1920. Lit., be smashed.

sticks, in quick. Immediately ; very quickly or rapidly : 1872, Besant & Rice, 'You won't pay her any more attentions, for you shall come out of this place in quick sticks' ; ob. by 1915, virtually † by 1935. Prob. a fusion of sticks, legs, and cut one's sticks.

stick(s), up. To set up a boat's mast: nautical s.: stick, 1845, rare in C. 20; sticks, from not later than 1888 (Clark Russell). Occ. fig. Ex stick, a mast.

stick's end, keep (a person) at the. To treat with reserve: coll.: 1886, Stevenson (O.E.D.); ob. Cf. wouldn't touch (him, it) with a barge-pole.

sticks to, hold the; hold sticks with. 'To compete on equal terms with': resp., dial. (ca. 1817) >, ca. 1860, coll.; and coll. (1853, Reade). O.E.D. Both are, as coll., rare in C. 20. Perhaps ex single-stick.

sticky. (Not to be confused with S.E. stické, a game that, fusing racquets and lawn tennis, had a vogue ca. 1903-13.) Lawn tennis in its first decade or perhaps its first three lustres: sporting and social. Ex sphairistiké, the game's original designation: invented, like its object, in 1874 by Major Wingfield. The Saturday Review, June 30, 1934; E.P., Christmas card, 1934.—2. Sealing-wax: from late 1850's. H., 1st ed.—3. Sticking-plaster: lower and lower-middle class coll.: late C. 19-20.

sticky, v. To render sticky: coll.: 1865, Mrs Gaskell, 'I was sadly afraid of stickying my gloves,' O.E.D. Not a common word.

sticky, adj. (Of persons) wooden, dull; awkward: 1881, Mrs Lynn Linton (O.E.D.). Ex stick, a dull person.—2. (Of stock) not easy to sell: Stock Exchange: 1901, The Times, Oct. 24 (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1920, coll. Cf. sticker, 1, q.v.—3. (Of persons) not easy to interview; unpleasant and/or obstinate; difficult to placate: from ca. 1919. Ex:—4. Of situation, incident, work, duty: unpleasant; very difficult: 1915 ('A sticky time in the trenches': O.E.D. Sup.); T. S. Eliot, in Time and Tide, Jan. 5, 1935, '[St Thomas of Canterbury] came to a sticky end.' This sense derives prob. ex senses 1 and 2 + S.E. (? orig.—1898—coll.) sticky, (applied to troops) apt to hesitate in obeying commands (O.E.D., adj., 2, 949, § 2, b).—5. See:

sticky at or on, be. To be 'potty' on (a member of the opposite sex): lower classes' (—1923). Manchon. Ex stuck on, q.v.

sticky-back. A very small photograph with gummed back: from ca. 1910. A. H. Dawson, Dict. of Slang, 1913. sticky-beak. An inquisitive person: Australian (—1926). Jice Doone. Ex a bird that, in searching for food, gets its beak sticky.

sticky dog. A sticky wicket: cricketers': from ca. 1930. (P. G. H. Fender, in The Evening News, June 19, 1934.)

sticky Jack. A field-service green envelope (unopened by one's own unit): military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. One gummed it down.

stievel. A fourpenny piece: old c., says Baumann. But this may be a confusion with stiver, q.v.

stiff. Paper, a document; esp. a bill of exchange or a promissory note: c. (—1823). Egan's Grose. (In 'No. 747' (a reference valid for 1845), an announcement-bill,—a nuance app. † by 1900.) Hence, give (one) the stiff, to give (one) either of these documents; take the, or do a bit of, stiff, to accept a bill or a promissory note.—2. A forged bank-note: c.: late C. 19-20; ob.—3. Ex sense 1, a clandestine letter: c.: late C. 19-20. Griffiths, Fast and Loose, 1900.—4. A hawker's licence: London c. or low s.: from ca. 1890.—5. A corpse: U.S. (—1859), anglicised ca. 1880. Medical students carve a stiff (dissection). Abbr. stiff 'un, 1, q.v.—6. ? hence, a horse certain not to run or, if running, not to win: the turf: from ca. 1880. Abbr. stiff 'un, 2.—7. A wastrel; a penniless man: 1899, The Daily Chronicle, Aug. 10 (O.E.D.). Perhaps orig. South African. Because cramped by lack of money.—8. Esp. in Australia (ex U.S.), a term of contempt (though often jocular), as you stiff I, the big stiff: C. 20.—9. 'An unlucky man: one always in trouble'; military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons.—10. An unskilled dock-hand: workingmen's: 1914. O.E.D. (Sup.). Prob. ex preceding sense.—11. Money: low: 1930, Belloc (O.E.D. Sup.). Prob. ex sense 1.

stiff, adj. Closely packed: late C. 17-20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll., but only in stiff with, densely crowded with: 1907, 'There seemed . . . more yachts than ever, and the water was "stiff" with masts and rigging,' O.E.D.—2. Certain to win: (esp. Australian) turf: late C. 19-20. Prob. ex stiff 'un, 2, by antiphrasis.—3. Hence (of an event), certain to be won: sporting: 1912, Punch, Aug. 21, 'He ought to have this event absolutely stiff at the next Olympic Games' (O.E.D. Sup.).—4. Penniless: Australian: C. 20. Ex stiff, n., 7, q.v.—5. ? hence, unlucky: mostly Australian and New Zealand: from ca. 1910. Contrast tinny.

stiff. Greatly. Only in bore (one) stiff: coll.: from ca. 1910. (Cf. the U.S. scared stiff.) Lit., to death.

stiff, bit of. See stiff, n., 1.

stiff, bookmaker's. 'A horse nobbled at the public cost in the bookmakers' interest,' F. & H.: the turf: from ca. 1880. See stiff, n., 6.

stiff, cut up. See cut up nasty. Thackeray, ca. 1885.

stiff and stout, the. A penis erectus: low: mid-C. 17-20; ob. Urquhart.

stiff-arsed. Haughty; supercilious: low coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Ex stiff-rumped: cf. stiff-rump, q.v., and stiff in the back.

stiff as a poker. (Gen. of posture) very stiff coll.: 1797, Colman, Jr.

stiff-dealer. A dealer in stiff, n., 1, q.v.: c.: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Beo.'

stiff-fencer. A hawk of writing paper: London low: from ca. 1850. Ex stiff, n., 1.

stiff in the back. Resolute; firm of character: coll.: late C. 19-20. 'Anthony Hope', 1897, 'Are you going to let him off? . . . You never can be stiff in the back,' O.E.D.

stiff-lifter. A body-snatcher: Yorkshire s. (—1904), not dial. E.D.D. Ex stiff, n., 5.

stiff one. See stiff 'un.

stiff or hard? By promissory note or in hard cash?: commercial: from ca. 1860.

stiff-rump. A person haughty or supercilious; an obstinate one: C. 18-early 19. Addison & Steele, 1709 (O.E.D.). Cf. stiff-arsed and stiff in the back.

stiff 'un; occ. stiff one. A corpse: 1823, Egan's Grose (one); 1831, The Annual Register (O.E.D.). Also stiffy, q.v.—2. A horse certain not to win: the turf: 1871, 'Hawk's-Eye', 'Safe uns, or stiff uns.' Also stiff, n., 6; cf. deal 'un and stumer, qq.v.

stiff upper lip, carry or have or keep a. To be firm, resolute; to show no, or only slight, signs of the distress one must be feeling: coll.: resp. 1837, ob.; 1887, very ob.; and 1852. App. orig. U.S., for the earliest examples of carry and keep are American.

stiffen. To kill: 1888.—2. Hence to prevent (a horse) from doing its best: the turf: 1900, The Westminster Gazette, Dec. 19. O.E.D. both senses.—3. Hence, to buy over (a person): low Australian (—1916). C. J. Dennis. Mostly as passive ppl.

stiffen it !, God. A low oath: late C. 19–20. Eden Phillpotts, Sons of the Morning, 1900 (E.D.D.). Lit., render it useless, destroy it; but gen. as a vague and violent expletive. Cf. stiffen, 1.

stiffener. A pick-me-up drink: 1928, Dorothy Sayers (O.E.D. Sup.). In Glasgow, it is used of any heavy drink. Now coll.

stiffy. A corpse: late C. 19–20. See stiff, n., 5, and stiff 'un, 1.—2. A horse that is losing: Glasgow sporting (—1934). Cf. stiff 'un, 2.

stifler. Always the s.: the gallows: c.: 1818, Scott; ob. Hence, nab the stifler, to be hanged; quer the stifler, to escape hanging.—2. A camouflet: military: 1836: s. >, ca. 1915, coll.

still. A still-born infant: undertakers': from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed.

still and all. Nevertheless: coll.: C. 20. K. G. R. Browne, 1934, in The Humorist, 'Still and all . . . the average politician does no great harm to anybody.'

still going strong. See Johnny Walker.

still he is not happy ! A c.p. applied to one whom nothing pleases, nothing satisfies: ca. 1870–75. Ware quotes The Daily Telegraph, July 28, 1894, as attributing it to a phrase often spoken in a Gaiety burlesque of 1870.

still sow. 'A close, slie lurking knave,' Florio: coll.: late C. 16–mid-17. Ex the proverb, the still sow eats up all the draff (Apperson).

stiltling. 'First-class pocket-picking,' J. Greenwood, 1884: c.; ob. by 1930. ? a perversion of tilting, or a pun on stilting, the action of stilt-walking.

Stilton, the. The correct thing: 1859, Hotten; virtually †. A polite variation of cheese.

stim. A stimulant, gen. of liquor: Society: 1882; ob. by 1910, † by 1930.

stimulate, v.i. To drink alcoholic stimulants: C. 19–20: S.E. until mid-1830's, then coll. (mostly U.S.); except in U.S., † by 1930.

sting. To rob; to cheat: c. (—1812); † by 1903. Vaux.—2. Hence, to demand or beg something, esp. money, from (a person); to get it thus: late C. 19–20. Cf. put the nips in.—3. (Also ex sense 1.) To swindle, often in a very mild way and gen. in the passive voice: late C. 19–20. Lyell.—4. sting oneself, to get stung, is coll. and surprisingly old: 1663, Tuke, 'I've touch'd a nettle, and have stung my self,' O.E.D.—5. (Gen. in passive.) To snub: Charterhouse: C. 20.

sting-bum. A niggard: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose. The O.E.D. gives sting-hum; there is no such term: B.E.'s b is irrefutable.

stingareeing. 'The sport of catching Stingrays, or Stingarees': New Zealand coll.: 1872, Hutton & Hector, The Fishes of New Zealand. (Morris.)

stinger. Anything that stings or smarts: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll., in such senses as a sharp, heavy blow (1823, Bee) or the hand that deals it (1855, Browning),—something distressing, such as a very sharp frost (1853, Surtees),—a trenchant speech or a pungent (or crushing) argument, as in late C. 19–20. O.E.D. and F. & H.—2. A bowsprit: Canadian (and U.S.) nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Perhaps because it is bitterly cold work on it in the winter.

stinger, fetch a. See fetch a stinger.

stingo. Strong ale or beer: from ca. 1630; ob.

except in the trade name, Watney's stingo nips. Randolph, ca. 1635; Ned Ward, 1703; Bridges, 1774; ca. 1840, Barham (stynngo); 1891, Nat Gould, 'Host Barnes had tapped a barrel of double stingo for the occasion,' O.E.D. Ex its 'bite' + Italianate o. Cf. bingo.—2. Hence, as adj. (C. 19–20) and, 3, fig. energy, vigour (late C. 19–20: coll.).

stingy. (Of, esp. nettles) having a sting: coll.: late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

stink. A disagreeable exposure; considerable alarm: c. (—1812) >, ca. 1850, low s. >, ca. 1910, gen. s. Vaux; Mayhew.—2. Hence, a 'row': late C. 19–20.—3. big or little stink, a high- or low-powered boat: Conway cadets: C. 20. J. Masfield, The Conway, 1933.

stink, v.t. To smell the stink of or from: Public Schools': C. 20. (E. F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916.)

stink, kick up a. See pen and ink, 3; cf. stink, 2.

stink, like. A variant of like stinking hell, desperately hard or fast or much: from not later than 1915. Ex stinking hell !, a C. 20 asseveration. (D. Sayers & R. Eustace, The Documents in the Case, 1930, 'Toiling away like stink'.)

stink-bomb. A mustard-gas shell: military coll.: 1917; ob. F. & Gibbons.

stink-car. A motor-car: ca. 1900–10. The Sporting Times, April 27, 1901. Prob. ex stinker, 4, on the analogy of stinkard.

stink-finger, play at. To grope a woman: low: mid-C. 19–20.

stink for a nosegay, take a. To err egregiously, be very gullible: coll.: late C. 18—mid-19. Malkin, Gil Blas, 1809.

stink-pot. See sense 3 of stinker.—2. An objectionable fellow: late C. 19–20.

stink of money. To be 'lousily' or 'filthily' rich: middle and upper classes' (—1920). The C.O.D., 2nd ed. (With thanks to O.E.D. Sup.)

stinker. A stinkard, or disgusting, contemptible person: C. 17–20: a vulgarism. In C. 20 Glasgow it is applied esp. to a liar.—2. A black eye: c. (—1823); † by 1910. Egan's Grose. Cf. sense 5.—3. Any of the ill-smelling petrels, esp. the giant fulmar: nautical coll. (—1896). Also stink-pot (—1865). O.E.D.—4. Anything with an offensive smell: a vulgarism: 1898, a motor-car († by 1920; cf. stink-car); 1899, a rank cigar—former in O.E.D.; the latter in C. Rook, The Hooligan Nights; a cigarette made of Virginia tobacco (from before 1923: Manchon).—5. A heavy blow: C. 20 Public Schools'. Perhaps a corruption of stinger, q.v. Cf. come a stinker, q.v.—6. Hence, a very sharp or an offensive letter, a stinging criticism, a pungent comment or a crushing argument: from ca. 1916, it being orig. military.—7. Anything (very) difficult to do: from ca. 1924. Lyell. Prob. ex senses 5 and 6.—8. See Stinker in Addenda.

stinker, come a. To come a 'cropper', lit. or fig.: from before 1923. Manchon. Cf. stinker, n., 5.

stinkeries. A set of cages for a (silver-)fox farm: middle-class rural: from ca. 1920. (Evelyn Waugh, A Handful of Dust, 1934.)

stinkibus. Bad liquor; esp. rank, adulterated spirits: C. 18. Ned Ward, 1706; Smollett, 1771 (stinkubus). Spurious-Latin suffix on stink; cf. stingo.

stinking. Disgusting; contemptible: C. 13–20: S.E. until C. 19, then a vulgarism. Cf. stinker, 1.—2. (Of a blow, criticism, repartee, etc.) sharp: C. 20.

See stinker, 5, 6.—3. Extremely drunk: Society: from ca. 1929. (Evelyn Waugh, A Handful of Dust, 1934.)

stinking, adv. A late C. 19–20 Scots (somewhat uncouth) coll., as in I'd be stinking fond, i.e. foolish, to do it, I should never think of doing it, I'd certainly not do it. O.E.D.

stinking hell!; like stinking hell. See stink, like.

stinking Yarra! See Yarra, stinking.

stinkious. Gin: C. 18. F. & H. Perhaps ex stinkibus, q.v.

stinkman. A student in natural science, esp. in chemistry: schools' and universities' (— 1923). Manchon. Ex stinks, 2 and 1. More gen. and properly stinksman or stinks man.

Stinkomalee. London University: ca. 1840–70. Ex stink on Trincomalee: Theodore Hook thus alluded to some topicality affecting that town and to the cow-houses and dunghills that stood on the first site of the University.

stinks. Chemistry: universities and Public Schools': 1869 (O.E.D.). Ex the smells so desired by youth.—2. By 1902, also Natural Science: ibid. Cf. tics.—3. In late C. 19–20, a teacher of, lecturer on, Chemistry: Public Schools'. Cf.:

stinks (O.C.), or O.C. Stinks. A gas officer; a gas instructor: military: from 1916. F. & Gibbons.

stinky. A farrier: military: from ca. 1870. Ex burning of hair or hooves.

stipe. A stipendiary magistrate: rural: from ca. 1859. H., 2nd ed.

stir. An illiterate form of sir (in address): Scots: 1784, Burns; ob. O.E.D. Cf. the slightly later Scottish stirra, sirrah.—2. A prison: mid-C. 19–20: c. >, ca. 1900, low s. Mayhew, 1851, 'I was in Brummagem, and was seven days in the new "stir"': 1901, The Referee, April 28, 'Mr . . . M'Hugh, M.P. . . ., has gone to stir . . . for a seditious libel.' Abbr. Romany stariben, steripen (Crofton & Smart): cf. also Welsh Gypsy star, to be imprisoned, and stardo, imprisoned, and see Start, the. (Much nonsense has been written about this word).—3. A crowd: low: late C. 19–early 20. Ex stir, bustle, animation: cf. push.—4. Stew: military: late C. 19–20. B. & P. Ex the cooking-operation.

stir on, have plenty of. To be wealthy: late C. 19–early 20.

stir up. 'To visit on the spur of the moment': lower classes' (— 1909). Ware.

Stir-Up Sunday. The last Sunday before Advent: dial. (— 1825) >, ca. 1860, coll. H. 2nd ed. The appropriate collect begins 'Stir up, we beseech Thee, O Lord'; but, as the O.E.D. observes, 'the name is jocularly associated with the stirring of the Christmas mincemeat, which it was customary to begin making in that week.'

stirabout. A pottage of maize and oatmeal: prison c (— 1887). Baumann.—2. Any 'pudding or porridge made by stirring the ingredients—generally oatmeal or wheat-flour—when cooking': lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. Ex dial.

stirrup-oil. A beating, esp. with a strap: jocular coll. (— 1676) bordering on S.E.: ob. except in the All Fools' Day practical joke. Lexicographer Coles. Prob. suggested by stirrup-leather, an instrument of thrashing. Cf. strap-oil.

stirrups, up in the. See up in the stirrups.

stitch. A tailor: coll.: from late C. 17; very ob. B.E. Cf. stitch-louse.—2. 'Also a term for lying with a woman,' Grose, 1st ed.: low: late C. 18–20; ob.

stitch-back. Beer; strong liquor: ca. 1690, B.E.; E. Ward, History of the London Clubs; † by 1800.

stitch-louse. The same: 1838, Beckett; ob. Ex stitch on prick-louse. Cf.:

stitch off. To refrain from, have nothing to do with a thing; in the imperative, it = 'keep off it!': tailors': late C. 19–20. Ex tailoring j.

stitches, or S—. A sail-maker, esp. on board ship: nautical, gen. as nickname: mid-C. 19–20.

stitches, man of. The same as stitch-louse: mid-C. 19–20 coll. Cf. preceding two entries.

stiver. A small standard of value; esp. in not a stiver, not a penny: coll.: mid-C. 18–20. Ex stiver, a small Dutch coin. Other spellings: stu(y)ver, C. 18; stuiver, C. 19; ste(e)ver, late C. 19–20, when the usual form; Yiddishly, shtibbur. O.E.D.; F. & H.

stiver-cramped. Needy: coll.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. See stiver.

stiver's worth of copper. A penny: East London: late C. 19–20. Ware.

stivvy. A domestic servant: Bootham School: from ca. 1918. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. A corruption of skivvy.

stivvy blug. A boot-boy: Bootham School: ca. 1910–20. Ex preceding. Cf.:

stivvy's blag. A boot-boy: id.: from ca. 1920. Ex preceding.

stizzle. To hurt: Tonbridge School: from ca. 1880. ? ex stodge, v., 1, q.v.

stoater. See stoter.

stock. A stock of impudence; esp. a good stock: coll.: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Also absolutely: 'cheek'.—2. As in live stock, q.v.—3. Repertory (n.); esp. in stock: theatrical coll.: C. 20. (M. Lincoln, Oh! Definitely, 1933). Ex stock piece.

stock, v. To arrange (cards) fraudulently—i.e. to 'stack' them—may orig. (— 1864) have been s. H., 3rd ed. The O.E.D. classifies stocking, such manipulation, as s.: 1887.

stock-bubbling, n. Stock-broking: money-market s. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex causing stocks and shares to rise and fall.

stock-buzzer. A pickpocket of handkerchiefs: c. (— 1861). Mayhew.

stock-drawers. Stockings: c.: mid-C. 17–early 19. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. See drawers.

[Stock Exchange terms. The various terms occur passim. For a list, see F. & H. at Stock Exchange Terms and my Slang at this section, which includes also some gen. remarks on the subject.]

stock in, take. Esp. large, etc., stock in, rarely of. To be interested in, have faith in, consider important: coll.: 1878, Anon., 'Taking large stock in Natural Selection,' O.E.D.

stock-in-trade. The privities: coll.: late C. 19–20. Punning the lit. sense.

stock of, take. To scrutinise (gen. a person) with interest, curiosity, suspicion: coll. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex S.E. sense, to evaluate, assess.

Stockbrokers' Battalion, the. 'The 10th Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers, raised for the War among members and clerks of the Stock Exchange in Aug., 1914': military coll.: 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons.

stockdol(l)ager. See sockdologer. H., 2nd ed.

stocking. A store of money: gen. a fat or a long stocking: dial. (— 1873) >, ca. 1875, coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. S. R. Whitehead, 1876, 'She had a "stocking" gathered to meet the wants of an evil day,' O.E.D. Ex a stocking used in preference to a bank.—2. See stock, v.

stocking crib. A hosier's shop: o.: ca. 1810–60. Vaux. Ex crib, n., 3.

stocking-foot(er). A projectile approaching noiselessly: military: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons. It comes in stocking feet.

stodge. Heavy eating; gorging: mostly schools': 1894, Norman Gale, concerning a bowler at cricket, 'Your non-success is due to Stodge.' Ex stodge, 'stiff farinaceous food', and see stodging. O.E.D.—2. Hence, a heavy meal: mostly schools' (— 1903). F. & H.—3. At Charterhouse, the crumb of new bread (— 1903); (F. & H.). Cf. sense 1.—4. Stodgy notions: 1902, Elinor M. Glyn (O.E.D.). Ex senses 1, 2.—5. Any food: (gun-room) naval: from ca. 1905. Bowen. Ex senses 1 and esp. 2.

stodge, v.t. To hurt: Tonbridge School (— 1903). F. & H. Cf. stizzle.—2. V.i., to work steadily (at something, esp. if wearisome, dull, or heavy): coll.: 1889 (S.O.D.). Prob. ex:—3. See stodging.—4. To trudge through slush or mud; to walk heavily: dial. (— 1854) >, ca. 1910, coll. O.E.D. (Sup.).

stodged, ppl.adj. Crammed with food: dial. and coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. stodging.

stodger. A gormandiser: s. or coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf. stodge, n., 1.—2. A dull and/or spiritless person: coll.: from not later than 1904. O.E.D. (Sup.). Whence stodgery, the behaviour, or an action, characteristic of such a person (coll.: 1920, Warwick Deeping).—3. (the Stodger) H.M.S. Warspite: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Prob. ex sense 2.—4. A penny bun: Charterhouse (— 1900). A. H. Tod.

stodging, vbl.n. and ppl.adj. Gormandising: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex stodge, v.t., to gorge (oneself or another) with food; often in passive: dial. (— 1854) >, by 1860, coll.; the O.E.D., which considers it to have been always S.E., records stodge as v.i. only in 1911,—but it occurs in Baumann (sich satt essen) in 1887. Cf. stodged.

[stogy, a coarse cigar, may, orig. in England (ca. 1890), have been coll. Ex Conastoga, U.S.A.]

stoke; gen. stoke up. V.i., to eat; nourish oneself: coll.: C. 20. Ex stoking an engine.

stokers. 'Smuts and cinders flying from a ship's funnels at high speed': nautical: C. 20. Bowen.

stole. Stolen: sol.: C. 19–20. (D. Sayers, The Nine Tailors, 1934.)

stoll. To understand (e.g. stoll the patter): North Country c.: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed. ? a corruption of stall, to place, used fig.—2. V.i., to tittle: low s.: from ca. 1880; ob. Whence stolled, tipsy. ? origin: perhaps cognate with rare Norfolk stole, to drink, swallow (E.D.D.).

Stolypin's necktie. 'The final halter': political: 1897–ca. 1914. Ware. Ex a formerly well-known Russian functionary.

stomach, hot. See hot a stomach.

stomach on one's chest, (have got) a. (To have) something lying heavy on one's stomach: jocular coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

stomach thinks my throat is cut, my. See throat is cut.

[stomach-timber is rather a nonce-variation of belly-timber than an eligible coll. Recorded by F. & H. for 1820; certainly † by 1900.]

stomach-worm gnaws, the. I'm hungry: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 2nd ed.

stomjack, or stom Jack. Stomach (n.): nursery sol. (— 1887). Baumann.

stone. See stones. Cf. stone-fruit, q.v.—2. stone, kill two birds with one. See birds.—3. A diamond: South African s. (1887) >, by 1915, coll. (O.E.D. Sup.).—4. the stone. Diamonds: late C. 19–20: gem-dealer's coll. verging on j. A gem-trade proverb runs. 'When the stone goes well, all goes well.' Carl Olsson in The Passing Show, Jan. 13, 1934.

stone and a beating, give a. To beat easily: racing s. (— 1885) >, by 1900, sporting coll. Ex racing and athletics j., stone being a stone-weight. (Ware.)

stone-brig. See stone-doublet.

stone-broke; ston(e)y-broke. (Almost) penniless; ruined: resp. from before 1887 (Baumann) and now rare; 1894, Astley. The link between the two forms is provided by R. C. Lehmann's Harry Fludger, 1890, 'Pat said he was stoney or broke or something but he gave me a sov.'

stone cold, have (a person). An intensive of cold, have, q.v. (Lyell.)

stone(-)doublet, jug, pitcher, tavern; brig, frigate. A prison; orig. and esp. Newgate: -doublet,—the exemplar,—B.E.; Motteux, 1694; † by 1850; -jug,—in C. 19, the commonest, whence jug, q.v.,—late C. 18–19, Grose, 3rd ed., and Reade, 1856; -pitcher, ca. 1810–60; -tavern, late C. 18–mid-19, Grose, 3rd ed.; -brig and -frigate are both nautical (mainly naval), C. 19, the latter recorded by Frank C. Bowen. Dial. has stone-house and, in 1799, U.S. has stone jacket.

stone-fruit. Children: low C. 19–20; ob. Ex stones, q.v.; punning lit. sense.

stone-ginger, a. A certainty: Aucklandites' (N.Z.): from ca. 1910; ob. By 1930, however, it was gen.: James Curtis, 1936. Ex a horse that won virtually every hurdle-race for which it was entered.

stone-jug; stone-pitcher; stone-tavern. See stone-doublet.—2. (stone-jug.) A fool, an easy dupe: low rhyming s. (— 1923) on mug. Manchon.

stone lakes. Stone-mad: low, esp. among grafters: C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. See lakes.

stone ship. A War-time ferro-concrete ship (mostly they were tugs and barges): nautical coll. of G.W. (Bowen.)

stone the crows! An Australian expletive: coll.: C. 20. Ion L. Idriess, Flynn of the Inland, 1932.

stone under weight or wanting, two. Castrated: punning coll.: 1785, Grose (under weight, the wanting form not before C. 19); ob.

stone (up) in the ear, take a. To play the whore: late C. 17–mid-18. Shadwell, 1691 (O.E.D.); 'Facetious' Tom Brown. Cf. stone-priest and stones.

stone-wall; stonewall. Parliamentary obstruction; a body of Parliamentary obstructionists: 1876: Australian >, by 1898, New Zealand political s. Morris. Cf. the C. 16–17 proverb, it is evil running against a stone wall (Apperson) and:

stone-wall; gen. stonewall. To play stolidly on the defensive: cricket s. (1889) >, by 1920, coll. Lit., to block every thing as though one were a stone wall; but imm. ex S.E. stonewall, a cricketer doing this (1867: Lewis).—2. In politics, v.i. and v.t., to obstruct (business) by lengthy speeches and other retarding tactics: Australian s. (from ca. 1880) >, ca. 1900, fairly gen. Ex the n. Morris.

stone wall as anyone, able to see as far through a. See see through a stone wall.

stone(-)waller; stone(-)walling, n. and adj. One who stonewalls (in sport, ca. 1890; in politics, ca. 1885); the act or practice of doing this and the corresponding adj. (in cricket, ca. 1895; in politics, 1880).—2. (stone-waller.) A certainty: Glasgow sporting (— 1934).

stone wanting, two. See stone under weight.

stone winnick, gone. Muddled; out of one's wits: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons. See winnick.

stones. Testicles: C. 12–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then—except of a horse—a vulgarism. Cf. stone-fruit; stone (up) in the ear, take a.—2. Diamonds: South African s. (1887, South African Sketches, by Ellis) >, by 1920, coll. Pettman.

stones, on the. On the street, i.e. destitute: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

stones, stand on the. Gen. standing on the stones, omitted from the list of those 'wanted' (for work): dockers': from ca. 1930. (The Daily Herald, late July or early Aug., 1936.)

stonewall. See stone-wall.—stoney. See stony.—stoney-broke. See stony-broke.

'stonish. To astonish: in C. 19–20, gen. coll. and mostly nursery.

stonkered, be. To be put out of action: military: 1914 or 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex dial. stonk(s), the game of marbles, on scuppered.

stonnicky. A rope's end as an instrument for the inculcation of naval smartness: training-ships': ca. 1860–1910. Bowen. Perhaps cognate with stunner.

stony; less correctly, stoney. (Almost) penniless, ruined: from ca. 1890. For earliest record, see stone-broke. For semantics, cf. hard-up. Cf.: stony- (occ. stoney-)broke. The same: see stone-broke.

stoob(s). Boots: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See sret-sio.

stook. A pocket-handkerchief: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.; 1893, P. H. Emerson (stook). Prob. ex Yiddish: cf. Ger. Stück (O.E.D. Sup.). Hence, stook-buzzer or -hauler, a pickpocket specialising therein.

stool pigeon. An informer: c., orig. U.S.; anglicised by 1916. Edgar Wallace, passim.—2. Hence, a Secret Service agent: military: 1917; ob. B. & P.

stoolie or -y. A spy upon criminals: c.: from ca. 1920. E.g. in John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934. Prob. ex the preceding.

stool's foot in water, lay the. To prepare to receive a guest or guests: coll.: ? C. 18–mid-19. F. & H.

stoop. Always the stoop. The pillory: c. of ca. 1780–1840. George Parker; Grose, 1st ed. (at nab). Whence nab (nap) the stoop, to be pilloried; stoop-napper, one in the pillory: both c.: same period. Ex the position therein enforced.—2. Catachrestic when used of a porch or a veranda: late C. 18–20. Canada (and U.S.). O.E.D.

stoop, v.i. To become a victim to crook or criminal: c.: late C. 16–early 17. Greene.—2. To set (a person) in the pillory: c. of ca. 1810–40. Vaux. Ex n., 1.

stooping match. 'The exhibition of one or more persons in the pillory,' Vaux: c.: ca. 1810–40.

stop. A police detective: c. (— 1857); app. † by 1903. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Ex action.

stop, v. To receive (a wound); only in stop (a nasty or a Blighty) one, stop a packet: military: from 1915. Ex familiar S.E. stop a bullet. (B. & P.) Cf. cop a packet.

stop a pot. 'To quaff ale,' C. J. Dennis: (low) Australian: C. 20.

stop a blast. To be reprimanded by a superior: military: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. See stop, v.

stop a packet. See packet and stop, v.

stop and look at you (them, etc.). An occ. variant of get up and look at you, q.v.: 1926, J. B. Hobbs (Lewis).

stop-gap. The last-born child: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

Stop-Hole Abbey. The chief rendezvous of the underworld: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. It was at some ruinous building in London.

stop me and buy one! A c.p. of 1934–6; (?) ob. Ex the Wall's Ice Cream slogan.

stop my vitals! 'A silly Curse in use among the Beaux,' B.E.: coll.: late C. 17–18. Often stop my vitals!, q.v.

stop one. See stop, v.

stop one's blubber. A New Canting Dict., 1725, 'I've stop't his Blubber . . . I've done his Business. He'll tell no Tales, &c.': c.: C. 18.

stop out, v.t. To cover (one's teeth) with black wax to render them invisible to the audience: theatrical coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex etching.

stop thief. Beef: rhyming s. (1859, H.); orig. (— 1857), stolen meat, as in 'Ducange Anglicus', but not after 1870 at latest.

stop ticking. To cease being of importance; to die: from ca. 1930. Ex a watch.

stop up. To sit up instead of going to bed: coll.: 1857, Mrs Gaskell. (O.E.D.)

stopper. Something that brings to a standstill or that terminates: s. (1828, Egan in Boxiana) >, in late C. 19, coll. Esp. in clap a stopper on ('that jaw of yours', Marryat, 1830), † by 1910, and in put a or the stopper on, to cause to cease (Dickens, 1841): both s. >, ca. 1890, coll. O.E.D.—2. Whence, a brake: motor-racers': from ca. 1925. (Peter Chamberlain.)

stopper, v.t. To stop: 1821, Scott, 'Stopper your jaw, Dick, will you?', O.E.D. Cf. stopper, n., 1830 quotation. Ex lit. nautical sense.

stopping, hot. See hot-stopping.

stopping oyster. See oyster.

stops!, mind your. Be careful: coll.: 1830, Marryat, 'Mind your stops . . . or I shall shy a biscuit at your head.' Ex an injunction to a child reading aloud. O.E.D.

store. 'A bullock, cow, or sheep bought to be fattened for the market': 1874: Australian coll. >, by 1900, 'standard'. Morris. Also (but S.E.): store-cattle.

storey, upper. See upper storey.

storrac. Carrots: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See sret-sio.

stort. A cormorant: incorrect for scart.

story, for the storey of a building, is not incorrect, though slightly frowned on in England; but storey is preferable, if only to differentiate the sense.

story. A lie: a coll. euphemism: ca. 1697,

Aubrey; Barham. Chiefly in to tell stories and what a story!—2. Whence, a 'story-teller': low coll. and among children; esp. as you story!, you liar!: 1869. O.E.D.—3. story, upper. See upper storey.

story-teller. A liar: euphemistic coll.: 1748, Richardson, 'Wicked story-teller', O.E.D.

stosh. A variant of stash.

stoter; occ. stotor; also stoater and stouter. A sharp, heavy blow: late C. 17—early 19: c. >, ca. 1800, low s.: Motteux, 1694, stoater; B.E., stoter; stouter, 1769. Only H. and F. & H. record stotor. O.E.D. Ex:

stoter, v. To fell heavily; hithard: c.: 1690, D'Urfey; B.E., 'Stoter him, or tip him a Stoter, settle him, give him a swinging Blow'; † by 1750. Ex Dutch stooten, to push or knock. (O.E.D.)

stouch. An occ. variant of stoush, q.v.

stoupe. To give up (v.i.): c.: C. 18—early 19. Halliwell. Ex to stoop.

stoush, n. A fight; v.t., to fight, esp. to beat in a fight (anything from fisticuffs to a great battle): Australian: C. 20. C. J. Dennis. Prob. cognate with stash, q.v.; cf. dial. stashie, stushie, an uproar, a quarrel (E.D.D.). stoush-up. A variant of the preceding n.: Australian: from ca. 1910.

stout, ca. 1670–1770, was s. for strong beer. Swift; Johnson.

stout across the narrow. Corpulent: coll.: C. 20; ob. Anon., Troddles, 1901.

stout fellow. A reliable, courageous, and likable fellow: coll.: C. 20. B. & P. Abbr. stout-hearted fellow. See the quotation at sound egg.

stouter. See stoter.

stouts, Stouts. (Ordinary) shares in Guinness: Stock Exchange: late C. 19–20. A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

stove, v. 'Incorrect nautical use of incorrect past of stave as present': C. 19–20. W.

stove-pipe (hat). A top hat, a 'chimney-pot': mid-C. 19–20 (ob.); U.S. >, ca. 1865, English. In late C. 19–20, coll. Ex shape.

stove-pipes. Trousers: 1863 (O.E.D.); ob. by 1920, † by 1935.

stow, v.i. To cease talking, to 'shut up': c. (—1567); ob. by 1820, † by 1850. Harman, 'Stow you, holde your peace'; B.E., 'Stow, you have said enough'; Grose, 3rd ed., 'Stow you, be silent.'—2. Hence, v.t., to desist from: c. (—1676) >, ca. 1800, low s. >, ca. 1850, gen. s. Coles, 1676, 'Stow your whids, . . . speak warily'; stow (one's) jabber, 1806; stow (one's) mag, 1857; 'Ouida', 1882, "'Stow that, sir," cried Rake, vehemently.' Ob. Prob. ex S.E. stow, 'to place in a receptacle to be stored or kept in reserve', O.E.D. (whence several of the dates). Cf. stash, q.v., and:

stow faking!; stow it! Stop doing that!, gen. as a warning in the underworld: c.: resp. ca. 1810–1900; C. 19–20, ob. Vaux. See stow. Cf.:

stow magging and manging! Be silent!; lit., stop talking!: c. of resp. ca. 1810–80, ca. 1820–80. Vaux; Bee (. . . magging). See mag, v., and mang. Bee, 1823, has the variant stowmarket!

stow on their edges. To save money: Merchant Service: C. 20. Bowen.

Strad. A Stradivarius violin: coll.: 1884, Haweis, Musical Life (O.E.D.).

Strada Reale Highlanders. The 75th Foot Regiment, in late C. 19–20 the 1st Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders: military: 1812; † by 1910. In 1812, the Regiment formed the Main Guard of the Governor's residence in the Strada Reale, Valetta.

straddle is the C. 20 Stock Exchange s. (from ca. 1920, coll.) for the operation in which, 'when a broker executes an order to buy grain deliverable in a certain specified month, executing at the same time an order to sell the same quantity and description deliverable in another specified month, he shall be at liberty to carry out both transactions for one brokerage,' 1902: quoted by the O.E.D. (F. & H. confuses the English with the U.S. term, of which spread-eagle is a synonym.) Occ. as v.i.

straddle, v.i. 'In Sports and Gaming to play who shall pay the Reckoning', Dyche & Pardon, 1735; † by 1820.—2. See end of sense 1 in the preceding entry.

straddle-legged patents. 'Patent reefing gear' (Bowen): nautical coll.: C. 20.

straemash is a mainly dial. variant of stramash, q.v.

strafe; occ. straff. A fierce assault: military: from 1915. Blackwood's, Feb. 1916, 'Intermittent strafes we are used to,' O.E.D. Ex the v.—2. Hence, a severe bombardment: military: from late 1915. Cf. hate, n., q.v.—3. Hence, a severe reprimand: 1916: military >, by 1919, gen. See esp. B. & P.

strafe (occ. straff), v. To attack fiercely; to bombard: military: from 1915. The Times Literary Supplement, Feb. 10, 1916, 'The German are—but after 1916 they were not—called the Gott-strafers, and strafe is becoming a comic English word,' O.E.D. Ex the Ger. salutation and toast, Gott strafe England, 'may God punish England!'—2. Hence, to punish, to damage: military: from early 1916.—3. Hence, from mid-1916, to swear at, to reprimand severely: military >, by 1918, gen. See B. & P.—4. Hence also, strafe it!, 'shut up!': id.: 1917–19. F. & Gibbons.

straffer; strafing. The agential and the vbl.nn. of the preceding.

stragger. A stranger: Oxford University undergraduates': late C. 19–20. (O.E.D. Sup.) By 'the Oxford-er'.

stragglings money. A sailor that overstays his furlough: nautical (—1887). Baumann. Because he has money left.

straight, n. See the adj. and in the straight, on the straight.—2. (Also straighter.) A cigarette of Virginia tobacco: from ca. 1920. Manchon. Ex straight-cut.

straight, adj. (Of an utterance) outspoken; (of a statement) unreserved, certain: coll. (—1887). Baumann. Hence, straight talk, (a piece of) plain speaking: 1900.—2. Of persons or their conduct: honest, honourable; frank: coll.: 1864 (O.E.D.). In C. 16—mid-17, this sense was S.E., but 'the present use . . . is unconnected.'—3. Hence, (of any person) steady, (of a woman) chaste: coll.: 1868, Lindsay Gordon, keep (one) straight, the chief usage.—4. (Of accounts) settled: coll.: C. 17–20.—5. See straight face.—6. 'Often absent-mindedly confused with strait', W.

straight! Honestly!; it's a fact!: low coll.: 1890, Albert Chevalier; 1897, 'Pomes' Marshall, "If that isn't a good 'un," the bookie cried, "I'll forfeit a fiver, straight."

straight, in the. A rare form of straight, on the, behaving reputably or like a good citizen: from late 1890's. Edgar Wallace, 1900, 'O the garden it is lovely—That's when Jerry's on the straight!', O.E.D. Ex lit. sense, along a straight line.—2. (Only in the straight.) Near the end: racing coll. > gen.: 1903, T.P.'s Weekly, Jan. 2, 'Good, I'm in the straight now . . . Thank Heaven that's done.' Ex coming up the straight of a race-course and making the final effort.

straight, lay (a person). To operate on: medical students' (—1923). Manchon.

straight, out of the. Dishonest; illicit, illegal: late C. 19–20.

straight arm. See make a straight arm.

straight as a dog's hind leg. Crooked: jocular coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf. Swift's 'Straight! Ay, straight as my leg, and that's crooked at knee' (Apperson). Contrast:

straight as a loon's leg. Absolutely straight: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

straight as a pound of candles. Very straight: coll.: 1748, Smollett, 'My hair hung down . . . as . . . straight as a pound of candles'; ob. Cf. the (C. 19) Cheshire straight as a yard of pump water, applied to a tall, thin man, and Ray's (C. 17–18) straight as the backbone of a herring, which may have been coll. before being proverbial S.E. (Apperson). —2. Hence, very honest: coll.: C. 19–20; extremely ob.

straight bake. A roast joint: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Cf. straight rush.

straight-cut. A respectable girl; a girl in no way connected with the underworld: c.: from ca. 1920. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. An elaboration of straight, honest, virtuous.

straight drinking. 'Drinking without sitting down—bar-drinking': London taverns: ca. 1860–1905. Ware.

straight face; also keep one's face straight. (To do) this as a restraint from laughing: coll.: 1897, The Spectator, Sept. 25, 'An expressive vulgarity . . . "with a straight face"', O.E.D.

straight griff or griffin. See griff, griffin.

straight line, get on the. To get on the right scent or track: c. (—1887). Baumann.

straight off the turnips. See turnips, straight off the.

straight rush. A prepared joint taken to the galley for roasting: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Cf. straight bake.

straight screw. A warder that traffics with the prisoners: c.: C. 20. George Ingram, Stir, 1933.

straight-set, v.t. To defeat in the minimum number of sets (i.e. in straight sets): lawn-tennis coll.: 1935, The Daily Telegraph, April 4. Hence, such a match is called a straight-setter: lawn-tennis s.: June, 1935.

straight tip. See tip, straight.

straight-up, adj. Correct; the truth: low: from ca. 1925. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'Maisie was the only girl he had ever loved. That was straight-up.'

straight up and down the mast. (Of weather) calm: Irish nautical (—1909). Ware.

straight wire, the. The genuine thing; esp., authentic news: Australian: from ca. 1910.

straighten. To bribe, try to bribe (a police officer): c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace, passim; Charles E. Leach. I.e. straighten him out.

straighten up, v.i. To become honest or honourable: s. (ca. 1906) >, ca. 1930, coll. Ex lit. sense, to assume an upright posture.

straighter. See straight, n., 2.

Straights (occ. Streights), the. Jonson, 1614:

† by 1700: prob. c. Perhaps ex strait, adj., or straits, n. Gifford, 1816, 'These Straights consisted of a nest of obscure courts, alleys, and avenues, running between the bottom of St Martin's Lane, Half Moon, and Chandos Street'; they were 'frequented by bullies, knights of the post, and fencing masters'. Cf. the Bermudas.

strain hard. To tell a great or hearty lie: coll.: late C. 17–18. B.E.

strain one's taters. To make water: low: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex the colour of water in which potatoes have been washed or strained.

Straits, the. The Mediterranean: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex the S.E. sense, the Straits of Gibraltar.

stram, the. (Harlots') street-walking: c. >, ca. 1900, low s.; ob.: 1887, Henley, 'You judges that clobber for the stram'. ? ex U.S. stram, to walk some distance (1869), influenced by strum, v. (q.v.), or strumpet.

stramash; also straemash, very rare outside of dial. A disturbance; a rough-and-tumble: dial. (—1821) >, ca. 1835, coll. Barham, ca. 1840, former sense; Henry Kingsley, 1855, 'I and three other . . . men . . . had a noble stramash on Folly Bridge. That is the last fighting I have seen.' Ex Northern and Scottish stramash, to break, crush, destroy, itself perhaps ex stour (a disturbance) + smash: W.

stram(m)el. See stammel and strommel.

strammer. Anything exceptional, esp. in size or intensity, and stramming, huge, great, are dial. >, ca. 1850, coll., but, after ca. 1910, very ob. as coll. Ex dial. stram, to bang or strike: it is therefore one of the numerous 'percussive' intensives.

stranger. A guinea: low (—1785). Grose. Ex rarity.—2. A sovereign: from ca. 1830: low >, in C. 20, tramps' c. F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps, 1932.

stranger !, quite a; often preceded by well ! A coll. c.p. addressed to a person not seen for some time: C. 20. (R. Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934.)

strangle-goose. A poulticer: ca. 1780–1900. Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.

strangler. A neck-tie: c., and low: C. 20. J. Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

strangullion. Sol. or catachrestic for strangury: Palsgrave, 1530; Phillips, 1678. Whence, via strangury, the confusion worse confounded of strangurion: mid-C. 16–early 17. O.E.D. strap. A barber: mid-C. 19–20; by 1920, virtually †. H., 3rd ed. Ex † strap, a strop, + (Hugh) Strap, a barber in Smollett's Roderick Random, 1748.—2. Credit: dial. (—1828) >, ca. 1880, s. Esp. on strap, occ. on the strap. Slightly ob.

strap, v.i. To lie with a woman, esp. as vbl.n. strapping: c.: late C. 17–19. B.E., Grose. Prob. ex strapping (wench, youth, etc.).—2. To work, esp. if energetically, v.t. with at: from ca. 1810; ob. Lex. Bal. Also with away (1849), and to (both v.i. and v.t.: mid-C. 19–20).—3. V.t., to allow credit for (goods): dial. (—1862) >, ca. 1890, s. Ex strap, n., 2.—4. Hence, strap it (gen. as vbl.n.), to get goods on credit: Glasgow: C. 20.

strap-'em, oil of; strap-oil. Often preceded by a dose of. A thrashing with a strap: C. 19–20. Halliwell, 1847, 'It is a common joke on April 1st to send a lad for a pennyworth of strap-oil, which is generally ministered on his own person.' On stirrup-oil, q.v.

strap-hang, v.i. From ca. 1910. By back-formation ex :

strap(-)hanger. A passenger compelled, or occ. choosing, to hold on to a strap in omnibus, train, etc. : from ca. 1904 : s. >, ca. 1930, coll. Punch, Nov. 8, 1905 ; in 1934, Norah James published a novel entitled Strap-hangers. Cf. the S.E. port-manteau word, strapeze or trapeze.

strap-oil. See strap 'em.

strap up. 'To wash up the saloon table gear. A steward is said to be "on the Crockery Strap-up"' : Bowen : nautical : C. 20. Prob. because so many articles have then to be firmly secured.

strapping. See strapping. B.E.'s spelling (? a mere misprint).

strappado. Catachrestic when = a punishment by blows, as in mid-C. 17-18, as also it is when = to beat with a strap (mid-C. 17). O.E.D. strapped, ppl.adj. (Of goods, etc., had) on credit : Glasgow : C. 20. See strap, v., 3 and 4. strapper. A very energetic or an unremitting worker : 1851, Mayhew, 'They are all picked men . . . regular "strappers", and no mistake,' O.E.D. Ex strap, v., 2.

strapping, vbl.n. Lying with a woman : c. : late C. 17-19. B.E., Grose.

strapping it, vbl.n. See strap, v., 4.

straps. Sprats : a modified rhyming (or, perhaps, back) s. that is low urban (- 1909). Ware.

strata, singular with pl. stratas : catachrestic : C. 18-20. Cf. data, phenomena.

Strata Smith. Wm. Smith (1769-1839), the geologist and engineer. Dawson.

straw, v.i. To do as in strawer, 1, q.v. : London : mid-C. 19-20 ; ob.

straw, one's eyes draw. Grose's variation of straws, 2, q.v. ; straw is rare.

straw, pad in the. See pad in the straw.—straw-bail. See bail.

straw and t'other serves the thatcher, one eye draws. He (she, etc.) is half asleep : coll. : late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. An elaboration of straws, 2, q.v.

straw-basher. A boater, a straw hat for man or boy : 1930. (O.E.D. Sup.) Prob. suggested by hard-hitter.

straw-chipper. A barber : low : ca. 1820-50. Moncrieff, 1823. Cf. nob-thatcher.

Straw House. The Sailors' Home, Dock Street, London : nautical : mid-C. 19-20. Bowen, 1929, mentions that 'a century ago seamen were [there] given a sack of straw for their bed.'

straw in her ear, wear a. To seek re-marriage : C. 20. Manchon.

straw-yard. See strawyards.

strawberry. A 'brandy-blossom' or liquor-caused face-pimple : low (- 1887). Baumann.

Strawboots ; Old Strawboots. The 7th Dragoon Guards ; also the 7th Hussars : military : resp. from ca. 1830 and from ca. 1760 ; ob. Also the Straws ; as well as the Black Horse and the Virgin Mary's Guard (both - 1879), applied only to the Dragoons. 'Tradition says from these regiments having been employed to quell agricultural riots', F. & H. : this is correct only of the Guards ; the Hussars prob. got their name from straw used as foot-protection in the Seven Years War (F. & Gibbons).

strawer. London s. > coll (now almost †) of mid-C. 19-20, as in Mayhew, 1851, 'The strawer offers to sell any passer by . . . a straw and to give to the purchaser a paper which he dares not sell . . . political, libellous, irreligious, or indecent.' Ex straw, v.—2. A straw hat : schools' (- 1903). Cf. strawyard, 2.

strawing, vbl.n. See straw, v., and strawer, 1.

straws. Straws : see Strawboots.—2. straws, draw, gather, or pick. (Of the eyes, not the person) to show signs of sleep : late C. 17-20 (ob.) : coll. >, by 1850, S.E. Motteux (draw), Swift (draw), Grose (draw straw), Wolcot (pick), J. Wilson (gather). (O.E.D.) Both gather and pick are virtually †. Cf. straw and . . ., q.v.

strawyard. See strawyards.—2. A (man's) straw hat : coll. : late C. 19-20 ; ob. (By 1929, † in the Navy : Bowen.)

strawyard bull, like a. A jocose reply (often amplified by full of fuck and half starved) to 'How do you feel or How are you ?' : low c.p. : from ca. 1870 ; ob.

strawyarder. A longshoreman acting as a sailor : nautical : mid-C. 19-20 ; slightly ob.—2. Esp. (- 1903), a 'scab' on shipboard duty during a strike.

strawyards, the. Night shelters (refuges, homes) for the destitute : the London poor : mid-C. 19-20 ; ob. Mayhew, 1851.

streak. A very thin person : mostly Australian and New Zealand : C. 20.

streak ; occ. streek. To go very fast : 1768, 'Helenore' Ross, '[She] forward on did streak' ; H., 1st ed. Gen. streak off (like greased lightning) : 1843, Carleton ; occ. streak away, as in The Field, Sept. 25, 1886. S. >, in late C. 19, coll. Prob. ex flashes of lightning. The form to streak it is U.S. streak, like a. With exceeding swiftness : late C. 19-20. I.e. like a streak of lightning. Also like streaks : C. 20. See streak ; cf. :

streak away. See streak.

streak down. To slip or slide down ; to descend : s. (- 1889) >, by 1920, coll. App. mostly South African. (Pettman.) Cf. streak, v., q.v.

streak of lightning. A glass, gen. of gin, occ. of other potent spirit : mid-C. 19-20 ; very ob. Ex its sudden effect.

streak of misery. A tall, thin, miserable-looking person : coll. : late C. 19-20.

streaks, like. See streak, like a.

streaky. Bad-tempered, irritated ; irritable : from late 1850's ; ob. H., 2nd ed. Perhaps suggested by U.S. streaked, disconcerted, annoyed (1834 : Thornton).—2. Changeable ; variable : coll. : 1898, Bartram (of courage, weather) : 1899, A. C. Benson (of additions to a building) : 1903 (of runs at cricket). O.E.D.

stream-line. A tall, thin man : military : from 1917. F. & Gibbons. Cf. :

stream-line(d). Slim and graceful (of persons) : from ca. 1932. Ex stream-lined motor-cars, designed to offer small resistance to the atmosphere.

Stream's Town ; or s.t. The female pudend : low : ca. 1820-90.

streek. See streak, v.

street, down or up. Towards or in the lower or the upper end of the street : low coll. : 1876, Miss Bradon. O.E.D.

Street, Easy. See Easy Street.—Street, Grub. See Grub Street.—street, key to the. See key.—street, man in the. See man in the street.

street, not in or not up my (his, etc.). That's not my concern ; not my strong point ; not my method :

C. 20 (in is now ob.): s. >, by 1930, coll. F. & H. (in only).

street, not in the same (constructed with be and either as or with). (To be) far behind (lit. or fig.); much inferior to: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1883, Mrs Kennard, comparing two race-horses.

street, not the length of a. A small interval: s. (1893, O.E.D.) that, like preceding entry, was orig. sporting; cf. streets ahead, q.v.

Street, Queen. See live in Queen Street.—Street, Queer. See Queer Street.

Street, the. Wall Street as money-mart: from ca. 1860: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.: U.S., anglicised ca. 1890. Cf. 'Change, on, q.v.—2. The money-market held outside the Stock Exchange after 4 p.m.: Stock Exchange coll.: C. 20.—3. See G.P. street, up one's. One's concern: see street, not in my.

street-chanting. The practice of singing in the streets for a living: c. (— 1887). Baumann.

street-ganger. A beggar: c.: late C. 19—early 20. Baumann, 1887.

street-knocker, grin like a. To 'grin like a Cheshire cat': coll.: from the 1830's. Baumann. Prob. ex its brightness.

street-pitcher. A vendor or a mendicant taking a station (or 'pitch') in the street: from late 1850's; slightly ob. H., 1st ed., who adds the specific sense († by 1890) of the 'orator' advertising various activities (e.g. ballad-singing) and, where relevant, selling illustrative broadsheets or booklets.

street-yarn, spin. To walk about idly, gossiping from house to house: coll.: mid-C. 19—20; U.S., anglicised ca. 1870; ob.

street-yelp. A c.p. of the streets: lower classes': 1884; ob. Ware.

streets, be in the. A lower-classes' coll. variation (— 1887) of walk the streets, to be a prostitute. Baumann.

streets ahead (of) or better (than), be. To be far ahead (of) in a race: from ca. 1895.—2. Hence, to be much superior (to): 1898 (O.E.D.). Both s. >, ca. 1920, coll. Also absolutely. Occ. streets better off.

Streights, the. See Straights.

Strelits (C. 17) and Strelitz (C. 17—20) incorrect as pl. O.E.D.

strength of it or this or that or the other, the. The 'real'—i.e. the hidden or ulterior or most important—meaning or significance (of some act or thing specified or implied), as in 'What's the strength of him (or his) coming here?': coll., perhaps first in Australia, where it is much used: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. C. 15—early 17 S.E. strength, the tenor or import (of a document).

strenuous. Excited; angry: upper classes': from ca. 1930. See the quotation at crashing bore. Ex the S.E. sense.

strep. Streptococcus, a common type of bacteria: medical students' (— 1933). Slang, p. 190. Cf. staph.

streperous. Abbr. obstreperous, q.v. Cf. † S.E. streperous, noisy.

strestell, strestulle. Illiterate forms of trestle: C. 16. O.E.D.

stretch. A yard (length): c. (— 1811); † by 1920. Lex. Bal.; Vaux, 'Five . . . stretch signifies five . . . yards'.—2. A year's imprisonment, esp. with hard labour: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux; Haggart, Horsley, Edgar Wallace. Ex sense 1 + a long stretch. Thus one, two, three (four, etc.) stretch = two (etc.) years' imprisonment, as in Hag-gart, 1821, and J. Greenwood, 1888. See also quarter stretch.

stretch, gen. v.i.; occ. in late C. 19—20, stretch it. To exaggerate; tell lies: coll.: from ca. 1670. D'Urfe, Grose. Cf. strain, q.v.—2. V.i. and t., to outstay (one's furlough): naval coll.: C. 20. Ware; Bowen.

stretch leather, v. See leather, n., 2, and cf. leather-stretcher.

stretch off the land, a. A sleep: nautical: late C. 19—20. Bowen. Ex a ship lying at anchor near land.

stretch one's legs according to the coverlet. To adapt oneself to (esp. one's financial) circumstances: late C. 17—18: coll. >, by 1750, S.E. Bailey, 1736. Ex the very old proverb, whoso stretcheth his foot beyond the blanket shall stretch it in the straw. Apperson.

stretched, has had his breeches. (The boy) has received a thrashing: lower-class coll.: mid-C. 19—20. Ware.

stretched of one's mess. See mess, lose the number of one's.

stretcher. A University-Extension student: university: late C. 19—20; ob.—2. A layer-out of corpses: Anglo-Irish coll.: late C. 19—20. Ware.—3. A long journey, or stretch of road: coll.: C. 20. Manchon.—4. A large membrum virile: low coll.: 1749, John Cleland.

stretcher, hang over the. To eat too much; put on weight: low (— 1923). Manchon.

stretcher-fencer. A vendor of trouser-braces: low: mid-C. 19—20. H., 1st ed. Ex:

stretchers. Trouser-braces: low: mid-C. 19—20. Cf. preceding entry.—2. Laces: tramps' c. (— 1935). Because they, too, stretch.

stretching. 'Helping oneself at table without the help of servants': coll.: from ca. 1895. Ware.

stretching-bee, -match. A hanging: low: resp. ca. 1820—80 and ca. 1820—1910. 'Jon Bee'; H., 2nd ed.

stretchy. Stretchable, elastic: coll.: 1854 (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, too easily stretched, too elastic: coll.: from mid-1880's.—3. Inclined to stretch one's limbs or to stretch and yawn; sleepy: coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. the C. 17 proverb, stretching and yawning leadeth to bed.

'Strewth! God's truth!: low coll. when not deliberately jocular: 1892, Kipling, 'Strewth! but I socked it them 'ard.'

strict Q.T., on the. See Q.T.

stride-wide. Ale: c.: ca. 1570—1620. Harrison's Description of England, 1577.

strides. Trousers: theatrical (— 1904). Ex dial., where it occurs as early as 1895 (E.D.D.). In which one strides; cf. stride in C. 19 tailoring j. (O.E.D., 1122, col. 3, § 4, c).—2. Hence, women's drawers: Colonial: from ca. 1919.

strike. A sovereign (coin) or its equivalent: c.: ca. 1786—1920. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. A stike or stick, a measure of quantity in small eels: incorrect: from ca. 1670. O.E.D.—3. In curses: mid-C. 19—20 coll.—4. A watch: c. (— 1909). Ware. On the lucus a non lucendo principle.

strike, v.t. and v.i. To steal; to rob: c. of ca. 1565—1750. Harman, Greene, B.E.—2. Hence, v.i., to borrow money: c.: C. 17—early 19 (perhaps until late C. 19). Mynshul, 1618 (O.E.D.); B.E. Esp. as vbl.n., striking.—3. Hence, v.t. and v.i., to ask (a person) suddenly and/or pressingly for (a loan, etc.): low: mid-C. 18—20; slightly ob. Fielding, 1751, '... Who in the vulgar language, had struck, or taken him in for a guinea', O.E.D. Cf. string, 2.—4. V.i., to beg (also strike it): (low) Australian: from late 1890's; slightly ob. as strike.—5. Semantically ex sense 1: to open, as in strike a jigger, to pick a lock, to break open a door: c. (—1857). 'Ducange Anglicus'.—6. As in Baumann's 'How warm you strike in here!', the connotation is of timely and most welcome arrival: lower classes' coll. (—1887). Cf. bash into, q.v.

strike, make a. To be successful; lucky: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex strike, 'the horizontal course of a stratum' (of gold, etc.).

strike a bright. To have a bright idea: tailors' and lower classes' (—1909); ob. Ware. Cf. brain-storm.

strike a hand. (Of a thief) to be successful on a given occasion: c.: late C. 16—early 17. Greene, 1592. Cf. strike, v., 1.

strike a jigger. See strike, v., 5.

strike a light. To run up a tavern score: see light.—2. strike a light! A mild expletive: coll.: from ca. 1880. Cf. strike me blind!—3. To commence a piece of welding: sheet-metal workers': C. 20. The Daily Herald, Aug. 11, 1936.

strike all of a heap. See heap.

strike-fire. Gin: 1725, G. Smith on distilling (O.E.D.); very ob.

strike-me-blind. Rice: nautical (—1904); slightly ob. Bowen, 'From the old superstition that its eating affected the eyesight'.

strike me blind! A (gen. proletarian) expletive: coll.: 1704, Cibber. Also strike me dumb! (1696, Vanbrugh; † by 1890); ... lucky! (1849, Cupples); ... silly! (—1860; very ob.); ... pink!, mid-C. 19–20; ... ugly (C. 20: Manchon); and strike me!, late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.) These imprecations may be constructed with if or but. Cf. strike a light, 2, and the Australian strike me up a gum-tree! (from ca. 1870: H., 5th ed.), oce. in C. 20 varied by strike me up a blue-gum!

strike-me-dead. Small beer: naval: from early 1820's; ob. Cf. strike-fire.—2. Bread: military rhyming s.: from ca. 1899. F. & Gibbons.—3. Head: rhyming s.: C. 20. B. & P.

strike me lucky!—pink!—silly!—up a gum-tree! See strike me blind! For the first, see also lucky!, strike me.

strike oil. See oil, strike.

strike—or give me the bill! Mind what you're about: coll.: ca. 1660–1750. Walker, 1672. Ex injunction to man clumsy with this weapon. (Apperson).

striking, vbl.n. See strike, v., 1 and 2.

strill. A lie with intent to cheat: North Country c. (—1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Origin?

string. A subject argued out; an argument (or logical résumé); a commodious set of syllogisms: Oxford University: C. 18. Amherst, 1721; the O.E.D. records it also at 1780. Rarely in singular. Ex string, a continuous series.—2. A hoax; a discredited story: printers': from ca. 1890. Prob. ex on a string.—3. A surgical ligature: medical students' (—1933). Slang, p. 193.

string, v. See string on.

string, brother of the. See brother paragraph.

string, feel like going to heaven in a. To feel utterly and confusedly happy: coll.: C. (? 18–)19. Lit., so happy that one would willingly die a martyr; in late C. 16–18, go to heaven in a string (applied orig. to Jesuits hanged temp. Elizabeth) meant, simply, to be hanged, as in Greene and Ned Ward (O.E.D.).

string, go to heaven in a. See preceding entry.

string, on a. Esp. have or have got (one) on a string, to hoax, befool: coll.: from ca. 1810. Bee; 'Pomes' Marshall, 'You can't kid me . . . they've been having you on a string.' Ex lead in, or have in or on, a string, to have completely under control. Cf. string on.—2. Hence, have (or keep) on a string, 'to keep a person in suspense for a long time': coll.: late C. 19–20. Lyell.—3. get (one) on a string or line. See line, get one on a. Vaux.

String of Beads. Leeds: railwaymen's rhyming s.: C. 20. The Daily Herald, Aug. 5, 1936.

string on. To befool, to 'lead up the garden path', as, e.g. 'You can't string him on!': from ca. 1810. Vaux. (Whence U.S. string, to humbug.)

stringer. A ball difficult to play: cricket (—1904); † by 1930. F. & H. Perhaps ex string on, q.v.—2. In pl., handcuffs: 1893, Kipling (O.E.D.); ob.

stringing up. A strong admonition, severe reprimand: 1925, F. Lonsdale (O.E.D. Sup.).

strings on, put the. To hold (a horse) back in a race, to 'rope' him: turf: ca. 1860–1900. Fraser's Magazine, Dec., 1863.

stringy-bark. Australian (ob. by 1915) as in A. J. Vogan, Black Police, 1890, 'Stringy-bark, a curious combination of fuisil [sic] oil and turpentine, labelled "whisky"'. Ex the:—2. Adj. Rough or uncultured; also (and orig.) rustic, belonging to the 'bush': Australian coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. (slightly ob.): 1833, The New South Wales Magazine, Oct. 1, concerning inferior workmanship, 'I am but, to use a colonial expression, "a stringy-bark carpenter"'. Morris.

strip. To rob (a house or a person); esp. to steal everything in (a house); to swindle (a person) out of his money: late C. 17—mid-18: c. B.E., whose phrases are of the 'strip the ken, to gut the house' order, i.e. with direct object and no further construction. Ex strip . . . of, to plunder . . . of.

strip a peg. To buy ready-made, or second-hand clothes: 1908 (O.E.D. Sup.); slightly ob.

strip-bush. 'A fellow who steals clothes put out to dry after washing': either c. or low s. (—1864); ob. H., 3rd ed.

strip-me-naked. Gin: from ca. 1750. Toldervy, 1756; Grose, 3rd ed. Cf. stark-naked, q.v.

stripe. 'One who is no longer a first offender': c. (—1933). George Ingram, Stir.

striper, two—two and a half—three. A lieutenant; lieutenant-commander; commander, R.N.: naval coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the indications of rank. Cf. one-pipper, q.v.

stripes; old s. or O.S. A tiger: jocular coll.: resp. 1909, 1885. O.E.D.—2. (Also stripey.) A sergeant of Marines: naval, esp. as a nickname: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex his badge of office.

stripped. (Of spirits) unadulterated; neat: mid-C. 19–20; ob.

strippers. 'High cards cut wedge-shape, a little wider than the rest, so as to be easily drawn in a crooked game', F. & H.: gaming coll.: from mid-1880's. See esp. Maskelyne, Sharps and Flats, 1894. Ex the manner of stacking, with a pun on impoverishment.

stripping law. The (jailers') art and/or practice of fleecing prisoners: c.: late C. 16—early 17. Greene. Cf. lay, n.

strive. To write with care: Christ's Hospital:

from ca. 1870. Ex L. scribere, to write, via to scribe, q.v., on strive, to try very hard.

strode a pot, as good as ever. See pissed, as good as ever.

stroke, take a. (Of the male). To coit: low coll. (— 1785); ob. Grose, 1st ed.

strolling mort. A pretended-widow beggar roaming the country (often with a 'ruffler'), making laces, tape, etc., and stealing as chance favours her: c. (— 1673); † by 1830. Head; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. In C. 17, often strowling m.

strommel (ca. 1565–1840); also strummel (C. 16–19), very common; stramel (C. 18) and strammel (C. 18–19); strommell (C. 17–18) and stromell (C. 17); and strumil (C. 18, rare). Straw: c. of ca. 1565–1830. Harman, B.E., Grose (1st ed.), Scott. Perhaps via Anglo-Fr. ex Old Fr. estramer: cf. stramage, rushes strewn on a floor. O.E.D.—2. Hence, hair (prob. orig. of straw-coloured hair): c. (— 1725); † by 1850, except in Norfolk (H., 1st ed.). A New Canting Dict., 1725; Vaux; Ainsworth, 'With my strummel faked in the newest twig', done in the newest fashion. Cf. strum, n., 1, and:

strommel- or strummel-faker. A barber: c. of ca. 1810–40. Ex strommel, 2. (Implied in Vaux.)

strommel- or strummel-patch, n. A very contemptuous epithet for a person: late C. 16–early 17 c. Jonson, 1599, 'The horson strummell patch'. O.E.D. Ex strommel, 1.

strong. (Of a charge or payment) heavy: coll.: 1669 (O.E.D.); ob.

strong, be going. To be vigorous or prosperous: coll.: 1898, Punch, Oct. 22, 'And though, just now, we're going strong, | The brandy cannot last for long,' O.E.D. Ex horse-racing.

strong, come it. See come it strong; cf. go it strong, below.

strong, come out. To speak or act vigorously or impressively; to 'launch out': coll.: 1844, Dickens (O.E.D.). Cf. be going strong, above, and:

strong, go it. To act recklessly or energetically: coll.: from ca. 1840. Cf.:

strong, pitch it. To exaggrate; tell a 'tall' story: coll.: 1841, Hood (O.E.D.).

strong man, play the part of the. To be whipped at the cart's tail: low: ca. 1780–1840. Grose, 1st ed., 'I.e. to push the cart and horses too.'

strong on. Laying great stress on: coll.: 1883, 'Strong on the proprieties', O.E.D.

strong on, go. To uphold or advocate energetically and/or emphatically: coll.: 1844, Disraeli, '“We go strong on the Church?” said Mr Taper,' O.E.D.; ob.

strong silent man. This cliché has, since the early 1920's, > a virtual c.p. to the sarcastic. (Cf. Collinson.) Ex popular fiction.

stronger house than ever your father built, you'll be sent to a. You'll go to prison (someday): C. 17 semi-proverbial coll. Apperson.

strongers. Any powerful cleanser such as spirits of salts: naval officers': C. 20. Bowen. Ex strong by 'the Oxford -er'.

strongle. A strongyle (strón-djil): illiterate pronunciation: from mid-1880's. (Thread-worm.) O.E.D. strook is, in mid-C. 19–20, sol. for struck. Baumann.

Strop Bill, the. South African coll. (— 1913) for 'a bill introduced into the Cape Parliament, which had it passed would have allowed a farmer to punish his servants for misconduct by flogging', Pettman By 1930, virtually †.

strow. Incorrect for † frow, frough, adj. O.E.D.

strowling mort. See strolling mort.

struck. Bewitched: dial. and coll.: 1839, J. Keegan (O.E.D.). In composition, struck with. Cf. struck so.

struck comical, be. To be very astonished: low coll. (— 1891). Cf. struck.

struck on. (Low) coll. form of struck with, charmed by (orig. a person—of the opposite—gen. female—sex): from early 1890's. (O.E.D.)

struck so. Struck motionless in a particular posture or grimace: from ca. 1850: low coll. Mayhew. Ex struck, bewitched. (O.E.D.) struck with. See struck.

strude. A stock of mares: incorrect for stud: J. Kersey, 1702, and later. O.E.D.

strue. To construe or translate: schools' coll.: late C. 19–20.—2. Hence, a 'construe': Shrewsbury School coll.: from ca. 1890. (Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.)

struggle and strain. A train: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. B. & P.

struggle-for-lifer. A struggler for life: s. or coll. (— 1895). Ex biological struggle for life, though imm. ex Daudet's struggle-for-lifueur (1889).—2. Hence, one who, thus struggling, is none too scrupulous in seeking success: 1899; ob. O.E.D.

struggle with, I (etc.) could. I could do with, I'd gladly take (e.g. a drink): lower classes' coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

struguël. A, to, struggle: sol. when not, as occ. in C. 20, jocular (cf. loverly): C. 19–20. Ware.

strum. A wig: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Egan's Grose ('Cambridge'). Ex strommel, q.v. A rum-strum is a long one.—2. A strumpe; a wench (if rum, then handsome): c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.—3. See stram.

strum, v.i. and v.t. To have intercourse (with a woman): low: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Semantically, to play a rough tune (on her). Possibly suggested by a pun on strum, n., 2, q.v.

strummel, s.-faker, s.-patch. See strommel, etc.

strunt. The male member: C. 17. Middleton, in Epigrams and Satyres, 1608. Ex S.E. and dial. strunt, the fleshy part of an animal's tail strut like a crow in a gutter. See crow in a gutter.

'Struth! 'An emaciated oath', C. J. Dennis: low: late C. 19–20. (God's truth!) Also 'Strewth, q.v.

stub (or stubb). See stubs.—2. 'The lower part of a rainbow' (Bowen): nautical coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. An extension of the S.E. sense.

stub. To kick (a football) about: Felsted: late C. 19–20. Ex stub one's toe.

stub-faced. Pitted with small-pox: late C. 18–19. Grose, 2nd ed., where the phrase the devil run over his face with horse stubs (horseshoe nails) in his shoes.

stubb. See stub, n.

stubble. The female pubic hair: low: C. 18–20. Whence, shoot over the stubble (or in the bush), to ejaculate before intromission, and take a turn in the stubble, to coit (both, C. 19–20), and pointer and stubble, q.v.

stubble it!; stubble your whids! Hold your tongue: c.: resp. late C. 17–19 (B.E. and Lytton) and ca. 1810–50 (Lytton). Prob. ex stubble, v.t., to clear of stubble.

Stubborns, the (Old). The 45th Foot Regiment, now the Sherwood Foresters: military nickname: from ca. 1840. F. & Gibbons. Ex a passage in Napier's Peninsular War, bk. viii, ch. 2, referring to them at the battle of Talavera as a 'stubborn regiment'.

stubbs. Nothing: c. of ca. 1810–1900. Vaux; Baumann. Ex stub, the end (of, e.g., a cigar).

stubs in his shoes. See stub-faced.

stuck. See fly-stuck.—2. Adversely affected; left in an unenviable position; penniless; grossly deceived; utterly mistaken: from ca. 1863. H., 3rd ed. Cf. stuck in, q.v.

stuck, be. To be confirmed; sticking-parade, Confirmation: Charterhouse: C. 20. I.e., fixed in one's Faith.

stuck, dead. Utterly ruined or flabbergasted; wholly disappointed: low: from ca. 1870.

stuck away. In pawn: Glasgow (—1934). Euphemistic. Cf. upstairs (adj.), q.v.

stuck by. Deserted or grossly deceived or imposed on by (esp. one's pal): low: from ca. 1880.

stuck for. Lacking; at a loss how to obtain: from ca. 1870. Esp. stuck for the ready, penniless. Cf. stuck and stuck, dead, qq.v.

stuck in (e.g. one's calculations). Mistaken; also, at a loss concerning: from ca. 1870. Prob. an elaboration of stuck, q.v.

stuck in the mud. Cornered, baffled, nonplussed, stalemated: from ca. 1880.

stuck into it !, get. Work hard !; don't dally !: military: from 1916. B. & P., 'The metaphor is from digging' (a clayey trench).

stuck on. Enamoured of (gen. a man of a woman): late C. 19–20: rare among upper classes. Ex U.S. sense, captivated with (things).

stuck on one's lines. To forget one's speech(es): theatrical coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Mayhew, iii.

stuck pig. See stare like a stuck pig.

stuck-up. Unjustifiably 'superior'; offensively conceited or pretentious: coll.: 1829 (O.E.D.).—2. See stick up, v., 8.

stuck-up marm. See lady marm.

stuck-uppishness. The n. of stuck-up: coll.: 1853 (O.E.D.). studding-sails on both sides(, with). With a girl on each arm: nautical: late C. 19–20; ob. Bowen.

studify, v.i. To study: illiterate coll.: 1775, T. Bridges (O.E.D.); † by 1850.

studsnel, stunsail or -sel. Nautical coll. (—1887) for studding-sail. Baumann.

study. To take care and thought for the convenience, desires, feelings of (a person); esp., to humour (him): coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Dickens, 1852; Mrs Carlyle, 1858, 'With no husband to study, housekeeping is mere play'. Ex study the advantage, convenience, feelings, wishes, of (a person). O.E.D.

study up, v.t. To study for a special purpose: coll.: from ca. 1890.

stuff. Medicine: C. 17–20: S.E. until mid-C. 18, then coll. Moore, 1819, 'It isn't the stuff, but the patient that's shaken.' Also (ob. by 1890) doctor's stuff, recorded in 1779 (O.E.D.). Ex stuff, 'matter of an unspecified kind'.—2. Money, esp. cash: adumbrated by Bridges, 1772; definite in Sheridan, 1775, 'Has she got the stuff, Mr Fag? Is she rich, hey?'; Nat Gould, 1891. Slightly ob. Perhaps ex stuff, household goods, hence personal effects.—3. Whiskey, always the stuff (Croker, 1825) or good stuff (1861, Meredith): coll. O.E.D. Prob. ex sense 1.—4. Stolen goods (stuff or the stuff): a.

and low s.: 1865, The Daily Telegraph, Nov. 5. O.E.D.—5. ? hence, 'contraband' smuggled into gaol: c.: C. 20. Esp. tobacco (—1904).—6. Hence (?), drugs; esp. cocaine (the stuff): c.: C. 20.—7. Men as fighting material: coll.: 1883, The Manchester Examiner, Nov. 24, 'The army of Ibrahim included a good deal of tougher stuff than the ordinary fellah of Egypt,' O.E.D.; by 1930, virtually S.E.—8. 'Copy'; one's MS.: coll., journalistic and authorial: 1898 (U.S.); certainly anglicised by 1915, at the very latest. (O.E.D.).—9. Shell-fire; gen. with adj., as heavy stuff, heavy shells or shell-fire: military coll.: from 1914. B. & P.—10. An anæsthetic; give stuff is to anæsthetize at an operation; do stuffs is to take a course in the administration of anæsthetics: medical (—1933). Slang, p. 193.—11. Often employed as a coll. (mid-C. 19–20) to connote vagueness in the speaker's mind or intention, or to imply ignorance of the precise term or name, as, e.g., in Christopher Bush, The Case of the April Fools, 1933, 'Made his escape down the creeper stuff'.—12. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 6.—13. See stuff to give the troops.

stuff, v.t.; stuff up. To hoax, humbug, befool (cf. cram in same sense): ? orig. (1844) U.S., in form stuff up; English by 1859 as stuff, as in H., 1st ed. Slightly ob. Prob. ex stuff (a person) with.—2. Hence, v.i., to make believe, to chaff, to tell false stories', H., 1st ed.; ob. by 1890, † by 1900.—3. V.i., to be or to live in a stuffy atmosphere or place; to be inside when one could be in the open air: late C. 19–20. E. Raymond, Child of Norman's End, 1934, 'Here's that boy stuffing indoors again,' when he was reading a book.

stuff,—and. And such dull or useless matters: coll.: late C. 17–20. J. Lewis, ca. 1697, 'You pretend to give the Duke notions of the mathematics, and stuff'; 1774, Goldsmith, 'Their Raphaels, Corregios [sic], and stuff'; 1852, Thackeray. Slightly ob. O.E.D.

stuff, bit of. See bit of stuff.—stuff, do one's. See do one's stuff.—stuff, give. See stuff, n., 10.—stuff, good. See stuff, n., 3.

stuff, hard. Money in coin: low (—1923). Manchon. Ex stuff, n., 2.

stuff, hot. See hot stuff.—stuff, know one's. See do one's stuff.

stuff on the ball, put. To make the ball break: cricketers': ca. 1880–1905. For stuff we now say work and for put we prefer get: S.E.

stuff to give the troops !, that's the. That's the idea; that's what we want: coll.: orig. (1916) military >, by 1919, gen. coll. Since 1917, often that's the stuff to give 'em !; since ca. 1920, often that's the stuff !, which may have been the original (for it is recorded in U.S. in 1896: O.E.D. Sup.), the others mere elaborations. Among soldiers, since ca. 1917, occ. that's the giv to stuff 'em ! B. & P.

stuffata. Incorrect for stufata: mid-C. 18—early 19. O.E.D.

stuffed monkey. 'A very pleasant close almond biscuit': Jews' coll., mostly London: from ca. 1890. Zangwill. (Ware.)

stuffed shirt. A pompous fool: upper and middle classes': from ca. 1920.

stuffing. Superfluous matter included to fill the required space: journalistic coll. (—1904) >, ca. 1920, S.E. Cf. stuff, n.

stuffing out of. See knock the stuffing out of. But there are variants: beat . . . (1887, very ob.) and take . . . (1906, Lucas Malet): coll. O.E.D. stuffs, do. See stuff, n., 10.

stuffy. Angry, irritable; sulky; obstinate, 'difficult': U.S., anglicised ca. 1895 as a coll.; authorised by Kipling, 1898 (get stuffy). Cf. sticky, adj., 3. (O.E.D.)—2. Hence, secretive: schools' (— 1923). Manchon.—3. (Also ex sense 1.) Easily shocked; strait-laced: from ca. 1925. Galsworthy defines it in 1926, in The Silver Spoon. stug. Guts: back s.: late C. 19–20 (R. H. Mottram, Bumphrey's, 1934.)

stugging. The rolling motion of a ship that is stranded: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen. Cognate with stog, to walk heavily.

stuling-ken. See stalling-ken.

stumble. See truckle-bed.

stumer; occ., in C. 20, stumor; rarely stumour (Manchon). 'A horse against which money may be laid without risk', H., 5th ed., where spelt shtumer; racing s.: from ca. 1873. This sense and this spelling were both ob. by 1904 (F. & H., vol. vii, indirectly) and by 1935 virtually †. In Glasgow sporting s., however, it is still applied to a horse that is losing. The word perhaps derives from Yiddish; but ? cf. Swedish stum, dumb or mute.—2. Hence, a forged cheque or a worthless one (an 'R.D.'): 1890, Blackwood's (stumer). O.E.D.—3. Hence, or direct ex sense 1, a counterfeit bank-note or a base coin: 1897, 'Pomes' Marshall (see quotation in next sense).—4. Hence (often as adj.), a sham; anything bogus or worthless: 1897, 'Pomes' Marshall, in a poem entitled The Merry Stumer, 'Stumer tricks . . . stumer stake . . . stumer note . . . stumer cheque'; 1902, The Sporting Times, Feb. 1, 'He . . . had given her as security a stumer in the shape of an unfinished history of Corsica'.—5. Hence, a 'dud' shell: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons.—6. A 'dud' person: from not later than 1913. Manchon. Perhaps orig. at Harrow School, for it appears in Arnold Lunn's The Harrovians.

stump. A leg: S.E. except in the pl., when (in C. 19–20, at least) coll., esp. in stir one's stumps, to walk or dance briskly: C. 17–mid-18, bestir . . ., as in Jonson and B.E.; mid-C. 17–20, stir . . ., as in Anon., Two Lancashire Lovers, 1640; 1774, Bridges, 'Then cease your canting sobs and groans, And stir your stumps to save your bones'; 1809, Malkin; 1837, Lytton.—2. Money: low s.: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose. Ex stump, a small piece. Cf. stumpy, q.v.—3. See stump with (us).

stump, v. To walk: from late 1850's. H., 1st ed. Gen. stump it, which in Lytton, 1841, means to decamp, a sense very ob. and rare. Ex stump, to walk clumsily.—2. To beggar, ruin: dial. (— 1828) >, by 1830, s. Esp. in passive, to be penniless, as in T. Hook, 1836, and 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'In the annals of the absolutely stumped'. Ex stump, to truncate, or perhaps (H., 1860) ex cricket.—3. To challenge, esp. to a fight. Canadian (— 1932). John Beames. Perhaps ex sense 2.—4. See stump up.

stump, pay on the. To disburse readily and/or promptly: coll.: late C. 19–20.

stump, up a. In a difficulty: U.S. (late 1820's), anglicised by 1919. O.E.D. Sup. I.e. 'up a tree'.

stump it. See stump, v., 1.

stump up, v.t. To pay down, disburse: 1821, Egan (see quotation at rubbish); 1881, Blackmore. Rare. Ex stump up, to dig up by the roots. Cf. plank down.—2. Hence, v.i., to pay up; to disburse money, 'fork out': 1835, Dickens, 'Why don't you ask your old governor to stump up?'—3. To exhaust (a horse) by strain: 1875, Reynardson (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1900, S.E.

stump with (e.g. us), it's a case of. A variant (— 1923) of be stumped (see stump, v., 2). Manchon.

stumped, adj. See stump, v., 2.

stumper. Small cricket: Tonbridge School (— 1904). At Harrow, stumps: coll. By 1919, it was gen. and S.E. Ex stump-cricket.

stumps. See stump, n., 1.—2. See stumper.—3. it's (a case of) stumps with (us). (We) are lost, ruined: low (— 1887). Baumann. Ex stump, v., 2.—4. See 'Body' n Addenda.

stumpy. Money: low: 1828 (O.E.D.); 1835, Dickens; H., 5th ed. Ob. Ex stump, n., 2, which was perhaps suggested by short of blunt (money).—2. A stumpy person; gen. as nickname: coll. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex adj.—3. Whence, 'a Thames sailing barge without a topmast': nautical coll.: from ca. 1870. Bowen.

stun. Nuts: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See sret-sio; cf. stunlaw(s).—2. Stone (weight): sol. or, at best, low coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. pun.

stun, v. To cheat, swindle, as in stun out of the regulars, to defraud or deprive (a man) of his 'rightful' share of booty: c.: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex lit. sense of stun and perhaps influenced by sting, 1, q.v.

stung, be. See sting.

stunlaw(s). Walnuts: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See sret-sio.

stunned. Tipsy: from ca. 1910: New Zealanders' and, by 1933 at latest, Glaswegians'. Ex effects of liquor.

stunned on skilly, be. To be sent to prison and compelled to eat skilly: c. (— 1859); † by 1900. H., 1st ed. Cf. stun, v.

stunner. An exceedingly attractive woman (Albert Smith, 1848) or thing (1848, Thackeray, of the performance of a play); a person excellent at doing something (Thackeray, 1855, of a cook) or a thing excellent in quality or remarkable in size (from ca. 1875): coll. O.E.D. and F. & H. Cf. stunning.

stunners on, put the. To astonish; confound: low (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex stunner.

stunning. Excellent, first-rate; delightful; extremely attractive or handsome: coll.: 1849, Dickens (of ale); 1851, Mayhew (of a ring); of a girl, from not later than 1856, F. E. Paget, 'The most stunning girl I ever set my eyes on'. (O.E.D.) Ex stun, to astound; cf. stunner and stunners on, qq.v.—2. Hence, clever, knowing: low coll. (— 1857); † by 1900. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

stunning Joe Banks. 'Stunning' par excellence: low London: ca. 1850–80. Ex stunning, q.v. + Joe Banks, a noted public-house keeper and 'fence' (fl. 1830–50), who, despite the lowness of his customers, was notoriously fair in his dealings with them. H., 2nd ed.

stunningly. The adv. of stunning, q.v.: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

stunsail, stunsel. See studnsel.

stunt. An item in an entertainment: coll.: 1901, The Westminster Gazette, Jan. 31, 'There will be many new "stunts" of a vaudeville nature,' O.E.D. Ob. Ex U.S. stunt, an athletic performance, any (daring) feat, 1895, itself perhaps ex Ger. stunde, an hour (O.E.D.), or, more prob., ex Dutch stond, a lesson (W.).—2. Hence, an enterprise undertaken to gain an advantage or a reputation: coll.: from ca. 1912. H. G. Wells in Mr Brilling, 1916, 'It's the army side of the efficiency stunt,' W.—3. Hence, any enterprise, effort, or performance: coll.: 1913, Rupert Brooke (O.E.D. Sup.).—4. Hence, from ca. 1920, a dodge, a (political, commercial or advertising) trick or novel idea: coll. E.g. 'The economy stunt'; 'He's a bit too fond of stunts.' Manchon.—5. Ex sense 1 or 2, or both: an attack or advance; a bombing-sortie: military coll.: from late 1915. (O.E.D. records it for April, 1916.) stunt, adj. in first four senses of the n. (q.v.): coll. stunt, v.i. To do some daring or very showy feat, esp. in aviation: coll.: orig. (1915), military. Ex stunt, n., 1 and 2.—Ex n., 2 (q.v.), to undertake such an enterprise, esp. with a tinge of the sense in n., 4: coll.: from ca. 1921.

stunter. The agent of the preceding: coll., now verging on S.E.

stunting, vbl.n. See stunt, v. J. S. Phillimore, 1918, 'Poets are a flying corps . . . In prose the stunting genius is less indispensable,' W.

stupe. A fool: 1762, Bickerstaffe, 'Was there ever such a poor stupe?'; Blackmore, 1876 (O.E.D.). Coll. >, ca. 1900, dial. Ex:

stupid. A stupid person: coll.: 1712, Steele; 1860, George Eliot. Ex adj.—2. Bacon: Westmorland and Warwickshire s. (—1904), not dial. E.D.D. stupid, adj. Very drunk: euphemistic, mostly Anglo-Irish, coll.: late C. 19–20.

stupidly, stupidify, stupidifying. Stupefied, stupefy, stupefying: very common misspellings: C. 17–20.

sturaban or -bin. A variant of sturiben, q.v. Resp. H., 1st ed., and Baumann.

sturdy beggar. A beggar that rather demands than asks, esp.—or rather, only—if of the 5th (in C. 18, the 50th) Order of beggars: c.: C. 16–18. B.E. An underworld application of the other world's gen. description.

sturiben or -bin; occ. sturaban or -bin. A prison: c.: ca. 1855–1925, stir being the usual C. 20 word. A corruption of Romyany stariben (steripen). See stir.

stush. A variant of stash, q.v. (Baumann.) style, cramp one's. To prevent one from doing, or being at, one's best; to handicap or check one: upper-class coll.: C. 20 (certainly from not later than 1916). F. & Gibbons; Lyell. Ex athletics or racing.

stymied, adj. Awkwardly placed; nonplussed: from ca. 1920: sporting coll. >, by 1933, S.E. Ex golf; golf sense ex stymie, a person partially blind (W.).

styria. A stiria, 'a concretion . . . resembling an icicle'. Incorrect: ca. 1660–1750. O.E.D. styx; Styx. A urinal: Leys School (—1904). F. & H. Ex the gloomy river.

sub. A subordinate: coll.: late C. 17–20 (slightly ob.), but uncommon before Herbert Spencer's use of it in 1840.—2. A subaltern (officer): coll.: mid-C. 18–20. Thackeray, 1862, 'When we were subs together in camp in 1803.'—3. A subject: coll.: 1838, Beckett, 'No longer was he heard to sing, | Like loyal subs, "God save the King!"'; very ob. except in U.S.—4. A subscriber: coll.: 1838, Hood (O.E.D.). Rare and virtually †.—5. A substitute: cricketers' coll.: 1864. Lewis.—6. A subscription: coll. (—1904).—7. An advance of money, esp. on wages: coll.: 1855. Ex subsist money (1835). O.E.D.—8. A submarine: naval and Air Force coll.: from 1914. (O.E.D. Sup.)—9. All: Anglo-Indian (—1864). H., 3rd ed.

sub, v.i. To pay, or receive, a 'sub' (the seventh sense): coll.: from early 1870's. H., 5th ed.—2. From late 1890's, to pay (a workman) 'sub'. O.E.D.—3. V.i. and v.t., to sub-edit: coll., orig. and mainly journalistic: from ca. 1890.—4. V.i., to act as a substitute (for somebody): coll.: from late 1870's. (O.E.D.)—5. To subscribe: late C. 19–20. A. Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913, 'A few men . . . subbed together to buy a few books.'

sub-beau. 'A wou'd-be-fine', B.E.: coll.: late C. 17–mid-18. Also demi-beau.

sub-fusc. The 1931–6 variation of dim (insignificant, lacking character), q.v.: Oxford University. This, however, is a revival, for the term existed in 1864, Fun, May 21, 'Anon I saw a gentle youth (no 'sub fusc' undergrad). | 'Toga virilis' he had none, no mortar-board he had' (F. & H.). It existed at Harrow School in first decade of C. 20: Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913. Lit., sub-fusc, subfusc, subfusk = dusky; sombre (lit. and fig.).—2. Hence, (of dress) modest, of quiet colour: ibid.: from ca. 1932. D. Sayers, Gaudy Night, 1935, 'I notice that we are both decently sub-fusc. Have you seen Trimmer in that frightful frock like a canary lampshade?'

sub-line. A printed form enabling a man to get an advance of wages: Public Works' (—1935). See sub, n., 7, and line, n., 6.

sub on one's contract. To raise a loan, using contract as a proof of ability to repay: theatrical: late C. 19–20. See sub, v., 1.

[sub rosa. Secretly, surreptitiously: when used seriously it is S.E. (though, in C. 20, a rank cliché); when jocularly, it at least verges on coll.: mid-C. 17–20.]

subaltern's luncheon. A glass of water and a tightening of one's belt: coll.: late C. 19–20; ob. A. Griffiths, 1904, 'The traditional "subaltern's luncheon"', O.E.D.

subby. A sub-warden: Oxford undergraduates: from ca. 1870. Charles Turley, Godfrey Marten, Undergraduate, 1904.

subduplicate; subtriplicate. Subduple; subtriple: catachrestic: mid-C. 17–20. Hobbes. (O.E.D.)

subjec(k). Subject: sol. (—1887). Baumann. Cf. objec(k).

subject. Kind, sort: catachrestic: late C. 19–20. George Ingram, Stir, 1933, 'Roberts shared in all the contraband—many and various in subject—that Smith managed to get hold of.'

sublime, when ironical, is coll.: late C. 19–20. E.g. 'sublime conceit'.

sublime rascal. A lawyer: ca. 1820–80. H., 3rd ed.

subordination. Subornation: catachrestic: ca. 1640–1700. On the other hand subsidiary for subsidary is merely erroneous: ca. 1628–1700. O.E.D.

subs, pair o'. A pair of shoes: Glasgow lower classes' (—1934). Perhaps Cf. sub, n., 5.

subsee. Vegetables: Regular Army's: late C. 19–20. B. & P. Ex Hindustani.

substance. See shadow.

subtract, -tion. To subtract; subtraction mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then sol.

subtle as a dead pig. Very ignorant or stupid: coll.: ca. 1670–1720. Walker, 1672; Robertson, Phraseologia Generalis, 1681. Apperson.

suburb. The following phrases may be coll. verging on S.E. or wholly S.E.; they belong to ca. 1590–1680:—suburb-garden, a keep's lodging, or a private 'harem'; suburb-humour, blackguardly humour; suburb justice, 'money is right'; suburb-trade, harlotry; suburb (wanton) tricks; suburb wench (occ. drab or sinner), a harlot; suburban roarer, a brothel bully; house in the suburbs, a brothel; and minion of the suburbs, a male keep.

succedaneum, a remedy, is a C. 18 catachresis; succedaneum a C. 18–20 error. O.E.D. successfully. Successively: sol. (Grose, 3rd ed., suggests that it is Anglo-Irish): late C. 18–20. (In several dialects, it = excessively. E.D.D.) The O.E.D. example is irrelevant.

such, pron. This, that, these, those, it, them: sol.: mid-C. 19–20. E.g. 'If you have leisure, don't waste such.'—2. Also adj. This, that, these, those: id.: id. E.g. 'At such election' for 'at that election'. Fowler.

such, adj. An intensive, the criterion being vague and/or ignored: coll.: mid-C. 16–20. Udall, ca. 1553, 'Yeshall not . . . marry . . . Ye are such . . . an ass'; 1900, W. Glyn, ' . . . Where we stayed the night at such an inn!' O.E.D.—2. See such, pron., 2.—3. See no such.

such, as. Accordingly or consequently; thereupon: (rather illiterate) coll.: 1721. W. Fowler, 1814, '[She] motioned for me to come to her Highness. As such she addressed me in the most pleasant manner possible.' Ex as such, in that capacity. O.E.D.

such a dawg! A theatrical c.p. (1888–ca. 1914) applied to a tremendous 'masher'. Ware.

such a few; such a many. So (very) few; so (very) many: coll.: from ca. 1840; ob. Thackeray, 1841, 'Such a many things in that time', O.E.D.

such a much. So much . . . a; to so great an extent a: catachrestic: late C. 19–20. P. G. Wodehouse, A Prefect's Uncle, 1903, 'That is why . . . Rugby is such a much better game than Association.'

such a reason my goose pissed or pissed my goose. A c.p. retort on anyone making an absurd excuse, giving an absurd reason: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed.

such a thing as . . . !, there is. Look out for —! : a coll. threat: late C. 19–20. Ex the hint that since this thing exists, it must be considered. O.E.D.

such . . . who. Such . . . as: catachrestic verging on sol.: C. 19–20. E.g. John Rhode, The Hanging Woman, 1931, 'Such of my acquaintances who care to submit themselves to my experiments . . . come to visit me here.'

suck. Strong drink: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Hence, rum suck, excellent liquor. Ex suck, a small draught or drink.—2. A breast-pocket, says F. & H.; open to doubt.—3. A disappointing or deceptive incident, event, or result: U.S. (1856), anglicised ca. 1890. Gen. suck-in, orig. U.S.; anglicised ca. 1880. Ex suck in, v.—4. A toady: university: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex sucker, q.v.—5. See sucks.

suck. The homosexual v. (i. and t.) and occ. n.: low coll.: C. 19–20. See esp. Allen Walker Read, Lexical Evidence from Folk Epigraphy, 1935 (Paris; privately printed).

suck-and-swallow. The puerum muliebri: low: C. 19–20. Cf. sucker, 4.

suck-bottle, -can, -pint, -pot, -spigot. A confirmed drunkard or tippler: coll. verging on S.E.: resp. mid-C. 17–mid-18 (Brome), C. 19, C. 17–19 (Cotgrave), C. 19–20 (ob.), and late C. 16–17.

suck-casa. A public-house: low: mid-C. 19–20. H., 1st ed., where it is spelt cassa. Ex suck, n., 1 + casa, q.v.

suck-egg. A silly person: dial. (— 1851) > s. (— 1890). Barrère & Leland.

suck eggs, teach one's grandmother to. See grandmother to . . .

suck-in, n. See suck, n., 3.—2. V., to deceive; to cheat: dial. (— 1842) >, by 1850, s. (orig. U.S.; re-anglicised, as s., in late C. 19). Ex suck in, to engulf in a whirlpool.

suck one's face. To drink: low coll.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E.

suck one's forefinger. To suck it and then, with it, draw a line round one's neck as a form of oath: lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

suck-pint, -pot, -spigot. See suck-bottle.

suck the monkey. See monkey.

suck the mop. To be the victim of an omnibus 'nursing' exploit: ca. 1870–80. H., 5th ed. See nurse, v., in omnibus sense.—2. 'To wait on the cab-rank for a job': cabmen's (— 1889); ob. Ware.

suck the sugar-stick. See sugar-stick.

suck up to. To insinuate oneself into another's favour; to toady to: schoolboys' s. (— 1860). H., 2nd ed.; Kipling, 1900, 'That little swine Manders . . . always suckin' up to King'; Dorothy Sayers, 1932.

sucker. A parasite or sponger: U.S. (1856); partly anglicised ca. 1890.—2. A greenhorn; a simpleton: coll.: U.S. (1857), partly anglicised ca. 1895. Thornton.—3. Hence, in C. 20, among tramps, one who gives money (not always derisive: F. Jennings); and among criminals, a prospective victim (Charles E. Leach).—4. The membrum virile: low: C. 19–20; ? ob.—5. A baby: lower classes' coll.: C. 19–20. Bee; Manchon.

suckey. See sucky.

sucking Nelson. A midshipman: nautical coll.: from ca. 1820; ob. Lit., immature N.

suckles is a jocular coll. spelling (? first printed in Galsworthy's Swan Song, 1928) of circles: as in the best suckles.

sucks. Sweetmeats: coll.: 1858, T. Hughes. (Lit., things to suck.) Also, collective singular, as in a knob of suck (1865). O.E.D. Cf. suction, 4.

sucks! An 'expression of derision': Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Cf. suck in, q.v. Also, and from ca. 1890, at other schools. Often sucks to you. E. F. Benson, David of King's, 1924, has sucks for —!, that's a disappointment for so-and-so!

suckster, suckstress. An irradiator, -trix: low coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

sucky. Rather drunk: late C. 17–19: c. >, ca. 1750, low s. B.E. (suckey); Grose; Baumann. Ex suck, n., 1, q.v.

suction. The drinking of (strong) liquor; drinking: 1817, Scott (O.E.D.).—2. Hence (— 1887; nautical, says Baumann), strong drink.—3. The phrases power of suction, capacity for 'booze' (Dickens, 1837); live on suction, to drink hard sudden !, this is so. See so sudden.

(— 1904).—4. Sweetmeats : Winchester : late C. 19–20. Wrench. Cf. sucks.

sudden death. A decision by one throw (not, e.g., by two out of three) : 1834, Maginn.—2. Hence, a decision by one game, as in lawn tennis when the set-score is 5-all : C. 20 : s. >, by 1930, coll. (Collinson).—3. A fowl served as a spatchcock : Anglo-Indian : 1848 (Yule & Burnell).—4. A crummet or a Sally Lunn : university (— 1874) ; ob. H., 5th ed.—5. Coffee : Cockneys' : late C. 19–20 ; ob. E. Pugh, The Cockney at Home, 1914.

sudding. Sudden : sol. : C. 19–20. Likewise suddingly.

suds. Ale : military : C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Bubbles on ale likened to soap-suds.

suds, in the. In a difficulty ; perplexed : from ca. 1570 : S.E. until C. 18, then coll. ; in C. 19–20, s. ; very ob. Swift ; Grose, 1st ed.—2. Fuddled ; slightly drunk : ca. 1765–80. (O.E.D.)

Suds, Mrs. A washerwoman : coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

sued up. See sewed up.

suet(t)y Isaac. Suet pudding : c. (— 1904) ; ob. Also soapy Isaac. Ex sallowness.

Suez canals. Suez Canal shares : Stock Exchange coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

suffer much ?, do you. A c.p. of mock pity : late C. 19–20 ; ob.

sufferer. A tailor : low : from ca. 1855 ; ob. H., 1st ed. ? ex patience.

suffering a recovery. Getting over a drinking-bout : Australian coll. euphemism (— 1935).

suffering cats ! An agonised c.p. directed at bad, or very shrill, singing : from ca. 1870. Ex cater-wauling.

suffier. A (seeming) drunkard taking part in versing law (swindling with false gold) : c. : late C. 16–early 17. Greene.

Suffolk bang. An inferior, excessively hard cheese : nautical coll. : C. 19. Bowen.

Suffolk punch. See punch, n.

Suffolk stiles. Ditches : coll. : mid-C. 17–early 18. Fuller, 1662. Cf. Essex stiles.

suffisticate. A C. 17 incorrectness for sophisticate. O.E.D.

sufi, a Mohammedan mystic, is often confused with sophy, a Persian monarch. O.E.D.

sugar. Money : low : 1862, The Cornhill Magazine, Nov., 'We have just touched for a rattling stake of sugar at Brum.' Ex sugar and honey, q.v.—2. A grocer : lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. Ex a principal commodity.—3. North(wards) : Wood Wharf (West India Dock, London) dockers' (— 1935). E.g. 'a little more sugar, Tom (or Bill or Jack) !', called by the piler to the driver of the electric gantry. Ex the fact that the North Quay of the West India Dock is regarded as 'the natural home for sugar storage.' (Very local, this : but included for the light it throws on the origin of s.)—4. Gen. a sugar. A cube or lump of sugar : coll. : C. 20.—5. A term of address to a girl : from ca. 1930. Ex U.S. (J. Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.)

sugar, v.i. To shirk while pretending to row hard : Cambridge University rowing (— 1890). Barrère & Leland.—2. To tamper with (food) ; to fake (accounts) ; to give a specious appearance of prosperity to : from ca. 1890. (O.E.D. Sup.) Prob. suggested by 'cooking' accounts and 'salting' mines.—3. Hence, to dupe (a person) : low (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. :—4. sugar (a person's) milk for him. To harm a person under the pretext of doing his work : workmen's (— 1923). Manchon.

sugar and honey. Money : rhyming s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Cf. sugar, n.

sugar-basin ; sugar-stick. The female, the male, pudend : low : resp., mid-C. 19–20 ; late C. 18–20 (Grose, 2nd ed.). Ob. Whence suck the sugar-stick, sexually to take a man.

sugar-boat. See captured . . .

sugar candy. Brandy : rhymings s. (— 1859) ; ob. H., 1st ed.

sugar daddy. An oldish man spending lavishly on a young woman : U.S., anglicised, via the 'talkies', ca. 1931. Cf. sugar, n. 1, q.v.

sugar (for the bird), little bit of. A premium, a bonus ; an unexpected benefit or acquisition : low : 1897–ca. 1910. Ware.

sugar (a person's) milk for him. See sugar, v., 4.

sugar on, be. To be much in love with (a person) : non-aristocratic (— 1887) ; † by 1930. Baumann. Punning be sweet on.

sugar-shop. 'A head centre of bribery', electioneering (— 1909) ; ob. Ware. Ex sugar, n., 1.

sugar-stick. See sugar-basin.

Sugar-Stick Brigade, the. The Army Service Corps : military (— 1904) ; † by 1915.

sugar up. To flatter (a person) : coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

sugared !, I'm or I'll be. I'm damned ! ; it connotes (profound) astonishment or (great) perplexity : from ca. 1890. Anon., Troddles, 1901. Euphemistic for *b*red*.

sugarer. A funker ; a shirker, esp. at rowing : C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex sugar, v.i.

suicide. Four horses driven in a line : Society and sporting : ca. 1860–1900. H., 3rd ed.

suicide club (or S.C.), the. Machine-gunners, battalion stretcher-bearers, or, esp., bombers : military coll. : late 1915 ; ob. F. & Gibbons. Because theirs was dangerous work.

suicide club, join the. 'To undertake any dangerous duty' : naval coll. : 1915 or 1916 ; ob. Bowen. Cf. the preceding.

suit. 'Game', 'lay' ; method, trick ; pretence ; imposition : c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux.—2. A watch and seals : c. of ca. 1830–90. Ainsworth. Ex S.E. suit, a complete set.

suit, birthday. See birthday suit.

suit, upon the. In the (specified) manner : see suit, 1. Vaux.

suit and cloak. A 'good store of Brandy or any other agreeable Liquor, let down Gutter-lane', B.E. : c. : late C. 17–early 19.

suit of mourning. A pair of black eyes : ca. 1820–80. Egan's Grose.

suite. See suit, 1.—suji-muji. See souji-mouji. sukey. A kettle : low (— 1823) ; ob. Bee. ? origin : cf. Welsh Gypsy šukar, to hum, to whisper.—? hence, 2, a general servant or 'slavey' : from ca. 1820 ; ob. Ex Sukey, a lower-class diminutive of Susan, a name frequent among servants.—3. Hence, sukey-tawdry, a slatternly woman in fine tawdry : ca. 1820–50. Bee.—4. Perhaps hence, a simpleton : mid-C. 19–20.

sulphur. Pungent or lurid talk : 1897 (O.E.D.) : s. >, by 1920, coll. Slightly ob. Because sulphurous. Cf. sense 2 of :

sultry. Indelicate : 1887, Kipling, 'Sultry stories' (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1920, coll.—2. Hence (of language), lurid: 1891, 'Sultry language', O.E.D.: s. >, by 1910, coll. Cf. sulphur.—3. Uncomfortable, lively, 'hot': 1899, Conan Doyle, 'I shall make it pretty sultry for you,' O.E.D.

sum. An arithmetical problem to solve which one must apply a rule; such a problem solved: coll.: C. 19–20. Dickens, 1838, has 'Sums in simple interest', O.E.D. (I think that its use in New Zealand and Australia has never been classifiable as other than standard.)

sum! Adsum!: Public Schools' coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

sumfin(g); sumpfm(g). Something: sol.: C. 19–20. Cf. summat.

sumjao. To warn, correct, coerce: Anglo-Indian coll.: 1826. Ex Hindustani. Yule & Burnell.

summat. As 'somewhat', it is low coll. (prob., ex the dial. use); as 'something', it is sol.: both, C. 19–20. Baumann.

summer-blink. A gleam of sunlight on a day of bad weather: nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

summer-cabbage. An umbrella: low (— 1823); ob. Egan's Grose. Cf. greens, q.v.—2. A woman: F. & H.; but is this so? If correct, of ca. 1850–1900.

summerhead. A sun-umbrella: Anglo-Indian coll.: 1797 (O.E.D.). Corrupted sombrero.

summin. Something: sol.: C. 19–20. (Ernest Raymond, A Family That Was, 1929.) Cf. sumfin(g) and sup'n, qq.v.

summons. To summon legally: late C. 18–20: S.E. till C. 20, then a sol.

sumpfm(g). See sumfin(g).

sumpsy. An action of assumpsit: legal: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed.

sun, have been in the; have, or have got, the sun in one's eyes. To be drunk: resp. 1770 (O.E.D.) and 1840, Dickens, have; have got not before ca. 1860. Also have been standing too long in the sun (— 1874). Cf. sunshine. Ex sun-dazzle or -drowsiness.

sun, taste the. See taste the sun.

sun-arc. A cinema coll.: from ca. 1927. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 3.

sun-dodger. A heliographer: military: 1900, Illustrated Bits, Dec. 22. Via sun-signalling.

sun-dog. A mock sun: nautical coll. verging on S.E.: from ca. 1630.

sun is scorching your eyes out, the. See scorching your eyes out.

sun over the foreyard, get the. To drink before noon: nautical (— 1904). Bowen defines sun over the foreyard as 'the time by which a drink is permissible'; gen. the sun is over the foreyard. Cf. sun, have been in the.

sunburnt. Having many (orig. and esp., male) children: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Punning son.—2. 'Clapped': ca. 1720–1890. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Punning burnt.

Sunday. To spend Sunday (with a person): Society coll. (— 1909); ob. Ware.

Sunday, look both or nine or two ways for. See look . . .

Sunday-afternoon courting-dress. (Of servant-girls) best clothes: lower classes' coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

Sunday clothes on, the old man has got his. A low c.p. indicating an erectio penis. In allusion to starched Sunday face. The posteriors: low: from ca. 1860; ob.

Sunday flash togs. (Of men) best clothes: low (— 1880). Ware.

Sunday girl. A week-end mistress: ca. 1890–1915.

Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and togs. Sunday clothes: resp. coll. (C. 20) and s. (1894, Baring-Gould: O.E.D.). By jocular amplification of Sunday clothes. Cf. Sunday-afternoon courting-dress, q.v.

Sunday man. 'One who goes abroad on that day only, for fear of arrests', Grose, 1st ed.: from ca. 1780; ob.: coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E.—2. A prostitute's bully: low: from ca. 1880. Because he walks out with her on that day.

Sunday-mopper. An employee that, to increase his earnings, does others' Sunday work: workmen's (— 1923). Manchon.

Sunday out, one's. A domestic servant's monthly or alternate Sunday free: from late 1850's: coll. till ca. 1920, then S.E. (Orig. a servants' term.)

Sunday Pic, the. The Sunday Pictorial: journalists' coll.: C. 20.

Sunday promenader. See once-a-week man.

Sunday saint. One who, having been dissolute all the week, turns respectable and sanctimonious on Sunday: coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. Scottish Sunday face.

Sundayfied. Suitable to Sunday; in Sunday clothes: coll. >, by 1920, S.E.: 1899 (O.E.D.).

Sundayish. Rather like, or as on, Sunday: 1797: coll. >, by C. 20, S.E. (O.E.D.)

Sundays. See month of Sundays.—Sundays come together or meet, when two. Never: semi-proverbial coll.: from ca. 1610; ob. except in dial.: Haughton, 1616; Ray. Cf. Shropshire the first Sunday in the middle of the week and Tibb's Eve, St, q.v. (Apperson.)

Sunderland fitter. The Knave of Clubs: jocular North-Country coll. (— 1847). Halliwell.

sundowner. A tramp habitually arriving at a station too late for work but in time to get a night's shelter and a ration: Australian coll. >, by 1910, S.E.: 1875, Miss Bird; 1926, Jice Doone, 'The word is now almost obsolete, swaggie being the term almost universally in use.' (See esp. Morris.) Hence:

sundowning. This practice: Australian coll.: from ca. 1890. Kinglake.

Sunlight!, don't worry—use. A c.p. of the 1920's. Collinson. Ex a famous advertisement by Sunlight Soap.

sunny bank. A good fire in winter: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Ex the warmth, with pun on banking a fire.

sunny south. The mouth: rhyming s.: 1887, The Referee, Nov. 7.

sun's high lad. A smart fellow: tailors': 1928, The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29. An elaboration of bright lad.

Sunshades; or s. The Sunehales Extension of the Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway Company shares: Stock Exchange: late C. 19–early 20.

sunshine, have been in the. To be drunk: 1857, George Eliot. As early as 1816 in Dial.: E.D.D. See sun, have been in the.

sunspottery. The science of solar spots; astronomers' (— 1887). Baumann.

sup. A supplement: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

sup(e). A variant of super, 1 (H., 1st ed.), 3 (1824, O.E.D.), 4 (— 1904, F. & H.), and 6 (— 1904, F. & H., esp. supe and slang, watch and chain), qq.v.

super. A supernumerary: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede' (O.E.D.): theatrical s. >, ca. 1880, coll.—2. A supernumerary on a ship, i.e. a supercargo: nautical s. (1866) >, ca. 1890, coll.—3. Ex senses 1 and 2, a supernumerary in gen.: coll.: from ca. 1880.—4. A superintendent of a station: Australian s. (1870, Lindsay Gordon) >, ca. 1900, coll. Morris.—5. A police superintendent, esp. in address: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.—6 (Also souper.) A watch: c.: from late 1850's. Ware derives it from soup-plate, hence souper, hence super. Cf. super, bang a, and super-screwing.

super, v. To be a 'super', sense 1; often as vbl.n., supering (1889, O.E.D.)—2. See super list.

super, adj. Superficial (in measurement; gen. after the n.): trade coll.: 1833, T. Hook, 'At so much per foot, super', O.E.D.—2. Superfine: trade coll.: from ca. 1840. Bischoff, Woollen Manufacture, 1842 (O.E.D.).—3. Extremely strong, capable, intelligent: from ca. 1910. (See esp. Fowler.) Ex superman. Cf. wizard, q.v.—4. Hence, excellent, 'swell': from ca. 1925. R. Keverne, The Man in the Red Hat, 1930, 'He was staying at the "Beach". Very super.'

super, bang a. To steal a watch by breaking the ring: c.: late C. 19–20. H. Hapgood, 1903 (O.E.D.). See super, n., last sense.

super list, be on the. To be marked for supersession (Turley); more gen., be supered, to be superseded: at certain Public Schools: from the 1880's. Charles Turley, Godfrey Marten, Schoolboy, 1902, "'I have been in Lower Fourth exactly four terms," he went on, "and my people are getting sick, and Sandy says I shall be 'supered' in a term or two."

super-screwing. Watch-stealing: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex twisting handles off. See super, n., last sense, and super, bang a.

super-super bastard. A mean, bullying, tyrannical fellow: c., and low s.: from ca. 1910. James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934, 'This warder was another of the variety known amongst prison populations as super-super bastards.'

supercede. To supersede: C. 15–20: S.E. until C. 19, then incorrect. (O.E.D.)

supercharged, ppl.adj. Intoxicated: aircraft engineers': from ca. 1926. The Daily Herald, Aug. 1, 1936.

supered, be. See super list.

Superfine Review, The. The Saturday Review: literary: ca. 1863–1910. Thackeray-coined.

supernacular. (Of liquor) excellent: 1848, Thackeray (O.E.D.); ob. Ex:

supernaculum. A liquor to be drained to the last drop; excellent liquor; excellent anything: C. 18–20; ob. W. King, 1704, 'Their jests were Supernaculum'; Grose, 1st ed. ('Good liquor'). Ob. Ex the adv., q.v. Cf. supernacular.—2. Hence, a draught that utterly empties cup or glass: 1827, Disraeli (O.E.D.).—3. A full glass: mid-C. 19–20; like sense 2, ob.

supernaculum, adv.; occ., C. 16, -nagulum, -neg-, and, C. 17, -naculum, -nagulum. To the last drop: late C. 16–20; ob. Nashe, 1592, 'Drinking super nagulum, a devise of drinking new come out of France'; B.E.; The Edinburgh Review, 1835. Ob. Ex the practice of placing one's upturned glass on the left thumb-nail, to show that not a drop has been left: a mock-L. translation of the supersnagative. First-rate; 'splendid'; excellent: Australians' and New Zealanders': from ca. 1890; ob. Perhaps ex superfine on supernacular, q.v., but prob. fanciful on superlative.

Ger. auf den nagel (trinken). Cf. Fr. boire rubis sur l'ongle (W.).—2. Often elliptically, as in Cotton, 1664, and fig., as in Jonson, 1598, '[Cupid] plaies super nagulum with my liquor of life.'

superstitious pie. A minced or a Christmas pie: a Puritan or Precisian nickname: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. Because, by Puritans, made some weeks before Christmas.

sup'n; sup'm, sup'n. Something: illiterate slurring, esp. in New Zealand (— 1935). Ex dial.

supouch. An inn-hostess; a landlady: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E., Grose. ? origin, unless ex sup, n. + (to) pouch.

supped all one's porridge, have. No longer to suffer with one's teeth: lower classes' coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

supper, give the old man his; supper, warm the old man's. To confer the act of kind; to sit, skirts raised, before the fire. Low: late C. 19–20.

supper, set one his. To perform a feat that another cannot imitate, let alone surpass: coll. (— 1891). J. M. Dixon's dictionary of idiomatic English.

supple is often, by the illiterate, confused with subtle. (Desmond Coke, The School across the Road, 1910.)

supple both ends of it. To abate a priapism: low Scots: late C. 18–20.

Supple Twelfth, the. The 12th Lancers: military: from the Peninsular War; slightly ob. F. & Gibbons.

supp'm, supp'n. See sup'n.

suppose or I suppose. Nose: rhyming s. See I suppose. (Manchon has the abbr.)

suppose or supposing, introductory of a proposal or a suggestion, is coll.: resp. 1779 and late C. 19–20. R. Bagot, 1908, 'By the way, supposing you were to drop "uncle-ing" me?' O.E.D.

Surat. An adulterated or an inferior article: coll. (mostly Lancashire): 1863, The Times, May 8; ob. Surat cotton is inferior to American.

surbeaten, surboted, surbutting. Incorrect for surbated, id., surba(i)ting: C. 17. O.E.D.

sure! Certainly!; with pleasure!; agreed!: coll.: early C. 18, in England, whence it fled to the U.S.; re-anglicised ca. 1910. Farquhar, in The Beaux' Stratagem, 1707 (cited by G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923).

sure!, be; I am sure!; you may be sure! At end of sentence, these phrases when asseverative are coll.: 1830, N. Wheaton, 'To all my inquiries . . . I only received for answer—"I don't know, I'm sure"', O.E.D.

sure, for. As certain; for certain; indubitably: late C. 16–20: S.E. until late C. 19, then coll. Stevenson, 1883, 'Desperate blades, for sure', O.E.D.

sure!, to be. Of course!: mid-C. 17–20: S.E. until late C. 19, then coll.—2. Often concessively: admitted!; indeed!: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

sure!,—well, I'm; well, to be sure! I am surprised: coll.: 1840, Thackeray, "'Well, I'm sure!" said Becky; and that was all she said,' O.E.D.; well, to be sure!, app. not before late C. 19.

sure and . . . , be. (Only in infinitive or imperative.) To be careful to; not to fail to: coll.: from ca. 1890. 'Be sure and look!'

sure as . . . , as. Very sure. Of these phrases, prob. only those are coll. of which the criterion-member or the gen. tone is familiar S.E. or coll. Thus, (as) sure as the Creed or one's creed is S.E., as is (as) sure as fate or death; but (as) sure as a gun (B. & Fletcher, 1622; Steele, 1703; Meredith, 1859) is coll., as are sure as eggs (Bridges, 1772), sure as eggs is eggs (Goldsmith), sure as God made little apples (late C. 19–20; orig. dial.), sure as the devil is in London (mid-C. 18), and the following in Ray, 1670, as sure as check, or Exchequer pay (ca. 1570–1620), as sure as a juggler's box (ca. 1650–1740), and as sure as a louse in bosom (late C. 17–18), or, late C. 17–mid-18, in Pomfret. (Apperson.) sure card. See card, sure.

sure find. One who is sure to be found: coll. (— 1933). S.O.D.

sure-fire. Certain; infallible: coll.; U.S. anglicised ca. 1918. (D. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'He thought it was a sure-fire maseot.') sure I don't know !, I'm. As asseverative tag, it is coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

sure thing ! The same as sure !, q.v.: coll., orig. (1896) U.S.; anglicised not later than 1910. (O.E.D. Sup.)

surely, with second syllable stressed, either = 'is it not so ?' or as a vague intensive, is a sol. when not dial. Dickens, 'And so it is, sure-ly,' O.E.D.

surely me. A proletarian variation of to be sure !, sense 1: from ca. 1880. Ware (at cupboardy).

surly. An actor or musician or scene-shifter, who combines night-work at the theatre with some daily work outside: theatrical: from late 1850's. H., 1st ed. ? pun on serf.—2. Hence, a parasite, toady, sponger: low (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

surgeon's bugbear. Adipose tissue: medical (— 1933). Slang, p. 193. Because, when cut, it bleeds in a way difficult to check.

surly as a butcher's dog, as. Extremely surly: coll.: late C. 17–20; ob. Ray; Spurgeon, 1869. Because the animal gets so much meat to eat. Apperson, who gives also the Cheshire surly as a cow's husband.

surly boots. A grumpy, morose fellow: coll. verging on S.E.: C. 18–20; ob. E.g. Combe, 1812. Cf.:

surly chops. A nautical variant of the preceding: coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

[Surly Sam. Dr Johnson: rather sobriquet than nickname; Ursa Major is likewise sobriquet. Dawson.]

Surprisers, the. The 46th Foot Regiment, now the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry: military: 'dating from the American War, with special reference to the surprise of the enemy at White Plains in September, 1777', F. & Gibbons. Cf. Red Feathers, the.

surquedry, -idry. Excess or surfeit: catachrestic: late C. 16–17. O.E.D.

surtout. See wooden surtout.

surveyor of the highway(s). A person reeling drunk: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.

surveyor of the pavement. A person in the pillory: late C. 18–mid-19. Ibid.

surveyor's friend, the. Whitewash: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Ex 'the amount used for marking points on shore'.

sus. 'The remains of the Praefects' tea, passed on to their valets in college': Winchester College: late C. 18–19. Wrench. Ex dial. sus(s) or soos, hog-wash.—2. (N. and adj.) A being suspected; suspected; (on) suspicion: c.: from ca. 1920. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'What you nick me for? Sus?' Cf. suspect, below.

sus. per coll. Hanged by the neck: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. Ex suspensus per collum (F. & H.; or suspensio . . . , W.; or suspendatur . . . , O.E.D.), the jailor's entry against a hanged man's name. Cf.: susancide. Self-murder: half-wits' jocular (— 1909). Ware. Ex Susan + suicide.

susie. A sixpence, whether coin or value: turf c. (— 1932). Perhaps Susie: by personification suggested by bob, a shilling. More prob. ex dial. suse, six: cf. the Lancashire susepence, sixpence (E.D.D.).

Susie. See sister Susie.

suspect, for. For being a suspicious character; on suspicion of crime: c.: from ca. 1920. J. Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'He got nicked for suspect.' Cf. sus, 2.

suspence or suspense, in deadly. Hanged: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 1st ed.

suspicion. A very small quantity; a minute trace: 1809, Malkin (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1880, S. E. Trollope, 1867, 'He was engaged in brushing a suspicion of dust from his black gaiters.' Ex Fr. souppçon; cf. Fr. larne and spot, n., 1.

suspish. Esp. under suspish, under suspicion (by the police): Australian: from ca. 1925. Cf. ambish for ambition.

Sussex weed(s). Oaks: Southern (esp. Sussex) coll.: C. 20. A. S. Cooke, Off the Beaten Track in Sussex, 1911, 'Among the "Sussex weed"'. (Apperson.)

sustension. Incorrect for sustention: late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

sut. Satisfactory; fortunate: tailors': from ca. 1870. ? corruption of sat(isfatory).—2. As an exclamation, it = 'good!' or 'serve you right!': late C. 19–20. E.g. in The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.

sutler. 'He that Pockets up, Gloves, Knives, Handkerchiefs, Snuff and Tobacco-boxes, and all the lesser Moveables', B.E.: c. of late C. 17–early 19. Ex military sense.

suttenly, suttingly. Certainly: sol. (and dial.): C. 19–20.

suzie. A variant of susie.

s'welp me. A Cockney variation († by 1920) of s'welp, q.v. (Baumann.)

swab. A naval officer's epaulette: nautical jocular or pejorative: 1798, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.); Marryat. Ob. Ex the shape of a swab, anything for mopping up.—2. A spill; a spilling: Bootham School (— 1925). Ex:

swab, v. To spill; to splash: Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Ex swabbing a deck.

swab-betty. 'A woman who washes floors, etc.': Bootham School (— 1925). Ibid. Ex the preceding.

swabber, swobber. (Gen. pl.) In whist, the Ace of Hearts, Knave of Clubs, and the Ace and Deuce (2) of Trumps: late C. 17–early 19: coll. >, by 1750, S.E. First recorded in B.E. Prob. ex S.E. sense.

swack. A deception, whereas swack-up (H., 3rd ed.) is a falsehood: mid-C. 19–20.—2. Also v.t., swack up, to deceive. All: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1860. Perhaps cognate with Scottish swack, supple, smart, or swack, a whack.

swad. A soldier: dial., and c. >, mid-C. 19, s.: C. 18–20; ob. in s. by 1910. The Memoirs of John Hall, 1708; Grose, 2nd ed.; Smyth, 1867, 'A newly raised soldier'. In late C. 19–early 20, esp. a militiaman. Perhaps ex swad, a bumpkin, a lout. Cf. swadkin and swaddy, qq.v., and:

swad-gill. A soldier: low s. (– 1812) and dial.; † in s. by 1860. Vaux, who spells it swod-gill. Ex swod, q.v., + gill, a fellow.

swadder. A pedlar: c. of ca. 1565–1750. Harman, B.E. In C. 18, esp. of a pedlar given to robbery with violence: A New Canting Dict., 1725. Perhaps cognate with swad as a term of abuse. Cf. swaddler, 4., q.v.

swaddie. See swaddy.

swaddle. To beat soundly; to cudgel: coll.: ca. 1570–1840. Ca. 1570, Anon., 'Thy bones will I swaddle, so have I blisse'; Dryden; B.E., 'I'll Swaddle your Hide'; Scott. Ex swaddle, to bandage.

swaddler. A Methodist: a coll. (mainly Anglo-Irish) nickname from ca. 1745. C. Wesley, Journal, Sept. 10, 1747, where the anecdotal origin is given (O.E.D.); Grose; The Academy, May 11, 1889.—2. Hence, a Methodist preacher, esp. in Ireland: coll.: C. 19.—3. Any Protestant: Anglo-Irish coll.: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.—4. (Often swadler.) A member of the 10th Order of the underworld: c. of late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed., 'who not only rob, but beat, and often murder passengers'. Ex swadder, q.v., on swaddle, q.v.

swaddling, vbl.n. See swaddle, v.—2. Methodism; conduct (supposed to be) characteristic of Methodists: coll.: mid-C. 18–early 19. See swaddler, n., 1.—3. Adj., Methodist: coll.: mid-C. 18–20; ob. In C. 19–20, Protestant in gen.: likewise coll.

swaddy; swaddie, swoddy. A soldier: low >, ca. 1860, naval and military s.: C. 19–20. Vaux, 1812; Smyth, 1867, 'A discharged soldier', with which cf. Smyth on swadkin, q.v. Ex swad, n., q.v. Among soldiers, in late C. 19–20, gen. of a private and esp. as a term of address: see chiefly B. & P. Cf. U.S. swatty.

swadkin. A soldier: c. (1708, John Hall) >, ca. 1850, dial. and naval s. (– 1867); as latter, ob. Grose, 2nd ed.; Smyth, 'A newly raised soldier'. Diminutive of swad, q.v. Cf. swad-gill and swaddy.

swadler. See swaddler, 4.

swag. A shop: c. (– 1676); ob. Coles, B.E., Grose. ? origin. (Cf. swag-shop, q.v.) Hence, a rum swag is a shop full of rich goods (B.E.): † by 1850.—2. Imm. ex swag-shop, q.v.: one who keeps a 'swag-shop'; s. (? low): 1851, Mayhew.—3. Any quantity of goods, esp. a pedlar's wares or a thief's booty, esp. as recently or prospectively obtained: c. (– 1811) >, ca. 1850, low s. >, by 1890, gen. s. in the wider sense, any unlawful gains or acquisition. Lex. Bal.; Vaux, who, like the preceding glossarist, notes the nuance, 'wearing-apparel, linen, piece-goods, &c.' as, in a robbery, distinguished from 'plate, jewellery, or more portable articles'—† by 1900; Dickens, 1838, "'It's all arranged about bringing off the swag, is it?" asked the Jew. Sikes nodded'; 'Pomes' Marshall; Edgar Wallace, passim. Perhaps ex dial. swag, a large quantity; prob. ex the swag or bag in which the booty is carried.—4. Imm. ex swag-shop, or the origin of swag-shop and therefore ex swag, 1: trade in small, trivial, or inferior articles: from ca.

1850. Mostly in combination (see, e.g., swag-shop); when by itself, it is gen. attributive, as in Mayhew, 1851, 'The "penny apiece" or "swag" trade', O.E.D.—5. A tramp's (hence, miners' and others', bundle of personal effects: 1852, Samuel Sidney, The Three Colonies of Australia, 'His leathern overalls, his fancy stick, and his swag done up in a mackintosh'; 1861, McCombie, Australian Sketches; 1902, The Pall Mall Gazette, July 2, 'The unmarried shearer, roaming, swag on back, from station to station'. Coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Ex sense 3, which Cunningham notes as established in Australia before 1827. See esp. Morris. Whence:

swag, v.i. Gen. as swag it, q.v.—2. V.t., to rob, plunder: c. (– 1887). Baumann. Ex n., 3.

swag-barrow. A coster's cart, esp. one carrying small or trashy articles (see swag, 4): low s.: from ca. 1850. Also, swag-barrowman, a coster, or another, carrying on such trade. Both in Mayhew, 1851; ob.

swag-chovey bloke. A marine store dealer: c. (– 1839) >, ca. 1870, low s.: late C. 19–20; ob. Brandon. See swag, 4; chovey is a shop.

swag in. To cause to enter secretly: c. (– 1923). Manchon.

swag it. To carry one's 'swag' (5): 1861, McCombie: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Morris.

swag-man; swagman. A man in the 'swag-trade' or keeping a 'swag-shop': from ca. 1850. Mayhew, 1851. Gen. swag-man.—2. A man travelling with a swag (5): Australian: 1883, Keighley: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Gen. swagman. Also swagsman, q.v.

swag of, a. 'Emphatically a great deal', Vaux: c. of ca. 1800–50. Ex swag, n., 3.

swag-shop. A shop specialising in trivial or trashy articles, very cheap: mid-C. 19–20: lower-class London. Mayhew, 1851. See swag, 1 and 4. Cf.:

swag-trade. The trade in swag, 4, q.v.: mid-C. 19–20. Mayhew.

swagger. A swagger-cane or -stick: military coll. (– 1887). Baumann. I.e. a stick carried for swagger or show.—2. In Australia, hence in New Zealand, one who carries a 'swag' (5): 1855, The Melbourne Argus, Jan. 19 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Cf. swag-man, 2, and swagsman. (Morris.)

swagger, adj. Smart, fashionable; 'swell'; rather showy or ostentatious: (orig. Society) s. >, ca. 1930, coll.: 1879, The Cambridge Review (O.E.D.); 1897, 'Ouida', 'Lord, ma'am, they'll . . . take the matches away from their bedrooms, but, then, you see, ma'am, them as are swagger can do them things.' Ex S.E. swagger, superior and/or insolent behaviour. (The v. is likewise S.E. Note, however, that from ca. 1920 the n. has had a coll. tinge.)

swagger-cane or -stick. An officer's cane or stick for parade-ground appearance; a private's or non-com.'s walking-out stick or short cane: military coll.: resp. 1889, 1887 (O.E.D.). Ex swagger, adj., q.v.; cf., however, swagger, n., 1.

swagger-dress. Walking-out dress: military coll.: C. 20. On swagger-cane.

swagger-pole. A variant, from ca. 1920, of swagger-cane. Suggested by: swagger-stick. See swagger-cane.

swaggery. A non-aristocratic variant (– 1887; slightly ob.) of swagger, adj. Baumann.

swaggie, swaggy. A man carrying a 'swag' (5) as a habit: Australian (gen. humorous) coll.: 1892, E. W. Hornung (Morris); 1902, Henry Lawson (O.E.D.). Ex swag-man, 2, q.v.

swagman. See swag-man.

swagsman. The same as swaggie, q.v.: 1879, J. Brunton Stephens: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Ex swag-man, 2, q.v.—2. In c. (—1859), an accomplice who, after a burglary, carries the plunder. H., 1st ed.; Barrère & Leland. Ex swag, n., 3, q.v. Also, a 'fence': c. (—1904). F. & H.—3. An occ. variant of swag-man, 1, q.v. F. & H.

swain. A theatrical term of contempt: 1912, A. Neil Lyons, Clara, 'They're a silly set o' swain, the General Public' (Manchon); ob. Ex the sense of yokel. Or ex affected pron. of swine.

swak. A superscription of S.W.A.K., 'sealed with a kiss', often found on sailors' and soldiers' letters to sweethearts; occ. S.W.A.N.K. (. . . nice kiss): military and naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

swaller. An illiterate form of, i.e. a sol. for, swallow.

swallow. Capacity (for food): late C. 16–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll.—2. Esp. as a mouthful: from ca. 1820: S.E. until ca. 1890, then coll. These two senses are sometimes indistinguishable, as in the c.p., 'What a swallow!', which may refer to one act of swallowing or to appetite. Ex swallow, the throat or gullet.

swallow, v. To prepare (a part) hastily: theatrical: 1898 (O.E.D.). Ex swallow the cackle.

swallow, have a spiral. To have a taste for liquor: from ca. 1920. Manchon.

swallow a gudgeon. To be gulled: coll.: 1579, Lyly; Dekker & Webster, 1607; Fuller, 1732; Halliwell. † by 1900. Ex fig. gudgeon. Apperson.

swallow a sailor. 'To get drunk upon rum': ports' and harbours' (—1909). Ware.

swallow a spider. See spider, 3, and spider, swallow a.

swallow a stake. See swallowed a stake; the earlier to have eaten a stake is recorded by Palsgrave in 1530 but, app., was † by 1700.

swallow a tavern-token. To get drunk: coll.: late C. 16–18. Jonson, Every Man in His Humour, 'Drunk, sir! you hear not me say so: perhaps he swallowed a tavern token or some such device.' Cf. tavern-fox.

swallow my knife?—you say true, will you. I doubt it!: a c.p. applied esp. to an impossible story: from ca. 1890 (ob.): not aristocratic.

swallow-tail. A dress-coat: coll.: 1835, Frith, 'I should look a regular guy in a swallow-tail,' O.E.D. Ex swallow-tailed coat.

swallow the anchor. See anchor, swallow the.

swallow the cackle. To learn a part: theatrical (—1890). Barrère & Leland.

swallowed a stake and cannot stoop, he (she) has. A c.p. applied to a very stiff, upright person: from ca. 1660; ob. L'Estrange, 1667; Fuller, 1732. Apperson. Cf. at swallow a stake, q.v.

swan-slinger. A Shakespearian actor: theatrical (—1904); ob. Ex the phrase, to sling the Swan of Avon (late C. 19–20; ob.). Cf. spout Billy, q.v.

swank. Showy or conceited behaviour or speech; pretence: dial. (—1854) >, ca. 1904, s. The Daily Chronicle, April 17, 1905, 'What he said is quite true, barring the whisky—that is all swank,' O.E.D.; Ware, 1909, records analogous senses, 'small talk, lying' as printers' s. Dates make it appear that the n. derives ex the v., but, dial.

records being notoriously incomplete, the reverse may be true: in either case, swank, as Baumann suggests, derives prob. ex Ger. Schwank as in in S. sein (or gehen), to be in the fashion.—2. See swak. —3. (Ex sense 1.) The tricks one plays; one's 'game': Cockneys': from ca. 1890. C. Rook, The Hoodigan Nights, 1899.—4. Hence, flattery, 'blarney': id.: id. Ibid., 'I . . . calls 'im a rare toff an' a lot of old swank of that kind.'

swank, v. To behave showily or conceitedly; to swagger; to pretend (esp. to be better than, or superior to, what one is): dial. (—1809) >, ca. 1870, s., though not gen. till ca. 1901. H., 5th ed., 'Swank, to boast or "gas" unduly'; A. McNeill, 1903, 'To see . . . your sons swanking about town with Hon. before their names'. For the most viable etymology, see the preceding entry: but one cannot ignore these possibilities:—Perhaps ex swing (the body) via either Scottish swank, agile (O.E.D.) or swagger (E.D.D.); or simply a perversion of swagger (W.).—2. To work hard: Public and military schools (—1890). Barrère & Leland. Perhaps ex swat + swank.

swank, adj. 'Swanky' (q.v.): from ca. 1917; ob. Ex swank, n., or swank(e)y.

swank-pot. A variant (—1923), noted by Manchon, of:

swanker. One who behaves as in swank, v., 1 and 2: same period and status. Cf. swanking, the vbl.n. of swank, v., q.v.

swank(e)y. Inferior beer: c. (—1859.) H., 1st ed.; Baumann. Prob. ex Ger. schwank, feeble.

swank(e)y, adj. Showy; conceited; pretentious; pretentiously grand: dial. >, ca. 1910, s. The O.E.D.'s earliest record is of 1912. Ex swank, v., 1.

swankiness. The rather rare abstract n. ex swanky: from ca. 1914.

swanking, n. See swanker. — 2. Adj. 'Swank(e)y': rare and only of persons: C. 20; ob.

swannery, keep a. To make out that all one's geese are swans: coll. (—1785); ob. by 1890, † by 1930. Grose, 1st ed.

Swans, the. The Swansea Town Football Club: sporting: C. 20.

swap, swop. An exchanging; an exchange: coll. >, ca. 1850, s.: resp. ca. 1625 (Purchas) and 1682 (Flatman). O.E.D. Ex swap, an act of striking (esp. the hands as a sign of a bargain made); or more imm. ex the v. Cf. swap, get the.—2. Esp. in get a swap (swop), to fail to effect a sale: drapery and kindred trades' (—1935).—3. Also, in the same trades, a synonym of tab, n., 6.

swap, swop, v.t. To exchange (for something else, or a thing with somebody else): coll. >, ca. 1850, s.: resp. 1594, Lyly, 'Ile not swap my father for all this,' and 1624, Quarles, ' . . . That for his belly swopt his heritage', O.E.D. A 'low word', says Johnson; 'Irish cant', says Egan (1823). Orig. a horse-dealer's term ex swap (strike) a bargain.—2. See swap away or off.—3. V.i., to make an exchange: coll. >, ca. 1850, s.: 1778, Miss Burney; 1885, Jerome K. Jerome, 'I am quite ready to swop,' O.E.D. Ex sense 1.—4. V.t., to dismiss from employment: 1862, Macmillan's Magazine. O.E.D. Cf. swap, get the.—5. V.i., to change one's clothes: 1904, D. Sladen. O.E.D. Ex sense 1. swap or swop, have or get the. To be dismissed from employment: from before 1890. Barrère & Leland. Ex swap, v., 4, q.v.

swap away or off. V.t., to exchange: coll. >, ca. 1850, s.: resp. 1589, R. Harvey, 'He swapt away his silver for Copper retaile,' and from ca. 1860; the latter, orig. and mainly U.S. O.E.D. Ex swap, v., 1.—2. swap (or swop) off only. V.t., to cheat: orig. (1830, J. C. Harris) and mainly U.S.; partly anglicised ca. 1910.

swapper, swopper. One who exchanges: late C. 17–20: coll. >, ca. 1850, s. Ex swap, v., 1.—2. Gen. swapper. Anything very big, a 'whopper' (esp. of a lie): s. and dial.: from ca. 1700. Ex swap, to strike.

swapping. An exchanging, an exchange; barter: coll. >, ca. 1850, s.: 1695, J. Edwards (O.E.D.). Ex swap, v., 1, q.v. Cf. swapper, 1, and swap, n.

swapping, swopping, adj. Very big: coll. >, ca. 1850, s.: mid-C. 15–20. Middleton, 1624, 'Swapping sins'. Ex swap, to strike; cf. swapper, 2, and whopping.

swarbout is an occ. C. 16 variant of sworbote, q.v. [swarmy in Lyell is an error for smarmy.]

swarry; occ. swarree, swarrey. A soirée or social evening: coll., in C. 20 considered somewhat sol.: 1837, Dickens, 'A friendly swarry'; 1848, Thackeray (swarrey: O.E.D.).—2. H., 5th ed., 'A boiled leg of mutton and trimmings': is this a mistake founded on the Dickens passage (and repeated by F. & H.), or, as H. says, a resultant therefrom?

swash-bucket. A slattern: proletarian coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex swash-bucket, a receptacle for scullery refuse (ex swash, pig-wash). In dial. as early as 1746 for 'a farm-house slattern' (E.D.D.).

swat. A (smart or heavy) blow: dial. (— 1800) >, ca. 1840, s. or coll., but never very gen. Halliwell. 'Babe' Ruth, the baseball player, has, since ca. 1920, been known in the U.S. as the Sultan of Swat. Ex next entry.—2, 3, 4. See swot.

swat, v. To strike smartly: dial. (— 1796) >, before 1848 (Bartlett), U.S.; reimported into England before 1904 (witness F. & H.) as a coll. Esp. in swat that fly (1911, W.).—2. See swot.

swatchel. Punch, in Punch and Judy: showmen's (esp. and orig. P. & J. showmen): mid-C. 19–20. Perhaps cognate with swatch, a sample or specimen, ex swatch, a sample piece of cloth; possibly, as the O.E.D. (Sup.) suggests, ex schwätzeln, the frequentative of schwätzen, to tattle. Hence swatchel (occ. schwassle)-box, the Punch and Judy show or, more correctly, the booth; and swatchel-cove, a Punch and Judy man, or, esp., the patterer. Other terms, all from ca. 1850 and to be consulted separately, are:—buffer, the dog Toby (recorded in 1840), and buffer-figure, the dog's master; crocodile, the demon; darkey or D., the Negro; filio, the baby; (the) frame, the street arrangement or 'pitch', etc.; (the) letter cloth, the advertisement; Mozzy, Judy; nobbing-slum, the bag for collected money; peepsies, the pan-pipes; (the) slum, the call; (the) slum-fake, the coffin; the stalk (occ. prop), the gallows; tambour, the drum; vampire, the ghost; vampo or V., the clown:—F. & H. Despite its Italian origin, Punch and Judy vocabulary contains far more c. and/or low s. than Italian words.

sway (away on) all top-ropes. See top-ropes.

swaying the main with an old mess-mate, (I've been). The bluejackets' c.p. explanation of a bibulous evening ashore: from ca. 1860. Bowen.

swear. A formal oath: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until ca. 1870, then coll. Eden Phillpotts, 1899, 'We swore by a tremendous swear,' O.E.D.; ob.—2. Hence a profane oath, a 'swear-word'; a fit of swearing: coll.: 1871, C. Gibbon, 'A good swear is a cure for the bile,' O.E.D.—3. A harsh noise made esp. by a cat, occ. by a bird: coll.: 1895 (O.E.D.). Ex:

swear, v.i. (Of a canine or feline or, occ., a bird) to make a harsh and/or guttural sound: from late C. 17: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. The O.E.D. gives, at 1902, an example of a locomotive 'swearing'.

swear at. (Mostly of colours) to clash with: coll.: 1884, The Daily News, Nov. 10, 'Two tints that swear at each other', O.E.D. Ex Fr. jurer.

swear by. To accept as authoritative, have (very) great confidence in: coll.: 1815, Jane Austen; 1890, G. A. Henty, 'His fellows swear by him.' Ex swear by, to appeal to (a god). O.E.D.

swear by, enough to. A very small amount or slight degree: mid-C. 18–20: coll. >, in mid-C. 19, s. On (just) enough to mention.

swear like a cutter (C. 17–20; ob.), or a lord (C. 16–17), or a tinker (C. 17–20; ob.), or a trooper (1727). To swear profusely: coll. soon > S.E. Apperson.

swear off. To renounce: lower classes' s. (— 1887) >, ca. 1900, gen. s. >, ca. 1920, coll. Baumann. ? swear oneself off.

swear through an inch or a two-inch board; . . . a nine-inch plank; and see quotation in sense 2. To back up any lie: coll.: resp. 1678, Ray; 1728, Earl of Ailesbury (O.E.D.); from ca. 1800, app. Nelson's variation of the other forms, according to Clark Russell in 1883. Dickens, in 1865, has 'That severe exertion which is known in legal circles as swearing your way through a stone wall,' O.E.D. Cf. the Cheshire semi-proverbial 'Oo'd swear the cross off a jackass's back,' oo being 'she'.—2. These phrases are also indicative of vigorous bad language, as in R. Franck, 1658, 'It's thought they would have sworn through a double deal-board, they seem'd so enrag'd,' Apperson.

swear-word. A profane oath or other word: coll.; orig. U.S., anglicised ca. 1880. Cf. the U.S. cuss-word.

[Swearing. See 'Cursing'.]

swearing-apartment. The street: taverns' (— 1909). Ware. Prob. ex the barmaids' exclamatory question, 'If you want to swear, why don't you go out into the street?'

Swears. Ernest Wells, founder and member of the Pelican Club: nickname: from middle 1890's; almost †. Ex his literary pseudonym. Ware.

sweat. Hard work; a difficult task; something requiring painstaking trouble: C. 14–20: S.E. until C. 20, then s., esp. in an awful sweat. (O.E.D. Sup.)—2. A long run taken in training: Public Schools': late C. 19–20. (E. F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916.)

sweat. To lighten (a—gen. gold—coin) by friction or acid: coll. (— 1785) >, ca. 1850, S.E. Grose, 1st ed. Ex sweat, to cause to perspire.—2. To deprive of: from ca. 1784, as in Anon., Ireland Sixty Years Ago, 1847, '[In] 1784 . . . "sweating" him, i.e. making him give up all his fire-arms.' Cf. S.E. sweating, a ruffianly practice of the Mohocks (q.v.).—3. Esp. to 'fleece', to 'bleed': from ca. 1840 low s. H., 2nd ed.; Smyth, 1867 (see sweat the purser).—4. V.i. and v.t., to squander (riches): from late 1850's. H., 2nd ed. Ex sweat, to give off, get rid of, as by sweating.—5. Hence, v.t., to spend (money): from ca. 1860.—6. Hence, to remove some of the contents of: 1867, in Conington's Horace, 'He'd find a bottle sweated and not rave,' O.E.D.—7. To unsolder (a tin box, etc.) by applying fire or a blow-pipe: c. (—1909). Ware. Cf. senses 1, 6.—8. Perhaps ex sense 1: v.t., to pawn: low s. (orig., prob. Anglo-Irish): from ca. 1800; † by ca. 1880.—9. To force (a person) to do something: Winchester: mid-C. 19–20. Wrench.—10. Hence, v.i., to be engaged in compulsory work: ibid.: late C. 19–20. Wrench. Cf. the n., 1.

sweat, all of a. (Of a street, pavement, etc.) like a bog; slushy: coll., esp. London (—1887). Baumann.

sweat, be in a. To be at pains (to do something): lower-class coll. (—1923). Manchon.

sweat, old. See old sweat. ('A very old expression', F. & Gibbons.)

sweat-box. A cell for prisoners waiting to go before the magistrate: low s.: from ca. 1875, though unrecorded before 1888 (Churchward's Blackbirding: O.E.D.). In C. 20 U.S., sweat-box is the application of third-degree methods.

sweat-gallery. (Coll. for) fagging juniors: Winchester: from ca. 1865; ob. Ex sweater, 2.

sweat on the top line; be sweating . . ., the more gen. form. 'To be in eager anticipation' or 'on the eve of obtaining something much wanted': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex the game of House: a player with four or five numbers on the top line anxiously awaits the call of one more number to win.

sweat one's guts out. To work extremely hard: (mostly lower-class) coll.: late C. 19–20. Lyell.

sweat-rag. A pocket-handkerchief: Australia: C. 20. Lawson, 1902 (O.E.D.).

sweat the purser. To waste Government stores: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

sweater. An occupation or act causing one to sweat: coll.: 1851, Mayhew, 'The business is a sweater, sir,' O.E.D.—2. A servant: Winchester: from ca. 1860. Cf. sweat-gallery, q.v.—3. A broker working for very small commissions, thus depriving others of business and himself of adequate profit: Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1870.

sweating. See bending, 2; also sweat on . . .
Sweatipore. India: Army officers': from ca. 1920. A pun on paw (hand) and pores of the hand, and also on such names of military stations as Barrackpore. Cf. the Shiny (at shiny, 2).

swede. See set the swede down.

sweep. A sweepstake: coll. (1849) >, ca. 1905, S.E. Kipling. (O.E.D.)—2. A scamp, a disreputable: from ca. 1850. F. & H., 'You dirty sweep'. Ex (chimney)-sweep.—3. (Also bogey.) Mucus (esp. hardened mucus) that can easily be extracted from the nostrils: domestic and nurses', chiefly Scottish: late C. 19–20. Cf.:

sweep, v. To chimney-sweep for: low coll.: 1848, Thackeray, 'The chimney-purifier, who had swep' the last three families', O.E.D. Cf. -p'.

sweeper. A train that, following a through train, calls at all stations: Australian coll. (—1908) >, ca. 1915, S.E. Because it 'sweeps up' all passengers.—2. A sweepstake: Harrow and Oxford: late C. 19–20. Arnold Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913. By 'the Oxford -er'.

sweeping the snow. See snow, sweeping the.

Sweeps, the. The Rifle Brigade: military (—1879) and prob. as early, at least, as 1850, for the black facings date from the Brigade's inception in 1800 and sweep = chimney-sweep dates from 1812. (F. & H.; O.E.D.)

sweeps and saints. Stockbrokers and their clientèle: City of London: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ware, 'From the First of May (Sweeps' Day) and the First of November (All Saints' Day) being holidays on the Exchange'.

sweep's frill. 'Beard and whiskers worn round the chin, the rest of the face being clean shaven', F. & H.: 1892, Tit Bits, March 19. Cf.: sweep's-trot. A loping amble: coll.: 1842, Lover (O.E.D.); ob.

sweet. Gullible; unsuspicious: c. (—1725) >, in late C. 19, low s. A New Canting Dict., 1725.—2. Clever, expert, dexterous: c. (—1725). Ibid. Cf. sweet as your hand.—3. In the speaker's opinion, attractive, very pleasant: coll.: 1779. Fanny Burney, 1782, 'The sweetest caps! the most beautiful trimmings', O.E.D. Cf. nice, q.v., and Fr. mignon.

sweet as a nut, adj. and adv. Advantageous(ly); with agreeable or consummate ease: coll.: late C. 19–20.

sweet as (or's) your hand. 'Said of one dexterous at stealing', Grose, 1st ed.: c. (ob.) of C. 18–20. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

sweet craft. See craft, 2.—sweet damn all. A mild synonym (Lyell) of:

sweet Fanny (rare) or sweet Fanny Adams or sweet F.A. See F.A. and Fanny Adams.

(Sweet) Lambs, the. The 1st Madras European Regiment, now the Royal Dublin Fusiliers: mid-C. 18–mid-19; during the Indian Mutiny, Blue Caps took its place. Perhaps ex Kirke's Lambs. q.v. F. & Gibbons. (—2. For the Lambs, see Lambs, the.)

sweet-lips. A glutton; a gourmet: (low) coll.: from ca. 1870; ob.

sweet on, be. 'To coakse, wheedle, entice or allure', B.E.: late C. 17–18. The O.E.D. considers it S.E.; B.E. classifies it as c.; prob. coll., as, I think, is the mid-C. 18–20 sense, to be very fond of, enamoured with (one of the opposite sex).

sweet-pea, do or plant a. (Of, and among, women) to urinate, esp. in the open air: mid-C. 19–20. Prob. suggested by pluck a rose.

sweethread. A bribe; a timely reward of money: coll.: ca. 1670–90. Hackett, 1670, 'A few sweet-breads that I gave him out of my purse'.

sweeten. A beggar, says F. & H.: is this so? If correct, c.: presumably C. 18.

sweeten. To decoy, draw in; swindle: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose.—2. V.i., see sweetening, 1.—3. V.t., to allay the suspicions of (a victim): C. 18: c. or low s. E.D.D.—4. To bribe; give alms to: late C. 18–20: c. >, ca. 1850, dial. and low s. Haggart, former nuance; Egan's Grose, latter. Prob. ex sense 1.—5. To contribute to (the pool), increase the stakes in (the pot, at poker): cards: from 1896. Cf. sweetening.—6. V.i., to bid at an auction merely to run up the price: orig. and mainly auctioneers' (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Cf. sweetener.—7. V.t., to increase (the collateral of a loan) by furnishing additional securities: financial (—1919). O.E.D. sweeten and pinch. Occ. v., gen. n., ca. 1670–1720, as in Anon., Four for a Penny, 1678: to get money, by politeness and considerateness, from a man about to be arrested. Bum-bailiffs' s.

sweetener. A decoy; a cheat or a swindler: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Ex sweeten, v., 1.—2. A guinea-dropper: c.: same period. B.E., Grose. Ex sweetening, 1.—3. One who, at an auction, bids only to run up the price: auctioneers' (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.—4. A temporary officer (gen. first mate) replacing his predecessor, who is in hiding: nautical, with esp. reference to the Atlantic clipper packets: ca. 1850–1910. Bowen.—5. See:

sweeteners. The lips: c. or low s.: from ca. 1860. Esp. fake the s., to kiss.

sweetening. Guinea-dropping, i.e. the dropping of a coin and consequent swindling of a gullible finder: c.: from ca. 1670; † by 1870. The Country Gentleman's Vade Mecum, 1699.—2. The vbl.n.—both the action and the concrete result—of sweeten, v., 5.—3. That of sweeten, b., 6.—4. That of sweeten, v., 4. sweetheart. A tame rabbit: (sporting and dealers') coll.: from late 1830's. Blaine's Encyclopædia of Rural Sports, 1840 (O.E.D.). Ex winning ways of such rabbits.

sweetheart and bag-pudding. A c.p. applied to a girl got with child: C. 17—early 18. Day, Humour out of Breath, 1608; Ray, 1670.

sweetie. A sweetmeat: dial. (— 1758), and coll. (from ca. 1820) >, ca. 1890, S.E. W. Havergal, 1824, 'Baby . . . was satisfied with a bit of sweetie'; Thackeray, in 1860, has 'Bonbons or sweeties'; the pl. is much the more gen. (O.E.D.) —2. A sweetheart: coll.: from ca. 1920; much earlier in U.S. Ultimately ex dial.

sweetmeat; occ. sweet-meat. The male member; a mere girl who is a kept mistress. Both senses are low and date from mid-C. 19.

sweetner. See sweetener, 1, 2, of which it is a frequent variant.

swell. A fashionably or smartly dressed person (a heavy being an 'ultra' swell: 1819, O.E.D.); hence, though rare before ca. 1820, a (very) distinguished person, a lady or gentleman of the upper classes: s. (— 1811) >, in late C. 19, coll. Lex. Bal., 1811; Bee, 1823, of nob and swell, 'The latter makes a show of his finery; . . . the nob, relying upon intrinsic worth, or bonâ-fide property, or intellectual ability, is clad in plainness.' Byron; Thackeray. Usually of men, and prob. ex swell, cut a, q.v.—2. Hence, one who has done something notable or who is expert at something: s. >, in late C. 19, coll.: 1816, Moore (O.E.D.), but not gen. before ca. 1840; Barham, 'No! no!—The Abbey [Westminster] may do very well | For a feudal nob, or poetical "swell"': the Eton usage.—3. See swells.

swell, adj. Stylishly dressed: from ca. 1812. E.g. in Egan's Grose. Prob. ex n., 1.—2. Hence, from ca. 1820, gentlemanly (Byron, 1823) or lady-like; of good social position (Disraeli, 1845).—3. (Of things) stylish, very distinguished: from ca. 1811. Vaux.—4. Hence, excellent, whether of things (e.g. a swell time) or of persons considered as to their ability (e.g. a swell cricketer): not before mid-C. 19 and—except in U.S.A.—slightly ob. All four senses were orig. s. (1–3, indeed, were low s. for a decade or more); they > coll. only in late C. 19.

swell, v. To take a bath: Winchester: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex swill.—2. See swell it.

swell, cut a; do the swell. To swagger: resp. ca. 1800–40, as in The Spirit of the Public Journals 1800, 'Our young lords and . . . gentlemen "cutting a swell" as the fashionable phrase is', O.E.D.; and mid-C. 19–20 (ob.), as in Baumann. (Cf. swell, n., 1.) Ex swell, arrogant behaviour.

swell (or itch) ♀, does your nose. (Gen. completed by at this or at that.) Are you angry or annoyed? : coll.: C. 19.

swell, rank. 'A very "flashly" dressed person . . . who . . . apes a higher position than he actually occupies', H., 1st ed.; ob. by 1900, † by 1920. Ex swell, n., 1, first nuance.

swell about. See swell it.

swell fencer. A street vendor of needles: low London (— 1859); † by 1920. H., 1st ed.

swell-head. Conceit: coll.: C. 20. Prob. ex swelled head, q.v.—2. Hence, a conceited person: coll.: C. 20.—3. As = an important person, it is U.S.—4. A drunken man: low: late C. 19—early 20.

swell-headed. Conceited; puffed with pride: coll.: 1817, Cobbett, 'The upstart, . . . swell-headed farmer can bluster . . . about Sinécures,' O.E.D.

swell hung in chains, a. A much-bejewelled person: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 2nd ed.

swell it. To play or ape the fine gentleman: low (— 1887); ob. Baumann. Ex swell, n., 1. In C. 20, also swell about (Manchon).

swell mob. That class of pickpockets who, to escape detection, dress and behave like respectable people: 1836, Marryat (O.E.D.): c. >, by 1870, low s. Ex swell, adj., 1 and 2.—2. In C. 20 c., 'the "kite" men, the confidence artists, and . . . fashionably dressed young men who lie in wait for gullible strangers', Edgar Wallace in The Double, 1928.

swell-mobsman. One of the 'swell mob': o. (— 1851) >, by 1870, low s. Mayhew; Hotten, 3rd ed., 'Swell mobsmen, who pretend to be Dissenting preachers, and harangue in the open air for their confederates to rob'.—2. See preceding entry, sense 2.

swell-nose. Strong ale: early C. 16. Anon., De Generibus Ebriosorum, 1515.

Swell Street, be (— 1812) or live (— 1904) in. To be a well-off family man of good social standing: low: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux. By 1864—see H., 3rd ed.—Swell Street had > the West End (London).

swelldom. The world of 'swells' (n., all senses): coll.: 1855, Thackeray; ob.

swelled head. Excessive conceit, pride, or vanity: coll.: 1891, Kipling (O.E.D.).—2. Perhaps only one of Grose's jokes, and at most a piece of military punning s. of late C. 18—early 19: 'A disorder to which horses are extremely liable . . . Generally occasioned by remaining too long in one livery-stable or inn, and often rises to that height that it prevents their coming out of the stable door. The most certain cure is the unguentum aureum . . . applied to the palm of the master of the inn or stable,' 2nd ed. Cf. oat-stealer, q.v.

swelled-headedness. 'Swelled head', sense 1, q.v.: coll.: 1907, E. Reich, 'The Germans are afflicted with the severest attack of swelled-headedness known to modern history,' O.E.D.

swelled nose. See swell ♀, does your nose.

swellish. Dandified: 1820 (O.E.D.): s. >, in late C. 19, coll. Ex swell, n., 1, q.v.—2. Gentlemanly; distinguished: from ca. 1830: idem.

swellishness. The n. of swellish, in sense 2, q.v.: coll.: late C. 19–20.

swellism. The style (esp. in dress) or the social habits of a 'swell', in sense 1, rarely in other than the first nuance, q.v.: 1840 (O.E.D.): s. >, by ca. 1870, coll.; ob. Cf.:

swellness. The being a 'swell', esp. in sense 2 and never in the first nuance of sense 1: coll.: 1894, T. H. Huxley, 'My swellness is an awful burden,' O.E.D.; ob. Cf. swellishness and swellism, qq.v.

swells. Occasions—e.g. Sunday church-services—on which surplices are worn: Winchester: from ca. 1860. Ex swell, adj., 3, q.v.

swelp, s'welp. (God) so help: as in Whiteing, 1899, 'Swelp me lucky, I ain't tellin' yer no lie!' Also swelp me! (— 1887); swelp me or my bob! (— 1904); swelp me davy (— 1887); swelp my greens or taters! (id.), with which cf. the (— 1895) dial. bless my taters! (E.D.D.) and the earlier (1864, H., 3rd ed.) s'elp my tater! See also s'elp!, s'elp me bob!, s'elp my greens! (1864, H., 3rd ed.); likewise s'help! Ex so help (me, God!)

swelter. Hot, hard work: lower classes' (— 1887). Baumann. Cf.:

swelter, do a. To perspire profusely: 1884. Ex S.E. swelter, a state of perspiration. O.E.D.

Swensker. A Swede: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Bowen, 'A corruption of Svenske'.

swi. Two-up, the gambling game: New Zealand c. (— 1932). Perhaps swi = twi(ce).

swift. A fast-working compositor: printers' (— 1841). Savage's Dict. of Printing.

swift, adj. Apt to take (sexual) liberties with, or to accept them from, the opposite sex: coll.: late C. 19–20. Suggested by fast. Cf. speedy.

swig; in C. 16, also swyg. Liquor: coll.: mid-C. 16–20; very ob.—has been so since early C. 19. Udall, 1548 (O.E.D.). Etymology unknown: W. proposes Scandinavian svik, a tap.—2. Hence, a 'pull'; a (copious) draught: coll. >, in late C. 18, s.: from ca. 1620. Middleton & Rowley, 'But one swig more, sweet madam'; Ned Ward; Marryat; Whiteing. Also, in C. 17, swigge.—3. At Oxford University (orig. and esp. Jesus College), toast and (spiced) ale, or the bowl in which it is served: from ca. 1825. Hence, Swig Day, the day (? St David's) it is ritualistically served.

swig; in C. 18, occ. swigg. V.i. To drink deeply, eagerly, or much (esp., strong liquor): mid-C. 17–20: coll. >, in early C. 19, s. Ex n., 1.—2. V.t., with either the liquor or its container as object: coll. >, in early C. 19, s.: resp. 1780, 'Slang Pastoral' Tomlinson, 'To swig porter all day', O.E.D., and 1682, in Wit and Drollery, 'I . . . swigg'd my horn'd barrel,' this latter nuance being ob.

swig, play at. To indulge in drink: coll.: late C. 17–18. Ex swig, n., 2.

Swig Day. See swig, n., 3.

swiggled. Tipsy: mid-C. 19–20: rather proletarian.

swigging, vbl.n. (1723) and ppl.adj. (1702). See swig, v., 1. (O.E.D.)

swigman; in C. 16, also swygman. 'One of the 13th Rank of the Canting Crew, carrying small Haberdashery-Wares about, pretending to sell them to colour their Roguery', B.E.; Awdelay, 1561, says that he 'goeth with a Peddlers pack'. C. of ca. 1560–1800. Prob. ex swagman, despite the fact that swag, a bulgy bag, is recorded only in early C. 14.

swiling, n. Sealing: Newfoundland nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. By corruption.

swill. A bath: Shrewsbury School coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.

Swill. A coll. euphemism for (by) God's will: C. 17. Marston. O.E.D.

swill, v.i. 'To wash at a conduit by throwing water over the body': Winchester College coll.: C. 19–20. Wrench. Cf. the Shrewsbury n. and get swilled.

swilled, get. To take a bath: Shrewsbury School coll.: mid-C. 19–20. (D. Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.)

swim. A swimming, i.e. a dizzy, feeling: dial. and coll.: 1829, Ebenezer Elliott (O.E.D.).—2. A plan or enterprise, esp. a tortuous or a shady one: 1860, Sala (O.E.D.); slightly ob.

swim, give one's dog a. To have the excuse of doing something or, esp., a reason for something to do: South African and Australian coll. An English approximation is take one's dog for a walk.

swim, how we apples. See apples.

swim, in the. Whereas in the swim with, in league with, has always, it seems, been S.E., in the swim, lucky, very fortunate, is coll. and ob.: in 1869, Macmillan's Magazine (the earliest record, by the way) explained that it derives ex swim, a section of river much frequented by fish. By 1864, in a good swim = in luck, doing a good business (H., 3rd ed.); by 1874, in the swim = in the inner circle, movement or fashion; popular: a sense that, from coll., >, ca. 1900, S.E.—2. In c. (— 1860): a long time out of the hands of the police. H., 2nd ed.

swim, out of the. The opp. to in the swim, except that it has no c. sense: 1869. Rare in C. 20.

swim for it, make (a man). To cheat (a pal) out of his share of booty: c.: late C. 19–20.

swim in golden grease, lard, oil. To receive many bribes: C. 17 coll. Jonson.

swim like a brick. See brick, like a.

swimmer. A counterfeit (old) coin: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Why?—2. A guard-ship: c. (— 1811); † by 1860. Lex. Bal.; Vaux. Cf. S.E. swimmer, an angler's float.—3. A half-push stroke: cricketers' (— 1909). Lewis.—4. A swimming-suit: coll.: 1929 (O.E.D. Sup.).

swimmer, v. To cause (a man) to serve in the Navy instead of sending him to prison: c. (— 1812); † by 1860. Vaux. Gen. be swimmered. Ex swimmer, n., 2.

swimmer, have a. A variant of the preceding term: 1811, Lex. Bal.

swindge, swindging. See swinge, swingeing.

swindle. A lottery; a speculation, a toss for drinks: 1870, Legal Reports; slightly ob. Ex lit. S.E. sense.—2. Something other than it appears to be, a 'fraud': coll.: 1866 (O.E.D.). Cf. sense 1.—3. Any transaction in which money passes: from ca. 1870, as in what's the swindle?, what's to pay?, which may orig. have been U.S., in why don't you pay him his swindle?, his price, and in let's have a swindle!, let's toss for it; all three phrases are ob., the third only slightly so.

swindle, v.i. To practise fraud: 1752 ed. of Bailey's Dict.: s. >, ca. 1820, S.E. A back-formation ex swindler, q.v.—2. Hence, v.t., esp. with out of: C. 19–20: s. >, ca. 1820, S.E. Sydney Smith, 1803 (O.E.D.).

swindler. A practiser of fraud or imposition for gain; a cheat: ca. 1762: c. >, ca. 1790, s. >, ca. 1820, S.E. E.g. in Foote, 1776; Grose, 1st ed., but 'dictionaried' first in the 1782 ed. of Bailey. Ex Ger. schwindler, a cheat; cf. schwindeln, to be extravagant or giddy. In England picked up from and applied orig. to German Jews in London; much used, too, by soldiers during the Seven Years War. See esp. F. & H., O.E.D., and W.

swindling, n. and adj. ex swindle, v., 1, date from late C. 18; by 1820, S.E.

swine, go the complete (or entire). A London coll. variation (— 1887) of go the whole hog; ob. Baumann.

swine, sing like a bird called a. See sing like . . .

swine-up. A quarrel: lower classes': ca. 1880–1915. Ware, 'Suspected to be of American origin'. Ex pigs' bad temper.

swing. (Always the s.) The gallows: c. or low s.: ? late C. 18–mid-19.

swing, v.i. To be hanged: s. >, in C. 18, c. > s. >, in late C. 19, coll.: 1542, Udall, swing in a halter; swing by itself, app. not before C. 18; Dickens in Boz, 'If I'm caught, I shall swing.'—2. Hence, v.t., to put to death by hanging: from ca. 1815; ob. and, at all times, rare.—3. See next four entries.—4. To control (a market, a price, etc.): commercial coll.: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. Cf. swing it.

swing Douglas or Kelly. To use the axe: Australian coll. (— 1935). Ex two well-known makes of axe.

swing for you if you don't (agree, do it, etc.) I, I'll. A c.p. threat: proletarian: ca. 1820–90. H., 3rd ed. See swing, v., 1.

swing it. To wangle successfully, get something by trickery; to shirk or malingering, esp. if successfully: from late 1890's. Prob. ex swing, v., 4.

swing it down the line. To get a (good) job away from the front line: military: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

swing it on, v.t. To deceive slyly, to impose on, do (one) a bad turn: C. 20: mostly Australian. Prob. ex swing, v., last sense, though imm. ex swing it, q.v.—2. To malingering successfully with, as in swing it on a sore foot: military: from 1915. B. & P. (at swinging the lead).

swing (a matter, business) over one's head or shoulders. To manage easily; find well within one's powers: commercial: from ca. 1890. Cf. S.E. swing, scope.

swing-tail. A hog: low: ca. 1786–1860. Grose, 2nd ed. Contrast swish-tail.

swing the lead. See lead, swing the.

swing the monkey. To strike 'with knotted handkerchiefs a man who swings to a rope made fast aloft', Clark Russell: nautical coll.: from ca. 1880.

swinge; in C. 16, occ. swynge; in C. 16–18, swindge. To copulate with (a woman): ca. 1620–1750. Fletcher, 1622; Dryden, 1668, 'And that baggage, Beatrix, how I would swinge her if I had her here.' Ex swinge, to castigate.—2. See all senses of:

swinge off. To toss off (a drink): ca. 1525–1660. Also s. up (Skelton, 1529). ? cf. punish, q.v.—2. To infect with (severe) gonorrhoea: late C. 17–18. Gen. passive, be swinged off, as in B.E. Perhaps suggested by clap, q.v.—3. Occ. as variant of swirge, q.v.: late C. 17–early 18. Miège.

swingeing, swinging (pron. swindjing); in C. 17–19, occ. swindging. Very effective, great, large, esp. of a lie: coll. >, by 1700, s.: late C. 16–20, but rare since mid-C. 19. Greene, Motteux, Grose (2nd ed.), Dickens.—2. Hence, adv.: hugely: 1690, Dryden (O.E.D.); 1872, C. D. Warner, 'A . . . swingeing cold night'. Cf. S.E. strapping, adj. and adv.

swing(e)ingly. Very forcibly; hugely: coll. > by 1700, s.: 1672, Dryden, 'I have sinned swing-ingly, against my vow.' Archaic. Ex swing(e)ing, q.v.

swinger (pron. swindjer). A rogue, a scoundrel: Scottish c. (? > low s.) of C. 16–mid-18. Dunbar; A. Nicol, 1739. Prob. ex Flemish. O.E.D.—2. Something very effective or large (of a blow, not before 1830's): from 1590's, but rare since ca. 1850: coll. >, by 1700, s. Ex swinge, to beat. Cf. whopper.—3. Hence, esp. a bold or rank lie: ca. 1670–1820. Eachard, 1670, 'Rap out . . . half a dozen swingers.'—4. A box on the ears: Charterhouse coll. (— 1890). Barrère & Leland.—5. In pl., testicles: low: C. 19–20. (Pron. as in swing.) swinging, adj. See swingeing.—swingingly. See swingeingly.

swinging. A hanging: from late C. 16: s. >, in late C. 19, coll. Percivall, 1591, 'Swinging in a halter': R. L. Stevenson. O.E.D. Ex swing, v., 1.

swinging ball game, the. The 'cobbler'—see last sense of cobbler: grafters' coll.: C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

swinging the stick; or, the bludgeon business. A robbery committed with brutal violence and a life-preserver or bludgeon: c. (— 1861). Mayhew.

swink. See 'Winchester College slang', § 5.

swinny. Drunk: low: late C. 19–20. Ex dial. swinny, giddy, dizzy.

swipe; occ. swype. A heavy blow; in golf and cricket, a stroke made with the full swing of the arms: C. 19–20: coll. (? orig. dial) >, ca. 1920, familiar S.E. Perhaps ex sweep; perhaps sibilated wipe, a blow (H.).—2. Hence, one who does this: coll.: 1825, Westmacott, 'A hard swipe, an active field, and a stout bowler', O.E.D.; † by 1900.—3. A term of reproach or scornful condemnation: from ca. 1920. O.E.D. (Sup.): 'Cf. swipes [bad beer].'

swipe, v.i. and t. 'To drink hastily and copiously; . . . at one gulp': low s. (— 1823) and dial. (— 1829) >, ca. 1860, coll. >, ca. 1890, s.; in C. 20, also of food. Egan's Grose. Often swipe off. ? ex sweep off.—2. The sporting v.i. (1857) is coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. T. Hughes, 1857, 'The first ball of the over, Jack steps out and meets, swiping with all his force.' The v.t. not before ca. 1851. F. & H. and Lewis.—3. At Harrow: to birch (v.t.: from) ca. 1880. A sense-blend of swish, to birch, and swipe, v., 2.—4. To appropriate illicitly; steal; loot: U.S. (— 1890), anglicised ca. 1900, when used by Kipling; fairly gen. in G.W., and in England always mostly a military term.

swiper. A heavy drinker: 1836, F. Mahony (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1890, s. Ex swipe, v., 1, q.v.—2. The cricketing sense dates from the early 1850's (e.g. in F. Gale, 1853): coll. >, in late C. 19, S.E. Ex swipe, v., 2. (Lewis.)

swipes; occ. swypes. Small beer: from ca. 1786: coll. >, in late C. 19, s. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. swipe, v., 1, which it inconveniently precedes by thirty years or more.—2. Hence, any beer: from ca. 1820. Scott; Hood, 'Bread and cheese and swipes', O.E.D.—3. A potman: ca. 1810–50. Ex sense 1.

swipes, purser's. Small beer: nautical: ca. 1786–1870. Grose, 2nd ed. See swipes.

swipey. (Not very) tipsy: coll.: 1844, Dickens, 'He's only a little swipey, you know.' Never gen. and, by 1900, ob. Ex swipes, q.v. Cf. squiffy.

swiping is the vbl.n. of swipe, v., 2; also blind swiping: coll.: 1879, W. G. Grace. Lewis.—2. A birching, esp. by a monitor: Shrewsbury School:

from ca. 1880. (Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.) Cf. swipe, v., 3.

swish, v. Very rare except as swished, q.v.

swish, adj. Smart; fashionable: C. 20; ob. Ex dial. swish, the same: cognate with dial. swash, gaudy or showy.

swish! Oh, is that all?!: ironie (— 1923). Manchon.

swish-tail. A pheasant, 'so called by the persons who sell game for the poachers', Grose, 3rd ed.: ca. 1790–1870.—2. A schoolmaster: late C. 19–20; ob. On bum-brusher.

swished, ppl.adj. Married: low (? orig. c.): ca. 1810–80. Vaux; H., 1st ed. Cf. switched.

Swiss admiral. A pretended Naval officer: naval coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex the Fr. amiral suisse, a naval officer employed ashore: cf. the allusive S.E. Swiss navy.

switch. To copulate with (a woman): 1772, Bridges, 'Paris . . . longs to switch the gypsy'; ob. Cf. swinge, v., 1, q.v.: many old vv. of coition are sadistic.

switch off! Stop talking!, 'shut up!': C. 20: s. >, by 1930, coll. Manchon. Ex disconnecting a 'phone and/or turning off an electric light.

switched, ppl.adj. Married: low (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Prob. suggested by swished, q.v. Presumably cognate with switch, q.v.

switchel. To have sexual intercourse: Restoration period. Cf. switch, q.v.

swive, v.t. and i. To copulate (with a woman); hence swiver, swiving, and the Queen of Swiveland (Venus). Excellent S.E. that, dating from late C. 14, >, early in C. 17, a vulgarism; † since ca. 1800, except as a literary archaism and in several dial.

swivel-eye. A squinting eye: coll.: 1864, H., 3rd ed.; 1865, Dickens; ob. Ex:

swivel-eyed. Squint-eyed: coll.: 1781, C. Johnston; Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps suggested by Sheridan's 'T'other [eye] turned on a swivel', 1775. O.E.D.

swivelly. Drunk: late C. 19–20; very ob. Ex swivel on squiffy, q.v.

swiver. See swive.—Swiveland, Queen of. Ibid. swiz; occ. swizz. A 'fraud'; great disappointment: late C. 19–20 schoolboys'. Prob. an abbr. of swizzle, recorded in the same sense by A. H. Dawson in 1913; the longer form being perverted swindle.

swizzle. Intoxicating drink, whether a specific cocktail or strong liquor in gen.: s. >, ca. 1850, coll.: from not later than 1791, for it appears in the 3rd ed. of Grose, where, moreover, it is said that at Ticonderoga, in North America, the 17th (English) Regiment had, ca. 1760, a society named The Swizzle Club; 1813, Colonel Hawker, 'The boys . . . finished the evening with some . . . grub, swizzle, and singing,' O.E.D. Slightly ob. ? a corruption of swig (W.) or cognate with the U.S. switchel, which, however, is recorded later and may be ex swizzle; perhaps swizzle derives ex swig on guzzle or even on dial. twizzle, v.t., turn round quickly.—2. See swiz.

swizzle, v.i. To tippie: s. and dial (— 1847) >, ca. 1880, coll.; ob. Halliwell. Ex swizzle, n., 1.—2. V.t., to stir (drink) with a swizzle-stick: 1859, Trollope (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1880, coll. Prob. ex sense 1 but strongly influenced by twizzle (see end of swizzle, n., 1). Whence the next entry.—3. V.i. corresponding to n., 2; whence swizzler, a swindler, as in Neil Bell, Crocus, 1936.

swizzle-stick. A stick for stirring drink to a froth: coll.: 1885 (O.E.D.).

swizzled. Topsy: from ca. 1850. Ex swizzle, v., 1, q.v.

swizzy. A s. variant of swizzle, n., 1, and v., 1.

swob! 'Swelp me bob!' (q.v.): low (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. swop me bob!

swobbers. See swabber.

swod-gill. See swad-gill.—swoddy. See swaddy. Thus spelt, rare in C. 20.

Swolks! See 'Swounds!'

swollen head, have a. To be tipsy: coll.: late C. 19–20; ob.

swop. See swap. So too for derivatives.

swop me bob or Bob! A perversion of s'elp (via swelp, q.v.) me bob!: 1890, P. H. Emerson (E.D.D.: my). See also at s'elp and cf. swob! A variant (— 1923) is swop me Dick(e)y: Manchon.

sworbote (or S.)! God. A coll. corruption of God's forbote!: ca. 1580–1620. O.E.D.

sword, ship one's slung. See slung sword.

sword-racket. Enlisting in various regiments and deserting after getting the bounty: c. of ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal.

sworder. A ship engaged in catching sword-fish: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

swore for sworn is sol. in C. 19–20. Baumann.

sworn at Highgate. See Highgate.

swosh. Nonsense; drivel: 1924, Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 'And anyway sentiment was swosh'. It lived only ca. 1923–5. A blend of swindle + bosh (or perhaps tosh).

swot, swat. Mathematics: ca. 1845–95: military. Also, a mathematician. (Rarely swat.) Perhaps ex a R.M.A. professor's pronunciation of sweat (v.).—2. Hence, (hard) study: 'Public Schools' (— 1881) and universities'. Perhaps imm. ex v.—3. One who studies hard: 1866 (O.E.D.). Ex second nuance of sense 1.

swot; occ. swat, v.i. To study hard: from ca. 1859: Army >, ca. 1870, gen. at the universities (H., 5th ed.). H., 2nd ed. Ex swot, n., 1. Hence swot (swat) up, to work hard at, esp. for an examination; to 'mug up': rare before C. 20.

swot, in a. In a rage: Shrewsbury (school): late C. 19–20. Corruption of sweat.

swotter. A 'swot' (sense 3): mostly schools' (— 1919). O.E.D. (Sup.).

'Swounds! A coll. euphemism for God's wounds!: 1589, Nashe; † by 1650. Cf. the very rare perversion of 'Swounds': Swolks!, recorded by Swift in his Polite Conversation. O.E.D.

swret-sio. The earliest form (— 1859) of sret-sio, q.v. H., 1st ed.

swyg. See swig, n.—swygman. See swigman.

—swynge. See swinge.—swype. See swipe.—

swypes. See swipes.

sybil, Sybil. Incorrect for sibyl, Sibyl: from inception (C. 14). But very common.

Sydney-bird, -duck, or -sider. A convict: Australian: ca. 1850–90. (In C. 20, a Sydney-sider is merely a native or inhabitant of Sydney.) Ex the convict settlement.

syebuck. A sixpence: low: ca. 1780–1850. G. Parker, 1781. Ex sice, 6; the buck may be a mystifying suffix suggested by hog, a shilling.

syl-slinger. An actor that mouths his words: theatrical (— 1913); ob. A. H. Dawson, Dict. of Slang (1913).

'sylum, sylum. An asylum: sol. (— 1887.) Baumann. Also in dial.

syllan. Incorrect though very gen. for silvan: from inception (C. 16).

sympathy. A man's intimate caressing of a woman: C. 20. Ex that indelicate definition of sympathy which arose from Byron's 'A fellow-feeling . . .'

symptom, symptomatic. Catachrestic for symbol, symbolic: C. 17, C. 19. Cf. the catachrestic use of synchronous for 'uniform in speed' and -ly for 'at a uniform speed': late C. 18–20. O.E.D.

T

[In F. & H. are, under T, the following ineligible, whether S.E. or dial. S.E.:—T, to a; t-beard; tabarder; tabernacle; tables, turn the; tag-end; tag, rag, and bobtail; tag-rhyme, -tail; unrecorded tail's and tailor's; take and derivatives, etc., id.; talesman; unrecorded talk, etc.; tall, id.; tallow-face(d); tally-men; tame unlisted; tan, smell of the; tandem (bicycle); tannikin; tanquam; unrecorded tantivy; tantony, etc.; unrecorded tap's; tar, id.; target; tarse; tart, adj.; Tartar, except as c.; Tartuffe; taste if unlisted; tatterdemalion; unrecorded tattle; tattoo; taut; taverned and taverner; undefined taw's; tawdry; tawny-coat and -moor; tea-party; team; unlisted tear's; tease, on the; unrecorded teeth, etc.; teetotal; tell, etc., where unrecorded; temple of Venus; ten-in-the-hundred; tent; tenterbelly; tenterhooks; tercel gentle; termier; terrae filius; terrible boy; unrecorded that and thatch; theta; unlisted thick's; thief (one sense is dial.), etc., unrecorded; thimble, id.; thin, id.; thing, etc., id.; thirding; undefined thirteen, and thirty; Thomas Courteous; thorns, on; thorough-stitch; thread's unrecorded; three, id.; Thresher, Captain; throat when undefined; throttle, id.; through, id.; throw, id.; thrum, id. thug; unrecorded thumb's and thump's; thunder, steal one's; thwack(er); tib (also dial.); tick and toy; ticker (horse and stock-indicator); unrecorded ticket's; unrecorded tickle's; tidy, n.; tie, to marry; tiffy-taffet(t)y, etc.; tigerkin; unlisted tight's; tim-whisky; timber-mare, timbered; timbrel; Timothy tear-cat; tingle-tangle; unrecorded tinker's; tin-pot, adj.; unrecorded tip, etc.; tipper; tippet; tippie, v., and its derivatives; tiry; tit, a horse, and other unlisted; titivil; titter-totter; tittup, n.; tivy in hunting; toad, toady, etc.; to-do; toast (pledged person, etc.); tobaccanalian, etc.; toby (jug); toddle; toddy; undefined toe's; token, except in phrase; told you so; Toledo; toll; undefined Tom's; tomahawk; tompion; tongs, if unrecorded; tongue, etc., id.; tonish; tonner; too too; unrecorded tool's; tooth, id.; top (etc.), id.; tope, etc.; topsy-turvy; torch-race; Torpids; torturer of anthems; tosher (a boat); unrecorded toss, etc.; tostication; unlisted tot's; totter; tottery; unrecorded touch, derivatives and phrases; tough, id.; tour; tousle; tow, in; tower, n. (fashion in head-dress); towhead; towering; unlisted town, etc.; toy (except c. sense); tprot; trace; unrecorded track's; train; tramp, etc.; trang(r)am; transcribbler; transfuscated; translate; translator; trap, etc., unrecorded; trash (worthless, and n.); trat; unrecorded travel, etc.; tray (tre) ace; treacle sleep; tread, treading, etc.,

Synagogue, the. A shed in the N.E. corner of: Covent Garden: from 1890. Covent Garden is almost wholly run by Jews. (Ware.)

syntax. A schoolmaster: coll. of 1780–1860. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. William Combe's Tour of Dr Syntax, 1813. Ex grammar. Cf. gerund-grinder, q.v.

syph; incorrectly siph. Syphilis: coll.: late C. 19–20. Contrast clap, q.v.

syrup. Money: dispensing chemists' (—1909). Ware. Cf. brads.

where unrecorded; treason; treasure; treat, a round of drinks; treating; unrecorded tree's; tremble(r); trench(er); trial; triangle; tribe; tribune; tribute; unlisted trick's; tried virgin; trig where undefined; trillibub; trillil; unlisted trim, etc.; unrecorded tripe's; trivet; trollop; trollop; trolly-lolly; tronk; unrecorded trot's, esp. old trot; trouble, id.; trounce; trowel; unlisted true's; trumpery; trumpet; unrecorded trunk's; trut; truth; try, etc., unrecorded; tub, id.; tucker-in; unlisted tuft's; tug, id.; (Anglo-Indian) tum-tum; tumble, etc., id.; tun (vessel); tup, etc., id.; turf, id.; turk, Turk, id.; turn, id.; tush; tussle; tut; tut-work; tutivillus; twaddle unrecorded; twang (etc.), id.; twatter-light; twattle; tweague and tweak, id.; tweedledum; twelvepenny; twenty; twice; twiddle; twilight; twinklers; twittle-twat; twire, v.; twish; unrecorded twist's; twit; twitteration, twitters; twitter-light; twittle-(twattle); two-handed, adroit; twopenny (beer; adj.); Tyburn, etc.,—but see note on; tyg; tympany.

Dial.:—tacker, tacket, tagster, tangle, tantarabobs, tap-peckle, tatterwag(g)s, tatterwallop(s), Tavistock grace, Teignton squash, thrapple, timdoodle, timothy, tinger, tinkler, tisty-tosty, tittle-goose, toby-trot, todge, tolsery, tom-toe, tom-trot, tommy (a simpleton), toot, tootledum-pattick, torril, tossy-tail, totty-headed, trail-tongs, traneen, tranklements, trapes (a slattern), tray-trip, treacle-wag, trim-tram, trollybags, trub, tuel, tumpstner, tussey, tussicated, tutting, twank, twanking, twitcher, twitter.]

t. That, esp. so't, so that (e.g. one did so-and-so): sol. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D. (Sup.). —2. It; as in 'If't comes to that, he doesn't know': slovenly coll.: late C. 19–20.

t. To: slovenly coll.: ? since early C. 19. Esp. as in Neil Bell, The Years Dividing, 1935, 'Anna ought t've had her results by now.'

T, marked with a. Known as a thief: coll.: late C. 18–mid-19. 'Formerly convicted thieves were branded with a "T" in the hand,' F. & H.

t. and o. T. and O. Odds of two to one: sporting: from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

t.b.; loosely t.-b. (or T.-b.). Tuberculosis: coll. (orig. medical): C. 20.—2. t.b. or T.B. Top boy: London schools' coll. (—1887). Baumann.

T.G. See temporary gentleman.

t.g.i.f., or T.G.I.F. A c.p. among non-resident teachers in secondary schools: C. 20. 'Thank God it's Friday!'

T.P. See Tay Pay.

t.t.; occ. tee-tee. Teetotal; a teetotaller: late C. 19–20.

t.w.k. Too well known: Army in India: mid-C. 19-20. Ware.

ta!; rarely taa! Thanks!: coll., orig. and mainly nursery: 1772, Mrs Delany, 'You would not say "ta" to me for my congratulation,' O.E.D. Ex a young child's difficulty with th and nks. Cf.: ta-ta! Good-bye!: au revoir!: coll., orig. and chiefly nursery: 1837, Dickens, "'Tar, tar, Sammy," replied his father,' O.E.D. Perhaps suggested by Fr. au voir.—2. Hence (also tata), a hat: theatrical (— 1923). Manchon.

ta-ta's (or -tas), go; go for a ta-ta. (Of a child) to go for a walk: (proletarian) nursery coll.: late C. 19-20. Ex ta-ta l, q.v.

Tab, the. The Metropolitan Tabernacle in Newington Causeway: London: late C. 19-20. Baumann.—2. Tab. A Cantab or Cambridge University man: coll.: from ca. 1910. S.O.D.—3. tab. (Gen. pl.) An ear: tailors': from ca. 1870.—4. An old maid; loosely, any oldish woman: theatrical (— 1909). Ware. Abbr. tabby, 1.—5. A staff officer: military: 1917; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex his red tabs. Cf. brass hat, which is much more usual.—6. A customer that, after giving an infinity of trouble, buys precisely nothing: drapers' and hosiers' (— 1935). Perhaps ex tab, v.—7. A cigarette: Northern: from ca. 1920. Also among grafters: witness P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

tab, v.i. (Of a customer) to give much trouble: drapery and kindred trades' (— 1935). Perhaps cf. tab, n., 4; perhaps ex keep (a) tab. Whence tabber, a customer hard to please.

tab, drive. 'To go out on a party of pleasure with a wife and family', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780-1830. Perhaps ex tabby, an old maid.

tab, keep (a); keep tabs. (V.t. only with on.) To keep watch, a check (on), a note of the doings (of a person): coll.: U.S. (from ca. 1880) anglicised ca. 1905. The form keep tabs is rare and specifically British. Not ex tab, a label or ticket, for this arises later, but perhaps by abbr. ex tablet.

tab-nabs. Cakes and/or pastries: nautical, esp. stewards' (— 1935). Prob: because they are mostly for the saloon—not for the crew or the steerage.

tabber. See tab, v.

tabby; occ. tabbie. An old maid: coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): 1761, G. Colman, 'I am not sorry for the coming in of these old tabbies, and am much obliged to her ladyship for leaving us to such an agreeable tête-à-tête'; Grose, 1st ed., 'Either from Tabitha, a formal antiquated name; or else from a tabby cat, old maids being often compared to cats'; Rogers.—2. Hence, a spiteful tattler: coll.: from ca. 1840. In C. 20, S.E. Cf. cat.—3. Loosely, any woman; mostly in tabby-party, a gathering of women: coll. (— 1874). H., 5th ed.—4. In C. 20, esp. in Australia, often 'girl', sweetheart.

tabby meeting. The May meeting of the evangelical party at Exeter Hall, London: London: ca. 1890-1905. Ware. Ex its old-maidishness.

tabefical is incorrect for tabifical, consumptive: C. 17. O.E.D.

table-cloth, the. A white cloud topping Table Mountain: South African, esp. Cape Town coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E.: from mid-1830's. In Addresses to the British and South African Association, 1905, we read that 'South-easters are of three kinds—(1) "Table-cloth" [also as n.: 1898] . . . , (2) "Blind" . . . , (3) "Black" south-easters': all these are coll. Pettman.

table-part. A role 'played only from the waist upwards, and therefore behind a table': theatrical coll.: C. 19-20. Ware.

tabloid. 'A small Sopwith biplane of high speed and rapid climbing powers': Air Force: 1917; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex its 'concentrated excellencies'.

tabs. See tab, 3; tab, keep (a).

tace is Latin for a candle! Be quiet; it'd be better for you to stop talking!: coll.: 1688, Shadwell, 'I took him up with my old repartee; Peace, said I, Tace is Latin for a candle'; Swift; Fielding; Grose, 2nd ed.; Scott; then in dial., occ. cat for candle. The pun is double: L. tace = be silent!; a candle is snuffed or otherwise extinguished. Cf. brandy is Latin for a goose, q.v. (Apperson.)

tach. A hat: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Via tah aspirated.

tachs. A fad: Tonbridge School: from ca. 1880. Ex tache, a trait, now dial.; cf. the Somersetshire tetch, a habit or gait.

tack. Foodstuff, esp. in soft tack, bread, and hard tack, ship's biscuit: orig. (ca. 1830). nautical. Marryat, soft tack, 1833 (O.E.D.). Cf. tackle, victuals, which is rather later. Prob. a sailor's pun on either tackle, cordage, or tack, a ship's (change of) direction, or ex dial. tack, cattle-pasture let on hire. The O.E.D. considers it S.E.; more prob., I think, nautical s. >, ca. 1860, coll. and then perhaps, in C. 20, S.E. Cf. tommy, q.v.—2. Hence, food (esp. cooked food) in gen.: coll.: late C. 19-20. Lyell, 'What a filthy looking restaurant! What ever [sic] sort of tack do they give you in this place?!'—3. A feast in one's study: Sherborne School: from ca. 1870.—4. Tact: sol.: mid-C. 19-20. See also tact.

tack, on the. Teetotal: military: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons. Ex tack, 1. Cf. tack wallah.

tack-on. The act of adding something; the thing added: coll.: 1905 (O.E.D.)

tack or sheet, will not start. Resolute; with mind firmly made up: nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Ex nautical j.

tack together. To marry: jocular coll.: 1754, Foote; ob.

tack wallah. A teetotaller: military: late C. 19-20. B. & P. Cf. tack, on the (q.v.).

tacked, have or have got (a person). From ca. 1870, but † by 1920: 'When a man has another vanquished, or for certain reasons bound to his service, he is said to have "got him tacked"', H., 5th ed. Cf. taped, q.v.

tackies. Rubber-soled sand-shoes: Eastern Province (South Africa) coll. (— 1913). Pettman. Prob. ex the marks left on, e.g., moist soil by the corrugations.

tacking, n. 'Obtaining end by roundabout means': lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. Ex nautical j., perhaps with a glance at tact.

tackle. A mistress: c.: 1688, Shadwell; B.E.; Grose. † by 1830. Prob., like the next, ex tackle, instruments, equipment.—2. Clothes: c. >, ca. 1840, nautical s.: late C. 17-19. B.E., 'Rum-tackle, . . . very fine Cloth[es]'; Grose, 1st ed.; H., 1st ed. Cf. rigging.—3. Orig. (Grose, 2nd ed.) a man's tackle, = the male genitals: late C. 18-20; ob.—4. Victuals: s.: 1857, T. Hughes, 'Rare tackle that, sir, of a cold morning', O.E.D.; slightly ob. In dial., it dates from mid-C. 18: witness E.D.D. Prob. suggested by tack, q.v.—5. A watch-chain, a red t. being a gold chain: c.: from late 1870's. Ex tackle, cordage, and frequently in combination with toy, a watch.

tackle, v. To lay hold of; encounter, attack, physically: coll.: orig. (— 1828), U.S., anglicised by 1840 at latest. Perhaps ex tackle, to harness a horse, influenced by attack.—2. Hence, to enter into a discussion, etc., with (a person), approach (a person on some subject): coll.: 1840, Dickens (O.E.D.); 1862, Thackeray, 'Tackle the lady, and speak your mind to her as best you can.'—3. Hence, to attempt to handle (a task, situation), or to understand or master (a subject); attack (a problem): coll.: 1847, FitzGerald (O.E.D.).—4. Hence, v.i., with to (1867, Trollope), to set to; or with, to grapple with (from late C. 19 and mainly dial.): O.E.D. and E.D.D.—5. V.t., ex senses 1 and 3: to fall upon (food), begin to eat, try to eat: coll.: 1889, Jerome K. Jerome, 'We tackled the cold beef for lunch,' O.E.D.

tacks. An artist's paraphernalia: artists' (— 1909). Ware. Ex tackle, equipment.

tact (sol., tack) !,—and that, Bill, is. A C. 20 c.p. based on the chestnut of the plumber explaining to his assistant that 'tact is when you find her ladyship in the bath and you get away quickly saying "Beg pardon, my lord".' Occ. and that is what they call tact.

taddler. A sausage: low (— 1923). Manchon. Perhaps tiddler corrupted or perverted.

tadger, tadging. See teach-gir.

Tadpole. A party-hack: political: middle 1880's; ob. Collinson. Gen. in the phrase Tadpoles and Tapers. Coined by Disraeli.

taepo. See taipo.

taf; taffy. Fat, adj.; fatty, n.: back s., 'near' back s.: from late 1850's. H., 1st ed. The latter is very ob.

taff. A potato: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1860. ? ex tatie or tatur.—2. (Taff.) A C. 19–20 abbr. (noted by Bowen) of:

Taffy. A Welshman: a coll. nickname dating from ca. 1680 though adumbrated in Harrison's England, where a Welshman is called a 'David'. Popularised by the old nursery-rhyme, 'Taffy was a Welshman, Taffy was a thief' (see interestingly the v. welsh). Also an 'inevitable' nickname of anyone with a Welsh name or accent: lower classes': mid-C. 19–20. Ex a (supposed) Welsh pronunciation of Davy. Cf. Paddy and Sawney.—2. taffy. See taf.

Taffy's Day. St David's Day (March 1): late C. 17–20. B.E. See Taffy.

tag. A lower servant, so called because he assists another (cf. S.E. tag after, to follow servilely): servants' s. (— 1857) > coll. Cf. corresponding pug. O.E.D.—2. An off-side kick: Winchester: from ca. 1840. Mansfield.—3. An actor: from ca. 1860; virtually † by 1900, † by 1910. Ex tags of speeches. Cf.:—4. The last line of a play, whether in prose or in verse: theatrical coll.: late C. 19–20. It is, Alfred Atkins tells me, considered unlucky to speak it at rehearsals.

Tag, der. See der Tag.

tag along. To go along; to go: C. 20. (James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934.) Perhaps ex tag (oneself) on to a person and go along with him. Cf.: tag around with. To frequent; follow about: C. 20. D. Sayers, 1933, 'He used to tag around with that de Momerie crowd.'

taihoa! Wait a bit!: New Zealand coll.: from ca. 1840. Direct ex Maori. Morris.

tail. The posteriors; fundament: C. 14–20: S.E. until ca. 1750, then (dial. and) coll.; in late C. 19–20, low coll.—2. The penis; more gen., the female pudend: mid-C. 14–20: S.E. until C. 18, then coll.; in C. 19–20, low coll.—3. Hence, a harlot: ca. 1780–1850; but extant in Glasgow. Grose, 1st ed., 'Mother, how many tails have you in your cab? how many girls have you in your nanny house?' Other derivatives—prob. not coll. before late C. 17 or early 18, all ob. except those marked †, and all drawn from F. & H.—are these:—Penis, †tail-pike, -pin, -pipe, -tackle, -trimmer, and †tenant-in-tail, which also = a whore; pudend, tail-gap, -gate, -hole. Also tail-feathers, pubic hair; †tail-fence, the hymen; †tail-flowers, the menses; †tail-fruit, children; tail-juice (or -water), urine or semen; tail-trading, harlotry; tail-wagging or -work, intercourse; cf. †make settlement in tail, go tail-tickling or -twitching, play at up-tails all, and, of women only, turn up one's tail, get shot in the tail; hot or †light or warm in the tail, (of a woman) wanton; but †hot-tailed or with tail on fire = venereally infected. These terms are not results of F. & H.'s imagination: most of them will be found in one or other of the following authors: Langland, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Rochester, Motteux, Ned Ward, Tom Brown, C. 18 Stevens and Grose.—4. 'The train or tail-like portion of a woman's dress': late C. 13–20: S.E. until C. 18, then coll. Bridges, 1774, 'Brimstones with their sweeping tails'. (O.E.D.).—5. A sword: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

tail, v.i., to coit: C. 18–20; ob.—2. V.t., to follow, as a detective a criminal: coll.: late C. 19–20. Perhaps ex Australian sense, tail (drive or tend) sheep or cattle.

tail, be—gen. shall or will be—on a person's. To look for, to pursue, a person with a view to punishing or severely scolding him: C. 20.

tail, cow's. A rope's end frayed or badly knotted: nautical coll.: from ca. 1860. Whence hanging in cow's (or cows') tails, of an ill-kept ship.

tail, get (one) on the; get on the tail of (someone). To attack an opponent in the rear: Air Force coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

tail!, kiss my. A contemptuous retort: C. 18–20; very ob.

tail, make settlement in, and tenant-in-tail (see tail, n., 2) constitute an indelicate pun on the legal S.E. tail (ex Fr. taille, assessment), limitation as to freehold or inheritance. K.W., 1661, has tenure in tail (O.E.D.)

tail, she goes as if she cracked nuts with her. A semi-proverbial c.p. applied to a frisky woman: C. 19–early 20.

tail, top over; tail over top. Head over heels: coll.: C. 14–20 (ob.): S.E. until mid-C. 18, then coll. See tail, n., 1.

tail-block. A watch: nautical (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex lit. nautical sense.

tail-board. The back-flap of a (gen. female) child's breeches: low: from ca. 1870. Ex the movable tail-board of a barrow, cart, van, etc.

tail-buzzer. A pickpocket: c. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Ex tail, the breech, + buz, to steal. Orig., it would seem, of a thief specialising in removing articles from hip-pockets. Cf.:

tail-buzzing. That kind of pickpocketry: c.: from ca. 1845. 'No 747.'

tail-drawer. A sword-stealer, esp. from gentlemen's sides: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. at tail drawers. Ex tail, n., last sense.

tail in the water, with. Thriving, prosperous: coll.: ca. 1850–1910. F. & H.

tail is up the turd is out,—as hasty as a sheep, as soon as the. A low, mostly rural, c.p. of ca. 1860–1920.

tail of, get on the. See tail, get on the.

tail off. To run or go off; to retire, withdraw: coll.: 1841, F. E. Paget, 'Mrs Spatterdash . . . tailed off at last to a dissenting chapel,' O.E.D., which cites from Rider Haggard (1885) the occ. variant tail out of it. Ware, 'From the tails of birds and animals being last seen as they retreat'.

tail-pulling. 'The publication of books of little or no merit, the whole cost of which is paid by the author', F. & H.: publishers': from late 1890's; ob. In contradistinction to the honourable publication of books of considerable merit and—to say the least of it—inconsiderable saleability. The former is practised only by sharks and amateurs, the latter by all.

tail-tea. 'The afternoon tea following royal drawing-rooms, at which ladies who had been to court that afternoon, appeared in their trains': Society: 1880–1901. Ware.

tail-twisting. The act of twisting the British lion's tail: political: 1889 (O.E.D.). Whence the rare tail-twist, v.i., and tail-twister.

tail up. A C. 20 c. variant of tail, v., 2. Edgar Wallace.

tail will catch the chin-cough, (e.g.) his. A c.p. applied to one sitting on the ground esp. if it is wet: ca. 1670–1800. Ray, 1678.

tailer. An exclamation on falling, or sitting, unexpectedly on one's behind: late C. 16–early 17. Shakespeare, Midsummer Night, II, i. Ex tail, n., 1, whence also:—2. Such a fall: C. 19–20; very ob.

tailor, v.t. To shoot at (a bird) so as to miss or, gen., to damage: sporting: 1889, Blackwood's Magazine (O.E.D.). Ex tailor's slashes.—2. V.i., to have dealings or run up bills with tailors: coll.: 1861, T. Hughes (O.E.D.); very ob. and never common.

tailor, the fag-end of a. A botcher: coll.: late C. 16–17.

tailoring, do a bit of. To 'sew up', q.v.: from ca. 1860; ob.

tailor's ragout. 'Bread sopt in the oil & vinegar in which cucumbers have been sliced', Grose, 3rd ed. (at scratch platter): ca. 1790–1850. See cucumber.

tailor's wound. A bayonet wound in the back: jocular military coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Such a wound being likened to the prick from a tailor's needle.

tails. A tail-coat, as opp. a jacket: coll.: 1888.—2. Esp. a dress-suit, esp. and properly the coat only: C. 20 coll.—3. Batmen completing a party of horsemen of high rank: New Zealand soldiers': in the G.W. Opp. the heads, those in authority: ex the game of two-up.

tails, charity. A tail-coat worn by a Lower School boy taller than the average: Harrow School: from 1890's. Ex tails, 1.

tails of the cat. A nautical coll. variant (— 1887; ob.) of cat-o'-nine-tails. Baumann.

tails up, in good spirits, often in the imperative; tails down, the reverse. C. 20 coll. (esp. military) on the verge of S.E. Ex the behaviour of dogs. F. & Gibbons.—Tails Up. Air Marshall Sir John Salmond: Air Force: from 1918. Ibid. Ex a statement made by him.

taint, 'tain't; also 'tan't. It is not: sol.: C. 19–20. See ain't.

taipo; occ. taepo. A vicious horse; as name for a dog: New Zealand coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Perhaps ex Maori: but see Morris.—2. Among Maoris, a s. term for a theodolite, 'because it is the "land-stealing devil"' (Morris). Ex taepo, Maori for a goblin.

Tait. A moderate clergyman: Church coll.: ca. 1870–80. Dr Tait, Archbishop of Canterbury (d. 1882), tried in vain to reconcile all parties in the Church of England. (Ware.)

taj. 'Ripping'; luscious: boys': ca. 1900–12. Ware. Ex Taj Mahal.

take. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 6.

take, v.i., To be taken: coll. and dial.: 1674, †took with child; 1822, took ill, the gen. form; occ. as in 1890, took studious, jocular. Ex be taken ill, etc. O.E.D.—2. V.t., followed by to do: to require (a person or thing of a stated ability, capacity, or nature) to do something: coll.: 1890, The Field, March 8, 'Any ignoramus can construct a straight line, but it takes an engineer to make a curve,' O.E.D.—3. V.i. To be a good (well) or bad (badly) subject for photographing: coll. (orig. photographers): 1889, B. Howard, 'The photographers . . . say a woman "takes" better standing,' O.E.D.—4. V.i., to hurt: Charterhouse: late C. 19–20. Ex a disease or an injection taking, i.e. taking effect.

take! All right; all correct!; certainly!: Canadian: C. 20. B. & P. Perhaps a perversion of jake; but cf. take eight!

take a Burford bait. To get drunk: C. 19 coll. ex C. 18–20 dial. Orig., to take a drink: coll.: ca. 1630–1780. 'Water-Poet' Taylor, 1636; Fuller, 1662; 1790, Grose in his Provincial Glossary. Apperson.

take a carrot! I don't care!: a low c.p. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann.

take a dagger and drown yourself! A theatrical c.p. retort: ca. 1860–1910. Ex old coll. phrase = to say one thing and do another, as in Ray, 1678.

take-a-fright. Night: rhyming s. (— 1859); slightly ob. H., 1st ed.

take a hair of the same dog. See hair.—take a pew. See pew.—take a pick. See pick, take a— take a running jump. See go and take.

take a sight. (Gen. as vbl.n.) As skipper, to engage a hand without knowing him: nautical (Canadian): C. 20. Bowen.

take a stagger. A more gen. form (— 1935) of do a stagger, q.v.

take a toss. To 'fall for' a person: coll.: C. 20.—2. As in Cecil Barr, It's Hard to Sin, 1935, 'In her set, the word adultery was not often mentioned. One went in off the deep end about somebody; one took a toss, one even dropped a brick; one slid off the rails.' Ex hunting.

take a trip. To give up a job: tradesmen's (— 1909). Ware: 'Followed by movement searching for a new situation'.

take a tumble (to oneself). See tumble, take a, and tumble to.

take a wrong sow by the ear. See sow.

take an earth-bath. See earth-bath.

take an oath. To take a drink: late C. 19–early 20. Cf. taking it easy.

take and . . . (Gen. imperative.) To go and (do something): lower class coll. C. 20 Manchon. Ex dial.

take and give. To live, esp. as man and wife: rhyming s. (— 1909). Ware.

take beef. To run away: c. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Cf. cry beef, q.v.

take (one's) Bradlaugh. To take one's oath: 1883—ca. 85. Charles Bradlaugh was 'intimately associated with the Affirmation Bill' (Ware).

take care of. To arrest: police coll. (— 1909). Ware. By meiosis.

take care of dowb. To look after 'No. 1': political, ca. 1855–60. Ware. ? cf. dial. dowb = dial. daub = dab, an expert.

take charge. See charge, take.

take corner-pieces off. See take off corner-pieces.

take-down. A gross deception; a swindle, trivial or grave: coll.: C. 20. Ex v., 2, q.v.—2. Hence, a thief, a cheat: Australian: from ca. 1910. Jice Doone.

take-down, v.t. To deceive grossly; to swindle: coll. (orig. Australian): 1895, The Melbourne Argus, Dec. 5, '[The defendant] accused him of having taken him down, stigmatised him as a thief and a robber.'—2. In Australian sporting s., 'to induce a man to bet, knowing that he must lose . . . To advise a man to bet, and then to "arrange" with an accomplice (a jockey, e.g.) for the bet to be lost . . . To prove superior to a man in a game of skill', Morris: from ca. 1895. From ca. 1920, coll.

take (one) down a peg or take a peg lower. See peg.

take eight! You've won!: a military c.p. of C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex points obtained at some game or other.

take (a person's) eye. To be appreciated by (a person): tailors' coll.: C. 20. E.g. The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.

take (a person) for. To impose on to the extent of (getting); to 'sting' for: low: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'Good kid that Molly even if she had taken him for a oncer' (£1).

take gruel. To die: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. Ex gruel as staple food in long illness among the poor.

take gruel together, we or they. We or they live together as man and wife: 1884, The Referee, Dec. 14; † by 1890. Ware. Ex a euphemism in a police-court case late in 1884.

take his name, sergeant-major(, take his name)! An Army c.p.: C. 20, though not gen. before the G.W. Ex the actual order so worded.

take-in. A (gross) deception, a swindle: 1778, Fanny Burney; H., 1st ed., 'Sometimes termed "a dead take in"' (†). Ex the v.—2. Hence, a person that, intentionally or not, deceives one: coll.: 1818, Blackwood's, 'There are . . . at least twenty take-ins . . . for one true heiress,' O.E.D.—3. Hence, occ. as adj. = deceptive: late C. 19–20.—4. A man that takes a woman in to dinner: coll.: 1898 (O.E.D. Sup.).

take in. To deceive, impose on, swindle: coll.: 1725, A New Canting Dict.; 1897, 'Pomes' Marshall, 'He was "dicky"', She was tricky—| Took him in, and cleared him out.' On draw in.—2. To believe or accept as 'gospel': coll.: 1864, 'The Undergraduates took it all in and cheered . . .', O.E.D.

take (a thing) in snuff. See snuff.

take in your washing! A nautical c.p. 'order to a careless boat's crew to bring fenders, rope's ends, etc., inboard': late C. 19–20. Bowen.

take it. See take the biscuit.

take it out, v.i. 'To undergo imprisonment in lieu of a fine', C. J. Dennis: low (? c.) Australian: C. 20.

take it out of that! Fight away!: London: ca. 1820–60. Bee, 'Accompanied by showing the elbow, and patting it'.

take-off. A mimic; a mimicking, caricature, burlesque: coll.: from ca. 1850. Ex:

take off. To mimic, parody; mock: coll.: 1750, Chesterfield (O.E.D.); 1766, Brooke, 'He . . . perfectly counterfeited or took off, as they call it, the real Christian.'

take off corner-pieces or take corner-pieces off. To beat or manhandle (esp. one's wife): low urban (— 1909). Ware.

take on. To show emotion; grieve, distress oneself greatly: C. 15–20: S.E. until early C. 19, then coll. and dial. Whyte-Melville, 1868, 'There's Missis walking about the drawing-room, taking-on awful': that it had, ca. 1820, > a domestic servants' word appears from Scott, 1828, 'Her sister hurt her own cause by taking on, as the maid-servants call it, too vehemently.'—2. To become popular, 'catch on': 1897, 'Ouida' (O.E.D.).—3. V.t., to engage (a person, or army) in a fight, a battle: coll.: C. 20. C. J. Dennis.

take on with. To take up with (a woman): proletarian coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex dial.

take one's hook. To decamp; run away: New Zealanders': C. 20. Ex sling one's hook.

take one's last drink. See last drink.

take one's teeth to. To begin eating (something) heartily: coll.: late C. 19–20.

take (e.g. energy) out of (a person) is S.E., but take it out of (him) is coll. when = to tire or exhaust him (1887) and when = to exact satisfaction from, have revenge on him (1851, Mayhew). Baumann; F. & H.; O.E.D.

take sights. See sights, take.

take that fire-poker out of your spine and the (or those) lazy-tongs out of your fish-hooks (hands)! A nautical c.p. of adjuration to rid oneself of laziness: late C. 19–20.

take the air. To fly: Air Force jocular coll.: from 1916. F. & Gibbons.

take the aspro. An Australian variant of take the cake: 1934; ob. Suggested by Aspro advertisements, esp. slogans.

take the biscuit. A variant (— 1923) of take the bun. Manchon notes also take it.

take the bun. See bun, take the. A lower-classes' variant of ca. 1900–14 is take the kettle (Ware).

take the cake. See cake, take the.

take the can back. To be reprimanded; see carry the can (back): nautical and military: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Perhaps ex illicit usage of its contents.—2. To be held responsible for a mishap: railwaymen's: from ca. 1919. The Daily Herald, Aug. 11, 1936.—3. To be imposed on: road-transport workers': from ca. 1925. Ibid. Cf. carry the can, q.v.

take the count. See count . . .

take the Huntley and Palmer. See Huntley and Palmer.—take the kettle. See take the bun.

take the number off the door. A c.p. of ca. 1895–1915, applied to a house where the wife is a shrew. Ware, 'The removal of the number would make the cottage less discoverable.'

take the stripes out. To remove, with acid, the crossing on a cheque: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach.

take the tiles off (the roof), enough (or sufficient) to. Extremely extravagant(ly): Society: ca. 1878–1910. Ware.

take too much. To drink too much liquor; drink liquor very often indeed: coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 19–20. Perhaps orig. euphemistic.

take to one's land-tacks. To go ashore for a spree: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

take-up. A point at which a passenger gets in: coachmen's and cabmen's coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

take up savings for. To do without (a thing): nautical: C. 20. Bowen.

take your washing in, Ma; here come(s) the (name of unit). A military c.p. addressed, on the line of march, by one unit to another: late C. 19–20. B. & P.

taker is a contemporaneous variant of taker-up, q.v. Greene, 1591. (In Barnard's law, q.v.)

taker-in. The agent of take in, v., 1: coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

taker-up. He who, in a gang of four swindlers, breaks the ice with, and 'butters up', the prospective victim: c. of ca. 1590–1620. Greene, 1591.

taking. Attractive, charming, captivating: C. 17–20: S.E. until early C. 19, then coll. Cf. taky.

taking any (occ. with object expressed), not to be. To be disinclined for: ca. 1900–10. The Daily News, March 10, 1900, 'In the language of the hour, "nobody was taking any".' Perhaps orig. of liquor. Now, and long, not having any.

taking it easy. Tippy: ca. 1880–1914. Perhaps ex take one's ease in one's inn, to enjoy oneself as if at home.

taky. 'Taking', q.v.: coll.; in C. 20, ob.: 1854, Wilkie Collins, 'Those two difficult and delicate operations in art technically described as "putting in taky touches, and bringing out bits of effect"', O.E.D. correcting F. & H.

tale, pitch a. To spin a yarn: coll.: late C. 19–20.

tale !, tell that for a. A c.p. indicative of incredulity: from ca. 1870.

tale, tell the. To tell a begging-story; to make love: C. 20.—2. To tell an incredible or a woeful tale; from ca. 1910. (Esp. among soldiers.)—3. Hence, to explain away (gen. one's own) military offences and delinquencies: military: from ca. 1914. B. & P.

tale-pitcher. A 'romancer': coll.: from ca. 1890. Ex tale, pitch a. talent, the. Backers of horses as opp. the book-makers: sporting coll. >, ca. 1910, j.: from the early 1880's. Clever because they make a horse a favourite.

Taliano. An Italian: mostly lower classes': C. 20. Ex It. Italiano.

talk. To talk about, discuss: late C. 14–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll.—2. (Of a horse) to roar: stable s. (— 1864) > coll. H., 3rd ed.—3. See talking and talks.

talk big or tall. To talk braggingly or turgidly: resp. coll. 1699, L'Estrange (O.E.D.); and s. (— 1888), orig. U.S. Coulson Kernahan, 1900, 'Public men who talk tall about the sacredness of labour'. Cf. tall, 1 and 2.

talk by a bow. To quarrel: London lower classes': ca. 1860–82. Ware.

talk it out. See talker, 2.—talk nineteen to the dozen. See nineteen . . .

talk the hind leg off a bird (Apperson), cow, dog, donkey (Baumann), horse (mainly dial.), jackass, etc.; or talk a bird's (etc.) hind leg off. To wheedle, to charm; to talk excessively, often with implication of successful persuasion: coll.: Cobbett, 1808 ('horse's hind leg'); Beckett, 1838, 'By George, you'd talk a dog's hind leg off.' In C. 20, often talk the leg off a brass pan (dial.) or saucepan (not brass s.).

talk through one's hat. See hat, talk . . . —talk through (the back of) one's neck. See neck, talk . . .

talk to. To rebuke, scold: coll.: 1878, W. S. Gilbert (O.E.D.). Ex lit. sense.—2. To discuss as being likely to reach (a certain figure or price): Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1920. 'Securitas' in Time and Tide, Sept. 22, 1934, 'Local loans are up to the new high level (post-war) of 93½, and are being talked to 100.'

talkee-talkee house, the. Parliament: London jocular (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. talky-talk.

talker. A horse that 'roars': stable s.: from ca. 1870. Ex talk, v., 2.—2. From ca. 1860, as in Howson & Warner, Harrow School, 1898, 'Then followed solos from those who could sing, and those who could not—it made no difference. The latter class were called talkers, and every boy was encouraged to stand up and talk it out.'

talkie, talky. (Gen. pl.) A moving picture with words: 1928 (S.O.D.): coll. >, by 1935, S.E. On movie, q.v.

talking !, now you're. Now you're saying something arresting, important, amusing: coll.: from ca. 1880. O.E.D. (Sup.).

talks, money. Money is might, influence: coll.: from ca. 1910. (O.E.D. Sup.) Prob. ex preceding.

talky-talk. Idle or pointless or trivial talk: coll.: C. 20. (O.E.D. Sup.) Cf. talkee-talkee house, q.v.

tall. (Of talk) grandiloquent, high-flown: coll.: 1670, Eachard, 'Tall words and lofty notions', O.E.D.—2. Hence, extravagant; exaggerated: U.S. (1844, Kendall): anglicised, esp. as tall talk (Baumann) or tall story, in the eighties; by 1920, coll.—3. (Very) large or big or (of speed) great or (of time) long: U.S. (ca. 1840); anglicised ca. 1860. "'Very tall" scoring' (in cricket), 1864 (Lewis); H., 5th ed.; 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'Her cheek was fairly "tall"'. Ex sense 1 or, more prob. (despite contradictoriness of earliest records), ex sense 2.—4. ? hence, excellent; first-rate: orig.—ca. 1840—and mainly U.S. Baumann, 1887, 'We had a tall time (of it)—wir hatten lustige Tage.' (Often hardly distinguishable from preceding sense.) tall, to talk. See talk big.

tall-men, tallmen. Dice so loaded as to turn up 4, 5 or 6: c. of late C. 16—early 17. Kyd, 1592 (O.E.D.). Cf. highmen.

tall order. See order.

tall ship is catachrestic when applied to a steamer: C. 20. Bowen.

tall 'un. A 'pint of coffee, half a pint being a short 'un': urban lower classes': late C. 19–20. Ware.

tall-water man. A blue-water (or deep-sea) seaman: nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

tallow, piss one's. See p. one's t.

tallow-breeched. With fat behind: C. 18—mid-19. Cf.:

tallow-gutted. Pot-bellied: low coll.: C. 18—mid-19.

tally. A name: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex tally, a mark, label, or tab.

tally, v.t. To reckon (that . . .): coll.: 1800 (O.E.D.); ob. Ex tally, to count.

tally, live (rarely on). To live in concubinage: chiefly mining districts (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex tally, a corresponding half or part of anything. Whence:

tally-husband or -man. A man living thus: from 1870's. On:

tally-wife or -woman. A woman living thus: resp. early 1860's (H., 3rd ed.) and late 1880's. Like preceding, mostly Northern. See tally, live.

tallywag; occ. tarriwag. The penis: late C. 18–20; ob., except in Derbyshire and Cheshire dial.—2. Gen. in pl., the testicles: resp. late C. 18–20 (Grose, 1st ed.) and C. 17–20 ('Water-Poet' Taylor; Grose; Beckett, 1838). ? origin, unless ex tally, the corresponding half, + (to) wag, v.i., an etymology that fits sense 1, since this sense derives ex sense 2.

tam; tammy. A tam-o'-shanter: from mid-1890's: coll. >, by 1900, S.E.

Tam of the Cowgate. Sir Thomas Hamilton, noted mid-C. 16 Scottish lawyer. Dawson.

tamarinds. Money: dispensing chemists' (— 1909). Ware. For semantics, cf. syrup, q.v.

tamaroo. Noisy: Anglo-Irish (— 1909). Ware. Cf. Erse tormánac, noisy.

tamasha. Anything entertaining or exciting; an entertainment, a display: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Ex Hindustani.

tame cat. 'A woman's fetch-and-carry': coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex S.E. sense.

tame jolly. See jolly, n. (naval sense).—tammy. See tam.

tamtart. A girl: c.: 1845, in 'No. 747'. A perversion of jam tart or possibly its original.

tan; tan one's hide. To beat severely; to thrash: resp. s., mid-C. 19–20 (H., 1859); and coll., mid-C. 17–20. Mrs Henry Wood, 1862, 'The master couldn't tan him for not doing it.' Ex hide, human skin, + tan, to treat it.—2. Hence, to overwork (a means of livelihood): grafters': C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

tandem. 'A two wheeled chaise, buggy, or noddy, drawn by two horses, one before the other', Grose, 1st ed.: s. >, ca. 1820, coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E. Prob. university wit, ex tandem, at length, so frequent in L. classical authors (esp. Cicero).—2. A pair of carriage horses thus harnessed: 1795, W. Felton (tandum, an erroneous form: O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1820, coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E.—3. Ex sense 1, influenced by sense 2, as adv.: one behind the other: 1795 (O.E.D.): same evolution of status.—4. As adj., long: Cambridge University: ca. 1870–90. Ware, 'Used in speaking of a tall man'.

Tangerines or Tangierines, the. The 2nd Foot Regiment >, in late C. 19, the Queen's (Royal West Surrey).—2. The 4th Foot > the King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regt.). Both, military: ? C. 17–20; ob. These regiments were raised to defend Tangiers, part of the dowry of Charles II's wife.—3. See:

Tangier. 'A room in Newgate, where debtors were confined, hence called Tangerines', Grose, 3rd ed.: c. or low s. of ca. 1785–1840.

tangle-foot. Whiskey: U.S. (— 1860), partly anglicised ca. 1900. Ex effect.

tangle-monger. One 'who fogs and implies everything': Society: ca. 1870–1905. Ware.

tank. Incorrect abbr. of copped tank: late C. 17– early 18. O.E.D.—2. A safe: New Zealand o. (— 1932). Ex its resemblance to a small cubic tank.—3. A wet canteen: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

tank, v. To cane: King Edward's School, Birmingham: from ca. 1870. Ex dial. tank, a blow.

tank up. To drink much liquor: U.S. (ca. 1900), anglicised ca. 1916, esp. in the Army. O.E.D. (Sup.); F. & Gibbons. Cf. tanked.

tankard, tears of the. Liquor-drippings on a waistcoat: coll.: ca. 1670–1830. Ray, 1678; B.E., and Grose at tears. (Apperson.)

tanked. Tipsy: from early 1917. Prob. ex tank, n., 3; perhaps suggested by canned, q.v., though the term may have originated among soldiers with the floundering of the tanks in the mud of Flanders and Picardy in late 1916–early '17. ('Tanks first went into action at Pozières ridge, Sep. 5, 1916,' W.)

tanker. A steamer fitted for carrying tanks of oil: 1900: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. (O.E.D. Sup.)

tanky. The foreman of the hold, 'which looks like a tank' (Ware): naval (— 1909).—2. The navigator's assistant: naval: from ca. 1912. Bowen. Because responsible for the fresh water.

tanned, ppl.adj. Beaten (severely), thrashed: perhaps as early as 1860. Ex tan.

tanner. A sumpce: low (— 1811) >, ca. 1870, gen. s. Lex. Bal.; Dickens, 1844. Etymology problematic: H., 1st ed., suggests Gypsy tawno, young, hence little; in 2nd ed., L. tener. But see the note at simon, 1.—2. Whence tannercab, a sixpenny cab (1908, O.E.D.) and tannergram, a telegram (when, early in 1896, the minimum cost was reduced from 1s. to 6d.); both terms † by 1920, the telegram-rate having been raised to ninepence during the War and to one shilling in 1920. The return, in 1936, of the sixpenny telegram has not revived the term.

tanner and skin. Money: tanners': ca. 1855–1900. H., Introduction.

tanning. A thrashing: mid-C. 19–20. Ex preceding, q.v. Cf. tanned.

tanny. A mid-C. 19 variant of teeny. H., 1st ed. tansnear. B.E.'s misprint for transnear.

[Tant, Tantest. 'Mast of a Ship or Man, Tall, Tallest', B.E. This cryptic entry should read: 'Tant, Tantest. Of a Ship's-mast or of a Man: Tall, Tallest.' It is a nautical adj., gen. spelt taunt.]

'tan't. See taint.—tantadlin, tautaublin. See tantoblin.—tantarum. See tantrum.

Tantivy. A post-Restoration true-blue Tory or High Churchman: ca. 1680–1740, but esp. ca. 1681–89. G. Hickes, The Spirit of Popery, 1680–1; B.E., ' . . . Or Latitudinarians a lower sort of Flyers, like Batts, between Church-men and Dissenters'; Swift, 1730. Ex a caricature representing High Church clerics 'riding tantivy' to Rome, and partly; a satire on the hunting parson and squire. O.E.D., F. & H.—2. (tantivy.) Incorrect as imitative of the sound of a horn: C. 18–20. Ex tantivy as imitation of galloping feet. O.E.D.—3. Likewise as imitative of flourish of a horn: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed.

Tantivy-Boy; t.-b. Same as Tantivy (1), q.v.: ca. 1690–1710. Motteux; B.E.

tantoblin; tantadlin (tart). A lump of excrement: s. and dial.: resp. 1654, Gayton: 1785. Grose (t. tart). † by ca. 1840. Ex tantablin, etc., a tart or round pasty: extant in dial. In C. 17. occ. tautaublin.

tantrems. 'Pranks, capers, or frolicking', H., 1st ed.: coll. or s.: ca. 1850-1910. Ex tantrums, q.v., + the dial. senses of the same + the occ. dial. spelling tantrim. (H. thought tantrum distinct from:)

tantrum; occ., though in C. 20 very ob., tan-tarum; in H., 1st ed., tantrum. (Gen. in pl.) A display of petulance; a fit of anger: coll.: 1748, Foote, 'I am glad here's a husband coming that will take you down in your tantrums'; Grose, 1st ed.; Reade. Possibly, as H., 2nd ed. (though actually of tantrems), suggests, ex the tarantula (1693, O.E.D.), properly tarantella (not till 1782?), a rapid, whirling Italian dance; but perhaps rather ex the cognate tarantism, that hysterical malady which expresses, or tends to express, itself in dancing frenziedly, for tarantism, recorded ca. 1640, might easily be corrupted to tant(a)rums, the singular not appearing before C. 19. Less prob. ex trantran, a tantara, for it does not occur in C. 18. Much, much less prob. ex:—2. (Frequent in singular.) The penis: 1675, Cotton in The Scoffer Scofft; app. † by 1800. Possibly cognate with North Country tantril (a vagrant, a Gypsy), recorded as early as 1684 (E.D.D.); cf. the later G.W. dial. tantrum-bolus, a noisy child, —which, however, is presumably ex tantrum, 1.—3. See tantrems.

tanyard, the. The poor-house: Caithness s., not dial.: ca. 1850-80. Pejorative. E.D.D., 'Very common for some years after the Poor Law Act, 1845. The paupers had the greatest aversion to indoor relief and called the Poorhouse by this name.'

taoc, toac; tog (not properly back s.) A coat: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed., has also taoc-tisaw, a waistcoat; F. & H., 1904, adds taoc-ittep, a petticoat. The correct form, taoc, app. appears first in H., 3rd ed., 1864; and H., 1874, notes that "'Cool the delo taoc'" means, "Look at the old coat," but is really intended to apply to the wearer as well.

tap. A tap-house or -room: s. (— 1725) >, early in C. 19, coll. A New Canting Dict., 1725; T. Hughes, 1857.—2. 'Liquor drawn from a particular tap': from ca. 1620, though not certainly recorded before 1832; fig., however, used in 1623, 'A Gentleman of the first Tappe' (cf. of the first water). O.E.D., both senses.—3. A wound: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.—4. A sunstroke: Regular Army's: C. 20. Cf. doolally tap.

tap, v.i. To spend, pay up, freely: ca. 1712-20. Addison; Steele. Semantics, 'to "turn on the tap" of gifts', O.E.D.—2. V.t., to broach, in these s. senses: tap a guinea, to change it (Grose, 2nd ed.), † by 1890; tap a house, to burgle it (late C. 19-20, ob.); tap a girl, to deflower her (Grose, 2nd ed.), —in C. 19-20, often tap a judy; tap one's claret (1823, 'Jon Bee'), to make one's nose bleed, tap by itself occurring in Dickens, 1840 (O.E.D.) but ob. by 1900, † by 1930; tap the admiral, see admiral.—3. To arrest; also tap (one) on the shoulder (implied in Grose, 1st ed., 'a tap on the shoulder, an arrest'): coll.; resp. † by 1890, and ob.—4. See tap for.

tap, do the. To win at cards: military: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons. Prob. ex:

tap, get the. To obtain the mastery: tailors': from ca. 1870.

tap, on the. Begging for money: c. (— 1933). Charles E. Leach. Cf.:

tap (a person) for. To ask (him) for (money): C. 20. Suggested by sting, 2; ex tap, to hit, —therefore contrast tap, v., 1, q.v.

tap-lash. A publican: coll.: ca. 1648-1750. Ex t.-l., inferior beer.

tap on the shoulder, n., and v. See tap, v., third sense.—tap one's claret. See tap, v., 2.

tap the Admiral, he would. He'd do anything for a drink: naval: late C. 19-20. Bowen, 'From the old naval myth that when Lord Nelson's body was being brought home seamen contrived to get at the rum in which it was preserved'. Cf. tap, v., 2, q.v.

Tap-Tub, the. The Morning Advertiser: ca. 1820-80: book-world. Bee, 1823, 'Because that print catcheth the drippings of yesterday's news, and disheth it up anew'; H., 1864, 'So called by vulgar people [because it] is the principal organ of the London brewers and publicans. Sometimes termed The Gin and Gospel Gazette.'

tape. Strong liquor: c. (— 1725) >, ca. 1840, (low) s. A New Canting Dict.—2. Occ. gin: from ca. 1820; H., 1859, having 'tape, gin, —term with female servants', and Egan's Grose quoting from Randall's Scrap Book. Gen., however, white tape (1725) is gin, as occ. is † Holland tape (1755) and rarely † blue t. (1735, Grose); red tape (1725) is brandy; loosely (as in Grose, 1st ed.), red, white, blue t., any spirituous liquor. For semantics, cf. ribbon, q.v.—3. Sending messages by 'tic-tac men' (q.v.): turf: ca. 1885-1910. MS. note in B.M. copy of H., 5th ed.

tape-worm. An official collecting prices of stock for transmission on the tape: Stock Exchange: not before 1884. Punning the parasite. Cf. ticker, an account.—2. A speculator constantly watching the price-tape: id.: from not later than 1923. Man-chon.

taped, be; gen. have or have got (one) taped. In these phrases, taped = sized-up; detected; so seen-through as to be rendered incapable of harm, mischief, etc.: orig. (1916), military >, ca. 1920, gen. B. & P.; Lyell. Ex tape, to measure (something) with a tape—on tacked, have one, q.v.—with esp. reference to the Engineer-laid tapes along which the Infantry lay waiting for the signal to attack when there was no trench or sunken road convenient as a jumping-off place.—2. Hence, from ca. 1920, taped often = arranged, or settled, as in Ronald Knox, The Body in the Silo, 1933, 'Let's get the whole thing taped.' Also taped up (G. D. H. & M. Cole, 1927).

Taper. A 'seeker after profitable office': political: 1897, The Daily Telegraph, April 27; ob. Ware. Ex red tape. Cf. Tadpole, q.v.

taper, v.t. To give over gradually; v.i., to run short: from late 1850's. H., 1st ed. Ex:

taper, adj. (Of supplies, money) decreasing: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.); ob. Lit., (becoming) slender (cf. slender chance). Cf. also the later thin (time, etc.). See, too, taper, run: Addenda.

taper off, v.i. To leave off gradually; esp. to lessen gradually the amount and/or strength of one's drink: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex taper, v., q.v.

tapes, on the. Ready to commence: military coll.: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. For semantics see taped, be.

tapis, on the. Possible; rumoured: diplomatic coll. (— 1909) verging on S.E. Ware.

tapped. Eccentric; slightly mad: military: C. 20. B. & P. Cf. cracked and S.E. touched.

tapper (C. 19); shoulder-tapper (ca. 1780-1910). A bailiff; a policeman. Grose, 1st ed.; F. & H. Prob. on much earlier shoulder-clapper, q.v. Ex tap, v., 3.—2. One who broaches casks of wine or spirits and drinks therefrom with a straw: low coll. (— 1923). Manchon.—3. A beggar: Glasgow (— 1934). Ex tap for. Also tramps' c. (— 1936). W. A. Gape, Half a Million Tramps. tapping, vbl.n. Begging: Glasgow (— 1934). Ex tap for.

tappy, on the. Under consideration: mid-C. 19–20: low coll. Ex Fr. tapis, carpet, imm., however, ex the S.E. (up) on the tapis.

taps. The ears: ? mid-C. 18–mid-19. Because they tap conversation. F. & H.

Tapsky. Lord Shaftesbury. Cf. Shiftesbury; see Old Tony. Dawson.

tar. A sailor: coll.: 1676, Wycherley, 'Dear tar, thy humble servant'; Dibdin in Tom Bowling, 1790; Macaulay, 1849. Abbr. tarpaulin, q.v. Cf. tarry-brecks.

tar, lose a ship. . . See sheep, lose a.

tar-box. A heavy shell, with esp. reference to its burst (see the more gen. coal-box): military: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

tar-brush. A tarboosh: among wanderers, esp. in India (— 1886). Ex Hindustani ex Persian sarposh, lit. head-cover. Yule & Burnell.

tar out. To punish, 'serve out': coll.: ca. 1860–1910. H., 3rd ed. Cf. S.E. tar on, but perhaps suggested by tar and feather. Cf.:

tar out of, beat the. To thrash soundly: from ca. 1920. Michael Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935.

tar-tar. A rare † variant of ta-ta, q.v.

taradiddle. See tarradiddle.

taradiddler. A fibber: 1880 (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1900, coll.; ob. Ex preceding.

tarantula. Incorrect for, but perhaps orig. form of, tarantella.

tardy. Late with, at, in doing; e.g. 'I was tardy task,' I was late with my work: Winchester College: mid-C. 19–20. Also tarde.

tare an' ouns! An Anglo-Irish oath: C. 19–20. Ware. Corruption of tears and wounds (of Christ).

tare and tret. 'City bon-ton for—a Rowland for an Oliver', Bee: ca. 1820–50. Ex t. and t., 'the two ordinary deductions in calculating the net weight of goods to be sold by retail', O.E.D.

taring. See tearing. C. 17–early 18.

tarmac, on the. 'Detailed for flying duty': Air Force: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Ex 'the tarmac . . . laid down in front of a hangar'.—2. Hence, tarmac = any landing ground: R.A.F. (— 1935). Less gen. than synonymous deck.

tarnal. 'Confound': dial. >, early in C. 19, low coll.; mostly U.S. Ex eternal.

tarnation, n., damnation; adj., adv., 'confounded(ly)': late C. 18–20: rather illiterate coll. and mostly U.S. Ex damnation (cf. darnation), the adj. and adv. being influenced by tarnal.

tarp or Tarp. An ecclesiastical (Anglican) c.p., of ca. 1920 onwards, 'used of those ministrants who take the Ablutions immediately after the Communion instead of after the Blessing' (R. Ellis Roberts, in private letter of Oct. 18, 1933). I.e. 'take Ablutions in right place'.

tarpaulin; occ., though not after ca. 1850, tar-pawlin. A sailor: coll.: 1647, Cleveland; Bailey, 1725; Stevenson, 1893 (O.E.D.); Frank C. Bowen, 1930, 'A practical seaman, particularly applied when appointments went by favour rather than by merit.' In C. 20, only archaic; ob., indeed, by 1870. Tar much used by sailors. Cf. tar and tarry-brecks; also Jack tar.

tarpaulin muster. A fore-castle collection of money, esp. to buy liquor: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. The money is thrown on to a tarpaulin.

tar(r)adiddle. A lie, esp. a petty one: from ca. 1790: s. >, in mid-C. 19, coll.; by 1930, slightly ob. Grose, 3rd ed. (tara-.). On diddle, the tar(r)a-being problematic: cf. tarrywags (at tallywag) and tara!, an exclamation used by Dryden. Hence:

tar(r)adiddle, v.i. To tell fibs: coll. (— 1916). O.E.D.—2. V.t., to hoax, impose on, bewilder, by telling lies: s. >, by late C. 19, coll.; by 1930, ob.: 1828, The Examiner, 'His enemies . . . squibbed . . . and taradiddled him to death,' O.E.D. Cf. the ob. dial. taradiddled, puzzled, bewildered.

tarriwag. See tallywag.

tarry-brecks, -jacket, -John. A sailor: coll. jocular nicknames: resp. orig. (1785, Forbes), Scottish; 1822, Scott (O.E.D.); 1888, Stevenson (ib.): second and third, † by 1930; first, ob. by 1920. According to Bowen, 'a naval ranker officer' in C. 17. Cf. tar and tarpaulin, qq.v.

tars or Tars. Shares in the Tharsis Copper Mining Company: Stock Exchange (— 1895). A. J. Wilson's glossary.

tart. A girl or woman (but if old, always old tart): from early 1860's. Orig. endearingly and of chaste and unchaste alike; but by 1904 (F. & H.) only of fast or immoral women,—a tendency noted as early as 1884 (Ware); by 1920—except in Australia (where, from before 1898, it = a sweetheart and where it is still applied also to any girl)—only of prostitutes. H., 3rd ed. (1864), 'Tart, a term of approval applied by the London lower orders to a young woman for whom some affection is felt'; The Morning Post, Jan. 25, 1887; Baumann, 1887, 'My tart—mein Schätzchen'; in late 1880's, the occ. diminutive tartlet (Barrère & Leland); 'Pomes' Marshall, 1896; above all, F. & H.; B. & P. Ex the idea of sweetness in a woman and a jam-tart: cf. sweetness as a term of address.—2. The young favourite of one of the older boys; not necessarily a catamite: Scottish Public Schools': C. 20. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935. Whence tarting, this practice.

tartar; T. (Properly Tatar. 'The r was inserted in mediæval times to suggest that the Asiatic hordes who occasioned such anxiety to Europe came from hell (Tartarus), and were the locusts of Revelation ix,' The Century Dict.) A thief, strolling vagabond, sharper: c.: 1598, Shakespeare, 'Here's a Bohemian Tartar'; B.E.; † by 1780. Abbr. Tartarian, q.v.—2. An adept: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed., 'He is quite a tartar at cricket, or billiards.' Ex to catch a Tartar. Cf. hot stuff, q.v.

Tartar, catch a. 'Said, among the Canting Varlets, when a Rogue attacks one that he thinks a Passenger, but proves to be of [the 59th order of rogues], who, in his Turn, having overcome the Assailant, robs, plunders, and binds him,' A New Canting Dict., 1725: c.: C. 18. Ex tartar, 1.

Tartarian. A strolling vagrant; a thief; a sharper or swindler: c.: though prob. from 1590's, not recorded before 1608, The Merry Devil of Edmonton; † by 1690. Nares. Ex Tartarian, a native of Central Asia, the home of a warlike race.

tarting. See tart, 2. tartlet. See tart, 1. (After ca. 1910, rare and 'literary'.) tassel. An undergraduate: university s. of ca. 1828-40. Because his cap has a tassel. Cf. tuft, q.v.—2. See pencil and tassel.

Tassy, Tassie. (Pronounced Tazzy.) Tasmania: Australian coll.: from ca. 1890.—2. Hence, in C. 20, a Tasmanian. Cf. the two senses of Aussie.

taste, a, adv. A little; slightly: coll.: 1894, Hall Caine, 'Nancy will tidy the room a taste,' O.E.D. (Cf. a bit used adverbially.) In Anglo-Irish, it dates from the 1820's (E.D.D.).

taste of the creature. See creature.

taste the sun. To enjoy the sunlight: Cockneys': ca. 1877-1900. Ware. Cf. see the breeze.

taster. 'A portion of ice-cream served in a [taster or] shallow glass': coll.: from ca. 1890. Ware.

tastey; properly tasty. Appetising: from ca. 1615: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. Buckle, ca. 1862, 'A tasty pie'.—2. Hence, pleasant, attractive: from mid-1790's: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll.; ob. except where it merges with senses 1 and 4.—3. Elegant: from ca. 1760: S.E. until ca. 1870, then coll.; rare in C. 20.—4. Hence, of the best: late C. 19-20: coll. verging on s. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'He's fond of something tasty . . . me and him was spliced last Monday week'.—5. (Ex sense 1.) Sexually alluring, 'spicy': from 1890's: s. rather than coll.; slightly ob. Whiting, 1899, 'Nice and tastey, observes my friend . . . as he points to a leg that seems to fear nothing on earth . . . not even Lord Campbell's Act.'

tasty-looking. Appetising: coll.: from mid-1860's. Ex tasty, 1, q.v.

tat. See tats.—2. A rag; esp. an old rag: c.: 1839, Brandon; 1851, Mayhew. Hence, milky tats, white rags or linen (Brandon). Ex tatter.—3. Abbr. tattoo, a pony (esp. for polo): Anglo-Indian coll. (1840) >, by 1910, S.E. Yule & Burnell. Also tatt.

tat, v.i. To gather rags, be a rag-gatherer: c.: 1851, Mayhew. Prob. ex tat, n., 2.—2. V.t., to thrash, flog: low s. (— 1812); † by 1890. Vaux. Ex dial. tat, to pat or tap.

tat-box. A dice-box: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex tats, q.v. Cf.:

tat-monger; tatogey. A sharper using loaded dice: c.: resp. late C. 17-20, ob. (Shadwell, 1688, and Grose, 1st ed.); late C. 19-20 (F. & H.). Ex tats, q.v.; but what is the second element of tatogey? Perhaps bogey or it may be F. & H.'s mistake.

tat-shop. A gambling-den: c. (— 1823). Egan's Grose. See tats.

tata. See ta-ta 1, 2, and ta-ta's, go.

tater, 'tatur. A potato: dial. and low coll.: C. 19-20. Cf. tatie, tatto.

tater (etc.), on for a. Fascinated; esp. of a man by a barmaid: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. I.e. ready for a tête-à-tête.

tater l, s'elp my. The earliest form (— 1860) of taters l, s'welp my: see swelp. H., 2nd ed. A variation is s'elp my greens l. For hidden sense, see strain one's taters.

tater, settle a person's. To thrash him: proletarian (— 1923). Manchon.

tater-and-point. A meal of potatoes: low coll.: mid-C. 19-20. See point.

tater-skying. A game in which one throws potatoes up in the air and returns them, with a toss from the top of one's head, to one's opponent: proletarian coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

tater-trap. The mouth: low: 1838, Beckett; 1856, Mayhew. See tater.

taters, settle one's. To settle one's hash: low s. (and Shropshire dial.): late C. 19-20; ob. On settle one's hash. Contrast tater, settle. . .

taters, strain one's. See strain one's taters.—taters l, s'welp my. See tater, s'elp my, and swelp.

tatie, 'tato. A potato: dial. and low coll.: C. 19-20. Cf. tater, q.v.

taties in the mould. Cold (adj.): rhyming s.: late C. 19-20. John o' London's Weekly, June 9, 1934.

tatler. See tattler.—'tato. See tatie.

tatol. A tutor in Commoners: Winchester College: from ca. 1870. It looks like a corrupted-ending blend of 'tutor' and 'Commoners', perhaps punning (a) tattle.

tats, tatts. Dice; esp. false dice: c.: 1688, Shadwell; Grose, 1st ed.; Henley, 1887, 'Rattle the tats, or mark the spot.' Perhaps ex tat, to touch lightly: cf. tat, v., 2.

tats and all! Same as bender l, q.v.: c.: ca. 1810-50. Vaux. Ex preceding: cf. some hopes!

tat's-man; tatsman. A dicer, esp. if sharpening: c.: 1825, Westmacott (O.E.D.). Ex tats.

tatt. See tat, n., 3.—tatt-box, -monger, -shop. See tat-box, etc.

Tattenham Corner. 'The narrow water-way entrance into the Firth of Forth from May Island to Inchkeith, where German submarines constantly lurked, always passed by the British Fleet at full speed': a Grand Fleet nickname: 1915; now only historical. F. & Gibbons. The allusion is to a famous corner on a famous English race-course.

tatter. A rag-gatherer: c.: from ca. 1860. Ex tat, v., 1. Also tatterer; from the early 1890's.

tatter, v.i. To collect rags; be a rag-gatherer: c.: from ca. 1860. ? ex tat, n., 2.—2. As a variant of toter, it is incorrect—and rare.—3. V.t., in tatter a kip, to wreck a brothel: 1766, Goldsmith; † by 1830.

tatterdemal(l)ion. 'A tatter'd Beggar, sometimes half Naked, with Design to move Charity, having better Cloaths at Home', A New Canting Dict., 1725: c.: C. 18. Ex lit. S.E. sense.

tatterer. See tatter, n.

tattie. A potato: dial. and low coll., mostly Scots: C. 19-20. Cf. tatie.

tattle. An occ. C. 18-mid-19 variant, as in A New Canting Dict., 1725, of:

tattler; occ. tatler. 'An Alarm, or Striking Watch, or (indeed) any', B.E.: c.: 1688, Shadwell; slightly ob. The origin is explained by B.E.'s definition. Hence, flash a tattler, to wear a watch (late C. 18-20), and speak to a tattler (1878) or nim a t. (— 1859), to steal one.

tatto. A potato: dial. and low coll., mostly Scots: C. 19-20. Cf. tattie.

tatts. See tats.—tatty tog. See tog, n.—tatulette. A rare error for tatou, an armadillo. O.E.D.—tatur. See tater.

taut hand. A first-class working rating that gives no, or very little, trouble: naval: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Ex t.h., a strict disciplinarian. Opp. bird (naval sense).

tavarish. A comrade: North Russia Expeditionary Force coll. F. & Gibbons. Direct ex Russian.

Tavern, the. New Inn Hall: Oxford University: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede'; exceedingly ob., for the Hall did not survive the century of its foundation. By pun and ex its buttery open throughout the day.

tavern-bitch has bit him in the head, the. Ho is drunk: C. 17. Middleton, 1608 (Apperson). Prob. the first form of:

tavern-fox, hunt a. To get drunk: coll.: 1630, 'Water Poet' Taylor; † by 1700. On swallow a tavern-token, q.v., but ex tavern-bitch . . .

taw, I'll be one—or a marble—(up)on your. A threat (= 'I will pay you out!') derived ex the game of marbles, taw being the large and gen. superior marble with which one shoots: coll.: resp. from late 1780's and early 1800's; † by 1890, except among schoolboys. Grose, 2nd ed.: Vaux; H., 5th ed.

tax-collector. A highwayman: a ca. 1860–90 variant of collector, q.v.

tax-fencer. A disreputable shopkeeper: low London: 1878; ob. Ware. Ex avoidance of taxes.

tax-gatherer. See gather the taxes.

taxes, the. The tax-collector: coll.: 1874, W. S. Gilbert (O.E.D.).

taxi; occ. taxy, rare after 1909. Abbr. taximeter: 1907 (O.E.D.): coll. and ob.—2. Abbr. taxi-cab: 1907 (ibid.): coll. >, ca. 1933, S.E. (Late in 1934, the latter sense was received into standard Fr.)

taxi. To go by taxi-cab: coll.: from ca. 1915. Ex taxi, n., 2.

taxi (†taxy)-driver, -man. A driver of a taxi-cab: resp. coll. (1907) >, ca. 1934, S.E., and coll. (1909), id. O.E.D. Ex taxi, n., 2.—2. (taxi-driver.) An aeroplane pilot: Air Force: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

taxi-duty, on. (Of the destroyers of the Dover Patrol) 'employed ferrying politicians, etc., across to France': naval: 1916–18. Bowen.

Tay Pay. T. P. O'Connor: nickname in late C. 19–20; ob. Ex Irish pronunciation of T. P.

tayle; tayle-drawer. See tail, n., last sense, and tail-drawer.

tea. A spirituous liquor: from ca. 1690. Sometimes defined: cold tea, brandy (1693); Scotch tea, whiskey (1887). Ex the colour. O.E.D.—2. Urine: 1716, Gay; implied by Grose, 1st ed., in tea-volder; † by 1860.—3. See ticket, be a person's.

tea, v.t. To supply with, or entertain at, tea: coll. 1812, Sir R. Wilson.—2. Hence, to drink tea, have one's tea: coll.: 1823 (O.E.D.); Dickens, 1839, 'Father don't tea with us.'

tea and a wad. See wads, 2.

tea-and-toaststruggle. A Wesleyan tea-meeting: lower classes' coll. (—1909). Ware. On tea-fight.

tea and turn out. A proletarian c.p. of ca. 1870–1905 applied to absence of supper. Ware.

tea-blow. A taxi-cab rank where refreshments can be obtained: taxi-drivers': from ca. 1926. Ex blow, n., 8.

tea-boat. A cup of tea: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

tea-bottle. An old maid: lower middle classes' (—1909). Ware. Ex fondness for tea.

tea-cake or -cakes. 'A child's seat or fundament': Yorkshire s. (—1904), not dial. E.D.D.

Tea-Chest, the. H.M.S. Thetis: naval: early C. 20. Bowen. Ex attempted substitution of tea for rum.

tea-chop. A Chinese tea lighter (boat): nautical coll.: ca. 1860–1900. Bowen.—2. Pl., the Chinese watermen loading the tea clippers: id.: id. Ibid.

tea-cup and saucer. A very respectable, middle-class play: theatrical: 1880–ca. 95. Baumann.

tea-fight. A tea-party: 1849, Albert Smith (O.E.D.): s. >, ca. 1880, coll. Occ. tea-scramble (C. 20: Manchon) and tea-shine, q.v.

tea-kettle groom. A groom that has to work also in the kitchen, etc.: low (—1887). Baumann.

tea-kettle purger. A total abstainer: London lower classes' (—1909). Ware. Punning tee-totaller. Cf. tea-pot.

tea in China. See China, not for all the tea in.

tea-leaf. A thief: c. (from ca. 1905) >, by 1930, low s. Edgar Wallace.

tea-man, teaman. A prisoner entitled to a pint of tea, instead of gruel, every evening: c.: from ca. 1870; ob.

tea-party. See Boston tea-party, q.v.—2. Hence, a lively proceeding: 1903 (O.E.D.).

tea-party ribbons. 'The multi-coloured ribbons on some (usually non-combatant) officers' breasts': Army officers': from 1916. B. & P. (Cf. C. E. Montague's 'Honours Easy' in Fiery Particles.)

tea-pot. Same as tea-kettle purger, q.v.: same period and status. Ware.—2. A tea-party: universities': ca. 1880–1900. Ware.

tea-pot lid(ding). To 'kid' (pretend); 'kid-ding': rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. John o' London's Weekly, June 9, 1934.

Tea-Room Party. A group of forty-eight Radicals in: Parliament: 1866. (Coll. rather than s.) They met in the tea-room. Ware.

tea-scramble. See tea-fight and:

tea-shine. A 'tea fight' (q.v.): coll.: 1838, Mrs Carlyle (O.E.D.); † by 1890.

tea-spoon. £5000: commercial: the 1860's and '70's. H., 3rd to 5th edd.

tea-tree oneself; be tea-treed. See ti-tree oneself.

tea-volder. A chamber-pot: ca. 1780–1890. Grose, 1st ed. See tea, n., 2.

tea-wad. A cup of tea and buu(s): military (—1935). See wad, a bun.

tea-wag(g)on. An East Indiaman: nautical coll. of ca. 1835–90. Dana. Because these ships carried tea as a large part of their cargo.

tea with, take. To associate with: Australian: 1888, Boldrewood.—2. Hence, esp. to engage with, encounter, in a hostile way: 1896, Kipling, 'And some share our tucker with tigers, | And some with the gentle Masai (Dear boys!), | Take tea with the giddy Masai.' Cf. tea-party, q.v.

teach-guy. A late, rare form of teach-guy (see teach-gens).

teach iron to swim. To perform the impossible: coll. verging on familiar S.E.: C. 16–20; ob.

teach your grandmother to suck eggs. See grandmother to.—teacher always a teacher, once a. See policeman always.

teacher !, please. (With upraised hand.) A c.p. indicating that the speaker wishes to make a remark; thank you, teacher, a c.p. connoting irony or derision towards someone permitting condescendingly or explaining pompously. Both: C. 20.

teaser, teasing. One who takes tea; the taking of tea, or the corresponding adj.: coll.: resp. 1892, 1874, 1852 (Surtees): O.E.D. Ex tea, v., 2. Often written tea-er, tea-ing, or tea'er, tea'ing.

Teague; in C. 17, occ. Teg, in C. 18 Teigue. An Irishman: coll. nickname: 1661, Merry Drollery (Teg); Swift, 1733; 1900, Stanley Weyman (O.E.D.); extremely ob., and since ca. 1870 nearly archaic. An English 'transcription' of the Irish name Tadhg, pronounced (approximately) teeg. Cf. Paddy, Sawney, Taffy, qq.v.—2. In Ulster, a Roman Catholic: coll. (—1904). E.D.D.

Teagueland; Teaguelander. Ireland; an Irishman: coll.: late C. 17–19. B.E., Grose. Ex Teague.

teach-gens. Eight shillings: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Also teach-guy (ib.), by perversion of gens, and theg-gens (id.). Contrast:

tcaich-gir (pronounced tadger). Right: back s. (—1874). H., 5th ed.; Ware spells it teatchgir. Hence tadging, tip-top, excellent, 'splendid': late C. 19–20; ob. F. & H.

teating. See teaser.

team, teamer, teaming. Incorrect (mid-C. 17–20) for teem, to unload, etc. O.E.D.

tear. A boisterous jollification: U.S. (1869, Bret Harte); partly anglicised ca. 1890, but by 1930 very ob. in Britain. Cf. S.E. full tear.

tear, v.i. To move violently; rush (about): coll.: 1599, Massinger (O.E.D.); Dickens, 1843, 'And now two smaller Cratchits . . . came tearing in.' Perhaps ex tearing through obstacles, as the O.E.D. suggests.

tear, shed a. See shed a tear.

tear and ages (1841, Lever) or wounds, occ. 'oun's (1842, Lover). Anglo-Irish coll. interjections of astonishment. Cf. dial. tear, a passion; ages may = aches. O.E.D.

tear-arse. Cheese: proletarian and military: C. 20.—2. One who works devilish hard: proletarian (—1923). Manchon.—3. An excitable man: tailors': 1928, The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29.

tear Christ's body; tear (the name of) God. To blaspheme: coll. >, by 1550, S.E.: C. 14–mid-17.

tear 'em up. To delight the audience: music-halls': from ca. 1920. M. Lincoln, Oh! Definitely, 1933, 'A number . . . that simply "tore 'em up".' tear it. See torn it.

tear one's seat. To attempt too much: tailors': from ca. 1870. Cf. tear-arse, 2.

tear-pump, work the. To weep: late C. 19–20; ob. On water-works, turn on the, q.v. See also pump, n., for earliest form.

tear the end off. To finish; to finish with: coll. (—1923). Manchon.

tear the tartan. (Gen. as vbl.n.) To speak in Gaelic: Glasgow (—1934). Alastair Baxter.

tear-up. A stir, a commotion: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Baumann.

tear up for arse-paper. To reprimand severely: New Zealand soldiers': in the G.W. (B. & P.)

tearing. Violent; passionate; roistering; rollicking: coll.: 1654, Gayton, 'Some tearing Tragedy full of Fights and Skirmishes'; 1869, J. R. Green, 'I am in such tearing spirits at the prospect of freedom'; ob.—Hence, 2, grand; 'splendid', 'ripping': late C. 17–20; rare since mid-C. 19. O.E.D.—3. (Of work) exhausting: coll. (—1923). Manchon.

tears of the tankard. See tankard.

teary. Tearful: late C. 14–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll.

tease; teaze, very rare in C. 20. One given to teasing; one playfully irritating another: coll.: 1852, Dickens, 'What a teaze you are,' O.E.D. Ex the v.

tease, teaze; occ. teize. To whip, flog: c.: ca. 1810–80. Vaux. Ex:

tease (but gen. teaze or teize), nab or nap the. To be flogged; esp. to be whipped privately in gaol: c.: ca. 1780–1840. Grose, 1st ed. Prob. ox tease, the act of teasing. Cf. sense 4 of:

teaser; teazer, very rare in C. 20. Something causing annoyance; a 'poser': coll.: 1759, Franklin (O.E.D.); of a difficult ball in cricket, 1856 (Lewis).—2. Hence, in boxing s. (1812, O.E.D.; ob.), an opponent hard to beat.—3. 'An old horse belonging to a breeding-stud—"though devoid of fun himself, he is the cause of it in others"' Bee: turf: ca. 1820–70.—4. A flogging or whipping: c. or low s.: from ca. 1830. Ex tease, v., q.v. Cf. teasing.—5. A preliminary advertisement (specifying neither article nor advertiser, or, loosely, specifying only the one or the other), prior to an advertising campaign: advertising (esp. publicity) coll.: from ca. 1920.

teasing. A flogging: c. of ca. 1820–80. Ex tease, v.; cf. teaser, fourth sense.

teasy. (Of persons) teasing; (of things) irritating: coll.: from ca. 1907. Rare. O.E.D. Ex dial.

teatchgir. See teach-gir.

teatotal. Incorrect for teetotal: from the 1830's teaze. See tease, n., v., and phrase; teazer, see teaser.

teazle. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20; ob. Ex teasel, a plant.

tec; 'tec. A detective: 1886, The Echo, Dec. 4; 1899, Whiteing. Occ. teck (Baumann).—2. (tec or tech, gen. preceded by the.) A technical college or institution: from ca. 1910: s. now verging on coll. O.E.D. (Sup.).

tec; 'tec, v.t. To watch as a detective does: C. 20; raro. Ex n.

tech. See tec, n., 2.—teck. See tec, n., 1.

Teddies. 'One of the names for the U.S. troops on first landing in France; disliked by the Americans equally with "Sammies" [which, however, survived], and soon dropped': military: 1917–early 1918. F. & Gibbons. Ex 'Teddy' Roosevelt (d. 1919).

teddy bear. A shaggy goatskin or fur coat 'issued for winter wear in the trenches in 1915': military: late 1915–early 1916. F. & Gibbons. Ex the plaything.

Teddy Hall. St Edmund Hall, Oxford: Oxford University (—1874). H., 5th ed.

Teddy my godson. An address to a simpleton: Anglo-Irish coll.: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed.

Teddy Woodbine. See Woodbine, Teddy.

Teddy's hat. The crown in the game of Crown and Anchor: military: 1902; ob. F. & Gibbons, 'With reference to King Edward VII'.

tee-tee. See t.t.

teejay. A new boy: Winchester College: from ca. 1870; ob. Abbr. protégé. Also tejé, 1st syllable as Eng. tee, 2nd as in Fr. Wrench.—? Hence, as v.

teek; tique. Mathematics; arithmetical: Harrow: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex a French master's pronunciation of the relevant syllable.

teeming and lading, n. 'Using cash received to-day to make up cash embezzled yesterday' (Alfred T. Chenhalls): accountants': C. 20. Lit., unloading and loading.

teeny; teeny-tiny; teeny-weeny. Tiny: resp., dial. (—1847) >, ca. 1860, coll.; coll., 1867, ob.; coll., 1894, Baring-Gould. Ex child's pronunciation. (O.E.D.)

teeth. See tooth for phrases, etc., not hereinunder.—2. (Only in pl.) A ship's guns: nautical: 1810 (O.E.D.); slightly ob. ? ex show one's teeth.—3. The dental department of a hospital; medical coll. (— 1933). Slang, p. 193.

teeth, draw. See draw teeth.

teeth, fed up to the (back). See fed up.

teeth upwards, go to grass with. To be buried: late C. 19–20; ob.

teeth well afloat, have one's or the. To be tipsy: from ca. 1870; ob.

teethward (properly teeth-ward), be clerk to the. A coll. of late C. 16–early 17 as in Hollyband's, i.e. Claude Desainliens's, Dictionnaire French and English, 1593, 'He is clarke to the teethward, he hath eaten his service book; spoken in mockage by [? of] such as maketh shew of learning and be not learned.'

Teetotal Hotel(, the). A prison: o.: from ca. 1880; ob.

teetotically. Teetotally: non-aristocratic jocular: 1890's. Ware. A perversion, silly enough; but with a less foolish glance at theoretically.

teetottler. A teetotaler: jocular: ca. 1885–1900. Baumann.

Teg, Teigue. See Teague.—teize. See tease, n., v., and phrase.—tejé. See teejay.

tejiuous; tejus. Tediously; hence, extremely, as in tej(i)ous bad, good, quick, etc., etc.: sol.: from ca. 1860; ob. as an intensive. Ex Kentish dial.

tekelite. A defaulting debtor: ca. 1830–50: c. of the Debtors' Prison in Whitecross Street, London. ? ex 'Tekel': weighed in the balances, and found wanting', Daniel v. 27. O.E.D.—2. the Tekelites. The Whigs: 1683–ca. 1700. 'First given currency by Sir Robert L'Estrange', Dawson.

tekram. A market: back s.: from 1860's. Ware.

teleometer. Catachrestic for telemeter: from ca. 1890. By confusion with telometer. (O.E.D.). telescope. To silence (a person): Australian: ca. 1890–1910. ? ex telescoped carriages.

telist; telt. A telegraphist: telegraphists' coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex these two words written as official abbr.

tell, hear. To hear (something) spoken of; absolutely, as in 'So I've heard tell', so I've heard. C. 13–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. and dial. Stevenson, 1896, 'I asked him if he had ever heard tell of . . . the house of Shaws,' O.E.D. See also hear.

tell-a-cram. A telegram: jocular (— 1923). Manchon. Lit., tell-a-lie.

tell me!, don't; never tell me! I can hardly believe it!; don't be silly!: coll.: resp. mid-C. 18–20, slightly ob.; and C. 17–20, extremely ob. Shakespeare in Othello; Foote (don't . . .). O.E.D.

tell me the old, old story! A c.p. (often, too, a chant sung in unison), in retort on rumours of good times or on specious promises: military: 1915; ob. But it was in use in Sydney at least as early as 1905: often whistled. B. & P., 'The first line of a Non-conformist hymn'.

tell mother! Tell me!: a C. 20 c.p. Eg. Somerset Maugham, The Casuarina Tree, 1926, "'What is it, old man?' she said gently [to her husband]. 'Tell mother.'" tell off. To scold, blame, rebuke severely: coll. (— 1919). Perhaps ex the military sense. (O.E.D. Sup.)—2. Hence, to sentence (an incriminated person): o.: from ca. 1920. George Ingram, Stir 1933.

tell on, tell of: see of in sense of on.

tell one his own. To tell him frankly of his faults or mistakes: coll.: C. 16–20; ob. Horman, 1519 (O.E.D.). Cf. give a piece of one's mind.

tell that to the marines! See marines.—tell the tale. See tale, tell the.

tell the world!, I'll. I say so openly or emphatically: U.S.; anglicised in 1930 or 1931 as a coll.

tell you what, I'll; in C. 19–20, often I tell you what; in mid-C. 19–20, occ. tell you what (Baumann). I'll tell you something; this is how it is: coll. Shakespeare, Tennyson; Violet Hunt, 'I tell you what, Janet, we must have a man down who doesn't shoot—to amuse us!' O.E.D.

teller. A well-delivered blow: boxing s.: 1814, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.); 1834, Ainsworth, 'Ven luckily for Jem a teller | Vos planted right upon his smeller.' Ob. Lit., something that tells, makes a mark.

teller of the tale. He who 'tells the tale' (see tale, tell the, 1): mostly low: C. 20.

telling, that would be or that's. See tellings. App. from ca. 1830.

telling-off. A scolding; a reprimand: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex tell off, q.v.

telling you!, I'm. There's no argument necessary or possible: coll.: C. 20. Prob. abbr. 'I'm not arguing; I'm telling you.' Contrast tell me!, don't, q.v.

tellings, that's. A c.p. reply to a question that one should, or does, not wish to answer: from ca. 1835; slightly ob. Marryat, 1837, "'Where is this . . . and when?' " "That's tellings," replied the man,' O.E.D. A playful coll. or perhaps, orig., a sol. for 'That's telling' = that would be telling, phrases that are themselves—at first, though not now—somewhat trivially coll.

tellywag. A telegram: Public Schools': C. 20. (E. F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916.) In dial. as early as 1867 (E.D.D.).

telt. See telist.

temperature, have a. To be feverish: coll.: from late 1890's. E. F. Benson, 1904, 'He has . . . had a temperature for nearly a week,' O.E.D. Abbr. have a temperature higher than one's usual.

tempest. A confused or crowded throng or, esp., assembly: Society coll. soon > S.E.: ca. 1745–80. Smollett, 1746, in a note on drum, says: 'There are also drum-major, rout, tempest, and hurricane, differing only in degrees of multitude and uproar.'

tempestive and tempestuous, temporal and temporary, are in C. 19–20 catachrestic if used one for the other of its pair; in C. 17, the interchange of the latter two words was permissible. Likewise with the derivative nn.

temple. From ca. 1860 at Winchester College, as in Pascoe, 1881: 'On the last night of term there is a bonfire in Ball Court, and all the temples or miniature architectural excavations in "Mead's" wall are lighted up with candle-ends.'

Temple of Bacchus. 'Merry-making after getting a liccat', Egan's Grose: Oxford University: ca. 1820–50.

temple-pickling. The ducking, under a pump, of bailiffs, detectives, pickpockets, and other unwelcome persons: London c. or low s.: late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose. Lit., a pickling within the limits of the Temple.

temporary gentleman. An officer for the duration of the War or until demobilised: Regular Army pejorative coll.: 1916; oh. Manchon, who notes the occ. abbr. t.g. (or T. G.). The term caused much justifiable resentment.

temporise. To extemporise (v.t.), lit. and fig.: catachresis: late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.) temporary. A frequent sol. for temporary.

ten. To play lawn tennis: 1906, P. G. Wodehouse, Love among the Chickens; Collinson.

ten-bob squat. A (seat in a) stall: theatrical (— 1909). Ware.

ten bones. (One person's) fingers and thumbs, esp. in a coll. oath: C. 15–19.

ten commandments. The ten fingers and thumbs, esp. of a wife: mid-C. 15–20; ob. Heywood, ca. 1540, 'Thy wives ten commandments may serch thy five wyttes'; Dekker & Webster, 1607; Scott; H., 3rd ed., 'A virago's fingers, or nails. Often heard in a female street disturbance.' (Apperson.)

[ten-in-the-hundred, a usurer: perhaps orig. coll.; certainly soon S.E.]

ten (gen. 10) wedding. A wedding at which (? and after) the wife = 1, the husband = 0: non-aristocratic (— 1909); ob. Ware.

ten-to-two. A Jew: low rhyming s.: C. 20.

ten toes. See Bayard of ten toes.

ten penn'orth. A sentence of ten years: c.: C. 20. George Ingram, Sir, 1933.

ten-pennyworth. The punishment designated '10 A': naval: C. 19. Hence, in C. 20, of the modern substitute. Bowen.

ten-stroke. A complete victory: billiard-players' (— 1909). Ware. Ten being the highest stroke.

ten-to-four gentleman or toff. A (superior) Civil servant: jocular coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

tena koe? How do you do?: coll., North Island of New Zealand: late C. 19–20. Ex Maori (lit., 'that is you'). Morris. Cf. taihoa, q.v.

tenacious. Obstinate averse from any action: catachresis: mid-C. 18–early 19. O.E.D.

tenant at will. 'One whose wife usually fetches him from the alehouse,' Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1786–1840. Orig., a legal pun. Cf.:

tenant for life. A married man, because he is hers for life: ca. 1810–1900. Lex. Bal.

tenant-in-tail. See tail, make settlement in.

tenancy. Incorrect for tenancy.

tench. A penitentiary: c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. F. & H. record it as used specifically (the Tench) of the Hobart Town Penitentiary (1859) and of the Clerkenwell House of Detention (not in C. 20). Abbr. 'tentiary, q.v. (Morris). Cf. steel and stir, qq.v.—2. The female pudend: low s.: mid-C. 19–20. ? ex sense 1, or a pun on the fish.

tendency; tendent. Incorrect in C. 18 for tendancy, care, attention; in C. 17 for tendant, attentive, giving service or attention. O.E.D.

[tender Parnel or Pernel, a mistress, a well-educated and delicate creature, is on the borderland between coll. and S.E., which latter it probably is, as also is as tender as Parnel(l), who broke her finger in a posset drink, with variants. The former in B.E., and long before; the latter in Ray and Grose (1st ed.). Cf. the S.E. tender as a parson's leman.]

tenderfoot. A greenhorn; any raw, inexperienced person; U.S. coll. (recorded ca. 1880, but implied in 1861: Thornton) >, ca. 1890, Colonial coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. Ex the tender feet characteristic of one unused to hardship.—2. Hence, a tramp always looking for conveyance along the road: tramps' c. (— 1932). F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps.

tenement to let. A 'house to let', q.v.: ca. 1790–1850. Grose, 3rd ed.

tenip. A pint: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. With e harmoniously intrusive.

tenner. A £10 note: coll.: 1861, T. Hughes. Cf. fiveer.—2. (A sentence of) ten years' imprisonment: c. (1866, O.E.D.) >, ca. 1890, s. >, ca. 1910, coll.

tennis. Lawn tennis: catachresis >, ca. 1920, S.E., but to be deprecated on the score of ambiguity. St James's Gazette, Aug., 1888, 'It is melancholy to see a word which has held its own for centuries gradually losing its connotation. Such a word is "tennis", by which nine persons out of ten to-day would understand the game of recent invention,' O.E.D. Invented in 1874 as sphairistiké, the game assumed its present form in 1877. See sticky.

tennisy. Addicted to, fond of, lawn tennis: coll.: 1890 (O.E.D.).

tenny. Detention: Stationers' Company School at Hornsey: C. 20. Words, esp. nicknames, in -y are very noticeable there, it seems.

tenpence, up a tree for. See up a tree.

tenpence to the shilling (only). Weak in the head: s. (— 1860) >, ca. 1900, coll. H., 2nd ed. Cf. S.E. tenpenny, cheap, hence inferior.

tens, dressed to the. An occ. variant (— 1923) of dressed up to the nines. Manchon.

[Tense, wrong use of. This matter is, at least in detail, ineligible here: the two 'loci classici' are the Fowlers' The King's English and H. W. Fowler's Modern English Usage. Note, however, the error in 'It is a long time since he has (or, had) come here' for came here; 'I didn't seem to have had any wish to eat' for have any wish . . .; 'He had departed when I had arrived' for when I arrived. See also at have and had and of and at 'Preterite misuse . . .' (The best training for correct use of tense is perhaps a sound knowledge of Latin prose.) tent. An umbrella: Anglo-Irish (— 1904). E.D.D.

Tenth don't dance, the. A military, gibling o.p. directed at the 10th Hussars in 1823–ca. 1840. It originated in 1823, when the officers, at a ball in Dublin and after much experience of London and Brighton society, declined to be introduced to the ladies, on the plea that 'the Tenth don't dance'. F. & Gibbons.

tentiary. A penitentiary: low coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Morris at tench.

tention. Attention: Canadian (and U.S.) coll.: late C. 19–20. (John Beames.)

tenuc. The female pudend: back s.: from ca. 1860. F. & H. 'Eased' tnuc.

tenure in tail. See tail, make settlement in.

ter for v. ending in t + to is a 'constant' of sol. speech, esp. in Cockney: virtually immemorial. E.g. oughter, ought to, and wanter, want to (do something).

term-trotter. One who keeps the terms merely for form's sake: Oxford University: ca. 1780–1820. Vicesimus Knox, 1782. O.E.D. Cf. trotter, 2, q.v.

terms (with), on, often preceded by get. (To get) on an equal footing (with): sporting: 1887, Sir R. Roberts (O.E.D.). Ex lit. sense, on friendly terms.—2. Hence, in cricket: (of a side) having made a score comparable with their opponents': 1897 (O.E.D.).

terps. An interpreter: military: G.W., and after. (F. & Gibbons.) Suggested by turps, q.v.

terra firma. (A) landed estate: jocular coll.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

terræ filius. A Master of Arts acting as the orator making a satirical and humorous speech at the Encænna: Oxford University (improperly at Dublin): ca. 1650–1750: perhaps orig. s., but certainly soon j. Ex t. f., a son of the earth, hence a man of unknown origin. (O.E.D.)

terras incognitas. Pl. of terra incognita: C. 19–20: catachresis. (O.E.D.)

terrible as a mere intensive is coll.; gen. = very large or great; excessive. From ca. 1840. Dickens. 1844, 'She's a terrible one to laugh,' O.E.D. Cf. awful, filthy, foul, frightful, terrific, tremendous. Cf.: terrible, adv. Greatly; very: late C. 15–20: S.E. until C. 20, when gen. considered sol. 'She took on (something) terrible,' she was greatly distressed. Cf.:

terribly. A frequent intensive (= excessively, extremely, very, very greatly): mid-C. 19–20: coll. Trollope, Jowett. Ex terribly, very severely or painfully. (O.E.D.) Cf. awfully.

Terrier; terrier. A member of the Territorial Army: coll.: 1908 (O.E.D.). Punningly.

terrific; terrifically. Excessive, or very severe or great; extremely, excessively, frighteningly: coll.: in 1809, J. W. Croker describes the extent of business as 'terrific', and in 1859 Darwin admits that the corrections in his Origin of Species are 'terrifically heavy'. O.E.D.—2. Hence, 'great'; very: Society: from ca. 1920. Dennis Mackail, passim.

terror. A 'holy terror': coll.: 1889 (O.E.D. Sup.).

Terry. (Gen. pl.) Same as Terrier, q.v.: 1907–? 10. (O.E.D.)

terse. Abrupt in manner: Society coll.: from ca. 1928. (Maurice Lincoln, Oh! Definitely, 1933.) Suggested by 'terse style' and 'short-tempered'.

test. A test match; properly one of a series (gen. three or five) of such representative matches: from 1908: coll. >, by 1913, S.E. Orig. of cricket matches, both the full term and the abbr. were by 1924 applied to football matches—and in 1932 to lawn-tennis matches—between two countries; international is also used in much the same way—often very loosely. Also as adj.: of a player in such a match. In 1905, Mr 'Plum' Warner wrote: 'Until the year 1894 no one had ever heard of a "Test" match,' The Westminster Gazette, Aug. 19 (W.). testament. Testimony: catachresis going back to mid-C. 15. (O.E.D.)—2. See bible, 2. tester. A sixpence: definitely in 1613 (O.E.D.), but prob. earlier by some twenty years: s. >, by 1700, coll.; by 1850, ob., by 1890 †, except as an archaism. Farquhar, Swift, Grose (1st ed.), Lamb, H. Ex tester, a debased tæston and teston, orig. worth a shilling but by 1577, at latest, only sixpence.

testify. See detest.

testugger. A 'testamur' or certificate: Oxford undergraduates' (— 1899). Ware. By 'the Oxford -er'.

testy. A c. form of tester (sixpence): C. 19. See cat on testy dodge. This form virtually proves the tester origin of tizzy, q.v.

Tetbury portion. A ct and a 'clap' (q.v.): ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. Rochester portion, Whitechapel p., and Tipperary fortune, qq.v.

teviss. A shilling: costers' s. and tramps' c. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Perhaps shilling > shill 'backed' to lihs > lihes > lehiss > teviss.

texts. 'Various passages learnt by heart before breakfast by the Schoolroom forms': Bootham School coll. verging on j.: late C. 19–20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

th'. There, esp. in th' is . . . , there is: C. 19–20: dial. and, esp. in Canada and U.S.A., low coll.—2. The: this slovenly coll. is, apart from being in several dial., esp. characteristic of Australian speech; this usage is implied by John G. Brandon in his amusing 'thriller', Th' Big City, 1930. Pronounced thē with great rapidity.

Thames butter. Very bad butter: London's poorer classes': ca. 1870–5. Ware. Ex a journalist's attack on a Frenchman that was making 'butter' out of Thames mud-worms.

Thames on fire, set the. Earliest in Foote, ca. 1770, as set fire to the Thames; in Wolcot, 1788, we find burn the Thames: both these forms were † by 1850. The present form arose ca. 1786, being first recorded in Grose, 2nd ed. Gen. in negative: to do nothing wonderful; never to make one's mark: coll. >, by 1860 at latest, S.E. A similar phrase has been applied to the Liffey and the Spree, and W. quotes Nigrinus, ca. 1580, 'Er hat den Rhein und das meer angezündet,' he has set fire to the Rhine and the sea. The proposed derivation ex temse, a sieve, is unauthenticated; in any case, it is prima facie improbable. See esp. Apperson, O.E.D., Skeat.

than. Then: C. 14–20: in C. 14–17, S.E.; in C. 18–20, dial. and in C. 19–20, a sol. more frequent than the O.E.D. admits.—2. (After hardly or scarcely) when: catachrestic: mid-C. 19–20. Froude, 1864, 'He had scarcely won . . . the place . . . , than his health was found shattered,' O.E.D. By confusion with no sooner . . . than. —3. See than in Addenda.

than, like. (In comparisons.) Such as: catachresis: ca. 1590–1600 (? later). Warner, 1592; Anon., 1595, 'Then'—see than, 1—'which the like was never heard before'. O.E.D. Cf.:

than, so (far, good, much, etc.), in comparisons. So . . . as: catachresis: C. 17–20. G. Blackwell, 1602, 'I can blame none so much . . . then'—see than, 1—'Mr Collington'; Mandeville, 1723. O.E.D. Cf. then, 2, and than, like.

thank God we've got a navy! See navy!, thank God.

thank the mussies! Thank the Lord!: lower classes': ca. 1870–1914. Ware. Ex mercy.

thank you for those few kind words! A semi-ironic c.p. (— 1933). Slang, p. 133.

thank you, teacher! See teacher!, please.

thankee!; occ. thanky (Baumann). Thank you!: illiterate coll. verging on sol.: from ca. 1820. Dickens, 1848, 'Thankee, my Lady', O.E.D. Corruption of thank ye! Cf.:

thanks! (I) thank you: coll.: late C. 16–20. Ex my thanks to you, etc. Likewise many or best thanks, rare before C. 19, though Shakespeare has great thanks. (O.E.D.)

thanks, be nicely. To be slightly drunk: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex the reply, 'Nicely, thanks!'

thanks be! (May) thanks be given to God: coll.: late C. 19–20. Also in Cornish dial.

thanky! See thankee!

thary, v.i. and v.t. To speak (to): tramps' o.;

from ca. 1845; ob. Gipsy Carew, 1891, 'I grannied some of what you were a-tharyin' to your cousin.' App. ex Romany. Cf. rock, rok(k)er, q.v.

that, pronoun, in 'anticipatory commendation by way of persuasion or encouragement (esp. to a child)', O.E.D.: which, illustrating by 'Come along, that's a good boy!', implies that it is a coll. of late C. 19-20, ex the that of commendation for something already done, as in Shakespeare's 'That's my good son' (Romeo and Juliet).—2. Representing a statement already made and gen. coming first in its own clause, as in 'That I will, I shall do that all right!': coll.: mid-C. 14-20. Shakespeare, "Was there a wise woman with thee?" "Ay, that there was," O.E.D.—3. The omission of the relative that (cf. which, who) is an 'elemental' of coll. speech and is recorded as early as C. 13; but it occurs frequently also in S.E. and often justifiably—indeed, advisably—on the score of euphony. No one would classify as coll., or object to, Tennyson's 'To put in words the grief I feel' (O.E.D.), but one might well condemn as slovenly, and prob. no one would describe as other than coll., such a sentence as 'This is the book you'll find the passage I spoke to you about in.'—4. The same applies to the conjunctive that. The omission occ. leads to ambiguity: this is prob. why the French never omit que.—5. Redundant that is catachrestic: almost immemorial. E.g. 'I only hope that when we have personal servants, sir, that they'll do the same thing,' John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934.

that, adv. So; so very: mid-C. 15-20: S.E. until late C. 19, then dial. and coll.; in these days, it is considered rather sol. Boldrewood, 1888, 'He was that weak as he could hardly walk,' O.E.D.

that, all; and all that (= and all such things). These phrases used to be 'perfectly good English', but since late 1929, when Robert Graves's notable War-book appeared, or mid-1930, when Albert Perceval Graves's To Return to All That somewhat modified that picture, they have been so coll. as to verge on s. Cf. things, . . . and, q.v.

that, as. 'As how', i.e. that: sol. (— 1887). Baumann, 'I can't say as that I'm first-class.'

that, at. (Estimated) at that rate or standard; even so; even so acting; in that respect; also; unexpectedly, or annoyingly, or indubitably; in addition; and, what's more; yet, however; in any case, anyway: U.S. s. (from 1840's), anglicised ca. 1885; by 1900, coll. Keighley Goodchild, 1888, 'So we'll drain the flowing bowl, | 'Twill not jeopardise the soul, | For it's only tea, and weak at that.' Perhaps ex 'cheap, or dear, at that price' (O.E.D.). But this phrase is so confusing to a foreigner and so little used in the Dominions, that other instances of its chameleonic use are required:—Charles Williams, The Greater Trumps, 1932, "'Try me and let me go if I fail. At that," she added with a sudden smile, "I think I won't fail"'; Ibid., 'The nearest village to his grandfather's, Henry told them, and at that a couple of miles away.'

that !, come out of. Clear out!: late C. 19-20. Lit., come out from inside or shelter.

that, of; esp. something of that (sc. sort). See of, preposition, 6.

that moan's soon made. That grief is easily consoled: Scots coll. (— 1885). Ware.

that there (thing, etc.). See there, that, and of. this here.

that won't pay the old woman her ninepence. A Bow Street Police Court c.p. (— 1909; ob.) in condemnation of an evasive act. Ware.

thatch. See thatched, be well.

thatch-gallows. A worthless fellow: coll.: ca. 1785-1850. Grose, 2nd ed.

thatched, be well. To have a good head of hair: jocular coll. verging on s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed. Ex thatch, a head of hair, esp. if thick: itself coll.: from ca. 1630 (O.E.D.). Cf. Tatcho hair- tonic punningly named by G. R. Sims ex the Romany for 'genuine'.

Thatched Head. An Irishman: pejorative coll. nickname: C. 17. Beaumont & Fletcher.

thatched house under the hill, the. The female pudend: low coll. or s.: ca. 1770-1850. Used as a title by Stevens in 1772.

that's a cough-lozenge for him ! He's punished: a proletarian c.p. of ca. 1850-90. Ex an advertisement for cough-lozenges. (Ware.)

that's up against your shirt ! That's a point against you!: lower classes' c.p. of ca. 1900-14. Ware. Perhaps ex stains on a white shirt.

that's where you spoil yourself ! A non-aristocratic c.p. directed at a smart person overreaching himself: 1880-1. Ware.

that's right ! Yes!: low coll.: late C. 19-20. Ex S.E. formula of approval.

that's the stuff. See stuff to give . . .

that's where you want it. See want it, it's up there you.

the is coll. when it is used for my, as in, esp. and earliest, the wife, rarely the husband, often the mater and the pater or governor (1853), rarely the mother and almost never the father; only occ. of other relatives. Not recorded before 1838 (O.E.D.), but perhaps arising a score of years earlier. (O.E.D. for dates).—2. In Oxford s., as in the Broad, Broad Street, and the Turl, Turl Street: late C. 19-20. 3. See th, 2.—4. See:

the wrongly 'cased' and 'typed'. There is a distressingly frequent tendency among printers and journalists, hence in the book-world, to put the The of titles, whether of periodicals or of books, into lower case and roman type. Thus, 'The Daily Mail' is reduced to 'the Daily Mail'. A title is as much an entity as the name of a person: we do not write 'john Smith'; nor do we, if we adopt the italic mode, write 'Punch' for 'Punch'; nor should we write 'the Times' for 'The Times'. It has been advanced that in all such titles of periodicals as commence with The, the first element may be assumed; but if it were assumed, it would be omitted. Admittedly it is dropped in colloquial speech: a journalist, if asked on which newspaper he works, may reply 'Daily Mail',—that is, if he does not shorten it to 'Mail'; but such an omission is a coll. If, however, he has a due regard for the dignity of his newspaper, he will, in reply, give the full title, and say 'The Daily Mail' not 'the Daily Mail'. In book-titles there is still less excuse for describing Arnold Bennett's 'The Card' as 'the Card'. We do not treat the A of titles in this cavalier fashion: there is no more reason why, e.g. The Window, edited by Bertram Ratcliffe and myself in 1930, should be referred to as 'the Window' than that Barrie's A Window in Thrums, 1889, should be referred to as 'a Window in Thrums'.

the spirit of the troops is excellent. See spirit.

theatre. A police court: c. (— 1857); almost †.

'Ducange Anglicus.' Because there the prospective prisoner assumes a part unnatural to him.—2. The pronunciation the-ā'ter is in the British Empire (? except Canada) considered, in late C. 19–20, to be incorrect and almost illiterate. Baumann.

Theatre Royal, amen. A church: low (— 1909); ob. Ware. Precisely why? Perhaps it was orig. theatrical: touring players perform frequently at Theatres Royal.

Theatre Ship, the. S.S. Gourko: naval coll.: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons. Ex dramatic performances given thereon. Cf. Sports Ship, q.v.

theatrical. (Gen. pl.) An actor or actress: stage coll. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. I.e. theatrical person or people.

theca- is incorrect for theco- in such words as thecospore: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

theg. Eight, as in theg gen, 8s., and theg yanneps, 8d. Rhyming s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See also teach (occ. teach or teatch).

their, them, they for singular (he or she, etc.): a common error. E.g. Agatha Christie, The Murder of Roger Ackroyd, 1926, 'It was rather like a jig-saw puzzle to which everyone contributed their own little bit of knowledge.' Esp. after anyone, everyone (or -body), nobody.

theirn. Theirs: (dial. and) sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann. Cf. themselves.

their's, like her's, and esp. it's, possessive pronouns, is in C. 20 considered a sol. if written thus with an apostrophe.—2. The enemy's: military coll.: C. 20. Cf. ours.

themselves, themselves, is, in late C. 19–20, gen. considered a sol., except, naturally, where an adj. intervenes, as in their very selves (cf. the your good selves beloved of commerce). Cf. theirn, q.v.

them, adj. Those: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 18, then dial. and coll.; in C. 19–20, sol. The O.E.D. gives two excellent examples: 'It was a rare rise we got out of them chaps,' Thackeray, 1840, and 'Them ribbons of yours cost a trifle, Kitty,' Lover, 1842. Cf. they, q.v.—2. (As pronoun.) They; those (in the nominative, before who): late C. 15–20: S.E. >, ca. 1700, dial. and (low) coll.: in C. 19–20, sol. E.g. 'Them as does this ain't no good.' Cf. they, 2, q.v.—3. (Pronoun in the objective.) Those: S.E. >, in early C. 19, (low) coll.; in C. 20, sol. E.g. 'I don't like them who say one thing and do another.'—4. Their: sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann.—5. After as and than and after is, are, were, etc., them is a very frequent coll. (mid-C. 17–20), but, except exclamatorily, is grammatically incorrect. The O.E.D. quotes 'It was not them we wanted,' 1845,—which as compared with the absolute 'It was not them' (e.g. at the theatre) has some justification since them represents they whom.

them's my sentiments! See sentiments.

then. Than: C. 14–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; in late C. 19–20, definitely a sol. This is the counterpart of than, 1, q.v.

then comes a pig to be killed! A c.p. expressive of disbelief: lower-middle and lower classes': ca. 1900–14. Ware, 'Based upon the lines of Mrs Bond who would call to her poultry—"Come, chicks, come! Come to Mrs Bond and be killed."' then the band began to play! See band played.

then the band played! That was the end of it: c.p. (— 1909); ob. Ware. Ex music played at end of a function, a celebration.

theogonist is catachrestic when = one born of God. C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

there. When a relative clause follows there (is or are, were, etc.), the relative pronoun is often omitted. This usage is, in C. 19–20, S.E. verging on coll. Wordsworth, 1806, 'But how he will come and whither he goes, | There's never a scholar in England knows.' O.E.D.—2. there + singular v. + pl.n. is a grammatical error, as in Agatha Christie, The Thirteen Problems, 1932, 'There remains the other three.' Perhaps, in part, ex the influence of Fr. il y a, il y avait, etc.

there, all. Shrewd; alert; smart. not all there: mentally deficient. Coll.: 1864, Mrs Gatty (O.E.D.). The negative phrase sometimes = dishonest, or criminal, as in Anon., 1877, 'He stayed . . . doing the grand and sucking the flats till the folks began to smoke him as not all there.' Whence:

there, be. 'To be on the qui vive'; alive; knowing; in one's element', F. & H.: coll. (— 1890).

there, get. See get there.

there, have (a person). To 'pose' or 'stump' him: coll.: late C. 19–20.

there, that. That, as in Richardson, 1742, 'On leaving . . . Mrs B.'s . . . house, because of that there affair', O.E.D.: dial. and illiterate coll. Occ. that 'ere (C. 19–20); in U.S., that 'air.

there and back. A c.p. reply to an impertinent or unwelcome inquiry 'where are you going (to)?': late C. 19–20.

there first. A thirst: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. B. & P. there'll; there're, there's. There will (be); there are, is: coll.: C. 19–20. Baumann.

there you are! A coll. variation of the there you go! of surprise, disgust, or approval: app. not before C. 20; app. unrecorded before 1907.

there you are then! A rather foolish, stop-gap c.p. of C. 20; gen. in greeting.

therefore is incorrect when used for therefor: C. 19–20.

there's. There is: coll.: C. 18–20.—2. There are: sol.: C. 18–20. Baumann.

there's (h)air! There's a girl with a lot of hair!: London streets' c.p. of ca. 1900–12. Ware. But also there's 'air—like wire, which is self-explanatory (Collinson).

(there's) no — about it! A coll. c.p., from ca. 1920, thus: 'You must do it!'—'There's no must about it!' Michael Arlen in The Green Hat (cited by Collinson).

therm is incorrect for the 'term' of a pedestal: C. 18–20. O.E.D.

these kind or sort of. Incorrect for this kind (or sort) of: C. 16–20. Cf. those kind, and sort of, these, qq.v.

they. Them: mid-C. 17–20: S.E. until mid-C. 18, then (dial. and) coll.; in C. 19–20, a sol. Cf. them, 2, q.v.—2. 'Those', adj., as in 'I don't like they things': late C. 13–20: S.E. until C. 17, then (dial. and) coll.; in C. 19–20, sol. Cf. them, 1.

they say, where they is indefinite and may refer to one person. It is said: coll. verging on S.E.: C. 17–20.

they've opened . . . See tin!, they've opened another.

thick. A synonym of stiff, n., 1, by which it was prob. suggested: c. of ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.—2. A blockhead; a foolish person: coll., mostly schools'; ob. T. Hughes, 1857, 'What a thick I was to come!' Ex thick, stupid.—3. Cocoa:

(mostly London) street s.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex the consistency of cocoa as usually made.—4. Coffee: c. (— 1923). Manchon.—5. Porter, which is said to be 'a decoction of brewers' aprons': rather proletarian: from ca. 1870; ob.

thick, adj. In close association; familiar; intimate: coll.: ca. 1756, Bishop Law, "Yes," said he, "we begin . . . without my seeking," to be pretty thick,' O.E.D.; Barham; G. Eliot. And see the thick as . . ., as phrases. Ex thick, close.—2. Excessive in some unpleasant way; intolerable, unmanageable; unjust: from early 1880's, the O.E.D. recording it in 1884. "It's a bit thick", he said indignantly, "when a man of my position is passed over for a beginner . . .," Horace Wyndham, 1907 (O.E.D.): this being the predominant C. 20 sense. Perhaps ex S.E. lay it on thick, to exaggerate, to flatter fulsomely.—3. Hence, indelicate; esp. in a bit thick, rather indecent: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. F. & H., 1904.—4. Hence (?), noisy and/or bibulous, esp. the latter: from ca. 1891. W. Pett Ridge, Minor Dialogues, 1895, "I was out at a smoker last night." "Thick?" "Thick isn't the word"—5. See dead thick in the Addenda.

thick, adv. Densely: coll.: late C. 19–20. 'The syrup runs thick,' O.E.D.

thick, got 'em. Very drunk: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'I've got 'em thick, he said . . . And . . . went upstairs to bed.' The 'em is generic: cf. got 'em, q.v.

thick and thin. Unshakable devotion to a party or a principle: political: 1884, The Pall Mall Gazette, Feb. 14, 'The hidebound partisans of thick and thin', O.E.D.—2. Hence, gen. hyphenated, as adj. in same sense: 1886, J. Payn (O.E.D.): political and journalistic. Both n. and adj. little used after ca. 1901; by 1935, virtually †.

thick as . . ., as. Similes—all coll.—elaborating thick, adj., 1, q.v.:—as glue, C. 19–20; as inkleweavers, late C. 17–20 (ob.), as in B.E., Cowper, Scott,—ex their working so close together; as peas in a shell, late C. 18–19,—cf. as three in a bed; as thieves, C. 19–20, as in Theodore Hook, 1833, and Dr. L. P. Jacks, 1913, ex the confidential and secret manner of thieves conferring; as three in a bed, C. 19–20, as in Scott, 1820, but since ca. 1870 only in dial.,—ex the close-packed discomfort. (O.E.D. and Apperson.) Dial. has many synonyms, e.g. thick as Darby and Joan, Dick and Laddy, Harry and Mary, herrings in a barrel, two dogs' heads, and (also a C. 19–20 coll.) thick as thick: see esp. E.D.D. thick ear. (Gen. give one a t. e.) An ear swollen as the result of a blow: low coll.: late C. 19–20. Ware. (Often in threats.)

thick one; gen. thick 'un. A sovereign; a crown piece: both, c. (— 1859) >, almost imm., (low) s.; the latter sense, † by 1920. H., 1st ed.; 'House Scraps' Aitken; B. L. Farjeon. Hence, smash a t. u., to change it.

thick starch double blue. A 'rustling holiday dress for summer': middle classes': ca. 1905–14. Ware. Ex its over-laundered state.

thick upon one, bear one's blushing honours. To have the red face of a drunkard or of one who, at the least, drinks much: jocular coll. (— 1923). Manchon. With a pun on the trite S.E. phrase.

Thicker. Thucydides, as a text: Harrow: from ca. 1890. See '-er, Oxford'.

thickest part of his thigh . . . See humdudgeon.

Thicksides. Thucydides: Public Schools': from

ca. 1880. P. G. Wodehouse, Tales of St Austin's, 1903, 'I'm going to read Pickwick. Thicksides doesn't come within a mile of it.' Cf. Thicker, q.v. thief. A horse failing to run to form: racing: 1896 (O.E.D.).

thief and a murderer, you have killed a baboon and stole his face,—you are a. A c.p. of vulgar abuse: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 1st ed.

thief in a mill, safe as a. See safe as.

thieved, be. To be arrested: c.: from ca. 1925. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

Thieves, the Murdering. The Army Service Corps: military: 1857–60. Ex 'the Military Train', as the Corps was then known. Also nicknamed the London Thieving Corps, 1855–7, and the Moke Train, 1857–60. For C. 20 names, see Ally Sloper's Cavalry; cf. Linseed Lancers, the A.M.C.

thieves' cat. A cat-o'-nine-tails with knots: nautical (— 1867); ob. Smyth. Because it was used as a punishment for theft.

Thieves' Kitchen, the. The Law Courts: London satirical: 1882–ca. 90. Ware.—2. The City Athenæum Club: City of London jocular (— 1923). Manchon ('cercle des financiers de la Cité').

[thieves' Latin, as a term, is S.E. It is often used—orig. by Scott, in 1821—as a synonym for cant as used in this dictionary: the 'secret' language of criminals and tramps. Cf. St Giles' Greek.]

thieving hooks. Fingers: low (— 1887). Baumann.

thieving irons. Scissors: C. 19. F. & H. ? because used for cutting purses.

thimble. A watch: c. (— 1811). Lex. Bal.—2. Hence thimble-twister, a watch-thief (— 1859), as in H., and t. and slang, a watch and chain (— 1901).

thimble, knight of the. A tailor: jocular coll.: 1812 (O.E.D.). See knight.

Thimble and Bodkin Army. The Parliamentary Army in the Civil War: a coll. nickname at the time; recorded by O.E.D. for 1647. Ex the smallness of Roundhead gifts to the cause as compared with Royalists' munificence.

thimble-crib. A watchmaker's shop: c.: ca. 1810–60. Vaux. Ex crib, n., 3. thimble-rig. A sharpening trick with three thimbles and a pea: s. (1825, Hone) >, ca. 1850, coll. >, before 1890, S.E.—2. Hence, from ca. 1830, thimble-rigger, such a sharper. See rig, n.

thimble-twister. See thimble, 2. The vbl.n. is thimble-twisting (— 1845: 'No. 747').

thimbled. Owning or wearing a watch: c. (— 1812). Vaux. See thimble—2. Arrested; laid by the heels: c. of ca. 1820–40. Bee. ? by a pun on thimble = a watch = the watch = the police.

thin. To deceive, dupe, 'catch out', swindle: from ca. 1922. Manchon. Cf.:

thin, adj. Disappointing; unpleasant: distressing. Gen. (have) a thin time, to go through hardship, spend a disappointing holiday, have a thoroughly disagreeable or distasteful experience. From ca. 1922. Mainly ex S.E. thin, feeble (as in thin story), slight, almost worthless, but partly proleptic ('enough to make one thin'). Cf. slender, taper, and contrast thick, adj., 4, q.v.

thin as a rasher of wind. See rasher of wind.

thin-gut. A very thin person; a starveling: C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then (low) coll.; so ob. as to be virtually †.

Thin Red Line, the. The 93rd Foot Regiment, afterwards the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders : military : from ca. 1855. Ex an incident in the Crimean War ; whence the vague S.E. sense of the phrase. (The Army was reconstituted in 1881.)

thin 'un. A half-sovereign : from ca. 1860 ; almost †. On thick 'un, q.v.

thing. 'Thingamy', e.g. Mrs Thing : low coll. : C. 20. Heard in the street, May 3, 1935.—2. Phrases : see any old thing, good thing, old thing, a thing or two, and know a thing or two.—3. See thing, the, and things.

thing, the. (Always in predicate). That which is suitable, fitting, fashionable ; the correct thing ; (of a person) fit, in good form or condition : coll. : 1762, Goldsmith, 'It is at once rich, tasty, and quite the thing' ; 1775, Mme D'Arblay, 'Mr Bruce was quite the thing ; he addressed himself with great gallantry to us all alternately,' O.E.D. ; 1781, Johnson (of a procedure), 'To use the vulgar phrase, not the thing' ; 1864, Meredith (of health), 'You're not quite the thing to-day, sir,' O.E.D.,—in C. 20, gen. feel the thing or not quite the thing.—2. Hence, the requisite, special, or notable point : coll. : 1850, Thackeray (O.E.D.) ; M. Arnold, 1873. '[A state church] is in itself . . . unimportant. The thing is to re-cast religion.'—3. See things, the.

thing-a-merry. See thingumajig.—thingamobob. See thingumbob.—thingamy. See thingummy.—thing'em. See thingum.—thing'em bob. See thingumbob.—thing-o-me(-my). See thingummy.

things. Personal effects carried with one at a given time ; impedimenta : coll. : C. 17–20 ; e.g. in 1662, J. Davies, 'We . . . went to the Custom House to have our things search'd,' O.E.D. Ex things, possessions, goods.—2. Clothes : coll. : from ca. 1630, as in Sheridan, 1775, 'I suppose you don't mean to detain my apparel—I may have my things, I presume?'—3. Hence, esp. such garments, etc., as, in addition to her indoor dress, a woman dons for going out in : coll. : 1833, T. Hook, 'Take off your things—and we will order . . . tea,' O.E.D.—4. Implements or utensils ; equipment : if the kind is specified, then coll. : C. 18–20. 'The kitchen things' is recorded by O.E.D. at 1738. Cf. sense 1.—5. Base coin : c. of mid-C. 19–20 ; ob. Ex contemptuous use of things.

things, . . . and. And other such things ; et cetera : coll. : 1596, Shakespeare, 'Ruffs and cuffs, and fardingales, and things' ; 1920, Denis Mackail, What Next?, 'We've had such tremendous fun and things.' Cf. that, all, q.v.

things, no great. (Predicatively.) Nothing much ; mediocre ; very ordinary : coll. and dial. : 1816, 'Quiz', 'The Governor',—He's no great things . . . , Sir,' O.E.D. ; slightly ob.

things, the. Base coin : c. (—1839) ; virtually †. Brandon.

thingstable. 'Mr Thingstable, Mr Constable, a ludicrous affectation of delicacy in avoiding the . . . first syllable in the title of that officer, which in sound has some similarity to an indecent monosyllable,' Grose, 1st ed. ; † by 1830. (Cf. rooster for cock.)

thingum ; in C. 19, occ. thing'em. 'Thingummy' (q.v.) : coll. : 1681, Flatman, 'The Thingum in the Old Bailey', O.E.D. : from mid-C. 19, only in dial. Cf. thing + um, a meaningless suffix. Prob. earlier than :

thingum thangum. 'Thingummy' (q.v.) : coll. : 1680, Otway ; † by 1800. Reduplicated thingum.

thingumajig (occ. thingermajig, thingummijib (or -jig), thingymyjig, etc.), often hyphenated thingum-a-jig ; thingumary, occ. thingummarie, also thing-a-merry. A 'thingummy' (q.v.) : coll. : -jig, 1876, 'Lewis Carroll' ; -ary (etc.), 1819, and ob. by 1930 ; the rare thing-a-merry, occurring in 1827, is † by 1890. Elaborations of thingum, q.v. O.E.D. Cf. : thingumbob ; occ. thingamobob, thing'em bob, thing(-em(-)bob), thingumbob, thingummybob. A 'thingummy' (q.v.) : coll. : resp. 1751, Smollett,—cf. Grose, 1st ed., 'A vulgar address or nomination to any person whose name is unknown' ; 1870 ; C. 19–20 ; 1778, Miss Burney ; 1832, Lytton ; mid-C. 19–20 and due to a confusion with thingummy. Ex thingum, q.v. + a senseless suffix. (O.E.D. ; F. & H.) Cf. thingummy.—2. In pl. : see senses 3, 4, of thingummy.

thingumitum. An occ. C. 20 variant (Manchon) of :

thingummy ; often thingam(m)y ; rarely thing-o-me or -o'-me or -o-my ; fairly often thingummie or -umy. A thing or, occ., a person one does not wish to, or cannot, specify, or the name of which one has forgotten : coll. : resp. 1819 ; 1803 ; 1796, thing-o'-me, perhaps a nonce-use, as prob. also is thing-o-me in late 1790's ; thing-o-my, rare, is of early C. 19 ; -ummie, from ca. 1820 ; -umy, H., 1864. Thackeray, 1862, 'What a bloated aristocrat Thingamy has become.' Ex thingum, q.v., + diminutive y or (ie) or, less prob., ex thing + of me (= mine). O.E.D. ; F. & H. ; W. Cf. thingumajig and thingumbob.—2. The penis or the pudend : euphemistic coll. : C. 19–20.—3. In pl., the testicles : thingumbobs in Grose, 1st ed. ; thingummies (etc.) not till C. 19 ; thingumajigs not before ca. 1880, nor thingumaries before ca. 1820.—4. (Also in pl.) Trousers : lower classes' (—1909). Ware.

think. An act or period of thinking : dial. (from ca. 1830) >, ca. 1840, coll. Ex v.—2. An opinion : coll. : 1835, Lady Granville, 'My own private think is that he will . . .', O.E.D.—3. Sol. for thing, esp. in anythink (q.v.), nothink, and somethink.

think !, I don't. This c.p. (which is rather s. than coll.) reverses the ironical statement it follows : 1837, Dickens, "'Amiably-disposed . . . , I don't think,'" resumed Mr Weller, in a tone of moral reproof,' O.E.D. In late C. 19–20, it often elicits the dovetail, you don't look as if you do or I didn't suppose you did ; and in C. 20 one occ. substitutes fink (à la Cockney) for think.

think !, only ; think !, you can't. Phrases exclamatory and/or intensive of that which follows : 1782, Mme D'Arblay, 'You can't think how I'm encumbered . . . !' ; 1864, Mrs Carlyle, 'Only think ! I get . . .', O.E.D.

think ?, what or who do you. Phrases, esp. if parenthetical, ushering in a surprising statement : coll. : 1616, Jonson, 'Mongst these . . . , who do you think there was ? Old Banks . . .', O.E.D.

think about breakfast. See breakfast, think about.

think and thank. Thank you ! ; thanks, gratitude : Yiddish (—1909). Ware, 'Translated from the first words of the ordinary Hebrew morning prayer'.

think small beer of oneself. See small beer.

think-tank, have bubbles in one's. To be crazy ; motorists' : ca. 1908–15.

think to do (something). Think of doing : coll. : C. 20. Gen. in past, as 'Did he think to close the door, I wonder.' O.E.D. ; Fowler. Ex † Scottish.

think up. To invent, or to compose, by taking thought; esp. by racking one's brains, to hit upon, to devise: U.S. coll. (1885) anglicised ca. 1900. E.g. 'Things look bad; I must think up some stunt.' Possibly, to bring up to the surface of one's mind by hard thinking.

thinker. An actor playing a 'thinking part': theatrical coll.: 1886. (O.E.D.) thinking, to my. In my opinion: from late 1870's: S.E. until ca. 1920, then coll. On the very much older in my thinking.

thinking part. A role in which one says very little or nothing: theatrical coll.: 1898, The Daily News, March 12 (O.E.D.). Because in such a part, an actor has plenty of time for thought.

thinks he holds it, he. He's a vain conceited fellow: from ca. 1870: a sporting c.p. > gen. ca. 1875; ob. Ware. Presumably it is the prize.

thinks I. (Parenthetically) I think: sol. or, at best, low coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

third. See second.

[Third person for first or second singular is a 'constant' of sol. speech: immemorial. E.g. John Rhode, The Hanging Woman, 1931, 'I never opens none of the ground-floor windows.'] thirsty. Causing thirst: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.

thirteen clean shirts. Three months' imprisonment: prison c.: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. I.e. at the rate of one shirt a week.

thirteen to the dozen, talk. An occ. C. 20 variant (Manchon) of talk nineteen to the dozen.

thirteenth jurymen. 'A judge who, in addressing a jury, shows leaning or prejudice': legal (— 1895). Ware.

thirtyish. Approximately thirty years of age: coll.: from the early 1920's. O.E.D. (Sup.).

this. The present; now in office: coll.: 1785, Boswell, 'This Mr Waller was a plain country gentleman,' O.E.D. (Sup.).—2. This . . . now fashionable or recently invented (or introduced): coll.: C. 20. The O.E.D. instances, in 1916, 'What do you think of this wireless telegraphy?'

this child. I; myself; I myself: orig. (— 1842), U.S., at first esp. among Negroes; partly anglicised, mostly in the Colonies, late in C. 19. (Thornton.)

this here. Emphatic, esp. if contemptuous, 'this': see here, this.

this is all right! Everything is wrong!: non-aristocratic c.p. of ca. 1896–1905. Ware.

this is the life. A c.p. dating from several years before, but popularised by soldiers in, the G.W. Mencken alludes to it in his admirable American Language. Also, it's a great life!

thistle-down. Children apt to wander, esp. on moor or heath: Anglo-Irish coll. (— 1909). Ware. Cf. the Devonshire dial. thistle-seed, Gypsies.

thistle-whipper. A hare-hunter: hunting: 1801 O.E.D.). Contemptuous. thoke. A rest, esp. in or on one's bed; an idling: Winchester (— 1891). Wrench. Prob. ex thoky, q.v., not as at Winchester but as in dial.

thoke, v. To lie late in bed; to idle: Winchester (— 1891). Ex n.

thoke on or upon. To look forward to: ibid.; id. Elaboration of preceding.

thoker. 'A piece of bread soaked in water and toasted or baked in the ashes': Winchester College: mid-C. 19–20. Wrench. Ex toasted + soaked.

thokester. An idler: ibid.; id. Ex thoke, v., q.v.

thoky. Idle: Winchester College (— 1891). Ex dial. thoky, earlier thokish, sluggish, lazy.

thole; tholl. † incorrectnesses for toll, as is Scottish thoil(l). O.E.D.

Thomas, John; man Thomas. The penis: resp. C. 19–20; C. 17–mid-19, recorded in Grose, 1st ed., but implied in Fletcher's Monsieur Thomas in 1619. Cf. Dick.

Thomasina Atkins. A 'Waac' (q.v.): journalistic coll.: 1917; † by 1920. F. & Gibbons.

Thomond's cocks, all on one side—like Lord. Applied ironically to a group of persons nominally in agreement, actually likely to quarrel: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. Lord Thomond's cock-tender shut in one room a number of birds due to fight, the next day, against another 'team'; result, internecine warfare.

thornback. An old maid: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Facetious Tom Brown; Grose, 1st ed. A pun on maid, the female young of the thornback (ray, skate).

Thorny. A Thornycroft motor-truck: coll., mostly Australian: from ca. 1920. Ion L. Idriess, Lasseter's Last Ride, 1931.

thorny wire. A quick-tempered person: Anglo-Irish: C. 20.

Thorough. Sir Thomas Wentworth (1593–1641), 1st Earl of Strafford. Dawson, 'From his giving the name to a scheme of his which was to make England an absolute monarchy'.

thorough bass. Catachrestic when = a deep or loud bass. Mid-C. 18–20. O.E.D.

thorough churchman. 'A person who goes in at one door of a church, and out at the other without stopping', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1850. A pun on † through, through.

thorough cough. A simultaneous cough and crepitation: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E. thorough-go-nimble. Diarrhoea: 1694, Motteux; Grose; since mid-C. 19. Ob., except in dial.—2. Hence, inferior beer: ca. 1820–60. Scott, 1822 (O.E.D.).

thorough good-natured wench. 'One who being asked to sit down, will lie down', Grose 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1880.

thorough passage. 'In at one Ear, and out at t'other', B.E.: late C. 17–mid-19. Cf. thorough churchman and thorough-go-nimble, qq.v.

those, one of. See one of those.

those kind or sort of (e.g. men, things). Loose, indeed catachrestic, for this . . .: mid-C. 16–20. The error is generated in illogical minds by the pl.n. following of. Cf. these kind . . .

thou. A thousand; esp. £1000: coll.: 1869 (O.E.D.). Ware dates it from 1860. Cf. sov.

though. (As adv., gen. at end of phrase.) For all that; nevertheless; however, yet: C. 9–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. Browning, 1872; Anstey, 1885, 'I've lost [the note]. She told me what was inside though.' O.E.D. Cf. the enclitic use of however and even the very awkward but.—2. Clumsily used, i.e. as a non-adversative, conjunction: stylistic or logical error rather than catachresis: immemorial. Fowler.

thought did !, you know what. A c.p. to 'I think . . .'; late C. 19–20. If the other asks What?, one adds Run away with another man's wife. A softening of the late C. 18–mid-19 form recorded in Grose, 2nd ed.: 'What did thought do? Lay in bed and besh*t himself, and thought he was up; reproof to anyone who excuses himself for any breach of positive orders, by pleading that he thought to the contrary.' Cf. the curious thing proverb (no. 1) in Apperson, p. 625.

thou'rt. Thou art; thou wert: coll.: C. 16-20; in C. 19-20, only as archaism. Baumann.

thousand a year! another (ten). A drinking pledge: coll.: mid-C. 19-20; very ob.

thousand-miler. A black twill shirt: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Prob. because often worn for a thousand miles without being changed.

thousand pities; or, towns and cities. A woman's breasts: rhyming s. (on bubs and titties): late C. 19-20.

thousand strokes and a rolling suck(, a). A nautical c.p. applied to a leaky ship: from ca. 1870. Bowen. Her pumps require many strokes and suck—an indication that she is dry—only when the ship rolls.

thrash one's jacket or the life out of one. To thrash; to thrash severely: coll.: resp. 1687 (T. Brown), in C. 20 almost †; from ca. 1870. O.E.D.

thread the needle. To coit with a woman: C. 19-20; ob.

three. A Rugby three-quarter: sporting coll.: C. 20. (O.E.D. record: 1905).—2. A third-term cadet in: the training-ship Britannia: late C. 19-early 20. Bowen.

three! the cube of. An Oxford toast of 1705-6. Thomas Hearne, in his Reliquiae, 'The great health now is . . . 27, . . . the number of the protesting lords.' In reference to a political incident of the day.

three acres and a cow. A satirical c.p. (1887-ca. 89) directed at baseless or excessive optimism. Ware. (Cf., however, Collinson who notes that it was revived ca. 1906.)

three and sixpenny thoughtful. A 'feminine theory novel': Society: ca. 1890-8. Ware. Satirical of, e.g., Mrs Craigie and Mrs Humphry Ward.

three balls. See uncle Three Balls.

three B's. Brief, bright, brotherly: ecclesiastical (- 1909). Ware. In reaction against the somnolence of so many services in Victorian days.

three cold Irish. See Fenian.

three-cornered. (Of a horse) awkwardly shaped: coll.: 1861, Whyte-Melville (O.E.D.).

three-cornered constituency. A house where one person's 'vote' gives victory to either wife or husband: Society: ca. 1870-1914. Ware. Ex boroughs in which one voted for two of the three members returned.

three-cornered scraper. A cocked hat: nautical (- 1864); † by 1900. H., 3rd ed.

three-cornered tree. See three-legged mare.

three-cross double (or treble). A glass of beer, a half-glass of rum, and a gill of red wine: Glasgow public-houses' (- 1934). Cf. roll-up, q.v.

three dark-blue lights was a 1916-18 military c.p.: thus would peace be announced; i.e. never, since such a light would be virtually invisible against a night sky. B. & P.

three-decker. A pulpit in three tiers: coll. nickname; 1874 (O.E.D.); ob.—2. 'A sea pie or potato pie with three layers of meat and crust or potato': nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

three decks and no bottom. An ocean liner: sailing-ship men's c.p.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

three draws and a spit. (Occ. hyphenated.) A cigarette: low: late C. 19-20; ob.

three-er. Something counting for three, esp. in cricket: coll.: from the early 1890's. O.E.D. (Sup.).

three F's, the. Fuck, fun, and a foot-race: low: ca. 1882-1914. Punning the three demands of the Irish Land League, Free Sale, Fixity of Tenure, and Fair Rent.

three-handed. Three (adj.): o. (- 1933). Charles E. Leach.

three ha'porth of Gorde(l)pus. A street arab: London (- 1909); ob. Ware. Ex Cockney form of God help us!

three is an awkward number. A c.p. (1885-6) paraphrasing two are company; three, not. Ex Lord Durham's nullity-of-marriage law-suit (1885). Ware.

three-island ship. 'A steamer with fore-castle, bridge deck and poop': nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

three-legged mare, stool. The gallows; in C. 17-18, esp. that at Tyburn: resp. 1685, T. Brown, and Grose, 1st ed.,—† by 1850; and late C. 17-mid-19, as in B.E. Also three-cornered tree, 1654, but † by 1800; mare with the three legs, Ainsworth, 1834, and rare; (the) three trees, late C. 16-mid-17, as in Breton. Also (the) triple tree, (the) Tyburn tree, qq.v. 'Formerly consisting of three posts, over which were laid three transverse beams', Grose, 1785.—2. comb one's head with a three-legged (or a joint-) stool. Gen. as threat, I'll comb your head, etc.: coll.: late C. 16-18, then in dial. Shakespeare (noddle).

three L's. Look-out—lead—latitude: nautical coll.: C. 19. Bowen.

three-man breeze. A stiff breeze: sailing-ships': late C. 19-20. Ibid. A pun on catamaran, from whose crew such a breeze sent several men 'out on to the weather outrigger'.

three more and up goes the donkey! See donkey!, a penny . . .

three nines agreement. A lease for 999 years: house-agents' coll. (- 1927). Collinson.

three-o; two-o. Third officer; second officer: nautical: C. 20. Ex the abbrs. 3 o. and 2 o.

three-op packet. A passenger ship carrying three operators: 'nautical' wireless operators': from ca. 1925. Bowen.

three-out. A glass holding the third of a quart: coll.: from ca. 1836. Dickens in Sketches by Boz.

three-out brush. A drinking-glass shaped like an inverted cone and therefore rather like a painter's brush esp. when dry: taverns' (- 1909). Ware.

three parts seven-eighths. Topsy: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Prob. ex three sheets in the wind. In F. & Gibbons it is . . . five-eighths.

three-piece bamboo. A three-masted ship: pidgin and nautical: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. Bowen.

three planks. A coffin: lower classes' coll. (- 1909). Ware.

three-pointer on the deck. A heavy fall: aircraft engineers': from ca. 1925. The Daily Herald, Aug. 1, 1936. I.e. a falling flat. Cf.:

three-pricker. A perfect landing, with the two wheels and the tail-skid simultaneously on the tarmac: Royal Air Force: from 1932.

three-quarter man. See six-quarter man.

three-quarters of a peck, often abbr. three quarters and by experts written ' $\frac{3}{4}$ '. The eck: rhyming s. (- 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.'

three sheets in the wind. See sheets.

three sixty-five; gen. written '365'. Eggs-and-bacon: commercial travellers': late C. 19-20. Because eaten for breakfast every day of the year. On slates in commercial hotels may be seen the legend '7 (or 7). 365', which means 'Call me at 7 (or 7.30); eggs-and-bacon for breakfast.'

three skips of a louse; not three skips of a louse. (Of) no value; not at all: coll.: 1633, Jonson, 'I care not I, sir, not three skips of a louse'; † by 1850. Hence, for three, etc.: very easily, or with very little provocation, as in Murphy, 1769, 'I'd cudgel him back, breast and belly for three skips of a louse!'; † by 1850. Cf. for tuppence (s.v. tuppence).

three slips for a tester, (give). (To give) the slip: coll.: ca. 1625-1700. F. Grove, 1627; Anon., ca. 1685, 'How a Lass gave her Love Three Slips for a Tester [part of a ballad title], and married another three weeks before Easter.' Lit., (to give) three counterfeit twopennies for a sixpence. Apperson, as also for the preceding.

three S's !, mind your. A naval c.p. rule for promotion: late C. 19-20. Bowen. I.e. be sober, silly [simple]; not offensively intelligent], and civil.

three steps and overboard. See fisherman's walk.

three-stride business. The taking of only three strides between hurdles, this being the 'crack' style: athletics coll.: late C. 19-20.

Three Tens, the. The 30th Foot Regiment; after 1881, the (1st Battalion of the) East Lancashire Regt.: military: C. 19-20. Also the triple X's.

three to one (and sure to lose), play. (Of a man) to coit: low: late C. 18-20, ob. Grose, 2nd ed. (though for and). Physiological arithmetic.

three trees. See three-legged mare.

three (in late C. 19-20, often two) turns round the long-boat and a pull at the scuttle characterises, among sailors (— 1867; ob.) the activities of an artful dodger, 'all jaw, and no good in him', Smyth. Also Tom Cox's traverse, 'up one hatchway and down another', Smyth; likewise ob. This traverse dates from (not later than) 1835, when Dana first heard the phrase. Bowen makes the two turns phrase mean also: 'Under sail, killing time.'

three-up. A gambling game played with three coins: only if three heads or three tails fall is the toss operative: coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.); H., 1st ed.

three vowels. An I.O.U.: ca. 1820-1920. Scott, 1822 (O.E.D.). Cf. vowel, q.v.

three-wheeler. A tricycle: sporting coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann. Cf. tri.

Three X's, the. Same as Three Tens, q.v.

threepence, smart as. See smart as threepence.

threepence more . . . See donkey !

threepenny bit or upright. A coition with a whore, price 3d.: low: mid-C. 19-20; late C. 18-20. Grose, 2nd ed., applies it to the 'retailer of love'.

threepenny masher. A young man 'of limited means and more or less superficial gentlemanly externals': non-aristocratic: ca. 1883-90. Ware.

threepenny shot. A beef-steak pudding, globe-shaped: artisans' (— 1909). Ware.

threepenny upright. See threepenny bit.

threepenny (pronounced thrupenny) vomit. Fish and chips: low Glasgow (— 1934).

threp, thrip; threp(p)s, thrups. Threepence; a threepenny bit: in C. 17-18, c., but in C. 19-20, (low) s.: resp. late C. 19-20; id.; late C. 17-mid-threshold. A lintel: catachrestic: C. 19-20. Clare; Harriet Martineau. O.E.D.

19; from late 1850's. B.E., threpps; H., 1st ed., thrups; thrip existed in U.S. as early as 1834 (Thornton) for a coin intermediate between a nickel and a dime. Ex popular pronunciation of threepence; the s arises ex the 'suffix' -ence. Cf. thrums, q.v.

thrill. A 'thriller', whether fiction or non-fiction: ca. 1886-1905. Ex its effect.

thrilled. Pleased; content; quite satisfied: Society coll.: from ca. 1915. E.g. Denis Mackail, passim. Cf. thrilling.

thriller. A sensational play (1889) or, esp., novel (1896): s. >, by 1920, coll.; by 1935, virtually S.E. (O.E.D.) Cf. awful, dreadful, as nn., and shocker.

thrilling. Pleasing; pleasant; suitable, apt: Society coll.: from ca. 1915. Cf. thrilled, q.v.

thrip. See threp.

thrips. Incorrectly treated as a pl., with erroneous singular thrip. The genus of Thripsidæ, or an insect belonging thereto; catachrestically of one of the Jassidæ (leaf-hoppers). Late C. 18-20. O.E.D.

throat, have a. To have a sore throat: coll.: late C. 19-20. Cf. temperature.

throat a mile long and a palate at every inch of it, wish for a. Applied to a 'healthy' thirst: mid-C. 19-20; slightly ob. 'A modern echo of Rabelais', F. & H.: see Motteux's Rabelais, V, xlii. Cf. the C. 20 what wouldn't I give for a thirst like that ! and I wouldn't sell my thirst for a fortune or a thousand (quid), etc.

throat (is) cut, one's belly thinks one's. One is extremely hungry: 1540, Palsgrave: a semi-proverbial c.p.; in mid-C. 19-20 mostly rural. (Apperson.)

throats, cut one another's. To compete ruinously: coll.: from 1880's. Cf. cut-throat.

Throstles, the. The West Bromwich Football Club ('soccer'): sporting: C. 20. Perhaps because their ground is in Hawthorn Road; thrushes like hawthorn hedges.

through, be. To be acquitted: c. of ca. 1810-50. Vaux, be through it, through the piece. Ex lit. S.E. sense.

through a woman, go. To coit with her: low coll.: C. 19-20. Often, more vulgarly, go through a woman like a dose of salts: C. 20.

through-shot, adj. Spendthrift: coll.: late C. 19-20; ob. ? ex going through one's money much as a shot goes through paper.

through the lights. (Of a punch) that is an upper-cut: low, and boxing (— 1935).

through the piece. See through, be.

throw. 'He threw me with a stone' = he threw a stone at me. This South African Midlands coll., of late C. 19-20, like throw wet (q.v.), shows Dutch influence; Pettman aligns Ger. Er warf mir ein Loch in den Kopf, he threw a stone at me and cut my head open.—2. To throw away, i.e. lose deliberately, a game, a set in order to obtain service or to conserve energy: lawn tennis coll.: from 1933, or early 1934. Lowe's Annual, 1935.—3. To bring as wages: lower-class Glaswegians': C. 20. MacArthur & Long, No Mean City, 1935, 'His job "threw him" forty-eight shillings for the week of forty-eight hours.'

throw a chest. See chest, throw a.

throw a levant. To make off: mid-C. 19-20. Ex levant, to abscond.

throw a party. To give a party: U.S.; angli cised ca. 1925. Prob. ex such U.S. phrases as throw have) a fit: cf. chuck a dummy, q.v.

throw at a dog, not a (this, that, or the other) to. Gen. preceded by have. No — at all: coll.: from ca. 1540, for it is implied in Heywood, 1546; 1600, Day, 'I have not a horse to cast at a dog'; Swift, ca. 1706, 'Here's miss, has not a word to throw at a dog'; 1884, Stevenson & Henley. Slightly ob. Apperson.

throw back. 'To revert to an ancestral type or character not present in recent generations': coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.: 1879. Also fig., as indeed is the earliest recorded example. (The n. has always been considered S.E.) O.E.D.

throw-down. A defeat: 1903 (O.E.D.). Ex throw-down, a fall in wrestling.

throw-down, v. To be too much for, to floor: 1891, Anon., Harry Fludyer, 'These blessed exams. are getting awfully close now; but I think I shall floor mine, and Dick's sure to throw his examiners down.' Also of the 'exam.' itself and the papers constituting it. Perhaps ex throwing down a wicket at cricket.

[throw in the towel is rather sporting j. than coll. See sponge, chuck up the.]

throw it up against, at, or to one. To reproach or upbraid one with: coll. (to: low coll.): 1890, The Universal Review, Oct. 15 (O.E.D.).

throw me in the dirt. A shirt: rhyming s. (— 1857); † by 1900. 'Ducange Anglicus.' The modern form is Dicky dirt: much C. 20 rhymings. retains something—actual word or semantic essence—of the discarded form: daisy recroots and German flutes, both = 'boots', afford a particularly interesting example.

throw mud at the clock. To despair much or utterly: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware, 'Means defy time and die'.

throw-off. A depreciative remark or allusion: C. 20. Manchon. Ex sense 2 of:

throw off. To boast of booties of the past: c. of ca. 1810–60. Vaux, who notes also:—2. 'To talk in a sarcastical strain, so as to convey offensive allusions under the mask of pleasantry, or innocent freedom': c. (— 1812) >, by 1860, s. in sense, to be depreciative (at a person).—3. To deduct (so much) from (a stated sum): lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon. Perhaps suggested by cast accounts.—4. To vomit: coll.: C. 20.

throw-off practice. 'Gunnery practice where an actual ship is used as the target': naval coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

throw one's weight about. See weight about.

throw over the bridge. (Gen. ppl.adj., thrown . . .) To swindle as in bridge*, v., Vaux.

throw snot about. To weep: low: 1678, Ray; ob. See snot.

throw the feet. To hustle; to beg: tramps' c. and low s., orig. (— 1900) U.S. Ex a horse throwing his feet, lifting them well.

throw the hammer. To obtain money under false pretences: low military (— 1909). Ware. Of erotic origin.

throw up. To abandon hope completely: from ca. 1929. A. A. Milne, Two People, 1931, 'When it became definitely mottled, there was really nothing for a girl to do but to "throw up"'. Perhaps ex throw up the sponge.

throw up one's accounts. To vomit: from ca. 1760; ob. C. Johnston, 1763 (O.E.D.). A variant of cast up one's accounts.

throw up the sponge. See sponge, chuck up the.
throw wet. To dash water upon: Cape Midlands (Sth. Africa) coll.: C. 20. 'A literal rendering of the Dutch nat gooien', Pettman. Cf. throw, q.v.

throw with. See throw.

threw. Threw; thrown: sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann.

thrum, n. See thrumbuskins.

thrum, v.t. To thrash (a person): C. 17—mid-19. Dekker. The vbl.n. (a beating,) is recorded in 1823. Ex strumming a musical instrument. O.E.D.—2. To coit with (a woman): C. 17—early 19. Florio, 1610; Brydges, 1762.

thrumbuskins, thrummop; thrum(m)s. Three-pence: c.: thrum(m)s, late C. 17–19; the other two forms (Vaux, 1812) are elaborations and rare. B.E. has thrumms, Grose thrumms; H. (all edd.) the latter. A corruption of three-pence: cf. thrupps (at threp). Dial. has thrum, a commission of 3d. per stone on flax: E.D.D. Cf.:

thrummer. A threepenny bit: c. or low s. (— 1859); † by 1910, except among grafters: witness P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Ex preceding.

thrum(m)s. See thrumbuskin.—thruppenny. See threepenny.—thrups. See threp.

thruster. One who, in the field, thrusts himself forward or rides very close to the hounds: hunting s. >, ca. 1920, coll.: from 1885. Ex usual sense. (O.E.D.) Also thrusting, n. and adj.

thumb. To drain (a glass) upon a thumb-nail (see supernaculum): coll.: ? C. 18—mid-19. F. & H. gives this term without quotation; the O.E.D. has it not.—2. To possess (a woman): C. 18–19. In C. 20, only in well-thumbed (girl), 'a foundered whore' (F. & H.). Ex thumb, to handle, paw, perhaps influenced by fumble and tumble.

thumb, as easy as kiss my. Exceedingly easy: coll.: from ca. 1890.

thumber. A sandwich; a slice of bread and meat eaten between finger and thumb: low (mostly London): late C. 19–20; ob.

thumby; occ. thummie, -y. A little thumb; a pet-name for the thumb: coll.: from ca. 1810. W. Tennant, 1811 (O.E.D.). Rare in C. 20.

thumby. 'Soiled by thumb-marks': coll.: from late 1890's. (O.E.D. Sup.).—2. Clumsy: coll.: 1909 (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex all thumbs.

thumbs up!, occ. preceded by put your. Be cheerful: C. 20. Ex the gesture that spared the life of gladiators at Rome. Cf. tails up!

thump. An occ. late C. 19–20 variant of thumper, 2. Manchon.

thump! 'I don't think'; it's,—as is,—very improbable: an ejaculation of dissent modifying the preceding statement: military in G.W. See esp. Ernest Raymond's fine War-novel, The Jestling Army, 1930. Hence, among the lower and lower-middle classes, as in Ernest Raymond, Mary Leith, 1931, 'Call me a business man! Am I? Thump! I'm going in for gardening.'

thump, v. To defeat; to lick, thrash (severely): coll.: 1594, Shakespeare; 1827, Scott, 'We have thumped the Turks very well.' Ex thump, to strike violently. O.E.D. Cf. thrum, v., 1.—2. To coit with (a woman): s. or coll.: C. 17–20; ob. in C. 19–20. Shakespeare in Winter's Tale, 'Delicate burthens of dildos and fadings, "jump her and thump her"'. Cf. thrum, v., 2, knock, and Kluge's proposed etymology of fuck.

thump,—thatch, thistle, thunder and. 'Words to the Irish, like the Shibboleth of the Hebrews', Grose, 2nd ed.: Anglo-Irish of mid-C. 18—mid-19. A cross between an (and esp. an) incantation and a c.p.

thump on the back with a stone, this is better than a. A c.p. 'said on giving any one a drink of good liquor on a cold morning', Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1786–1850. Cf. the C. 20 it's better than a kick on the pants and the mid-C. 19–20 it's better than a poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

thumped-in. (A landing that is) badly effected, necessitating the use of the engine: Royal Air Force's: from 1932.

thumper. Anything unusually big: coll.: 1660, Tatham punningly of a dragon's tail. Cf. whacker, whopper, the semantics being that it 'strikes' one.—2. Hence, esp. a notable lie: 1677, W. Hughes; Swift; J. R. Green, 1863. F. & H., and esp. O.E.D. thumpers. Dominoes (game): showmen's s.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex noise made in falling.

thumping. Unusually large, heavy, or, of a lie, outrageous: coll.: 1576, Fleming, 'He useth great and thumping words'; Grose, 2nd ed., 'A thumping boy'; of a lie, app. not before C. 19, though applied to commendation as early as 1671. (O.E.D.) Cf. thumper, q.v.

thumpkin. A hay-filled barn: c.: late C. 19–20. ? etymology. Cf. skipper.

thunder !; by thunder !; (what, where, who, etc.) in thunder?; thunder and lightning !; thunder and turf ! Imprecatively, exclamatorily, intensively used as s. (thunder and turf) or coll. (the rest): resp. C. 18–20 (Steele); C. 19–20; mid-C. 19–20; late C. 19–20, ob.; and ca. 1840–70 (Barham, Lover). Cf. the German imprecations and U.S. thunderation !

thunder and lightning. See preceding.—2. Gin and bitters: C. 19–20; ob. Ex the effects.—3. Treacle and clotted cream; bread thus spread: s. and dial. (—1880). Miss Braddon; E.D.D. The O.E.D. notes that sense 1 approximates to the dial. sense (brandy-sauce ignited); W. implies that sense 2 arises ex the colours, black (of thunder and treacle), yellow (of lightning and cream),—cf. pepper and salt.

thunder-mug. A chamber-pot: low: C. 18—mid-19. Ex noise therein caused.

thunderbolt. A meteorite or meteoric stone: catachrestic: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

Thunderbomb, the ; or H.M.S. Thunderbomb. An imaginary ship of fabulous size: nautical coll.: ca. 1828, Buckstone in Billy Taylor, 'Straightway made her first lieutenant | Of the gallant Thunderbomb'; † by 1915. Cf. Swiss Navy, q.v.

Thunderer, The. The Times newspaper: journalistic s. (1840, Carlyle) >, ca. 1880, coll. Anon., The Siliad, 1874, 'If a small cloud in the East appear, | Then speaks The Thunderer, and all men hear'; many critical notices in Jan., 1935 (notably in The Times Literary Supplement, Jan. 3). Ex its Olympian utterance and pronouncements + Jove (Iuppiter tonans) and his thunderbolts. Legend (see Pebody's English Journalism) has it that it was the writing (1830–40) of Edward Sterling ('Vetus') which gave The Times this name—orig. applied to Sterling himself.

thundering. Very forcible or violent: coll.: adumbrated in Hall, 1597, 'Graced with huff-cap terms and thundering threats'; 1618, T. Adams, 'He goes a thandering pace'; 1632, Lithgow, 'A thundering rage', O.E.D. Ex the noise made thereby or in that manner.—2. Hence, as an intensive: very large or great; excessive: 1678, Cotton, 'A thundering meal'; of a lie, app. not before mid-C. 18.—3. Hence, as adv.: from not later than 1743 in Hervey's Memoirs, 'A thundering long sermon'; 1852, Dickens, 'A thundering bad son' (O.E.D.). S. >, by 1900, coll. Cf.:

thunderingly. Excessively: 1885, C. Gibbon, 'It's thunderingly annoying', O.E.D., but prob. much earlier, for Thornton records it, for U.S., in 1839: s. >, by 1900, coll. Ex lit. S.E. sense, but not very gen. Ex thundering, 2.

thunderstorm, like a dying duck (or pig) in a. See dying duck.

thusly. Thus: U.S. (1889) >, by 1893, English: coll.; mostly jocular. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

thusness. The state or condition of being thus: jocular coll.: U.S. (1867, Artemus Ward) > anglicised ca. 1883. S.O.D.—2. Esp. why this thusness?, a pleonastic 'why?': 1888, Fergus Hume, 'Why all this thusness?', O.E.D.,—which records the simpler form in the same year. Slightly ob.—thank Heaven !

thuzzy-muzzy. Enthusiasm: London lower classes: ca. 1890–1912. Ware. Ex enthusiasm on muzzy.

ti-ib ! Good; all right !: military on the Eastern Fronts (G.W., and before). F. & Gibbons. Arabic tay-ib.

ti-toki. A mixed drink of beer, lemonade and raspberry: New Zealanders': C. 20. Ex Maori.

ti-tree. Erroneous for tea-tree: New Zealand: mid-C. 19–20. Worse still, ti-tri. Morris, whom see at p. 463.

ti-tree oneself ; be ti-treed. To take shelter from artillery fire: New Zealand soldiers': in G.W. Ex Maori custom of retreating to the bush at time of the Maori War. See preceding entry.

tib. A bit: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Hence tib fo occabot, a little tobacco.—2. A goose: c.: late C. 18—early 19. Abbr.:

tib o(f) the buttery. A goose: c.: ca. 1620–1830. Fletcher, B.E., Grose, Broome, 1641, 'Here's grunter and bleater with tib of the butt'ry, | And Margery Prater, all dress'd without slutt'ry.'

tib out, v.i. To break bounds: schools', mainly Public and esp. Charterhouse: 1840, J. T. Hewlett (O.E.D.); 1855, Thackeray. Also tibble: late C. 19–20. Etymology obscure: perhaps ex tip (oneself) out, to get out by giving a tip.

Tibb's Eve (or Evening; properly Tib's), St. Never: coll., mainly Anglo-Irish (—1785); long ob., except in dial. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. blue moon, S.E. Greek kalends, and Queen Dick.

tibby. A cat: late C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed. Ex tabby + dial. tib(by)-cat, a female cat.—2. The head: low: from ca. 1865; ob. Esp. in phrases signifying 'to take unawares', as in Vance, ca. 1866, 'For to get me on the hop, or on my tibby drop, | You must wake up very early in the mornin'.' ? a corruption of Fr. tête mispronounced.

tibby drop. Hop: rhyming s.: late C. 13–20.

Tib's. See Tibb's Eve.

tic-tac ; tick-tack. Gen. t.-t. man (1899), occ. t.-t. telegraphy (1905): O.E.D. N. and adj., (characteristic of, concerned with) the system of 'telegraphy'—actually, signalling with the arms—used by book-makers communicating a change in the odds or some significant information to outside bookmakers: sporting. Occ. as v., to signal thus: 1907 (O.E.D. Sup.): likewise coll. >, by 1935, S.E. Ex the onomatopœia representing an alternating ticking (as of a clock), perhaps influenced by tape, n., 2. Hence, tick-tacker.—2. See:

tic-toe or -tac. A signaller: military: 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons. In the -tac form, ex tic-tac, 1; it was suggested by 'the sound of the telegraphic instrument'.

ticca. See ticker, 3.

tice. A ball 'something between a half-volley and a Yorker'; cricketers': from ca. 1840; ob. Lewis. I.e. an enticer.

'tice, v. To entice, decoy; gen. in passive: lower-class coll.: C. 19–20. Mayhew, 1861. Also in dial.

Tich. A nickname given to any small man: C. 20. E.g. 'Tich' Freeman, Kent's googly bowler. Ex little Tich, the comedian.

Tich!, no. No talk about the Tichborne case!: Society: 1870's. Ware (at pas de Lafarge).

Tichborne's Own. The 6th Dragoon Guards: military: from ca. 1872; ob. Sir Roger Tichborne, of the famous trial (1871–4), served therein in 1849. Also the Wagga-Wagga Guards, q.v.

tick. An objectionable or meanly contemptible person, though rarely of a female: C. 17–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19 or so; ? 'submerged' for years; in C. 20, s. (Lyell.) E.g. 'That awful little tick!' Ex the insect parasite.—2. Credit, trust; reputed solvency: coll. >, in C. 19, s.: 1668, Sedley, 'I confess my tick is not good, and I never desire to game for more than I have about me'; 1901, The Sporting Times, Aug. 17, 'During my late Oxford days, I got put up to at least twenty different ways of getting tick.' Ex (upon) tick, esp. run on tick, q.v. five entries later.—3. Hence, a score or reckoning, a debit account: coll. >, ca. 1800, s.; in C. 20, ob.: 1681, Prideaux (Dean of Norwich), 'The Mermaid Tavern [at Oxford] is lately broke, and our Christ Church men bear the blame of it, our ticks, as the noise of the town will have it, amounting to 1500l.'; Thackeray, 1862.—4. A watch: c. of ca. 1780–1800. Parker, 1789. Cf. ticker, 2, q.v. Ex the sound.—5. A second, moment; properly and etymologically, the time elapsing between two ticks of the clock: coll.: adumbrated by Browning in 1879, but not gen. before the late 1890's. Esp. in a tick or (1904, Jerome K. Jerome) in two ticks, and to the tick, with meticulous punctuality (1907, Phyllis Dare of theatrical fame). O.E.D.

tick, v.i. To buy, deal, on credit: coll. >, ca. 1800, s. (in C. 20, ob.): 1648, Winyard (O.E.D.). Ex tick, run on, q.v.—2. Hence, to run into debt: 1742, Fielding (O.E.D.); ob.—3. V.t., to have (an amount) entered against one: coll. >, ca. 1800, s.; ob.: 1674, S. Vincent (O.E.D.); ca. 1703, T. Brown, 'Pretty nymphs . . . forced to tick half a sice a-piece for their watering.'—4. V.i., to grant credit; supply goods, etc., on credit: coll. >, ca. 1800, s.; in C. 20, rare: 1712, Arbuthnot, 'The money went to the lawyers; counsel won't tick.'—5. Hence (v.t.), to grant credit to (a person): 1842, 'Nimrod' Apperley, 'He never refused a tandem, and he ticked me for a terrier at once,' O.E.D.; ob.—6. V.i., to grumble: military: from 1916 or 1917. F. & Gibbons. Prob. ex tick off, 2.—7. See tick off; tick up.

tick, buy on the never. To buy 'on tick': lower classes' (—1923). Manchon. With allusion to a clock.

tick, full as a. See full as a tick.—tick, go (on). See tick, run upon.

Tick, River. Oxford University, ca. 1820–40, as in Egan's Grose (1823): 'Standing debts, which only discharge themselves at the end of three years by leaving the Lake of Credit, and meandering through the haunts of 100 creditors.'

tick, run (up)on, v.i. To buy on credit; run up a debt or into debt: 1642 (O.E.D.): coll. >, ca. 1800, s. A variant is go on tick (1672, Wycherley) or go tick (1861, Hughes): O.E.D. Thus (upon) tick, on credit,—though, despite the dates, this prob. preceded run on tick, for we find (upon) ticket (on note of hand) a generation or so earlier: ticket being abbr. to tick.

tick being no go. No credit given: low (—1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.' See tick, n., 2.

tick-down; tick-off, n. See mark-off.

tick off, v. To identify: coll.: C. 20. Ex tick off a person's name on a list.—2. Hence, from ca. 1916 (orig. military), to reproach, upbraid, blame; esp. to reprimand. 'I ticked him off good and proper.' Partly influenced by tell off, q.v.

tick-off, work the. A tick-off is a fortune-teller; gen. in work the tick-off, to practise fortune-telling: grafters': late C. 19–20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934, 'Dates from the time when grafters working this line sold cards on which were printed various . . . statements.'

Tick-Offs' Gaff, the. Hull Fair: grafters': late C. 19–20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Fortune-tellers have always flourished there. See tick off, work the.

tick over, v.i. To come; to act, function: from ca. 1930. F. Keston Clarke, in The Humorist, July 28, 1934, of water-divining, 'How shall I know when the influence is ticking over?' Ex motoring j.

tick-tack. Sexual intercourse: coll.: mid-C. 16–20. Weaver, Lusty Juventus, ca. 1550. Ex the onomatopœia.—2. See tic-tac.

tick-tack, done in a. Quickly done: low coll. (—1887). Baumann.

tick-tacker, one practising such telegraphy as that mentioned in the tic-tac entry: 1912 (O.E.D.).

tick up, v.t. To put to account: late C. 19–20. Ex tick, v., 3.—2. V.i., to run into debt: late C. 19–20; ob. Elaboration of tick, v., 2.

ticker. A fraudulent debtor by profession: c. of mid-C. 18. Recorded in title of Anon., The Thief-Catcher, 1753 (O.E.D.). Ex tick, v., 1 and 2.—2. A watch: c. (1823, 'Jon Bee') >, before 1864 (see H., 3rd ed.), 'street', i.e. low, s. >, by 1890, gen. s. Ex the noise: cf. Fr. tocante and tick, n., 4. Rarely and (I consider) improperly, a clock: the O.E.D. records an instance in 1910.—3. 'Any person or thing engaged by the job, or on contract': Anglo-Indian coll. (—1886). Properly ticca (ex Hindustani). Yule & Burnell.—4. The heart: low (in U.S., c.): late C. 19–20. Because it keeps the body's time.—5. An account; an invoice or a statement: from ca. 1910: esp. among publishers. Ex S.E. ticker, a stock-indicator.

ticket. A certificate: nautical s. (late 1890's) >, ca. 1920, coll. Chiefly captain's or mate's ticket. Ex ticket, a licence.—2. See ticket, the.

ticket, be a person's. To appeal to one, be of his kind: from ca. 1920. (Evelyn Waugh, A Handful of Dust, 1934.) Often abbr. to tea (properly t),—see Evelyn Waugh, ibid.,—but cf. cup of tea, q.v.

ticket, be on the straight. To live respectably: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

[ticket, get one's. See ticket, work one's.]

ticket, have the run of the. To buy on credit, run up debts: late C. 19–20; very ob. An elaboration of tick, n., 2 and 3, qq.v.

ticket, the. The requisite, needed, correct, or fashionable thing to do. Esp. that's the ticket: 1838, Haliburton (O.E.D.); 1854, Thackeray, 'Very handsome and . . . finely dressed—only somehow she's not—she's not the ticket, you see.' (See also very cheese, the.) Perhaps ex the winning ticket.—2. Hence, the plan or procedure; the job, on (or in) hand: 1842, Marryat, 'What's the ticket, youngster—are you to go abroad with me?'— ticket?, what's the. What's the price?: late C. 19–20; very ob.

ticket, work one's (occ. the). To obtain one's discharge from the Army by having oneself adjudged physically unfit: from late 1890's: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. (The phrase get one's ticket, to be, in the ordinary way, discharged from the service, is military j.) Wyndham, The Queen's Service, 1899, 'It is a comparatively easy matter for a discontented man to work his ticket.'

ticket for soup!, that's the. You've got it—be off!: c.p. of ca. 1859–1910. Cf. ticket, the, sense 1, which it elaborates. H., 2nd ed., '[From] the card given to beggars for immediate relief at soup kitchens'.

ticketing. The taking of goods on credit: mid-C. 18–20. See tick, v., 1, 2.

ticket man. A distributor of tickets for a meal and/or a bed: tramps' c. (—1933). Cf. slice, 2, q.v. for 'authority'. Cf. ticketeer, q.v.

ticket of leave. A holiday; an outing: lower classes': ca. 1870–1900. Ex S.E. sense. (Ware.)

ticketeer. One who hands out, or checks, cards in a casual ward: tramps' and beggars' c. (—1887). Baumann.

tickety, tickie; ticky-nap. See ticky; ticky nap. ticking, ppl.adj. of tick, v., 1, 2, etc. (qq.v.): 1673, Wycherley (sense 1). O.E.D.

tickle. To puzzle (a person): coll. (—1874); ob. H., 5th ed. Ex dial: cf. tickler, 1, q.v.—2. To steal from, to rob, as in tickle a peter, to rob the till: New Zealand c. (—1932). Perhaps ex to tickle trout. See sere and tail.—3. F. & H.'s tickle-faggot, -gizzard, and -piece are almost certainly S.E. nonce-words.

tickle-pitcher. 'A Toss-pot, or Pot-companion', B.E.: coll.: late C. 17–early 19.—2. 'A lewd Man or Woman', A New Canting Dict., 1725: low C. 18. A pun on the fig. sense of pitcher.

tickle-tail. A wanton; the penis: ? S.E. or low coll.: C. 17–20; ob.—2. A schoolmaster; his rod: coll. (—1785); ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. tickle-toby.

tickle-text. A parson: from ca. 1780; very ob. Grose, 1st ed.

tickle-Thomas. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20. Cf. Thomas, John, q.v.

tickle-toby. A rod or birch: coll.: 1830, Bentham (O.E.D.).—2. A wanton; the penis: ? C. 17–19. F. & H. See tickle, 2, and cf. tickle-pitcher, 2, and tickle-tail.

tickle your tail!, I'll. A jocular coll. threat of punishment: late C. 19–20. Ex S.E. tickle, ironic for 'to chastise'.

tickler. A thing (occ. person) hard to understand or deal with; a puzzler or 'teaser' (q.v.): dial. (—1825) >, ca. 1840, coll.; ob.—2. A strong drink: low: late C. 19–20. Manchon.—3. The penis: low: C. 19–20.—4. (Tickler.) Jam: military: late 1915; ob. Ex Tickler's jam, the usual brand. Also Tickler's.—5. Hence, a hand-grenade made from a jam-tin: military: 1915; ob.—6. A short-service rating introduced under Lord Selborne's scheme: naval: 1903–ca. 10. Bowen. Likewise ex the jam, introduced into the Navy at about the time of the scheme (1903).—7. A cigarette 'made from the monthly issue of naval tobacco': naval: from ca. 1910. Bowen. Ex effect on one's throat.—8. Hence, a cigarette-smoker: naval: from ca. 1912. Ibid.—9. See Kruger's tickler.

Tickler's. See preceding, sense 4.

Tickler's artillery. Hand-grenades (see preceding, 5); those who used them: military: 1915; ob. B. & P.

tickling his ear. See guardee-wriggle.

tickrum. A licence: c.: ca. 1670–1830. Coles; Grose, 1st ed. A corruption of ticket.

ticks. Debts, obligations: sporting (—1887); ob. Baumann. Ex tick, n., 2.

ticky, ticky, or tickie; occ. tiki, tikki, tickie. A threepenny piece: South African coll.: from ca. 1850. Etymology obscure: perhaps ex a native attempt at ticket (O.E.D.) or at threepenny; perhaps—though much less likely—suggested by Romany tikeno, tikno, small, little; prob., however, as Pettman ably shows, ex Portuguese, hence Malayan, pataca († Fr. patac).

ticky, adj. Verminous: military coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex Lancashire dial.: E.D.D.

ticky nap. A game of nap(oleon) with a 'ticky' stake for each trick: late C. 19–20: South African. Pettman. See ticky, n.

tiddlerly push, and. And the rest of it; and so on: a c.p. (—1923) 'used to replace any statement . . . considered . . . too long or too involved to be expressed in full' (Kastner & Marks, at the Fr. equivalent, et patati et patata). Manchon.

tidd. A children's abbr. (late C. 19–20) of tiddler, 1, q.v. (Collinson.)

tiddipol. 'An overdressed fat young woman in humble life', Halliwell: provincial: C. 19. Cf.:

tiddivate, tidivate. See titivate.

tiddle, v.i. To fidget, potter: S.E. until ca. 1830, then dial. and coll.: 1748, Richardson; slightly ob.—2. V.t., to advance slowly or by small movements (e.g. a ball, a wheelbarrow); tiddle a girl, to master her very gradually: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Perhaps ex dial. tiddle, to tickle, possibly influenced by diddle; much more prob. by a development of sense ex S.E. (in C. 19–20, dial. and coll.) tiddle, to pamper, to fondle excessively.

tiddle-a-wink. See tiddlywink.—tiddlebat. See tittlebat.

tiddler. A stickleback: nursery coll.: 1885 (O.E.D.). Ex tittlebat, tiddlebat, the popular form.—2. A feather(-brush) for tickling: C. 20. Notably used on Mafeking night, whence dates the name. Ex tiddle, to tickle.—3. 'Thingamy', 'thingummy-bob': lower classes': 1912, A Neil Lyons, 'Clara, steady on with that tiddler!' (Manchon.) tiddl(e)y. See titley.—tiddlewinks, tiddleywink. See tiddlywink.

tiddlies, run. To run over unsafe ice: provincial: mid-C. 19–20.

tiddling. A vbl.n. ex tiddler, 1, q.v.: nursery coll.: C. 20.

tiddly, n. See titley.—2. Adj., drunk: late C. 19–20: low. Ex titley, n.—3. Little: dial. and nursery coll.: C. 19–20.—4. Hence (?), particularly smart: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

Tiddly Chats; Tiddly Quid. H.M. ships Chatham and Royal Sovereign: naval: C. 20. Bowen. The tiddly is prob. that of tiddly, 4.

tiddlywink; also tid(d)leywink, tiddle-a-wink. An unlicensed house (pawnbroker's, beer-shop, brothel, etc.): 1844, J. T. Hewlett (O.E.D.). Perhaps ex titley, q.v. + wink (cf. on the sly). Also kiddlywink.—2. Pl. only; with variant tiddlewinks: knick-knacks of food: 1893, J. A. Barry (O.E.D.). Perhaps influenced by tiddly, adj., 2, q.v.—3. A drink: rhyming s. (—1909). Ware.—4. (In pl.) A sickly, very thin child: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon. Ex the adj.

tiddlywink, v.i. To spend imprudently or with unsanctioned excess: Australian: 1888, Boldrewood, 'He's going too fast . . . I wonder what old Morgan would say to all this here tiddley-winkin', with steam engine, and wire fences'; ob. Ex the n.; rare except in the form of the vbl.n.

tiddlywink, adj. Slim, puny: from ca. 1863; ob. H., 3rd ed. Not because tiddlywinks is considered a feeble, futile game, for it is recorded later, but ex tiddlywink, n., 1. Occ. tillywink.

tiddlywinker. A cheat; a trifler: resp. 1893 (O.E.D.), ca. 1895. Ultimately ex tiddlywink, n., but imm., though nuance 2 is perhaps influenced by tiddlywinks, ex:

tiddlywinking, adj. Pottering; trifling: 1869 (O.E.D.). Ex tiddlywink, n., 1.

tiddlywinks. See tiddlywink, n., 2 and 4.

tiddy. Small, tiny: dial. (—1781) >, by 1860, coll., esp. nursery coll. O.E.D. (Sup.). Perhaps ex a confusion of tiny + little.

tiddy iddy. A reduplication of tiddy, q.v.: 1868, W. S. Gilbert (O.E.D. Sup.).

Tiddy-Poll. George Temple, C. 18. Dawson.

tiddyvate, tidivate. See titivate.—tidlywink. See tiddlywink.

tidy. Fairly meritorious or satisfactory; (of a person) decent, nice: coll.: 1844, Dickens, 'For a coastguardsman . . . rather a tidy question', O.E.D. Ex † S.E. tidy, excellent, worthy.—2. (In amount, degree) considerable: coll.: 1838, Dickens, 'At a tidy pace', Dickens (O.E.D.). Hence, a tidy penny, very fair earnings, etc. Cf. sense 1, and the adv.

tidy, v.t., often with up. To make orderly, clean, etc.: from ca. 1820: in serious contexts, familiar S.E.; in trivial, coll. Ex tidy, in good condition, clean.—2. Hence, v.i.: coll.: 1853, Dickens, 'I have tidied over and over again, but it's useless.'—3. Also ex sense 1: tidy away or up, to stow away, clear up, for tidiness' sake: coll.: 1867 (O.E.D.).

tidy, adv. Pretty well; a good deal; finely, comfortably: dial. and low coll.: 1824 (O.E.D.); 1899, Whiteing, "'Was you knocked about much . . . ?'" "Pretty tidy."

tie. See tye.—2. The need of constant attendance (e.g. on invalids or children); restraint, or deficiency, of freedom: coll. and dial.: C. 20.—3. Thigh: London tailors' (—1909). Ware. (Only as applied to a leg of mutton.)

tie it up. See tie up, v., 1.

tie one's hair or wool. To puzzle (a person): tailors': from ca. 1870.

tie-mate. A particular friend: naval coll.: mid-C. 18—early 19. Bowen.

tie-o(h). See tyo(h).

tie-up. A knock-out blow, a 'settler': boxing: 1818 (O.E.D.). Ex lit. sense (cf. cricket j.).—2. ? hence, a conclusion: 1829 (O.E.D.); rather ob.—

3. An obstruction, stoppage, closure: from late 1880's: coll. >, by 1920, S.E.

tie up, v. To forswear: c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. E.g. tie up priggings, to live honestly. Ex the parallel s. sense, to desist, to desist from,—a sense recorded by O.E.D. for 1760 (Foote).—3. To knock out: boxing: from ca. 1810. Vaux. Cf. tied-up, 1.—4. To join in marriage: coll. >, ca. 1910, s.: 1894, Astley (O.E.D.).—5. To get (a woman) with child: low: C. 19–20; ob.

tie up your stocking! No heel-taps!: Oxford University: late C. 19–20; ob. Ware.

tie with St Mary's knot. See St Mary's knot.

tied-up. Finished, settled: orig., boxing (—1859). H., 1st ed.—2. Costive: from ca. 1870.—3. See tie up, v., 4.—4. Hanged: low (—1923). Manchon.

tied with the tongue that cannot be untied with the teeth, a knot. See knot tied with the tongue.

tiego. Vertigo: sol. or low coll.: C. 17. Mas-singer, 1634. O.E.D.

tier. Incorrect spelling of teer: C. 19–20. O.E.D.

'ties, be in one's. To have reached the age of twenty: coll. (—1923). Manchon. Abbr. twen-ties. (By the way, in his sixties and in the 'Sixties, etc., etc., are S.E.—not, as is sometimes stated, coll.)

tiff. Liquor, esp. if thin or inferior: from ca. 1630; ob. by 1870, † by 1930: coll. >, ca. 1750, s. Corbet, ca. 1635 (O.E.D.); Fielding; Scott. Perhaps of echoic origin.—2. Hence, a small draught (rarely of other than diluted liquor, esp. punch): coll. (—1727) >, ca. 1750, s. Bailey; Scott.—3. A slight outburst of temper or ill-humour: coll. (—1727). Bailey; Thackeray, 1840, 'Numerous tiffs and quarrels'; ob. Etymology problematic, but possibly ex (the effects implied by) sense 1; cf., however, echoic huff and sniff.—4. Hence, a slight quarrel, a briefly peevish disagreement: coll.: 1754, Richardson.—5. Ex sense 1: a gust of laughter, etc.: coll.: 1858, Carlyle (O.E.D.). Rare and ob.

tiff, v.i., occ. t. (The rare form tift occurs only in sense 3.) To lie (with a woman): c.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Cf. the rare or 'nonce' tiffity-taffety girls, harlots (late C. 16), and the C. 15 (? later) tiff, to be idly employed.—2. V.t., to drink, esp. slowly or in sips: ca. 1769–1850. Combe, 1811, 'He tiff'd his punch, and went to rest.' Ex tiff, n., 2, q.v.—3. V.i., to have a tiff, be peevish or pettish: coll. (—1727). Bailey; 1777, Sheridan, 'We tifted a little before going to church, and fairly quarrelled before the bells had done ringing'; slightly ob. Ex tiff, n., 4.—4. To have, eat, lunch: Anglo-Indian coll. (1803, Elphinstone: Yule & Burnell) >, ca. 1850, S.E. But much the earliest record I have seen is this, dated Sept. 23, 1712, from Bencoleen in Sumatra: 'At 12 I tiff, that is eat . . . some good relishing bit, and drink a good draught': The Letter Books of Joseph Collett, ed. by H. H. Dodwell, 1933. Abbr. of the v. implicit in tiffin.

tiffic(k)s. Odds and ends of iron (e.g. screws): nautical (—1923). Manchon. Origin? (? error.)

tiffin. A lunch, esp. if light: Anglo-Indian coll. (1800: O.E.D.) >, ca. 1830, S.E. Ex tiffing, q.v. Esp. Yule & Burnell.—2. Hence, in New Zealand: a snack and a drink (gen. tea) at 10.30 or 11 a.m., as a rest from work: late C. 19–20: rare coll.

tiffing. 'Eating, or drinking out of meal times', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1830. Ex tiff, v., 2, q.v.

Whence tiffin, q.v. It occurs in 1784 as trifling (Yule & Burnell).

tiffish. Apt to take offence; peevish: coll. (— 1855). Rare. Ex tiff, n., 3. (O.E.D.)

tiffy. An engine-room artificer: nautical: from late 1890's. F. T. Bullen, 1899 (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, any artificer or fitter: mechanics': C. 20. (R. Blaker, Medal without Bar, 1930.)

tiffy, adj. In a tiff: coll.: 1810 (O.E.D.). Ex tiff, n., 3.—2. Hence, apt to take offence: coll. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.—3. Hence, faddy: from ca. 1880; ob.

tift. See tiff, v., 3.

Tiger, or the Tiger. Edward, 1st Baron Thurlow (d. 1806), Lord Chancellor. Dawson.—2. Mr Joseph Chamberlain: political: 1895 till his death.—3. Clemenceau: political: C. 20.—4. (Tiger only.) E. J. Smith, Warwickshire's wicket-keeper from 1904 to 1930. Who's Who in World Cricket, 1934.—5. See Tigers.

tiger. A smart-liveried boy-groom: 1817 (O.E.D.); Lytton, 'Vulgo Tiger'; ob. by 1880, † by 1930. Ex livery.—2. Hence, any boy acting as outdoor servant: from ca. 1840; id.—3. 'The steward who acts as personal servant to the captain of a liner': nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex sense 1.—4. A vulgarly overdressed person: 1827, Scott (O.E.D.); 1849, Thackeray. Ob. by 1860, † by 1890. Ex a tiger's bright colours. Cf. sense 1.—5. Hence, a parasite, rake, swell-mobman: ca. 1837–60.—6. Streaky bacon: navvies': from ca. 1890. Ex the streaks.—7. A convict that tears to pieces another convict's yellowish suit: c.: from late 1890's. Ex the 'ferocity' of the act + the colour of the suit.—8. A leopard: South African catachresis (— 1852). Pettman.—9. A jaguar: South American Englishmen's catachresis: from ca. 1880. Ex American usage.—10. Tough-crust bread: schoolboys': ca. 1870–1905. Ware. Ex its powers of resistance.—11. A formidable opponent, esp. at lawn tennis: coll. (— 1934). C.O.D., 3rd ed., Sup. Opp. rabbit, 4.

Tiger Bay. A certain well-known sailors' quarter in London, before 1887; Mayhew delimits it as Brunswick Street (East End); Cockneys': ca. 1820–90. Baumann. Ex their wild goings-on. Also ex the fact that 'Tiger Bay . . . is full of brothels and thieves' lodging houses,' Mayhew, 1861.

[Tiger Earl, the. See Earl Beadie. Sobriquet rather than nickname.]

tiger, hot. See hot tiger.

tiger-hunter. A mat-mender, the trade gen. being learnt in gaol: c. (— 1932). 'Stuart Wood', Shades of the Prison House. Prob. ex rugs of tiger-skin.

tigerish. Flashy; loudly dressed: ca. 1830–70. Lytton, 1853, 'Nothing could be more . . ., to use a slang word, tigrish, than his whole air. Ex tiger, 4. (The n., tigerism, may perhaps be considered s. or coll.: in sense of tiger, 1, mainly in 1840's; of tiger, 4 and 5, rarely after 1830's. O.E.D.)

Tigers, the. The 17th Foot, now the Leicestershire, Regiment; also, the 67th Foot, now the Hampshire, Regiment: military: from the late 1820's. Ex the Royal Tiger badges granted in, resp., 1825 and 1827. F. & Gibbons.—2. The Leicester Rugby Football Club: sporting: C. 20. The News Chronicle, Feb. 25, 1935.—3. Hull City Football Club ('soccer'): id.: id. Ex their colours.

tight. Hard, severe, difficult: coll.: 1764, Foote (O.E.D.); ob. except in tight squeeze (Haliburton, 1855; after U.S. tight spot), place (mentioned in 1856 as an Americanism), and corner (1891). O.E.D., F. & H., Thornton. Cf. tight fit, q.v.—2. (Of a contest) close; (of a bargain) hard: U.S. coll. (ca. 1820) anglicised ca. 1860.—3. (Of a person) close-fisted: coll. (— 1828). Mostly U.S.—4. (Of money) hard to come by; (of the money market) with little money circulating: 1846, The Daily News, Jan. 21, 'In Paris money is "tight" also, and discounts difficult,' O.E.D.—5. Topsy: 1843 in U.S. (O.E.D. Sup.); 1853, Dickens's article in Household Words, Sept. 24 (see Slang); H., 1st ed.; Kipling. Cf. screwed, (lit. screwed tight, hence) drunk.—6. Cramped; over-worked; meticulous: artists': from ca. 1890. Occ., in C. 20, as adv. (O.E.D.) Cf. tired.—7. (Of balls) in contact, (pockets) with small openings: billiards (— 1909). Supplement to The Century Dict.—8. (The Winchester usage is in line with S.E.) tight !, blow me. See blow, v., 3. (Ex blowing up bladders, balloons, etc.)

tight !, hold. Stop !, don't move !; steady !: coll.: from ca. 1910. Ex bus-conductor's adjuration.

tight junior. See junior.

tight, sit. To sit close, stay under cover; not to budge: coll.: from mid-1890's.—2. Cf. the C. 18 sense: to apply oneself closely to: 1738 (O.E.D.).

tight-arsed. (Of women) chaste: low coll.: late C. 19–20.—2. Stingy: C. 20.

tight as a drum. Extremely drunk: 1908, A. S. M. Hutchinson, Once Aboard the Lugger.

tight boots, sit in. To be ill at ease with one's host: semi-proverbial coll. (— 1855). H. G. Bohn's Handbook of Proverbs. (Apperson.)

tight cravat. The hangman's noose: coll.: late C. 18–mid-19.

tight fit, a. Coll. when used of things other than clothes: late C. 19–20.

tighten, v.i. To tight-lace: (not aristocratic) coll.: 1896 (O.E.D.); slightly ob.

tighten one's galabieh. See galabieh.

tight(er)ner. A hearty meal; occ. a large amount (of liquor): low coll.: 1851, Mayhew. Hence, do a or the tightener; the latter in J. E. Ritchie's Night Side of London, 1857.

tighties. Women's drawers that fit very tight: feminine coll.: from ca. 1933. See quotation at neathie-set.

tightified. (Rendered) tight; close-fitting: (low) coll.: C. 20. (Compton Mackenzie, 1933.)

tightner. See tightener.

tightness. Tipsiness: from some time in 1853–64. See tight, 5. tigress. A vulgarly overdressed woman: 1830's. On tiger, 4, q.v.

tigser, n. 'A slang juvenile epithet used when a person is in quick motion . . . "Go it, tigser"': West Yorkshire s. (— 1904), not dial. Prob. ex dial. tig, 'to run hither and thither when tormented by flies, &c.'

tike, gen. tyke; T. A Yorkshireman: coll. nickname: C. 18–20. E. Ward, 1703 (Matthews). Ex Yorkshire tyke, q.v. In Yorkshire, tyke very gen. for a dog.

tike (tyke)-lurking. Dog-stealing: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Also buffer-lurking.

tik(k)i, tikkie. See ticky.

tilbury. (A) sixpence: ca. 1790–1850. Grose, 3rd ed., 'From its formerly being the fare for crossing over from Gravesend to Tilbury fort.' Cf. tizzy. tile. A hat: 1823, Egan's Groser. Esp. ca. 1850-1900, a dress-hat; extant as tile-hat, esp. in Glasgow, where it is also called a tum hat. Ex tile as part of roof; cf. thatched, be well, q.v.

tile-frisking*, n. Stealing hats from lobbies and halls; c. of ca. 1823-80. tile-hat. See tile.
tile loose, (have) a. (To be) slightly crazy: from mid-1840's. Ex tiles loose on roof; cf. tile and a shingle short, q.v. tiled, adj. Hatted: 1792, The Annual Register (O.E.D.). Cf. tile, q.v. tiled down*. Under cover; esp., out of the way, hidden: c.: 1845 in 'No. 747'; app. † by 1900. Lit., under the tiles.
tiler*. A shoplifter: c. of ca. 1650-80. ? ex L. tollere. tiles, (be or go) on the. (To be or go) on the loose; esp. a-drinking or on sexual adventure: low (- 1857) >, ca. 1910, gen. 'Ducange Anglicus'; Baumann. Ex the procedure of cats. till. The female pudend: low: C. 19-20. Suggested by money(-box), q.v.
till-boy*. An assistant tampering with the cash in his master's till: c. (- 1864). H., 3rd ed. Perhaps on:
till-sneak*. A thief specialising in shop-tills: c.: from ca. 1860. till the cows come home. See cows come . . .
tilladum. 'A slang word for to "wcape". . . . Hence tilladumoite, . . . a handloom weaver', E.D.D.: Lancashire: from ca. 1860. The former occurs in James Staton, Rays fro' th' Loominary, 1866; the latter in Staton's Bobby Shuttle un his woife Sayroh, 1873. tiller soup. That rough treatment with a tiller by (the throat of) which a coxswain encourages his boat's crew: nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Cf. belaying-pin soup.
till(e)y, easy as. Very easy: ? C. 18-19. Lit., easy as saying: till(e)y-vally; tully-valy, etc. Nonsense!: trivial coll. of ca. 1525-1890. Skelton, Scott. Vaguely onomatopoeic in origin: cf. tush! tillywink. See tiddlywink. (H., 3rd ed.) tilter. A sword or rapier: 1688, Shadwell; † by 1840. Ex tilt, to take part in a tourney or jousting. timber. Wooden gates, fences, hurdles, etc.: hunting: 1791, 'G. Gambado' (O.E.D.).—2. A wooden leg; hence, any leg (1862, Whyte-Melville). O.E.D.—3. The stocks: from ca. 1850. Douglas Jerrold the First. Cf. timber-stairs, q.v.—4. A wicket, the wickets: cricket coll.: 1861 (Lewis). Cf. timber-yard, q.v.—5. See timbers.—6. See timber merchant.—7. (Timber.) A variant of Lackery, q.v. (F. & Gibbons.) timber, bowl for. See bowl for timber. timber, small. Lucifer matches: (mostly London) street s.: from ca. 1859. Cf. timber-merchant. timber, sport. See sport timber. timber-jumper. A horse good at leaping gates and fences: hunting: 1847, Thackeray, 'I never put my leg over such a timber-jumper,' O.E.D. timber-merchant. A street match-seller: (London) streets' (- 1859) now verging on c. H., 1st ed. Ware, 1909, records timber (gen. pl.), a lucifer match, as low s. timber-stairs. The pillory: mid-C. 18-early (? mid-)C. 19. In Herd's collection of songs (O.E.D.). Cf. timber, 3, q.v. Cf. also the tree synonymy.

timber-toe. A wooden leg: from ca. 1780; ob. Implied in Grose, 1st ed., where timber-toe is a person with a wooden leg, a sense reappearing in Hood. The variant timber-toes is C. 19-20, and, from ca. 1870 in the East End of London, it also = a person wearing clogs, as in H., 5th ed. timber-toed. Having a wooden leg or legs: from ca. 1810. See preceding. timber-toes. See timber-toe. timber-topper. The same as, and ex, timber-jumper: hunting: 1883 (O.E.D.).
Timber-Town, H.M.S. The camp at Groningen (Holland); Royal Naval Division coll.: dating from the fall of Antwerp in the G.W. (F. & Gibbons mentions that many R.N.D. men were interned there.) timber-tuned. Heavy-fingered; wooden in movement: late C. 19-20; ob.
timber-yard. One's wickets; more precisely, the place where one's wickets stand: cricket: 1853, Cuthbert Bede, 'Verdant found that before he could get his hand in, the ball was got into his wicket . . . and . . . there was a row in his timber-yard'; virtually †. timbered up to one's weight, not. Not in one's style: coll.: mid-C. 19-20; ob.
timbers. The wickets: cricketers' coll. (- 1877). Lewis. Esp. in shiver one's timbers, to scatter the wickets and stumps. Cf. timber, 3, and timber-yard; contrast bowl for timber, q.v.—2. Worked wood in gen., e.g. escritoirs, cabinets, elaborate tables: artistic: ca. 1880-1914. Ware.
timbers!, my; dash my t.! shiver my t.! Nautical s. exclamations: resp. 1789, Dibdin, 'My timbers! what lingo he'd coil and belay,' O.E.D.; mid-C. 19-20, rare and hardly nautical; and 1835, Marryat (see shiver . . .). time. In boxing sense; see time of day, 5, and time, knock out of.—2. (The time spent in) a term of imprisonment: rare except in time, do, q.v.—3. Among cab-drivers of ca. 1863-1910, the hours are used to denote the amount of a fare. 'To express 9s. 9d. they say "it is a quarter to ten"; if 3s. 6d., half-past three; if 11s. 9d., a quarter to twelve,' H., 3rd ed.—4. See times.
time, do. To serve a term in prison: 1865 (O.E.D.): c. >, by 1890, s. H., 5th ed., 'Sometimes stir-time (imprisonment in the House of Correction) is distinguished from the more extended system of punishment . . . called "pinnel (penal) time"'; Nat Gould, 1898, 'If it had not been for me you would have been doing time before this.' Hence timer, a convict, in such combinations as first, second, third timer, a prisoner serving for a first, etc., stretch: c. (- 1887). Baumann. time, hot. See hot time. time, in no; in less than no time. Very soon, immediately; (very) quickly: coll.: resp. 1843, Borrow: 1875, Jowett—but prob. a decade or even two or three decades earlier. (O.E.D.)
time, knock out of. 'So to punish an opponent that he cannot come up to the call of time', F. & H.: boxing: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. time, on. Punctual(ly): coll., orig. (1878) U.S.; anglicised ca. 1890; by 1930, virtually S.E. time, short. A single act of copulation as opp. to 'a night of it': low, coll. rather than s.: C. 19-20. ? orig. a prostitutes' term.
time for, have no. 'To regard with impatient disfavour', C. J. Dennis: (? orig. Australian) coll.: late C. 19-20. I.e. 'have no time to spare for'. Cf. the S.E. have no use for.

time of day. 'The time as shown by the clock' is S.E., but the derivative 'a point or stage in any course or period' is coll.: 1687, T. Brown; 1699, Collier, 'The favour of a prince was not . . . unreputable at that time of day,' O.E.D.—2. Hence, give one, or pass, the time of day, to greet a person, to exchange greetings: resp. C. 17-20, mid-C. 19-20: S.E. until late C. 19, then coll. and dial.; give one . . . is ob. as a coll. Whiteing, G. R. Sims.—3. The prevailing state of affairs; the present state of the case: coll.: 1667, Poole; slightly ob. O.E.D. Ex sense 1.—4. Hence, 'what's what'; the right or most fashionable way of doing something; the latest dodge: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee', 1823, 'In the island (Wight) every good joke is "the time o' day"'; more clearly in Dickens, 1838, 'Pop that shawl away in my castor . . .; that's the time of day.' Esp. in fly to the time of day, 'fly', alert, 'knowing' (1828, Maginn; ob.); put one up to the time of day, to initiate a person (1834, Ainsworth); know the time of day (adumbrated in Bunyan, 1682, but not at all gen. before ca. 1895), to know 'what's what',—'Ouida', 1897, "'She knows the time o' day," said the other,' O.E.D.; that's your time of day!, well done! (1860, H., 2nd ed.).—5. (give one) the time of day, (to administer) a knock-out blow: boxing: late C. 19-20; slightly ob.

time on, mark. See mark . . .

timer. See time, do.

times, behind the. Old-fashioned; having only such knowledge (esp. of method) as is superannuated: mid-C. 19-20: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. Cf.:

times go, as. As things are at present: coll.: 1712, Steele (O.E.D.).

Times Lit., The. The Times Literary Supplement: book-world coll.: from 1901.

Timmie. The gymnasium: certain schools': late C. 19-20. (Geoffrey Dennis, Bloody Mary's, 1934.)

timminogy. A term for almost any time- or labour-saving device: naval: ca. 1850-95. Bowen. Ex dial. timminogy, 'a notched square piece of wood; used to support the lower end of the "vargood"' or long spar serving as a bowline, itself ex dial. timmy, the stick or bat used in the game of rounders: E.D.D. Cf. gadget, q.v.

timothy. A brew, or a jorum, of liquor: Scottish: 1855, Strang (O.E.D.). Ex the proper name (? of a brewer or a noted publican).—2. The penis, esp. a child's: either dial. or provincial s. (— 1847). Halliwell. The personification of penis (Dick, man or John Thomas) and of pudend (Fanny) would make an interesting but unpublishable essay.

timp. See tymp.

tin. Money, cash; orig. of small silver coins, so apt to wear thinly smooth and thus assume a tinny appearance: prob. from early C. 19, but not recorded before 1836, in Smith's The Individual; 'Pomes' Marshall. Cf. brass.—2. See Tins.—3. See tins, on the.

tin, v. To dismiss or supersede (gen. an officer): military: 1916; ob. B. & P. Perhaps ex put the tin hat on.

tin!, they've opened another. A depreciatory military c.p. (1915-18) 'frequently heard . . . among the men . . . with reference to some newly arrived draft, or officer', F. & Gibbons. Prob. ex tinned sardines.

tin-arsed. See tinny, 2.

Tin Bellies, the. The 1st and 2nd Life Guards: military: from 1821. F. & Gibbons. Ex the cuirass.

tin bread. Biscuit: military: from 1914. B. & P. Ex the container and the hardness of Army biscuits.

Tin Duck. H.M.S. Iron Duke: naval: 1914-18. Bowen.

tin fish. A torpedo: naval: from not later than 1916. F. & Gibbons.

tin gloves. A criss-cross of blisters methodically made by a bully on the back of a victim's hand: Winchester: ca. 1840-60. Mansfield.

tin hat. A helmet: theatrical: C. 20. W.—2. Hence, a soldier's steel helmet: from late 1915.—3. A staff officer: military: 1917. Much rarer than brass hat; † by 1913.

tin-hat, adj. Drunk: Anglo-Port Said (— 1909). Ware. Often tin hats (F. & Gibbons).

tin hat on, put a or the. To finish in a manner regarded as objectionable by the speaker: from 1916: mainly military. On put the lid on, ex tin hat, n., 2.—2. (V.i.) To 'talk big': Glasgow (— 1934).

tin-hatted. A nautical variant of tin-hat, adj. Bowen.

tin Lizzie. H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth: naval: 1914; ob. Bowen.—2. A Ford motor-car: from ca. 1915. Occ. Lizzie.—3. Hence, any (cheap) motor-car: from ca. 1920.

tin-opener. A bayonet: dating from the Boer War (1899-1901): military. F. & Gibbons. Ex its chief use.

tin pirate. A German submarine: naval: 1916; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. tin fish, q.v.

tin-pot. An ironclad: naval: from ca. 1880; ob. Contrast:

tin-potter. A malingerer: nautical (— 1867); ob. Smyth. Ex tin-pot, inferior.

tin-tab. The carpenter's shop: Dulwich College: late C. 19-20. Cf.:

tin tabernacle. An iron-built or tin-roofed church: 1898, William Le Queux, Scribes and Pharisees, V, 54: s. >, by 1930, coll. Cf. dolly-shop and similar amenities.

tin tacks, come (or get) down to. An occ. coll. variant (dating from middle 1920's) of brass tacks . . ., q.v. (O.E.D. Sup.) Both are rhyming s. on facts.

tin tack. A sack: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Tin Tacks and Onions. Mount Tintwa Inyoni: Boer War military. J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902.

tin tank. A bank: from ca. 1880. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

tin town. A hutment of corrugated iron: military coll.: from 1915. B. & P.

tin-type!, not on your. Certainly not!: a c.p. of late C. 19-20; † by 1930, except in Australia: witness Christina Stead's brilliantly realistic novel, Seven Poor Men of Sydney, 1930. Ex an old-fashioned type of photograph. Perhaps with a pun on not on your life!, certainly not.

tin-wedding (day). The tenth anniversary of a wedding: coll.: 1876 (O.E.D. Sup.). Punning golden and silver weddings.

tinge. A commission allowed to assistants on the sale of outmoded stock : drapers' (— 1860). H., 2nd ed. Cf. suspicion, q.v.

tink. 'A tinker; a disreputable vagabond': Scots coll.: mid-C. 19–20. E.D.D. By abbr.

tink-tinky. See tinky.

tinkard. A begging tinker: c. of ca. 1560–1620. Awdelay.

tinker. To batter: boxing: 1826, The Sporting Magazine, 'Tom completely tinkered his opponent's upper-crust,' O.E.D.; almost †. Ex tinker, v.t., mend tinker-wise.

tinker, swill like a. To tipple unstintedly: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. Motteux.

tinkerman. Incorrect for trinkerman: C. 17–18. O.E.D. Occ. tinklerman, equally wrong: C. 19.

tinker's budget or news. Stale news: coll. and dial.: mid-C. 19–20.

tinker's curse (or cuss) or damn. See curse.

tinker's mufti. A dress half military, half civilian: military coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Tinkers frequently wear very odd garments.

tinkler. A bell: (low) coll.: 1838, Dickens, 'Jerk the tinkler'.

tinkling-box. A piano: South Lancashire s. (— 1904), not dial. E.D.D.

tinky. A South African juvenile coll. variant (— 1899) of tink-tinky, itself orig. (the 1890's) coll. for the bird properly known as ting-ting. Ex its cry, tink, tink, tink. (Pettman.)

tinman. A rich man, esp. a millionaire: sporting: from ca. 1880; ob. Ware. Ex tin; cf. tinny, adj., 1.

tinned air. Artificial ventilation: nautical: from ca. 1910. Bowen.

tinny; tinney (Bee). A fire: c.: C. 19. Vaux. Hence tinny-hunter (ibid.), a thief working after fires.

tinny, adj. Rich: 1871, Punch, Oct. 14 (O.E.D.). Ex tin.—2. ? hence, lucky: Australia and New Zealand: C. 20. Occ. tin-arsed. Cf. protected.

tins, on the. On the scoring-board: cricketers' coll.: C. 20. O.E.D. (Sup.). Ex the tin plates on which the numbers are painted.

Tins, the. The Composite Regiment of Household Cavalry: military: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons. Cf. Tin-Bellies, q.v.

tinter. See barrel tinter.

Tiny is an inevitable nickname of very big or tall men: lower classes: late C. 19–20. Contrast Tich, q.v.

tip. 'The tip . . . money concerned in any dealings or contract . . .; synonymous with the dues', Vaux: c. of ca. 1810–50. Cf. v., 8, 9.—2. Special information conveyed by an expert, private knowledge, esp. as to investment in the money market and to racing; a hint for an examination: from ca. 1840: s. >, by 1900, coll. The Quarterly Review, 1886, 'It should be the first duty of consuls to keep the Foreign Office promptly supplied with every commercial tip that can be of use to British trade.'—3. Hence, something 'tipped' to win, to prosper; esp. a horse: 1873, Besant & Rice (O.E.D.).—4. Hence, a special device, a 'wrinkle': from the 1880's: s. >, by 1910, coll.—5. Hence, at Felsted School, from late 1880's, a false report; hence, ibid., from early 1890's, a foolish mistake in translating. The Felstedian, Feb. 3, 1890, 'Some one ventured to suggest that it was all a beastly tip.'—6. See phrases.—7. A draught of liquor: c. (— 1700) soon > s.; † by 1840. B.E., Swift. Prob. abbr. tipple.—8. Drink in gen.: c. (— 1700) soon > s.; † by 1830. B.E. Certainly ex tipple, q.v.

tip, v. To render unsteady, esp. to intoxicate, mostly in the passive: C. 17–early 18. Camden, 1605 (O.E.D.) Ex tip, to tilt or incline.—2. (Often tip off.) To drink off: late C. 17–20: c. until mid-C. 18, then s.; from mid-C. 19, only in dial. B.E. Ex tipping the glass or bowl in order to drain it.—3. To die: rare except in C. 19–20 dial. and in tip off (late C. 17–20: c., as in B.E., > s. by 1730; in C. 19–20, dial.), tip over the perch (1737, Ozell) or tip the perch (C. 19–20, in the same sense.) (The perch phrases are ob. in C. 20.) Partly O.E.D.—4. To give; pass: C. 17–20: c. >, by 1730, s. Rowlands, 1610, 'Tip me that Cheate, Give me that thing.' Esp. of money, as in Rowlands, 1610; Head; B.E.; Grose. Perhaps ex tip, to touch lightly; the Romany tipper, to give, is a derivative.—5. Hence, to lend (esp. money): c.: late C. 17–20. B.E.—6. Hence (of a person in the presence of others), to assume the character of: from ca. 1740; ob. For its most frequent use, see tip the traveller.—7. Often almost synonymous with 'do' or 'make' (cf. fake, q.v.): late C. 17–20: c. >, early in C. 18 though not in certain phrases, (low) s. See, e.g., tip a nod(1), stave, yarn, and tip the grampus.—8. To earn: C. 17–18: c. >, by 1730, (low) s. Rowlands, 1610; Bridges, ca. 1770, 'This job will tip you one pound one.' Ex tip, to give, and cognate with:—9. To give a 'tip' or present of money to,—whether to an inferior in recognition of a service or to a child or school-boy or -girl: s. >, early in C. 19, coll.: 1706–7, Farquhar, 'Then I, Sir, tips me'—ethic dative—'the verger with half a crown.' Ex sense 4.—10. Hence, v.i., in same sense: 1727, Gay, 'Did he tip handsomely?': s. >, early in C. 19, coll.—11. To indicate by a secret wink: 1749, Fielding, 'I will tip you the proper person . . . as you do not know the town,' O.E.D. Ex tip the wink, q.v.—12. To give private information, a friendly hint, about: from early 1880's: s. >, by 1910, coll. Esp. to indicate a horse as a probable winner, a stock as a profitable investment. Ex tip, n., 2, q.v.; perhaps cognate with preceding sense of the v.—13. Hence, to supply (a person) with 'inside' information: from ca. 1890: s. >, by 1910, coll.—14. Hence, v.i., to impart such information: s. (— 1904) >, by 1910, coll.

tip, miss one's. To fall; fail at a jump: showmen's: from ca. 1850. (In late C. 19–20 circus s., to miss the word indicating that one is due to do something. Barrère & Leland.) Dickens, 1854.—2. Hence, to fall, fail, in gen.: 1869, H. J. Byron, 'Mr Topham Sawyer missed his own tip as well as his victim's, and came down a cropper on a convenient doorstep.' Lit., to fail in one's expertise: see tip, n., 2, q.v. Cf. fall down, q.v.

tip, stand the. See tip, take the.

tip, (gen. the) straight. Genuine or valuable ('inside') information, esp. and orig. as to a horse: s. >, by 1900, coll.: from late 1860's, to judge by H., 5th ed. (1874); 1871, Punch, Aug. 26 (O.E.D.). Because direct from owner or trainer; influenced by straight, honest.—2. Hence, the horse or the stock so recommended: from ca. 1880: s. >, by 1905, coll.

tip, take the. C. of C. 19–20, as in Vaux, 1812, ' . . . To receive a bribe in any shape; and they say of a person who is known to be corruptible, that he will stand the tip.' Ex tip, a gratuity: a sense that the O.E.D. (rightly, I believe) classifies as S.E.

tip, that's the. That's the right thing : from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed. Ex tip, n., 1.

tip a copper. To sky a coin : c. or low s. : mid-C. 19–20.

tip a (gen. one's) daddle, a (gen. one's) fin, the fives, the gripes in a tangle. To shake hands ; with to expressed or implied, to shake hands with or extend one's hand to be shaken : c. or low s. : resp. late C. 18–20 (Grose, 1st ed.), mainly nautical (— 1860 : H., 2nd ed.), late C. 18–20, late C. 18–early 20. See daddle ; the third and fourth occur in Anon., Ireland Sixty Years Ago, 1847 ; tip the gripes (grips) in a tangle is Anglo-Irish and rare.

tip a mish. 'To put on a shirt', F. & H. : c. : C. 18–20 ; ob. The definition is suspect, for the normal sense is to give, lend, it.

tip a moral. To give 'the straight tip' : racing : late C. 19–20. See tip, straight, and moral, a 'moral' certainty.

tip a nod (to). To recognise (a person) : low : mid-C. 19–20.—2. The same as tip the wink, q.v. : 1861, Dickens (O.E.D.).

tip a rise. To befool : low : from ca. 1880. See rise.

tip-a-runner. The game of tip and run : coll. : 1805 ; ob. Lewis.

tip a settler, a *sock. To land (a person) a knock-out blow, a heavy blow : low : resp. 1819 (Moore) and late C. 17–20 (B.E. : c. > low s.).

tip a stave. To sing a song : 1881, R. L. Stevenson, Treasure Island.

tip a yarn. To relate a story : low : from ca. 1870.

tip all nine. To knock down all the skittles at once : from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps ex tip, to touch ; cf. tip, v., 1.

tip and run, n. and v. 'Used during the Great War of German naval dashes at seaside resorts', W. Ex the tip (hit lightly) and run of cricket.

tip-book. A literal translation ; any other book likely to be especially useful in an examination : schools' : 1845 (O.E.D.). See tip, n., 4.

tip-merry. Slightly drunk : C. 17. Ex tip, n., last sense.

tip off. See tip, v., 2. B.E.—2. To die : late C. 17–20 : c. until ca. 1720, then (low) s. ; in C. 19–20, dial. B.E. Cf. tip, v., 3, q.v.—3. Whence, to kill : low (— 1928). O.E.D. (Sup.).—4. A variant of tip, v., 12 : from ca. 1910.

tip one's boom off. To depart hastily : nautical : from ca. 1855 ; slightly ob. H., 2nd ed. Cf. shove off, q.v.

tip one's legs a gallop. To make off ; decamp hastily : c. (— 1823) ; ob. Egan's Grose.

tip over the perch. See tip, v., 3. (Cf. C. 19–20 dial. tip over, to swoon.)

tip-slinger. A race-course tipster : Australian : C. 20. Jice Doone.

tip the double. To give the slip : low : 1838, Wright, Mornings at Bow Street, 'In plain words he tipped them the double, he was vanished.'

tip the grampus. To duck a man (for sleeping on watch) : nautical : from ca. 1860 ; ob. Also blow the grampus. Contrast :

tip the lion. To press a man's nose against his face and then either, as in Steele, 1712 (O.E.D.), bore out his eyes with one's fingers, or, as in Grose (1st ed.) and gen., 'at the same time to extend his mouth with the fingers, thereby giving him a sort of lionlike appearance' ; † by 1850.

tip the little finger. To drink : Australian : late C. 19–20 ; ob.

tip the long 'un. 'To foraminate a woman', F. & H. : late C. 19–20 low.

tip the nines. (Of a sailing-ship carrying too much sail in dirty weather) to be 'driven right under' (Bowen) : nautical : late C. 19–20 ; ob.

tip the rags (occ. legs) a gallop or the double. To decamp : low : resp. C. 19–20 and mid-C. 19–20 (H., 1st ed.). Cf. tip the double.

tip the red rag. See red rag, tip the.

tip the traveller. To exaggerate, to romance, as a traveller is apt to do : 1742, Fielding (O.E.D.) ; Smollett ; Grose. App. ob. by 1860 and † by 1930. Variant of play the traveller. Cf. the C. 16–18 proverb, a traveller may lie by authority (Apperson).—2. Hence (variant : put the traveller, C. 19 : Manchon), with upon, to impose upon ; befool : implied in 1762 in Smollett ; † in C. 20.—3. Grose, 1st ed., has top the traveller, but this is prob. a misprint.

tip the velvet. See velvet.

tip the (occ. C. 18–19, a) wink. To warn, signal to, with a wink : 1676, Etherege (O.E.D.) ; Dryden ; Pope ; Grose. S. >, by 1850, coll. Cf. tip the nod.

tip-top. The very top ; fig., the acme : coll. : 1702, S. Parker (O.E.D.). Ex top strengthened by tip, extremity, or, as O.E.D. suggests, reduplicated top.—2. Hence, occ. as collective singular, the 'swells' : coll. : mid-C. 18–mid-19. Thackeray, 1849, 'We go here to the best houses, the tiptops', O.E.D.

tip-top, adj. At the very top ; excellent ; 'splendid' : coll. : before 1721, Vanbrugh, 'In tip-top spirits' ; G. Eliot. Ex the n., 1.

tip-top, adv. Excellently ; 'splendidly', 'toppingly' : from ca. 1880. Ex preceding.

tip-topper. A 'swell' : 1837, Thackeray (O.E.D.) ; ob. Other forms (tip-topping, etc.) are too little used to qualify as unconventional : they're merely eccentric.

tip-toppedest. See tippest-toppest.

tip up. To hand over, 'fork out', esp. money : low (— 1859). H., 1st ed.—2. To hold out : low and nautical (— 1887). Esp. as in Baumann, tip up your fist (or fin), reach or give (me) your hand !, shake hands ! Cf. tip a daddle, q.v.

tipper. One who gives a gratuity : 1877 (O.E.D.) : coll. >, by 1900, S.E.—2. A tipster : mostly racing : from ca. 1890. Cf. tip, n., 2.

Tipperary fortune. Breasts, pudend., and anus : Anglo-Irish (— 1785) ; ob. Grose, 1st ed., 'Two town lands, stream's town, and ballinocack, said of Irish women without fortune.' Cf. at wind-mill ; see Rochester, Tetbury, Whitechapel portion ; also Whitechapel fortune.

Tipperary lawyer. A cudgel : Anglo-Irish : mid-C. 19–20. Cf. Plymouth cloak.

tippest-toppest. Absolutely 'tip-top' : jocular (— 1887) ; ob. Baumann (also tip-toppedest).

tippet ; hempen t. (Marlowe) ; St Johnstone's t. (Scott) ; Tyburn t. (Latimer, 1549). A hangman's rope : mid-C. 15–early 19 : jocular coll. verging on S.E. (O.E.D.)

tipping, n. See tip, v.—2. Adj. Excellent, 'topping' : dial. (— 1887) > school s. before 1904. Prob. ex topping on ripping.

tipple. Liquor : late C. 16–20 : coll. >, by 1700, s. Ex the v. Occ. of non-intoxicants : mid-C. 19–20.—2. A drinking-bout : † C. 18–20. F. & H.

tipple, v.t. To disarrange (beds) : Bootham School: C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Perhaps a perversion of S.E. tip-up.

tippling-ken. A tavern: low: C. 18. Ned Ward, A Vade Mecum for Maltworms, 1715. (His tippling-office, however, is prob. a nonce-word. W. Matthews, in Notes and Queries, June 15, 1935.)

tipply. Unsteady: coll.: 1906 (O.E.D.). Lit., apt to tipple over.—2. Hence, drunk: from ca. 1910. (Miles Burton, Murder at the Moorings, 1932.)

tippy. Extremely fashionable; 'swell': 1810 (O.E.D.) ob. by 1900, † by 1935, except in Glasgow. Cf. the U.S. tippy (occ. tippee), an exquisite of 1804–5 (Thornton). Ex:—2. the tippy. The height of fashion; the fashionable thing to do: ca. 1794–1812. Ex tip, the very top. O.E.D.—3. Extremely ingenious; very neat, smart, effective: 1863, M. Dods, 'A tippy little bit of criticism'; ob. Perhaps ex tip, n., 1.—4. Unsteady: coll.: from mid-1880's. Lit., likely to tip over. Cf. tipply, q.v. The Century Dict.—5. Generous with tips (of money): servants' and subordinate staffs': C. 20. E.g. John G. Brandon, Th' Big City, 1931.

tipster. One who gives 'tips', orig. in racing (1862) and by 1884 in gen.: coll. >, by 1900, S.E. See tip, n., 2. (O.E.D.) tiptop. See tip-top.

tique. See teek.

tire out, tire to death. To tire to exhaustion: coll.: resp. mid-C. 16–20, 1740. (O.E.D.)

tired. (Of a picture, or rather of the painting thereof) overworked: artists': C. 20. Virtually synonymous with the longer-established tight (sense 6). Also hard. (J. Hodgson Lobley, R.B.A.) tired, be born. To dislike work; occ. as 'an excuse for assumed apathy or genuine disinclination', F. & H.: from late 1890's. Whiteing, 1899. Occ. be tired.

tired, make (a person). See you make me tired.

tiresome. Troublesome, annoying, unpleasant: coll.: 1798, Charlotte Smith, 'The tiresome custom you have got of never being ready' (O.E.D.).

tirly-whirly. The female pudend: Scots: late C. 18–20; ob. Burns. Reduplicated whirly. Lit., 'a whirled figure, ornament, or pattern': cf. lit. senses of tirly.

Tirps. Von Tirpitz, Admiral-in-Chief of the German Navy: naval: 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons. Contrast terps and turps.

tirret, tirrit. A fit of temper, occ. fear; an 'upset': coll., orig. illiterate for terror, perhaps influenced by dial. frit, frightened: late C. 16–20. Shakespeare.

'tis. It is: coll. when not poetical,—at least after ca. 1850. Baumann.

'Tiser or 'Tizer, The. The Morning Advertiser: journalistic (—1860). H., 2nd ed. ('Tizer'); Anon., The Siliad, 1874, 'The Victualler's anger, and the 'Tiser's rage'; † by 1920.

tish. A partition; esp. a cubicle: Public Schools', universities' (—1904).

tissey. An occ. variant of tizzy, q.v.; † by 1900 tisty-tosty. Twistigrah (a game): C. 20; ob. W. J. Lewis, The Language of Cricket, at googly Ex dial. tisty-tosty, a cowslip-ball, hence adj. 'round like a ball' (E.D.D.).

tit. A girl or young woman (in mid-C. 19–20, often, in low s., of a harlot): from end of C. 16: S.E. until C. 18, then coll. until C. 19, then s.; from late C. 19, low s. and possibly influenced by titter, q.v. Grose, 1st ed.; T. Creovey, 1837, '[Lady Tavistock] thinks the Queen a resolute little tit,' O.E.D. Ex tit, a (small) horse: cf. jilly, q.v.—2. The female pudend: low: C. 18–20; ob. Abbr. tit-bit, titmouse, in same sense (C. 17–18); the former occ. = the penis, as in Urquhart, 1653.—3. A sol. spelling and pronunciation of teat: prob. from C. 17 or even earlier.—4. A student at Durham University: Durham townsmen's: late C. 19–20. Also 'Varsity tit. Ex tit applied to persons.—5. A horse: c.: 1834, Ainsworth; Charles E. Leach. Earlier in dial.

tit-bit. See tit, 2.

Tit-Bits. The R.F.C. weekly communiqué: Air Force: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons. Punning the popular weekly.

tit-fer (gen. titfer); tit-for-tat. A hat: the short form being an obvious abbr. (C. 20) of the second, which is rhyming s. of late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons; B. & P.—2. (tit-for-tat.) 'Too bloody right' (q.v.): military: 1914; ob. B. & P.

tit willow. A pillow: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

titch. A flogging: Christ's Hospital: mid-C. 19–20. ? ex tight breeches by blending, or ex dial. titch, touch.—2. Hence, occ. as a v. F. & H.

titery. See tittery.—tiffer. See tit-fer.

tith. Tight: coll. and dial.: ca. 1615–30. Rare except in dramatist Fletcher. O.E.D.

Titire-Tu. See Tityre-Tu.

tittivate, tittivate; occ. tiddivate, tidi-, tiddyvate. To put finishing or additional touches to (one's toilet, oneself): coll.: resp. 1805, 1836, 1824, 1833, 1823. E.g. Dickens in Boz, 'Regular as clockwork—breakfast at nine—dress and tittivate a little', this quotation illustrating and affording the earliest example of the v.i. used as v. reflexive. Perhaps ex tidy with a quasi-Latin ending on cultivate: O.E.D. 'Or fanciful elaboration of synonymous dial. tiff, Fr. attifer, "to decke, . . . adorne" (Cotgrave)'; W. Also with †off or up.—2. Hence, v.t., to treat gently: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

tittivated, -ating, -ation, -ator. Obvious derivatives ex tittivate: C. 19–20. Coll.

titley; gen., and in C. 20 almost always, tiddly, occ. tiddley. Intoxicating liquor: low (—1859). H., 1st ed. (titley). Prob. ex tiddlywink (q.v.), a public-house.—2. Hence, a drink: low: from ca. 1870. Baumann. In C. 20, gen. a little drink (Manchon).

titley; tiddly. Drunk: low: app. unrecorded before C. 20, though on the tiddl(e)y, intoxicated or in a fair way of becoming intoxicated, appears in Punch in 1895 (O.E.D. Sup.). If thus late, then ex the n., but if earlier than tiddlywink (q.v.), then perhaps a corruption (? orig. dial.) of tipsy.

titley (or tiddley) and binder. A drink of beer and a piece of bread-and-cheese (cf. binder, 1): public-house phrase: C. 20. (Desmond Ryan, St Eustace and the Albatross, 1935.)

titmouse. See tit, n., 2. Ex titmouse, fig. = a small thing.

titotular bosh. Absolute nonsense: orig. and mainly music-halls': 1897–8. Ware. Punning teetotal.

tit's back, as fine a fellow as ever crossed. A very fine fellow: either c. or low (—1887). Baumann. See tit, 1.

titter. A girl or young woman: criminals' and tramps' c. (—1812) >, by 1900, low s. Vaux; H., 1st to 3rd ed.; Henley, 1887, 'You flymy titters full of flam.' Either ex titter, a giggle, or ex Scots titty, a sister, or again, ex dial. titty, a breast: the third possibility is perhaps the likeliest, for titty, sister, is mainly a child's word, unless we consider that dial. titty, a girl, has been influenced by titty, a breast.

tittery. Gin: C. 18. Perhaps ex titter, to giggle: Bailey. Occ. titory, tityre.

Tittery-tu. See Tityre-tu.

tittie. See titty.—tittivate. See titivate.

tittle. To whisper; to gossip: late C. 14–20: S.E. until late C. 18, then coll. and dial.; in C. 20, mainly dial. Prob. echoic.

tittlebat. A somewhat illiterate, mainly London, coll. form of stickleback: C. 19–20. E.D.D. and W. Also tiddlebat, tittleback. (Slovenliness generates many such popular corruptions.)

tittup; occ. titup. As n., eligible only in the tit(t)up, the thing: that's the t., that's the thing; the correct t., the correct thing: low: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex tit(t)up, a horse's canter, itself echoic.

tittup, v.i. To toss for drinks: nautical: C. 20. S.O.D. Ex tittup, to canter. Cf.:

tit(t)uppy. Unsteady, shaky: coll.: 1798, Jane Austen. Rarely of persons, and in C. 20 mainly dial. Ex tit(t)up, a horse's canter.

titty; occ. tittie. A sister; a girl or young woman: Scots coll. (mostly among children as 'sister'): from ca. 1720. Ramsay, Burns, Scott. Perhaps ex child's pronunciation of sister. O.E.D. Cf. titter, q.v.—2. A or the breast, esp. the human mother's: nursery coll. and dial.: from ca. 1740. (In dial., occ. tetty.)—3. A diminutive of teat (cf. tit, 3, q.v.): coll.: C. 19–20.—4. Hence, a dummy teat: coll. (—1927). Collinson.—5. A kitten, a cat; also in address: nursery coll. and dial.: C. 19–20. Clare, 1821 (O.E.D.). Ex child's pron. of kitty.

titty and billy (or -ie and -ie). Sister and brother: Scots coll.: C. 19–20. Ex titty, 1, q.v.—2. Hence, be titty-billy (or -ie), to be intimate: Scots coll. (—1825). Jamieson.

titty-bag; -bottle. Resp., a small linen bag containing bread sprinkled with sweetened milk, given by some nurses to their charges; a bottle (of milk) with teat attached: children's: C. 20. Manchon.

tityre. See tittery.

titup. See tittup.

Tityre-tu; also Titire-Tu, Tytere (or -ire)-tu, Tittery tu, tittyry. A member of a band of rich and leisured roughs of ca. 1620–60: a coll. nickname > S.E. The O.E.D. records the name in 1623 (J. Chamberlain); 'Water-Poet' Taylor; Herrick. Ex the opening words of Virgil's First Eclogue.

tius. A suit (of clothes): back s. (—1909). Ware restricts it to East London.

tiv(v)y. The female pudend: low: C. 19–20; ob. ? ex dial. tiv(e)y, activity.

'Tizer, The. See 'Tiser.

tizzy; occ. tizezy, tissey. A sixpence: resp. 1804, 1809, and († in C. 20) 1829. Moncrieff, 1823, 'Hand us over three browns out of that 'ere tizzy.' O.E.D.; F. & H. Prob. a corruption of tester, q.v., via tilbury, q.v. See also testy. Cf. swiz for swindle (W.).

tizzy-poole. A fives ball: Winchester: from ca. 1870. Because it used to cost 6d. and be sold by a head porter named Poole. Cf. the Harrow tizzy-tick, 'an order on a tradesman to the extent of 6d. a day', F. & H.: mid-C. 19–20.

tizzy-snatcher. An assistant-paymaster: naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex tizzy, q.v.

to, preposition. At (as in to home); in (a place, as in 'He lives to London'): S.E. until mid-C. 18, then dial. and (mostly U.S.) coll.—in England, it is, as a coll., illiterate, as indeed it is throughout the Empire, except Canada.—2. (After to be and in all to bits or pieces) in, into: coll.: C. 18–20. Vanbrugh, ca. 1720, 'The glasses are all to bits,' O.E.D.—3. The very pregnant use of to (in speech, gen. emphasised) as in 'There's more to the Bible than there is to The Sheik,' 'There's something to Shakespeare' is a C. 20 coll. (? earlier than 1915) prob. derived ex to it, q.v.—4. Used at the end of phrase or clause and = 'to do', etc., it is rare before C. 19, but a very frequent coll. in late C. 19–20. 'I went because I had to.' O.E.D.

to, adv. Expressing contact as in shut a door to: M.E.—C. 20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. (O.E.D.)—2. 'Expressing attachment, application, or addition': C. 15–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. 'We ordered the horses to', 1883 (O.E.D.); C. W. Thurlow Craig, 1935, 'We threw the coat to', i.e. on to the body.

to, conjunction, is sol.: late C. 19–20. E.g. 'Wait to I see you.' Rare. (Also in dial.)

to it, that's all there is. There is nothing to add, do, or say: coll. (orig. U.S.), anglicised ca. 1910. Cf. to, 3, q.v. In these cognates, (is) to = (is) notable, good, significant (in it, etc.). Possibly the pregnancy of this to originated in the to stated or implied in the ethic dative.

to-night's the night! A c.p. of late C. 19–20; ob.

to rights. See rights, to.—toac. See taoc.

to the nines, *to the ruffian. To an extreme or superlative degree: for to the nines, see nines; to the ruffian is c. of ca. 1810–50: Vaux.

toad. A German hand-grenade, shaped rather like one: military coll.: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons.—2. 'A piece of hot toast put into their beer by college men': Winchester: C. 19. Wrench.

toad-in-the-hole. A sandwich-board: mostly London (—1864); † by 1920. H., 3rd ed. Ex the meat dish so named.—2. Hence, occ., the man carrying it: late C. 19—early 20. Manchon.

toad is of feathers, as full of money as a. Penniless: coll.: ca. 1785–1900. Grose, 2nd ed.; Baumann. Prob. suggested by:

toad of a side-pocket, as much need of it as a. See side-pocket.

toad on a chopping-block, (s)he sits like a. (S)he sits badly on a horse: coll. (—1785); † by 1920. Grose, 1st ed. A picturesque simile as applied to a side-saddle. (In Lincolnshire dial.: ... on a shovel: E.D.D.)

toast. A toper; (old toast) a lively old fellow fond of his liquor: ca. 1668–1800, but ob. by 1730. L'Estrange, B.E., Grose. Ex such phrases as ale and toast.

toast, (had) on. Swindled: from ca. 1885. St James's Gazette, Nov. 6, 1886, refers to had on toast as 'a quaint and pleasing modern phrase'.—2. Hence, on toast = cornered: from early 1890's.—3. Hence, in C. 20: compliant, extremely willing to help, servile, at one's mercy.

toast your blooming eye-brows! Go to blazes!: lower classes' c.p. of ca. 1895–1915. Ware.

toasting-fork, -iron. A sword: jocular coll.: 1596, Shakespeare, and Grose, 1st ed., have t.-iron, which is ob. by 1880, † by 1914; t.-fork dates from ca. 1860 and occurs in Tom Brown at Oxford, 1861. Cf. cheese-toaster (and the † S.E. toaster), likewise derived ex its most gen. use.

toasty. Warmly tinted: artists': from mid-1890's. Lit., (burnt) brown.

tobacco, make dead men chew. To keep the names of dead men on the books: naval: late C. 18—early 19. John Davis, The Post Captain, 1805.

Tobacco Browne. Isaac Hawkins Browne (1705–60), wit and poet; author of parodies entitled A Pipe of Tobacco. (Dawson.)

tobacco chart. Gen. pl., 'the . . . inaccurate charts that could formerly be bought from any ship chandler at a low price': nautical: ca. 1840–90. Bowen. Perhaps as sold at the price of an ounce of tobacco, or because they were to tobacco-stained.

tobacco-pipe curls. Corkscrew curls worn by costers and Gypsies: (esp. London) lower classes' (— 1887); ob. Baumann. Ex the curve of such a pipe.

tobacoy. Tobacco: lower classes' coll.: from the 1870's if not earlier. W. S. Gilbert, H.M.S. Pinafore, 'I've snuff and tobacoy and excellent jacky.' (Slang, p. 101.)

tobby. A deck boy: nautical: late C. 19–20: Bowen. ? ex toby, n., 5: because always at hand.

tober. A road: tramps' c. and Romany, the former in 1845 in 'No. 747'. See toby, 3.—2. Hence, a circus-field: Parlyaree (?) and circus s. (— 1933). E. Seago, Circus Company.—3. Among grafters, it is a fair-ground or market; hence, one's pitch thereon or therein: C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

tober-mush. A market-inspector: market-traders' (e.g. Petticoat Lane): C. 20. Ex preceding + mush, n., last sense: cf. coring mush and rye mush. Cf. also:

tober omee (or omey or homee or homey). A toll-collector: grafters': late C. 19–20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Cf. tober-mush.

toby. The buttocks: from ca. 1675. Esp. in tickle one's toby, to beat him on the buttocks. Ex the proper name.—2. Hence, the female pudend, as in Cotton, ca. 1678. Ob.—3. (Always the toby.) The highway: c. (— 1811). Lex. Bal., Lytton, Ainsworth, Hindley; ob., the gen. C. 20 term being drum. Also, fig., robbery on the highway: 1812, Vaux. Cf. toby man, q.v. Ex Shelta tobar, a road, itself perhaps a 'deliberate perversion of Irish bothar, road', W. Occ. tober. Cf. the v. and the phrases.—4. Hence, a pitch: showmen's: from ca. 1890. The Standard, Jan. 29, 1893, 'We have to be out in the road early . . . to secure our "Toby"'.—5. Toby, the dog in a Punch and Judy show: 1840: coll. very soon > S.E.: see swatchel. 'The dog in [The Book of] Tobit . . . is probably the eponym of "Dog Toby" of "Punch and Judy"' (Sir Paul Harvey).—6. A lady's collar: Society coll.: ca. 1882–1918. Ex 'the wide frill worn round the neck by Mr Punch's dog' (Ware).—7. Hence (?), a steel helmet: military: from late 1915. F. & Gibbons.—8. A tramp: c.: C. 20. George Orwell, Down and Out, 1933. Ex senses 3, 4.

toby, v.t. To rob (a person) on the highway; hence, done for a toby, convicted for highway robbery: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux (v. and phrase).

toby, high (or main). Highway robbery by a mounted person; that of footpads being the low toby. C. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux. See toby, n., 3.—2. Also (high toby only), the highway itself.

toby, high spice; high toby spice. The highway viewed as the locality for robbery: c. (— 1812). Byron, 1812 (h.t.s.); Hindley, 1876 (h.s.t.). Ex toby, n., 3.

toby, ply or ride the. To practise highway robbery: c. of ca. 1812–70. Ex toby, n., 3, and cf. toby, high.

toby concern or lay. The practice of highway robbery: c.: 1811 (lay); † by 1880. 'Ducange Anglicus' and H. 1st ed., have toby consarn.

toby gill; high toby gloak; toby man. A highwayman: c.: from ca. 1810; † by 1880. Vaux, 1812, has all three. (Romany: tober kov, cove.) Cf.:

toby man, high and low. A highwayman and a footpad: c.: ca. 1810–80. Lex. Bal., 1811. Ex toby, n., 3, and cf. toby gill, etc.

toby spice. See toby, high spice, and spice*.

toc emma. A trench mortar: military: from 1915. Ex signalese for t m.—2. Hence, a travelling medical board: Australian: from 1916. Such a board 'shot' soldiers into the trenches.

toco, toko. Chastisement; from ca. 1820; ob. Bee, 1823, 'If . . . Blackee gets a whip about his back, why he has caught toco.' Hence, to give (a person) toco, to thrash him, as in Hughes, 1857, 'Administer toco to the wretched fags'. Perhaps ex (the dative or ablative of) Gr. τόκος, interest, as the O.E.D. suggests; or ex Hindustani tokna, to censure, via the imperative toco, as Yule & Burnell pertinently remarks; or, as I diffidently propose, ex some Negro or Polynesian word: cf. Maori toko, a rod (Edward Tregear's Dict., 1891). Cf.:

toco for yam, get or nap. To be punished; among sailors from ca. 1860, to get paid out. Bee records this (the get), prob. the orig., form in 1823. On the analogy of a stone for a loaf of bread, and, presumably, at first a treatment meted out to slaves. See toco.—2. By 1874, toco for yam had come to mean 'a Roland for an Oliver' (H., 5th ed.); ob.

Tod is the 'inevitable' nickname of any man surnamed Sloan (after the famous jockey) or Hunter (cf. the surname Todhunter): naval and military: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

tod; toddy. A foppishly or gaily dressed person (rarely female): West Yorkshire s. (— 1904), not dial. E.D.D. I.e. dial. tod, a fox.

tod, adj. Alone; esp. be on one's tod, to be, or to work, alone: grafters': from ca. 1895. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Prob. ex a lost Tod Sloan, rhyming s. arising ca. 1894: cf. Tod.

[toddle, to go, walk, depart, is, by the O.E.D., considered S.E.; but its C. 20 use, esp. in the upper and upper-middle classes (see, e.g., Dorothy Sayers's Lord Peter Wimsey novels), seems to me to be coll.]

toddy, -ie. In address to a child of 1–3 years: coll.: ? mid-C. 19–20. Such a child toddles rather than walks; cf. dial. toddy, little, and familiar S.E. toddles, a toddling child.—2. See tod, n.

toddy-blossom. A 'grog-blossom', q.v.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex toddy, the beverage.

toddy-stick. A muddler: low: mid-C. 19–20. On stick used pejoratively.

todge. To smash (to a pulp): provincial: C. 19–20. Ex dial. todge, stodge.

toe, v.t. To kick: low: from ca. 1860: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.

toe, have or hold by the. To hold securely: coll.: mid-C. 16—mid-17. Chronicler Hall and Bishop Hall. O.E.D. Cf. short hairs, q.v.

toe, kiss the Pope's. Respectfully to set one's lips to the golden cross on the Pope's right sandal: 1768, the Earl Carlisle: s. >, ca. 1890, coll. (O.E.D.)

toe, turn on the. To turn (a person) off the ladder in hanging: late C. 16—early 17. Nashe, 1594 (O.E.D.).

[toe-and-rag is Manchon's error for toe-rag, q.v.]

toe-face. An objectionable or dirty fellow: low (— 1923). Manchon.

toe-fit-ti(e). To tie a string to (a boy's) toe and haul him out of bed: Public Schools', esp. Winchester and Felsted: ca. 1870–1900. The Felstedian, Nov., 1881, "To fit-ti", in reference to verbs of the third conjugation transferred from the similarity of sound to the schoolboy's toe.

toe-nail poisoning. Ptomaine poisoning: jocular: from 1934.

toe-path. An infantry regiment: cavalrymen's: ca. 1890–1914. Ware. Punning tow-path.

toe-rag. A beggar: provincial s. (— 1909). Ware. Perhaps ex toe-ragger, q.v.—2. 'A London docker who works bulk grain ex-ship': nautical: C. 20. Bowen.

toe-rag, shake one's. See shake one's toe-rag.

toe-ragger, -rigger. A term of opprobrium: Australia and New Zealand resp., as in Truth (the Sydney one), Jan. 12, 1896, "A toe-ragger" is Maori . . . The nastiest term of contempt was tua rika rika, or slave. The old whalers on the Maori-land coast in their anger called each other toe-riggers, and to-day the word in the form of toe-ragger has spread throughout the whole of the South Seas.' Morris.

toe-rags. Those windings of cotton-wool about the ball of the foot and the toes which, to displace socks, prevent blistering: tramps' v.: C. 20. Eg. in F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps, 1932.

toes, claw one's. To indulge oneself: coll.: mid-C. 15—early 16. O.E.D.

toes, cool one's. To have to wait: coll.: ca. 1660–1700. Brathwait, 1665 (O.E.D.). Cf. to cool (or kick) one's heels.

toes, on old. Aged; in old age: coll.: C. 15. O.E.D. Cf. old bones.

toe's length, the. Almost no distance: coll.: from ca. 1820; ob. (O.E.D.)

toes of, step or tread on the. To vex; give umbrage to: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Robert Browning, 1868 (O.E.D.). Ex lit. sense.

toes up. (Lying) dead: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.); slightly ob. Cf.:

toes up, turn one's. To die: 1860, Reade, 'Several arbalestiers turned their toes up.' In C. 20, occ. elaborated to turn one's toes up to the daisies (Manchon). Cf. toes up, and 'die' synonymy in Words!

toey. A 'swell': New South Wales: late C. 19–20; ob. ? corruption of:

toff. A 'swell'; a 'nob' (well-to-do person): proletarian: from 1850's; slightly ob. Ca. 1863, there was a music-hall song entitled The Shoreditch Toff, by Arthur Lloyd; Whiteing, 1899. Ex tuft, via toft, q.v.—2. Hence, a man of fortitude and courage: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. The Daily Telegraph, Sept. 16, 1902, 'He held out his wrists to be handcuffed, and exclaimed, "Now I'll die like a toff"'.—3. A 'brick', a person behaving handsomely: 1898 (O.E.D.); slightly ob.

toff, v. Esp. be toffed up, to be dressed like a 'toff': low: 1928 (O.E.D. Sup.).

toff bundle-carrier. A gentleman accompanying a prosperous serio-comic from hall to hall on her evening 'rounds': theatrical: ca. 1870–1900. Ware. Ex toff, 1.

toff-omee. The superlative of toff, 1: c. (— 1909). Ware.

toff-shoving. 'Pushing about well-dressed men in a crowd': London roughs': ca. 1882–1900. Ware.

toffee. Tobacco: c. (— 1932). 'Stuart Wood.' Ex its colour.

toffee, not for. Not at all; by no manner of means; not in any circumstances: uncultured: late C. 19–20. Hugh Walpole, Vanessa, 1933; 'That fellow X. can't bat for toffee,' of a Test cricketer in 1934.

toffee-apple. A trench-mortar stick-bomb: military coll.: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons, 'From . . . the apples dipped in toffee [and] sold under the name at English country fairs'.

Toffee Men, the. Everton Football Club ('soccer'): sporting: C. 20. Ex Everton toffee.

toffee-nosed. Supercilious; too proud; conceited: lower classes': C. 20; ob. F. & Gibbons. With pun on toffy.

toffee-scramble. A toffee-making: schoolboys' coll.: C. 20. Anon., Troddles, 1901.

toffer. A fashionable whore: low: ca. 1860–1914. H., 2nd ed. Cf.:

tofficky. Showy; vulgarly dressy: low: ca. 1860–1910. H., 2nd ed. Ex toff, 1.

toffish; toffy. Stylish; 'swell': resp. from ca. 1873, when toffishness occurs in Greenwood's Strange Company; 1901, Jerome K. Jerome (O.E.D.); toffy, ob., ex tofficky.

toft. A variant, prob. the imm. source of toff, 1, q.v.: ca. 1850–1910. Mayhew, 1851; H., 1st ed. If not toff debased—and the dates seem to preclude this—then tuft corrupted.

tog. A coat: late C. 18–20: c. >, ca. 1820, low s. Tuft, 1798, 'Long tog, a coat'; Andrewes, 1809, 'Tatty tog, a gaming cloth'; Vaux, 1812, 'Tog, a coat'. O.E.D. Ex toge, q.v., or, less prob., tog(e)man(s), a cloak.—2. See toge and togs.—3. See taoc.—4. A week's wages on piece-work: tailors': C. 20. Perhaps ex sense 1.

tog, v. First as past ppl. togged, dressed, 1793, to tog being recorded not before 1812. Vaux, 'To tog is to . . . put on clothes; to tog a person, . . . to supply them with apparel.' Low s. verging on c. Ex toge.

tog, long. See tog, n.—tog, tatty. See ibid.

tog, upper. An overcoat: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux. Cf. togger, 1. Ex tog, n.

tog-bound. Having no good clothes: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware.

tog-fencer. A tailor: London proletariat: ca. 1870–1915. Ware.

tog it; t. out; t. up. V.i., to dress smartly: proletarian: resp. 1844, 1869, 1903. O.E.D.—2. As v.t., tog out occurs in 1820 in The London Magazine (I, 25), 'He was always togged out to the nines,' and tog up in 1894 (O.E.D.).

tog-maker. A low-class tailor: proletarian: late C. 19–20. Prob. ex togs.

tog up. See tog it.

toga play. An Ancient-Classics drama: theatrical coll. (— 1909); ob. Ware. Ex the ancient Roman male garment.

togamans. See togemans.

toge. A coat: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E. Ex togemans on S.E. toge (= toga).

togeman(s); togman. A cloak; a (loose) coat; rarely, a gown (B.E.): c. of ca. 1565–1840, but ob. by 1800 if not indeed by 1750. Harman, 1567, all three forms; togeman, very rare after 1700, togman app. not later than 1700; Grose, 1st ed., togmans, 2nd ed., togemens; Bce, the rare togamans. Ex Roman toga, perhaps in its Fr. form (toge), + the c. suffix -mans, q.v. Cf. tog, toge, togs.

togey. A knotted lanyard used disciplinarily or bullyingly: in the training-ship Britannia: late C. 19—early 20. Bowen. Prob. ex toco; cf. toko, take.

togged, togged out or up; togged up to the nines. See resp. tog, v., and tog it.

togger. Perhaps only in upper togger, an overcoat: low s. of ca. 1820–50. Egan, 1823, 'And with his upper togger gay, | Prepared to toddle swift away.' Ex tog, n., 1, q.v.—2. A boat in the Torpids: Oxford University: from mid-1890's. Ex Torpid, via 'the Oxford -er', on Cambridge slogger. (Occ. as adj.: F. & H., 1904.)—3. In pl., gen. T, the Torpids, i.e. the races themselves, the competition as a whole: ibid.: C. 20.—4. At Harrow (also Torpid), a boy not yet two years in the School: from ca. 1896. F. & H.

toggery. Clothes: s. (1812, Vaux) >, ca. 1890, coll. Moncrieff, 1823, 'This toggery will never fit—you must have a new rig-out.'—2. Hence esp., official or vocational dress: from ca. 1825; slightly ob. Marryat, 1837, has long toggery, landsmen's clothes: cf. togs, long.—3. Hence, (a horse's) harness: from late 1850's; slightly ob. H., 1st ed.—4. Hence, loosely, one's 'gear' or belongings: from late 1850's; ob. H., 1st ed.

toggy. A cloak; a coat: c.: ca. 1815–1910. Ex tog, n., 1, on toggery, or perhaps imm. ex †toggy, tuggy, an overcoat for the arctic regions.

togies. See togy.

togman. See togeman(s). The togmans of Grose, 1st ed., is a confusion, as also, prob., is Baumann's togmans.

togs. Clothes: c. (— 1809) >, ca. 1825, low s. >, ca. 1860, gen. s.; in C. 20, usually jocular coll. G. Andrewes's Dict.; Dickens; Blackmore. Ex tog, n., 1, q.v.—2. In phrases,—chiefly these two:

togs, long. Landsmen's clothes: nautical s. >, ca. 1890, coll.: 1830, Marryat, 'I retained a suit of "long togs", as we call them,' O.E.D.; Dana. Prob. on long clothes. Cf. at toggery, 2, and the derivative:

togs, Sunday. One's best clothes: London and nautical s. (— 1859) >, by 1904, gen. H., 1st ed.; Smyth; F. & H. Ex togs, q.v.; cf. togs, long.

togy. (Gen. pl.) A knotted rope's-end 'carried about hidden by elder boys to beat their fags with': Public Schools': from ca. 1870; ob. Ware. Prob. ex toco, q.v. Also togey, q.v.

tohen; occ. tohereno. Very nice: late C. 19–20: costers'. Lit., hot one reversed.

toke. (Dry) bread: low s. (— 1859) verging, orig., on c. H., 1st ed. Perhaps tuck (food) or (hard and soft) tack corrupted.—2. Hence, food in gen.: low s. and c.: from ca. 1875. Anon., Five Years' Penal Servitude, 1877, 'What in prison slang is called his toke or chuck.'—3. A loaf of bread, esp. a small loaf of bread served in prison: (mostly prison) c.: late C. 19–20. 'Stuart Wood', 1932; 'James Spenser', 1934.—4. (Prob. ex 1.) A piece, portion; lump: rare and low: from early 1870's; ob. H., 5th ed.

toke, v. To idle, 'loaf': Leys School: late C. 19–20. Ex thoke, v.: q.v. token, Tom-fool's. Money: late C. 17—mid-18. B.E. Contrast:

token, the. Venereal disease, esp. in tip one (gen. male) the token, to infect venereally: low: from ca. 1780; very ob. Grose, 1st ed. Ex token, a blotch or discoloration indicative of disease, esp. the plague. (the tokens, the plague, is S.E.)

toko. See toco.

toko, take. 'To take four dozen lashes in the old Navy without crying out' (Bowen): ca. 1840–90. Ex toco for yam, q.v.

token. A rare variant (— 1923) of toco, q.v. Manchon.

tol. A sword: c. of late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Abbr. Toledo, a sword there made. Hence, rum tol, a gold- or silver-hilted sword; queer tol, a brass- or steel-hilted one, i.e. an ordinary one.—2. A share; a lot (of . . .): back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

tol-lol. Intoxicated: Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire: from ca. 1890. E.D.D.—2. See:

tol-lol(l); tol-lollish. Pretty good: resp. from middle 1790's and late 1850's; ob. Mrs A. M. Bennett, 1797; H., 2nd ed., has both; W. S. Gilbert, 'Lord Nelson, too, was pretty well—| That is, tol-lol-ish!' F. & H.; O.E.D. By the reduplication of the first syllable of tolerable.—2. As adv., tolerably: from late 1850's. H., 2nd ed.

told, be. To obtain one's colours in a school team: Tonbridge: late C. 19–20.

told out. Exhausted: coll.: 1861, Whyte-Melville, of a horse. Lit., counted out. O.E.D.

tole. Told: sol.: C. 19–20. Cf. stole for stolen.

tolerable. In fair health: coll.: 1847, C. Brontë, 'We're tolerable, sir, I thank you.'—2. As adv. (= tolerably): from ca. 1670: S.E. until late C. 18, then coll. and dial.

tolerably. (Predicatively, of health.) Pretty well: coll.: 1778, Mme D'Arblay (O.E.D.).

tollcester. Incorrect for tollsester: C. 17. O.E.D.

tol(l)iban rig. 'A species of cheat carried on by a woman, assuming the character of a deaf and dumb conjurer', Grose, 2nd ed.: c.: ca. 1786–1850. Ex rig, a trick, + toloben (q.v.), tol(l)iban, the tongue.

tolly. A candle: Public Schools': mid-C. 19–20. (Cf. tolly up, q.v.) Ex tallow. Hence, the Tolly, a tapering spire at the back of the Close of Rugby School: Rugby: late C. 19–20. Barrère & Leland. The Athenæum, June 16, 1900.—2. A flat instrument (e.g. a ruler) used in caning: Stonyhurst: late C. 19–20. ? ex sense 1, or ex L. tollere. Esp. get the tolly (Manchon).

tolly, gen. tolly up. To work by candle-light after the extinction of the other lights: Harrow School (— 1889). Barrère & Leland. Ex tolly, n., 1.

tolly-shop. A prefect's room (where caning is done): Stonyhurst: late C. 19–20. Ex tolly, n. 2nd sense. Cf. tolly-ticket, a good-conduct card: ibid.: id. Because it ensured against caning, except for a particularly serious offence.

tolly up. See tolly, v.

toloben. The tongue: c.: late C. 18–20. Hence, toloben rig, fortune-telling. Cf. tolliban rig. Also occ. spelt tollibon or tullibon. (I am, however, unconvinced about toloben being the tongue: it is vouched-for only by F. & H., and I think that there may be a confusion with Romany tullopen or tullipen (Smart & Crofton), or tulipen (Sampson), fat, lard, grease, a sense that, if extended to 'paint' for the face, might well explain toloben-rig, fortune-telling, and possibly also tolliban-rig as above.)

Tom, the big bell at Christ Church, Oxford, is S.E., but after Tom, after hours, is a Christ Church coll. (— 1874). H., 5th ed.—2. tom, long. See long tom.—3. tom, old. Gin : c. or low s. (— 1823); ob. Bee. Occ. (— 1887), merely tom or Tom, as in Baumann.—4. Inevitable nickname of all men named King : naval and military : late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex Tom King, the famous C. 18 highwayman.—5. (Either tom or Tom.) A girl : Australian : C. 20. C. J. Dennis. Prob. ex :—6. 'A masculine woman of the town' (harlot) : low London : mid-C. 19–20.—7. A woman 'who does not care for the society of others than those of her own sex' : Society : ca. 1880–1914. Ware.—8. A tomato : C. 20 : a trade abbr. >, by 1925, a lower class coll.—9. (Cf. sense 4.) On the music-halls it is a frequent nickname for men surnamed Collins : C. 20. Ex 'the frequency of Tom Collins on the old 'vaudeville bills' (Douglas Buchanan). Cf. Jumper and Lottie, q.v.

Tom-a-Styles or -Stiles. Anybody, esp. in law, with John-a-Nokes, q.v., as his opponent : ca. 1770–1830 : coll. >, by 1800, S.E. G. A. Stevens, 1772, 'From John o' Nokes to Tom o' Stiles, | What is it all but fooling?' ; Grose, 1st ed. (Tom-a-Stiles). Occ. John-a-Stiles. See Words !

Tom and funny. Money : rhyming s. (— 1909); ob. Ware.

Tom-and-Jerry days. The Regency (1810–20); also, the reign of George IV : coll. : ca. 1825–60. Ex Tom and Jerry in Pierce Egan's Life in London, 1821, with a continuation in 1828. The v., Tom-and-Jerry, to behave riotously (1828), is rather S.E. than coll., but Tom-and-Jerry (— 1864) or T.-and-J. shop (— 1874), a low drinking-shop, is coll. ; † by 1910. The latter elaborates jerry-shop, a low beer-house, recorded in 1834. H., 3rd and 5th edd.; F. & H.; O.R.D.

Tom and Tib. See Tom, Dick, and Harry.

Tom Astoner. A dashing or devil-may-care fellow : nautical : from ca. 1860; ob. Smyth. Ex to astonish or perhaps abbr. astonisher; Ned Ward, however, has, in 1706, Tom Estenor, which may pun a surname (O.E.D.).

Tom Bray's bilk. 'Laying out ace and deuce at cribbage'; Vaux, 1812 : ca. 1810–60 : prob. orig. c. > (low) gaming s. ? ex noted sharper.

Tom Brown. 'Twelve in hand, in crib', Vaux : ca. 1810–60 : ? c. > s.

Tom Cony. A simpleton or very silly fellow : coll. : late C. 17–early 19. B.E., who spells it Conney; Grose, 1st ed.

Tom Cox. A shirker; one who talks much, little does : naval : mid-C. 19–20. Cf. :

Tom Cox's traverse. See three turns. Cf. sojering, q.v.

Tom, Dick, and Harry. The common run of men (and women) : coll. soon > S.E. : T., D., and H., app. not before ca. 1815, but Lindsay, in 1566, has Jack and Tom, Tom and Tib is frequent in C. 17, Jack, Tom, Will, and Dick in 1604 (James I loquitur), Tom, Jack and Dick in 'Water-Poet' Taylor, 1622, Tom and Dick occurs in C. 18, Tom, Dick, and Francis in Shakespeare (1596), Dick, Tom, and Jack in 1660 (A. Brome), Jack, Tom, and Harry ca. 1693 (T. Brown), and Tom, Jack, and Harry in 1865. F. & H.; O.E.D.; Apperson (above all), and my Words ! Cf. Tom Tiler.

Tom-doodle; rarely -a-doodle. A simpleton : popular coll. : C. 18–20; ob. Ned Ward, 1707, 'That . . . Tom-doodle of a son . . . talks of nothing but his mother.'

Tom Double. A double-dealer, a shuffler : coll. : C. 18–mid-19.

Tom Drum's entertainment. The (very) rough reception of a guest : coll. : ca. 1570–1640. Holinshed. Also John (Shakespeare), Jack ('Water-Poet' Taylor). Possibly ex an actual person's name; more prob., a pun on drum.

Tom farthing (or F.). A fool : coll. (1689, Shadwell) >, early in C. 18, S.E.; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. F. & H. Pejorative farthing. Cf. Tom-doodle.

Tom Fool than Tom Fool knows, more know. A semi-proverbial c.p. of C. 18–20; ob. Defoe; F. & H., 'A sarcastic retort on failing to recognise, or professing to be unacquainted with, a person saluting'.

Tom Long. A person long a-coming or 'tire-somely' so in telling a tale : coll. (? > S.E.) : from ca. 1630; ob., except in dial., which in C. 19–20 it mainly is. W. Foster, 1631, 'Surely this is Tom Long the carrier, who will never do his errand,' O.E.D., but this is preceded by 'Proverbs' Heywood, 1546, 'I will send it him by John Long the carrier,' i.e. at some vague date, and by Cotgrave, 1611, 'To stay'—in C. 18–20, gen. wait—'for John Long the Carrier : to tarry long for that which comes but slowly.' In his Phraseologia Generalis, 1681, W. Robertson has Tom Long the carrier; in late C. 17, B.E. has come by T. L. the c., 'of what is very late, or long a coming', and Grose, 1st ed., much the same phrase. Apperson.

Tom-noddy. A stupid, a foolish, person : coll. (— 1828) >, by 1860, S.E.

Tom o' Bedlam. A madman, esp. if discharged from Bedlam and allowed to beg : c. and s. : C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Cf. Abram-man.

Tom Owen's stop. 'The left-hand open, scrawling over the antagonist's face, service with the right', Bee : pugilistic : ca. 1820–40. Ex a boxer.

Tom Pat. A parson or hedge-priest : c. : late C. 17–early 18. Street Robberies Considered. A rum Tom Pat is a clerk in holy orders, i.e. a genuine cleric. App. Pat = patrico, q.v.—2. A shoe : c. : C. 19–20; ob. (In Romany, a foot.)

Tom Pepper. A liar : nautical s. (— 1867) >, by 1890, coll. Smyth. In sailors' folk-lore, 'Tom Pepper was the seaman who was kicked out of Hell for lying' (Bowen).

Tom Quad. The big quadrangle at Christ Church, Oxford : Oxford University coll. : late C. 19–20. Ex Tom, the great bell at Christ Church.

Tom Right. Night : rhyming s. (— 1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

tom-rot. A variant (— 1887; † by 1920) of tommy-rot, q.v. Baumann.

Tom Tailor. A tailor in gen. : coll. >, by 1890, S.E. : 1820, Scott (O.E.D.).

Tom Tell-Troth (Truth). An honest man : coll. resp. C. 17 and C. 18–20 (ob.). Tom True-Tongue, C. 14, is the generator; Tom Truth, mainly C. 16 (e.g. Latimer), the imm. generator. O.E.D.; F. & H.; Apperson.

Tom Thacker. Tobacco : rhyming s. (on bacca) : late C. 19–20. B. & P.

Tom Thumb. Rum : rhyming s. : late C. 19–20 F. & Gibbons.

Tom Tiler or Tyler. Any ordinary man : coll. : ca. 1580–1640. Stonyhurst, 1582. Cf. Tom, Dick, and Harry.—2. Hence, a henpecked husband : id. : early C. 17.

tom-tit. To defecate : rhyming s. (late C. 19–20) on *sh*t*. B. & P. Also pony and trap (same period) on crap (Ibid.).

tom-tom. A Chinese gong: catachrestic: from late 1830's. Also tam-tam. O.E.D.

Tom Topper(s) or Tug. A ferryman; any river hand: low London: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. ('Topper . . . From a popular song, entitled "Overboard he vent"'), for both; Tug presumably from that vessel, though perhaps imm. ex 'the small stage-play', H., 5th ed.

Tom Tripe. A pipe: rhyming s. (— 1859); † by 1900. H., 1st ed. The C. 20 term is cherry ripe, q.v. Cf. Tommy tripe, q.v.

Tom Tug. A fool: rhyming s. (— 1874) on mug. H., 5th ed.—2. See Tom Topper.—3. A bed-bug: rhyming s. (— 1909). Ware. Contrast sense 1.

Tom Turdman. A nightman: low: from ca. 1700; ob. E. Ward, 1703 (Matthews); Grose, 1st ed.

Tom Tyler. See Tom Tiler.

tomahawk is catachrestic when used of a knob-kerry: late C. 17–20. O.E.D.—2. A policeman's baton: urban, esp. Cockneys' (— 1909); slightly ob. Ware.

tomall(e)y. Incorrect when = tamal, a South American dish: mid-C. 19–20. O.E.D.

Tomasso di Rotto or tomasso di rotto. Tommy-rot: middle-class youths': ca. 1905–14. Ware, 'Italian shape', i.e. an Italianising of Tommy Rot.

tomato-can tramp. A tramp that, to sleep, will curl up anywhere: tramps' c. (— 1932). Frank Jennings. Even an old tin suffices as a pillow.

tombstone. A pawn-ticket: low (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.—2. A projecting tooth, esp. if discoloured: C. 20.

tombstone-style. An advertisement (rarely of other matter) so 'displayed', i.e. composed, that it resembles a monumental inscription: printers' coll.: from ca. 1880.

tomjohn; Tomjohn. A tonjon: Anglo-Indian (— 1886). Yule & Burnell. By Hobson-Jobson.

tommy, as applied to goods (mainly food) supplied to workmen in lieu of wages, is S.E.; so too, according to the O.E.D., it is as the soldiers' and, from ca. 1860, the lower classes' word for (orig. brown) bread. The latter I hold to be s. in C. 18–early 19, coll. in mid-C. 19–20, as are soft (or, 1811, white) tommy, bread as opp. to biscuit (Grose, 2nd ed.), and brown tommy (Lex. Bal., but prob. much earlier); as used by workmen for food or provisions in gen., from ca. 1860 (H., 3rd ed.), it is a coll. that in 1914–18 was the prevailing sense among soldiers (B. & P.). Perhaps by a pun: brown George (q.v.) suggesting brown Tommy, with alternative Tommy Brown, whence Tommy, whence tommy. See esp. Grose, P. But note that in Bedford (and elsewhere) tommy = loaves of bread distributed by charity on St Thomas's Day (21st December), for hundreds of years: this, which prob. explains the orig. of a puzzling word, I owe to Mr R. A. Parrott of Bedford.—2. A sham shirt-front: Dublin University (— 1860); ob. H., 2nd ed.; F. & H. Prob. on equivalent dickey ex Gr. ρομή, a section.—3. (Gen. in pl.) A tomato: low: from ca. 1870.—4. Tommy. 'Tommy Atkins', a private British (specifically, non-Colonial) soldier: 1893, Kipling (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1915, S.E. Tommy Atkins occurs in Sala in 1883; coll. >, by 1895, S.E. Ex Thomas Atkins, a specimen name for signature on attestation-forms and in pay-books since early C. 19. See Words I for further details.—5. A prostitute's bully: low (— 1923). Manchon.—6 A frequent term of address to a young boy whose name is unknown to the speaker: coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. George and Jack addressed to a man in these circumstances.

tommy (or T.), v. See Tommy Tripe.

tommy or Tommy, hell and. An elaboration of hell in intensives or asseverations: from ca. 1885. In P. MacDonald, R.I.P., 1933, we find a variation: 'Where the devil and Tommy did I put that corkscrew?' Cf. hell and spots, q.v. The tommy is perhaps ex tommy-rot; the capital T, on my eye and Betty Martin: ? cf. yo, Tommy!, q.v.

tommy!, that's the. That's right: c. (— 1887). Baumann. Prob. ex tommy, 1.

tommy and exes. Bread (see tommy, 1), beer, and 'bacca: workmen's (— 1909). Ware. Here exes = extras.

Tommy Atkins. See tommy, 4.

tommy-axe. A tomahawk: Australian coll.: late C. 19–20. Not certainly a corruption (by Hobson-Jobson) of tomahawk; perhaps on tommy as applied to a small tool or instrument, e.g. a spade, —with which cf., in military j., tommy bar, 'a bent-wire spanner used to unscrew the bases of Mills bombs.'

[Tommy Brown's, in. The entry in the first edition is grotesquely erroneous and it arose from too ingenious interpretation.]

Tommy Dodd. In tossing coins, either the winner or the loser, by agreement; the mode of tossing: from ca. 1863; ob.: rather proletarian. H., 3rd ed. Ca. 1863 there was a music-hall song, 'Heads or tails are sure to win, Tommy Dodd, Tommy Dodd.' Rhyming on odd.

Tommy, make room for your uncle! A c.p. addressed to the younger man (men) in a group: from ca. 1883. Ware. Ex a popular song.

Tommy o' Rann. Food: rhyming s. (— 1859) on scan. H., 1st ed.

Tommy Pipes. Nickname for a boatswain—'because he pipes or whistles all hands'. Naval: ca. 1850–1910. Ware.

Tommy Rabbit (or r.). A pomegranate: rhyming s. (— 1909). Ware.

tommy-rot. (See also tom-rot.) Nonsense; as exclamation, 'bosh!': s. >, ca. 1900, coll.: 1884, George Moore, 'Bill . . . said it was all "Tommy rot"', O.E.D. Perhaps ex tommy, goods supplied instead of wages; though Manchon's theory that it is a euphemism (via the Tomnies' former scarlet uniform) for bloody is not ridiculous. Cf. tommy in Hell and Tommy (or h. and t.), q.v. at tommy, hell and.—2. Occ. as v.i., to fool about; v.t., to humbug: rare: late C. 19–20.

Tommy-Shop, the. The Royal Victualling Yard: naval (— 1923). Manchon. An extension of S.E. tommy-shop.

Tommy tit. 'A smart lively little fellow', Grose, 1st ed.: coll.: mid-C. 18–19.

Tommy-toes. (Little) toes: London children's (— 1887). Baumann.

Tommy Tripe. To observe, examine, watch: rhyming s. (— 1874) on pipe, v. H., 5th ed. Occ. abbr. Tommy or tommy, as in 'Tommy his plates (of meat)', look at his feet!

Tommy Tucker. Supper: from ca. 1860. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932. Suggested by the nursery rhyme, 'Little Tommy Tucker sang for his supper.'

Tommy Waac. (Gen. pl.) A 'Waac' (q.v.): 1917. F. & Gibbons. Cf. Thomasina Atkins.

tommyrotic. Nonsensical: literary coll. >, by 1920, S.E.: from mid-1890's; ob. Whence, likewise ex tommy-rot (q.v.) on erotic: tommyrotics, obscenity, esp. foolish obscenity: coll. (—1904) >, by 1920, S.E.; ob.

ton. (Rare in singular.) Much; plenty: coll.: from early 1890's. E.g. Barrie, 1911, "I say! Do you kill many [pirates]?" "Tons." O.E.D. —2. Gen. the ton. The fashion; fashionable Society: from late 1760's: coll. (mostly Society) until ca. 1840, then S.E.; ca. 1815–25, it verged (witness 'Jon Bee') on s. Ex Fr. ton.

ton for ton and man for man. 'The fair division of prizes between two ships sailing in company': naval c.p. verging on j.: C. 19. Bowen.

ton of bricks, like a. See bricks.

tone, t'one; tother, t'other. (Whether pronouns or adj.) The one; the other: S.E. until C. 18, then coll. and dial.; in C. 20, t'one as coll. is slightly illiterate. Often in juxtaposition, t'one . . . t'other. N.B., tother day in † S.E. = the next day, occ. the preceding day; as = a few days ago, it arose in C. 16 and was S.E. until C. 18; then coll. and dial.

toney. See tony, n. and adj.

tongs. Forceps: dental and medical: from ca. 1870.

tongs, pair of. A tall thin person: low: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex the two thin 'legs'. —2. Whence, in sarcastic address or comment, tongs! —3. touch with a pair of tongs. See touch with . . .

tongue, v.t. To talk (a person) down: low (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex the ob. S.E. sense, to attack with words, to reproach.

tongue, give (a lick with) the rough side of one's. To scold, abuse: coll.: 1820, Scott (O.E.D.); ob. Cf. dial. give a person the length of one's tongue (E.D.D.).

tongue, have a. To be sarcastic and/or ironic: non-aristocratic coll.: from ca. 1880. Charles Turley, Godfrey Marten, Schoolboy, 1902, "He had a tongue", as servants say, and could be sarcastic.' Ex have a sharp tongue.

tongue, lose one's. To fall very, be long, silent: coll.: 1870, Dickens (O.E.D.). tongue, and a little older than my teeth,—as old as my. A c.p. reply to how old are you?: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

tongue enough for two sets of teeth(, with; to have). Applied to an exceedingly talkative person: ca. 1786–1870. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. tongue-pad, tongue too long for one's teeth, and tongued, q.v. tongue in another's purse, put one's. To silence: ca. 1540–1620. 'Proverbs' Heywood.

tongue is well hung, his (etc.). He is fluent, ready, glib of speech: coll.: C. 18. Swift; Berthelson's Dict., 1754. Apperson. Cf. tongue-pad, q.v. Perhaps also coll. are the C. 18 semi-proverbial your tongue is made of very loose leather ('Proverbs' Fuller, 1732) and the semi-proverbial C. 16–17 her (your, etc.) tongue runs on pattens ('Proverbs' Heywood; Davies of Hereford), both recorded by Apperson, who notes the analogous his (etc.) tongue runs on wheels (mid-C. 15–20; in mid-C. 19–20, dial.) enshrined by Swift.

tongue of the trump, the. The best or most important thing or person: Scots coll.: from ca. 1870. In a Jew's harp, the tongue is the steel spring by which the sound is made.

tongue-pad. A talkative person, esp. if smooth and insinuating: late C. 17–20: s. until late C. 19, then dial. B.E.; Grose in 1st ed., adds: 'A scold', a sense † by 1850. On foot-pad. Cf. the v. —2. See 'Rogues' in Addenda.

tongue-pad. To scold, v.t.; v.i., to chatter: resp. mid-C. 17–20, C. 19–20; both dial. in C. 20. J. Stevens, 1707; Scott, the v.i. in 1825. Whence tongue-padder = tongue-pad, n., and vbl n., t.-padding. O.E.D.

tongue-pie, get or give. To be scolded; to scold: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

tongue runs nineteen to the dozen, one's. See nineteen to the dozen.—tongue runs on pattens or wheels, one's. See tongue is well hung.

tongue to, call (a person) everything one can lay one's. To scold, abuse, violently: coll. and dial.: late C. 19–20. Cf. tongue-pad, n., 1, 2nd nuance.

tongue too long for one's teeth or mouth. Either have a . . . or, more gen., as in Reade, 1859, 'Hum! Eve, wasn't your tongue a little too long for your teeth just now?' To be indiscreet or too ready to talk: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Prob. ex tongue enough . . ., q.v.; cf. the C. 17 proverb, the tongue walks where the teeth speed not.

tongued. Talkative: low (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Cf. tongue enough, q.v.

tonic. A halfpenny: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose. ? origin: cf., however, tanner. —2. A drink, esp. if taken as an appetiser: late C. 19–20. Cf. medicine.

tonk. At cricket, to hit a ball into the air: Charterhouse and Durham (schools): late C. 19–20. Cf. tonkabout, the corresponding n. Ex the mainly Midland dial. tank, n., a blow; v., to strike. —2. Hence, gen. in passive, to defeat utterly: from ca. 1920. E.g. Galsworthy, The Silver Spoon, 1926, 'He seems to enjoy the prospect of getting tonked.'

tonkabout. The hitting of catches at cricket-practice: Charterhouse (—1900). A. H. Tod. Ex preceding term, sense 1.

tonquin bean. A tonka bean: incorrect: from late C. 18. (W.)

tontine. A slate club: from ca. 1870: a catachresis. O.E.D.

tony; in C. 18, occ. toney. A fool, a simpleton: mid-C. 17–early 19. Gayton, 1654 (O.E.D.); but it must be a few years earlier, for the rare v., tony, to befool or swindle, is recorded ca. 1652. B.E.; Grose. Ex Ant(h)ony. —2. Tony, abbr. of Antonio. A Portuguese (soldier): military coll.: 1916; ob. F. & Gibbons.

tony; loosely, toney. Adj., stylish, 'swell'; high-toned: coll., orig. (—1886), U.S. >, in 1890's, Australian and New Zealand. H. Lawson, 1901. (O.E.D.) Ex high tone, or possibly ex ob. ton-ish, tonish (itself ex ton, fashion).

tonygle, in Harman, merely = to niggle. See niggle, in sexual sense.

too. Very; extremely: C. 14–20: S.E. until early C. 19, then coll.—esp. as an emotional intensive among non-proletarian women. The O.E.D. has, at 1868, 'How too delightful your expeditions must have been.' Cf.:

too, only. As mere intensive: coll.: late C. 19–20. (O.E.D.) ? ex preceding.

too all-but. A London society c.p. of 1881–2. Ware, 'Resulting out of Punch's trouvaille "too-too".'

too (bloody) Irish! Of course!: lower classes': C. 20. B. & P. Also too bloody right!

Too Damn Good(s), the. The 2nd Dragoon Guards: military: late C. 19–20. Ware, 'From the regimental indication on the shoulder-straps: 2 D.G.'

too many cloths in the wind. Topsy: late C. 19–20. Bowen. On three sheets in the wind.

too many (gen. too much) for. Sufficient to overcome or quell; too able or strong, i.e. more than a match, for: coll.: much, 1832; 1861, Dickens, 'Mr Juggers was altogether too many for the Jury, and they gave in.' O.E.D. Catachrestic is too many applied to things, as in A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, 1914, 'This job is one too many for me' (Manchon).

too much !, this is. A c.p. retort or comment: from mid-1860's. F. & H. suggests that it echoes Artemus Ward among the Shakers (ca. 1862).

too much of a good thing. Excessive; intolerable: coll.: 1809, Sydney Smith, 'This (to use a very colloquial phrase) is surely too much of a good thing,' O.E.D. An elaboration of too much, but perhaps prompted by the literal sense, as in Shakespeare's As You Like It, IV, i, 'Why then, can one desire too much of a good thing?' Apperson. Cf. preceding entry.

too much with us. Excessively boring; an intolerable nuisance: Society c.p.: 1897–9. Ware. Ex the Wordsworthian the world is too much with us.

too numerous to mention. Angrily drunk: London: 1882–ca. 90. Ware. Prob. uttering curses too, etc.

too right ! Certainly !; 'rather !': Australian: from ca. 1910. Jice Doone. See also too bloody Irish.

too-too (see too all-but) was in 1881 a Society c.p. Cf. the derivative too utterly too (1883) and too utterly utter (late C. 19–20; ob.): also Society c.p.p. toodle-em-buck. The game of Crown and Anchor: Canadian: C. 20. B. & P.

toodle-oo ! See toodle-oo !

took. Taken: sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann. Cf. shook.

tool. The penis: mid-C. 16–20; S.E. until C. 18, then coll.; in C. 19–20, s. unless the context definitely renders it archaic S.E. (O.E.D.)—2. A whip: ca. 1820–90. Ex tool, to drive.—3. 'A small boy employed to creep through windows, etc., to effect entry': c.: ca. 1840–1910. 1845 in 'No. 747'; H., 3rd ed.; F. & H. Cf. tool, v., 4.—4. See tools.—5. A run; to run: Charterhouse: late C. 19–20. Ex tool, v., 3.

tool, v.t. To drive: 1812, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.); 1849, Lytton, 'He could tool a coach'; 1899, Whiteing. Ex instrument for effect.—2. Hence, as in Jessop, 1881, 'The high-stepping mare that tools him along through the village street.' Rare.—3. (Ex sense 1.) V.i., to drive, to go or travel, esp. along: 1839 (O.E.D.)—4. Gen. v.i., to pick pockets: c. (— 1859); slightly ob. H., 1st ed. Prob. ex tool, n., 3, q.v.—5. To murder (v.i.): Society: ca. 1845–1900. Ex a metaphor by De Quincey. (Ware.)—6. See n., 5.

tool, dull or poor. An inferior workman: late C. 17–20; in late C. 19–20, dial. B.E.; H., 1st ed. Cf. a poor (occ. bad) workman blames his tools.—2. Hence, (poor tool) a shiftless person: C. 18–20; latterly dial.

tool, grind one's. (Of the male) to coit: low: mid-C. 19–20.

tool about or around. To do nothing in particular: upper classes: from ca. 1910. Francis Iles, Before the Fact, 1932, "What are you doing with yourself?" "Me, eh? Oh, tooling round, you know. Nothing much." Ex coaching, perhaps on fool around. Cf.:

tool off. To depart: 1881, Punch, Dec. 17 (O.E.D. Sup.); ob. Ex tool, v., 3.

tooler. A burglar, a pickpocket: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. See tool, n., 3, and v., 4.—2. Hence, moll-tooler, a female thief or pickpocket.

Tooleries, the. Toole's Theatre: theatrical: 1885–ca. 87. Ware. Ex Toole on Colinderies and Fisheries, qq.v., with a pun on the Tuileries of Paris.

Tooley Street tailor. A conceitedly bumptious fellow: mostly London: ca. 1870–80. H., 5th ed., 'The "three tailors of Tooley Street" are said to have immortalised themselves by preparing a petition for Parliament—and some say, presenting it—with only their own signatures thereto, which commenced, "We, the people of England".' How do such yarns arise?

tools. The hands: c.: mid-C. 19–20; ob.—2. Pistols: possibly c.: id.—3. As = housebreaking implements, merely a specific application of gen. S.E. sense.—4. 'Knives, forks and spoons': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

tools, fixed for the. Convicted for possessing a burglar's tools: c. of ca. 1820–1910. Egan's Grose. Cf. tool, v., 4, and toby, v.t. (analogous done . . .).

toonipportunity or tunipportunity. Opportunity: centre s. (— 1923). Manchon.

toosh. A sovereign, coin or value: c. (esp. tramps): from before 1935. Ex tusheroon.

toot. Money: naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Origin? Cf. hoot.—2. A chap, a fellow: Canadian (— 1932). John Beames. Perhaps ex Fr. tout homme.

toot, at (occ. on) the. Immediately; at high speed: military: from 1915. Ex tout de suite (pron. toot sweet), whence also the military c.p., the tooter the sweeter, the sooner the better. B. & P.

toot-sweeter. A high-velocity shell: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex preceding.

tooth. See teeth; and the following compounds and phrases:

tooth, have an aching. To have a desire, a longing (for): coll.: late C. 16–20; in C. 19–20, mostly dial. Lodge, 1590; North, 1742; 1887, Parish & Shaw, Dict. of Kent Dialect. (Apperson.)—2. (have . . . at a person.) To be angry with: coll.: C. 18. N. Bailey, 1730.

tooth, have cut one's eye. To be 'knowing': a (— 1860) variant of teeth, have cut one's eye. H., 2nd ed.

tooth, high in. Bombastic: low: from the 1870's; ob. Baumann.

tooth, long in the. See long in the tooth.

tooth, old or up in the. (Esp. of old maids) aged: from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed., 'Stable term for aged horses which have lost the distinguishing mark in their teeth.'

tooth-brush. A tooth-brush moustache, so named because, at most one and often only a half-inch laterally, and short and bristly vertically, it closely resembles the hairy part of a small tooth-brush: coll.: from 1915.

tooth-carpenter. A dentist: low: ca. 1880–1920. Cf. tongs, q.v.

tooth-drawer, like a. Thin: coll.: mid C. 17–18. Ray. Prob. ex, not tooth-drawer, a dentist, but †tooth-drawer, his instrument.

tooth-music. (The sound of) mastication: from ca. 1786; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

toothache. A priapism: low: late C. 19–20. Orig. Irish toothache.—2. A knife has the toothache if the blade is loose: schoolboys', mostly Colonial: id.

toothachy. Having, characteristic of, toothache: coll.: 1838, Lady Granville (O.E.D.). toother. A punch on the mouth: boxing: from ca. 1890; slightly ob.

toothful. A drink: jocular coll.: from ca. 1920. E. F. Benson, David of King's, 1924. Cf. Scottish toothful, to tipple.

toothpick. 'A large stick. An ironical expression', Lex. Bal.: London: ca. 1810–50.—2. A very narrow fishing-boat with pointed prow: mainly nautical: 1897, Kipling. O.E.D. Ex shape.—3. A sword: military: ca. 1898–1913. Cf. cheese-toaster and toasting-fork, qq.v.—4. A bayonet: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons.

toothpick brigade, crutch and. Foppish 'men about town': London society: ca. 1885–1905. Ex:—2. Hangers-on at stage doors, esp. at the Gaiety: London society: ca. 1884–5. 'They affected, as the badge of their tribe, a crutch-handled stick and a toothpick,' F. & H.

toothy-peg. A tooth: nursery coll.: 1828, Hood, 'Turn we to little Miss Kilmansegg, | Cutting her first little toothy-peg.' By itself, toothy, a child's tooth, is less common: lit., a little tooth.

[tooting-tub, in F. & H., is U.S.; his 'authority' is Wesley Brooke.]

tootle. Twaddle; trashy verbiage: university: 1880's. Ex tootle, an act of tooting on a horn; cf., however, dial. tootle, silly gossip (E.D.D.). (—2. Hence, tootle, to write twaddle: university and journalistic: ca. 1883–94. O.E.D.)

tootle, v. To go; esp. tootle off, to depart: dial. (C. 19–20) form of toddle >, in late 1890's, U.S. and reintroduced, as s. or coll., ca. 1920. P. G. Wodehouse, passim. Prob. on toddle.—2. See tootle, n., 2.

tootle-oo!; loosely, toodle-oo! Good-bye!: from ca. 1905, according to Collinson; the O.E.D. (Sup.) records it at 1907. Ob. Perhaps ex tootle, v., 1, q.v., or ex tootle-too, to toot frequently or continuously.

tootsie, tootsy; tootsie (or -y)-wootsie. A child's, a woman's small, foot: playful or affectionate coll.: resp. 1854, Thackeray (O.E.D.); ca. 1890. The form tootsicum is a facetious 'literary' elaboration. On foot, but ex toddle: W.

Top. See Topsy.

top. See old top.—2. Abbr. top gear in motoring; gen. on top, very rarely—and, by 1930, †—on the top: 1906, on the top; 1909, on top. O.E.D.—3. In c., a dying speech: ca. 1830–80. H., 1st ed. (Also known as a croak.) Ex the c. top, to behead.—4. In earlier c., a cheating trick whereby one of the dice remained at the top of the box: gaming: ca. 1705–50. The Tatler, No. 68, 1709. O.E.D. Ex the specific gaming sense of the v.—5. (Gen. pl.) Counterfoil of a divided warrant: accountants' coll. (C. 20) verging on j.

top, v.i. To cheat, esp. at cards: c. >, by 1750, low s.: ca. 1660–1820. Etherege, B.E., Grose. V.t. with on, upon.—2. ? hence, v.i. and v.t. (the latter, gen. top upon), to insult: late C. 17–early 19: c. >, by 1750, low s. B.E., Grose.—3. (Likewise ex sense 1.) To impose or foist (a thing) on: ca. 1670–1750. O.E.D.—4. To behead, to hang: c.:

C. 18–20, in C. 20, mostly in the passive. Implied in topping cheat, t. cove, and topman or topsman, though not separately recorded before 1811 (Lex. Bal.).—5. (Gen. v.i.) To break in, through skylight or roof trap-door: c. (—1933). Charles E. Leach.—6. See top a clout, top off, top up, and other v. phrases.

top, a little bit off the. Some of the best: coll.: late C. 19–20; ob.—2. Slightly crazy: from ca. 1897; ob.

top, go over the. To leave one's own trench and join in the attack on the enemy: military coll.: from 1916. The top is both the top of the trench and the open ground between the trenches. B. & P.—2. Hence, to do something dangerous and/or notable (e.g. getting married): from 1919. Collinson; Lyell ('take the plunge').

top, off one's. Insane: mostly Australian: C. 20. C. J. Dennis, 1916.

top, old. See old top.—top, on. See bet on top.

top, on the. Above trench-level in the front-line area: military coll.: in the G.W.

top, over the. See over the top.—2. Whence, in trouble; 'crimed': military: 1916–18. F. & Gibbons. Cf. top, go over the, 2.

top a clout (a handkerchief) or other article is to draw a corner or an end to the top of the pocket in readiness for removal at a favourable moment: c. (—1812); slightly ob. Vaux.

top-diver. 'A Lover of Women. An Old Top-diver, one that has Lov'd Old-hat in his time', B.E.: low: late C. 17–early 19. Grose.

top drawer, out of the. (Mostly in negative.) Well-bred; gentlemanly, ladylike: coll., by 1935 verging on S.E.: C. 20. Gen. come out of . . . H. A. Vachell, 1905 (O.E.D.).

top drawing-room. An attic or garret: London lower-classes' jocular (—1909). Ware.

top-dressing. The hair: jocular coll.: from ca. 1870. James Brunton Stephens, 1874. An elaboration of top (as in the barber's 'You're getting a little bald on the top, sir'), with a pun on t.-d., a fertilising manure.—2. 'An introduction to a report: usually written by an experienced hand and set in larger type', F. & H.: journalistic: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Cf. fig. use of window-dressing.

top-fencer, -seller. A seller of last dying speeches: ca. 1830–70: resp. c. and (low) s. Ex top, n., 3.

top-gob. A pot-boy: c. (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Complete back s. would be: top-job.

top-hat. A tall or high hat (esp. as for formal occasions): coll.: from ca. 1880. Miss Braddon, 1881 (O.E.D.). Suggested by topper, 2, q.v.

top-hat party. Ratings enlisted for the War only: naval: 1915–18. Bowen. Cf. duration, q.v.

top-heavy. Drunk: coll.: from ca. 1675; ob. Ray, 1678; B.E.; Bailey, 1736; Grose; Hone, 1825. (Apt to topple.) Apperson.

top-hole, adj. Excellent; 'splendid', 'topping': 1908, E. V. Lucas, 'A top-hole idea,' but adumbrated by Conan Doyle, 1899, as up to the top-hole, though this may be considered a variant († by 1930, and, indeed, ob. by 1915). O.E.D. On top-notch.

top-joint (pron. jint). A pint (of beer): rhyming s. (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Cf. top-o'-reeb, q.v.

top-knot; topknot. The head: from 1860's, E.D.D. Cf. top-piece.

top lights !, blast your. Blast your eyes: nautical: from ca. 1790; ob. Grose, 3rd ed.

top line, sweat on the. See sweat on . . .

top-lofty, toplofty; toploftical. Haughty; 'high and mighty'; highfalutin: coll.: resp. mid-C. 19-20 and 1823; both slightly ob. (O.E.D.)

top-o'-reeb. A pot of beer: back s. (-1859). H., 1st ed.

top of Rome. (A) home: rhyming s. (-1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

top of the bill. First-rate; the best of all: coll.: C. 20 (1934, "She's wonderful," I breathed. "Marvellous. Top of the bill, in fact.") Ex theatrical and music-hall advertisements, 'stars' being at the top. Cf. S.E. top-liner.

top of the house (or shop). No. 99 in the game of House: C. 20: coll., now verging on j. F. & Gibbons; B. & P. Also, esp. among soldiers with service in India, top of the bleeding bungalow (Frank Richards, Old-Soldier Sahib, 1936).

top of the morning (to you) !, the. A cheery greeting: orig. and mainly Anglo-Irish: coll. verging on S.E.: 1815, Scott (O.E.D.).

top of the shop. See top of the house.

top of the world, (sit) on. (To be) prospering, prosperous; esp. to be it and show it, to be very confident and high-spirited: U.S., anglicised ca. 1930. Cf. sit pretty, q.v.

top off or up. To finish off or up; to conclude: coll.: both from ca. 1835, Newman in 1836 having up, Dana up (printed 1840, known earlier). O.E.D.—2. To put the finishing touch to: coll.: from ca. 1870. Both senses derive ex top (or top up), to put the top on, to crown.—3. (Only top off.) 'To knock down; to assault', C. J. Dennis: Australian c. > low s. (-1916).

top (occ. top up) one's fruit, punnet, etc. To place the best fruit at the top of one's basket, punnet, etc.: garden-produce market: from mid-1880's. O.E.D. Cf. toppers, which prob. suggested it.

top-piece. The head: from 1830's: coll. and dial. Cf. top-knot. E.D.D.

top-ropes, sway away on all. To live extravagantly or riotously: nautical coll. of ca. 1810-1900. Ex fig. sway (incorrectly swing) on all t.-r., to go to all lengths. (O.E.D.)—Hence, 2. (sway all top-ropes). To give oneself airs: nautical: late C. 19-20; ob. Bowen.

top-sawyer. A collar: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob.—2. The sense, 'the best man; one in a superior position', may orig. (-1823) have been s. > coll. >, by 1860, S.E. Egan's Grose. Ex the timber trade, where he 'who works the upper handle of a pit-saw' gets a much higher wage than those beneath him. (O.E.D.)—3. Hence, the favourite (horse): turf coll. (-1923). Manchon.

top-sawyer, play. To coit: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Cf. tops and bottoms.

top-seller. See top-fencer.

top-shuffle. 'To shuffle the lower half of a pack over the upper half without disturbing it', F. & H.: gaming s. (-1904) > j.

top . . . tail. See tail, top . . .

top the officer. 'To arrogate superiority', Smyth: nautical: 1833, Marryat. O.E.D.

top traverse, off one's. 'Off one's head. Acting crazily': military: 1916; ob. F. & Gibbons. By elaboration of top, head.

top up. See top one's fruit.—2. See top off.

top upon. See top, v., 1 and 2.

top with the best of luck !, over the. An officers' and sergeant-majors' c.p. to the men as they leave the trench in attack: 1916-18. B. & P. Cf. top, go over the.—2. Hence, from 1919, often fig. among ex-service men; ob.

top-yob. A pot-boy: back s. (-1859); ob. H., 1st ed.

top your boom ! Go away !: a nautical c.p. addressed to a man, esp. 'when he has forced his company where he was not invited': late C. 19-20. Bowen.

toper. A street; a highway: c., mostly tramps' (-1923). Manchon. A corruption of tober (see toby, n.).

topman. A hangman: C. 17. (In C. 19, topsmen, q.v.) Cf. top, v., 4.

topos. A variant of pros, n.: English undergraduates' (-1884); ob. Ex Gr. τόπος, a place.

Topper. The inevitable nickname of men surnamed Brown: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Orig. prob. anecdotal.

topper. A thing or person excellent or exceptionally good in his or its kind: coll.: 1709, The British Apollo, of a bowl of punch compared with other drinks (O.E.D.). Slightly ob. Lit., at the top.—2. A top-hat: s. (1820) >, by 1860, coll. 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897, 'A most successful raid | On a swell's discarded topper.'—3. A (violent) blow on the head (or 'top'): 1823, Bee; 1834, Ainsworth; ob.—4. See toppers.—5. A cigar- or cigarette-end; a dottle: mostly London and mostly low (-1874). H., 5th ed.; Cassell's Encyclopædic Dict., 1888.—6. A tall, thin person: low: from 1890's; ob. F. & H.—7. A public hangman: c.: C. 20. Edgar Wallace, in Big Foot, 1927, speaks of 'Mr Topper Wells—public executioner of England'. Ex top, v., 4.—8. A sovereign (coin): tramps' and beggars' c. (-1926). Frank Jennings, In London's Shadows. Prob. ex sense 1. topper, v. To knock on the head; to kill thus: from late 1860's; slightly ob. E. Farmer, 1869 (O.E.D.). Ex topper, n., 3, q.v.

topper-hunter. A scavenger (and seller) of 'toppers' (topper, 5). H., 5th ed., 1874.

Toppers. Top Schools: at Shrewsbury: late C. 19-20. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906. By 'the Oxford -er'.

toppers. Large, fine fruit (esp. if strawberries) luring one from their display-point at basket- or punnet-top: 1839, Mogridge (O.E.D.). Because they are at the top. Cf. top one's fruit, q.v.

topping. A lower-class coll. variant (-1923) of the preceding. Manchon. An extension of the S.E. sense, a top layer.

topping, adj. In c., only in topping cheat and cove and fellow, qq.v.—2. Excellent in number, quantity, or quality; 'tip-top': from ca. 1820: coll. >, ca. 1890, s. Galt, 1822 (O.E.D.); Clough, 1860, 'Shady in Latin, said Lindsay, but topping in Plays and Aldrich.' Ex topping, eminent.—3. Hence, as an adv.: mid-C. 19-20.

topping cheat; t.-c. A gallows (gen. the t. c.): c.: mid C. 17-early 19. Coles, 1676; B.E. Grose. Ex cheat, chete, a thing; and cf. top, v., 4, and:

topping cove or fellow. A hangman: resp. c., mid C. 17-mid-19 (Coles, B.E. and Grose); (low) s., late C. 18-mid-19 (B.E.). The latter puns the lit. sense, a preëminent person. Cf. topping cheat and topsmen, qq.v.

topping man, as opp. topping fellow (in lit. sense), is a rich man: prob. the s. of a London social class or convivial set: ca. 1788-1800. Grose, 3rd ed.

toppy. Topsy: coll.: ca. 1880–1915. O.E.D. Cf. top-heavy, q.v.—2. Stylish; (too) showy: from ca. 1890: coll. >, by 1920, low coll. (by 1930, ob.) and dial. O.E.D. Perhaps suggested by topping, 2, q.v.

tops and bottoms, play at. To copulate: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Anatomical pun.

topsail, pay one's debts with the. (Of a sailor) to go to sea having left his debts unpaid: nautical: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 2nd ed., who adds, 'So soldiers are said to pay off their scores with the drum; that is, by marching away'; same period, but chiefly military.

topsel. A coll. nautical variant (— 1887) of topsail. Baumann.

topside. Fig., on top; in control: coll.: from late 1890's. O.E.D.

topsman. A hangman: from early 1820's: c. >, by 1860, low s. Ex top, v., 4, on headsman. (O.E.D.) Cf. topping-cove and topman.

Topsy. William Morris. 'At Oxford [1853–6] he was given the nickname of "Topsy", after the character in Uncle Tom's Cabin, owing to his conspicuously thick mop of hair, and later he was always known as "Topsy" or "Top" to his intimates,' Montague Weekley, in his biography of William Morris, 1934.

topsy-boosy. Drunk: low: from ca. 1890; ob. Reduplicated boosy. Cf. toppy, 1.

tora-loorals. Feminine bust, esp. if somewhat exposed: theatrical (— 1909); ob. Ware. Perhaps ex dairies via dial. tooral-ooral (merry with drink), itself ex truly rural used as a test for drunkenness (E.D.D.).

torche-cul. Toilet-paper: coll.: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Direct ex the Fr. Cf. bum-fodder, the English equivalent.

tore. Torn: sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann. Cf. wore.

tormentor. (In a theatre) the first wing; a door therein: theatrical s. > coll.: mid-C. 19–20, though not recorded before 1886 (O.E.D.). Because often a nuisance.—2. An instrument (cf. tickler, q.v.) devised to annoy at fairs: coll.: from ca. 1890.—3. A flatterer: low: late C. 19–20. Suggested by back-scratcher.—4. See tormentors.

tormentor of catgut. A fiddler: coll. (— 1785); very ob. Grose, 1st ed. Because the violin-strings are made of catgut. Also catgut-scraper.

tormentor of sheepskin. A drummer: ca. 1810–1900. Lex. Bal.; Baumann. Cf. preceding.

tormentors. Riding-spurs: 1875, Whyte-Melville (O.E.D.). Cf. persuaders.—2. A cook's big forks: nautical (— 1887). Baumann. (Rather rare in singular.)

turn it!, that's. That has spoiled it, ruined everything: s. (orig. low): 1909, 'Ian Hay' (O.E.D. Sup.). Rare in other parts of the v. Cf. the Northern proverbial the swine's run through it, of anything—orig. and esp. a marriage—ruined by bad luck, and tear one's seat, q.v.

torpedo Jack. A torpedo lieutenant: naval coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. torps.

Torpid. See togger, 4.

torps. A torpedo officer; often as nickname: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Cf. chips and sparks.

torrac. A carrot: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Whence the indicative c.p. retort (— 1904), ekat a torrac: cf. banana!, have a. torrefication; torri-. Incorrect for torrefaction: mid-C. 18–20. O.E.D. Cf. torrify for torrefy: C. 17–20. Ibid.

tortoise-shell. The pronunciation torte(r)-shell is coll.; both s's should be sounded.

tortious. Tortuous: sol.: late C. 17–20. By confusion with legal tortious.

tortuous. Malign (†); wrongful: catachresis: late C. 16–20. O.E.D. Confused with S.E. tortious.

torture-truck. A hospital trolley (bearing lancets, fomentations, etc., etc.): military: 1915; ob. B. & P.

Tory. (Despite F. & H., all senses are S.E. except these two:—) One of those who, in 1679–80, opposed the exclusion of James from the English crown: a nickname in use among the Exclusioners; rare after C. 17. Cf. Tantivy and see esp. Roger North's Examen, II, v, § 9. F. & H.; O.E.D. Ex Tory, a rapparee or outlaw and itself ex an Irish word = 'a pursuer'. Cf. whig, q.v.—2. Hence, a Conservative: coll.: from ca. 1830, when Conservative superseded Tory as the official and formal name for a member of the traditionalist party. (The same holds of Tory used as an adj.)

Tory Rory. A London nickname given, ca. 1780–1845, to 'those who wore their hats fiercely cocked' (Ware).

tosh. The penis: schoolboys': from 1870's. W. ? ex tusk; more prob. ex dial. tosh, 'a tusk; a projecting or unseemly tooth', E.D.D.—2. A hat: modified back s.: ca. 1875–1900. The correct tah > ta-h, ta-aitch, tosh.—3. (Also tosh-can or -pan.) A foot-pan, a bath: Public Schools' (— 1881). Pascoe, Life in Our Public Schools. Perhaps a perversion of wash; possibly cognate is Romany tov, to wash. Cf. tosh, v.—4. Nonsense: 1892, Oxford University Magazine, Oct. 26, 'Frightful tosh'. Perhaps bosh (q.v.) perverted; cf., however, dial. toshy, 'over-dressed; tawdry', E.D.D. Often as an exclamation.—5. Hence, very easy bowling: cricketers': 1898 (Ware).—6. A pocket: c.: C. 19–20; ob. Ware, 'Prob. a corruption of French poche.'—7. A mackintosh: a synonym of mac(k): C. 20; rare. A. H. Dawson.

tosh, v.t. To splash, throw water over: Public Schools': 1883, J. P. Groves (O.E.D.). Ex tosh, n., 3, q.v.—2. Hence, v.i., to bath: ibid.: C. 20.

tosh-can, -pan. See tosh, n., 3.—tosh-pond, the bathing pond: Royal Military Academy: from 1880's. Ex tosh, n., 3.

tosh-soap. Cheese: Public Schools' (— 1904). F. & H. Ex tosh, n., 3.

tosher. One who, in the Thames, steals copper from ships' bottoms: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. For etymology, cf. tosh, n., 3. Hence toshing, such theft: c. (— 1867). Smyth.—2. 'A non-collegiate student at a university having residential colleges': undergraduates' (— 1889); † by 1919. Ex un-attached: see -er, Oxford'. Cf. brekker.

tosheroon. A variant of tusheroon.

toshy. Rubbishy: 1902, Belloc, 'Toshy novels' (O.E.D.). Ex tosh, n., 4.

toss, v. Incorrect for toze (in mining): C. 19–20. O.E.D. So tosser for tozer.

toss, argue the. See argue the toss.—toss, take a. See take a toss.

toss in the towel. An Australian coll. variant of rag, sky the. C. J. Dennis.

toss it up airy. To 'show off', put on 'side': lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

toss-off. An act of masturbation: low coll. (— 1785). Grose, 1st ed. Presumably ex:

toss-off, v.i. and v. reflexive. (Gen. of the male.) To masturbate: low coll.: from ca. 1780.

toss-up. An even chance: coll.: 1809, Malkin, 'It is a toss up who fails and who succeeds: the wit of to-day is the blockhead of to-morrow.' Ex toss-up, the 'skying' of a coin.

tossaroon. See tusheroon.

tossed. Drunk: C. 19-20. Ex tossed, disordered, disturbed, but perhaps influenced by Scots tosie, -y, slightly intoxicated, occ. in form tosy-mosy.

tosser. A penny used in pitch-and-toss: Glasgow (— 1934).—2. Also, any coin, esp. a sovereign: from ca. 1910. M. Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935.

tossy. Proud, haughty, supercilious: proletarian coll. (— 1923). Manchon. An extension of the rare S.E. sense, pert or contemptuous.

tost. See toast. (B.E.'s spelling).—2. A corruption of toss (v.): C. 17. O.E.D. tosticated. Drunk: late C. 19-20; ob. Elaboration of dial. tosticated (i.e. corrupt intoxicated).

tot. The sum-total of an addition, an addition sum: coll.: from 1870's. Perhaps imm. ex tot-up, n., q.v.; ultimately ex total, less prob. ex L. totum, the whole. Cf. tots, long, q.v.—2. A very young or small child: dial. and coll.: 1725, Ramsay. Cf. Danish tommel-tot, Tom Thumb (O.E.D.). Gen. tiny or wee tot.—3. ? hence, a (very) small drinking-vessel, esp. a child's mug or a tin mug: dial. (— 1828) >, by 1840, coll. O.E.D.—4. (Perhaps ex sense 2; prob. ex sense 3.) A very small quantity, esp. of liquor: dial. (— 1828) >, by 1850, coll., as in Whyte-Melville, 1868, 'He . . . often found himself pining for . . . the camp-fires, the fragrant fumes . . . and the tot of rum.'—5. A bone; hence, anything worth taking from a dust-bin or a refuse-heap; but esp. a rag, as in The Gilt Kid, 1936: dust-heap pickers', hence rag-and-bone men's: from early 1870's. H., 5th ed. Perhaps on tal, a rag, = the suggestion coming from the juxtaposition in rag-and-bone. Hence tot-picker (— 1874) or -raker (— 1904) or -hunter (— 1909), and totter (— 1891), such a scavenger, esp. if illicit, and totting (— 1874), such scavenging: H., F. & H., Ware, O.E.D.—6. See tote, n., 2.

tot, v.t. To add (orig. together) to ascertain the total of: coll.: ca. 1760, H. Brooke; slightly ob. Ex total or tot as abbr. total (or totum): cf. tot, n., 1.—2. Hence, tot up, to ascertain (esp. expeditiously) the total of: from mid-1830's. O.E.D.—3. Hence, vbl.n. totting-up, totting: coll.: resp. ca. 1820, 1860.—4. Hence, v.i., to amount; often constructed with to. Coll.: 1882, Besant, 'I . . . wondered how much it would tot up to,' O.E.D.—5. To drink drams: mid-C. 19-20. Ex tot, n., 4.

to't. To it: when not poetical, it is, in mid-C. 19-20, coll.

tot-book. A book containing (long) addition sums to be worked out: coll.: late C. 19-20. Cf. long tots. Ex tot, n., 1.

tot-hunter, -picker or -raker. See tot, n., 5.

Tot-hunting. 'Scouring the streets in search of pretty girls': low (— 1909). Ware. Cf. Tottie, 2, q.v.

tot-sack. A bag; esp. a sand-bag containing rations for a number of men: military: 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons. Prob. ex tot, n., 4, rather than ex sense 5.

tot-up. An adding-up: coll.: 1871 (O.E.D.).—2. V.: see tot, v., 2, 4.

tote; occ. tot. A hard drinker: ca. 1870, a music-hall song entitled Hasn't Got over It Yet, 'As well we'd another old chum, | By all of his mates called the Tote, | So named on account of the rum | He constantly put down his throat.' Perhaps punning tote, total, and tot, n., 4; perhaps ex:—2. (Occ. tot.) A total abstainer: low coll.: prob. from late 1860's, but not irrefutably recorded before 1887 (O.E.D.). The music-hall song Toper and Tote, ca. 1889, has: 'You'll always find the sober Tote | With a few pounds at command.' F. & H.—3. A totalisator: from ca. 1890: Australian coll. >, ca. 1901, gen. British coll. Kinglake, 1891 (O.E.D.). Cf. tote-shop.

tote, v.t. A variant of tout, v., 2: c. (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. toter.—2. To carry: U.S. (ca. 1676) >, ca. 1910, partly anglicised as a coll. Thornton. The origin of this obscure word is not impossibly tote, toll, v.t., 'to pull, drag, draw physically', recorded by O.E.D. for C. 15-17; the earliest example of tote may be a scribal error (for it occurs in an official document) and there exist no, or very few, other examples before mid-C. 18. But W., prob. rightly, suggests the Old Fr. tauter (as defined in Cotgrave).

toter. A C. 17 variant of touter, a spy: c.: 1633, Jonson.

tother, t'other. See tone, t'one, which cf.

tother, one with. Copulation: ? C. 18-20; ob. Rather coll. than s.

tother from which, tell. (Gen. in negative). To distinguish between two persons or things: coll.: late C. 19-20. Baumann, 1887. A jocular manipulation of tell one from the other.

tother school. One's former school; any school not a Public School: Winchester coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Cf. totherun, q.v.—2. As adj., unbecoming because alien to Winchester: id.: from ca. 1860. Cf. non-licet. Wrench.

tother-sider, or as one word. A convict: coll. of Victoria, Australia: ca. 1860-1905. With reference to Sydney, where stood the earliest penal settlement: also Sydney (-bird or) -sider. The rivalry between Melbourne and Sydney, esp., now takes, and has long taken, the form of an exchange of our 'Arbour! and stinking Yarra!—2. One from the other side of Australia, esp. a Westralian: late C. 19-20: Australian coll. >, by 1925, S.E. totherun. A preparatory school; a private school: Charterhouse: late C. 19-20. I.e. the other one (one's former school). Cf. tother school, q.v.

toto. A hippopotamus: pet-name coll. (— 1916). O.E.D. (Sup.). A manipulated abbr.—2. A louse: military: 1916-18. F. & Gibbons. Adopted, not very gen., ex Fr. military s., where it shared the honours with gau (see the glossaries of Dauzat and Déchelette).

tots, long. Very long addition sums: coll.: late C. 19-20. Ex tot, n., 1.

Tots, the Old. The 17th Lancers: military: from ca. 1870; ob. Perhaps ex the regimental badge of skull and crossbones, which certainly engendered the synonymous Death and Glory Boys.

totter. See tot, n., 5.

totter-arse. A seesaw: provincial: from ca. 1870. Ex dial. t.-a., a person walking unsteadily (E.D.D.).

Tottie; occ. Totty. A Hottentot: coll.: 1849, E. E. Napier (O.E.D.).—2. The 'inevitable' (or inseparable) nickname of men surnamed Bell: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Origin prob. anecdotal: see remarks at Nicknames.—3. tottie, rarely totty. A high-class whore: from ca. 1880. Ex Dot, Dorothy, or ex tottie, -y, a little child: perhaps influenced by titty, q.v.

Tottie all-colours. A brightly dressed young woman (of the streets): low London (— 1909). Ware. Cf.:

Tottie one-lung. 'An asthmatic, or consumptive young person who, for good or bad, thinks herself somebody': low urban (— 1909). Ware. See Tottie, 3.

totting. See tot, n., 5.—2. See tot, v., 3. Also totting-up: ibid.

totting, go. To collect (rags and) bones: low (— 1887). Baumann. See tat, v.

Tottle. Aristotle: schools' (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. Thicker.

Totty. See Tottie.

touch. Anything that will, at a stated price, interest customers at (about) that price: from ca. 1710: coll. >, in mid-C. 19, s. Swift, 1712, 'I desire you to print in such a form, as in the book-sellers' phrase will make a sixpenny touch'; Sir Erasmus Philipps, in his Diary, Sept. 22, 1720, 'At night went to the ball at the Angel. A guinea touch'; H., 3rd ed. (1864), 'Sometimes said of a woman to imply her worthlessness, as, "Only a half-crown touch".' Lit., something that will touch, appeal to.—2. At Eton (— 1864), a present of money, a 'tip'. H., 3rd ed. Cf. sense 5.—3. A theft, esp. by pocket-picking: low s. bordering on c.: 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood'. O.E.D. (In C. 20 c., an illicit haul.)—4. Hence, the obtaining of money from a person, e.g. by a loan: from ca. 1890.—5. Hence, the sum of money obtained at one time, esp. by cadging or theft: low: C. 20.—6. 'Manner; mode; fashion', C. J. Dennis: Australian coll.: C. 20. Cf. sense 1.—7. Cognate is the English low s. sense (— 1923), 'sort of thing', as in 'Don't come that touch on (or with) me!' Manchon.—8. 'In these rounds or . . . "walks", we have our "touches"—regular places of call where we pick up letters and, in certain cases, leave them,' from 'You're in My Bag!' by a Postman, in The Passing Show, Dec. 24, 1932.

touch. To receive (money), draw (it): mid-C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, s. Cf. Fr. toucher de l'argent.—2. ? hence, to steal: c.: late C. 18–20. Holman, 1796, 'I could not go abroad without her, so I touch'd father's cash.' In C. 20 c., often v.i., 'to make a haul or bring off a coup' (Charles E. Leach). Cf. sense 4.—3. To approach (a person) for money, to get from (a person) the money one asks (for): coll.: 1760. C. Johnston, 1760, 'I am quite broke up; his grace has touched me for five hundred,' O.E.D. In late C. 19–20, for things other than money.—4. To rob (a person: for, of the article concerned): c.: mid-C. 19–20.—5. Hence, in Australian c. or low s. (— 1904), to act unfairly towards, to cheat, to swindle. F. & H.—6. The sense 'to arrest', ca. 1780–1850, may, as the O.E.D. has it, be S.E.; or it may, as Grose, 1st ed. implies, be coll. or s.—7. To rival, compare with, equal (in ability): coll.: 1838, Dickens, 'Wasn't he always top-sawyer among you all? Is there any one of you that could touch him, or come near him?' Ex touch, to reach, get as far as.

touch, rum. An odd or eccentric fellow: 1804–6 T. Creevey. O.E.D. Perhaps touch here = a 'contact', a person whom one meets or deals with.—2. Hence, a very strange affair: from ca. 1807; very ob. Cf. queer start (see start).

touch bone and whistle. 'Any one having broken wind backwards, according to the vulgar law, may be pinched by any of the company till he has touched bone (i.e. his teeth) and whistled,' Grose, 2nd ed. Often in the imperative. From late 1780's to mid-C. 19.

touch bun for luck. See bun.

touch-crib. A brothel: c. or low s.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex euphemistic S.E. touch.

touch for. See touch, v., 3, 4.—3. To get, incur, catch (gen. something unpleasant): from ca. 1910.

touch-hole. The pudend: low coll.: C. 17–20; ob. Punning a fire-arm's vent.

touch lucky. To have a stroke of luck: non-aristocratic coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. touch, v., 1.

touch me. A shilling: from ca. 1880; ob. Abbr. touch me on the nob, a 'bob', rhyming s. of ca. 1870–90. F. & H., 1904, has touch-my-nob, a bastard or composite form. The touch-me forms are recorded in a MS. note in the B.M. copy of H., 5th ed.

touch of Caruso. 'A turn or two astern on the engines': nautical (officers'): from ca. 1910; ob. Ironic ex the great singer.

touch of the tar-brush, a. A pejorative c.p. applied to 'the naval officer who is primarily an efficient seaman': mid-C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex the constant use of tar on a ship.

touch off (someone) for. A variant, mostly Colonial, of touch, v., 3: late C. 19–20. A Cecil Alport, The Lighter Side of the War, 1934, 'I touched him off for a fiver.'

touch out, v.i. 'To evade a duty by trickery': military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. touch, v., 5.—2. (V.t. with for.) Whence, to be lucky: military: from 1916. B. & P.

touch pot, touch penny. A semi-proverbial c.p. = No credit given: from ca. 1650, ob. by 1880, † by 1935. Gayton, 1654; Graves, 1772; Scott, 1822. Cf. Swift's 'He touch'd the pence when others touch'd the pot,' 1720. Apperson.

touch-trap. The penis: low coll. opp. touch-hole, q.v.

touch up. To caress intimately in order to inflame (a person to the sexual act): coll.: C. 18–20.—2. To coit with (a woman): late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 1st ed.—3. Reflexively, to masturbate: C. 19–20. All senses ex touch up, to stimulate.

touch with a pair of tongs, not to. (Gen. I, etc., would not.) To touch on no account: coll.: from 1630's. Clarke, 1639; Fuller, 1732; 1876, Blackmore. (Apperson). Cf. . . . with a barge-pole.

touch with death. Narrowly to escape death: military coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. I.e. to touch death.

touched, (slightly) insane, is, despite gen. opinion, S.E. It abbr. touched in the head, ex S.E. touch, to affect mentally, to taint.—2. (Of vegetables, fruit) beginning to go bad; defective: green-grocers' coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

toucher. A(n instance of) close contact, a tight fit: dial. (— 1828) >, by 1840, coll. Thus to a toucher, exactly. E.D.D.—Hence, 2, as near or nigh as a toucher, almost, very nearly: 1840, J. T. Hewlett (O.E.D.); H., 1st ed. Slightly ob. Orig. a coaching term, ex touching without disaster: H., 5th ed.

touching. Bribery; the obtaining of money, esp. by theft or begging: resp. C. 18–19 (C. D'Anvers, 1726); late C. 19–20 (Arthur Morrison, 1896). O.E.D. Ex touch, v., 2, 3. touching-up. A caning: Public Schools': late C. 19-20. (P. G. Wodehouse, Tales of St Austin's, 1903.)—2, 3, 4. Vbl. n. of touch up, q.v.

touchy. 'Descriptive of a style in which points, broken lines, or touches are employed, as distinguished from firm unbroken line work', F. & H.: artistic s. (ca. 1820) >, ca. 1850, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.—2. Adv., rather: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1860. E.g. touchy a lux, rather a good thing. Ex touch, a small amount of, a 'suspicion'.

tough, v.t. To support, bear, face up to (esp. a difficulty, a hardship): Canadian: from ca. 1905. John Beames, An Army without Banners, 1930. Prob. ex U.S. tough it, to rough it.

tough. Morally callous and/or commercially unscrupulous: also n. From ca. 1910: coll. Ex two U.S. senses: tough, criminal, vicious, and tough, a rough, esp. a street bully.—2. Unfortunate; severe: from ca. 1928. P. G. Wodehouse, 1929, "'Tough!'" 'You bet it's tough. A girl can't help her appearance'. (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex U.S. tough luck.

tough, make it. To raise difficulties; take excessive pains: coll.: late C. 19-20; ob.

tough as a jockey's tail-end—as old Nick—as shoe-leather. Anglo-Irish phrases (the first, s.; the other two, coll.) applied to a person who is a 'hard case': resp. C. 20, late C. 19-20, and mid-C. 19-20.

tough as an old lanyard knot. Exceedingly tough (whether meat or seaman): nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

tough as tackler. Exceedingly tough: lower classes' coll. (—1909). Ware. Perhaps S.W. dial. tackler, something insuperable.

tough gut, or tough-gut. A tough, i.e. hardy, fellow: Canadian men's (—1932). John Beames.

tough 'un. A 'thumping' lie; execrable pun: low (—1887). Baumann.—2. See tough, adj., 1.

tough-yarn. 'A long story', Egan's Grose: c. (—1823); † by 1890, by when it meant a 'tall story': nautical (Bowen).

Toughs. See Old Toughs, the.

toupee. The female pubic hair: mid-C. 18-20; very ob. By ribald jest on lit. sense.—2. A merkin: mid-C. 18-mid-19. Both, occ., lady's low toupee.

tour; also toure, tower, towre. To watch closely; spy on: c. of ca. 1565-1650. Harman, 1567. Prob. unconnected with S.E. twire (v.i. only), to peer, peep. Possibly—as Grose (1st ed., at touting) suggests—cognate with later c. tout, v.i. and t. (q.v.); more prob. with tower, to fly up, as a hawk does, in order to (have the advantage of and then) swoop down on the prey.

tout. (Also toute; towte, C. 15-16.) The posteriors or rump: C. 14-20: S.E. until C. 15, then †; revived by 'Thousand Nights' Payne as literary s.—2. A thieves' 'look-out man': c.: 1718, C. Hitching (toute, a C. 18 variant); ob. except as a spy (C. 20: c.). Ex tout, v., 1.—3. Hence, 'a look out house, or eminence', Grose, 1st ed.: c. of ca. 1780-1850.—4. As a solicitor of custom for tradesmen, etc., and 5, as a racing touter, tout is mid-C. 19-20: both may orig. have been s. or coll., but the former was S.E. by 1880, the latter by 1910, at latest.—6. A watching or spying: c. (—1812); ob. Vaux, 'A strong tout, is strict observation, or eye, upon any proceedings, or persons.' Esp. in keep tout (—1812) or, occ., keep the tout (1834, Ainsworth: O.E.D.), to keep watch, esp. in an illicit activity. Ex sense 3.

tout, v.i. To be on the look-out, to watch very carefully: c. of mid C. 17-mid-19, and in C. 19 only in literary revival. Coles, B.E., Grose. Ex C. 15-17 S.E. tout, to peep or peer. Cf. tour, q.v.—2. V.t., to watch, spy on: mid C. 17-20: c. until C. 19, then low s. until mid-C. 19, then s. with esp. reference to a racing tout's activities. Coles, B.E., Vaux.—3. The racing sense (from ca. 1812) may orig. have been s., but is gen. considered as S.E.; the same applies to tout, v.i., to seek busily for trade (from ca. 1730). O.E.D.

tout, keep (the) and tout, strong. See tout, n., 6. tout droit. See bit of.—toute. See tout, n.

touter. A thieves' look-out man: c. or low s.: 1844, Dickens (O.E.D.); ob. A rare variant of tout, n., 2, q.v.

touting (or tooting)-ken. A tavern, a beer-shop; a tavern-bar: c. (—1676); † by 1850. Coles, B.E., Grose. Ex tout, tout, to drink copiously. (O.E.D.)

touzery or towzery gang, the. Mock-auction swindlers: London low: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed. 'They hire sale-rooms, usually in the suburbs, and advertise their ventures as . . . "Important Sales of Bankrupts' Stock", etc.', F. & H. Perhaps ex touse (-ze), horse-play, a 'row', or touse (-ze), to abuse or maltreat.

tow. (At hare and hounds) a long run-in: Shrewsbury School (—1881). Pascoe. Ex slow motion of towing a ship.—2. Money: low: from ca. 1880; ob. Perhaps because, like tow, it 'burns' so quickly.

tow, v. See tow out.—tow-line, get in a. See line, get in a. Vaux, 1812.

tow out. To decoy; to distract the attention of (a person) and thus assist a confederate in robbery: c. of ca. 1810-50. Vaux.

Tow-Pows, the. The Grenadier Guards: military (—1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Ultimately ex the busbies they wear.

tow-rag. The female breast: West Yorkshire s. (—1905), not dial. E.D.D.

tow-row. A grenadier: military: ca. 1780-1860. Grose, 1st ed. Why? row is prob. a misprint for pou, head (see Tow-Pows); cf., however, tow-row, adj.—2. A noise: dial. > (low) coll.: from ca. 1870. Reduplicated row, a disturbance. Cf.:

tow-row, adj. Drunk (? and disorderly): C. 18. Steele, 1709. On row, disturbance.

tow-street. To 'get (a person) in a line', i.e. to decoy him: c. (—1823); † by 1890. Egan's Grose.

towards you, I looks. See looks towards.

towel (rare); oaken towel. (Esp. rub one down with an oaken towel, to cudgel or beat him.) A stick or cudgel: resp. 1756 (Toldervy) and 1739. Ob. Ex towel, v.—2. lead (rarely leaden) towel. A bullet: 1812, J. & H. Smith, 'Make Nunky surrender his dibs, | Rub his pate with a pair of lead towels'; ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930.

towel, v. To cudgel; to thrash: J. Dunton, 1705 (O.E.D.). For semantics, note the gen. ridiculed dry-rub etymology of drub.

towel, sky the. See sky the towel.

towelling. A drubbing or thrashing: 1851, Mayhew, 'I got a towelling, but it did not do me much good.' Ex preceding. Cf. towel, n., q.v.

tower. Clipped money: c. of C. 18-early 19. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed. Ex, and gen. in, they have been round the Tower with it, 'that Piece of Money has been Clipt', B.E.: a late

C. 17—early 19 c.p. of the underworld. App. Tower Hill and, in fact, the whole neighbourhood of the Tower of London were rough, for cf. Tower-Hill play.

tower, towre, v. See tour.

Tower Bridge, the. 'The huge pit-head mine structure at Loos': late 1915–18. F. & Gibbons. Ex a fancied resemblance to the Tower Bridge in London.

Tower Hill, preach on. To be hanged: C. 16. Skelton in Magnificence. Tower Hill was long the place of execution in London. Cf. Tyburn phrases.

Tower-Hill play. 'A slap on the Face and a kick on the Breech', B.E.: c.: late C. 17–18. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. tower, n., q.v., and: town or Town, as in go to, leave, t. or T. London: coll.: C. 18–20.—2. (town.) A halfpenny: rhyming s. (— 1909) on brown, n. Ware.

Tower-Hill vinegar. The headsman's block: C. 16–17. Ex Tower Hill, preach on.

town, in; town, out of. See in town and out of town.

town-bull, a wencher, is rather S.E. than coll. or s., but perhaps as lawless as a town-bull (a notable wencher: late C. 17—early 19) and roar like a town-bull, to bellow (late C. 18—mid-19) are coll. (B.E.; Grose.) Cf. Ray, 1678, then the town-bull is a bachelor, i.e. 'as soon as such an one', Apperson: a c.p. † by 1850.—2. A harlot's bully: low (— 1923). Manchon.

town-lout. A scholar living at home in the town; Rugby School: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Cf. town(e)y.

town red, paint the. See red.

townier. A s. variant of S.E. townee: ca. 1885–1915. F. & H.

towney, towny. Alien to the school: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1860. Contrast housey, peculiar to the Hospital.—2. A fellow-townsmen (or woman): in U.S., 1834; in England, 1865 (O.E.D.). Cf. Fr. mon pays(e).—3. A town-bred person, esp. a Londoner: coll.: 1828, Peter Cunningham (O.E.D.).—4. towny, adj. Townish: coll.: 1837 (O.E.D.).—5. towneys, properly townies. Clothes more suitable to town wear than are the school's blue garments: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1860.

towns and cities. See thousand pities.—towre. See tower.

towre. See tour.—towzery gang. See touzery gang.

tox. To intoxicate, gen. in ppl.adj., toxed, tox-ing: 1630's. Heywood. O.E.D. toxy. Intoxicated: from ca. 1905; very ob. A. H. Dawson, Dict. of Slang, 1913. Ex Scottish.

toy. A watch: c. (— 1877); slightly ob. Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 1877. Hence, toy-getter, -getting, a watch-snatcher (Arthur Morrison, 1896: O.E.D.), watch-stealing; toy and tackle, a watch and chain (see tackle, n.); a red toy is a gold watch (see red, c. adj.), while a white toy is a silver one.

toy-box. The engine-room: naval (not very gen.): C. 20. Bowen.

toy-time. Evening preparation: Winchester: from ca. 1860. Ex:

toys. A bureau, esp. in the form of desk and bookcase combined: Winchester: from ca. 1860. Ironically ex toy, a trinket or knick-knack.

tra-la-la! Good-bye!: c.p., — slightly contemptuous and not too polite,—of ca. 1830–90. Ware, 'The phrase took its rise with a comic singer named Henri Clarke, whose speciality was imitating Parisians.' This being so, Clarke almost certainly knew the Fr. s. sense of tra-la-la (the posterior): cf., therefore, kiss my —.

traces, kick over the. See kick.

trachitis. Incorrect for tracheitis: from ca. 1840. O.E.D. trachy. Tracheotomy: medical students' (— 1933). Slang, p. 190.

track. Sol. for (a) tract; likewise for †tract, v.—2. (Also trag.) A quart: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Thus: trauq > traq > trag or trak > track.

track, v. See preceding, 1.—2. track up the dancers, to go, esp. if quickly, upstairs: c. (— 1671); † by 1850. Head, B.E., Grose. Ex † S.E. track, to go.

track, inside. The truth: sporting s. > coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. have the inside running, i.e. an advantage, and inside information, valuable 'tips'.

track with. To woo: Australian (— 1916). C. J. Dennis. Cf. walk out with.

tractile. Tractive: catachresis: 1839. O.E.D.

tractor. 'A 'plane with frontal propeller' (B. & P.): Air Force: from 1915.

trade. An act of trading; an exchange; in politics, a private arrangement: U.S. s. (1829: Thornton) anglicised ca. 1890 as coll. >, by 1920, S.E.—2. the trade is prostitution: late C. 18–19. Cf. trader, q.v.—3. In G.W., the trade = the submarine service: naval coll. (W.): from 1915.

trade, v. To exchange, 'swap': U.S. coll. anglicised ca. 1885. Baumann.

trade-mark. A scratch on the face; esp. in draw, leave, or put one's trade-mark on one or one's ace or down one's face, to claw the face. Chiefly of women: (low) coll.: from early 1870's. Anon. music-hall song, Father, Take A Run!, ca. 1875.

trader. A harlot: ca. 1680–1820. Radcliffe, 1682, she-trader, a variant. Also trading dame, as in Cotton, 1678. Cf. the trade at trade, n., 2.

Trades Union, the. The 1st Dragoon Guards: military: ca. 1830–1914. At one time many of the officers were—horribile dictu!—sons of tradesmen (cf. the snobbery and arrogance of temporary gentlemen in G.W.). F. & Gibbons, however, derive it 'from the K.D.G.'s being constantly employed in suppressing Trade Union disturbances in Lancashire and the Midlands between 1825–34'.

trading dame. See trader.

trading justices. Such low fellows as, 'smuggled into the commission of the peace', live 'by fomenting disputes, granting warrants and otherwise retailing justice', Grose, 3rd ed.: coll.: ca. 1785–1840.

trady. Belonging to, characteristic of, trade: coll.: 1899 (O.E.D.).

traffic. A whore: c. of late C. 16—early 17. Greene, 1591 (traffique). Ex the large amount of business she plies.—2. Wireless messages sent or received: wireless operators' (esp. at sea) coll.: from ca. 1926. Bowen.

Traffy. The Trafalgar (ship): naval (— 1909); ob. Ware.

trag. See track, n., 2.

tragedy Jack. A heavy tragedian: pejorative theatrical: from ca. 1875; ob.

trail. A befooling: rare coll.: 1847, C. Brontë (see next entry); ob.

trail, v. To quiz or befool: coll.: from ca. 1845. C. Brontë, 1847, 'She was (what is vernacularly termed) trailing Mrs Dent; that is, playing on the ignorance; her trail might be clever, but . . . decidedly not good-natured'; Coulson Kernahan, 1900, 'To see the Ishmaelites "trail" a sufferer from "swelled head" is to undergo inoculation against that fell malady.' Ex trail, to draw (a person) out or on.

trailer. One who rides a horse away and sells him afar off: c.: late C. 16—early 17. Greene, 1592.—2. A prowling cab-driver: London coll. ca. 1870–1905. E.D.D.

traily. Slovenly; weak, languid: dial. (—1851) >, by 1860, coll. O.E.D.

train. To consort: coll.: from ca. 1880; slightly ob. Cf. tag about (with) and the C. 17 S.E. train, to walk in a notable's retinue.—2. (Also train it.) To travel by train: coll. (—1887). Baumann (train it); 1888, The Pall Mall Gazette, April 2 (O.E.D.).

trains !, go and play ; also . . . with yourself ! Also run away and play trains ! A derisive c.p. of dismissal: C. 20. Cf. run away and play marbles !, q.v.

traipse. See trapes.

traitors at table, there are. A c.p. applied to a loaf of bread turned the wrong side upwards: mid-C. 17–19. Ray, 1678, 'Are there traitors at the table that the loaf is turned wrong side upwards ?'

tram. A tramway car: coll. (1879) >, ca. 1905. S.E. (O.E.D.) Cf.:

tram. To travel by mining-district tramroad: coll.: 1826 (E.D.D.).—2. Hence, by tram-car: likewise coll.: from ca. 1880,—see tram, n. Also tram it (1904, E. Nesbit: O.E.D.). Cf. train, 2.

tram-fare. Twopence: London streets': 1882—ca. 95. Ware.

tram-lines. The $4\frac{1}{2}$ ft.-wide area on each side of a (doubles) lawn-tennis court: sporting: from ca. 1929. Esp. down the tram-lines, i.e. more or less straight along this strip of the court.

tramp. A journey on foot; a long, tiring, or arduous walk or march; a 'hike': coll.: 1786, Burns; 1898, J. Hutchinson, 'Exhausted by a long tramp in hot weather'. O.E.D. Ex tramp, to walk, to walk steadily.

tramp, v. To go on a walking excursion, a 'hike': coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Also tramp it.—2. To proceed as a tramp: coll. (—1891). The Century Dict.—3. To drive out of or into some stated condition by tramping, vigorous walking: coll.: 1853, Kane, 'Tramping the cold out of my joints', O.E.D.—4. To make a voyage by tramp steamer: coll.: 1899 (O.E.D.).—5. Hence, v.t., to run (such a steamer): coll.: 1899, likewise in Cutcliffe Hyne (ibid.).—6. To run over (e.g. an animal); to smash (e.g. a gate): South African coll. (—1913) >, by 1930, 'standard'. Influenced by 'the Cape Dutch trap, to ride or drive over', Pettman.

tramping the ties. Trespassing on the railways: Canadian: late C. 19–20. O.E.D. (Sup.). The ties are the sleepers of a railway track.

trampler. A lawyer or attorney: c. of ca. 1635–50. Middleton. Perhaps because he tramples on others; prob. ex †trample, to act as an intermediary.

trampolin. A double spring-board: circus: mid-C. 19–20. Ex trampolin, performance on stilts.

transcendent, -ly ; transcendental, -ly. Occ. confused: a late C. 19–20 catachresis.

transfer. To steal: Society: ca. 1895–1915. Ware. On convey. Cf.:

translate the truth. To lie evasively: Society c.p.: 1899. Ware. Ex a phrase used, by a Parisian newspaper, of Delcassé, the French cabinet-minister, in connexion with the Muscat incident.

translated. Intoxicated; very drunk: Society: 1880's. Ware derives it ex Shakespeare's 'Bless thee, Bottom, thou art translated.'

translators. A pair of re-made boots and shoes: (low) London: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Mayhew, 1851. Ex translator, a cobbler, esp. of old shoes.

transmogrify ; occ. transmografy, -aphy, -riphy ; -migrafy ; -mugrify. To change, alter; esp. to metamorphose utterly or strangely: coll., humorous >, ca. 1700, rather low: resp.,—1700, but implied in 1661; 1656, 1688, 1671;—1725; 1786. Always v.t. and orig. of persons only. S. Holland, 1656; B.E. (-mogrify); A New Canting Dict., 1725 (-mogrify, -migrafy); Burns (-mugrify); Barham; Mary Howitt, ca. 1888. In C. 20, ob. The Dictionary of 1725 asserts that transmigrafy is the correct form: if so, transmigrate prob. supplies, via illiterate corruption, the etymology.—2. The derivatives transmogrification, transmogrifier, are much less frequent: resp., K.W., 1661, 'To the botchers for transmogrification', and 1676. O.E.D. (chiefly); F. & H.

transnear. To come up with (a person): c.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E., where it is misprinted tansnear; Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps on C. 17 S.E. transpear, the word prob. = to cross (e.g. a street) in order to approach.

transpire. To happen: catachrestic: U.S. (—1804), anglicised ca. 1810; recorded by Webster, 1828. Rife in journalism. Properly, transpire = to 'leak out'. See esp. O.E.D., W., and Fowler.—2. (Of time) to elapse: likewise catachrestic, but rare: ca. 1820–40. O.E.D. transport tale. A false rumour; a 'tall' story: infantrymen's pejorative coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Cf. latrine rumour.

trap. Trickery, a deceitful trick; fraud. Esp. in understand trap, to be wide-awake or, esp., alert to one's own interest. (Anon., 1679, Counterfeits, III, i, 'You're deceiv'd in old Gomez, he understands trap'; 1821, Scott: Apperson); smell trap, to suspect danger, as of a thief 'spotting' a detective (J. Greenwood, 1869); and be up to trap (in dial. before 1828,—see Apperson; but recorded as coll. in 1819 by O.E.D.; H., 1860). Low s.; very ob. except in the third phrase. Cf. trap is down, the. Ex lit. S.E. influenced by trapan, trepan, a trick on stratagem.—2. A sheriff's officer, policeman (in Australia, ca. 1860–90, a mounted one), detective: c. or low s.: 1703, Ned Ward; 1838, Dickens; 1895, Marriott-Watson. Slightly ob., except in South Africa, where it has, since the early 1880's, been esp. used both of an exciseman and of an I.D.B. detective (Pettman). Ex trap, to catch.—3. A smallish, sprung carriage; in Britain, esp. an gig, but in Australia and New Zealand a four-wheeled carriage: from ca. 1805: coll. >, by 1900, S.E. Perhaps ex rattle trap.—4. See traps.—5. The mouth: low: from ca. 1780 as potato-trap, q.v., the simple form being of mid-C. 19–20. (O.E.D. Sup.).—6. A mould used in coining counterfeit: c. (—1929). O.E.D. (Sup.).—7. (Prob. ex sense 1.) A go-between employed by a pickpocket and a whore working together: c.: C. 18. C. Hitching, in The Regulator, 1718, describes the procedure.

trap is down !, the. The trick, or attempt to 'do' me, has failed; it's no go!: a c.p. of ca. 1870-1910. Ex trap, 1, q.v., with an allusion to the fallen door of a trap for birds, etc.

trap-stick. The penis: ca. 1670-1900. Cotton; 'Burlesque' Bridges. Ex the lit. sense.—2. In pl., the legs; esp. thin legs: ca. 1780-1850. Grose, 1st ed., 'From the sticks with which boys play at trap ball'.

trapan; trepan in these senses is rare and not earlier than ca. 1680. 'He that draws in or wheedles a Cull, and Bites'—swindles—'him,' B.E.: c. of ca. 1640-1830. Prob. ex (to) trap, with a c. disguise-suffix (cf. -mans).—2. Hence, a deceitful or fraudulent trick or stratagem: (orig. low) s.: ca. 1660-1830.

trapan, trepan, v. To ensnare, beguile, inveigle, swindle: c. or low s. (— 1656) >, by 1750, (low) s.; ob. Blount, B.E., Grose. Ex trapan, n., 1.

trapes; occ. trapse; often traipse. A slovenly or slatternly female: coll. and (in late C. 19-20, nothing but) dial.: ca. 1673, Cotton, 'I had not car'd | If Pallas here had been prefer'd; | But to bestow it on that Trapes, | It mads me'; the other two forms, C. 19-20, though trapse is almost †. Ex trapes, v., 1, q.v.—2. (Same origin.) A going or wandering in listless or slovenly fashion; a wearisome or disagreeable tramp: coll. and dial.: 1862, Mrs Henry Wood, 'It's such a toil and a trapes up them two pair of stairs.'

trapes; traipse. (In C. 18-20, occ. trapse. Dial. has many variants, varying from traaps to trapus and traipass.) To walk untidily, listlessly, aimlessly; gad about: coll.: 1593, Bilson implies it in 'This trapesing to and fro', O.E.D.; 1710-11, March 2, Swift, 'I was traipsing to-day with your Mr Sterne,' ibid. Perhaps cognate with †trape (to walk idly to and fro), which prob. derives ex medieval Dutch trappen, to tread (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, to trail, or hang, along or down: coll.: from ca. 1770; from late C. 19, only in dial.—3. (Ex sense 1.) V.t., to tramp over, tread or tramp (e.g. the fields): 1885, Hall Caine. O.E.D. trapesing, traipsing. N.: see trapes, v., 1.—2. Adj., 1760, Foote, trapsing: idem.

trapezihedron. Incorrect for trapezohedron: 1828, Webster. O.E.D.

trapish. Slovenly; slatternly: coll.: C. 18. Rowe, 1705 (O.E.D.). Ex trapes, n., 1, q.v.

trapper. A horse used in a 'trap' (q.v., sense 3): coll.: from early 1880's. 'Cf. vanner, busser, cabber, etc., on the model of "hunter",' F. & H.

trappiness. The n. of trappy, q.v.: coll.: 1885, The Field, Dec. 26.

trapping. Blackmail: c.: late C. 17-mid-18. Anon., A Country Gentleman's Vade Mecum. A special development from trap, to ensnare. Cf. trapan, n., 2.

trappy. Treacherous; trickily difficult; i.e. lit. or fig. containing a trap or traps: coll.: 1882, The Daily Telegraph, Nov. 13, 'The fences might have been increased in size, however, without being made trappy'; in cricket, of the ball: 1887 (Lewis).

traps. Personal effects; belongings; baggage: coll.: 1813 (O.E.D.). Abbr. trappings.—2. Hence, in Australia, a 'swag' (q.v.): from late 1850's. H., 2nd ed trapse. See trapes.

trash. (Contemptuously: cf. dross, filthy lucre.) Money: ca. 1590-1830. Greene, ca. 1591; 1809, Malkin. As the O.E.D. remarks, Shakespeare's trav. Travelling money: Felsted School: late C. 19-20.

'Who steals my purse, steals trash' was prob. an operative factor.

travel. To admit of, to bear, transportation: coll.: (Dec.) 1852, Beck's Florist, 'Not . . . good plants for exhibition, as they travel badly', O.E.D.—2. To go, move, fast: coll.: 1884, of a dog, 'How he travels,' E.D.D.; 1904, F. & H., 'The motor travelled along, and no mistake.'

travel on one's props. To leave luggage with the railway company as security against the travelling facilities granted, money lacking for the fares and freight, by the company: theatrical: late C. 19-20.

travel out of the record. To wander from the point: coll.: from mid-1850's; ob. Dickens in Little Dorrit. Cf. off the map.

travel the road. To take to highway robbery: euphemistic coll.: C. 18-mid-19. Farquhar, in The Beaux' Stratagem, 1707. Cf. sense 1 of:

traveller. A highwayman: coll.: C. 18-mid-19. Cf. preceding.—2. A tramp: from ca. 1760: coll. till late C. 19, then dial.; ca. 1840-80, common among tramps (H., 1st ed.), and often = an itinerant hawker. Goldsmith (O.E.D.); Mayhew.—3. Esp. in Australia: 1869, 'Peripatetic Philosopher' Clarke: coll. >, by 1900, S.E.; ob.—4. Also traveller at His or Her Majesty's Expense. A convict sent abroad: ca. 1830-1910. H., 2nd ed., the longer form.—5. 'A thief who changes his quarry from town to town', F. & H.: c.: from ca. 1830; ob. Brandon. Cf. senses 1, 2.—6. A Gypsy: low: ca. 1865, in 'No. 747'.—7. A sermon delivered, by the one preacher, on different occasions and in various places: coll.: orig. (ca. 1890) and mainly ecclesiastical, esp. among theological students. (O.E.D.).—8. A walking ganger, a man in charge of a section of the job on which are working gangs of navvies under the charge of ordinary gangers, or gangs of bricklayers, etc.: Public Works coll. (— 1935).

traveller, tip the. See tip the traveller. (Occ. put the traveller: Manchon.) traveller's tale or talent. Exaggeration; romancing: ca. 1820-50. Ex preceding.

travelling circus. A group of machine-gunners moving from point to point; a staff tour of inspection of the trenches: military: 1915-18. F. & Gibbons. Cf. circus, q.v.

['Travelling language' is a C. 18 term—it occurs, e.g. in Bampfylde-Moore Carew—for the s. of vagabonds and, to a less degree, of criminals.]

travelling piquet. A coll. name, ca. 1785-1840, for 'a mode of amusing themselves, practised by two persons riding in a carriage, each reckoning towards his game'—app. 100 points—'the persons or animals that pass by on the side next them, according to the following estimation', which ranges from 'a man or woman walking; 1' to 'a parson riding a grey horse, with blue furniture; game.' Grose, 3rd ed.

travelling scholarship. Rustication: jocular coll., Oxford and Cambridge University: from early 1790's to mid-C. 19. The Gentleman's Magazine, 1794, p. 1085, 'Soho, Jack! almost presented with a travelling scholarship? very nigh being sent to grass, hey?'

Travelling Tinkers, the. The 30th Regiment (Lancashires): military (— 1909) Ware.

traverse. See cart, traverse the, and Tom Cox's traverse.—traviata. See come the traviata.

trawl, trawl-net; troll, troll-net. In C. 18-20, occ. confused. (O.E.D.)

*tre-moon. An occ. variant of tree-moon.

*tray, trey. Three, whether as number or set: c. >, ca. 1910, low s.: from mid-1890's. Ex tray, trey, the 3 at dice or cards.—2. Hence (also tray, trey-bit), a threepenny piece: low: 1907 in O.E.D.; but prob. several years earlier.—3. tray soddy mits, threepence halfpenny: Parlyaree and low London: late C. 19-20. Here, soddy = It. soldi (see saltee) and mits = It. mezzo, a half (see madza).—4. In pl. (trays), infantrymen: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex their usefulness for carrying things. Cf. something to hang things on and Christmas tree.—5. See tree-moon.

tray bon for the troops. (Very) good; of a girl, attractive: military: 1915. B. & P. Ex Fr. très bon; see also troops.

tray beans. See trez beans.—tray-bit. See tray, 2.—tray jake. See jake.—trays. See tray, 4.

treacle. Thick, inferior port: from ca. 1780. Ex thick sediment.—2. Love-making, as in treacle moon, a honeymoon: coll.: 1815, Byron; ob. Ex sweetness.

treacle-factory. A training-ship: naval: late C. 19-20. Bowen. Ex the heavy 'incidence' of molasses.

*treacle-man. A 'beautiful male decoy . . . pretended young man of the housemaid and the real forerunner of the burglar': c.: from ca. 1880. Ex treacle, 2.—2. Hence, a 'commercial' touting sewing-machines, etc., to women: commercial travellers': late C. 19-20. Ware.—3. He who makes the smartest sales: drapers' assistants', (— 1909). Ware.

Treacle Town. Bristol: (low) coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex the sugar-refineries.—2. Macclesfield: coll. and, esp. Cheshire, dial.: from ca. 1880. Ex a hoghead of treacle bursting and, for a time, filling the gutters (F. & H.): but Dr Bridge, Cheshire Proverbs, 1917, doubts this.

tread, chuck a. (Of the male) to coit: low: from ca. 1860. Cf. treadle.

tread on the gas. See gas, step on the.

treader. (Gen. pl.) A shoe: low: from ca. 1880; ob.

treadle, treddle. A whore: low: ca. 1630-1890. Ford, 1638; Halliwell. By a pun on the lever so named + tread (copulate with).

treason-monger. A dynamiter: political: 1885-86. Ware.

treasure. (Of a person) a 'gem' or 'jewel': coll.: 1810, Lady Granville (O.E.D.). A certain lady calls all her maid-servants, irrespective of quality, 'treasures'.

treasury, the. The weekly payment: theatrical (— 1874). H., 5th ed. (Introduction, p. 60.)

treat. Something very enjoyable or gratifying; the pleasure therefrom or the delight therein: coll.: 1805, E. Dayes. Rarely of a person (1825, Lady Granville). O.E.D. Esp. a fair treat.—2. Anything, anybody, objectionable or a great nuisance: low ironic coll.: from 1890's. F. & H.—3. a treat, adv.: most gratifyingly; very well indeed: low coll.: 1899, The Daily News, May 8, 'This air makes yer liver work a treat,' O.E.D. Often ironically or vaguely it = extremely: C. 20, low coll.—4. do a treat. To suit admirably: low coll. (— 1904). F. & H., "It does me a treat" = "That's O.K.; real jam, and no error." All senses: ultimately ex treat, entertainment offered by another person, but senses 2-4 derive imm. ex 1.

treat, a. See preceding, 3.—treat, do a. Ibid, 4. treble-seam. A three-seamed leather cricket ball: cricket s. (1897, The Globe, July 1) >, ca. 1920, coll.; slightly ob. (O.E.D.)

Treble X's, the. The 30th Foot Regiment >, ca. 1880, the 1st Battalion of the East Lancashire Regiment: military: mid-C. 19-20; ob. Ex 'XXX' in Roman numerals. Also the Three Tens and the Triple X's.

trecoil. Treacle: Bootham School (— 1925). Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang.

treddle. See treadle.

*tree. Only as in treewins and tree-moon, qq.v.

tree, v. To put in a difficulty; drive to the end of one's resources: orig. (1818: Thornton) U.S., anglicised in the 1850's as a coll. >, by 1880, S.E. Henry Kingsley, 1859, 'It's no use . . . you are treed,' O.E.D. Ex treating an animal. Cf. tree, up a.

tree, bark up the wrong. See bark.

tree, lame as a. Extremely lame: lower classes' coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Perhaps ex the noisy walking of a man with a wooden leg.

tree, up a. Cornered; done for; in a serious difficulty; penniless: coll.: U.S. (1825), anglicised ca. 1840, Thackeray in 1839 having 'Up a tree, as the Americans say.' Ex a hunted animal taking refuge in a tree. Also up the tree (Baumann) and up a tree for tenpence.

*tree-moon. Three months' imprisonment: c.: mid-C. 19-20. 'No. 747' (= year 1845). Also trey (or tray) of moons, often in C. 20, abbr. to tray or trey.

Tree of Knowledge. 'The tree under which books, etc., are piled in the interval between morning school and [lunch],' F. & H.: Charterhouse: from ca. 1860; ob. by 1900, † by 1920. Punning the lit. sense.

treer. 'A boy who avoids organised sports, but plays a private game with one or two friends. [Presumably because played at the trees by the side of the ground]', F. & H.: Durham School: ca. 1850-90.

*treewins. Threepence: c.: late C. 17-20; ob. B.E. Cf. treswins, q.v. Ex *win, n.

trek. To depart: from ca. 1890: coll., orig. and mainly South African. Ex trek, to journey by ox-wagon, hence to migrate,—itself ex Dutch.

tremble, (all) in a or all of a; (up)on the tremble. Trembling, esp. with emotion: coll.: resp. 1719, ca. 1760 (Henry Brooke); 1800 (Lamb). O.E.D.

trembly. Tremulous; quivering: coll.: 1848, Dickens, 'So trembly and shaky', O.E.D. tremendous. As a mere hyperbole or intensive (= astounding; immense): coll.: 1812, Southey, 'A tremendous change has been going on,' O.E.D. Cf. awful, terrible.—2. Extraordinary as regards some quality stated in the context: from ca. 1830. George Eliot, 1866, 'A tremendous fellow at the classics'. O.E.D.

tremendously. Very greatly, extremely, excessively: coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Ex tremendous, 1, q.v. D. Mackail, Greenery Street, 1925, 'So frightfully and tremendously proud.'

trench-mortar. A bed-pan: military: from 1915. B. & P.

*trepan. See trapan.

*treswins. Threepence: c. (— 1725); ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Cf. treewins, q.v.

Trew John. See Trudjon.

treyn. See tray.—treyn(e), treyning-cheat. See trine, v., 2, and trining cheat.

trez (occ. tray) beans. Very well (adv.); very good or pleasant: military: 1916; ob. B. & P. Ex Fr. très bien. Cf. Fray Bentos, q.v.

tri. A tricycle: coll.: C. 20. Cf. three-wheeler, q.v.

Triangle Dinks, the. See Diamond Dinks.

triangles; gen. the triangles. Delirium tremens: low (— 1864); very ob. H. 3rd ed. A perversion of tremens, prob. on the trembles and perhaps also with an allusion to the percussive musical instrument; H., however, suggests that it is because, during 'd.t.'s', one sees everything 'out of the square'. Cf. heeby-jeebies, jim-jams, jitters, and willies.

triantelope; occ. triantulope. A tarantula: an Australian coll. and popular corruption of that word: 1846, C. P. Hodgson, Reminiscences of Australia. On antelope.

trib. A prison: c.: late C. 17—early 19. Abbr. tribulation, as remarked by B.E., who implies a more gen. sense in 'He is in Trib, . . . he is layd by the Heels, or in a great deal of trouble.' Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

tribulation. 'The condition of being held in pawn'; ca. 1660–1780. Dryden. (O.E.D.)

trichi, -y; occ. tritchie, -y. A Trichinopoly cigar: 1877, Sir Richard Burton. Yule & Burnell.

trick. A watch: c. of late C. 18—mid-19. Tufts, 1798. Ex trick, a small, esp. if cheap, toy or ornament, a trinket.—2. A person, esp. a child, that is alert and amusing: Australian and New Zealand coll.: late C. 19–20.

trick, do the. To effect one's purpose, do what is necessary or desirable: coll. (— 1812) >, by 1870 or so, S.E. Vaux; Egan's Grose.—2. Hence (absolutely), to get a woman with child: low coll.: from ca. 1830.

trick and a half. 'A master-stroke of roguery', F. & H.: coll.: C. 19. A development ex a trick worth two of that (not coll. but S.E.).

trickar; properly tricker. A device for opening a window: c.: late C. 16—early 17. Greene, 1592. ? cf. jigger.

trickett. A long drink of beer: New South Wales: ca. 1895–1910. Ex Trickett, that champion sculler who knew that 'beer's best for an Al nation.' Morris.

trickle. To go: jocular coll.: 1920, P. G. Wodehouse (O.E.D. Sup.); ob. Cf. filler.—2. See trickle, n., in Addenda.

tricks, bag of. See bag of tricks.

tricks, been playing. Pregnant: euphemistic coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

tricks P, how's. How are you; how are things going?: C. 20. (Michael Harrison, 1935.) Ex cards.

trickum legis. A quirk or quibble in the law: jocular: ca. 1790–1850. Grose, 3rd ed. Lit., a trick of the law, -um pointing the jest at Law Latin.

tricky. Unexpectedly difficult, needing careful handling or cautious action; catchy, risky: coll.: 1887, Saintsbury, 'One of the tricky things called echo sonnets', O.E.D. (By 1935, virtually S.E.)

trier; tryer (try-er). A player that perseveres in the attempt to win: cricket s. (1891) >, ca. 1905, gen. sporting coll. The Century Dict.

trifa. See tripha.—triffing. See tiffing.

trig. A piece of stick or paper left in the front door; if still there the next day, it practically shows that the house is unoccupied. The act is, to trig the jigger (door): c. (— 1812). Vaux. Ex trig, brake, a sprag.—2. A hurried walk, a tramp: from ca. 1880: dial. and coll. Cf. v., 1, q.v.—3. Trigonometry: coll., esp. schools' and universities': from not later than 1908 and prob. from mid-C. 19.

trig, v. Grose, 2nd ed., 'To trig it, to play truant': from late 1780's; slightly ob. Ex (S.E. > dial.) trig, to walk quickly: whence also trig, n., 2, q.v.—2. See trig, n., 1.—3. V.i. To pull the trigger of a camera in taking a snapshot: from ca. 1925. Collinson.

trig-hall. Open house; Liberty Hall: late C. 18–20: dial. and (low) coll., the latter † by 1900. Grose's Provincial Glossary; F. & H. Ex North Country dial. trig, to stuff, to cram, to fill up (esp. the stomach). (E.D.D.) trigging, lay a man. To knock him down: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 3rd ed. Perhaps ex the v. trig of ninepins; or ex trig, v., 1, q.v.

trigonometry; gen. commit t. Trigamy: jocular: C. 20.—2. Occ. bigamy (cf. eternal triangle).

trigry-mate; gen. trigrymate. 'An idle She-Companion', B.E.: late C. 17–20: s. >, early in C. 19, dial. Grose, 1st ed. Ex trig, to walk briskly. (The form trigimate is dial.)—2. Hence, an intimate friend: C. 19–20: coll. > dial. Halliwell.

trike. A tricycle; to ride a tricycle: (low) coll.: 1885 (O.E.D. Sup.); 1901, The Pall Mall Gazette, May 15, 'The commercial "trike" is, perhaps, the least supportable of the various tyrannies on wheels which it is the perambulating Londoner's lot to endure.' On bike, q.v.; cf. Fr. and English tri. Hence, triker, the rider of one, and triking, such cycling: coll.: from late 1880's. Barrère & Leland.

trilby. A 'woman's exquisite foot': Society: 1894–ca. 96. Ware. Ex Du Maurier's Trilby.—2. A trilby hat: coll.: 1897, The Daily News, Feb. 6 (O.E.D. Sup.). Same source.

Trilbys. Pig's feet or trotters: West Yorkshire s. (— 1905), not dial. E.D.D. Cf. Trilby, 1.

trilithonic. Trilithic: erroneous form: from the 1830's. O.E.D.

trill. The anus: ? late C. 17—mid-19. Halliwell. ? ex crepitation: cf. ars musica.

trim. To cheat; to fleece: C. 17–20. Dekker; implied by B.E. in 'Trimming, c. Cheating People of their Money'; Edgar Wallace, 1928 (O.E.D. Sup.); c. >, by 1720, s. Prob. ex trim, to thrash; cf.:

trim one's jacket. To thrash a person: coll.: 1748, Smollett (O.E.D.). An elaboration of S.E. trim, to thrash, with perhaps an allusion to trim, to decorate (a hat) or dress (hair: cf. dress down, q.v.).

trim the buff. (Absolutely.) To deflower, or merely to coit with, a woman: 1772, Bridges, 'And he . . . has liberty to take and trim | The buff of that bewitching brim,' i.e. harlot; ob. Ex buff, the human skin; and cf. trim one's jacket.

trimmer. A person who, a thing which, trims or thrashes, lit. or fig.: e.g. a stiff letter, article, review; a strict disciplinarian; a redoubtable competitor, fighter, runner (human or animal); a severe fight, blow, run, etc.; an especially well-delivered ball at cricket: coll.: 1776, Foote, of a severe leading article; 1804, Nelson, of a letter—as, in 1816, Scott; 1827, The Sporting Magazine, of a hound; 1832, P. Egan, 'At last a trimmer Dick sent down,' —cf. 1882, 'Clean bowled by a trimmer', F. & H.; O.E.D.; Lewis. Cf. the adj. in:

trimming, n. See trim, v.—2. Adj. Excellent, 'rattling': coll.: 1778, the Earl of Carlisle, 'Such trimming gales as would make . . . a landsman . . . stare'; 1825, The Sporting Magazine, of a run with hounds; slightly ob. Cf. preceding entry. O.E.D.

trimmily. To a notable extent; excellently: coll.: 1789, A. C. Bowers, 'I had the gout trimmily', O.E.D.; ob. Ex trimming, adj., q.v.; cf. trimmer.

trimmings. Masked alcohol: tradesmen's: 1897, The Daily Telegraph, Jan. 18. Ware.

trincum; gen. trinkum; occ. trinkum. A trinket: from mid-1660's: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. (very ob.) and dial.: resp. C. 18–20, C. 17–20, late C. 19–20. Scott, 1819 (O.E.D.). Merely trinket with 'Latin' -um for -et.—2. For reduplicated forms, see trinkum-trankum.

Trine. Tyburn: c. of mid-C. 17–18. Coles, 1676. Ex sense 2 of:

trine. To go: c. of C. 17–mid-19. Fletcher 1622; Scott. A survival from S.E. trine, to go, to march (C. 14–16), itself of Scandinavian origin. (O.E.D.)—2. V.i. and t., to hang: c. of ca. 1560–1840, but, like sense 1, ob. as early, prob., as mid-C. 18. Harman, B.E., Grose. Also tryne, C. 16–17, and treyn(e), C. 17. Perhaps, as the O.E.D. observes, ex a shortening of trine to the cheats, to go to the gallows, to be hanged.

tringham tringham, tringum-trangum. See trinkum-trankum.

tringing, treyning, tryning. An execution by hanging: see trine, v., 2.

Trinity. Trinity College: Oxford and Cambridge coll.: mid-C. 18–20.

trinity (or Trinity) kiss. 'A triple kiss—generally given by daughters and very young sons, when going to bed, to father and mother': Society: ca. 1870–80. Ware.

trinkety; incorrectly trinketty. Of little importance or value: (rare) coll.: 1817, Scott. O.E.D. trinkum. See trincum.

trinkum-trankum; also tringham tringham, tringum-trangum. A trinket (C. 18–20); a whim or fancy (late C. 17–early 19): s. >, early in C. 19, mainly dial. B.E., tringum-trangum, 'a Whim, or Maggot'; 1702, Steele, tringham tringham, as adj.; 1718, Motteux, trinkum-trankum. Reduplicated trinkum (see at trincum). Mostly O.E.D.

trip. A harlot; a thief's woman: c.: from mid-1870's; slightly ob. Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 1877. ? ex tripping motion.—2. Hence, an affectionate term of address: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon. Cf. Fr. cocotte.—3. (Trip). Tripos: Cambridge University coll.: from ca. 1920. (O.E.D. Sup.)

tripe. Utter nonsense; very inferior writing, singing, acting, etc. etc.: from ca. 1890: coll. verging on S.E. Crockett, 1895, 'A song . . . worth a shopful of such "tripe"', O.E.D. Ex the tripe as typical of inferior food, etc.—2. See tripes.—3. An occ. abbr. of tripe-hound, 1. F. & Gibbons.—4. Tissues for microscopic examination: medical students' (—1933). Slang, p. 193. Also meat.

tripe, bag of. A term of opprobrium for a person: low coll. or perhaps rather a vulgarism: C. 19–20. Cobbett, 1822 (O.E.D.). Suggested by tripes, q.v. Cf.:

tripe, blooming six feet of (or six blooming feet of).

A tall, solid policeman: low urban: from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

Tripe, Mr Double. A (very) fat man: low: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed.

tripe, up to. Worthless; thoroughly objectionable: lower classes': C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex tripe, 1.

tripe-hound. A naval nickname for 'the Sopwith triplane used for a short time by the R.N.A.S.': during the G.W. (Bowen.) The tripe puns 'tri-plane', whereas hound is a reference to the fact that it behaved like a bitch. Imm. ex:—2. A foul, an objectionable fellow: lower classes': C. 20. Manchon.

triper is an East London corruption (—1909) of tripha, q.v. Ware.

tripes; tripe. (Very rare, after C. 18, in the singular.) The intestines; the paunch containing them: mid-C. 15–20: S.E. until mid-C. 18, then coll.; in mid-C. 19–20, low coll. Grose, 1st ed. (tripe; tripes implied); Hood, 1834, 'I'm as marvellous as any on 'em—and I'll stick my knife in his tripes as says otherwise.'

tripes and trillibubs or trullibubs. A jeering nickname for a fat man: ca. 1780–1880. Grose, 1st ed. Lit., the entrails (of an animal). Cf. tripe, bag of, and Tripe, Mr Double, qq.v.; see also tripes.

tripha or trifa, ritually unclean (opp. kosher), is Hebrew; it can be considered as s. only when it is loosely applied by Gentiles to things other than food.

triple tree. A gallows: c. of ca. 1630–1750, then only archaically. Randolph, ca. 1834; Brome, 1641; T. Brown, ca. 1700. Ex the three parts.

Triple X's, the. See Treble X's, the.

Tripoly, come from. To vault, tumble; perform spiritedly: s. (—1847); † by 1890. Halliwell. Ex performances of Moorish dancers.

tripos. The intestines; the paunch: c. (—1887). Baumann. On tripes (see tripe).

tripos pup. An 'undergrad' Cantab doing Honours: Cambridge undergraduates' (—1887); ob. Ware.

tripper. An excursionist: coll.: 1813, 'Trippers to the seaside for a week'. Also cheap tripper, one who goes on a cheap trip: coll.: 1872. O.E.D.

tripper-up. One who trips and then robs a person: c.: from mid-1880's. The Daily Chronicle, Nov. 18, 1887.—2. A woman preying on drunken men: c.: C. 20. J. Sweeney, Scotland Yard, 1904 (O.E.D.).

tripping-up. The criminal practices in tripper-up, 1 and 2, qq.v.

trippist. A 'tripper' (q.v.): coll.: 1792 (O.E.D.); rare in C. 20; virtually † by 1930.

Tristram's knot, Sir. A halter; esp. in tie Sir Tristram's knot, to hang: coll.: ? C. 17–19. F. & H. tritchie, -y; or T. See trichi.—tritrace. See troll.

triumph, ride. To go helter-skelter or full tilt: ca. 1760–1850: coll. bordering on S.E. Sterne, 1761. Presumably abbr. ride in triumph.

triumpherate, -ery. Incorrect for triumvirate, triumviry: C. 17; late C. 16–17. Shakespeare has both. By confusion with triumph. O.E.D.

Troc, the. The Trocadero: 'formerly Musio Hall, now [1904] Restaurant', F. & H.: orig. and mostly London: from late 1880's. Cf. the Cri, the Pav, qq.v.

trochulus, troculus are incorrect for trochilus: C. 18, C. 17–20. O.E.D.

troffy. See trophy, 2.

Trojan. A roysterer, boon companion, a disolute: C. 17-mid-18. Kemp, 1600; adumbrated in Shakespeare, 1588. Ex the fame of Troy.—2. Hence, a good fellow: coll.: from ca. 1660, though adumbrated in Kemp (as in 1); ob. Butler, 1663, 'True Trojans'; Scott, 1827, 'Trusty as a Trojan', true and trusty being the usual epithets: cf. trusty trout, q.v. O.E.D.—3. A brave, plucky, or energetic person (rarely of a woman); gen. in like a Trojan, very pluckily or, in C. 20 always, energetically: coll.: 1838 (in Fraser's Magazine; 1841, in book form), Thackeray, 'He bore . . . [the amputation] . . . like a Trojan': 1855, Dickens, 'He went on lying like a Trojan about the pony' (Apperson). Cf. like a trooper (at trooper).

troll occurs in four phrases in Awdelay, 1561, as c. of ca. 1550–80:—troll and troll by, one who, esteemed by none, esteems nobody,—perhaps ex C. 14–17 troll, to saunter or ramble; troll hazard of trace, one who follows his master 'as far as he may see him',—cf. trace = track(s), n.; t. h. of tritrace, 'he that goeth gaping after his master', in reference to trey-trace, of obscure origin but connected, allusively, with try-[to-]trace; and troll with, one who, a servant, is not to be known from his master.—2. See trawl.

trollop. A woman, respectable, or otherwise: Oxford University and underworld coll.: from ca. 1923.

trollywags. Trousers: low: from ca. 1870; very ob. ? on bags, q.v.

tromboning, go. To coit: low: from late 1880's. By anatomical analogy. Cf. flute.

troop. To march, walk, pass, in order: late C. 16–20: S.E. until mid-C. 20, then coll., though only just coll., as the O.E.D. makes quite clear.

troop away, off, etc. To depart: coll.: 1700, T. Brown, 'I thought 'twas time to troop off to an eating-house,' O.E.D.

trooper. A half-crown: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose. (? a 'brave' coin, or because it frequently formed part of a trooper's pay.)

trooper, like a. Much; hard; vigorously: coll.: 1727, swear like a trooper, the most frequent use; the O.E.D. records eat like a trooper in 1812, lie . . . in 1854; but in C. 20, anything but swear is ob. Cf. Trojan, 3, q.v., and see also swear like a cutter.

trooper's horse, you will die the death of a. A jocular c.p. = 'You will be hanged': ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed., 'That is with your shoes on'.

troops, the. We, us; I, me: military: from 1914. Esp. in that's the stuff to give the troops, that is what I (we) want or enjoy.

trooso. A sol. spelling of trousseau: late C. 19–20. (Francis Beeding, The One Sane Man, 1934.)

trophy. A convert: Salvation Army j. >, by 1920, coll. Manchon.—2. A dull-witted recruit: military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Ex sergeant-major's irony. Also troffy (B. & P.). tropical. (Of language) blasphemous; obscene: from ca. 1920. Ex tropical, very hot.

trork. A quart: back s. (— 1874). H., 5th ed. Variant of track (tag), q.v.

tros; tross. Sort: back s. (— 1859 in form trosseno: H., 1st ed.). Thus trosseno, lit. 'one sort', is used for a 'bad sort' (of day, coin, etc.), as also is dabtros, the more precise form of 'bad sort'.

trossy. Dirty; slatternly; slovenly: lower classes': late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex preceding.

trot. A child learning to run: coll.: 1854, Thackeray, 'Ethel romped with the . . . rosy little trots.' (Cf. toddles.) Hence, in late C. 19–20, trottie, a toddling child.—2. Hence, a small and/or young animal: coll.: from 1890's.—3. A walk; e.g. do a trot: from ca. 1875: London lower-classes' coll. >, ca. 1910, gen. Ware.—4. A succession of heads thrown at two-up: Australians' and New Zealanders': late C. 19–20. I.e. trot = a run.—5. See trots.

trot. 'To steal in broad daylight': c.: from ca. 1860. F. & H.—2. To walk with short, quick steps in a small area: coll.: 1863, Mrs Cowden Clarke, 'She . . . will keep her husband trotting,' O.E.D.—3. See trot out—round (or to)—and up.

trot, lie as fast as a dog can. To be a persistent liar: coll.: C. 19–20; ob.

trot it out! Lit., show it: see next, sense 1.—2. Hence, speak!: confess!: from ca. 1890. Cf. spit it out! and cough it up!

trot out. To bring out (a person, hence an opinion, etc.) for inspection and/or approval; hence, to exhibit: coll.: 1838, Lytton (O.E.D.); 1888, Christie Murray, 'They would sit for hours solemnly trotting out for one another's admiration their commonplaces.' Ex the leading out of a horse to show his paces.—2. Hence, to spend, as in trot out the pieces: (low) coll.: mid-C. 19–20.—3. Cf. trot out a song, to sing one: from ca. 1870. This trot is generic for do and it occurs in such phrases as trot out a speech. Equivalent also is trot it out! (q.v.), where the connexion with sense 1 is obvious.—4. To walk out with (a woman), lover-wise: 1888, 'John Strange Winter' (O.E.D.). Esp. trot out a judy: low s. See judy. Cf. the analogous trot round.—5. trot out one's pussy (or feed it), to receive a man sexually: low: mid-C. 19–20. See pussy.

trot round, to. To escort or conduct round or to a place: from the middle 1890's. 'Seton Merri-man', 1898, 'Perhaps you'll trot us round the works,' O.E.D. Prob. a development from trot out, 4, q.v.

trot the udyju, Pope o' Rome. To side-track or dismiss one's wife or other woman: low urban (mostly London): late C. 19–20. In transposed s., udyju is judy (woman, girl), while Pope o' Rome is rhyming s. for home. (Ware.)

trot-town. A loafer, an idler: London coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

trot up. To bid against (a person), run up (a price): auctioneers' s. (— 1864) >, ca. 1910, coll. H., 3rd ed. Cf. S.E. trot, to draw a person out, or on, in conversation in order to make him a butt.

trots. (Very rare in singular.) Feet: low London (— 1909). Ware. Ex trotters.—2. (Rare in singular.) Policeman: lower classes': mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob. Because so much 'on the go' or trot. Ware.

trotter. A tailor's assistant who touts for orders. Oxford and Cambridge (— 1860). H., 2nd ed.—2. One who goes, without residence, to Dublin for a degree: Dublin University: from ca. 1880.—3. A day-student: Durham University: from ca. 1890. O.E.D.

trotter-boxes, gen. -cases. Boots; shoes: low: mid-C. 19–20; 1820, Hood (O.E.D.), and Dickens in 1838,—boxes is vouched for by F. & H.; both are ob. Also trotting-cases: from late 1850's; ob. H., 1st ed.

trotters. The human feet: jocular coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 17-20. B.E. has shake your trotters!, be gone!; C. 19-20 variants are move your trotters!, and, nautical, box your trotters, but the earliest remains gen. Cf.:

trotters at B(e)ilby's ball, shake one's; sometimes with addition of where the sheriff pays the fiddlers. To be put in the stocks: low s. bordering on c.: ca. 1780-1840. Grose, 1st ed., 'Perhaps the Bilboa's ball, i.e. the ball of fetters: fetters and stocks were anciently called the bilboes.' At Beilby's ball, however, see another interpretation.

trottie. See trot, n., 1, and trotty.—trotting-cases. See trotter-boxes.

trotty; occ. trottie. (Adj.) Of small and dainty make or build: coll.: 1891, 'Lucas Malet' (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex trot, n., 1.

trouble. Imprisonment; arrest. Mostly in (be) in trouble, (be) in gaol: coll. in C. 16, s. in C. 19-20: recorded ca. 1560 (in Cavendish's Wolsey), but app. then rare until C. 19. Cf. get into trouble, to be fined, arrested, imprisoned, transported: from ca. 1820. Prob. euphemistic.—2. As, certainly, is trouble, unmarried pregnancy: coll.: 1891, Hardy (O.E.D.).

trouble. To trouble oneself; to worry: coll.: 1880, Justin McCarthy; W. C. Smith, 1884, 'Do not trouble to bring back the boat.' O.E.D. Ex trouble oneself, to take the trouble.

trouble and strife. A wife: rhyming s.: late C. 19-20. Cf. the C. 16 proverb, he that hath a wife hath strife.

troubled with corns, that horse is. I.e., foundered: c.p.: C. 19-20; ob.

troubled with the slows. (Of swimmer or boat) defeated: aquatics (— 1909). Ware.

trouser, trowser. A Jack of all trades: East London: from ca. 1895. Ware. Ex the 'comprehensiveness' of trousers.

trouser, v. To put (money) into one's trouser-pocket, hence to pocket (it): from ca. 1890.—2. Hence, to earn: cabmen's (— 1892). Labour Commission Glossary, 1892. O.E.D. Cf. put down south, which trouser, 1, may have suggested.

(trousers)!, not in these. See boots!, not in these.

trousies. Trousers: sol.: mid-C. 19-20. Baumann. (Implied in round my or the houses.) trout. Orig. and gen., trusty (ca. 1661) or true (1682) trout, a good fellow (cf. Trojan, 2), a trusted servant or a confidential friend; Shadwell has your humble trout, your humble servant. S. of ca. 1660-1830; extant, however, in old trout, q.v. B.E.; Grose; O.E.D. Contrast (poor and queer) fish. Perhaps suggested by the alliteration of true Trojan (later, trusty Trojan).

trouting, n. Catching trout: anglers' coll.: 1898, The People, April 3 (Ware.)

trowser. See trouser, n.

truck. A hat: nautical (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed., 'From the cap on the extremity of a mast', whence also, at least prob., is truck-gutted.

truck, v.; frequent as vbl.n., trucking. Of obscure meaning; I hazard the guess that it signifies: by legerdemain, to keep buying things with more or less the same coins; or, to steal certain more useful or valuable articles while getting change for the purchase of lesser articles. C. of mid-C. 19-20; † by 1910. 'No. 747.'

truck-gutted. Pot-bellied: nautical (— 1860) slightly ob. H., 2nd ed.

trucking. See truck, v.

truckle (or trundle-) bed, stumble at the. To mistake the chambermaid's bed for one's wife's: semi-proverbial coll.: ca. 1670-1750. Ray, 1678.

trucks. Trousers: low (— 1859); slightly ob. H., 1st ed. Prob. ex truck, (collective for) small, miscellaneous articles of little value and/or lowly use.

truculent. Base; mercenary: catachrestic: from 1820's. Ex truck, intercourse, + truckle, v. O.E.D.

Trudjon. A variant of Trojan: sol. (— 1887). Baumann (also Trew John).

True. A member of the Whig Party: late C. 17 coll. nickname.

true as that the candle ate the cat or as (that) the cat crew and the cock rocked the cradle. I.e. untrue, false: a semi-proverbial coll. or c.p.: mid-C. 16-18: 1666, Torriano, the former; 1732, Fuller, the latter. Apperson, who also quotes that's as true as [that] I am his uncle (Ray, 1670).

True Blue. See Blue, True.

true for you! An Anglo-Irish c.p. of assent to another's statement: from early 1830's. O.E.D. (Sup.). Direct ex Irish.

true inwardness. Reality; quintessence: literary j. verging on s.: from ca. 1890; ob. Ware.

truepenny, n. and adj. An honest fellow; true, genuine: coll.: both from ca. 1590; in C. 19-20, ob., except in the earlier old truepenny (C. 16-20), a hearty old fellow, a staunch friend, an honest man: dial. in C. 19-20. Ex a true or genuine coin of that denomination.

truff, v. To steal: North country c. (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Ex C. 18 (?-mid-19) Scots truff, to obtain deceitfully, pilfer, steal.

truff. A purse: c.: C. 18. C. Hitching, The Regulator, 1718. Perhaps by a pun on † S.E. truff, a truffle.

trugging-house, -ken, -place. A brothel: the first and third are c. or low s. of ca. 1590-1620.—Greene has both; the second, c. of (?) C. 17—only F. & H. records it. Ex trug, a whore, esp. a dirty one.

truly, yours. I; myself: jocular coll. bordering on and, in C. 20, > S.E.: 1860, Sala (O.E.D.); 1866, Wilkie Collins, 'Yours truly, sir, has an eye for a fine woman and a fine horse.' Contrast your nibs.

trump. A very good fellow, a 'brick': coll.: 1819 (O.E.D.); in Barham as a term of address (my t.), a usage † in C. 20. Adumbrated by T. Brydges in 1762, 'I . . . Shall make him know I'm king of trumps.' Egan's Grose, 'One who displays courage on every suit'.

trump, v. To break wind: low coll.: C. 18-20; very ob. D'Urfey. Hence the vbl.n., trumping, and trumper, the agential n.; the latter is rare. O.E.D.

trump, tongue of the. See tongue of . . .

trump of the dump, the. Anyone in authority: New Zealanders': in G.W. trumpery insanity. Temporary insanity: a c.p. directed at the frequency of this verdict in cases of suicide: ca. 1880-1900. Baumann.

trumpet-cleaning, gone. Dead: Regular Army: late C. 19-20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps ex a martial vision of a job in the heavenly orchestra.

Trumpet Moore. Moore the poet, who blew his own. Dawson.

trumpeter as an endearment = 'dear hoy'. (Iow) coll. of ca. 1870–1900. Baumann.

trumpeter, King of Spain's or Spanish. A braying ass: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. (K. of Spain's t.). Ex the pun, Don Key :: donkey. Cf.:

trumpeter, for he smells strong,—he would make a good. A c.p. applied to one with fetid breath, for he smells strong being occ. omitted: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 2nd ed., where the second member is for he has a strong breath. Ex the pun, strong breath :: good lungs. Cf. preceding.

trumpeter is dead, his (her, etc.). A c.p. applied to a person boasting or to a confirmed braggart: from ca. 1725; ob. Franklin, 1729; Grose, 2nd ed., in the orig. form, his . . . dead, he is therefore forced to sound his own trumpet, which supplies the 'etymology'; hut cf. also trumpeter, King of Spain's, q.v.

trumpety. Trumpet-like; hlaring: coll.: 1822, The Examiner. O.E.D.

trumps, turn up. To turn out well, prove a success: coll.: 1862, W. W. Collins (O.E.D.). Ex games of cards. Cf. trump, above.

truncheon. Stomach: West Yorkshire s. (—1905), not dial. E.D.D., 'He filled his truncheon.'

trundle, the ob. coll. n. (1869: Lewis) of:

trundle, v.t. and i. To bowl: cricket coll.: 1849; cf. trundler, howler, 1871, and trundling, n., bowling, 1861. Lewis. 'Orig. the ball was trundled along the ground.' Cf. wheel 'em up and contrast trundling bowler.—2. See let 'em trundle!

trundler. See preceding.—2. In pl., peas: c.: ca. 1670–1830. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Presumably because they roll along the ground. Cf.:

trundling. See trundle, v.—2. trundling bowler: one who, bowling fast, makes the ball bound three or four times: cricketers' coll.: 1851; † by 1890. Lewis.

trundling-cheat. A wheeled vehicle, esp. cart or coach: 1630, Jonson; † by 1700. Ex trundle, v.i., to roll along, + cheat, chete*, q.v.

trunk. A nose: late C. 17–20. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Esp. in phrases (see next two entries).—2. In pl. (also T-), shares in the Grand Trunk of Canada: Stock Exchange coll. (—1895). A. J. Wilson's glossary.

trunk?, how fares your old. A c.p. jeer at a big-nosed man: ca. 1690–1850. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. In allusion to an elephant's trunk.

trunk, shove a. 'To introduce oneself unasked into any place or company', Grose, 1st ed.: low: ca. 1780–1890.

trunkmaker-like. With more noise than work: ca. 1780–1840. Grose, 1st ed.

trunkmaker's daughter,—all round St Paul's, not forgetting the. A book-world c.p. applied to unsaleable books: late C. 18–early 19. The Globe, July 1, 1890, 'By the trunkmaker was understood . . . the depository for unsaleable books,' O.E.D.; and St Paul's, then as now, was famed as a book-selling district.

trunks, live in one's. To be at a place for so short a time that it is not worth while to unpack; to live in a confined space, esp. a ship's cabin: coll. (—1931). Lyell.

Trunks. See trunk, 2. trusted alone, he may be. He is very experienced or shrewd: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose. Rather sarcastic, the implication being that he may be so trusted to go anywhere without danger to himself.

trusty. An overcoat: Anglo-Irish coll.: 1804, Maria Edgeworth. I.e. trustworthy garment.

trusty Trojan. See Trojan, 2.—trusty trout. See trout.

try. An attempt; an effort: coll. verging on S.E.: from ca. 1830.

try, v.i., with across, after, in, etc.; also v.t. To search (a place) to find (e.g. game): coll.: v.i., 1810, The Sporting Magazine, 'He bid the other defendants try across the Six Acres'; v.t., late C. 19–20. O.E.D.

try a fresh needle! 'Shut up!': Charterhouse: from ca. 1910. Ex gramophones: cf. switch off!

try and (do something). To try to do something: 1686, J. Sergeant, 'They try and express their love to God by thankfulness,' O.E.D.: coll. now verging on S.E. (see Fowler).

try back! A c.p. addressed to a person boasting: ca. 1820–60. Bee.

try it on. To make an attempt (to outwit, to impose on a person): from ca. 1810 both in this s. sense and in c., where it = to live by theft. Vaux. Both as v.i., the more gen., and as v.t. (Thackeray, 1849, 'No jokes . . .; no trying it on me,' O.E.D.). Hence, coves that or who try it on, professional thieves: c.: from ca. 1812.—2. See next two entries.

try it on a, gen. the, dog. To experiment at the risk or expense of another, esp. a subordinate or a wife: from ca. 1895: theatrical s. (as in The Daily Telegraph, Feb. 4, 1897) >, ca. 1905, gen. coll. Ware. Ex matinée dog (q.v.), though ultimately ex experimenting with meat on a dog or with poisons on animals. In the film industry, it = to put a picture (not yet publicly shown) into a programme unannounced in order that its effect on the audience may be noted by the producers, who afterwards may make any alterations they think advantageous: coll.: from ca. 1920. Prob. ex the theatrical sense (C. 20), to take a new play to the provinces before London production: likewise coll.

try it on with. The usual v.t. form of try it on in s. sense: from ca. 1820. Esp. try it on with a woman, to attempt her chastity: 1823, 'Jon Bee'.

try-on. An attempt, orig. and gen., to 'best' someone; e.g. an extortionate charge, a begging letter: from ca. 1820. Bee, 1823; H., 5th ed. Ex try it on, q.v.—2. Whence up to the try-on: see up to the cackle.

try-out. A selective trial: coll.: U.S. (—1900), anglicised ca. 1910.

tryer. See trier.—tryne. See trine.

tu quoque. The female pudend: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. Possibly suggested by pu(dendum) and twat; or a disguising of the latter.

tub. A pulpit: from ca. 1640 (O.E.D. records it in 1643): coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E.; oh. Whence the coll. (verging on s.) terms, tub-drubber (ca. 1703, T. Brown; very ob.), -man (ca. 1640–70), -pounder (rare; ca. 1820–1910), -preacher (1643; very rare in C. 19–20), and, the commonest, -thumper (from ca. 1660; Grose, 1785, 'a Presbyterian parson'); also tubster (coll.: ca. 1680–1720). Likewise, tub-thumping (app., not before ca. 1850: H., 1st ed.), etc. Ex the tub from within which popular, and esp. Nonconformist, clergymen used, in the open air, to preach, but also, and in several instances, independently ex the humorous likening of a pulpit to a tub. F. & H.; O.E.D.—2. A bath; the practice of having a bath, esp. on rising: coll.: 1849 (O.E.D.); 1886, The Field, Feb. 20, 'A good tub and a hearty breakfast prepared us for the work of the day.' Ex tub, a bath-tub.—3. A seatless carriage, an open truck: (low) coll.: ca. 1840–70. H. S. Brown, Autobiography, 1886 (O.E.D.).—4. 'A chest in Hall into which *dispar*s (q.v.) not taken by the boys were put', F. & H.: ca. 1840–70. Perhaps rather j. than s. or coll., as prob. also are tub-mess and prefect of tub: see Farmer's Public School Word-Book.—5. A (very) fat person: low coll.: from mid-1890's. Cf. tubby, q.v.—6. A cask or keg of spirit, holding about four gallons: smugglers' s. (–1835) >, by 1860, coll.; ob. O.E.D. tub, a varying measure of capacity.—7. An omnibus: c. (–1933). Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld.—8. the Tub. See Academy, the. The allusion is to the tub of Diogenes.

tub, v.t. To wash, bathe, in a tub: coll.: 1610, Jonson.—2. Hence v.i., to bath in a tub, esp. on rising: coll.: 1867 (O.E.D.).—3. To train (oarsmen) in a 'tub', i.e. a fool-proof practice boat: rowing s., orig. and esp. at the two older universities: 1883; the v.i., to practise rowing in a 'tub', dates from 1882. (Dates, O.E.D.) Whence tubbing, vbl.n. to both v.t. and v.i. (from 1883) and get tubbed, to be thus coached.—4. (Of a tug) to make (a ship—esp. a big ship) fast to a buoy: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

tub, in the. See in the tub.

tub-drubber, -man. See tub, n., 1.

tub-men. 'Landsmen employed during the second, or secret, period of smuggling to receive the contraband from the luggers and carry it inland': ca. 1830–80: s. >, by 1860, coll. See tub, n., 6. (Bowen.)

tub-mess. See tub, n., 4.

tub-pair. A practice boat for two oarsmen: (orig. Oxford and Cambridge college) rowing s. >, ca. 1920, coll.: 1870 (O.E.D.). See tub, v., 3 and 4.

tub-pounder, -preacher, -thumper, -thumping. See tub, n., 1.

tubbichon. A non-cultured corruption of Fr. tire-bouchon, the lone corkscrew ringlet of back hair worn in front of the left shoulder (a fashion introduced by the Empress Eugénie): 1860's. Ware. Cf. zarnder, q.v.

tubbing. See tub, v., 3, 4.—2. Imprisonment: c.: late C. 19–20; ob. Why?

tubby. Fat (person): as adj. (1835), S.E.; as nickname (mid-C. 19–20), coll.—2. The latrine-attendant: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1870. Ex one so nicknamed.

tube. The tunnel in which runs an underground electric train: coll.: from ca. 1895.—2. Hence (often the Tube), abbr. tube-railway: coll.: 1900.—3. Hence, the Twopenny Tube, the Central London Railway (opened in): 1900: coll. (The inclusive fee (cf. the Paris Métro) was abolished not later than 1915.) O.E.D.

tube, v.i.; also tube it. To travel by 'tube': coll.: 1902 (O.E.D.). Ex n., 2.

tube-train. 'A shell passing high overhead and making a heavy rumbling sound': military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons.

tuber. A race-horse with a tube inserted in the air-passage: turf: 1922 (O.E.D. Sup.).

tubs. A butter-man: low (–1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex butter in tubs.

tubster. See tub, n., 1.

tuca. Incorrect for tuça (gen. spelt tuza): late C. 18–20. O.E.D.

tuck. A hearty meal, esp. (orig. and mainly in schools) of delicacies: 1844, J. T. Hewlett. Also, in C. 19 more gen., tuck-out, 1823; occ. in C. 19, very often in C. 20, tuck-in, 1859, H., 1st ed. (Cf. tucker, q.v.) F. & H. and O.E.D. ? ex tuck, a fold or pleat: tuck-out, the earliest form, suggests a meal that removes a tuck or a crease from one's waistcoat or trousers-top; but prob. imm. ex the v., 2 and 3, qq.v.—2. Hence, food; esp. delicacies (e.g. pastry, jam): orig. and mainly school s.: 1857, Hughes, 'The Slogger looks rather sodden, as if he . . . ate too much tuck.'—3. Appetite: dial. and provincial s.: from the 1830's. Halliwell.

tuck, v. To hang (a person): c. of late C. 17–19. B.E. But gen. tuck up: from mid-1730's: c. rapidly > (low) s.; in C. 20, ob. Richardson, 1740, 'The hangman asked the poor creature's pardon, and . . . then calmly tuck'd up the criminal.' Ex tuck, to put away in a safe place.—2. To eat, occ. to drink: v.t., 1784, Bage, 'We will . . . tuck up a bottle or two of claret'; hence, v.i., eat a lot or greedily, 1810; tucking-in, tuck into occurring in 1838 in Dickens. (Mostly O.E.D.) The simple v. is less frequent than the prepositional combinations. Etymology: prob. as in sense 1.—3. Ex 2, v.i. sense: to distend (another or oneself) with food: 1824, 'Comfortably tuck'd out', O.E.D.; † by 1900. Rare, esp. in simple form.—4. Prob. ex sense 1: to hang (a bell) high in the stock: 1860 (O.E.D.): bell-makers' and bell-ringers', perhaps coll. rather than s. Abbr. tuck high (in the stock). Gen. tuck up.

tuck-'em fair. An execution: c. (–1700) >, in mid-C. 18, low s. B.E.; Grose, Parker, 1789, 'We went off at the fall of the leaf at Tuck'em Fair.' Ex tuck, v., 1. Also Tuck-up Fair, q.v.

tuck-hunter. An assiduous feast-seeker: 1840, A. Bunn. Ex tuck(-out), n., 1.

tuck-in, tuck in; tuck-out, tuck out. N.; v. See tuck, n., 1; v., 2.

tuck-man. A moneyed partner: commercial: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex tuck, n., 2.

tuck-parcel. A hamper from home: Charter-house: ca. 1860–1920; ob. by 1904 (F. & H.). See tuck, n., 2, and cf.:

tuck-shop. A (mainly school) pastry-cook's shop: from mid-1850's. Hughes, 1857, 'Come . . . down to Sally Harwell's . . . our school-house tuck-shop.' Ex tuck, n., 2.

tuck up. See tuck, v., 1.—2. See tuck, v., 2.—3. See tuck, v., 4.—4. tuck-up fair or T-up F., the gallows: c. (–1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. On tuck-'em fair, q.v.

tuck'd away. Dead and buried: Australian coll.: C. 20. C. J. Dennis.

tuck'd-up. (Of dog or horse) thin-flanked from hunger or fatigue: from early 1840's: dial. and s. Ex tuck, a pleat.—2. Hence, exhausted: dial. >, by 1890, s. Kipling, 1891 (O.E.D.). Cf. U.S. tuckered out (see Bartlett or Thornton).—3. Cramped, hindered, for lack of space or time: coll.: 1887 (O.E.D.). Ex sense 1.

tucker. Rations, orig. of gold-diggers: Australian, hence from ca. 1860, New Zealand: 1858, The Morning Chronicle, Aug. 31, 'Diggers, who have great difficulty in making their tucker at digging'; slightly ob.—2. Hence, by ca. 1870, food, as in Garnet Walch, 1874: Australian >, by 1875 or so, New Zealand.—3. Hence, earn (1883) or make one's tucker, to earn either merely or at least enough to pay for one's board and lodging: orig. Australian, then New Zealand. Like 1 and 2, it is in C. 20 fairly gen. Colonial. Ex tuck, n., 2, or v., 2. Cf. grub and scoff, qq.v.

tucking-in, vbl.n. See tuck, v., 2.

tuelfall, -fold. Incorrect for to-fall (n.): 1846, onwards: mid-C. 17-mid-19. O.E.D.

tuft. A titled undergraduate: 1755, in tuft-hunter, one who, at Oxford or Cambridge, toadies to the young noblemen; t.-h. > gen. and S.E. in mid-C. 19; tuft is very ob. Ex the tuft or gold tassels worn on their caps by aristocratic students. Whence tuft-hunting: from 1780's; by 1850, S.E.

tug. A Colleger: Eton (— 1881). Pascoe's Life in Our Public Schools, 1881. Ex the toga worn by Collegers to distinguish them from the rest of the school, says F. & H.; perhaps rather ex dial., where tug is to work hard, and (a) tug, arduous labour (see E.D.D.).—2. An uncouth person; esp. if dirty and/or none too scrupulous: late C. 19–20. Perhaps ex tug, adj.—3. (Tug.) The inevitable nickname of all male Wilsons: naval and military: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Even Admiral Sir A. K. Wilson, V.C., was named thus by his bluejackets. Possibly ex adj., 1: at Winchester, Tug Wilson would be in contradistinction to, e.g., Sturt-Wilson.—4. (Gen. pl.) A tug-of-war match: Harrovian coll.: late C. 19–20. Arnold Lunn, 1913.

tug, v. To eat (greedily): proletarian (— 1923). Manchon. Ex tugging with one's teeth.

tug, adj. Stale, vapid; common, ordinary: Winchester: from ca. 1880. The origin is mysterious, unless perchance it is cognate with the dial. terms mentioned in tug, n., 1.—2. Whence tug-clothes, one's everyday clothes; tug-jaw, dull talk; and tugs, stale news.

Tug-Button Tuesday. See Pay-Off Wednesday.

tug-mutton. A whoremonger: C. 17. 'Water-Poet' Taylor. Ex mutton, q.v.—2. A glutton: provincial s. (— 1847); ob. Halliwell. The rhyming is prob. accidental.

tugger. A participator in a tug-of-war: 1909 (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1935, virtually S.E. Ex tug, v.i., to pull.

tuggery. College at Eton; esp. in try for tuggery, to try to pass on to the foundation at Eton as a King's Scholar: Eton (— 1883). Brinsley Richards, Seven Years at Eton, 1883. Ex tug, n., 1.

tugs. See tug, adj., 2 and n., 4.

tui. Tuition: Winchester: late C. 19–20. Wrench. On remi.

tulip. A bishop's mitre, or the figure of one: from late 1870's; by 1930, coll. Ex the shape. O.E.D.—2. my tulip (H.; 1st ed.), my fine fellow, occurs mostly in go it, my tulip!, a London street c.p. of the 1840's–50's. F. & H.: 'An echo of the tulipomania of 1842'. Note, however, that tulip has since C. 17 been used of a showy person.

tulip-sauce. Kissing; a kiss: cheaply jocular (— 1904); very ob. Punning two lips.

tullibon. See toloben.

tum (1868, W. S. Gilbert); tum-tum (— 1904). Variants of tummy, q.v.: coll., esp. nursery. (O.E.D. Sup; F. & H.) tum-hat. See tile.

tumbies. Ablutions: Oxford University: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede'; ob. Ex tubbing (tub, v., 1).

tumble, n. See tumble, do a and take a.—2. A failure: c.: from ca. 1910. James Curtis, The Gill Kid, 1936.

tumble, v.i. To move stumblingly or hastily, rush, roll along: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. E.g. Lever, 1843, 'Tumble into bed, and go to sleep as fast as you can,' O.E.D. See also tumble in (v.) and tumble up.—2. To understand, perceive, something not obvious, something hidden; v.t. with to: low: from ca. 1850. Mayhew, 1851, of long or highfalutin words, 'We can't tumble to that barrikin.' Either, as W. suggests, ex under-stumble, to understand, or perhaps, as the O.E.D. implies, ex tumble on, chance on (a thing).—3. (Always tumble to.) Hence, to assent to, agree with, form a liking for: from early 1860's. Mayhew. Rather rare, and, after G.W., slightly ob.—4. (Of values, prices, stocks.) To fall rapidly in value: 1886 (O.E.D.): commercial s. >, ca. 1920, coll. Ex lit. sense ('fall to the ground').—5. Abbr. (C. 20) of tumble down the sink, q.v. J. Phillips's Dict. of Rhyming Slang, 1931.

tumble, do a. (Of a woman) to lie down to a man: low: C. 19–20. Cf. S.E. tumble, to handle with rough indelicacy.

tumble, take a. 'To comprehend suddenly', C. J. Dennis: Australian: late C. 19–20. Cf. tumble, v., 2. tumble-a-bed. A chambermaid: a harlot: coll. (? C. 18–) C. 19. Ex v. phrase.

tumble along. See tumble, v., 1.

Tumble-Down Dick. See Queen Dick, 3. Because Protector for less than a year. Dawson.

tumble down the sink. A drink; to drink: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. B. & P. tumble-in. An act of copulation; to copulate: low: C. 19–20.—2. Also, to go to bed: coll.: from ca. 1840. Ex tumble into bed: see quotation in tumble, 1.

tumble to, v.i. To set-to vigorously: coll.: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob. See tumble, 1.—2. V.t., to understand: see tumble, v., 2.—3. See tumble, v., 3.

tumble to oneself, take a. To take oneself to task; to realise one's own faults: low (— 1904). Ex tumble, 2, q.v.—2. To go steady, be cautious: from ca. 1905.

tumble to pieces. To be brought to bed with child and to be safely delivered of it: low: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.

tumble up. To rise in the morning: coll.: from ca. 1840. Prob. ex:—2. To come up on deck: nautical coll.: from ca. 1830. Ex tumble, 1.

tumbler. A decoy for swindlers or card-sharpers: c.: C. 17–early 19. Jonson, 1601 (O.E.D.); B.E.; Grose. Prob. ex tumbler (dog), a lurcher.—2. A cart: c.: ca. 1670–1830. Head, B.E., Grose. Esp. in shove the tumbler, q.v. Ex a cart's lumbering motion + tumbril.—3. One of a class or band of London street ruffians that set women on their heads: C. 18: prob. s. > coll. >, by 1800, archaic S.E. Steele, 1712.—4. A worthless horse: the turf (— 1904). Because it tumbles about; cf. screw, racing n. tumbling down to grass, n. and adj. Breaking up, failing, going to the bad: non-aristocratic: 1884–ca. 90. Ware 'From the fact of land going out of cultivation, 1875–85' (shades of 'Peter Porcupine'!).

tumlet. A tumbler (glass): domestic Anglo-Indian 'pidgin' (— 1886). Yule & Burnell.

tummy. Stomach: coll.: 1868, W. S. Gilbert (O.E.D. Sup.). Prob., orig., a children's corruption of stomach. Cf. tum and tum-tum.—2. Hence, tummy-tickling, copulation, and tummy-ache: the former s.; the latter, coll.—3. 'A chronic though perhaps slight abdominal pain' (Slang, p. 193): medical (— 1933).

tump. Rubbish; nonsense: from ca. 1930. D. L. Murray, The English Family Robinson, 1933, 'Did you ever read such tump as our parish magazine?' Perhaps ex tush + dump.

tun. A tippler: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Abbr. Lushington, q.v.; but also punning tun, a large cask.

tund; tunder; tunding. To beat (a boy) with a stick, as punishment (1871); he who does this (1876); such a beating (1872): Winchester School: from ca. 1870. Punch, ca. 1890, Confession by a Wykehamist, 'I like to be tunded twice a day, | And swished three times a week.' (Dates: O.E.D.) Ex L. tundere, to beat.

tune; gen. tune up. To beat, thrash: from ca. 1780; C. 19–20. Both slightly ob. Grose, 2nd ed., 'His father tuned him delightfully: perhaps from fetching a tune out of the person beaten, or . . . the disagreeable sounds on instruments when tuning.'

tune the (old) cow died of, the. A grotesque or unpleasant noise: jocular coll.: 1836, Marryat. Ex an old ballad. Apperson adduces Fuller's that is the old tune upon the bag-pipe, 1732.—2. Hence, advice or a homily instead of alms: from ca. 1880; ob. F. & H.

tuney; gen. tuny. Melodious: coll.: 1885 (O.E.D.). Often pejorative.

tuniopportunity. See toonioportunity.

tunker. A street preacher: ca. 1850–1910. A corruption of Dunker, a German baptist.

tunnel, v.i.; go tunnelling. To catch partridges at night: poachers' c.: mid-C. 19–20. 'No. 747.'

tunnel-grunters. Potatoes: low: late C. 19–20; ob. ? because so filling.

Tunnels, the. The Opéra-Comique Theatre: theatrical: 1885–ca. 90. Ware, 'From the several subterranean passages leading to this underground theatre'. (It was 'swept away by Strand improvements'.)

tuny. See tuney. Hence, tuniness: coll.: C. 20. O.E.D.

tup. A young bullock: Smithfield and drovers' term, says H., 3rd ed.: an error that had disappeared by the 5th ed.—2. But a stray tup on the loose, a man questing for a woman, is s. (— 1904). F. & H.—3. So is venison out of Tup Park, mutton: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E.

tup. Arrested; in gaol: low London, esp. in the Woolwich district (— 1909). Ware. I.e. 'locked up'.

tuppence. Twopence: C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. So the adj. tuppenny (with which cf. twopenny, q.v.). tuppence, for. Very easily: coll.: late C. 19–20. R. H. Mottram, Bumphrey's, 1934, 'I'm all heavy with that stuff. I could go to sleep for tuppence.' Lit., very cheaply.

tuppence on the can. Slightly drunk: lower classes': C. 20. Ernest Raymond, The Jestling Army, 1930. Ex public-house j. tuppenny, n. See twopenny.

tuppenny-ha'penny. Inferior; insignificant: urban coll. (— 1909). Ware. The S.E. form (two-penny-halfpenny) is much earlier.

Tupper. 'A commonplace honest bore': Society coll.: ca. 1842–90. Ware. Ex the Proverbial Philosophy (1838–42; revised and augmented up till 1867) of Martin Tupper (1810–89).

tuppy. (Of an animal) worn out; almost worthless: Australian: 1910, A. H. Davis, On Our Selection. Origin? possibly ex tuppenny.

turd. A lump of excrement: C. 11–20: S.E., but in mid-C. 18–20 a vulgarism. Cuthbert Shaw, in his vigorous literary satire The Race, 1766, spells it t—d. Ex A.-S. tord, from a Germanic radical: cf. L. tordere.

turd, chuck a. To evacuate: low: C. 19–20. See preceding.

turd, he will never sh*t a seaman's. He will never make a good seaman: nautical: from ca. 1790; very ob. Grose, 3rd ed.

turd, not worth a. Utterly worthless: C. 13–20; in C. 18–20, a vulgarism.

turd for you !, a. 'Go to hell and stay there,' F. & H.: low: mid-C. 19–20. Cf. the low turd in your teeth (Jonson, 1614; anticipated by Harman, 1567), and the late C. 16 insult goodman Turd. See turd.

turd-walloper. A night-soil man: low: C. 20.—2. Hence, a man on sanitary fatigue: military: from ca. 1910. B. & P.

turds for dinner, there were four; gen. amplified thus: stir t., hold t., tread t., and must-t. 'To wit, a hog's face, feet, and chitterlings, with mustard', Grose, 3rd ed.: a low late C. 18–early 19 rebus-c.p.

turf. The cricket pitch, the field being long grass: Winchester School: from ca. 1860.—2. (Always with a or the.) The cricket field: Felsted School: from 1870's. The Felstedian, Nov., 1881, 'There are (or were) six cricket pitches on turf.'—3. Prostitution: low: ca. 1870–1905. Ware, 'From loose women being on parade'. Whence turfer, a harlot: low: ca. 1875–1910.—4. A kick; to kick: Charterhouse: late C. 19–20.

turf, v. To send (a boy) to bed at bed-time: Derby School: from ca. 1880. Perhaps cognate with sense 3, q.v.—2. To chastise: Marlborough School: from ca. 1880. Cf. —3. turf out. To kick out; to expel: from ca. 1912. Manchon. Perhaps pregnant for put out on the turf, i.e. outside.—4. See n., 4.

turf, on the. Adj. and adv. applied, from ca. 1860, to a harlot: low. H., 2nd ed. Because, as a race-horse the turf, so she walks the streets.

turf out. See turf, v., 3.—turfer. See turf, n., 3.

Turk, not to have rounded Cape. Still to regard woman solely as an instrument of pleasure: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Ex the Turks' reputation in sexual matters.

turkey. A Royal Marine Light Infantryman: naval: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex the scarlet tunic. (Bowen.)

turkey, head over. See head over turkey.

turkey-buyer. A 'toff' (sense 1), a banker, an important person: Leadenhall Market: late C. 19–20. Ware, 'Because it requires more than twopence to buy gobblers'.

turkey-cock, turn (or go) as red as a. To blush violently: coll., mostly provincial and Colonial: from ca. 1860.

turkey-merchant. A driver of turkeys: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. A pun on Turkey merchant, one trading with Turkey (and/or the Levant).—2. Hence, a poulterer: mid-C. 18–mid-19, though it survived till ca. 1880 (see H., 1st–5th edd.). Grose, 1st ed.—3. Ex senses 1, 2: a chicken-thief: c.: 1837, Disraeli, in Venetia; ob.—4. A dealer in contraband silk: c. (— 1839). Brandon. Cf. origin of sense 1.—5. An 'extensive financier in scrip—a City plunger': London-financial: from ca. 1875; ob. Ware.—6. A bag: Canadian, esp. lumbermen's: C. 20. John Beames.

turkey off. To decamp: New Zealanders': C. 20.

turkeys to market, be driving. To be unable to walk straight: semi-proverbial coll. (— 1869). W. Carew Hazlitt.

Turkish. Turkish tobacco: 1898.—2. Turkish delight: 1901, Fergus Hume. (O.E.D.) Both coll.

Turkish medal. A button undone or showing on one's fly: Eastern Front military: 1914; ob. B. & P. After Abyssinian medal.

Turkish Shore, the. Lambeth, Southwark, and Rotherhithe: low London: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Ex the barbarous treatment likely to be had there: cf. S.E. Turkish treatment, sharp dealing, and young Turk.

Turl, the. Turl Street, Oxford: Oxford undergraduates': late C. 19—20. Cf. the Broad.

turmyntyne. Turpentine: C. 15; termentyne, C. 16: corrupt forms. O.E.D.

turn. A hanging from the gallows: rare coll.: C. 17—18. Shakespeare in Measure for Measure, IV, ii, 62; 'Hudibras' Butler. Abbr. turn-off. (Not c., as F. & H. states; the O.E.D. considers it S.E.)—2. A momentary nervous shock of fear or other emotion: coll. (nowadays rather proletarian,—not that it's the worse for that!): 1846, Dickens, 'What a hard-hearted monster you must be, John, not to have said so, at once, and saved me such a turn.' Ex turn, an attack of illness or faintness.—3. An act of copulation: low: C. 19—20. (Cf. C. 17 S.E. turn-up, a whore.) 'Hence,' says F. & H., 'to take a turn (or to turn a woman up) = to copulate: see ride: also to take a turn among the cabages, up one's petticoats (or among one's frills), in Abraham's bosom, in Love Lane, Bushey Park, Cock Alley, Cupid's Alley, Cupid's corner, Hair Court, on Mount Pleasant, among the parsley, through the stubble, or a turn on one's back (of women)'; the Cupid phrases may be literary euphemisms; Bushey Park and Mount Pleasant are confined to London.—4. See turns.

turn, v. See turn down, in, on, out, up, turned over.

turn a horse inside out. To school (a bucking horse) by 'slinging up one of [his] legs, and lunging him about severely in heavy ground': Australian coll.: ca. 1850—80. The Rev. J. D. Mereweather, 1859. Morris at buck-jumping.

turn an honest penny. To be a pimp, a harlot's bully: low (— 1923). Manchon. Ironic.

turn copper. See copper, come.

turn down. To toss off (a drink): coll.: from ca. 1760; very ob. Henry Brooke. Lit., turn it down one's throat.—2. To reject (an application); curtly say no to (a request, suggestion, invitation); refuse to accept (a suitor for one's hand): U.S. (from ca. 1890), anglicised, esp. in the Dominions, ca. 1900.

turn-in. A night's rest: coll.: from ca. 1830. (O.E.D.) Ex:

turn in. To go to bed: 1695, Congreve: coll., nautical till mid-C. 19, then gen. Theodore Hook, 1837, 'Jack "turned in", as the sailors say,' O.E.D. Ex turning into one's hammock. Cf. turn out, v.—2. V.t. To abandon, to desist from doing: C. 20. ? ex turn (i.e. hand) in one's resignation, where turn in may represent yet a third sense: coll. and dating from late C. 19. Cf. turn up, v., 1, q.v.

turn it in. To die: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons. Ex turn in, v., 2. Cf.:

turn it up. See turn up, v.

turn on. To put (a person) to do something: coll.: from early 1890's.

turn-out. An interval: theatrical coll.: 1851, Mayhew, 'The 'Delphi was better than it is. I've taken 3s. at the first turn-out!'

turn out, v.i. To rise from bed: coll.: 1805, W. Irving (O.E.D.); R. H. Dana, 1840, 'No man can be a sailor . . . unless he has lived in the fo'castle with them, turned in and out with them.' Prob. suggested by turn in, 1, q.v.—2. V.t., as in turn out one's hand, to show it, esp. at cards: coll. (— 1904). F. & H. Ex turn out, to empty (e.g. one's pockets).

turn over. 'A book to dip into rather than read': journalistic coll.: 1885, The Saturday Review, Dec. 26; but Ware dates it from 1880.—2. 'A transference of votes from one party to another': political: 1895 (O.E.D.).—3. V., see turned over, be.—4. To cross-question, examine severely: c. (— 1930). O.E.D. (Sup.).

turn-round pudding. Porridge or a 'slop' pudding much stirred: lower-classes' coll. (— 1909). Ware. Cf. stir-about pudding.

turn the best side to London. See side to London, turn one's or the.

turn the corner. (Gen. as vbl.n. turning . . .) To round the Grand Banks on the trans-Atlantic passage: nautical coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

turn the tap on. 'To be ready with tears': lower-class urban: 1883, The Daily Telegraph, Feb. 8 (Ware).

turn-up. A sudden departure: low: from late 1850's; ob. H., 1st ed. Prob. ex turn up, v., 2.—2. 'An unexpected slice of luck', H., 5th ed.: racing coll. >, in C. 20, S.E.: from ca. 1870. Ex to turn up lucky.—3. An acquittal: c.: from ca. 1820. Ex turn up, v., 3 (Ware).

turn up, v.t. To renounce, abandon (person or thing), cease dealing with (a tradesman), 'throw up' (a job): from ca. 1620: S.E. until C. 19, then s. Vaux; Holten, 1859, 'I intend turning it up, i.e. leaving my present abode or altering my course of life.' Frequently turn it up != 'oh!, stop that', 'stop doing that' or 'talking'.—2. Whence, v.i., to quit, to abscond, to run away: low (— 1859). H., 1st ed., "'Ned has turned up," i.e. run away.' Esp., to throw up one's job. (Gen. in passive).—3. To acquit, discharge or release (an accused or imprisoned person): low s. or, more prob. (at first, anyway), c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux. Ex S.E. turn up, to turn (esp. a horse) loose.—4. To stop and search; to arrest (a criminal): c.: from ca. 1890. H., 3rd ed. (Cf. turned over, 3.) Perhaps ironic ex preceding.—5. To chastise: Marlborough School: from ca. 1880. Ex lit. sense, the punishment being on the posteriors.—6. See turn, n., 3.—7. To hand out a share of stolen goods: c.: mid-C. 19—20; ob. 'No. 747.'

turn up a trump. To have a piece of monetary luck: coll. (— 1812). Vaux.

turn up crabs. See crabs, come off.—turn up one's toes or one's toes up. See toes up, turn one's.

turn up sweet. As in to turn up a flat sweet, to leave a 'pigeon' in good humour after 'plucking' him: o.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.

turned over, be. To be acquitted for lack of evidence: c.: from ca. 1820. Cf. turn up, v., 3, q.v.—2. Whence, to be remanded: c.: from ca. 1830.—3. 'To be stopped by the police and searched', F. & H.: c.: from ca. 1850. H., 1st ed.; Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 1877, 'What catch would it be if you was to turn me over?' Cf. turn up, v., 4, q.v.

turner out. A coiner of base money: c. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex turn out, to produce, to manufacture.

turning-tree. A gallows: either c. (F. & H.), s., or even coll.: ca. 1540–1660. Hall, in his chronicle of Henry VIII, ca. 1548, 'She and her husband . . . were apprehended, arraigned, and hanged at the foresayd turnyng tree.' Cf. later S.E. turn off, to hang.

turnip. An old-fashioned, thick, silver watch: 1840, E. Fitzgerald (O.E.D.). Ex its resemblance to a small turnip. In Anglo-Irish, it means—since ca. 1920, at least—a five-shilling Ingersoll. Also called a frying-pan; cf. warming-pan, 2.—2. An affectionate term of address, gen. old turnip: coll. (— 1923); ob. Manchon. Cf. old bean.

turnip!, one's head to a. A fanciful bet: late C. 17–19. Motteux's Rabelais, V, ii. Cf. (all) Lombard Street to a China orange.

turnip, tickle one's. To thrash on the posteriors: late C. 16–mid-17. There is a pun on turn-up. O.E.D. Cf. turnips, give one, q.v. turnip-pate, -pated. White- or very fair-haired: coll.: late C. 17–18 (B.E.); late C. 18–20 (Grose, 1st ed.); ob. Ex colour.

turnip-tops, cut. To steal a watch with its chain and adjuncts: c. (— 1887). Baumann. Ex turnip, q.v.

turnips, get or (k)nep; give turnips. To abandon (a person), heartlessly or unscrupulously; to be thus abandoned: c. (— 1812) >, ca. 1830, low s.; extremely ob. Vaux (give and nap). Punning turn-up in its lit. sense: cf. turnip, tickle one's, q.v.—2. Whence to get turnips, to be jilted: from ca. 1830. On Suffolk dial., give, or get, cold turnips, to jilt, be jilted.

turnips, straight off the. Applied to one who is a country bumpkin or very green: New Zealanders' (— 1932).

turnover. Incorrect for turnour, a turner or small copper coin: C. 17. O.E.D.

turnpike-man. 'A parson, because the clergy collect their tolls at our entrance into and exit from the world,' Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1850.

turnpike-sailor. A beggar pretending to be a distressed sailor: tramps' c.: ca. 1835–1900. Brandon, 1839; Mayhew, 1851; H., 5th ed., 'A sarcastic reference to the scene of their chief voyages.'—2. Hence, 'any lubberly seaman': nautical: from ca. 1890; ob. Bowen.

turnups is a variant (Ware) for turnings, 2.

turpentine, talk. To discuss painting: coll.: 1891, Kipling (O.E.D.); slightly ob. Ex painters' use of oil of turpentine (oatachrestically: spirit of turpentine: mid-C. 17–20) in mixing colours.

turpin. A kettle: Yorkshire s. (— 1847). Halliwell; E.D.D. ? ex Dick Turpin.

turps. Turpentine: from ca. 1820: coll., workmen's and painters' >, ca. 1880, gen. (e.g. photographers' and housewives'). By abbr.; -s, collective. O.E.D. (Contrast terps and Tirps, qq.v.)

turret rat. 'A sweeper in a ship's turret': naval: C. 20. Bowen.

turtle. Turtle-soup: restaurant and hotel staffs' coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

turtle doves. (A pair of) gloves: rhyming s. (— 1857). 'Ducange Anglicus.' Also turtles. P. H. Emerson, in Signor Lippo Lippi, 1893, 'A long-sleeve cadi on his napper, and a pair of turtles on his martins finished him.'

turtle-frolic. A feast of turtle: coll.: 1787 (O.E.D.). Ob.; never gen.

turtle-soup. Sheep's-head broth: workmen's (— 1909). Ware. Cf. City sherry.

tusheroon. A crown piece (5s.): low London (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Also called a bull or a cart-wheel, ex its size. But H. errs, I believe: he should mean half-a-crown, for tusheroon and its C. 20 variant tossaroon (2s. 6d.) are manifest corruptions of Lingua Franca madza caroon.

tuskin. 'A country carter or ploughman', Grose, 1st ed.: either c. or provincial s.: ca. 1780–1840. Cognate with, possibly ex, dial. tush, the broad part of a ploughshare, and tush, v.t., to drag or trail (E.D.D.). tussle. To argue (v.i.): coll. (— 1859) >, somewhere about 1890, S.E. H., 1st ed. Ex tussle, to struggle.

tussocker. A 'sundowner' (q.v.): New Zealand: from mid-1880's; slightly ob. V. Pyke, 1889, in Wild Will Enderby (Morris). Prob. because he loitered in the tussocks, till dusk (perhaps also operative).

tutoring. 'Trench-instruction to new troops' (B. & P.): 1915–18: military coll. verging on j.

Tuttle; Tuttle Nask. The bridewell in Tuttle Fields (London): resp. C. 19, late C. 17–19. See nask*, a prison. ('Closed in 1878', F. & H.)

tuz I. 'Bags I!', 'Fainits!', qq.v.: Felsted School: mid-C. 19–20. Perhaps ex (to) touse, for cf. dial. tuzel, tuzzle, to touse (E.D.D.).

tuzzy-muzzy; occ. tuzzi-muzzy (or as one word). The female pudend: from ca. 1710: (low) s. >, early in C. 19, dial. Ned Ward, 1711; Bailey; Grose, 2nd ed.; Halliwell. Ex t.-m., a posy, nose-gay, or garland. O.E.D.; F. & H.

twachel, -il, -ylle; twatchel. The pudend: mid-C. 17–early 19. App. a diminutive of twat, q.v., influenced by twachylle = twitchel, a passage.

twaddle. (S. of ca. 1783–5 for) 'perplexity, confusion, or anything else', Grose, 2nd ed.; earliest in Grose, 1st ed., in the Preface. Ex twaddle, prosy or gabbling nonsense,—itself recorded only in 1782 (O.E.D.) and prob. ex twattle, idle talk. Cf. bore, n., which it for a while succeeded.—2. 'A diminutive person: ? ca. 1820–80. F. & H., the sole authority. ? cognate with dial. twaddle, to walk feebly.

twait. See twat.

twang. To coit with (a woman): c.: C. 17–18. Baumann.

twanger. Anything very fine or (e.g. a lie) large: dial. and s.: from ca. 1870; very ob. as s. For semantics, cf. twanging entries.

twang(e)y. A tailor: North Country: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed. ? a musical pun, or a phonetic relative of stang(e)y, q.v.

twanging. Excellent: coll.: 1609, Jonson (O.E.D.); † by 1700. Cf. twanger and:

twanging, go off. To go well: C. 17 coll., as is as good as ever twanged, as good as may be: resp. Massinger and Ray. The latter phrase, with complementary the worst that ever twanged, arose, however, ca. 1540. Cf. go off with a bang of a great success.

twankey. Gin: from late 1890's: tea-trade. Ex twankey, green tea. O.E.D.

twas. It was: C. 17-20: C. 17-18, coll. and S.E.; C. 19-20, dial. and archaic. (O.E.D.) But when emphasised violently, it is still coll., as in "It wasn't there at all."—"Twas, I tell you!"

twat; in C. 18, occ. twait. The female pudend: mid-C. 17-20: perhaps always a vulgarism; certainly one in C. 18-20; very far from being †. R. Fletcher, 1656; Tom Brown, ca. 1704 (O.E.D.); Bailey; Browning, in Pippa Passes, by a hair-raising misapprehension,—the literary world's worst 'brick'. Origin obscure, but cf. twachylle = twichel, a passage, and dial. twatch, to mend a gap in a hedge.—2. As v., erroneous for troat, to bellow; † by 1800. O.E.D.

twat-faker; twat-masher. A prostitute's bully: resp. c. (— 1923) and low s. (id.). Manchon.

twat-rug. 'The female pubic hair', F. & H.: low (— 1904).

twat-scourer. A surgeon; a doctor: low s. (not a vulgarism, this): C. 18. Bailey, 1727 (t.-scowerer). See twat, 1.

twatchel. See twachel.

twattle; twattling, ppl.adj. To sound; sounding: a vulgarism: C. 17-18. Florio, 1611 (the adj.); Cotton, 1664 (the v.). Ex twattle, to talk idly, to babble.—2. Whence twattling strings, a vulgarism for the sphincter ani: mid-C. 17-18. Implied in Cotton (as above). O.E.D.

tweak; tweake, C. 17 only. A whore: C. 17-18. Middleton, 1617. Ex tweak, a twitch, or the v.—2. A whoremonger: † C. 18-early 19. Halliwell.—3. An adept at sport: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1885. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.

tweak, v. 'To hit with a missile from a catapult': 1898, Kipling, 'Corkran . . . "tweaked" a frisky heifer on the nose.' O.E.D. Ex:

tweaker; occ. tweeker. A catapult: from early 1880's. Ex S.E. (to) tweak.

twee. Dainty; chic; pleasing: coll.: 1905 (S.O.D.); ob. Ex tweet, affected or childish sweet: coll.: late C. 19-20.

tweedle. 'A Brummagem ring of good appearance used for fraudulent purposes', F. & H.: c.: late C. 19-20. † ex tweedledum and tweedledee.

tweedledum sir. (Gen. pl.) A musical composer made baronet or knight: Society: ca. 1860-90. Ware. Cf. gallipot baronet.

tweeker. See tweaker.

tween(e)y, tweenie. A between-maid: coll.: from 1880's. For semantics, cf. twixter.

tweer. See twire.—tweet. See twee.

twelve. A shilling: c. (— 1839); ob. Brandon. Cf. twelver, q.v.

twelve, after. Adv. and adv.ln. From noon to 2 p.m.: Eton coll. (— 1861) > j. twelve, more than. See seven, more than.

twelve apostles; or T.A. The last twelve in the Mathematical Tripos: Cambridge University: from ca. 1820; ob.—2. Hence, the first twelve students: Stonyhurst: from ca. 1880.

twelve godfathers. A jury: c. (— 1864) > low s.; ob. H., 3rd ed., 'Because they give a name to the crime . . . Consequently it is a vulgar taunt to say, "You will be christened by twelve godfathers some day before long."' twelve o'clock! It's time to be moving: artisans' c.p.: ca. 1890-1914. Ware. Ex noon, break-off time.

twelve-pound actor. A healthy child born in 'the profession': theatrical (— 1909). Ware.

twelver. A shilling: c. >, in C. 19, low s.: late C. 17-19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; H., 2nd ed. Ex the twelve pence.

twencent. Up-to-date, very modern: society: 1900-1; it died of inanition. Ex 'twentieth century'. L. M. de la Motte Tischbrook's letter in John o' London, Oct. 21, 1933.

twenty-firster. A coming-of-age; a celebration thereof: university, orig. (— 1912) Oxford. O.E.D. (Sup.).

twenty-in-the-pounder. One who, on liquidation, pays 20 shillings in the £: non-aristocratic coll. (— 1909). Ware.

twenty-two and twenty-two. Football: Winchester School coll.: ca. 1880-1910. This was the variety played with 22 a side.

twerp. An unpleasant or objectionable or foolish or 'soft' person (rarely female): from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons; Percy Brown, Blind Alleys, 1934.

twibill. A street ruffian: c.: C. 17. F. & H. Ex twibill, a two-edged axe, perhaps suggested by the obvious pun, 'doubly sharp'. (Perhaps an error.) twice-laid. A hash-up of fish and potatoes: low (— 1864); ob., except as nautical s. H., 3rd ed.; Bowen defines it as 'any sea dish that is cooked for the second time' and derives it ex 'the old name for rope made of the best yarns of an old rope'.

twicer. A printer working, or professing to work, at both press and case: printers' pejorative: from ca. 1880. Jacobi, 1888.—2. One who goes to church twice on Sunday: late C. 19-20. (The O.E.D.'s quotation of 1679 is either a nonce-use or connotes rarity.)—3. Something doubly, hence very, forceful or valuable: low: 1857, Mayhew, 'He expressed his delight . . . "Here's a start! a reg'lar twicer!"'; ob. O.E.D.—4. One who asks for two helpings; hence, one who persistently tries to get more than his due: Australian: C. 20; esp. in G.W.—5. Hence (?), a cheat, a liar: mostly commercial: C. 20.—6. A widow or widower remarrying: lower classes': C. 20. F. & Gibbons.—7. See:

twicers. Twins: lower classes': mid-C. 19-20. Ware.

twicest (pron. twýst). Twice: sol.: C. 19-20. Also twict and twicst.

Twickenham. A torpedo: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Did this arise in some pun about twigging 'em or twitting 'em?

twiddle-diddles. Human testicles: low: from ca. 1786; ob. Grose, 2nd ed. A reduplication of twiddle (v.) with a pun on diddle (v.).

twiddle-poop. An effeminate-looking fellow: late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. preceding entry and see poop.

twig. Style, fashion, method: low s. (— 1811). Lex. Bal. Esp. in twig, handsome or stylish; cleverly (Vaux, 1812). Often in good or prime twig (both: Vaux). Hence out of twig, disguised, esp. in put (oneself or another) out of twig; out of knowledge: low s. (— 1812). Vaux. † etymology. Perhaps ex v.i. twig, to do anything vigorously.—2. Hence, condition; fettle, spirits: low s.: 1820, Randall's Diary, 'In search of lark, or some delicious gig, | The mind delights on, when 'tis in prime twig'; ca. 1840-70, very gen. in the boxing world. Both sets of senses were ob. by 1860, † by 1900.—2. The Headmaster: Marlborough: ca. 1850–90. Ex twig, the rod or birch.

twig*, v. To disengage; to sunder: c.: ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725, has twig the darbies, to knock off the irons or handcuffs. Prob. cognate with tweak.—2. To watch; inspect: 1764, Foote, 'Now, twig him; now, mind him; mark how he hawls his muscles about'; slightly ob. Possibly suggested by twig, to beat, to reprove, but more prob., as W. suggests, cognate with dial. twick, to pinch (esp. in s. sense, to arrest), to nip (cf. S.E. tweak).—3. Hence, to see, recognise, perceive: 1796, Holman, 'He twigs me. He knows Dicky here.'—4. Hence to understand: 1815, 'Zeluca' Moore, 'You twig me—eh?', O.E.D.—5. Hence, v.i., to comprehend: 1833, Michael Scott (O.E.D.); 1853, Reade, 'If he is an old hand he will twig.' Cf. twiggez-vous, q.v.

twig, hop the. See hop.—twig, in and out of. See twig, n., 1, 2.

twig, measure a. To act absurdly: coll.: ca. 1670–1750. Ray.

twig and berries. A child's penis and testicles: lower-class euphemism: C. 20. Cf. pencil and tassel.

twig the fore (or the main). 'To look over the fore-mast (or main) to see that all the sails are furled and the yards properly squared': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex twig, v., 2.

twigger. An unchaste, even a lascivious person; esp. a whore or near-whore: ca. 1590–1720. Marlowe & Nashe in Dido, 1594 (O.E.D.); Motteux, 1694. Prob. ex twigger, (of a ewe) a prolific breeder, itself ex twig, to act vigorously.—2. Hence, a wench: C. 17, and much less gen. F. & H.

twiggez-vous? Do you understand?: from ca. 1898; virtually †. Kipling, in Stalky & Co., "'Twiggez-vous?'" "Nous twiggons." (But nous twiggons, we understand, has not 'caught on'.) Ex twig, v., last sense, on Fr. comprenez-vous, do you understand. Cf. squattee-vous, q.v., and compree: resp. for form and for sense.

twiggy?; twiggy-vous. Variants of the preceding. Pre-War, says Collinson.

twigs, hop the. To walk with crutches: nautical (—1923). Manchon. Contrast hop the twig (at hop).

twine*. To give false change: c.: late C. 19–20. Ex (S.E. > dial.) twine, to twist, wring, with a pun on wring.

twinkler*. A light: c.: late C. 19–20. Cf. twinkler, a star.

twinkling. See bed-post.

twire. A glance; esp. a leer: 1676, Etherege, 'Amorous twears', twear only in C. 17; 1719, D'Urfey (O.E.D.); † by 1750. Ex v.i. twire, to peer, look round cautiously, peer. Cf. tour(e), tower, tourre.

twirl*. A skeleton key: c.: from ca. 1877. Horsley, Jottings from Jail. Because a burglar twirls it as he uses it. Also, in C. 20, twirler.—2. A warden: prisoners' c. (—1933). George Ingram, Stir. Ex his bunch of keys.

twirl, on the*. (Adj. and adv.) A-thieving professionally: c.: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Ex twirling the locks of safes.

twiss. A chamber-pot: ca. 1777–1830: Anglo-Irish. Richard Twiss (1747–1821) published in 1776 his Tour in Ireland in 1775, which, understandably, was very unpopular in Ireland: whereupon there were manufactured some of these utensils with his portrait at the bottom, which bore the rhyme, 'Let everyone —| On lying Dick Twiss.' (Earlier in the century, Sacheverell had been similarly execrated.)

twist. A drink of (gen.) two beverages mixed: late C. 17–20; ob. In B.E., tea and coffee; by 1725, also brandy and eggs; by 1785, brandy, beer and eggs (Grose); by 1823, gin-twist, gin and hot water, with sugar and either lemon or orange juice ('Jon Bee'); in 1857, 'Ducange Anglicus' defines twist as brandy and gin; but from ca. 1860, by far the commonest is gin-twist. Ex one thing twisted in with another.—2. An appetite, esp. a hearty one: from early 1780's; slightly ob. Grose, 1st ed. Ex twist, v., 1, q.v.—3. 'A stick spirally marked by a creeper having grown round it: also twister', F. & H.: Winchester School coll.: from ca. 1860. Perhaps ex a twist of tobacco.

twist, v.i. and t. To eat; esp. to eat heartily: from ca. 1690; ob. B.E. (v.i.); Motteux, 1694 (v.t.: O.E.D.). Also twist down, v.t., to eat heartily: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps ex twisting pieces off loaves, cakes, etc. Cf. twist, n., 2.—2. In passive, to be hanged: from ca. 1720; very ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725. Ex twisting as one swings on the rope.—3. To swindle, to cheat: Australian: from not later than 1914. Perhaps by back-formation ex twister, 5.

twist, at the*. Adj. and adv. (By) double-crossing: c. (—1933). Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld.

twist, spin a. A naval variation († by 1929) of spin a yarn: latish C. 19–early 20. Baumann, 1887; Bowen. Suggested by 'spin a yarn'.

twist one's sleeve-lining. To change one's opinions or attitude: tailors': late C. 19–20.

twist the book (on)*. To turn the tables (on a person): c.: from early 1920's. Edgar Wallace. Cf. twister, 6.

twister. A very hearty eater: 1694, Motteux (O.E.D.); from mid-C. 19, only in dial. Ex twist, v., 1.—2. Anything that puzzles or staggers one, a gross exaggeration, a lie: from ca. 1870.—3. See twist, n., 3.—4. A sound thrashing; a grave anxiety, a 'turn', as in 'It gave me a twister': low (—1887). Baumann.—5. A 'shady' fellow, a swindler, a crook; a shuffler, a prevaricator; a person of no decided opinions: low: from not later than 1912 in Australia, not later than 1914 in England.—6. One who cannot be tricked or swindled: c.: from ca. 1920. See esp. Edgar Wallace, The Twister, 1928. Ironical ex sense 5, or direct ex twist the book, q.v.

twistical. Rather twisted; fig., tortuous, devious: coll.: 1815, D. Humphreys (O.E.D.); ob. except in U.S. Ex twist on, e.g., comical.

twisting. A scolding; a thrashing: 1833, Marryat (O.E.D.); ob.—2. A grief; (a cause of) anxiety: coll. (—1923). Manchon.

twitchers. Tight boots: Lancashire coll. (—1904). E.D.D. Ex the dial. sense, 'pincers'.

twitchet(t)y. Nervous, fidgety: low coll. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Ex twitchy.

twittoc*. Two: c. (—1785); † by 1860. Grose, 1st ed. By perversion of two.

twixter. 'Either a lady-like young man, or a man-like young woman': low London (—1909); slightly ob. Ware. Cf. tween(e)y. Ex betwixt and between.

twizzle, v.i. To spin (rapidly): dial. (—1825) >, ca. 1880, coll. Prob. ex dial. twistle, v.t., to twirl. O.E.D.—2. Hence, v.t., to rotate; to shape by twisting: dial. (— 1854) >, ca. 1885, coll. 'My friends . . . began twizzling up cigarettes,' C. Keene, 1887. O.E.D.

two. Two pennyworth (of spirits): 1894, G. A. Henty; ob. O.E.D.

two, adj. Only as in two fools, exceedingly foolish, is it coll. Donne's 'I am two fools, I know, | For loving, and for saying so | In whining poetry' is not an example,—for he means that he is two different kinds of fool or a fool on two different counts,—but it is relevant, for it supplies the semantic link. (Lit., doubly foolish.)

Two and a Hook, the. The 29th Foot (now the Worcestershire) Regiment: military: C. 19. F. & Gibbons, 'Suggested by the numerical figures'.

two and a kick. See kick, n., 2.

two-backed beast, the; do the . . . Two persons in coitu; to coit: low coll.: C. 17–18. E.g. in Othello, I, i, 117; Urquhart's Rabelais, 1653.

two brothers alive and one married (i.e. as good as dead!). A music-halls' c.p. of 1897–8. Ware.

two buckle horses. Tuberculosis: stables' jocular (— 1909); ob. Ware.

two-by-three. 'A species of Canteen cake': military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Ex its size, 2" × 3" (× ca. 1").

two-ender. A florin: Cockneys': C. 20. (The Evening News, Jan. 20, 1936). Also grafters': witness P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.

two ends and the bight of (a thing). The whole of (something): nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Cf.:

two ends and the middle of a bad lot. (Of a person) utterly objectionable: middle classes' (— 1909); ob. Ware. Perhaps ex preceding.

two-eyed steak. A (Yarmouth) bloater: low: 1864 (O.E.D.). Cf. Glasgow magistrate. The O.E.D. has the rare variant (now †), t.-e. beef-steak.

two feet one backyard. A jocular middle-class c.p. applied to very large feet: C. 20. Punning 'Three feet (make) one yard.'

two-fisted. Clumsy: coll. and dial.: from late 1850's. Cf. two-handed, 2, q.v.—2. 'Expert at fisticuffs', H., 1864, is a coll. variant of two-handed, ambidextrous.

two five two, be put on the. To be 'crimed': military coll.: from ca. 1912. F. & Gibbons. The crime-sheet was officially known as Form 252.

Two Fives, the. The 55th Foot Regiment; from ca. 1881, named the Border Regiment: military: C. 19–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. Two Fours.

two-foot rule. A fool: rhyming s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

Two Fours, the. The 44th Foot Regiment; from ca. 1881, the 1st Battalion of the Essex Regiment: military: C. 19–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. See Two Sevens.

two F's, the. A fringe (on the forehead) and a follower (or followers) worn by maidservants: middle classes': ca. 1880–95. Ware.

two-handed. (Seldom of things.) Big; strapping: coll.: ca. 1685–1910. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Lamb, 1830 (O.E.D.). Prob. ex t.-h., requiring or entailing the use of both hands.—2. Awkward, clumsy: ca. 1860–1920. H., 3rd ed., 'A singular reversing of meaning'. Perhaps on two-fisted, q.v.

two-handed put. 'The amorous congress', Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1780–1840.

two (he)arts in a pond. Two bullocks' hearts in a two-sectioned dish: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware.

two inches beyond upright. A non-aristocratic, non-cultured c.p. applied, ca. 1900–14, to a hypocritical liar. Ware, 'Perversion of description of upright-standing man, who throws his head backwards beyond upright'.

two ladies on bikes. The figure of Britannia on the obverse of the two pennies: two-up players', esp. New Zealanders': C. 20. I.e. when both turned up tails; the 'heads' betters call them the two bastards on bikes.

two-legged tree. The gallows: low: C. 19.

two-legged tympany or tympany with two heels, a baby, is rare except in have a t.-l. t., to be got with child, and be cured of a tympany with two heels, to be brought to child-bed: coll.: ca. 1579–1850. Tarlton, 1590; Ray. (O.E.D.; F. & H.) Ex tympany, a tumour.

two-nick. A female baby: printers': from ca. 1870. Anatomical wit.

two-o. See three-o.

two of that. Something much better, esp. as in Hugh Walpole, Vanessa, 1933, '[Mr. Childers] had forestalled the Conservatives, . . . but Gladstone knew two of that': coll.: late C. 19–20. Abbr. a trick worth two of that.

two-pip artist, merchant, or wallah. A first lieutenant: military: from ca. 1915. B. & P. Lit., a fellow with two stars. A 2nd lieutenant is a one-pipper.

two poll one. Swindled by two confederates: c. (— 1812); † by 1850. Vaux. Perhaps poll = upon.

two pun ten. See two upon ten.

Two Red Feathers, the. A variant of the Red Feathers, q.v. (F. & Gibbons.)

Two Sevens, Sixes, Tens, Twos, the. Resp., the 77th Foot Regiment, from ca. 1881 the 2nd Battalion of the Duke of Cambridge's Own Middlesex Regiment; the 66th Foot, from ca. 1881 the 2nd Battalion of the (Princess Charlotte of Wales's) Royal Berkshire Regiment; the 20th Foot, from ca. 1881 the Lancashire Fusiliers; and the 22nd Foot, from ca. 1881 the Cheshire Regiment: military: C. 19–20; very ob. Nicknames on numbers are common in the Army: cf. Two Fours, Two Fives, and the vocabulary of the game of House. (F. & Gibbons.)

two shoes (or T.-S.); gen. little t.-s. (Gen. in address to) a little girl: nursery coll.: C. 19–20, though I find no earlier record than 1858, George Eliot in Mr Gilfil's Love Story, 'He delighted to tell the young shavers and two-shoes . . .' Ex the heroine of The History of Little Goody Two-Shoes, 1766.

Two Sixes, the. See Two Sevens.—two slips for a tester. See three slips for a tester, give.

two-sticker. A two-master: nautical coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.). Ex stick, mast.

two Sundays come together, when. See Sundays come . . .

Two Tens, the. See Two Sevens.

two thieves beating a rogue. 'A man beating his hands against his sides to warm himself in cold weather; also called Beating the Booby, and Cuffing Jonas', Grose, 2nd ed.: coll.: ca. 1780–1850.

Two-to-One, Mr. A pawnbroker: low (— 1823); † by 1890. 'Jon Bee.' Cf. next two entries.

two to one against you. Very much against your getting your pledge back: lower classes' c.p. of ca. 1890-1915. Ware. Ex the pawnbroker's sign: two balls over one. Cf.:

two-to-one shop. A pawnbroker's: ca. 1780-1840. Grose, 1st ed., 'Alluding to the [arrangement of the] three blue balls, [in] the sign of that trade, or perhaps from its being two to one that the goods pledged are never redeemed.' Cf. preceding two entries.

two-topmaster. A 'fishing schooner or coaster with both masts fitted with top-masts. As a rule the main top-mast only is carried' (cf. bald-headed): Canadian (and U.S.) nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

Two turns round the long-boat . . . See three turns . . .

two twos, in. In a moment; immediately: s. (1838, Haliburton: O.E.D.) >, ca. 1890, coll. Lit., in the time taken to say two twice.

Two Twos, the. See Two Sevens.

two-up school. A gambling den or group: (low) Australian: late C. 19-20. C. J. Dennis. See school; two-up, itself s., ex tossing up two coins or ex the 'heads' and 'tails' of one coin.

two upon ten, or two pun ten. Abbr. two eyes upon ten fingers, this is a trade c.p. dating from early 1860's or late 1850's. H., 3rd ed., 'When a supposed thief is present, one shopman asks the other if that two pun' (pound) ten matter was ever settled . . . If it is not convenient to speak, a piece of paper is handed to the same assistant bearing the to him very significant amount of £2:10:0.' Cf. John Orderly and Sharp, (Mr), qq.v.

two white, two red, and (after you with the blacking-) brush!; hence, after you, (miss,) with the two two's and the two b's! A London streets' c.p. directed at the excessive use of cosmetics: 1860's. Ware. I.e. two dabs of red, two of white, and a brush to make up the eyebrows.

two with you! A c.p. 'suggesting a twopenny drink': taverns': ca. 1885-1914. Ware.

two-year-old, like a. In a very lively manner; vigorous(ly): coll.: C. 20. (Galsworthy, 1928.) Ex race-horses.

twoer. Anything comprised by, or reckoned as, two: coll.: 1889, a hit for two runs at cricket (O.E.D.); a florin, as in Clarence Rook, The Hooligan Nights, 1899; a hansom cab (ca. 1895-1910).

twofer. A harlot: low: late C. 19-20. Ex two.

twoops. (A) twopenny ale: ca. 1752-60. The O.E.D. records it at 1729. Ex two + p(enny) + -s, the collective suffix as in turps.

twopence more . . . See donkey! — two-penn'orth of rope. See twopenny-rope.

twopenny; tuppenny. The head: low (—1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Rhyming s.; G. Orwell, 1933, explaining it thus: 'Head—loaf of bread—twopenny loaf—twopenny.' Cf. loaf, q.v.—2. Hence, tuck in your twopenny (or tuppenny), at leap-frog, is used fig., stop!, or stop that!, as in the song The Lord Mayor's Coachman, ca. 1888.—3. (twopenny.) A professional pawnbroker, one who acts as intermediary between pawnbroker and client: low London: ca. 1870-1915. 'The usual fee being twopence', F. & H.—4. A term of affectionate address: lower classes' (—1923). Manchon.

twopenny damn, not to care a. To care not at all: coll.: ca. 1820-90. Cf. not to care a hoot, a tinker's curse, etc.

Twopenny Damn, The. The St James's Gazette:

literary: ca. 1880-1910. 'On account of its strong language concerning Mr Gladstone and the "latter-day Radicals"', F. & H.

twopenny hangover. A place where tramps may sleep, sitting in a row on a bench with—stretched before them—a rope on which they may lean: tramps' c. (—1933). George Orwell, Down and Out in Paris and London twopenny hop. A cheap dance: coll.: from ca. 1850; ob. by 1904 (witness F. & H.), but not absolutely † by 1935. Mayhew, 1851; H., 1st ed. See hop.

twopenny-rope. 'A [low] lodging-house: one in which the charge is (or was) twopence: sacking stretched on ropes served as a shakedown. To have twopenn'orth of rope = to "doss down" in such a place: Fr. coucher à la corde, F. & H. (1904): from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Ob., if not indeed †: see rope and cf. twopenny hangover, q.v.

Twopenny Tube. See tube, n., 3.

twopenny upright. A C. 19 variant of threepenny upright (see threepenny bit).

Twopenny Ward. Ca. 1600-40, part of one of the London prisons was thus named. Jonson, 1605, Eastward Ho, V, i, 'He lies in the twopenny ward.' Perhaps twopenny here, as it certainly did from 1560 (O.E.D.), = 'worthless'; or perhaps the initiation-fee was twopence.

twug. Harrow form of twigged (past ppl. passive), caught. Ex twig, v., 3.

Twyford, my (his, etc.) name is. I know (he knows, etc.) nothing of the matter: a semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1690-1830. Motteux, 1694,—Charles Whibley refers to this in his essay on Rabelais; Fuller, 1732. Apperson. For origin, see the Addenda.

[Tyburn. The Tyburn phrases are on the borderline between coll. and S.E.: the status of all such allusive topographical terms cannot be determined arbitrarily. The following are the chief.—Tyburn blossom, a young thief, who will prob. ripen into a gallows-bird (ca. 1785-1840: Grose, 2nd ed.); T. check, a halter (ca. 1520-80: Skelton); T. collar, 'the fringe of beard worn under the chin', H., 2nd ed., 1860 (ca. 1860-80. Synonymous with Newgate frill or fringe. Cf. T. top); T. collop (? : C. 16); T. face, a hangdog look (Congreve, 1695); T. fair (jig, show, stretch), a hanging (mid-C. 16-early 19); T. tippet, a halter (mid-C. 16-mid-19: Latimer; Egan); T. top or fore-top, 'a wig with the foretop combed over the eyes in a knowing style', Grose, 2nd ed. († by 1850), with variant Tyburn-topped wig (1774, Foote); T. Tree, the great Tyburn gallows (1727, Gay; † by 1850). Also preach at T. cross, to be hanged (1576, Gascoigne), with such variants as dance the T. jig (1698, Farquhar) or a T. hornpipe on nothing (late C. 18-mid-19),—cf. dance the Paddington frisk,—fetch a T. stretch (Tusser, 1573), dangle in a T. string (1882, J. Walker: 'literary'), put on a T. piccadill ('Water-Poet' Taylor) or wear T. tiffany (1612, Rowlands). Tyburn gallows, the place of execution for Middlesex from late C. 12 till 1783, stood where the present Bayswater and Edgware Roads join with Oxford Street; from 1783 until 1903, the death penalty was exacted at Newgate Prison. F. & H.; O.E.D. Cf.:]

Tyburnia. 'A name given', ca. 1850, 'to the district lying between Edgware Road and Westbourne and Gloucester Terraces and Craven Hill, and bounded on the south by the Bayswater Road, and subsequently including (Hotten [3rd ed.]) the Portman and Grosvenor Square districts: facetiously divided by Londoners '—on Arabia Felix and Arabia Deserta—' into "Tyburnia Felix", "Tyburnia Deserta", and "Tyburnia Snobbica": it soon fell into disuse, F. & H.: it was still current in 1874 (witness H., 5th ed.), but † by 1880. See preceding entry.

[tye; in late C. 19–20, always, and often thus much earlier, tie. A necktie: according to H., 1st ed. (1859), it was, ca. 1820, s. (? rather coll.); but the evidence of the O.E.D. rather belies this 'ranking'.]

tye, v. See tie it up.—tyke. See tike.—tyler. See tiler and Adam Tiler (or t.).

tymp; occ. timp. A tympanist, whether a drummer or a player of the tympan: musical: late C. 19–20.

tympany, two-legged or with two heels. See two-legged tympany.

tyo, tyoh; occ. ty-o(h), tie-o(h). Tired: children's and lovers' coll.: C. 20.

type has, since the G.W., been increasingly used very loosely for 'kind', 'category', 'character', 'nature'.

type-lifter or -slinger. An expert compositor:

printers': from ca. 1870.—2. Occ., a slovenly workman printers' (— 1904). F. & H. Cf. typo.

typewriter. A fighter, boxer: rhyming s.: from ca. 1920. J. Phillips, Dict. of Rhyming Slang, 1931.

typewriters (no singular); typewriting. Machine guns; their fire: New Zealanders': in G.W. Ex the crisp tapping.

typhoid. A case of typhoid, a typhoid-patient: medical coll.: 1890 (O.E.D.).

typhus, 'not to be confused with typhoid fever', Dr Charles Singer, The Observer, May 6, 1935.

typo. A compositor: printers': orig. (1816), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1860; slightly ob., comp being, in C. 20, much more gen. Thornton; Mayhew, 1861. Either abbr. typographer or imm. adopted from France.—2. A typographer, esp. if expert: printers' (— 1887). Baumann.—3. Adj., typographic: 1891 (O.E.D.); comparatively rare.

tyre. A very gen., but until ca. 1930, usually considered incorrect spelling, of tire (of wheel): late C. 18–20.—2. As also is tyro for tiro, a beginner: C. 17–20.

tzing-tzing. Excellent; 'A1': low: ca. 1880–1900. ? ex chin-chin!, q.v.

U

[F. & H. has the following ineligible; S.E.:—ugly's here unrecorded; ultimate favour; umblepie; unbaked; unconscionable; uncouth, unkissed; uncular; under, lie; under a cloud; under-spur-leather; underfellow; under-stair; undisgruntled; unfortunate; unicorn (coin); unlicked cub; unlock the lands; unpaved (castrated); unready; unrig (plunder; dismantle); unspeakable; unto, go in; untrimmed; unwashed, the (great); unwashed, adj.; unrecorded up's and phrases; upper-stock; upish (proud; tipsy); upsitting; upskip; upsodown; upstart; upsyturvy; uptails-all; upways; urchin; urinal; use, n. and v.; utter.

Dial. s.—ugly (a beating); uzzard.]

U.B.D'd! You be damned!: euphemistic coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

U bet! A written jocularity (The Referee, Oct. 14, 1883) for you bet!

U.P.; gen. it's all U.P. (It is) all 'up', finished, remediless: 1823, Bee, "'Tis all up" and "'tis U.P. with him," is said of a poor fellow who may not have a leg to stand upon'; Dickens, 1838, 'It's all U.P. there, . . . if she lasts a couple of hours, I shall be surprised,' O.E.D. The spelt pronunciation of up; perhaps suggested by:

U.P.K. spells (May) goslings. 'An expression used by boys at play to the losing party,' The Gentleman's Magazine, 1791 (I, 327). Here, U.P.K. is up pick, 'up with your pin or peg, the mark of the goal', Brand, 1813. At some time before 1854, the phrase had > U.P. 'spells goslings, indicative of completion or attainment, also of imminent death; from ca. 1840, only in dial. Evans, Leicestershire Words, 1881, says: 'Meaning, as I always understood, "it is all up with him, and the goslings will soon feed on his grave."' Apperson.

uckeye. All right, esp. exclamatorily: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons, 'A perversion of the Hindustani word uchcha.'

'ud. A variant of 'd (had, would): coll.: C. 19–20. Rarely so written. Cf. ull, q.v.

Uds! Alone or in combination (e.g. Uds niggers!), a trivial coll. oath common in late C. 16–17. A perversion of Ods. O.E.D.

udyju. See toot the udyju Pope o' Rome.

Ugger, the. The Union: Oxford undergraduates' (— 1899). Ware. By 'the Oxford -er'.

-ugger. Cf. -agger, q.v., and see esp. 'Harrow slang'. E.g. memrugger and testugger.

uglies, the. Delirium tremens: low: from ca. 1870; ob. Perhaps on horrors.

ugly; Mr Ugly. As term of address: mid-C. 19–20. Ex (an) ugly (person).—2. (ugly.) A bonnet-shade: Society: 1850's. Ware.

ugly, adj. Thick: lower-class coffee-houses': from ca. 1860; ob. Ware.

ugly, come the. To threaten: from ca. 1860. Cf. S.E. ugly customer.

ugly, cut up. See cut up (rough, etc.).—ugly!, strike me. See strike me blind!

ugly as sin. Extremely ugly: coll.: 1821, Scott: 1891, Stevenson. Apperson, who cites the prob. prototype, ugly as the devil, 1726, Defoe.

ugly man; uglyman. He who, in garrotting, actually perpetrates the outrage: c. (— 1904). F. & H. Suggested by the synonymous nasty man, q.v.

ugly rush. Forcing a bill to prevent inquiry: Parliamentary (— 1909). Ware.

ugmer. See hugmer.

Uhlan. A tramp: tailors': ca. 1870–1910. Ex Franco-Prussian War.—2. (Uhlán, the.) Lord Randolph Churchill: Parliamentary nickname: 1883–ca. 85. Ware. Ex his dashing methods.

'ull. A variant of 'U (shall, will): coll.: C. 19–20. Rarely written thus. Cf. 'ud, q.v., and esp. 'iU.

ullage(s). Dregs in glass or cask: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Lit., the wastage in a cask of liquor.—2. Whence (ullage) a useless thing or incompetent person: naval: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

ulster. See wooden ulster.

ultramarine. 'Blue' in its s. senses: ca. 1890-1914.

ultray. Very: coll. corruption of ultra: ca. 1890-1910. F. & H.

ululation. 'First night condemnation by all the gallery and the back of the pit': journalistic: ca. 1875-90. Ware.

um, 'um. Them: C. 17-20: S.E. until ca. 1720, then coll.—increasingly low and increasingly rare—and dial. Cf. 'em, q.v. See what-d'ye-call-'em. —2. The: 'pidgin': C. 19-20. See W. at pidgin.

umberella. An umbrella: sol. (— 1887). Baumann.

umble-cum-stumble. To understand (thoroughly): lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. Ex undercomestumble, q.v.

umbrella. Very long or thick hair: jocular (— 1887); ob. Baumann, 'He has a regular umbrella.'

umbrella, been measured for a new. Dressed badly; hence, embarked on a course of doubtful wisdom: c.p.: from ca. 1895; ob. Only his umbrella fits.

umpire?, how's that. What do you say to that?; 'what price —?': coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex the appeal at cricket.

um(p)teen, umpty, nn.; um(p)teenth, umptieth, adj. An undefined number; of an undefined number: C. J. Dennis, (and heard by editor in) 1916: G.W. military, to disguise the number of a brigade, division, etc.; orig. signallers' s., says F. & Gibbons. Whereas umpty, umptieth, are ob. and were never very gen., umpteenth(th) is still common, though rather in the sense of '(of) a considerable number', as in for the umpteenth time, a change of sense implicit from the beginning. Ex um, a non-committal sound aptly replacing an unstated number, + -teen; the later umpty, -ieth, ex the same um + -ty as in twenty, thirty, etc. Possibly um represents any. Perhaps cf.:

umpty iddy, feel. To feel indisposed: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Perhaps a perversion of feel 'any old way'.

umpty poo. Just a little more: military: 1915; ob. Ibid. Ex Fr. un petit peu.

umses (or U-). The 'boss': tailors': C. 20. See, e.g., The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928. Cf. himses, q.v.

un, 'un. One: coll. form preserving what was orig. the correct pronunciation: C. 19-20. W.; B. & P.; O.E.D. (Sup.); Manchon.—2. And: slovenly coll.: C. 19-20.

un- is properly prefixed to words of Germanic origin. In C. 18 the C. 14-17 (esp. C. 17) vacillation between un- and in- (im-) before words of Latin origin was terminated in favour of the more logical in- (im-) before such words, un- disappearing altogether or being retained to convey a sense different from that of an accepted in- (im-) form; a number of absolutely synonymous doublets, however, remain (e.g. unalienable, inalienable), though the literate tendency is to discard the un- form; note that unable, uncourteous, etc., have not been changed,—largely because these words have 'passed through older French' and, perhaps, partly because, in that transition, their Latinity has > less obvious. (Mostly O.E.D.)

unan. Unanimous: (mostly) upper classes': C. 20. (John G. Brandon, West End, 1933.)

unappropriated blessing. An old maid: cultured jocular coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

unattached. (Of a member of the legislation) whose vote can never be counted on by any party: Parliamentary coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Ware.

[Unattached participles:—See Fowler.]

unauthorodox. See authorodox.

unknowns; -nst, adj. and adv. Unknown; without saying anything: resp., rare, mainly dial., mid-C. 19-20; and coll. (in C. 20, low coll.) and dial., mid-C. 19-20. T. H. Huxley, 1854, 'I hate doing anything of the kind "unknownst" to people,' O.E.D. Ex unknown on the slightly earlier dial. unknownst.

unbetty. To unlock: c. (— 1812). Vaux. Ex betty, a picklock.

unboiled lobster. See lobster, unboiled.

unbounded assortment of gratuitous untruths. 'Extensive systematic lying': a Parliamentary c.p. of late 1885-mid-86. Ware, 'From speech (11th Nov., 1885) of Mr Gladstone's at Edinburgh'.

uncertainty. A girl baby: printers': from ca. 1870. Opp. certainty, a boy baby. Cf. also the complementary one-nick and two-nick.

uncle; gen. my, his, etc., uncle. A pawnbroker: 1756, Toldervy (O.E.D.); Grose, 1st ed.; Hood; Dickens. Hence, uncle's, a pawnbroker's shop: Grose, 1st ed. (mine uncle's). Prob. ex the legend of rich or present-giving uncles.

uncle, Dutch. See Dutch uncle.

uncle, he has gone to visit his. A c.p. applied to 'one who leaves his wife soon after marriage', Grose, 1st ed.; † by 1900.

uncle, if my aunt had been a man she'd have been my. A c.p. addressed derisively to one who makes a ridiculous surmise: ca. 1670-1850. Ray.

uncle, my. See uncle.

uncle, your. I; myself: non-aristocratic: late C. 19-20; slightly ob. In C. 20, very often just uncle. Cf. yours truly, I, myself.

uncle (or U.) Antony to kill dead mice, helping. Wasting one's time; idling: coll. C. 20. C. Lee, Our Little Town, 1909. (Apperson.)

uncle Charlie. (In) heavy marching-order: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons. Cf. Charlie, military sense.

Uncle Fred. Bread: C. 20. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Uncle George. King George III: a coll. nickname: C. 19-20; latterly, only historical. Marryat, 1829 (O.E.D.). Cf. Farmer George.

Uncle Jeff. Admiral Sir Geoffrey Phipps Hornby (1825-95): naval: 1869-95. Bowen.

uncle Ned. Bed: rhyming s.: late C. 19-20. F. & Gibbons.

uncle over, come the. A variant of 'come the Dutch uncle' (q.v.).

Uncle Sam. The U.S. government or people: 'usually supposed to date back to the war of 1812' (F. & H.), this coll. nickname has, in C. 20, > S.E. Perhaps facetiously ex the letters U.S. Thornton; Albert Matthews; F. & H.

uncle Three Balls. A lower-classes' variant (— 1887) of uncle, q.v. Baumann.

Uncle Willie. Silly: from ca. 1870. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932. Contrast Uncle Fred and Uncle Ned.

uncle's, mine or my. See uncle.—2. A privy or w.c.: ca. 1780-1850, aunt (q.v.) succeeding. Cf. the Fr. chez ma tante (used also in sense 1).

uncling. See go uncling.

uncommon. Uncommonly, very much: (C. 20, low) coll. and dial.: from ca. 1780.

Uncrowned King, the. Parnell: political nickname: 1881-91. Ware, 'The crown . . . that of Ireland, from one of whose kings, like most Irish leaders, C. S. Parnell [1846-91] was descended.'

unction. See blue unction.

under, n. Sexual intercourse: c.: C. 20. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

under. Under (the influence of) a narcotic: medical coll., now verging on S.E. (R. Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934.)

under, down. In the Antipodes: 1899 (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1920, S.E.

under-cart. Under-carriage of a 'plane: Royal Air Forces': from 1932.

under-dubber or -dubsman. A warder other than the chief warder: c.: C. 19. Lex. Bal. See dubber and dubsman.

under-grounder. A bowled ball that does not rise: cricket coll.: 1873; ob. Lewis.

under hatches. Dead and buried: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Bowen.

under one, do all. To do it all at one 'go': low (-1887). Baumann.

under or over. 'Under the grass', dead, or 'over the grass', alive, but divorced or being divorced: Society, esp. Anglo-American: ca. 1860-1914. Ware. (Applied to widows in reference to their husbands.)

under-petticoating, go. To go whoring or copulating: low: ca. 1870-1920.

under-pinners. The legs: coll.: from late 1850's; ob. Cf. understandings.

under sailing orders. Dying: nautical coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Bowen. Cf. under hatches, q.v.

under-shell. A waistcoat, as upper-shell is a coat: c.: C. 19.

under the arm. See arm, under the.

under the belt. In the stomach: coll.: 1815, Scott.

under the crutch. See crutch, under the.

under the influence. Tipsy: coll.: C. 20. Abbr. under the influence of liquor.

under the screw, be. To be in prison: c. (-1864); ob. H., 3rd ed.

under the sea. 'In sail, lying to in a heavy gale and making bad weather of it': nautical coll.: late C. 19-20. Bowen.

undercome(-con- or -cum-)stumble; under-stumble. To understand: illiterate or jocularly perverse coll.: resp. (low) coll. and dial., mid-C. 19-20, ex dial. undercumstand; ca. 1550, Anon., Misogonus, 'You unde[r]stumble me well, sir, you have a good wit,' with stumble substituted for stand. Cf. tumble, v., 2, q.v., and umble-cum-stumble, q.v.

underdone. (Of complexion) pale or pasty: ca. 1890-1915. Ware. It partly superseded doughy, q.v.

undergrad. An undergraduate: coll.: 1827 (O.E.D.); after ca. 1914, rarely used by university men or women.—2. Hence, a horse in training for steeplechasing or hunting: the turf: late C. 19-20; ob.

undergraduette. A girl 'undergrad': s. >, by 1930, coll.: 1919, The Observer, Nov. 23, 'The audience was chiefly composed of undergraduates and undergraduettes,' W.

undershoot. To fail to land at the intended spot: Royal Air Force's: from 1932.

understandings. Boots, shoes: from ca. 1820:

coll. >, by 1874, s.; ob. H., 5th ed., 'Men who wear exceptionally large or thick boots, are said to possess good understandings.'—2. Hence, legs; occ., feet: 1828 (O.E.D.). Cf. the pun in Twelfth Night, III, i, 80.—3. See standing room.

undertake, v.i. To be a funeral-undertaker: coll. (-1891). Century Dict.

undertaker's squad, the. Stretcher-bearers: military: 1915; slightly ob. F. & Gibbons.

undies. Women's, hence occ. children's, underclothes: (orig. euphemistic) coll.: 1918, 'Women's under-wear or "undies" as they are coyly called', Chambers's Journal, Dec. (O.E.D.); 1934, Books of To-Day (Nov.), 'I like my daily paper, | But one thing gets me curl'd, | And that's the morning caper | Of London's "undie"-world,'—with which cf. the quotations at briefs and neathie-set. Perhaps on nightie or, more prob., frillies, q.v.; cf. the ob. S.E. unders, in same sense.

undigested Ananias. A triumphant liar: ca. 1895-1914. Ware quotes The Daily Telegraph, June 24, 1896.

undub. To unlock, unfasten: c. of ca. 1810-50. Vaux. See dub up.

undy. The rare singular of undies: 1928, A. P. Herbert (O.E.D. Sup.).

unearthly hour, time. A preposterously early hour or time: coll.: 1865 (O.E.D.). unfair. Unfairly: sol.: C. 19-20. Ware.

unfledged. (Of persons) naked: jocular coll. (-1923). Manchon. Extended from 'featherless'.

Unfortunate Gentlemen. The Horse Guards, 'who thus named themselves in Germany', Grose, 1st ed., where a topical origin is alleged: military: ca. 1780-1840.

ungrateful man. A parson: ca. 1780-1830. Grose, 1st ed. Because he 'at least once a week abuses his best benefactor, i.e. the devil'.

ungly. Incorrect for ugly (adj. and adv.): C. 15-early 16. O.E.D.

ungodly. Outrageous; (of noise) dreadful: coll.: 1887, Stevenson (O.E.D.). Cf. infernal, unholy.

ungryome. (One's) hungry home: lower classes' coffee-houses' sol. (-1880). Ware.

unguentum aureum. A bribe; a tip: ca. 1780-1840. Grose, 1st ed. Lit., golden ointment: it cures surliness, reluctance, tardiness, and negligence.

ungummed. Disrated or reduced in rank; dismissed; superseded: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex Fr. dégommé. Also unstuck.—2. See unstuck, come.

unhealthy. (Of area) exposed to gun-fire; unsafe. G.W. military coll. W.; B. & P.

unhintables. See unmentionables.

unholy. Awful; outrageous: coll.: 1865, Dickens (O.E.D.). Whence, prob., ungodly, q.v.

unhung for unhanged (of persons) is in C. 20 considered almost a sol.

uni; gen. the Uni. A, one's own, university: Australian coll.: C. 20.

unicorn. A carriage (or coach) drawn by three horses, two wheelers abreast and a leader: s. (-1785) >, by 1820, coll. >, by 1850, S.E.; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Ex the unicorn's single horn compared with the leader out in front.—2. Hence, a horse-team thus arranged: from ca. 1860: coll. >. almost imm., S.E.—3. Hence, two men and a woman (or vice versa) criminally leagued: c.: from ca. 1870; ob.

Union, the. The workhouse: lower classes' coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

Union Jack. The Union Flag: coll. (C. 19–20) >, ca. 1930, S.E. (W., in 1921, could still describe it as 'incorrect'.)

Unions. Shares in the Union Pacific Railroad: Stock Exchange coll. (— 1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

unique(ly) is often catachrestically used to mean 'excellent(ly)': C. 19 (? 18)–20.

United Kingdom of Sans Souci and Six Sous. 'Riddance of cares, and, ultimately, of sixpences', Egan's Grose: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40.

Univ. University College, Oxford: Oxford University coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

universal staircase. The treadmill: c.: oa. 1850–1910. Mayhew. Also everlasting staircase.

unkinned. Unkind: Society: 1884–early 85. Ware. Ex Wilson Barrett's substitution, in Hamlet, of unkin'd for unkind.

unkermesoo (or -zoo). Stupid: tailors': C. 20. A fanciful word.

unload, v.i. and t. To drop (bombs) on the enemy: Air Force jocular coll.: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

unlocked, to have been sitting in the garden with the gate. To conceive (esp. a bastard) child: a virtual c.p.: late C. 19–20; ob. With a pun on garden.—2. To have caught a cold: ca. 1890–1910.

unmentionables. Trousers: coll.: U.S., anglicised, as a coll., in 1836 by Dickens; slightly ob. The chronology of these semi-euphemisms (all ob. in C. 20) is: inexpressibles, prob. 1790 or 1791; indiscreetables, 1794; unexpressibles and unspeakables (both, 1810; rare); ineffables, 1823; unmentionables, 1830; unexplicables, 1836; unwhisperables, 1837; innominables, ca. 1840; indispensables, 1841; unutterables, 1843; unhintables (— 1904). Calverley satirised the group when, in his Carmen Sæculare, he described the garment as crurum non enarrabile tegmen, 'that leg-covering which cannot be told' (W.). See also inexpressibles.

unmonkeyable. (Of a person or thing) that one cannot play tricks with: coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

unpalled. Single-handed: c.: ca. 1810–90. Vaux. Lit., without a 'pal', q.v. (But only of one who has been deprived of his pals.)

unparliamentary. Obscene: coll.: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. (Other nuances, S.E.)

unpaved. Rough; inflamed with drink: low: ca. 1870–1910. F. & H.

[unpleasantness, the late. The war of 1914–18: from Dec., 1918: a mildly jocular understatement that some consider S.E., and others (including myself), coll. It may be noted that it was employed in U.S. as early as 1868 in reference to the American Civil War: O.E.D. (Sup.).]

unrag. To undress: Yorkshire and Gloucestershire s. (— 1905), not dial. E.D.D. Ex unrig, q.v., on rags, clothes.

unrelieved holocaust. A Society c.p. of 1883 applied to even a minor accident. Ware. Ex the phrase used by a writer in The Times to describe the destruction, in 1882, of the Ring Theatre in Vienna and of a circus at Berditscheff in Russia, both accompanied by a heavy loss of life.

[unrig, to undress, is a coll. verging on, prob. achieving the status of, S.E.: late C. 16–20; in late C. 19–20, dial. except where jocular.]

unrove his life-line, he (has). He is dead, he died: nautical coll. (— 1883). Clark Russell.

uns. See we-uns and you-uns.

unshop. To dismiss (a workman): lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

unslour. To unlock, unfasten, unbutton: c.: ca. 1810–50. Vaux. See slour and cf. unbetty and undub.

unspit. To vomit: low (— 1887). Baumann.

unstick, v.i. To leave the ground as one begins a flight: Air Force: from 1916. F. & Gibbons.

unstuck, come. The vbl. form of ungummed (q.v.) or unstuck. B. & P.—2. Hence, to go amiss; to fail: from ca. 1919. E.g. Dorothy Sayers, The Five Red Herrings, 1931, 'The plan came rather unstuck at this point.'

unsweetened. Gin; properly, unsweetened gin: low: from ca. 1860; ob.

unthimble; unthimble. To rob of one's watch; thus robbed: c.: ca. 1810–80. Vaux. See thimble.

untwisted, adj. Ruined, undone: coll.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 2nd ed.

unutterables; unwhisperables. See unmentionables.

unyun. Unnecessary for onion, except when pronounced un-yun'. Baumann.

up, v. To rise abruptly, approach, begin suddenly or boldly (to do something): coll. and dial.: from ca. 1830. Lover, 1831, 'The bishop ups and he tells him that . . .' From ca. 1880, gen. up and —, as in 'You have the . . . insolence to up and stand for cap'n over me!' O.E.D.—2. See up with.—3. See upped (Addenda).

up, adj. Occurring; amiss: as in 'What's up?', 'What's the matter?', or, when up is emphasised, 'What's wrong?' Mid-C. 19–20: coll. rather than s. Albert Smith, 1849 (O.E.D.); Jeaffreson, 1863, 'I'll finish my cigar in the betting room and hear what's up.' Prob. ex up to (as in 'What are you up to now, you young rascal?'). A C. 20 variant is (it's all) up the country (with a person): Manchon.

up, adv. At or in school or college; on the school or college roll; in the capacity of pupil or student: coll.: from mid-1840's. Gen. implies residence, but often as in 'X was up in your time—1925–8.' Prob. abbr. up there.—2. On horseback; riding: 1856, H. Dixon (O.E.D.); 'Sydney Howard Up in the Derby' was a cinema title in 1933–4.

up, preposition. In coition with (a woman): low: late (? mid-)C. 19–20.—2. See 'Westminster School slang.'

up-a-daisa, up-a-dais(e)y. See ups-a-daisy.

up a tree. See tree. A proletarian intensive (mid-C. 19–20; ob.) is up a tree for tenpence, penniless (Ware).

up against. Confronted by (a difficulty): coll.: U.S. (1896, George Ade: O.E.D. Sup.) >, by 1914, anglicised. Esp. in the phrase up against it, in serious difficulties: 1910, Chambers's Journal, April, 'In Canadian phraseology, we were "up against it" with a vengeance!', O.E.D. See also Fowler. Cf.:

up against a (or the) wall. Sentenced to death: military: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. (It was there usually, that such a soldier was shot.)

up against you!, that's. What do you say to that?: coll.: late C. 19–20.

up and —. See up, v.

up and do 'em. To begin spinning the pennies: two-up players' coll.: C. 20.

up-and-down job. An engineer's, a trimmer's job 'in a reciprocating-engined, as opposed to a turbine, steamer': nautical coll.: from 1904. Bowen.

up and down: mind the dresser. A c.p. used when dancing in a farmer's house: Anglo-Irish: C. 20.

up-and-down place. 'A shop where a cutter-out is expected to fill in his time sewing', F. & H.: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Ex up-and-down, fluctuating, changeable.

up-and-downer. A violent quarrel: lower classes': late C. 19–20. P. MacDonald, Rope to Spare, 1932. Ex changing positions of participants.

up at second school, be. 'To go to any one for work at 10 or 11 o'clock', F. & H.: Harrow School (— 1904): coll. > j.

up-foot. (To get or rise) to one's feet: low coll. (— 1887). Baumann, '[I] up-foot and told him.'

up-hander. A soldier surrendering: military coll.: 1916; ob. Manchon. Ex the gesture of surrender up in. Well informed on, clever at, practised in: coll.: 1838, Dickens: 1885, Anstey, 'I did think Potter was better up in his work.' O.E.D.

up in Annie's room. See Annie's room.

up in one's hat. Tippy: low: ca. 1880–1910. Cf. screwed.

up in the stirrups. Having plenty of money: low (— 1812); ob. Vaux, '“In swell-street”',—see swell street. Ex riding.

up jib or the stacks or (the) stick(s). To be off; pack up and go: from ca. 1860; ob. The first is nautical, the others non-aristocratic. H. Kingsley, 1865, 'I made them up stick and take me home.' Cf.:

up killick. To run away: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex nautical j. up killick, to weigh anchor.

up on oneself, be. To be conceited: mostly Cockney: late C. 19–20.

up one's sleeve, it is (was, etc.) six pots. He (etc.) is (was, etc.) drunk: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ware.

up or down. Heaven or hell: lower and lower-middle classes' euphemistic coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ware.

Up School. Upper School ('the great school-room', Ware): Westminster School coll.: mid-C. 19–20.—2. up-school, detention, may be coll. rather than j.: see 'Westminster School slang'.

up-stage. Haughty, supercilious; conceited: theatrical coll. (from ca. 1920) >, by 1933, gen. S.E. (O.E.D. Sup.) Ex play up-stage, a foremost role.

up-stairs. Up in, up into, the air: aviators' coll.: from 1918. O.E.D. (Sup.).

up-tails all. See uptails all.—up the country. See up, adj.—up the pole. See pole, up the.—up the spout. See spout.—up the stick. See stick.—up the tree. See tree, up the.—up the weather, go. See weather, go down or up the.—up there. See want it.

up to. Before, as in Trollope, 1862, 'She told me so, up to my face,' O.E.D.; coll.; ob. ? ex looking up to.—2. Obligatory (up)on; (one's) duty; the thing one should, in decency, do: coll.: U.S. (1896, George Ade the inimitable: O.E.D. Sup.), anglicised ca. 1910. The East London Dispatch (South Africa), Nov. 10, 1911; C. J. Dennis, 1916; Hugh Walpole, 1933. Orig. in poker, as Greenough & Kittredge remark.

up to a thing or two, be. To 'know a thing or two': coll.: 1816 (O.E.D. Sup.).

up to blue china, live. To spend all, or more than, one's income: ca. 1880–1915. Ex blue china as a sign of gentility.

up to Dick, dictionary. See Dick, dictionary.

up to much, not. (Rather) incapable; (of things) inferior: (dial., from ca. 1860; hence) coll.: 1884, Sala, 'The shoes were not, to use a vulgarism, "up to much"', O.E.D.

up to putty. See putty.—up to slum, snuff. See slum, snuff.

up to the or one's cackle, gossip, or try-on. Alert, shrewd, experienced: low: resp. C. 19, late C. 18–mid-19 (G. Parker, 1781), mid-C. 19–20 (ob.). See also the nn. and cf. snuff, up to.

up to the knocker, nines. See knocker, nines. A rare variant is up to the door.

up to trap. Shrewd; alert: see trap, n., in sense of sagacity. It occurs in David Moir's Mansie Wauch, 1828 (E.D.D.).

up with. To raise (esp. one's arm); to lift or pick up: coll.: 1760, Henry Brooke, 'She ups with her brawny arm.' Cf. up, v.

up you go with the best of luck! 'The M.O.'s valediction when sending you up the line after hospital' (B. & P.): c.p. of the G.W. upards or up'ards. Upwards: sol.: C. 19–20. Mayhew, 1861.

uphills. Dice so loaded as to turn up high numbers: gaming c. (— 1700) >, s.; † by 1840. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Opp. low men, q.v.

upon. See (the) cross, (one's) say-so, (my) sivvy, (the) square, (the) suit.—2. (Adv.) Gen. all upon. Almost: sol. (— 1923). Manchon, 'The button's all upon off', almost detached.

upper-and-downer. A wrestling-match: lower classes' (— 1909). Ware. Cf. up-and-downer, q.v.

upper-ben or benjamin. A great-coat: c. >, ca. 1840, low s.: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 2nd ed. (u. benjamin); H., 1st ed. (id.). App., upper ben (Vaux) is C. 19–20. The term benjy, stated by H., 3rd ed., and by F. & H. to be a synonym, is also applied to a waistcoat (H., 1st ed.). A great-coat was orig. termed a joseph, 'but, because of the preponderance of tailors named Benjamin, altered in deference to them', H., 5th ed. (Vaux, 1812, has also upper tog: see tog, upper).—2. In pl., trousers: low: ca. 1850–80. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

upper-crust. The head (not, as F. & H. says, the skin): boxing: from ca. 1825; ob. Egan. Ex u.-c., the top crust of a loaf of bread.—2. Hence, a hat: ca. 1850–1910.—3. The higher circles of society; the aristocracy: coll.: orig. (mid-1830's), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1890, but in England already ob. by 1920, and virtually † by 1930. Cf. upper ten, q.v.

Upper Crust, Mr. 'He who lords it over others', Bee: low: ca. 1820–40. Whence, perhaps, upper-crust, 3.

upper lip, stiff. See stiff upper lip.—upper loft. See upper storey.

upper shell. A coat: c.: C. 19. Cf. under-shell, q.v.

upper sixpenny. A playing field at the College: Eton: mid-(? early) C. 19–20.

upper storey or works. The head; the brain: resp. 1788, Grose, ob., and from ca. 1770, both Smollett and Foote using it in 1771–4. Occ., ca. 1859–1910, upper loft (H., 2nd ed.). All of architectural origin, loft prob. being suggested by bats in the belfry: cf. unfurnished in the upper storey (or the garret), empty-headed, a nit-wit,—a phrase given by Grose, 2nd ed., as his upper storey or garrets [is,] are unfurnished; wrong in his upper storey, however, indicates lunacy (H., 5th ed.).

upper ten, the. The upper classes; the aristocrats: coll.: orig. U.S. and in the form the upper ten thousand (1844); in England the longer form (ob. in C. 20) is recorded in 1861, the shorter a year earlier. 'Usually referred to N. P. Willis'—an American journalist well known in England—and orig. applied to the wealthy classes of New York as approximating that number', F. & H. Cf. upper crust, q.v.—2. Hence upper-tendom, the world of the upper classes: orig. (1855) and mainly U.S.: likewise coll.—Also, 3, upper-ten set, servants employed by 'the upper ten': these servants' (— 1909). Ware.

upper works. See upper storey.

uppers, (down) on one's. In (very) reduced, in poor, circumstances; occ., having a run of bad luck: U.S. (— 1891) coll., anglicised ca. 1900. Orig. on one's uppers; down being, app., unrecorded before 1904 (F. & H.). Ex shoes so worn that one walks on the uppers.

uppish. Having, at the time, plenty of money: ca. 1678–1720. B.E. The earliest sense of the word, which is otherwise, despite Swift's condemnation of the 'cock-a-hoop' sense, S.E.

uppy. (Of a stroke) uppish: cricketers' coll.: 1851; † by 1900. Lewis.

upright. A drink of beer strengthened with gin: 1796, The Sporting Magazine (O.E.D.); ob.—2. The sexual act performed standing, a 'perpendicular': late C. 18–20. See threepenny bit.

upright, go. A c.p. (late C. 17–early 19) defined by B.E. as 'Said by Taylers and Shoemakers, to their Servants, when any Money is given to make them Drink and signifies, bring it all out in Drink, tho' the Donor intended less and expects Change or some return of Money'.

upright man. The leader of a band of criminals or beggars: c.: mid-C. 16–early 19. Awdelay, 1561; Middleton; B.E., 'Having sole right to the first night's Lodging with the Dells' (q.v.); Grose, 1st ed., 'The vilest stoutest rogue in the pack is generally chosen to this post.' Perhaps because he carries a short truncheon. See esp. Grose, P. uproar. An opera: ca. 1760–1830. G. A. Stevens, 1762, has it in the form opperore; Grose, 1st ed., uproar. Cf. roaratorio, an oratorio.

ups-a-daisy!; upsi- or ups(e)y-daisy!; up-a-daisa, -daisy, -daisey, -dazy. A cry of encouragement to a child to rise, or as it is being raised, from a fall, or to overcome an obstacle, or when it is being 'baby-jumped': C. 18–20; S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. and dial. Resp., mid-C. 19–20; id.; and mid-C. 19–20, mid-C. 18–20, id., and C. 18. An elaboration on up, perhaps influenced (via lack-a-daisy) by lack-a-day! O.E.D.

Ups and Downs, the. The 69th Foot Regiment, from ca. 1881 the 2nd Battalion of the Welsh Regiment: military: C. 19–20; ob. Ex the fact that the number can be read upside down. (F. & Gibbons.) See also Agamemnons. Frank Richards, however, in Old-Soldier Sahib, 1936, explains the nickname more satisfactorily when he refers to 'the 2nd Welsh Regiment, who started as a mixed battalion of old crocks and young recruits, then fought for some time as marines, and at the finish, after nearly two hundred years of service, were officially converted into Welshmen'.

[upsee (occ. upse, upsie, upsey, upzee, but properly upsy) Fre(e)ze, i.e. Friese; hence upsy Dutch; hence upsy English. After the Frisian, Dutch, English fashion, orig. and esp. of modes of drinking: late C. 16–17: perhaps orig. coll., but gen. considered S.E. Ex Dutch op zijn, on his, hence in his (sc. fashion). O.E.D.; F. & H.]

upset the apple-cart. See apple-cart.—upsidaisy. See ups-a-daisy.

upshot. A riotous escapade, drunken frolic: ca. 1810–40. Lex. Bal. (preface).

upsides with (a person), be. To be even or quits with; to be (more than) a match for: (orig. Scots; from mid-C. 19, also English) dial. and coll.: from the 1740's. O.E.D.; E.D.D.—2. Hence, on a level with: coll.: from ca. 1880. Variant, be upsides of, to be alongside of: 1894 (O.E.D.).

upstairs. (For the adv., see up-stairs.) A special brand of spirits: London public-house: late C. 19–20. Because usually kept on a shelf. The brand, etc., varies with the house. F. & H., 'A drop of upstairs'.

upstairs, adj. In pawn: Glasgow (— 1934). Euphemistic. Cf. stuck away.

upstairs, kick (a person). To thrust (e.g. an unpopular statesman) into a higher office: political coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

upstairs out of the world, go. To be hanged: jocular coll.: late C. 17–18. Congreve, 1695, 'By your looks you should go,' etc.

upsy-daisy. See ups-a-daisy.

uptails (up-tails) all, play at. To coit: ca. 1640–1750: coll. rather than s. Herrick. Ex the name of a song and its lively tune.

uptucker. A hangman: c. (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex tuck, v., 1.

upwards of, correct as 'rather more than', is cataphoric (and dial.) when = 'rather less than': late C. 19–20. Esp. E.D.D.

urger. A race-course tipster: Australian (— 1926). Jice Doone. Cf. tip-slinger.

Uriahites. The 3rd Battle Squadron of the Grand Fleet: naval officers': 1914; ob. Bowen. Is there a pun on striking all of a Uriah Heap? No; the reference is to that Uriah whom David, with sinister intent, set 'in the forefront of the battle' (F. & Gibbons).

Urinal of the Planets, the. Ireland: literary coll.: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E., 'Because of its frequent and great Rains, as Heidelberg and Cologne in Germany, have the same Name on the same Account'. Cf. England's umbrella, q.v.

urjee. A (humble) petition: Anglo-Indian coll. (— 1886). Corruption of urj(ee). Yule & Burnell.

us. We: a frequent sol. in mod. English. Cf. we uns, q.v.—2. In the predicate, after some part of the v. to be, it is, however, merely coll. and dial.; if any emphasis is laid, it is almost S.E.: C. 19 (prob. earlier)—20. "'Who's there?'" "It's us" is coll., but "'It wasn't you,'" "It was us, we tell you" borders on S.E.—3. Me; to me: dial. and (low) coll.: recorded in 1828, but prob. considerably older.

[use, the. Ware's definition is incorrect, the term, moreover, is S.E.]

use at (a place). To frequent: c.: from mid-1870's. Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 1877, 'I got in company with some of the wildest people in London. They used to use at a pub. in Shoreditch.' Ex dial. use about, round.

use for, have no. To consider superfluous or tedious or objectionable: coll.: orig. (1887), U.S.; anglicised ca. 1900. Cf. have no time for, q.v.

use to (do something). To be accustomed to do it, in the habit of doing it: M.E.—C. 20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll.; in C. 20, almost a sol. (N.B., the past tense, used to, is, however, still S.E.) E.g. 'I didn't use to do that,' 'He hadn't used to do it,' are now illiterate coll.

use up. See towards end of next entry.

used up. Killed: military: mid-C. 18—mid-19. Grose, 1st ed., 'Originating from a message sent by the late General [John] Guise, on the expedition'—ca. 1740—'at Carthage, when he desired the commander-in-chief, to order him some more grenadiers, for those he had were all used up'; actually, of the 1,200 attacking the castle of St Lazar, a half were, within a couple of hours, killed or wounded.—2. Hence, broken-hearted; utterly exhausted (1840); bankrupt: mid-C. 19—20: the second nuance being coll. bordering on S.E.; the other two, s.; all three nuances are ob. H., 1st ed.; Calverley, 1871, 'But what is coffee but a noxious berry | Born to keep used-up Londoners awake?' The O.E.D. records use up, to tire out, as a coll. at 1850: app. ex used up, utterly exhausted.

useful. Very good or capable; (extremely) effective or effectual: from ca. 1929. E.g. 'He's a pretty useful boxer.'

Ushant-eyed. 'A man with a fixed eye. Ushant lights were once one fixed and the other revolving' (Bowen): nautical coll.: C. 20; ob.

V

[Under v, F. & H. has the following ineligible; S.E.:—vagaries; vagrant; vain-glorious; vanner; vantage loaf; vapour; varlet; varmint, n.; varying (a Winchester 'vulgar'); veal, vealy; veck; velvet-cap, -jacket, -pie; velveteen; venturer; Venus; verdant; vessel; view-point; viewy; villadom; violento; virago; virgin-knot, -treasure; virginhead; visor-mask; vixen; volant; voluntary; vulgar,—but see entry. Dial.:—victuals, in one's.]

v for th. E.g. farver for father. Sol., mostly Cockney: C. 19—20. P. G. Wodehouse, The Pothunters, 1902, 'Go in at 'im, sir, wlv both 'ands.'

v for w is an indication of Cockney birth or influence. Recorded first in Pegge, 1803, it must have arisen considerably earlier; genuine examples, in fact, of this change, as of w for v, occur in the Diary (1550–63) of Henry Machyn, as W. points out in Adjectives and Other Words. This v for w is a change which 'recent investigators have been unable to verify as still existent', O.E.D., 1928. (American writers often err in using it in the speech of post-War Cockneys.) Dickens, 1837, 'Ve got Tom Vildspark off . . . ven all the big vigs . . . said as nothing couldn't save him,' O.E.D. Cf. the converse w for v.

V, make. To make horns (the first and second fingers being derisively forked out) as an implication of cuckoldry: coll.: early C. 17. Chapman.

V. and A., the. The Royal yacht the Victoria and Albert: naval coll.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.—2. The Victoria and Albert Museum: museum-world coll.: late C. 19—20.

V.C. Plucky: London: ca. 1881–90. Ware.

Ushant Team, the. The Channel Fleet blockading Brest during the Napoleonic Wars: naval coll. of that period. Bowen.

usher! Yes!: c.: from 1870's; ob. Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 1877. Prob. ex Yiddish user (it is so), as F. & H. proposes; possibly suggested by yessir!

usher of the hall, the. The odd kitchen-man: Society: ca. 1880–1910. Ware.

using the wee riddle. (Vbl.n.) Pilfering: Clyde-side nautical: late C. 19—20. Bowen, who gives an anecdotal explanation.

usual, as per. As usual: coll.: 1874, W. S. Gilbert. Occ., later, per usual. (O.E.D.) Ex, and orig. jocular on, the commercial use of per, perhaps influenced by Fr. comme par ordinaire (W.).

usual, his, her, my, our, their, your. His (etc.) usual state of health: coll.: from mid-1880's. Annie S. Swan, 1887, 'Aunt Susan is in her usual,' E.D.D.

util. Only in util actor, that actor who can take almost any part: theatrical (—1909). Ware.

utter in affected use is S.E. except when it occurs in such a phrase as s. the blooming utter, the utmost (Henley, 1887); even utterly utter, which the O.E.D. records at 1882, is S.E., but quite too utterly utter (F. & H., 1904) is coll.

-uvver is, in illiterate speech, found for -other where the o is pronounced ū; especially in Cockney. E.g. bruvver (q.v.), muver, smuver. Certainly C. 19—20, probably from centuries earlier.

I.e. deserving of the Victoria Cross.—2. V.C. mixture. Rum: military: from 1915. F. & Gibbons. Because of the Dutch courage thereby imparted.

V.R. Ve (i.e. we) are: a London, esp. Cockneys', c.p. at the time of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee (June, 1897). Punning V.R., Victoria Regina. Cf. Jubileeve it, q.v.—2. In 'evasive reference to the prison van, which, in the reign of Victoria, bore these initials on each side': lower classes': ca. 1850–1901. Ware. Also vagabonds removed: ibid.: id.

vac. A vacation: university and, though less, school coll.: C. 18—20. Often with capital initial. White, West End, 1900, 'Fork out . . . I'll pay you back in the Vac.'

vacation. An imprisonment; a prison: tramps' c. (—1932). Frank Jennings, Tramping with Tramps.

vag, on the. 'Under the provisions of the Vagrancy Act', C. J. Dennis: Australian and to some extent, English (and U.S.): late C. 19—20.

vagabonds removed. See V.R., 2.

vain, take one's name in. To mention a person's name: coll.: C. 18—20. Swift, 'Who's that takes my name in vain?'

vakeel. A barrister: Anglo-Indian coll.: mid-C. 19—20. H., 3rd ed., 1864. Properly a representative. Ex Urdu vakil, Arabic wakil. Yule & Burnell.

vainglorious man. See piss more . . . valley. See cascade.

valoose. Money: soldiers' (Eastern front and Egypt): C. 20; esp. in G.W. Ex Arabic. B. & P., 'The soldiers' usual reply to beggars and touts in Egypt was Mafeesh valoose.'

vally. A valet: illiterate coll.: C. 18 (? earlier)—20. Cf. Scots vallie.

vamos, vamoss, vamoos, vamoose, vamoosh, vamoose, vamous, varmooose. To depart, decamp, disappear: U.S. coll. (ca. 1840), anglicised as s.: 1844, Selby, in London by Night, 'Vamoose—scarper—fly!' The forms vamoss (C. 20), vamous (H., 1st ed.) and varmoose (1862) are rare, while vamoosh (Baumann) or vamosh (Manchon) is illiterate, and vamoose or vampoose is incorrect—but rare after the 1850's. Ex Sp. vamos, let us go.—2. As v.t., to disappear from, the word has not caught on in England.

vamp. A robbery: e.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Perhaps ex vamp, v., 1, q.v.—2. See vamps.—3. A woman that makes it her habit or business to captivate men by an unscrupulous display of her sexual charm: coll.: 1918 (O.E.D. Sup.). Abbr. vampire.

vamp, v. To pawn: late C. 17–19: e. >, by 1780, low s. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; H., 3rd–5th edd. Ex vamp, to renovate.—2. (V.t. and i.) To attract (men) by one's female charms; to attempt so to attract (them): coll.: 1927 (O.E.D. Sup.). Ex vamp, n., 3, q.v.—3. To eat: military: 1914; ob. F. & Gibbons. Possibly ex the S.E. musical sense influenced by horses' champing.

vamper. A thief; esp. one of a gang frequenting public-houses and picking quarrels 'with the wearers of rings and watches, in hopes of getting up a fight, and so enabling their "pals" to steal the articles', H., 3rd ed., 1864. Cf. vamp, n., 1.—2. (Gen. in pl.) A stocking: c.: late C. 17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. 'Perhaps an error for vampeis or vampeys', O.E.D. Cf. vamps q.v.

vamping, n. and adj. of vamp, v., 2, q.v.

vampire. The ghost in Punch and Judy: showmen's: mid-C. 19–20. See swatchel. Cf. vampo.—2. A person insufferably boring or wearisome: from ea. 1860; very ob. Ex lit. sense. (Oce. vampyre.)

vampo. The clown (see vampire, 1): id.: id.: ? ex Lingua Franca. See swatchel.

vampo(o)se. See vamos.

vamps. Refooted stockings: London (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex lit. S.E. sense.

van. (Ad)vantage: lawn tennis: C. 20.

Van, Madam. See Madam Van.

van blank (or blonk). White wine: military coll.: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.) A mispronunciation of Fr. vin blanc.

van blank (or blonk) anglee. Whiskey: military: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.) Ex preceding.

van-dragger. 'One who steals parcels from vans' (David Hume): c.: C. 20.

van John. A s. corruption of vingt-et-un: orig. and mainly university: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede', "'Van John" was the favourite game'; ob.

Van Neck, Miss or Mrs. 'A large-breasted woman', Grose, 2nd ed.: low: late C. 18—early 19. Because she is well to the fore.

vandemonianism. Rowdiness: Australian coll.: ea. 1860–90. Morris. Ex Vandemonian, an inhabitant of Van Diemen's Land (Tasmania), esp. as applied to a convict resident there in early C. 19; suggested partly by demon.

vandook. A corruption of bandook, q.v.: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

vantage. Profitable work: printers' coll.: late C. 17–18. Moxon. Cf. fat, printers' n.

vardi or -ie. See vardy.

vardo. A waggon; vardo-gill, a waggoner: o. (— 1812); † by 1900. Vaux. Ex Romany vardo (or wardo), a cart. (Sampson's verdo).—2. Hence, a caravan: grafters': from ea. 1880. (P. Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934.)

vardo, v.t. To see, look at, observe: Parlyaree and low London (— 1859). H., 1st ed., 'Vardo the cassey [gen. casa, carsey, case], look at the house'; H., 5th ed. (1874), 'This is by low Cockneys gen. pronounced vardy.' Cf. dekko, q.v.; perhaps ex Romany varter, v.t., to watch; note, too, that since in Romany v and w are nearly always interchangeable, there may be a connexion with ward (esp. in watch and ward).

vardy. A verdict; an opinion: C. 18–20 coll. and (in C. 20, nothing but) dial. Swift has vardi, an occ. C. 18 form,—and vardie occurs in C. 18–20; Grose, 2nd ed.; H., 3rd ed. Ex † verdit, verdict. (O.E.D.)—2. See vardo, v.

varicose. A varicose vein; (collectively with pl. v) one's varicose veins: coll.: C. 20.

varjus. Verjuice: Cockney (— 1823); ob. 'Jon Bee.' Cf. clargy and sarvice.

varment, varmint. 'A sporting amateur with the knowledge or skill of a professional': mainly sporting: ca. 1811–40. Byron, 1823, 'A thorough varmint, and a real swell, [Full flash, all fancy]', O.E.D. Perhaps ex dial. varment, a fox.—2. Hence, spruce, natty, dashing: ca. 1811–80; extant in dial., though ob. even there. Lex. Bal.—3. Hence, varment (more gen. varmint) man, a 'swell': Oxford and Cambridge University: ca. 1823–40. Anon., Alma Mater, 1827.—4. Vermin: low (— 1823); ob. Egan's Grose.

varment, varmint, adj. See n., 2 and 3.—2. Knowing, cunning; clever: dial. (— 1829) soon > s.; in C. 20, only dial. Trelawny, 1831 (O.E.D.). Ex varment, a fox.

varmentish; varmentey. The adj. and n. of varment, n., 1 and esp. 3: ca. 1811–30. The Sporting Magazine, 1819, 'Nothing under four horses would look "varmentish"', O.E.D.

varmint-man. See varment, n., 3.—2. One who writes themes for idle undergraduates: university: ea. 1840–1900. Perhaps ex sense 1.

varnish. Bad champagne: Society: ea. 1860–1905. Ware.

varnisher. A coiner of counterfeit sovereigns. e. (— 1864); ob. H., 3rd ed. Because this finishing touch often gave an effect of varnish.

varsal; 'varsal. Universal, whole; mostly in the varsal world: illiterate coll. (1696, Farquhar: O.E.D.) >, in C. 19, dial.—2. Hence, single: ea. 1760–1820, then dial.; rare and ob. Scott.—3. Hence, adv.: extremely: 1814, 'A varsal rich woman', O.E.D.: rare coll. and dial.; ob. Cf. versal, q.v.

varsity, V.; 'varsity, 'V. University College, Oxford: Oxford University coll.: mid-C. 19–20.—2. Orig. university coll., now gen. coll. for university: from ca. 1845. Dorothy Sayers, in The Passing Show, March 25, 1933, 'Nobody says "undergrads" except townees and journalists and people outside the university. . . . Stick to "University"'. "Varsity" has somehow a flavour of the 'nineties'.—3. As adj.: 1863 (O.E.D. Sup.); 1864, Tennyson. Whether as n. or adj., the term, in its wider sense, has not always been approved at the two older English universities. Ca. 1640–1700, Versity: likewise coll. W.; O.E.D.—4. varsity tit. See tit, 4.

vaseline. Butter: Royal Military Academy: late C. 19–20. Cf. grease.

vast of, a. A great amount (e.g. of trouble) or number: dial. (1794: E.D.D.) > also, by 1900, proletarian coll. Manchon.

vatch. (To) have: back s., esp. butchers': late C. 19–20.

Vaughan, the. The School library: Harrow coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex Dr Vaughan (1816–97), the famous headmaster of Harrow.

vaulting-school. A coll. or s. (? orig. c.) variation of v.-house, a brothel: ca. 1605–1830. H. Parrot, 1606 (O.E.D.); B.E.; Grose.—2. Hence, 'an Academy where Vaulting, and other Manly Exercises are Taught', B.E.: c. or s.: late C. 17–early 19. Grose.

've. Have: coll. (he've, e.g., is sol.): C. 19–20. Rather rare in the infinitive, as in A. Fielding, Death of John Tait, 1932, 'My road sense seems to've deserted me for the time being.' Often intrusive: see of, v., and have, v.

veal will be cheap, calves fall. A jeering c.p. addressed to a spindle-legged person: from ca. 1670; ob. Ray, 1678. Cf. mutton dressed as lamb.

veg. Vegetable(s): eating-houses' coll.: mid-C. 19–20. E.g. 'Meat and two veg'. Ex abbr.

vegetable breakfast. A hanging: low jocular: late C. 19–early 20. The meal consists of an artichoke (punning heartly choke) and 'caper sauce' (q.v.).

Vein-Openers, the. The 29th Foot Regiment, from ca. 1881 the 1st Battalion of the Worcestershire Regiment: military: late C. 18–20; very ob. F. & Gibbons, 'The first to draw blood' in the American War.

velvet. The tongue; 'especially the tongue of a magsman', H., 5th ed.: in gen., late C. 17–20, c. >, by 1800, low s. (B.E., Grose); in particular sense, from ca. 1870, low s. Ex its texture. See velvet, tip the.

velvet, on. In an easy or advantageous position: 1769, Burke (O.E.D.): S.E. rapidly > sporting coll., Grose, 1st ed., having 'to be upon velvet, to have the best of a bet or match'; esp. as = sure to win. Hence the next two entries.

velvet, play on. To gamble with winnings: gaming s. (in C. 20, coll.): from ca. 1880. Ex velvet, on, q.v.; perhaps influenced by:

velvet, stand on. 'Men who have succeeded in their speculations, especially on the turf, are said to stand on velvet,' H., 5th ed., 1874.

velvet, tip the. 'To Tongue a Woman', B.E.: late C. 17–20: c. >, by 1800, low s. Grose, 1st ed. See velvet and tip, v., 4, 6.—2. To scold: low: ca. 1820–50. Bee.

[velvet !, to the little gentleman in. This C. 18 Anglo-Irish Tory and Roman Catholic toast verges on the coll., the little . . . velvet being that 'mole which threw up the mound causing Crop (King William [III]'s horse) to stumble'. Grose, 3rd ed.]

vemon; vemynous. Venom; venomous: incorrect forms: C. 15. O.E.D.

Venetian cramps. 'Peculiar and ritualistic variation of "cramps" (used in various bedroom ceremonies)': Bootham School: from before 1900. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925.

vengeance. See whip-belly.

venerable monosyllable. The female pudend: ca. 1785–1840. Grose, 2nd ed. See monosyllable.

venial. Venal: catachrestic: late C. 19–20. E. F. Benson employs it cleverly in Secret Lives, 1932.

venter, n. and v. (To) venture: sol., esp. Cockneys' (— 1887). Baumann.

ventilator. 'A play, player, or management that empties' a theatre: theatrical (— 1904). F. & H. Neat wit on the lit. sense.

ventually. Eventually: (low coll. or) sol. (— 1887). Baumann.

venture-girl. A poor young lady seeking a husband in India: Anglo-Indian: ca. 1830–70. Ware.

venture it as Johnson did his wife, and she did well,—I'll. A semi-proverbial c.p. implying that it sometimes pays to take a risk: ca. 1670–1800. Ray, 1678; Fuller, 1732. Apperson.

Venus is occ. used catachrestically for Venice: C. 17–20. E.g. Venus sumach. O.E.D.

Veranda(h), the. The gallery of the old Victoria Theatre: London: late C. 19. Ware.

verb-grinder. A (pedantic) schoolmaster: coll.: 1809, Malkin; ob. On gerund-grinder, q.v.

Verey. See Véry.

verge. A gold watch: c.: late C. 19–20. F. & H. Ex a verge (watch).

verites; V. At Charterhouse, a boarding-house: mid-C. 19–20; ob. 'A corruption of Oliverites, after Dr Oliver Walford, 1838–55', F. & H. vermilion. To besmear with blood: sporting: 1817 (O.E.D.); virtually †.

verneuk; verneuker; verneukerie. To swindle, cheat, deceive; one who does this; such behaviour: South African coll.: resp. 1871, 1905, 1901. Direct ex Cape Dutch. Pettman.

Verry. See Véry.

versal, 'versal. Universal, whole; gen. with world: illiterate coll.: late C. 16–19. Shakespeare; Sheridan.—2. Hence, single: id.: 1709, Mrs. Manley, 'No versal thing'. O.E.D. Cf. varsal, q.v.

versing law. Swindling with counterfeit gold: c. of ca. 1590–1620. Greene. Ex:—verse*, v.i. and v.t., to practise fraud or imposition (on): id. Ibid. Cf.:—verser*. A member of a band of swindlers: c.: ca. 1550–1620. ? ex verse, to overthrow, upset.

Versity. See varsity.

vert; 'vert. A pervert or convert to another religion (esp. Roman Catholicism): coll.: 1864, The Union Review, May number. W., however, thinks that it may have originated, ca. 1846, with Dean Stanley.—2. Occ. as v.i.: coll.: 1888.

vertical. A plant living on the side of a perpendicular rock-face: gardening s. (— 1902) >, ca. 1910, coll. O.E.D.

vertical breeze or gust. See wind vertical.

vertical care-grinder. A treadmill: c. (— 1859); almost †. H., 1st ed. Known also as the everlasting, horizontal, or universal staircase.

verticle is a C. 17 incorrectness for vertical, n. and adj. O.E.D.

very at end of phrase or sentence is coll. (— 1887). Baumann, 'And when it is faded, it looks ugly, very.'

Véry or Vérey; Verrey; Verry. Incorrect for Very (flare, light, pistol): from 1915.

very cheese, the; the very ticket. Correct; requisite: Glasgow: C. 20. Ex the cheese, the ticket.

very famillionaire. Characteristic of the patronage shown by rich men: Society: 1870's. Ware. Ex familiar + millionaire.

very froncey. Very pronounced; vulgar: Society: ca. 1870–1905. Ware. Ex très français, very French.

very 'oh my !' Smug: Glasgow (— 1934) very well. An intensification of well, adj. (q.v.). Ware.

vessel. The nose : sporting : ca. 1813–30. The Sporting Magazine, LXI (1813), 'There d—n your eyes, I've tapped your vessel,' O.E.D. Cf. tap one's claret.

vest, lose one's. To get angry : low : ca. 1890–1910. A mere elaboration of get one's shirt out, q.v. ; cf. shirty.

Vestas ; vestas. Railway Investment Company deferred stock : Stock Exchange (— 1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

[vestat. Is this a ghost word? F. & H., at rorty, quotes The Chickaleary Cove (ca. 1864) : 'The vestat with the bins so rorty'] vet. A veterinary surgeon : coll. : 1864, H. Marryat (O.E.D.).—2. Whence, the vet, the medical officer : military : from 1914. F. & Gibbons.

vet, v. To cause (an animal) to be examined by a 'vet' (q.v.) : coll. : from ca. 1890. Ex vet, n, l.—2. Hence, to examine, occ. to treat, (a person) medically : coll. : 1898, Mrs Croker (O.E.D.).—3. Hence, to revise (a manuscript) : a book-world coll., orig. and mainly publishers' : from ca. 1910.—4. Also, to sound, or ask questions of (a person), in order to discover his abilities or opinions : coll. : from ca. 1920. Richard Keverne, The Havering Plot, 1928, 'I brought you here so that I might "vet" you. I do things like that—and then trust my instinct.'

vex. (So much the) worse, as in vex for you : Christ's Hospital : from ca. 1860. Perhaps ex L. pejus (pronounced—one may presume—peddjus), but more prob. simply an abbr. of vexing or vexation.

vic! Cave! : Felsted School : from ca. 1870. Hence, Keep vic, to watch against official intrusion. Perhaps from L. vicinus, near, or even L. vigil or the imperative of vigilare, to watch.—2. The Victoria Theatre : London (— 1859). H., 1st ed.—3. Queen Victoria : London streets' (— 1860) ; ob. H., 2nd ed.—4. The Princess Royal : Society : early C. 20. Ware.—5. Victoria Station : London streets' (— 1887). Baumann.

Vic, the Old. This coll. for the Old Victoria Theatre has, since ca. 1925, been virtually S.E.

vicar of St Fools, the. (Implying) a fool : a semi-proverbial coll. : mid-C. 16–17. Heywood, 1562 ; Nashe, 1589 ; Howell, 1659, and Ray, 1670, omit the Saint (Apperson.) Sc. Church ; by punning 'topography'.

vice-admiral of the narrow seas. See seas.

vice (or Vice), the. The Vice-Chancellor, -President, etc. : coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

Vice-Chancellor's court. 'Creditor's last shift', Egan's Grose : Oxford University : ca. 1820–50.

Vice-Chuggins, the. The Vice-Chancellor : Oxford undergraduates' : late C. 19–20. Charles Turley, Godfrey Marten, Undergraduate, 1904. Cf. Wuggins, Worcester.

Viceroy, the. Sarah Jennings, 1st Duchess of Marlborough. Ex her influence with Queen Anne. (Dawson.)

Vics, the. A variant of the Queen Vics, q.v. (F. & Gibbons.)

victual. A 'feed' (not a school meal) ; to eat, feed : Bootham School : C. 20. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925. Ex S.E. victuals.

victualler ; victualling-house. A pander ; a house of accommodation : late C. 16–17 : resp., Shakespeare, 2nd Henry IV, Act II, sc. iv ; and Webster, A Cure for a Cuckold. Because a tavern-keepers' trade often cloaked intrigue and bawdry. Cf. bagnio, q.v.

victualling department or office. The stomach : boxing > gen. s. : resp. 1878 (O.E.D.) and 1751, Smollett ; both are ob. By a pun on that Government office which victuals the Navy. Cf. bread-basket and dumpling-depot.

view the land. To examine in advance the scene of a crime : c. (— 1887). Baumann.

viewy. Designed, or likely, to catch the eye ; attractive : 1851, Mayhew ; ob. Hence, viewiness, display : theatrical (— 1923). Manchon.

vigilance. 'A crude periscope consisting of a mirror affixed to the top of a stick' : military : late 1914 ; ob. B. & P.

ville, ville, vyle. A city, a town : c. : in combination from 1560's ; by itself, app. not before C. 19. Romevil(le), -vyle, Rum-, London : mid-C. 16–20 ; deuce-a-vile, deuseaville, daisyville, the country : mid-C. 17–20. By itself, 'No. 747' (valid for 1845) ; H., 1st ed., 1859, 'Pronounced phial, or vial.' Ex Fr. ville.

ville, adj. As a mere intensive (cf. foul) = 'unpleasant', 'objectionable' : coll. : C. 20.

vill ; V. Felsted village : Felsted School : mid-C. 19–20. Prob. independent of poetic S.E. vill, a village, and of preceding entry.

village (or V.), the. London : sporting coll. : from ca. 1820 ; slightly ob. Westmacott, 1825 (O.E.D.) ; H., 3rd ed., which adds : 'Also a Cambridge term for a disreputable suburb of that town, generally styled "the village"' ; the reference holds for the 1860's–70's.—2. Hardware Village, Birmingham : from early 1860's ; ob. H., 3rd ed.

village blacksmith. A performer or actor not quite a failure, his engagements never lasting longer than a week : music-halls' and theatrical (— 1909) ; ob. Ware. Ex Longfellow's poem, 'Week in, week out, from morn till night . . .'

village butler. A petty thief ; esp. an old thief 'that would rather steal a dishelout than discontinue the practice of thieving', Potter, 1795 : c. of ca. 1790–1850. F. & H. misprints it as v.-bustler.

villain as ever scuttled a ship, I'm as mild a. A c.p. applied to oneself in jocular reproach : coll. (— 1904). Prob. on S.E. I'm a bit of a villain myself, but — ville. See vile.

villian. Villain : sol. (— 1887). Baumann. In C. 20, often jocular among the educated : as, e.g., in K. de B. Codrington's notable, unknown novel, The Wood of the Image, 1934 (p. 28).

vim. Force ; energy : U.S. (adv., 1850, † ; n., early 1870's), anglicised ca. 1890 : coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Either echoic or ex L. vis (accusative vim), energy, strength. Cf. pep, q.v.

vin. Wine : Australian soldiers' : in G.W. Ex Fr. vin blanc.

vin blink. French white wine : New Zealand soldiers' : 1916–18. Ex Fr. vin blanc.

vincent. A dupe in a betting game : c. : ca. 1590–1830 ; though prob. ob. in C. 18–19. Greene ; Grose. Etymology obscure : ? ironic ex L. vincens, (being) victorious. Whence :

vincent's (or V.) law. The art and practice of cheating at a betting game, esp. bowls or cards : c. : same period and history as preceding. Greene ; Grose, 1st ed. Here, law = lay = line of criminal activity.

vinegar. A cloak : c. : late C. 17–early 19. B.E. ; Grose, 1st ed. Perhaps because it is worn in sharp weather. Cf. the semantics presumably operative in :—2. 'The person, who with a whip in his hand, and a hat held before his eyes'—cf. the man that, in a public conveyance, pretends to sleep while women are strap-hanging—'keeps the ring clear at boxing matches and cudgel playings', Grose, 1st ed.: sporting: ca. 1720–1840. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

ving blong. French white wine ('vin blanc'): military: from 1914. Frank Richards, Old Soldiers Never Die, 1933.

vintage. Year of birth: U.S. (— 1883) >, by 1890, English. Ware. Ex vintage-(year) of wines.

violently. Showily, 'loudly' (e.g. dressed): coll.: 1782, Mme D'Arblay; ob. O.E.D.

violet; garden-violet. An onion; gen. in pl. as = spring onions eaten as a salad.—2. Pl., sage-and-onion stuffing. Both, proletarian-ironic: from ca. 1870; slightly ob.

violets, Brits's. An East African campaign term of 1917–18, as in F. Brett Young, Jim Redlake, 1930: 'Doomed horses . . . fed till they dropped, and became, in their noisome end, what the soldiers called "Brits' violets".' Brits commanded a contingent of Boers in German East Africa.

vir-gin. See man-trap.

virgin. A cigarette made of Virginia tobacco: smokers' (— 1923). Manchon.—2. A mixture of vermouth and gin: toppers' (— 1923). Ibid.—3. A term of reproach among chorus-girls: from ca. 1920.

Virgin Mary's (Body-)guard, the. The 7th Dragoon Guards: military: mid-C. 18–20; ob. 'They served under Maria Theresa of Austria, temp. George II,' F. & H. See also Strawboots.

Virgin of the Limp, the. See Lady of the Limp.

virgins; V. Virginia New Funded Stock: Stock Exchange: late C. 19–20; ob.

virgins' bus, the. The last bus running from Piccadilly Corner westward: lower classes': ca. 1870–1900. Ware. Its chief patronesses were prostitutes.

virgin's dream, the. See maiden's prayer.

virtue. 'Smoking, drinking, whoring. When a man confesses to abstinence from tobacco and intoxicating liquors he is perversely said to have no virtues,' F. & H.: non-aristocratic: ca. 1880–1915.

virtue rewarded. A c.p. in reference to occupants of prison-vans (bearing V.R. on their sides): lower classes': ca. 1870–1901. Ware. Cf. V.R., 2, and vagabonds removed.

vish. Angry; cross: Christ's Hospital: from ca. 1890. Abbr. vicious in this sense. It superseded passy (abbr. passionate), q.v.

visitation. An over-long visit or protracted social call: coll.: 1819 (O.E.D.). Ex the length of ecclesiastical visitations.

vittles. 'An accountant officer, R.N., borne for victualling duties': naval: C. 20. Bowen.

vitty. Fitty, i.e. fitting, suitable; neat: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 18, then s. († by 1900) and dial. (O.E.D.)

viva. A viva-voce examination: university coll.: from ca. 1890. Whence:

viva, v.t. and, rarely (C. 20), v.i. To subject, be subjected to, a 'viva': id.: 1893 (O.E.D.). Ex preceding.

Vlam. Vlamertinghe, in Flanders: military coll.: G.W. Cf. Pop, Poperinghe. (F. & Gibbons.)

vocab. A vocabulary; a glossary or dictionary:

Charterhouse (— 1904) >, by 1920, gen. Public School coll.

vodeodo. Money, cash; booty: c.: from ca. 1930. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. This has the appearance of being a rhyming fantasy on dough, money, possibly suggested or influenced by Romany vongar, money.

voetsak! (To a dog) go away!: South African coll. (— 1877). Prob. ex Dutch voort seg ek!, away, I say! Pettman. Sometimes footsack!

voil. A rare form (Egan's Grose, 1823) of vile, n.

voise. A vase: sol.: mid-C. 19–20.

voker, v.t. To speak: tramps' c. and low s. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed. This is the orig. form of rock, q.v. Cf. L. vocare.

vol, adj. Voluntary: Harrow School (— 1904). F. & H. voluptious. Illiterate for voluptuous: C. 19–20.

[Voluminous Prynn. Wm. Prynn (1600–69), insatiable Puritan pamphleteer. Dawson.]

volunteer knee-drill. 'Abject adulation': Society and middle classes' (— 1909; † by 1920). Ware, 'Outcome of volunteer movement'.

von. One: see 'v for w'.

vote. To propose, suggest: coll.: 1814, Scott (O.E.D.). Only with that . . .

vote for the alderman. See alderman, vote for the.

vote khaki. To plump for the Liberal Unionists: 1900–1. Ware.

vouch. An assertion or formal statement: C. 17–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; ob. (O.E.D.)

voucher. One of those who 'put off False Money for Sham-coyners', B.E.: c. of ca. 1670–1720. Head. (He 'vouches for' the counterfeit.) —2. (Gen. in pl.) A receipt clerk: bank-clerks' coll.: C. 20. Cf. ledger.

voucher, force the. To elicit money from the betting public and then abscond: sporting (— 1874). H., 5th ed.

voulez-vous squattez-vous? Will you sit down?: theatre gods': from ca. 1820. 'Started by Grimaldi', says Ware. Cf. twiggez-vous.

vowel. To pay (a winner; indeed, any creditor) with an I.O.U.: C. 18–19. Steele, 'I am vowelled by the Count, and cursedly out of humour,' O.E.D. Ex either spoken formula, or written statement of, 'I.O.U.'

vowel-mauler. An indistinct speaker: not upper classes': ca. 1880–1910.

voyage, Hobbe's. An act of coition: late C. 17–18. Vanbrugh, 1697, 'Matrimony's the spot . . . So now I am in for Hobbe's voyage; a great leap in the dark.' Ex some lost topical allusion, unless it be a jeer at Hob, a country bumpkin.

voyage of discovery. 'Going out stealing': o. (— 1857); † by 1920. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

vrow-case. A brothel: c.: (prob.) late C. 17–mid-19. F. & H., who app. deduce it, justifiably (I think), from B.E.'s case-fro, 'a Whore that Plies in a Bawdy-house'. Ex Dutch vrouw, a woman, + casa, case, a house, shop, etc.

[Vulgarization. See Fowler.]

[vulgus. A Latin or, occ., Greek verse exercise: C. 19–20: O.E.D. considers it S.E.: W., Public School s., 'for earlier vulgars' (C. 16), 'sentences in [the] vulgar tongue [i.e. English] for translation into Latin'. See esp. R. G. K. Wrench, Winchester Word-Book, 2nd ed., 1901.]

Vun O'Clock. See General One O'Clock.

W

[Under w, F. & H. has admitted the following ineligibles; S.E. :—wabble (or wobble); waddle; waddler; waddy; wade (act of wading); waders; wafer-woman; wag's here unrecorded; waggle (to wag); waggoner; wagtail; waistcoateer; waister; wait, etc.; unrecorded walk's; do., wall; wamble-cropped; wand; wanion; unrecorded want's; do., war; wardrobe; ware; warling; warm's unlisted; wash, id.; waspish; waste-time; waster; watch's unrecorded; water, id.; Watling Street; way's unrecorded; weak, id.; weapon; wear's unlisted; weather, id.; weave, v.; wedge's unlisted; wedlock; wee; unrecorded weed's; do., week's; weeper, except as side-whisker; wegotism and weism; weight (lust); well at a river, dig a; Wellington; Welsh ambassador and wig; welt; wench; Westralia; wet's unrecorded; wether-headed; whalebone, white as; wharl; unrecorded what's; whay-worm; unrecorded wheedle's; do., wheel's and derivatives; whelp, n.; wherret; whetstone, give the; unrecorded whiff's; whiffle; whim's and whirling; whimper; whine; unrecorded whip's (including derivatives); whirligig; whirrit; unlisted whiskey's, etc.; do., whisper; do., whistle; do., white and derivatives; Whitsun ale; whittled; whore's undefined; why, id.; wicket; wide's unrecorded; widgeon; widow's man; wild, id.; willow; willy-nilly; wind's unrecorded; window, id.; wine; wing (to wound slightly); wipe's unrecorded; wire-puller; wishy-washy; wisp; wittol; wobble; unrecorded wolf, etc.; do., woman; woodcock (a simpleton); woodman (a wench); unrecorded wood's; word and a blow, a; work, make; world; worricrow; wretch and wretchcock; writerling; writings; wrong's unlisted.

Dial. :—wabbler; wallop (v. of agitation); wapper-eyed; weather-dog; westy-head; whack (appetite); whang (a beating), whangby, whanger; what-like and -nosed; welk (2, 3) and wheeling; whennymegs; whid (a falsehood or exaggeration; a quarrel or dispute); whid, to tell lies; whimmy; whindle; whipper (anything excellent) and whippy; whisk-telt; whistle-jacket; whizzer; widdy-waddy; wooden sword, wear the; wringle-gut; wry-not.]

w. A w.c.; late C. 19–20, non-aristocratic coll.; † orig. euphemistic. Always the w. E.g. in F. Brett Young, Jim Redlake, 1930.

w elided. 'In the unstressed second element of a compound, (w) tends to be elided in coll. speech . . . In some cases a mere vulgarism (. . . back'ard, forrad, allus for always),' O.E.D.: throughout mod. English.

w for r. Orig. and properly caused by a physical defect or, as in baby-talk, by immaturity, this feature has sometimes been a mere (fashionable) affectation; the former, since time immemorial; the latter, not before the 1830's. "Gwacious heavens!" said his lordship,' O.E.D. Frequently in wubbish.

w for v. A Cockney habit arising in C. 16 (see 'v for w') ex South-Eastern dial.; very common in earlier half of C. 19, but † in C. 20. Foote, 1763, 'Yes, werry like Venus'; the Dickensian Weller. American writers often err in using it of C. 20 Cockneys.

W.F.'s. Wild cattle: Tasmania: ca. 1840–Fenton, Bush Life in Tasmania Fifty Years A., 1891, 'The brand on Mr William Field's wild cattle

W.G. Dr William Grace (1849–1915), the great cricketer: cricketers' nickname. See esp. Bernard Darwin's delightful biography.

w.h. or W.H. A whore: euphemistic coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann.

W.H.B., the. The 'Wandering Hand Brigade', those who are apt to take liberties with women: late C. 19–20.

W.M.P. We accept the invitation: naval coll. verging on j.: late C. 19–20. I.e., with much pleasure.

W.P.; w.p. Abbr. (— 1860) of warming-pan, 3, q.v. H., 2nd ed.; ob.

W.P.B. To put into the waste-paper basket (w.p.b., itself coll.: 1884): coll.: from ca. 1930.

W. Two; W.2. 'Satirical description of the Emperor William II . . . on his telegram to . . . Kruger on [Jan. 1] 1896': only in that year.—Hence, 2, 'of any military-looking man stalking town': 1896–7. Ware.

Waac. A member of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps: coll.: 1917, The Times, Nov. 19. (O.E.D. Sup.). Cf. Wraf and Wren, qq.v. Also spelt Wack: which is perhaps s. wabblor. See foot-wabblor and wobbler.—wack. A mainly dial. form of whack, q.v.—Wack is also a variant form of Waac, q.v.

wad. A gunner: naval: mid-C. 19–20. Ware 'A survival from the days of muzzle-loading cannon'.—2. In the C. 20 underworld, it specifically = a roll of bank-notes. Charles E. Leach.—3. See wads, 1.—4. A fortune: C. 20. Cf. sense 2.

wad-scoffer. A bun-eater; esp. a tcetotaller: military: from ca. 1904. F. & Gibbons. See wads, 2. Also wad-shifter: Regular Army: from ca. 1910. Frank Richards.

waddle; orig. and gen. waddle out; often extended to waddle out lame duck or w.o. of the Alley. To become a defaulter on the Exchange: Stock Exchange: 1771, Garrick, 'The gaming fools are doves, the knaves are rooks, Change-Alley bankrupts waddle out lame ducks!'; Grose, 1st ed.; 1860, Peacock (waddle off, rare); † by 1900. See lame duck.

waddy. A walking-stick: Australian coll. (— 1898). Ex lit. Aboriginal sense, a club. Morris.

wade. A ford: coll.: C. 19–20. Ex wade, an act of wading.

wadge, wodge. A lumpy mass or bulgy bundle: dial. (— 1860) >, ca. 1880, coll. Ex wad on wedge. O.E.D.—2. Hence, late C. 19–20, adj. wodgy.

wadmarel (C. 19: nautical), wadmus (C. 18). Corruptions of wadmal (a woollen cloth). O.E.D.; Bowen.

wads. A gunner: naval, esp. as a nickname: from ca. 1890. Bowen. Ex the use he makes thereof.—2. (Very rare in singular.) Buns; occ., small cakes sold at a canteen: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex shape; also ex 'What doesn't fatten, fills.' Hence, tea and a wad = a snack, esp. that at the 11 a.m. break: Royal Air Force's (— 1935).

Waff. The West African Frontier Force: military coll.: G.W. Cf. Waac.

waffle. Nonsense; gossip(ing); incessant or copious talk: printers' (— 1888). Jacobi. Ex dial. waffle, a small dog's yelp or yap. Cf. waffles and:

waffle, v. To talk incessantly; printers': from ca. 1890. Ex waffle, to yelp.—2. To talk nonsense: from ca. 1890: Durham School >, by 1910 or so. gen. Perhaps ex sense 1; cf., however, the n.—3. See waffle.

waffles. A loafer; a sauntering idler: low (— 1904); ob. F. & H. Cf. waffle.

Waficans. West African stocks and shares: Stock Exchange: C. 20. The Westminster Gazette, Feb. 7, 1901, anathematizes it as 'language murdered to the disgust of the purist'. Prob. on the analogy of Westralian.

wag, n. See wag, hop the.—2. V., to play truant; often wag it: mid-C. 19–20. Dickens, 1848 (O.E.D.). Ex:—3. wag, to go, to depart: late C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.—4. V.t., gen. in negative. To stir (e.g. a limb): late C. 16–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. F. Harrison, 'I . . . declined to ask him . . . to wag a finger to get me there,' O.E.D. Cf.:—5. V.i., to move one's limbs: C. 13–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll.; ob. Whyte-Melville, 1860 (O.E.D.).

wag, hop the; play the wag; play the Charley-wag. To play truant: 1861, Mayhew, the first two; 1876, Hindley, the third, which is very ob. Ex wag, v., 1, q.v.,—perhaps with a pun on lit. sense of play the wag, to be amusingly mischievous, to indulge constantly in jokes. In C. 20, often wag it (Manchon).

wag one's bottom. To be a harlot: mostly Cockney: late C. 19–20.

wagabone, n. and adj. Vagabond: C. 19. G. R. Sims, 'His wagabone ways' (Baumann). See 'w for v'.

Wagga-Wagga Guards, the. See Tichborne's Own. Wagga-Wagga in N.S.W. was frequently mentioned at the trial. F. & Gibbons.

wagger-pagger-bagger. A waste-paper-basket: Oxford University: from ca. 1905. Cf. the Pragger-Wagger, q.v., and see '-er, the Oxford'. Collinson; Slang.

waggernery! O(h) agony!: lower Society: 1880's. Ware. The pun is specifically on Wagner, much ridiculed in that decade.

waggle. To wield (a bat, stick, oar): jocular coll.: C. 20. Ex lit. sense.—2. To overcome: low (— 1904); ob. except in U.S. F. & H. Cf. 1.

waggley; gen. waggly. Unsteady; 'having frequent irregular curves': coll.: 1894, E. Banks, 'Even in [the path's] most waggly parts', O.E.D. Lit., waggling.

waggon. 'In the old guardships, the place where the supernumeraries slung their hammocks': nautical: ? ca. 1840–90. Bowen.—2. A bunk (bed): ships' stewards' (— 1935).—3. An omnibus: busmen's: from ca. 1928. The Daily Herald, Aug. 5, 1936.

waggon, on the. See water-waggon.

waggon-hunter. A brothel-keeper's tout visiting the inns at which the stage-coaches stopped: o.: 1760–1840. O.E.D.

waggon-lay. 'Waiting in the street to rob waggons going out or coming into town, both commonly happening in the dark', Grose, 3rd ed.: o.: late C. 18–mid-19.

wagon. See waggon.

wahinē. A woman: New Zealand coll.: late C. 19–20. Direct ex Maori. Cf. lubra.

waipiro. Intoxicating liquor: id.: id. Straight from Maori.

waistcoat. See wesket.—2. fetid waistcoat. 'A waistcoat of a flaunting and vulgar pattern', F. & H.: ca. 1859. So 'loud' that it 'stinks to heaven'.

waistcoat piece. 'Breast and neck of mutton—from its resemblance to . . . half the front of a waistcoat not made up': tailors' (— 1909). Ware.

wait. To postpone (a meal) for an expected person: coll.: 1838, Dickens, 'It's a trying thing waiting supper for lovers,' O.E.D. Cf. wait about.—2. To wait at; only in wait table, to wait at table: servants' coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

wait about or around, v.i. To 'hang about': coll.: resp. 1879, Miss Braddon: 1895, orig. and mostly U.S. (O.E.D.).

wait and see! A c.p. dating from March–April, 1910, when Asquith used it in reference to the date to be assigned for the reintroduction of Lloyd George's rejected budget. See esp. my anthology, A Covey of Partridge.—2. Hence, a French match: military: 1914–18. They often failed to light.

wait for it! Don't be in too much of a hurry: military coll.: C. 20. Ex the order given in fixing bayonets.

wait till the clouds roll by! A c.p. inductive of optimism: 1884; by 1915, a proverb. Ware, 'From an American ballad'.

waive and wave (esp. w. away) are occ. confused: C. 19–20.

waked. Awoke: in late C. 19–20, this is gen. considered sol. Baumann.

waler; orig. W. A (cavalry) horse imported from New South Wales into India: 1849 (O.E.D.): Anglo-Indian coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. An advertisement in The Madras Mail, June 25, 1873: 'For sale. A brown waler gelding'.—2. Hence, a horse imported into India from any part of Australia: from early 1880's. Yule & Burnell, 1886; The Melbourne, Aug. 28, 1896.

walk. To depart of necessity; to die: mid-C. 19–20: resp. coll. and s. Trollope, 1858 (latter sense). Ex walk, to go away. (O.E.D.)—2, v.t. To win easily: Public Schools' coll.: from ca. 1895 (P. G. Wodehouse, A Prefect's Uncle, 1903.) Abbr. walk off with.

walk, cock of the. See cock.

walk, go for a. To go to the separate cells ('separates'): c.: from ca. 1920. George Ingram, Stir, 1933.

walk, on the. (Of bank clerks and/or messengers) taking money round to other banks and to business-houses: commercial: C. 20.

walk, the ghost doesn't. See ghost walks. Household Words, 1853.

walk around, gen. round. To beat easily: coll., U.S. (Haliburton, 1853) anglicised ca. 1890. Cf. the synonymous run rings round.

walk down one's throat. To scold, abuse: late C. 19–20. Ex jump . . .

walk into. To attack vigorously: coll.: 1794, Lord Hood (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, to scold or reprove strongly: coll.: from 1850's.—3. To eat, drink, much or heartily of: 1837, Dickens (O.E.D.); id., 1840, 'Little Jacob, walking . . . into a home-made plum cake, at a most surprising pace'.—4. To walk into one's affections. To win a person's love or affection effortlessly and immediately: coll.: 1858 (O.E.D.).—2. Jocularly for walk into, 1 and 2, q.v.: 1859, H., 1st ed.; also for walk into, 3 (Baumann, 1887).—3. Hence ironically, to get into a person's debt: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.

'make a hole in' one's money: 1859, Henry Kingsley (O.E.D.).—5. See:

walk it. To walk (as opp. to riding): coll.: 1668, Pepys (O.E.D.).—2. (Of race-horse or dog) to win easily: turf: C. 20. Ex walk, 2.

walk, knave, walk! A coll. c.p. taught to parrots: mid-C. 16-17. 'Proverbs' Heywood, 1546; Lyly; 'Hudibras' Butler; Roxburgh, Ballads, ca. 1685. (Apperson.)

walk one's chalks. See chalks, walk one's.

walk out, v.i. and n. (To have) an affair: Society: from ca. 1930. (Evelyn Waugh, A Handful of Dust, 1934.) Ex dial. v.t. walk out, to take one's fiancée out.

walk out with the bat. To achieve victory: Society: ca. 1880-1900. Ex a cricketer 'carrying' his bat. (Ware.)

walk round. To prepare oneself to attack or be attacked: lower classes' (—1909). Ware. Ex dogs' circling.—2. See walk around.

walk Spanish. See chalks, walk one's.

walk the barber. To lead a girl astray: o. (—1859). H., 1st ed. (Anatomical.)

walk the chalk. 'To walk along a chalk line as a test of sobriety': military (—1823) >, by 1850, gen. 'Jon Bee.' See also chalk, able to walk a.—2. Hence, by 1845 at latest, to keep oneself up to the moral mark.

walk the pegs. In cheating at cribbage, to move one's own pegs forward or one's opponent's back: low s. >, ca. 1870, s., >, ca. 1900, coll. > 1920, S.E.: 1803 (O.E.D.). Lit., to make walk.

walk up (against) the wall. See wall, crawl . . .

walk up Ladder Lane and down Hemp Street. To be hanged at the yard-arm: nautical: C. 19. Cf. note at hemp, hempen.

walked off, be. To be led to prison: proletarian (—1923). Manchon.

walked out, the lamp (has). The lamp has gone out, went out: jocular (—1887); ob. Baumann.

Walker! orig. and properly Hook(e)y Walker! 'Signifying that the story is not true, or that the thing will not occur', Lex. Bal., 1811; Walker is recorded by Vaux in the following year.—2. Hence, be off!: late C. 19-20.—3. As n., in, e.g., 'That is all (Hooky) Walker': late C. 19-20. Ex sense 1, which derives perhaps ex 'some hook-nosed person named Walker', O.E.D.

walker. A postman: ca. 1860-1910. H., 3rd ed. Ex an old song entitled Walker the Twopenny Postman.—2. See walkers.—3. See preceding entry.—4. A coll. abbr. of shop-walker: (—)1864, H., 3rd ed.

Walker, my (or his, etc.) name's. I'm (he's, etc.) off: late C. 19-20. Ex Walker, 2, q.v.

walker!, that's a. A C. 20 variant of Walker!, 1. Manchon.

walkers. The feet: C. 19. Pierce Egan, 1832 (O.E.D.). ? ex †walkers, legs.

walking cornet. An ensign of foot: military (—1785); † by 1890. Grose, 1st ed.

walking distiller. See distiller.

walking-go. A walking-contest: coll.: C. 19-20; very ob. O.E.D.

walking mort. A tramp's woman: c.: early C. 19. On strolling mort.

walking Moses! See Moses!

walking-orders, -papers, -ticket. A (notice of) dismissal: U.S. (1830's); partly anglicised, esp. in the Colonies, in C. 20. Jocular.

walking poulterer. One who hawks from door to door the fowls he steals: c. of ca. 1785-1840. Grose, 2nd ed.

walking speaking-trumpet. A midshipman engaged in passing orders: jocular naval coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

walking stationer. 'A hawk of pamphlets, &c.', Grose, 2nd ed., 1788: (? orig. c. >) low s.; ob. by 1870, † by 1900.

walking-stick. A rifle: Anglo-Irish: 1914; ob. (Orig. either euphemistic or secretive.) walkist. A walker: sporting (esp. athletics) coll. (—1887); ob. Baumann.

wall, crawl or walk up the; in Lex. Bal., 1811, also as walk up against the wall. 'To be scored up at a public house', Grose, 1st ed.: public-house (—1785); † by 1850. Ex the mounting bill written up, in chalk, on the wall.

wall, up against the. In serious difficulties: military: from 1916. F. & Gibbons. Ex up against a wall, q.v.

wall and it will not bite you!, look on the. A jeering c.p. addressed to one whose tongue has felt the bite of mustard: ca. 1850-1910.

wall as anyone, see as far into a brick. See see as.

wall-eyed. Inferior, careless (work); irregular (action): from the 1840's; ob. by 1890, virtually † by 1930. Halliwell, 1847. The C. 20 equivalent for 'inferior' is cock-eyed. Ex wall-eyed, squinting.

wall-prop, be a; make wall-paper. C. 20 variants (Manchon) of (be a) wallflower, q.v. below.

wallabies; W. Australians: coll.: from ca. 1908. Mostly in sporting circles and esp. of teams of Australians. O.E.D. (Sup.).

wallaby, on the. On tramp: Australian s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1869, Marcus Clarke. Abbr. on the wallaby-track. In the 'bush', often the only perceptible track. Morris.

[wallah, in Anglo-Indian (hence in Army) compounds—e.g. competition wallah,—is simply a chap, a fellow: late C. 18-20. Only in certain (mostly, jocular) compounds (e.g. amen-wallah, base-wallah) is it eligible; these will be found in their alphabetical place. Ex Hindustani -wala, connected with. See esp. Yule & Burnell.]

walled. (Of a picture) accepted by the Royal Academy: artists': 1882; ob. Ware.

wallflower. A second-hand coat, exposed for sale: low London: 1804 (O.E.D.); ob. For semantics, cf. next sense.—2. Orig. and gen., a lady keeping her seat by the wall because of her inability to attract partners: coll.: 1820, Praed, 'The maiden wallflowers of the room | Admire the freshness of his bloom.'—3. Hence, any person going to a ball but not dancing, whatever the reason: coll.: from 1890's. The Free Lance, Nov. 22, 1902, 'And male wall-flowers sitting out at dances | Will reckon up their matrimonial chances.'

wallop; occ. wallup. A clumsily ponderous, noisily brusque or violent movement of the body; a lurching: coll. and dial.: 1820, Scott (O.E.D.). Ex wallop, v., 1, q.v.—2. A resounding, esp. if severe, blow: coll. (—1823). 'Jon Bee.' Cf. v., 3.—3. Hence, the strength to deliver such a blow: boxing: from ca. 1910. Varsity, Feb. 24, 1914

'[He] has a prodigious "wallop", but no great amount of skill.'—4. Liquor: c.: from ca. 1930. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, 'He could not stand his wallop as well as he had been able to.' Ex its potency.

wallop, occ. wallup, v.i. To move with noisy and ponderous clumsiness; to lurch, flounder, or plunge: dial. (early C. 18) >, ca. 1815, coll. (Scott, 1820: cf. n., 1). Ex wallop, to gallop; the word is echoic. O.E.D.—2. V.i., to dangle, to flap or flop about: recorded by O.E.D. in 1822, but prob. in fairly gen. coll. use as early as 1780: see wallop in a tow or tether.—3. V.t., to belabour, thrash: dial. (— 1825) >, in 1830's, coll.—4. Hence, fig., to get the better of: coll.: from ca. 1860. Meredith, 1865 (O.E.D.). wallop, go (down). To fall noisily and heavily: coll.: and dial.: mid-C. 19–20.

wallop (or wallup) in a tether or tow. To be hanged: Scots coll.: from ca. 1780; slightly ob. Burns, 1785 (O.E.D.). Cf. wallop, v., 2, q.v.

walloper. One who belabours or drubs; that with which he does it—e.g. stick or cudgel: coll.: from ca. 1820. (E.D.D.) Ex wallop, v., 3, q.v.—2. A hotel; drinking-den: c.: from ca. 1930. J. Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936. Ex wallop, n., 4.

walloping, n. and adj., to wallop, v. (q.v.): coll. Cf. walloper,—2. Also as adv., though it may be merely a reinforcing adj., as in Hyne, 1903, 'I came upon a wallopping great stone.'

Wallsy. A Wall's Ice-Cream man: coll.: from ca. 1925. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

wallup. See wallop, n. and v.

wallwort is occ. applied incorrectly to the wall pellitory, the pellitory of Spain, and the comfrey: mid-C. 16–20. Properly sambucus ebulus. O.E.D.

Wallyford. 'The usual run on a wet whole school-day' (about 3½ miles): Loretto coll.: late C. 19–20.

walnut, shoulder. To enlist as a soldier: coll.: 1838, D. Jerrold; † by 1900. Cf. brown Bess and the coll. use of mahogany.

walnut-shell. A very light carriage: 1810 (O.E.D.); ob. Cf. cockle-shell (boat).

Waltham's calf, as wise as. Very foolish: coll.: ca. 1520–1830. Skelton; Grose, 3rd ed. Perhaps suggested by the wise men of Gotham, who 'dragged the pond because the moon had fallen into it' (Charles Kingsley). Apperson.

waltsom(e). Incorrect for waltsome, detestable: late C. 14–16. O.E.D.

waltz; esp. waltz hither and thither, (a)round or about. To move in light or sprightly or nimble fashion; to buzz round or fuss about: from ca. 1870: resp. coll. and s. (The O.E.D.'s example of 1862 is S.E.)

waltz into. To attack, 'walk into' (a person): coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

waltz Matilda; gen. as vbl.n., waltzing Matilda, carrying one's swag: Australian: from ca. 1910. Ex the song Waltzing Matilda.

wamble; C. 18–20, womble. A rolling, or a feeling of uneasiness or nausea, in the stomach: C. 17–20: S.E. until mid-C. 18, then coll. and dial. As coll., ob. except in the wombles, a sensation of nausea. Ex wamble, to feel nausea.—2. Hence, milk fever: coll. and dial.: C. 18–20; ob.—3. A rolling or staggering movement or gait, esp. in (up)on the wamble, staggering, wobbly or wobbling: coll. (ob.) and dial.: from ca. 1820. Ex wamble, v.i., to roll about as one walks.

wamble (or, C. 18, womble)-cropped or -stomached. Sick at the stomach: resp. mid-C. 16–20, but in C. 19–20 only U.S. and until mid-C. 18, S.E.; C. 16–?, so prob. not late enough to be eligible. See wamble, 1; cf.:

wamblety (or womblety)-cropped. Suffering, in the stomach, the ill effects of a debauch: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose. A variant of preceding. (In U.S., fig. uncomfortable.)

wames thegither, nail twa. To coit: Scots: C. 17 (?)–20. Lit., wame, belly.

wa'n. Wasn't: sol.: late C. 19–20. 'Bout five to ten, wa'n it, Sam?', Time and Tide, Nov. 24, 1934.

wan-horse chaise. A one-horsed chaise: a Hyde Park Corner joke, ca. 1820–30. Bee, 1823.

wand. Incorrect for wan (sail of windmill): mid-C. 18–20. O.E.D.

wander. To lead astray; fig., to confuse, bewilder: coll.: from mid-1890's. (O.E.D.)

wander! Go away!: ca. 1880–1905. Ware, who classifies it as street s.

wangle. A 'wangling'; some favour illicitly obtained: from 1915: orig. military. Ex the v.—2. Hence (— 1935), a swindle.

wangle, v.t. To arrange to suit oneself; contrive or obtain with sly cunning, insidiously or illicitly; to manipulate, to 'fake': printers' s. (— 1888) >, before or by 1911, fairly gen.; in G.W., a very common soldiers' word; since G.W. very gen. indeed. Jacobi, 1888; esp. B. & P., Esp. wangle a job, wangling leave (of absence).—2. Hence as v.i.: 1920 (O.E.D. Sup.).—3. To persuade (one) to do something: 1926 (ibid.). Possibly ex dial. wangle, to shake, as W. suggests; perhaps (O.E.D.) ex waggle; in either case, perhaps influenced by wanky, q.v.

wangler. One who 'wangles' (see preceding): from ca. 1910. Edgar Wallace, in Private Selby, 1912, 'A wangler is . . . a nicker, a shirker, a grouser—any bloomin' thing that talks a lot an' don't do much work,' W.—2. Hence, from ca. 1915, a schemer (cf. wangle, n.).

wangling. The n. ex wangle, v. (q.v.): from ca. 1915. Cf. wangler.

wank. See wonk.

wanker. A bloater: Felsted School: 1892, The Felstedian, Oct.; ibid., June, 1897, 'He sniffs, 'eugh, wankers again.' Ex stinker (via stwanker).

wanky, wonky. Spurious, inferior, wrong, damaged or injured: printers' (— 1904) >, by 1914, gen. 'A wanky tanner = a snide (q.v.) sixpence,' F. & H. Prob. ex dial. wankle, unsteady, precarious; delicate in health; sickly. In East Anglian dial., wanky is 'feeble': E.D.D.—2. Hence, nervous, jumpy: Air Force: from 1915. F. & Gibbons.

wannegan. A store: Canadian: C. 20. John Beames. Ex a Red Indian word.

wa'n't; warnt (q.v.). Was not: coll. (1702, Vanbrugh) >, in mid-C. 19, low coll.; also dial. Via wasn't. want an apron. To be out of work: workmen's (— 1909); ob. Ware, 'The apron off'.

want doing, it will; it wants or wanted doing. It will, does, or did need doing: mid-C. 16–20: S.E. until late C. 19, then coll. 'Seton Merriman', 1898, 'Roden is a scoundrel . . . and wants thumping,' O.E.D.

want in; want out. To wish to enter; to wish to go out: from ca. 1840: coll. of Scotland, Northern Ireland, and U.S. Abbr. want to go in or out. (O.E.D.)

want it !, it's up there (with a tap on one's forehead) you ; or that's where you want it. You should use your brains ! : a lower-class and military c.p. : from ca. 1908. B. & P.

want-to-was(s)er, n. and adj. (An athlete or a pugilist) hopeful but past his prime : Canadian : C. 20. John Beames.

wanted. A wanted person (whether advertised for in the Situations Vacant, or sought by the police) : coll. : 1793, W. Roberts, 'I design to publish a list of Wanted, solely for the use of your Paper,' O.E.D. In the police sense, the adj. app. arises ca. 1810—Vaux has it ; the comparatively rare n., 1903 (O.E.D.)

wants his liver scraping ! Applied, as a c.p., to a superior in an evil temper : military : from 1914. B. & P.

wap. To copulate (gen. v.i.) : c. : C. 17—early 19. Rowlands, 1610 ; B.E. ; Grose, 1st ed. Ex wap (down), to throw (down) violently : cf. knock, to coit with (a woman). Whence, wappened, deflowered, wanton. Cf. wap-apace.—2. See whop, v.

wap-apace, mort. A woman experienced in copulation : c. : late C. 17—early 19. B.E., Grose. See wap and cf. the c.p. if she won't wap for a win, let her trine for a make, 'If she won't Lie with a Man for a Penny, let her Hang for a Half-penny,' B.E. : same period.

wap-John. A gentleman's coachman : sporting : ca. 1825—50. O.E.D. wapper. See whopper.—wapping. See whopping.

wapping-dell, -mort. A whore : c. : C. 17—18. Resp. Rowlands, Dekker. See wap.

waps(e), wops(e). A wasp : sol. and dial. : C. 18—20. Esp. in pl., owing to the difficulty of pronouncing wasps.

war. Was : (dial., prob. from C. 17) and sol. (C. 19—20). Baumann.

war !, (anyway,) it's winning the. A bitterly ironic military c.p. of the G.W., apropos of something disliked : 1915. F. & Gibbons.

war !, it's a great. An ironic military c.p. : G.W. (not before 1915).

war and strife. Rare for trouble and strife, q.v. (B. & P.)

war 'awks ! ; war orks ! ; warrocks ! ; worracks (-ocks) ! See warorks !

war-baby. An illegitimate born during the G.W. : late 1916 ; ob. Ex the S.E. sense, a child that is born, during a war, while its father is on active service.—2. A young soldier, esp. if a subaltern : military : 1917—18. F. & Gibbons.

war-caperer. A privateer : naval coll. : (?) C. 18—early 19. Bowen.

war-cry. A mixture of stout and mild ale : taverns' : 1882—ca. 86. Ware derives it from The War Cry, the periodical of the Salvation Army, which 'spoke stoutly and ever [?] used mild terms'.

war-hat or -pot. A spiked helmet : military (— 1904) ; ob. by 1915, † by 1918.

War House, the. The War Office : General Staff's and Generals' : 1915 ; ob. B. & P. war on !, there's a. A military c.p. = 'hurry up !' or palliating a refusal : 1915—18. F. & Gibbons. Occ. preceded by remember.

war-paint. One's best or official clothes, with jewels decorations, etc. : coll. : 1859, H. Kingsley, 'Old Lady E— in her war-paint and feathers', O.E.D. Ex lit. sense.—2. Hence, make-up : theatrical : late C. 19—20.

warbler. A singer that, for pay, liquor, or other benefit, goes to, and sings at meetings : low : from ca. 1820 ; ob.

warbling on the topmost bough, be left. To be left with one's stocks and shares and unable to sell them : jocular Stock Exchange (— 1923). Manchon.

ward-room joints as lower-deck hash. 'Officers' conversation or information which finds its way forward' : naval : C. 20. Bowen.

ware skins, quoth Grubber, when he flung the louse into the fire. A semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1670—1770. Ray, 1678 ; Fuller, 1732 (Grub for Grubber, skins for skins). Apperson.

warehouse. A fashionable pawn-shop : Society (— 1904) ; ob. Whence :

warehouse, v. To pawn (an article) : Society (— 1904) ; ob. Cf. n. Perhaps ex :—To put in prison : 1881, Punch, Feb. 12 (O.E.D.). Cf. jug, v.

warm. An act of warming, a becoming warm : mid-C. 18—20 : S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. Esp. in get or have a warm, give a warm.

warm, v. To thrash : s. (— 1811) and dial. (— 1824) >, by 1850, coll. Lex. Bal. ; 'Cuthbert Bede', 1853. Also warm one's jacket : cf. dust one's jacket.—2. Hence, to berate, 'call over the coals' : coll. : from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Cf. the semi-c.p. I'll warm yer, a vague Cockney threat.

warm, adj. Rich : from ca. 1570 : S.E. until late C. 18, then coll. Grose, 1st ed. Ex warm, comfortably established or settled. (O.E.D.).—2. Of an account or bill : exorbitant. Coll. : from ca. 1890 ; ob. Cf. hot.

warm as they make them. Sexually loose : coll. (— 1909). Ware. Cf. hot stuff and :

warm bit. Such a woman : low : 1880 ; slightly ob. Ware.

warm corner. 'A nook where birds are found in plenty', Ware, who by birds means harlots : sporting and Society (— 1909). Punning S.E. sense.

warm flannel. Mixed spirits served hot : public-house (— 1823) ; † by 1900. Cf. hot flannel.

warm member or 'un. A whore ; a whore-monger : low : mid-C. 19—20 ; ob. Ex warm, amorous, prone to sexual desire and practice.—2. (Only w. m.) A very energetic, pushful person : ca. 1895, Keep it Dark (a music-hall song), 'Dr Kenealy, that popular bloke, | That extremely warm member, the member for Stoke.'

warm shop or show. A brothel : low (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. hot stuff in its sexual sense.

warm-sided. (A ship, a fort) mounting heavy batteries : naval coll. (— 1904). F. & H. Because such a ship can supply a warm reception.

warm sun, out of God's blessing into the. See out of.

warm the wax of one's ear. To box a person's ear : low : ca. 1860—1915. H., 3rd ed. An elaboration of warm one's jacket (see warm, v.).

warm with, adj. and n. (Spirits) warmed with hot water and sweetened with sugar : coll. : 1840, T. A. Trollope (O.E.D.), the n. ; 1836, Dickens, the adj. Contrast cold without.

warmed-up corpse, feel like a. To feel half-dead : low (— 1923). Manchon.

warmer. A smart person : Glasgow (— 1934). Cf. hot, expert.

warming-pan. A female bed-fellow : from the Restoration ; ob. Esp. a Scotch warming-pan : see Scotch w.-p. D'Avenant, B.E., Grose.—2. A large, old-fashioned watch, properly of gold (a silver one being a frying-pan): late C. 17–20; very ob. B.E.; H., 3rd–5th edd. Ex size: cf. turnip.—3. A locum tenens, esp. among the clergy: from mid-1840's; slightly ob. The abbr. W.P. is rare for any person other than 'a clergyman holding a living under a bond of resignation', F. & H.: clerical (—1864). H., 3rd ed. Now only historical, the practice having been made illegal.

warming the bell. 'Having one's relief turned out early': nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. (The bell that sounds the hours.)

warnt. See wa'n't. But also = 'were not'.

warorks or warrocks!; war orks!; war 'awks! Ware hawks!, i.e. look out for yourself: sol.: mid-C. 19–20. Baumann.

warp. The criminal confederate who watches: c.: late C. 16–early 17. Greene. ? watch corrupted.

warrab. A barrow: back s. (—1859). H., 1st ed.

warrant officers' champagne. Rum and ginger-ale mixed: naval jocular coll.: C. 20. Bowen.

warrant you, I or I'll. I'll be bound: coll.: late C. 18–20.

warrantee. Guarantee: catachrestic: mid-C. 17–20; ob. (O.E.D.)

warren. A brothel; a boarding-school: c. > low s.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Jocular. Cf. cunny-warren, q.v.—2. 'He that is Security for Goods taken up, on Credit, by Extravagant young Gentlemen', B.E.: c.: C. 17–18. Dekker, B.E., Grose. By sense-perversion—or perhaps merely, as the O.E.D. holds, by misapprehension, of warren, a variant of warrant.

warrigal. A worthless man: Australian bush-slang (—1893). Ex Aboriginal for 'wild' (orig. 'a dog'). Morris.

warrocks! See warorks!

wars, have been in the. To show signs of injury, marks of ill or hard usage: coll.: 1850, Scoresby (O.E.D.). Ex a veteran soldier's scars.

wart. A youthful subaltern: 1894, 'J. S. Winter' (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1930, coll.—2. A naval cadet: naval: C. 20. Bowen.—3. An objectionable fellow: upper classes': from ca. 1919. Ex senses 1 and 2. Perhaps abbr. wart-hog.—4. The single star of a 2nd lieutenant: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons.

Warwicks. (At cards) sixes: Regular Army: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons. The Warwickshire Regiment used to be the 6th Foot.

Warwickshire Lads, the. The 6th Foot—after 1881, the Royal Warwickshire—Regiment: military: late C. 18–20; ob. F. & Gibbons. Partly ex the song, Ye Warwickshire Lads and Lasses.

was for were is a frequent sol.: cf. is for are. See esp. O.E.D. at be, p. 717, col. 2.

was-bird. A 'has-been': C. 20. Cf. never-waser.—2. Hence, an elderly man eager to enlist: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.)

wash. An act of 'washing': printers' (—1841). Cf. v., 2. O.E.D.—2. A fictitious sale of securities (by simple transference, therefore to the brokers' profit): Stock Exchange (—1891). The Century Dict. Cf. v., 3.—3. School tea or coffee: Durham School (—1904). Because of its weakness.—4. Nonsense; drivelling sentiment: from ca. 1905. Perhaps orig. Harrovian: witness Arnold Lunn, 1913; Georgette Heyer, Why Shoot a Butler, 1933, 'The Public School spirit, and Playing for the Side, and all that wash'. Prob. abbr. hog-wash on bilge and slush.—5. Garage s., from ca. 1920, as in Richard Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934, 'Hales went . . . through the workshop to the "wash", where finished jobs were left, ready for collection or delivery.'

wash, v. To bear testing or investigation; prove to be genuine: coll.: 1849, C. Brontë, 'That willn't wash, Miss,' O.E.D. 'As good fabrics and fast dyes stand the operation of washing', F. & H.—2. To punish, to 'rag' (a fellow workman for falsehood or misconduct) by banging type-cases on his desk, or (among tailors) by swearing and cursing loudly: printers' s. (—1841) >, by 1900, gen. craftsmen's. Savage's Dict. of Printing. Presumably ex the notion of purification. Among tailors, there is, in C. 20, a secondary nuance, gen. as vbl.n. washing, a reprimand by the 'boss' (as in The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928).—3. To do or practise 'wash' as in n., 2: Stock Exchange: as v.t., app. unrecorded before 1895, but as v.i. implied in the vbl.n. as in: 1870, Medbery, Men and Mysteries of Wall Street, 'Brokers had become fearful of forced quotations. Washing had become a constant trick before the panic, and bids were now closely scrutinised.' Perhaps ex one hand washes the other (O.E.D.); perhaps ex take in one another's washing. Cf.:

wash about, v.i. (Of stocks and shares) to be in (rapid) circulation: Stock Exchange coll. (—1923). Manchon.

wash-boards. White facings on the early uniforms: naval: late C. 19–early 20. Bowen.

wash-deck boatswain. 'A non-specialist warrant officer': naval: C. 20. Ibid.

wash-house ghost. Toasted bread: military: C. 20. B. & P.

wash one's face in an ale-clout. To take a glass of ale: coll.: ca. 1540–90. 'Proverbs' Heywood. Ex putting one's face far into the jug, etc.

wash one's or the head without soap. To scold a person: coll.: ca. 1580–1620. Barnaby Rich, 1581. Apperson.

wash one's ivories or neck. To drink: low: 1823, Moncrieff (ivories); neck (—1904). On the †wash one's brain, head, etc., to drink wine. Cf. sluice one's ivories (Punch, 1882) and sluice one's bolt, q.v.

wash-out. A failure (thing or person); a disappointment or 'sell'; a cancellation: used in the Boer War (J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902). Perhaps ex w.-o., a gap or hole caused by violent erosion, but much more prob. ex:—2. In shooting, a shot right off the target: military: app. from ca. 1850, if not earlier. Ex pointing out of shots on the old iron targets by the application of paint or, gen., some kind of wash.

wash-pot. A hat: universities': ca. 1880–1910. F. & H. Ex the shape.

wash-up. A scrubbing and sterilising of the hands before an operation: medical coll. (—1933). Slang, p. 193.

washed-out. (Severely) wounded: military (not very gen.): 1915; ob. G. H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.

washer-dona. A washerwoman: low London: from ca. 1860; ob. Ware.

washical. What do you call it?: illiterate: ca. 1550–1600 Still, Gammer Gurton's Needle. Perhaps ex what shall I call it?

washing, n. Ex wash, v., 2, 3: resp. 1825, 1870 (both earlier than v.).

washing the tiles, vbl.n. Pouring out the Mah Jong tiles: Mah Jong players': from late 1923; ob. (Agatha Christie, The Murder of Roger Ackroyd, 1926.)

*washman. A beggar with sham sores: c. of ca. 1550-80. Awdelay, 1561. Prob. because the sores will wash out.

wasn't. Was not: coll.: C. 17-20. Cf. isn't and won't.

wasp. A venereally diseased harlot: ca. 1785-1850. Grose, 2nd ed., '... Who like a wasp carries a sting in her tail.'

waste, cut to. 'To apportion (time) wastefully': sporting: 1863; very ob. Ex tailoring sense, 'to cut (cloth) in a wasteful manner'. O.E.D. waste, house of. 'A tavern or alehouse where idle people waste both their time and money', Grose, 1st ed.: literary coll.: ca. 1780-1850. Cf.:

waste-but. A publican: coll. (-1823); † by 1890. Egan's Grose.—2. An eating-house: jocular c. of ca. 1880-1915. Baumann.

waste of ready. Esp. gambling: Oxford University: ca. 1820-50. Egan's Grose. I.e. the ready, cash.

Wat; occ. wat. A hare: late C. 15-20: coll. till C. 19, then dial. A familiar use of the proper name: cf. Ned for a donkey.

*watch, his (her, my, etc.). Himself, etc.: c.: ca. 1530-1690. Copland, ca. 1530; Harman; Dekker. Cf. his nibs, watch and seals, and perhaps dial (face), for semantics.—2. Paddy's watch. See Paddywhack.

watch and seals. A sheep's head and pluck: low (-1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. But earlier as watch, chain and seals: 1811, Lex. Bal.

watch it!, I'd. Certainly not; I certainly won't!: low c.p. (-1923). Manchon.

watch out, v.i. To be on one's guard; to look out: U.S. coll. (1880's), anglicised ca. 1905; by 1930, S.E.—2. The n., as in keep a watch-out, dates from ca. 1910 and, though still coll., is not very gen.

watcher. 'A person set to watch a dress-lodger' (q.v.): low: from 1860's. Greenwood, The Seven Curses of London, 1869.—2. One spying for bribery: electioneering coll. (-1909). Ware.

watcher...? What do you...?: sol.: C. 19-20. Dorothy Sayers, Clouds of Witness, 1926, 'Watcher mean...?'

*watchmaker. Gen. pl. 'The idle and dissolute, who live in Calmet's-buildings, Oxford-street': c. (-1839); † by 1880. Brandon. Cf.:

*watchmaker (in a crowd). A thief that specialises in stealing watches: c.: mid-C. 19-20. H., 1st ed., watchmaker; 5th ed., w. in a crowd. Prob. ex preceding entry.

water. Boating, aquatics: Westminster School coll. (-1881). Pascoe, Our Public Schools.—2. Additional nominal capital created by 'watering' (see water, v., 2): U.S. coll. (1883) anglicised ca. 1885; by 1900, S.E. St James's Gazette, June 14, 1888.

water, v. To entertain freely, to 'treat': ca. 1740-60. (O.E.D.) Water costing nothing.—2. To increase (the nominal capital of a company) by the creation of shares that, though they rank for interest, carry no corresponding capital: U.S. coll. (1870) anglicised ca. 1880; by 1900, S.E. Occ. water up (1899). F. & H.; O.E.D. I.e. weaken by dilution.

water, between wind and. See shot between wind and water.—water, hot. See hot water.—water, over the. See over the water.

water, make a hole in the. To drown oneself suicidally: 1853, Dickens (O.E.D.).

water, the malt's above the. He is drunk: semi-proverbial c.p.: ca. 1670-1770. Apperson. Cf. the proverbial and equivalent the malt is above wheat with him (mid-C. 16-early 19).

water-barrel. See water-but. — water-box, -course, -gap, -gate. The female pudend: low: C. 19-20. Cf. water-engine, waterworks.

water bewitched. Very thin beer: coll. (-1678); ob. Ray. (Unholy influence at work.)—2. Hence, weak tea: coll.: C. 18-20. Swift; Grose; Dana.—3. Occ. of both (1699, T. Brown); † by 1800. O.E.D.—4. Occ. of punch (1785), occ. of coffee: dial. (-1825) and (as for broth) coll. In all four senses, occ. water damaged: C. 19-20 coll.; ob.

water-bobby. A water-policeman: lower classes' (-1887). Baumann.

water-bottle. A total abstainer: lower class urban (-1909). Ware. Cf. water-waggon, q.v.

water-bruiser, gen. rare old. A tough (and old, hard-working) shore-man: nautical (-1909). Ware.

water-but, occ. -barrel. The stomach: lower classes': late C. 19-20.

water-can, Jupiter Pluvius has got out (or put, or turned, on) his. A coll. c.p. for 'It is raining'; applied mostly to a heavy shower. From ca. 1870; ob.

water-carnival, the. 'Cleaning down a warship after coaling': naval: C. 20. Bowen.

water-cart, v.i. To weep: 1921, W. de Morgan (O.E.D. Sup.); ob. Ex the n.

water-cart, on the. An occ. variant of water-waggon, on the, q.v.

water-colours, wife in. See wife.—water-course. See water-box.

water-dog. A Norfolk dumpling: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.

water-dona. A washerwoman: low urban, esp. London (-1909). Ware. Also washer-dona, q.v.

water-engine. 'The urinary organs male or female', F. & H.: low: late C. 19-20.

water-funk. A person shy of water: schools': 1899, Kipling; now coll.

water-gap, -gate. See water-box.

water-grass. Water-cress: Anglo-Irish sol.: C. 18-20. O.E.D.

Water-Gunners, the. The Royal Marines: military: ca. 1870-1914. H., 5th ed. Because they are 'amphibious'.

water in one's shoes. A source of discomfort or annoyance: C. 18 coll. North, ca. 1740, 'They caressed his lordship... and talked about a time to dine with him; all which (as they say) was "water in his shoes".' Abbr. as welcome as water in one's shoes, very unwelcome: mid-C. 17-20: coll. till late C. 19, then dial. only. Apperson.

water-logged. Dead-drunk: coll. (-1923). Manchon.

water-mill. The female pudend: low (-1811). Lex. Bal.

water of life. Gin: from early 1820's; ob. Egan's Grose; H., 2nd ed. App. on Fr. eau-de-vie (brandy).

water one's horse at Highgate. See Highgate.—water one's nag. See nag.

water one's plants. To weep: jocular coll.: ca

1540–1880; in C. 19, dial. only. Udall; Lyly; Swift. On S.E. water one's eyes, to weep. (Apperson.)

water-pad. A thief operating on the water, esp. on the Thames: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose. The S.E. (nautical) variant is water-rat (Clark Russell).

water-scriger. 'A doctor who prescribes from inspecting the water of his patients', Grose, 3rd ed.: late C. 18–early 19. A scriger is presumably scrier (or scryer), one who (de)scries. Cf. † S.E. water-caster.

water-sneak, the. 'Robbing ships . . . on a . . . river or canal, . . . generally in the night': c. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux.—2. Hence, water-sneaks-man, such a thief: c. (–1823); † by 1900. Egan's Grose.

water the dragon. See dragon; cf. nag, water one's.—water up. See water, v., 2.

water-waggon, on the. Teetotal for the time being: U.S. (–1904), anglicised by 1908. From ca. 1915, often on the waggon.

Waterbury watch. Scotch: C. 20. P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Waters, the. The Naval Exhibition at South Kensington: coll.: ca. 1886–1910. Cf. the Colinderies and the Fisheries, qq.v.

Waterings, the 'Spital stands too nigh St Thomas à. Copious weeping sometimes produces an illness: proverbial c.p.: late C. 16–17. This place, near a brook used for watering horses, stood near London, and on the Canterbury road, and, as it was the Surrey execution-ground until the C. 17, the name is often employed allusively in C. 16–mid-17, as in Jonson, 1630, 'He may perhaps take a degree at Tyburn . . ., come to read a lecture | Upon Aquinas at St Thomas à Waterings, | And so go forth a laureat in hemp circle.'

waterloo (or W.). A halfpenny: London: ca. 1830–75. Ware. Ex the former toll (a halfpenny) paid to cross Waterloo Bridge.

Waterloo day. Pay-day: military: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. Balaclava day.

waterman; (not in 2, 3) watersman. A blue silk handkerchief: c. or low (–1839); very ob. Because worn (light or dark) by friends of Cambridge and Oxford at the time of the boat-race. Brandon.—2. An artist in water-colours: 1888 (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1920, coll.—3. One possessing (expert) knowledge of boating: coll.: 1912 (O.E.D.). waters. Paintings in water-colour: coll.: 1909, The Daily Chronicle, June 4 (O.E.D.).

waters, watch one's. 'To keep a strict watch on any one's actions', Grose, 3rd ed.: coll.: late C. 18–early 19. Ex urinospection.

water's man, watersman. See waterman, 1.

waterworks. The urinary organs: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob.—2. waterworks, turn on the. To weep: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex jocular S.E. waterworks, tears. Cf. watery-headed.—3. (the waterworks.) Rain: 1931, Dorothy Sayers, The Five Red Herrings, 1931, 'You'd think they turned on the water-works yesterday on purpose to spoil my sketching-party.'

watery-headed. 'Apt to shed tears', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1890.

waun(d)s! An illiterate form of wounds!: C. 17–18. (O.E.D.)

wave a flag of defiance. To be drunk: low: ca. 1870–1915.

wavy (or W.) Bill. A R.N.V.R. officer in a ship for training: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Cf. wavy navy.

wavy in the syls. 'Imperfect in one's lines': theatrical (–1904); ob. F. & H. Lit., unsteady in one's syllables (cf. syl-slinger, q.v.).

wavy navy, the. The Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve: C. 20. Bowen, 'Seldom heard afloat'.

wavy rule, make. To be rolling-drunk: printers': from ca. 1880. Ex the rule or line that waves thus: ~~~~~.

wax. A rage; esp. be in a wax: 1854, 'Canthbert Bede', 'I used to rush out in a fearful state of wax', O.E.D. ? ex waxy, q.v., or, as W. suggests, 'evolved ex archaic to wax wroth'.

wax, close as. Extremely mean or secretive: 1772, Cumberland (O.E.D.): coll. >, by 1850, S.E. Because impermeable to water and perhaps because sticky.

wax, lad or man of. See lad of wax.

wax, my cock of. A shoemakers' term of address (–1823); ob. 'Jon Bee.'

wax, nose of; gen. have a, to be very impressionable: London (–1823); † by 1900. 'Jon Bee.'

wax-pot. A person apt to be 'waxy' (q.v.): coll. (–1923). Manchon. Ex wax, q.v., or fuss-pot.

waxed, be (well). To be (well)known: tailors': from ca. 1870. 'So-and-so has been well waxed, i.e. We know all about him,' F. & H.

waxed, have (a person). A military variant (G.W. and after) of have someone cold (F. & Gibbons.) And Cockney: E. Pugh, 1906. Ex the preceding.

waxiness; waxy. Angriness, proneness to rage; angry: resp. (–)1904 and 1853, Dickens. Although waxy is recorded earlier than wax, the latter may have arisen the earlier; yet, semantically, the transition from lit. waxy to fig. waxy is not difficult: cf. sticky, adj.—2. waxy is also a nickname (ob. in C. 20) for a cobbler: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.). Ex his frequent use of wax.—3. A saddler: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

waxy-homey. An actor that blacks up with burnt cork; a 'nigger-minstrel': theatrical: C. 20. The homey = a man.

'way. Away: coll. (U.S., 1866,) anglicised late in C. 19. Esp. in 'way back.

way, be up her. To be in coitu with a woman: low: late C. 19–20. Always in an innuendo: punning neighbourhood.

way, in a. In a state of vexation, anxiety, distress: dial. and coll.: mid-C. 19–20. (O.E.D.)

way, in a kind or sort of. A modifying tag: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

way, in the (e.g. fish). Engaged in (e.g. the fish-trade): lower classes' coll.: late C. 19–20; slightly ob. Manchon. 'He's in the grocery way.' Now, way is gen. replaced by line.

way, pretty Fanny's. See pretty Fanny's way.

way, that; gen. a little, or rather, that way. 'Approximating to that condition': coll.: mid-C. 17–20. Dickens, 1837, "'I'm afraid you're wet.'" "Yes, I am a little that way", O.E.D. Cf.:

way, the other; gen. all, quite, very much the other way. Diverging from a stated condition: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Trollope, 1858, 'They are patterns of excellence. I am all the other way,' O.E.D. Cf. way, that.

way down, all the. See all . . .

way for, be out of the. To be in hiding from police wishing to arrest one for (such and such an offence): c. (–1812); ob. Vaux.

way of, (being, doing, etc.), by. In the habit of, giving oneself out as, having a reputation for, or making an attempt (esp. if persistent or habitual) at (being or doing something): coll.: 1824, Miss Ferrier, 'The Colonel was by way of introducing him into the fashionable circles'; 1891, The Saturday Review, July 18, concerning by way of being, '... And this with an implied disclaimer of precise knowledge or warranty on the speaker's part.' O.E.D.—2. In C. 20, the phrase is often used almost as if = as it were, 'in a sort of way'; and, in post-War days, is (or are, etc.) by way of being is, only too often, a careless or an affected synonym of is or are (etc.).

way of all flesh, (gone the). Dead: lower and lower-middle classes' coll. (— 1909). Ware. Contrast with the S.E. sense—as in 'Erewhon' Butler's novel.

way of life, the. Prostitution: low London (— 1823); ob. 'Jon Bee.'

ways about it (or that), no two. (There can be) no doubt of it: U.S. coll. (1818: Thornton) Anglicised ca. 1840; by 1880, S.E.

ways for Sunday, look both or nine or two. See look... wazz; wozz, v.i. and v.t. To accompany (another messenger) unofficially on delivery: Post Office telegraph-messengers' (— 1935). Perhaps ex wangle: cf. swiz ex swindle.

Waz(z)a or, loosely, Wazzer, the battles of the. Two Australian brushes with the police, 1915, in the Wazza, a low, native quarter of Cairo: Australian military: 1915; ob. B. & P.

we. Us: C. 16–20: S.E. until C. 18, then sol.

we do see life! A C. 20 c.p., with which cf. this is the life. Adopted, in 1931, as a title by the Rev. Desmond Morse-Boycott. Often we ain't got much money but...

we had one and (or but) the wheel came off. A military c.p. (C. 20) expressive of feigned helpfulness or droll regret or 'gamin' comment on words not understood.

we uns. We: low coll.: late C. 19–20. Orig. U.S.; cf. you uns.

weak brother, sister. An unreliable person: religious s.: mid-C. 19–20.

weak in the arm, (it's). A public-house c.p. (— 1909; ob.) applied to a 'half-pint drawn in a pint pot'. Ware.

weaken I, it's a great life if you don't. A military c.p. of 1915–18.

weanie, -y. See weeny. (Influenced by dial. weanie, a very young child.)

wear. To tolerate, put up with: Regular Army: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

wear a revolver-pocket. To carry a revolver: low: ca. 1880–1914. Ware.

wear a straw in her ear. See straw in her ear.

wear-arse. A one-horse chaise: ca. 1785–1830. Grose, 2nd ed. Ex jolting.

wear it. To be under 'the stigma of having turned a nose', Egan's Grose: c. of ca. 1820–50. Ex:

wear it upon. To inform against, try to best (a person): c.: ca. 1810–50. Vaux. It is the nose: for semantics, cf. nose, a spy.

wear the bands. To be hungry: low s.: ca. 1810–40. Vaux.

wear the broad arrow. To be a convict: c. (— 1909). Ware.

wear the head large. To have a headache from alcoholic excess: lower-middle class (— 1909). Ware.

wear the leek. To be Welsh: lower and lower-middle classes' (— 1909): coll. rather than s. Ware.

weary. Drunk: proletarian: ca. 1870–1920. Cf. dial. weary, sickly, feeble. (Curiously enough, the Old High Ger. wuorag, drunk, is cognate with A.-S. werig. W.)

weary Willie. A long-range shell passing high overhead and, app., slowly: military: 1915–18. F. & Gibbons.

weasel, be bit by a barn. To be drunk: ea. 1670–1700. Head.

Weasel, the. Robert Cecil, Earl of Salisbury (1563–1612). James I called him the Little Beagle. Dawson.

weather, go up the; go down the wind. To prosper; to fare ill, be unfortunate: coll.: resp. early C. 17 and C. 17–20; in mid-C. 19–20, dial. only. Breton, both; Pepys; Berthelson, 1754; Scott, 1827. Also, go down the weather, to become bankrupt: C. 17. O.E.D. and Apperson.

weather-breeder. A fine, bright day: nautical (— 1887). Baumann.

weather-lorist. A meteorologist: joeular (— 1923). Manchon.

weather-peeper. (One's) best eye; a good lookout: nautical (— 1909). Ware. Cf. S.E. keep one's weather-eye open.

weather-scupper. 'It is an old joke at sea', writes Clark Russell, in 1883, 'to advise a greenhorn to get a handspike and hold it down hard in the weather-scupper to steady the ship's wild motions.' Coll.; slightly ob.

weaver's bullock. A sprat: East-Londoners (— 1880); ob. E.D.D. Cf. two-eyed steak, q.v.

weaving. 'A notorious card-sharping trick, done by keeping certain cards on the knee, or between the knee and the underside of the table, and using them when required by changing them for the cards held in the hand', H., 3rd ed.: 1803 (O.E.D.); prob. c. > gaming s.

weaving leather aprons. An evasive c.p. reply to an inquiry as to what one has been doing lately: low (— 1864). H., 3rd ed., 'See newspaper reports of the trial for the gold robberies on the South-Western Railway.' (Similarly, to an inquiry as to one's vocation, I'm a doll's-eye weaver: low (— 1874). H., 5th ed.) Equivalent c.p. replies are making a trundle for a goose's eye or a whim-wham to bridle a goose: low (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.

weazling. The act of depriving a comrade of his tip: low (— 1923). Manchon. Ex that pleasant creature, the weasel.

web-foot. (Pl. web-feet.) A dweller in the Fens: coll. nickname: from ca. 1760; very ob. (O.E.D.) webs. (A sailor's) feet: naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Cf. the preceding.

wedding. The 'emptying a necessary house': London (— 1785); † by 1850. Grose, 1st ed.

wedding, you have been to an Irish. A c.p. addressed to one who has a black eye: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 2nd ed., '... Where black eyes are given instead of favours'.

wedge. Silver, whether money or plate, but mostly the latter; hence, occ., money in general: c. (— 1725). A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 2nd ed., 'Wedge. Silver plate, because melted by the receivers of stolen goods into wedges': H.

1st-5th edd.—2. the wedge, the last student in the classical tripos list: Cambridge University (— 1852): coll. > j. Also the wooden wedge. On wooden spoon, the last man in the mathematical tripos, + T. H. Wedgwood, who, last in the classical tripos in 1824, was to be a famous etymologist. O.E.D., F. & H.—3. A Jew: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Lit., wej.

wedge, flash the. To 'fence the swag', to deposit stolen goods with a receiver: c.: mid-C. 19–20. See wedge, 1.

*wedge-bobb. The same as wedge-lobb, q.v. 'Ducange Anglicus': but w.-bobb I suspect to be a misprint.

*wedge-feeder. A silver spoon: c. (— 1812). Vaux. See wedge, 1. Cf.:

*wedge-hunter. A thief specialising in silver plate and watches: c.: mid-C. 19–20. F. & H. See wedge, 1.

*wedge-lobb. A silver snuff-box: c. (— 1812). Vaux. See wedge, 1. Cf.:

*wedge-yack. A silver watch: c.: mid-C. 19–20; slightly ob. Ex wedge, 1.

Wee Free Kirk, the. The Free Church of Scotland minority after the majority, in 1900, joined with the U.P. Church to constitute the United Free Church. Hence, from 1904, Wee Frees and, from 1905, Wee Kirkers, the members of that minority. Coll. nicknames. O.E.D.

wee-jee; wejee. A chimney-pot: ca. 1864–90. H., 3rd ed. Etymology obscure; the word may be a perversion of weeze, a gag, though this origin fits only sense 3, which is perhaps the earliest.—2. Hence, a (chimney-pot) hat: late C. 19–early 20: lower classes', as are senses 1 and 3.—3. Anything extremely good of its kind; esp. a clever invention: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.—4. Hence, a hand pump: N.E. Coast colliers': late C. 19–20, Bowen.

Wee-Wee. See Wi-Wi.

wee-wee. A urination; esp. do a wee-wee: nursery coll.: late C. 19–20. Perhaps ex water on pee.—2. Also, in C. 20, as v.i.

weed. A cigar, a cheroot: coll.: 1847, Albert Smith (O.E.D.). Ex weed, tobacco.—2. A hat-band: low (— 1864); † by 1920. Perhaps ex the vague resemblance of its shape to that of a large cigar.—3. A leggy, ill-compacted, and otherwise inferior horse: 1845 (O.E.D.); Lever, 1859. Perhaps ex weedy, 1, q.v.—4. Hence, a thin, delicate, weak and soon-tiring person: 1869, A. L. Smith (O.E.D.).

*weed, v. To pilfer or steal part of, or a small amount from: c. (— 1811); slightly ob. Lex. Bal. Vaux. Hence, weed a lob, steal small sums from a till; weed a swag, to abstract part of the spoils unknown to one's pals and before the division of that spoil: both in Vaux. Ex weed, to remove the weeds from. Cf.:

*weeding dues are concerned. An underworld c.p. (ca. 1810–80) used when a process of 'weeding' (see weed, v.) has been applied. Vaux.

weedy. (Of horses, dogs) lank, leggy, loose-limbed, weak and spiritless: coll.: 1800, The Sporting Magazine; 1854, Surtees, 'He rode a weedy chestnut,' O.E.D. Lit., like a weed.—2. Hence (of persons), lanky and anaemic; weakly: coll.: 1852, Surtees (O.E.D.).

week, inside of a. From Monday to Saturday: coll.: C. 19–20.

week, knock into the middle of next. To knock out (lit. or fig.) completely: pugilistic s. (1821, Moncrieff) >, by 1900, gen. coll. O.E.D.

week, parson's. See parson's week.

week, when two Sundays come in a; also (in) the week of four Fridays. Never: coll.: C. 19–20; mid-C. 18–early 19. H. Brooke, 1760 (O.E.D.).

week-ender. A week-end mistress: from 1880's: coll. Ex lit. sense.—2. A week-end holiday: likewise low coll.: from ca. 1895. Oxford -er.

weekly-accompts. The small square white patches on the front, to right and left, of a middy's collar: ca. 1815–70. Vaux, 1819 (O.E.D.); Bowen. Now mark of the beast, q.v.

week's (or month's) end, an attack of the. Lack of funds, according as one is paid one's wages or salary every week or every month: jocular coll.: ca. 1890–1915. F. & H.

wee'l, weele, wee'll. See we'll.

weelikies. Sausages: Glasgow (— 1934).

weenie, weeny; weany (rare) and weny (C. 18 dial. only). Tiny: dial. (— 1790) >, by 1830, coll. Ex wee on teeny.—2. (Rarely other than weenie /) A telegraph clerks' warning that an inspector is coming: C. 20. F. & H., 1904. ? ex warning.

weep Irish. To shed crocodile tears; feign sorrow: coll.: late C. 16–mid-18. Fuller, 1650; Mrs Centlivre. Ex the copious lamentations of the Irish at a keening. Apperson.

weeper. (Gen. pl.) A long and flowing side-whisker, such as was 'sported' by 'Lord Dundreary' in the play Our American Cousin: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex Dundreary weepers (1859), later Piccadilly weepers. E. A. Sothorn played the leading part; in 1858, the piece was hardly a success; in 1859–60, it was the rage.—2. (Gen. pl.) An eye: late C. 19–20. Cf. peeper.—3. A sentimental problem-novel: 'journalists': from ca. 1925. Neil Bell, Winding Road, 1934.

Weeping Cross (or weeping cross), return (home) or, more gen., come home by. To fail badly; be grievously disappointed: from early 1560's; ob. Bullein (1564), Gosson, Lyly, playwright Heywood, Grose, Spurgeon, William Morris (1884). Ex a place-name employed allusively. Nares, F. & H., O.E.D., Apperson.

weeping willow. A pillow: rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. F. & Gibbons.

weeze. See wheeze, n., 5; weezy, see wheezy, adj.

Weg. Gladstone: political nickname: 1885–6. Ware. Ex his initials and 'given in memory of Mr Wegg ([Dickens's] Our Mutual Friend), who was a great sayer of words': o tempora, o oratores!

*weigh. See weight, let him . . .

weigh, under. Under way: erroneous: from ca. 1780. Ex weigh anchor. (O.E.D.)

*weigh forty. See weight, let him alone . . .

weigh in. To start; in imperative, go ahead!: sporting: late C. 19–20. (P. G. Wodehouse, The Pothunters, 1902.) Cf.:

weigh in with. To produce (something additional), introduce (something extra or unexpected): coll.: 1885, The Daily News, Nov., 'The journal "weighs in" with a prismatic Christmas number,' Ware. Ex a jockey weighing in, being weighed before a race.—2. Hence, weigh in, v.i. to appear (on the scene): sporting coll.: from ca. 1920.—3. To 'stump up' or 'fork out': low (— 1923). Manchon.

*weigh out. To give in full (one's share): c.: late C. 19–20. Ware cites The People, Jan. 6, 1895, and derives the term from 'the distribution of stolen plate melted down to avoid identification'.

weigh up. To appraise: coll.: 1894 (O.E.D.). Cf. weigh, to consider.

weighed off, be. 'To be brought up before an officer and punished': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

weighing the thumb, n. 'Cheating in weight by sticking down the scale with the thumb': low (— 1896). Ware.

weight, (a bit) above one's. (A little) beyond one's class, too expensive, fashionable, highbrow, or difficult: coll., orig. (ca. 1910) racing. Ex a horse's handicap of weight.

weight, let him alone till he weighs his. A police e.p. to the effect that a criminal is not yet worth arresting, for his offences are so small that no reward attaches to them, whereas a capital crime will produce a big reward: ca. 1810–40. Vaux, who notes that weigh forty (of a criminal) is to carry a £40 reward for capture.

weight about, throw one's. To boast, swagger, unduly stress one's authority: military: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons. Prob. ex boxing or circus.

weird (frequently, by the way, misspelt wierd). Odd; unusual; wonderful: from the middle 1920's, and mostly upper classes'.

Welch, welcher, welching. For these three terms see Welsh.—welcome, and. See and welcome.—welcome as water in one's shoes. See water in . . . Cf. S.E. welcome as snow in harvest and contrast welcome as the eighteen trumpeters, very welcome indeed: coll.: ca. 1610–40. Apperson.

we'll; wee'l(l). We will: coll.: resp. C. 17–20; late C. 16–17. In late C. 16–early 17, oec. weele, we'le, wele. O.E.D.

well. To pocket: low (— 1860); virtually †. H., 2nd ed.; id., 5th ed., 'Any one of fair income and miserly habits is said to "well it"'. Lit., to put as into a well: cf. put down South. But imm. ex, 2, c. well, to put (money) in the bank: 1845, in 'No. 747'. Ex:—3. well = put in the well, q.v.: c.: from ca. 1810; slightly ob. Lex. Bal. (In late C. 19–20, low s.) well, adj. Satisfactory, very good, capital: Society coll.: ca. 1860–1900. Ware.

well, put (one) in the garden or the. To defraud (an accomplice) of part of the booty forming his share: e. (— 1812); ob. Vaux. Cf. preceding entry. A variant is put (one) in a hole. A person down a well is at a disadvantage.—2. Hence, to inconvenience or get the better of: mid-C. 19–20; ob. (except . . . hole).

well away, be. To be rather drunk: coll.: C. 20. Lyell.—2. To prosper, be doing splendidly: coll.: from ca. 1912. 'He's well away with that girl.' Orig. sporting: ex a horse that has, from the start, got well away.

well down in the pickle. (Of a ship) heavily loaded: sailing ships' coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. The pickle is 'the briny'.

well-gone. Much in love; fatally or very severely wounded: New Zealand coll.: resp. from ca. 1913 and from ca. 1915.

well fucked and far from home. See Barney's bull.

well hove! Well played!; well done!: proletarian coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

well-hung. (Of a man) large of genitals: low (— 1823); ob. Egan's Grose.

well in. An Australian variant of well off, well to do: 1891, 'Rolf Boldrewood': coll. >, by 1910. S.E.

well-to-do's, the. Those who are well-to-do: coll.: C. 20. The equivalent S.E. is the well-to-do.

well-sinking. Making money: Anglo-Indian: late C. 18–20; ob. Ware. Ex excavating for treasure.

well to live, be. To be rather drunk: coll.: ca. 1610–1700; then dial. Ray, 1678. Ex well to live (in the world), prosperous.

well under. Drunk: Australian: from ca. 1916. Prob. an abbr. of well under water.

'well, well,' quoth she, 'many wells, many buckets.' A proverb-c.p. of C. 16 (Heywood, 1546) that may have suggested the C. 20 catch, "Have you heard the story of the three wells?" "No; what is it?" "Well, well, well!"

well, you said you could do it! A c.p. reply to a 'grouse': Army officers': G.W., and after.

welly. Almost: C. 17–20: coll. till C. 18, then dial. Ex well nigh. O.E.D.

Welsh, welsher, welshing; in C. 19, often -ch-. To swindle (one) out of the money he has laid as a bet (orig. and properly at a race-course); he who does this; the doing: racing s. >, ca. 1880, coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.: resp. 1857, 1860, 1857 (O.E.D.). Perhaps ex the old nursery-rhyme, Taffy was a Welshman, Taffy was a thief: W.; my Words!

Welsh bait. A foodless, drinkless rest given a horse at the top of a hill: coll.: C. 17–20; very ob. T. Powell, 1603 (O.E.D.). Ex bait, food. For pejorative Welsh, see Words! at 'Offensive Nationality'.

Welsh Camp. The late C. 17–early 18 nickname for a field between Lamb's Conduit and Gray's Inn Lane, where, late in C. 17, 'the Mob got together in great numbers, doing great mischief', B.E.

Welsh comb. The thumb and four fingers: coll. or s.: ca. 1785–1840. Grose, 2nd ed. Contrast Jew's harp.

Welsh cricket. A louse: late C. 16–early 17. Greene.—2. A tailor: † C. 17. F. & H. Prob. via prick-louse (a tailor), q.v.

Welsh ejectment. By unroofing the tenant's house: ca. 1810–50. Lex. Bal.

Welsh fiddle. The itch: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Also Scotch fiddle, q.v. Cf. the synonymous dial. Welshman's hug (E.D.D.).

Welsh goat. A Welshman: nickname: mid-C. 18–mid-19. Lord Hailes, 1770.

Welsh mile, long and narrow,—like a. Either thus or as like . . . mile, applied to anything so shaped: coll.: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 2nd ed. Ex Welsh mile, a mile unconscionably long: cf. the equally S.E. Welsh acre.

Welsh Navy. Holt's Blue Funnel Line: nautical: C. 20. Bowen. Ex its numerous executive officers from Wales.

Welsh parsley. Hemp; a halter: coll. or s.: ca. 1620–50. Fletcher. O.E.D.

Welsh rabbit. This dish, incorrectly spelt W. rarebit (Grose, 1785), is recorded by that eccentric poet John Byrom (O.E.D.) in 1725: orig. coll., it had, by 1820, > S.E. Even in C. 18 (see Grose) the Welsh were reputed to be fervid cheese-fanciers. For semantics, cf. Somabay duck, q.v.

Welshman's hose, turn (something) like a; make a W. h. of; make like a W. h. To suit the meaning of (a word, etc.) to one's purposes: coll.: ca. 1620–1600. Skelton.

welsher. See Welsh.

Welshie, -hy. Nickname for a Welsh person: coll.: C. 19–20. Ex adj.

welt. Only in B.E.'s 'rum-boozing-Welts, bunches of Grapes': lato C. 17–18 c. The phrase, lit., = excellent drinking bunches (or, perhaps, grape-bunches).—2. A blow: coll.: late C. 19–20. C. J. Dennis. Ex the S.E. welt, to flog.

welter. Anything unusually big or heavy of its kind: dial. (— 1865) >, by ca. 1890, coll. Kipling, 1899, 'He gave us eight cuts apiece—welters—for—taken' unheard-of liberties with a new master.' O.E.D., F. & H. Ex welt, to thrash.

wench, from Old English wencel, a child, is facetious and university-witted where once it was serious but used only in addressing an inferior (as in Shakespeare's The Tempest, 'Well demanded, wench') and where, orig., it meant simply a girl: the facetious usage is coll., whereas the other two are S.E. A similar degradation of words is seen in damsel and the French maitresse, amie, and fille.

we'n't. Will not: coll.: C. 18. Shebbeare, 1754 (O.E.D.). Cf. willn't, won't.

went. Gone: sol.: C. 19–20 (? earlier). Prob. unrelated to went, p.ppl. of wend.

were. Was: sol.: C. 17 (? earlier)—20. Cf. are for is and the quotation at which, 3.

weren't. Were not: coll.: C. 17–20. Cf. aren't, isn't, wasn't, won't.

wesket, weskit. A waistcoat: coll. bordering on sol.: C. 19 (? earlier)—20.

west, go. See go west.

west-central or West Central. A water-closet: London (— 1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex W.C., the London district, and w.-c., a water-closet.

Western Ocean relief. 'An overdue relief at the end of a watch': nautical: C. 20. Bowen. In sailors' j., the Western Ocean = the Atlantic.

Westerns. Shares in the Great Western Railway: Stock Exchange coll. (— 1895). A. J. Wilson's glossary.

Westminster brougham. See Whitechapel brougham.

Westminster wedding. 'A Whore and a Rogue Married together', B.E.: low London: late C. 17—early 19. Prob. ex the late C. 16—early 19 proverb, Who goes to Westminster for a wife, to Paul's for a man, or to Smithfield for a horse, may meet with a whore, a knave and a jade (Apperson).

Westminster Palace of Varieties. The Admiralty: sea-going naval officers': C. 20. Bowen.

[Westminster School slang. In his interesting Westminster, 1902, Reginald Airy discourses thus:—'Westminster has a fairly large repertoire of words and phrases peculiar to the school. In the first place, a Westminster never goes "to" a part of the school, but always "up" or "down". Thus a boy will talk of going "up-fields", "down-school", etc. Nor does he use the preposition "in": e.g. he leaves his books "down" college. To be "out of school" is to be ill. "Up-school" also serves as a name for "detention". [All these uses are rather j. than either s. or coll.] The college servant is in all cases "John"—a name now applied to any school servant. A "ski" [q.v.] is the word for a cad . . . To work is to "muzz"—a "muzz" being one who works hard, corresponding, even in the delicate opprobrium underlying the name, to the Eton "sap". A "greeze" is a scrum or crowd, and compulsory games are known as "station" [ex stationary]. In many cases words are shortened: e.g. the Debating Society is Deb. Soc., etc. A boy is "tanned" by a monitor, but "handed" by the headmaster. A half-holiday is "late play", a whole holiday "a play". [Both these terms are j.] . . . [At Grant's] a study is known as a "Chiswick". Several words are peculiar to college: milk is known as "bag", sugar as "beggar": a new gown is a "bosky", and the pendent sleeve of a gown a "bully", while any coat other than an "Eton" or a "tails" is a "shag". When the monitors meet to interview a culprit, they hold a "case" [ex the legal term]. An inkpot was until lately known as a "dip" . . . : a novel is "a blue-book". The monitors in college are Mon. Cham. (short for Monitor of Chambers and pronounced Monsham), Mon. Stat. (Monitor of Station), and Mon. Schol. (Monitor of School). [These three terms are j.] . . . For other words, a ball is called a "blick", prize compositions are sent up on "principe" paper, while ordinary foolscap sheets are called "quarterns"; the second and the third of these terms are j.—Cf. the entries at 'Eton', 'Harrow', 'Winchester'.]

Westo. A Devon or Cornish ship or seaman: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex West Country.

Weston !,—my oath, Miss. See my oath, Miss Weston !

Westphalia. The backside: trade (— 1904); ob. Ex Westphalia hams.

westward for smelts. See smelts.

wet; occ. whet (Ned Ward). Liquor: late C. 19–20. Ex heavy wet, q.v., or next sense.—2. A drink: coll.: 1703, Steele; 1879, Brunlees Patterson, Life in the Ranks, 'Many are the . . . devices . . . to obtain a wet or reviver, first thing in the morning'.—3. A dull, stupid, futile or incompetent person: from ca. 1930. (D. L. Murray, The English Family Robinson, 1933.) See wet, adj., last sense.

wet, v.t. See wet the other eye and whistle, wet one's.—2. V.i., drink a glass of liquor: coll.: ca. 1780–1910. O.E.D. (Sup.).

wet, adj. Showing the influence, or characteristic, of drink; connected with liquor: coll.: 1592, Nashe; 1805, wet bargain; 1848, Thackeray, 'A wet night', a frequent phrase. O.E.D.; F. & H., where also wet goods, liquor, and wet hand or wet 'un, a toper,—both of late C. 19–20.—2. Hence, having drunk liquor; somewhat intoxicated: coll.: 1704, Prior; 1834, Coleridge, 'Some men are like musical glasses;—to produce their finest tones, you must keep them wet,' O.E.D. Perhaps ex:—3. Prone to drink too much: coll.: from 1690's. B.E., Grose. Cf. wet, n., 2.—4. (Of a Quaker) not very strict: 1700, T. Brown. Hence, of other denominations: likewise coll.: from ca. 1830; ob. Perhaps suggested by Grose's (2nd ed.) wet parson, a parson given to liquor; indeed, this sense links with sense 3, for B.E. has 'Wet-Quaker, a Drunkard of that Sect'.—5. 'Of women when secreting letch-water': low coll.: mid-C. 18 (? earlier)—20. 'Burlesque Homer' Bridges, addressing cheap or inferior harlots, 'Or else in midnight cellars ply | For twopence wet and twopence dry'. Cf. wet bottom.—6. See wet, get.—7. 'Soft', silly, dull, stupid, 'dud': C. 20; unheard by me before 1928, except in talk wet, q.v. Anon., Dict. of Bootham Slang, 1925; Bowen. Perhaps ex sense 2; perhaps ex wet goose, q.v. (Rarely of things, occ. of occasions.) wet, all. All wrong; esp. 'You're all wet'; New Zealanders' (— 1934).

wet, get. 'To become incensed, ill-tempered .

C. J. Dennis: Australian (— 1916). Perhaps wet, adj., 1 and 2.

wet, heavy. Malt liquor: 1821, Egan, 'Tossing off the heavy wet and spirits', O.E.D. Cf. wet, n., 1, and wet, twopenny.

wet, — is. Thus 'Coffee is wet', i.e. something to drink, 'a drink, anyway!': coll. c.p. (— 1923). Manchon.

wet, talk. See talk wet in the Addenda.

wet, twopenny. A drink costing twopenny: C. 19—early 20. See wet, n., 2.

wet a line. To go fishing: anglers' coll. (— 1909). Ware.

wet all her self, to have. Of a Grand Banks fishing schooner 'when she has filled up with fish, used all the salt . . . brought out, and turns for home': fishermen's coll.: late C. 19—20. Bowen.

wet as a shag. See shag, wet as a.

wet-bed. One who, esp. while asleep, wets his bed: coll.: C. 20. (James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934.)

wet behind the ears. Ignorant, untrained, inexperienced; youthful: military: C. 20. B. & P. A boy seldom dries himself behind the ears.

wet bob. See bob.

wet bottom, get a; do a wet 'un; do, have or perform a bottom-wetter. (Of women) to have sexual intercourse: low coll., s., s.: C. 19—20. Cf.:

wet dream. An amorous dream accompanied by sexual emission: coll.: C. 19—20,—and prob. from at least a century earlier.

wet goose. A poor simple fellow: rural: mid-C. 19—20. Cf. wet, adj., 6.

wet hand. A drunkard: coll. (— 1904). F. & H.; Manchon. See wet, adj., 1.

wet one's mouth, weasand, or, gen., whistle. See whistle, n.

wet Quaker. 'A man who pretends to be religious, and is a dram drinker on the sly', H., 2nd ed.: ca. 1860—1910. Ex wet, adj., 3, 4, qq.v.

wet the (or one's) neck. To be a drunkard: low: ca. 1820—50. Egan's Grose.

wet the other (1745) or t'other (1840) eye. To take one glass of liquor after another: s. >, by 1850, coll.; ob. O.E.D. for dates.

wet-thee-through. Gin: low: ca. 1820—60. Egan's Grose.

wet triangle, the. The North Sea: political coll.: from ca. 1905; ob. Collinson.

wet 'un. See wet, adj., 1, and wet bottom.—2. A diseased beast: slaughterers' (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Cf. wet, adj., 6, and wet goose, qq.v.—2. (Gen. pl.) A tear (lacrima): low: from ca. 1870; ob. Ware.

wetter. A wetting, soaking, by rain: coll.: 1884 (not '85), D. Sladen (O.E.D.).—2. A 'wet dream' (q.v.): low (— 1923). Manchon.

we've. We have: coll.: mid-C. 18—20. Cf. I've, you've, they've.

Wewi. See Wi-Wi.

whack; in C. 19, occ. wack. A heavy, smart, resounding blow: from 1730's: dial. >, ca. 1830, coll. Barham, Mayhew. Prob. echoic. (O.E.D.)—2. Hence, its sound: coll.: mid-C. 19—20. Thackeray (O.E.D.).—3. A (full) share: c. (— 1785) >, by 1800, s. >, by 1880, coll. Grose, 1st ed. Esp. in take (1830), get or have one's whack, and in go whacks (— 1874). ? ex the sound of the physical division of booty.—4. Hence, fig.: mid-C. 19—20. Walch, 1890, 'My word! he did more than his whack'.—5. See whack-up, n.—6. See whack at.—7. Anxiety; dilemma: from ca. 1925.

David Frome, That's Your Man, Inspector, 1934, 'I was in a frightful whack . . . I thought I was blotto'.—8. Hence, a rage; a bad state of nerves: from ca. 1925. David Frome, The Body in the Turl, 1935.

whack, v. To strike with sharp, resounding vigour: coll. and dial.: 1721, Ramsay (O.E.D.). Also as v.i., esp. in whack away (mid-C. 19—20), as in The Daily Telegraph, Feb. 21, 1886, 'The Flannigans and the Murphys paid no heed to him, but whacked away at each other with increasing vigour.' Prob. echoic; cf. whack, n., 1.—2. Hence, to defeat in a contest or rivalry: coll.: from 1870's.—3. To bring, get, place, put, etc., esp. in a vigorous or violent manner: from C. 17 'teens: dial. >, in late C. 19, coll., as in Kipling, 1897, 'They whacked up a match', O.E.D. Prob. ex sense 1.—4. To share or divide: c. (— 1812) >, by 1860, s. >, by 1910, coll. Vaux, who spells it wack; J. Greenwood, 1888, A Converted Burglar, 'The sound, old-fashioned principle of "sharing the danger and whacking the swag"'. Also whack up. Ex whack, n., 3, q.v.—5. See whack it up.—6. To sell illicitly: military: from ca. 1910. Prob. suggested by the synonymous flog.

whack! An interjection politely = 'You lie!': printers: from ca. 1870. Ex whacker. Cf. thump!

whack, adv. With a 'whack' (n., 1, q.v.): coll.: 1812, H. and J. Smith (O.E.D.). Cf.: whack at, have or take a. To attempt; to attack: coll.: U.S. (1891) >, before 1904, anglicised. F. & H. Perhaps ex tree-felling.

whack it out, v.i. To defend or support successfully: proletarian (— 1923). Manchon.

whack it up, v.i. To coit: low: mid-C. 19—20; ? ob. Cf. whack, v., 1, 3, 4.—2. V.t. To deal severely with (a prisoner): c. ' (— 1933). G. Ingram, Stir.

whack one's own donkey. See donkey, whack one's own.

whack out. To distribute (e.g. rations) equitably: military: C. 20. B. & P.

whack-up. A division of accounts: coll.: 1885 (O.E.D.). Elaborating whack, n., 3.

whack up, v. See whack, v., 3 and 4, qq.v.: coll.: from ca. 1880.—2. See whack it up and:

whack up to. To cause a ship to attain such and such a speed: nautical coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. whack, v., 3.

whacked; whacked to the wide (se. world). Utterly exhausted: late C. 19—20. Ex whack, v., 1.

whacker. Anything unusually large; esp. a 'thumping' lie (cf. whopper, q.v.): coll. and dial. (— 1825). The Sporting Times, in 1828, describes certain fences as whackers, as T. Hughes does caught fish in 1861. Ex whack, v., 1. (O.E.D.)

whacking. A thrashing: coll. (— 1859). H., 1st ed. Ex whack, v., 1.—2. Hence, a defeat in a contest: coll.: late C. 19—20.—3. A division or sharing: from ca. 1850: (low) s. >, by 1900, coll. Mayhew. Ex whack, v., 4.

whacking, adj. Unusually big, large, fine, or strong: coll.: 1819, Thomson (E.D.D.); H., 1st ed. Often whacking great, occ. w. big. Ex whack, v., 1; cf. whacker.

whacks, go. See whack, n., 3. whacky. A person acting ridiculously or fooling about: tailors' (— 1904) F. & H. Ex Yorkshire dial. whacky, a dolt.

whale. A codfish: Cheltenham College: late C. 19—20. Because a large fish.—2. A sardine:

Royal Military Academy : from ca. 1870. Because so small.—3. (Always in pl.) Anchovies on toast : rather proletarian : from ca. 1880. Cf. sense 2.

whale, go ahead like a. To forge ahead ; act, speak, write vigorously : coll. : from 1890's. F. & H. Ex the majesty of a whale's movements.

whale, old. See old whale.

whale !, very like a. A c.p. applied to an improbability, esp. a preposterous assertion : from 1850's ; ob. H., 1st ed. ; in 2nd ed., very like a whale in a tea-cup. Ex Polonius's phrase when, in III, ii, 392–8, he is doing his best to approve Hamlet's similes.

whale and whitewash. Fish and sauce : tramps' o. (— 1932). F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps.

whale of a . . . , a. 'No end of a . . . ' : coll. : U.S. (— 1913), partly anglicised ca. 1918. Ex the whale's huge size.

whale on . . . , a. Greatly liking, having a great capacity for, expert at : coll. : 1893, Justin McCarthy, 'He was not . . . a whale on geography,' O.E.D. ; rather ob. For semantics, cf. preceding entry. Also, occ., whale at and for.

whaler. A sundowner : Australian coll. : ca. 1890–1910. The Sydney Morning Herald, Aug. 8, 1893, 'The nomad, the whaler, it is who will find the new order hostile to his vested interest of doing nothing.' (He didn't.) Ex his cruising about. (Morris.) He who travels up and down the banks of the Murrumbidgee River is a Murrumbidgee whaler, which some authorities consider to be the ironic original.

whales. See whale, 3.

Whaley. The Whale Island Gunnery School (Portsmouth) : naval : C. 20. Bowen.

whang. A 'whanging' sound or blow : dial. (— 1824) and, from ca. 1860, coll. Ex :

whang, v.t. To strike heavily and resoundingly : coll. : C. 19–20. Ex dial. (C. 17–20). Echoic.—2. V.i. (of, e.g., a drum), to sound (as) under a blow : coll. : 1875, Kinglake (O.E.D.).

[whangam, whangdoodle. An imaginary animal : rather nonce-words than coll.]

Whanger ; Cod-Whanger. A Newfoundland fish-curer : nautical (— 1867). Smyth. Precisely why ? (Also in lower case.)

whap, whapper (Grose, 1st ed.). See whop, whopper.

wharf-rat. A thief prowling about wharves : mid-C. 19–20. Perhaps orig. U.S.

wharp is incorrect for warp (silt, n.) : C. 18–20. O.E.D.

what. Who, that ; which : C. 10–20 : S.E. until C. 19, then sol. and dial. Esp. all what, C. 16–20 : same status. F. & H., 'If I had a donkey what wouldn't go' ; J. B. Morton, The Barber of Putney, 1919, 'If I sat down to write a book, I'd want to shove in all what I saw,' O.E.D.—2. At what, as in 'What time do you start ?' : coll. (— 1887). Baumann.—3. The : sol. : C. 19–20. Baumann, 'What one I've I'll keep.'—4. See next two entries.

what ! (more precisely what ? !) ; occ. eh what ! A questioning interjection or expletive, gen. at the end of a phrase or sentence : coll. : 1785, Mme D'Arblay, '[George III] said, "What ? what ?"—meaning . . . "it is not possible. Do you think it is ?—what ?" ; not very gen. before mid-C. 19 ; 1914, Neil Lyons, 'It's a bit too literary for me. What ? . . . You had it at school, I dare say What ?', O.E.D. This enclitic what is an infallible characteristic and hall-mark of the upper-middle and upper class (males much more than females) and it is confined to Great Britain ; the lower and lower-middle classes, and all Colonials and most Americans, find it very odd, affected, and, at first, a little disconcerting (esp. in the explosive form common among, e.g., Army officers) in its app. senselessness ; actually, it is a modifier (often deliberate) of abruptness, insolence, or audacity. Cognate with, and perhaps ex the next term.—2. Abbr. what cheer (l.v. at cheer !, what) : Cockneys' : from ca. 1880. H. W. Nevinson, Neighbours of Ours, 1895.

what ? What is it ? ; what did you say ? : coll. : recorded by the O.E.D. for 1837, Dickens, "'What's your name ?'" "Cold punch," murmured Mr Pickwick . . . "What ?" demanded Captain Boldwig' ; but prob. a half, even a full century earlier. Arising naturally ex what connoting 'ellipsis, esp. of the remainder of the question', as in "'I'm so frightened !'" "What at, dear ?—what at ?"', Dickens, 1837 (O.E.D.).

[what, (and) the Lord knows, marches between coll. and S.E. Cf. what all.]

what, but. But that ; that . . . not : coll. : from ca. 1560. Googe, 1563 (see quotation at what's what) ; Arthur Murphy, 1753, 'There hardly arose an Incident, but what our Fellow-Traveller would repeat twenty or thirty Verses in a Breath.' Almost always with actual or implied negative ; in late C. 19–20, mostly not but what. O.E.D.—2. Except what ; which (occ. who) . . . not : as in Charlotte Smith's 'Not one of these insinuations but what gathered something from malevolence', 1796. O.E.D. Cf. what, than : q.v.

what !, I'll tell you, as prefacing a proposal, is coll. : mid-C. 19–20. 'I'll tell you what, we'll row down,' 1872 (O.E.D.). Ex the same phrase as = let me tell you !

what ?, or, used as a final, yet wholly indefinite, 'alternative in a disjunctive question' : mid-C. 19–20 ; mostly, and in conversation nearly always, coll. Edward FitzGerald, in a letter, 1842, 'Have you supposed me dead or what ?' O.E.D.

what, than. The what is a sol. and dial. redundancy when it is used after that than which ushers in a clause : C. 19–20. Scott, 1818, 'I think I laughed heartier then than what I do now.' O.E.D.

what a life ! A c.p. expressive of disgust : late C. 19–20.

what a many. How many : sol. : mid-C. 19–20. Baumann cites 'If you knew what a many they're of them' from J. Greenwood.

what a tail our cat's got ! A lower classes' c.p. directed at a girl (or woman) 'flaunting in a new dress', the rear skirt of which she swings haughtily : mid-C. 19–20 ; ob. Ware (tale—obviously a misprint).

what about a (small) spot ? ; what is it ? ; what'll you have ? See how will you have it ?

what all, . . . and I don't know. And various others unknown or unmentioned ; and, in addition, all sorts of things : coll. : mid-C. 19–20. Dickens, 1859, 'There's . . . and . . . and I dunno what all.' O.E.D. Cf. who all, q.v.

what-call ; what-call-ye-him. A variant (resp. early C. 17, late C. 15—early 17 : O.E.D.) of the him part of what-d'ye-call-'em (etc.).

what cheer ! See cheer !, what.

what did Gladstone say in (e.g.) 1885 ? A political hecklers' c.p. of late C. 19–20. For the most part, merely obstructive.

what did you do in the Great War, daddy ? A military c.p. (1917-18, and after) used 'scathingly in times of stress'. B. & P. Ex a recruiting-poster. In late 1917-19, the phrase had many variations, and several c.p. replies, the most popular being shut up, you little bastard! Get the Bluebell and go and clean my medals, which is devastating.

what do you know? What is the news?; is there any new development?; c.p.: from ca. 1917.

what do you know about that? A c.p. expressive of surprise: non-aristocratic and non-cultured: from ca. 1910.

what do you think? 'What is your general opinion of things?': a middle-class c.p. introduced in 1882 by a comic singer; † by 1915.—2. From ca. 1912, it = 'Well, of course!'.—3. See think, what do you?

what do you want?—I am on it. A military c.p. reproach to a constant grumbler: late C. 19-20.

what-d'ye-call-'em (occ. um), her, him, it; less frequently what-do-you-call-'em, etc. A phrase connoting some thing or person forgotten, considered trivial or not to be named, or unknown by name: coll.: C. 17-20. Shakespeare, As You Like It, 'Good even, good Master What-ye-call't; how do you, sir,'—a late C. 16-17 variant; Ned Ward; Smollett; Dibdin; Dickens; etc., etc. The Shakespearian form has an alternative in -you- and a mid-C. 19-20 variant: what-you-may-call-it (Dickens, 1848). Cf. Cotton's satirical 'Where once your what shall's cal'ums—rot um! It makes me mad I have forgot um.' O.E.D.; F. & H.

what-er. See whatter.

what ever; loosely whatever. Emphatic what?: C. 14-20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll., as in F. E. Paget, 1856, 'Whatever in all the world was that?', O.E.D.—2. Hence, as interrogative adj.: coll.: late C. 19-20. O.E.D.

what for; what-for. Trouble; a great fuss, e.g. raise what-for, to 'raise Cain': C. 20. (David Frome, The By-Pass Murder, 1932.) Ex what for, give one.

what (e.g., do you do that) for?; what for (by itself)? Why: coll.: mid-C. 19-20.

what for, give one. To punish or hurt severely: from ca. 1870. Du Maurier, 1894, 'Svengali got "what for",' O.E.D. Ex what for?, why: 'to respond to [one's] remonstrant what for? by further assault', W.—2. Hence, to reprimand, reprove severely: from 1890's. F. & H.

what ho! As greeting or expletive, it is (orig. low) coll.: mid-C. 19-20. Ballantyne, 1864, 'What ho! Coleman . . . have you actually acquired the art of sleeping on a donkey?', O.E.D.; 1898, 'Pomes' Marshall, 'Where 'e let me in for drinks all round, and as I'd but a bob, I thought, "What ho! 'ow am I a-going on?"' (Cf. the semi-coll. what cheer!) Orig., a S.E. formula to attract a person's attention.

what ho! she bumps. A satirical c.p. applied to 'any display of vigour—especially feminine': London (1899) >, by 1914, gen.; slightly ob. Ware derives it from 'a boating adventure . . . A popular song made this term more popular.'

what hopes!; what a hope you've got! I don't like your chance!: lower classes' and military: C. 20. B. & P.

what me! 'A frequent greeting among soldiers' (B. & P.): from ca. 1912. (A c.p.)

what next, and next? A c.p. contemptuous of audacious assertion: ca. 1820-1905. Ware.

what-o(h). A variant of what ho!—2. Thus,

'She is a what-oh', a lively or fast piece: proletarian coll. (— 1923). Manchon.

what one. See what, 3.

what Paddy gave the drum. A sound thrashing: orig. (ca. 1845), Irish military >, ca. 1900, gen.; ob. Ware.

what price . . .? See price, what.

what shall we do, or go —ing? Shall we go —ing?, as in D. Sayers, The Nine Tailors, 1934, "'What shall we do, or go fishing?" "I'm on; we can but try".'

what the Connaught men shot at. Nothing: Anglo-Irish (— 1883). Ware.

what the devil. An intensive of what: coll.: C. 20. E.g. E. Phillips Oppenheim, The Bank Manager, 1934, 'What the devil concern is it of yours, anyway?'

what will you liq? What will you drink: middle-class c.p. of ca. 1905-15. Ware. Ex liquor; punning lick.

what-ye-call-it, what-you-may-call-it. See what-d'ye-call-'em.

what you can't carry you must drag! A nautical c.p. applied to clipper ships carrying too much canvas: late C. 19-20; ob. Bowen.

whatcher! A nautical variation of (S.E.) what cheer? Ware.

whater. See whatter.—whatever. See what ever.

what's bit or biting or crawling on or eating you? What's the matter?: military (1915) >, by 1920, gen. c.p. B. & P. Ex scratching for lice. (Anticipated in 1911 in U.S.)

what's-his-name, -her-, -its-, -your-; whatse-name. Resp. for a man (or boy; loosely, thing), woman (or girl), thing, person addressed, or ambiguously for any of the first three of these, with name unknown, forgotten, to-be-avoided, or hardly worth mentioning: coll.: resp. late C. 17-20 (Dryden), C. 19-20 (Scott), from 1830's (Dickens), mid-C. 18-20 (Foote), and mid-C. 19-20 (Reade); app. Marryat, in 1829, is the first to apply what's-his-name to a thing; what's-their-names (G. A. Stevens) is rare. O.E.D. Cf. what-d'ye-call-'em, q.v.

what's matter? What's the matter?: lower classes' coll.: C. 20. E.g. Pett Ridge, 1907.

what's-o'clock, know. See o'clock. Cf. time of day and what's what.

what's-o-names. An exceedingly illiterate form (— 1887) of what's-his-name. Baumann.

what's the big idea. See idea?, what's the big.

what's the dynamite?; what's the lyddite? What's the 'row'? : Society: resp. 1890-9 and 1899-1900. Ware. The former ex dynamiters' activities in the 1880's, the latter ex the Boer War.

what's the mat? What's the matter?: Public Schools': from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

what's the matter with your hand? A military c.p. (from 1914) to one lucky enough to be holding an article of food. B. & P.

what's what; orig. and gen. preceded by know, tell w. w. belonging to C. 17-20, understand w. w. to C. 18-20, and guess, show and perceive w. w. to C. 19-20. 'To have [etc.] knowledge, taste, judgment, or experience; to be wide-awake . . ., equal to any emergency, "fly" (q.v.)', F. & H.: coll.: C. 15-20. E.g. Barnaby Googe, 1563, 'Our wits be not so base, | But what we know as well as you | What's what in every case.' See also o'clock and time of day.

what's yer fighting weight; . . . Gladstone weight? I'm your man if you want to fight!: Cockneys': ca. 1883-1914; 1885-6 (ex politics). Ware.

what's-ye-name. An illiterate form (— 1887) of what's-his-name. Baumann. Cf. what's-o-names.

what's your poll to-day. How much have you earned to-day?: printers': from ca. 1870. Ware, 'From numbers on a statement of wages'.

what's yours? See how will you have it?

whatsename, whatsiname; occ. whatsername. Slurred what's-his-name (etc.), q.v.

whatsomever. Whatever, whatsoever (adj.): C. 15-20: S.E. until C. 19, then dial. and increasingly illiterate coll. The forms whatsom(e)dever, whatsumdever, mid-C. 19-20, are sol.

whatter (occ. what-er or whater), a. A what, a what-did-you-say: C. 20. "Yesterday I saw a dinosaur, Jim." "You saw a—a whatter, Bill?"

whatty; occ. whaty. The same as whatter: low: late C. 18-mid-19. Ware derives it from an anecdote about George III, whose English was not perfect.

wheadle; wheedle. As a wheedler, prob. S.E. from the beginning, but as a sharper it is prob. c.: ca. 1670-1830, but ob. by 1720. Wycherley, 1673; B.E. Whence, cut a wheadle (wheedle), 'to Decoy, by Fawning and Insinuation', B.E.: c. of ca. 1690-1830. Ex:

wheadle, whed(d)le (C. 17), wheedle, v. In its usual senses, it may, orig., have been s., as The Century Dict. suggests, ex Ger. wedeln. Blount records it in 1661.—2. 'Whiddle' in its c. sense (q.v.), of which it is a variant: c. of ca. 1700-20. (O.E.D.)

wheedle the tire off a cart- (or cart's) wheel, can or be able to. To be extremely persuasive: non-aristocratic coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

wheel. A 5-shilling piece: C. 19. Extant in New Zealand, however, for the sum of five shillings.—2. A dollar: late C. 18-early 19. Tufts. Both, however, mainly as cart-wheel, q.v.

wheel, v. To 'cycle': coll.: 1884 (O.E.D.); rare after G.W. Cf. wheeler.—2. (Of the police) to convey (a 'drunk') in a cab to the police station: low (— 1909); † by 1920. Ware (at barrered).

wheel, grease the: To coit: low: mid-C. 19-20; ob.

wheel, keep a cart on the. To keep an affair alive: semi-proverbial coll. (— 1887); ob. Baumann. In Yorkshire dial. it is keep cart on wheels.

wheel-band in the nick. 'Regular Drinking over the left Thumb', B.E.: drinking: late C. 17-early 19. Grose, 1st ed. Contrast and cf. supernaculum.

Wheel 'Em Along. The captured French warship Ville de Milan: naval: early C. 19. Bowen. By 'Hobson-Jobson'.

wheel 'em up. To bowl: cricket coll.: late C. 19-20. Cf. trundle, q.v.

wheel-man or -woman; or as one word. A cyclist: coll.: 1874 (-man); ob. Also, for the former, knight of the wheel; very ob. coll. Cf. wheeler, q.v.

wheel-of-life. The treadmill: prison c.: ca. 1870-1910. Cf. everlasting staircase.

wheelbarrow, as drunk as a. Exceedingly drunk: coll.: ca. 1670-1750. Cotton, 1675, where he gives the occ. variant . . . as a drum (not, as F. & H. has it, as . . . the drum of a w.). wheelbarrow, go to heaven in a. To go to hell: coll.: ca. 1615-90. T. Adams, 1618. 'In the painted glass at Fairford, Gloucestershire, the devil is represented as wheeling off a scolding wife in a barrow,' F. & H. wheeled, adj. or ppl. Conveyed in a cab: lower classes': late C. 19-early 20. Ware.

wheeled up, be. 'To be brought before an officer for an offence': military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons Cf. preceding.

wheeler. A cyclist: coll. (— 1887). Baumann. Rare after G.W.—2. (Wheeler.) Inevitable nickname of men surnamed Johnson: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

wheeling, n. See wheel, v.—wheelman. See wheel-man.

wheels, grease the. To advance money for a particular purpose: coll. (in C. 20, virtually S.E.): 1809, Malkin. Thus ensuring easier running.

wheeze. A theatrical 'gag', esp. if frequently repeated: circus and theatrical s. (in C. 20, coll. and fairly gen.): from early 1860's. Ex the act of wheezing: perhaps because clowns often affect a wheezy enunciation. In Lancashire dial, as early as 1873 is the sense, 'an amusing saying; a humorous anecdote' (E.D.D.).—2. Hence, a catch phrase, esp. if often repeated; an 'antiquated fabrication' (W.): 1890, The Spectator, May 17 (O.E.D.).—3. Hence, a frequently employed trick or dodge: from ca. 1895. Like sense 2, s. >, ca. 1920, coll.—4. A 'tip' (information); gen. the wheeze, esp. in give (a person) the wheeze (cf. give the whisper,—see whisper, n.): C. 20: c. >, by 1930, low s. Cf. the v., which is the possibly imm. origin.—5. Anything remarkable: Seaford Preparatory School: from ca. 1930 Ex senses 3, 4. Also weeze.

wheeze, v. To give information, to peach: c. (— 1904). F. & H. Cf. n. wheeze, crack a. 'To originate (or adapt) a smart saying at a "psychological" moment', F. & H.: from ca. 1895; rather ob. See wheeze, n., 2.

wheezer. A phonograph: music-halls': 1897-8. Ware.

Wheezy. The French Revolution month, Vendémiaire (late Sept.—mid-Oct.): journalistic: ca. 1890-1910. Ex the colds so often contracted during this period. (F. & H.)

wheezy; occ. weezy, adj. Remarkable, very fine: Seaford Preparatory School: from ca. 1930. Ex wheeze, n., 5.

whelk. The female pudend: proletarian Cockney: from ca. 1860. Anatomical. Whence the innuendo-c.p., comically threatening, I'll have your whelk: 1870's.—2. A sluggish fellow: Cockneys': late C. 19-20. Manchon. Cf. Fr. mollusque.

whelp. To be delivered of a child: low coll.: late C. 19-20; ob. Cf. pup, which is far from being ob.

when. Lo!; see now!; then, mark you!: coll. (— 1887). Baumann, 'When up comes a chap with a basket on his shoulder'.

when I, say. Orig. a c.p. with 'dovetail' Bob I (or bob I); by 1920, S.E. Modern Society, June 6, 1889, "Say when," said Bonko . . . commencing to pour out the spirit into my glass. "Bob!" replied I. The dovetail was † by 1920.

when Adam was an oakum-boy in Chatham Dockyard. Indefinitely long ago: ca. 1860-1900. H., 3rd ed. Cf.:

when Christ was a child. The same: C. 20.

when ever; loosely whenever. In questions, an emphatic form of when: from ca. 1710: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then coll. E.g. 'When ever did you arrive, old man?'

when father says Turn, we all turn. A c.p. of ca. 1906-8. Ex a political picture-postcard. Collinson.

when hens make holy-water. Never: coll. c.p.: C. 17. See the quotation at Never-mass.

when it's at home. A derisive tag implying contempt or incredulity: coll.: C. 20. Best explained by a quotation: Dorothy Sayers, Have His Carcase, 1932, 'Hæmophilia. What in the name of blazes is that, when it's at home?'

when the (bloody) Duke (or Dook) puts his (bloody) foot down, the (bloody) war will be bloody well over. A 62nd Division c.p. of the G.W. Ex the Divisional sign, a pelican with upraised right foot. F. & Gibbons.

when you were cutting bread and jam. A variant of before you came up, q.v.

where, with from or to at end of sentence. The coll. equivalents of whence and whither: mid-C. 18-20 for both, no doubt. Henry Brooke, 1760, 'I must go suddenly, but where to?'; Dickens, 1835 (where . . . from). O.E.D.

where are you (a-)going to (—can't yer)?! Stop pushing!: low London: from ca. 1880; slightly ob. Ware.

where did that one go? A military c.p. (1915-18) in reference to a shell-burst (near-by). B. & P. Short for 'Where did that one go to, Herbert, | Where did that one go?', which comes from a popular War-time song.

where did you get that hat? See hat?, where did you get that.—where do flies go . . .? See winter-time.

where did you get the Rossa? I.e. the borrowed plumes: 1885 only. Ware. Ex a New York police trial.

where ever; loosely wherever. In questions, an emphatic form of where: C. 13-20: S.E. until C. 19, then coll. (O.E.D.). Cf. what ever and when ever, qq.v.

where Maggie wore the beads. See Maggie.

where the chicken got the axe. See chicken . . .

where the flies won't get it. (Of liquor) down one's throat: c.p.: orig. (—1909), U.S.; anglicised by 1912. Ware.

where the whips are cracking. See whips are . . .

whereas, follow a. To become a bankrupt: commercial and legal: late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed., where also the synonymous march in the rear of a whereas.

-wheres. See somewheres.

where's George? A c.p. applied to any person unexpectedly absent: 1935-36. Ex Messrs Lyons' advertisement-pictures of a vacant stool, etc.

where's the war? A c.p. directed at a street wrangle: London streets': 1900-1. Ex scattered fighting in Boer War. (Ware.)

wheresomever. Wherever; more properly, where-soever: sol. (—1887). Baumann.

wherewith; wherewithal. 'The necessary', esp. money: resp. rare coll. († by 1910) and dial.; coll., as first in Malkin, 1809, 'How the devil does she mean that I should get the wherewithal? . . . Does she take me for . . . treasurer to a charity?'

whern(e). Incorrect for whereve (written wherue) = wharve, n.: mid-C. 16-17. O.E.D. wherry-go-nimble. Diarrhoea: lower class (—1904). F. & H. If wherry is not a corruption of Jerry(-go-nimble), it seems almost senseless.

whet. See wet, n.—whet one's whistle. See whistle, wet one's.—whether-go-ye. See whither.

Whetstone(s) Park deer or mutton. A 'Whetstone where': London fast life: ca. 1670-1700. Ex Whetstones Park, 'a Lane betwixt Holborn and Lincolns-Inn-fields, fam'd for a Nest of Wenches, now de-park'd', B.E.: the district was notorious at least as early as 1668. See esp. Grose, P.

whetting-corn(e). The female pudend: ? C. 17-mid-19. Halliwell. Lit., grindstone.

whew, the. Sir H. Maxwell, in Notes and Queries, Dec. 10, 1901, says that in C. 15 the influenza was app. known as 'the Whew' just as, in C. 20, it is known as 'the Flue'. (Mainly Scots) coll. and gen. spelt Quhew.

whiblin. This C. 17 word (unrecorded later than 1652) is explained by F. & H. as a eunuch and, in c., a sword; by the O.E.D. as perhaps 'thingumbob'. Perhaps ex whibble + quiblin.

which, 'in vulgar use, without any antecedent, as a mere connective or introductory particle', O.E.D.: C. 18 (and prob. earlier)-20. Often it is wholly superfluous; often, however, it = for, because; very often it = besides, moreover; and, occ., it = although. Swift, 1723, Mary the Cook-Maid's Letter, 'Which, and I am sure I have been his servant four years since October, | And he never call'd me worse than sweetheart, drunk or sober,' O.E.D.; J. Storer Clouston, 1932, 'So now they goes and dresses up as Sir Felix, which he were become a knight, and no one could tell them apart from one another,' an example less pregnant than these two in Dorothy Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927: 'Ironsides . . . a clerk on the Southern, which he always used to say joking like, "Slow but safe, like the Southern—that's me"'; 'I believe the gentleman acted with the best intentions, 'avin' now seen 'im, which at first I thought he was a wrong 'un.' Ex pleonastic which, as in Locke's 'Provisions . . . which how much they exceed the other in value, . . . he will then see' (O.E.D.).—2. Incorrectly with and, where the one or the other is unnecessary: catachrestic: C. 17 (prob. earlier)-20. Gilbert White, 'This is their due, and which ought to be rendered to them by all people', O.E.D. Perhaps ex Fr. idiom, though the same usage is common also in S.E.—3. What: sol.: C. 19 (? earlier)-20. E.g. Agatha Christie, Why Didn't They Ask Evans?, 1934, "You were with her some time, weren't you?" "Were I which, ma'am?" which way, every. See every which way.

*whid; whidd(e). A word: c. (—1567); slightly ob. Harman, B.E., Grose, Reade. See phrases. Either ex A.-S. cwide, speech, as the O.E.D. suggests, or a perversion of word.—2. In pl., speech: c.: contemporaneous with 1. See phrases.—3. In singular, speech: c. (—1823) >, by 1860, low. Bce, "Hold your whid," is to stow magging'.—4. 'A word too much', H., 3rd ed.: mid-C. 19-20; ob.: s.; closely linked with dial. whid, a lie, an exaggerated story.—5. Hence, in c. verging on low s., talk, patter, jocular speech, jest: likewise only in pl. Hindley, 1876, The Life of a Cheap Jack, 'The whids we used to crack over them.'—6. A broken-winded horse: horse-copers' c.: mid-C. 19-20. 'No. 747.' I.e. a 'roarer': cf. whid, 3.

*whid, v.i. To talk cant: Scots c. (—1823). Egan's Grose. Ex n., 1, 2.

*whid, crack a. See crack a whid.

whid, cut the (Ainsworth); cut whids. To talk, speak: c.: resp. C. 19 (rare) and mid-C. 16–20. Mostly implied, as to cut whids, in cut bene whids and c. queer w., qq.v.

whidd, whidde. See whid, n. and v.

whiddle; in C. 18, occ. wheadle (wheedle), q.v. at v., 2, and whidel, whidle, and widdle; see also whittle. V.i. and v.t. To tell; to peach, to impeach: from the Restoration; ob. The O.E.D. records it at 1661; not gen., I think, before the 1680's or 90's; B.E.; Grose; Vaux. Perhaps ex whid, n., 1, 2.—2. Hence, to enter into a parley, esp. if nefarious: c. (—1725). A New Canting Dict.; H., 2nd ed.; ob.—3. Hence, to 'hesitate with many words', H., 1st ed.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Either c. or low s.: cf. whid, n., 3.—4. See Oliver.

whiddle beef. To cry 'thief!': c.: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E., Grose.

whiddler. An informer to the police; a blabber of the gang's secrets: c.: late C. 17–20; ob. B.E., Grose. Ex whiddle, v., 1.

whids, cut. See whid, cut the. Mostly in cut bene (or bien) whids, to speak fairly, kindly, or courteously, and cut queer whids, to speak roughly or discourteously, or to use blasphemous or obscene language: c.: resp. (? only) C. 19 and rare (1821, Scott; 1861, Reade, 'Thou cuttest whids'); and, both bene and queer, mid-C. 16–mid-19. See whid, n., 1 and 2.

whiff, v.i. To smell unpleasantly: 1899, Kipling (O.E.D.). Ex corresponding n.

whiff, adj. Stinking, malodorous: low (—1923). Manchon. More usually whiffy (1905: O.E.D.): gen. s.

whiffing, vbl.n. Catching a mackerel with hooked line and a bright object: nautical: C. 19. Bowen. Perhaps ex whiff, a flat-fish, etc.

whifflegig. Trifling: coll.: 1830, H. Lee, 'Whiffle-gig word-snappers', O.E.D. Presumably ex (mainly dial.) whiffle, to talk idly. Cf. whiffmagig.

whiffler. One who examines candidates for degrees: Oxford and Cambridge: ca. 1785–1830. Grose, 2nd ed. Ex the official sense.

whiffles. 'A relaxation of the scrotum', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1850.

whiffmagig. A trifter; a shifty or contemptible fellow: 1871, Meredith (O.E.D.); ob. A variant of whiffler in these senses. Cf. whifflegig, q.v.

whiffs and a spit, take two. To smoke a little, have a short smoke, a pull: lower classes' coll. (—1923). Manchon.

whiffy. See whiff, adj.

Whig. The opp. of Tory, q.v. In the second sense, i.e. an opponent to Tory = a Conservative, the word dates from 1689, prob. began as s. and soon > coll. and then S.E.; ca. 1850, it was superseded by Liberal. Ultimately ex Whiggamer, Whiggamore. F. & H.; O.E.D.—2. An irresolute person; a turncoat: middle-classes': 1860–9. Ware. Ex the Whigs' temporising at that period.

Whig College, the. The Reform Club: political nickname: ca. 1845–1910. John Bull, April 29, 1848, 'The Whig College, commonly called the Reform Club'.

Whigland. Scotland: ca. 1680–1830. Flatman, B.E., Grose. Because the 'home' of Whigs. Whence Whiglander (gen. pl.), a Scotsman: same period.

while, quite a. A considerable time: coll.: C. 20. Elinor Glyn, 1905 (O.E.D.).

whiles, when not deliberately archaic and 'literary', is, in late C. 19–20, considered a somewhat illiterate coll. for while. Baumann.

whilk, giddy. A light-headed, silly girl: Cockneys' (—1923). Manchon, who misspells it wilk. A corruption of whelk.

whim; whim-wham. The female pudend: C. 18; C. 18–20, ob. Lit., fanciful object.

Whimsicals, the. A group of Tories temp. Queen Anne: coll. nickname: 1714, Swift (O.E.D.).

whiners. Prayers, esp. in chop the whiners, to pray: c.: C. 18–20; ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725; 1830, Bulwer Lytton. Ex whine, v.: lit., therefore, words that whine.—2. Whence, speech, 'gab', esp. in chop whiners, to talk: low: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Punch, Jan. 31, 1857.

whinn. An occ. C. 19 spelling of win, n., 1. 'Jon Bee.'

whip. Money subscribed by a mess for additional wine: naval and military coll. (—1864). Ex whip, now whip-round (H., 5th ed., 1874), an appeal for money.—2. A compositor quick at his work: printing (—1904). F. & H. Cf. whip, a coachman.—3. A bustle, busyness: nautical coll. (—1923). Manchon. Cf. S.E. v., whip around (v.i.).

whip, v. To drink quickly; gen. whip off; occ. in late C. 17–18, whip up. C. 17–20; slightly ob. Deloney, B.E., Grose. (O.E.D.)—2. Gen. whip through. To pierce with a sword, esp. in whip through the lungs: late C. 17–mid-19. B.E.—3. To swindle (v.t.): c.: late C. 19–20; ob. Cf. military fog and whip off.

whip, drink or lick on the. To receive a thrashing: coll.: C. 15–16. Resp. Gascoigne and The Townley Mysteries.

whip, old; gen. the old whip. One's ship; nautical (—1887). Baumann. Perhaps rhyming.

whip-arse. A schoolmaster: coll.: C. 17. Cotgrave. Cf. bum-brusher.

whip-belly; w.-b. vengeance. Thin weak liquor, esp. 'swipes': C. 19–20; C. 18–19. Swift; Grose, 2nd ed., with variant pinch-gut vengeance; Halliwell (whip-belly).

whip-cat. Drunken: s. or coll.: late C. 16–early 17. See whip the cat, 1.—2. N., a tailor as in whip the cat, 4: 1851, Mayhew (O.E.D.)

whip-handle. An insignificant little man: Scots: C. 17. Urquhart.

whip-her-jenny. See whipperginnie.

whip-jack. A beggar pretending to be a distressed, esp. a shipwrecked, sailor: c.: ca. 1550–1880. Ponet, ca. 1550; B.E.; Grose; H., 2nd–5th edd. The semantics are not very clear. Cf. turnpike sailor.

whip off. See whip, v., 1. B.E. gives whip off, to steal, as c.: but surely it is no worse than familiar S.E. Cf. whip, v., 3.

whip-round. See whip, n., 1. Coll. >, by 1920, S.E.

whip-sticks; or W.-S. The Dunaberg-Witepsk shares: Stock Exchange (—1904).

whip-the-cat. An itinerant tailor: mid-C. 19–20: Scots s. >, by 1900, coll. E.g. in C. Murray, Hamewith, 1910. Ex sense 4 of:

whip the cat. To get intoxicated: ca. 1580–1820. Implied by Stonyhurst in 1582; Cotgrave, 1611; 'Water-Poet' Taylor, 1630; The Gentleman's Magazine, 1807. (See esp. Apperson.) Synonymous with jerk, shoot, the cat.—2. To play a practical joke: late C. 17–early 19. Implied in B.E. and Grose. See esp. F. & H.—3. To be extremely mean: dial. (—1825) >, ca. 1860, s.; ob.—4. To work as an itinerant tailor (hence, carpenter, etc.), by the day, at private houses: dial. (— 1825) >, by 1840, s. or, rather, coll. H., 1st ed.—5. To vomit: low: mid-C. 19–20. E.D.D. Cf. 1.—6. To idle on Monday: workmen's (— 1897). Barrère & Leland. Cf. keep St Monday. Ex:—7. To idle at any time: workmen's (— 1823); ob. Bee.

whip the devil or the old gentleman round the post. To achieve illicitly or surreptitiously what can be accomplished honourably or openly: coll.: late C. 18–20; ob.

whip through; whip up. See whip, v., 2 and 1 resp.

whipper-in. The horse that, at any moment of the race, is running last: racing s. (from ca. 1890) >, by 1930, coll. Ex hunting. F. & H., 1904, gives whipping-boy in the same sense.

whipping-boy. See preceding.

whips. Abundance: Australian (— 1916). C. J. Dennis. Suggested by lashings, q.v.

whips are cracking, where the. The front line: New Zealanders': in G.W. Ex the activity of cattle-mustering.

[Whipshire. Yorkshire: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. I'm none too sure that this should not, in B.E., read Whigshire and that Grose has not copied B.E., for in the former, Whip-shire imm. follows Whig-land.]

whirligig. A 'gadget', a 'what-d'ye-call-it': coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. jigger.

whirligigs; whirlygigs. Testicles: late C. 17–early 19. B.E. Ex lit. sense.

whishler. A ring-master: circus: mid.-C. 19–20. ? ex whish! (a warning).

whisk. A whipper-snapper; (often of a servant) 'a little inconsiderable impertinent Fellow', B.E.: ca. 1625–1830. Ford, 1628 (O.E.D.); Brome, ca. 1653; Grose. Perhaps ex whisk, a hair-like appendage.

whisker; in C. 17–18, occ. wisker. Something excessive, great, very large; esp. a notable lie: 1668, Wilkins (O.E.D.); B.E.; Grose. In mid-C. 19–20, mainly dial. Ex whisk, to move briskly.

whisker, the mother of that was a. A c.p. retort on an improbable story: ca. 1850–1900. Cf. the dam of that was a whisker, the mainly dial. synonym, applied, however, esp. to a big lie: see dam of . . .

whisker-bed. The face: 1853, 'Cuthbert Bede', 'His ivories rattled, his nozzle barked, his whisker-bed napped heavily.' Ob. in C. 20.

whisker-splitter; in C. 18, occ. wisker-. A man given to sexual intrigue: ca. 1785–1840. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. the more gen. beard-splitter.

whiskerando; occ. -os. A man heavily whiskered: jocular coll.: from ca. 1805; ob. Thackeray, 'The . . . whiskerando of a warrior'. Ex Whiskerandos, a character in Sheridan's comedy, The Critic, 1779. Hence, whiskerandoed, (heavily) whiskered: 1838, Southey.

Whiskeries (or Whiskeyries), the. The Irish Exhibition in London in: 1888: mostly Londoners'. Ware quotes The Referee of June 10, 1888. On Colinderies, Fisherries, etc.

whiskers. A 'whiskerando' (q.v.); often loosely of any man, as in the jocular greeting, 'Hallo, Whiskers!': mid C. 19–20. Cf.:

whiskers, all my. Nonsense: from ca. 1920. Dorothy Sayers, Clouds of Witness, 1926, 'All that stuff about his bein' so upset . . . was all my whiskers.' On all my eye.

whiskers (on it), have. (Of a story, an idea) to be well-known, known for years, old: jocular coll.: from ca. 1925. (Dorothy Sayers, Gaudy Night, 1935).

whiskery. (Heavily) whiskered: coll. (in C. 20, S.E.): from ca. 1860. Ex whiskers, q.v.

whiskey-. See whisky-.—Whiskeyries. See Whiskeries.

whiskeys or whiskies. Shares in the Dublin Distillers' Company: Stock Exchange (— 1895). A. J. Wilson's glossary.

whiskin. A pander: ca. 1630–50. Brome, 1632. Cf. pimp-whisk(in). O.E.D.

whisking. (Of persons) briskly moving; lively; smart: coll.: from ca. 1610; ob. by 1860, virtually † by 1920. Middleton & Dekker, 1611, 'What are your whisking gallants to our husbands'; Carlyle, 1824. Ex whisk, to move briskly. O.E.D.—2. Great, very big; excessive: s. (— 1673) >, by 1750, coll. >, by 1830, dial. Head; Grose. Cf. whisker, q.v.

whisky bottle. A Scotch drunkard: Scots (— 1909). Ware. Ex the typically Scottish drink.

whisky-frisky. Flighty; lightly lively: rare coll.: 1782, Miss Burney. Cf. whisking, 1.

whisky jack; C. 19–20, also whiskey jack; C. 18, whiskijack; all three may be hyphenated. 'A popular name for the common green jay of Canada': Canadian coll. verging on S.E.: from ca. 1770. Also whisk(e)y john, or, as for whisky jack, with capitals. The earlier is whisky john, a corruption of Red Indian wiskatjan. O.E.D. (In all the two-word forms, the second element may be capitalised.)

whisky-stall. (Gen. pl.) A stall-seat at, or near, the end of a row, enabling the occupant to go out for a drink without inconvenience to himself or his neighbours: journalistic: 1883–ca. 1914. Ware.

Whiskyries, the. See Whiskeries.

whisper. 'A tip given in secret'; esp. 'give the whisper, . . . to give a quick tip to any one', H., 5th ed., where also the whisper at the post, an owner's final instructions to his jockey': racing: from early 1870's. Cf. wheeze, n., 4, q.v.

whisper, v.t. To borrow money from (a person); esp. borrow small sums: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed. Ex the whisper with which such loans are usually begged.—2. V.i., to make water: preparatory schools': from ca. 1920. Echoic.

whisper, angel's; gen. the a. w. The call to defaulters' drill or extra fatigue duty: military: from 1890's. Wyndham, The Queen's Service, 1899.—2. Loosely, reveille: from ca. 1910. F. & Gibbons.

whisper, (in a) pig's. See pig's whisper.

whisperer. A petty borrower: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed. Ex whisper, v., q.v.

whispering-gallery. The old Gaiety Bar: theatrical: 1883–ca. 90. Ex whispered request for loans and ex the Whispering Gallery of St. Paul's. Ware.

whispering syl-slinger. A prompter (syl = syllable): theatrical: late C. 19–20; ob.

whispering Willie. A type of big naval gun used by the Germans: East African campaign of the G.W. (F. Brett Young, Jim Redlake, 1930.)

whister-clister, -snefet, -snivet. A cuff on the ear or the side of the head: resp. late C. 18–mid-19 (Grose, 1st ed.), then dial.; C. 16 (Udall); C. 16 (Palsgrave: O.E.D.). Perhaps a reduplication of whister, that which 'whists' or puts to silence even so, -clister may pun clyster, an enema, while -snefet, -snivet may be cognate with the vv. snite, snivel. Perhaps orig. dial., as the Palsgrave locus indicates; certainly dial. are the variants whister-poop (C. 17–20, whistersniff (C. 19–20), and whister-twister,—which last (C. 18–19) is certainly a punning reduplication.

whistle. The mouth or the throat: jocular coll.: by itself, C. 17–20. Ex wet (incorrectly whet: C. 17–20) one's whistle, to take a drink: late C. 14–20, likewise jocular coll. Chaucer, in The Reeve's Tale, 'So was hir joly whistle wel y-wet'; Walton; Burns; Marryat (whet).—2. A flute: late C. 19–20.—3. An abbr., as in J. Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936, of:

whistle and flute. A suit (of clothes): rhyming s.: late C. 19–20. B. & P.

whistle and ride. To work and talk: tailors' (—1904). F. & H. Presumably ex a rider's whistling as he journeys.

whistle-belly vengeance. Inferior liquor, esp. bad beer: 1861, Hughes, 'Regular whistle-belly vengeance, and no mistake'; in C. 20, mainly (Lancashire) dial. Cf. whip-belly (vengeance), which prob. suggested whistle-b. v.

whistlecup. A drinking-cup fitted with a whistle, the last toper capable of using it receiving it as a prize: public-house coll.: from ca. 1880. Also, a cup that, on becoming empty, warns the tapster: id.: id.

whistle-drunk. Exceedingly drunk: mid-C. 18. Fielding's whistled-d. is prob. a misprint.

whistle for. To expect, seek, try to get, in vain; to fail to obtain, go without; have a very slight chance of obtaining: coll.: 1760, C. Johnston, "'Do you not desire to be free?" "Aye! . . . but I may whistle for that wind long enough, before it will blow," which indicates the origin, for sailors have for centuries whistled hopefully when becalmed.—2. Hence, shall I whistle for it?, a c.p. that is 'a jocular offer of aid to one long in commencing to urinate', F. & H.: late C. 19–20; ob.

whistle in the cage. See sing out.

whistle off. To go off, to depart, lightly or, esp., suddenly: coll.: from the 1680's (Shadwell); ob. by 1860; † by 1930. O.E.D.

whistle psalms to the taffrail. (Gen. as vbl.n.) To give good advice unwanted and unheeded: jocular nautical: coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

whistle up the breeze. A jocular variant of (H., 3rd ed., 1864, at) raise the wind, † by 1890.

whistled drunk. See whistle-drunk.

whistler. A bad farthing: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux. Ex the false ring it gives.—2. A 'roarer' (q.v.) or broken-winded horse: from early 1820's: coll. >, by 1890, S.E.—3. An unlicensed vendor of spirits: 1821, Moncrieff (O.E.D.); Dickens, 1837; very ob. Ex whistling-shop, q.v.—4. A chance labourer at the docks: East Londoners': from ca. 1880. Ware quotes The Referee of March 29, 1885. Ex whistling for work.—5. A revolver: low (—1923). Manchon. Ex whistler, a bullet.—6. Something big: coll. (—1923). Manchon. (Recorded in dial. for 1895: E.D.D.) whistling. Adj. to whistling-shop, q.v.

Whistler, adj. 'Misty, dreamy, milky, softly opalescent [in] atmosphere—from . . . pictures painted by [this] artist . . . Came to be applied to ethics, aesthetics, and even conversation, where the doctrines enunciated were foggy' (Ware): Society coll.: 1880's.

whistling-billy (or Billy). A locomotive: (children's) coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed. Cf. puffing-billy.

whistling-breeches. Corduroy trousers: un-aristocratic: late C. 19–20; ob. Ex the swishing sound that they are apt to make as one moves.

Whistling Percy. 'A German 9-inch naval gun of flat trajectory, captured at Cambrai in Nov., 1917—from the sound made by its shell in flight. (Whistling Willie, Whistling Walter, etc., were names similarly given to various other enemy guns and shells.)' F. & Gibbons.

whistling psalms . . . See whistle psalms.

whistling-shop. A room in the King's Bench Prison where spirits were sold secretly and illicitly: c. of ca. 1785–1840. Grose, 2nd ed. The signal indicative of 'open shop' was a whistle.—2. Hence, an unlicensed dram-shop: (low) s.: 1821, Moncrieff (O.E.D.); Dickens, who, in 1837, also has 'whistling gentleman' (see whistler, 3). Very ob.

Whistling Willie and Sighing Sarah were Boer cannon firing on Ladysmith from Umbalwana: military: 1900. J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902.

Whit; often Whitt, occ. Witt. Newgate Prison.—2. the whit(t). Any prison: c.: ca. 1670–1840. Anon., A Warening for Housekeepers, 1676, 'O then they rub us to the whitt'; Coles and B.E. (Newgate); Grose. Perhaps suggested by the git of Newgate as gen. pronounced: cf., however, Whittington's College, q.v.

white, n., only in large (or half-bull) white, a half-crown, and small white, a shilling: counterfeiters' c. (—1823). 'Jon Bee.'—2. See whites.—3. See (3) of:

white, adj. Honourable; fair-dealing: U.S. s. (—1877), anglicised ca. 1885; by 1920, coll. Ex the self-imputed characteristics of a white man. Cf. white man, q.v.—2. Hence as adv.: U.S. s. (—1900) anglicised ca. 1905; by 1930, coll. E.g. act white, use (a person) white.—3. As n., 'a true, sterling fellow', C. J. Dennis: mostly Australian (—1916).

white-apron. A harlot: coll.: ca. 1590–1760. Satirist Hall; Pope. Ex dress.

white-ash breeze. The breeze caused by rowing: boating (—1904); slightly ob. F. & H., 'Oars are gen. made of white ash.' Imm. ex white ash, an oar: coll.: mid-C. 19–20.

white-bag man. A pickpocket: o. (—1923). Manchon. Why?

White Bear, the. Archbishop Whately (1787–1863), very unceremonious with opponents. Dawson.

White Brahmins. 'Excessively exclusive persons': among Europeans in India: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex an extremely exclusive religious sect. Ware.—2. Also, among the educated Indians, the English: coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Ibid.

white broth, spit. See spit white broth.

white choker. A white tie: lower-class: from ca. 1860; slightly ob.—2. Hence, a parson: id.: from ca. 1890; ob.

white coat. A hospital attendant in prison: o. (—1932). Anon., Dartmoor from Within.

white eye. Strong, inferior whiskey: military (—1874); ob. H., 5th ed. Orig. U.S.; so named because 'its potency is believed to turn the eyes round in the sockets, leaving the whites only visible', H.

white feather, show the. To maintain 'sufficient pressure of steam in the boilers to keep a white feather of steam over the safety valves': nautical: C. 20. Bowen.

white friar. A speck of white (froth, scum) floating on a (dark-coloured) liquid: from 1720's: coll. >, in C. 19, dial. Swift, 1729. O.E.D.

white Geordie. A shilling: Ayrshire: 1897, Ochiltree (E.D.D.).

white-haired boy is an Australian and New Zealand variant of the next entry: late C. 19–20. Whence you must have white hairs, a New Zealand c.p. to a man getting an unexpected favour: C. 20.

white-headed boy; usually my, her (etc.) w.-h. b. Favourite; darling: 1820: coll.; orig. Irish >, by 1890, fairly gen. Melmoth; Hall Caine (O.E.D.). Ex the very fair hair of babies and young children. Cf. snowy, q.v., and † S.E. white (i.e. favourite) boy and son.

white horse. (Indicative of) cowardice: Anglo-Irish coll.: C. 18–20; ob. Ware, 'From the tradition that James II fled from the battle of the Boyne on a white horse'.

white-horsed in, be. To obtain a job through influence: tailors' (—1904). F. & H. Perhaps ex buying a 'boss' drinks at an inn, (a) white horse being a frequent sign, hence name, of an inn.

white jenny. 'A foreign-made silver watch', says F. & H., ascribing it to H.: but where in H. is it?

white lace. See white ribbon.

white lapel. A lieutenant: naval: ? ca. 1860–1910. Bowen. Ex a feature of his uniform.

white lot. A silver watch and chain: c.: from ca. 1860. Ex white, for centuries an epithet applied to silver. Cf. white wool*, q.v.

white magic. 'Very beautiful fair women': Society: ca. 1875–1905. Ex lit. S.E. sense.—2. The Roman Catholic ritual: Protestants' coll. (—1909). Likewise, Ware.

white man. An honourable man: U.S. s. (1865), anglicised ca. 1887; by 1920, coll. Nat Gould, 1898, 'There goes a "white man" if ever there was one . . . That beard [is] the only black thing about him.' See white, adj.; cf. sahib, q.v.

white man's burden, the. Work: jocular coll.: from ca. 1929. Punning the S.E. sense.

white man's hansom woman. A coloured mistress: West Indian: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Clearly, there is a pun on hansom cab and handsome.

White Moor; gen. pl. A Genocse: coll. nickname: C. 17. Ex a very uncomplimentary proverb recorded by Howell in 1642: too rough on the Moors.

white nigger. A term of contempt for a white man: Sierra Leone Negroes' coll.: from ca. 1880. Ware quotes The Daily News of June 20, 1883. Cf. the American Negroes' poor white trash.

white poodle. A rough woolly cloth: tailors': ca. 1850–80. Ex poodle's coat.

white port. Some kind of strong liquor, prob. gin (cf. white ribbon . . .): ca. 1750–90. Toldervy, 1756. See the quotation at slug, n., 1.

white prop. A diamond scarf-pin: o. (—1859). H., 1st ed. Cf. white lot.

white ribbon, satin, tape, wine, wool; also w. lace. Gin: low: resp. C. 19–20; C. 19–20; from ca. 1720 (A New Canting Dict., 1725); 1820 (Randall's Diary); from ca. 1780 (Grose, 1st ed.); mid-C. 19–20,—occ. merely lace or its synonym driz. H., 1st ed., describes w. satin and w. tape as women's terms, as, also, was lace. All are ob.; in fact, white wine and w. wool did not survive beyond C. 19; white satin may well endure, however, because of the trade name, White Satin Gin. See also at ribbon and tape.

white sergeant. A 'breeches-wearing' wife, esp. and orig. as in the earliest record: Grose, 1st ed., 'A man fetched from the tavern . . . by his wife, is said to be arrested by the white sergeant.' † by 1890 or soon after; H., 3rd–5th edd., has it. Ex the martial bearing of this hardly less formidable 'woman in white.'

White Sheet. Wytschaete, in Flanders: military coll.: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.)

white soup. Silver plate melted down to avoid identification: C. (—1887). Ware.

white-stocking day. The days on which sailors' women-folk presented their half-pay notes to the owners: N.E. Coast: late C. 19. Bowen.

white stuff. Articles in silver: c.: late C. 19–20. David Hume. Cf. red stuff.

white swelling, have a. To be big with child: late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 1st ed., in Corrigenda. Ex the medical white swelling, a watery tumour. Cf. tympany.

white tape, wine, or wool. Gin. See white ribbon. Baumann's white taps is an error.

white 'un (or un). A silver watch: c. (—1874). H., 5th ed. Cf.:

white wine. See white ribbon.

white wings. A dinner-table steward: ship-stewards' (—1935). Ex dress.

white wool. Silver: c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. Cf. white lot, q.v.

Whitechapel; w. An upper-cut: pugilistic (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed.; 3rd ed. (1864) has:—2. That procedure in tossing coins in which two out of three wins: London; ob.—3. The murder of a woman: (East) London: ca. 1888–90. Ware. Ex numerous woman-murders in Whitechapel in 1888.—4. A lead from a single card: card-playing coll. (—1899); slightly ob. O.E.D. Ex Whitechapel play, q.v.

Whitechapel beau. One who, as Grose (1st ed.) so neatly phrases it, 'dresses with a needle and thread, and undresses with a knife': ca. 1780–1840. Cf. the entries at St Giles and Westminster, and Whitechapel oner.

Whitechapel breed, n. and adj. (A person) 'fat, ragged, and saucy', Grose, 1st ed.: low: ca. 1780–1850.

Whitechapel brougham; also Westminster b. A costermonger's donkey-barrow: low London (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Occ. Chapel cart. On S.E. Whitechapel cart.

Whitechapel fortune. 'A clean gown and a pair of pattens': low London: 1845 in 'Gipsy' Carew, 1891 (i.e. 'No. 747'); H., 3rd ed. A euphemisation of Whitechapel portion, q.v.

Whitechapel oner. 'A leader of light and youth in the Aldgate district—chiefly in the high coster interests': East London (—1909). Ware. Cf. Whitechapel beau.

Whitechapel play, n. and adj. Irregular or unskilful play, orig. and gen. at cards: coll.: 1755, The Connoisseur (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, in billiards (whence, in any game), unsportsmanlike methods: mid-C. 19–20.

Whitechapel portion. 'Two torn Smocks, and what Nature gave': low (mostly London): late C. 17–mid-19. B.E., Grose. Cf. Rochester or Tetbury portion, and Tipperary or Whitechapel fortune.

Whitechapel province. 'A club or brotherhood under the government of a prætor', Grose, 3rd ed.

London club life: late C. 18—early 19. Punning Roman provincial government: in C. 18 (e.g. in D'Urfey, 1719), prætor was occ. used of a mayor.

Whitechapel shave. 'Whitening judiciously applied to the jaws with the palm of the hand', Dickens, 1863, in The Uncommercial Traveller; ob. Cf. Whitechapel beau.

Whitechapel warriors. Militia or volunteers of the Aldgate district: East London: from ca. 1860; ob. Ware.

whitechokery. The upper classes: lower classes': ca. 1870–1700. Ware. Ex the white choker (see choker, 1).

Whitehall, he's been to. He looks very cheerful: military c.p. of ca. 1860–1905. Ware. Ex extension of leave obtained at Whitehall.

whiter. A white waistcoat: Harrow School. (—1904). Ex white by 'Oxford-er'.

whites. Silver money: c. (—1887). Baumann. Ex white, n. (q.v.).

whitewash. 'A glass of sherry as a finale, after drinking port and claret', H., 3rd ed.: from ca. 1860; ob. (Cf. whitewasher, q.v.) Ex colour—and use.

[whitewash, tho bankruptcy v., may orig. (mid-C. 18) have been coll.]

whitewash-worker. A seller of 'a liquid alleged to replate silverware at home', P. Allingham in The Evening News, July 9, 1934: grafters': C. 20.

whitewasher. A glass of white wine (e.g. sherry) taken at the end of a dinner: 1881, J. Grant (O.E.D.). Ex whitewash, n.

Whitewashers, the. The 61st Foot Regiment; from ca. 1881, the (2nd Battalion of the) Gloucestershire Regiment: military: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Ex liberal use of pipe-clay at the time of the Indian Mutiny. F. & Gibbons.

whither-go-ye. A wife: ca. 1670–1830. Ray, 1678, has how doth your whither-go-you?, i.e. your wife; B.E. (misprint whether . . .); Grose. Ex this question so frequently asked by wives.

Whitt; whitt. See Whit.

Whittington Priory. Holloway Prison (for debt); debtors': ca. 1860–1910. Ware. Ex proximity to Highgate (associated with Whittington).

Whittington's College. Newgate Prison: ca. 1785–1840. Grose, 2nd ed.; in G.'s Provincial Glossary, 1790: he has studied at Whittington's College, ho has been imprisoned at Newgate; there, G. adds that Newgate was rebuilt in 1423 by Whittington's executors. Ex the famous Lord Mayor of that name, but perhaps suggested by Whit, q.v.

whittle. To give information, to 'peach'; to confess at the gallows: from 1720's: c. >, by 1850, low s.; ob. Swift, 1727; H., 5th ed. A variant of whiddle, q.v.

whiz, whizz. 'Buz, or noise, interruption of tongues': (low) London: ca. 1820–90. Bee.—2. Pocket-picking: c.: from ca. 1920. Chas. E. Leach.

whiz !, hold your. Be quiet !; 'shut up !': low (—1887); ob. Baumann. Ex sibilant whispering.

whizz. To be actively a pickpocket: c.: from ca. 1920. Cf. buz in the same sense. Ex his speed.

whizz-bang. A shell fired from a light field-gun, esp. the German '77; rarely the gun: military: from 1914. B. & P. One only just heard, if at all !, the whizz of its flight before one heard the bang of the explosion.—2. Hence, the stereotyped field postcard (soon censored): id.: from 1915. Ibid.

whizz-boy. A pickpocket: c.: C. 20. Margery Allingham, Policemen at the Funeral, 1931. Also among grafters: witness Philip Allingham, Cheap-jack, 1934. Cf.:

whizz-game. The jostling of persons by one criminal to enable another to pick their pockets: c.: from ca. 1920. (James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934.)

whizz-man; whizzer. A pickpocket: c.: from ca. 1920. 'Stuart Wood', both forms. Ex whiz, n., 2.

whizz-mob. A gang of pickpockets: c.: C. 20. Also among grafters: witness P. Allingham, Cheap-jack, 1934. See whiz, 2.

who is cataphoric, both when it is preceded by redundant and and when he, she, they, etc., follows dundantly in the relative clause: C. 16–20. (O.E.D.)

who and whom. As who is often, and increasingly, used, in coll. speech (and more and more in writing), for whom, i.e. as the objective after a v.t. or a preposition, so whom frequently occurs for who. But while 'Who I'm giving this book to isn't your concern' will, I believe, soon be almost 'universal' (such is the force and linguistic cogeny of speech-habits), there is, for this very reason, perhaps, less—much less—excuse for, and far less cogeny in, the condonation and esp. in the authorisation of such barbarisms as 'I don't know whom will be there,'—a phrasal type arising from illogical confusion with such a sentence as 'I don't know whom to thank'. Perhaps the commonest cause of 'whom for who' is the parenthesis, actual or virtual: the writer forgets the real subject, as in The Daily Mail, Dec. 28, 1935, 'Mr Cornelius . . . told a Daily Mail reporter that at 2 a.m. yesterday he was aroused by calls for help from a woman, whom he later learned was Lady . . .', he later learned causing all the trouble.

who all, and I don't know. And other persons unnamed: coll.: from ca. 1840; rare. Cf. what all, q.v. The who all may be owing to the influence of some such phrase as and I don't know who else at all or . . . what others at all, or to a confusion of both these phrases.

who are yer (you)?—who are you? An offensive inquiry and its truculent answer: c.p.p. of London streets: from 1883 (Ware).

who did yer (you) say? A c.p. 'levelled at a person of evident, or self-asserting importance, and uttered by one friend to another': London streets': 1890's. Ware.

who pawned her sister's ship? A Clare Market (London) c.p. of ca. 1897–9, directed offensively at a woman. Ware proposes shift corrupted.

who pulled your chain? A military c.p. snub (1914; slightly ob.) 'for anyone intruding into a conversation'. Ex the pulling of a lavatory-chain + shit, n., 2.

who shot the dog? A c.p. directed ill-naturedly at volunteers: London streets': 1860's. Ware.

who took it out of you? A c.p. connoting a dejected or washed-out look in the addressee: low London (—1909). Ware.

who? who? Government, the. The Ministry of: 1852: Society. Ware. Ex the aged Duke of Wellington's inquiries as to who they were.

who wouldn't . . . See sea P, who . . .

whoa-Ball; incorrectly whow-ball. A milkmaid: late C. 17—early 19. B.E., Grose. Prob. = whoa / + Ball, a common name for a cow, as Grose suggests. Cf. Whoball's children.

whoa, bust me! A low London exclamation of ca. 1850–1910. Ware.

whoa, carry me out ! See carry me out.

whoa, Emma ! An urban lower-classes' c.p. directed at a woman 'of marked appearance or behaviour in the streets': ca. 1880-1900. Ware, who gives it an anecdotal origin. 'Quotations' Benham has the form whoa, Emma ! mind the paint. —2. Whence, a non-aristocratic warning, to a person of either sex, to be careful: from ca. 1900; ob.

whoa, Jameson ! A c.p. constituting 'an admiring warning against plucky rashness': non-aristocratic, non-cultured: 1896-7. Ex the Jameson Raid. (Ware.)

Whoball's children, he is none of John. 'You cannot easily make him a fool,' Terence in English, 1598: a semi-proverbial c.p. of C. 17. See whoa-Ball.

whoever. Whomsoever: catachrestic: C. 16-20.—2. In perplexity or surprise, an emphasised who; properly, two words (cf. whatever): coll.: mid-C. 19-20. R. G. White, 1881, says that it is 'mostly confined to ladies'. O.E.D.

whole boiling hog, etc. See the nn.

whole-footed. (Of persons) unreserved, free and easy: from 1730's: s. >, ca. 1760, coll. >, ca. 1820, dial. North, ca. 1734. Ex whole-footed, 'treading with the whole foot on the ground, not lightly or on tip-toe', O.E.D.

whole hog, go the. See go the whole hog.

[whole-hogger is political j. rather than coll.]

wholeskin brigade. A military unit that has not yet been in action: Boer War military. Ware.

whom. See 'who and whom'.

whom else is incorrect for who else in such a sentence as this in A. Berkeley, Panic Party, 1934, 'She carried half a dozen stewards, three cooks, a pantryman, and heaven only knew whom else as well.'

whomever, whomsoever. Occ. catachrestically for whoever, whosoever: C. 14-20. (O.E.D.)

whoopee, n.; esp. make whoopee, to enjoy oneself, rejoice hilariously: coll.: U.S. (from ca. 1927) anglicised by 1933 at latest. F. Keston Clarke in The Humorist, July 21, 1934, 'Sitting on molehills and counting grasshoppers isn't my idea of rural whoopee.' Ex whoop with joy.

whooper-up. A noisy, inferior singer: music-halls' and theatrical (— 1909); ob. Ware.

whop; whap, C. 19-20; whapp, C. 15. A bump, heavy blow, resounding impact: (in C. 20, somewhat low) coll.: C. 15-20. H. G. Wells, 1905, '... Explained the cyclist ... "I came rather a whop"', O.E.D. Cf.:

whop, v., C. 18-20; whap, C. 16, 19-20; occ. wap, wop, C. 19-20. To strike heavily, thrash, belabour: (in C. 20, low) coll.: mid-C. 16-20. Dickens, 1837, "Ain't nobody to be whopped for takin' this here liberty, sir?" said Mr. Weller, O.E.D. Ex whop (spelt whapp), to cast violently, take or put suddenly.—2. Hence, to defeat (utterly); to surpass, excel greatly: coll.: in C. 20, low coll. From the 1830's. Thackeray, 'Where [his boys] might whop the French boys and learn all the modern languages.'

whop-straw; Johnny Whop-Straw. A clod-hopper, a rustic: (low) coll., ex dial.: C. 19-20. Clare, 1821 (O.E.D.); H., 2nd ed.

whopper; whapper; wopper; wapper. Something, some animal or person, unusually large in its kind: (in C. 20, low) coll.: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed. (whapper); Marryat, 1829 (whopper); Surtees, 1854 (wopper); Walker, 1901, "'Blime, she's a whopper!'" says Billy.' Ex whop, v.—2. Hence, a 'thumping' lie: (low) coll.: 1791, Nairne (O.E.D.).—3. A person that 'whops': (low) coll.: late C. 19-20.

whopper-jawed. Incorrect for wapper-jawed: mid-C. 19-20. O.E.D.

whopping. A severe beating, thrashing, defeat: (low) coll.: C. 19-20. Ex whop, v.

whopping, adj., C. 19-20; whapping, C. 18-20; wapping, C. 17-20; wopping, mid-C. 19-20. Unusually large or great: coll.; in C. 20, low.—2. Rarely, 'terribly' false (tales, etc.), 'terribly fine' (persons): id.; same period. Ex whop, v. Cf. whopper.

whore is, in mid-C. 19-20, considered a vulgarity; harlot is considered preferable, but in C. 20, archaic; prostitute, however, is now quite polite.—2. Hence, a term of opprobrium even for a man: coll.: late C. 19-20. Gen. pronounced hoor or hoo'-er.

whore-pipe. The penis: low (— 1791); † by 1890. Grose, 3rd ed.

whore's bird than a canary bird, he sings more like a. He has a strong, manly voice: c.p.: late C. 18—early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. A whore's bird is a debauchee.

whore's curse. 'A piece of gold coin value five shillings and threepence, frequently given to women of the town by such as professed always to give gold, and who before the introduction of those pieces, always gave half a guinea', Grose, 1st ed.: (mostly London) coll.: mid-C. 18.

whore's get. An indivisible phrase used mostly as a pejorative term of address: nautical (— 1885); ob. Ex get, n., 2, on whore's son.

who's. A frequent written sol. for whos2: † since C. 16.

who's your lady friend? A c.p.: from ca. 1910. Ex a popular song.

whow-ball. See whoa-Ball.

whoy-oi ! A 'cry used by coster-class upon sight of a gaily dressed girl passing near them. Also the cry of welcome amongst London costermongers', Ware, 1909. Whence hoy !

whuff, n. and v. A or to roar or bellow (e.g. like, or like that of, a rhinoceros): coll. — 1887). Baumann.

whump. See wump.

why, for. See for why.

Whyms. Members of the Y.M.C.A.: clubmen's: ca. 1882-1905. Ware. By 'telescoping of these initials'.

Wi(-)Wi; occ. Wee(-)Wee, or Wewi; etymologisingly, Oui-Oui. Also, the singular form is often used as a pl. A Frenchman: New Zealand and hence, to some extent, Australia: 1845, E. J. Wakefield; 1859, A. S. Thomson, 'The Wewis, as the French are now called'; 1881, Anon., Percy Pomo (Weewees). Morris. Ex the Frenchman's fondness for oui ! oui ! (and non ! non !): cf. Dee-Donk, q.v.

wibble. Bad liquor; any thin, weak beverage: (? mainly provincial) s. or coll. (— 1785); ob., except in the provinces. Grose, 1st ed.; F. & H., 1904. ? cf.:

wibble-wobble. Unsteadily: coll. (— 1847). Halliwell. A 'reduplication of wobble (with vowel-variation symbolising alternation of movement: cf. zigzag)', O.E.D.—2. Whence as v., to move unsteadily; to totter, oscillate, vibrate: from ca. 1870 and likewise coll. Whence:

wibbly-wobbly. Unsteady: coll. and dial.: from mid-1870's. Ex preceding.

wibbly. A C. 20 abbr. (unrecorded before 1914): of:

wibbly-wobbly. Unsteady; apt to 'wibble-wobble', q.v.: coll.: C. 20.

wibbling's witch, or W. W. The four of clubs: C. 18-19. Grose, 1st ed., 'From one James Wibling, who in the reign of King James I, grew rich by private gaming, and who was commonly observed to have that card, and never to lose a game but when he had it not'.

wicher-cully, etc. See witcher.

wicked. Very bad, 'horrid', 'beastly': coll.: C. 17-20. T. Taylor, 1639, 'It is too well known what a wicked number of followers he hath had'; Horace Walpole, 'They talk wicked French.' O.E.D. Cf.:

wickedly. Very badly; horridly: coll.: C. 18-20. Sterne. Ex preceding. (O.E.D.)

Wickedshifts. Lord Brougham: ca. 1828-50. John Gore, Creevey's Life and Times, 1934.

wicket. A casement: c., or perhaps merely catachrestic: mid-C. 17-early 19. Coles.

wicket-keep. A wicket-keeper: coll. verging on S.E.: 1867. Lewis. Abbr. wicket-keeper.

Wickham. A Wickham's fancy: coll. (anglers'): from ca. 1910. (O.E.D.)

Wicklows. Shares in the Dublin, Wicklow, & Wexford Railway: Stock Exchange coll. (-1895). A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

widda, widder, widdy. A widow: dial. and low coll.: C. 19-20.—2. Hence, the widdy. The gallows: Scots: ? C. 19. Cf. widow, 3, q.v.: ? pun on widdy, a halter.

widdle. See whiddle.—widdy. See widda.

wide. Immoral; lax: mid-C. 16-20: S.E. until late C. 19, then coll.—2. Alert, well-informed, shrewd: 1877, Horsley, Jottings from Jail. Abbr. wide-awake. It verges on c. Cf.:

wide, to the. Utterly; esp. in done or whacked to the wide, utterly exhausted: coll.: from ca. 1912. Very gen. among soldiers in G.W. (F. & Gibbons.) I.e. to the wide world: for all to see.—2. done or dead to the wide, utterly drunk: C. 20. Lyell.

wide at or of the bow-hand (i.e. the left). Wide of the mark: coll.: late C. 16-mid-17. Shakespeare, Dekker, Webster. (Apperson.) Ex archery.

wide-awake. Sharp-witted; alert: s. (1833) >, ca. 1860, coll. Dickens. (O.E.D.)

wido. Wide-awake, alert: low (-1859); virtually †. H., 1st ed. Cf. wide, 2.

widow. As title to the name: mid-C. 16-20: S.E. until C. 19, then mainly dial. and uncultured coll.—2. 'Fire expiring's call'd a widow,' The British Apollo, 1710: C. 18-20; ob. Cf. S.E. widow's fire. O.E.D.—3. (Always the widow.) The gallows: ? C. 18-mid-19. Ex Fr. la veuve.—4. An additional hand dealt in certain card-games: late C. 19-20: s. >, by 1920, coll.—5. (the Widow.) Queen Victoria: military coll.: 1863-1901. Ware, 'In no way disparaging'.—6. (the widow, the W.) Champagne: 1899, Guy Boothby, 'A good luncheon and a glass of the Widow to wash it down', O.E.D.; Ware, however, states that it dates from forty years earlier. Ex Veuve Clicquot.

widow, grass. See grass widow.

widow bewitched. A woman separated from her husband: coll. (1725) >, in mid-C. 19, mainly dial. Bailey; Mrs Gaskell. Cf. grass widow, q.v.

Widows, the. The Scottish Widows' Society: insurance coll.: late C. 19-20. Cf. the Pru.

widow's mite. A light: rhyming s.: late C. 19-20. B. & P.

[widow's weeds has, in F. & H., a wholly erroneous entry.]

wife. A leg-shackle: (mostly prison) c.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.; H., 2nd ed. Ex clinging.

wife, all the world and his. Everybody: jocular coll.: C. 18-20. Swift.

wife as a dog of a side-pocket, as much need of a. See side-pocket.

wife cries five loaves a penny, one's. She is in travail: a semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1670-1758. Ray, 1678. (Apperson.) I.e. she cries out, pain-racked.

wife in water-colours. A mistress or concubine: ca. 1780-1840. Grose, 1st ed. Easily fading colours: bonds quickly dissolved.—2. Hence, in C. 19, a morganatic wife.

wife out of Westminster. A wife of dubious morality: London coll.: C. 18-20; very ob., Ware in 1909 remarking: 'Sometimes still heard in the East of London'. Ex the proverb cited at Westminster wedding, q.v.

wifeish. Incorrect for wifish: C. 19-20.

wifey, wifie, rarely wif(e)y. Endearment for a wife: coll.: from ca. 1820. Properly, little wife, but gen. used regardless of size.

wiffle-woffle. An arrogant fellow: low (-1923). Manchon. Perhaps because he gives one:

wiffle-woffles, the. A stomach-ache; sorrow; melancholy, the dumps: mainly proletarian (-1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Cf. colly-wobbles (sense), wibble-wobble (form).

wiffow gadget. The same as hook-me-dinghy, q.v.: nautical: late C. 19-20. Bowen. See also gadget.

wify. See wifey.

wig. A severe scolding or reprimand: 1804, Sir J. Malcolm (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1890, coll.; slightly ob. Cf. wigging, much more gen. in C. 20. Perhaps ex a bigwig's rebuke.—2. Abbr. bigwig, a dignitary: coll. (rare after ca. 1870): 1828 (O.E.D.).—3. A penny: Ayrshire s. (-1905), not dial. E.D.D., Sup. Perhaps because it was the usual price of a wig, a bun or a tea-cake.

wig, v. To scold; rebuke, reprimand, reprove severely: s. (1829, The Examiner) >, ca. 1860, coll. Ex wig, n., 1, or wigging, q.v. Cf. Fr. laver la tête: W.—2. To move off, go away: North Country c. (-1864). H., 3rd ed. Whence?

wig !, dash my; my wig ! See wigs.

wig-block. The head: coll. (-1923). Manchon.

wig-faker. A hairdresser: low London: late C. 18-19. Ware.

wig, oil (a person's). To make him drunk: coll. (-1923). Manchon.

wig-wag, v., n. and adv. To wag lightly; such wagging: coll.: late C. 16-20. (O.E.D.) Reduplicated wag. Adj., wig-waggy: C. 20.—2. Hence, n. and v., (to transmit) a message by signalling; the message; the flag: military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons.

Wigan is national joke, esp. in come from Wigan to be a thorough urban provincial: from ca. 1920: c.p. wigannowns. A man wearing a large wig: ca. 1785-1830. Grose, 1st ed.

Wiggie. See Wiggy.

wigging. A scolding; a severe rebuke, reproof, reprimand: s. (1813) >, by 1850, coll. Barham, 'If you wish to 'scape wigging, a dumb wife's handy.' Ex wig, n., 1.

Wiggins, Mr. 'Any mannerist of small brains and showy feather,' Bce: London (— 1823); † by 1900.

wiggle. A wriggle; esp. in get a wiggle on, to hurry: Canadian: C. 20. John Beames. Ex:

wiggle, v. To waggle, wriggle: C. 13–20: S.E. till C. 19, then coll.—2. Hence the n.: coll.: late C. 19–20.—3. The same applies to simple derivatives.—4. See wiggle-waggle, 2.

wiggle-waggle, adj. (1778); hence v. and n., both from ca. 1820. Vacillating; to move (v.i. and t.) in a wiggling, wagging way: coll. O.E.D.—2. To strut about: coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Also wiggle.

wiggly; wiggly-waggly or -woggly. The adj. of wiggle, q.v.: coll.: C. 20. Ex dial.

Wiggy. The inseparable nickname of men surnamed Bennett: naval, military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons; Bowen. Origin presumably anecdotal.

wig(s)!, dash my; wig(s)!, my. Mild imprecations: coll.: resp. 1797 (1812); 1891 (1871). Morris, 1891, 'I am writing a short narrative poem. My wig! but it is garrulous,' O.E.D. Perhaps ex dashing one's wig down in anger.

wigsby. A man wearing a wig: jocular coll. (— 1785). Grose, 1st ed., has also Mr Wigsby; wigster occurs ca. 1820. All three were ob. by 1880, and by 1920 they were †. Cf. rudesby, a rude person, and wigannowns, q.v.

wild. A village: tramps' c. (— 1839). Brandon; H., 2nd ed. Cf. S.E. vill, c. vile, q.v.—2. the Wild. 'The extreme Evangelical party in the Church of Scotland': nickname: from late 1820's. O.E.D.

wild, adj. See 'Moving-Picture Slang', § 6.

wild-cat. A rash projector, risky investor (1812); a risky or unsound business-undertaking (1839): U.S. coll., anglicised ca. 1880; slightly ob.—2. Hence, adj., risky, unsound (business or business enterprise); hence, reckless or rash: coll., orig. (1838) U.S., anglicised ca. 1880. Ex the American wild-cat; it 'dates from U.S. period of "frenzied finance" (1836),' W.

wild-catter, -cattling. A person engaging in, an instance or the practice of, 'wild-cat' business: coll.: U.S. (1883), anglicised ca. 1900. See preceding entry.

wild dell. A 'dell' (q.v.) begotten and born under a hedge: c.: ? C. 17–early 19.

wild-fire. Some strong liquor; perhaps brandy: ca. 1750–80. See quotation at slug, n., 1.

wild goose. A recruit for the Irish Brigade in French service: military: mid-C. 17–18. M. O'Connor, Military History of the Irish Nation, 1845. Ex wild-goose chase.—2. Hence, the Irish Jacobites self-exiled on the Continent in 1691 and later: a late C. 17–mid-18 nickname. (O.E.D.)

Wild Indians, the. The Prince of Wales's Leinster Regiment (Royal Canadians): military: from the 1870's; ob. Ex the Canadian expression of loyalty at the time of the Mutiny. F. & H.

Wild Irishman, the. 'The evening mail train between Euston and Holyhead,' F. & H.: journalistic, hence fairly gen. from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Cf. Flying Scotsman. Ex conventional phrase.

Wild Macraes, the. The 72nd, now the Seaforth, Highlanders: from 1777, when the regiment was raised, the Clan Macrae providing the majority of the recruits. F. & Gibbons.

wild mare, ride the. See ride the wild mare.

wild rogue. A born or thorough-paced thief: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.

wild squirt. Diarrhoea: low coll. (— 1785); ob. Grose, 1st ed.

wild train. A train not on the time-table, hence 'not entitled to the track' as is a regular train: railwaymen's (— 1904). F. & H.

wilderness. A windlass: nautical (not very gen.): late C. 19–20. Bowen.

wilful murder. The card-game known as 'blind hookey': from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.

Wilhelm II much. A bit too much of the Kaiser!: Society: 1898. Ware. Ex his many activities.

wilk. See whilk.

Wilkie Bards. A pack of cards: rhyming s.: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Ex Wilkie Bard, comedian and 'card'.

will. Unemphasised 'shall' in the first person: coll., but in C. 20 verging on S.E. Discussion is here supererogatory: see esp. Fowler's Modern English Usage.

Will-o'-the-wisp. (Gen. pl.) A shell with flight difficult to follow: Army officers': in G.W.

will you shoot? Will you pay for a small drink of spirits?: Australian taverns' (— 1909); ob. Ware.

William, an acceptance, occurs esp. in meet sweet William, to meet a bill on its presentation: commercial (— 1864). H., 3rd ed. Punning bill.—2. Weak tea: lower classes' (— 1923). Manchon.

William, the people's. Gladstone: journalistic and political nickname: 1884–ca. 90. Baumann. Ex his Christian name.

William Bon Chrétien. Incorrect for Williams's (s) Bon Chrétien (pear): late C. 19–20. O.E.D.

Willie. A (child's) penis: Cumberland and Westmorland s. (— 1905), not dial. E.D.D. (Sup.)

Willie, Big and Little. The Kaiser and the Crown Prince: coll.: 1914; ob. B. & P. Ex Wilhelm.—2. Hence, nicknames for all sorts of things, e.g. guns: military: late 1914–18. Ibid.

Willie, Willie!, o(h). A c.p. of 'satiric reproach addressed to a taradiddler rather than a flat liar': non-aristocratic: 1898–ca. 1914. Ware. Cf.:

Willie, Willie—wicked, wicked! This c.p. of ca. 1900–14 constitutes a 'satiric street reproach addressed to a middle-aged woman talking to a youth.' Ware derives it ex a droll law-suit.

willies, the. (Cf. wiffle-woffles, perhaps its origin.) A feeling of nervousness, discomfort, vague fear: U.S. (1900), anglicised ca. 1925. (O.E.D. Sup.)

willin', willing. (Of persons) 'strenuous, hearty,' C. J. Dennis: Australian coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 19–20.

willn't; willot. Will not: coll.: C. 19. (See wash, v., 1.) Cf. won't, q.v. willock-eater. (Gen. pl.) An Eastbourne fishing-boat: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen. A willock is a guillemot, a not very edible bird.

willow. 'Poor, and of no Reputation,' B.E.: late C. 17–early 19. Lit., willowy.

Willy Arnot. Good whiskey: Shetland Islands s. (1897), not dial. E.D.D. Perhaps ex a well-known landlord.

willy-nilly. Undecided: catachrestic: 1883, Galton. Confused with shilly-shally. O.E.D. willywaws. Squalls in the Straits of Magellan; but also light, variable winds elsewhere : nautical : late C. 19–20. Bowen. Perhaps ex whirly-whirly.

wilt. To run away, to 'bunk': London: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex wilt, (of flowers) to fade, to grow limp. Cf. fade out, q.v., and the ob. C. 20 'gag', 'wilt thou (be my wedded wife)?' and she wilted.

wimminy-pimminy. Dainty, elegant: lower-classes' coll. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann. Echoic.

wimp. A (young) woman, a girl: from ca. 1920; ob. Manchon. Perhaps ex whimper.

win, wing, winn, whin(n), but gen. the first or the third. A penny: c. (— 1567): resp. C. 17–20, late C. 19–20 (mostly in Ireland and hence U.S.), C. 17–20, C. 19–20. Harman, Dekker, B.E., Grose, Vaux (Winchester; † by 1900), 'Jon Bee' (who defines as a halfpenny), H., Flynt (wing). Perhaps abbr. Winchester.—2. (win, and for senses 3, 4.) A victory: (sports and games) coll.: from ca. 1860. (O.E.D.)—3. A gain; gen. pl., (mostly monetary) gains: coll.: from ca. 1890. Perhaps abbr. winning(s).—4. Success of any fig. kind: coll.: C. 20. C. J. Dennis.

win, v. To steal: c.: from late C. 17. B.E., Grose. In the Army, 1914–18 (and after), s., with the extension: to gain not quite lawfully or officially. Galsworthy, Swan Song, 1928, "How are you going to get the money?" "Win, wangle, and scrounge it". Cf. (to make, q.v., and, in Fr. c., the exactly synonymous gagner). The n. winnings may, as = 'plunder, goods, or money acquired by theft' (Grose, 2nd ed.), be c.: C. 18–20.

winable. Incorrect for winnable: C. 18–20. Miss Anna Porter, 1807. O.E.D.

Winchester. See win, n., 1.

[Winchester College slang is the richest and most interesting of all the Public School slangs: cf. the entries at 'Eton', 'Harrow', 'Rugby' and 'Westminster'. Many terms will be found in these pages, but it is to be remarked that in the Winchester 'notions' it is extremely difficult, in many instances, to distinguish between technicalities (j.) and slang or colloquial terms. The 'locus classicus' is R. G. K. Wrench's Winchester Word-Book, 1891; the second edition—the only one possessed by the British Museum—followed in 1901. But a very good short account appears in R. Townsend Warner's Winchester, 1900,—from which this abridgement:—

"Notions", or the school language. . . . Complicated as the language of Winchester is, there is no consciousness of anything like affectation or pedantry in using it. To a new-comer, after a week of two, notions seem the only possible words for certain meanings. . . . As they are the last forgotten, so they are the first learnt lesson of Winchester. A new man must learn, for instance, that the article is seldom found in Winchester grammar, especially in the names of places. . . .

2. Another tendency is the pluralization of words. . . . Hills, meads, crockets (cricket). The last word also is an example of the fondness of strengthening vowels in the middle of words, such as cropple, meaning to "pluck" or "plough" (from cripple), and roush for a rush or rapid stream of water.

3. A less ancient tendency of Winchester talk is to drop the final "tion". . . . lengthening the vowel then left final; thus "examinâ" [examinah] for "examination". . . . [Wrench dates it from ca. 1850.]

4. Apart from their often respectable antiquity, notions also differ from ordinary school slang in that many of them are not merely the language of the boys, but are part of the official language of the school used by and to masters also. Thus in answer to a Don (master) asking a man why he was "tardy up to books at morning lines" [late in school at first lesson], it would be quite proper to reply that "junior in chambers sported a thoke" [the junior in his dormitory overslept himself instead of waking the others in time].

5. Many notions are simply old English words which have been dropped out of common use. For instance, to firk is the notion for to send or to send away. And we find this sense . . . in "Morte Arthure" . . . Again, a Winchester man who says he finds it "an awful swink (hard work) to do mathematics" [is using an excellent old English word]; and should he . . . pursue his mathematical labours till he got a headache, he would naturally say it works (hurts), thus using the language of . . . Malory: "myn hede werches so". If his head got worse he might have to go continent . . . to sickhouse or a continent room. The word continent here means "keeping within doors" [as in Shakespeare]. And if he got worse the doctor might forbid him to "come abroad" (the notion for being allowed out again after "going continent"), [thus employing the language of Sir Thomas More].

6. Latin words.

These are either bodily imported into use or slightly altered or contracted . . . This is a common practice of all schools, but . . . particularly prevalent at Winchester, where . . . the talking of Latin was [once] a regular institution.

Half-remedy, commonly half-rem, "half holiday". From remedium.

To tund, "to beat with a ground-ash". From tundo.

Semper, "always", used as an adjective.

Non-licet, "not allowed".

. . . A ball is still called a "pill", which is simply pilum anglicised, while the notion for a stone is a "rock" [via L. saxum: cf. U.S. usage]. . . . Other Latin-formed words are evidently perpetuated from the Latin of the statutes, or early school rules. Thus to socius, meaning to go in company with another . . ., is a relic of the early rule that scholars must always go in company, "sociati". . . .

7. Names of people perpetuated as words . . .

Barter [q.v.] . . .

John Des paper, a special kind of paper introduced at Winchester for mathematics by John Desborough Walford, the first regular mathematical master.

Bill Brighter [q.v.] . . .

8. Notions surviving as names of places.

[Technicalities, thcse.] . . .

9. Notions commemorating old school customs.

[E.g. (perhaps), brock, brockster, qq.v.] . . .

'Prefects' writing-tables are still called "washing-stools" in college, because the tables were originally provided to stand basins on for washing. [This, clearly, is a technicality.]']

Winchester goose. A bubo: mid-C. 16–17. Bacon (1559), Shakespeare, Cotgrave. The brothels in Southwark were, in C. 16, under the Bishop of Winchester's jurisdiction: F. & H.—2. Hence a person infected therewith; hence, an objectionable person: C. 17. All three senses, also Winchester pigeon.

winchin'. Courting; courtship: Glasgow (C. 20). I.e. wenching in favourable sense: cf. † Scots winchie, a young woman.

wind. The stomach: boxing: 1823 (O.E.D.). Dickens, 1853. A blow thereon 'takes away the breath by checking the action of the diaphragm'.

wind, by the. Short of money: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

wind, carry the. To be mettlesome, or high-spirited: sporting (— 1904); ob. F. & H., 'Properly of horses tossing the nose as high as the ears.'

wind, go down the. See weather, go up the.

wind, in the. See in the wind.

wind, lagged for one's. See winder, nap a.

wind, raise the. See raise the wind.—wind, sail near (or close to) the. See sail.—wind, slip one's. See slip the wind.—wind, thin as a rasher of. See rasher of wind.—wind and water, shot between. See shot between.

wind-bag. A wind-jammer: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.—2. See windbag.

wind do whirl (or hyphenated). A girl: rhyming s. (— 1859); in C. 20, †. H., 1st ed.

wind enough to last a Dutchman a week. More wind than enough: (orig. nautical) coll.: from the 1830's; ob. Dana. Cf. Dutch, q.v.

wind fight. A false alarm: military: 1915; ob. F. & Gibbons. Cf. windy.

wind-jammer. A sailing vessel: U.S. s. (1899) anglicised almost imm.; by 1930, coll. The Athenæum, Feb. 8, 1902.—2. A player on a wind instrument: theatrical (— 1904). F. & H. Perhaps influenced by U.S. wind-jammer, a talkative person.—3. An unpopular officer, esp. if inspecting: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons; and esp. if sparing of furlough: naval: C. 20. Bowen.

wind-mill. The fundament: low (— 1811); ob. Lex. Bal., 'She has no fortune but her mills,' a low c.p.: i.e. 'wind-mill' and 'water-mill'.

wind one's cotton. To cause trouble: proletarian (— 1860); ob. H., 2nd ed.

wind-pudding. Air: low: from 1890's. Whence live on w.p., go hungry.

wind-stick. An aeroplane control-lever: Air Force coll.: from 1916. F. & Gibbons.

wind-stopper. A garrotter: c.: late C. 19–20. Cf. ugly man, q.v.

wind up. To render (a race-horse) fit to run: racing: from ca. 1870. (O.E.D.)

wind up, get or have (got) the. To get frightened or alarmed: to be so: military: 1915. After G.W., it > gen. Ian Hay, 1915 (O.E.D. Sup.); P. Gibbs, (late) 1916, 'It was obvious that the blinking Boche had got the wind up.' Perhaps ex the early days of aviation, when wind, if at all strong, precluded flight.—2. Whence wind up, nervousness, anxious excitement: from not later than 1918.

wind up, put the. To scare or greatly frighten (a person): 1916: military >, by 1919, gen. C. Alington, 1922 (O.E.D.). Ex preceding.

wind up the clock. To coit with a woman: educated: from ca. 1760; ob. Perhaps ex a mildly pornographic passage in Tristram Shandy.

wind vertical; with vertical breeze. 'Wind up', i.e. frightened, very nervous: military, mostly officers': from 1916. B. & P. Also suffer from a vertical breeze or, occ., gust, to be 'windy' (F. & Gibbons). See wind up, get the.

windbag. A mystery packet: grafters': C. 20 Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. The contents are worth little more than those of an empty bag.—2. See wind-bag.

windbag man. A seller of scaled envelopes: grafters': from ca. 1910. P. Allingham in The Evening News, July 9, 1934. See preceding term.

winded-settled. Transported for life: o. (— 1859); ob. H., 1st ed. Ex pugilism.

winder. A knock-out blow (lit. or fig.), something that astounds one, an effort that breathes one: coll.: 1825, Westmacott (O.E.D.). Cf. winder, nap a, q.v.—2. A window: sol. and dial.: C. 19–20,—and prob. centuries earlier.

winder, nap a. To be transported for life: o. of ca. 1810–60. Vaux, who has also be lagged for one's wind.—2. To be hanged: c. (— 1859). See winder.—3. In boxing, to receive a blow that deprives one of breath: mid-C. 19–20.—4. Hence, to receive a shock, a severe set-back: low: from ca. 1860.

winding-post, nap the. To be transported: o. of ca. 1820–60. Egan's Grose. Cf. winder, nap a. windjammer. See wind-jammer.—windmill. See wind-mill.

windmill J.P. An ill-educated J.P.: New South Wales: ca. 1850–80. Because presumed to indicate his name with a cross: on maps, X = a wind-mill.

windmills in the head. Empty projects: coll.: late C. 17–19. B.E., Grose, Spurgeon. Ex the windmill-tilting of Don Quixote. (Apperson.) window. A monocle: lower classes': from ca. 1860; slightly ob. Ware.

window, goldsmith's. A rich working in which the gold shows freely: gold-mining s. (orig. and mainly Australian) >, ca. 1920, coll. Boldrewood, 1891.

window-blind. A sanitary towel: low (— 1904). F. & H. window-dressing. 'Manipulation of figures and accounts to show fictitious or exaggerated value': commercial coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Ex lit. sense.

window-fishing. Entry through a window into a house: c.: late C. 19–20.

window-pane. A monocle: jocular coll. (— 1923). Manchon. Cf. window, q.v.

window-peeper. An assessor and/or collector of the window-tax: coll.: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 1st ed. This tax was removed in 1851 (O.E.D.).

windsel. A nautical variant of windsail: coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

windstick. See wind-stick.

windward passage, one who navigates or uses the. A sodomite: low (— 1785); ob. Grose, 1st ed.

windy. Conceited, over-proud: C. 17–20: S.E. until mid-C. 19, then Scots coll.—2. Afraid or very nervous; apt to 'get the wind up': (? late) 1915: military >, by 1919, gen. Hankey, 1916 (O.E.D.). Ex wind up, get the, q.v.—3. Applied to any place likely to induce fear: military: from 1916. There were various 'Windy Corners' on the Western Front. F. & Gibbons.

windy wallets. 'A noisy prater, vain boaster, romancing yarnster,' F. & H.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex dial.

wine. To drink wine, orig. and mainly at an undergraduates' wine-party: coll.: 1829, C. Wordsworth (O.E.D.).—2. Hence, to treat (a person) to wine: coll.: from early 1860's.—3. Whence dine and wine, the entertainments being separate or combined: coll.: 1867 (O.E.D.).

wine-bag. A toper specialising in wine: (low) coll.: late C. 19–20. Cf.:

winer. One who habitually or excessively drinks wine: coll.: C. 20. Cf.:

winey. Drunk; properly, drunk with wine: low (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

wing. A quid of tobacco: prison c.: 1832, J. Greenwood, Gaol Birds.—2. See win, n., 1.—3. (Gen. pl.) An arm: nautical: ca. 1820–1910. Egan's Groise; Baumann.—4. A sandwich-man's boards: c. (— 1932). F. Jennings.

wing, v.t. 'To undertake (a part) at short notice and study it in the "wings",' F. & H.: 1885, The Stage, Aug. 31.

wing, hit under the. Tipsy: 1844, Albert Smith (O.E.D.); ob. Lit., disabled as a bird shot there.

wings, have one's. To be qualified to fly alone: Air Force coll.: from 1916. B. & P. An observer had only one 'wing' on his tunic.

winger. A steward at table: nautical: C. 20. Bowen.—2. Hence, a sneak, an underhand fellow: naval: from ca. 1915. Bowen.

winger, do a. To take an unfair advantage in a bargain: naval and military: from ca. 1916. F. & Gibbons.

wingers. Long, flowing whiskers: military: ca. 1900. Ware.

wingy. A man 'minus' a wing (arm): New Zealanders: in G.W. Cf. limby, q.v.

Winifred I, O(h). A c.p. expressive of disbelief: lower and lower-middle classes': 1890's. Ware, 'From St Winifred's Well, in Wales' and its reputedly marvellous cures.

winick. See winnick.

wink, n. Rare in singular. See winks.—wink, tip the. See tip, v.

wink the other eye. Flippantly to ignore a speech, warning, etc.: coll.: late C. 19–20.

winkers. The eyes: from early 1730's: S.E. until C. 19, then coll.; by mid-C. 19, s. Cf. the dial. winkers, eye-lashes.—2. (Also, occ., flanges.) Long, wavy or flowing whiskers: ca. 1865–80. Ware. Ex a horse's blinkers.

winking, as easy as. With (consummate) ease: coll.: C. 20. Ex:

winkin(g), like. Very quickly or suddenly: coll.: 1827, Hood, 'Both my legs began to bend like winkin'.' Lit., in the time it takes one to wink.—2. Hence, vigorously; 'like one o'clock': coll.: 1861, Dickens, 'Nod away at him, if you please, like winking.' Cf. winkle, like.

winkle, v.t. To steal: lower classes': from ca. 1910. Perhaps ex wangle. (F. & Gibbons).—2. Hence, to capture (individual soldiers) by stealth: G.W. (Ibid.)

winkle-fishing, n. Putting fingers in nose: proletarian (— 1923). Manchon.

winkle-pin. A bayonet: military, esp. Cockneys': G.W., and after. F. & Gibbons. It serves this useful purpose.

winkler. One who 'winkles' (sense 2): G.W. (F. & Gibbons.) Vbl.n., winkling.

winks. Periwinkles: streets (mostly London): mid-C. 19–20.—2. winks, forty. See forty.

winky, like. A variant of like winking (above): 1830, Lytton; 1902, Begbie. O.E.D.

Winlaton shag. 'A slang name for an inhabitant of Winlaton [in Durham]': Durham s. (— 1892). E.D.D.

winn. See win, n., 1.

winner. A thing—e.g. a play—that scores a success: D.U.E.

cess: from ca. 1912. Ex winner, a horse that wins.—2. Hence, from ca. 1920, something esteemed to be certain to score a success. (But many a publishing 'winner' is a 'flop'.)

Winnie. Quinine: military: from 1914. B. & P.

winnings. See win, v.—wins. See win, n., 2.

Winnick. (See also stone winnick.) Crazy; mad, in any degree: military: 1915; ob. B. & P. Ex the lunatic asylum at Winick, Lancashire.

Winston's pet. 'A colossal long range gun made at Sheffield . . . just before the Armistice, but never used': naval: late 1918–19. Bowen. Ex Mr. Winston Churchill.

winter-campaign. Riot(ing); a drunken 'row': 1834–5. Ex dynamiters' winter activities. Ware.

winter-cricket. A tailor: ca. 1785–1890. Grose, 2nd ed.

winter-hedge. A clothes-horse: proletarian (— 1904); ob. F. & H.

winter-palace. A prison: c. (— 1887); slightly ob. Baumann. A shelter for necessitous criminals.

winter-time ?, where do flies go in the. A C. 20 c.p. from a popular song. In The Spectator, Sept. 13, 1935, a Swanage hotel begins its advertisement thus: 'Where do flies go in the winter-time? Quite frankly, we don't know, BUT . . . we shall be very much surprised if it is as comfortable there as at . . .'

winter's day, short and dirty,—he is like a. A late C. 18–mid-19 c.p. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. the dial. winter Friday, a cold, wretched-looking person.

wipe. An act of drinking: coll.: late C. 16–early 17. Rowlands (O.E.D.). Cf. swipe.—2. A handkerchief: low: 1789, George Parker; Henry Kingsley. Cf. earlier wiper.

wipe, v. To strike; to attack, with blows or taunts: C. 16–20; S.E. until C. 19, then s. and dial. Cf. swipe, v., q.v.

wipe (a person) down. To flatter; to pacify: low (— 1860). H., 2nd ed.

wipe (a person's) eye. In shooting, to kill a bird that another has missed: sporting: from ca. 1820. Cf. sporting sense of next entry.—2. Hence, to get the better of: from late 1850's. H., 2nd ed.—3. A variant of wipe the other eye, q.v.—4. To give him a black eye: 1874, R. H. Belcher, 'Cheeky! it's Sunday, or else I'd wipe your eye for you,' O.E.D.

wipe (a person's) nose. To cheat, defraud, swindle: C. 15–mid-18.—2. The same as wipe a person's eye, 1, q.v.: sporting: from ca. 1840. Surtees.

wipe-drawer. A C. 19 variant of wiper-drawer, q.v. Baumann.

wipe-hauling. The filching of handkerchiefs from owner's pockets: c.: 1845 in 'No. 747'; ob. Ex wipe, n., 2.

wipe the other eye. To take another drink: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed., in form wipe one's eye, to take, or to give, another drink: a public-house, esp. an old toper's, term.

wipe up. To steal: military: from ca. 1908 ob. F. & Gibbons.—2. To arrest: c. (— 1935). David Hume.

wipe your chin! A c.p. addressed to a person suspected of lying: Australian: from ca. 1905. (To prevent the 'bulsh' getting into the beer he is probably drinking.)

wiper. A handkerchief: 1626, Jonson; B.E.; Grose. In C. 19–20, wipe (n., 2).—2. A weapon; ? an assailant: C. 17–20; ob. Conan Doyle (O.E.D.)—3. A severe blow or reply (or taunt): s. > coll.: from mid-1840's; slightly ob. Cf. S.E. wipe, a blow, a sarcasm.

wiper-drawer. A handkerchief-stealer: c.: late C. 17–18. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. See wiper, 1.

Wipers. Ypres in Flanders: military: from 1914. Prob. ex the 'Wypers' (properly Ypre) Tower at Rye: itself coll. of late C. 19–20. B. & P.—2. Hence Wipers Express, the German 42 centimetre shell (approximately 16 inches) first notably used at the Second Battle of Ypres.

wire. A telegram: coll.: 1876 (O.E.D.). Ex by wire, recorded in 1859. Cf. the v.—2. An expert pickpocket: c.: 1845, in 'No. 747'; 1851, Mayhew. Ex the wire used in removing handkerchiefs from pockets. Cf. wirer.

wire, v.i. and t. To telegraph: coll.: 1859, The Edinburgh Review, April, 'Striving to debase the language by introducing the verb "to wire";' O.E.D. Cf. wire, n., 1, q.v.—2. Hence, to telegraph to (a person, a firm): coll.: 1876 (O.E.D.).—3. V.i. and t., to pick pockets (of persons): c.: 1845, in 'No. 747'. Ex wire, n., 2.—4. See phrasal vv. ensuing.

wire, give (a person) the. To warn secretly: low (pre-War) and military (G.W.); ob. F. & Gibbons. Ex wire, n., 1.

wire, on the. See hanging on the wire.

wire, pull one's. See pull one's wire.

wire away (1888) is rare for wire in, q.v.

wire-draw. 'A Fetch or Trick to wheedle in Bubbles': c.: late C. 17–mid-18. B.E. Ex the corresponding v., which is S.E.

wire in (—1864), rarely wire away. To set to with a will. H., 3rd ed.; H., 5th ed., 'In its original form, "wire-in, and get your name up", it was very popular among London professional athletes,' but, at the very beginning, it derives perhaps ex wiring off one's claim or one's future farm. Whence wire into. Cf.:

wire in and get your name up! Have a shot at it!: 1862–ca. 1914. Ware, 'Originally very erotic.'

wire into (a meal, etc.). To set about eagerly, vigorously: 1887, Baumann. Ex wire in.

wire, the. A c. variant of the straight wire, genuine information: from ca. 1918. James Curtis, The Gilt Kid, 1936.

wirer. A pickpocket using a wire (see wire, n., 2): c. (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.'

wireman. A telegraphist: coll. (—1923). Mancheon.

wise as Waltham's calf. See Waltham's.

wise-crack. A smart, pithy saying: U.S. coll., anglicised by 1932. Also wisecrack.

wise (to). Aware (of); warned (about). Esp. be (or get), or put a person, wise (to): U.S. coll. (ca. 1900), anglicised ca. 1910. Cf.:

wise up, v.i. To 'get wise'; v.t., to 'put (a person) wise': U.S. (C. 20), anglicised ca. 1918, but 'Australianised' by 1916 (C. J. Dennis): Buchan, 1919; Wodehouse, 1922. Ex preceding. (O.E.D.)

Wisecres' Hall. Gresham College, London: a mid-C. 18–mid-19 nickname. Grose, 2nd ed. The hit is at members of the Royal Society.

wish, I. Incorrect form, as is I wist, of iwis, certainly: C. 16–20. O.E.D. wisker. See whisker.—wisker-splitter. See whisker-splitter.—wist, I. See wish, I.

Wit. See Whit*.

wit as three folks, he has as much. Orig. and often self-explanatorily he has . . . folks, two fools and a madman: c.p. of late C. 18–mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed. Cf. the C. 17–18 proverb he hath some wit but a fool hath the guidance of it; cf. too the witticism apocryphalised in Einstein, 'Only four persons understand Relativity; I'm not one of them; and of the other three, two are dead and the third in a lunatic asylum.'

witch-cove. A wizard: c.: C. 18–19. Baumann.

witcher; occ. wicher. Silver: c.: mid-C. 17–early 19. Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose. Hence, witcher-bubber, a silver bowl (all three); w-cully, a silversmith (ibid.); and w-tiller, a silver-hilted sword (ibid.). Perhaps a corruption of silver influenced by white.

with. See throw.—2. Another South African coll. (—1913) is with as in 'Can I come with?', i.e. with you. Ex influence of Cape Dutch sam, together. Pettman.

with and without. See warm with: cold without. From 1830's. (Rare alone.)

with his hat off. See hat off.

without. (By ellipsis of the gerund.) Not counting: 1871, George Eliot, 'My father has enough to do to keep the rest, without me,' O.E.D.—2. (By ellipsis of the object, except as opp. with): C. 14–20, S.E. until C. 19, then coll. Newman, 1834, '[He] was afraid to tell me, and left Oxford without,' O.E.D.—3. (As conjunction.) If . . . not; unless: C. 14–20: S.E. until C. 18, then coll.; in late C. 19–20, sol. Johnson, 1755, 'Not in use, except in conversation.' (O.E.D.) without any. Without liquor (for a stated period): lower classes' coll.: from ca. 1890. Ware.

Witt, the. See whit.—wittles. See 'w for v'.—Wiwi. See Wi-Wi.

wizard, adj. Excellent, first-rate: from ca. 1924. ('Ganpat', Out of Evil, 1933, 'A perfectly wizard week!') Ex wizard, magical.

wobble like a drunken tailor with two left legs. (Of a ship) to steer an erratic course: nautical c.p.: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

wobble-shop. A shop where liquor is sold unlicensed: c. or low (—1857); ob. 'Ducange Anglicus.' Cf. whistler, 3, and whistling-shop, qq.v.

wobbler or wabblor. (See foot-wobbler.) Rare in simple form: military (—1874). H., 5th ed.—2. 'A boiled leg of mutton, alluding to the noise made in dressing it,' Bee: ca. 1820–50.—3. A horse that, in trotting, swerves from side to side: racing (—1897). Barrère & Leland.—4. A pedestrian; a long-distance walker: sporting (—1909). Ware. Cf. sense 1.—5. An egg: low Cockney: from ca. 1880. Clarence Rook, The Hooligan Nights, 1899.

Wobbly Eight, the. The British Third Battle Squadron: naval: 1914–15. Bowen.

wodge, wodgy. See wadge.

woe betide you (him, etc.). You'll be getting into trouble: coll.: mid-C. 19–20. Ex † S.E. sense. (O.E.D.)

woefuls, got the. See got the woefuls.

waffle. To eat; drink: low (—1823); † by 1890. Egan's Grose. Perhaps cognate with Northamptonshire dial. waffle, to masticate and swallow with difficulty (E.D.D.).—2. V.i. and t., 'To mask, evade, manipulate a note or even [a] difficult passage'; music-halls' and musicians' (—1909). Ware. Ex waffle, to yelp: cf. waffle, v., 1.—3. Hence, more gen.: from ca. 1920. G. Hayer, Death in the Stocks, 1935.

Woggins. Worcester College: Oxford undergraduates': C. 20. Collinson. Also Wuggins.

wog (or W.). A lower-class babu shipping-clerk: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

wolf, see a. (Of a woman) to be seduced: coll.: C. 19–20; ob. Ex the fig. sense, to lose one's voice.

wolf in the breast. An imposition consisting of complaints, by beggar women, of a gnawing pain in the breast: c.: mid-C. 18–early 19. Grose, 3rd ed. Cf. medical lupus and:

wolf in the stomach, have a. To be famished: coll.: late C. 18–20; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. stomach worm, q.v. Ex the old proverb, a growing youth has a wolf in his belly.

Wolfe's Own. The 47th Foot Regiment; from ca. 1881, the (1st Battalion of the) Loyal North Lancashire Regiment: military: from ca. 1760; ob. The black worn in the gold lace commemorates Wolfe. In late C. 19–20, occ. the Wolves. (F. & Gibbons.)

Wolfland. Ireland: coll. nickname: late C. 17–early 18. O.E.D.

wollop. See wallop.

wolly. (Gen. pl.) An olive: East Londoners' (—1909). Ware. Ex the street cry, Oh! olives!

Wolves, the. See Wolfe's Own.—2. The Wolverhampton Wanderers: sporting: late C. 19–20. Cf. Spurs, the.

woman and her husband, a. A c.p. applied to 'a married couple, where the woman is bigger than her husband,' Grose, 2nd ed.: late C. 18–mid-19.

woman of, make an honest. To marry: jocular coll.: C. 20. Ex lit. sense, to marry a woman one has seduced or lived with. (Collinson.)

woman of all work. 'A female servant, who refuses none of her master's commands,' Grose, 2nd ed.: ca. 1785–1840.

[woman of the town. Orig.—witness A New Canting Dict., 1725—it may have been c.]

woman-who-did or -diddery. A popular novel with sexual interest: book-world, resp. coll. and s.: very late C. 19–20; virtually †. Manchon. Ex Grant Allen's The Woman Who Did, 1895.

womble, womblety. See wamble, wamblety.

won, stolen, etc. See win, v.

wonder!, I. I doubt it, can't believe it, think it may be so: coll.: 1858, Punch, 'What next, I wonder!', O.E.D.

wonder!, the. Coll. abbr. of in the name of wonder: 1862 (O.E.D.).

wonder!, I shouldn't. I should not be surprised (if, etc.): coll.: 1836, Dickens, 'Do you think you could manage . . . ?' "Shouldn't wonder," responded boots.' O.E.D.

wonk. A useless seaman; a very inexperienced naval cadet: naval: from ca. 1917. Bowen. Ex wonky.

wonk, all of a. Upset, very nervous: 1918 (O.E.D. Sup.); ob. Ex:

wonky. See wanky.—wonner. See oner.

won't; C. 17–18, occ. wont. Will not: coll.: mid-C. 17–20. Earlier wonnot. (O.E.D.)

won't you come home, Bill Bailey? A c.p. of the first decade, C. 20. Collinson. Ex the popular song.

won't run to it! See run to it!, won't.

wood. Money: London drinking s. (—1823); † by 1890. 'Jon Bee.' Ex liquor from the wood.—2. A variant of Woods, q.v.—3. wood, the. The pulpit: 1854. Thackeray (O.E.D.). Implicit in:

wood, look over the. To preach: late C. 18–mid 19. Grose, 2nd ed. Sc. of the pulpit.

wood, look through the. To stand in the pillory: id. Ibid.

wood-butcher. A carpenter: aircraft artificers': from 1915. F. & Gibbons. See wood-spoiler, q.v.

Wood in front, Mr and Mrs. A theatrical c.p. (C. 20) = a bad house, i.e. empty seats.

wood in it!, put a bit of. Shut the door!: military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons. Also put a piece of wood in the hole!, which appears also in Yorkshire dial.

wood-sour is incorrect for wood-sear: C. 19. O.E.D.

wood-spoiler. A ship's carpenter: naval (—1909). Ware.

Woodbine. A Tommy: Australian and New Zealand soldiers': G.W. Because the Tommies smoked so many Wild Woodbine cigarettes. B. & P. Cf. Woods and:—2. Any cheap cigarette: coll.: from ca. 1917.

Woodbine, Teddy. Edward Prince of Wales: Australian and N.Z. soldiers': G.W. B. & P.

Woodbines, the Packet of. See Packet of Woodbines.

woodcock. A tailor presenting a long bill: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf. snipe, q.v.

Woodcock's Cross, go crossless home by. (P.) To repent and be hanged. Without crossless, the phrase app. = to repent. (Cf. Weeping Cross, q.v.) Coll.: C. 17.

woodcock's head. A tobacco-pipe: coll.: 1599, Jonson; † by 1700. Early pipes were often made in the likeness of a woodcock's head. F. & H.

wooden. One month's imprisonment: c., and grafters' s.: C. 20. Philip Allingham, Cheapjack, 1934. Prob. abbr. of postulated wooden spoon = moon = month.

wooden casement; w. cravat. A pillory: jocular: ca. 1670–1720. Contrast hempen cravat.

wooden doublet. See wooden surtout.

wooden fit. A swoon: proletarian: late C. 19–20. F. & H. wooden gods. The pieces on a draughts-board: London: ca. 1820–1910. Bee; Baumann.

wooden habeas. A coffin: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed., 'A man who dies in prison, is said to go out with a wooden habeas'. Cf. wooden surtout, contrast wooden casement, and see esp. Grose, P.; cf. also dial. get a wooden suit, to be buried.

wooden horse. A gallows: mid-C. 16–17: s. soon > coll. D'Urfev. Apperson. Whence, prob.: wooden-legged mare. The gallows: ? C. 18–mid-19. Cf. three-legged mare, q.v.

wooden overcoat. A coffin: a variant (mostly mid-C. 19) of wooden surtout, q.v.

wooden ruff. Same as wooden casement, q.v.: c.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E.

wooden spoon. The person last on the Mathematical Tripos list: Cambridge University coll.: C. 19–20. Ex the spoon formerly presented to him. Gradus ad Cantabrigiam, 1803.—2. The Parliamentary usage mentioned in H., 3rd ed., is derivative: he whose name appears the least frequently in the division-lists. From ca. 1860; ob.—3. A fool: Society: ca. 1850–90. Ware. Ex sense 1.—4. In C. 20 sporting coll., a 'donkey' or consolation prize for being last.

wooden surtout. A coffin: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st ed.: H., 3rd ed., 'Generally spoken of as a wooden surtout with nails for buttons'; ob. Cf. wooden doublet, w. habes, w. overcoat, or w. ulster, the earliest being w. doublet (1761: O.E.D.), likewise the first to disappear; the latest is w. ulster (Ware, 1909).

wooden wedge. 'The last name in the classical honours list at Cambridge,' H., 2nd ed.: Cambridge University coll. (-1860). See wedge, 2. Cf. wooden spoon.

woodman. A carpenter: coll. and dial.: late C. 19-20. Cf. chips.

woodpecker. 'A Bystander that bets,' B.E.: c.: C. 17-early 19. Dekker, 1608, shows that he is an accomplice betting to encourage novices or fools.

Woods. A Wild Woodbine cigarette: military (1914) >, by 1919, lower classes'. B. & P. Also wood.

wool. Courage, pluck: c. (-1860) >, ca. 1870, pugilistic s. (witness H., 5th ed.); slightly ob. H., 2nd ed., 'You are not half-wooled, term of reproach from one thief to another.' Prob. ex jocular S.E. wool, hair: see wool-topped un.

wool, v.t. To pull a person's hair: U.S., anglicised in late 1860's. Le Fanu. (O.E.D.)—2. To 'best' (a person): low (-1890). Barrère & Leland. Ex pull (the) wool over the eyes of.

wool, more squeak than. More noise than substance; much talk with little result; semi-proverbial coll.: from ca. 1730; ob. (O.E.D.) On great (or much) cry and little wool (proverbial S.E.).

wool-bird. A sheep: orig. (-1785), c. >, early in C. 19, low s. Grose, 1st ed.; H., 2nd ed., 'wing of a woolbird, a shoulder of lamb'. Also woolly-bird, q.v.

wool-hole. A workhouse: tramps' c. (-1859); ob. H., 1st ed.; also in 'printing' Savage, 1841, where, further, one learns that the term was orig. printers' s. ex a lit. and technical sense.

wool on I, keep your. Don't get angry!: 1890, Barrère & Leland. Cf. woolly, adj. Ex keep your hair on.

wool on the back. Money, wealth: commercial: 1909. O.E.D. (Sup.).

wool-topped un. A plucky fellow: boxing: ca. 1870-1900. H., 5th ed., where also a reg'lar woolled un, a very plucky fellow. See wool, n.

woolbird. See wool-bird.—woolled. See wool, n.

woollies, the. An occ. variant of the willies; esp. give (a person) the woollies: Army officers': from Feb., 1935; ob.

woolly. A blanket: coll.: from early 1860's; ob. H., 3rd ed. (Mod. sense, S.E.)

woolly, adj. In a bad temper: from early 1860's; ob. H., 3rd ed. Perhaps the 'originator' of keep your wool on.

woolly bear. Any large, hairy caterpillar, but esp. the larva of the tiger-moth: coll., mainly children's: 1863, Wood; much earlier in dial. as woolly boy. O.E.D. Ex resemblance to the children's plaything.—2. A shrapnel shell (giving off white smoke): military: G.W. (F. & Gibbons.)

woolly bird. A variant of wool-bird, q.v.: c.: ca. 1810-50. Vaux.

woolly crown. 'A soft-headed fellow,' Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1690-1850. B.E. woolly Maria. An occ. variant of woolly bear, 2.

woop woop. The country districts: New South Wales jocular coll. (-1926). Jice Doone. Satirising the Australian Aboriginal names, so often reduplicatory.—2. Hence woop, a rustic simpleton: from ca. 1915: popularised in 1919; by 1935, ob.

wooston. Very, as in 'A wooston jolly fellow': Christ's Hospital: late C. 19-20. Ex whoreson.

woozy. Fuddled (with drink); muzzy: U.S. (1897), anglicised by Conan Doyle (O.E.D.) in 1917. ? ex woolly + muzzy (or dizzy or hazy).—2. Dizzy: Canadian: C. 20.

Wop. An Italian: from ca. 1931, via the 'talkies'. Ex U.S. Wop, an Italian immigrant in North America. ? etymology.

wop, wopper. See whop, whopper.—wops(e). See waps(e).

worb. An odd-job youth in a circus: Australian: C. 20. Perhaps a corruption of yob.

word. To warn or to prime (a person): C. 20 s. >, ca. 1935, coll. Prob. ex give (a person) the word, to indicate the password.—2. In Australia (-1916), 'to accost with fair speech', C. J. Dennis.

word!, my. Indicative of surprise or admiration: coll.: 1857, Locker (O.E.D.).

word, one . . . See one word . . .

word, the. 'The right word for the right thing': hence, the thing to be done: coll. Shakespeare, Congreve, W. S. Gilbert. O.E.D.

word-grubber. 'A verbal critic'; one who uses 'jaw-breakers' in ordinary conversation: late C. 18-mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. word-pecker.

word of mouth, drink by. 'I.e. out of the bowl or bottle instead of a glass,' Grose, 2nd ed.: drinkers': late C. 18-mid-19. Extant in dial.

word-pecker. A punster: ca. 1690-1840. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Punning woodpecker.

words. A wordy dispute or quarrel: coll.: late C. 19-20. Agatha Christie, 1934, 'What is called in a lower walk of life "words"'.

wore. Worn: sol.: C. 19-20. Baumann.

work. (Esp. of a vendor or beggar) to go through or about (a place) in the course, and for the purposes, of one's business or affairs: 1834, Colonel Hawker, of a hound; 1851, Mayhew, of an itinerant vendor; 1859, H. Kingsley, of a parson. O.E.D.—2. To obtain or achieve, to get rid of, illicitly, deviously, or cunningly: 1839, Brandon, Dict. of Flash. Esp. 'Can you work it?' 'I think I can work it for you.'—3. Hence (of an itinerant vendor) to hawk: 1851, Mayhew.—4. See 'Winchester College slang', § 5.

work I, good. See good work I work back. To recover (stolen property): c.: mid-C. 19-20. 'No. 747.'—2. To use up; finish: coll., esp. military: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

work cut out, have (all) one's. To have enough, or all one can manage, to do: coll.: 1879, H. C. Powell (O.E.D.). Ex cut out work for (a person), which may, orig., have been a tailoring phrase.

work-bench. A bedstead: c.: ca. 1820-50. Egan's Grose.

work for a dead horse. See dead horse.

work from magpie to mopoke. See magpie to mopoke.

work it (up you)! Go to the devil with it: low, mostly Australian: C. 20. Also in other grammatical moods.

work off. To kill; esp. to hang: 1840, Dickens (O.E.D.): slightly ob. Lit., to dispose of.—2. See 'Eton slang', § 2.

work one's fists. To be skilful in boxing: pugilistic (-1874); ob. H., 5th ed.

work-out. A wholesale dismissal of employees: lower classes' (-1935). Also slaughter.

work the bulls. To get rid of false crown-pieces : o. : ca. 1839–1910. Brandon, 1839 ; H., 2nd ed.

work the halls. (Gen. as vbl.n.) To steal from hall-stands, having called as a pedlar : c. (— 1935). David Hume.

work the mark. To handle or operate mail-bag apparatus : (mail-train) railwaymen's : from ca. 1926. The Daily Herald, Aug. 5, 1936. Ex the Government mark on the bags.

work the oracle. To achieve (esp. if illicitly or deviously) one's end in a skilful or cunning manner : orig. (— 1859), low s. >, by 1930, coll. H., 1st ed. See work, 2.

workhouse. A hard, ill-found ship : nautical : C. 20. Bowen.

works, give (a person) the. To manhandle ; to kill, esp. by shooting : o. : (C. 20) U.S. anglicised ca. 1930 as s.

Works, the. Glamorganshire : from the late 1880's : South-Welsh s. >, by 1905, coll. The E.D.D. cites 'Allen Raine', A Welsh Singer, that late-Victorian best-seller which appeared in 1897. Prob. ex the numerous factories there.

workus. A workhouse : sol. : C. 19–20. Usually the workus, generic.—2. A Methodist chapel : Anglicans' : ca. 1840–1914.

world. Knowledge of the fine world : Society : ca. 1790–1820. John Trusler, Life, 1793, 'That . . . is a proof of your want of world.—No man of Ton ever goes to the Theatre, for the amusements of that Theatre.' Ex S.E. the world, fashionable society.

world, dead to the. Utterly drunk : s. verging on coll. : C. 20.

world, tell the. See tell the world.

world and his wife, all the. See wife, all the world and his, with which cf. the Fr. tout le monde et son père (W.).

world to a China orange, (all) the. An occ. variant (— 1887) of Lombard Street to a China orange. Baumann.

worm. 'The latest slang term for a policeman', H., 1864 ; extremely ob. (Manchon wrongly classifies it as c.) worm, v.i. and t., esp. in worming, 'removing the beard of an oyster or muscle' [sic], H., 1st ed. : mostly lower-class London (— 1859). Ex crustacean—or oyster's beard—likened to a worm.

worm-crusher. A foot-soldier : military : from 1890's ; ob. Cf. mud-crusher.

worm-eater. A skilful workman drilling minute holes in bogus-antique furniture to simulate worm-holes : cabinet-makers' (— 1909). Ware.

worms. 'A line cut in the turf as a goal-line at football' : Winchester College : from ca. 1880. Wrench. Ex the worms so discovered.

Worms, be gone to the Diet of. To be dead and buried : ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 1st ed. A companion pun (Worms, 'the Mother of Diets' + worms' meat) is to be gone to Rot-his-bone (i.e. Ratisbon).

worn't. Weren't, wasn't : sol. (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. warn't, q.v.

worrab. A barrow : back s. : from the 1860's. Ware.

worracks (or -ocks) ! See warorks !

worries the dog. See dog, he worries the.

worrimment. Worry : lower-classes' coll. : late C. 19–20. (Dorothy Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927, 'Such a state of worrimment.') worrit ; occ. -et. Anxiety, mental distress, or a cause of these : (low) coll. : 1838, Dickens. Ex next.—2. A person worrying himself or others : id. : 1848, Dickens. O.E.D.

worrit, v.t. To worry, distress, pester : (low) coll. : 1818, Lamb. A corruption of worry, perhaps on dial. wherrit, to tease. (O.E.D.)—2. Hence v.i., to worry, to display uneasiness or impatience : id. : 1854, Wilkie Collins. O.E.D.

worriting, n. (1857) and adj. (1845) of worrit, v O.E.D.

worry !, I should. I'm certainly not worrying, nor shall I worry about that ! : coll. (orig. U.S.) : C. 20. Cf. I should smile !, and the analogous not half.

worse end. See staff, the worse end of the.

worse for, it would be none the. It would be improved by : coll. : C. 20.

worse in gaol (jail), there are. A c.p. (C. 20) indicating that the person referred to might be worse. Cf. pass in a crowd.

worsen, adj. and adv. Worse : from ca. 1630, dial. and sol. : 1634, Heywood ; Dickens. ? ex worse'n, worse than. O.E.D. Also, occ., wors'n. worser, adj. Worse : late C. 15–20 ; S.E. until C. 18, then (esp. in C. 19–20) either 'literary' and, in C. 20, affected, or, in C. 19–20, dial. and low coll. —in C. 20, increasingly sol. Dickens, 1837, 'You might ha' made a worser guess than that, old feller.' Also, sol., wusser : 1845, Disraeli.—2. Hence, adv. Worse : mid-C. 16–20 ; S.E. until early C. 18, then ob. ; in C. 19, low coll. ; in C. 20, sol. Dickens, 1835, 'Your . . . wife as you uses worser nor a dog.' Also, from 1840's, wusser : sol. O.E.D.

worserer. Worse : sol. when neither dial. nor jocular,—as the latter, s. : 1752, Foote, 'Every body has a more betterer and more worserer side of the face than the other.' Ex worser. O.E.D. Also wusserer as in wusserer and wusserer. Cf. :

worrest. Worst : sol. (— 1887). Baumann. Cf. worser and worserer.

worst than. Worse than : sol. : C. 19–20. (Frank Richards, 1933.)

worth . . . , not. See bean, cent, curse, dam, fig, louse, rap, turd, etc.

worth a guinea a box. A c.p. applied to any small, cheap, yet good or useful article : from ca. 1920. Ex the considerably older slogan of Beecham's Pills.

worth a plum, be. To be rich : coll. : ca. 1710–1800. G. Parker. (Apperson.) Ex plum, £100,000.

worth it. (Predicatively.) Worth while : coll. : late C. 19–20.

worthy has, among Public Schoolboys and hence the upper classes, been, since the G.W., much used as the concomitant of both 'decent fellow' and 'stout fellow' ; although this usage approximates to that in S.E., yet it may well be classified rather as s. than as coll., for it is glib and somewhat vague. It is also applied to things : e.g. of a remark, one says 'That is not worthy' instead of 'not worthy of you'.

wot. What : sol. and dial. as written, but extremely gen. as pronounced.

wotthere(o). A proletarian slurring (from ca. 1880 ; ob.) of what cheer (oh) ! Ware.

would. Should : catachrestic : mid-C. 18–20. Mrs S. Pennington, 1766, 'I choose rather that you would carry it yourself,' O.E.D.

would, I. I advise, recommend, you to : coll. : late C. 16–20. Shakespeare, 1591, 'I would resort to her by night,' O.E.D. Cf. wouldn't, I, q.v. Short for I would, if I were you. See:

would !, you; occ. he (etc.) would ! Abbr. you (etc.) would go and do that, curse you ! or that's the sort of thing you would do. Coll.: C. 20. Often a mere cliché or c.p.

wouldn't, I. I advise you not to: coll.: (? earlier than) mid-C. 19–20. The O.E.D. instances 'I wouldn't go skating to-day; the ice isn't safe.' On would, I, q.v.

wounds (e.g. by Christ's wounds !) occurs in oaths of mid-C. 14–mid-18, and as a self-contained interjection (abbr. God's wounds !) of C. 17–early 19; occ. in C. 19, wouns !

wow, be a; rare except in it's a wow. To be a great success or most admirable, 'really' excellent: U.S. (1927), partly anglicised by 1929, esp. in theatrical s. Prob. ex a dog's bark: cf. 'howling success' and:

wow-wow. A children's variant of bow-wow, a dog: coll. (— 1887). Baumann.

wow-wow !; bow-wow ! A Slade School c.p. of the late 1890's, as in R. Blaker, Here Lies a Most Beautiful Lady, 1935, "Wow—wow—wow—" she gurgled; for 'bow-wow' or 'wow-wow' was currency in her circle at that time, to denote quiet contempt of an adversary's bombast.

wowser. A person very puritanical in morals; a spoil-sport; one who neither swears, drinks (in especial), nor smokes: from ca. 1895: Australian s. >, by 1930, coll. Perhaps ex wow, a bark of disapproval, + euphonic s + agenital er; cf. the Yorkshire wowsy, 'an exclamation, esp. of surprise', E.D.D.

wozz. See wazz.—Wozzer. See Wazzer.

wrack for rack, vv. A frequent confusion; e.g. in (nerve)-wracked for -racked: C. 16–20.—As, in late C. 16–20, wrack is frequently used for rack, n.

Wraf. A member of the Women's Royal Air Force: from 1917: (mainly military) coll. Cf. Waac and Wren, qq.v.

wraith(e). Incorrect for rathe (a cart-shaft): C. 19–20. Cf. wrag for rag. O.E.D. But these misuses of wr- for r- are too numerous to be profitably recorded in greater detail than (ipse dixit !) I have given here: see O.E.D. passim.

Wrangler's Hall. The House of Commons: literary and journalistic coll.: ca. 1820–50. Bee.

wrap-rascal. A red cloak: late C. 18–early 19. Grose, 2nd ed. An extension of S.E. w.-r. (a loose overcoat or a surtout), perhaps influenced by roquelaine.

wrapped-up, esp. in all nicely wrapped up, in seemingly language, and not even wrapped-up, crudely expressed: coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex pack-thread, talk.

wrapt; wrapture. Rapt, rapture: incorrect forms: resp. late C. 18–20; C. 17 (O.E.D.).

wrapt up in the tail of his mother's smock, he was. A c.p. applied to 'any one remarkable for his success with the ladies', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1850. (Female fondling of male children increases their latent sexuality: it didn't need Freud to tell us this: this has been folk-lore for centuries.) Ex be wrapped in his mother's smock, to be born lucky.

wrapt up in warm flannel. 'Drunk with spirituous liquors', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1830. ? cf. the 'drapery' terms for gin (see white ribbon).

wreak is 'sometimes erroneously' used by mod. writers as though it were [the] pres[ent] of wrought (see work), W., who quotes The Times, Oct. 6, 1918, 'The damage they have wreaked must be repaired to the uttermost farthing.'

wreath of roses. A chancre: lower classes' euphemism: C. 20. Slang, p. 191.

wrecking. The ruining, by 'shady' solicitors, of limited companies: financial coll.: 1880–4. Ware.

wren. A harlot frequenting Curragh Camp: military: 1869, J. Greenwood, who adds, 'They do not live in houses or even huts, but build for themselves "nests" in the bush.'—2. (Gen. Wren.) A member of the Women's Royal Naval Division: from 1917: coll., mostly (Army and) Navy. Cf. Waac and Wraf, qq.v.

wrest; wrester. A picklock (the thieves' tool): c.: late C. 16–early 17. Greene, 1592. Ex S.E. wrest, v.

wriggle navels. To coit: C. 18–20; ob. Prob. later than and suggested by wriggling-pole, q.v.

wriggle off. To depart: Londoners': ca. 1860–90. Ware.

wriggling-pole. The penis: (late C. 17 or early) C. 18–20; very ob. D'Urfe.

Wright, Mr. A warder 'going between' a prisoner and his friends: prison c.: C. 19–20; ob. Punning wright, an artificer, and right, adj. Cf. Right, Mr. q.v.

wrinkle. A lie, a fib.: c. (— 1812); ob. Vaux. —2. A cunning or adroit trick, device, expedient; a smart 'dodge': orig. and often put (a person) up to a wrinkle (or two), as in Lady Granville, 1817 (O.E.D.): s. >, by 1860, coll. Cf. the C. 15–17 wrinkle, a tortuous action, a cunning device, a trick; the link is perhaps supplied by sense 1, or by such a repartee as occurs in Swift's Polite Conversation, I, or, most prob., by wrinkle more . . . , q.v.—3. Hence, a helpful or valuable hint or piece of information: sporting s. (1818: O.E.D.) >, by 1870, coll.

wrinkle, v. To tell a lie: c. (— 1812); ob. Vaux. Prob. ex wrinkle, n., 1.

wrinkle-bellied. (Gen. of a harlot) having had many children: low coll.: late C. 18–20. Grose, 3rd ed., 'Child bearing leaves wrinkles.' Cf.:

wrinkle more in one's arse, have one (or a). To get one piece of knowledge more than one had, 'every fresh piece of knowledge being supposed by the vulgar naturalists to add a wrinkle to that part', Grose, 2nd ed. (cf. H., 2nd ed.): low: ca. 1786–1880. Here, perhaps, is the origin of wrinkle, n., 2 and 3, previously considered so problematic. Cf. preceding entry.

wrinkler. A person prone to telling lies: o. (— 1812); ob. Vaux. Ex wrinkle, v.

wrist-watch. Contemptible: naval: ca. 1900–13. Bowen. Considered effeminate.—2. High class; aristocratic: military: ca. 1905–20. E.g. 'He talks pukka wrist-watch'; 'Oh, he's pukka wrist-watch, he is !'

writ, when not deliberately 'literary', is, in late C. 19–20, gen. considered a sol. Baumann.

writ-pusher. A lawyer's clerk: legal (— 1909). Ware. Cf. process-pusher.

write a poor hand. See score fist.—write home about. See nothing to . . .

write-off. A complete aeroplane-crash: Air Force: from 1914. F. & Gibbons. The machine could be written off as useless.

write one's name across another's face. To strike him in the face: sporting: ca. 1885–1912. Ware.

write one's name on (a joint). 'To have the first cut at anything; leaving sensible traces of one's presence on it', H., 2nd ed.: from late 1850's.

written, not enough. Insufficiently revised for style: authors' coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ware. wrokin. A Dutch woman: ? C. 17-19. F. & H. Perhaps Dutch wrouw corrupted.

wrong end of the stick, the. See stick, wrong end . . .

wrong fount. An ugly human face: printers' (— 1933). Slang, p. 181. Ex the technical term.

wrong in the upper storey. Crazy: mid-C. 19-20. Cf. wrong in the head, itself coll. (and dial.): from ca. 1880—perhaps rather earlier.

[Wrong number. See esp. Fowler, Modern English Usage. See, e.g. their, above.]

wrong side, get up (occ. out of bed) on the or the. To rise peevish or bad-tempered: coll.: C. 19-20. To do this, lit., is supposed to be unfortunate. Scott, 1824; A. S. M. Hutchinson, 1921. (Apperson.)

wrong side of the hedge, be or fall on the. To fall from a coach: coll.: ca. 1800-80. Ware.

wrong un (or 'un). A 'pulled' horse: racing s. (1889, The Sporting Times, June 29) >, by 1910, (low) coll.—2. Hence, a welsher or a whoro, a base coin or a spurious note, etc.: from ca. 1890: s. >, ca. 1910, (low) coll.—3. (Perhaps suggested by 1.) A horse that has raced at a meeting unrecognised by the Jockey Club: racing s. (— 1895); by 1920, racing coll.—4. The wrong sort of ball to hit: cricketers' s. (1897) >, by 1920, their coll. Lewis.

wrong with, get in. See get in wrong with.

wrong with?, what's. What's the objection to?; why not have?: coll.: from early 1920's. Ronald Knox, 1925, 'I want to know what's wrong with a game of bridge?', O.E.D.

wronk. Wrong: sol.: C. 19-20. Frank Richards, Old Soldiers Never Die, 1933. Cf. anythink.

wroth of reses. A wreath of roses: theatrical: ca. 1882-1914. Ware, 'Said of a male singer who vocalises too sentimentally.' A Spoonerism.

wrought shirt. See historical shirt.

*wroughter. In the three-card trick, he who plays the cards, the trickster being a 'broad-pitcher': c.: from (? late) 1860's. B. Hemming, 1870, in his Out of the Ring, includes these terms in 'The Welshers' Vocabulary'. O.E.D. ? because wrought-on: cf. wrought-up, excited.

wrux. A rotter: a humbug: Public-Schools': from ca. 1875. Perhaps ex dial. (w)rox, n., and v., (to) decay, rot.

*wry mouth and a pissen (C. 19 pissed), pair of breeches, a. A hanging: ca. 1780-1850: either c. or low s. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

*wry-neck day. A day on which a hanging occurs or is scheduled to occur: c.: ca. 1786-1860. Grose, 2nd ed. Prob. suggested by preceding.

Wuggins. See Waggins.

wump; occ. whump. A hard blow: coll. (— 1931). Lyell. Perhaps a blend of whack (or wallop) + clump (or thump).

wur. Was: sol. (— 1887). Baumann. More gen. were.

wurl; yurse. Defective pronunciation of well and yes, esp. in emphasis or reflection: C. 19-20. As in Ernest Raymond, The Jesting Army, 1930, 'Many casualties in the battalion? Wurl, no—not too bad.' See also yurse.

wushup, your (etc.). Your worship: C. 19-20: orig. and gen. sol., but, as often are wuss and wusser, it may also be jocular s. Also your wash-up.

wuss. Worse: sol.: C. 19-20. For wusser, adj., see worser.

wusser. A canal boat: barges' (— 1904). ? water perverted.—2. Adj., adv.; see worser.

wusserer. See worserer.

wuzzy is an occ. variant of woozy, q.v.

wylo! Be off: Anglo-Chinese (— 1864). H., 3rd ed.

*wyn. See win, n., 1.—Wypers. See Wipers.

X

X or x. 'The sign of cheater, or Cross, which see,' Bee, 1823. Cf. X division, q.v.—2. See p.s., 2.

-x for -xed, esp. in fix and mix: sol.: C. 19-20. 'Wheatex mix fruit pudding,' an Express Dairy menu label, Feb. 4, 1936.—2. Also x occurs for xt in (esp. Cockney) illiterate speech: since when? W. Pett Ridge, Minor Dialogues, 1895, "'Eaven bless our 'Appy 'Ome' . . . ain't so dusty for a tex'."

X or letter X, take (a person). To secure (a violent prisoner), thus: 'Two constables firmly grasp the collar with one hand, the captive's arm being drawn down and the hand forced backwards over the holding arms; in this position the prisoner's arm is more easily broken than extricated,' F. & H.: c. and police s.: from early 1860's. H., 3rd ed.

*X division. Thieves, swindlers; criminals in gen.: c. (— 1887). Baumann. Ex X, q.v.

X-chaser. 'A naval officer with high theoretical qualifications': naval: from ca. 1920. Bowen.

X-legs. Knock knees: coll. verging on S.E.: mid-C. 19-20. Ex shape when knocking.

X.Y.Z. The Y.M.C.A.: New Zealanders': in G.W. A skit on the initials.

xaroshie. Very good; quite correct: military (North Russia): 1918-19. F. & Gibbons. Direct ex Russian; gen. pronounced sharoshie.

xawfully. Thanks awfully: slovenly coll.: from ca. 1919. D. Mackail, The Young Livingstones, 1930, "Good-bye, old thing. Good luck, and all that." "Xawfully."

Xmas. Christmas: low coll. when uttered as Exmas, coll. when (from ca. 1750) written; earlier X(s)tmas was not pron. The X = Christ (cf. scholarly abbr. Xianity), or rather the Ch thereof—Gr. X (khi).

xonalite. Incorrect for xonolite: from late 1860's. O.E.D.

X's; more gen. as pronounced—exes. Expenses: 1894, Louise J. Miln (O.E.D.). Perhaps orig. theatrical, as the earliest quotation suggests.—2. (Often X-es.) 'Atmospheric or static interference with wireless': wireless-operators', esp. on ships: from ca. 1926. Bowen.

*X's Hall. The Sessions House, Clerkenwell: c.: mid-C. 19-20. Ware. Ex Hicks, a judge.

xymphoid. Incorrect for xiphoid: mid-C. 18-20. O.E.D.

Y

[In y, F. & H. includes certain ineligible; thus, S.E.:—Yahoo (or y.); yankee (or Y.), excellent; unrecorded yap's; yard, yards (Durham and Harrow Schools), and under one's yard; Yarmouth coach; yea-and-nay; year's(s)-mind; unlisted yellow's; Yiddisher; yokel; yoop; York and yorker; you-know-what; young and young thing.

Dial.:—yaff; yaffle (n.); yank (v.), yanker, yanking; yanks (leggings); yanker; yankie; yap (a cur); yawney and y.-box; yeack; yellow slipper.]

'y. (Properly ye' or yer.) You: (low) coll.: C. 19–20. J. B. Priestley, Faraway, 1932, 'Y'see, you know about the island.'

y-, sol. for h-, is most common among Cockneys: C. 19–20' and prob. from much earlier. E.g. yere for here, beyind for behind.

-y or -ie (C. 14–20); occ. -ey, C. 17; -ee, C. 17–18. As a diminutive and endearing suffix, it has a coll. tendency and savour, as, e.g., has -ish. In diminutives (and for proper names), -y and -ie are almost equally common, but in pet-names and other endearments, -ie is much the more gen.—2. At Manchester Grammar School, -y is used thus:—-mathy, mathematics; chemmy, chemistry; -gymmy, gymnastics, etc.: mid-C. 19–20.

Y.M.; Y.W. (Pronounced wy em, wy double you.) The Young Men's and the Young Women's Christian Association, frequently abbr. Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A.: coll.: C. 20. Cf.:

Y Emma. The Y.M.C.A.: military: from 1915. In signalese, m > Emma. Cf. preceding.

ya-inta! Hallo!: Eastern Fronts' military in G.W. (F. & Gibbons.) Ex Arabic.

yabber. Talk (1874); to talk (1885), v.i. esp. if unintelligibly: Australian 'pidgin'. Ex Aboriginal. Morris.

yabbie. A fresh-water crayfish: Australian coll.: late C. 19–20. Ex Aboriginal.

yachting, go. To break leave: naval (mostly officers'): C. 20. Bowen. Here, yachting = on pleasure bent.

yack; rarely yac. A watch: c.: app. late C. 18—very early 19 (Vaux, 1812, declaring it †) and revived ca. 1835, for we find it in Brandon, 1839, and Mayhew, 1851, 'At last he was bowled out in the very act of nailing [stealing] a yack.' Perhaps a perversion, by a modified back s., of watch: cf. the process in yadnab. Sampson, however, more convincingly derives it ex Welsh Gypsy yakengeri, a clock, lit. 'a thing of the eyes' (yak, an eye). (See also at christen and church.)

yack-a-poeser. 'A cup of tea flavoured with rum': military: from 1914. F. & Gibbons. Whence?

yacka, -er. See yakker.

yad. A day; yads, days: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed.

yadnab. Brandy: slightly modified back s. (— 1859). Ibid.; but H., 5th ed., has yadnarb, which is close enough. The impossible yd- has > yad-.

yaffle, v.i. To eat: from ca. 1786: c. >, ca. 1820, low s. († by 1850) and dial. Esp. as vbl.n., yaffling (Grose, 2nd ed.). Perhaps cognate with dial. yaffle, to yelp, to mumble.—V.t., to snatch, take illicitly, pilfer: low: late C. 19–20. Perhaps a perversion of snaffle.

yah-for-yes folk. Germans and Dutchmen: nautical coll.: late C. 19–20. Bowen. Ex Ger. ja, yes.

yah, pron. See yer.

yah! A proletarian cry of defiance: coll.: C. 17–20. Possibly implied in Swift's Yahoos.

yahoo, n. and adj. (A man that is) considered mad, crazy, or extremely eccentric: tailors': C. 20. The Tailor and Cutter, Nov. 29, 1928.

yakker; occ. yacka, yacker, yakka. (Correctly yakka.) To work; work at: Australian 'pidgin': late C. 19–20. Ex Aboriginal. Morris.—2. Whence as n., hard toil: idem: C. 20. C. J. Dennis.

yakmak is incorrect for yashmak: mid-C. 19–20. So is yaknack. O.E.D.

yallah! Go on!: get on with it!: Eastern Fronts' military coll.: G.W. Ex Arabic. (F. & Gibbons.)

yellow. Yellow: sol. and dial.: C. 17–20. Sir W. Mure (C. 17), 'Yellow curls of gold,' O.E.D. The U.S. prefers yallah, yaller. Cf. yeller, q.v.

yam. Food: nautical (— 1904). F. & H. Presumably ex:

yam, v.i. and t. To eat; orig., to eat heartily: low and nautical: from ca. 1720. A New Canting Dict., 1725; William Hickey (1749–1809), in his Memoirs, 'Saying in the true Creolian language and style, "No! me can no yam more"', W. H., 3rd ed., 'This word is used by the lowest class all over the world.' It is a native West African word (Senegalese nyami, to eat): W., after that extraordinary scholar, James Platt. The radical exists also in Malayan.

yam-stock (or Y.-S.). An inhabitant of St Helena: nickname: 1833, Theodore Hook (O.E.D.).

yan. To go: Australian 'pidgin' (— 1870). Ex Aboriginal. Morris. Cf. yakka.

Yank. Yankee (n. and adj.): coll.: 1778 (O.E.D.: in orig. U.S. sense, C. 19–20 for '(an) American'; the adj. Yank (of the U.S.), app. not before the 1830's, as in Hurrell Froude. Abbr.:

Yankee; occ. Yank(e)y. Orig. (early 1780's) among the English, this nickname for any inhabitant of the United States (other and earlier senses being U.S.), was coll.; in C. 20, it is S.E. The theories as to its etymology are numerous (see, e.g., O.E.D. and W.'s Romance of Words): the two most convincing,—and the latter (blessed by both W. and the O.E.D.) seems the better,—are that Yankee derives ex U.S. Indian Yankees for English, and that it derives ex Jankee, Dutch for 'little John' (Jan), this Jankee being a pejorative nickname for a New England man, esp. for a New England sailor.

Yankee main tack, lay (a person) along like a. (Gen. as a threat.) To knock a man down: naval: late C. 19—early 20. Ware. A Yankee main tack is a direct line.

Yankee heaven; Yankee paradise. Paris: coll.: resp. ca. 1850–80; from 1880. Ware. Cf. († ex) the saying, 'All good Americans go to Paris when they die.'

Yankeeries, the. The American and American-Indian display at Earl's Court Gardens: Londoners': 1887; soon †. Ware. On Colinderies and Fisheries.

Yankees. American stocks, shares, securities: Stock Exchange: from mid-1880's. E. C. Bentley, Trent's Last Case (but it wasn't), 1913, 'A sudden and ruinous collapse of 'Yankees' in London at the close of the Stock Exchange day.'

yannam. Almost certainly a misprint for pannam, q.v.

yap. A countryman: low s. verging on c.: and mostly U.S.: from 1890's. F. & H. Perhaps ex dial. yap, a half-wit.—2. A chat: from ca. 1928. Ex sense 2 of:

yap, v. To pay: back s. (— 1859). H., 1st ed., where it occurs in the form yap-poo, to pay up; in H., 5th ed., it is yap-pu. Cf. yappy.—2. To prate, talk volubly: coll.: late C. 19–20. C. J. Dennis. Ex yap, to speak snappishly.

yappy. Foolishly generous; foolish, soft: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed. Ex yap, v., 1: q.v. Or it may rather derive ex Yorkshire yap, a foolish person.

yapster. A dog: low (— 1798); ob. Tufts. Cf. S.E. yapper.

y'ar, y'are. Ye are; you are: sol. (— 1887). Baumann.

yaram. See yarrum.

Yard, the. Scotland Yard, headquarters of the London police: coll.: in C. 20 verging on S.E.: 1888, A. C. Gunter (O.E.D.). The C. 20 name is New Scotland Yard.

yard-arm, clear one's. To prove oneself innocent; to shelve responsibility as a precaution against anticipated trouble: nautical: late C. 19–20. Bowen.—2. Hence, look after one's own yard-arm, 'to consider one's own interests first' (F. & Gibbons): naval: C. 20. Cf.:

yard-arms, square yards with. To settle accounts; finish, or finish with, a (troublesome) matter; have it out with (a person): naval: C. 20. F. & Gibbons.

yard of clay. A long clay pipe, a 'church-warden': from ca. 1840: coll. >, by 1880, S.E. Punch, 1842 (O.E.D.).

yard of pump-water. A tall, thin person: low: late C. 19–20.—2. See purser's grin.

yard of satin. A glass of gin: 1828, W. T. Moncrieff; ob. See satin.

yard of tin. A horn: jocular coaching and sporting coll.: mid-C. 19–20; ob. Reginald Herbert, When Diamonds Were Trumps, 1908.

yardnab. Brandy: from ca. 1880. Ware. The back s. ydnarb > yardnab for the sake of 'euphony'. See also yadnab.

y'are. See y'ar.

yark. To cane: Durham School: mid-C. 19–20. A dial. form of yerk.

Yarmouth; gen. quite Yarmouth. Mad: naval: C. 20. Bowen. Ex the naval lunatic asylum there.

Yarmouth bee. See Yarmouth capon.

Yarmouth bloater (or B.). A native of Yarmouth: coll.: 1850, Dickens. Ex lit. sense, Yarmouth being famous for its herrings. Cf.:

Yarmouth capon. A herring: jocular s. > coll.: from ca. 1660; ob. Fuller; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; J. G. Nall, Great Yarmouth, 1886, 'In England a herring is popularly known as a Yarmouth capon.' Also, ca. 1780–1850, a Norfolk capon. (Apperson.) Cf. also Glasgow magistrate, q.v. Occ. Yarmouth bee: mid-C. 19–20; ob. F. & H.

Yarmouth mittens. Bruised hands: nautical: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed. Ex hardships of herring-fishing.

yarn, orig. (— 1812) and often in spin a yarn (nautical s. >, ca. 1860, gen. coll.), to tell a—gen. long—story, hence from early 1830's to 'romance'.

A story, gen. long, and often connoting the marvellous, indeed the incredible: nautical s. >, ca. 1860, gen. coll. Vaux, Reade. Ex the long process of yarn-spinning in the making of ropes and the tales with which sailors often accompany that task (W.). Occ. a sailor's yarn.—2. Hence, a mere tale: coll.: 1897, Hall Caine, 'Without motive a story is not a novel, but only a yarn,' O.E.D. Cf. the journalistic sense of a good yarn, a story that is not necessarily true—indeed, better not.

yarn, v. To tell a story: nautical s. (— 1812) >, by 1860, gen. coll. Vaux; 1884, Clark Russell, 'Yarning and smoking and taking sailors' pleasure.' Ex preceding. Hence yarning, n. and adj.: from 1840's, and prob. earlier.—2. A C. 19 Cockney pronunciation of earn. Bee. (But yearn is more gen.: Baumann.)

yarn a hammock. To make it fast with a slippery hitch so that the occupant will fall to the deck: naval: late C. 19–20. Bowen.

yarn-chopper, -slinger. A prosy talker; a fictional journalist: from ca. 1880; ob.

yarn-spinner, -spinning. A story-teller; story-telling: coll.: ca. 1865. Ex yarn, n.

yarning, n. and adj. See yarn, v.

Yarra!; Yarrah!, stinking. An offensive c.p. addressed by Sydneyites to Melbourneites: C. 20. Cf. our 'arbour!

yarraman. A horse: Australian (— 1875). Ex Aborigine. Morris.

yarrum (C. 17–20); yaram, rare C. 17 spelling; yarum, frequent C. 16–18 spelling. Milk; esp. poplar(s) of yar(r)um, milk-porridge: c.: from 1560's. Harman, Dekker, B.E., Grose (1st ed.). One of the small group of c. words in -um (or -am),—cf. pan(n)um or -am,—yarum is of problematic origin; but I suspect that it is a corruption of yellow (illiterately yellow)—n.b. the colour of beastings—with -um substituted for -ow: cf. Italian waiters' chirroff for chill off and, possibly, Welsh Gypsy yáro, an egg (Sampson).

yas. Yes: (dial. and) sol.: C. 19–20. Baumann. yaw-sighted. Squinting: nautical coll.: 1751, Smollett (O.E.D.). Ex yaw, a deviation from one's direct course, esp. if from unskilful steering.

Yaw-Yaw. A Dutchman: nautical (— 1883). Clark Russell. In C. 20, often a Baltic seaman: Bowen. Lit., yes, yes!—2. (yaw-yaw.) See haw-haw, of which it is an occ. variant. Baumann.

yawn(e)y. A dolt: rare (— 1904); ob. I.e. the adj. made n., on sawney. (Much earlier in dial.)

ye gods and little fishes! A lower and lower-middle class c.p. indicative of contempt: ca. 1884–1912. It then > a gen. derisive or jocular exclamation. Ware, 'Mocking the theatrical appeal to the gods.'

Yea-and-Nay man. A Quaker: coll. verging on S.E.: late C. 17–early 19. B.E., Grose. Ex Quakers' preference for plain answers.—2. Hence, 'a simple fellow, who can only answer yes and no', Grose, 1st ed.: ca. 1780–1850. Contrast dial. yea-nay, irresolute (E.D.D.).—3. Hence, a very poor, 'dumb' conversationalist: mid-C. 19–20; ob. H., 2nd ed.

Yeaps. The predominant Cockney pronunciation of Ypres: G.W. (B. & P.) Cf. Eeps.

year. As a pl., it was S.E. until late C. 18, when it > coll.; from ca. 1890, it has been considered—and in C. 20 it certainly is—a sol. when it does not happen to be dial.

year'd, 'tis. A semi-proverbial coll. applied to 'a desperate debt', Ray: ca. 1670-1750.

-yearer. A pupil in his first, second, etc., year: Public School coll.: late C. 19-20. Alec Waugh, The Balliols, 1934, 'He was a third yearer at a public school.'

yearn. See yarn, v., 2.

yegg. A travelling burglar or safe-breaker: U.S. c., anglicised by 1932, as s., among cinema-'fans'. Irwin; C.O.D., 1934 (Sup.). Possibly ex Scottish and English dial. yark or yek, to break.

yeh. Yes: Cockney: since when? I.e. ye', clipped form. E.g., like sense 2, in Julian Franklyn's novel, This Gutter Life, 1934.—2. You: Cockney: C. 19-20. A variant of yer.

yeknod. See yerknod.

yell-play. 'A farcical piece . . . where the laughter is required to be unceasing': theatrical coll. (— 1909). Ware.

