neck, n. Impudence; very great assurance: coll.: C.20. Ex Northern dial. (EDD). Hence, have a neck, to be impudent, to make an outrageous request (Baker records the phrase as Aus.). Perhaps the term's most famous occurrence is in Winston Churchill's speech to the Can. Senate, 30 Dec. 1941, when, deriding the Nazi threat that 'in three weeks England will have her neck wrung like a chicken', he retorted: 'Some chicken! Some neck!' A frequent var. is brass-neck; cf. cheek and lip.—2. In give (one's) neck, to give up; to become apathetic: Eng. Midlands s.: C.20. (F.B. Vickers, 1955).—3. In in the neck, with unpleasant results; severely: US (ca. 1890), anglicised by H.G. Wells in 1908: s. >, by 1935, coll. Esp.

with get it. Cf. where Maggie wore the beads and where the chicken got the axe. W.; OED Sup.—4. In lose, or win, by a neck, to lose or win by very little: from earliest C.19: coll. till C.20, then S.E. For orig., see neck and neck. Win ... occurs in Bee, 1823, at p. 94.—5. For put it down (one's) neck see wash (one's) neck; see also talk through (the back of one's) neck; pain in the neck; under (one's) neck; I'll first see thy neck ...

neck, v. To hang: coll.: C.18—mid-19. Cf. S.E. senses, strike on the neck, behead; imm., however, prob. ex the neck hanging phrases.—2. To swallow, drink: coll.: from ca. 1820; ob. ca. 1900–20, but then (witness OED Sup.) revived. It was current in RN, WW1 (Moe, cites W.G. Carr, 1939). Cf. the C.16 coll. usage: Barclay, 1514, 'She couthe well ... necke a mesure ... : she made ten shylyng [i.e. little] of one barell of ale', which, pace the OED, is clear enough.—3. To choke (a person): c.: mid-C.19–20. Ex sense 1.—4. To make love: chiefly in necking, q.v.—4. See neck it.

neck and crop. Violently; all of a heap; entirely: 1816 (Hone): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Hardy, 1872; Hall Caine in The Manxman, 1894 (Apperson).

neck and heels. Impetuously whole-heartedly: coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

neck and neck. Almost equal; close: from ca. 1835: coll. till C.20, then S.E. Ex horses running almost level in a race. E. Bulwer Lytton, My Novel, 1853.

neck-basting. Liquor-drinking: low: later C.19—early 20. Baumann.

[neck-beef, coarseness; S.E.; as coarse as neck-beef: S.E. bordering on coll.: ca. 1770–1920. Cf. Sedley's 'She is very pretty, and as cheap as neck-beef,' 1687 (OED).]

neck-cloth. A halter: low coll.: ca. 1815–70. Cf. necktie, q.v.

neck it, unable to. Lacking moral courage: low coll.: from ca. 1840; ob. Ex neck, v., 2. Cf. the S.E. swallow = to tolerate.

neck-oil. Liquor; esp. beer: low coll.: from ca. 1830. (H., 2nd ed.; Ware.) Cf. neck, v., 2.

neck or nothing. Desperate(ly): from ca. 1675: coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Ray; Cibber; Swift; 'Neck or nothing; come down or I'll fetch you down'; Byron. (Apperson.) Either a hanging or a steeplechasing phrase.

neck-squeezer. A halter: low coll.: ca. 1810–70. Cf. neck-cloth, necklace.

neck-stamper. A pot-boy at a tavern: c.: ca. 1670–1820. Coles; Grose, 1st ed.

neck-to-knees. A bathing costume covering the body from neck almost to knees: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.

neck-warmer. The frill at the lower end of a nightdress: Aus.: since the late 1940s. That's where—if still being worn at all—it tends to be found at the conclusion of conjugal love-making.

neck-weed. A halter (cf. gallows-grass, q.v.): ca. 1560–1830: coll. >, ca. 1600, S.E.

neckcloth. See neck-cloth.

necker. A heavy fall: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Liable to break one's neck.

neckerchief. See devil's neckerchief ...

necking, vbl n. and ppl adj. Love-making. Orig. and mainly US; partly adopted in Eng. ca. 1928, esp. in necking (cf. petting parties). Lit., hugging each other around the neck, and ultimately ex Scots. P.B.: by mid-C.20 thoroughly anglicised, as in 'Couples necking all over the shop', and 'going in for a spot of necking'; gen. taken to mean no more than 'kissing and cuddling'.—2. Committing suicide by hanging oneself: Aus. c.: since ca. 1945. (Ian Grindley, 1977.) necklace. A halter: C.17—mid-19: coll. soon > S.E. Cf. neck-cloth and necktie. —2. A garrotter: Aus. c.: C.20. Baker.

necktie, a halter; wear a hempen necktie, to be hanged: C.18—early 19 coll. Cf. the US necktie sociable (—1878), n. party (—1893), a lynching: Thornton. In English c., a necktie-party is a hanging: 1932 ('Stuart Wood', Shades of the Prison House).

necky. Impudent, cheeky: Conway cadets:—1900 (John Masefield, The Conway, 1933). Ex neck, n., 1.

ned. A guinea: c. of ca. 1750–1890; then in US as a 10-dollar piece. Discoveries of John Poulter; G. Parker: H., 5th ed.—2. Abbr. neddy, 1, q.v.: from ca. 1830.—3. Head: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (Ruth Park, Poor Man's Orange, 1950.) Perhaps rhyming, perhaps a dim. of noddle.—4. Ned. 'Inevitable' nickname, from the 1890s, of Aus. men surnamed Kelly. See Ned Kelly.—5. 'Inevitable' nickname for any man surnamed Carver: army: early C.20. John Aye, Humour in the Army, 1931.—6. 'A young Scots hooligan, a member of a Glasgow gang of roughs, not necessarily criminals (used slightly contemptuously)' (Powis): later C.20. Cf. Ted, 2, q.v.

Ned Fool. A noisy fool or idiot: coll.: late C.16—early 17. Nashe.

Ned Kelly. 'Any person of buccaneering business habits' (B., 1942): Aus. coll.: C.20. Ex the famous bushranger: whence also Kelly Gang, an unscrupulous firm or a tax-grabbing government: since ca. 1910. The actual Kelly Gang numbered four persons. See also game as Ned Kelly.—2. The belly: Aus. rhyming s.: since ca. 1920. Franklyn, Rhyming.—3. A story of the 'Deadwood Dick' kind: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—4. A poker machine: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Ibid.—5. Television: rhyming s., on telly: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

Ned Kelly was hung—or hanged—for less. An Aus. c.p. of gently joc. repro or complaint, e.g. against taxation: since ca. 1945. The famous bushranger. (B.P.)

Ned Skinner. Dinner: rhyming s.:—1909 (Ware). Cf. Joe Skinner.

nedash. Of no use; nothing: c. of ca. 1810–50. (Vaux; Egan's Grose: ne-dash.) Ex Romany nastis, nastissa, nestis, I, you, he, etc., cannot; ultimately L. nequeo.

neddies, the. Racehorses; (almost) horse-racing in general: Aus.: C.20. (Dick.) See next, 6.

neddy. An ass: C.17–20: coll. (Wolcot, 1790.) Ex Edward. Occ. abbr. ned; also called Jack or Tom. (The very few pre-1790 examples are not indisputable.)—2. Hence, a fool: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee'; Thackeray, 'Long-eared neddies, giving themselves leonine airs'.—3. A guinea: c.: ca. 1760–1850. See ned, 1.—4. A life-preserver: c.: 1845 in 'No. 747' (p. 423); 1857, 'Ducange Anglicus'; 1859, H.; 1864, Cornhill Magazine; 1977, Powis. Also billy, cosh, qq.v. According to Brewer, ex one Kennedy, whose head was smashed in with a poker; prob., however, semantically ex sense 2 above.—5. A large quantity; plenty: Anglo-Irish: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.—6. A horse: Aus.: later C.19–20. In pl., usu. racehorses. Wilkes.

neddyvaul (or N.). The chief, leader, conqueror: street boys' (mostly London): late C.19—early 20. (Ware.) A corruption of Ned (the head) of all.

need (something) like a hole in the head. To need it not at all: adopted, ca. 1950, in U.S. 'Originally, I think, Yiddish: "Like a loch in kop"' (Claiborne, 1976). Leo Rosten, The Joys of Yiddish, 1968, confirms it.

needful, the. Ad hoc money: coll.: 1771, Foote, 'Then I will set about getting the needful'; The Comic Almanack, 1836, 'Needy men the needful need'; Dickens; Free Lance, 6 Oct. 1900. Cf. necessary, q.v.

Needham. Poverty: allusive S.E. of ca. 1570–1890. Prob. coll. in on the high-road, or in the high-way, to Needham. Fuller, Ray, Spurgeon. Needham (in C.16, occ. Needam; in C.17, occ. Needom or Needome): a small town near Ipswich (OED; Apperson.) Cf.:

Needingworth, it comes from. It is worthless or inferior: coll.: C.17. (John Clarke, 1639.) Cf. prec.: another topical allusion on the borderline between S.E. and coll.

needle, n. A sharper; a thief: c. of ca. 1780–1850. (Potter, 1790.) Abbr. needle-point, q.v.: ex the notion of extreme sharpness.—2. The penis: both low coll. and, in C.18, S.E. (E.g. in Nabbes, Dorset, Rochester).—3. With the: irritation; nervousness: 1887, Punch, 30 July, 'It give 'im the needle ... being left in the lurch this way'; 1900, G. Swift, the nervousness sense, which is mainly athletic, esp. rowing. (OED.) Prob., as W. suggests, influenced by nettle (e.g. † get the nettle, become angry), but imm. ex cop or get the needle, to become annoyed (—1874, 1898); occ. take the n. (1897). The active mode is give the n., to annoy, irritate, provoke (1887; H., 5th ed.) Ware classifies these phrases as, orig., tailors' s.: irritation, 'as when the needle runs into a finger'. The cop and take forms were ob. by mid-(?earlier) C.20; get and give persist. Hence needle, v., 1, to annoy.—4. Hence (without the), ill feeling: 1899, Rook, Hooligan Nights, 'It was a fight with the gloves. But there was a bit of needle in it. It was all over Alice.' Cf. needle-fight, and edge in this sense.—5. A hypodermic injection: Aus. (and, slightly later, Brit.) coll.: since ca. 1918. (Jon Cleary, Back of Sunset, 1959.) Cf. jab, n.—6. 'An awkward customer, with no intention of buying' (M.T.): market-traders': C.20. Cf. synon. nark, n., 8.—7. 'Resentment: "It's plain he's got the needle to me"' (Powis): proletarian coll.: C.20. An extension of sense 3.—8. Short for needle and pin.—9. In be on the needle, to be addicted to drugs requiring an injection: (esp. teenage) drug addicts': since ca. 1950. 'Implies a step from the theoretically non-addictive drugs to the more dangerous ones' (Dinah Greenwood). Cf. sense 5.—10. In get the needle, 'to lose much money at a game' (B. & L.): card-players': from ca. 1870.

needle, v. To irritate, annoy, provoke: proletarian coll.: since later C.19. (G.R. Sims, 1881.) See also the n., 3.—2. V.i., to haggle over a bargain and if possible gain an advantage: c. of ca. 1810–50. (Vaux.) Ex the n., 1, q.v.: but cf. n., 3 and 6.—3. To 'winkle' or prise information from someone: journalistic: since ca. 1940. "Needled" from him by reporters' (New Statesman, 12 Jan. 1946). P.B.: some provocation is prob. implied, 'stinging' the victim to retort.

needle and pin. (Often shortened to needle.) Gin: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P. needle and thread. Bread: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.); ob. by 1930.

needle-book or -case. The female pudend: low: C.19—early 20. Cf. needle, n., 2, and needle-woman.

needle-dodger. A dressmaker: ca. 1860–1930. ?on devil-dodger.

needle-fight. 'A boxing match in which the combatants have a personal feeling or grudge against each other': sporting coll.:—1931 (Lyell). Ex the S.E. sense, one 'that arouses much interest and excitement' (OED Sup.), prob. influenced by needle, n., 4. Cf. needle-match.

needle-jerker. A tailor: from ca. 1805; ob. (OED.) Cf. needle-dodger.

needle-match. A dispute: Glasgow:—1934. Ex the needle-match (a very important one) of sporting j., on needle-fight, q.v.

needle-noses. 'The railway auditors who make periodical visits to the depots and examine the drivers' and guards' sheets and way-bills in order to discover any unproductive time' (McKenna, Glossary): railwaymen's: mid-C.20.

needle-point. A sharper: c. of ca. 1690–1890. (B.E., Grose, Vaux, Baumann.) Occ., C.19, needle-pointer. Because so sharp. Cf. needle, n., 1, and v., 2.

needle-woman. A harlot: coll.: 1849 (Carlyle); ob. by 1930. Cf. needle-book.

needled. 'Inoculated before overseas service' (H. & P.): Services: since ca. 1930. Cf. needle, n., 5.

needy. A nightly lodger; a beggar; a tramp: c. verging on low s.: from ca. 1859. (H., 1st ed.; P.H. Emerson.) Ex: needy mizzler. A very shabby person; a tramp that departs without paying for his lodging: tramps' c.: from ca. 1810; ob. (Vaux; H., 2nd ed.) See mizzler.

needy-mizzling. C.: from ca. 1820. Temple Bar, 1868, 'He'll go without a shirt, perhaps, and beg one from house to house.' Ex prec.

neel. See nale, 2.

ne'er a face but his own. Penniless: low: late C.17–18. (B.E.) Obviously alluding to the heads and faces on coins. Occ. nare ...; often never ...

ne'er an M by your girdle? See M under your girdle.

ne'er-be-lickit. Nothing whatever: Scots coll.: from ca. 1870. The Encyclopaedic Dict., 1885, 'Nothing which could be licked by a dog or cat'.

neergs. Greens (vegetables): back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

neetewif, neetexis, neetritth, neetrouf. See netewif, netexis, netritth, netrouf.

neg. A negative: photographers' coll.: C.20.

neg driving. Negligent driving; (mostly Aus.) motorists' coll.: since the late 1940s. (B.P.)

negateef! No!: RAF, hence other, personnel: since ca. 1955. A joc. alteration—prob. influenced by Fr. négatif—of negative. 'It's not uncommon for persons connected with flying to use "affirmative" and "negative" for "yes" and "no", this being R/T [radio telephone] procedure. Monotony is broken, and a feeling of "not on your Nellie" is implied by using "negateef!": an RAF officer, late in 1961. Granville notes RN coll. use in, e.g., 'I'll have apple tart, negative custard'.

neggedidgee, niggledidgee or gée. Negligeé, 'a woman's undressed gown' (Grose): low coll. when not a sol.: mid-C.18—early 19. (Shebbeare; Grose, 2nd ed.) N.B., négligé comes later.

Negro. See wash a Negro.

negro-head. Occ. var. of nigger-head: B., 1943.

negro's-head, gen. in pl. (negroes' heads). A brown loaf: nautical: late C.18—early 19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Ex the colour; also ex the hardness of the Negro's Head nut. Cf. brown George.

Negro-nosed. Flat-nosed: late C.17—early 20: coll. (e.g. in B.E.) till C.19, then S.E.

negur. A Negro: lower-class var. of nigger, 1. Bill Truck, Sep. 1823.

neigho pops! Nothing doing, pal!: see JIVE, in Appendix.

Neill's Blue Caps. See Blue Caps.

neither buff nor bum. Neither one thing nor the other: proletarian coll.: ca. 1860—1940. B. & L.

neither fish nor flesh, be. (In C.16, flesh occ. precedes fish.) To be hesitant, undecided, indeterminate: coll.; C.16—20. Shakespeare, 'She's neither fish nor flesh.' Variants: neither fish, flesh, nor fowl; neither fish, flesh, fowl, nor good red herring, though, as in Dryden, the fowl is omitted at times. P.B.: in later C.20, the predominant sense is the 'indeterminate'—neither one thing nor another; sometimes used for 'indescrivable'.

neither right nor fair, it's. A mainly Services' c.p. derisive of a complainant or his complaint: since early C.20. The phrase is: completed by adding, sometimes straight away, sometimes in answer to 'What isn't?', Jack Johnson's (or Joe Louis's, or any other well-known Negro sportsman's, or simply a nigger's or negro's left ballock (or testicle) (or any famous coloured woman's) left tit.

neither sugar nor salt, be. Not to be delicate; esp. not to fear rain: proverbial coll.: C.18—20: ob. Swift. Ex sugar melting in rain. (Apperson.) Still recalled, later C.20, in the jibe at someone, usu. a child, reluctant to go out into rain, 'Go on—you won't melt! You're not made of sugar!' (P.B.)

neither use nor ornament. Contemptuous description of a useless person or thing: (perhaps mainly North Country) coll.: C.20. (Mrs Hazel Dilke-Wing, 1978.) In Musings, 1912, p.12, an officer says to the wardroom steward, 'Waiter! I'm not here for ornament or amusement!' (P.B.) 'The pupils [in the London suburban dancing-class] didn't appear to me to be either useful or ornamental performers' (Rachel Ferguson, Evenfield, 1942, p. 203).

Nell, not on your. Not on your life!: since ca. 1950. Short for not on your Nellie, q.v. Franklyn 2nd.—2. See poor blind Nell.

Nellie, -y. A giant petrel: nautical coll.:—1875 (Pettman, Africanderisms, 1913).—2. Any HMS Nelson: RN: C.19—20. 'Taffrail'.—3. Any cheap wine: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.—4. (also nelly.) 'An effeminate, affected homosexual who makes public display of his homosexuality' (Lavender Lexicon, 1965): US: partially adopted, ca. 1945, in Brit.—5. See nervous Nellies.—6. RN lowerdeck nickname for any man surnamed Wallis or Wallace, 'after the music-hall artist Nelly Wallace' (Granville): C.20.

Nellie Bligh. An eye: Eng. and Aus. rhyming s.: C.20.—2. A fly; in this sense usu. Nellie Bly and mostly in pl: Aus. rhyming s.: since ca. 1910. Mary Durack, Keep Him My Country, 1955, 'Thanks, Stan. I never was one for drinking with the Nelly Blys.' Franklyn notes, in Rhyming, that this is used by London children, 'their elders tend to use terms more robust'. P.B.: Nellie Bligh was the 'other woman' in the American ballad 'Frankie and Johnny were lovers'.

Nellie Duff. See not on your Nellie!

Nellie's death. Cheap red wine: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (Dai Stevens, The Gambling Ghost, 1953.) Cf. Nellie, 3.

Nelly. See Nellie.—2. As adj., 'denoted all that was favoured by the commonalty' (Kenneth Williams, letter to P.B., 1980, concerning 'camp' dialogue of the 1960s).—3. As exclam. of disgust or contempt: effeminate men's: mid-1950s. (P.B.)

Nelson. One pound, one shilling and one penny: bank cashiers': late C.19—20. Folklore derives it ex 'Nelson's one eye, one arm and one anus'.—2. See shed a tear.

Nelson stock. 'Driver's window on one side and an indicator's board on the other (Southern Region)': railwaymen's: C.20. (Railway, 2nd.) An allusion to Lord Nelson's lost eye.

Nelson's blood. Navy rum: RN; also, in C.20, Aus.: (?mid-) C.19—20. (Bowen.) Naval lore has it that Nelson's corpse was pickled in rum in order to preserve it on its passage to England. See also tap the admiral. Peppitt, 1976, notes that the full term was 'never actually used in speech, whereas Nelson's is; the custom of issuing a daily tot of rum to every seaman ceased on 1 Aug. 1970 (L.A.).

Nelson's Bodyguard. Synon. with Neptune's Bodyguard: Granville.

Nelson's Column. See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

nenanecking. A var. of shenanacking, i.e. shenanigan: nautical: late C.19—20. Bowen.

nenti. A late C.19—20 form of nantee, q.v. P.H. Emerson, 1893.

neo-barrack. A joc., disparaging adj. applied to 'the barrack-like architecture so common today' (Petch, 1966): since ca. 1950. Cf. North Oxford Gothic and Stockbrokers' Tudor.

Neptune's Bodyguard. The Royal Marines: military: ca. 1850—1910. Also the Admiral's Regiment, the Globe-Rangers or -Trotters, the Jollies, and the Little Grenadiers.

Neptune's sheep. A nautical var. of white horses (waves white-crested): late C.19—20. Bowen.

nerd (or nurd). A foolish person, a 'twit': adopted, ex US, late 1970s. New Statesman, competition, 4 Aug. 1979.

nerk (or nurk). An unpleasant or objectionable or foolish person: low coll.: since mid-1950s. Christopher Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979, has an RM corporal talking of N. Ireland, 1972, 'The poor bloody squaddies carry the can, both from the nerks on the street and the nobbers in their own lot'; the term occurs frequently in the Clement & La Frenais 'Fletcher' stories of prison life, 1970s. Perhaps orig. a euph. for berk, by those who know the latter's derivation, or merely a blend of nit (wit)+berk. (P.B.) nerst! Nonsense!: low, though not always apprehended as low: adopted ca. 1935 ex US, where it is polite for nuts=balls, q.v.

nerve. A dashing dandy: Society coll.: ca. 1750—60. Adventurer, no. 98, 1753, 'Buck, Blood, and Nerve'.—2. Impudence; supreme 'cheek': poss. orig. Etonian, from ca. 1880 (B. & L.); by late C.19 > gen. coll. (Critic, 21 Jan. 1899). Ex the S.E. sense, courage, assurance, esp. Disraeli's 'You have nerve enough, you know, for anything,' 1826 (OED). Cf. nervy.

nerve war, a. The making of constant complaints in order to get things done: Aus. army: 1940—5. B., 1943.

nerver. A 'pick-me-up' drink of strong liquor; a tonic: Cockney:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930.

nerves, get on one's. See get...

nerving is an illicit tampering with a horse to make it more spirited and saleable: horse-copers': mid-C.19–20. ('No. 747.'). Cf. nerve, 2.

Nervo and Knox. Socks: (mainly theatrical) rhyming s.: since ca. 1940. Ex the well-known pair of entertainers who formed part of the popular 'Crazy Gang'; cf. Naughton and Gold. This leaves only Flanagan and Allen 'unaccounted for'. —2. 'Syphilis (pox). "A dose of the old Nervo"' (Powis): low: later C.20.—3. Television: rhyming s., on the (goggle-)box: later C.20. Jack Jones, ed., Rhyming Cockney Slang, 1971.

nervous Nellies. American isolationists: 1939–41. Perhaps ex Nervous Nelly, 'Nickname of US Secretary of State Kellogg, who gave his name to the 1928 Pact outlawing war' (R.S., 1967).—2. Hence, in sing., a naturally timid, even a cowardly, person: adopted, ca. 1970, ex US (DCCU).

nervy. Very impudent; impudently confident: 1897: middle 1890s; slightly ob. Ex S.E. nervy, boldly brave.—2. 'Jumpy', having bad nerves; excitable or hysterical: coll.: 1906. SOD.

nescio. In sport a nescio, to pretend not to understand anything, esp. in an old university custom: university: ca. 1810–50 (perhaps 150 years earlier: cf. next). Lex. Bal.—2. In stay with nescio, to circumvent with pretended ignorance: Cambridge University: C.17–18. (J. Hackett's Life of Archbishop Williams.) Ex L., 'I don't know'.

-ness. 'Much used in mod. jocular formations, e.g. Why this thyness?' (W., 1920).—2. A suffix frequently substituted by the illiterate, esp. Cockneys, for other abstract suffixes: almost immemorial. Edwin Pugh, in The Cockney at Home, 1914, has romanticness and sarcasticness; the -ness is gen. added to the adj.

Nessie. The Loch Ness monster, often revived during 'the silly season': dwellers on Loch Ness, hence journalists': since late 1933. (It was on 2 May 1933 that the newspapers announced that a giant marine creature had been seen in Loch Ness.)

nest, n. The female pudend: low coll. when not euph. S.E.: C.18—early 20. (Robert Burns.) G.A. Stevens has nest in the bush.—2. A 'stick' of aerial bombs: RAF: 1939+. (H. & P.) Ex egg, 3, a bomb.—3. An aerodrome: RAus. AF: WW2. (B., 1943.) To which all the little aircraft fly home.—4. In be on the nest, to enjoy the gratification of the marriage (or, since ca. 1945, any other) bed: low coll.: C.19–20. Moe cites L.L.G., 20 Dec. 1823. Cf. sense 1; prob. influenced by the comfort of any well-built nest.

nest, v. To defecate: C.17—early 18: ?coll. or dial. (Scots) or S.E. F. & H.

nest-egg. A sum of money laid by: late C.17–20: coll. till C.19, then S.E. Orig. (as in B.E.), gen. as leave a nest-egg. Ruskin.

nesting-box. (usu. in pl.) A Wren's (WRNS) cabin: RN: 1939+. Granville.

nestling. See keep a nestling.

nestor. An undersized boy: Winchester College: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex wizened, shrunken Nestor, who in allusive S.E. = an old man.

ness. (App. never in singular.) Varieties: c.:—1851; ob. (Mayhew.) ?perversion of sets.

net. Ten: back s.:—1851 (Mayhew, I). In net-gen, 10 shillings.—2. A net: lawn-tennis coll.: C.20 (OED Sup.) Cf. tennis for lawn-tennis.—3. A guard-room: army s.: early C.20.—4. See all is fish...; off net.

net a load of rabbits. To get a load of passengers: busmen's: ca. 1860–1910. Cf. trap, v.

netenin. Nineteen: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Cf.:

netewif. Fifteen: back s.:—1859 (Ibid.). Also netewif.

netexis. Sixteen: back s.:—1859 (Ib.). Cf. prec. two entries.

netgen. A half-sovereign; the sum of ten shillings: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Composed of net, 10+gen, a shilling (q.v.) Earlier, in Mayhew, I, 1851.

Netherlands, the. The male or the female privities: low: C.18—early 20.—2. The buttocks: ?mostly naval: late C.18—early 19.

netnevis. Seventeen: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Cf.: nettheg, often written net-theg. Eighteen: back s.:—1859 (Ibid.). Cf.:

netrouf. Fourteen: back s.:—1859 (Ib.). Also netrouf. Cf. prec. two entries.

nettle in, dock out. A phrase implicative or indicative of fickleness of purpose; or of senseless changing of order: proverbial coll.: mid-C.14–18. (B.E.) P.B.: ex the application of dock leaf to relieve nettle-sting.

nettle stuff. The special rope yarn used for making hammock clews': nautical coll.: mid-(?)C.19–20. Bowen.

neuc. '... Loading neuc boxes—which are the infant hives with one frame of brood and two stickies' (Kylie Tennant, The Honey Flow, 1956): Aus. migratory bee-keepers': since ca. 1945. For 'nucleus'? Cf. nuke, q.v.

Neurope, n. and adj. New Europe: philatelists': Ware cites the Daily Chronicle, 13 Nov. 1919. For formation, cf. Naussie, a New Australian.

neux, n. and v. A fag; to fag; Woolwich: mid-C.19–20; ?f. (Dr C.T. Onions, postcard, 1940.) Ex new (boy, lad, chap). neuve; loosely, nevel. Eleven: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.); Manchon.

never a dull moment! An ironic c.p. in time of danger or excitement: RN: since ca. 1939 (Granville). Since 1945, widely used among civilians too—usu. on much less exciting or dangerous occasions.

never (or ne'er or nare) a face but his own. See ne'er a face...

never country or never land. 'Desert lands or remote areas in the far outback of Australia' (B., 1959): Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. Ex Never-Never, 1.

never do a. To shirk work: RN: since ca. 1900. Granville.

never fear. Beer; rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Ex:—2. No danger, or risk, of that! ?earliest in Bulwer Lytton, 1838 (OED). Cf. don't you fear!

never fear — (speaker's name) is here! Sometimes a cheerful greeting, at other times a jovial and friendly reassurance: c.p.: since mid-1940s, perhaps from ca. 1920. The lure of rhyme! (P.B.)

never get enough. Esp. in 'he (or she) can never get enough': an observation on the insatiability of a person's sexual appetite: C.20. (L.A., 1974.)

never greens. Eucalyptus: Aus.: late C.19–20. (B., 1942.) Ironic.

never hachi. Nonsense; 'it never happened (or never will happen)': United Nations troops in Korean theatre, ca. 1951–5; in the 1960s, sometimes heard in Hong Kong. By Hobson-Jobson ex Japanese abu hachi, a proverbial phrase meaning 'nonsense'. (P.B., with thanks to Miss Masayo Nakata.)

never had it! 'Said of an unmarried woman) never to have had the felicity of a good or able man; taunting call to girl by "yobs", 1930s–40s' (L.A., 1978).

never had it so good, you've or we've or they've or I've, or he's...; in American usage, you never had it so good. So far as Britain is concerned, the original was 'Our people have...' (Prime Minister Harold Macmillan): Nunquam id habuistis tam bonum, as it was jocosely rendered in Latin. But 'the Americans were using this idiom by the end of the Second World War, and possibly long before that. In German it is old-established, while in modern German it is heard a dozen times a day.' This, adds Dr Brian Foster (The Changing English Language, 1968), seems to indicate that 'we are dealing with an idiom carried over into American English by the speech-habits of German immigrants'—cf. I wouldn't know. In The New Language of Politics, 1968, William Safire records that it was 'the Democratic party slogan in the 1952 Stevenson campaign against Eisenhower'.

never in a pig's ear. Never: rhyming s., on year: later C.20. Powis.

never let it be said...! A lower-class genteel c.p.: C.20. W.L. George, The Making of an Englishman, 1914.

Never-mass, at. Never: coll.: mid-C.16–17. Anon., Thersites, ca. 1550; 1631, R.H., 'As our Country Phrase is, when Hens make Holy-water, at new-Never-masse' (OED).

never-mention-'ems. Trousers: coll.: Victorian. (OED: 1856.) Perhaps elliptical for, but more prob. the basic form of, Oh-no-ue-never-mention-'em, which occurs on p. 59 of C.J.R. Cook, The Quarter Deck, 1844. (Moe.) Cf. synon. unmentionables.

never mind! Don't let that trouble you!; mind your own business! coll.: ca. 1814, anon. in Gonzaga, 'Never mind, father, don't be obstreperous about it' (OED).

never mind buying the bye – buy the bleedin' beer! Mainly Cockney c.p. evoked by the use of 'Oh, by the by...': late C.19–early 20. (Leechman.)

Never-Never, the. Abbr. the Never-Never country or land, 'the regions remote from civilization, and as yet unsettled or unexplored, at first referring to northwestern Queensland or northern Australia generally' (Wilkes, who adds, 'The term was given currency by Mrs Aeneas Gunn's classic We of the Never-Never, 1908): Aus. coll.: since mid-C.19. An early occurrence is in F. Cooper, Wild Adventures in Australia, 1857 (quoted in Wilkes): 'I had the cattle mustered, and the draft destined for the Nievah vahs ready for the road'; Nievah vahs is glossed 'sometimes incorrectly pronounced never nevers, a Cameleroi term signifying unoccupied land'. E.P. suggested, however, that 'the derivation ex an Aboriginal word... is prob. invalid'; he preferred the explanation 'because, having been there, one swears never, never to return.' Wilkes's next quot'n is from 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1875 ('Never-Never country'). P.B.: pace Cooper and E.P., could it be that, as with the view of any wilderness, it seems 'never, never to end'?—2. Also with country or land: the future life, esp. heaven: Aus. coll.: late C.19–early 20. 'Rolf Boldrewood'. Cf. 'pie in the sky when you die'.—3. Marriage, 'it being a case of 7s. 6d. down, and the weekly payments ever after. The "down" payment is probably more now' (Petch, 1969): joc.: since ca. 1920.—4. For on the never-never, hire-purchase, see never, on the.

never-never policy, the. The late Mr. Cook's... much-parodied... slogan, Not a penny off the pay, not a minute on the day. (The General Strike, May 1926): political coll.; now only historical. Collinson.

never no more! Never more, never again: (a virtual) c.p.: late C.19–20. It occurs in, e.g., Somerset Maugham, The Casuarina Tree, 1926, and, as Camilla Raab points out, may be based on a chorus line of a well-known ballad, 'The Wild Rover'. This in turn may lead back into dial.; and indeed it is recorded as Midlands dial. in EDD (P.B.).

never, on the. On credit; by wangling; military (1915) >, by 1919, gen. (B. & P.) From ca. 1925, often on the never-never. Prob. abbr. on the never-pay system.

never-out, the. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20.

never-squedge. 'A poor pulseless, passionate youth—a duffer': low London:—1909 (Ware). Perhaps never-squeeze (a girl).

never stand still. Var. of can't keep still, q.v., a treadmill.

never stit! (in C.17, ne'er...) A c.p. of emphasis or confidence; of assurance or reassurance: ca. 1660–1785. Equivalent to 'Let me never stir again if I lie to you or mislead you!' See DCpp. for the semantics, and for many examples, esp. from Restoration comedy. Cf. never trust me!

never tell me! See don't tell me!

never-too-late-to-mend shop. A repairing tailor's: tailors': ca. 1860–1930.

never trust me! A c.p. oath=never trust me if this doesn't happen: (mostly low) coll. and mostly London: late C.16–early 20.

Never-Wag Man of War. The Fleet Prison: low: ca. 1820–50. Egan.

never-waser. (Rarely of things.) One who never was a success: orig. (ca. 1890) circus s. >, ca. 1905, gen. (Sportsman, 1 Apr. 1891.) Cf. has been, q.v. (In US, often never-was: OED Sup.)

neves(s); more gen. nevis. Seven: back s.: since ca. 1845. Mayhew, I, 1851, has it in sense 'sevenpence'.—2. A seven-year prison-sentence: c.: late C.19–20. (Norman.) Short for:-

nevis-stretch. Seven years' hard labour: c.: from ca. 1860. Ex prec.

nev(v)y, nev(v)ey. Nephew: occ. low coll. but gen. dial.: C.19–20. Also 'see frater'.—2. Hence, a schoolmaster's favourite: Tonbridge: late C.19–early 20. Marples.

New. New College, Oxford: Oxford University coll.: mid-C.19–20. (A. Fielding, Death of John Tait, 1932.) Contrast New College.

new. A fresh arrival: Britannia training-ship:—1909 (Ware). Cf. new fellow, q.v. Whence new, new!, the cry of a senior cadet wanting something done by a youngster: Bowen.—2. See tell me news!

New Billingsgate. 'Gorgonzola Hall', q.v.: Stock Exchange:—1887; ob. by 1930.

new bit, the. The new fashion or vogue: since ca. 1970. R.S. cites the Observer, 26 May 1974. Cf. bit, n., 14: P.B.: there is, naturally, 'the same old bit', the current fashion.

new boy. A new member of a ship's wardroom: RN officers': WW2. (P-G-R.) Ex school, the phrase can be, and is, applied in many other circles, for a new arrival (P.B.) Cf. new chum.

new brat. The Bootham School form (Bootham, 1925) of:-

new bug. A new boy: orig. (ca. 1860), Marlborough School; in C.20, fairly gen.

new chum, new-chum. A new arrival, esp. if from Great Britain or Ireland: Aus. coll. (in C.20, S.E.), often slightly contemptuous. T.L. Mitchell, 1839, 'He was what they termed a "new chum", or one newly arrived'; R.M. Praed, 1885; Mrs H.E. Russell, 1892. Whence the rare new chumhood (1883, W. Jardine Smith). Morris. See also chum.—2. A newly arrived officer: army officers': WW2. P-G-R.

new-chum gold. Iron pyrites: Aus.: mid-C.19–20. (Baker.) Very deceptive.

new collar and cuff. To refurbish an old sermon: clerical: ca. 1870–1930.

New College. The Royal Exchange: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E. (as College, perhaps carelessly); Grose. See also college.—2. Whence New College students, 'golden scholars, silver batchelors, and leaden masters' (Grose, 1st ed.): which, as James Howell's Proverbs, 1659, makes clear, is a c.p. flung at the gradual dulling of their intelligence. C.17–early 19.

new drop. 'The scaffold used at Newgate for hanging criminals; which, dropping down, leaves them suspended' (Grose, 1788): ca. 1785–1850: perhaps orig. c.: certainly never better than low s.

new fellow. A naval cadet in his second term, a 'first-termer' being a cheeky new fellow: Britannia training-ship: late C.19–early 20. (Bowen.) Cf. new, q.v.

new Gravel Lane bullock, fifty ribs a side. A red herring: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. Billingsgate pheasant.

new growth. A (gen. cancerous) tumour: medical coll.:—1933 (Slang, p. 192).

new guinea, a or the. The first possession of an income: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. Egan's Grose, 1823 (where 'cant' obviously = slang).

new hand. Synon. with new chum, 1: Aus. coll.: late C.19–early 20. B., 1943, 1959.

new hat. A guinea: cheapjacks': ca. 1870–1915. C. Hindley, 1876.

new head, give a. To supply a new title and a few lines of introduction to old matter, to deceive the reader into thinking the whole article or 'item' new: journalistic coll.: late C.19–20.

new iniquity. Australian immigrants: NZ (mostly Otago): coll.: ca. 1862–80. Opp. old identity, q.v. at identity. Morris.

new jacks. Junior players in a football club: since ca. 1925.

New Jerusalem. Warwick and Eccleston Squares district: ca. 1865–1900. Cf. Cubitopolis.

new joint. A raw recruit: RN lowerdeck; later C.19—earlier 20. (Goodenough, 1901.) Either a new(ly) joined or simply 'new fellow' (cf. joint, n., 7.).

new knock, the. A C.20 c. var. of new drop, q.v. Edgar Wallace, The Squeaker, 1927.

New Light; occ. new light. A Methodist: coll.: from ca. 1785; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. One who attends the gaols in order to engineer escapes: c.: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

new lining to his hat. A bluejacket's pay, 'still received on the cap instead of in the hand': RN: late C.19–20. Bowen.

new Navy. Comforts and improvements introduced into the Navy: RN coll. (old bluejackets'): from 1904. R.S. writes "'Bartimeus", Naval Occasions, 1914, in his preface, positively dates use of the phrase in this context in 1904'.

new one on me, it's (or that's) a. First time I've heard of, or seen, that (being done): c.p.: since ca. 1910.

new pair of boots, that's a. That's quite another matter: middle-class coll.: 1883, Entr'Acte, 17 Mar. (Ware); ob. by 1930. Cf. a 'whole new ball-game, at ball-game.

new pin, bright or clean or neat or nice or smart as a. Extremely bright, etc.; very smart; first-class: coll.: from ca. 1880. R.L. Stevenson, 1822 (clean...); Elworthy, 1886 (neat); P.H. Emerson, 1893 (smart...). Obviously, however, as a new pin often merely = wholly; it dates back at least as far as Scott, 1829, 'Clear as a new pin of every penny of debt'. Apperson. new plates. See plates.

New River Head (or h-), the. Tears: a London c.p. of ca. 1820–30. Bee, 'A watery head hath the wife, whose nob, like Niobe's, is a tears; sometimes termed "the New River head", after an elevated back-water near Islington.'

new scum. A new boy; collectively, new boys: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1870. (Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.) Cf. new bug, q.v.

new settlements. A final reckoning: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. Egan's Grose.

New South. New South Wales: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. See the quot'n at Dinny Hayes.

new tick. A new boy: certain Public Schools': from ca. 1880. (George Orwell, Burmese Days, 1935.) Prob. suggested by new bug.

New Year revolution. A New Year resolution: Aus. joc.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.)

New York nippers. Kippers: rare rhyming s.: C.20. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Newcastle, carry or send coals to. See coals. See also Newk. Newcastle hospitality. Roasting a friend to death; more gen., killing a person with kindness: N. Country coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Rather coll. than dial.) Apperson.

Newcastle programme. 'Extreme promises, difficult of execution': political coll.: 1894–ca. 1900. (Ware.) Ex 'a speech of extreme Radical promise made by Mr John Morley at Newcastle'.

Newgate, specifically, from C.13, the prison (demolished in 1902) for the City of London, was by 1590, 'a common name for all prisons' (Nashe). (Cf. Newman's, q.v.) Whence the following; of which it is exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, to determine the exact status:—2. As black as Newgate, frowning; soiled (dress): low coll.: ca. 1820–80. (Bee.) Cf. Newgate knocker, 2, q.v.—3. In born on Newgate steps, of criminal, esp. thievish, extraction: late C.18—mid-19: c. or low s. or low coll. Bee, 1823, 'Before 1780, these steps... were much frequented by rogues and w—s connected with the inmates of that place.'—4. In he that is at a low ebb at Newgate may soon be afloat at Tyburn, an almost proverbial c.p. of ca. 1660–1810: condemnation at Newgate might well end in a hanging (one's heels afloat) at Tyburn; also fig. Fuller in his Worthies, Grose in his Provincial Glossary. Apperson.

Newgate bird or nightingale. A gaol-bird; a thief, a sharper: bird, C.17–19 coll., e.g. in Dekker (see also bird); nightingale, C.16 coll., e.g. in Copland.

Newgate collar (rare: gen. Tyburn collar), frill, fringe. 'A collar-like beard worn under the chin' (F. & H.): resp. ca.

1820–90 (c. or low s.); ca. 1860–1900 (c. or low s.); ca. 1860–1920 (id.). H., 2nd ed., frill and fringe. Cf. Newgate knocker and Newgate ring.

Newgate frisk or hornpipe. A hanging: c. or low s.: resp. ca. 1830–90; ca. 1825–80. Esp. prec. by dance a. Maginn has 'toeing a Newgate hornpipe'.

Newgate gaol (or jail). A 'hard-luck story' or sympathy-rousing tale: rhyming s.: later C.19. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Newgate knocker. 'A lock of hair like the figure 6, twisted from the temple back towards the ear' (F. & H.): low coll.: from ca. 1840; ob. (Mayhew.) The fashion was at its height ca. 1840–55. Cf. aggerawators, q.v., and Newgate ring.—2. (Cf. Newgate, 2.) As black, or dark, as Newgate knocker, extremely black or (esp. of a night) dark: coll.: from ca. 1880. Apperson.

Newgate ring. Moustache and beard worn as one, without whiskers: s. or low coll.: ca. 1820–90. Cf. Newgate collar and Newgate knocker.

Newgate saint. A condemned criminal: ca. 1810–80: c. or s. or low coll.

Newgate seize me (if I do, there now)! Among criminals, an asseveration of the most binding nature: c. of ca. 1810–60. 'Jon Bee', 1823.

Newgate solicitor. A pettifogging attorney: c. or s. or low coll.: ca. 1785–1840. Grose, 2nd ed.

newie. See newy.

Newington Butts. The stomach; (fig.) guts: rhyming s.: since late C.19. (P.P., 1932; Jack Jones, ed., Rhyming Cockney Slang, 1971.) Usu., if not always, shortened to Newingtons. Ex a thoroughfare in S. London. (Franklyn.) Powis notes, 1977, that the term is now 'not used to mean courage, [but] especially a large corporation'.

Newk. Newcastle: Durham and Newcastle undergraduates': C.20. (Marples, 2.) Cf. newy, 2, q.v., and—

Newky (, the). Newcastle-upon-Tyne: local teenagers': late 1970s. Paul Corrigan, New Society, 5 July 1979.—2. 'Newcastle Brown Ale': an appreciative dim. of the trade name: later C.20. (P.B.)

Newland. See Abraham Newland.

Newlicks. See Noolucks.

newly wed. A sergeant recently promoted to a lieutenantcy: Aus. soldiers': 1939+. B., 1942.

Newman's. In C.17, Numans; in C.18, no record; ca. 1805–50, Newmans. Newgate: c. The New of Newgate + MANS, q.v. in Appendix, a place. But while Numans stands by itself, Newman's is rare except in the following combinations:—Newman's Hotel. Newgate: c. of ca. 1805–50. (Lex. Bal.) Ex prec.

Newman's lift. The gallows: c. of ca. 1805–50. (Ibid.) Contrast:

Newman's Tea-Gardens. Newgate: c. of ca. 1805–50. (Ib.) Cf. Newman's Hotel.

Newmarket Heath. See fine morning...

Newmarket Heath commissioner. A highwayman: coll.: ca. 1800–50. Ex notorious locality.

news, n. See bad news; do you hear the news?; tell me news!

news, v. To work as a news-journalist: journalists': mid-C.20. Alan Hunter, Gently Sahib, 1964, (Of a man who has left a press agency) 'He hasn't been newising for anyone since.'

news(-)hawk or news(-)hound. A reporter: journalistic: adopted, ca. 1925, from US; by 1938, coll.

News of the World. A very long letter, containing nothing of note, from a woman: joc.: since ca. 1930.

newsie (or -sy), n. A newspaper-seller: mostly Aus.: C.20. B., 1953.

newsy. Gossipy; full of news: late C.19–20: coll. >, by 1940, familiar S.E.—2. Occ. euph. for nosey, inquisitive: since ca. 1930.

newt. A neutral vessel: RN: WW1, and since.—2. In (as drunk or tight or pissed as a newt, very drunk indeed: Services'), prob. orig. army officers': C.20. Perhaps more often, at first, tight, but since WW2 usu. pissed... The newt is an amphibious reptile, with a tight-fitting skin. Cf. tight as a drum. P.B.: I have heard, mid-1970s, the derivative term newted, drunk. Newton got him or took him. See old Newton.

Newton Heath. Teeth: Manchester rhyming s.: C.20. (Jacob Jaffe, 1959.) Ex the industrial suburb so named. Cf. Hampsteads.

Newtown pippin. A cigar: low: ca. 1880–1910. Ex its fragrance.—2. A dangerous type of rifle-grenade: military, esp. Aus.: 1915.

News. Newtown footballers: Sydneyites': since ca. 1920. B., 1943.

newy. The "cad" paid to look after the canvas tent in "Commoner" field' (F. & H.): Winchester College: ca. 1860–1915. See cad, school sense.—2. Newy. Newcastle, NSW: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1953.) Cf. Newk, q.v.—3. A new one; a newcomer: Aus. coll.: C.20. H. Drake-Brockman, Hot Gold, 1940; Cusack & James, Come in Spinner, 1951.—4. (Also newie.) A new trick, as in 'That's a newy on me!': Aus.: since ca. 1925. Cf. new one on ...—5. A new story: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B.P.) In fact it could prob. be applied to anything new, in coll. Aus. (P.B.) next, as - as the. As (any adj.) as possible: coll.: late C.19–20.

next in line for admiral, be. To be the first due for promotion (to any rank): orig. RN, since (?)ca. 1940; by 1950 also used, joc., in the Army. Often in 'Who's next ...?' It is to be hoped that the promotion, when it does come, will not necessarily be on 'the Buggins principle' of mere length of service, hence seniority. See also kiss me Hardy. (P.B.)

next of skin. Next of kin: Services' joc. perversion: C.20. F. & G.

Next Parish to America. Aran Islands: Anglo-Irish coll.: —1887. Ware, 'Most western land of Ireland'.

next the heart, adj. or adv. Fasting(ly): mid-C.16–17, coll.; in C.18–19, dial. (Nashe.) Here, heart = the stomach: cf. S.E. heartburn and Fr. mal au cœur. Cf. heart up.

next time you make a pie, will you give me a piece? A man's c.p. suggestion to a girl that she should co-operate sexually: Can.: ca. 1895–1914.

next way, round about, is at the far door. You're going a long way round: a C.17 proverbial c.p. John Clarke, 1639. (N.B., next = nearest = shortest.)

next week, on for. A c.p. applied to a clock that is very fast: since ca. 1920.

Niagara Falls. Testicles: rhyming s., on balls: C.20. (Michael Harrison, Reported Safe Arrival, 1943.) Usu. shortened to Niagaras, and predominant over:—2. Stalls (of a theatre): theatrical rhyming s.: C.20. (London Evening Standard, 19 Aug. 1931.) Cf. the use of orchestra stalls for testicles.

nib, n. A gentleman: from ca. 1810; ob.: ca. until ca. 1880, then low. (Vaux.) Also from ca. 1840, nib-cove. Whence half-nib(s), one who apes gentlemen. ?ex the C.17 Cambridge, esp. King's College, nib (either s. or j.), a freshman. More prob., as W. points out, a thinned form of nob, q.v.: cf. nab and (his) nabs; see nibs, and niblike.—2. Hence, any smartly dressed, usu. young, fellow: coll.: late C.19–early 20. EDD; Punch, 31 Oct. 1917. (P.B.)—3. A fool: printers': ca. 1860–1930.

nib, v. To catch; arrest: from ca. 1770: c. until ca. 1850, then low s.; ob. Ex nab, q.v.—2. To nibble: C.17–20: S.E. until C.19, then low coll. (†) and dial. Ex nibble.—3. See nib off.

nib-cove. See nib, n, 1.

nib-like. See niblike.

nib (off). To run away; depart quickly: Leicestershire teenagers': mid-1970s. (D. & R. McPheely, 1978.) Prob. cognate with synon. nip, v., 4.

nibbets. A Can. synon., late C.19–20, of clinkers, 2.

nibbing cull. A (petty) thief; occ. a fraudulent dealer: c.: ca. 1770–1820.

nibble, n. In get a nibble, to obtain an easy job: tailors': mid-C.19–early 20.—2. In have a nibble, 'To have the best of a bargain, or an easy, well-paid job' (B. & L.): id.—3. Have a nibble, to copulate: low: C.20. Ex v., 3.—4. An as yet non-committal approach by a buyer, as in 'I see your house is up for sale. Had any nibbles yet?': coll.: C.20. Ex S.E. sense of fish trying a bait. Cf. v., 4. (P.B.)

nibble, v. To catch: C.17–20; ob.: c. >, ca. 1860, low s. Middleton, 'The rogue has spied me now: he nibbled me finely once.'—2. To steal, pilfer: c.: C.19–20; ob. Vaux.—3. To copulate: low: C.19–20; ob.—4. To consider, eagerly but carefully, e.g. a bargain, an offer. V.t. with at. Coll.: C.19–20.—5. 'To fine as a punishment for being absent over leave ... The accountant officer takes a nibble at the defaulters' pay' (Granville): RN: late C.19–20. (Knock.) Cf. next, 2. nibbler. A (petty) thief; occ. a cheating dealer: c.: C.19–20; ob. Vaux.—2. 'Leave-breaker to a small extent who nibbles a bit of extra time from his allowance of leave' (Granville): RN: C.20. Cf. prec., 5.

nibbling. Taking out a girl fairly regularly, fairly often; courting: Services: since ca. 1925. (H. & P.) A blend of nibble, v., 3 and 4.

nibby. Adj. from nib, n, 1 and 2: low: late C.19–earlier 20. Manchon.

niblick. A kind of cocktail: ca. 1910–40. In H.M. Harwood's Transit of Venus, 1927, Act I, Sir Evelyn says, 'Or a cocktail—what about a niblick?'

niblike. (See also nibsosome.) Gentlemanly: from ca. 1830; ob.: c. until ca. 1860, then low s. Ainsworth, 'All my togs were so niblike and splash.'

nibs. (See also nabs.) Self: my nibs, myself; your nibs, you or, as term of address, 'friend'; his nibs, the person mentioned; also (—1860), the master or a shabby genteel (cf. nib, n, 1, q.v.), or, among tailors (—1928), a well-dressed workman. From ca. 1820: c. >, ca. 1840, low s. >, ca. 1890, gen. s. (Haggart, 1821; Mayhew; Chevalier, 1893, in his song, 'Our Little Nipper'.) Ex nabs. There is prob. some connexion with nib, n, 1: cf. his lordship, joc. applied to anyone, with which cf. his royal nibs, him, in A. Adams's Log of a Cowboy, 1903 (OED). Note also the analogous nose-watch, q.v.—2. Delicacies: proletarian:—1923 (Manchon). Ex nibble.

nibso. A ca. 1880–1915 var. of prec., 1: low.

nibsosome. Gentlemanly; (of houses) richly furnished, etc.: from ca. 1835; ob.: c. >, ca. 1860, low s. G.W.M. Reynolds, 1839, 'Betray his pals in a nibsosome game'.

nice, n. See piece of nice.

nice, adj. Agreeable; delightful: coll.: 1769, Miss Carter, 'I intended to dine with Mrs. Borgrave, and in the evening to take a nice walk'; Jane Austen; Mary Kingsley. OED. (Often with an ad hoc modification.) Cf. nice and, q.v.—2. In not too nice, a Society coll.: 'First degree of condemnation—equals bad' (Ware): from ca. 1870. Cf. the slightly later not nice to know, objectionable (only of persons): (mostly joc.) coll. D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933.

nice and. Nicely, in sense of 'very': coll.: 1846, D. Jerrold, 'You'll be nice and ill in the morning.' It is the phrase only which has coll. force: nice, by itself, however ironical, is S.E.: witness Jerrold's 'A nice job I've had to nibble him.' QED; Fowler.

nice as a ha'porth of silver spoons. Ridiculously dainty or fastidious: proverbial coll.: C.16. 'Proverbs' Heywood, 1546; anon., Jack Jugeler. Cf.:

nice as a nanne, nanny, or nun's hen. Very affected or fastidious: proverbial coll.: C.15–early 18. Wilson in his Rhetoric, 1560; Ray. (Apperson.)

nice as nip. Precisely what's needed; exactly: Northern and Midlands coll.: from ca. 1850. See e.g. F.E. Taylor's Lancashire Sayings, 1901. Apperson.

nice as nasty. Objectionable: lower classes' euph.:—1909 (Ware).

nice as pie (, as). (Of persons) very polite, very sweet and agreeable: coll.: since ca. 1910. P.B.: in later C.20, often qualified by reservation, as 'Oh, everything went as nice as pie until I mentioned that, but then ...', or 'We went not knowing quite what to expect, but actually, she was as nice as pie.'

nice drop of. A coll. formula, dating since ca. 1935; e.g., nice drop of work—sock—tie—jacket, etc.; 'plurals are never employed in this phrase' (L.A.). A common var. is lovely drop; cf. fabulous drop.

nice going! An exclam. of approval, approbation, congratulations: adopted ex US ca. 1920. Orig. ex athletics, it soon came to be applied to artistic performance also.

nice joint. A 'charming, if over-pronounced, young person': urban, mostly Cockneys':—1909; ob. by 1930. (Ware.) Cf. joint, n., 7, 'a fellow, chap'.

nice little chap. A (very) inferior car: dealers': since ca. 1950. (Woman's Own, 28 Feb. 1968.) Ironic euph.

nice little place. See nice place...

nice one Cyril! That's neat or brilliant or most effectual: very popular c.p. of mid-1970s. Orig. in a TV commercial for Wonderloaf, in which bakers congratulated each other on their wares (Nigel Rees); it was taken up as a Tottenham Hotspur Football Club supporters' chant in honour of Cyril Knowles, a leading player, 1972–3. See esp. DCpp.

nice pair of eyes, she has—or she's got—a. She has a shapely figure: c.p.: since ca. 1960. Prob. ex a beautiful pair of brown eyes, q.v.

nice place to live out of, it's a. It is not a pleasant place to live in: c.p.: ca. 1890–1940, but still, 1983, not t. Ware; P.B.

nice place (esp. nice little place) you have (or you've got) here. C.p. when used ironically of a habitation that is neither, e.g. of a bed-sitter in disgusting condition or, as it was coined by Tommy Handley before a Royal Command performance of 'Tma' on 21 Apr. 1942, of Windsor Castle. See esp. DCpp.

nice thin job. The 'mean evasion of a promise': lower classes' coll.: 1895–ca. 1914. Ware.

nice to see you (or ya) — to see you: nice! Greeting used by the TV entertainer Bruce Forsyth in his popular series 'The Generation Game', mid-1970s; it rapidly > a c.p., and appeared as the title of an article about Forsyth in the Christmas 1976 issue of the Listener. (P.B.)

nice weather for ducks. See fine weather...

nice work! A c.p. in approval of a favourable arrangement or of a good piece of work: since ca. 1930. Since ca. 1944, often extended to nice work—if you can get it! See DCpp.

nicely, thank you! used as adj. for 'mildly exhilarated with liquor', as in 'He's nicely, thank you': Society: since—1923 (Manchon: thanks); by 1960 very ob. Ngaio Marsh, Death in a White Tie, 1938.

niche-cock. The female pudend: low coll.: C.18–20; ob. (By itself, niche is S.E.)

(nichels or) nichils in a bag or in nine holes, nooks, or pokes. Nothing whatsoever: late C.16–20; coll. till C.19, then dial. R. Scot, 1584 (in a bag, t by 1700); Fuller; Bailey, 'Nichils are... debts... worth nothing.' Ex L. nihil. Apperson.

nichevo. No more; dead: N. Russia Expeditionary Force coll.: end of WW1. (F. & G.) Direct ex Russian.

Nicholas. See Saint Nicholas.

Nicholas Kemp. A proverbial coll., only in the phrase quoted by Quiller-Couch in Troy Town: 'Like Nicholas Kemp, he'd occasion for all.' From ca. 1880; ob. by 1930.

Nicholls. A complete riding habit: Society coll.: from ca. 1860. Ware, 'From the splendid habits made by Nicholls, of Regent Street', London.

nick, n. The female pudend: low coll.: C.18–early 20. Robertson of Struan, who like G.A. Stevens, tended to obscenity.—2. As the nick, the proper, the fashionable, thing or behaviour: ca. 1788–1800. Lord R. Seymour in Murray's Magazine, vol. 1 (OED). ?Ex:—3. The nick (almost always in the nick), good physical condition or health: coll.: ?since ca. 1600. Moe cites an example in a song 'attributed to Ben Jonson', pub'd by an American magazine, The Port Folio, 14 Apr. 1804, p.120: 'Or else, unseen, with them I go, / All in the nick/to play some trick, / And frolick it with ho, ho, ho!' However, this—without further context—is ambiguous: it could equally well be the S.E. in the nick='at the crucial moment' (P.B.).—4. A winning throw at dice: gamblers': ca. 1660–1750. Shadwell, The Sullen Lovers, 1668; Dryden, An Evening's Love, 1668; Otway, The Atheist, 1684. (Thanks to John Cannon, Esq.)—5. In out of all nick, past counting; excessively: coll.: late C.16–17. Shakespeare, Two Gentlemen, 'He lov'd her out of all nick.'—6. As Nick, abbr. Old Nick, q.v., the Devil: coll.: 1785 (EDD).—7. In (out) on the nick, a-thieving; going out to steal: c.: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.—8. As Nick, 'inevitable' nickname for any man surnamed Carter: since ca. 1880. Ex the pseudonym Nick Carter, author of detective novels (1870 onwards).—9. Natal cleft at the fold of the buttock: low: late C.19–20.—10. In do a nick, to decamp: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1959.) Cf. v., 8.—11. In down the nick, (of a locomotive) short of steam: railwaymen's: C.20. Railway.—12. In in good nick, physically fit (of persons); in good condition and working (of machinery): coll.: C.20. Very common in NZ. Ex sense 3.—13. As the nick, a prison ('Stuart Wood', 1932); a police-station (Charles E. Leach, 1933): c. (from 1919). Prob. ex sense 3 of the v., but imm. ex military s. (from ca. 1910), the guard-room, detention-cells (F. & G.). Tempest, 1950, notes 'The most commonly used slang word for any prison', while Powis, 1977, glosses it 'Police station or, less commonly, prison.' In either case, it's where one is sent after getting 'nicked', arrested: see v., 3.—14. See nick and froth.—15. In go down the nick, to become unprofitable because obsolete: businessmen's: since ca. 1965. (With thanks to Sir Edward Playfair, 1977.) Perhaps cf. sense 11.

nick, v. To cheat, defraud (of): coll.: late C.16–19. Taylor the 'Water-Poet' (OED).—2. To catch, esp. unawares: from ca. 1620. (Fletcher & Massinger.) In C.20, occ. to get hold of, as in Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 1924, 'Wait here, darling; I'll nick a rickshaw.'—3. Hence, in C.19–20, to arrest: low s. or perhaps c. The Spirit of the Public Journals, 1806, 'He... stands a chance of getting nicked, because he was found in bad company' (OED).—4. To steal; purloin: 1826 (EDD); 1869, Temple Bar, 'I bolted in and nicked a nice silver tea-pot': c. >, by 1880, low s.—5. To in-dent a beer-can: C.17–18: either coll. or, more prob., S.E. So too the vbl n.—6. To copulate with: low coll.: C.18–20; ob.—7. V.i., to drink heartily: Scots s.: late C.18–19. Jamieson.—8. To depart, esp. if promptly or speedily: Aus.: late C.19–20. (B., 1942.) Cf. n., 10. Also nick off, q.v.—9. 'To place on report' (Home Office): Borstals' and detention centres: later C.20. An extension of sense 3.

nick and froth. A false measure (of beer); cheating customers with false measures: coll.: C.17–mid-18. (Rowlands, B.E.) Anticipated, however, in Skelton's Elynour Rumynge, 'Our pots were full quated, / We were not thus thwarted / With froth-canne and nick-pot.' The nick was a dent in the bottom of the beer-can, the froth implied an excessive amount.—2. Hence, a publican: ca. 1660–1800: coll. Ned Ward has nick and froth victualler (1703).

nick me! An imprecation of ca. 1760–80: coll. (Foote: OED.) Ex v., sense 2.

nick-nack (also knick-knack). The female pudend: low: C.18–early 20.

nick-nacks. Testicles: low: C.18–20. Cf. knackers, and see knick-knacked.

nick-ninny. 'An empty Fellow, a meer Cod's head' (B.E.): late C.17–early 19.

nick off. To play truant; to 'skive': teenagers': early 1980s. Esp. in ('e.g. he was) nicking off'. (Joanna Williamson, 1982.) Cf. bunk off, and nick, v., 8.

nick-pot. A tapster; an inn-keeper: C.17–18: s. or coll. Rowlands.—2. A fraudulent measure or beer-pot: C.17–18: s. or coll. See nick and froth, 1.

nick the pin. To drink not too much, i.e. fairly: coll.: ca. 1690–1730. B.E.; Kersey, 'To the Pin plac'd about the middle of a Wooden Bowl or Cup' (OED).

nickels. Leaflets dropped: RAF: 1939–40.

nicker. One who, at cards, is a cheat: ca. 1660–1730: s. or low coll., though perhaps orig. c.—2. One of a band of disorderly young men delighting in the breaking of windows by throwing copper coins at them: ca. 1715–20: coll. Gay, in Trivia, 'His scatter'd Pence the flying Nicker flings.' Ex nick, to hit the mark.—3. A pound sterling; a sovereign; a £1 note: perhaps orig. c. or racing s., since early C.20; soon > gen. low s. > coll.; also Aus. (B., 1942) and NZ. ('Stuart Wood', 1932; P. Allingham, 1934; Powis, 1977.) The pl. is nicker: Gilt Kid, 1936 (and is still, 1983).—4. A cigarette-end: Liverpool: since ca. 1930. 'You nick it out on a wall.' (Frank Shaw, 1952; he compares the synon. Cardiff dimmer.) Cf. nicky, 2. nickerers. New shoes: Scots c. or, more prob., s.; certainly it soon > s. C.19. (Jamieson.) Ex the creaking sound: see nick, n. and v., in EDD.

nickery. A nickname. low coll.: ca. 1820–30. (Bee.) By corruption.

nickey, nickin. See nikin and Old Nick.

NICKNAMES. For an accumulated list of 'inevitable' nicknames, and for nicknames of soccer teams, see Appendix.

nick. See nix.—2. Stolen goods: Londoners':—1890 (EDD). Ex nick, v., 4.

nickum. A sharper; a cheating tradesman or inn-keeper: c.: late C.17–mid-18. (B.E.) Ex nick 'em, cheat them. (In Scots dial., a wag; a tricky person. EDD.)

nicky. See nikin and Old Nick.—2. A 'saved end of a cigarette, nipped out'—nicked with one's nails—'for smoking later' (F. & G.) and gen. worn behind the ear: military: 1914–18. Cf. nicker, 4.

Nicodemus. A fanatic: Restoration period. Ex Biblical history and Church dissension.

nidget. Idiot: sol. and dial.: C.18–20. Ex an idiot.

niente—usu. nanty—crackling. Female pudend: low: since ca. 1910. Cf. crackling, q.v.

niet dobra! No good!: a c.p., at the latter end of WW1, among members of the N. Russia Expeditionary Force. F. & G., 'Usually with an intermediate English expletive, e.g. "Niet blanky dobra!": cf. no bloody good. Cf. nichevo, q.v.

niff, n. A sniff: Cockney: late C.19–20. A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, 1908.—2. An unpleasant odour: C.20. Prob. ex niff, v.i. To smell unpleasantly: Dulwich College: from late 1890s. (Collinson.) Back-formation ex niffy, adj. P.B.: by mid-C.20, gen. low coll.—2. Seeniff-naff; esp. in Don't niff-naff, 'stop fussing and get cracking' (Jackson): RAF: since ca. 1930. A var. reduplication of niff, which seems to combine niggle and fuss. Cf. faff.

niffle. To smoke: Conway cadets': late C.19–20. (John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.) Rather by a blend of niff and sniffle than ex the latter only.

nifty. 'A strong, nasty smell': military: C.20. (F. & G.) Ex nifty, adj. Smelly: Sussex dial. >, ca. 1890, low s. Ex dial. n. and v., niff, smell; stink.—2. See nifty.

Nifty Jane. HMS Iphigenia: RN: C.20. (Bowen.) By Hobson-Jobson.

nifty, n. (gen. a bit of nifty). Sexual intercourse: c., and low: late C.19–20.

nifty, adj. Smart, fashionable; fine, splendid; (somewhat blatantly) skilful: orig. (1868), US; anglicised ca. 1890. Bret Harte's 'Nifty! Short for magnificent' is a joke, but the term may be a perverted telescoping of magnificent. (Occ., in C.20, in sol. form niffy, q.v., the error being partly caused by the popularity of niffy, 1, q.v.)—2. Lively, in sense perilous: British Army: WW1. Green Envelopes, 1929.—3. Hence, agile; speedy; nimble; usu. something small is implied, but also as in 'He may look big and clumsy, but he can be really pretty nifty when he gets going': coll.: since ca. 1950, at latest. (P.B.)

nifty fifty, a. An act of masturbation: mainly Services': since late 1940s. Cf. ninety-nine, one hundred—change hands! (P.B.)

nig, n. A clipping of money; such clippings collectively. Gen., however, in pl.: clippings. Late C.17—early 19 c. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Prob. nick perverted.—2. A Negro: (low) coll.:

orig. (1864), US; anglicised ca. 1870. Abbr. nigger, q.v.—3. Gin: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).—4. A trick or 'dodge': Blue Coat Schoolboys' (scholars at Christ's Hospital): from ca. 1840. W.H. Blanch, Bluecoat Boy, 1877.—5. A new soldier, either recruit, or just out of recruit training: army: later C.20. (Time Out, 25 July 1980.) Abbr. nignog, 2.

nig, v. To clip money: late C.17—early 19 c. Implied in B.E.'s nigging.—2. To catch; arrest: mid-C.18 c. ?nick, v., 3, influenced by nab, v., 1.—3. To have sexual intercourse: low: C.18. Abbr. niggle, to copulate.

nig-nog. See nignog.

nig pig. A native (of a 'coloured', i.e. not-white, race): RAF: since ca. 1925. (Jackson.) Ex nigger pig?

Nigerian lager. 'Guinness stout' (Powis): public-houses' joc.: later C.20.

nigger A Negro: coll., often pej.: 1786, Burns; 1811, Byron, 'The rest of the world—niggers and what not'. In later C.20, impolite among the cultured. Early variants: niggar, negur. Ex † S.E. neger (L. niger).—2. Hence, a member of some other dark-skinned race: somewhat catachrestically coll.: from ca. 1855. OED.—3. A blackfish (a luderick): Aus. fishermen's: late C.19–20. Nino Culotta, Gone Fishin', 1963.—4. A member of a clique: Dalton Hall, Manchester: from ca. 1925. Hence niggery, cliqueness. Daltonian, Dec. 1946.—5. In work like a nigger: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1890; by 1965, slightly ob.—6. See MOVING-PICTURE SLANG, §3, in Appendix.

nigger-driver; -driving. One who works others excessively hard; this practice: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex the cruelty of some overseers of slaves.

nigger-head. 'An anthill-like peak of coral showing above water' (Baker): Aus. pearl-fishers' and sailors': late C.19–20. Var.: negro-head.

nigger in the woodpile. A (usu. hitherto) hidden factor, or person concealing something crucial, in an affair, as 'Ah, so he's the nigger...': coll., verging on S.E. informal idiom.

nigger-spit. The lumps in cane sugar: low: ca. 1870–1930.

nigger stock. 'Kaffirs', q.v.: Stock Exchange:—1923 (Manchon).

niggers! An oath: low coll.: C.17. Whence niggers-noggers! Cf. jiggers!, ex Jesus. Often, ca. 1640–80, abbr. to nigs!, prec. by (God's or cuds). Glapthorne. OED.

niggers in a snow-storm. Curry and rice; stewed prunes and rice: RN: late C.19—early 20. (Bowen.) The usu. post-1920 form of the 'prunes and rice' sense is niggers in the snow. Cf.: niggers' knackers. Prunes: RAF: since ca. 1925. Cf. prec.

nigger's lips. (Potato-)chips: rhyming s.: later C.20. Red Daniells, 1980.

nigging. Vbl n., the clipping of money: c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E., Grose.

niggle; in C.16—early 17, often nygle; in C.17–18, often nigle. Occ. the n. of:—niggle, etc., v.i. and v.t., to have sexual connexion with a woman: ca. 1565–1820: c. >, ca. 1720, low s. (Extant in US c.: Irwin.) Harman; Rowlands, who says that ca. 1610, wap was more gen.; but in 1612, Dekker has 'And wapping Dell that niggles well, and takes loure for her hire'; B.E.; Grose. Whence niggle, 1.—2. Niggle, v.t. and i., in the variety of its pettifogging, over-meticulous, 'finicky', nagging (of which it is, prob., ultimately a dim. or thinning: cf. dial. (gynaggle) senses, has a coll. flavour but is, in C.20, S.E. (SOD, 1977): ex dial. (EDD). Its derivatives (see below), however, do seem still to be coll. (P.B.)

niggled, ppl adj. Cross; irritated, esp. by disappointment or the pettiness of others: coll.: since ca. 1950. 'They cancelled my 48[-hour pass] at the very last moment. I was just a leetle bit niggled!' Ex niggle, v., 2. Cf. niggly. (P.B.) niggledigeo or niggledigee. See neggedigee.

niggler. A lascivious or very amorous person: c.: C.17–18. (Marston.) Also nigler.—2. (Also nigler. A clipper of money: c.: late C.17–18. (B.E., Grose.) Ex nig, v., 1.

nigging. Keeping company with a woman, sexual intercourse: c.: C.17—early 19. (Dekker, Brome, B.E., Grose.) Ex niggle, v., q.v. Cf. niggler, 1.—2: As adj., (of any person) irritating because of over-attention to detail; (of a thing) irritating because of the amount of minor detail and precision required, as 'having to fill in all these stupid, niggling forms': coll.: since mid-C.20. Ex niggle, v., 2. (P.B.) Cf.:-

niggly. Bad-tempered, esp. about trifles: coll.: since ca. 1910. 'Oh, don't be so bloody niggly!'

niggly(-)gouger. A finicky, tiresome fellow: RN: since ca. 1930. (Irving's Royal Navalese, 1946.) Ex prec.

nigh, adj. Near; close (e.g. 'a nigh fit'): low coll.: C.19–20. Baumann.

nigh enough (or enuff). A passive homosexual; esp. a male harlot: c.: from ca. 1920. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) Like synon. collar and cuff, it is rhyming s. on puff.

night! Good night!: coll.: late (? mid-)C.19–20. Cf. day!, evening!, and morning!—2. See good night!; make a night of it; fine (or delicate) night to run away...

night and day. A play: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.); ob. by 1960 (Franklyn, Rhyming).

night (-) bind. A turn of night duty: RAF (esp. NCOs): since ca. 1930. (Sgt Gerald Emanuel, 1945.) See bind, n.

night-cap. A nocturnal bully: coll.: early C.17. Webster, Duchess of Malfi, ca. 1613 (OED).—2. See horse's night-cap.

night-flea. A boarder. Essex schools':—1909 (Ware). Contrast day-bug.

night-fossick, n. and v. See next: mid-C.19–20. Baker.

night-fossicker; n.-fossicking. A nocturnal thief of gold quartz or dust; such thieving: Aus. coll.: from ca. 1860. Also just fossicker, fossicking. See fossick.

night hawk. (Gen. pl.) A night-watchman steward: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. A thief; a prostitute: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—3. In later C.20 merely one that, habitually, keeps very late hours: coll. (P.B.) Cf. night owl.

night of it. See make a night of it.

night ops. Night-operations; orig. in manoeuvres, later, in action: Services' coll.: since early WW1.—2. Medical operations performed at night: medical s. > coll.: since early C.20.

night owl. One who keeps late hours; one who works through the night: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. (B.P.) Cf. night hawk, 3.

night-physic or -work. Copulation: late C.16—early 18: joc. coll. when not euph. S.E. Massinger, 'Which... ministers night-physic to you?'

night-snap. A nocturnal thief: C.17: low s. Fletcher.

night starvation. Sexual deprivation, lack of sexual intimacy: since ca. 1938. By a pun on the advertisements that urge us to take a drink of this or that 'delicious beverage' before we go to bed.

night to run away... See fine night to run...

night-walker. A bellman; a watchman: either c. or low s.: late C.17—mid-18. (B.E.) All other senses (e.g. a harlot), despite B.E., are S.E.

night watchman. A (usu. a second-rate) batsman sent into 'hold up an end' until the close of pay: cricketers' s., soon > j.: since ca. 1946. An early printed instance in a report by E.W. Swanton, Daily Telegraph, 6 May 1946.—2. Hence, the batsman left at close of one day's play, who will re-open the batting the next day: id.: later C.20. (P.B.)

night with you and a file of the morn's morning!, all. 'A slang form of saying "good-night!":' Aberdeenshire: 1882; ob. EDD.

nightie, nighty. A night-dress: coll.: from early 1890s.—2. Hence, occ., a surprise: from ca. 1897: joc. coll. Abbr. night-dress or n.-gown + familiar ie, y. OED.

nightie(-y) night! Good night! nursery—and joc.—coll.: since late C.19, perhaps earlier. P.B.: my grandfather, b. 1873, bade us children good night with the phrase nightie nightie pobberjee-wig!, but whether the addition was his own invention or a late Victorian piece of nonsense, there was no telling.

nightingale. See Cambridgeshire, Dutch, Newgate, and Spithead nightingale.—2. A soldier that, being punished, 'sings out': military: ca. 1770–1830. Grose, 2nd ed.—3. A harlot: low: from ca. 1840. Because most active at night. nightshade or deadly n. 'A shameless prostitute of the very lowest class' (B. & L.): mid-C.19—early 20.

nighty. See nightie.

nigle; nigler; nigling. See niggle; niggler; nigging.

nigmenog. See nimenog.

nigs. See nig, n., 1. Also abbr. niggers!, q.v.

nignog, nig-nog. A fool: army: late C.19–20. Perhaps ex nigmenog, q.v. at nimenog.—2. Hence, a raw recruit: army: since ca. 1925. See also nig, n. 5, and pinkies.—3. Hence, 'usually taken as a mildly contemptuous but good-humoured name... on the railways and elsewhere... for an unskilled man or novice' (The Times, 30 Nov. 1967). The quoted report concerned a charge of colour prejudice among engine-drivers, who were objecting that they did not want 'these nig-nogs' (i.e. guards) in the locomotive cab. The misunderstanding arose because of:—4. 'A younger generation has begun referring to coloured immigrants as "nig-nogs", but Aslef [the Assoc. of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen] deny even knowing this practice' (Ibid.): pej. coll., low: the use had > widespread by the mid-1970s, perhaps sooner. This usage has arisen from confusion of senses 1 and 2 with nigger. (P.B.)

nihil-ad-rem. Vague (of things); unconscious: Winchester College: ca. 1860–1910. E.g. 'He sported nihil-ad-rem duck.' L., lit. 'nothing to the purpose'.

nik, 'as a suffix is common in Yiddish slang. It refers to a person of not much account and may follow a Yiddish word or its English equivalent, as in "He's a boozernik—or gamblernik—or spielernik". It is as old as all other Yiddishisms' (Julian Franklyn, letter, 1962). Cf. beatnik.

nikin; occ. nickin; also nikey, i.e. nick(e)y; also nis(e)y, nizey or nizzie. A soft simpleton: coll.: late C.17–18. (B.E., Grose.) The -k forms are prob. ex Nick, the -s- and -z-, ex Fr. niais, foolish.—2. (Only nickin, nikin, ni(c)k(e)y.) Abbr. Isaac: C.17–19.

nil, n. and adj. Half profits, etc.; half: low: from ca. 1859; ob. H., 1st ed.; Baumann.

Nile, down the. In Nile Street, Hoxton: low London: C.20. Charles E. Leach.

nim; occ. nym. A thief: c. of ca. 1620–40. Taylor the 'Water-Poet'. Ex:

nim, occ. nym. (Whence Shakespeare's Nym.) To steal, pilfer (v.i. and v.t.): C.17–20: low s. till mid-C.17, then c.: from ca. 1850, still c. but archaic. (John Day, 1606, in his Isle of Gulls; Hudibras' Butler; Gay, in The Beggars' Opera; G.P.R. James, The Gipsy.) Ex A.-S. niman, to take.

nimak; occ. nimma(c)k. Salt: army: late C.19–20. Ex Hindustani. Cf. muckin.

nimble as similes are coll.:—(as) nimble as a cat (up) on a hot backstone, late C.17—early 19 (backstone, occ. bakestone in C.19), the gen. C.19–20 form being (up) on hot bricks; (as) nimble as a bee in a tar-barrel, C.19–20, ob., a cognate phrase being to bumble like a bee in a tar-tub;... as a cow in a cage, C.19–20 (ob.) joc;... as a new-gelt dog, C.19–20 (ob.), mainly rural;... as an eel (wriggling in the mud; in a sandbag), C.17–20, being in C.19–20 mainly dial.;... as ninpence, from ca. 1880, also dial., prob. ex the proverb, a nimble ninpence is better than a slow shilling (C.19–20; latterly dial.), with which cf. the late C.19–20 Gloucestershire a nimble penny is worth a slow sixpence. (Apperson.) For nimble as a stone trough, see much use... nimble-hipped. (Gen. of women.) Active in the amorous congress: C.19–20; ob. Coll. verging on S.E.

nimbles. The fingers: early C.17. Jonson, 1621, 'Using your nimbles/In diving the pockets' (OED). The S.E. adj. nimble-fingered is recorded the same year.

nimenog; occ. nigmenog. 'A very silly Fellow' (B.E.); a fool: late C.17–18: coll. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Presumably cognate with nigit and the dial. nidyad, S.E. niddicock. See also nignog, nimgimmer, nim-gimmer. A surgeon, doctor, apothecary, 'or any one that cures a Clap or the Pox' (B.E.): c.: late C.17—early 19. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex nim + ?

nimma(c)k. See nimak.

nimmer. A thief: ex nim, v., q.v. for period and changing status.

nimming. Theft; thieving: see nim, v., for period and status.

nimrod. The penis: low: C.19—early 20. Because 'a mighty hunter'. Cf.:

nimshod. A cat: low: from ca. 1870; ob. ?a corruption of Nimrod, or is it a mere coincidence that the vocable may = nim, to take, + shosho or shoshi, Romany for a rabbit. Not ex dial.

nin. Drink: children's coll.: C.16—17. Cotgrave ('Before they can speak'). OED. By corruption.

nincum-noodle. A noodle with no income: joc. London: ca. 1820—40. (Bee.) Baumann has nincum, a noodle.

nine. 'A nine-gallon keg of beer' (Culotta): Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. See niner, 4.

nine-acre smile. A very broad grin, indicating supreme satisfaction: Can. coll.: since ca. 1930. (Leechman.)

nine-bob note. See queer as ..., and cf., as a gauge of oddity, the synon. (as) queer as a nine-bob watch: the first is non-existent, the second very suspect because so cheap.

nine-bob-square. Out of shape: C.19—20: coll. (+ by 1902) and dial. In dial., cf. nine-bauble-square and nine-bobble-square. ?lit. 'nine-cornered-square'.

nine corns. A small pipeful, a half-fill, of tobacco: mid-C.19—20: coll. (+ by 1902) and dial. (ob.; mostly Lincolnshire). See esp. EDD.

nine mule nuts. 'Anything to eat or drink very sustaining. From the nutritive qualities of chestnuts—especially in Japan': Japanese pidgin English:—1909; ob. Ware.

nine shillings. Nonchalance; cool audacity: late C.18—20; ob. (Grose, 3rd ed.) A perversion.

nine-tail brusier or mouser. The cat-o'-nine tails: prison c.: ca. 1860—1910.

nine-two is the coll. form of S.E. nine-point-two (gun): military: 1914; ob. B. & P.

nine ways or nine ways at thrice or nine ways for Sunday(s), look. To squint: coll.: resp C.16—20 (ob.), as in Udall; C.17, as in G. Daniel (OED); and C.19—20.

nine ways from breakfast. In all sorts of different ways: low coll.: later C.20. Red Daniells, in Brit. Jnl of Photography, 4 Jan. 1980, 'some athletic geezer half my age, hung like a young colt and having it off nine ways from breakfast.'

nine winks. A short nap: ca. 1820—50. (Bee.) Cf. forty winks.

nine yards at once. See talk nine words...

nine yards. 'Everything ("the whole nine yards")'. (S/Ldr G.D. Wilson, 1979): RAF: late 1970s.

ninence. See devil and n.; nimble as ...; noble to n.; and:-

ninence, grand or neat or nice or right as. Extremely neat, nice, right: coll.: C.17—20 for neat (e.g. Howell, 1659), C.19—20 for the three others: grand, Dickens; right, Smedley, 1850; nice, T. Ashe, 1884, but implied in H., 2nd ed. Baumann suggests that right as ninence may be influenced by ninpins. See also neat as a bandbox.

ninence for fourpence. A political c.p. of 1908—9. (Collinson.) Ex the national health insurance scheme.

ninence over the wall, 'nine days' C.C.': see over the wall and cf. sevenpence over the wall.

ninence to nothing. In like as ninence ..., almost certainly: coll.: C.17. Ray.—2. In bring (one's) ninence ..., to waste or lose property: C.18—20: coll. till ca. 1850, then dial. In C.16—17, bring a shilling to ninence. Apperson.

ninpenyworth. See sixpenyworth.

ninpins. The body as life's container; life in gen.: low: 1879, G.R. Sims, in the Dagonet Ballads, 'It's a cold... as has tumbled my ninpins over.' Ob.

niner. A convict serving nine years: coll.: 1887 (Waring: OED).—2. (Gen. pl.) A senior naval cadet: in the training-ship Britannia: late C.19—early 20. (Bowen.) ?ex ninth term.—3. A woman nine months pregnant: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Dal Stevens, Jimmy Brockett, 1951.—4. A nine-gallon keg:

Aus. coll.: since mid-C.20. (Alex Buzo, 1973.) Cf. nine.

nines (rarely nine, †), to or up to the. To perfection; admirably: coll.: late C.18—20. (Ca. 1870—80, up to the nines also = up to all the dodges: H., 5th ed.) Burns, 1887, to the nine, as also Reade in Hard Cash; T. Hardy, 1876, up to the nines, a form that appears to be recorded first in 1859, H., 1st ed., in the phrase dressed up to the nines. ?ex nine as a mystic number connoting perfection (W.). Also got-up to the nines. Baumann, 1887, records a superlative, dressed up to the ninety-nines.

nineteen. In games, a score of nothing (nought): public-house: C.20. At cribbage one cannot score 19.

nineteen bits of a bilberry, he'll make. A pej. c.p. of ca. 1660—1700. Ray.

nineteen canteen. A long time ago: mostly S. African (?): since (?) ca. 1940. (Angus Hall, On the Run, 1974.) Prob. ex the years nineteen thirteen to nineteen: cf.:-

nineteen oh (or ought or nought) dot or plonk (or similar), since the year. From a very long time ago: coll.: since mid-C.20. See nought, and cf. prec. (P.B.)

nineteen to the dozen, talk (or run). To talk very fast: from ca. 1850; coll. till C.20, then S.E. Reade (talk), 1852; Sala (run), 1860. Cf. the earlier talk nine words at once and (talk) thirteen to the dozen.

nineteener. A swindler, sharper: an opportunist loafer: Aus. c.: C.20. (B., 1942.) A plausible talker 'nineteen to the dozen'. nineteenth hole, the. The bar-room of a golf club-house: golfers': from not later than 1927. (OED Sup.) A golf-course has 18 holes.

ninety days' wonder. A newly commissioned second lieutenant: army: 1946+. Perhaps an adaptation of the US ninety-day wonder (hence ... blunder), applied during WW2 to second lieutenants obtaining their position by passing a 90-day course after being selected from 'other ranks', as Claiborne suggests. Mrs C. Raab: surely an intensification of S.E. nine days' wonder?

ninety-nine a (or one) hundred - change hands! A mainly Services' joc. ref. to masturbation: C.20. Cf. nifty fifty; and change hands, the number 50 in Tombola (John Irving, Royal Navalese, 1946).

ninety dog; always in form: 90 dog. A pug-dog: streets': —1909. Ware, 'Referring to aspect of tail'.

ninety-eight out of, have. To get one's own back on (a person): tailors': late C.19—20. Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928.

ninety-nines. See nines.

ninety-seven (gen. 97) champion frost. A lower-classes' c.p. applied in 1897—9 to motor-cars, which, in 1896—7, were something of a 'frost' or failure. Ware.

ning-nang. A worthless thoroughbred: veterinary: from ca. 1890. Ex horse-dealers' s.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). In Northern dial., ning-nang is applied also to a worthless person. Cf. ning-nong.

ning-nog. See:-

ning-nong. A nincompoop, a naturally foolish person: Aus.: since ca. 1930; by 1963 (B.P.), ob. An assimilation of nincom (poop) and a var. of ningnog, itself a var. of nignog; perhaps influenced by ning-nang. See also nong.

ninnified. Foolish: coll.: C.20. (James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934.) Ex S.E. ninny + -fied, made.

ninny. 'A canting whining Begger' (B.E.): c. of late C.17—mid-18. Ex S.E. sense, or perhaps imm., as prob. the S.E. is, from an innocent, as the OED suggests.

ninny-broth. Coffee: late C.17—18. Ned Ward in The London Spy.

ninth, occ. in C.18 tenth, part of a man. A tailor: C.18—early 20: coll. Foote, 1763, 'A journeyman-taylor... this whyc-faced ninny, who is but the ninth part of a man.' Ex the proverbial nine tailors make a man (late C.16—20): in C.17 also two (Dekker & Webster) or three (Apperson).

niog or takram. See ogging...

nip, n. A thief, esp. a cut-purse or a pickpocket: c. of late C.16—18. (Greene.) ?ex the v.—2. A cheat: c.: late C.17—early 19, when it was the prevailing c. sense, a cut-purse gen. being a bung-nipper, q.v. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—3. S. of ca. 1820–50: 'Passengers who are taken up on stage-coaches by the collusion of the guard and coachman, without the knowledge of the proprietors, are called nips' (De Quincey, 1823: OED).—4. A child: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (Cusack & James, Come in Spinner, 1951.) Short for synon. nipper.—5. In (as) white as nip, as white as snow: proletarian—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930. Ex dial. cat-nip, the herb catmint, 'covered with a fine white down' (—1861: EDD).—6. In make a nip for it, to try to escape at a run; e.g. from a train: Forces', but esp. prisoner-of-war: 1940–5. (Guy Morgan, Only Ghosts Can Live, 1945.) Cf. the civilian coll. nip along, to make haste.—7. See nips.

nip, v.; also nipp(e), nyp. To steal, esp. to pick pockets or to cut purses: c. ca. 1570–1830. (V.i. and v.t.) Harman (the stock phrase, nip a b(ou)ng, to cut a purse), Greene, Cleveland; B.E., 'to Pinch or Sharp anything'. Ex the S.E. sense, to pinch (cf. s. pinch, q.v.), and ex:—2. To catch, snatch, seize neatly, take up smartly (also with away out, up): from ca. 1560: chiefly dial. (earliest record) and s. H. Scott (dial.), F. Godwin, C.B. Berry. OED.—3. To 'pinch', i.e. arrest: c. from ca. 1560. R. Edwards, ca. 1566, 'I go into the city some knaves to nip'; Mayhew. OED.—4. (Prob. ex prec. sense.) To move, to go, almost always quickly or promptly: orig. (—1825), dial. > s. ca. 1880. Often with out (Daily Telegraph, 2 Jan. 1883, 'I nipped out of bed') or up; nip in = to slip in, nip along = to depart hurriedly or rapidly, or to move with speed. EDD.—5. To coit with (a woman): low:—1923 (Manchon).—6. V.t., to cadge from: military: C.20. (F. & G.) Prob. ex sense 2. Cf. sting, q.v.—7. To detect: Shrewsbury School coll.: from ca. 1880. (D. Coke, The Bending of a Twigg, 1906.) Cf. sense 2.

nip, adj. Cheeky, impudent: Marlborough College: since ca. 1920. His speech nips.

nip along—in—out—up, etc. See nip, v., 4.

nip and tuck, adv. and adj., occ. as virtual n. (a neck-and-neck race). Neck and neck; almost level or equal(ly): coll.: orig. US; anglicised ca. 1890. In US, rip and tuck, 1833; nip and tuck, 1836; nip and chuck, 1846; nip and tuck, 1857: 'an illuminating example of semantic phonetics or, rather, phonetic semantics. Thornton.

nip-cheese, a miser, is S.E., as are nip-cake, -crust, -farthing; the last, like nip-cheese, is also dial.; solely dial. are nip-corn, -currant, -fig, -prune, -raisin, -screed, -skin, -skitter (EDD). But nip-cheese, a ship's purser, is nautical s.: 1785, Grose; Marryat; 1867, Smyth; Bowen. Ob. by 1907. Ex some pursers' 'pinching' part of the cheese and other food. W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (II, 168), 1829, has var. Mr Nip (Moe).

nip in or nip in smartly or nip smartly in. To take advantage of an opportunity: Services', WW2; hence gen. Ex a drill formula.

nip in the bud. To check or ruin in its beginnings: coll. >, in late C.19, S.E. Neil King, of Hull, in a letter to P.B., 1981, backdates E.P.'s orig. 'ca. 1840' to later C.17 by citing William Wycherley, The Country Wife, 1675, at III, i: 'Pinchwife: ... but I'll nip his love in the bud.' The † var. crush in the bud occurs in 1746.

nip-louse. A tailor: low: ca. 1850–1930. Cf. nip-shred, q.v.

nip-lug. A teacher: Scots s. or coll.: C.19—early 20.—2. In nip-lug, at loggerheads: id.

Nip or Nyp Shop, the. The Peacock tavern in Gray's Inn Lane: London: ca. 1785–1810. 'Because Burton Ale is there sold in Nyps', Grose. MS. note of 1786 in B.M. copy of The Vulgar Tongue (1st ed.)—a note incorporated in the 2nd ed. (1788).

nip-shred. A tailor: mid-C.17—mid-18: s. > coll. K.W., 1661, 'Though her nimble nipshred never medles with the garments' (OED). Cf. nip-louse, q.v.

nipp, nippe. See nip, v., 1–3.

nipped. See before you ..., and an earlier example in ARMY SLANG, verse 1, in Appendix.

nippence, no pence, / half a groat wanting twopence. Nothing, a groat being fourpence: a C.17 rhyming c.p. Ray, Fuller (Apperson).

nipper, n. A thief, esp. a cut-purse or a pick-pocket: c.: ca. 1580–1830. Fleetwood, 1585, 'A judicial Nypper' (OED), i.e. a very skilful one, this being a stock phrase (see Grose at nypper); John Day; Grose. Ex nip, v., 1.—2. 'A boy who assists a costermonger, carter, or workman' (OED): low coll. (and dial.): from ca. 1850; ob. (Mayhew, 1851.) Prob. because he 'nips' about, therefore presumably dial. orig. (see nip, v., fourth sense).—3. Whence, a boy, a lad (in C.20, esp. if under say 12): from ca. 1859. H., 1st ed.; Daily News, 8 Apr. 1872 (OED); 1888, Referee, 11 Nov. 'Other nippers—the little shrimps of boys ...'; Chevalier in The Idler, June 1892, 'I've got a little nipper, when 'e talks/I'll lay yer forty shiners to a quid/You'll take 'im for the father, me the kid', which rather bears out the OED's quotation from Williams's Round London, 1893, 'The mind of the East End "nipper" is equal to most emergencies.'—4. Whence (?), a boy or 'cad': Marlborough School: from ca. 1875; ob.—5. See nippers.—6. A frosty day: coll.:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1935, but cf. nippy, adj., 4, q.v.—7. A cabin-boy: sailing-ships: later C.19—early 20. Bowen.—8. A prawn: Aus.: late C.19–20. Baker.—9. That junior member of any gang who 'fags' for the others: railwaymen's: C.20. (Railway.) Ex sense 2.—10. See greyhound.

nipper, v. To catch; to arrest: c. (>, ca. 1830, low s.): ca. 1820–50. ('Jon Bee'; Egan: 1824, in vol. IV of Boxiana). Ex nip, v., 3, q.v.

nippers. Handcuffs or, occ. shackles: c. of ca. 1820–1920. (Haggart; Egan's Grose; Matsell.) Ex nip, v., 3.—2. 'A burglar's instrument used from outside on a key' (F. & H.): c.: from ca. 1840. Also American tweezers.—3. Eye-glasses, esp. pince-nez (whence the name): from ca. 1875 and prob. ex U.S. Lowell, 1876.—4. A policeman: c. (—1887) >, by 1930, low. (Baumann.) Occ. nipper (Manchon).—5. As the nippers, the lowest form: many Public Schools': C.20. Ian Hay, The Lighter Side of School Life, 1914.—6. Hands: lower-deck: late C.18—mid-19. Bill Truck, 1822.—7. 'Sound yarn taken from condemned cordage and marled together' (Granville): RN: C.20. Pinched or 'nipped' together.

nippiness. See nippy, adj., 2.

nipping, n. and adj. See nip, v., 1: same period and status. Esp. in Greene.

nipping Christian. A cut-purse: low s. of ca. 1800–60. F. & H. nipping-jig. (A) hanging: early C.19: ?c. > low s. F. & H. nippitate; -ato, atum, -aty (occ. -ati). Ex strong, prime liquor, esp. ale: ca. 1575–1700. The OED considers both the n. and the derivative adj. as S.E., prob. rightly; F. & H. thinks it may have been c. Laneham, Stubbes, Nashe, Oliffe, Urquhart. Etymology obscure: but cf. nip, v., 2.

nips. See nips.

nippy. The penis: children's: from ca. 1850; ob. ?ex pee.—2. A waitress in Lyons's restaurants and tea-shops: from 1924: j. >, by 1930, coll., indeed by 1935 almost s. Dorothy L. Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927, 'Nippy' found dead on Wandsworth Common.' The word is a registered trade mark of the company' (OED Sup.). 'The nippies got their name in the 1930s when Lyons sent 1200 waitresses to serve 7500 Freemasons at a banquet at Olympia and somebody said: "They're not waitresses—they're too nippy"' (Financial Times, 10 Jan. 1981). Ex nippy, lively.—3. Hence, any waitress, esp. in a cheap establishment: from ca. 1930.

nippy, adj. As = mean, stingy, or curt, snappish, it is familiar S.E.—2. Lively, nimble, active, sharp or prompt: 1853 (Surtees); Burleigh, 1898, 'He ... liked to see them keen and "nippy" at every soldierly task' (OED). Hence, in C.20, nippiness.—3. Well-dressed; smartly fashionable: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon). Just possibly influenced by Fr. nippé, 'toggled up' (Kastner & Marks).—4. Fairly cold: coll.: late C.19–20. Cf. 'It's a bit nippy', as understatement of the fact that it's damned cold. Ex English dialect.

nippy with the weight. (Of a shopkeeper) giving short weight or, grudgingly, the bare weight: since ca. 1920.

nips, nippis, nypis. Shears for clipping money: c.: late C.17–mid-19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. As Nips, Japanese: adopted, ca. 1941, ex US. Ex Nipponese.—3. In put the nips in (to), to ask a loan (from someone): Aus. and NZ: from ca. 1908. Cf. sting, q.v., and put the hard word on.

nipsitate. A C.17 var. of nippitate, q.v. Davenport, 1639. OED.

nire. Rain: Cockney back s. (on rine): before 1859. (H., 1st ed.) Cf. nair.

nisey or nisy. See nikin and nizey.

nishte. Nothing: low s.: since ca. 1918. (Robin Cook, 1962.) Via Yiddish ex Ger. nichts.

nit, n. 'Wine that is brisk, and pour'd quick into a glass' (B.E.): coll.: late C.17–mid-18. ?Ex † nitty, full of air bubbles.—2. As a wanton, it is Scots: rather dial. than coll.—3. A military policeman: army: WW1+. (F. & G.) Cf. fig. sense of louse, and always there when not wanted.—4. A simpleton, a moron, a fool: Aus., since ca. 1925 (Baker); from ca. 1950, a common, low, widespread UK abusive-term for a fool, esp. 'stupid nit'. Either short for nitwit, or more prob., directly pej., ex S.E. head-louse. (Powis; P.B.)—5. In dead as a nit, quite dead: coll. and dial.: late C.18–20; ob. except in dial. Wolcot, 1789; Hardy, 1874, '[The Sheep] will all die as dead as nits' (OED).—6. See keep nit, with which cf. nit-keep.

nit, v. As in "'Nit the jorrie (Leave the girl alone)!" he yelled. "Nark it! Nark it!" (MacArthur & Long): C.20. Prob. ex nix.—2. To decamp: Aus. low: C.20. (Baker.) Perhaps a corruption of nick, v., 8, influenced by the nit of keep nit.

nit amang 'em! Nothing doing!: low Scottish: from ca. 1920.

nit-keep, v. and n. To keep watch; one who does this: Aus. c.: C.20. (B., 1959.) Also nit-keeper (B., 1942). See also synon. keep nit, and—nit nit! 'Stop talking—someone's listening!': prisons' c.: since ca. 1930 or a little earlier. Lit. 'nothing, nothing!', nit being a var. of nix, q.v. Cf. nitto!

nit-picking, n. and adj. Petty, cavilling, fault-finding, as by critics of the arts: coll.: since ca. 1960, but not very common before ca. 1970. (Canonised in COD, 1976.) Hence the v., nit-pick, and the agent, nit-picker. Ex picking nits from a child's hair. R.S. compares coll. Ger. Flöheknacker, lit. 'flea-crusher', i.e. 'one who finds futile fault'.

nit-squeeger, i.e. nit-squeezer. A hairdresser: low: 1788 (Grose, 2nd ed.); ob. by 1930.

Nitchie. A Prairies Indian: Can.: since ca. 1910.

niterie. A night-club or -spot: advertisers' and journalistic: adopted, ex US, ca. 1975. '[The film] set against the sex, drugs, and chicken-in-the-basket ambience of London's niteries. . . .' (Time Out, 9 May 1980). Ex a corrupt spelling of night. (P.B.)

nitraph. A farthing (pronounced farthin'): back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

nitrate. 'Time-and-a-quarter [pay] for night work' (McKenna): railwaymen's pun: mid-C.20.

nits' nest. A body-belt: army: WW1. In WW1, when we were [issued with] them, the old hands warned us against using them, as they were only a nuisance and would not be easy to do without, once they were got used to' (Petch, 1969). Cf. joc. S.E. lice-catcher.

nits on a gnat's nuts. Reputedly the smallest things in the world: joc. low: from ca. 1920. (P.B.) Cf. within a gnat's, q.v.

nits will be, gen. become, lice. A proverbial c.p., > in C.18 a proverb, applied to 'small matters that become important' (B.E.): mid-C.17–18. Isaac D'Israeli ascribes it to Oliver Cromwell.

nitsky. A C.20 var. of nix, nothing. Alan Hyder, Black Girl, White Lady, 1934.

nitto! 'Stop!' or 'Be quiet!': c.: since ca. 1940. (John Gosling, The Ghost Squad, 1959.) The Cockney -o on nit nit!, q.v. See also shitnitto.

nitty, n. A disturbance, racket, squabble, fuss: naval: C.19. (Bill Truck, 1822; W.N. Glascock, 1825 (Moe); Marryat, 1830 (OED).) Prob. ex dial. nitter or nitty-natter, to be constantly grumbling.

nitty, adj. Idiomatic: since late 1950s. Patricia Moyes, Murder Fantastical, 1967, 'If the girl was nitty enough to contemplate marrying him, she was only getting what she deserved.' Ex nit, short for nit-wit. P.B.: but see also nit, n., 4.—2. See EPITHETS in Appendix, although nitty = 'lousy' in the lit. sense has prob. always been S.E.

nitty-clitty, get down to the nitty. To practise, or to perform, cunninglingism: low: latish 1960s. (Hollander.) A (prob.) ephemeral pun on clitty, diminutive of clit, the clitoris, and—nitty-gritty, the. 'The very core of something, the fundamental truth about it' (Julian Holland, 1968): adopted, 1967, ex US, where current at least as early as 1963. Often in phrase '(Let's) get down to the nitty-gritty'. W. & F., 1975, define it as 'the . . . essentials of any situation, predicament, etc., esp. the hard unvarnished facts . . . or harsh realities'. 'And slang like "hip" and "trendy" and "nitty-gritty"' (Daily Mail, 2 Nov. 1968). Julian Holland, in his letter, adds, 'The thing that fascinates me about the expression is that it is one of the very few pieces of original pop music slang ("grotty" is another) and is not derived . . . from the scene'. W. & F. state that, in the US, it was, orig., Negro use.

nix, nicks. Nothing; occ., in mid-C.19–20 but ob., nobody. Orig. c. >, ca. 1815, low s. >, ca. 1860, gen. s. G. Parker, 1789, 'How they have brought a German word into cant I know not, but nicks means nothing in the cant language': prob. ex coll. Ger. nix (= nichts) via coll. Dutch, as the OED implies. Also nix my doll, q.v. Cf. nix-nie and nix(ey).—2. (Only nix.) A master (or mistress): Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham). Perhaps because he 'nicks' delinquents, or ex—nix! A warning, esp. among schoolboys and workmen, of somebody's approach. Esp. in keep nix, to keep watch. Ob. (H., 2nd ed., 1860; Routledge's Every Boy's Annual, 1869.) Also (recorded in 1883) nix, (e.g. lads), button! Prob. ex Romany nisser, to avoid, influenced by nix my dolly, q.v. See nit nit!

nix, deberr! No, my friend: London: ca. 1810–30. 'Jon Bee', 1823, 'Borrowed of the Russians who lay in the Medway, 1810'.

nix fish-tins. I don't understand': see PRISONER-OF-WAR SLANG, §1, in Appendix, and cf.:

nix goot. No good: among prisoners of war: 1914–18. (B. & P.) I.e., Ger. nichts gut.

nix my doll. Nothing: c. of ca. 1810–30. (Vaux.) A mystifying elab. of nix, q.v., when the latter began to > well known.

nix my dolly. Never mind!; prob. a mere var. of nix my doll, nothing (to worry about): 1834, Ainsworth, 'Nix my dolly, pals, fake away,' in a popular song that popularised the phrase which soon >, as it may orig. have been, merely 'literary' c.; certainly † by 1890 and ob. by 1860.

nix-nie. Nothing at all: S. African:—1913. Elab. of nix, q.v. Pettman.

nix on it! Stop that!: Aus. low: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. nit, v., q.v.

nixes! Don't do that!: Milton Junior School, Bulawayo: since ca. 1925. Cf. prec.

nix(e)y! No!: circus-workers':—1887 (Baumann). Ex nix and nix!—2. Besides the first sense, the interj. conveys 'It's rubbish—it's not worth bothering about': market-traders': C.20. M.T.

nixies. A female's drawers: from 1933. Not ex S.E. knickers but ex nix, 1, as an advance on scanties.

nixy. C.20 market-traders' var. of nix, n., 1. M.T.

niz-priz. A writ of nisi prius: legal: mid-C.19–20. H., 3rd ed. nizey, nizi, nizey, nizzle, nizzy. (Also nisey, nisy.) A dunce, simpleton, fool: coll.: mid-C.17—early 19. (The rare nizi, only C.17; nisy only C.18.) Either ex Fr. niais, foolish, or ex † S.E. nice, foolish. Coles, 1676; Ned Ward; Johnson, 'a low word'.

—2. A coxcomb: late C.17–early 18: coll., I think, though B.E. says c. See also nikin.
no. See there's no...
no. 1. See number one.
no aim; no ambition. See Naffy. no 'at brigade. See no hat... no back talk! 'A slang catch phrase indicating that the matter in question is closed to discussion: there's nothing more to be said' (F. & H.): ca. 1880–1910.
no battle. Not worth while, no good: printers': from ca. 1870; ob. Because not worth fighting for or because there's no fight to see. no-beyond jammer. A 'perfectly beautiful woman': low: —1909; virtually † by 1930. (Ware.) Lit.: as 'jam', incomparable.
no-hill. See non-air.
no bon. See bon.
no bottle, as in 'It's no bottle'. No good: Services': C.20. Also, graduated, 'not much bottle', not much good or use. See bottle, n., 6, 7. no can do. Cannot do; impossible: pidgin and 'passe-partout' English: mid-C.19–20. Whence N.C.D., the naval refusal of an invitation: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) See also can do. no-can-go-ist. 'Lowerdeck for non-conformists who are excused Church parade' (Granville): RN: C.20. no carrion will kill a crow. A coll., semi-proverbial saying applied to gross eaters, tough persons: C.17–18. no catch (, it's, etc.). (It's) very hard work, very disappointing, unpleasant, dangerous: coll.: late C.19–20. See catch, n., and cf. the equivalent no cop at cop.
no chance! An emphatic, often scornful, negative: coll.: C.20. (B.P.) With strong emphasis on no, very popular in later C.20. Cf. no way. (P.B.) no chicken. Elderly. From ca. 1700: coll. Swift, 'Your hints that Stella is no chicken'; Fielding; Walpole; Sala, 'I am no chicken.' no chop. Inferior, insignificant, objectionable: coll.: later C.19–early 20. Hence not much chop, worthless: id. I.e., lacking any seal of approval. Cf. no cop.
no class. Without distinction or merit: lower classes' coll.: 1897, 'Soldiers! Why, soldiers ain't no class.' Ware.
no comment! 'A jocular catchphrase in imitation of politicians and prominent people who often say this when they are being pestered by reporters and TV interviewers' (Petch): since late 1950s. See DCpp.
no compree! I don't understand: military c.p.: 1914–19. Cf. compree, q.v.—2. Hence, No thanks!: id.: 1915–19. F. & G.
no cop. Of a task, difficult; of an object, valueless: low coll.: since late C.19. In the Boer War, an English soldier wrote, 'We are going to a place called Spion Kop; and I don't think it will be much of a "kop" for our chaps',—it wasn't. (J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902.) Cf. no catch, which is earlier, and not much cop, a qualified dismissal of anything, as 'What do you think of the game?'—'Not much cop so far'. Cf. no chop.
no dice! Not a chance!; no luck!; or It won't work: Can., adopted ex US ca. 1940; Brit. in later C.20. 'We tried phoning, but it was no dice—couldn't get through' (P.B.). 'Originally, from craps, where, if the dice roll off the table, are tilted, etc., the cry is "No dice!"' (Claiborne). no, don't tell me - I'll (or let me) guess! A c.p.: since ca. 1941. Sometimes no is omitted; occ., now is substituted for no.
no earthly; not an earthly. No chance whatever: coll.: resp. 1899 (Ware); 1907 (OED Sup.). Sc. chance. In later C.20, usu. in phrase '(e.g. he) doesn't stand an earthly'.—2. No earthly is also an abbr. of no earthly good or use: coll.: since ca. 1920. Collinson cites Galsworthy.
no end, adv. Immensely; no end of, a great number or quantity of. The former is s., the latter coll.: the former dates from ca. 1850, the latter from ca. 1620. OED.—2. Hence, no end of a fellow, a 'capital' fellow, 'one of the best': coll.: C.20. Lyell.

no error (, and). Var. of and no mistake, q.v.
no face but (one's) own, have. To be penniless: prob. ex the gamblers' sense, to hold no court cards: late C.18–early 19. (Grose, 1st ed.) P.B.: or ex the face on a coin. no fear! Certainly not!: coll.: since ca. 1880. Ex no fear of that! = it won't happen. Cf. never fear. no flies. Artful, designing; printers', who also abbr. to n.f.: from ca. 1870. Also no(-)fly (H., 5th ed.); 'A fish rises to a fly as bait: a companion who hears or observes something intended for him and ignores it is said to be "no fly"' (G.E. Rowles, The 'Line' Is On, 1948); printers'.—2. Honestly!; without fooling! 'An emphatic addition made to an assertion... It really means "no error" or "no mistake"... as "A jolly fine girl, and no flies!"' (H., 5th ed., 1874).—3. In (there are) no flies about (a thing, a person), it, he, etc., is particularly good: Aus. coll.: since—1848 (OED Sup.). Perhaps the earlier version of.—4. In (there are) no flies on (a person): orig.,—1864 (H., 3rd ed.), sense was 'He is honest, genuine, not playing the fool'. This sense still, 1983, persists, but, since ca. 1895 and owing to US influence, there is the further nuance, 'he is wide-awake; esp. very able or capable'. The latter is the sense parodied in the c.pp. There are no flies on (name)—No, but you can see where they've been, and No flies on Auntie! (often applied to oneself, by speakers of either sex).
no flowers - by request! 'Let's have no complaints, please!': joc. c.p.: earlier C.20. Ex the frequent enjoiner in funeral notices.
no future at all; no future in it (or that). Of these c.pp. (Services', esp. RAF) the former implies danger in the sortie concerned, whereas the latter either does the same or merely hints that the job concerned is a thankless one: since 1939. Observer, 4 Oct. 1942 (both phrases); H. & P., no future in it ('particularly hazardous'); Jackson, no future in that ('Implies a thankless job') and no future at all ('Implies a dangerous job'). Ex civilian pre-Sep. 1939 familiar English There's no future in it—or in it at all—as applied to love affairs.
no giggle. No fun; no joke; (very) unpleasant: low coll.: from ca. 1920. Gilt Kid, 1936, 'It's no giggle being in the nick [in gaol], I can tell you.'
no-go, n. A failure; something unfair or obstructive: Aus.: late C.19–20. B., 1942.
no go. Either with to be or as an exclam.: coll.: since early C.19. Meaning: No use!; it's impracticable or impossible. J.H. Lewis, Lectures on the Art of Writing, 7th ed., 1816; Westmacott, 1825 (OED). Occ. abbr. n.g.; ob. by 1930.
no-go area. An area temporarily out of use; strictly, as in N. Ireland, where the term app. originated, an area in which the residents refuse to recognise the state's authority: since ca. 1970 (OED New Sup.); by 1977, S.E. But its transferred usage, applied to, e.g., a bathroom or a water-closet, remains coll. (Sir Edward Playfair, 1977).
no good. Esp. in do (someone) a bit of no good, actively to do him some harm: ironic coll.: since ca. 1910. Also, as in 'I fell off halfway round, and o' course that did me a lot of no good': rueful joc.—2. In such expressions as 'As I thought, the cat was up to no good in the larder again', it is S.E., but the equal stress on 'no' and 'good', as if hyphenated and a n., give it a coll. flavour. (P.B.) no good for the white man! A gen. disparaging remark about any uncongenial situation; often said in 'posh' accent: army: mid-C.20. A relic from the days of Britain's (esp. tropical) empire. (P.B.)
no good to gundy. Very unsatisfactory: Aus.: C.20. B., 1943, records this form; in 1959, he adds the variants no good to gunty, or to gundybluey. Wilkes, 1978, notes 'ob.' R.S. suggests a possible connection with Solomon Grundy ('born on Monday... buried on Sunday').
no good to me! Won't satisfy me by far!: coll. c.p.: from ca. 1880. Anstey, Voces Populi, I, 1890.
no-gooder. A selfish, or a cynical, person given to adverse criticism of the 'do-gooders' and, indeed, all good-workers: coll.: since the late 1950s.

no goody-la! No good; opp. of goody-la, q.v.
no grease! An engineers' c.p. imputing lack of polish or manners: ca. 1880–1914. Ware. no great shakes. (Earlier, occ. not any...) Nothing remarkable or very important or unusually able or clever: from ca. 1815: coll. till C.20, then familiar S.E. Moore, 1819, 'Though no great shakes at learned chat.' Ex dicing. Cf.: no great things. (Predicatively.) Nothing much, mediocre; very ordinary: coll. and dial.: 1816 ('Quiz', "'The Governor"',—He's no great things..., Sir': OED); ob. by 1940.
no guts! A derisive exhortation—a 'dare'—to do something dangerous: Londoners': since ca. 1920. Hence also, since ca. 1940, Forces'. Cf. guts, n., 4. no hank! See hank, n.—2. At the end of a speaker's discourse, it = 'I am not deceiving you!'; as a question to the speaker at the end of his discourse, it = 'I hope you're not deceiving me?': Cockneys' s. (from ca. 1870) >, by 1920, coll. Either ex hanky-panky or, much less prob., ex hank, v.—3. Hence, impudence; insolence: Cockneys': C.20. 'Nah then, go orf teh bed, you young 'Arry—no 'ank!'
no harm in looking. 'The motto of husbands and boy friends whose eyes wander' (B.P.): since late C.19. An occ. rejoinder is 'Can look—but mustn't touch!' Prob. ex window-shooting, to which of course it may still be applied.
no (hat) brigade. 'Those brave spirits who in the years before the war [of 1914–18] dared to stroll bare-headed in the open, gave rise to a jeering urchin cry that swept the land—"No 'at brigade!'" Thus Robert Roberts in that remarkable book, The Classic Slum, 1971. Cf. the hatless brigade; no hat... is the commoner form.
no head, have. To be crack-brained, irresponsible: (?low) coll.: from ca. 1870. Contrast head, n., 11.—2. (Of drinks) to be flat: this is S.E. no heart to appeal to and no arse to kick. Description of a committee, deploring the impersonal in shared responsibility: since later 1950s. See DCpp.
no hide – no Christmas box. An Aus. c.p., referring to some specific example of 'hide' (impudence, excessive self-assurance) and meaning 'no hope of that' or 'I certainly won't!': since ca. 1930. (B.P.)
no holds barred. Without legal, moral, etc., constraint; 'anything goes': coll.: later C.20. Ex all-in wrestling. (P.B.)
no-hoper. A hopeless case: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1915. Rats, 1944, "'Is he bad?'" I asked.—"An no-hoper, Mick. Copped two in the guts."—2. A outsider, a horse with little, or no, chance: Aus. racing s.: since ca. 1919. Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949.—3. Hence, a person lacking in drive, ambition, or any attribute likely to bring success: coll.: later C.20. Some currency outside Aus.—4. In WW1, among the Tommies, no oper = no chance, esp. of surviving a battle. F. & G.; B. & P. no-hoping. Hopeless: Aus.: since ca. 1920. 'Argles's youngest brother was a no-hoping ratbag... He was a true bludger' (Dick). Cf. prec., 3.
no-how; no-howish. See nohow; nohowish. no – I'm Reddy's brother. A stock response, a c.p. reply, to 'Are you ready?': Can.: since ca. 1910. (Leechman, 1969.)
no jet. "'Won't listen.'" (See bubble [v., 3].) "To put the bubble in the tube" = to put in a "squeal", to tell tales. If there is "no jet", then it means that the person told will not listen or will not take any action.' (Tempest): prisons' c.: mid-C.20. no joke, it's. It is far from being a joking matter: coll.: C.20.
no joy. See joy, 1.
no keeps! See keeps, 2.
no kid. No mistake; lit., without deception: from ca. 1890. (P.H. Emerson.) Cf. next.—2. No kid (! or ?). See kid, n., 5. no kidding! Truly; honestly; I'm (you're, etc.) not fooling: Can. c.p., adopted ca. 1910 ex US (Leechman); by mid-C.20 perhaps commoner than no kid (see prec.) in Brit. usage. See kid, n., 5, and are you kidding?
no lets. Without hindrance or modification: schoolboys': from ca. 1850. Cf. fa'in 1 and fen.
'no' man. The opposite of a yes man: coll.: since ca. 1940.

no matter for that, you shall carry the rake. 'If you tax a Girl with playing the loose [i.e. being unfaithful], she shall immediately reply, No matter...' (anon., Tyburn's Worthies, 1722): Essex c.p.: ca. 1715–40. A rural piece of sexual imagery: 'You shall have the raking, the harrowing' (compare the Lucretian plough the fields of woman).
no milk in the coco(a)-nut, have. To lack brains; to be silly, even mad: from ca. 1850.
no mistake. See and no mistake. no more chance than a snowball in hell. Var. of much chance as a snowball... C.20 c.p. no more wit than a coot(, have). (To be) stupid: C.16 coll. Apperson. no moss! No animosity!: tailors': ca. 1870–1930. Also mos, as in B. & L. no nail! I beg your pardon; sorry, but it's true!: printers': from ca. 1870. (B. & L.) Perhaps cf. nail-box.
no name – no pull. If I don't mention names, there can—or should—be no offence, no libel action: tailors': later C.19–early 20. Cf.: no names – no pack-drill. Soldiers' equivalent of the prec.: C.20 c.p. in very common, gen. use. (Drill with a heavy pack up is [was] a very common military punishment. See B. & P.) P.B.: pack-drill was usu. a field-punishment; it is seldom, if ever, awarded now (1983). An additional later C.20 nuance to the phrase is 'I don't want to get anybody into trouble by "naming names".' See DCpp.
no-no. A boring fiasco: world of entertainment, esp. theatrical: since ca. 1960. Simon Brett, Cast, in Order of Disappearance, 1975, "'Whole thing"—a midnight matinée (sic)—"will probably be a ghastly no-no, but everyone will be there."' Ex 'No, no! Not my cuppa—scene—bag.'
no nothing. Nothing whatever: coll.: from the 1830s. Harper's Magazine, Mar. 1884, 'There is no store, no post-office, no sidewalked street,—no nothing.' Cf. the (—1854) Northants dial. a new nothing to hang on one's sleeve, nothing at all. OED and Sup.
no object. E.g. 'distance no object' and, esp., 'money no object'; a mis-use of n. object when = 'no obstacle' or 'not an objection': coll.: mid-C.19–20. The correct sense 'not a thing aimed at or considered important' has been vitiated by confusion with no objection.
no odds! It doesn't matter; never mind: coll.: 1855 (Dickens).
no. one or 1; no. two or 2. See number one; number two.
no paternoster – no penny. No work—no pay: proverbial coll.: mid-C.16—early 18. Heywood.
no peace for the wicked. See no rest... no poes emptied – no babies scraped. See eleven o' clock...
no possible probable shadow of doubt, no possible doubt whatever is a c.p., either independent, or in retort on, or confirmation of, of that there is no possible doubt. Late C.19–20, among the cultured. Ex Gilbert & Sullivan. Collinson.
no rats! A proletarian c.p. (—1909; ob.): 'He (or she) is Scotch.' Ware, 'A Scot is always associated with bagpipes, and... no rat can bear... that musical instrument.'
no repairs. Reckless; neck or nothing: later C.19—early 20. Gen. of contests.
no rest for the wicked! occ. prec. by there's. A c.p. uttered either by or about someone who isn't wicked at all but is being kept extremely busy: late (?mid)-C.19–20. Partly an ironic jocularly, partly ex several Biblical references. P.B.: in later C.20 the form is nearly always no peace for the wicked!, which is a modern paraphrase of Isaiah 48: 22: 'No peace, saith God, unto the wicked' (Authorised Version). Not until the publication of the New English Bible in 1970 was the translation rendered as the familiar 'There is no peace for the wicked, says the Lord.'
no return ticket! A London lower-classes' c.p. (—1909): He, or she, is mad! Abbr. he's going to Hanwell [lunatic asylum] and has no return ticket. Ware.
no Robin Hood. No bloody good: rhyming s., esp. military: from ca. 1910. B. & P.

no salt to a herring. No use to anybody. coll.: ca. 1830–90. Mayhew, London Labour, 1862.

no second prize! 'A c.p. used when someone makes an unoriginal suggestion' (B.P.): Aus.: since ca. 1945.

no show without Punch, often prec. by there's. A c.p., applied to—or directed at—a ubiquitous person: mostly lower-middle class: late C.19–20.

no sir! no sir-ree (emphasis on -ree). An emphatic negative, current in US—1847 (Thornton), adopted in UK ca. 1920; still occ. used, 1983. See DCpp.

no skin off my nose! (often prec. by it's or that's). It's not my responsibility that this should have happened; it doesn't affect me adversely; it doesn't harm me in any way—financially, morally, physically: since ca. 1925 at latest. This is the usu. form, but the person may be changed, even to the ungrammatical 'Well, it's no skin off their nose ...' Prob. ex fisticuffs. Cf. the toast 'Skin off your nose!'

no slouch at, be. Rather or very good at: US (1874) partly anglicised in late 1890s. F.T. Bullen, 1898, 'He was no "slouch" at the business either' (OED). Ex slouch, a lout, a clumsy fellow. Also Can. by late C.19 (Frederick Niven, 1927).

no soap! The deal's off!; not a hope!; you're wasting your time: perhaps rhyming s., on no hope: adopted ex US, ca. 1945. See DCpp.

no small beer or coals or potatoes or things. See small ..., and cf. no great ..., q.v.

no sweat! Don't get over-excited!; There's no need to worry!; The problem is not insoluble: coll.: adopted, ca. 1970, ex US. I.e. you will not have to sweat either from exertion or from fear. A hippie phrase. (P.B.)

no tell. A frequent—indeed, a c.p.—assurance made by someone asked to keep a secret: since ca. 1945.

no thanks! You don't catch me!: Society: ca. 1885–1905. B. & L.—2. In C.20 a low, raffish retort to anyone exclaiming fuck me! Cf. not (just) now or not now—later!—3. See have a gorilla!; thanks-but!; 'no thanks'.

no two ways about it (or, less commonly, that). (There's) no alternative; no doubt of it; no room for a difference of opinion: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1840; by 1880, S.E.

no wanchee. 'Pidgin English for "I don't want it, thank you"' (Granville): much used in the Navy, esp. on 'China-side': late C.19—earlier 20.

no way! (with equal emphasis on both words). A strong negative; it's impossible—can't be done!: coll.: adopted, ca. 1974, ex US; Nigel Dempster, in Telegraph Sunday mag., 11 Mar. 1979, listed it among terms on their way 'out' in Society, but it continues, 1983, to be a vogue-phrase in other circles. It occurs also as in, 'Well, I mean, you know, no way is it going to affect what we do'. (P.B.) See quot'n at steely.

no way to run a whelk- (occ. coffee-)stall! (!, that's). That is no way to organise things, or this particular affair: coll.: later C.20. A Brit. version of the US a hell of a way to run a railroad.

no worries (mate – she'll be right)! Aus. equivalent of not to worry: later C.20. Mike Harding, in Weekly Guardian, 22 Mar. 1981 (J.B. Mindel).

no, you don't! Exclam. of disbelief: printers': earlier C.20. G.E. Rowles, The 'Line' Is On, 1948.

Noah's ark. An overcoat, long and closely buttoned: coll.: from ca. 1858; ob. by 1905, † by 1920—2. A lark (whether bi- or, more gen., fun): rhyming s.: 1887 (The Referee, 7 Nov.)—3. Dark: rhyming s.: C.20, esp. among urban labourers. John o' London's Weekly, 9 June 1934.—4. A park: rhyming s.: C.20. Jack Jones, ed., Rhyming Cockney Slang, 1971.—5. A very dull, stupid person: Aus. rhyming s., on nark, n., 2: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.—6. 'One who accompanies a customer but deters him or her from buying' (M.T.): market-traders' rhyming s., on nark, n., 8. Jack Jones notes its use also for nark, n., 1, an informer.

Noah's doves. Reinforcements at sea when Armistice was signed [11 Nov. 1918] (F. & G.): Aus. Services'; soon only historical. Cf. olive-branch, and its synon., rainbow, 6, q.v.

noak. To keep watch; to recognise, to know: Liverpool street arabs' (and beggars?): ca. 1870–1930. (Arab.) Suspiciously like a form of back s. for know.

Noakes. See nokes.

nob, n. (In C.18, also nobb.) The head: from ca. 1690: c. >, ca. 1750, low s. >, ca. 1810, gen. s. B.E.; K. O'Hara, 1733, 'Do pop up your nob again,/And egad I'll crack your crown'; Barham. Cf. (? ex) nab, the head, q.v.—2. A blow on the head: from ca. 1810; very ob.: orig. sporting.—3. In cribbage, 'the knave of the same suit as the turn-up card, counting one to the holder' (OED): 1821, Lamb. See also one for his nob—4. person of rank, position, or wealth: 1809 (OED); Lex. Bal., 1811; Westmacott, 1825, 'Nob or big wig'; Dickens, Thackeray; Anstey. (In the C.19 Navy, a lieutenant: Basil Hall, 1831.) Earlier in Scots dial. as nab or knab(b): 1742, R. Forbes (EDD: Knabb). These Scottish forms militate against abbr. nobility; this sense prob. derives ex sense 1: cf. the heads, important persons.—5. Hence, a fellow of a college: Oxford University ca. 1820–60. Westmacott, 1825.—6. Abbr. knob-stick, q.v.: workmen's coll.: from ca. 1865; ob. J.K. Hunter, Life Studies, 1870 (OED).—7. A sovereign (coin): ca. 1840–90. Ex the head.—8. The game of prick- (or cheat-)the-garter: c. of ca. 1750–1800. John Poulter, 1753, 'We got about three pounds from a butterman at the Belt or Nobb.' See prick-in-the-garter—9. The nose: Scot. and N. Country s.:—1796 (EDD). Cf. sense 1.—10. Linking with sense 4 is that of: an expert or a champion in sport, esp. in boxing: since ca. 1810. Thus, 'Several new nobs have made their appearance in the pugilistic hemisphere since April, 1818' (Boxiana, III, 1821).—11. In come the nob, to give oneself airs: coll.: ca. 1820–1920. Ex sense 4.—12. Do a nob is a var. of nob, v., 2:—1875 (T. Frost, Circus Life).—13. See knob, n.; pitch the nob; scuttle a nob.

nob, v. To punch on the head, v.t. and v.i.: boxing: 1812 (both in Sporting Magazine); ob. by 1930. 1823, Moncrieff, 'I've nobbd' him on the canister.'—2. To collect (money); make a collection from (persons): showmen's: both 1851; Mayhew, e.g. 'We also "nobb", or gather the money', and 'We went to "nob" them' (OED). See also nob, n., 12, and nob the glazes. Perhaps ex cribbage or ex nob, n., 7. P.B.: or perhaps ex collecting so much per head, or per nob—3. See nob it.

nob-a-nob, adj. Friendly, intimate: 1834 (Ainsworth); † by 1890. Corrupted hot-nob.

nob-cheat or -chete. See nab-cheat.

nob fake. Hair-restorer: showmen's: since ca. 1885. See fake, n., 6.

nob-girder. See nab-girder.

nob in the fur trade. A judge: c.: ca. 1838, G.W.M. Reynolds, 'Let nobs in the fur trade hold their jaw'; † by 1880. Ex the fur on the robe.

nob it. To prosper without much work; to succeed by shrewdness: c. of ca. 1810–40. (Vaux.) Also to fight nob-work, gen. as vbl. n.

nob-pitcher. C. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux, 1812, 'A general term for those sharpers who attend at fairs, races, etc., to take in the flats at prick-in-the-garter, cups and balls, and other similar artifices.'

nob-stick. See knob-stick.

nob-thatch. Hair (of the head): 1866, Yates, 'You've got a paucity of nob-thatch, and what 'air you 'ave is gray.' Ob. Ex nob, n., 1. Cf.:

nob-thatcher. A wig-maker: from ca. 1790; ob. Grose, 3rd ed.—2. A (gen. female) straw-bonnet maker: 1823 (Moncrieff): ca. 1820–1900. Cf. noddle-thatcher.

nob the glazes. To collect money from persons at first-floor windows, performers standing upon each other's or even one another's shoulders: showmen's and circus s.:—1875 (T. Frost, Circus Life). See nob, v., 2, and glaze.

nob-work. Mental occupation: low: from ca. 1820. (Cf. head-work.) Ex fight nob-work, q.v. at nob it.

nobb. See nob, n., 1, and v., 2.

nobba; occ. nobber. Nine, gen. as adj.: Parlyaree via Lingua

Franca: from ca. 1850. E.g. nobba saltee, ninence. Ex Sp. neuve or It. nove. Cf. the interchangeable b and v of sabe, savo(e)y. 'Slang introduced by the "organ-grinders" from Italy' (H., 1864); from ca. 1850.

nobber. See prec. entry.—2. A blow on the head: boxing: 1818; ob. Moore, 1819, 'That flashy spark... received a nobber.' Ex nob, v., 1.—3. A boxer skilful at head-punches: boxing: from ca. 1820; ob. Sporting Magazine, 1821, 'Randall... a nobber of first-rate excellence'. (Both senses, OED.)

—4. A collector of money, esp. for showmen or minstrels, or, in C.20, for a beggar: 1890, Echo, 30 Oct. 'Only a nobber can know the extraordinary meanness of the British public'; P.H. Emerson. Ex nob, v., 2.—5. 'Pompous, important person' (Hawke): RM: later C.20. Cf. nob, n., 4, and nebbie.

nobbet; esp. n., round. To collect the money; esp. in turn: itinerant minstrels' and tavern-singers': from ca. 1860. (B. & L.) Ex Romany but suggested by nob, v., 2.

Nobbie. See nobby, n., 2-4.

nobbly. Smartly, esp. if rather showily: from ca. 1858. (H., 1st ed.) Ex nobby, adj.

nobbing. The giving or the getting of blows on the head: boxing:—1825; ob. The corresponding adj. is recorded at 1816 (OED.).—2. Going round with the hat:—1859: showmen's. (H., 1st ed.) In the pl, money collected: 1851, Mayhew, 'Fifteen shillings of nobbings'. Ex nob, v., 2. Cf. nobbing-slum, q.v.

nobbing-cheat. See nubbing cheat.

nobbing-slum. The bag (or the hat) for collecting money: showmen's: from ca. 1890. Cf. nobbing, 2, and nob, v., 2, qq.v.

nobbish. A var. of nobby, adj., q.v. From ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed.

noble. To strike on the head; to stun: low: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex nob, n., 1.—2. To tamper with a horse, e.g. by laming it, to prevent it from winning: the turf: 1847. Lever, 1859, 'A shadowy vision of creditors "done", horses "nobbled"' (OED). 'App. a modern frequentative of nab, v., q.v. (W.)

—3. Hence, to obtain a person's help or interest by underhand methods: 1865. OED.—4. To appropriate dishonestly, even to steal: 1854, Thackeray, 'After nobbling her money for the beauty of the family' (OED).—5. To swindle out of: 1854, Thackeray, 'I don't know out of how much the reverend party has nobbled his poor old sister at Brighton.'—6. To seize, catch, get hold of: low (? orig. c.): 1877, Greenwood, 'There's a fiver... and nine good quid. Have it. Noble him, lads, and share it betwixt you'; Somerset Maugham, Cakes and Ale, 1930, 'She nobbled Jasper Gibbons. In a little while he was eating out of her soft hand.'—7. Hence, to kidnap: c.: C.20. Evelyn Waugh, Decline and Fall, 1928.—8. (Ex sense 2.) To tamper with, by attempting to bribe or otherwise, a person, esp. a jurymen: coll.: later C.20. 'Jurors screened in nobbling scare' (headline in Observer, 12 Sep. 1982), and on BBC Radio news, 4 Mar. 1983, a High Court judge was quoted concerning 'the nobbling of juries'. (P.B.) noble-tree. The head: provincial: ca. 1870-1910. Ex nob, the head.

nobbled, ppl adj. See nobble, v.

nobber. A blow on the head: boxing: from ca. 1840. Sinks, 1848, defines it as a blow or a thump.—2. Hence, any finishing blow or stroke: from ca. 1840. Ibid.—3. A short stick for killing fish: ex prec. senses, but prob. j., therefore ineligible.—4. An assistant of thimble-riggers and card-sharpers, i.e. a decoy; also, a pickpocket working in the vicinity of these riggers and sharpers: c.: from ca. 1835. Brandon; H., 1st ed.; C. Hindley.—5. One who disables horses a little before a race: the turf: 1854 (Whyte-Melville). See nobble, v., 2.—6. A pettifogging lawyer: N. Country: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 3rd ed.—7. A drink, esp. of spirits: Aus. coll.: 1852, G.E.P., 'To drain a farewell "nobber" to his Sally'; 1859, Fowler, Southern Lights and Shadow, 'The measure is called a nobber, or a break-down'; current in England by 1856 (Sessions, 19 June): coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.

Because it gets hold of one. Whence nobblerise.—8. A prospective customer: Petticoat Lane: C.20.

nobblerise. To drink frequent 'nobblers': Aus. coll.: 1864 (J. Rogers; Morris).

nobbling, vbl n. See nobble, all senses.—2. Adj., in good health: coll.: ca. 1820-40. The Spirit of the Public Journals, 1825 (OED). Cognate with nobby, adj.

nobby, n. Always the nobby. The smart thing: 1869, E. Farmer; ob. (OED.) Ex nobby, adj.—2. Inevitable nickname (Nobby) for any man surnamed Clark(e): late C.19-20. Also, 'the naval nickname which, originally given to Admiral Charles Ewart on account of his dapperness, has spread to all Ewarts and Hewetts' (Bowen): C.20. Nobby also a loose var. of Knobby. Clarks are Nobby because clerks used, in the City, to wear top hats, i.e. nobby hats.—3. The ship Niobe: RN:—1909 (Ware).—4. Nobbie (or -by), 'used when name of colleague is not known' (Evening News, 27 Apr. 1954): busmen's: since ca. 1940. Ex sense 2.

nobby, adj. Very smart, elegant, or fashionable. Of persons: from ca. 1808. A broadside ballad of ca. 1810, 'A werry nobby dog's meat man'. (Cf. nifty, q.v.) Of places or things: 1844, C. Selby, 'My togs being in keeping with this nobby place'; 1852, 'The nobbiest way of keeping it quiet'. Ex Scots knabbie or knabby (1788, Picken, 'Mony a knabbie laird': OED); see also nob, n., 4.

nobes. See like nobes.

noble. A mainly girlish, chiefly school-girlish, coll. of approbation for persons or things, esp. in that's (very) noble of you: C.20. Ex aristocratic connotation.—2. See send your noble blood...

noble to ninence, bring a (or one's). To dissipate money idly or wantonly: semi-proverbial coll.: from ca. 1565; ob. by 1820, except in dial. Fulwell, 1568, 'For why Tom Tossopot, since he went hence, /Hath increased a noble just unto nine pence'; Bailey's Colloquies of Erasmus; 1914, R.L. Gales in Vanished Country Folk, 'As a child I remember "Their noble has come to a ninence" as the commonest of sayings.' (Apperson.) A noble was a gold coin, first minted by Edward III, with face value orig. 1/3 of £1.

nobody. See devil nobody; wooden nutmegs.

'nobody asked you, sir', she said. A c.p. used to soften a refusal. From the comic song 'Where are you going to, my pretty maid?', pub. 1878. See DCpp.

Nobody's Own. The 13th, also the 20th, Hussars: military: mid-C.19-20. F. & G., 'As not being allotted in their title to any Royal personage or other person of distinction, as with other cavalry regiments outside the Household Brigade'; R.J.T. Hills, Something About a Soldier, 1934.

nobs. An endearment applied to a woman: coll.: ca. 1520-80. (Skelton.) 'Might the origin be anatomical? After all, the female physique is dominated by a number of "rounded protuberances" (SOD)' (R.S., 1973). Agreed! See nobsey.

Nobs' Houses, the. The Houses of Parliament; hence the upper Nobs' House, the House of Lords: low: ca. 1820-50. (Bee.)

nobsey. A mistress: coll.: mid-C.16. (Harpfield.) Ex nobs, q.v. OED.

nock. (As the buttocks, esp. the breech, it is S.E.: but see nockandro.)—2. The female pudend: low: late C.16-18. (Florio, Cotton.) Lit., a notch. Cf.:

nock, v. To 'occupy' a woman, gen. v.t.: low coll.: late C.16-18. (Florio; Ash in his Dict.) In C.19-20, knock, which was prob. suggested by this.

nockandro. The buttocks, exp. the breech: coll.: C.17. (Cotgrave, Urquhart, Gayton.) Prob. nock, a notch, + Gr. ἀνδρῶς, of a man. Cf. nock, n., 1, q.v.

nocky. 'A silly, dull fellow' (B.E.): late C.17-early 19; nocky extant in dial. Also, as in Grose (1st ed.), nocky boy. The etym. is obscure: but perhaps via knock in the cradle, q.v.—2. Nocky is an 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Knight: military: C.20. (F.&G.) of unascertained origin, prob. anecdotal, but perhaps, as Petch suggests, ex 'nocturnal'.

nocturne. A harlot: Society s. bordering on euph. S.E.: ca. 1875–1915. Prob. ex obv. S.E. nocturnal (late C.17–20): a night-walker, a harlot.

nod, n. A very junior second lieutenant. Royal Marines, straight out of officer training school: RM: late 1970s. 'We had to go on an exercise with this nod, but we soon put him right' (an experienced RM Private, 1978). Short for noddy, 1, q.v.—2. In on the nod, on credit: coll.: from ca. 1880. The Rag, 30 Sep. 1882, 'A pay-on-the-nod./An always-in-quod young man'. Contrast the C.18 proverb, a nod of an honest man is enough. This sense superseded in later C.20 by:—3. 'Pass on the nod', used e.g. of Borough Council, committee, or even Parliamentary business, where items on an agenda may be passed without even comment, each page or item receiving merely a nod of assent from all present: committee-men's: C.20.—4. In the nod: see:— nod, adj. Naked: (?mostly Leicestershire) teenagers': ca. 1977. (D. & R. McPhee, 1977.) A var. is in the nod. A perversion of nude; cf. in the nuddle, and nuddy.

nod is as good as a wink to a blind horse, a. A semi-proverbial c.p. applied to a covert yet comprehensible hint, though often stupidity in the receiver is implied. C.19–20. Dorothy Wordsworth, Journal, 1802. (Apperson.)

nod the nut. To plead guilty in a law-court: Aus. c.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1959.) Cf. synon. bow the crummet and duck the scone.

nodding donkey. In Illustrated London News, May 1977, Harry Morgan in his article 'Britain's Inland Oil Search' writes: 'Initially the oil will be forced to the surface by the natural pressure in the reservoir. But when this declines, pumps about 20 feet high, known as "nodding donkeys" because of their shape, will be needed to maintain production': oilmen's s. > j.: later C.20. (P.B.)

noddle. The head: coll. (orig., perhaps joc. S.E.): C.17–20. Moe cites an early occurrence in Ludowick Barrey, Ram Alley, 1611; L'Estrange; Thackeray. Ex the S.E. sense of C.15–mid-17 noddle (cognate with noll): the back of the head.—2. The head as the seat of intelligence—or the lack of it. Coll.; often playful, often derisive: 1579, Tomson; 1611, W. Baker, 'The wit enskonsed in thy noddell'; Dickens. OED. noddle-case. A wig: coll.: ca. 1700–80. (Facetious Tom Brown.) Cf.:

noddle-thatcher. A wig-maker: coll.: ca. 1715–1800. Cf. nob-thatcher, q.v.

noddleken. See nuddikin.

noddy. The old S.E. sense of 'a fool, simpleton, noodle' (SOD) received an impetus towards coll., and gave rise to several coll. or s. derivatives (see below), in mid-C.20: ex a series of very popular stories for young children, by Enid Blyton; they had as 'hero' a rather stupid elf called 'Noddy', who possessed, e.g., a 'noddy-car'.—2. Hence (?), a '100 h.p. diesel shunter 0-4-0' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: since late 1950s. (P.B.) noddy approach, make (or use) the. Lit., 'the simpleton approach' to a subject 'taught' to informed students, merely to be thorough in one's teaching, and as an aid to revision: coll. rather than s.: I first heard it at the RAF School of Education, Upwood, in 1972. (P.B.) Cf. noddy guide.

noddy-bike. The L.E. Velocette light motorcycle used by the police for general use before the introduction of 'panda cars': 1950s. (Mike Partridge, 1979.) Police s. > j. Ex noddy, 1.

noddy-boat. A canal-using pleasure-boat—not the conventional canal narrow-boat: since ca. 1950. Peppitt cites J. Gagg, The Canaller's Bedside Book, 1972. Ex noddy, 1.

noddy('s) guide. ['WW1 fighter pilots'] rules of thumb ('Beware the Hun in the sun'), those ancient noddy's guides ('Good gunnery is the key to success') (Phantom): Services': 1970s. Ex noddy, 1.

noddy-headed. Drunk: coll.: ca. 1850–1910. Ex S.E. noddy, a fool.

noddy suit. Protective clothing to be worn under conditions of NBC (nuclear, biological, and chemical) warfare: Services': since late 1960s. British Army Review, Dec. 1972. (P.B.)

noffgur. A fashionable harlot: low: ca. 1885–1910. B. & L. quote from an anon. song: 'Wrong 'uns at the Wateries,/Noffgurs at the Troc,/Coryphées by Kettner./Tartlets anywhere.' Etym. obscure: ?naughty girl telescoped. B. & L. list also the var. knofka. P.B.: Leo Rosten, The Joys of Yiddish, 1968: 'nafka. Pronounced noff-keh. Aramaic: nakfa: "street-walker." prostitute.'

Noggies. Koreans: United Nations troops': ca. 1951–5 in Korea. (Iddiwah, July 1953.) Fanciful? Perhaps cf. noggy, 2. Also Nogs: B., 1953.—2. As noggies, turds; esp. in do (or have one's) noggies, to defecate: English preparatory schools': 1930s. (P.J.E. Jones, 1957.) Prob. of nursery orig.; just pos. the orig. of sense 1.

noggin. The head: s. or coll.: since ca. 1800; B.P., 1965: 'still often heard in Australia, and occ. in Britain'. Ex S.E. sense.

noggy. See Noggies. [—2. As adj.: drunk: dial. and perhaps provincial s.: C.19–20. EDD.]

nohow; occ. no-how. The adj. (= indistinct) is S.E., as is the adv. (by no means, in no manner). Prec. by all, it = out of sorts, and is coll.: from ca. 1850. (Dickens.) P.B.: coll.: when used joc., esp. as in 'We won't do it. Not no-how!'

nohowish. Unwell: nautical:—1887 (Baumann). Ex prec.

noise. In make a noise, to break wind audibly: euph. coll.: C.19–20.—2. In make a noise, (of a horse) to be broken-winded: stables': mid-C.19–20. Cf. synon. roar.—3. In make a noise like a(n) . . ., to pretend to be a (thing); (momentarily) to suppose oneself to be an (animal); occ. a person): a c.p. locution: from ca. 1908. Baden Powell, in his Scouting for Boys, instructed scouts in danger of detection to take cover and make a noise like a (say) thrush; P.G. Wodehouse brought out, with humorous illustrations, a skit on this particular piece of scout-craft, and the phrase took the public fancy. (Communicated by W. McFarlane, Esq.) The phrase is ob., 1983, but a good example is in Dorothy L. Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927, 'And now we'll just make a noise like a hoop and roll away.'

noise like two skeletons . . . See skeletons . . .

noise the edge. See MOCK-AUCTION SLANG, in Appendix.

noises. See make noises'about.

noisy-dog racket. The stealing of brass knockers from doors: c. of ca. 1810–60. (Lex. Bal.)? ex the accompanying barks of a provoked dog or simply ex the noise the operation was apt to make. P.B.: or was noisy-dog a c. term for a door-knocker? Many old knockers were decorated with animal or grotesque faces.

nok, n. Nose: showmen's: mid-C.19–20. (Neil Bell, Crocus, 1936.) Adopted direct ex Romany. Cf. nark.

nokes, Nokes. 'A Ninny or Fool' (B.E.): coll.: ca. 1690–1890.

Nokkum. (Gen. pl.) A Scottish gypsy tinker: their own word: mid-C.19–20. The ref. in 'No. 747' (p. 49) is valid for 1865.

nol. Long: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).—2. Nol. See Old Noll.

[noli me tangere (or hyphenated). Syphilis. Scots coll.: C.17–early 19. Perhaps, however, merely a specific instance, for all other senses are S.E. Lit. (in L.), touch me not!] nolified and noly, the latter also n. (the o is long, as in holy). Simple-minded: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) Most prob. ex Lincolnshire dial. knohl (at knoll (2), 4, in EDD), a knock, esp. a blow, on the side of the head. (P.B.)

noll; occ. nol, nolle, nolle, these three being † by 1750. The head: C.9–20: S.E. till C.18, then coll. till ca. 1820, then (except as joc. archaism) dial.—2. A person, esp. as a simpleton, gen. with dull or drunken: late C.14–mid-17: S.E. verging on, indeed sometimes actually, coll.—3. Nol(!) is a pet-name for Oliver; cf. Ned from Edward.

noly, n. and adj. See nolified.

nominate. See poison.

nomm(o)us. See nammous.

non-air or no-bill. A non-union railroad employee: Can. railroadmen's:—1931.

non-Aryan. See Aryan.

non-can-go-ists. 'Naval non-conformists' (Granville): RN: C.20. Cf. no-can-go-ist.

non-car(e)ish. Inouciant: coll.: early C.20. Manchon.

non-col. A group of pupils exempted, or the rule by which they are exempted, from the practice of writing 'columns' (q.v.): Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham).

Non-Coll. adj. and n. Non-Collegiate: Oxford and Cambridge Universities' coll.: from ca. 1875. Durham University Journal, 13 Dec. 1879, 'The Cambridge "non-colls"' (OED).

non-com. A non-commissioned officer: coll.: (orig. military): from ca. 1862. H., 3rd ed. (1864); J.S. Winter, 1885, 'Well-tipped quarter-masters and their favourite tools among the non-coms.' Cf. the Fr. s., sous-off=sous-officier (W.).

non compos. Not in one's right mind: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Elliptical for the legal non compos mentis.

non-con., Non-Con., Non-con. A Nonconformist: coll.: from ca. 1680; ob. Flatman; Grose, 1st ed.

non est. Absent: coll.: 1870 (Brewer). Lit., he is not (sc. found, L. inventus). Abbr.

non est inventus. Adj. Absent: coll.: 1827 (De Quincey, Murder as One of the Fine Arts); ob. by 1890, † by 1915. Ex legal 'S.E.'

non-flam (film). Non-flammable: filmland: since ca. 1915. Cameron McCabe, The Face, 1937.

non-frat. Order(s) forbidding fraternisation: army: 1944–6 (? later). (P-G-R.) See frat, v.

non-husky. See husky.

non-licet, adj. Illegal; esp. unbefitting a Wykehamist: Winchester College: from ca. 1890. 'Don't sport non-licet notions' (Wrench, The Winchester Word-Book, 1891). Ex the legal S.E.

non me. A lie: lower classes', mostly Cockneys': 1820–ca. 30. Ex Queen Caroline's trial, whereat the Italian witnesses said non mi ricordo (I don't remember) to every important question. Ware.

non-nant. See nant.

non-plus. Esp. in catch (a person) on the non-plus, to catch at unawares: coll.: later C.19–early 20. Baumann.

Non-skid. A Jew: rhyming s., on Yid: since (?)ca. 1920. (Richard Llewellyn, None But the Lonely Heart, 1943.) Cf. tea-pot lid.

non-speaks. 'What other people called sending to Coventry, we called non-speaks' (Andrew Sinclair, in The World of the Public School, 1977): Eton College: mid-C.20.

non-stop. A big shell passing far overhead: army: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex a non-stop train.

nonce. Understanding, as in 'There's no nonce about him': sol.:—1887; ob. (Baumann.) A perversion of nuance or a confusion of nous and sense, or of nonsense and sense.—2. A sexual deviant or pervert, esp. one that assaults children: c. and underworld: later C.20. (Home Office; Community Care, 2 Nov. 1977.) Perhaps a shortening of nonsense? (P.B.).—3. 'A stupid chap' (Home Office); a lunatic or 'nut-case': id.

nonch. Completely at one's ease; utterly relaxed ('dead nonch'): since late 1930s, perhaps earlier; Gilderdale, 2, notes its use among Teddy-boys in the later 1950s. Ex nonchalant.

nonconformist. See High Church.

nondescript. A boy in the middle school: certain Public Schools': late C.19–20. In the same schools, squeaker (see sense 3) and dook (last sense): Ian Hay, David and Destiny, 1934.

none of John Whoball's children. See he is none...

none the worse. See would be none...

nonesuch, nonsuch. The female pudend: low: C.18–20; ob.—2. In allusive S.E. bordering on semi-proverbial coll. (gen. ironic): late C.16–17. Wither, 'A spotless Church, or perfect Disciplines/Go seek at None-such.' Ex Nonsuch, near Epsom in Surrey. OED. Cf.:—3. In he's a Mr Nonesuch, he's very conceited: c.p. of ca. 1885–1910. Baumann.

nong; nong-nong. A fool: Aus.: since ca. 1945. The word nong probably Aboriginal; the reduplicated form has been influenced by Aboriginal names and such expressions as woop-woop' (Edwin Morrisby, 1958). B.P., however, states that nong is short for nong compos, an Aus. assimilation of L. non compos and is no more an Aboriginal word than, say, the Nullarbor (L. null' arbor, no tree, hence, 'treeless') Plain. Wilkes compares it with nigmenog, q.v. at nimenog; see also ning-nong.

[nonny-nonny. A meaningless refrain useful esp. for palliating obscenity: C.16–18; extant only as an archaism. Perhaps coll. rather than S.E. F. & H. give it as = a simpleton: but is this so? I find no support.]

nonplush. Nonplus; occ. nonplussed: sol. when not dial., nor as, ca. 1820–40, joc. Bee.

nonsensational. Sensationally nonsensical: critics': 1897 (People, 28 Feb.; † by 1909. (Ware.) On non-sensational and telescoping nonsensically sensational.

nonsense. 'Melting butter in a wig' (Grose, 3rd ed.): late C.18–early 19.—2. Money: c. or, more prob., low s.: from ca. 1820. Egan, 1821, 'Shell out the nonsense: half a quid Will speak more truth than all your palavers.' By antiphrasis.—3. A small division of the Third Form: Eton College: mid-C.19–20: s. > j.—4. A fiasco: since ca. 1938. Peter Cheyney, The Stars Are Dark, 1943.—5. A piece of nonsense; an absurdity, e.g. a charmingly outrageous toque or hat; make a nonsense, to make nonsense, to make no sense, to mean nothing sensible: since early 1950s.—6. In if that's nonsense I'd like some of it!, 'A c.p. retort to reproof, for talking smut' (L.A.): since ca. 1925.

nonsuch. See nonesuch.

Noo, the. Scotland: see go up the Noo.

noodle, a simpleton (from ca. 1750): perhaps orig. coll.; otherwise, always S.E.—2. 'A man belonging to the Northumberland Yeomanry or Volunteers': Northumberland s.: 1891 (EDD).

noodle, v. 'To prospect for opal in mullock heaps; to work carefully on a selection of opal-bearing rock' (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: since late C.19. Hence, fig., to pick at (Wilkes quotes Morris West). Perhaps ex nodules of opal. Often as vbl n. noodling.

noodles. Nickname for a noodle: Society: ca. 1840–1920. B. & L.—2. In the House of Noodles, the House of Lords: ca. 1820–60. (Bee.) Cf. Nobs' Houses.

nook. A penny: c., esp. vagrants': earlier C.20. (Manchon; Gilt Kid, 1936.) Origin?

nookie, -y. Sexual intercourse: middle-class and almost polite; certainly a kind of baby-talk: late C.19–20. Perhaps ex S.E. nooky, resembling a nook, characterized by nooks, but probably related to nug, v, and nugging.—2. Hence, a girl, a woman regarded sexually: since ca. 1920. To which Peppitt added, 1976, 'Rather broader than you mention. It is anything female in the sexual sense—ranging from women who do, through what they do, to what they do it with.' P.B.: since ca. 1965 often pluralised, as in to get (one's) nookies.

Noolucks or Newlicks. An imaginary person: 1848 (Sinks); † by 1890. Cf. checks, 3, and joe, 10.

noom. The moon: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

noomony. Pneumonia: Can. sol. verging on (lower-class) coll.: C.20. John Beames, Gateway, 1932, 'You'll get the noomony one of these days, goin' on the way like you do.'

nooner. A lunch-time drink: RN: C.19–20. Lt G. Parsons, Nelsonian Reminiscences, 1843 (Peppitt); Granville.

noose, nooze. To hang: from ca. 1670; ob.: ?orig. c.; certainly low s. till C.19, then coll. Head, Grose. (—2. V.t., to marry, late C.17–20, is joc. S.E.)

nope. A blow, esp. on the head, from ca. 1720: s. († by 1870) and Northern dial. (A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose.) Cognate with C.15 nolp, of equally obscure origin: cf. culp, q.v.—2. This US pron. of no, the semi-exclamatory adv., has, esp. since 1918 and as a low coll., gained ground in the British Empire. 'Ganpat', Out of Evil, 1933.—3. A slovenly, occ. joc., 'collision' of no hope!: low coll.: C.20, but rare before WW1.

Noper Force, the. See Dunsterforce. It may have incorporated a pun on no-hoper, 4.

noz. Than: dial. (from C.15) and, in C.19–20, low coll. Thackeray, 1840, 'You're no better nor a common trumper' (OED).

Nor' Loch trout. A joint or leg of mutton: Scots s.: ca. 1770–1810. Jamieson, 'This was the only species of fish which the North Loch, on which the shambles were situated, could supply.'

nor'-wester. A glass of potent liquor: nautical coll.: 1840 (Marryat); ob. (OED.) Basil Hall, Voyages, 1st series, 1831 (p. 16), defines a north-wester as 'One half of each glass shall consist of rum, and the other half of rum and water'.

Noras. Great Northern Railway deferred ordinary stock: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1885; ob. Atkin, 1887, 'For we have our Saras and Claras, / Our Noras and Doras for fays.'

Noravee yawl. A Norway yawl: nautical coll.: C.19–20. Bowen.

Norfolk capon. A red herring (cf. Glasgow magistrate, q.v.): coll.: from ca. 1780; ob. (Grose, 1st ed.) Smith, The Individual, 1836, 'A Norfolk capon is jolly grub.' Cf. also Yarmouth capon, q.v.

Norfolk dumpling. An inhabitant, esp. a native, of Norfolk: coll.: C.17–20. Day, in The Blind Beggar, 1600; Ray, 'This refers not to the stature of their bodies; but to the fare they commonly feed on and much delight in'; Grose, 1st ed. True, Mr Ray; nevertheless, this dish does tend to make children and even adults round and fat. (Apperson.) Cf. Norfolk turkey, q.v.—2. As the Norfolk dumpling, the (practice of) sending convicts to Norfolk Island: Aus. c.: ca. 1820–70. (B., 1942.) Conditions on Norfolk Island (800 miles east of Sydney) were appalling; Norfolk dumplings lie heavy on the stomach—fair 'settlers', as was a term on the Island. (See Underworld.)

Norfolk Howard. A bed-bug: coll.: from ca. 1863; ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex one Joshua Bug, who in June, 1862, changed his name to Norfolk Howard.

Norfolk Howards. The Norfolk Regiment (in C.19, the 9th Foot): military: from ca. 1870. Ex prec., in the jocosely way of soldiers.

[Norfolk nog. A kind of strong ale: ca. 1720–60: coll. rapidly > (?always was) S.E. Vanbrugh, 1726, 'Here's Norfolk nog to be had at the next door.']

Norfolk turkey. An inhabitant, esp. a native, of Norfolk: coll.: C.19–20; ob. Anon., Ora and Juliet, 1811, 'The boorish manners of those Norfolk turkeys' (OED). Cf. Norfolk dumpling, q.v., see Norwicher, and note the C.16–20 (ob.) proverb Essex stiles (ditches), Kentish miles, Norfolk wiles, many men beguiles, with variants; glance also at Yorkshire and at north, adj., 1.

norgies (mostly a feminine usage); norgs and rare norkers (both mostly masculine). Female breasts: Aus. low: since ca. 1950. The -g- forms derive ex norkers, itself deriving ex those advertisements for Norco butter which show a copiously uddered cow. (B.P.) Wilkes lists only the var. norks, quoting several examples from 1962 onwards.

nork. A † var. of nark, 1, an informer. Baumann (prob. merely the Cockney pron.).—2. See prec.

Normanton cocktail. Wilkes quotes John Cantwell, No Stranger to the Flame, 1963: "Give us a Normanton cocktail, darl—a gin and two blankets," one of the cutters said.' Gin = Aboriginal waman.

norp, gen. v.i. To insert phrases apt to 'fetch' the gallery, i.e. to 'gag to or for the gods': theatrical: from ca. 1870; ob. Perhaps ex Yorkshire dial. (at least as early as 1869: EDD) norp or naup, to hit the mark, to succeed, ex the much earlier norp, naup, to strike, e.g. with a stick, gen. on the head. Hence the vbl. n. norping.

Norperforce. See Dunsterforce.

Norsker. A Norwegian: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex Scandinavian Norsk (Norse).

north. A frequent C.20 abbr. of north and south, q.v., mouth. B. & P.—2. In he's gone north about, a nautical c.p. referring (from ca. 1860) to a sailor that has met his death by other than drowning. B. & L.

north, adj. Intelligent; mentally and socially alert; cunning: from late C.17; ob. Rare except in too far north, too clever or knowing, as in Smollett, 1748, and Mrs A.M. Bennett, 1797 (OED); Ashton, in his Social Life in the Reign of Queen Anne, quotes however this illuminating passage: 'I ask'd what Country-man my Landlord was? answer was made, Full North; and Faith 'twas very Evident, for he had put the Yorkshire most damnably upon us.' Cf. the C.19–20 dial. to have been as far North as anyone, to be no more of a fool than the next man (EDD).—2. Strong, gen. of drink: nautical: from ca. 1860. Hence, due north, neat, without water, and too far north, drunk; contrast this phrase in sense 1. (Glasgow Herald, 9 Nov. 1864.) Cf. another point (, steward!), and nor'-wester, qq.v.

north and south (often pron. norf'n'sahf). The mouth: rhyming s.: since—1857 (Augustus Mayhew, Paved with Gold).

North Castle. See Holloway Castle.

North Country compliment. An unwanted gift of no value to either the donor or the recipient: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed.

north-easter. A bluejacket that, on pay day, finds he is not entitled to receive any: RN: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex the bitterness of a North-East wind. Occ., in C.20, abbr. to N.E.: (F. & G.) The adj. is North-East (or n.-e.), as in the Saturday Review, 20 Oct. 1934.

north end of a horse going south, the. See horse's arse.

north eye. A squint: showmen's s. and Southern dial.: from ca. 1850. (P.H. Emerson, 1893.) Cf. the other dial. phrases in EDD. (F. & H. too soon discouraged.)

North Oxford Gothic. Bogus Gothic architecture: since late 1940s; by 1960, coll.; by 1966, almost S.E. Cf. Stockbrokers' Tudor, q.v.

North Pole. Anus: since ca. 1870. Rhyming on hole.

North Sea Grunters. A flotilla of frigates doing patrol work in the North Sea during the Napoleonic Wars. Naval. (W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (II, 115), 1829: Moe.)

North Sea pheasant. A kipper: nautical: late C.19–20. Cf.:

North Sea rabbits. Herrings as food: NZ soldiers': 1916–18. Ex the abundance of herrings on the menus in NZ camps in England and of rabbits in NZ.

Northallerton. (Rare in singular.) A spur: coll.: ca. 1790–1880. Grose, 3rd ed, 'That place, like Rippon, being famous for making them'.

northen-spell. A corrupt form of knur(r) and spell (a game): C.19–20. OED.

Northern, the. King's Cross railway station: London taxi-drivers' coll.: since ca. 1905. (Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939.) The most important of the lines serving the North; also, it is in N. London. Cf. Western, the, Paddington station: id.: Ibid. Northern Glance, the. The Aurora Borealis: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) Presumably suggested by S.E. North-ern Lights.

Northern tike. See Yorkshire tike.

Northo. HMS Northumberland: RN: early C.20. Bowen.

northo-rigger. Gen. pl. 'In the late Victorian and Edwardian Navy, ratings who had entered as youths instead of through the harbour training ships. Now seldom heard' (Bowen, 1927). Also hurricane-jumper.

Northumberland's arms, Lord. A black eye: mid-C.17–20: s. >, ca. 1680, dial. († except in Northumberland). Grose, 2nd ed. Either from the dark-colour fusils [i.e. light muskets] carried by the Percys' retainers or from the black and red predominant in the spectacles-resembling badge¹ of this powerful family (EDD). [1. Note as relevant the heraldic sense of fusil.]

Norway neck-cloth. The pillory, usually made of Norway fir' (Grose, 1st ed.): ca. 1784–1830.

Norwegian house-flag. One of 'the windmill pumps that used to be compulsory in Norwegian sailing ships': nautical: ca. 1850–1910. (Bowen.) I.e. as inevitable as a house-flag.

Norwegian (or Scandinavian) steam. Synon. with handraulic power, q.v. at Johnny Armstrong. Common in the MN: since ca. 1920, if not the 1890s. (H.P. Mann, 1972.)

northwester. See nor'-wester.

Norwicher. One who drinks too much from a shared jug, glass, etc., i.e. an unfair drinker: ca. 1860–1900. H., 3rd ed.; Athenæum, 15 Aug. 1896 (? relevant). (Not in EDD.) Origin obscure; but see Norfolk wiles in the 'Cf.' part of Norfolk turkey. These territorial amenities are common enough (cf. Yorkshire).

nose, n. An informer (1789, Parker: 'Nose. Snitch'), esp.—from ca. 1810—a paid spy (Vaux, 1812): c. Often, from ca. 1870, a policeman's nose: contrast sense 3. Also noser, q.v.—2. Hence, a detective policeman, as in Greenwood's Dick Temple, 1877: c. of ca. 1875–1910.—3. One who supplies information to criminals: c.: C.20. (Edgar Wallace, The Clue of the New Pin, 1923.) Ex sense 1.—4. A Jew (usu. male): esp. Lancashire proletarian: latish C.19–earlyish 20. Ex tendency to large noses.—5. As the nose, the front of a surfing-board: Aus. surfers' coll.: since ca. 1950.—6. 'In the late 1970s a "genteel" amelioration of arse: media and gen. "If he complains any more about his (e.g. skateboard), I'll stuff it up his nose." Cf. also the declaration of a witness in a notorious kidnapping case, who asserted herself ready to "ski naked down Mt Everest with a chrysanthemum up [her] nose"' (R.S., 1978). Perhaps influenced by:—7. Get up (one's) nose, to disgust, irritate, anger, render 'touchy': since ca. 1935 (E.P.), but in really widespread use only since ca. 1970. Prob. orig. euph. for such phrases as 'It gets on my wick', 'What gets on my tits is...'; nose here (cf. 6) may also be euph. for arsehole. In Aug. 1980 there appeared a poster with the coarsely punned slogan: 'If the Tories get up your nose—picket', a consequence of the newly-introduced amendment to the law on strike picketing. (P.B.)—8. In at (one's) (very) nose, very close: from ca. 1520: coll. and dial.—9. A good nose = a smell-feast: low coll.: late C.17–early 20. B.E.—10. See also bridge, n.; dewdrops...; follow your nose!; long bacon; long nose...; on the nose; parson's nose; recorder's nose; shove (one's) nose; in; wipe (someone's) nose; wipe (one's) nose of; your nose...—11. In does your nose swell (or itch) at (this, that)?, are you angry or annoyed: coll.: C.19. See also nose swell.

nose, v. To dupe; make a fool of; to impose upon; to 'cock a snook at': ca. 1660–1720. Thomes Shadwell. The Woman-Captain, 1680, Dramatis Personæ: 'Sir Nick Peakgoose. A sneaking Cully, nosed by a whore'; and Shadwell, The Squire of Alsatia, 1688, at Act IV, in scene between Sir William and his son, the latter exclaims, 'What a Pox, did you think to nose me forever, as the saying is? I am not so dark [stupid] neither.' Perhaps ex 'lead by the nose'.—2. V.i., to inform to police; to turn king's evidence: c.: C.19. Lex. Bal., 'His pal nosed, and he was twisted for a crack', i.e. handed for burglary. Cf. nose upon.—3. Hence, v.t., to spy on, keep under police observation; to watch (a building): c.: C.20. Edgar Wallace passim: e.g. Room 13.—4. To hit (someone) on the nose: low: later C.19–earlier 20. M. Davitt, A Prison Diary, 1885.

nose and chin. A 'win' (q.v.), i.e. a penny: low (orig. c.) rhyming s. of ca. 1855–1905. H., 1st ed.—2. Gin: rhyming:—1909 (Ware). Cf. needle and pin.—3. A win (on, e.g., the horses): bookmakers' rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming. nose-bag. Such a visitor as carries his own food: waiters': 1860 (H., 2nd ed.).—2. A hospitable hotel or boarding-house: middle classes': late C.19–20; ob. (Ware.) Cf. sense 1.—3. A bag holding food for human beings: 1925 (P.G. Wodehouse: OED Sup.).—4. A veil: low: ca. 1865–1915.—5. Hence, a gas-mask: joc. military: 1915–18.—6. A hand-bag: from ca. 1885; ob. Cornhill Magazine, Apr. 1887, 'So I yesterday packed up my nosebag, and away I posted down to Aldgate.' All these senses ex the S.E. one.—7. In have the nose-bag in (one's) face, to have been 'a private man, or rode private' (Grose, 2nd ed.): military: ca. 1780–1830.—8. In put on the nose-bag, to eat either hurriedly or at work—or both. (Low) coll.: from ca. 1870. (H., 5th ed.) Ex the stables. Cf. nose in the manger, q.v.—9. In straight from the nose-bag, q.v., of reliable news.

nose-bagger. Var. of prec., 1: from ca. 1865. Ware.

nose cheese first, see the. To refuse contemptuously: low: C.19–early 20.

nose-cough. A heavy breathing through the mouth on account of a stoppage in the nose: proletarian:—1887 (Baumann).

nose-dive. A snatch, a swoop, an attempt, as in 'E makes a nose-dive at me eats, but I donged 'im': Aus.: from ca. 1919. Ex the nose-dive made by an aeroplane.

nose em. See nose my.

nose-ender. A straight blow on the nose: boxing: 1854 ('Cuthbert Bede'). Also in nuance 'a fall on one's nose; a punch that causes one to fall thus': 1901 (Jerome Caminada, Twenty-Five Years of Detective Life, vol. 2). Cf. noser.—2. A strong head-wind: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. muzzler, 3.

nose-gent, nosegent. A nun: c.: ca. 1565–1830. (Harman; Grose, 1st ed.) ?etym.

nose in the manger, have or put (one's). To eat, esp. to eat heartily: coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. by 1930. (T. Hughes, 1861, Tom Brown at Oxford.) Ex the stables.

nose is always brown, his. A low c.p. applied, in C.20, to a sycophant. Cf. arse-crawler.

nose is bleeding, your. See your nose is bleeding.

nose is dirty, (his). He is a good drinker: see TAVERN TERMS, §2, in Appendix.

nose itches!, my. A C.18–20 c.p. invitation to kiss, the dovetail being either, as in Swift, 'I knew I should drink wine, or kiss a fool', or, in C.18–20, 'I knew I would shake hands with a fool', or, in C.19–20, 'I knew I was going to sneeze or to be cursed, or kissed, by a fool.'

nose my ('Ducange Anglicus', 1857) is itself ex nose-my-knacker, q.v.: mid-C.19–20; ob. Also nose em, nose 'm.

nose of. To cheat, swindle (a person) of (something): ca. 1650–90. OED gives as S.E., but the OED's quot'ns (Brome; Brian, Piss-Prophet) indicate coll. Cf. wipe (someone's) nose of..., q.v.

nose of wax; or waxen-nose († by C.18). Anything, esp. any person, very pliable, exceedingly obliging or complaisant or easy-going: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1530–1830. Scott, 1815, 'I let... the constable... manage the business his ain gate, as if I had been a nose o' wax.' Apperson.

nose on. To give information to the police about (a person): c.: C.20 (and prob. earlier). Edgar Wallace passim. Ex nose upon, q.v., or perhaps ex nose, v., 3.

nose-paint. Alcoholic drink: S. Lancashire joc.:—1905 (EDD Sup.), but s., not dial.

nose-rag. A pocket-handkerchief: from ca. 1835: low. (Haliburton.) Cf. nose-wiper.

nose-scratch. A very sketchy salute: Services': ca. 1938–48. (H. & P.) Cf. synonym. peek-a-boo.

nose swell, make (one's). To make a person jealous or envious: coll.: from ca. 1740; ob. State Trials, 1743, 'He heard Lord Altham say, ... my wife has got a son, which will make my brother's nose swell' (OED). Cf. the S.E. put one's nose out of joint, of which it is prob. a joc. elab., and the C.18 (?S.E.) var., make one's nose warp (Ray). Cf. nose, n. 11.

nose to light candles at, a. A (drunkard's) red nose: coll.: late C.16–20; ob. Nashe, 'Their noses shall bee able to light a candle.'

nose to the grindstone, hold or keep (one's). To treat harshly: coll.: hold in C.17–18; keep in C.19–20. Variants in C.19, bring or put. Ex C.16–17 S.E. sense, to torture.—2. In C.19–20, to study hard or toil unremittingly; to cause another to do so.

nose upon, v.t. To tell something of a person so that he be injured and, if possible, one's self profited: low coll.: from ca. 1810; ob. (Vaux.) Whence perhaps nose on, q.v.

nose-warmer. A short pipe: from ca. 1880.

nose-watch. I; me: c. of ca. 1570–1630. Cf. nibs (esp. my nibs), which affords a very significant analogy. Harman, 'Cut to my nose watch... say to me what thou wilt.' See watch.

nose well down (, with). In a great hurry: military coll.: C.20. (F. & G.) Ex marching with head down. P.B.: or as a dog following a scent-trail.

nose-wipe, n. A pocket-handkerchief: low: from ca. 1820. Cf. nose-wiper, q.v.

nose-wipe, v.t. To cheat, deceive: coll.: ca. 1620–1750. (Burton: OED.) Again, reluctantly, I differ from the OED as to status: cf. wipe the nose of.

nose-wiper. A pocket-handkerchief: from ca. 1894. Lord C.E. Paget, 1895, 'Charged with my relay of nose-wipers, I was close to his Majesty on the steps of the throne' (OED). Ex nose-wipe, n., q.v.

nosebag. See nose-bag.

nosegay. A blow on the nose: boxing: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.—2. A warrant officer: RN:—1923 (Manchon).—3. In it will be a nosegay to him as long as he lives, a mid-C.17–early 18 semi-proverbial c.p. applied to one who has a very big and/or long nose. Ray, 1678 (Apperson).

nosegent. See nose-gent.

nosender. See nose-ender.

noser. 'A bloody or contused nose' (H., 1859); pugilistic; very ob. Ex:—2. A blow on the nose: mostly boxing: from ca. 1850. Mayhew.—3. A strong head-wind: nautical coll.: from ca. 1850.—4. A paid spy: c. of ca. 1860–1910. Cornhill Magazine, vol. II, 1862, 'There are a few men and women among thieves called nosers... They are in the secret pay of the police.' Ex nose, v.—5. One who inspects—esp. by smelling—fruit or flowers but does not buy: Covent Garden:—1909 (Ware).—6. The nose-dive of an aeroplane: RFC: 1914. B. & P.

nosey (or nosy), n., esp. in take a nosey around, to take a look around, as a detective does at the scene of a crime: since ca. 1950. Ex nosey, adj.; perhaps influenced by mosey.—2. 'The prison censor' (Tempest): prisoners' c.: mid-C.20. Ex:—nosey, adj. Inquisitive: coll.: since mid-C.19. See Nosey Parker.

nosey-my-knacker. Tobacco: rhyming s., on 'baccar: 1851 (Mayhew, I). 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857, has noser-my-knacker. See esp. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Nosey O'Grady. An inquisitive person, usu. female: Can.: later C.20. (Leech, 1981.)

Nosey Parker. The personification of inquisitiveness: coll.: since mid-C.19. The OED dates the former at 1851, and parker, a rabbit living in a park, at 1846. Ramsey Spencer very shrewdly comments: 'The Great Exhibition took place in 1851, in Hyde Park, drawing huge crowds of inquiring visitors of all classes, so it may also have provided unusually ample opportunities for Peeping Toms and eavesdroppers in the purlieus'. That, clearly, supplies a vastly more probable origin than the various folklorish theories we have seen.

nosh, n. See the next. Among beatniks, this sense arose ca. 1958. (Anderson.) Orig., in Yiddish, of food eaten between meals. P.B.: Mr Maurice Butcher, orig. of Fulham, told me, 1979, that in WW2 Londoners were already saying, e.g. 'Let's slip along to the coffee-house for a nosh.'

nosh, v. To acquire furtively: children's: C.19–20. (L.A.) Origin? Perhaps ex Ger. naschen, to eat on the sly, to nibble secretly; cf. Ger. Nascherei, a nibbling of dainties on the sly. Also spelt nash.—Hence, nosher, one who samples food before buying; a greedy person: mid-C.19–20. If ex German, it comes via Yiddish; 'In the 1960s this verb seems to have come to mean "to eat heartily and quite openly"'. I have frequently heard it used in this sense by radio comedians. As a noun, it seems now to mean just "food", "a meal" (H.R. Spencer, 1975). Guy Deghy, 'Leave Me the Noshers', Observer, 3 Nov. 1957, declares that nosh is properly 'to sample desirable food voluptuously, surreptitiously... One eats breakfast or lunch, but one noshes in between.' He also notes the frequent use of noshing as n. P.B.: note that F. & G., 1925, list the Services' use of gnosh simply as 'to eat'—ex Yiddish, or from service in Palestine? It was certainly current in this sense among troops in Palestine during WW2 (Capt. E.W. Bishop, 1978). Hence:—

nosh down. To eat a meal: beatniks': 1959+. (Anderson.) Cf. prec. and:—

nosh-up. A bout of eating; a banquet: coll.: since late 1950s. Ex nosh, v.

Nosmo. See Nozmo.

nosper. A person: back s., low London:—1909 (Ware).—2. Hence (—1909), a stranger. Ibid.

nosrap. A parson: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

nossall or -oll. A horse given to kicking and/or other vicious behaviour: London farriers': late C.19–20. Perhaps cf. dial. nozzle, to strike violently, to do things vigorously.

nosy. See nos(e)y.

not, either repeated or with another negative where only the one is understood: from C.15: S.E. till ca. 1665, then a vulg. when not dial.—2. With dependent clause omitted, as in E.P. Oppenheim, 1907, "'She is coming back...?'" "The chambermaid thought not, sir"; coll.: prob. from as early as the 1890s. OED Sup.—3. As in it (just) isn't or wasn't (e.g. her, name, etc.), it doesn't—or didn't—truly suit her (etc.); it isn't or wasn't in character: c.p.: since ca. 1956. Apparently it originated in the smart fashion shops of Society.—4. Not occurs in many coll. phrases: below are listed some of those from which it is inseparable; those which, without it, would be pointless.

not a bad drop. A good alcoholic drink: Aus.: since ca. 1940. (B.P.) Not unknown in Brit.: since ca. 1950, at latest. (P.B.) not a bit of it! No; not at all; you're wrong: coll.: late C.19–20.

not a bone in the truck, as in 'Ten o'clock, and not a bone in the truck', expressive of time-wasting during working-hours: ?Aus. and ?factories': C.20.

not a cat in hell's chance. No chance at all: C.20. Cf. synon. not an icicle's chance in Hades (or) hell: ca. 1910–40. See much chance...

not a dicky bird. Lit., 'not a word' (rhyming s.), it has come to mean 'nothing', as in 'What's going on in there? Can you see anything?'—'Not a dicky bird!' (P.B., 1975). Prob. since ca. 1920 or considerably earlier; I did not happen to hear it before the 1920s. Cf. not a sausage.

not a dry seat in the house. 'The scene = or comedian was so funny that the audience was utterly helpless with laughter' (Granville): theatrical c.p.: since ca. 1930. A blend of the drama critics' cliché, 'There wasn't a dry eye...' and the vulgar, 'I pissed myself laughing.'

not a feather to fly with. 'Plucked', i.e. familiar S.E. for 'failed in an examination': universities': late C.19–early 20. Perhaps influenced also by:—2. Penniless; ruined: coll.: id.

not a glimmer. Not (or none) at all: coll.: from ca. 1925. Only in answer to some such question as 'Have (had) you any idea how to do this, or that this would happen?' Abbr. not the glimmer of an idea.

not a hanging matter, it isn't or it's not. Well, after all, it's not so very serious, is it?: c.p.: late C.19–early 20.

not a heel! A mainly Cockney c.p. of 1880–1913. Edwin Pugh, Harry the Cockney, 1912, "'Seen anybody?'" "Not a soul. And you?" "Not a eel." "That's odd." "I.e., punning sole and heel (of a shoe).

not a hope in hell! There's no hope at all: coll.: from ca. 1910. (Oliver Onions, Peace in Our Time, 1923.) Cf. not a snowball's and much chance...

not a lot! In full, 'You're going to like it... not a lot... but you'll like it!', or in variations upon the same: c.p. of Paul Daniels, the Yorkshire magician and comedian. Nigel Rees records it in Very Interesting... 1980, but it began to emerge as a gen. c.p. only in early 1980s. (P.B.)

not a penny to bless (one)self with. No, or extremely little, money: from 1540: coll. >, by 1700, S.E. Semi-proverbial: see Heywood's Proverbs.

not a pretty sight. A c.p. arising ca. 1980, prob. ex the comedians Morecambe & Wise in the 'stiff-upper-lipped Empire-builders' skits: of universal application. 'But if any gatecrasher gets in, they jump on him, hard, just like SAS men. Not a pretty sight' (D.A.N. Jones, Listener, 16 Oct. 1980).

not a sausage. Not a plane in the sky; no luck: RAF: since 1940. (H. & P.) Ex sausage, n., 6. P.B.: since mid-C.20, at latest, much more gen. than implied here, for 'nothing at all'; cf. not a dicky-bird.

not a sixpence to scratch (one's arse) with. Penniless: low coll.: mid-C.19–20; the shorter form—1931 (Lyell).

not a snowball's. Elliptical for 'he (it, etc.) hasn't as much chance as a snowball in hell', i.e. no chance whatsoever: since ca. 1950. In, e.g., Clement & La Frenais, A Further Stir of Porridge, 1977. Cf. much chance... (P.B.)

not a word of the pudding! Say nothing about the matter!: late C.17–mid-C.18. (B.E., at mum-for-that.) Why pudding? Cf.:-

not a word to Bessie (about this)! C.p. originated by Kenneth Horne in the WW2 BBC radio RAF comedy series 'Much-Binding-in-the-Marsh': the phrase quickly became popular and is still, 1983, occ. heard. Cf. prec. and:- not a word to the vicar! 'Mum's the word'—'Keep it quiet!': c.p.: since ca. 1925; by 1966, slightly ob. (Richard Merry.)

not all there. Mentally deficient: see all there.

not backward in coming forward. Not shy; 'eager-beaverish': coll.: late C.19–20. (P.B.)

not bad. Rather or (patronisingly) quite good: upper (hence, derivatively, middle) classes' coll.: from ca. 1860 (Ware); the OED Sup. example at 1835 is prob. isolated and perhaps inoperative. Cf. not half bad.

not bloody likely! An emphatic negative. See not Pygmalion... and DCpp.

not bothered. Unconcerned, as in 'Well, which shall I do?'—'I'm not bothered—suit yourself': coll.: C.20. Cf. Brit. use of not fussy. (P.B.)

not by a jugful. Not by a long way: coll.: ex US (1834), anglicised ca. 1850; ob. by 1910, † by 1930.

not by a long chalk. See by a long chalk.

not care (or give) a. P.B.: The later C.20 form is usu. (e.g. he couldn't care (or give) a ..., or he didn't care, etc. As with not worth a ..., q.v., there are so many phrases of dismissal, rejection, and uninterest, that no list could hope to be exhaustive. Some of the better known, in rough chronological order, are: not care a fouter (late C.16); not care a louse (late C.16–18. Moe cites Middleton, A Mad World, My Masters, 1608, at I, i.); ... a pin (1615, in anon., A Merry Dialogue, between Band, Cuffe and Ruff); ... a farthing (1709); ... three damns (1760); ... a damn (1785); ... a rap (1800), ex rap, an Irish counterfeit halfpenny: S.E. by 1850; ... a dump (1800: ex a metal counter, but cf. dump, n., 1); ... a fiddlestick (1800); ... a sou (spelt sous in Bill Truck, Sep. 1824); ... a fig (1823, in 'Idyl', Blackwood's); ... a tinker's curse (1830; in C.20 usu. cuss); ... a hoot (1905; perhaps ex US hoot, shortening of hooter, the least bit: Thornton dates it from 1839); a mostly Services' var. from early C.20 is ... two hoots in hell (F. & G.), later shortened to ... two hoots, and > gen. E.P. noted that, in C.20, pin, farthing, rap and fig have all > S.E. Also in C.20 there are further coll. variants, e.g.: ... a button; a brass farthing; a fart; a hang; a tuppenny damn (all gen.); a chip; a cent (mostly US); ... two tin fucks (and, of course, ... a fuck); and the, perhaps orig. RN, ... a monkey's fuck or toss, which, later, and in the other Services also, > simply 'couldn't care (or give) a monkey's.' In Dan Kavanagh, Duffy, 1980, occurs 'they didn't give a wine waiter's cork about it'; and in Clement & La Frenais, Going Straight, 1978, 'Don't give a rat's, me!' Bill Truck, 1822, elaborates louse to ... five skins of a louse; he also makes much use of the dial. not care a skirrach (= a scrap, an atom: EDD Cf. skerrick, the modern form).

not class. Not first-rate: coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

not cricket, it's (that's, etc.). It's unfair: 1902 (SOD), but adumbrated in 1867 (see Lewis): coll., almost imm. > S.E.

P.B.: in later C.20 usu. with a coll. flavour through humorous or joc. use, as 'absolutely (or definitely) not cricket' or 'I say, that's hardly cricket, is it, old boy!', often uttered in a 'silly ass' voice.

not (one's) day. A day on which everything seems to go perversely, almost deliberately, wrong and awry: see it's not my day!

not dead yet. Very old: a theatrical c.p. (1883; ob. by 1930) applied to 'an antique fairy' (Ware). Here fairy=an old woman.

not done. Opp. of the done thing, q.v.; 'It simply isn't done, you know'; it is bad form: coll.: since late 1870s. An upper-class counter, this.

not fit to carry guts to a bear. Worthless; very uncouth: coll.: ca. 1650–1880. Howell, Wolcot, Scott. See Apperson.

not for a pension! Not for all the money in the world: lower classes' coll.:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930. Cf.:-

not for all the tea in China! Certainly not; on no account: perhaps orig. Aus., but now, later C.20, very widespread and common: since late C.19.

not for Joseph! A scornful refusal: 1844, C. Selby (London by Night): ob. by 1900, † by 1920. Also (—1867) not for Joe!, which is extant: Galsworthy, Swan Song, 1928, 'Not if he knew it—not for Joe!' Cf. Archibald, certainly not!

not for this child. Not for me: coll.: late C.19—earlier 20. Collinson records it as a c.p., and this child (I or me) was adopted, ca. 1890, ex US.

not fucking likely! A low, emphatic negative: an intensification of the form in, e.g., see absolutely.

not fussy. Not particularly keen: Can. coll.: since ca. 1920. 'Wear your evening things tonight, Harry.'—'All right. But I'm not fussy about it.' (Leechman.)—2. Unconcerned; indifferent: coll.: since ca. 1950, at latest. 'What dress shall I wear?'—'I'm not fussy, love; wear whatever's comfortable' (the reply of any unhelpful husband). (Mrs P.B.)

not go much on (something). Not to like, not to be very keen on, it: coll.: since ca. 1920.

not greedy. In the ironic c.p., imputing greediness, (he, you, etc.) is not greedy—but (he, etc.) likes a lot!: late C.19–20. Var. ...—just likes a lot!

not guilty (, my lord). Not my fault; no, not I: c.p.: ca. 1890–1970. Ex the law courts.

not half, adv. Much, very; as in 'not half screwed, the gent was!': (mostly Cockney) ironic coll.: C.20.—2. As exclam., esp. of emphatic assent; as in "'Did you like it?"—"Not half!": id.: from ca. 1905. For both senses, see B. & P. and Lyell.

not half a one. A 'card' or 'character' ('You're not half a one!'): C.20.

not half bad. Really quite good: coll.: from late 1890s. Ex not half. 'There's a photo of my girl-friend. What do you reckon?'—'Hmm, not half bad—lucky you!' (P.B.)

not if I (a)m in orders for it! A Services' c.p. of refusal: earlier C.20. Lit., 'I wouldn't do it even if I were, in Daily Orders, instructed to do so.'

not if I can help it. 'You certainly won't—not if I can do anything to prevent you': c.p. C.20. See DCpp.

not if I know it! 'I certainly sha'n't be or do it—at least, not if I'm conscious'; 'not if I can avoid it': since ca. 1860. Hardy, 1874 (OED).

not in his pants; also not in my pocket. Can. children's replies to 'Where is (so-and-so, a person)?': since ca. 1960. (D.J. Barr, Ontario, 1969.)

not in these boots! Certainly not; I definitely will not do it!: c.p.: later C.19. (Quotations Benham.) The C.20 version, slightly ob. by 1980, is not in these trousers! (Collinson.) See esp. DCpp.

not (or not much) interested in the opposite sex. (Of either sex) homosexual: polite euph.: since ca. 1925. Christopher Buckley, Rain before Seven, 1947—the longer form.

not Jack out of doors nor yet gentleman. One not quite a gentleman; one of ambiguous status: C.17 semi-proverbial coll. John Clarke, 1639 (Apperson).

not just a pretty face (, you know)! Usu. prec. by ('I'm not...') or of a girl or woman who is intelligent; occ., joc., of men: c.p.: since mid-C.20. See DCpp.

not know from a bar of soap. Var. of next: Aus.: from—1918 (G.E. Morrison's diary, quoted in Cyril Pearl, Morrison of Peking, 1967, p. 362); still current 1970s.

not know from a crow. To have no idea what a person looks like: Aus.: since ca. 1870. (B., 1942.) Cf.:

not know (someone) from Adam. Not to know that person at all: coll.: since mid-C.18. Sessions, Feb. 1784, p. 400.

not know if (one) is coming or going. To be perplexed, bemused, befuddled or ignorant of what is happening around one: C.20: coll. >, by 1945, familiar S.E. See KNOW, in Appendix, for a large number of synonyms.

not know much about it. Not to know how to deal with; esp. of a batsman towards a bowler: coll.: C.20.

not likely! Certainly not!: coll.: since late C.19. Manchon.

not lost for it. 'Not at a disadvantage for lack of objective cheek. If Jack borrows Tony's bike without asking, he's not lost for it' (Franklyn): Cockney: since late 1940s.

not me, Chief, I'm radar (or asdic or gunnery or...). A c.p. 'used by a rating when given to do something not connected with his usual job, or if volunteers are asked for' (Granville, 1962): RN: since ca. 1946.

not me Sare (or Senew) – my brother from Gozo. 'Supposed to be the standard Maltese alibi against any charge' (R/Adml P.W. Brock, 1969): RN: late C.19–earlier 20. Sare = sir; Senew = Maltese sinjur. Cf. just the job for..., and see DCpp.

not meant. (Of a horse) not intended to win: the turf: ca. 1860–1910. H., 3rd ed.

not much! Not likely!; certainly not!: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1885; ob. in this sense by ca. 1940, superseded by:—2. A shortening of not much (you, he, etc.) didn't or don't or won't, etc.: you certainly do, did, will, etc.: always heavily ironic; esp. 'Services', in WW2, but some gen. use since then. See esp. DCpp, at not much!

not much cop. Fairly useless; rather uninteresting; coll.: since late C.19. Cf. the more definite no cop; it is, however, quite common usage to say 'It's not much cop at all', meaning 'It's of no use whatever.'

not much frocks. Socks: rhyming s. of ca. 1880–1910. Pugh (2): 'Never doin' no honest work out o' quod from the time when they was in not much frocks an' nickin' the baby's milk to when their poor ole shakin' legs got them lagged on the kinchin lay.'

not much you wouldn't! See not much!, 2.

not my end! (, it's). It's no affair of mine: RN: since ca. 1925. (Granville.) Ex US c.: see Underworld.

not nominated. Unlikely to win or to succeed: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1959.) Ex horse-racing.

not of this world. 'Superlative in either direction, of both people and things. About 15 years ago [say 1947–48] it was the thing to say; now [1962] it is used with restraint' (Julian Franklyn). It forms the orig. of out of this world, q.v. at JAZZ, in Appendix.

not off. 'A given horse was not intended to win [cf. not meant] on a given occasion. When you hear that so and so [a horse] is or was "not off", "not fancied", "on the arm", "having an easy", or simply "strong"...' (John Lawrence, in Sunday Telegraph, 13 Aug. 1961): racing: prob. since ca. 1920.

not on. Not permissible; not practicable; 'not done', q.v.: coll.: since ca. 1940. Prob. ex military j., as of an operation being 'on'.

not on your life! Certainly not!: coll. asseveration: since ca. 1880. Prof. F.E.L. Priestley, 1975, notes a Can. var. of the 1930s, not on your life, boy!, a pun on the brandname of Lifebuoy soap.

not on your Nannie (or -ny) or nannie (or -y)! Not on your life!: Anglo-Irish: since ca. 1950. 'A very common expression in Dublin is "not on your Nannie!" Has this the same origin as "not on your Nellie"?' (Dr Alan Bliss, 1961). Julian Franklyn thinks that Nannie is an arbitrary alteration of Nellie.

not on your natural! An elab. of not on your life!: C.20. There may be an allusion to imprisonment 'for the term of his natural life'.

not on your Nellie! The inevitable and very frequent shortening of not on your Nellie Duff!: coll. Nellie Duff rhymes on puff, in the sense of life (see puff, n., 4). The longer form: New Statesman, 30 Aug. 1941; the shorter, Frank Norman, Bang to Rights, 1958. See DCpp.

not on your tin-type (or tin-type)! Certainly not!: Aus., perhaps adopted ex US: ca. 1880–1940. (Christina Stead, Seven Poor Men of Sydney, 1930.) The ref. is to an old-fashioned type of photograph; presumably a 'life-portrait' was meant.

not out. See innings.

not Pygmalion likely! Not at all likely; certainly not!: cultured c.p.: since 1912, when G.B. Shaw's Pygmalion appeared, containing that so delightfully shocking phrase, not bloody likely!

not quite. Mentally deficient: mostly Aus.: since ca. 1920. For 'not quite all there'. (B.P.)

not quite quite. Not quite suitable, respectable, moral, first-class: Society: from ca. 1923.

not right. See neither right...

not rise to that fly. Not to 'bite', i.e. not to believe: coll.: later C.19–earlier 20, Cf. no flies.

not selling! See I'll bite.

not short of a bob or two. Relatively wealthy, usu. in comparison with the speaker; with sufficient funds: still in use, over ten years after decimalisation of Brit. currency (Feb. 1971). (P.B.)

not sixteen annas to the rupee is the Regular Army version of the more usual not sixteen ounces to the pound, not quite right in the head: ca. 1870–1950. Observer, 20 Sep. 1936.

not so as (or so's) you would (or you'd) notice (it). Not noticeably or I'd hardly have said (or thought) so or, simply, plain 'No!': (usu. humorous) coll.: since ca. 1920. Noël Coward, I'll Leave It to You, 1920, Act 2: "I take it that yours is a gold mine"—"Not so that you'd notice it"; A. Hunter, Gently by the Shore, 1956 (one policeman to another): "You haven't traced that taxi?"—"Not so's you'd notice it." not so daft as I'm cabbage-looking. C.20 N. Country var. of not so green...

not so dusty. Informal, semi-joc. reply to 'How are you?' (i.e. in health, or getting on): C.20. Occ. elab. by ... I don't need brushing down. (P.B.)

not so green as I'm (you're, etc.) cabbage-looking (, I'm, etc.). (I'm, etc.) not such a fool as I (etc.) appear to be: lower- and lower-middle-class c.p.: late C.19–20. Ernest Raymond, Mary Leith, 1931.

not so much lip! Be less impudent!: mid-C.19–20.

not so old nor yet so cold. A late C.17–mid-18 semi-proverbial c.p. of doubtful and perhaps dubious meaning. Swift, Polite Conversation (Apperson).

not taking a blind bit of notice. To be (sometimes deliberately) completely oblivious of something: (low) coll.: C.20. Also 'unheeding', as in 'There you go again—not taking a blind bit of notice of what I'm saying!' (P.B.)

not that I know of. Not so far as I know: coll.: from ca. 1880. Cf.:

not that you know of! A defiant expression addressed to someone in ref. to something he proposes or is about to do: coll.: ca. 1740–1820. Richardson, 'As Mr. B. offer'd to take his Hand, he put 'em both behind him.—Not that you know of, Sir!' (OED).

not the foggiest. No idea at all: see foggiest notion, and cf. not a glimmer.

not the full pound. Aus. version of shillings in the pound: since ca. 1920.

not the ghost of. Not the slightest idea: Society: mid-1930s. E.M. Delafaye, Time and Tide, 21 Sep. 1935: "Who's that marvellous woman?" "Darling, don't you know?" "Darling, I haven't the ghost of." Cf.:

not the ghost of a chance. No chance at all: coll.; 1857 (OED).

not to be sneezed at. Not to be underrated, disregarded, despised: coll.: 1813 (Scott); Nat Gould, 1891: OED.

not to speak to. Not to see or know at close quarters: joc. coll.: from ca. 1925. Richard Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934, of a motor-car, 'I've never seen one like this before—not to speak to.'

not to worry! Don't worry; there's nothing to worry about: Services' > gen. coll.: since (?) ca. 1935. Prob. merely a truncated version of 'You are not to worry'—in spite of a number of other, more elab., explanations; see esp. DCpp. In the decade around 1960 it was often qualified by unduly, as not to worry unduly, old boy! (P.B.)

not today baker (or Baker!) A lower-classes' c.p. addressed to a man paying unwelcome attentions (to a woman): 1885-ca. 1915. (Ware.) Ex housewives' reply to a baker and also ex a soldier named Baker paying undesired court to a young lady: see Baker's Light Bobs. Extant in Can. since ca. 1945, with connotation 'Oh, no! you don't catch me like that!' (Leechman).

not tonight, Josephine! A c.p. used—or said to be used—by husbands, lovers, boy friends, refusing a request for sexual intercourse: late C.19–20. Apocryphally attributed to Napoleon refusing Josephine.—2. Hence, in other circumstances, and regardless of sex; since ca. 1920. 'Care for a drink?'—'Not to-night Josephine' (B.P.) Hence the loose var. not today, Josephine!, a c.p. of emphatic refusal.

not up. Inferior; bad, very poor in quality: Aus.: since ca. 1930. B., 1943. 'Not up to standard.'

not up to her expectations. This innocent phrase has, among music-hall comedians and the lewd of the baser sort, come to have, since ca. 1927, an erotic implication.

not very how. Feeling somewhat indisposed, poss. with some vague malaise; more seriously, not very well: coll. Ex A.A. Milne, Winnie-the-Pooh, 1926; 'And how are you?' said Winnie-the-Pooh. Eeyore shook his head from side to side. 'Not very how,' he said. 'I don't seem to have felt at all how for a long time.' Camilla Raab notes the phrase's use in later C.20 Aus. Cf. howish, 1.

not very sweating. Decidedly cold: low coll.: since ca. 1940, ?earlier. (P.B.)

not what (or all) it's cracked up to be. It falls short of its reputation: since ca. 1910. Often, by a crude pun, applied to copulation.

not worth a... These similes all have a coll.—several, indeed, a s., ring. Some will be found at the key n., but for convenience I summarise Apperson's masterly forty, and add one:—not worth a bands' end, mid-C.19–20 dial.; bean, late C.13–20, but in C.19–20 only = penniless; button, C.14–20, ob.; cherry, late C.14–15; chip, C.17; cobbler's curse, late C.19–20 dial. (cf. tinker's curse); cross, C.14–15; ?hence, curse, C.19–20; dodkin, do(i)tkin, or do it, from ca. 1660, ob.; fart, C.19–20, low; farthing, C.17–20; fig, C.16–20; flea, C.15–17; fly, late C.13–20, ob.; gnat, late C.14–16; gooseberry (Shakespeare); groat, C.16–early 19; haddock, C.16; hair, early C.17; haw, late C.13–16; hen, late C.14–mid-16; herring (cf. haddock), C.13; leek or two leeks, C.14–mid-17; louse, late C.14–20, latterly dial.; needle, C.13–15; nut, late C.13–mid-14; pea or pease, late C.14–early 17; pear, C.14–16; pin, from ca. 1530, ob.; point or blue point, ca. 1540–1690; potato (Byron, ? nonce-use); rush, occ. bulrush or two rushes (cf. leek), mid-C.14–20, ob.; sloe (cf. haw), C.13–14; straw, late C.13–20; tinker's curse, mid-C.19–20, orig. dial.; rotten apple, mid-C.15–early 16; egg, C.15–19; ivy leaf, late C.14–mid-15; onion, C.16; shoebuckles, C.17; three halfpence, mid-C.17–early 18. (Apperson's not worth hiring, who talks of tiring is irrelevant; and in late C.19–20, farthing is gen. brass farthing.) P.B.: to these examples must be added: cracker, Aus. coll., C.20; crumpet, Aus., since late 1940s (cf. crumpet, 4, a dupe); cupful of cold water, Aus., C.20; hair (see above) cont. into C.20; jigger, not worthy to. Most of these are to be found at the key vv.; most of them deal with the tying of another person's shoe-laces or the cleaning of another's foot-wear, even as early as ca. 1410. See Apperson at not worthy: I go into no further detail here, for the phrases unrecorded herein are hardly unconventional.

(low) coll., mid-C.19 (see jigger, 18); light, low coll., very common, since late C.19 (Cheapjack, 1934); monkey's, since ca. 1950: sc. a monkey's fuck or toss. No such list as this can ever hope to be exhaustive; many duplications will be found in the list at not care (or give) a..., q.v. See also continental. Late arrivals are: a pinch of coon shit, Can., C.20 (Robin Leech, 1974); a wank: low: later C.20.

not you by your asking! A c.p. reply to 'Who owns this?': late C.18–early 19. Cf. the late C.19–20 grumpy retort none the better for your asking in answer to 'How are you?'

not you mamma – sidddown! A c.p. from the Ben Lyon, Bebe Daniels, Vic Oliver WW2 radio comedy series 'Hi Gang!': still occ. heard, 1970s. (P.B.) Nigel Rees, 1980, notes its occurrence as a graffito on the underside of a lavatory seat.

notch. The female pudend: low coll.: late C.18–20; ob. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. nock, q.v.—2. A pocket: Aus. low: C.20. B., 1942.

note. 'Intellectual signature, political war-cry': Society coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. Ware quotes Daily News, 18 Nov. 1884, 'Culture is the "note" of Boston.'—2. A state of affairs; a happening: since ca. 1925. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937, 'It would be a hell of a note if he was to be knocked off [i.e. arrested] to-night.' Ex music.—3. A £1 note; hence, the sum of £1: (esp. Aus.) coll.: since ca. 1870. 'Tom Collins', Such is Life, 1903.—4. In change (one's) note, to tell a (very) different story: late C.17–20: coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Ex modulated singing. Cf. synon. change one's tune.

note-blanker. See jilter.

note-shaver. A usurious bill-discounter: commercial coll.:—1902. Orig. US.

note. A notebook: Harrow School: late C.19–20. 'OXFORD -ER'.

notergal wash; occ. abbr. to n. (or N.) wash. Grubbiness: lower classes': 1857–ca. 80. Either ex no wash at all or ex Nightingale wash, Florence Nightingale having stated that a person could, if necessary, keep himself clean with a pint of water per day. Ware.

nothing. See dance, neck, and say.—2. Ironically spoken it = something very considerable: coll., mostly Aus.: late C.19–20. C.J. Dennis.—3. Used as a suffix, in direct denial of a statement, suggestion, point just made, as 'Dictionary of Slang? Dictionary, nothing! It's just an excuse for a load of academic porn!': coll.: adopted, ex US, not later than 1910. Perhaps orig.—1888, an American-Yiddish construction. Cf. my foot! (E.P.; P.B.)—4. See no nothing; you can always pick up nothing!

nothing beats cock-fighting! See beat cock-fighting.

nothing below the waist. No fool: tailors' c.p.—1928. See the quot'n at rub about.—2. A c.p., referring to girls permitting breast-fondling but no other intimacies: mostly Aus.: C.20.

nothing but. Nothing else; anything else but, anything but, anything except. Both of C.20; the former being coll., the latter catachrestic. E.g. John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934, 'As far as that poor devil's concerned... it's accident and nothing but,' i.e. nothing but an accident.

nothing but up and ride? A semi-proverbial c.p. = Why, is it all over?; is that the end? Ca. 1650–1750. Howell, 1659; Ray; Fuller, 1732. Apperson.

nothing doing! 'Certainly not!' in retort to a dubious or unattractive offer or an amorous invitation: from late 1890s. In 1927, a schoolgirl, writing on Queen Elizabeth, said, 'Philip of Spain asked her hand in marriage, but she replied: "Nothing doing!"' Ex there's nothing doing, no business being done.

nothing for nothing and very little for tuppence-ha-penny, often prec. by you get. A c.p., originated by George Bernard Shaw: since ca. 1910. But, as R.S. points out, 'Shaw's coinage is very reminiscent of Punch's "Nothink for nothink 'ere, and precious little for sixpence" (vol. 57, 1869), also used by Kipling (nautically adjusted) in The Ship that Found Herself (1895).'

nothing in my young life. Gen. prec. by he (or she) is. He means nothing to me: from ca. 1930. Orig. among the youthful and of one sex for the other. E.g. in Achmed Abdullah's story in Nash's Magazine, Feb. 1935.

nothing like leather. A c.p. applied to anything that smacks—esp. if one-sided or tententially—of the doer's or the speaker's trade (orig. that of a currier): late C.17–20. (L'Estrange, 1692; Mrs Gaskell, 1855.) In C.20, esp. from ca. 1929 and prompted by the competition of Uskide and its similars, the phrase has > a leather-sellers' and shoemakers' slogan, which has in its turn re-popularised the c.p. The anecdotal 'etymology' is that a cobbler once extolled leather for its value in fortifications. Apperson; W.

nothing on earth. See feel like nothing...

nothing on its feet, have. (Of a racehorse) to be either shoeless or to wear only light plates: Aus. sporting coll.: since ca. 1925. B., 1953.

nothing on the clock. Of an aircraft that is out of control: RAF: since ca. 1938. P.B.: strictly speaking, it means an indication of 'nought feet', or little more, on the altimeter, as in the famous 'line-shoot', 'There I was, upside down, nothing on the clock, and climbing hard!'

nothing startling, adj. (predicative only). Unimpressive: coll.: C.20. 'Oh, it's nothing startling.'

nothing to do with the case! That's a lie!: a polite c.p. dating from W.S. Gilbert's The Mikado, 14 Mar. 1885; ob., though we still, occ., hear the original, The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have nothing to do with the case, words sung with alluring vivacity by George Grossmith. Ware.

nothing to make a song (and dance) about. Nothing to make a fuss about; nothing in the least important: mid-C.19–20; the longer version, later C.20.

nothing to say for (one)self, have. To be, by habit, silent: coll.: mid-C.19–20. P.B.: also, on a particular occasion, as in 'When confronted with the evidence, he had nothing to say for himself' (sc. by way of excuse, mitigation, etc.).

nothing to write home about. Unremarkable; usual; mediocre: coll.: late C.19–20. During WW1, Aus. soldiers preferred nothing to cable home about.

notice. A contract to do a job; a commission, esp. if illegal, on that job: police: since late 1940s. G.F. Newman, Sir, You Bastard, 1970.—2. See not so as you'd notice.

notice to quit. Danger of dying, esp. from ill-health: from ca. 1820: c. until ca. 1850, then coll.; ob. in later C.20. Pierce Egan, Life in London, 1821, has receive notice to quit, 'be destined to die shortly', and Lyell, 1931: have notice to quit, 'to have a fatal illness and to know that it is fatal'.

noticing, adj. Given to noticing everything; observant (and censorious): non-cultured coll.: C.20. Raymond Postgate, Verdict of Twelve, 1940.

notion. A term or a custom peculiar to Winchester College: —1891 (Wrench).

notionable. Sensible: shrewd: coll., mostly Cockneys': from ca. 1890. Pugh, 'Not a notionable idea to his conversation from beginning to end.' Contrast the Wiltshire notionable, having an inclination for something.

Not and Dots, or Notts and Dotts. Nottingham (Notts) and Derby Regiments: army: late C.19—earlier 20.

notamiser. A dissecting surgeon: ca. 1825–60. (Smeaton, 1828.) Ex atomy.

Nottingham Hosiers, the. The Sherwood Foresters: army nickname: early C.20. (John Aye, Humour in the Army, 1931.) Ex one of Nottingham's major trades. Cf.:-

Nottingham Hussars, the. The 45th Regiment of Foot (later 1st Bn Sherwood Foresters): army nickname: ca. 1830–80. (F. & G.) See also Old Stubborns.

Nottingham lamb. See lamb, 1.

nottub. A button: back s.: late C.19–20. Ware.

Notty. A familiar and affectionate name for Nottingham, used by, e.g., its university students: C.20. (P.B.)

nought —. (In) the year nineteen hundred and (any figure from 1 to 9 inclusive): coll.: from 1902 or perhaps 1903. 'Taffrail', 'The little 3000-ton Britisher, built in "nought five", carried only twelve 4-inch quickfirers.' See also nineteen oh...

nought feet, at. (Of flying) very low: RAF coll.: WW2 and since. Cf. nothing on the clock.

nouns! A C.16–18 oath=(God's) wounds; coll. Earliest as Cock's or Od's nouns, nouns by itself being unrecorded in print before 1608. OED.

nourishment. See sit up and take...

nous (pron. nouse). Intelligence; esp. common sense: academic s. >, by 1890, S.E.: 1706, Baynard, 'A Demo-brain'd Doctor of more Note than Nous' (OED); 1729, Pope, who, as still sometimes happens, writes it in Gr. characters (νοῦς); Barham; Reade. 'Curiously common in dial.' (W.). Ex the Gr. philosophic sense of mind or intellect, as in Cudworth, 1678.—2. App., ca. 1820–40, it=uprightness. Bee; therefore London fashionable s.—3. Ex sense 1, the rare nous, to understand: from ca. 1858; ob. H., 1st ed.

nous-box. The head: 1811 (Lex. Bal.): s. >, ca. 1880, coll.; ob. Ex prec.

nouse. Wolcot's and H.'s spelling—which has no justification—of nous, q.v.

nouvelle. New; stylish: smart society: ca. 1815–25. Passim in Boxiana, 1818–24; castigated by Jon Bee in 1823. An aping of the French nouveau, novel, nouvelle, new.

nova. Nine, gen. in sums of money: from ca. 1890, but much less gen. than nobba, q.v.: Parlyaree. (P.H. Emerson, 1893.) Ex It. nova.

Nova Scotian pump. 'A bucket with a line attached to draw water from overside, referring to the hard work in Nova Scotian ships': nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. the next three entries.

Nova Scotian soda. Sand and canvas supplied, instead of soda, for cleaning paint-work: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. Nova Scotian towing.

Nova Scotian sun-(light). The moon-(light): nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) A moonlight night being, in a hard-worked Nova Scotian ship, considered as opportune for some job, by the men deemed unnecessary.

Nova Scotian towing. Towing a boat with the dories out forward, to save expense of a tug': Grand Banks fishermen's: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. the prec. three entries.

novelty, the, the female pudend, C.18—early 20, may be euph. S.E.

November, the. The Manchester November Handicap: racing coll.: C.20.

novi. (Pl. novis.) A new boy: several English Public Schools': late C.19–20. Ex L. novi (homines), the newcomers, the new-rich. P.B.: at Tonbridge, the i is long.

now. Really, truly, indeed: coll.: mid-C.19–20. E.g. R. Keverne, Menace, 1935, "I damned near went to my own funeral." "Did you now?" said Mr. Harris with zest.'

now can you? A proletarian c.p. of ca. 1914+; a ref. to a divorce case in which a witness had claimed to overhear these words issuing from a bedroom, 'Now can you (get it in)?': rude boys called it after girls. (Granville, 1969.)

now he (or she, etc.) tells me! When it's already too late. Based on a Hebraism, it has become a Gentile c.p.: since mid-C.20. See Dcpp.

now I've seen everything! An ironical, usu. good-natured c.p. of mock admiration or wonder: since the early 1950s. Cf. this I must hear (or see).

now, Mrs Rowbottom, if you please! I'm ready when you are: a Can. c.p.: since ca. 1930. Leechman, 'Of anecdotal origin'.

now or never. Clever: rhyming s.:—1909 (Ware).

now she knows all about it. See knows, 2.

now she's talking. RN c.p. 'said of a ship's boat as she begins to move through the water which begins to slap her strakes' (Sailors' Slang): late C.19–20.

now tell me the one about the three bears! Now tell me another (tale!): a c.p. of polite scepticism or boredom: esp. in Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B.P.)

now then! Usu. said sharply to a child one has just struck: Cockney coll.: since ca. 1860.

now then, me lucky lads! A workman's ironic c.p. in ref. to work: since ca. 1910. Ex the showmen's, three-card trickers', racing tipsters' invitation.

now then, only another nineteen shillings and eleven pence three farthings to make up the pound before I begin the service. A military c.p., from ca. 1908, by 'anyone desirous of raising a loan or of starting a "bank"' (B. & P.).

now then, shoot those arms out! You wouldn't knock the skin off a rice-pudding! A drill-sergeants', esp. a physical-training instructors', c.p.: from ca. 1910. (B. & P.) Cf. box kippers, q.v.

now there's a funny thing – there is a funny thing! A domestic c.p. of late C.19–20, applied to anything suspicious, i.e. 'funny peculiar, not funny ha-ha'. Used by the comedian Max Miller. See esp. DCpp.

now we shall be sha'n't. A joc. perversion of the next proletarian c.p.: Dec. 1896+. Ware.

now we sha'n't be long. It's all right!: a c.p. of ca. 1895–1915. Daily Telegraph, 8 Sep. 1896; Maugham, Liza of Lambeth, 1897, "Now we sha'n't be long!" she remarked. Ware derives it from 'railway travellers' phrase when near the end of a journey'.

now we're busy! A c.p. implying action: 1868: ob. Ware, 'Also an evasive intimation that the person spoken of is no better for his liquor, and is about to be destructive': a c.p. dating from the 1880s; † by 1920.

now what have you (got) to say for yourself? A c.p. of joc. greeting: since ca. 1920.

now you'll think I'm awful! A feminine c.p. used 'after making an uncharitable remark or after spreading a rumour' (B.P., 1974): very widely employed, orig. as a cliché: late C.19–20. See DCpp.

now you're asking! A var. of 'That's asking!': ca. 1900–15. Leonard Merrick, Peggy Harper, 1911.

now you're talking! See talk, v., 3.

nowhere, be. To be badly beaten, hopelessly out-distanced: 1755. From ca. 1820, often fig. In gen. use from ca. 1850; in C.20, coll. (OED). J. Greenwood, 1869, 'The brave Panther when he has once crossed the threshold of that splendid damsel... is, vulgarly speaking, nowhere.' Contrast the US sense, utterly at a loss, completely ignorant.

nowheres. See somewheres.

nowler. A sheep that, its fleece covered with burrs and dirt, is hard to shear: Aus. shearers' since ca. 1910. (B., 1943.) Origin? Perhaps 'n'owler = an 'owler = a howler, a sheep that complains at the unavoidable tugging. (Julian Franklyn's suggestion.)

nowt. 'A pejorative heard in the North of England for a worthless person' (Petch, 1969): orig. and still dial. for naught, but also, since ca. 1930 (or earlier), coll. for a 'non-person'.—2. See there's nowt so queer as folks.

Nozmo (properly Nosmo). 'Inevitable' nickname for men surnamed King: mostly Services': mid-C.20. (L.A.) Ex that comedian who, at a loss for a pseudonym, took inspiration from a 'no smoking' notice.

nozzex. 'New entry boy at the training establishment, HMS Ganges, Shotley, near Harwich. These boys have been called nozzers, and their mess Nozzer's Lane, since the establishment opened, because the petty officer in charge was nicknamed "Nozey"' (Granville): RN: earlier C.20.

nozzle, n. The nose: mainly pugilistic: 1755 (Johnson: EDD); Grose, 1st ed.; Meredith, in Harry Richmond, 'Uncork his claret... straight at the nozzle.' Ex S.E. sense, a small spout, etc., the word itself being a diminutive of nose, nozzle, v.t. To shrink (gen. clothes): tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Prob. ex steaming-process.—2. Hence, to pawn: also tailors': from ca. 1875.

nozzler. A blow, esp. a punch, on the nose: mostly pugilistic: 1828 (OED).

nth, esp. to the nth (or nth plus one or 1). To the utmost; loosely, exceedingly: 1852, Smedley, 'Minerva was... starched to the nth' (OED): coll. till ca. 1910, then S.E.: largely, university and scholastic. Less gen. (except in S.E., i.e. lit. usage), nth power, nth degree.

nub. The neck: c.: ca. 1670–1830. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Extant, though very ob., in East Anglian dial. as the nape of the neck (EDD). Perhaps cognate with dial. sense, knob; but cf. the app. earlier v., to hang—2. (? hence,) the gallows: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E.—3. Copulation: c.: C.18–early 19. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) ?ex dial. sense, a protuberance: cf., however, the C.18–20 dial. v. (see e.g. Grose's Provincial Glossary), to jog or shake.—4. A husband: c. > low s.: late C.18–19. (H., 2nd ed.) Either ex prec. sense or ex an hub.

nub, v.t. To hang (a person) by the neck: c. of ca. 1670–1840. (Head; Fielding.) ?origin, the earliest dates of n. and v. being somewhat hazy.

nubbies. Female breasts: Aus. low: late C.19–20. Cf. bubbies. nubbing, vbl n. Hanging: c.: ca. 1670–1840. Coles; implied in Head's nubbing-cheat. B.E., Grose.—2. Sexual intercourse: mid-C.18–early 19: c. Grose. Ex nub, n., 3.

nubbing-cheat; occ., in C.19, -chit. The gallows: c.: ca. 1670–1840, then only as an archaism. (Head, B.E., Grose, Maher, ca. 1812 (nubbing-chit), Ainsworth.) Cf. nubbling-chit. See cheat, chete. F. & H. gives a brave synonymy: e.g. Beilby's ball-room, crap, hanging-cheat, (the) queer-em, (the) stifler, Tyburn cross, wooden-legged mare.

nubbing-cove. The hangman: c.: mid-C.17–early 19. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose.) See nubbing, 1.

nubbing-ken. The sessions-house: c. of mid-C.17–early 19. Coles; B.E.; Grose.

nubbling-chit. A corrupt, rare var. of nubbing-chit (see nubbing-cheat): C.19 only. Martin & Aytoun in their picturesque Bon Gaultier Ballads, 1841.

nubbly. Smutty: late C.19–20; ob. Galsworthy, The Silver Spoon, 1926, 'He spent some time in making a list of what George Forsyte would have called the "nubbly bits".' An extension of sense ex S.E. nubbly, knobby.

nucloid. A reserve ship with only a nucleus crew: RN officers': ca. 1890–1910. Bowen.

nuddiken. The head: low: C.19–early 20. (H., 2nd ed.) Also noddleken. Cf. dial. noddle-box.

nuddy, in the. Naked: Aus., since ca. 1945 (B., 1953); by ca. 1960, at latest, common coll. also in Britain. Ex 'in the nude'. Cf. nod, adj.

nudge nudge. See wink wink...

nudged. '(Of a ship) slightly damaged by bomb shell or torpedo' (B., 1943); R Aus. N; 1940–5. By meiosis. 'In The Dam Busters (1951), Paul Brickhill quotes W/Cdr Tait (CO 617 Squadron) as saying, when returning from the raid that finally sank the Tirpitz: "We gave her a hell of a nudge, anyway"' (H.R. Spencer).

nudger (gen. little nudger). The penis: raffish joc.: heard late 1960s. Prob. ex a nursery term. (P.B.)

nudie, n. 'A film featuring nudity as its main attraction' (R.S. cites the Observer film review, 30 June 1974): since ca. 1970. Hence, adj., as in 'I want to get rid of the nudie image so we can be taken as a serious singing group' (Andrew Duncan, 'Undumb Blondes', in Telegraph Sunday mag., 23 Dec. 1979). (P.B.)

nuff. Enough, esp. in to have had one's nuff, to have had enough, i.e. more than enough, drink; to be drunk: military: ca. 1880–1910.

nuff ced (more gen. said). A comic perversion or var. of enough said (see also n.c.). An early example occurs in John Brougham's farce Po-Ca-Hon-Tas, performed in New York, 1855; at I, i, is 'Nuff said, old top, I'll go it blind!'

N

nuffer. A handkerchief: childish coll.: later C.20. (Douglas Clark, Roast Eggs, 1981.) ?ex childish pron. of snuffle.

nug. An endearment, gen. with my (dear): c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E. Ex:-

nug, v. To fondle; to coit with, though occ. v.i. (F. & H.) The word is very rare in print, but it is implied in nugging-dress and -house, qq.v. C. of late C.17—mid-19. ?a corruption of nudge: cf. dial. nug, to nudge, jog with the elbow, knock or strike (EDD).

nugget. A thick-set young beast (esp. heifer or calf): Aus., mostly rural: from ca. 1850: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Mundy's Antipodes, 1852 (OED). Often a good nugget (Morris). —2. Hence, a short, thick-set person: Aus. coll.: from ca. 1890. Often as a nickname. This usage is paralleled in late C.19–20 Eng. dial. Ex shape. Cf. nuggety, q.v.—3. Any boot-polish: Aus. coll.: from ca. 1910. Ex the specific brand of boot-polish.—4. A very attractive girl, of whom it is hoped that she is not 'as good as gold': Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.

nugget, v. (Gen v.t.) To appropriate (usu. one's neighbour's) unbranded calves: Queensland s. >, ca. 1900, gen. Aus. s. Mrs C. Praed, 1885 (OED); R.M. Praed, 1887. Ex nugget, n., 1. (Whence vbl n., nuggeting: 1887.)

nuggets. Money, esp. cash: coll.: from ca. 1890; ob. Milliken, 1892.

nuggety. Thick-set, esp. if short: Aus.: from ca. 1885: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. (Daily News, 9 Apr. 1887.) Ex nugget, n., 1.

nugging, vbl n. Sexual intercourse: late C.17—mid-19 c. Mainly in next four.

nugging-cove. A fornicator: C.18—mid-19 c. Ex nug, v., q.v.

nugging-dress. An odd or exotic dress; esp. a loose dress affected by, and characteristic of, harlots: late C.17—mid-19: c. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

nugging-house. A brothel: c.: mid-C.18—mid-19. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex nug, v.

nugging-ken. The same: c.: mid-C.18—early 19. Ex nug, v.

nuke, n. A nuclear missile: since ca. 1960 or earlier: military s. > j., prob. ex US. (Len Deighton, Yesterday's Spy, 1975.) Hence, also anti-nuke, n. and adj., (one who is) opposed to the use of nuclear weapons or energy (Time Out, 9 May 1980).—2. A nuclear-powered submarine: RN: later C.20. 'Could he handle the clockwork in a nuke?' = operate the engineering/electronics in such a vessel.—3. See newk.

nuke, v. To attack with a nuclear weapon: id. Daily Telegraph mag., 13 Apr. 1973.

nukky. An occ., mostly Cockney, var. of nookie, -y. Bill Naughton, Alfie Darling, 1970.

null. To strike, beat, thrash: c. of ca. 1780—1870. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex S.E. annul.

null-groper. One who sweeps the streets in search of nails, old iron, etc.: c. of ca. 1820—60. (Egan's Grose.) Prob. nail-groper perverted.

Nulli Secundus Club. The Coldstream Guards: army officers': since ca. 1880. The motto of the Coldstream Guards is "Nulli Secundus" [second to none], which they have upheld most vigorously since 1660; they are sometimes known as "The Nulli Secundus Club" (Carew).

nulling-cove. A boxer: ca. 1810—1910: c. >, ca. 1850, pugilistic s. (Vaux.) Ex null, q.v.

Numans. Newgate: C.17 c. (Rowlands.) I.e. New + MANS (q.v. in Appendix). Later Newmans, Newman's, q.v.

number. A bedroom in hotel or large boarding-house: coll.: C.20. (OED Sup.) Ex the fact that it has one.—2. A person: adopted, ca. 1944, from US servicemen; ob. Ngaiio Marsh, Swing, Brother, Swing, 1949.—3. A job, a post, employment: orig., mostly Services', perhaps esp. army: since early C.20. 'Quite a nice, cushy (little) number, really'. (P.B.) See square number.—4. In have (someone's) number, to have someone sized up or potentially mastered: since ca. 1910. Ex telephony.—5. See little number; make (one's) number; opposite number.—6. In his number has gone up, he has been killed: army: WW1. (Manchon.) Ex turf j.—7. As in 'Too many people were using the "so bad it's good" number as a way of avoiding making any judgments about quality at all' (Peter York, Style Wars, 1980). Perhaps ex number as a song or music-hall turn. (P.B.)

number-catcher. A checker of goods wagons: railwaymen's: since ca. 1920. (Railway.) Cf. number-snatcher, and-number dummy (or grabber). A yard clerk: Can. railroadmen's:—1931.

number eight hat. 'A highly intelligent, usually intellectual, individual' (Claiborne): since late 1940s; ob. Ex the superstition that a large head connotes a large brain.

Number Nine or 9. The Fleet Prison: c. of ca. 1820—50. (Bee.) It was situated at No. 9, Fleet Market.—2. Occ. abbr. of next, whence also:—3. (Number nines.) Prunes: since ca. 1917. Reputed to be purgative—as, indeed, they are.

number nine (or 9) king. A medical officer: military: 1915; ob. Ex number nine, the standard purgative pill, given to all and sundry. See B. & P. at sick, p. 161. Cf. the doctor (q.v.) in the game of House.

number nip. The female pudend: low: C.19—early 20.

number of (one's) mess, lose the. See mess, n., 4.

number on it, have (one's). See name on it.

number one. One's self or one's own interests, esp. in look after, or take care of, number one. C.18—20: S.E. until C.19, then coll. T. Pitt, Diary, 1704—5 (OED); Dickens; Judy, 29 July 1871, 'If a man doesn't take care of No. 1, he will soon have 0 to take care of.' Cf. one, 1.—2. Urination; occ., a chamber-pot: children's: late C.19—20. Manchon, 'I want to do number one.' Cf. number two, 1.—3. The cat-o'-nine-tails; punishment therewith: prison j. and prison c.:—1889; ob. Cf. number two, 2.—4. The first lieutenant: RN: since late C.19. (Goode-nough, 1901.) Also used as a nickname: witness 'Taffrail'. See quot'n at pilot, 1.—5. A close crop of hair, according to Service regulation: military coll.: WW1 + F. & G.—6. (cf. 3.) 'No. 1 diet, with close confinement' (George Ingram, Stir, 1933): prisoners' c.: from ca. 1920.—7. A boat owned by the boatman that works it: canal-men's: late C.19—20. L.T.C. Rolt, Narrow Boat, 1944.—8. See A1, 2; number ones; before you ...; your number's ...; and:- number one - ten - ninery-nine. 'The various degrees in the state of a soldier's feelings in Korea are seldom expressed in the well-worn favourites of World War II. He is rarely "browned off", "cheesed" or "brassed". No, sir. He's just "number one" to "number ten" and occasionally he may be "number ninety-nine" or "number hava no"' (Iddiwah, July 1953): United Nations troops fighting in the Korean War of the early 1950s. For hava no, see that entry above.

number one boy. The Chinese chief steward of a Service mess, or similar establishment, regardless of his age: orig. China coast; since 1949 only Hong Kong: C.20. (P.B.)

number one (or 1) chow-chow. (Of a meal) exceptionally good; (of an object), utterly worthless: Anglo-Indian coll.: —1882 (Y. & B.) See CHOW-CHOW, in Appendix.

number one (or 1), London, be at. To have the menstrual discharge: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Cf. number one, 2.

number one piecee, adj. First Class: pidgin English: late C.19—20. Used by the RN, esp. on 'China-side'. (Granville.) Cf. number one chow-chow.

number ones. A seaman's best uniform: RN coll.: since early C.19. Moe cites F. Marryat, Frank Milnamay, 1829. P.B.: hence, the best uniforms of 'Other Ranks' in the Army and RAF: coll. > j. Short for number one dress. Contrast:- number seventeens. 'Any unofficial rig [clothing] of the day, for dirty work (Patrol Service slang)' (Granville): RN: 1940 + . Ironic, in ref. to the numbers designating the various official 'rigs' for sailors.

number six. See Newgate knocker.

number sixes. See sixes.

number(-)snatcher. A 'checker of goods wagons' (Railway, 2nd): C.20. Cf. number-catcher.

number three. Sexual relief, whether normal or self-induced: low: C.20. A development ex number one, 2, and next, 1.

number two. Defecation: nursery: late C.19—20. Cf. number one, 2.—2. The birch: prison j. and prison c.: from ca. 1885; ob. Cf. number one, 3.

number up, have (one's). To be in trouble; dead: military: C.20.—2. (One's) number is up, however, = he won't live (being destined for death) or, less often, he is sure to be detected: the former a gen. coll.; the latter, military s.: C.20. B. & P., p. 338.

numbers. As the numbers, the red light district of Dunkirk; army: WW1.—2. In by numbers, in an orderly, indeed somewhat too 'regimental', manner: military coll.: late C.19–20. Ex drilling by numbers, esp. instructions to recruits.—3. See consult the book...; your number's...

numbers game, the. In argument, the use of statistics instead of principles: Civil Servants', politicians', businessmen's: since early 1970s. Ex US numbers game, a form of betting. (Sir Edward Playfair, 1977.) See play the numbers game.

numbers the waves, he. (Other persons, rare.) He wastes his time or engages in an impossible task: late C.18–mid-19 semi-proverbial c.p. Ray, 1813 (Apperson).

numms, numms. A dickey; a clean collar on a dirty shirt: late C.17–early 19 c. B.E., Deane Swift on Dean Swift, 1755 (OED); Grose, 1st ed. ?etym.

nun. A courtesan; a harlot: from ca. 1770, ob.: S.E. >, ca. 1810, coll. or s. (Foote, Egan.) Perhaps much earlier: see nunnery. Cf. abbess, and contrastnun in a knocking-shop, like a. Incongruous, inappropriate, and utterly out-of-place: Lancashire: late C.19–early 20. (Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976.) Cf. synon. like a whore at a christening; like a pork chop in a synagogue.

nunky (occ. nunkey); nunks. Coll. forms of † S.E. nuncle, an uncle: resp. late C.18–20; from ca. 1840 (ob.) Charlotte Smith, 1798, 'Old nunky looks upon you as still belonging to him' (OED); The Comic Almanack, 1841, 'Come, nunks, one game at Blindman's-buff.'—2. A Jew more or less a money-lender: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon). Cf. uncle, q.v.—3. Also, a pawnbroker, whether Jewish or not: mostly Cockneys': C.20.

nunnery. A brothel: late C.16–20; ob.: S.E. till ca. 1780, then s. (Nashe; Fletcher, in The Mad Lover, 1617 (OED); Grose, 1st ed.; Egan.) Cf. nun, q.v.

numquam. A very dilatory messenger: c.: ca. 1560–1620. (Awdelay.) Ex L. numquam, never. Cf. S.E. numquid, an inquisitive person.

nantee (or-y). An occ. var. of nantee.

nunyare. Edibles; a meal: Parlyaree: from ca. 1855. A corruption of mungaree, q.v. Ex It. mangiare, to eat. Mayhew, London Labour, 3, 201.

nuppence. No money: from ca. 1885; ob. Ex no pence after tuppence.

nurdle. See TIDDLYWINKS, in Appendix.

Nuremberg egg. A watch, egg-shaped: C.16–early 18: coll. Invented there.

nurk. Alternative spelling of nerk, q.v.

nurry, n. The head: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) Perhaps derived ex nurral, E. Anglian dial, for 'the neck' (EDD). Cf.:-

nurry, v. 'To hit on the head, as in "She nurried the Noah's Ark"' (M.T.): id.

nurse, n. An old man's maid-cum-mistress: low coll.: C.19–20; ob.—2. A capable first lieutenant 'nursing' a figure-head captain: naval coll.: ca. 1800–40. Smyth.—3. In be at nurse, to be in the hands of (esp. dishonest) trustees: ca. 1780–1840. (Grose.) Cf. nurse, v., 2, q.v. Gen. of the estate.

nurse, v. To cheat (gen. out of): either c. or s.: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1st ed.—2. (Of trustees) to eat up property: from ca. 1858. (H., 1st ed.) Cf. nurse, 3, q.v.—3. To cheat a rival company's omnibus of passengers by keeping close to it; gen. by having one bus before, one behind: 1858: omnibus drivers' and ticket-collectors'.—4. To hinder a horse in a race by hemming it in with slower ones: the turf: from ca. 1892. P.H. Emerson, 1893.

nursed in cotton, be. To be brought up very, or too, tenderly: late C.18–mid-19 coll. Ray, 1813 (Apperson).

nursemaid, n. 'A long-distance escort for bombers' (Jackson): RAF: 1939+.

nursery. A race for two-year-olds: the turf: from ca. 1882. Coll. till C.20, then S.E.—2. As the nursery, the female pudend: low: C.19–early 20.—3. A training station for flying personnel: RAF coll.: since ca. 1935; ob. by 1945. (H. & P.) Ex cricket nurseries.—4. As the Nursery, the Intelligence's, esp. the political agents' (the men in the field) training school: espionage: later C.20. John Le Carré, The Honourable Schoolboy, 1977.

nursery business. The playing of successive cannons: billiards: from ca. 1890. (As a series of cannons made by keeping the balls close together, nursery is S.E.)

nursery noodle. A very fastidious critic: literary: ca. 1900–14. Ware.

nursery slopes, 'the easy targets allotted to beginners on bombing tests' (H. & P.). Ex skiing.—2. Hence (the singular is used in both 1 and 2), any easy target: like sense 1, RAF: since ca. 1939.

nurse's vail. A nurse's petticoats wet with urine: low: C.19–20; ob. by 1890; virtually † by 1920. Punning vail, a gratuity.

nursie, nursie. A coll., mainly children's, form of nurse, n.: from ca. 1810. OED.

nursie stories. Sentimental and romantic pulp-fiction in which the heroines are hospital nurses: coll., mainly book-trade, derogatory: later C.20. Cf. lovey-dovey stuff. (P.B.)

nursing, n. An exceptionally slow collecting of fares: London busmen's: since ca. 1920.

nursing it. (Of a pregnant woman) holding her arms folded over her belly: lower-classes' col.: C.20.

nurtle. Sexual intercourse: Aus. low: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. myrtle.

nut, n. The head: 1858, Mayhew, 'Jack got a cracker [a heavy punch] on his nut.' In mid- and later C.20, usu. in violent action to do with the head, as in the Mayhew quot'n; give (someone) the nut: "That's right, Paddy, give him the nut!" I was trying to pull his head back by the hair to hit him in the face with my head' (Brendan Behan, Borstal Boy, 1958—where occurs also the var. give (him) the loaf of bread): Anglo-Irish: C.20. Cf. the v., 3. A var. of give ... is put the nut on: since ca. 1920. (Petch).—2. Hence, brains, intelligence: 1888, J. Runciman; ob. by later C.20, except in, e.g. use your nut! = think! Cf. the v., 4, and see work (one's) nut.

—3. Hence, off (one's) nut, crazy: 1873, Miss Braddon (OED), and:—4. Off (one's) nut, in liquor, drunk: low: later C.19. H., 2nd ed., 1860.—5. A person: coll.: 1887, Manville Fenn, 'He is a close old nut' (OED); ob. by 1930. Esp. an old nut; cf. a silly chump (Ware). Survives, later C.20, in a tough nut, a 'hard case'; cf.:-6. A 'tough' youth: Aus. s. or coll.: 1882, A.J. Boyd, 'He is a bully, a low, coarse, blasphemous black-guard—what is termed a regular Colonial nut'; ob. (OED.) Cf. the Staffordshire dial. sense, a hard-headed fellow, and the Yorkshire one: a troublesome, disobedient boy (EDD).

—7. Whence, a dare-devil: Aus.: from ca. 1895. (Morris.) Esp. the nut.—8. A dandy, esp. if in a cheap way: from late 1903; ob., except as knut, k-nut. Cf. filbert, q.v. Prob. ex nutty, 3, q.v.—9. A drink, esp. of liquor: low: from ca. 1898; ob. by 1930. Cf. crack a nut, q.v.—10. A present; an action designed to please: c. or low s.: ca. 1810–50. (Vaux.) Cf. nut, v., 1.—11. As the Nut, the Keppel's Head inn at Portsmouth: RN:—1891. Ex sense 1.—12. Rent for stall or sideshow or stand at a fair: Can. carnival s.: C.20. Adopted ex US.

Alexander McQueen's explanation is, 'because rent is a nut to be cracked (paid) before reaching kernel (income).'—13. A horse difficult to break in: Aus. rural: late C.19–20. Ex senses 6 and 7.—14. A 'nut case' (q.v.), a mental case: s. > coll.: adopted ex US ca. 1944; W. & F. record its use for 'an eccentric' so early as 1914. In 1960s and 70s popular phrases, adopted ex US, were 'what do think I am or what do you take me for—some kind of nut?’=do you think I’m crazy, or stupid, enough to do (whatever it is)?, and ‘what are you—some kind of nut or something?’=(loosely) your suggestion is absurd.—15. In be a nut at, to be extremely good at (e.g. a game): from ca. 1900. Cf. sense 8, of which it is perhaps the orig.—16. A fan, a devotee, one who is ‘nutty’ or ‘nuts’ about something, esp. concerning a particular sport or hobby: later C.20. Cf. sense 14.—17. See do (one’s) nut; sweet as a nut.

nut, v. To curry favour with; to court, to ogle: ca. 1810–90: ?orig. c. (Vaux.) Cf. nut, n., 10, and nuts, 1.—2. To punch on the head, gen. v.t.: boxing: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex nut, n., 1.—3. To butt (someone) with the head: low: since ca. 1920. (London Evening News, 22 Nov. 1946.) Cf. synon. knob, v., 1, and see nut, n., 1.—4. To think, to ‘use one’s nut’: Aus.: C.20. Dal Stevens, Jimmy Brockett, 1951, ‘I did a bit of hard nutting.’ Cf. nut out and work (one’s) nut, qq.v.

nut case. A mental case or patient (a ‘nut’): adopted, ca. 1959, ex US. Xenia Field, Under Lock and Key, 1963, ‘I’m not a nut case.’ Cf. nutter, q.v.

nut-crack. Nut-crackers (the instrument): from ca. 1570: S.E. till C.19, then low coll. SOD.

Nut-Crack Night. Hallowe’en: coll. (C.18–19) and dial. (C.18–20; ob). Brand, 1777. Because nuts were, in C.18, flung into the fire. OED.

nut-cracker. The head; hence a sharp blow thereon: boxing: later C.19—early 20. Ex nut, n., 1.

nut-crackers. A pillory: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.: Grose, 1st ed.) ?ex the shape.—2. The fists: boxing: later C.19—early 20. Ex nut-cracker.—3. A curved nose and protuberant chin: C.19—earlier 20 coll. Ex S.E. nut-cracker as adj. describing ‘the appearance of nose and chin ... produced by the want of teeth’ (OED).—4. The teeth: coll.: C.19–20.—5. The 3rd Regiment of Foot (‘The Old Buffs’): army: ‘from the Peninsular War, and, according to tradition, with special reference to the Buffs at Albuera [1811]’ (F. & G.); Chambers’s Journal, 23 Dec. 1871.

nut-cut. Roguish, mischievous: ca. 1860–1914. H., 3rd ed. (‘Anglo-Indian’). Cf. nut, n., 6.

nut ‘em. Mostly as nutted ‘em!, an exclamatory c.p. when the pennies turn up two heads in ‘two-up’: Aus. and NZ: C.20. Ex nut, n., 1, the head.

nut-house. A hospital, a wing, a ward set aside for the (temporarily) insane; an asylum for the insane: adopted, ca. 1925, from from US. ‘They’re nuts!’ Norman Lindsay, Saturdee, 1933, ‘“Whose old Aunt Beadle had to go to the nut-house?” roared Bill.’—2. As the Nuthouse, the RN auxiliary hospital at Barrow Gurney: RN: WW2. P.B.: many establishments have been awarded this sobriquet—and some were not necessarily mental hospitals! Sense 2 is therefore merely an example.

nut out. To consider: work out; devise: Services’: from ca. 1908; by late 1930s (? earlier) also Aus. F. & G., ‘I’ve got to nut it out’; D’Arcy Niland, 1955. Cf. nut-worker, and work (one’s) nut, q.v., earlier variants.

nut-rock, adj. and n. (A) bald (person): lower classes’:—1935 A ‘nut’ bare as a rock.

nut-rule. An en rule: printers’: C.20. (With thanks to Mr D.B. Gardner, 1971.)

nut screws washers and bolts. A mainly s. pun, popular among low-minded youths, mid-C.20; said to be the headline over a newspaper story of the sex-maniac who fled after raping some laundresses. (P.B.)

nut(-)splitter. A machinist: Can. railroadmen’s:—1931. Cf. Brit. Services’ grub-spoiler, a cook.

nut-worker. A schemer: a shirker; a malingerer: army: from ca. 1906 (F. & G.); † by 1950. Ex work (one’s) nut, q.v.; see also nut out.

nutcracker(s). See nut-cracker(s).

nutmeg-grater. A beard: mid-C.19. Sinks, 1848.

nutmegs. The human testicles: low coll.: C.17–20; ob. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. nuts, n., 2, and apples.

nuts, n. A delightful thing, practice, experience: from ca. 1589 (Apperson): S.E. until ca. 1780, then coll. until ca. 1850, then s.; ob. Fletcher, Cotton, Lamb, Milliken. (OED.) Almost an adj., as in Grose, 1st ed., ‘It was nuts for them; i.e. it was very agreeable to them.’ (A particularly good example occurs in Head & Kirkman, 1674, ‘It was honey and nuts to him to tell the guests,’ Apperson.) Prob. ex C.16 nuts to, an enticement to, ‘recorded in a letter from Sir Edward Stafford to Burghley (1587)’ (W). Cf. nut, v., 2, q.v.—2. The (gen. human) testicles: low coll.: late C.18–20. Perhaps suggested by the † S.E. sense, the glans penis.—3. Barcelona Tramway shares: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1900. Ex Barcelona nut.—4. In for nuts (always with a negative, actual or implied), at all: coll. W. Pett Ridge, in Minor Dialogues, 1895; The Times, 25 Oct. 1899, ‘They can’t shoot for nuts’ (OED). In C.20, often elab. for toffee-nuts.

nuts, adj. Crazy: orig. (ca. 1905), US; anglicised, thanks mainly to ‘the talkies’, in 1929. Ex nut, n., 3, q.v.

nuts! Nonsense: Can. adopted ca. 1940, ex US; by ca. 1945, also Brit.—2. Also as nuts to (name or pronoun), exclam. of defiance, as ‘Well, nuts to them and their orders—I’m going anyway!’: low coll.: since mid-C.20: ex sense 1. Both senses ex nuts, n., 2; cf. balls (=testicles) in this sense. (P.B.)

nuts and bolts; nuts and bolts with awning. Resp., a stew; a meat pie: RN: C.20. Granville.

nuts and bolts man. One who has admirable practical skills: coll.: since ca. 1960s. ‘We’ll leave the actual planning to old Smudger. He’s a good nuts and bolts man.’ (P.B.)

nuts on or upon, be. To set high value upon; be devoted to; fond of or delighted with (person or thing): 1785 (Grose): on not before ca. 1840; upon rare after ca. 1870. Punch, 1882 (vol. 72, 177), ‘I am nuts upon Criminal Cases, Perlice News, you know, and all that.’—2. Hence, to be very clever or skilful at: from ca. 1880.—3. Hence, to detest: 1890 (Punch, Feb. 22). Ex cleverness or skill directed against some person or thing. Cf.—4. Esp. in be dead nuts on or upon. The same as the prec. in all three senses: from ca. 1890, though 1894 is the earliest OED record. Orig. an intensive, it >, by 1910, merely the more gen. form of be nuts on. Anticipated in 1873 by William Black’s ‘My aunt is awful nuts on Marcus Aurelius.’ Sidney Baker, in a letter, notes its use in Aus. as early as 1890.

nutted, ppl adj. Deceived or tricked by a friend: low: from ca. 1860; ob. (H., 2nd ed.) Ex nut, v., 2, possibly influenced by sense 1, and nuts, 1.—2. See nut ‘em.

nutter. A crazy person: low: since ca. 1945. (Norman.) ‘Off one’s nut’ or head. Since ca. 1961, no longer low, but merely an alternative to nut case. Moreover, the ‘low’ tone of the word prob. arose from the London milieu to which it filtered from the Merseyside school children and teenagers. (See, e.g., Woman, 28 Aug. 1965.) In a youth gang, the licensed jester, tolerated precisely because he is, or acts, ‘nutty’—and is therefore entertaining: since ca. 1960 or a little earlier, Peter Marsh, article in New Society, 13 May 1976.

nutters, adj. Crazy; wildly mad: teenagers’: since ca. 1980. Peter Dickinson, The Seventh Raven, 1982, p. 91: ‘She looked absolutely nutters’. The OXFORD-ERS form supplanting the older synon. nutty.

nutting, vbl n. Ogling; paying of court; currying of favour: ca. 1810–90. See nut, v., 1.

nutty, n., ‘Chocolate, whether or not it contains nuts’ (Granville): RN: since ca. 1930. Ex senses 4 and 5 of the adj.—2. Hence, candied sweets in general, as in ‘the nutty ration’: RN: since ca. 1935.

nutty, adj. Amorous; with (up)on, fond of, in love with, enthusiastic about: 1821, Egan, ‘He was so nutty upon the charms of his fair one’. Slightly ob. Ex nuts on, to be, q.v.—2. Not quite right in the head: Pall Mall Gazette, 27 May 1901 (OED). Semantically ex sense 1: cf. S.E. be mad about a girl. (In Glasgow, since ca. 1920, it has had the nuance, ‘romantic’, as Alastair Baxter, the begetter of A Survey of the Occult, 1936, tells me.)—3. Spruce; smartly dressed or turned out: 1823, Byron (of a girl), ‘So prim, so gay, so nutty, and so knowing'; ob. Perhaps ex nuts, 1, q.v.; cf. nut, n., 6.—4. Whence, agreeable: ca. 1890–1920. Milliken, 1893, 'Life goes on nutty and nice.'—5. Spicy; piquant: 1894, Sala in London up to Date, 'The case, he incidentally adds, promises to be a nutty one'; slightly ob. Ex the nuts in a cake via the idea of fullness of detail.—6. Dandyish: 1913 (SOD). Ex nut, n., 6.—7. Nutty, 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Cox: Services': late C.19—earlier 20. (F. & G.) Prob. ex sense 3 or sense 4, but perhaps ex nuts, n., 2, by indelicate association.

nutty as a fruitcake. Insane; hence, loosely, crazy: Can: (prob. ex US), since the 1930s; since ca. 1943 also Eng., partly via US servicemen. An elab. of nutty, adj., 2.

nutty-nutty. See PRISONER-OF-WAR SLANG, §11, in Appendix.

nux. The object in view; the 'lay' or 'game': c., orig. and mainly N. Country: from ca. 1860; ob. (H., 3rd ed.) ?ex L. nux, a nut, hence a nut to crack.

nygle. See niggle.

nymn. See nim.

nymph. A charwoman: Haileybury: since ca. 1870. (Marples.) Ironic.—2. Short for nymphomaniac: since mid-C.20. (W. Haggard, The Antagonists, 1964.) Cf. nympho. (P.B.)

nymph of darkness or delight. A harlot: either coll. or, more prob., euph S.E.: C.18—earlier 19. Cf. nymph of the pave, which appears in the 1851 Census Return for Neithrop in Banbury, 'relating to the Occupation of two ladies lodging in a Beer House'. (With thanks to Mr Noel Blakiston.)

nympho. A nymphomaniac: since ca. 1910.

nyp. See nip.

Nyp Shop. See Nip Shop, the.

nypper. See nipper.

o or O. Overseer: printers': late C.19—earlier 20. B. & L; Ware.—2. See C or K or M or O; entries starting oh..., except o be...

o', preposition; in C.16–17, occ. o. Of: late C.16–20: S.E. until C.19, then coll. and dial. Shakespeare; Browning, 1864, 'Just a spirt/O' the proper fiery acid' (OED), though here it is prob. to be considered poetic licence. Esp. in o'clock, John o' Groats, Jack o' lantern. 'Formerly in many others, as Inns o' Court, man o' war, Isle o' Wight, but in these of is now usually written, even when o' is familiarly pronounced... It is usual in the representation of dialectal or vulgar speech' (OED).—2. On, is in o' nights: M.E. onwards: S.E. till ca. 1810, then coll. and dial. W.A. Wallace, 1890, 'He went to church twice o' Sundays.' OED.

-o was orig. incorrect in such words from Sp. and It. as ambuscado, bastinado, salvo (of artillery). W.—2. A frequent adj.-ending among Britishers and Americans in Paraguay and Argentina, owing to the influence of Sp.; e.g. tremendo, tremendous. See C.W. Thurlow Craig, passim.—3. As a suffix-tag (e.g. in all alive-o), it is a C.19–20 coll. derivative ex the metre-tag common in songs. Often joc. or affectionate, as in on his oomy-o. See, e.g., all alive-o, billy-o, loggo.—4. Hence, also, the Aus., esp. the Sydneyites', use of this ending, not only in, e.g., afro but also in such place-names as Darlo and Kenso. In June 1963 Mr Barry Prentice writes, 'We seem to have gone off "-y, -ie" except for women's terms. Wharfie, however, is very much alive.'

O.A. (Gen. pl.) An old Alleynian: Dulwich College coll.: late C.19–20. (Collinson.) P.B.: in C.20 this practice of abbr. O. (e.g. T. = Tonbridgian) is common to many schools and may be considered j.

O.B. A term common, since ca. 1885, at several Public Schools. Ian Hay, Housemaster, 1936, 'The non-resident Staff—pithily described by the School as the O.B.'s, or Outside Bugs.' [P.B.: O.B.s = '(a school's) old boys' is j.; cf. prec.]—2. The O.B., the Old Bailey: police s., and c.: mid-C.19–20. Ware.—3. The BBC's Outside Broadcasts unit: coll.: later C.20.

O.B.E. See M.B.E.; old boiled egg.

o be easy. See sing o be easy.

o (or, more gen, oh) be joyful. A bottle of rum: nautical: ca. 1850–1910. H., 3rd ed.—2. Earlier (—1823), of brandy or any other good liquor; † by 1860. Egan's Grose.

'o (or oh) be joyful / of the other side of his mouth, make (one) sing. (Gen. I'll make you... your mouth.) A c.p. threat mid-C.18—early 19. Grose, 2nd ed.

o-be-joyful works. A public house: late C.19—early 20.

o begga me, ex the alternative o Bergami! You're a liar! London lower classes': ca. 1820–30. Ex Bergami, a lying Italian witness at Queen Caroline's trial. (Ware.) Cf. non me.

O.C. Grease. The master cook: military: from ca. 1915. Cf.: O.C. i/c. Lit. 'Officer Commanding in charge'; an army 'dig' at the plethora of initials and abbreviations amid which it lives; a blend of O.C. + the j. NCO i/c (a particular section, billet, etc.): army: 1950s–60s. Sometimes standing alone, as 'Who's the OC i/c around here?', or, as in the surrounding entries, 'I must go and see the OC i/c postings.' (P.B.) Cf.:

O.C. socks. A man detailed to collect the platoon's socks: army: C.20. Cf. prec. and:-

O.C. swills. The Controller of Salvage; any Salvage Corps officer: army: WW1. F. & G.

O.D. An ordinary seaman: nautical: C.20. ('Taffrail'.) Granville explains, 'Naval colloquialism... OS or Ord is the official abbreviation, and OD is never permitted on documents but is used by officers and men alike when referring to new entries.' Cf. odds and sods.

O.D.'s delight. German sausage: nautical: C.20. Bowen.

o.d.v. or O.D.V. Brandy: joc.:—1887: † by 1935. I.e. eau-de-vie. Baumann.

o eight (less frequently, nine) dubbs. Time: 0800 (or 0900); 'almost always used to refer to an early start after a heavy night's drinking: RN: 1970s' (Peppitt)—but surely since late 1940s. Dubbs = double(s), the double nought; cf. the Services' j., o eight hundred hours.

O for October. A swindle worked at races and at country fairs ca. 1870. Binstead.

O.K., o.k., (often written okay). All right; correct; safe; suitable; what is required; comfortable, comfortably placed: orig. US s.; >, by 1880, Eng. s. and ca. 1895, Eng. coll. See Appendix for theories on its derivation.—2. O.K. is a coll. tag when appended to such a statement as 'X is innocent, OK', or 'Spurs rule, OK'—sometimes enunciated as an app. mild interrogative disguising a strong affirmative, 'Well, isn't he?!... don't they?!' (E.P.). Nigel Rees, in Graffiti Lives, OK, 1979, writes 'The addition of "OK" to slogans first became noticeable in Northern Ireland during the early 1970s, as in "Provo Rule, OK" referring to the Provisional IRA. This was adopted by graffitiists in England for such pronouncements as "Man U Rule" [Manchester United Association Football Club] and "Notts Forest rule OK" [Nottingham Forest AFC], and lasted during mid-late 1970s.'

o.k., O.K., v.i. and, more gen., v.t. To pass as correct: orig. (—1885), US; anglicised as a coll. ca. 1900. E.g. to o.k. an account, a document.—2. Hence, to assent to, as 'All right, I'll o.k. it this time, but next time...': coll.: C.20. (P.B.)

O.K., baby! A US c.p. that had some Brit. currency in the 1930s. Letter in Daily Mirror, 7 Nov. 1933.

O.K. by me, it's or that's. I agree or approve: coll.: adopted ex US early 1930s. Hence 'is that O.K. by you?', do you agree? Ex US Yiddish formation.

O.K. sheaf! All right! Aus. c.p.: since ca. 1930. B., 1942, 'A N.S.W. advertising slogan that has won some currency. From Tooth's Sheaf Stout.' With a pun on O.K., chief, although, in sense, it constitutes a mere elab. of O.K.

O levels, have (one's). 'Used amongst the present sex "swinging" generation to indicate either fellatio or cunnilingus' (Jack Slater, 1978). A pun on the General Certificate of Education, Ordinary level examinations.

o my! See my!

o my Gawd. See my Gawd.

o.p., O.P. Opposite the prompter. (Cf. p.s., prompt side.) Theatrical s. (—1823) >, ca. 1870, coll. >, ca. 1900, j. Both in Egan's Grose, 1823.—2. Earlier (ca. 1809–20, though recorded later), old price(s), in ref. to 'the demonstrations at Covent Garden Theatre, London, in 1809, against the proposed new tariff of prices' (OED). Byron alludes to it in a letter of 12 June 1815, to Moore.—3. (Of spirits) over-proof: j. when lit.; when fig., it is coll., as—to borrow from the OED—in Walch, Head over Heels, 1874, "'Pshaw'", cried Sandy (Clan MacTavish) in his beautiful O.P. Scotch',—which, you'll admit, is neat, as well as being adumbratory of the 1933–4 mot, 'What matter if your English be bad so long as your Scotch is good!'—4. The booksellers' use of the term for 'out of print' dates from ca. 1870: j. rather than coll. (H., 5th ed.) Cf. out of print, q.v.—5. Other people's: joc. coll.: C.20. Esp. a borrowed cigarette (B., 1959). Often in pl.: 'Do you smoke?'—'Only O.P.'s!' (P.B.) Cf. O.P.T., and—O.P.B. Choice cigarette-ends: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942, 'Old Picked Bumpers'. See bumper, 5. But also 'other people's butts' or cigarette-butts garnered from ashtrays: since ca. 1910. Cf. kerbstone mixture.

o.p.h., O.P.H. Off, as in 'Dammit! I'm off.' Joc.: late C.19–20. (Obviously, off is perverted to oph; but the pron., gen. slow, is O—P—H.—2. Old Parliamentary Hand: political: 1886; ob. First applied, by The Times, to Gladstone. (Ware.)

O.P.T. Other people's tobacco, a favourite 'brand'; esp. smoke O.P.T.: joc. coll.: C.20. See also O.P., 5.

o per se o; or with capital os. A crier: early C.17 c. Dekker.

O Pip or O pip. An observation-post: military coll.: WW1 +. (F. & G.) Ex signalese: see Appendix for PHONETIC ALPHABETS, and cf. later orange pip.

O.R.P.H. — orph! Off (you go!); not worth considering (see off, 2, 3): lower-class c.p. of C.20; slightly ob. (W.L. George, The Making of an Englishman, 1914.) Cf. o.p.h. and oft.

o.s. or O.S. Very large; 'outside': from ca. 1930. Ex drapers' j. George Joseph, in Everyman, 5 Jan. 1934, of an imagined performance of La Bohème: 'An O.S. Mimi loved by a C.3 Rudolph'.

O. Smith. See what an O. Smith!

o.t., O.T. In it's o.t., it's (very) hot: proletarian: from ca. 1880. Ware.—2. As the O.T., the overland telegraph, from Adelaide to Port Darwin: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1930. B., 1942.

o.v. or O.V. The oven, or that open space below the stage in which the Pepper's-ghost illusion is worked: showmen's and low actors': late C.19—early 20. Ware.

[O.V.O. A low phrase listed by Ware with the remark, 'Quite inexplicable. No solution ever obtained from the initiates.' Perhaps it's just as well.]

o yes! A joc. perversion of oyez!: from before 1887; ob. Baumann.

oak He who, in highway robbery, keeps watch on behalf of the highwayman: c.: late C.16—early 17. (Greene, 1591.) He affords security.—2. A man of good substance and credit: late C.17—mid-19: c. >, ca. 1750, s. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Ex the solidity of oak. Cf. † U.S. oak, strong.—3. An oaken, hence an outer door, esp. in sport oak, in C.19–20 gen. sport one's oak, to shut one's outer door as a sign that one is engaged: 1785 (Grose): university s. >, ca. 1820, coll.—4. A joke: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. Ware.—5. An occ. spelling of oke, q.v.—6. See close as oak, secretive.

oak and ash. Cash: theatrical rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

oaken towel. A cudgel, orig. and mainly of oak; hence rub one down with an oaken towel, to cudgel, to beat him: low (? orig. c.): C.18—mid-19. (Grose.) In US c., an oak towel is a policeman's club: see Irwin.

oakie-doke. Occ. var. of okey-doke.

oaks, felling of. Sea-sickness: C.17 coll. Joc., as Withals (1608) shows in his Dict. ?ex vomiting upon the oak of a ship.

oakum. See pick oakum; when Adam was an oakum-boy.

oar in every man's boat, occ. † barge, have an. To be concerned in everyone's affairs: mid-C.16—early 20: coll. >, ca. 1650, S.E. Udall, Florio, Howell. Cf.:-

oar in, put or shove an (or one's). To interfere: resp. coll. from ca. 1730, as in Moncrieff, 1843; s. from ca. 1870, as in Mrs Henry Wood (1874). Coffey, 1731, 'I say, meddle with your own affairs; I will govern my own house, without your putting in an oar.' Ex prec.; there is, however, the transitional put an (or one's oar in every man's boat, as in Brathwait, 1630. Apperson.

oars. A waterman: C.17–19: either coll. or S.E. As = oarsman, certainly S.E.—2. In first oars, a favourite, esp. in be first oars with: coll.: 1774, C. Dibdin's song, 'The Jolly Young Waterman', 'He was always first oars when the fine city ladies/In a party to Ranelagh went, or Vauxhall': whence the origin.—3. In lie or rest (up)on (one's) oars, to take things easily: resp. 1726, Shelvocke, and † by 1920; 1836, Lady Granville: both coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. (OED). Ex leaning on the handles of one's oars.

oat. An atom or particle, but esp. in have not an oat, to be penniless: from ca. 1870 (ob.): low. (H., 5th ed.) Perhaps suggested by groat, but more prob., as H. suggests, iota corrupted.

oat-stealer. An ostler: C.19—early 20: joc. coll. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex ostler, q.v.

oater. A 'Western', cowboy film: 1970s. In, e.g., Phillip Jenkinson's reviews of films to be shown on TV, in Radio Times, 1976–7, passim. The cowboys' horses would eat oats. Cf. synon. cowie and shit-kicker. (P.B.) Ex US: W. & F. date it from 1950.

oath. In take an oath, to drink (liquor): low (mostly US): C.19.—2. See my oath!; sworn at Highgate.

oatmeal. (Gen. in pl.) A profligate roaster (one of a set): coll.: ca. 1620–40. (Ford, in The Sun's Darling, 1624; see also Nares.) Semantics obscure. Mrs C. Raab: is there a poss. connexion with wild oats?—2. In all the world is (gen. not) oatmeal, everything is delightful: proverbial coll.: ca. 1540–1700. (Udall, Swetnam.) Cf. beer and skittles. ?ex oatmeal as food.—3. In give (a person) his oatmeal, to punish; rebuke severely: mid-C.18—early 19. Boswell. (A.W. Read, in Agricultural History, July 1934.)

oatmeal party. Scotsmen: RN coll.: late C.19—early 20. (F. & G.) Ex the staple Scottish food.

oats. In earn a gallon of oats, (of horses) to fall on the back and roll from side to side: provincial coll.: C.19. Halliwell.—2. In a feed of oats, a whip; a whipping; mostly rural: C.19—early 20.—3. In off (one's) oats, indisposed: coll.:—1923 (Manchon); ob. by 1983. Ex a horse off his oats, i.e. eating too little. Contrast feel (one's) oats, q.v.—4. See wild oats, which includes get or have (one's) oats.

Oats and Barley. Charley: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.) Prob. ref. to a night-watchman: see esp. Franklyn, Rhyming. oats and chaff. A footpath: rhyming s.:—1857 ('Ducange Anglicus'); ob. by 1930.

oats for the donkey. Money: motor trade: since ca. 1910. Rhyming (or almost).

ob. Abbr. obit: Winchester College: C.19—early 20. See obit.—2. An objection: policemen's: C.20. Grierson Dickson, Design for Treason, 1937.—3. An observation car, esp. on the Transcontinental: Aus.: since ca. 1945. (Eric North, Nobody Stops Me, 1960.) Cf. obbo, q.v.

ob and sol. Scholastic, hence any subtle disputation: late C.16–17: coll. 1588, 'Very skilful in the learning of ob and sol'. Also obs and sols, as in Burton, 1621; occ. sols and obs. Abbr. objection and solution in C.16 books of theology. The derivative ob-and-soller, a subtle disputant, is either a nonce or a very rare usage. OED.

Obadiah. A Quaker: C.18—mid-19: coll. Ex the common Quaker name.—2. A fire: rhyming s.: C.20. Rare. Cf. Anna Maria; Jeremiah.

obbo. An observation balloon: military: 1915–18. F. & G.—2. Observation-work: policemen's: from ca. 1919. (Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld, 1933.) Has var. obo.—3. Hence, also, a police observation post. N.J. Crisp, The Gotland Deal, 1976.

Obeum, the. The name of a latrine at Cambridge: Cambridge University: late C.19—early 20. Ex Oscar Browning (1837–1923), known as O.B., the Cambridge historian and famous, eccentric don, who was popularly reputed to be its propagandist. On odeum, a hall for the playing of music.

obfuscated; obfuscated. Drunk: coll.: from ca. 1855; ob. The former is in 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857; the latter (30 Dec. 1872) is a sol. Also obfuscation: H. Kingsley, 1861, 'In a general state of obfuscation'. Ex S.E. sense, to stupefy. Contrast sub-fusc, q.v.

obie man. 'The obie man read obituaries. (The funeral will be at Wood Green on Tuesday and the house will be empty)' (James Barlow, The Burden of Proof, 1968): c. and low s.: since ca. 1920. P.B.: was there a pun on obi-man, a witch-doctor? obit. An obituary notice: journalistic: W. Black, in Athenæum, 12 Sep. 1874: 'It was the custom of his journal to keep obits in readiness.' Prob. ex obituary, not a revival of mid-C.15–17 S.E. obit, the same.

object. A laughing-stock; 'gape-sided': coll.: from ca. 1820. Cf. 'little object (of children) = a half-playful half-angry endearment' (F. & H.). Ex S.E. object of pity, mirth, derision, etc.—2. See no object.

object of the exercise, the. 'A very familiar Services expression... lifted from its original [literal and] legitimate use; as in "The object of the exercise seemed to be how many pubs they could take in, in one evening": since ca. 1960, or a little earlier' (P.B., 1974).

obligate. To make indebted, to bind, a person by a kindness or a favour: late C.17–20. S.E. till ca. 1860; then—except in US (where coll.)—slightly sol., or at least catachrestic; ob.

oblige. To favour a company (with, e.g., a song): coll.: 1735 (Pope: OED).—2. (Of a charwoman) to work for: charwomen's coll.: late C.19–20. 'The lady I "oblige".'—3. (Of a woman) to make herself sexually available to: coll.: C.20. 'She soon found that she'd never get promoted unless she were willing to oblige her boss.' (B.P.)

obo. var. of obbo, 2. Maureen Duffy, Housespy, 1978.

oboe, not to know (one's) brass from (one's). See know (one's) ears... at know in Appendix.

obof. An old buffer over forty: joc. military: 1916–18 (F&G.) Ex conscripted middle-aged men.

obs. Obligations: (lower) middle classes:—1923; almost † by 1933. (Manchon.) By abbr.

obs and sols. See ob and sol.

obscene. Objectionable: upper classes': from ca. 1933. Nicholas Blake, Thou Shell of Death, 1936, '[At Christmastide] the shop windows are piled with that diversity of obscene knick-knacks—actually of impeccable respectability—'which nothing but the spirit of universal goodwill could surely tolerate.'

observationist. One (gen. a pedlar, hawker, etc.) who spies out likely booty for thieves: c.: later C.19. B. & L.

observatory. The astrodome of an aircraft: RAF: since ca. 1938. Jackson, 'Through which the navigator takes the observations of the stars'.

obscquatulate. An occ. form of absquatulate, q.v.: H., 1859.

obstets. Obstetrics: nurses' and medical students': C.20.

obstreperulous, -olous, -ulous; obstropalous, -olous, -ulous; also abstreperulous, -ulous. Obstreperous: from ca. 1725: sol. when not deliberately joc.; Halliwell, however, in 1847, characterises it as 'genuine London dialect'. Resp. first recorded: ca. 1780, ca. 1760, 1727; 1773 (Goldsmith), ca. 1770, 1736 (Sessions); ab- forms only in C.18. Commonest: obstropulous, -ulous. (OED.) See stropy.

obstroculous. An occ. Aus. var. of the prec. Ion L. Idriess, Flynn of the Inland, 1932.

obvious. (Of women) stout: Society: 1897—ca. 1914. (Ware.) Ex the signs of pregnancy.

obviously severe. 'Hopelessly rude of speech': Society: ca. 1890–1914. Ware.

Ocac. See Okak.

Ocakery. See Okakery.

occabot. Tobacco: back s.:—1851 (Mayhew, I). H., 1st ed., notes tib fo occabot.

occasion. A notable celebration, a special ceremony, an event of note: coll.: from ca. 1860. Dickens; in C.20, esp. a great occasion. Ex special occasion.—2. See improve the occasion.

occifer. An officer: late C.19–20. (Ware.) Also ossifer.

occupant. A harlot: late C.16—early 17: a vulg. (Marston, 1599.) Ex occupy, q.v.—2. A brothel: C.17: a vulg. Cf. nanny-house. Ex prec. sense.

Occupied Territory, the. That part of West Hampstead (London) which contains numerous Germans, whether residents or lodgers: since late 1930s, by which time many Germans had removed themselves from a 'Hitlerised' Germany they deplored; † by 1950.—2. Bayswater (London): taxi-drivers': 1947–9. Ex the large number of foreigners there, and the familiar wartime phrase 'enemy occupied territory'. (London Evening News, 19 Mar. 1948.) Cf. Resistance.

occupy. (V.t. and v.i.) to cohabit (with); lie with: C.16—early 19: S.E. in C.16, then a vulg., as in Florio, Rowley, Hexham, Rochester, D'Urfe, Grose. 'In consequence of its vulgar use in this sense, this verb was little used in literature in the 17th and 18th century; cf. [Shakespeare, 2 Henry IV, at II. iv. 159] "as odious as the word occupy"' (Onions). Cf. L. occupare amplexu and see fuck.

occupying-house. A brothel: late C.16–17: a vulg. Florio.

ocean-dust. Salt: RN: C.20, but rare before 1914.

ocean-going grocers. Members of the NAAFI staffs in HM ships' (Granville): RN: 1939+.

ocean pearl. A girl: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. (B. & P.) Also ivory pearl, q.v.

ocean rambler. A herring; a sardine: proletarian: C.20. Cf. ocean wanderers.

Ocean Villas. Auchonvillers, a town near Arras: army: WW1. (F. & G.) By Hobson-Jobson.

ocean wanderers. Any fish (gen. herrings) issued as rations: military: from 1914. B. & P.

ocean wave. A shave: rhyming s.: C.20. (John o' London's Weekly, 9 June 1934.) Cf. dig in the grave, 1.

oceans. A (very) large quantity or number: from ca. 1840: coll. almost S.E.

ochive, also oachive. A knife: c.: C.18—early 20. A New Canting Dict., 1725, defines oschive as a bone-handled knife, as if ex L. os, a bone + chive, a knife, but oschive may be an etymologising theory and perversion of ochive. Ex Romany o chif, the knife. More gen., chive; occ. chif(f): see chive, n.

ochorhoc. Beer: Italian organ-grinders:—1909 (Ware). It. bocca (mouth), thus: occa + b + intrusive oc.

ochre. Money: c. >, ca. 1870, low s.: 1854, Dickens, 'Pay your ochre at the doors'; ob. Also, gold, money. Ex the colour of gold. Cf. with caution, gilt.

Ocker, ocker. A constant disparager, whose assurance matches his ignorance and prejudice; 'the uncultivated Australian' (Wilkes): Aus.: since ca. 1965. Hence ockerdorm; ockerkism. See OCKER in Appendix for suggested derivation.—2. 'The nickname of anyone called Stevens' (Wilkes): Aus.: C.20.

ockier. A liar: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) Also ocky, a lie; ockying, lying. Ex N. Country dial. (EDD).

ockle-cockle box. 'Disturbing a REME [Royal Electrical & Mechanical Engineers] fitter corporal on some secret gadget: "What you on there, Corp?"—"Making an ockle-cockle box. Now sod off!"—"What's one of them, then?"—"It's about this long and this wide, with holes in, and when you chuck it over the side of the ship, it sinks, going 'ockle-cockle-cockle' all the way down to the bottom. Now sod off, will you!"' (P.B., 1974, with thanks to WO2 'Scottie' Parker-Wade, WRAC). Cf. lareovers for meddlers, and weaving leather aprons, qq.v., of which this is a, perhaps, later version.

o'clock. See know what's o'clock at KNOW, in Appendix; like one o'clock half struck. The miners' term lie at o'clock, despite its promising appearance, is j.

October, october. Blood: boxing: from ca. 1850; ob. 'Cuthbert Bede', 'Now we'll tap your best October.' Ex October (ale or cider). Cf. claret, q.v.

octu (pron. octyew). An Officer Cadet Training Unit: Services' coll.: since 1939. Partridge, 1945.

octy. An octopus: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1953.

od, 'od; occ. odd. Also with capitals. God, in oaths and asseverations: coll., though orig. euph. S.E.: C.17—early 19. Whence od rabbit it!, 1749, Fielding; od rat it! (also in Tom Jones), whence drat (it)!, q.v.; od rot it!, from ca. 1810; od save's! (lit., God save us), C.19–20, mainly and in C.20 only dial. See esp. OED and EDD. Cf. ods, q.v.

odd, n. A police detective: c.: since ca. 1935. Hence, odd(-)lot, a police car. (Both in Norman.) The Observer, 1 Mar. 1959, using spelling ods, noted its use among Teddy-boys. —2. A police station: c.: since ca. 1935. (Norman.)

odd, adj. Homosexual: partly euph., partly coll.: ca. 1890–1940, then increasingly ob. (Compton Mackenzie, Thin Ice, 1956.) Cf. queer in this sense.

odd, of age, years being omitted, as in Hood's 'His death ... At forty-odd befell', 1845, app. the earliest record. Here, odd denotes a small surplus (in years) over and above a 'round number'. OED.

odd-ball, n., hence also adj. (An) eccentric: adopted, ca. 1950, ex US. Ex certain games, ?esp. golf. —2. (Often written oddball.) A—usu. male—homosexual: since ca. 1955.

odd bod. An odd-man-out: Services': WW2, and later. (L.A.) Cf. ods and sods, and:

odd bods and sods. Miscellaneous persons: Aus. var., since ca. 1945, of odds and sods. (B.P.)

odd-come-short. In pl, odds and ends: rural coll.: 1836 (T. Hook); slightly ob.—2. Some day: coll.: from ca. 1875; ob. Usu. one of these odd-come-shorts (as in Harris's Uncle Remus); but, except in US, much less gen. than:

odd-come-shortly. The same: coll.: C.18—early 20. Swift, 'Miss, when will you be married? ... One of these odd-come-shortly's, Colonel'; Grose, 2nd ed.; Scott. The unit is one of these odd-come-shortlies; the definition is 'One day soon'. Semantically: one of these odd days shortly to come, where odd = unspecified or, perhaps, unexpected.

odd couple of beers (, Oh you know - the). A coll. meiosis and euph., merging in explanation of delay, e.g. in arriving home: since ca. 1945. (L.A., 1974.)

odd fish. See fish.

odd job man. One 'who professes to do anything and only does his employer': trades:—1909 (Ware).

odd-trick man. A hanger-on, for profit, at auctions: auctioneers': mid-C.19–20. (James Greenwood, In Strange Company, 1873.) Ex card-playing.

oddie; oddy is rare. A halfpenny: Aus.: earlier C.20. Ex 'the odd halfpenny' in, e.g., 9/2d or p. oddissh. Tipsy: low coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. Cf. queer, adj., 2, q.v.

odds, n. Odd volumes: publishers' and booksellers': late C.19–20.—2. In above (Aus.) or over (Eng.) the odds, outside the pale; exorbitant: C.20: s. >, by ca. 1930, coll. (C.J. Dennis.) Ex horse-racing.—3. In it is or makes no odds, it makes no difference (in good or ill): C.17–20: S.E. till C.19, then coll. T.A. Guthrie, 'But there, it's no odds' (OED).

—4. In what odds?, what difference does it make?: coll.: earlier C.19–20. Sessions, 1826, 'I asked Jackson whose they were—he said, "What odds; they are mine".' Dickens's 'What is the odds ...?' is S.E., but Trollope's use, 1880, of What's the odds was, at first, perhaps more coll. than familiar S.E. A later C.19–20 low form is where's the odds? (Baumann).—5. In within the odds, possible or possibly; esp. just or barely possible: sporting coll.—1887 (Baumann) >, by 1890, gen. coll.—6. In be of no odds, as in 'It's no odds o' mine' (Greenwood), no concern of mine: low coll.: mid-C.19–20. Cf. sense 3.—7. See ods; shout the odds.

odds, v. To try to avoid; to avoid, as in 'I can't odds being mixed up in crime. By listening in the right places I get results' (G.F. Newman, Sir, You Bastard, 1970): c. and low: since ca. 1945. Perhaps ex 'to bet against the odds'. Norman, 1959, has odds it.

odds and sods. "'Details" attached to Battalion Headquarters for miscellaneous offices: batmen, sanitary men, professional footballers and boxers on nominal duties, etc.' (B. & P.): army: since ca. 1915. Hence, civilianised in 1919, hangers-on, miscellaneous persons. Perhaps ex the phrase as used to cover those Service personnel falling outside any main group or classification, esp. in the field of 'religion', i.e. those who are neither C. of E., nor R.C., but O.D.s, Other Denominations. In RN use it covers "'Hoi polloi"—the rank and file' (Granville); here it is perhaps influenced by O.D., q.v. In 1951, I heard an elderly RAF corporal refer to O.D.s (Other Denominations) in all seriousness as 'Other Dimensions' (P.B.).

odds-on, n. An odds-on favourite: Aus. racecourse coll.: C.20. B., 1942.

odding (vbl n.), cheating: either S.E. or a rare catachresis: late C.16—mid-17.

odno. Lit., mod. Rare except in ride on the odno, to travel by rail without paying: back s.: 1889 (Sporting Times); ob. by 1930.

odour. Either a misapprehension of, or a pun on, eau-de, q.v. at eau-de-Cologne above: C.20. Franklyn 2nd.

ods, od's; odds. (Also ads, uds.) God's, gen. in combination, in late C.16—early 19 coll. oaths and asseveration; extant as a joc. archaism. The second member is frequently perverted, as in bud ex blood, nouns or ooms ex wounds, zooks ex hooks. Cf. ods bodkins.—2. See odd, n., 1.

ods bobs. A C.18 reduction of and corruption of—ods bodkins. A joc. exclam, a late C.19–20 perversion of ods bodkins, lit. God's little bodies, a C.17–19 oath. See ods.

Odtaa. As comment or exclam., it is a cultured c.p.—one damned thing after another: since publication of John Masefield's novel, Odtaa, 1926.

Oedipus Rex. Sex: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

of, preposition. Intrusive or tautological, as 'what are you (a-)doing of?', orig. dial. > low coll. and, in later C.20, only joc.: frequent, in low coll. (i.e. in sol.), esp. after a present participle: C.19–20. Greenwood, ca. 1880, 'They're takin' of her to the pit hole' (Baumann); D.L. Sayers, 1933, 'Bill Jones says he rekollects of me standing in the Dispatch.'—2. Its omission is C.19–20 coll. in, e.g., 'What colour was her dress?'—3. On: late C.14–20: S.E. until mid-C.18, then coll.; in C.20, increasingly low coll.; prob. soon to be a sol. Sheridan, 1777, 'Oh, plague of his nerves!' (OED).—4. (Always of a or of an.) At some time during, in the course of: S.E. until C.19, then coll., as in of an evening.—5. For sins against grammar, see Fowler.—6. Like: sol.: mid-C.19–20. D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'A charm or a trinket or something of that.' I.e. of that sort. See esp. E.P.'s own Usage and Abuse.

of omitted. A Can. coll., gen. only since ca. 1945. 'Here, it's never "a new type of engine" but "a new type engine." "He's just bought a new type lawn-mower"' (Leechman). The second example shows how the usage may have originated. 'Prob. U.S.—Jewish origin. "A nice type feller" and "A piece candy" are typical immigrant Jewish locutions, some of which ... have passed into American speech (chiefly) through Jews in the entertainment industry' (Claiborne, 1966). P.B.: the omission, esp. with 'type', 'style', etc., has been common in English since the 1950s.

ofay. The word ... is former Black slang for a white person (early Black Power days [in USA]). It is meant to derive from "foe" turned back to front' (George Melly, London Magazine, Feb. 1979): understood, though not much used, in Brit., since late 1960s.

off, n. Start of a horse-race: sporting coll.: late C.19–20. 'You can bet, on the course, right up to the off.' Ex the cry 'They're off'. P.B.: hence the coll. 'Are you (we, etc.) ready for the off?', Are you ready to go (to move off?): since mid-C.20.

off, v. To depart, go away: low coll.: late C.19. Westminster Gazette, 21 Sep. 1895, 'He took down his hat, and off'd' (OED). F. Anstey, Lyre and Muse (Part VII), 1895, has form off it, the common C.20 version.—2. To refuse, reject: coll.: early C.20. A.S.M. Hutchinson, Once Aboard the Luggar, 1908, 'I haven't offed that yet—haven't refused it, I mean.'—3. To die: Services': WW1. B. & P. Cf.—4. V.t., to kill: adopted, ex US, late 1970s. 'We know now that the lad ... offed himself by blowing out his brains in a kinky suicide pact with his teenaged mistress' (Frank Johnson, Now!, 16 May 1980).

—5. See off with ...

off, adj. Out of date; no longer fashionable: coll.: 1892, Illustrated Bits, 22 Oct., 'Theosophy is off—decidedly off.' Perhaps ex restaurant j. ('Chops are off').—2. Hence, stale; in bad condition, e.g. of a cricket pitch: low coll.: from ca. 1895. 'Smells a little bit off, don't it?' (F. & H.). Abbr. off colour.—3. Hence, out of form: coll.: from ca. 1896.—4. Hence, in ill health: coll.: from late 1890s.—5. See bit off, a.

off, preposition. Having lost interest in; averse to: coll.: C.20. Desmond Coke in The House Prefect, 1908, 'You can see Bob's off you'; Manchon, 1923, 'He's dead off jam'; Collinson, 1927, 'I'm rather off dogs at present.' Contrast Greenwood, ca. 1880, 'I couldn't be off likin' it.' I could not help—or refrain from—liking it: (low) coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. Baumann.—3. In be off, to depart; run away: coll.:—1887 (Baumann); Ally Sloper, 27 Feb. 1892. P.B.: in C.20 often as an order, 'Be off with you!', 'Go away!', though by 1983, this has an archaic ring to it.—4. In have the bags off, q.v. at bags off.—5. Abbr. switch off, q.v.

off (one's) ... Insane; crazy; mad: occurs in many phrases; some are noted at the appropriate noun, e.g. off (one's) nut, for which see nut, 3 and 4. These, and some others, are: off (one's) chump (var. chomp); ... coconut; ... dot, a var. of dotty, 2:—1890 (B. & L.); prob. ex Yorkshire dial.; ... head: from ca. 1845: Hood; Mark Pattison (OED); ... kadoova: Aus.: since ca. 1870 (B. & L.): E.P. proposes 'ex Aboriginal', Wilkes suggests from cady, kadi, hat; ... onion; ... pannican or pannikin: Aus.: C.20: A.H. Davis, On Our Selection, 1910, B., 1959; ... rock: (temporarily) mad: 1897 (OED); still current, late C.20: ex the piece(s) of wood that enable a chair or cradle to rock; ... sawcer: Aus.: since ca. 1930 (B., 1943); ... tile: Aus.: B., 1959; ... top: Aus.: C.20; ... top traverse. Any other s. or coll. term for 'head' may be substituted (P.B.).

off bat. Point, in cricket: Winchester College: coll. or j.: mid-C.19—20.

off-beat. Unconventional, but not unique nor unaccepted; (slightly) macabre: adopted, orig. by highbrows, ca. 1960 ex US. Cf. quot'n at shoe-string, 2. Ex music.

off caps! 'When naming anyone of eminence in the Navy or a departed shipmate, off caps is sometimes murmured' (P-G-R): c.p.: C.20. Granville adds, 'It is spoken in music-hall cockney, "Off caps!"' off chump. Having no appetite: stables':—1909 (Ware). Perhaps off champing. Cf. oats, 3. Contrast off (one's) chump, crazy or insane.

off-colour. Exhausted; debilitated; indisposed, 'seedy': since ca. 1860: coll.—2. 'Used of jokes that are blue around the edges' (Brian Aldiss, letter, 1978), i.e. impolite or indecent: coll.: since mid-C.20. Hence occ., fig., of an action, distasteful. Ex either the S.E. term for an unhealthy paleness, or from 'blueness'.

off duty. Not engaged in stealing: c.:—1887 (Baumann).

off (one's) eggs. Straying; hence, wide of the mark: Midlands: C.20. (Dr R.L. Mackay, MD, 1967.)

off (one's) feed. To have no appetite: from ca. 1830; s. > coll. ca. 1870. Michael Scott; Reade, 'No, doctor; I'm off my feed for once', 1873. Var. with oats.

off-go. A start, a beginning: Scots coll.: 1886 (R.L. Stevenson: OED).

off it. Var. of off (one's) head, etc.: see off (one's) ... —2. See off, v., 1.

off its feet. See feet, off its.

off (one's) kadoova. Insane: NSW: ca 1870—1910. (B. & L.) Ex Aboriginal.

off like a bride's nightie. Aus. version of next: since 1950s.

off like a long-dog. Departing very swiftly: Sussex dial. > coll.: C.20. A long-dog = greyhound. (P.B.)

off like Bob's horse — with nobody to pay the reckoning. To decamp with all money, furniture and personal effects: nautical: ca. 1830—1930. Dana.

off net. 'I'm a bit off net' = I don't quite get what you're trying to say: army: 1941—5. The technical off net was applied to a wireless set not attuned to the collective needs of a unit. (P-G-R.)

off pat, (have) got it (all). To have learnt the lesson, recitation, etc., as by rote: schoolchildren's: C.20. (P.B.)

off-put. An 'off-putting' (repellent) characteristic: C.20. Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976, writing of ca. 1914.

off the back. A synonym of dropped handlebars, cyclists': since ca. 1945.—2. See fell off a lorry.

off the beam. See beam ...

off the cuff. (Of a statement) spontaneous; unsupported by evidence: coll.: since 1920s. Ex note scribbled on stiff shirt-cuff.—2. Hence, (of an action) in immediate response, a 'one-off job', as in 'If you're not too busy could you do something off the cuff for me?' (Josephine Tey, The Singing Sands, 1952): coll.: since mid-C.20. (P.B.)

off the deep end, go (in). To get very excited, angry or passionate: Services' (F. & G.),—1918 >, post WW1, gen. TLS, 22 Dec. 1921, 'He never, to use the slang of the moment, "went in off the deep end"' (OED Sup.)—by ca. 1930, verging on coll. Ex leaping from a diving-board into the water at the deep end of a swimming-pool. An occ. var., influenced by synon. fly off the handle, is fly off the deep end. See quot'n at take a toss, 2.

off the hinge. Out of work: low: from ca. 1850; ob. Ex: off the hinges. Out of order; upset; disheartened: coll. till C.18, then dial., where it gen. = in bad health, spirits, or temper. Cotgrave. (Apperson.) Ex a door unhinged.

off the hooks, adj. Ill-tempered, peevish: from ca. 1630; in C.19—20 mainly dial. Davenport, 1639; Pepys, 1662; B.E.—2. Out of sorts or order; crestfallen: coll.: C.17—early 18.—3. Crazed, slightly mad (gen. temporarily): coll.: C.17—mid-19. Beaumont & Fletcher; Scott, 1825, 'Everybody that has meddled in this ... business is a little off the hooks ... in plain words, a little crazy.' Cf. S.E. unhinged.—4. Out of work: coll.: C.18. North, Lives of the Norths, 1740. (This interpretation is not perfectly certain.)—5. Dead: low from mid-C.19. (W.M. Thackeray, Vanity Fair, 1848.) Ex drop (etc.) off the hooks, q.v. at hooks, 5.

off the hooks, adv. To excess: coll.: C.17. D'Urfey.—2. Immediately; summarily: coll.: from ca. 1860. Trollope, in Castle Richmond, 'Baronets with twelve thousand a year cannot be married off the hooks' (OED).

off the horn. (Of steak) very hard: low: later C.19—early 20. H., 5th ed.

off the rails. Not in normal or proper state or condition; 'morally or mentally astray' (Gen. P. Thompson, 1859): coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Ex railway phraseology. OED.

off with his (or her) head! E.P. cites OED, quoting the Daily News, 23 Feb. 1892, 'They offed with his head', and glosses 'To remove or take off instantly: sol. when not joc. coll.' But this is simply a twisting of Shakespeare, in Richard III, or of Lewis Carroll's use of the phrase by the Red Queen in Alice in Wonderland. Off with out of this context, applied, e.g., to clothes, may be considered coll. (P.B.) offer (someone) out. To challenge to a fight: Aus.: late C.19—20. B., 1942.

offer up. To lift; to help to raise: London labourers', esp. in the building trade: late C.19—20. (By ellipsis.) Holway Bailey in Observer, 31 Mar. 1935.

offhandish. A coll. form (—1887) of off hand, brusque, inconsiderate, casual. Baumann.

office. One's office is one's 'ordinary Haunt, or Plying-[]playing-]place, be it Tavern, Ale-house, Gaming-house or Bowling-green' (B.E.): late C.17—18.—2. A signal, a (private) hint; a word of advice; (in sporting s.) valuable information: C.19—20: ? orig. c. Esp. in give the office (1803) and take the office (1812, likewise in Vaux), the latter slightly ob. OED.—3. An aeroplane cockpit: RFC/RAF: from 1915. (F. & G.) Ex its speaking-tube and writing-pad. Still in use, as, e.g., in Their Finest Hour, 1940, and Jackson, 1943, although Sgt-Pilot F.

Rhodes, in letter, 1942, remarks, 'This seems to be dying'.
 —4. An orderly-room: army joc. coll.: C.20. B. & P.—5. As the Office, the Marble Arch public convenience: C.20. A correspondent (1946) writes, 'Hyde Park orators, who are not allowed to take collections, sometimes say: "If anyone would like to speak to me after the meeting, they can see me at my office."'—6. In a cast of (e.g. your) office, 'A Touch of your Employment': coll.: late C.17–18. B.E. prob. means a helping hand from one in a (good) position.—7. In cook's office, the galley: nautical: mid-C.19—early 20. office, v. To give information (about something); warn, intimate to: low (? orig. c.): 1812 (Vaux); Moore, 1819, 'To office... To the Bulls of the Alley the fate of the Bear'. office boy. A Pay Lieutenant acting as Assistant Secretary in the Captain's office: RN: since ca. 1947.
office-sneak. A stealer of umbrellas, overcoats, etc., from offices: coll.: from ca. 1860. officer bloke. A batmen's coll. for the officer they serve: military: C.20. B. & P. officer of feet. An infantry officer: army joc.: ca. 1750–1830. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. foot-slogger and see feet, the.
officers' groundsheets. Members of the Women's Military Services, including the Nursing Services: Services', esp. Other Ranks', scurrilous: since mid-C.20. (P.B.) Cf.: officers' mess. 'Any female working in officers' quarters, or any female companion of officers': military: from ca. 1910. B. & P. officer's mount. A harlot: military (the ranks)': late C.19–20. Punning Army j. for a horse. officers of the 52nds. Young men rigidly going to church on the 52 Sundays in a year: city of Cork:—1909 (Ware). As if of the 52nd regiment.
officiate. To intrude, butt in: Christ's Hospital (School): C.20. (Marples.) I.e. the S.E. officiate, but with the sense of 'to be officious'. offish. Distant; reserved: coll.: from ca. 1830. (L. Oliphant, 1883.) Cf. stand-offish.—2. (Pron. off-fi'sh and not, as in sense 1, o'ff-ish.) Official; authentic: military: 1916–18.
offishish. Aloofness; reserve: coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex offish and, like it, of persons only. offside, v. To act as an offsider: Aus.: since later C.19. See:— offsider. An assistant, e.g. 'a cook's offsider': Aus. and NZ coll.: later C.19–20. Ex 'The assistant to a bullock-driver, walking on the offside of the team, [hence] a helper of any kind, in a subordinate position; an understudy' (Wilkes). Hence, also, a mere hanger-on: since ca. 1925.—2. A friend, 'pal': Aus.: from ca. 1919.
-offisky. A comic suffix imitative of Russian: C.20. Cf. -insky.
often trod but never laid. (Of women) often 'mauled' but never 'slept' with: c.p.: since late 1940s. Trod for 'trod-den on'; lay to copulate with.
often. A frequenter or habitué: sporting: ca. 1884–1910. (Ware.) Ex oft, often.
og. See ogg.
og-rattin. Au gratin: London restaurants:—1909 (Ware).
'og-wash. See ogwash. ogg or og. A shilling: Cockney (Jim Wolveridge, He Don't Know 'A' from a Bulls Foot, 1977), hence market-traders' (M.T.), Aus. and NZ: C.20. A corruption of hog, a shilling; cf. also joag.—2. (Usu. in pl.) stone(s) of fruit; e.g. cherry-(h)ogs [q.v.]: Cockney: mid-C.19–20. P.B.: EDD lists hogail or hogil as a berry, esp. a hawthorn-berry; and notes cherry-odds as Somerset dial. oggin, the; occ., hoggin. The sea: RN (lowerdeck): C.20. (Granville.) The origin is obscure: perhaps a shortening of S.E. noggin, with a prompting by (the) drink; if oggin merely = unspiced hoggin, then the semantics may be that, as hogs wallow, so do some ships. P.B.: but Granville contends that it is merely 'A perversion of 'og-wash'. Floggin' the oggin = sailing the seas.—2. Hence, a canal: spivs': late 1940s—early 50s. See quot'n at peep, n., 2. ogging of tekram. Going to market: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Var. niog of... (Ibid.).

oggy. See tiddy-oggy.

Oggyland. Cornwall: RN: C.20. 'The home of the tiddy-oggy, beloved of the Janners in depot at Guzz' (Granville, 1962). See tiddy-oggy.

ogle. See ogles.—2. 'An ocular invitation or consent, side glance, or amorous look' (F. & H.): coll.: C.18–20. Cibber, 1704, 'Nay, nay, none of your parting ogles.' Ex:

ogle, v.i. and t. To look invitingly or amorously (at): from ca. 1680: c. until ca. 1710, coll. till ca. 1790, then S.E. Implied in B.E.'s ogling, 'casting a sheep's Eye at Handsom Women'; and in the Shadwell quot'n at ogling; D'Urfey. Ex Low Ger. oegeln, same meaning.—2. To look; to look at: c. and S.E.: from ca. 1820; ob. Haggart, 1821, 'Seeing a cove ogling the yelpers'. Ex S.E. sense, to examine.

ogled, with determining word, e.g. queer-ogled, squinting: late C.18–20; ob.: c. >, ca. 1840, low s.

oglen, rum. 'Bright, piercing eyes' (Bee): c.: ca. 1820–50. Cf. etym. of ogle, v., 1.

ogler. A punch in the eye: boxing s.:—1887; ob. Baumann.

oglers. Eyes: c.: from ca. 1820; ob. (Haggart.) A var. on:

ogles. (Extremely rare in singular.) Eyes: mid-C.17–20: c. until ca. 1805, then boxing s. until ca. 1860, finally low gen. s.; ob. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Dyche; Grose; 'Cuthbert Bede'; Thackeray.) Ex the v. Hence, queer ogles (see also ogled), cross eyes; rum ogles, bright or arresting eyes.

ogling. (The ppl adj. is S.E.—) Vbl n., the throwing of amorous or insinuating glances: from ca. 1680: c. until ca. 1710, then coll., then, by 1790, S.E. Shadwell, 1682, 'They say their Wives learn ogling in the Pit,' a marginal gloss reading: 'A foolish Word among the Canters for glancing' (OED).

Ogopogo. 'A mythical lake-dwelling monster (cf. Loch Ness) believed (?) to inhabit Okanagan Lake in the southern interior of British Columbia' (Leechman): Can. coll. or rather, folk-lore: late C.19–20. The name is fanciful: cf. Cadborosaurus.

ogo-pogging. 'Looking for unidentified aircraft' (H. & P.): RAF: 1942–3, then ob. Fanciful, perhaps on 'go poking about'.

'In the early 1920's there was a toy called the pogo-stick, as popular in its day as the hula-hoop in the 1950's. It was a straight stick, with foot-rests across the bottom end, and had a ferule embodying a strong spring. On it the expert could proceed in a series of kangaroo hops for considerable distances, gripping the stick with his (or her) knees. It somewhat resembled the old aircraft joystick, and may be the basis of this word. Such a mission, going up probably to no purpose, and then coming down again, might well suggest the hopping action of this toy.' (H.R. Spencer, 1965). P.B.: but see prec. entry. There were many Canadians in the RAF.
ogwash, i.e. hogwash. A var. of oggin, the sea, the ocean: RN (lowerdeck): C.20. Recorded by Weekly Telegraph, Nov. 1942. Also—prob. via the FAA—RAF: since ca. 1945. S/Ldr G.D. Wilson notes its continued RAF use, 1979.

oh. See o be... Like well!, it introduces many exclamations, expletives, and interjections: some of these may be found at their respective keywords; some phrases to which it is integral are listed, by no means exhaustively, below:
oh, after you! That'll do!; stop talking!; tailors' c.p.: from ca. 1870. (B. & L.) Ironic. Cf. after you, Claude...

oh boy! Mild exclam. of anticipation or satisfaction: adopted, ex US, ca. 1920. See esp. DCpp.

oh calamity! Woeful c.p. popularised by the actor Robertson Hare in the 1930s Aldwych farces, e.g. whenever he was de-bagged yet again; revived for his part in the BBC TV comedy series 'All Gas and Gaiters', in the late 1960s. (P.B.; Fetch.)

oh Christ double o. 'We [in the Household Cavalry] rose at the impossible hour of five forty a.m. (known as oh Christ double o), but the horses had a lie-in until six o'clock' (Carew): ca. 1940. A pun on the Services' 24-hour day, in which the small hours are written, e.g. 0500, said 'o five double o'. (P.B.)

oh, come on, be a devil! See be a devil!

oh, dummy! Nonsense!; humbug!; tailors' c.p.: from ca. 1860. B. & L.

oh, go to spue. The popular shape of Ogotasputas, on a flag in a meeting at Hyde Park in favour of the Cretans: London: 1897. Ware.

oh la-la! A c.p. indicative of joviality: army: WW1. 'Borrowed from the French and in use chiefly among officers' (B. & P.).

oh, Miss Weston. A c.p., expressing disapproval of strong language: RN: since ca. 1910. 'Dame Agnes Weston was a great stickler for propriety' (P-G-R). Cf. my oath, Miss Weston!

oh, mummy! buy me one of those! A c.p. that, mostly Can. and dating since ca. 1920, recalls the much older one of those, I (really) must have. Leechman.

oh, my dear. Beer: rhyming s.: C.20; since ca. 1950, ob. Franklyn, Rhyming.

oh, my Gawd. See my Gawd.

oh, my leg! A low c.p. addressed, ca. 1810–50 to one recently liberated from gaol. ('Jon Bee'). A gibe at the gait caused by fetters. Cf. clank clank!, 1.

oh, oh, Antonio! A c.p. of ca. 1912–30. Ex the once famous song.

oh-slow. Oslo: army: 1940–1. By Hobson-Jobson; cf. Little-hampton.

oh, swallow yourself! Hold your tongue!; don't bother!; proletarian: from ca. 1875; ob. B. & L.

oh, to be shot at dawn! A jesting c.p. for anyone (including oneself) in trouble: military: 1917–18. (B. & P.) Ex death for desertion.

oh, wouldn't it be lovelee! A teenagers' and shop- and office-girls' c.p. of 1958–9. Ex the title of one of Eliza Doolittle's songs, in My Fair Lady. (Gilderdale.)

oh yeah! Oh, no!; You think you know all about it, but, in my opinion, you don't: adopted ca. 1930, via the 'talkies', from US, where yes often > yeah. (Daily Mirror, 28 June 1934, 'item' headed 'Oh Yeah!') Later often elab. to 'Oh yeah, says (or sez) you!', or '... says who?!' See DCpp.

oil See oy!

oick or oik. A townee; a cad; a low-class fellow: Public Schools: late C.19–20. Cf. next, and rork, q.v.—2. Var. of hoick, v., 4.

oickman. A labourer, shopkeeper, etc.; hence, an objectionable fellow: Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham).

oil, n. An oil-painting: coll.: from ca. 1890. By 1920, almost S.E. (Gen. in pl.)—2. As the oil, news, information: Aus. and NZ: C.20. Ex prospecting for oil. In the dinkum, or—more common in later C.20—the good, oil, the truth, reliable information.—3. Pretentiousness; presumption; 'side': Public Schools': C.20. (D. Coke, The School across the Road, 1910.) Cf. greasing, q.v.—4. Tea: army: since ca. 1930; ob. 'Due to the fat which often appears on top' (H. & P.)—or simply due to its lubricant qualities? (P.B.).—5. In on the oil, on a drinking bout: army: earlier C.20. Hence, of course, go on the oil, which Frank McKenna notes in The Railway Workers as 'the Great Western term for alcoholic excess' (p. 195).—6. In addition to its popularity in proverbs and proverbial sayings (there are 89 in Apperson), oil is of frequent occurrence in various humorous and/or ironic phrases that began as coll. and may have > S.E.; indeed, since it is arguable that all except oil of giblets were always S.E., it is better to list them all together:—oil of angels, a gift, a bribe, late C.16–17, as in Greene (and see below); oil of barley or malt, beer, mid-C.17—early 19, as in B.E.; oil of Baston (a topographical pun; basting), a beating, C.17, Withals,—with which cf. oil of gladness (Grose, 2nd ed.), hickory (gen. as h. oil), holly (C.17), rope (C.18, Mrs Centlivre), stirrup (late C.18—mid-19, Grose, 2nd ed.: also as stirrup-oil), strappem (C.19), and whip (mid-C.17—mid-18, Fuller), and also the C.18–20 dial. (ob.) birch, hazel (also in form h. oil, coll. and dial.), oak, strap, the form strap-oil occurring as C.19–20 joc. coll.; oil of giblets or horn, the female spendings (this, certainly, is low s.), C.19–20; oil of palms (Egan's Grose), or palm-oil, a bribe, C.19–20, ob.—cf. oil of angels; oil of tongue, flattery, with which cf. the late C.14—mid-15 S.E. hold up oil, to consent flatteringly (Apperson), and the rare oil of fool, flattery, as in Wolcot.—7. See strike oil and PUBLIC... SCHOOL SLANG.

oil, v. To cheat; to act in an underhand way; to obtain unfairly; to evade: Public Schools: later C.19–20.—2. Hence, to toady, and in 'oil (one's way) in', to intrude: id. Cf. oil up to, and the corresponding sense of grease; and the line from the musical My Fair Lady, concerning an objectionable lounge-lizard type of foreigner, 'He oiled his way around the [dance-floor]'.—3. See STONYHURST, in Appendix.

oil-boiler. 'A motorcycle fitted with oil-cooled engine designed by Bradshaw—in use from 1922' (Mike Partridge, 1979): motorcyclists': the inter-war years, and then nostalgically.

oil-butt. A black whale: whalers': late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex the abundance of oil which its carcass yields.

oil-can. A shell from a German trench-motor: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex the shape.

oil of angels. Money: beggars' and tramps' c. (F. Jennings, In London's Shadows, 1926.) Cf. phrases at oil, n., 6, esp. earlier use of this one.

oil out. To slip out or away: preparatory-schoolboys': from ca. 1920. (Nicholas Blake, A Question of Proof, 1935.) Cf. oil, v., 1, in this nuance.

oil-painting, be no. To be plain-looking; ugly: coll.: late C.19–20. Cf. picture and pretty as paint, qq.v.

oil-rag. A fitter's mate: engineering trades': from ca. 1910.—2. A cigarette: earlier C.20 var. of oily rag, q.v. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.—3. A gunner: artillerymen's: early C.20. Ex his frequent use thereof.—4. In live on the smell of an oil-rag, 'Metaphor for the ability to survive on minimum food or income' (Wilkes): Aus.: since late C.19. Ex Anglo-Irish.

oil-spoiler (usu. in pl.). A stoker (in a turbine ship): RN: since ca. 1925. (Granville.) Cf. grub-spoiler, a cook.

oil the knocker. To fee the porter: mid-C.19—early 20.

oil the wig. To become tipsy, while oil (one's) wig is to make a person tipsy: provincial s. or coll.: late C.18–19. Cf. oiled.

oil up. To advise; to 'tip off': Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) Ex oil, n., 2.—2. To enliven (a bullock) with blow or stroke: Aus. bullock-drivers': C.20. K.S. Prichard, Working Bullocks, 1926.

oil up to. To attempt to bribe (a person): 1934 (The Passing Show, 1934). Cf. oil, v. Prob. ex.—2. To toady to: Harrow School: late C.19–20. (Arnold Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913.) Cf. oil, v., 2.

oiled. Drunk: s. or coll.: since early C.18 (Franklin, 1737—see DRINKS, in Appendix). In C.20, gen. as well-oiled. Cf. oil of barley, beer, and the oiled, oiled story, a mid-C.20 c.p. ref. the drivell of the tipsy—an ephemeral pun on 'the old, old story'.

oilier. A person (gen. male) addicted to drink: 1916. Prob. ex prec.—2. An oilskin coat: coll., orig. (middle 1880s) US, anglicised, esp. in RN, by 1900. Cf. oilies.—3. A cheat: Charterhouse: late C.19–20. Ex oil, v. Cf. bumfer.—4. A waiter in dining-hall: Marlborough College: C.20.

oilies. The same as oilier, 2, than which, in Eng. use, it is slightly earlier: coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Also in dial.

oils. See oil, 1.—2. (Very rare in the singular.) An oilskin coat: coll.: 1891 (J. Dale, Round the World: OED). Cf. oilier, 2, and oilies.

oily. An oilskin coat: 1926 (Richard Keverne). Cf. oilier, 2; oilies; oils, 2.—2. See oily rag.

oily-boy. Expatriate employee of a Near Eastern oil-company: Service officers': WW2+. (P.B.)

oily rag. A cigarette: rhyming s., on fag: C.20. Often shortened to oily; cf. oil-rag, 2.

oily wad. A seaman not specialising in anything: RN: from ca. 1914. (Bowen.) Ex the time such men 'have to spend cleaning brass-work with oily wads'.—2. Any one of nos. 1–36 of 'the first British oil-burning torpedo-boats': RN: from ca. 1916. Ibid.

oiner. A cad; university; ca. 1870–1915. Etym. obscure: ?Gr. οίνιζος, smell of wine.

oink! oink! 'imitation of pig's grunt, used as comment' (L.A., 1976): since mid-C.20.

ointment. Money: coll.: C.15–17. Ex the C.13 fabliau, De la Vieille qui Oint la Palme au Chevalier. F. & H.—2. The semen virile: low: C.18—early 20.—3. Butter: medical students': from ca. 1859. H., 2nd ed.

oips. See hoi.

Okak; properly Ocac. The Officer Commanding Administrative Centre: Army officers': 1915–18. F. & G.

Okakery, Ockakery. The Records Depot: id. (Ibid.) Ex prec. okay. See O.K.

oke! 'O.K.', adj., q.v.; yes!: C.20 US >, ca. 1930, anglicised, thanks (?) mainly to 'the talkies' (q.v.). Richard Church, in Spectator, 15 Feb. 1935, 'A child replied "oke" to something I said. After a shudder of dismay, I reflected that this telescoped version of "O.K.", now used to mean "Right you are", or "I agree", or any other form of assent, will ultimately appear in the textbooks as a legitimate word, with an example quoted from a poet who is at present mute and inglorious.' Prob. ex o.k., q.v. But cf. the Choctaw (h)oke, it is so (Thornton): which may well—in Britain at least—have > operative because of the interesting label on bottles of Mason's 'O.K.' Sauce.

okay. See next, 2.

okay-doke or -poke; okay-pokey. Perversions of O.K.: resp. 1934, 1935, 1936. The first occurs, e.g., in Michael Harrison, All the Trees were Green, 1936.—2. (okay-doke.) A wallet: (orig. and still mainly underworld) rhyming s.: since the late 1930s. (Franklyn 2nd.) On poke, n., 8. Often shortened to okay.

Okeydoke Pass. 'There is a track across the Nayu range [north of Akyab, Burma], which it crosses by the Ngakyedauk Pass, known to British troops as the Okeydoke Pass' (Philip Mason, A Matter of Honour, 1974): 1943+. A good example of the Brit. soldier's irrepressible determination to Hobson-Jobson every unfamiliar or difficult place-name. (P.B.) ol; occ. spelt ole. A slovenly form of old. Co-extensive with mod. English. In Westbourne Grove, London, W., stood 'Ole Bill's', an eating house.

old, n. Money: low: 1900, G.R. Sims, In London's Heart, 'Perhaps it's somebody you owe a bit of the old to, Jack.' ?abbr. old stuff.—2. Much.: coll.: early C.19, but rare. See the Scott quot'n in old, adj., 2.—3. As the old, the master: ca. 1860–1910. (B. & L.) Abbr. the old man.

old, adj. Crafty, clever, knowing: from ca. 1720; ob. Defoe, 'The Germans were too old for us there' (OED). Esp. in such phrases as old bird, dog, file, hand, soldier, stager, qq.v.—2. A gen. intensive = great, abundant, excessive, 'splendid': coll.: mid-C.15–20. Anon., ca. 1440, 'Gode olde fyghting was there' (OED); Tarlton, 1590, 'There was old ringing of bells'; Cotton, 1664, 'Old drinking and old singing'; Grose; Scott, 1814, 'So there was old to do about ransoming the bridegroom' (OED). From ca. 1860, only with gay, good, grand, high, and similar adj., as in The Referee, 11 Mar. 1883, 'All the children . . . had a high old time,' and with any as in 'any old time' or 'any old how' (Manchon).—3. Ugly: c.: late C.18—early 19. (Grose, 3rd ed.) Perhaps ex old Harry, Nick, One, Roger, etc., the devil.—4. (Mostly in terms of address.) Indicative of affection, cordiality, or good humour: coll.: 1588, Shakespeare, 'Old Lad, I am thine owne' (OED); B.E.; Grose; Hume Nisbet, 1892, 'Now for business, old boy.' Also old bean, chap, follow, man, thing, top, etc.—5. Hence, of places familiar to one: coll.: late C.19–20. Often good old, an approving phrase that gives a coll. and familiar var. to good: C.19–20. Perhaps ex senses 2 and 4. In the WW1 army, a c.p. 'gag' ran: 'Some say good old X: we say fuck old X or him'; still extant ca. 1970 (P.B.), and prob. pre-1914.—6. A gen. pej.: C.16–20; S.E. or coll. or s. as the second member is S.E. or coll. or s.; the practice itself is wholly (orig., almost wholly) unconventional. E.g. old block, fizgig, fogy, stick in the mud. See the second member of such phrases when they are not listed below.—7. In combination with (e.g.) Harry, Nick, One, Scratch, qq.v., the devil: coll.: from Restoration days, the earliest record in the OED being Old Nick in L'Estrange, 1668; old, however, was, in S.E., applied to Satan as early as C.11. Ex the S.E. sense in this connexion: primeval. See also old Bendy.

old Adam. The penis: low coll.: C.19–20. Ex S.E. sense, natural sin.

Old Agamemnon. 'The 69th Foot, now [1902] the 2nd Batt. of the Welsh Regiment' (F. & H.): army: late C.18—early 20. Ex the days when they were marines on the Agamemnon. See also Ups and Downs.

old age, the. The old age pension; hence, a pensioners' club or other organisation; as 'I've been down the Post Office to get my old age' or 'We went to Bristol on a trip with the Old Age': coll.: since mid-C.20, perhaps earlier. (P.B.) old age pension. In Bingo: 65. Since late 1950s. See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

old anchor. See anchor, 2.

old and bitter. A mother-in-law: proletarian:—1935. A pun on the brews of ale.

Old and Bold, the. The 5th Fusiliers, the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers: nickname gained during the Peninsular War. Also known as the Shiners and Wellington's Bodyguard. Carew.—2. This sobriquet was also bestowed upon the 29th Regt of Foot, later the Worcestershire Regt: C.19—early 20. Regimental Nicknames . . ., 1916 ed.

Old and Bolds, the. 'Naval officers brought back into the Service from the Retired List in time of war' (Granville): 1938+. With an ironic ref. to prec. entry.

Old Annie. See Annie, 2.

old as Charing Cross or as Paul's (i.e. St Paul's) or as Paul's steeple. Ancient; very old indeed: coll.: ca. 1650–1820. Howell, 1659 (Paul's steeple); Ray, 1678 (Charing Cross); Other topographical similes are † old as Aldgate and, in dial., † Cale Hill, † Eggerton, † Glastonbury tor, † Pandon Gate; cf. S.E. old as the hills.

old as my tongue and a little older than my teeth, as. A c.p. reply to an inquiry as to one's age: coll. (slightly ob.) and dial.: C.18–20. Swift, Polite Conversation, Dial. I. (Apperson.)

old as the itch, as. Extremely old: (low) coll.: C.18. Fuller.

old bach. A confirmed bachelor: coll.: from early 1870s. OED Sup.

old bag. An 'old sweat'; pej., an old soldier: lower classes' coll.:—1923; ob. Manchon.—2. An elderly, slatternly prostitute, hence pej. of an unpopular younger one: low: late C.19–20. Franklyn 2nd proposes a rhyme on old hag, but I doubt this: cf. bag, n., 5, and old boot.

Old Bailey underwriter. A forger on a small scale: ca. 1825–50. (Moncrieff, Van Diemen's Land, 1830.) ?orig. c.; certainly low.

old bastard, the. A complimentary term for a man of character (applied, e.g., to Churchill): Services' and working-men's: late C.19–20. (L.A., 1976.)

old battleaxe. An old, or an elderly, woman that is resentful and vociferous, thoroughly unpleasant, usually arrogant, and no beauty: since the early 1920s, if not, indeed, since ca. 1910. Cf.:-

old battleship or old battle-cruiser. A woman of the humorous mother-in-law type; a broad-shouldered, or stout, aggressive-looking woman: joc. coll.: since ca. 1914.

old bean. A term of address: perhaps orig. RN, from 1914 (Moe cites W.G. Carr) >, by 1917, gen.; ob. by ca. 1935. (Collinson.) See old, adj., 4.

old beeswing. A s. vocative (ob. by 1910, tby 1920). See bee's-wing, and old cock.

Old Ben. Newsagents' Benevolent Association Fund: journalists': since ca. 1920.

old (or, as with all names for the devil, Old Bendy or bendy). The devil: C.19–20 dial. rather than coll. Dial. also are: old a'll thing, old bogey, botheration, boy (q.v.), carle, chap (q.v.), child, cloots or Cloots, dad, fellow (q.v.), gentleman (q.v.), hangie, Harry (q.v.), hooky, hornie, lad (q.v.), Mahoun, man (q.v.), Nick (q.v.), or Nicker or Nickie or Nickie Ben, one (q.v.), Sam, Sanners or Sanny or Saunders, Scrat(t), Scratch (q.v.: also coll.), Scratchem, Smith, smoke, scooty, soss or Soss, and thief. For the coll. and s. terms, see under; cf. also old, adj., last sense. My essay 'The Devil and his Nicknames' in Words!

Old Bill. A veteran; any old soldier, esp. if with heavy, drooping whiskers: military coll., mostly officers'; 1915; very ob. by 1930. (F. & G.) Ex Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather's WW1 cartoon character.—2. 'An extraordinarily profitable fare' (Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939): taxi-drivers: since ca. 1917. Ex same source: 'Old Bill' usually wore a fairly benevolent expression.—3. A rank outsider (horse): racecourse: since early 1920s. (Alan Betts, The Awful Punter's Book, 1967.) Prob. ex same source as senses 1 and 2.—4. A policeman: c. and fringe-of-the-underworld s.: since late 1950s, perhaps earlier. (Robin Cook, The Crust on its Uppers, 1962.)—5. Hence, the Police Force in general, the Law personified, as in 'the Old Bill knew about him' (Zachary Scott, Paper Money, 1977): since ca. 1965. Has var. Uncle Bill, and, in the 1970s, simply the Bill. P.B.: in the absence of any known etym., I tentatively suggest an association with the pre-WW2 London police, many of them WW1 veterans with 'Old Bill' moustaches. Mr Arthur Moyle, of W. Kensington, comments, 1983, 'I cannot imagine working-class people using a term like "Old Bill" for the police for it sounds too sentimental; the Bairnsfather drawings were strictly for a middle-class readership as a view of the lovable Kipling type of private soldier'. He then proposes a very possible etym.: a blend, by the popular song 'Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey?' out of 'The Old Bailey'. This may sound rather far-fetched, but there are many stranger derivations in this Dict.

old Billy. The devil, but rarely except in like old Billy, like the devil, i.e. hard, furiously, etc. (Astley, 1894: OED.) Cf. the like similies.

old Billy-o. An occ. var. (—1923) of the prec. Manchon. old bird. An experienced thief: c.: 1877.—2. An experienced, knowing person: coll.: from ca. 1887. Cf. old dog, old hand, old soldier, old stager, qq.v.

old black men. See black chums.

old blade. A lowerdeck term of address: coll.: late C.18—mid-19. Bill Truck, Oct. 1822.

old blazes. The devil: low: 1849; ob. See old, adj., 7.

old blind Bob. Penis: low and raffish: C.20. (L.A., 1974.) Cf. the blind inches.

old block. See chip of the old block.

old bloke. See bloke.

Old Blue Lights. Var. of blue lights, a naval gunner. 'Taffrail', Carry On!, 1916.

old boat. 'A house, usually in an untidy state, where old people live' (Bournemouth Evening Echo, 20 Apr. 1966): c.: since ca. 1930.

Old Bogey. See old Bendy and bogey, 16.

old boiled egg. An O.B.E.: since ca. 1925. Alec Waugh, Fuel for the Flame, 1959, 'He was not grumbling at a C.M.G.; the best he'd hoped for when he started was the old boiled egg they'd given him in the Middle East.' See also M.B.E.

Old Bold Fifth. Var. of the Old and Bold, 1.

old boot. Derogatory for a slutish, promiscuous—and not necessarily physically old—woman: low: since mid-C.20. Cf. old bag, 2. (P.B.) old boots. The devil. Only in ... as old boots and esp. like old boots, a gen. intensive adv. Smedley, 1850, 'was out of sight like old boots'; Milliken, 'I jest blew away like old boots.' See old, adj., 7.—2. See old shoes, 2; boots, 6; like old boots; tough as an old lanyard knot.

old boy. A coll. vocative: C.17–20. Shakespeare. Cf. old chap. See old, adj., 4.—2. See entry at old Bendy: coll. and dial.: C.19 (? earlier)—20.—3. Any old or oldish man, or one in authority, esp. one's father, a headmaster, the managing director, etc.: coll.: C.19–20. It occurs in John L. Gardner, Military Sketch-Book (I, 41 and 104), 1831, and earlier in W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints, 1829 (Moe). Cf. old man, q.v. This (like the prec. sense) always, except in the vocative, goes with the.—4. A strong ale: brewers' coll.: ca. 1740–80. OED.

old boy net, the. Since mid-1950s, at latest, a shortening or var. of:-

old boy (or Old Boy) network, the. That social and, esp. business, connexion between old (former) Public School boys which, the envious assume, operates from reciprocal advantage in the professions and which is, by outsiders, regarded as social bias—as if the same sort of thing didn't operate in the trades and in all social classes! It is, at all levels, at least based upon old and trusted standards. Not, of course, s. but coll. and dating from the early 1950s. L.A. noted overhearing, 1959, the remark, 'The old boy network helps in getting jobs.' P.B.: by 1970, the Public School aspect had, at least in the Services, receded, and 'the net' had become merely a matter of 'knowing a chap', whether it be the commanding officer of one unit knowing that of another, or of co-operation among quartermasters who had helped each other in the past; i.e. men familiar enough to address each other as 'old boy'.

Old Braggs, the. The 28th Foot (in late C.19–20, the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment): military: from ca. 1750. Ex the name of its colonel (1734–59) with a good-humoured pun on brag. Also the Slashers (C.19–20; ob.). F. & G.

Old Brickdusts, the. The 53rd Foot, from ca. 1881 the King's Shropshire Light Infantry: military: C.19–20. Ex the brickdusty hue of their facings. F. & G.

Old Brown Cow. Any 'difficult' aircraft: airmen's: since ca. 1930. Ex a popular song so entitled; cf. cow, 5.

Old Brown Windsor. The anus: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) Ex the soap thus named.

old bubble. One's wife: rhyming s., on the already rhymed trouble (and strife): since ca. 1930. Petch cites an article by D.B. Wyndham-Lewis, in the Universe, 9 Feb. 1968.

old buck. A coll. term of address: early C.19—early 20. Moe cites the American Saturday Evening News, 8 Dec. 1821; and L.L.G., 1 Nov. 1823. Bill Truck, 1821, has my buck; this, and Glascock, 1829, seem to indicate a naval origin.—2. Impudence; back-answering: Services' and low: since early C.20. H. & P.—3. See buck, n., 13 and 16.

Old Bucks, the. The 16th Regiment of Foot (later the Bedfordshire Regt): C.19—early 20. The regt was raised in Buckinghamshire (Carew). Also known as the Feather-beds and the Peace-makers.

old buffer. An old fellow: C.19. W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 30), 1829, 'all for that old buffer on the hill' (Moe). See old, adj., 6, and buffer.

Old Buffs, the. The 3rd Foot (in late C.19–20, the East Kent Regiment, gen. called the Buffs): military: C.19–20. See Buffs. Also Nut-Crackers and Resurrectionists.

old buster. Old chap, gen. as vocative: 1905, H.A. Vachell in The Hill, 'You funny old buster!'; ob. by 1920, † by 1930. Ex buster, 5.

old buzzard. Contemptuous for elderly or old man: coll.: since ca. 1910. Orig., euph. for old bastard.

Old Canaries, the. The 3rd Dragoon Guards: military: late C.19–20. (F. & G.) Ex their yellow facings.

Old Cars. Old Carthusians: from ca. 1880: 'justly considered a vulgarity' (A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900).

old cat. 'A cross old woman' (Grose, 1st ed.): coll.: mid-C.18–20. Cf. cat, n., 11.

Old Caustic. See caustic, 2.

old chap. A coll. vocative: since early C.19. (Bill Truck, Oct. 1822; Egan's Grose, 1823.) See chap and old, adj., 4.

old Charley. An infantryman's pack: see Charley, 7.

old chaw. 'Old Harrovian, a term of affection': Harrow School: since ca. 1870(?). Lunn.

old China (often me or my old ...). A var., mostly as vocative, of China, q.v., a mate or companion.

old China hand. One who has spent many years in China in commercial or civil service or as a missionary: coll.: since ca. 1910. By 1945, few of them remained, except in Hong Kong; and the term will necessarily become less and less a matter of usage, more and more a relic of history.

old chum. See chum (ca. 1840–1900). C.P. Hodgson, Reminiscences, 1846.

old clanking irons. A constant grumbler: RN: C.20. P-G-R. old clo! A c.p. applied to anything worn out, exhausted, behind the times: proletarian: from ca. 1860; ob. (B. & L.) Ex the street cry of the men who bought old clothes and rags, etc.

old cock. See cock (= man, fellow) in relation to old, adj., 4. Used both in address (Mark Lemon, 1867, 'Mr. Clendon did not call Mr. Barnard old cock, old fellow, or old beeswing') and in ref. = an (old) man (Marriott-Watson, 1895, 'He was a comfortable old cock... and pretty well to do'). Indeed, it prob. goes back to ca. 1770, for it occurs in Frederick Pilon, He Would Be a Soldier, 1786, at II, ii, 'Well, father, you sent for me: now, what do you want, my old cock?'—2. Frequently for cock, n., 14, nonsense, as 'Oh, that's just a load of old cock!': since mid-C.20 at latest.

old cockalorum (or -elorum). A very familiar var. of prec.: later C.19—early 20. Baumann.

old codger. See codger (Colman, 1760), and old, adj., 6. Old Contemptibles, the. Regular Army and Reserves sent to France as an expeditionary force in 1914: late 1915: military coll. >, by 1918, S.E. Ex the Kaiser's alleged 'General French's contemptible little army'. F. & G.; OED Sup.

old crawler, esp. prec. by regular. A pej., whether in ref. or in the vocative: late C.19–20: (mainly Aus.) coll. or s. 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1888. Prob. ex pub-crawler or crawler, a contemptible person, a toyad.

old cuff. See cuff, 1, and cuffin in relation to old, adj., 4. (B.E.) old curiosity. One's wife: see curiosity ...

old daddy. A Cockney 'prefix', as in old daddy beer tonky—old daddy grumps—old daddy puddin'—old daddy tea-pot (examples furnished by Julian Franklyn in 1962): C.20, certainly; prob. since ca. 1870. Moreover, old mother is used in the same way.

Old Dart, the. England, esp. London: Aus. and NZ: C.20. An early occurrence is in Bart Kennedy, A Sailor Tramp, 1902. P.B.: Wilkes cites Pierce Egan, Book of Sports, 1832, 'News has been received from London, of this extraordinary match, which excited exceeding interest amongst the sporting fraternity in the Old Dart.' Etym.?

old Davy. The devil: coll., mainly lower classes': since late C.18, to judge by an English song quoted, 4 May 1805, in an American magazine, The Port Folio (V, no. 17, p. 135, col. 3: Moe).—2. 'Davy Jones'—the spirit of the sea, hence the sea itself, as in Charles Dibdin's song, 'The Five Engagements', with its 'I've been rock'd on old Davy's rough bed': ca. 1780–1830. (Moe.)

old ding. The female pudend: low: C.19—early 20. (Egan's Grose.) ?ex ding, to strike.

old dog. See old dog at it.—2. Abbr. gay old dog: coll.: C.19–20.—3. (Of a person) 'a lingering antique' (F. & H.): coll.: 1846, Dickens; ob. Ex sense 1.—4. A half-burnt plug of tobacco remaining in a pipe: prison c. > low: mid-C.19—early 20. B.&L.

old dog at common prayer. (Of a clergyma) 'A Poor Hackney that cou'd Read, but not Preach well' (B.E.): late C.17—mid-18. Cf.:

old dog at it, be. To be expert at something: coll.: ca. 1590–1880. Nashe, 'Olde dogge at that drunken, staggering kind of verse'; Butler; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Cf. the S.E. proverbial old dog for a hard road.

old donah. A mother: tramps' c. (—1893) >, by 1914, also Cockney s. (P.H. Emerson.) See donah; cf. old gel or woman.

Old Doss. Bridewell (London): c. of ca. 1810–95. (Lex. Bal.; Baumann.) See doss.

Old Dozen, the. The 12th Foot (in late C.19–20, the Suffolk Regiment): military: C.19–20.

old driver. The devil: low: C.19—early 20. Cf. skipper, q.v. old dutch or Dutch, gen. prec. by my, occ. by your or his. One's wife: from the middle 1880s. When Albert Chevalier introduced the term into one of his songs (cf. the later, more famous poem, 'My Old Dutch'), he explained that it referred to an old Dutch clock, the wife's face being likened to the clock-face. Prob. influenced by duchess (cf. my etymological error, at old dutch, in the 1st ed. of Slang). Franklyn 2nd: 'Duchess of Fife. Wife, 19C. Invariably reduced to Dutch (my old Dutch).' And L.A., 1974, writes 'With all due respect to Albert Chevalier, he was talking cock. "Old Dutch" is "Dutch plate": mate. I can vouch for it (mate) among Cockneys in the 1920s and 30s.'

Old Ebony. Blackwood's Magazine: journalistic and literary: later C.19—early 20. E.P. suggests 'ex the sober black lettering, etc., on the cover', but ebony is a black wood (P.B.) old egg. A very familiar term of address (rarely to women): coll.: ca. 1918–28. OED Sup.

old enough to know better. A mostly feminine c.p. reply to 'How old are you?': late (? mid)-C.19–20. Cf. old as my tongue ...

old ewe dressed lamb-fashion, an. An old woman dressing like a young one: coll.: 1777, Gentleman's Magazine, 'Here antique maids of sixty three/Drest out lamb-fashion you might see'; Grose, 1785, as above. † by 1900. See mutton dressed as lamb, the mod. form.

Old Eyes, the. The Grenadier Guards: army: C.19—early 20. Also the Bermuda Exiles, †; the Coalheavers; the Housemaids' Pets; the Sand-Bags, ob. Cf. young Eyes.

Old Faithful. See Annie, 2.—2. Field-Marshal Montgomery's car in N. Africa and Italy: Army: 1943–4. P-G-R.

old fake. A criminal undergoing his second probation: Aus. c.: ca. 1830–70. B., 1942.

Old Farmers, the. The 5th Dragoon Guards. 'In all, the Regiment spent eighty years in Ireland, and almost became part of the "Emerald Isle"—hence their nickname "The Old Farmers"' (Carew). Also known as the Green Horse or Green Dragons.

old-fashioned look. A look, a glance, of quizzical disapproval: since ca. 1930.

old fellow. A coll. vocative: since early C.19. C.M. Westmacott, 1825 (OED). See fellow.—2. As the old fellow, the ship's captain: RN: from late C.18. Bill Truck, Blackwood's, Sep. 1821.—3. In some English schools it = a former member of the school:—1844 (OED); ob. by 1930.

Old Fighting Tenth, the. The 10th Regiment of Foot, later the Lincolnshire Regiment: C.19—early 20. (F. & G.) Also known as the Springers and the Yellow Bellies.

old file. An old, or rather an experienced, man: low: early C.19—early 20. (Bill Truck, Feb. 1826.) Cf. old, adj., 6. Perhaps ex:—2. A miser: see file.

Old Five and Threepennies, the. The 53rd Regiment of Foot, later the King's Shropshire Light Infantry: C.19. Ex the number '53', and the C.19 daily pay of an ensign. Also known as the Brickdusts.

Old Flash and a Dash, the. The Royal Welch Fusiliers: military: from ca. 1880. Rhyming s. on flash: 'They were the only regiment in the Army privileged to wear the flash... a smart bunch of five black ribbons sewed in a fan shape on the back of the tunic collar: it was a relic of the days when soldiers wore their hair long, and tied up the end of the queue in a bag to prevent it greasing their tunics' (Richards).

old floorer. Death: low: ca. 1840–1930. Cf. S.E. the leveller.

Old Fogs, the. The 87th Foot (in late C.19–20, the Royal Irish Fusiliers): military: ex the battle-cry, fog an bealach (clear the way) influenced by old fogeys.—2. '[They] met an "Old Fog" (a cant [=s.] name given to a foot artilleryman, the derivation of which is involved in a deep and awful mystery)... [The Bengal Horse Artillerymen] accosted him familiarly by the name of "Old Fog" ... to which the "Fog" replied (highly irate it would appear' (N.W. Bancroft, From Recruit to Staff Sergeant, 1885): earlier C.19. ?Short for old fogey, or a perversion of foot. (P.B.) old fogey. See fogey.

old fork, the. See fork, n., 4.

old four-by-two. The quartermaster: army: earlier C.20. (B. & P.) Ex the regulation size of the piece of flannelette that, attached to the pull-through, is used to clean a rifle barrel.

Old Freddie, the. (The consortium of) merchant banks: financial world: since late 1940s. Observer, 28 June 1959, 'The Old Freddie quietly partition the City's vast business among themselves—which is why the City can put over a huge money deal in half the time it takes Wall Street—and the world is presented with a united front.' Cf. the old boy network.

Old Fritz and Old Heine are mere 'affectionate' extension of Fritz and Heine, usu. Heinie, for the German soldier: WW1.

Old Frizzle. The ace of spades ('Old Mossy-face'): card-players': late C.19–20. Country Life, 17 Jan. 1963.

old fruit (, my). A joc. term of address: since early C.20. Cf. my pippin and old bean, egg, etc.

Old Fruit and Nut. King Tutankhamun: rhyming s.; British Museum guards' and attendants': during the Treasures of Tutankhamun Exhibition, Mar.–Sep. 1972.

old fucky-off to Q.E. What's-his-name: RN: since ca. 1950. The Q.E. is, of course, the Queen Elizabeth.

old gal. See old girl, 4.

Old Gang, the. Uncompromising Tories: political coll. nickname: from ca. 1870. Ware.

old geezer. See geezer.

old gel (= girl). A Cockney var. of old donah, q.v.: C.20. B. & P.

old gentleman. The devil: s. > coll.; also dial. C.18–20. T. Brown, 1700 (OED); Barham.—2. A card slightly larger and thicker than the others: cardsharper's c.: 1828 (G. Smeeton, Doings in London). Ex sense 1 (the very devil for the sharped).—3. Time personified: C.18. Ned Ward (1703): cited by W. Matthews.

old gentleman's bed-posts. A var. (—1874) of devil's bed-posts, q.v. H., 5th ed.

Old Gents, the. A synonym of Gorgeous Wrecks: coll.: 1915+. F. & G. old geyser. I.e. old geezer: see geezer.

old girl. A ship: nautical: since early C.19. W.N. Glascock, Naval Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at I, 17 (Moe).—2. A woman of any age whatsoever: pet or pej. term, in ref. or address: late C.18–20, L.L.G., 1824 (Moe).—3. A term of address to a mare; a pet name: 1837, Dickens (OED). Or to a bitch, sow, etc. (P.B.).—4. A wife; a mother: low (—1887, Baumann, 'my old girl') > respectable coll. Var. old gal: from ca. 1895: low s. (The Idler, June 1892: the old gal). Old gel is a representation of the Cockney. pron.; cf. old donah, old woman. Old gal is, in C.20, used as in sense 2, as in, e.g., 'Taffrail', Pincher Martin, 1916.—5. See Granny, 2.

old gooseberry. The devil: low: from ca. 1790 (Grose, 3rd ed.; 1861, H. Kingsley in Rovenshoe); ob. App. orig. only in play (up) old gooseberry, q.v., to play the devil: coll.: from ca. 1790; ob. Grose, 3rd ed.; Dickens; H. Kingsley, 1865, 'Lay on like old gooseberry.' Contrast play gooseberry, to act as chaperone.—2. A wife: low London:—1909 (Ware).

old gown. Smuggled tea: low: ca. 1860–1930. H., 2nd ed.

old grabem puden. 'Old women'—whether wife or mother: rhyming s.: since ca. 1870.

old Hack. A var. (? euph.) of old Harry, q.v., in play old hack with. Sgt-Major T. Gowing, letter, 5 Apr. 1876.

old hag, the. The matron; preparatory schools': late C.19–20. Cf. hag.

old hand. An experienced person; an expert: coll.: 1785 (Grose). See old, adj., 1. Cf. Old bird, dog, file, soldier, stager, qq.v.—2. An ex-convict: c. (mostly Aus.): ca. 1860–1905. T. McCombie, Australian Sketches, 1861; 1865, J.O. Tucker, 'Reformed convicts, or, in the language of their proverbial cant, "old hands".' Morris.—3. An experienced settler (hence, farmer, drover, etc.) in the outback: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1860. B., 1943.

Old Harridan, the. 'Dame Fortune', 'Lady Luck': late C.17–early 18. W. Matthews cites Ned Ward, 1700.

old Harry. The devil: coll.: from ca. 1740; ob. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. the Lord Harry (q.v.), 1687, Congreve.—2. In B.E.: 'A Composition used by Vintners, when they bedevil their Wines', which explains the semantics. (For this B.E., see Slang.)—3. In play old Harry (with), to play the devil: coll.: since early C.19. 'They've played old Harry with the rigging' (Marryat, 1837). Cf. old gooseberry, old hack, etc. H.'s etym. (old hairy) is very ingenious: but, I fear, nothing more.

old Harvey. The large boat (launch) of a man-of-war: nautical: ca. 1850–1930.

old hat. The female pudend: low: late C.17–early 20. B.E., 1699, at top-diver; Fielding; Grose, 'Because frequently felt'.—2. A rank-and-file supporter of Sir James M'Culloch: Victoria (Aus.): ca. 1885–90. The anecdotal origin is less than usually suspect. Morris.—3. Old-fashioned; out-of-date: coll.: since ca. 1945.

old haybag. Disparaging for a woman: low: since ca. 1910.

old heave-ho. See give (someone or -thing) the old heave-ho.

old henwife. Var. of old haybag.

Old Home Town, the. Cairo: Eighth Army: 1942–3. P-G-R.

old horny (horny) or Hornington. The penis: low: C.18–20; ob. Cf. the indelicate sense of horn and Miss Horner, the female pudend.

old horse; also salt horse. Salt junk: nautical: from ca. 1858. H., 2nd ed.—2. (Also and esp. old hoss.) A coll. vocative: orig. US, 'but now in common use here among friends' (H., 5th ed., 1874; but H. died in 1873). See also horse, n., 9.

old hoss. See prec., 2.

old house on or over (one's) head, bring an. To get into trouble: from ca. 1575 (ob.): coll. till C.19, then proverbial S.E. Gascoigne; Sedley. (Apperson.)

old huddle and twang. App. a coll. intensive of old huddle, a miserly old person: ca. 1575–1640. Both are in Lyly, 1579. Cf. old file, q.v.

Old Hundredth, the. The Prince of Wales's Leinster Regiment (Royal Canadians), disbanded in 1922; orig., the 100th Regt of Foot. Carew.

old identity. See identity.

old image. A very staid person: coll.: 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'You're a regular old image, Jim'; slightly ob. ?ex graven image.

Old Immortals. The 76th Regt of Foot, later The Duke of Wellington's Regiment: army nickname since ca. 1804. (F. & G.) In the Mahratta War, 1803–4, most of the men were wounded, very few killed, and so 'old faces' kept re-appearing. Also known as the Old Seven-and-Sixpennies.

Old Imperturbable. Philip Mead, Hampshire and England batsman: cricketers' coll. nickname. Observer, 14 June 1936. (In Aug. 1936, he exceeded W.G. Grace's aggregate of runs in first-class cricket: his calmness has been held responsible for this audacity.) From ca. 1930.

Old Inniskillings, the. The 6th (Inniskilling) Dragoons: military coll.: C.19–20; ob. Also the Skillingers, by a rhyming or an abbr. perversion of Inniskilling.

old iron. Shore clothes; work up (i.e. refurbish) old iron, to go ashore: nautical: C.19–early 20. Ex the re-painting of rusted iron. Cf. clobber, n.—2. 'Small pilferings of any sort of material entrusted to workmen on a job': South Lancashire s. (—1905) rather than dial. EDD Sup.—3. A bicycle; bicycles: since ca. 1925. H. & P.—4. 'Any copper coins which an airman will risk in a card game or raffle' (H. & P.): RAF: since ca. 1930.

old iron and brass. A pass: military rhyming s.: early C.20. B. & P.

old jacker. A senior boy retained to show the youngsters the ropes: training-ships': late C.19–early 20. Bowen.

old Jamaica. The sun: nautical rhyming s., on old Jamaica rum: late C.19–early 20. Bowen; Franklyn.

Old Jocks, the. The Royal Scots Greys (2nd Dragoons): army nickname: late C.19–early 20. (F. & G.) Also known as the Bubbly Jocks.

Old John – always on blob or ready to spit or with a wet nose. A low naval c.p., C.20, directed at a mature rating of unhygienic habits.

Old Kent Road. See knock 'em ...—2. (The.) A long alleyway running, between decks, from bow to stern of HMS Kent, the guided-missile destroyer, commissioned in 1963: RN: 1963+. (Granville, 1963.)

Old King Cole. The dole: rhyming s.: since the late 1920s. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) Since ca. 1950, the old has often been displaced by Nat, in deference to Nat King Cole, the American entertainer; since ca. 1955, usu. Nat, as in 'on the Nat'. (Franklyn 2nd.) Influenced by National?

old kohai. 'One who has long been out East and knows the ropes' (Jackson): RAF: ca. 1925–45. Ex qui-hi.

old lad. A coll. vocative: late C.16–20. See old, adj., 4.

old lady. Any old woman: coll.: since late C.18. The L.L.G., 21 Feb. 1824 (Moe).—2. One's wife or mother: coll.: from ca. 1870. (OED Sup.) US usage goes back to late C.18, to judge by The Port Folio, 13 Mar. 1802, p. 73 (Moe).—3. A term of address to a woman come down in the world: low: C.19. Bee.—4. A card broader than the rest: card-sharpers' c.: 1828 (G. Smeeton). See old gentleman, 2.—5. The female pudend: low: C.19–20. Cf. old man, n., 1.

Old Lady Five Fingers. Masturbation: low; mostly Can.: C.20.

Old Lady of the Bund, the. The North China Daily News, published at Shanghai ca. 1855–1950: among Britons in the Far East.

Old Lady of Threadneedle Street, the. The Bank of England: coll.: 1797 (Gilray); Punch, 1859, 'The girl for my money. The old lady of Threadneedle Street'. Ex its position in London, its age, and its preciseness.

old lag. See lag, n., 7. 'A recidivist. A convict who has served several sentences of penal servitude' (Tempest, 1950).

old ling. The same as old hat, 1: low: mid-C.18–mid-19. (Grose, P.) See ling, n., 2.

Old Loyals, the. The 23rd Battalion of the London Regiment (Territorial): military: late C.19–early 20. (F. & G.) Ex its motto. See also London English.

old lug. A term of abuse or of reproach: army: ca. 1930–45. P-G-R.

old Madge. A cudgel(?): ca. 1640–1750 (very approx.). Dryden, Sir Martin Mar-All, ca. 1668 (Moe).

old man, n. A father: low coll.: since early C.19. This sense was perhaps adumbrated in B.E., 1699. Witness the entry: 'Backt, dead, as he wishes the old man backt, he longs to have his Father upon six men's shoulders'. But I doubt it. A genuine British example occurs in the Dublin University Magazine, Sep. 1834 (p. 271); but A Dict. of American English records it for 1792. (Moe).—2. A husband: low (also joc.) coll.: 1768, Sterne; 1848, Thackeray; 1856, Whyte-Melville. OED.—3. The penis: low: C.19–20. Cf. old lady, 5, and old woman, 4.—4. A full-grown male kangaroo: Aus. coll.:—1827 (Peter Cunningham, Two Years in New South Wales). 'The Aboriginal corruption is wool-man' (Morris).—5. The captain of a merchant or passenger ship: nautical coll.: adopted, ca. 1860, ex US. (H., 3rd ed; W. Clark Russell, Sailors' Language, 1883.) Usu. as the old man. Hence, also, the captain of a warship: RN: late (? mid-)C.19–20. 'Taffrail', Carry On!, 1916.—6. Hence, any chief, captain, employer, prison governor, headmaster, etc.: coll.: C.20. All the 'commander' senses become crystallised and pinned in the very English coll. use of the old man for the head of a Service—a Ministry—a great institution—a profession, even the head of the State (e.g. the Prime Minister), the country.—7. A coll. vocative: (?) mid-C.19–20; verging, in C.20, on S.E. Punch, 24 Aug. 1885 (OED).—8. 'The ridge between two sleepers in a feather bed' (F. & H.): low:—1890. B. & L.—9. A blanket for wrapping up a baby or young child: nurses': late

C.19–20.—10. 'That part of a beer-engine in which the surplus beer collects' (Dr H.W. Dalton, letter, 1951): Anglo-Irish: C.20.

old-man, adj. Large; larger than usual; 'mature ... extremely strong' (B., 1959): Aus. coll.: since earlier C.19. (R. Howitt, 1845.) Ex prec., 4. Cf. piccaninny, adj.

old man in the boat. See little man in the boat.

old man Mills. Collective for the Mills hand-grenades so familiar to the entire British Army of WW1. Ex the name of the inventor.

old man must be working overtime, her or the. In ref. to a woman with a very large family: mostly lower-middle-class: C.20. Cf. old man, n., 2 and 3.

old man's milk. Whisky: low coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. (Different in dial.)

old mark, the. One's favourite taxicab rank: taxi-drivers': since ca. 1910. Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939.

Old Mick. Nauseated: rhyming s. (on sick): late C.19–20. In an interview published in Cinema, early in Dec. 1967, Tommy Steele, 'Blimey, after you've got abah't twelve spoonfuls down yer, on top o' Christmas dinner, yer don't half feel Old Mick.'

Old Mo, the. 'The celebrated Middlesex Music Hall (the Mogul, or the Old Mo)' (Ronald Pearsall): ca. 1870–1910.

old moo. See moo.

old mother. See old daddy.

old mother Hubbard, that's. That's incredible: proletarian c.p.: ca. 1880–1910. (Ware.) Ex the nursery rhyme.

old Mother Slipper-Slopper. A little old woman: coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Ex a nursery rhyme.

old moustache. An 'elderly vigorous man with grey moustache': lower classes': ca. 1880–1914. Ware.

old Mr Goree or Gory. A gold coin: mid-C.17–early 19: c. >, ca. 1750, s. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose.) Perhaps ex the bright colour; ?cognate with Romany gorishi, a shilling, ex Turkish ghrush; most prob., however, ex the place (Goree).

old Mr Grim. Death: coll.: C.18–mid-19. Cf. old floorer.

old mud-hook. A frequent var. of mud-hook, 2 (q.v.). B. & P.

old nag. A cigarette: mostly military rhyming s. (on fag, q.v.): C.20. B. & P.

old Newton (got him, took him, etc.), often shortened to Newton, refers to a pilot crashing, esp. if fatally: RAF: since ca. 1925. (Observer, 4 Oct. 1942, John Moore, 'new R.A.F. Slang'.) Gravity is an aircraft's implacable foe; Isaac Newton discovered the laws of gravity.

old Nick. The devil: coll.: 1668 (L'Estrange). The date of F. & H.'s earlier record is suspect. Suspect also is 'Hudibras' Butler's etym.: 'Nick Machiavel had no such trick, though he gave's name to our Old Nick.' Often abbr. to Nick, q.v. Certainly ex Nicholas, perhaps influenced by Ger. Nickel, a goblin (W.). Cf. old Harry; see old, adj., 7.—2. See boy with the boots.

Old Oak. London: locomotive 'spotters': mid-C.20. Colin Clifford, Each a Glimpse, 1970, 'told me that No. 6000 "King George V" ... had just been ... slanderously called a "crate" because, being an "Old Oak" (London) engine it was seen too frequently.' Prob. rhyming s., on the Smoke, London. (P.B.) old one, often spelt old 'un. The devil: C.11–20: S.E. until C.18, then coll.; ob. (Grose.) See old, adj., last sense.—2. A quizzical familiar term of address: coll.:—1811; slightly ob. Lex. Bal.—3. Hence, one's father: coll.: 1836, Dickens. (Like prec. senses, with the.)—4. Hence, the pantaloons (who was gen. the fool's father): theatrical: from ca. 1850; ob.—5. A horse more than three years old: from ca. 1860: racing coll. > S.E.—6. The headmaster: Public Schools': late C.19–20. P.G. Wodehouse, Tales of St Austin's, 1903.

Old One-Eye. HMS Cyclops: RN: early C.20. Bowen; 'Taffrail' has Ol' (or Ole) One Eye. Ex the legend of Cyclops old one-two, the. Copulation: low; since early C.20. 'I gave her the old one-two one-two' (T.C.H. Raper, 1973). Ex boxing, swift punches.—2. Male masturbation: low, mostly Cockneys': late C.19–20.

old oyster. A low vocative: ca. 1890–1930. Milliken, 1892, 'Life don't want lifting, old oyster,' which puns the Shakespearean tag.

old palaver. See palaver, n., 1.

old paste-horn. (Gen. a nickname for) a large-nosed man: mostly shoemakers': from ca. 1856; ob. by 1930. See paste-horn and cf. conky, q.v.

old peg(g). 'Poor Yorkshire cheese, made of skimmed milk' (Grose, 1st ed.): late C.18–mid-19 coll., C.18–19 dial. (EDD). ?because hard and dry.

old pelt. 'Applied to old and worn-out pressmen—referring to the old ink pelts used in olden times by these individuals for distributing the ink' (B. & L.): printers': mid-C.19–earlier 20.

old pharaoh. A var. of pharaoh, q.v.: late C.17–early 19. G. Meriton.

old pip. An upper-classes' coll. term of address: from ca. 1930. (John G. Brandon, West End!, 1933.) Cf. old fruit.

old pit, the. See pit, n., 3.

old plug. See plug, n., 3.

old pod. See pod, n., 3.

old Poger. (The devil.) Prob. a ghost word fathered by the Lex. Bal., 1811, and copied by Egan and F. & H.: error caused by mingling the successive old peg and old Roger in Grose, first three edd. Perhaps, however, poger is a misprint for poguer = poker; see:-

old poker, Old Poker. The devil: coll.: 1784, Walpole, 'As if old Poker was coming to take them away'. Perhaps 'he who pokes', but more prob. poker = hobgoblin, demon: if the latter, then S.E. until C.19, then coll., after ca. 1830, mainly US; except in US, † by 1880. Cf. by the holy poker! at holy poker, 2, which it may have suggested.

old pot. An old man; the old pot, one's father: late C.19–20. P.H. Emerson; also Aus. (C.J. Dennis, 1916). A shortening of:

old pot and pan. 'Old man' = husband, father; occ. 'old woman' = wife, woman: mid-C.19–20 rhyming s. († by 1915 for a woman).—2. Hence, any Commanding Officer: military: C.20. B. & P.

old put. See put, 2.

old raspberry. A red-nosed 'character': lower classes': —1923 (Manchon). Ex the colour. See razzo.

old rip. An old prostitute showing signs of age: low: late C.19–20.—2. See rip, n.

old Robin. An experienced person: coll.: ca. 1780–1830. (J. Potter, 1784: OED). Cf. old bird, hand, soldier, stager, qq.v. See old, adj., 1.

Old Rock, the. The Reformatory Training Ship Cornwall: C.20. Netley Lucas, My Selves, 1934.

old Roger. The devil: coll.: ca. 1720–1840. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) Cf. old Harry, old Nick.—2. The pirates' flag: 1723; by 1785, replaced by jolly Roger.

old rope. (Very) strong or rank tobacco: Services': since ca. 1925. (H. & P.; Granville.) In the Navy, it specifies perique (Weekly Telegraph, 13 Sep. 1941).

Old Ruffin. An early C.19 form of Ruffin, the devil: c. Ainsworth.

old salt. An experienced sailor: nautical coll.: C.19–20. See old, adj., 1.

Old Sandbag. Ali Ihsan Bey, a Turkish commander on the Mesopotamian front, 1917: Brit. soldiers'. (A.J. Barker, The Neglected War, 1967.) Included as an example of Hobson-Jobson.

Old Saucy Seventh. The 7th (Queen's Own) Hussars: military: C.19–20. ob. Also † Lily-White Seventh, Old Strawboots (ob.), Old Straws (ob.) and † Young Eyes.

old scratch or o-S.-. The devil: low coll.: 1740 (OED); Smollett; Trollope. In late C.19–20, mostly dial. See also Scratch.

Old Seven and Sixpennies, the. The 76th Foot (from ca. 1881, the 2nd Battalion, West Riding Regiment): C.19–20; ob. Ex the number '76' and the (former) amount of a lieutenant's pay. Also the Old Immortals and the Pigs, q.v. at pigs, 4. old shaver. See shaver. Cf. the more gen. young shaver.

old shall. An old (sailing-ship) sailor: nautical: mid-C.19–20.; ob. Ex S.E. shellback. Cf. old ship.

old sherbet, the. A drink, as in 'a drop of the old sherbet': ca. 1890–1975. (Petch, 1969.) As a drink—an effervescent fruit-juice—it was, in Edwardian days, fashionable. Since ca. 1950, it has predominantly meant a variety of water-ice.

old ship. A joc. coll. address to a sailor: orig. and mostly nautical, to a former ship-mate: early C.19–early 20. Bill Truck, Nov. 1822; Bowen.

old ships – leaky ships! A counter to the late C.19–mid-20 RN c.p. last ship's the best ship and the good old days (cliché): RN 1970s. (Peppitt.) But surely since the 1950s?

old shoe. Good luck: c.: C.19. 'Prob. alluding to shoes and slippers thrown at a newly married couple' (B. & L.).

old shoes. Rum: low: late C.19–early 20. Why?—2. In ride in (or, more gen., wear) old shoes (occ. boots), to marry, or to keep, another man's mistress: coll.: C.19–early 20.

old shoes! up again! 'No rest for the wicked!': semi-proverbial coll.:—1887; ob. Baumann.

old shopkeeper. See shopkeeper.

old shovel-penny. 'The paymaster, who is generally an ancient' (Ware): military:—1909; †.

old six. 'Old ale at sixpence a quart (B. & L.): proletarian: ca. 1860–1914.

Old Slop. The Times: London: ca. 1840–50. when that newspaper, having no will of its own, was trying to attract attention. Ex Fr. salope, a slut. Ware.

old so-and-so, that or the. A figurative bastard; jocularly euph. coll.: though heard ca. 1930, not gen. until ca. 1938.

old socks. A term of address: Can.: C.20. Garnett Radcliffe, in Passing Show, 27 Jan. 1934, 'Hey, Morrison, old socks. How's things?'

old soldier, n. An experienced, esp. if crafty, man: coll.: 1722, Defoe, 'The Captain [was] an old soldier at such work' (OED). See old, adj., 1. Cf. come the old soldier, q.v. Contrast:—2. A simple fellow, gen. in the proverbial an old soldier, an old innocent: mid-C.19–20; very ob. R.L. Stevenson in St Ives, 1894. Apperson.—3. An old quid of tobacco; a cigar-end: low: late C.19–20.—4. A bad-tempered sort of ant: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—5. See fight the old soldier, to malingering; TAVERN TERMS §6 (near end), in Appendix.—6. An empty bottle: ca. 1880–1910. Cf. synon. dead soldier or dead marine.

old-soldier, v. To 'come the old soldier over' (a person): coll.: 1892 (OED).

old soldier – old shit(e)! 'The usual reply to a man who tried to claim superiority by reason of his long service' (Frank Roberts in P-G-R): army c.p.: C.20. Cf.:-

old soldiers – old cunts. A c.p. dating since before 1914; orig., Regular Army. Sometimes the exasperated sergeant or sergeant-major will add, 'You ain't even that; a cunt is useful.'

old soldiers never die – they always smell that way! A parody of '... —they only (or simply) fade away', itself a parody of the song 'Kind Thoughts Can Never Die': army: later C.20. (Ian Pearsall, 1980.)

old son. My fine fellow; my dear chap: Aus. coll., from ca. 1870; in C.20, also Brit. (B. & L.) Sometimes my old son, and occ. my old brown son.

old Southern custom. See it's an old (somewhere) custom.

old spit and polish (or shine). See spit and polish, 2.

old split-foot. The devil: low joc.: ?orig. US (Lowell, 1848); very ob. by 1930.

old sport. A coll. term of address: 1905 (OED Sup.) Ex sport, a good fellow.

Old Square-toes. A coll. nickname for a pedantic, old-fashioned man: later C.18–19. 1771 (SOD). Grose, 1st ed., 1785, defines it as 'one's father' or 'father': † by 1860.

old squirt. An elderly passenger: (London) taxi-drivers': since ca. 1912. Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939, 'An affectionate term'.

old stager. A very experienced person: coll.: 1711, Shaftesbury, whence we see that the term was orig. applied to travellers by stage-coach (OED); the gen. sense was well established by 1788: witness Grose, 2nd ed. Cf. old hand.
old stander. A naval seaman transferring from ship to ship as his captain is transferred: naval coll.: C.18–mid-19, Bowen virtually implies. Cf. old stager.
Old Steadfast. Woodfull, the Australian test cricketer of 1926–34 and captain in 1930–4: cricketers' nickname: from 1930. Also, as in Daily Telegraph, 23 Apr. 1934, the Rock or the Unboatable.
Old Steams. Shares in the City of Dublin Steam Company: Stock Exchange:—1895 (A.J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary). old stick. A pej. applied to a person (cf. stick, q.v.): coll.: C.19–20; ob. See old, adj., 6. Cf. next entry.—2. A complimentary vocative: ca. 1800–70. (Halliwell.) Cf. old, adj., 4. old stick in the mud. (In vocative and ref.) a very staid person: coll.: from ca. 1820. (Moncrieff, 1823, Tom and Jerry.) P.B.: in mid-later C.20, often abbr., as in 'He's a funny old stick'; cf. prec., 1.
old sticker. Army officers' s. of ca. 1810–50, as in John L. Gardner, The Military Sketch-Book, 1827, "'Good-tempered Old Stagers" and "Old Stickers", meaning thereby that they can "go" at the bottle, and "stick" at the table till "all's blue".' (Moe.) Cf. sticker, 3.
Old Strawboots or Straws. See Old Saucy Seventh and Strawboots. Ex having, at Warburg (1760), substituted straw-bands for outworn boots. Very ob. if not †.
old strike-a-light. One's father: ca. 1850–60. (F. & H., at governor.) Ex his exclam. on being asked for loans.
old stripes. See stripes, 1.
Old Stubborns, the. The 45th Regiment of Foot, later the 1st Battalion, the Sherwood Foresters (itself orig. a nickname); 'because of their splendid bravery at the Battle of Talavera in the Peninsular War' (Carew): C.19. old sweat. An old soldier, esp. of the Regular Army: military: from ca. 1890. (F. & G.) Ex his strenuous efforts. Cf. old soldier, q.v.
Old Tay Bridge. A middle-aged lady bank-clerk: bank-clerks' nickname: late C.19–20. The old bridge across the Fort of Tay at Dundee was blown down in 1879. old thing. The female pudend: lower classes': mid-C.19–20 (perhaps very much earlier). Orig., euph.—2. Beef and 'damper': Aus. coll.: ca. 1845–80. (OED Sup.) Prob. ex '—, the same old thing again!'—3. A familiar term of address, to a person of either sex, or of ref. as 'She's a funny old thing...': coll.: C.20. Galsworthy, 1913, 'My dear old thing' (OED Sup.).—4. As the Old (or Ould) Thing, the language of the Irish tinkers: those tinkers:—1891 (OED at Shelta). old thirds. Three men working on the one job or together: tailors':—1935. Cf. partners.
old-timer. One given to praising old times: coll.: 1860 (Music and Drama); ob. Mostly US.—2. One long established in place or position: from ca. 1810: coll. until ca. 1905, then S.E. except when used as term of address.
old tin-whiskers. The more usual C.20 form of old whiskers. old toast. The devil: low: C.19–early 20. Occ. old toaster, likewise ob. (Cf. the US old smoker.) Prob. ex:—2. 'A brisk old fellow' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. or low s.: ca. 1690–1830. B.E. old Tom. Gin; esp. very good strong gin; low: from ca. 1820; ob. 'Jon Bee', 1823; H., 5th ed. (q.v. for etym.). A.S.M. Hutchinson, making great play with it in Once Aboard the Luggar, 1908. Brewer's etym. ex one Thomas Chamberlain, a brewer of gin, may be correct.—2. A var. of Tom, a harlot; in C.20, not necessarily of masculine appearance (the orig. implication). old top. A familiar s. vocative: mid-C.19—earlier 20. John Brougham, 1855 (see quot'n at nuff ced); P.G. Wodehouse, 1923 (OED Sup.).
Old Tots, the. The 17th Lancers: military: ca. 1870–1922. Perhaps ex the macabre regimental badge (known as 'the motto' in the Regt: Carew) of skull and crossbones, which certainly engendered their better known nickname, the Death or Glory Boys. P.B.: ex Ger. Totenkopf?

Old Toughs, the. The 103rd Regiment of Foot, later the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, disbanded 1922: from mid-C.18. (F. & G.) Ex long and arduous Indian service. Also the Bombay Toughs. old trot. Ironically: a likely story, as in 'What was all that old trot about your mother never loving you?': since late 1940s. Often a load of old trot. Perhaps ex a story trotted out to suit the occasion. (P.B.) old trout. A C.19–20 survival, now slightly ob., of trout, q.v., 'That awful old trout', applied in 1934 by a 'bright young thing' to a dowdy authoress.
old truepenny. See truepenny. old tub. 'the old tub, as she [a ship] was ironically, but fondly called' (Basil Hall, 1831): nautical, esp. naval: (prob.) late C.18–20.—2. By extension, other forms of transport, e.g., a car or aircraft: coll.: earlier C.20. (P.B.) old turnip. See turnip, 2.
Old Twelfth, the. Var. of the Old Dozen, q.v. Carew. old 'un. See old one. old unspeakables, the. The silent films of the cinema: cultured; not at all gen.: mostly or, at the least, originally Can.: since ca. 1945; by 1960, slightly ob. (Leechman.) old vet. 'Pensioner called back to the R.N. with the Fleet Reserve' (Granville): 1939+. I.e. 'old veteran'.
Old Vic, the. This coll. for the Old Victoria Theatre has, since ca. 1925, been virtually S.E. old whale. An old sailing-ship seaman: nautical: from ca. 1860; ob. Bowen.
old whip. (Gen. the old whip), one's ship: nautical:—1887 (Baumann). Perhaps rhyming.
old whiskers. A 'cheeky boys' salute to a working-man whose whiskers are a little wild and iron grey': mid-C.19–20. Ware.
Old Whittle. The Armstrong-Whitworth Whitley bomber aircraft: RAF: 1940–3. The old is affectionate: the aircraft did much good work. (S/Ldr Vernon Noble, 1945.) old wigsby. A 'crotchety, narrow-minded, elderly man': middle classes' coll.: C.19—early 20. (Ware.) Cf. Fr. perruque. old wives' Paternoster, the. 'The devil's paternoster', i.e. a grumbling and complaining: coll.: ca. 1575–1620. H.G. Wright, 1580, 'He plucking his hatte about his ears, mumbling the olde wives' Paternoster, departed.' Apperson.
old woman. A wife: low (except when joc.) coll.: 1823 ('Jon Bee'). Cf. old man, 4.—2. A mother: low coll.: since early C.19. An early occurrence is in Fredk Marryat, Frank Mildmay, 1829 (Moe). Cf. old man, father, and old girl.—3. A prisoner that, unfit for hard work, is put to knitting stockings: prison c.: from ca. 1860.—4. The female pudend: low: C.19–20. Cf. old man, 1. old woman's picking her geese, the. Applied to a snow-storm: C.19–20 proverbial coll., very gen. among school-children, who often add: and selling the feathers a penny apiece.
old woman's poke. A shuffling of cards by the juxtaposed insertion of the two halves of the pack: card-players' coll.:—1887 (Baumann).
Old Worser and Worser. 'The Oxford, Worcester and Wolverhampton railway before 1923 amalgamation' (Railway): ca. 1890–1923, then historical. A pun on Worcestershire. P.B.: rather, on the initials. oldest. Eldest: C.14–20: S.E. until ca. 1830, then dial. and low coll.
oldie, -y. An old trick or an old story; hence, an old film or play: coll.: since ca. 1925. William Haggard, The Telemann Touch, 1958 (first nuance).—2. An old, or comparatively old, person: coll.: C.20. See next.—3. An old song: coll.: since ca. 1945. Ex sense 1. See also golden oldie. oldies (, the). One's parents; hence also one's friends' parents: childrens': since ca. 1955. Cf. grownies, q.v. olds. Old persons; old members of a set, class, etc.: coll.:

1883, Besant, 'Young clever people ... are more difficult to catch than the olds' (OED).

oldster. The nautical sense (a midshipman of four years' service) is j.—2. An elderly or an experienced person: coll.: 1848 (Dickens in Dombey and Son: OED).

ole. See ol'.

ole mal. (In address) old man: Aus.: since ca. 1925; by 1950, ob. (Frank Arthur, The Suva Harbour Mystery, 1941.) Perhaps burlesquing pidgin English, or perhaps via ol' pal.

olive-branch. A contemporaneous synon. of rainbow, q.v. F. & G.

olive oil! Au revoir!: 1884, orig. music-halls'; ob. Ware.

Oliver; occ. oliver. The moon: c.: ca. 1780–1900; nearly † by 1860 (H., 2nd ed.). G. Parker. Esp. in Oliver is up or O. whiddles, the moon shines, and O. is in town, the nights are moonlight. Ainsworth, in Rookwood (1834), has 'Oliver puts his black night-cap on,' hides behind clouds. Perhaps Oliver was 'coined' in derision of Oliver Cromwell: cf. Oliver's skull, and see Sir Oliver.—2. Among tramps conversant with Romany, Olivers (rare in singular) are stockings: from before 1887. Baumann.—3. A fist: abbr. (—1909) of rhyming s. Oliver Twist. Ware.—4. To put the Oliver on it is to handle or work something dishonestly: c.: since ca. 1910. (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938.) Short for Oliver Twist, 'the Twist' (a dishonest practice).—5. In do you Oliver?, do you understand? C.20: abbr. rhyming s., Oliver Cromwell on tumble (pron. tumbell), to understand. W. Mrs C. Raab: or var. pron. Crummle on (pron.) tummle?

Oliver Twist. See Oliver, 3. (Mid-C.19–20; ob.)

Oliver's skull. A chamber-pot: low: ca. 1690–1870; ob. by 1820. B.E.

oll. All: (dial. and) low coll.: C.19–20. (Observer, 2 June 1935, in a cricket report.)

ollapod. A (gen. country) apothecary: coll.: ca. 1805–95. (H., 3rd ed.; Baumann.) Ex George Colman's The Poor Gentleman, 1802. (Sp. olla podrida; lit., putrid pot.)

'oller, boys, 'oller! A collar: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P.

olli compolli. 'The by-name of one of the principal Rogues of the Canting Crew' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–mid-19. What was his role, unless he were, perchance, the Jack-of-all-trades? And what the etym. of this rhymed fabrication unless on olio? olly, olly! An invitation to a schoolfellow to play with one or to accompany one on an errand; occ., a term of farewell: Cockney children's: ca. 1870–1920. Perhaps ex ho there! or ex Fr. aller—or ex both.—2. Hence among all Cockneys, 'A shout of greeting or recognition, usually with broad, rumbustious, freebooting leer to it' (L.A.): C.20.

olo piecee. Anything shabby, e.g. a cap: RN officers': since ca. 1905. At first, genuinely China-side; since ca. 1946, either derivative or sentimental. Pidgin for old piecee.

-ology. Often, from ca. 1810, in jocularities verging on the coll. John Bull, 28 Apr. 1917, 'Don't pin your faith too much to ologies and isms' (W.). Here, as in -ometer (q.v.), the -o has been adopted from the prec. element, the radicals being Gr. λόγος, a word, and Gr. μέτρον, a measure.

Olympic pool. A drive-in cinema: Aus. feminine: since ca. 1960. Ex the petting, esp. the breast-stroking, that goes on there. Cf. passion pit.

om-tiddly-om-pom. A w.c. or 'loo': ca. 1910–40. See quot'n at umpty-poo, 2.

omee; omer; omeiy; homee, homey. A man; esp. a master, e.g. a landlord: c. and Parlyaree (>, in late C.19, also gen. theatrical): from ca. 1840. ('No. 747', p. 409, is valid for 1845; H., 1st ed.) Ex It. uomo via Lingua Franca.—2. Hence, an inferior actor: theatrical: since ca. 1890. (Ngaiio Marsh, Vintage Murder, 1938.) See naff, adj., 2.

omelette, make an. To blunder; commit a faux pas: since the late 1920s. On ne fait pas d'omelette sans casser des œufs; cf. make a mess of it.

-ometer. Joc. formations were popularised by Sydney Smith's foolometer: e.g. girlometer, q.v.

omipalone. A (passive) male homosexual: Parlyaree: C.20.

(Took & Feldman, Round the Horne, 1974.) I.e., man-woman: see omee and palone.

omms and chevoos. A French van or truck on troop-trains in France: army: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex the marking, 'Hommes 37–40. Chevaux en long 8.'

omni or omny. Var. of omee, etc. John o' London's Weekly, 4 Feb. 1949.

omnes. A mixture of 'odds and ends of various wines': wine-merchants':—1909 (Ware). Ex alls, L. omnes meaning all.

omni- All-. Often, from ca. 1860, so fantastic as to border on coll.

omni gatherum, or as one word. A var. of omnium gatherum, q.v.

omnibus. The female pudend: low: from ca. 1840.—2. A harlot: low: ca. 1850–1910. P.B.: semantics as in camp, or town, bike: everybody has a ride.—3. An omnibus volume: since ca. 1920: book-world coll. >, by 1945, S.E.

omnium. Combined non-Government stocks of which the constituents may be handled separately: Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1894. L. omnium, of all things. OED.

omnium(-)gatherum; also o. getherum, C.17; o. githerum, C.16. A mixed assemblage of things or persons: coll.: 1530 (OED). Mock L. ending added to gather.—2. Hence a medley dance popular in mid-C.17: coll.—3. Omnium (in S.E. sense): coll.: ca. 1770–95. OED.

omnium gatherum, adv. Confusedly, promiscuously: mid-C.17: coll. Ex prec.

omo boys. London bus-drivers' term for taxi-drivers, i.e. one man operators: since ca. 1960. (L.A., 1974.) Prob. a pun suggested by the 'Omo' brand of washing-powder.

on, adj. Concupiscent: low coll.: C.18–early 20. Halliwell.

—2. Whence, ready and willing: coll.: from ca. 1870. E.g. are you on?, are you agreed, prepared, willing?—3. Whence, fond of: 1890, L.C. O'Doyle, 'Woddell was not much on beer' (OED): coll. >, ca. 1930, almost S.E.—4. No: back s.:—1851 (Mayhew, I). E.g., on doog, no good.—5. Topsy: low, esp. public-house: C.19–20. (OED records at 1802; H., 2nd ed.)

Gen. a bit on. Perhaps ex on the booze.—6. Present; near-by; likely to appear: Winchester Coll.: from ca. 1830; ob. ?ex on view.—7. Possible; feasible: billiard and snooker players' coll.: from ca. 1930. Horace Lindrum, in Lyons' Sports Sheet, 23 Dec. 1935, 'The majority of amateur [snooker] players ... wildly attempt shots that are not "on".' Lit., on the table: cf. on the cards, possible or almost probable.—8. 'Used in crime circles [and promptly by the police also], meaning that a well-planned crime operation has started' (Petch, 1969): since at least as early as 1945, if ex military j., and as 1930, if ex horse-racing.—9. See not on.

on, adv. or adv.-adj. Having money at stake, a wager on (something): from ca. 1810: racing coll. until ca. 1885, then S.E. Sporting Magazine, 1812 (OED); Standard, 23 Oct. 1873, 'Everyone ... had something on.' Since ca. 1870, gen. have a bit on, as in George Moore's Esther Waters: this phrase is coll.—2. Hence, standing or bound to win: racing (—1874) > gen. coll. 'You're on a quid if Kaiser wins' (H., 5th ed.).

on, preposition. Of: C.13–20: S.E. until ca. 1750, then coll. till ca. 1790, then low coll. (in C.20, indeed, virtually sol.) and dial. Esp. in on't = of it. Partly ex o' being = both of and on.—2. With: coll.: C.19–20.—3. To be paid for by: coll.: C.20. Esp. in 'The lunch is on me' (OED Sup.)—4. To the detriment, or the disadvantage, or the ruin, or the circumventing, of: C.20. 'It got away on me' and 'He did it on me' are Can. examples; sometimes, to one's loss, as in 'Our old dog went and died on us'. Prof. Arnold Wall, 1939, suggests an origin in Erse idiom.—5. 'Used for "at" in when applied to a gold-field. A miner was always "on Bendigo" or "on Ballarat"', never "at" those places' (B., 1943): Aus. coll.: mid-C.19–20. In short, 'on the field'.—6. See hot on.

on a hiding to nothing. See hiding to nothing.

on and off. Lemonade on tap: Tonbridge School: late C.19–early 20. Marples.

on at. In to be on at (someone), to nag; reprove constantly: coll.: late C.19–20. Cf. go on about.

on boy, adj. and adv. On fag-duty: Harrow School: from ca. 1880 (?). Lunn: see the quot'ns at slut about and on find.

on doog. No good: 1851 (Mayhew, I). Back slang.

on find. A Harrow term, now ranking rather as j. than as unconventional: from ca. 1890 (?). Lunn: 'Peter had a fortnight's grace before fagging began. These duties were by no means light. He was "on boy" once a fortnight, and "on find" one week out of three—sometimes more often. Two or three privs "found" together, that is, had breakfast and tea in their rooms. The fags attached to "the find" had to lay these meals and clear away. When "on boy" Peter had to stay in the House and answer prolonged shouts of "Boy-oy". He might be required to do anything, from lighting a fire to running a message.' See also find, n., 1.

on for young and old, it's. Aus. c.p. applied to 'an outbreak of disorder, any general absence of restraint' (Wilkes): since 1940s. Cf. the jargon referred to in on, adj., 8 as early as 1930.

on him (or her or you, etc.), be. Culotta defines as an 'exclamation, equivalent to "just listen to him!" i.e. "He's talking nonsense"'. See also on you.

on it. On the liquor; drinking hard: Aus. coll.: since early C.20. Wilkes, whose first citation is from 1938.

on pleasure bent. A Can. c.p., applied to a bow-legged female: since ca. 1950.

on the ... occurs in many s. and coll. phrases. Some, of which it forms a necessary and integral part, are listed—by no means exhaustively—below. Others may be found at the entries for their respective key-words. (P.B.)

on the backs – down. Asleep: army: since ca. 1930. On analogy of P.T. 'evolution' on the hands – down.

on the blanket. 'The morale of the men on the blanket [refusing to wear prison uniform]—is very high' (Guardian, 27 Apr. 1979): the men are self-styled political prisoners in the Maze Prison, N. Ireland: late 1970s. (P.B.) on the bum. See on the fritz.

on the coach. 'If two compositors fall out ... they avoid each other ... and the word goes round: "Bill's got Jasper on the coach".' Ex travelling inside, and on top of, a stage-coach. G.E. Rowles, The Line Is On, 1948.

on the corner of the round table. See corner of ...

on the cuff. On credit: since ca. 1925; low >, ca. 1940, fairly respectable. (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938.) Ex pencilling the debt on one's cuff. Contrast off the cuff, q.v., extempore, the widespread use of which has, in later C.20, obscured the use of on the cuff.

on the dot. At exactly the right time: coll. (Eng. and Can.): since ca. 1920. 'On the dot of nine.'—2. As be on the dot, on the spot: Can.: from ca. 1920. (John Beames.) Cf. on the dotted line.

on the drip. Engaged in hire-purchase. See drip.

on the elbow. On the scrounge: low: later C.20. Powis.

on the floor. Poor: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) See also floor, n. (esp. sense 6, an alternative etym.).

on the fritz; on the bum. Broken; out of order: since ca. 1934. 'Both expressions are quite widely acceptable in refined circles' (Prof. F.E.L. Priestley, 1949). These Canadianisms have been adopted ex US.

on the go. On the verge of ruin or destruction: coll.: C.17–18. It survived until ca. 1850 in nuance '(of a tradesman) about to abscond': The London Guide, 1818, in form upon the go.—2. In a (state of) decline: coll.: ca. 1725–1880. FitzGerald, 1842 (in a letter), 'As to poor old England, I never see a paper, but I think with you that she is on the go' (OED).—3. Slightly drunk: 1821, Egan (OED); very ob. by 1930.—4. On the move; busy; restlessly active: coll.: from ca. 1840.

on the grass. (Of a horse that has) fallen: turf coll.:—1923 (Manchon).—2. (Of a criminal) free; at large: Aus. c.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.

on the job, adv., hence also adj. (Engaged) in copulation; be on the job, to be copulating; get on with the job, to lose no time in beginning to copulate: coll.: C.20. (Anthony Burgess, Tremor of Intent, 1966.)—2. Be on the job, 'To mean honestly; to be genuine; to "run straight"; to work quickly and steadily; to achieve complete success; to be bent on' (F. & H.). Coll.: from ca. 1880.

on the muscle. 'On the square—not cheating' (Charles Drage, Two-Gun Cohen, 1954): Can. gamblers: see early C.20. See quot'n at producer. (P.B.)

on the never(-never). Hire-purchase: see never, on the.

on the nose. Watching; c. (—1839, Brandon) >, ca. 1900, low s.; ob. by 1930. Cf. nose, 1, and v., 4.—2. Objectionable; no good: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Ex have a nose on, to dislike, bear a grudge against (someone): Aus.: ca. 1860–1920: 'Tom Collins', Such Is Life, 1903.—3. Smelly: Aus.: since ca. 1910. Kylie Tennant, Lost Haven, 1947; B., 1953.—4. (Often as exclam.) That's exactly it!; a bull's-eye: adopted, ex US, early 1970s. (L.A., 1974.)

on the ooze. Drinking: rhyming s., on on the booze: since ca. 1920. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) P.B.: should this be on the Ouse, as, e.g. the village of Linton on the Ouse?

on the out. 'When not in custody' (Home Office): prisons' c.: later C.20.

on the pension. 'A person receiving regular bribes or blackmail payments, acting as a "leech"' (Powis): underworld: later C.20.

on the pig's back. In luck's way: Anglo-Irish (—1903) >, by 1914, gen. (EDD). A translation of the old Erse saying ar mhuint na muice (John Skehan, 1977). In gen. coll., sometimes riding on the pig's back, as in S.F. Hatton, The Yarn of a Yeoman, 1930.

on the roof. 'On the surface. (Submariners)' (Granville): RN: C.20.

on the sheep's back. Dependent on wool; 'A phrase often applied to the Australian economy' (B., 1959): Aus. coll.: C.20. Contrast on the pig's back, q.v.

on the side. See quot'n at screw, v., 3.

on the stop. 'With throttle full open' (Dunford): motorcyclists': since mid-C.20.

on the town. Engaged in crime: 1818, The London Guide; 1822, Pierce Egan, The Life of Hayward; † by 1900.—2. Applied to 'a man of the World. A person supposed to have a general knowledge of men and manners' (Pierce Egan, Life in London, 1821): coll.: ca. 1815–60.—3. Applied to one who has gone into town in search of sexual or other entertainment: Can.: since ca. 1920.

on the wallaby. See wallaby.

on to. See be on to, and cf. on at.

on (one's) tod. See tod, 3.

on top. 'About to happen' (Home Office): prisons': late C.20.—2. In be on top, to be discovered in committing a crime or engaged in illegal activities; to be arrested: c. and police s.: since ca. 1955. (G.F. Newman, Sir, You Bastard, 1970.) To have become exposed—conspicuous—vulnerable.—3. See rick, adj.

on you! Hullo! Aus.: since ca. 1925. "Hiya, Curly. Hi, Ronnie," I said ... "On yuh, Terry," said Curly' (Dick). Perhaps for good on you! See also on him.

on your bike! Off you go! Run away! c.p.: since ca. 1960. Anthony Burgess, Listener, 2 Mar. 1967.

once. Energy, vigour; impudence: low: 1886, Referee, 24 Oct. 'I like Shine—I cannot help admiring the large amount he possesses of what is vulgarly called "once"; virtually f. Ware, 'The substantivising of "on"—most emphatic.' Perhaps short for once a week, q.v.—2. A quick, shrewd glance: since ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace, Elegant Edward, 1928, 'You rumbles me. I saw you giving me the "once".' Short for once-over.—3. One pound sterling: c.: since ca. 1935. (Norman.) Perhaps a slovening of once, 2.—4. In in once, first time; at the first attempt: low coll.: late C.19–20. G.R. Sims, 1900, 'You've guessed it in once, father.' Cf. S.E. in one.

once a policeman (or copper, etc.)... A late C.19–20 c.p., imputing 'habit is second nature'. Cf. the proverbial once a captain always a captain (Peacock, 1831); once a knave and ever a knave (C.17); and once a whore and ever a whore (C.17–18)—all three cited by Apperson. Cf. the C.20 once a teacher always a teacher, a c.p. on a par with once a policeman...

once a week. 'Cheek' (n. and v.): rhyming s.:—1914 (F. & G.); perhaps much earlier: cf. once, 1. Still current; in, e.g., Clement & La Frenais, A Further Stir of Porridge, 1977.—2. A magistrate: rhyming s., on beak: mid-C.19–20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

once-a-week man; or Sunday promenader. A man in debt: London: ca. 1825–40. (Egan, Real Life in London.) Sunday was the one day on which he could not be arrested for debt. Ware.

once aboard the lugger and the girl is mine! A male c.p., either joyous or derisively joc.: late C.19–20. Ben Landeck, My Jack and Dorothy, a melodrama produced at the Elephant and Castle theatre. Ca.1889–90. (Julian Franklyn.)—A.S.M. Hutchinson's novel, Once Aboard the Lugger—the History of George and His Mary, 1908, merely reinforced the popularity of the phrase taken from a play that ran for many years. See DCpp.

once before we fill and once before we light. A drinking c.p. recorded by Ned Ward in 1709.

once for ado. Once for all: C.17: coll. > S.E. SOD.

once in a blue moon. See blue moon, 1.

once-over. A quick, penetrating glance: coll. adopted, in 1919, ex US. (British soldiers had heard it in France often enough in 1918.) P.B.: usu. in give (someone or -thing) a (quick) once-over.

once wounded, twice as windy (afraid or timorous). A Tommies' c.p. of 1915–18. On analogy of once bitten, twice shy. (Petch, 1966.) Cf. too the proverb a burnt child dreads the fire.

oncerc (pron. wun-cher). A person in the habit of attending church only once on a Sunday: coll.: late-C.19—earlier 20. (OED Sup.) Opp. twicer.—2. A £1 note: c.: since earlyish C.20. Charles E. Leach, 1933; Powis, 1977.—3. Impudence: Cockneys': C.20. Ex once a week, 1.—4. Something available, or occurring, only once; mostly Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B.P.) Cf.:—5. As in a discussion about a murder, in Alan Hunter, Gently in Trees, 1974, a policeman speaking: 'I don't see that it matters that Walling doesn't have form. There are professional killers and there are oncercs... [This is] just the sort of thing a oncerc would pull if he didn't know about violence.' oncercs. Wages: artisans':—1909; ob. (Ware.) Ex once a week. oncoming. (Of women.) Sexually responsive: coll.: late C.19–20.

ondleton (pron. wundletun). At bridge, a singleton: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Baker.

one, n. Oneself; one's own interest: coll.: 1567, R. Edwards, 'I can help one: is not that a good point of philosophy' (OED); † by 1830. In C.19–20, number one, q.v.—2. A grudge; a score; a blow, kiss, etc.: 1830, Galt, 'I owed him one' (OED): s. >, ca. 1890, coll.—3. A lie: late C.19–20: s. >, ca. 1920, coll. Esp. 'That's a big one!'—4. "'One' in Stock Exchange parlance, when applied to stock, means one thousand nominal; a "half" or "half-a-one" is, therefore, five hundred pounds. "Five"—five thousand pounds nominal' (A.J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary, 1895). These terms are coll. verging on j.—5. As a one, a very odd or amusing person, as 'Ooh, you are a one!': coll.: since ca. 1905. See also one for.—6. In on a one, under open arrest: army, esp. Other Ranks': ca. 1925–45. The one is the charge-sheet on which the soldier's name appears.—7. Short for one and t'other: C.20. The Birmingham Evening Despatch, 19 July 1937.—8. Short for Naval Number One: since ca. 1930. P-G-R.—9. See get (one's) one.—10. In that's one on (you, him, etc.): that is a point against you (etc.): coll.: late C.19–20. See duck-house. one, v. To score two heads on a throw of the two coins: Aus. two-up players': since ca. 1910. 'Joe, peering through the smoke... called "And he's—one'd 'em!"' (Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949).

one a-piece, see. To see double: coll.: 1842, Punch (ii, 21); ob.

one-acter. A (short) play in one act: theatrical coll.: from ca. 1910. Ex one-act play by the 'OXFORD -ER'.

one and a half. A prison-sentence or—term of 18 months (1½ years): London's East End: since ca. 1945.

one and a peppermint-drop. A one-eyed person: low London:—1909; ob. Ware.

One and All, the. The Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry: military: late C.19–20. (F. & G.) Ex the county motto.

one and eight. A plate: rhyming s.: C.20. Uncommon. Franklyn 2nd.

one and elevenpence three farden. Garden; pardon: rhyming s.: since ca. 1870. Michael Harrison, 1943.

one and ninepence in the florin (occ. the two shillings or the two bob). A little weak in the head: coll.: from ca. 1910; † with decimalisation of currency, 1971. Petch cites a TV serial 'Market in Money Lane', episode broadcast 1 May 1967.

one-and-one. Fish and chips; esp. a portion enough for one person: Anglo-Irish, notably in Dublin. Recorded by Brendan Behan in 1963, but dating at least 10–15 years earlier. 'Said to go back to the days when Dublin was well supplied with Italian immigrants who set up in the fish-and-chip business and (many of them) knew little English, so that it became the custom for the natives to order fish and chips by holding up one finger for fish and another finger for a portion of chips. There is a folk-song called "Down by the Liffeside" with the lines "Ah, John, come along for a one-and-one/Down by the Liffeside"' (D.B. Gardner, 1977).

one-and-thirty. Drunk: semi-proverbial coll.: mid-C.17–18. (Ray.) Ex the scoring of full points at the old English game of one-and-thirty.

one and t'other. Brother: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P.—2. Mother: C.20. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

one another. Occ. var. of prec.: Len Ortzen, Down Donkey Row, 1938.

one-armed bandit. A fruit machine, a slot machine: adopted, in late 1950s, ex US. Ex the main lever, resembling an arm, and ex the odds against the user.—2. 'Cab equipment for automatic warning system' (McKenna, Glossary): railwaymen's, esp. diesel-engine drivers': later C.20. Suggested by sense 1.

one-armed lady. 'Pump on board a fishing smack' (Granville): nautical: C.20.

one-armed landlord. A pump: Somersetshire s. (—1903) rather than dial. (EDD) Ex the cheapness of water compared with beer.

one-armed paper-hanger. See like a one-armed...

one away! The cry that goes round the prison when a prisoner has escaped... [a pun] on the cry of officer... collecting a man from a working party,..."One away", meaning, one of the roll' (Tempest, 1950).

one-badge nothing. 'Derogatory term for a sailor who has served four years without being rated a leading hand' (Margaret Wood, ex-WRNS, 1978): RN, WRNS, FAA: later C.20. All he has to show is a good-conduct badge.

one better, go. To do better, to 'score': from ca. 1890: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. (Spectator, 7 May 1892: OED). Ex play at cards.

one-bite. (Gen. pl.) A small, sour apple—thrown away after being tested with one bite: costers': from ca. 1870. Ware.

one consecutive night. A c.p. denoting 'enough': Society and theatrical: 1890 (Daily News, 15 Aug.); † by 1915. Ware. one-drink house. A public house where only one drink is served within (say) an hour: coll. of London lower classes: ca. 1860–1905. Ware.

one-er, † onener, oner, wunner. A person, a thing, of great parts, remarkable (e.g. a notable lie), most attractive, dashing; an expert: 1840, Dickens, 'Miss Sally's such a one-er for that, she is'; 1857, Hughes, wunner; 1861, Dutton Cook, onener (pron. wun-ner); 1862, Thackeray, oner. In C.20, rarely other than oner. Perhaps oner is ex one, something unique, influenced—as W. suggests—by dial. wunner, a wonder. Cf. one, n., 5, q.v.—2. Esp. a knock-out blow: 1861, Dutton Cook, as above.—3. Something consisting of, indicated by, characteristic of or by; T: coll.: 1889 (of cricket). Esp. of one church-going a day. (For all three) OED.—4. A shilling: low: late C.19—early 20. Cf. (and prob. ex) one of them, 2.—5. A clay marble all of one colour: London schoolchildren's: from ca. 1880. Opp. twoer, 4. Cf. sense 3.—6. 'An amusing or eccentric person' (B., 1959): mostly Aus.: C.20. Ex 1.—7. The sum of £100: orig. (? ca. 1930) c.; by 1960, gen. Cockney s. Fränk Norman, Encounter, 1959.—8. In do (one's) oner, to die; get killed: Aus.: since ca. 1918. (Lawson Glassop, 1944.) The one 'turn' one has.

one eye draws straw and t'other serves the thatcher. He (she, etc.) is half-asleep: coll.: late C.18—mid-19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) An elab. of straws, 2, q.v.

one-eyed occurs in several low joc. terms for the penis, e.g. one-eyed Bob and ... guardsman: since earlier C.20 (L.A.); one-eyed milkman: RN: C.20; and ... trouser-snake: perhaps orig. an Aus. coinage of the mid-1960s (B.P.), but also favoured by the RN, later 1960s (John Malin, 1980).—2. (Of a person) narrow in outlook, almost obsessive: coll.: OED Sup. gives 1863 as the earliest date. ?Poss. ex earlier one-idead. 'They were so one-eyed about these "health foods" that they would not even taste a leaf of parsley from my own "non-organic" garden.' (Mrs C. Raab.)

One-Eyed City, the. Birkenhead: C.20. (John Brophy, Waterfront, 1934.) Mostly among 'Liverpudlians'. In full, the one-eyed city of undiscovered crime: while the city was very rapidly expanding, the city's police force was constantly inadequate.

one fat lady. Bingo s. for number 8: since late 1950s. (Petch, 1974.) The earlier, Services', one fat waaf civilianised (P.B.) See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

one-finger exercise. Typing with one finger: joc.: since ca. 1925. Ex pianoforte lessons.—2. Digital stimulation of the clitoris: raffish: since ca. 1920.

one five. Hand: low: ca. 1860—1910. B. & L.

one foot in the grave, have. To be seriously ill, near death; very old: from ca. 1630: coll. > S.E. mid-C.19. Swift uses the phrase of the Struldbrugs of Laputa.—2. In (e.g. you've) got one foot in the grave and the other on a banana skin, a saying to deride opinion, judgment, of elders: among men or youths in their late teens, to e.g. supporters of different football clubs in their middle twenties: since mid-C.20. (L.A., 1974.)

one for (something), a. 'A devotee, admirer, or champion of (anything)' (OED Sup.): coll.: since ca. 1930. 'He's certainly a one for his Sunday morning golf!' Prob. ex one, n., 5.

one for his nob. A point in cribbage for holding the knave of trumps: 1870 (Ware & Hardy in The Modern Hoyle: OED).—2. Hence, a punch on the head: boxing: from ca. 1870.—3. A shilling: street traders' rhyming s., on bob: C.20; † with decimalisation of currency, 1971. Franklyn 2nd.

one for the bitumen. Aus. var. of one for the road: since ca. 1945. B., 1953.

one for the book! often prec. by that's. A c.p., remarking upon 'a joke so funny or an event so extraordinary, that it deserves inclusion in "the book"'. Sc. 'Joe Miller's' [Jest Book or] joke book' (Leechman): originally US, it was adopted in Can. ca. 1950; in Brit., ca. 1955. The phrase has, since the late 1950s in Can. and since ca. 1962 in Brit., had the var. one for the record, with ref. to the record book. But as an RAF saying, it derives from lines (or line) book, q.v., and dates from late 1920s. See also turn-up for the book.

one for the breathalyser! Var. of one for the road: since ca. 1965. A ref. to the more stringent tests for drunken driving then introduced. (Petch, 1969.)

one for the gangway. RN var. of one for the road: since ca. 1945. Granville.

one for the King (or Queen). An 'extra' year of military service, as in 'He had done his "pontoon", and "one for the King", and to the layman this period of time amounts to twenty-two years' (Tim Carew, Korea—the Commonwealth at War, 1967): army: earlier C.20; ob. by ca. 1955, by which time the regular long service of 22 years was an accepted fact, and the pontoon, q.v., a thing of the past. (P.B.)—2. As another one for the Queen the phrase survived into at least the mid-1970s; it was said at the completion of, e.g., a day of duty as orderly sergeant, or simply at the end of the working day: army 'Other Ranks'. Also, one more for the Queen. (P.B.) one for the road (, and). The last drink before the guest, or fellow drinker, leaves, either on a journey, or merely the public house on his way home: coll., perhaps orig. commercial travellers': C.20; by 1945, verging on S.E. Cf. prec. one for ... entries, and see also satu empat jalan; swing o' the door.

one for the shelf; also one for the old oak chest. A share that, it is assumed, will handsomely repay holding for a long time: coll.—money market, esp. stockbrokers' and financial journalists': C.20. (L.A., 1967.) The latter is a special application of a very old, semi-humorous phrase employed of anything put aside for use in the more or less remote future. See DCpp. at on second thoughts ...

one for the worms. See have one for ...

one-gun salute, get a. To be court-martialled: RN coll.: C.20. (F. & G.) The ship on which the Court is to be held fires one gun at 8 a.m.

one hand for yourself and one for the ship! Be careful: a nautical c.p. (C.19—20) addressed to a youngster going aloft. (Bowen.) A C.20 RN lowerdeck var. is one hand for the King (or Queen) and one for (one)self. See also DCpp.

one hand tied behind (one's) back. Var. of do on (one's) head, to accomplish easily.

one-horse. Insignificant; very small: coll.: orig. (1854), US; anglicised—mostly in the Colonies—ca. 1885. Goldwin Smith, 1886, 'Canada has been saddled with one-horse universities.' Thornton.

one hundred and twenty (usu. written 120) in the water bag. Aus. c.p. applied to an extremely hot day; i.e., 120 degrees Fahrenheit: C.20.

One Hung Low. Joc. name for a Chinaman: low: C.20. Cf. Hoo Flung Dung. (P.B.)

one in, adj. 'Hearing another's good fortune and wishing the same to oneself' (F. & H.): tailors': from ca. 1870. Contrast one out, q.v.

one in ten. A parson: coll.: late C.17—19. (B.E.) Ex tithe. one in the box, have. To be pregnant: lower-classes': late C.19—20.

one in the bush is worth two in the hand. A low Aus. c.p., meaning that coition is preferable to masturbation: since ca. 1920. A joc. perversion of the proverbial a bird in the hand ... and a pun on bush, n., 3. Cf. push in the bush ...

one in the eye (usu. for). A misfortune, a set-back, a snub, an insult: late C.19—20. G.R. Sims, 1900, 'It was ... "one in the eye" for her aunt' (OED).

one in the oven, have. To be pregnant: C.20: orig., proletarian; by 1960, much more gen. Cf. one in the box. Ex synon. have a bun in the oven. (Petch.) See oven, 1.

one Labour gain. 'A yellow light at a colour signal' (Railway, 2nd); railwaymen's: since ca. 1945.

one-legged donkey. The single-legged stool which the old coastguard was allowed for purposes of rest, designed to capsize the moment he drowsed off: nautical: C.19. Bowen. one lordship is worth all his manners. A C.17 c.p. punning manors. Ray.

one lung-er. A single-cylinder motorcycle: motorcyclists': C.20. (Mike Partridge, 1979.)

one-man band. A person that takes rather too much on himself: coll.: C.20; slightly ob., as is l'homme orchestre supplying the origin.

one mother too many (, have). (To be) illegitimate: mostly lower-middle class: C.20. Implying 'the child shouldn't have been born'.

one next door, it's number four, the. A Bingo 'set phrase' or c.p. since ca. 1955.

one nick or nitch. A male child, two nick (nitch) being a baby girl; printers': from ca. 1860. Ex an anatomical characteristic. one-night stand. A night with a prostitute: since ca. 1930. Ex the j. of theatrical touring companies.

one O. A First Officer, WRNS: RN: 1941+. (Granville.) I.e. 1st Officer.

one o'clock, often prec. by it's. A c.p. of warning ('You have one fly-button undone'): Can.: since ca. 1910. (Leechman.) Also Aus., as in D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1958. Cf. next.—2. See like one o'clock.

one (or two or three or ...) o'clock at the waterworks. A c.p. of warning that one or more of one's fly-buttons are undone: Aus.: C.20. (B.P.) Cf. waterworks, 1.

one of my cousins. A harlot: coll.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Ex a lie frequently told by the amorous-vagrant male.

one of ours. C.p. uttered when a sudden loud (esp. if very loud) noise is heard. Ex heavy explosions in WW1, and revived during the air-raids over Britain in WW2; ob. by ca. 1960. See DCpp.

one of the best. A 'good fellow', i.e. a good companion: Society: from ca. 1920.

one of the bones. A member of a 'skeleton staff': Can. Civil Service: since ca. 1930. (Leechman.)

one of the boys. Var. of one of the lads, q.v. at lads.

one of the mounted. A raffish c.p., dating from ca. 1945 and applied to a girl or woman successful in 'getting her man'. A punning ref. to the old saying that 'the Mounties always get their man': cf. the entries at Mounties. P.B.: or was it merely literal?

one of them or us. A harlot: coll.: resp. C.19—20 (extant only with stressed them); mid-C.18—mid-19, as in Grose, 1st ed. Cf. one of my cousins, 2. (Only one of them.) A shilling: urban lower classes':—1909 (Ware).

one of these fine days. Some day; in the vague future: coll.: from ca. 1850. ?a development ex the C.19 proverb, one of these days is none of these days, influenced by the Fr. un de ces beaux jours. In C.19, occ. mornings. Cf. that'll be the day; and that'll be the frosty Friday = never.

one of these fine mornings you'll wake up and find yourself dead. A joc.—or a derisive—Irishism: c.p.: C.20.

one of those. A pathic; any homosexual: euph.: C.20. Cf. the rhyme, 'Pretty little fellow, wears his sister's clothes,/Don't know what to call him, but I think he's one of those', and see quot'n at Nancy, 1.—2. In I (really) must have one of those, a proletarian c.p. of ca. 1880—3. Ex a comic song.

one of those days. Used elliptically for 'one of those days when everything seems to go wrong' or 'when everything has been absolutely hectic'; usu. intro. by it's..., it's been... or looks like being..., etc.: coll.: since 'the smart young things' of the 1920s. Cf. it just isn't my day!

one of those things. See just one of those...

one of us, he's. He is a homosexual: c.p., at first perhaps euph.: C.20. Cf. one of them and one of those.

one of you are both knaves. I.e. the two I am addressing are both knaves: an illogical witticism of earlier C.18. Swift, Dialogues, III, 1738.

one of your team is playing a man short, often prefaced with I see (that). A joc. c.p. addressed to a youth sporting an eleven-a-side moustache: since ca. 1920. Ex Association football rather than ex cricket.

one-off (job). 'A large Scot who had such a unique personality that it quite baffles description—definitely what an engineer would call a "one-off job"' (Anthony Phelps, I Couldn't Care Less, 1946). In later C.20 often used to describe something happening, or likely to happen, once only; e.g., the police spokesman re the attempted kidnapping of Princess Anne, 1974, 'We reckon it was a one-off job'; or 'We'll do it on a one-off basis', a circumlocution for 'We'll try it once': coll.; by late 1970s, familiar S.E. (P.B.) one off the wrist. A ref. to male masturbation: Cockney s.: later C.20. L.A. cites David Leitch, God Stand up for Bastards, 1973.

one on! 'Train! Beware!' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's coll.: C.20. On the line.

one on the house. See have one...

one or two, have had. To be slightly—or, ironically, very—drunk: coll.: late C.19—20.

one out. I'm lucky!: tailors': from ca. 1870. Contrast one in, and cf. one out of it.

one-out fight. A fist fight between two (usu. selected) individual members of rival gangs: Aus. teenage coll.: since ca. 1925. (Dick.)

one-out man. A 'lone wolf' cardsharp: Aus. c.: since ca. 1920. B., 1953.

one out of it! I'm keeping out of this!: tailors': from ca. 1870.

one out of the bag. An unexpectedly good thing, occ. person: ?mostly Aus.: since the 1930s. (Camilla Raab, 1977.) Cf. one out of the box, at out of the box.

one over the eight. One drink too many; hence, slightly drunk: Services',—1914 (F. & G.); by ca. 1925, gen. coll. (Lyell). Eight beers being considered permissible. A slightly later var. is one over the odds.

one-pause-two course. An officer's initial-training course: RAF: 1939+. Jackson, 'From the left and right turn instruction...', when the instructor times the movement by saying, "one-pause-two."

one-piece overcoat. A condom or 'French letter': since ca. 1950.

one-pip(per). A second lieutenant: army: since 1915. (F. & G.) The New Zealanders preferred one-star artist. Cf. one star...

one-pot screamer. Someone who becomes drunk twice as easily as a two-pot screamer (q.v.): Aus. coll.: later C.20. I heard the phrase used by an Australian on Radio 4 earlier in 1983. (Mrs C. Raab.)

one side to his mouth, on. (Of a horse) that feels the bit on only one side of his mouth: turf coll.: from ca. 1850. B. & L. one squint is better than two finesses. At the game of bridge, a warning to one's partner that the opponents are trying to see his hand: mostly Anglo-Irish: since early 1920s.

one star — one stunt. An army c.p. in WW1, meaning that second lieutenants in the infantry frequently got killed in their first battle. Their badge of rank is one star, or 'pip', on each shoulder (in earlier WW1, on the lower sleeve). See stunt, n. 5.

one that got away, the. Orig. (early C.20) a c.p. derisive of anglers boasting about the fish that escaped, a fish always remarkable for size or speed or cunning; then, since ca. 1945, applied to someone who has made a providential escape, e.g. a bachelor from a predatory female.

one them. See one, v.

one ton. 100: darts-players': C.20. Impressive number: impressive weight. (London Evening News, 2 July 1937.) See also ton, 3—5.

one too many for. As in 'Marshal Soult was [Napoleon's] right-hand man, but he had to go and try to stem the tide of Wellington, who was just one too many for him upon field after field' (T. Gowing, A Soldier's Experience, 1902 ed., in which the phrase occurs several times).

one toot and you're oot! Not a word from you, please!: in Brit. since ca. 1920 (R.S., 1967); Aus. since ca. 1950 (B.P.). Joc. debasement of Scottish dial. Ex story of verger's warning to elderly man with ear-trumpet in kirk.

one-track mind, have (or have got) a; occ. with elab. and that's a dirt track; esp. in the c.p. you've got a one-track mind, an imputation of an excessive or, at the least, an absorbed interest in sex.

one two, prec. by a, his, the, etc. Two blows in rapid succession: boxing coll.: from ca. 1820. Egan, 'Belcher... distinguished for his one two'.—2. See old one-two, the. one under the arm. An additional job: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. Ex things carried comfortably under the arm.

one up. In have one up, to be a second lieutenant or a lance-corporal, i.e. one star or one stripe: army coll.: late

C.19–20. Cf.:—2. In be or have gone one up, to have obtained the next step in promotion: Services' coll.: C.20. F. & G.—3. In put (someone) one up, to give an advantage: coll.: since ca. 1910. Ex golf?—4. In be one up on (someone), to have scored an advantage over that person: coll.: C.20. Punch, 11 July 1933.

one up the spout. See up the spout, 5.

one or a marble (up) on another's taw, I'll be! I'll get even with him some time!: low: ca. 1810–50. Vaux.

one-water. A special issue of rum: RN lowerdeck: late C.19–20. (Knock.) Cf. six-water grog.

one with t'other, the. Sexual intercourse: low: C.17–18. Anon. song, 'Maiden's Delight', 1661, in Farmer's Merry Songs and Ballads, 1897.

one word from you and (s)he does as (s)he likes, with other pronominal variations. He ignores your commands: c.p.: C.20. Sarcasically ex one word from me (etc.) is enough or is (etc.) obeys. P.B.: in later C.20 often abbr. one word from you! onedleton. Var. of ondleton.

onee. One: low theatrical: mid-C.19–early 20. Influenced by Parlyaree.

oneer, oner. See one-er.

ones, the. 'Ground floor cells' (Home Office): prisons': C.20.

onest. See onct.

ongcus or -cuss, onkus, mostly oncus or, esp., onkus. (Of food) good; (of a place) passable: N.Z.: from ca. 1914, chiefly among the soldiers.—2. (Ex the second nuance.) Inferior or bad; unjust: Aus.: from ca. 1914. It is, however, possible that sense 2 is the earlier and that the origin is the US ornery.—3. Hence, crooked; out of order: Aus.: since ca. 1925.

onicker. A harlot: c.: ca. 1880–1930. (Walford's Antiquarian, 1887.) Cf. one nick, q.v.

onion. A seal, gen. in pl. bunch of onions: c.: 1811 (Lex. Bal.); ob. Esp. if worn on a ribbon or a watch-chain, occ. applied to other objects there worn. Ex the shape.—2. The head, esp. in off his onion, crazy: from ca. 1890: low >, by 1920, gen. Ex the shape. F. Anstey, Under the Rose, scene xi, 1894: 'Captain Alchin, what does he mean by saying that he was "dotted on the crust by a copper" and "went off his onion"?'—3. 'Part of a knot speed' (Bowen): nautical: C.20. 'Taffrail', '[The British cruiser] could not be relied upon to steam more than "twenty-one and an onion", as her own engineer lieutenant-commander expressed it.' Joc. on fraction.—4. A fool, a 'mug', spare man, 'Joe Soap': army, WW1, and later in civilian life. "I clicked for beds and sister's told me off now." I heard him informing the orderly. "I'll cut the bread if you like. I seem to be the onion this afternoon." "You the onion!" laughs the orderly. "I like that, don't come it over me with that yarn. It's gassed, sonny, gassed. It's tanked" (Olive Dent, A V.A.D. in France, 1917).—5. Abbr. flaming onion, q.v. Hence, occ. among civilians as pl, it = any anti-aircraft fire or shells: 1940+. Berrey.—6. A person no good at skateboarding: teenagers': 1978+. 'It makes you cry to watch' (Miss Clare Paterson, 1978).—7. In feel much of an onion, to feel very bored: proletarian:—1923 (Manchon). ? Cf. sense 4.—8. In it may serve with an onion, an ironical C.17 c.p. Howell (Apperson).

onion boat. See came over with the onion boat.

onion-hunter. A thief of seals worn on ribbons, etc.: c.: 1811. See onion, 1.

onions. See give (someone) onions; know (one's) onions, at know, in Appendix.

onish. (Pron. onnish.) Rather late: e.g. 'It's getting onish.' C.20: coll.

onk. (Gen. pl.) A franc: army: WW1. (F. & G.) By perversion.

onka. Short for:-

onkaparinga. A finger: Aus. c., rhyming s.: C.20. Rare, says Wilkes; a place-name.

onker. A sailing-ship on the Baltic timber trade: Thameside: late C.19–earlier 20. It derives ex the interminable onk-urr onk-urr of the windmill pumps carried by these old ships, many of them due to be broken up: Frank C. Bowen, London Ship Types, 1938.

onkey. Stinking; (e.g. of fish) stale: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1953.) See ongcus, 2, and cf. honk, to stink.

onkeypoo, adj. Crooked; out of order: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Cf. prec.

onkiss; onkus. See ongcus.

only a little clean shit. See shit, n., 14.

only a rumour! It's much worse than that!: Aus. c.p.: since ca. 1919. Baker.

only another penny (needed) to make (up) the shilling! A c.p.; used, e.g., by persons collecting money: C.20.

only birds can fornicate and fly. "Just an old saying the unromantic R.A.F. had: only birds can fornicate and fly. And birds don't booze" (Gavin Lyall, Shooting Script, 1966): WW2. 'Simultaneously' understood.

only eating a good soldier's rations. A c.p. applied, WW1, by soldiers to inferior soldiers.

only here for the beer. Only present for a bit of fun; no serious involvement intended: c.p.: 1970s+. Ex a 'Double Diamond' beer advertising slogan of 1971–2, 'I'm only ...' Hence, as adj. phrase, 'she was one of those only here for the beer types'.

only think! See think, v. 2.

only two speeds, or, in full, have only two speeds: dead slow and stop. To be very slow in one's movements; hence, to refuse to be hurried or flurried: since ca. 1910. In, e.g. a cartoon in Punch, 14 Mar. 1917: 'I've only got two ...' (P.B.).

oo-ex, occ. Written solid. A children's exclam. of either surprise or disgust, or of both: C.20. An intensification of oo! or oo!, itself a var. of oh! 'I remember this from 1907. It was long drawn-out and marked by an extreme affectation of femininity or foppishness' (Leechman). Cf. coo-er.

oo-ex bird. Aus. equivalent of the oozlum bird, q.v. (Mrs C. Raab, 1982.)

oo-la-la. Esp. a bit of the (old) oo-la-la, an example of supposed typically French 'naughtiness'; unnamed erotic excitement, as 'Going to Paris, eh? For a bit of the old oo-la-la, I'll bet!', where even the speaker is prob. not very sure what he is implying: coll.: C.20. See the var. oh la-lal, and oolala.

oobyjiver. A what's-it, a thingammy: N. Country grammar schools': since ca. 1945. Cf. ooja-ka-piv.

oodery. 'A new term, coined at HMS Northwood in 1973. It refers to the work or role of the O.O.D., the Officer of the Day' (Peppitt).

oodle, n. Money in general: NZ and Aus.: C.20. B., 1941, 1942. Ex oodles. Cf. boodle, 1.

oodle, v. Fig., to drip, as in 'The book oodles with blood-curdling situations': ca. 1940+. Ex:-

oodles. A large quantity, esp. of money: adopted, ex US, ca. 1890; archaic enough to be used joc. by later C.20. Overland Monthly, 1869 (iii, 131), 'A Texan never has a great quantity of anything, but he has "scads" of it or oodles or dead oodles or scadoodles or "swads".' Prob. ex the whole booodle, q.v. From ca. 1920, often in oodles of boodle, lots of money; in later C.20, also for rhyming effect, oodles of noodles for a dish of spaghetti.

Oodna. Oodnadatta: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. Archer Russell, A Tramp Royal in Wild Australia, 1934.

oo-ex bird. Aus. var. of the oozlum bird, q.v. (Mrs C. Raab, 1982.)

ooey-goey! A rhyming reduplication of goey, q.v., but used as a juvenile exclam. of disgust, esp. at something viscous: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B.F.)

oof; ooftish. Money: low: resp. from ca. 1880; ca. 1870–1930. Oof also Can., late C.19–20. Sporting Times, 26 Dec. 1891, 'Ooftish was, some twenty years ago, the East End [Yiddish] synonym for money, and was derived from [Ger.] auf tische [properly auf dem Tische], "on the table", because one refused to play cards for money unless the cash were on the table'. Cf. plank, v., 3, q.v., and the quot'n at yob, 2.—2. (Only oof, and gen. pl.) An egg: Services', esp. on Western Front, WW1. (F. & G.) Corruption of Fr. oeuf.

oof-bird. A source, gen. a supplier, of money: 1888. Ex prec.

on the golden goose. Whence the feathered oof-bird, (a supplier, a source of) money in plenty; and make the oof-bird walk, to circulate money: ca. 1888–1930.

oofle dust. The “secret magic powder” used on “fakes” or “gimmicks” that are not too new” (William Hickey in Daily Express, 26 Nov. 1945): magicians’ (i.e. conjurers’). C.20. An arbitrary, fanciful word; oofle: ?ex spoo. Dust in the eyes. Perhaps influenced by, or even derived ex, the now ob. US Negro goofer dust, a magic powder alleged to be an aphrodisiac, as Robert Claiborne has suggested.

oofless. Poor; temporarily without cash: from ca. 1889; † by 1939. See oof; opp. oofy.

oofish. See oof.

oofy. Rich; (always) with plenty of cash: low: from ca. 1889. See oof. In late Victorian issues of Punch, in captioned cartoons, the ‘filthy rich’ or newly-rich often named, e.g. ‘Sir Oofy Goldberg’ (P.B.).

ooja. See oojah.

ooja-ka-piv or ooja-ka (or cum)-pivvy, the latter being the original corruption), is prob. a corruption of the nautical hook-me-dinghy or else ex Hindustani (as Manchon says); military, C.20, it means a ‘gadget’—anything with a name that one cannot at the moment recall. Further corruptions were ooja-cum-spiff and, later still, oojiboo, with which cf. the Can. hooza-ma-kloo. B. & P.—2. Hence, the old ooja, the Colonel: military: from ca. 1905. Manchon.

oojah. Sauce; custard: Services’: ca. 1938–48. (H. & P.) Ex prec.—2. An air-raid siren: WW2.—3. Always the ooja(h), the w.c. or ‘loo’: ca. 1916–40. In, e.g., Terence Rattigan, Who Is Sylvia?, 1950: see quot’n at umpty-poo, 2. A shortening of prec.—4. See prec., 2.

ooja(h)-pips. A woman’s breasts: Public-School-men’s: since ca. 1920.

oolala. (Of a girl; a woman) readily accessible; amorous: Services: since ca. Oct. 1939. I.e. the Fr. ô la! la! (expressive of sexual delight). See also oo-la-la.

oolfoo. A fool: low: late C.19–20. (Ware.) By transposition and addition. Also oolerfer: centre s.: from ca. 1860.

’Ooligan. An Oerlikon gun: RN (lowerdeck) ca. 1941–6. By the honourable process of Hobson-Jobson.

ooloo. See ulu.

oompah oompah – stick (or stuff) it up your jumper! A c.p. of derision or defiance: since latish 1920s; by 1960, slightly ob. Ex musical blare of sound. See DCpp.

oomph. Sex-appeal: adopted, ex US, ca. 1941. Echoic: ex a bull’s mating bellow. Hence oomph-girl, a young woman exuding considerable sex-appeal; mostly US usage. Oomph had a wonderful Press on 16 Oct. 1946. Cf. earlier it, 6.—2. Hence, impetus, power; esp. in, e.g., a sports-car, fighter-aircraft, etc., ‘She’s a powerful beast—plenty of oomph in that engine!’: coll.: early-1940s; ob. by ca. 1960. Cf. synon. urge. (P.B.)

oons; occ. oun(e)s. A coll. var., late C.16–late 19, of zounds. OED.

oonsnick. ‘A person of low intelligence.’ (L.E.F. English, Historic Newfoundland, 1955): Newfoundland: C.20. Of Amerindian origin?

oont. Pej. for ‘fellow’, ‘chap’, a fool: low: since ca. 1920. Richard Llewellyn, None But the Lonely Heart, 1943, ‘What’s the matter with you, you big-headed oont, you?’ Cf. dial. oonty (empty) and the at least cognate vont or hoont (to want, to lack); paralleled by ‘mental deficient’.—2. A camel: Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Aboriginal? No; it has been adopted from Hindustani: cf. Kipling’s poem ‘Oonts’ in Barrack-Room Ballads, 1892. (Niels Haislund.)

oony. Seasick: Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Arbitrary formation, vaguely echoic of sufferer’s groans.

oopizootics, the. ‘An undiagnosed complaint’ (C.J. Dennis, 1916): a joc. artificial word: late C.19–early 20. F.W. Thomas, in a letter to E.P., quoted the chorus of a popular song about 1890: ‘Father’s got ‘em, Father’s got ‘em, /He’s got the ooperzootics on the brain, /He’s running round the houses/Without his shirt and trousis, /Father’s got ‘em coming on again’.

oops! ‘An exclamation of apology when two persons collide or when one accidentally enters a room where someone is dressing’: since ca. 1930. (B.P.) Ex:

oops-a-daisy! See ups-a-daisy.

oos-me-goosh. ‘Meat cut into squares, [with] vegetables, and baked’ (Knock): RN lowerdeck: late C.19–20. Origin? Cf.: oosh. Seagull stew: RN: WW2, and nostalgically later. (M. Brown, Scapa Flow, 1968.) Perhaps a contraction of the prec., or ex a disgusted exclam. of ‘Ooh, sh(it)!’ P.B.: but cf. hoosh, q.v.

oosh, v.t. To drive off or out, as in ‘Oosh that wretched dog off my chair!’; or ‘oosh Joy out until we’re ready with her surprise’: coll.: later C.20. Perhaps echoic of noises to drive animals, or a version of shoo, or ex usher; but cf. also hoosh out, q.v. (P.B.) oot. Money: Aus. low.: since ca. 1920. Rats, 1944: “‘Smash?’ asked Clive. ‘What’s that?’” ‘The most important thing in the world. Smash, dough, fiddlies, coin, tin, hay, oot, shekels, mazooma, sponduliks, cash.’” Prob. unspirated hoot, or perhaps a var. of loot.

Ooty. Ootacamund: Anglo-Indian: late C.19–20. (Philip Gosse, Memoirs of a Camp-Follower, 1934.) P.B.: in C.20—since 1947, nostalgically—Snooty Ooty. Cf.:

Ooty Snooty Club, the. The Ootacamund Club (in the Nilgiri Hills), to which RN officers serving in India were sent for recuperation or for leave: RN: ca. 1940–5. ‘Junior officers found the “Poona” element a little over-powering’ (P-C-R).

ooze. To depart: from ca. 1920. D. Mackail, 1930, ‘I’ve got some work this afternoon. Shall we ooze?’ Cf. filter and trickle.—2. See on the ooze.

oozle. To obtain illicitly or schemingly: NZ soldiers, from ca. 1915 (E.P.); Aus., since ca. 1920 (Baker, 1942); ob. Perhaps ex oojah + wangle.—2. ‘To search for, capture, ambush, shoot or otherwise harry (bandits, rebels or other disturbers of the peace in Palestine): British Army in Palestine [1938+]. E.g., “D Company will send an oozling party.” Ex Arabic oozlebast (“brigand”), in brief glossary of Arabic terms issued to “the troops.” (Letter, 1939, from Earl Wavell.) oozlum (or oozlelem) bird. ‘A bird whose species you cannot recognise on sight’ (Granville): RN: C.20. Granville compares the RAF’s concentric bird. P.B.: G.’s comparison shows that he was aware of his bowdlerisation. For one version of the bird’s attributes, see B. & P., at the monologue titled ‘The Showman’; another, perhaps better-known, version describes the bird as flying ‘round and round, in ever-decreasing circles, until finally he disappears up his own arsehole, from which safe but insanitary refuge he hurls shit and abuse at all his pursuers.’ Perhaps ex prec., 1: oozle ‘em—this would accord with the B. & P. bird; it made off with maidens, and evil intent.

op, n. Optime: coll.: Cambridge University: 1828 (Sporting Magazine: OED).—2. Opera: Society: from ca. 1870; virtually †. Ware.—3. Any surgical operation: medical, hence also patients’, coll.: since ca. 1900.—4. Any military operation: Services’: C.20.—5. An operator; esp., wireless op: orig. nautical, since ca. 1922; soon spread to the other Services.

opaque. Dull; stupid: London: earlier C.19. (The London Guide, 1818; Bee.) A forerunner of dim, q.v.

opcar. A policeman: Aus. c.: since the 1920s. (Kylie Tennant, The Joyful Condemned, 1953.) A modified centre s. on copper.

open. An open golf-championship, as the British open: sports coll.: from ca. 1920.

open a can of worms. ‘To introduce an unsavoury subject into the conversation’: Can.: since ca. 1955. (Leechman, who qualified it as ‘rare’.) Such a tin of worms as is purchased by a week-end fisherman.—2. ‘To loose a perhaps insoluble complication of unwanted subjects’ (Theodore Bernstein in the Bulletin, Apr. 1971): adopted, ca. 1971, ex US; by 1978 quite common, esp. in political commentaries: ‘The minister's refusal to ... has opened a whole new can of worms ...' (P.B.).

open a tin. To start a quarrel: RN: since ca. 1910. (Granville.) Cf. synon. kick a gong.

open-air. An open-air meeting: Salvation Army's coll.: 1884. Ware.

open-and-shut. 'In Newfoundland, days of alternating sun and cloud are known as "open-and-shut" days' (Leechman): C.20.

open arse. A medlar: C.11–20: S.E. till ca. 1660, then low coll. till ca. 1820, then dial. Grose, 1st ed. (at medlar), cites a C.18–early 19 c.p.: (it is never ripe till it is rotten as a t—d, and then (it is) not worth a f—t.—2. Hence, a harlot: C.17—mid-18. Davies, The Scourge of Folly, ca. 1618, puns thus on medlar, medlar: 'Kate still exclaims against great medlers ... I muse her stomacke now so much shoulde faile/ To loath a medler, being an open-tail' (OED). See also open up.

open (one's) business. (Of a woman) to prepare for sexual intercourse: C.17–18. Swift wrote to Stella in Oct. 1710, '[Harley] has appointed me an hour on Saturday at four, afternoon, when I will open my business with him; which expression I should not use if I were a woman.' Cf. open up. (P.B.)

open c or C. The female pudend: low: C.19—early 20. ?orig. printers'.

open for business. Start of the day's routine, when the flag is 'made': RN: later C.20. (John Malin, 1979.)

open house. See keep open house; cf. open slather.

open lower-deckers. To use bad language: naval: late C.18—mid-19. Bowen, 'The heaviest guns were mounted on the lower decks.'

open (one's) mouth wide. To ask a high price: coll.: from ca. 1890. C. Roberts, 1891, 'To use a vulgarism, he did not open his mouth so wide as the other' (OED). In C.20, often of things other than money and occ. open (one's) mouth too wide, as in:—2. To bid for more than one can pay for: from ca. 1880: Stock Exchange s. >, ca. 1920, gen. coll.

open slather. Free for all; 'anything goes'; 'open house': Aus.: since early C.20. Wilkes quotes J. Vance Marshall, The World of the Living Dead, 1919. Perhaps ex Irish slighe, craft; a way; access.

open the ball. To begin: from ca. 1810, coll.; in C.20, S.E. Byron; Eton Chronicle, 20 July 1876: OED.

open the box! Make your mind up!: mostly lower and lower-middle classes': since late 1950s. Ex the TV series 'Take Your Pick' (mid-1950s—early 70s) in which the host, Michael Miles, gave winners the choice of opening a numbered box (which might contain something worth-while, or rubbish), or taking a money prize (Nigel Rees, Very Interesting—but Stupid!, 1980).

open the door. Number 44 at tombola: rhyming; cf. Pompey 'ore. See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

open the door, Richard! An Aus. c.p., 'used when someone knocks on an unlocked door' (B.P.): since ca. 1930. P.B.: the phrase formed the basis of a very popular song, with an insistent rhythm, in the mid-1940s.

open the occurrence. To make, in the police station books, an entry for a new case: policemen's: from ca. 1880. B. & L.

open the taps. See taps, 2.

open to. To tell, or admit, to (a person): London lower classes': 1895, People, 6 Jan., 'I knew then that Selby had got a bit more [money] than he opened to me'; ob. Ware.

open up, v.i. (Of a woman, sexually) to spread: low coll. bordering on S.E.: mid-C.19–20. Ex S.E. sense, to become open to view. Cf. the rare C.17 open-tail, a harlot, a light woman, and open arse, q.v.

open your (commonly, yer) legs – you're not a woman! Drill instructor's exhortation to a recruit on 'square-bashing' to stride out in his marching: Services': C.20. (P.B.)

opened another tin. See they've opened...

opener. Any case, bag, package, etc., opened by customs officials: customs' s. (ca. 1908) >, by 1930, coll. (OED Sup.)

Either by the 'OXFORD -ER' or ex the frequent order, open her!
opera buffer. An actor in opera bouffe: theatrical: 1888; ob. Punning opera-bouffer.

opera house. A workhouse: C.19. Ex L. opera, work. F. & H. (? elsewhere).—2. A guard-room; detention-quarters or -cells: military: from the 1890s. (F. & G.) P.B.: † by 1950. operate. To operate on: Can. doctors' and nurses': since ca. 1930. At first a sol., it was by 1930, coll.—almost j.; but still to be deprecated. 'They operated her twice.' (Leechman.)

operation. A patch, esp. in trousers-seat: tailors':—1909 (Ware).—2. 'Note to sub-editors and others: please cooperate in killing... the most overworked of current clichés—the whimsical application to a variety of topics of the military locution "Operation —"' (T. Driberg, Reynolds, 28 Apr. 1946): coll.: late 1945+. Please!

Operation Park. Bondi Esplanade Park Sydney: Sydneysites': since ca. 1925. (Baker.) Erotic.

operator. A pickpocket: coll., verging on S.E.: C.18—mid-19. (Sinks, 1848.) Ex the S.E. sense, one who lives by fraudulent operations.

Ophelia. Occ. nickname for men surnamed Cox: Services': WW2. I.e. 'Oh, feel yer ...' (L.A., 1974.)

-opolis. See -polis.

opperore. See uproar.

oppo. 'My oppo' is my chum, pal, usual companion: RN, RM,—1914; army and RAF in WW2; all 3 Services since. Ex opposite number (Granville).—2. Hence, sweetheart (H. & P.) or even one's wife (Jackson): Services' joc.: WW2.—3. Senior officers in mess: RN lowerdeck: since ca. 1920. Ex operational.

opposite, n. The saloon bar: public-house coll.: late C.19—20: † by 1940. A. Neil Lyons, Clara, 1912, 'You could come in—in Opposite, along of us.' Opposite the less 'superior' bar.

opposite, adj. Obscene (esp. of language): S. African c.: C.20. Cape Times, 23 May 1946.

opposite number, (one's). 'The opposite number to a Brigade Intelligence Officer, for instance, is the Battalion Intelligence Officer on the one hand, the Divisional Intelligence Officer on the other' (E.P., 'In Mess and Field', New Statesman, 1 Aug. 1942): army: since ca. 1936: by 1942, it was j. opposite sex. See not interested in...

opposite tacks. Cross-purposes: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

ops. Operations (activities): Services: since ca. 1915.—2. In RAF, Operations Room: Operations Officer: since ca. 1938. Partridge, 1945.

opsh. Something optional; e.g., a ball where fancy dress is optional; esp. in without the opsh, no choice: prob. since late C.19. Patrick MacGill, Fear, 1920.

opt. The best scholar: schools':—1887. Abbr. L. optimus. Baumann.

opt landing. Optional landing, there being, on a rainy day, no 'clear College': RN College, Dartmouth: C.20. Granville.

optic. (Gen. in pl.) An eye: C.17–20: S.E. till ca. 1880, then joc. coll. Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, 10 Apr. 1891, 'A deep cut under the dexter optic'.

or am I? – or are you? – or is (s) he or it? A c.p., added for effect: since ca. 1945. 'He's a great man—or is he?'

or my prick's a bloater! A most unlikely alternative to the proposition just stated, which is by implication a dead certainty: low: since mid-C.20, ?earlier. (P.B.) or out goes the gas! A c.p. 'threat to put an end to whatever is going on': ca. 1880–1905. B. & L.

or something. A vague, final tag, either to avoid full details or explanation or because the speaker doesn't know: coll.: late C.19–20.

or three. 'Used, for emphasis, instead of "or two", as in "Looks to me as if you're going to need another bookcase or three"' (P.B., 1976): I first heard it ca. 1950, but think it goes back to the early 1930s.

or what-have-you. A tag, indicative not of doubt but of a refusal to go into a catalogue: orig. (ca. 1942) and still (1960) a mainly cultured coll. This c.p. 'provides for any reasonable conceivable possibility appropriate to the context... For want of example, or as opening the sluice-gates of possibility' (L.A., 1948). P.B.: since ca. 1970, if not earlier, usu. or whatever.

or would you rather be a fish? 'A c.p. quip after proposed line of action (the more at odds the better). To the response "Yes", the rejoinder is: "You haven't far to go"; rebutted by "No, it's too wet".' (Atkinson, 1959.) This set of witticisms—cf. the 'chants' so common among servicemen in 1914–18—dates from ca. 1945 and springs from, indeed as an elab. of, the c.p., which would you rather—or go fishing?, itself current at least as early as 1930, if my memory serves me aright. Indeed, it must date from ca. 1927: Dorothy L. Sayers used it in The Nine Tailors, 1929, as Ramsey Spencer reminds me. oracle. A watch: C.18 c. or low s. Swift, 'Pray, my lord, what's o'clock by your oracle?' Prob. S.E. oracle influenced by L. hora (cf. Romany ora, hour, watch).—2. The female pudend: low: C.18–20. Gen. hairy oracle.—3. See work the oracle.

orange, n. The female pudend: Restoration period. P.B.: because of what can be done in an orange, or a commemoration of Nell Gwynn?—2. A long-distance call; esp., give me an orange, give me (put me on to) a long-distance exchange: telephone operators': since ca. 1939.—3. In squeeze or suck the orange dry, to exhaust, drain, deplete: late C.17–20: S.E. until ca. 1880, then coll. Cf. squeeze until the pips squeak.—4. See sucked orange, a fool.

Orange Lilies, the. The 35th Foot (from ca. 1881, the 1st Battalion Royal Sussex): military: from ca. 1760; ob. Ex 'the facings till 1832 and the plumes awarded for gallantry at Quebec in 1759' (F. & H.).

orange peel. 'The orange colour jacket worn by platelayers to warn drivers that they are working on the line' (McKenna, Glossary, 1970); railwaymen's: later C.20.

orange pip. An observation post: artillerymen's: WW2. Orange was signalese for O, pip for p; cf. O pip, and see the PHONETIC ALPHABETS in Appendix.—2. A Japanese: rhyming s., on nip: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

orate. To hold forth, 'speechify': C.17–20: S.E. till ca. 1830, then lapsed until ca. 1865, when, under the influence of US (where still serious), it was revived as a joc. term that, ca. 1910, > coll.

oration, n. A noisy disturbance; a clamour, a din: low: ca. 1820–60. 'She kicked up such an oration' (Sessions, 1833). By a confusion of uproar and oratorio and oration.

oration, v.i. To make a speech: coll.: from ca. 1630; slightly ob. J. Done, 1633, 'They... had marvellous promptitude... for orationing'; Meredith. Ex the S.E. n. OED.

oration box. The head: ca. 1815–60. Spy, II, 1826.

orbit. To circle: Fighter Command: WW2. It became official: cf. angels and tally-ho. Ex astronomy.—2. Hence, to go, or get, into orbit, to go, get, into a lively circle; when used by women, it implies an escape from housework and a too quiet evening: since ca. 1946. (Thanks to Mr A. B. Petch, a splendid reminder and recaller.) P.B.: but E.P. has here, I think, not moved with the times; Petch's reminder must have come after the first sputnik, space-satellite, was shot into orbit in 1957. The phrase, as in, e.g., 'he's gone into orbit', soon came to mean 'he is in a "flap", a panic', or 'he is very angry': Services'. Cf. go through the roof.

orchard. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20. See Jack in...

orchestra stalls. Testicles: rhyming s., on balls: later C.19–20. 'The term is always reduced to "orchestras", and is employed as a euphemism at several social levels' (Franklyn, Rhyming). Cf. cobblers.—2. Prison cells: police joc.: from ca. 1920. Cf. the Fr. C.19–20 s. violon, gaol.

orchestras. See prec., 1.

orchid. A titled member of the of: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1880. Because decorative. See esp. 'Rouge et Noir', The Gambling World, 1898. Cf.:-

orchids and turnips. People important and insignificant: joc. coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. the Fr. s. phrase, les grosses et les petites légumes.

orchids to you, dear! A polite form of 'balls to you!': ca. 1935–55. Based upon an etymological pun; most users of the c.p. were ignorant of the testicular origin.

ord. An Ordinary Seaman: RN lowerdeck: C.20. ('Taffrail'; Bowen.) Cf. the more gen. O.D., and hostile ord.

order. 'A portion or helping of a dish or article of food served in a restaurant': coll.: US (—1906) anglicised by 1920. OED Sup. Cf.:—2. Pl. at Eton College, from ca. 1840, as in B. Richards, Seven Years at Eton, 'While we were in early school our... rooms [had to be] tidied; after that the orders, i.e. rolls, butter, and milk had to be served round.'—3. In a large (in C.20, gen. a tall) order, an excessive demand or requirement: 1884, Pall Mall Gazette, 24 July 1884, 'An agreeable piece of slang, a very large order' (OED). Also, from ca. 1910, a big order. Obviously ex the placing of an unusually large order for goods.—4. In a strong order, a very good horse: the turf:—1923 (Manchon).

order – counter-order – disorder. A Services' proverb: since later C.19. See DCpp.

order of the ..., the. E.g. ... of the bath, a bath; ... of the boot, a kick, a violent dismissal; ... of the push, a dismissal. All are coll. and essentially middle-class; from ca. 1880. Perhaps suggested by such knight mock-titles as knight of the pigskin, a jockey.

order of the day, the. The most usual thing to do, think, etc., at a given period: coll.: from ca. 1790. Arthur Young, 1792 (OED).

order of the hempen riband. A hanging, esp. at Tyburn: ca. 1650–1750. Roger Boyle, Mr Anthony, 1672, at I, i (Moe).

order of the push. A dismissal, esp. from employment, and gen. as give or get the order...: s. >, by ca. 1910, coll. ('Pomes' Marshall.) An elab. of push, n., 10, q.v. Cf. order of the bath.

order of the rag, the. The military profession: coll.: early C.18–early 20. (Fielding, 1751.) Ex rag in the sense of 'flag', q.v. at rag, n., 5.

order-racket. The obtaining of goods from a shopkeeper by false money or false pretence: ca. 1810–70. (Vaux.) See racket.

orderly buff. An Orderly Sergeant: army: earlier C.20. (F. & G.) See also buff, n., 6, and cf.:-

orderly dog. An orderly corporal: id. (Ibid.) In the RAF, it = orderly sergeant (Jackson, 'The orderly officer's dog'). By mid-C.20, in the army at any rate, it could be applied to the orderly officer, sergeant, or corporal, or even to a canteen orderly (P.B.). Cf.:-

orderly pig. Orderly Officer: mostly officers': Army (—1914) >, by 1939, RAF. Partridge, 1945.

orderly poodle. RAF NCOs' var. of orderly dog. (Sgt G. Emanuel, 1945.)

orderly stooge. Orderly officer or NCO: army WW2. P-G-R.

orders is orders! A joc. c.p. (ex Army sergeants' use), 'we must obey orders': C.20. Always with a humorous tone or undertone.

ordinar'. Ordinary: lower-class coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Nevinson, 1895.) Also in Scottish; in Eng., until C.19, it was S.E. Hence, also, extraordinar'.

ordinary, n. A wife: low coll.: C.19–early 20. Cf. old dutch.—2. An Ordinary Seaman: RN coll.: late C.19–early 20. Goodenough, 1901.—3. A bicycle: earlier C.20. (Manchon.) Ex an ordinary bicycle, opp. to a motorcycle.—4. In out of the ordinary, unusual: coll., since late C.19, >, by mid-C.20, familiar S.E. Cf. the etymologically equivalent extraordinary.

ordinary, adj. Ordinary-looking, plain: from ca. 1740: S.E. till ca. 1880, then coll. and (esp. in Cambridgeshire) dial. Knowledge, 10 Aug. 1883 (OED).

ordinary pursuant. See TAVERN TERMS, §4, in Appendix.

orft. A deliberately illiterate pron. of off, for joc. effect; in, e.g., 'Well, I'm orft then' and 'Orft we jolly well go!': later C.20. Nigel Rees, in Very Interesting..., 1980, attributes the latter phrase to the disc-jockey Jimmy Young.

organ. A pipe: ca. 1780–1850. (Grose, 1st ed.) Hence, cock one's organ, smoke a pipe. Presumably ex the resemblance to an organ-pipe.—2. A clothes' trunk: Scottish servants': C.19–20; ob.—3. A workman lending money to his fellows at very high interest: printers': from ca. 1860. Hence, play the organ, to apply for such a loan, and, among soldiers, want the organ, to be trying to borrow money (F. & G.).—4. See carry the organ; play the organ; MOVING-PICTURE SLANG, §3, in Appendix.

organ bird. A magpie: Aus.: late C.19–20. (B., 1942.) Ironic. Organ-Grinders, the. The Italians: a nickname in 1914–18, though not unheard either before or after. William McFee, North of Suez, 1930.

organ-pipe. The wind-pipe, the throat; hence the voice: low s. > coll.: from ca. 1850; slightly ob. by 1930. Ex the shape and purpose of both.—2. In pl it was, ca. 1840–90, used among boxers for the nostrils, as in Augustus Mayhew, Paved With Gold, 1857.

organise. To 'wangle' something; to get something deviously or illicitly; to obtain or arrange something (very) cleverly but not necessarily illicitly: RAF: since ca. 1938. Jackson, 'Thus, "Leave it to me to organise some beer."' Flying Officer Robert Hinde, 1945, 'Used particularly in the sense "I must get organised with a girl in Town" or "with the C.O."' Cf. Ger. military s. organisieren, 'to win something'.—2. To avoid (an unpleasant duty), as 'I organised that fatigue all right': army: WW2. P-G-R.

organise? You couldn't organise a piss-up in a brewery! Organisation certainly isn't your strong point: c.p.: since ca. 1939. Cf. organise. Here, piss-up is a drinking bout. organised, get. To arrange one's kit or the work to be done in order before starting the day' (H. & P.): RAF coll.: since ca. 1930.—2. Hence, to so arrange work, or a plan, as to achieve one's purpose; he who has done this is, or has got, organised: since 1939. Partridge, 1945.

orgy. A party: mostly teenagers': since the late 1950s; by 1966, slightly ob.

orifice. Joc. perversion of office (place of work): later C.20. (P.B.)

orinoko; orinoker. A poker: rhyming s.:—1857 ('Ducange Anglicus'); ob. by 1930.—2. A var. of Oronoko, q.v., tobacco, which itself may well have been influenced by Mrs Aphra Behn's Oroonoko; or, The Royal Slave, 1688: see the very interesting note on pp. 160–1 of Julian Franklyn's Rhyming Slang, 2nd ed.

orkneyitis or scapathy. That mental and moral depression which tends to ensue after one has been stationed for some time in the Orkneys: RAF: WW2. (H. & P.) Scapathy deftly blends 'Scapa Flow' and 'apathy'.

orks. Short for orchestras, itself short for orchestra stalls, rhyming s. on balls, testicles: since ca. 1925.

orlop. See demons of the orlop.

ormenack. A year: Cockney: earlier C.20. Manchon quotes A. Neil Lyons, 1914, 'Arf a ormenack dead wasted'. A mispron. of almanack.

ormolu. 'Wardroom adjective for anything ornate or expensive-looking' (Granville): RN: from—1914 ('Bartimeus', Naval Occasions). Ex 'ormolu clocks'.

ornament. A station master: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Derivative.—2. See neither use...

ornary, ornery. Ordinary: illiterate coll. (and dial.): C.19–20. (Baumann.) Contrast the American sense: unpleasant, intractable, bad-tempered, etc.—for which see Thornton's admirable American Glossary, 1912. P.B.: the US sense has had some C.20 use in Brit., e.g. 'He's an ornery sort of cuss', he is difficult to deal with.

ornicle. 'A policeman, magistrate, or anyone in authority' (John o' London's Weekly, 4 Mar. 1949): showmen's: ca. 1870–1930. 'Oracle? as having the last word—final' (J. o' L.). ornithorhynchus. A creditor: Aus.: ca. 1895–1915. I.e. a duck-billed platypus: F. & H. explain as 'a beast with a bill'.

Oronoko. Tobacco: 1703 (Ned Ward). Rare. (W. Matthews.) See orinoko, 2.

orphan collar. A collar unsuitable to the shirt with which it is worn: joc.: adopted, ex US, by 1902.

'orrible 'ole, the. The gun-room, 'home' of the midshipmen: RN officers': since ca. 1925. (P-G-R.) Derivative of a typical Petty Officer's characteristic scorn.

orta recens. 'One who has either slept in or has had more sleep than the speaker. (Orta recens... form the first two words of the motto of New South Wales): a c.p., dating from ca. 1955. (B.P.) But † by 1967, Mr Prentice tells me.

O's, the. Clapton Orient Football Club: sporting: C.20. Cf. the Bees.

os ace. An illiterate pl. of o ace for o-yes, i.e. oyez: C.17. OED.

Oscar, n. A homosexual: coll. rather than s.: late C.19–20; ob. Ex Oscar Wilde. Hence the v.—2. An annual award to the best film actor or actress of the past 12 months: cinematic: since ca. 1940. (John Bull, 24 Aug. 1946.) Ex the inaugurator's given name.—3. A Japanese Army aircraft: RAF in Far East: 1942+. Barry Sutton, Jungle Pilot, 1946. P.B.: this is an example of the codenames given to Japanese aircraft with unpronounceable, or undistinguished letter or figure, designations; cf. the famous Zero fighter.—4. Money, esp. coin: Aus. rhyming s. (C.20) on cash. Ex Oscar Asche, the Aus. actor (1871–1936).—5. 'A large shovel; relatively recent and based on a humorous reference to the presentation of an Oscar film award [sense 2, now familiar S.E.] to the miner using the shovel' (Pit-Talk, 1970, ed. W. Forster): S. Midlands coalminers'. (P.B.)

Oscar (or o), v.t. To bugger: lower class: C.20.

Oscar-Wildeing. Active homosexuality: lower class: C.20. Cf. prec. two entries.

Oscarise, v.i. To be (an active) homosexual: C.20. Cf. Oscar, n. and v.

oschive. See ochive.

Oserlander. Gen. pl., 'small river craft on the Rhine and Meuse': nautical coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) ?cf. the Ger. place-names, Osche and Oscheleben.

ossifer. See ocifier.

ossy. Horsey (adj.): 1881, Earl Grenville (OED Sup. at bean).

ostiarus. A prefect doing, in rotation; special duty, e.g. keeping order: Winchester College coll. or j.: C.19–20. Revived by Dr Moberly ca. 1866. L. ostiarus, a door-keeper.—'The official title for the Second Master' (Mansfield, 1866); ob. by 1930.

ostler. An oat-stealer: late C.18—mid-19. I suspect that this is rather a Grose (1st ed.) pun than, except joc., an actual usage. Cf. oat-stealer.

ostrich. See peninsula.

ostrich farm, the. 'The White and Gold Room at Buckingham Palace, in which ladies sit in rows before passing into the Throne Room to curtsy to Their Majesties, is irreverently referred to, on Court nights, by junior members of the household as "the ostrich farm"' (Daily Colonist, Victoria, BC, 16 July 1926): Court circles': C.20. (With thanks to Dr Douglas Leechman.)

other, the. Homosexuality as a criminal offence: c.: from ca. 1925. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) As opp. to prostitution.—2. See bit of the other, heterosexual copulation.

other fish to fry, have. To have something else to do: coll.: mid-C.17–20. Evelyn, 1660; Swift; C. Brontë; E.V. Lucas. (Apperson.)

other half, the. 'The return drink in the wardroom, all naval drinks being traditionally a half-measure': RN coll.: C.20. (Bowen.) See also swing o' the door.

other place, the. Cambridge men speaking of Oxford; Oxford men, of Cambridge: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Cf. shop, n., 3.

other side, the. Australia: NZ: since ca. 1880. B., 1941, 'The other side of the Tasman [Sea].—2. Mail travelling in the opposite direction: railwaymen's, esp. on mail trains: from ca. 1920. Daily Herald, 5 Aug. 1936.

other thing!, if he doesn't like it he may do the. I.e. 'lump it', or go to hell: coll.—1887 (Baumann).—2. Hence, the contrary, reverse, opposite: coll.: from ca. 1923.

other way about, the. (Fig.) precisely the contrary: gen. in ref. to a statement just made: coll.: since ca. 1890.

otherguess. Different: from ca. 1630: S.E. until ca. 1820, then coll. and dial. Cf. † S.E. othergates.

otomy; occ. otomy. A C.18–19 form of the dial. and (low) coll. atomy, q.v. (Swift, Grose, Ainsworth.) Whence ottomise, q.v.

otta. See next, 2.

otter. A sailor: C.18–19. Street Robberies Consider'd.—2. N. and adj.; also otta (Lester) and otto. Eight: occ. eightpence: Parlyaree and costers' s.: from ca. 1850. Ex It. otto, via Lingua Franca. P.H. Emerson, 1893, 'T'll take otto soldi.' See soldi and dewey.

otto. See otter, 2.

ottomise. To anatomise: mid-C.18—mid-19: low coll. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex atomy, q.v.

otomy. See otomy.

ouds, the. The Oxford University Dramatic Society: Oxford University s. (from ca. 1890) >, by 1920, coll.

ought. Nought (a cipher): sol. and dial.: from ca. 1840. Dickens, 1844, "Three score and ten", said Chuffey, "ought and carry seven". Prob. ex a nought > an ought. Hence, oughts and crosses, a children's game: 1861, Sala. (OED.) P.B.: a year early in the century is sometimes referred to as, e.g., nineteen ought blob.

ought. Been obliged; esp. in didn't ought (to) (present infinitive); hadn't ought (to) (perfect infin.), should not—ought not to—do; should not—ought not to—have done: C.19–20: low coll. >, ca. 1880, sol. Particularly illiterate is this example from Baumann: 'Didn't 'e ought to stay?', i.e. 'Ought he not to have stayed?' Also in affirmative (see examples at OED, ought, 236, IV, 7, c). A survival of ought, past ppl of owe. P.B.: E.F. seems to have missed the var. 'She didn't ought to've done that—she really didn't ought!' Ought to, slovened, is sometimes spelt oughta, -er.

ounce. A crown (coin): c. of ca. 1720–1830. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) Silver being formerly estimated at five shillings an ounce.—2. £1 sterling: spivs' c.: mid-C.20. Picture Post, 2 Jan. 1954.

'ounds. A coll. form of wounds (e.g. God's wounds): C.18. Cf. zounds.

our-. A familiar way of referring to that thing or, more gen., person: C.19–20. Dorothy L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'I've an idea our Mr. Willis was a bit smitten in that direction at one time.' Prob. a development of the practice, noted by Petch, 1946, 'In the North of England and Scotland [but also among Cockneys], mainly working-class, "our" is nearly always used in referring to a member of the family, as "Our Billy" or "Our Mary Ann".' Cf. the following entries, esp. our kid.

our 'arbour. A Melbourne c.p. at Sydney's expense: C.20. Sydneyites being apt to boast about their very beautiful harbour; in retaliation they jibe at Melbourne's rather smelly river—see stinking Yarra!. Cf.:-

our Bridge. Sydney Harbour Bridge; a Melbourne c.p.: since ca. 1925. (Baker.) Cf. prec.

our 'Erb. The Rt Hon. Herbert Morrison: his London supporters': since ca. 1941.

our Glad. Gladys Moncrieff, an Australian musical-comedy star, whose career began in 1913: not only Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B.P., 1963).

our Gracie. Gracie Fields (1898–1979), English singer and variety artist, born in Rochdale, Lancashire: her many, many admirers'.

our kid. The eldest boy in the family: northern coll.: C.20 (prob. earlier). Contrast kid, n., 10, a younger sibling, and see our. (P.B.)

our Marie. Marie Lloyd (1870–1922), the justly famous music-hall artist: ca. 1895–1920, then reminiscent. Cf. Naomi Jacob's biography, Our Marie, 1936.

our noble selves! A C.20 upper-middle class toast.

Our Venerable Aunt. Catholic Church: Protestants': since ca. 1870.

ourick. A Gentile (gen. pl): pej. Jewish coll.: late C.19–20. Ex Yiddish.

ourn. Ours: mid-C.17–20: dial. and low coll. Partly ex † S.E. our(en), our; partly ex our on mine. Cf. hern, hisen, yourn. ours. British, or Allied: military coll.: 1914–18. B. & P. Opp. his. P.B.: revived in WW2; see one of ours.

Ouse whale. Fish served at school meals: Bootham School: —1925 (Bootham).

out, n. (Mostly in pl.) One out of employment or (esp. political) office: 1764: coll. till ca. 1790, then S.E. (Goldsmith, Chatterton.) Ex the adj.-adv.—2. A dram-glass: public-house and low: ca. 1835–1910. (Dickens, in Sketches by Boz.) These glasses are made two-out (half-quarter), three-out (a third), four-out (a quarter).—3. An outing or excursion; a holiday: from ca. 1760: dial. and, from ca. 1840, coll.; very ob. as the latter. OED.—4. An outside passenger on a coach, etc.: 1844; ob.: s. >, ca. 1850, j. J. Hewlett, 1844, 'Room for two outs and an in' (OED).—5. (Also in pl.) A loss: lower classes' coll.:—1909 (Ware).—6. An omission of part of matter to be printed: printers' coll.: mid-C.19–20.—7. A walking-out together: lower-middle and lower class: since ca. 1920. Berta Ruck, Pennies from Heaven, 1940.—8. An excuse; an alibi: adopted, ca. 1942, from US.—9. See on the out; In and Out; play at in and out.

out, v. To disable; knock out: since mid-C.19 (Sessions, Aug. 1857): boxing s. >, by 1930, coll. Ex knock out.—2. Hence, in c.(>, ca. 1915, low s.), to kill: from late C.19. Daily News, 11 Sep. 1899 (OED). See out, adj., 10; cf. off, v., 4.—3. To dismiss from employment: late C.19–20. A. Neil Lyons, Hookey, 1902, 'Yes, I shall be outed.' I.e. to put outside.—4. Hence, to eject from a meeting: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—5. To suspend (a jockey or a professional games-player): Aus. sporting: since late 1940s. (B.P.)—6. See out it; out with. out, adj. Unfashionable: coll. or, as the OED classes it, S.E.: 1660, Pepys in Diary, 7 Oct., 'Long cloakes being now quite out'; ob. ?ex go out of fashion.—2. (Of a girl, a young woman) at work, in domestic service: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.: 1814 (Jane Austen).—3. Tippy: C.18—mid-19. ?ex out, astray. F. & H.—4. Having been (esp. recently) presented at Court: Society coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.: since 1820s. In, e.g., The Night Watch (I, 258), 1829, thus, "What age is she?" asked Charlotte. "Twenty, or a little more; perhaps about your own age, though she has been out these two seasons; and, I am told, has had several advantageous offers in point of connexion." Ex to come out at Court.—5. Wrong, inaccurate: coll. or, as the OED holds, S.E.: mid-C.17–20. Ex out in one's count, guess, estimate.—6. Having a tendency to lose: s. verging on coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. Ex out of luck.—7. Not on sale: from ca. 1830: market-men's coll. > j. Ex out of stock.—8. (Recently) released from gaol: c.: from ca. 1880. Ex out of gaol.—9. Dead: c.:—1898 (Binstead, The pink'Un and the Pelican). Ex to knock out. Cf. out, v., 2.—10. Esp. in 'That's out!': Petch, 1969, 'heard today when people don't want something or they cannot afford it'; (of a plan, a theory) (utterly) impracticable: since late 1940s: orig. s. >, by 1960 at latest, coll.—11. See next, 2, and out with.

out, adv. The orig. form of all the adj. senses; see prec.—2. In existence; one could find: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: from ca. 1856. G.A. Lawrence, 1859, 'Fanny was the worst casuist out' (OED). ?ex out before the world or out on view.—3. See all out; does your mother know you're out?

out after, be. A mainly lower classes' coll. var. (—1923) of familiar S.E. be out for, to be exceedingly keen to obtain. Manchon.

out-and-outer. A very determined, unscrupulous fellow: c.: ca. 1810–70. Ex S.E. out-and-out, adj. and adv.—2. Hence, a person or thing perfect or thorough of its kind: from ca. 1814; ob.—3. Hence, a 'whacking great' lie: ca. 1830–1930.—4. A thorough-going supporter: coll.: 1833; slightly ob.—5. 'An out-and-out possessor of some quality': coll.: 1852 (Thackeray).—6. A thorough scoundrel: from ca. 1870. Ex sense 1.—7. A thorough bounder, an 'impossible' person: from ca. 1905. OED.

out at elbows. (Of an estate) mortgaged: coll.: C.18—early 19. out at leg. (Of cattle) feeding in hired pastures: rural coll.: C.19—early 20.

out-cry. See outcry.

out for an airing. (Of a horse) not meant to win: the turf: 1888 (Sporting Times, 29 June). Opp. on the job (see job).

out for the count. (Often prec. by put.) Ruined; dead: since ca. 1880. Ex boxing.—2. Hence, utterly tired out; fast asleep: coll.: since ca. 1920.

out front. Straightforward; honest: coll.: adopted, early 1970s, ex US. (Powis.) Cf. synon. up front.

out goes the gas! See out or out goes...

out in the blue. Isolated—esp. in the desert: RAF: from 1930s. (Jackson.) See blue, n., 13.

out into the cold, cold snow. Half-way between a c.p. and a chant: C.20. Ex a sentimentally melodramatic recitation.

out it. To go out, esp. on an outing: coll.: 1878, Stevenson, 'Pleasure-boats outing it for the afternoon'. Ex ob. S.E. out, v.i. OED.

out like a light (, be or go or put). Unconscious; to become, or to render, unconscious, from or by excessive liquor, fatigue, drugs, or any other cause, very suddenly and deeply: coll., ex boxing s.: since ca. 1930. Frequent in Rats, 1944; Alan Hunter, Gently Sahib, 1964, 'the jab [injection] put her out like a light.' (P.B.)

out of all ho. Beyond all bounds: coll.: late C.14–20. (Chaucer, Swift.) After ca. 1870, † except in dial. Ex ho! A late C.16–19 var. out of all (w)hooping, which appears in Shakespeare's As You Like It, and, as past all w., in Kingsley's Westward Ho! Apperson.

out of (one's) box. Crazy; mad: coll.: later C.20 (New Society, 12 Mar. 1981.) See also out of the box.

out of (occ. Christ's, but gen.) God's blessing (occ. heaven's benediction, Shakespeare in Lear) into the warm sun. From better to worse: proverbial coll.: mid-C.16—mid-19. Palsgrave, 1540, 'To leappe out of the halle into the kythyn, or out of Christ's blessing in to a warme sonne'; Howell; 1712, Motteux, who misunderstands it to mean 'out of the frying-pan into the fire'. Skeat derives it ex the congregation hastening, immediately after the benediction, from the church into the sun. Occ. out of a or the warm sun into God's blessing, from worse to better (Lyly). Apperson.

out of collar. (Of servants) out of place: 1859 (H.); † by 1910.

out of commission. Requiring work: clerks' coll.:—1909 (Ware).—2. Out of order; not running: coll.: since ca. 1920. 'We can't take the car; she's out of commission.' Ex ships lying idle.

out of curl. Indisposed; vaguely ill at ease: coll.: mid-C.19—earlier 20. Ex the hair. Hence, go out of curl, to collapse, as in Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 1924.

out of flash. For showy effect or affectation: c.:—1812 (Vaux) >, by 1820, low s. (Bee); † by 1900.

out of it. See out of the hunt.

out of mess. See mess, n., 4.

out of (one's) own head. Imagined, invented, thought of by oneself: rather coll. than S.E.: 1719 (Defoe). 'Were not all these answers given out of his own head?', Jowett.

out of print. Dead: booksellers': from ca. 1820; very ob. (Egan's Grose.) Cf. o.p.

out of register. (Of a drunken person) walking crookedly: printers': from ca. 1860. (B. & L.) A page out of register is a type-area not square on page or sheet.

out of school. See WESTMINSTER, in Appendix.

out of sorts. Dispirited; slightly unwell: from ca. 1620: S.E. until mid-C.19, then coll. In C.19, it received an unconventional impetus from printers.

out of synch. (pron. sink.) Out of synchronisation; fig., incompatible: coll., ex j.: later C.20. 'She laughed curiously out of synch with what was being said' (Ted Walker, High Path, 1982).

out of the blue. Something that happens (to a person) quite unexpectedly, pleasant or unpleasant; as a windfall or thunderbolt: coll.: C.20 (?earlier). 'What a week! Monday the eldest boy turns up out of the blue, plus scruffy girl-friend, demanding fifty nicker; then on the Wednesday, also completely out of the blue, she was offered this fantastic film contract.' (Mrs C. Raab.) Contrast in the blue, q.v.

out of the box. Unusual: Aus., mostly rural: since ca. 1920. Jean Devanney, Travels, 1951, 'But you mustn't run away with the notion that I'm anything out of the box in back-country conditions'.—2. Hence, very special; exceptional; unusually favourable: Aus., since ca. 1920; NZ, since ca. 1930. S.H. Courtier, A Corpse Won't Sing, 1964; Slatter. One out of the box, derived from this, for something very special, has the var. one out of the bag (Camilla Raab, 1978). See also out of (one's) box.

out of the frying-pan into the fire (, jump from or). To be thus worse off: from ca. 1520, with antecedents in Plato, Lucian, Tertullian: coll. until ca. 1890, then S.E. More, Harrington, Garrick, Barham. See esp. Apperson. Cf. out of Christ's blessing..., q.v.

out of the hunt. Debarred; having no share, no chance; wholly ignorant: from ca. 1880: coll. till C.20, then S.E. Ex sport. Var. out of it or out of the running.

out of the mill. Out of trouble. See through the mill.

out of the way (for so-and-so). In hiding because wanted by the police (for such-and-such a crime): c.: ca. 1810–1910. Vaux.

out of the wool. (Of sheep) 'that have just been shorn' (B., 1959): Aus. coll.: C.20.

out of this world. See JAZZ, in Appendix.

out of town. 'Out of cash; locked up for debt' (Bee): c. of ca. 1810–50. Opp. in town, q.v.

out of twig. Reduced by poverty to the wearing of very shabby clothes: c. of ca. 1810–60. Vaux, who notes put out of twig, to alter a stolen article beyond recognition, and put (oneself) out of twig, to disguise oneself effectually.

out of whack. See whack, n., 10.

out on a limb. See limb, n., 4.

out on (one's) ear. An intensive of out, as in 'thrown out on his ear': since ca. 1920. Has Aus. var. out on (one's) pink ear (B.P.).

out on (one's) own. Peerless; a very good sort (of fellow): coll.: C.20.

out on its own – like a country shit-house. Excellent; unique: NZ: since ca. 1910. An elab. of prec.

out or down there. Turn out or be cut (or knocked) down: boatswains' c.p. to lazy seamen: C.19. (Bowen.) It occurs in 1818 (Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome) as out or down here. The var. out or down occurs in W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 95), 1829. (Moe.)

out or in. "Out or in" ... is Queensland vernacular for dead or alive' (Alexander Macdonald, In the Land of Pearl and Gold, 1907): Queensland coll.: ca. 1880–1930.

out run. 'A sheep run at a considerable distance from the head station' (B., 1959): Aus. rural coll.: C.20. But an out station is a sheep, or a cattle, station remote from the head station: coll.: C.20.

out the back door, go. To go down to the beach at Gallipoli, esp. on fatigues: NZ soldiers': 1915.

out there. On the Western Front: military coll.: late WWI. (F. & G.) Also over there.

out to grass. (Of a person) retired: Aus.: late C.19–20. (Baker.) Ex retired horses.—2. In put out to grass, send out as a prostitute: late C.16–17. Thomas Middleton, The Merry Devil, at I, i (Moe). Cf. grass bidd.

out to it. Dead drunk: Aus.: since ca. 1880. B., 1942.

out where the bull feeds. See where...

out with. To bring out; to show: col.: Sessions, Dec. 1783 p. 15: 'He out with the knife and shewed it me'.—2. Hence, to utter esp. unexpectedly, courageously, etc.: coll.: 1870, Spurgeon, 'He outs with his lie' (OED).—3. Gen. be out with, to be no longer friendly towards: (mostly nursery) coll.: from before 1885. Ware.

outcry. An auction: C.17–19; † S.E. in Eng. by ca. 1800, but surviving in India as a coll. until late C.19. (H., 3rd ed.; Y. & B.) Also mid-C.18–19 dial.: EDD.

outdoor plumbing. An outdoor privy: (US and) Can. 'ironic, since there is no plumbing' (Priestley): C.20.

outed. Dismissed from employment: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1943.) See out, v., 3.

outer. A betting-place, in the open, overlooking a race-course: low Aus.: from ca. 1920. Hence, and much more usu., '(of a racecourse) the section outside the enclosure' (B., 1942).—2. (the outer.) Outside coat pocket: c.: late C.19–20. Cf. bitch, safe, seat, qq.v.—3. In on the outer, penniless: Aus.: from ca. 1920. (Jice Doone.) I.e. on the outer edge of prosperity; ex running on the outside track.

outer edge, the. See outside edge.

outers. 'What thieves call "outers"; in other words, a pat explanation if things go wrong'; to give outers is to allow 'a way of escape or a way of avoiding responsibility. E.g.: "Give me outers, guv'nor, and I'll tell you where the gear is"' (Powis): c.: later C.20.

outface it with a card of ten. See card of ten.

outfit. A travelling party; a party in charge of herds, etc.: coll.: orig. (1870) and mainly US.—2. Whence, Can. and Aus. military coll.: a battalion, a battery, squadron, etc.; etc.: WW1+.—3. 'The paraphernalia used for an escape. "He's got his outfit" = he has all the necessary impedimenta for an attempt to get over the wall and is awaiting a favourable opportunity' (Tempest, 1950): prison c.—4. In the whole outfit, the whole thing or collection of things: coll.: from ca. 1910.

outfitter. An officer 'not fond of change from home to foreign service or from regimental to staff employment, and ... always getting an "outfit" for the purpose': Royal Artillery officers': ca. 1885–1905. B. & L.

outing. A pleasure-trip, an excursion: orig. (—1821), dial. >, ca. 1860, coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. Sun, 28 Dec. 1864, blames H. for omitting this term.—2. The vbl n. of out, v., 2: q.v.

outing dues. Execution (for murder): c.: late C.19—early 20. (G.R. Sims.) Ex out, v., 2.

outlawed. Applied to a crew that has worked 16 hours, the statutory limit: Can. railroadmen's:—1931.

outro. A finale: 'pop' music circles': since ca. 1960. (Beatles.) As opp. intro, short for introduction.

outrun the constable. See constable.

outs. See out, n., 1 and 5.—2. Out-patient department of a hospital: medical:—1933 (Slang, p. 192).—3. In be (at) outs, to quarrel; to be no longer friends: coll.: C.19—early 20.—4. In make no outs of, to fail to understand; misunderstand: (somewhat low) coll.: C.19—early 20. Possibly influenced by, or a corruption of, make orts of, to undervalue; cf. S.E. make (a person) out, to understand him.—5. A run of outs is a succession of racing losses: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1920. (Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949.) Ex out, n., 5.

outside, n. An outside passenger: 1804 (OED): coll. till ca. 1890, then S.E.—2. The utmost: coll.: from ca. 1690. (B.E.) Esp. in:—3. At the outside, at the (ut)most: from ca. 1850. Esp. of number or price: e.g. 'In a few weeks, at the outside, we may expect to see ...' (Literary Gazette, Jan. 1852: OED).—4. As the outside, the unsettled parts or districts: Aus. coll.: C.20. (B., 1943.) Contrast:-

outside, adv. In civilian life: RN coll.: C.20. Granville, "I don't care what you were 'outside'; you're in the Andrew now, so don't forget it, or you'll be in the rattle," Petty Officer to recalcitrant New Entry.' Cf. the very much older coll. Can. sense, 'in, or into, civilized parts'—as opposed to the backwoods. 'Trappers will spend the winter in the bush and then come "outside" to sell their catch. My earliest example is 1827' (Leachman, May 1959). Contrast prec., 4.

outside, preposition. More than, beyond: (low) coll.: from before 1887. Baumann cites novelist Greenwood, 'Tuppence outside their value'.—2. See come outside!; for get outside see outside of.

outside bug. See O.B.

outside edge, the. 'The limit': C.20. (Lyell.) App. first recorded by Ian Hay in 'Pip', 1907. Orig. a skating var. of the limit. Also the outer edge (Collinson).

outside, Eliza or Liza! Get out of this! a low c.p.: from ca. 1850; ob. Ware defines it as 'drunk again, Eliza' and says that it is 'applied to intoxicated, reeling women'.

outside man. 'Lookout man for criminals but particularly for a "firm" of card sharps engaged in the three-card trick. Such lookout men may be posted as far as 200 yds away from the venue of the "action"' (Powis): c.: later C.20.

outside of. Except; beyond (the number of, the body of): coll.: orig. (—1889), US; anglicised ca. 1905. E.g. 'Outside of the habitués, nobody was there.' But cf. Jane Austen, Sense and Sensibility, 1811, 'You think the little Middletons too much indulged. Perhaps they may be the outside of enough'.—2. In get outside (of), to eat or drink (something): adopted, ex US, ca. 1890. Also be outside of: same period; ob. by ca. 1930. Moe cites US usage in J.W. De Forest ('The Duchesne Estate'), writing in The Galaxy, June 1869 (p. 831), 'Don't let's get outside of more'n a bottle apiece, and that plain whiskey'.—3. Get outside of, (of a woman) to copulate with: low: from ca. 1870.

outside of a horse. On horseback: coll., mostly Aus.: 1889 ('Rolf Boldrewood').

Outside Old River. The Yangtze Kiang: pidgin: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

outside the ropes. Ignorant (of a particular matter); being merely a spectator: 1861, Lever, 'Until I came to understand ... I was always "outside the ropes"' (OED).

outside tiffy; outside wrecker. An RN artificer working 'outside': RN: since ca. 1925. (Granville.) Strictly a submariners' term for 'an artificer working outside the hull or engine-room of a submarine' (Granville, 1967). In Down the Hatch, 1961, John Winton remarks that 'Most of the machinery outside the engine room was maintained by the man who was known by the traditional submarine title of the outside wrecker'.

outside view. A view of the target seen from the air: RAF: 1939+. H. & P.

outside walkee. A paddle-steamer: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex pidgin: cf. inside walkee, the ref. being to the position of the motive power.

outsider. One who fails to gain admission to the ring: the turf: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex outsider, a non-favourite horse, a sense that, despite the OED, may have been coll. at its inception (1857).—2. A person unfit to mix with good society: coll.: from ca. 1870.—3. A homeless person: Glasgow:—1934. Pregnantly ex the lit. sense.—4. 'A person living in the outback' (B., 1959): Aus.: C.20.

outsiders. Nippers with semi-tubular jaws used in house-breaking: c. and j.: 1875 (OED).

outside. A person (gen. female) rather larger than the majority: from ca. 1890. Ex drapery j. The OED records it for 1894 as rather an out size and as S.E.; yet I believe that spelt as one word (C.20) it is to be considered coll. Certainly such a phrase as an outside in thunderstorms, punches, 'hates', efforts, etc., is joc. coll. of C.20.

outward-bounder. A ship outward-bound: nautical coll.: 1884 (Clark Russell: OED).

outy. An outing, esp. for a pet animal: domestic: C.20. C.H.B. Kitchin, The Cornish Fox, 1949.

ouya. You: back s., mostly Cockneys': since ca. 1900. Exemplifies the C.20-a, or vocalising, var. of 'straight' back s. Frank Norman, in Encounter, 1959, 'I saw ouya the theora ightna up the hpeilersa' (I saw you the other night up the spier).

ouze. Var. of oozle, 1.

Oval, the. The Kennington Oval Cricket Ground: coll. (—1887) >, by 1900, S.E. Baumann.

ovate. To greet with popular applause, with an ovation: journalistic coll.: 1864 (Sala); Saturday Review; 3 May 1890, 'Mr. Stanley ... was "ovated" at Dover' (OED).

ovator. one who participates in a popular welcome (to another): journalistic coll.: 1870 (Evening Standard, 22 Oct.: OED). Like prec., ex S.E. ovation.

oven. The female pudend: low: C.18–20, ob., except in the punning bun or one in the oven, qq.v. (D'Urfev.) Perhaps with ref. to the C.16–19 (extant in dial.) proverb, he (or she) that has been in the oven [as a hiding-place] knows where to look for son, daughter, etc.—2. A large mouth: ca. 1780–1910. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex S.E. oven-mouth, a wide mouth.—3. In in the same oven, in the same plight: low coll.: C.19–early 20.

oven-door. A bass-fiddle: S. Lancashire joc.:—1905 (EDD Sup.).

over! Var. of over the left (shoulder)!:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.)—2. In do over, to possess a woman: low coll.: C.18–early 20.—3. In get over, to get the better of: coll.: prob. since late C.18. Bill Truck, Sep. 1823.—4. See all over; put it over; have over; give over.

over a barrel. See have over a barrel.

over-and-over. An acrobatic revolution of oneself in the air, a complete turn (or more): acrobats' coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

over at the knees. Weak in the knees: C.19–20: stable coll.; in C.20, S.E.

over backs; hence overs. Leapfrog: resp. Cockney coll. (mid-C.19–20) and Cockney s. (from ca. 1890).

over-baked. Disappointed; 'fed up': RN: C.20. Cf. browned off. P-G-R.

over boots. See over shoes ...

over-boyed. (Of a ship) officered by youths: naval coll.: ? mid-C.18–mid-19. Bowen.

over-day tarts. The darkened and damaged appearance about the gills and fins of a herring more than 24 hours caught: fish trade:—1889. Ex the blood there extravasated and its resemblance to an overflowing jam tart.

over-eye. To watch (carefully): proletarian: C.19–early 20. (Ware.) Ex oversee.

over-fed, over-paid ... See over-paid, over-sexed ...

over goes the show! A proletarian c.p. of ca. 1870–1900 referring to a disaster or to a sudden change. B. & L.

over my dead body! A declaration of strongest will to resist: coll., sometimes joc. (dependent on context): C.20. (P.B.)

over-omer. That kind of Englishman who talks constantly of how much better things are done 'over 'ome': Can.: C.20. Naturally, he's much resented.

over-paid; over-sexed – and over here! (orig. over-fed, over-paid, etc.). A fairly gen. c.p., applied by UK Britons to the American troops stationed in Britain, 1943–5: far more joc. than derogatory. Norman Longstreet, in The G.I.s, 1975, introduces the blurb thus: 'It is sad, and slanderous, that this is still the description of the "Yanks" who enlivened British life during the second half of World War II which is best remembered on both sides of the Atlantic.' The c.p. was revived in Aus. and applied to the US Forces personnel who spent 'rest and recuperation' leave there during the Vietnam War. J.B. Mindel notes that the Americans retorted with jeers at the British, under-paid, under-sexed—and under Eisenhower!, a ref. to the US supreme commander.

over-rate it. To overdo one's part: theatrical: ca. 1860–1920.

over shoes, over boots. Completely; recklessly persistent: coll.: late C.16–early 19. Shakespeare, Breton, Welsted (1726), Scott. Cf. the S.E. over head and ears. (Apperson.) Also over boots, over shoes.

over the air. By radio: orig. (mostly nautical) coll., from ca. 1925; since WW2, familiar S.E.

over the Alps. In Dartmoor prison; loosely, in any prison: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace passim.

over the bags. See (go) over the top, and cf. synon. mount the bags.

over the bar. Half-drunk; fuddled: nautical: ca. 1810–70. Sessions, 6 Apr. 1843.

over the bender. Exaggerated; untrue; often as an exclam. of incredulity: coll.: C.19–early 20. Cf. over the left (shoulder). —2. (Of a partridge) shot before 1 Sep.; (of a pheasant) before 1 Oct.: poachers':—1909 (Ware). Cf. synon. over the lefter.

over the broomstick. See broomstick, 5.

over the brush. See live over the brush.

over the bun-house. On public assistance: dockers': from ca. 1930. (Daily Herald, late July or early Aug. 1936.) As if getting food from the bakery.

over the chest. See over the gun.

over the coals. See call over ...

over the door. See put over ...

over the edge. Unreasonable; excessive; improper: Aus. (B., 1942) and Brit. coll.: earlier C.20. Esp. in situations where 'just about the limit' would be an understatement, e.g. 'in WW1 the "Tommy" would describe the shelling of hospitals as "over the edge"' (Petch). P.B.: since early 1980s, over the top, adj.

over the falls. Applied to a surfer 'trying to pull out of a wave too late' (Pix, 28 Sep. 1963): Aus. surfers'.

over the fence. (Of a person) unashamed; scandalous; greedy; very unreasonable: NZ coll. var., late C.19–20, and Aus. since ca. 1910 (B., 1942), of S.E. beyond the pale. Perhaps ex local rules for cricket.

over the Gilbert. (Of naval routine) gone wrong: RN: C.20. (Bowen.) See hard-a-Gilbert.

over the gun. Settlement, esp. judicial and domestic: Conway training-ship cadets': from before 1900. (John Masefield's history of the Conway, 1933.) Var. over the chest.

over the hill. Past mid-Atlantic; occ. (of a ship) over the horizon: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. Esp. go over the hill, to desert (the Armed Forces): Services': later C.20. (P.B.) Cf. over the side. —3. (Of persons, also of machines, animals, etc.) middle-aged, 'getting on (in years)', long in the tooth: rueful coll.: C.20 'Poor old Polly; until a few weeks ago he would drive us mad with his talking, but now he's so quiet that he must be getting over the hill.' (Mrs C. Raab.)

over the left (shoulder). In the wrong way. But gen. a c.p. used to negate one's own or another's statement, the thumb being sometimes pointed over that shoulder: from ca. 1610; slightly ob. In C.19–20, when the phrase is somewhat low, shoulder is gen. omitted. Cotgrave; H.D. Traill, 1870, 'Don't go? ... It's go and go over the left ... it's go with a hook at the end.'

over the lefter. (Of a partridge or a pheasant) shot before the season begins: poachers' c.:—1909 (Ware.) Cf. synon. over the bender: perhaps ex the lies told to explain away the corpse (P.B.).

over the lid. See over the top.

over the mark. Tippy: coll.: ca. 1820–80. In a letter written in 1846—from what is now Winnipeg—Robert Clouston, a Scot, remarks, 'Those not accustomed to dine at these parties will get over the mark (tipsy) before they have any idea of it.' (Leechman.)

over the moon. Wildly excited or delighted; 'in seventh heaven of happiness': coll.: since early 1970s. R.S. quotes Daily Telegraph, 29 July 1974, 'I think it is fantastic. I am over the moon and really pleased about it.' 'Diaries of May, Lady Cavendish, (published in 1927) entry dated February 7, 1857, where she describes breaking the news of her youngest brother's birth to the rest of his siblings: "I had told the little ones who were at first utterly incredulous and then over the moon"' (Christine Rodgers, letter to Guardian, 10 Mar. 1983).

over the plonk. See over the top.

over the side. Absent without leave: RN: C.20. (F. & G.) I.e. of the ship. Hence, in C.20, 'Absent from place of duty, or home' (Powis): low coll. Cf. over the hill, 2.

over the stile. (Sent) for trial: rhyming s.: since—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

over the top. See go over the top, to leave one's own trench to attack the enemy: army: WW1. Later WW1, 1917–18, variants were (go) over the lid, over the plonk. —2. Whence, in trouble; 'crimed': id. F. & G.—3. Over the top and the best of luck!, encouragement to infantry about to be sent in to attack: WW1. See esp. DCpp.—4. 'Flying above the clouds or above the bad weather' (Jackson): RAF coll.: since ca. 1939. Cf. the lit. S.E. fly above the roof-tops.—5. 'Used by trans-Atlantic flyers to designate the Northern route by way of Greenland and Iceland' (P-G-R): RAF: since 1940; by 1946, also civilian.—6. Highly exaggerated: early 1980s. 'At first some of the stories [of criminal violence] seemed so nasty that I assumed the teller was going over the top—that he was revealing some unfortunate pathological obsession' (Laurie Taylor, New Society, 6 Jan. 1983, p.13). Also without go: 'That's a bit over the top, innit?'

over the wall. 'In the guard-room, confined to camp. Thus, "9d. over the wall" means, "Nine days C.C."' (Jackson). The phrase has been adopted from American c. (see Underworld): Services: since ca. 1935. Contrast:—2. 'An escape. In the event of a rumoured or actual escape, one man may ask another what has happened. The reply might be "So-and-so's gone over the wall" or "He's had it away over the wall"' (Tempest, 1950): prison c.: C.20.—3. In go over the wall, to go mad, become insane: coll.: later C.20.

over the water. In King's Bench Prison (ca. 1820–50: 'Jon Bee'); in Wandsworth Prison (C.20): London c. The ref. is to the 'other' side of the Thames.

over there. On the Western Front, WW1. See out there.
over (one's) time. (Of women) having passed the date on which the period should have begun; to have failed to 'show': mostly feminine coll.: mid-C.19–20.

overbroke. Too much, too heavily; esp. bet overbroke, applied to a bookmaker: the turf: C.20.

overdraw the badger. To overdraw one's banking-account: ca. 1840–1914. (Hood.) ?ex † S.E. overdraw one's banker; see badger, v.

overflow and plunder. A method of fleecing the audience by sending them from dearer to yet dearer seats: theatrical: ca. 1880–1900. B. & L.

overgots book. 'Book showing credits in hand for which official debit not available. NER usage' (Railway, 2nd): coll.: C.20.

overheat (one's) flues. To get drunk: low, mostly Cockney: later C.19. Baumann.

overland, the. The back-country; remote, wholly or almost wholly unsettled districts: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1943.) Cf. outside, and Standard Aus., the outback.

overland, v. 'To drove cattle long distances' (Wilkes): Aus., orig. coll., later C.19, >, in C.20, Standard Aus. Wilkes quotes Marcus Clarke, 1871. Cf. overlander, from which it is presumably a back-formation.

overlanded. Of goods 'arriving without invoice' (Railway, 2nd): C.20.

overlander. A drover of cattle over long distances: coll. >, by 1920 at latest, Standard Aus.: so, too, the vbl n., overlanding. Publicised in Britain by the Aus. WW2 film The Overlanders.—2. A settler from another State: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1943.

overrun the constable. See constable.

overs. Any food or rum left over from the 'official' issue: army: WW1. Elliptical for 'left-overs'.—2. 'Shells and bullets that passed over their targets' (P-G-R): army coll.: WW2+.—3. 'Surplus of property or money after a theft that can itself be stolen by trusted persons' (Powis): c.: later C.20. Cf. sense 1.—4. See over backs.

overseas, adj. 'Half seas over' or half-drunk: since ca. 1930. By a reversal and a pun.

overseen. Somewhat drunk: late C.15–20: S.E. till C.17, then coll. till ca. 1820, then dial. (L'Estrange.) Cf. overshot, overtaken, qq.v. overseer. A man in a pillory: mid-C.18–early 19. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex the C.16–17 S.E. sense, one who looks down at anything, hence a spectator.

overshot. (Very) drunk: C.17–20; ob. (Marston, 1605: OED; Lyell.) Cf.:—

overspurred. Top-heavy; unsteady; drunk: nautical: 1890 (Clark Russell); ob. by 1930.

overtaken. The state of being smitten with love: usu. 'to suffer from an...': perhaps idiolect, in Rachel Ferguson, Evenfield, 1942, writing of earlier C.20.

overtaken. Drunk: late C.16–20: S.E. till C.18, then coll. till ca. 1850, then dial. Hackett, 1693, 'I never spake with the man that saw him overtaken'; Congreve; Halliwell; Mrs S.C. Hall. Ex overtaken in or with drink.

overtops box. A cupboard-like box for books: Winchester College: from ca. 1880. See toys.

'Ow dare she. HMS Audacious: RN: since ca. 1930. (Granville.) By Hobson-Jobson.

'ow you going mate – all right? (said almost as one word). Aus. and NZ greeting: since ca. 1920.

owe-forty. A lawn-tennis term of the late 1880s–early 90s. 'Every one with any pretensions to skill (and a good many with none) wore long, thick, white blanket-coats. These were called "owe-forty" coats—sometimes in reverence, occasionally in derision' (F.R. Burrow, The Centre Court, 1937).

Owen Nares. Chairs: theatrical rhyming s.: since ca. 1910. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) Ex a very popular actor.

owl, n. A harlot: C.19–20 (ob.): coll. verging on S.E.—2. A member of Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge: Cambridge University: ca. 1810–90.—3. A blow or a punch, esp. on the head: Christ's Hospital (School): since ca. 1870. (Marples.) Proleptic.—4. An ATS wireless operator: ATS: 1940–5. Ex their wireless 'headgear', which gives the wearer an owlish appearance. P.B.: more prob. ex the initials of Operator, Wireless and Line; ATS = Auxiliary Territorial Service (1938–49), the predecessor of the Women's Royal Army Corps.

—5. As the Owl, the night train from Paddington to Penzance: railwaymen's: C.20. (Railway, 2nd.) A night bird for night birds.—6. In take the owl, to become angry: coll.: late C.18–mid-19. F. & H.—7. In live too close to (or near) the wood to be frightened by an owl (or by owls), to be not easily frightened: C.18–early 19 as proverbial coll., then dial. Swift, however, has 'Do you think I was born in a wood to be afraid of an owl?'

owl, v. To smuggle goods out of the country: coll. > S.E.: ca. 1735–1820. Ex owler, owling, qq.v.—2. To sit up at night: late C.19–early 20.

owl in an ivy bush, like an. Having a large wig or very bushy hair: anticipated in 1606 (Day) but properly of ca. 1705–1840. Swift, Grose (Apperson).

owl-light. See walk by owl-light.

owler. A person, a vessel, engaged in smuggling sheep or wool from England to France: late C.17–early 19: orig. c. or s., though the OED considers it to have always been S.E. (B.E., Grose.) Ex ob. S.E. v., owl. Cf.:

owling. Such export: late C.17–early 19. See prec. for status. owls to Athens, bring. To bring 'coals to Newcastle': proverbial coll.: late C.16–18. Melbancke's Philotinus, 1583; Hackett's Williams, 1693 (Apperson).

Owlsville. Late-night London: 'with it' revellers': early 1960s. (London Evening Standard, 17 Mar. 1964.) See -ville.

own, v. In lawn tennis, since the early 1970s, it means that one player consistently dominates another, even though their world ranking may be very close, as, e.g., 'Borg owns Vilas', which I saw in print a few days before Wimbledon 1978 began. P.B.: E.P. was always a keen sports fan, esp. of cricket and tennis; in the 1930s he 'made a bit on the side' by reporting Wimbledon for the Manchester Guardian.

own. In on its (or, one's) own, on its or one's own account, responsibility, resources, merits: coll.: from ca. 1895.—2. Hence, on its (or, one's) own, by it (or one)self; alone: independently: C.20 coll.—3. See out on (one's) own; get (one's) own back; feel (one's) own man.

own(-)goal. A terrorist—or, collectively, terrorists—killed by their own faulty, or prematurely detonated, bombs: since ca. 1974: the British Army in N. Ireland, 'borrowing with grim humour from footballers' jargon for a defender inadvertently putting the ball into his own side's goal' (R.S., 1977). own up. To confess; admit (v.t. with to): coll.: 1880, Trollope, 'If you own up in a genial sort of way, the House will forgive anything.'

owned, be. To make many converts: clerical: ca. 1853–75. (Conybeare.) Cf. seal.

owner. The captain of a ship [RN] is invariably "the owner", "old man" or "skipper", while ... the second in command is "the bloke" ("Traffrail"): RN: late C.19–20.—2. A visitor from on shore, come to look over the ship: id. (F. & G.) Cf. Owners, q.v.—3. The captain of an aircraft; the Owner is also the Commanding Officer: RAF: since 1918. (Jackson.) P.B.: no doubt taken into the newly-formed RAF by its RNAS co-founders.

owneress, the. 'Jocular reference to the wife of the captain of a merchant ship who sails with her husband' (Granville): C.20 owner's man. A captain or officer protecting the owner's interest by cheese-paring; an officer related to the owners: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

Owners, the. The British public: RN: since ca. 1925. (Granville.) The B.P. owns it.

owner's scribe. The Commanding Officer's confidential clerk: RAF: since ca. 1930. (Jackson.) Cf. owner, 3.—2. Hence, a Personal Assistant to an Air Marshal or an Air Chief Marshal: since ca. 1940. Partridge, 1945.

ownest. (E.g. my) ownest own, (my) dearest one: Society (—1887: Baumann) >, by 1910 at latest, rather cheap.

ownsome, on (one's). By oneself: lower-middle-class coll.: since ca. 1920. (Michael Harrison, What Are We Waiting For?, (1939.) Ex on one's own = lonesome. Cf.:-

owny-o, on (one's). Same as prec.: joc.: C.20. By fanciful Italianisation; cf., e.g. the name Antonio. James Joyce, Ulysses, 1922, spells it ownio.

owt. Two: back s.:—1851 (Mayhew, I).

ox. 'A large person or tough, esp. a clumsy one' (Peter Bonford): Marlborough College (and upper-middle-class) coll.: late C.19–20.—2. As the Ox, 'the old Oxford Theatre, Melbourne' (B., 1942).—3. In the proverbial the black ox has (hath) trod on his foot, he knows what poverty, misfortune, ill-health, old age, etc., is: from ca. 1530: coll. till ca. 1750, then S.E.; ob. Tusser, Ray, Leigh Hunt.

Ox and Bucks, the. The Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry: half nickname, half inevitable abbr.: 1908–58. Carew; Gaylor.

Ox and Cow, the. The Oxford and County Secretarial College: upper-middle-class nickname: later 1970s. Peter York, Style Wars, 1980.

ox-house to bed, go through the. To be cuckolded: late C.17—early 19: semi-proverbial coll. (B.E., Grose.) Obviously because he has horns.

ox-pop. A butcher: low: ca. 1810–80. P.B.: perhaps a pun on vox pop.

ox-tail soup. See getting ox-tail soup.

Ox-tails, the. See Cabbage-Stalks.

ox up; knock up; mob. To promote (a pupil): Christ's Hospital (School): resp. ca. 1840–80, 1850–1940, 1890+. Marples.

Ox-Wag (g) on. An Oxford aircraft: airmen's, esp. in S. Africa, where this craft was extensively used in training: WW2.

Oxbridge. 'Coined by Thackeray in Pendennis [1848–50] and revived by Virginia Woolf in 1928, but not popularised until the 1950s' (Brian Foster, The Changing English Language, 1968). It was not wholly forgotten in the interval, however, for it occurs in the caption of a Gerald du Maurier boat-race cartoon in Punch, 1883 (P.B.). Since ca. 1955 it has been journalistic coll. for Oxford and Cambridge as = the older English universities, and as adj., of that which is characteristic of them both.

oxer. An ox-fence: fox-hunting: 1859, G.A. Lawrence, 'A rattling fall over an "oxer"': Whyte-Melville; Kennard, The Girl in the Brown Habit, 1886.

oxford, Oxford. A crown piece: low: ca. 1885–1914. Hence half-oxford, a half-crown piece: ob. (Binstead, The Pink 'Un and the Pelican, 1898.) It is an abbr. of Oxford scholar, q.v. P.B.: as a crown, five shillings, and even, among the older generation, 25 pence, it survived into the 1970s. Rhyming Cockney Slang, ed. Jack Jones, 1971.—2. As in 'Are you Oxford or Cambridge?', i.e. 'Are you at (or, were you at) Oxford or Cambridge University?': coll.: C.19–20. Baumann.—3. In send verdingales to Broadgates at (or in) Oxford, a v.p. of ca. 1560–1670 (later in dial.) in ref. to farthingales so big that their wearers could not enter an ordinary door except sideways. Heywood (1562), Fuller, Grose's Provincial Glossary. Apperson.

Oxford bags. See bags, 1.

Oxford bleat. From ca. 1925 (coll.), as in Denis Brown in the Spectator, 5 Jan. 1934, where he speaks of an exaggerated form of the Oxford or Public School accent: 'Surely it is permissible to suggest what [outsiders] rudely call the Oxford Bleat by writing down the direction given me the other day as "past a whaite house, between the water-tah and the pah station"'. See also note on the 'OXFORD -ER', in Appendix.

Oxford Blues, the. The Royal Horse Guards: late C.17–20: military. Ex the colour of their facings, introduced in 1690.

Oxford clink. The C.18–mid-19 sense, a play on words, a mere jingle, is prob. S.E.—2. A free pass: theatrical: ca. 1890–1915.

[Oxford glove. App. a very loose-fitting glove: C.17: coll. Nares, quoting Dekker. Oxford Glove may, however, have been j. of now obscure meaning.]

Oxford scholar. Five shillings (piece or sum): rhyming s., on dollar: since later C.19. In C.20 nearly always abbr. Oxford, as in half an Oxford, half-a-crown. See Oxford, 1.—2. Shirt collar: rhyming s., not very gen.: earlier C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

oxo. Nothing: c.: late C.19–20. Ex '0×0 (nought multiplied by nought)=0', an old schoolboys' joke, but prob. influenced by the popularity of Oxo, the beef-extract. Gilt Kid, 1936.—2. See Jewish Oxo.

Oxo cube. The London Underground (Railway): rhyming s., on tube: C.20. See prec.

oxometer. An apocryphal instrument for the measurement of 'bullshit': RN lowerdeck: 1939+. Granville.

oy! A call for attention, as in 'Oy! Come (h)ere, you!', 'Oy! Mind your backs!', or of remonstrance, 'Oy! You can't do that there 'ere!'; in fact a most useful, all-purpose, noise of protest: mostly low: C.20, prob. earlier. A slovening of the (?)much older hoy!, perhaps influenced by the East End Jewry's Yiddish. Nigel Rees, 1980, notes that the famous 'Crazy Gang' comedian Bud Flanagan used it to round out his jokes or routines with his partner Chesney Allen. (P.B.)

oyl. See oil (of barley, hazel, etc., etc.).

oyster. A gob of phlegm: low coll.: late C.18–20. Grose, 1st ed.—2. The female pudend: low: C.19–20; ob. (Cf. the oyster, the semen.)—3. Profit, advantage: joc.: ca. 1895–1915. Ex a prophet's (profit!) and an oyster's beard.—4. (Gen. in pl.) One of the holes in a cooked duck's back: domestic: late C.19–20.—5. In a choking, or stopping, oyster, a reply that silences: coll.: ca. 1525–1600. Skelton (stopping); Udall (the same); J. Heywood, 1546 (choking).—6. In as like as an apple to an oyster, very different: coll.: ca. 1530–1680. More, 1532, 'Hys similitude ... is no more lyke then an apple to an oyster'; L'Estrange, 1667. In 1732, Thomas Fuller has the form, as like an apple to a lobster. (Apperson.) Cf. the now much commoner chalk and cheese.—7. See old oyster.—8. In drink to (one's) oysters, to fare accordingly (esp., badly): coll.: mid-C.15—early 16. J. Paston, 1472, 'If I had not delty ryght corteysly ... I had drownk to myn oysters' (OED).

oyster-faced. Needing a shave: low (mostly London): ca. 1895–1915. See oyster, 3.

oyster part. A part in which one speaks but a sentence: theatrical coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

OYSTERICS

oysterics. 'Panic in reference to oysters creating typhoid fever': middle classes': ca. 1900–8. (Ware.) Ex oysters + hysterics.

Oz, n. and adj. A mere phonetic var. of the abbr. Aus. = Australian. The n. is used esp. to mean 'the Australian language': later C.20.

OZZLETWIZZLE

Ozzy. Phonetic var. of Aussie, as in the sense 'an Australian'. I first noticed it, in England, in The Times, 24 Mar. 1977—a review of the late Grahame Johnston's The Australian Pocket Oxford Dictionary. (With thanks to Mrs Camilla Raab.)

ozzletwizzle. See uppard twizzle.

P

p. or P. A ponce: mostly Londoners': C.20. Gerald Kersh, Night and the City, 1938.—2. Standard abbr. for a penny, or pence, in decimal coinage; but see pee, n., 2.

P.A. (Only in the vocative.) Father: earlier C.20. (Beatrice Kean Seymour, Daughter to Philip, 1933.) The pa in pater. See also pa.

P. & E., the. 'The Pike and Eel'—an inn on the Cam, hard by the finish of the bumping races: Cambridge undergraduates': since ca. 1880.

p and q, P. and Q. Of prime quality: C.17–20: coll. in C.17, dial. thereafter. Rowlands (Pee and kew, as it is sometimes written). Origin obscure; see also p's and q's.

p.b. or P.B., The public: theatrical:—1909; † by 1930. (Ware.) Also the pub (Ibid.).

P.B.I. The infantry: infantrymen's coll.: from 1916. (B. & P.) I.e. poor bloody infantry.

P.B.O. Poor Bloody Observer: RFC: WW1. (C.H. Ward-Jackson, Airman's Songbook, 1946, passim.) Ex P.B.I.

p.c. (or P.C.). Poor classes: Society: from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

p.d. or P.D. An adulterating element in pepper: trade: from ca. 1870. I.e. 'pepper-dust'.—2. Esp. in caught P.D., 'caught with one's pants down', i.e. at a disadvantage: since ca. 1935.

p.d.q., P.D.Q. Pretty damn(ed) quick: late C.19–20. Free Lance, 6 Oct. 1900. 'I'd be on my uppers if I didn't get something to do P.D.Q.' Cf. p.o.g.

p.f. man. See pig-fucker.

P.G. or p.g. HMS Prince George: RN coll.: WW1. (F. & G.) Likewise the P.R. is HMS Princess Royal: id. Ibid.—2. A pro-German: among prisoners of war, in Germany 1915–18.—3. A paying guest: joc. coll.: from ca. 1910.

p.h. See purple heart.

P in swimming. See silent-like the p... p.j.s. or P.J.s. Physical exercises: coll.: from ca. 1925. (D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933). I.e. 'physical jerks'.

P.M. A parlour maid: domestic servants' coll.: late C.19–20.

P.M.Y.O.B. Please mind your own business: c.p.: since ca. 1930. (Julian Symons, The Gigantic Shadow, 1958.) Also P.M.Y.O.B.B., ... your own bloody business. (Julian Franklyn, note of 1962.) Elaborations of the much more common M.Y.O.B. Cf. keep it out!

p- (or P-) maker. The male, the female pudend: low: mid-C.19—earlier 20. See pee, v.

P.O. or p.o. is the shorter and probably the original form of p.o.q. Compton Mackenzie, Sinister Street, 1913–14, 'You can give me dinner and then I'll P.O.'—2. A coal wagon: railwaymen's: since ca. 1920. (Railway, 2nd.)

p.o.e.t.s. See poets.

P.O. Prune. See Prune, P/O.

p.o.q! or P.O.Q! Push (or piss) off quick(ly): Services' coll.: WW1+. (F. & G.) After p.d.q.

p (or P) off! Euph. for 'piss off'—i.e. 'Oh, go away!': since ca. 1960. Petch cites A Flea in Her Ear, BBC TV, 7 June 1967. Cf. prec., and P.O.

p.p! or P.P! A pickpocket: c.:—1887 (Baumann).—2. Play or pay, i.e. go on with the arrangement or forfeit the money; esp., the money must be paid whether the horse runs or not: mostly the turf: from ca. 1830. Surtees, Ask Mamma, 1843; Dickens, Pickwick Papers, 1836–7.—3. As p.p., piss-proud, i.e. having, esp. on waking up, an erection because of a distended bladder: since ca. 1920. (F. Leech, 1972.)

p.p.c. A 'snappish good-bye': middle classes': late C.19—early 20. Ex p.p.c. (i.e. pour prendre congé, to take leave) written on a visiting card. Ware.—2. Hence, to p.p.c., to quarrel with and 'cut' (a person): Society: from ca. 1880; virtually †. Ware.

p.p.i. or P.P.I. Policy proof of interest: from ca. 1903. In its lit. sense, it is merely insurance, j., but in pej. allusion to speculative insurance policies, it is a commercial c.p., now ob. F.H. Collins, Authors' and Printers' Dictionary.

P.R., the. See P.G.

p.s. or P.S. See o.p., 1.—2. An advance on wages: hatters':—1909 (Ware). Ex postscript written p.s. Also and gen., x.—3. Penal servitude: c. or low s.:—1923 (Manchon).

p.s.a. or P.S.A. A recreational afternoon organised by a Bible society: ironic coll. (—1923) by abbr. Ex pleasant Sunday afternoon. Manchon.

p's and q's (or P's and Q's). In learn (one's) p's and q's, to learn one's letters: coll.; 1820 (Combe). Ob. Prob. ex children's difficulty in distinguishing p and q, both having tails. OED. Cf.:—2. In mind (one's) p's and q's, to be careful, exact, prudent in behaviour: coll.: 1779, Mrs H. Cowley, 'You must mind your P's and Q's with him, I can tell you' (OED). Also peas and cues; occ. (and ob.) be on (or in) one's p's and q's. Perhaps influenced by p and q; perhaps cognate with sense 1; perhaps, as F. & H. suggests, ex 'the old custom of alehouse tally, marking "p" for pint and "q" for quart, care being necessary to avoid over- or under-charge'. Grose, 2nd ed., shows that ca. 1786–1830, there was the more dignified sense, 'to be attentive to the main chance'.—3. Shoes: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P.

P.T. Physical Training: orig. Services' coll., from ca. 1910 (F. & G.); by ca. 1945, if not much earlier, gen. in schools, colleges, etc., and > j.—2. A pupil teacher: schools' coll.: late C.19—earlier 20.—3. A desirable female: (low) urban, esp. London: C.20. Ex prick-teaser, q.v.

P.V. Var. of Pav, 1, q.v.: later C.19.—2. A professional virgin or 'prick-teaser', q.v.; a 'wren' after an officer for a husband: RN: since late 1940s. (Peppitt.)

P.W. Abney. A high feminine hat appearing in 1896: lower classes': late 1896–7. Ex Prince of Wales Abney Cemetery, the hat being worn with 'three black, upright ostrich feathers, set up at the side ... in the fashion of the Prince of Wales's crest feathers' (Ware).

p.y.c. or P.Y.C. A pale yellow candle: the Baltic Coffee-House, London:—1909; † by 1930. Ex 'this establishment persistently rejecting gas' (Ware).—2. Pay your cash: Aus. coll.: C.20. B., 1942.

p.y.o. Pick-your-own, applied to soft fruit, and vegetables: initialised first in the summer of 1982. Influenced by d.i.y., q.v. New Society, 19 Aug. 1982, as PYO.

P.z.s. Tactical exercises: RN: from ca. 1920. Bowen, 'From the two code flags hoisted as an order'.

pa. A mainly childish abbr. of papa, q.v.: (in C.20, low) coll.: 1811, L.M. Hawkins, 'The elder sat down ... and answered, "Yes, Pa!" to everything that Pa' said' (OED).—2. Hence, 'the relieving officer of a parish': lower classes':—1909 (Ware). Cf. corresponding sense of daddy.

pa-in-law. Father-in-law: Society:—1887 (Baumann). See pa, 1.

pac. A cap: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

pace. See alderman's pace.

pacier. Anything (esp. a horse) that goes at a great pace: coll.:—1890 (Century Dict.).

paces, show (one's). To display one's ability: coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex. horses.

Pacifics. Pacific Railway (CPR) shares: Stock Exchange coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

pack, n. A gang: c.: C.17—mid-19, B. & L.—2. As Pack, the ship Pactolus: RN: early C.20. Ware.—3. In go to the pack, to go to pieces (fig.); lose a leading position; 'to deteriorate, to fall into disrepute' (Wilkes): Aus. and NZ s. > coll.: since early C.20. In NZ, it has a secondary sense: to fail persistently (B.J. Crump, A Good Keen Man, 1960). Perhaps ex a trained or a domestic animal going wild, or ex a dog falling back into the pack. Perhaps cf.—4. In send to the pack, 'to relegate to obscurity' (C.J. Dennis, 1916): Aus.

pack, v. To be ruined or spoilt; to become useless: motor-racers': from ca. 1920. Peter Chamberlain, 'Back-axles will pack before half distance anyway.' Ex pack up, q.v.—2. To 'pack up', to desist, give up: cyclists': since ca. 1945. 'Where did you come?'—'Oh, I packed after fifty miles.' By 1960, fairly gen., as in, e.g., Alan Diment, The Dolly, Dolly Spy, 1967.—3. To beat: to be superior to, or more enjoyable than: Aus.: since ca. 1920. Norman Lindsay, Saturday, 1963, "'Fun o' the world, goin' with girls,'" said Peter, "By jings, you oughter try it on.... By jings, it packs football easy!" And "'Oh, I'm pretty good,'" he said. "It takes a bit to pack me once I get goin'."

pack a punch. To be powerful, as a motorcycle or car; also of ballistic weapons; it may even refer to a sermon: coll.: later C.20. Ex boxing, of a strong punch. (P.B.) pack 'em. See packing 'em.

pack (one's) hand. See pack up.

pack in. Synon. with pack up, v., 2. (W/Cdr R.P. McDouall, 1945.) Cf.:-

pack it in; pack it up. To stop talking; to cease fooling or some foolish practice: Services (from Cockneys?): since ca. 1925. (H. & P.) Ex pack the game in and pack up.—2. Since the late 1940s, commoner than pack it up, to give up one's job: mostly manual workers', as in 'I'm packing it in; too much like hard work!' Cf. synon. jack it in.

pack the game in. To desist; esp. abandon a way of life: lower classes': C.20. (Cheappack, 1934.) Cf. pack up.

pack the trail. To go on trail, whether on horseback or afoot: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1870. Archer Russell, A Tramp Royal in Wild Australia, 1934.

pack-thread, talk. To speak bawdily in seemly terms: coll.: late C.18–20; very obs. Grose, 2nd ed. (In North Country dial., merely to talk nonsense.) Ex packing-thread, used for securing parcels. Cf. wrapped-up, q.v.

pack-up, n. Corresponds to next, 2: RAF: since ca. 1937. (W/Cdr R.P. McDouall, 1945.)

pack up, v. To retire; stop working or trying; to die: Services' coll., WW1 (F. & G.) >, by 1920, gen. Prob. ex pack (up) one's kit(-bag). Var. pack (one's) hand (in), prob. ex cards. Opp. carry on.—2. Hence, (of an aircraft) to cease to function: RAF: since ca. 1937. (Partridge, 1945.) P.B.: very soon applied, widely, to any machine, mechanical or electrical, that has failed; likewise, to animals: in later C.20 verging on familiar S.E., as in sense 1.

pack up (one's) awls and be gone. To depart for good: (low) coll.: mid-C.17—early 20. (F. Kirkman, The Unlucky Citizen, 1973; Manchon, 1923.) David Garnett, New Statesman & Nation, 20 Feb. 1937, notes that the spelling alls occurs in Eliz. Raper's Receipt Book; there also the var. stuff up (one's) all. Awls is prob. a corruption of all, as Manchon suggests, but Kirkman's version is the earliest record.

packed like sardines. Crowded, huddled: mid-C.19–20: coll. till C.20, then S.E. Ex the close packing of sardines in tins. Occ. like sardines (in a tin). Cf. the US sardine, a sailor on a whaling ship.

packed up, adj. In the predicate. Killed in warfare: army: WW1. Ex pack up, 1.

packer. A pack-horse: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1870. B., 1942.

—2. A platelayer: railwaymen's joc.: C.20. Railway, 2nd.

packet. A false report: coll.: mid-C.18–19: mostly Northern. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. packets!—2. A (large) sum of money lost or won in betting or speculating: from mid-1920s. OED Sup.—3. Any kind of ship or boat: nautical coll., gen. as an endearment: C.20. Bowen.—4. A lady; nautical: C.20. Ibid.—5. In cop, or stop, a packet, to be wounded, esp. if fatally: Services' (mostly army): since ca. 1915. Occ. cop if. Ex cop, q.v., to catch; packet may be the missile. B. & P.

—6. Hence cop (from ca. 1915) or catch (from ca. 1925) a packet, to have bad luck, meet with trouble: Services': WW1+. (F. & G.) Catch a packet, to be severely reprimanded: mostly army. P-G-R.—7. In sell a packet to, to hoax; lie to; deceive: coll.: C.19. EDD, 1847; Hardy, The Mayor of Casterbridge, 1886 (OED). Cf. sense 1, and sell a pup.—8. See three-op packet; for buy a packet, see buy it.—9. In take a packet, to reach a point at which effort is painful: racing cyclists': since ca. 1946. Cf. sense 6.—10. (Cf. senses 5 and 6.) In cop a packet (by mid-C.20 usu. get (have got) a packet), to become infected with V.D.: coll.

packet from Paris. A baby: Aus. and NZ; C.20. Var. parcel from...

Packet of Fags or Woodbines, the. 'The famous five-funnelled Russian cruiser Askold. (Also the Floating Skeleton): RN: ca. 1914–20. (Bowser; B. & P.) Hatton, The Yarn of a Yeoman, 1930, records its use among the troops at Gallipoli, 1915.

packet of salts. Occ. var. in the phrase (go) through like a dose of salts, for something happening very swiftly: earlier C.20.

packet-rat. 'A seaman in the old transatlantic sailing packets': nautical coll.: C.19. Bowen.

packets! An expression of incredulity: mid-C.19–20; very obs. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex packet, 1, q.v.

packing. Food: low:—1909 (Ware); hence, in WW1, rations (F. & G.). Cf. S.E. stuff oneself with food, and inside lining, q.v. Hence packing-ken, an eating-house: c. Ware.

packing (th)em. Scared: Aus. low, orig. Services' s.: since ca. 1940. I.e. holding back nervous diarrhoea, packing the shits. Var. packing death. Cf. sterky. B., 1959; Wilkes.

packing-penny to, give a. To dismiss: coll.: late C.16–19. (Jonson.) By pun.

packs. Storm-clouds: nautical coll.:—1887 (Baumann). —2. Packhorses: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. (Mary Durack, Keep Him My Country, 1959.) Cf. packer.

packstaff. See plain as a packstaff.

pad, n. A path; a road; esp. the high pad, the highway; in C.16–17, occ. padde: from ca. 1565: c. until C.19, then dial. In Aus. coll., late C.19–20, a rough bush road or mere track. Harman; Middleton & Dekker; Prior; Scott; B., 1943.—2. An easy-paced horse: 1617, Moryson (OED): coll.: until C.19, then S.E. Also pad-nag, q.v.—3. A highway robber: c.: ca. 1670–1840. (Head; B.E.; Messink; Byron.) See also low pad, a footpad, and padding. Ex:—4. Robbery on the highway: 1664, Etherege, 'I have laid the dangerous pad now quite aside'; Bee; Henley & Stevenson: c. until C.19, then low s.; ob. by ca. 1900. See also high pad in sense of 'highwayman'; rum pad, and water pad; a highwayman was known as a gentleman (C.18—mid-19), knight (mid-C.17—mid-19), or squire (C.18—early 19), of the pad: low s. > low coll. Farquhar.—5. Hence, a mere street-robber: low: ca. 1820–50. 'Jon Bee.'—6. In go out (upon) the pad, to (go out to) rob on the highway: c.: late C.17—mid-19. (B.E., who notes var. go a-padding; Grose.) Hence, upon the pad, (engaged in robbery) on the highway: id.: prob. low s. after ca. 1790. L'Estrange.—7. An itinerant musician: rare low:—1874 (H., 5th ed.); † by 1920.—8. A walk: c.:—1839 (Brandon). Ex sense 1 of the v. Cf.:—9. On the pad, on tramp: C.19–20, though not with certainty recorded before 1851, Mayhew.—10. In stand and sit pad, to beg by the wayside: c.: 1859, H.; 1862, Mayhew; ob. by 1930. Properly, while remaining stationary—and standing. Obviously sit pad is to beg from a sitting position: recorded in 1851, likewise in Mayhew. In both, the beggar gen. has a piece of paper inscribed 'I'm starving—blind—etc.' Also stand Paddy.—11. As Pad, as not very gen. abbr. of Paddy, q.v. Baumann.—12. 'A lot, "packet"' (Culotta): Aus.: since late 1940s.—13. Abbr. married pad, q.v., a married soldier or airman: since mid-C.20. From late C.19 pads (gen. pl.) = women, hence married pads, wives: army.—14. A bed: ca. 1570–1890: low s. verging on c. (Drayton, Broome, Defoe, Grose, Brandon.) In C.16–17 also padde. Ex the S.E. sense, a bundle of straw, skins, etc., on which to lie. This sense crossed to N. America to be in use among drug addicts (W. & F.) whence it entered the vocabulary of jazz-lovers and musicians mid-C.20, to be adopted, in mid-1950s, in Can. The Daily Colonist (Victoria, BC), 16 Apr. 1959, in 'Basic Beatnik', defines pad 'Living quarters, often a bare room with a mattress on or near the floor'—cf. esp. W. & F.; and also The American Dialect Society, November 1958, Normann D. Hinton ('Language of Jazz Musicians'), 'pad, n. A bed. Extended to mean bedroom, or even apartment. Occ[asion]al[ly]. And in this sense it was soon adopted in Britain: mostly underground to start with, then some joc. use among the more 'respectable'. Powis, 1977, 'Hippy slang for room or bed, now becoming a commonly used term in non-hippy company'.

pad, v. To travel on foot as a vagrant: C.17–20: c. until C.19, then mainly dial. Rowlands, 1610, 'O Ben mort wilt thou pad with me?' Ex S.E. pad, to walk (1553, OED). Prob. cf. the n., sense 1. See also pad the hoof.—2. To rob on foot or on the highway: ca. 1635–1840: orig., prob. c.; never better than low s. Ford, 1638, 'One can ... cant, and pick a pocket, Pad for a cloak or hat.' Cf. pad, n., 6.—3. V.i., to put handkerchiefs, etc., in one's trousers-seat before being caned: Public Schools' coll: C.20.

pad-borrower. A horse-thief: s. > low coll.: ca. 1780–1840. (Grose.) See pad, n., 2.

(pad-clinking. 'Hobnobbing with footpads,' says F. & H., defining it as c.: Kingsley's note to the sole record, 1865, says 'Alluding to the clinking of their spurs' (OED).]

pad-horse. An easy-paced horse: from ca. 1630; ob. Coll. quickly > S.E. Jonson.

pad in the straw. A hidden danger: coll.: 1530 (Palsgrave); not quite † in dial. Still, Gammer Gurton's Needle; Ray. Ex † S.E. pad, a toad.

pad it. To tramp along, esp. as a vagrant: from perhaps as early as ca. 1690: s. > ca. 1840, low coll. > ca. 1890, S.E.

pad-nag. An easy-going horse: from ca. 1650; ob. Coll. >, ca. 1810, S.E. 1654, Whitelocke, 'A sober ... well-paced english padde nagge' (OED).

pad round. To pay excessive attention to a customer: tailors' coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex the S.E. pad, (of animals) to walk, etc., 'with steady dull-sounding steps' (OED). P.B.: but with tailors, perhaps more likely to derive ex the 'padding up' of showy clothes.

pad the hoof. To go on foot: from ca. 1790 (Grose, 3rd ed.); cf. OED date. On plod o' the hoof (Shakespeare), beat the hoof (mid-C.17–early 19). Cf. pad it, q.v.—2. Hence, to make off quickly: racing c.: C.20.

pad the wall. To sit on a comfortable leather seat against a wall, esp. in a restaurant or a bar: coll.: 1936 (Gilt Kid).

pad-thief. A horse-thief: late C.17–early 19: coll. >, ca. 1750, S.E. (Shadwell.) Cf. pad-borrower, and pad, n., 2.

padde. See pad, n., 1, and 14.

padding-crib or -ken. See padding-crib.

padding. A robber on the highway; esp a footpad: C.17–20; ob.: orig. c. >, in C.18, low s.; in late C.19–20, archaic S.E. (Rowlands, Scott.) Cf. paddingist, q.v. Ex pad, v., 1, influenced by pad, n., 3.—2. As Padder, Paddington terminus (Great Western Railway): Oxford undergraduates':—1899 (Ware). The 'OXFORD -ER'. Later, also Padders (New Statesman, 5 Feb. 1965).

padders. Feet; shoes or boots: low: from ca. 1825; ob. Egan, Finish to Tom and Jerry, 1828, 'My padders, my stampers, my buckets, otherwise my boots.'—2. Var. of prec., 2.

padding-ken. See padding-crib. P.H. Emerson in Signor Lippo Lippi, 1893.

padding, n. Robbery on the highway: c.: ca. 1670–1840. B.E. (see pad, n., 6).—2. Short, light articles in the magazines: journalistic coll.:—1887; ob. Baumann notes that the term is used 'in opposition to the serial'. (The ordinary, the S.E. sense of padding is: fill-up matter within a story or article.)—3. See MISCELLANEA, in Appendix, for early C.18 sense of 'talk'.

padding, adj. Practising highway robbery: c. of ca. 1670–1840. Eachard, fig. (OED).

padding-crib, -ken; loosely padden -c. and -k. A lodging-house for the underworld, esp. for vagrants: c.: from ca. 1835; ob. Brandon (both); Mayhew, 1851 (-ken); H., 1st ed. (both). Ex pad, v., 1., and n., 5. Brandon distinguishes thus: p.-c., a boys' lodging-house; p.-k., a tramps' lodging-house: a distinction that seems to have been lost as early as the 1850s. Padden-crib and -ken were noted in Answers, 11 May 1889.

Paddington fair (day), or P. Fair (-day). A hanging (day): c.: late C.17–early 19. Tyburn was in the parish of Paddington. Ex 'a rural Fair at the Village of that Name, near that Place' (Tyburn), B.E. Cf. dance the Paddington frisk, q.v., to be hanged, and Paddington spectacles.

Paddington Pollaky. See Pollacky!

Paddington spectacles. The cap drawn over a criminal's eyes at his hanging: either c. or low s.: early C.19. Cf. Paddington fair.

paddingist. A professional highwayman: ca. 1670–1800: Scots s. >, in C.18, coll. (OED) Cf. the US shootist, for a 'wild Western' gun-fighter, ca. 1900. (P.B.)

padde, n. A hand: low: late C.19–early 20. Perhaps suggested by daddle.—2. A semaphore signal: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Ex shape.

padde, v. To drink strong liquor: low: from ca. 1860; ob. ? ex noisy drinking. Hence, to have paddled, to be intoxicated.—2. To run away; to abscond: c. (—1860) >, by 1890, low. (H., 2nd ed.; Baumann.) Ex S.E. padde, to toddle: cf. post-WW1 s. toddle, to depart.

padde (one's) own canoe. To be independent; orig. (1828) US, adopted in Britain ca. 1875: coll. (OED). Perhaps one might mention the French-teachers' 'gag': pas d'elle yeux Rhône que nous. (Such tricks should be collected: cf. η β π, to eat a bit of pie!)

paddler. A paddle-steamer: coll.: from ca. 1890 (OED); after ca. 1940 only historical.—2. A policeman: Aus. c.: since ca. 1945. (B., 1953.) Prob. of sadistic orig.; cf. synon. walloper.

paddles. Feet: c. in C.19 and low in C.20. (Anon., Autobiography of Jack Ketch, 1836.) Cf. synon. boats, 2.

Paddo. Paddington, the Sydney suburb: Sydneyites': since ca. 1920. B., 1953.

padlock. L.A. noted TV commentator's use of keep it on the padlock, for 'keep the [rugby] football in play': 1969. Var. of keep it on the island.

Paddy or paddy. A nickname (cf. Pat, q.v.) for an Irishman: coll.: since earlier C.18. (Sessions, 1748.) Ex the very common Irish name, Patrick, of which Paddy is the Irish diminutive. Cf. Paddy Land and paddy-whack, 1.—2. In Aus. with var. Pat, it = a Chinese; C.20. B., 1942, has both; Pat occurs also in Sidney J. Baker's letter in the Observer, 13 Nov. 1938.—3. A rage, a temper: coll.: 1894 (Henty: OED). Also paddy-whack, q.v.: Cf. Irish, q.v., and see esp. Words! at 'Offensive Nationality'.—4. Erroneous for baddy: Motley and recent dictionaries. OED.—5. A paddywhack almanac: coll. and dial.:—1876; † by 1930.—6. A hobby, a fad: proletarian:—1887 (Baumann). Ex pad, n., 2: hobby horse.—7. 'A colliery train from mine to railhead' (Railway): railwaymen's: C.20.—8. A padlock: c., mostly burglars': since ca. 1930. Frank Norman, poem 'Screwsman's Lament' in Encounter, 1959.—9. See pad, n., 10, for stand Paddy.—10. In come (the) paddy over, to bamboozle, humbug: ca. 1820–1920. Ex sense 1, and the Irishman's reputation for blarney.—11. 'The padded cell. Used for violent cases. Often men who "smash up", and who do not calm down immediately after, are given a spell in the paddy until they have cooled off' (Tempest, 1950).

paddy-boat (properly padi-boat). A vessel of the Henderson line from the Clyde to Burma: nautical: earlier C.20. (Bowen.) Suggested by S.E. paddy-boat, a ship for the carrying of rice: Burma exports much rice.

Paddy Doyle, do. To be a defaulter: Services': late C.19–early 20. (F. & G.) Granville defines Paddy Doyle as 'Detention barracks or cells', and suggests 'perhaps from the name of a notorious defaulter'. A ref. to one Paddy Doyle occurs in the bunting shanty 'Paddy Doyle's Boots', which may concern a similar character to the notorious Liverpool crimp, Paddy West (see Paddy Wester), or there may have been confusion between the two names—a process not unknown in ballads; cf. the various bogus tales of Robin Hood.

Paddy Kelly. A policeman: Liverpool dockers': late C.19–20; by 1960, slightly ob.

Paddy Land or Paddyland. Ireland. Hence, Paddylander, an Irishman. Coll.: from ca. 1820. Cf. Patland, q.v., and synon. Paddy's Land.

Paddy Quick. A stick.—2. Thick. Both rhyming s.:—1859; the latter, ob. H., 1st ed.—3. A kick: id.: mid-C.19–early 20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Paddy rammer. A hammer: rhyming s., esp. among urban labourers: late C.19–mid-20. (John o' London's Weekly, 9 June 1934; Franklyn 2nd.) Prob. suggested by panorama, q.v.

paddy-row. 'More jackets off than blows struck, where sticks supply the place of fists' (Bee): coll.: ca. 1820–1920.

Paddy wag(g)on. A van for the conveyance of prisoners: Aus. adopted, ca. 1955, ex US. (B.P.) Ex the prevalence of Irishmen in the police forces of the USA? P.B.: or ex the number of Irishmen 'wheeled in'; or from padded wagon, for the conveyance of the insane? Cf. paddy, n. 10.

paddy wax or -wax. A var. (—1923) of paddy-whack, 2. Manchon.

Paddy Wester; occ. paddywester. A bogus seaman carrying a dead man's discharge-papers; a very incompetent or dissolute seaman: nautical: from ca. 1890. Bowen, 'After a notorious boarding-house keeper in Liverpool who shipped thousands of green men as A.B.s for a consideration.' Mrs C. Raab: the protagonist of 'Paddy West' (a forebitter and capstan shanty) did exist as a crimp in Liverpool ca. 1870. By various ruses, he produced 'instant ABs' out of greenhorns in a matter of days. For evidence of his existence and career, see A.L. Lloyd's notes to various recordings; Stan Hugill, Shanties from the Seven Seas, 1961, and Sailortown, 1967.

paddy-w(h)ack, paddyw(h)ack, paddy w(h)ack; or with capitals. An Irishman (in C.18–early 19, only if big and strong): coll.: 1785, Grose (at whack); cf. OED date. Humorous on Paddy, 1, q.v.—2. Whence, on the analogy of paddy, 1, q.v., a rage, a temper: coll.: 1899, Kipling, 'He'll be in a ravin' paddy-wack' (OED).—3. A paddywhack almanac: coll.: —1886; † by 1910. Cf. paddy, 5, q.v.—4. A smack; a smacking: Aus. children's: late C.19–20. Elab. paddy(-)whack the drumstick, as in 'You'll get paddy(-)whack the drumstick if your mother finds out'. The form paddy(-)whack is—obviously enough—partly echoic; it may also owe something to rhyming s. (B.P.) Paddyland. See Paddy Land.

Paddy's Blackguards. The Royal Irish Regiment (until ca. 1881, the 18th Foot): military: C.19–early 20. Also the Namurs.

Paddy's Goose. The White Swan, a noted flash public house in the east of London' (H., 1864); Sessions, Dec. 1839; Mayhew, 1861, fixes it as in High Street, Shadwell. Presumably it was orig. kept by some notorious Irishman (P.B.)

Paddy's grapes. Potatoes: S. Lancashire joc.:—1905 (EDD). Cf. several of the Irish terms.

Paddy's hurricane. A dead calm: nautical from ca. 1840: ob. Also Irishman's h.

Paddy's Land. Ireland: coll.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Also Paddy Land, q.v.

Paddy's lantern. The moon: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Prob. after parish-lantern, q.v.

Paddy's lucerne. 'A prevalent type of weed' (Jice Doone): Aus. coll.:—1926. Ex the prevalence of lucerne as fodder.

Paddy's market. A market for the sale of secondhand goods, esp. clothes: coll.: mid-C.19–20.

Paddy's Milestone. 'Ailsa Craig, just half-way between Greenock and Belfast on the packet route'; nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

Paddy's pig. See Irish as...

Paddy's taxi. A police 'Panda' (patrol)-car: since latish 1960s. 'Used in "Public Eye", BBC1, 13 Aug. 1969' (Petch). Cf. paddy-wagon.

Paddy's watch. Employed allusively, Irish ratings being (according to themselves) never off watch: RN: since ca. 1920.

paddywester. Occ. form of Paddy Wester.

paddywhack. See paddy-w(h)ack.

padgerree. See married pads.

padhouse. One's bedroom or lodging: beatniks': since ca. 1958. (Anderson.) An extension of pad, n., 14, later nuances.

padlock. Penis: rhyming s., on cock: C.20. Haden-Guest, 1972.

padre. A chaplain: orig. RN, since early C.19 (Moe cites Fredk Marryat, The King's Own, 1830: p. 215 of the 1896 ed.); army,—1900: by 1916, coll. Ex Portuguese (lit. a father) as used, from ca. 1580, in India for any priest or parson (see esp. Y. & B.). For use in WW1, see esp. B. & P.

pads. As (the) pads, a padded cell, or the padded cells, in a lunatic asylum: esp. the attendants': since ca. 1925. The use had spread to prisons by later C.20: 'Padded cell to prevent self-injury (Home Office). Cf. paddy, 11.—2. Feet: homosexuals': current ca. 1970. Ex either S.E. sense of 'feet or footprints of foxes, wolves, etc.', or a shortening of paddles.

paff A coll. interj. (contemptuous): mid-C.19–20; ob. Hence piff and paff, jargon.

Pag. The opera Pagliacci: see Cav and Pag.

page. 'Where two compositors are working side by side they are known as side pages; where three are working, the one in the middle refers to his companions as "my right-hand side page" and "my left-hand side page"; if men are working back to back they are known as back pages; if frames or machines are facing each other, the men are front pages' (G.E. Rowles, The 'Line' Is On, 1948).

page of your own age, make a. Do it yourself: semi-proverbial coll.: Draxe, Bibliotheca Scholastica Instructissima, 1633; Ray; Swift. (Apperson.)

page three (or 3) girl. Ref. to the photograph featured daily on page 3 of the 5in tabloid newspaper: each day brings a different, very attractive, scantily-clad or nude girl. The series has become well enough known in the late 1970s for allusions, e.g.: 'if we saw such associations in an image together with a page 3 girl [in an advertisement, etc.] we would suspect a satirical intention' (book review in Brit. Jnl of Photography, 10 Aug. 1979). (P.B.)

Paget's Irregular Horse. The 4th Hussars: military: from ca. 1843; very ob. Ex their unorthodox drill on their return in 1842 from twenty-six years' service in India, and their C.O.'s name. F. & G. pagger, v.t. To break or smash; to wreck: market-traders': C.20. 'That's paggered it!' (M.T.). Influenced by bugger, to ruin; neither Romany nor dial.

Paggers. St Peter's Hall: Oxford undergraduates': since ca. 1935. (Marples, 2.) After Jaggers.

pagoda-tree, gen. prec. by shake the. (To obtain) rapid fortune in India: s.; by 1870, coll.: 1836, T. Hook, 'The amusing pursuit of "shaking the pagoda-tree" once so popular in our Oriental possessions.' Slightly ob. by 1886, † by 1920. App. ex a coin that, owing to the design of a pagoda thereon, was called a pagoda. Esp. W., OED and Y. & B.

pahny. An occ. var. of parnee, q.v. B. & P.

paid. Topsy: ca. 1635–70. Shirley, The Royal Master, 1638 (OED).—2. See put 'paid' to.

paid out with spit. A c.p. applied to a small salary: US theatrical >, ca. 1932, partly English theatrical.

pain. “The men are patronising. At first it’s a bit of a pain, but you get used to it,” says Karen’ (New Society, 24 Apr. 1980): strictly speaking, S.E. = ‘mental distress’, but given a coll. flavour because derived ex sense 2: since ca. 1975. (P.B.)—2. In pain in the arm—arse—back—balls—bum—neck—penis (etc., etc.); esp. you—he—they (etc.) give(s) me a pain . . . I utterly disapprove of your (etc.) behaviour; I thoroughly disagree with your point of view; or, most frequently, you annoy, bore, disgust (etc.) me: (mostly) low, depending on part of body) coll.: C.20. You give me a pain! is a common abbr. for any of them; cf. synon. you give me the balls-ache! Also used predicatively as, ‘Yes, I remember her—a real pain in the bum, that one’; cf. pain in the neck. (E.P.; P.B.) pain in (one’s) little finger (or toe), have a. Esp. in ‘He has a pain in his . . .’, applied to a malingering type of serviceman or workman: C.20. Ironic. (Petch, 1967.)

pain in the neck. A tedious or boring or irritating person: coll.: since ca. 1910. Ex give (one) a pain in the neck, to bore intensely, to irritate: C.20. This is prob. the commonest, or, at least, most widely acceptable version of the choice at pain, 2, q.v. A low parody, current in the 1920s, was a pain in the neck; see nick, n., 9. In later C.20 often abbr. pain, as in pain, n., 1.

pain in the puku. A stomach-ache: NZ coll.: late C.19–20. (B., 1941.) Puku: a Maori word.

paint, n. Money: esp. among house-painters:—1866; ob. Cf. brads, sugar, qq.v.—2. Jam: military: from the 1890s. (F. & G.) Ex its inferior quality.

paint, v.i. To drink (something strong): 1853, Whyte-Melville, ‘Each hotel . . . called forth the same observation, “I guess I shall go in and paint”’. Ob. ‘Alluding to a red nose caused by over-indulgence’ (B. & L.).—2. V.t., to make numerous corrections on (a proof): printers’:—1909 (Ware). Ex resulting appearance.

paint a picture, ‘vaguely to describe a situation or to outline a plan’: Services: 1939–41. Rather j. than coll.: certainly not s. (H. & P.) P.B.: this piece of j. has lasted well, and has given rise to such phrases as ‘I’ll just give you the broad-brush picture’; cf. put (someone) in the picture, q.v., which may have been its origin., although, e.g. ‘He painted a rosy picture of their future together’ verges on informal S.E.

paint a job. To scorch one’s work: tailors’: C.20 (Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928.) Cf. painter, 1.

paint-brush baronet. An ennobled artist: Society coll.: 1885 (Reference, 28 June); extremely ob. (Ware.) Cf. gallipot baronet, q.v.

paint (one’s) eye for him (her, etc.). To give a black eye to: low:—1887 (Baumann).

paint the town red. To have a riotously good time: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1890. Anon., Harry Fludyer at Cambridge, ‘Won’t he paint the whole place on Tuesday night!’ P.B.: but, as Mr Colin Measures of Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire, points out, 1983, the phrase very prob. orig. in the local antics of the Marquis of Waterford. During the night 5–6 Apr. 1837 the Marquis, with a gang of cronies, indulged in ‘mad pranks’—what is today condemned as ‘vandalism’ if committed by commoners—including literally painting the town red, daubing paint all over public places, and terrorising the watch. As J.B. Firth, Highways and Byways in Leicestershire, 1926, writes, ‘Wine flowed freely, and those were the days of “practical joking”, often only a euphemism for sheer brutality.’ See PAINT . . . in Appendix.

painted edge. A coat-edge in, or of, coloured cloth: tailors’: C.20. Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928.

painted lady. ‘Imperfectly cured (kippered) herring which has been dyed with anatta to give the appearance of the true kipper’ (Granville): nautical: C.20.

painted mischief. Playing cards: later C.19—early 20. Daily News, 8 Mar. 1879.

Painted People, the. ‘A fugitive term for a transitory group or sub-group of opt-outs from accepted norms of behaviour: orig. US, where members of this cult . . . did actually paint their bodies: noted in the Observer, 13 June 1976, in ref. to a pop festival held on Exmoor during that torrid summer’ (R.S., 1976).

painter. A workman that scorches his job: tailors’: C.20.—2. In let go the painter, to deliver a (heavy) punch: boxers’:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930. Ex nautical j., and paint (one’s) eye, q.v.—3. In what pleases the painter: a late C.17—mid-18 c.p. in the world of art and literature: ‘When any Representation in the Productions of his or any Art is unaccountable, and so is to be resolv’d purely into the good Pleasure of the Artist’ (B.E.).—4. See cut the painter.

painter stainer. (Gen. pl.) An artist: Society: latter half of 1883. Ex the Lord Mayor’s ref. at the Royal Academy banquet, to the Painter Stainers’ Company. Ware.

painters are in, the, or have the painters in. Low ref. to menstruation. See rags, 6.

painting, vbl n. See paint a job and painter, 1.

paintwork. See keeping the flies off . . .

pair of. Pair is coll. (and often humorous) when used of ‘the two bodily members themselves, as “a pair of eyes, ears, lips, jaws, arms, hands, heels, legs, wings”, etc.’ (OED): late C.14–20.

pair of (f) bells. Trousers, bell-bottomed, with lower ends ‘made extra wide’ (Goodenough, 1901): RN lowerdeck: late C.19—early 20. Cf. pair of (f) drums.

pair of (f) compasses. Human legs: London: ca. 1880–1910. (Ware.) The term arose when the male leg began to be narrowly encased.

pair of (f) drums. Trousers: tailors’: from ca. 1860. A shortening of drumstick cases.

pair of footprints. See footprints . . .

pair of gloves. See win a pair of gloves, and pair of white gloves.

pair of hands. A man: coll.: from ca. 1630. OED.

pair of heels. See clean pair of legs.

pair of (f) kicks. Boots; shoes: tramps’ c.:—1935.

pair of kippers. A public reprimand: RN: since ca. 1939. Ex such a signal from flagship to a ship slow to respond to signals. (Peppitt.)

pair of lawn sleeves. A bishop: coll.: 1844 (Macaulay: OED).

pair of oars. A boat rowed by two men: coll. verging on S.E.: C.17–20.

pair of shears, there’s a. They’re very like: coll.: C.17–18. Ex the more gen. there goes or went but a pair of shears between (e.g.) them.

pair of shoes, a different or another. A different matter: coll.: 1859, Thackeray; 1865, Dickens. Both have another. OED.

pair of spectacles. See spectacles.

pair of (f) subs. A pair of shoes: Glasgow lower classes’:—1934. ? Ex submarines: cf. boats in this sense.

pair of tongs. A tall thin person: low: later C.19—early 20. Ex the two thin ‘legs’. Cf. pair of compasses. Whence, in sarcastic address or comment, tongs!—2. See touch with a pair . . .

pair of top ballocks. See top ballocks.

pair of wheels. A two-wheeled vehicle: coll.: from ca. 1620. Cockeram: OED.

pair of white gloves, a. ‘Safe return of all aircraft from a bombing operation’: RAF: 1939+. Jackson, ‘From the ancient legal custom whereby a judge is presented with a pair of white gloves if his calendar is free from crime.’

pair of wings. (A pair of) oars: ca. 1790–1890: c.: (Grose, 3rd ed.) Ex speed.—2. Sleeves: tailors’: late C.19–20.

pair off with. To marry: coll.: 1865 (Miss Braddon in Sir Jasper). Ex S.E. sense, to go apart, or off, in pairs. OED.

pajamas. See cat’s pyjamas.

pakapu ticket, look like a. To be completely indecipherable: Aus. (esp. Sydney) coll.: since ca. 1940. ‘Pakapu is a Chinese gambling game, not unlike housie. A pakapu ticket, when filled, is covered with strange markings' (Edwin Morrisby, 1958). B., 1959, spells it pakapoo and gives the var. marked like a pakapoo ticket, which he defines as 'confusedly or incomprehensibly marked'. Wilkes explains, 'from the difficulty in deciphering a Chinese betting slip', and notes a straight ref. to 'a pak-ah-pu ticket' in Louis Stone, Jonah, 1911, also a var. spelling pack-a-poo, in Bulletin, 29 Nov. 1975.

pakaru. Broken, crushed, smashed: NZ Services': WW1. Ex Maori pakaru, to destroy, common as NZ coll. in late C.19–20. (F. & G.) Also, as v.t., to break (something), to ruin (a plan). B., 1942, spells it pukaroo.

pakeha. A white man: a Maori word colloquially adopted in NZ ca. 1850. Perhaps ex a Maori word meaning a fairy; perhaps a Maori attempt at bugger, 'said to have been described by Dr. Johnson (though not in his dictionary), as "a term of endearment amongst sailors"', a theory app. supported by Morris. (Pron. as a molossus, the as being, as always in Maori, given the Continental value.) But Keith Sinclair, 1959, defines it as 'Foreigner; (pop.) white man'; for probable etym., see my Origins. Mr Sinclair notes pakeha-Maori, 'a European living with Maoris': NZ coll.: since ca. 1855.

Paki (illiterately Pakdi, pron. packy). A Pakistani immigrant; loosely, any native of the Indian sub-continent: low, usu. derogatory or patronising: later C.20.

Paki (or Pakdi)-bashing. An organised hunting out and assaulting of Pakistanis—or Indian, no distinction is drawn—immigrants, mostly by gangs of white youths moved less by political prejudice or xenophobia than by a so-called need for thrills: orig. among London, esp. if delinquent, teenagers, e.g. 'skinheads', q.v.: since ca. 1965. Hence the agent, as in 'Pakistanis living in terror of the "paki-basher" mobs of skinheads' (London Evening Standard, 19 Apr. 1970).

Paki pox. Smallpox: since ca. 1960. 'As it is often the Pakistanis who bring it here' (Petch, 1969).

pakka. See pukka.

Pakdi. See Paki.

pal, n. An accomplice: c.:—1788 (Grose, 2nd ed. (chosen pells, pell being an occ. C.18–19 form); Vaux, 1812, pell). In late C.19, this sense > low s.—2. Earlier and from ca. 1850 the prevailing sense, a chum, a friend: 1681–2, the Hereford Diocesan Register, 'Where have you been all this day, pall?' (OED): s. >, ca. 1880, low coll. Ex Romany pal, brother, mate (cf. c. and Romany blo(w)en), cf. Turkish gipsy, pral, plal, brother; ultimately related to Sanskrit bhratr, a brother (cf. L. frater). W., OED, Borrow, and Smart & Crofton. (Cf. pally, q.v.) Hence:

pal, v.i. To associate (with); become another's 'pal' (q.v.): perhaps orig. c.; certainly, at best, low s. (—1879) >, ca. 1905, (decreasingly low) coll. Often, esp. in C.20, pal in with, pal up (to or with); in C.19, occ. pal on. 'The Autobiography of a Thief', in Macmillan's Magazine, 1879, 'I palled in with some old hands at the game.'—2. (Gen. pull) to detect: c.: 1851 (Mayhew); ob. Perhaps ex pal, n., 1, or, more prob., ex the Romany preposition palal, palla, after, as in av palla, lit. to come after, i.e. to follow, and dik palla, to look after, i.e. to watch (Smart & Crofton): cf. be after a person, to pursue him, desire strongly to find or catch.

pal-looral. Drunk: Glasgow:—1934. Cf. palatic, q.v.

Pal Police, the. The Palestine Police: since ca. 1946. Ian Jeffries, Thirteen Days, 1958 (period concerned: 1948). The adj. is Pal Police, as 'a Pal Police type' (not in Jeffries). P.B.: the Force ceased to exist with the termination of the British mandate in Palestine, on 15 May 1948; the State of Israel came into being on the next day.

palace. A police station: policemen's: later C.19—early 20.—2. A caboose: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Ironic; cf. gin palace.—3. As the Palace, the Crystal Palace: coll.:—1887 (Baumann).—4. Hence, the Crystal Palace Association Football team: sporting coll.: from the 1890s.

Palace ends. Remnants of the candles put, on big occasions, in the chandeliers at Buckingham Palace: coll.: late C.19–20. Removed by footmen and sold locally as perquisites.

850

palampo. A bedspread, a quilt: Anglo-Indian coll.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). A corruption of palemopore, itself of doubtful etym. Y. & B.

palarie, v.i. and t. To talk, speak: vagrants' c.:—1893; ob. P.H. Emerson, 'She used to palarie thick [cant] to the slaves!'. A var. of Partiyaree, q.v., influenced by palaver, v. palat, for Palatinate purple, is a Durham 'blue': C.20. Marples, 2.

palatic. Drunk: 1885, The Stage, 'Sandy told me he last saw him dreadfully palatic': theatrical; very ob. I.e., paralytic (q.v.) corrupted.

palaver. A fussy, ostentatious person: Scots coll.: C.19–20; ob. Gen. old palaver. Presumably ex:—2. Conversation or discussion, gen. idle, occ. (in C.19–20) flattering or wheedling; 'jaw', q.v.: nautical s. >, ca. 1790, gen. coll.: 1748, Smollett, 'None of your palaver.' Ex S.E. (orig. trade and nautical) sense, a parley, a conference, esp. one with much talk, itself ex Portuguese palavra (cf. Sp. palabra), used by the Portuguese in parleying with the natives on the African coast. (Partly OED; see also Grose, P.) Cf. the v.—3. Hence, business, concern: from middle 1890s. C. Hyne, 1899, 'It's not your palaver ... or mine' (OED Sup.).

palaver, v. To talk much, unnecessarily, or (in C.19–20) plausibly or cajolingly: from ca. 1730: s. or coll. > in C.19–20 definitely coll., latterly almost S.E. Ex the prec., but until ca. 1775 unrecorded except as palavering.—2. Hence, to flatter; wheedle: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose.

palaver to (a person) for (a thing). To ask one for something; beg it: tramps' c.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Ex palaver, v., 2.

palaverer, occ. palaverist. One who palavers; one given to palavering: from ca. 1785 (ob.); coll., in C.20 almost S.E. Ex palaver, v., 1. Cf.:

palavering, vbl n. and ppl adj. Copious or idle talk; very talkative: resp. 1733, 1764 (OED): s. or coll. until C.19, then definitely coll.; in C.20, almost S.E. Foote, 'He is a damned palavering fellow.' Ex palaver, v.

pale. Pale brandy: London coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. Mayhew, 1861, 'A "drain of pale", as she called it, invigorated her.' P.B.: in C.20, coll. shortening of pale ale.

Palestine ache. Severe diarrhoea: see wog gut.

Palestine in London. Ca. 1820–50: low. Egan, 1821, 'That portion of the parish of St. Giles, Bloomsbury, inhabited by the lower Irish.' Cf. Holy Land.

Palestine Militia, the. The 6th Australian Infantry Division: Aus. soldiers': 1940–1. (Rats, 1944.) Ex their long training in Palestine.

palette. A hand: late C.18–19. Cf. daddle and paddle, qq.v.

pull. See pal, n., 1, and v., 2.—2. To detect: c. or low s.: 1859 (H.); † by 1900.—3. To stop, e.g. pull that!, stop (doing) that!, and pull there!, silence!: nautical:—1864; ob. (H., 3rd ed.; Baumann.) Ex pull, properly pawl, an instrument used to stop the windlass. See pawl, the earlier, more gen. form.—4. To appal; daunt (as in C.14–17 S.E.): nautical:—1864 (Ibid.). Cf. palled. Abbr. appal, or ex the nautical order ease and pull.

Pall Mall. Girl: rhyming s.: later C.19—early 20. 'Cockney dialect makes Paow Maow—gaow' (Franklyn, Rhyming).

palaver. See palaver, esp. v., 2. Grose.

palled, be. Not to dare to say more: low coll.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Ex appal, or pull, v., 3.

palled-in. 'Living with a woman' (R. Samuel, East End Underworld, 1981): c.: C.20. Cf. pal, v., 1, q.v.

palliard. A vagrant that lies on straw; but esp. 'he that goeth in a patched cloke' (Awdelay): c. of ca. 1560–1830; ob. by ca. 1750.—2. In C.17—early 18, the seventh 'rank' of the underworld: born beggars affecting hideous sores. (B.E.) Other senses, S.E. Ex Fr. paillard, itself ex paille, straw. (OED.) A C.16–17 var. was pallyard.

palliasse. A harlot: low: C.19—early 20. Ex palliasse, a straw, i.e. cheap, mattress.

palliness. Comradeship; the being 'pals' (q.v.): from ca. 1890. Cf. palship, q.v.

pallish. Friendly, 'chummy': mostly schools': 1892 (OED); ob. Ex pal, n., 2. Cf.:

pally. Friendly; 'thick': from 1895 or slightly earlier. Ex pal, n., 2, q.v. Cf. prec.

palm-acid. A caning on the hand: schoolboys': later C.19–early 20. Var. palm-oil.

Palm Beach. A cove at Tobruk: army in N. Africa: 1940–3. Much bathing there in quite unluxurious circumstances. The place referred to is not American but Australian; it was Aus. soldiers who so named it from a resort in NSW.

palm-oil. See palm-acid and palm-soap.

palm-oil ruffian. An old-time trader on the W. Coast of Africa: since ca. 1860. Buying oil and drinking gin.

palm-soap. Money; a bribe: low:—1860; ob. (H., 2nd ed.) On S.E. palm-oil, a bribe.

palmer. A beggar that, under the pretence of collecting 'harp' halfpence, by palming steals copper coins from shopkeepers: c.—1864; † by 1920. (H., 3rd ed.) Contrast palming, q.v.—2. A shy fellow: Durham School: from ca. 1870; ob. by 1930.

Palmer is concerned, Mr. A c.p. applied, ca. 1790–1850, to a briber or a bribee. (Vaux, 1812.) Ex the S.E. palm-oil, a bribe. Contrast palm-acid and cf. palmtree.

Palmer's twister. (Gen. pl.) A strychnine pill: medical: ca. 1870–1910. B. & L., 'The medicine employed by Palmer of Rugeley in getting rid of Cooke.'

palming. The robbing of shops by pairs, the one bargaining, the other palming desirable articles: c.—1839; slightly ob. (Brandon; H., 2nd ed.) Contrast palmer, 1.

palming-racket. 'Secreting money in the palm of the hand' (Vaux): c.—1812; ob.

palmtree. Bribery: joc. coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. palm-soap.

palo. A port amenities liaison officer: RN: 1944–5. P-G-R.

palone, palon(e)y. See polone.

Pals, the. The four Service 'battalions of the Liverpool and Manchester Regiments, raised in 1914': army: WW1. F. & G. palship. Friendship; being pals: 1896 (OED); ob. Ex pal, n., 2. Cf. palliness, q.v.

palsy-walsy. Jovially friendly: since ca. 1934. (C. Brand, Death of Jezebel, 1949.) Reduplication of palsy, itself ex pally + (to be) pals. P.B.: slightly ob. by 1983; when used, gen. ironic or sarcastic, as 'Oh yes, they're all very palsy-walsy now, but you just wait...' Cf. lovey-dovey.

paltan. A platoon; loosely a battalion: ca. 1880–1913. A corruption of Fr. peloton. P.B.: contrast pultian.

Paltock's Inn or inn. A poverty-stricken place: ca. 1578–1610: coll. almost imm. > S.E. Gosson, 'Comming to Chenas, a blind village, in comparison of Athens a Paltockes Inne'. Presumably ex some wretched inn, the host one Paltock.

pam or Pam. The knave of clubs: 1685 (Crowne); coll.: ob. Pope, 'Ev'n mighty Pam, that Kings and Queens o'erthrew.' Abbr. Fr. pamphile, a card-game and esp. this card, which, in trumping, ranks highest. W.; OED.—2. A card-game rather like nap: from ca. 1690; ob. Coll. >, ca. 1780, S.E. Addison, in The Guardian, 1713, 'She quickly grows more fond of Pam than of her husband.'

pamp or Pamp. A Pampero, i.e. a River Plate gale: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. See siug as...

pampoosa. A gale: nautical: late C.18—mid-19. L.L.G., 27 Feb. 1824 (Moe.) Cf. prec., 1.

pan, n. A bed: c.: C.18. Hall, 1708.—2. Money: c.: mid-C.18—mid-19. Halliwell.—3. As the pan, the workhouse: tramps' c.:—1893 (P.H. Emerson). The etymologies are extremely obscure, as are the connexions—if any. Perhaps all three are cognate with Romany pan(d), to 'shut, fasten, close, tie, bind, etc.' (Smart & Crofton); sense 1 may, via dial., derive ex pan, a beam of wood.—4. (Pan.) Du Toit's Pan: a Kimberley (S. Africa) coll.:—1913 (Pettman).—5. The face: lower classes':—1935. Perhaps ex shape, or from shut (one's) pan, to hold one's tongue: from ca. 1830; ob. Marryat, in Peter Simple, 'Shut your pan.' Ex that part of an † gun or pistol which holds the priming. Cf. S.E. flash in the pan. OED.

—6. Bread: R Can. N: C.20. (H. & P.) I.e. Fr. pain.—7. In have a pan on, to be law-spirited: printers': from ca. 1860. ?ex Fr. panne, a failure, a 'fizzle', a breakdown, e.g. pannes de métro.—8. See down the pan.

pan, v. To catch; capture: coll., mostly US and Colonial: 1887 (OED). P.B.: ex panning for gold?—2. V.t. (gen. as p.ppl passive), to beg: tramps' c.: C.20. W.L. Gibson Cowan, Loud Report, 1937.—3. To strike (someone) in the face: low:—1943 (H. & P.). Cf. the n., 5, and New Society, 22 Aug. 1963, "'To pan' is to punch just once, but "to ted up" or "to ted in" is to beat systematically, as in teddy boy' (or, rather, in its shortened form Ted or ted): N. Country grammar school s.—4. To criticise adversely; to disparage: Aus., adopted, ca. 1945, ex US (B.P.); soon common, mostly journalistic, in Britain also (P.B.).

pan-flasher. A transitory meteor in the world of sport, esp. lawn tennis: sporting coll.: from 1935. Ex S.E. flash in the pan.

pan-handler. See panhandler.

pan out, v.i. To turn out; (of an event) be: coll.: orig. (1871), US; anglicised ca. 1895, but common in S. Africa (the paradise of American mining engineers) as early as 1891: witness Pettmann, The Referee, 7 Apr. 1901, 'We do not want to know about... the M.C.C.'s big roller... or how the members' luncheon pans out as a commercial speculation.' Ex mining (the shaking of gold-bearing gravel in a pan). Thornton.—2. V.t., to yield: Aus. (and US) coll.: 1884, Melbourne Punch, 4 Sept., 'The department... only panned out a few copper coins.' Ob. OED.

pan-pudding, stand to (one's). To hold one's (lit. or fig.) ground: coll.: late C.17—early 18. (Motteux's Rabelais.) A heavy pudding, gen. of flour.

panam. See pannam.

panatrope. A hermaphrodite: from ca. 1910. (Michael Harrison, Weep for Lycidas, 1934.) Ex the S.E. word.

pancake. The female pudend: low: C.19–20.—2. The act of descending vertically with the 'plane kept level: aviators': 1916 or, at latest, 1917. The v. is gen. considered S.E.—3. (Gen. pl.) Ironically substituted for a word that one doesn't accept: coll.: 1914. A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, "'What was your particular line?" "Extra gentleman." "Extra pancakes!"' (Manchon.) Cf. my foot!

Pancake Tuesday. In know whether it's... or half-past break-fast-time; see know, in Appendix.

Pantridge parson. A term of contempt: C.17–18. Field, 1612; Halliwell. (Apperson.)

Panda. 'A police patrol-car, so called from its broad white stripe resembling the markings of the giant panda. 1966. In full panda car' (SOD): coll.

pandanny. Pandanus (a palm-like tree or shrub): Aus. coll.: mid-C.19–20.

pandemonium. A gambling-hell: educated gamblers':—1823; † by 1900. 'Jon Bee', who implies a pun on hell being the place of all the devils.—2. 'The lower deck subalterns' quarters in the old naval troopships': Services': ca. 1850–1910. Bowen.

pandie, pandy. A stroke from cane or strap on the hand as punishment: coll., mostly school and nursery and mainly Scots: A. Scott, 1805 (OED). Ex L. pande palman or manum, hold out your hand!—2. (pandy): a 'revolted Sepoy in the Indian Mutiny of 1857–9': coll.: 1857; ob. Ex Pande, the surname of the first man to revolt in the 34th Regiment. OED: Y. & B.—3. Hence, an Indian soldier: army: late C.19—early 20. B. & P.

pandie, pandy, v. To cane, strap: coll. (mostly school and nursery): 1863, Kingsley, 'She... pandied their hands with canes.' Ex pandie, n., 1.

pane of glass. A monode: army: since ca. 1870.

panel, be or go on the. To 'place oneself under the care of a panel doctor': coll.: from 1927 until the advent of the National Health Service, post-WW2.

panel-crib, -den, -house. A brothel where theft is (deliberately) rife: c.:—1860; ?orig. US. Bartlett, 1860 (panel-house, low s.). Whence the next two entries.

panel-dodge or -game. Theft in a panel-house: low s. > low coll.: resp. 1885, Burton, Thousand Nights; Century Dict., 1890. Ex panel-crib, etc., q.v.

panel-thief; -thieving. A thief, theft, in a panel-crib, q.v.: low s. (—1860) > low coll.; perhaps orig. US. (see Bartlett, ed. of 1860).

panem. See pannam.

pangy bar. Five pounds sterling; c.: from ca. 1919. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) A bar is £1; pangy may derive ex Fr. cing, but it is more prob. a corruption of Romany pansh, five.

Panhandle, the. The long peninsula extending to the northeast of Cyprus, ending with Cape St Andreas: British Forces stationed on the island: since (?ca. 1950. Ex shape; cf. US geographical usage. (P.B.)

pan handler (or hyphenated). A hospital orderly: Services' coll.: C.20. A pun on the US coll., a prospector panning for gold (which later > s., a beggar).

panic, n. Preparations at full speed on a ship preparing for sea: RN: WW1. F. & G.—2. Hence, in bags of panic, much (mostly unnecessary) rushing around in any emergency: Services': WW2 and since. (P.B.)

panic, v. 'To pick up cigarette butts and small débris in an army camp' (B, 1943). Aus. army: WW2. P.B.: ?because of impending inspection by senior officer; cf. prec.

panic bowler. A steel helmet: RAF: 1939+. Jackson, 'The R.A.F. never wear it unless there's a panic on.' Cf. panic hat.

panic button. Any switch or button to be operated for assistance in emergency, e.g., to restore oxygen, summon help, etc.: coll., verging on j.: later C.20. Hence, press the panic button, to panic; hastily demand immediate action: since late 1960s. DCCU.

panic hat. A steel helmet: Aus. army: WW2. (B., 1943.) Cf. panic bowler.

panic helm. 'Erratic steering by "make-learn" coxswain' (Granville): RN: since ca. 1905. panic merchant. A person given to panicking: Aus.: since early 1940s. Sydney Morning Herald, 5 Aug. 1963.

panic-party. 'The men whose job it was to leave a Decoy Ship ... in disorder when a German submarine opened fire': RN coll. (1916) >, by 1918, j. Bowen.—2. The RN's synonym of flap on (see flap, n., 7): since ca. 1925. H. & P.—3. Any rash move: Aus. army: WW2. B., 1943.

panic stations. At first, from ca. 1938, be at panic stations, 'to be prepared for the worst' (Granville): RN. Soon, when used humorously and not literally, > a c.p. Since WW2, gen. coll., esp. as in, e.g., 'When we got there and she found she'd lost her glasses, well, it was panic stations'; sometimes panic stations all round, a state of general over-excitement and confused thinking (P.B.).

panicker. 'A man showing needless anxiety beforehand' (F. & G.): army coll.: later WW1, passing afterwards into gen. usage.

panicky; occ. -nn-, a sol. Like, given to; panic: very or excessively afraid or nervous: coll.: 1869, Echo, 12 Oct., 'Hence the delays, mystification, and consequent panicky results' (OED). Cf. wind up, wind vertical, windy; also breeze.

pan(n)am, panem, pan(n)um. Bread: c.: resp. mid-C.16–20, C.17–18, C.17–20. (Harman; Brome (pannum); B.E. (panam); Bee (panum); Vance.) Ex L. panis and prob. ex the accusative panem, via Lingua Franca. Cf. Fr. s. panam, bread, and yarrum, q.v.

pannam (, etc.)-bound. Deprived of one's food-, esp. bread-, allowance: prison c.: mid-C.19–20. (H., 1st ed.) Ex prec. Cf. pannam-struck and-pannam (, etc.) or cockey-fence or, more gen., -fencer. A street pastry-cook: c.: from ca. 1840. Ex pannam, q.v., and see fence.

pannam (, etc.)-struck. Starving: c.: C.19–early 20. (H., 2nd ed.) Ex pannam, q.v.

pann(e)y. The highway: c. of ca. 1750–1830. John Poulter, 1753, 'Til scamp on the panney.' Etym. obscure: perhaps ex Romany.—2. A house; lodgings, rooms: c. of ca. 1785–1880.

(Grose, 1788; Vaux, 1812; Egan.) Hence do a panney, to rob a house; commit a burglary: c.: Grose, 1788; Lytton; ob. by early C.20. Cf. crack a crib.—3. Whence flash pann(e)y, often simply panny (Ware), a brothel; a public-house frequented by thieves: c. of ca. 1820–1920.—4. A burglary: c.: implied in Grose, 1788; ob. Ex prec. sense, via do a panney, q.v. at sense 2. Cf. pann(e)y-lay, q.v.—5. A fight between two, among more than two, women: low:—1909 (Ware). Cognate with Devonshire panel, to hurt, or pain, and Nottinghamshire panneling, a severe beating (EDD).

pann(e)y-lay. A burglary: c.: ca. 1820–1920. Cf. pann(e)y-man, a housebreaker: c.: C.19. Ex pann(e)y, 2.

pannican. See off (one's)...

pannický. See panicky.

pannier. A robbed waiter at table in the Inner Temple: coll.: 1823. Origin unknown, says SOD; but is not the term an abbr. of pannier man, 'a servant belonging to the Temple or Gray's Inn, whose office is to announce the dinner', Grose, 3rd ed., 1796 (= 1790 or 1791)? W. compares with boots and buttons, qq.v.—2. In fill a woman's pannier, to render her pregnant: low coll.: C.17–18. Cotgrave.

pannikin. See off (one's) ... —2. In roll (one's) pannikin into another shed, to seek employment with another employer: Aus. coll.: late C.19—early 20.

pannikin-boss or -overseer. An overseer in a small, 'unofficial' way on a station: Aus. coll.:—1897; ob. (Morris.) In itself, pannikin is S.E. ex dial.—2. Hence, 'a shift boss. A man in charge of a small gang of workmen' (Jice Doone): Aus. coll.:—1926. Cf.:- panno. Abbr. for prec.: derogatory: since mid-C.20. Wilkes.

pannum. See pannam.

panny. See pann(e)y.

pannyar. 'The old name for the slave trade on the African coast' (Bowen): nautical: ?C.18—mid-19. Prob. ex pannier, a basket.

panorama (pron. panorammer). A hammer: rhyming s.: since ca. 1870; by 1960 †. D.W. Barrett, Navvies, 1880.

panny, n. A very effeminate youth; a homosexual: from ca. 1925. Cf. Nancy (boy). Also pansy-boy: from ca. 1930; New Statesman and Nation, 15 Sep. 1934, concerning the Fascist meeting in Hyde Park on 9 Sep., notes that there were, from the crowd, 'shouts about "pansy-boys"'. panny, adj. Ex prec.: from late 1920s. Jean Devanney, Riven, 1929, 'a pansy voice'—occurring in NZ.

Pansy Patrol, the. Those officers who are sent by Scotland Yard to get evidence at a night club before the police raid it: mostly policemen's: from ca. 1930. They go in full evening dress and are usually chosen from the Public School members of the Force.

panny resting on its laurels, a. Joc. (and punning—see pansy) description of the Intelligence Corps's badge, a rose (symbolising secrecy) surrounded by conventional laurel leaves: the Corps's, its friends'—and enemies': the Corps was reformed in 1940, after a short life in WW1, and the phrase arose prob. soon after that. (P.B., Int. Corps, 1953–74.)

pansy up, v.i. and v. reflexive. (Of a man) to adorn oneself, to smarten oneself up sartorially, in an effeminate manner: since ca. 1932. Cf. synon tart up.

pant. See panto.

pantables, stand upon (one's). To stand on dignity: coll.: ca. 1570–1760. (G. Harvey, Cotton, Horace Walpole.) Moreover, pantable is corrupt for pantofle, a slipper, a shoe. Other corruptions are panacle, pantocle, pannap(p)le, pannap(h)el, pannap(p)le, pannable. OED.

pantaloons. Knee-breeches, formerly worn as part of RAF uniform: since ca. 1920; by 1940 merely historical. (L.A.) Cf. maternity jacket, q.v.

panotechnicon. Abbr. panotechnicon van (furniture-removing): coll., 1891.(OED); by 1920, at latest, > S.E.—2. Hence, a Whitley bomber aircraft: RAF: 1939–41. 'At one period it was our largest, with the biggest capacity' (Jackson).—3. A large glider: RAF: 1942+, but ob. by the end of 1945.

panter. A hart: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 'That animal is, in the Psalms, said to pant after the fresh water-brooks' (1785 revised by 1796).—2. The human heart: from ca. 1720 certainly; possibly from late C.17: low s., prob. orig. c.; slightly ob. A song of ca. 1725, quoted in Musa Pedestris; Grose, 2nd ed., 'Frequently pants in time of danger'.—3. See:

panthers. The female breasts: low: C.19–early 20. Ex panter, 2. Cf. heavers.

panteys. See panties.

panther-sweat. Surgical spirit and Italian vermouth mixed to form a potent drink: beatniks': since ca. 1959, (Anderson.) Adopted and adapted from American s. panther-sweat, raw inferior whiskey.

panther's piss. Strong liquor, esp. spirits: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. prec., tiger piss and tiger's milk. The term is prob. an adaptation of the US panther piss.

pantable. See pantables.

panties (in C.20; earlier, panteys). Pantaloon: ca. 1848–60: coll.: orig. and mainly US (Burton, Waggeries, 1848).—2. Drawers (women's, children's): 1905: coll. >, by 1933, S.E. Cf. pants, scanties and undies, and see esp. 'Euphemism and Euphemisms' in Words!

pantry shelves. Female breasts: domestic: later C.19–early 20.

pantile. 'Erroneously applied to flat Dutch or Flemish paving tiles, and so'—in the pl.—'to the Parade at Tunbridge Wells which was paved with these' (OED): since ca. 1770. Properly 'a roofing tile transversely curved to an ogee shape' (ib.). Cf. pantile-house, -shop, q.v.—2. A hat: ca. 1859–90. (H., 1st ed.; Baumann.) Ex shape. Cf. tile, q.v.—3. A flat cake, jam-covered: schoolboys': ca. 1863–1920. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex sense 1.—4. A hard biscuit, esp. one of those carried by Liverpool ships: nautical: from ca. 1880; ob. (Bowen.) Ex sense 1. pantile(-)house, (-)shop. Ca. 1780–1830: s. rapidly > coll.: resp. 1785, Grose; 1796, Grose (hence, 1790 or 1791). 'A Presbyterian, or other dissenting meeting house, frequently covered with pantiles, called also a cock pit' (Grose, 1st ed.).

Pantile Park. London's roofs and chimney-pots: joc. coll.: ca. 1850–1900. Ware.

pantiler. A Dissenter: coll.: app. ca. 1720–1890, but not recorded before 1863, according to F. & H., 1889 according to the OED; it occurs in H., 1860. Ex pantile, 1.—2. Hence, a religious prisoner: prison-staff s.: early C.19. Mayhew, 1856, 'The officers . . . used to designate the extraordinary religious convicts as "pantilers".'

panto. A C.20 coll. abbr. of pantomime. Ware. Occ. (—1923: Manchon), pant.

pantocle, pantofle, pantopple. See pantables.

pantomime poisoning. Ptomaine poisoning: ca. 1925–60. Would-be joc. (Cdr C. Parsons, RN ret., 1973.)

pantry. A prize-ring var. (—1920; ob.) of bread-basket, q.v.: cf. meat-safe, 1. W.

pants. Pantaloon: low coll.: orig. (1842; 1846, O.W. Holmes) and mainly US; ob. Thornton. Cf. sense 4 and panties, 1, q.v.—2. Pantalettes: coll.: orig. (1851), US; ob.—3. Hence, coll. (in shops, only of men's) for drawers: 1874, H., 5th ed., 'American term for trousers. Here used to represent the long drawers worn underneath'; 1880, Daily News, 8 Nov., 'Pants and shirts sell rather freely' (OED). Cf. panties, 2, q.v.—4. Hence, trousers: orig. (—1874), US; low coll., mostly Colonial: late C.19–20.—5. Only in address to a pantryman: ship's stewards': C.20. Dave Marlowe, coming, Suir!, 1937.—6. In got the pants, panting, breathless: low:—1909 (Ware).—7. See not in his pants.—8. In bore (or talk, bind, etc.) the pants off (someone), to talk to that person on and on, garrulously and uninterestingly: later C.20. (Harry Cole, Policeman's Progress, 1980, p. 164.) Cf. the earlier scare the pants off, to frighten badly. (P.B.) pantsman. A notorious womaniser: Aus.: since ca. 1960. (B.P., 1977.)

panum. See pannam.

panupetaston. A loose, wide-sleeved overcoat: Oxford University: ca. 1850–80. H., 5th ed., 1874, 'Now out of fashion'. Prob. ex Gr.

panzer beetle. A large, hard-topped black beetle found in North Africa: army: 1941–3. Ex panzer, Ger. 'armoured'.

Panzer Pete. A formidable liquor made by troops in New Guinea: Aus. army: 1942–5. (B., 1943.) Cf. panther's piss.

panzy. A burglary: c.:—1857; † by 1900. 'Ducange Anglicus'. A perversion of pann(ey), 4.—2. Hence, a burglar: Aus. c.: late C.19–20. B., 1942.

pap. Paper; esp. paper money: c.: 1877, Horsley, Jottings from Jail, 'A lucky touch for half-a-century'—£50—'in pap'. Ex paper influenced by S.E. pap: or the other way about. (F. & H.'s 'emoluments' is a special application of S.E.)—2. See mouth is full of pap.

pap-feeder. A spoon: c. of ca. 1850–90. Mayhew, 1858.

pap with a hatchet, give. To punish as if one were doing a kindness or conferring a benefit: ca. 1589–1719; ob. by 1650. Coll. Lyly or Nashe, 1589; G. Harvey, 1589; D'Urfey, 1719. (OED.) Halliwell's 'to do any kind action in an unkind manner' perhaps misses the irony.

papa, (C.18) papp. Father: from ca. 1680: S.E. until ca. 1780: then a childish coll.; since ca. 1880, ob. except when joc. Ex Gr. πάπ(π)ας via Fr.; ultimately cognate with pap, a breast (see esp. W., Adjectives and Other Words): cf. mam(m)a, q.v. See also dad, daddy.

pape. Newspaper, mostly in newboys' cries: late C.19–20. B., 1942.

paper, n. Broadside and similar publications: coll.:—1851; ob. (Mayhew.) Cf. paper-worker, q.v.—2. Free passes to an entertainment; collectively, the recipients of such passes: 1870, Figaro, 15 July, 'The best sort of paper for a theatre is Bank of England notes.' Also Oxford clink and stationery. Cf. the v.—3. 'Cigarette paper. "Give me a paper" = give me a cigarette paper. A packet of these costs one "roll-up" [q.v.]' (Tempest, 1950): prison c.: mid-C.20.—4. See read the paper.—5. Marked cards: card-sharps'; Can., prob. ex US: early C.20. Charles Drage, Two-Gun Cohen, 1954.

paper, v.t. To fill (a theatre, etc.) by means of free passes: before 1879. (Webster, Supplement, 1879.) Ex paper, n., 2. Cf. paperery, q.v.

paper, adj. corresponding to paper, n., 2: theatrical:—1909 (Ware). Esp. in paper house.

paper-boat. Any lightly-built vessel, esp. a paddle excursion-steamer: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

paper-chewing. (Official) correspondence: Anglo-Indian: C.20. George Orwell, Burmese Days, 1935.

paper-collared swell. A 'white-collar worker' (esp. a clerk): NZ: ca. 1860–1900. A. Bathgate, Colonial Experiences, 1874, cited by B., 1941.

paper doll. A woman of easy virtue: Aus. rhyming s., on moll: later C.20. McNeil.

paper end, the. The report, correspondence and documentary aspect of some matter as distinct from the matter itself (Jackson): RAF coll.: since ca. 1925. Cf. paper-man.

paper-fake. A 'dodge' or 'lay' with paper, e.g. selling ballads: Cockney: ca. 1850–80. Mayhew.

paper-hanger. A passer of worthless cheques: Aus. c.: adopted ca. 1925, from US. (Baker.) See Underworld. Hence, paper-hanging, the action; also Can.—2. See like a one-armed paper-hanger . . .

paper-maker. A rag-gatherer, gutter-searcher: c. >, by 1860, low: from ca. 1835; ob. Brandon.—2. One who, pretending to be the agent of a paper-mill, collects rags free and then sells them: c.:—1839; ob. Brandon.

paper-man. An officer 'who, being employed on the staff', is 'not available for regimental duty' (Standard, 24 Oct. 1892); prob. it was used some few years earlier: military coll.: ob. by 1930.

paper-marriage. A Society wedding: from ca. 1890. Ex fees paid in banknotes.

paper medal. See medal, 2.

paper-mill, the. The record office of the Court of Queen's Bench: legal: ca. 1840–1900.

paper-minister. A minister that reads his sermons: Scots coll.: 1854 (H. Miller: OED). The EDD records, at 1828, paper-ministry, 'a ministry of preachers who read their sermons'.

paper-padded. (Of footwear) shod with paper instead of with leather: shoemakers' s. (—1887) >, by 1910, coll. Baumann.

paper-scully (or -skully). A silly or foolish fellow. Also adj. Coll.: late C.17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. Whence:

paper-sculled (-skulled). Silly, foolish: coll.: C.18–early 19.

paper-stainer. A clerk: coll.: mid-C.19–early 20. (As author, S.E.)

paper war. 'Army red tape' (B., 1943): Aus. army: WW2. Cf. paper-man.

paper-worker. A vendor of broadsides: low coll.: from ca. 1850; ob. Ex paper, n., 1. Cf. running patterer, q.v.

paper yabber. A letter; newspapers sent through the post: Aus. pidgin > coll.: since later C.19. Wilkes quot'ns date 1888–1935. See yabber, 1.

paperer. The issuer of paper, n., 2: theatrical: 1879, says Ware. Ex paper, v.

papers. See get the papers.

paperery. Occupied by persons with free passes: 1885, Referee, 8 Nov., 'The stalls were partly paperery, and partly empty.' Ex paper, n., 2.

paplar, -er. See poplars.

pappy. Father: childish coll. (ob. by 1920): 1763, Bickerstaff; 1897, 'Ouida'. Diminutive of papa, q.v. OED.—2. A nursery form of pap, infants' food: coll.: 1807 (E.S. Barrett); ob. by 1930. OED.

paps. See COLSTON'S, in Appendix.

par. Abbr. paragraph, esp. of news; journalistic coll.: 1879, W. Black (OED); Ware, however, dates par-leader (a short leading article in one paragraph) at 1875. 'Pink Pars for Pale People' was long a feature of Books of To-Day. Cf. para.—2. An occ. var. of pa.

par-banging. Tramping, seeking for work: urban lower classes:—1909 (Ware). I.e. banging the pavé.

par for the course, that's (just) about. That's pretty normal; that's what, after all, you can expect. C.p.: since ca. 1920. Ex golf. (Leechman.)

par-leader. See par.

para. Abbr. paragraph, esp. as part of a book, an article, etc.: book world: C.20. While par, q.v., is used mainly by printers and journalists, para is used mainly by authors; some publishers prefer par, some para.—2. A paraplegic (a spinal-cord paralytic): Can. doctors and nurses': since ca. 1946. (Leechman).—3. A member of Paratroops: Services': since mid-WW2. Cf. next.—4. See purple para.

paraboy, usu. in pl. A member of a parachute regiment: army: 1942–5. P-G-R.

parachute. A parasol; umbrella: c. (—1864) >, by 1873, gen. low s.; ob. H., 3rd ed.

parade, burn the. See burn the parade.

paradise. The gallery of a theatre: 1864; always felt to be French; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. (H., 3rd ed.) Fr. paradis. Cf. the cognate the gods and contrast the Fr. poulailler.—2. A grove of trees outside St John's College at: Oxford: from ca. 1860; ob. (Its Winchester 'notional' sense, a small garden, is perhaps rather j. than eligible).—3. In get or have a penn'orth of paradise, to get, have, take a drink, esp. of gin: low: ca. 1860–1915.

paradise strokes, the. (Of a man) the culmination of a population: raffish: C.20. (P.B.)

paraffin. A smart appearance: lower-class Glasgow: C.20. MacArthur & Long. In 1897–1900, 'the word "paraphernalia" was much used by the working classes [of Glasgow] to describe anyone who was very much "got up" or overdressed. It was pronounced "paraffinely" ... "There he was, dressed up, wi' a' his paraffinely" ... My theory is that "paraffin" is simply a contraction of "paraffinely" and is now used by a generation that knows nothing of its original meaning.' Norman T. McMurdo, letter, 1937, and doubtless correctly.—2. Hence (?), a suit of clothes: (low) Glasgow: since ca. 1920. Kenneth Mackenzie, Living Rough, 1936.

paraffin budgie, often abbr. to budgie. A ship's helicopter: RN: since late 1960s. (Peppiit.)

Paraffin Pete. 'An Airfield Control Officer or N.C.O. ... responsible ... for ensuring that the flares are laid and lit at the right time and places; these forming the flare-path guide ... aircraft in darkness' (Jackson): RAF: since ca. 1938.

paraffinely. See sense 1 of paraffin: app. current ca. 1880–1905.

paralysed. Topsy: s. verging on coll.: ca. 1890–1920. Ex the effect. Cf. next.—2. Joc. (or ignorantly) for analysed: earlier C.20. 'Paralysed by the public anarchist.'

paralytic. Dead drunk: from ca. 1910. Ex prec., 1. Cf. palatic, q.v.

paralytic fit or stroke. A badly fitting garment: tailors': from ca. 1870; slightly ob. By a pun on that affliction. Cf. give fits.

param, parum. Milk: c.: late C.16–17. (Harman.) Also yarrum, q.v.

parapet Joe. Any of the numerous German machine-gunners whose pleasure it was to 'play a tune' along the parapet, pom-tiddle-om-pom pom-pom being the usual burst: Aus. army: 1916–18.—2. A soldier that is for ever exposing himself on the parapet: army: WW1.

parasol. A monoplane that, with wings 'raised above the fuselage and over the pilot's head', gave 'a clear view of the ground': RFC coll. > j. 1915–18. F. & G.

parcel. The day's winnings; a pocket-book: the turf: late C.19–20. The Pink 'Un and the Pelican, 1898 (former); Sporting Times, 6 Apr. 1901 (latter).—2. Hence, a sum (esp. if considerable) won or lost: C.20. Esp. drop a parcel (Wodehouse, 1923: OED Sup.). Cf. packet, 2.—3. An English girl sold into a brothel abroad: c. or low:—1887 (Baumann).—4. A rolled blanket, with one's personal belongings inside: Aus. tramps' coll.: since ca. 1910. B., 1943.—5. In blue the parcel, to spend all one's money; lose everything on a bet: sporting: since ca. 1910. (Edgar Wallace, Educated Evans, 1924.) Cf. sense 2.—6. 'A quantity of stolen goods being delivered to a receiver' (Nowl, 10 Apr. 1981): c.: later C.20. A specialisation of S.E. (P.B.) parcel-finder. One who, for lost packets, goes to the pawnbrokers: pawnbrokers' coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

parcel from Paris. See packet from Paris.

parcel post. 'Epithet applied to the newly arrived and inexperienced, esp. N.T.' (Wilkes): Aus. rural: C.20. Parcel post men or boys arrive on station from the cities like a parcel in the mail.

parchment. A bluejacket's certificate of service: RN coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

parchment dab. A writ: early C.18. See MISCELLANEA, in Appendix.

pard. A partner; a chum: orig. (—1872), US; anglicised ca. 1885, chiefly in the Colonies. A coll. abbr. of partner via pardner: itself a coll. (—1887), recorded by Baumann—but orig. US.

parding. Pardon: orig. a Cockney sol. (Mayhew, 1861); in C.20 occ. used for joc. effect by those who would usu. say 'I beg your pardon'.

pardon me for living! 'An elaborate mock apology, used by one checked for some minor error' (Leechman): Can. c.p.: since ca. 1945. Soon adopted in Brit., but ob. by ca. 1960. See DCpp.

pardon my (or the) French! See excuse my French, and pardon ... in DCpp.

Paree. Paris: coll.: from ca. 1850. Often gay Paree. Ex Fr. pronunciation.

parentheses. Bandy legs: printers': from ca. 1870. Ex the shape: (). Hence, ballocks in parentheses, an 'educated' var. of ballocks in brackets, q.v.

parenthesis. Iron parenthesis = prison, and wooden parenthesis = a pillory: earlier C.19. Both recorded in Lex. Bal.—2. In have (one's) nose in parenthesis, to have it pulled: ca. 1786–1850. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Hence, parenthesis, the having one's nose pulled: ca. 1820–40. Bee.

pariah brig. A deep-sea native vessel of India: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Punning pariah.

parings. Illicit clippings of money: c.: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E., Grose.) A special application of the S.E. sense. Grose's chippings is an error.

parings of (one's) nails, not to give, lose, part with the. To be a miser: semi-proverbial coll.: from ca. 1540; in C.19–20, mostly dial. 'Proverbs' Heywood, Deloney, Mabbe, 'Phraseologia Generalis' Robertson, Northall. (Apperson.)

Paris. See in Paris, eloped; packet from Paris.

parish. A tin scone: Rugby schoolboys': mid-C.19–20. B. & L.—2. A battery's position in the front-line area: artillery officers': from mid-1916; ob. Hence the rectory (or R.), battery headquarters. Both terms are to be found in Blaker, resp. at p. 364 and p. 365.

parish-bull, -prig, -stallion. A parson: c.: resp. 1811, Lex. Bal.; 1864, H., 3rd ed.; F. & H., 1902. Prob. prig = prick (q.v.) influenced by prig, v., 3, q.v. Cf. the ambiguous C.17 proverb, the parson gets the children. (Apperson.)

parish-lantern. The moon: dial. and s.:—1847 (Halliwell). Cf. oliver, q.v.

parish pick-axe. A prominent nose: lower classes':—1909; ob. Ware.

parish-rig. 'A poorly found ship or an ill-clothed man': Can. (and Eastern US) nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex S.E. parish-rigged, cheaply rigged.

parish-soldier. Ca. 1780–1850. 'A jeering name'—prob. coll. rather than s.—'for a militia man, from substitutes being frequently hired by the parish from which one of its inhabitants is drawn.'

parish-stallion. See parish-bull.

park, n. A prison: low s. and Northern dial.: ca. 1820–70. ('Jon Bee.') Perhaps ex the privileged circuit round the King's Bench and/or the Fleet Prison.—2. A back yard, a small strip of garden in a town: joc. coll.: from ca. 1890; ob.—3. See Bushy Park.—4. In down the park, (of a horse that is) losing: Glasgow sporting:—1934.

park, v. To place, gen. with implication of safety: coll.; adopted, ex US, ca. 1915. The Times, 1 Feb. 1918, 'A policeman "parked" [the] perambulators and mounted guard... while the mothers made their purchases' (W.). Ex military usage, to put in an artillery-, a car-park, via park a gun, lorry, car.—2. V. reflexive (of persons): to place oneself; hence, to sit: coll.: from ca. 1920. Both senses are now on the border-line of S.E.—3. To do, to effect; e.g. park or bath, a walk, take, go for...; park an oil, do something (over-)smart: Oundle, since early 1920s. Marples.—4. Short for park, 3; 'to give: "oo'll park me a fag, then?": Brit. gay slang' (Bruce Rodgers, The Queens' Vernacular, 1972). Cf. part, v.—5. See parking.

park a custard. To vomit: RN, mostly wardroom: since ca. 1930. (Parsons.)

park-paling(s); -railings. Teeth: low: 1811, Lex. Bal. (paling); railings from ca. 1860.—2. A neck of mutton: low: from ca. 1880. Ex the appearance.

park your arse; carcass; fanny; frame; stern! (Usu. imperative) Be seated!; occ., e.g. 'Where shall I park my...?', where shall I sit?; joc. coll. extensions of park, v., 1 and 2: resp. since ca. 1920; ca. 1955; ca. 1939, adopted ex US (cf. fanny, n., 10); ca. 1930, NZ—and elsewhere (Arthur Gray, 1969); ca. 1925, orig. nautical.

parkee, -ie, -y. A park-keeper: mostly children's: since ca. 1920. (Petch, 1969.)

park, n. A very well-dressed man frequenting the parks: low London: mid-C.19–20; ob. Ware.—2. A rabbit living in a park: coll.:—1846 (OED). See Nosey Parker.

park, v.i. and t. To speak (about); ask; beg: c.: from ca.

1890; ob. P.H. Emerson, 1893, 'Have you parkered to the owner for your letties?' Ex It. parlare, via Lingua Franca, or a corruption of PARLYAREE, q.v. in Appendix.—2. In park from (or with) denarly, to pay up: Parlyaree, esp. cheapjacks': from ca. 1870. Pugh, cheapjack loquitur: "'I like the Birmingham people," I said. "They are nice people, sensible people, and they 'parker from denarly' without fuss." Lit., part from money; parker represents It. partire; see also denarly and cf. parter.—3. To hand out (money): id. Ibid., "'If I'd a brightfull o'posh," she said, "I wouldn't parker no wedge to you."

Parker trouble, have. To have one's conversation listened to by an outsider: office- and shop-girls': since ca. 1945. (Gilderdale.) Ex Nosey Parker. The use of trouble in coll. phrases—e.g. to have woman trouble—was orig. American.

parkering ninty. Wages: Parlyaree: since ca. 1860. (P.H. Emerson, Signor Lippo, 1893.) Cf. part, v.

parking. The use of a parked motor vehicle for love-making: Aus., adopted ex US, since ca. 1945. (B.P.) parking lot. The vagina: teenagers' (and among their older equivalents): since the latish 1960s; app. predominantly feminine. (Jagger.) Ex US, a pun.

parky; incorrectly parkey. Cold; chilly. (Only of weather; in Midland dial. however, it = witty, smart or sharp of tongue.) From 1898 or a little earlier. Prob. ex perky, parky, characteristic of a park; cf. dial. parkin, ginger-bread.

parlamaree. A 'gee' or that companion who starts a sale, or the donations, going: C.20; by 1950, ob. Perhaps, as Franklyn, Rhyming, proposes, ex a version of PARLYAREE (see Appendix); see also gee.

parlary. Slang: prostitutes': since ca. 1930.—2. See PARLYAREE, in Appendix.

parlyvoo, n. Occ. parlyvoo, parl(e)y-vous, parlez-vous. The French language: coll.: 1754, Foote, 'A French fellow... with his muff and parle-vous' (OED).—2. The study of French: coll.: late C.19–20.—3. A Frenchman: 1815 (OED): slightly ob. Cf. Fr. goddam, an Englishman: even C.15 Villon alludes to the oath. Ex parlez-vous, do you speak (e.g. French)?

parleyvoo, adj. French: 1828 (Moir: EDD).—2. Loosely, foreign: late C.19–20. Both coll.

parleyvoo, v.i. To speak French: s. when not joc. coll.: 1765, Foote, 'You know I can't parler vous' (OED). Ex the n., 1, q.v. also for var. spellings.—2. Hence, to speak a foreign language: from ca. 1880; ob. Cf. sling the bat.—3. Hence, loosely, to speak: from ca. 1919.—4. 'Used as a jocular euphemism "to coit", from soldiers of 1914–18 war' (L.A., 1976); ob. by 1945, † by 1960.

parliament (house). A privy: late C.19–20. Because one sits there.—2. In kiss my Parliament!, a rude c.p., based on 'the Rump Parliament': early Restoration period Pepys, Feb., 1660, 'Boys do now cry, "Kiss my Parliament"' (W.).

parliament whiskey. Whiskey on which inland revenue dues have been paid: Anglo-Irish coll.: from the 1820s. Ware. Parliamentary press. 'An old custom of claiming any iron, which happens to be in use, for the purpose of opening the collar seam' (B. & L., 1889); ob. by 1930: tailors'.

parlor. A caboose; hence parlor man, the rear brakeman or flagman on a freight train: Can. railroadmen's ironic:—1931. Cf. synon. palace.

parlour. The female pudend: low: C.19—early 20. (Bee.) Also front parlour.—2. Hence, let out (one's) parlour and lie backwards, to be a whore: id. (Ibid.) Cf. let out (one's) fore-rooms...—3. In in the parlour, (of a barge) 'on the hard gravel under the wharf' (Ernest Raymond, The Marsh, 1937): Thames-side nautical: late C.19–20.—4. In out of the parlour into the kitchen, from good to bad: coll.: late C.16–17. (Florio.) Cf. synon. out of God's blessing into the warm sun.

parlour-jump, v. Ex parlour-jumping, q.v.: c.: 1894 (Arthur Morrison: OED).

parlour-jumper. One who specialises in 'parlour-jumping': c.: from ca. 1870, says Ware.

parlour-jumping. Theft from rooms, esp. by entering at the window: c.: from not later than 1879.

parlour pinks. Socialists not violent (red) but very moderate: political; adopted, ca. 1935, from US. Since ca. 1960, usu. as var. parlour pinkos (L.A.).

parlous. Extremely clever, shrewd, mischievous; extraordinary: C.15–20 (ob.): S.E. until ca. 1840, then dial. and coll. (= 'awful', terrible). OED parly (or Parly) train. A 'daily passenger train compelled by Parliamentary Regulations' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: —1887 (Baumann).

Parlyaree. See notes at this heading in the Appendix.

parlyvoo, parlyvuous. See parleyvoo, n. and v.

parnee, parn(e)y, n. (In India, usu. pawnee.) Water: orig. (—1862) among strolling actors (Mayhew): by 1890, fairly gen. low s., though—witness Y. & B.—popular in Anglo-Indian, e.g. in brandy-pawnee, q.v., by 1865; much used by soldiers—orig. the Regulars with service in India—esp. in WW1. English usage derives ex Romany pani, paani, paumi (Smart & Crofton), itself ultimately the Hindustani pani. —2. Rain: Anglo-Indian:—1859; slightly ob. (H., 1st ed.). (The term is now common in Parlyaree and in the s. of Petticoat Lane. Note of ca. 1935.)—3. Hence, tears (in the eyes): Parlyaree: C.20.—4. Hence, also, urine, urination, as in 'I'm going for a parney' (M.T.): market-traders': C.20. parnee, v.i. To rain: showmen's and marketmen's: C.20. Ex n., 2.

parnee(-), but gen. pawnee(-)game. Water-drinking, esp. as abstinence from liquor: low: 1893, P.H. Emerson, 'He sticks to the pawnee game.' See parnee.

Parnliament. Parliament: Society: 1886. Ex Parnell's activities. Ware.

Parra. Parramatta, New South Wales, esp. the gaol there: Aus.: late C.19–20. Dymphna Cusack, Come in Spinner, 1951 (Wilkes).

parrot. 'A sheep that has lost some of its wool' (B. 1959): Aus. rural: C.20. Cf. cocky, n., 8, and rosella, 2.—2. See pissed as ...; sick as ...

parrot and monkey time. A period of quarrelling: ca. 1885–1915. Adopted ex US, Ware noting that it 'started from a droll and salacious tale of a monkey and a parrot'. Whence parrotty time.

parrot must have an almond, the. A c.p. applied to or hinting of incentive, reward, or bribery, very common ca. 1520–1640. Skelton; Nashe, Almond for a Parrot, 1590; Shakespeare; Jonson; 'Water-Poet' Taylor. (Apperson.) Ex parrot's delight in almonds.

parrots and monkeys. Goods and chattels; personal possessions: Army: since ca. 1930. Cf. the (1941+) c.p. addressed to recruits, All right! Pick up your parrots and monkeys, and get mobile; occ. parrots and monkeys in the left hand or on the left shoulder ... Ex the returning seaman's pets or souvenirs.

parrot'(s)-cage. See mouth like the bottom ...

parrotty time. Synon. with parrot and monkey time: Ware cites Daily News, 12 Oct. 1886; † by 1920.

parsley. The public hair: low: C.18–19. Cf. next.—2. Nonsense: Cockneys': early C.20. (Pugh.) Cf. gammon and spinach.

parsley-bed. The female pudend: low: from ca. 1600 (see Mabbe quot'n in OED); 1659, anon., The London Chanticleers, a play; Ned Ward, 1719. Esp. take a turn in the parsley-bed, to coit with a woman; ob. (In folklore—cf. Mabbe, 1622, and R. Brome in The Antipodes, 1640—little girls come from the parsley-bed, little boys from the nettle-bed or from under a gooseberry bush.) Partly Apperson.

parsnips. See beg your pudding!

parson, n. Any minister of religion except a priest: coll. and, except in country districts, gen. pej.: mid-C.17–20. South, Hannah More, George Eliot. OED.—2. A signpost, 'because like him it sets people in the right way' (Grose, 1785): prob. from ca. 1750, mainly dial.; ob.

parson, v. To marry; to church after child-delivery: coll.: from ca. 1880.

Parson and Prawns (Line omitted), the. The railway line from London to Southampton: ca. 1860–1914. 'Being very much used by parsons from Winchester and for the transport of prawns from Southampton', in an article written by Peter Were and cited by the Bournemouth Echo of 6 Sep. 1967. (Petch.)

Parson Greenfields. See Greenfields.

Parson Mallum!, remember. 'Pray drink about, Sir!': late C.16–18: c.p. Like the next, it must have had its origin in some topicality.

Parson Palmer. 'One who stops the circulation of the glass by preaching over his liquor' (Grose, 1785): coll.: C.18—early 19. (Swift, Polite Conversation, Dialogue II.) An elab. of no preaching—or dangerous to preach—over your liquor, as in Aphra Behn, 1682, and app. a semi-proverb, it is a c.p. See esp. Apperson. Cf. prec.

parsoned, ppl. adj. Married in church or chapel: coll.: —1886. Esp. married and parsoned, duly and legally married: coll.: 1886 (Cassell's Encyclopaedic Dict.).

parsoness. A parson's wife: coll., mostly joc.: 1784 (OED). Cf.: parsonet. A parson's child: coll., gen. joc.: 1812, G. Colman (OED); ob.—2. A newly fledged or a very unimportant parson: joc. coll.: 1834, Gen. P. Thompson, 'fashionable parsonets'; P. Brooks, 1874, 'parsonettes'. OED.

parson's barn. 'Never so full but there is still room for more' (Grose, 2nd ed.): C.18—early 19 coll.; whence the C.19 Dorsetshire big as a parson's barn.

parson's collar. Froth on a glass of beer: public-houses': since mid-1940s. (Petch, 1966.)

parson's journeyman. A curate: from ca. 1810; ob. (Lex. Bal.) An assistant curate does most of the itinerant work of his vicar or rector.

parson's mouse-trap. Marriage: late C.17–19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed., where also is listed shut (up) in the parson's pound, married.

parson's nose. A chicken's or a goose's rump: coll.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Cf. pope's nose (q.v.) by which it was, to Protestants, prob. suggested.

Parson's Pleasure and Dame's Delight. The two Oxford bathing-places reserved for men and women respectively: mid-C.19–20 and C.20: orig., s.; but, the former at least, accepted by 1920 at latest.

parson's pound. See parson's mouse-trap.

parson's side. See pinch on the ...

parson's week. A holiday from Monday to the Saturday of the following week: Cowper's letter of 28 June 1790 to Lady Hesketh (OED); also, mid-C.19–20, Monday to Saturday of one week. Coll.: late C.18–20.

parson's wife. Gin: orig. and properly Vickers Gin: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1953.) Vickers: vicar's. 'And quite possibly gin = jin, short for Jinny, a sort of collective for women' (Julian Franklyn, 1962).—2. See kiss the parson's wife.

parson's yeoman, the. The volunteer organist at Divine Service' (Granville): RN: C.20.

part. In for my part, instead of me; in my place: Cape Province coll.:—1913 (Pettman).

part, v.i. To pay, give, restore: from ca. 1862: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. H., 3rd ed.; G.R. Sims, 1880, 'The [people on the] top floor rarely parted before Monday morning.' Ex S.E. part with, C.14–20.

part brass-rags. To quarrel: RN (from ca. 1890: Good-enough, 1901) >, by 1900, army and, in C.20, gen. coll.; ob. by 1983. Bowen, 'From the bluejacket's habit of sharing brass-cleaning rags with his particular friend'.

part co. To part company: ?orig. Naval: ?since ca. 1790; by 1850, ob.; by 1910, virtually †. It occurs in W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book (II, 171), 1826, 'Thought it time to "cut cable" and run ... "Parted co." from crowd.' (Moe.)

part up. An Aus. var. of part, v.: late C.19–20. B., 1942. partake of Her (or His) Majesty's hospitality. To be in gaol: joc. coll.: 1894 (OED Sup.).

parter. A payer or giver of what is due or advisable; by itself, 'a free, liberal person' (H.); a bad payer is a bad parter. From ca. 1862: s. >, ca. 1915, coll. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex part, v.

partial. Crooked; over-inclined (lit.): coll.: late C.18—early 19. Grose, 2nd ed.

partial to. Liking; fond of: coll.: 1696, Prior, 'Athens ... where people ... were partial to verse'; A. Lang, 1889, 'Cold sausage (to which Alphonso was partial)'. OED.

partic. Particular; esp. as adj. (fastidious): trivial coll.: C.20. Neil Bell, The Years Dividing, 1935.

particular, n. Something very characteristic or especially liked, e.g. a glass of one's particular, i.e. of one's favourite drink: s.: C.19–20. Earliest and mainly in London particular, q.v.—2. A very close friend; a favourite mistress: dial. (—1828) >, ca. 1830, coll.; slightly ob. Gen. P. Thompson, 1830 (OED). Perhaps ex.—3. The favoured gallant of a courtesan: brothel coll.: 1749 (John Cleland).

particular, adv. Especially: low coll.: mid-C.19–20. 'I want to speak to you awfully particular' (Boy's Own Paper, cited by Baumann, 1887). The OED, giving an example of 1600, describes the usage as rare and †.

particulars. Panties, esp. take down one's own or have a man remove them: joc. raffish: since ca. 1920. A pun on take down (someone's) particulars, name, address, etc. Jonathan Thomas, English as She is Fraught, 1976.

partinger. A partner: joc.—1887; ob. Baumann.

partners. Two men working together: tailors' coll. (late C.19–20) verging on j. Cf. old thirds, q.v.

partridge. A harlot: low: late C.17—mid-18. (Anon. song of ca. 1700.) Cf. plover, by which—plus partridge(shot), case-shot—it was prob. suggested.

parts. Esp. in good for the parts, 'said as if of the digestion, but subversive the sexual parts. Excuse for eating more or drinking tippie: Public Schools' (L.A., 1974): mid-C.20.—2. In play (a person) any (or one) of (one's) parts, to play a nasty trick on a person: low coll.:—1887. Baumann, 'Don't play me any of your parts'.—3. See refreshes the parts ...

party. A person: mid-C.17–20: S.E. until ca. 1760, then coll. (Foote, 1770); from ca. 1850, low coll. (Bagehot, 1855 'A go-ahead party'); in C.20, when not joc., s. and usu. pej. (OED: dates.) Esp. old party, an old person. Ex such legal phrases as guilty party, be a party to. See notably Alford's The Queen's English, 1863.—2. A love affair: Society: ca. 1928–38. Alec Waugh, Going Their Own Ways, 1938.—3. An aerial combat; a bombing raid: RAF: since early 1940. H. & P., 1943; Granville, 1945, of a commando raid or a naval operation, for it was also an RN and an army term; Brickhill & Norton, Escape to Danger, 1946, "'Oh, crumbs! Night fighter," he muttered. "What a b— party!"'.—4. A very busy day: Services; esp. RAF ground staff: since ca. 1940. (H. & P.) Ironic.—5. A girl friend: RN: since ca. 1910. (Granville.) Ex sense 2. Cf. horse, n., 12.

party in the attic. An elab. of party, 3: RAF: 1940+. Partridge, 1945, 'Attic because the fight takes place aloft.'

party line, the. The 'official version', to be adhered to whether truthful or not; not necessarily a 'cover-up story', but often with that implication: since ca. 1920: orig. political, > gen. coll. Perhaps orig. ex the methods and ethics of extremist political parties, but now, sadly, right across the spectrum. Cf. to the line, 2, q.v.

party piece. 'Women play a distinctly secondary role. They are accepted as wives, girlfriends, or "party pieces"' (article on the motorcyclists known as Hell's Angels, by Hugo Davenport, Observer, 12 Sep. 1982).

party pin. A working party in an aircraft carrier: RN: 1939+. P-G-R.

party-pooper. 'One who wrecks a convivial party by "pooping" it' (Leechman): Can.: since ca. 1960. 'Water over the poop? Or "pooping", defecating, on it' P.B.: adopted ex US; a poop is an insignificant or stupid person (W. & F.), but Leechman's second suggestion is prob. correct. Mrs C. Raab: or ex poop, v., 27 party-roll. A list of boys going home together: from ca. 1860: Winchester College coll. > j. (Such terms are a lexicographic problem.)

pas de Lafarge! No talk about Madame Lafarge (the reputed murderess): Society: 1840s. Ex Paris. (Ware.) Cf. no Tich!, at Tich, 2.

pas devant l'enfant! Domestic 'Franglais' for 'not (to be mentioned) in front of the child': since mid-C.20. (Mrs C. Raab, 1977.)

pasear; paseo. A walk: adopted, ex US, ca. 1890; ob. by 1940. Ex Sp. paseo, a walk; pasear, to walk. OED Sup.—2. Only pasear, to walk: id.—3. Only paseo, a street, a promenade: 1920 (Ibid.).

push, n. A 'small' coin; a 'copper': c.:—1839; † by 1900. Brandon.—2. An infatuation; among schoolchildren, one for a teacher; at a few English Public Schools, a homosexual fondness for another boy. C.20. (Dorothy L. Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927.) Mrs C. Raab: also at girls' schools; younger on older girls or girls on teachers, in 1930s. Abbr. passion. Cf. rave, n., and crush, n., 4, qq.v.—3. A letter: RN: since ca. 1930. H. & P., 'Number one push being a letter to one's best girl'. Ex sense 2.

push, adj. Passionate; e.g. push pants, non-regulation trousers affected by some officers: Can. soldiers': 1914+.

push on; sex on. To indulge in sex, from petting to intercourse; Aus. teenagers': since ca. 1950. Sydney Morning Herald, 11 Sep. 1963.

push show. a film that graphically shows love-making: Aus. teenagers': since the late 1940s.—2. Hence, ardent love-making: Aus. teenagers': since ca. 1950. (B.P.)

push wag(g)on. A liberty bus: mostly RAF: 1940–5. (P-G-R.) Cf. passion waggion.

pass, n. A pass-examination: coll.:—1887 (Baumann).—2. See sell the pass; make a pass at.

pass, v. To fail to understand; have no concern in: coll.: C.20. Ex euchre, though its post-1910 usage is mainly owing to the bridge formula. P.B.: in later C.20, ex the use of 'pass!' (= I cannot answer) in TV quiz-shows and general knowledge contests.

pass a sham saint. To be a hypocrite: early C.19. See VERBS, in Appendix. Here pass app. = come in such later usage as come the old soldier.

pass along. To send (stolen articles, the stuff) to a 'fence'; to conceal them: c.:—1923 (Manchon).

pass in a crowd, may – might – could – would – will. Is just average: coll.: C.20. An elab. is pass in a crowd with a push (D.L. Sayers, The Nine Tailors, 1934). Cf. there are worse in gaol, q.v. See also pass with ...

pass in (one's) checks. To die: orig. (—1872) and mainly US; adopted, esp. in Can. and Aus., ca. 1890. Nisbet, 1892, 'Mortimer ... passed in his checks ... unexpectedly.' C.J. Dennis, 1916, has pass in (one's) cheque. Also hand in; also, with either v., chips, which, however, is rare outside US. Ex settling one's accounts at poker. A late C.19—early 20 mostly Cockney version was pass in (one's) dinner pail (Binstead, Mop Fair, 1905). B., 1942, records the Aus. var. ... marble.

pass (someone) one. To deliver a blow: Aus.:—1916 (C.J. Dennis).

pass out. To die: coll.: 1899 (OED Sup.). Prob. abbr. pass out of sight.—2. To lose consciousness through liquor: military (1916) >, by 1919, gen.—3. Hence, or ex sense 1, to faint: from ca. 1920. As L.A. points out, 1974, this can be from any cause, a blow, a fall, the heat, hunger, etc.—4. Hence, weakened still further, merely to fall asleep: coll.: later C.20. (L.A., 1974.)

pass round the hat. See send round ...

pass spark out. Intensification of pass out, senses 2–4. See spark out.

pass the buck. To 'tell the tale', q.v.: low: earlier C.20; virtually † by 1945. Cf. buck, conversation.—2. To pass on something one cannot trouble oneself with: Civil Service: since ca. 1938. An Americanism. By 1950, fairly gen. The expression derives from the game of poker.—3. But, in Can., as Dr Leechman tells me in 1959, 'again the general sense has changed. Now it means simply to evade responsibility, usually by passing the job on to someone else, but often by simply ignoring it. Used even in such senses as evading a difficult question in an argument.' P.B.: the sense of shifting responsibility on to someone else has been the predominant Brit. one since ca. 1960 at latest.

pass the can. To shift the blame, responsibility, etc., from one's own shoulders on to someone else's: army: since ca. 1941. (P-G-R.) Cf. prec., 3, and see also carry the can. (P.B.)

pass the catheter. See take the piss...

pass the compliment. To give a gratuity: low coll.: late C.19–20; ob. Perhaps ex (the? orig. US) pass the compliments of the day (cf. next).

pass the time of day. (In passing) to exchange greetings and/or fleeting gossip: coll. and dial.: 1834, A. Parker, 'Two Indians... halted..., stared..., and then civilly passed the time of day' (OED).

pass through the fire. To become venereally infected: low: C.19.

pass through the mill. Var. of (go) through the mill, q.v.

pass with a push; esp., it'll. C.p. of grudging approval: Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.) See pass in a crowd.

Passages. Shares in the Cork, Blackrock, & Passage Railway: Stock Exchange (—1895) >, by 1910, coll. A.J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary.

passed-over; usu. in pl. A Lieutenant-Commander who has failed to become a Commander: RN coll.: C.20, Granville.

passenger. An ineffective member of a racing-boat crew: 1885 (OED).—2. Hence, such a member of any team or (C.20) on a business or other staff: 1892 (OED): s. >, ca. 1930, coll. Ex travel by ship.—3. A passenger-train: railwaymen's coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

passing-out number. A second-year naval cadet in the training-ship Britannia: late C.19—early 20. Bowen.

passion-killers. Issue knickers, 'sensible', warm—and secure, worn by the Women's Services in WW2 and after: Services': since 1940. (Jackson; Peppitt.) See also black-outs and twilights.

passion(-)pit. Synon. with Olympic pool, q.v.: same usage, but 'prob. originally US' (Claiborne, 1976).

passion(-)wag(g)on. Transport for WAAF personnel: RAF: 1941+. (Robert Hinde, 1945).—2. A 'liberty truck'; unit recreational transport, arranged to take troops in to the near-by 'bright lights': army: 1940s–50s. (P.B.)—3. A young man's car, esp. when used for courting or love-making with his girl-friend: young people's: post-WW2+. Cf. love-truck. (P.B.) passionate leave. Compassionate leave: RAF: since ca. 1925. Contrast:

passionate release. Compassionate release from WAAF because of pregnancy: RAF: since ca. 1940.

passy. (Of a master) severe; bad-tempered: Christ's Hospital School: ca. 1790–1870. Superseded by vish, q.v. Ex passionate, says Blanch in his reminiscences.

past. Beyond (the power or ability of a person): coll.: C.17–20. Beaumont & Fletcher, 1611, 'You are welcome...; but if you be not, 'tis past me/To make you so; for I am here a stranger' (OED). See also past it.

past dying of her first child, be. To have had a bastard: coll.: mid-C.17–18. Ray, 1678.

past it. To be, because of age or infirmity, no longer able or powerful enough, either to perform a specific task ('I used to be able to cycle 50 miles in a day, but I'm past it now, I'm afraid'), or gen., as in 'Poor old bugger! He's past it now' = he is no longer the man he was—and never will be again: coll.: C.20, prob. earlier. See also past. (P.B.)

past praying for. (Esp. of persons.) Hopeless: coll.: mid-C.19–20.

past (one)self, get. To be fractious or (very) excited: coll.: from ca. 1910; ob. Cf. get above (one)self, to become over-excited, or conceited.

paste, n. Brains: printers': late C.19—early 20. Ironically ex paste and scissors, q.v.—2. See play for paste.

paste, v. To thrash; implied in 1851, Mayhew, 'He... gave me a regular pasting'; H., 5th ed. F. & H. suggests ex bill-sticking; perhaps on baste (W.).—2. As a cricket coll., esp. paste the bowling, it is recorded for 1924. Lewis.

paste and scissors. Extracts; unoriginal padding; journalistic coll.: late C.19–20. Usu. scissors and paste, gen. considered as S.E. Ex cutting out and pasting up.

paste away, v.i. To keep on punching: coll.: since ca. 1870. (Sessions, Jan. 1882.) See paste, v., 1.

paste-horn. The nose: shoemakers': 1856 (Mayhew); ob. Ex an article of the trade. See also old paste-horn. Cf. conk, smeller.

paste up — and back to five hundred! Coarse comment on another's loud fart: army: C.20. Ex firing range drill: 'Repair the targets and go back to the 500-yard firing line'. Cf. speak up Brown! (P.B.)

pasteboard. A visiting-card; esp. in drop (—1902), leave (Thackeray, 1849), lodge (Hook, 1837), shoot (B. & L., 1889) one's pasteboard, to leave one's visiting-card at a person's residence. Cf. next.—2. A playing-card; playing-cards collectively: 1859 (Thackeray).—3. A railway-ticket, esp. a 'season': C.20. Daily Chronicle, 11 Nov. 1901. OED (all three).

pasteboard, v.t. To leave one's visiting-card at the residence of: 1864 (H., 3rd ed.); ob. by 1900, † by 1920. Ex prec., 1.

pasteboard-customer. A taker of long credit: trade: from ca. 1860; ob. Either ex cards and compliments or ex S.E. pasteboard, something flimsy.

paste is a loose form (Manchon) of pasty, n.

pasties. 'Nipple covers pasted over the nipples by show-girls' (B.P., 1974): Aus.: since ca. 1965. The sing. is either pasty or pastie. The term comes from US, where it is common in the world of theatre, variety, burlesque (see W. & F., 1975 Sup.).

pasting, vbl n. A drubbing: see the quot'n at paste, v.

pastry. Collective for young and pretty women: ca. 1885–1935. (B. & L.; Manchon.) Ex jam, jam-tart, and tart, qq.v. 'Hence the, perhaps later, "a tasty bit of pastry", for one of those girls in particular' (L.A., 1974).

pasty, n. A bookbinder: mostly among publishers, book-sellers, and their car-men: from ca. 1860; ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex the paste used in binding books.

pasty, adj. Of the complexion: S.E.—2. Hence, indisposed: (orig. low) coll.: 1891, Newman, Scamping Tricks, 'I feel pasty'.—3. Hence, angry: low coll.: 1892; ob. Milliken, in the 'Arry Ballads', 'Miss Bonsor went pasty, and reared.'

Pat, pat. An Irishman; often in address: coll. An early occurrence is in an anecdote drawn from an unidentified British source and repeated in an American magazine, The Port Folio, 11 Oct. 1806 (p. 221), thus, 'A company of honest Pats in the purlieu of St. Giles'. (Moe).—2. A Chinaman: Aus. and NZ c., Eng. (see London) low: earlier C.20. Prob. suggested by the relevant sense of John. See Paddy, 2.—3. In on (one's) pat, alone; single-handed: Aus. and NZ: since early C.20. Shortened from Pat Malone, q.v. C.J. Dennis, 1916.—4. See off pat.—5. As adj., opposite: early C.18. See EPITHETS, in Appendix. Prob. always S.E.

Pat and Mick. A, or to, lick (lit. and fig.): Aus. rhyming s.: C.20.—2. Penis: Anglo-Irish rhyming s., on prick in this sense: late C.19–20.

Pat and Mike. A 'bike': rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P. Pat Malone. Alone: Aus. and NZ rhyming s.: C.20. Gen. do a thing, go, on (one's) Pat Malone. Soon reduced to on (one's) pat: see pat, 3. Cf. Tod. (Sloane).

pat out. (To say) frankly: coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Ex pat, opportunely.

patacca. Italian slang term, pronounced "pataka", meaning worthless rubbish, but now particularly used in the dubious jewellery trade, and amongst air stewards, to describe a counterfeit Swiss watch... Also referred to as a "ramped watch" or "mug's ticker" (Powis, 1977). P.B.: it may be relevant that patacca is the name given to a small coin used in Macao.

Patch or patch. The nickname of Sexton, Cardinal Wolsey's domestic jester. T. Wilson, 1553; J. Heywood, 1562. OED —2. Hence, any 'fool' or jester: ca. 1560–1700: coll. soon > allusive S.E. Shakespeare.—3. Hence, an ill-natured or bad-tempered person: C.19–20: coll. and dial. Esp. as cross-patch. Scott, 1830 (OED).—4. The female pudend: low: C.19–20; ?ob.—5. A police area or district: Northern and Midland policemen's: since ca. 1920. 'Look, Ripley, my patch is the city. I'm not like you—a country officer. Your area is wide open' (John Wainwright, Death in a Sleeping City, 1965). One's own 'cabbage patch'. P.B.: by 1965, it had become common to all public services, e.g. social workers, probation officers, for either area of jurisdiction or range, area, of official activity.—6. A Wren's bed-space: WRNS: 1960s. In RN, a sailor's pit. (Miss Margot Wood, 1978.)—7. In on the patch, in trouble: R. Aus. N: earlier C.20. (B., 1943.) On the (patch of) carpet fronting the Commanding Officer's desk.—8. In not a patch (upon), not to be compared with: coll.: 1860, Reade, 'Not a patch on you for looks'—a very frequent comparison. Anticipated by Daniel Webster, 1850, in but as a patch on (W.).—9. As Patch, the 'inevitable nickname for anyone who has a bald patch on his head; one who is "a bit thin on top", but does not quite merit the sobriquet eggo or Skating Rink' (Granville): RN: C.20.

patch-worker. A pickpocket specialising in outside pockets other than fob-pockets: c.: from ca. 1910. (Evening News, 9 Dec. 1936.) Ex S.E. patch-pocket, defined by the OED Sup. as 'a pocket consisting of a piece of cloth sewn like a patch on to a garment'. Cf. fob-worker.

patched like a whaleman's shirt. (Of a sail or garment) patched as much as it can be: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

patch(e)y. A, gen. the, harlequin: theatrical: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex costume. P.B.: or a memory of Patch, 1 and 2?

patchy, adj. Bad-tempered; fractious: coll. (ob.) and dial.: 1862, Trollope, 'He'll be a bit patchy ... for a while.' Ex patch, n., third sense. OED.—2. Variable in quality: C.20: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. E.g. of form in sport. Ex patch, a piece.

pat. The head, esp. the part normally covered with hair: C.13–20: S.E. until C.19, then coll. and gen. joc. Barham, 'His little bald pate'.

patch-coat. An 'inside skirt coat pocket' (Brandon): c. of ca. 1835–90.

patent-digester. Brandy: coll.: from ca. 1835; ob. (Dickens.) Ex its digestive properties.

patent(-)Frenchman. An Irishman: tailors': ca. 1870–1930. patent-inside, -outside. 'A newspaper printed [first] on the inside (or outside) only, the unprinted space being intended for local news, advertisements, etc.' (F. & H.): journalists' (mostly provincial): from ca. 1880; very ob. by 1930.

Patent Safeties, the. The 1st Life Guards: military: from ca. 1850; ob. Also the Cheeses, Chesemongers, Piccadilly Butchers, q.v., Royal Blues, and Tin-Bellies, which explains the P.S.

patent safety. 'My mount was a wiry nondescript animal, sober and unexcitable. It was what is known as a "safe conveyance" or "patent safety": hunting s.: late C.19–20. Petch quotes Siegfried Sassoon, Memoirs of a Fox-Hunting Man, 1928, concerning the pre-WW1 period.

pater. A father; also in address: mostly among schoolboys: 1728, Ramsay; Miss Braddon, who italicises it. (OED.) Direct ex the L. Cf. mater, q.v.

pater-cove. See patricio.

paternoster. A fishing-line with hooks and weights at regular intervals: anglers' coll. (in C.20, j.): 1849 (Kingsley). Abbr. S.E. paternoster-line. Ex rosary-beads.—2. See devil's paternoster; no paternoster.

paternoster-while, in a. In a moment (the time needed for a paternoster); quickly: from ca. 1360 (ob. by 1890): coll. bordering on S.E. Paston Letters.

patess. An Irishwoman: coll.: 1825, (Scott: OED). See Pat (pron. with short a). Pathology; pathological: late C.19–20: medical s., now verging on coll. E.g. path lab, abbr. pathology laboratory. See also pathy.

pathetic. Ludicrous: C.20 coll. (? orig. s.). Contrast funny, odd.

pathfinder. An airman either very lucky or enviably judicious in finding women: RAF: 1942–5. Ex the official sense of the term. (P-G-R.) I.e., a very highly-trained and efficient navigator, like those in the aircraft sent ahead to mark targets for the bombers.

pathy. A pathologist: police s. (Alan Hunter, Gently by the Shore, 1956.) See path.

patience. In have no patience with, to find too hard to tolerate; be irritated by: coll.: 1855, Thackeray, 'I have no patience with the Colonel' (OED).—2. In my patience!, an exclamation of surprise: coll.: recorded 1873 (EDD); prob. much earlier. Cf. my goodness!

patience on a monument. An extremely patient and long-suffering person: coll.: from ca. 1890. Henley & Stevenson, 1892, use it as an adj. Prob. ex the seeming patience of all statues, as seen in the immediate origin, Shakespeare's 'She sat, like Patience on a monument, / Smiling at grief' (W.). Often like ...

Patland. Ireland: C.19–20. Earlier than, for it is the origin of: Patlander. An Irishman: 1820 (Sporting Magazine: OED); ob. Cf. Paddy and Pat, qq.v.

patricio. One of the fifteenth 'rank' of the underworld, a strolling (pseudo-)priest: c.: C.16–20, but ob. by 1820. Harman, B.E., Grose, Ainsworth.—2. Hence, C.17–20 (ob. by 1840), any parson or priest: c. (B.E.) The forms include patriarch-(patriarke-)co, C.16 rare, as in Awdelay; pattinger- or patring-cove, C.16, Copland; pater-cove, late C.17–19 (e.g. in B.E., Grose, and Lytton), patri-cove (A New Canting Dict., 1725), and patter-cove, C.19–20, as in Henley & Stevenson. (A C.18 song spells it patrico-coe.) Prob. ex pater + co(ve).

patrin; incorrectly pateran. 'A gipsy trail, made by throwing down a handful of grass occasionally' (H., 5th ed.): vagrants' c. Whyte-Melville, 1876, in Katerfelto; 1898, Watts-Dunton in Aylwin (OED); an extended use appears in 'I don't see any crosses on the roads or leaves to mark the "patrin"' (Walter Starkie in John o' London's Weekly, 23 June 1934). Ex Romany pat(r)in, a leaf, or (and in C.20 only) a trail-sign. (The Romany for trails is patreni or patrinaw. Smart & Crofton.)

patring-cove. See patricio.

patriotic lance-corporal. An unpaid lance-corporal: army: WW1.

Pats, the. See Princess Pats.

patsy. A dupe, or 'fall guy', q.v.: adopted ex US, later C.20. New Society, editorial, 23 July 1981. Mrs C. Raab: prob. known in Brit. rather earlier. In ca. 1947 the Dundee Repertory Touring Theatre produced The Patsy by Barry Connors (pub. in US, 1925). (With thanks to the University of London American Library.)

patten-ken. A var. (C.20) of padding-ken: see padding-crib. Manchon.

pattens, run on. (Of the tongue) to clatter; go 'nineteen to the dozen': ca. 1550–1620. (Udall; (?)Shakespeare.) Ex the noise made by dogs.

patter, n. Any secret or technical language: S.E. (says OED; but prob. orig. c.) of mid-C.18–20. Cf. gammon and patter and flash the patter, qq.v. Ex S.E. patter, to talk rapidly or glibly.—2. A cheapjack's oratory; 'jaw'; speechifying: from ca. 1780; c. >, ca. 1840, s. Parker, Vaux, Mayhew.—3. Hence, mere talk; gabble: coll.: 1858, Gen. P. Thompson, 'A patter ... about religion' (OED).—4. A judge's summing-up; a trial: c. or low s.: 1857 ('Ducange Anglicus'). But stand, occ. be in for, the patter, meant 'to stand for trial' in c., from early C.19. (Vaux, Haggart.) See also in for patter.—5. The words of a song, a play, etc.: coll.: from ca. 1875. J.A. Fuller-Maitland, 1880, 'Mozart and many other composers often introduce bits of "patter" into buffo solos' (OED).—6. A piece of street literature: low:—1889 (Answers, 11 May). Ex sense 2 or 5, or perhaps ex patterer, 3.—7. Food: Aus. pidgin: 1855 (John Long, The Forger's Wife). See v., 5.

patter, v. To talk, speak, esp. as a cheapjack or a conjurer:

pedlars' s.:—1851 (Mayhew). Ex.—2. To talk the secret language of the underworld: c.: from ca. 1780. (Parker, View of Society.) For derivation, see:—3. To speak (some language): c.: 1812 (Vaux). Esp. in patter flash, q.v. Ex S.E. patter, C.15–20, to talk glibly, rapidly.—4. To try (a person) in a court of justice: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux.—5. V.t., to eat: Aus. pidgin English: 1833, Sturt, 'He himself did not patter... any of it'; ob. App. ex an Aboriginal dialect. Morris. See also n., 7.

patter-cove. See patricio.

patter-crib. A lodging-house, or an inn, frequented by the underworld: c.: from ca. 1830. (H., 3rd ed.) See patter, n., 1, and crib, n. patter flash. To talk; also to talk s. or c.: c. (—1812) >, ca. 1860, low s. (Vaux.) Cf. patter, v., 2, and flash the patter.

patter Romany. To talk Romany: low: C.19–20. (Vaux; Ainsworth.) Cf. rock, v.

patteran. Incorrect, but in C.20 common, form of patrin, q.v.

patterer. One who speaks c., low s., or Romany: 1849 (Ainsworth: OED): c. rapidly > low s. > s. >, by 1900, coll. Ex patter, v., 2.—2. Whence, one who 'speechifies', esp. a cheapjack: s. (—1851) >, ca. 1890, low coll. Mayhew.—3. A vendor of broadsides, etc.: from ca. 1850; ob. by 1880: s. >, ca. 1870, low coll. Esp. running patterer (cf. flying stationer, q.v.), one always on the move, and standing patterer, one selling from a pitch. (Mayhew.) Cf. patter, n., 6.—4. See humbox-patterer.

pattering, vbl n. The pert or vague replies of servants: coll.: from ca. 1690; ob. by 1880, † by 1930. (B.E., Grose.) Ex patter, to talk glibly.—2. Talk intended to interest a prospective victim: c. or low s.: 1785 (Grose).

pattering-cove. See patricio.

patern. 'A common vulgar phrase for "patent"' (H., 3rd ed.): sol.: from ca. 1850.—2. Delightful; brilliant: Anglo-Irish: late C.19–20. Ware derives it thus: pattern fair ex patron fair, i.e. patron saint's fair.

pauca! Speak little!; say nothing: (?)c.: late C.16–17. (Baumann.) I.e., L. pauca verba, few words.

paul. See pawl.

Paul, rob Peter to pay. See Peter to pay Paul.

Paul Pry. A 'giant searchlight': WW2. Berrey, 1940.

pauler. See pawler.

Paulite. A Boer: military coll. in Boer War. (J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902.) Ex Paul (Kruger). Cf. Pauly, q.v.

Pauls. See milks.

Paul's, old as. See old as Charing Cross.

Paul's (or Westminster) for a wife, go to. To go whoring: coll.: late C.16–18. Shakespeare (implied: 2 Henry IV, I, ii, 58); Ray. Old St Paul's was a resort of loungers and worse (cf. S.E. Paul's men, walkers, loungers).

Paul's pigeon. (Gen. pl.) A pupil at St Paul's School, London: from ca. 1550. Fuller. OED.

Paul's (steeple), old as. See old as Charing Cross.

Paul's work. A bungled job; a 'mess': coll.: C.17. Dekker, 'And when he had done, made Poules work of it' (OED). Alas for the 8th ed. of this Dict.: Paul Beale.

Pauly. (Gen. pl.) A follower of Paul Kruger; a Boer: mostly journalists': 1899–1900. Ware.

paunch. To eat: coll.: C.17. Cf. equivalent pouch and Scots paunch, swallow greedily.—2. In join paunches, to copulate: see join giblets.

paup along. Bravely to make ends meet: middle and upper classes': ca. 1880–1920. (Edward Burke, Bachelor's Buttons, 1912.) By back-formation ex pauper.

Pauper's Grave, the; the Morgue. The smaller-print, brief reviews at back of The TLS: the world of books: resp. since ca. 1925 and 1920. There was, ca. 1920–40, a var.: the Paupers' burial-ground, as in Vera Britain, Testament of Youth, 1933.

Pav, the. The London Pavilion theatre or music hall: from early 1860s. H., 3rd ed., where also the var., the P.V.; Observer, 1 Apr. 1934. (In 1934 it went over to 'the pictures'.)

Cf. Met, the, q.v.—2. (pav.) A sports pavilion: schoolboys': late C.19–20. Collinson.

paved. In have (one's) mouth paved, to be hard-mouthed: coll.: C.18. Swift, 'How can you drink your Tea so hot? Sure your mouth's pav'd.'

pavement. See across the pavement.—2. In hit the pavement, to be thrown out (of, e.g., a night-club); to be dismissed from one's job: since ca. 1936.—3. In on the pavement, involved in a robbery: c.: later C.20. (Now!, 3 Apr. 1980.) Prob. ex sense 1.

pavement artist. A 'dealer in precious stones who stands about in Hatton Garden' (Charles E. Leach): c.:—1933. Ex S.E. sense.—2. An espionage agent acting as 'leg man'—surveillance and street attendance on a suspect: espionage: since ca. 1945. John Le Carré, The Honourable Schoolboy, 1977.

pavement pusher. A man selling goods on the kerb or anywhere in street or street-market: mostly Londoners': since ca. 1942. (Duncan Webb in Daily Express, 17 Sep. 1945.) Ex push the pavement.

pavement twist. See hard-up, n., 5.

paving-stone. An army issue biscuit: army, other ranks': WW1. Petch cites Boyd Cable, Grapes of Wrath, 1917. Cf. mark four.

pavio(u)r's or pavio(u)r's workshop. The street: ca. 1786–1890. (Grose, 2nd ed.; Baumann.) Ex pavio(u)r, paver, a paving stone, extant in dial. (EDD). P.B.: thus E.P.; but more prob. straight ex S.E. paviour, a layer of paving-stones.

pavy, the; gen. the P. The pavilion: Harrovian: from ca. 1880 (?). (Lunn.) Hence, at certain other Public Schools: C.20.

paw, n. A hand: coll.: from ca. 1590. Chapman, 1605, 'I... layd these pawes/Close on his shoulders'; Dryden; Scott. Joc. ex paw, an animal's foot. See paws off! Also fore paw, the hand; hind paw, the foot: both recorded in 1785 (Grose) and ob.—2. Handwriting, esp. a signature: coll.: C.18—early 20. Ex sense 1.

paw, v. To handle awkwardly, roughly, coarsely, indelicately: coll.: 1604, T.M., 'His palm shall be pawed with pence'; Farquhar; Tennyson. (OED). Extension of S.E. senses.

paw, adj. Improper; scabrous: ca. 1660–1740: s. >, ca. 1720, coll. Davenant, 'A paw-word'—a stock phrase (gen. unhyphenated); Cibber. 'App. a variant of pah, "nasty, improper, unbecoming", adj. use of pah', interj.: OED. Cf. paw-paw.

paw-case. A glove: low:—1864; very ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex paw, n., q.v. Cf. hind paws, q.v., and trotter-case, a shoe.

paw-paw. Naughty; esp. improper; from ca. 1720 (SOD): s. >, ca. 1820, coll.; ob. by 1930. Grose, 2nd ed., 'An expression used by nurses, &c., to children'. Ex paw, adj.

paw-paw tricks. Naughty tricks: nursery s. > coll.: from ca. 1785. Grose, 2nd ed.—Whence, 2, masturbation: low: C.19–20. (F. & H.) Ex prec. and by a pun.

paw-pawness. Nastiness, impropriety: coll.: 1828 (OED); ob. Ex paw-paw, q.v.

pawked-up stuff. Bad horses or dogs; poor horsemen: sporting:—1909 (Ware). Ex Scot. (and Northern dial.) pawk, a trick, an artifice.

pawl. To check, stop, baffle: nautical coll.: from ca. 1820. Ex S.E. pawl, to secure or stop by means of a pawl.—2. V.i., to cease, esp. talking: nautical coll.:—1867. Ex sense 1. Also spelt pall, q.v., and, as in Smyth, pawl. (Esp. pawl there!, stop arguing!)

pawl my capstan! You. You're too good for me! RN: late C.19–20; ob. (Ware.) Cf. pawl, 1, and—pawler. An unanswerable objection; a final argument: nautical coll. Moe cites W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 54), 1829, where it is spelt pawler. See pawl, 1.—2. Hence, 'something very puzzling; a poser': id. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at I, 206 (Moe).

pawn, n. A pawnbroker: s. or low coll.: 1851 (Mayhew); ob. by 1930. (OED.) By abbr.

pawn, v. To slip away from (a person) and leave him to pay the reckoning: low (prob. orig. c.): ca. 1670–1750. Head, B.E.—2. In error for palm: from ca. 1785. Marryat, 1832, 'Pawnd them off on me' (OED).

pawnee, pawny. See parnee.

paws off! Addressed, e.g., to 'children picking the icing off a cake' (Camilla Raab); domestic coll.: C.20. Cf.:—2. Paws off (Pompey), don't paw me about! lower classes' c.p.:—1923 (Manchon). As though one were talking to a dog so named, though there may have been influence by the sailors at Pompey (Portsmouth), as Patricia Newnham has suggested.

pax. A friend: from ca. 1780: mostly Public Schools'. At first in good pax. 'Winchester' Wrench explains, rightly I think, as a pl of pack, though L. pax is clearly operative. Bentham, 1781, 'We may perhaps be good pax.' Hence, make pax, to form a friendship: Public Schools': from ca. 1840.—2. 'Then the pax rang in the rumpus room—pax being jargon for "internal phone"' (John Le Carré, The Honourable Schoolboy, 1977): espionage: since mid-C.20.

pax! Silence! truce! schoolboys':—1852. Kipling, in Stalky & Co., 1899, 'Pax, Turkey. I'm an ass.' Ex L. pax, peace. (OED.) An elab., from ca. 1860, is have pax!

pax on (it!, him!, etc.). Confound it!, etc.: low coll.: ca. 1640–1730. Brome, 'Pax o'your fine Thing'; Addison. Corrupted pox, q.v. OED.

paxwax; occ. pax-wax, packwax. The nuchal (nape of the neck) ligament: from late M.E.: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. and dial. A C.19–20 var. is paxy-waxy; a late C.17–early 18 one is fixfax, which is a sol. (OED).—2. The penis: C.19–early 20.

pay, n. A paymaster: RN: coll.: late C.19–20. In address, in Musings, 1912, p. 69, and in 'Taffrail', passim. Abbr. pay(-)bob (or solid, as in 'Taffrail').—2. In be good (etc.) pay, to be sure to discharge one's obligations, esp. one's debts: coll.: 1727, Gay, 'No man is better pay than I am' (OED); ob. by 1930.

pay, v. To beat, punish: from ca. 1580: S.E. until ca. 1750, then coll.; from ca. 1820, s. and dial. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. pay over ... , pay you ... and pay out, qq.v.—2. To deliver (e.g. a letter): Anglo-Chinese coll.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.).—3. In what's to pay?, what's the matter?, trouble?: coll.: C.19–mid-20. Ex lit. sense.—4. See devil to pay ...

pay away. To proceed; continue (v.i.), the v.t. form being pay it away. Coll.: 1670, Eachard (of talking); in C.19–20, mainly nautical. Cf. pay it out!, q.v.—2. To fight manfully: mainly nautical s. (—1785) >, ca. 1850, coll.; ob. Grose.—3. To eat voraciously: mainly nautical:—1785 (Grose); almost † by 1935.

pay (one's) bills (or debts) with the (fag-end of the) fore-topsail. To go to sea without paying one's debts: naval seamen's: late C.18–early 20. Moe cites L.L.G., 6 Dec. 1823 for the longer version; Bowen notes the shorter. The army version was pay with the drum. Grose, ca. 1785, has simple ... topsail, and adds, 'So soldiers are said to pay off their scores with the drum; that is, by marching away.'

pay-bob. See pay, n.

pay dirt. See hit pay dirt, strike it rich.

pay (one's) corner. To pay one's share, esp. for drink: mostly N. Country: late C.19–20. W. Sorley Brown, T.W.H. Crostrand, 1928.

pay down. 'To send all heavy weights below': nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

pay for (one's) whistle. To pay excessively for one's fancy or whim: proletarian: later C.19–early 20. B. & L.

pay into. To 'pitch into', to strike or punch vigorously: (low) coll.:—1887 (Baumann). Cf. pay, v., 1.

pay it out! Keep on talking!: nautical:—1887. Besant, 'Pay it out. [I don't care]—not ... a rope's yarn.' Ex paying out a rope.—2. (Not as exclam.) To exaggerate: RN: late C.19–20. John Laffin, Jack Tar, 1969.

pay-off, n. Punishment; settlement for infringing the rules of the underworld: c.: C.20. John G. Brandon's novel, The One-Minute Murder, 1934.—2. Hence, the final settlement: Services': adopted, 1943, ex US; by 1950, fairly gen. civilian s.

pay off, v. To throw (a thing) away: RN: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex paying off a crew.—2. (Of plans, ventures, attempts) to prove successful: Can. since ca. 1940; Eng. and pay-off Gieves. 'It is an old Wardroom "crack" that anyone starting a sweepstake or a subscription does so in order to pay his outfitters ... Gieves' (Granville): C.20.

Aus. since ca. 1950. 'I put in for extended leave, but it didn't pay off' (Leechman). Ex gold-mining?

pay-off line. A printed form that a man receives on being paid off; he signs it as a receipt: Public Works':—1935. See line, n., 6.

Pay-off Wednesday. A schoolboys' term (—1864; ob.) for the Wednesday before Advent. H., 3rd ed., cites also Crib-Crust Monday and Tug-Mutton Tuesday.

pay on. To pay cash (for a bet): turf s. verging on coll.: C.20.

pay out. See pay it out.—2. To give (a person) his deserts: coll.: 1863, Cowden Clarke, 'They, in return, (as the vulgar phrase has it,) "pay him out"' OED.—3. See paying out.

pay out the slack of (one's) gammon. To relate (too) many stories: low:—1887. Baumann. Prob. nautical at first.

pay over face and eyes, as the cat did the monkey. To give a terrible beating about the head: a low c.p. (—1860); ob. H., 2nd ed. Ex pay you as Paul paid the Ephesians, q.v.

pay (one's) relief. See TAVERN TERMS, §9, in Appendix.

pay the bearer. (Gen. as vbl n.) To cash a cheque against non-existent funds: bank-stake; late C.19–20. Cf. cash a dog.

pay the earth. To pay excessively: coll.: since ca. 1925.

pay the piper (occ. fiddler). To pay the bill, lit. and fig.: 1681 (Flatman: OED); Congreve; Smollett; Brougham; Carlyle: coll. till C.19, then S.E. pay the price of Admiralty. See price ...

pay the shot. To pay the bill: C.16–20: S.E. till C.19, then coll.; ob. Hackwood, Old English Sports, 1907, '[They] called for their ale ... and ... expected the losers "to pay the shot"'.

Apperson.—2. V.i. and t. To coit (with a woman): coll.: C.17–19. F. & H. quotes two C.17 broadside ballads. Ex sense 1.

pay the water-bill. See going to pay ...

pay up and look pretty, occ. big. Gracefully to accept the inevitable: 1894, Sala (pretty); big is very, pretty slightly ob. Cf. sit pretty. P.B.: since mid-C.20 a slightly different and more lit. nuance has arisen: the phrase is used, e.g., as a humorous invitation to take a ticket in a raffle, to subscribe something at a collection of small money, etc., when it has > an ironic c.p. Sometimes as rueful comment by the donor, 'Oh well, pay up and look big, I suppose.' Cf. last of the big-time spenders.

pay with a hook. To steal: Aus. c.: from ca. 1870. Brunton Stephens, in My Chinese Cook, 1873, 'You bought them? Ah, I fear me, John, /You paid them with a hook.' ?ex hook, to steal.

pay with pen-powder. To write fair promises but fail to pay: semi-proverbial coll.: ca. 1630–80. John Clarke, 1639. (Apperson.)

pay (or pay debts) with the fore-topsail. See pay (one's) bills ...

pay you as Paul paid the Ephesians, I will. Explained by the part gen. added: over the face and eyes and all the damned jaws. A low c.p.: ca. 1780–1850. (Grose.) An elab. of pay, v., 1. See also pay over face ...

paybob. See pay, n., 1.

paybook. In, e.g., he's been looking in your paybook!, a Forces' c.p., WW2+, in ref. to a third person's imputation of illegitimacy or other sexual irregularity. A Serviceman's paybook recorded many intimate details. (L.A.)

paying out. (Vbl n.; as v., very rare.) The use, esp. by an officer, of very forcible language, gen. in fault-finding; a leg-pull exercised on a young soldier, e.g. 'telling him to go and wash the last post': military: C.20. (B. & P.) Cf. pay into and pay it out.

payola. Money: adopted, 1961, ex US, but already by end of 1964, slightly ob. and, by 1966, virtually †. Ex pay + -ola, a common, fanciful American s. suffix of Italian and Spanish origin (W. & F.). Soon predominantly with the implication of 'dirty' money, from some racket: extortion, protection money, etc., and in this nuance perhaps still, early 1980s, not quite † (Mrs C. Raab).

pazoo. Var. of Aus. razoo: since ca. 1930. B., 1942.

pea. The favourite; one's choice: low; in C.20 mainly Aus. (Wilkes) from later C.19. Sporting Life, 11 Dec. 1888, 'Sweeney forced the fighting, and was still the pea when "Time!" was called'; ob. Ex this is the pea I choose in thimble-rigging.—2. The head: c.: from ca. 1840; ob. ('No. 747'.) Prob. ex pea-nut: cf. the relevant sense of nut.—3. A horse ridden to win, esp. in a field of doubtfuls: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1920. B., 1953.—4. See sweet pea. pea-ballast. Gravel that will pass through holes of half an inch (or less): Public Works' coll.: C.20. Prob. suggested by S.E. peas, coals of a small size.

Pea-Bellies. Nickname for Lowestoft fishermen: nautical: C.20. (D. Butcher, Driftermen, 1979, glossary.) Cf. bean-belly.

pea-dodger. A bowler hat: Aus.:—1935. Cf. hard-hitter.

pea in a colander, like a Flustered, agitated, jumpy: Services: C.20. H. & P., 'Running round in small circles.' Just as common in the Services, who took it from civilians, is the late C.19–20 low like a fart in a bottle, with which cf. in and out like a fart in a colander (mid-C.19–20), used to describe restless and aimless movement. A Services' var. (since ca. 1920 at latest: probably since ca. 1890): rushing round like a fart in a colander—doesn't know which hole to come out. It had also, early C.20, the var. like a pea in a rattle, whence, 'heard early 1940s, in a state of rattle and pea, occ. with an implied pun on pee, i.e. agitated to the point of incontinence' (R.S., 1976). Whereas the former has survived, the latter seems to have disappeared (E.P., 1977.) pea-man or -rigger. See thimble-rigger.

pea-picker. A punter investing only very small sums: bookmakers': since ca. 1972. A pun on p for 'pence' and peanuts for 'small cash' (cf. that ain't peanuts)—and on pick, to choose.

pea-shooter. A rifle: Army's joc. irony: C.20; esp. in 1914–18. Cf. sense 3.—2. A pea-shooter, says Berrey, is 'a pursuit 'plane' (a fighter). No; it is a machine-gun, or a light-calibred cannon on an aircraft (esp. if British): H. & P., 1943. Dating from 1939. By meiosis.—3. Also, a revolver: RAF: since mid-1940. (E.P. in New Statesman, 19 Sep. 1942.) But the term has existed in Aus. since ca. 1900 (Alex. Macdonald, In the Land of Pearl and Gold, 1907, p. 247).

pea-soup. A French-Canadian: Can.: late C.19–20. Ex the frequency of that dish on French-Canadian tables: late C.19–20. John Beames.—2. Hence, talk pea-soup, to talk French-Canadian; loosely, French: C.20. Ibid.

pea-souper. A dense yellowish fog: coll.: 1890 (J. Payn: OED Sup.). Ex the next.

pea-soupy. (Esp. of a dense, yellowish fog) resembling pea-soup: coll.: 1860 (OED).

pea-whacker. A nautical var. (late C.19–20) of pea-souper, q.v.

Peabody. A 'block of houses built under the Peabody Bequest to the poor of London': lower-classes' coll.:—1909; ob. Ware.

peace. See piece; no rest for the wicked.

peace-time soldier. One who, in the army, does the same work as he would do in civilian life: military: since ca. 1920. H. & P.—2. But also, in the predominantly civilian army of 1939–45, a Regular soldier. (P-G-R.) Hence, peace-time soldiering, being in the Regular Army when there is no major war being fought (P.B.). See quoin at Queen's Pets.

peacemaker; matrimonial peacemaker. See matrimonial peacemaker.—As a pistol (Lever, 1841), it is, by the OED, considered—quite rightly, as against F. & H.—to be joc. S.E. Peacemakers, the. The Bedfordshire Regiment, formerly the 16th Foot: military; ob. From ca. 1890. From Surinam, 1804, to Chitral, 1895, they missed active service. But see Yellow Devils.

peacer. See real peacer.

peach. A detective; esp. one employed by omnibus, and formerly by stage-coach, proprietors to check receipts: from ca. 1835; ob. F. & H.—2. An attractive girl or (gen., young) woman: orig. (1870s), US; anglicised before 1889. (B. & L.) Gen. a regular peach or a peach of a girl. Occ. (mostly US) a peach from Peachville: C.20. Cf. daisy, q.v.

peach, v. As v.t., it is S.E. = † to impeach; extant when it = to divulge, esp. in peach a word (1883, OED); ob.—2. V.i., to blab: coll.: 1852, Thackeray, 'The soubrette has peached to the amoureux' (OED). Ex:—3. V.i. to inform (against a person); turn informer: late C.16–20: S.E. (as in Shakespeare) in C.16–17; coll. in C.18—mid-19 (as in Fielding, Hughes); s. in mid-C.19–20. Either absolute or with against or (up)on. Aphetic form of a-peche, to appeach (OED). Cf. blow the gaff, put away, snitch, squeal, squeak, tip the wink, whiddle, qq.v.

peach-house. In WW1 and for some time afterwards at least, the Admiralty used to be known as The Peach-House on account of the remarkably high level of attractiveness of the girl clerks employed there.

peach-perch. The pillion-seat of a (young) man's motorcycle, esp. when used to transport a girl-friend: motorcyclists': 1935. Ex peach, n., 2. Cf. earlier synon. flapper-bracket.

peacharino, -erino. An elab. of peach, n., 2: US (ca. 1907), partly anglicised in 1918.

peaching, vbl n. Giving of information against a person: turning or being an informer: mid-C.15–20: S.E. until C.18, then coll. till C.20, when s.

peaching, ppl adj. See prec. C.17–20: S.E. till C.18, then coll. till C.20, when s. and ob. Moore, 1818, 'The useful peaching rat' (OED).

peachy. Very pleasant: adopted, ex US, ca. 1925. OED Sup.; Daily Telegraph mag., 14 July 1972 (R.S.).—2. See peechy.

peacock, n. A horse with a showy action: racing coll.: 1869. Cf. peacock-horse.

peacock, v. To pay (esp. on ladies and gen. brief) morning calls, at which beer was served: Anglo-Indian: from ca. 1850; ob. (Graphic, 17 Mar. 1883.) Prob. ex the spotless clothes worn by the visitors.—2. V.t. and i., to buy up the choicest land so as to render adjoining territory useless to others: Aus.: from ca. 1890; ob. Ex picking out the 'eyes' of the land: punning the ocelli on a peacock's feathers. Cf. peacocking, q.v.—3. Hence, to outwit, be too smart for (someone): since ca. 1910. B., 1942.

peacock-engine. 'A locomotive with a separate tender for coals and water' (F. & H.): railway: later-C.19—early 20. (B. & L.) Ex the ornamental tail of bird and engine.

peacock horse. A horse with showy mane and tail, and with a fine action: undertakers' coll.:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.). Cf. peacock, n.

peacocking. The practice mentioned in peacock, v., 2, q.v.,—than which it is much commoner. 1894, W. Epps, Land Systems of Australasia. Morris.

peacocking business. A formal, esp. a ceremonial, parade: military: 1870 (Daily News, 19 Apr.: OED). Ex the gorgeous display of a peacock.

Peacocks, the. Leeds United Football Club: sporting: C.20. Ex a well-known Leeds United man.

peacock's tail, the. Euclid, Bk III, proposition 8: C.16 coll. Ex the figure. OED.

peadoo. Pea soup: RN lowerdeck: late C.19—mid-20. Knock.

peak, lace: c. (the OED, however, considers it S.E.): mid-C.17—early 19. (Coles, 1676; B.E. Grose.) Ex S.E. peak, a lace ruff.—2. The nose: low: C.19—early 20.—3. In send a wife to the (devil's) arse-a-peak, to send a woman about her business when she proves vexing: ca. 1663–5. (Pepys, Diary, 19 Jan. 1663.) Ex a courtier's wife being sent home to the Peak in Derbyshire. (Apperson.) N.B., the devil's arse-a-, or in the, Peak, earlier Peak's arse, is the Peak Cavern (OED).

peak the flukes. To go to bed: nautical: mid-C.19–20. Ex a whale's peaking the flukes, i.e. going under. Var. turn the flukes. OED.

peaked. Sickly-looking; pinched, thin, esp. from illness: from ca. 1830: mostly coll. till ca. 1920, then always S.E. Ex sharpness of features.

peaked-cap. A police inspector: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

peaking, n. Remnants of cloth: drapers, cloth-warehousemen, from ca. 1859. (H., 1st ed.) Presumably related to peak, to dwindle. Cf. cabbage, makings, qq.v.—2. Any behaviour unworthy of a courageous person; e.g. a facile complaint or 'bellyaching' or yelling if you're hurt: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. (Kylie Tennant, The Honey Flow, 1956.) Ex the E. dial. peak, to squeak like a mouse; echoic.

peakish. Rather, thin, pinched, sickly: from ca. 1835: coll. and dial. Perhaps ex peaked.

peaky, peeky. Feeble, puny, sickly: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1850. Ruskin, 'A poor peeky, little sprouting crocus' (OED). Suggested by peaked, q.v.

peaky (occ. peeky)-blinder. A railwayman from Birmingham: railwaymen's: late C.19—early 20. Ex the peaked caps worn by Birmingham 'toughs': cf. the entry in the EDD.

peakyish. Rather 'peaky', q.v.: coll.: 1853 ('Cuthbert Bede': OED); ob. by 1930. Cf. peakish.

peal. The peal of the chapel bell: Winchester College: from ca. 1840: coll. > j. > S.E. Mansfield.—2. 'A custom in Commoners of singing out comments on Præfects at Cloister-time' (F. & H.): Winchester: mid-C.19—20; ob.—3. Ibid., same period, ob.: 'Cheers given on the last three Sundays of the Half for articles of dress, etc., connected with going home' (F. & H.).—4. See ring a peal.

pealer. C.19. var. (incorrect) of peeler, q.v., a policeman.

peam(e)y. A seller of peas: ca. 1820—70. (Sessions, 1833.) A blend of 'pea-merchant'.

peanut alley; p. gallery; p. row. The front row of stalls in a cinema: Aus. urban juvenile: since ca. 1945. (B., 1953.) The 1st and the 2nd were adopted ex US—more prob. ca. 1944, ex American servicemen (Claiborne). From a gallery, the occupants could throw peanut shells on to those of ground-floor seats; cf. WW2 bomb alley for any heavily bombed area.

peanuts. A (very) small sum of money; a trifle: Aus., since ca. 1930 (not necessarily ex US); Brit. since ca. 1950 (prob. ex US). (Morris West, Gallows on the Sand, 1956.) Any striker, later C.20, 'I'm fed up with working for peanuts'; cf. synon. shirt-buttons.

peanutter. 'A person who grows peanuts' (B., 1959): Aus. coll.: C.20.

pear. To appear: C.14—20; S.E. till C.18, then coll. and dial. Gen. 'pear.—2. To obtain money from both sides, e.g. from police for information, from underworld for a warning: c.: from ca. 1850; † by 1915. Ex pear-making, q.v.

pear-drop. An aerial bomb: airmen: WW1. (William McFee, North of Suez, 1930.) Ex shape resembling that of the sweet so named.

pear-making. To take bounties from more regts than one: c.: ca. 1810—60. (Lex. Bal.) ?the making of pairs, double-crossing.

pearl. Ale: RN: ?ca. 1800—90. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at II, 59, 'A pint o' pearl, a glass o' grog'. (Moe.)—2. (Also pearlies.) Aus. var. of purl, purler. Baker.

pearl-diver. An assistant-pantryman in charge of the washing of the saloon crockery: Western Ocean nautical >, by 1930, fairly gen. in proletarian s.: C.20. Bowen.

pearl in a hail-storm, like a. Impossible to find: non-aristocratic coll.:—1887; slightly ob. Baumann.

pearl on the nail, make a. To drink: coll.: C.17—18. (Ray.) Ex the (late C.16+) lit. sense, to drop the moisture remaining in a cup, glass, etc., on to one's nail—a drinking custom recorded by Nashe. Cf. supernaculum, q.v.

pearlies. (The singular hardly exists.) Pearl buttons, esp. on a coster's clothes: from ca. 1885: low coll. Henley.—2. Hence (fairly gen. in singular), costermongers: low coll.: C.20.—3. Teeth: proletarian: late C.19—20. W.L. George, The Making of an Englishman, 1914.

pearling, adj. and n. 'Allowing the nose of the surfboard to slip under' (Pix, 28 Sep. 1963): Aus. surfers': since ca. 1961. Perhaps because, as Claiborne points out, a surfer doing this emulates a pearl-diver; but perhaps influenced by purler, a heavy fall.

Peary. 'Inevitable' nickname for a man surnamed Gates: earlier C.20. (Petch, 1974.)

pearly ace. See ace, adj.

peas. Abbr. peas in the pot: from 1895, says Ware.—2. See like as two peas.

peas and cues. See p's and q's.

peas in the pot. Apt to be amorous: low London rhyming s. on hot: from ca. 1890. Ware. See also peas.—2. Also, hot in the gen. sense. (B. & P.) Jack Jones, editor of Rhyming Cockney Slang, 1971, illustrates usage with 'It's a bit peasy in 'ere.'

peasant. (Usu. pl.) One who is in the ranks, esp. an aircraftman: RAF and R Aus. AF joc.: WW2. B., 1943.—2. Hence, in civilian life, one of a social position lower than one's own; joc., of a equal displaying 'uncouth' qualities: since WW2. Cf. US use of Sp. paisano.

peasants are revolting, the. C.p. applied, e.g., to junior ranks in the Services, grumbling, or, in a school or college, by the staff to the students; joc. coll.: since mid-C.20. A pun on the ambiguity of revolting. (P.B.)

pease-field, go into the. To fall asleep: coll.: ca. 1670—1800. (Ray.) A semi-proverbial pun on peace. Cf. Bedfordshire, q.v.

pease-kill, make a. (V.t. with of.) To squander lavishly: Scots coll.: C.18—20. Likewise, a pease-kill is a very profitable matter. Jamieson; EDD.

peasy. See peas in the pot, 2.

peb. Abbr. pebble, 1, in Dennis's sense. First recorded by Dennis, 1916.

pebble. A person or animal difficult to handle: Aus.: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. 'Boldrewood', 1890, 'A regular pebble' (OED). From ca. 1905, it has, esp. in the big towns, meant rather 'a flash fellow; a "larrikin"' (C.J. Dennis, 1916). Ex his 'hard-boiled' ways (cf. hard nut). Also peb, q.v.—2. A familiar term of address: ca. 1840—60. (Moncrieff, The Scamps of London, 1843.) Occ. pebbles.—3. See game as a pebble.

pebble-beach, v. To clean out of money: ca. 1885—1905. (Marshall in 'Pomes'). See pebbly...

pebble on the beach, not the only. (Of persons) not the sole desirable or remarkable one available, accessible, potential: semi-proverbial coll.: C.20. Lyell. Cf. the proverbial there's plenty other (or there are as good) fish in the sea, often used, in consolation, to one who has been unlucky in love, jilted.—2. In (remember) you're not the only...: there are plenty of other people equally as deserving as yourself: id. (P.B.)

pebbles. The human testicles: low: C.19—early 20. Suggested by stones.—2. See pebble, 2.

pebbly beach, land on or sight a. To be very short of money; faced with ruin: ca. 1885—1905. Marshall in his 'Pomes' (sight a...). Cf.:

pebbly-beached. Penniless—or nearly so. Ca. 1885—1905. Ex stony-broke.

pec. Money; Eton College: C.19. Ex L. pecunia. H., 3rd ed.—2. A pectoral muscle: body-builders': later C.20. '[The body-builders] drop on to one knee and pop out their pecs' (New Society, 4 June 1981: P.B.).

peck; in C.16—mid-17, occ. pek, n. Food; 'grub': from ca. 1565: c. until C.19, then low s. (Harman, Jonson, Centlivre, Moncrieff.) Hence, off (one's) peck, off one's appetite: c.: C.18—19. Cf. peckish, peckish. Ex the v.—2. A business or concern, as 'a racing peck' (P.H. Emerson, Signor Lippo, 1893): low: ca. 1870—1910. Perhaps ex sense 1, or its use in combinations: see next entry after the v.

peck, v.i. and v.t. To eat: mid-C.16—20: c. until C.19, then s. till ca. 1860, then coll. Copland; Egan; Dickens, 'I can peck as well as most men.' Ex a bird's pecking; ?cf., however, Welsh gipsy pek, to bake or roast.—2. To pitch forward; (esp. of a horse) to stumble: coll. (mid-C.19—20) and dial.: from ca. 1770. Ex † S.E. v.i. peck, to incline.—3. To attack and break away quickly' (Jackson): RAF: 1939+.

peck combinations, peck being the second member:—gere-peck, a turd, C.17—19; grunting-peck, pork, C.17—20, ob.; ruff-peck, bacon, C.17—19; rum-peck, good eating, an excellent meal. Cf. cheat, q.v.

peck-alley. The throat: low: C.19—20. Ex peck, n., q.v. H., 3rd ed.

peck and booze or tipple. Meat and drink: low (booze orig. c.): C.18–20, the former; C.19–20, the latter. Mrs Delany, 1732 (OED). Cf. bub and grub and-peck and perch. Food and lodging: low (?orig. c.): 1828 (OED); ob. by 1935.

peck-kidg. See peckidge.

peckage; occ. peckidge. Food; food-supply: c.: C.17–18. (Rowlands, B.E.) Ex peck, n. and v., 1.

pecker. The appetite: mid-C.19–20. Ex peck, v., 1. Possibly ex the next sense.—2. Resolution, courage: 1848 (SOD); 'Cuthbert Bede', 1853, 'Keep up your pecker, old fellow.' Perhaps pecker implicitly = beak (hence, head), app. ex the alert sparrow (W.).—3. (With an adj.) an eater, esp. a good or rare pecker: from ca. 1860. Ex peck, v., 1.—4. The penis: low: C.19–20. Orig. US; also widespread use in Can.

Peckham. Have a holiday at Peckham is C.19 coll. for 'to go without a meal', and comes from the saying it is all holiday at Peckham, or, allusively, it is all holiday with him: it is all over with him: coll.: ca. 1790–1910. Punning on peck, food, and peckish, hungry. Contrast:—2. In go to Peckham, to go to, sit down to, a meal: joc. coll.: C.19. Bee, 1823; Halliwell.—3. Short for:-

Peckham Rye. Tie (n. and v.): rhyming s.: C.20. (F. & G.) In later C.20, usu. a necktie (Jack Jones; Ronnie Barker).

peckidge. See peckage. B.E.'s spelling; Coles has peck-kidg.

peckish. Hungry: 1785 (Grose): in C.18, perhaps c.: C.19, (orig. low) s.; C.20, coll. George Moore, 1894, 'I feel a bit peckish, don't you?' Ex peck, n.

pecky. Choppy (sea, as in Blackmore); (of a horse) inclined to stumble. Coll.: from ca. 1860, though unrecorded before 1864.—2. (Esp. of kisses) like a bird's peck: coll.: 1886, F.C. Philips, 'Flabby, pecky kisses'. OED.

pecnoster. The penis: low: C.19—early 20. Ex pecker, 4; punning paternoster.

peculiar. A mistress: coll.: late C.17–19. (B.E., who wrongly classifies as c.; Baumann.) Ex the S.E. sense of the adj.: private. (As = wife, it is S.E.)—2. A member of the 'Evangelical' party, ca. 1837–8; coll. nickname at Oxford. Newman. OED.—3. (Of a bowled ball) odd; peculiar to the bowler: cricket coll.: 1864; very ob. Lewis. (Gen. pl.) peculiar. Mentally deranged: coll.: C.20. Ex S.E. sense, strange (1888, OED).

peculiarly. More than usually: coll.: from ca. 1890. Helen Harris, 1891, 'The Arabs regard the spot as peculiarly sacred' (OED). By confusion with S.E. particularly, very.

ped. A professional runner, walker: 1863 (anon., Tyneside Songs: OED). Abbr. pedestrian.

pedal, v. To send (a message) by wireless transceiver: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1936. Ex the obligatory pedalling on the generator pedals. Tom Ronan, Vision Splendid, 1954.

pedal; get the pedal or be pedalled. To dismiss—to get oneself, or to be, dismissed—from a job: motor and cycle trades: since ca. 1920. Robert Westerby, Wide Boys Never Work, 1937.

pedal-pushers. Three-quarter length, i.e. calf-length, pants suitable for female sportswear: teenagers': adopted, ca. 1962, ex US.

peddle (her) hips. To be a prostitute: since ca. 1920. Valtin, Out of the Night, 1941.

peddler's French. See pedlar's French (peddling French is a rare C.16 var.).

pedestals. The feet: early C.18. See body, in Appendix.

pedestrian digits. The legs: schoolboys': ca. 1890–1910.

pedigree-man. A recidivist (criminal): c.:—1923 (Manchon). The police can trace him back a long way.

Pedlar. The inevitable nickname of men surnamed Palmer: mostly military: late C.19—earlier 20. Ex the medieval palmers or pilgrims. (B. & P.) 'My hero then was "Pedlar" Palmer who'd won the bantam-weight championship of England the year before [i.e. ca. 1896]' (Charles Drage, Two-Gun Cohen, 1954).

pedlar's or peddler's French. Underworld slang: 1530 (Palsgrave): in C.16, c. or low s.; C.17, s.; C.18, coll.; C.19–20, S.E. but long very ob.—2. Hence, any unintelligible jargon: late C.17—early 19: coll. B.E. pedlar's news. Stale news: coll.: C.19. Cf. piper's or tinker's news.

pedlar's pack. Dismissal: rhyming s., on sack: later C.20. (Red Daniells, 1980.)

pedlar's pad, occ. horse, pony. A walking-stick: from ca. 1780: coll. (†) and dial. (ob.). (Grose, 1st ed., p. pony). Cf. Penang lawyer, contrast Shanks's pony, qq.v.

pedlers or peddlers. Light clogs: Liverpool street arabs' (prob. also beggars' and vagrants'): later C.19—early 20. (Arab.) Cognate with S.E. pedlar, peddler.

pedo. A patient with a pedicle: Aus. (Services') hospitals': ca. 1942–6. Dal Stivens, The Courtship of Uncle Henry, 1946.

pee, n. A urination: coll., orig. mostly nursery: C.19–20. Ex the v.—2. Phoneticised p = penny, pee: coll.: since decimalisation of currency in Feb. 1971. E.g., a two-pee piece or bit, twopence; 'that's fifty pee you owe me'. (P.B.)

pee, v. To make water: coll., esp. nursery: 1788, Picken, (of a cat) 'The never pee'd his master's floor.' A softened perversion of piss.

pee and kew. See p and q.

pee-hee, v. To ingratiate oneself with one's superiors: 1939 +; by 1946, ob. (New Statesman, 30 Aug. 1941.) Echoic.

pee-pee, do or have a. Var. of pee: children's coll.; occ. used joc. by adults: late C.19–20. (Manchon.) Cf. synon. pee-wee, v. Cf. also Fr. children's coll. faire pipi.

pee – po – bum – drawers! Childish scatological, as in the chant 'Mum's out, Dad's out. Let's say rude words: pee, po... etc.': earlier C.20. Cf. the more 'advanced' shit, bugger... pee (one)self laughing. To laugh very heartily and/or long: since ca. 1910. (Gerald Kersh, Clean, Bright and Slightly Oiled, 1946.) Also piss... P.B.: in later C.20 often absolute, as 'I nearly pee'd myself' (sc. laughing).

pee-warmer. See piss-warmer.

pee-wee, n. Either sexual organ: nursery: C.19–20. Prob. ex the v., q.v.—2. A small marble: schoolboys': ca. 1880–1910. ?ex its yellowish colour. Also C.20 Aus. (B., 1942).

pee-wee, v. To make water: nursery: C.19–20. An elab. of pee, v.

pee-Willy. An effeminate male: Can.: since ca. 1925. Contrast pig-Willie.

peeble. See phant.

peechy; rarely peachy. Soon; presently: army, coll.: late C.19–20. (F. & G.) Hindustani piche.—2. Hence, behind, both adv. and n. (backside): army: early C.20. 'What are you doing, sitting on your peechy like a char-wallah?'—i.e. idling.—3. (Ex sense 1, and also spelt peechi.) Of a soldier, using a near-approaching release from the army, or at least a posting home, as an excuse for doing very little or no work; 'Can't touch [i.e., affect] me, I'm peechi!': army, esp. in Cyprus: later 1950s. Hence peechy-boy, one in this situation. (P.B.) peek, the. 'The observation cell. "He's in the peek" = he is under observation' (Tempest, 1950); prisons': mid-C.20. Also known as the peep.

peek, v.i. To surrender; give up: army: early C.20. (F. & G.) Prob. peak.

peek-a-boo or peek(-)a (-)Bo. A very sketchy salute: Services': ca. 1938–48. (H. & P.) Cf. synon. nose-scratch.—2. A girl's blouse with perforations: ca. 1880–1914.—3. Any garment made from 'Swiss cotton' (broderie anglaise): Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.)

peeko. A glance; a quick look-about: since ca. 1910. Belton Cobb, No Last Words, 1949.

peeky. See peaky.

peel, n. A policeman: Aus.: since ca. 1920. 'Unless this can be traced back to Mr, later Sir, Robert Peel, it is a shortening of peeler, 3' (B.P.). The latter is the more likely.

peel, v. To undress: v.i., 1785 (Grose).—2. Hence, v.t., to strip, 1820 ('Corcoran' Reynolds). Both pugilistic j. > gen. coll. Ex peeling fruit. Cf. peeled, q.v.

peel (one's) best end. To effect sexual intromission: low: C.19—earlier 20.

peel eggs. To stand on ceremony: s. or low coll.: ca. 1860—1930.

Peel (occ. peele) Garlic. See Pilgarlic.

peel-off, n. Illicit removal of part of a common booty: low s., police s., and underworld: C.20. 'He wanted a lot more. He ... indulged in a little "peel-off"' (Gosling, 1959). Contrast and cf.:

peel off, v. 'To obtain money by a Stock Exchange transaction': financial: from ca. 1860. Ware.—2. To give money; esp. as 'He peeled off one', he gave me a pound: c.: from ca. 1925. I.e. to slip a (currency) note from a wad of notes.—3. To break away, esp. in a dive, from a formation: RAF coll. (since ca. 1925) >, by 1941, j. Ex peeling off one's clothes.

peeled. Naked: coll.: 1820 (OED). See peel, v.—2. In keep (one's) eyes peeled, a synon., adopted ca. 1905, ex US, of keep (one's) eyes skinned, q.v., to keep a sharp look out.

peeler, Peeler. (Cf. bobby, q.v.) A member of the Irish constabulary: 1817, Parliamentary Debates; † by 1860 as a distinct term.—2. Hence, any policeman: 1829 (Blackwood's Magazine): s. > coll. Ex Mr (later Sir) Robert Peel, Secretary for Ireland, 1812—18. OED.—3. One ready to strip for a fight: boxing: 1852 (anon., L'Allegro). Ex peel, q.v.—4. 'Inevitable' nickname of any man surnamed Murphy: Services': late C.19—earlier 20. (Petch.) Perhaps because so many Irishmen join the police (cf. senses 1 and 2), but more likely, as Claiborne suggests, 1966, a possible pun on 'peel a murphy', i.e. a 'spud' or potato.

peelo. A pilot: RAF: ca. 1940—55. (Jackson.) Ex the French pron. of the English pilot; obviously not ex Fr. pilote (as occ. implied).

peenicker pawnee (or -ie). A frequent var. of pinnicky pawnee.

peep, n. A car belonging to a Command H.Q.: Can. Army: ca. 1941—5. Suggested by jeep, 1.—2. A word: mostly spivs': since ca. 1945; adopted ex US (Claiborne). "'One more peep out of you, Mister, and I'll get the boys to push you and your b—stall in the oggin"'—which was a nearby canal' (Picture Post, 2 Jan. 1954, article on young spivs).—3. 'Smaller than a hit-man, bigger than a peep' (Adam Hall, The Cobra Manifesto, 1976): presumably an observer: espionage: later C.20. Cf. the peep, q.v. at peek, the.—4. Hence, the observing itself, as in 'the other two wouldn't have been manning the peep' (Ibid.): id.

peep, v. To sleep: c.: late C.17—mid-18. (B.E.) On sleep.

peep-bo. Bo-peep: coll.: since early C.19. Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe); Dickens, 1837, 'A perpetual game of peep-bo' (OED). Cf. peep-ol, q.v.

peep-by. See peep-by.

peep freak. A voyeur: adopted, ca. 1970, ex US. (Hollander.) Ex synon. S.E. peeping Tom.

peep o' day tree. 'Providential stage machinery', e.g. a tree whereby escapes and/or rescues are effected: theatrical coll.: 1862; ob. (Ware.) Ex such a tree in Peep o' Day, an extremely successful piece produced at the Lyceum Theatre in 1862.

peep-o(h)! (To and by children.) Look at me! Here I am!, esp. as one emerges from hiding: coll.: C.19—20; perhaps centuries earlier.

peeper. A looking-glass: c.: from ca. 1670; ob. by 1930. (Coles, 1676.) Also, as in B.E., peepers. Ex S.E. peep, v.—2. A spy-glass: c.: late C.18—early 19. Grose, 1st ed.—3. An eye: from ca. 1690: c. >, ca. 1750, low s. (B.E.) Gen. in pl. Cf. glaziers, glims, ogles.—4. In pl, spectacles: c.: C.19—early 20. Jamieson.—5. (Almost always pl.) A policeman: c.: late C.19—20. A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, 1908.—6. In single peeper, a one-eyed person: late C.18—mid-19: low, ?orig. c. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. sense 2 of-peepers. See peeper, 1, 4, 5.—2. painted peepers, peepers in mourning: black eyes: C.19—early 20. Egan, 1818, 'Peepers

... taken measure of for a suit of mourning'; H. 1860, 'Painted peepers ...' Pugilistic in origin, mainly such in use. peeping. Drowsy, sleepy: c.: mid-C.17—early 19. (Coles, 1676.) Cf. peepy, q.v.

peeping Tom. An inquisitive person: 1785 (Grose): coll. >, ca. 1850, S.E. Ex the Coventry legend of Lady Godiva.—2. Hence, a pilot that is expert at flying in bad weather and at dodging from cloud to cloud: RAF: since 1939. (H. & P.) His prey is less exciting and much more dangerous than that of Lady Godiva's peeping Tom.

peepsies. The pan-pipes: street-performers' s., almost j.: late C.19—early 20.

peepy. Sleepy: late C.17—20: c. >, ca. 1750, s. >, ca. 1820, coll. (ob.) and dial. (B.E., Grose.) Ex peep, q.v. Cf. peeping, q.v.—2. Given to peeping: coll.: 1898, M.P. Shiel, 'Peepy little bewitching eyes' (OED).

peepy-by, go to. To fall asleep: from ca. 1840. Also go to peep-by: from ca. 1850; ob. Both, coll. and dial. Ex peepy. Cf. sleepy-by!

peer. To make (a man) a peer; ennoble: coll.: 1753 (OED).—2. To be circumspect: c.: late C.18—mid-19. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex peery, adj.

peery, n. (Gen. there's a peery.) A being observed, discovered: c.: late C.18—mid-19. Grose, 1785, 'There's a peery, 'tis snitch, We are observed, there's nothing to be done.' Ex the adj.—2. (Gen. in pl. peeries.) A foot: c., and low: C.20.

peery; occ., in C.17—mid-18, spelt peerie. Sly: c.: late C.17—20; extremely ob. (B.E.) Ex to peer. Cf. leary, q.v.—2. Shy, timid, suspicious: from ca. 1670; slightly ob. in last, † by 1850 in first and second nuance. Coles and B.E. give it as c., OED as S.E.; almost certainly, until mid-C.18, either c. or low s.—3. Hence, inquisitive: from ca. 1810 (ob.): low. Lex. Bal.; H., 2nd ed.

peeter. See peter. Coles's and B.E.'s spelling.

peety. Cheerful: C.18: c., says F. & H., but is it? Perhaps ex peart.

peeve, n. Drink; alcoholic liquor: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) Cf. peever. Perhaps cognate with synon. bevvy, q.v.—2. Peevishness, either in gen. or a particular instance: coll.: since ca. 1930. Ex the v. Hence pet peeve, something especially irritating, as in 'Oh, pay no attention to his whingeing! The iniquities of the unions are his pet peeve at the moment.'

peeve, v.t. To disgruntle; to annoy: from ca. 1920: coll. By back-formation ex:

peeved. Annoyed; cross: 1918 (SOD): coll. Ex peevisht. Perhaps orig. US.

peever. A public house: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) App. neither dial. nor Romany; see also peeve, n., 1.

peevee. See pee-wee.

Peg, peg, n. A drink (esp. of brandy and soda-water): Anglo-Indian: 1860, H., 2nd ed., is app. the earliest record; 1864, Trevelyan, 'According to the favourite derivation, because each draught is a "peg" in your coffin' (OED); actually ex peg as one of the pins in a drinking-vessel.—2. A blow, esp. a straight or a thrusting one: s. and dial.: C.18. James Dalton, A Narrative, 1728, 'I'll take him a Peg in the Face'; Smollett, 1748.—3. A wooden leg: coll.: 1833 (M. Scott: OED).—4. A tooth (esp. a child's): late C.16—20: S.E. till C.19, then dial. and nursery coll. (OED.) P.B.: in C.20 (? much earlier) often toothie-peg.—5. A shilling: orig. Scot c. (1839, Brandon; 1926, Jennings); also Aus. and NZ, earlier C.20.—6. A cricket stump: coll.: 1891 (W.G. Grace; Lewis).—7. A, or the most, telling point in a play: theatrical coll.: 1884. Ware, 'Something upon which the actors, or more probably an actor, can build up a scene'.—8. Abbr. peg-top: children's coll.:—1923 (Manchon).—9. Esp. in 'It's a peg!', it's first-class or -rate: Aus.: from ca. 1930. B., 1943.—10. (Mostly in pl.) A signal: railwaymen's: C.20. Railway.—11. (The sandbars and mudflats) 'have white posts on them, with a bit of tin pointing to deep water ... Well, they're called pegs' (Nino Culotta, Gone Fishin', 1963): Aus.

fishermen's: C.20.—12. (Mostly in pl.) Footrest on a motorcycle: motorcyclists': since ca. 1950. (Dunford.)—13. A look-over; See AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.—14. A watch [? timepiece, or as 13]: Aus.: later C.20. McNeil.—15. In on the peg (or pegs), under arrest; hence put or whip on the peg; to arrest (a person, esp. a soldier): army: late C.19—earlier 20. (Manchon.) See pegs, 1.—16. In on the peg, fined; having had one's pay stopped: id. Ibid.—17. In put in the peg, to stop giving credit: coll. ex dial.: late C.19—20. 'A peg of wood above the latch inside ... effectually locked it' (Dr Bridge: Apperson).—18. In put (oneself) on the peg, to be careful, esp. as to liquor, behaviour, etc.: army: late C.19—early 20. Perhaps ex sense 17. Occ. var. put in the peg and keep the pin in.—19. See old peg; take down a peg; square peg ...

peg, v. (See peg into, peg it, peg it into, peg out, peg up.)—2. To drive: 1819, Moore, 'I first was hir'd to peg a Hack' (i.e. a hackney-coach); ob.—3. (Also with away, off, along) to move, or go, vigorously or hastily: dial. >, ca. 1855, coll. Le Fanu, 1884, 'Down the street I pegged like a madman.'—4. To work persistently, 'hammer' away: coll.: C.19—20. Esp. peg away, q.v., in eating, and peg along, q.v.—5. To tittle: 1874 (H., 5th ed.). Ex peg, n., 1.—6. (Gen. peg up or down.) To copulate, v.t., occ. v.i.: low coll.: from ca. 1850.—7. V.t., to fix the market price of: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1880: s. till ca. 1920, then coll.; S.E. since mid-C.20. Gen. as peg up, 1, q.v.—8. Ex v., sense 3, or the n., 2: to throw: Aus. low: since ca. 1930. Baker, 'As in "peg a gooly", throw a stone.—9. To starve (v.i.): Aus.: late C.19—20. Vance Palmer, The Passage, 1930, 'Damn it! I forgot that mare! She's come a long way, and must be pegging for a drink and a feed.' Ex peg out, to die.—10. To put (someone) on a charge: army: since ca. 1910. (P-G-R.) See peg, n., 15.—11. Hence, 'To put on report' (Home Office): Borstals' and detention centres': later C.20.

peg a hack. See peg, v., 2. 'To mount the box of a hackney coach, drive yourself, and give the Jarvey a holiday': c.: ca. 1820—50. Egan's Grose.

peg along. To 'hammer' away: coll.: mid-C.19—20. See peg, v., 3, and cf. the equivalent:

peg away, v.i.; peg away at, occ. and ob. on. Coll.: from ca. 1825. John L. Gardner, The Military Sketch-Book (II, 21), 1831 (Moe); Dickens, 1837, 'The breakfast. "Peg away, Bob", said Mr. Allen encouragingly' (OED). Ex 'industrious hammering in of pegs' (W.). See prec. entry.

peg down. See peg, v., 6.

peg-house. A public house: low: from ca. 1920. (OED Sup.) Ex peg, n., 1.

peg into. To hit; let drive at: coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex peg it into, q.v., and peg, n., 2.

peg (or nail) (in)to (one's) coffin, add or drive a. To drink hard: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex the old peg-tankards: cf. peg lower and peg too low, qq.v.

peg it. A var., from ca. 1860, of peg, v., 2.—2. Inseparable part of:

peg it into. To hit: 1834, Dowling, 'You peg it into him, and pray don't spare him': coll.; ob. by 1930. Cf. coffin-nail, peg into and peg it, qq.v. See also peg, n., 2.

peg-leg. A person with a wooden leg: (low) coll.: C.19—20. Ex S.E. sense, a wooden leg.

peg-legger. A beggar: Glasgow:—1934. Either rhyming s. or ex prec.—2. Var. of peg-leg: C.20. Bournemouth Echo, 28 Oct. 1943.

peg lower, go a. To drink to excess: coll.: C.19.

peg out. To die: adopted, by 1860, ex US, where current a decade sooner (Moe cites Joseph M. Field, Job and his Children (II, i), 1852). App. from the game of cribbage, where pegs are used to keep score; whoever pegs out first, wins. (Leechman.) "'My uncle's pegged out,'" he said. "'His game of cribbage is done'" (Morley Roberts, Maurice Quain, 1897).—2. Hence, to be ruined: ca. 1880—1910.—3. To have one's strength fail during some endeavour, esp. sporting, as 'He looked all set to win the mile, but then pegged out on the last lap': coll.: C.20. (P.B.) Cdr C. Parsons notes, 1973, that according to Pears Cyclopaedia the orig. of this usage lies in the game of croquet, where to peg out is 'the term used for finishing a croquet round by hitting the peg.' But still cribbage, from lower down the social scale, seems the more prob. orig.—4. To go to—and use—the w.c.: a certain Oxfordshire girls' school: (?) late C.19—20. Ex the feminine posture involved and its resemblance to an old-fashioned clothes-peg.

peg-puff. An old woman dressing young: Scots coll.: from ca. 1810; ob. (Perhaps dial.)

peg too low, a. Tippy: ca. 1870—1915.—2. Hence, (fig.) depressed: from ca. 1880.

Peg Trantum's, gone to. Dead: from ca. 1690. (B.E.; 1785, Grose; † by 1860.) Occ. Peg Crancum's (Ned Ward). Note that in East Anglia, Peg Trantum is extant for a hoyden.

peg up. See peg, v., 6 and 7. Pall Mall Gazette, 8 Apr. 1882, 'Arbitrarily raising prices ... "pegging prices up", it is called' (OED).

pegged, be. To be due for trial for some 'crime': military: from 1915. (M.A. Mügge, The War Diary of a Square Peg, 1920.) See peg, n., 15, and v., 10.

pegged out. Notorious: low: later C.19. Tit-Bits, 31 July 1886.

pegger. A hard drinker: ca. 1873—1915: coll. Ex peg, a dram, and the v. Cf.:-

pegging. Tippling: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed.; Miss Braddon.

Peggy, peggy. 'A hand ... called upon to do all the odd jobs in a watch' (Bowen): nautical: C.19. In C.20 RN, often mess-deck peggy. 'From his maid-of-all-work duties', says Granville; but Mr Tom Gamble, ex RN, of Shepshe'd, suggests that the term derives from the time when disabled ex-seamen, many of them 'peg-legged', were given jobs in naval barracks to keep them going and as a form of pension (P.B.).—2. Hence, 'The man who looks after the seamen's and firemen's messes in a modern liner' (Ibid.): nautical: C.20.—3. A thin poker bent for the raking of fires: coll.: ca. 1860—1930. Cf. curate and rector, q.v.—4. (Gen. pl.) A tooth: children's coll.: late C.19—20. (Manchon.) Cf. peg, n., 4.—5. A wooden leg: C.20. Cf. peg-legger.—6. A man with only one leg: navvies' nickname: ca. 1860—1910. D.W. Barrett, 1880.—7. A fairly common nickname of men surnamed Peters: earlier C.20. Perhaps ex a particularly notorious peg-legged man.—8. A Pegasus engine—used on certain RAF aircraft: RAF coll.: 1943+. Partridge, 1945.—9. See stand (one's) peggy.

Peggy guns. Guns from the gunboat Pegasus: German East Africa campaigners': late 1916—17. F. Brett Young, Jim Redlake, 1930.

pego. 'The penis of man or beast' (Grose): C.18—mid-19. (Ned Ward, 1709.) Ex Gr. πηγή, a spring, a fountain.

pegs. In on the pegs, (of an NCO) awaiting trial by court martial: army, from ca. 1908, and, from ca. 1918, RAF; ob. by 1950. (F. & G.) See also peg, n., 15.—2. In there are always more round pegs than square holes, there are always more applicants than jobs: coll.: late C.19—20. Ex S.E. round peg in a square hole (or square peg ...).

pek. See peck.

peke, Peks. A coll. abbr. of Pekin(g)ese, sc. dog or spaniel: from ca. 1910. Rarely Pek; occ. Pekie (1920: OED Sup.).

pel or pell. Variants of pal: Bill Truck, 1822.

pelf. Ill-gotten money: workmen's:—1887. Implied by Baumann. Ex S.E. pelf, money. Contrast kelp.

pelfry. The booty obtained by picking locks: c.: late C.16—early 17. (Greene, 1592.) Ex pelf.

Pelican. A member of the Pelican Club: ca. 1880—1910. Binstead, A Pink 'Un and a Pelican, 1898.—2. 'A non-flying officer with wings' (New Statesman, 30 Aug. 1941). The term is suspect; if it did exist it was only very locally and briefly. See penguin.

pell. See pal.

pellets. Shells: Royal Artillery: WW2. A meiosis.

pelt, n. The human skin: coll. (joc.) and dial.: C.17–20. Rowley, ca. 1605, 'Flay off her wicked skin, and stuff the pelt with straw' (OED).—2. Hence, a man: Yorkshire and Pembrokehire s., not dial.: 1882. EDD.—3. In have a pelt at, to attempt vigorously, 'have a shot at': coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

pelt, v. To sew thickly: tailors': from ca. 1860. Prob. suggested by pelts, garments made of furry skins.—2. Mostly be, or get pelted, to get thrown from a horse: Aus. rural: since ca. 1890. Tom Ronan, Moleskin Midas, 1956.

pelter. A heavy shower: coll.: 1842, Barham, 'The rain ... kept pouring ... what I've heard term'd a regular pelter.' Ex the weather v.i.—2. Anything large: coll. (—1892) ex dial. (—1851); † by 1935. Milliken.—3. Any person, etc., going very quickly, esp. a horse: coll.: C.20.—4. A whoremonger: tramps' c.: mid-C.19—early 20.—5. In out for a pelter, in a very bad temper: proletarian: later C.19—early 20. B. & L.

pelts-hole. A Scots coll. pej. addressed to women: late C.16–17. (Jamieson.) I.e. pelts-hole, i.e. tan-pit.

Pemma or Pemmer. Pembroke College (Cambridge): Cambridge undergraduates': C.20. Cf.:-

Pemmy. Pembroke College, Oxford: from ca. 1890. Very rarely, Pemmer. Collinson.

penpé. An imaginary object for which a newcomer is sent: Winchester College: C.19—early 20. Ex πέμπει τὸν μάρτυρον πρότερον, send the fool further; i.e. keep the idiot moving!

pen, n. The male member: low: late C.16—early 20. Hence the late C.16–17 low phrase to have no more ink in the pen, to be temporarily impotent through exhaustion (Weever, Lusty Juventus).—2. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Properly of sows.—3. A penitentiary; a prison: low, almost c.: from ca. 1820; in C.20 usu. identified with US usage. Cf. pen bait.—4. A threepenny piece: Aus.: ca. 1870–1910. (B., 1942; F. & H.) Why?—5. A prisoner-of-war cage: army: 1941–5. (P-G-R.) 'Via Canadians; cf. sense 3', says E.P. But may it not be simply from, e.g. a sheep-pen? (P.B.)—6. (Also v.) A, to stink: low: late C.19–20. Short form of pen and ink, 1 and 2. The v. occurs in, e.g., James Curtis, They Ride by Night, 1938.—7. See take the pen.

pen and ink. A stink: rhyming s.: from ca. 1858. H., 1st ed.—2. Hence, to stink: id.: from ca. 1870.—3. To 'kick up a stink', i.e. to yell (with pain): Cockney: late C.19–20.—4. Hence, 'Pain or suffering, especially when inflicted as a punishment or in revenge. "He didn't half give me some pen and ink"' (M.T.): market-traders': C.20.—5. Gallipoli Peninsula: NZ army: 1915+. Cf. synon. Pinch an Inch.—6. See-pen and inker. 'A person of mean habits, not to be trusted, possibly a "squealer" (informer). To be "on the pen and ink", is to be under suspicion of having informed, and therefore ostracized' (Franklyn, Rhyming): rhyming s., on stinker: since ca. 1945.

pen bait. An under-age girl that flirts with show boys: Can. carnival s.: C.20. Cf. Brit. synon. gaol-(jail)-bait, and see pen, 3.

pen-driver. A clerk; occ. a writer: coll.: from ca. 1885; very ob. Suggested by quill-driver, q.v. Cf. the C.20 equivalent, pen-pusher.

pen-gun; crack like a p.g. To chatter. Scots coll.: C.19–20. (Scott.) Occ. penquin. (A toy gun made from a quill.)

pen-pusher. See pen-driver. (A.H. Dawson, Dict. of Slang, 1913.)

penal. A sentence or a term of penal servitude: coll.: from ca. 1890. OED Sup.—2. See penals, 2.—3. Also at Shrewsbury, thus in D. Coke, 1906, 'Pens and paper (which is known as "penal" and is sold by "gats")'.

penals. Lines as punishment: mid-C.19–20: Shrewsbury School s. >, by 1890, coll. >, by 1900, j. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.—2. Hence, penal is a set of 25 lines: from ca. 1870: s. > coll. >, by 1900, j. Ibid.

penance-board. A pillory: c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

Penang lawyer. The stem of a species of palm much used for walking-sticks, hence a walking-stick so made: coll.: from early C.19. Moe cites W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 145), 1829, where spent Panang lawyer. Prob. Penang liyar (the wild areca, which gives the island its name), corrupted.—2. Whence a bludgeon: Singapore: from ca. 1870. H., 1874.

penbank. A beggar's can: c.: C.18. (Bailey.) Origin?
penkil. The male member: low: late C.19–20. Ex shape. Cf. pen, 1. Cf. Pencil and tassel.—2. In knight of the pencil, a bookmaker: the turf. (Punch, 7 Mar. 1885.) Cf. pencil, and the other entries at knight of ..., qq.v.—3. See line the pencil.

pencil and tassel. A (little) boy's penis and scrotum: lower classes' euph.: C.20. Tassel is often used on its own, but = penis.

pencil-fever. The laying of odds against a horse certain to lose, esp. after it has at first been at short odds: the turf: from ca. 1872 (H., 5th ed.); ob. by 1930. Also market-fever and milk-fever. Ex the pencilling of the horse's name in betting-books. Whence pencil.

pencil-in dates. To make engagements to perform: theatrical coll.: 1896; ob. Ware.

pencil, open, lost, and found. Ten pound (sol. for ten pounds sterling): rhyming s.: from ca. 1870; ob. Ware.

pencil-shover. A journalist: printers':—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930. On quill-driver.

pencil. A bookmaker's clerk: the turf. (Daily News, 24 Oct. 1879: OED.) In Aus., also the bookmaker himself: C.20. (B., 1942.) See pencil-fever, and cf.:-

pencilling fraternity. Bookmakers, collectively: the turf: late C.19—early 20.

pendulum. The penis: low: C.19—early 20. Cf. dingle-dangle, q.v.

pen(e)r(th). See pen(n)e(r)th and penn'orth.

penquin. An aeroplane organically unable to leave the ground: RFC/RAF: WW1. W.; B. & P.; OED Sup.—2. A member of the WRAF, which consisted of women (mostly 'flappers'), unable to fly: id.: 1918+. Ibid.—3. 'A ground-staff, i.e. non-flying, member of the RAF' (H. & P.): from ca. 1925. Cf. kiwi.—4. 'A cunning specialist who disposed of sand excavated from tunnels so that the ferrets [see ferret] could not find it' (Brickhill & Norton, Escape to Danger, 1946): among prisoners of war in Germany, 1940–5.—5. See pen-gun.

penquin party. 'Those who go ashore every night but never go to sea ... For these men there are shouts of derision: "Penguin Party, fall in!"' (correspondent, 1959): RN: since 1946 or 1947. Cf. prec., 3.

penquin suit. Formal evening dress, black suit and bow tie, white shirt: since late 1950s. BBC, 1 Feb. 1964. 'He has abandoned his waistcoat with "Jellybaby" embedded on the back in sequins and got more soberly "penguin-suited up"' (Yvonne Roberts, New Society, 5 Aug. 1982, p. 210).

Peninsular. A veteran of the Peninsular War: coll.: Quarterly Review, 1888, but prob. in use from ca. 1840. Ob. by 1900, † by 1910.—2. (Also called a moll tooler, H., 1st ed.) A female pick-pocket: c.:—1859; very ob. H., 1st ed.—3. A very inquisitive female, often with a long neck stretched out to see: joc.: since ca. 1955. Sometimes called an ostrich, esp. if seen peering over neighbours' hedges or fences. (Petch.) Leech, 1981, glosses Can. use as '(of a woman) long, thin, and getting in where not wanted.'

penman. A forger: c.: late C.19–20. Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld, 1933.

pennal. Var. of pinnet, q.v. Eustace Jervis, Twenty-Five Years, 1925.

pennam. A rare var. of pannam.

pennel. See pinnet.

penner or penner-up. 'A station hand who confines sheep in woolshed pens at shearing time' (B., 1943): late C.19–20: orig. coll., it was, by 1945 at latest, S.E.

pen(n)e(r)th. C.16–17 forms of penn'orth.

pennies from heaven. Easy money: since ca. 1925: coll. >, by 1945, familiar S.E. Berta Ruck, Pennies from Heaven, 1940.

pennif. A five-pound note: back slang: 1862 (Cornhill Magazine).—2. Hence, any bank or currency note; single-pennif being a £1 note: c.: C.20.

penniless. See walk penniless ...

penniless bench, sit on the. To be poverty-stricken: coll.: late C.16–19. Massinger, 'Bid him bear up, he shall not/Sit long on penniless bench.' Ex a certain London seat so named. Cf. S.E. Pierce Penniless.

penn'orth, pennorth, pen'orth; penn'worth. Abbr. pennyworth: coll.; resp. C.17, C.18–20, C.18–19 (H.); C.17. (OED.) Cf. pen(n)e(r)th and penworth, qq.v.—2. A year's imprisonment, esp. of a convict and mostly in combination: C.20: c. >, by 1930, low s. Michael Harrison, Weep for Lycidas, 1934, 'Ronnie will get fourteen penn'orth... Fourteen years hard.'—3. See penn'orth of chalk; ha'porth of ...

penn'orth of bread. Head: navvies' rhyming s.: ca. 1860–1910. (D.W. Barrett, Navvies, 1880.) Cf. synon. loaf (of bread).

penn'orth (or ball) of chalk. A walk: late C.19–20. F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938 (both); Axel Brace, 1934 (ball ...). Often shortened to pennorth. Hence, take a penn'orth (often in the imperative), (to) go away (!): since late C.19. Franklyn, Rhyming.

pennorth (o) f treacle. A charming girl: low London: 1882–ca. 1912. (Ware.) Ex jam.

pennorth (o) f treason. A copy of a certain notorious London penny newspaper: news-vendors':—1909 (Ware).

Penns. Shares in the Pennsylvania Railroad: Stock Exchange (—1895) >, by 1910, coll. Wilson's Stock Exchange Glossary.

Penny, penny. Nickname for men named Singleton: (mostly) Services': mid-C.20. Ex a woman film star so named.—2. In turn and wind the penny, to make the most of one's money: coll.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) An elab. of S.E. get or turn a or the penny, to endeavour to live, hence to make money.—3. In think (one's) penny silver, to think well of oneself: coll.: late C.16–early 18. (Gabriel Harvey; Breton; Fuller, 1732.) In early quotations, gen. good silver. (Apperson).—4. See clean as a penny; cockle to a penny; no paternoster ...; not a penny ...; penny a pound; big penny.

penny? A coll. (late C.19–20) shortening of a penny for your thoughts. W.L. George, The Making of an Englishman, 1914.

penny-a-liar. A joc. var. (—1887; ob.), recorded by Baumann, of:

penny-a-liner. A writer of paragraphs at a cheap rate, orig. a penny a line; hence, a literary hack: 1834 (Ainsworth: OED): journalistic coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.

penny-a-mile. A hat: rhyming s., on tile: from ca. 1870.—2. Hence, head: late C.19–20. Neil Bell, Crocus, 1936.—3. A smile: rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

penny a pound; often merely penny. Ground: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. (Franklyn, Ibid.) Arthur Gardner, Tinker's Kitchen, 1932, has var. penny the pound.

penny(-)awful. An occ. var. of penny dreadful, q.v.: ca. 1875–1910. Also, in C.20, penny blood (Manchon).

penny black. One of the early English postage stamps: philatelists' coll.: C.19–20.

penny-boy. A boy haunting cattle-markets in the hope of some droving: coll.: C.19. Because paid a penny a beast. Also ankle-beater.

penny bun. Rhyming s. = one: see cockle to a penny.

penny(-)buster. A small new loaf, or a large bun or roll, costing one penny: ca. 1870–1910. (H., 1874.) But a penny starver is a stale one or an unusually small one († by ca. 1910); orig., however, a starver meant a halfpenny loaf, or, occ., a bun: H., 1874.

penny death-trap. A penny paraffin lamp: low London: 1897–ca. 1915. Made in Germany, these lamps caused numerous deaths. Ware.

penny(-)dreadful. A sensational story or († by 1910) print: coll.: H., 1874; Pall Mall Gazette, 17 Nov. 1892, 'A Victim of the Penny Dreadful', title. Occ. penny † awful or (ob.) horrible; cf. blood and thunder, shilling shocker, (US) dime novel.

penny-farthing. An old-fashioned, very high bicycle with a large and a small wheel: coll.: from ca. 1885; ob.

penny for your thought(s). A c.p. addressed to one preoccupied: from ca. 1540. (Heywood's Proverbs, 1546; Greene; Swift.) The -s form, which is not found before C.17, > gen. in C.18; a penny for 'em belongs to late C.19–20 (Apperson; Collinson) as does the mere penny?, q.v.

penny(-)gaff. A low-class theatre, music-hall: 1851 (Mayhew); slightly ob. by 1902 (F. & H.), but, 1930, still extant. Also penny-room. Ex gaff, n., 6, q.v.

penny gush. 'Exaggerated mode of writing English frequently seen in a certain London daily paper': journalistic coll.: ca. 1880–5. Ware.

penny hangs. 'In seaports there were (and long remained) "penny hangs"—cellars chiefly patronised by drunken sailors where the keeper suspended ropes breast high from wall to wall so that his clients could drape the upper part of their bodies over them until, in the morning, he unfastened the ends and the company collapsed on the swimming floor' (Kellow Chesney, The Victorian Underworld, 1970): C.19. See also twopenny hangover; twopenny rope; strawyards.

penny hop. A cheap (country) dance: C.19. Thus, in C.20, a shilling hop.

penny-horrible. A 'penny dreadful', q.v.: coll.: 1899 (Daily News, 13 June: OED); ob. by 1930. Cf. penny awful.

penny lattice-house. A low ale-house: coll.: C.18–early 19. Cf. red lattice.

penny loaf. A man afraid to steal: c.:—1909 (Ware). Lit., one who would prefer to live on a penny loaf.

penny locket. A pocket: rhyming s.:—1909 (Ware).

penny packet; usu. in pl. A small party of soldiers—smaller than a platoon—as seen aerially: RAF: since early 1940. (H. & P.) P.B.: also army, for a small number, as in 'It's no use whatever sending the tanks in penny packets ...'

penny pick. A cigar: London: ca. 1838–45. Ware derives ex Dickens's Pickwick: ?pick-wick.

penny plain and (or) tuppence coloured. Orig., as used by R.L. Stevenson in his Travels with a Donkey in the Cevennes, 1879, a penny ... It has, from ca. 1890, been a c.p.; since ca. 1950, slightly ob. Meaning 'plain or fancy', it started in an East London toystore which sold paper stage-sets and cut-out characters for children's toy theatres. (R.S., 1965; B.P., 1975.)

penny pots. Pimples on a tippler's face: low: ca. 1850–1930.

penny puzzle. A sausage: low: ca. 1883–1914. (Ware.) Costing a penny, 'it is never found out'.

penny red. 'Coloured fizzy drink sold in the canteen at Dartmouth before WW2' (Granville): RN. Cf. goffer. Ex:—2. The penny postage stamp that succeeded the penny black: philatelists', 'coll.: C.19–20.

penny(-)starver. See penny buster.—2. A penny cigar: low:—1909; ob. Ware.

penny steamboat. A ferry: joc. coll.: C.20.

penny stamps. Very small plaice: trawlermen's: C.20. (D. Butcher, Trawlermen, 1980, glossary.) Cf. ivy leaf, q.v.

penny stinker. A bad cigar: mostly Cockneys': from ca. 1880; by 1946, †.

penny-swap. 'A man who sells articles at a penny a lot in the streets': Cockneys':—1851; ob. (Mayhew.) I.e. a 'swag-barrowman' specialising in sales at one penny. EDD.

penny the pound. See penny a pound.

penny toff. 'The lowest description of toff—the cad imitator of the follies of the jeunesse dorée' (Ware): London: ca. 1870–1914.

penny-white. Ugly but rich: coll.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) Rarely of men.

penny's dropped!; or the penny'll drop in a minute. 'A c.p. to mark the belated appreciation of humour' (L.A.): since ca. 1930. Ex slot-payment in public lavatories.

pennyworth. In fetch (one's) pennyworth out of, to make a person earn his wages, its cost, etc.: coll.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) A var. on a pennyworth for one's penny.—2. See Robin Hood's pennyworth; penn'orth.

pen'orth. See penn'orth.

pension. See not for a pension!; on the pension.

Pension (or Pensionary or Pensioner) Parliament. The Long Parliament of Charles II: coll. nickname. OED.

pensioner. A harlot's bully: from ca. 1810: c. > low s.; ob. (Vaux.) Prob. an abbr. of the † S.E. petticoat-pensioner or petticoat-squire, i.e. any male keep.—2. A blind musician that has a regular round: London itinerant musicians:—1861 (Mayhew: EDD).

Pensioners, the. Chelsea Football Club ('soccer'): sporting: late C.19–20. Ex Chelsea Hospital for military pensioners. P.G. Wodehouse, Psmith in the City, 1910.

Pent, the. Pentonville Prison: c. Punch 31, Jan. 1857.

penthouse-nab. A broad-brimmed hat: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E. (pentice); Grose. See nab, n., 3. It appears in The Life and Adventures of Bampfylde Moore Carew, 1835, as penhouse.

penwiper. A handkerchief: from ca. 1860.—2. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19–early 20. See pen, 1 and 2.

penworth, pen'orth. Coll. abbr. of pennyworth: C.16–17, C.17. Cf. penn'orth, etc.

people. In people say, etc., it is coll.: C.19–20. J.H. Newman, in a letter of 1843, 'People cannot understand a man being in a state of doubt' (OED).—2. Coll. too in my, your (etc.) people, my or your relatives esp. the members of the family to which one belongs: 1851, Carlyle, 'Mrs. Sterling had lived... with his Father's people' (OED). Cf. people-in-law.—3. The people app. = the crew: naval coll.: (?)/mid-C.18–mid-19. Matthew Barker in L.L.G., 24 Oct. 1824 (twice). (Moe.)—4. Thieves: c.: later C.19–early 20. Baumann.

people-in-law. One's husband's or wife's relatives, esp. parents, brothers, sisters: coll.: from ca. 1890. OED.

pep. Energy: spirited initiative: coll.: 1920 (SOD). Orig. (ca. 1914) US. Abbr. pepper. Cf. go and pep up.—2. Peppermint: C.20.

pep pill. A stimulant (in tablet form) to a central nervous system: since the late 1940s. Cf. prec., 1.

pep talk. A talk or speech designed to improve morale: coll.: since ca. 1925. See pep, 1, and—pep up. To infuse (gen. a person, but may also apply to, e.g., a display, writing, etc.) with new life, spirit, courage: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1927. (OED Sup.) See pep, 1.—2. Hence, to become lively: from ca. 1930. Passing Show, 15 July 1933.

peppin. A C.17 form of pippin, 1.

pepper, n. See snuff pepper...; pepper in the nose.

pepper, v. To put in the accents of a Greek exercise: university: from ca. 1880. Ex sprinkling with black pepper.—2. V.t., to humbug, to 'kid': ca. 1870–1930. Ex throw pepper in the eyes of. The v.i. form is use the pepper-box.—3. To 'salt' a gold-mining claim: Aus.: since ca. 1860. B., 1942.

Pepper Alley or pepper alley. Rough treatment, esp. hard punching, as in the Sporting Magazine, 1820, 'His mug... had paid a visit to "pepper alley"' (OED): pugilistic; ob. Punningly on the name of a London alley. Cf. gutter-lane.

pepper-box. A revolver: ca. 1840–1910. (Revolver invented in 1835).—2. A ship's lighthouse at the break of the fore-castle: C.19 nautical. Also, a shore lighthouse: late C.19–early 20 nautical. (Bowen.) Ex the shape.—3. The Pepper-Boxes, a term applied as early as 1860 (H., 2nd ed.) to 'the buildings of the Royal Academy and National Gallery, in Trafalgar-square.' Cf. the Boilers, q.v.—4. See pepper, v., 2.

pepper-castor. Later C.19 var. of prec., 1: 1889 (OED).

pepper in the nose, take. To take offence, grow angry: C.16–mid-18: coll. till C.17, then S.E. (Apperson.) Cf. snuff pepper, a C.17 var., and make one's nose swell.

pepper on (one's) nut, have or get. To be punched on the head: boxers':—1887 (Baumann).

Pepper Pot, the. 'The gallant Penelope which was so damaged by bomb splinters that she resembled one' (Granville): RN: WW2.—2. A pepper pot is a 'small pierced silencer fitted to some veteran bikes' (Mike Partridge, 1978): motorcyclists': C.20.

pepper-proof. (Not, of course, immune to, but) free from venereal disease: low coll.: late C.17–18. B.E. Contrast peppered off.

peppered, be. To have laid a large stake: turf: from ca. 1870. 'He was peppered in one dangerous quarter alone to the extent of three of four thousand pounds,' quoted by B. & L.

peppered off. 'Damnably Clapt or Pox't' (B.E.): low coll.: late C.17–18. († S.E. peppered.) peppermint flavour. Favour: rhyming s. Petch cites its use on TV, 14 Mar. 1967.

peppermint in (one's) speech, have a. To stammer: coll., mostly Cockneys': from ca. 1890. Pugh.

peppermint rocks; often peppermints. Socks: rhyming s.: C.20. Cf. almond rocks.

peppermint. A seller of peppermint water: London lower-class coll.:—1851; very ob. by 1930. Mayhew, cited by EDD.

Pepper's Dragoons. The Eighth Hussars: army: C.19–early 20.

peppy. Energetic; spirited, e.g. work: from ca. 1921. Ex pep, q.v. Evelyn Waugh, Vile Bodies, 1930; in the Humorist, 28 July 1934, a typical retired admiral is described as 'addressing peppy letters to the editor of The Times' (Austin Barber).

pepst. Tipsy: s. or coll.: ca. 1570–90. Kendall, 1577, quoted by Nares. Origin?

per. Per hour: since ca. 1910. John Newton Chance, Wheels in the Forest, 1935, 'An average of eighty miles per.'—2. An inevitable abbr. of permission, as in 'I say, have you got per?': Public Schools' and Services': C.20. (P.B.)

per c. 'Per cent, as in securities—"gilt-edged three per Cs"' (Claiborne, 1977): money-market coll.: since ca. 1925.

per usual. See as per usual.

perambulator. A costermonger: ca. 1860–1900. Perhaps ineligible: F. & H. not convincing.

perc. A (coffee) percolator: Society: since ca. 1920. (F.E. Bailey, Fleet Street Girl, 1934.) Hence, as v.t. or i, to percolate (of coffee). Also perk.

Perce. A Percival communication plane: RAF: 1942 +. Partridge, 1945.—2. (Also Percy.) Penis; esp. in point Perce at the porcelain, to urinate: Aus.: since ca. 1945. 'Perce the piercer'?—cf. Fr. percer, to pierce. P.B.: prob. merely alliteration; the Percy version was ephemerally popular in Brit. raffish circles, ca. 1970, having been introduced by the cartoon series featuring the complete 'Ocker', Barry McKenzie, in Private Eye.

percentage. Profit; advantage: army, since ca. 1940; civilian, since ca. 1945. 'There's no percentage in it'—nothing's to be gained by it. P-G-R.

percentor. One who works on a commission; one who does this and that, arranges this deal and that, for a percentage: business(-)world coll.: C.20.

perch, n. A small and gen. high seat on a vehicle: coll.: from ca. 1840. See peach perch.—2. Death: C.18. (OED.) Ex:—3. In drop or fall off or hop the perch; pitch or tip or turn over the perch: to die: first three, late C.18—earlier 20; the fourth, late C.16–17, e.g. in Hakluyt; the fifth, C.18 (Ozell's Rabelais, Richardson); the sixth, late C.16–17 (Nashe). Scott, The Pirate, 'I always thought him a d—d fool... but never such a consummate idiot as to hop the perch so sillily.' Cf. hop the twig. (OED.) Also, though rarely, hop the perch, to be defeated: same periods.—4. Hence, in knock off the perch, to perturb; defeat; kill: from ca. 1850. Also throw over the perch, C.16–17, as in Fulwell, 1568; turn over the perch, C.17–18, as in facetious Tom Brown; occ. give a turn over the. The second and third senses > coll.—5. In be off to perch, to go to bed: from ca. 1860 (H., 2nd ed.).—6. In on the perch, handcuffed: police s.: since ca. 1925. 'A uniformed constable with his prisoner "on the perch"' (John Gosling, 1959).

perch, v. To die: ca. 1880–1915. (Sporting Times, 3 Aug. 1886.) Ex n., 3.

perched on an oar like a budgerigar. 'Unable to pull the oar properly, because of small stature: Royal Navy: 1970s' (Peppitt).

percher. A dying person: C.18–19. Bolingbroke, 1714 (OED). Ex perch, n., 3, q.v.—2. A Latin cross made horizontally against the name of an absentee: Winchester College (—1891). Wrench. (Remembered in 1839: OED.)—3. A 'sitter', a 'dolly' catch, a very easy catch, esp. when it's been missed: cricket writers', commentators', lovers': since the late (? middle) 1960s.—4. 'An easy arrest, or an easy victim' (Powis): police s., and c.: later C.20.

percolator. Carburator: motorcyclists': since (?)ca. 1955. (Dunford.)—2. 'To have a shake, rave or percolator... to have a party' (Anderson): beatniks': since ca. 1959. Ex the coffee percolator that so often features at these affairs.

Percy, in the RN, has, since ca. 1925, meant an effeminate man; but since ca. 1940, also and esp. a studious, quiet, educated man as opposed to an uncouth 'tough'.—2. See Perce, 2.

perde, make. See make perde.

peremptory. Utter, unmitigated: complete: coll.: late C.16–17. (Ben Jonson.) Prob. ex:

peremptory. adv. Entirely, absolutely: coll.: C.16–17. Jonson: OED.

perf. A perforation: stamp-collectors' coll.: late C.19–20. P.B.: this, by later C.20 > j., refers to the edges of the stamp. Perf-in, on the other hand, refers to letters or other devices punched through the face of the stamp.

perfect. (Mostly pej.) Sheer; unmitigated; utter: mostly coll.: 1611, Shakespeare, 'His complexion is perfect gallows.' The phrase perfect nonsense is late C.19–20 coll. OED.—2. Amusing; pleasant, delightful: Society coll.: from ca. 1910. Denis Mackail, Greenery Street, 1925, 'But rowing. How perfect!'

perfect day, a. A day that one has very greatly enjoyed: coll.: 1909 (OED Sup.). Whence the end of a perfect day, a coll. WW1 c.p. of indefinite meaning; occ. jocularly applied, by soldiers, to one who had very evidently been 'celebrating'. See the editor's Bakara Bulletin, 1919, at the end-sketches; Collinson. Imm. ex Carrie Jacobs-Bond's song, 'When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day'.

perfect lady. A prostitute: low when not joc.: from ca. 1880. Ex the claims of such women—or ex male irony.

perfectly good... a. An indubitably—or, merely, a quite—good, sound, satisfactory something or other: from ca. 1918: s. > coll. Cf. perfect, q.v.

perforate. To take the virginity of: low: C.19–20.

perform, v.i. To copulate: low: C.19–20.—2. To make a (considerable) fuss, to 'go on': C.20: s. > coll. Miles Franklin, My Brilliant Career, 1901.—3. To swear vividly, to show a furious temper: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—4. 'To do a burglary. "They picked me up before I had time to perform" = I was caught before I had time to start' (Tempest, 1950).

perform on, v.t. To cheat, deceive: low: from ca. 1870. H., 1874.

performance, grand or command. 'Referred to a person supposedly good at something' (F. Leech, 1972): ephemeral; late 1950s–60s. Ex the j. of the world of entertainment.

performer. A whoremonger: low: C.19—early 20.—2. One who is apt to make a great fuss or noise: C.20: rare. Ex perform, 2.

perger. See purger.

perhaper. A very risky stroke: Aus. cricketers': since ca. 1930. Dal Stevens, The Scholarly Mouse, 1958.

pericranium. As the skull or the brain, the word is by the OED considered S.E.: rather, I think, S.E. in late C.16–18, but coll. in C.19–20. Ex anatomical sense, 'the membrane enveloping the skull'.

perim. Perimeter track (encircling an airfield): RAF coll.: from ca. 1937. (Jackson.) P.B.: † by 1950, superseded by j. term peritrack.

period! Finally; without extension or modification, palliation or repeal: orig. (ca. 1945), journalists', authors' broadcasters', perhaps typists': only since ca. 1955 has it been at all gen. 'Dead as a doornail? Just dead. Period!' P.B.: prob. ex US, where period is the term for 'full stop' in punctuation.—2. See girl of the period.

periphery. A big belly: cultured, joc. coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Prob. suggested by circumference.

periscope depth, at. 'Half asleep; lightly dozing, as a submarine is said to be when at periscope depth' (Granville): RN: mid-C.20.

periscope potters. German snipers specialising in smashing British infantrymen's periscopes: 1915–18. (Petch, 1966.)

perish, n. Esp. in do a perish, 'to come near to death, esp. from lack of water or food; to suffer any kind of deprivation or ordeal' (Wilkes, whose quot'ns show that it can also mean 'to die'): Aus.: since late C.19. (Morris, 1894.) By 1910, perish was used as an entity, as in 'Their yarns of perishes on dry tracks' (Vance Palmer, Golconda, 1958). Occ. var. do a perisher, as in Archer Russell, 1934 (Wilkes).—2. Hence, to be homeless; to sleep out at night in the parks: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

perish, v.t. A low coll., prob. independent of the † S.E. sense, 'destroy'; thus in W. Pett Ridge, Mord Em'ly, 1898, 'Chrise, I'll perish you, if you ain't careful.'

perishable cargo. Fruit; slaves: nautical: ca. 1730–1800. (Bowen.) Cf. live lumber, q.v.

perisher. A short-tailed coat: ca. 1880–1930. The C.20 prefers bum-freezer.—2. An extreme, e.g. in drunkenness, betting: 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'Then he... went in an awful perisher... and was never sober day or night the whole [month]'. Ob.—3. A person, fellow, chap: perhaps at first, mid-C.19, not, as later, pej; but by late C.19 usu. derogatory. 'He had no name. In the thaw they buried him in the pass, and his epitaph was SOME POOR BLOODY PERISHER. 1864' (Ruth Park, One-a-Pecker, Two-a-Pecker, 1958, concerning the Otago gold-rush of the 1860s). 1896: 'Those perishes in the gallery didn't know anything about Shakespeare' (SOD); 'You bleeding little perisher' (Sessions, Apr. 1898). See also starver.—4. A 'freezer', mostly in do a perisher, to feel extremely cold: coll.: earlier C.20. Cf. perish, n., q.v., and perishing, adv.—5. A periscope: army: WW1. (F. & G.) By joc. perversion.—6. As the perisher, the Commanding Officers' course for submarine commanders: RN: 1940+.

perishing, adj. A gen. pej., as in 'Damn the perishing thing!': coll.: C.20. Cf. perisher, 3.—2. Very cold, as in 'I didn't 'ave no coat on, an' it were perishing': Cockneys': late C.19–20. (Julian Franklyn.) Experishing. A pej. intensive adv.: coll.: C.20. Orig. and esp. (it's) perishing cold.

perishing track. An outback route affording no or very little water: Aus. rural: C.20. (B., 1959.) Cf. perish, n., q.v.

periwinkle. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19—early 20.—2. (As perrywinkle.) A peruke or wig: c.: later C.18—early 19. The Life and Adventures of Bampfylde Moore Carew, 1835.

perk; perks. Perquisites: (the singular, rare, ca. 1890–1910); 1887, Fun, 30 Mar., 'The perks, etc., attached to this useful office are not what they were in the "good old times".' In Scots, perks is recorded as early as 1824 (EDD).

perk, v. To vomit: Aus. low: C.20. (B., 1942.) A thinning of 'to puke'.—2. To percolate as in 'Coffee won't be long—it's perking nicely': since ca. 1955. Ex percolator rather than ex percolate, and occ. spelt perc.

perk up. To recover health or good spirits: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1650. (B.E., Barham.) Ex † S.E. perk, to carry oneself smartly, jauntily. OED.

perked. Tipsy: military: C.20. F. & G.

perker. A person constantly seeking 'perks' (see perk): lower classes:—1923 (Manchon).

perking. 'Any pert, forward, silly Fellow' (B.E.): coll.: late C.17—mid-18. Ex adj.

Perkins, perkins. Beer: ca. 1860–90: 'dandy or affected shortening' (H., 1864). Ex the better-known s. phrase, Barclay and Perkins, perhaps influenced by S.E. perkin, weak cider or perny. Cf. purko, q.v.

perks. See perk, n.; Board of Perks.

perm, n. A supposed permanent wave (of the hair): coll.: from ca. 1925. By 1940, > merely a synonym for a 'hair wave': hence, since ca. 1940, permanent perm, joc. for the orig. sense.—2. A permutation: coll.: since mid-1920s.—3. A permanent employee, esp. a typist, as opp: to a temp[orary]: the world of office girls and employment agencies: coll.: since ca. 1950, but common only since ca. 1960.

perm, v. To subject a person's hair to a permanent wave: coll., and gen. in passive: since ca. 1927. Ex n., 1.—2. To permute, esp. with ref. to entries in a football-pool coupon: coll.: C.20. (P.B.) permanent. A permanent boarder: hotels, boarding-houses: late C.19–20: coll.

permanent pug. A 'fighting man around the door of the premises': journalists', printers', tavern-frequenter's: late C.19–early 20.

permanent spats. See spats.

pernicated dude. A swaggering dandy: Can.: ca. 1885–1910. B. & L.

peroney (or -nee). For each man; hence, for each person: Parlyaree, esp. among buskers: mid-C.19–20. Probably an 'easement' or, less likely, a deliberate distortion of per omee, per man. But see next. Cf. omee, and see PARLYAREE, in Appendix.

peroon. For each, apiece; hence, each: Parlyaree: mid-C.19–20. Lit. 'for one': Italian per uno. Cf. prec., and see quo't n at dewey.

perpendicular. A buffet meal; a party at which the majority of the guests have to stand: 1871, 'M. Legrand', 'An invitation to a Perpendicular, as such entertainments are styled' (OED).—2. Coition between two persons standing upright: low: mid-C.19–20. Also a knee-trembler, an upright. Contrast with a horizontal. Hence, do a perpendicular, to copulate thus.—3. In strike me perp or perpendicular!, a Cockney asseveration: late C.19–early 20. Both forms are in Edwin Pugh's 'The Honey-moon' in The Cockney at Home, 1914.

perpetrate. To make (e.g. a pun); do (anything treated as shocking): coll.: 1849, C. Brontë, 'Philip induced... his sisters to perpetrate a duet' (OED). Hence:—

perpetrate a nonsense. 'To issue an order (local A.A. slang)' (H. & P.): earlier WW2; later the phrase > more widespread in the Services, with meaning not only 'to issue a (stupid) order', but also 'to make an administrative bungle' (P.B.).

perpetration. The doing of something very bad, or atrociously performed: coll.: from ca. 1850. (Gen. a humorous affectation by the narrator.)

perpetual. In got the perpetual, vigorous; enterprising; proletarian:—1909 (Ware). Ex perpetual motion.

perpetual staircase. The treadmill: c.: late C.19–early 20. (Ware.) Also everlasting staircase.

Perry. A Peregrine engine: RAF ground crews': 1942+. (Partridge, 1945.) Cf. Peggy, 8.

Perseus. An editor: Society: 1883. (Ware.) Ex a phrase used by T.H. Huxley.

Persian Gulf's the arse-hole of the world – and Shaiba's half-way up it, the (often prec. by you know the old saying). A depreciatory c.p.: RAF and army: ca. 1920–50. At Shaiba—properly, Shu'aiba—there was, for many years, a transit camp. (L.A.) This distinction has, since the mid-1920s, been claimed by the Services, esp. RAF, for such unpopular and charmless stations as Aden, Basra, Freetown, Suez, etc.

person. A personage: coll.: C.20. Esp. in quite a person (of a child).

Perspiration Avenue, as in 'She lost weight in...': the walking space between the lathes in a large machine-shop, esp. a munitions factory: factory workers': since ca. 1916.

perspiry. Full of, covered with, perspiration: coll.: 1860. OED.

persuader. A spur, gen. in pl: from ca. 1786; ob. Grose, 2nd ed., 'The kiddey clapped his persuaders to his prad, but the traps boned him.'—2. A pistol: 1841 (Leman Rede); slightly ob. by 1930.—3. Hence, any other weapon: from ca. 1845, but anticipated by Marryat in 1833 ('three rattans twisted into one', to enforce submission).—4. A whip: coachmen's:—1887 (Baumann).—5. A 'jemmy', q.v., or other burglar's tool: c.: mid-C.19–early 20.—6. A crowbar: London Fire Brigade: late C.19–20.

persuading plate. C., from ca. 1880; ob. 'An iron disk used in forcing safes: it revolves on a pivot, and is fitted with a cutting point' (F. & H.).

persuasion. Nationality, sex; sort, kind; description: 1864 (SOD). 'A dark little man... of French persuasion.' Ex persuasion, religious belief, opinion. (In C.20, joc. coll.) pert as a pearmonger, as. Very cheerful: from ca. 1560: coll. till C.19, then dial. (Harding, 1564; Gay; Swift.) Dial. has at least four synonyms, with pert spelt peart. Apperson.

Perthshire Greybreeks, the. The 2nd Battalion Cameronian (Scottish Rifles)—in C.19, the 90th (Perthshire Volunteers) Foot—Regiment: military: 1793; ob. (F. & G.) Ex the grey trousers formerly worn, white breeches being at this time the usual regulation wear.

pertish. Fairly drunk: coll.: ca. 1760–1820. Sessions, 1772, 4th session of Wm Nash's mayoralty.

perty; often, illogically, spelt purty. Pretty: sol.: mostly Cockney (and dial.). (Baumann.) P.B.: the spelling purty reflects the mock-dial. pron. sometimes used for humorous effect in C.20.

Perv window. A one-way window that, in a bedroom, enables a third party to watch coition: low Aus.: since ca. 1963.

Perus. Peruvian stocks: financial coll.:—1887 (Baumann.). peruse. A 'look round' ashore: nautical coll.: C.20. Prob. on cruise (ker-ruse).

Peruvian Jews; Peruvians. Russian and Polish Jews: a Transvaal coll.: from ca. 1898. 'Applied in the first instance to certain Jews from South America, who had failed, under Baron Hirsch's Colonisation Scheme, to make a living there, and who subsequently made their way to the goldfields of South Africa' (Pettman).

perv, n. Corresponding to the adj.: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B.P.) In nuance 'a male homosexual', it occurs in, e.g., Bernard Hesling, The Dinkumization and Depommification, 1963. A. Buzo, 1973, 'Perus... pervers, often specifically voyeurs; often used as a pejorative term for men who like watching girls'. P.B.: the term has been in low Brit. use, perhaps mostly Services', since mid-1950s at latest.—2. The act of "perving" (Wilkes): Aus: since ca. 1960. See perve.

perv, adj. Erotic: Aus.: since the late 1920s. Lawson Glassop, 1944, 'Bluey brought a perv book back from Cairo with him'. I.e. a sense-perversion and shortening of perverted.

perv show. A strip-tease show: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B.P.) Cf. prec.

perve, v.i. To practise perversion; mostly between women and esp. as in 'What about a spot of perving?': Aus.: since ca. 1930. (Communication, 1941, from Melbourne).—2. Aus., since ca. 1930, as in 'Eddie was... doing, as the boys expressed it, "a bit of perving"'. He was looking at his gallery of nudes and semi-nudes and trying, as usual, to reach a decision about the one he would prefer to sleep with' (Rats, 1944). 'Its use here often involves no more than watching a girl or woman in admiration. Whence, to perve at (a girl), to extract pleasure from looking, at her, esp. if she is scantily dressed as on a beach' (B., 1959).

perverted. A Society euph. for buggered: from ca. 1918. Philip MacDonald, R.I.P., 1933, 'I'm perverted if I know!'

pervy. Synon. with perv: 1944 (Lawson Glassop).

pesi-pesi. See SWAHILI, in Appendix.

pest. To pester: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Margaret Trist, Now that We're Laughing, 1944, 'It's enough to have a hangover, without you pesting me all the time.'

pest it!; pest it all! A Cockney imprecation: since when? (Pugh).

pester, pester-up. (V.i. and v.t., resp.) To pay; pay up: c., and market-traders': C.20. Gilt Kid, 1936; M.T., 'Don't pester for the gilly—he's a lugger'. Ex Romany pester, to pay.

pestiferous; pestilential. Gen. pej., often joc.; usu. of children, pets, that pester or 'badger': coll.: C.20. (P.B.) Cf. plaguy, q.v.

pestilent, adv. Extremely: coll.: late C.17—early 18. B.E. (Earlier, S.E.)

pestle, n. A leg: coll. verging on S.E.: C.16—17. Skelton, '[Her] myghty pestels ... As fayre and as whyte/As the fote of a kyte'. Cf. pestle of pork, q.v.—2. A constable's staff: coll.: early C.17. Chapman. OED.—3. A penis: low: C.19—20; ob. Contrast mortar, the female pudend.—4. See knight of ... pestle, v. To coit (of a man): low: C.19—early 20. Ex prec., 3.

pestle of a lark. Anything very small; a trifle: late C.16—early 18: coll. >, by 1690, S.E. Fuller calls Rutland 'Indeed ... but the Pestel of a Lark' (OED).

pestle of a portigue. A portague, a C.16—early 17 Portuguese gold coin worth about £4: joc. coll. (C.17) verging on S.E. Fletcher, 1622. OED.

pestle of pork. A leg: low coll.: C.19—early 20. Ex dial., where the phrase = the shank end of a ham, etc., or pork cooked fresh.

pet, n. As 'a favourite' is S.E.; but there is a special nuance in Albert Smith, The Natural History of the Ballet Girl, 1847: 'We know what are [the Gent's] notions of the ballet generally—we are perfectly aware that he considers it "fast" to have the "Pets", coloured and framed, hung up in his rooms ...' (P.B.) pet peeve. See peeve, n.

petal. An effeminate man: RAF: since ca. 1938. (Partridge, 1945.) Prompted by pansy.—2. As vocative (cf. flower, ducky, etc.): low coll.: Helen Chappell, New Society, 18 Sep. 1980, "'Yes, petal—what do you want to know?" the band-leader says with determined cheerfulness.' (P.B.)

petard. A trick or a cheating at dice, prob. by some kind of bluff or by the use of loaded dice: gamblers' s. (? orig. c.): Restoration period. (J. Wilson, The Cheats, 1662: OED.) Prob. ex, or suggested by, hoist with his own petard.

Pete Jenkins. An auxiliary clown: circus: from ca. 1860; very ob. Ex Pete Jenkins, who (fl. 1855) planted 'rustics' in the audience.

peted. (Very) weary; physically exhausted: Can.: since ca. 1860. (Morley Roberts, The Western Avernus, 1887.) Ex peter out, Pete being the diminutive of Peter.

peter, n. A trunk, portmanteau, bag; (in C.19—20) a box or a safe: c.: 1668, Head; Smollett; Grose; Lytton; Horsley, 1879; James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934, 'A "peter" is a safe made from tool-proof steel and usually has safety linings made from a special sort of cement,—this being the predominant C.20 c. sense in Britain. ?origin: perhaps because frequently 'netted' by thieves: in allusion to Simon Peter's occupation. Or perhaps rather from Peter, a rock. Cf. † S.E. peterman, a fisherman. See also Peter to pay Paul.—2. Hence, any bundle, parcel or package; among tramps, that bag in which a tramp carries his belongings: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux; H., 1st ed.; Horsley, 1879. Still current (Toby: a Bristol Tramp Tells his Story, Bristol Broadside, 1979).—3. A kind of loaded dice, hence the using of them: c.: ca. 1660—1750. (Wilson, The Cheats.) Prob. the correct form is petard, as above: it is F. & H. that lists under peter. Wilson's spelling is Petarrs.—4. A coll. abbr. of Peter-see-me (itself ex Peter Ximenes, a famous cardinal), a Spanish wine: C.17. Beaumont & Fletcher, Chances.—5. The penis: low: mid-C.19—earlier 20. Cf. synon. John Thomas.—6. A partridge: poachers': from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed.—7. A prison cell, whether in gaol or at a court of law; a punishment cell: Aus. and Brit. c.: since ca. 1880. B., 1943; Norman.—8. Hence, a prison: Aus. low: C.20. (B., 1943.) With 7 and 8, cf. sense 1 in its meaning of 'a safe'.—9. A cash-register; a till: Aus. c.: since late C.19. (Wilkes.) Hence to tickle the peter, 'To embezzle or steal funds, usually by a servant of an employer' (Aus. Police Journal, Apr. 1950, quoted by Wilkes).—10. The witness-box: Aus. c.: since ca. 1895. Wilkes.

peter, v.t., To cease doing, e.g. speaking: low s. (prob. orig. c.): 1812 (Vaux); ob. by 1900, † by 1930. Ex peter, n., 1: for peter that! = stow that!—2. V.i., (in whist) to call for trumps by discarding an unnecessarily high card: cards:—1887. Ex the blue Peter, which indicates that a ship is about to start. Notes and Queries, 7th Series, iv, 356.—3. Hence, v.i. and t., to run up prices: auctioneers': from ca. 1890.—4. To weep: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) There seems to have been an obsolete peter, to grumble; echoic, probably.

peter-biter. A stealer of portmanteaux: c.: late C.17—20; ob. Also biter of peters, as in B.E. See peter, n., 1. Cf. peter-claimer.

peter (or Peter) boatman; gen. pl. A river pirate: ca. 1798—1840. Cf. peter-man.

peter-claimer. A stealer of luggage; esp. a carriage-hief: c.: late C.19—20. Ex peter, n., 1; cf. peter-biter, and see—peter-claiming. The stealing of parcels and/or bags, esp. at railway stations: 1894. A. Morrison, 'From this, he ventured on peterclaiming' (OED). Ex peter, n., 1.

Peter Collins. An imaginary person on whom the green are asked to call for a green-handed (or handed) rake: theatrical and circuses:—1889 (J.C. Coleman in B. & L.); ob. by 1930.

peter-cutter. An instrument for cutting iron safes: 1862 (Mayhew). See peter, n., 1.

peter-drag. See peter-hunting. C.19—early 20 c. See peter, n., 1, and drag.

Peter Funk. A member of a gang operating 'shadily' at public auctions: late C.19—20. Manchon.

Peter Grievous. A fretful child: coll.: mid-C.19—20; ob.—2. 'A miserable, melancholy fellow; a croaker': from ca. 1850: coll. (H., 1874.) ?a euphemising of creeping Jesus.

peter-gunner. A poor shot with a gun: coll.: C.17—20; ob. Anon., The Cold Year, 1615 (quoted by Nares). Perhaps ex petre, saltpetre. Cf.:

Peter Gunner, will kill all the birds that died last summer. A C.18—mid-19 (? also late C.17) c.p.: 'A piece of wit commonly thrown out at a person walking through a street or village near London, with a gun in his hand' (Grose, 2nd ed.). Ex prec.

peter-hunting. The stealing of portmanteaux, boxes, etc., esp. from carriages: c.: Vaux, 1812; ob. by 1930. Also peter-drag and peter-lay. See peter, n., 1. Whence:

peter-hunting jemmy. 'A small crowbar used in smashing the chains securing luggage to a vehicle' (F. & H.): c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux.

peter-lay. The same as peter-hunting, q.v., and as peter-drag. C.18—20 c. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) See peter, n., 1.

Peter Lug. A drinking laggard. Chiefly in Who is Peter Lug?, a c.p. addressed to one who lets the glass stand before him: ca. 1680—1830. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

peter-man, peterman. One who uses 'unlawful engines in catching fish in the river Thames' (Bailey): late C.17—early 18: c. Ex peterman, a fisherman.—2. One who specialises in stealing bags, etc., from carriages: from ca. 1810; ob. 1812 (Sporting Magazine: OED); anon., The Story of a Lancashire Thief, 1863. Ex peter, n., 1.—3. 'A safe-blower, cracksman, safe specialist' (Tempest, 1950): c.: since (?ca. 1940. Ex peter, n., 1.

peter out. To cease gradually; come to an end: US (1854) anglicised as a coll. almost imm.; by 1930, S.E. H., 1859 ('To run short, or give out'), makes no mention of America; Saturday Review, 9 Jan. 1892, 'Human effort of all kinds tends to "peter out" (OED). 'Orig. U.S., of stream or lode of ore. ? from Fr. péter ...? cf. to fizzle out' (W.). P.B.: might there be a ref. to Peter's betrayal of Jesus?

Peter Pipeclay. A Royal Marine: naval: ca. 1820—90. (Bowen.) Ex his enforced use of pipeclay. Cf. pick him up.

peter school. A gambling den: Aus. and NZ c.: earlier C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. peter, n., 3.

peter that! See peter, v., 1.

Peter the Painter; usu. here's ..., a joc. c.p. of ca. 1910—20. Ex the legendary figure supposed to have taken part in 'the Battle of Sidney Street' in 1910.

Peter to pay Paul, rob; in C.17–19, occ. borrow from, as in Urquhart. To take from one person to give to another. C.15–20; proverbial coll. >, ca. 1820, S.E. Barclay, 1548, has clothe (surviving till C.18). Lytton, Paul Clifford, 'If so be as your name's Paul, may you always rob Peter [a portmanteau] in order to pay Paul.' Prob. not ex the relations of the two Apostles but 'merely a collocation of familiar names, Pierre et Paul being used in Fr. like Tom, Dick and Harry in Eng.' (W.).

peterer. (Also peterman: see peterman.) The same as peterman, 2: c. of ca.1840–70. H., 1st ed.

Peterhouse. St Peter's College, Cambridge: Cambridge University: C.19–20. Until ca.1890, s.; ca. 1890–1920, coll.; then S.E. Cf. House, 3.

PETERMAN. See peterman.

peters. Luggage: taxi-drivers': since ca. 1910. (Herbert Hodge, 1938.) Cf. petar, n., 1–2. See petar-biter.

Peter's needle, go or pass through St. (Of children) to be severely disciplined: C.19–20 semi-proverbial coll. and dial. ?ex the Biblical eye of a needle.

petit sergeantry. See TAVERN TERMS, §9, in Appendix.

peto. A Society evasion, ca. 1905–14, for p.t.o. (please turn over). Ware.

petre. Saltpetre: late C.16–20: S.E. until ca. 1860 (though long ob.); then technical coll.

Petrol Hussars, the. 'The Armoured-Car force sent to Egypt in 1916': RN, then army: latter 1916–18. 'Most of the officers had served in Hussar Regiments' (F. & G.). Cf.:-

petrol pigeons. Naval aircrew: RN: since ca. 1970. (Peppitt.) Cf. paraffin budgie.

petticoat. In up (a girl's, woman's) petticoat, unduly, or very familiar with her: low: C.18–early 20.

petticoat-hold. A life-interest in a wife's estate: coll.: late C.18–19. Grose, 1st ed.

Petticoat Lane. Middlesex Street, London, E., where, esp. on Sunday morning, congregate many old-clothes and other itinerant dealers, mostly Jews: 1887, anon., I.D.B., 'Falling back on Pilomet for his expletives.' In Yiddish, Pilomet = the initials (in Hebrew) P.L. Ca. 1950, E.P. noted that 'Petticoat Lane is now a coll.; has indeed been a coll. ever since Petticoat Lane assumed respectability as Middlesex Street and Wentworth Street: local London: C.20.—2. Hence, ca. 1900–15, Dover Street, Piccadilly, London, the locality favoured by Court milliners. Daily Telegraph, 9 Nov. 1901.

petticoat-merchant. A whoremonger: low coll.: C.19–20; ob. On S.E. petticoat-monger or petticoat-pensioner.

pettifogger. See petty fogger.

pettiloon. A pantaloon: coll.: 1858 (Whyte-Melville); ob. Blend of petticoat + pantaloon. OED.

petting-party. A party at which much caressing is done; esp. a party held for that purpose: adopted, ex US, ca. 1925. Cf. necking.

pettitoes. See BODY, in Appendix.

petty. A petticoat: coll.: from not later than 1913. Cf. nighty.

petty fogger; perhaps more correctly pettifogger. A Customs man: nautical, esp. quay-hands': late C.19–early 20.

petty-house. A water-closet: coll.: C.19–earlier 20. 'Widely prevalent in familiar use' (Murray, 1905). Whence little house, q.v.

petty lashery; petulacery. Petty theft: c.: late C.16–early 17. Both forms in Greene.

pettycoat. See petticoat.

pew. A seat, esp. in take a pew, park oneself in a pew, etc.: C.20. P. G. Woodhouse, A Prefect's Uncle, 1903, 'The genial "take a pew" of one's equal inspires confidence'; Manchon.—2. See stump the pew, to pay.

pew-opener's muscle. A muscle in the palm of the hand: medical:—1902. Sir James Brodie, 'because it helps to contract and hollow the palm of the hand for the reception of a gratuity'.

pewter, n. Silver: c.:—1823 (Egan's Grose)—C.20 (Tempest, 1950).—2. Hence, money, esp. if of silver; prize-money:—1821 (W.T. Moncrieff, Tom and Jerry).—3. A tankard: mostly pewter, v.; unload. 'To drink porter out of a quart pot' (Sinks): public-house: ca. 1830–70.

London coll. (1839), verging on S.E.; ob. Abbr. pewter tankard.—Hence, 4, a pot sought as a prize: rowing men's:—1874 (H., 5th ed.); ob. by 1930.

pewy. (Of country) so enclosed by fences as to form a succession of small fields: sporting (esp. hunting): 1828 (OED). Ex the shape of the old-fashioned big, enclosed pews.

perferfy. Incorrect for furphy, q.v.

pfiffing. See piffing, 2.

phagassies. 'Those gremlins which sit on the wings and blow on the aileron and send it down' (P-G-R): RAF: 1940–5. Charles Graves, Seven Pilots, 1943. And see GREMLINS, in Appendix.

Phallic Symbol, the. The University Library: Cambridge undergraduates': since ca. 1955. Ex the shape of its tower.

phallic thimble. A sheath pessary: ca. 1920–40. 'Low "educated" punning on "phallic symbol"' (R.S.).

phant, or fant; in the N. of England, often peeble, by evasion. A phantom-glass, i.e. that sheet of plate-glass, which, set obliquely on the stage, reflects from below, or from the side, the illusion known as Pepper's ghost: showmen's:—1909 (Ware).

phantom. A fraction: law-clerks': C.20. Edwin Pugh, Harry the Cockney, 1912, "'How much more?" inquired Uncle Algernon, wearily. "Three and a phantom," replied McGaffney.'

Phar Lap. A derisive Aus. term of address (from 1933) for a person slow in his movements. Ex Phar Lap, a splendid Australian racehorse (its name = 'flash of lightning') that died of poison in Mexico in 1933.—2. They specialized in "Phar Laps", wild dog with the hair burnt off, trussed and cooked in the ashes' (Ernestine Hill, The Territory, 1951, quoted by Wilkes): Aus., esp. Northern Territory.

Phar Lap gallop. A fox trot: Aus.: since ca. 1932. (B., 1943.) See prec., 1.

pharaoh, occ. pharoh. A strong ale or beer: late C.17–early 19. Gen. as old pharaoh, q.v. Prob. ex strength derived from oldness—'old as Pharaoh'. In Belgium there was, as late as 1938, a beer named faro (Francois Fosca).

Pharaoh's Foot. 'The companies of Volunteers raised among European civilians in Egypt in 1915': military: 1915–18. (F. & G.) Egypt being 'the Land of the Pharaohs'.

Pharaoh's lean kine, one of. A very thin person: coll.: 1598, Shakespeare, 'If to be fat be to be hated, then Pharaoh's lean kine are to be loved.'—2. In C.19–20, with the qualification of looking '(1) as though he'd run away from a bone-house; or (2) as if he were walking about to save funeral expenses' (F. & H.); ob. by 1930.

pheasant. A wanton: low: C.17–19; ob. Cf. plover and quail.—2. See Billingsgate pheasant.

pheasant-plucker. 'Derivative of a unpleasant person' (usu. male), i.e. ironically for 'pleasant fucker' (fellow): mostly RN officers': ca. 1920–70. (Cdr C. Parsons, 1973.) Clearly a contrived spoonerism. P.B. in army usage, always joc.

pheasantry. A brothel: low: C.19–early 20. Ex pheasant, 1.

Pheeby. The sun: army: earlier C.20. (P-G-R.) Ex Phoebus.

phenobarb. Phenobarbitone: coll.: since ca. 1930.

phenomenal avoidance. 'A very narrow escape from crashing a car (Cambridge, 1930)' (J. Judfield Willis, letter).

phenomenon. A prodigy; a remarkable person, occ. animal, or thing: coll.: 1838, Dickens, 'This is the infant phenomenon—Miss Ninetta Crummles' (OED).

phi, occ. in Gr. form φ or ϕ. 'A Phi book... is a book deemed by Bodley's Librarian to be of an indelicate nature, and catalogued accordingly, by some dead and gone humorist, under the Greek letter Phi' (Dorothy L. Sayers (herself an Oxford 'first') in the Passing Show, 25 Mar. 1933). Until 1931 when proposed alterations to the Library evoked articles in the Press, the term was known to very few persons outside Oxford. The term was probably coined by E.W.B. Nicholson, the eccentric and sarcastic Bodley's Librarian in 1882–1912.

The semantics perhaps run something like this: 'Oh, fie! For shame! Fancy you wanting to read such a book!'

Phil, the. The Philathletic Club at Harrow School: since ca. 1890(?). Lunn.—2. A Philharmonic concert: C.20. See Philharmonic.

Phil and Jim. (Occ. pron. Fillin Jim.) The Church of St Philip and St James: Oxford undergraduates': from ca. 1885. Ware.

Phil Garlick. Liverpool var., C.19–20, of Pilgarlic.

Phil McBee. A flea: rhyming s. from ca. 1870. By 1940, † Cf. Sandy MacNab.

Philadelphia lawyer. A smart attorney; a very shrewd person. Esp. in puzzle or beat a P.L., to be extremely puzzling, and be as smart or know as much as a P.L. An early English occurrence of this orig. US coll. (1803) is in W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 145), 1829 (Moe); ob. by 1920. (H., 1864; Hindley.) Cf. bush-lawyer, q.v.

philander, 'to ramble on incoherently; to write discursively and weakly', H., 1874, like the sense, 'to wander about' (as in Arthur Sketchley, quoted by Baumann), is a half-sol., half-coll. of ca. 1865–1910. ?influenced by meander and wander.

Philharmonic. Philharmonic Society: coll.: 1862 (OED). —2. A Philharmonic concert: coll.: from ca. 1875.

Philip. A policeman, mostly in Philip!, the police are coming: c.: ca. 1860–1930. Possibly by a punning ref. to fillip. Whence Philipper.

Philip and Che(i)n(e)y. Two of the common people considered typically: coll.: ca. 1540–90. Tusser has Philip, Hob and Cheyney. Cf. Tom, Dick and Harry.

philip(p)er. A thief's accomplice: c.: 1860 (The Times, 5 Sep.).

Philippi, meet at. To keep an appointment without fail: literary coll.: ca. 1780–1830. Mrs Cowley, 1782, "'At seven, you say?" ... "Exactly." ... "I'll meet thee at Philippi!"' Ex Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, IV. iii, where the ghost speaks thus.

Philistines. Drunkards (rare in sing.): late C.17–18. B.E. —2. Earwigs or other such insects: provincial coll., and dial.: late C.17–20. Ex 'The Philistines are upon thee', Judges 16.9.

philosopher. A well-read or well-spoken rating: RN lower-deck: ca. 1800–70. (Basil Hall, 2nd series, 1832.) Also, a dictionary man or a star-gazer (Ibid.).

Phineas. The wooden Highlander ... now [1932] the inalienable property of University College, London': from ca. 1875. (Weekley, Words and Names.) 'No! The original Phineas McLino is still Catesby's'—as Julian Franklyn tells me in letter of 1962; he adds, 'A copy was presented to the U.C. students by Catesby's after they had taken police action.'

phinney. A burial: c.: C.18 (?–19). C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718. Origin?

Phip. A sparrow: coll. and dial.: C.14–16. Less a contraction of Philip (in same sense) than ex the onomatopoeia for a sparrow's chirp.

phis. B.E.'s spelling of phiz. Cf. phys, 1693 (OED). Both occur also in C.18.

phiz (phizz), phyz; physog. (Cf. phis, q.v.) Face; expression of face: phiz, etc., is a joc. coll. abbr. of physiognomy; physog, however, is the abbr. of physognomy, q.v. Shadwell, 1688; Swift, 'Abbreviations exquisitely refined; as, ... Phizz for Physiognomy.' But physog, q.v., not till C.19. In C.20 often spelt fizzog. A rum phiz is an odd one: low: late C.18–20. phiz-gig. An old woman dressed young: C.19.—2. 'A pyramid of moistened gunpowder, which, on ignition, fuses but does not flash' (F. & H.): schools': from ca. 1840.—3. See fiz-gig.

phiz-maker. A maker of grimaces: C.18: coll.

phizog. See physog; also phiz.

phizz. A failure: from ca. 1925; ob. (Galsworthy, The Silver Spoon, 1926.) A blend of stop + fizzle.

phon snuffler. A silencer: motorcyclists': since ca. 1950. 'It "snuffles" the "phons" by which [exhaust] noise is measured' (Dunford).

phone, 'phone. N. and v., telephone: coll.: n., 1884; v., 1900

(OED). From ca. 1910, gen. phone; now virtually S.E. —2. Hence a telephone message: coll.: C.20.—3. In go for, or use, the phone, to tic-tac: Aus. racing: since ca. 1930. (B., 1953.) To cease doing so is to hang up (the phone).

phone freak. 'A person who electronically and fraudulently manipulates international calls' (Powis): adopted ex US ca. 1970.

phoney or phony, n. Blarney: c.: from ca. 1930. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) Ex:

phoney, occ. phony. Fraudulent, 'shady', criminal: c.: US, anglicised ca. 1920. (Edgar Wallace's later works.) Ex fauney, q.v.—2. Hence, unreal, make-believe, as in the phoney war (Sep. 1939–Mar. 1940), coined by the Americans late in 1939 and adopted by Englishmen early in 1940.—3. Applied to make-believe players in a gambling game: 7 Apr. 1946, the People (article by Alan Hoby).

phoney gen. See gen.

phoney war, the. See phoney, 2.

phonie. An ephemeral, early name for a motion-picture with a sound-track: journalistic: 1928. (Patricia Hughes, on BBC Radio 3, 26 Aug. 1980.) Cf. audies, talkies.

Phoo. See Chad.

phooey! An expression of utter disbelief or pronounced distaste or, even, contempt. Adopted, ca. 1959, ex US. Deriving ex the Yiddish form of German pfui and popularised by Walter Winchell during the 1930s. Wallace Reyburn in the colour section of the Sunday Times, 8 July 1962.

phos, phoss, even foss. Phosphorus: s. >, ca. 1890, coll. abbr.: from ca. 1810.—2. Esp., in c. of early C.19, a bottle of phosphorus, used by cracksmen to get a light. (Lex. Bal.; Vaux.) Whence phossy, q.v.

phosgene. An anti-gas instructor, phosgene being a German poison gas; hence, foolish or profane talk (cf. gas, q.v.): military: 1916–18. F. & G.—2. The Passive Defence Office: RN: 1939. (Granville.) Anti-phosgene and all other enemy gases.

phossy, occ. fossy, jaw. Phosphorus necrosis of the jaw: coll.: 1889. OED.

photey. A photograph; the dial. or illiterate version sometimes used for humorous effect: prob. throughout C.20. I.K. Martin, Regan, 1975.

photo. A photograph: coll. abbr.: 1870, Miss Bridgman, 'I should like her photo.'—2. As v.: coll.: 1870 (Carlyle).—3. As adj.: likewise coll. (technical): 1889. OED.

photo finish; often reduced to photo (pron. photer). A Guinness: rhyming s.: since ca. 1946. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Photo Freddie. 'Photo reconnaissance aircraft' (Sgt G. Emanuel, 1945): RAF: 1942+.

photog. A photographer: coll.; rare: later C.20. A. Stuart, The Bikers, 1971.

photographic. (Of a face) easily or strikingly photographable: coll.: from ca. 1910.

phrasy; incorrectly, phrasey. Abounding in or notable for phrases: coll.: 1849. OED.

phunt. One pound sterling: grafters': late C.19–20. (Cheap-jack, 1934.) Perhaps derived ex ponte (q.v.) and influenced by Ger. Pfund. Cf. fun.

phut, go. (See also fut.) To come to grief; fizzle out; be a failure: coll.: 1892 (Kipling: OED Sup.); A.S.M. Hutchinson, 1908. Partly echoic (cf. S.E. phit), partly ex Hindustani phatna, to explode. OED.

phut out. An occ. synon. for prec., 'to come to an end': army: WWI. Petch cites A.W. Bacon, Adventures in Kitchener's Army, [n.d.]: 'Luckily the second battle of Ypres was just phutting out, and there was no actual scrapping to do beyond a trench raid or two—and damnably 'dicey' they could be!

phyllis, Phyllis. Syphilis: medical and military euph. coll. rather than s.: from ca. 1910.

phys. Physics: schools': late C.19–20. G.D.H. & M. Cole, Scandal at School, 1935.—2. See phis.

physic, n. Sexual attentions; coition: coll.: C.17–mid-18.

Massinger, 'She ... sends for her young doctor, /Who ministers physic to her on her back'; D'Urfey.—2. Medicine: late C.16–20: S.E. till ca. 1850, then coll. Mrs Henry Wood, 1862, 'You'll take the physic, like a precious lamb' (OED).—3. Losses; wagers, points: gaming: from ca. 1820; ob. 'Jon Bee'.—4. Hard hitting: pugilistic: from ca. 1830; ob. Cf. punishment, q.v.—5. Strong drink: from ca. 1840. Cf. medicine, poison, qq.v.

physic, v. To treat, dose, with medicine, esp. with a purgative: C.14–20: S.E. till ca. 1850, then coll. Cf. physic, n., 2. OED.—2. 'To punish in purse or pocket': 1821, Egan; ob. Cf. physic, n., 3.

physic-bottle. A doctor: proletarian:—1909 (Ware).

physical jerks. See jerks.

physical torture. A rare var. (1915) of prec. (F. & G.) Ex physical culture.

physicals. Physical powers: coll.: 1824. Rare in C.20; ob. OED.

Physic(k). See TAVERN TERMS, §3d, in Appendix.

physic(k)er. A heavy blow or punch; nuances of that sense: lowerdeck: late C.18–mid-20. (Bill Truck, 1822.) Cf. physic, n., 4.

physicking, n. and adj. Corresponding to physic, n., 2., and physic, v., 1 and 2: mid-C.17–20: S.E. until ca. 1810, then coll. Bee, 1823, both n. and adj.

physics. Physical exercises: RN lowerdeck: late C.19–early 20. Knock.

physio. Physiotherapy: physiotherapists', their patients', students': Aus.: since ca. 1950.—2. A physiotherapist: medical, hospital, social services' coll.: since ca. 1950.

physiog. A coll. abbr. of physiognomy, q.v.: ca. 1865–1920. Cf. phiz and physog.

physiognomist. See conjuror.

physiognomy. The face or countenance: (low) coll.: C.17–20; ob. Fletcher & Shirley, 'I have seen that physiognomy: were you never in prison?' (OED).

physog; occ. phizog, physzog. See phiz. App. recorded first in the Lex. Bal., 1811. Cf. physiog.

phyz. See phiz; cf. physiog, physog; note physiognomy.

physzog. See physog.

pi; gen. pie. A miscellaneous collection of books out of the alphabet, q.v.: booksellers' coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Ex printer's pi(e).—2. (Only pi.) A pious exhortation: Public Schools' and universities': 1870 (OED).—3. Cf. the adj., whence pi, a pious person: late C.19–20; ob. Ex pious.

pi, adj. Pious; virtuous; sanctimonious: schools' and universities': 1870, OED, whose first record of the adj., however, is for 1891. Cf. pi, n., 2.

pi-gas, -jaw, n. A serious admonition or talk: schools' and universities': ?(jaw) from ca. 1875; -gas, ca. 1880–1915. Ex:

pi-jaw, v. To give moral advice to; admonish: schools' and universities': from middle 1880s. Ex pi, adj. F. & H., 1902, quoting a glossary of 1891, 'He pi-jawed me for thoking.' Cf. pi-gas, pi-squash, and:

pi-man. A pious fellow: early C.20. (To-Day, 22 Aug. 1901.) Ex pi, adj., q.v., but prob. also containing a pun on pieman.

pi squad. A Bible class: army: early C.20.—2. In B. & L. it is prob. an error for:

pi-squash. A prayer-meeting; any similar assemblage: schools' and universities': from ca. 1910; ob. by 1935. (W.) Ex pi, adj., q.v. Cf. pi-gas, and squash, n., 2, q.v., which may be an abbr. of it.

piache. Mad; on stone-mad, often stone-piache; army: late C.19–20. (B. & P., p. 222.) Ex Hindustani. Cf. pie-ackers, q.v.

pialler. To speak; speak to: New South Wales and Queensland 'pidgin': mid-C.19–20. R.M. Praed, 1885. (Morris.) Ex an Aboriginal dialect: cf. yabber, q.v.

piana. See piano, 3.

pianny. Tipsy: army: late C.19—earlier 20. Ex parnee.

piano, n. A chamber-pot: workmen's: C.20. Echoic.—2. Ribs of beef: Cockney's: late C.19–20. J.W. Horsley, 1912.

—3. Often slovened to piana. A cash register: Anglo-Irish: since ca. 1920. It plays a merry tune. Cf. Jewish piano, q.v.—4. See Chicago piano; play the piano.

piano. To sing small, take a back seat: Society: ca. 1870–80. Ex musical piano, softly. Ware.

pianoforte legs. The legs of a bishop in ecclesiastical costume: joc.:—1923 (Manchon). Ex the former draping of the mahogany, therefore black, legs of a piano. Cf. amputate (one's) mahogany.

pianola. At cards, a hand that almost plays itself: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1942.) Hence, occ., 'an easy task'. Ex 'player piano'.

piassa. A cleaning rod used on 4-inch Stokes mortars: army: 1915+. Ex pisser, 1.

piazza. See walk the piazzas.

pic. A picture: artists'; photographers': C.20. C.E. Montague, A Hind Let Loose, 1910.—2. See pics, 1.

Pic, the. The Piccadilly Saloon, London: ca. 1858–90. (H., 2nd ed.) Cf. Dilly, q.v.—2. The Piccadilly Restaurant and Grill Room: C.20. Anthony Gibbs, London Symphony, 1934.—3. See Sunday Pic.

pica-thumper. A hand piece-worker: printers': C.19. G.E. Rowles, The 'Line' Is On, 1948.

picanninny. See picanninny.

picaro, on the. 'On the make', prowling for easy money: coll.: C.18. Smollett, trans. of Gil Blas, 'I see you have been ... a little on the picaro.' Ex Sp. picaro, a rogue, via the English picaroon (Sp. picarón).

Piccadilly bushman. Any wealthy Aus. who lives in the West End of London: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.

Piccadilly Butchers, the. The First Life Guards, says F. & H.; First Horse Guards, says H.; the Life Guards, F. & G. and Carew: C.19–20 military; ob. They were called out to quell the Burdett or Piccadilly Riots of 1810. (Actually, only one rioter was killed.) Cf. Patent Safeties.

Piccadilly commando. A London prostitute: since 1941, and orig. in the Forces; since 1946, increasingly ob. They certainly had the art of achieving a 'kill' in the streets without creating a disturbance': the feeling comment made (in 1961) by a war-time RAF officer.

Piccadilly Cowboys, the. The Household Cavalry: 'The province of The Life Guards and The Blues was really London, and for that reason they were known derisively as "The Piccadilly Cowboys"' (Carew): army: earlier C.20.

Piccadilly crawl. A style of walking prevalent in Society in the 1880s. Ob. Cf. Alexandra limp, Grecian bend, Roman fall, qq.v.

Piccadilly daisy. A prostitute: ca. 1905–40. Robert Keable, Recompence, 1924.

Piccadilly fringe. 'Front pair of women cut short and brought down, and curled over the forehead': lower classes': ca. 1884–1900. Presumably suggested by Piccadilly weepers. Ware states that the 'fashion originated in Paris about 1868'.

Piccadilly Part II Orders. See Whores' Gazette.

Piccadilly Percy. Mercy: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

Piccadilly weepers. 'Long carefully combed-out whiskers of the Dunderary fashion' (H., 1874). Historical with the fading of the fashion. Because worn by dandies on Piccadilly, London. Cf. dunderaries. Cf.:

Piccadilly window. A monocle: London (non-aristocratic): the 1890s; ob. (Ware.) Because frequently seen in Piccadilly.

picanninny; occ. picaninny or pickanin(n)y. A child: coll. bordering on S.E.: 1785 (Grose); 1817, 'The little pickaninny has my kindest wishes' (OED). Orig. applied, in the West Indies and America, to Negro and other coloured children. Ex C.17 'Negro diminutive of Sp. pequeño or Portuguese pequeno, small ...; cf. Port. pequeno, tiny. It is uncertain whether the word arose in Sp. or Port. colonies, or in the E. or W. Indies, but it has spread remarkably' (W.). picanninny, adj. Little; tiny: Aus. coll.: from the 1840s; ob. by 1940s. (Morris.) Ex prec.

piccaninny daylight. 'The approach of dawn, first light' (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: since late C.19. Adumbrated in W. Westgarth, Australia Felix, 1848: 'piccininni sun', glossed as 'About daylight in the morning' (Wilkes).

piccolo. 'A long-stroke motorcycle engine' (Dunford): motorcyclists': since mid-C.20.

piccolo and flute. A suit (of clothes): rhyming s.: since ca. 1870. Cf. the (in later C.20) commoner whistle and flute.

piccolos and flutes. Boots: rhyming s.: since ca. 1930; not very gen. Franklyn, Rhyming.

piccys. Pictures: coll.: since early C.20. Rudyard Kipling, in a letter to Rider Haggard, 25 Mar. 1925 (in Morton Cohen's 1965 ed. of the letters): 'incised and painted Cromagnon piccys of bison, horse, wolf and Rhino...—2. Illustrations in a book: id.—3. The cinema, as in 'going to the piccys': since late 1940s. (All 3, P.B.) Cf. pic, pics, pix.

pick(-)money. 'Chicken feed' (small change): army and RAF in India: earlier C.20. Cf.:-

picky. Mean, stingy: army: late C.19—mid-20. (B. & P.) Prob. ex pick, a quarter-anna, but see also pisso.

pick, n. An abbr. (—1887) of S.E. pickwick, a very inferior cigar; ob. Baumann.—2. A toothpick: coll.:—1890 (The Century Dict.)—3. An anchor: nautical: late C.19—20. Bowen.—4. A quick-tempered person: Anglo-Irish: C.20. Cf. pick on and the early C.20 Glasgow take a pick, to be spiteful.—5. In come into full pick, (as, e.g., of Brussels sprouts) to be ready for gathering: gardeners', esp. market-gardeners' coll.: late C.19—20.

pick, c.pp. When a hostess, offering food, says 'Take your pick', some fatuous male can, in non-U society, be counted on to reply, either 'I don't think I'll need a pick' or 'I'll try a hammer and saw if a pick isn't enough': since ca. 1910.

pick, v.i. To eat: 1786, Capt. T. Morris, 'If it wasn't for shame, I could pick till to-morrow at dinner': s. till C.20, then coll. Ex S.E. sense, to eat daintily.—2. To guess: lower-class Aus. coll.: C.20. D'Arcy Niland, The Big Smoke, 1959, 'I pick it right?' Ex pick out, to choose.

pick, adj. Chosen; best: coll.: 1819 (Lady Morgan); ob. by 1930. Ex pick, choice. OED.

pick a bone with. To eat a meal with: joc. coll., a literal use of the S.E. idiom 'to have a bone to pick with someone': earlier C.20. Sax Rohmer, Grey Face, 1924.—2. [P.B.: but elsewhere in the earlier edd. E.P. had glossed thus:] To have an unpleasant matter to settle with someone: coll.: since mid-C.16. Occ., earlier pick bones with; in later C.20, usu. have a bone to pick with (someone). Hence the Aus. coll. have a bone with, to have a quarrel with, a grudge against, someone, as in D'Arcy Niland, 1958.

pick a daisy. To defecate in the open air; also, to retire to urinate. Mostly women's: from ca. 1860: orig. a euph.; in C.20, coll. Contrast pick the daisies.

pick a hole in (a person's) coat. To be censorious: coll. verging on S.E.: late C.16—19. Anon., Mar-Prelate's Epitome, 1588; Ray; Manning in a letter to Lamb. (Apperson.) Whence S.E. pick holes in.

pick a soft plank! Sleep easy!: a nautical c.p. addressed to 'young seamen sleeping on deck for the first time': mid-C.19—20; ob. Bowen.—2. Hence, to find an easy job: nautical coll.: late C.19—20. Ibd.

pick and choose. Strong drink: rhyming s. (on booze): theatrical rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

pick and cut. To pick pockets: low coll. (?orig. s.): C.17. Shakespeare, Winter's Tale, 'I picked and cut most of their festival purses.'

pick-and-dab. A meal of potatoes and salt: Scots coll.: C.19—20.

pick at. 'To chaff; to annoy' (C.J. Dennis): Aus. coll.:—1916. Ex dial. Cf. pick on.

pick-axe. 'A fiery mixture of Cape smoke, pontac'—a dark, dry wine medicinally valuable—'and ginger-beer, in much request in the diamond fields' (Pettman): S. African: ca. 1870—90. (Boyle, to the Cape for Diamonds, 1873.) Ex its 'brutality'.

pick (someone's) brains. To elicit information, knowledge, 'brainwave', and utilise it (without permission): coll.:—1838 (Lytton); very soon > S.E.

pick flies off. To find fault with: tailors': ca. 1860—1930.

Pick- (or Picked-) Hatch. See Pickt-Hatch.

pick him up and pipeclay him and he'll do again! A bluejackets' c.p. remark on a Royal Marine fallen on the deck, esp. if he fell hard: ca. 1860—1910. Bowen.

pick-it-up. The diamond bird: Aus. boys' coll.: from mid-1890s. G. A. Keartland, 1896, gives the origin in this bird's 'treble note'. Morris.

pick-me-up. A stimulating liquid, orig. and mainly liquor: coll.: 1867, Latham, 'To drink home-brewed ale... instead of pick-me-ups'.—2. Hence, any person or thing (e.g. seaside air) with a bracing effect: 1876, 'Ouida' (of a person). OED.—3. A police van: S. African c.: C.20. Cape Times, 23 May 1946.

pick oakum. To be in a poor-house: lower classes' coll.:—1887. Ex the same phrase in S.E. (to be in prison). Baumann.

pick of the basket (or the bunch), the. The best: from ca. 1870; coll. >, by 1910, S.E.

pick off. To hit (a person) with a stone: Winchester College: mid-C.19—20. B. & L.

pick on. To gird at; annoy actively: coll.: C.20. Ex dial. pick upon. The OED's 'Now U.S. dial.' ignores the coll. Eng. usage, which undoubtedly exists, esp. as=pick a quarrel with. Cf. the v. pick up, q.v.—2. To find fault with: Can. and (? hence) Eng. coll.: since ca. 1910; this, since ca. 1930, has, indeed, been the predominant sense. (Leechman.) P.B.: but the use of the term by one of a number of people, concerning their superior, as, e.g. 'Why does the bastard always have to pick on me!', implies the pick of 'select in order to be unpleasant to'. Cf. get a pick on, q.v.

pick-out job. 'A man with a smart new cab... is sometimes "picked out" by a passenger from the middle of the rank. He has, therefore, got a "pick-out job"'. They're not much cop, as a rule.' Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sid-stitch, 1939.

pick out robins' eyes. To side-stitch black cloth or any delicate material: tailors': ca. 1860—1920.

pick-penny. A miser: coll. bordering on S.E.: C.18—19. Ex S.E. sense, a greedy amasser or stealer of money.—2. A sharper: coll.: ?C.17—18. F. & H.

pick the bird. To dissect a corpse: medical students':—1923 (Manchon).

pick the bones out of that! Prefaced by let him... or you can... or try and..., try to retort, or retaliate, or extricate, e.g. yourself, from this predicament in which I have placed you: c.p.: C.20. Since ca. 1950, among the vulgar, a c.p. accompanying the exhortation of a gob of phlegm (P.B.).

pick the daisies (at—Station). To rob passengers arriving in London by the Continental boat-trains: c.: from ca. 1920.—2. Hence, pick-up (man), a luggage-thief: c.:—1932 ('Stuart Wood').

pick the eyes out of. See eye-picker.

pick-up, n. A chance (esp. if carnal) acquaintance (gen. female): low coll.:—1895 (Funk & Wagnall's). Ex the S.E. pick up with, to make acquaintance with someone casually met. P.B.: but see also v., 1.—2. See pick the daisies, 2.—3. A recovery of form: lawn-tennis coll.: from ca. 1927. E.g. 'A wonderful pick-up! From 1–5 to 5 games all.'—4. A pick-up match: coll.: late C.19—20. One in which the opposing sides are chosen by the two captains selecting one player alternately.—5. Hence, a team in such a match: coll.: C.20. Both 4 and 5 occur in Alec Waugh, The Loom of Youth, 1917.—6. A ride in lorry or motor-car: tramps' c.: from ca. 1910. W.L. Gibson Cowan, Loud Report, 1937.—7. An arrest: c.: from ca. 1919. Ex sense 6 of the v.—8. The..., theft from unattended cars: c.: since ca. 1925. F.D. Sharpe, 1938.

pick up, v. To meet casually, nowadays esp. of a man on the look-out for a girl: late C.19—20. Orig. of harlot 'picking up' a man: c. or low: this is yet another example of a seemingly modern expression being two, or even three, centuries old. Among several early examples is its occurrence in an anon. work, The Character of a Town Gallant, 1675, recorded in Charles Hindley, The Old Collector's Miscellany, 1872, vol. II, no. 19 (with thanks to Col. Moe). Cf. the dial nuances recorded in EDD.—2. To cheat, grossly deceive (a person): low:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.); † by 1900. Ex:—3. To 'establish contact' with an unwary person: c.:—1812 (Vaux); ob. by 1930. Prob. ex the harlot nuance in sense 1.—4. To rob a man thus: he is allured into speaking with a harlot, whose bully then comes up to extort money or who herself decamps after taking his money 'in advance' and perhaps his watch as well: c.:—1861 (Mayhew).—5. To take (a person) up sharply: coll.: C.20.—6. To arrest (a wrongdoer): c.: C.20. Pawnshop Murder.—7. To obtain (esp. promotion): RN: coll.: C.20. Granville, 'So-and-so hopes to pick up his half stripe next year.' Cf. collect, v., 3.

pick up (one's) crumbs. To be convalescent: coll.: 1580, Lyly; 1754, Berthelson; in mid-C.19–20, dial. I.e. to put on weight as well as to eat healthily.

pick up fag-ends. To listen to a conversation that does not concern one: Scottish Public Schools': from ca. 1910. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.

pick-up man. See pick the daisies.

pick up the tab. To pay for, stand the expense incurred by, something, e.g. a meal, an entertainment; esp. of a sponsor who has organised an entertainment, a sporting event, as an advertisement, or in his own interest: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1960. (P.B.)

pickanin(n)y. See piccaninny.

picked before he was ripe. (A person) 'under-sized or rawly innocent' (B., 1959): Aus.: since ca. 1920.

Picked Men, the. See Grabby.

pick-up-er. A thief or a swindler 'picking up' an unwary person: c.:—1812; ob. (Vaux.) See pick up, v.—2. Hence, a harlot: c.: mid-C.19–20. ob.—3. 'A dealer buying on quotations trickily obtained from a member trapped into giving a wrong price' (F. & H.): Stock Exchange: from ca. 1890.

pickers and stealers. Hands: coll.: C.17–20; slightly ob. Shakespeare, 'So I do still, by these pickers and stealers.' Ex the Catechism 'To keep my hands from picking and stealing', which dates from 1548–9 (OED). Baumann considered Shakespeare's use to be s.; the OED considers the phrase, at no matter what period, to be S.E. pickin' a quin (pron. kewin). 'A teasing answer to call from someone out of sight asking "What are you doing?": Londoners': C.19—early 20' (L.A., 1974, who speculates that quin might be an innocently used corruption of quin).

picking gooseberries! Goodness knows!; doing God knows what! a c.p. of early C.19. John Davis, The Post Captain, 1805 (ed. R.H. Case, 1928).

pickle. A predicament, sorry plight, unpleasant difficulty: mid-C.16–20: S.E. till C.19, then coll. Byron, 'The Turkish batteries thrash'd them ... into a sad pickle' (OED). A fig. use of the lit. secondary S.E. sense, pickled vegetables.—2. Hence, perhaps via rod in pickle, q.v., a mischievous or—ob.—a troublesome child; any person constantly causing trouble: coll.: the former, late C.18–20; the latter, late C.18–19. Anon., History of a Schoolboy, 1788, 'He told Master Blotch he was a pickle, and dismissed him to his cricket.' OED.—3. Hence, a wild youth or young man: s. or coll.: ca. 1810–40. Lex. Bal.—4. A wretchedly produced, cheap book: booksellers':—1887; ob. (Baumann.) Esp. one that won't sell.—5. In pickle, venereally infected: low coll.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.; Grose.) Ex salivation.—6. In pickle, drunk: late C.17—mid-18. Farquhar (in that pickle); Vanbrugh.

pickle, v. To humbug; to 'gammon': C.19. Perhaps ex nautical S.E. sense, to rub salt or vinegar on the back of a person just flogged.

pickle-herring. A wag; a merry companion: c.:—1887 (Baumann).

pickle-jar. A coachman in yellow: ca. 1850–1910.

pickle-manufacturer. A publisher of cheap, badly produced books: booksellers': ca. 1885–1914. (Baumann.) See pickle, n., 4.

pickle-me-tickle-me, play. To coit: low coll.: mid-C.17–18. Urquhart.

pickled. Roguish; waggish: coll. verging on S.E.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Cf. pickle, n., 2.—2. Drunk: from ca. 1930. (COD: 1934 Sup.) For semantics, cf. oiled and soused; but see also pickle, n., 6.

pickled monkey. 'A species of animal served by the Germans to prisoners of war. Its identity was never determined by the recipients' (anon., The Soldier's War Slang Dictionary, 1939): P.o.W.s': WW1.

pickled pork. Conversations: since ca. 1890. (Birmingham Evening Despatch, 19 July 1937.) Rhyming on talk. Cf. rabbit and pork.

pickles. Dissection specimens (straight) from the operation theatre: medical: from ca. 1860.—2. As an exclam., nonsense! or balls!: from ca. 1850 (Hotten); ob. by 1930. Also all pickles! (Ware).—3. In a case of pickles, a quandary; a serious breakdown: C.19—early 20.

pickling-tubs. 'Wellington, or top boots' (Sinks): low: ca. 1830–70.

pickpocket. A ship able to carry but little cargo: nautical: C.20. Bowen.

Pickt-Hatch (often Pict-, occ. Pick-, and properly Picked-Hatch), go to the Manor of, late C.16—mid-17; go to Picket-Hatch Grange, ca. 1620–40. To go whoring; to whore: c., says Grose; more prob. s. or low coll. In Shakespeare's time, specifically a brothel tavern in Turnmill Street, Clerkenwell; hence, from ca. 1620, any brothel or low locality. A pickt hatch, i.e. a hatch with pikes, was a common brothel-sign. Shakespeare, in Merry Wives; Jonson; Randolph, 'Why the whores of Pict-Hatch, Turnbull, or the unmerciful bawds of Bloomsbury.'

picky. A pickpocket: policemen's: ca. 1880–1914. Arthur Griffiths, Criminals I Have Known, 1895.

picnic. A rough-and-tumble; noisy trouble: coll.: from ca. 1895. F. & H. records it at 1898. Prob. ex:—2. 'An awkward adventure, an unpleasant experience, a troublesome job' (Morris): Aus. coll.: at least as early as 1896. Ex the US coll. sense, 'An easy or agreeable thing' (The Standard Dict.). From ca. 1915, mostly no picnic, a difficult task, and by 1918 gen. coll.—3. Hence, a detention: Bootham School:—1925. (Bootham).

picnicky. As at or as of a picnic: coll.: 1870. OED.

pics, the. The illustrations: book, etc., designers', journalists' and authors': C.20. (Neil Bell, Winding Road, 1934.) In later C.20, under US influence, occ. spelt pix, as in Patrick Campbell, Come Here Till I Tell You, 1960 (P.B.). See also pic.

Pict-Hatch. See Pickt-Hatch.

picture. A portrait, a likeness, of a person: C.16–20: S.E. until ca. 1890, then coll. when not affected. OED.—2. A fine example; a beau-ideal: coll.:—1870. (EDD; Baumann.) E.g., 'a picture of health'; often ironical as in 'a pretty picture', a strange figure (F. & H., 1902).—3. Hence, a very picturesque or beautiful object: coll.: from ca. 1890. E.g. 'she's a picture.' In Berkshire dial. as early as 1859 (EDD). See also oil-painting and pretty as paint.—4. In make a picture of, to render (a person) unrecognisable: coll.: earlier C.20. Man-chon.—5. In get (one's) picture, to 'get one's cards'—be dismissed from one's job: since ca. 1920. Richard Llewellyn, None but the Lonely Heart, 1943.—6. In get the picture, to understand (esp. the general idea): coll.: since ca. 1935. Cf.:—7. Put (someone) in the picture, 'To give you, as a newcomer, an idea of what is happening ... and so enable you to play your part in it' (H. & P.): Services' coll.: since ca. 1935. Cf. paint a picture, q.v.—8. In not in the picture, inappropriate, incongruous; (in racing) unplaced: coll.: C.19—earlier 20; superseded by:—9. Not in the picture, not understanding, or not in a position to appreciate, what is going on; the opp. of having been 'put in the picture' (see sense 7):

Services': since mid-C.20.—10. See bad luck to his picture!; fake a picture; Queen's picture.

picture-and-blank. A game played with cigarette (or other) cards: Lancashire: late C.19–early 20. Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976.

picture-askew. A joc. perversion of picturesque: coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. synon. pictures-queue, or -skew.

picture-frame. See sheriff's picture-frame.

picture gallery. A trench exposed to snipers: army on the Western front: 1914–18. Reginald Pound, The Lost Generation, 1964. Cf.:-

picture of ill luck. See ill fortune.

picture-show. A big battle: army: WW1. G.H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.

pictures. 'A jocular name for the flitches of bacon, &c., when hanging to a ceiling or against a wall': South Lancashire s. (—1905) rather than dial. EDD Sup.—2. Always the pictures, the cinema: coll.: 1915. Thomas Burke, 'Mother and Father... go to the pictures at the Palladium near Balham Station' (OED Sup.).—3. Hence, an operating-theatre: military: later WW1. (F. & G.) Under, e.g., ether, one sees fantastic things in dreams.—3. See lawful pictures.

pictures-queue. Joc. perversion of picturesque: coll.: C.20. Cf. humorous-queue, and picture askew.

pidde, n. Urine: coll., orig. mostly nursery: C.19–20. Hence, in have a piddle, to make water: id. Ex:-

pidde, v. To urinate: late C.18–20: coll., esp. childish; in C.20, low coll. (Grose, 3rd ed.) Ex piss influenced by peddle; perhaps an unconscious blend. Also, metaphorically, of ineffectual writing. Scott, letter of 10 Nov. 1814, concerning a play, 'He piddles through a cullender'.—2. Hence, of rain: low:—1887. 'It piddled buckets' (Baumann); cf., e.g., 'It's pissing it down' which, in later C.20, is felt to be 'stronger' (P.B.).

pidde about. To make an ado about nothing much; to 'faff about': C.20. Cf.:- piddling. Trivial; insignificant: low coll.: C.20.

pidgin, rarely pidjun, often pigeon; occ. pidjin. Pidgin- or pigeon-English, 'the jargon, consisting chiefly of English words, often corrupted in pronunciation, and arranged according to Chinese idiom, used for intercommunication between Chinese and Europeans at seaports, etc.' (SOD): coll. abbr. >, by 1930, S.E.: from ca. 1855. (By itself, pidgin, etc., occurs in 1850). W. gives an excellent official example. A Chinese corruption of business, perhaps via bidginess, bidgin; pigeon is an English 'improvement' on pidgin. (See esp. Fowler.) Cf. Beach-la-Mar and Lingua Franca. Mrs C. Raab: not to be confused with the S.E. pidgin used in Papua New Guinea, which is a language (or group of languages) in its own right.—2. See pigeon, n., 4.

pie, n. A prize, treat, 'easy thing': adopted, ex US, ca. 1910. Ex fruit pie. Cf. easy as pie, q.v.—2. 'Association of buyer at auction to buy at low prices and act as a monopoly' (B.P.): Aus. coll., esp. 'the wool pies': since late 1940s. Ex 'to have a finger in every pie'.—3. In like pie, zestfully, vigorously: s. verging on coll.: from ca. 1885; ob. Henley, 1887, 'I goes for 'Olman 'Unt like pie.' Tex zestful eating of pie.—4. In make a pie, to combine with a view to profit: coll.: ca. 1820–1910. Ex concerted cooking. P.B.: perhaps the orig. of sense 2.—5. In put into the pie, at book sales, to put into a large lot, to be sold at the end: auctioneers': from ca. 1860. B. & L.—6. See cock and pie; find a pie; pi; put in pie; pye.

pie, adj. Adj. ex pie, n., 1: from ca. 1912.

pie-ackers. '[The Petty Officer] shook his head: "I don't know, these National Service [sc. sailors] give me the screaming pie-ackers"' (Heart, 1962); i.e. give a feeling of intense irritation and revulsion: RN: mid-C.20. Perhaps cf. piache, q.v. (P.B.)

pie and mash. A urination: rhyming s., on slash: later C.20. David Hillman writes, 1974, 'An alternative to Frazer-Nash [q.v.], and a culinary delight for East Enders.' Mash = mashed potatoes.

pie and one. Son: rhyming s.: C.20. 'Seldom heard, and probably applicable also to "sun"' (Franklyn 2nd). Cf. Bath bun.

pie-ard. A term of abuse in the Army: late C.19–20. Ex Hindustani for a pariah dog. The RAF used the term, ca. 1920–45, for 'any dog' (Jackson), and the army, WW2 and after, esp. in Middle and Far East used pie dog of any desert or pariah dog. Y. & B. note its use in this sense, and spell it pye, q.v.

pie at (or on), be. To be very good at (something): NZ and Aus.: C.20. (B., 1941.) Pie on is prob. ex Maori pai ana.

pie-can. A fool; a half-wit: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon). ?cf. juggins and muggins.

pie-eater. 'Someone of no importance' (B., 1959): Aus.: C.20. Wilkes notes variants pie-biter and pie-cruncher. P.B.: ?ex the simile (as) Australian as meat-pie, hence 'Everyman'.

pie-eyed. Tipsy: adopted, ca. 1943, ex US, where it derives ex Standard American pie-eyed, having the eyes pie'd, i.e., disordered, unable to focus.

pie-face. Another version of pie-eater.

pie in the sky when you die, often prec. by you'll get or, occ. and loosely, there'll be. A derivative, basically cynical American c.p., implying that the hope of a happy hereafter is illusory. P.B.: hence pie-in-the-sky, adj., of notions, attitude, etc., foolishly idealistic: later C.20. See PIE IN THE SKY, in Appendix.

pie-jaw or piejaw. Incorrect forms of pi-jaw. A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.

pie match. A cricket match after which the losing side pays for a feast: Rugby School: from ca. 1860. By 1966, †. (David Wharton, 1966.)

pie-pusher. A street pieman: low coll.:—1909 (Ware).

pie-shop. A dog: low London: 1842–ca. 1915. Ware.

piebald. V.t., formed (—1909) ex, and corresponding to piebald eye, q.v.

piebald, adj. 'Bloody': euph.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. ruddy.

piebald eye. A black eye: low: late C.19–20. Ware.

piebald mucker sheeny. A low old Jew: East London:—1909 (Ware).

piebald pony. A half-caste (Aboriginal) child: Northern Territory, Aus.: since ca. 1920. Ernestine Hill, The Territory, 1951.

piece. A woman or girl: C.14–20: S.E. until late C.18, then (low) coll. and gen. pej. Esp. sexually, as in Grose, 3rd ed.: 'A damned good or bad piece; a girl who is more or less active and skilful in the amorous congress'. (Also C.19–20 dial.) Cf. the Cambridge toast, ca. 1810–30, 'May we never have a piece (peace) that will injure the Constitution.' It has, in C.19–20, been used, apprehended as elliptical for piece of tail; cf. piece of mutton, and the relevant entries at bit of... —2. A half-crown; gen. two pieces, 5s, or three pieces, 7s 6d: racing c.: C.20. Abbr. half-crown piece.—3. A slice of bread: Scot., esp. Glaswegian, coll.: late C.19–20.—4. Patter: pitch-holders' in any open market, e.g. the old Caledonian, that in Portobello Road, the Sunday market in Petticoat Lane: late (?mid)-C.19–20.—5. In drunken piece, a drunkard: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).—6. In on piece, very much; very quickly: Services', other ranks': earlier 1930s. A man buying many drinks within a very short space of time is said to get them in on piece.—7. In (right) through the piece, for the duration of the war: Services' coll., mostly NZ: WW1. (B. & P.) Ex sitting through a play.—8. As the piece, the thing, matter, affair; it: lower classes': late C.19–20. E.g., 'He'll fight the piece out with you.'—9. See say (one's) piece.

-piece. 'As a suffix, e.g. in arsepiece and crutchpiece, applied to those portions of the anatomy: "Lovely little arsepiece on her, hasn't she!" or, as superfluous explanation by one indelicately scratching himself, "Itch in the crutchpiece!"' (P.B., 1974): prob. mainly Services', perhaps orig. RN (see quon't at chuff-piece): since ca. 1950. See also snout-piece, and ring, n., 3.

piece-broker. A 'fence' specialising in stolen cloth: c.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

piece of cake, a. 'A thing that is easy to handle or an unmistakable opportunity' H. & P.): RAF: since ca. 1938. 'A cakewalk, a snip' (H. & P.): or rather, perhaps, something as easy to take as a portion of cake. It's a Piece of Cake or R.A.F. Slang Made Easy, by Squadron-Leader C.H. Ward-Jackson, 1943. For other festive or comestible terms, cf. party and groceries, cookie and cabbage. P.B.: the phrase dated rapidly after WW2, but was still current at the time of the Berlin air-lift, 1948, when a cartoon appeared depicting a Transport Command pilot saying, 'Oh, it's a piece of Gatow, old boy!' Gatow was one of the Berlin airfields vital to the supply operation.

piece of dough for the troops. A catamite: Forces': since ca. 1910.

piece of duff, a. An occ. var. of the prec. Jackson, 1943.

piece of entire. A jolly fellow: ca. 1820–80. Cf. later bit of all right.

piece of homework (or of knitting). See homework and knitting, and cf.:-

piece of muslin. A female, esp. a girl: (low) coll.: ca. 1875–1910. Prob. an elab. of S.E. piece of goods: cf. the C.20 bit of skirt.

piece of mutton. A female viewed as a sexual partner: low coll.: C.17–early 19.

piece of nice. An attractive girl: RN and RAF: 1940+. Granville; Partridge, 1945.

piece of piss. A 'piece of cake' (as above): RAF: 1940+. So often it turned out to be not quite so easy, not quite so pleasant as the 'It'll be a piece of cake' had led one to expect. P.B.: in later C.20, common also in the army, and applied always to something considered very easy, often contemptuously.

piece of pudding. A piece of good luck; a welcome change: proletarian: from ca. 1870; ob. B. & L.

piece of resistance (not pièce de résistance). Constipation: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1942.) A pun!

piece of stray. A chance complainant woman; a married man's mistress: mostly Forces': 1939+.

piece of stuff. A woman: since C.17 (even earlier). Moe cites Thomas Middleton, Michaelmas Term, 1607, at III, i.

piece of thick. A piece of pressed cake tobacco: proletarian: from ca. 1860. B. & L.

piece of toffee. A 'toff': c. and low s.: since ca. 1920. Nicholas Blake, The Whisper in the Gloom, 1954.

piece of work. A commotion, fuss, disorderly bustle: coll.: 1810, 'He kept jawing us, and making a piece of work all the time' (OED).—2. A person: from ca. 1920. Always pej.: nearly always prec. by nasty ('X is a nasty piece of work'); the ref. is either to moral character or to physical appearance, esp. looks, the latter often with an ethical implication.

piece-out. Employment, a job (esp. if temporary), a loan: tailors': from ca. 1860. (F. & H.: Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928.) Ex the S.E. v. sense, 'to enlarge by the addition of a piece': cf. also S.E. piece-work.

piece one. First rate: pidgin (mid-C.19–20) > RN in C.20. (Granville.) Cf. number one piece.

pieces. Money: c.: mid-C.19–early 20. (B. & L.) Perhaps, as Douglas Leechman has suggested, ex 'pieces of eight'.—2. In do (one's) pieces, to go mad: army: ca. 1925–50. Cf. do (one's) nut, crunch, tank, etc.—3. Also in do (one's) pieces, to lose money by betting; racecourse: since ca. 1925. (Alan Betts, The Awful Punter's Book, 1967.) Perhaps a continuation of sense 1.—4. In fall, or go, to pieces, to be brought to childbed: mid-C.19–earlier 20: s. > coll.—5. As the pieces, the ship's guns: RN officers' coll.: C.20. (Granville.) The coll. revival of an S.E. term long obsolete, as in 'pieces of ordnance'.—6. See all to pieces.

piejaw. See pie-jaw.

pieman. The player who cries at pitch-and-toss: from ca. 1850; ob. Ex the real pieman's cry, 'Hot pies, toss or buy, toss or buy' (H.). In C.20, simply the game, not only the caller (R. Samuel, East End Underworld, 1981, glossary).—2. See pi-man.

pier-head jump. To do a... is 'To join a ship at the last moment' (Bowen): nautical: since early C.20. Hence a pier-head jumper, one who does this, and the use, in the RN, since ca. 1918, of pier-head jump as a term for a wholly unexpected draft-chit (P-G-R). Cf. crash posting.

pierce the hogshead. To deflower; to copulate: late C.16–mid-17. Lodowick Barrey, 1611 (Moe).

piercer. A piercing eye: 1752, Foote, 'She had but one eye... but that was a piercer' (OED): s. until C.19, then coll.; slightly ob.—2. A squint-eye says F. & H., 1902; I suspect this to be an error.

Piffer. A member of the Punjab Irregular Frontier Force: military, esp. Indian Army: late C.19–mid-20.

piffing. An † var. of spiffing, q.v.: never very gen.—2. N., sub-calibre firing: artillerymen's coll.: from ca. 1925. Also naval gunners', gen. as piffing: Bowen.

piffle. Very ineffective talk; feeble, foolish nonsense: from ca. 1890: s. ex dial. (C.19–20) > S.E. ca. 1925. Ex echoic piff (W.), though imm. ex the v. Saturday Review, 1 Feb. 1890, "'piffle" (to use a University phrase)'. OED.—2. A rifle; to shoot therewith: Charterhouse: C.20. By perversion.

piffle, v. To talk, to act, in an ineffective, esp. in a feeble, manner: dial. (—1847) >, ca. 1880, s. >, ca. 1925, S.E. (Halliwell.) For origin, see the n.—2. See the n., 2.

piffler. An ineffective trifler; a twaddler; 'an earnest futility, i.e. a person with a moral end in view, and nothing to back it but a habit of talking, or writing sentimental rubbish' (F. & H.): 1892 (OED): s. >, ca. 1925, S.E. Ex piffle, v.

piffing, adj. Trivial; feebly foolish; twaddling: C.20: s. >, ca. 1925, S.E. Ex piffle, v.

pig, n. A sixpence: c. and low: early C.17–early 20. (Fletcher, 1622; Grose.) Cf. hog, q.v.—2. A policeman (see China Street pig), a detective; esp. (also grunter) a police-runner: c. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux; H., who, in 1873, writes, 'Now almost exclusively applied by London thieves to a plain-clothes man, or a "nose".' The first two meanings, after going underground for two generations, were actively revived, throughout the British Commonwealth, by the 'counter-culture' and prob. influenced by US usage, ca. 1960, and applied even to prison guards and other law-enforcing men.—3. A pressman: printers': 1841 (Savage's Dict.). Cf. donkey, 1, a compositor.—4. A garment completely spoiled: tailors': mid-C.19–early 20. Also pork.—5. Hence, goods returned by a retailer to a wholesaler, or by wholesaler to manufacturer: drapers': from ca. 1870.—6. A small piece, esp. a bit, i.e. a section, of an orange: orig. children's, mostly Cockney:—1887 (Baumann); in C.20 more widely known and used.—7. A chancre: c.: C.20. Silent Kid, 1936.—8. An elephant: circus: C.20. (Edward Seago, Sons of Sawdust, 1934.) Cf. the Pig and Whistle Light Infantry.—9. A naval officer or Petty Officer: see pigs aft. As an Other Ranks' term for an officer, pig was also used by the R Aus. AF in WW2.—10. A rugby football: Aus. rugby footballers': C.20. (B., 1942.) Ex pigskin casing.—11. A locomotive; pig-mauler, locomotive engineer; pig(-)pen, locomotive roundhouse: Can. railroadmen's:—1931.—12. A prostitute: low Can.: since ca. 1930. Brian Moore, The Luck of Ginger Coffey, 1960.—13. A girl; a young woman: beatniks': late 1950s+. (Anderson).—14. A Humber 10-ton armoured personnel-carrier: army, esp. in N. Ireland: since ca. 1969. (P.B.).—15. In in pig, pregnant: rural upper classes': since late Nancy Mitford, The Pursuit of Love, 1945.—16. As the Pig, The Blue Boar Hotel, Trinity Street, Cambridge: University of Cambridge, mostly undergraduates': C.20. (David Wharton, 1966).—17. In go at it like a pig at a tater (i.e. potato), to act 'like a bull in a china shop': late C.19–20; orig., Black Country dial.; by 1930, a gen. Midlands coll. (Richard Merry).—18. In grease (or stuff) a fat pig (or sow) in the arse (or tail), to give unnecessarily, e.g. to a rich man: the grease...arse form, ca. 1670–1830; the stuff

... tail, late C.18–19; low coll.—19. In like a pig—no good alive, selfish; greedy; covetous: coll. and dial.: late C.16–20; in C.19–20, mainly dial. In C.16–18, gen. hog, and nearly always in form ... he'll do no good alive. Apperson.—20. In give (one) a pig of (one's) own sow, to pay one back in his own coin: semi-proverbial coll.: ca. 1530–1890. 'Proverbs' Heywood; Fielding; Reade. (Apperson).—21. See Anthony; bleed like a p.; boiled p. at home; brandy is Latin ...; brinded pig; cold p.; excuse my pig; flying p.; Goodyer's p.; guinea-pig, 6; happy as pigs; keep a p.; long p.; snore like a p.; stare like a dead p.; teach a p.; then comes a p.; wrong p.; pig's, pigs and pigs are up.

pig, v.t. To damage or spoil completely: tailors': C.20. To treat as a pig would.

pig-a-back. A corruption, esp. children's, of pick-a-back. See piggy-back.

pig and roast. Toast (bread): army rhyming s.: ca. 1939–45. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Pig and Tinder-Box, the. The Elephant and Castle tavern, London: ca. 1820–90. Egan, 1821, 'Toddle to the Pig and Tinder-Box ... a drap of comfort there.' Cf. pig, n., 8.

Pig and Whistle, the. A ship's canteen; the crew's, entertainers' recreation room and bar on passenger liner: nautical: C.20. Ex popular name for esp. country or working-men's pub.—2. Also a certain college staircase: at Oxford (?): from ca. 1860. Perhaps connected with 'the Pig and Whistle', a coach mentioned in Tom Brown's Schooldays.

Pig and Whistle Light Infantry, the. The Highland Light Infantry (before ca. 1882, the 71st and 74th Regiments of Foot): military: mid-C.19–early 20. The 71st had an Elephant and Hunting Horn badge. F. & G.

Pig and Whistle line. See Chidley Dyke.

Pig Bridge. The beautiful Venetian-like bridge over the Cam, where it passes St. John's College, and connecting its quads. Thus called because the Johnians are styled pigs' (Ware): Trinity College, Cambridge: mid-C.19–20. Note Ware's mistake of using the Oxford quad instead of the Cambridge court.

pig-eater. An endearment: C.19.

pig-faced lady. The boar-fish: Tasmanian coll.: ca. 1840–90. Morris.

pig-fucker or, when there's company, the P.F. man. That man who, in a lumber camp, looks after the tools: Can. lumbermen's: C.20.

pig-ignorant. Very ignorant, esp. of social usage: coll.: since ca. 1945. Occ., joc., pig-iggers. Perhaps orig. Cockney: cf. pig-sick. (P.B.)

pig in a poke. A blind bargain: mid-C.16–20; coll. till C.19, then S.E. A poke here = a bag; indeed, bag is occ. substituted.

pig in the middle. See piggy in the middle.

pig in the wall. See course a-grunt.

pig in with. To share a home, esp. lower-middle-class deprecation of offer of temporary lodging: early C.20. (L.A., 1974.) Cf. pig it, q.v.

pig-iron polisher. An engine-room rating: RN: C.20. Bowen.

Pig Islander. A New Zealander: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. Ex the (formerly) numerous wild pigs in rural NZ.

pig it. Late C.19–20 coll. form of ob. S.E. pig, live filthily together.

pig-jump, jumper, jumping. 'To jump ... from all four legs, without bringing them together': a horse that does this, the doing thereof: Aus.: resp. 1893, 1892, 1893. OED.

pig-market. The proscholium of the Divinity School at Oxford: Oxford University: late C.17–early 18. 'Oxonianses' Wood, 1681. OED.

pig-mauler. See pig, n., 11.

pig-meater. A bullock that will not fatten: Aus.: 1884, 'Rolf Boldrewood'. Because fit only for pigs' food. Contrast pigs' meat.

pig-mill. A canteen: industrial Aus.: since ca. 1920. D'Arcy Niland, 1958.

pig-months. Those months in which there is an r (September–April); non-aristocratic: C.19–20; ob. Ware, 'The months in which you may more safely eat fresh pork than in the ... summer months.'

pig-on-bacon. A bill drawn on a branch firm not gen. known to be such: commercial: from not later than 1920. (OED Sup.) Its two signatures are therefore worth, or equivalent to, only one. Cf. draw pig on pork, q.v.

pig-party. Copulation with the same girl by several males in succession: teenage gangsters' and mentally retarded's. (New Society, 2 July 1963.) Cf. gang-bang, and pig, n., 12 and 13.

pig-pen. See pig, n., 11.

pig-poker. A swineherd: coll. and dial.: C.19.

pig-running. The chasing, in sport, of a short-tailed, well-greased and/or-soaped, preferably large pig: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1780–1890. (Grose, 1785.) The sport is extant.

pig-sconce. A dullard; a lout: coll.: ca. 1650–1900. Massinger; Meredith.

pig shearing time. Never: railwaymen's: C.20. McKenna.

pig-sick. Extremely irritated; annoyed and disgusted; esp., e.g., 'He makes me pig-sick the way he keeps on ...': mainly Londoners': C.20. Cf. pig-ignorant for use of pig as intensive. Also pig-sick of (someone or -thing); an intensification of sick, adj., 1.

pig-stick. "'A high-powered disrupter, a standard weapon for use against devices.'" Bombs are never bombs, always devices' (New Society, 24 Apr. 1980): army bomb-disposal experts', esp. in N. Ireland.

pig-sticker. A pork-butcher: low: from ca. 1850.—2. A long-bladed pocket-knife: from ca. 1880.—3. A sword: from ca. 1890. Cf. porker, q.v.—4. A bayonet: C.20: military. B. & P.—5. A cavalryman, or his lance: Brit. infantrymen's: WW1.

pig-sticking. Sodomy: low Can.: since ca. 1920.

pig-sty. The press-room: printers': from ca. 1845. Ex pig, 3.—2. An abode, a place of business: joc. coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex pig-sty, a miserable hovel. Cf. piggery; diggings; den.—3. RN lowerdeck term for the wardroom: since ca. 1914. See pigs aft, and cf. Aus. Services' use of snake-pit in this sense, for an officers' or NCOs' mess.—4. A sty: Aus. joc.: C.20. (Ruth Park, Poor Man's Orange, 1950.) 'No longer jocular. It has become a solecism' (B.P., mid-1963).

Pig-tail (or pigtail), n. A Chinese: 1886, Cornhill, July (OED): by 1905, S.E.; but ob. from 1911, when the queue was abolished in China at the establishment of the Republic. The 'pig-tail' had been a mark of enslavement to the Manchu dynasty.—2. (Also as pigtail.) An old man: low urban coll.: ca. 1810–45. Ware, 'From the ancients clinging to the 18th century mode of wearing the hair'.—3. A roll of coarse tobacco: ?ca. 1780–1860. 'He answered, squirting a quid of pig-tail on the floor' (Wm Maginn, Whitehall, 1827). Still extant in C.20 for Navy perique tobacco: ex the shape of the roll (Granville). Cf. prick n., 6, q.v.—4. A naval seaman: late (? mid-)C.18–mid-19. (L.L.G., Sep. 1823: Moe.) Cf. sense 2.—5. Penis: C.20. Perhaps domestic in origin; cf. tail, n., 2.

pig-tail, adj. Chinese, as in pig-tail brigade, party, land: coll.: late C.19–early 20. (OED.) See prec., 1.

Pig-Tails. Shares in the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1890. Cf. Kaffirs, and see Pig-tail, n., 1.

pig trough. 'Defensive weapon used in merchant ships against low-flying aircraft or surface raiders; from the appearance of this secret device' (Granville): WW2.

pig-tub. The receptacle for kitchen refuse: lower classes':—1887; slightly ob. Baumann.

pig-widgeon, -widgein. A simpleton; a fool: coll.: ca. 1685–1890. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.) An intensive of widgeon, fig. used of a fool (—1741), just possibly influenced by gudgeon. Prob. related to S.E. pigwiggen, -in. Cf.:

pig-Willie. Affectionately abusive (usu. vocative) for small boy, puppy, etc.: Yorkshire: C.20. (Mrs P.M.C. Pearsall, 1980.)

pig-yoke. A quadrant; a sextant: nautical: 1836, Marryat, 'This was the "ne plus ultra" of navigation; ... old Smallsole could not do better with his pig-yoke and compasses.' Somewhat ob. Ex the roughly similar shape.

pigeon, n. (Gen. in pl.) One of a gang of lottery-sharper that specialise in insuring tickets: late C.18–early 19 c. Grose, 3rd ed., where see a full description.—2. Hence, any person hastening with news surreptitiously obtained: c. of ca. 1820–50. 'Jon Bee'.—3. A simpleton; a dupe: from ca. 1590. (G. Harvey, 1893.) Esp. in pluck a pigeon, to 'fleece' someone. Cf. pigeon, v.—4. (Also pidgin, q.v.) Business, concern, duty, task: orig. China Coast pidgin, from early C.19; >, in C.20, coll. verging on informal S.E. It occurs in Basil Hall, Voyage... to Eastern Seas, in the Year 1816, published at Edinburgh in 1826, "I come to see about your pigeon". ... I afterwards learned that... "pigeon" in the strange jargon ... spoken at Canton by way of English, means business ... "I am come to see about your business." (Moe).—5. In 1941–2, an airman was occ., in the RAF, called pigeon.—6. 'A Naval nuisance and trouble-maker' (Granville): RN: C.20.—7. See blue pigeon; milk the pigeon; Paul's pigeon; shoot at a pigeon.

pigeon, v. To deceive grossly; dupe; swindle: 1675 (Cotton); 1807, E.S. Barrett, 'Having one night been pigeoned of a vast property' (OED, which classifies as S.E.): but surely s. (cf. pigeon, n., 3).—2. See pigeon the news.

pigeon cobbler. A friend, a companion, who keeps or races pigeons: Aus.: since ca. 1950, or rather earlier. (Jack Slater, 1978.)

pigeon-cracking. Synon with pigeon-flying: 1859 (H., 1st ed.).

pigeon-fancier. A professional gambler: gamblers' c. of ca. 1800–50. (J.J. Stockdale, The Greeks, 1817.) Pun on pigeon, n., 3.

pigeon-flying. Stealing lead from roofs on buildings: c.: C.19–20. Also blucy-cracking. (H., 1859.) See blue pigeon.

pigeon gremlin. A patronising gremlin, active only in hot weather: RAF: 1940–5. And see GREMLINS, in Appendix.

pigeon-hole. A too-wide gap between two words: printers: 1683 (Moxon); ob. Cf. rat-hole, q.v.—2. A small study: Winchester College: from ca. 1850.—3. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20.

pigeon-hole soldiers. Clerks and orderlies: army coll.: later C.19–early 20. Echo, 1 July 1871.

pigeon-holes. The stocks; the instrument confining the hands of a prisoner being flogged: c.: late C.16–17. Greene, Eachard. OED.

pigeon on. To drop (something) on to a person from above: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

pigeon pair. (Human) feet of exactly the same size: shoemakers': C.20. Perhaps j. rather than s. (L.A., 1976.) Mrs G. Bell reminds me, 1983, that the phrase is used of family comprising a girl and a boy.

pigeon post. 'Used facetiously for Air Mail, mostly among postal workers' (Petch, 1974): later C.20.

pigeon the news. To send news by carrier-pigeon: s. verging on coll.: from ca. 1820. ('Jon Bee'.) Cf. pigeon, n., 2.

pigeon-toed. With one's feet turned in as one walks: s. >, in C.20, coll. EDD cites Barham, Ingoldsby Legends, 1864. Cf. hen-toed.

pigeoner. A swindler or a sharper: 1849 (OED); coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. Ex pigeon, v.

pigeons. In catch (or take) two pigeons with one bean, to 'kill two birds with one stone': semi-proverbial coll.: ca. 1550–1700. North's Dial of Two Princes, 1557; Ray, Apperson.—2. Pigeons and pigs: the boys of St Paul's and St Anthony's Schools were respectively called thus by each other: C.16 and later. See Paul's pigeons and Anthony pig for a possible explanation. (P.B.)—3. See fly the pigeons.

piggery. A room in which one does just as one wishes and which is rarely cleaned: coll.: C.20. Prob. suggested by S.E. snuggery.

piggie. See piggie.

piggie turn. 'The "piggie turn" is a 360 degree wing over turn' (Sunday Times mag., 25 Nov. 1979): RN helicopter pilots': late 1970s.

piggies. Toes of baby or small child: domestic: late C.19–20. Ex the nursery story, 'This little piggy went to market, this little piggy stayed at home.' (B.P.)—2. The oppressors—anyone from bigots to racists, fascists, the police: among teenagers and their mental, moral, cultural equivalents in their twenties: since ca. 1965. Jansen cites the song 'Piggies' in the Beatles' 'White Album', released Nov. 1968. A derivative ex pig, n., 2.

piggot, Piggot; Pigott. To forge: political coll.: 1889–ca. 1895. 'A reminiscence of the Parnell Commission: the expression was born in the House of Commons, 28th Feb., 1889' (F. & H.).—2. Ware shows that it was used also as 'to tell an unblushing lie to', gen. in the passive; that there was a n. corresponding to this sense of the v.; that the term derived from the forger Pigott—which is the correct spelling.

pigggy. Pick-a-back: children's: C.20. Short for pigggy-back, pick-a-back.—2. A rating detailed to keep tidy a Petty Officers' mess; a messman: RN lowerdeck: since ca. 1910. Mostly as a nickname. (P-G-R.) Cf. peggy, 1–3, qq.v.—3. The 'inevitable' nickname of any man surnamed May: Services': late C.19–earlier 20. Bowen.—4. See piggies.

pigggy-back. A nursery and dial. var. of pick-a-back: C.19–20. Also, pig-a-back (Manchon).

pigggy bank. One's 'nest egg' or savings: joc. coll.: since ca. 1930. Often, in later C.20, as in, e.g., 'That's a bit steep! I shall have to raid the piggy bank for that!' Ex children's moneybox in this traditional shape. (P.B.)

pigggy (occ. pig) in the middle. A person 'caught in the middle' of a dispute, yet obliged to make some decision: since ca. 1960. Sir Edward Playfair cites The Times, 1 and 27 Sep. 1977. Ex the game played by three in a line, in which the middle one has to intercept a ball tossed between the players on each end.

pigggy-stick. The wooden helve of the entrenching tool: military: from 1914. (B. & P.) Ex the children's game of tip-cat and the stick's usefulness in a 'rough house'.

pigggy-wig; pigggy-wigggy. A pet pig; hence, a humorous endearment: coll.: resp. 1870, Lear; 1862, Miss Yonge. OED.

Pigot, pigot; properly Pigott. See pigot.

pig's arse. As pig's arse to that! or in a pig's arse, expresses dissent or disbelief: low Aus.: since ca. 1945, perhaps much earlier. See pig's eye, 3.

pig's back. See on the pig's back, in luck's way.

pig's bastard. A person, usu. male, much disliked; a particularly unpleasant task or thing: low coll.: since the 1930s. 'He's a right pig's bastard, that one!' Also pig's orphan—as a euphemism! (P.B.)

pig's ear. Beer: rhyming s.: since later C.19. (D.W. Barrett, Navvies, 1880.) See also pigs, 1.—2. A very large lapel or collar flap: tailors': ca. 1860–1930. Also pig's lug.—3. A 'side light colour signal' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: C.20.—4. In make a pig's ear, to blunder: mostly middle-class: since ca. 1945. Elizabeth Hargreaves, A Handful of Silver, 1954, "I've made a real pig's ear of it, haven't I?" said Basil, with an attempt at lightness.' (L.A., who suggests poss. rhyming s. on smear. More prob. a euph. for pig's arse.)—5. In never in a pig's ear, never: rhyming s., on year: later C.20. Powis.

pig's eye. In cards, the ace of diamonds: low:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.) Ex appearance.—2. As the pig's eye, the correct thing; 'splendid', excellent: Can.:—1932 (John Beames); † by 1959 (Leechman).—3. To convey an emphatic negative, thus: 'In a pig's eye, you could!': Can.: adopted, ca. 1945, ex US. (Leechman.) The phrase in a pig's eye was orig. euph. for in a pig's arse or ... arse-hole, as in a bawdy song current long before 1940. (US correspondent.) By ca. 1945, also Aus.

pig's face. 'A nickname for the ice-plant' (B., 1943): Aus.: C.20.

pig's foot! See my foot!

pig's fry. A tie: from ca. 1880. (P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.) Cf. Peckham rye and contrast pig's ear, 1.—2. To try: rhyming s.: C.20. Axel Bracey, Public Enemies, 1934.

pig's-head negus. An inferior, evil-tasting soup: RN lower-deck: ca. 1800–60. Basil Hall, 2nd series, 1932.

pig's lug. See pig's ear, 2.

pigs' meat. Officers' wives—or mistresses: RN lower-deck: since ca. 1930. (Peppitt.) See pigs aft.—2. Hence, 'a Wren who will go out only with officers and who is constantly dated by them' (Miss Margot Wood, 1978): WRNS: since ca. 1950.

pig's orphan. An unpleasant, disagreeable fellow: RN: since late 1940s. (Peppitt.) See also pig's bastard.

pigs. Beer: elliptical for pig's ear. (P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.) 'Nah, not a pint of pig's' (Tommy Steele, the famous comedian, as reported in Cinema early in Dec. 1967).—2. Small potatoes: farmers': C.20.—3. Rugby League Football forwards: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1930. Alex Buzo, The Roy Murphy Show, prod. 1971, pub. 1973.—4. As the Pigs, the 76th Regt of Foot (from 1881 the 2nd Battalion, the West Riding Regiment): army nickname: C.19. (F. & G.) Ex its badge, granted for brilliant service in the Maharatta War (1803–5). Also the Old Immortals and the Old Seven-and-Sixpennies, qq.v.—5. Elliptical, ex pig's ear, 4, q.v. 'Mistakes, mess, hash—to make a pigs' (Strong & Hart-Davis, Fighter Pilot, 1981): RAF: later C.20.—6. See please the pigs; pigs to a fair; pigs to market; Royal Corps of Pigs; pigs aft; and pigs! A derisive or contemptuous exclam.: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1943.) But prob. earlier: witness Norman Lindsay, Saturday, 1933, 'Pigs to your old man.' Wilkes, 'Abbr. in a pig's arse': see pig's arse.

pigs aft. The officers regarded as drinking in the Wardroom: lower-deck: since ca. 1910. (Robert Harling, The Steep Atlantick Stream, 1946.) In sing., usu. reduced to pig (see also pig, n., 9). Also as Naval pigs (officers) and small pigs (petty officers): lower-deck. P-G-R.

pigs and whistles, go to. To be ruined: Scots coll.: from ca. 1780. Mrs Carlyle, 1862, uses make p. and w. of as = to upset, or perturb, very greatly. In Scots, pigs and whistles is fragments. OED.

pigs are up. 'The barrage balloons are up' (H. & P.): Services': WW2. Ex the shape, and wallowing motion.

pigs fly. See when pigs fly.

pigs in shit; e.g., as comfortable as ... The utmost comfort, utterly comfortable: low coll.: esp. in the Services: late C.19–20. P.B.: cf. the, in later C.20, more common as happy as pigs (or a pig) in shit: both phrases sometimes euphemised as pigs in clover.

pigs (occ. hogs) to a fair—more gen. a fine-market, bring (one's). To do well; make a profit: C.17–20: coll. >, by 1800, S.E. Rowlands, Urquhart, Murphy (carry), Planché, Apperson.

pigs (or hogs) to market, drive (one's). To snore: coll.: C.18–20; ob. (In C.19–20, mainly dial.) Origin explained in Swift's 'I had he fell asleep, and snored so hard, that we thought he was driving his hogs to market.' New Zealanders (late C.19–20) say drive the pigs home, esp. driving ...

pig's(-)whisper. A grunt: low coll.: C.19–20. Whence:—2. In a pig's whisper, very quickly indeed; in a very short time: s. > low coll.: implied in Bee, 1823; 1837, Dickens, 'You'll find yourself in bed in something less than a pig's whisper'.

pigskin. A saddle: sporting: from ca. 1860. Dickens. Hence a knight of the pigskin, q.v. at knight of ..., a jockey. Cf.: pigskin artist. A jockey: Aus.: since ca. 1912. B., 1942.

pigsn(e)y; occ. in pl. (-yes.) An endearment: C.14—early 19: S.E. till C.18, when (Grose, 1785) low if used to a woman. (But it is extant in several dial: EDD.) Lit., pig's eye, with intrusive or prosthetic n.

pigsty. See pig-sty.

pigtail. See pig-tail.

pijaw. An occ. form of pi-jaw (see pi-gas and pi-jaw).

pike, n. A turnpike road: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1835. (Sessions, May 1839.) Later, mostly US.—2. A toll-bar or -gate: coll. and dial.: 1837 (Dickens). Abbr. turnpike. Hence, bilk a pike, to cheat a toll-keeper: low: C.18–19.—3. The toll paid thereat: coll.: 1837 (Dickens, fig. of death: OED).—4. A tramp: c.: from ca. 1860; ob. Ex turnpike road or perhaps ex piker, q.v.—5. In hit the pike, to take to the road; to start travelling: Can. (ex US?): since ca. 1910. (Leechman).—6. See pyke; tip a pike.

pike, v. To depart: from ca. 1520: S.E. until 1650, then s.; in C.18–20, low s. verging on c. B.E. Ex pike oneself, same sense.—2. In C.18–20 c., to go; occ. to run: Shirley, The Triumph of Wit, 1724; Grose, 1st ed.—3. Hence, to die: late C.17–20: low s. (B.E.) All senses often in form pike off.—4. As go pike, to walk; depart: coll. and dial.: C.16–17. Cf. sense 1, and tip a pike and if you don't like it ..., qq.v.—5. To indulge in sharp practice; to cheat: see piking. Some Brit. use since mid-C.20.

pike II An interj. implying prior claim or privilege: schools': C.19–20; ob. ?=I go first. (Cf. bags and bags I; and pledge.) Also in the form, prior pike!

pike it. To go, depart: c. > low s.: late C.18–20. G. Parker, ca. 1789, 'Into a booze-ken they pike it.' Elab. of pike, v., 1.

pike-keeper. A toll-keeper: coll. and dial.: 1837 (Dickens). Abbr. turnpike-keeper.

pike off. To depart; run away: c.: late C.17–20; ob. In mid-C.19–20, it is also common in dial.—2. To die: c.: late C.17—early 20. B.E., both senses: elaborations of pike, go, die.

pike on the been (or bene). To run away as fast as possible: c.: mid-C.17–18. (Coles, 1676; A New Canting Dict., 1725.) Origin, meaning of been ?Prob. it = bien, bene, excellent: hence, run away on a good road, i.e. to good purpose.

piked off, ppl adj. Clear away, safe; dead: c.: late C.17–20; ob. B.E.

pikeman. A toll-keeper: coll. and dial.: 1857 ('Tom Brown' Hughes). Cf. pike-keeper.

piker. A tramp or a vagrant; occ. a gipsy: c. (—1874) ex dial. (—1838). Borrow, Lavo-Lil, 1874. Ex pike, v., 1, or pike it. Cf. synon. piky.—2. The nose: N. Country (mostly Northumberland) low s.: late C.19–20. EDD.—3. A wild bullock: Aus.: later C.19 (Wilkes); by mid-C.20, as defined by Mary Durack, in Keep Him My Country, 1955, 'a troublesome beast to muster'. Prob. ex pike (off), go, depart.—4. A man that habitually takes more than his share: low: adopted, ca. 1931, ex US.—5. One who ventures but timidly: Can. (ex US) since ca. 1930; also Aus. (B.P., who notes that it has 'killed sense 7').—6. Hence, a shirker: adopted, ca. 1943, ex US; also NZ (Slatter).—7. A confidence trickster: Aus.: since ca. 1935. B., 1943.—8. 'A mean, contemptible person' (Culotta): Aus.: since ca. 1944.

pikestaff. The penis: low coll.: C.18—early 20.—2. See plain as a pikestaff.

pikety. A tramp, a gipsy: c. (or low s.) and dial.: since mid-C.19. (Tempest, 1950.) Cf. synon pike and piker. piking, vbl n. 'Sharp practice' (Culotta): Aus.: since late 1930s. Cf. piker, 4 and 7, and pike, v., 5.

pilcher. Shakespeare's pilcher is not c., as described by F. & H.—2. A coll. term of abuse: ca. 1600–40. (Ben Jonson.) Perhaps pilcher, a pilchard. OED.

pile, n. A large sum won: Glasgow coll.:—1934. Ex:—2. In make (one's) pile, to make a fortune: coll.: from ca. 1850. Orig. mostly Colonial and US; pile itself (1731) is S.E. Ex idea of a pile of coins.—3. Hence, go the whole pile, to 'go the whole hog': proletarian:—1887 (Baumann). I.e. to risk one's whole fortune.—4. In have a pile, to have a difficult task, a hard time: Can. coll.: late C.19–20. (W.A. Gape, Half a Million Tramps, 1936.) I.e. a 'pile' of trouble.

pile, v. See pile into.

pile-driver. The penis: low: mid-C.19—earlier 20.—2. A heavy blow or hit: sporting coll. from mid-C.19; in C.20, informal S.E. Augustus Mayhew, Paved with Gold, 1857; Manchon.—3. In 'soccer', a low, fast shot keeping about a foot above the ground: sporting: from ca. 1928.—4. See dekkoscope.

pile-driving. Sexual intercourse: low: mid-C.19–20. Cf. prec., 1.—2. 'Steaming or sailing into a heavy head sea': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

pile into. To climb; get (into a train): S.E. of a number of persons, but coll. when used of one person: C.20. D.L. Sayers, The Nine Tailors, 1934, 'He found a train going to London, and he piled into it.' I.e. in a heap or mass.—2. To attack; of a single person, usu. unarmed, coll., as 'He piled into his tormentor with fists flying'; like sense 1, of a number of people, armed, or of, e.g. tanks and aircraft, informal S.E.: since mid-C.20 at latest. (P.B.) pile it on is a coll. form of pile on the agony, q.v. at agony.

pile-jump. See TIDDLYWINKS, in Appendix.

pile o' mags. A conjurer: theatrical: ca. 1870–1914. B. & L.

pile on the coals. 'To accelerate rapidly, to open the throttle of car or aeroplane' (Peter Sanders): since ca. 1950. Cf. pour on ...

pile-up, n. A 'crash', orig. RAF, of aircraft: since ca. 1918. See next, esp. 2.—2. (Hence?), a crash involving several cyclists: racing cyclists' coll.: since ca. 1945.—3. Hence, a motorway accident involving several cars: journalists' coll.: since ca. 1955; by 1965, fairly gen., and by 1970s informal S.E. (R.S., 1967; P.B., 1980.)

pile up, v.t. To run (a ship) ashore: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. Hence, to smash (a motor-car) in such a way that it buckles up into a pile or heap: motorists' coll.: from ca. 1915. In WW1, pile up one's bus was the airmen's phrase for 'to crash' (F. & G.).—3. Hence, as v.i., (of an aircraft) to crash land: RAF: since ca. 1930. The plane becomes a pile—a heap of useless material. Cf. piled-in.

pile up points. 'To curry favour. A person who draws attention to his [own] "excellent qualities" with a view to advancement is said to pile up points' (Granville): RN: since ca. 1925. Ex sport.

pile up the rocks. See rocks, 6.

piled(-)in. (Of an aircraft) crashed: RAF: since ca. 1930; ob. by 1946. (Jackson.) Cf. pile up, v., 2 and 3.

Pilgarlic(k); in C.18, occ. Peel(e) Garlic, as in Grose (1st ed.). Used of oneself; almost always poor Pilgarlic: coll. and dial.: C.17–20; rare after ca. 1880. Anticipated in Skelton; Beaumont & Fletcher, 'There got he a knock, and down goes pil-garlick'; Echard, 1694; Swift, 'They all went to the opera; and so poor Pilgarlick came home alone'; Grose; Punch, 21 Apr. 1894, 'No! 'tis Bull is pilgarlic and martyr'; Collinson, 1927, 'The once popular "Everybody's down on poor Pilgarlic"'. Ex S.E. sense, a bald head—which resembles a peeled head of garlic. (Apperson and OED.) Ned Ward's use of the term, 1724, for 'a fop' seems doubtful.

pilgrim (usu. pl.). A newcomer, whether person or cattle: W. Can. (and US): late C.19–20.

pilgrim-salve or pilgrim's salve. Excrement: coll.: mid-C.17—early 19. Anon., A Modern Account of Scotland, 'The whole pavement is pilgrim-salve.' The OED considers it euph. S.E., but I very much doubt this classification.

Pilgrims, the. The earliest settlers in Canterbury, NZ: NZ coll.: late C.19–20. (B., 1943.) P.B.: no doubt influenced by the Pilgrim Fathers, 'The term applied to the English founders of Plymouth Colony, Massachusetts, 1620' (Brewer's Dict. of Phrase and Fable).

pilgrim's staff. The penis: low: C.18–19.

pill. A physician: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.); military from ca. 1855; † by 1915. Cf. bolus, q.v. Also pills (Cassell's Saturday Journal, 15 Mar. 1899).—2. A ball, esp. a black balloting-ball or a tennis ball: late C.19–20. Cf. pills, 4, and pill, v., 1.—3. (Of a person) a bore: 1897, Maugham, 'Liza of Lambeth, 'Well, you are a pill!' P.B.: still extant, 1983, it is perhaps now thought of as much as a contraction of pillcock, as being 'hard to swallow' or take. Or perhaps ex.—4. Punishment; suffering; a sentence of imprisonment: low coll.: from the mid-1890s. Ware, 'Endless in application'. Abbr. bitter pill; often 'That's a pill, that is!'.—5. A drink: from ca. 1899; ob.—6. As a cannon-ball or a bullet, pill (C.17–20) is rather joc. S.E. than coll. in C.17—mid-19, then coll.; in WW1, also a bomb.—7. (In billiards) see pills, 6.—8. A custom-house officer: nautical:—1909. Ware, 'Because both are so very searching'.

Cf. sense 1.—9. A cigarette: Can.: early C.20. B. & P.—10. A 'shot' of dagga (i.e. marijuana, Cannabis indica): S. African c.: C.20. Cape Times, 22 May 1946.—11. As The Pill, the Catholic periodical The Tablet: journalists', hence gen. joc.: since ca. 1945. (Petch, 1969.)—12. As the pill (or pill), esp. in on the pill, an oral contraceptive: coll.: since ca. 1960. But as Barry Prentice, a pharmacist, points out, 1974, 'there is no oral contraceptive in the form of a pill. They are tablets.' Cf. keep taking the tablets.

pill, v. To reject by ballot: 1855, Thackeray, 'He was coming on for election ... and was as nearly pilld as any man I ever knew in my life.'—2. Hence, to fail (a candidate) in an examination: 1908, A.S.M. Hutchinson (OED Sup.).—3. To shell, bombard: military: mid-C.19. Albert Smith, To China and Back, diary entry for 24 Aug. 1858, ref. to the current Anglo-Chinese war.—4. V.i., to twaddle, talk platitudinously: university: ca. 1885–1910. Cf. n., 3.

pill and poll, v.t. To cheat (a comrade) of (his 'regulars', q.v.): c.: from ca. 1835. Ex S.E. sense, to pillage.

Pill Avenue. Harley Street: taxi-drivers' (Weekly Telegraph, 12 Sep. 1941). Later known as Pill Island (Daily Telegraph, 18 May 1948). See pill-box, 8.

pill bo'sun. A doctor: R. Aus. N.: since ca. 1910. Cf. fang bo'sun, a dentist.

pill-box. A small brougham: coll.: 1855 (Dickens, referring, however, to a few years earlier); ob. by 1895, † by 1920.—2. A doctor's carriage: ca. 1870–1900. H., 5th ed.—3. A pulpit: joc. coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. (OED).—4. A soldier's cap: ca. 1890–1910. Ex the shape: round, and flat-topped.—5. A small concrete fort: late 1917: military coll. >, by June 1918, j. (F. & G.; B. & P.; Colonel E.G.L. Thurlow, The Pill-Boxes of Flanders, 1933.) Ex the resemblance of their shape to that of an oblong box for holding pills. For the genesis of the pill-box, see esp. 'Charles Edmonds', A Subaltern's War, 1929.—6. A General Staff Daimler limousine: military: 1917+.—7. A revolver: rare. Edward Woodward, The House of Terror, 1929.—8. As the Pill-Box, Harley Street, where practise the top consultants in the medical profession: London taxi-drivers': from ca. 1910. (London Evening News, 20 Jan. 1936.) See Pill Avenue.

pill-builder. A doctor: nautical: C.20. (Bowen.) Cf. pill-pusher; contrast:

pill-driver. An itinerant apothecary: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Ex S.E. pill-monger, -peddler. Cf. pill-pusher, q.v., and—pill-grinder. A pharmaceutical chemist: C.20. (M. Allingham, ca. 1947.) Cf. synon. pill-roller.

Pill Island. See Pill Avenue.

pill opera. A play or film about life in hospitals: since ca. 1960. 'Television doctor, romantic Dr Kildare, [is the] grand exemplar' (L.A., 1976). Influenced by soap opera, q.v.

pill-pate. A friar; a shaveling: C.16 coll. Bacon, 'These smeared pill-pates, I would say prelates ... accused him.' I.e. pilled or shaven pate.

pill-pusher. A doctor: lower classes':—1909 (Ware). Cf. (?ex) pill-driver, q.v.

pill-roller. A pharmaceutical chemist: lower classes': C.20. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) Cf. pill-pusher.

pill-yawl. 'A Bristol Channel pilot boat': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

pillar and post. A ghost: 'the ghost' (monetary): theatrical rhyming s.: late C.19–20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

pillar box. A rocket-projector: RN: since ca. 1942. Ex the shape. P-G-R. pillars to the temple. A woman's legs: Public Schoolmen's: late C.19–20. Not so much euph. as playfully allusive.

pilled-up (, get). (To get) 'stoned'—intoxicated—on drugs: drugs' world: since ca. 1965. Groupie, 1968.

pillers of society. Persistent black-baller at club elections: Royal Yacht Club: since ca. 1920. (Peppitt, 1976.) Cf. pill, v.; an obvious pun on the cliché pillars of society.

pill(l)icock, pill(l)cock, pillock. The penis: a vulgarity: C.14–18. Lyndsay, Florio, Cotgrave, Urquhart, D'Urfe.

—2. Hence an endearment, addressed to a boy: late C.16–17: a vulgarism. (Florio.) Whence:

pil(l)icock (etc.)-hill. The female pudend: low: C.16–17. Shakespeare, in King Lear, puns thus on Lear's pelican daughters: 'Pillicock sat on pillicock-hill.'

pill. The vbl n. of pill, v., 1. Recorded in 1882; but prob. 27 years earlier.

pillonaire. A female occupant of a 'peach-perch' or 'flapper-bracket': motorists:—1935. Ex pillion + millionaire.

pillock. 'Contemptuous expression for a man, esp. one who does not grasp manifest but unexpressed spirit of group' (L. A., 1976): low coll.: since ca. 1950, perhaps earlier. Among teenagers (and in more gen. use) simply 'an idiot, a foolish person' (David and Robin McPheely, 1978).—2. See pillicock, and:-

pillocks; pillocky. 'He's talking pillocks' (nonsense) and 'Don't talk so pillocky' (so foolishly and nonsensically): Cockneys': late C.19–20. Blends of pill(s), testicle(s), and its synonym ballocks, adj. ballocky. (Julian Franklyn.)

pillory. A baker: late C.17–mid-18. (B.E.) ?semantic.

pillow-mate. A wife; mistress; harlot: coll.: C.19–20.

pillow-securities. Safe scrip: financial coll.: ca. 1860–1915. Ware quotes Daily Telegraph, 8 July 1896, "Pillow securities"—those which do not trouble an investor's dreams at night and which a man need not worry about.'

pillows under folk's, men's, or people's elbows, sew. To give them a false sense of safety or security: coll.: late C.14–17. The Geneva Bible; Wycherley. OED.

pillowy. Large-breasted: low coll.: C.20. Ex S.E. sense, soft or yielding; esp. from pillowy bosom.

Pills, pills. A physician, esp. in Services; mostly as a nickname: in RN (since 1920, anyway), a Junior Medical Officer: Granville, 'The term is less popular than the more familiar "Doc".' Pills occurs in 'Bartimeus', A Tall Ship, 1915, and prob. dates from early C.20.—2. Hence, a medical officer's orderly: army: from ca. 1915. (F. & G.) Ex:—3. As the Pills, the Royal Army Medical Corps: army: late C.19–early 20. Cf. Linseed Lancers, Poultry-Wallopers, etc.—4. (Often as the pills.) Testicles: low: C.19–20. Cf. pill, n., 2.—5. Shells or bombs, including aerial bombs: Services': WW1+. (F. & G.) See pill, n., 6.—6. Billiards, esp. in play pills. Westminster Gazette, 28 Oct. 1896, 'We can play pills then till after lunch, you know' (OED).—7. The 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Holloway or Beecham: Services': resp. late C.19–earlier 20 (Bowen) and earlier C.20. Ex the well-known brand-names.—8. As exclam., also as all pills!, 'nonsense, you're talking rubbish!': low coll.: since ca. 1890. Ex sense 4; cf. synon. balls!—9. See pink pills...

pills (up), v.t. To spoil, mess up, 'make a pig's ear of': teenagers': early 1980s. (James Williamson, 1982.) Var of synon. balls up.

pilot. 'The navigating officer of a man-of-war' (Bowen): RN: C.20. Also as a nickname, as in 'Taffrail': 'The first lieutenant... is 'Jimmy the One': the gunnery and torpedo lieutenants, the "Gunnery Jack" and "Torpedo Jack" respectively, but, to their messmates in the wardroom, these three officers, with the officer borne for navigation duties, are usually "Number One", "Guns", "Torps", and "Pilot"'.—2. A watchman: Londoners': ca. 1810–40. (Pierce Egan, Life in London, 1821.) Cf. light-house, 3.—3. A racing-car driver: sporting: later C.20. (Time Out, 9 May 1980.) Perhaps ex:—4. The driver of any heavy-load vehicle: hauliers' s.: since ca. 1945.—5. See sky pilot, a chaplain.

pilot cove. A clergyman: (low) Aus.: C.20. (C.J. Dennis.) Ex prec., 5.

Pilot's Cockpit, the. The WAAF: RAF other ranks: later 1940s. A low pun.

pilot's grog. Additional liquor served in an Indiaman beating up the Hooghly under a pilot: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–early 20. Bowen.

Pils. (A drink of) Pilsener lager: since ca. 1925. (John Le Carré, A Small Town in Germany, 1968.) In May 1978 an advertising slogan appeared, 'Keep (on) taking the Pils', a pun on the c.p. Keep (on) taking the tablets—with a poss. side-glance at pill, n., 12.

pimgenet, pimgin(n)it. 'A large, red, angry Pimple' (B.E.); any pimple, OED: s. > coll.: late C.17–18; extant in C.19 as dial. Cf. the C.18 c.p. nine pimgenets make a pock royal.

Pimlico, walk in. (Of a man) to be handsomely dressed: ca. 1670–1720. (Aubrey.) The walks called Pimblico-Path, near the Globe Theatre, London, were frequented only by well-dressed men. Cf. the C.19 Devonshire to keep it in Pimlico, to keep a house clean and attractive. Apperson.

pimp, n. A male procurer: C.17–20. 'The word is app. of low slang origin, without any recorded basis' (The Century Dict.); B.E. and Grose still consider as s. or coll., but prob. S.E. by 1660. Perhaps ex Old Fr. pimpreneau, a scoundrel (W.).—2. 'A small faggot used about London [and the Southern counties] for lighting fires, named'—orig., Defoe tells us, by the woodmen—from introducing the fire to the coals' (Grose, 1st ed.). Coll.: from ca. 1720.—3. A police informer: Aus. low pej.: since 1930s. Wilkes quotes Xavier Herbert, Capricornia, 1938. Cf.:—4. A sneak, a tell-tale: Aus. and NZ (mostly juvenile) coll.: C.20. B., 1942; E.P.

pimp, v. 'To do little, mean, petty actions' (B. & L.): University coll.: mid-C.19–early 20.—2. To 'tell tales': Aus. and NZ children's: C.20. (B., 1943; Ruth Park, Pink Flannel, 1955.) Cf. n., 4. Often in the form pimp on (B.P.), as is:—3. To inform the police or other authority: Aus. low: since ca. 1940. Wilkes quotes Gavin Casey, Downhill is Easier, 1945; B., 1943 (Casey, pimp on; B., pimp).

pimp-stick. A cigarette: Can. low: C.20. (Niven.)

pimp-whisk, from ca. 1700; pimp-whiskin(g), 1638 (Ford). A pimp, esp. a notable pimp: s. or low coll, † by 1830.—2. 'Also a little mean-spirited, narrow-soul'd Fellow' (B.E.): coll.: late C.17–mid-18. Obviously whiskin(g) is an elab. or a diminutive of whisk, a whipper-snapper.

pimple. A boon companion: late C.17–early 18. Congreve, 1700, 'The sun's a good Pimple, an honest Soaker'.—2. The head: low: C.19–early 20. (Lex. Bal.; 'Jon Bee'.) With these senses, considered together, cf. C.20 old top.—3. A hill: lower classes': from late 1890s. F. & G., "'The Pimple" was a name given to certain noted hills on various fronts' in WW1. Hence also, as hauliers' s. for a steep hill (see HAULIERS', in Appendix), and as a shunting hump in railwaymen's s. (Railway, 2nd).—4. A gun-position cover 'just visible above the fuselage of a "plane" (H. & P.): RAF: since ca. 1930.—5. A contemptible person: Marlborough College: since ca. 1930.—6. The nose: pugilistic: ca. 1815–60. 'A Real Paddy', 1822.—7. A baby's penis: women's: late C.19–20.—8. Syphilis: RN: C.20. By joc. meiosis.—9. 'Faeces incompletely contained (in indecent parody of "Comin' through the Rye" verse)' (L.A., 1974): since ca. 1930, perhaps earlier.

pimple and blotch. Whisky (strictly Scotch): rhyming: C.20.

pimple and wart. A quart: public-house rhyming s.: late C.19–20; by 1960, virtually †. Franklyn 2nd.—2. Port wine: public-house rhyming s.: late C.19–20; by 1960, very ob. ibid.

pimple-coverer. The head; a hat: fast life: ca. 1815–40. (Pierce Egan, Finish of Tom, Jerry and Logic, 1828.) Cf. pimple, 2.

pimple in a bent. Something minute: coll.: ca. 1580–1650. Stanyhurst, 'I should be thought over curious by prying out a pimple in a bent.' A bent is either a grass-stem or a flower-stalk. Cf. thimble in a haystack.

pimple on a bull's arse (or a pig's bum, etc., like a). Mainly rural comment applied to, e.g., a hat that appears to be far too small for the wearer's head: certainly C.20, prob. much older. (Edwin Haines, 1978.) The Cockney version is a pimple on a tea-tray (Muvver).

pimplie, -y, n. 'So who were the hits? Would you believe the adolescent pimplies, the two-tone punks, the ethnic minorities' (Red Daniells, on a street-photographer's main customers, Brit. Jnl of Photography, 13 June 1980).

pin, n. A trifle; almost nothing, as in not worth a pin, care not a pin. Perhaps orig. (C.14) coll., but very soon S.E. Cf. the other entries at not care a ..., and not worth a ...—2. 4½ gallons; the vessel holding it: 1570 (OED); perhaps coll. in C.16–17, but thereafter, if not from the first, S.E.—3. The penis: low coll.: C.17–20. (Glaphorne.) Cf. pin-case, -cushion.—4. In (to be) down pin, to be indisposed: coll.: C.19—early 20. Cf. peg too low.—5. In nick the pin, to drink fairly: coll.: mid-C.17–18. Cf. peg phrases. In old-fashioned tankards, there were often pegs or pins set at equal perpendicular distances, which poss. explains prec. sense, and prob. the next 3:—6. Keep in the pin, to abstain from drinking: from ca. 1835: dial., and s. >, ca. 1880, coll. (OED; EDD.) Prob. suggested by:—7. Put in the pin, to cease; esp. to give up drinking: from ca. 1830: dial., and s. >, ca. 1880, coll. (Mayhew.) For semantics, cf. sense 5; perhaps, however (as the OED suggests), ex a pin or a peg used for making something fast or for checking motion, the pin being a lynch-pin. As a c.p., it = 'put a sock in it!', q.v., i.e. close your mouth, shut up!: ca. 1860–90. H., 1874.—8. In let loose a pin, to have an outburst, esp. go on a drinking-bout: from ca. 1850: dial., and s. >, ca. 1880, coll.; ob. by 1930. EDD.—9. See pin position; coming over with the pin out; pinhead, 2.

pin, v. To seize: 1768, the Earl of Carlisle, 'I am sure they intended to pin my money' (OED); ob. by 1930.—2. Hence, to steal, esp. if rapidly: c.: C.19—early 20. Cf. nab, pinch, snaffle, qq.v.—3. To catch, apprehend: c.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.).—4. To pawn clothes (v.i.): low: ca. 1880–1930. Ware. Prob. a corruption of pawn.—5. To make a 'dead set' (a person): low Aus.: from ca. 1920. (Christina Stead, Seven Poor Men of Sydney 1934.) Ex S.E. pin down.—6. To coit with (a woman): low: C.20. Cf. prick=penis.

pin back your ears or pin your ears back. Listen carefully: adopted, ca. 1937, ex US. In the 1940s the comedian Cyril Fletcher made a c.p. of the var., still occ. heard, 1983, pin back your lug'oles; he used it to introduce his 'odd odes'.—2. Hence, that'll pin your ears back, that will constitute a setback: mostly Forces': 1940+. (L.A.) Contrast ears go back with a click.

pin-basket. The youngest child in a completed family: coll. in C.18—mid-19, then dial. (Bailey folio edition; Grose, 1st ed.; EDD.) Cf. pin the basket.

pin-buttock. A thin or a bony buttock or behind: late C.16–20 (ob.): coll. >, ca. 1660. S.E. Shakespeare, All's Well, 'The pin-buttock, the quatch-buttock, the brawn-buttock, or any buttock'. Opp. barge-arse, q.v., and comparable with S.E. pin-tail.

pin-case or -cushion. The female pudend: low: C.17—early 20. See pin, n., 3.

pin-ends. See pins.

pin for home. To go home: Can. railroadmen's:—1931.

pin-money. A woman's pocket-expenses: late C.17–20: coll. till C.19, then S.E. Orig. a settled allowance: see, e.g., Grose.—2. Money gained by women from adultery or occ. prostitution: late C.19–20; ob. Allusion to pin, n., 3.

pin-money spoof. Vague, pointless amateurish writing: journalistic: since ca. 1910.

pin on. To justify an accusation against, or a suspicion of, someone; to 'make it stick': coll.: later C.20. As in 'I don't see how we can pin this one on him', or as in Noel Annan, TLS, 7 Dec. 1979, 'would not make a premature move against Philby [the 'Third Man' spy], until he could indisputably pin the goods on him'. Prob. ex the idea of pinning a medal, or, fig., a label, on someone. (P.B.) pin out. See coming over with the pin out.

pin-pannierly fellow. A covetous miser: coll.: ?C.17 (Kennett MS: Halliwell). One who pins up his panniers or baskets; one who hates to lose a pin.

pin position (or just pin). First cab on an authorised standing' (Powis): taxi-drivers': C.20.

pin-splitter. A first-class golfer: sporting: from ca. 1925. Ex the pin bearing the flag.—2. Since ca. 1935, predominantly a golf-shot dead on the pin: golfers' coll.

pin the basket. To conclude, settle: coll.: mid-C.17–18. (Osborn, ca. 1659.) Cf. pin-basket.

pin-up, n. An attractive girl, or her likeness: coll.: adopted, 1944–5, ex US servicemen. Extended, ca. 1955, to a handsome male, similarly 'honoured' by teenage girls. Orig., ex the 'likeness' 'pinned-up' on barrack-room wall. Cf. quot'n at pet—the custom is an old one.

pin up, v. To sell (songs) in the street: lower classes':—1923. (Manchon). Ex affixing music sheets with drawing-pins.

pin your ears back! See pin back...

pinard. Liquor; wine: Soho:—1935. Ex French Foreign Legion s. for cheap wine.

pinch, n. A certainty: racing: from ca. 1885. (Marshall, Pomes, from the Pink 'Un, 1886–96.) ?by confusion with US cinch.—2. As the pinch, pilfering during purchase; exchanging bad for good money, or giving short change: c.: late C.18–20; slightly ob. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Hence on the pinch, a-stealing, either as here, or gen.; the latter noted by Baumann, 1887.—3. In on a pinch, a somewhat illiterate var. of at a pinch: C.19. Moe cites W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 31), 1829; also in Baumann.—4. An arrest: low: since late C.19. (Pawmshop Murder.) Ex the v., 4.

pinch, v. To steal: from ca. 1670: c. until ca. 1880, then also low s. Head, 1673, 'To pinch all the lurry he thinks it no sin'; very gen. among soldiers, WW1. Ex the pinching movement of predatory fingers. Cf. make, nab, nick, win, qq.v.—2. Hence (gen. pinch ... for), to rob (a person): C.19–20, ob.; c. until ca. 1860, then also low s. Vaux.—3. V.i., to pass bad money for good: c. of ca. 1810–60. (Lex. Bal.) Ex sense 1. Cf. pinch, n., 2.—4. To arrest: c.: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.); 1861, Mayhew, 'He got acquitted for that there note after he had me pinched.' In C.20, low s. Similar semantics. Cf. grab, pull in, qq.v.—5. To urge (a horse), esp. press it hard; exhaust by urging: racing coll.: 1737, Bracken, 'It is the vulgar Opinion that a Horse has not been pinch'd ... when he does not sweat out' (OED).

Pinch an inch. Gallipoli Peninsula: NZ soldiers': 1915; ob. Cf. Pen and Ink and Inch and Pinch.

pinch-back, -belly, -commons, -crust, -fart, -fist, -gut, -penny, -plum. A miser; a niggard: all coll. > S.E.: -back, C.17–19; -belly, 1648, Hexham; -commons, Scott, 1822, 'niggardly pinchcommons', ob.; -crust, C.17–18, as in Rowlands, 1602; -fart, late C.16–17, as in Nashe; -fist, late C.16–20, ob.; -gut, a niggardly purser: nautical (—1867), ex pinch-gut, a miser, mid-C.17–20, slightly ob.—in C.19–20, a vulgarism. Cf. pinch-gut money, q.v.; -penny, C.15—mid-18, as in Lyly, 'They account one ... a pynch penny if he be not prodygall'; -plum, from ca. 1890. OED: F. & H.

pinch-bottom, -buttock, -cunt. A whoremonger: low coll.: C.19—early 20. Cf. pinch-prick.

pinch-fart, -fist. See pinch-back.

pinch-gloak. A shoplifter: c.: ca. 1810–1930. (Vaux.) See gloak and pinch, v., 1, and n., 2.

pinch-gut. See pinch-back and cf. pinch-gut money.—2. Hence, a badly fed ship: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. Bowen.—3. Hence (?), 'a niggardly victualling officer' (Granville): RN: C.20.

Pinch-Gut Hall. 'A noted House'—?a tavern-brothel—'at Milend'—i.e. Mile End Road, E. London—'so Nicknam'd by the Tarrs, who were half Starved in an East-India Voiage, by their then commander, who Built (at his return) that famous Fabrick, and (as they say) with what he Pinch'd out of their Bellies' (B.E.). Late C.17—mid-18.

pinch-gut money. 'Allow'd by the King to the Seamen, that Serve on Board the Navy Royal, when their Provision falls Short; also in long Voyages when they are forced to Drink Water instead of Beer' (B.E.). Coll.: from ca. 1660; ob. Smyth, who gives it as pinch-gut pay (1867).

pinch it off! Get a move on!: Aus: since ca. 1925. (B., 1942.) Defecatory.

pinch of con shit. See not worth a ..., of which this is a Can. example.

pinch on the parson's side. To withhold, cheat him of, his tithes: coll. > almost proverbial. Lyly, 1579; T. Adams, 1630; B.E.; Grose. (Apperson.)

pinch-penny, -plum. See pinch-back.

pinch-prick. A harlot: a wife keen, and insistent, on her conjugal rights: low coll.: C.19–early 20. Cf. pinch-bottom, etc., q.v.

pinch (gen. be pinching) the cat. This proletarian phrase has, from ca. 1880, been applied to the man that, hand in pocket, palps his genitals. Cf. pocket-billiards.

pinch the grass (mostly as vbl n., pinching...). 'Indicating faulty delivery at an inadequate angle' (Prof. A.C. Partridge, 1968): S. African bowls-players': since ca. 1930.

pinch the regulars. To take an undue share, or keep back part of the booty: c.: C.19–20. See pinch, v., and regulars.

pinch-wife. A churlish, vigilant husband: (rather low) coll.: C.19–early 20.

pincher. A thief, esp. a shoplifter: c.: C.19–20.—2. One who 'indulges in' the act of pinch, v., 3, q.v.: same status, period, and authority.—3. (P—) 'Inevitable' nickname, mostly Services', of any man surnamed Martin: late C.19–20. 'Taffrail'; Bowen, 'After Admiral Sir William F. Martin, a strict disciplinarian, who was constantly having ratings "pinched" for minor offences'.

pinching lay. The giving of short change or bad money: c.: late C.18–20; ob. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Also the pinch. See pinch, v., 3, and n., 2.

pin cushion. See pin-case.

Pindaric heights, the. Studying Pindar's Odes: Oxford: ca. 1820–70. Egan's Grose, 1823; H., 1st ed.

pineapple (or hyphenated). A Mills bomb: military: from 1916. Ex the criss-cross of lines denoting segments. Ex.—2. Also and esp. a German grenade weighing four pounds: in 1915. F. & G.—3. Hence, any bomb, if small: from ca. 1920.—4. The female pudend: L.A. recalls a 'yobs' chant' of ca. 1914: 'You can have it all/Up against the wall—pine-apple!'; † —5. A male homosexual: raffish: since ca. 1960. Peppitt cites Leslie Thomas, Arthur McCann and all his Women, 1972. Perhaps a specialisation of the more gen. fruit, 1.—6. In on the pineapple, on parish relief: lower classes':—1935. Perhaps ex the famous Dole Pineapple Company of Hawaii (a correspondent in the Observer, 30 May 1971).—7. See rough end of the pineapple.—8. Clydeside rhyming s. for chapel (New Society, 15 Apr. 1982, p. 80); and—pineapple chunk. A bunk (to sleep in): merchant seamen's rhyming s.: C.20. Often shortened to pineapple.

pineapple cut. A 'basin crop': Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Shaggy.

piner. An axeman working on pine trees: Tasmanian coll.: late C.19–20. Baker.

ping, n. An Asdic officer: RN wardroom name, and vocative: since ca. 1935. (Granville.) Echoic. Asdic is a particular type of hydrophonic device; the acronym = Anti-Submarine Detection Investigation Committee—which was set up between the two World Wars to study defence against submarines.—2. In get a ping, to receive a sound on the Asdic gear: RN coll. > j.: since ca. 1935. P-G-R.—3. As exclam., a synonym of line!, q.v., a tall story derided: RAF: WW2. Perhaps echoic of 'the line' being 'shot' (P.B.) ping, v. 'To speak in a quick singing high voice': sportsmen's: first half of C.19. Ware, 'From the sharp ping of the old musket'.—2. Perhaps mostly in the passive, as in 'I've been pinged for another committee' (i.e. nominated or detailed for, 'lumbered with', it): RN and RM officers': prob. since WW2. (Globe & Laurel, issue of July–Aug. 1977.) Prob. ex ping on. (P.B.)

ping jockey. 'An Asdic operator; on the analogy of disc jockey' (Granville): RN: since 1950s. See ping, n., 1.

ping on. 'Obtain an Asdic echo bearing on a submarine or submerged object' (Granville): RN: since later 1930s. See ping, n., 1.

pingier. An Asdic officer or rating: RN: since ca. 1936. See ping, n., 1.—2. Hence, as in 'They were originally "two pingers, a jungly and a crab" as Service slang describes anti-submarine, Commando and RAF pilots' (Sunday Times mag., 25 Nov. 1979).

pinhead. A simple fellow; a fool: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) So small a head can contain but few brains.—2. (Also pin.) A brakeman: Can. railroadmen's:—1931.—3. A freak in a sideshow: circus s.:—1933 (E. Seago, Circus Company).—4. Anyone with a very small head; esp., a very tall man with a head either really or apparently very small: since ca. 1945.

pinning away, he (or she) is—or you are. A joc. c.p., referring or addressed to someone putting on weight: C.20. (I remember hearing it ca. 1908.)

pink, n. An outstanding 'swell' or dandy: buckish: ca. 1815–40. (Pierce Egan, 1821.) Ex the adj., 1.—2. A caution card: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Ex its colour.—3. In in the pink, in excellent health, spirits: from ca. 1910. (Clarence Winchester, 1916; B. & P.) Ex in the pink of condition (of race-horses).—4. In perish (or strike or stripe) me pink!, a mild, lower classes' expletive: C.20. Manchon.—5. See Dutch pink; pink, v., 2, and adj., 2; pinkie; parlour pink.

pink, v. Hit with visible effect, or easily and repeatedly: boxing: 1810 (OED); slightly ob. by 1930. Ex swordsmanship.—2. To detect; catch in the act: Bootham School:—1925. Hence, the corresponding n. Bootham.

pink, adj. Smart; exceedingly fashionable: 1818, Lady Morgan, 'It was Lady Cork's "Pink night"; the rendezvous of the fashionable exclusives' (OED): † by 1890, except in US. Ex † S.E. sense, exquisite.—2. Secret; as n., a secret telegram: in Government offices during WW1. Ex the colour of the telegram form. F. & G.—3. 'Bloody': euph.; esp. the pink limit:—1923 (Manchon); ob. by 1930. Cf. ruddy.—4. Mildly socialistic: C.20. Prompted by red, communistic. See parlour pink.

pink bumf. See bumf, n. 1.

pink elephants (earlier, often spiders). In ref. to delirium tremens: late C.19–20. Usu. 'he saw...' or 'you'll be seeing...'.

pink-eye. An addict of 'pinkie', methylated spirits: Aus.: C.20. Baker.

pink fit, have a. Intensive of have a fit, to be much perturbed or alarmed: since ca. 1935.

pink liberal. 'A progressive politician thought to have "left" leanings: since 1960' (A.C. Partridge, 1968): S. African coll. Cf. pink, adj., 4.

pink lint. Penniless: racing circles' rhyming s., on skint: since ca. 1920. Cf. boracic lint. Franklyn 2nd.

Pink Palace, the. The Leander Club; its headquarters: oarsmen's: C.20. Its colours are pink.

pink pills for pale people. A humorous c.p. interjected into talk about patent medicines or quacks' cure-alls: since ca. 1900. Ex the wording of an actual remedy, much advertised.

pink tea. 'A more than usually formal tea-party' (Leechman): Can.: since ca. 1925. Leechman, 'Derisive'. Cf. pink, adj., 1.

Pink 'Un, The. The Sporting Times: from 1880, says Ware, 'from the tint of the paper, and to distinguish it from the Brown 'un, Sportsman'. By 'Sportsman' he prob. means The Sportsman's Guide to the Turf, which commenced in 1880.—2. The Financial Times, founded 1913: businessmen's. Also ex tint of the paper.

pink wine. Champagne: military:—1909 (Ware); ob. by 1930. Prob. an evasion.

pinkany, -eny; variants in -ck; also pink nye, pinken eye, etc. (As an endearment) darling, pet: nursery coll. > S.E.: late C.16–early 17. (Nashe, Massinger.) Lit. pink (a narrow, hence little, hence dear) eye. Influenced by pigsney, q.v. OED.

pinked, ppl. adj. Carefully and beautifully made: tailors': mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

pinkier. A blow that draws blood: pugilistic: ca. 1880–1914. Ibid.

pinkers. A pink gin: RN officers': since ca. 1920. The 'OXFORD -ER(s)'.

pinkie, -y. Anything small; orig., and still, esp. the little finger: orig. Scots coll., mostly among children, C.19; in C.20, much more widespread. Lit., the little pink one.—2. (Or Pink.) Inevitable nickname of any pink-eyed albino: late C.19–20. John Glog, Unlawful Justice, 1962.—3. A white man or, less common, woman: black teenagers' in Britain: since late 1950s. Observer, 10 Sep. 1967, 'By the time they leave school, whites have become "pinkie", "the grey man" or—less common—"Mr Charlie".' Powis notes 'Originally an expression for a light-coloured Negro... not used in polite company'.—4. Red wine: late C.19–earliest 20. (Sessions, 10 Mar. 1897.) Cf. pink wine.—5. Methylated spirits coloured with red wine—or with Condy's crystals: Aus.: C.20. Archer Russell, Gone Nomad, 1936.—6. Hence, an addict of methylated spirits: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—7. A lesbian: low: since ca. 1925. Gerald Kersh, Night and the City, 1938.—8. A rabbit bandicoot: Aus. rural: C.20. B., 1953.—9. A new hand: London dockers': since ca. 1945. New Statesman, 31 Dec. 1965. Cf.:—10. 'In England a new recruit was called a nig-nog, but in Egypt all new arrivals were called "pinkies"' (B.S. Johnson, ed., All Bull: the National Servicemen, 1973): army: ca. 1948–55. Not yet sun-tanned. (P.B.) pinking dindie. A sweater or mohawk: Irish coll.: C.18. (Grose, 1785.) Lit., a 'turkey-cock' given to pinking with a rapier.

pinkler. Penis, esp. of a boy and among boys: late C.19–20. L.A. cites Bill Naughton, One Small Boy, 1966. Perhaps a blend of pintle + tickler.

pinko, adj. Tipsy: Services': 1916–19. (F. & G.) Cf. blotto. Perhaps 'in the pink' + o.—2. Drunk on methylated spirits: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1943.) See pinkie, 5 and 6.—3. (Also as n.) (Someone) politically left wing: Public Schools', officers', etc.: since late 1940s. (B.S. Johnson, ed., All Bull, 1973.) Cf. pink, adj., 4. (P.B.) pinky. See pinkie.

pinna, pinner, pinny. A pinafore: resp. C.19–20, coll.; from ca. 1845, coll. († by 1910) and dial.; from ca. 1855 (G. Eliot, 1859), coll., mostly nursery. (F. & H. confuses this pinner with pinner, a double-flapped C.17–18 coif).—2. In catch (her) under the pinny, to coit with (a woman): C.20 low.

pinnales. Spectacles, eye-glasses: lower classes':—1909. Ware. 'A corruption of "barnacles".'

pinnel, occ. pennel. Penal servitude: c.: from ca. 1860; ob. By abbr. and corruption of the two defining words. H., 1874, 'As "four-year pinnel".' Cf. penal, q.v.

pinner. See pinna.

pinner-up. A seller of broadside songs and ballads: c.: 1851 (Mayhew); ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1920. Even in 1873, H. could write, 'There are but one or two left now.' Songs were usually pinned-up on canvas against a wall.

pinnickly pawnee (or -ie) and numerous other spellings. Drinking-water: mid-C.19–earlier 20: Indian >, by 1900, gen. army s.: Blaker, concerning early 1915: 'This "rooti" and other words from the "bat" acquired in India were ancestors of the common speech of the army of coming years: "Rooti", "pinnickly pawnee", "dekkko", "jildi", and the more ordinary "buckshee".' Ex Hindustani, in which penee ka panee is 'water of [ka] drinking', i.e. drinking-water.

pinnie. Var. of pinna: C.20.

pinnock to pannock, bring. To cause ruin: coll.: C.16–early 17. Huloeit, 1552, 'Brynge somethynge to nothyng, as the vulgare speache is, to brynge pynnock to pannock.' Origin obscure.

pinny. See pinna. (Cf. the forms nanny, nanna.)

pins. (Rare in sing.) Legs: coll. and dial.: 1530, anon., Hick-Scorner, 'Than wolde I renne thyder on my pyennes As fast as I Might goe'; 1781, General Burgoyne in one of his sprightly comedies, 'I never saw a fellow better set upon his pins.' Ex the primary sense of pin: a peg. Cf. peg-leg. There follows naturally from this the term pin-ends, feet, as in Bill Truck, intro. letter, 10 Oct. 1821.—2. Hence, in on (one's) pins, alive: faring well (cf. S.E. on his legs); in good form: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.; Vaux.

pins and needles. The tingling that accompanies the restoration of circulation in a benumbed limb: coll.: 1844 (J. T. Hewlett: OED); 1876, G. Eliot, 'Pins and needles after numbness.' Ex the feeling of being pricked with those articles.

pin's head in a cartload of hay, look for a. To attempt the impossible: coll.: mid-C.16–18. Calfhill, 1565. Hence find a pin's head..., to do wonders. Cf. the proverbial thimble in a bottle of hay or in a haystack.

pinsrap. A parsnip: back s.: from ca. 1880.

pint. Praise; recommendation: tailors': from ca. 1860; ob. A pint is sufficient recommendation?—2. See price of a pint.

pint of mahogany. (A glass of) coffee: low:—1909 (Ware). Ex its colour.

pint-pot. (A nickname for) a seller of beer: coll.: ca. 1560–1620. Shakespeare (OED).—2. A one-pint tin can, used for boiling water: Aus. rural: late C.19–20. B., 1943.

pint-sized. Applied to someone small-made and (very) short: coll.: since ca. 1920, if not earlier. (Petch, 1969; COD, 1976.) Cf. US synon. half-pint.

pinta (pron. with i long). A pint of milk: since ca. 1962. Ex the slogan Drink a pinta milka day. Semantically and phonetically cf. cuppa, a cup of tea.

pintle. The penis: pintel in A.S., it is S.E. until, ca. 1720, then (dial. and) a vulgarism (ob.): cf. the degradation of pizzle and prick.

pintle-bit or -maid. A mistress; a kept whore: low coll.: C.19–early 20.

pintle-blossom. A chance: low: C.18–early 20. Contrast grog-blossom.

pintle-case. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20. See pintle.

pintle-de-pantledy. 'Sadly Scared, grievously put to it' (B.E. at pit-a-pat): coll.: mid-C.17–early 19. Skinner, 1671 (EDD); Coles, 1676; Grose.

pintle-fancier or -ranger. A wanton: low: C.19–early 20. Cf. pintle-merchant.

pintle-fever. Syphilis or gonorrhoea: low coll.: C.19–early 20.

pintle-keek. An inviting leer: low Scots coll.: C.19–20.

pintle-maid. See pintle-bit.

pintle-merchant, -monger. A harlot: C.18–early 20: low. Cf. Yorkshire pintle-twister (EDD).

pintle-ranger. See pintle-fancier and cf. pintle-bit and pintle-merchant.

pintle-smith, -tagger. A surgeon: low coll.: from ca. 1780. Grose, 1st, 3rd edd.

pints round! A c.p. request to one dropping his shears: tailors': ca. 1850–1900. P.B.: prob. a forfeit demanded for clumsiness: a pint of ale for each man present. Cf. the forfeit of 'drinks all round' incurred by one entering a Servicemen's mess, wearing his belt.

pinurt pots. Turnip tops: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

pioneer. An early convict in Australia: Aus. ironic coll.: mid-C.19–20. B., 1942.

piou-piou. A French soldier, esp. a private in the infantry: coll.: C.20. Direct ex. Fr.: cf. Poilu, of which it may be a corruption and than which, from ca. 1912, it has been very much less gen.; more prob. a perversion of piéd, reduplicated (cf. foot-slogger). See esp. Gaston Esnault, Le Poilu tel qu'il se parle, 1919. See Words!

pip (, the). Syphilis: coll. verging on S.E.: late C.16–17. Ex the poultry disease.—2. The mark on a playing-card: coll.:—1874; in C.20, perhaps rather S.E. H., 5th ed., 'The ace is often called "single pip"'.—3. A star on the tunic, or jacket, sleeve or epaulet of a junior officer, army; senior police officer: C.20. F. & G., 'He is putting up three pips', he is now a captain'; Stephanie Turner, "Juliet Bravo", Radio Times, 4–10 Sep. 1982, ref. to a TV police drama, 'What do you mean, they wouldn't bring you a coffee, you've got the pips up.' Cf. pipper, q.v.—4. In get or have the pip, to be depressed; (ob.): to be indisposed: coll.: from ca. 1885. Marshall, in Pomes, 'It cost a bit to square up the attack; /For the landlord had the pip.' Ex the poultry disease via the Thackerayan 'The children ill with the pip, or some confounded thing', 1862. Cf. Devonshire dial. take the pip, to take offence: occurring as early as 1746 (EDD). So:—5. In give (one) the pip, to depress, coll. from ca. 1890; and from ca. 1910, to annoy or disgust.—6. See old pip.

P

pip, v. To blackball: clubs': 1880 (Huth's Buckle). Prob. suggested by pill, v., 1.—2. To take a trick from (an opponent): cards: from ca. 1885.—3. To hit with a missile, esp. a bullet; to wound; to kill: military: 1900 (OED). Perhaps ex sense 1 or as with a fruit-pip, or ex:—4. To beat, defeat, e.g. in a race: 1891 (OED). Ex senses 1 and 2.—5. To fail (a candidate): 1908, (A.S.M. Hutchinson).—6. To annoy: from ca. 1915. Ex pip, n., 5.—7. To die: Harrow School: C.20. (Arnold Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913.) Cf. sense 3, and see pip off and pip out.

pip emma. P.m.: military coll.: early C.20. Ex signalese; cf. ack emma, a.m., and see the PHONETIC ALPHABETS, in Appendix.

pip in. To clock in, to synchronise the time in an aircraft while in flight with the time at base in order that the navigational position may be fixed by radio' (Jackson): RAF: 1936+.

pip off. To die: mid-1930s. Ex the pip-pip of the radio (E.P.): but see pip, v., 7, and:—

pip out. To die: from ca. 1918. Ex pip, v., 3. Cf. conk, q.v.

pip-pip! A 'hue and cry after anyone, but generally a youth in striking bicycle costumery': low:—1909. Ex the cyclist's warning by horn. Ware.—2. A cry of encouragement: coll.: ca. 1915–25. ('Bartimeus', 1917; Manchon.) Also a greeting.—3. Goodbye!: from ca. 1904, one infers from Collinson; 1920, P.G. Wodehouse; ob. by 1930. (OED Sup.) P.B.: old-fashioned after 1930, but still in use for joc. effect up to and during WW2, in form tootle (or tootle-oo, pip-pip!, or simply tootle-pip! See esp. DCpp.

pip-squeak. An insignificant person or object: 1910 (E.V. Lucas: OED). Among the WW1 Army other ranks it had the nuance of 'second lieutenant'—very common in the war novels and memoirs concerning that period. Echoic, but for latter nuance, cf. pip, n., 3. Also as adj., as in 'pip-squeak little twit'.—2. Hence, a toady: Aus.: since ca. 1919. B., 1942.—3. A small German shell of high velocity: army: WW1. Ex the sound of its flight. B. & P.—4. For the same reason, a rifle grenade: id.—5. A two-stroke motorcycle or moped (motor-assisted pedal cycle): motorists' and motorcyclists' derivative: the first from ca. 1923 (OED Sup.); the second since mid-C.20 (Dunford). Both ex sense 1 and echoic.—6. RAF aircrews' coll. for a particular direction-finding device: see PIP-SQUEAK, in Appendix.

Pip, Squeak and Wilfred. The medals (or medal ribbons), 1914–15 Star, War Medal, Victory Medal: Services': since 1920. Ex the three eponymous characters of the children's strip cartoon created by Bertram Lamb and A.B. Payne for the Daily Mirror: Pip, a dog; Squeak, a female penguin; Wilfred, a baby rabbit. The three appeared in many adventures between 7 Feb. 1920 and 14 June 1940; a post-WW2 revival never really caught on. The background from The World Encyclopedia of Comics, ed. Maurice Horn, 1976; see also gugnunc. (P.B.)—2. 'The naval gun units known as Pip, Squeak, and Wilfred are being increasingly used in co-operation with the Army against the Arab rebels [in Palestine]. Pip is a two-pounder, Squeak is a three-pounder, and Wilfred is a searchlight. All are mounted on open lorries' (London Evening News, 2 Oct. 1936). By 1936 the three names were an inevitable nickname for any set of three; cf. the 'Shake, Rattle, and Roll' of the three tanks at Port Said twenty years later (P.B.).

pipe, n. The human voice: C.17–20; S.E. until late C.19, then coll.; slightly ob. (Bauman.) Ex pipe, a bird's note or song.—2. A satirical song, ballad, or prose-piece written on paper, which was then rolled up in the form of a pipe and left at the victim's door: Tasmanian coll.: early C.19. Morris.—3. A good look (at . . .): low: from ca. 1880. Ex pipe, v., 4. (Manchon.) Still extant later C.20: 'He spotted a good sort tucked away on another table: "Have a pipe at her . . . I might just give her a pull"' (J. McVicar, Sunday Times mag., 31 Aug. 1980).—4. The female pudend: low: C.19–20.—5. The urethra: late C.19–20. Abbr. water-pipe.—6. In the rude retort up your pipe, q.v., always to a male, it is usu. apprehended as 'the rectum'.—7. A telephone: hauliers' s.: since ca. 1925.—8. As the Pipe, the Underground: London taxi-drivers': since ca. 1930. Cf. the earlier the Rattler.—9. In it's a pipe, it's a certainty: filmland: adopted, ca. 1925, ex U.S. Cameron McCabe, The Face, 1937. 'Perhaps contraction of "lead-pipe cinch"—dead certainty, but possibly derived rather from pipe-dream—orig., from the opium pipe, which makes all things seem easy' (Robert Claiborne, 1966).—10. In stretch or take a pipe, to weep: the first in, e.g., 'The Rolling Blossom', a ballad of ca. 1800, quoted by Moe (the 'T' is a prostitute: 'I waited till the fruit was ripe, /Then thinking to be thrifty, /I left the youth to stretch his pipe, /I had nab'd a bill for fifty'; the second in Hogg, 1818, ob. Scots coll.—11. In Her Majesty's or the Queen's (tobacco-)pipe, 'The kiln in the great East Vault of the Wine-Cellars of the London Docks, where useless and damaged goods that have paid no duty are burnt: as regards tobacco, a thing of the past, stuff of this kind being distributed to workhouses, &c.' (F. & H., 1901, pub. 1902). Coll.: from ca. 1840. Also in C.20, the King's pipe, which, like the Queen's pipe from ca. 1880, is used only of a furnace for burning tobacco-sweepings and other refuse' (OED): this sense is, in C.20, S.E.—12. In put (one's) pipe out, to spoil one's chance, sport, or showing; to extinguish: 1720, Ramsay, 'Their pipe's put out': coll. till C.19, then S.E. and dial.; ob. (OED). Hence, to kill: low: from ca. 1860; ob. by 1930.—13. See pipes; but that in your pipe . . .

pipe, v. To talk; speak: coll.: late C.19–20. Esp. in pipe-up, speak up, as in Whiteing's remarkable novel, No. 5 John Street (1899), 'Nance is called to oblige with a song. She is shy . . . But the Amazon brings her forward . . . "Pipe up, yer blessed little fool!"' Ex playing on a pipe.—2. To weep: low: 1797 (Mrs M. Robinson: OED); ob. Ex pipe an (or one's) eye, than which it has been much less gen.—3. To follow, to dog: detectives' s.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.).—4. (Also pipe off.) Hence, to watch; spy: c.: from ca. 1870. H., 1874; 'Pomes' Marshall; 'Dagonet' Sims.—5. V.i., to pant, breathe hard from exertion or exhaustion: boxing: 1814. De Quincey, 1827, 'The baker came up piping'; Dickens, 1848. Ex pipes, the lungs. OED.—6. To speak too loudly: (lowerdeck) coll.: C.20. 'All right, Jack, don't pipe it. We can hear.' Ex the bosun's piping the routine calls.—7. To look at: Can. (ex US): since ca. 1930. A thinning of sense 4. Cf. the n., 3.

pipe an (or one's, or the) eye (or eyes). To weep: 1789, C. Dibdin: nautical s. >, ca. 1860, gen. coll. 'An obscure variation on to pipe away . . . with allusion to the boatswain's whistle' (W.). Earliest, pipe one's eye; pipe one's eyes, from ca. 1810, ob. in C.20; pipe an eye is loose and rare. (OED). Cf. pipe, v., 2, q.v.

pipe down. To be quiet: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex S.E. sense, 'to dismiss by sounding the pipe'. P.B.: in C.20 > gen. coll.; cf. n., 1.

pipe in (or occ. with) an ivy-leaf. To busy oneself, either to no purpose or, more gen., as a consolation for failure; to do any silly thing one likes, gen. as you may go pipe in an ivy-leaf: coll.: C.14–20; very ob.,—indeed, rare since C.17. Semi-proverbial. (OED). An ivy-leaf being emblematic of very small value: cf. rush, straw.

pipe-layer, -laying. Political intriguer, intrigue: orig. (ca. 1835). US; partly anglicised ca. 1890: coll. Ex a water-supply camouflaging an electoral plot. Thornton.

pipe off. See pipe, v., 4.—2. To sound or pump (a person): low:—1923 (Manchon).

pipe on. To inform against: c.: from ca. 1875; ob. (Baumann.) See pipe, v., 4.

pipe-opener. (An) exercise taken as a 'breather': coll.: 1879. Ex pipes, the lungs. (OED.) Ware classifies it as a university term and defines it as the 'first spurt in rowing practice—to open the lungs'.

pipe-spoiler. A plumber: RN lowerdeck: C.20. (P-G-R.) Cf. grub-spoiler, a cook.

pipe the eye. See pipe an eye.

pipe up. See pipe, v., 1.—2. Also, to call, shout: same period.

pipeclay. V.t., to put into meticulous order (esp. accounts): 1833, Marryat; 1853, Dickens: nautical coll. >, ca. 1860, gen. coll., >, ca. 1910, S.E. Ex pipe-clay, a white cleaning-material.—2. V.i. and t., to hide defects in material or mistakes in workmanship: from ca. 1850. Ex sense 1.

piped up, be or get. To be, or become, tipsy: since ca. 1925. Gavin Holt, The Murder Train, 1936.

pipeline. An aerial: RAF: 1939+.—2. See in the pipeline.

piper. A broken-winded horse: 1785, Gtose; 1831, Youatt: s. >, ca. 1825, j. Cf. roarer. Connected with S.E. pipes, lungs.—2. A detective or spy: c.: from ca. 1850. Esp., ca. 1860–1910, a person employed to spy on the conductor of an omnibus: low. (H., 1864.) Ex pipe, v., 4, q.v.—3. In by the piper!, a mild, proletarian asseveration:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1935. Ex dial.—4. See drunk as a piper, at DRINKS, in Appendix; pay the piper.

pipers. Lungs: pugilistic: mid-C.19—early 20. B. & L.

piper's cheeks. Puffed, swollen, or very big cheeks: coll.: late C.16–17. Withals, 1602.

piper's news. Stale news: Scots coll.: from ca. 1820; ob. Hogg.

piper's wife. A whore: coll.: late C.18–19. (Mainly Scots.)

pipes. Boots; esp. top-boots: low (?orig. c.): from ca. 1810. Vaux, 1812; Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe). Cf. mud-pipes.—2. A boatswain: nautical nickname: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex the giving of orders by sounding a pipe.

—3. In pack or put or shut up (one's) pipes, to cease from action, more gen. from speech: coll.: mid-C.16–18; in C.18, virtually S.E. Olde, 1556, put up; Nashe, pack up. While shut up is C.18 and perhaps early C.19. Ramsay has poke up. Ex the 'musical tube'. Contrast:—4. In set up (one's) pipes, to cry aloud; yell: ca. 1670–1800: coll. >, by 1710, S.E. H.M.'s translation of Erasmus's Colloquies. Ex pipe, the voice. (OED.) Cf. open (one's) pipes, to sing, q.v. at VERBS, in Appendix.—5. In take pipes, 'To tickle one vigorously, in the region of the stomach' (Bootham): Bootham School:—1925.—6. See tune (one's) pipes.

Pipey. A pet-name for a small boy: late C.19—mid-20. 'Ex distinctive feature' (L.A., 1976).

piping, n. Weeping, crying: s. >, ca. 1850, coll.: 1779, Seward, 'No more piping, pray'; Marryat, 1837. (OED.) Ex pipe, v., 2, though piping is recorded the earlier.

pipkin. The female pudend, esp. in crack her pipkin, to deflower a girl or woman: low: late C.17—early 19. (Ned Ward, 1709; Grose.) Ex cook's breakages, pipkin being a small earthenware pot.—2. The head; pugilism: ca. 1820–1920. Jones, The True Bottom'd Boxer, 1825.—3. H., 1860, gives pipkin, the stomach, as Norwich s. (or coll.): perhaps rather dial. Extremely ob.

pipped. Annoyed: s. > coll.: C.20. An early occurrence: "'How's Leverton?'"—"Rather pipped, thank you," replied Miss Disney' (A. Neil Lyons, Simple Simon, 1914).—2. Wounded: military: C.20. See pip, v., 3.—3. For get pipped, see bumped.

pipped on (or at) the post, be. To fail or be circumvented after having been within reach of success or victory or one's goal: sporting (ca. 1892) >, by 1920, gen. (Daily Telegraph, 16 Apr. 1937.) Also occ. pipped on the tape, as in P.G. Wodehouse, Ukridge, 1924. Ex pip, v., 4. Cf. beaten at the post.

pipper. Something, esp. a play, that turns out to be very successful: theatrical: since ca. 1930. Anthony Berkeley, Trial and Error, 1937.—2. A suffix, as in one-pipper, a second, two-pipper, a first or full lieutenant: army: since early WW1. Ex pip, n., 3, but cf. also sense 2.

pippin. A pej. term of address: ca. 1660–1800. Cotton, 1664, 'Thou'rt a precious Pepin,/To think to steal so slyly from me' (OED). Later, C.19—early 20, it > an endearment (Byron called his wife 'Pippin') mostly among Londoners, perhaps esp. costermongers. Cf. ribstone and the C.20 old fruit: see also my pippin.—2. See sound as a bell.

pippin-squire. An 'apple-squire', q.v.: s. or coll.: C.17. Rowlands.

pipnish. Disgruntled; depressed: Cockney: C.20. (Pugh.) Ex pip, n., 4.

pippy. Shaky (of stocks): Stock Exchange: from ca. 1890. Prob. ex pip, n., 4.—2. Aus. var. of pipped, 1: since ca. 1925. B., 1942.

pipsqueak. See pip-squeak.

ippy. Apt to 'pipe an eye', q.v.: from ca. 1860: s. >, by 1890, coll.—2. See Pipey.

pirate. Gen. pl, 'Naval small craft on any irregular or detached duty': RN coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. (also v.) A man that picks up casual feminine company; on the pirate, watchful for such company: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Baker.—3. (Gen. pl.) 'Motorised traffic police, in cars and on motor-cycles; also unlicensed cab drivers' (Powis): later C.20.

pirates on the poop. 'Chaplain, marine officers, and mid-shipmen' (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at I, 167: Moe).

pirler. An occ. form of purler.

piscaatorial. Dubious: joc.: since ca. 1845, but never common. (Francis Francis, Newton Dogbane, 1859.) A word-play on fishy, 1.

Piscie. A member of the Episcopalian Church: Scottish Public Schools': C.20. (Ian Miller School Tie, 1935.) A var. of Piskey.

pissh. Whisky; any spirituous liquor: military: C.20. (F. & G.) Origin obscure: possibly the word derives ex piss (the effect) on whisky.

Piskey or Pisky. Episcopalian: Scottish: (?mid-C.19)—20. Cf. Piscie.

pisso. A miserly or stingy fellow: army: late C.19—early 20. (F. & G.) Cf. the † Northern dial. pesant, 'a stern, hard-hearted miser' (EDD); cf. also piccy, q.v.

piss, n. Urine: late M.E. + S.E., but in C.19–20 a vulgarism; it has, since ca. 1960, been regaining very fair respectability. Ex the v. Hence, do or have a piss, to make water: low coll.: C.20.—2. As a piss!, a vulgar Restoration expletive. Etherege, The Man of Mode.—2. Weak table-beer sold in France: army: 1914+.—3. Hence, weak English beer: 1919+.—4. Hence, any drink of poor quality: since ca. 1920.—5. Beer: (low) Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B.P.)—6. In on the piss, drinking alcoholic liquor, usu. heavily, as in 'he's always on the piss, that bloke': low: C.20. Hence go on the piss, to start drinking heavily; go out on the piss, to go out for, e.g. an evening's or a night's hard drinking: low: since ca. 1910.—7. See piece of piss; streak of p.; rods in p.; take the piss.

piss, v. To urinate: M.E. + S.E., but considered a vulgarism from ca. 1760. (Because of its 'shocking' association, wrongly regarded as low coll. Cf. arse, cunt, shit.) Ex Old Fr. pisser, prob. echoic. Ah, si je pouvois pisser comme il parle, Clemenceau of Lloyd George.—2. R.S. cites Pepys's use, in his Diary, 15 Nov. 1667, of 'It would make one piss...', in the sense 'to repel, to disgust' with lies and effrontery.—3. See cry, v.i., 2; fits and starts...; such a reason...; when the goose...

piss-a-bed. The dandelion: coll. verging on S.E.; also dial.: mid-C.16–20; † by 1900, except in dial. Ex (not its colour but) its diuretic virtues. Cf. Fr. pisser-en-lit.

piss about. To potter; fritter one's time away; to stall for time: low: C.20.—2. V.t. To befool (someone); mess about with; to boss: low: since ca. 1950. David Craig, Faith, Hope and Death, 1976.

piss and wind, as in 'He's all piss and wind!' Empty talk; unsubstantiated boast(s): low coll.: C.20. He can urinate, not defecate. P.B.: in later C.20, usu. 'wind and piss'. Cf. piss-artist.

piss-ant. See game as a piss-ant.

piss-ant around. 'To waste time, dawdle, "mess about"' (B., 1959): Aus.: C.20. 'For God's sake, stop piss-anting around!' Wilkes spells it pissant. Cf.:-

piss-arse about. To fool about, waste time: army: since ca. 1920. (P-G-R.) An intensification of piss about, 1. Cf. piss-ball about.

piss-artist. A habitual drinker: low coll.: since late 1940s. (Cdr C. Parsons, 1973.) Cf. piss-head.—2. A pretentious, usu. pompous poseur who is incompetent, but full of 'promises'; the person is usu. perfectly sober!: coll.: later C.20. Cf. piss and wind. (Miss Elaine Donaldson.)

piss backwards. To defecate: low: late C.19—early 20. F. & H., rev.

piss-ball. A query to be answered: lower grades (male) of Civil Service: since ca. 1945. A 'stinker'.

piss-ball about. To act in a futile or an irritating manner: low: since ca. 1920. Cf. piss-arse about.

piss blood. To toil: low coll.: late C.19—20. Ex strain of effort. Cf.:-

piss bones or children or hard. To be brought to childbed: low coll.: C.19—early 20.

piss (broken) glass. 'Descriptive phrase referring to gonorrhoea [cf. piss pins ...] or any other urinary infection. Also to anything particularly unpleasant. A boring conversation, possibly, or an unexpected disappointment in a sexual encounter' (Powis): low: later C.20.

piss-cutter. See piss-warmer.

piss down (someone's) back. To flatter him: low coll.: late C.18—19. (Grose, 3rd ed.; Baumann.) In C.20, piss up (one's) back. Cf. piss in (one's) pocket.

piss-factory. A public house: C.19—early 20. low. Liquor makes rapid urine.

piss-fire. A blusterer: C.18—19: (low) coll. and dial. ? ex the old proletarian habit of extinguishing a fire by pissing it out. Cf. the † proverb, money will make the pot boil though the devil piss in the fire.

piss hard-on, a. A matutinal erection caused by the desire, and need, to urinate; Can. low: C.20. Cf. piss-proud.

piss-head. A habitually heavy drinker; an alcoholic: perhaps orig. NZ, earlier C.20, > by ca. 1955, also Brit. low. Cf. piss-artist and, in form, shit-head and acid-head.

piss-hole (or solid), n. A urinal: low, mostly Cockneys' and Services': C.20. Frank Norman in Encounter, 1959; P.B.

piss-hole (or solid), adj. Bad; rubbishy, e.g. of an entertainment or sporting performance: low: since (?)ca. 1945. (P.B.)

piss-hole bandit. 'A homosexual who importunes in lavatories' (Powis): police s.: later C.20.

piss-holes in the snow. See eyes like ...

piss in a quill. To agree on a plan: coll.: C.17—18. John Lilburne (Jack Lindsay, 1939); North's Examen (OED).

piss in (someone's) chips. To put an end to his hopes or plans: low; esp. in RAF: C.20; since ca. 1925; ob. by ca. 1950. Ex wood-chips used as kindling. P.B.: or, as prob., potato chips; cf. muck (someone's) orange.

piss in (someone's) pocket. To ingratiate oneself with him: (low) Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B.P.) 'I'm not pissin' in ya pocket, mate, but ya done quite a good job there!' (as I might thank B.P., on E.P.'s behalf, for all the former's contributions to this Dict. P.B.)—2. Hence, 'To be in close liaison with someone' (McNeil): low Aus.: later C.20.

piss it up the wall. The C.20 allusive version of piss money ...

piss-kitchen. A kitchen maid: low coll.: C.18—19.

piss-maker. A great drinker: low coll.: late C.18—19. Grose, 1785; Baumann.

piss money against the wall. To squander, waste, money, esp. in liquor: late C.15—19: S.E. until C.18, then (low) coll. Grose; Baumann.

piss more than (one) drinks. Gen. pisses ... he ... A semi-proverbial c.p. prec. by vainglorious man and applied to a boaster: late C.17—early 19. B.E.; Grose.

piss off, v.i. To depart, esp. to depart quickly (often as an imperative: piss off!, go away!): low: late C.19—20. Cf. p.o.q.—2. V.t. To irritate, annoy, often with connotation of either malaise or disgust: since late 1940s. Janssen quotes Jagger: 'And it pisses me off when Mick does that'. Hence pissed off, q.v.

piss on (one's) props. To leave the stage for ever: pej. theatrical:—1935. See prop, 2.

piss out of. See take the piss ...

piss out of a dozen holes. To have syphilis: low: late C.19—20. Cf.:-

piss pins and needles. To have gonorrhoea: low coll.: from ca. 1780. (Grose, 3rd ed.) Cf. piss broken glass or synon. razor-blades.

piss-poor. Penniless: low: since ca. 1925.—2. Hence, (of the weather) abominable: RAF aircrews': 1939+. Here, piss is a mere pej. adverb.—3. Hence, and quite soon, gen. Services' coll. to describe anything bad, feeble, ineffective, disgusting, etc.: still current 1975. (P.B.) Cf. piss-hole, adj.

piss-pot. A nickname for a medical man: coll.: late C.16—17. Ex:—2. A chamber-pot: mid-C.15—20: S.E. until mid-C.18, then a vulg.—3. An objectionable fellow (a 'stinker'): late C.19—earlier 20.—4. A drunkard: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (A. Buzo, 1973.) Cf. piss-tank.

piss-pot emptier. A cabin steward: MN: late C.19—20.

Piss-Pot Hall. A tavern 'at Clapton, near Hackney [N. London], built by a potter chiefly out of the profits of chamber-pots, in the bottom of which the portrait of Dr. Sacheverell'—who (d. 1724), after a notorious trial in 1710, was suspended, for three years, from preaching—'was depicted' (Grose, 2nd ed.). Ca. 1710—1830. Cf. Pinch-Gut Hall.

piss-pot juggler. Chambermaid in hotel: Can.: C.20.

piss-pottical. Ludicrous; stupid; 'daft', as of ideas: East Midlands' coll.: C.20. (Keith Clarke, AUEW/TASS, 1980.)

piss-proud. Having a urinal erection: low coll.: late C.18—20. Grose, 2nd ed., where occurs the c.p. that old fellow thought he had an erection, but his — was only piss-proud, 'said of any old fellow who marries a young wife'. Cf. morning-pride, q.v., and piss hard-on.

piss pure cream. To have gonorrhoea: low: C.19—20, ob. Cf. p. pins and needles.

piss-quick. Hot gin-and-water: low: ca. 1820—60. 'Jon Bee', 1823.—2. The German trench-gun (smaller than the '77'); also the noise (shish) of the travelling shell, the shell itself, and even—though rarely—its explosion. Cf. pip-squeak, perhaps a euph. for piss-quick.—3. (Also adj.) A term of contempt: army: WW2 and after. Implying incontinence. (T.C.H. Raper, 1973.)

piss (one)self laughing. See pee (one)self ...

piss-taking, vbl n. Mockery: answers to take the piss, q.v.: low: since ca. 1930. Peter Crookston, Villain, 1967.

piss (one's) tallow. To sweat: C.17—19. Urquhart, 'He's nothing but Skin and Bones; he has piss'd his Tallow.' Ex S.E. sense of a deer thinning in the rutting-season. OED.

piss-tank. A drunkard: low: since early C.20. (F. Leech, 1972.) Cf. piss-pot, 4.

piss the bed waking. To do something avoidable or futile: lower-class coll.: late C.19—20.

piss through (something). To do something with ease, usu. a test of any sort; e.g. 'Oh, he's a clever bastard all right—he just pissed through his finals': low coll.: since ca. 1910. Cf. a piece of piss, something very easy to do.

piss-up. A drinking-bout: low: C.20. Hence (he) couldn't organise a piss-up in a brewery, q.v., of an ineffectual administrator.

piss-warm, adj. Distastefully tepid: low coll.: late C.19—20. Contrast:- piss (or pee)-warmer. A highly complimentary term for anything cordially approved: Can.: C.20. Also piss-cutter, adopted in R Can. N (—1952), ex US (Claiborne, for the source).

piss when (one) can't whistle. To be hanged: low: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose, 1785.

pissed (earlier, also pissed-up). (Very) drunk: low, and Services': C.20. Many of the entries at drunk as ... may, in C.20, have pissed substituted for drunk; a few of the common intensives are (as) pissed as a fiddler's bitch; ... as arseholes; ... as a cunt; ... as a neut (perhaps the most widespread, certainly since mid-C.20); ... as a parrot (Aus.: mid-1960s: Jack Slater); ... as a piard (RAF in Iraq: 1920–45: L.A.); ... as a rat (Red Daniells, Brit. Jnl of Photography, 29 Aug. 1980).—2. In as good (occ. as very) a knave as ever pissed, as good a man, etc.—as big a knave—as may be: (low) coll.: C.18—early 20; C.18–19. Cf. good as you would desire ... , q.v.—3. See every little helps ...—4. Angry; furious: late 1960s—early 70s. (A. Stuart, The Bikers, 1971.) Short for: pissed off. Disgruntled, 'fed up'; very much displeased (with someone or something): since late 1940s, Services'; in 1970s very common among students. See piss off, 2. (P.B.) pissed on a nettle. In to have pissed ... , to be peeved, ill-tempered; very uneasy: mid-C.16–18 coll., then dial. (Heywood; Greene, in The Upstart Courtier; B.E.) Hence, he looks as if he's (or he'd) ..., 'A c.p. evoked on seeing a doleful countenance' (Leechman): late C.19–20.

pissed on from a great height. As he should be ... , he's beneath contempt: R Aus. N c.p.: C.20; as I've been ... , I have deliberately been caused trouble by my superiors, an occ. var. of shit (or shat) upon from a great height: low, mainly Services': since mid-C.20.

pisser. The penis; the female pudend: low s. or coll.: C.19–20.—2. Ex the second nuance comes: A girl: low, esp. NZ: C.20.—3. A urinal: low coll.: late C.19–20.—4. A day of heavy rain: low, esp. Cockneys': since ca. 1920. Ex the low it's pissing down, raining heavily, itself of late C.19–20. 'Cf. the Fr. coll. "Il pleut comme trente-six vaches qui pissent"' (R.S.)—5. A charge, as in 'put on a pisser', due to appear before the Commanding Officer: army: earlier C.20. (T.C.H. Raper, 1973.) Cf. fizzer, 3.—6. An electric pylon: since ca. 1930. (Edmund Crispin, Glimpses of the Moon, 1977.) Phallically ex sense 1.—7. See pull (one's) pisser; vinegar-pisser. pisseroo. A ramp or a racket (?): since ca. 1955. Nancy Mitford, Don't Tell Alfred, 1960.

pissing, vbl n. As in the tin-whiffin is when you can't shit for pissing(g), a low rhyming c.p.: ca. 1870–1910.

pissing, adj. Paltry; brief: coll. verging on S.E. (cf. piddling): C.16—early 19.—2. A pej. adj., as in 'I can't get the pissing car to move': low: C.20. Cf. cowing; cutting. (P.B.)

pissing candle. A small make-weight, or any very inferior candle: coll. almost S.E.: C.18–19. F. & H.

Pissing Conduit. A conduit with a flow resembling a stream of urine, esp. 'one near the Royal Exchange set up by John Wels (Lord-mayor, 1430)' (F. & H.): late C.16–17. Shakespeare, 1 Henry VI, IV. vi, 'I charge and command that, of the city's cost, / The pissing conduit run nothing but claret wine, / The first year of our reign.'

pissing to windward. Doing something stupid and futile: MN: C.20. (H.P. Mann, 1972.) Cf. piss the bed waking.

pissing-while. A very short time; an instant: coll.: C.16—mid-19. Palsgrave; Still, Gammer Gurton's Needle, 'He shall never be at rest one pissing-while a day'; Shakespeare; Ray's Proverbs.

pisso. A drunkard; loosely and often, any frequenter of public-house or hotel bars: low Aus.: since ca. 1930. (Wm Dick, A Bunch of Ratbags, 1965.) Ex pissed, tipsy.

pissy. Drunken: C.20. Heavy drinking induces frequent urination. P.B.: but cf. also the senses of piss as alcoholic liquor.—2. Cocky; cheerfully or brashly confident: since ca. 1950. (F. Leech, 1972.) P.B.: cf. all, wind and piss, piss-artist and pissy.

pissy-arsed. Prone to crapulous inebriation: low: C.20.

pissy pal. A public-house crony: mostly Cockney: late C.19–20. Ex their simultaneous use of the urinal for the discharge of their heavy cargo.—2. Hence, a bosom friend: Cockney commercial: C.20. Thus, 'Go and see if you can't get an order from old so-and-so, he's a pissy pal of yours.'

pistol. A swaggering bully: coll. >, ca. 1640, allusive S.E. Shakespeare, Merry Wives, dramatis personae, 'Bardolph, Pistol, Nym, sharpers attending on Falstaff.' Cf. Florio's definition of pistolfo.—2. The male member: late C.16–20: low coll. verging on euph. S.E.; ob. See esp. Shakespeare, Henry V, II. ii.

pistol-shot. A drink: ca. 1850–1910. Cf. (drink a) slug and S.E. pocket-pistol.

piston (occ. pistons). 'Piston. The nickname for any Engineering Officer' (H. & P.): Services: since ca. 1920.—2. (Also piston-rod.) Penis: engineers' and similars': C.20.

piston broke. Drunk and penniless, a pun on pissed and ... , as in 'like my old car, piston broke': since ca. 1960. (P.B.) piston job. See blow job, 2.

pit, n. A breast pocket; a fob: c.: from ca. 1810 (Lex. Bal.); extant in C.20 for 'inside coat-pocket' (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938). Cf. pit worker, q.v.—2. The female pudend. It is an open question whether pit and its variants, pit-hole and -mouth, pit of darkness, and bottomless pit, are low coll. or euph. S.E. C.17–19.—3. One's bed: perhaps orig. RAF, soon spreading to RN and Army: since (? ca. 1925. (Sgt Gerald Emanuel, 1945.) Cf. flea-pit in this sense; often in the form the old pit. 'Lazy bastard—spent all Sunday just reasting in his pit!' (P.B.).—4. In shoot, or fly, the pit, to turn tail: coll. verging on S.E. and indeed, in C.19, achieving it: later C.17—later 19. The OED records the shoot form as occurring in a letter written by Andrew Marvell in 1675; Richardson, Pamela, 'We were all to blame to make madam here fly the pit as she did.' As does a cowardly cock in cock-fighting.—5. For knight of the pit, see the entry at knight of ...

pit and boxes (or, in C.19–20, back and front shops) into one, lay. To remove or destroy the division between anus and vagina: from ca. 1780; ob. 'A simile borrowed from the playhouse, when, for the benefit of some favourite player, the pit and boxes are laid together' (Grose, 1785).

pit(-)circlex. An occupant of the pit: theatrical: ca. 1880–1910. B. & L.

pit-hole. A grave: lower classes' coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

pit-man; pitman (Baumann). A pocket-book carried in the breast-pocket: c.:—1812; † by 1900. (Vaux.) Ex pit, n., 1 + -MAN(S), the c. suffix.

pit-pat's the way! Go on!; don't stop!: proletarian c.p.: ca. 1870–1914. B. & L.

pit-risex. 'A burst of powerful acting which evokes an enthusiastic acclamation from the pit': theatrical: from ca. 1814; ob. by 1930. (Vaux.) Ex a saying by Edmund Kean.

pit(-)worker. A pickpocket specialising in theft from victims' inside pockets: c.: since ca. 1930. (Brian Moynahan, Sunday Times, 11 May 1969.) Ex pit, 1.

pitch, n. A place of sale or entertainment; a stand: 1851 (Mayhew); showmen's and tramps' s. >, ca. 1870, low coll. >, ca. 1880, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. Prob. ex pitch a tent.—2. Hence, a sale, a performance: low (showmen's, tramps'): from ca. 1860. Vance, The Chickaleary Cove, ca. 1864; Hindley, 1876, 'When I had done my pitch and got down from the stage.' Do a pitch dates from ca. 1860 (Hotten); Henley, 1887, writes of 'A conjuror Doing his pitch in the street.' H., 5th ed., 1874, notes make a pitch, (of a cheapjack) to attempt to do business; this, in C.20, has > coll. for, e.g., someone pleading a case for a subvention.—3. A short sleep: low: later C.19—early 20. H., 5th ed.—4. A talk, chat: Pall Mall Gazette, 7 Sep. 1892 (OED). It is recorded for 1895 in Aus. (Sidney J. Baker, letter); I believe it to have been current there since ca. 1870; see the books by 'Tom Collins' (Joseph Furphy), passim. Ex either pitch a fork, q.v., or sense 2 above.—5. A camp: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Ex 'to pitch tents' or 'pitch camp'.—6. A plan; a 'game' or trick: Can.: since late 1940s. (Leechman.)

Cf. sense 2.—7. The crowd around a stall or in the auction room: see MOCK AUCTION, in Appendix, and next, 2.—8. See QUEER THE PITCH.

pitch, v.i. To sit down; take a seat (and a rest): late C.18–20: coll.; ob., except in dial. (where pitch oneself). Ex S.E. sense, to place oneself. OED.—2. To do business: showmen's and tramps': from ca. 1880. Henley, 1887, 'You swatchel-coves that pitch and slam.' Esp., among circus folk, 'To go on tour': prob. since ca. 1865. (Thomas Frost, Circus Life, 1875.) Among late C.19–20 market-traders, this v.i. and t. means 'to sell by mock-auction' (M.T.); cf. W. Buchanan-Taylor, Shake It Again, 1943: 'A well-known drapery pitcher (one who sells drapery by pitching it, i.e. telling a story about each article offered) usually gagging in an entertaining way while describing, to keep the pitch [crowd of customers or gogglers] interested'. Like the n., 1, this sense of the v. may orig. have been c.; cf. also the n., 2.—3. To utter base coin: c.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.).—4. To go to bed for less than the ordinary time; have a short sleep: esp. among bakers, busmen, etc.: from ca. 1870. (H., 5th ed.) Perhaps because they pitch themselves down on the bed.

pitch a (or the) fork (or a, or the, tale). To tell a story, esp. if romantic or pitiful: resp. s., ca. 1859–1920; from ca. 1865,—s. until C.20, then coll. H., 1st ed. (pitch the fork); anon., A Lancashire Thief, 'Brummagem Joe... could patter and pitch the fork with any one'; London Herald, 23 Mar. 1867, 'If he had had the sense to... pitch them a tale, he might have got off.' Cf. pitch it strong, and pitch the cuffer. See also pitch the fork. pitch a game for a gay. To arrange a crooked game of cards in order to rob an outsider: Aus. professional cardsharps': since ca. 1930. B., 1953.

pitch a woo. To commence a courtship: Services': ca. 1935–45. (H. & P.) W. & F. notes pitch (the) woo as US s.; 1937. pitch-and-fill. Bill (= William), according to H., 1st ed., 1859: rhyming s. Franklyn, Rhyming, prefers the interpretation 'a (beggar's) bill', i.e. a notice saying 'blind', or 'wife and 6 kids to support'; he suggests ex 'pitch' (n., 2) and 'fill (the begging-bowl)'. pitch and pay, v.i. To pay on the nail: coll.: C.15–mid-19. Tusser; Shakespeare, Henry V, 'Let senses rule; the word is "pitch and pay"; Trust none'; Evans, Yorkshire Song, 1810. Ex a Blackwell Hall enactment that a penny be paid by the owner of every bale of cloth for pitching.

pitch and toss. The boss: Aus. gen. (B., 1945) and Eng. theatrical rhyming s. (Franklyn, Rhyming): C.20. pitch-fingers. A pilferer. Whence pitch-fingered, thievishly inclined. Coll.: ca. 1840–1920. Cf. sticky-fingered. pitch fly. 'A person who uses another's street-selling position without permission' (Powis): later C.20. Cf. pitch, n., 1. pitch-getter. See floorman pitch-getter.

pitch-in. A railway collision: Scottish coll.:—1909 (Ware).

pitch in, v.i. To set vigorously to work: coll., orig. chiefly US and Colonial: 1847 (OED).—2. Hence, to take a hand; to begin eating: coll.: from ca. 1850. Perhaps ex: pitch into. To attack energetically, with blows or words (hence, to reprimand): 1827, Sessions, 'Beddis began to pitch into Joseph Durden with his fists'; 1843, De Quincey, 'Both pitched into us in 1843' (= attacked); Dickens, 1852 (with words); Grant Allen, 1885 (of eating heartily). Coll. OED.

pitch it. To desist; leave one's job; to cease doing something: tailors': late C.19–20. Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928. pitch it mild. (Usu. in imperative.) Don't exaggerate: Can. coll. var. of draw it mild: late C.19–20. (Leechman.) Contrast:—pitch it (too) strong. To exaggerate: from ca. 1870: s. till C.20, then coll. pitch-kettled. Puzzled; 'stumped': ca. 1750–1830. Cowper, 'I... find myself pitch-kettled, / And cannot see... / How I shall hammer out a letter'; Grose, 2nd ed. Lit., stuck fast, as in a kettle of pitch.

pitch on. To nag at, to abuse, to reprimand: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) A confusion or, perhaps a blend, of pick on and pitch into (a person).

pitch-pole, pitchpole. To sell at double the cost price: coll.: ca. 1850–90. pitch the cuffer. To 'tell the tale': late C.19–early 20. Ex cuffer, an exaggerated story or downright lie. pitch the fork. To tell a sad story: see pitch a fork.—2. Hence, to put a penny on the counter for, say, bacon and to receive both the bacon and the penny: vagrants' c.: from ca. 1870. Thus the tramp avoids a charge of mendicancy. Still current in later C.20 (Toby: a Bristol Tramp Tells his Story, Bristol Broadsides, 1979).

pitch the hunters. See hunters.

pitch the nob. To coit: prob. c.: from ca. 1820; † by 1890. Cf. synon. prick-(in)-the-garter.

pitch the plod. See pitching...

pitch-up. One's family or chums; a group or crowd: Winchester: from ca. 1850. Hence:

pitch up with. To associate with: Winchester: from ca. 1860. pitched. 'Cut', q.v.: tailors': from ca. 1860.

pitcher. The female pudend: low coll.: C.17–early 20. Wycherley.—2. Newgate Prison: c.: 1812 (Vaux); † by 1850. Also the stone pitcher (cf. jug).—3. A street vendor: since ca. 1870: s. >, by 1900, coll. (William Newton, Secrets of Tramp Life Revealed, 1886.) Cf. pitch, v., 2.—4. A chatterbox: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. pitch, n., 4.—5. A fairground vendor: fairgrounds': C.20. See quot'n at pitch, v., 2.—6. In bang a pitcher, to drain a pot: coll.: C.19–early 20. Cf. † S.E. pitcher-man, a toper.—7. See crack a pitcher.

pitcher that holds water mouth downwards, the miraculous. The female pudend: a conundrum c.p. of mid-C.18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed. (1788).

pitcher-bawd. 'The poor Hack'—worn-out whore—'that runs of Errands to fetch Wenches or liquor' (B.E.): low coll.: late C.17–mid-18.

pitchers. Pitch-black, very dark: since ca. 1920. By the 'OXFORD -ER(S)'. Ngaio Marsh, Clutch of Constables, 1968, of a night: 'It was awfully dark. Absolutely pitchers.'

pitching, go (a). To turn somersaults: circus:—1887 (Baumann).

pitching the plod. Greetings, talk between miners coming on and going off shift: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) As they plod along. P.B.: but see also plod, 1.

pitchpole. See pitch-pole.

pitchy-man. See dolly-man.

pitch. To sever (the spinal cord): medical:—1909 (Ware). Because this lets out the 'pitch' or marrow.

pitiful object. 'Naval petty officer. A play on PO' (Granville): C.20.

pitman. An occ. form of pit-man.

pitman's crop. A very close hair-cut, usu. among miners on account of the dirty nature of their work: mining-towns' coll.: late C.19–20.

pitmatic. 'The Doric or dialect of the Northern coal-mining counties' (Petch, 1969): ca. 1920–70.

pits, the. The very bottom, depths; the nadir: adopted, ex US, late 1970s. Perhaps ex armpits. 'If [Diana] Dors is the very personification of the buxom backside of the other Britain... then Joan Collins is the pits. Just the pits' (Angela Carter, reviewing film stars' 'autobiographies' in New Society, 20 Dec. 1979).

pitster. One in, a frequenter of, the pit: theatrical coll.:—1887 (Baumann). Perhaps on tipster. Cf. pitte.

Pitt Street farmers. Financiers interested in farming: NSW, esp. Sydney: since ca. 1950. (B.P.)

pitter-patter, n. and v. An elab. of patter, n. and v., senses 1–3 of each, q.v.: v.t., as in 'You've got to pitter-patter the punters' (M.T.): market-traders': C.20.

pitte. One sitting in the pit at a theatre: coll.: 1807 (SOD). Thackeray. Occ. pitte.

Pitt's picture. A bricked-up window: ca. 1787–1800: political. Done by the poor and the miserly, to save paying Pitt's window-tax. Grose, 2nd ed.

pitty. Pretty: nursery: C.19–20. (Anstey, Voces Populi, II, 1892.) Cf. Pitti-Sing in Gilbert & Sullivan, The Mikado; and the party, party forms of party.

pity about you! A C.20 derisive c.p. to a boaster, self-seeker or irritating person. Also to a person either constantly or excessively complaining.

pity the poor sailor on a night like this! A semi-joc. c.p. à propos of a stormy night: late C.19–20. Perhaps owing something to the Prayer Book's 'For those in peril on the sea.'

Piv, the. The Pavilion (theatre or music-hall, esp. in a garrison town): Army: late C.19–early 20. S.E. Burrow, Friend or Foe, 1912.

Pivot City, the. A nickname—among outsiders, joc. coll. verging on S.E., but in its proud coimers', i.e. in Geelong, eyes actually S.E.—for Geelong in Victoria, Aus.: ca. 1860–1910. Morris. In C.20, the Pivot (Baker).

pivoter. A golfer that, in swinging his club, turns his body as on a pivot: golfers' coll.: from middle 1920s. OED Sup.

pix. Photographs, esp. for illustration or publicity: a written form, var. of pics, q.v.

pixilated; often pixolated. Tippy: since ca. 1930. Perhaps a blend of 'pixy-led' and 'intoxicated'. Cf. impixolated. 'Came into general use with the release of the film "Mr Deedes Comes to Town" (ca. 1930); in which, however, it was used in the sense of "not right in the head"' (H.R. Spencer).

piz or pizz. A young man-about-town: Society: ca. 1760–80. (OED.) Cf. puz(z).

pize on, upon, of; pize take it; etc. Coll. imprecations: C.17–20. Since ca. 1840, only dial. Cognate, prob., with pest, pox, and possibly poison. Middleton, Shadwell, Smollett, Scott. OED.

pizz or, in full, pizzicato. Tippy: since ca. 1930. (Ngaio Marsh, Enter a Murderer, 1935.) Pun on pissed.

pizzle, n. The penis of an animal, esp. of a bull: from ca. 1520. Hence, C.17–20, of a man. S.E. until ca. 1840, then dial. and a vulg. Ex Flemish pezel or Low Ger. pesel, orig. a little sinew.

pizzle, v. (Of the male) to coit with: C.18–20: low coll. Ex the n.

place, n. An abode; a place of business: coll.: mid-C.19–20.—2. A privy, a w.c.: coll.: C.19–early 20.—3. As the place, the privities: low coll. or perhaps euph. S.E.: C.18–20. Sterne, 'You shall see the very place, said my uncle Toby. Mrs. Wadham blushed.'—4. See hot place.

place, v. To identify (thoroughly); remember in detail: orig. (ca. 1855) US; anglicised as a coll. ca. 1880; by 1930, virtually S.E. (Thornton).

place of sixpenny sinfulness. The suburbs; esp. a brothel there: coll.: C.17. Dekker.

place-on. A definite or well-established position, e.g. in a queue: Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham).

place where you cough, the. The water-closet: coll.: since ca. 1920. Ex coughing to warn an approacher that it is occupied.

placebo, be at or go to the school of – hunt (a) – make – play (with) – sing (a). To play the sycophant, be a time-server or servile: coll.: resp. approx. mid-C.16–early 17 (Knox); 1360–1600 (Langland); 1480–1600 (Caxton); 1580–1650; 1340–1700 (Chaucer, Bacon). Ex the Office for the Dead. Lit., placebo = I shall be acceptable. F. & H.; OED; Apperson.

placer. A woman in an official brothel, e.g. in France: c., esp. white-slavers': from ca. 1895. Londres.—2. A sheep that haunts one place: Aus.: C.20. Baker.—3. A seller of stolen or forged ration coupons: 'Many times we could have picked up the "placers"—the men who actually sold the coupons—but this was no good to us' (John Gosling, 1959): since ca. 1940: orig. c., but by 1945 also police s. Petch, 1969, 'By 1965, it had acquired the nuance, one who places stolen property, usually to fences.'

placket. A woman, as sex; the female pudend: low coll.: resp. C.17; C.17–18. With second sense, cf. placket-racket, the penis (Urquhart), and placketing and racketing in James Ray's The Scene is Changed, 1932. Ex placket, a petticoat-slit or (dress or petticoat) pocket-hole, occ. a chemise. placket-stung. Venereally infected: coll.: mid-C.17–18. Ray. placky, plaggy. Plastic, esp. in plaggy bag: placky heard in Middlesbrough, early 1970s; plaggy in E. Midlands. A further var. is plazzy. (P.B.)

plague. Trouble: coll.: 1818, Scott, 'Deil a . . . body about my house but I can manage when I like . . . ; but I can seldom be at the plague,' i.e. of doing it. (Slightly ob.) OED. Like the next eight entries, ex the weakening of S.E. sense of the respective words.—2. As the plague, menstruation: women's: mid-C.19–20. Cf. synon. the curse.

plague, v. To trouble, bother; tease, annoy: late C.16–20: S.E. until C.18, then coll. Gay, 1727, 'Husbands and wives . . . plaguing one another'; 1833, Harriet Martineau. OED.

plague! In 'a plague (up)on, of, or 'take': from ca. 1560; ob. Coll. verging on S.E. and, after ca. 1720, better considered as S.E. Also how the, or what a, plague!: late C.16–18: coll. > S.E. OED.

plagued. 'Plaguily': coll.:—1887. Baumann, 'I'm plagued hard up.'

plaguesome. Troublesome, teasing, annoying: C.19–20: S.E. > coll. ca. 1860; ob. by 1930.

plaguy. Var. spelling of plaguy.

plaguily. Exceedingly: coll.: C.17–20. Moe cites Dryden, The Kind Keeper, 1680; Landor, 1828, 'Ronsard is so plaguily stiff and stately' (OED). Ob. by 1850; virtually † by 1920. Cf. next two entries.

plaguy. 'Pestilent'; 'confounded'; excessive, very great: coll.: early C.17–early 20. Moe cites Middleton & Rowland, A Fair Quarrel, 1617, at V, i; Punch, 17 May 1879, 'A plaguy rise in the price' (OED). Cf.:-

plaguy, adv. Exceedingly, very: coll.: from ca. 1740, earlier examples connoting 'a degree of some quality that troubles one by its excess'. Richardson, in Pamela, 'I'm a plaguy good-humoured old fellow.' Ob. Ex prec. OED.

Plain, the. Eton College: see Hill, the.

plain. Unwatered, undiluted, neat: coll.: from ca. 1850. Only of drinks.

Plain and Gravy, the. The Navy: rhyming s.: late C.19–earlier 20. Var. of Soup and Gravy.

plain and jam. A tram: rhyming s.: earlier C.20. A ref. to suet roll.

plain as a pack-saddle. Obvious; very open: coll.: mid-C.16–mid-18. T. Wilson, 1553; Wither; Ray; Bailey. (Apperson.)

plain as a packstaff. The more gen. C.16–17 form (Becon, J. Hall) of:

plain as a pikestaff. Very clear or simple; beyond argument: late C.16–20: coll. >, ca. 1750, S.E. Shacklock, 1565; Greene, 1591; Smollett; D'Urfey; Trollope. (OED.) Cf. prec. and:- plain as a pipe-stem. Exceedingly plain, clear: coll.: late C.17–18. Ware.

plain as a yard of pump-water. Very plain: tailors': mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

plain as Salisbury. The same: coll.: 1837 (Dickens); curiously adumbrated, as the OED indicates, in Udall, 1542. Punning Salisbury Plain. (By the way, plain as the sun at noonday is S.E.) Cf. Shakespeare's plain as way to parish-church.

plain as the nose on (one's) or your face. The same: coll.: late C.17–20. Congreve, "'As witness my hand" . . . in great letters. Why, 'tis as plain as the nose on one's face.'

Plain City of the Queans, the. Bathurst, NSW: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Derisive on the Queen City of the Plains, as sometimes it is rather ambitiously called.

plain-headed. Plain(-looking): Society: ca. 1880–1910. B. & L. plain Jane (and no nonsense). A woman who, esp. if plain-looking, is staid and capable and unassuming: coll.: late C.19–20.

plain statement. An easy piece of work; a meal plain to indifference: tailors': ca. 1860–1935. Ex a statement contrasted with an invoice.

plain-turkey. A professional 'bush' tramp, always on the move, rarely working, old-fashioned, secretive: Aus.: since ca. 1910. On pp. 26–7 of D'Arcy Niland's The Shiralee, 1955, occurs the locus classicus for description and characterisation.

Plains of Betteris. 'The diversion of billiards' (Egan's Grose): Oxford University: ca. 1820–40.

plaintiff. In demur upon the p., see TAVERN TERMS, §4, in Appendix.

plaster. See plaster.

plan. See according to plan.

'plane, plane. A coll. abbr. of aeroplane: from ca. 1914; by 1933, S.E.

plane over (someone), put the. To search: Scot. (esp. Glasgow) policemen's: ca. 1880–1920. Ex-Inspector Elliot, Tracking Glasgow Criminals, 1904, spells it plain, but as Claiborne points out, 1976, it is prob. 'on the analogy of the carpenter's elimination of unwelcome bumps. The "copper" also searches out bumps—weapons, etc.'

planet. A candle; c.: 1840 (Longfellow); ob. by 1890. (As a source of light.)

plank, v. To put or set down; deposit: s. and dial.: 1859 (OED). Perhaps ex US (see sense 3), though this may well come ex Eng. dial. Note, however, that (sense 2) Egan's Grose, 1823, has plank, to conceal, and classifies it as Scot. c.—which suggests that, in this sense, the term is a perversion of plant, v., 1.—3. To table (money); pay readily: earliest Eng. record, 1835, Crockett (plank up); the US dates (see esp. Thornton) are: plank, 1824; plank up, 1847; plank down, 1850. Both nuances are prob. a fusion of put on the plank(s) and plank as an echoic v. expressing violent action (cf. plonk); note that Ware has plank the knife in(to), to stab deeply, and B., 1959, records Aus. plank, or plonk, (one's) frame down, to sit down.—4. To reprimand; be planked, to be called to the quarterdeck planking to attend the Captain's punishment session: RN: since ca. 1870. R.F. Mackay, Fisher of Kilverstone, 1973 (Peppitt).

planked. Imprisoned: c.:—1923 (Manchon). Prob. ex prec., 1, but cf. also 4.

planky. Dull-witted, stupid: evolved, ca. 1955, ex '(as) thick as two short planks': Services'; later, more widespread. (P.B.)

plant, n. A hiding-place (orig. at a fence's): c.: from ca. 1787 (Grose, 2nd ed.) Ex the v., 1. Hence in plant, in hiding; hidden: c.: 1812 (Vaux).—2. As the plant, hidden plunder or valuables: c.:—1812 (Vaux). The same source gives rise the plant, 'to take up and remove anything that has been hid, whether by yourself or another', and spring a plant, 'To unearth another's hidden plunder'.—3. 'A position in the street to sell from' (H., 1st ed., 1858): low.—4. A swindle or a cleverly planned robbery: c. >, ca. 1890, low s.: 1825 (Westmacott: OED).—5. Loosely, a trick, a deception: coll.: 1889, Notes & Queries: 'The dispassionate scholar finds the whole thing a "plant"'.—6. 'A "salted" gold-mining claim' (Baker): Aus.: late C.19–20.—7. A spy; detective: c.: 1812 (Sporting Magazine: OED); ob.—8. Hence, a decoy: c.: from ca. 1830; ob. by 1930.—9. A cordon of detectives: c.: 1880 (OED).—10. Hence, in C.20 s., 'A plant set to detect motorists travelling at illegal speed' (OED): 1909.—11. An outfit (set of equipment + store of provisions): Aus. miners' coll., an adaption of S.E. plant = industrial equipment: since ca. 1910.—12. (?) Hence, a travelling herd of cattle: Aus. rural: C.20. "'Oo's mob is it, Marty?"—"Should be one of the Lannigans. They're working two plants from Caroline Downs.'" Thus in Tom Ronan, Vision Splendid, 1954. Also 'a plant of horses' (Ibid.). Also, more generally, the herd and the drovers collectively (Ibid.).—13. See plants.

plant, v. To conceal, hide: c.: C.17–20. Rowlands, Martin Mark-All, 'To plant, to hide'; Grose. Now esp. Aus., says the OED in 1909. Ex the planting of a seed, perhaps influenced by sense 2. Cf. plant, n., 1, 2.—2. Hence, to hide (esp. horses) until a suitable reward is offered: Aus.: 1840, Sydney Herald, 10 Feb.—3. To place or set in position; to post (a person): mid-C.16–20: S.E. till ca. 1705, then coll. >, by 1780, low coll. 'J. Drake, 1706; Zangwill, 1892. OED.—4. Whence, to achieve, or to assist, sexual intromission: C.17–20: low coll. Cf. plant a man.—5. To bury: Grose, 1785; Mark Twain, Innocents at Home.—6. To abandon: s. or coll.: 1821 (Byron); rare and ob. Cf. Fr. planter là. OED.—7. To select a person or a building for a swindle or a robbery: c.: C.19–20; ob.—8. To plan, or devise, or prepare by illegal methods: c. or low s.: 1892, Daily News, 27 May, 'The affair was "planted" between two brothers' (OED).—9. To utter base coin: c.: C.19–20; ob.—10. To humbug; deceive: c.: C.19–20; ob.—11. To dispose cards for cheating: c.: from ca. 1840.—12. (In mining) to salt: c. almost imm. > low s.: from ca. 1850. Reade, 1850.—13. In conjuring, to prepare a trick by depositing an object in the charge of a confederate: coll.: from ca. 1880.—14. To deliver (a punch); to drive (the ball) into the goal or 'into' another player: boxing, football: from 1808 and ca. 1880 resp.: s. >, as to football, coll. in C.20. Cf. plant home.—15. Hence, to hit: at certain Public Schools, esp. Marlborough: late C.19–20. C. Turley, Godfrey Marten, Schoolboy, 1902, 'You would plant him every time if you were taught properly'.—16. (Of a horse) to stand, or remain, still: Aus. racing coll.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—17. To insert such an incident, etc., into a story as, though unnoticed at first reading, will eventually prove to influence the outcome: Can. authors' and free-lance journalists': since ca. 1945. (Leechman.)—18. Robert Kennicott, Journal, 1869, 'When a sled can not keep up and take its proper place in the brigade at each spell, it is said to be "planted", which is considered something very disgraceful'—which Dr Douglas Leechman glosses thus: 'Dog travel in Northern Canada. Kennicott was a young naturalist, from the States.' Can.: ca. 1850–1914.

plant a man. To copulate: coll.: C.18–19. (Rarely of a woman.)

plant home. To deliver (a, or as a, blow); hence, in argument, to make a point, and, in gen., to succeed (plant it, or one, home). From ca. 1885: s. till ca. 1910, then coll. A special use of plant, v., 14.

plant the books. To stack the cards: c.: C.19—early 20. (Lex. Bal.; B. & L.) Cf. books, 1, and plant, v., 11.

plant the sour. See sour, n.

plant (the) whids and stow them. To be very wary of speech; purposely say nothing: c.: C.17—mid-19. (Rowlands, Grose.) Cf. stow it!; whids = words.

plant (a person) upon (another). 'To set somebody to watch his motions': c.:—1812; ob. (Vaux.) Merely a special application of plant, v., 3.

planter. A blow; esp. a punch in the face: sporting: from ca. 1820; ob. Sporting Magazine, 1821, 'Smith put in a dreadful planter on Powell's throat' (OED).—2. A horse apt to refuse to budge: (orig. Anglo-Indian) coll.: 1864 ('Competition Wallah' Trevelyan).—3. A stealer and then hider of cattle: Aus.: 1890 ('Rolf Boldrewood': Morris). Ex plant, v., 1; cf. plant, v., 2, and planting, adj.

planter's long-sleevers. 'Chairs with arm- and leg-rests' (Charles Allen, ed., Plain Tales from the Raj, 1977); among army officers in India: late C.19—earlier 20. (P.B.) planting, n. A burial: (? mostly) Welsh: mid-C.19–20. Cf. plant, v., 5.

planting, adj. Cattle-stealing: Aus.: 1890 ('Rolf Boldrewood'). Cf. plant, v., 2, and planter, 3.

plants. Feet (extremely rare in sing.): (? low): C.17–18. Ex + S.E. plant, the sole of the foot.—2. See water-plant, 2.

plaster, n. 'A huge shirt or applied collar': non-aristocratic: ca. 1890–1914. (Ware.) This looks like a corruption of Fr. plastron, a (stiff) shirt-front.—2. Mustard: RN lowerdeck: later C.19–20. (Goodenough, 1901.) Ex S.E. mustard-plaster, a popular remedy for a cough.—3. A mortgage: Can.: from ca. 1920. John Beames, Gateway, 1932, 'We might put a plaster on the house'.—4. An account or bill: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Dymphna Cusack, 1951.

plaster, v. To flatter (a person): proletarian: later C.19. B. & L.—2. To shatter (a bird) with shot, blow it into a pulp:

sporting: 1883 (Bromley-Davenport). See quot'n at plasterer. (OED.)—3. Hence, to shell heavily: military: from 1914. F. & G.—4. Hence, often as vbl n., plastering: to bomb from the air; bombing, a heavy raid: RAF: since 1918. 'Jerry is so annoyed about the plastering we've given him recently...' (Flight-Sergeant in Allan Michie & Walter Graebner, Their Finest Hour, 1940).—5. To put (money) out on mortgage: NZ: C.20. (Alan Mulgan, Spur of Morning, 1934.) Cf. plaster, n., 3.

plaster of warm guts. 'One warm Belly clapt to another' (B.E.): 'a receipt frequently prescribed for different disorders' (Gröse, 1785). A late C.17–mid-19 low coll., almost a (men's) c.p. Cf. the frequent, and often well-meant c.p. advice, what you need is a woman: mid-C.19–20.

plastered. Drunk: from ca. 1916; orig. military. Cf. plaster and shot, adj.

plasterer. A clumsy shot with a gun (cf. Peter Gunner, q.v.): sporting: 1883 (OED). Bromley-Davenport, Sport, 1885, 'The plasterer is one who thinks nothing of the lives and eyes of the men who surround him, and blows his pheasant to a pulp before the bird is seven feet in the air.' Cf. plaster, v., 2, q.v.

plasterer's trowel and Seringapatam. Fowl and ham: rhyming s.:—1909; †. Ware.

plastic, on the. 'Defrauding persons, banks and stores with false credit or bank cards' (Powis): c.: later C.20. Such cards are made of plastic.

plastic, adj. Artificial; ersatz; bogus: of people, 'plastic Teds' = those of the younger generation, late 1970s, aping the Teddy-boys of the early 1950s; of things, 'plastic milk' = powdered milk; 'a plastic smile' = one of patent insincerity: coll.: since ca. 1960, but in more gen. use in 1970s. Brit. before it became US. In, e.g., Apple. (E.P.; P.B.) See quot'n at hippy.

plat. A simpleton, fool, easy dupe: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1942.) Ex Fr. plat (adj.), 'flat'.

plate, n. The amount collected in the plate at church: coll.: C.20.—2. In in for the plate, to be veneerily infected: 1785 (Gröse). Cf. 'He has won the heat... a simile drawn from horse racing' (Ibid.).—3. In on a plate, a Cockney c.p. (C.20) expressive of contempt for a person's stuck-up ways. As Julian Franklyn, authority on current Cockney speech tells me, 'It comes from the Fish and Chips shop, where those who intend to eat on the premises add this phrase to their order, else they get the fish handed to them in paper.'—4. See foul a plate; plate of ham; when the plate-fleet comes in.

plate, v. To indulge in oral congress, both homo- and heterosexual: low s.: since mid-C.20. Groupie, 1968. G.F. Newman, 1972, and in The Gwonor, 1977, "'You missed the best act, guv,'" Dyce shouted. "A pair of strippers; talk about form. They did everything, including plating each other." Ex plate of ham, q.v.

plate-fleet. See when the plate-fleet...

plate it. To walk: rather low: late C.19—earlier 20. Ex plates of meat.

plate of beef. Borstal rhyming s. for a Chief (Officer): since ca. 1920 (? earlier, the first institution—at Borstal in Kent—dating from 1902). Daily Telegraph, 4 June 1958, 'Bacon Bonces...'

plate of ham; often shortened to plate. A police term for fellatio: rhyming s., on gam(erouche): C.20.

plate of meat. A street rhyming s.:—1857 ('Ducange Anglicus'). Contrast plates of meat.

plate of thin flank. A cut off a joint of meat: low coll.: later C.19.

plate(-)rack. A horse: rhyming s., on hack: late C.19–20. J.D. Strange, The Price of Victory, 1930.

plated butter. A piece of butter genuine superficially, internally lard: low London:—1823; † by 1900. 'Jon Bee'.

plateful, have a; or, have too much on (one's) plate. To be desperately busy; hence, to feel 'browned off': army: 1941 +. Cf. enough...

plates. Short for plates of meat, q.v.: from ca. 1885. Marshall, 'Pomes', 'A cove we call Feet, sir, on account of the size of his plates'.—2. In New and Old Plates, Stock Exchange s., from ca. 1880, for shares in, resp., the English Bank of the River Plate and the London & River Plate Bank. The latter, † by 1915.

plates and dishes. Kisses: C.20. (P. P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.) Cf. hit or miss, q.v.—2. Wife: rhyming s., on missis(-us): C.20.

plates of (f) meat. Feet: rhyming s.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.).

platter. Broken crockery: lower-middle classes: from ca. 1865; ob. B. & L.

platters of meat. Var. of plates of meat:—1923 (Manchon).

platty. A platman: Aus. miner's coll.: since ca. 1910. (Gavin Casey, It's Easier Downhill, 1945.) He is the man who works a lift; plat-(form).

platinum blonde. A female with gold-grey hair: coll.: adopted ex US, by 1933. (COD, 1934 Sup.) Also as adj.

platypussery (or -ary). 'A pen or [other] specially prepared area in which platypuses are kept' (B., 1959): Aus.: since ca. 1930.

plausy or plauzy. 'When a person is smooth-tongued, meek-looking, over civil, and deceitful, he is plauzy' (P. W. Joyce, English... in Ireland, 1910): Anglo-Irish: late C.19–20. Ex 'plausible'.

plawt. A boot or shoe: market-traders': late C.19–20. (M.T.) Neither dial. nor Romany.

play, v. To make fun of: coll. 1891, Kinglake, in The New Australian at Home, 'They do love to play a new chum' (OED).—2. V.t., to tell (a 'mug') a story by which to get his money: c.: anglicised, ex US, ca. 1930.—3. To stay unnecessarily away from work: workmen's: C.20.—4. V.i., to work in co-operation; to reciprocate; to agree: Services: since ca. 1930. (H. & P.) Short either for play the game (or play fair) or, more prob., for play ball.—5. Play, like come and do, occurs in many Eng. s. and coll. phrases: a number are listed, by no means exhaustively, below; others may be found at their resp. key-words.

play a big game. To try for a big success: low:—1909 (Ware).

play a cross (or across). To act dishonestly; esp., in boxing, to lose dishonestly: ca. 1820–1920. (Vaux.) Cf. play booty, q.v. at booty, 2.

play a dark game. To conceal one's motive: coll. verging on S.E.: from ca. 1885. Milliken, 1888, 'Bin playing some dark little game?'

play a flanker. See flanker, 3.

play a good stick. (Of a fiddler) to play well: 1748 (Smollett: OED); ob. by 1930. Ex stick, a violin bow.—2. Hence, to perform, or play one's part, well at anything: coll.: C.19–20. See fiddle but not the stick, and stick, n., 30.

play a hunch. To act on an intuitive idea: coll.: adopted, ca. 1945, ex US. Sunday Times colour section, 8 July 1962, article by Wallace Reyburn. play about, v.i. To waste money: C.20.

play across. See play a cross.

play-actor. A humorous fellow: Glasgow coll.:—1934.

play artful. To feign simplicity; keep something in reserve: low coll.: from ca. 1840.

play at anything from marbles to manslaughter, (e.g. he will). He's 'game for anything': raffish London c.p.: ca. 1830–70. (Renton Nicholson, An Autobiography, 1860.) See DCpp. at from marbles...

play at hell and turn up Jack was a nautical elab. (? ca. 1790–1860) of play hell, to cause a tremendous commotion or much damage. John Davis, The Post-Captain, 1806. (Moe.)

play at in-and-in or in-and-out; at itch-buttocks; at tops and bottoms; at two-handed put. To copulate: gen. low coll.: resp. C.17—early 19 (Glaphorne; Cotton; D'Urfey); C.17–20; C.16–19 (Florio); mid-C.19–20; C.18—early 19. See also push-pin for synon. play at push-pin (or piky) and put-pin; and level-coil.

play ball. To co-operate: to reciprocate; to be helpful: coll.: since ca. 1937. Ex children's ball-games.

play billy with. To play the deuce with: coll.: late C.19– earlier 20. (Ronald Knox, The Body in the Silo, 1933.) See also billy-o.

play board. The stage in Punch and Judy: showmen's coll.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

play booty. See booty.

play camels. To drink too much: to get drunk: Anglo-Indian:—1909 (Ware). Ex a camel's drinking habits.

play (one's) cards (badly, well, right, etc.). To act clumsily, cleverly, etc.: since ca. 1640: coll., soon S.E.

play chicken. Among children, esp. young teenagers, to take part in feats of daring; the most notorious and dangerous, perhaps, is trying to be the last across a road or railway, right in the path of an oncoming vehicle or train. The last to survive can then hurl the taunt 'Chicken!', q.v., at those who have gone before. Adopted, ex US, early 1950s. Michael Innes wrote a detective novel in 1956 titled Appleby Plays Chicken. See also chicken out. (P.B.) play cocum. To be cunning and artful. See fight cocum.

play crimp. To play foul: low coll.: ca. 1660–1800. D'Urfev; Grose.

play cross-swords. (Of small boys) to stand side by side to urinate, so that the two streams cross half-way to the ground: coll.: late C.19–20. (P.B.) play diddle-diddle, v.i. To play tricks; to wheedle: coll.: C.16. Skelton.

play dolly up. To masturbate. See dolly up, dolly down...

play fathers and mothers, late C.19–20, coll.; play mums and dads or dads and mums, since late 1940s, s. To coit. The latter occurs in John Gardner, Madrigal, 1967. P.B.: an adult perversion of children's games of make-believe, playing mummies and daddies.

play first (+) or second fiddle. To occupy an important, esp. the most important, part or to have but a secondary place: coll.: from ca. 1770. Dickens, 'Tom had no idea of playing first fiddle in any social orchestra', 1843.

play footie, -y. To play feet: (mainly lower) middle-class coll.: late C.19–20. Also footies or footsie(s), or footy-footy.

play for lends. To gamble under agreement to return one's winnings; as opposed to playing for keeps, which is to gamble in earnest' (McNeil): Aus. coll.: later C.20.

play for paste. To play billiards for drinks: billiard-players':—1909. Ware, 'Probably from "vino di pasta"—a light sherry'.

play for time. To temporise: coll.: since early 1920s; by ca. 1945, familiar S.E. (Daphne du Maurier, Rebecca, 1938.) Ex such games as football and cricket.

play gooseberry. To act as propriety-third or chaperon: since ca. 1837; app. Devonshire dial. till ca. 1860. (G.R. Simms, 1880.) A late C.19 var. was do gooseberry. Ex gooseberry, 2. Contrast play old gooseberry, q.v.

play handies. See handies.

play hard to get. (Usu. of girls) to resist amorous advances, all the while intending to acquiesce eventually: Can. (and US) coll., since ca. 1925; by 1945, also Eng. and Aus.—2. Hence, more gen. '(of person or group), to be difficult in complying with what is expected of them' (L.A.): coll.: later C.20.

play hell and Tommy. See hell and Tommy.

play it by ear (e.g. 'We'll just have to...'). To make adjustments as the changing circumstances demand; to cope with a situation as seems best to one: since late 1940s: s. >, by 1970, coll. (P.B.) Ex e.g. a pianist picking up a tune with no written music as guide.

play it close. See sense 2 of:- play it close to (one's) chest. To hold one's cards close to one's chest so that nobody can see them: Can. (and US) poker-players' coll.: since ca. 1910.—2. Hence, to be secretive or 'cagey': Can. (and US) s.: since ca. 1925. (Leechman.) In later C.20, Brit., and sometimes shortened to play it close, as in Alan Hunter, Gently Coloured, 1969. In Gently Instrumental, he uses the var. keep it close.

play it cool. To take things calmly, or cautiously and moderately: coll.: since ca. 1955. Cf. cool, adj., 7.

play it off. To make an end; the imperative = it's time you finished: s. or coll.: late C.16—mid-17. See esp. Shakespeare, I Henry IV, II. iv, 'They call drinking deep, dyeing scarlet; and when you breathe in your watering, then they cry hem, and bid you play it off.' Lit., orig., and gen., however, this is merely a form of play off, v., 2, q.v.

play it (too) low; occ. play low. To take (a mean) advantage: s. > coll.: resp. 1892 (Zangwill); The Referee, 15 Aug. 1886.—2. V.t., play or play it (low) down on: US (1882) anglicised ca. 1890: s. > coll. Marie Corelli, 1904. OED.

play least in sight, v.i. To hide; keep out of the way: coll.: C.17—mid-19. R. West, 1607; Grose, 1785. (Apperson.)

play level-coil. To copulate. See level-coil.

play lighthouses. To have an erection in the bath: low coll.: C.20. (P.B.)

play lively occurs mostly in the imperative. To 'get a move on', to bestir oneself: RN: since ca. 1925. Granville, 'See "Smack it about!"

play long. A golf-course is said to 'play long' when, owing to heaviness of ground and/or air, one has to hit the ball much harder than usual: golfers' coll.: from ca. 1920. The Times, 30 Sep. 1936.

play low. See play it low.

play low down (on). See play it too low.

play marbles. See run away and...

play off; play with oneself. To masturbate: low: C.18–19; C.19–20.—2. To toss off or finish (liquor): late C.16—mid- or early 17. See quot'n at play it off; Dekker, 1607, 'He requested them to play off the sacke and begon' (OED).

play off (one's) dust. To drink: ca. 1870–1910. I.e. remove it from one's throat.

play old gooseberry. (V.t. with with.) To play the deuce: coll.:—1791; ob. (Grose, 3rd ed.) The v.t. form (with var. play up) also = to silence, or defeat, summarily; quell promptly: coll.: ca. 1810–80. Contrast play gooseberry, and cf. play old hack (or old Harry) with, at old Harry.

play on velvet. See velvet, 4.

play owings. To live on credit: sporting:—1909: s. verging on coll. Ware.

play pop (either absolute, or with with). To 'play the devil (with)', q.v.; to make a great fuss about something, because angry: (mainly) N. Country coll.: C.20. (P.B.) play possum. See possum, 4.

play pussy. To take advantage of cloud cover, jumping from cloud to cloud to shadow a potential victim or avoid recognition' (H. & P.): RAF: since 1939 or early 1940. Cat-and-mouse.—2. From same origin, to keep someone in suspense, as in 'I turned [the captured terrorist] round and prodded him towards the bridge with the tip of my carbine. I was content now to play pussy and wait for him to unfold' (J.W.G. Moran, Spearhead in Malaya, 1959).

play roulette. See mix the red...

play second fiddle. See play first...

play silly buggers. To 'mess about'; wilfully or not, to cause trouble, inconvenience; e.g. 'Well, why haven't proper arrangements been made?—I don't know. The people in charge here seem to have been playing silly buggers...': army: WW2 and since. See also let's play... (P.B.)

play smash (with). Var. of play pop.

play square. See square, n., 2: opp. play a cross. Cf. play straight: see straight, adj., 2.

play tapsalteerie. To leap backwards; fall head over heels: Scots coll.: 1826 (John Wilson: OED). The Scots adv. tapsalteerie (?ex top + Fr. sauter) = topsy-turvy.

play that on your Aunt Emma's piano! 'Said when a real poser is launched into a dispute' (L.A., 1978): Londoners': C.20. Cf. synonym. 'Put that in your pipe and smoke it!'

play the ace against the jack. (Of a woman) to grant the favour: low: C.19–20; ob. A figure that, taken from cards, is suggested by jack = John Thomas.

play the bear. See bear, n. 7.

play the corker. (Of persons) to be unusual, exaggerated, eccentric; in university and Public School, to make oneself objectionable. From ca. 1870. Anstey in Vice Versa.

play the devil. To do great harm; v.t., with. Coll. from ca. 1810; earlier, S.E. Egan, 1821, 'The passions ... are far from evil, / But if not well confined they play the devil.' Also play the deuce.

play the duck. To show oneself a coward: coll.: C.17. Urquhart.

play the gallery. To be, make an audience; to applaud: coll.:—1870; ob. Ex the theatre. The Echo, 23 July 1870, 'We were constantly called in to play the gallery to his witty remarks.' Contrast play to the gallery.

play the game. To act honourably, to 'do the decent thing': coll.: since latish C.19; in later C.20, a concept too personal to be treated other than humorously. Daily Chronicle, 2 May 1904, 'Men do not talk about their honour nowadays—they call it "playing the game"' (OED). (Lit., playing to the rules; cf. if's not cricket and play up, 1.) The phrase declined with the sunset of the British Empire; Play the game, you cads, play the game! was a c.p. popularised by the Western Brothers—actually, cousins—who performed on the halls and broadcast in variety shows till ca. 1945. The phrase formed part of the chorus of a serial song sung in a burlesque of Public-School English.

play the game of docketts. To avoid giving a decision, or expressing a definite opinion, by passing on the matter to some other department: civil servants': C.20. Cf. synon. pass the buck.

play the giddy goat. See play the goat.

play the glim. To cheat at cards by using mirrors: Can. cardsharps': early C.20. Charles Drage, Two-Gun Cohen, 1954.

play the goat. To play the fool: coll.: 1879. In late C.19–20, giddy is often added before goat, whence the vbl n. giddy-goating, q.v. at giddy goat, 2. By 1920, both forms were S.E. Ex goat, n., 3. See also nanny-goat.—2. To lead a dissipated life, esp. sexually: low: later C.19—early 20. Ex S.E. fig. sense of goat, a lecher.

play the jack. To play the rogue: coll: ca. 1560–1700. Golding; Ray (Apperson).—2. To play the fool: C.19. Both coll.—3. V.t. with with, as in Shakespeare's The Tempest, 'Your fairy ... has done little better than play the jack with us.'

play the numbers game. A form of 'empire-building', q.v.; e.g., in a college, to get as many students as possible, regardless of their suitability, on to a given course, in order to obtain more funds: coll.: later C.20. (P.B.)

play the organ. To copulate: Aus.: C.20. Prompted by the euph. organ (of reproduction), the penis. See also organ, 3.

play the piano. To have one's fingerprints taken: c.: from ca. 1910. Contrast playing the piano, 1.—2. (Of a shearer) 'to run one's fingers over the backs of sheep to find the easiest to shear' (B., 1941): NZ, hence Aus.; orig. and mostly sheep-shearers': C.20. L.G.D. Acland, 'Sheep Station Glossary' in The (Christchurch) Press, 1933–4.—3. To release bombs from an aircraft, one by one or in irregular numbers at irregular intervals: RAF: 1939+. (Jackson.) Contrast pull the plug.—4. See playing the piano.

play the whole game. To cheat: ca. 1780–1840. (Grose, 1785.) Perhaps lit., play every trick one can: as well as one knows.

play tiddlywinks. To coit: partly euph., partly trivial: C.20.

play to coppers, often as vbl n., playing ... To perform to a too small audience: theatrical: ca. 1870–1930. Cf. play to the gas.

play to the gallery. To court applause, esp. if cheaply and coarsely: theatrical coll.: from ca. 1870.—2. Hence, chiefly in sport, to adopt spectacular means to gain applause: C.20: coll. >, ca. 1930. S.E. Hence gallery-hit, -play, -shot, -stroke, etc., one designed to please the uncritical and those who like showy display.

play to the gas, says the Daily Mail of 16 Mar. 1899, 'is used in the general sense in reference to small audiences, but strictly it means that an audience was only large enough to render receipts sufficient to pay the bill for the evening's lighting'. Theatrical s.: ca. 1890–1905.

play trains. See run away and play trains!

play up. To do one's best: coll.: from ca. 1895. Newbolt, 1898, 'Play up, play up, and play the game!' See also play the game: prob. both phrases are taken from the playing-fields, but play up may have been suggested by play up to, q.v.—2. To be troublesome: coll.: late C.19–20. Of animals, esp. horses, and persons. P.B.: hence in C.20, of machines, and also of illnesses, as 'My rheumatism plays up something rotten this weather'.—3. To make fun of, to annoy or tease: from early 1920s: coll. >, by 1933, S.E. OED Sup.

play up, Nosey! A traditional London theatre-gallery cry: (?) mid-C.18–20. Ex Cervette, that famous violoncellist of Drury Lane Theatre who, because of his big nose, was nicknamed Nosey. 'John o'London' in his London Stories, 1911–12.

play up to. To take one's cue from another; to humour another, back him up, or to meet him on his own ground; to flatter: coll.: from ca. 1825. (Implied in) Disraeli, 1826. Cf. play up, 1. Ex:—2. So to act in a play as to assist another actor: theatrical s.: 1809, Malkin, 'You want two good actors to play up to you' (OED).

play war. To make a fuss (with) to reprimand: North of England: since ca. 1918.

play with (one)self. See play off, of which it is a var. only of sense 1. See also run away and play ...

play with (the ease of) a toothpick. V.t., to play (one's opponents' bowling) with ease: cricket coll.: 1899 (J.C. Snaith); ob. by 1935. Lewis.

player. One who 'plays' a dupe: c.: from ca. 1931. See play, 2.—2. A person, esp. if female, ready for 'amorous dalliance': NZ: since ca. 1950. Harold Griffiths, 1970, instances 'Why don't you take out that blonde? They say she's a player.' One who likes to 'play about'.

playground. 'Gingerbread slab, or sandwich, served as pudding': Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham). Ex hardness.—2. A parade-ground: RAF: ca. 1925–45. Jackson.

playing, vbl n., and adj. (The) being on half- or part-time work: North Country, esp. Yorkshire: since ca. 1920. Cf. laking and tromboning. (John Hillerby, 1950.)—2. 'Homosexual flirtation and involvement' (Sean McConville, in The State of the Language, 1980): women prisoners': later C.20.

playing hell with himself, he's. A c.p. applied to a man grumbling and muttering to himself: since ca. 1950.

playing it on the heart-strings (, that's). That's, or you're, being sentimental instead of realistic: c.p.: since ca. 1920. (L.A., 1974.) playing the harp. Drunk, and going home by the railings: Anglo-Irish: C.20. Ex the tapping on the railings, here likened to harp-strings.

playing the piano; gen. playin' the pianner. The shifting, by women, of rows of mineral-water bottles from a ship's hold into the baskets that are then hauled up by a crane on to the wharf: Thames-side workers': from ca. 1880; ob. Nevinson, 1895, 'By reason of the rows bein' so reg'lar and their 'ands jumpin' about on 'em so quick, same as when a man's vampin' on the black and white notes, and the singer keeps on always changin' 'is pitch'.—2. The vbl n. of play the piano, q.v.

plazzy bags. Plastic bags: coll.: since late 1960s. Var. placky, plaggy.

plead the Baby Act. To excuse oneself as too inexperienced: from ca. 1900; ob. Ex.—2. 'To plead minority as voiding a contract': coll.: from late 1890s. Ex the plea of infancy in its legal sense.

pleader. A chap, a fellow; esp. in poor pleader, a poor unfortunate devil: lower classes' coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. artist, client, merchant.

please (something other than a person). To attract sensually, to excite, as in 'Please my prick and I'll ...' (a railway train graffito): coll.: late C.19–20.

please God we live. God permitting; lower classes' coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

please, I want the cook-girl! A London c.p. directed at, or said of, 'a youth haunting the head of area steps': ca. 1895–1915. Ware.

please, mother, open the door! A Cockney c.p. spoken admiringly at a passing girl: ca. 1900–14. Ware.

please (one)self. To do just as one likes: coll., esp. in please yourself!: late C.19–20. Ex the S.E. sense, to satisfy, esp. to gratify, oneself.

please, teacher! A c.p. borrowed ex school to show one's wish to interrupt a conversational free-for-all; often accompanied by a raised hand: C.20. Contrast thank you, teacher!

please, teacher, may I leave the room? A joc. c.p., common among adult humorists: C.20.

please the pigs. If circumstances permit: coll.: late C.17–20; ob. (Facetious Tom Brown, Lytton.) Perhaps orig. Irish; perhaps a corruption of pix (pyx), or more prob. ex pixies, fairies (W.). See esp. Apperson.

pleased. In he (or she, etc.) will be pleased!, an ironic c.p.: from ca. 1920.

pleased as a dog with two choppers. Delighted: mostly lower-class: late C.19–20. (Alexander Baron, There's No Home, 1950.) P.B.: E.P. interpreted this as 'two tails', and so it may be used by the unaware; but cf. chopper, n., 6 = a penis, and L.A.'s var., noted 1974, pleased as a dog with two cocks—'delighted at quite improbable and unlikely good fortune'. Cf.:-

pleased as a dog with two tails. Delighted: coll.: late C.19–20.

pleased as Punch (or punch), as. Extremely pleased: coll., C.19 >, by 1910, S.E. An early occurrence is noted by Moe, from The Night Watch (II, 126), 1828, 'The skipper was as pleased as punch'.

pleasure. 'To go out for pleasure, take a holiday' (OED): coll. Not before C.20, except in dial., where it occurs in 1848 (EDD). Esp. as pleasuring, n. Ex the S.E. v.i., to have or take pleasure.

pleasure and pain. Rain: rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

pleasure-baulker. A petticoat: buckish: ca. 1810–40. (David Carey, Life in Paris, 1822.) Cf. the C.20 passion-killers.

pleasure-boat. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20.

pleasure-garden padlock. A menstrual cloth: C.17–early 19. ?coll. or euph. S.E. pleasure – Lady Agatha, a. An earlier C.20. Society c.p.: used in situations such as that in Noël Coward's Private Lives, 1930: 'Amanda: "Do you mind if I come round and kiss you?"—Elyot: "A pleasure, Lady Agatha".'

pleasurer. A person, e.g. a journalist or other 'tourist', taken along for one trip on a trawler 'just for the ride': trawlermen's: C.20. (Stephen Piper, The North Ships, 1974.) I.e., one on a pleasure trip, as on a boat-trip round the harbour or lake.

pleasuring, vbl n. See pleasure.

pleb or plebs. At Westminster School, a tradesman's son: pej.: mid-C.19–earlier 20. Ex L. plebs, the proletariat. Cf. Volsci, q.v.—2. (Only as pleb.) Any plebeian: 1823 ('Jon Bee'). Cf. US plebe, a newcomer at West Point, and:

plebbish; plebbishness. Plebeian (character or condition); caddish(ness): 1860 (OED). See prec.

plebs. See pleb, 1.

pledge. To give away. Esp. in pledge you!, after you (with that!), and I'll pledge it you when I've done with it. Winchester: C.19–20. See esp. R.G.K. Wrench, Notions, 2nd ed., 1901.

pleep. A German pilot that refuses combat: RAF: 1939+. (H. & P.) Ex echoic pleep as the sound made by, e.g., a frightened bird: cf. dial. pleet, a peevish cry.—2. A sleep: nursery, hence, adult joc.: Aus.: since late 1940s. (B.P.) A childish rendering of sleep.

plenipo. A plenipotentiary: coll.: 1687 (Dryden); rare in C.19–20. Vanbrugh, 1697, 'T'll... say the plenipos have signed the peace, and the Bank of England's grown honest.'—2. The male member: low: C.18–19. Cf. Captain Morris's scabrosity, The Plenipotentiary, ca. 1786.

plenipo, v.i. To be or act as a plenipotentiary: coll.: 1890. Rare. OED.

plenty, adj. Plentiful, abundant, numerous: C.14–20: S.E. until ca. 1840, then coll. Le Fanu, 1847, 'Wherever kicks and cuffs are plenties' (OED). Ex the n.—Whence plenty, adv. = abundantly: coll.: 1842. H. Collingwood, 1884, 'They're plenty large enough.' OED and EDD.

pleuro. 'Pleurpneumonia (as a disease of cattle)' (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: later C.19–20. (Mrs Campbell Praed, Australian Life, 1885.) The Aus. Pocket Oxford Dict. lists var. spelling ploorer.

plew. See plue.

plier. A hand: from ca. 1830: somewhat low. In C.20, ob.—2. (Gen. plyer.) A crutch: c.: mid-C.17–early 19. Coles, 1676 (at lifter); B.E.; Grose.—3. A trader: coll.: C.18–early 19. The idea of plying one's trade is latent in all three senses.

plink. A shortened form, mostly Aus. (B., 1943) of: plink-plonk; plinkety-plonk; also blink-blonk. White wine: facetious military: 1915–18. (B. & P.) On Fr. vin blanc.

plob. 'Hourly log kept by pilots, recording weather conditions on their patrols. (Coastal Command.) From patrol-log observations?' (P-G-R): since ca. 1941.

plod. Story: Aus., esp. miners': since ca. 1930. Gavin Casey, Downhill is Easier, 1945, "I suppose he told you the whole plod?" I sneered. "What plod?" Sadie wanted to know.' Wilkes, 'From plod a short or dull story; a lying tale. EDD'.—2. 'The piece of ground on which a miner is working; the work card relating to this: Western Aus.' (Wilkes): miners' coll. > j.: C.20.—3. 'Two policemen hurled bricks ... "It's the plods, chucking bricks," said a soul-boy, giggling in disbelief' (New Society, 16 July 1981, article on the recent riots in Brixton). Prob. ex P.C. Plod, in Enid Blyton's stories of Noddy the Elf. (P.B.) ploll-cat. A whore: C.17. A corruption of † S.E. pole-cat, the same. F. & H.

plonk. Mud, esp. that of no-man's land: military: 1916–18. Hence, over the plonk, 'over the top'. (B. & P.) Ex the noise made when one draws one's feet from the clinging mire. Cf. Lakeland plonch, to walk in mire (EDD).—2. Pinky, cheap port, sold by the quart: Aus. and NZ: from ca. 1926. Prob. ex plink-plonk, q.v.—3. Hence, any kind of wine of no matter what quality: Aus. and NZ, since ca. 1930; common also in Eng. since mid-C.20, gen. joc., and often as from a beer-drinker's point of view. The RN used the term for inferior brandy sold in Italy (Granville), and Anderson noted that beatniks were using it in the late 1950s for 'any cheap handy form of drink'. By 1975, gen. coll.—4. A shortening of plonker, 2, penis.—5. See A/C Plonk.

plonk, v. To shell: army: WWI. F. & G., 'Suggested by the sound of the impact and burst'.—2. To set, esp. in plonk down, to put, set, down, and plonk out, to set out—i.e. pay out, distribute—money: Aus. (B., 1942); also Brit. (orig. RN), since—1914 (Knock). Var. of plank, but also prob. echoic.—3. (Of the male) to coit: certainly current, esp. among National Servicemen, in 1950, and dating, I believe, since during WW2. Cf. the n., 4.

plonk bar. A wine bar: Aus.: since ca. 1935. Ex plonk, n., 3. plonk-dot. 'A confirmed wine-bibber' (B., 1953): Aus.: since ca. 1945. Ex plonk, n., 3.

plonk down. See plonk, v., 2.

plonk (one's) frame down. See plank, v., 3.

plonk up. 'To hurry up and drink' (Anderson); to drink copiously: beatniks': late 1950s+.

plonker. A (cannon) shell: Aus. army: 1939+. (Baker.) See plonk, v., 1.—2. Penis: low: since ca. 1917. Esp. in pull (one's) plonker, to masturbate; often shortened to plonk.—3. A smacking kiss: C.20. Echoic. (P.B.)

plonkers. Feet: mostly Londoners' and esp. among policemen: since ca. 1920. (Laurence Henderson, With Intent, 1968.) Ex 'plonking, or planking, one's feet down'.

plonko. A drunkard addicted to plonk (n., 3): Aus.: since ca. 1950. (Dick.) Cf. metho; pisso.

ploo. See plue.

plorer. See pleuro.

plootered. Tippy: Anglo-Irish: since ca. 1920. Ex Anglo-Irish plooter, to splash or wade in water or mire.

plot. 'Cardsharps' term for the venue in the street or on waste land where illegal gaming can and often does take place. A three-card trick cardsarp's pitch' (Powis): C.20. plotty is described by the OED, quoting Literature (the early form of The Times Literary Supplement) for 1901, as a nonce-word. Rather is it literary coll., esp. if = full of intrigue, having an intricate plot, as in Edwin Pugh, Tony Drum, 1898, 'Novels of a common type, plotty and passionate, but gilt-edged with the proprieties.'

plough, n. Ploughed land: hunting s. >, ca. 1900, hunting coll.: 1861, Whyte-Melville, 'It makes no odds to him, pasture or plough' (OED). Ex E. Anglian dial., where it occurs in 1877 (EDD).—2. Rejecting a candidate in an examination, whether action or accomplished fact: 1863 (Charles Reade: OED). Cf. ploughing. Ex—plough, v. To reject in an examination: university (orig. Oxford): 1853, Bradley, Verdant Green; 1863, Reade, 'Gooseberry pie... adds to my chance of being ploughed for smalls.' Cf. S.E. pluck, concerning which, in relation to plough, Smyth-Palmer in his Folk-Etymology makes some interesting, by no means negligible suggestions. Cf. ploughing. P.B.: in C.20, loosely, to fail, as in 'I did OK in the orals, but ploughed the written part'.—2. In I might as well plough with dogs!, this is useless, or very ineffective!: C.17–20: a c.p. >, by 1700, semi-proverbial; from ca. 1860, only in dial. (Apperson.) plough into. To address oneself vigorously to (food): coll. (—1923), mostly lower classes'. (Manchon.) Cf. pitch into. plough the deep. To (go to) sleep: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.)

ploughed. Tippy: low: ca. 1852–1912. ('Ducange Anglicus') Cf. screwed.—2. See plough, v., 1.

ploughing. A plucking in an examination: university: 1882 (Emma Worboise: OED). Ex plough, v., and cf. plough, n., 2.

plouter. See plowter.

plover. A wanton (cf. pheasant and quail): c.: C.17. Ben Jonson.—2. A dupe or a victim: c.: ca. 1620–40. Esp. green plover, as in Jonson and Chapman, 'Thou art a most greene Plover in policy, I Perceive.' Prob. suggested by equivalent pigeon (q.v.). OED.

plowed. See ploughed.

plowter; occ. plouter. To copulate: low: C.19—early 20. ?plough corrupted or ex plouter, plowter, to splash about in mire or water (see OED and EDD).

ploy, 'ploy. To employ: dial. (late C.17–20) and, hence, coll., late C.19–20. As a n., it is used in the Public Schools for a task. P.B.: although it is, as a n., S.E., for hobby, trick, escapade, it has in later C.20 gen. carried a coll. flavour, esp. when used for a (sometimes slightly cheating) gambit in game, sport or human relations; this under the influence of Stephen Potter's 'gamesmanship', which is full of such 'plays'.

plu. See plue.

pluck, n. Courage: 1785 (Grose): boxing s. >, ca. 1830, gen. coll. Scott, in 1827, called it a 'blackguardly' word, and ladies using it during the Crimean War were regarded with the same shocked admiration as one felt towards those who in the War of 1914–18 used the exactly analogous guts; it is now almost S.E. Ex pluck, the heart, lungs, liver (and occ. other viscera) of an animal, hence, ca. 1710, of a person.—2. In photographs, boldness, distinctness of effect: photographic: 1889 (OED). Cf. plucky, 2.—3. A stone: Aus.: C.20. B., 1959.—4. In against the pluck, reluctantly: ca. 1750–1810: s. > coll. Grose, 1st ed.

pluck, v. 'To fail (a candidate) in an examination' is familiar S.E.—not, as some tend to think, a coll.—2. To take out a part of one's winnings: Aus. two-up-players': C.20. "'You've got forty quid in the guts, Sailor,'" said Stan. "Want to pluck some?"' (Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949).

pluck a brand. To fake a new brand on stolen cattle or horses by pulling out the hairs around the existing brand' (B., 1942): Aus.: since ca. 1860.

pluck a pigeon. See pigeon, n., 3.

pluck a rose. To visit the privy: coll., chiefly among women: (?) late C.16–19. (Beaumont & Fletcher, The Knight of the Burning Pestle, 1607; Grose, 1785.) The rural privy was often in the garden.—2. See rose, 1.

pluck Sir Onion or the riband. To ring the bell at a tavern: resp. late C.17—mid-18, B.E.; late C.17—early 19, B.E., Grose, 1st ed. Prob. riband refers to a bell-push; perhaps onion, the round 'handle'.

pluck-up fair. 'A general scramble for booty or spoil' (OED): ca. 1570–1650: coll.

plucked. Courageous: gen. prec. by cool-, good-, rare-, or well-; or by bad-. Coll.: 1848, Thackeray (good plucked); Hughes, 1857 (bad plucked); 1860, plucked 'un. (OED; H., 2nd ed.) Cf. hard-plucked, hard-hearted: coll.:—1857 (Kingsley); †—2. See pluck, v., 1.

pluckily. Bravely: coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.: 1858, Trollope. (But pluckiness is S.E.) OED.

pluckless. Faint-hearted: coll. > S.E.: from ca. 1820; ob. Ex pluck, 1.

plucky. Courageous, esp. over a period or by will-power: coll. >, by 1920, S.E.: 1842, Barham, 'If you're "plucky", and not over-subject to fright'; Disraeli, 1826, had 'with as pluck a heart' (OED). Ex pluck, 1, q.v.; Cf. plucked, q.v.—2. (Of negative or print) bold, distinct: photographic coll.: 1885 (OED). Cf. pluck, 2.

plucky lot. An ironic 'bloody lot', i.e. 'not a bit', as in Kipling's 'Plucky lot she thought of idols when I kissed her where she stood'. Euph. Cf. plurgy.

plue. Tea: RN: C.20. H. & P.; Granville, 'A cup of luscious plue.' Why? Perhaps a blend, 'pleasant (or pleasing) brew': cf. brew, n. and v. Also used by Aus. seamen. Note wet the plue, to make tea. (P-G-R.) Var. spellings: plew, pluo, plu.

pluff. A shot from a musket, etc.: coll.: 1828 (J. Wilson: OED). Ex the echoic S.E. (mainly Scots) pluff, an explosive emission of air (1663). Cf. pluffer, q.v.—2. As adv. or interj.: coll., mainly Scots: 1860 (OED). Cf. S.E. phit.

pluffer. A shooter, a gunner: coll. (orig. Scots): 1828 (J. Wilson). See pluff, 1. OED.

plug, n. A punch; a knock (occ. fig.): 1798, Pitt, 'The bill... in spite of many Plugs from Sir W. Pulteney, will certainly pass' (OED).—2. A draught of beer: 1816, 'Come, sir, another plug of malt' (OED); ob.—3. An inferior horse: s. >, ca. 1920, coll.: Colonial and—prob. ex—US: 1872, in US. Also old plug, ob. Ex plug, a stop-hole, perhaps influenced by plug-tobacco, often inferior and rank. But in Aus., from ca. 1880, a good, steady, though slow horse, and in NZ, late C.19–20, a horse that is 'a good sort' (OED).

—4. Hence, an inferior, deteriorated, or damaged object or person: from ca. 1890.—5. Hence, a workman with irregular apprenticeship: mostly artisans': from ca. 1875.—6. Any defect: low: from ca. 1895. Ex senses 1, 3.—7. A translation: school and university: 1853, Bradley, Verdant Green, 'Those royal roads to knowledge... cribs, crams, plugs, abstracts, analyses, or epitomes'. Ob. by 1900, † by 1920.—8. A 'plug-hat', i.e. a top hat: US (—1864), partly anglicised ca. 1890; Kipling, e.g., uses it in 1891. Prob. because 'the head fits in it like a plug'. OED.—9. A small jam of logs: Can. lumbermen's coll.: C.20. John Beames.—10. A small unimportant passenger-train: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Ex sense 3.—11. A piece of publicity, a 'boost': since ca. 1935. Ex 'to plug' or 'boost': since ca. 1930: orig., advertising. Perhaps ex plug away at, to persevere with. Cf. v., 6.—12. An objectionable fellow: Can. (ex US): late C.19–20. (Niven.) Ex sense 3.—13. Cheese: Naval (officers'): C.19. (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, I, 32: Moe.) It prob.

shortens an assumed plug-hole, ex its constipating properties.—14. In down the plug, (of a tender) running short of water: railwaymen's: earlier C.20. (Railway, 2nd.) Short for ... plug-hole.—15. See pull the plug.

plug, v. (Of the male) to coit with: low: C.18–20. Cf. plug-tail, q.v. Ex S.E. sense, drive a plug into.—2. To punch, esp. plug in the eye: 1875, P. Ponder, 'Cries of ... "Plug him!"' (EDD). Cf. sense 1.—3. To shoot (v.t.): 1875 (J.G. Holland); 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'If that old horse ... had bobbed forward ... you'd have got plugged instead.' OED.—4. To continue, persist, doggedly: 1865, at Oxford (OED); soon gen.; in C.20, coll., esp. plug along, mainly of walking.—5. 'To labour with piston-like strokes against resistance': 1898 (G.W. Stevens, that brilliant unfortunate: OED). By 1930, coll.—6. V.t., to try to popularise (a song) by dinning it into the public ear: coll.: 1927. OED Sup.—7. To kick (a person's) behind: RMA Sandhurst: later C.19—early 20. B. & L.—8. To throw (a cricket-ball): many schools': C.20. Cf. sense 3.—9. See plugged.

plug along or away (at) or on. See plug, v., 4 and 5. The away form: late C.19–20. H. & P.

plug hat. A bowler hat (but see also plug, n., 8): Aus.: C.20. Baker.

plug-holed. Severely damaged, hence ruined, worthless: orig. RAF, from 1939; since ca. 1950, gen. low coll. (Claiborne, 1977.) Fit only to be flushed down the plug-hole (P.B.).

plug in. Fig., to 'switch on': jazz and drug addicts', and hippies': since ca. 1966. (Peter Fryer, Observer colour sup., 3 Dec. 1967). Ex switched on, q.v.

plug in both ways. (Of a male) to be both hetero- and homosexual: later C.20. (D. Kavanagh, Duffy, 1980.) Cf. AC/DC.

plug mush. "'Free for all" fight in the Merchant Navy. Literally, a "punch face"' (Granville): C.20.

Plug Street. The Flemish village of Ploegsteert near Armentières' (F. & G.): army coll.: WW1, then historical.

plug-tail. The penis: low: late C.17—mid-19. Ned Ward, A Walk to Islington, 1699; Grose, 1785.

plug-ugly. Orig. a rowdy, a tough; hence applied to any brutal-looking, violent character, e.g. a gang-leader's bodyguard: low s. > coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. (?)1940. See esp. Underworld.

plugged, ppl adj. (Of a bidder) silenced at once by a seller: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1919. Ex plug, v., 2, or v., 3.

plugging; plugging. An impersonator, -ation, at elections: Can. coll.: 1897 (Westminster Gazette, 1 Dec.: OED). ?ex plug, to insert something closely (as a stop-gap).—2. E.g. a rower, a runner, who 'plugs' along; the corresponding effort: coll.: late C.19–20. Ex plug, v., 4.

Pluggeries, the. The Light Repair Squadron attached to the Long Range Desert Group in N. Africa, 1942–3. A worthy unit of a fine formation. Their OC was Captain 'Plugs' Ashdown.

plugging. The interposition of advertisement 'gags' in 'turns' on the wireless: from 1933. (Evening News, 13 July 1934.) See plug, n., 11, and v., 6.

pluggy. Short and stumpy: dial. (—1825) >, ca. 1860, coll. Agnes Strickland, 1861, 'A short, pluggy (thick) man, with a pug nose' (OED). Ex S.E. n. plug.

plum; in C.17–18, gen. plumb, n. A fortune of £100,000: 1689 (the Earl of Ailesbury). Steele, 'An honest gentleman who ... was worth half a plum, stared at him'; Thackeray. Ob. by 1935. OED.—2. Hence, loosely, a fortune: coll.: 1709, Prior, 'The miser must make up his Plumb,' though here, as in most other instances, the specific sum may be intended. Ob.—3. (?hence) a rich man; orig. and properly, the possessor of £100,000; C.18—early 19. Addison, 1709, 'Several who were Plumbs.. became men of moderate fortunes' (OED).—4. In give (someone) a taste of plum, to shoot (a person) with a bullet: low: 1834 (Ainsworth); † by 1900. I.e. plumb, lead.—5. 'The "plums" were red glass slides that were slid down behind the bullseye lens [of an engine lamp] to convert a white light to a red one' (McKenna, 2, p. 124, quoting a correspondent, R. Smith): railwaymen's: C.20.

—6. See plums.

plum, v. See plumb, v.

plum and apple. Any jam: military coll.: 1915–18. (F. & G.) The ranks seldom got anything but plum and apple: a fact satirised by Bainsfather in his famous cartoon, 'The Eternal Question. "When the 'ell is it going to be strawberry?"' plum-duff. Plum-pudding or dumpling: 1840: coll., orig. nautical, >, ca. 1890, S.E. OED.

plum in the mouth. Used to describe an affected manner of speech that sounds so; either as adj. or simile: coll.: C.20. (P.B.) Hence plummy, of a voice.

plum pud. Good: Aus. rhyming s.: C.20. Hence, any plum?, (is it) any good? B., 1942.

plum pudding. In full, plum-pudding dog, as in Punch, 17 Jan. 1852, p.24. A 'coach-dog (the dog with dark spots which runs after carriages)' (Mayhew, II, 1851); † by 1910. Ex the markings; it is a sort of Dalmatian. Cf. spotted dog.—2. Hence, a dappled horse: circus-hands': C.20. Laura Knight, in the London Evening News, 19 June 1934.—3. A type of trench-mortar shell: army coll.: 1915–18. F. & G.

plum-tree. In have at the plum-tree!, a c.p., either semi-proverbial or in allusion to a song: C.18–19. Punning S.E. plum-tree, the female pudend (Shakespeare). Cf.

plum-tree shaker. 'A man's yard' (Cotgrave, 1611, at hoche-prunier): C.17–18.

plumb, n. See plum, n.—2. A plumber: RN lowerdeck: C.20. Ex v., 2. P-G-R.

plumb, v.t. To deceive: ca. 1850–1910: low. ?ex plumb, to fathom.—2. V.i. (1889) and v.t. (C.20), to work (properly, in lead) as a plumber: coll. W.S. Gilbert, 'I have plumbed in the very best families.' Ex plumber. OED.

plumb, adv. As an intensive: quite; completely: 1587, anon., 'Plum ripe': coll. >, by 1750, also dial. In mid-C.19–20, mainly US, but wherever used, in this period rather s. than coll. OED.

plumber. An armourer: RAF: since ca. 1925. (E.P., 'Air Warfare and its Slang', New Statesman, 19 Sep. 1942.) Facetious.—2. The Plumber is the RAF's name (cf. coll. Engines) for an Engineering Officer: since ca. 1930. Jackson. Cf.—3. Plumbers: Generic term for Engineer room staff (Granville): RN: since ca. 1920.

plumbum oscillans, n. and adj. 'Lead-swinging' (malingering or blatantly idling): 'Naval officers' jocular' (Cdr C. Parsons, RN ret., 1973). Mock-Latin: plumbum, lead, the metal, hence a depth-sounding plummet + oscillans, present participle of oscillare, to swing.

plume of feathers. A trifling person: coll.: late C.16–17. Cf. Jack with the feather.

plummie, -y. A ship's plumber: RN lowerdeck coll.: late C.19–20. (Knock.) Hence, any plumber: domestic coll.

plummy, adj. Rich; desirable; very good: 1812. (Vaux): s. >, ca. 1880, coll. London Herald, 23 Mar. 1867, 'Ain't this 'ere plummy?' Ex S.E. plum, something good.—2. Big-bellied: lower classes:—1923 (Manchon). ?ex plump, fat.—3. Dull; stupid; too respectable: low Glasgow: from ca. 1920. (MacArthur & Long.) Perhaps cf. Yorkshire plum, honest, straightforward; prob. influenced by US dumb, slow.—4. See plum in the mouth.

plummy, adv. Well; 'nicely': Cockney: 1851 (Mayhew, I); † by 1910. Ex adj., 1.

plummy and slam. All right: c.: ca. 1860–1910. B. & L. plump, n. A heavy fall or sudden plunge: coll. verging on S.E.: from ca. 1450.—2. Hence, a blow (cf. plumper, q.v.): 1763 (C. Johnston: OED); 1785, Grose, 'I'll give you a plump in the bread basket': s. >, by ca. 1810, coll. Ob. by 1850, † by 1910.—3. An Anglo-Irish var. of plum, n., 1. 'A Real Paddy', Life in Ireland, 1822.

plump, v. To utter suddenly, abruptly; blurt out: coll. verging on S.E.: 1579, Fulke, 'A verie peremptorie sentence, plumped downe' (OED).—2. To come (very suddenly, i.e.) plump; plunge in, burst out: coll. bordering on S.E.: 1829 (Lamb: OED).—3. To shoot; hit hard, punch: 1785, Grose, 'He pulled out his pops and plumped him'; † by 1860.

plump, adj. Big; great; well-supplied: coll. verging on S.E.: 1635, Quarles, 'Plump Fee'; B.E., 'Plump-in-the-pocket, flush of Money'; Pollok, 1827. (OED). Slightly ob.—2. (Of speech) blunt, 'flat': coll. verging on S.E.: 1789, Mme D'Arblay, 'She ... made the most plump inquiries' (OED). Slightly ob. Cf. plump, adv., 2, plumply, 1, and plumpness, qq.v.

plump, adv. With a sudden fall or encounter: late C.16–20: coll. verging on and sometimes merging in S.E.: 1610 (Jonson: OED).—2. Bluntly, flatly: 1734, North, 'Refuse plump': coll. >, in C.20, S.E., though still familiar. (OED). Cf. plump, adj., 2.

plump as a puffin (, as). Very plump: coll. > S.E.: C.19–20. Ex corpulence of young bird. W.

plump currant. In good health; gen. in negative: ca. 1787–1850. Grose, 2nd ed.

plump (a person) up to. To inform him opportunely or secretly about (something): lower classes':—1923 (Manchon). Ex plump, to fatten.

plumper. A heavy blow: 1772, Brydges, 'Gave me a plumper on the jaw, / And cry'd: Pox take you!' † by ca. 1860.—2. An arrant lie: low coll.: 1812 (OED). Ob.—3. Something that, in its kind, is uncommonly large: coll.: 1881 (Punch, 1 Oct.: OED Sup.). Cf. plumping.—4. Hence, all one's money, staked on one horse: turf coll.: from ca. 1881.

plumping. Unusually or arrestingly large: coll.: C.20. Cf. plumper, 3.

plumply. Unhesitatingly; plainly, flatly: coll. bordering on S.E.: 1786, Mme D'Arblay, 'The offer was plumply accepted' (OED). Slightly ob. Cf. plump, v., 1, and adj., 2; also plumpness.—2. With a direct impact: same status: 1846 (OED). Cf. plump, n., 1, and plump, v., 2.

plumpness. (Of speech) directness, bluntness: coll. verging on S.E.: 1780 (Mme D'Arblay: OED).

plums. A warship's engines: RN coll.: since ca. 1930. Granville.

plunder. Gain, profit: from ca. 1850. Mayhew, 1851, 'Plunder ... a common word in the horse trade.' Ex the S.E. sense of property acquired illegally or 'shadily'.—2. A grafter's stock or goods; grafters': from ca. 1890. (Cheapjack, 1934.) Perhaps ex sense 1. Cf.:—3. One's equipment and personal belongings: Can.: since ca. 1905. 'O.K.—grab your plunder and come along!' (Leechman.) It prob. derives ex Ger. Plunder, lumber, junk, rags. (R.S., 1967.)

plunder-snatch. See MOCK AUCTION SLANG, in Appendix.

plunge, n. A reckless bet: from ca. 1877: racing s. >, ca. 1890, gen. coll. Ex:

plunge, v. To bet recklessly; speculate deeply: 1876, Besant & Rice, 'They plunged ... paying whatever was asked' (OED): (orig. and mostly) racing s. >, ca. 1890, gen. coll. Lit., 'go in deep'.

plunger. A cavalryman: military: 1854, Thackeray, 'Guardsmen, "plungers", and other military men' (OED). Prob.

plunge, (of a horse), to throw by plunging.—2. A reckless better, gambler, speculator: 1876, 'The prince of plungers'; Besant & Rice, 1876 (OED). Ex plunge, to dive.—3. A Baptist: Church s.: C.19–20. Ex plunging (immersion) in water at baptism.—4. A hypodermic syringe: orig. medical: from ca. 1912. Gavin Holt, Drums Beat at Night, 1932.—5. "'Plungers" is the name given to the men who clean the streets of the City [of London] with hoses and squeegees' (Rev. Eustace Jarvis, Twenty-five Years, 1925): London: C.20. They plunge about in the swirling waters.

plunging. Reckless betting, deep speculation: 1876: racing s. > ca. 1890, gen. coll.

plunk, n. A fortune; any large sum: 1767 (Josiah Wedgwood: OED); † by 1850. Cf. the US plunk, a dollar. As it precedes plunk, the v., by some thirty years, the word may be ex plum, 1, on chunk or hunk.—2. 'An exclamation expressing the impact of a blow' (C.J. Dennis): orig. (—1916) and mainly Aus. Echoic: cf. plonk.—3. An occ., mostly Aus., var. of plonk, cheap liquor.

plunk, v. To strike (someone): Aus.: since ca. 1918. (B., 1942.) Ex n., 2.

plunk a baby; get plunked; get tribued; get karitanied. To go into a maternity home and have one baby's there; hence, to become pregnant: NZ: C.20. B., 1941. The first (plunked a baby) refers to the Plunket Society, as obviously does the derivative second; the third refers to Sir Truby King, noted for sage advice upon, and sustenance for, the feeding of infants; the fourth comes ex Karitane Home.

plunk for. To plump for; support enthusiastically: coll.: C.20. Cf. plunk.

plurry. Bloody: orig. and still mainly (even though occ. joc.) euph. Aus.: mid-C.19–20. Notably in my plurry word! and no plurry fear! Ex Aboriginals' linguistically natural use of the word. (B.P.)

plus, adv.-preposition. And a further, undefined quantity: coll.: C.20. Ex:—Having in addition, having acquired or gained: coll.: 1856, Kane, 'Bonsall was minus a big toe-nail, and plus a scar upon the nose' (OED).

plus a little something some (loosely, the) others haven't got. A c.p., joc. and self-explanatory: 1934+. Ex an early-1934 motor-oil (Shell-Mex and B.P. Ltd) advertisement.

plus-fours. Wide knickerbockers, orig. and esp. as worn by golfers: 1920: coll. till ca. 1925, then S.E. Ex a plus (e.g.) 2 golfer, or, more prob., ex the fact that, to get the overhang, the length is increased, on the average, by four inches. (OED Sup.; COD, 1934 Sup.)

plush. The pubic hair: low: C.19–20. Cf. fleece, bush.—2. An overplus of grog: naval: prob. since ca. 1800. Bill Truck, Jan. 1822; W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book (I, 24), 1825 (Moe).—3. Hence, that overplus of gravy that goes to the cook of each mess: nautical:—1867 (Adm. Smyth).

—4. Hence, a surplus of anything; 'perks': RN lowerdeck: C.20. Musings, 1912, p. 97, a storekeeper speaking: 'Well, there ain't no chance of even makin' any rightful plush in nothin'.' Cf. plushers, q.v.—5. In take plush, to accept an inferior position or appointment: coll.: earlier C.20. (Manchon.) Perhaps ex the plush worn by footmen.—6. See John Plush.

plush-bum (mostly in pl and written plushbums). 'Rich folk' (Arab): Liverpool low: ca. 1890–1940.

plushers. Surplus rum left over after the daily issue: RN lowerdeck: late C.19–20. (Knock.) Granville, who uses var. plussers, notes 'Ironic, since the rum is poured away into the scuppers, in accordance with Queen's Regulations.' By the 'OXFORD (and RN) -ER(s)' on plush, 2. The custom of the daily issue ceased in early 1970s.

plute. A plutocrat: coll.: adopted, ex US, by 1930; † by 1940.

plyer. See plier.

Plymouth blade. 'Tis only a modern phrase, for a crab-tree cudgel' (Roger Boyle, Mr Anthony, 1672, at II, i: Moe): ca. 1650–1720. Cf.:—

Plymouth cloak. A cudgel: 1608: c. >, ca. 1660, low s. >, ca. 1700, s.; † by 1830, except historically. Dekker, 'Shall I walk in a Plymouth cloak (that's to say) like a rogue, in my hose and doublet, and a crab-tree cudgel in my hand?' The staff, cut from the woods near Plymouth by sailors recently returned from a long voyage, was jocularly supposed to serve as a cloak to those walking in cuervo, i.e. in hose and doublet: Ray's Proverbs. Bowen notes that in the old Navy it = 'an officer's or warrant officer's cane'.

pneumatic bliss. See shock-absorbers.

pneumatic cavalry. Cyclist battalions: army: later WW1. B. & P.

pneumo. A pneumococcus: medical: C.20. Gen. in pl (-os).—2. In have a pneumo, to have artificial-pneumothorax treatment (have an A.P.): coll., TB patients': since ca. 1930.

pneumonia blouse. A girl's low-cut blouse: since ca. 1920.

Pneumonia Bridge. A certain bridge that, at Gosport, is exposed to all the winds that blow: RN: C.20. Granville. Pneumonia Corner. The junction of Putney Bridge and Lower Richmond Road: London policemen's: since ca. 1925. Many policemen on duty there ended up by catching pneumonia.—2. The corner of Whitehall and Downing Street: Press photographers': since during the Munich crisis, Sep. 1938. Ex long, cold, wet waiting to 'snap' Ministers and other notables.

pneumonia rig. A set of tropical clothing: RN: since ca. 1925. P-G-R. pneumonia truck. 'Open lorry without doors or hood' (New Statesman, 30 Aug. 1941): ARP workers': 1940–5.

P/O Prune. See Prune.

po. A chamber-pot: C.19–20: coll. >, ca. 1880, low coll. (When, as rarely, written or pron. pot, it is S.E.) Ex the pron. of pot in Fr. pot de chambre.—2. In full as a po, extremely drunk: low: earlier C.20.

po-faced. With features as blank as the appearance of a po (see prec.): since ca. 1900. It was used by Terence Rattigan in French Without Tears, 1937, but the Lord Chamberlain (who knew it, and remembered using it as a boy) objected and pie-faced was substituted by the actors. (Based on a note from Sir Terence a few months before his death in 1977.) It > a fashionable term: R.S., 1967, notes 'A 1960s elastic word of disapproval, based on po. It seems to equate with "square", "establishmentary", but also with "hearty". Debs' and book-reviewers'. Found in literary supplements and heard on radio'; and L.A., almost simultaneously, wrote: 'Of features bland or blank; set, socially correct, immobility of expression; the term implies social supercilious mask of a face that, unreasoning, claims deference by hauteur. One of the class brick-bats of the early 1960s, used in reflection, i.e. disapproval, by and of upper classes'. Mr Quintin Hogg, in the Guardian, 30 Mar. 1960, referred to the Honourable Mr Wilson as 'po-faced, where the connotation seems to be rather that of "poker-faced". The term was not heard so much after the late 1960s. Hence, a smile like a po, 'round, benign and full-hearted' (L.A., 1976)—i.e. bland and non-committal.

poach. To blacken (the eyes): boxing s. > gen. ca. 1890: ca. 1815–1920. Moore, Tom Crib, 'With grinders dislodg'd, and with peepers both poach'd'. Ex Fr. yeux pochés.—2. V.t., to gain unfairly or illicitly (an advantage, esp. a start in a race): the turf: from ca. 1891. Ex S.E. sense, to trespass (on).

poached egg. 'A yellow-coloured "silent cop" placed in the centre of intersections as a guide to traffic' (B., 1942): Aus.: mid-C.20.—2. The Japanese national flag: Eastern Theatre of WW2: 1942–5. (Cdr C. Parsons, RN ret., 1973.) Cf. flaming arsehole.

poacher. A broker dealing out of, or frequently changing, his market: Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1890.

Poacher Court (or p.c.), the. The Kirk Session: Scots coll. nickname: 1784 (Burns); † by 1903. EDD.

Poachers, the. 'One of the nicknames of the 10th Regiment of Foot (later the Royal Lincolnshire Regiment and now part of the Royal Anglian Regiment), raised in 1685, is "The Poachers"; in allusion to the famous old ballad "The Lincolnshire Poacher" which was played as the Regimental March' (Carew).

poaching country. 'Resort of all who go shooting' (Egan's Grose): Oxford University: ca. 1820–50.

pooble, v. 'To ride at a leisurely pace' (Dunford): motorcyclists': since (?)ca. 1950. Imit. and echoic.

po'chaise; po-chay or po'chay; pochay. Abbr. post-chaise: coll.: resp. 1871, Meredith; 1871 (id., po'chay); 1827, Scott, in Chronicles of the Canongate. OED.

pock. Small-pox; syphilis: from M.E.: S.E. until C.19, then dial. and low coll. Gen. the pock. Cf. pox and pocky, qq.v.

pock-nook, come in on (one's) own. 'As we say in Scotland when a man lives on his own ewn' (Sir A. Wylie, Works, 1821): late C.18–early 20: coll. A pock-nook is a sack-corner or -bottom.

pock- (Erg. poke-)pudding. An Englishman: Scots coll.: C.18–20; in C.20, joc. (Burt, Letters, 1730; Herd.) Lit., a bag-pudding; hence, a glutton; hence... In C.18, also pock-pud: EDD.

pocket. In he plays as fair as if he'd picked your pocket, a c.p. applied, in C.19, to a dishonest gambler.—2. In if not pleased put hand in pocket and please yourself!, a mid-C.17–18 c.p. retort addressed to grumblers. Ray, Proverbs.—3. For not in my pocket! see not in his pants!

pocket-billiards (, usu. playing). (Of a male) palping his genitals: Public Schools' and Services' synon. of pinch the cat: since ca. 1910.

pocket-book dropper. A sharper specialising in, or adept at, making money by dropping pocket-books (gen. containing counterfeit) and gulling the gullible: c.: C.19–20; ob. Cf. drop-game and fauney rig.

pocket-hank(y). A pocket-handkerchief: resp. low coll. and gen. coll.: late C.19–20. (Manchon.) The longer form also occurs in dial.: 1886 (EDD).

pocket pistol. 'For a Pocket Pistol alias a dram bottle to carry in one's pocket, it being necessary on a journey or so, at Nicholl's pd 0.1.0' (paid one shilling): entry of 29 June 1763, in James Woodforde's Diary: ?ca. 1740–1840. Ex shape. A late example occurs in Wm Maginn, Tales of Military Life, 1829, at I, 45. (Moe.)

pocket the red. To effect intromission: billiard-players' erotic s.: late C.19–20.

pocket-thunder. A breaking of wind: low coll.: C.19–early 20.

pockets to let (, with). Penniless: joc. coll.: ca. 1820–1900. Moncrieff, in Tom and Jerry, 1823, 'Clean'd out! both sides; look here—pockets to let'; Baumann.

pockies! That's mine; 'bags!': Milton Junior School, Bulawayo: since ca. 1925. (A.M. Brown, 1938.) Worth recording as a var. of an enduring piece of folklore. I.e. pockets II: cf. bags II pocky. A coarse pej. or intensive: a vulg.: ca. 1598–1700. Jonson, 'These French villains have pocky wits.' Ex S.E. sense, syphilitic. OED.

pocta. A member of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals: coachmen's: ca. 1885–1910. Baumann.

pod, n. A pillow, a bed. (Lit., a bundle.) C.18–19: c. or low s. See pad, n., 5. (F. & H.) The term and its definition are both open to suspicion.—2. The Post Office Directory: commercial:—1909 (Ware).—3. Belly: proletarian: later C.19—earlier 20. Esp. old pod, a big-bellied man. B. & L.—4. A marijuana cigarette; marijuana: Can. underground: late 1950s, adopted ex US. 'Basic Beatnik', in the Victoria, BC, Daily Colonist, 16 Apr. 1958.—5. In in pod, pregnant: lowish coll.: since later C.19. (B. & L.) Ex 3; see also poddy, adj., 1. pod, v. To give birth: low coll.: since mid-C.20 (? earlier). Also podding, pregnant, as in 'Had a baby! I didn't even know she was podding!' (P.B.) Ex prec., 5.

poddy, n. A 'poddy calf', i.e. a calf fed by hand: Aus. coll. >, by 1930, standard: late C.19–20. (Jice Doone.) Prob. ex dial.

poddy, adj. Obese, esp. as to the waistline: coll.: 1844 (Edward FitzGerald: OED). Prob. ex dial. pod, a large, protuberant abdomen.—2. Tippy: (low) coll.: ca. 1860–1910. ?ex sense 1. (H., 5th ed.) Cf. podgy, 2.

poddy calf. Half-a-crown: Aus. rhyming s.: earlier C.20. B., 1945.

poddy-dodger. The agent corresponding to: poddy-dodging. 'The stealing of unbranded calves' (B., 1943): Aus. rural: since ca. 1910.

podge. A short, fat person; such an animal: dial. and coll. from ca. 1830.—2. Occ. a nickname: from ca. 1840. Cognate with puddge, q.v.—3. A special application is: an epaulette, as in Marryat, 1833: nautical; † by 1890.

podgy. Squat; short, stout, and (if of an animal) thick-set: dial. and coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: from ca. 1835. Occ., as a n., a nickname. Ex podge, 1.—2. A C.19 var. of pogy, q.v.

pody cody! A low coll. perversion of body of God!, an oath:

late C.17—early 18. Perhaps, however, of Urquhart's invention (1693 in his Rabelais). OED.

poet. See he's a poet; that's a rhyme...

Poetry. See TAVERN TERMS, § 3d, in Appendix.

poets. Excuse for, or action of, leaving the office early on Friday: Services': since early 1960s. Acronym ex 'Piss (or Push) off early—tomorrow's Saturday'. Hence poets' day = Friday. (Peppitt; P.J.E. Jones.) Cf. t.G.i.F.

poet's walk, Poet's Walk. 'The tea served to Upper Club, on half holidays, in River Walk' (F. & H.): Eton College coll.: late C.19—early 20.

pog. Face: Felsted School: late C.19—early 20. Prob. ex physog.

pog-top; pog-wog. See wog, 2.

poge. See poke, n., 1.

poge-hunter. A thief specialising in the removal of purses: from ca. 1870. E.g. in Pugh (2). Ex poge = poke = a purse: mid-C.19—early 20.

pogey. See pogy.

poggle; puggle or puggly. An idiot: Anglo-Indian coll.: —1886. Ex Hindustani pagal, 'a madman or idiot. Y. & B. —2. Hence, mad: army: late C.19—early 20. F. & G. poggle (or puggle) pawnee. Rum; any spirituous liquor: army: late C.19—early 20. (F. & G.) Ex prec., '2, i.e. 'mad water'—or, in later C.20 terms, 'idiot broth'. Hence:—

pogged. Mad-drunk; mad: id.: Ibid. Also puggled. Ex prec. P.B.: in later C.20, an occ. term for plain drunk.—2. (Of a car) that 'has had crash damage repaired' (Woman's Own, 28 Feb. 1968); hence, pogglers, such a car: car-dealers': since late 1940s, if not a decade earlier. P.B.: the term was used on BBC Radio 4 News, 3 Jan. 1977.

pogglers. 'Purse, sometimes a wallet' (Powis): c.: later C.20. Cf. pogue.—2. See pogged, 2.

pogh. See poke, n., 1, which it is a var.

pogram. A Dissenter; a (gen. Nonconformist) formalist; a religious humbug: 1860; † by 1902. H., 3rd ed.: 'from a well-known dissenting minister of the name'. H., 2nd ed.

pogue. 'Purse, sometimes a wallet' (Powis): c.: C.20. Prob. a var. of poke, n., 1 and 7.

pogy. (Hard g.) Tipsy: c. >, in C.19, low: ca. 1780—1890, but surviving in US c. (Grose, 1785; Halliwell, 1847; H., 1st ed. (where spelt podgy); Baumann.) Etym. problematic: but perhaps cognate with Romany pogado, crooked, ex pog(er), to break, or ex poggle (or puggly), q.v. Cf. poggle, perhaps, and certainly pogy aqua; cf., too, puggy-drunk.

pogy (or pogy) aqua! Make the grog strong! (lit., little water!): c. or low: ca. 1820—1910. ('Jon Bee', 1823; Baumann.) Ex It. poca aqua.

Poilu. A French soldier; gen., a private in the infantry: coll.: late Oct. or Nov. 1914. Direct ex Fr. ('hairly one', i.e. 'he-man', hence 'brave fellow'). For this extremely interesting term, see esp. Words! (article on French soldiers' words and phrases). Cf. piou-piou, q.v.

point, n. A point to which a straight run is made; hence, the cross-country run itself: sporting (esp. hunting) coll.: 1875 (Whyte-Melville, Riding Recollections: OED). Hence, make his or their point, (gen. of a fox) 'to run straight to point aimed at' (Ibid.).—2. 'The region of the jaw; much sought after by pugilists' (C.J. Dennis): coll.: late C.19—20.—3. A stopping-place, from which on (e.g.) a tram route, fares are reckoned: coll. (1907: OED Sup.) >, by 1935, S.E.—4. 'Any writing implement: "Do you happen to have a point on you?" (Brit. gay slang) (Bruce Rodgers, The Queens' Vernacular: a Gay Lexicon, 1972).—5. First place on a taxicab rank: taxi-drivers': since ca. 1910. Also point position; cf. pin position.—6. A smart, esp. a too smart, trick; an unfair advantage: Aus.: C.20. (Tom Ronan, Vision Splendid, 1954.) Ex the v.—7. See show a point to, with which cf.:

point, v. 'To seize unfair advantage; to scheme' (C.J. Dennis): Aus.: C.20. Cf. points, 1, and pointer, 3.—2. Hence, to malingering: Aus.: since ca. 1910. B., 1959.

point-beacher. A woman of doubtful character in Portsmouth: RN: C.20. (Bowen.) Ex a locality.

point blank. White wine: army in France: WW1. (F. & G.) By Hobson-Jobson ex Fr. vin blanc. Cf. plink-plonk.

point-failure. Failure in examination: Oxford University: ca. 1820—40. Egan's Grose.

Point Nonplus. 'Neither money nor credit' (Sinks): ca. 1820—70.

point Percy at the porcelain. See Perce, 2.

point position. See point, n., 5.

pointer. The penis: low: C.19—20.—2. A hint or suggestion; a useful piece of information: US (1884) anglicised ca. 1890: coll. But perhaps ex dial., for see the EDD. (Pointing what to do.)—3. A schemer; one watchful for mean opportunities: Aus.: C.20. (Jice Doone.) Ex point, v.

pointing. Vbl n. corresponding to point, v.: C.20. B., 1943.

points. In get points, to gain an advantage: 1881 (OED): coll. var. of S.E. gain a point in the same sense. Cognate with: —2. In give points to, to be superior to, have the advantage of: coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex S.E. sense, to give odds to (an opponent).—3. See pile up points.

pointy. Pointed: coll.: C.20. Gerald Kersh, Slightly Oiled, 1946, 'Where men wear pointy shoes.'—2. Terse; full of point; pithily economical: C.20. OED, 1909.

poison. Liquor; a drink of liquor: coll.: adumbrated in Suckling's Brennoralt, approached in Lytton's Pelham, first indubitably used by the Americans, Artemus Ward and, in 1867, Pinkerton ('Name your poison'), and generalised in England ca. 1885. Marshall, 'Pomes', 'My favourite poison', murmurs she, "Is good old gin"; Milliken, 1888, 'Wot's yer poison, old pal?' Hence, ca. 1885—90, nominate your poison, say what you'll drink.—2. In like poison, extremely: gen. in hate each other (or one another) like poison: coll. Palsgrave, 1530, has 'Hate me like poison', but hate like poison > gen. only in C.19. Barham, 'And both hating brandy, like what some call poison'.

poison dwarf. Gen. pej. term: low coll.: later C.20. (Sean McConville, The State of the Language, 1980.) Prob. a direct trans. of an abusive nickname given by the inhabitants of a West German town to a certain Scottish regiment that caused havoc and unpleasantness while stationed there in the 1950s. (P.B.) poison-gas. Treachery: meanness: from ca. 1916, but very ob.: coll. verging on S.E. (W., at gas.) Ex the use of poison-gas in WW1.

poison on armour plate. 'Ship's biscuits dipped in beef tea' (Granville): RN wardroom: C.20.

poison-pate(d). Red-haired: coll.: late C.17—early 19. B.E. (poison pate, prob. also n.); Grose's poisoned-pated should doubtless read poison-pated.

poison(-)shop. A public house: Aus.: since ca. 1910. B., 1942.

poisoned. Pregnant: (?orig. c. >) low s. or coll.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Ex the swelling that often follows poisoning.

poisoner. A cook: Aus. joc.: C.20. (Baker.) Cf. RN grub-spoiler.

poisonous. A coll. intensive adj. (cf. putrid, q.v.): from ca. 1905, according to E. Raymond, A Family That Was (1929). Edwin Pugh, Harry the Cockney, 1912; F.E. Brett Young, Woodsmoke, 1924, 'With these Perfectly Poisonous People'—very satirical; Richard Keverne, The Man in the Red Hat, 1930, 'He's a poisonous beast. As shifty as they make 'em'; 'Poisonous child' (Graham Shepard, in his country-house novel, Tea Tray in the Sky, 1934). Ex S.E. fig. sense, morally corrupting or destructive, of evil influence, or that of deadly as poison.

poisonously. Very, extremely: coll.: ca. 1924—39. Cecil Barr, It's Hard to Sin, 1935.

pojam. A poem set as an exercise: Harrow School: late C.19—20; ob. A blend: poem + jam (or perhaps pensum, an imposition, with intensive j.)

poke, n. Stolen property: c.: mid-C.19—early 20. (The Times, 29 Nov. 1860; Baumann.) Ex poke, a bag, pocket, etc. Also poge, pogh.—2. 'A blow with the fist' (Grose, 2nd ed.): since later C.18. Esp., in C.20, take a poke at, to punch, or attempt to punch. (The senses, a thrust, push, nudge, poking, are familiar S.E.) Cf. the corresponding v.—3. An act of sexual intercourse: low coll.: C.19–20. Ex sense 2 and v.—4. Hence, a mistress, 'permanent' or temporary. A good, a bad poke: a woman sexually expert or clumsy (or cold). Low: C.19–20. Cf. push, q.v.—5. Hence, a girl (notoriously) easy to have: Aus. low: C.20. 'I knew Elaine was a poke for the boys' (Dick).—6. A poke-bonnet: coll. verging on S.E.: from ca. 1840. Hood, ca. 1845, 'That bonnet we call a poke' (OED).—7. A fish's stomach: coll. and dial.: 1773 (Barrington: OED).—8. Money: circus s., or perhaps genuine Parlyaree: C.20. (E. Seago, Circus Company, 1933.) Prob. ex Fr. poche, a pocket. By 1940, fairly gen. s., as in 'It's a very satisfying feeling knowing you can put your finger on a bit of poke. (Which is slang for money: get it, poke, loot, poppy—any of them will do!)' (L.J. Cunliffe, Having It Away, 1965).—9. A purse: c.: mid-C.19–20. E.P.; Powis, 1977.—10. Horsepower: motorists': since ca. 1945. R.T. Bickers, The Hellions, 1965, 'With all that poke under the bonnet'.—11. A racehorse, esp. one worth betting on; hence, a bet on a horse: the turf: since ca. 1960, perhaps a decade earlier. As in 'a 2 to 1 poke' = a 2–1 'shot' or chance. (D.B. Gardner, 1977).—12. In get the poke, a Scottish (esp. Glaswegian) var. of get the sack, to be dismissed: late C.19–20. Also in Yorkshire dial., which has the corresponding give the poke, to dismiss (EDD).

poke, v. To coit with (a woman): low coll. C.19–20. Ex poke, to thrust at. Cf. poke, n., 3, and poker, 2.—2. V.i., to project very noticeably: dial. and coll.: from ca. 1828 (OED).—3. To hit (someone): mainly Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Esp. as in 'Why don't you poke him one?' Cf. n., 2, q.v.

poke a snipe. To smoke a pipe: Medical Greek or marrow-skying: ca. 1840–90. See Slang at 'Spoonerisms'.

poke bogey, v.t. with at. To humbug: s. or low coll.: ca. 1880–1910. Cf. S.E. poke fun.

poke-bonnet. A bonnet projecting-brimmed: coll. (in C.20, S.E.): 1820; OED, where the earliest quot'n suggests an origin in poking people's eyes out; more prob. ex poke, to thrust forward.—2. Occ. applied to the wearer of one: coll.: late C.19–20.

poke borack. To impart fictitious news to a credulous person; to jeer. See borack, 2.

poke-bouncer. 'One who, by sleight of hand, appears to put money or valuables into a paper bag, which he then twists and offers for sale' (M.T.): market-traders': late C.19–20. Ex S.E. poke = a bag.

poke Charley (v.t. demands at). To 'poke fun (at)', to be derisive—to deride: RN: since ca. 1935. (Granville.) Ex the given-name of some noted humorist.

poke fly. To show how: tailors': ca. 1860–1920. Cf. fly, n., 6, a trick, and adj., 1 and 2, artful or dextrous.

poke full of plums!, a. An impertinent c.p. reply to which (is the) way to (e.g.) London?: ca. 1580–1680. Melbancke, 1583; Torriano, 1666. (Apperson.) poke fun at. To joke (ob.), ridicule, make a butt (of). Also absolute without at. Coll.: from ca. 1835. Barham, 'Poking fun at us plain-dealing folks'.

poke-hole; poking-hole. The female pudend: low coll.: C.19–20; ob. Ex poke, v., 1.

poke in the eye. See better than a dig...

poke mullock. See mullock, 1, and cf. synon. poke borack, at borack, 2.

poke-pudding. See pock-pudding.

poke through on the rails. (Of a racehorse) to come through the field on the inside: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1930. B., 1953.

poke up. To confine in a poky place: coll.: 1860 (Miss Yonge). Gen. as (be) poked up (OED).—2. To prepare the perforated paper tape by which a message may be sent by teleprinter or fed into a computer: Services' signals personnel: since ca. 1955, or earlier. (P.B.)—3. See pipes, 3.

poker. A sword: joc. s. or coll.: late C.17–early 20. (B.E., Grose.) Cf. cheese-toaster, q.v.—2. The penis: low: from ca.

1810. (Lex. Bal.) Ex poke, v., 1.—3. (Also holy poker.) An Oxford or Cambridge University bedell carrying a mace before the Vice-Chancellor: university: 1841. Because he carries a mace or 'poker' (joc. S.E.).—4. A single-barrelled gun: sporting: C.19. Ex the shape.—5. A clumsy fencer: fencing coll.: C.19–early 20.—6. A lighterman employed by the Port of London Authority: nautical: C.20. Bowen.—7. 'A casual labourer in the dockyard timber-trade: Londoners': from ca. 1850. Mayhew, 'From their poking about the docks for a job' (EDD).—8. In burn (one's) poker, to get a venereal infection: low: C.19–early 20. (Baumann.) Ex sense 2.—9. See chant the poker; holy poker, 2; Jew's poker; old poker.

poker-breaker. A wife: low: C.19–early 20. See poker, 2. Cf. Yorkshire pinle-twister.

poker-face. 'An inscrutable face, betraying no emotion' (SOD): coll., since later C.19; in later C.20, verging on informal S.E. Ex such control needed to play the bluffing game of poker. Hence, adj., poker-faced; and, as E.P. (who was a great tennis fan) notes, the use of Poker-Face, orig. little P.-F., as a nickname for the tennis star Miss Helen Wills, later Mrs Wills-Moody: lawn-tennis devotees': from ca. 1925. He cites Daily Express, 28 Apr. 1934.

poker-pusher. A naval stoker: RN: late C.19–20. Bowen.

poker-talk. Fireside chit-chat: coll.: 1885 (Mrs Edwardes). Ex the fireside poker.

pokey. A Yorkshire s. (not dial.) term for goods paid for on the 'truck' system: from ca. 1870. EDD.—2. (Usu. the pokey.) Prison: Aus. low., late C.19–20; in C.20, also Can. (Ruth Park, 1950; Leechman cites, for Can. use, J. Dowell, Look-Out Bear, 1974.) Where one gets 'poked up'?—3. (Or pokie, -y.) A poker machine: Aus. urban: since late 1930s. Jan Hamilton, The Persecutor, 1965.

pokey-dice. Bluff poker, played with dice: army: C.20. (Gerald Kersh, Bill Nelson, 1942.) P.B.: since mid-C.20, usu. pokey-die.

pokie. See pokey.

poking drill. 'Aiming drill in the course of musketry instruction' (B. & L.): Services': later C.19–early 20. Contrast poky drill.

poking-hole. See poke-hole.

poky drill. Musketry practice without live cartridges: military (other ranks)': from ca. 1915. Ex poky, insignificant.

pol! By Pollux!: a coll. asseveration: late C.16–early 17. Nashe, Dekker. OED.—2. As the pol or P-, see poll, n., 2.

Pol Econ. Political Economy: undergraduates' coll.: late C.19–20. OED Sup.

pol(a)c(k). A Pole, Russian or Czech dealing in Polish Jewesses: white-slavers' c.: C.20. (Londres.) A Polack is a Pole.

polaroids. Seamen of a Polaris missile submarine: RN: 1970s. (Peppitt.) A pun on, e.g., polaroid glasses or cameras.

pole, n. The weekly wages account: printers': from ca. 1850. ?because affixed to a pole or because it resembles a pole by its length; or, more prob., a corruption of poll, head, i.e. a 'per capita' account.—2. The male member, esp. when erect: low: C.19–early 20.—3. Esp. in up the pole, q.v., ex one sense of which prob. derives.—4. In get on the pole, to verge on drunkenness: low:—1909 (Ware). Perhaps ex up the pole, 4, or perhaps ex the circumspect walk of a drunk.—5. The control column of an aircraft: RAF: later C.20. (Strong & Hart-Davis, Fighter Pilot, 1981.) Cf. earlier joy-stick.—6. See rope-dancer's pole.

pole, v. To be an expense, obligation, nuisance; to 'scrounge': Aus.: C.20. (Kylie Tennant, Foveaux, 1939.) Also pole on (somebody). Cf. up the pole, 6.—2. To steal: NZ c., since ca. 1930 (R.G.C. McNab, in The Press, Christchurch, NZ, 2 Apr. 1938); Aus., since ca. 1935 (B., 1943).—3. (Of the male) to copulate, as in 'He poled the girl': Anglo-Irish: C.20. Ex n., 2. Cf. shaft in same sense.

pole-axe. A low jocularly on police: ca. 1860–70. H., 2nd ed.

pole-axing. The reducing of wages to the point of starvation: printers':—1887; ob. (Baumann.) Cf. the axe, q.v.

pole on. To sponge on (somebody): Aus.: C.20. (Vance Palmer, Daybreak, 1932; Caddie, 1953.) Ex pole, v., 1.

pole-pole. See SWAHILI, in Appendix.

pole-work. 'Collar-work', q.v. and which explains it; a long wearisome business: coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex North Country dial. of late C.18–20. EDD.—2. Sexual intercourse: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Also poling.

poled, ppl adj. Stolen: Aus. and NZ: C.20. (B., 1959.) See pole, v., 2.

poler. A scrounger: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1953.) Ex pole, v., 1.—2. A horse or bullock harnessed alongside the pole of wagon or dray: Aus. rural: mid-C.19–20. B., 1959.

poley, polley. (Of cattle) hornless; lit., polled: English dial. and, from ca. 1840, Aus. coll.—2. In Aus. coll., from ca. 1880, also a hornless beast.

police-nippers. Handcuffs; occ., leg-irons: low: mid-C.19—early 20.

policeman. A fly; esp. a blue-bottle fly, which inversely = a policeman, esp. a constable. Mostly London:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.); E.D. Forgues, La Revue des Deux-Mondes, 15 Sep. 1864.—2. A sneak, a mean fellow, an untrustworthy man: c.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.).—3. Hence, a 'squeaker' or 'squealer', a betrayer of confederates to the police: c.: C.20. Edgar Wallace, The Missing Million.—4. 'Under sail, the member of the watch who keeps on the alert to catch an order and rouse his mates': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.—5. He who reminds a newcomer that he ought to pay footing: tailors': mid-C.19—early 20. B. & L.—6. See once a policeman ...; sleeping policeman.

policeman's helmet. The glans penis: low: C.20. Cf. bobby's helmet. Ex shape.

policeman's truncheon. A hand-grenade attached to a handle and having streamers to steady its flight: army coll.: WWI. F. & G.

poling. See pole-work, 2.

polio. Poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis: coll., medical >, by 1958, gen.: since ca. 1930. Leader Magazine, 23 July 1949.

-polis; -opolis. The o is euphonic; -polis represents the Gr. for a city. Relevant in nicknames, from ca. 1860, of cities or towns, e.g. Cottonopolis, Manchester; Leatheropolis, Northampton; Porkopolis, Chicago and, before 1881, Cincinnati.

polish, v. To thrash, to 'punish': ca. 1840–1910. Ex polish off, q.v.

polish (or pick or eat) a bone. (Gen. of eating with another.) To make a meal: ca. 1787–1915. Grose, 2nd ed. (polish). Contrast polish off.

polish (one's) arse on the top sheet. (Of men) to coit: low: late C.19–20.

Polish Corridor, the. Cromwell Road, London, S.W.: taxi-drivers': 1945+. (Daily Telegraph, 18 May 1948.) Ex the many Poles resident there.—2. The passage leading from the front main hall to the Reading Room of the British Museum: B.M. habitués and attendants: since ca. 1940, but esp. ca. 1944–8. Ex a certain visitant and entourage. P.B.: for almost forty years E.P. was himself one of those habitués: his regular seat in the Reading Room was K1.

polish (one's) marble. See marble.

polish off. Summarily to defeat an adversary: boxing s., 1829 (OED) >, ca. 1835, gen. coll. = to finish out of hand, get rid of (esp. a meal) quickly. Dickens, 1837, 'Mayn't I polish that ere Job off?' Ex polish, to give the finishing touches to by polishing.—2. Hence, to kill secretly: c.:—1923 (Manchon).

polish the apple. To curry favour, orig. of school-children polishing, on sleeve, an apple about to be presented to teacher: adopted, ca. 1945, ex U.S. Tempest, 1950, 'To curry favour with the authorities by sycophancy. To put on a show of being busy. (From the costermonger's habit of rubbing the best apple on his sleeve but selling inferior ones.) The US derivatives apple-polisher, -ing, never really caught on in Brit.

polish the King's iron with (one's, or) the eyebrows. 'To be in gaol, and look through the iron grated windows' (Grose, 1st ed.): ca. 1780–1840: (prob. c. >) low s.

polisher. A gaol-bird: Aus. c.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. prec.

polite. See do the polite.

politician's porridge, carmen's comfort, porter's puzzle, are found in Ned Ward's The London Spy Compleat, 1703, as = beer. At the best, they are very rare; at the worst, they merely represent Ward's alliterative ingenuity.

politico. A politician either ambitious or unscrupulous or, esp., both: Aus.: adopted, ca. 1955, ex US. (B.P.)—2. Hence, any politician: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1960. Ex S. American Spanish politico—or merely appearing to be? P.B.: in later C.20, some Brit. use for this sense, and also applicable to any politically-minded person, e.g., one who 'plays politics' on an academic board of governors.

polka. See matrimonial.

polker. A dancer of the polka: perhaps a nonce-word, in Albert Smith, The Natural History of the Ballet-Girl, 1847. (P.B.)

poll, n. (Occ. pol.) A pass in the examination for the ordinary, not the Honours, BA degree. Gen. as the Poll, the passmen, and as go out in the Poll, to be on the list of passmen. Hence, poll, a passman; occ. poll-man. Cambridge University s. first recorded ca. 1830, poll is prob. ex. Gr. οἱ πολλοί, the many, 'the general run'. Bristed, 1855, 'Several declared that they would go out in the Poll'; J. Payn, 1884, 'I took ... a first-class poll; which my good folks at home believed to be an honourable distinction.' Hence Captain of the Poll, the highest of the passmen: Cambridge Univ.: ca. 1830–90.—2. A wig: C.18—early 19. (Hall, 1708; Grose, 1788.) Ex poll, the head.—3. An affectionate diminutive of Mary: as Margaret = Meg = Peg, so Mary = Moll = Poll. Hence, a woman; esp., a harlot: nautical: from ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed.; P.H. Emerson, 'a poll gave him a bob'.—4. A decoy bitch used in stealing dogs: c.: from ca. 1870.—5. A gen. name for a parrot: C.17–20: coll. soon > familiar S.E. Cf. polly, 3. No doubt influenced by alliteration.

poll, v. See pill and poll. From ca. 1835: c., as in Brandon, 1839; P.H. Emerson, 1893, 'He accused us of polling.'—2. To defeat; outdistance: printers' and sporting: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.—3. To snub: low: later C.19—early 20.—4. To pollute: Christ's Hospital School: ca. 1840–90. Marples.

poll-man. See poll, n., 2.

poll off. To become drunk: low: later C.19. Cf. pole, n., 4, q.v.

poll parrot, or with capitals. A talkative, gossipy woman: low, mostly London: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.

poll-thief. A thief; an informer: c.: from ca. 1890. Cf. poller, 2.

poll up. To court; live in concubinage with: low: from ca. 1870. (H., 5th ed.) Cf. polled up, living in unmarried cohabitation; in company with a woman (H., 1859). Cf. moll'd up and, semantically, shack up (with). In C.20, palled up.

Pollacky! or oh Pollaky (or p!)! An 'exclamation of protest against too urgent enquiries' (Ware): proletarian c.p.: 1870s. Ex the advertisements of Ignatius Paul Pollaky, Australian by birth: at an office in Paddington Green, W. London, he established 'Pollaky's Detective Agency' in 1862; in W.S. Gilbert's Patience, first performed on 23 Apr. 1881, among the ingredients necessary to make a heavy dragoon is 'the keen penetration of Paddington Pollaky'; he frequently advertised in the agony columns of The Times, to which, in later life, he sometimes wrote over pseudonyms 'Ritter' or 'Criminalrath', letters of some length; and when at the age of 90, he died at Brighton, The Times gave him, on 28 Feb. 1918, an excellent obituary. (With thanks to the staff of The Times.)

polled up. See poll up.

poller. A pistol: c. of ca. 1670–1750. (A Warning for House-keepers.) Lit., a plunderer.—2. The same as poll-thief. P.H. Emerson, 1893.

polley. See poley.

pollies. Politicians: Aus. abbr.: since ca. 1970. Wilkes.

polling on, ppl. or adj. phrase. Reckoning on, assuming; hence, taking advantage of; military: from ca. 1910. (F. & G.) Semantics: counting on; (electoral) poll.

polloi. See hoi.

pollrumpious. Unruly or restless; foolishly confident: coll. or s.: from ca. 1860. ? ex poll, head + rumpus. (Much earlier in dial.)

polly. ? a boot, a shoe: from ca. 1890. P.H. Emerson, 1893, 'All I get is my kip and a clean mill tog, a pair of pollies and a stoock, and what few medazas [?] mezadas] I can make out of the lodgers and needies.'—2. Apollinaris water: 1893, G. Egerton.—3. As a name for a parrot: C.17–20: coll. soon > familiar S.E.—4. A prefect: Uppingham School: late C.19—early 20. Marples.—5. In do polly, to pick oakum in gaol: c.: from ca. 1860. (B. & L.) Cf. synon. mill doll, v.—6. See pollies.

Polly Flinder. A window: Cockney rhyming s.: late C.19–20. Cf. Max Linder.

Polly put the kettle on and we'll all have tea. C.p.: later C.19—earlier 20. (Collinson.) Ex an old nursery rhyme, reinforced by Dickens's song 'Grip the Raven'.

Pollycon (or p-). Political Economy: undergraduates': C.20. A blend.

polone. A girl or woman: theatrical; grafters': since mid-C.19. Often used in combination as adj. 'female', as in strill polone, a female pianist (Lester). Var. spellings are palone; palon(ey): pron. *p'lon*e, rarely perlone, it is the present shape of blowen, q.v., by a common process of linguistic change. The erroneous palore or polore arise from a misreading and are very rare.—2. A pony: circus and theatrical rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn 2nd.

polony. See DRINKS, in Appendix.

polore, palore. Erroneous for polone, 1.

pollrumpious. Var. of pollrumpious.

Polto. 'Petty Officer, Electrician. From when the Torpedo Branch did the electrics' (John Malin, 1979): RN submariners': mid-C.20. Cf. Spo, q.v.

polty; dolty. Easy: cricketers', ca. 1890–1910. ?cognate with Kentish pollt, saucy.

Poly, the. The Polytechnic Institute: Londoners' coll.: C.20. P.B.: in later C.20, any local polytechnic; or, in ref., as Leicester Poly, Oxford Poly, etc.

polyglotter. A person that speaks several languages: coll.: 1912. OED Sup.

Polyphemus. The penis: C.19–20 (ob.) cultured. Via Monops, the one-eyed one.

pom. A Pomeranian dog: coll.: C.19–20. Cf. peke, q.v. Aldous Huxley has somewhere remarked that 'there is no inward, psychological contradiction between a maudlin regard for poms and pekes and a bloodthirsty hatred of human beings.'—2. Short for pommy, q.v. Also written with a capital, as in Martin Boyd, Day of My Delight, 1965, 'The Poms have a kink on sex.'

pom Fritz. A var., actually the imm. orig. of, Bombardier Fritz, q.v. (B. & P.) P.B.: it sounds like a pun on Fr. pommes frites, with which the Brit. Army in France would soon have become familiar, influenced by pom, 1.

pom-pom. A maxim automatic quick-firing gun: 1899: echoic coll. >, by 1905, S.E.—2. A French 75-mm. cannon: army: 1914–18.—3. A multi-barrelled anti-aircraft gun: Services, esp. RN, coll.: 1940+. P-G-R.

pom-tiddly-om-pommers. German machine-gunners: Brit. Army: WW1. Ex the simple 'tunes' played by them on their guns.

pomatum-pot. A small pot of throat-mixture kept by Gladstone at his side while he spoke in public: society: ca. 1885–90. Ware.

pombi. See SWAHILI, in Appendix.

pome. A poem: sol., C.19–20. Marshall, 'Pomes' from the Pink 'Un, 1886–96; Joyce, pomes pennyeach, 1932.

Pomme de Terre. A Croix de Guerre: Services': 1914–18; then only historical. (I never once heard it used during WW2.) Primarily rhyming s.; secondarily facetious. 'The Pomme de Terre was the only thing he'd earned, protecting a station-master's wife, he said' (V.M. Yeates, Winged Victory, 1934).

Pommie, -y; p-. An English immigrant; an English national:

Aus.: app: since late C.19, orig. among dock-workers; by early C.20, gen. Aus., and almost always derogatory. See esp. Wilkes, who quotes, among many other relevant items, this from H.J. Rumsey, The Pommies, or New Chums in Australia, 1920, 'colonial boys and girls, ready to find a nickname, were fond of rhyming "Immigrant", "Jimmy-grant", "Pomme-grant" and called it after the new chum children. The name stuck and became abbreviated to "pommy" later on'. Often in combination, as Pommy bastard, bloody poms, pommyland=England, whingeing pommy. See Jimmy Grant.—2. A Petty Officer Mechanician (Engineering): RN: since ca. 1950.—3. Hence, any stoker Petty Officer: id.: since ca. 1954. (Granville, letter, 1962.) pommies' pittance. 'Meagre wages, from the small overseas allowance paid to Royal Navy personnel on exchange with Royal Australian Navy: R Aus. N: 1950s' (Peppitt)—and later.

pommy, adj. English: Aus.: C.20. Ex n., 1.

pomp, n. A pompous person, as in 'Oh, he's such an old pomp, and he does go on so!': middle-class coll.: since mid-C.20. (P.B.)

Pompadors, the (Saucy). The (2nd Battalion of the) Essex Regiment (before ca. 1881, the 54th Foot): military: from ca. 1760; ob. Ex the facings of purple, the favourite colour of Madame Pompadour. F. & G. (The standardised khaki has doomed—indeed already consigned—many of the old regimental nicknames to oblivion.)

pompaginis. See aqua pompaginis.

Pompey. 'Traditional... name for Portsmouth Town and Dockyard, and the naval barracks known as HMS Victory' (Granville): RN: since late C.19. ('Taffrail', Carry On!, 1916.) Perhaps ex its naval prison: cf. Yorkshire Pompey, a house of correction (EDD).—2. Hence, Portsmouth Association Football Club: sporting: C.20.—3. A temporary lid set on a cask that, in testing, is being fired: coopers':—1935. Cf. the Lancashire dial. pompey, a tea-kettle.—4. See paws off...; dodge Pompey.

Pompey (or Portsmouth) defence, the. Lying explanation, by a man arrested for robbery, that his victim had made 'vile homosexual suggestions', and so he had hit him: 'I don't know where his money went—somebody must have stolen it after I left him lying there': so called because of its currency at one time in this large naval port. (Powis.) Police and underworld: C.20.

Pompey (or the black dog Pompey) is on your back! A c.p. (—1869) addressed to a fractious child: provincial coll., and dial. Cf. the old South Devonshire your tail's on your shoulder. W. Carew Hazlitt.

Pompey 'ore, rarely whore. In the game of House, 24: rhyming s.: earlier C.20. P.B.: by mid-C.20, 24 was usu. just 'two duzz [shortened dozen]', and 44, 'All the fours' was rhymed with Pompey whores, the call then being 'All the fours—Pompey!' Cf. Grant Road. See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

Pompey's pillar to a stick of sealing-wax. Long odds: coll.: ca. 1815–60. (Tom Moore, 1819; Egan's Grose, 1823.) Cf. all Lombard Street to a China orange, Chelsea College to a sentry-box.

pompkin, Pompkinshire. See pumpkin, 1, and Pumpkinshire.

Pomponian. A native of Portsmouth: C.20. (New Society, 3 June 1982, p. 382.) See Pompey.

[pon for upon is perhaps, orig. at least, rather coll. than S.E.—For 'pon my sivvy, see sivvy.)

[pon my life. A wife: rhyming s.: late C.19—early 20. (Ware.) More gen. trouble and strife.

ponce, n. A harlot's bully or keep: (prob. c. >) low s.: from early 1870s. Perhaps ex earlier pouncey (Mayhew, 1861); † by 1920. B. & L. list po(u)n(n)ce-shicer as a man living infamously upon an actress. H., 5th ed., 1874, 'Low-class East-end thieves even will "draw the line" at ponces, and object to their presence in the boozing-kens'; Henley, 1887, 'You ponces good at talking tall'. Prob. ex pounce on, though possibly influenced by Fr. Alphonse, a harlot's bully (W.), or, as Michael Harrison suggests in a letter to me, 1947, 'Perhaps from Fr. pensionnaire' (boarder, lodger), conceivably with a pun on the English pensioner. Cf. bouncer, fancy-cove, mack, prosser, Sunday man or bloke.—2. Hence, a young and dandified subaltern: army; esp. Royal Artillery: from ca. 1930.—3. The navigator: RN: since ca. 1940. Peppitt, 1976, comments: 'Pun on Pontius Pilate [pilot] (and subtle allusion to living off others' earnings?) Perhaps now obsolete.'—4. In on the ponce, 'homosexual touting' (Home Office): prisoners' c.: later C.20.

ponce, v. To act as, be a 'ponce': low: C.20. (G. Scott Moncrieff, Café Bar, 1932.) Often as vbl n., poncing.—2. Hence, to sponge: low: since ca. 1915. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937.—3. To obtain (money) by 'poncing': low: since ca. 1920. 'I don't ponce it orf 'em' (Gerald Kersh, Night and the City, 1938).

ponce about. To live in an idle, aimless, and luxurious way, as implied in "What's that boy of yours doing now, Charles?" "Doing? Nothing. Never does. Just poncing about on his mother's money" (Red Daniells, Brit. Jnl of Photography, 17 Nov. 1978): since (?ca. 1950. Ex v., 2, and influenced by ponce up. (P.B.)

ponce on. To live on the earnings of (a prostitute): low: late C.19–20. Gilt Kid, 1936.

ponce up, v.i. and v. refl; usu. ponce oneself up or be ponced up. To smarten up one's dress or appearance: army: since ca. 1925. To put on one's best, esp. if flashy, clothes: since ca. 1950. (John Wainwright, Death in a Sleeping City, 1965.) Hence, also of things, as in 'Every bloody thing that comes into the [advertising] studio has to be ponced up in some way or another before it's bloody presentable' (Red Daniells, Brit. Jnl of Photography, 29 Aug. 1980). Cf. tart up.

poncess. A woman that supports a man by prostitution: c. from ca. 1870; ob. B. & L.

ponc(e)y. Flashy, ostentatious: since early C.20, raffish and fringe-of-underworld, but by late 1940s fairly gen. (Bill Naughton, Alfie Darling, 1970.) Cf. ponce up.

poncho. A loose overcoat: 1859, H.; † by 1900. Ex Castilian poncho, a military cloak. P.B.: the term was adopted, WW2, from the orig., by the Army for a waterproof cape, a rectangle of rubberised material with a hole in the centre for the wearer's head to go through.

Pond, the. The North Atlantic Ocean: from ca. 1830: (mainly nautical) s. >, ca. 1880, gen. coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. Ex the C.17–19 S.E. sense, the ocean. Occ. the Big Pond, as in Haliburton and Sala; also the Herring Pond, and even the Puddle.

Pond-hopper. 'An R.A.F. Transport Command flight across the Atlantic. The routine is known in the Forces as "Pond-hopping"' (L.A.): WW2 and after. See prec.

pond water. 'Ginger beer with a dash of lime, good for hangovers' (Peppitt): RN: since ca. 1965.

Ponderosa, the. 'The Kentish Town–Barking line, so named because of the shortage of water columns between these two points' (McKenna): railwaymen's: C.20. Railway, 2nd, says 'Also Lake District'.

pony. See pony.

pong, n. A stink: low: from ca. 1850. ?origin; cf. pong, v., 1, its prob. origin.—2. Beer: low: from ca. 1860. H., 3rd ed., where spelt ponge. Variants pongelow (H., 1864), pongellorum (F. & H., 1902), these being fanciful endings. Origin obscure: ?suggested by parnee (parnee), q.v. Ware, who defines it as 'pale ale—but relatively any beer', classifies the term as 'Anglo-Indian Army'.—3. A Chinese: Aus. low (rare: Wilkes): C.20. (B. 1942.) Ex -ong in Chinese surnames.

pong, v. To stink: low: from ca. 1850. Cf. n., 1. Prob. ex Romany pan (or kan), to stink.—2. (Also ponge.) To drink (esp. beer): low: from ca. 1870. Less gen. than the n.—3. V.i., to vamp, or amplify the text (of a part): theatrical: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. (OED). Perhaps cognate with pong, a ringing blow, a bang.—4. To perform, esp. to turn somersaults: circus: from ca. 1850. Perhaps via Lingua France ex L.

ponere.—5. Hence, to talk, esp. to 'gas': theatre, music-hall, circus: from ca. 1890. Cf. sense 3.

ponge, pongelo(w), pongellorum. See pong, n., 2, and v., 2. But whereas pongelow is recorded (H., 1864) as a v., pongellorum is not so recorded.

ponging, n. Somersaulting: circus s.: mid-C.19–20. See pong, v., 4.

pongo, n. A monkey: showmen's: mid-C.19–20. In S.E., properly 'a large anthropoid African ape'; loosely, indeed erroneously, the orang-outang, 1834. Native name. SOD.

—2. 'Soldier, a Naval nickname dating from the time when the Navy and Army joined forces in annual manoeuvres before the First World War. The forage cap worn by soldiers resembled that worn by the pet dog Pongo which appeared in a Punch and Judy show' (Granville.) Prob. influenced also by sense 1, and pong, (to) stink. By WW2, also RAF (H. & P.), esp. for an army officer, and derogatory.—3. Hence, a nickname for a marine: RN: WW1. Copplestone, 1916 (W.).—4. An Australian infantryman: Aus.: from 1915. This Aus. usage has been influenced by the Aboriginal name for a flying squirrel.—5. An Englishman, esp. an English serviceman: NZ: since ca. 1943. (Slatter.) Prob. ex sense 2.

pongo, adj. Pertaining to the Army: RN, RM and RAF: later C.20. Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979; P.B.

pongy. Evil-smelling: late C.19–20. ('Taffrail', Mystery at Milford Haven, 1936.) Ex pong, n. and v., 1. ponies, the. Horse-racing: sporting coll.: C.20.

ponk. In Eng., a rather rare var. of pong, n. and v., (to) stink; but as a NZ usage, it must be modified in the light of B., 1941: 'I suspect... that when we speak of an offensive stench as a ponk we are coupling the Maori puhonga, stinking, offensive, with the earlier English use of pong'.

ponkey land, in. Weak-minded; silly: military: C.20. (F. & G.) Possibly ex a blend, or even an ignorant confusion, of poggle + wonky, qq.v.

ponte. A pound (sterling): showmen's, from ca. 1850. Ex It. ponto. Cf. poona, funt.

pontic. Credit: London s. (—1823) > Lincolnshire s. (—1903). Abbr. upon tick (see tick). 'Jon Bee' and EDD.

Pontius Pilate. A pawnbroker: late C.18–19. (Grose, 1785.) Why? Mrs C Raab: is there a connexion with the thirty pieces of silver?—2. The druggot-covering tied to the thwart to prevent chafing: Oxford rowing men's:—1884; ob. Why?—3. A provost sergeant: army: early C.20. F. & G.—4. In dead as Pontius Pilate, quite dead; long dead: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).—5. See when Pontius...

Pontius Pilate's Body-Guard, or Guards. The 1st Regiment of Foot, after ca. 1881 the Royal Scots, the oldest regiment in the British Army: military (slightly ob.): Grose, 1785, but prob. in spoken use from ca. 1670. Pontius Pilate's Guards occurs in a letter written from New York on 12 Nov. 1759, and printed in the Public Ledger of 15 Jan. 1760. Either simply ex their acknowledged antiquity or ex their alleged claim that, had they been on guard at the Crucifixion, they would not have slept.

Pontius Pilate's counsellor. A briefless barrister: legal: from ca. 1780; ob. One who, like Pilate, can say, 'I have found no cause of death in him.' (Grose, 1785.) Cf. Fr. avocat de Pilate.

ponto. A pellet kneaded from new bread: school: late C.19–20. St James's Gazette, 15 Mar. 1900 (Matthew Arnold ponto-pelted at school). ?origin: possibly connected with the punto of ombre and quadrille (the card-game): cf. sense 2.—2. Punto, at cards: a corruption: 1861. OED.

pontoon. Vingt-(et)-jun, the card-game: 1900: military coll. >, by 1910, gen. S.E. A corruption of, more prob. an approximation to, vingt-un. SOD.—2. Hence, a twenty-one months' imprisonment: London's East End: since ca. 1925. (R. Herd, 12 Nov. 1957.) But also (Norman) of 21 years: c.: since ca. 1910. The latter is also an Army usage (P-G-R). In earlier C.20 to have done (one's) pontoon was to have completed a full regular engagement with the Colours, the 21 years (P.B.).

Ponty. A local coll. (C.19–20) for any town named Ponty—

e.g. Pontypool, Pontypridd.—2. A Pontiac car: Aus.: 1930s. (B.P.)

pony, n. A bailiff; esp. an officer accompanying a debtor on a day's liberty: coll.: C.18–mid-19.—2. Money: low: ca. 1810–40. (Lex. Bal., Moncrieff (see quot'n at stump the pew, Ainsworth.) Prob. ex sense 2.—3. £25: 1797, Mrs M. Robinson, 'There is no touching her even for a poney' (OED). Perhaps because only a small sum, as a pony is a small horse. (Cf. pony up, q.v.) N.B., among brokers, a pony is £25,000 of stock, i.e. 25 £1,000-shares. Cf. monkey, n., 2. In Sinks, 1848, it = £50, but this was prob. a misapprehension.—4. A small glass of liquor: adopted, ex US, ca. 1890, chiefly as a small measure of beer. Sessions, 27 July 1897.—5. In gambling, a double-headed or double-tailed coin: c. > low s.: late C.19–20. See grey, n., 1, for etym.—6. A crib: schoolboys':—1913 (A.H. Dawson).—7. Inferior goods; trash: market-traders' (e.g., Petticoat Lane): since ca. C.20.—8. A young girl's pony-tail hair-style: coll.: since ca. 1960.—9. As Pony, an 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Moore: military: from ca. 1885. (F. & G.) Ex 'a well-known sporting character': actually 'Pony' Moore of the Morre & Burgees Minstrels.—10. See pony and trap; post, v., 3; sell the pony.

pony, adj. Trashy: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) Presumably ex n., 7.

pony and trap. To defecate: rhyming s., on crap: late C.19–20. Usu. shortened to pony.

pony in white. A sum or value of twenty-five shillings: racing c.: C.20. Ex pony, 3; in white, in silver.

pony up, v.i. and t. To pay; settle: a mostly US var. and derivative of post the pony: 1824, US; partly anglicised ca. 1840; ob. by 1920. (OED; Thornton.) Prob. ex pony, 2.

pooch. A dog, esp. if small or mongrel: Can.: late C.19–20. (Leechman.) Perhaps, as R.S. suggests, cognate with Ger. Putzi, 'a fairly common name given to a lap-dog'. Can. usage seems to antedate US usage.—2. Hence, common for any dog: Can., since ca. 1920; Brit., since mid-C.20, prob. adopted ex US.—3. By specialisation, a greyhound: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) All 3 senses are ironic or joc.—4. See pouch, n.

pooch-flop. Dog excreta, esp. in urban areas: since late 1960s. R.S. cites the TV review in Observer, 2 Mar. 1975. See prec.

poochie, -y. Affectionate diminutive, usu. as vocative, of pooch, 2: later C.20.

poochies. Insect and similar pests in Malaya: residents' and Army's: C.20. Ex Malayan?

pood. An effeminate youth or man: Aus. low: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Cf. poof.

poodle, n. Any dog: (sarcastic) coll.: late C.19–early 20. Cf. pooch.—2. (Rare in sing.) A sausage: low: early C.20. A. Neil Lyons, Arthur's, 1914, 'We fair busted ourselves on poodles and mashed' (Manchon).—3. As Poodle, synon. with Paul Pry, q.v.

poodle, v. To go, usu. as in 'so we poodled off down to the coast for the day' or 'I think I'll just poodle over to see Jane's middle classes': since mid-C.20, if not a decade or two earlier. Has var. pootle, poss. a blend of poodle + tootle (q.v.), Douglas Clark, Poacher's Bag, 1980. Cf. synon. toddle, and see poodler 2. (P.B.)

poodle-faker. A man, esp. a Service officer, who, for the time being rather than habitually, cultivates the society of women: Anglo-Indian, hence army, hence RN: since early C.20. 'Bartimeus', A Tall Ship, 1915, has the vbl n. poodle-faking; 'Taffrail', The Sub, 1917, poodle-faker. Granville, defining the term's nuance by WW2, and after, writes, 'A payer of polite calls; a balancer of tea cups ashore'. An allusion to lap-dogs. R.S. suggests a poss. connection with dog-robbers, q.v.

poodle parade, the. The nightly parade of dog-owners exercising their dogs: coll.: since ca. 1920.

poodler. A 'womaniser' or confirmed flirt among cyclists: cyclists': from ca. 1930. Ex poodle-faker.—2. A small vehicle: hauliers' s.: since ca. 1935. See HAULIERS', in Appendix.

pooley. See poohy.

poof. A male homosexual: orig. c. and low, earlier C.20; >, by ca. 1950, gen. Also spelt pouf, pouffe; perhaps ex N. Country pron. of puff, a later C.19 low term for a sodomite. E.P. noted: 'In Australia since ca. 1910. I definitely remember both poof and poofier as being used in the A.I.F. in 1915–18'. Cf. poofier, and poove, qq.v. Paul Tempest, 1950, spells the word pooff.

poof-rorting (or -wroughting). Robbing male prostitutes with violence: c.: from ca. 1920. See poof and rorty.

poofdah. Var. spelling of next. Christopher Priest, New Statesman, 18 Mar. 1983, p.19.

pooffer. A homosexual male: Aus.; C.20; by ca. 1970, fairly gen. also in Britain, where used by, e.g., The Times, 15 Mar. 1973, 'mincing pansy, head-shaking pooffer'. Occ. spelt poofiah; Wilkes quotes Patrick White's use, 1965, of elab. poofferoo.—2. Hence, an effeminate-looking man not necessarily homosexual; a gen. pej. and derogatory term: Aus.: since ca. 1920. 'Move over, yer pommie pooffer!' (B.P.; P.B.)—3. A loud civilian suit: RN lowerdeck: since ca. 1940. P-G-R.—4. 'A pejorative term for ... any man with artistic or not overtly "masculine" interests' (Alex Buzo, 1973): Aus.: since ca. 1945. A further weakening, via sense 2, of sense 1.

pooffer rorter. 'One who procures for a male homosexual' (B., 1959): low Aus.: since ca. 1935. Compare and contrast poof-rorting.

poofy. Smelly: children's: since ca. 1945 (?much earlier). 'I'd rather have a bath. I'm poofy' (Nicholas Blake, The Sad Variety, 1964). Echoic of disgust: cf. the Scottish and N. Country poof!, an exclam. of disgust. But perhaps imm. ex poohy.

pooh, n. Anything smelly or disgusting, esp. faeces: nursery and juvenile: since ca. 1930 (? earlier). B.P. notes its use in Aus. Cf. poop, n., 5, and v., 3.—2. Hence, in the pooh, in trouble: Aus., since ca. 1935 (B.P.); also S. African (Claiborne cites J. McClure, Rogue Eagle, 1976, in the poo). Lit., 'in the shit'; cf. in the cuck, clarts, dwang, etc.

pooh, v. To defecate: domestic coll.: later C.20 (? earlier). Ex prec. (P.B.) See next, 2. 'If a cat came poohing in your yard wouldn't you chuck something at it?' (Alan Hunter, Gently Floating, 1963).

pooh-pooh. A rifle; a big gun: NZ soldiers' (rare): WW1. Cf. poop, v., 4.—2. As n. and v., domestic coll.: later C.20. Duplication of pooh, n., 1, and v.

poohs. A var. of pooh, n.

poohy, occ. written pooley. Lit. or fig., faecal; hence disgusting: Aus. juvenile: since ca. 1935. Ex pooh. (B.P.)—2. Hence, poohy! or pooley!, rubbish. Perhaps slightly influenced by US phooey!

pooja, puja. (Gen. in pl form.) Prayers: Anglo-Indian: 1863 (Trevelyan in The Competition Wallah: OED). Ex Sanskrit pūja, worship.

Pool, the. Liverpool: chiefly Liverpudlians': C.20.

pool, v. To incriminate: to spoil the reputation or chances of someone with someone else: Aus. low: since ca. 1910. Rats, 1944, 'He pooled me with the Q.M. Just a top-off merchant, that's all he is.' By 1960, no longer low—and with a meaning less narrow.

pool (one's) issues. To work in profitable unison: coll.: ca. 1860–1920.

pool(-)shark. One who is, or believes himself to be, exceptionally adept in the game of pool: Can.: adopted, ca. 1925, ex US. (Leechman.) But, as Robert Claiborne cautions, 'rather a skilled player who pretends to ineptness [in order] to trap suckers [playing for money]'. Perhaps, orig., a pun on 'pool of water' and the game of pool.

Poole. An excellent suit; perfect clothing: male society coll.: from ca. 1840. Ex Poole, a leading tailor, at 37–9 Savile Row, London. Messrs Henry Poole & Co. were established in 1823 by James Poole at 171 Regent Street; their fame forced them to open a branch in Paris (10 rue Tronchet). Ware; The Red Book of Commerce, 1906 (ed. of 1935).

poon, n. A lonely, loneliness-eccentric dweller in remote places: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Ex Aboriginal?—2. Hence (?), a simpleton; a fool; a gen. pej. since ca. 1910. E.g. at Dulwich School since ca. 1930 (Marples).—3. A common shortening of poontang. Leechman.

poop, v. To prop (a piece of furniture) with a wedge: Winchester College:—1891 (Wrench, Notions). Prob. ex L. ponere, to place. Imm. ex:—2. V.i., to be unsteady: ibid.: ca. 1830–70. Wrench, 'Hence you wedged the leg that pooned.'

poona, n. £1; a sovereign: costermongers': from ca. 1855. (H., 1st. ed.) ? pound corrupted or ex Lingua Franca (cf. ponte, q.v.) or, less likely, pound influenced by poonah, a painting, etc., on the analogy of Queen's picture (q.v.).

Poona or Poonah, adj. Typical of the majors and colonels of the pre-1940 Regular Army: earlier C.20. 'He's very Poonah'—fiery, martinet, narrowly conservative, not excessively intelligent. Poona was a famous military centre in India, until the British Raj ended in 1947.

Poona Guards, the. The East Yorkshires, formerly the 15th Regiment of Foot: military: from ca. 1860. Ex residence in India. Also the Snappers. Cf.:-

Poona Pets, the. The 109th (Bombay Infantry) Regt, one of the Honourable East India Company's European regts; from 1881 The Leinster Regt; disbanded 1922: military nickname. Spike Mays.

poonce. An Aus. var. of ponce: Alex Buzo, 1973.

pooned up. Flashily dressed up: low Aus.: since ca. 1930. B., 1943; Arthur Chipper, 1972, notes 'often with sexual success in view' (quoted by Wilkes).

poontang. Copulation, esp. with a coloured woman: Can.: C.20. Supposedly of Chinese origin, there being such variants as poong tai and poong kai. (Whence poontanger.) Common also among homosexuals for 'sexual relations' (The Lavender Lexicon). The nuances 'copulation' and 'sexual relations' prob. derive ex the basic sense 'female pudend'. 'One of the most mysterious of sexual words,' remarks Robert Claiborne, 1976. Like me, he rejects derivation ex Fr. putain, a prostitute; therefore despite also Webster's Third International, 1961, 'If I had to guess, I would say some Philippino language, via US Army ca. 1900' (R.C.); and if I had to do so, I'd hazard an Amerindian (N. or Central American) origin—via Pidgin.

poontanger. Penis: Can. lumbermen's: C.20.

poons. The paps: low: from ca. 1870. Ety. obscure.

poop, n. The seat at the back of a coach: coll.: ca. 1614–80. Ex the poop of a ship. OED.—2. The buttocks: low coll.: from ca. 1640. Ned Ward, 'While he manages his Whip-staff with one Hand, he scratches his Poop with the other' (OED). Ob. Cf. sense 1.—3. A breaking of wind: low coll.: late C.18–20. Ex v., 2; cf. † S.E. poop, a short blast, a toot.—4. A foolish person: coll.: already current during WW1, as in Charles R. Benstead, Retreat: a Story of 1918, pub. 1930. E.F. Benson, David of King's, 1924, 'When we're young we're pifflers, and when we're old we're poops.' Cf. poop-stick, q.v., and (? S.E.) poopjack, a 'jack-in-office'; but prob. abbr. of nincompoop, as COD suggests.—5. (Also pron. with oo short, as in Standard Received Eng. book). A defecation; esp. in do or have a poop: mostly children's. Ex v., 3.—6. See hot poop.

poop, v. To coit: C.17–18: low coll. Cf. poop-noddy, q.v.—2. To break wind: dial. and low coll.: C.18–20. Bailey, 1721, 'To Poop, to break Wind backwards softly'. Ex S.E. poop, to make an abrupt sound; to toot. Occ. poupe. OED.—3. Hence, to defecate (L. caecare): (? late) C.19–20: low coll., mostly of and by children (EDD).—4. With senses 2 and 3, cf. the military v.i., to fire a gun, i.e. a big gun, not a rifle or machine-gun; (of a gun) to bang: coll.: from not later than 1916. (B. & P.) Often poop off (F. & G.).—5. Hence, v.t., to shoot a person: coll.: from ca. 1930. Georgette Heyer, Why Shoot a Butler?, 1933.

poop-downhaul. An imaginary rope: nautical coll.:—1883. Cf. the operation, equally imaginary, of 'clapping the keel athwart-ships'. Clark Russell's glossary.

poop-noddy. Sexual intercourse: low coll.: C.17. (Cf. poop, v., 1.) Anon., Wily Beguiled, 'I saw them close together at poop-noddy.' So F. & H.; the OED suggests that it = cony-catching, occ. cony-catcher, noddy being a simpleton.

poop off. See poop, v., 4.

poop-ornament. An apprentice: nautical: ca. 1850–90. Athenæum, 8 Feb. 1902, 'Miscalled "a blarsted poop ornament", the drudge even of ordinary seamen'.

poop-stick. An objectionable fellow, esp. if a soldier: C.20. P. MacDonald, Rope to Spare, 1932, "'You make me sick!" he said. "Let a little poop-stick like that walk all over you!"' Virtually a euph. for shit, n., 2. Cf. poop, n., 4.

pooped. Exhausted; very tired: since ca. 1890. 'Must stop for a bit; I'm pooped.' Probably ex the nautical S.E. v. poop: a sailing ship was temporarily disabled when a following sea came inboard from over the stern.

pooper. A great wave coming over the stern (formerly called the poop): nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. See party-pooper.

poopoo. See pooh-pooh, 2.

poor. Unfortunate; in pitiable condition or circumstances: C.13–20: S.E. until ca. 1855, then coll. Mrs Carlyle, 1857, 'He looked dreadfully weak still, poor fellow!—2. When said, as from ca. 1785, of the dead person whom one has known, poor verges on coll.—3. See good to the poor.

poor as a handicut. See bandicut.

poor as a Connaught man. Extremely poor: Anglo-Irish coll.: ca. 1802 (Maria Edgeworth).

poor as piss (and twice as nasty). RN lowerdeck pej.: C.20. (Granville.) Occ. reduced to porous. Cf. piss-poor.

poor as a rat, as. Extremely poor: a C.18—early 20 coll. var. of as poor as a church-mouse. E. Ward, 1703, 'Whilst men of parts, as poor as rats ...', with which cf. Hugh Kimber's 'The country is full of hungry men with brains' (Mar. 1933); Marryat, 1834; W. de Morgan, 1907. Apperson.

poor blind Nell. A girl wronged (i.e. seduced and abandoned); the everlasting victim: Aus.: C.20. Ex the well-known chant: 'And did he marry poor blind Nell?' 'He did (pause) like effing hell!'

poor creature. (Gen. pl.) A potato: low London: ca. 1820–50. (Bee.) P.B.: prob. by a kind of Hobson-Jobson.

poor knight of Windsor. See next: coll. and dial.: C.19. Scott, The Bride of Lammermoor, 1818, has this footnote, 'In contrast ... to the baronial "Sir Loin"', concerning:

poor man (of mutton). The blade-bone of a shoulder of mutton: Scots coll.: C.19–20. Scott: see prec.—2. (poor-man) As a heap of corn-sheaves, four upright and one a-top, it is prob. dial.: Scots, C.19–20.

poor man's. When used to preface the name of a famous person, it is a coll. indication that another, referred to as e.g. (a or the poor man's Noël Coward, is but a pale, and perhaps unwitting, reflection of the star: C.20. (P.B.)

poor man's blessing. The female pudend: low coll.: C.19–20.

Poor Man's Corner. A stand at an angle of Trafalgar Square: cabmen's: ca. 1870–1905. Clarkson & Richardson, Police!, 1889.

poor man's goose. Bullock's liver, baked with sage, onions, and a little fat bacon: (low) coll.:—1909 (Ware). Cf. poor man's treacle. (In Warwickshire dial., it is 'a cow's spleen stuffed and roasted', EDD, 1903.)

poor man's oyster. A mussel: coll.: Tit-Bits, 8 Aug. 1891.

poor man's piano. A meal of (dried) beans. On account of the amount of wind in the bowels that it produces. Can. s., in use at the time of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway if not earlier.

poor man's side, or with capitals. The poor man's side of the Thames, i.e. S. London: a coll. (—1887; very ob.) verging on S.E. (Baumann.) Opp. rich man's side, the N. side of the Thames: same period.

poor man's treacle. Garlic: from C.17. Used in 1672 by John Reade, a naval surgeon; R.S. cites Arthur Bryant, Pepys: the Years of Peril, 1935. By later C.19, it had come to mean 'an onion': low coll. (The Century Dict.).

poor-mouth. BBC Radio 4, 'Newstand', 17 Mar. 1979, reviewing the weekly papers' reactions to President Carter's peace mission in the Middle East: 'They seem to be pursuing a policy of poor(-)mouthing his efforts', i.e. crying down, or, at best, damning his achievements with faint praise. Adopted, late 1970s, ex US; cf. bad-mouth. (Mrs Camilla Raab.) Cf. put a poor mouth, q.v.

poor Robin. An almanach: coll.: ca. 1660–1760. Ex Robert Herrick, who issued a series of so-called almanachs.

poor show! See show, n., 5.

poor soldier. A Noisy Friar bird: Aus.: C.20. B., 1943.

poor soldier who can't stand his comrade's breath, it's a. A military c.p. proffered by the culprit when his companions complain of wind-breaking: from the 1890s. Contrast foxes always smell...

poor view. See take a poor view.

poorboy. 'Something substantial and inexpensive, such as a big bottle of cheap wine' (Victoria, BC, Daily Colonist, 16 Apr. 1959, 'Basic Beatnik'): Can. jazz-lovers': since ca. 1956.

poorly. (Always in the predicate, except in poorly time, q.v.) In poor health; unwell: from ca. 1750: S.E. until ca. 1870, then near-coll.; in C.20, coll. Reg Dixon, the comedian, even made it into a c.p.: 'I felt poorly—proper poorly!' (Nigel Rees, Very Interesting... but Stupid!, 1980): mid-C.20. Cf. poorly sick in bed with a shawl. An elab. of prec., usu. used ironically for minor ailment: (?) mainly Midlands': C.20. (Mrs Patricia Pinder, 1979.) poorly time. The monthly period: lower-class women's coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

pooser. 'A huge, uncouth thing': low Northumberland s.:—1903. Ex dial. poose (or pouse), to strike. (EDD.) Cf. whopper.

poot. A shilling: East London:—1909 (Ware).

pootee. See poodle, v.

pootty. A favourite mid-Victorian adj. meaning 'pretty'—of which, via purty, q.v. at perty, it is a perversion. D.P. Whiteley, in a letter, 1944, quotes W.M. Thackeray, Pendennis, 1849–50, 'A pootty little bit of money'. P.B.: but applied, perhaps more frequently, by the gallants to 'a pootty gel'.

poove; pooving. Food; feeding, i.e. grazing for animals: either circus s. or Parlyare:—1933 (E. Seago, Circus Company). Origin?: perhaps ultimately ex the root pa, as in Sanscrit gô-pas, a herdsman. P.B.: John Hillaby, Journey through Britain, 1968, notes a gipsy in Cornwall explaining that 'they had been up to their usual trick of poovin' the greys. [See grey, 1.] To poove it is to put it in a field at night without permission, and retrieve it... next morning.' See also puv.—2. A homosexual or effeminate male; also, as v.i., to act as one; hence, pooving (about): since mid-1940s. Perhaps, as Claiborne suggests, a back-formation ex pl of poof; also spelt pouve: both poove and pouve occur in John Gardner, Madrigal, 1967. Later derivatives (since ca. 1965) are poovery, homosexual practices; poovish, and poovishness. All are derogatory. (E.P.; P.B.)

pop, n. (Pop.) A club chiefly of Oppidans: Eton College: C.19–20. Founded in 1812; see e.g. Etoniana, 1869. Traditionally derived ex L. popina, a cook-shop, the rooms having long been over a confectioner's.—2. A popular concert: coll.: 1862 (OED). W.S. Gilbert, 'Who thinks suburban hops more fun than Monday Pops'. Cf. prom, q.v.—3. (Gen. in pl) a pistol: C.18—early 20. Hall, 1714; Harper, 1724, 'Two Pops Had my Boman when he was ta'en'; Grose; Marryat. Hence, let fly the pop, to fire the pistol: c. or low s.: late C.18—mid-19. See pops, 2, and quot'n at leaden fever. Like the next, ex the sound.—4. A drink that fizzes from the bottle when the cork—'pop goes the cork'—is drawn; gen. ginger-beer: coll.: 1812 (Southey). Occ., but † by 1870, champagne, as in Hood, 'Home-made pop that will not foam.' Cf. fizz. In full, soda-pop; and, since ca. 1910, applied to all 'soft drinks'. Hence, in Army s. of early 1970s, (to be on the pop, meant, by ironic understatement, '(to be) drinking (liquor) heavily' (P.B.)).—5. An, the, act of pawning: 1866, Routledge's Every Boy's Annual (OED). Ex pop, v., 3. Cf. in pop, in pawn: low: since ca. 1865; and go pop, to go to the pawnshop: low:—1923 (Manchon).—6. Father: orig. US, as also are the later poppa or popper [but perhaps poppums, applied to my grandfather by his sons, born pre-WWI, is wholly English: P.B.]. All ex papa. Hence, in address, any old or even, to the young, any middle-aged man: adopted, ca. 1944, ex US servicemen.—7. Abbr. poppycock: 1924 (Galsworthy: OED Sup.).—8. As Pop. Poperinghe, near Ypres: army, esp. officers': WWI, then historical. F. & G.—9. An orgasm, usu. of the male: low coll.: perhaps from mid-C.19. (Cf. the c.p. pop goes the weasel.) Yet—my ignorance!—I hadn't seen it in print before Xaviera Hollander, The Best Part of a Man, 1975. The corresponding v. prob. preceded the n.—10. A bet, usu. at specified odds: Aus. racing: since ca. 1920. "'Aeolus couldn't win it," said Lucky. "It'll be a fifty to one pop'" (Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949).—11. An attempt, as in 'I'll have a pop at it, of course' (J.B. Priestley, The Good Companions, 1929); in Aus. the phrase means also 'to engage (someone) in a fight' (B., 1942). The NZ var. for 'to have a try' is give it a pop, which also means 'to make a bet' (cf. sense 10): since ca. 1919 (R.G.C. McNab, in The Press, Christchurch, NZ, 2 Apr. 1938).—12. As a pop, each time, or each, as in 'What did these set you back?'—'Five quid a pop': Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B.P.)—13. A popular song: song-writers' and publishers': since ca. 1920; > by ca. 1950 'popular music, whether vocal or instrumental or both', as in 'The Capital of Pop', a sobriquet for Liverpool during the 1960s. Pop or pop music are terms widely used to cover the opposite of 'classical music'.—14. In not a fair pop, not a fair chance: NZ: since ca. 1925. (Slatter.) Cf. sense 11, pop as shot, go, try, etc.—15. In sure pop!, certainly!: juvenile:—1923 (Manchon).—16. In be on the pop of, to be about to: Anglo-Irish: late C.19–20. James Joyce, Ulysses, 1922, 'He was on the pop of asking me to the night in the kitchen I was rolling the potato cake.'—17. See play pop.

pop, v. To fire a gun: coll.: 1725 (A New Canting Dict.); ob.—2. V.t., to shoot: s. or coll. >, in C.20, S.E. Gen. with down (1762) or off (1813). OED.—3. To pawn: 1731 (Fielding); Barrie, 1902, 'It was plain for what she had popped her watch' (OED). Cf. pop-shop and pop up the spout.—4. To lose one's temper: tailors: late C.19—early 20.—5. See pop the question; skin-pop.—6. To do a burglary: c.: later C.20. Now!, 10 Apr. 1981.

pop a tuck. To display surprise, anger; to react strongly: coll.: later C.20. (Adam Hall, The Mandarin Cipher, 1975.) Prob. ex possible effect on clothing.

Pop-Eye or Pop-eye. See Ixta.—2. A ship's look-out man or an aircraft observer: since ca. 1938. (H. & P.) Ex 'Popeye the Sailor' in a famous series of comic cartoons (cf. Wimpey): anyone with such large eyes must have excellent eyesight.

—3. The Pope: anti-papists' derogatory: since ca. 1945.

pop-eyed. Having bulging eyes, or eyes opened wide in surprise: US (ca. 1820), anglicised by ca. 1910. OED Sup.

pop goes the weasel, now gen. regarded as a nursery-rhyme tag, was in the 1870s and 80s a proletarian (mostly Cockney) c.p. Ware, 'Activity is suggested by "pop", and the little weasel is very active. Probably erotic origin. Chiefly associated with these lines—Up and down the City Road/In and out the Eagle,/That's the way the money goes./Pop goes the weasel!' See DCpp.

pop it in, v.i. To effect intromission: low coll.: C.19–20. Contrast:

pop it on, v.t. To ask for more, esp. a higher price: coll.: 1876 (Hindley).—2. To make a bet: from ca. 1890. (Anstey, The Man from Blankley's, 1901.) Cf. pop, n., 10.

pop-lolly. A sweetmeat: cheapjacks' s. or coll.: 1876, Hindley, 'Lollipop and pop-lolly'.

pop off. See pop, v., 2.—2. To die: 1764, Foote, 'If Lady Pepperpot should happen to pop off' (OED). Also, but ob. by 1930, pop off the hooks, from ca. 1840, as in Barham.

pop-out. A mass-produced surfboard: Aus. (teenage) surfers'. (Pix, 28 Sep. 1963.) Ex the production process.

pop-pimping. The spotting of theatrical talent: since ca. 1950. New Statesman, 5 Feb. 1965, competition.

pop-shop. A pawn-shop: 1772 (Town and Country Magazine); 1785, Grose. Ex pop, v., 3. OED.

pop-shot. Their pshaws and nonsenses, and other such like pop-shot [=irritating trifles] (Bill Truck, 1821). Perhaps ex small-shot, for Gowing uses pop-shot as a var. of S.E. pot-shot. P.B.: 'trifles' is E.P.'s interpretation. Without the context, it appears that 'pshaw' and 'nonsense' may be interjections of disagreement, which would make pop-shdt = rather 'ineffective counter-fire'.

pop the cherry. See cherry-popping.

pop the parapet. To 'go over the top': army: 1915–18.

pop the question. To propose marriage: 1826, Miss Mitford, 'The formidable interrogatory ... emphatically called "popping the question"' (OED): s. >, in C.20, coll. Rarely, to pop († by 1920). Ex S.E. pop the question, to ask abruptly.

pop up the spout. Same as pop, v., 3: low: 1859 (H., 1st ed.). See spout, v., 1.

pop visit. A short visit: society coll.: C.17–18. Jonson in The Alchemist (Ware).

pop-wallah. A teetotaller: military: late C.19–20. (F. & G.) Lit., a ginger-beer fellow. See pop, n., 4, and wallah.

pope. As a pej. (a pope of a thing), as an imprecation ('A pope on all women,' 1620), in as drunk as a pope, and in (e.g. know, read) no more than the pope, i.e. nothing, the term is on the borderland between S.E. and coll.: all these phrases are † except in dial.—2. See Pope of Rome.

pope of Gozo. 'Occurs in expressions of exasperation, e.g. sod the Pope of Gozo!' (John Malin, 1979): RN: mid-C.20. Gozo is the small island belonging to Malta. Cf. just the job for my brother from Gozo!

pope o(f) Rome. A home; adv., home: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Often abbr. pope (Ware, 1909). See trot the udju.

poperine pear. The penis: low coll.: late C.16–mid-17. Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet, in the quarto edition; passage afterwards suppressed. Ex shape.

Pope's balls. See three most useless things ...

pope's eye. The thread of fat, properly 'the lymphatic gland surrounded with fat', in (the middle of) a leg of mutton: from ca. 1670: S.E. till C.19, then coll. Shirley Brooks, 1852, 'The pope's eye on a Protestant leg of mutton'. Presumably eye ex its rounded form. OED.

pope's (occ. Turk's) head. A round broom, with a long handle: from ca. 1820: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; ob. Maria Edgeworth, in Love and Law, 'Run ... for the pope's head.'

pope's nose. A turkey's, a fowl's, rump: coll.: late C.18–20. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Cf. parson's nose, q.v.

pope's size. Short and fat: trade s. > j.: from ca. 1885; ob. Mostly tailors'.

Pope's telephone number, the. 'Vat 69' whisky: since ca. 1905. Punning 'Vatican'.

Popinjays, the. Nickname of the 54th Regt of Foot, later the Dorsetshire Regiment; ex the 'popinjay green' of the facings on their uniform. The Regt was also known as the Flamers. Carew.

Poplar and Stepany Gurkhas, the. The 17th County of London Battalion (Poplar and Stepany Rifles): army: 1914–18. (Letter to Daily Telegraph, 26 Sep. 1963.) 'Presumably ex their area of recruitment' (Peter Sanders). Cf. the Hackney Gurkhas.

Poplar finance. Maladministration of public funds, esp. by a town-council: political coll.: from ca. 1925. (Collinson.) Ex the misuse of the relief system in Poplar ca. 1920–5 and with a pun on popular.

poplars, popler(s), poppelars; rarely, paplar. Porridge; esp. milk-porridge: c.: C.17–early 19. Dekker (poplars); Middleton (popler); Grose, 1st ed. (poplers). Prob. a corruption of pap (for infants, invalids).

Popo. See Ixta.

poppa. See pop, n., 6.

popped. Annoyed; esp. in popped as a hatter, very angry: tailors': from ca. 1860. ? = popped off, apt to pop off. Cf. mad as a hatter. See pop, v., 4.

poppelars. See poplars.

popper. A pistol: 1750 (Coventry); ob.: s. > coll. in late C.19–20, also a rifle or a shot-gun (E. Seago, 1933). —2. Loosely, any drug addict: ca. 1960–75. (Bournemouth Echo, 28 Aug. 1967.) See skin-pop.—3. See pop, n., 6.

poppery. A squall: ?mostly RN: C.19; † by 1890. W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, II, 177, 'Securin' the squadron in its old berth, and that too under another pelting poppery.' (Moe.) P.B.: or poss. a hailstorm; cf. pop-shot.

popping. In how are you (or how yer) poppin(g) (earlier with up)?, how are you getting on?: Aus. coll.: late C.19–mid-C.20. Norman Lindsay, Saturdee, 1933, 'How yer poppin' s'mornin'?

popping-crease. A junction station: railway officials':—1909 (Ware). Punning the cricket term.

poppite. A performer at (1895), a frequenter of (1901), the popular concerts: coll. Ex pop, n., 2. OED.

poppy, n. Money; esp., cash: Cockneys' and market-traders': C.20. Powis; M.T.

poppy, v.i. and t. To pay: market-traders': C.20. 'Try to get the lugger to do some popping' (M.T.). Ex the n.

poppy, adj. Popping, exploding: coll.: 1894, Kipling, 'Little poppy shells'. OED.—2. (Of the ground) causing the ball to 'pop' (itself, j.): cricket coll.: from 1874. Lewis.

poppy-show. A display, esp. if accidental, of underclothes; orig. and properly, of red or brown flannel underclothes: low coll.: late C.19–early 20. Ex dial. poppy-show, a peep-show, a puppet-show (see EDD).—2. 'Esp. "You don't want to make a poppy-show of yourself": warning against idiosyncrasy or quirk in dressing: late C.19 certainly–(?)early 20' (L.A., 1974).

poppycock. Nonsense: US s. (1865, Artemus Ward), orig.—and throughout C.19—in sense of bombast; anglicised ca. 1905; by 1930, coll. Thornton. The word originates in Dutch pappekak, soft faeces, hence 'utter nonsense' (Chambers, 1972): cf. 'Don't talk shit!' or 'Don't give me that shit!' In short, pap, soft food for babies + cack, excrement, ultimately ex L. cacare, to defecate, itself as echoic as miss.

pops or Pops. Father: C.20, but rare before 1919. (E.M. Delafield, Gay Life, 1933, 'Pops says that ...' and 'My Pops says ...') Cf. pop, n., 6.—2. In his means are two pops and a galloper, he is a highwayman: c. or low s.: late C.18–early 19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) See pop, n., 3.

Popski's Private Army. An irregular, long-range penetration and guerrilla force formed in the Middle East, late 1942, under Vladimir 'Popski' Peniakoff (later Lieutenant-Colonel, DSO, MC); after service in N. Africa, the unit saw action in Italy. See Peniakoff's autobiography thus titled, pub. 1950.

popsie, -ey, -y. An endearment for a girl: nursery coll.: 1862 (OED). Ex S.E. pop, similarly used.—2. A girl, not merely in address but also, and more usu., in ref.: 'Services' (mostly officers'): since ca. 1935. H. & P.; Granville.—3. Hence, a woman conductor: busmen's: since ca. 1945.

popzie pal. Girl motorcycle-pillion rider: motorcyclists': since mid-C.20. (Dunford.)

popsy-wopsy. A foolish endearment: (mostly nursery) coll.:—1887 (Baumann); 1892, Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday, 19 Mar., 'Bless me if the little popsy-wopsy hasn't been collecting all the old circus hoops and covering them with her old muslin skirts.' Reduplicating popsy ('archaic pop, darling, short for poppet', W.).

popularity Jack. An officer given to currying favour either with the men or with the public: RN, gen. as nickname: C.20. Bowen.

population of China. In what's that—the population ...! A c.p. 'deriding comparatively high service or regimental number [i.e. of one with less service 'in' than oneself: P.B.] (L.A.): Services': since ca. 1941.

poque. Occ. Aus. var. of poke, a purse.

por. See pore.

porangi. (Extremely) eccentric, crazy; (very) stupid: NZ coll.: late C.19–20. (B., 1941.) Adoption of Maori word.

porc. A porcupine: Aus. coll.: C.20. Ion Idriess, Men of the jungle, 1932.

Porch. See Academy, 4.

Porcupine, HMS. HMS Penelope: RN: 1941+. Ex holes plugged with protruding wooden pegs; also known as the Pepper Pot, from the number of holes inflicted on her by bombs. Granville.

pore (occ. por). Written representation of slovenly pron. poor: C.19–20. Frank Swinerton, The Georgian House, 1933, 'Pore old lady!'

porgy. See Georgie-porgie.

pork. A spoiled garment; goods returned by a customer: tailors': from ca. 1860. Cf. pig, n., 4.—2. Women as food for men's lust: low: C.18—early 20. Cf. synon. mutton.—3. In cry pork, to act as an undertaker's tout: low: late C.18—mid-19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) The raven, 'whose note sounds like ... pork', is 'said to smell carrion at a distance'.

Pork and Beans. An occ. var. of:

Pork and Beans. Portuguese; esp. Portuguese soldiers: military: from 1916. Ex vague similarity of sound. Pork and beans: a tinned food frequent in the army. (F. & G.; B. & P.) The New Zealanders called them Pork and Cheese. (The Portuguese, by the way, called their 'gallant allies' by two names that may be translated 'Beef-Eaters' and 'the Horses', as John Gibbons tells me.)—2. Nickname, by rhyming s., of the Queen's Royal Regiment (West Surrey). (Carew.) The rhyme could be on the Regt's earlier nickname, the Tangerines.

Pork and Lard, the. The 'St Ives [Huntingdonshire] to Ely line (closed)' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: earlier C.20.

pork-boat. (Gen. pl.) A Worthing fishing-boat: nautical: ca. 1860–1910. (Bowen.) Cf. the Sussex pork-bolter, a Worthing fisherman (EDD).

pork chop in a synagogue. In like a ... or (as) popular as a ..., a vivid simile for something very badly, esp. embarrassingly, out of place, as in 'The suggestion went down like a pork chop ...', it was so badly received that it ought never to have been made; decidedly unpopular or unwelcome: since ca. 1950. See also in more strife ..., and porker, 2. (P.B.)

pork-knocker. 'A diamond prospector in the rivers and streams of British Guiana.—B.B.C. "Adventure" Mar. 16, 1964, but have seen it in print ca. 1961. ?from their diet of pork and beans' (Peter Sanders).

pork-pie. A coll. abbr. of pork-pie hat (a women's style modish ca. 1855–65): 1863; ob.—2. A 'toreador' hat, modish in the 1890s: coll.: Spectator, 26 Dec. 1891, 'The bull-fighter's hat known in England as the "pork-pie" (OED).—3. Also abbr. pork-pie hat, a style of men's hat popular ca. 1920–50: coll. (P.B.)

pork-sword. Penis: army joc.: since ca. 1950. Cf. synon. mutton dagger, and pork, 2. (P.B.)

porker. A sword: c. of ca. 1685–1740. Shadwell, The Squire of Alsatia, 1688, 'The captain whipt his porker out'; B.E. Cf. pig-sticker; but porker is more prob. a perversion of poker, a sword.—2. A Jew: low: ca. 1780–1900. (Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.) Because, traditionally, Jews never eat pork: on the principle of lucus a non lucendo. Cf. porky, n.—3. A pork-pie: Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham).—4. A policeman: low: late 1970s. A var. or elab. of pig, n., 2. Red Daniels, in Brit. Jnl of Photography, 1 June 1979; in the same Journal, 1 Aug. 1980, he uses porker patrol as a gen. term for 'the police'.

porky, n. A pork-butcher; a Jew (cf. porker, 2, q.v.): low: —1909 (Ware).

porky, adj. Of, concerning, resembling pork; hence, obese: coll.: since early C.19. Moe cites The Night Watch (II, 105), 1828. Hence, a nickname for a fat person (usu. male); unkind if used vocatively (P.B.).

porn. Pornography: mostly photographers' and journalists': since late 1940s. Nicholas Luard, The Warm and Golden War, 1967, 'Porn or portrait they're all available.' See also porny. porn flicks. Salacious or 'blue' films: since late 1960s. R.S. cites Observer, 15 Nov. 1970. Cf. the slightly later synon. skinflink.

pornbrokers. A seller of pornographic magazines and books: since ca. 1960. Petch cites The TLS, 19 Jan. 1967. An 'inevitable' pun on pawnbroker; cf. pornshop.

porno. Pornography; a var. of porn since late 1950s, but gen. only since 1967. Porn is the more usu. version.

pornshop. Shop where pornography is sold. Witty pun on 'pawshop'. (Since about 1960.)

porny. Bawdy (persons), smutty (talk, etc.): either direct ex pornographic, then prob. since early C.20; or as the -y adj. ex porn, therefore not much before ca. 1947. A good quot'n occurred in the Sunday Times article, 'Just how porny can you get?', on 29 Aug. 1971. On the same page appeared an article titled 'Longford's anti-porn money'.

porous. A mild or polite form of poor as piss: Services', perhaps mainly RN: since late 1930s. P-G-R; Peppitt. porpoise. A very stout man: late C.19—early 20: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.—2. In do a porpoise, (of a submarine) to dive nose first at a sharp angle: RN: from 1916. Bowen.

porpoising, vbl n. 'The movement of an aeroplane when an imperfect "get-off", or landing, is made': RNAS, hence RFC/RAF: WW1+. (F. & G.) Cf. prec., 2.

porps! porps! 'The old time whalers' cry when porpoises were sighted' (Bowen): C.19.

porridge; esp. a bit of porridge. Imprisonment; a term in prison: c.: since ca. 1930. (Norman.) Perhaps suggested, in part at least, by the semantics of S.E. stir, by a pun on stir, 2, a prison. P.B.: the term > much more widespread with the popular TV series of the earlier 1970s about prison life, called 'Porridge'. See gravy, 8.—2. 'Sludge removed from drains' (Railway): railwaymen's: C.20. Of a similar consistency.

porridge-bowl. The stomach: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Cf. bread-basket and contrast porridge-hole.—2. As the P-, a var. of next. McKenna, Glossary.

Porridge Box, the. The Royal Scot express: railwaymen's: since ca. 1920(?). Railway, 2nd.

porridge-disturber. A punch in the belly: pugilistic: early C.19—early 20.

porridge education. 'Sometimes when a knowledgeable chap is told that he must have had a college education, he says "No; I had a porridge education"—meaning that he was brought up in the Scottish manner, fed on little more than porridge and "educated" by some heavy-handed village dominie' (Petch, 1966): coll.: C.20.

porridge-hole. The mouth: lower-class Scots':—1909 (Ware). Cf. Cockneys' cake-hole.

Porridge Island. The nickname for 'an alley leading from St. Martin's church-yard, to Round court, chiefly inhabited by cooks, who cut off ready dressed meat of all sorts, and also sell soup' (Grose, 1785): London coll.: ca. 1780–1830.

porridge-pot. A (heavy) shell: military (not very gen.): WW1. G.H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.

Porridge-Pots. 'Linesmen's satirical mode of naming the Scotch guard [sic]: army:—1909 (Ware); ob. by 1930. Ex porridge as staple food of Scotland (cf. porridge-hole).

port. A portmanteau, suitcase: Aus. and NZ s. > coll.: C.20.—2. Porter, as term of address: earlier C.20.

Port and Lemon(s), the. The Port and Travel Security Sections of military counter-intelligence: Intelligence Corps', e.g. in Cyprus in late 1950s where they were deployed against arms-smuggling by sea and air. Hence, a Port-and-Lemon, a member of such a unit. Joc. use, suggested by the popular drink. (P.B.)

Port Egmont fowl. The large Antarctic gull: nautical coll.: C.20. (Bowen.) Port Egmont is in the north-west of the Falkland Islands.

port for stuffs. 'Assumption of a commoner's gown' (Egan's Grose): Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. The double pun is obvious.

port-hole. The fundament; the female pudend: low coll.: from ca. 1660; ob. by 1930.

port-hole duff. Sodomy: low RN: C.20. A pun on prec., and catching the 'victim' with his head out of a port-hole; cf. Navy cake, 1, and back-scuttle.

port-holes in your coffin, you want. An RN c.p. (C.20) addressed to a man very hard to please. F. & G. Later C.20, joc. coll.

Port Mahon sailor. An inferior seaman: naval: C.19. (Bowen.) 'A perfectly safe port' in Minorca: Chisholm's Gazetteer.

Port Melbourne pier. Var. of Melbourne pier.

Port Royal Tom. 'A wellknown shark in Jamaica' (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, II, 59): naval: early C.19. (Moe.)

Port Said bible. Any pornographic book: RN: C.20. (John Malin, 1979.) Cf. synon. Hong Kong bible.

Port Said garters. 'Any contraceptives worn by amorous (and prudent) soldiery': army: ca. 1939–55.

port wine. Blood: pugilistic: ca. 1840–90. (Augustus Mayhew, Paved With Gold, 1857.) Much less gen. than claret.

portable property. 'Easily stolen or pawned valuables—especially plate': coll.: 1885 (Referee, 7 June: Ware).

portcullis. A silver halfpenny: coll. bordering on S.E.: late C.16–early 17. (Jonson.) Ex portcullis design.

porter's knot. A large bob of hair worn by women at the back of the head in 1866: coll.: 1866+; † by 1880, except historically. B. & L.

port-hole. See port-hole.

portigue. See pestle of a portigue.

portmanteau. A 'big high explosive shell, a name introduced during the Russo-Japanese War': RN: ob. by 1930. Bowen.

portmantle, portmanty. A portmanteau: C.17–20: S.E. till C.19, then resp. dial. and low coll.

portrait. See Queen's picture; sit for (one's) portrait.

Portuguese. A Portuguese: orig. prob. nautical, since very early C.19 (Glascock, 1834, as Portegoose: Moe); in WW1, a Portuguese soldier: joc. Services' (John Buchan, Greenmantle, 1916). Cf.:-

Portug(u)ee. A Portuguese: low coll., largely nautical: since early C.19. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, II, 121 (Moe).—2. Any foreigner except a Frenchman: RN: late C.19. Bowen.

Portug(u)ee parliament. 'A forecandle discussion which degenerates into all talkers and no listeners': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

Portuguese man-of-war. A nautilus: nautical coll. verging on S.E.: C.19–20.

Portuguese militia. 'Undisciplined rable' (Peppitt): RN: C.20. Cf. RN use of pej. Portuguee, as in P. parliament and: Portuguese pump; ... hand pump; ... pumping. Refs. to masturbation: nautical; the 2nd esp. MN (H.P. Mann):—1909 (Ware, who was unable to discover the meaning, and noted 'It is probably nasty').

pos, poss, poz, pozz. Positive: coll. abbr.: resp. 1711, 1719, 1710 (Swift), 1710 (Swift): all † by 1860. The most frequent, poz, may date from as early as 1706 or 7, occurring as it does in Polite Conversation; poss (e.g. D'Urfey, 'Drunk I was last night, that's poss') is rather rare.—2. As adv., positively: coll.: late C.18–early 19, but adumbrated in Swift.—3. Only pos and poss (gen. the latter): possible; usu. in as soon as poss and if poss: orig. low coll. > gen.: since ca. 1885. 'Pomes' Marshall.—4. (Gen. poz.) A certainty: rare coll. verging on s.:—1923 (Manchon); soon ob. Ex sense 1.

posa. A treasurer: Pidgin English:—1864. (H., 3rd ed.) A corruption of purser.

pose. A puzzling question: children's:—1923. (Manchon). Ex S.E. poser. Cf. the † S.E. pose, a state of perplexity.

posh, n. Money; specifically, a halfpenny or other coin of low value: c.:—1839; ob. (Brandon; H., 1st ed.) Ex Romany posh, a half, as in posh-horri, a halfpenny, and posh-koorona, a half-crown.—2. A dandy: Society s.:—1897; † by 1920. (B. & L., 2nd ed.) ?ex sense 1; i.e. a moneyed person (cf. plum, 1, 3). Or perhaps a corruption of (big) pot.—3. When, in The White Monkey, 1924 (part II, ch. xii), Galsworthy wrote 'Pity was posh!', he was confusedly blending punk and tosh: all he meant was 'Pity was bosh!'.—4. Spit-and-polish: army: WW1. Ex the adj.—5. In do the posh, to do things in style; to spend lavishly: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.—6. As the Posh, Peterborough United Assn. Football Club: soccer fans'. 'There are several local versions as to the origin of this name, the most widely accepted being that supporters referred to the team as looking "posh" when they kicked off in the Southern League against Gainsborough on 1 September 1934 wearing a new strip.' The club became professional in that year. (My thanks to the club for this information. P.B., 1980.) posh, adj. Stylish, smart; (of clothes) best; splendid: military >, by 1919, gen.: 1918, says OED; but it appears as Cambridge University s., though as push or poosh, in 1903, when P.G. Wodehouse, in Tales of St Austin's, says of a brightly coloured waistcoat that it is 'quite the most push thing at Cambridge'. Avoided by polite society since ca. 1930. (B. & P.) Ex posh, n., 2; or possibly a corruption of Scottish tosh, clean, neat, trim. The usual educated explanation—'port outward bound, starboard home' (sun-avoiding, hence the 'best', cabins on the England–India run in hot weather)—is ingenious and plausible; but, distrusting it, I prefer this: a contraction of polish, itself a slovened pron. of polished. P.B.: a cartoon in Punch, 25 Sep. 1918, shows an RAF officer talking to his mother: "'Oh, yes, Mater, we had a posh time of it down there.'"—"Whatever do you mean by 'posh', Gerald?"—"Don't you know? It's slang for 'swish!'" The word is sometimes pron., perhaps affectedly, with the o long.—2. Hence, free, esp. if illicitly acquired: army: since ca. 1912 (E.P.); † by 1950 (P.B.).

posh; gen. posh up. (Gen. in passive—esp. all poshed-up.) To make smart in appearance; to clean and polish: military > gen.: from 1917 or 1918. (F. & G.; B. & P.) Ex posh, adj. posish; occ. pozish. A position: coll., orig. (ca. 1860) US; anglicised ca. 1915. OED Sup.

position is critical. See very grave.

positive. Certainly no less than; downright; indubitable, 'out-and-out': coll.: 1802, Sydney Smith, 'Nothing short of a positive miracle can make him ...' (OED).

poss. See pos.

posse mobilatis. The mob: coll.: ca. 1690–1850. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) On posse comitatus.

possible. A coin, gen. in pl; money: ca. 1820–50. Esp. the 'Bee'-Egan group.—2. Hence, means or necessities; supplies: 1824 (OED).—3. (Orig. highest possible.) The highest possible score, esp. in rifle-shooting: coll. abbr.: 1866 (OED).

possible sack. A Can. coll., adopted, ca. 1895, ex US, but adapted from 'a bag for provisions and personal belongings' to 'a bag containing such articles sufficiently valuable to be deposited, as a pledge, with a pawnbroker' (Leechman). Cf. prec., 2.

possie. See possy.

possie; more correctly postie. An earnest advocate: lower classes' satirical:—1909 (Ware). I.e. apostle.

posso-de-luxe, possodelux. A very rich dupe, or con-man's victim: Aus. c.: since ca. 1930. Both versions from Baker: the 1st, 1953; the 2nd, 1959. Ex possum, 3.

possum. Opossum: C.17–20: S.E. till mid-C.19, then coll.—2. A 'ring-in' (q.v.): low Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—3. A simpleton; a dupe: Aus. c.: since ca. 1925. B., 1945.—4. In play possum, to pretend; feign illness or death: orig. US (—1824); partly anglicised ca. 1850. Ex the opossum's feigned death. The variants to possum, to act possum, and to come possum over have remained wholly US. (OED and Thornton).—5. In like a possum up a gum-tree, entirely happy and contented; 'on top of the world': Aus. coll.: C.20. B., 1942.—6. In stir the possum, 'To liven things up, create a disturbance; raise issues that others wish left dormant (? from [sense 4] and song Possum up a Gumtree 1831) (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: C.20.

possum-guts. A pej., gen. in address: Aus.: later C.19. H. Kingsley, 1859.

possy; occ. possie, pozy. A position; esp. a dug-out, or other shelter: army, mostly Aus. and NZ: WW1, esp. from Gallipoli. B. & P.; F. & G.—2. Hence, from 1919, mostly in the Colonies, a house, a lodging, etc.; a job. Jice Doone. As Wilkes's quotations show, it soon came to mean, esp. in Aus., specifically one's 'drinking position' at a bar.—3. See pozzie.

post, n. Such mail as is cleared from one receiving-box or as is delivered at one house: coll.: from ca. 1890.—2. A deferred examination: Aus. university coll., esp. in NSW: since ca. 1920. (B.P.)—3. In on the post, dealing with postage; applied esp. to the clerk dealing with this: commercial and insurance coll.: late C.19–20. M. Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935.—4. See bet on the wrong ...; hack in the post; between you and me ...; knight of the ...

post, v. Often post up and gen. in the passive, esp. in the past passive ppl.: to supply with information or news: US coll. (1847) Anglicised ca. 1860; > S.E. ca. 1880. Prob. ex posting up a ledger. OED.—2. To summon (a candidate) for examination on the first day of a series': Oxford University: C.18. Amherst, 1721, 'To avoid being posted or dogged' (OED). (See dog, v.) Ex S.E. post, to hurry a person.—3. To pay: from ca. 1780; ob. Esp. post the cole, orig. c., 1781 (C. Johnston); post the meddies, c., 1789, G. Parker; post the pony, 1823, Moncrieff,—see pony; post the tin, 1845, Aytoun & Martin. After ca. 1870, the term is influenced by post, to send by post.—4. To promote (someone) to post-captain: RN: ca. 1790–1850. W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints, 1829, I, 8 (Moe).—5. To betray: see AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.

post a letter. To defecate: euph.: since ca. 1890.

post-and-rail. A wooden match as opp. to a wax vesta: Aus.: since ca. 1880. (B. & L.) B., 1943, gives pl as post and rails.—2. A fairy tale, esp. a lie: Aus. rhyming s.: since ca. 1910. B., 1945.

post-and-rail tea. Ill-made tea: from ca. 1850; ob. Only Aus. Ex floating stalks and leaves; the ref. being to post-and-rail fences. (Morris.) Sometimes abbr. post and rails: C.20.

post-chaise. To travel by post-chaise: coll.: 1854 (Thackeray). Ob. OED.

post-chay, post-shay. A post-chaise: ob. coll.: 1757 (F. Greville: OED). Cf. po'chaise, q.v.

post-horn. The nose: ca. 1820–90: (low) coll. (H., 1st ed.) Ex noise and shape; cf. hooter.

post-mortem. The examination after failure: Cambridge: 1844, Punch, 'I've passed the post-mortem at last.' Punning the examination of a corpse.—2. As applied to discussion of a hand (or a game) at bridge after it has been finished, may orig. (1922: OED Sup.) have been bridge-players' s.; but it very quickly > S.E.

post-nointer. A house-painter: 1785 (Grose); † by 1850.

Post Office Bible. The London Delivery Book: Post Office: ca. 1880–1920. Cf.:

Post Office Prayer-Book. The Post Office Guide: Post Office: from ca. 1880.

post-shay. See post-chay.

post te, e.g. chum or hat. A Charterhouse c.p., from ca. 1870, to indicate disapproval (of, e.g., hat or companion). A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900, implies derivation ex a post te of (anything), the right to use a thing after the 'owner' has done with it (mid-C.19–20); itself ex post te (in L., 'after thee') as in post te math, ex, 'May I glance over your mathematical exercise?'—2. Hence, forbidden or taboo, 'It's post te to do such a thing': Charterhouse: since ca. 1914.—3. Hence, to be privileged, a privilege: Ibid.; since ca. 1918. Marples.

post the blue. To win the Derby: racing-men's:—1909. Cf. post, v., 3; the blue is the blue riband of racing, the Derby. Ware.

post the coin. To deposit money for a match; for a bet: sporting: ca. 1840–1900. See post, v., 3.

post the cole or the pony. See post, v., 3, and pony, 2.

Postage Stamp, the. Any hotel, etc., known as the Queen's Head: taverns': 1837–ca. 1885. Ex the design on stamps. Ware.

postchaise, postchay. See post-chaise, -chay.

Posthumous. See Sir Posthumous(s) Hobby.

postie; occ. posty. A postman: coll.:—1887 (Baumann). It is recorded in dial. in 1871 (EDD). For form, cf. goalie, goal-keeper.

postil(l)ion of the Gospel. A gabbling person: 1785 (Grose); † by 1870.

postle. See possie.

postman. See corner like a postman.

postman's knock. A lock: burglars' rhyming s.: C.20. Chubb's advertisement in Daily Telegraph, 5 Mar. 1962.

Postman's Park. A little 'square' within the GPO block, London, EC4: Londoners': C.20. Because this tiny square—the only square in the block—is nearly always filled with postmen who have come out for a breather.

postman's sister, the. An unnamed or secret informant: middle-class coll.: ca. 1883–1914. (Ware.) Cf. Jinks the barber. P.B.: ?with implication that the postman has read the postcards to be delivered, and has gossiped.

postmaster general. The prime minister: a late C.17—early 19 nickname. Grose, 1785, 'Who has the patronage of all posts and places'.

postor. A praepostor: Shrewsbury School coll.: mid-C.19–20. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.

posty. See postie.

Pot. The Princess of Tasmania. The vehicular ferry between the mainland and Tasmania' (B.P.): Aus.: since ca. 1955.

pot, n. (The money involved in) a large stake or bet: 1823 ('Jon Bee'): sporting. E.g. Lever, 'The horse you have backed with a heavy pot.'—2. Hence, any large sum: coll.: 1870, L. Oliphant, 'Harrie... won a pot on the French horse.'—3. Any horse heavily backed, i.e. gen. the favourite: 1823 ('Jon Bee'); H., 'Because [he] carries a pot of money'. Hence, upset the pot, to beat the favourite: C.19 sporting (Ouida).

—4. A prize, orig. and esp. if a vessel (gen. of silver), given at sports and games: 1885 (OED).—5. (A) sixpence: medical students': ca. 1858–1915. H., 2nd ed., 1860, 'A half-crown... is a five-pot piece'; Household Words, 20 June 1885, 'Because it was the price of a pot or quart of "half-and-half".'—6. A person of importance, gen. as a big pot: coll.: 1880 (Hardy: OED Sup.); 1891, Licensed Victualler's Gazette, 9 Feb., 'Some of the big pots of the day'. Coll. >, by 1910, S.E. Cf. the RN nuance (—1909); an executive officer.—7. A person: in pej. s. or coll. combinations, as fuss-pot, a fussy person, and swank-pot, a conceited one: late C.19–20.—8. As the pot or Pot, the Canal: Winchester College: from ca. 1840. Hence, pot-cad, a sawyer on the Canal; pot-gates, lock-gates; pot-house, a leap into the Canal from the roof of a house called pot-house.—9. Top: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).—10. A steward: nautical: ca. 1870–1920.—11. A woman: c.:—1857; virtually †. ('Ducange Anglicus'.) Cf. pot of bliss.—12. A stew: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Abbr. (the inevitable) pot of stew.—13. Stomach: Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham). Cf.: the now commoner meaning, a paunch; esp. get a bit of a pot, to become fat-bellied: since ca. 1920. Ex S.E. pot-belly, -ied.—14. Abbr. pot-hat: ca. 1890–1914. B. & L.—15. A china, or an enamel, mug: Services' coll.: since ca. 1925.—16. A cylinder, esp. in one of the old rotary engines: RFC/RAF: 1914–18. They tended to split or to fly off. Hence, any aeroplane-engine cylinder: R Aus. AF: 1939–45. (B., 1943.) 'Hence, a cylinder in any internal combustion engine, as in the phrase "hitting on all pots" = firing on all cylinders. Common in the 1930s' (Peter Sanders).—17. A potentiometer: users' coll.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.)—18. The Jack at bowls: Midlands bowls-players': current in 1970s. (Mr Maurice Butcher, 1979.) The Southern version is kitty.—19.

Marijuana: orig. and still mostly drug addicts': adopted ex US, ca. 1945 in Canada, ca. 1947 in Britain, ca. 1950 in Aus. (B.P.) COD, 1976, suggests deriv. ex Mexican Sp. potiguaya.—20. In on the pot, at stool: low: earlier C.19. Lex. Bal.—21. (?) Hence, on the pot, vexed; in trouble: low: ca. 1840–80. Sinks, 1848.—22. In put in the pot, involved in loss: turf:—1823 (Bee); † by 1900. Prob. connected with senses 1–3.—23. In put on the (big) pot, to snub; to be patronising: coll.: from ca. 1891. Ex sense 6. Cf.:—24. In put on pot, to exaggerate, to overcharge: mid-C.19–early 20.—25. See go to pot; moonshine in a mustard-pot; old pot; pot, v., 4; put (one's) pot on.

pot, v. To shoot or kill for the pot, i.e. for food; to kill by a pot-shot: coll.: 1860 (OED).—2. V.i. to have a pot-shot, v.t. with at: 1854 (OED): coll. till C.20, then S.E. Cf. pot away, q.v.—3. To win, 'bag': 1900, H. Nisbet, 'He has potted the girl' (OED). Cf. pot, v., 1, and pot, n., 4.—4. To wager large sums: sporting: 1823 ('Jon Bee'); ob. by 1930. See n., 1. Also as put on pot.—5. To deceive; outwit: mid-C.16–20: S.E. until C.19, then s., as in Tom Taylor, Still Waters, 1855, 'A greater flat was never potted'.—6. To throw, e.g. a stone: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. sense 2.—7. To put a baby on a chamber-pot: domestic coll.: C.20.—8 To give (a pupil) an imposition: Public Schools': ca. 1880–1915. (Talbot Baines Reed, 1907.) Cf. impot, q.v.—9. To inform upon, lay information against: Aus. low: since ca. 1920. Caddie, A Sydney Barmaid, 1943, 'To myself I said, "What dirty swine has potted me?"' A shortening of put (someone's) pot on, q.v.—10. See TIDDLYWINKS, in Appendix.

pot and pan. One's father; usu. old pot ..., q.v.: rhyming s., on old man: fairly rare before 1925. Len Ortzen, Down Donkey Row, 1938.

pot and spit. Meat boiled and meat roasted: coll. Verging on S.E.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) Ex the respective modes of cooking.

pot away, v.i. To keep shooting: coll.: from ca. 1855. Ex pot, v., 2.

pot-boiler. Any literary or artistic work done for money: coll.: 1803 (SOD). I.e. something that will keep the pot boiling.—2. Hence, a producer of 'pot-boilers': coll.: 1892 (G.S. Lazard: OED).

pot-cad. See pot, n., 8.

pot calls the kettle black arse. See black arse.

pot-faker. A hawker, a cheapjack, esp. in crockery: low: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed. pot-gates. See pot, n., 8.

pot-gutted. Pot-bellied: Aus. coll.: C.20. Baker.

Pot Hall. St Peter's Hall (now College), founded in 1929: Oxford undergraduates': since 1930; by late 1960s, ob. (With thanks to Dr J.I.M. Stewart, 1976.) Cf. pot-house, 2.

pot-hat. In Notes & Queries, 1891 (7th series, xii, 48), we read: 'Until lately ... always ... short for "chimney-pot hat", less reverently known as a "tile"; but at the present time ... often applied to a felt hat,' the latter—to be precise, a 'bowler'—being, by 1930, slightly ob., the former historical. Coll.: 1798 (Jane Austen: OED).

pot-head. A stupid person: coll.: 1855 (Kingsley: OED). App. ex next.—2. (Or written solid.) A cannabis smoker: prisoners' and drugs world: later C.20. Sean McConville, The State of the Language, 1980.

pot-headed. Thick-headed, stupid: coll.: More, 1533. (OED). Whence prec., 1.

pot-hole. A shell-hole: army: WW1.

Pot-Hooks. The 77th Foot, in late C.19–20 the 2nd Battalion of the Duke of Cambridge's Own (Middlesex Regiment): military: C.19–early 20. Ex the similarity of the two 7s to pot-hooks.

pot-hooks and hangers. Shorthand: coll.: C.19.

pot-house. An easy-going club: clubmen's coll.:—1909 (Ware). Joc. on S.E. sense.—2. As the Pot-House, Peterhouse, Cambridge undergraduates': mid-C.19–early 20. Cf. Pot Hall.

pot-houser. See pot, n., 8.

pot-hunter. One who follows sport for profit, lit. for pots: coll. till C.20, then S.E.: 1874 (H., 5th ed.). See pot, n., 4. Ex S.E. sense, one who hunts less for the sport than for the prey. Cf. the next entry.—2. In very local c. of late C. 16, the same as a 'barnacle'. Greene, 1592.

pot-hunting. The practising of sport for the sake of the prizes: coll. till C.20, then S.E.: 1862 (Saturday Review, 7 July); Good Words, 1881, 'Some men are too fond of starning or pothunting at "sports"' (OED). Cf. pot-hunter, q.v.

pot in the pate, have a. To be the worse for drink: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1650–1780. Bracken, in his interesting Farrriery Improved, 1737, 'An Ox ... would serve them to ride well enough, if they had only a Pot in the Pate' (OED).

pot joint. In grafters' s. of late C.19–20, thus in Cheapiack, 1934, 'An enormous number of crockery sellers are Lancashire men, and their great stalls, where they sell all kinds of china by mock auction, are usually called "pot joints".'

pot(-)mess. 'A stew made of bits and pieces too numerous for specification' (Granville): RN coll.: late C.19–20. See pot, n., 12.—2. Hence, a complete mix-up; chaos: R Aus. N: since ca. 1910.

pot of all. A leader-hero, a 'demi-god': 'Cockneys': ca. 1883–1914. Ware.

pot of beer. Ginger beer: teetotallers':—1909 (Ware).

pot o(f) bliss. 'A fine tall woman': taverns': from ca. 1876; ob. Ware.

pot o(f) honey. Var of bees and honey, q.v. money. (Franklyn 2nd.) Sometimes shortened to honey.

pot of O is the abbr. of pot of O, my dear: rhyming s. for 'beer': 1868, says Ware; ob.

pot on. To be enthusiastic for: non-aristocratic s. (—1887) >, by 1900, coll.; ob. Baumann quotes Punch: 'When their fancy has potted on pink' (Wenn sie sich in Rosa verliebt haben).—2. See put (one's) pot on.

pot scum. 'Bad or stinking dripping' (Sinks): domestic coll.: ca. 1825–1910.

pot the white. (Of a man) to coit with a woman: since ca. 1930. (H.E. Bates, The Darling Buds of May, 1955.) Ex billiards. (R.S.) pot to pee (or piss) in, doesn't (or didn't) have a. A Can. c.p. (since ca. 1905) for extreme poverty. Often expanded by addition of and not even a window to throw it out of.

pot walks, the. A c.p. applied to a drinking bout: ca. 1560–1750. OED.

pot-walloper. A heavy drinker: coll.: late C.19–20; ob. Ex.—2. A tap-room loafer; (theatrical) a 'prosser', q.v.: low: from ca. 1870.—3. A scullion; a cook on a whaler: s. (—1860) > coll.—4. A pej. term of address: 1820 (OED): coll. >, ca. 1870, S.E. Ex the S.E. political sense = potwaller.

pot with two ears, make a or the. To set one's arms akimbo: coll.: ca. 1670–1760. Cotton, 1675, '...A goodly port she bears, / Making the pot with two Ears' (OED).

pot-wrestler. The cook on a whaler: nautical: from ca. 1840. Cf. pot-walloper, 3.

Potash and Perlmutter. Butter: rhyming s.: since ca. 1910; by 1960, ob. Montague Glass's play of that title 'was first produced in London at the Queen's Theatre, Shaftesbury Avenue, London, on 14 Apr. 1914. The play was a huge success and the term may have come into use even before 1915' (Franklyn 2nd).

potato. A pej. coll., as in Smollett's 'I don't value [him] a rotten potato' (OED): ca. 1750–1850. Cf. potatoes, q.v.—2. A large hole in fleshings or stockings: coll.: late C.19–20. Baumann.—3. As Potato, or Potater, the French racehorse Peut-être: sporting: ca. 1900–10. Ware.—4. A girl, à (young) woman: Aus. rural: since ca. 1925. D'Arcy Niland, 1958.—5. As the potato or the clean potato, the best; the correct or most apposite thing: resp. 1822, 1880. Esp. in quite or not quite the (clean) potato (OED). Cf.:—6 As the clean potato, a non-convict; a person of good character: Aus.: ca. 1825–70. Baker.—7. See hot potato; take a red-hot potato!

potato-box. The mouth (cf. p.-jaw, q.v.): from ca. 1870.

potato-finger. A long thick finger; a penis; a dildo: (low) coll.: C.17–18. Esp. in Shakespeare's Troilus and Cressida. Ex supposed aphrodisiac virtues of the sweet potato. OED.

potato-jaw or -trap. The mouth: resp. 1791, Mme D'Arbly: 1785, Grose. Orig. Irish. OED.

potato-masher. A knobkerrie used as a weapon in infantry raids on the German trenches: army: 1915–18. John Harris, Covenant with Death, 1961—a novel about WW1.—2. (Sometimes with grenade added.) A German hand-grenade so shaped: army: WW1. F. & G.

potato-pillin' (orig., prob. peelin'). A shilling: rhyming s. (mostly workmen's): C.20. (John o' London's Weekly, 9 June 1934.) Cf. the more gen. rogue and villain.

potato-trap. See potato-jaw.

potatoes. In small potatoes, nothing much, nothing great: adopted, ex US, ca. 1860. Cf. potato, 1, and see small...—2. Abbr. of:—

potatoes in the mould, hence often potatoes whence taters. Cold (adj.): rhyming s.: late C.19–20. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) P.B.: in later C.20 taters is the predominant, perhaps the only, form. Cf. soldiers bold.

potch. "Fire" or "live" opal was the most sought after; naturally being the rarest and most valuable, it was the least found. "Potch" or immature opal could be found by the ton' (Archer Russell, Gone Nomad, 1936): Aus. opal-miners': late C.19–20: coll. >, by 1930, j. App., potch is an English dial. var. of patch. The word occurs in K.S. Prichard, The Black Opal, 1921.

potching. The taking of tips from a person that one has not served: waiters':—1883 (Ware cites the Graphic, 17 Mar.). Prob. = poaching.

potential. A potential officer: army coll.: since ca. 1940. P-G-R.

pothead. See pot-head, 2.

Pothooks. See pot-hooks.

pothouse. See pot-house.

potle-bell, ring the. 'To confirm a bargain by linking the little fingers of the right hand' (F. & H.): Scots dial. and coll., mostly among children: C.19–20.

pots. Potatoes: greengrocers' coll.: since ca. 1870. Cf. straws = strawberries.—2. North Staffordshire Railway ordinary stock: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1885. The railway served the Potteries. Also Potts.—3. A Petty Officer Telegraphist (s either = 'Special', since ca. 1950, or added for euphony): RN: since ca. 1950, or added for euphony): RN: since late 1930s. (John Malin, 1979.) Also as vocative.—4. 'Chambers Twentieth Century Dictionary, a best seller known with respect in some households as "the Pots"' (The Times, 23 July 1980). A pun on chamber-pots. (P.B.) pots; gen. be pots, to be mad, or extremely eccentric: from ca. 1925. (Anthony Weymouth, Hard Liver, 1936.) Ex potty on bats, q.v.

pots and dishes. Wishes: rhyming s.: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

pots and pans, make. 'To spend freely, then beg' (Bee, 1823): ca. 1820–1900. Baumann.

pots of money. A large amount of money; a fortune: coll.: from ca. 1870. Mrs H. Wood, 1871, pots; Trollope, a pot (OED).

pottage. The Book of Common Prayer: C.17. Frequent in the less reputable writings of the time. Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

potted; occ. potted out. Confined (e.g. in a lodging): coll.: 1859 (The Times, 21 July); ob. by 1890, † by 1920.—2. Dead and buried: from ca. 1860; ob. (H., 2nd ed.) Ex horticulture.—3. (Of a racehorse) favourite, favoured: turf:—1923 (Manchon). Ex pot, n., 1–3.—4. Snubbed; suppressed: proletarian: later C.19. (B. & L.) See pot, n., 23.—5. Tipsy: S. Africa: since ca. 1938. Professor W.S. Mackie, in Cape Argus, 4 July 1946, 'A mere variant of "canned."' Also Can., as in J. Dowell, Look-Off Bear, 1974, 'He was potted, plastered, stinko' (Leechman).—6. Exhilarated by taking marijuana: drug addicts': adopted, ca. 1956, ex US. See pot, n., 19, and pot-head, 2.

potted fug. Potted meat: either dial. or local s.: Rugby (town): from ca. 1860.

potter-carrier. An apothecary: low coll. and dial. form of pothecary: ca. 1750–1820. Foote, 1764, 'Master Lint, the potter-carrier'. OED.

Potteries, the. Stoke City Football Club ('soccer'): sporting: C.20.

pottery. Poetry: sol. when not a deliberate perversion: C.19–20.

potting. Shooting; esp. the taking of pot-shots: coll.: 1884 (OED). Ex pot, v., 2.

Potts. See pot, 2.

potty, n. A tinker: lower classes':—1909 (Ware). Ex his pots and pans.—2. A chamber-pot, esp. a child's: nursery and domestic coll.: C.20. Cf. pot, v., 9.

potty, adj. Indifferent; shaky; very unpromising (business scheme): 1860 (H.); rather ob.—2. (Of a stroke) feeble; clumsy: cricketers': from 1870. Lewis.—3. Trivial, insignificant: 1899 (Eden Phillpotts: OED Sup.). Ex potter (about).—4. Easy, simple; safe: 1899: s. >, by 1930, coll. Ibid.—5. Silly; crazy: from ca. 1910. Ex sense 1. Cf. batty, dotty, loopy.

potty-training. A pun on the initials of Post-Ordination Training: Anglican priests', in the Leicester Diocese. (Rev. Ernest Sheard, ALA, 1976.) Ex potty, n., 2, and the domestic coll. 'potty-training' of infants.

potwalloper; potwalloping. See pot-walloper and -walloping.

pouch, n. A present of money: 1880 (Disraeli): s. >, by 1910, coll.; ob. (OED). Ex v., 1. (N.B., pouch is, by soldiers, almost always pronounced pooch. F. & G.)

pouch, v. To supply the pouch, i.e. the purse or pocket, of; to tip: s. >, in C.20, (low) coll.: 1810 (Shelley: OED); 1844, Disraeli, 'Pouched in a manner worthy of a Marquess and of a grandfather'. Slightly ob.—2. To eat: low coll.: 1892, Milliken, 'Fancy pouching your prog on a terrace.' Ex S.E. sense, to swallow.—3. To steal: low:—1923 (Manchon). Ex dial., where it dates from C.18.

pouch a gun. To carry a revolver: c.: from ca. 1920. (Edgar Wallace, The Squeaker, 1927.) On US pack a gat.

pouch-mouth, n. and adj. A ranter; ranting; coll., somewhat rare: early C.17. Dekker, 'Players, I mean, theaterians, pouch-mouth stage-walkers.' I.e. ore rotundo.

pouchet. A pocket: either coll., or a corruption of pocket by Fr. pochette. Radcliffe, 1682, 'Did out of his Pouchet three nutmegs produce.' † by 1800.

powdering-tub. See powdering-tub.

poof. A would-be actor: theatrical: ca. 1870–1910. Ex pooff, poof! P.B.: but see poof.

poof-wroughting. See poof-rotting.

pooffe. See poof.

pooffer. See pooffer.

poulain. A chancre: low coll.: 1785 (Grose); ob. Ex Fr. poulain.

poulerling. An undergraduate in his second year: university: C.17. (Anon., The Christmas Prince, 1607.) ?origin.

poulerer. A thief that steals and guts letters: c.: C.19. (Lex. Bal.) 'ex quill = a quill pen, perhaps via metaphor of feathers as letters.

poultice. A fat woman: Society: ca. 1880–1900.—2. A 'very high collar, suggestive of a neck poultice, ring-like in shape': Society: ca. 1882–1912. Likewise, Ware.—3. A bore (person or thing): Glasgow:—1934. Cf. pill in this sense.—4. A mortgage: Aus.: C.20. K.S. Prichard, Kiss on the Lips, 1932.—5. A (large) sum of money; e.g. in wages: Aus.: since ca. 1920. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me ..., 1948, 'I got paid off, and it was a whacking big poultice.'—6. Hence, a bribe, esp. in sling in a poultice, to offer a bribe: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Culotta.—7. As the Poultice, the taxicab rank outside the Middlesex Hospital: London taxi-drivers': since ca. 1910. (Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939.) Cf. the poultice combinations below, in which it is synon. with medicine generally.—8. See poultice over...

poultice-mixer. A sick-bay attendant: RN:—1909 (Ware). Cf. army p.-wallah.

poultice over the peeper. A punch or blow on the eye: low:—1909 (Ware).

poultice plasterer, the. The medical officer: RN: since ca. 1920. (H. & P.) Cf.:-

poultice-wallah. A physician's, esp. a surgeon's, assistant: military: from ca. 1870. See wallah and cf. poultice-mixer and: poultice-walloper; also with capitals. Occ. P. Wallahs. The Royal Army Medical Corps: army nickname: earlier C.20. Also the Pills, the Linseed Lancers.—2. In the sing., a sick-bay attendant or nursing orderly: late C.19–20: at first RN; later, also RAF. Bowen; Jackson.

poultry. Women in gen.: coll.: C.17–20. (Chapman.) Hence, celestial poultry, angels, ex the wings. Cf. hen, hen-party, and contrast cock.

poultry-rig. The 'dodge' noted at poulterer, q.v.: c.: C.19. Lex. Bal.

poultry-show. A 'short arm' inspection: military: 1915; ob. B. & P., 'It had no reference to hens.'

ponce, n. A severe, esp. if written, criticism: book-world coll.: from ca. 1930. Ex:—2. In on the pounce, ready to leap verbally: Anglo-Irish: 1887, when brought into fashion by E. Harrington, M.P. Daily News, 10 Oct. 1890. "On the pounce" as the irreverent phrase goes.—3. See ponce, of which it is a var. ponce, v.t. 'Active part in (homo-)sexual intercourse. Jean Genet, Querelle of Brest, 1953, "... pounced by Nono" (L.A., 1974).

ponce-shicer, pouncey. See ponce.

poncer. A female fire-watcher: see whistler, 9.

pound. Pounds, whether weight or sterling: S.E. until mid-C.19, then coll. and dial. 'He's worth a thousand pound if he's worth a penny'; 'That bullock weighs eight hundred pound.' (In combination, however, the uninflected pl. is S.E.: e.g. 'a four-pound trout'.)—2. In go (one's) pound, to eat something up: military: ca. 1870–1914. Ex the fact that a soldier's ration of bread used to weigh 1 lb, his ration of meat nearly 1 lb (actually ¾ lb), as mentioned in Pall Mall Gazette, 1 July 1885 (cited by OED).—4. In in for pound, committed for trial: c.: C.19–early 20. Ex pound = prison.—5. See parson's mouse-trap; pound of lead.

pound, v. See pound it; pounded.

pound and pint. 'The bare Board of Trade ration scale': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

pound-and-pint idler. A naval purser: RN: late C.19–early 20. (Bowen.) Ex prec.

pound it. To bet, wager, as on a virtual certainty, esp. in I'll pound it: 1812 (Vaux); ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. Ex offering £10 to 2s 6d at a cock-fight. Dickens, 'I'll pound it that you han't.' Cf. poundable, q.v.

pound-not(e)ish. Stylish; aristocratic; affected of speech or manner: lower classes': from ca. 1930. Gilt Kid, 1936, 'Her pound-notish voice both annoyed and amused the Gilt Kid.' pound of f) lead. Head: rhyming s.: late C.19–earlier 20. A var. of lump o(f) lead, and often shortened to pound. Franklyn 2nd.

pound-text. A parson: coll.: late C.18–late 19. Cf. Bible-puncher or -thumper.

pound the beat. 'To walk the streets as a prostitute' (McNeil): Aus. low coll.: later C.20. A parody of the police usage: cf.:-

pound the stones. To walk a beat: police: C. 20. Via the coll. pound the beat (late C.19–20).

pound to a pinch of shit (, it's a). See bet a pound...

pound to an olive (, it's a). It's a certain bet: Jewish coll.:—1909 (Ware). Perhaps ex Jewish fondness for olives.

poundable. (Esp. of the result of a game, the issue of a bet) certain, inevitable; or considered to be such: low (?c.): 1812 (Vaux); ob. by 1890, † by 1920.

pounded, ppl adj. Discovered guilty of impropriety: male Society: ca. 1820–50. (Egan, Life in London, 1821.) Ex the pounding of strayed animals.

pounders. (Rare in singular.) Testicles: coll.: late C.17–18. Dryden's Juvenal, VI, 117.

poundrel. The head: coll.: 1664, Cotton, 'Glad they had scap'd, and sav'd their poundrels'; † by 1830. Origin obscure, though prob. connected with weight.

poupe. See poop, v., 2.

pour, n. A 'continuous' rain; esp. a steady pour (all the morning): coll.: late C.19–20.

pour (a person). To see a person, who has had plenty of 'farewell drinks', off, and on to his transport, as 'We poured old Nobby on to his plane about three in the morning' (P.B.), and 'it was a slightly jaded company of artists who were "poured over the side" into launches [from HMS Anson] (Francis Worsley, ITMA, 1948): coll., mostly Services'.

pour on more coals. To open the throttle of either a piston or a jet engine: RAF: since ca. 1950. Cf. open the taps at taps.—2. 'Also used for accelerating in a motor car' (Leechman): motorists': since ca. 1955. Also pour on the coal, put the coals on.

poured into. (Of a girl or woman) wearing very tight-fitting clothing to the greatest enhancement of her figure, as 'She was poured into a sky-blue uniform' (Patrick Campbell, Come Here Till I Tell You, 1960). Orig. in the simile 'she looked as if she had been poured ...' (P.B.)

pouter. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20. Cf. diddly-pout.

pouve. Occ. var. of poove, 2.

poverty. Some strong liquor that was in vogue in the 1720s. Anon., The Quaker's Opera, 1728.

Poverty and Grief. Messrs Pollock & Gilmour, shipowners: Clydeside nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex reputed abstinence from pampering their crews.

poverty-basket. A wicker cradle: s. or coll.: ca. 1820–70. Bee, 1823.

poverty-corner, more gen. p-junction; or with capitals. The corner formed by York and Waterloo Roads, London: music-hall and variety artists':—1890; ob. (Tit-Bits, 29 Mar. 1890.) There they used to wait to be engaged. Since ca. 1910, it has gen. referred to a corner in the Leicester Square district and is a gen. theatrical coll. Cf. the Slave Market of New York.—2. The corner of Fenchurch Street and the approach to the Station: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) The haunt of out-of-work seamen.

Poverty Point. The junction of Park and Pitt Streets: Sydneyites': ca. 1890–1920. (B., 1942.) Like prec., 1, mainly among theatricals. Wilkes.

Poverty row (picture). See MOVING-PICTURE SLANG, §8, in Appendix.

powder. (Of a horse) vigour, spirits: turf:—1923 (Manchon). Perhaps ex gunpowder + sense 2 of the v.—2. See burn bad powder; take a powder.

powder, v.i. To rush: coll. and dial.: lit., in Quarles, 1632, 'Zacheus climb'd the Tree: But O how fast ... he powder'd down agen!'; fig., from ca. 1730. (OED.) Ex the rapid explosiveness of powder.—2. Hence, to spur (a horse) to greater speed: sporting:—1887 (Baumann).—3. V.t., to 'camouflage' the fact that a horse is glandered: horse-copers': from ca. 1860. 'No. 747', p. 20.

powder away, v.t. To perform fine but useless deeds: coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Ex S.E. powder, to scatter or sprinkle like powder.

powder-monkey. A boy employed to carry powder from magazine to gun: 1682, Radcliffe, 'Powder-monkey by name': naval coll. till C.19, then S.E.

powder (one's) nose. To go to the lavatory: women's euph.: since ca. 1940.

powder or shot, not worth. Not worth cost or, esp., trouble or effort: 1776 (Foote): coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. powdered chalk. A walk: rhyming s. (not very common): late C.19–20. The v. is take a powdered chalk, whence perhaps the US take a powder. 'I believe the US "take a powder" means take a laxative, which will make you "go". In other words, "Get out of here"' (Leechman). Cf. ball o' chalk, penn'orth o' chalk.

powdering (one's) hair, be. To be getting drunk: taverns': C.18–20; extremely ob. Ware, 1909, remarks: 'Still heard in remote places. Euphemism invented by a polite landlord.'
powdering-tub. A salivating cradle or pit, used against syphilis: late C.16–early 19; humorous S.E. until C.18, then coll. Shakespeare; Grose, 1st ed.—2. With capitals, 'the Pocky Hospital at Kingsland near London' (B.E.): low coll.: late C.17–mid-18.

Powell it. To walk: sporting coll.: ca. 1810–50. (Boxiana, II, 1818.) Ex the name of a famous early C.19 walker.

power. A large number of persons, number or quantity of things; much: from ca. 1660: S.E. until ca. 1820, then dial. and (low) coll. Dickens, 'It has done a power of work' (OED). Cf. nation and poveration.—2. Penis: low and rather rare: mid-C.19–20. Prob. suggested by sexual potency.

poveration. A large number or quantity; much: coll.: ca. 1830–1910. Also dial.

powerful. Great in number; in quantity: dial. and low coll.: 1852, in US; anglicised in 1865, by Dickens, 'A powerful sight of notice' (OED).—2. Adv., powerfully; exceedingly, very: dial. and, esp. in US (1833, Thornton) and Can., low coll.: 1835, Washington Irving; Besant & Rice, 1876, 'Rayner seems powerful anxious to get you on the paper' (OED); Tit-Bits, 17 Sep. 1892, 'He's powerful bad, miss.' Ob. as coll. in Great Britain. (The adj. ex the adv., the adv. ex power, q.v.)

Powos, the. The Prince of Wales's Own Regiment: late C.19–20 military; ob. Also known as the Old and Bold, q.v., and Calvert's Entire.

powwow. A conference of, discussion of plans by, senior officers before a battle, or during manoeuvres: military: from ca. 1912. (F. & G.) A natural extension of the S.E. sense.

pox. Syphilis: C.16–20: S.E. until mid-C.18; then a vulg. That the word was early avoided appears in Massinger's 'Or, if you will hear it in a plainer phrase, the pox', 1631. Often French pox (Florio, 'The Great or French poxe'); occ. Italian, German, Spanish, Indian pox, also (the) great pox—Swift has the greater pox; cf. French gout. Altered spelling of pocks, orig. applied to the pustules of any eruptive disease. (OED.) See also powdering-tub. Cf. poxl, q.v., and:

pox, v. To infect with syphilis: late C.17–20: S.E. until mid-C.18, then a vulg. Amory, 1766, 'She ... lives ... to ... pox the body' (OED). Cf.:

poxl (Cf. pox, n. and v.) In imprecations and irritated exclamations, esp. a pox of or on ...!, (a) pox take, a poxl, what a poxl, with a poxl, pox on it! Late C.16–mid-19: S.E. until C.18, then a vulg. Shakespeare, 1588, 'A pox of that jest'; Fielding, 1749, 'Formalities! with a poxl!' (OED).

pox doctor's clerk, like – or got-up like – a. In a very smart civilian suit: RN: C.20. Granville, 'Also "pox doctor's assistant" (lowerdeck):' Since mid-C.20, also Aus.: Wilkes, who glosses, 'Dressed natively, but in bad taste'.

poxed, poxt, ppl adj. Infected with syphilis: late C.17–20: S.E. until mid-C.18, then a vulg.

poxed-up. C.20 low coll. shape of prec., as in 'a poxed-up whore' (T.C.H. Raper, 1973).

poxy. (Of things) old and either inferior or in deplorable condition, as, e.g., a pair of shoes: C.20. Bill Naughton, Alfie Darling, 1970.

poyson; poysoned, poyson'd. See poison, poisoned.

poz, pozz. See pos.

pozish. See posish.

pozzie, -y. See possy, 1, 2.—2. Pozzy. Pozières, a small village on the Somme front, the scene of fierce fighting in the 'Big Push': July 1916: mostly among the Australian soldiers.—3. (p.) Jam: military: late C.19–20. (B. & P., esp. the 3rd ed.) Perhaps ex a S. African language, for the natives in S.A. 'used the word, before 1900 at least, to designate any sort of sweetmeat or preserve'; its revival in WW1 may have been caused by the Posy brand of condensed milk being, in 1914–early 15, often spread on bread when jam ran out. I myself hazard posset. From ca. 1919, also RN lowerdeck s. (Granville).

pozy-wallah. 'A man inordinately fond of jam': military: C.20 (B. & P.) Ex sense 3 of prec. + wallah, q.v.

prac. A practical test or examination: Aus. students', esp. in Science or Medicine: since ca. 1925. (B.P.) Cf.:

praco. (?) Practical training. See ARMY SLANG, verse 1, in Appendix.

pracs. Practical classes: Reading undergraduates': since ca. 1920. Marples, 2.

practicable, n. A door, window, staircase, etc., actually usable in a play: theatrical coll.: 1859 (Wraxall). Ex the corresponding theatrical adj. (1838). OED.

practicable, adj. Gullible; illicitly accessible; facile: 1809 (Malkin: OED). Ex practicable, feasible.

practical, n. (Rare in singular.) A practical joke; a trick: 1833 (M. Scott). Ob. OED.

Practical Jokes Department, the. The Administrative branch of the Army: soldiers', esp. officers'. R.A. Goodsall, Palestine Memoirs, 1925.

practical politician. A public-house, self-appointed orator or spouter: coll.: late C.19–20.

practise in the milky way. To fondle a woman's breasts: low cultured coll. verging on, but not achieving, S.E.: C.17–20; ob. Carew, 1633.

practitioner. A thief: c.: from ca. 1865; ob. J. Greenwood, 1869.

prad. A horse: c.: app. not recorded separately before 1799, but implied in Grose, 2nd ed., 1788, in prad-lay. (Egan, Dickens, Mayhew, Marriott Watson.) Ex Dutch paard, a horse (OED). Cf. Charing Cross, gee, prancer; and esp. prod, 2.

prad-cove. A horse dealer: c.: ca. 1820–1920. Egan's Grose.

prad-holder. A bridle: c.: 1798 (Tufts, A Glossary of Thieves' Jargon).

prad-lay. 'Cutting bags from behind horses'; the stealing of bridles, etc.: c.: 1788 (Grose).

prad-napper; -napping. A horse-thief; horse-thieving: c.: C.19–20; ob. (H., 2nd ed.) See prad.

pradback. Horseback: c.:—1812; ob. by 1930. (Vaux.) See prad.

prae. Coll. abbr. of praepostor, at those schools where this term is used for 'prefect': since late C.19. Cf. pre = prefect.

prag, pragge. A thief: c. of ca. 1590–1600. (Greene, 1592.) Prob. ex prig, n., and v.

pragger. A practice game: Rugby School: late C.19–20. The 'OXFORD -ER'. (D.F. Wharton.)

Pragger-Wagger, the. The Prince of Wales: Oxford undergraduates': in the 1880s, the future King Edward VII (Marples, 2); in early C.20, the future King Edward VIII (Collinson). See -agger, at 'OXFORD -ER', in Appendix.

prairie pudden. Nothing to eat, an empty plate: "Djou know what prairie pudden is? ... It means the wide open spaces ... In other words, buggar all!" (Jeremy Seabrook, The Unprivileged: a Hundred Years of Family Life and Tradition in a Working-class Street, 1967: concerning Northampton).

prairie rash. Baked beans: RN lowerdeck: WW2. (Weekly Telegraph, 13 Sep. 1941.) Ex cowboys; cf. yippee beans.

praise. (The name of) God: a Scots euph. coll.: C.17–early 19. Callander, 1782, 'Praise be blest, God be praised. This is a common form still in Scotland with such as, from reverence, decline to use the sacred name' (EDD). Ex † S.E. praise, 'an object or subject of praise'.

praise with faint damns. Occ. joc. inversion of Pope's original line: C.20. (P.B.)

pram. A perambulator (for infants): (until ca. 1920, considered rather low) coll. abbr.: 1884, Graphic, 25 Oct. 'Nurses ... chattering and laughing as they push their "prams".'—2. Hence, a milkman's hand-cart: coll.: 1897 (OED).—3. In get out of (one's) pram, to become very, or over-, excited; hence, very angry: since ca. 1950. (Richard Clapperton, Victims Unknown, 1970.) Cf. off (one's) trolley.

prams. Legs: low Glasgow s., verging on c.: late (? mid-) C.19–20. (MacArthur & Long.) Prob. a corruption of the old c. term, gams. 'Or simply from perambulators?' (Mrs Daphne Beale).

prance. To dance, caper, gambol: mid-C.15–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. OED.

prancer. A horse: c.: ca. 1565–1860. (Harman, B.E., Grose, Ainsworth.) Cf. the S.E. usage: a prancing or mettlesome horse. See also pranker.—2. A highwayman: C.17: c. >, ca. 1680, low s. Day, Head: OED.—3. Hence, a horse-thief: c.: C.18–mid-19. Anon., The Twenty Craftsmen, 1712, 'The fifteenth a prancer... If they catch him horse-coursing, he's nooz'd once for all.'—4. A cavalry officer: army: late C.19. H., 5th ed.—5. See Sign of the Prancer.

prancer's nab or nob. A horse's head as a sham seal to a counterfeit pass: c.: late C.17–mid-19. B.E., Grose. Cf.: prancer's poll. The same: late C.17–mid-18. B.E.—2. See Sign of the Prancer.

Prancing Queers, The. Ivor Novello's show, The Dancing Years: theatrical: late 1940s–early 1950s.

Prang; usu. in full, Prang Bell. A common nickname of men surnamed Bell: since ca. 1944. Cf. prang, v., 2.

prang, n. A crash; esp., a crash-landing: RAF: since ca. 1937. (H. & P.) Ex the v.—2. A bombing raid: 1939+. (Partridge, 1945.) Ex sense 2 of v. But Anthony Burgess, Observer, 18 July 1982, writes, 'Prang still has no etymology [in OED Sup., vol. 3], despite its near-certain provenance in Malay perang, which means fighting or war (orang perang—fighting man).'

prang, v. To crash-land an aircraft (usu. -v.t.): RAF: since ca. 1935. Sgt-Pilot F.R. Rhodes, letter, 1942; Jackson, 1943, 'To damage, destroy, wreck... From the sound of the impact of a metal aircraft with the ground'; Paul Brickhill & Conrad Norton, Escape to Danger, 1946 (see quot'n at hack, v., 1). Reminiscent of bang.—2. Hence (?), to bomb (a town, a factory, etc.): since late 1939. John Moore, Observer, 4 Oct. 1942; Jackson, 'He pranged the target to blazes.'—3. (Ex 1 or 2—or both.) 'Sometimes applied to non-flying accidents, e.g., "Jones pranged his arm at rugger to-day"' (H. & P., 1943).—4. To coit with (a girl): RAF: 1940+. Cf. bang, v., 3 and target...

prang artist. An accident-prone motorcyclist: motorcyclists' (Dunford): since ca. 1945. Ex prang, n., 1 and v., 1. See artist, esp. sense 2.

pranker. A horse: c.: late C.16–17. (Greene.) Prob. a corruption of prancer, 1.

prannie or pranny. Female pudend: low: late C.19–20. A term of contempt among men.

p'raps. Perhaps: coll. abbr. (in C.19, rather low): 1835, (Hood); prob. much earlier. OED.

prat, pratt, n. A tinder-box: c.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E., Grose.)? origin.—2. (Gen. in pl.) A buttock; a thigh: mid-C.16–20: c. >, ca. 1820, low: Harman, Bromé.—3. A behind: late C.16–20: c. >, in C.19, low. Rowlands, 1610, 'And tip lowr with thy prat'; Marriott-Watson, 1895, 'We ain't to do nothing... but to set down upon our prats.' Cf. US c. sense, a hip-pocket.—4. The female pudend: low: C.19–20.—5. A girl, a young woman: low: C.20. 'The pratt's marked [i.e. spotted] us!... Get after her!' (G.F. Newman, The Gwonor, 1977).—6. Also ex sense 4 is the term's use as a gen. low, virtually meaningless, pej.: 'Stupid prat—what's he think he's doing?': since mid-C.20, prob. earlier. Cf. synon. sense of cunt, prick, twat, etc.

prat, v. To go: c.: 1879 (Horsley). Connected perhaps with prat, n., 3, but prob. with Romany praster, to run.—2. Hence, prat oneself—or, more gen., one's frame—in, to butt in, come uninvited, interfere: low: late C.19–20.—3. To beat, to swish: late C.16–20 (ob.): low. App. ex prat, n., 3. Shakespeare, Merry Wives, IV, ii.—4. To speak, to talk, to someone: Aus. low: since ca. 1918. (B., 1942.) Ex sense 2, which is, in C.20, chiefly Aus. and NZ. Cf. S.E. prattle.

prat about. To potter, mess about: low: late C.19–20. Cf. prat, n., 3, and v., 2.

prat (-) fall (or one word). 'A fall on one's bottom or prat [n., 3], esp. as part of stock-in-trade of a knockabout comedian' (L.A., 1974): Can., adopted ca. 1935, ex US; by ca. 1950, Brit. prat for (someone). To act, in a specific instance, as the passive partner in a male homosexual relationship: low: C.20. Ex prat, n., 3.

prate-roast. A talkative boy: ca. 1670–1840: low: Glanville; B.E.; Grose (1st ed.), who, by the way, certainly errs when he describes it as c.

pratie, praty. A potato: dial. and Anglo-Irish: Matthew Barker, L.L.G., 20 Dec. 1823, uses the spelling pratee (Moe); Marryat. A slurred abbr. See also tater(-ur), tatie.

prating cheat. The tongue: c.: ca. 1565–1860. (Harman; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) See cheat, a thing.

pratt. See prat, n.

prattling-ken. A low lodging-house: c.: from ca. 1860. ('No. 747'.) Ex prat, n., 2. Cf. kradying-ken, q.v.

prattle-box. A chattering: early C.18. See MEN, in Appendix, and cf. prattling-box.

prattle-broth. Tea: late C.18–mid-19. (Grose, 1788.) Cf. chatter-, scandal-, broth.

prattle-cheat. See prattling cheat.

prattling-box. A pulpit: low: late C.18–mid-19. (Grose, 1785.) Cf. hum-box.

prattling-cheat. An occ. var. of prating cheat, q.v.

prattling-parlour. A private apartment: ca. 1820–60. Moncrieff, 1821.

pratts. See prat, n.

praty. Talkative: coll. (gen. low): C.19–20; ob. Ex S.E. prate, (idle) talk.—2. See pratie.

praught. Past tense of preach: deliberate sol., among the literate, for humorous effect: C.20. (P.B.)

prawn. A pej. applied to persons; gen. you silly prawn or the s.p.: coll.: from ca. 1905; slightly ob. It may date from ca. 1890, for in 1895 W. Pett Ridge, Minor Dialogues, has: 'Ah, I expect you're a saucy young prawn, Emma.'—2. See raw prawn.

prawn-headed mullet. A very stupid fellow: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (Nino Culotta, Gone Fishin', 1963.) Cf. stunned mullet.

prawnie, -y. A catcher or a seller of prawns: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1953.

pray. 'No use to protest. To squeal, or to pray as they called it, might mean worse' (James Barlow, The Burden of Proof, 1968): raffish London, esp. teenage addicts': since ca. 1960.

pray backwards. See prayers backwards.

pray with knees upwards. (Of women) to coit: low: 1785, Grose.

prayer-bones. The knees: low coll.: mid-C.19–early 20.

prayer-book. A small holystone: nautical s. >, ca. 1870, nautical coll. (ob.): 1840, Dana, 'Smaller hand-stones... prayer-books... are used to scrub in among the crevices and narrow places, where the large holystone [see bible] will not go.'—2. See Post Office Prayer-Book.—3. (Also the sportsman's prayer-book.) Ruff's Guide to the Turf: sporting: mid-C.19–20. (Ware.) The Guide dates from 1842.

prayer-book parade. 'A promenade in fashionable places of resort, after morning service on Sundays' (F. & H.): ca. 1880–1920. Cf. church-parade, q.v.

prayers. In morning, or family, prayers, a daily Staff Conference at HQ: Army: WW2. (E.P.) The morning prayers form was still in use at GHQ Hong Kong, in the later 1960s (P.B.).—2. In say (usu. as vbl n. saying) prayers, to scrub the decks: RN: later C.19–20. Goodenough, 1901.—3. In say prayers, (of horses) to stumble: sporting: C.19–early 20. Cf. devotional habits.—4. In at her last prayers, (adj. applied to) an old maid: late C.17–mid-19. (Ray; Grose.) Cf. apes in hell.—5. In know more than (one's) prayers, not to be as innocent as one seems: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (Wilkes.) See priest, 3.

prayers backwards, say. To blaspheme; to curse: coll.: late C.17–early 19. Ray's Proverbs; Ned Ward, 1706, 'They pray... backwards'; Nathan Bailey's Erasmus, 1725.

praying-mantis. 'A tail landing, whether accidental or intentional if the undercarriage fails to work' (H. & P.): RAF: since ca. 1930. Ex that insect, Mantis religiosa, which holds its forelegs in a position suggestive of prayer (OED).

pre. A prefect: Public-Schoolboys': late C.19–20. (Collinson.) Also prae, q.v.—2. A president of college: Oxford undergraduates': from ca. 1880.

pre-fab. A pre-fabricated house: 1945+; by 1947, coll. P.B.: these cosy little 'instant dwellings' were a stop-gap measure to counter the housing shortage caused by WW2. A few are still in use, 1983. The term was enshrined in a chant, orig. in Charley Chester's radio comedy series 'Stand Easy': 'Down in the jungle, living in a tent: better than a pre-fab—no rent!' Very popular among children, later 1940s.

Pre Sci (pron. sky). Preliminary science examination, University of London: (mostly students') coll.: late C.19–20.

preach, n. An act of preaching; a sermon; a discourse; tediously moral talk (cf. pi-jaw, q.v.): C.16–20. Mrs Whitney, 1870, 'I preached a little preach' (OED). Slightly ob. P.B.: still in use early 1980s in church circles in, e.g., do a preach, to preach a sermon.

preach at Tyburn Cross. To be hanged: c. or low s.: ca. 1810–60. Cf. Tower Hill, q.v. preachification. Vbl n. of next: coll.: 1843 (Lockhart: OED). Cf. preach, q.v.

preachify. To deliver a (tedious) sermon; moralise wearisomely: coll.: 1775 (S. J. Pratt: OED).

preachifying. Tedious moralising: coll.: 1828 (OED). Ex preachify. Cf. preachification.

preachiness. The being preachy, q.v.: coll.: 1861 (OED). Cf. prec.

preaching-shop. A church; more gen., a chapel: coll.: from ca. 1840. (Thackeray.) Pej. on preaching-house (1760), Wesley's name for a Methodist Chapel. OED.

preachy. Given to preaching; as if, as in, a sermon: coll.: 1819, Miss Mitford, 'He was a very good man ... though preachy and prosy' (OED). Whence:

preachy-preachy. Tediously moral or moralising: coll.: 1894, George Moore, 'I don't 'old with all them preachy-preachy brethren says about the theatre.'

precious. Egregious; arrant; (pejoratively) thorough; occ. an almost meaningless intensive: coll.: late M.E.—C.20. Lydgate; Jonson, 1605, 'Your worship is a precious ass'; Darwin, 1836. OED.

precious, adv. Exceedingly; very: coll. Moe cites an early occurrence in L.L.G., 6 Sep. 1823. Baumann, however, implies its use as early as the 1740s. Ex the adj. Cf. precious few. precious coals! A coll. expletive: ca. 1570–1620. (Gascoigne.) Prob. ex precious! = precious blood or body, recorded by the OED in 1560.

precious few. Very few: coll.: 1839 (OED). Ex precious, adv. It was perhaps adopted ex US. It occurs in, e.g., The Port Folio, 29 May 1802, p. 161, 'That we (precious few) who sometimes can think.' Contrast 'The skipper tucks in a precious lot of good things [victuals] under his belt' (W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book (II, 107), 1826: Moe).

preciously. Exceedingly; very: coll.: 1607, Middleton; Thackeray. (OED). Cf. precious, adv.

predeceased. Obvious: ca. 1890–1915; orig. legal. (Ware.) Perhaps ex Queen Anne's dead.

preemie. See premie.

preempt. A preemptive right: Aus. coll.: 1890 (Rolf Boldwood: Morris); ob. by 1930.

pref. A prefect: Scottish Public Schools': since ca. 1870. (Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.) Cf. prae and pre.

prefab. See pre-fab.

prefer room to company, as in 'She prefers my room to my company' and a hint, 'I prefer your room to your company': virtually a c.p.: late C.19–20.

preference. A choice; e.g. 'Of the two authors, X is my preference': coll.: from ca. 1890. By 1935, virtually S.E.

preggers. Pregnant: Oxford and Cambridge graduates': since ca. 1920. By male insensitivity out of Alma Mater tribalism. Cf. the next two.

preg(g)o. Pregnant: Aus.: since the 1920s. (Cusack & James, Come in Spinner, 1951.) The ubiquitous Aus. suffix -o.

preggy. Pregnant; hence, bulging; upper and upper-middle classes': since early 1920s. Ngaio Marsh, Death in a White Tie, 1938, 'There was your bag, simply preggy with bank-notes, lying there on the writing-table.'

Pregnant Duck. A Hudson bomber aircraft: RAF: 1940–4. Ex appearance. (Communicated by S/Ldr John Pudney.)

pregnant nun. See in more strife than ...

pregnant scholar. See TAVERN TERMS, §3b, in Appendix.

prejaganint. (Too) thrustful, interfering; having the unfortunate knack of being always in the way: NZ: from ca. 1912. Perhaps a corruption of prejudiced.

prelim. A preliminary examination: students': from ca. 1883.—2. In pl., the pre-text pages of a book, i.e. title-pages, preface, contents-page and, when there is one, the dedication: printers' and publishers': C.20. Abbr. preliminaries. —3. A preliminary practice or match: sporting: C.20. OED Sup.

Prels. Preludin: see DRUGS, in Appendix.

premie (pron. premmie). A prematurely born child: Can. and Aus. medical world: since ca. 1925. (Leechman; B.P.) By 1930, and sometimes pron. preemie, common also among Brit. doctors and nurses.—2. A premature sexual ejaculation, and one subject to it: adopted, mid-1960s, ex US. Hollander.

premisses. The female pudend: low: C.19–20. Cf. lodgings to let.

prems. Premises (of property): trivial: from ca. 1890; ob. Pugh (2), 'E keeps no end o' bullion on the prems.'

preme. A preamunire (= a predicament): coll. abbr.: ca. 1755–1800. Mrs Lennox, 1758 (OED).

prep. n. Preparation of lessons; the period of such preparation: school s. > coll.: 1862 (OED). R. Kipling, Stalky & Co., 1899, has a chapter titled 'A Little Prep.'—2. Abbr. of prep. school: school s.: from 1900 at latest. Collinson.

prep. v. To prepare (a person; a limb, etc.) for operation: hospitals': C.20. Josephine Bell, Murder in Hospital, 1937, 'Macdonald started to prep him' and 'She had finished prepping the leg'.

prep. school. A preparatory school: school s.: 1899 (OED Sup.), but prob. earlier.

preppy. Typical of the manners and attitudes of a [N. American] preparatory school boy' (W. & F., 1975, sup.): some borrowing in Brit., as in 'The Exploited [a pop group], who make Robert de Niro in Taxi Driver look preppy' (Steve Bradshaw, Listener, 12 Nov. 1981).

Presbo. A Presbyterian: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1953.

Prescott. A waistcoat: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Gen. Charley Prescott.

present. A white spot on a finger-nail: coll.: C.19–20; slightly ob. Suggested by S.E. gift in the same sense. The white spot has a different meaning for each nail. Starting with the thumb the verse runs—'A gift, a friend, a foe; a letter to come, and a journey to go.'

present for a good girl. Joc.; sometimes with sexual innuendo; coll.: C.20.

presenterer. A whore: low coll.: ca. 1820–70. (F. & H.) A presenter of herself.

preserve (of long bills). A collection of outstanding debts: Oxford University: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

presh. Pressure (q.v.): police and c.: later C.20. Dan Kavanagh, Duffy, 1980.

press. See hot press.

press and scratch. A (safety-)match: rhyming s.: C.19. Var. of cuts and scratches. Franklyn 2nd.

Press Button. A Presbyterian: Aus., mostly Catholic: C.20. Cf. Pressed Beef.

press on regardless; press-on type. 'I must press on, regardless' = I have urgent work to do, I must finish this job. Ex lit, press on, to continue one's way towards the objective, despite damage or injury. Hence, press-on type, an energetic or very conscientious fellow: 1941+; often derisive. (Communicated by S/Ldr Vernon Noble, 1945.) '... the striking thing is how many [of the Battle of Britain pilots] have made good. "And why not?" says Douglas Bader. "They were all press-on chaps"' (Sunday Telegraph mag., 9 Sep. 1979). See DCpp.

press the button. To be the person to make a definite and/or important beginning; coll.:—1931 (Lyell).

press the flesh! Shake hands!: a c.p. from ca. 1910. A.E.W. Mason, The Sapphire, 1933. press the panic button. To panic: Aus.: since ca. 1960. (B.P., 1969.) A pun on S.E. press the alarm.

Pressed Beef. A Presbyterian: since ca. 1950. It occurred in, e.g., Lucky Jim, on TV, 6 June 1967 (Petch, 1969). Cf. Press Button.

pressed off, ppl adj. Finished: tailors' coll.: late C.19–20.—2. Hence, asleep: tailors' s.: C.20.

Pressie, adj. and n. (A) Presbyterian: Aus.: C.20. Colin MacInnes, June in her Spring, 1952.—2. (Usu. pron. prezzy.) A present: trivial coll.: later C.20, gen.; perhaps earlier, Aus. and Merseyside. Cf. cozzie. (P.B.) 'Presents so potty that another word has to be found for them. They are not presents but "prezzies". Prezzies are fun presents. Nobody is supposed to take them seriously' (New Society, 23 Dec. 1982, p.491).

pressing engagement. An appointment with a girl: joc. coll.: C.20. With pun on pressing.

pressure. Police investigation; police interrogation: Aus. c.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) Ex put pressure on. See pressh.

Preston Guild (or Guild), every. Rarely: Lancashire coll.: late C.19–20. It is held only every twenty years.

presumptious. Presumptuous: sol.: late C.19–20; C.15–18, S.E.; ca. 1810–70, coll.

pretend you're a bee – and buzz! A dismissive c.p.: Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.) Cf. buzz, v., 5.

preterite, n. and adj. (A) very old (person): Society: ca. 1870–1900. Ware, 'Especially applied to women'. Cf. B.C. and has been.

prettification. Rendering finically or cheaply pretty: coll.: from ca. 1855.

prettified, adj. (Made) pretty in a too-dainty or in a cheap way: coll.: from ca. 1851. Ex:

prettify. To make pretty, esp. if cheaply or pettily: to represent prettily: coll.: 1850, Mrs Trollope, 'Your money to prettify your house' (OED).

prettifying. Vbl n. of prettify, q.v.: coll.: C.20. Cf. prettification.

pretty, n. A pretty girl, a 'lovely': since ca. 1935. Ex: A domestic term of address to a girl child or adolescent, whether pretty or not: coll.: late C.19–20.—2. As the pretty, the fairway: golfers' coll.: 1907 (OED Sup.).—3. In do the pretty, see pretty, adv., 2.

pretty. This S.E. adj. has, since ca. 1850, had a slightly coll. tinge.—2. The adv. (C.16–20) has been almost coll. since ca. 1890: i.e. in sense of 'rather', 'considerably'. Contrast:

pretty, adv. Prettily: 1667 (OED): S.E. until C.19, then coll.; in C.20, low coll.—2. In speak, or talk pretty, to affect amiability or courtesy in action or speech: low coll.: from ca. 1890. J. Newman, Scampering Tricks, 1891, 'We can talk pretty to each other.' Also do the pretty.—3. See sit pretty.

pretty as paint, as. Very pretty: coll.: 1922, E.V. Lucas, 'She's as pretty as paint' (Apperson). Because like a painting. Cf. oil-painting and picture, qq.v.

pretty-behaved. Prettily behaved: coll.: late C.18–20. Cf. pretty-spoken.

pretty (-) boy. 'An effeminate young man' (B., 1942); Aus. and low Brit. coll.: C.20.

pretty-boy clip. Hair brought flat down over the forehead, and cut in a straight line from ear to ear: Society: ca. 1880–1900. Ware.

pretty dancers, the. The Aurora Borealis: Scots coll.: C.19–20. Cf. merry dancers.

pretty-face. The whip-tail kangaroo: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1885. Morris; Jean Devanney, Travels in North Queensland, 1951.—2. See not just a pretty face.

pretty Fanny's way, only. Characteristic: c.p. (in C.19, a proverb) on only her (his) way: ca. 1720–1900. Ex Parnell, ca. 1718, 'And all that's madly wild, or oddly gay, / We call it only pretty Fanny's way' (OED).

pretty much. Almost; to a large extent: coll.: since ca. 1860. E. Charles Vivian, Tramp's Evidence, 1937, 'Crandon'—a small country town—'goes to bed with the dickey-birds, pretty much'.

pretty-perch. A very neat landing: RAF:—1932. Opp. a thumped-in landing. Cf. grease her on.

pretty please. An intensification of 'please', often as a rather wheedling request, 'Will you do it—pretty please?': domestic: C.20. (P.B.)

[pretty-pretties, pretty things, knick-knacks, 1875, and pretty-pretty, rather too, or prettily pretty, 1897, are given by OED as S.E.: but orig. they were almost certainly coll.]

pretty-pretty. 'Ornamental work on ship-board': nautical coll.: from ca. 1880. (Bowen.) Ex prec.

Pretty Royal. HMS Princess Royal: RN: C.20. Bowen.

pretty-spoken. Speaking prettily: coll.: 1809 (Malkin). Cf. pretty-behaved (12 years earlier).

pretty up. To 'make a mess of', to disfigure: Aus.: since ca. 1920. D'Arcy Niland, The Big Smoke, 1959, 'I'll pretty up your face, boy.'

prettyish. Rather pretty: coll.: 1741, Horace Walpole, 'There was Churchill's daughter, who is prettyish and dances well' (OED).

prevail against Gath. To deal the Philistines (the uncultured) a rousing blow: coll., verging on S.E.: mid-C.19—early 20. Cf. mighty in Gath.

preventive, n. A preventive officer: nautical: 1870 (EDD).

previous, n. A previous conviction; collectively, previous convictions: police coll.: since ca. 1930. G.F. Newman, Sir, You Bastard, 1970.

previous; gen. too previous. Premature; hasty: s. >, ca. 1895, coll.: 1885, Daily Telegraph, 14 Dec., 'He is a little before his time, a trifle previous, as the Americans say, but so are all geniuses.' Whence:

previousness. The coming too soon or being premature, hasty: coll: adopted, ex US, ca. 1890. Ex prec.

prey. Money: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Ex S.E. sense.

prezzie. See Pressie, 2.

price. In have a price, to have a chance: sporting: since ca. 1960. "'Rendall ran and never had a price'" (News commentary on a cricket match, 29 July 1977). Ex the turf, where, if a horse in a race is not quoted in the odds, the bookmakers think that it either won't run or, if it does, stands not the remotest chance of getting a place, 1, 2, 3 or even 4' (D.B. Gardner, 1977).—2. See what price —?

price of pint, the. A sum sufficient to buy a pint of ale or beer: coll.: late C.19–20.

price of Admiralty. Mostly pay the . . . to be killed at sea: RN officers' sarcastic euph.: C.20. (Granville.) 'The source of this is "A Song of the English", one of the poems in Rudyard Kipling's The Seven Seas (1896). The line "If blood be the price of admiralty" is repeated cumulatively (an additional repetition in each succeeding verse), and produces an unintentionally hysterical effect that invites sarcasm from those who may be expected to pay it' (R.S., 1967).

priceless. (By itself, it=) ludicrous; extremely amusing. With n., egregious: e.g. 'priceless ass' (of a person): s. >, ca. 1935, coll.: from ca. 1906. 'Now a favourite schoolboy word' (W., 1920). Ex S.E. sense, 'invaluable'.

pric(e)y. High-priced: Aus. and NZ coll., app. since ca. 1910; Brit. since early 1940s. H. Drake-Brockman, Hot Gold, 1940; World's Press News, 31 Aug. 1944.

prick. A pimple: coll.: C.17–18. Jonson, Marston, et al., in Eastward Hol, III, ii, 'I have seen a little prick no bigger than a pin's head . . . swell to an ancome,' i.e. a boil or ulcer; this is a quibble on sense 3.—2. An endearment: late C.16–17. (Cf. pillcock, 2.) Ex:—3. The penis: 1592 (OED): S.E. until ca. 1700; in C.18–20, a vulg. verging, in C.20, on low coll. (Shakespeare; Robertson of Struan, Hanbury Williams, Burns.) Ex basic sense, anything that pricks or pierces. Cf. cock, q.v. See esp. Grose, P., and Allen Walker Read, Lexical Evidence, 1935 (Paris; privately printed). (The var. prickle, dating from ca. 1550, has always been S.E.: in C.19–20, literary only.)—4. An offensive or contemptuous term (applied to men only), always with silly; gen. you silly prick, occ. the s.p.: low: late C.19–20. Since ca. 1940, usage has decreed that whereas you silly prick need be neither contemptuous nor even derogatory, you prick is both—and, indeed, very offensive. This sense-shift applies in N. America as well as in Britain.—5. A pin: tramps' and beggars' c.:—1933.—6. 'Perique: Issue tobacco wrapped in canvas and lashed with spun yarn into a cylindrical shape tapered to a point' (Granville): RN: since ca. 1890.—7. A drugged, esp. a marijuana, cigarette: c., merging, esp. among teenagers, into drug addicts' s., notably in London: since ca. 1970. Phallic imagery.—8. See standing about like a spare prick; standing prig has no conscience.

prick a louse. To be a tailor: coll.: C.17–mid-19. Hence louse-pricking, vbl n., tailoring, also as adj.: C.18–mid-19, e.g. in Toldervy (OED). See prick-louse.

prick-ear or -ears; or with capitals. A Roundhead: a coll. nickname: 1642; † by 1690. Though influenced by prick-eared (or -lugged), q.v., prick-ear derives mainly ex the fact that the Puritan head-gear was a black skull-cap, drawn down tight, leaving ears exposed' (F. & H.), or, as B.E. defines prick-eared fellow, 'a Crop, whose Ears are longer than his Hair'.

prick-eared, adj. Roundhead: ca. 1640–1700: coll. verging on S.E. Cf. prec.

prick-farrier. A medical officer: RAF: late 1920s–(?) late 1940s. Cf. prick-smith and fang-farrier.

prick for a (soft) plank. 'To find the most comfortable place for a sleep' (Bowen): Anglo-Irish and nautical: C.19–early 20. 'A Real Paddy', Life in Ireland, 1822; Bowen.

prick(-in)-the-garter; also prick(-in)-the-loop. A fraudulent game, in which pricking with a bodkin into the loop of a belt figures largely: C.19. In C.17–18 called prick(-in)-the-belt; in C.18 s., the old nob. Orig. coll., but almost imm. S.E.—2. In play at prick-the-garter, to copulate: low: C.18–19.

prick like a donkey. See hunk like a jack donkey.

prick-louse; occ., as in Burns, prick-the-louse. (Also nip-louse.) A tailor: coll.: C.16–20; in C.19–20, mainly dial. Dunbar, L'Estrange. (OED.) See also prick a louse.

prick-parade. A VD inspection: Services' coll.: C.20.

prick(-)smith. Medical officer: army: 1939+. Ex the venereal inspection he administers.

prick teaser (occ. tease). 'A woman who pretends an interest in sexual affairs, but deliberately does not "follow through"'. Often used as an insult to such a woman, or a gross insult to a completely innocent and virtuous woman who has caused annoyance, when both words and not the abbreviation [see p.t., 3] would be used' (Powis): low: since late C.19. Cf. earlier synon. cock-chaffer, q.v.

prick-the-garter. See prick-in-the...

prick the louse. See prick-louse.

prick-parade. A VD inspection: Services' coll.: C.20.

prick(-)smith. Medical officer: army: 1939+. Ex the venereal inspection he administers.

prick teaser (occ. tease). 'A woman who pretends an interest in sexual affairs, but deliberately does not "follow through"'. Often used as an insult to such a woman, or a gross insult to a completely innocent and virtuous woman who has caused annoyance, when both words and not the abbreviation [see p.t., 3] would be used' (Powis): low: since late C.19. Cf. earlier synon. cock-chaffer, q.v.

prick-the-garter. See prick-in-the...

prick the louse. See prick-louse.

pricked, with its ears. (Of a horse winning) easily: race-course coll.:—1932 (Slang, p. 243).

pricker. In get the pricker with (someone), to take a dislike to: NZ: since ca. 1930. Slatter, 'Got the pricker with me'. Prob.

NZ: since ca. 1930. Slatter, 'Got the pricker with me'. Prob. cf. get the needle, to get annoyed (P.B.).—2. As chief pricker, a chief stoker: RN: since ca. 1910. Granville.

pricket. A sham bidder: auctioneers': C.19–early 20. Cf. putter-up.

prickly Moses. The mimosa: Aus. bushmen's:—1887 (Morris).

pride-and-pockets. Officers on half-pay: coll.: ca. 1890–1915. P.H. Emerson, 1893.

pride of the morning. A morning erection due to retention of urine: late C.19–20 (low) coll. Also morning-pride. Perhaps suggested by the S.E. and dial. p. of the m., an early morning shower of rain. Cf. piss-proud.

pridgeman. See prigman.

priest. In a great priest, an ineffectual but strong desire to stool: Scots coll.: C.18–19. P.B.: could there be a connection with Martin Luther's constipation?—2. In let the priest say grace, (v.i.) to marry: coll.: C.17–18. Hence, priest-linked, joined in matrimony: late C.17–early 19. B.E.; Grose.—3. In know more than the priest spoke on Sunday, to be worldly-wise: coll.: C.15–20; in C.19–20, mostly dial. (Bale, ca. 1540: Apperson.) See prayers, 5.

priest of the blue bag. A barrister: coll.: from ca. 1845; ob. Kingsley, 1849, 'As practised in every law quibble... as if he had been a regularly ordained priest of the blue bag'. Cf. green bag.

priestess. A priest's wife: coll.: 1709 (Mrs Manley: OED).

prig; in C.16–18, often prigg, n. A tinker: c.: 1567; † by 1690. (Harman.) Perhaps ex dial. prig, v.i., to haggle about the price; prob., however, connected closely with:—2. A thief: 1610 (Rowlands): c. >, ca. 1750, low s. In C.19–20, gen. a petty thief. Ex prig, v., 1.—3. Hence, a cheat: late C.17–early 19: c. >, ca. 1750, s. B.E., Grose.—4. A fop, coxcomb: late C.17–early 19. B.E., 'A Nice beaush, silly Fellow, is called a meer Prig'; Grose, 'a conceited coxcomical [sic] fellow'.—5. Hence, a vague pej. (dislike, contempt): coll.: late C.17–18. Shadwell, 1679, 'A senseless, noisier Prig' (OED).—6. A religious precisian, esp. a dissenting minister: coll.: late C.17–mid-18. (OED: Facetious Tom Brown, Arthur Murphy.) 'Perhaps partly a violent shortening of precisian' (W.).—7. Hence, a precisian in manners, a purist in speech, esp. if conceited, didactic, or tedious: coll. >, in C.19, S.E.: 1753, Smollett (OED); George Eliot, in Middlemarch, 'A prig is a fellow who is always making you a present of his opinions'.—8. See prince prig; prigging-law.

prig, prigg (as for n.), v. To steal: 1561 (Awdelay); Harman: c. >, in C.19, low s. In C.19–20, gen. applied to petty theft. ? a corruption (cf. that in sense 4) of † prick, to pin, to skewer.—2. Hence, to cheat, to swindle: low s.: 1819, Sporting Magazine, '[He] shook hands with me, and trusted I should soon prig the London cocknies' (OED).—3. V.i., to beg, importune: 1714 (Woodrow; G. Douglas, 1901: OED): coll. and dial. Prob. ex prig, to haggle.—4. To ride: 1567 (Harman); B.E. and Grose at prigging: c. and dial.; † by 1850. Cognate with S.E. prick, as in Spenser's 'A gentle Knight was pricking on the plaine'.—5. Hence, v.i., to coit: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose: at prigging.

prig and buzz, n. and v.: picking of pockets: resp. 1789, G. Parker (p. and b., work upon the), ob.; C.19–20, ob. Both, c. See buzz and prig, n., 2, and v., 1.

prig-man. See prigman.

prig-napper. A thief-taker: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. A horse-stealer: c.: mid-C.17–mid-18. (Coles, 1676.) This sense leads one to posit an unrecorded prig, n., a horse, ex prig, v., 4.

prig-star. A rival in love: c.: mid C.17–18. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Ex prig, n., 2, or prig, v., 1. Obviously, star may = -ster.—2. Cf. prigster, 1 and 2.

prigg. See prig, n. and v.

prigger. A thief: c. >, in C.19, low s.: 1561 (Awdelay); B.E. E.g. p. of cacklers, prancers, a poultry-, horse-thief. Ex prig, v., 1. (In C.16, often priggar).—2. A highwayman: C.17 c. Ex prig, to ride; prigger also meaning any rider: c. (or low s.) and dial.—3. Hence, a fornicator: c. (? > low s.): C. (? 18–)19. (Bee, 1823.) Ex prig, v., 5. Cf. parish-prig.

priggery. Thievery; petty theft: c.: C.18—early 19. (Fielding, 1743.) Cf. priggism, q.v.

prigging, vbl n. to prig, v., q.v.: e.g. B.E., 'Riding; also Lying with a Woman'; Greene, 1591, 'This base villany of Prigging, or horse-stealing'. From ca. 1820, mostly of petty theft; and, as such, low s. prigging, adj. Thieving; thievish: from ca. 1567: c. >, in early C.18, low s. Ex prig, v., 1.

prigging law, lay. Theft; esp. pilfering: c.: resp. late C.16–17 and C.19–20; ob. Greene; Maginn, 1829, 'Doing a bit on the prigging lay' (Prob., despite a lack of examples, the law form endured till ca. 1750, when—again prob.—the other arose: see law and lay.) Ex prig, v., 1. Hence, work on the prig, or prigging-lay, to thieve: C.19—early 20.

priggish. Thievish; dishonest: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.) Ex prig, n., 1.

priggism. Thieving: (c. or) low s.: C.18. Fielding, 1743, 'The great antiquity of priggism'.

prigman; occ. prig-man. A thief: c. of ca. 1560–1600. Awdeley (pryngman); Drant, 1567 (pridgeman). Ex prig, n., 1, or, more prob., v., 1. OED.

prigster. A thief: c. >, by 1840, low s.: C.19. Ex prig, v., 1.—2. A vague pej.: 1688 (Shadwell); + by 1750. Ex prig, n., 6, in same sense.—3. See prig-star, 2: B.E. and Grose both spell without hyphen: prigstar.

prim. 'A silly empty starch Fellow' (B.E.): late C.17–19: low s. >, by 1750, coll. and dial. Ex both the adj. and the v.—2. (Prim.) A Primitive Methodist: Nonconformists': late C.19–20.

Prime, the. The Prime Minister: from ca. 1919. John Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 1924, 'Didn't he think that the cubic called "Still Life—of the Government", too frightfully funny—especially the "old bear" representing the Prime?' prime as a universal approbative adj. ca. 1810–40 is a coll. almost s. Vaux; Bee; Egan's Grose.

prime, adv. Excellently; in prime order: coll.: 1648, Gage, 'Prime good'; C. Scott, Sheep-Farming, 'The hoggets will be prime fat by Christmas.' OED.

prime kelter, in. (Of a ship, esp. her rigging) in excellent condition: nautical coll.: C.19–20. Bowen.

primitive. Unmixed; undiluted: society s. of ca. 1890–1910.

primrose. 'A beverage composed of old and bitter ale mixed': West Yorkshire s. (—1905), not dial.; slightly ob. EDD Sup.

primo. The chairman, or master, of a Buffalo lodge: friendly societies': from ca. 1880: coll. > in C.20, j. Ex L. primus, the first.

Prin, the. 'The old Princess Theatre, Melbourne' (B., 1942): Aus.: ca. 1890–1920.

prinado. A sharper, prob. female: c. of ca. 1620–60. Dekker; Brathwait, Clitus's Whimzies, 1631, 'His Nippes, Ints, Bungs, and Prinado's... ofttimes prevent the Lawyer by diving too deep into his Client's pocket.' Origin obscure: the OED hazards Sp. preñada, pregnant; unmarried pregnant women of the lower classes used to tend to become criminals.

Prince Alberts. 'Burlap wound round the feet when a man's socks are worn out': sailing-ships': from ca. 1860; ob. Bowen.—2. Hence, rags worn by swagmen and bushmen in the same way: Aus.: from ca. 1860. 'Tom Collins', Such is Life, 1903, 'Unlapping from his feet the inexpensive substitute for socks known as "prince alberts".' Cf. S.E. albert, a watch-chain: these rags are rolled about the feet.—3. Roughly made lace-up boots: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1943.) Ex sense 2.

Prince Alfreds. A post-1890 var. of prec., 2 and 3: Aus.: Baker.

Prince of Wales. A locomotive's blowing-off of steam: railwaymen's: since ca. 1920. (Railway.) Perhaps rhyming s. on gales (of wind), unless it refers to King Edward VIII's refreshing outspokenness post-WWI, while, of course, he was still the Prince of Wales. P.B.: or perhaps a ref. to Prince of Wales's feathers = plumes of smoke; ob. with the demise of steam-power on the railways.

prince prig. C. of late C.17—early 19: B.E., 'A King of the Gypsies; also a Top-thief, or Receiver General', i.e. a notable (or important) thief, or a very important 'fence'. Ex prig, n., 2. Princely Hong, the. The most significant and prestigious foreign firm on the [China] coast—Jardine Matheson, the "Princely Hong" (Enid Saunders, The Breach in the Wall: a Memoir of Old China, 1973). Hong (Cantonese pron.) = business, firm; 'Jardines' was founded in Canton in the late 1830s. The sobriquet is now trad. (P.B.)

Prince's points. 'Shilling points at whist': Society and clubmen's coll.: 1877–1901. HRH (afterwards King Edward VII) argued that 'the best whist-players were not necessarily the richest of men' (Ware).

princess holding a navy's cock. In 'Go on, get a grip of it, man—you're like a princess...', a drill instructors' c.p., applied to a soldier not grasping his rifle firmly: army, esp. Purbright Camp (The Guards); 1950s–60s. (R. F. Pearsall of Marton, 1980.)

princess of the pavement. A prostitute: Aus.: C.20. Baker.

Princess Pats, the. Princess Patricia's Regiment: Can. army: WWI, and after. (F. & G., at colours.) Also Pat's Pets and simply Pats: witness Jack Munroe, Mopping Upl, 1918.

Principal Secretary. See TAVERN TERMS, §5, in Appendix.

principe. See WESTMINSTER, in Appendix.

princecock, -cox. The female pudend: low coll. C.16—mid-19. Ex S.E. sense.

princod. 'A round, plump' person, Grose, 1st ed.: Scots coll.: ca. 1780–1860. Ex S.E. sense, a pincushion. (Possibly, however, it never emerged from dial.)

princum. Nicety of dress, fastidiousness of behaviour: coll.: late C.17–18. (D'Urfev, 1690.) A mock-Latin perversion of prink, q.v. (OED.) Cf.:

princum-prancum. See prinkum-prankum.

Princum Prancum, Mistress (B.E.) or Mrs (Grose, 1st ed.). A fastidious, precise, formal woman: coll.: late C.17—early 19. See prinkum-prankum, stressing prink rather than prank.

prink, n. An act of making (gen. oneself) spruce: coll.: 1895 (OED). Ex the v.—2. The Prink is the Principal, esp. of a women's college: girl undergraduates' and trainee teachers': since ca. 1905. Also Prinny.

prink, v.t. To make spruce; in reflexive, to dress oneself up: coll.: 1576, Gascoigne, 'Now I stand prinking me in the glasse' (OED). The v.i., in the reflexive sense, is also coll.: C.18–20 (D'Urfev); in C.19–20, much the more gen. Cognate with equivalent prank.

prinked. The ppl adj. of prink, v.t., and = 'all dressed up'. Coll.: 1579 (North: OED).

prinker. A very fastidious dresser of self: coll.: from ca. 1860. Webster, 1864. Cf.:

prinking. A fastidious adorning, mostly of oneself: coll.: 1699 (Farquhar: OED). See prink, v.

prinkle, esp. prinkled. To sprinkle; sprinkled: children's sol.: since when? Manchon. (But I believe Manchon's 'prinkled in all her finery, en grande toilette' is simply an error or, more prob., a misprint for prinked...)

prinkum-prankum. A prank: coll.: late C.16–17. (Nashe.) A reduplication on prank with um (see princum) added to each element. OED.—2. (Mostly in pl.) Fine clothes; fastidious adornment: C.18—early 19: coll. Here the stress is laid on prink (see the v.) See also Princum Prancum, Mistress.

print, out of. See out of print.

printed character. A pawn-ticket: low s. (? > coll.): ca. 1860–1930.

Printing House Square, adj. 'Powerful—crushing, ex cathedra, from The Times being published in that locality': London clubmen's coll.: ca. 1810–80. Ware.

prior pike! See pike II prison. In the game of marbles, a hole placed farther from the taw-line than even third hole: Aus. children's: C.20. (B.P.)

prison-bug. A man that spends most of his time in prison: c. from ca. 1920.

Prisoner of War. See PRISONER-OF-WAR SLANG, in Appendix.

prissy. Effeminate: mostly women's: coll.: adopted, ca. 1943, ex US servicemen. (Monica Dickens, The Happy Prisoner, 1946.) Perhaps a blend of prim + sissy, as Mitford M. Mathews has suggested. Hence a noun, as in Vincent Adrian, End of a Summer's Day, 1958.—2. Prudish: mostly men's: Aus.: since ca. 1943. D'Arcy Niland, When the Cross Turns Over, 1958.

prissy-pants. 'Elderly or middle-aged citizens of bourgeois tastes; in contrast with the "blue jeans"' (R.S., adducing the Daily Telegraph, 9 June 1975, on the contemporary theatre): since ca. 1970.

prithoe. I pray thee; i.e. please!: coll.: 1577 (G. Harvey); †, except as an archaism, by 1880. Addison, 'Pr'ythee don't send us up any more Stories of a Cock and a Bull.' An abbr. corruption. OED.

priv. A privilege: Public Schools': late C.19–20. Marples. See also privs.—2. Privilege leave; the allowance of leave, excluding compassionate, sick, public holiday, and odd weekend leaves, as 'I got 7 days priv to come; they can't stop that—or can they?': Services': since ca. 1950. Cf. embark, q.v. (P.B.)

private business. Additional work done with a tutor: Eton College: late C.19–20.

private eye. A private detective: adopted, ca. 1944, ex US servicemen, with the late Raymond Chandler intervening. A pun on 'private investigator', with esp. ref. to the initial of the 2nd word.

private eye-ful. A pretty girl or woman employed by a detective agency. Since ca. 1961. A pun on eye-ful and the prec.

Private Leak. 'One whose position cannot be discovered': nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. up in Annie's room.

Private Muggins. A private soldier ignorant of army ways: army: WW1, and prob. earlier. (Petch, 1969.) See also muggins.

private navy. Any detached RN unit working far from the surveillance of the Commander-in-Chief: RN joc.: since ca. 1920.

private peace, (I think) I'll make a. See separate peace.

private property. The generative organ: low coll.: C.19–20. Suggested by privity (-ies), privates.—2. An engaged girl: joc. coll.: since ca. 1920.

Private Snoops. See Chad.

Private Tojo. A Japanese soldier: army in the Pacific and Indian Oceans 'theatre': 1942–5. Ex the war-mongering Japanese Premier. Tojo. P-G-R. privateer. A woman competing with prostitutes but not depending on prostitution for her whole livelihood: Society: ca. 1890–1914.

privee, n. A private one: Charterhouse: from ca. 1880. A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.

priver. A private school: Public Schools': earlier C.20. (Arnold Lunn, Loose Ends, 1919.) By the 'OXFORD -ER'.

privs. In have (one's) privs, to have 'the privilege to fag and "whop"' (Lunn). A late C.19–20 Harrow term. Also in the singular, as in Lunn: a privilege; a privileged person: 'You couldn't go into a room without finding some fag smoking. And so the privs got rather fed up. It was jolly bad for the House footer. So they made it a four-year priv.'

privy. A preparatory school: Marlborough College: late C.19–20. So many 'prep' schools are privately owned; cf. priver.

prize, adj. Egregious; esp. 'prize idiot': coll.: C.20. Ex S.E. sense, first-class.

prize faggots. 'Well-developed breasts in women': low London:—1909 (Ware). A faggot is a kind of rissole.

prize-packet. A novice that pays to play: theatrical: late C.19–20. Globe, 27 July 1899, 'Another man spent a happy holiday as ... a prize packet.' Punning S.E. prize-packet and, I suggest, surprise-packet.

924

prizer. A prize-winner: coll., somewhat rare: mid-C.19–20. OED Sup.

pro. A pro-actor: university (esp. Oxford): prob. since ca. 1750. It occurs in Gentleman's Magazine, May 1784 (p. 366), 'Made Beadles, Pro's, and Proctors trun'. (Moe.) Cf. the Eton nuance, 'provost': C.18–20. Spy, 1825.—2. An actor: theatrical:—1859 H., 1st ed., Intro.), i.e. one who belongs to the profession, i.e. acting. (N.B., the profession is rather j. than coll., though orig. it may possibly have been theatrical coll.)—3. Hence, any professional as opp. to an amateur: e.g. cricketer, 1867; journalist, 1886; golfer, 1887. Coll. OED.—4. Since WW1, esp. of a prostitute whose profession is body-vending; as opp. to a notoriously or very compliant 'amateur', esp. an 'amateur' that makes a little extra by sexual 'adventures'. P.B.: but also understood as a shortening of 'prostitute'.—5. A probationer (nurse): medical: late C.19–20.

pro bono publico – no bloody panico! For the public's sake, keep calm!: theatrical, C.20; RN, 1920s–40s. See DCpp.

pro-donna. An actress: music-halls': from ca. 1880; ob. (Ware.) Lit., professional lady.

pro-y. Professional; esp., of or like a professional prostitute: since ca. 1920. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937, 'I always think those rooms at Paddington make it seem so pro-y.' See pro, 4.

prob. A period of probation, esp. for a juvenile delinquent: since ca. 1930. Alfred Draper, Swansong for a Rare Bird, 1970. Cf. proby.—2. A problem: trivial abbr.: Services': later C.20.

"No probs," said the Para's [Parachute Regt] commanding officer' (McGowan & Hands, Don't Cry for Me, 1983, p.77).

proby. A probationer: Aus. prison warders': ca. 1820–90. Louis Becke, Old Convict Days, 1899.—2. A probation officer: police and social services': since ca. 1955. (Petch.)

processh. A procession: late C.19–20. (Never as v.; contrast:) process. To be part of, go along with a procession: coll.: 1814 (OED). Ex procession, on progress.

process-pusher. A lawyer's clerk: legal:—1909 (Ware). He serves writs.

procession, as applied to a race, esp. a boat-race (above all, one in which there are only two crews), implies 'an ignominious defeat' (Graphic, 24 Mar. 1883): in C.19, coll.; in C.20, S.E.—2. In go on with the procession!, continue!: coll.: late C.19–early 20. Displaced by on with the dance!, itself ob. by ca. 1935.

proclamations. See head is full of ...

proctor. See TAVERN TERMS, §5, in Appendix.

proctors' dog or bulldog. The orig. of bulldog, one of the University police: Oxford and Cambridge University: 1847, Tennyson in The Princess, 'He had climbed across the spikes ... / And ... breath'd the Proctor's dogs.' OED.

proctour, i.e. proctor. Awdelay, 1561, 'Proctour is he, that will tary long, and bring a lye, when his Maister sendeth him on his errand,' i.e. of the 12th of the 25 orders of knaves: c.: mid-C.16–early 17. Ex S.E. sense, one licensed to beg for a hospital.

prod, n. and v. (Of a man) the act of coition; to coit: C.19–20; low coll. Cf. poke.—2. A horse; esp. an old horse: from ca. 1890. A perversion of prad. OED.—3. A Protestant, as opp. to Catholic: C.20 var. of Prot. Cf. Proddo, -y.—4. In on the prod, ready to fight; in a fighting mood: Can. coll.: C.20. H. Dempsey, Bob Edwards, 1975, 'The old man was on the prod'.

As Dr Leechman explains, 1976, 'A battlesome cow is said to be "on the prod", i.e. ready to use her horns.'

Proddie, -y, adj. and n. Protestant: late (? mid-)C.19–20. Bill Naughton, One Small Boy, 1966. (L.A.) Cf. Prot, prod, 3, and:-

Prod(d)o. A Protestant: Aus. Catholics': C.20. (B.P.)

prodigious. Prodigiously; very greatly; very: from ca. 1670: S.E. until ca. 1750, then coll.; in late C.19–20, low coll.; ob. E. de Acton, 1804, 'A prodigious high hill' (OED). Cf.:

prodigiously. Exceedingly; very: coll.: C.18–20; ob. Swift, 1711, 'It snowed ... prodigiously' (OED).

produce, gen. in imperative. To pay over the money won: two-up players': C.20. Abbr. produce the money.

producer. 'A sucker with an outside source of income who produces the money for the gambler to win ... The difference between the producer and the gambler is this ... The gambler, when he's playing "on the muscle" [q.v.] and finds the luck running against him, will get up and quit, while the producer will stay in the game and lose his shirt' (Charles Drage, Two-Gun Cohen, 1954): Can. gamblers': early C.20.

production. See don't make a production of it.

productionous. Productive: book-world: C.20. Berta Ruck, A Story-Teller ..., 1935.

prof; often, in C.19, prof. A professor: US, 1838; anglicised ca. 1860. Thornton.

profess. Profession; esp. the p., the stage: (lower-class) actors': from ca. 1885. Pugh.

profession, the. See note at pro, 2.

professional. A 'professional examination' (medicine): Scottish universities', mostly medical students': C.20. OED.

professor. A professional: cricketers': C.20. Sir Home Gordon, The Background of Cricket, 1939.—2. An Education Officer: RAF (mostly officers)': since ca. 1938. Jackson.

prof, v. To profit (?): RN: since ca. 1930. John Winton, We Saw the Sea, 1960, 'Except in a Leap Year, of course, when I prof and get no work at all.' Christopher Hawke, in his novel For Campaign Service, 1979, about the RM in N. Ireland, early 1970s, defines the term as "To 'acquire'", cf. to win, organise, promote, etc. 'To acquire by less than legal means' (Robert Fox, Listener, 8 July 1982, p. 2, reporting on the recent Falkland Is. campaign): Parachute Regt.

profit, n. See all profit!

prog, n. Food in gen.: 1655, Fuller, 'The Abbot also every Saturday was to visit their beds, to see if they had not shuffled in some softer matter or purloined some progge for themselves'; Swift; Disraeli. Prob. ex corresponding v.—2. Hence, food for a journey, a picnic: coll.: 1813 (OED).

—3. A proctor (Oxford, Cambridge): undergraduates' s.: C.20. By perversion. Also progger and proggins. Cf. sense 1 of the v.—4. A programme: not very gen. coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

A term revived in later 1970s (Posy Simmonds, in Guardian, early 1979; Now!, 11 Apr. 1980).—5. A Percival Proctor training aircraft: RAF: 1943+. Ex sense 3. Partridge, 1945.—6. R. Kipling, Destroyers at Jutland, quotes a junior officer's letter to a friend soon after that great battle: 'Literally there were hundreds of progs (shells falling) all around us': RN: WW1. See prog.

prog, v.t. To proctorise: C.20 Oxford and Cambridge. Ex prog, n., 3.—2. To poke about for food; to forage: C.17–20: in C.17, (low) s.; C.18, s. > low coll.: C.19–20, mainly dial. Origin obscure.—3. To prognosticate: printers': from ca. 1870.

prog, adj. Progressive, as of schools or methods: since ca. 1950. R.C. Bengé, Libraries, 1969. (P.B.)

prog-basket. A provision-basket on journey or picnic: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Ex prog, n., 2.

progger. A beggar: late C.17–20: s. until ca. 1750; then coll. till ca. 1850; then dial. (OED.) Ex prog, v., 2.—2. (Also proggins. A proctor: C.20 Oxford, + 'OXFORD-ER'. Cambridge. Ex prog, v., 1.)

proggng, n. A proctorial discipline: Oxford, Cambridge: C.20. Ex prog, v., 1.—2. Foraging: mid-C.17–20: s. >, by 1700, coll.; ob. J. Chappelow, 1715, 'All their ... proggng is for themselves' (OED).

proggng, adj. Begging; foraging: from ca. 1620: s. >, by 1700, coll.; very ob. Ex prog, v., 2.

proggins. A proctor: universities: later C.19—earlier 20. B. & L.

proggy book. A picture scrap-book, which the owner invited—usu. for the fee of a marble or other small object—other children to prod with a pin: N. Country children's: late C.19–20; by 1950, slightly ob. Ex N. Country dial. prog, to prod.

proggy mat. A mat, or a rug, made from cloth-cuttings, with a 'progger' (a type of cutting instrument): N. Country coll.; late C.19–20.

prognostic. An artistic eater: literary, ca. 1900–10. I.e. prog, n., 1 + gnostic, one who knows; obviously with pun on S.E. prognostic.

proing, vbl n. Being a professional (esp. actor, showman, singer): coll.:—1887; slightly ob. by 1930. Baumann.

proj. A projectile (shell): RN: earlier C.20. Capt. Eric Bush, Gallipoli, 1975, quotes Lt Godfrey Crookshank's diary, 'All the Turkish "projs" burst on striking the water.' Therefore Kipling's synon. prog (see prog, 6) is phonetically misleading. In D. Bolster, Roll on My Twelve, 1945, is var. projjy, used of an anti-aircraft shell. (Quotations thanks to P.B.) Cf.—

projie. A projectile: R Aus. N.: since ca. 1930. B., 1943.

prole, n. Mostly proles, the proletariat: Aus. Labour: since ca. 1925. Cf. next. P.B.: the term has also had some joc. patronising, or sometimes pej., use among, e.g., Public Schoolboys of all ages, for members of the 'lower classes': 'He's a bit of a prole', he is noticeably uncouth in behaviour.

prole, v. To educate the proletariat to become conscious of themselves as Labour: proling, political speaking at street-corners: Aus. Labour: since ca. 1925. B., 1942.

prole, adj. Corresponding to Brit. sense of the n. Peter York, in Harpers & Queen, Oct. 1976.

proling. See prowl, 1. Spelling in B.E. and A New Canting Dict.

prom. A promenade, a place for promenading: coll., orig. (1899), US; anglicised by 1910. OED Sup.—2. A promenade concert: 1902, Free Lance, 4 Jan. 1902, 'There is never one of the programmes at the Proms ... unworthy of the ... most cultured music lover.' Cf. pop, prommer, and:

promenade. A promenade concert: coll., now verging on S.E.: 1901 (Westminster Gazette, 18 Sep.: OED). P.B.: Hence, in later C.20, promenader, a member of the audience at any of the Sir Henry Wood Promenade Concerts, as 'The promenaders are in great form here tonight' (BBC commentators at the series, later 1970s.).

promiscuous. Carelessly irregular; haphazard; casual: low coll.: 1837, Dickens; L. Oliphant, 1883. OED.—2. Casually; incidentally: 1885 (Grant Allen: OED). Cf. sense 2 of:

promiscuously. Unceremoniously; promptly: coll.: C.17. Rowlands, 1609 (OED).—2. Casually; incidentally: coll.: 1812. Leslie Stephen, 1871, 'The stone was dropped promiscuously' (OED).

promise, n. In on a promise, 'Awaiting a gift or personal services; sometimes used in anticipation of sexual favours to come' (Powis): c.: later C.20.—2. See threat or a promise?

promise. Declare; assert with assurance: coll.: mid-C.15–20. Esp. in I promise you, I assure you; I tell you confidently or plainly. OED.

promises, promises! A joc. or sarcastic c.p.; a soft answer turning away wrath, as in 'If this is a bum steer I'll bloodywell do you!'—'Nyah, promises, promises!': since ca. 1970. Prob. ex the complaint 'All I ever get is ...' Cf. Is that a threat or a promise? at threat (P.B.)

prommer. A member of the audience at the Henry Wood Promenade Concerts. James Loughran, in the conductor's traditional last-night-of-the-Proms speech, 11 Sep. 1982.

promo. A promotion: Charterhouse: from ca. 1880. (A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.) An unexpected, perhaps an undeserved promotion was, ca. 1890–1905, a Stedman. Also as v., to promote.

promoss. To talk rubbish; to play the fool: Aus.: ca. 1885–1910. ? Origin.

promote. To borrow, or to scrounge, something; loosely, to steal: Aus. army: WW2. (B., 1943.) Euph.: cf. organise and win. P.B.: its use is wider than E.P. allows here: US c. > gen s., since ca. 1915 (W. & F.); Brit. Services' since ca. 1950 at latest.

promoted. Dead: Oct.—Nov. 1890. Ex the public funeral of Mrs Booth, General Booth's wife, and Salvation Army j. Ware.

promoter. A fool-catcher: coll.: ca. 1880–1920. Ex company-promoter.

promotion. In be on (one's) promotion, to behave with marriage in view and mind: coll.: 1836 (OED); 1848, Thackeray, "Those filthy cigars," replied Mrs Rawdon. "I remember when you liked 'em, though", replied her husband... "That was when I was on my promotion, Goosey", she said." Ex on promotion, on approval or trial.—2. See haul-down promotion.

promotionitis. The symptoms displayed by officers potentially promotable: RN coll.: C.20. Bowen.

prompter. A member of the 2nd Form: Merchant Taylor's School: C.19–20 coll. > j.

Proms. See prom, 2.

prong, n. A table fork: waiters': from ca. 1880. (Anstey, Voices Populi, II, 1892.) See prongate.

prong, v. (Of a man) to congregate: a low euph., prong = prick, 3: later C.20. In his fine novel about the US Navy in Chinese waters, mid-1920s, The Sand Pebbles, 1962, Richard McKenna uses the term to represent fuck as a meaningless oath, 'Prong me!', etc.

prongs. The front forks on a motorcycle: motorcyclists': C.20. (Dunford.) Cf. prong.

pronounce judgment. See TAVERN TERMS, §4, in Appendix.

pronto. Promptly; quickly: coll.: adopted, esp. by Servicemen, ex US Services in 1918, and still current (in, e.g., Phantom). Bowen; F. & G. Ex Sp. pronto, promptly.

Prooshan, -in. (A) Prussian: low coll.: C.19. See quot'n at Prussian blue.

prop, n. See props, 2–4.—2. Any stage requisite; a portable article used in acting a play: theatrical: 1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Ex property. Gen. in pl: actor's props, acting material provided by himself; (manager's props, articles provided by the manager for stage use. Cf. props, n., 4.—3. A breast-pin; a tie-pin: c.: 1850, Dickens, 'In his shirt-front there's a beautiful diamond prop.' Perhaps ex prop, a support; more prob. ex Dutch prop. In C.20 c., also a lady's brooch (Manchon).—4. The leg: s. and dial. (1793); the arm extended: s. only: 1869. See props, 3. Hence partly.—5. A straight hit; a blow: pugilistic and low street: mid-late C.19. Sessions, Dec. 1856; Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, 2 Dec. 1887, 'Ned met each rush of his enemy with straight props.' Ex prop, v., 1.—6. The gallows: Punch and Judy s. verging on j.: from ca. 1860.—7. A proposition, as in geometry: schools': 1871 ('M. Legrand': OED). Ex abbr.—8. A propeller: aviators' coll.: from ca. 1915. B. & P.—9. Propaganda: journalists': 1939+.—10. The n. ex v., 3. 'The action of propping' (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: later C.19.—11. In put the prop on, to seize an opponent's arm and thus prevent him from hitting: pugilistic: ca. 1860–1920. Ex sense 4.

prop, v. To hit; knock down: pugilistic and low: 1851, Mayhew, 'If we met an "old bloke" ... we "propped him".' Perhaps by antiphrasis ex prop, to support, influenced by drop; but cf. prop, n., 5.—2. Only in prop and cop, a four-handed game in which one says I prop (I propose), and another I cop (accept):—1923 (Manchon); ob. by 1930.—3. 'To pull up [stop] unexpectedly [originally of a horse]' (Wilkes): Aus. coll. Wilkes's first quot'n is dated 1844; his first for things other than horses, 1959. P.B.: perhaps ex prop, n., 4: the picture of the horse with its forelegs extended rigid as props.

prop game, the. The gaining of useful information about, and access to, buildings, esp. to private houses, by posing as local government inspectors or as builders and later stealing from them: since ca. 1963. In 'Doctor Describes Widow's Injuries', an article in the Bournemouth Evening Echo of 20 Apr. 1966, a detective sergeant stated that 'the "prop game" appeared to be... unique to Leeds, something that has cropped up in the last two and a half years': cf. straight prop and bowler-hat boys, qq.v.

prop-naller. A stealer of pins or brooches: c.: 1856 (Mayhew). Ex prop, n., 3.

prop up. 'Originally and most commonly short for "proposition". Still used in that sense but also to suggest or arrange, particularly through a third person: "we must prop up a story over this"' (Powis): c.: C.20. Cf. proposition, v.

propaganda. Exaggerated talk; senseless rumours or information: military coll.: 1916–18. (F. & G.) Comment unnecessary.

propeller-guards. Ladies' stockings: nautical (officers'): C.20. (Bowen.) Punning the technical term + legs as propellers.

propensities. See musical.

proper. (Of things.) Excellent; admirable: from late M.E.: S.E. >, ca. 1850, coll. >, ca. 1890, low coll.—2. (Of persons.) Respectable; decorous: 1818 (Moore): somewhat, and increasingly, coll. OED.—3. Thorough; complete; perfect: C.14–20: S.E. till C.19, then dial. and coll. Miss Yonge, 'Old Markham seems in a proper taking' (OED). Cf. sense 1.—4. In make (one)self proper, to adorn oneself: low coll.: from ca. 1870. Cf. Fr. propre, clean, and sense 1.

proper, adv. Excellently; thoroughly; without subterfuge; handsomely: an intensive adv. = hard ('Hit him proper!'), very much: mid-C.15–20: S.E. until ca. 1820, then coll.; since ca. 1880, low coll.; since ca. 1920, almost a sol. Conan Doyle, 1898, "'Had 'em that time—had 'em proper!" said he' (OED).

proper article, the. Exactly what's needed; the real, or the best, thing: NZ coll.: since ca. 1910.

proper bastard (bugger, etc.). Something (or someone) thoroughly unpleasant, infuriating, exasperating; as, e.g., 'Honestly! It's a proper cow the way they can just...': low coll.: C.20. A somewhat specialised use of proper, adj., 3. (P.B.)

proper bit of frock. A 'pretty and clever well-dressed girl': London lower classes': ca. 1873–1910. Ware.

proper crowd (, one's). One's personal friends; the circle or clique to which one belongs: Aus. coll.: since 1920. B., 1942.

proper do. A very fine party or wedding-feast: working classes': since ca. 1910. See do, n., 3.

proper madam. See madam, 2.

properly. Admirably; handsomely; well: C.14–20: S.E. until C.19, then coll.; in C.20, low coll.—2. Thoroughly, perfectly; very: C.15–20: S.E. until ca. 1850, then coll. Daily News, 18 Mar. 1896, 'The accused said he got "properly drunk"' (OED).

proprs, adj. Rejected, refused: lower classes':—1909 (Ware implies an erotic connotation).

property. Any creative work; e.g. a book, play, song, not yet published: agents', book and music publishers', et hoc genus omne: coll. verging j., or vice versa: since ca. 1930.—2. See alter the property.

prophet. A sporting tipster: journalistic. Pall Mall Gazette, 3 May 1884 (OED); ob. by 1930.—2. As the Prophet, The Cock (tavern) at Temple Bar, London: 1788–ca. 1830: a London nickname. (Grose, 3rd ed.) Presumably because a cock announces the dawn.—3. See in the words... prophets, the. Those Australian squatters who went to Canterbury, NZ, in 1851: Aus. and NZ: ca. 1851–70. Baker.

propose, v.i. To offer marriage: coll.: 1764 (Gray in his poem 'The Candidate': OED).

proposition, n. A matter: C.20 coll. (orig. US); prob. soon to be S.E. 'That's quite a different proposition.' Ex the very closely allied S.E. (orig. US) sense, 'a problem, task, or undertaking... a person to be dealt with' (SOD). See, e.g., the Fowlers' King's English.—2. A tough proposition retains its US flavour.—3. See—proposition, v. To 'proposition' a girl is to suggest sexual intimacy: hence the n.—cf. the c.p., or virtual c.p., 'Is this a proposal or a proposition?': Can. (? ex US) since ca. 1940; Brit. and Aus. since ca. 1943. Cf. prop up.

propping. The encouragement of a junior by addressing her by her first name: Lady Margaret Hall, Oxford: since ca. 1918. (Marples, 2.) Ex S.E. prop, to support.

proppy. Like a prop or pole: coll., but rare: 1870 (OED).—2. '(Of horse) liable to prop [v., 3], unsound in forelegs' (Aus. POD): Aus. s.: C. 20.

propriet. To own: journalistic: 1887 (Referee, 31 July); ob. (Ware, at Pink 'un). Ex proprietor.

props. See prop, n., 2.—2. Crutches: late C.18–20. (Grose, 2nd ed.) I.e. things that support.—3. The arms; not, as Manchon defines it, fists: low: 1869, Temple Bar, vol. 26, 'Take off your coat and put up your props to him.' Cf. prop, v., 1. Prob. same semantics as for sense 2; cf. prop, n., 4.—4. (Also propster.) The property-man: theatrical: from ca. 1889. Cf. prop, n., 2.—5. (Or Props.) Shares in the Broken Hill Proprietary Company: Stock Exchange:—1895 (A. J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary).—6. In get one's props, to become a Leading Aircraftman: RAF: since ca. 1930. H. & P., 'The propeller-shaped badge worn on the sleeve.' See prop, n., 8.—7. See piss on (one's) props.

propster. See props, 4.

pros; occ. pross. A water-closet: Oxford and Cambridge University:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.). Abbr. πρός τινα or τὸν τόπον. Cf. the old undergraduate 'wheeze': 'When is pote used [or, put] for pros?/When the nights are dark and dreary,/When our legs are weak and weary,/When the quad we have to cross,/Then is pote put for pros': doubtless a double pun, for pote = (chamber-pot, pros = a w.c., and pote = Gr. πότε, when?, pros = Gr. πρός, to. Cf. topos, q.v.—2. Proscenium: theatrical: since ca. 1910. Gavin Holt, No Curtain for Cora, 1950.—3. Var. spelling of pross, 3, a prostitute. Sessions, 8 Feb. 1905.

pros, adj. Proper: low London:—1887; ob. by 1930. ?ex prosperous.—2. Occ. as adv.

Pros' Avenue; p.a. The Gaiety Bar: theatrical: 1880s. Because a resort of actors. (Ware.) Cf. Prossers' Avenue, q.v.

prose, n. and v. A lecture; to lecture: Winchester College: from ca. 1860. Ex S.E., a prosy discourse or ex:—2. Familiar talk; a talk: coll.: 1805 (Mrs Creevey); ob. by 1890, virtually † by 1930. OED. Ex:—3. prose, v. To chat; gossip: coll.: 1797 (Tweddell); ob. by 1890, † by 1930. OED.—4. A prosy, esp. if dull, person: coll.: 1844 (Dickens: OED Sup.). Ex sense 2.

prospect. A person more or less likely to take out an insurance policy: an insurance coll. now verging on j.: C.20. Ex S.E. mining sense, a spot giving prospects of, e.g., gold.

prospector. A confidence trickster: Aus. c.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1953.) For mugs' gold.

pross, n. One who, to an (itinerant) actor, throws money: low theatrical: 1851 (Mayhew); very ob. by 1930. Prob. ex prosperous: cf. pros, adj.—2. Hence, a caged drink: theatrical: from ca. 1860.—3. A prostitute: low (mostly London): from ca. 1870.—4. In on the pross, looking for free drinks, etc.; on the cadge: theatrical >, ca. 1890, low gen. s.: from ca. 1860. P.H. Emerson, 1893.—5. Also in on the pross, breaking in (and sponging for) a stage-struck youth: theatrical: from ca. 1865. See v., 2.—6. Var. of pros, n., 1.

pross, v. To cadge (a meal, a drink); occ. v.i.: theatrical: from ca. 1860. (H., 3rd ed.) Either ex pross, n., 2, or pross, v., 2. Anon., ca. 1876, 'I've prossed my meals from off my pals.'—2. To break in or instruct a stage-infatuated youth' (H., 1st ed.): theatrical: from ca. 1858; ob. This sense may have been influenced by Romany pross, to ridicule. See prec., 5.

pross about. To 'mooch' or hang about: low: from ca. 1890. Pugh (2), 'Afternoon I prosses about in 'Ampstead.' Ex prec., 1.

prosser. A cadger of refreshment, stomacic or pecuniary: theatrical: from ca. 1880. Cf. Prossers' Avenue and 'For he don't haunt the Gaiety Bar, dear boys,|A-standing (or crossing for) drinks' (Referee, 18 Nov. 1883).—2. Hence, a loafer, a hanger-on: 1886 (Cornhill Magazine, Nov.). Senses 1 and 2, prob. ex:—3. A 'ponce' (q.v.): low: from ca. 1870. (H., 5th ed.) Ex pross, n., 3.

Prossers', Avenue. The Gaiety Bar: theatrical: from ca. 1882. Ex prosser, 1, q.v.

prossie. Late C.19–20 Aus. var. of pross, n., 3, a prostitute. (B., 1942.) Also Brit: Ada E. Jones (Mrs Cecil Chesterton), Women of the Underworld, 1931. Cf.:—

prossio. A prostitute: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (Dick.) Cf. prec. prostitute, the. The twelfth man, or a substitute, in a cricket match: cricketers': ca. 1870–1914. Sir Home Gordon, The Background of Cricket, 1939.

prostituted. (Of a patent) so long on the market that it has become known to all: commercial coll.:—1909 (Ware).

prostitution. See higher prostitution.

Prot, n. and adj. (A) Protestant: Catholics': mid-C.19–20. In N. Ireland, 'Protestant/Loyalist' (Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979).—2. As adj., (also protty), Low Church: theological colleges': 1960s. (Towler & Coxon, Fate of the Anglican Clergy, 1979.) See hot prot.

protected. Lucky; uncannily or very lucky: Aus. and NZ: C.20, but not gen. pre-WW1. Prob. protected by the gods or by one's superiors. Cf.

protected man. 'A merchant seaman unfit for the Royal Service and therefore free of the press-gang' (F. & H.): naval coll.: ca. 1800–50.

protection. In take (a girl) under (one's) protection, to take care of a girl and send or accompany her out to the Argentine: (Polish) white-slavers' c.: C.20. Londres.

protection racket. The extortion of money, services, etc., from shopkeepers or other businessmen, as a bribe to leave them and their property unmolested: adopted, ex US, early C.20, as c.; in later C.20, S.E.

Protestant herring, a. A stale, a bad, herring; hence, any inferior provender, as in 'Oh, that butter is a Protestant herring' (P.W. Joyce, English ... in Ireland, 1910): Anglo-Irish coll.: mid-C.19–20.

proud. Feeling very gratified, delighted: S.E. verging on coll. and dial.: C.19–20. Whence:—2. In do (one) proud, to flatter (ob.); to honour; to treat very generously: coll.: 1819 (OED); 1836, Clark, Ollapodiana Papers, 1836, 'I really thought, for the moment, that "she did me proud".' Cf. 'the Cull tipt us Rum Prog, the Gentleman Treated us very High', B.E. and:—3. In do (one)self proud, to be delighted (ob.); to treat oneself well, live comfortably: coll.: from ca. 1840.

proud as an apothecary. Very proud or conceited: a C.17 coll. Apperson. Cf.:

proud as he'd (or 's) got a pea in his arse (, as). Exceedingly proud on a given occasion: RN lowerdeck: prob. late C.18—latish 19. Bill Truck, Dec. 1825.

proud as old Cole's dog. Exceeding proud: C.19: coll. Southey explains that this animal 'took the wall of a dung-cart and got squeezed to death by the wheel'. Anecdotal origin. Apperson.

proud below the navel. Amorous: coll. bordering on S.E., as in Davenant's Albiovine, 1629, 'Whenever I see her I grow proud below the navel.' Ex S.E. proud = swollen.

prov, on the. Out of work and on the provident funds of a trade society or union: workmen's: from ca. 1870; > ob. on the Dole's arrival.

provender. 'He from whom any Money is taken on the Highway' (B.E.): c. of late C.17—early 19. Ex provender, food, a provider thereof.—2. Hence, money taken from a person on the highway: c.: C.18. The New Canting Dict., 1725.

provender pricks one. One grows amorous: coll.: ca. 1540—1750. Heywood, E. Ward (Apperson).

proverbial, the. A fall, smash; disaster: military: 1916; ob. (F. & G.) Abbr. the proverbial gutser that comes after pride: see gutser.—2. In later C.20, often used allusively for other things, e.g., 'Oh, he's the proverbial bastard', i.e. he is a most unpleasant man; or, almost meaninglessly, relying on the context for sense, as 'I think I've got a touch of the proverbials' (= e.g., the shits = diarrhoea): coll. (P.B.) providence. One who appears, or acts, in the character of Providence: coll.: 1856 (Emerson: OED).

Provie. See Provo, 3.

province of Bacchus. Drunkenness: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. Egan's Grose.

provo. A provost marshal: Aus. army: WW2. Martin Page, ed., Songs of World War II, 1973.—2. A provocateur, not necessarily an agent provocateur: since ca. 1955. (Petch, 1969.)—3. But a Provo is a 'member of the Provisional wing of the I.R.A.' (COD, 1976): gen. coll. since 1970 >, by 1975, S.E. Also, earlier, Provie.

provost. A garrison or other cell for short-sentence prisoners: military coll. (—1890) >, ca. 1905, S.E.; ob. Abbr. provost-cell.

provvy. An Approved School (for juvenile delinquents): since mid- or late 1950s. (Angus Hall, On the Run, 1974.) One might have expected provvy—but slang often does the unexpected.

prow. A bumpkin: naval: ca. 1800–90. 'Is there not here a pun on bum(p)kin, a spar extruded from either bow of a sailing ship...? Prow being the obsolete S.E. equivalent of the bows of a ship' (R.S., 1973). I agree.

prowl. To womanise: low coll.: late C.17–20. B.E., as proling [sic]. (Like a wild beast for meat: cf. mutton, q.v.)—2. To wait for 'the ghost to walk': theatrical: from ca. 1870; ob. See ghost.—3. To go about, looking for something to steal: c.—1887 (Baumann).

prowl car. A police patrol-vehicle: adopted, ex US, mid-C.20. They prowl about the streets on the look-out for offenders. (P.B.) Contrastprowler. A thief or highwayman: see Hugh Prowler.

proxime. Proxime accessit: coll. abbr. (schools', universities'): 1896. OED.

proz. See quot'n at twaddy.

Fru, the. The Prudential insurance company: insurance: late C.19–20. Collinson.

Prudential men, or men of the Prudential. Officers in the Special Branch of the RNVR: RN: 1939–45. With a pun on the Prudential insurance company. P-G-R.

pruff. Sturdy: Winchester College: from ca. 1870. Ex proof against pain. Pascoe, 1881, 'Deprive a Wykehamist of words... such as quill... pruff... cad... and his vocabulary becomes limited.'

prugg(e). A female partner; a doxy: C.17: either (low) s. or c. Nares (1822); Halliwell (1847). Prob. cognate with prig and perhaps with prog, qq.v.

prune is short for Prune, P/O. John Moore, Observer, 4 Oct. 1942, "Lost anybody?" "Some prune who thought he could beat up the searchlights"; B., 1942.—2. 'A shrivelled-up spinster, no longer a "plum"' (Petch, 1974); later C.20.

prune, v. To adjust or otherwise tinker with (a ship's engines): RN: since ca. 1930. P-G-R.

Prune, P/O; in speech, Pilot Officer Prune. 'A pilot who takes unnecessary risks, and generally loses his neck through his prunery' and "'P/O Prune" is the title bestowed upon a pilot who has several "prangs" on his record' (H. & P.): RAF: since ca. 1935. He is a constant emblematic monitory figure in the pages of the R.A.F. Journal. Not unconnected with the impracticality of 'prunes and prisms'. Created, Jackson tells us, by S/Ldr Anthony Armstrong and LACW Hooper ('Raff').

prune-juice. Hard liquor: since ca. 1935. Richard Gordon, Doctor and Son, 1953.

Prunella, Mr; or prunella. A clergyman: late C.18—mid-19. (Grose, 1st ed.) Clergymen's, like barristers', gowns were formerly made from this strong (silk, later) worsted stuff.—2. See leather and prunella.

Prussian blue, my. An endearment: ca. 1815–70, though app. not recorded before 1837, Dickens, "'Vell, Sammy," said the father. "Vel, my Prooshan Blue," responded the son.' Punning the colour; ex the tremendous popularity of the Prussians after Waterloo: cf. the old toast, Prussian blue. Brewer.

Prussian Guard. A flea: army: WW1. 'Dignity and Impudence'.—2. In the game of House, a card: rhyming s.: C.20.

prygge. See prig, n. and v.

prygmán. See prigman.

pr'ythee. See prithee.

P's and Q's. See imm. after p.S.A.

Psalm-Singing Regiment, the. 'For many years the 26th

Cameronians were nicknamed the "Psalm-singing regiment", but they could always be relied upon, and the enemy on many a field has had cause to remember the psalm-singers' (T. Gowing, A Soldier's Experience, 1902 ed.): C.19. Cf.:-

psalm-smiter. A ranting nonconformist; a street preacher: low: from ca. 1860; ob. (H., 2nd ed.)? ex psalm-singing, noisily religious. Cf. cushion-smiter and -thumper.

pseud, since mid-1960s, ex pseudo, since ca. 1955. A 'phoney', an affected, esp. if so-called intellectual, poseur and 'make-believer': Public Schools' > gen. coll. Popularised by regular feature in the satirical magazine Private Eye, 'Pseud's Corner', which simply quotes examples of the worst current pseudery. The orig. Public School sense was 'One who holds pretentious or unorthodox opinions... a Socialist or any other non-Conservative. Mostly used pejoratively—almost the exact opposite of staunch [q.v.]' (Royston Lambert & Spencer Millham, quoted by 'Atticus' in the Sunday Times, 1 Sep. 1968). See PUBLIC...SCHOOL SLANG, in Appendix.

psych, n. A member of the Society for Psychical Research, itself known as the Psych (also Sike): from ca. 1885. Baumann.—2. A 'psychological' bet, one made on a hunch: Aus. two-up-players': since ca. 1930. Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949.—3. A psychiatrist: coll. abbr.: since ca. 1950. Cf. shrink, n.

psych, v. (Earlier, psyche.) To subject to psychoanalysis: coll.:—1927 (Collinson).—2. (Often psych out.) To render uneasy; to intimidate or scare: adopted, ca. 1974, ex US. W. & F.; 6000 Words.—3. See psych up.

psych out. See prec., 2.

psych up. To prepare oneself, or another, mentally for something, esp. an ordeal: 'patients have been psyched up for operations and then been told to go home' (Staff Nurse Catrin Davies, of the Royal Free Hospital, Hampstead, quoted in Guardian, 20 July 1982, p.2). Adopted, ca. 1973, ex US. See psych, v., 2.

psyche. See psych, v., 1.

psyche man. See front man.

psychedelia. 'Drugs, flashing lights, sound, colour, movies, dance—usually experienced simultaneously' (Peter Fryer, Observer colour sup., 3 Dec. 1967): drug addicts' and hippies': since early 1967. Ex psychedelic, (of a drug, e.g. LSD) inducing the taker to feel 'expanded' and to reveal his soul; an imperfect form, psychodelic (soul-revealing) being correct. psyching and -out and -up. The vbl n. corresponding to psych, v. (I owe much, for all of these, to Paul Janssen, of Tilff, Belgium, who has astounding knowledge of the 'underground' speech of 1960 onwards. E.P.) psycho. Psychoanalysis (1921); to psychoanalyse (1925): coll. OED Sup.—2. A psychopath: since ca. 1945.—3. Hence, a lunatic or a very eccentric person or merely an egregious fool: since ca. 1955.

psychological moment. (Cf. the misuse of inferiority complex.) The critical moment; at the p. m., in the very nick of time: catachrestic: from ca. 1871. The error arose from the French moment psychologique, a confusion of das psychologische Moment with der p. M., i.e. the 'momentum' or factor for the moment of time. Esp. common in journalism. See esp. W., OED, and Fowler.

pu-pu. A var. of pooh-pooh.

pub. A public house (see public, n.): 1859 (H., 1st ed.): s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Anon., The Siliad, ca. 1871, 'All the great houses and the minor pubs.'—2. See p.b.; pubs.

pub (always pub it). To frequent pubs': coll.: 1889 (Jerome K. Jerome). Ex prec. OED.

pub-crawl; esp. do a p.-c. A liquorish peregrination from bar to bar: from not later than 1910. Hence pub-crawler, pub-crawling: from ca. 1910.

pub verandah push. Frequenters of the verandahs of country public houses: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) See push, n., 1–5.

pubes. (As one syllable.) The pubic hair: a deliberate mispron. among raffish literate: since ca. 1950. (P.B.)

public, n. A public house: coll.: 1709, a churchwarden's account (OED); ob. Scott, 'This woman keeps an inn, then? interrupted Morton. A public, in a prim way, replied Blane.' Cf. pub, q.v.—2. One who avails himself of the personal facilities of a public library: Can. librarians': since ca. 1920. (Leechman.) He not only is a member of the general public but also makes a public convenience of the place. But also one who, although not a reader, applies to a library for assistance in a problem involving knowledge.—3. A pupil at a public (i.e., State) school in New South Wales: among NSW children attending Catholic schools: since ca. 1920 (? earlier). B.P. public, adj. In, of, a public house: coll.: mid-C.18–20. Ex prec., 1.

public buildings. See inspector of ...

public convenience. A prostitute: C.20. Cf. public ledger. Public Enemy Number One (or no. 1). Adopted in 1936, via the Press, ex US journalese not only in its correct (the literal) sense but in extended applications; thus, among English lawn-tennis players, Von Cramm and Budge were, in June 1937, described as 'Joint Public Enemies Number One'. See DCpp.

public ledger. A harlot: low: late C.18–19. 'Because like that paper, she is open to all parties' (Grose, 2nd ed.). Punning the Public Ledger, the London commercial newspaper, est. 1760.

public line. See something in the ...

public man. A bankrupt: ca. 1810–80. (Lex. Bal., 1811.) Perhaps suggested by † S.E. public woman (Fr. femme publique), a harlot.

public notary. See TAVERN TERMS, §5, in Appendix.

public patter. A 'swell mobsman' (see mobsman) who, pretending to be a Dissenting preacher, harangues in the open air to attract a crowd for his confederates to rob: c.: ca. 1860–1910. (H., 3rd ed., 1864.) See patterer.

public-room men. 'In modern liners, the deck, smoke-room, library and lounge stewards and the like': nautical coll.: C.20. Bowen.

public-or-perish syndrome, the. 'A disease that afflicts career-minded academics—and helps to keep librarians in business' (P.B., 1975): the world of learning, and mostly derivative: since late 1960s, prob. ex US. A practice, an attitude, not prevalent at the best universities. The term is, in part, a gibe at syndrome itself.

Pubs. 'Naval cadets formerly entered direct from Public Schools, as opposed to those from Dartmouth ("Darts")' (Cdr C. Parsons, RN ret., 1977): RN: ca. 1910–39.

puce. Very bad, inferior: Charterhouse: from ca. 1920. Esp. 'Absolutely puce!' Perhaps suggested by bloody and putrid (qq.v.).

pucka, pukah, pucker (adj.). See pukka.

pucker, n. Excitement; (a state of) agitation: coll.: 1741 (Richardson: OED); Smollett, 1751, 'The whole parish was in a pucker: some thought the French had landed.' Rare except as in a pucker, which Grose, 2nd ed., defines as 'in a dishabille', a sense † by 1880; 'also in a fright', which is a little too strong. Common, moreover, in dial.; cf. the Lancashire puckerashun, vexation or agitation. Ex the puckering of facial skin. See pucker up.

pucker, v. To talk privately: showmen's s. (perhaps orig. c.): 1851, Mayhew, 'The trio... began puckering... to each other in murdered French, dashed with a little Irish.' ?a corruption of Romyan rok(k)er or vo(k)er, to talk: cf. rock, q.v.

pucker paint. See CANADIAN..., in Appendix.

pucker up. To become angry: coll.: C.19–20. Ex n., q.v., and S.E. v., primary sense.

pucker-water. An astringent employed—esp. by 'old experienced traders', i.e. prostitutes—to counterfeit virginity: low coll.: Grose, 1785; † by 1890. Gen., water impregnated with alum. (Cf. post-parturition astringents.) Ex pucker, to contract.

puckering, vbl n. Private talk: c. and showmen's s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). See pucker, v.

puckerow; occ. pukkaroo. To seize: Anglo-Indian and military:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Ex Hindustani, where this, as in all the Anglo-Indian -ow vv., is the form of the imperative, not of the infinitive.

pud. A (child's) hand; an animal's fore-foot: a nursery coll.: 1654 (OED). Lamb, 1823, 'Those little short... puds.' Origin unknown: but cf. Dutch poot, a paw (W.) and the later pudsy, plump, chubby.—2. Pudding: lower class and lower-middle class: late C.19–20. Richard Llewellyn, None But the Lonely Heart, 1943, 'If you lot go to chokey, so do I, for harbouring. So we're all blackbirds in the same old pud.' Cf. veg.—3. See pull (one's) pud.—4. 'Fleetwood term for an East Anglian fisherman' (D. Butcher, Trawlermen, 1980, glossary). Cf. Duff-Choker, q.v.

pud, v. To greet affectionately or familiarly: proletarian coll.: from ca. 1860; ob. (B. & L.) Ex n., 1.

pudden, n. Pudding: dial. and low coll.: C.16–20. P.B.: a mid-Victorian Punch cartoon shows a friendly, hospitable, but obviously nouveaux-riche 'bloke' serving dinner; he asks 'What gentleman says pudden, then?', to which a sotto voce reply is 'No gentleman says "pudden"! Cf. the v.—2. A 'mess' or failure: Cockney coll.: late C.19–20. 'Yes, he's made a pudden o' that job.'—3. Metal filler: 'Watch for pudden on door sills. They're an MOT failure point and they're often tshed up with sheet Fibreglass and a can of spray paint' (You, 10 July 1983, p.26): car dealers': later C.20. Cf. marzipan.—4. See beg your pudding!; pudding club.

pudden, v. C.17–20. To supply with pudding; treat with a pudding(-like substance): low coll.—2. Esp., in c., to silence a dog by throwing a narcotic ball to it: 1858 (Youatt: OED). Cf.:- pudding. Liver drugged for the silencing of house-dogs: c.: 1877, but prob. much earlier,—see pudden, v., in c. sense. (Horsley, Jottings from Jail.) Cf. the old saying 'Pudding is poison when it is too much boiled' (Swift).—2. Coition; the penis; the seminal fluid: low coll.: from Restoration days. Wit and Mirth, 1682; D'Urfey.—3. An English 60-pound bomb: military: 1916–18.—4. Weight; esp. put (a bit of) pudding on, to put on (a little) weight: rural Aus.: C.20. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me ..., 1958.—5. In give or make or yield the crow(s) a pudding, to die; also and orig., to hang on a gibbet: late C.16–19. Grose, 3rd ed. (give); Shakespeare, 'He'll yield the crow a pudding one of these days.'—6. See not a word of the pudding!; hot pudding; piece of pudding; pull (one's) pud.—7. 'Join in an electric cable; from the bulge caused by the insulation tape' (Granville): RN: mid-C.20.

pudding about the heels. Thick-ankled: low coll.: C.19—early 20. Cf. beef to the heels.

Pudding and Gravy, the. The Royal Navy: rhyming s.: since ca. 1940. Franklyn 2nd.

pudding-bag. 'A stocking pennant used as a vane': nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex shape.

pudding-basin. A British shrapnel-helmet: military: 1915; ob. Ex its shape. F. & G.—2. The old style of motorcyclists' crash-helmet, shaped like half an egg: motorcyclists': since ca. 1940. (Dunford.)

pudding-basin hair-cut. A hair-style that looks as though a basin had been inverted over the victim's head, and then any hair showing had been shaved or snipped off: coll.: C.20. (P.B.) pudding-bellied. With great paunch: coll.: C.18–20.

pudding club. A ref. to pregnancy, esp. join the ... or be in the ..., to become, to be, pregnant; (to put in the ..., to render, be rendered, pregnant: low: C.20. Arthur Gardner, Tinker's Kitchen, 1932, join; Gilt Kid, 1936, has var. pudden. An earlier, C.19, var. was with a bellyful of marrow-pudding. Cf. pudding, 2.

pudding-filler. A glutton: Scots coll.: C.16–19. (Dunbar.) See puddings.

pudding-house. The stomach, the belly: low: late C.16–20; ob. (Nashe.) Cf. bread-basket.—2. A workhouse: low: ca. 1830–70. Sinks, 1848.

pudding-ken. A cook-shop: c.: C.19—early 20. (P.H. Emerson.) Cf. pudding-snammer.

pudding round. In 1920s, dairies in UK had four daily rounds: [early] morning, pudding (11 a.m.), afternoon, evening' (Peppitt, 1976).

pudding-sleeves. A clergyman: early C.18—mid-19. (Ned Ward, The Delights of the Bottle, 1720; Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. prunella.

pudding-snammer. A cook-shop thief: c.: early C.19—early 20. Brandon.

pudding-time, come in. To come in good time—before it's too late: coll.: mid-C.17—late 18. Dryden, Sir Martin Mar-All, 1667 (Moe; OED).

puddings. The guts: mid-C.15—20; S.E. till C.18, then dial. and low coll. Shakespeare; Brydges, 1772; Grose, 1st ed., 'I'll let out your puddings', i.e. disembowel you.

puddings and pies. Eyes: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Later, mince pies.

puddle, n. The female pudend: low: C.19—earlier 20.—2. As the Puddle or puddle, the Atlantic Ocean: coll.: from ca. 1880. Cf. the Pond, q.v.—3. A muddle, a mess: late C.16—20; S.E. till ca. 1850, then coll. and dial.

puddle, v. To tittle: low coll.: ca. 1870—1930. ?ex puddle on fuddle.

Puddle-Dock, the Countess or Duchess of. An imaginary aristocrat: coll.: mid-C.17—mid-19. Until C.19, always Countess. T. Shadwell, Epsom Wells, 1673; Swift, 'Neverout. I promised to square the Countess to her box. Miss. The Countess of Puddledock, I suppose.' Ex a once almost permanent, large and dirty pool in Thames Street, which runs parallel to the river, London, E.C.4. Since 1959, site of the Mermaid Theatre.

puddle-jumper. A small communications-aircraft: RAF: 1942+.

puddled. Very eccentric; insane: 1936 (Wilfred Macarthey, Walls Have Mouths). Cf. puddle, v.

puddling, adj. A vague pej.: coll.: 1764 (Foote); ob. Ex to puddle. Cf. puddling. OED.

puillery. Pornographic books or prints: cultured: from ca. 1930. E.P. had suggested an orig. in L. pudor, shame, but R.S., 1973, queried, 'Might the immediate origin rather be the not unfamiliar S.E. pudenda (1634) displayed in such works than the basic but obsolete Latin emotion pudor? ... Presumably the form was influenced as much by S.E. prudery (1709) as by 1920s s. rudery.'

puddge. A short squat person; anything both short and thick: coll. and dial.: 1808 (Jamieson). Of obscure origin but prob. cognate with podge. Hence also adj., puddy.

pudds (pron. to rhyme with 'goods'). Pudding: nursery var. of pudd, 2.

puddy, n. A foot: nursery: late C.18—20. Dim. of pudd, 1. puddy, v. To greet affectionately or with familiarity: coll.: C.19—20; ob. Ex puddy, a term of endearment, esp. to a baby, itself ex puddy, plump.

puff, n. A decoy in a gambling-house; a mock-bidder at auctions: resp. 1731 and (—1785). OED.—2. A sodomist: tramps' c.: from ca. 1870. Cf. poof, q.v., of which this is perhaps the origin.—3. Breath, 'wind': s. and dial.: 1827 (Sporting Magazine: OED). Hence, out of puff, out of breath: same status and period.—4. Life; existence: tailors' > (low) gen.: from ca. 1880. As in never in one's puff, never, and as in Pomes' Marshall, 'He's the winner right enough! It's the one sole snip of a lifetime—simply the cop of one's puff.' P.B.: cf. Acts, 17,25: 'He giveth to all, life and breath'. In later C.20, usu. in form in all (one's) puff.—5. A ladies' man: RAF: from ca. 1935. (Jackson.) P.B.: E.P.'s comment was, 'Prob. ex "powder-puff"', but there may also be the effeminacy associated with sense 2.

puff, v. To break wind: late C.19—20.—2. As in the caption to a cartoon in Punch, 14 May 1919, showing a prospective office-boy 'being interviewed: 'I've Given up [smoking]. Find it "puffs" me for jazzin'.' (Jazz was suddenly 'all the rage'.) Cf. n., 3. (P.B.)

puff-adder. An accountant: RAF (mostly officers'): since ca. 1930. (W/Cdr R.P. McDouall, 1945.) Well, he is an adder of figures—and to some, as dangerous as that particular species of snake.—2. As a schoolboys' and Service joc., one who farts in the bath, and then counts the bubbles: mid-C.20. (P.B.)

puff and dart, n. and v. (A) start: rhyming s. D.W. Barrett, Navvies, 1880, has make a puff and dart; the vbl form in the London Evening Standard, 19 Aug. 1931.—2. See CROWN AND ANCHOR, in Appendix.

puff-ball, v.t. In the 1890s, John Masefield tells us in his history (1933) of the Conway training ship, 'large cakes of soft bread were moulded in tea at tea-time to the size and similitude of dumplings and then thrust down the victim's neck between his shirt and the skin': a mess's punishment of an 'impossible' member.

puff-guts. A fat man: low coll.: 1785 (Grose); ob. by 1935. puff-puff. A steam-locomotive; a railway-train: nursing coll.: from ca. 1870. Echoic. Cf. puffer and puffing Billy.

puff the glim. Horse-coping s. from before 1890, thus: 'Old horses are rejuvenated by puffing the glim... filling up the hollows... above [the] eyes by pricking the skin and blowing air into the loose tissues underneath' (Tit-Bits, 11 Apr. 1891): verging on c.

puffer. A steam-engine: coll.: verging on S.E.: 1801 (OED). Cf. puff-ball, 1880.—2. A steam barge: nautical coll. verging on S.E.: C.20. Bowen.

puffically. Perfectly: proletarian coll.: mid-C.19—20. Anstey, Voces Populi, II, 1892.

puffin. See plump as a puffin.

puffing Billy or billy. A locomotive: coll.: late C.19—20. Cf. puff-puff and puffer, qq.v.—2. Hence, a person puffing or much given to puffing: coll.: C.20.

puffler. A 'foreman or ganger' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: C.20. Adopted ex mining.

pufo. In India in 1943 the end of a military exercise would be signalled on the wireless as the one word "Pufo". When speaking to a senior officer it was explained to him as an acronym for Pack Up and Fade Out. However, this is a euphemism' (Brig. Pat Hayward, 1979). The word, pron. puwo, could still be heard, in the sense 'let's push off', among older soldiers up to the early 1970s. (P.B.)

pufferlooner (also pufferloona, -er, pufta, puff-de-loon(ie), puftaloon). 'A kind of scone made of dough and fried in fat' (Wilkes); 'Hot fried cake spread with jam, sugar or honey' (B., 1943): Aus. coll. Wilkes's first Aus. quot'n (using pufferlooner) is dated 1870; he refers also to an earlier work, S. Mossman and T. Banister, Australia, Visited and Revisited, 1853, in which the authors write of 'leatherjackets', a similar confection, that the Americans called "'Puff ballooners'", the only difference being that they place the cake upon the bare coals.' 'From the way it rises during cooking' (Wilkes).

pug, n. A boxer: sporting: 1858, Mayhew, 'Known by his brother pugs to be one of the gamest hands in the ring'. Abbr. pugilist. Hence Pug's or Pugs' Acre, that corner of Highgate Cemetery where Tom Sayers and other 'pugs' lie buried.—2. A dog of no matter what breed: coll.: from ca. 1860. See sense 7.—3. A bargeman: coll.: late C.16—early 17. Lyly, 1591, 'With a good winde and lustie pugges one may goe ten miles in two daies' (OED).—4. A ship's boy: coll.: late C.16—17. 'Hudibras' Butler. (OED)—5. A harlot: coll.: C.17—early 18. Ned Ward.—6. An upper servant in a large house (etc.): from ca. 1840. Halliwell.—7. A nickname for a dog or a monkey: coll.: resp.—1731 (Bailey); 1664. † except in dial.—8. Hence, like 'monkey', to a child: mid-C.18—20, but since ca. 1850, † except in dial. OED.—9. A fox; gen. as a nickname: C.19—20: coll. R.S. Surtees, 1858, 'Pug... turns tail, and is very soon in the rear of the hounds' (OED). In C.20, virtually S.E.—10. 'Lancashire and Yorkshire [Railway] pug, v. To 'hide': low: C.20. Esp. of goods stolen by workmen, who 'pug it up' or 'pug it away' until they find it convenient to remove the article from the premises. Cf. Surrey dial. pug, 'to fill in a joint with softened clay', which seems to be a more likely origin than West County pug, to thrust (EDD).

0-4-0 clock saddle tank' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: C.20 McKenna, Glossary, lists also 'Pannier type shunting locomotive from Glasgow & South-Western Railway'.

pug Nancy, or simply pug. A girl, woman: early C.18. (Ned Ward.) See women, in Appendix, and cf.:-

pug-nasty. A dirty slut: coll.: late C.17-early 19. (B.E.) Ex pug, n., 5. Cf. prec.

puggard. A thief: c.: C.17. (Middleton, 1611.) Ex pug, to tug, pull.

puggle, puggly. See poggle.

puggle pawnee. See poggle p.

puggled. See pogged.

puggy. A coll. endearment to a woman or a child: C.17-early 18.—2. A monkey: Scots coll.: from ca. 1820. Ex pug, 7.—3. A nickname for a fox: coll.: 1827. Ex pug, 9.—4. A Great Central Railway employee: railwaymen's: ca. 1900-25. (Railway.) Why?

puggy-drunk. Extremely drunk: rather low: late C.19-20. Prob. ex pogy influenced by poggle (puggle), 2, and with an allusion to puggy, a fox (cf. foxed, drunk).

pugified. Snub-nosed: coll.: late C.18-mid-19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Cf. S.E. pug-nosed.

Pug's or Pugs' Acree. See pug, 1.

pug's or pugs' hole, parlour. The housekeeper's room in a large establishment: coll.:—1847 (Halliwell, pugs'-hole). The latter not till C.19.

puja. See pooja.

pukaroo. To break, spoil: see pakaru. Not to be confused with pukkaroo, q.v. at puckerow.

puker. A good-for-nothing: a Shrewsbury School coll.: C.19-20. Prob. ex the famous Shakespearian passage beginning: 'The infant Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms'.—2. An orange: preparatory schools': ca. 1870-1920.

pukka; often, though rare in C.20, pucka. Also pakka, puckah, pucker: all rare in C.20. Certain, reliable; genuine; excellent: Anglo-Indian coll.: from ca. 1770. Grant Allen, 1893, 'That's a good word... Is it pucker English, I wonder.' In pukka sahib (in C.20, often derisive), it connotes the acme of gentlemanliness.—2. Permanent, as of an appointment: mid-C.19-20: coll. Ex Hindu pakka, substantial. OED; Y. & B.

pukka gen. Completely reliable information: Services', esp. WW2. Ex prec. + gen, q.v.

pukkaroo. See puckerow.

puku. See pain in the puku.

pull, n. A mechanical 'catch' or knack; an ulterior and hidden motive: c.: 1812 (Vaux); † by 1890. Prob. ex pulling of strings and wires.—2. Hence, an illicit trick or manipulation: card-sharpers' c.:—1861 (Mayhew).—3. Ex have a pull, i.e. an advantage, over one, comes the sense in 'What's the good of having push'—energy—'if the other chap has the pull?', i.e. personal or private influence that one can use for one's advantage: US s. (1889) anglicised ca. 1900 as a coll.; by 1920, S.E. Thornton; OED.—4. An anxious moment: proletarian: late C.19-early 20. (Ware.) Ex the pull at one's heart.—5. In in pull, under arrest: c.: ca. 1810-70. (Vaux.) See v., 1, and pull in.—6. In give (someone) a (strong) pull, to speak severely to; to reprimand: c. and low s.: since ca. 1930. (Norman.) Cf. to pull (someone) up sharply.—7. In give it a pull or take a pull, 'To desist, to discontinue' (C.J. Dennis): Aus.: C.20. The first in, e.g., H. Drake-Brockman, The Blister, 1937. In the imperative, occ. take a pull on yourself!

pull, v. To arrest: c.: 1811 (Lex. Bal.). The sense is still current in later C.20, with further nuance 'to investigate, to stop (someone) for questioning, as in [such behaviour] is definitely suspicious and "worth a pull" (worth investigating promptly)' (Powis). Cf.:—2. To raid: c.:—1817 (Figaro, 15 Apr.).—3. To steal; occ., to cheat: c.: 1821 (Haggart); Mayhew. † by 1900.—4. To do; commit: US, adopted ca. 1925. Cf. pull off, to achieve. Georgette Heyer, Behold, Here's Poison, 1936, 'If Rendall pulled the murder, Hyde's out of it'.—5. At Oxford, ca. 1840-80, it was coll. for 'to row a boat' or 'to row in a crew'. Thomas Hughes, Tom Brown at Oxford, 1861. (Marples, 2.)—6. To 'pull off', to achieve: Army: since ca. 1920. 'It was eighteen years before I pulled sergeant.'—7. To earn (as income), to make (a sum of money, e.g., by a sale): Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—8. As v.i., it is the ellipsis of pull (one's) wire (and variants): (of the male) to masturbate; whence the vbl n. pulling: prob. since late C.19. Hollander.—9. To attract the attention, the notice, of (someone) sexually: 'It was obvious Jagger was trying to pull her... too shy to approach her and try to chat her up' (Jagger): since ca. 1955.

pull a cluck. To die: low: ca. 1870-1920. Echoic.

pull a fast one. See fast one, 2.

pull a flanker. See flanker, 3.

pull a horse's head off; esp. a vbl n., pulling... So to check a horse's progress that he does not win: turf: from ca. 1860. B. & L.

pull a kite. To look or be serious: low: C.19-early 20. Ex-pull a long face. To look solemn or dejected: coll.: C.19-20. L.L.G., 28 June 1823 (Moe). P.B.: in later C.20, informal S.E., esp. as actually to grimace.

pull a pint (often as vbl n., pulling...). To operate the controls of an aircraft, to do a pilot's work: RAF: since ca. 1930. (H. & P.) See beer-lever.

pull a soldier off his mother!, ('pull'? He or you wouldn't). A c.p. directed at laziness or slacking: nautical (from ca. 1880) >, by 1900, army.

pull a stroke. 'To be faster, smarter, quicker [and more deceitful] than your opponent' (Robin Cook, 1962): since ca. 1945: c. >, by ca. 1960, also low s. Cf. pull a fast one, q.v. at fast one, 2. Powis, 1977, quotes "'talk about Oxford and Cambridge!" (involved allusion to the "strokes" in the University Boat Race).—2. Hence, to commit a successful crime: c., hence police s.: since ca. 1950. Angus Hall, On the Run, 1974.

pull about. To treat roughly or without ceremony: coll. and dial.: C.19-20. Ex S.E. sense, to pull this way and that. OED.—2. Hence, to take liberties with a woman: low coll.: from ca. 1860. Cf. pully-hauly, play at, and muck about, qq.v.—3. Pull oneself about, to masturbate: low coll.: C.19-20.

pull(-)away. See AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.

pull-back. A retarding or repressing act or influence: late C.16-20: S.E. till C.19, then coll. and dial.

pull bacon. To 'cock a snook': mid-C.19-20. See also long bacon.

pull-down, n. The moustache that succeeded the 'nap': Society: ca. 1870-90. (Ware.) Ex its shape.

pull down, v. To steal from shop doors: c.:—1839 (Brandon).—2. To earn (money): from ca. 1920. D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933.—3. V.i., to close up a fairground: fairground and grafters' coll.: C.20. The London Evening Standard, 27 July 1976, concerning the murder of a fairground owner, '[His] family decided that the fair should pull down today, six days before the scheduled closing date.'

pull down (one's) ear. To get money from (a person), esp. as a tip: Cockneys': from ca. 1870. Rook, 1899, 'Well, we couldn't pull down their ear for more'n 'alf a dollar.' Cf. bite (one's) ear.

pull down the blind! A c.p. addressed to couples love-making: London lower classes': ca. 1880-1940. Ware.

pull down the shutter. Butter: rhyming s.: late C.19-20.

pull faces. To accost (celebrities): teenagers': later C.20. Groupie.

pull foot. To decamp; run hard: coll.: 1818. M. Scott, 'The whole crew pulled foot as if Old Nick had held them in chase', 1833. (OED.) Cf. pull it and dial. pull feet or hot-foot, to walk fast (EDD).

pull-guts. A fishmonger: s.: late C.17—early 18. Ned Ward, 1700.

pull in. To arrest: c. >, ca. 1890, low s.: C.19–20. Implicit in Vaux, 1812, 'To pull a man, or have him pulled in to cause his apprehension for some offence; and it is then said that Mr. Pullen is concerned.' Cf. pull, v., 1, pull over, and pull up.

pull in the pieces. To make money; receive good wages: proletarian: ca. 1860–1930. B. & L.

pull it. To decamp; run as fast as possible: coll.: 1804 (OED). Cf. pull foot, q.v., 2. See pull, v., 8.

pull leather. 'A rider of a bucking horse in a rodeo is not allowed to "pull leather"—that is, to grab the saddle horn to steady himself, an act which would disqualify him' (Leechman): Can.: since ca. 1920.

pull (one's) leg. To befool; to impose on: coll.—1888; by 1940, familiar S.E. Ex tripping up. Extended, pre-WW2, to now pull the other leg (or, allusively, the other one)—it's got bells on! An early C.20 var. was haul (one's) leg (Musings, ca. 1912, p. 62).

pull (one's) load. To do all one can: coll., mostly Can.: late C.19–20. (Esp. in present perfect.) Cf. S.E. pull (one's) weight.

pull long bacon. To 'cock snooks'. See long bacon.

pull-off, n. A parachute jump from the wing of a plane: paratroops': since 1942. H. & P., 'A man opens his parachute and is then pulled off.'

pull off, v. To obtain (some benefit): sporting: 1870 (OED). Ex sporting j., to win.—2. Hence, to succeed with, or in effecting, something: 1887, Black, 'We haven't pulled it off this time, mother' (OED).—3. In pull (oneself) off, (of a male) to masturbate: low: late C.19–20. See pull, v., 8.

pull on (a woman). To marry (one): Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—2. To tackle, contend with; hence, to test: Aus.: since ca. 1920. 'I'll pull on the Prime Minister himself if I can't get a permit for my business' (Edwin Morrisby, 30 Aug. 1958); B., 1953.—3. Elliptical for pull a gun on, to shoot at: ?mostly Dubliners': since ca. 1919.—4. In pull (something) on, to cite (something) as an excuse: Can. (and US): C.20. John Beames.

pull one out of the bag. To make a special effort; draw on one's reserve powers: from ca. 1920. An elab. of pull out, 2.

pull-ons. A pair of women's drawers that are merely pulled on without fastening: from 1923 or 1924. Coll.: by 1935, virtually S.E. Ex S.E. pull-on, n. and adj., (of) a garment that can be pulled on and needs no fastening or tying. Cf. step-ins.

pull out, n. 'Buying or selling for ready money' (Spy, II, 1826); Stock Exchange coll.: ca. 1805–1910.

pull out, v. To hurry work in hand: tailors' s. verging on j.: from ca. 1860.—2. To achieve, as in 'He pulled out a special effort': C.20.—3. V.i., to exaggerate: low: ca. 1830–80. (Sinks, 1848.) To 'stretch it a bit'.

pull over. To arrest: low: mid-C.19–20; very ob. Cf. pull, v., 1, and pull up.—2. In pull (oneself) over (an edible), to eat: London proletarian: Ware cites The Referee, 6 June 1886. Cf. get outside of.

pull (one's) pad. Var. pull (one's) pudd.

pull (one's) pisser. To 'pull his leg': Services', perhaps orig. RAF: since ca. 1930.

pull (one's) pound. To 'pull one's weight': RN lowerdeck: latish C.19–20. (Goodenough, 1901.) Cf. pull (one's) load.

pull (one's) pud, pudden or puddling. (Of a male) to masturbate: low: since later C.19; the pudd form is the more usu. in later C.20. See also gallop (one's) maggot.

pull (one's) punches. To exercise moderation, esp. in punishment or in blame: boxing coll. (since ca. 1930) become, ca. 1950, gen. coll. Often in negative, as 'They pulled no punches when it came to ...'

pull rank (v.i.); with on, v.t. To exercise superiority of Service rank to achieve a purpose, get a job done; to wield the authority accruing from seniority: Services', since before WW2, perhaps as early as ca. 1918; by ca. 1960, in police, civilian, and quite other circumstances, e.g., to quieten someone down or get rid of him. (Petch and P.B. reminders, 1975.)

pull up a Jack. To stop a post-chaise on the highway with a view to robbery: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux.

pull up (one's) boot. To make money: costermongers': —1909. Ware, 'When a man prepares for his day's work, he pulls on and strings up his boots.' Cf. pull (one's) socks up.

pull (one's) Scotch (often as vbl n.). To 'pull his leg': Services' rhyming s., short for Scotch peg, a leg: ca. 1930–50.

pull (one's) socks up. Often as imperative, pull your socks up!, or 'I do wish he'd pull his ...': to take heart, to try harder: since ca. 1910. Var. pull up (one's) socks.

pull strings. C.20 shape of pull the string, 1, as in 'He was pulling strings on my behalf I never even knew about'. Cf. ropes, 4, q.v. (P.B.)

pull the chain! A c.p., expressing contempt at a feeble joke or a stupid remark: since ca. 1960; by late 1965, already ob. There is—obviously—a withering cloacal reference.

pull the chocks (away). To depart, to 'get going' (Jackson): world of aviation: since ca. 1918. Ex 'the process of removing the chocks beneath the wheels of aircraft before taxiing for the take-off' (Jackson): cf. chocks away!

pull the devil by the tail. To go rapidly to ruin; to take an undue risk; to be at one's last shift. Coll.; from ca. 1750.

pull the ladder up, Jack – I'm all right! A late C.19–20 var. of fuck you, Jack ... See also PRISONER-OF-WAR SLANG, §14, in Appendix, and pull up the rope ...

pull the long bow. See draw the long bow.

pull the monkey. To pull a rubber disc through a cess drain in order to clean the drain: railwaymen's: C.20. Railway.

pull the other one! (, now). A sarcastic 'You must be joking if you think you can bluff or deceive me!', i.e. you have tried pulling my leg and I am not amused or taken in, so ... : coll.: since ca. 1960. As pull the other leg—it's got bells on!, perhaps 3 or 4 decades earlier. The shorter version occurs in Alan Hunter, Gently Sahib, 1964. See DCpp.

pull the pin. To resign: to quit a job: Can. railroadmen's: —1931. Ex bomb-throwing? But Dr Leechman, in May 1959, writes with that amicable courtesy which makes it a pleasure to be corrected by him: 'Not from bomb-throwing, but from the pins which, with a link, coupled cars together in the early days of railways. This rig was so dangerous that it was soon outlawed. Today few railwaymen know the origin of the term.'

pull the plug. To release all the bombs simultaneously: RAF: 1939+. (Jackson.) Cf. play the piano.

pull the plug out. To dive a submarine: RN submariners': 1960s. (John Malin, 1979.)

pull the rug out. Badly to disturb the status quo, as in 'Suppose he decides to pull the rug out—change his Will—set up with a fresh woman' (Alan Hunter, Gently in Trees, 1974): since ca. 1970. Ex toppling someone by snatching the rug he's standing on. (P.B.)

pull the (or, one's) stops out. To apply all one's energy to the task in hand; often imperative, as in 'You'd better start to pull your stops out!': since ca. 1955. As of organ. (L.A., 1975.) Notably in contrast to an evident hanging-back.

pull the string. To use all one's influence: tailors' coll.: mid-C.19–20. (B. & L.) See pull strings.—2. To do well: proletarian: from ca. 1870; ob. Ibid.

pull the strings. To release the vacuum brake on a vehicle: railwaymen's: C.20. Railway.

pull the weight. To meet a financial emergency' (Baker): Aus.: since ca. 1910.

pull-through. A very thin man: military: from ca. 1905. (F. & G.) Ex the rifle pull-through.—2. A Jew: rhyming s.: C.20. (David Hillman, 1974.) See four-by-two.

pull (someone's) tit. To pull someone's leg, to make a fool of—or to fool; to delude: low Aus.: since ca. 1910. (Edward Lindall, No Place to Hide, 1959.) Also, by ca. 1920, NZ. Slatter, 'Is he pulling my tit?'

pull up. To arrest: 1812 (Vaux): c. >, by 1835, low s. >, by 1870, coll. >, by 1910, S.E. (Dickens in Boz.) Ex the act of pulling up, a checking, a fugitive. Cf. pull, v., 1.

pull up a Jack. To stop a post-chaise on the highway with a view to robbery: c. of ca. 1810–50. Vaux.

pull up (one's) boot. To make money: costermongers': —1909. Ware, 'When a man prepares for his day's work, he pulls on and strings up his boots.' Cf. pull (one's) socks up.

pull up stakes. To depart; to move house: Aus.: C.20. Baker; Wilkes.

pull up the rope (, I'm all right). I.e., I am safe, and can afford to ignore the plight of others: used joc. of oneself, as a pretence of callous selfishness, but scathingly of this attitude when apparent in others: later C.20. A bowdlerised version of fuck you Jack, q.v. Ladder may substitute for rope: see PRISONER-OF-WAR SLANG, §14, in Appendix.

pull (one's) wire. (Of a male) to masturbate: low: C.20. Cf. pull (one's) pub...

pull wires. Var. of pull strings: low (?)mid-C.20. (P.B.)

pull your ear! Try to remember!: lower classes' c.p. of ca. 1860–1910. Ware.

pull your finger out! Hurry up! or Get on with the job!: synon. with take your finger out! (P-G-R.) Var.: get your ...; see take...

pull your head in! 'You're sticking your neck out'; be careful; stop talking wildly: Aus. c.p.: since ca. 1930. Often pull it in!; an ephemeral Sydneite var. of ca. 1948–51 was pull your skull in! (Sidney Baker, letter, 1950.) Rats, 1944, has 'Pull your head in, or people will think it's a cattle-train', of soldiers sticking their heads out of troop trains—perhaps the origin of the phrase.

pull your whatnot as long as my arm, I'll. A lowerdeck minatory c.p.: RN: since ca. 1940. (Peppitt.)

pulled. See pull, v., 1.

pulled up. See pull up.

pulled trade. Secured work: tailors' coll.: from ca. 1860.

Pullen is concerned, Mr. See pull in.

pullet. A young girl: coll.: C.19–early 20. (Bee; H., 3rd ed.) Cf. pulley and virgin pullet, qq.v.

pullet-squeezer. A womaniser that 'likes 'em young'; a 'chicken-fancier': from ca. 1830; somewhat ob. Ex prec.

pulley. A confederate thief, gen. a woman: c.:—1859; very ob. (H., 1st ed.) Ex Fr. poulet.

pullie, -y. A pullover, jumper: domestic coll.: since (?)ca. 1930. Cf. woolly pullie.

pullies. Women's drawers that are pulled on: feminine coll.: from ca. 1932. See quot'n at neathie-set. Imm. ex pull-ons, q.v.

pulling. A challenge from a gang, or from one of its members: Teddy-boys': since ca. 1947. Clancy Signal, Observer, 1 Mar. 1959.

pulling a (or the) cord, be. To be courting: Anglo-Irish: mid-C.19–20. (Charles Kickham, Knocknagow, 1879; P.W. Joyce, 1910.) Erotic?

pulling the right string?, are you. Are you correct?; are you going the right way about it?: cabinet-makers' c.p.: from 1863, says Ware. Ex small measurements being made with string.

Pullman. A shunting truck: railwaymen's: C.20. (Railway.) Ironic. See sidedoor pullman.

Pullman Pup, the. The night train running from Leeds to Scotland preceded that much more luxurious one from London to Scotland; hence this nickname of the former. Railway s.:—1890; ob. by 1930.

pully-hauly (in Grose, -hawly). A rough-and-tumble; a romp: coll.: late C.18–19, but in C.20 surviving in dial. and, as coll., in:—2. Play at pully-hauly, to romp with women; esp. to copulate: coll.: late C.18–20; slightly ob. by 1930. The idea, however, is extant in dial. pulling and hauling time and dragging time: cf. the † dial. pulling time. See Grose, P.

pulp. Nonsense; excessive sentimentality: Society: 1924 (Galsworthy, The White Monkey); ob. (Collinson.)—2. A later C.20 shortening of-pulp magazines. The cheap, inferior (not the good) American magazines dumped on the Eng. market: coll.: since ca. 1920. Fit only to be pulped. But more probably because printed on paper already used once and re-pulped. Dr Leechman modifies thus, 'These were so called because they were printed on pulp paper, which is the same (approx.) as newspaper'; orig., the paper was presumably wood-pulp paper. P.B.: in later C.20, often the pulps, with special ref. to science fiction magazines of the 1930s–40s.

pulpit. An artillery-observation ladder; army, esp. gunners': WW1. F. & G.—2. A BE9 aircraft: RFC/RAF: WW1, then historical. (Duncan W.G. Milne, Wind in the Wires, 1933.) Ex the box-like plywood cockpit projecting from the front of the machine.—3. (?)Hence, the cockpit of any aircraft: RAF: since ca. 1935. H. & P. pulpit-banger, -cuffer, -drubber, -drummer, -smiter, -thumper; pulpit-cuffing, -drubbing, etc. A ranting parson; a violent sermon or moral exhortation: coll. bordering on S.E.: late C.17–20; -drubber (-drubbing), † by 1850; -cuffer and -drummer, very ob.

pulpiteers. A 'Cloister-time' rearrangement of two upper forms: Winchester:—1891: coll. See Wrench's Winchester Word Book and cf. cloisters.

pulpit. The penis: workmen's: late C.19–early 20.

pultan. A regiment: Anglo-Indian, esp. army, coll.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.) Y. & B. list variants pulton, -oon, -un, and derive it ex a blend of battalion and Fr. péloton; they note that it was applied properly only to 'native units'. P.B.: contrast paltan. Pulverizer, the. 'Nickname for the giant Stirling bomber, and very apt too' (H. & P.): RAF: 1941–3.

pum-pum. A fiddler: coll.: C.18–mid-19. (F. & H.) Echoic. pump, n. The female pudend: low coll.: late C.17–20; ob. Also (as in Ned Ward) pump-dale.—2. The penis: low: C.18–20; ob. Also pump-handle.—3. A breaking of wind: Scots low coll.: C.19–20.—4. A public-house: Scots coll.: C.19–early 20.—5. A solemn noodle: low: mid-C.19–early 20. Cf. pomp in the sense.—6. See ignorant as a pump; purser's pump.

pump, v. To coit with (a woman): low: C.18–early 20.—2. To urinate: low coll.: C.18–20; ob. except in form pump ship.—3. To break wind: Scots low coll.: C.19–20.—4. To duck under the pump: coll.: late C.17–mid-18. Esp. as treatment applied to bailiffs, constables and pickpockets. B.E.—5. To weep: low: 1837, Marryat, 'And she did pump/While I did jump/In the boat to say, Good bye.' Ob. Partly ex S.E. sense, partly ex pumps, n., q.v.

Pump-and-Tortoises, the; or the Pump and Tortoise. The 38th Regiment of Foot, in late C.19–20 the South Staffordshire Regt: military: from ca. 1770; ob. Ex their enforced abstemiousness and physical debility when kept in the West Indies for an appalling number of years in the earlier C.18. F. & G.

pump at Aldgate. In a draught or bill on the pump... , a bad bill of exchange: commercial: late C.18–19. Grose, 1st ed., at draught.

pump-handle, n. See pump, n., 2.—2. V. In greeting, to shake (a hand or person by the hand) as if working a pump: coll.: 1858 (R.S. Surtees: OED). Also v.i.

pump-handler. A hand-shake as in prec.: coll.: J.T. Hewlett, 1844, 'Exchanged the salute for a most hearty old English pump-handler' (OED).

pump is good but your or the sucker's dry, your. A c.p. address to one trying to pump, i.e. extract information: from ca. 1780; ob. Grose.

pump (oneself) off. To masturbate: low: C.19–early 20. Cf. pump (one's) pickle.

pump(-)packing. Tough steak: R. Aus. N: WW2. B., 1943.

Pump Parliament, the. The Long or Pension Parliament of Charles II of England: nickname: 1677, J. Verney, 'A little water put into a pump fetches up a good deal' (OED); now only historical.

pump (one's) pickle. (Of a male) to masturbate: Can. low: C.20. Cf. jerk (one's) gherkin.

pump ship. To make water: nautical s. (—1788) >, ca. 1870, gen. gentlemanly coll. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. To vomit: nautical: late C.18–mid-19. Ibid.

pump-sucker. A teetotaller: low: ca. 1870–1930.

pump-thunder, n. A blusterer: coll.: C.19–early 20.

pump thunder, v. To bluster. As prec.—2. See go to hell and pump thunder.

pump-water. See christened in ...; plain as a yard of ...; pusser's grin; right up and down ...; yard of ...

pumped, be. 'To stand drinks all round': nautical: C.20 Bowen.

pumper. Any effort that puts one out of breath: coll.:—1886 (Cassell's Encyclopaedic Dict.).—2. Hence, a signal defeat: turf and sports coll.:—1923 (Manchon).—3. A very boring or wearisome questioner: coll.:—1923 (Ibid.). Ex S.E. pump, to question.

pumping. The vbl n. of pump, v., 4, q.v. Grose.

pumpkin, pompkdn. A man or woman of Boston: late C.18—early 19. Grose, 1785, 'From the number of pumpkins raised and eaten' there. (Whence, perhaps, the orig. and mainly US some—occ. big—pumpkins, persons—occ. things—of importance. Coll.: mid-C.19–20.)—2. The head: mid-C.19–20.—3. See think pumpkins of ...

Pumpkinshire, also Pomp. 'Boston, and its dependencies' (Grose). See pumpkin, 1.

pumps. Eyes: low: 1825, Buckstone, 'Your pumps have been at work—you've been crying, girl': ob. by 1910, † by 1935. Cf. pump, v., last sense. P.B.: judging by the context, it seems that 'tear-ducts' rather than 'eyes' is meant.

pun. Punishment: Harrow School: mid-C.19–20. Abbr., s. > coll. Cf. pun-paper.

pun (v.i.) or pun (v.t.), at Hertford; pun out (v.i. and t.), London. To inform (against): Christ's Hospital School, orig. at the country section: mid-C.19–20. Ex dial. pun, to pound. pun-paper. Ruled paper for impositions: Harrow. See pun, n., 1.

punce, n. An occ. var. of ponce: Brit. and Aus.: C.20. Baker, letter, 1946; Powis, 1977.—2. The female pendent: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) See also punse.—3. An effeminate male; a homosexual: Aus. low: since ca. 1925. (B., 1943.) Ex either 1 or 2, or both.

punce, v. To kick (someone) with one's clogs: Lancashire: late C.19–20. (Manchester Guardian, 2 May 1950.) Ex S.E. punch and s. purr.

punch (or P.); Suffolk punch. An inhabitant of Suffolk: coll. nickname:—1884, 'The famous breed of horses'.—2. As Punch, a short, thickest man: navvies' nickname: mid-C.19—early 20. D.W. Barrett, Navvies, 1880.—3. See cobbler's punch.

punch, v. To deflower: coll.: C.18–19. Grose implies it in punchable, q.v. Ex S.E. punch, to pierce.—2. (Gen punch it.) To walk: c.: 1780, Tomlinson, 'Now she to Bridewell has punch'd it along'; Grose; Haggart.—3. V.i., to drink punch: 1804 (Coleridge: OED). Never very gen.; in C.20, †.—4. To drive (sheep) forcibly uphill or when they are tired: Aus.: C.20. Baker. Cf.:-

punch a cow. 'To conduct a team of oxen' (C.J. Dennis): Aus.: C.20. Cf. the now S.E. cow-puncher.

Punch and Judy. Lemonade: English Illustrated Magazine, June 1885; † by 1920.

punch-clo. A farm-labourer; clodhopper: rural coll.: C.19—early 20.

punch-drunk. Slap-happily crazed from the punching he's received: boxing coll.: since ca. 1925. (Answers, 30 Nov. 1940.) By ca. 1942 it was S.E.

Punch has done dancing. 'I can no longer accede to your constant, ungrateful, requests and solicitations': later C.19—early 20. (L.A., 1974.) See DCpp.

punch-house. A brothel: coll.: late C.17—mid-19. (B.E.) Ex the S.E. sense, a tavern where punch may be had, and ex punch, v., 1.

punch it. See punch, v., 2. Cf. also beat it and:- punch outsides. To go out of doors: c.: C.19—early 20. See punch, v., 2.

punch the breeze. See take it in the neck.

punch the Bundy (or b.). To register one's arrival or departure on a time-recording clock: Aus. workmen's coll.: since ca. 1935. Ex the clocks formerly made by Messrs. W.H. Bundy. (B.P.)

punch (orie's) ticket. To hit (a man) with a bullet: from 1899 (ob.), mostly military. J. Milne, The Epistles of Atkins, 1902.

punch-up. A fight with bare fists: low coll., from ca. 1920, > by 1970, gen. and widespread. Norman.

punch up the bracket. See bracket.

punch (one's) way ... See fight a bag ...

punchable. 'Ripe for man': (low) coll.: C.18–19. (A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed.) Ex punch, v., 1. Cf. punchable nun, q.v. at HARLOTS, in Appendix.

Puncheon Pilate. A lower classes' c.p. (—1909) 'jocosely addressed to a person in protest [against] some small asserted authority' (Ware). Punning Punch and Pontius Pilate.

puncher. A boxer: low: since ca. 1930. Norman.

punchy. Punch-drunk: low: since ca. 1930. Norman.—2. Aggressive, looking for a fight, as in 'It is "punchy" and operational to get the formation airborne rapidly' (Phantom): RAF: later C.20.

puncture. To deflower: cyclists' low s.; late C.19–20. Ex punctured tyres. Cf. punctured.—2. V.i. and in passive, (of cycle or rider) to get a puncture: coll.: from ca. 1893. Ex the tyre's being punctured. OED.

punctured. Damaged, fig., as in 'a punctured reputation': coll.: C.20.—2. Vaccinated: Services': ca. 1920–45. H. & P. pundit; occ., before C.20, pundet. An erudite expert: coll.: 1816. Saturday Review, 15 Mar. 1862, 'The doctors of etiquette and the pundits of refinement'. (By 1930, virtually S.E.) Ex Hindi panḍit, a learned man. OED; Y. & B.

pung. A whore: late C.16—mid-17. Middleton, Michaelmas Term, 1606, at III, i (Moe).—2. A surreptitious doze while on telephone duty: army signallers': WW1+. (F. & G.) Corrupted bung; cf. caulk, a sleep.

pungo (esp. go pungo). (Of a rubber tyre) to burst: coll.: earlier C.20. (Kipling, 'The Horse Marines', 1910, reprinted in A Diversity of Creatures, 1917 (R/Adml P.W. Brock); Manchon, 1923.) Partly ex punctured, partly echoic; cf. blunjie.

punish. To handle severely, as in boxing (1812); food and drink (1825); the bowling, at cricket (1845); a horse (1856); a plant (1882): s. >, in C.20, coll. OED.—2. To hurt, pain: coll. and dial.: from mid-C.19. EDD.

punish lugs. 'To talk incessantly' (McNeil): Aus. coll.: later C.20. See next, 4.

punisher. A hard hitter: in boxing, 1814 (Sporting Magazine: OED); at cricket, 1846 (Lewis).—2. A heavy task: coll.: 1827, Ibid., 'Fifty miles' road-work this day... a punisher' (OED).—3. A farrier that visits forges and cadges from his fellows without doing any work or rendering any service for the loan: London farriers': late C.19–20.—4. A long-winded bore: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1953.

punishing, adj. Exhausting; handling severely; esp. hard-hitting: s. >, ca. 1850, coll.: 1819, Moore, 'An eye that plann'd punishing deeds'; in boxing, 1820 (J.H. Reynolds: OED); in cricket, 1846; The Field, 28 Jan. 1882, 'Each course to-day was of the most punishing kind.'

punishment. Severe handling, orig. that dealt out by a cricketer or a boxer: s. >, ca. 1890, coll.: 1846, W. Denison (Lewis); 1856, H.H. Dixon.—2. Pain; misery: coll. and dial.: from mid-C.19. EDD.

Punjab head. Forgetfulness; to have a Punjab head, to be forgetful: Anglo-Indian, esp. Indian Army's: from the 1880s. An allusion to the (supposed) fact that service in the Punjab saps the memory.

punk, n. [Orig., a prostitute or strumpet, a harlot: obs. or rare arch.: 1596 (origin unkn.): SOD.] A punctured tyre: cyclists': late C.19—early 20.—2. Nonsense, 'bilge', twaddle: 1927, Dorothy L. Sayers, Unnatural Death, 'We had to sit through a lot of moral punk... about the prevalence of jazz and the immoral behaviour of modern girls.' Like the adj., it comes from the USA. Semantically, it is comparable to rot, n.—3. A young fellow that, having just started to work for a carnival, thinks he knows everything: Can. carnival s.: since ca. 1910. Adopted from US. See Underworld.—4. (?) Hence, a young elephant: Can. circus s., adopted ca. 1950 (if not 20 years earlier) ex US. Leechman cites Islander (Victoria, BC), 19 Dec. 1971.—5. As the term for a type of music (short for punk rock, an apparently deliberate working-class teenage flouting of middle-class conventions and taste that was soon to be commercialised) it arose in mid-1970s and was very soon S.E. Self-derogatorily ex the adj. (P.B.)—6. See punk and plaster, and punker.

punk, v. To puncture (a tyre): cyclists': late C.19—early 20. See prec., 1.

punk, adj. Worthless; decidedly inferior; displeasing, 'rotten': from ca. 1917, via American soldiers: low, as in US, where, via punky (1876), ex punk (touchwood), it originated in late C.19. Thornton; Irwin.

punk and plaster. Food: army: WW1+. (F. & G.) Often simply punk (B. & P.) Perhaps ex Can. Forces' usage: in Canada, punk=bread, dated from ca. 1900.—2. Bread and margarine: tramps' c.: adopted, ex US,—1932 (F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps).

punk grafter. A beggar: Liverpool street arabs': late C.19—early 20. (Arab.) Cf. punk, adj., and grafter, 4.

punkah. Engine-cooling fan on a motorcycle: motorcyclists': since (?) ca. 1950. (Dunford.) Ex S.E. use of Hindi pankha, a fan. Cf.:- punkah (one's) face. To fan oneself: Anglo-Indian:—1909 (Ware).

punker. A frequenter of punks or harlots: ca. 1735—1800. Addison (OED).

punny. Punishment: Manchester Grammar School: since ca. 1870. (Marples.) Cf. pun, n., 1.

punse. The female pudend: Yiddish and low London: late C.19—20 See also punco, 2.

punt, n. An occ. var. (recorded in 1862: F. & H. at Sheeney) of poona, £1.—2. A promotion in school: Scottish Public Schools': C.20. (Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.) Ex v., 4.—3. A look: since ca. 1950. (Ted Willis, Man-Eater, 1976.) Ex Rugby football.—4. See take a punt at...

punt, v. To act as a decoy: auctioneers':—1891. See punter, 1. Prob. ex:—2. To bet upon a race, etc.: 1873, implied in punter; Pall Mall Gazette, 13 Sep. 1887. (OED.) Ex punting at faro, baccarat, etc.—3. Hence, to be a purchaser, to buy something: grafters': late C.19—20. (Cheapjack, 1934.) Cf. sense 4 of punter.—4. (V.t., gen in passive.) To promote to another form: Scottish Public Schools': C.20. Ian Miller. Ex football.

punt-about. An irregular form of football: Charterhouse coll.:—1900 (A.H. Tod). Cf. shoot-about.

punter. An auctioneer's decoy or mock-bidder: auctioneers': from ca. 1880. See esp. Answers, 2 Apr. 1891. Prob. suggested by punting, q.v.—2. A better or gambler: since mid-C.19. Renton Nicholson, An Autobiography, 1860, 'No. 14, Park Place, St James's Street, was an elegant gambling-house, frequented by the highest class of "punters".' Hence, An outsider betting on horses in a small way: s. (—1874) >, by 1900, coll. >, by 1920, S.E.—3. Hence, a small-scale speculator 'watching the fluctuations in speculative securities' (A.J. Wilson): from the early 1890s: s. >, by 1910, coll. >, by 1920, S.E.—4. (Prob. ex sense 2.) 'A grafter's customer, client, or victim': grafters': late C.19—20. (Allingham.) Ex punt, v., 3.—5. A large mug or tankard (of beer): joc. public-house term: from ca. 1930. With a pun on sense 2: 'a big mug'.—6. A pickpocket's assistant: NZ c.: C.20. (B., 1941.) Ex sense 1.—7. 'The "punters" (dealer-buyers) who promenaded the Street' (Warren Street, centre of the London secondhand-car dealers): the secondhand-car business: since ca. 1945. (Sunday Times colour sup., 24 Oct. 1965, article by Richard Cowdy.) Prob. ex sense 3.—8. 'Someone with money looking for a scheme to put it into and ignorant of the ways of the morrie world [underworld and its fringes]. An extreme case would be called "a mug punter" or "a half-wide mug"' (Robin Cook, The Crust on its Uppers, 1962): since ca. 1945: c. >, by ca. 1960, also low s. Ex the racing sense.—9.

As in 'Men who cruise around in cars looking for women—the punters—will be taken to police stations and interrogated' (Bradford Telegraph & Argus, 28 Mar. 1978, quoted by Helen Roberts in New Society, 6 Apr. 1978, in a article about a series of sex murders). Perhaps also in this sense is the use, in Amateur Photographer, 19 July 1978 (article about 'glamour' photography), 'Clinical shots for the sake of a turn on for some punter are not my scene.' These senses are perhaps ex prostitutes' use of sense 4, a 'customer'. (P.B.)—10. (As specialisation of sense 7) 'Person who comes in [to the car show-room] but has no intention of buying anything' (Clive Graham-Ranger, Sunday Telegraph mag., 9 Aug. 1981). But by 1983 the term had come to mean loosely, and merely, a customer of any sort: s. verging on coll. (P.B.) punting. (Gen. of an outsider) a betting on horse-races: from ca. 1873. See punt, v., 2.

punting-shop. A gambling den: 1874 (H., 5th ed.). Cf. punt, v., 2.

pup, n. A pupil: school and college s.: 1871 ('M. Legrand'). Joc. approximated to pup=a puppy. Cf. pupe, q.v. OED.—2. Hence, in RAF, a pupil pilot (Jackson); also pups (Charles Graves, Seven Pilots, 1943). Cf. pup's Bible.—3. A paid-up policy: insurance world's: C.20.—4. A trailer: hauliers' s.: since ca. 1920. Cf. entries at HAULIERS', in Appendix.—5. Mostly in the night's (only) a pup, it's still early: Aus., at least mainly: C.20. (Kylie Tennant, Lost Haven, 1947.) Suggested by the (familiar) S.E. the night's still young.—6. In in pup, pregnant: low coll.: from ca. 1860.—7. See sell a pup, which includes its opp., buy a pup; Sopwith Pup.

pup, v. To be brought to childbed: low coll.: from ca. 1860. (As a bitch; cf. whelp.)

Pup and Ringer, the. The Dog and Bell, 'a flash public house' in London ca. 1860—70. H., 3rd ed.

pupe. A pupil-room: Eton College: mid-C.19—20. Cf. pup, n., 1.—2. One who, to learn acting, is attached to a company: theatrical: from ca. 1920. (Passing Show, 29 Apr. 1933.) Ex pupil.—3. A pupil pilot: RAF: WW2. (P-G-R.) Cf. pup, n., 2. puppies, the. The dogs', greyhound racing or coursing: Aus.: since ca. 1946. (B.P.) Cf. synonym. the yuppies.

puppy, n. and adj. (A) blind (man): c. > low s.: from ca. 1850; ob. Mostly US (e.g. in Matsell). Ex the 'blindness' of new-born puppies.

puppy-dog. A puppy: children's coll.: late C.16—20. Shakespeare. (OED).

puppy-dog corner. 'The corner of Collins and Swanston Streets, Melbourne' (B., 1942): Aus.: C.20. Where the gay young dogs congregated.

puppy(-)fat. Fattiness that, acquired from eating starchy food, lacks substance: coll.: since ca. 1910. P.B.: applied to children and adolescents; by later C.20, S.E.

puppy-hole. A late C.19—20 var. of pupe, 1. Marples.

puppy-match. A snare: coll.: ca. 1690—1750. J. Smyth's Scarronides, 'He... might catch/Us Trojans in a puppy-match.' ?ex the stealing of puppies.

puppyism. Affectation or excessive care in costume or posture: Army officers' coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. doggy, adj.

puppy's mamma. See dog's lady.

pup's Bible, the. The Flying Training Manual: RAF: since ca. 1925. (Jackson.) Ex pup, n., 2.

pupsie, popsy. A puppy: a children's coll.: C.17—20. (Cotgrave.) Cf. popsy. OED.

Furby, the. The Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood: Society: ca. 1850—90. (Ware.) Ex the initials P.R.B.

purchase. Stolen goods; booty: c.: late C.16—mid-17. Greene; Shakespeare. (Baumann).—2. Those from whom it is taken: c.: late C.16—early 17. Greene, 1592.

pure, n. A mistress, esp. a kept mistress; a wanton: ca. 1685—1830: c. >, ca. 1750, low s.: 1688, Shadwell, 'Where's ... the blowing that is to be my natural, my convenient, my pure?' Cf. purest pure, q.v. By antiphrasis.—2. A 'pure' physician, a 'pure' surgeon. (I.e. the one, not the other; not a general practitioner.) Medical coll.: 1827 (Lancet: OED). —3. 'Dog's dung is called pure, from its cleansing and purifying properties' (Mayhew): coll. >, ca. 1905, j.: 1851. —4. See doss in the pure.

pure, adj. Excellent; splendid; very pleasant. (Indeed, a gen. intensive.) Ca. 1675–1900, though ob. by 1850; it is, however, extant in several diall. Wycherley, 1675 (OED); Cibber, 1704, 'She looks as if my master had quarrelled with her... This is pure'; Henley & Stevenson, 1884, 'O, such manners are pure, pure, pure!' Cf. purely, q.v.—2. In pure and (another adj.), nice, or fine, and...; also quasi-adverbially, excellently, very well, thoroughly. 1742, Fielding, '[The hogs] were all pure and fat': coll. >, ca. 1840, dial. OED.

pure-finder. A street collector of dogs' dung: coll. from ca. 1850; in C.20, j.; ob. by 1935. (Mayhew, 1851.) See pure, n., 3.

pure Merino(es). See Merinoes.

purely. Excellently; very well: 1695 (Congreve): s. >, ca. 1750, coll. Hood: OED.

purest pure. 'A Top-Mistress, or Fine Woman' (B.E.); 'a courtesan of high fashion' (Grose): ca. 1690–1830: c. >, ca. 1750, (low) s. Ex pure, n., 1.

purgatorial list. (Of officers) to be retired: Army officers' jocular coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Ex purgatory (between hell and heaven).

purge, n. Beer: military and low gen.: from ca. 1870. Cf. the barrack-room c.p. rhyme, recorded by F. & H. in 1902, Comrades, listen while I urge; Drink, yourselves, and pass to purge. Ob. by 1925.—2. 'A newly arrived batch of kriegies from... the Luftwaffe interrogation centre. From this, also, the passive verb, "To be purged"' (Paul Brickhill & Conrad Norton, Escape to Danger, 1946); prisoners of war in Germany, 1940–5. Satirical ref. to the Nazi purges and 'blood-baths'. Kriegie = prisoner of war.—3. 'A concentrated complaint or moan from a well-known source is called "a purge-on by So and So". A habitual grumbler is called by this name in many places' (H. & P.): Services': since 1939.

purge, v.i. To swear, grumble; worry audibly: Services': WW1+. F. & G., 'The Captain purged no end about it.' —2. (V.t.) To dismiss from employment (gen. in passive): coll.: since ca. 1930. Cf. Pride's Purge.—3. See n., 2.

purger or perger. A teetotaler; hence, a pej.: ca. 1860–1920: low. Vance, ca. 1864, in The Chickaleary Cove, 'My tailor serves you well, from a purger to a swell.' ?one who, to keep himself fit, takes laxatives or purges instead of beer: cf. purge, n., 1.

puritan, Puritan. A whore: coll.: C.18. Prob. ex Puritans' reputed hypocrisy. P.B.: but see also pure, n., 1.

purko. Beer: military: ca. 1870–1910. Ex the name of the makers, Barclay, Perkins and Co. Perhaps influenced by purger and suggested by perkin.

purll, n. A fall, or a dive, head foremost or head over heels: 1825 (Sporting Magazine: OED): s. >, ca. 1870, coll. Ex S.E. purl, to whirl or spin round. Cf. purler, 1, and the v.—2. See purler, 2.

purl, v.i. and v.t. To turn head over heels: coll. and dial.: 1856 (Reade). Ex purl, n.—2. To dive: Winchester College: late C.19–20. (Wrench.) Ex the n.

purler. A headlong fall; a throw head foremost; a knock-down blow, esp. a blow that casts one head foremost: coll.: 1867 (Ouida, in her best-known story, Under Two Flags). Ex purl, v. (q.v.), influenced by purl, n. Var. pirler; pirl is frequent in dial. for the prec. pair of terms.—2. Something exceptionally good: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Also purl. P.B.: perhaps rather pearl?

purple, n. Blood: Scottish: 1804 (Couper, Poetry); ob. (EDD.) Cf. claret.

purple, adj. Glorious; 'royal': coll., 1894, Pall Mall Gazette, 20 Dec., 'A purple time of it'. Ex the purple of royal robes (cf. born in the purple). OED.

purple emperor. The senior engineer of a squadron or fleet: RN: 1950s' (Peppitt). A pun on the butterfly's name. See-purple empire. An establishment in which many of the executive officers are Engineering Officers (wearing a purple stripe between their gold bands): RN officers': since ca. 1945.—2. Hence, FAA officers, there being numerous Engineering Officers in this branch of the Service: RN officers': since ca. 1946.

purple heart. A dextrine pill used narcotically: teenage drug addicts': since ca. 1960. One of the minor drugs. P.B.: a 'Purple Heart' is a US decoration equivalent to the British Services' wound-stripe, a badge denoting that a man has been wounded in action. The drug term was adopted ex US.

purple para. 'A brand of port; more generally a pejorative term for port' (McNeil): Aus.: later C.20.

purpose, a- or o'. On purpose: S.E. (gen. a purpose) >, ca. 1790, dial. and low coll. OED.

purrr, n. 'A rushing-in, Lancashire fashion, with the head against the opponent's guts' (Bee, 1823): pugilistic: ca. 1810–50. It causes the opponent to purrr or grunt.

purrr, v. To kick (someone) violently: Lancashire: C.19–20. 'If they [the Russian soldiers in Crimea] started to kick, some of our Lancashire lads would soon give them a lesson in "pausing" and "purrring" [both = kick: EDD]' (T. Gowing, A Soldier's Experience, 1885); E. Jervis, Twenty-Five Years, 1925, "purrring" the "copper" with their clogs.'

purse, n. The scrotum: coll.: C.17–18. 'Ex the "Epistle Dedicatory" to George Thornley's trans. of Daphnis and Chloe' (R.S.). Hence, to have no money in (one's) purse, to be impotent: low: C.19–20.—2. The female pudend: low coll.: C.17–20. Beaumont & Fletcher.—3. In give (someone's) purse a purgation, to take his money: coll.: ca. 1540–80. Heywood; Bullein (Apperson).

purse, v.i. To take purses; to steal: late C.16–17: low coll. (? orig. s.). Lyly, 1592 (OED). Beaumont & Fletcher, in The Scornful Lady, 'Why I'll purse: if that raise me not, I'll bet at bowling alleys.'

purse-bouncer. A swindler practising the purse-trick: C.20: low. OED records it for 1902.

purse-catcher, -emptier, -lifter, -snatcher. A stealer of purses: s. or coll. verging on S.E.: resp. C.17, C.17, late C.19–20, late C.19–20. OED.

purse-finder. A harlot: low: C.19—early 20.

purse-proud. Lecherous; amorous: low: C.18—early 20. See purse, n.

pursetnets. C. of ca. 1608–1830: 'Goods taken upon Trust by young Unthrifits at treble the Value' (B.E.); Grose, 1st ed.; but first in Dekker. Cf. the dial. purse-net, the movable net in which ducks are snared, and rabbit-sucker.—2. Also, though prob. in the singular form: a small purse: ca. 1690–1750: app. likewise c. B.E.

purser's. Contemptuous or derisive in purser's dip, an undersized candle; purser's quart (Smollett), a short quart; etc.: nautical coll.: C.18—early 20. Because a purser, i.e. ship's storekeeper and treasurer, was often dishonest.—2. Short for purser's name.—3. Purser occurs in many nautical terms, in C.19–20 often in the form pusser's. Terms which in later C.20 are more gen. recognisable in the latter version will be found at pusser's.

purser's grind. A coition bringing the woman no money but some consolation in the size or potency of the member: low nautical: mid-C.19–20.

purser's name. A false name: nautical coll. >, in C.20, S.E.: C.19–20; ob. Ex false name given to the purser by a passenger travelling incognito. (W.) An early example occurs in Bill Truck, Feb. 1826; in W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at II, 64, it is shortened to purser's (Moe).

purser's pump. A siphon, because prominent in a purser's stores; a bassoon, 'from its likeness to a syphon' (Grose, 1788): nautical of ca. 1785–1890.—2. The midshipman's cant [i.e. slang] term for a spy-glass' (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 1834, at I, 45): RN: C.19; † by 1890. (Moe.)

purser's shirt on a handspike (, like a). (Of clothes) ill-fitting; nautical: C.19—early 20. An early occurrence: 1821, P. Egan, London. Also in W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book, II, 1826.

purting glumpot. A sulky person: dial. and low coll.: from ca. 1850. Ex glum, gloomy, and dial. pur, to sulk.

purty. See pertry.

Puseum, the. Pusey House in St Giles's Street, Oxford: Oxford University: late C.19—early 20. On museum.

Puseyite. A coll. term of general abuse at Oxford ca. 1840–60. (Cf. R.S. Surtees, Mr Sponge's Sporting Tour, ch. xxi, 1853.)

push, n. (As enterprise, moral energy, it has, contrary to frequent opinion, been always S.E.: 1855, OED).—2. A thronging, a crowd, of people: low s. (perhaps orig. c.) >, in C.20, gen. s.: 1718, C. Hitchin, 'A push, alias an accidental crowd of people'; Vaux, 1812, 'When any particular scene of crowding is alluded to, they [the underworld] say, the push ... at the ... doors; the push at the ... match.' Ex the inevitable pushing and jostling.—3. Hence, a gang or a group of convicts, as in Davitt's Prison Diary, 1888; or a band of thieves, as in 'No. 747', ref. to the year 1845; or, in Aus., a gang of larrikins, as in the Melbourne Argus, 26 July 1890, and esp. in Morris's dictionary: in C.19, c.; in C.20, low s., as indeed the 'larrikins' sense was from the first.—4. Hence, any company or party, group, association, or set of people: C.20. (The US sense (Thornton, 1912), 'a combination of low politicians', derives directly from Aus., where an early example occurs in Alex. Macdonald, In the Land of Pearl and Gold, 1907.)—5. Hence, in WW1 + Services' coll., a military or a naval unit, but esp. a battalion, a battery, or a ship's crew. Cf. military sense of mob, n.—6. A robbery; a swindle; a dealing out of profits: c.: from ca. 1860; slightly ob. (H., 5th ed.) Not unnaturally ex sense 3.—7. A foreman: Can., esp. among lumbermen: from before 1932. (John Beames.) Ex his urging the men on.—8. In do a push, to depart; esp. to run away: c.:—1865; ob. by 1930.—9. In do a push, to coit: low, gen. of the male: late C.19–20. The female version, C.18–19, was stand the push.—10. In give or get the push, a dismissal, esp. from employment: from ca. 1870: s. >, by 1910, coll. Anon., ca. 1875, 'The girl that stole my heart has given me the push.' See also order of the push.—11. See tiddly push.

push, v.i. (occ. push on), rarely v.t. To copulate: low, gen. of the male: C.18–20. (Robertson of Struan.) See push, n., 9, and cf. push in the bush.—2. To get through time which must be endured rather than enjoyed, as in 'How long to do [=serve] now?'—'Three weeks to push': National Servicemen's: 1950s. (P.B.)—3. See push off; pushed.

push, adj. See posh, adj.

push a bit of bow back. To have a sleep: army: early C.20. (B. & P.) I.e. bowed back.

push about the bottle. To drink heavily: Naval officers': ca. 1790–1870. (Moe.) Cf. push the boat out.

push-and-pull. A (little) motor-train that reverses at the termini: railwaymen's:—1935.

push (one's) barrow. To move on, away; to depart: mostly costers': from ca. 1870. Contrast push (one's) own barrow.

push-bike, s.; push-cycle, coll. A foot-propelling bicycle as opp. to a motor-cycle: coll.: resp. from ca. 1910 and ca. 1904. Cf. derivative:-

push-bike. (Gen. v.i.) To ride on a bicycle: from ca. 1910. S.P.B. Mais, A Schoolmaster's Diary, 1918, 'I "push-biked" the eight miles into Lewes.' Ex the n.

push-cyclist. A bicyclist, opp. to a motorcyclist: coll.: from ca. 1905.

push in the bush is worth two in the hand, a. A workingmen's parody of the proverb a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush: since ca. 1925. Erotic. See also one in the bush; push, n., 9, and v., 1.

push in the truck, n. Copulation: low rhyming s., on fuck: C.20. James Curtis, They Drive by Night, 1938, 'I ain't had a push in the truck since I came out of the nick.'

push (one's) luck. To take a risk, to 'chance one's arm': coll.:

since the 1930s. Esp., in mid-C.20 army usage, negative, as 'Don't push your luck [with me]!' Cf. US synon. crowd (one's) luck.

push off. To depart: mid-C.18–20. Sessions, May 1740 (trial of Eliz. Pooley), 'He ... heard somebody cursing and swearing and a woman ... say, d—n it, push off, or go off.' Same semantics as for shove off: pushing off a boat.—2. Hence, to begin, v.i., esp. of a game: C.20.

push on — keep moving! A c.p., ex a quot'n. from Thomas Morton's A Cure for the Heart Ache, 1797, at II, i.: very short lived, poss. less than 10 years.

push out the boat. To pay for a round of drinks: orig. RN, since late C.19; by later C.20, Services' gen., and often in the form push the boat out [q.v.], as, 'Whose turn to ...?'

push-over. See pushover.

push (one's) own barrow. To boast; to look out for oneself only: Aus. coll: since ca. 1910. Vance Palmer, Golconda, 1948.

push-penny. A coll. var. (—1903) of shove-halfpenny.

push-pin, occ. -pike, play at; play at put-pin. To coit: low coll.: resp. C.17–18, late C.17–18, and mid-C.16–mid-18. Rychardes, Misogonus, 1560; Massinger, 1623, 'She would never tell/Who play'd at pushpin with her'; Ned Ward, 1707, 'When at push-a-pike we play/With beauty, who shall win the day?' Cf. push, v., 2, push, n., 9, and pushing-school. See play at in-and-out.

push powder. To sell narcotics: adopted, ca. 1955, ex US.

push-pudding. A bachelor: low: C.20. A ref. to self-abuse.—2. As Lady Push-Pudding, an affectionate term for a very small girl: late C.19—earlier 20. Used also, pej., as = Lady Muck, any forceful, thrusting female: id. (P.B.)

push the boat out. As a c.p., equivalent to fuck you, Jack, I'm all right!, and pull the ladder (or the rope) up!, it was popular with the soldiers in WW1.—2. To pay for a round of drinks: orig. RN wardroom, since ca. 1924; later, also army and RAF, and Other Ranks'. (Granville; P.B.) Perhaps ex old-fashioned wine-container, shaped like a boat—a suggestion in Soldier Magazine, July 1979.—3. Hence, to be generous, act generously, with money: low: C.20. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937.—4. Loosely, to exaggerate to extremes, to 'make a splash of', as in: 'Thames did a T.V. documentary based on Sloane Rangers and really pushed the boat out' (Peter York, Style Wars, 1980, p. 16).

push the brush out. (Of a convict) to attract the attention of a warder: c.:—1933 (Charles E. Leach). It is occ. done in this way when the convict is in his cell.

push the chain. To depart: Can., esp. Southern Saskatchewan: later C.20. (Robin Leach, 1974.)

push the knot. To be on tramp: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

push the pavement. To sell goods in the street: Black Market: since ca. 1941. Duncan Webb, Daily Express, 17 Sep. 1945.

push up. In be at the push-up, to work with a gang of pickpockets: c.:—1933 (Charles E. Leach). B., 1942, records Aus. c. push up for, to approach, as a pickpocket his victim. Perhaps cf. push, n., 3, 6, and see pusher, 8. Powis, 1977, defines at the push-up, 'Stealing by picking pockets in crowds.'

push up the scale. A rise in salary: lower classes' coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

pushed. Short of money: coll.: from ca. 1825. Abbr. pushed for money.—2. Drunk: ca. 1870–1910. Perhaps ex the tendency to fall.—3. Bustled: ship-stewards' coll.:—1935.—4. Late: army: since late C.19. Ex 'pushed for time'. See quot'n at tripe, 6, and ARMY SLANG, verse 3, in Appendix.—5. See did she fall or was she pushed?

pusher. A fledgling canary unable to feed itself: ca. 1690–1750. (B.E.) Perhaps because it pushes with its bill.—2. A girl, a woman: low: late C.19—earlier 20. Esp. square pusher, q.v., a virtuous girl.—3. A blucher boot: shoemakers': later C.19.—4. (Usu. pl, and often old pushers.) Shoe or slipper, loose from wear, that hangs on, rather than fits, the foot: domestic coll.: C.20. (L.A., 1978).—5. A finger of bread used as a feeding-implement: nursery coll.: since ca. 1880.—6. An aeroplane with propeller behind the main lifting surface: airmen's coll., since ca. 1916, very soon > j. OED Sup.—7. A scene-shifter: theatrical:—1935.—8. In pickpocketry, he who pushes the prospective victim against the actual thief: c.: late C.19–20. (Charles E. Leach, 1933.) See also push up.—9. A rifle: Guards Depot at Caterham: WW1. John o'London, 3 Nov. 1939.—10. One who 'pushes' or sells drugs to others (rather than taking them himself): drug addicts': adopted, ca. 1955, ex the underworld.

pusher-up. Var. of prec., 8. Stanley Jackson, Soho, 1946.

pushing (such-and-such an age). 'Getting on for', as in, e.g., 'He's 59, pushing 60': coll.: C.20. (Petch; L.A.) Cf. knocking on for.

pushing daisies. Dead and buried: see daisy-pushing.

pushing-school. A brothel: low: late C.17–19. Ex the S.E. sense, a fencing-school: cf. also push, v., 1, and n., 9.

pushing-tout. A thieves' scout or watchman that brings intelligence of an accidental crowd or assemblage: c.: C.18. C. Hitchin, 1718.

pushing-up, n. Corresponds to push up for (B., 1943): see push up.

pushing up (the) daisies. More gen. var. of pushing daisies.

pushite. A member of a gang of larrikins: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

pushover. Something easy to do; a girl easy to 'make': Aus.: adopted, ca. 1925, from US. Rats, 1944, 'I've got a couple of smashing lines who've come from Sydney for the Mayoral Ball. They're a couple of pushovers.' By 1945, also English.—2. A 'mug' or a 'softy': since ca. 1940; orig., Aus. (B.P.).

pushy. Pushful; thrusting: Anglo-Irish coll.: since ca. 1925. Ex push, energy, thrustfulness.

pus. The female pudend: low: C.17–20. Cotton, 'Æneas, here's a Health to thee, / To Pusse and to good company.' Also, in C.19–20, pus, pusy-cat.—2. A cadet of the Royal Military Academy: ca. 1820–80. Ex the short jacket with pointed tail. Also, ca. 1820–60, pusy.—3. A hare: coll., ex dial.: C.19–early 20.—4. 'Feminine type of lesbian' (Powis): low coll.: later C.20.

pus-in-boots. A swaggerer: army: early C.20. (F. & G.) Ex the fairy tale.

pus-pelmet. Var. of pusy-pelmet.

Pusher, pusser. Fairly common nickname of men surnamed Hill: earlier C.20. Why?—2. Any wound, sinus, or boil that freely discharges pus: medical students:—1933 (Slang).—3. The late C.19–20 lowerdeck, later gen. nautical, shape of purser. An early occurrence is in some nautical verses dated 17 Jan. 1852, in Punch, 24 Jan. 1852.—4. In to be pusser, 'To be one hundred percent Service' (Granville), i.e. entirely Service-minded: RN: C.20.—5. Purser or pusser occurs in many combinations denoting 'Naval', or 'RN issue': most of those recorded in this dictionary follow below; a few, older, terms will be found at purser's.

pusser-built. (Of a ship) smartly turned out, whether the vessel itself or its personnel: RN: late C.19–20. (Knock.) Hence, of a person, thorough-going, as in 'a pusser-built bastard': R Aus. N lowerdeck: C.20. P-G-R lists pusser ship, a very smart, severely disciplined ship.

pusserised. Synon. with pusser, 4: see also anchor-faced.

pusserpock. 'Bad, hard salt-meat' (Ware): RN: late C.19–earlier 20. A corruption of purser's pork, the purser being the purchaser.

pusser's, n. and adj. 'Anything [of] official pattern' (Knock): RN and RM (Hawke): late C.19–20. Cf. pusser, 3–5.

pusser's brown. 'Toilet paper; from the colour' (Granville): RN: mid-C.20.

pusser's cow. Tinned milk: R Aus. N: since ca. 1915. (B., 1943.) Cf. US Services' armoured cow, corned beef.

pusser's crabs. 'Navy uniform boots, with toe-caps': RN: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) See crab-shells.

pusser's dagger. A service clasp-knife: RN: late C.19–20. 'Taffrail'.

pusser's (earlier purser's) dip. A candle: nautical: early

C.19–early 20. It occurs in Fredk Marryat, Frank Mildmay, 1829, as 'a farthing dip' (Moe); Bowen; P-G-R.

pusser's dirk. Var. of pusser's dagger: RN, late C.19–20; by mid-C.20, also R Can. N (Victoria, BC, Daily Colonist, 19 June 1960, article 'Use Your Dirk!'). Bowen.

pusser's duck. A Supermarine Walrus flying-boat: RN: 1940+. Granville.

pusser's grey. Admiralty grey paint: RN coll.: C.20. Granville.

pusser's (earlier, purser's) grin. A hypocritical grin; a sarcastic sneer: nautical coll.: C.19–early 20. Esp. in the c.p., there are no half laughs or purser's grins about me; I'm right up and down like a yard of pump water. An early occurrence is in Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe).

pusser's halo. 'Cap grummet' (Granville): RN: mid-C.20.

pusser's hard. Naval issue soap: RN: since late 1950s. (Heart.) Granville, in a letter, 1962, notes 'Now used exclusively in preference to the old term, pusser's yellow or pusser's Vinolia.'

pusser's issue. Clothing, food, tobacco, etc., provided by the Admiralty: RN coll.: late C.19–20.

pusser's lisle. Regulation black-lisle stockings issued to Wrens: WRNS: from ca. 1940.

pusser's pack. The Slop Chest: RN coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

pusser's pound. 'Fourteen instead of sixteen ounces' (Granville): RN: C.20.

pusser's red. A bicycle provided for use in RN camp or barracks: RN/WRNS: later C.20. Usu. painted red. (Margot Wood, 1978.)

pusser's Spitfire. 'Swordfish aircraft [see Stringbag] which did magnificent work in WW2. It was very slow, as opposed to the Spitfire, but it was the best the Admiralty could supply to the Fleet at the time, hence the sarcasm' (Granville).

pusser's (earlier purser's) stocking. A metaphorical article in the Slop Chest: naval: mid-C.19–early 20. Bowen.

pusser's (earlier purser's) tally. A name assumed by a seaman, esp. if naval: (naval) coll.: C.19. (Bowen.) See also pusser's name.—2. (Only pusser's.) A Naval patrol: RN: C.20. P-G-R.

pusser's Vinolia. Naval issue soap: RN: since ca. 1920. (P-G-R.) Ex a well-known brand. See also pusser's hard.

pusser's wag(g)on. A warship: R Aus. N: since ca. 1930. B., 1943.

pusser's yellow. Navy issue soap: RN coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) See also pusser's hard.

pussey- or Pussey-cat. See pussey-cat.

pussies. 'When a crook speaks about "the pussies" he's talking about furs—or women. They go together. Furs, to the thieves, are the product of "cats"; and women are cats, as every crook knows' (Gosling, 1959): c. and low s.: C.20.

pussies and tussies. Permanent unattached supply staff and temporary unattached supply staff, two grades of part-time supply teachers, substitutes who 'fill in' for absent school-teachers: coll. acronyms: Leicestershire (? and other authorities') County Education Department, finance section. (Mrs Harry Gordon, 1978.)

pussey. See pus, 1. Hence, woman regarded as sex-object, as in 'Is there much pussey in this town?'; cf. pussies.—2. A rabbit: Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Cf. Brit. use of pus for 'hare'.—3. The cat-o'-nine-tails: prisons: earlier C.20. The use of this punishment was abolished in 1948. Tempest.—4. Used with any verb of action—as in 'They could gas pussey' (C.E. Montague, Fiery Particles, 1923)—to express ineffectuality or inefficiency.—5. See pussies.

pussey (in), v. To move very quietly: see AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.

pussey-cat. See pus, 1.—2. A Puseyite: Church: from ca. 1839; ob. by 1880, † by 1900. Cf. Puseum, q.v. Suggested by Puseyite (1838). Occ. Pussey-cat, as in H.—3. A cat: nursery coll.: 1837 (Marryat: OED).

pussey Nellie, -y. A male homosexual: mostly RN: since ca. 1910.

pussy pad. The rear half of a dual seat on a motorcycle' (Dunford): motorcyclists': since ca. 1960. Cf. peach perch, and:-

pussy-(or puss-)pelmet. A very short mini-skirt: later 1960s. A neat pun on pussy, the female pubic hair (and pudend).

pussy-struck. (Of a male, esp. a youth with a much older woman) infatuated: low: C.20. Although low, it is yet, in a measure, euph. for cunt-struck.

pussy willow. A pillow: rhyming s.: C.20. (This Week, 10 Mar. 1968.) Cf. weeping willow.

put, n. A rustic; a dolt: 1688 (Shadwell); Grose (country put, a frequent var.): s. until ca. 1750, then coll. until ca. 1830, then S.E. and archaic. The discrimination of put, a blockhead, and country put, a bumpkin, is logical: but the distinction cannot be pressed. See cloddy put.—2. Hence, loosely, a chap, fellow: coll.: ca. 1800–30. Gen. applied, somewhat contemptuously, to elderly persons: cf. Thackeray in Vanity Fair, I, xi, 'The captain... calls [his father] an old put.'—3. A harlot: ?C.17–18. (F. & H.) It occurs in Fielding's skit, Shamela, 1741. Shamela exults over the fine clothes she had got 'of the old put my mistress's'. (With thanks to Miss Elizabeth MacAndrew, Columbia University.) Ex Fr. putain, a whore.—4. In do a put; have a put-in; play at two-handed put, to copulate: low coll.: C.19; C.19–early 20; C.18–early 19. With the last, cf. push-pin.—5. See stay put.

put a bit of hair round it for you?; in full, shall I...? A Can. c.p. (C.20)—directed at any workman having trouble inserting something into something. Cf. don't look down... 'The conventional response is "Yes, if you've got the right kind"' (Leechman).

put a bung or sock in it. (Gen. imperative.) To 'shut up'; cease being noisy: military: C.20. (F. & G.) Here, it is the mouth.—2. (In barracks or hut) to close the door (bung only): id. Ibid.

put (or lay) a churl upon a gentleman. See churl.

put a cross—or an X—on the wall! 'A c.p. addressed to someone who has done something out of character, or when something strange and unexpected happens' (B.P.): Aus.: since late 1940s. The Brit. equivalent, often merely the gesture of licking the forefinger and writing on an imaginary wall, is used, either by the 'scorer' or by an onlooker, to mark a piece of 'one-up-manship'. (P.B.)

put a hat on (someone). To inform on. See down on.

put a hot (up) on a hen. To attempt the impossible: proverbial coll.: mid-C.17–mid-19. Ray.

put a jelly on the ashcan (or on the baby). 'Fix a gelatine diffuser in front of an iron-cased lamp' (Evening News, 7 Nov. 1939): cinema: since ca. 1930.

put a knife through (the) money. To share out illicit winnings: Aus. two-up-players': since ca. 1920. (B., 1953.) Cf. cop-out man.

put a nail in (a person's) coffin. To talk ill of: tailors': mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

put a new face (or head) on. To disfigure by punching; hence, to get the better of: US (—1870); anglicised by 1890; † by 1920. Contrast put her face on.

put a poor mouth on (a position). To complain (moaningly) about: Anglo-Irish:—1884 (Ware). Cf. mainly US v. poor(-)mouth.

put a roughie over. See roughy, 2.

put a sock in it. C.20 gen. coll. form of put a bung..., q.v.

put a squeak in. To complain to a superior: Services: since ca. 1935. (H. & P.) Adopted from cant, where it = 'to inform to the police' (see Underworld).

put a steam on the table. 'To earn enough money to obtain a hot Sunday dinner': lower classes': from ca. 1860. Ware, 'Refers chiefly to boiled food'.

put a stone in the pot with 'em, and when it's soft they're cooked. Aus. c.p., mostly rural, applied to food that remains tough. C.20. Jean Devanney, By Tropic Sea and Jungle, 1944, 'The old saying applied to them [galahs]...'.—2. 'This is also [British—] a famous recipe for cooking porcupine. In extenso,

When it's soft, throw the porcupine out and eat the stone' (Leechman): late C.19–20, and presumably the origin of the Aus. phrase.

put a streak into it. To hurry; to 'get a move on': Anglo-Irish: C.20. Nicholas Blake, The Private Wound, 1968, 'Through the pandemonium cut a megaphone voice, adjuring the laggards in some class to "put a streak into it! Numbers 3, 7 and 16, we're waiting for you."' put a tin hat on. See tin hat, n., 4, and v.

put a washer on. To urinate: Lancashire s.: since ca. 1955 (? much earlier). Paul Janssen, 1976, attests its use in 1967.

put about. See put (one)-self about, and put it about.

put across. To achieve; execute successfully: from ca. 1910: coll., now verging on S.E. Whence:

put across a beauty. To execute a smart move: coll., mostly NZ: from ca. 1911.

put along; gen. put her along. To cause (a motor-car) to travel at a high speed: motorists' coll.: 1924 (Francis D. Grierson, The Limping Man).

put an X on the wall! See put a cross...

put-and-take. Sexual intercourse: mostly Londoners' (somewhat raffish): C.20. The male puts, the female takes, it in.

put another record on! See record, 2.

put-away. An appetite; a (considerable) capacity for food or drink: low: late C.19–20. Ex the v., 1.—2. Imprisonment: late C.19–early 20. Ex the v., 2.—3. An information to the police: (c. or) low s.: late C.19–20. Ex the v., 3.

put away, v.t. To eat, drink, gen. in large quantities: 1878, Besant & Rice, 'I never saw a man put away such an enormous quantity of provisions at one time.'—2. To put in gaol: s. >, in C.20, coll.: 1883 (OED).—3. To inform against: (c. or) low s.: from ca. 1890; app. orig. Aus.—4. To pawn: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1887 (Daily News, 22 Oct.: OED).—5. To kill: coll.: 1847, Anne Brontë (OED Sup.).—6. To bribe a jockey to lose a race. David Gardner cites Sporting Chronicle, 8 Sep. 1978, and suggests that this may be an extension of sense 5.

put away proper. To give a good funeral: lower-classes' coll.: late C.19–20.

put (one's) balls in a knot. A low equivalent of S.E. put one's nose out of joint: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Also put one's tits in a tangle.

put (one's) bones up. To be prepared to fight: proletarian: later C.19. (B. & L.) Var. put up (one's) forks. Contrast put (one's) forks down.

put (someone) crook with (a third party). To reduce one's standing in the eyes of someone else: NZ: since ca. 1930. 'You wouldn't put me crook with him, would you?' (Harold Griffiths, 1959.) A var. appears in 'Got a snitch on me and put me in crook with the boss' (Slatter).

put dots on (someone). To weary or bore him: army: C.20. Ex 'to dot every i?' put-down, n. A belittling; a snub: coll.: since ca. 1960. See v., 5.

put down, v. To eat: lower classes', esp. Cockneys' coll.: —1909 (Ware).—2. To cash (a cheque): c., and police s.: late C.19–20. Charles E. Leach, On Top of the Underworld, 1933.—3. As v.i., to land: RFC/RAF coll.: since ca. 1916. Richard Hillary, The Last Enemy, 1942.—4. To fire (shells), project (smoke): Artillery coll. > j.: WW2 and after. P-G-R.—5. To reject; to belittle (e.g. someone's playing): Can. jazz-lovers': adopted, in 1956, ex US jazz musicians. P.B.: soon also Brit., and with much wider application.

put down south. See south.

put (one) down to. To apprise one (of something); explain it to him: c.:—1812 (Vaux). See down, adv., 2.

put 'em up! Raise your arms!: from ca. 1860: coll.—2. Put up your fists!: coll.: late C.19–20. A var. is stick 'em up!, in both senses. Contrast put it up!

put (one's) feet up. To lie in one's hammock; to sleep: RN: C.20. (Weekly Telegraph, 25 Oct. 1941.) Mother does this to rest her weary feet.

put (one's) foot down with a firm hand. Joc. mixed metaphor for 'be firm': coll.: later C.20. (P.B.)

put (one's) forks down. To pick a pocket: c.: mid-C.19—early 20. (B. & L.) Contrast put (one's) bones up.

put (one's) guts into it. Do your best, esp. physically; perhaps orig. aquatic—Row the best you can. Coll.: from ca. 1880.

put (one's) head in a bag. See bag, n., 2.

put (one's) hair in(to) a curl or put a curl in (one's) hair. To make one feel (very) fit: coll.: later C.19—earlier 20. (H., 5th ed.) Cf. put hair on (one's) chest, c.p. ref. the taking of strong liquor.

put (one's) hand down. To pay; to stand one's turn: C.20. Cf. put down south, at south.

put (one's) hands up. 'He put his hands up=He surrendered or he admitted all the crimes put to him' (Powis): police s., and c.: later C.20.

put her along. See put along.

put her face on. To make up (apply cosmetics): since ca. 1930. 'I'll just go upstairs and put my face on.' Contrast put a new face on.

put-in, n. See put, n., 4.

put in, v. To pass (a period of time), gen. at or with the help of some occupation: coll.: C.G. Gibson, 1863 (OED).—2. To 'put somebody in' is to involve or embroil him; to get him into trouble: Aus.: since ca. 1925. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1958, 'Don't put me in. Don't try to hang anything on me.' See also put in with.

put in a bag. Killed, esp. in battle: army: WWI. Ex shot birds put in a game-bag.—2. In put (a person) in a bag, to have the upper hand of: coll.: C.17—18. Fuller.

put in a declaration. See TAVERN TERMS, §4, in Appendix.

put (one) in a hole. To defraud: c.: from ca. 1860. Var. of put (one) in the garden.

put in (one's) motto. To 'lay down the law'; butt rashly into a conversation: low coll.: from ca. 1880.

put in pie. To spoil or bungle (a thing), lead (a person) astray: printers':—1887; ob. (Baumann.) Ex the jumble of printers' pie.

put in the bag. Taken prisoner: army officers' > gen. army: WWI and 2. John Buchan, Mr Standfast, 1918.

put in the acid. See put the acid in.

put in the boot. See put the boot in.

put in the bucket. See put in the garden.

put in the chair. To fail to pay (a person): cab-drivers': ca. 1860—1900. Social Science Review, vol. 1, 1864.

put (one) in the garden. To defraud (a confederate), esp. of (part of) his monetary share: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux (variants, ... bucket, hole, well). Cf. regulars, q.v.

put in the leather. 'Others ... "put in the leather"' (Jim Phelan, Letters from the Big House, 1943): to kick: low: C.20. Cf. put the boot in, and leather, 5.

put in the peg. See peg, n., 15—18.

put (one) in the picture. See picture, 7.

put in the pudden, or -ing club. See pudding-club.

put (someone) in with (someone else). To blacken someone's name in the mind of a third party, to put him in his bad books: Aus.: since late 1920s. (Often in Margaret Henry, Unlucky Dip, 1960.) See also put in, v. Elliptical for—put in wrong with. To cause another person to incur someone's dislike: adopted, ex US, ca. 1932 (COD, 1934 Sup.). Cf. prec., and get in wrong.

put inside. In detention: Services' coll.: C.20.

put it about. (Of either sex) to be sexually promiscuous: raffish: since (?) late 1940s. Simon Brett, Cast, in Order of Appearance, 1975, 'The simplest explanation was that he had just got tired of Jacqui ... He was a man who had always put it about a bit.' See also quot'n at slag, n., 6 and put (one)-self about.

put it across (a person). To punish, get even with, revenge oneself on: coll.: from ca. 1914. (Now verging on S.E.)—2. To deceive, delude, trick, impose on: coll., now verging on S.E.:

1915 (Edgar Wallace: OED Sup.).—3. See put across.

put it in, v.i. To achieve intromission: perhaps rather an S.E. approximation to euph. than a coll.: when, however, there is no thought, intention or subconscious impulse towards euph., it may be considered a coll. and not, from the psychological nature of the case, S.E.

put it on, v.i. To overcharge: C.20 coll. Ex put on the price; prob. influenced by:—2. V.t. To extract money from (a person) by threats, lying or whining: low London: late C.19—20. People, 6 Jan. 1895 (Ware).—3. To 'show off'; to put on 'side' or 'airs': coll.: C.20.—4. To make a suggestion—a proposition—to (someone): Aus.: since ca. 1925. Lawson Glassop, 1944, 'I'll have a pint at the Royal tomorrow and put it on the blonde' (an invitation).

put it on her. To drive a ship hard in a strong breeze: nautical coll. (sailing-ships'): mid-C.19—20. (Bowen.) The it=her set of sails.

put it over (a person). See put it across, 1, 2: same status and period.—2. See put over.

put it there! Shake hands: coll.: late C.19—20. Mostly Colonial. Occ. elab. (ex US) put it right there!

put it up! Have done!; stop!; shut up!; low:—1859; † by 1910. H., 1st ed.

put it where the monkey put the nuts! Go to blazes!: a low c.p.: since late C.19. An elab. of the low familiar S.E. stick, stuff, or shove it up your arsel, dispose of the object how you will, don't bother me with it. Occ. nut-shells, which perhaps makes better sense. See DCpp., and cf.:

put it where the sergeant put the pudding! Var. of prec.: late C.19—earlier 20.

put legs on. See legs, 6.

put me in! Let me join you: prison c.: earlier C.20. Lit., 'Include me!'

put more water in it! A humorous c.p. addressed to someone tipsy, or getting drunk: from ca. 1880. (Mrs M. Thompson, 1975.)

put my hand across your bow! I'll. A threat to strike someone: RN lowerdeck: earlier C.20. W.G. Carr, 1939 (Moe).

put off. To disconcert, disturb: s. (1909) >, ca. 1930, coll. OED.—2. Hence, to annoy, be distasteful to: Bootham School: from ca. 1920. Bootham.

put (someone) off the walk. To kill him: Anglo-Irish, esp. County Meath: ca. 1880—1940. P.W. Joyce, English ... in Ireland, 1910.

put-on, n. A deception, subterfuge, excuse: coll.: from ca. 1860.—2. An 'old woman mendicant who puts on a shivering and wretched look': c. or low:—1909 (Ware).—3. A nondescript frock for afternoon wear: women's coll.: ca. 1925—40.

put (one) on. To initiate (a person): coll.: later C.19. B. & L.—2. A var. of have (one) on, to fool or impose upon one, to 'con': coll.: adopted, ex N. American, ca. 1960. Leechman cites Can. usage, the Victoria, BC, Daily Colonist, 18 Apr. 1967. 'The mail attests that the men ... thoroughly enjoy dressing up in women's clothes. I assure you these people are not putting me on. They are strictly for real.'—3. See well put on, for well or better or best put on.

put on a boss. To assume a malevolent look: low:—1909. Ware, 'Squinting suggests malevolence.'

put on a cigar. To assume gentility: lower classes': mid-C.19—early 20. Ware.

put on a face. To change one's expression, usu. to severity: coll.: C.19—20. Cf. what a face: how severe or disapproving you look: coll.: mid-C.19—20. Cf. put her face on.

put on a smoke. To begin to smoke (tobacco): coll.: later C.19—earlier 20. F.W. Crofts, Mystery in the Channel, 1931, 'Dispirited, he sat down on the shore ... , put on a pipe, and gave himself up to thought.' Cf. S.E. put the lights on for 'to light up'.

put on dog. To put on 'side', to show off: coll.: earlier C.20. (OED Sup.) Occ. var. carry dog. Cf. doggy, adj., 1.

put (on one's) ear. To set on; low coll.: from ca. 1890. Pugh (2): "‘An’ I s’pose," said Deuce, looking puzzled, "that it wouldn't be quite the thing, would it, to put a tiggly"—detective—"on his ear?"

put on foul. See foul, 2.

put on the agony. See agony, 5.

put on the arse. See AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.

put on the bee. See bee, 2, and put the bee on.

put on the big hammer. See hammer, n., 10.

put on the fluence. See put the fluence on.

put on the kitz. To put on one's best clothes: since the late 1930s. Ex Yiddish.

put on the long rank. To cruise: taxi-drivers': since ca. 1912. Herbert Hodge, 1939.

put on the rattle (or the whizzer). To report a policeman to his superior: police: C.20. (Free-Lance Writer, April 1948.) Cf. put the acid, or the bubble, in.

put on the peg. See peg, n., 15–18.

put on the pot. To give oneself airs: late C.19–20. (Ware.) See pot, n., 6.

put one on (someone). To punch (him): Aus.: since 1930s. (Richard Clapperton, The Sentimental Kill, 1976.) See hang one on.

put one or two on the floor. To fire a few rounds: artillerymen's: WW2. P-G-R.

put out. To kill: c. and low: late C.19–20. (Ware.) Ex next.—2. As v.i. (Of a woman) to copulate; esp., to be promiscuous: Can.: adopted, ca. 1945, ex US.

put out (someone's) light. To kill: C.17–20: S.E. till ca. 1820, then (increasingly low) coll.; in C.20, indeed, it is s. Graphic, 27 Sep. 1884, 'So now, the malefactor does not murder, he "pops a man off", or "puts his light out".' put (someone) out to grass. To retire him: coll.: since ca. 1955. (Petch, 1969.) As is done to old horses.

put over. To knock over with a shot, to kill: Aus.: 1859 (H. Kingsley); ob.—2. To cause to be accepted; to succeed in getting a favourable reception for: orig. US; anglicised ca. 1920 as a coll., > by 1935 S.E.

put (someone) over the door. To turn (a person) out into the street: coll.: C.18–mid-19. Cf. give one the key of the street.

put paid to. 'To regard a matter as finished, as over and done with': S.E. of an account, coll. in such fig. connexions as 'Oh, don't worry; you can put paid to any friendship that ever existed between him and me; I've found out the sort of fellow he really is!' (Lyll): late C.19–20.

put (someone's) pipe out. To upset, perturb him: nautical lowerdeck: late C.18–19. Bill Truck, Feb. 1826.

put (someone's) pot on. To inform upon; to destroy someone's prospects' (Wilkes): Aus.: since later C.19. Cf. pot, v., 9.—2. To detect in a misdeed; to settle his hash: NZ: since ca. 145. Fiona Murray, Invitation to Danger, 1965.

put (one's) prick where another wouldn't put his walking-stick. Among physicians, esp. Fighting Services medical officers, almost a c.p., as in 'Some of you fellows'd put your prick where I wouldn't put my walking-stick' (as I heard an Aus. M.O. say, in 1915, to a company of infantrymen paraded for a 'talk' before they were let loose in Cairo); and in 1959, John Winton, We Joined the Navy, 1959, records it of a Naval M.O. addressing a group of midshipmen and saying, 'Tomorrow we'll be getting to Gibraltar... and I've no doubt that some of you'll be putting your private parts where I wouldn't be putting my walking-stick.' It prob. dates from late C.19.

put right off. To give a violent distaste for a thing, a plan, or dislike for a person: coll.: late C.19–20.

put sand in (someone's) Vaseline. 'Selfish act by person which overrides show of considerate concern' (L.A., 1974, citing G.M. Williams, The Upper Pleasure Garden, 1970). A ref. to the use of this ointment to aid sexual intercourse. Cf. muck (one's) orange.

put (one)-self about. To work as a prostitute; to be promiscuous; 'Glad[ys] put herself about around the King's Cross area' (Red Daniells, in Brit. Jnl of Photography, 1 Aug. 1980): low coll.—2. To 'circulate' (Powis); to get around and be seen: coll.: later C.20.

put (one)-self outside. To eat; occ., to drink: from ca. 1860. (Ware.) Cf. get outside (of).

put (one's) snout in the trough. To drink (beer or ale rather than wine or spirits): mainly public-house: since ca. 1945.

put some jildi into it. Hurry up; get a move on, 'jump to it': army: earlier C.20. B. & P.

put stuff on. See stuff on the ball.

put that in your pipe and smoke it! Digest that if you can!: coll.: 1824 (Peake); Dickens in Pickwick; Barham; Miss Braddon. Hence 'Let him put that in his pipe...', let him make what he can of it.

put the acid (or the squeaks in). To tell-tale; to make mischief by causing a bias against one in another's mind: orig. and mostly Cockneys': from ca. 1910, ca. 1918, resp.

put the acid on. To test (man or statement); to put a stop to; lower classes': from ca. 1908. F. & G.—2. To ask (a person) for a loan: Aus.: from ca. 1912.

put the bee on. To borrow money from: Aus.: since ca. 1935. (B., 1953.) Either 'to sting' or ex the next two (bite). See also bee, 2.

put the bit on. Aus. var. (D'Arcy Niland, 1958) of:

put the bite on. To ask someone for a loan of money: Can.: since ca. 1910; by 1940, also Eng. (Leechman.)

put the black on. V.i. and t. To blackmail: c.: from ca. 1920. (Edgar Wallace, passim.) Abbr. blackmail.

put the blacksmith on. To lock out, as in 'He came home late from the bevyken and the mort put the blacksmith on him' (M.T.): market-traders': C.20. Cf. blacksmith's daughter, q.v., from which this phrase is clearly derived.

put the block. To 'mask' or cover a thief at work: c.:—1933 (Charles E. Leach).

put the blocks to. To coit with (a woman): low: C.20; by 1950, it was somewhat ob., by 1960, archaic. Ca. 1900, there was a Can. lumbermen's ballad, with the pertinent lines, 'Some were fiddling, some were diddling, some were lying on the floor, I was over in the corner putting the blocks to the Winnipeg whore' (Robert Claiborne, 1966).

put the boot in. (Earlier, and in senses 1 and 2, put in the boot.) To kick a prostrate foe (C.J. Dennis): orig. (?) mainly Aus.—1916; by mid-C.20, gen. among the violent. As v.t., with into, which is now, since ca. 1960, the mainly Brit. form. The phrase is also, since ca. 1965, used fig., as in political or commercial in-fighting and betrayal. Powis, 1977, defines the shortened version, boot, as 'unnecessary cruelty after victory'. See also buturakie.—2. (Put in the boot.) To shoot: army rhyming s.: WW1.

put the bubble in. To give the game away, esp. to expose a racket: dockers' rhyming s.: C.20. Ex bubble and squeak, 4. Also put in the bubble.—2. Hence, to cause trouble, esp. by informing to authority: since ca. 1920. As trouble rhymes with bubble, and sneak with squeak, so bubble and squeak prob. combines both of these sounds and both of these senses. P.B.: but with both senses cf. tube, n. 10.

put the caulks to. See logger's smallpox.

put the change on. To mislead, deceive. Dryden, 1677, 'By this light, she has put the change upon him!'; Congreve, Scott. Coll., from ca. 1660; † by ca. 1900.

put the cleaners through (someone). Var. of put (someone) through the cleaners, or take to the cleaners, to get the better of, to swindle: R. Aus. AF: WW2. B., 1943.

put the coals on. To increase speed: London busmen's: from ca. 1935. See also pour on more coal.

put the finger on. See finger on.

put the fluence on. To persuade: mostly Aus. and NZ: from ca. 1910. Abbr. influence and ex.—2. Hypnotism, the orig. Aus. sense, dating from ca. 1900 and ob. by 1924, being coll.: to hypnotise.—3. Cf. the Cockney sense of ca. 1850–85: to 'attract, subdue, overcome by mental force' (Ware).

put the gloves on. To improve (a person): Scots c.: 1868; slightly ob. Ware.

put the hard word on. See hard word...

put the hooks on; more usu. put (someone) on the hooks. To put (someone) on a charge: RAF: since ca. 1920. R.M. Davison, letter, 1942; Jackson, 1943.

put the kibosh on. See kibosh.

put the lid on. To close (a hotel bar) at the legal time: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.—2. See lid, 6.

put the lights out — they want to be alone! A sporting c.p., called to or 'said of two boxers in protracted clinch' (L.A., 1976): since late C.19. See DCpp.

put the miller's eye out. See drown the miller.

put the mock or mocker(s) or mozz(z) on. See mock on.

put the nips in. See nips, 3.

put the pot on. To bet too much money on one horse: sporting: from ca. 1820. See pot, n., 1.—2. 'Up came the trout... The fish was making for its haunt. Newton "put the pot on", as it is called, and turned him, and in due time he visited the basket' (Francis Francis, Newton Dogvane, 1859): anglers': since ca. 1930.—3. See put (someone's) pot on.

put the (or, one's) skates on. See skates.

put the skids under (someone). To dismiss from a job, a course, etc.: since ca. 1940: army, then—by 1944—gen. Forces' s.—2. Hence, to speed or hurry (him) along: Forces': since 1945.

put the strings on. See strings, 2.

put the traveller on. See tip the traveller.

put the value on. To sign (a canvas): artists':—1909 (Ware).

put the weights on. To seek a loan from or ask a favour of (someone): Aus. sporting: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Ex horse-racing. Cf. put the bit, or the hard word, on.

put the windows in. To smash them: proletarian:—1909 (Ware).

put the wood in the hole! See wood, 6.

put them in a field and let them fight it out! Let the Heads of State fight it out among themselves and thus prevent millions of innocent men and women from getting killed: servicemen's (and others') c.p.: WW1—and again in WW2.

put through. To succeed with (some plan, e.g.) by swindling: low: late C.19–20; ob. Ex the S.E. (orig.—1847—US) sense, carry to a successful issue. Thornton.

put through Stubbs. See Stubbs.

put through the hoop. See hoop, n., 4.

put (one's) time in. To occupy one's time: coll.: late C.19–20.

put (one's) tits in a tangle. See put (one's) balls...

put to bed. (The journalistic sense is S.E.)—2. To defeat: music-halls':—1909; ob. Ware.

put to find. To put in prison: low:—1909 (Ware). (? fined.)

put to the pin of the collar. Driven to extremities; at the end of one's resources. A coll. phrase ex hard-pulling horses: ca. 1850–1910.

put together with a hot needle and burnt thread. To fasten insecurely: ca. 1660–1850: semi-proverbial coll.

put-up. A laying of information against a fellow-criminal: c.:—1823; ob. Bee, who implies that put-up serves also as n. to put up, v., 2, q.v. See also fit-up.

put up. To show, achieve, e.g. a good fight or, during and since WW1, a good (or bad) show: coll.: from ca. 1890. The Field, 30 Jan. 1892, 'Petitt put up a good game.'—2. To plan in advance (a robbery, a swindle, a fraud): c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux.—3. Hence, to preconcert anything devious or underhand or disingenuous: from ca. 1890. 'Barclay put up a job to ruin old Overton' (Sporting and Dramatic News, 13 Aug. 1892: OED).—4. To wear (of badges of rank): Services' coll.; e.g. 'He put up his second stripe (or pip)', he was promoted corporal (or lieutenant): C.20.—5. To charge (a soldier) with a 'crime': military coll.: C.20. (F. & G.) Cf. the C.15–16 S.E. sense, to bring (a person) into court on a charge.—6. See put it up.

put up a black. See black, 3.

put up a squeak. To give information to the police: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace.

put up a stall. To act or speak misleadingly: low: late C.19–20. F. & G.

put up (one's) forks. See put (one's) bones up.

put-up job. (The chief use of the adj. put up.) A pre-arranged crime or deception: as the former, c. (from ca. 1838); as the latter, s. >, ca. 1930, coll. A put-up robbery occurs in 1810, a put-up affair in 1812 (Vaux). OED.

put up (one's) hat; put (one's) hat up. To pay serious court; often put your hat up there!, I see you mean to make one of the family: lower classes': late C.19–20. (Ware.) Cf. synon. hang (one's) hat up.

put up or shut up! (or, derivative and less frequent, shut up or put up!) 'Stop arguing—or fight!': c.p.: C.20 and ca. 1905–30. The former, prob. adopted ex US; the latter recorded by W.G. Carr. B.P. notes Aus. var. put 'em up (or stick 'em up) or shut up! See DCpp.

put up the (or, one's) dukes. To prepare for fisticuffs: orig. low s.; in C.20, low coll.: later C.19–mid-20. Jack Slater recalls hearing 'Put up your dooks!' in Aus. in 1962.—2. 'A variation of meaning here is to hide something under one's jersey, perhaps with arms folded. Glasgow, 19th Century' (Dr R.L. Mackay, MD). Confirmatory evidence welcomed.

put up the fanny. See fanny, n., 13.

put up (one's) third. To put up one's third star, i.e. to become a captain: Army coll.: C.20. (P-G-R.) See put up, v., 4.

put (a person) up to. To enlighten or forewarn about; inform of; instruct in: coll.: 1812 (Vaux).—2. To incite or excite to (some act, to do something); to induce, persuade (to do something): coll.: 1824 (OED).

put-upon, n. 'A stooge in plays [and music-hall turns]. Used in an article in Radio Times, 9 Feb. 1967' (Petch). Ex 'to put upon', to impose upon, hence to make fun of, a person.

put (someone's) weight up. To declare—to disclose—his (illicit) activities; to 'pimp on': Aus. miners': since ca. 1925. Gavin Casey, It's Easier Downhill, 1945.

put wise. See wise, to.

put years on me, you (or he or it puts...). A c.p. of disparagement: late C.19–20.

put you where the rooks won't shit on you, I'll. A joc. c.p. for 'I'll kill you' (humorous threat): army: since ca. 1935.

put your back up!, that'll. That will render you sexually desirous: since ca. 1920. Ex cats' fighting: cf. familiar S.E. fighting fit.

put your belly close to mine and waggle your bum. "Innocent indelicacy": Bermondsey adolescent boys', 1919–20. As if quoting, I believe it was part of a jingle 'The ladies think it's fine... put...'" (L.A., 1974). Is this the same song that has the chorus 'Singing, "Nellie, put your belly close to mine"'? (P.B.).

put your head in a bag! Be quiet: (low) coll.: from ca. 1890. A horse with its head in the nose-bag does not trouble about other things.

put your money where your mouth is! Back your words with cash (cf. the orig., US, sense of put up or shut up!): since ca. 1945. See DCpp.

put your pudding up for treacle! Lit., 'pass your plate for a garnish', but often with sexual innuendo, or as an encouragement to be forthcoming and to join in: c.p.: late C.19—earlier 20. (L.A., 1974.)

put your skates on! Hurry up! get a move on! See skates.

Putney!, go to. Go to the devil!: from ca. 1840; ob. From ca. 1850, occ. go to Putney on a pig, by a typical assonantal addition. Kingsley, 1863, 'Now, in the year 1845, telling a man to go to Putney was the same as telling a man to go to the deuce.' Cf. Bath, Halifax, Hong Kong, Jericho.

putrescent. An occ. var. (ca. 1906–13), noted by Collinson, of:

putrid. A pej. of the awful kind: C.20: s. now verging on coll. Sporting Times, 27 Apr. 1901, 'All beer is putrid, even when it's pure.' Prob. suggested by rotten (q.v.); cf. poisonous, q.v.

putt. See put, n., 1, of which it is a C.17–18 var.

putter-down. A presenter of forged cheques or counterfeit money: c.—1933 (Charles E. Leach).

putter-up. One who plans and pre-arranges robberies, frauds, swindles; esp. 'a man who travels about for the purpose of obtaining information useful to professional burglars' (H., 5th ed.); also, in C.20, an instigator to crime: c. >, ca. 1910, low s. and police coll.: 1812, Vaux; 1933, Charles E. Leach.

putting her in a bath. 'Used jocularly in reference to one of the plumber's jobs' (Petch, 1969); since ca. 1930 (?). A pun on 'put a bath in (the house) for her.'

putting his oof down. A c.p. dating from ca. 1950 and applied to 'poor old Dad', forking out the oof or money, instead of putting his 'oof down.

putting spots on dominoes. See putting holes in pikelets or ... spots on dominoes.

putting the black on. Blackmail. See put the black on.

puttock. A whore; a greedy person: coll. verging on S.E.: in C.20, dial.: C.16–20.

putty, n. Money: mostly (?and orig.) US: mid-C.19–20; ob. Prob. glaziers' at first.—2. A glazier, a house-painter; in the Navy, any painter rating: from ca. 1820. (Bee; Bowen.) Ex frequent use of putty.—3. 'Sticky mud at the bottom of a body of water': 1880 (P.H. Emerson): dial. and s. >, by 1910, coll. Esp. in RN use, as Granville notes: on the putty, 'to be aground' (lit. and fig.); high-and-dry on a falling tide: C.20.—4. Steam: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Perhaps ex colour.—5. In I, he, you etc., couldn't fight putty, I am (etc.) a very poor fighter (with one's hands); hence, also of, e.g., an army. Coll.: late C.19–20. Semantics as in the following sense. Cf. fight a bag of shit.—6. In up to putty, of very poor quality; disappointingly inferior; (virtually) negligible: C.20. Mostly Aus., as Jice Doone implies. Either ex the softness of putty or ex the idea in sense 5. Cf.:- putty, adj. Stupid, idiotic: low:—1923 (Manchon). Perhaps ex up to putty, but cf. dial. putty-brain, a blockhead, a mental defective (EDD). Perhaps ex putty cove.

putty and plaster on the Solomon knob, the. Be silent!; the Master's coming; a Freemasons' c.p. intimation: from ca. 1870. Masonic punning on Masonic j. putty and soap. Bread and cheese: low. ca. 1830–80. Sinks, 1848.

putty cove or covess. An unreliable man or woman: c. of ca. 1820–90. (Egan's Grose.) Ex softness of putty.

putty medal. (A satirical recommendation to) a reward for mischief, incompetence, or injury: non-aristocratic coll.: 1856, says Ware, who adds: 'No medal at all'. See also medal, 2.

putty wallah. A messenger or orderly attached to an office: Bombay: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

puv. A field: chimneysweeps': C.19. (George Elson, The Last of the Climbing Boys, 1900.) Ex the synon. Romany phuv, itself related to Sanskrit bhumi. With thanks to my late friend Gerald Hatchman, who in 1949 contributed two articles on chimneysweeps' s. to Notes & Queries. P.B.: see also the quo'n at poove, 1, to which this may be relevant.

puz(z). A young man about town: London Society: ca. 1760–80. (OED.) Cf. piz(z).

puzzle-cause; -cove. A lawyer: resp. coll. of ca. 1780–1830, Grose, 1st ed.; c. or low of ca. 1830–1900, mostly US (Matsell). But while p.-cove = any lawyer, p.-cause is one 'who has a confused understanding.' Cf. puzzle-text, q.v.

puzzle-headed spoon. An apostle(-headed) spoon: C.19 coll. or pun.

puzzle-text. A clergyman; esp. 'an ignorant, blundering parson' (Grose, 1st ed., 1785); ob. by 1830, † by 1870. Cf. puzzle-cause, q.v.

puzzle the monkey. A coll. var., since ca. 1880, of S.E. monkey-puzzle (the Araucaria imbricata).

puzzling arithmetic. A statement of the odds: gamblers' coll. (? > j.): C.17. Webster, 1613, 'Studying a puzzling arithmetic at the cockpit'.

puzzling-sticks. The triangle to which culprits were tied for flagellation': (prob. c. >) low s.: 1812 (Vaux); † by 1870.

pyah. Weak; paltry, inferior; useless: mainly nautical:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.) Ex pariah.

pye. A contraction of pariah-dog: Anglo-Indian military:—1886 (Y. & B.) See also pie-ard.

Pygmalion. See not Pygmalion likely!

pygostole. A. 'm.b.' coat or waistcoat: Church: 1844; † by 1920. (See m.b. coat.) Lit. pygo-stole, i.e. rump-stole, ex Gr. πυγῆ.

pyjamas. See cat's pyjamas.

pyjams. Abbr. pyjamas: from ca. 1910: s. >, by 1935, almost coll. Never pajams.

pyke; occ. pike. A civilian that stands an impecunious soldier a drink: military: ca. 1870–1910. (B. & L.) ?ex Fr. s. pékin, a civilian.

pyke off. See pike, v. (Thus in Bowen.)

Pyrmont Yank. A synonym of Woolloomooloo Yank.

pyrotechnic. A reprimand: RAF: since ca. 1938. (Jackson.) Cf. rocket, which suggested it.

pysoe. A close-fisted seaman: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cognate with † Scottish pyster, to hoard up (EDD).

Pythonesque. '... is now common English usage on both sides of the Atlantic... it describes a set of events that are more than bizarre, yet less than surreal' (Iain Robinson, 'Monty Python: the Early Years', Listener, 28 June 1979): coll.: current in late 1970s. Ex the TV surrealist comedy series 'Monty Python's Flying Circus'. (P.B.)

pyze. A var. of pize: see pize on.

Q or q. A homosexual: theatrical, whence also army: since ca. 1930; by 1950, † in army. For queer, n., 5.—2. As the Q, short for the quarter-master or -bloke (see quarter): army: since ca. 1925. (H. & P.) Since mid-C.20, usu. the RQ (P.B.).—3. In not worth a q, que, cue, kue, of negligible value: coll. > S.E.: C.16. Skelton, 'That lyberte was not worth a cue.' Ex q, half a farthing. Cf. other terms listed at not worth a...—4. See letter Q; p and q; p's and q's.

Q.b.b. A Queen's bad bargain: reign of Queen Victoria: coll. Cf. K.b.b., and see bad bargain. Also (K.h.b. and) Q.h.b., Queen's hard bargain, as in Cornhill Magazine, Feb. 1865. Cf. Queen's or King's bad shilling.

Q.B.I. (Of flying condition) deplorable: aviation c.p.: ca. 1937–9. (The Times, 3 Mar. 1938.) Lit. quite bloody impossible. P.B.: perhaps orig. a spoof trigraph attributed to the international radio 'Q' code; or a pun on QFI, qualified flying instructor.

Q bloke. See Q, 2.

Q boat. 'Nondescript police radio car with plain-clothes crew (named after the disguised naval vessels of the First World War)' (Powis).

q (or Q) in a corner. Something not at once seen but brought to subsequent notice: legal: from ca. 1870; ob. Perhaps = query in a corner, suggested by the old game of Q in the corner (prob., puss in the corner).

Q-in-the-corner cove. A keen (and cautious?) follower of boxing: pugilistic: ca. 1815–60. Boxiana, IV, 1824, 'Great doubts have been expressed by the "Q-in-the-corner coves", whether Randall is actually well, or only "patched up".' Here, Q app. = 'query' or 'question'.

Q.S. 'Queer Street', q.v.: proletarian: late C.19–early 20. Ware.

q.t. (or Q.T.), on the; or on the strict q.t. On the quiet: resp. ca. 1870, 1880. Anon., Broadside Ballad, 1870, 'Whatever I tell you is on the Q.T.'

Q.V.R.s, the. See Queen Vics, the.

qua; qua-keeper. A prison; a gaoler: c. of late C.18–early 19. (Tufts (dict. of flash), 1798.) I suspect an error for quad = quod.

quack. A pretended doctor: 1659 (OED): coll. till C.19, then S.E. Abbr. quacksalver, q.v. See esp. the essay entitled 'Quacks and Quackery', in my Literary Sessions, 1932.—2. Hence, in the Services, notably at first RN, since ca. 1912 (Knock); later RAF; and also among the Aus. Forces: the medical officer. Civilianised to become (mostly male) gen. coll. for any doctor of medicine; usu. the quack.—3. A duck: late C.19–20. More often, quack-quack. Cf. quacking-cheat.—4. In in a quack, in a mere moment: Scots coll.: from ca. 1840.

quack, v. Play the quack (see quack, n., 1): C.17–20: coll. till C.19, then S.E.—2. To change (the title of a book), v.t.: C.18: booksellers'. Centlivre, 1715, 'He has an admirable knack at quacking titles... When he gets an old good-for-nothing book, he claps a new title to it, and sells off the whole impression in a week.' Ex quack, to palm off as a quack would.

quack-quack. A duck: an echoic nursery coll.: recorded 1865 (OED), but prob.—as indeed with all such words—used much earlier. Cf. bow-wow.

quacker. A duck: coll.: C.19–20. Cf. quack, n., 1.—2. A Japanese Kawasaki motorcycle: motorcyclists': since (?) late 1960s. (Dunford.) Cf. Rice-Burner, a Honda motorcycle.

quacking-cheat. A duck: c.: from ca. 1565; † by 1860. (Harman, B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) See cheat.

quacksalver. A pretended doctor: 1579 (Gosson): coll. till ca. 1660, then S.E.; ob. One who sells his salves by quacking (noisy patter). (W.) Cf. quack, n., 1.

quad. A prison: c.: late C.18–20. Also and much more gen. quod, q.v. Prob. ex quadrangle.—2. A quadrangle: 1820 (OED): Oxford s. >, ca. 1860, gen. coll. Trollope, 'The quad, as it was familiarly called...'.—3. A horse: low: 1845, 'No. 747' (p. 416); 1885, English Illustrated Magazine, April, 'The second rider... got his gallant quad over, and... went round the course alone.' Abbr. quadruped.—4. A bicycle for four: 1888 (OED). Abbr. quadruple.—5. A quadrat: printers': from ca. 1880: coll. >, by 1890, j.—6. Hence, a (printer's) joke: printers': 1884 (OED).—7. 'A four-wheel drive tractor used for towing field guns' (H. & P.): Army: since ca. 1930; by 1942, coll.; by 1944, j. Short for quadruple?

quadding. A triumphal promenade of the 1st XV round the cloisters: Rugby schoolboys' coll.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

quads. See dup and Quins.

quædam. A harlot: cultured coll.: late C.17–18. (Hacket.) Lit., a certain woman: cf. one of those, euph. for 1, harlot; 2, a homosexual.

quægemes or quæ-gemes. A bastard: coll.: C.18–early 19. F. & H.

Quagger. A student at the Queen's College: Oxford undergraduates': from late 1890s. By the 'OXFORD-ER', and perhaps, as Ware suggests, ex gooser, q.v., thus: gooser, goose, quack, quacker, Quagger. P.B.: unnecessarily complicated; see -agger, at 'OXFORD-ER', in Appendix.—2. As the Quagger, Queen Victoria: Oxford undergraduates': 1890s. (Marples, 2.) Cf. the Pragger Wagger, and:—

Quaggers. The Queen's College, Oxford: Oxford undergraduates': late C.19–20. Cf. preç.

[quail, a harlot, or a courtesan, —C.17–early 18, —may orig. have been coll. or even s., but it is gen. treated as S.E. cf., however, pheasant and plover. C.17–18. Motteux, 'With several coated quails, and lac'd mutton, waggishly singing'. Ex the bird's supposed amorosus.—It is interesting to note that in US university s. (now ob.), quail is a girl student. Thornton.]

quail-pipe. A woman's tongue: late C.17–19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.—2. The throat: late C.17–18 (Dryden, Pope): on border-line between coll. and S.E., the OED treating it as the latter. Ex the pipe with which quail are decoyed.

quail-pipe boot. (Gen. in pl.) A rather coll. or illiterate form of quill-p. b.: C.17–18.

quailer. A stone: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1959.) Origin?

quaint. In C.14–15, queinte or queynte; in C.15–16, also quaynt(e). The female pudend: C.14–20: in C.14–16, a vulg.; in C.17–20, dial., now † except in parts of the North Country, where ob. Florio, 'Conno, a woman's privie parts or quaint, as Chaucer calls it.' If not a mere var. of, certainly cognate with cunt: 'Chaucer may have combined Old French coing with M.E. cunte, or he may have been influenced by the Old Fr. adjective coint, neat, dainty, pleasant,' Grose, P., q.v. for fuller discussion.

quaint, adj., as used from ca. 1920 (the practice was on the wane by 1934) to mean amusingly old-fashioned, entertainingly unusual, even occ. as funny in an odd way, is (mostly upper-)middle- and upper-class s. It is less relevant than may at first appear to note that B.E. included quaint, 'curious, neat; also strange' in his glossary, for, so far as we are aware, he had no reason to treat it at all.

quake-breach or -buttock. A coward; drag; sot: coll. verging on S.E.: late C.16–17.

Quaker. A member of the Society of Friends: 1653 (H.R., (title) A Brief Relation of the Irreligion of the Northern Quakers: OED); coll. until ca. 1810, then S.E., but never recognised, though in mid-C.19–20 often used, by the Society. Orig. a pej. nickname, ex supposed 'agitations in preaching' (Grose).—2. A rope or lump of excrement: low: C.(?18–)19. (H., 3rd ed.) Cf. the low C.(?18–)19 bury a Quaker, to defecate.—3. A conscientious objector (conchie): military coll.: from 1916. (F. & G.) Ex the honest attitude of Friends towards war. Cf.—4. (Usu. pl.) 'Dummy wooden guns, as fitted to impress at fleet reviews': RN: C.19. Peppitt cites Fred Jane's History of the Royal Navy. 1915. Unwarlike.

Quaker oat; gen. pl and more properly, Quaker Oats. A coat: C.20. (P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.) Ex the brand-name of a well-known breakfast food. Franklyn, Rhyming, notes that it is much less common than the synon. I'm afloat.

Quaker's bargain. A 'yea or nay' bargain; a 'take it or leave it' transaction: coll.: late C.18–19. Ex the well-known directness, reliability and integrity of the Quakers, as honourably honest as a well-bred Chinese.

Quaker's or Quakers' burying-ground. A privy; a w.c.: low: C.19. Ex Quaker, 2. quaking cheat. A calf; a sheep: c. of ca. 1560–1850. (Harman.) See cheat.

Quaky Isles, the. New Zealand: Aus. coll.: C.20. (B., 1943.) Earthquaky.

qual. The 'quality' or gentry: early C.18. See SHORTENINGS, in Appendix.

qualified. Damned, bloody, etc.: euph. coll.: 1890, Kipling, 'He was ... told not to make a qualified fool of himself.' OED Sup.

qualify, v.i. To coit: cultured s.: late C.19. Perhaps ex prec., 'a four-lettered word'.—2. To register one's name as playing football, or a being changed: Bootham School: early C.20. Bootham.

qualify for the pension. To be getting on in years: coll.: —1927 (Collinson).

quality, the. The gentry: late C.17–20: S.E. until ca. 1830, then dial. and low coll. Mrs Centlivre notably omits the; A. Trollope, 1857, 'The quality, as the upper classes in rural districts are designated by the lower ...' Whence:

quality hours, the. Late hours for rising and for eating: lower classes' ironic coll.: mid-C.19–early 20. Manchon.

qually. (Of wine) 'Turbulent and Foul' (B.E.): late C.17–mid-18: coll. rapidly > j. ?cloudy corrupted. P.B.: ?or ex squally, as of turbulent and foul weather.

quamino or Q. A Negro on shipboard: nautical: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) ?ex a Negro name. Cf. quashee.

quandary. A state of perplexity; the difficulty causing it: coll. till C.19, then S.E.: 1579, Lyly, 'Leaving this olde gentleman in a great quandarie' (OED). Occ., C.17–early 18, as a v.: the Rev. T. Adams (d. 1655), 'The quandaries whether to go forward to God, or ... to turn back to the world.' The OED, concerning the etym., rejects M.E. wandreth, abbr. hypocondry, and Grose's and Baumann's qu'en dirai-je? Prob. L. quam dare? or quando dare?, less likely quantum dare?

quandong. A prostitute: Aus. c.: C.20. (Kylie Tennant, Foveaux, 1939.) 'After the fruit: soft on the outside, a hard centre' (Sidney J. Baker, letter, 1946). Although blue-coloured and cherry-sized, it is also known as 'native peach'; the word is of Aus. Aboriginal origin.—2. 'Someone disreputable, living by his or her wits' (Wilkes): Aus.: later C.20.

quanger. A quince: Aus. juvenile: later C.20. Wilkes.

Quango. Quasi non-government organisation: coll. acronym, orig. ca. 1975; rapidly > informal S.E.; many of these agencies, arising in the early 1970s, were disbanded as an economy in 1979. (R.S., 1977; P.B.)

quantum. A drink: from ca. 1870; very ob. by 1930. (Baumann.) Ex S.E. sense, a sufficiency.

quantum suff. Enough: coll.: C.19–earlier 20. J. Beresford, 1806 (OED); 1871, anon., The Siliad, 'I, too, O comrade, quantum suff. would cry.' Ex the medical formula in prescriptions: quant(um) suff(icit), 'as much as suffices'.

quarzel-picker. A glazier: coll. (?orig. s.): late C.17–18. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) A pun on quarrel, a small pane of glass, ex Old Fr. (cf. carreau). quarrom(e) or -s; quarron or -s. A or the body: c. of ca. 1565–1830. Harman and Grose, quarromes; Brome and B.E., quarron; anon., The Maunderer's Praise ..., 1707, quarroms. Perhaps ex Fr. charogne or It. carogna.

quarry. The female pudend: C.18–19: coll., bordering on S.E. euph.

quart. A quart-pot, esp. as a drinking vessel: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. Perhaps ex Devonshire usage (1865: EDD).

quart-mania. Delirium tremens (cf. gallon-distemper): ca. 1860–1910.

quart-pot tea. Tea made, over an open fire, in a quart-pot (see quart): Aus. coll.: later C.19–earlier 20. Mrs H. Jones, Long Years in Australia, 1878 (Morris); Archer Russell, A Tramp Royal, 1934, 'We'll ... boil up the "quarts"'.
Quarter(s); the quarter. In address; in ref.: (the) quartermaster sergeant: army coll.: earlier C.20. (F. & G.) since mid-C.20 at latest (the) RQ or Q (P.B.).

quarter bloke, the. The same; also, the quartermaster: id. Ibid.

quarter bloke's English is 'the business-like, itemised English affected by quartermasters and their assistants' in the Army; thus gum boots > boots, gum. Military coll.: from 1916. B. & P.

quarter-decker. An officer with manners (much) better than his seamanship: RN coll.: from ca. 1865; slightly ob. Ex deck used by superior officers and/or cabin-passengers. Like the next, recorded first in Admiral Smyth's Sailor's Word-Book, 1867. Cf. queen's parade.

quarter-deckish. Punctilious: RN coll.: from ca. 1865; slightly ob. Ex prec.

quarter flash and three-parts foolish. A fool with a smattering of worldly knowledge: c.p.: ca. 1815–50. (Pierce Egan, London, 1821.) Cf. fly flat.

quarter gallery. Officers' w.c.s and urinals: RN: C.19. Landsman Hay, a memoir of the C.19 Royal Navy, edited by M.D. Hay, 1963 (Peppitt). Cf. heads, 2.

quarter-jack. A quartermaster: military: from not later than 1917. Cf. quarter bloke and, for the form, popularity Jack.

quarter of secl, (wait) a. A Society intensification of half a secl: ca. 1900–14. Ware.

quarter pound bird's eye. A quarter-ounce of tobacco: lower classes':—1909; † by 1930. Ware.

quarter sessions! A jocose form of swearing: legal coll.: —1909 (Ware).

quarter-sessions rose. A 'perpetual' rose: gardeners' coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex the Fr. rose de quatre saisons, i.e. all the year round.

quarter stretch. Three months' imprisonment: c.: (?) from ca. 1815. (Ware.) See stretch, n., 2.

quarter-to-one feet. A man that walks splay-footed: since ca. 1885. (see what's the time?) This term is noted as RN in F. & G.

quarter(-)to(-)ten. A 9.45-inch trench-mortar: army: ca. 1915–18.

quarter to two. A Jew: rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

quartered. See rider, 2. A coll.

quartereen. A farthing: (low) theatrical and showmen's: from ca. 1850. (Cf. quatro, q.v.) Perhaps suggested by US quarteroon, a quadron (Thornton), but more prob. by the It. quattrino.

quarterer. Four, esp. in quarterer saltee, foupence: Parlyaree: mid-C.19–20. Ex It. quattro.

quartermaster's erasmic. Soap for scrubbing floors: army: earlier C.20. (F. & G.) Joc. ex Erasmic, a deservedly popular toilet-soap. Cf. pusser's Vinolia.

quartern. See WESTMINSTER, in Appendix.

quartern of bliss. A small, attractive woman: low London: from ca. 1882; ob. (Ware.) Cf. pot of bliss.

Quarters. See quarter, the.

quarto; Mr Quarto. A bookseller; a publisher: coll.: mid-C.18–mid-19.

quash; quash kateer. See quiesh kateer.

quashee, -ie; occ. quassy. A Negro; above all, a Negro seaman from the British West Indies; esp. as a nickname: coll.: from ca. 1830. E.g. Michael Scott, 'I say, quashie.' Ex a Negro proper name. OED; Bowen.

Quasimodo. 'The chapel redband. Prisoner who is responsible for cleaning the prison chapel. (From Lon Chaney's "Quasimodo" in the film The Hunchback of Notre Dame [1923]). Rare' (Tempest, 1950).

quat. A contemptuous pej. applied to a (gen. young, nearly always male) person: early C.17. (Shakespeare, Webster.) Ex quat, a pimple. OED.—2. In go to quat, to defecate: low coll.: C.19. Ex quat, to squat.

[quatch, as in Shakespeare's quatch-buttock, may be coll. and may = flat.]

quatro. Four: from ca. 1850: Parlyaree. Ex It. quattro. Cf. quarterer.

quaver, n. A musician: low coll or s.: ca. 1860–1930. H., 3rd ed.

quaver, v. To dither, esp. whether to purchase: market-traders': C.20. 'The crowie was quavering about' (M.T.). Hence a quaverer, 'a vacillating customer' (Ibid.).—2. Hence, to potter; tinker; mess about with, as in 'The gorger's quavering about with the screeve' = the man's tinkering about with his car. Ibid.

quean; incorrectly queen. A homosexual, esp. one with girlish manners and carriage: low: late C.19–20. Prob. ex quean, a harlot, influenced by Queenie, a girl's name, and dial. queanish, effeminate. Cf. queanie. In later C.20, this meaning still current in prison c. (Home Office); among homosexuals, it means 'an ageing passive homosexual', with adj. queeny, as in 'He's very queeny'.—2. A lesbian: male homosexuals': ca. 1970.

quean up; mostly as (all) queaned up, 'carefully, not necessarily effeminately, dressed': Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) See quean and cf. doll up. Also queen up (B., 1959).—2. 'To fall into homosexual company' (B. Rodgers, The Queens' Vernacular, 1972): later C.20.—3. 'To assume girlish mannerisms, such as coating the face with cosmetics and fussing with the hair' (Ibid.): like 2, Brit. gay s.

queanie, n.; incorrectly queenie. A 'Nancy', an effeminate man: Aus.: late C.19–20. See quean, 1.—2. A very good looking man or boy: army: earlier C.20.

queanle, -y, adj. Effeminate; soft: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (Baker.) Ex prec., 1.

queen. In combination, a girl: RAF: 1940+. Jackson, 'Thus, "I'm going to the flicks tonight with one of the ops room queens"'. Humorous. P.B. trans.: 'I am going to the cinema this evening with a girl from the operations room'.—2. The woman in charge; e.g., among social workers 'the queen of X area' would be the top-ranking woman in that profession there: coll.: later C.20. A development ex Queen At and Queen Bee. Cf. similar use of king.—3. See quean; where the queen...; one for the King.

Queen Anne—Queen Elizabeth—my Lord Baldwin—is dead. A c.p. retort on old news: coll.: resp. 1722; C.18, e.g. in Swift; ca. 1670–1710, as in Ray. A ballad of 1722, cited by Apperson, 'He's as dead as Queen Anne the day after she dy'd'; Barham. Swift, 'What news, Mr Neverout? Neverout. Why, Madam, Queen Elizabeth's dead.' The first was occ., ca. 1870–1910, elab. to Queen Anne is dead and her bottom's cold.

Cf. the Yorkshire Queen Anner, 'an old-fashioned tale; a tale of former times' (EDD).

Queen Anne's fan. Fingers to nose: coll.: mid-C.19–20; ob. Manchon.

Queen Anne's Mansions. 'The combined control tower and fore bridge of the Nelson and the Rodney, named after the tallest block of flats in London' (Bowen): RN: earlier C.20.

Queen At, the. 'A Chief Commander of the A.T.S.' (H. & P.): Services: ca. 1939–49. See At and cf.:

Queen Bee, the. 'The Director of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force; or the senior W.A.A.F. officer on a station' (Jackson): WAAF and hence RAF: since 1940 or 1941. Cf. prec. Peppitt adds 'But also of, and among, the W.R.N.S.—the Wrens'. Similarly, since late 1940s (the ATS became WRAC in 1948), in army usage (P.B.).—2. As queen bee, 'A 'plane used for anti-aircraft firing practice, having no crew and controlled by radio from the ground. (Not a new invention)' (H. & P.): 1943: RAF: since ca. 1935; by mid-1942, at latest, it was j.—3. A stranger: RN lowerdeck: mid-C.20. 'They were both anxious to impress the newcomers, the queen bees' (Heart, 1962).

Queen Dick. Esp. in the days (or reign) of Queen Dick, never: coll.: from ca. 1660; ob. (Cf. when the devil is blind; blue moon; month of Sundays.) Grose, 3rd ed., however, mentions that that happened in the reign of Queen Dick was applied to 'any absurd old story'; cf. Dick's hatband, q.v., and:—2. In the tune of the life and death of Queen Dick, to no tune at all: late C.18—early 19 coll. Grose, 2nd ed.—3. Perhaps both refer back to the nickname given to Richard Cromwell, Protector in 1658–9. Ex his effeminacy. Dawson.

Queen Elizabeth. See Queen Anne.—2. The street-door key: c.: ca. 1860–1910. On betty.

Queen Elizabeth's pocket-pistol. 'A Brass Cannon of a prodigious Length at Dover Castle' (B.E.): a coll. nickname, ca. 1680–1780. Smollett.

Queen Mary. A long, low-loading, articulated vehicle for the transportation of aircraft by road: RAF: since ca. 1938. (Jackson.) An occ. synon. is artic. (Jackson).—2. 'The basement under the new House of Commons where the secretaries and typists work... (From its appearance and general decorative scheme.) The term is in pretty general use now, I gather' (Granville, letter, 1953).—3. A very large goods brake van: railwaymen's: since the middle 1940s. Ex sense 1; in full, Queen Mary brake van. (Railway.) P.B.: all three senses ex the famous Cunard liner.

queen of swiveland. See swive.

queen of the dripping-pan. A cook: coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. Cf. synon. saint of the saucepan.

queen of weapons, the. The bayonet: military sobriquet: C.19. T. Gowing, A Soldier's Experience, 1886, passim. (P.B.) queen-size(d). An advertising term. See king-size(d).

Queen Street, live in; or at the sign of the Queen's Head. To be governed by one's wife: coll.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed.

queen up. See quean up.

Queen Vics, the. The Queen Victoria Rifles (9th Battalion London Regiment): military: late C.19—early 20. (F. & G.) Also the Q.V.R.s.

queenie. See queanie.—2. queenie! A 'mock endearing name called after a fat woman trying to walk young': Cockneys': 1884–ca. 1914. Ex Queenie, come back, sweet, addressed in a Drury Lane pantomime of 1884 to H. Campbell, who, exceedingly fat, was playing Eliza, a cook. Ware.

Queenite (opp. Kingite). A partisan of Queen Caroline, George IV's wife: coll.: † by 1860. Southey, 'He thought small beer... of some very great... Queenites.'

Queen's. The Queen's College, Oxford: coll.: C.19–20. Queen's men do not like outsiders—even undergraduates of other Oxford colleges—to use the term. But Queens' denotes 'a different Royal and very ancient foundation—the Queens' College, Cambridge' (R.S., 1973), where, I believe, the attitude rightly corresponds.—2. As the Queen's, 'Last tot in the bottle. A bonus, it is the last complete tot, plus the remaining part tot' (Peppitt): RN: 1960s.

Queen's Arms, The; or The Hen and Chickens. Home: commercial travellers': from ca. 1890. It comes into conversations concerning hotels; thus: "'Where do you stay in York?" "Oh, at The Queen's Arms (or, The Hen and Chickens)."' With punning ref. to wife or to wife and children.

Queen's bad or hard bargain or bad shilling. See Q.b.b. and bad bargain.

Queen's Bays, the. The Third Dragon Guards: military coll.: from ca. 1840. Since Queen Victoria's death, the Bays. Ca. 1767, they were mounted on bay horses, the other heavy regts—excepting always the Scots Greys—having black horses.

Queen's bus or, as in Baumann, carriage. A prison van: ca. 1860–1901: c. (But the King's bus did not 'take on'.)

Queen's gold medal. (Gen. the.) A shilling: lower classes': —1887; † by 1902. Baumann.

Queen's head. A postage stamp: (low) coll.: ca. 1840–1901. King's head, † by 1910. Moncrieff, The Scamps of London, 1843.

queen's or Queen's parade. The quarter-deck: RN coll.: ca. 1865–1901. Smyth.

Queen's Park Ranger. A stranger: rhyming s.: C.20. Ex the famous London soccer team. 'Its use ranges from a proud father's announcement that the baby has arrived, to an underworld warning that restraint in conversion is indicated' (Franklyn 2nd).

Queen's Pets, the. Nickname of the 99th Regt of Foot, from 1881 2nd Battalion The Wiltshire Regiment: 'They established a reputation for exceptional smartness on parade, and during nine months of peacetime soldiering at Aldershot in 1858 they were always chosen to find guard on the Royal Pavilion' (Carew).

Queen's or King's picture or portrait. Money; coins: coll. verging on S.E.: C.17–earlier 20. Brome; Ned Ward, 'Queen's pictures, by their features,/Charm all degrees of human creatures'; Judy, 27 Apr. 1887.—2. A sovereign: C.19–early 20. Mayhew.

Queen's pipe. See pipe, n., 11.

Queen's or queen's stick. A stately person: (low) coll.: ca. 1870–1910.

Queen's woman. (Gen. in pl.) A soldier's trull: military coll., bordering on S.E.: ca. 1860–1905. A Royal Commission report of 1871.

queeny. See quean, 1, and queanie, n. and adj.

queer, n. Counterfeit money: c.: from ca. 1810. Vaux; Egan, 1821, 'The dealer in queer'. Cf. shover of the queer, a counterfeiter.—2. An inferior substitute for soot: dealers in soot: (low) s.: ca. 1815–70. Egan in Boxiana, vol. 2.—3. A hoax, a quizzing: low: late C.18–early 20. Ex queer, v., 1, q.v.—4. A look: low s. verging on c.: Henley & Stevenson, 1892, 'Have a queer at her phiz'; ob.—5. A male homosexual: since ca. 1920. (Angus Wilson, Hemlock and After, 1952.) Ex the adj., 8.—6. A simpleton; a fool: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1942.) Ex the adj., 7.—7. In in queer, wrong, e.g. with the police: c.: late C.19–20.—8. In on the queer, acting dishonestly or shadily: low: C.20.—9. In tip (one) the queer, to pass sentence of imprisonment on: c.: early C.19–early 20.

queer, adj. (Orig. opp. to rum, excellent, which in C.19–20 has approximated to queer: see rum, and esp. the essay entitled 'Neither Cricket nor Philology', in my A Covey of Partridge, 1937.) Base, criminal; counterfeit; very inferior: c.: C.16–20. First in Scots, 1508 (OED), as=odd, eccentric, of questionable character, prob. coll. (not c.) and soon > S.E., this sense being perhaps independent of the c. (not attested before 1561); by 1560 very gen. in Eng. c. Awdelay, as quire; Harman, guyer, of liquor; Dekker, quier; Fletcher the dramatist, quere; B.E., queere; The Spectator, queer, as in Grose. Origin obscure, but perhaps ex quire=choir: Awdelay, 'A Quire bird is one that came lately out of prison': cf. Grose's (1st ed.) definition of queer-bird, and see canary and canary bird; or, as

H. suggests, ex Ger. quer, crooked.—2. Not until C.19 do the derivative senses occur: drunk, 1800, W.B. Rhodes, 'We feel ourselves a little queer' (in C.20, gen. he looks, looked, rather, etc., queer), OED.—3. Hence, unwell; giddy: s. >, in C.20, coll. (cf. the Aus. crook, q.v.): from ca. 1810, e.g. in Vaux. Cf. queery, q.v.—4. Unfavourable, inauspicious: coll.: late C.19–20.—5. Not honest; 'shady': coll.: late C.19–20.—6. Shrewd; alert: c.: late C.18–early 19. (Parker, 1789.) But this may merge with prec. sense.—7. Of strange behaviour; (slightly) mad, orig. (a bit) queer in the head: coll.: 1840 (Dickens). This links with sense 3, but prob. deriving imm. ex queer in (one's) attic. (In gen., cf. the n. and v.; also the queer combinations and phrases.)—8. Homosexual: rather coll. than s.: C.20; ex US. (Listener, 10 Mar. 1937.) See the queer as entries below.—9. Roughly 'any', but vaguely intensive, in e.g., 'The queer thing' (thingummy) and 'old queer man' (what's-his-name): army: late C.19–20. From several dial. uses (adj. and adv.), themselves vaguely intensive.

queer, v. To ridicule; to puzzle: from ca. 1790; ob. Grose.—2. To hoax; cheat; trick; evade: c. or low s.: late C.18–20. Anon., 1819, 'There's no queering fate, sirs.'—3. To spoil, ruin: from ca. 1790. Grose, 3rd ed.; 1812, Vaux: c. >, ca. 1840, low s. E.g. queer the ogles, blacken someone's eyes (Grose). See queer the pitch.—4. Hence, 'to put (one) out; to make (one) feel queer' (SOD): 1845, W. Cory, 'Hallam was rather queered' (OED); Hindley, 1876, 'Consumption was queering him.'

queer and; queer nearly always pronounced quare. An intensive of the adjective preceding, as 'quare and hot', very hot, or 'quare and sick', very sick; N. Ireland coll.: C.19–20. P.W. Joyce, English in Ireland, 1910.

queer as a clockwork orange (, as). 'Homosexually weird (precedes film of the name): Royal Navy: 1960s' (Peppitt). The film title is A Clockwork Orange, based upon Anthony Burgess's notable novel, also so titled—a strange and moving book, published in 1962. [P.B.: the phrase has been in low gen. and Services' use since the mid-1950s.] In a letter, 1971, A.B. told me, 'I first heard the expression ... in an East End [of London] pub, and there was a time when the BBC used to put on Cockney plays that made use of that juicy trope.'

queer as a four-speed walking-stick (, as). Synon. with prec.; popularised by 'Blaster' Bates, well-known raconteur and bawdy anecdotist: 1970s. (Mike Eaton, MA, 1977.) Cf. ... as a left-handed corkscrew, noted by P.J.C. Field in a letter pub. in Encounter, Sep. 1972.

queer as a nine-bob note (, as). 'Something very unusual or suspicious, or extreme feminine behaviour by a male' (Powis): low coll.: since mid-C.20. There never was, of course, a nine-shilling note. (Roger Busby, The Frighteners, 1970.) A var. is ... a nine-bob watch, which, so cheap, must be very suspect indeed. These are Brit. versions of:

queer as a three-dollar bill. Very odd (or strange) indeed: Can.: late C.19–20. 'There are no $3 bills' (Leechman).

queer as Dick's hatband. See Dick's hatband.

queer bail. Fraudulent bail: c.: 1785 (Grose); ob. by 1930. Cf. straw-bail; leg-bail.

queer-bashing. 'Assaulting male homosexuals either for gain or for perverse pleasure' (Powis): low, esp. among the mindless thugs who do this: later C.20.

queer belch. Sour beer: low: ca. 1825–70. Sinks, 1848.

queer bird; in C.16–mid-17, quire bird. One only recently out of gaol but already returned to crime: c.: mid-C.16–early 19. Awdelay.—2. An odd fellow: from ca. 1840: s. Cf. queer cove, q.v. Also, occ. funny bird.

queer bit, cole, money, paper, screen, soft. Base money, q. paper and soft obviously applying only to notes: resp. c., late C.18–20; late C.17–20, ob., c.; C.19, s. or low coll.; C.19–20, low; C.19–20, c. (ob. in C.20); mid-C.19–20, c.

queer-bit maker. A coiner of counterfeit: c.: 1785 (Grose); Ware. Cf. queer-cole maker.

queer bitch. 'An odd out-of-the-way fellow' (Grose, 1785); recorded 1772; † by 1870.

queer bluffer. 'A sneaking, sharpening, Cut-throat Ale-house or Inn-keeper' (B.E.); 'The master of a public house, the resort of rogues and sharpers' (Grose, 1st ed.); c.: late C.17–early 19. See also bluffer.

queer booze. Poor lap, swipes; 'small and naughtye drynke' (Harman): c. >, ca. 1750, low s.: ca. 1560–1830. See also booze.

queer bung or boung. An empty purse: c.: mid-C.17–early 19. B.E.

queer card, fellow, fish; in pl, also queer cattle. A person odd in manner, strange in opinion: coll.: resp. C.19–20; 1712, Spectator; 1772, 'Gods are queer fish as well as men'; (gen. of women), 1894, G. Moore—but prob. much earlier—coll. >, in C.20, S.E. Cf. odd fellow, etc. (Mrs C. Raab: Brendan Behan's play, The Quare Fellow, was prod. in 1956.)

queer checker. A swindling box-keeper: low theatrical: late C.18–mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.

queer clout. 'A sorry, coarse, ord'nary or old Handkerchief, not worth Nimming' (i.e. stealing), B.E.: c.: late C.17–18.

queer cole. Counterfeit money: c.: from ca. 1670. (B.E.) See queer bit.

queer-cole fencer. A receiver, or utterer, of false money: c.: late C.17–19. B.E.

queer-cole maker. A counterfeiter: c.: late C.17–early 20. B.E.

queer-cove. A rogue: c.: late C.16–mid-19. Greene (quire cove); B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. A strange fellow: low >, by 1900, gen. s.: from ca. 1830. Cf. queer bird, q.v.

queer cramp-rings. Bolts; fetters: c.:—1567; † by ca. 1750. Harman.

queer cuffin, occ. q. cuffen or cuffing; even cuffin queer (Elisha Coles, 1676). A magistrate: c.: C.17–19. Dekker, 'Because he punisheth them belike' and 'Quier cuffin, that is to say, a Churle, or a naughty man', which gives the secondary sense, 'a churl', recorded by B.E. and Grose.

queer cull. 'A Fop, or Fool, a Codshead; also a shabby poor Fellow' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–mid-19: c. See cull.

queer degen. 'An Iron, Steel, or Brass-hilted Sword' (B.E.); 'an ordinary sword' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. of ca. 1670–1830. Opp. rum degen, q.v.

queer diver. A bungling pickpocket: c.: mid-C.17–early 19. B.E.

queer doxy. A jilting jade; an ill-dressed harlot: c.: mid-C.17–mid-18. B.E.

queer drawers. 'Yarn, coarse Worsted, ord'nary or old Stockings' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–18.

queer duke. A decayed gentleman; a starveling: c.: late mid-C.17–18. B.E.

queer 'em or 'um or 'un; queerum. The gallows: c.: ca. 1820–60. Bee, 1823 (queer 'em); Sonnets for the Fancy, 1824, 'The queerum queerly smear'd with dirty black'. ?queer them or queer one.

queer fella, the. The man that happens to be in command: army: late C.19–20. P.B.: by mid-C.20, applied to anyone whose name is momentarily forgotten, 'you know, old queer-fella, whatsisname—bloke out the Warwick's...' See queer, adj., 9, and next.

queer fellow. A vessel in the Fishery Protection Service: among those living in, or frequenting, the Western Islands: since when? I first noticed it in one of Bill Knox's brisk 'Webb Carrick' tales.—2. See queer card.

queer fish. See queer card.

queer fun. A bungled trick or swindle: c.: late C.17–18. B.E. George Parker, 1789, 'Though fancy queer-gamm'd smutty Muns/Was once my fav'rite man.' See gam.

queer gill. A shabby fellow: c.: ca. 1800–40. Ainsworth, in Rookwood, 1834, 'Rum gills and queer gills'. See gill and cf. cull.

queer hawk. An eccentric person: mostly army: 1930s. Var. of queer bird.

queer in (one's, or the) attic. A var.—ca. 1820–1910—of queer, adj., 7. ('Jon Bee', 1823; Baumann.) Ex queer, adj., 3.—2. Hence, perverse, wrong-headed: low:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930.

queer in (one's, or the) garret. Crazy: s. when not dial.:—1869 (OED). Garret = head; Cf. prec., 1, and synon. wrong in the garret and have (one's) garret empty or unfurnished.

queer it. See queer the pitch.

queer ken. A prison: c.: 1608 (Dekker); Grose. † by 1850.—2. A house not worth robbing: c.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) Here, queer = worthless. Cf.:

queer-ken hall. A prison: c.: 1610 (Rowlands, who spells quirken hall). C.17; on queer ken. Prob. genuine c., but Rowlands often 'improved on' Dekker, who, although he used Harman somewhat à la Molière, prob. knew the underworld intimately.

queer kicks. 'Coarse, ord'nary or old Breeces' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–early 19.

queer lay. See lay, n., 3.

queer money. See queer bit.

queer mort. 'A dirty Drab, a jilting Wench, a Pockey Jade' (B.E.): c.: C.17–early 19. Grose (2nd ed.) records only 'a diseased strumpe'. Contrast rum mort, q.v.

queer nab. A shabby hat, or a cheap one: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., who uncompromisingly defines it as 'A Felt, Carolina, Cloth, or ord'nary Hat, not worth whipping off a Man's Head'.

queer-ogled. Squint-eyed: c.:—1887 (Baumann).

queer on or to. To rob; treat harshly: resp. c. and low s.: C.19–20; ob. Cf. queer, v., 3 and 4.

queer paper. See queer bit.

queer peeper. An inferior mirror: late C.17–18. B.E.

queer peepers. Squinting or dim-sighted eyes: c. >, by 1830, low s.: C.18–20; ob. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

queer place, the. Prison: c.: late C.19–20. Gilt Kid, 1936, 'In the queer place'. By euph. Cf. queer ken, 1.—2. Euph. also for 'a w.c.': coll.: since ca. 1950, at latest. (P.B.)

queer plunger. One who works a faked rescue of a drowning man: c.: 1785 (Grose). It applies both to the 'victim' and to the 'rescuer'. In order that the 'rescuer' 'wangle' a guinea from a humane society; moreover, the supposed 'suicide' often got a small sum.

queer prancer. An inferior or a foundered horse: late C.17–early 19 c. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed., who records also 'a cowardly ... horse-stealer': c.: late C.18–early 19.

queer put. 'An ill-looking, foolish fellow' (Sinks): low: prob. ca. 1800–60.

queer-rolling. 'Robbing male homosexuals' (Powis): c. and low: later C.20. See queer, n., 5, and cf. queer-bashing.

queer roost, dorse (or doss) or sleep (up) on the. To live together as supposed man and wife: c.: late C.18–mid-19. George Parker (dorse).

queer rooster. A police spy residing among thieves: c.: 1785 (Grose); † by 1890.

queer-runs. Confusing talk: c. of ca. 1820–50. (Bee.) Lit., bad-goods.

queer screen. A forged bank-note: c.:—1812 (Vaux); H., 1st ed. Cf. soft, at queer bit.

queer-shover or shover of the queer. See queer, n., 1. From ca. 1870.

queer soft. See queer bit.

queer start. A strange business: ca. 1820–80: low >, by 1860, gen. (Anon., Autobiography of Jack Ketch, 1836.) see start, n., 3.

queer stick. A very odd, or incomprehensible, fellow: coll.: late C.19–20. Cf. dial. rum stick and the c. and dial. rum duke.

Queer Street, in. In a serious difficulty; very short of money: c. >, ca. 1840, s. >, ca. 1890, coll. >, ca. 1930, S.E.: 1811, Lex. Bal.; 1837, Lytton, 'You are in the wrong box—planted in Queer Street, as we say in London'; Dickens.

queer the job. A theatrical var. of next. Leonard Merrick, Peggy Harper, 1911.

queer the (or someone's) pitch (for him, them, etc.). To spoil a sale, a performance: showmen's and cheapjacks': 1875 (Frost, Circus Life). See pitch, n., 1, 2.—2. Hence, to mar one's plans: coll.: C.20. St James's Gazette, 10 Apr. 1901, 'Queering the pitch of the Italians.'

queer thing, the. 'A basket or sack hoisted in a Grand Banks schooner to recall the dories': fishermen's late C.19–20. Bowen.

-queer-thing. Used as suffix, when the speaker cannot remember, or cannot pronounce, the end of a long, unfamiliar word; e.g., 'He was suffering from bilharzia—schisto, er, shtitso-queer-thing. You know—Bill Harris': Services': C.20. See queer, adj., 9. (P.B.)

queer to. See queer on.

queer topping. A frowsy or inferior wig or other head-dress: c.: late C.17–18. B.E.

queer-up. 'A male homosexual bout' (L.A., 1974): low coll.: since ca. 1950.

queer wedge. Base gold or, more gen., silver: c.: ca. 1800–60.—2. A large buckle, says Grose, in his 3rd ed.: c.: late C.18—early 19.

queer whidding. A scolding: c.: C.18—mid-19. F. & H. Ex: queer whids. Esp. in cut queer whids, to give evil words: c.: 1567 (Harman); ob. by 1930.

queered. Tipsy: 1822, Scott, 'You would be queered in the drinking of a penny pot of malmsey.' † by 1850. See queer, adj., 2.

queerer. A quizzer, a hoaxer: ca. 1810–50. Colman, 1812, 'These wooden wits, these quizzers, queerers, smokers'. Ex queer, v., 1.

queerish. Somewhat 'queer', in various senses: coll.: mid-C.18–20. Also in dial.

queerly. Like a criminal: c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E.

queerum. See queer 'em.

queery. Shaky: low, esp. boxing: ca. 1820–70. Jones, The True-Bottomed Boxer, 1825.

Quego. A Pacific Islander (native): NZ: C.20. Ex Fijian ko iko, you (in calling to a person). Edwin Morrisly, 1958, compares the Aus. C.20 use of boong, q.v.

queint(e). See quaint.

queme. See quim.

quencher; frequently a modest quencher. A drink: coll.: 1840 (Dickens).

querier. A chimney-sweep irregularly soliciting custom, e.g. by knocking at the doors of houses: low: from ca. 1845. (Mayhew, II, 1851.) Cf. knuller. Mayhew also lists synon. gumbler.

query and quetry in Greene's Second Cony-Catching, 1592, are prob. misprints for quarry; nevertheless they are late C.16 c. and = a surety (to be victimised).

question. In ask (a horse) question, to test before racing: the turf: Licensed Victuallers' Gazette, 7 Nov. 1890, 'A thorough judge of horses... and... not afraid of asking them a question, like some trainers we know of.'—2. See pop the question.

question lay. To knock at the Door, and ask for the Gentleman of the House, if a Bed [a-bed] you desire the Servant not to disturb him, but you will wait until he rises, and then an opportunity to steal something' (C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718): c.: C.18.

queue-barge. To insert oneself, by force—hence, by guile, into a queue; whence the n., queue-barging: coll.: since ca. 1940.

queynte. See quaint.

Quhew. See whew, the.

qui, get the. To be dismissed: printers': from ca. 1875. Ex quietus.

qui-es kateer. See quies...

qui-hi or -hai or -hy. An Anglo-Indian, esp. of the Bengal Presidency: Anglo-Indian coll.: 1816 (anon., Quiz): Thackeray, 'The old boys, the old generals, the old colonels, the old qui-his... paid her homage.' Ex Urdu koi hai, 'Is anyone there?'—in India a summons to a servant. Y. & B., who cf.

(Bombay) duck and mull, q.v.—2. In the Regular Army, qui-hi is used (mid-C.19–20) in its lit. sense. B. & P.

quitam; qui-tam, quitam. A solicitor that seeks such a conviction that the resultant penalty goes half to the informer (i.e. the lawyer himself), half to the Crown: also adj., as in Moncrieff, 1843, 'The quitam lawyer, the quack doctor'; qui tam, as n., app. recorded first in this sense in H., 3rd ed., 1864; in C.20, ob. except as legal s.—2. The adj., however, figures also in the earlier qui-tam horse, 'one that will both carry and draw' (Grose, 3rd ed.): legal, † by 1860. Ex the legal action so named; L., 'who as well'.—3. But qui tam, an informer, occurs as early as 1816 in 'Quiz's' Grand Master (OED): coll.

Quibble Queer, Sir. 'A trifling silly shatter-brain'd Fellow' (B.E.): late C.17—mid-18.

quick. Dapper and clever: Society: 1870s and 1880s. B. & L. quick and dirty. Topically and hastily compiled (and published or used before correction): orig. computer men's coll., > more widespread: adopted, ex US, late 1960s. Barnhart, 'U.S. Slang. a snack bar or lunch counter.' (P.B.) quick and nimble; more like a bear than a squirrel. A c.p. addressed to one moving slowly when speed is required: C.18—mid-19. 'Proverbs' Fuller, 1732; Grose, 2nd ed.

quick-change artiste. (Music halls) one who changes costume for successive songs or scenes: from ca. 1870. Coll. in C.19, S.E. in C.20.

quick, dead and the plumbers. A higger-mugger of people, as in 'we got in each other's way... and generally created an amorphous mass of "quick, dead and the plumbers"' (S.F. Hatton, The Yarn of a Yeoman, 1930): army: early C.20.

Quick Dick. A certain quick-firing British gun on the Western Front: military nickname. F. & G.

quick-firer. A field-service stereotyped postcard: military: from 1915. (Frank Richards, Old Soldiers Never Die, 1933.) Cf. whizz-bang.

quick one. A drink taken quickly: coll. verging on familiar S.E.: from ca. 1910.—2. (Also a quickie.) A brief and brisk copulation: rather commoner among women than among men: C.20: low s.; by 1930, coll. Cf. quickie, 3.—3. 'Among, e.g., male office staff, intimation of brief absence to make water, "Just going for a quick one"—hence frequent response from colleague also under pressure: "Have one for me"' (L.A.). By transference from sense 1.

quick quid has, since ca. 1925, been the Aus. answer to the American fast buck. (B.P.)

quick(-)shits, the. Dysentery: army in N. Africa: 1940–3. Peter Sanders, Sunday Times mag., 10 Sep. 1967.

quick squirt. A (sudden and) brief burst of machine-gun fire from one aircraft at another: RAF: since 1939+. H. & P.

quick sticks. In in quick sticks, rapidly: hurriedly: coll.: from ca. 1830. Moe cites Dublin University Magazine, Apr. 1835; J.B. Priestley, They Walk in the City, 1963.—2. In cut quick sticks, to start or depart thus: coll.: from ca. 1860. (H., 2nd ed.) Both phrases occur in various dialects (EDD). Cf. cut one's stick.—3. As quick sticks! it is Aus. domestic coll.—addressed to children—and synon. with 'Hurry up!': C.20. (B.P.) quickee. See quickie.

quicker than hell would scorch a feather. Promptly: sailing-ship officers' c.p. 'duly impressed on all youngsters': mid-C.19–20; ob. (Bowen.) Cf. much chance as a snowball...

quickie, -ee, -ey, -y. The act of backing a horse after the result of a race is known: Glasgow sporting:—1934. Perhaps ex quick return on one's money.—2. A fast bowler: cricketers' coll.: 1934, P.G.H. Fender in several articles (e.g. on 21 June) in the Evening News.—3. A rapid burst of machine-gun fire at close range: (mostly) RAF: since 1939. (H. & P.) Cf. quick squirt.—4. A drink, esp. 'a quick one' (q.v.: 1): orig. Service officers', esp. RAF, since ca. 1940; soon > gen. coll. (W/Cdr. R.P. McDouall, 1945).—5. A brief bawdy story told at the break-up of a party: since the late 1940s. 'Just time for a quickie?'—6. 'In radio panel quizzes, a final interpolated question with a short time-limit for answering: "We've just got time for a quicky." Since the 1950s' (R.S., 1973).—7. See quick one, 2; quota quicky.

quicunque (loosely quicunque) vult. A very compliant girl (sexually): 1785 (Grose); † by 1850. Also an Athanasian wench. Ex quicunque vult saluus esse, whoseever will be saved, the opening words of the Athanasian Creed (OED).

quid. A guinea: c.: 1688 (Shadwell); † by 1800. Perhaps L. quid, what?, for 'the wherewithal': cf. quids, q.v.—2. Hence, a sovereign, or the sum of twenty shillings: low: C.19–20.—3. A shilling, says Grose, 3rd ed., but this I believe to be an error.—4. As a pl = quids, sovereigns or £, as in Dickens, 1857, "'Take yer two quid to one'", adds the speaker, picking out a stout farmer.—5. The female pudend: low: C.19–early 20.—6. As the Quid, or, orig., the Royal Quid, HMS Royal Sovereign: since late C.19. (Goodenough, 1901.) This is one of the few Hobson-Jobson ships' names I've included: such names are very numerous, many of them ephemeral and most of them 'parochial'. The WW2 version was the Tiddly Quid.

quid-box. A snuff box: ?1790–1850. Wm Maginn, Whitehall, 1827, p. 53.

'quid est hoc?' 'hoc est quid.' A late C.18–early 19 punning c.p. (Grose, 3rd ed.) As H. explains, the question is asked by one tapping the bulging cheek of another, who, exhibiting a 'chaw' of tobacco, answers 'hoc est' quid. Lit., 'What is this? This is a quid [of tobacco].'

quid-fishing. Expert thieving: c.:—1909 (Ware). Ex quid, 2. quid to a bloater, (it's) a. (It's) a certain bet: low urban: —1909; slightly ob. (Ware.) P.B.: cf. the low 'or my prick's a bloater!'

quidding, vbl n. The chewing of tobacco: Conway training ship:—1900. John Masefield's history thereof, 1933.

quiddle. 'Custard, or any sauce for pudding': Bootham School: C.20. Perhaps cf. squish.—2. To spit: id.: † by 1925 (Bootham).

quidlet. A sovereign; £1: low: C.20. (J.W. Horsley, I Remember, 1912.) Diminutive of quid, 2.—2. In pl =:

quids. Money, or rather cash, in gen.: late C.17–20 (ob.): c. >, ca. 1750, low s. B.E. (quids); Moore, 1819, 'If quids should be wanting, to make the match good'. Ex quid, 1.—2. In for quids, for anything at all, as in 'He wouldn't miss a [race] meeting for quids' (Slatter): NZ: since ca. 1920.—3. See tip the quids.

quids in. Applied to a state of things when one is doing well; 'I'm quids in!': army (C.20); by 1919, it was gen. Short either for quids in the till or for in, to the tune of quids (pounds).—2. Hence, be quids in is to accomplish something with plenty of time, effort, etc., to spare; to do it easily or comfortably: since ca. 1935. Perhaps ex the result of a highly successful wager.

quien. A dog: low (? orig. c.): mid-C.19–early 20. Reade, 1861, "'Curse these quiens," said he.' Origin obscure, but obviously cognate with L. canis, Fr. chien, a dog. Perhaps ex Northern Fr. dial.

quier. See queer, adj., 1.

quies kateer (also qui-es; quis; kweis(s): pron. kwyce or kwoyce). How are you?: army: late C.19–earlier 20. Arabic kwush kethir, very good; used in this sense by army and RAF, ca. 1915 (Eastern Fronts)—ca. 1960. See also entry at kweis. It occurs in G.W. Steevens, With Kitchener to Khartoum, 1896: 'the earliest printed use'—as a phrase familiar to British regular soldiers—'I have seen' (R.S.); or I. P.B.: given fresh life in the Services by WW2, it lingered in the speech of the older soldiers for a decade or so after the withdrawal from Middle Eastern commitments.

quiet, on the. Quietly, unobtrusively, secretly: s. >, ca. 1910, coll.: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.). Whence q.t., on the, q.v.

quiet as a wasp in (one's) nose (, as). Uneasy, restless: coll.: 1670. Ray.

quiet mouse. Synon. with lone duck: B. & L.

quietly. See just quietly.

quiff, n. 'A satisfactory result: spec. an end obtained by means not strictly conventional' (F. & H.): low: later

C.19–early 20.—2. 'Any specially ingenious smart, tricky, or novel or improvised way of doing anything' (F. & G.); 'A point of useful knowledge' (Goodenough, 1901); both RN; 'in the Army... any drill method peculiar to a battalion' (F. & G.): late C.19–early 20. The second naval nuance passed into civilian life as 'a hint, a piece of advice', as in Netley Lucas, The Autobiography of a Crook, 1925, 'I'll give you one quiff, right now... Never touch the dope, it's hell.' This whole sense † by mid-C.20. Ex dial. quiff, a dodge or trick, a knack, a 'wrinkle' (EDD).—3. Whence, 'an idea, fancy, movement, suggestion': Anglo-Indian:—1909 (Ware).—4. As an oiled lock of hair plastered on forehead, the SOD considers it S.E., W. as s., orig. East End of London. Perhaps ex It. caffia; cognate with coif. F. & H., 1902 (first record), says 'military'; Ware dates it at 1890. P.B.: but see E.P.'s dating of quiff the bladder.—5. (?) Hence, the female pudend: low: earlier C.20. Cf. all the other qu- words with this meaning: quaint; quim; quin and:- quiff, v.i. To copulate: C.18–19: low. D'Urfey, 'By quiffing with Cullies, three Pound she had got'; Grose, 2nd ed., gives as quiffing, copulation. Not in OED; origin problematic.—2. V.i., to do well; jog along nicely, merrily: from ca. 1870. Prob. ex the dial. n. quiff (see quiff, n., 1); cf.:-

quiff, adj. Smartly dressed (esp. for a particular occasion): military: from ca. 1908. (F. & G.) Ex quiff, n., 1.

quiff in the press. To move a breast pocket to the other side: tailors': from ca. 1870. Cf. the Somersetshire dial. use (EDD).

quiff tack. 'Materials for cleaning harness equipment': military: from ca. 1910. (F. & G.) Ex quiff, adj.

quiff the bladder. To conceal baldness: low: from ca. 1870. Lit., to coif the bladder-resembling head; more prob.—cf. quiff, n., 1—ex dial. quiff, a dodge, a trick.

quiffing. See quiff, v., 1.

quifs. Manœuvres: army: late C.19–early 20. (Ware.) Ex quiff, n., 1 and 2.

quill, n. See brother—knight—of the quill; drive a quill, with which cf. quill-driver.

quill, v. To curry favour: Winchester College: C.19–20. Perhaps ex jump in quill, to act in harmony, and in a or the quill, in concert. Cf. quilled.

quill-driver. 'Anybody on shipboard doing clerical work': nautical coll.: late C.19–earlier 20. (Bowen.) Ex S.E. sense.—2. Hence, also, nickname or s. term for the Army Pay Corps, founded 1878: army: late C.19–early 20.

quilled, adj. Pleased: Winchester College: C.19–20. Prob. ex quill, q.v.

quiller, occ. quilster. A toady: Winchester: C.19–20. Ex quill, q.v.

quilling. The carrying of (rich) passengers' luggage and getting a tip for doing so: railwaymen's, esp. porters': C.20. Semantically = favour-carrying. See also fluffing, 2. Railway, 2nd, modifies the definition by confining the practice to off-duty employees.

quilt, v. To punish, whence the n. quilting, punishment: naval: late C.18–mid-19. Both occur in Bill Truck, Oct. 1822. In C.20 Aus., 'to clout with the fist' (Wilkes).

quim. The female pudend: a vulg.: C.17–20. Variants, queme, quim-box, quimsby, quin, all † except the second, itself ob. Grose, 2nd ed., suggests ex Sp. quemar, to burn, but it is more prob. ex Celtic cwm, a cleft, a valley; (?) influenced by Fr. con and Eng. cunt.—Hence such C.19–20 compounds as quim-bush, -whiskers, -wig, the female pubic hair; q. -stake or -wedge, the penis; q. -sticker, a whoremonger: q. -sticking or -wedging, and quimming, sexual intercourse.

quimsby, quin. See quim.

quimp. Slack; unsoldierly: military: early C.20. (F. & G.) Perhaps a corruption of dial. quim, pleasant, smooth.

quince. A soft, an effeminate person; a softly stupid person: low Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) P.B.: prob. influenced by quim; cf. cunt in this sense, and:—2. In get on (one's) quince, to annoy, irritate, exasperate someone: low Aus.: since ca. 1920.

(Baker.) Cf. 'These bloody trees are getting on me quince!' (A.E. Farrell, The Vengeance, 1963). P.B.: prob. a euph.: cf. get on (one's) prick, wick, tits, etc.

Quins, the. The Harlequins Rugby Football Club: sporting: C.20.—2. The Dionne quintuplets of Canada; born 28 May 1934: coll., mainly journalists'. Cf. the Quads, the English quadruplets born in 1935. Both terms have been applied to the offspring in similar multiple births since.

quinsy. See choked...

quint. 'Any one of a set of quintuplets; common in Canada since the birth of the Dionne children in 1934 in Calendar, Ontario' (Leechman). Cf. next.

Quints, the. The Can. shape of the Quins, 2. (Leechman.) quire. See queer, adj., 1.

quirk. An Air Force officer while under instruction: Air Force: WW1, and revived in WW2 (Jackson). Cf. erk, but ex:—2. As the Quirk, 'The famous B.E. 2C, otherwise known as "The Quirk"' (O.G. Thetford, Aircraft Paintings of C. Rupert Moore, A.R.C.A. [1946]): RFC: earlier WW1.—3. Hence, 'any freak type, or unusually designed aeroplane' (F. & G.): RFC/RAF: from 1917.

quirken. See queer-ken hall.

quirker. Any odd little thing, animate or inanimate; e.g., a small child, or a tuft on the child's head: coll.: earlier C.20. Prob. a civilianised var. of quirk, 3, and ultimately ex dial.: quirk = the end of a pig's tail (EDD.)

quirkum. A puzzle: Scots: late C.18–19. ('A cant term' in Jamieson = s.)

quirley. A cigarette: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1953.) Cf. twirly.

quis? Who wants some? or Whose is this?: Preparatory and Public Schools': mid-C.19–20. The answer is ego! (Collinson.) Direct ex Latin. P.B.: sometimes pron. quiz?—2. As exclam., pron. kwyce, = good! See quies.

quisby, n. An idler: 1837 (OED); † by 1920. Desmond, Stage Struck, 'That old quisby has certainly contrived to slip out of the house.' ?ex quize, an eccentric. Hence, do quisby, to idle: 1851 (Mayhew). Cf.:

quisby, adj. Bankrupt, 1853; out of sorts, 1854; queer, not quite right, 1887, Punch, 30 July, 'After this things appeared to go quisby.' ?ex quize, an eccentric, or ex prec.

quising. A tell-tale, esp. one who carries favour with the CO by acting as tale-bearer: Services: since mid-1940. (H. & P.) Ex Vidkun Quisling (1889–1946), the Norwegian Army officer turned traitor. (See, esp., my Name into Word, 1949.)

quit, to leave off in a very lazy or a cowardly manner, and quitter, a shirker, are C.20 coll. ex US. Ultimately ex S.E. quit, to cease doing something (in C.20 US), or ex Anglo-Irish quit, to 'clear out'—as in Lover, 1848, 'Quit this minit', cited by EDD.

quit by proclamation. See TAVERN TERMS, §4, in Appendix. quitam. See qui tam.

quite, adj. 'Quite the thing'—somebody first-class, very well—better—or—mannered, etc.: since ca. 1920. H. Drake-Brockman, Men Without Wives, 1938, 'There is a polite fiction current that once he went to Oxford, and he isn't "quite", and everybody knows this, in the strange way that everybody does know these things.'

quite! quite so! Yes!; no doubt!; I agree: coll.: from ca. 1895. Cf. Fr. parfaitement and our exactly and rather. (OED Sup.) The clergyman in Sutton Vane's excellent and most original play, Outward Bound, continually says quite!

quite a bit. Fairly often; a fair amount (n.), rather (adv.): coll.: late C.19–20. 'It hurts quite a bit.'

quite a stranger! (often prec. by well!) A coll. c.p. addressed to a person one hasn't seen for some time: C.20. R. Blaker, Night-Shift, 1934.

quite a while. A considerable length of time: coll.: C.20. Elinor Glyn, 1905 (OED).

quite an event. Something important, significant, or unusual: coll.: C.20.

quite quite. (Usu. in neg.) An intensification of quite, adj., as 'He's really not quite quite, is he, do you think?': middle-class coll.: since (?) the 1930s. (P.B.)

quite the gay drunkard, be. To be somewhat tipsy: coll.: ca. 1870–1900.

quite too. Too; esp. quite too dull, which Ware quotes in his Introduction: orig. and mainly Society: from ca. 1905. Prob. on the earlier too too. But B. & L., 1889, note quite too nice, in use among female aesthetic Society.

quiteish, not. Indisposed: from ca. 1920. Richard Keverne, Carteret's Cure, 1926, 'You look a bit not quiteish, eh?' I.e. not quite the thing.

quitses. A release, discharge: late C.16—early 17: prob. coll. (Holinshed.) ?ex quietus est. OED.

quitter. See quit.

quius kius! Hush!; cease: theatrical c.p. of ca. 1880–1910. (B. & L.) The kius reduplicates quius ex quietus:

quiz. (Of arbitrary origin, perhaps on queer, adj.; cf. quoz.) An eccentric person: 1782 (Mme D'Arblay: OED): Oxford s. >, ca. 1830, gen. coll. and, ca. 1860, S.E.—2. Hence, an odd-looking thing: coll.: 1798 (Jane Austen); ob. OED.—3. A monocle: from ca. 1810: coll. Abbr. quizzing-glass, as in Thackeray, 1843, 'The dandy not uncommonly finishes off with a horn quizzing-glass.' Ob. Prob. ex sense 1.

quiz, v.i. and t. To watch; play the spy: c.: from ca. 1890. Ex dial.

quizzing, vbl n. A poking of fun: naval: late C.18–19. Basil Hall, 1831.

quizzzy. Inquisitive: Aus.: C.20. D'Arcy Niland, The Shiralee, 1955.

quockerwodger. A politician acting under an outsider's orders: political:—1859; † by 1887. (H., 1st ed. (Introduction); Baumann.) Ex dial. quocker-wodger, a puppet on strings.

quod or, never in C.20, quad. A prison: late C.17–20: c. until ca. 1780, then low s. B.E.; Fielding; Tarras, Poems, 1804 (quad). Gen. in quod. Prob. ex quadrangle. Cf.:

quod, v. To imprison: from ca. 1810: c. >, ca. 1840, low s. Vaux, Tom Taylor. Ex n.

quod-cove. A turnkey: c.: 1812 (Vaux); † by 1910. Ex quod, n. Cf.:

quod-cull. A prison warden: c.: C.18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

quodded, adj. In prison: low: from ca. 1820. Ex quodded, imprisoned. See quod, v.

quodding dues are concerned. It is a case of imprisonment: c.:—1812; † by 1890. Vaux.

quodger; quodjer. By what law?: legal: 1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Ex L. quo jure.

quoit. A simpleton; a fool: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (B., 1943.) Perhaps ex:—2. (Also spelt coit.) The backside; the arse; Aus.: since (?) 1925. (B., 1942.) P.B.: E.P. suggests 'Ex roundness'; but Julian Franklyn's proposal re sense 1, 'Probably because a quoit is a hollow ring—nothing in it' forms a better explanation for this 2nd sense.—3. In go for (one's) quoits, 'to travel quickly; go for one's life' (Baker, 1941): Aus. Wilkes quotes Jon Cleary, The Sundowners, 1952, 'Going for the lick of his coit up the street.' Prob. connected with sense 2.

quondong. Var. of quandong.

quoniam. The female pudend: low: C.14–18. L.F. Masters, Esq., reminds me that in the Wife of Bath's prologue (lines 607–8) in The Canterbury Tales, Chaucer caused her to say: 'And trewely, as mine housebonds tolde me, I hadde the beste quoniam might be.' Perhaps a pun, on L. cunnum, the acc. of cunnius, and L. quoniam, whereas (all males desire it).

quot. Var. spelling and pron. of cot, 1. B. & L.

quota. App. c. for a share (esp. of plunder): late C.17—early 18. (B.E.) Cf. earnest, q.v.

quota quicky. A short British film made as quickly and cheaply as possible, and put on a cinema programme to fulfil the regulation concerning the quota of British films to be used, in Brit., in proportion to foreign (including American) films: cinema world: 1936. (It doesn't matter how short the films are; a nasty reflection on British films.)

QUOTE

quote. A quotation: 1885.—2. A quotation-mark, 1888. Literary, publishing, and printing coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E., but certainly not dignified S.E. (OED.) Hence, in quotes, in quotation marks.

quoz. An odd or absurd person or thing; coll.: ca. 1790–1810. Also, as in Mme D'Arblay, as a pl. A joc. perversion of quiz, n., 1, q.v. It is the subject of an entire song in The New Vocal

QUYER

Enchantress (a song-book), 1791, pp. 32–4. Also occ. as dim. quozzy: Ibid.—2. As an ejaculation or a retort, indeed a monosyllabic c.p.: same period. (OED.) See esp. Charles Mackay, 'Popular Follies of Great Cities', in Memoirs of Extraordinary Popular Delusions, 1841: quoz! appears to be the late C.18 equivalent of the mid-C.20's sez you!

quyer. Var. spelling of quire, q.v. at queer, adj., 1.

R

R

R. In have one's R taken from one, to be demoted: naval: C.18. Elliptical for 'lose one's rank'. Smollett, Roderick Random, 1748, ch. 41, last para.: 'London, where I do not doubt of being replaced, and of having the R taken off me by the Lords of the Admiralty.'—2. See leave an R...

R.C.s, Parsees, Pharisees and Buckshees. Sergeant-major's description for all those not of the Established Church and therefore excusable from church parade: army: C.20. (P.B.)

r.h.i.p. "'Rank hath its privileges": reason for juniors to "dip out" socially: US Navy, 1950s; adopted by Royal Navy, 1960s' (Peppitt). P.B.: cf. the saying 'What is rank without privilege?', an army phrase used to justify even the slightest advantage in the struggle for 'perks': later C.20.

r.i.p. (or R.I.P.), let him, her, it, etc. Let him, her, etc., rip; i.e. don't bother about him, her, etc.: late C.19–20. Ex the abbr. of requiescat in pace, on tombstones. Cf. rip.

R.J. Knowles. Holes: theatrical rhyming s.: since ca. 1892.

R.M.D. (separately articulated). Immediate payment: (unexalted) financial coll.: late C.19–20. Ex ready money down.

R.O. See relieving officer.

r.o. lollies. Run-out money: mock-auction world: since ca. 1945. (Sunday Chronicle, 28 June 1953.) See run-out, and cf. r.o. workers.

r.o.t.f.b. See roll on that boat!

r.o. workers. Men who 'frame' a mock-auction: showmen's: C.20. (P. Allingham, London Evening News, 9 July 1934.) See run-out, and cf. r.o. lollies.

r.p.c. A party: RN wardroom: since ca. 1950. Ex R.P.C., 'Request the pleasure of your company'. (Peppitt.)

ra-ra skirt. A tiered 'mini-skirt', q.v., worn by teenage girls, 1982. Perhaps better spelt rah-rah, ex poss. derivation ex the uniform skirt of US drum-majorettes or cheer-leaders. (P.B.)

rab, the. The till: c.: C.20. (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938.) With a pun on Rab, the Scots form of Rob.

rabbit, n. A new-born babe, mostly in rabbit-catcher, a midwife: low: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1785.—2. Political (ob.) as in report of the House of Commons Election Commission, 1866, 'Out of £50... he had paid a number of rooks and rabbits... In general... "the rabbits were to work in the burrow and the rooks to make a noise at the public meetings.'—3. 'A rabbit, as a horse that runs "in and out" is sometimes called,' 1882 (Standard, 3 Sep.): racing; slightly ob.—4. Hence, an inferior player of any game: C.20: s. >, by 1930, coll. Related also to S.E. use of rabbit as a pej. (The derivative rabbitry is too academic and rare to be eligible.)—5. 'Property stolen from the Royal Dockyards, most frequently used in Devonport': RN: C.20. (Bowen.) See also rabbits.—6. A bottle of beer: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—7. A young girl: Aus.: since ca. 1920. Baker.—8. A native-born Australian: since ca. 1925. Baker.—9. A short-journey passenger: busmen's and trammen's: since ca. 1910. Also, since ca. 1912, railwaymen's. (Railway.) Mostly in plural.—10. In fat and lean like a rabbit, a mid-C.17–early 19 coll. Ray, 1678; explained in Swift's Polite Conversation, Dialogue I: 'I am like a Rabbit, fat and lean in Four-and-twenty Hours,' a rabbit responding very promptly to food.—11. 'Inevitable' nickname for men surnamed Hutchin(g)s or Hutchinson: mostly Services': earlier C.20.—12. See buy the rabbit(s); hope your rabbit dies!; live rabbit; rabbit and pork; run the rabbit; rabbit's paw.

rabbit, v. In imprecations, it = confound, as in Fielding's "'Rabbit the fellow!" cries he,' 1742, and Smollett's 'Rabbit it! I have forgot the degree,' in the same decade. Cf. drabbit! (—1787), and od(d) rabbit: qq.v. The OED considers rabbit an alteration of rat in od rat, drat; F. & H.'s rot it won't fit'.

—2. '(In football) to collar a player by the ankles when he is running with the ball' (Baker): Aus. sporting: C.20.—3. To borrow or 'scrounge' something: R Aus. N: since ca. 1920. B., 1943.—4. See:—

rabbit and pork, n. and v. A, or to, talk: rhyming s.: C.20. (Gerald Kersh, They Die with their Boots Clean, 1941.) Often shortened to rabbit, as in 'She can't arf rabbit' (Rhyming Cockney Slang, ed. Jack Jones, 1971); see also quot'n at bunny, v., and rabbit on. Shortened to rabbit, it = to grumble and mumble: low: C.20. Cf. rabbit's paw.

rabbit-catcher. See rabbit, n., 1.

rabbit-hunting—or (a) coney-catching—with a dead ferret, go. To undertake something with unsuitable or useless means: coll.: ca. 1670–1820. Ray; Fuller, 1732.

rabbit-hutch. 'Crutch. Crotch. "These bleedin' rounders [i.e. round-the-houses = trousers] is a lot too tight in the rabbit hutch' (Red Daniells, letter, 1980): rhyming s.: C.20. Cf. rabbit, n., 11, q.v.

rabbit-killer. 'A punch on the nape of the neck, like a karate chop' (Wilkes): Aus.: since ca. 1925. Cf. rabbiter, and rabbit-punch.

rabbit-meat. See rabbit's food, 1.

rabbit-o. 'An itinerant street seller of rabbits' (Caddie, A Sydney Barmaid, 1953): Aus.: C.20. Ex his cry. See also rabbo.—2. As the Rabbits-os, South Sydney footballers: Sydney sporting: since ca. 1925. B., 1943.

rabbit on, often as vbl n. rabbiting on. To ramble on over a triviality, either boringly or complainingly; to grumble and mumble: coll.: since ca. 1960. (Camilla Raab attests its use also in Aus.) An elab. of the shortened rabbit and pork, q.v.

rabbit-pie. A harlot: low: mid-C.19–early 20. Ex live rabbit, q.v.

rabbit-pie shifter. A policeman: low London: ca. 1870–1920. B. & L. quote a music-hall song of ca. 1870, 'Never to take notice of vulgar nicknames, such as "slop", "copper", "rabbit-pie shifter", "peeler"'. P.B.: ex prec., or merely an allusion to the foot-patrolman's being invited into the kitchen by the cook (see Punch of the period, passim)—or both?

rabbit-pulling. Obstetrics: medical students': later C.19. Cf. rabbit-catcher at rabbit, n., 1, and baby-pulling.

rabbit-punch. A blow, usu. given from behind, on the nape of the neck: coll.: C.20 (? earlier). Ex the blow struck with side of the hand to kill a rabbit by breaking its neck. The v. from this. Cf. rabbit-killer and rabbiter. Earlier, rabbit's punch, as in Daily Telegraph, 30 Jan. 1936.

rabbit-skin. An academical hood: university: mid-C.19–early 20. Also cat-skin. Hence, to get (one's) rabbit-skin, to obtain the BA degree: id. The trimming, e.g. at Cambridge, is of rabbit's fur.

rabbit-sucker. A young spendthrift 'taking up Goods upon Tick at excessive rates' (B.E.): c. of C.17–early 19. (Dekker.) Prob. ex Shakespearian sense, 'baby' rabbits. Cf. pursenets, q.v.—2. Also, a pawnbroker; a tally-man: c. or low s.: ca. 1720–60. A New Canting Dict., 1725.

rabbiter. A side-handed blow on the nape of the neck:

Winchester College: from ca. 1875. As in killing a rabbit.—2. In pl, a form of punishment: Charterhouse: C.19. A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.—3. 'One who makes a habit of smuggling "rabbits" [q.v., sense 2] ashore' (Granville): RN: C.20.

rabbit's food. Vegetable salad: RN: C.20. (Birmingham Mail, 24 Feb. 1939.) Among civilians: rabbit meat: since ca. 1920.—2. Hence, esp., lettuce: Services': WW2 and after.

rabbit's paw; often shortened to rabbit. Conversation: rhyming s. (on jaw): since ca. 1930. Cf. rabbit and pork, q.v. Franklin 2nd.

rabbit's punch. See rabbit punch.

rabbits. A customs officer: RN: late C.19–20.—2. "Rabbits" are illicit goods smuggled ashore by Naval ratings going on leave. At one time the men were allowed to take food with them for consumption at home: "top pieces" of prime meat, and rabbits, which, with their entrails removed, made excellent hold-alls for, say, tobacco which the sailors were forbidden to take out of the ship' (Granville): RN: C.20.—3. Hence, perquisites; anything 'buckshee': RN: since ca. 1920. As in Douglas Rendell's reminiscences of naval photography, WW2, in Brit. Jnl of Photography, 7 Mar. 1980, 'the enormous sideline in "rabbits", with endless prints of camp functions'.—4. Hence, also, make rabbits, to indulge one's hobby, esp. in making things, e.g. gifts for children: RN coll.: C.20.—5. As the Rabbits, 'Leicester to Birmingham parcel trains' (Railways, 2nd): railwaymen's nickname: mid-C.20.—6. See white rabbits.

rabbits out of the wood! It's 'splendid' or sheer profit or a windfall: racing c.p.:—1932. Poached rabbits, as opp. to those bought in shop or market.

rabble. Fun of any sort; as v.i., to 'rag': Bootham School: earlier C.20. Bootham.

rabbo. A rabbit; rabbits considered collectively; rabbo!, the street-cry of a rabbit-meat vendor: lower-class Aus., esp. Sydneyites': late C.19–20. C.F. McGill, 'Me Donah what's at Home' in the Bakara Bulletin, 1919, 'I've been a thinking what to do fer me an' my gal Flo; I think I'll buy a barrer an' sell the good rabbo.' (This short poem shows, very clearly, the influence of C.J. Dennis's The Sentimental Bloke.) Cf. rabbit-o.

rabsha(c)kle. A profligate: coll.: ?C.17–18. (F. & H.: but who else?) Cf. S.E. ramshackle.

race. For day of the race = the important occasion, see quot'n at ticketty-boo.

race-card, the. The morning sick-report: army joc.: WW1. (F. & G.) The odds are heavily against the 'entrants'.

race for the steward's basin, n. and v. (To experience) sea-sickness: joc.: C.20. Parodying the race-course race for the Stewards' Cup.

race (a girl or woman) off. 'To seduce; whisk away with a view to seduction' (Wilkes): Aus. low: since ca. 1960.

racehorse. A long, slim cigarette: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Kylie Tennant, The Joyful Condemned, 1953.

racess, be at the. To walk the streets as a prostitute: c., and low: C.20.

Rachel or rachel, v. To rejuvenate; renovate: ca. 1890–5. Ex Madame Rachel, the 'beautiful for ever' swindler. (The C.20 is kinder to such impositions.)

rack. A bone, gen. in pl: slaughterers' coll. >, ca. 1890, j.: 1851 (Mayhew).—2. A rib of mutton: Winchester School coll.:—1870. Ex S.E., a neck of mutton.—3. In on the rack, always on the move: Can. coll.: from ca. 1860. B. & L.: abbr. of 'racket, a Canadian snow-shoe'.—4. In stand the rack, to stand the strain: low: C.20. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) I.e. the racket.—5. See meat-rack.

rack off. To urinate: low coll.: late C.19–early 20. Ex wine-making. Cf. drain off.—2. To go missing; as an imperative, "Get lost!" (Wilkes, who suggests it may be a var. of nick off, fuck off): Aus. low: since ca. 1975.

rack-rider. The samlet: Northern fishermen's coll: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Because gen. it appears in bad weather.

rackaback. A 'gormogon', q.v.: ca. 1785–1850. Grose, 3rd ed.

rackabimus. 'A sudden or unexpected stroke or fall', Jamieson, who adds that 'It resembles racket': Scots: late C.18–19.

racket. A dodge, trick; plan; 'line', occupation, esp. if these are criminal or 'shady': c. (—1812) >, ca. 1860, low s. >, ca. 1930, gen. s.; it now verges on coll. (Vaux.) Since ca. 1930, joc. for one's trade or profession. 'What racket are you in?' or 'What's your racket?' Ex racket, noise, disturbance.—2. Esp. as in be in a racket, be privy to an illicit design, and as set forth in Egan's Grose, 1823, 'Some particular kinds of fraud and robbery are so termed, when called by their flash'—i.e. underworld—names; as the Letter-racket; the Order-racket... In fact, any game'—i.e., illicit occupation or trick—'may be termed a racket... by prefixing thereto the particular branch of deprecation or fraud in question.' Whence the various US 'rackets': see esp. Irwin. Cf. racket-man.—3. See stand the racket.

racket-man. A thief: c.: ca. 1850–1930. (Mayhew.) Ex racket, 2.

racket(t)y. (Of places) low, 'shady': Cockney: ca. 1840–90. (Mayhew, I, 1851.) Ex racket, 1.

raclan. A married woman: tramps' c.: from ca. 1830. (Brandon.) Cf. Romany rakli, a girl.

rad. A Radical: political s., in C.20 coll.: 1831, Lincoln Herald, 7 Jan. (OED). Disraeli in Coningsby, 'They say the Rads are going to throw us over'.—2. A radiator: servants': from ca. 1905. Francis E. Brett Young, White Ladies, 1935, 'The rads are stone-cold.'

radar king, the. The senior radar officer: RN: since ca. 1940. See king, 1.

Radder, the. The Radcliffe Camera: Oxford undergraduates': C.20. (Collinson.) By the 'OXFORD -ER'.

Raddie. An Italian: low: C.20. (F.D. Sharpe, 1938.) Ex the raddled-seeming complexion of many Southern Italian; but cf.

Reddy. Powis, 1977, notes 'particularly an Anglo-Italian domiciled in London, Originally a term descriptive of Italian families in Clerkenwell'.—2. A radical in politics: since ca. 1930. Eric Parr, Grafters All, 1964, 'He discovered that his acquaintance was a bit of a raddie at heart.' A pet-form of rad, 1.

raddled. Topsy: late C.17–18. (Motteux.) Cf. dial. raddle, to do anything to excess; but more prob. ex raddle, to colour coarsely with red.—2. (Of a face) much made-up: pej. coll.: from ca. 1920. (Collinson.) Ex raddle, red ochre.

radge. Silly: C.20. Prob. ex rage via 'mad'. Cf. Northern dial. radgy, mad.

radgepot. An idiot: market-traders': C.20. Ex prec. Also ex dial. radgy is the market-traders' radgified; radgy, idiotic, very silly (M.T.).

radical; Hunt's breakfast powder. Roasted corn: ca. 1820–60. (Sinks, 1848.) Prob. at first radical Hunt's..., then divided into a pair of synonyms. This was 'Orator' Hunt the radical's favourite breakfast dish.

radio. Crazy; insane: rhyming s. Radio Rental on mental. L.A. cites Financial Times, 7 June 1973.

radio actor. 'I'm what other actors refer to contemptuously as a "radio actor", which has nothing to do with whether you're on radio or not, but means that you always give a good first reading of the part and then never get any better' (Dick Vosburgh, quoted in Telegraph Sunday mag., 24 Feb. 1980).

rafe or Ralph. A pawn-ticket: low; esp. at Norwich: from ca. 1860; ob. H., 2nd ed.

Raffer. See Raffer.

Raff, the. The Royal Air Force: RAF coll., from 1918; soon also other Services'; by 1950, considered 'bad form' in the RAF itself. (Partridge, 1945; P.B.)

Raffer; rare in singular. A person in the RAF; not usu. applied to officers: civilian: 1939+.

Rafferty(s) rules. No rules at all, esp. as applied to boxing—'M.Q. (and Rafferty) rules' is the heading of a boxing section in the Sydney Bulletin of 1935—hence to a 'rough house'; according to Rafferty rules, without rule or restraint or, in politics, honour: Aus. coll.:—1914. Ex dial. raffatory, raffertory, reff(fatory): refractory (EDD). The Rafferty's form since mid-C.20: Wilkes quotes Miles Franklin, Laughter, Not for a Cage, 1956.

Raffish. Connected with the Royal Aircraft Factory: Air Force: 1915+. (F. & G.) Punning S.E. raffish.

raffle-coffin. A ruffian, lit. a resurrectionist: C.19 low coll. Corruption of rifle(-coffin).

Raffles, properly a gentleman or Society thief, esp. burglar, has, in C.20, been frequently misused to mean almost any burglar. (E.g. in Daily Mirror, 16 Dec. 1936.) E.W. Hornung's Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman, appeared in 1899. It was followed up by The Shadow of the Rope, 1902; A Thief in the Night, 1905; and Mr Justice Raffles in 1909. These four books have been assembled in an omnibus-volume entitled Raffles. raffis. 'An appellation given by the gowmsmen of the university of Oxford to the inhabitants of that place' (Grose, 1785): coll.: ca. 1780–1920. Cf. riff-raff.

raft. A (very) large number, as in 'A raft of people attended the meeting': NZ: since ca. 1944. (Harold Griffiths, 1970.) Adopted ex US servicemen.—2. 'A number of wagons during shunting' (Railway): railwaymen's: since ca. 1945. Same source as 1.—3. See George Raft.

rag, n. [E.P. considers the sense 'a newspaper' to be S.E.]—2. A farthing: c.: ca. 1690–1850. (B.E.; Egan's Grose.) Because of so little value.—3. A bank-note: 1811, Lex. Bal., which proves that rag also = bank-notes collectively.—4. Hence, money in gen.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.—5. A flag: from ca. 1700: coll. till C.20, then S.E. (Kipling, 1892.) Cf. order of the rag, the military profession.—6. The curtain: theatrical and showmen's: from ca. 1875.—7. Hence, a dénouement, a 'curtain': id.: from ca. 1880.—8. A street tumbler: circus: 1875, Athenæum, 24 Apr.—9. The tongue: from ca. 1825. Ex red rag, q.v.—10. Talk; banter, abuse: from ca. 1880. Gen. ragging. Cf.:—11. A jollification, esp. and orig. an undergraduates' display of noisy, disorderly conduct and great high spirits, considered by the perpetrators as excellent fun and by many outsiders as 'a bloody nuisance': university >, ca. 1910, very common in the Army and Navy; by 1930, pretty gen.: 1892, The Isis, 'The College is preparing for a good old rag tonight' (OED); Daily Mail, 10 Mar. 1900, 'There was keen excitement at Cambridge yesterday when the magistrates proceeded to deal with the last two prosecutions of students arising out of the notorious rag in celebration of the relief of Lady Smith'; but in existence from ca. 1860 (OED Sup.). Ex the S.E. v., to annoy, tease. By mid-C.20 this sense had itself > S.E., applied to student carnival, parade, etc., held to raise money for charity (SOD, 1977).—12. As the Rag, the Army and Navy Club: naval and military: 1839 (see The TLS, 21 June 1934, in its review of Capt. C.W. Firebrace's The Army and Navy Club, 1837–1933, published in 1934). Ex an officer's description of a meal there as 'a rag and famish affair'. Also the Rag and Famish.—13. As the Rag, 'The Raglan' public house: London: from ca. 1864. Ex Lord Raglan, the British Commander in the Crimean War. (Near Leather Lane: see esp. Greenwood, The Seven Courses of London, 1869.)—14. As the rag, the regimental brothel: Indian Army (non-officers') from ca. 1880. Frank Richards, Old-Soldier Sahib, 1936.—15. In without a rag, not a rag (left), penniless: coll.: late C.16–20; ob. Shakespeare, 'Not a rag of money', though here rag rather = 'scrap'; B.E.—16. See chew the rag; lose (one's) rag; red rag; sky the rag; two shirts . . .; win the shine rag. rag, v. To question vigorously or jocularly; to scold; waylay, or assail, roughly and noisily: since early C.18. Sessions, June 1739 (trial of Samuel Bird and Suzannah Clark), 'On Monday night Bird and Clark came to their House to ragg (scold) her Grandfather for what he had talk'd of concerning them.'—2. To create a disturbance, hold a 'rag' (see n., 11) university: The Isis, 1896, 'The difficulty of "ragging" with impunity has long been fel' (OED); but implied by Baumann in 1887. Perhaps abbr., like sense 1, of bully-rag.—3. Hence, to wreck, make a mess of, by way of a rag; Public Schools': 1904, P.G. Wodehouse, The Gold Bat, 'Mills is awfully barred in Seymour's. Anybody might have ragged his study.'—4. In c. (mainly of Norwich) to divide (esp. plunder): 1860 (H., 2nd ed.). Prob. ex, or at the least cognate with, the † S.E. sense, to tear in pieces. Also go rags.

rag about. To fool about: C.20: orig. and mainly universities' (Collinson.) See rag, v., 2.

rag-(and-bone)-shop. A very dirty and untidy room: coll.: from ca. 1880; ob. Baumann.—2. Hence, a woman in rags: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon). Occ. corrupted to rag-boneshop.

Rag and Famish. See Rag, n., 12. This form is perhaps ex 'Ensign Rag and Captain Famish, imaginary characters, out of which Leech some years back obtained much amusement' (H., 5th ed., 1874).

rag-and-snatcher man. A rag-and-bone man: chimney-sweeps': C.19. (George Elson, 1900). Here, snatcher apparently = a bone; if so, it probably comes ex dogs snatching bones.

rag-bag or -doll. A slattern: coll.: from ca. 1862.

rag-box or -shop. The mouth: low: from ca. 1890. Kipling, 1892, 'You shut up your rag-box and 'ark to my lay.' Cf. rag, n., 9, tongue.

rag bramah. A rag-and-bone merchant: police: since ca. 1925. Free-Lance Writer, Apr. 1948.

rag-carrier. An ensign: 1785 (Grose); † by 1890. Ex rag, n., 5.

rag-dragger. 'Captain of a sailing ship' (Granville): nautical: C.20. Cf. rag-waggon.

rag-fair. An inspection of soldiers' kit-bags, etc.: 1785, (Grose); ob. by 1915: military. Ex the S.E. sense, an old-clothes market at Houndsditch, London: which, contrary to F. & H., is certainly S.E.

rag-gorger or gorgy. See rag-splawger.

rag-mannered. Violently coarse or vulgar: coll.: C.19–early 20.

rag money. Bank notes, bills of exchange, etc.: from ca. 1860: coll. till C.20, then S.E.

rag on every bush, (oh), he has a. He is, or is in the habit of, paying marked attention to more than one girl at a time: ca. 1860–1930.

rag order. 'The Argentines had left [Port Stanley] in rag order' (CSM Carty, Welsh Gds, quoted in Observer mag., Feb. 1983), i.e. in a disgusting mess: army: later C.20. Cf. synon. shit order.

rag out, v.i. To show the white flag or feather: ca. 1880–1910.—2. In get (one's) rag out, to bluster (ob.); to grow angry: low: from ca. 1880. Explained by the synon. get (one's) shirt out, 2, and by rag, n., 9.

rag-sauce. Chatter; impudence: low: from ca. 1840. (Egan.) Ex rag, n., 9.

rag-seeker. See rag-sooker.

rag-shop. See rag-box.—2. See rag-and-bone shop.—3. A bank: c. or low s.: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.); ob. by 1930. Whence: rag-shop boss or cove. A banker: ca. 1865–1930.—2. See: rag-shop cove. A cashier: low: from ca. 1865.—2. See prec. rag-sooker, occ. -seeker. C. as in anon.'s The Tramp Exposed, 1878, 'The ragsooker, an instrument attached to the end of a long pole for removing clothes-pins from the lines, and afterwards dragging the released clothes over the fence.' Cf. angler.

rag-splawger. A rich man: low (if not orig. c.): ca. 1858–1900. (H., 1st ed., 1859; Baumann.) Gen. 'used in conversation to avoid direct mention of names'. Also rag-gorger or (Vaux) gorgy: low (perhaps orig. c.): ca. 1820–1900. See gorger.

rag-stabber. A tailor: ca. 1870–1930. Also stab-rag, q.v. Cf. snip, q.v.

rag-stick. An umbrella, esp. if 'loose and unreefed': lower classes':—1909 (Ware).

rag-tacker. A coach-trimmer: ca. 1820–70.—2. A dress-maker: ca. 1850–1920.

rag-tailed. Tattered; of, or like, a ragamuffin: coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

rag-tearer. A signalman: RN: C.20. (Granville.) Cf. flag-flapper.

rag-time, adj. Merry: coll.: from 1901 or 1902.—2. Haphazard; carelessly happy-go-lucky; farcical: coll.: from ca. 1910. Esp. in a rag-time army: military coll.: from 1915. Cf. Fred Karno's army. (B. & P.) Cf. the RN coll., from 1915, rag-time navy, esp. of the auxiliary patrol during WW1. 'Taffrail', Stand By, 1916.—3. Hence, free-and-easy: Services': since ca. 1920. Knock.

rag-time girl. A sweetheart; a girl with whom one has a joyous time; a harlot, all from 1908 or 1909. Ex rag-time (music) = jazz. Cf. JAZZ.

rag-time routine. That which obtained in the Auxiliary Patrol or the Trawler Section of the RNR: RN: WW1. See rag-time, 2 and 3.

rag top. A convertible car: car-dealers': later C.20. Clive Graham-Ranger, in Sunday Times mag., 9 Aug. 1981, p. 42.

rag-trade. The purchasing of false bank-notes, which are then palmed off on strangers: 1843 (Marryat): mostly US; ob.—2. Tailoring; dressmaking; the dry-goods trade in gen.: from ca. 1880: coll. (B. & L.) In later C.20, always the clothing trade, from haute couture to the meanest sweatshop (P.B.).

rag-wa(g)gon. A sailing-ship: steam or turbine, esp. if Aus. (or American): seamen's pej.: from ca. 1910. (Bowen.) I.e. rag, set of sails.

rag-water. Any inferior spirits: late C.17—early 19. B.E.—2. Esp. gin: ca. 1780—1850. Grose, 2nd ed., 'These liquors seldom failing to reduce those that drink [such spirits] to rags': which is not an etym. but a pun.

ragaboneshop. See rag-and-bone shop, 2.

rage, the. The fashion or vogue: 1785, The New Rosciad, 'Tis the rage in this great raging Nation, / Who wou'd live and not be in the fashion?' Coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Cf. go.

rager. An old, fierce 'bullock or cow that always begins to rage in the stock-yard' (Morris): Aus. coll.: 1884 ('Rolf Boldrewood').

ragged. Collapsed: rowing s., says F. & H., 1902; but † by 1920.—2. Inferior, wretched (game, form, display): coll.:—1887; from ca. 1920, verging on S.E. Baumann.—3. (Of time, a period) wretched, unfortunate, ill-starred: coll.:—1887. Baumann, 'A ragged week'.—4. Unwell; tired and unwell: Aus. coll.: late C.19—20. (D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1958.) Cf. rough. P.B.: also Brit., C.20; with suggestion of nervous exhaustion, as in 'Those bloody kids—they run the missus ragged.' Cf. the idea of 'frayed' nerves.

ragged-arse, adj. Tattered; fig., disreputable, ruined: a vulg.: from ca. 1880. P.B.: also var. ragged-arsed, raggy-arse(d), raggedy-arse(d).

Ragged Brigade, the. The 13th Hussars: military: C.19—20; ob. (In early C.19, also the 14th Hussars). Ex their tattered uniforms. (F. & G.) Also the Evergreens, Green Dragons, and Great Runaway Prestonpans.

ragged robin. A keeper's follower: New Forest s. or dial.: from ca. 1860. (Rare in singular.)

ragged soph. See soph.

ragger. One given to 'ragging' (see rag, v.): schools':—1923 (Manchon).

raggery. Clothes, esp. women's: coll. bordering on S.E.: very ob. Thackeray, 1855, 'Old hags... draped in majestic raggery'. Cf. Fr. chiffons.

raggie, -y, n. 'A young sailor. An old tar's protégé' (Knock); hence, a particular friend (ex the sharing of brass-cleaning rags: Bowen); but gen. in pl, as be raggies, to be steady chums: RN lowerdeck: late C.19—earlier 20. (Goodenough, 1901). Ware implies that it is mildly pej.

raggy, adj. Annoyed, 'shirty': 1900 (G. Swift: OED Sup.). Ex rag out, 2.

ragging favourite. A coll. var. (—1887) of a hot favourite. Baumann.

ragging queer. A particularly ostentatious or importunate male homosexual: coll.: mid-C.20. (P.B.)

986

rags. 'Old lace used for decorative purposes' (Ware): art s. verging on coll. and j.: late C.19.—2. A steward in charge of the linen: nautical: late C.19—20.—3. A low-class harlot: proletarian:—1935.—4. As the rags, a bookmakers' term for horses that ran, esp. those which 'also ran': since ca. 1920. P.B.: a shortening of 'ragtag and bobtail' or 'the ragged remains'?—5. In in the rags, in trouble or disgrace; in a dispute: tailors': from ca. 1860. B. & L.—6. In to have or (to have) got the rags on, to be having one's period: women's low coll.: from ca. 1860. Whence, prob., have the painters in, gen. as c.p., she's got the painters in: C.20. Also, wear rags: coll.: mid-C.19—20.—7. For go rags, see rag, v., 4.—8. See flash (one's) rags; glad rags; tip (one's) rags...

rags and bones. The Salvage Corps; a member thereof; an officer in charge thereof: army: WW1. F. & G.

rags and jags. Tatters: coll.: ca. 1860—1910.

rags and sticks. A travelling outfit: showmen's and low theatrical: from ca. 1870. Hindley, 1876, 'Rags and sticks, as a theatrical booth is always termed'.

ragsooker. See rag-sooker.

rah! A coll. abbr. of hurrah!: orig. and mainly US, anglicised ca. 1910. N.B., rah! (shouted thrice) forms the termination of the Maori war-cry, now—and since late C.19—affected by Maori and other NZ Rugby teams.

rah-rah. See ra-ra.

rahzo. Phonetic var. of razzo.

rahzoo. See razoo.

rail. A railroad employee in transportation service: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Short for railroadman.—2. Edge of a surfboard: Aus. (teenage) surfers': since late 1950s; by 1963, coll. (B.P.).—3. See travelling by rail.

rail-bird. A tout watcher of racehorses being exercised: sporting, esp. turf: from ca. 1890; slightly ob. Ex his vantage-point on gate or hurdle. (Ware.)

railings. C.20 form of front, or head, rails, teeth; since 1910 at latest.—2. In count the railings, to go hungry: low: ca. 1860—1920. See also Spitalfields Breakfast.

railroading. A reprimand: Public Works':—1935.

rails. Railway stocks and shares. Stock Exchange coll.:—1887. Baumann, 'home —s, englische Eisenbahnaktien'.

—2. In dish of rails, 'A lecture, jobation, or scolding from a married woman to her husband' (Grose, 1st ed., where misplaced): late C.18—mid-19.—3. The 'Rails' are railway stations, as distinct from the Underground' (Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939); taxi-drivers': since ca. 1919.—4. In front rails, the teeth: low: C.19. Cf. head-rails, q.v.—5. See off the rails.

Railway Men, the. The Swindon Town Football Club ('soccer'): sporting: C.20. Swindon is noted for its extensive railway workshops. Cf. Biscuit Men and Toffee Men.

railways. Red stockings worn by women: railwaymen's:—1909 (Ware). Ex red signal.

rain. In know enough to, or have enough sense to, get, or come in, out of the rain, to be shrewd enough to look after oneself, e.g. to refrain from meddling: to be common-sensical: coll.: 1848, Durivage, 'Ham was one of 'em—he was. He knew sufficient to get out of the rain'; but anticipated by H. Buttes in 1599: 'Fooles... have the wit to keep themselves out of the rain' (OED). In Aus., to keep out of the rain (C.J. Dennis): cf. US go in when it rains. P.B.: in later C.20, gen. in negative, as 'He hasn't the sense even to...'. Cf. the list at KNOW, in Appendix.—2. Hence, get out of the rain, 'to absent oneself when there's likely to be any trouble' (Lyell): coll.: C.20.—3. See right as...

rain cats and dogs. To rain hard: coll.: Swift adumbrated this coll. in 1710 and employed it in 1738 (date of printing; written ca. 1708); Shelley; Barham. C.19 humorists often added and pitchforks and shovels, and, in early C.20, there was var. rain trams and omnibuses (Manchon). Come down is a occ. substitute for rain in this phrase. In C.20 (? earlier) also rain stair-rods or curtain-rods.

rain(-)check. 'Any request or promise to accept an invitation at a later date' (W. & F.); hence, in Brit. usage, a postponement of any arrangement, as in, 'we'll have to take a raincheck on that one': adopted, ex US, ca. 1970. W. & F. explain the derivation off the receipt, usu. a ticket-stub, given to spectators at a rained-off baseball match, allowing them to see another, later, game. An English example occurs in Alan Hunter, Gently Instrumental, 1977, p. 132: 'I couldn't afford what [the blackmailer] wanted. I made him understand that.'—'And he settled for a rain-check?'—'No.' (P. B.) rain-napper. An umbrella: low: ca. 1820–1910. Moncrieff, 1823; H., 1874; Baumann.

rainbow. A discoloured bruise: from ca. 1810; ob. (OED.) An excellent example of what G.K. Chesterton well names the poetry of slang.—2. A mistress: ca. 1820–70. Egan, Life in London, 1821, 'The pink of the ton and his rainbow.' Because dressed in a variety of colours.—3. A footman: from ca. 1820; very ob. Egan, Ibid., 'It was the custom of Logic never to permit the Rainbow to announce him.' Abbr. knight of the rainbow, a footman in livery: later C.18. Grose, 1785. Cf. list at knight of the ...—4. A pattern-book: ca. 1820–60. (Egan, Ibid.) Ex the variety of colours.—5. A sovereign: costers': from ca. 1850; ob. Perhaps suggested by rhino, for rainbow is in Costerese pronounced rinebo; perhaps, however, ex rainbow as a sign of better weather—as a sovereign is of better times.—6. A post-Armistice reinforcement or recruit: military: late 1918–19. F. & G., 'As arriving after the storm was over'. Hence, in 1939–45, applied to various late-comers or those who, relatively, came late; as, e.g., by the 6th to the 7th Australian Infantry Division (Rats, 1944).—7. A gay young spark: ca. 1835–70. Sinks, 1848.—8. In go up the rainbow, 'to abandon oneself to gamut of sexual ecstasy' (L.A., citing Richard Allen, Boat Boys, 1972).

rains, the. The rainy season: Anglo-Indian coll.; in C.20, S.E. Sir T. Roe, 1616 (Y. & B.).

raise, n. A rise in salary: coll.: late C.19–20. Ex US sense, an(y) improvement (1728: OED Sup.).

raise, v. To complete (a form): Services', esp. RAF and army coll.: since ca. 1935: by 1943, j. Jackson, 'Thus, "You want a vehicle? O.K., raise a Form 658 and push it into the Adj."' Perhaps ex 'to raise all relevant points and deal with them'. raise a barney. See raise a barney.

raise a gallop; esp. unable to. To have—esp. to be unable to have—an erection: mostly workmen's: since ca. 1930. Ex horses.

raise Cain. To make a disturbance, a din; to quarrel noisily: orig. US (ca. 1840); adopted in Brit. ca. 1870. App. euph. for raise the devil. (W.) Cf. raise hell and Tommy and cane upon Abel. raise hell. See hell, 6.

raise-mountain. A boaster: coll.: ?C.17–18. F. & H.

raise the colour. To find gold: Aus. coll.: mid-C.19–20. B., 1943.

raise the wind. To raise money, esp. to obtain a loan: coll., perhaps orig. nautical: 1789 (OED); 1830, Fredk Marryat, The King's Own.

Rajah, the. The Mogul (place of entertainment): Drury Lane district: ca. 1850–80. Ware.

Rajrifs, the. The Rajputana Rifles: WW2. Cf. Burrifs.

rake, n. A comb: joc.: from ca. 1860. Also, bug-rake, garden-rake and, ca. 1840–60, raker: low, says Ware.—2. A (timber) train on a narrow-gauge line: Aus.: C.20. (K.S. Prichard, Working Bullocks, 1926.) Probably a pun.—3. A 'complete set of coaches' (Railway): railwaymen's: since ca. 1910. Cf. sense 2.

rake, v.i. and t. To steal from a letter-box: c.:—1933 (Charles E. Leach). Gen. as vbl n. (raking).

rake it in. To make money fast: coll.: late C.19–20. 'He's simply raking it in!'

rake-jakes. A blackguard: C.18—early 20. Rhyming on jakes, q.v. Cf. S.E. rake-kernel.

rake off. A(n) unlawful profit; a commission: orig. (1899), US; anglicised as coll. ca. 1920. (Thornton: OED Sup.) P.B.: ? ex gaming-tables and the croupier's rake.

rake-out, n. A fill of tobacco: Cockneys': late C.19—early 20. Pugh.

rake out. To coit with (a woman): low: C.19–20.

rake the pot. To take the stakes: racing: from ca. 1825. See pot, n., 1.

raked fore and aft. Desperately in love: RN: late C.19–20. Ex damage done by well-directed shelling. Ware.

raker. A very fast pace: coll.: 1876 (SOD). Perhaps ex rake, (of hunting dogs) to run head down.—2. A heavy bet: sporting; 1869 (Bradwood, The O.V.H.: OED); 1884, Hawley Smart, in From Post to Finish; 1891, Sportsman, 25 Mar., 'Jennings ... stood to win a raker ... over Lord George.' Esp. in go a raker (cf. sense 1), to bet heavily or, more gen., recklessly (1869).—3. A good stroke: golfers' coll.: 1899 (OED Sup.).—4. In go a raker, to fall heavily; fig., to come a 'cropper': Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. sense 2.—5. See rake, n., 1; carry heavy rakes.

raking. See rake, v.

ral. 'A disorderly fellow' (L.E.F. English, Historic Newfoundland, 1955): Newfoundland: C.20. Origin? Perhaps ex Irish ralac, huge, monstrous.—2. As the ral, the admiral: RN: C.19—early 20. Bill Truck, 1825; Ware.

rally-o(h)! Proceed vigorously: Conway c.p. of encouragement (—1891). John Masefield's history of the Conway training ship, 1933.

Ralph. 'The supposed author of the tricks played upon a recalcitrant member of a chapel' (F. & H.): printers' s.: early C.19—early 20.—2. See rafe.

Ralph Lynn. Gin: rhyming s.: from ca. 1925; ousted ca. 1940 by Vera Lynn. 'At least this pair remains in the world of popular entertainers' (Anthony Burgess, reviewing 7th ed. of this Dict., in TLS, 16 Oct. 1970). Ralph Lynn (1822–1962), actor famous for his parts in the well-known and very popular series of farces at the Aldwych Theatre; he also starred in the filmed versions.

Ralph Spooner. A fool: coll.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.); Grose, 1st ed.) In Suffolk dial., Ralph or Rafe means the same thing (EDD).

ram, n. An act of coition: low: C.19–20. Cf. S.E. ram-rod, the penis. Ex v., 1.—2. A crowd; a crush: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1880. (Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.) Ex the force of a battering ram. Cf. v., 2.—3. A confidence trickster's accomplice: Aus. c.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Wilkes suggests cognate with ramp, n., 2.—4. As the Ram, the Ramillies (ship of the line): naval: ?ca. 1800–1815. W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book, I, 1825, 'twixt the Ram and the Rion' (Orion). (Moe.)—5. In old ram, a middle-aged or elderly man given to wenching: coll.: late (?mid-)C.19–20.
ram, v. To coit with (a woman): low: C.19–20. Cf. poke and ride.—2. V.t., to get (a boy) off a punishment: Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1880. D. Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.—3. To act as a confidence trickster's accomplice. See n., 3.

ram and dam(n). A muzzle-loading gun: joc. coll.: 1866; ob. OED.

ram booze. See rum booze.

ram-cat; ram-cat cove. A man wearing furs: c.: from ca. 1860. Ex ram-cat, a he cat.

Ram Corps, the. The Royal Army Medical Corps: Army (mostly officers'): since ca. 1915.

ram in or ram on. To put one's name down for, e.g., an outing: Shrewsbury: late C.19–20. (Marples.) Cf. slap in, q.v.

ram it! 'Stop!' or 'No!' = 'Up yours!': Can. low: since 1930s. (Robin Leech, 1974.)

ram-jam, n. A surfeit: s. and dial.: from ca. 1885. Ex ram-jam full, q.v.

ram-jam, v. To stuff (esp. with food): from ca. 1885. Ex: ram-jam full. Packed absolutely full: dial. and (mostly US) s.: 1879, Waugh. OED; EDD.

ram-reel. A dance, men only: Scots coll. (in C.20, S.E.): C.19–20. D. Anderson, 1813, 'The chairs they coup, they hurl an' loup, / A ram-reel now they're wantin'. Cf. bull-dance and stag-party.

ram-rod. A ball bowled along the ground: Winchester School: from ca. 1840. (Also raymonder.) Mansfield. Ex the straightness of its 'flight'.—2. Penis: low: mid-C.19–20.

ram-skin (or one word). A bailiff: Anglo-Irish: C.19. 'A Real Paddy', Real Life in Ireland, 1822. 'He would take even a mat made of a ram's fell.'

ram-struck mutton. 'Tough meat from old ewes past breeding' (Baker): Aus.: late C.19–20.

Ramasammy, r-. A Hindu (Southern India); an Indian coolie in Ceylon (Ceylon): C.19 Anglo-Indian. It occurs, as Ram Sammee (or Sammy), in George R. Gleig, The Subaltern's Log-Book (I, 292; II, 233), 1828. (Moe.) This coll. is a corruption of Ramaswami, a frequent Hindu surname in S. Indian (Y. & B.). Cf. ramsammy, q.v.—2. Whence, in Natal and the Cape, this word is used as a generic name for Indian coolies (Pettmann, Africanderisms, 1913).

ramble, n. See the v. Wycherley, Love in a Wood, 1672, 'Intending a ramble to St James's Park tonight, upon some probable hopes of some fresh Game I have in chase...'

ramble, v. To go out and about in search of sex: coll.: C.17, esp. Restoration period. (Etherage, 1668; Wycherley, 1672; Leander, 1678; Lt Col. J. Blackader, 1705.) Johnson's Dictionary, 1755: '[r]ammelen, Dutch, to rove loosely in lust; ramb, Swedish, to rove.] To rove loosely and irregularly; to wander.' P.B.: I thank John D. Patterson, of Westfield Coll., Univ. of London, for n., v., and sense 1 of:—

rambler. One who goes out in search of sex: coll.: C.17. Burton, Anatomy of Melancholy, 1621: 'I could not abide marriage, but as a Rambler I took a snatch [q.v.] when I could get it.' See prec., and cf.:—2. A whore: C.17. The English Rogue.

rambounge. 'A severe brush of labour' (Jamieson): Scots: late C.18–mid-19. This ram is the dial. prefix = strong; very. Cf.:

rambustious, ramgumption. See rambustious, rungumption. (Cf. US rambunctious, 1854. Thornton.)

ramfeezled. Exhausted, worn out: mostly dial., whence, ca. 1890–1910, coll.

ramjollock. To shuffle (cards): C.19. ?lit., jumble well. Also late C.19–20 Shropshire dial.: EDD.

rammaged. Tipsy: Scots coll. (F. & H.) or, more prob., dial.: late C.18–20. Ex ramished.

rammed up, ppl adj. Crowded; chock-a-block: Public Schools': C.20. (Desmond Coke, The School across the Road, 1910.) Ex ram, v., 2.

rammer. An arm: c.: late C.18–early 20. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. The leg: pugilistic: ca. 1840–80. Augustus Mayhew, Paved With Gold, 1857, 'Jack got a "cracker on his nut" which knocked his "rammers" from under him.' Cracker, as 'a heavy punch', occurs earlier—in, e.g., Boxiana, IV, 1824.—3. Penis: low: mid-C.19–20.

rammies. Breeches, trousers, knickers: Aus.: since early C.20. (Wilkes.) Cf. prec., 2.

ramming. Forceful, pushing: 1825, Sporting Magazine, 'The most ramming... cove you ever saw perform' (OED); ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930. Ex ram, the animal.

rammo. The former naval evolution, 'Prepare aloft for action': bluejackets': late C.18–mid-19. (Bowen.) Ex ramming a ship.

rammy. A sudden fight between gangs: Glasgow c.: C.20. MacArthur & Long, '[The police] knew that evidence about a rammy is always conflicting, never reliable and frequently perjured.' Ex Scottish rammish, violent, untamed. Contrast clash, q.v. and cf.:—2. In big, or little, rammy: a battle, or a trench raid: Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders': 1914–18. (Dr R.L. Mackay, MD, who, 1967, comments, 'Many recruited in Glasgow'.) Genuine s. rather than dial.—3. (R—), 'A Ramsgate man or a Ramsgate smack' (D. Butcher, Trawlermen, 1980, glossary): nautical: C.20. Cf. Brickie, of Brixton.

Ramnuggar Boys, the. The 14th (King's) Hussars: military: from 1848; ob. In this battle, they bravely encountered tremendous odds. (F. & G.) Also the Emperor's Chambermaids.

ramp. A robbery with violence: c.: Vaux, 1812; ob. Moncrieff, 1830, 'And ramp so plummy'. Ex ramp, to storm, rage, violently, or v.t., to snatch, tear.—2. A swindle: c. >, by 1905, s.: from ca. 1880. (G.R. Sims.) Hence, on the ramp, engaged in swindling: id. Manchon.—3. Hence, a swindle 'depending on an artificial boom in prices': 1922. SOD.—4. A footpad and garrotter: c.: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. ramper.—5. A racecourse trickster: c.: from ca. 1860. Also, rampsmen (H., 1st ed., 1859) and ramper, as in H., 5th ed., 1874, and in Runciman's Chequers, 1876, 'A man who is a racecourse thief and ramper hailed me affably': cf. the quot'n at ramper.—6. A hallmark: c.: 1879 (Horsley). Ex the rampant lion forming part of the assay stamp for gold and silver (F. & H.).—7. A parody; a skit: book world: 1934.—8. A counter (in a shop): c.:—1935 (David Hume). One climbs over it. Cf.:—9. Hence, a public-house bar counter (John Gosling, The Ghost Squad, 1959), or, more generalised, a public house (Daily Express, 25 Mar. 1935).—10. In on the ramp, on a 'spre'e': low:—1923 (Manchon). ? shortened rampage.—11. In on the ramp, finding fault: Glasgow:—1934.

ramp, v.t. To thieve or rob with violence: c. (—1811) >, ca. 1860, low s. (Lex. Bal.; Vaux; H., 1st ed.) See ramp, n., 1, for origin. Cf. rank and rant, hereinunder.—2. Esp. to force (a person) to pay an alleged debt: c.: 1897, Daily News, 3 Sep. 'Charge of "ramping" a book-maker' (OED); but it must be at least as early as the horse-racing sense of ramper (see ramp, n., 5).—3. To change the colour of (a horse): c.:—1933 (Charles E. Leach).

rampacious. An illiterate form of S.E. rampageous. Manchon.—2. Hence, mad: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon).

rampage, on the. Storming about: coll.: since ca. 1880. EDD.

ramped watch. See patacca (Powis). Cf. ramp, v., 3.

ramper and rampsmen. See ramp, n., 5. Cf. Daily News, 12 Oct. 1887, "'Rampers", i.e. men who claimed to have made bets to bookmakers, and hustled and surrounded them if they refused to pay' (OED). Cf. ramping.—2. (Only ramper.) A noisy, turbulent street-ranger, esp. if a youth: low London:—1909; ob. Ware.

ramping. The practice described in sense 1 of prec.: c. (—1891) >, by 1905, s.—2. 'Calling at the houses where parcels [have] just been delivered from tradesmen to customers, and obtaining possession of them under various pretences': c.: from ca. 1870. B. & L. ramping, adj. and adv. Rampant(ly): lower classes' coll.:—1887. Baumann has ramping mad.

ramps. A got-up quarrel or 'row' to cove a theft or a swindle: c.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. ramp, n., 1 and 2.—2. As the ramps, a brothel: army: late C.19—early 20. (B. & P.) Perhaps ex rampant or on the rampage.

rampsmen. See ramper.

ramrod. See ram-rod.

ramrod-bunger. An infantryman: army:—1923 (Manchon).

Rams, the. Derby County soccer team: sporting: late C.19–20. Ex the famous breed of Derbyshire rams.

ram's challenge. See give the ram's challenge.

ram's head. The wooden rudder post of a canal-boat: canal-men's: late C.19–20. (L.T.C. Rolt, Narrow Boat, 1944.) Usu. bound with pipeclayed Turk's Head knots.

ram's horn. One who shouts as he talks: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

ramsammy. A celebration or similar party: army officers', esp. Indian Army or ex-I.A.: late (?mid-)C.19–20. (In C.20, certainly by ca. 1950, also other ranks': P.B.) (John Wainwright, Death of a Big Man, 1975.) Of Hindi, via Hindustani, orig.; cf. Ramasammy. EDD, 1905, glosses: 'Cornish dial. A noisy gathering; a family quarrel' and adds in brackets, 'not known to our correspondents'.

ran-tan. See rantan.

ranch. A cookhouse: N. Queensland (coll. rather than s.): since ca. 1910. Jean Devaney, By Tropic Sea and Jungle, 1944. Hence:— rancher. 'In North Queensland a rancher is a bloke who runs a sort of boarding house out in the bush, near a big job' (Frank Hardy, Billy Borker Yarns Again, 1967): since late 1920s. Ex prec.

rancid. Very objectionable or unpleasant: upper classes': from ca. 1910. Barry Pain, Stories in Grey, 1912, 'Black kid gloves, the most rancid form of gloves'; E.F. Benson, David of King's, 1924, 'How frightfully rancid!'; John G. Brandon, The One-Minute Murder, 1934. Prob. after putrid, q.v.

Randal's-man or randlesman. A green handkerchief white-spotted: pugilistic—1839; ob. Ex the colours of Jack Randal, the famous early C.19 boxer. Brandon.

randan. See randan.

randem-(or random)-tandem. Three horses driven tandem: from ca. 1870: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; ob. Ex:—2. Adv. In that manner in which three horses are harnessed tandem: 1805: coll. >, by 1870, S.E. Ex S.E. randan on tandem. Also, as in H., 1860, random.

randle. 'A set of nonsense verses, repeated in Ireland by school boys, and young people, who have been guilty of breaking wind backwards, before any of their companions; if they neglect this apology, they are liable to certain kicks, pinches, and fillips, which are accompanied with diverse admonitory couplets' (Grose, 1785); ob. by 1880, † by 1930. Whence:

randle, v. To punish (a schoolboy) for breaking wind: C.19. (Halliwell.) Ex prec.—2. See randling, which is much commoner than the v. proper.

randlesman. See Randal's-man.

randling. The punishment, by hair-pulling, of an apprentice refusing to join his fellows in taking a holiday: mostly at Birkenhead: 1879 (Notes & Queries). Ob.

random. See randem-tandem.

randy, n. Esp. on the randy, on the spree, squandering all one's money: railway navvies': mid-C.19. Kellow Chesney, Victorian Underworld, 1970. Ex-randy, adj. Violent; esp. sexually warm, lecherous: from ca. 1780: dial. and coll.; in C.20, mainly dial. (Burns, 1785; Lex. Bal., 1811; Halliwell 1847; EDD). Perhaps orig. ex rand, to rave, and poss., as S.H. Ward proposes, influenced by Hindustani randi-baz, a lecher. Peter Sanders noted, 1965, 'Now becoming almost respectable'; since mid-C.20 certainly coll. rather than dial. (P.B.).—2. 'Homosexual; perhaps rather rabidly or dangerously so' (Lambert & Millham, quoted in the Sunday Times, 1 Sep. 1968): Public Schools': later C.20.

randy Andy, or simply Randy. (Properly the pet-form of Randolph.) The 'inevitable' nickname of anyone first-named Andy (pet-form of Andrew): late C.19–20. Cf. the Aus. Mero the perv; Phil the dill; etc.

randy beggar. A gypsy tinker: Northern coll. (—1874) and dial. (—1806). H., 5th ed.; EDD. Ex prec., 1.

randy Richard or Rupert. An observation balloon. See Richard, 2, and Rupert.

randyvoo. A tavern that is the resort of recruiting sergeants: military:—1909 (Ware).—2. Hence, noise and wrangling: mostly military:—1909 (Ware). Ex rendez-vous.

ranger. The penis: low: C.18–20. Ex range, to be incontinent.—2. A bushranger: Aus. coll.: late C.19—earlier 20. B., 1943.—3. See Atlantic ranger and main-drain rangers.

Rangers, the. The Connaught Rangers, the 88th Regt of Foot: army coll., C.19; by C.20, S.E. (F. & G.) The regt was disbanded in 1922.—2. The Queen's Park Rangers Association Football Club: sporting coll.: C.20.

rank. To cheat: c. and low s.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Prob. ramp corrupted, with some influence exercised by US outrank, 1842, and rank, 1860, to take precedence of (Thornton). Cf. rant.

rank and riches; or hyphenated. Breeches: rhyming s.: 1887 ('Dagonet' Sims).

rank and smell. A common person: lower classes': ca. 1870–1905. (Ware.) Punning rank, smelly and (high) rank + 'swell'.

rank outsider. 'A vulgar fellow, a cad': from ca. 1880: coll. >, 1910, S.E. (B. & L.) Ex the turf.

rank swell. See swell, n. 1.

ranker. An officer risen from the ranks: 1874 (H., 5th ed.); 1878, Besant & Rice, 'Every regiment has its rankers; every ranker his story': coll. till ca. 1915, then S.E.—2. A corruption of rank duffer: low London: from ca. 1870; ob. H., 5th ed. rant. To appropriate forcibly: low:—1887 (Walford's Antiquarian). Corruption of ramp, v.—2. To be unduly free with (females): low:—1887 (Ibid.) Perhaps ex ramp, v., 1, influenced by S.E.; rantipole, v.; more prob. a dial. form of rand (see EDD).

rantallion. 'One whose scrotum is so relaxed as to be longer than his penis' (Grose, 1st ed.): low: ca. 1780–1850. Cognate with, perhaps even a blend of, 'rantipole' and 'rapsallion', so closely related to each other in meaning.

rantan, ran-tan; also randan. A spree: from ca. 1710: coll. >, in C.19, S.E. except as in sense 3; by itself, randan (etc.) is extremely ob. ?ex at random.—2. Hence, a riotous person: coll. soon > S.E.: 1809; ob. by 1890, † by 1920. OED.—3. In on the rantan, on the spree; drunk: coll.: from ca. 1760; slightly ob.; since 1853, gen. in the form, on the ran-tan. Slatter notes 'still common in NZ'; and not yet † in 1970 (P.B.).

rantipole, ride. Same as ride St George (see riding...). Low: late C.18–19. Grose, 2nd ed.

rantum-scantum. Copulation, esp. in play at r.-s. (Grose, 2nd ed.): low: mid-C.18—early 19. ?a rhyming combination ex † S.E. rant, to be boisterous or noisily gay; cognate with rantipole.—2. A wordy and mutual recrimination: low: ca. 1820–95. 'Jon Bee'; Baumann.

Ranzo. 'A native of the Azores, from the number named Alonzo who shipped in the whalers, where "Rueben [sic] Ranzo" was a favourite shanty': nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. Bowen.

rap, n. A charge; a case: c.: C.20. The sense 'Rap, Swearing against a Person' occurs in James Dalton, A Narrative, 1728; but the Brit. C.20 use, as in Gilt Kid, 1936, 'That is if they did not do [=arrest] him on this murder rap', has prob. been adopted ex US. See esp. Underworld.—2. In get the rap, to get into trouble: Aus. low: adopted, ca. 1925, ex US. (B., 1942.) Cf.:—3. In take the rap, to be (punished or) imprisoned, esp. for another person: adopted, ex US, ca. 1920: low s. verging on c.—4. In on the rap, on a bout of dissipation; slightly drunk: low:—1893. Milliken, 'The way the passengers stared at me showed I was fair on the rap.'—5. See not care a ...; rap, v., 5.

rap, v.t. To barter; 'swop': late C.17–20: s. († by 1850) and dial. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Perhaps ex ob. S.E. sense, to transport, remove.—2. V.i., to take a false oath: c.: from ca. 1710; † by 1890. It occurs in James Dalton, 1728, 'The Whores are our Safeguard; for when we flying for a Cly [go for a purse], if we are taken on Suspicion, they'll rap for us.' Perhaps ex rap (out) an oath.—3. Also, v.t., to swear (something, against a person): 1733, Budgell, 'He ask'd me what they had to rap against me, I told him only a Tankard' (OED).—4. To knock out; to kill: c., esp. Aus. > low s.: 1888, 'Rolf Boldrewood', 'If he tries to draw a weapon, or move ever so little, he's rapped at that second'; ob. Ex Scots rap, 'to knock heavily; to strike' (EDD).—5. To talk, esp. either much or excitedly: mostly among musicians, disc-jockeys; hence teenagers': adopted, late 1960s, ex US hippie argot; ob. within 5 years. (Paul Janssen, 1968; P.B.) Hence, n., a talk, a conversation: early 1970s. Some maintained that the term was a shortening of rapport, esp. when used for serious, 'soul-searching' conversation; but for its US c. or low s. use for 'to talk' in late C.19, see esp. Underworld. (P.B.)—6. To speak in rhythm with musical background; adopted, ca. 1950s in Brit., ex W. Indian cultural idiom—also known in US. (Mrs C. Raab, 1982.) rap (one's) hand in. To give up, desist: RM in N. Ireland: 1970s. Christopher Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979.

rap off, v. A conversational 'to and fro', exchanging ideas, etc. Cf. rap, v., 5. Drugs world, hippies'; ?ex jazz use. Adopted, ex US, 1950s. (Camilla Raab, 1982.)

rap up, ppl adj. To praise, speak highly of: Aus.: since ca. 1930. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1939, 'They could rap him up enough then.'

rape. A pear: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).—2. See when rape is inevitable...

rapless. Penniless: coll.: later C.19—early 20. Binstead.

rapped, ppl adj. Ruined: ca. 1870—1930.—2. (Killed) dead: low (Zorig, c.): from ca. 1888. See rap, v., 4.

raper. An arrant lie: S.E., declares OED; coll., F. & H. Arising early in C.17, this sense is prob. best considered as coll. until ca. 1850, then S.E.; in C.20, it is mostly dial. See esp. Grose, P., and cf. the other synonyms from verbs of violence, e.g., whopper, thumper.—2. A dealer that raps at doors to find out whether there is anything worth buying: secondhand (e.g. curio) dealers' coll.: late C.19—20. H.A. Vachell, Quinneys, 1914.

rapping. Perjury: mid-C.18—19. ('Ducange Anglicus'). See rap, v., 2 and 3.

Raquel Welch, v., and occ. n. Belch: rhyming s.: ca. 1970+. 'Not yet widespread' (Anthony Haden-Guest, 1971). Commemorating the curvaceous film actress who became famous in Myra Breckinridge, 1970.

rare. Excellent, fine, splendid, as applied to comparatively trivial objects; often ironically. Coll.: 1596, Shakespeare, 'Master Bassanio, who indeed gives rare new liveries'; 1878, Mrs Henry Wood, 'Guy will about die of it... Rare fun if he does.'—2. As an intensive: coll.: 1833, Harriet Martineau, 'They put me in a rare passion.' (Both senses, OED.) Cf.: rare and, (another adj.) A coll. intensive: 1848, Mrs Gaskell, 'We got a good supper, and grew rare and sleepy' (OED); ob except in Northern dial.

rarebit. See Welsh rabbit.

rarefied. Tamed, subdued: Society: ca. 1855—90. (Ware.) Ex one Rarey (1828—66), a horse-tamer.

rarest thing in India - Guardsmen's shit!, the. Orig. what is the...?: a taunt by the rest of the Army against the Guards Regiments, for the latter had never, at least in peace-time, served 'East of Suez': late C.19—earlier 20. (J.B. Mindel.) The Scots Guards saw action in the jungle war in Malaya in the late 1940s.

Rarey-fying (a horse). Taming it: sporting: ca. 1855—95. See also rarefied.

rarin' to go. Eagerly impatient to get started: coll.: C.20; adopted ex US dial. Orig. of horses, rearing to go.

rarze(r). A 'raspberry' (sense 1): theatrical: C.20. B. & P. (at raspberry in 3rd ed.) By the 'OXFORD -ER'. Also spelt ras in its shorter form.—2. Army Other Ranks' form of raspberry, 4: ca. 1925—45. (E.P., New Statesman, 1 Aug. 1942.) Cf.:-

razzo (or rahzo). A red-nosed man: Cockney s.: late C.19—20. 'Whatcher, razzo!' Ex raspberry colour; cf. razzo.—2. Hence, a red nose—red from whatever cause: id.: C.20. As in 'You ain't 'arf got a razzo!' (L.A., 1976). Also spelt razzo.

ras. See rarzer, 1.

ras(-)class bastard. A first-class bastard or thoroughly objectionable fellow: among West Indian immigrants at Wolverhampton: since 1962. (Dr R.L. Mackay, MD, 1967.) Perhaps cf. Ras Tafari, the Royal title and surname of the late Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia (P.B.)

rasbs. Raspberries: greengrocers' coll.: C.20. Ex the usual, careless, pron. of the full word, omitting the p. And cf. strawbs. (Mrs C. Raab, 1982.)

rascal. 'A man without genitals' (Grose, 1785): low: ca. 1750—1850. Ex deer.

rash, n. A boy or young man that gets 'all over' a girl: teenage girls': ca. 1980. (Miss Rachel Paterson.)

rasher and bubble. 'Double. This refers to a "double" in darts only. A rasher of bacon, served with "bubble and squeak"—left-over greens and potatoes, mashed and fried—is a square meal to many Cockneys' (David Hillman, 1974): rhyming s.: later C.20.

rasher and fingers. A rasher of bacon and potato-chips: low eating-house: C.20. Frank Jennings, Tramping, 1932.

rasher of bacon. Some fiery liquor: ca. 1750—70. (Toldervy, 1756.) See quo'n at slug, n., 1.

rasher of wind. A very thin person: from ca. 1860; slightly ob. Cf. yard of pump-water.—2. Any person or thing of negligible account: from ca. 1890 Daily Telegraph, 7 Apr. 1899, 'Lets 'em howl, an' sweat, an' die, an' goes on all the time, as if they was jest rashers o' wind'.

rasher-splasher. A mess cook: RN lowerdeck: since ca. 1925. (Granville.) Reduplicatory. Cf. grub-spoiler.

rasp, n. The female pudend: low: C.19—early 20.—2. A shave: C.20. Brendan Behan, Borstal Boy, 1958.—3. In do a rasp, to coit: low: C.19—20. Gen. of the male: for semantics, see pucker-water, which not only astringes but roughens and hardens. Cf. rasp, v., 1.—4. In get the rasp, à var. of get the berry, q.v. at berry, 2.

rasp, v. To coit (with): low: C.19—early 20. Rare compared with prec., 3.—2. V.i., corresponding to rasping, 2.

rasp away, v.i.; esp. in present participle. To make coital movements: Aus., esp. mechanician fitters' and turners': since ca. 1925. Ex the movements of a rasp (a coarse file) being used. Cf. prec., 1.

Raspberries, the. The King's Royal Rifle Corps: military: late C.19—20. (F. & G.) Ex the colour of their (former) facings.

raspberry. A disapproving, fart-like noise, described by F. & H. as stable s., but gen. considered to be theatrical of late C.19—20. Ex raspberry-tart, 1. Hence get or give the raspberry, to 'get the bird', to be 'hissed'; to 'hiss': theatrical: late C.19—20. Mainly and properly when the disapprobation is shown by a raspberry, 1. Cf. rarzer.—2. Hence, a gesture or a sign made in disapproval: theatrical: from the middle 1890s.—3. Hence, a reprimand: Service officers': since ca. 1925. (E.P., 'In Mess and Field', New Statesman, 1 Aug. 1942.) A particularly severe reprimand was, in RAF officers' s. of early WW2, an 'imperial raspberry' ('Blake', i.e. Ronald Adam, Readiness at Dawn, 1941). Cf. rocket. The opp. of a raspberry, that is, a commendation, is a strawberry.—4. Abbr. raspberry-tart, 2, the heart: low, mainly military: late C.19—earlier 20.—5. See old raspberry.

Raspberry-Landers. Tasmanians: Aus. coll.: C.20. B., 1943.

raspberry-tart. A breaking of wind: low rhyming s. on fart: from ca. 1875.—2. The heart: rhyming s.: from ca. 1890. 'Pomes' Marshall, in the Sporting Times, 29 Oct. 1892, 'Then I sallied forth with a careless air, / And contented raspberry-tart.' (In US, though now ob., a dainty girl: cf. Eng. jam-tart.)

rasper. A difficult high fence: hunting s. (1812) >, ca. 1840, j. >, ca. 1870, S.E. (OED.) Ainsworth, 1834, 'A stiff fence, captain—a reg'lar rasper'.—2. 'A person or thing of sharp, harsh, or unpleasant character': 1839, Dickens, 'He's what you may a-call a rasper, is Nickleby' (OED).—3. Anything that, in its own way, is extraordinary; e.g. a large profit on the Stock Exchange: from ca. 1860.—4. In cricket, a ball that, on leaving the bat, glides 'fiercely' along the ground (e.g. from a slashing stroke by McCabe): from not later than 1910. Cf. rasping shorter.—5. A (very) noisy breaking of wind: low: C.20. Anticipated by Swift in one of his improper poems (a bridal night).

raspin, the. A house of correction; a gaol: c.: early C.19. ?lit., the unpleasant thing, perhaps a pun on grating, adj., and gratings, n. Cf. the † Scots rasp-house, as in Scott, 1818 (EDD).

rasping. (High and) difficult to jump: 1829 (OED): hunting coll. >, ca. 1870, S.E. Dr J. Brown, 1858, 'You cannot... make him keep his seat over a rasping fence.' See rasper, 1.—2. (Of a stockbroker) 'giving greater turns to the jobbers than those regulated in the market' (Spy, II, 1826): Stock Exchange: ca. 1810—70. Also as n.

rasping gang. 'The mob of roughs and thieves who attend prize-fights' (H., 1864): c.; ob. by 1930.

rasping shorter. The same as rasper, 4, of which it is the earlier form: a cricketing coll. of ca. 1900—20. F. & H.

Rasputin. 'A proper Rasputin: ironic phrase for a meek-looking and unworldly clergyman' (Powis): Londoners': later C.20.

rass. Var. of ras, q.v. at rarzer.

rassing. 'Acquisition by less than legal means... from the naval RAS—Replenishment at Sea'; also in sense merely of 'to scrounge', as in 'I was "rassing" a cup of tea, or "brew"': Services'. Robert Fox, Listener, 8 July 1982, pp. 2, 3, reporting the recent Falkland Is. campaign.

rasted, adj. and adv. 'Blasted', of which it is a euph. perversion: 1919 (J.B. Morton: OED Sup.).

rat, n. A drunken person taken into custody: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) ?ex idea of a drowned rat or, more prob., ex drunk as a rat, q.v. at DRINKS.—2. A clergyman: C.17. 'Microcosmography' Earle, 'A profane man... nicknames clergyman... rat, black-coat, and the like'. Prob. current also in C.18, since Grose puns thus: 'Rats. Of these there are the following kinds: a black rat and a grey rat, a py-rat and a cu-rat', esp. as, in C.17—early 18, rat occ. designated a pirate.—3. A police spy: c.: from ca. 1850. Ex the gen. term of contempt.—4. An infernal machine for the foundering of insured bottoms: nautical coll. (from ca. 1880) > j.—5. 'A street urchin; a wharf labourer' (C.J. Dennis): Aus.: late C.19—20.—6. A workman that has not served his time and can, therefore, enter no union: artisans':—1909 (Ware).—7. A thief: c.: from ca. 1920. Edgar Wallace, The Twister, 1928.—8. A gas-cylinder; hence rat-hunt, a gas-attack: army: 1916—18. Frederick Manning, Her Privates We, 1930.—9. Short for rat and mouse, q.v., a louse. F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938.—10. 'Rats, the man who sneaked into the men's mines when they were on good stuff, and took out their opal during the night' (K.S. Prichard, The Black Opal, 1921): Aus. opal-miners': C.20.—11. Hence, any opal-thief, and the n. ratting. Cf. sense 7.—12. In have a rat, to be insane: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Cf. bats in the belfry.—13. See quot'n at hole in one, 2; smell a rat.—14. In do a rat, to change one's tactics: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex S.E. rat, to desert.—15. A rupee: army in India: earlier C.20. Cf. synon. scab.

rat, v. To steal or rob; to search the body of (a dead man): army: WW1 (F. & G.), but prob. much earlier: see ratting. Also Aus.: since ca. 1918. (Vance Palmer, Seedtime, 1957.) Cf. n., senses 7 and 10.—2. See rat it, and—rat it or rat me! A low coll. imprecation: late C.17—20; ob. (Vanbrugh, Hoadly, Thackeray, Conan Doyle.) Ex rot. Cf. drat! OED.

rat and mouse. A house: rhyming s.: late C.19—20. B. & P.—2. A louse: id.: C.20. 'This is an occasional usage in the underworld where it has reference to a person—generally an informer' (Franklyn 2nd).

rat-arsed. Drunk, tipsy; teenagers': early 1980s. (Joanna Williamson, 1982.) Cf. ratted.

rat back-clip. Short hair: lower classes': ca. 1856—1900. Ware.

rat-bag. See ratbag.

Rat Castle. A prison: late C.17—early 18. See MISCELLANEA, in Appendix.

rat-catcher (or solid). Unconventional hunting dress: hunting people's:—1930 (OED Sup.). R/Adm. P.W. Brock comments, 1963, 'In "The Horse Marines" (1911), Kipling writes, "... After he'd changed into those rat-catcher clothes..." Two very different people whom I have tried have both said that to them "rat-catcher" implies a rough shooting-rig, e.g. knickerbocker trousers with stockings and a Norfolk jacket, and a date considerably before 1931.—I suggest that "rat-catcher" was once used for a purpose even more plebeian and much more countrified than the "dog-robbers" dealt with in your addendum, at much the same period, and was far less dressy than any hunting kit, though it may have arrived at this by 1931.'

rat fink. 'A "stool pigeon" or informer to the police' (Robin Leech, 1974): Can. c. > low s., prob. adopted ex US, earlier C.20. Orig. it = 'a strikebreaker' (Barnhart). See esp. rat and fink in Underworld.

rat-firm, -house, -office, -shop. A workshop, etc., where less than full union rates are paid: trades unions' coll. (—1888) >, in C.20, S.E. Cf. rat, n., 6.

rat-hole. Too large a gap between printed words: printers': from ca. 1870.—2. As the Rat Hole, the 'Camden short tunnel' (Railway, 2nd): London Transport workers': since late 1940s. See also Rat's Hole.

rat-house. An asylum for the insane: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Cf. rat, n., 12.

rat-hunt. See rat, n., 8.

rat in your fore-chains, (there's) a. A nautical c.p., 'the final insult to a sloppy ship': late C.19—20. Bowen, 'Its origin is obscure.'

rat it. 'To run away quickly' (EDD): Berkshire s. (—1903), not dial.

rat it!; rat me! See rat!

rat-office. See rat-firm.

rat on. To fail (someone); to betray: Aus.: adopted, ca. 1925, from US. (Sidney J. Baker, letter, Observer, 13 Nov. 1938.) Mostly, to inform to the police about (someone); also Can. (Leechman.)

rat race, the. Fierce competition to make a living, esp. in the professions: coll.: since ca. 1945.

rat run. (Often in pl.) A back alley, ginnel, or jetty; a narrow way between buildings; 'It is a matter of local pride to know the "back doubles" [q.v.] and "rat runs" well' (Powis): low coll.: C.20, poss. earlier.

rat-shop. A shop or factory that employs non-union workers: lower classes': since ca. 1875. (B. & L.) See also rat, n., 6, and rat-firm.

rat-trap. A bustle or dress-improver: ca. 1850—1900. Cf. bird-cage, q.v.—2. The brake on a bicycle: cyclists':—1923 (Manchon). Cf.—? ex—Fr. rattrappe-pédales.—3. The mouth: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon).—4. A balloon barrage: civilian: since 1939. Berrey, 1940.—5. In the RAF, a submarine: since 1939; but since ca. 1915 in the RN. (E.P., 'Air Warfare and its Slang', New Statesman, 19 Sep. 1942.) Also mouse-trap (less usual). The crew being doubly rats.—6. Type of carburettor [for a motorcycle engine] made by Binks. So called because of its shape and the length of the air-intake' (Mike Partridge, 1979): motorcyclists'.

rat up a drain pipe, like a. (Of a male) quick off the mark, esp. sexually, as in 'I can recall your impetuous youth when you'd have been round the lot of them [female models] like...'. (Red Daniells, Brit. Jnl of Photography, 4 Jan. 1980): C.20. Cf. the Aus. parody, 'like a rat up a rhododendron'.

ratbag (in earlier C.20, usu. hyphenated). An ill-disposed person: Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Since ca. 1960, also Brit., its spread perhaps helped by its use in the popular 'Perishers' strip-cartoon, written by Maurice Dodd and drawn by Dennis Collins, in the Daily Mirror.—2. An eccentric: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (Vance Palmer, Golconda, 1948.) Cf. have or be rats, to be eccentric.—3. A worthless person, esp. if young and with near-criminal tendencies and habits: Aus.: since ca. 1940. The locus classicus resides in William Dick's scarifying novel, A Bunch of Ratbags (1965), where, on p. 27, he postulates an origin to which I prefer the probability that it simply = a bag in which to carry rats, hence the rats themselves, hence a single rat or thoroughly objectionable person.

ratbaggery. A display of eccentricity; eccentric activities: Aus.: since ca. 1930. B.P. notes, 1963, that Baker's ratbaggery (in Australia Speaks, 1953) is a 'ghost word'.

ratcatcher's daughter. Rare var. of fisherman's daughter, water. Franklyn 2nd.

rate is the rank of the Rate, a Leading Rate (or Leading Hand) in any branch of the Royal Navy: RN coll., esp. lowerdeck: late C.19—20. P-G-R.

rate, v.i. When used alone, as in 'Well, I mean, he just doesn't rate, does he?' = he has no qualifications and is unlikely to count for anything, it is informal S.E. verging on coll.: later C.20. (P.B.)

rate of knots, at a (or the). Very fast: RN coll.: mid-C.19—20.

(Granville.) Current also in Aus. and NZ since ca. 1860: see, e.g., 'Tom Collins', Such is Life, 1903, and G.B. Lancaster, Sons o' Men, 1904.

ratepayers' hotel. A workhouse: tramps' c.:—1935. Workhouses were maintained out of the rates and taxes.

rather! (In replying to a question) I should think so; very decidedly: coll., orig. somewhat low: 1836, Dickens, "Do you know the mayor's house?" inquired Mr Trott. "Rather," replied the boots, significantly, as if he had some good reason for remembering it.' Occ. rather, from ca. 1860: very affected; ob. by 1905, † by 1920. Cf. the very genteel quite, q.v. Often emphasised as in Denis Mackail, Greenery Street, 1925, "Rather," said Ian enthusiastically, "Oh, rather!" During the very approximate period 1890–1910 and esp. among schoolboys and schoolgirls, the word was often emphasised by stressing the second syllable (-ther). The practice is far from dead.—2. As in 'Other [gents] adopt large noses, and false mustaches, which they think is "doing it—rather!"' (Albert Smith, Natural History of the Gent, 1847).

Rather A Mixed Crowd. One of the several punning explanations of the initials of the Royal Army Medical Corps: WW2. (Carew.) Cf. Run Away, Matron's Coming.

rather keep you (for) a week than a fortnight! (, I'd). A c.p. formula directed at a hearty eater: since ca. 1870.

rather-nicers. 'A term of contempt stigmatizing ladies who pattered about sale rooms applying substantive and adverb to "gems" which they had no intention of purchasing' (H.A. Vachell, Quinney's Adventures, 1924): sale rooms': C.20.

rather of the ratherest. Slightly in excess or deficit: dial. and coll.: 1787, Grose's Provincial Glossary; 1860, H., 2nd ed. Ob. by 1920, virtually † by 1935.

ratherish, adv. Slightly; somewhat: coll., orig. US (1862), anglicised ca. 1890. Ob. OED.

rations. A flogging; Services': ca. 1880–1910. See iron rations.

rations king. Catering Officer; a messing clerk: RAF: since ca. 1930. (Jackson.) Cf. radar king.

rats. A star: back s., rare: from ca. 1875.—2. As a contemptuous retort = 'bosh!': (low) coll.: orig. US, but anglicised ca. 1891. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'One word, and that was Rats!' —3. In get or have rats, to be out of sorts: 1865, E. Yates, "Well... old boy, how are you?" "... Not very brilliant..." "Ah, like me, got rats, haven't you?" —4. In get or have or see rats, to be drunk; very drunk: later C.19.—5. Hence, see rats, to have delirium tremens: low: since ca. 1865. Whence the rats = delirium tremens: id. A slightly later var., from ca. 1880, was in the rats (Richards); also C.20 Aus. (D'Arcy Niland, 1955).—6. Hence, in the rats, insane: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1958.) The earlier, from ca. 1880, Brit. low coll. version, have or see rats, at first = to be eccentric, then, shortly afterwards, came to mean downright crazy. Cf. Aus. rat-house, mental asylum; and rats in the garret... —7. See green rats.

Rats After Mouldy Cheese. The Royal Army Medical Corps: army pun: WW1. (F. & G.) Cf. Rather A Mixed Crowd.

rats and mice. Dice: rhyming s.: from ca. 1860. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.—2. Cards of '3' and '2' in one hand: Aus. poker-players': since ca. 1920. B., 1953.

raf's head. A fool: low: C.20.

Rat's Hole, the. 'Victoria Station is the "Vic", King's Cross the "Northern", Paddington the "Western", St Pancras the "Cold Blow", and Charing Cross Underground the "Rat's Hole"' (Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939): London taxi-drivers': since ca. 1905. See also rat-hole, 2.

rats in the garret or loft or upper storey. Eccentric; mad: from ca. 1890; ob. Prob. ex bats in the belfry and rats, 6.

rat's tail. A pig-tail or queue: early C.18. See MISCELLANEA, in Appendix.—2. A writ: legal: from ca. 1870. ?Ex scroll on cover.

rattat. See rutat.

rattated. Drunk, tipsy: early 1980s. (Joanna Williamson, 1982.) Cf. ashed (as a rat), and rat-arsed. An example in print: Jasper Carrott, Sweet and Sour Labrador, 1982.

962

rattat. 'Although engine-drivers engaged in "rattat"—the stealing of corks and oil trimmings from one another's engine—the respect for private property was a potent concept among railway workers' (McKenna, 2, p. 37, citing M. Reynolds, Engine-Driving Life, 1889). See rat, v.

rattat jacket. 'Ca. 1940, I met the term "rattat-jacket", meaning one's oldest clothes, esp. if worn when [one is] doing rough or dirty jobs. Ex [S.E.] hacking jacket, informal wear when riding an inferior horse for exercise' (R.S., 1973). Cf. rat-catcher, q.v., and—rattat suit. Tweedy civilian clothes, 'dog robbers': RN officers': since ca. 1930. (Cdr C. Parsons, RN ret., 1977.) Cf. prec.

rattle, n. A coach: c. late C.18—early 19. (Grose, 1785.) Rare except in rattle and pad, a coach and horses. More gen. is rattler, q.v.: yet cf. sense 7.—2. 'The commander's report of defaulters' (Bowen): RN: since late C.19. Hence, in the rattle, under arrest, in detention; on a charge, as in 'A "bird" is a man who is always "in the rattle", i.e. defaulter' ('Taffrail'): C.20. Perhaps later is score a rattle, to get oneself put on the list of defaulters (Granville, who suggests a connection with warders' keys). Cf. the † S.E. rattle, a sharp reproof.—3. A quarrel: early C.18. See MISCELLANEA, in Appendix.—4. Money, esp. in have a bit of rattle, to be (moderately) comfortably off: late C.19—earlier 20. Fredk Manning, Her Privates We, 1930.—5. In have a rattle, (of men) to coit: low: C.20.—6. In with a rattle, with unexpected rapidity: turf coll.:—1909 (Ware). Cf.:—7. In take rattle, to depart hurriedly: c.: late C.17—mid-18. B.E., 'We'll take Rattle, ... we must not tarry, but whip away': a quot'n that may possibly premise rattle, a coach, as early as late C.17; otherwise we must suppose that rattle, v., has been substantivised.—8. See spring the rattle; work the rattle.

rattle, v. To move or work quickly and/or noisily: s. and, from ca. 1850, dial.: late C.17–20. Esp. in rattle away or off. B.E., who wrongly classifies as c.—2. (Also rattle on.) To strike (a person) in (the, e.g., ivories, teeth): c.:—1923 (Manchon).—3. See rattled, 2.

rattle and clank. Bank (for money): rhyming s.: C.20. (Franklyn 2nd.) Cf. rattle, n., 4.

rattle and drive (or hyphenated). Scamped work: workmen's coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

rattle-bag, devil's (Scots deil's). A bishop's summons: coll.: from ca. 1725; † by 1900. Scott.

rattle-ballocks. The female pudend: low: late C.18—early 20.

rattle-blanket. A great-coat: army: earlier C.20. (L.A.) Often used as a blanket, a greatcoat has buttons, etc., that clink. P.B.: but cf. rattle, n., 5, and officers' ground-sheet.

rattle (one's) cash. To 'stump up', pay out: c.:—1923 (Manchon).

rattle on. See rattle, v., 2.

rattled. Very drunk: coll.: late C.19–20. (Lyell.) Cf. floored. —2. Anxious; nervously taken aback: coll. SOD notes rattle, to cause consternation in someone, 1887, ex US. (P.B.)

rattler. A coach: early C.17—mid-19: c. >, ca. 1750, s.: 1630 (Taylor the 'Water Poet'); B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; H. Like rattle, because it rattles.—2. Hence, a cab; ca. 1815–1910: Moore, 1819; Egan, 1821, 'At length a move was made, but not a rattler was to be had.'—3. A train: c. (1845: 'No. 747') >, by 1874 (H., 5th ed.), low; in C.20, mostly a bookmakers' term. Cf. rattlers, 2, and see mace the rattler.—4. A bicycle: 1924 (D.H. Lawrence: OED Sup.).—5. 'The Underground used to be the "Rattler" but has lately become the "Pipe"' (Herbert Hodge, Cab, Sir?, 1939): London taxi-drivers': ca. 1905–30. Ex sense 3.—6. (Of men) an assiduous amorist: since ca. 1920.—7. As Rattler, the 'inevitable' nickname of men surnamed Morgan: Services': earlier C.20. (F. & G.) Ex Morgan Rattler (or r.), common in dial. in various senses, e.g. anything first-rate (EDD).

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

rattles, the. A or the death-rattle: (low) coll.: from ca.

1820.—2. (With the often omitted.) The croup: somewhat coll.: C.18–20.

rattletrap. The mouth: from ca. 1820. Scott. (OED)—2. A chatterbox: coll.: 1880, anon., Life in a Debtors' Prison, 'You're as great a rattletrap as ever.' Both senses tend to be low; the former is somewhat ob.

rattling cove. A coachman: c.: mid-C.17–early 19. (Coles, 1676.) Cf. rattle, n. and v. Cf.: rattling mumper. A beggar plying coaches and carriages: c.: mid-C.17–early 19. Coles; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

rattling peeper. A coach-glass: c.: mid-C.18. The Scoundrel's Dict., 1754.

Ratty, the. Nickname of the Ravensglass & Eskdale Miniature Railway: C.20.

ratty. Wretched, miserable; mean: orig. (—1885) US and Can., adopted in Brit. ca. 1900. Blackwood's Magazine, Nov. 1901, 'Both were pretty "ratty" from hardship and loneliness' (OED). Ex lit. sense, infested with rats.—2. Angry, irritated: from ca. 1906. ? ex US; cf. rats in the garret and rats!, 2, qq.v. But prob. ex the appearance of a cornered rat.—3. Silly; stupid: NZ, hence also Aus.: since late C.19. (G.B. Lancaster, Sons o' Men, 1904; B., 1942.) Hence, ratty on, infatuated with; also ratty over (B., 1943). Concerning those older Australians who volunteered to fight in Korea, 1950, Tim Carew wrote, in Korea—the Commonwealth at War, 1967, 'These older men were the "Ratty Diggers", so called by some by Australia's young men because it was thought that having survived one major war, they would have sufficient sense to avoid another.' raughty. See rorly.

raunchy. 'Earthy'; risqué; lustful; euph. for 'pornographic': 'increasingly met with in the media, mid-1970s' (R.S.)—but adopted, ex US, in Can. and Brit., ca. 1965, by 'pop' devotees and the drugs world (Janssen; Leechman); recorded by DCCU, 1971. I surmise: either derived from or, at least, prompted by S.E. rancid. P.B.: cf. also the West Country dial. raunch, raw and uncooked, of vegetables (EDD), and rorly, 2, 'amorous'.

rave, n. A strong liking; a craze; a passion: from ca. 1899; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. F. & H., 1901 (pub. 1902), 'X has a rave on Miss Z.' (Cf. crush, q.v.) Ex the ob. late C.16–20 S.E. sense, a raving, a frenzy, excitement (OED).—2. Esp. of a warm friendship between schoolgirls: 1919 (Arnold Lunns, Loose Ends); Josephine Tey, Miss Pym Disposes, 1946. Cf. push.—3. An enthusiastic notice in the Press: theatrical: since ca. 1920; in the world of books, since ca. 1945.—4. 'At a rave, blast or orgy—all synonyms for party—a guy (never a boy) meets a bit of hod, or tart (whether or not she is)'—to quote from 'Cool Culture' in the correspondence columns of the Sunday Times, 8 Sep. 1963: teenagers': ca. 1961–5. Also a dance. Cf. derivation of sense 1.—5. Among beatniks, a bottle party: late 1950s—early 60s. See rave-up.

rave, v. See AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.

rave-up. Elab. of rave, n., 5. Still current, among the middle-aged, ca. 1980, but usu. ironically, as in 'Are you going to the rave-up at the vicarage after evensong?' (P.B.)

raven. A 'small bit of bread and cheese': taverns':—1909; ob. Ex the story of Elisha and the ravens. Ware.

raver. A confirmed party-goer: beatniks': late 1950s. (Anderson.) Ex rave, n., 5; cf. ravist.—2. 'A young woman who is enthusiastically promiscuous or merely of a passionate (but not promiscuous) nature' (Powis): coll.: later C.20.—3. See AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in Appendix.

ravers. Raving mad: since ca. 1925; by 1960, slightly ob. Ngaio Marsh, Death in a White Tie, 1938.

'Ravillac, any Assassin' (B.E.): coll.: ca. 1610–1750. Properly Ravaiillac. Ex Francois Ravaiillac, who, the assassinator of Henry IV of France, died in 1610.

raving Noah. See MOCK AUCTION SLANG, in Appendix.

ravist. A party-goer, esp. if habitual: office- and shop-girls': ca. 1956–9. (Gilderdale.)

raw. In sleep in the raw, to sleep naked: adopted ex US, ca.

1943 in Brit., ca. 1944 in Aus. P.B.: or, in later C.20, simply 'I sleep raw'.—2. In on the raw, adj. and adv., roughing it; Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. Jean Devanney, By Tropic Sea and Jungle, 1944.

raw chaw. A dram of spirituous liquor: low s.: ca. 1810–60. Captain Glascock, Land Sharks and Sea Gulls, 1838.

raw deal. Harsh or bad, esp. unfair, treatment: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1930. Ex card games; cf. rough spin.

raw lobster. A policeman: C.19. His uniform is blue, in contrast with the red of the red lobsters, q.v. See also lobster, n., 2.—2. (Gen. pl.) A sailor dressed in blue: earlier C.19. B. & L.

raw meat. The penis: low coll.: mid-C.18–20. Anon., 'The Butcher' (a song), 1766.—2. A nude (female) performer of the sexual act: low: C.19—early 20.

raw prawn. A cadger; a shady person, usu. male, working up to a 'con': Aus.: since ca. 1870. Hence, come the raw prawn, q.v., to impose upon (someone), esp. by 'acting the innocent'.—2. Hence, draw the raw prawn, 'To get the worst part of an arrangement' (Culotta): Aus.: since ca. 1930. Cf. raw deal.

raw reek. A nip of undiluted spirits: later C.19.

raw stool. See MOVING-PICTURE SLANG, §6, in Appendix.

raw tea. Tea without milk or sugar: joc. coll.: since ca. 1925.

raw uns or 'uns, the. The naked fists: pugilistic: 1887, Daily News, 15 Sep., 'This encounter was without gloves, or, in the elegant language of the ring, with the raw uns'; 1891, Sporting Life, 26 Mar., 'Even Jean Carney... has been obliged to abandon the raw-un's for gloves pure and simple.' Slightly ob. (Here, raw = unprotected or uncovered.) Cf. raws.

rawng. A wagon: Shelta: C.18–20. B. & L.

rawhider. A conductor, a driver, hard on men or locomotives: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Adopted from US and prob. ex 'a rawhide whip'.

rawniel or runniel. Beer: Shelta: C.18–20. B. & L.

raws, the. Bare fists (cf. raw 'uns): coll.: from ca. 1895. In 1899, Clarence Rook says of the hooligan that 'He has usually done a bit of fighting with the gloves... But he is better with the raws, and is very bad to tackle in a street row.'

ray. The sum of 1s 6d: c.: 1861 (Mayhew). ?ex or cognate with the already long-† S.E. ray, a small piece of gold or gold leaf.—2. An X-ray (photograph): medical coll.: since ca. 1905. (Dymphna Cusack, 1951.) Cf. rayed.

ray-neck. 'A landsman in a clipper packet's crew': nautical: mid-C.19–20; ob. Bowen thinks that it may represent a corruption of raw-neck.

rayed. X-rayed: hospital coll.: since ca. 1910. Cf. ray, 2.

raymonder. See ram-rod.

rayther. See rather.

raz, in the. In the nude: Aus.: since late 1940s. Joc. alteration of in the raw.

razoo, rahzoo. A farthing; a small coin; any very small sum: NZ, C.20; by ca. 1920, also Aus. W.S. Howard, You're Telling Me!, 1934, 'Haven't got a razoo left. Gave me last two bob to the wife': heard mainly in the negative phrases I haven't a razoo or... a brass razoo, for... no money at all (B., 1941). App. a corruption of the Maori rahu. Mrs C. Raab: brass razoo also known in London, ca. 1930s.

razoos. (Human) testicles: NZ: C.20.

razor, n. Esp. a real razor, 'A defiant, quarrelsome, or bad-tempered scholar': Westminster School: from 1883; ob. Ware.—2. Shortening of razor blade, q.v.—3. 'At the Park'—Sedgeley Park School—'a thin slice of bread was a razor'—a thinned form of razzor, 'and slices cut lengthwise from a long loaf were splithers' (doubtless from splinters): ca. 1790–1870. Frank Roberts, article in the Cottonian, autumn 1938.—4. See cut a block...

razor, v. To slash (a person) with a razor: Glasgow lower-class coll., obviously destined to > S.E.: from ca. 1920. MacArthur & Long, 'There's been some hooligan who has razored poor Frank and very near done him in awthegither.'

razor-backs. 'Cattle that are lean and scraggy' (B., 1943):

RAZOR BLADE

Aus. coll.: late C.19–20.—2. 'In the U.S. and, to a less extent, in Canada, a razor-back is a pig, semi-wild and of no ascertainable ancestry' (Leechman): late C.19–20. Both senses are occ. used in the singular.

razor blade. A Negro: rhyming s. on synon. spade, q.v.: since ca. 1955. (G.F. Newman, Sir, You Bastard, 1970.) Often shortened to razor.

razor gang, the. 'An investigating committee ... who come to examine the day-to-day working of drivers and guards ... for "unproductive time" ... very often successful in reducing the staff complement at depots' (McKenna, Glossary): railwaymen's: mid-C.20. Cf. needle noses, and trappers.

razor-grinder. See scissors-grinder.

Razor King, the. The Glasgow hooligans' and gangsters' name for one who, using as weapons a razor in each hand, is recognised as the head of a gang of hooligans: from ca. 1920. The 'hero' of MacArthur & Long's damning book is a 'razor king'.

razor-strop. A copy of writ legal: from some date after 1822, when the lit. sense appears (OED).

razorridge. Shaving: early C.18. See MISCELLANEA, in Appendix.

razors. Inferior liquor: army: late C.19–early 20. (F. & G.) Ex the gripe it produces.

razz, n. A good talking-to, an harangue; esp. by a master to a boy: Eton: C.20. Ex raspberry. J.D.R. McConnell, Eton: How It Works, 1967, p. 61.

razz, v. To jeer at (someone): Aus.: since ca. 1890. Jack Lawson, A Man's Life, 1932.—2. Var. of ras (q.v. at rarzer), in vbl form: 'All amateur try-out turns were razzed regularly even if good' (Michael Warwick, in the Stage, 3 Oct. 1968): theatrical: late C.19–earlier 20.—3. See razzle, v.

razz-ma-tazz, razz(a)matazz. See IVE, in the Appendix. Perhaps as Franklyn, Rhyming, has suggested, it is rhyming s.—2. Nonsense. See JAZZ, and cf.:—3. 'The SDP moved in force, had extensive media coverage and applied the full razz-ma-tazz of an American presidential campaign' (Financial Times, 18 July 1981, 'Politics Today', by M. Rutherford). razzle, n. Abbr. razzle-dazzle, 2. Esp. in on the razzle, on the spree: C.20. An early occurrence is in 'Taffrail', Pincher Martin, 1916.

razzle, v. To steal: Aus. c.: C.20. (Baker.) Often shortened to razz. P.B.: ? a corruption of rustle.

razzle-dazzle. 'A new type of roundabout ... which gives its occupants the ... sensations of an excursion at sea' (Daily News, 27 July 1891; OED); † by ca. 1915.—2. A frolic, a spree; riotous jollity: US (1890, Gunter), anglicised ca. 1895, esp. in on the razzle-dazzle, after ca. 1920 gen. abbr. to on the razzle and gen. of a drunken spree. Binstead, More Gal's Gossip, 1901, 'Bank-holidayites on the razzle-dazzle'. An echoic word expressive of rapid movement, bustle, active confusion, but orig., I think, a reduplication on dazzle as in Gunter's 'I'm going to razzle-dazzle the boys ... with my great lightning change act,' 1890, in Miss Nobody.

razzle-dazzle, v. To dazzle: anglicised ca. 1895 ex US; ob. See prec., 2. Cf.:

razzle-dazzler, gen. in pl. A sock that dazzles: 1897, Daily News, 10 Aug. 'Two dozen pair of plain socks and half a dozen pair of the sort known as "razzle-dazzlers"' (OED). Ex razzle-dazzle, v. Cf. bobby-dazzler, q.v.

razzo. The nose: c. > low s.: from late C.19. Generalised ex sense 'a red nose' (see razzo, 2). This spelling in, e.g., Rook, Hooligan Nights, 1899; Gilt Kid, 1936. And see razoo.

razzor. See razor, n., 3.

re-bushed. Men's egotism applied to woman who is thought to be no longer of attractive physique: "She'd have to be rebushed—put a ham in and pull the bone out." Noted about 1962' (L.A., 1967): since ca. 1940, prob. orig. among artificers in the RAF.

re-dayboo. Re-début: music-halls' coll.: 1899–ca. 1903. (Ware.) Lit., a first appearance for the second time.

re-raw, occ. ree-raw. Esp. on the re(e)-raw. A drinking-bout:

low: from ca. 1850; ob. Dickens (1854: OED). Prob. ex Scots ree, excited with drink, + Anglo-Irish ree-raw, noisy, riotous. reach-me-down, adj., 1862; reach-me-downs, n., 1862. (Thackeray; Besant & Rice.) Ready-made, or occ. second-hand, clothes; in late C.19–20, often of such, hence of any, trousers: perhaps always S.E. (ex US). Coll.; in C.20, S.E. OED.—2. Hence, anything improvised: coll.:—1923 (Marchon).

reacher. A beggar that walks always with a female mate: c.: early C.17. Dekker.—2. A gross exaggeration, a 'stretcher': coll.: 1613 (Purchas); † by 1720. OED.—3. A blow delivered at one's full reach: boxing: late C.19–early 20.

reaches the parts ... See refreshes the parts ...

reaching. See excuse me reaching!

read, n. In have a read, to read; and as in 'This book's a jolly good read!': coll.: since late C.19.

read, v.i. Rarely v.t. To steal: c.: anon., 'A Song', ca. 1819, 'And I my reading learnt be-time, / From studying pocket-books, Sirs.' Ex reader, 1, q.v.—2. V.t., 'to try to ascertain by the expression of a man's features what his intentions are' (B. & L.): Stock Exchange: from ca. 1880. By ca. 1900, > low coll. and gen., in sense 'to figure out what someone is thinking'.—3. To search (esp. a shirt) for lice: army: WW1. (F. & G.) The shirt spread on one's knees resembled a newspaper being read in that position.—4. See wouldn't read about it.

read and write. To fight: rhyming s.:—1857 ('Ducange Anglicus'). In C.20, also n.—2. A flight: id. (Ibid.). Rare.

read between the lines. To discern the underlying fact or intention: from ca. 1865: coll. till C.20, then S.E.

read me and take me. (In ref. to riddles) a Restoration c.p. equivalent to get me? or get me! Dryden, Marriage à la Mode.

read of tripe. Transported for life: rhyming s.:—1859. H.'s approximation; † by 1900.

read (someone's) palm. To tell him off: RN: since ca. 1960. (Peppitt.) Ex palmistry: to determine and describe his character.

read the paper. As, e.g., 'Just reading ...', a coll. excuse for taking a nap: since ca. 1880.

reader. A pocket-book: c.: 1718 (C. Hitchin, The Regulator); Grose, 2nd ed.—2. Whence, a newspaper, a letter, etc.: c.: from ca. 1840.—3. A marked card: c. or gamblers' s.: 1894, Maskelyne, 'The preparation of "faked" cards or "readers"' (OED).

reader-hunter. A pickpocket specialising in pocket-books: c.:—1812 (Vaux) Ex reader, 1.

reader-merchant, gen. in pl. 'Pickpockets, chiefly young Jews, who ply about the Bank to steal the pocket-books of persons who have just received their dividends there' (Grose, 2nd ed.): late C.18–20; ob. Ex reader, 1, and see merchant.

readered. Wanted by the police: c.: from ca. 1845. ('No. 747', p. 412). Ex reader, 2, and the fact of being 'advertised' in The Police Gazette.

readers. Reading-glasses: coll.: since ca. 1925.

readies. Money in bank and/or currency notes: orig. bank-clerks',—1935; by later C.20, gen. low coll. for any 'ready money'. Usu. as the readies, as in Red Daniells, in Brit. Jnl of Photography, 5 Oct. 1979. Cf. ready thick'un, and ready, q.v.

Readings. Shares in the Pennsylvania & Reading Railroad: Stock Exchange coll.:—1895 (A.J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary).

ready, or the ready. Money, esp. money in hand: c. until C.19, then low s. till ca. 1870; by 1930, rather ob. Shadwell, 'Take up on the reversion ...; and Cheaty will help you to the ready'; Arbuthnot, 1712, 'He was not flush in ready'; Egan, 1821, 'The waste of ready'. Abbr. ready money. Often with rhino: ready rhino (T. Brown, 1697) is adumbrated in Shadwell's the ready, the rhino (1688). See readies.—2. A swindle, a conspiracy: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1959.) Oftener ready-up. Hence, work a ready, to effect a swindle: id. B., 1942.—3. In (at) a good ready, thoroughly alert; occ., dead certain: low (? orig. c.): late C.19–early 20. Cf. on the ball, on the spot.

ready, v. To pull a horse so that he shall not win: racing: Black, 1887 (OED).—2. To give, illicitly, a drug to (a person) in order to render temporarily innocuous: c.: C.20. (Edgar Wallace, The Gunner, 1928.) Prob. ex sense 1, whence certainly.—3. To contrive, manipulate, engineer, ‘wangle’: from ca. 1890. ‘Pomes’ Marshall, ‘He made us all... believe he could ready his chance.’ (Sense 1 is ex + S.E. sense, prepare, put in order.) Cf. ready up, q.v.—4. Hence, to bribe: low:—1909 (Ware).

ready-eyed. ‘Knowing the full story, [having an] awareness of the real “low-down” of the situation’ (Powis, 1977): police and c.: later C.20. R.S. quotes the Daily Telegraph law report, 14 June 1975. ‘Underworld for a planned crime which has been betrayed to the police and so, if carried out, will be a trap for the criminals involved.’ Cf. ready-ied.

ready gilt. Money (in hand): a C.19 var. of ready, n. (‘Ducange Anglicus’.) For gilt, cf. gelt.

ready-ied. Made ready, prepared; also, bribed: market-traders’: C.20. M.T. instances ‘The place was ready-ied for us’, and ‘He’s got to be ready-ied’. Is this the same as ready-eyed?

ready-made. (Of a racehorse) likely to win: turf: since ca. 1920. (L.A., 1976.) Contrast ready, v., 1.

Ready-Reckoners. The Highland regiments: Army: ca. 1850–90. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex the legendary Scots aptitude for reckoning money.

ready thick’un. A sovereign (coin): c.: from ca. 1860.

ready to drop. (Of a person) exhausted: late C.19–20: coll. >, by 1920, S.E. (Lyell.) Cf. synon. fit to drop.

ready to leap nine hedges. Exceedingly ready: coll.: ca. 1660–1800. Ray.

ready to spit. Upon the point of urethrorrhœa ex libidine: low: C.20.

ready-up, n. A conspiracy; a swindle: Aus. low: C.20. Jice Doone, 1926; B., 1943. Ex-ready up, v. To prepare, or contrive, illicitly or not honourably: Aus.: 1893, Melbourne Age, 25 Nov., ‘A great deal has been “readied up” for the jury by the present commissioners’ (Morris). Prob. ex ready, v., 3.—2. Hence, to produce or procure ready money: Aus.: since ca. 1910. Baker.—3. To ‘put someone wise’ or ‘tip off’: Aus.: since ca. 1912. B., 1943.

readying, readying-up. Vbl nn. of ready, v., and ready up, qq.v.

real, adj. ‘The most basic of all basic beat-age words is real. This really covers everything. Whatever else they may be, all beat-agers are real. Everything they do, or think they do or not, is real. Everything they say is real’ (Anderson): beatniks’: since ca. 1958. Hence really, n.

real, adv. Extremely, very: coll.: from ca. 1880 in England, earlier in Scotland and US; esp. in real nice. Ex real as adj. before another adj., esp. when no comma intervenes (J. Fox, 1718, ‘An Opportunity of doing a real good Office’, OED).

real Air Force, the. Flying personnel: the others’: 1939+. Jackson.

real cool. See cool, adj., 2.

real jam. A very delightful person or thing; s. verging on coll.: 1879, Justin McCarthy, ‘Real jam, I call her’; Punch, 3 Jan. 1885, ‘Without real jam—cash and kisses—this world is a bitterish pill.’ Earlier, a sporting phrase for anything exceptionally good: from ca. 1870. H., 5th ed.

real Kate. A kind matron: Clare Market, London: ca. 1882–1900. (Ware.) Ex Kate, the charitable queen of the market.

real live. See live, adj., 2.

real Mackay, the. The real thing, ‘the goods’, that which is completely authentic: coll., orig. a Scotch phrase: since later C.19. ‘Tom Collins’ (Joseph Furphy’s) Such is Life, 1903, contains ‘There was an indescribable something... which made us feel that station aristocracy to be mere bourgeoisie, and ourselves the real Mackay.’ The US version, McCoy, is a folk-etymologising, prob. via ‘the pugilist, “Kid” McCoy, who was for some time at the head of his class’ (Irwin). See esp. E.P.’s essay on the subject in his From Sanskrit to Brazil, 1952.

real money. A large sum, or large sums, of money as opposed to ‘chicken feed’: coll.: since ca. 1955. (Petch, 1966.) real nervous, dad; commoner, ‘way out. Adjectivally admiring: jazz-lovers’: 1950s. (Observer, 16 Sep. 1956.) Perhaps ex ‘It makes me real nervous [excited], dad’ and ex ‘way out in front of the rest’.

real peacer (or P.). A ‘dashing’ murderer: low coll.: late C.19–early 20. (Ware.) Ex Charles Peace, the celebrated murderer.

real raspberry jam. The superlative of jam tart, a girl: low: ca. 1883–1915. Ware.

real root, the. The real thing; the best or the correct thing (to do): earlier C.20. Prob. ex the real root of the matter is...

real thing, the. The genuine article (fig.): 1818, Lady Morgan, ‘He is the real thing, and no mistake’ (OED).

real turned on. Very ‘high’ (drug-exhilarated): beatniks’: since ca. 1959. Anderson.

really, n. A beatnik, male or female: beatniks’, hence among those on the fringe: since ca. 1959. The Andersons exemplify it four times on p. 2 of their witty and informative article. Ex real, adj.

really! You don’t say so!; well I never! coll. tag: late C.19–20. P.B.: in C.20, an almost meaningless admonition, as in ‘Well, really! Of all the stupidest things you could say!’

Really Not A Sailor. (A member of) the Royal Naval Air Service: RN: WWI. (F. & G.) The RNAS merged with the Royal Flying Corps to form the RAF on 1 Apr. 1918. Cf. many other derogatory interpretations of initials, e.g. Rather A Mixed Crowd.

really really. An intensive, as ‘very’, ‘extremely’: world of ‘pop’, and feminine coll.: ca. 1980. ‘I was, you know, really really pleased when he said that.’ (P.B.)

ream. Genuine; honest, honourable, above-board: an occ. C.19 c. var. of rum, adj. very rare outside London. Mayhew, 1851, ‘A “ream”... concern’; Baumann. Cf.:

ream-penny, gen. in pl = Peter-pence. C.17: coll. and dial. Ex Rome-penny.—2. In reckon (up one’s) ream-pennies, to confess one’s faults: coll.: ca. 1650–1700. Ray.

reaper. A submarine: RN: 1940+. Ex the U-boats’ ‘reaping’ of merchant vessels in early WW2.

rear(s), n. The latrine: from ca. 1880. ‘University’ was E.P.’s first gloss, but later he added ‘Perhaps of military orig.: a man ‘taken short’ is told to ‘fall out to the rear’. But may it not be simply that which is concerned with ‘the behind’? (P.B.).—2. Hence, in do or have a rear, to defecate: C.20. Cf. the v.

rear, v. To visit the latrine; to defecate: from ca. 1890: university >, ca. 1905, gen. s. Ex rear, n.

rear admirals. ‘Those Naval rugby experts in the stand who call for “More feet, Navy, more feet!”’ (L.A., 1976).

rear-rank private. See lance-private.

rear-up. A noisy argument; a quarrel; a ‘row’: lower classes’: C.20. (F. & G.) Ex:

rear up, v. To become extremely angry: coll.: late C.19–20. Ex horses.

rearer. The upsetting of a vehicle—the wheel(s) on one side going into a ditch, drain, etc.—so that the vehicle turns underside up: 1827 (OED); very ob.—2. A battledore: Restoration period.

reast in (one’s) pit, (usu. reasting). To lie abed after it’s time to rise; to stay in bed for want of anything better to do: army: since mid-C.20. Ex dial., rancid. (P.B.)

reb. A rebel: late C.19–20. (‘Taffrail’, Pincher Martin, 1916.) Not necessarily ex US.

rebound. In (catch) on the rebound, (to get) engaged to (a person) after he or she has been refused by another: coll.: from ca. 1908. Ex lawn tennis. Collinson.

rebused. See re-bushed.

rec, the. The local recreation ground: urban coll.: since ca. 1890. (Ernest Raymond, Mary Leith, 1931.) Cf. Recker, wreck, 1, and:-

rec-space, the. 'The men's recreation space for games, etc.' (Granville): RN coll.: C.20.

recap, n. Recapitulation: schools' (late C.19–20) and authors' (C.20) and BBC (since ca. 1938) coll.—2. A synonym of retread: Aus.: since ca. 1939. (B.P.)

recap, v.i. To recapitulate: coll.: C.20. Cf. prec., 1.

rece, pron. and occ. written recky. Reconnaissance in gen., a reconnaissance in particular: Services: since ca. 1920: orig. coll., it was, by 1941 at latest, j. In WW2 every Army division had a Recee Battalion.—2. Hence, as v.i., to go on a reconnaissance, and as v.t., to reconnoitre: since ca. 1935 in Army and by at least as early as 1939 in the RAF: coll. >, by 1942, j.—3. A reconnaissance 'plane': since ca. 1936: RAF coll. >, by 1942, j. H. & P.

recco. A reconnaissance flight: RAF: 1939+. (Jackson.) Ex prec.

recvy. A var. spelling of recee.

receipt. Recipe: S.E. till C.20, then considered somewhat sol.—2. Punches received: boxers': mid-C.19–20; extremely ob. Bell's Life, 'He showed strong symptoms of receipt' (Baumann). Cf. receiver-general, 2.

receipt of custom (or hyphenated). The female pudend: C.19–20; ob. Cf. Grose's custom-house goods, q.v. (Where Adam made the first entry.)

receive what (one) gets. To receive only what one modestly expects; esp., to count on nothing until one gets it: c.p.: C.20. Patrick MacGill, The Great Push, 1916.

receiver-general. A harlot: C.19. (Lex. Bal., 1811.) Ex S.E., a chief receiver of public revenues.—2. 'A boxer giving nothing for what he gets', F. & H.: boxing: early C.19—early 20. Boxiana, III, 1821.

Recent Incision. The New Cut, properly Lower Marsh, a busy thoroughfare on the Surrey side of the Thames: London joc. coll. of ca. 1859–95. H., 2nd ed.; Baumann.

recep. Reception by an audience: theatrical and music halls': late C.19–20. "Did you hear my little recep?" he cried ecstatically' (W.H. Lane Craufurd, Murder to Music, 1936).

Recker or Rekker, the. The town recreation-ground, where the School sports are held: Harrow: late C.19–20. 'OXFORD -ER'. Cf. rec, the, q.v.

reckon. To count as worth-while; to esteem: London's East End: since the late 1940s. Always negative, as 'I don't reckon him' = I don't think he's much good. (Evening News, 12 Nov. 1957, article by Richard Herd; Norman.) Elliptical for 'reckon to be worth much'.

reckon (one)self. To be conceited: s. since mid-1940s. (Laurence Henderson, With Intent, 1968.) Ex 'reckon oneself to be important or to be something'.

reckon up. To talk of, maliciously or even slanderously: proletarian: later C.19—early 20. B. & L.

reckoning. See cast up (one's) accounts; Dutch reckoning.

recliner. (Usu. in pl.) A Crown issue armchair: RN officers': C.20. (Granville.) By the 'OXFORD -ER' on recline.

reconnoitre, v.i. To 'scrounge' (q.v.): military: 1916; ob. B. & P.

record. In smash the record, to go one better: coll., esp. in athletics: from ca. 1890. Break, cut (+), lower the record are S.E.—2. In change the record! or put another record on!, addressed to a nagging spouse or to anyone else 'going on about something': C.20. 'Heard as "For God's sake, put another record on, will you?"' (Petch, 1966).

recorder's nose. The rump of a fowl: coll.: ca. 1820–90. (Westmacott, 1825: OED.) Cf. synonym. parson's nose.

Recordite, adj. and (gen. in pl) n. (Of) the Low Church Party of the Anglican Church: a Church coll.: 1854, Conybeare, Church Parties, for both adj. and n.; ob. Ex the Record, the party's official organ.

records. (Shares in) the African Gold Recovery Company: Stock Exchange:—1895 (A.J. Wilson's Glossary).

recruit, n. See recruits.—2. 'To get a fresh supply of money' (Grose, 1785): coll. Cf. the next two entries.

recruiting service. Robbery on the highway: ca. 1810–40: s. verging on c. (Lex. Bal.) Ex:-

recruits. Money, esp. expected money: late C.17—early 19: c. B.E., 'Have you rais'd the Recruits, ... is the Money come in?' Ex Army.

recruty. A recruit: army: WW1. (A reminder from A.B. Petch, who served.)

Recs, the. The Records and Fingerprints Department: police coll.: C.20.

rector. 'A poker kept for show: curate (q.v.) = the work-a-day iron; (2) the bottom half of a tea-cake or muffin (as getting more butter), the top half being the curate, and so forth' (F. & H.): coll.: ca. 1860–1930.

rector of the females. The penis: C.17—early 20. Either low coll. or, more prob., euph. S.E. Rochester.

red, n. Short for red jacket, a soldier: naval: late C.18–19. Bill Truck, 1822, has both.—2. Gold: C.20: orig. c.; by 1950, low s. Cf.:—3. A sovereign: c. or low:—1923 (Manchon).—3. The port side of a ship; it shows a red light; cf. green, the starboard side, which shows a green one: nautical coll.: late C.19–20.—4. In in the red, a gen. coll. phrase for 'in debt': since ca. 1920. Red, in book-keeping, indicates debt; its complement, in the black, hardly antedates 1945. Hence, put in the red, bankrupt; penniless: trade and commerce: C.20. In Can. carnival s., it = having failed to make one's expenses. Contrast:—5. In the red, 'In the money. Money (red—gold) is coming in easily' (Tempest, 1950): prisoners' c.: mid-C.20. Cf. sense 2.—6. See red arse; red Ned; reds.

red, adj. Made of gold; golden: C.14–20: S.E. till C.17, then c. See esp. red clock, kettle, one or 'un, rogue, stuff, tackle, toy.—2. See paint the town red; see red.

red ace; occ. red C. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19–20.

red and yellow, Tom Fool's colours. A c.p. (semi-proverb) in allusion to brightly coloured clothes: already old in 1874. Ex a jester's parti-coloured dress. Apperson.

red 'Arry. A £10 note: Aus.: since ca. 1930. B., 1959.

red arse. A recruit: Guardsmen's: C.20. (Roger Grinstead, They Dug a Hole, 1946.) P.B.: by 1950, common also in the rest of the army, esp. among National Servicemen, and shortened in the jibe you big red!

red as a turkey-cock. In turn or go ..., to blush violently: coll., mostly provincial and Colonial: from ca. 1860.

red beard. (App.) a watchman or constable: C.17: ?c. Dekker & Webster, 1607, 'White haire may fall into the company of drabs as red beades into the society of knaves' (OED). P.B.: from this context it could as well mean simply 'a (respectable) young man'.—2. A red marble: London schoolboys':—1887 (Baumann).

red Biddy. Cheap red wine: Glasgow (where also called crimson dawn):—1934 (Alastair Baxter). The term soon spread: witness, e.g. Michael Harrison, Reported Safe Arrived, 1943.—2. Methylated spirit as a drink: c., esp. tramps': from ca. 1910. Also jake.

Red Book, the. 'Burke's Peerage, which lists the aristocracy in strict order of precedence, is always bound in red': H. & M. Evans, quoting Harpers [n.d., ca. 1885] in The Party That Lasted 100 Days, 1976, append this gloss.

red breast, redbreast. A Bow Street runner: C.18—early 19, though app. first recorded by Dickens in 1862. Ex red waistcoat.—See redbreast.

red bull, the. Var. of the red steer. Wilkes.

red cap (or with capitals). A military policeman: Services' coll.: WW1 and since. (B. & P.) Ex his distinctive headress.—2. The penis: low: since ca. 1918.

red cape. A sister in Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service: military coll.: 1915–18. F. & G.

red centre, the. The inland: Aus. coll.: C.20. (Baker.) Ex the red soil: see passim Archer Russell's A Tramp Royal, 1934.

red clock. A gold watch: c.: from ca. 1860. (Baumann.) Also red 'un, q.v. Cf. red lot.

red coat. A woman inspector in the Anti-Poison Gas Department: coll.: 1916–18. F. & G.

red cross. An English ship: nautical coll.: C.17. Smith, 1626.

red-currant jelly. (Not as n., but as adj. in the predicate.) 'He's red-currant jelly' is country s., of ca. 1840–1900, applied to a tradesman or merchant that, retiring to the country, out-Countries the County. Usu., however, simply currant jelly. (A staple produce on the shopkeeper's shelves.)

Red Devils, the. The Parachute Regiment has only one nickname. The Germans in North Africa [WW2] called them "The Red Devils"; apart from the Germans this is a name used only by journalists and never by soldiers' (Carew). Ex the maroon berets worn by the regt. P.B.: to the rest of the army they are 'The Paras', or occ. in later C.20, 'The Cherryberries'.—2. 'Midland Railway compound locomotives' (Railway, 2nd); 'painted red and making plenty of sparks at the chimney', adds McKenna: railwaymen's: earlier C.20.—3. As red devils, little tin-encased Italian hand-grenades: army in N. Africa: 1941–3.

red-dog. Prickly heat: Anglo-Indian coll.: ca. 1740–1800. Y. & B.

red duster. The Red Ensign of the Merchant Navy: RN: late C.19–20. 'Taffrail', Sea Spray, 1917.

red eel. A term of contempt: coll.: C.19. F. & H.

red eye. Strong liquor. See forty-rod.

red face (or neck), have a. To be ashamed: Glasgow:—1934. Ex blushing. An earlier, pre-WW1 var. was take a red face to (one)self.

Red Feathers, the. The 46th Foot (in late C.19–20, 2nd Battalion of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry): military: from ca. 1777; ob. Ex an incident of the American War of Independence. F. & G.

Red-Fed. 'A member of the ("Red") Federation of Labour, 1909' (Keith Sinclair, 1959): NZ coll.: 1909; then historical.

red flag In to have (got) The red flag flying, to menstruate: C.19–20. (Hollander.) Rare in Britain since ca. 1930. Cf. red rag, 2.—2. See mount the red rag.

red flag at the mast-head. In dead earnest: RN coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. (Bowen.) Ex a single-flag signal enjoining either 'close action' or 'no quarter'.

red flannel. The tongue: low: C.19—early 20. Cf. red rag, 1.—2. Collective for high-ranking officers: army (not officers'): WW2 (Alan Moorehead, African Trilogy, 1944.) Ex the red bands on their hats and their red gorget patches. P-G-R.

red fustian. Red wine, esp. port or claret: c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E.—2. Porter: C.19. F. & H.

red hat. A staff officer: army: WW1. Ex red hat-band and tabs. Cf. the more gen. synon. brass hat.

red-headed. Zealous: Conway training-ship cadets': late C.19–20. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.

red-headed tea and bare-footed bread. Lenten fare: Anglo-Irish: C.20. Milk in tea and butter on bread being prohibited on the fast-days.

red heart. 'Redheart' rum; hence, any rum: London taverns': ca. 1870–1910. (Ware.) Coll. rather than s.

red-herring. A soldier: C.19. John L. Gardner, The Military Sketch-Book (I, 30 and 312), 1827 (Moe). Contrast soldier, a red herring.—2. A red-tabbed staff officer: army: late C.19—early 20.—3. See neither fish nor flesh.

red herring ne'er spake word but e'en, Broil my back, but not my weamb or womb (i.e. stomach). A c.p. of ca. 1670–1700. (The weamb form is dial.) Ray. (Apperson.)

red hot. 'Extreme; out-and-out' (C.J. Dennis): coll. >, by 1930, S.E.: late C.19–20. Not as, e.g., a red-hot socialist, but as that's red hot, that is! Wilkes clarifies the gloss: 'Extreme, unreasonable, "over the odds"', and quotes B., 1959, 'unfair, e.g. "a red-hot price"' Aus. coll.

red-hot poker. Penis: feminine: C.19–20.—2. In wouldn't touch it with a red-hot poker, Aus. coll. phrase indicative of extreme aversion: C.20. (B., 1942.) Cf. 'I wouldn't touch it with a barge-pole', or, more crudely, '... with yours'.

red-hot potato. See take a red-hot...

red-hot treat. An 'extremely dangerous person' (Ware): proletarian: late C.19—early 20.

red-hots, the. Trotting races: Aus. rhyming s., on 'the trots': since ca. 1920. (B.P.)

red incher. A red bull-ant: Aus. children's: C.20. Opp. black incher. (Some of these bull-ants are nearly an inch long.)

red ink. Blood: pugilistic: ca. 1840–90. Augustus Mayhew, Paved With Gold, 1857.—2. Red wine: military: WW1. F. & G.—3. In in red ink, having no pay forthcoming: RN: from ca. 1910. (Ibid.) Ex the notation in the ledger.

red inside (allee) same as Queen Victoria. A c.p., used of—and reputedly by—dark-skinned races: late C.19–20. I.e. a dark skin does not preclude moral merit. E.P. added, 1976: 'But + by ca. 1940. Anthony Burgess in TLS, 16 Oct. 1976, comments, "But Queen Victoria is as dead as Queen Anne": from the mere physiological sense, we're all "very dead" from the moment we die; in the world of history and literature, however, Queen Victoria has, ever since 1837, been a far more vital and important figure.' And to this may be added, pace E.P. and A.B., that at least as late as 1970, a well-known parody of the sales talk of any Oriental pimp was 'Hey, Johnny! You like my sister? She outside, all black; inside, all cherry-red, just like Queen Victoria—bloody good bloke!'—which has nothing to do with any moral merit, and may well be the orig. source of this entry (P.B.).

red kettle. Synon. with red toy.

Red Knights, The. The 22nd Regiment (in late C.19–20, the Cheshire Regt): military: from 1795, when served with red clothes instead of their proper uniform. Ob. F. & G.

red lamp. A brothel: coll.: late C.19–20. Ex US red light district.

Red (or Scarlet) Lancers, the. The 16th (in C.19, the Queen's) Lancers: military: C.19–20; very ob. They were the only lancers to wear a scarlet tunic.

red lane. The throat: coll.: late C.18–20. Grose, 1st ed.; 1812, Colman; ob. Also in dial.

red lead. Tomato juice: RN: since ca. 1925. Ex colour. Herrings in tomato sauce: RN lowerdeck: C.20. Granville.

Red Legs, the. The Melbourne Club football team: Melbourne: since ca. 1920. Also called The Red Demons. B., 1943.

Red Light News. See Whore's Gazette.

red-letter man. A Roman Catholic: coll.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Ex red-letter day and cf. red neck, q.v.

red line, v. 'To go up to the maximum recommended revolutions on a tachometer' (Dunford): motorcyclists' coll., verging on j.: later C.20.

red(-)liner. Ca. 1840–80, as in Mayhew's London Labour, II, 564, 'The Red Liners, as we call the Medicity officers, who goes about in disguise as gentlemen, to take up poor boys caught begging'. ?ex putting a red line under an offender's name. Augustus Mayhew, 1857, has var. red lioner.

red Lizzie (cf. red Biddy). 'About once a month he used to get drunk on Red Lisbon—a deadly and incalculable wine concocted of the squeezed-out scrapings of rotted port casks and laced with methylated spirits—a terrible drink... which smites the higher centres as with a sandbag. It is otherwise known as Lunatic's Broth or Red Lizzie' (Gerald Kersh, I Got References, 1939): low: since ca. 1930.

red lobsters. The original Metropolitan Police: Londoners': ca. 1830–60. Cf. raw lobster, q.v.

red lot. Gold watch and chain: c., and low: late C.19–20. See red, adj.

Red Lion Lane. See lane, 8.

red mare. See red steer.

Red Marines. The Royal Marine Light Infantry: RN coll.: C.19—early 20. (Bowen.) Ex their (former) red tunic.

Red Mike. See CANADIAN..., in Appendix.

red neck. A Roman Catholic: Northern (esp. Lancashire) coll. and dial.: C.19.—2. See red face.—3. Nickname for a Yarmouth fisherman: nautical: C.20. (D. Butcher, Driftermen, 1979, Glossary.) Cf. Duff-Choker and Pea Belly.

red-necked. Excessively martial, chauvinistic and 'hawkish':

adopted ex US ca. 1977. E.g., a report in the Listener, 9 Nov. 1978, on a USAF/RAF (simulated) nuclear bombing competition, described the prize-giving ceremony as taking place 'in a red-necked atmosphere'. (P.B.) red Ned. A cheap muscatel wine: Aus., esp. Sydney, and NZ: earlier C.20. (B., 1941.) In Aus., the orig. sense has > generalised to any 'rough red wine' (Alex Buzo, 1973).

red-nosed rooter. A port-maintopman: Conway cadets': 1890s. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.

red one. A town where the show has made a large profit: circusmen's: C.20. Contrast bloomer, 2.—2. See red 'un and cf. ruddock.

red onion. A railroad eating-house: Can. railroadmen's: —1931. Rough—and smelly.

red-penny man. See AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD . . . , in Appendix.

red petticoat. See lass in the red . . .

red pottage of Esau. 'Lentils cooked into a porridge-like mess' (Petch, 1946): domestic: C.20. Ex the Biblical Esau's 'mess of pottage'.

red rag. The tongue: low: later C.17—early 20. (Robert Dixon, Canidia, 1683; Grose; W.S. Gilbert, 1876.) Hence too much red rag, loquacious: low: from ca. 1840; and give the red rag a holiday, to be silent: also from: from ca. 1850. See also dish of red rag, abuse, and rag-box or -shop, mouth.—2. A menstrual cloth: low: C.19—20. Hence flash the red rag, to menstruate: id.—3. See mount the red rag.

red-ragger. A Communist: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (Dymphna Cusack, Southern Steel, 1953.) Ex the song 'The Red Flag'.

red recommend. 'A recommendation in red ink on a Service Certificate, much coveted by ambitious and zealous ratings' (Granville): RN lowerdeck coll.: C.20.

red ribbon. Brandy: ca. 1820—1910; orig. coll., from ca. 1850 app. c. (Egan's Grose.) Contrast red fustian.

red rogue. A gold coin: c.: C.17. (Fletcher, in The Mad Lover.) See red.

red-sail (yard) docker. A buyer of 'stores stolen out of the royal yards and docks' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. of ca. 1780—1840.

Red Sea men. Freebooters having Red Sea bases and operating against Red Sea and Indian Ocean trade: nautical coll.: C.19—early 20. Peppitt cites A. Winston, Pirates and Privateers, 1969.

red shank, red-shank, redshank. A duck: c.: mid-C.16—19. Harman, B.E., Grose.—2. A turkey: C.18. Ex the pool-snipe so named.—3. A woman wearing no stockings: Connaught coll.: ca. 1840—1920. (OED.) Ex the historical S.E. redshank.

Red Shield, the. Generic for clubs, particular for a club, conducted by the Salvation Army: Services' coll.: 1939+. (H. & P.) Ex the sign displayed.

red shirt. A back scarified with the cat-o'-nine-tails: Aus. c.: ca. 1820—70. B., 1942.

red steer, the. A bush fire: Aus. rural: late C.19—20. (Baker.) Also red mare (B., 1943). 'Cf. the Standard German der rote Hahn (the red cockerel), meaning "fire", usually in a phrase translatable as "putting the red cock on someone's roof"' (H.R. Spencer). Wilkes notes var. red bull.

red stuff. Gold articles: c.: late C.19—20. David Hume.

red tab. A staff officer: army: WW1+. (F. & G.) Ex distinguishing badges of appointment. Cf. the much more gen. synon. brass hat.

red tackle. A gold chain: c.: 1879, Macmillan's Magazine, 'I touched for a red toy . . . and red tackle.'

red tail. A writ: legal: late C.18—mid-19. Richard Brinsley Peake, The Haunted Inn, ca. 1820, at I, i: 'Bluff [a bailiff]: Remember, you have got the red tail'—Eti[quette]: Red tail?—Bluff: The writ—the writ.' Perhaps ex the red seal.

red tape. Red wine: c. of C.19. (Lyton in Paul Clifford.) Cf. red fustian, q.v.

red tie. Vulgarity: Oxford University coll.: ca. 1876—1900. Ware.

red toy. A gold watch: c.: 1879 (see quot'n at red tackle).

red-triangle man. A member of the YMCA: army coll.: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex the Association's badge.

red 'un. The OED instances red ones in C.16: prob. coll. But red 'un is c.: from ca. 1860. Gen., a gold coin and usu. a sovereign; occ. an object made of gold (Sims, Referee, 12 Feb. 1888); e.g. a gold watch: c. (—1864), as in H., 3rd ed. Cf. redding, q.v.—2. A red-tipped match: low eating-houses': C.20. Frank Jennings, Tramping, 1932.

red, white and blue. Cold salt beef: Conway cadets': late C.19—20. J. Masefield, The Conway, 1933.—2. A shoe: rhyming s.: later C.20. Haden-Guest, 1972.

red wings. Synon. and contemporaneous with red tab. F. & G.

redbreast. See red breast.—2. As the Redbreasts, the 5th Lancers, i.e. the Royal Irish: army: C.19—20, ob. Cf. Red Lancers.—3. The New South Wales Lancers: 1899 (OED); †.

Redbrick, generic for the provincial English (i.e. not Oxbridge, q.v.; or London) universities and university colleges, founded before WW2; also adj., as in 'the Redbrick universities': journalistic coll., dating from the late 1940s and, by 1955, S.E. redders. Red wine: Oxford undergraduates', since ca. 1920; then also, since ca. 1950, among the smart young set. (Gilderdale, 2.) By the 'OXFORD -ER(S)'. redding. A gold watch: c. of ca. 1860—1915. (H., 3rd ed.) A corruption of red 'un, q.v., perhaps influenced by dial. redding, oxide of iron, red ochre (EDD).

reddite. 'A jeweller. (One who handles gold)' (Tempest, 1950): c.: C.20. See red, n., 2.

Reddy An Italian: c., and low: C.20. Prob. ex red Italian wine; yet cf. Raddie.

redemptioner. A man that works his passage: nautical coll.: C.19. Bowen.

Redfern. A 'perfectly-fitting lady's coat or jacket': Society coll.: ca. 1879—1915. (Ware.) Ex a celebrated ladies' tailor.

—2. In getting off at Redfern, the practice of coitus interruptus: Sydneyites': since ca. 1950. Redfern is a railway station immediately before Sydney Central. (B.P.) Cf. get off at Hillgate, and see quot'n at Gateshead.

redge. See ridge. This spelling in Brandon; H., 1st ed.

redraw. A warder: low back s.:—1875. Greenwood, in Low-Life Deeps, 'Shying a lump of red oakum at the redraw'.

reds. Blushes: coll. and dial.: C.19—20.—2. The menses: mid-C.16—20; S.E. till C.18, then coll.; almost †.—3. Fleas: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—4. Full-dress uniform: army coll.: ca. 1860—1914. (S.E. Burrow, Friend or Foe, 1912.) P.B.: obviously, ex the colour; cf. the modern army's use, since ca. 1950, of blues for the later full-dress uniform.—5. as the Reds, the Redemptorists: Catholics', esp. in Aus.; but this sense does occur in James Joyce, Ulysses, 1922: C.20.—6. As the Reds, the Russians—i.e. the Russian Communists: since—1917 or 1918. In later C.20, applied to communists in general, as in Reds under the bed. Applied orig., in US under the anti-Communist witch-hunt of Sen. J. McCarthy, 1950s, to excessive suspicion of 'Red' influence: soon adopted in Brit. and used, as a c.p., for any excessively suspicious attitude, esp. in 1970s. (R.S., 1975.)

redshank. See red shank.

reduce. To take (someone) down a peg; Shrewsbury: 1938+. (Marples.) I.e. 'cut him down to size.'

redundant. Impertinent: City of London: 1899—1900. (Ware.) Ex a phrase by Horatio Bottomley.

redwop. Powder: back s.: from ca. 1890. Collinson.

ree-raw. See re-raw.

reeb. Beer: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). This is one piece of back s. that has lasted: Powis, 1977, notes its current use in London.

reef, n. In let out a reef (or two), to undo a button or so, esp. after a meal: from ca. 1870: nautical > gen. Baumann.—2. In need a reef taken in, to be drunk: from ca. 1880: id.

reef, v. 'To draw up a dress-pocket until a purse is within reach of the fingers' (F. & H.): c.: from ca. 1860. Ex nautical S.E.—2. Hence, simply to steal: Aus.: C.20. (Rats, 1944.) Cf. reef it off in lumps.

'To extract large sums of money from someone' (B., 1959): Aus.: since ca. 1920. An elab. of-reef off. To take (money) from (a person): Aus. racing: since ca. 1910. (Lawson Glassop, 1949.) Cf. prec. and reef, v., 2.

reefer. A midshipman: nautical:—1818 (Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome). Because, says Smyth, he has to 'attend to the tops during the operation of taking in reefs' (OED).—2. 'A pickpocket's accomplice' (Baker): Aus. c.: since ca. 1910. Ex reef, v.—3. A marijuana cigarette: orig. c., adopted ex US ca. 1935; by mid-C.20 widespread in drugs world, hence > gen.—4. A refrigerator wagon: Can. railroadmen's: adopted —1931, ex US.—5. (Or Reefer). An inhabitant of—or one who is familiar with—the Great Barrier Reef: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1925. Jean Devanney, Travels in North Queensland, 1951.

reek. Money: c.: early C.19. ?ex reepenny.

Reekie. See Auld Reekie.

reel, n. dance the reel ...

reeler. A policeman: c.:—1879; ob. by 1930. Presumably on peeler, q.v.—2. Esp. in cop a reeler, to get drunk: low: ca. 1920–40. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937.

reeling, n. Feeling (gen. pl): rhyming s.:—1909 (Ware.)

reefs of cotton. Rotten: rhyming s.: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

reely. Tippy: coll. (—1933); not at all common. (William Juniper, The True Drunkard's Delight, 1933.) Cf. reeler, 2.

Reemy or Reemee. The Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers (formed in 1942): Services' (esp. Army) coll. of 1942–3, then j. Ex the initials R.E.M.E. Also the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers: Can. coll. > j. 'In spite of the C' (Leechman). P.B.: occ., esp. at first, by an 'inevitable' rhyme, the dreamy Reemy.

reener. A coin (less, app., than a florin): tramps' c.: from ca. 1890. P.H. Emerson, 1893, 'The old man never give her a reener.' ?deaner corrupted.

reesbin. A gaol: tramps' c., and tinkers' s. verging on c.: 1845, ref. in 'No. 747' (p. 413). Prob. direct ex Shelta.

ref, n. A reformer: political:—1909; ob. by 1950. Ware.—2. A referee: sporting: C.20.—3. A reference (as to ability, etc.): commercial: 1907 (P.G. Wodehouse, Not George Washington).—4. A refractory: mostly religious Orders': mid-C.19–20.

ref, v. To referee (a match): coll.: C.20. Ex the n., 2.

refained or refayned. Excessively refined and genteel: cultured coll.: since ca. 1920. Ex a 'refained' pron. of refined.

refec. Refectory: Birmingham undergraduates':—1940. Marples, 2.

reffo. A refugee from Europe: Aus.: 1939+ . (B., 1942.) Cf. the American refujew, refugee Jew. (Usu. in pl.) '... later called "Balts" (after Baltic States)' (Barry Humphries, Nice Night's Entertainment, 1981, gloss.): Aus.: mid-C.20.

refill, have a. To have an inflation, in the artificial-pneumothorax treatment of TB: patients': since ca. 1930. Cf. have a pneumo.

refresh, n. A refreshment, esp. of liquor: coll., verging now on s.: from ca. 1884. Ex refresher.—2. A 'horizontal' (meal): C.20. Manchon.

refresh, v.i. To take refreshments: C.20. (Manchon.) Ex the n., 1.

refresher. A drink: coll.: 1841 (T. Hook: OED). Cf. the pun in 'As a rule barristers don't object to refreshers' (Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday, 3 Aug. 1889). Cf. pick-me-up.

refreshes the parts that other (something) cannot reach. Orig., 'Heineken [lager]. Refreshes the parts that other beers cannot reach', an advertising slogan in use since 1975, accompanying a series of humorous illustrations. But wide open to double entendre, which of course is part of its strength as a slogan, and so, without ref. to Heineken, and sometimes with reaches for refreshes, it soon >, if not a c.p., at least a widely recognised and much plagiarised pattern. See DCpp. (P.B.)

Reg, n. A senior cadet: Sandhurst: from ca. 1860. (Major A. Mockler-Ferryman, Annals of Sandhurst, 1909.) Opp. John, a junior; ex Reginald with pun on L. rex, a king.—2. As reg, a sticker for discipline: army: earlier C.20. P-G-R.

reg., adj. Regular; according to regulations: Guardsmen's: since ca. 1920.

reg. duck-egg. An egregious '0': cricketers': late C.19–20. Ware.

reg rooker. A fine fellow: S. African c.: C.20. (C.P. Wittstock, 1946.) See rooker; with reg, cf. Dutch regaal, 'royal'.

regardless. See got up, 2; press on regardless.

regent. 'Half a sovereign' (coin): ca. 1820–60. (Sinks, 1848.) By a not despicable pun.

Reggie. The Regimental Sergeant Major: since ca. 1919. 'Watch it!, here comes Reggie.' Not in his hearing. For a fine 'portrait' of an RSM, see Hugh Kimber, Prelude to Calvary, 1938. Cf. later synon. Tara.—2. A registered customer: home front civilians': 1940+. New Statesman, 30 Aug. 1941.

reggie or reggy (hard gs), adj. Regimental; intensively, dead reggie: RAF: since ca. 1930. P.B.: also army (with soft g); esp. 1950s. The term covered anything excessively military, from discipline in a training barracks, to the 'khaki-brained' attitudes of an individual soldier.

regiment. See how long ... ?

regimental, n. A downfall: army: from 1916. Esp. come a regimental, 'to be court-martialled and reduced to the ranks' (F. & G.). Sc. smash. Cf. proverbial, the, q.v.—2. A 'mess', a 'balls-up'; a signal failure: Londoners': from 1919. 'Oh, I made a regimental of the whole bloody thing'. Short for regimental fuck-up: C.20. Also synon. regulation. Ex sense 1, via demobbed Servicemen.—3. As the Regimental, the Regimental as opp. to the Company Sergeant-Major: army coll.: earlier C.20. F. & G.

regimental as a button-stick (, as). Rigidly 'regimental' (cf. reggie, adj.): army: C.20. A button-stick is that brass or plastic oblong baffle, with a slit in the middle lengthways, that enabled a man to metal-polish his brass buttons without soiling the cloth of the uniform to which they were attached. (L. A., 1976.)

regimental fire. A volley of cheers: military: from ca. 1860. B. & L. rightly confine it to some particular but unspecified regiment.

regimental sports. Coal-carrying fatigues: army ironic: late C.19—early 20. F. & G. Cf. Board of Trade sports.

Reginald Denny. 'A penny. London lad made good in Hollywood, thus commemorated' (Red Daniells, 1980): rhyming s. Denny (1891–1967) acted in many films ca. 1920–50.

regional of rejoicing, the. 'Joy attendant upon success in the schools' (Spy, 1825): Oxford University: ca. 1815–60.

register. See TAVERN TERMS, §5, in Appendix; out of register.

rego (soft g). Registration of a motor vehicle: Aus.: since ca. 1945. 'The rego is up'—expired—'next month.' (B.P.) regs. Regulations, as in King's Regs: Services, orig. and mainly army: since ca. 1870.

regular, n. One who quits a pleasure party at 11 or 12 at night: ca. 1830–65. (Sinks, 1848.) With a sneer—or perhaps a laugh—at regular, sober habits. Cf.:—2. A drink taken at a fixed hour: coll.: from ca. 1850.

regular, adj. Thorough, absolute; perfect: coll.: 1821, Shelley, 'A regular conjuror' (OED); 1850, Smedley, 'A regular sell'; 1888, Cornhill Magazine, March.—2. As adv., C.18–20: S.E. till C.20, then sol.

regular breeze. A heated argument: RN: ca. 1830–1920. Peppitt cites F.W. Mant, The Midshipman, 1876 (in re 1840s). The intensive regular.

regular Callao. A free-and-easy ship lax of discipline: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

regular crow. A great success: proletarian:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. crow, n., 1, unexpected luck.

regular nuisances or, oftener, pests. Time-expired Regular Army men: Kitchener's Army: WW1. 'Many of these ex-regulators worked as Base wallahs or on lines of communication' and, among non-regulars, tended to throw their weight about. A pun on Regular Army and regular, thoroughgoing. (Petch, 1966.)

regular tradesman. Anyone thoroughly understanding his business or occupation: proletarian coll.: mid-C.19–20; ob. B. & L. regularly. Thoroughly; wholly: coll: 1789 ('Regularly dissipated': OED). Cf. regular, adj.

regulars. A division of booty: c.: from ca. 1810. (Lex Bal.; Vaux; Moncrieff; 'No. 747'. Abbr. regular share(s)). regulated, be. To go through the Press Gang's perfunctory medical examination: naval coll.: ca. 1750–1840. Bowen. regulation. See regimental, 2. regulator. The female pudend: low coll.: late C.18–19. Prob. ex the S.E. sense, a regulating power or principle (1766, OED).

rehab. A rehabilitation ward or department in a hospital: since ca. 1945. Ex the official abbreviation rehab.—2. A rehabilitation loan: NZ servicemen's: since ca. 1944. Slatter, 'Rehab was the caper, you jokers'.

rehoboam. A shovel hat: coll. of ca. 1845–70. C. Bronte, 1849.—2. A quadruple magnum, a double jeroboam, gen. of champagne: from ca. 1860; in C.20, informal S.E.

reign, n. A period of wrongdoing; a successfully criminal period out of gaol: c.: from ca. 1810. (Vaux; Egan's Grose.) Cf. the v.—2. The period during which the spinner operates: Aus. two-up-players': C.20. B., 1953.

reign, v. To be at liberty, esp. at profitable liberty: Aus. c. >, by 1910, gen. c.: late C.19–20. James Spenser, Limey Breaks In, 1934, 'Full-time crooks don't "reign" long.' Ex prec., 1. reign of Queen Dick. See Queen Dick, 1.

reinstoushment. A reinforcement: Aus. army: 1916+. See stoush.

Rekker. See Recker.

relation. A pawnbroker: Londoners': ca. 1845–1900. (Mayhew, II, 1851.) Suggested by synonym uncle, q.v.

relations (or country cousins) have come, her. She is in her menstrual period: lower classes' c.p.: mid-C.19–20. Manchon (les Anglais ont débarqué).

reliever. An old coat usable by all (the workmen): ca. 1845–1900. Kingsley.

relieving officer (rarely a). One's father, because he pays one's debts: 1857 (G. Lawrence: OED). Granville-Murray, 1883, 'The Relieving Officer, or... the "R.O."', was a term of endearment which [he], in common with other young noblemen and gentlemen at Eton, applied to his father.' Ob. by ca.1930.

religion. See get religion.

religious. (Of a horse) apt to go down on his knees: late C.18–mid-19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Cf. devotional habits and contrast the old West American religious applied to horses: free from vice.

religious painter. 'One who does not break the commandment which prohibits the making of the likeness of any thing in heaven or earth, or in the waters under the earth' (Grose, 2nd ed.): ca. 1780–1820. Either a little joke of Grose's or painters' s.,—he was a painter and draughtsman (see Grose, P.).

relish. Coition with a woman: low: C.19 (Lex Bal.) Cf. greens, 5.—2. As the Relish, (the sign of the) Cheshire Cheese: late C.18–mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed.

relish all waters. See TAVERN TERMS, §2, in Appendix.

reload. 'To ensnare a "mug" by letting him think he is winning (at the three-card trick, for example) or has gained a smallish profit or advantage (in a confidence trick, for example) and then, while he is in the mood of false confidence and with his appetite whetted, to cheat him of all he possesses, or as the term has it "to send him to the cleaners"' (Powis): c.: later C.20.

rem-in-re, esp. be caught with. Copulation, esp. be taken in the act of: low: from ca. 1860; ob. Lit., a thing in a thing. remedy. A sovereign (coin): c.: ?mid-C. 18–early 19. (F. & H.) Ex the technical S.E. remedy, the permissible variation of weight in coins (also called tolerance).

remedy-critch. A chamber-pot: late C.18–early 19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) A critch=any earthenware vessel; remedy, because therewith discomfort is remedied.

remember a face. See I never remember...

remember Belgium! A c.p. (1915–18) heard, among soldiers, 'with ironic and bitter intonations in the muddy wastes of the Salient' (B. & P.). Ex the famous enlistment-poster: cf. Kitchener wants you, q.v.

remember I'm your mother and get up those stairs! A military c.p. of WW1. B. & P. remember Parson Mallum (or Meldrum, Malham, or Melham)! See Parson Mallum.

remember Pearl Harbor! (often prec. by don't panic, or joc. var. don't picnic). Aus. WW2 equivalent of remember Belgium. See Dcpp.

remember the girl who went out to buy a knick-knack and came back with a titbit. A low-punning Can. c.p. of ca. 1935–55. On with a tit (nipple) bit(ten).

remember there's a war on! See there's a war on.

Remf. 'The base camp of a unit moving forward was known as its "echelon". Hence those who never went to the front line, but stayed with the echelon were known as "Remfs" or Rear Echelon Mother Fuckers' (McGowan & Hands, Don't Cry for Me, 1983); Fighting Forces': Falkland Is. campaign, 1982. The US influence is clear here.

remi. A holiday: Westminster School: from ca. 1860. Ex remedy in that sense.

reminisce. To relate reminiscences, esp. if freely: coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex the joc. reminisce, v.i. and t., to recollect, + reminiscences.

remish. Remission (of sentence); prisons': since ca. 1920. Norman.

remit. A remittance (dispatch) of money: Aus.: late C.19–20. W. Sorley Brown, The Life and Genius of T.W.H. Crosland, 1928; cited as a word often used by Phil May, who died in 1903.

remnants. See man of remnants.

remount, gen. pl. A woman for export as a harlot, esp. to Argentina: white-slave traffickers' c.: C.20. (Londres.) Hence on remount service, (of a white-slaver) engaged in procuring fresh women. Ex such terms as remount depot, of cavalry horses.

removal. A murder: political: 1883–5. (Ware.) Ex a witness's euph. in the Phoenix Park, Dublin, assassination case.

render, v.i. (Of any mechanical thing) to act; to work properly: Services' coll.: from ca. 1915. (F. & G.) Ex nautical j. render, as applied esp. to a rope. 'A rope is said to render or not, according as it goes freely through any place' (R.H. Dana, 1841: OED). Cf. ackle.

Renee. 'Recording their new album Rocking with the Renees (... Renee is a Mod [q.v.] term for a girlfriend)' (review in Guardian, 28 Mar. 1983).

rent, n. Plunder: c.: late C.18–mid-19. Implied in Grose's collector, q.v.—2. Money; cash: lower classes': late C.19–earlier 20. F. & G.—3. Blackmail: since ca. 1920; by 1965, ob. Compton Mackenzie, Thin Ice, 1956.—4. A male always, or nearly always, charging for his homosexual services: homosexual: since ca. 1930 (?much earlier). He earns his rent in this way. Hence, and usu., and adj., as in 'Be careful of that one, he's rent' (he will ask payment). Contrast trade, and cf. rent boy.—5. In collect rent, to rob on the highway: c.: late C.18–mid-19. See rent-collector, and 1. Also in Bee, 1823.—6. In pay (someone) his rent, to punish: coll.: C.14–(?)16. S. Oliphant's New English, n.d.—7. See rents.

rent boy. A boy hiring himself out to homosexuals: homosexuals': since ca. 1970. (A correspondent, 1970; Time Out, 23 May 1980.) Cf. rent, 4; rent guardsman; renter.

rent-collector. A highwayman, esp. one who fancies money only: c.: (?late C.18–)early 19. (Bee.) Cf. rent, 1 and 5.

rent guardsman. A soldier—hence, any other man—consenting to homosexual practices for money: 'gay' society: since ca. 1950.

renta- Prefix applied first in such terms as rentacrowd or rentamob, where it = 'a crowd of people specially assembled at a political demonstration, to impress the authorities'; these people are alleged to be unlikely to be emotionally engaged, merely a hired claque: coll.: since late 1960s. Ex such commercial usages as 'Rentavan' the name of a hired, 'drive-it-yourself', van company, and 'Rentavilla', for holiday accommodation. The prefix has subsequently been attached to many other objects, as in 'The reply was just another Downing Street rentamissive' (Guardian, 25 June 1982), where it means that the letter was impersonal and, by implication, unhelpful. (P.B.) renter. One who, not a prostitute (female or male), sells casual sexual or homosexual favours for money or presents: low life: since late C.19. Mr C.E. Kemp cites a letter from Max Beerbohm, ca. 1895, in Lord David Cecil, Max, 1964. Cf. rent, 4.

rents (in C.17, rent) coming in. Ragged; dilapidated: a punning coll. c.p. of C.17–mid-18. Withals, 1616, "'That hath his rent come in'" (OED); Swift, Polite Conversation, Dialogue I, 'I have torn my Petticoat with your odious Rumping; my Rents are coming in; I'm afraid, I shall fall into the Ragman's Hands.'

reo (usu. in pl reos). Reinforcements: Aus. army: 1939+. (Rats, 1944.) By abridgement + the Aus. suffix -o. Cf. reinstatement.

rep, n. Reputation: coll.: ca. 1705–50 (extant in US). Shippery, 'Upon rep' (OED); D'Urfev, 'Dames of rep'; Fielding. Hence, as asseveration, on or 'pon or upon (one's) rep, on one's word of honour, lit. on one's reputation: coll.: earlier C.18. Swift, 'Do you say it upon Rep?' Cf. 10.—2. Hence, a man (ob.) or woman († by 1850) of loose morals: coll.: 1747 (Hoadly; OED). Here, rep is ex reprobate (W.), influenced by rep, 1, and suggested by demi-rep, q.v.—3. Hence, a worthless or inferior object: coll.: 1786, Wolcot, 'The fiddle ... though what's vulgarly baptiz'd a rep' (OED). Very ob.—4. A repetition (lesson): school s., esp. at Harrow: from ca. 1860. Anstey. At Charterhouse, esp.: poetry as repetition: late C.19–20. Cf. prep, q.v.: W.—5. A repertory theatre; gen. the Rep, a specific theatre, or the Reps, the world of repertory: mainly theatrical: from ca. 1920. See esp. Ivor Brown's 'The "Reps"' in New Statesman, 15 Dec. 1934.—6. A reprimand: army (esp. NCOs): C.20. (Gerald Kersh, They Die with their Boots Clean, (1941.) Cf. severe dig or rep.—7. A politician, athlete, cricketer representing a State: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942. Cf.—8. A trade-union representative: trade-unionists': since ca. 1920. Vance Palmer, Goconda, 1948.—9. A firm's representative, a mealy-mouthed ol' (commercial) traveller: since mid-C.20; hence, since ca. 1960, a firm's trouble-shooter. Cf. universities' the God rep, the chaplain.—10. A crook or a convict, having status; c., hence low s.: since ca. 1950. (Angus Hall, On the Run, 1974.) Ex 1, 'reputation', which has been revived in C.20 in the nuance 'a good, a great, reputation'.

rep, v. To act as a representative, esp. for a commercial firm: coll.: since mid-C.20. See n., 9.

repaint, n. 'Any retired Naval officer called back to the Service in time of war or national emergency' (Granville): RN: WW2. Cf. earlier dug out, and retread. P.B.: applied earlier to army officers in WW1 (Blaker).

repairs. See no repairs.

reparty. A repartee: Society: 1874–ca. 90. (Ware.) Satirical.

repat, n. and adj. Repatriate, repatriation; repatriated: coll.: since ca. 1941. Brickhill & Norton, Escape to Danger, 1946, 'Typical of the repat boys was "Chuck" Lock.' Cf. expat.

repeaters. As in 'It gives me the repeaters' (of food): Aus. coll.: C.20. (Ruth Park, 1980.) Cf. the genteel 'onions do repeat so', although here the sense is often rather that their taste lingers, than that they are 'windy'.

repentance curl. The English society form of the curl known in Fr. as repentir: 1863–ca. 90. Ware.

reporter. A (hair-trigger) pistol: coll., mostly Irish, verging on S.E.; † by 1910. (Jonah Barrington, 1827.) Ex the suddenness of the report.

reposer. A final drink; a nightcap: coll.: from ca. 1870. (Repose-inducing.)

repository. A lock-up, a gaol: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 1785.

republic of letters, the. The Post-Office: ca. 1820–50. (Bee.) Punning S.E. sense.

repulsive. Unpleasant; dull: Society: 1930, Evelyn Waugh, Vile Bodies, 'Isn't this a repulsive party?'

res. A restaurant; as in a British res, one of the British Restaurants (excellent public canteens set up in the mid-1940s): later 1940s. (Josephine Bell, The Summer School Mystery, 1950.) Cf. rest, n., 1. rescrub. To do (a job) over again: RN: C.20. Granville.

residential club. A usual assemblage of idlers, esp. those frequenting the British Museum for warmth or shelter: joc. coll. verging on S.E.; from ca. 1890; ob., as (thanks be!) is the practice.

resin. 'Liquor given to musicians at a party' (B., 1942): Aus.: C.20. Cf.:

resin up. To smarten up (a man) at his work: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex resining a fiddle-bow.

Resistance, the. Harley Street: taxi-drivers': 1948. Ex the medical profession's opposition to the Aneurin Bevan health-plan. On the analogy of La Résistance, the Resistance Movement in France (1940–4). Cf. the Occupied Territory, Bayswater (London): taxi-drivers': 1947–9. Ex the large number of foreigners there, and on enemy-occupied territory. Both terms were recorded in the London Evening News, 19 Mar. 1948.—2. That part of West Hampstead which contains numerous Germans, whether residents or lodgers: since late 1930s, by which time many Germans had removed themselves from a 'Hitlerised' Germany they deplored.

reso. A residential, i.e. a boarding-house for permanent guests: Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.) Residential + the ubiquitous Aus. s. suffix -o.—2. A working-residential boat, with living accommodation: canalmen's: since ca. 1920. Peppitt cites D.D. Gladwin, The Canals of Britain, 1973.

responsible, n. A sensible actor able to take the lead: theatrical coll.: since ca. 1870. Jerome K. Jerome, On the Stage—and Off, 1885 (p.91); Ware.

respun; occ. rispin. To steal: tinkers' s., bordering on c.: from ca. 1850. ?origin. Just possibly ex or cognate with Scots risp, to rasp, to file.

rest, n. A restaurant: urban:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. res.—2. A year's imprisonment: Aus. c.: C.20. (Baker.) Hence resting, (of a person) 'in gaol'.—3. See and the rest.

rest, v. To arrest: mid-C. 15–20: S.E. until C.19, then dial. and low coll.

rest and be thankful, the. The female pudend: C.19–early 20.

rest camp. A cemetery: army: later WW1. (B. & P.) Ex military j. rest (one's) eyes. To have a short sleep: semi-joc., usu. evasive, coll.: C.20. A clerk surprised sleeping, 'Sorry! I was just resting my eyes' (Petch, 1966).

resting. Out of work: theatre, music-hall: since late C.19; by ca. 1920, coll.—2. See rest, n., 2, and prec.

result. 'Favourable answer to adjudication/petition/parole' (Home Office): prisoners' coll.: later C.20. A specialisation of the S.E.—2. "'Get a result" [is] a current term meaning to secure one's objective. It was originally footballers', a "result" being a win or a draw ...; then was taken up by the police for getting a conviction. From there, via TV series about the police, it has recently been generally adopted' (R. Barltrop, in a letter, about London, 1981).

result of a lark in the park after dark, the. A pregnancy; the resultant child: raffish: ca. 1930–50. (Petch, 1974.)

results. News of sports results: journalistic coll.: from ca. 1921.

resurrection. See resurrection-pie.

resurrection-bolly. Beefsteak pudding: preparatory schools': late C.19–20. E.F. Benson, David Blaize, 1916.

resurrection-cove. A body-snatcher: low: ca. 1810–95. Vaux; Baumann.

resurrection-jarvey. A nocturnal hackney-coachman: ca. 1820–60. Westmacott (OED).

resurrection(-pie). A dish made from remains: from ca. 1864: coll. till C.20, then S.E.: orig. and esp. a schoolboys' term. H., 3rd ed.

Resurrectionists, the. The Buffs, i.e. the East Kent Regiment: from 1811, when, at Albuera, they rallied after a severe dispersal by the Polish Lancers. Ob. (F. & G.) Cf.:—2. 'A great number of "resurrectionists" turned up [later] (men who did not return to camp with their companies [after a battle], and were reported killed or missing)' (T. Gowing, A Soldier's Experience, 1885): army in Crimea: mid-1850s. (P.B.) reswort. Trousers: back s.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.).

ret. A reiteration in printing; printers':—1874 (H., 5th ed.).

retired gremlin. It wears a yellow hat and a fancy waistcoat, and behaves in a Blimpish manner: RAF: 1940–5. (P-G-R.) See gremlin, 1, also Appendix.

retired to stud. (Of a woman who has) married: Aus. joc.: since late 1940s. (B.P.)

retread (or re-tread). A 1914–18 soldier serving in 1939–45: Aus.: WW2. B., 1943.—2. A short-service officer on a second commission; but usu. any officer retired and then recalled to the service: FAA: 1950s. (Peppitt.) But I think since ca. 1943 or 1944.—3. A retired officer re-employed by the Army, as a civilian, in an administrative post, e.g. as adjutant of a small static unit: army officers': since ca. 1950. (Brig. Pat Hayward, 1979.)—4. 'An officer who's been promoted from the rank [sic]' (New Society, 24 Apr. 1980): army: later C.20.—5. 'Aviator returned to flying duties after ground tour' (Strong & Hart-Davis, Fighter Pilot, 1981): RAF: later C.20.—6. A retired schoolteacher still teaching: Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.) The orig. of all these senses lies in the car-trade j.: a used tyre given new life by the application of new treads. But there is also the pun, retired = re-tyred, in each instance. Cf. repaint, q.v.

Retreat from Moscow, the. The exodus from Britain to Eire, in late 1946 and throughout 1947–8, in order to escape ruinous taxation, short rations and general totalitarianism. First used in Eire in March or April 1947, it 'caught on' in Britain on or about 12 May (1947). With an allusion to Napoleon's retreat in 1812 and to Russia's bedazzlement of British socialists.

retriever. A 'verser' (q.v.): local c. of ca. 1592. Greene.

retsio. An oyster: back s.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.).

return home. (Of a convict) to be released on ticket-of-leave: police coll.: C.20 Charles E. Leach, 1933.

return the other cheek. Instead of 'turning the other cheek' to return—or give—the other 'cheek' or impudence: since ca. 1955. (Petch, 1966.)

returned empty. A Colonial bishop returning to, and gen. taking up a post in, Britain: Church: from ca. 1890. (Much the same sort of feeling prevailed regarding those who, having held professorships in the Dominions, sought jobs in England.) Ex rolling-stock—or bottles in the liquor trade.—2. See fishing fleet.

reune. To hold a reunion: 1929 (E.W. Springs: OED Sup.).

Rev. Form of address to a clergyman: non-aristocratic, non-educated: C.20. Richard Llewellyn, None But the Lonely Heart, 1943.—2. (As rev. and usu. pl.) An engine's revolution: Air Force: 1914. (F. & G.) P.B.: but prob. engineers' j. before then.

rev, v.i. To circle rapidly in the air: Air Force: WW1. F & G.—2. To pray: Cranbrook School: C.20. Prob. ex reverence.—3. As v.t., a shortening of:- rev up. To increase the revolutions of (an engine): from ca. 1916: coll. >, by 1930, S.E. Also v.i., of the engine. OED Sup.

revenge in lavender. A vengeance reserved: coll. bordering on S.E.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.; Grose.) See lavender and cf. rod in pickle.

reverence. See sir reverence.

Reverend Ronald Knox. The pox: rhyming s.: mid-C.20. 'Or just The Reverend or the Right Reverend' (Red Daniels, 1980). Cf. synon. Collie Knox; Nervo and Knox. Ronald Knox (1888–1957), Catholic priest and sometime domestic prelate to the Pope, won fame as a writer—perhaps, for the layman, mainly by his detective stories.

reversed ear. That 'naval disease' which is caused by wearing 'dry' hoods, the pressure inside exceeding the pressure outside: skin divers': since ca. 1950. (Granville.) review of the black cuirassiers. A visitation by the clergy: late C.18—early 19. (Grose, 1785.) Ex priestly black and shining crosses and/or crucifixes. Cf. crow fair.

reviver. A drink (rarely of non-intoxicants): orig. Society: 1876, Besant & Rice, 'It was but twelve o'clock and therefore early for revivers of any sort.' Cf. refresher, q.v.

revlis. Silver: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).

revo. Revolution: Aus.: since ca. 1945. B., 1953.

revolush, v.i. To revolt: South Seas Lingua Franca: mid-C.19–20. (South Sea Bubbles, by the Earl and the Doctor, 1872.) Ex revolution.

revved(-)up, often prec. by all. Very much excited; very tense: since ca. 1960. The opposite of relaxed. (Petch, 1966.) Of machines, esp. motor cars and bicycles.

reward. 'Dogs' or hounds' supper': kennels' s.: C.19–20. (B. & L.) Ex S.E. sense, entrails given to hounds imm. after the kill.

rewrite. A virtual re-writing of another person's book: publishers' coll.:—1933 (Slang, p. 181) Ex the v.

r'ghoglin or gogh'leen. To laugh: Shelta: C.18–20. B. & L. rhetorician. See TAVERN TERMS, §3d, in Appendix.

rheumatic dodge. The gaining of sympathy—and alms—by a pretence of (acute) rheumatism: c.:—1887 (Baumann).

rheumatically. Afflicted with rheumatism: coll.: from ca. 1850.

rheumatics; often the r. Rheumatism: late C.18–20: coll.: from ca. 1890, considered increasingly low coll.; indeed, in C.20, it ranks as a sol. Ex the adj. Cf. rheumatiz and rheumatically.

rheumatise. See rheumatiz.

rheumatism in the shoulder. Arrest: low: from ca. 1820; ob. (Egan's Grose.) Esp. have r. in the s., to be arrested.

rheumatiz, r(h)umatiz; occ. (esp. until ca. 1830) rheumatise or -ize, or rheumatis (Baumann). Rheumatism: dial. and low coll. (in C.20, a sol.): 1760, Foote, 'My old disorder, the rheumatise' (OED).

Rhine. See trip up the Rhine.

rhino; occ. rimo, ryno, but not after C.18. Money: 1688 (Shadwell); B.E.; Grose; Barham. C. until ca. 1820, then low s. >, ca. 1870, gen. s. Often ready rhino: cf. ready, q.v. Origin problematic. In Malaya, long ago, the rhinoceros was almost 'worth its weight in gold' to those opportunists who converted every part of a slain rhinoceros into aphrodisiacs and sold packets at very high prices, to Chinese mandarins, who placed great faith in them. The c., s. and coll. synonyms are too numerous to list,—see F. & H. at rhino and H. at pp. 61–5.—2. Rhinoceros: coll. abbr.: 1884 (SOD).—3. Cheese: military: from ca. 1910. (F. & G.) Ex the all too prominent rind.—4. An outboard-engined raft: Combined Operations: June 1944.

rhino-arse. A large, long, tough bread roll having cheese in the middle and issued on OTC field days: Rugby School: since ca. 1910.

rhino-fat. Rich: C.19. Ex rhino; suggested by rhinocerial; cf.: rhinocerial. Rich: from ca. 1860. (H., 2nd ed.) See rhino; abbr. cf.: rhinocerial. Rich: c. until C.19, then s.; † by 1860. (Shadwell, B.E., Grose.) As Shadwell has both rhino and rhinocerial in 1688, the latter may well be the origin of the former. See rhino.

Rhodesian Army. For terms used during the civil conflict that preceded the establishment of Zimbabwe, see RHODESIAN, in Appendix.

rhodie, -y. A Rhode Island Red fowl or chicken: coll.: late C.19–20. Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976.—2. (Also as rhodo.) A rhododendron: 'nursery' and familiar coll.: C.20. Cf. rodgy.

Rhondda Valley, the. 'Special name for the "Burma Road" (central alleyway) on HMS Glamorgan, now general on missile cruisers: Royal Navy: 1970s' (Peppitt).

Rhondda'd, be. (Of things) to be lost: 1918–early 19: mostly Army officers'. Ex Lord Rhondda, the food controller (1917) who died for his country. W.

rhubarb. A loan: dockers': late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Perhaps derives from the illiterate pron. rhubarb, a 'sub' (or loan). —2. Genitals, male or, occ., female: low: late C.19–20. E.g. 'How's your rhubarb, missis?' or 'How's your rhubarb coming up, Bill?'—3. See next entry.—4. A rumpus, a 'row'; a loud, confused noise; noises off, esp. those of the mob: theatrical: late C.19–20. See note at 'RHUBARB', in Appendix.—5. Hence, nonsense; 'Sometimes the word is used three times thus, "Rhubarb, rhubarb, rhubarb" as emphasis. (From the muttering of actors when simulating the sound of a crowd)' (Powis): coll.: later C.20. Occ. 'That's a load of rhubarb!' (P.B.).—6. (Pron. rhubub.) Sub, abbr. of suburbs: rhyming s.: earlier C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming, which also confirms deriv. of 1. rhubarb pill. A bill (for payment): late C.19. 'The inference is that both necessitate an outpouring' (Franklyn, Rhyming). Often abbr. rhubarb, as is:—2. A hill: rhyming s.: late C.19–20.

rhumatiz. See rheumatiz.

rhyme if you take it in time, a. See that's a rhyme...

rhyme-slinger. A poet: coll.: from ca. 1850.

ri. See lep.

riah. Hair: back s.: esp. in the 'gay' world: since mid-C.20 (?earlier). Noted in the glossary of Barry Took & Marty Feldman, Round the Horne, 1974 (scripts from mid-1960s); in Bruce Rodgers, The Queens' Vernacular, 1972, riha [sic] is glossed 'Brit. gay slang, a garbling' head hair.'

rib, n. As 'wife', S.E.; but see crooked rib.

rib, v. To make fun of; pull someone's leg, as 'They ribbed him something rotten [= very badly]': orig. Cockney (and Can.) since ca. 1925, >, by ca. 1945 gen. Michael Harrison, Reported Safe Arrival, 1943.—2. To swindle: Aus. c.: since ca. 1930. B., 1942.

rib-baste or, much more gen., -roast. To thrash: coll.: resp. late C.16–17, late C.16–20, ob. Occ. a n., with var. rib-roasting, -basting. Gascoigne, 'I hope to give them al a rybbe to roste for their paynes'; Smollett, 'He knew he should be rib-roasted every day, and murdered at last'; H., 1874, 'Ribroast... Old; but still in use.' Cf. next two entries.

rib-bender or -roaster; occ. rib of roast; ribber. A punch on the ribs: boxing: from ca. 1810; the 2nd and 3rd, very ob. Tom Moore has ribber, 'Cuthbert Bede' rib-roaster, Hindley rib-bender. Cf. the next entry.—2. A ball rising so high as to endanger the batsman's body: cricket: 1873; ob. Lewis.

rib-bending or -roasting. The vbl n. counterparts of rib-bender, etc.

rib-roast, -roaster. See rib-baste and rib-bender.

rib-shirt. A front or dickey worn over a grubby shirt: lower classes': from ca. 1880; ob. Ware.

rib-tickle; rib-tickler. To thrash, also tickle one's ribs. A punch in the ribs; thick soup. From ca. 1850; slightly ob. Cf. rib-baste and -bender.

ribband. See ribbin.

ribber. See rib-bender.

ribbin; also ribband, ribbon. Money: c.: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E.; Vaux, ribband). ?cf. fat, being ex ribbing (cf. ribs, q.v.), or ex ribbon, gen. of rich stuff. Cf.:

ribbin runs thick or thin, the. There is, he (etc.) has, much or little money: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E., Grose.) See ribbin.

ribbing. Vbl n. counterpart of rib, v., 1; and var. of rib-bending or -roasting.

ribbon. See ribbin.—2. See ribbons.—3. A bell-pull: c.: late C.17–mid-18. B.E., 'Pluck the Ribband,... ring the Bell at the Tavern.' Ex likeness of ribbon to rope.—4. Esp. blue ribbon:

gin: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. (Lex. Bal.) Prob. suggested by satin, q.v.—5. After ca. 1860, ribbon (but not blue ribbon) = spirits in gen.; ob. H., 3rd ed. ('Servants' term).

ribbons. Reins: 1813 (OED): sporting coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. (Dickens in Pickwick.) Esp. in handle or † flutter the ribbons.—2. Ropes forming the boundary; hence, loosely, any boundary: cricketers': from ca. 1920. Neville Cardus, Good Days, 1934, 'George Gunn cut it to the ribbons, as the saying goes'.

ribby. Destitute; (of places) poverty-stricken, squalid: c., from ca. 1930, > by 1939 low London s. (George Ingram, Cockney Cavalcade, 1935.) 'Short of cash' (Powis, 1977). Ex ribs, 3.—2. Hence, (of things) inferior; (of conditions) unsatisfactory: mostly lower-class London: since ca. 1939. 'Substandard' (Powis, 1977).—3. Worn out, depleted of vigour: id.: since mid-1940s. Bill Naughton, Alfie Darling, 1970.

ribs. (A nickname for) a stout person: coll.: C.19–early 20.—2. In on the ribs, (of horse of dog) no good at all: racing c.: from ca. 1926.—3. In on the ribs, destitute; down and out: c.: C.20. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) Cf. on one's back, and down on the knuckle (q.v. at knuckle, n., 4).—4. In HAULIERS' SLANG, q.v. in Appendix, on the ribs = very old. Cf. sense 2.

ribston(e). A Cockney's term of affectionate address: 1883, (Milliken in Punch, 11 Oct.); ob. by 1910, † by 1930. Abbr. ribston(e) pippin. See pippin.

ribuck! 'Correct, genuine; an interjection signifying assent' (C.J. Dennis): (low) Aus.: late C.19–earlier 20; Wilkes, 1978, notes 'obs.', and quotes the Bulletin, 17 Dec. 1898: 'Ryebuck (all right) is no doubt an abbreviation of "all right, my buck".' Cf., however, A. Abrahams in the Observer, 25 Sep. 1938, 'From the Hebrew Reivach, meaning profit or good business.'

rice. For give it (or someone) rice, see give what for.

rice-bags. Trousers: a trifle low: ca. 1890–1910. On bags, trousers, q.v.

rice-bowl. See break (someone's) rice-bowl, to deprive him of his livelihood.

Rice-Burner. A (Japanese-made) Honda motorcycle: motorcyclists' nickname: later C.20. (Dunford.)

rice-cake!, for. Public Schools' euph. s. for for Christ's sake!: C.20.

rice Christian. An Aboriginal 'accepting' Christianity for food: Society coll.: 1895 (Referee, 11 Aug.: Ware); ob. in Brit. by ca. 1935. P.B.: but still current in the Far East, 1960s.

Rice Corps. Royal Indian Army Service Corps: WW2. Any of its units tended to be called a ghee factory, because of their predilection for ghee (Indian butter).

rice pudding. See knock the skin...

rich. Very entertaining—preposterous, ridiculous—outrageous: mid-C.18–20 S.E. verging on coll.—2. Spicy; indelicate: coll.: from ca. 1860.

rich as a new-shorn sheep. An ironic, semi-proverbial c.p. of C.16–mid-18. Churchyard, Breton, Fuller. (Apperson.) rich as crazes. Rich as Ceresus: Anglo-Irish:—1909 (Ware).

rich friend is 'an universal phrase with the girls of the town for "their keepers"' (Pierce Egan, Life in London, 1821): euph. coll.: ca. 1805–70.

rich man's side. See poor man's side.

rich one. The wealthy wife of 'a man who finds home not to his liking': better-class harlots' coll.:—1909 (Ware).

Richard, Richard Snary, Richardanary. A dictionary: s., low coll., sol.: resp. late C.18–20, e.g. in Grose, 2nd ed., an abbr. of R.S.; from ca. 1620, as in 'Water Poet' Taylor; C.19–20 (also dial.), a corruption of R.S. All ob. Cf. Dick (or dic), which indicates the semantics.—2. As randy Richard, an observation balloon: military: 1915+. (B. & P.) ?Ex phallic shape, on dick = penis. (P.B.).—3. In get the (ripe) Richard, to be 'ragged', hooted, or publicly snubbed: army, esp. officers': WW1. (F. & G.) Ex get the bird: see Richard the Third, 2.—4. In have had the Richard, (of persons) to have been dismissed; (of things) to have been superseded; to be 'all washed up' or finished: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Prob. ex sense 3.—5. A shortening of the various senses of:-

Richard the Third. A bird: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P. —2. Hence, a bad reception, a hissing; theatrical rhyming s., on bird, n., 5, q.v.: id.—3. Also ex sense 1 is the meaning 'a (or one's) girl': rhyming s., on synon. bird. Often shortened to Richard. Tempest, 1950.—4. A turd: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. Rare (Franklyn 2nd).—5. A word: id. Very rare (lbid.).

Richardanary. See Richard.

ricing. The throwing of rice over the bride: middle-class coll.:—1909 (Ware).

rick, n. A 'gee' in the grafters' sense (trade accomplice): grafters': C.20. (Cheapiack, 1934.) Perhaps ex rick, a wrench. P.B.: or dial. pron. of rig: see rig, n., 2.

rick, adj. Spurious: low racing: since ca. 1950. 'If you are standing near a bookie's joint, undecided, and a merchant dashes in and places a bet, such as "Seventy pounds to forty. On top," don't take a blind bit of notice. The give-away is the "On top". It's a rick bet. It don't mean nothing. It don't even go in the book. Its sole object is to push or goad you into making your bet' Sunday Telegraph, 7 May 1967, anon., 'A punter's guide to the bookie's secret lingo.' Ex the n.

rick, v. To remove one testicle of (usu. a horse): Aus.: C.20 (prob. earlier). Ex Eng. N. Country synon. dial. rig (EDD). 'That horse was ricked and Sammy Hall'—It was rendered untesticular. Sammy Hall is Cockney and Aus. (esp. Sydney rhyming s. on ball, testicle, the ref. being to a song very popular in mid-C.19 and still heard occasionally 'where men are men' (Edwin Morrisby, letter, 1958).

rick-rack. A policeman's whistle: Manchester children's: ca. 1860–80. (Jerome Caminada, Detective, II, 1901.) Echoic.

ricket. A mistake: low (?originally c.): since ca. 1930. 'You've made a bit of a ricket' (Norman). Used in the BBC's account of the Great Train Robbery Trial, 23 Aug. 1963.

ricko. A ricochet: army: WW1. (B. & P.) Since ca. 1925 the form has been ricky (P-G-R).

Ricky. Rickmansworth (Hertfordshire): Hertfordshiremen's: from ca. 1920.—2. See prec.—3. For ricky-ticky, see JIVE, in Appendix.

riddle. See Jimmy Riddle.

riddle, v.i. and t. To steal by pocketing part or all of the takings, as in, 'He was riddling the till' (M.T.): market-traders': late C.19–20. Hence the agent riddler, one who steals thus, hence any dishonest assistant. P.B.: perhaps ex the S.E. riddle, n. and v., (to) sieve.

ride, n. (Gen. used by women.) An act of coition: low: C.19–20. Ex ride, v. (Cf. the scabrous smoke-room story of the little boy that wanted 'a ride on the average'.) Esp. in have or got a ride.—2. Hence, woman as sex object, as in the raffish male observation on an attractive girl, 'I bet she's a great little ride': since mid-C.20. (P.B.)—3. In find a ride, to be given a car to drive in a race: motor-racing s.: from ca. 1925. (Peter Chamberlain).—4. See take for a ride.

ride, v. To mount a woman in copulation: v.i. and t.: M.E.—C.20: S.E. till ca. 1780, then (low) coll. D'Urfey has ride tantivy. Cf. riding and rider, 1.—2. See rider, 2. (3. For relevant phrases not under ride, see the second member; e.g. ride bodkin).—4. To cart: S. African coll.: 1897, Ernest Glanville, Tales from the Veld, 'I want you to ride a load of wood to the house.' Pettman.—5. To keep girding at: Can.: C.20. John Beames. Ex Lancashire dial. ride, to be a burden to (EDD).—6. Prob. from the same origin is the sense 'to irritate; deliberately to annoy, sometimes subtly or indirectly', as in an NCO's comment on a troublesome, devious soldier, 'I'll have that bugger yet—he's been riding me all week': Services' coll.: since mid-C.20, perhaps earlier. (P.B.) ride a feather. To be a jockey weighing less than 84 lb.: sporting coll.: ca. 1810–1900.

ride as if fetching to midwife. To go in haste: coll.: late C.17—mid-19. Ray.

ride behind. See rider, 2.

ride below the crupper. To coit with a woman: literary: mid-C.17–18.

ride bumpers. See bumpers, 2.

ride (a man) down like a main-tack. To overwork him: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. Bowen.

ride grub. See ride rusty.

ride in old boots. See boots, 6.

ride on the cushions. 'Engine men travelling as passengers' (Railway): railwaymen's: since ca. 1920. Cf. Can. ride the cushions, q.v. at ride plush, and also mahogany, 6.

ride out. To be a highwayman: coll.: C.17–18. (Anon., The London Prodigal, 1605.) Cf. Chaucer's riden out, to go abroad, serve on a military expedition (the description of the knight, in the Canterbury Prologue).—2. To depart: London teenagers': late 1950s. (Gilderdale.) Prob. ex 'Western' films.

ride plush. To travel illicitly free on a train: Aus.: adopted, ca. 1920, from US. (B., 1942.) Cf. the Can. hoboese' ride the cushions: late C.19–20. (Leechman.)

ride post for a pudding. To exert oneself for a small cause: coll.: C.18–19.

ride rantipole. Synon. with ride St George, q.v. at riding St George ... ride rusty. To be sullen: coll.: ca. 1780–1840. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex reasty, restive, applied esp. to a horse. Also ride grub.

ride St George. See riding St George.

ride shotgun. 'An extraordinary survival of the stage-coach days. When gold or other valuables were carried, or a hold-up apprehended, a man, armed with a shotgun, rode on top of the coach with the driver. In the speech of the period, this man "rode shotgun". It is still [1963] used, sometimes in the sense of "Quis custodiet...?"' (Douglas Leechman). Only is the derivative sense eligible, and then as a coll. P.B.: but coll. also is its Service use, to ride as escort to a driver: esp. army: since ca. 1950.—2. Hence, to escort in any way, as e.g., of aircraft, 'The last two Jaguars [aircraft] with Dave riding shotgun between them' (Phantom): RAF: 1970s.—3. To take the front seat, on a vehicle, next to the driver: joc. coll.: since ca. 1955. (P.B.) Ex sense 1.

ride (one's) stripes or tapes. (Of an NCO) to be over-strict or officious: army: earlier C.20. Contrast ride, v., 6.

ride the black donkey. To be in a bad humour: coll.: mid-C.19—early 20. H., 2nd ed.

ride the dead horse. See dead horse.

ride the donkey. To cheat in weight (weighing): c.:—1857 ('Ducange Anglicus').

ride the fore-horse. To be early; ahead of another: coll.: ca. 1660–1840. Etherage; Scott. (Apperson.)

ride the fringes. To perambulate the boundaries of a chartered district: Irish coll. of ca. 1700–1820. (Anon., Ireland Sixty Years Ago, 1847.) A corruption of ride the franchises.

ride the goat. To be initiated into a secret society, esp. the Masons: low coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex the superstition that a goat, for candidates to ride, is kept by every Masonic lodge.

ride the gridiron. To travel on an East Indian: ca. 1820–80. (G. MacD. Fraser, Flashman's Lady, 1977.) Ex grid-iron, 2.

ride the mare. To be hanged: (c. or) low: late C.16–17. Shakespeare. See three-legged.

ride the riggen or riggin (properly, rigging). To be extremely intimate: dial. and low coll.: C.19—early 20. Here riggen (, rigging) is the back(bone), though the coll. use may have been influenced by sartorial rigging.

ride the wild mare. To play at see-saw (Onions); hence, I conjecture, to act wildly or live riotously: coll.: late C.16—mid-17. Shakespeare; Cotgrave, 'Desferrier l'asne... we say, to ride the wilde mare.' Apperson.

ride triumph. To go helter-skelter or full tilt: ca. 1760–1850: coll. bordering on S.E. (Sterne, 1761.) Presumably abbr. ride in triumph.

ride up a gumtree or go up a tree. To fall off one's horse: Aus.: since ca. 1910. B., 1953.

rider. An—esp. customary—actively amorous man: low coll.: C.18–20; ob. Ex ride, v., q.v. Cf. riding St George.—2. 'A person who receives part of the salary of a place or appointment from the ostensible occupier, by virtue of an agreement with the donor, or great man appointing. The rider is said to be quartered upon the possessor, who often has one or more persons thus riding behind him' (Grose, 3rd ed.). Coll. of late C.18–mid-19.—3. A passenger: cabmen's coll.:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930.

ridders. Synon. with jockey sticks: Aus. shearers': since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) By a pun. ridg. An early var. of:

ridge, n. (Occ., in C.19, redge.) Gold: c.: from ca. 1660; ob. by 1840; †, in Brit., by 1900, but by 1940 gen. Aus. s. (Head, implied in ridge-cully, q.v.). A cly full of ridge, a pocketful of money; a thimble of ridge, a gold watch: ca. 1830–60: c. (Ainsworth, 1834: OED).—2. Hence, a guinea: ca. 1750–1830. (Grose, 1st ed.) ?ex ridge, a measure of land.

ridge, adj. Good; valuable: Aus. c.: late C.19–20. Ex n., 1.—2. Hence, genuine: Aus. c.: since ca. 1930, > ca. 1945 low sporting s. a Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949.

ridge-cully. A goldsmith lit. a gold-man (see ridge and cully): c.: 1665 (Head: OED); B.E.; Grose. Very ob. by 1880. Cf.:-

ridge-montra. A gold watch: C.19 (?–20): c. (Egan's Grose.) See ridge and montra.

ridgy-didge. Wilkes quotes Ian Bevan, ed., The Sunburnt Country, 1953: 'Ridgy Didge (derived from "rigid digger", in its turn meaning a straight-up soldier, and hence implying integrity) means "the truth". The phrase is used invariably either as a simple question "Ridgy Didge?" or an unequivocal assurance: "Ridgy Didge!": Aus.: mid-C.20. More prob. simply an alliterative reduplication of ridge, adj., 2 (P.B.). Variants are ridgey-dig; and also 1953, ridgy-dite (Kylie Tennant, The Joyful Condemned), the latter perhaps rhyming s., on all right.

riding. Adroitness; ability; sporting:—1886; ob. (Ware.) Ex a jockey's skill.

riding-hag. A, the, nightmare: coll.: C.19–early 20.

riding his low horse. A joc. c.p., referring to a tipsy, or a half-tipsy, fool either boasting or making a fool of himself: since ca. 1930. Not very common. (Petch, 1966.) As opp. S.E. 'on high horse'.

riding quarantine. 'Lying in hospital—from a vessel lying at anchor when quarantined: RN: C.19.' Peppitt cites M.D. Hay, Landsman Hay, a memoir, 1963.

riding St George or the dragon upon St George. N. and adj. (The position of the woman being on top in the sexual act: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E.; A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1785.) This posture was supposed to be efficacious if the parents wanted their child to be a bishop. A pun on the legend of St George and the dragon, adumbrated in Fletcher's Mad Lover.

Riff Raff, the. The RAF: 1930+. Partridge, 1945, 'A jocular—sometimes a contemptuous—elaboration of Raff'.

rifle, n. A shuffle 'in which ... the thumbs "riffle", or bend up the corners of the cards' (Maskelyne): from ca. 1890: sharpers' s. verging on c. (OED). Cf.:

rifle, v. To do this (see the n.): same period, status and authority.—2. See rifle.

riffs. See CANADIAN ..., in Appendix.

rifle, n. See rifle range.

rifle; in C.17, often riffle. To coit with, or to caress sexually, a woman: coll. verging on S.E.: C.17–20; ob. Prob. ex the S.E. rifle, (of a hawk) to tread (the hen).

rifle range. 'Change. As in a quick break between scene changes in the rubbedy [club], "Here's the sausage [and mash = cash]. Look sharp with the rifle' (Red Daniels, 1980): mainly theatrical rhyming s.: C.20.

rifler. In 'prigging law' (horse-stealing), app. he who takes away the stolen horse: c. of late C.16–early 17. Greene's Second Cony-Catching, 1592.

rift. Energy, speed; esp. get a rift on, to move or work quickly, energetically: Guards Regiments': since ca. 1920. (Gerald Kersh, They Die with their Boots Clean, 1941.) Perhaps a blend of rush + shift, or ex:-

rifting, vbl n. 'Cleaning gear, harness, etc.' (F. & G.): army: late C.19–20. Perhaps ex dial. rift, 'to break up grass-land with the plough' (EDD).—2. (?) Hence, a severe telling-off, a tongue-lashing: army: since late 1940s, perhaps earlier. 'Sar-major said he was idle on parade. Give him a right good rifting, he did ...', i.e. verbally 'took him to pieces'; only occ. used in the sense of physical assault. (P.B.) rig, n. Ridicule, esp. in run one's rig upon a person: from ca. 1720: s. till C.19, then coll.; in C.20, dial. A New Canting Dict., 1725; Thackeray.—2. A trick or dodge; a swindling scheme or method: 1775, anon., 'I'm up to all your knowing rigs.' Cf. rig sale, q.v.—3. A prank; a mischievous or a wanton act: coll.: from ca. 1720; ob. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) Hence (cf. sense 1), in run a or the, or one's rig(s), to play pranks, even if wanton ones; run riot: s. >, ca. 1820, coll.: thus, Cowper, 1782, 'He little dreamt, when he set out, /Of running such a rig!'; r. the r., 1797; r. one's rigs, in The Port Folio, 26 June 1802, p. 193 (Moe).—4. A (somewhat 'shady') manipulation of the money-market; a corner: 1877 (OED); s. >, ca. 1890, coll. (Senses 2–4 follow naturally ex sense 1).—5. Outfit; (style of) dress: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Ex the rig of a ship; but cf. rig, v., 3. Also rig-out and -up.—6. Penis: C.20 (F. Leech, 1972.) Cf. donkey-rigged.—7. A large lorry or truck (orig. applied to an articulated vehicle): their drivers: since ca. 1980. Ex Citizens' Band Radio j., where the term is also applied to a CB radio set; perhaps the derivation is from the set to its setting. In the Peak District of Derbyshire, 1983, I saw a large quarry lorry prominently labelled 'Sir Jim's Rig'. (P.B.) rig, v. To play tricks on, to befool: from ca. 1820: s. >, ca. 1860, coll.: in C.20, dial. Ex rig, n., 1 and 3.—2. Hence, to manipulate illegally or illicitly: from ca. 1850: s. >, ca. 1880, coll.; slightly ob. Cf. rig the market and rig up, v.—3. To clothe; supply with clothes: from ca. 1530: S.E. until C.19, then coll.; in C.20, rather slangy. The Sporting Magazine, 1821, 'The gentlemen were neatly rigged, and looked the thing to a T' (OED). Cf. rig out, v.

rig-me-role. See rigmarole. Only in C.18.

rig-mutton. A wanton: coll.: C.17–18. Elab. of rig, a wanton.

rig-my-role or -roll. See rigmarole. C.18 only.

rig-of-the-day, the. The Service dress to be worn on the day concerned: RN coll.: since ca.1880. P-G-R.

rig-out, n. An outfit; (esp. a suit of) clothes, a costume: coll.: from ca. 1820. Cf. rig, n., 5; rig, v., last sense; rig-up; and:

rig out, v. To dress; provide with clothes: from ca. 1610: S.E. until C.19, then coll.

rig sale. An auction-sale under false pretences: 1851 (Chambers's Journal).

rig the market. To engineer the (money-)market in order to profit by the ensuing rise or fall in prices: 1855, Tom Taylor, 'We must rig the market. Go in and buy up every share that's offered': in C.20, coll. Ex rig, v., 2, and n., 4.

rig-up, n. An outfit; (style of) dress: coll.: from ca. 1895; ob. Cf. rig-out, n.

rig up, v.t. To send (prices) up by artifice or manipulation: commercial s. >, in C.20, coll.: 1884 (Pall Mall Gazette, 14 Feb.: OED). Ex rig, v., 2.

rigby. See rigsby.

rigged. Ppl adj. of rig, v., 2, q.v.: OED records at 1879, but prob. considerably older.—2. Of v., 3.—3. See donkey-rigged.

riggen. See ride the riggen.

rigger. A racing boat: Durham School: late C.19–20. ?ex.—2. Outtrigger: coll. abbr.: late C.19–20.—3. A thimble-rigger: from ca. 1830: low coll. >, by 1900, S.E.—4. One who 'rigs' an auction (1859) or the market (1883): s. >, by 1910, coll. OED.—5. 'A quart of draught beer in a square-faced gin bottle' (B., 1942): Aus.: since ca. 1918.

rigger mortis. 'A good-for-nothing airman' (Jackson): RAF: since ca. 1938. Ex the pre-1939 official rigger (now flight mechanic 'A'), with a pun on rigor mortis: as Jackson neatly puts it, 'a dead type' (dead above the ears).

riggers. Clothes made to look like new: low: ca. 1820–80.

(Sessions, Oct. 1840, p. 1044.) Ex rig, v., 2, with pun on rig, n., 5.

riggin. See ride the riggen.

rigging, n. Clothes: not c., as B.E. asserts, but s.: C.17–early 20. Cf. rig, v., 3. Hence rum rigging, fine clothes: c.: late C.17–18. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.—2. The vbl n. of rig, v., 2.—3. See climb the rigging; ride the riggen.

rigmarowle. An occ. C.18 form of rigmarole, q.v. Foote (OED).

right, adj. Favourably disposed to, trustworthy by, the underworld: c.: ca. 1865. 'No. 747' has right screw, a 'good fellow' warder.—2. Safe: Aus. coll.: C.20. (Vince Kelly, The Shadow, 1955.) Cf. all right.—3. Unquestionable, indisputable; thoroughgoing, as in right bastard, q.v.: coll.: (?late C.19–) C.20.—4. In right?—answered by right!: is that correct?, do you agree?—Yes!: adopted ex US, ca. 1960; by 1970, S.E. P.B.: my first meeting with this usage was in a railway compartment I once shared with a four-man USAF aircrew, early 1950s: the captain ended every statement 'Right?', and the other three duly answered in turn 'Right!'—the effect was almost theatrical.—5. In Mr, or Miss, Right, the right person—the person one is destined to marry (i.e. he or she who, before marriage, seems to be the right life-partner): coll.: Sala, 1860, 'Mr Right'; Kipling, 1890, 'Miss Right' (OED). Since WW1, Miss Right is increasingly rare. Collinson.—6. In that's right!, I agree: coll.: C.20. Prob. ex all right!—7. See all right, which includes a bit of all right; too right; she'll be apples.

right, adv. With adj. (e.g. right smart) and adv. (e.g. right away): vry: C.13–20; S.E. that, in C.19–20, borders on coll.; in C.20, however, archaic. P.B.: not archaic in certain contexts: see, e.g. the quot'n at rifting, 2.

Right-Abouts, the. The Gloucestershire Regiment: military: from 1801. (F. & G.) Also the Back Numbers (q.v.), the Old Braggs, the Slashers, the Whitewashers.—2. Rights (of a case), special circumstances: joc.:—1923 (Manchon).

right as ... There are various coll. phrases denoting that one is quite well or comfortable or secure, that a thing, a job, a prospect, etc., is dependable or quite safe:—right as a fiddle (—1903; F. & H.), an ob. corruption of the much earlier fit as a fiddle; ... as a gun (John Fletcher, The Prophetess, 1622, at I, iii: Moe); ... a line (C.15–early 17; e.g. Chapman); ... a trivet (1837, Dickens); ... anything (—1903; F. & H. Very gen.); ... my glove (1816, Scott; ob.); ... my leg (C.17–18; e.g. Farquhar); ... ninепence (1850, Smedley), in C.19 often nice as ninепence (H., 5th ed.); ... rain (1894, W. Raymond; 1921, A.S.M. Hutchinson); ... the bank (1890, 'Rolf Boldrewood', ?on safe as the Bank of England); ... as nails (= perfectly fit, of a person: coll.: late C.19–earlier 20. Ex hard as nails). OED and esp. Apperson.

right as a ram's horn. (Very) crooked: ironic coll.: C.14–17 (?early 18). (Lydgate, Skelton, Ray: Apperson.) Cf. the late C.19–20 coll. as straight (occ. as crooked) as a dog's hind leg.

right away. Immediately, directly: US (—1842), perhaps ex Eng. dial.; anglicised as coll. by 1880; in later C.20, informal S.E.

right bastard, a. A thoroughly mean-spirited, bloody-minded man: coll., orig. mostly RN: since ca. 1925.

right-coloured stuff. Money: Norfolk a (—1872), not dial. EDD.

right cool fish. 'One who is not particular what he says or does' (Spy, 1825): Eton: ca. 1810–90. Cf. the later C.20 hippie and jazz use of cool.

right-down, adj. Downright, outright; veritable: low coll.:—1887. Baumann, 'A right-down swindle'. Ex dial., which has also right-up-and-down (EDD).

right down, adv. Wholly, quite: coll.: Jan. 1835, Sessions, 'I was right down certain that the money was bad'; ob. by 1920.

right drill. See drill, the.

right enough, adj. Esp. in that's right enough = that's all right so far as it goes (but it doesn't go nearly far enough); or, that's all right from your point of view. Coll.: late C.19–20. Contrast:

right enough, adv. All right, well enough; esp., all right (or well enough) although you may not at present think so. Coll.: from ca. 1880; OED records it at 1885 in Anstey's The Tinted Venus. Cf. prec.

right eye, or hand, itches, – (and) my. A coll. c.p.; the former denotes prospective weeping, the latter a(n unexpected) heritage or gift of money: C.18. Swift.

right fanny. 'Real, or pathetic, story or tale': c.: from ca. 1925. George Ingram, Stir, 1933.

right forepart. (One's) wife: tailors': late C.19–20. Ex tailoring j.

right(h)o, right-oh, righto. Very well!; certainly!; agreed!: C.20. Cf. right you are, rightio (righty-o).—2. Hence, 'That's enough! Break it down!' (B., 1959): Aus.: since ca. 1920.

right in (one's, or the) head. (Gen. prec. by not.) (Un)sound of mind: coll.: C.19–20. Randolph Hughes, Nineteenth Century, July 1934, 'The meanderings of a man not quite right in the head'. App. orig. dial.: cf. the Scottish no richt.

right into (one's) barrel. Precisely what one needs or desires: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

right man. The workman who makes the right forepart, and finishes the coat': tailors' coll.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

right, monkey! Lancashire domestic coll., popularised by comedian Al Read in 1950s. An extension of right!, at right, adj., 4. See DCpp.

right off. See put right off.

right oil, the. Correct information: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (Baker.) Var. of the dinkum, or good, oil.

right on (!) Yes, that is correct; I agree wholeheartedly: coll. vogue term: adopted ex US early 1970s; Nigel Dempster, in Telegraph Sunday mag., listed it among words and phrases that were no longer 'in' in Society. Perhaps orig. right on the button or the ball. See DCpp, where E.P. compares it with bang on! Powis notes that it was introduced into UK as hippy s.; and Robin Leech writes, 1980, of its currency in the Can. Prairie Lands.

right side of (age), on the. Not as old as (age): coll.: prob. since mid-C.17 or even earlier. Roger Boyle, Guzman, 1669, at III, i (Moe).

right sort. Gin: low: ca. 1820–50. 'Peter Corcoran' Reynolds.

right sort of stuff. Good fighting men. See stuff, n., 7.

right tenpenny on the cranium, hit. To hit the nail on the head: non-aristocratic joc. coll.: ca. 1890–1915. Ware.

right there. See put it right there!

right up (one's) alley. See alley.

right up (one's) street. See street.

right up and down, like a yard of pump-water. 'Straightforward and in earnest': nautical: mid-C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cf. right-down, q.v.

right you are! All right!; certainly!; agreed!: s. (—1864) >, ca. 1920, coll. H., 3rd ed.; Churchward, 1888, 'Right you are; I don't think I'll go up' (OED). Prob. the origin of right(h)o and rightio (righty-o), qq.v.; cf. all right!

righteous. Excellent, e.g. 'a righteous day', a fine one: coll.: from ca. 1860. Contrast wicked.—2. An adj. applied, in the 1920s and early 1930s, by musicians to good jazz and to those who recognised it: Can. (ex US). 'A good hot chorus would be greeted with cries—from other members of the band—of "Righteous, brother! Righteous!"' (Professor F.E.L. Priestley, letter, 1959).—3. See more holy than righteous.

rightie, -y. A member of a right-wing political party or organisation, or even a person on the right wing of a socialist party: political and journalistic: since late 1960s. Contrast lefty, 3. (P.B.)

rightio!, righty-ol, righty-ho! All right!; certainly; gladly!: from ca. 1920. Ex right(h)o! Dorothy L. Sayers, Unnatural Death, 1927, Lord Peter Wimsey loquitur: 'Righty-ho! Wonder what the fair lady wants.'

rightio! See right-ho.

rights. In be to rights, to have a clear (legal) case against one: c. of ca. 1850–1910. 'Ducange Anglicus'.—2. Hence, in catch (bang) to rights, to catch (a person) doing something he ought not to do, esp. in flagrante delicto, or indisputably: c.: since mid-C.19. See also bang to rights.

righty-(h)o(h)! See rightio!

rigid. In shook rigid, q.v., and in bind rigid: see bind. Substitution for 'to (bind) stiff'. Whence:

rigid bind. One who bores you stiff: RAF: since ca. 1938. H. & P.

rigmarole; in C.18, occ. rigmarol. A string of incoherent statements; a disjointed or rambling speech, discourse, story; a trivial or almost senseless harangue: coll.: from ca. 1730. Mme D'Arblay, 1779 (OED). A corruption of ragman roll, C.13–early 16, a rambling-verse game; also a list, a catalogue. (Other C.18 variations are rig-me-role, -my-roll or -role, and riggmonrowle.)—2. (Without a or the.) Such language: coll.: C.19–20.

rigmarole, adj. (With var. spellings as for the n.) Incoherent; rambling; trivially long-winded: coll.: from ca. 1750. Richardson, 1753, 'You must all ... go on in one rig-my-roll way'; 1870, Miss Bridgman, 'A rigmarole letter'. OED.

rigmarole, v.i. To talk rigmarole: coll.: from ca. 1830. (OED.) Note: rigmarolery and rigmarolic are too rarely used to be eligible.

rigmarolish. Rather like a rigmarole: coll.: 1827 (J.W. Croker: OED). The adv. (-ly) is too seldom used to be eligible. rigs. See rig, n., 1–3. rigsby. A wanton; a romping (lad or) girl: coll.: from ca. 1540. In late C.17–20, only dial. In C.16, occ. rigby. Ex rig, a wanton.

rile. To vex, anger: coll.: US (1825), anglicised ca. 1850, though the consciousness of its US origin remained until ca. 1890; the v.i. rile up, grow angry, has not been acclimatised in Britain. A later form of S.E. roil.

riled, ppl adj. Vexed, annoyed, angry: see rile.

riiling, annoying, etc.: id.

rim. To bugger (a woman): c.: C.20. Also bottle, likewise v.t. Both, brutally anatomical.

rim-rack. To strain or damage (a vessel), esp. by driving her too hard in a sea: Grand Banks fishermen's coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Prob. cognate with the Aberdeen rim-raxing, a surfeit(ing) (EDD).

rimble-ramble, n. and adj. Nonsense, nonsensical: late C.17 coll. Reduplication on ramble. rimp. To sprint; a sprint, a turn of speed: Christ's Hospital School: late C.19–20. Marples, 'From the Homeric adverb rimpha, swiftly'.

rinder. An outsider: Queen's University, Belfast: mid-C.19–20. Ex rind of fruit.

ring (gen. with the). The female pudend: low coll. verging on euph. S.E.,—or is it the other way about? C.16–20, but rare after C.18. Also black-hairy—Hans Carvel's ring. —2. 'Money extorted by Rogues on the High-way or by Gentlemen Beggars' (B.E.): c. of late C.17–early 19. By 1785, it applied to any beggars; 'from its ringing when thrown to them' (Grose).—3. Anus (also ring-piece): low: late C.19–20. Hence, ring-snatcher, snatching, sodomite, sodomy: C.20.—4. In cracked in the ring, no longer virgin: coll.: late C.16–early 20. In C.16–17, occ. clipped (with)in the ring. (Lyly; Beaumont & Fletcher.) Cf. the C.19–early 20 lose (one's) ring, (of a girl) to lose one's virginity. All ex sense 1.—5. A good-conduct stripe: army: early C.20. F. & G.—6. An RAF officer's badge of rank: RAF: since 1919. See ring-chaser, ringer, 7, and rings.—7. In go through the ring, to go bankrupt: commercial: ca. 1840–80. (H., 2nd ed.) A var. of go through the hoop, q.v. at hoop, n., 3.—8. In have the ring, to ring true: coll. (—1923: Manchon); by ca. 1940, verging on S.E.—9. In the dead ring (of someone), q.v., a remarkable likeness.

ring, v. To manipulate; change illicitly: from ca. 1785: perhaps orig. c.; certainly low s. Cf. ring in, and see ring the changes.—2. Simply to change or exchange: from ca. 1810: orig. low, then gen. s. Vaux.—3. Hence, or ex sense 1, to cheat (v.i.; also ring it): low: late C.19–20. F. & G.—4. V.

reflexive: c. from ca. 1860, as explained in the Cornhill Magazine, 1863 (vii, 91), 'When housebreakers are disturbed and have to abandon their plunder they say that they have rung themselves.'—5. V.i. (of cattle), to circle about: Aus. coll.: since mid-C.19; >, ca. 1910, S.E. Wilkes quotes C. Wade Brown, Overlanding in Australia, 1868.—6. Even more essentially Aus. is ring, v.i. and v.t., to shear the most sheep in a day or during a shearing (at a shearing-shed): from ca. 1895: coll. A.B. Paterson (Banjo as Australians affectionately call him), 1896, 'The man that "rung" the Tubbo shed is not the ringer here.' (Morris.) See ringer, 2.

ring a bell. That rings a bell': That brings something to mind; that sounds familiar: coll.: adopted, ca. 1925, from US. P.B.: ex fairground games, the telephone—or Pavlovian experiments? See also ring the bell; ring bells, 2.

ring-a-ding. 'Sure-fire, as the bell that rings at success on the strength machine at fairs' (L.A. quotes Gordon M. Williams, The Upper Pleasure Garden, 1970, 'A youth centre would be a ring-a-ding stamping ground for picking up boys'): coll.: later C.20. Occ. ring-a-ding-ding!, an expression of pleasure and triumph.

ring (a person) a peal; occ. ring a peal in (one's) ears. To scold him: late C.18–19. Grose, 2nd ed., 'Chiefly applied to women. His wife rung him a fine peal!'; Baumann. Cf. the dial. be or get into a peal, i.e. a temper (EDD).

ring bells. A coll. that (dating from ca. 1930) is gen. in the negative, as in Gavin Holt, Trafalgar Square, 1934, 'When it comes to pets, snakes don't ring any bells in my emotional system', i.e. do not appeal to me. Ex the bell that rings when, at a shooting-gallery, a marksman hits the bull's-eye.—2. In later C.20, more often as var. of ring a bell, as in 'No, I'm afraid that name rings no bells with me' (P.B.). ring-burn. The sometimes painful after-effect of eating too much of too fierce a curry: Services', in tropical stations where such curries were available: 1960s. See ring, n., 3.

ring-chaser. An officer seeking promotion: RAF, mostly officers': WW2. (P-G-R.) See ring, n., 6.

ring-conscious. (Of an officer) manifestly conscious of recent promotion; also, of an officer excessively officious: RAF coll.: since ca. 1925. Cf. rings.

ring-dang-do. A spree: Aus.: since late 1940s. A.M. Harris, The Tall Man, 1958 (events of 1953), 'They've earned a bit of a ring-dang-do'.

ring-dropper, -faller. One who practises ring-dropping: c.: resp. from ca. 1795 and ca. 1560–1600. Cf. fawney-dropper, q.v., and:

ring-dropping. The dropping of a 'gold' ring and subsequent prevailing on some 'mug' to buy it at a fair price for gold: c.: from ca. 1820. Bee.

ring-in, n. A horse, a dog, etc., entered for a contest either under a false name or 'in disguise': Aus. sporting: C.20. (B., 1942.) Ex the v.—2. A stacked pack of cards: Aus.: since ca. 1910. B., 1953.

ring in, v. To insert, esp. to substitute, fraudulently: from ca. 1810: orig., perhaps c., certainly at least low s. (Vaux.) Notably in gambling. Cf. ring, v., 1, and ring-in.

ring in a gray (or gray) or ring in the knob (or nob).⁸ To substitute a double-tailed penny for a genuine coin' (B., 1943): Aus. two-up-players': C.20.

ring it. The v.i. form of ring in: low: late C.19–20.—2. To show cowardice: military: WW1. (F. & G.) Perhaps cf. ring-tail, 2.—3. See ring, v., 3.

ring it on (someone). To outwit, as in 'They have rung it on us' (Powis): low: later C.20.

ring-man. The ring-finger: from ca. 1480: coll. till C.18, then dial. Ascham, (OED).

ring-money. A wife's allowance from the Government: military: WW1. (Collinson.) Prob. ex her wedding-ring.

ring-neck. A 'jackaroo', q.v.: Aus. rural: C.20. (B., 1959.) Cf. ring-tail, 1. Morris, 1898, 'In reference to the white collar not infrequently worn by a jackaroo on his first appearance.'

ring o(f) roses. Venereal disease: nautical low: C.20.

ring off Desist!; shut up! coll.: earlier C.20. (Lyell.) Ex telephonic ring off, please!

ring (one's) own bell. To 'blow one's own trumpet': coll. verging on S.E. C.19–early 20.

ring-piece. See ring, n., 3, and -piece.—2. See twittering ring-piece.

ring-pigger. A drunkard: coll.: later C.16. Levins (OED).

ring-tail. A recruit: army: ca. 1860–1914. In Can., where adopted ex US late C.19, it has gen. sense 'a novice'. Cf. ring-neck.—2. A coward: Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) Ex-ring (one's) tail. To cry quits; to give in: Aus.: C.20. Baker.

ring the bell. To render a girl pregnant: since ca. 1910.

—2. To bring on an orgasm in one's female partner: since ca. 1920.—3. 'To hit the target; to hit the nail on the head; to win an argument by proving one's statement' (H. & P.): Services' coll.: since ca. 1920. Ex the fairground game.

ring the bells backwards. To give the alarm: ca. 1500–1890: coll. > S.E. (Cleveland; Scott.) Ex the practice of beginning with the bass when the bells were rung.

ring the changes. To change a better article for a worse (coll.), esp., 2, bad money for good (orig. c. >, ca. 1830, low s. > by 1869, gen. s. >, ca. 1900, coll.): from ca. 1660, ca. 1780 resp. Smollett has 'ringing out the changes on the balance of power'. In C.20 it also, 3, = to adopt different disguises in rapid succession and with baffling effect. Ex bell-ringing; in sense 2, there is a pun on small change for larger coin (W.).—4. To muddle a tradesman over the correct change to be received: c.: from ca. 1880.—5. In fisticuffs, to change one's tactics, vary one's blow: coll.: C.19–early 20. Bill Truck, 1823.

ring-twitch or -twitter. See twittering ring-piece.

ring up the Duchess; I must ring up the Duchess. These two c. pp., applicable to resolution of a doubt or to settlement of a problem, arose in Jan. 1935, ex the play Young England: orig. and mainly London Society: ob. by 1950.

ringer. A bell: (low) coll.: late C.19–early 20.—2. An excellent person or thing, esp. with regular: Aus.: 1894, Geelong Grammar School Quarterly, April, 'Another favourite [school] phrase is a "regular ringer"' (Morris). Ex ringer, that shearer who does the most sheep.—3. A quick changer of disguises: C.20 c. Cf. Edgar Wallace's title, The Ringer, and ring the changes, 3.—4. A crowbar: railwaymen's: C.20. (Railway, 2nd.) Ex the ringing noise it emits on contact with metal.—5. As in 'If it were mere poison... I could have dosed his malted milk or slipped a ringer in his vitamin pills' (Alan Hunter, Gently Sahib, 1964). Cf. ring, v., 1, q.v., and:—6. 'Man who steals vehicles and alters their appearance skillfully for sale here or abroad; also, such an altered vehicle. Originally meant horses or greyhounds that had been similarly disguised. Not so common in this sense now. Also used to describe any genuine-appearing fake' (Powis): c. > low s.: C.20.—7. In combination, the commissioned ranks of the RN and RAF, as half-ringer (RAF, pilot officer); one-ringer (sub-lieutenant or flying officer); two-; two-and-a-half ringer (lt-commander or squadron leader); etc.: Services': C.20 (RN); since 1919 (RAF). (Granville; Jackson.) 'On the lower deck officers are known as ringers; in the wardroom they are known as stripers' (Granville). Their respective ranks are denoted by rings on the cuff, not by stripes on the arm, or by stars and what-have-you on the shoulder.—8. See dead ringer.

ringerangeroo (both gs hard). The female pudend: feminine and joc.: since ca. 1930. Prob. fanciful duplication of ring, n., 1, + US suffix -eroo, the latter a usage of which W. & F. list over 100 examples. Cf. the bar-room verse, sung to a simple tune: "'The ringerangeroo"—pray what is that?/It's brown, and like a pussy-cat;/All covered in fur and split in two:/That's what they call 'the ringerangeroo'!"

ringerbarry. 'Customer who brings goods back for exchange or refund' (M.T.): market-traders': late C.19–20. A sophisticated back-slanging.

ringest, adj. Best: Aus. teenage surfers': earlier 1960s. (B.P.) Cf. ringer, 2.

978

ringie, the. The man who, at two-up, keeps the ring, arranges the wagers, and pays out the winnings: Aus. and NZ: since late C.19. See explanation at boxer, 3.—2. The fastest shearer in a gang or team: NZ: C.20. (Straight Furrow, 21 Feb. 1968.) See ringer, 2.

ringing, n. Milling-about of cattle: Aus. rural coll.: late C.19–20. (B., 1943.) See ring, v., 5.

ringing castors. The practice of substituting bad hats for good: c.:—1812; virtually †. Vaux.

ringing the horse-shoes. 'A welcome to a man who has been out boozing' (B. & L.); tailors': mid-C.19–20.

ringmaster. A Squadron Commander (function, not rank): RAF: since ca. 1937. (Jackson.) Ex the circus ring.—2. A yardmaster: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Humorous.

rings. 'Abbreviated reference to an Officer's rank, denoted in the Navy and R.A.F. by the number of rings on his sleeve' (H. & P.): since ca. 1890 in the RN and since 1918 in the RAF: coll. >, by 1930 at latest, j. See also ringer, 7.—2. See run rings round.

rink. In get out of (one's) rink, to sow wild oats: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob. by 1910, † by 1930. Perhaps ex skating; prob. ex Scots rink, 'the sets of players' forming sides at curling and quoit-playing' (EDD).

riño is merely Ned Ward's spelling (1700) of rhino.

rinse. A wash: coll.: 1837, Dickens, "'I may as vel have a rinse," remarked Mr Weller' (OED).—2. A drink: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. C.20 gargle.

rinse, v.i. To drink, esp. liquor: from ca. 1870. Prob. ex rinse down (with liquor).

rinse a sock. Esp. in 'I must go and rinse a sock' = I need to urinate: heard in Yorkshire, but prob. more gen. (E.W. Bishop, 1978.) Cf. synon. strain the greens, squeeze a lemon, etc.

rinse-pitcher. A toper: coll.: ca. 1550–1640. Bullein (OED).

Rio. Rio de Janeiro: coll., mostly nautical: mid-C.19–20. W.McFee, The Beachcomber, 1935.

Rio Tinto, the. The 'Glasgow to Carlisle parcels train' (Railway, 2nd): since ca. 1950. Presumably ex the Portuguese or the Spanish town so named.

riot. A person, an incident, or a thing that is very amusing or very laughable: upper classes': from ca. 1931. E.g. 'That girl's a riot!' An early occurrence is in Noël Coward, Design for Living, pub. 1933.

Riot Act (to), read the. To reprove, administer a reproof: coll.: from ca. 1880.—2. To read the Fire Arms Act to prisoners about to be discharged: prisons': since ca. 1920. Norman.

riot good time, have – or be having – a. To have a riotously good time: since ca. 1950. (Petch, 1966.) Cf. riot. Riot good time is also a pun on right good time, a thoroughly good time.

rip, n. A mild term of reproof: coll. and dial.: C.19–20. Ex rip, a rake, which may be ex reprobate. Rarely applied to a female, but cf.:—2. 'A coarse ill-conditioned woman with a bad tongue' (P.W. Joyce, English ... in Ireland, 1910): Anglo-Irish coll.: mid-C.19–20.—3. A quick run, a rush: coll. ex dial.: from ca. 1870; ob. in coll.—4. A sword: ca. 1690–1750. (Ned Ward, 1700, where spelt ripp: Matthews.) Proleptic.—5. A reproof indicated by a master's tearing up of work shown up to him: Eton: C.20. He tears the sheet or sheets of paper. J.D.R. McConnell, Eton: How it Works, 1967, pp. 82–3; with synonym tear-over.

rip, v. To annoy intensely; to disgust: Aus.: since ca. 1921. Rats, 'Wouldn't it rip you!' See wouldn't it!, and:—2. As ripl, an exclamation: coll.: late C.16–mid-17. Cf. rip mel—3. In let her rip!, let it (animal, machine, music, etc.) go!; start it up!; adopted ex US ca. 1875; in C.20, coll. Cf.:—4. In let him, or her, rip!, a callous punning on r.i.p., i.e. requiescat in pace, let him (her) rest in peace: late C.19–20.

rip and tear. To be very angry: ca. 1870–1930: coll. and dial. Prob. on rip and swear, an intensive of dial. rip, to use bad language, to swear.

rip hell out of. To defeat severely (in a fight); to reproach, or reprove, bitterly: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

rip into. To attack, to fight, (someone) with one's fists: Aus.: late C.19–20. Baker.—2. To defeat utterly in a fight; hence, to reprimand or reprove severely or bitterly: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1910. B., 1943.

rip job. 'Anything that looks like a giant tin opener... is very suspicious. It is used for "rip jobs" when opening cheaper safes [i.e. cutting into the weakest side]' (Powis, 1977): c.: since ca. 1930 (Underworld).

rip me! A low coll. asseveration: mid-C.19—early 20. Marriott-Watson.

rip-off, n. Corresponds to all senses of the v.:

rip off, v. 'To treat with contemptuous disregard; hence, to swindle' (Observer mag., 15 July 1973): adopted, ca. 1968, ex US. (R.S.)—2. 'To abandon, break away from' (Ibid.): id.—3. Illegally to take—and claim as one's own—something belonging to, esp., the Establishment: mostly teenagers': adopted, ex US, early 1970s.—4. To satirise; burlesque; deride: coll.: earlier 1970s. Melody Maker, 8 July 1972.—5. In the drug traffic, to snatch drugs from, or fail to pass on drugs bought from, someone ('to rip him off'): adopted, ca. 1974, ex US. Daily Telegraph, 12 Jan. 1977 (R.S.). Cf. 3.—6. To overcharge someone—commoner in passive than in active, as 'Don't try that restaurant—we were ripped off something rotten there': coll., since ca. 1970; also Aus. (John B. Gadsdon, 1977; P.B.) Cf. sense 1, to swindle.

rip-off artist. One who excels in the rip-off (in all its senses), of which it is a natural extension—cf. all the other 'artists': coll.: since late 1960s. Beatles.

rip-rap, n; also 'to rip-rap'. A borrowing of, to borrow, money: rhyming s. (on tap): since ca. 1935. Franklyn 2nd.

rip-snorter. Anything exceptionally good; an eccentric or very entertaining person: Aus., adopted ex US, since ca. 1910 (Baker); by ca. 1945, gen.—2. An uncontrolled breaking of wind, as 'He let go a real rip-snorter': since late 1940s. (L.A., 1976.)

rip-track, the. The repair-shops for cars (carriages): Can. railroadmen's:—1920.

Rip Van Winkle money. 'Money earned whilst asleep such as returning to depot as a passenger during the night hours' (McKenna, Glossary): railwaymen's: mid-C.20.

ripe. Drunk: C.19–20; ob. (Bee.) Either ex reeling-ripe (Shakespeare, Tennyson) or ex ripe, (of liquor) fully matured, with the occ. connotation of potent, or merely suggested by mellow.—2. Complete, thoroughgoing, unmitigated; esp. 'a ripe bastard': Services: since ca. 1920. P-G-R.

ripe Richard. See Richard, 3.

ripped. With fly-buttons undone: C.20. I.e. ripped open.

ripper. A person or thing esp. good: 1838, of a ball bowled extremely well at cricket (Lewis): 1851, Mayhew. Prob. ex ripping, adj., q.v.—2. In boxing, a knock-down blow: from ca. 1860; very ob.—3. A notable lie: from ca. 1860; ob. Cf. whopper.—4. One behaving recklessly; a rip: 1877 (OED); ob.—5. A longshoreman taking his fish inland to sell: fishermen's: late C.19–20. Bowen.—6. One who overcharges flagrantly: coll.: since mid-1970s. With off, the agent in the other senses (1–5) of rip-off, v.—7. Hence, ripper!, Aus. exclam. occasioned by an example of rip off, v., 6: from late 1975. (J.B. Gadsdon, 1977.)

ripper deal. A deal 'in which the discount [-offering] dealer is inviting the purchaser to "rip him off"' (J.B. Gadsdon, 1977): Aus. Cf. prec., 6 and 7.

ripping, n. A ceremony (involving the ripping of his gown), 'incidental to the departure of a Senior Colleger for King's College, Cambridge' (F. & H.): Eton College: C.19–20: s. > coll. > j. ripping, adj. Excellent; very fast; very entertaining: 1826, Sporting Magazine, 'At a ripping pace'; 1858, 'Ripping Burton' (ale). OED. Cf. rattling, stunning thundering (W.). By 1930, slightly—by 1945, very—ob.; and by 1966 branding a user as antediluvian. Cf. the quot'n at top-hole.—2. Occ. it verges on the advl., as in 'A ripping fine story' (Baumann, 1887) and 'A ripping good testimonial' (Conan Doyle, 1894: OED). Cf.:-

rippingly. Excellently; capitably; splendidly: 1892 (Hume Nisbet).

rise, n. A rise in salary: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.: 1837, Dickens, 'Eighteen bob a-week, and a rise if he behaved himself'.—2. In Aus., 'an accession of fortune' (C.J. Dennis): coll.: late C.19–20.—3. A fit of anger: Eton s. (An Eton Boy, A Day of My Life,—1880: Dr N. Haislund); Cockney coll. (H.W. Nevinson, Neighbours of Ours, 1895). See v., 2.—4. A disturbance or commotion: low: ca. 1840–70. Sinks, 1848.—5. An erection; esp. in get or have a rise, to experience an erection, and (of the female) give a rise, to excite a male sexually: raffish coll.: late (perhaps throughout) C.19–20. Cf. hard-on; beat.

rise, v. To raise, grow, rear: coll. (in C.20, almost a sol., certainly low coll.): 1844, Dickens, 'Where was you rose?' (OED).—2. To listen credulously, often—esp. in C.20—with the connotation of to grow foolishly angry: coll.: 1856 (Whyte-Melville). Ex a fish rising to the bait: cf. bite, v., q.v., and the S.E. get, have, or take a rise out of a person.

rise a barney. To collect a crowd: showmen's: from ca. 1855. H., 1st ed.

rise a plant. See plant, n., 2.

rise and shine. (Gen. in imperative; orig., in RN, rouse...; in WW2 and since, often prec. by wakey, wakey!) To get up in the morning: Services': C.20. (F. & G.) The imperative is partly c.p., partly j.; c.p. esp. when accompanied by 'The sun's scorching your eyeballs out!' (before it has even risen). See DCpp.—2. Hence, joc. applied to, or used by, father calling son in morning: 1945+.—3. In the game of House: 49. Lewis Hastings, Dragons Are Extra, 1947.

rise (or raise) arse upwards. To be lucky: coll.: ca. 1670–1800. (Ray.) Rising thus from the ground was regarded as lucky. rise in the world, give (someone) a. To kick in the behind: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Baker.

rise to the occasion. To have an erection when desirable or suitable: raffish: since ca. 1920. Cf. rise, n., 5.

risk, n. Doubt: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. In Alex Buzo, Norm and Ahmed, prod. 1968, Norm—an 'ocker' of the worst kind—says, 'Mind you, if a mug coper ever started pushing me around, I'd job him proper, no risk of that'.—2. In take a risk, to risk venereal infection: euph. coll.: mid-C.19–20.

risky. Secretly adulterous: Society coll.: ca. 1890–1905. 'John Strange Winter' (Ware).

risley. See buffer, 1. In vaudeville a risley is 'a performance in which a man lies on his back on a special couch and juggles a boy or a small person with his feet' (Leechman): C.20.

rispin. See respun.

risy, adj. Apt to, trying to, take a rise out of persons: Cockney: C.20. Esp. 'Don't be risy!' (Heard on 21 Aug. 1936.)

Rit, rit. A ritualistic Anglican clergyman: university: ca. 1870–1910. Ware.—2. Ritalin, a stimulant drug: drugs world: later C.20. New Society, 11 Aug. 1983, p. 203.

rith. Three: back s.:—1923 (Manchon). Cf. erih.

ritualistic knee. A sore knee caused by kneeling at prayers: medical coll.: ca. 1840–60. Ware.

ritzy. Rich; stylish, fashionable: adopted ca. 1935 from US. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937, 'Ritzy-looking dames with dogs.' Ex the various Ritz hotels in the great capitals, esp. that in London. (See my Name into Word.)

ritzy tart. Any upper- or middle-class woman or girl, esp. if she dresses well and speaks well: since ca. 1945. Tempest, 1950.

river. 'An accidental effect produced in a page of type, when spaces occur in succeeding lines in such a way as to lie almost above each other, thus forming long thin lines (rivers), more easily observed when the page is held nearly level: printers' and publishers': from about 1910' (Leechman).—2. In up the river, reported, to the Trade Union officials for speeding: workers':—1935. Perhaps ex American c., wherein sent up the river=sent to prison.—3. See river ooze.

river finder. A beachcomber on freshwater rivers: ca. 1820–90. Peppitt cites H. Mayhew's London Labour and the London Poor, 1851.

river hog or pig. A lumberman specialising in river work: Can. lumbermen's: C.20. John Beames.

River Lea. Tea: rhyming s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.); ob. by 1959 (Franklyn, Rhyming).—2. The sea: id.:—1903 (F. & H.); † (Franklyn, Ibid.).

river ooze or River Ouse, the; usu. simply the river. Strong drink: c.: since ca. 1910; by ca. 1950, also low s. (Robin Cook, 1962.) Rhyming on booze. As 'a drinking bout' it is listed in B. & P., 1930.

river pig. See river hog.

river(-)rat. 'A riverside thief: specifically one who robs the corpses of men drowned' (F. & H.). In the former sense, S.E.; in the latter, c.: from ca. 1880.—2. A member of London's harbour police: late C.19—early 20. W.G. Carr, 1939 (Moe).

river tick; gen. River Tick. (F. & H. refers us to tick, where, however, no reference is made to r.t.) Standing debts discharged at the end of one's undergraduate days: Oxford University: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

Riverina. A shilling: Aus. rhyming s., on synon. deaner: ca. 1920–66. B., 1943.

riveted, ppl adj. Married: app. ca. 1695–1730. Congreve, The Way of the World, 1700. (G.H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.) Cf. 'the modern spliced and tied up, the Scottish buckled, and the Australian hitched or ... hitched up' (Slang, p. 64).—2. Fascinated, as in 'The truth is that she is riveted by butterflies' (Ena Kendall, Observer, 13 July 1980). Ex-riveting. Very exciting; fascinating: upper-class: since ca. 1955. Dick Francis, Rat Race, 1970, "'Darling," she said, "Too riveting. Nothing would stop me."' Prob. ex S.E. 'to fasten one's attention upon'. P.B.: in more gen. media use from late 1970s. See quot'n at Sloane Rangers.

rivets. Money: ca. 1840–1910. (Sinks, 1848.) Prob. suggested by brads. P.B.: perhaps 'to keep body and soul together'?

rizzle. 'To enjoy a short period of absolute idleness after a meal': provincial s. (not in EDD): 1890, Cassell's Saturday Journal, 2 Aug., 'the newest of new verbs'. Perhaps ex dial. rizzle, to dry by the heat of sun or fire, via the notion of sunning oneself.

Ro-Ro. A Rolls-Royce motorcar: motorists': since mid-C.20. (P.B.) Cf. synon. Roller.—2. As ro-ro, n. and adj., roll-on/roll-off ship, 'designed to carry trailers, containers, rolling stock' (North Sea Observer, 26 Feb. 1979); the concept of operating such vessels: nautical coll., since 1960s (Leo Madigan), prob. > j. (P.B.)

roach. A cockroach, by abbr.: prob. orig. coll., 1836 (SOD), > in C.20 S.E.—2. See sound as a bell.—3. The butt of a 'joint' (marijuana cigarette): drug world: adopted, latish 1960s, ex US.

roach and dace. The face: rhyming s.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.).

road. A harlot: coll.: late C.16–17. Shakespeare.—2. The female pudend: C.(?)17–19: either low coll. or S.E. euph. Cf. road-making, q.v.—3. Way, manner; esp. in any road, occ. anyroad: non-aristocratic, non-cultured coll.: late C.19–20. In dial. before 1886; Aus. by 1888 ('Boldrewood'). P. MacDonal, Rope to Spare, 1932, 'Anyroad, sir, to cut a long story short, I gets down to the mill-'ouse'. P.B.: in Midlands and Northern coll., C.20, often 'any road up'. Ex:—4. Direction; esp. all roads, in every direction: (mostly lower-class) coll.: mid-C.19–20.—5. As the Road, Charing Cross Road: book-sellers' coll.: late C.19–20.—6. In get the road, to be dismissed from employment: Glasgow:—1934. Cf. the Aus. coll. on the road, out of work: C.20 (B., 1942); and walking-orders, q.v.—7. In gentleman or knight of the road, a highwayman: C.18–19: coll. > journalistic S.E. See knight of the ...—8. See give the road.

road-hog. An inconsiderate (cyclist or) motorist: 1898 (OED), though, in US, as early as 1891, of a cyclist: coll. >, by 1910, S.E.

road louse. A small car that, holding the road and proceeding, stately, at about 25 m.p.h., refuses, when hooted at, to move to the side: Cambridge undergraduates' (1930) >, by 1935, rather more gen. Prob. orig. a pun on wood-louse (P.B.).

road-making; road up for repairs. A low phrase indicating menstruation: mid-C.19–20. See road, 2.

road-roller. A bushman; a 'hick': NZ: earlier C.20. Jean Devanney, Bushman Burke, 1930.

road-starver. A long coat without pockets: mendicants' c.: ca. 1881–1914. Ware.

roadster. A roadster, or horse for riding on the roads: rural coll.: late C.18–19. L.L.G., 3 Jan. 1824 (Moe).—2. 'A parcel to be put out at a roadside station' (The Times, 14 Feb. 1902): railway coll. OED.—3. A young 'swell' in the Mile End Road: East London: early C.20. Ware.

roadie, -y. The road manager of a touring 'pop group' company of musicians: since early 1950s. (Groupie, 1968.) By 1960, broadened to:—2. 'The roadies are the hired mercenaries of the music business, a tough and self-sufficient group of men whose duties are to care for the equipment, get it arranged and set up for the concerts, and to anticipate the wishes of their masters' (caption in Alexander Frater's article 'They Came Off with Mussorgsky', Daily Telegraph mag., 17 Nov. 1972): world of entertainment. They keep the show on the road.

roadman's hammer. 'A mythical tool called for by all [coal-]miners who have difficulty in moving tubs along roadways: the cure for all their ills' (Pit-Talk, 1970, ed. W. Forster). Cf. sky-hook.

roadster. A tramp: coll.: late C.19–20.

roaf. (Cf. rouf, q.v.) Four: back s.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.). Ex the sol. pron. of four as foär or foër. Tempest, 1950, records rofe, 'Four years penal servitude', with which contrast rofeñil.—2. Whence (same period) roaf gen, four shillings; roaf yanneps, fourpence.

roam on the rush. (Of a jockey) to swerve 'from the straight line at the finish [of a race] when the rush takes place': turf: from ca. 1870. B. & L.

roar. (Of horses) to breathe noisily: 1880 (OED): coll. >, in C.20, S.E. Cf. roarer, 1.—2. (Of cattle) to low continuously, whence the n. roaring: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. B., 1943.

roar up. To speak abusively to; shout at: proletarian: earlier C.20. F. & G.—2. Hence, to reprimand: Aus., mostly juvenile: since ca. 1940. B., 1953.—3. To scrounge; to find by hustling: army: WW2. P-G-R.—4. (Of destroyers) to attack: RN coll.: WW2. P-G-R, 'Roar in, roar up, and roar out again'.

roaratorio. See roratorio.

roaration. See roration.

roaratorious. See roritorious.

roarer. A broken-winded horse: from ca. 1810: coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. (Lex. Bal.) Cf. roar, v.—2. A riotously noisy reveller or bully: late C.16—early 18: coll. (D. Rowland, 1586; 1709, Steele.) Ex roar, rore, to riot. OED.—3. A noisy or a rousing song: 1837 (Marryat): coll., though the OED considers it S.E.—4. As the Roarer, the Southern Aurora, a Melbourne—Sydney train: Aus.: 1962+. (B.P.)

roaring, n. The disease in horses noted at roar and at roarer, 1. From ca. 1820: coll. >, by 1900, S.E.

roaring, adj. Brisk, successful, esp. in roaring trade: from ca. 1790: coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. Grose, 3rd ed.—2. Boisterous; (of health) exuberant: 1848 (Thackeray: OED).

roaring, adv. Extremely; very greatly: lower classes' coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

roaring blade, boy, girl, lad, ruffian. A street bully; a riotous, noisy, lawless female: C.17—mid-18 (later, only archaic): coll. A roaring blade, 1640, Humphry Mill; r. boy, 1611, J. Davies (OED); r. girl, 1611, Middleton & Dekker (title); r. lad, 1658, Rowley, etc. (but current from ca. 1610); r. ruffian, 1664, Cotton.

roaring forties; R.F. 'The degrees of latitude between 40° and 50° N—the most tempestuous part of the Atlantic' (F. & H.); occ. the corresponding zone in the South Atlantic. Nautical coll.; in C.20, S.E. From ca. 1880.—2. Hence, Lt-Cdrs between 40 and 50 years of age: since ca. 1917; esp. in 1939–45. P-G-R.

roarin' horn. An urgent erection: low Aus.: late C.19–20. Cf. roaring jack.

roaring horsetails. The aurora australis: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

roaring Jack, have a. To have an urgent erection: low: late C.19–20. Clamant—and cf. Jack in a box, in the sense, penis.

roaring ruffian. See roaring blade.

roast, n. See bake, at AUSTRALIAN . . . , in Appendix; smell of the roast.

roast, v. To arrest: c.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E.; Grose, 2nd ed.) Perhaps on (ar)rest, via the idea of giving a person a hot time.—2. (Also roast brown.) To watch closely: c.: 1888, G.R. Sims, 'A reeler was roasting me brown.' Cf. roasting, n., c. sense.—3. To ridicule, to quiz (a person), severely or cruelly: 1726 (Shelvocke): s. >, ca. 1760, coll.; ob. Cf. to warm. (OED.) In C.20 Glasgow, esp. to pester.—4. In telegraphy, to click off a message so fast that it cannot be followed by (a person; v.t.): 1888 (OED): telegraph-operators'.

roast a stone. To waste time and energy: coll.: ca. 1520–1620. Skelton. Apperson.

Roast and Boiled, the. The Life Guards; military: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 2nd ed., '[They] are mostly substantial house-keepers, and eat daily of roast and boiled,' i.e. roast meat and boiled potatoes. Cf. roast-meat clothes, q.v.

roast-beef dress. Full uniform: naval coll.:—1867; ob. (Smyth.) The term roast-beef coat occurs in Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe). Either ex roast-meat clothes, q.v., or ex the uniform of the royal beefeaters.

roast brown. A C.20 var. of roast, v., 2. Manchon.

roast (h) and an(d) new (or noo). Roast shoulder (of mutton) and new potatoes: eating-house waiters':—1909 (Ware).

roast meat. In cry roast meat, to talk about one's good fortune or good luck: coll.: C.17–early 19. (Camden, B.E., Grose, Fielding, Lamb.) Northall, 1894, notes that in dial. it also = to boast of women's favours. (Apperson.)—2. In give (someone) roast meat and beat with the spit, 'To do one a Courtesy, and Twit or Upbraid him with it' (B.E.): coll.: ca. 1670–1820.

roast-meat clothes. Sunday or holiday clothes: coll.: late C.17–mid-19. B.E., Grose.

roast meat for worms, make (one). To kill: coll.: late C.16–early 18. (Shakespeare.) Cf. the joc. S.E. food for the worms.

roast pork. To, a, talk: rhyming s.: since ca. 1910. Often, as v., shortened to roast. Cf. rabbit and pork. —2. A table fork: rhyming s., since ca. 1930; esp. in the army, 1939–45. Both: Franklyn, Rhyming.

roast snow in a furnace. To attempt the absurd or unnecessary: coll.: C.19–20; ob. Apperson.

roast to roast, turn. From arrogant to become humble: coll.: C.16. (Halliwell.) Prob. ex the humbling of a boastful cook, roast being rust.

roasted tailor's goose. See goose, n., 1.

roaster. A person burnt to death in a crash: RAF:—1935. Cf. roaster or boiler, applied to cooking fowl.—2. An extremely hot day; a heat wave: coll.: late C.19–20. Cf. scorcher, 2.—3. A 'hot dog': since late 1940s.

roasting, vbl n. of roast, v., in all senses except the first; sense 2 occurs mostly in give (one) roasting, recorded for 1879, and in get a roasting, to be very closely watched.

roasting-jack. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19–20; ob. Ex S.E. sense.

Rob All My Comrades. The Royal Army Medical Corps: military, more gen. as c.p. than as nickname: WW1, but rare after 1916. (F. & G.) Cf.:-

Rob Every Poor Soldier. The Royal Engineers Postal Services: army: 1920s–30s.

rob my pal. A girl: rhyming s. (on gal): C.20. The modern version of Bob my pal. Franklyn, Rhyming.

rob-(o)-Davy. Metheglin: a mid-C.16–mid-17 coll. var. of roberdavy. Taylor the 'Water Poet'.

rob Peter to pay Paul. See Peter to pay Paul, rob.

Rob Roy. Boy: rhyming: since ca. 1860. Since ca. 1930, †; apparently never at all general, says Franklyn.

rob the barber. To wear long hair: lower classes' coll.: late C.19–20. Ware.

rob(-)the(-)ruffian. The female pudend: low coll.: C.19–early 20.

roba. Short for bona roba. Middleton, Blurt Master Constable, 1602 (Moe).

Robbers. A var.—and derivative—of Rob All My Comrades: WW1.

robbo. A cab or buggy plying for hire: Aus.: ca. 1880–1910. (Baker.) See Wilkes for origin ex one Robinson, who undercut other cab-drivers.

Robbo Park. Rosebery Park racecourse: Aus.: C.20. (Baker.) 'Now closed' (B.P., 1963).

robe. A wardrobe: furniture-dealers' coll.: late C.19–20. (Spectator, 7 June 1935.) Cf. board, n., 2: they may be written 'board and 'robe.

Robberdsmen, Robert's men, etc. 'The third (old) Rank of the Canting Crew, mighty Thieves, like Robin-hood' (B.E.): c.: C.16–17. In other than this technical sense, it covers the period C.14–20 and is S.E., though long archaic. Prob. on Robert + robber.

Robert, Roberto. A policeman: coll.: resp. 1870, ca. 1890; both ob. Ex Robert Peel. Cf. Bobby.—2. A shilling (ex bob, in this sense); esp. in accept Her Majesty's Robert, to enlist in the Regular Army: military: ca. 1860–1901. Robert Blatchford, My Life in the Army, 1910.—3. A spell of watch below, or a short rest at any time: deepsea trawlers': C.20. 'I've given the brats a Robert' (L. Luard, All Hands, 1933). P.B.: perhaps ex 'bob down'.

Robert E. Lee. A quay: London dockland rhyming s.: C.20.

Robertson & Moffat; usu. Robertson. A profit: Aus. rhyming s.: since ca. 1930. B., 1945.

robin. A penny: low: ca. 1890–1920.—2. 'A little boy or girl beggar standing about like a starved robin' (Ware): c. and low: late C.19–early 20.—3. As Robin, 'inevitable' nickname of any man surnamed Hood: perhaps since late C.19. (Petch, 1974.) Cf. 'Dick' Whittington.—4. See Robin Redbreast, 1; also short for Robin Hood, good.

Robin Hog. (Prob.) a constable: coll.: early C.18. (OED.) Cf. pig, in the sense of policeman.

Robin Hood, n. An audacious lie: coll.: ?C.18–19. (F. & H.) Abbr. tale of Robin Hood.—2. In the Services' c.p. applied, usu. joc., to e.g. a company quarter-master sergeant, 'They used to call 'im Robin 'Ood—now they call 'im robbin' bastard!': since mid-C.20, perhaps earlier. (P.B.)

Robin Hood, adj. Good: from ca. 1870. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

Robin Hoods, the. 'The 7th (Territorial) Battalion of the Sherwood Foresters': army nickname: late C.19–20. (F. & G.) Sherwood Forest was Robin Hood's reputed haunt.

Robin Hood('s) bargain. A great bargain: coll.: C.18.

Robin Hood's choice. This—or nothing: coll.: C.17. (Apperson.) Cf. Buckley's or Hobson's choice.

Robin Hood's mile. A distance two or three times greater than a mile: coll.: ca. 1550–1700. Almost proverbial.

Robin Hood's pennyworth. Anything sold at a robber's price, i.e. far too cheaply: coll.: C.17, and prob. earlier. (OED.) Cf. the C.19 proverb, pirates may make cheap penny-worths of their pillage, and Robin Hood's bargain.

Robin Redbreast (or r-r). A Bow-Street runner: (late C.18–) early C.19. Also robin and redbreast. Ex their distinctive red waistcoats; these forerunners of the Metropolitan Police ceased to operate in 1829. The nickname occurs in, e.g., W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 116), 1829 (Moe).—2. A military policeman: WW1. (Wilfred Saint-Mandé, War, Wine and Women, 1931.) Prob. ex his red-topped hat rather than a hark-back to sense 1 (P.B.).

Robin Ruddock. Gold coin: ?late C.16–mid-18. (Manchon.) See ruddock, 1.

robin's-eye. A scab (sore): low: mid-C.19–early 20. Ex shape.

Robinson. See Jack Robinson.

Robinson & Cleaver. Fever: Londoners' rhyming: C.20.

Robinson Crusoe. To do so: rhyming s.: late C.19–20; by 1959, ob. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Robinson Crusoe, adj.: e.g., travel..., to travel alone: Aus. teenagers', esp. surfers': since ca. 1962. Pix, 28 Sep. 1963.

robustious was, ca. 1740–90, a coll. See esp. Johnson.

Roby Douglas. The anus: nautical: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1785, 'One eye and a stinking breath': which indicates an allusion to one so named.

Rochester portion. Two torn Smocks, and what Nature gave' (B.E.): late C.17–early 19. (N.B., portion is marriage-portion, dot; what=physical charms in gen., but esp. the genitals in particular.) Cf. the C.18–19 equivalent, a Whitechapel portion. Pegge, 1735, cites R.p. as a Kentish proverb.

rock, n. School (opp. to baker's) bread: Derby School: from ca. 1850. Less s. than coll. > j.—2. A medium-sized stone: Winchester School coll.: from ca. 1860. Perhaps owing to US and Aus. use of rock as a stone however small.—3. A rock cake: coll.: C.20.—4. A bunker (in golf): since ca. 1920. Daily Mail, 16 Aug. 1939.—5. As the Rock, Gibraltar: coll.: prob. since early C.19, for it occurs in Fredk Marryat, Frank Mildmay, 1829, p. 115 of the 1897 edition (Moe). Ex Gibraltar's main feature.—6. Rare sing. of rocks, 1.

rock, v. To speak: tramps' c. and market-traders': late C.19–20, and still, 1976, actively current among the latter (M.T.). Abbr. rock, q.v.—2. To hurl stones at: coll.: late C.19. R. Kipling, Stalky & Co., 1899, 'D'you remember the night Rabbits-Eggs rocked King?'—3. To startle (someone) with news or assertion: mostly RAF: since late 1941. H. & P., 1943, 'A new version of shake'. P.B.: since WW2, much more gen. and, esp., journalistic, as 'The City was today rocked by the news that...'. As L.A. notes, 1974, sometimes elab. to rock (someone) to (e.g. his) foundations, really to astound.

rock-a-low. An overcoat: dial. and (low) coll.:—1860; ob. by 1890, † by 1910. (H., 2nd ed.)=Fr. roquelaur.

Rock Apes, the. Personnel of the RAF Regiment: Services'; prob. orig. RAF in Gibraltar (cf. the barbary apes kept as mascots of the garrison there): since WW2.

rock-bottom seats. Slatted seats in the buses of war-time construction: 1941+.

rock cake. A bore: a nuisance: RAF in India: ca. 1925–35. (G/Capt. Arnold Wall, letter, 1945.) Rhyming on bake, n., 3.

rock-creeper. A coastal ship: nautical: since ca. 1870. (Jack Lawson, A Man's Life, 1932.) Cf. rock-nosing.

Rock Dodgers, the. Pilots and their aircraft flying to the Western Isles: RAF Transport Command: 1944–5. They have to be! (S/Ldr Vernon Noble, 1945.)

Rock-happy. Suffering from acute melancholia occasioned by too long service at Gibraltar: RN: since ca. 1939. Cf. rock, n., 5, happy, 2, and Orkneyitis.

rock-hopper. 'A person who fishes from rocks on a sea coast' (B., 1959): Aus.: since ca. 1930.

rock in. To accelerate or intensify; esp. rock it in!, hurry up: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942. Cf.—

rock it in. To talk, esp. aggressively or boastfully: Aus. low: C.20. Rats, 1944, 'Nearly all of 'em could speak English, an' they starts to rock it in about the war.' A fusion of three ideas: that of rock, v., 1, that of pitch, n., 4 and that of pitch in, 1. Glassop, Ibid.: 'We rocked it back'—i.e. retorted.

rock-nosing. 'Inshore boat work in the old whalers': whalers' coll.: ca. 1850–1910. Bowen.

rock of ages. Wages: rhyming s.: C.20.—2. In by the rock of ages, relying on sight; without a measure: tailors'. (Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928.) Cf.—

rock of eye and rule of thumb, do by. To guess instead of measuring precisely: tailors': from ca. 1860. Presumably rock=a movement to and fro.

rock on—Tommy! A c.p. originated by the comedians Bobby Ball and Tommy Cannon: since later 1970s. Seen as slogan on the windscreen of a heavy lorry, 1981. (P.B.)

Rock(-)Scorpion. A mongrel Gibraltarine: Services': since early C.19. An early occurrence is in Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe). Ex rock, n., 5. Also Rock lizard. In C.20, often Rock Scorp, as in Percy F. Westerman, The Terror of the Seas, 1927. Cf. S.E. Rock English, the Lingua Franca spoken at Gibraltar (Borrow, 1842).—2. (Often Rock Scorp.) A Gibraltar policeman: RN: C.20. Granville.

rock spider. A petty thief that robs amorous couples sporting in parks or by the seashore: Aus. c.: since ca. 1939. B., 1953.

rock the boat. To disturb the status quo: since ca. 1920. Hence sit down—you're rocking...! and Don't rock the boat!, 'exhortation to someone about to disturb a comfortable situation' (Norman Franklin, 1976).

rocked. Absent-minded, forgetful: low:—1812; † by 1900. (Vaux.) Ex—rocked in a stone kitchen. A little weak in the head; foolish: coll.: late C.18–19. Grose, 2nd ed., 'His brains having been disordered by the jumbling of his cradle' on the stone floor. Cf. half-rocked.

rock, n. A devotee of rock-and-roll: since ca. 1959; by 1966, ob.—2. A youthful motor-cyclist given to 'rocking' his machine as he rides and aspiring to be a 'ton-up' boy, doing 100 miles an hour: since ca. 1960.—3. Hence, a leather-jacketed non-surfer, esp. one of the Rockers gang; 'a youth who would formerly have been a motor-bike fiend' (B.P.): Sydney teenagers': 'not heard before 1962'. See Rockers for the Brit. version.—4. A song—or the recording of one—exhibiting the characteristics of rock-and-roll: Anglo-American: since ca. 1965. Beatles.—5. In off (one's) rock, (temporarily) mad, q.v. at off (one's)...

rock (or rokker); occ. rock, q.v. To speak: tramps' c.: from ca. 1850; since ca. 1900, gen. low s. H., 5th ed., 1874; C. Hindley, 1876, 'Can you rocker Romany...?'; A. Morrison, 1894, 'Hewitt could rocker better than most Romany chals themselves.' Ex Romany roker (Sampson's raker), to talk, speak, with variant voker (cf. L. vox, vocare); cf. Romany roker (olmengro, lit. a talk-man, i.e. a lawyer. Still current, later C.20, among market-traders (M.T., 1979, gives the same example as Hindley).—2. Hence, to understand: C.20. Pugh (2), "'An' I must have 'em to go away with. Rokker?" "Yes, Chick," she faltered.' Ex Romany.

Rockers and Mods (both rare in singular). 'Teenagers today are split into two fairly even factions—the Rockers and the Mods. Their difference is simple: Mods are the fashion-conscious, with-it teenagers; Rockers are the old-fashioned, ton-up kids who think more of motor-bikes than themselves. Their only link lines are pop music and the fact that they are both young' (Cathy McGowan's article 'Rockers and Mods', TV Times, 29 Nov. 1963): since ca. 1960. The Rockers 'rock' their machines; the Mods tend to ride motor-scooters. P.B.: Rockers rather ex rock-and-roll music; the terms are still current, 1983.

rocket. A severe reprimand (stronger than raspberry, 4): Army officers': since ca. 1934. 'To stop a rocket—receive a reprimand' (New Statesman, 30 Aug. 1941); 'An exceptionally severe one is either an imperial rocket or an outside in rockets' (E.P., New Statesman, 1 Aug. 1942); by late 1941, in fairly gen. use in the RAF also—witness Jackson; and by 1942, in the RN—witness Granville. It blows the recipient sky-high. Whence the var. pyrotechnic.—2. In off (one's) rocket, an army perversion, WW1, of off (one's) rock, q.v. at off (one's)... F. & G.

rockie. See rocky, n.

rockiness. Crazyness: from ca. 1898. Cf. rocked, and off (one's) rock, q.v. at off (one's)...

rocking horse. An 'oscillating guards van' (Railway): railwaymen's: late C.19–20.—2. Sauce: later C.20. Ronnie Barker, Fletcher's Book of Rhyming Slang, 1979.

rocking-horse manure. Applied to anything extremely scarce: Aus. and Brit. low: since mid-C.20. E.g., as in 'Getting a chance to use [my] skills and put the theory into practice is like finding rocking-horse manure' (Hawke).

rocks. Jewels; pearls; precious stocks: c.: from ca. 1920. Ex US rocks, diamonds. Tempest, 1950, has 'Diamonds. More popularly referred to as "ice" [q.v.]', and notes that the term was then rare.—2. Teeth: C.20.—3. Short for rock of ages, 1, wages.—4. In on the rocks, without means: coll. (—1889) >, by 1910, S.E. Ex stranded ship.—5. In on the rocks, (of a strong drink) 'without water or soda, but simply poured over the rocks (lumps of ice)': Can.: adopted, ca. 1945, ex US; by 1958, also fairly gen. English. (Leechman.) P.B.: perhaps cf. quot'n at sense 1.—6. In pile up the rocks, to make money: US (rocks, money, 1847), partly anglicised ca. 1895. Kipling uses it in 1897 (OED). Prob. ex rock=a nugget: cf. sense 1, and rock, n., 2.—7. In get (one's) rocks off, of the male, to copulate: later C.20. 'Much of the average King's Cross working girl's working life would be spent in the back of the punter's cars where, by one cramped means or another, rocks could be got off as quickly as physiologically possible' (John Diamant, on prostitution, Time Out, 3–9 Dec. 1982, p. 23). Ex US: W. & F., 1975, define as 'ejaculate' (from 'rocks', = testicles), and date from 1973.

rocks and boulders. (The) shoulders: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. B. & P.

rocky, n. A Royal Naval Reserve or Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve rating: RN 'proper': from ca. 1890 and ca. 1914. (Bowen.) Granville, however, defines rockies as 'RNR, or RNVR officers' and implies that in both nuances the word was still current in 1945. He adds 'An allusion to unsteady sea legs of RNVRs when first at sea. RNRs are professional seamen.'—2. A rock wallaby: Aus.: C.20; by 1950, coll. Jean Devanney, Travels in North Queensland, 1951.—3. A rock melon: Aus.: C.20. B., 1959.

rocky, adj. A vague pej.: e.g. unsatisfactory (weather), unpleasant or hard (for, on a person): 1883 (OED). Ex S.E. rocky, unsteady, unstable, tipsy. Hence go rocky, go wrong.—2. Penniless—or almost: coll.: 1923 (Galsworthy: OED Sup.) Ex rocks, 4.—3. Pertaining to rocky, n., 1. Granville notes Rocky navigator and Rocky scribe (= clerk).

rod. The penis: coll.: C.18–20. Also fishing-rod: C.19–20: s. Cf. the Fr. verge, which is literary.—2. 'Common Americanism affected by youths of a certain type when speaking of a revolver or automatic pistol' (Tempest, 1950): some use in Brit. since ca. 1931. (Pawnshop Murder.) For US usage see Underworld.—3. An overcoat or macintosh: c.: C.20. F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938; Powis, 1977. Perhaps ex rock-a-low.

rod, v.i. and t. To coit (with): low: C.19–20. Ex rod, n., 1. rod at, or under, (one's) girdle. With various vv., it implies a whipping, present or past: coll. verging on S.E.: ca. 1579–1620. Lyly, Jonson. OED.

rod in pickle. A C.19 euph. for rods in piss. 'Mr Bull has a "pretty rod in pickle" for Russia or any other power that should dare to encroach upon our Indian Empire' (T. Gowing, A Soldier's Experience, 1901).—2. A good horse that is being either reserved or nursed for a sure win: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1930. Lawson Glassop, 1949.

rod-maker. The man who made the rods used in Bibling (q.v.), Mansfield, referring to ca. 1840: Winchester School: coll. > j.; † by 1920.

roddy. A rhododendron: London lower-class coll.: 1851 (Mayhew: EDD). Cf. rhody, q.v.

rodger. See roger, v.

rodney or R. A (very) idle fellow: coll.: ca. 1865–1905. (Jerome Caminada, Detective Life, 1895.) Ex dial., where still extant, in the North and Midlands. Cf. the sad declension of Sauney.—2. A S. Wales railwaymen's nickname 'for last Saturday night trains from Newport and Cardiff for valley destination' (Railway, 2nd): C.20.

Rodney boater. 'Careless individual keeping an untidy boat. A slum-dweller of the inland waterways' (Donald J. Smith, Horse on the Cut, 1982, p. 178): inland waterways: C.20. 'Probably a very local piece of slang' (Anthony Hemming, to whom I owe the ref.: P.B.).

Rod's. Harrod's (London): Londoners': since ca. 1945. Cf. Fred's.

rods in piss. A prospective punishment, scolding: low coll.: from ca. 1620. Mabbie, 1623; Cotton, Virgil Travestie, 1678; Thomas Middleton, Family of Love, at V, i, 'Steep rods in piss'. Like brine, urine hardens canes; cf. rod in pickle.

roe. The semen: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Hence, shoot one's roe, emit. Ex fish-roe.

rofeñil; occ. ro(u)ñ-efil. A life sentence: back s. (—1859) of for life. H., 1st ed.

roge, roging. C.16–17 forms of rogue, roguing, qq.v.

roger, n. A beggar pretending to be a university scholar: c. of mid-C.16. (Copland.) Cf. rogue.—2. A goose: c.: mid-C.16–18. (Harman, Grose.) Also Roger (or Tib) of the buttery: C.16–18.—3. A portmanteau: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Perhaps a corruption of poge.—4. A thief-taker: c. of ca. 1720–60. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) ?via postulated rogue-er, a taker of rogues.—5. The penis: from ca. 1650: perhaps orig. c. Ex the name Roger: cf. dick, John Thomas.—6. A ram: rural coll. of ca. 1760–1900. Ex the name.—7. A bull: coll.:—1785; ob. Grose, 1st ed.—8. A gas-cylinder: army: 1916 (Ware). Ex the code word therefor (F. & G.).—9. Rum: army: from ca. 1912. (F. & G.) Ex a US coon-ditty with the refrain 'O Rogerum!'—10. The naval nickname of the senior officer of each section of the 4th Division of the Home Fleet... A contraction of Rozhdstvensky, the Russian Commander-in-Chief' (Bowen): early C.20.—11. See Jolly Roger; Old Roger.

roger (often rodger), v. To coit with (a woman): low coll., perhaps orig. c.: since early C.18 (? earlier); still current later C.20. In The Secret Diary of William Byrd of Westover, 1709–1712, ed. L.B. Wright and M. Tinling, 1941 (Richmond, Virginia) this gentleman of Virginia was using roger for all his sexual relations with his wife, e.g. 'I rogered her lustily' (26 Dec. 1711) and 'I lay abed till 9 o'clock this morning... and rogered her by way of reconciliation' (1 Jan. 1712). With thanks to an American scholar. Robertson of Struan, 1750, spells it rodger; Grose, 1st ed., 'From the name of Roger, frequently given to a bull'. Cf. n., 5.

roger! All right! OK! Services': since late 1930s. Ex radiotelephony j., the use of the letter R for 'Message received and understood' (see PHONETIC ALPHABETS, in Appendix). Post-WW2 it was often rhyme-elaborated to Roger-dodger, and sometimes shortened from that to Roger-D; ob. by mid-1970s. (P.B.)

Roger Gough. Scrub (or brush) bloodwood: Aus. coll.: from early 1880s. 'An absurd name', Morris: either ex the general that won the battles of Sobraon and Ferozeshah, or, as the Australasian, 28 Aug. 1896, suggests, a corruption of an Aboriginal word now lost.

Roger (or Tib) of the buttery; or r. (or t.)... See roger, n., 2.

Roger the Lodger. A c.p. directed at, or alluding to, a male lodger that makes love to the mistress of the house or apartment: since ca. 1925. Gerald Kersh, Clean, Bright and Slightly Oiled, 1946, "'Proper bloody Bluebeard." "Henry the Eighth," said Knocker White. "Roger the Lodger," said the Sergeant. "Breaking up homes," said the man in the next bed." Roger, because it rhymes with 'lodger'; there is, moreover, a pun on roger, n., 5, and v.

Rogers. 'A ghastly countenance': Society: ca. 1830–50. (Ware.) Ex Rogers, the poet when old, or ex the Jolly Roger of the pirates.

roglan. A four-wheeled vehicle: Shelta: C.18–20. B. & L. rogue, n. A professed beggar of the 4th Order of Canters: c.: mid-C.16–17; then historical. Awdeley implies it in wild rogue; Dekker; B.E.; Grose. Whence S.E. senses. Perhaps an abbr. of roger, n., 1, of problematic origin, unless a perversion of † rorer, a turbulent fellow, on L. rogare, to ask.—2. Short for rogue and villain, or... and Dillon: Cockney and Aus.: late C.19—early 20.

rogue, v. To be a beggar, a vagrant: c. of ca. 1570–1630. Ex the n.

rogue an' Dillon. Var. of rogue and villain: late C.19–early 20.

rogue and pullet. A man and woman confederate in theft: c.: mid-C.19–20.

rogue and villain. A shilling; rhyming s.:—1857 ('Ducange Anglicus'). On shillin'.

rogue in grain. A corn-chandler: ca. 1780–1840. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Lit., a great rogue. Cf.:

rogue in spirit. 'A distiller or brandy merchant' (Grose, 2nd ed.): ca. 1780–1840. Prob. suggested by prec., with a pun on spirit(s).

rogue with one ear. A chamber-pot: late C.17–early 18. Randle Holme.

roguey. Profiteering: RN coll.: late C.19–20. Knock.

Rogues' Gallery, the. 'Used disrespectfully of a collection of photographs of distinguished former officers adorning some of the public rooms, corridors, etc., of an officers' mess' (Cdr C. Parsons, RN ret., 1977). P.B.: and any similar collection anywhere else: C.20.

rogue's salute. 'The single gun on the morning of a court-martial' (Bowen): RN coll.: late C.19–20.

Rogues' Walk, the. From Piccadilly Circus to Bond Street: Society: ca. 1890–1905. Ware.

rogue's yarn. 'Coloured thread found in the heart of government rope to prevent its being stolen' (Granville): RN coll.: early C.19–20. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book (II, 41), 1826 (Moe).

roguing, n. Tramping as rogue or vagrant: ca. 1575–1720: prob. orig. c. Harrison, 1577 (OED). The c. origin is postulated, for roguing is ex rogue, n., via the v. Cf.: roguishness. The being a rogue, q.v.: late C.16–early 17: prob. orig. c.

rogum pogum, or dragum pogram (-um). The plant goat's beard eaten as asparagus: late C.18–mid-19: less s. than dial. and low coll. Grose, 3rd ed., 'So called by the ladies—ironic, this—'who gather cresses, &c.'

roister, royster. In C.17–early 18 c., one of a band of 'rude, Roaring Rogues' (B.E.).

roker. A ruler (esp. flat roker): stick; poker: schools': from ca. 1850. Ex roke, to stir a fire, a liquid (Halliwell).

roker (rare), rokker, v. See rocker.

roll, n. Conceit; 'side'; presumption: Public Schools': since ca. 1870. Esp. in phrase have a roll on; by a pun ex the words 'roll from side to side'. Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906 (Shrewsbury); A. Lunn, The Harrovians, 1913 (Harrow). Cf. lift, a Shrewsbury synon.—2. A fight: RN: since mid-1940s.—3. In go and have a roll!, go to the devil!: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) P.B.: perhaps euph. for go and get fucked!; cf.:—4. In have a roll, to copulate: low: perhaps since ca. 1920. Prob. ex roll in the hay.—5. In be at the top of (someone's) roll, to be heartily scorned by him: army: since ca. 1910. (Frank Richards, 1933.) Cf. later synon. ... shit-list.—6. In a roll big enough to choke a bullock; a roll Jack Rice couldn't jump over; a roll that would choke an ant eater, a very large roll of money: Aus.: since ca. 1945. B., 1959.

roll, v. 'To steal from a man bemused by drink, from an unconscious person, or from one engaged in sexual intimacies' (Powis, 1977): perhaps orig. nautical, esp. of robbing a drunken person, since early C.19 (Alfred Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818: Moe). The word passed to the US and became an underworld term; it was also adopted, ca. 1920, as Aus. c. (B., 1942).—2. To walk, stroll: Marlborough College: from ca. 1925.

roll, bowl, or pitch. Despite all obstacles: coll.: from ca. 1910. Peter Chamberlain, 'Whatever happens, roll, bowl, or pitch.' Cf. S.E. rain or shine. Immediately ex the coconut-shy pitch-holders' patter: 'Three balls a penny—roll, bowl, or pitch' (as Dr Leechman has reminded me).—The nuance is rather that of 'Come what may!'

roll call. 'When a man counts up his money he has "a roll call"' (Muvver): Cockneys': later C.20.

roll 'em! Start filming: cinema: since ca. 1925. (London Evening News, 7 Nov. 1939.) 'They' are of course the cameras.

roll (one's) hoop. To go ahead; be successful (both with connotation of playing safe): coll.: ca. 1870–1930.

roll in every rig. To be up to every trick; be up-to-date: low: Old Song, 1790, 'We roll in every knowing rig.'

roll in (one's) ivories or ivory. To kiss. Tomlinson, Slang Pastoral, 1780, 'To roll in her ivory, to pleasure her eye'. After ca. 1850, always ivories. C.; ob. Cf. ivory, ivories; e.g. flash the ivories.

roll in the hay, n. A little love-making: C.20: orig. rural, then loosely gen.

roll into. To pitch into; to thrash: coll.: Aus. (and US): 1890 ('Rolf Boldrewood': OED).

roll it back. To decelerate; close the throttle-twistgrip: motorcyclists': later C.20. (Dunford.)

roll me in the dirt (occ. hyphenated). A shirt: rhyming s.:—1874; † by 1915. (H., 5th ed.) In late C.19–20, dicky (or Dicky) dirt.

roll me in the gutter. Butter: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. F. & G.

roll-me-in-the-kennel. A spirituous liquor (?gin): ca. 1720–50. See quot'n at bunter's tea.

roll of snow. (A piece of) linen; (bundle of) underclothing: c.:—1839 (Brandon). See snow.

roll on! (Either alone, or prec. by an intensive, e.g. fuckin' roll on!, or followed by an object.) Let it proceed rapidly: coll.: since mid-C.20. A natural development ex the roll on phrases below.—2. Hence, esp. as, e.g., fuckin' roll on!, an exclam. of annoyance, surprise, disgust, etc.: low, prob. mainly Services': since mid-C.20. Cf. synon. deriv. stroll on! (P.B.)

roll on, ...! Despite the following entries, this mainly military expression of longing is already in use during the S. African War. In the Army newspaper The Friend (Bloemfontein), 31 Mar. 1900, appeared some verses by 'Blobswitch' which included the couplet, 'Then you say, "Well, roll on, England," where there ain't no bloomin' lice, / And where there's many a cheap and comfy booser' (quoted in Julian Ralph, War's Brighter Side, 1901).

roll on big ship or ... Blighty! Services' c.p.p., later WW1, expressive of a fervent wish that the war might end (Manchon); revived, with variants, in WW2. The ship that was to take one home; see Blighty.

roll on cocoa! A prison c.p., esp. as the indication of a desire for the evening meal to arrive: from ca. 1919. Gilt Kid, 1936.

roll on Death—demob's too far away! A self-explanatory Services' c.p., esp. among National Servicemen, 1948–62. A derivative var. was ...—and let's have a bash at the angels! (P.B.)

roll on demobilisation. Engines of the Railway Operating Department plying between 'Pop' and 'Wypers': military: 1917–18. (B. & P.) Roll on demob! was the c.p. that united all National Servicemen (see prec.), and no doubt their older brothers who served through WW2. (P.B.) Cf.:-

roll on duration! The WW1 version of roll on demob! 'The volunteers of 1914–15 enlisted for three years or the duration of the war' (B. & P.).

roll on my bloody twelve (pause after 'on'). An RN lowerdeck c.p., indicative of the active-service ratings' longing that their twelve years of service should come to an end: C.20. (Granville.) Cf. roll on ... and roll on that boat. In full, I heard the voice of Moses say, Roll on ... (P-G-R.) See also romft.

roll on, pay-day! A workmen's c.p., uttered by one almost 'broke': since 1919. A c.p. also used by those who, 'fed up' with their job, are looking forward to the week-end: since ca. 1925.

roll on that boat (with a decided pause after 'on'). An RAF overseas c.p. indicative of tedium and homesickness: since ca. 1925. Gerald Emanuel, 1945, 'also abbreviated to "roll on" and "r.o.t.f.b." The boat, by the way, has a name—it's "the good ship Tora Peechy" (from Hindustani "a little later").' See peechy.

roll out. To rise (esp. in the morning): coll.: from ca. 1880. Abbr. roll out of bed.

roll (one's) own. To make extemporaneously: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Ex roll one's own cigarettes. (B.P.) roll the leer. To pick pockets: c.: from ca. 1820; † by 1900. Egan, Boxiana, III, 'The boldest lad/That ever mill'd the cly, or roll'd the leer'.

roll them in the aisle(s). Applied to a comedian that has his audience (them) roll, helpless with laughter, in the aisle(s)—or are in danger of doing so: theatrical, including music-hall: since ca. 1920.

roll-up, n. A roly-poly pudding: coll.; in C.20, S.E. and ob.: 1856 (OED). 1860, George Eliot. Cf. dog in a blanket.—2. A meeting: Aus.: 1861 (OED): coll. till C.20, then S.E.; anticipated in Grose (at Hussar-Leg). 'Roll Boldrewood', 1890, 'As if you'd hired the bell-man for a roll-up'.—3. An order for a 'three-cross double' (q.v.) doubled: Glasgow public houses':—1934.—4. 'Cigarette, handmade, not from packet' (Home Office): prisoners': since—1950 (Tempest); by late 1970s > more gen., if its use in the advertisements for a certain brand of tobacco is anything to judge by (P.B.).—5. Attendance, number of persons present: coll.: C.20. Ex sense 2.—6. 'The roll-ups are those [customers] who have found the genuineness of the goods and walk into the "shop" for repeats' (W. Buchanan-Taylor, Shake it Again, 1943); fair-grounds': since ca. 1910. Cf. sense 2.

roll up, v.i. To assemble: Aus. s. >, ca. 1910, gen. coll.: 1887, J. Farrell, 'The miners all rolled up to see the fun.' Morris. Cf. roll-up, n., 2.—2. Hence, to appear on the scene: coll.: C.20. COD, 1934 Sup.—3. To die: low: C.20 (Richard Llewellyn, None But the Lonely Heart, 1943.) Current in RN, WW1 (Knock).

rolled on Deal Beach. Pitted with smallpox: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex 'the shingly nature of that beach'.

roller. A roll-call: Oxford University: 1883 (OED). Occ. rollers. 'OXFORD -ER'.—2. As Roller, a Rolls-Royce car: motorists'—and others': since ca. 1950. (Ian Kennedy Martin, Regan, 1975.) Cf. Ro-Ro.

roller skate. A small, light wagon. See HAULIERS' SLANG, in Appendix.

roller skates. a tank, or tanks: RAF: 1940+. (Reader's Digest, Feb. 1941, Allan A. Michie & Isabel Waitt, 'Air Slanguage'.) To the airmen overhead, a tank looks as if it moved on roller skates.

rollers. The horse and foot (police) patrols: c.: ca. 1810–40. (Vaux.) Presumably because they rolled along at a great pace.—2. US rolling stock: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1885.—3. See roller, 1.

rollick. To make much fuss; become angry: Londoners': from ca. 1925.—2. As v.t., to 'tell off'; usu. as vbl n., rollicking: low: since ca. 1920. (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938.) It rhymes ballock, v., so may prob. be considered euph.; see rollocks!

Rollickers, the. The 89th Foot Regiment, later the Royal Irish Fusiliers: from ca. 1830: military; ob. (F. & G.) Ex their habits. Also, in 1798+, known as Blayney's Blood-Hounds. rollies, with the o either long or short. Testicles: low: since ca. 1930. Ex (Tommy) Rollocks.

rolling, n. Vbl n. ex roll, v., 1.

rolling, adj. Smart, clever: low: ca. 1770–1870. ?ex rolling blade; cf. rolling kiddy.—2. Very rich: coll.: 1905, H.A. Vachell, 'He's going to marry a girl who's simply rolling' (Manchon). Abbr. rolling in money (or wealth).

rolling billow. A pillow: rhyming s.: late C.19–20; by 1960, ob. Franklyn 2nd.

rolling Joe. A smartly dressed fellow: app. ca. 1830–90. (B. & L.) Cf. rolling, 1, and:

rolling kiddy. A smart thief: c.: ca. 1820–90. Egan, 'With rolling kiddies, Dick would dive and buy'; Lytton.

rolling-motion dickey. The three-wavy-lined blue jean collar worn by the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve before WW1: RN: late C.19–early 20. Bowen.

Rolling Motion Square. 'A square in Lisbon paved in alternate wavy lines of black and white cobbles. In walking across it one got the illusion of a rolling motion and it was said that it made some people feel sea-sick. I am told that it has long since been re-paved with concrete.' (Andrew Haggard, 1947.) 'I was once told that it presented an almost impossible situation to any pedestrian with a few drinks aboard' (Leechman, 1967).

rolling off a log. Var. of falling off a log, q.v. at easy as ...: this version adopted, ex US, ca. 1870.

rolling-pin. The male member: low: mid-C.19–20. Cf. roly-poly, 2.

Rolling Rezzie. HMS Resolution of 1889: RN. Bowen.

rolling sausage gathers no gippo, a. Joc. var.—WW1 and after—of 'a rolling stone gathers no moss'. Gippo = gravy.

rollocks or rollicks! Nonsense!: since ca. 1960. (Jonathan Thomas, 1976.) A shortening of Tommy Rollocks, q.v., testicles.

rolls. A baker: C.19—early 20.: coll. Also, but rather S.E. than coll., master of the rolls: mid-C.18—early 20. Adumbrated by Taylor the 'Water Poet'.—2. As Rolls, a Rolls-Royce motorcar: motorists' coll.: since ca. 1925. Cf. roller, 2.

Rolls-can-hardly. An old car: Aus. youthful car-owners': since ca. 1950. 'Rolls down a hill but can hardly get up the next.' Youthful Aus. car-owners' synonyms: bomb (ironic), jalop(p)y, tin-bitser. (B.P.) Not only Aus.: heard also in Brit., usu. as Rolls-Canardly. On such long dead car names as Dina-Panhard, (P.B.)

rolls in dry dock, she. Disparaging of a ship, esp. of a corvette: RN: WW2 and after. Cf. a corvette would roll on wet grass.

Rolls Royce, n. Voice, esp. a very good one: theatrical rhyming s.; C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

Rolls Royce, adj. Fancy'; expecting too much: RN (esp. wardroom) coll.: since ca. 1918. 'A bit Rolls Royce in his ideas'.

Rolly. A Rollicord or Rolliflex camera: photographers': since ca. 1945.

roly-poly. Un-deux-cinq (a game): Londoners': ca. 1820–50. Bee.—2. A jam roll pudding: 1848 (Thackeray): coll. till ca. 1880, then S.E. Abbr. roly-poly pudding, also in Thackeray (1841). Also roll-up and dog in a blanket.—3. The penis: low: mid-C.19—early 20.—4. 'Miles of buckbrush or "rolypoly", cursed in the sheep country as a pest, but here [in Central Aus.] regarded by the cattlemen as good cattle and camel feed' (Archer Russell, A Tramp Royal, 1934): late C.19–20. Ex appearance.

rom. See rum (adj.).—2. Occ. among tramps, rom = a male gipsy: from ca. 1850. In Romany, rom is a bridegroom, a husband; any (adult) male gipsy: see esp. Sampson.—3. A radar operator mechanic: RAF: 1943+. (Sgt Gerald Emanuel, 1945.) Ex the abbr., more fully R. Op/Mech.

Roman. 'A soldier in the foot guards, who gives up his pay to his captain for leave to work; serving like an ancient Roman, for glory and the love of his country' (Grose, 1st ed.): military: ca. 1780–1830.

Roman Candle. A Roman Catholic: mostly army: late C.19—earlier 20. (Gerald Kersh, They Die with their Boots Clean, 1941.) By a pun on the firework's name, and the RC use of candles (P.B.).—2. See:

Roman(-)candle landing; Roman candles. A bad landing (RAF, since ca. 1938: Jackson); a parachutist's fall to earth when his parachute has failed to open (paratroopers', since 1941: H. & P.). Ex the flare of the parachute from its pack, like an unopened umbrella (P.B.).

Roman fall. That affected posture in walking which throws the head well forward and puts the small of the back well in; mostly among men, the women favouring the Grecian bend, q.v.: coll.: ca. 1868–71. The Orchestra, 25 Mar. 1870.

Roman roulette. Var. of Vatican roulette. Petch cites Margaret Powell, Climbing the Stairs, 1969.

romance. A person obviously in love: from ca. 1926. Ex influence of the cinema.

Romany rye. A gentleman that talks and associates with gypsies: mid-C.19–20: coll. Ex Romany rai or rei, a gentleman. Popularised by Borrow's The Romany Rye, 1857.

romboyle, or -s. The watch (early police): mid-C.17–18 c. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose.) Occ. rumboile, -boyle.

romboyle. To make hue and cry; search for with a warrant: c.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Esp. romboyled, wanted by the constables. Whence rumble, q.v.

rombullion. See rumbullion.

rombustical, rombustious. See rumbustical, rumbustious.

rome. See rum, adj., 1.—So for combinations, e.g. rome mort.

Rome, gone to. See gone to Rome. Cf. return from Rome, (of bells) to resume ringing after the forty-eight hours' Easter silence: Roman Catholic coll.:—1890. Ware.

Rome-runner. A person, esp. a cleric, constantly running off to Rome in search of spiritual and monetary profit: coll.: mid-C. 14–15.

Rome Ville, Romeville; in C.16–early 17, often -vyle. Also Rumville. London: c.: mid-C.16–mid-19. (Harman; Dekker; B.E.; Grose.) Lit., excellent city. See rum, c. adj., 1.

romely. See rumly.

Romeville. See Rome Ville.

Romford. See Rumford.

romft. (Pronounced as a word.) "Roll on, my fucking twelve!"—end of a 12-year engagement' (Peppitt, citing Navy News, June 1973). See roll on my bloody twelve.

Rommel. In a c.p. of 1941–2, thus 'When in North Africa there was some extra bit of red tape or regimental procedure, we always used to say: "And that's pushed Rommel back another ten miles". Everybody said . . . "That'll push Rommel back another ten miles"' (Gerald Kersh, Clean, Bright and, Slightly Oiled, 1946). Field-Marshal Erwin Rommel (1891–1944) commanded the German Afrika Korps at that time.

romp, n. A little light-hearted love-making: coll.: adopted, ca. 1945, es US. Cf. roll in the hay, whence the blend romp in the hay: since ca. 1950.

romp, v. To move rapidly (and with ease): racing: from ca. 1890. J.S. Winter, 1891, 'To use the language of the turf, she romped clean away from them' (OED). Cf.:-

romp away with. To win (a race) easily: racing s.: from ca. 1890. In C.20, it is gen. coll., often used fig. Ex romp, q.v. Cf.:-

romp home or in, v.i. To win very easily: racing s. >, C.20, gen. coll.: 1888, 'Thormanby' (romp in); Sporting Life, 20 Mar. 1891 (romp home, fig. of the winner of an athletic half-mile). OED and F. & H.

romper, n. A merchant ship that forges ahead of a convoy instead of keeping station, as ordered: RN: WW2. (Granville.) Synon. runner; opp. straggler.

rompered. Beaten up: Services' in N. Ireland: 1970s. Ex 'Romper Room', ITV programme in N. Ireland, 'twisted . . . to describe the facilities in which illegal "kangaroo courts" dispense their perverted brand of justice . . . (The victim usually dies of his injuries)' (freelance journalist, Belfast, 1974, quoted in Hawke).

rompworthy. (Of a woman) sexually desirable: upper- and middle-class coll.: since ca. 1935. Cf. bedworthy.

rondy. 'Rendezvous points for collection of catch [made by a] naval press gang: Royal Navy: C.18' (Peppitt).

ronny. See rouny.

Ronson. A Sherman tank: Tank Corps: 1943–5. In Declarations of War, 1971, Len Deighton explains, "The old Sherman had a terrible reputation for brewing [i.e., going up in flames]. Ronsons, they called them; automatic lighters, see?" Ex trade-name of a well-known brand of cigarette-lighter.—2. A 'ponce': very imperfect rhyming s., and showing the influence of high-powered advertising: since ca. 1954. Franklyn, Rhyming; Powis.

roo, 'roo. A rake: Society coll.: mid-C.19–early 20. I.e. roo.—2. A kangaroo: Aus.: late C.19–20. Properly a termination: cf. kangaroo, potoroo, wallaroo (Morris). This coll. occurs also as an adj.: late C.19–20. 'A lump of 'roo steak', K.S. Prichard, Working Bullocks, 1929; 'I know some good 'roo country', Jon Cleary, Back of Sunset, 1959.

'roo, v.i. To hunt kangaroos: Aus. coll.: C.20. Hence the vbl n. 'rooing. K.S. Prichard, Kiss on the Lips, 1932.

Roody Boys. Rue du Bois, near Neuve Chapelle, Flanders: army coll.: WW1. F. & G.

roof. A hat: mid-C.19–early 20. Hughes, 1857 (OED).

—2. The head: late C.19–earlier 20. 'Pomes' Marshall, 1897. —3. See come off the roof; go through the roof; hit the roof.

roof-scraper. A spectator at the back of the gallery: theatrical coll.:—1909 (Ware). Cf. roofer, 1.

roof-spotter, usu. in pl. An observer posted on a roof to watch for enemy aircraft: an all-Services and Civil Defence coll.: WW2. P-G-R.

roofer. A wretched little theatre: proletarian:—1923 (Manchon).—2. A hat: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942. Cf. tile. —3. (Orig., hospitable roofer.) A letter of thanks to one's host or hostess or both, after staying with them: mostly at the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge: since ca. 1925. By the 'OXFORD -ER' ex roof (over one's head).

rooinek. A British immigrant (1897); in Boer War, a British soldier: Boers' nickname: late C.19–early 20. In S. African Dutch, lit. redneck. The name replaced rooiatje, red coat. (Petman; W.; OED.) Cf. rough neck, q.v.

rook, n. A housebreaker's jemmy or 'crow' (whence rook): ca. 1786–1850. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. As a swindler or a sharper, from ca. 1575, and until C.19, s. (in C.18, coll.); perhaps orig. c. Cf. hawk.—3. A clergyman: 1859 (H., 1st ed.); ob. by 1930. Ex black clothes.—4. A sloven: tailors': from ca. 1870; ob. ?because his laziness 'rooks' others of their time.—5. A recruit: Services', perhaps orig. RN: since late C.19. (Goodenough, 1901 (RN)); Gerald Kersh, They Die with their Boots Clean, 1941.) A shortening of rookery.—6. A swindle: Aus.: late C.19–20. (Ruth Park, The Harp in the South, 1948.) Cf. sense 2.

rook, v. To cheat; defraud, and defraud of; charge extortionately: late C.16–20: s. (? orig. c.) >, in C.19, coll.—2. To grumble or complain: market-traders': late C.19–20. (M.T.) Perhaps ex the raucous cry of the birds.

rooker. A grumbler, esp. 'a dissatisfied customer' (M.T.): C.20. Ex prec., 2.

rookery. A gambling-hell: coll.: 1751 (Smollett); ob. by 1930. Like the next, ex rook, to cheat.—2. A brothel: coll.: 1821 (Egan); ob.—3. A densely populated slum: coll.: 1823 (Bee): coll. till C.20, then S.E. Ex rookery, a colony of rooks.—4. The subalterns' quarters in barracks: military:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.) Ex the noise.—5. A scolding-match, a row, disturbance: s. > coll.: 1824 (OED). Also dial. Cf. prec. sense.

rookette. A female recruit: Services: 1940+. (Partridge, 1945.) Never much used. Ex-rookery, -ie, -y. A (raw) recruit: Services': late C.19–earlier 20. (Kipling, 1893.) A perversion of recruit, no doubt; but with a pun on rooky, adj. Cf. recruity.

rooking. Vbl n. of rook, v., 1: mid-C.17–20.

rooky. Rascally; scampish: proletarian: from ca. 1860. B. & L.

room. See lies backwards . . .

room (in there) for a little (or small) one? (, is there). A rather coy c.p. addressed to occupants of an already crowded space in, e.g., a vehicle: C.20. Often ironic, as when the suppliant is anything but small.

room to swing a cat (always neg., and prec. by no; not enough; there isn't; etc.). Cramped for space; very small: coll. >, in late C.19, S.E.: since ca. 1770. (Smollett.) The ref. is to the cat-o'-nine-tails.

room(e), adj. See rum, adj., 1.

roomer. A lodger, esp. if occupying only one room: coll.: anglicised ca. 1875 ex US.

room; though rare in singular. A mushroom: tramps' c.: late C.19–20. (W.L. Gibson Cowan, Loud Report, 1937.) By perversion of Kentish 'room.

roosher. A constable: c.: later C.19–early 20. Prob. ex rush, v., 3, to arrest.

Rooshians. See Russian.

roost, n. A resting-place; a bed: coll.: since early C.19. The London Guide, 1818.—2. A garret: low Scots coll.: C.19–20. Jamieson, 1808.—3. A city-dweller affecting a hyphenated name was, in the 1890s, stigmatised by the country-dweller thus: Robb-Smith became Roost-Smith; Carter-Jones became Roost-Jones; and so forth. B., 1942.

roost, v.i. To perch; seat oneself: coll.: 1816 (Scott: OED). Ex fowls.—2. V.t., to imprison; military: ca. 1870–1910. ?ex roster.—3. V.i., to cheat; v.t., roost over; also, to take a rise out of a person: low: ca. 1880–1930.

roost-lay. The practice—and art—of stealing poultry: c.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.

rooster. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Where the cock roosts. Contrast.—2. Penis: low: C.19–20. Orig. euph. for cock.—3. A member who makes himself heard: Parliamentary: from ca. 1860; ob. Ware.—4. An angler keeping to one place: River Lea anglers':—1909 (Ware).—5. A roster: Services: late C.19—earlier 20. (P-G-R.) Cf. leaf=leave; pooch=pouch.—6. See queer rooster.

rooster tail. 'Wake of a board' (Pix, 28 Sep. 1963): Aus. surfboards: early 1960s.

roosting-ken. A lodging-house; a 'doss-house': c.:—1887 (Baumann). Cf. roost, n., 1.

root, n. Money: coll.: late C.19—early 20. Abbr. root of all evil.—2. The penis: low coll.: C.19–20. Also man-root; the old root.—3. Hence, an erection; esp. have or get the root: low: late C.19–20.—4. Hence, sexual intercourse: Aus. low: since ca. 1905.—5. Hence, the (usu. female) partner therein: low Aus., as in week-end root, a casual sexual partner: since ca. 1920. A. Buzo, 1973.—6. Bottom (of, e.g., a class): Charterhouse: C.20.—7. A kick on the backside: coll., orig. Public Schools': late C.19–20. Ex v., 1.—8. See real root.

root, v.t. To kick (a ball, person): late C.19–20. Semantics: uproot, root up. Perhaps orig. Public Schools'; Ian Hay, The Lighter Side of School Life, 1914, 'We rooted Sowerby afterwards for grinning.'—2. The great Aus. v., ex the n., 2 et seq., corresponding in all senses, physical and fig., to Brit. 'fuck': low: since 1930s. See esp. Wilkes, p. 277. Notably in such phrases as wouldn't it root you!, where it=annoy, infuriate; get rooted!, I don't believe you!, go away!; root my old boot!, I am surprised, displeased—cf. Brit. fuck my old boots! Baker defines its fig. senses, 1959, as 'To outwit, baffle, exhaust, utterly confound (someone)'.

root-about. Promiscuous football practice: schools' (orig. Leys): late C.19–20. Cf. root, n., 7, and synon. punt-about.

root about, v.i. To indulge in such practice: ib.: same period.—2. To search, esp. by rummaging about: dial. and, by C.20, coll. Ex pigs rooting.

root for. To support ardently and esp. vocally: Aus.—adopted, ca. 1945, ex US—but not common: root, v., 2, inhibits gen. use of root for. (B.P.) Also some use in Brit. (P.B.). Cf. barracking.

rooter. Anything very good, of prime quality: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.). E.g. a very smart dress, a brilliant gem.—2. Hence, anything (or any act) very flagrant (e.g. a lie) or brutal (attack, blow, ?orig. kick): from ca. 1865. Both senses very ob. by 1930.

rootl. See rooty.

rootle, v.i. To coit: low ca. 1850–1930. Ex S.E. sense, to grub, poke about.—2. Also as n., in do a rootle: from ca. 1880. Cf. root, n., 2, 3.—3. To go or run about the place: from ca. 1925. (Ronald Knox, The Body in the Silo, 1933.) Ex root (around) + tootle (to go).

roots. Boots: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Shortening of rhyming s. daisy roots, of which the Cockney version is daisies.

rooty, rooti. Bread: military: in India, from ca. 1800; fairly gen. from 1881, when the Army was reorganised. First recorded in 1883, G.A. Sala (a notable slanger) in the Illustrated London News, 7 July. Ex Hindustani roti. After WWI, common among tramps as = casual-ward bread. Frank Jennings, 1932.—2. Hence, food in gen.: army: earlier C.20. F. & G.

rooty gong or medal. A long service and good conduct medal: army, since late C.19; RAF since ca. 1919; ob. by 1970. Ex gong, q.v. and prec.: it 'comes up with the rations'.

rooty-toot. See JIVE, in Appendix.

rooty wallah. Ship's baker: MN: C.20. (Granville.) See rooty and wallah.

ropable. See ropeable.

rope, n. A cheap lodging-house: Liverpool street arabs': late C.19—mid-20. (Arab.) Very prob. ex twopenny rope, q.v.; cf. penny hangs.—2. Marijuana: prison c.: later C.20. (Home Office.) Perhaps ex US, where hemp and rope were occ. synon. joc. for 'a cigar' (W. & F.).—3. In for the rope, due, or condemned, to be hanged: police coll.: late C.19—earlier 20. Charles E. Leach.—4. See cry a rope.

rope, v.t. To hold a horse in check so that it shall not win: racing coll.: 1857 (G. Lawrence: OED); in C.20, S.E. Also, in late C.19–20, rope in.—2. V.i., to hold back in order to lose a race: racing and athletic coll. >, in C.20, S.E.: 1874 (H., 5th ed.).

rope-dancer's pole – (with) lead at both ends, (he is) like a. A c.p. applied to a dull, sluggish fellow: later C.18—early 19. Grodes, 2nd ed.

rope-hooky. (Of hands) with fingers curled in: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Esp. an old shell-back's, from years of handling ropes.

rope in. To decoy; enlist the services of: coll., adopted ex US ca. 1890; after ca. 1918, S.E. Prob. ex lassoing.—2. To arrest: coll.: from ca. 1920; by mid-C.20 verging on S.E.—3. In rope in the pieces, to make money: coll.: late C.19—early 20.—4. See rope, v., 1.

rope to the eye of a needle, put a. To attempt the absurd, the impossible: semi-proverbial coll.: C.19. Apperson.

Rope-Walk (or r.w.), go into the. 'In the law ... a barrister is said to have gone into the rope-walk, when he has taken up practice in the Old Bailey,' Temple Bar, 1871; ob. As Serjeant Ballantine shows in his Reminiscences, 1882, when he says, 'What was called the Rope-Walk [at the Old Bailey] was represented by a set of agents clean neither in character nor person', the rope-walk meant also a set of shysters battering on Criminal Law; moreover, he implies that the term dates back at least as early as 1850.

rope-yarn Sunday. Ironical for next: nautical: prob. since early C.19. Peppitt cites Charles Humphreys, Recollections, n.d.; and Moe, Matthew Barker's memoirs in L.L.G., 15 Oct. 1823.

rope-yarn Thursday. A Thursday declared an extra day off work, for 'make and mend', washing clothes, etc.: nautical coll. of C.19, giving rise to prec.

ropeable. Angry; enraged; 'fit to be tied', q.v.: Aus.: since later C.19. Wilkes quotes Charles de Boos, The Congewoi Correspondence, 1874.

roper. A hangman: †, says Bee in 1823. Ex.—2. As Mr Roper or the roper, the hangman: joc. coll.: ca. 1650–1750. (Charles Sackville, 6th Earl of Dorset.) Cf. John Roper's window, a rope-noose: coll.: ca. 1550–1640 (Huloet: OED); and Roper's news, no news, in the Cornish that's Roper's news—hang the crier (Apperson). Contrast.—3. In Mrs Roper, a Marine, the Marines: naval:—1868; ob. 'Because they handle the ropes like girls, not being used to them' (Brewer). Cf. the C.17 S.E. sense of roper: one deserving the rope. Hence marry Mrs Roper, to enlist in the Marines: RN:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.); †.—4. One who 'ropes' a horse (1870) or, in athletics, himself (1887): coll. until C.20, then S.E. See rope, v., 1 and 2. Occ. (of a horse only), roper-in. Dates: OED.

roper-in. A decoy to a gambling den: coll.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1880; by ca. 1910, S.E.—2. See prec., 2.

ropes. One who plays half-back in football: schoolboys': later C.19. B. & L.—2. In be up to, or know, the ropes, to be well-informed, expert; artful: coll. (in C.20, S.E.): 1840, Dana, 'The captain ... knew the ropes'; be up to, not before ca. 1870 and only in 'artful' sense. Hence.—3. In put up to the ropes, to inform fully, to 'put in the picture': coll.: from ca. 1875.

Besant & Rice, 1877, have 'You've put me up to ropes'; up to the ... is much commoner, at least in C.20. Both this and sense 2, ex seamanship, a deck-hand's vital knowledge aboard a sailing vessel.—4. In pull, or work, the ropes, to direct; exercise one's influence: coll. (in C.20, S.E.): from ca. 1880. Cf. the (? later) pull strings, or pull the string.—5. For be on the high ropes, see high ropes.

ropey, ropy. Applied to 'paint drying out with a rope-like appearance' (a master builder, 1953); builders' and house-painters' coll. > j.: late C.19–20.—2. (Of a person) inefficient or dilatory or careless of appearance; (of an action, etc.) clumsy or inefficient; (of things, e.g. an aircraft, a meal) inferior: RAF: since ca. 1930. (H. & P.; Jackson; Partridge, 1945.) Perhaps ex sense 1, but more prob. 'from certain obsolete types of aircraft that carried an excess—or what seemed an excess—of ropes' (Partridge).—3. Hence, generally disliked; unpopular: RAAF: WW2. B., 1943.—4. This is in current use among beatniks and teenagers, and any smelly member of a gang is called "ropey" (Petch, 1966): since ca. 1960. Ex sense 2.

ropey trophy. An 'award which, if it exists at all, is usually a lavatory seat, given to the sailor who dances with or dates the girl considered to be the ugliest at the dance': FAA Station, Lossiemouth: 1960s. (Miss Margot Wood, ex WRNS, 1977.) roping, vbl n. See rope, v.

ropper. A scarf; a comforter: tramps' c.: 1873 (Greenwood). ? wrapper perverted, asks F. & H.: this seems viable, for cf. † Scots roppin, to wrap (EDD).

roram. The sun: c.: late C.18–mid-19. (Tufts.) ? ex Roland, suggested by Oliver, c. for the moon, as F. & H. ingeniously suggests.

roration; rarely roaration. 'An oration pronounced with a loud unmusical voice' (Grose, 1785); † by 1890: joc. coll. or s. As in roratorio, roar is punned. Cf.:

roratorio or roaratorio. 'Roratorios and Uproars, oratorio's and opera's (Grose, 1785); † by 1890. Sometimes sol. (cf. the Northamptonshire roratory, an oratorio), sometimes joc. coll. or s. Cf.:

roritorious, roaratorious. (Jubilantly) noisy: ca. 1820–60. Egan, 1821, 'The Randallites'—i.e. partisans of the great boxer—'were roritorious and flushed with good fortune.' Punning oratorio and uproarious, and perhaps notorious. Cf. the S.W. dial. rorry-torry, 'loud, noisy, stirring' (EDD).

rozk (or rorke), rokker. A town boy, a 'cad': Tonbridge: since ca. 1870. (Marples.) Perhaps ex raw. P.B.: or raucous?; † by 1920. Poss. var., or even the orig., of oick, q.v.

rozt, n. A dodge, trick, scheme, racket: Aus. c.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942). Prob. ex wroughter, q.v.—2. A crowd; hence, showmen's patter: Aus. low: since ca. 1912. Baker.—3. Something exceptionally good: Aus.: since ca. 1920.—4. A wild party: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Ex senses 2 and 3. (B.P.) Often 'a real rozt', which leads B.P. to suggest that this sense may have been influenced by the almost synon. riot ('The party was a riot'). P.B.: but see also rorty, for a more likely source.

rort, v. 'To be loudly argumentative' (Granville): RN: C.20. Cf. rorty, 1, 3.

rort at. To complain of; blame fiercely: low: C.20. (Michael Harrison, Spring in Tartarus, 1935, 'It isn't you ... that I'm rorting at.'). Prob. ex prec.

roxtor. A professional swindler: Aus. c.: since early C.20. (Baker.) Ex rozt, n., 1.—2. Hence, a hawk of worthless goods; a petty confidence trickster: id.—3. Var. of rort, n., 3. rortiness; rarely rortyness. The abstract n. of rorty.

rorting. Confidence trickery: Aus. c.: since ca. 1910. (Baker.) Ex rozt, n., 1.—2. Hence, sharp practice: low: since ca. 1920.

rorty; occ. raughty. Of the best; excellent; dashing; lively; jolly; sprightly: costers': from ca. 1860. 'Chickaleary' Vance, ca. 1864, 'I have a rorty gal'; Milliken, 1893, 'We'd a rare rorty time of it'; Whiteing, 1899, 'A right-down raughty gal'. Ware ranks a rorty toff as inferior to a rorty bloke. W. suggests a rhyme on naughty, but B. & L. derive it ex Yiddish rorität, anything choice. Hence, do the rorty, to have a good time: costers':—1893 (Milliken).—2. Amorous: low: later C.19. Manchon.—3. Always in trouble: army: early C.20. F. & G. Cf.:—4. 'Noisily drunk and argumentative' (Granville): RN: C.20.

rorty, adv. to prec., 1. C.20. OED. Sup.

rorty dasher; 2, rorty toff. A fine fellow; 2, an out-and-out swell: costers': from ca. 1880.

Rory or rory. Short for next. Esp. in the rory, (1) penniless (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938; Powis, 1977, lists just 'rory'); and (2) of a horse, fallen: both = on the floor.

Rory o' More. A whore (—1874; ob.); a floor (—1857); a door (—1892). Resp. H., 5th ed.; 'Ducange Anglicus'; 'Pomes' Marshall, 'I fired him out of the Rory quick.' In C.20, usu. shortened to Rory, and in the oldest sense, rhyming with on the floor: see prec.

Rorys, the. The 93rd Highlanders, later the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders: military: mid-C.19—early 20. (F. & G.) Rory being a common Scottish name.

ros-bif Yorkshee. A red-faced Yorkshireman: in the catering trade, esp. in Italian restaurants: C.20. Ex the fact that Yorkshiremen expect to find roast beef and Yorkshire pudding even in Italian restaurants.

rosa, sub. See sub rosa.

Rosalie. A bayonet: rare military: 1915–18. B. & P. Adopted from Fr. s., where it was more common among civilians than among soldiers.

rosaries all the way. A c.p. ref.—when used by Protestants, as usually, it is disparaging—to Catholic processions: C.20. A pun on S.E. roses all the way strewn at a triumphal procession. (Petch, 1966.)

rosary, the. A variation of the confidence trick: c.: C.20. Charles E. Leach.

rosary-counter. A Roman Catholic: Irish Orangemen's:—1934.

rose. The female pudend; a maidenhead: C.18–20. Hence, pluck a rose: coll., verging on euph, S.E.: C.18—early 20.—2. A bitch: showmen's: from ca. 1860.—3. An orange: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.); † by 1915. ?ex the sweet smell.—4. In under the rose, in confidence; 'on the quiet'; secretly: mid-C.16–20: S.E. >, ca. 1660, coll. >, ca. 1850, again S.E. (Dymock, 1546; Grose.) Here, rose = rose-bush; sub rosa is modern, not Classic. L. Grose, 2nd ed., mentions that the rose was 'sacred to Harpocrates, the God of Silence', as does Sir Thomas Browne.—5. See strike with a feather...

rose-coloured. 'Bloody' as swear-word: coll, euph.:—1923 (Manchon, who lists also synon. roseate).

Rose Cottage. 'Formerly who V.D. cases were isolated' (John Malin, 1979): RN: earlier C.20. An ironic euph. prob. suggested by ring-o'-roses, nautical coll. for venereal disease. Peppitt defines it specifically as 'Mess on submarine depot ship for seamen with V.D.: 1940s'.

rose garden. 'Separate cells/Punishment block' (Home Office): prisons': later C.20.

rose in judgment. Turned up: tailors': from ca. 1860. B. & L.

Roseberys. London County Council 2½% Stock: money-market: late C.19—early 20. Ex Lord Rosebery, who was the first Chairman of the Council. Incorrectly Roseberys or -berries.

rosebud. Mouth: Cockneys': late C.19–20. Pugh.

rosebuds. Potatoes: rhyming s., on spuds: late C.19–20. B. & P.

rosella. A European working bared to the waist: Northern Aus.:—1898. 'The scorching of the skin ... produces a colour which probably suggested a comparison with the bright scarlet of the parrakeet so named' (Morris).—2. In Aus. and NZ, since ca. 1910, it has been sheep-shearing s. for 'a sheep bare of wool on the "points" (hocks, head, foreleg, etc.) and consequently very easy to shear' (Niall Alexander, 1939).—3. A staff officer: Aus. army: WW2. (B., 1942.) Ex his red tabs.—4. Hence, any high-ranking officer: since ca. 1942.

B., 1953.—5. 'A customer whose hair is easy to cut because of his partial baldness' (B.P.): Aus. barbers': since ca. 1930. Partly ex sense 2.

Rosemary Lane to a rag shop. Heavy odds: coll.: ca. 1810–90. Boxiana, III, 1821.

roses. A woman's period: Anglo-Irish: late (?mid-)C.19–20. James Joyce, Ulysses, 1920, 'Such a bad headache. Has her roses probably.' Cf. flowers, and esp. reds, 2; link, 'red roses'.—2. As Roses, ordinary stock in the Buenos Aires & Rosario Railway: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1885. B. & L. roses and raptures. A literary c.p. (ca. 1830–90) applied to the Book of Beauty kind of publication. (Ware.) A quot'n from Swinburne's Dolores, 1865. See DCpp. rosey. See rosie and rosy.

rosh; roush. To horse-play: Royal Military Academy: from ca. 1880. Hence, stop roshing!, be quiet! Perhaps a corruption of rouse.

rosie, -y. (A large) garbage-bin: ships' stewards: C.20 (Dave Marlow, Coming Sirl, 1937.) Ironically ex 'A rose by any other name would smell as sweet'.—2. See rosy, and compounds.

rosin. A fiddler: coll.: 1870, Figaro, Oct. 31, 'They playfully call me "Rosin" ... yet I must ... go on with my playing.' Ex the rosin used on violin bows, and perhaps with an allusion to:—2. 'Strong drink. A metaphor first used among Fiddlers' (Select Trials, from 1720 to 1724, pub. in 1734); prob. still current later C.19 (H., 3rd ed.). Cf. S.E. rosin, to supply with, or to indulge oneself in, liquor.

rosin-back. A horse that has had its back rubbed with rosin in order to ensure a firmer seat for the bareback rider: circus coll.: late C.19–20. C.B. Cochran, Showman Looks On, 1945.

rosin-the-bow. A fiddler: coll.:—1864; very ob. Ex a song so titled. Cf. rosin, 1.

rosiner or rosner or rozner. A very stiff drink with a hell of a kick: Aus.: since ca. 1930. (H. Drake Brockman, The Fatal Days, 1947.) Cf. rosin, 2.

Rossacrucian. A follower of O'Donovan Rossa: journalistic: 1885–6. Invented by G.R. Sims, punning Rossa and Rosicrucian.

rosser. See rozzer.

rost. See roast and rost.

rosy, always prec. by the. Wine: 1840, Dickens, 'Richard Swiveller finished the rosy, and applied himself to the composition of another glassful.' Orig. and properly, red wine; cf. Fr. s. le rosé, which Kastner & Marks have omitted in their excellent Glossary.—2. Blood: sporting:—1891; ob. by 1930. (Sporting Life, 25 Mar. 1891.) Suggested by claret, q.v.—3. In do the rosy, to have a 'rosy', i.e. pleasant, time: Cockneys': C.19—early 20. Milliken, 1893, 'A doin' the rorty [q.v.] and rosy as lively as 'Opkin's lot'. Ex rosy, favourable, of good omen.—4. Abbr. next: C.20. Cheapiack, 1934.—5. See give the rosey.

Rosy (or Rosie) Lee (or Lea). Tea, as in 'A nice cuppa Rosie Lee': rhyming s.: since late C.19. F. & G.—2. A flea: id.: C.20 Lester.

Rosy (or Rosie) Loader (or Loder). Whisky and soda: rhyming s.: C.20. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) Cf. earlier synon. Major Loder.

rot, n. Nonsense; 'rubbish': s. >, ca. 1920, coll.: 1848, OED; 1861, H.C. Pennell, "'Sonnet by M.F. Tupper". A monstrous pile of quintessential rot.' Like rotter, 'app. first at Cambridge' (W.). Ex rot, dry rot, decay. Also tommy rot, q.v., and dry rot: coll.:—1887; † by 1920 (Baumann).

rot, v. To chaff severely: 1890, Lehmann, 'Everybody here would have rotted me to death'; slightly ob. Ex rot, n. OED.—2. To talk nonsense: 1899 (Eden Phillpotts); ob. OED.—3. In imprecations: late C.16–19: coll. Shakespeare, 1588, 'But vengeance rot you all.' Semantics: 'may you go rotten!' Also in rot it!, C.17–18, and rot (up)on, C.17. In rot um!, um=em, them. (Extant, though ob., in dial.)—4. To spoil; mar nonsensically or senselessly: 1908, A.S.M. Hutchinson, 'He was rotting the whole show.' Also rot up, as in Desmond Coke, The House Prefect, 1908: orig. Public Schools'.

rot! Nonsense!; bosh!: from ca. 1860. Henley & Stevenson, 1892, 'Oh, rot, I ain't a parson.' Ex the n., q.v.; quite independent of rot, v., 3. Cf. rotten!

rot about. To waste time from place to place; to play the fool: from late 1890s. Ware.

rot-funk. A panic: cricketers': ca. 1890–1914. Ware.

rot-gut; occ. rotgut. Any unwholesome liquor; esp. inferior weak beer: late C.16–20: coll. >, by C.19, S.E. (G. Harvey, 1597.) Occ. as adj.: C.18–20. T. Hughes, 'rot-gut stuff'. Grose, 1785, rhymes thus, 'Rot gut, small beer, called beer a bumble, / Will burst one's guts before 'twill make one tumble.' Rot-His-Bone, be gone to. To be dead and buried: late C.18—early 19. (Grose, 1785.) Punning Ratisbon. Cf. be gone to the Diet of Worms.

rot it!; rot on!; rot um!; rot upon! See rot, v., 3.

rot-up, n. Misbehaviour, esp. excessive noise-making, by pupils: Public Schools': C.20. Ex-rot up, v.i. To misbehave, be tiresomely mischievous, make excessive noise: Public Schools: C.20. For v.t. see rot, v., 4.

rotan. A wheeled vehicle: 1725 (A New Canting Dict.); Grose; † by 1870. Prob. c. Ex L. rota. Whence, according to Bee, comes Rotten Row: which etym. may be correct. Mrs C. Raab: is it not, rather, the anglicised form of Route du Roi, as it approaches Kensington Palace, the principal royal residence under William III (1689–1702)?

rotary hoe, often shortened to rotary. A joc. var. of righty-ho, rightio, etc.: Aus.: early 1960s (B.P.)

Rothschild. See come the Rothschild.

rots battleships, it; it rots your socks. Water, as opposed to beer, is harmful: public-house c.pp.: C.20. (L.A.) rotten. In a deplorable state or ill-health; ill; worthless; 'beastly': from ca. 1880. R.L. Stevenson, 1881, 'You can imagine how rotten I have been feeling' (OED). The BBC radio comedy series 'The Navy Lark', 1950s, generated a c.p. from it, said petulantly, and very rapidly, three times: 'You're rotten to me, you are! Rottenrottenrotten!' (P.B.).—2. (Of impression) weak; uneven: printers': from ca. 1870. B. & L.—3. Drunk: Glasgow (—1934); Aus., often in get rotten, to get very drunk indeed: since ca. 1930 (B., 1942). Prob. merely short for 'rotten drunk' rather than E.P.'s explanation, 'proleptic' (P.B.).

rotten! An expletive corresponding to rotten, sense 1: from ca. 1890.

rotten-guts. A person with stinking breath: lower classes' coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

Rotten Irish Rag-Times. The Royal Irish Regiment: Army: since ca. 1912; † by 1940.

Rotten Mess, the. That mess in which the venereals are quartered, on most ships No. 1 Mess: RN: since ca. 1910. Rotten with disease. Cf. Rose Cottage.

rotten orange, the Rotten Orange. A follower of William III; William III himself: Jacobites': 1686—ca. 1700. (Ware.) Because he was Prince of Orange.

Rotten Row. 'A line of old ships-in-ordinary [i.e. laid up, or out of commission] in routine order' (Smyth, 1867): RN: C.19—earlier 20. Hence, belong to Rotten Row, (of ships) to be discarded as unserviceable: RN: C.19—early 20. A pun on the famous London ride. Moe cites W.N. Glascok, Sailors and Saints (II, 75), 1829, thus, 'I should be cursed sorry to see our men-o'-war dismantled, and laid up in Rotten Row'.—2. A bow: rhyming s.: earlier C.20. Ware; Franklyn 2nd.

rotten sheep. A useless person (esp. male), a mean traitor: Fenian. (Daily News, 3 July 1889.) Ex a sheep affected with rot.

rotter. An objectionable person: coll.:—1894 (George Moore: OED). Cf. S.E. rotten, morally corrupt. It may orig. have been US, for it appears in Jonas B. Phillips, Jack Sheppard; or, The Life of a Rotter, 1839 (New York).—2. 'An expert or adept at any study or task' (B., 1943): Aus.: since ca. 1930. Ironically ex sense 1.

Rotters' Rest, the. C.20 Public School s., as in Arnold Lunn, Loose Ends, 1919: 'He was assigned to "Lower Field", a game roue is an occ. late C.18—early 19 var. of row, n., 1. H., 2nd ed.

[of football] more usually known as "The Rotters' Rest"'. rotto. Rotten: Anglo-Irish: C.20. James Joyce, Ulysses, 1922, 'The father is 'rotto with money'. Cf. lousy—or stinking—with money.

Rouen. See client, 2.

rouf. Four: back s.: since mid-C.19. Mayhew, I, 1851, where also rouf yennep, fourpence. Tempest, 1950, spells it—phonetically—rofe, in connection with:—2. Hence, a four-year prison-sentence or -term: c.: late C.19—20. (Norman.)—3. The sum of four shillings: London's East End: ca. 1945—70. (London Evening News, 12 Nov. 1957.) Cf.:—4. The sum of £400: car-dealers', etc.: since ca. 1945. Woman's Own, 28 Feb. 1968.

rouf-efil. See refefil.

rouge, n. A force-down in Rugby football: London schools': ca. 1875—1900. Pun on rough?

rouge route, the. The 'red light' district of London: Londoners': ca. 1660—1700. William Boghurst's contemporary account of the Great Plague of London, in Payne's edition, 1894. The term shows the French influence of the Restoration Court.

rough, n. A rough rider: coll. Daily News, 23 Feb. 1899 (OED). Cf. rougher, and see Roughs, the.—2. Hence, an NCO riding instructor: Royal Artillery: C.20—3. Short for rough stuff, esp. in cut the rough stuff!: Aus.: since ca. 1925.—4. In a bit of rough, a woman, esp. if viewed sexually: low: from ca. 1870. Cf. rough and tumble, 2.

rough, v. To manhandle: Aus.: since ca. 1925. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1958, 'They grabbed Shelton and roughed him outside into the rising wind.' P.B.: later C.20 Brit. version is rough up.

rough, adj. (Of food, esp. fish) coarse, inferior, stale: London coll.: from ca. 1850; slightly ob. Mayhew, 'The... "rough" fish is bought chiefly for the poor.'—2. Later C.20 shortening of rough on, and, like it, adopted ex US: coll. Occ., in joc. sympathy for harsh treatment or circumstance, 'Oh, that's rough! R-U-F-F, rough!' (P.B.). Cf. a bit rough, unfair, unreasonable; extortionate: Aus. coll. (B., 1943); since mid-C.20 also Brit.—3. See cut up nasty; feel rough.

rough and tough. A (? rhyming) coll. var. of rough: ca. 1880—1915. (Baumann.)=rough neck, q.v.—2. As The Rough and Toughs, the Buffs [q.v.]: army rhyming s.: latish C.19—early 20. Boyd Carpenter, The Old Contemptibles, n.d. (Petch). rough and tumble (often hyphenated). A free fight; a go-as-you-please fight: from ca. 1810: boxing coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. (The adj. is S.E.)—2. The female pudend: low: from ca. 1850. Also the rough and ready. Cf. rough, n., 4, and rough malkin.

rough as... occurs in several similes: some are noted here. Rough as a bag or as bags, (of a person) uncouth or objectionable: mainly Aus. and NZ: C.20; cf. ... a sand-bag: Brit. army version of prec., early C.20, meaning also '(of a story) very exaggerated' (F. & G.); ... as a badger's arse or behind, (of skin) bristly, (of a youth's beard) coarse and straggly: orig. rural, late C.19—20 > by ca. 1930, gen. (Sidney Morgan, L.A.); ... as a goat's knees, exceedingly rough, perhaps also fig.: Aus.: C.20; ... as guts, 'An old Australian expression with a wealth of meaning... from admiration, toughness, ingenuity to slapdash and vulgar... It is widely used as an epithet throughout Australia' (from the brief preface to Douglas Baglin & Barbara Mullins, Rough as Guts, 1973, a remarkable set of photographs of the rougher-tougher parts of Australia); in Brit., esp. Services', since mid-C.20, ... as old guts, applied to inanimate objects, e.g. wine, or the way a badly-tuned engine is running (P.B.); ... as a pig's breakfast, (of persons) uncouth: Aus. and NZ: C.20 (B., 1942); ... as a tinker's budget [i.e. bag], very rough: ca. 1650—1700 (Howell: Apperson); rough as I run or as it runs, though I am rough, coarse, ignorant; it's certainly rough: coll.: late C.17—mid-19. T. Brown, 1687, 'If you don't like me rough, as I run, fare you well, madam'; Ray, 1813, 'Rough as it runs, as the boy said when the ass kicked him' (Apperson).

rough diamond. A person of good heart and/or ability but no manners: from ca.1750: coll. till ca. 1880, then S.E. The Adventurer, 1753; Lytton.

rough end of the pineapple, the. 'Hostile or unfair treatment' (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: since mid-C.20.

rough fam or fammy; occ. hyphenated. A waistcoat pocket: c.: ca. 1810—50. (Vaux.) In c., fam (q.v.) is the hand: ?ex the habit of putting one's thumb in the pocket.

rough house. Disorder; a quarrel; a noisy disturbance or struggle: coll.; US (1887) anglicised ca. 1910.

rough-house, v. To treat roughly: coll., orig. (ca. 1900) US; anglicised ca. 1914. (OED Sup.) Ex the n.—2. Hence, to act noisily or violently: coll.: 1920 ('Sapper': Ibid.).

Rough Interior. Nickname of the Brough Superior motorcycle, in production 1921—40: motorcyclists'. (Dunford.) A punning Hobson-Jobson.

rough-knot. A Marine: naval: ca. 1780—1850. John Davis, The Post Captain, 1806 (p. 146 of the 1810 edition); W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 213), 1829. (Moe.)—2. Moe cites L.L.G., 9 Aug. 1823, for the naval sense 'a taut hand', a good seaman: same period.

rough Malkin (or m). The female pudend: low Scots: C.16. rough neck, rough-neck, roughneck. A rough, ignorant fellow: US (1836, a rowdy), anglicised ca. 1910: coll. Cf. rooinek, q.v.—2. Hence, one who, in a carnival, does the rough work: Can. carnival s.: C.20.—3. An oil-rig crewman: since ca. 1920.

rough off (a horse). To break-in without troubling about 'the fancy stuff', esp. for station work: Aus. rural coll.: late C.19—20. B., 1942.

rough on. Hard for; bearing hardly on: coll.: US (1870, Bret Harte), anglicised ca. 1885 (e.g. Besant, 1887). ?ex rough luck (cf. S.E. tough luck).—2. Severe on or towards (a person): coll.: adopted ex US, in Aus. by 1878 (Baker, letter), in Brit. ca. 1890 (Hardy, 1895: OED).

rough on rats; gen. it's... Rough luck: from ca. 1890. There was once a rat-poison called 'Rough on Rats'. Cf. prec. rough ride. To ride an unbroken horse; hence, to domineer over a person: Aus. coll.: resp., late C.19—20. and since ca. 1910. B., 1943.

rough-rider's (or -ers) wash-tub. The barrack water-cart: army: ca. 1890—1915.

rough spin. Unfair treatment: Aus.: since ca. 1910. Ex games in which a coin is spun.

rough stuff. See rough, n., 2 and cut the rough stuff.—2. 'Any trawl-fish that isn't classed as prime' (D. Butcher, Trawlermen, 1980, glossary): trawlermen's coll.: C.20.

rough trade, the. The underworld of homosexual practices, esp. of homosexual prostitutes: low: since ca. 1950. (Evening Standard, 12 July 1967, in a short review of Richard Chopping's novel, The Ring.) See trade, n., 5.

rough 'un. (A 'bed' in) an improvised shelter: tramps' c.: C.20. W.A. Gape, Half a Million Tramps, 1936.

rough-up. A contest arranged at short notice; an informal contest: orig., boxing: 1889 (Referee, 26 Jan.).—2. Hence, a trial race: esp. turf s.: C.20. OED; Manchon.—3. A violent quarrel, a 'free for all': since ca. 1890. Sessions, 22 June 1896, 'There was a little rough-up, and I found myself stabbed in the arm.' In C.20, also Aus. (B., 1942).

rougher. A rough-rider (cf. rough, n.): coll.: early C.20. OED.—2. A rough time; a severe tackle at Rugby football: Scottish Public Schools': from ca. 1910. (Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.) By the 'OXFORD -ER'; cf.:-

roughers. A rough sea; foul weather: RN, at first mainly officers': since ca. 1920. Occ. Harry roughers; see HARRY, in Appendix.

roughie, -y. A rough man; a rough horse, etc.: Aus. coll.: C.20. What I Know, by a Philosophic Punter, 1928,—a little-known and amusing book; Ion L. Idriess, Flynn of the Inland, 1932.—2. Esp. in put a roughy over, to 'pull a fast one on', to impose upon, to trick: Aus.: C.20. Kylie Tennant, The Battlers, 1941, in form roughie.—3. A story hard to believe: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B.P.) roughing, vbl n. Interrupting a lecturer by rubbing the boot-soles on the floor, as in a sand-dance, to express disapproval: Scottish undergraduates' s.: since late C.19; by 1920, > coll.

roughneck. See rough neck.

roughriding. See bareback riding.

Roughs, the. 'The City of London Yeomanry (Rough Riders) were habitually referred to as "The Roughs" by the other London Yeomen... In 1960 the Rough Riders amalgamated with the Inns of Court Regiment' (John Gaylor, Military Badge Collecting, 1977). Also in S.F. Hatton, The Yarn of a Yeoman, 1930. Cf. rough, n., 1, and sharps.

roughie. See roughie.

round, n. A shirt collar: 1859 (H.); † by 1910. Perhaps ex trade names all rounds, all rounders.—2. 'A bedside dissertation and demonstration of cases in a ward by the senior physician or surgeon to students'; if the audience consists of qualified practitioners, and if the cases are obscure, it is a hot-air round or shifting dullness (cf. the technical sense): medical students'—1933. See esp. Slang, p. 192.—3. 'Punishment consisting of running round playground': Bootham School: C.20. Bootham, 1925.—4. See TIDDLYWINKS, in Appendix.

round, v.i. To peach, lay information: low: from ca. 1859. V.t., round on. (H., 1st ed.) Prob. a development of round on, to turn upon and berate.

round, adj. Languid: tailors': later C.19—early 20. ?ex circular padding.—2. As in That's round!, that's flat!, an assertion: coll.: late C.16—17. Middleton, The Family of Love, 1620 (Moe).—3. (Of paint) needing to be thinned: builders' and house-painters': C.20. Perhaps cf. Cumberland dial. round, coarse, thick.

round on (preposition) is a characteristic of Cockney speech: coll.: mid-C.19—20. Edwin Pugh, Harry the Cockney, 1912, 'If you don't gimme a bit... I shall punch you round the jaw.' Cf. wipe round, q.v.—2. See bet round.

round-about. A treadmill (invented ca. 1821): prison coll. rather than s. or c.: from ca. 1823; ob. by 1930. Bee.—2. A female thief's all-round pocket: c.: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee', 1823.—3. A house-breaking tool that cuts out a round piece (about five inches in diameter) from shutter or door: c.: from ca. 1820. (Egan's Grose.) Occ. round Robin, C.19.—4. A big belly: lower classes'—1923 (Manchon).

round and square. Everywhere: rhyming s.: —1903. Not very gen.

round betting. See bet round.

round box. An ephemeral var. (1957–8) of square, a staid, old-fashioned person: Teddy-boys'. Gilderdale, 2.

round Cape Turk. See Cape Turk.

round dozen. Thirteen lashes with the cat-o'-nine-tails: RN coll.: C.19. Bowen.

round file, the. A wastepaper basket: later C.20. (Mrs C. Raab, 1982.)

round heels, she has or she's got. She's sexually compliant: Can.: since ca. 1925. A girl with heels so round that the least push will put her on her back.

round me houses. Slovened var. of round the houses, arising ex shortening to round me's. Franklyn, Rhyming.

round mouth, gen. prec. by the. The fundament: low: ca. 1810–70. Also brother r.m., esp. Brother round mouth speaks, he has broken wind. Lex. Bal.

round-my's. Trousers: rhyming s.:—1909. Ware's 'correct' version of round me's: see round me houses.

round o (or O). A notable lie: coll.: C.17. Ex the oh! of remonstratory surprise.—2. No runs; batsman's score of 'O': cricket coll.: ca. 1855–65. Reade in 1863 refers to it as 'becoming obsolete' (OED).

round one or 'un. A notable lie: mid-C.19—early 20. H., 5th ed.

round robin. The host: low coll.: mid-C.16—17. (Coverdale, Foxe, Heylin.) Cf. jack-in-the-box, q.v.—2. A housebreaker's tool: see round-about, 3.—3. 'A good hearty swindle' (Clarkson & Richardson, 1889): c.

round shaving. A reprimand: (low) coll.: ca. 1870—1930. Ex dial.

round shot. Peas: Services' (mostly army): earlier C.20. H. & P.

round square. See crooked straight-edge.

round the back for a quick brandy! A c.p. from the BBC radio-comedy series 'The Goon Show', 1950s—early 60s, where used to plug any gaps. Usu. accompanied by sound of hurrying feet. (P.B.)

round the bend. Crazy; mad: RN: since mid-C.19. (Bowen.) E.P. noted in the 1st ed. of this Dict., 1937, 'ob'.—but the term was much used in the RAF, WW2 (Robert Hinde, 1945), and has since become much more gen.; quite common, indeed, among civilians. In 1957 the intensive round the bend—and back again was coined. Ex Harpic, a water-closet cleanser, advertised to '(clean) round the bend', comes the var. clean round the bend. Cf. Harpic. It has, since ca. 1957, had a second intensive: round the bend—and half-way down the straight, and also an occ. var., round the twist, q.v. P.B.: perhaps orig. ex nautical bend, a knot.

round the buoy. See buoy.

round the corner. 'The soldier's normal reply to "How far is it to...?" It might be several miles' (B. & P.): WW1.—2. In be round the corner, to get ahead of one's fellows by unfair or dishonest methods: from ca. 1960.—3. In get (one) round..., deliberately to annoy an irritable person: c.: earlier C.19. Vaux, who notes var. get (one) out.—4. In have (a woman) round..., to keep a mistress; to commit adultery: later C.20. R.S. cites a BBC Radio 4 programme, 27 Feb. 1976. For the idea of secrecy or privacy, cf. the almost S.E. euph. go round the corner, to visit the w.c.—5. In wrong (all) round..., having had something strong to drink: lower classes': ca. 1895—1930. Ware.

round the hay-stack. Round the back, either lit., or euph. for a visit to the w.c.: rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

round the houses. Trousers: rhyming s., on Cockney pron. trousies: since mid-C.19. (Augustus Mayhew, Paved with Gold, 1857.) Still current, later C.20, in variants rounds, round me's, rounders.—2. Confined to Europe, as opp. to worldwide: airline crews: 1950s. Patrick Campbell, Come Here Till I Tell You, 1960, "I wasn't genned up," said [the air hostess]. "I'd only been round the houses before—London, Paris, Rome, etcetera. I didn't know the [orange juice] was so concentrated that the bods [i.e. passengers] were going to use all my fresh water."

round the Johnny (Horner). Round the corner; usu. 'street corner', hence to, at, a 'pub': rhyming s.: C.20. Ware.

round the twist. A var. of—and modelled on—round the bend, crazy: coll.: since ca. 1957. Petch notes early 1970s var. up the twist, prob. influenced by synon. up the pole.

round 'un. See round one.

round up. To obtain, to acquire, as in 'I'll try and round up a few drinks', or 'let's round up the girls and go out the evening': Can., esp. mid-West, since ca. 1920 (Leechman); Aus. (B.P.); whence also Brit., by mid-C.20 at latest. Cf. rustle up; both ex cattle farming or droving.

roundabout. See round-about.

roundem. A button: c.: from ca. 1860. (H., 3rd ed.) A disguising of round (cf. rouny).—2. Whence, the head: c.:—1923 (Manchon).

rounder. One who peaches: low: 1884 (OED). Ex round, v.—2. A short, close-fitting jacket: coll.: mostly Cockney: from ca. 1890. Milliken, 1893, 'That's me in plaid dittos and rounder.' Ex round-about in same sense.—3. A return: busmen's: since ca. 1920.

rounders. See round the houses, 1.

Roundhead. A Puritan: coll.: 1641; S.E. by 1800. Ex cropped head. Cf. square head.—2. A circumcised male. See Cavalier.

roundhouse rangers. Fish that swim about the stern of a ship at anchor: RN: C.20. (P-G-R.) Cf. main-drain rangers. Round house = 'Officers' lavatory in HM ships. Cf. heads' (Granville).

rounding. A betraying of one's associates: low: 1864. See round, v.; cf. rounder, 1.

rounds. Trousers: tramps' c.: from ca. 1890. (P.H. Emerson.) Ex round the houses.

rounds of the galley. Openly expressed abuse of a seaman by his mess-mates: RN: ca. 1850–1910. Bowen.

roundy(-ken). A watch-house or lock-up: c. of ca. 1825–60. (Egan.) Lit., round place.

roundyard. A harness cask: Aus. rural: late C.19–20. B., 1942.

rouny. A potato: c. of ca. 1820–70. (Haggart.) Also (?misprint), ronny. A corruption of roundy, a round object: cf. dial. rouny, a lump of coal.

rouse, v.i. To fight: c.: 1888 (Evening Standard, 26 Dec.); ob.—2. (Pron. rouss.) To 'grouse', to scold (v.i.), esp. if coarsely: Aus.: C.20. An Aus. c.p. runs: If a woman caught a louse (occ. mouse)/In her blouse [pron. blouss],/Would she rouse? Perhaps ex rouse a person, to anger him. Constructed with on (a person).—3. (Also roust.) V.t., 'to upbraid with many words' (C.J. Dennis): Aus.: C.20. Ex sense 2. See roust, 3.

rouse and shine! The C.19 RN shape of rise and shine, q.v. rouse on; get roused on. To upbraid (someone); to reprove (him) forcibly: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1959.) Cf. rouse, 2 and 3. rouseabout. A member of the ground staff: R Aus. AF: WW2. (B., 1943.) Cf. roustabout and groundies.

rouser. A formidable breaking of wind: coll.: C.18. Swift.—2. A handy man: Aus. coll.: C.20. (Lawson, 1902.) Ex rouseabout.—3. 'A spring tonic, usually of shot-gun type: Eastern Canada: from before 1875' (Leechman).

roush. See rosh.—2. See WINCHESTER, §2, in Appendix.

rousie. A roustabout, or handy man at a shearing: Aus.: since ca. 1930. F.B. Vickers, First Place to the Stranger, 1955.

rousing up, vbl n. A thorough cleaning: RN: C.19. Bill Truck, Sep. 1823.

roust, n. A copulation: coll.: late C.16–17. Hall, Satires, 'She seeks her third roust on her silent toes.' Ex roust, a roaring or bellowing.

roust, v.i. To coit: coll.: late C.16–17. Ex roust, n., q.v.; the corresponding S.E. sense is 'to shout, bellow'.—2. To steal: c.: ca. 1820–80. (Haggart.) Ex dial. roust, to rout out.—3. A 'going-over', as in 'Doing the selfsame job he does day in, day out, as the rozzers are well aware, and it came round to his turn to get a rousting' (Red Daniells, Brit. Jnl of Photography, 28 Mar. 1980): Londoners': C.20. See also rouse, 3.

roust on. Var of rouse on.

roustabout. A rouseabout or handy man, esp. at a shearing: Aus.: 1883 (OED): coll. >, by 1905, S.E. Ex US roustabout, a deck hand or wharf labourer.

rousting. See roust, v., 3.

router-puffers. Cows' feet: c.: ca. 1820–60. (Haggart.) Ex router, (Scots dial. for) a cow.

rovers. Thoughts: Scots coll.: C.19. (Jamieson.) Ex wandering thoughts.

row, n. A disturbance; a noisy quarrel: poss. orig. c. (John Poulter, Discoveries, 1753) > university s. (Disco, 1785, says that it was a Cambridge term) > gen. s.; by ca. 1910, coll. Esp. in make a row (1787, OED), kick up a row (1789, OED), and get into a row. Origin obscure; W. suggests that it is cognate with rouse = carouse.—2. Hence, any disturbing noise, as in Dickens, 1837, 'What's the row, Sam?' (OED), i.e. what's the noise about?, what's the matter or trouble?: s. >, ca. 1910, coll. Eton School Days, 1864, 'Chorley cried, Hold your row, will you?'

Row, the. Goldsmiths' Row: C.17: coll. Middleton. OED.—2. Rotten Row: from ca. 1810: coll.; in C.20, S.E. Combe, 'Vulgar tradesmen, in the Row'.—3. Paternoster Row:

booksellers' coll.: from ca. 1820. Bee.—4. Elliptical for Booksellers' Row, q.v.

row, v. To assail roughly: attack (a person or his rooms): 1790 (OED): s. until ca. 1890, then coll.; ob. Ex row, n., 1.—2. V.i., to make a disturbance; to quarrel: 1797 (OED).—3. To 'rag', v.i.: university: ca. 1820–80.—4. To scold severely, to reprimand (v.t.): from ca. 1810: s. > coll. ca. 1910. Byron.—5. To criticise harshly or sharply: from ca. 1825; in C.20, coll. OED.

row! 'Shut up!'; 'pax!': Charterhouse: from ca. 1920. Perhaps elliptical for stow that row.

row back from (it all). To avoid trouble, involvement, by backing out: coll. L.A., 'noted in 1974'. Cf. row on to.

row in. To conspire: low: from ca. 1860. (Ware.) Ex next entry.—2. To work or enter into association (with): grafters' s.: C.20. (Cheapjack, 1934.) Cf. S.F. Hatton, The Yarn of a Yeoman, 1930, "'Crimes [euph., = Christ!], chum", he [a sergeant in the NZ Mounted Rifles] shouted with enthusiasm, "that [London]'s where I'm off to, guess I'll row in with you blokes." They were soldiers returning from Palestine, late 1918. Prob. ultimately ex-row (in the boat). To go shares (with): c. of ca. 1810–60. Vaux.

row (oneself) on to (a person or a group). To attach oneself to: low: since ca. 1940. (Norman.) Cf. row in, 2.

row up. To reprimand severely: 1845 (OED): coll.; in C.20, S.E. but ob. ?ex.—2. To rouse noisily: C.19–20; ob. S. >, ca. 1890, coll.

rowdy. Money: from ca. 1840: low. Ob. by 1930. (Leman Rede, rowdy). Thackeray uses the rowdy, and a reviewer has recalled 'Thackeray's (and C. Bede's) famous banking firm, Messrs Stump and Rowdy.'

rowdy, adj. (Of horse or bullock) troublesome: Aus. s. (—1872) >, by 1900, coll. C.H. Eden, 1872; A.B. Paterson, 'And I can ride a rowdy colt, or swing the axe all day.' Extension of S.E. sense. (Morris.) Cf. roughie, 1.

rowdy-dow. Abbr. of next, q.v., or ex row-de-dow, a din. From ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed., 'Low, vulgar; "not the cheese", or thing.'

rowdy-dowdy. Noisily rough; turbulently noisy: from ca. 1850. Reduplication on rowdy.

rowing, vbl n. To row, v., esp. in senses 1 and 4.

rowing man. A streeper, fast liver: University: ca. 1875–1910. (B. & L.) Ex row, v., 2 and 3.

rowl. Money: low: C.19. Prob. a corruption of royal (images), q.v.

rowlock. See rullock.

rows, the. The rows of hovels in the miners' section of a mining town: miners' (and their families') coll.: since ca. 1870. 'North County miners call them raas' (Petch, 1946).

Roy. Fitzroy, a suburb of Melbourne; its football team' (C.J. Dennis): Aus. coll.: late C.19–20.—2. 'The "trendy" Australian, opposite to "Alf" [q.v.]' (Wilkes): Aus.: since later 1950s. Prob. ex the name; but cf. royalie, q.v.—3. A townee, a 'cad': Christ's Hospital School: ca. 1870–1930. (Marples.) Cf. rorker.

royal, n. A member of the Royal Family: coll.: 1788, Mme D'Arblay (OED). See Royals, 2.—2. A privileged labourer working regularly enough but not on the staff: dockers' coll.: 1883 (G.R. Sims). Ex Royal Naval Shipyards.—3. See spread the royal, to turn King's (or Queen's) evidence.—4. Abbr. Royal Marines: RM coll.: later C.20. (Christopher Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979.) Cf. Royals, 1, and Royal Machine. royal, adj. Noble; splendid; excellent: coll.: from ca. 1580; but not gen. before ca. 1850. E.g. a royal time.—2. Tippy; hence, royal row, a drunken quarrel or brawl: naval, mostly ratings': ca. 1805–60. W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, II, 142, 'In course you knows it's never no more nor [=than] a reg'lar royal row ... for I never gets royal myself, that I doesn't reg'larly get in a row'. (Moe.) Ex sense 1.

Royal Anglicans, the. The Royal Anglian Regiment: army;

sol. when not a deliberate pun: since soon after the Regt's formation in 1964. See also Angle-Irons. (P.B.)

Royal Billy, The. 'The Royal William, said to have been 100 years old when broken up' (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, II, 73): naval: mid C.18—early 19. Even earlier in Fredk Marryat, Frank Mildmay, 1829. (Moe.)

royal bob. Gin: ca. 1729–70. Cf. royal poverty, q.v. ?origin.

royal boozer. A hard drinker: ca. 1870–1940. Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976.

Royal Corps of Pigs (occ. Royal Pigs). The Royal Corps of Signals: army, esp. the Royal Corps themselves, and ranging from affection to disparagement: since ca. 1950. (P.B.)

Royal Family, the. The Headquarters of the Chinese Customs Service (staffed entirely by Europeans, under Sir Robert Hart): later C.19. C.A.S. Williams, Chinese Tribute, 1969.

Royal Goats, the. The 23rd Foot, afterwards the Royal Welch Fusiliers: military: from ca. 1850. (F. & G.) Also the Nanny-Goats. Ex their goat mascot.

Royal Hearse Artillery. The gun support company of 2 Corps Reinforcement Unit: army in N. Africa: middle of WW2. A pun on horse. P-G-R.

royal image. A coin: mid-C.18—early 19: coin or perhaps S.E.; coll., however, is royal images, money: mid-C.18—mid-19. On royal (ryal), the coin; on the analogy of King's and Queen's picture, q.v.

Royal Light Foot, the. The Royal Marine Light Infantry: RN joc.: mid-C.19—early 20.

Royal Machine. A Royal Marine; often shortened to Machine: RN rhyming s. [prob. rather, a pun: P.B.]: 1970s, Peppitt says, but I'd surmise it to date from the 1930s or, at latest, 1940s.

royal mail (or capitals). Bail (legal): rhyming s., orig. and still mostly underworld: C.20. Franklyn 2nd.

Royal N. Royal Navy: RN coll.: from the late 1870s; ob. by 1930. W.S. Gilbert in HMS 'Pinafore'.

royal order, the. Dismissal, e.g. from a job: mostly Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B.P.) Ex the phrases noted at order of the ...

royal poverty. Gin: ca. 1725–80. N. Bailey. Cf. royal bob. Perhaps because, though a 'royal' drink, gin is apt to lead to poverty.

Royal Repose, the. The Queen's Bench Prison: ca. 1837–80. G.W.M. Reynolds, Pickwick Abroad, 1839.

royal roast. 'Potatoes and meat baked together' (Knock): RN lowerdeck coll.: late C.19—earlier 20. Cf. royal roast and straight bake, roast meat and baked potatoes: id. F. & G.

royal salute. 21 in the game of House: not RN only: C.20. (Michael Harrison, Reported Safe Arrival, 1943.) The Royal Salute is that from 21 guns. P.B.: 'Two-and-one' may also be called as key of the door. See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

royal scamp. A highwayman that, without brutality, robs only the rich: c.: late C.18—early 19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) See scamp.

Royal Sluice. Deuce; a Jack in cards: Aus. rhyming s. (ex the famous Australian comedian, Harry Van der Sluys): since ca. 1940. B., 1945.

Royal Standbacks, the. 'A regiment imagined by others ... not to have shewn particular keenness about going into action' (F. & G.): army coll.: C.19—early 20.—2. The Militia Reserve of WW1: army. Petch cites Capt. R.W. Campbell, Private Spud Tamsun, 1916.

Royal Tigers, the. The 65th Foot, now the York and Lancaster Regiment: military: from ca. 1823. F. & G., 'From the "Royal Tiger" badge, granted for distinguished service in India between 1802'. The Regt disbanded in 1969.

Royal Yachtsmen. Personnel serving in the Royal Yacht: RN (mostly officers'): since ca. 1920.

royalie (or -y). An effeminate; esp., a catamite: Aus.: earlier C.20. Prob. ex 'royal quean', with a pun on 'royal queen'.

royallers. See lawners.

royally. Splendidly; excellently: coll.: 1836, E. Howard, 'Royally drunk' (OED). Cf. royal, adj., 2.

Royals. The Marines: 1797, when they were loyal in the naval mutiny: nautical, esp. naval, coll.; ob. by 1900, † by 1930. Smyth.—2. Always the Royals (or royals): members of the Royal Family of Britain, or of the royal families of the Continent: since ca. 1950: orig., sophisticated and upper-middle class s.: then, by the late 1950s, journalistic coll.; then, by 1960, fairly gen. coll. See royal, n., 1.

royster. See roister.

rozin. See rosin.

roziner, rozner. See rosiner.

rozzier; occ. rosser. A policeman: c.: from ca. 1870. See roosher for possible etym.; cf., however, Romany roozlo (or -us), strong.

rub, n. A rubber in card-games: 1830, 'An occasional rub or two of whist' (OED): coll. till C.20, then S.E.—2. A loan (e.g. of a newspaper, etc.): Services', other ranks': from ca. 1880. (F. & H.; Knock.) 'If a sailor wants to borrow his pal's brilliantine [hair-oil], he asks for a "rub" of it' (Granville). P.B.: perhaps an early abbr. of rub-a-dub, 1.—3. 'The rub is [a] cleaner or stain-remover' (W. Buchanan-Taylor, Shake it Again, 1943): fair-grounds': C.20.—4. See ask for a rub.

rub, v. See rub down, in, off, out, rub, to, up.—2. F. & H. postulates rub as a var. of rub off and rub up; I doubt its independent existence.—3. As the base of rub to, q.v., it occurs in 1737.—4. B.E. and Grose describe rub, to go, run away, as c., but it is familiar S.E.

rub-a. Short for next, esp. sense 2.

rub-a-dub(-dub). (Sometimes rub-a-di-dub.) A 'sub', to 'sub' (advance wages): workmen's rhyming s.: C.20. John o' London's Weekly, 9 June 1934.—2. A public house: rhyming s., on pub: since late C.19. See also rubberdy. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.—3. A club (social meeting): rhyming s.: late C.19—20. (Ibid.) Hence, also a night-club.—4. The club in the game of Crown and Anchor: Services' rhyming s.: early C.20. B. & P.

rub about. To make a fool of: tailors': C.20. Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928, 'Took me for a jossler. Nothing below the waist, me. I'm not to be rubbed about.' Ex a process in tailoring.

rub and a good cast! A c.p. warning: ca. 1635–90. (Clarke; Ray.) Ex bowls. Apperson.

rub-belly. Coition: low coll.: C.18–20.

rub-down, n. Corresponds to v., next: c.: since late C.19. Gilt Kid, 1936; Home Office, 1978.—2. In give (one) a good rub-down, to thrash: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

rub down, v. To search (a prisoner) by running the hands over his clothed body: coll.: since—1887 (OED). Also, early C.20, run the rule over.—2. To scold, reprimand: coll.: ca. 1895–1925.

rub in. To emphasise annoyingly; insist vexatiously or unkindly upon; remind naggingly of. Esp. as rub it in. Daily News, 26 May 1870, 'Rubbing it in is a well-known phrase amongst the doubtful portion of the constabulary,' esp. as = to give fatal evidence (Ware). Cf. dial. rubber.

rub of the thumb, give (a person) a. To explain something to; esp. to show him how to do something: coll.: mid-C.19—20; ob. Ex some trade. Cf.:—2. To show appreciation for good work: tailors': late C.19—20. Tailor and Cutter, 29 Nov. 1928.

rub-off. A copulation: coll.: late C.17—early 19. Congreve.—2. A masturbation: low: C.19—early 20. In this sense, rub-up is much more gen. Cf.:

rub off, v. In same senses and periods as rub-off.—2. In it-all rubs (or it'll all rub) off when it's dry, 'Don't take harsh words or summary punishment too hard' (R/Adm. P.W. Brock): RN: early C.19—20.—3. See rubbed off.

rub off on. (Esp. of money or good luck) to come one's way: since early 1950s. 'The lucky devil! Just come into a packet of money.'—'Wish some of it would rub off on me!'

rub on. To make do, 'rub along': coll.: ca. 1870–1910. Sessions, 18 Sep. 1893.

rub out. To kill: orig. (1848), US; anglicised ca. 1870: S.E. until C.20, then coll. Ex erasing. The phrase was used fairly often in WW1.—2. To cut (a pattern): tailors': mid-C.19—20. B. & L.—3. To disbar (person or horse): Aus. coll.: C.20.

B., 1942.—4. To dismiss (a suggestion): Aus. coll.: since ca. 1920. Baker.

rub, rub! 'Us'd on the Greens when the Bowl Flees too fast, to have it forbear, if Words wou'd do it' (B.E.): a bowling c.p. soon > j.: late C.17–18.

rub to. (See rub, v.) To send, carry off, to (prison): c.: ca. 1670–1840. (Anon., Warning for Housekeepers, 1676; Grose.) Prob. a development of rub, to go, to run.

rub-up. See rub-off, 2. From ca. 1620: low coll. Esp. do a rub-up. Also rubbing-up. Ex the v.—2. A refresher course in a subject: RN coll.: C.20. (Granville.) With corresponding v. Cf. synon. brush-up.

rub up. The v. corresponding to rub off, 2, and rub-up, n. Low coll.: C.17–20. This sense is almost inseparable from:—2. So to caress a person that he or she becomes actively amorous: low coll.: from ca. 1620. Fletcher's Martial.—3. See prec., 2. rubacrock; gen. rubacrock. A filthy slattern: coll.: C.19–20; ob. Ex S.W. dial.; the word occurs in the famous Exmoor Scolding, 1746 (EDD).

rubba(d)ge, rubbi(d)ge; occ. rubbich. Rubbish: C.19–20. When not dial. (see esp. EDD) it is low coll., verging indeed on sol.

rubbed about, be. (Of a person) to be made a convenience: tailors': from ca. 1870. Cf. rub about.

rubbed down with the book (or B.), be. To be sworn on the Bible: London proletarian: from ca. 1880. Nevinson, 1895.

rubbed-in. 'When a picture is commenced, it is spoken of as being "rubbed in"' (J. Hodgson Lobley): artists' coll.: from ca. 1910. Ex the technical sense of the phrase.

rubbed off. Bankrupt and gone, indeed run, away: coll.: late C.17–18. B.E.

rubbed(-)out. Dead: see rub out. 'Of late frequently used in fashionable novels' (H., 1864).

rubbedge, rubbege. Further variants of rubbadge.

rubber, n. An 'India-rubber' or, later, plastic, eraser: coll.: late C.18–20.—2. Some illicit device or swindling trick: c.: early C.17. Dekker, 'Betting, Lurches, Rubbers, and such tricks'. Prob. connected with the rubber of games of skill and/or chance.—3. A condom: low coll.: C.20.—4. A male homosexual: low and slightly contemptuous: prob. since early C.20. (Petch.) In French, there's a parallel term for a lesbian.—5. See fake the rubber; rub-a. rubber, v., or rubber at. To gape (or stare) at: adopted, ex US, ca. 1942; soon ob. Ex rubber-neck, v.

rubber cheque. A worthless cheque: adopted, ca. 1935, ex US: by 1960, coll. It 'bounces'—like a rubber ball.

rubber-dick, v. To 'con' or entice (someone) with false promises into doing something: low: later C.20. Ex the 'falsity' of a dildo. (P.B.: heard 1973.)

rubber firm. 'Lower deck money-lending concern' (Granville): RN: C.20. Prob. ex rub, n., 2.

rubber gun. 'A big gun firing at a very long range' (B. & P.): army: later WW1. Esp. a German naval high-velocity shell, which the New Zealanders called rubber guts.

rubber hammer for glass nails. One of the catch items that dozy apprentices may be sent to fetch: engineers' workshops, etc.: since ca. 1860. Cf. the carpenters' crooked straight-edge, and the painters' can of red, white and blue paint. See FOOLS' ERRANDS, in Appendix.

rubber heels. Long-range gun-shells: army: 1917–18. One heard them—when they had arrived.—2. Hard fried eggs: Services': since ca. 1920. (H. & P.) The form rubbers denotes simply 'eggs' (P-G-R).—3. That department of the CID which investigates its own personnel: police, esp. CID: since ca. 1955. (G.F. Newman, Str, You Bastard, 1970.) Ex the silence, the secrecy, of its methods.

rubber Johnnie, -y (or j.) A condom: gen. low: since mid-C.20 (?earlier). (P.B.) rubber knackers. An impudent man: low: C.20.

Rubber(-)Lips. 'Nickname for a seaman with such big mouth and lips that he can get more than a sip from "sippers" [q.v.]' (Peppitt): RN lowerdeck: C.20.

rubber(-)neck; (-)necking. A very inquisitive person; excessive curiosity or inquisitiveness: US (—1900), partly anglicised, esp. in Aus., ca. 1905; slightly ob. Ex 'considerable craning and stretching', as though one's neck were made of rubber: as in Pall Mall Gazette, 8 Mar. 1902.

rubber-neck, v.i. in sense of the n. (q.v.): 1932, Dorothy L. Sayers, Have His Carcase, 'She... could not waste time rubber-necking round Wilvercombe with Lord Peter [Wimsey].'

rubber pig. See come the rubber pig.

rubber-up. The agent expressed in rub up, v., q.v.: low coll.: C.19–20.

rubber walls. Esp. in 'I'll go rubber walls', I'll go crazy, mad: homosexuals': later C.20. (Bruce Rodgers, The Queens' Vernacular, 1972.) Ex the padded walls of a cell.

rubberdy or rubbity or rubby. A public house: Aus. low: since since ca. 1920. B., 1942, 'Rhyming slang on "rub-a-dub-dub" for "pub".' In full, rubberdy—usually rubbity-dub. (Culotta.) Also Brit., rubberdy: later C.20. (Red Daniels, 1980.)

rubberneck car. An observation car: Can. railroadmen's: —1931. See rubber-neck.

rubbich. See rubbadge.

rubbing-up. The act in rub up, v., q.v. Also rub-up.

rubbish, n. Money: low: ca. 1820–60. Egan, 1821, 'She shall stomp up the rubbish before I leave her.' Cf. S.E. dress and filthy lucre.—2. Luggage, esp. household effects and furniture: Anglo-Indian military: early C.19. Ware.

rubbish, v. To tease; to criticise adversely, to carp at: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Ex 'treat as rubbish' and 'say rubbish about'.—2. Mostly in passive, as 'The fate the board rider dreads is the "wipe out"'. This is when he is "rubbished" or tipped violently off a wave' (Sun-Herald, 22 Sep. 1963), like so much rubbish: Aus. surfies', esp. teenagers': since ca. 1961.

rubblechuck. Odds and ends of pastry left after pie-making, kneaded together and baked, esp. for a child's benefit: London domestic: C.20. (Mrs Phyllis Hughes.)

rubbling or rubling. Generic for oils used either medicinally or cosmetically: fair-grounds': C.20. One *rub*s them in. W. Buchanan-Taylor, Shake it Again, 1943.

rubby, n. See next:

rubby-dub or dubby. A drinker of cheap spirits or wine: low Can.: since ca. 1920. Orig. and properly, a drunkard that drinks rubbing alcohol. (Leechman.) Commoner than the prec.

rubby-dubber. An old fellow that follows a carnival for what he can pick up and spends most of his money on drink: Can. carnival s.: since ca. 1920.

rube; reub, reuben or Reuben. A country bumpkin: US (middle 1890s); anglicised, among movie-fans, by 1931. (OED Sup.) Cf. hick (ex Richard).—2. Something exceptionally good or desirable; also as adj., 'fine, excellent': Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1942.) Ironic ex sense 1?

Rubies. Cigarettes of the at one time very widely distributed, free-issue, Ruby Queen brand: Tommies' coll.: 1915–16. (Petch, 1966.)

rubigo. The penis: (low) Scots coll.: late C.16–17. (R. Sempill.) ?ex L. ruber, red, on L. rubigo (or robigo), rust (on metals), perhaps influenced by L. prurigo, lasciviousness.

rubric, in or out of the. In, out of, holy orders: coll.: late C.17–18. (Farquhar.) Like rubigo, it is by the OED considered as S.E.: provisionally, I believe F. & H. to be right.

ruby. Blood: boxing: 1860 (Chamber's Journal); 'Pomes' Marshall, ca. 1886, 'You'd be sure to nark the ruby round his gilt.' Cf. carmine, claret, qq.v.—2. In cross the Ruby, to cross the Rubicon: fast life: early C.19, when ruby was s. for port wine. Ware.

ruby(-)dazzler or as one word. A synonym of rube, n., 2: since ca. 1930. (Baker.) A blend of rube + bobby-dazzler.

ruby note. A ten-shilling note: c.; and low: from ca. 1920. See brown-back.

Ruby Queen. A young nurse or nursing sister of fresh complexion: military: 1916–18. (F. & G.) Ex the issue tobacco so named.

ruby red. The head: rhyming s.: early C.20. F. & G.

ruby wine. Methylated spirits serving as liquor: c., esp. among tramps: C.20. W.A. Gape, Half a Million Tramps, 1936.

ruck, n. A word, or a deposition, that is idiotic: c.—1923 (Manchon). Ex the v., 1.—2. A cigarette-end: lower classes:—1923 (Ibid.). Perhaps because rucked up (S.E. sense). —3. A heated argument; an angry fuss: low: C.20. (Norman.) Ex the v., 2. See quot'n at moody, adj. 'Now fairly respectable. Used in a news item in the Daily Telegraph, 23 Oct. 1962. Perhaps ex US ruckus' (Peter Sanders); but see rux, n.—4. Hence, a gang fight, as in 'If there's a ruck we steam in' (Ian Walker, New Society, 13 Sep. 1979): violence-prone football supporters'. Hence also ruck, v., and rucker, a fighter.—5. In come in with the ruck, 'To arrive at the winning-post among the unplaced horses' (B. & L.): turf: from ca. 1860. Ex dial.

ruck, v. To lay information: c. >, by 1900, low s.: from ca. 1884. See also ruck on, 1. Origin obscure.—2. To grow angry or irritated: low: ca. 1890–1940. Ex 1, or independently ex ruck (up), as applied to clothes. Also as ruck up (Manchon). —3. Hence, to chide, nag at: low London: C.20. George Ingram, The Muffled Man, 1936.—4. To masturbate: prison s.: later C.20. J. McVicar, McVicar by Himself, 1974.—5. To 'mix it' in a gang-fight. See ruck, n., 4.

ruck (or rucket) along. To walk quickly: ca. 1890–10: Oxford University. While ruck, prob. the earlier form, may derive ex dial. ruck, to go, rucket may be an elab. suggested by rocket along.

ruck on; occ. ruck upon. To 'split on a pal'; blab about (a person): c. >, ca. 1900, low s.: 1884, Daily News, 'I told the prisoner that I was not going to ruck on an old pal.' See ruck, v., 1.—2. To go back on; to disown: Cockneys': late C.19–20. Pugh (2), "'I don't care," said Deuce, defiantly ... "I ain't goin' to ruck on Dad."' ruck up. See ruck, v., 2.

rucker. A gang-fighter. See ruck, n., 4.—2. A customer given to complaint and to 'ruckus'-making: secondhand-car dealers': since ca. 1955. Woman's Own, 28 Feb. 1968.

ruckerky. Recherché: Society: 1890s. Ware quotes Daily Telegraph of 4 Apr. 1898.

rucket along. See ruck along.

rucking. A severe 'telling off', a reprimand: mostly prisons': C.20. (Norman.) Ex ruction.

ruction; ructions. (Earlier, occ. rucktion.) A disturbance, uproar, noisy quarrel 'row': dial. (—1825) >, ca. 1830, coll. In the pl., trouble, esp. noisy and avoidable trouble. The C.19 var. 'ruction, combined with Lover's use of the word, points to origin in insurrection'; P.W. Joyce, in English in Ireland, postulates 'the Insurrection of 1798, which was commonly called "the Ruction".' W.; OED.

rudder. A quadruped's, esp. a dog's, tail: mostly joc. (cf. stern, backside): C.20.

Rudders. The Rudiments of Faith and Knowledge: Oxford undergraduates': ca. 1895–1905. (Ware.) Later divvers; both by the 'OXFORD -ER(S)'. ruddock. A gold coin: 1567 (Turberville); † by 1750; ob. indeed by 1650,—it occurs in neither B.E. nor Grose. Occ. red or golden ruddock. Prob. ex ruddock, a robin (redbreast); cf. ruddy.—2. In pl, money, gold; esp. gold money: late C.16–17. Also red or golden r. Heywood, ca. 1607 (printed 1631), 'They are so flush of their ruddocks.' Cf. glistener and redge and red one (or 'un').

ruddy. A sovereign: c. and low sporting:—1887. Baumann has thirty ruddy, £30. Ex colour. Cf.: ruddy, adj. Bloody; confounded: euph. s.: from ca. 1905 (see Collinson, p. 26). (Synon. colour; rhyme.) Cf. rose-coloured, q.v.—2. Hence, the ruddy edge, the utter 'limit':—1923 (Manchon).—3. Adv., as in Maurice Lincoln, Oh! Definitely, 1933, 'I'd have ruddy well...locked the door.'

ruddy blush. As in 'in a ruddy blush', a bloody rush: joc.

and euph. spoonerism: since ca. 1930. (L.A., 1976.) Cf.: rude. In the rude, naked: mid-1930s. Ex 'in the nude'. (L.A., 1974.)

rude noise, make a. To break wind: euph.: mid-C.19–20.
Rude to Officers (or in lower case). An Army officers' c.p. concerning an RTO or Railway Transport Officer: from 1915: ob. Blaker.

rudery. A rude remark; risky conversation; amorous gesture or behaviour: middle- and upper-class coll.: since the middle 1920s.—2. Hence, an air-raid; a surface attack: RN: WW2. Wilfred Granville, Sea Slang of the 20th Century, 1949.

Ruff. Ruff's Guide to the Turf: sporting coll.: from ca. 1860. (With this title, 1854; actually begun, in its first form, in 1842.)—2. In the wooden ruff, the pillory: c.: ca. 1690–1830. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Punning the neck-wear.

ruff-peck. Bacon: c. of ca. 1565–1750. (Harman; Dekker; Shirley, 1707.) ?lit., rough food.

ruffelar or -er. See ruffler.

ruffemans. A var. of ruffmans.

ruffer. One who is rough: lower classes':—1909 (Ware).

ruffian. See ruffin.—2. In boxing s., a boxer disregarding science in his desire for victory: ca. 1820–50. Egan's Grose.

ruffin or Ruffin; also spelt Ruffian. The devil: c.: 1567, Harman (ruffian); Dekker (Ruffin); B.E. (Ruffin); Grose (Ruffian); Ainsworth (Old Ruffin). Ruffin, the name of a fiend (C.13–early 16), influenced by ruffian, a cut-throat villain.

—2. Whence, a justice of the peace: c.: ca. 1620–1820. Fletcher, ca. 1622 (Ruffin); B.E. (Ruffin); Grose (ruffin, 1st ed.; 2nd ed., ruffian).—3. As the Ruffin, the Bellerophon, a ship of the line: naval: Napoleonic Wars. (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, I, 1825: Moe.) Also Bully Ruffian, q.v.

ruffin cook ruffin, who scalded the devil in his feathers. A c.p. applied to a bad cook: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 2nd ed.

Ruffin's (or -ans') Hall. A coll. of ca. 1590–1680, thus in Blount, 1674, 'So that part of Smithfield was antiently called, which is now the Horse-market [in London], where Trials of Skill were plaid by ordinary Ruffianly people, with Sword and Buckler.' Nashe, Massinger. (OED).—2. Hence, he is only fit for Ruffians' Hall, a c.p. applied to an apprentice over-dressed: London: coll.: ca. 1640–1820. Fuller; Grose's Provincial Glossary.

rufflar. See ruffler.

ruffle, gen. in pl. A handcut: c.: ca. 1780–1850. Grose, 1st ed.; Ainsworth, 1839.

ruffler; also ruffelar or -er, rufflar, ruffleer, rufler. A vagabond: c.: ca. 1530–1620. Copland.—2. Esp. one of the 1st or the second order or rank of 'canters': C.17–18. B.E. and Grose (1st order): A New Canting Dict. (2nd).—3. A beggar pretending to be a maimed soldier or sailor: c. of ca. 1560–1830. (Awdelay; Grose, 1st ed.) The term derives ex ruffle, to deport oneself arrogantly.

ruffmans. A hedge: c.: mid-C.16–mid-19. (Harman, 1566; Grose.) Lit., rough time.—2. Harman and B.E. define it as the wood, a bush; Grose as a wood, a bush, or a hedge: as wood or bush, it is a special application of sense 1: ca. 1565–1840. See -MANS, in Appendix.

rufler. See ruffler.

rufus or Rufus. The female pudend: low: mid-C.19—early 20. Ex rufous.

Rug, rug. A Rugbeian: Rugby School:—1892.—2. A £1 note: Aus.: since ca. 1945. B., 1953.—3. In all rug, safe; certain: c. > gaming s.: late C.17–18. B.E., 'If's all Rug, ... the Game is secured'; Grose, 1st ed.—4. Hence, 'safe' in general: C.18—early 19: s. Rowe, 1705, 'Fear nothing, Sir; Rug's the Word, all's safe.' (OED.) Perhaps ex the warmth and snugness afforded by rugs. Cf.:—5. In at rug, in bed; asleep: low (? c.): ca. 1810–60. Prob. rug (of bed) influenced by all rug: an interesting clue is offered by the Devonshire rug, warm. Cf. ruggins, q.v. Egan's Grose.

Rugby. In real Rugby, cruel: Public Schools': late C.19—early 20. (Ware.) Ex the roughness of Rugby football.

rugged. Uncomfortable, characterised by hardship, 'tough':

since ca. 1935. News Chronicle, 30 Aug. 1946, 'The first night was a bit rugged'—there being no bed, no conveniences in the hut occupied by 'squatters'. Ex the lit. S.E. rugged, 'rough, craggy'.

rugger. Rugby football: s. (1893, OED) >, ca. 1920, coll. Ex Rugby on 'OXFORD -ER'.

ruggins; more gen., as in Vaux and in Egan's Grose, Ruggins's. Bed: c. of ca. 1810–70. Lytton, 1828, 'Toddle off to ruggins'. An elab. of rug of bed, influenced by all rug and at rug; or perhaps merely rugging (coarse blanket cloth) pluralised or genitived (rugging's), with g omitted.

ruggy. Safe; withdrawn, secluded: c.: later C.19—early 20. (Baumann.) See rug, 3 and 4.

Ruin. Rouen: army: WW1. (B. & P.) By Hobson-Jobson, perhaps influenced by its being the centre of treatment of venereal diseases.—2. See blue ruin, gin. By itself, rare: 1820 (J.H. Reynolds: OED).

ruined. Drunk, tipsy; teenagers' early 1980s. (Joanna Williamson, 1982.) Cf. synon. wasted, and the much older mother's ruin, gin.

rule. See run the rule over.

rule G. 'Thou shalt not drink': Can. railroadmen's:—1931.

rule O.K. See O.K., 2.

rule of three(, the). Penis and testes; low: C.18–20. D'Urfey.—2. Hence, copulation, C.19–20. Other mathematical delicacies are addition, multiplication, subtraction, all implying the juxtaposition of opponent genitals.

ruler, v. To rap, beat, with a ruler: coll.: 1850 (Dickens); ob. OED.

rules (or Rules). Australian Rules football: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1910. (B.P.)

rullock. A rowlock: nautical coll.: C.19. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book (I, 193), 1825, and again in The Night Watch, 1828 (Moe); Baumann, 1887, has shove one's oar into a seaman's rullock, to seek a quarrel with a sailor.

rully. Really: a coll. pron.: late C.19–20. D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'I'm rully very sorry.'

rum, n. A needy rural clergyman in Ireland: ca. 1720–40. (Swift: OED). Perhaps ex rum, adj., 1, as a mark of appreciation.—2. A 'rum', i.e. questionable, person (gen. male): ca. 1800–50. (Barham.) Ex rum, adj., 2. OED.—3. An old, hence an unsaleable, book: ca. 1810–30. ('Anecdotes' Nichols.) Ex rum, adj., 2. OED.

rum, v. To cheat: ca. 1810–20. 'He had rummed me', 1812. Ex rum, adj., 2. OED.

rum, adj. Variants: rome, C.16–18; room(e), C.17. Excellent; fine, good; valuable; handsome; great: c.: ca. 1565–1910; but comparatively rare after ca. 1810. The sense varies with the n.: see the ensuing list of terms, to many of which there is a precisely contrasted sense afforded by queer with the same n.: see queer, adj. Harman, 1567; Jonson; B.E.; Grose; Vaux; H.; Smyth (rum-gagger). Quotations are here unnecessary: see the combinations, which illuminate and objectify this strange adj. It may well, as H. suggests, derive from Rome ('the glory that was Rome') as a city of splendid repute and fame; the dial. ram, very or strong, is ineligible, for its history does not go far enough back; Romany rom, a male (gipsy) is a possibility, but not so probable as Rome. (Cf. ream.) Note that in Turkish, 'Roman' is Râm; the gipsies passed through Turkey,—indeed there is a Turkish gipsy dialect. Note, too, that L. Roma is cognate with, perhaps actually derived ex, that Teutonic radical hruod (fame) which occurs in Roger and Roderick, and in Ger. Ruhm (fame), whence ruhmooll, famous: cf. the s. sense of famous itself.—2. Either hence, by ironic 'inversion', or ex Rom, a gipsy, used attributively (for the adj. is Romano or -ani),—A New Canting Dict.'s (1725) and Grose's remarks (1785) at gipsies, make it clear that, even so early, the gipsies had a 'rum' reputation,—comes the sense 'queer, odd, eccentric, strange, questionable, disreputable': such terms as rum bite, rum bob (sense 2), rum bubbler, (esp.) rum cove, rum cull, rum fun, rum ned, taken along with those C.18 strictures on the gipsies, may have caused the change of sense from excellent, fine, etc., to queer, strange, etc. The earliest record is of 1774, but this sense does not > gen. until ca. 1800, as the OED points out. The remarkable merging with the c. sense of queer (q.v.), of which, from ca. 1820, it is mostly a mere synonym, is due, in part, to the vitality of queer itself, for in c. queer was more potent after ca. 1790 than rum was. H. Kelly, 1774, 'Rum tongue' (language); Grose; Dickens, 1837, 'There's rummer things than women in this world' (OED); Besant & Rice. Cf. rummy.—3. Strangely silly: late C.17–18. This is an extremely rare sense: I know it only in rum ned, where the silliness may reside only in the second member. (N.B. Of the clear instances in Grose, 3rd ed., forty belong to sense 1; three to sense 2; only one to sense 3. And practically all of Grose's terms were already in B.E.; B.E.'s terms, with one exception (rum ned, q.v.), are all in sense 1.)—4. 'A Naval word meaning "bad"' (H. & P.): earlier C.20.—5. In come it rum, to talk oddly; low: ca. 1820–70. ('Jon Bee', 1823.) Hence, to act oddly: later C.19. Baumann.

rum beak or beck. A justice of the peace: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.) See beak, beck.

rum bing. See rum bung.

rum bit or, mostly, bite. A clever trick or swindle: c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.) See bit and bite.—2. (Only bite.) Hence, a clever rogue: c.: early C.19. F. & H.

rum bleating cheat. A (very) fat wether: c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E.

rum blower (C.19) or blower (late C.17–18). 'A handsome wench' (Grose, 1st ed.); esp. one 'kept by a particular Man' (B.E.). See blower, blower.

rum bluffer. A jolly inn-keeper or victualler: c.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) See bluffer. rum bob. 'A young Prentice; also a sharp, sly Trick, and a pretty short wig' (B.E.): late C.17—early 19, except the third († by 1780).

rum-boile. A var. of romboyle, n., q.v.

rum booze, booze, houze, buse, buze. (See booze, n.) Good wine (mid-C.16–19) or other liquor (C.17–19): c. Harman; B.E.; Grose.—2. 'Flip made of white or port wine, the yolks of eggs, sugar and nutmeg' (Spy, 1825): Oxford University: ca. 1815–50.

rum-boozing welts. Bunches of grapes: c.: mid-C.17—early 19. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose.) Lit., excellent-liquor lumps or bunches.

rum bosun. The man serving out the rum ration: RN: C.20. (P-G-R.) Cf. custard bosun and rum fiend.

rum bottle. A sailor: RN: later C.19. (Ware.) Ex his fondness for rum.

rum bowling. An incorrect form (as in B. & L.) of rumbowling, q.v.

rum bub. Very good liquor: c.: late C.17–18. B.E. at bub.

rum bubbler. 'A dexterous fellow at stealing silver tankards from inns and taverns' (Grose, 1st ed.): c.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) Ex bub, liquor.

rum buffer (C.18—early 19) or bughar, gen. bugher (late C.17—early 19). A handsome and/or valuable dog: c. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) See buffer, bugher.

rum, bum and bacca (or baccy). The more usual form of beer, bum and bacca, held to be the summation of the sailor's pleasures: nautical, since ca. 1910; by ca. 1950, more widespread. Later, more accurate parodies of the traditional 'wine, women and song' are rum, bum and gramophone records, quoted by Peppitt as 'Merchant Navy: 1940s' and rum, bum and concertina (George Melly, Sunday Mirror, 18 Mar. 1973). An earlier, contemptuous dismissal of the nautical life was rum, bum and the lash (P.B.).

rum bung (occ. bing). A full purse: c.: late C.17—early 19. B.E.

rum chant or chaunt. 'A song' (Grose, 3rd ed.); 'a good song' (Vaux, 1812): the latter seems to be the correct definition. A late instance of rum, adj., 1.

rum chub. 'Among butchers, a customer easily imposed on' (Grose, 1st ed.): c.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E.) For chub, cf. gudgeon.

rum clan is Baumann's misprint for:

rum clank. A gold or silver cup or tankard: c.: C.18–early 19. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.)

rum clout, wipe, wiper. 'A Silk, fine Cambrick, or Holland Handkerchief' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–19; wipe not before C.19.

rum cod. A full purse (esp. of gold); a large sum of money: c.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. rum bung.

rum co or coe. A smart lad: late C.16–early 17. Cf. rum cove.

rum cole. 'New Money'; 'Medals, curiously Coyn'd' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–early 19. (Grose.) See cole. Also, in first nuance, rum gelt.

rum coll. A rhyme-needed var., early C.18, of rum cull, 1.

Rum Corps, the; the Rum Hospital. The New South Wales Corps; Sydney Hospital: Aus.: late C.18–mid-19, then historical; mid-C.19–20, but after ca. 1920, only historical. Ex a rum monopoly granted by Governor Lachlan Macquarie. (B.P.)

rum cove. 'A great Rogue' (B.E.): c.: C.17–mid-18. Rowlands; Dekker's use stresses rum, rich.—2. Hence, 'a dexterous or clever rogue' (Grose, 1st ed.): c.: mid-C.18–mid-19. (Cf. cove.) A very operative term: see rum, adj., 2.—3. A 'queer fish': low: mid-C.19–20.

rum cull. 'A rich Fool, that can be easily ... Cheated ...; also one that is very generous and kind to a Mistress' (B.E.): c.: ca. 1670–1840. Cf. the US sugar-daddy.—2. A manager: low theatrical: from ca. 1860. Esp. the master of a travelling troupe:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.); ob. by 1930. Perhaps ex:—3. An intimate friend: low: ca. 1840–90. Selby, 1844, 'What's in the wind, my rum cull?'; 1886, Stephens & Yardley. Mrs C. Raab: The first two lines of the Aus. trad. ballad, 'Botany Bay' run: 'Farewell to old England for ever, Farewell to my rum culls as well'; here, the term just = drinking companions.

rum cully. Elisha Coles's var. (1676) of rum cull, 1.

rum customer. A person, an animal, that it is risky, even dangerous to meddle with or offend. late C.18–20. Cf. queer cuss. Rum customer meant, in the pugilistic circles of ca. 1800–50, a hard-punching, a skilful, attacking boxer, known also as a swishing hitter. (Moe.)

rum cuttle. A sword: c.: early C.17. (Rowlands, 1609.) A cuttle is a knife.

rum dab. 'A very Dextrous fellow at fileing, thieving, Cheating, Sharping, &c' (B.E., at dab, not at rum): late C.17–early 18: c. rum degen or tol or tilter. A splendid sword; esp. a silver-hilted or silver-inlaid one: c.: late C.17–18. B.E., Grose.

rum dell, doxy, mort. A handsome whore: C.17–early 19. Jonson (roomie mort); B.E. (in this sense, dell and doxy); Grose (id.).—See separately rum doxy and rum mort.

rum diver. A skilful pickpocket: c.: C.18–mid-19. (A New Canting Dict., 1725.) Also rum file.

rum doxy. A beautiful woman, a fine wench: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.—2. A 'light Lady' (B.E.): late C.17–early 18.

rum drawers. Silk, or very fine worsted, stockings: c.: late C.17–18. B.E., Grose.

rum dropper. A vintner (wine-merchant); landlord of a tavern: c.: mid-C.17–18. Coles, 1676; Ned Ward (1709); Grose.

rum dubber. A dexterous picklock: c.: late C.17–18. B.E.; Grose.

rum duchess. A jolly, handsome woman: c.: late C.17–mid-18. (B.E.) Cf. rum duke, 1.

rum duke. A jolly, handsome man: c.: late C.17–18. B.E.; Grose, who (1785) adds, 'an odd eccentric fellow', or, as he defines at duke, 'a queer unaccountable fellow': c.: late C.18–mid-19. Extant in East Anglian dial. in 1903 (EDD).—3. Gen. in pl, 'The boldest and stoutest fellows lately among the Alsatians [see Alsatia], Minters, Savoyards, and other inhabitants of privileged districts, sent to remove and guard the goods of such bankrupts as intended to take sanctuary in those places' (Grose): c.: late C.17–mid-18. (B.E.) This is the only one of Grose's rum-terms that we find in dial.: in sense 3.

rum fam or fem. A diamond ring: c.: ca. 1850–90. (F. & H.) See fam.

rum fiend. Such a rum-server as allows rum to drip over the brim of the measure into the 'save-all', the wastage being 'perks': RN: since ca. 1910. P-G-R.

rum file. See rum diver: late C.17–early 19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

rum fun. A sharp trick; a clever swindle: c.: late C.17–18. Ibid.

rum gagger. One of those impostors 'who tell wonderful stories of their sufferings at sea, or when taken by the Algerines' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. of ca. 1780–1850; then nautical s. (witness Smyth, 1867), with the Algerian gambit omitted; ob.

rum gelt or gilt. (In B.E. and Grose, rum ghelt.) See rum cole.

rum gill. A clever thief; a handsome man: c. of ca. 1820–50. Ainsworth.

rum glimmer, gen. spelt glymmar (or -er). The chief of the link-boys: c.: late C.17–18. (B.E., Grose.) See glim and glymmar.

rum go. A puzzling and not too respectable contretemps; a mysterious (not merely because wholly unexpected) occurrence or, esp., development of a plot, situation, etc.: prob. orig. c., later C.18 (in Oct. 1783, Sessions, p. 952, a thief says, 'By God, this is a rum go') >, by mid-C.19, coll. Thackeray, 1850 (OED), and George Eliot, 1876; rummy go is in Punch, 1841. See rum, adj., 2, and go, n.

rum going. Fast trotting: c. or low s.: ca. 1820–60. Jones, 1825, The True Bottom'd Boxer.

rum gut(t)lers. Canary wine c.: mid-C.17–18. (Coles, 1676; B.E.; Grose.) Cf. S.E. guzzle.—2. 'Fine Eating' (A New Canting Dict., 1725): c.: C.18.

rum hopper. A drawer at a tavern: c.: late C.17–18. (B.E.) One who hops or 'springs to it' with great alacrity.

rum-jar. A kind of German trench-mortar bomb: army: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex shape.

rum johnny or Johnny. A native wharf-labourer: Anglo-Indian: C.19–20; ob. Prob. ex rum, adj., 2; but see Y. & B.—2. A whore: 'Services'; mid-C.19–early 20. Ex Hindustani ramjani, a dancing-girl. Y. & B.

rum Joseph or Joseph. A very good coat or cloak: c.: late C.17–18. B.E. at Joseph.

rum ken. A popular inn, tavern, brothel: c. of ca. 1810–60. Egan, 1821.

rum kicks. 'Breeches of gold or silver brocade, or richly laced with gold or silver' (Grose, 1st ed.): c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E.

rum kiddy. A clever young thief: c.: late C.18–early 19. G. Parker, 1781.

rum maund (or mawnd). 'One that Counterfeits himself a Fool' while begging: late C.17–18. (B.E., Grose.) See maund. Cf.:

rum maunder. A late C.18–19 early form of the preceding. F. & H., where it is defined as 'a clever beggar'.

rum mizzler. A thief clever at escaping: c.: ca. 1780–1900. (Parker, 1781; H., 5th ed.; Baumann.) Cf. needy mizzler and see mizzle.

rum mort. See rum dell.—2. A queen; the Queen: c.: Harman, 1567 (Rome mort); B.E.; Grose. † by 1840.—3. Hence, a great lady: c.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E., Grose.) See mort.

rum nab. 'A Beaver, or very good Hat' (B.E.): late C.17–early 18, the former (Shadwell, 1688); until ca. 1830, the latter. See nab, n.

rum nantz or Nantz. Good French brandy: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum ned or Ned. 'A very silly fellow' (B.E.); 'a very rich silly fellow's' (Grose): c.: late C.17–18. Cf. rum cull, 1; cf. rum, adj., 2.

rum one or un ('un). (Gen. r. one) a settling blow, punch; boxing: early C.19. 'Jon Bee'.—2. (Gen. r. un). An odd or eccentric fellow; a strange-looking animal or object; a strange affair: from ca. 1825. (Dickens.) Prob. ironic on:—3. (Only rum un.) A 'stout fellow'; a capital chap: c.: ca. 1820–50. (Jones, 1825; Moncrieff, 1830, in vocative.) Cf. rum cull, 3. rum omee (or omer), occ. rum homer, of the case. See omee, omer.

rum pad; Moore writes it rumpad. The highway: c.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E., Grose.) The v. rum-pad, to attack, rob, on the highway, is only 'literary' c. of late C.19.—2. 'A daring or stout Highway-man' (B.E.): c.: late C.17–early 19. See pad, n., 3 and 4, and—rum(-)padder. One of 'the better sort of Highwaymen, well Mounted and Armed' (B.E.): mid-C.17–early 19: c. (Coles, 1676.) Ex rum pad.

rum peck. Good food: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E. (at peckidge); Grose; Moncrieff.

rum peeper. A silver looking-glass: c.: late C.17–18. B.E., Grose.

rum phiz or phys. 'An odd face or countenance' (Grose, 1st ed.): low: from ca. 1780; ob.

rum prancer. A very fine horse: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum quid(d)s. A large booty; a great share of spoil: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum rat. 'A rating very fond of his tot, and anyone else's if he can get it' (Granville, letter, 1962): RN: since late 1940s. Cf. scrumpy rat.

Rum Row. 'Position outside the prohibited area taken up by rum-running vessels': coll.; US, anglicised before 1927; ob. Collinson; COD, 1934 Sup.

rum ruff peck. Westphalia ham: c.: late C.17–18. (B.E.; Grose.) Contrast ruff peck, q.v.

rum slim or slum. Punch: c.: ca. 1780–1890. Parker (slim); Egan (slum); H., 3rd ed. (slim). ? the 'originator' of rum sling, rum punch (cf. gin sling).

rum snitch. A hard blow on the nose: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum squeeze. Copious drink for the fiddlers: c.: id. Ib.

rum start. An odd occurrence: s. and dial.: from ca. 1840; slightly ob. as s. Recorded in 'No. 747' as used in 1845.

rum strum. A long wig, esp. if a fine one: c.: late C.17–18. B.E., Grose, both at strum.—2. A handsome wench or harlot: c.: late C.17–early 18. B.E. (at strum).

rum-te-tum. See rumtitum.

rum tilter; rum tol (see tol). A rum degen, q.v.: c.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.

rum Tom Pat. A clergyman (not a hedge-priest): c. of ca. 1780–1840. See adam, v.

rum topping. A rich head-dress: c. of ca. 1670–1810. B.E.; Grose. Orig. of the style designated by commode.

rum touch. An odd or eccentric fellow: 1804–6 (T. Creevey; OED). Perhaps touch here = a 'contact', a person whom one meets or deals with.—2. Hence, a very strange affair: from ca. 1807; very ob. Cf. queer start (see start).

rum un ('un'). See rum one.

Rum ville or vyle; Rumville. London: c.: C.17–19. See Rome Ville.

rum wipe or wiper. See rum clout and quot'n at rummy, adj.

rumble, n. An (improvised) seat for servants at the back of a carriage: 1808 (OED): coll. till ca. 1840 > then S.E.; ob. Abbr. rumble-tumble, q.v.—2. A stage-coach: coll.: ca. 1830–50. This differentiation (F. & H.) is open to dispute.—3. The surreptitious opening of the throttle to enable one to land at the desired spot: RAF: 1930s.—4. A gang fight, often carefully planned, and esp. among teenagers: Can. and Aus. teenagers': adopted, ca. 1944, ex US. Cf. clash.

rumble, v. To rule out unceremoniously, handle roughly: ca. 1810–50. (OED.) Ex rumboyle, v.—2. Hence, to test, try; handle; examine: c. of ca. 1820–1900. Haggart.—3. Hence, v.i. & t., to detect; fathom, understand; low: from ca. 1875. Binstead, 1898, 'I soon rumbled he was in it when I heard...'. Cf. tumble to, by which this sense may have been suggested and has certainly been influenced.—4. To experience stomachic gurgles, whether audible or inaudible: coll.: late C.19–20.—5. To disturb, upset, irritate or anger (someone): army: earlier C.20.

rumble-bumble. A shooting-up of targets on enemy coastline: Coastal Forces: 1940–4. Echoic.

rumble (someone's) bumble and the derivative bumble (someone's) rumble are punning elaborations of run up (someone's) arse, to collide with either a person or a motor-car (etc.): Cambridge undergraduates': ca. 1925–40. In the first phrase bumble elaborates bum, and run is rhymingly perverted to rumble.

rumble-tumble. See rumble, n., 1. C.19: coll. till ca. 1830, then S.E. Ex the noise.—2. Any wheeled vehicle that rumbles: 1806 (J. Beresford: OED); † by 1910. Coll. till ca. 1840, then S.E. and dial.

rumbler. Same as rumble, n., 1: coll.: ca. 1800–20.—2. A hackney coach: ca. 1815–60: coll. Moncrieff, 1823, 'A rattler... is a rumbler, otherwise a jarvey.'—3. Hence, a four-wheeled cab: ca. 1860–1910. H., 3rd ed. ('Not so common as bounder').—4. Prison: low; Aus.: ca. 1820–70. (Brian Penton, Landtakers, 1934.) Perversion of rumbo, n., 2.—5. In running rumbler, a carriage-thief's confederate: c.: ca. 1820–80. ? Ex-rumbler's flunkey. A footman; one who, for tips or wages, runs for cabs, etc.: low: ca. 1815–90. (Anon., The Young Prig (song), ca. 1819.) See rumbler, 2, 3.

rumbo. Rum-punch: ca. 1750–1840, then archaic: coll. till C.19, then S.E. Smollett, 1751, 'He and my good master... come hither every evening, and drink a couple of cans of rumbo apiece.' Either fantastic on rum or ex rumbullion.—2. A prison: c. of ca. 1720–1830. Also rumbo-ken (Harper, 1724). Perhaps ironic on rum, adj., 1. A New Canting Dict., 1725.—3. Stolen rope: nautical and dockyard s.:—1867 (Smyth). Cf. rumbo-ken, 2.

rumbo, n. and adj. Plenty, plentiful; sufficiency, sufficient; good: low: 1870 (Hazlewood & Williams); 1876, Hindley, "'Chuck rumbo (eat plenty), my lad"; Pall Mall Gazette, 21 Dec. 1895 (horses and carts described as rumbo, good). Prob. ex coll. Sp. rumbo, liberality, generosity (cf. rumbosamente, grandly, liberally), via Lingua Franca.—2. Elegant, fashionable: C.20. Manchon. Perhaps ex rumbo!—3. Successful: theatrical:—1923 (Ibid.)

rumbo! Splendid! lower and lower-middle classes': ca. 1860–1915. Ware: ex Sp. via the gypsies.

rumbo-ken. See rumbo, n., 2.—2. A pawnbroker's shop: c.: (?) ca. 1700–1850.

rumboile, rumboyle. See rumboyle.

rumbowing(g). Anything inferior or adulterated: nautical: C.19. It occurs as rumbowlin in W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at I, 203 (Moe); as rumbowling in H., 3rd ed. (Occ. as adj.) Prob. a corruption of S.E. rombowline.—2. Grog: nautical:—1885. Ex sense 1, but perhaps influenced by rumbo and:

rumbullion, -ian; occ. rumbullion. Rum: ca. 1650–1750: coll. soon > S.E. ?etym.

rumbumptious. Obstreperous: coll.: ca. 1786–1895. Grose, 2nd ed.; H., 5th ed., 'Haughty, pugilistic' (? quarrelsome). Ex dial. ram (see rumbustious) + bump on fractious; cf. rumgumption on gumption. (N.B., bumptious is later than rumbumptious, gumption earlier than rumgumption.)

rumbustials. Boisterous behaviour or games: naval lower-deck: late C.18–mid-19. L.L.G., 26 June 1824 (Moe). Cf.: rumbustical; occ. (†) rumbustical. Boisterous, very noisy; unruly: coll. and dial.: 1795 (OED). Prob. on † S.E. robustic ex rumbustious, q.v. Cf.:

rumbusticate. To coit with (a woman): late C.19–early 20. Ex rumbustical on spifficate.

rumbusticator. A moneyed man: ca. 1890–1910. Cf. prec. two entries.

rumbustious; occ. († in C.20) rombustious. Same as rumbustical, q.v.: coll.: 1778, Foote, 'The sea has been rather rumbustious.' Lytton, 1853, rumbustious. Prob. a perversion of robustious on dial. ram, very, strong, and rum, adj., 1. (This type of word >, ca. 1840, very gen. in US: cf. catawampus, rambunctious.)

rumdadam. The buttocks: low:—1923 (Manchon). Echoic. P.B.: or perhaps rhyming s., on bum.

Rumford (properly, Romford), ride to. To get a new pair of breeches, or an old pair new-bottomed: coll.: ca. 1780–1830. Grose, 1st ed.; in the 2nd he adds, 'Rumford was formerly a famous place for leather breeches.' But cf.:—you (one, etc.) may or might ride to Romford (up) on a (this, etc.) knife, a c.p. imputing bluntness: ca. 1705–1860. Swift, 'Well, one may ride to Rumford upon this knife, it is so blunt'; Notes & Queries, 1901, referring to ca. 1850–70, 'You might ride to Romford on it'. Robert Barltrop, 1981, letter to P.B., recalls 'as a boy [1920s] I used to hear [London East End] women say "You could ride bare-behind to Romford on this knife".'

Rumford (or Romford) lion. A calf: coll.: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E., 1699.) More gen. is Essex lion, q.v.: calves being very numerous in Essex.

rungumption. Common sense: coll. (Mostly Scots and Northern): from ca. 1770. A strengthened form of gumption, q.v. (The adj. is gen. considered to be dial.)

rumly. Finely; excellently; gallantly; strongly: c. of ca. 1670–1770. (Head; B.E.) In C.17, often romely, as in Rowlands, 1609. Ex rum, adj., 1.—2. Oddly; eccentrically: s.: 1819, Moore, 'Thus rumly floored'. Ex rum, adj., 2.

rummage. To caress a woman sexually; possess her: low coll.: C.19–20; ob. Ex S.E. rummage, to disarrange, disorder; to knock about.

rummaging. Such as may be found, obtained, by rummaging in rubbish: coll.: 1899, Baring-Gould, 'The "rummaging" faces' (OED); ob. by 1935.

rummily. Oddly, queerly: 1827 (Scott: OED): s. >, ca. 1890, coll. Ex rummy.

rumminess. Oddness; singularity: 1899 (Eden Phillpotts): s. >, ca. 1920, coll. OED. Cf.:

rummish. Rather odd or peculiar: from earlier C.19: Moe cites 'Idyl' in Blackwood's, July 1823; somewhat rare in C.20. Ex rum, adj., 2.

rummy. A Can. term of address:—1932 (John Beames). Perhaps ex:

rummy, adj. Odd; singular: 1823, The Sporting Magazine, 'A neat, but rather rummy looking blue pony' (OED). Moncrieff's 'rummy Spitalfields wiper' may mean odd handkerchiefs, but it might be a var. on rum wipe, a silk handkerchief.

rummy, adv. 'Capitally', excellently, well: c. of ca. 1825–40. Moncrieff, 1830, has 'We chaunt so rummy' (cf. rum chant, q.v.) and 'We frisk so rummy'. Ex rum, adj., 1, via some of the c. rum combinations.

rummy (or Jamaica) tea. Tea laced with rum, esp. when the tea has been made with chlorinated water: Tommies': 1915–18. (Petch, 1966.)

rumour, it's a; often 's a rumour. A military c.p. (1915–18) in retort on 'an opinion expressing a very well-known fact or [on] a statement emphatically (and, usually, disagreeably) true' (B. & P.). Baker records it as extant in Aus., 1942.

Rump. (The R.) The Long Parliament remnant from Dec. 1648 to April 1653: coll.: 1648.—2. That remnant of the L.P. which, after being restored in May 1659, was dissolved in Feb. 1660: coll.: 1659. Prob. an anatomical pun. OED.—2. In (e.g. he) hath eaten the rump, a semi-proverbial c.p. applied to one who is constantly talking: ca. 1670–1800. (Ray.)? ex prec.—3. In loose in the rump, q.v.

rump, v. To flog: ca. 1810–90: coll. Vaux, 1812.—2. (Of the male) to coit with, esp. dorsally: low: from ca. 1850; slightly ob. As v.i., of either sex: cf. rumper. Cf. loose in the rump, rump-splitter. rump and a dozen. An Irish wager, 'A rump of beef and a dozen of claret' (Grose, 2nd ed.): coll.: late C.18–mid-19. Also called buttock and trimmings (Grose).

rump-and-kidney men. 'Fidlers that play at Feasts, Fairs, Weddings, &c. And Live chiefly on the Remnants, of Victuals', B.E., who—wrongly, I think—classifies it as c.; Grose doesn't. (Prob.) coll.: late C.17–early 19.

rump(-)and(-)stump, adv. Completely; utterly: dial. and coll.: from ca. 1820; ob. Lit., rump and tail; cf. lock, stock, and barrel. A rhyming phrase perhaps suggested by (utterly) stumped. The synon. rump and rig is wholly dial.

Rump Parliament. (See Rump.) Not before 1670; soon S.E. rump-splitter. The penis: low coll.: ca. 1650–1800. (Urquhart.) Cf. rump, v., 2.—Whence, a whoremonger: low: C.19–early 20. Cf. rump, n., 3, and rump-work.

rump-sprung. 'Said of a woman's dress that, through much wear and a good deal of bending, has taken a permanent bulge over the rump. Knitted dresses are especially vulnerable. Canadian coll.; since ca. 1940.' (Leechman.) 'Quoted by Joseph Mitchell, ca. 1937, is an account of festivities among B.W.I. residents of New York City' (Claiborne, 1976).

rump-work. Copulation: low coll.: C.19–early 20. Cf. rump, v., 2.

rumpad. See rum pad.

rumper. A whore; a whoremonger: low: C.19. Ex rump, v., 2, though partly a pun on Rumper, a member of the Rump Parliament.

Rumpety. A 'Maurice Farman "Shorthorn" aircraft of the Great War' (1914–18): RFC and RAF. (Jackson.) Prob. echoic, from the booming vibration set up on landing and take-off (Mrs Barbara Huston).

rumption. A 'rumpus': 1802 (OED): coll. till ca. 1820, then dial. Prob. ex rumpus on gumption.

rumpty, n. One thirty-second of £1: Stock Exchange: 1887.

rumpty, adj. Excellent: Aus.: since ca. 1910. Baker. Often elab. to rumptydooler. Ex rumtitum.

rumpty-foo. Gimcrack; makeshift: mid-C.19. Angus Wilson, The Strange Ride of Rudyard Kipling, 1977.

rumpus, n. An uproar or, † in C.20, a riot; a 'row', quarrel: coll.: 1764, Foote, 'Oh, Major! such a riot and rumpus!' Always in collocation with riot before ca. 1785; Grose has it in his 2nd ed. Also without article, gen. as riotousness, noise, quarrelling: 1768, (OED); slightly ob. W. Suggests a s. use of Gr. ρόμβος, spinning top, also commotion, disturbance; tentatively, I suggest a fanciful perversion of rumble, used, esp. as v., of the noise made by the bowels (C.16 onwards), for Grose, 1785, says 'There is a rumpus among my chitterlins, i.e. I have the cholick.'—2. A masquerade: c.: ca. 1810–40. Vaux.

rumpus, v. To make a 'rumpus': coll.: 1839 (Hood: OED); ob. by 1930.

rumpty. Coral: trawlermen's: C.20. D. Butcher, Trawlermen, 1980, glossary.

rumtitum. In fine condition, gen. of a bull or a whoremonger: early C.19–early 20. (Often written rum-ti-tum.) Egan's Grose; Sinks, 1848, has rum ti tum with the chill off (excellent), with a pun on the spirit rum. The term rum-ti-tum is an elab. of rum-tum, a rhyming reduplication of rum, adj., 1. The Aus. rumpty is a corruption of rumti (short for rumtitum). Cf. rumtitum, rumtidy(-tum), in refrains, though these are unrecorded before 1820.

Rumville. See Rome ville.

rumy. A good girl or woman: tramps' and gipsy c.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). A perversion of Romany romeni, a bride, a wife.

run, n. In have a run, to desert ship: naval: late C.18–mid-19. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, II, 1826 (Moe).—2. In have (or take) a run, to take a walk, a 'constitutional': coll.: from ca. 1880. To go to a place, as in 'he's just taken a run over to see his brother' or 'I think I'll have a run down (to) town', where travel by vehicle may be implied.—3. In have a run, to get drunk; to go absent without leave: R Aus N: WW2. (B., 1943.) Cf. run ashore.—4. In get the run, to be discharged from employment: from ca. 1870. (B. & L.) Hence, give the run, to dismiss: since ca. 1875.—5. In on the run, wanted by the police; to be a fugitive from justice: orig. (late C.19—?earlier in Ireland) c.; by 1925, coll. In c., at least, it implies leaving the usual haunts when one is wanted by the police.—6. In have a run for it, to make a fight: coll.: late C.19—earlier 20.—7. In get the run on (someone), to play a dirty trick on (him): c.:—1887 run, v. To manage: coll., adopted ex US ca. 1860 and >, in C.20, S.E.—2. To tease, irritate, nag at: Aus. coll.,—1888 ('Rolf Boldrewood': OED); >, ca. 1910, S.E. Perhaps ex run ragged.—3. To charge with a 'crime': RN (Bowen) and army: from not later than 1915. Ex run in.—4. Hence, to arrest: Services', esp. army, early C.20, > by 1931, gen. s. (Lyell); † by 1950. Usu. in passive, to be run, 'To be placed in arrest' (F. & G.)—5. To report (a prisoner) to the governor of a gaol: c.:—1932 (anon., Dartmoor from Within).—6. To go out often with (a person of the opp. sex); gen. of a man with a girl): from ca. 1910. Prob. ex the turf.—7. To let the water run into (the bath): domestic coll.: C.20. R. Hichens, The Paradine Case, 1933, 'Without summoning his valet, [he] went to "run" the bath.' P.B.: since mid-C.20 at latest, informal S.E.—8. To desert (v.i.): RN: late C.19–20. (Granville.) Short for run away.—9. To run a sheep is 'to shear a sheep's fleece near the top, leaving the thick base wool intact' (B., 1959): Aus. rural coll.: late C.19–20.—10. See let it run; won't run to it!

(Baumann). Ex the earlier get the run upon (someone), to have the upper hand of; be able to laugh at: coll. (—1859, H., 1st éd.) >, by 1890, S.E.—8. See run ashore; run for (one's) money.

run a banker. To run high, as in 'Shanghai's Chinese Citizens behaved admirably considering national feelings were running a banker' (Rhodes Farmer, Shanghai Harvest, 1945). See banker, 1.

run a buck. To poll an invalid vote: late C.18—early 19; orig. and mainly Anglo-Irish. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Cf. buck, n., 9; perhaps, however, a pun on run amuck.

run a drum. In a race, esp. of horses or dogs, to win a place: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1945. Culotta.

run a rule over. See run the rule...

run a skirt; frequent also as vbl n., running... To have a mistress: C.20. (W. McFee, North of Suez, 1930.) Cf. run, v., 1 and 6. and see skirt.

run a tight ship. To exercise firm command; hence, to maintain one's control over a team, a mess, a committee, etc.: C.20: orig. RN; by ca. 1950, also the other two Services'; by 1965, also civilian. Cf. taut hand. (P.B.) run-about. A kind of football: Charterhouse: from ca. 1890. See compulsory.—2. (Usu. in pl; also as one word.) 'Cattle allowed to graze freely' (B., 1943): Aus. coll.: late C.19–20.

run about after (someone's) arse. To be obsequious or subservient to: low: late C.19–20.

run across. To meet by chance: late C.19–20: coll. till ca. 1905, then S.E.

run-around, get or give the. The be treated, to treat, contemptuously or so as to serve a mere whim: Aus.: since ca. 1910; by ca. 1945, coll. (B., 1953.) Some use also in Brit., since ca. 1945 at latest (P.B.).

run around like a hoo-hum-hah. To act as if one were hysterical or crazy: smart young set (esp. girls'): ca. 1955–60. Gilderdale, 2.

run as swift as a pudding would creep. To be very slow: coll.: early C.17. Apperson.

run ashore, a. 'Spell of evening leave in a dockyard port or from Naval barracks, as distinct from weekend or long leave' (Granville): RN lowerdeck: C.20. Sometimes abbr., as in 'Have a good run?'

run away. See toe-biter.

run away and play marbles! An insulting c.p. rejoinder or dismissal: late C.19–20. C.H. Bacon, a Sedbergh boy, aptly pointed out, in July 1934, that an exact equivalent occurs in Shakespeare's Henry V: where the Dauphin sends the King a present of tennis balls. Cf.:

run away and play trains! Don't bother me!; go away, get lost! a C.20 contemptuous dismissal. Perhaps orig. ex-run away and play with yourself! An insulting form of the prec.: C.20.

Run Away, Matron's Coming. Less a nickname for than a military c.p. directed at the Royal Army Medical Corps: WW1, and since. (F. & G.) Cf. Rather A Mixed Crowd.

run before (one's) horse to market. To count unhatched chickens: coll.: late C.16–17. Shakespeare (OED).

run big. To be out of training, esp. of a horse forced to race when too fat: sporting: late C.19—early 20.

run down. The gangway or bridge between stage and auditorium: conjurors' coll. (from ca. 1880) >, in C.20, S.E. run (one's) face (or shape) for. To obtain an article on credit: coll.: orig. (—1848) and mainly US; adopted ca. 1880; ob. by 1930. OED; F. & H.

run (something) fine. (Esp. run it or that fine.) To leave only a very small margin (gen. of time): coll.: 1890 (OED). Cf. cut it close, itself perhaps coll.

run-flat. A tyre that, if punctured, could be run-on flat for half a mile or so: army coll., WW2 (P-G-R) >, in later C.20, motorists' j.

run for (one's) money, a (good). An ample quid proquo; extended liberty; a good time in exchange for one's money: from C.18: racing s. >, ca. 1890, coll. >, by 1930, S.E. As Petch pointed out, 1946, to get a ... has been, since ca. 1925, a 'Modern humorous reference to patent medicines like Krusch's Salts' (i.e. laxatives).

run goods. 'A maidenhead, being a commodity never entered' (Grose, 2nd ed.): 1786–1840. Punning the nautical sense, contraband.

run-in. Concerning thefts of bulk goods, 'The normal method was to hire a van from a small lorry-owner, run the van to the warehouse, break in, load the van, take the contents to a "run-in"—usually a shed or garage in the central London area—and return the van' (John Gosling, The Ghost Squad, 1959): since ca. 1920: c. >, by 1940, also police s.

run in. To arrest: coll. >, in C.20, S.E.: 1872 (OED); H., 5th ed.

run of (one's) teeth or knife and fork, the. Victuals free: s., 1841 (in C.20, coll.); coll. (ca. 1860) >, in C.20, S.E. Ex the run, freedom, of a place.

run off, have a. To urinate: Society and middle-class: since ca. 1930. Cf. the S.E. to run off the bath water and drain off.

run off (one's) legs. Bankrupt; gen. he is run off his legs. Coll.: ca. 1670–1760. Ray. (Apperson.) Cf. run over shoes.

run on. To run up an account: lower classes' coll.:—1887 (Baumann).

run one way and look another. To play a double game: coll.: ca. 1850–1930.

run-out, n. Esp. have a run-out, to urinate: C.20. (L.A.)—2. As the run-out (often abbr. to R.O.), a faked auction: grafters': C.20. (Cheapjack, 1934.) See R.O. workers.

run out (at). To come to; to cost: coll., mostly Aus.: since ca. 1920. 'How does this run out?'—'It runs out at six shillings a yard.' (B.P.) P.B.: fairly common also in Brit., in both versions: 'At ten p. a sheet, photocopying'll run out pretty steep'.

run out of road. A motorist's accident not involving another vehicle; e.g. skidding off into the ditch, ramming a telegraph pole, etc. To 'run out of runway', of an aircraft, would I think be a coll. var. (P.B.) See flatter, n.

run out on. To embroider, enlarge on: coll.: late C.19—earlier 20.—2. To leave (someone) in the lurch: coll.: C.20.

run-out powder, take a. To depart hastily, as in WW2 Services' 'You can take ...', your presence is unwelcome; by late 1940s, gen. (L.A., 1976.)

run over shoes; be run over shoes. To get, be, heavily in debt: coll.: late C.16—early 17. Apperson.

run rings round or around. To beat hollow: Aus. s. (—1891) >, ca. 1910, fairly gen. coll. (Melbourne Argus, 10 Oct. 1891.) Ex sport, prob. ex Rugby, or ex Aus. football. (Morris.) Cf. circling-boy, q.v. P.B.: in C.20, also Brit.; occ. make rings...

run straight. To remain faithful to one's husband: Society s. (from ca. 1870) >, by 1910, gen. coll. Ex the language of the stable.

run (one's) tail. To be a whore: from ca. 1850. See tail.

run taper. (Esp. of money) to run short: mid-late C.19. (H., 1859, at mopusses.) See taper, adj.

run the ferret. In Severn Tunnel, to descale the water main by inserting small propeller' (Railway): railwaymen's: C.20.

run the rabbit. To convey liquor from a public house' (C.J. Dennis, 1916); 'To obtain liquor, esp, if illicitly, after hours' (B. 1942); Aus. low: C.20. Why?

run the (occ. a) rule over. To search: c. (—1874) >, ca. 1910, gen. s.; now coll. H., 5th ed.; Horsley; 'Pomes' Marshall, 'Run the rule through all/His pockets.' Cf. rub down, which has remained low s., and frisk, q.v. 'No. 747' has it for 1845: (of a pickpocket) to feel over the person of (a prospective victim).—2. To examine (someone) medically: coll.: since ca. 1914.—3. To interrogate (a suspect): police: C.20. Free-Lance Writer, April 1948.

run the show. To 'manage' an enterprise, entertainment, etc.: from ca. 1915.

run thin. To back out of a bargain: ca. 1880–1930. Ex dial.

run through the nose with a cushion. To strike playfully: coll.: late C.17–early 18. (Apperson.) Cf. stab with a rose.

run to. To understand, comprehend: coll.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).—2. To afford, be able to pay: 1859 (H.): coll. till C.20, then S.E. Always in the negative or the interrogative. Ex horse-racing; cf. won't run to it!

run to seed; occ. hyphenated. Pregnant: low coll: from ca. 1860; ob.—2. Shabby: coll.: 1837, Dickens, 'Large boots running rapidly to seed'.

run up a lane. (Of a horse) to fail to get a place: Aus. sporting: since ca. 1935. (B., 1953.) Also run up lanes, as in Lawson Glassop, Lucky Palmer, 1949.

run up (someone's) arse. See rumble (someone's) bumble.

run up the wall, make (someone) ... To become bewildered or scared or crazy; to cause someone to do so: 1944+, army; 1948+, gen. Perhaps ex a famous exercise in Commando training. 'To have someone climbing walls is a common and by no means new U.S. expression denoting a state of extreme agitation. A cat seeking to escape from an enclosure will do this' (Claiborne, 1966).

runabouts. See run-about, 2.

run (or hold) with the hare and hunt with the hounds. To play a double game: C.15–20: orig. coll.; then, in C.16, proverbial; then, in C.18–20, S.E.

Runaway Prestonpans, the (Great). The 13th Hussars: military: 1745; ob. Some of their men panic'd in this battle which Sir John Cope lost to the Young Pretender. Also the Evergreens and Green Dragoons; Geraniums; Ragged Brigade.

runcible. (Of women) sexually attractive: since ca. 1925. 'Rhyming' on cuntable; cf. also S.E. runcible spoon.

runner. A clothes-thief entering a house in the dark: c.: late C.17–early 18. (B.E.) Cf. budge.—2. A wave: coll.: from ca. 1870; ob.—3. A dog-stealer: c.:—1909 (Ware).—4. An exchange clerk: bank clerks': from ca. 1916.—5. A clerk, or a collector, for a street 'bookie': Glasgow:—1934. P.B.: by mid-C.20, gen. coll. verging on informal S.E., and usu. qualified 'bookie's runner'.—6. A platform inspector: railwaymen's: C.20. Railway.—7. 'A vehicle that was in running order, as opposed to one that was off the road' (P-G-R): army coll.: WW2.—8. 'WW2 merchantman that deliberately breaks away from a convoy' (John Malin cites M. Middlebrook, Convoy, 1976). Cf. romper, n.—9. 'Inmate who collects dues for a baron' (Home Office): prison c.: later C.20 Cf. sense 5.—10. A deserter from the Armed Forces: since ca. 1940: orig. and still mainly c. (John Gosling, 1959.) Cf. blower, 8, and:—11. 'A person, arrested by police, likely to abscond if given bail' (Powis); 'Absconder from a Borstal or detention centre' (Home Office): c.: later C.20.—12. A welsher. See do a runner.

runner-up. A docker 'employed by gangers to live up the gangs and expedite the work': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

runners. He who 'calls over' the names of the horses competing or running in a race: turf c.:—1932.—2. Runner-beans: greengrocers' coll.: since ca. 1870.

runniel. See rawnial.

running around like a cut cat. Extremely angry, and acting accordingly: Aus.: C.20. (Jack Slater records hearing it in 1958 from a Western Australian.) Cf. mad as a cut snake.

running doss; running skipper. That sleeping place which, on a damp night, a tramp obtains by kicking a cow and lying down on the warm, dry spot vacated by the animal: tramps' c.: C.20.

running fuck at a rolling doughnut. An extremely difficult manoeuvre or operation: Services': since ca. 1950. Robert Prest, in Phantom, 1979, of air-to-air refuelling: 'It's like taking a ...' running glasier, glazier. A thief posing as a glazier: c. of ca. 1810–70.

running horse or nag. A gleet, a 'clap' (q.v.): low: ca. 1780–1860. Grose, 1st ed.

running leather, have shoes of. To be given to wandering or rambling: semi-proverbial coll.: mid-C.19–early 20.

running (occ. flying) patterer or stationer. A hawk of books or, more gen., broadsheets, newspapers, about the streets: C.19, c. > low s. (Mayhew); late C.17–19, coll., as in B.E., Grose, H.

running rabbit. Any small object hauled along a horizontal wire to enable trainee predictor-layers to get practice in following a target: anti-aircraft: 1938+. (H. & P.) Ex 'the dogs'.

running ramp. In The Post Boy robbed of his Mail, Anon., 1706, it was—to reconstruct an apparent misprint—defined as 'formed of those Home-Beggars that scout for Weddings and Burials': c.: ?ca. 1700–1760.

running rumble, the. The practice of a 'running rumbler': ca. 1770–1830. (B. & L.) See rumbler, 5.

running shoes, give (someone) his. To dismiss from office: NZ political: C.20. (B., 1941.) Cf. run, n., 4.

running skipper. See running doss.

running smobble. 'Snatching goods off a counter, and throwing them to an accomplice, who rushes off with them' (Grose, 2nd ed.): c. of ca. 1787–1840. Cognate with snabble (or snabble), q.v.; cf. the next entry; as running snabble, it occurs in 1718, in C. Hitchin, The Regulator.

running snavel. A thief specialising in the kinchin-lay, q.v.: c.: C.18. Cf. prec. entry and see snaffle, of which snavel is a corruption on snabble.

running stationer. See running patterer.

running writing: Cursive script: Aus. schoolchildren's coll.: C.20. (B.P.) Cf. S.E. running hand.

runny. A coll., dating from ca. 1910, and used as in Victor Canning, Polycarp's Progress, 1935, 'The ices had been runny with the heat.'

runs, the. Diarrhoea: coll.: since late C.19. Ex the frequent and hasty visits to the water-closet; cf. the trots.

runty. A dwarf signal: Can. railroadmen's: adopted ex US,—1931.

roof. Four: back s.:—1874 (H., 5th ed.). See also roof and rouf.

Rupert. The penis: Services': early C.20.—2. A kite; an observation balloon: army and RFC: WW1, (F. & G.) Also randy Rupert; cf. synon. Richard, 2. Prob. ex shape.

rural, do a. To ease oneself in the open air: coll.: C.19–20; ob. Obviously suggested by Swift's pluck a rose (see at rose).

rural coach. A tutor not attached to a college: undergraduates':—1887; ob. Baumann.

rush, n. (See also rusher.) A robbery (specifically with violence) of many objects at one rush: c.: from ca. 1785. Cf. US rush, a street encounter, which Thornton records at 1860.—2. Hence, any swindle: c. or low s.: from ca. 1840. Cf. rush, v., 1 and 2.—3. A stampede: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20.—4. See MOVING-PICTURE SLANG, §6, in Appendix.—5. In give it to (one) upon the rush, to make a violent effort to get in or out of a place: c.: ca. 1810–40. Vaux.—6. In give (one) the rush, to sponge on a person all day and then borrow money from him at the finish, 'or pursue some such procedure' (H.): low: from ca. 1860. Cf. the v., 1.—7. See roam on the rush; do a rush.

rush, v.t. To cheat (gen. rush out of); esp. to charge extortionately: 1885, former; ca. 1895, latter. From ca. 1910, coll. OED; SOD; F. & H., 'I rushed the old girl for a quid.' The semantics being: not to give time to think.—2. Hence, to deceive: Glasgow:—1934.—3. To arrest: c.: from ca. 1890; ob. Rook.—4. V.i., to stampede: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20.—5. To appropriate: Marlborough College: C.20. Cf. senses 1 and 3.

rush a brew. To make tea: army officers': WW1.

rush-buckler. A violent bully: coll.: ca. 1530–90. Robinson's More, 'Bragging rush-bucklers.'

rush-dodge. See rush, n., 1, and rusher, 1.

rush (one's) fences. To be impetuous: 'County' coll. > gen.: C.20. Ex the j. of hunting.

rush for and rush out of. See rush, v.

rush-light. Some strong liquor: ca. 1750–80. (Toldervy, 1756.) See quot'n at slug, n., 1.

rush of blood to the crutch, a. A sudden access of amorous desire: since ca. 1930. Cf. next two phrases. Also ... croch.

rush of brains to the feet. A bright idea: non-aristocratic joc.: from ca. 1903. W.L. George, The Making of an Englishman, 1914.

rush of brains to the head, (s)he's had a. A c.p., deprecatory of a sudden bright idea: since ca. 1920.

rush of teeth to the head, a. Prominent teeth: facetious: since ca. 1925.

rush the bucket or growler. To send the printer's devil for a bucket of beer: Can. printers': C.20. (Leechman.) 'From the "growling" of the beer taps' (Robert Claiborne).

rush up the frills or petticoats or straight. To coit with a woman without any preliminary blandishments: low coll.: from ca. 1850; ob. by 1930. The third comes from horse-racing; cf. roam on the straight.

rushed job. A 'short time', i.e. a brief copulation: low: C.20 rusher, gen. in pl. Thieves who knock at the doors of great houses, in London, in summer time, when the families are out of town, and on the door being opened by a woman, rush in and rob the house; also house breakers, who enter lone—unoccupied—houses by force' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. of ca. 1780–1850. Cf. rush, n., 1.—2. A person (gen. male) of a 'go-ahead' nature or habits: coll.: late C.19—early 20.—3. One who sets the pace for a gang of workers: Aus. Labor: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.—4. A goat much given to butting: Aus.: late C.19–20. Ex the corresponding v., as in Edward Dyson, The Gold Stealers, 1901, 'Billy's goat, Hector, a sturdy black brute much admired as the most inveterate "rusher" in the country. With the boys of Waddy a goat that butted or "rushed" was highly prized as an animal of spirit.'

rushing (a)round like a ... See pea in a colander; running around ...

rushing-business. Robbery by adroitness or with apparent fairness: c.: from ca. 1880.

Rusk; usu. in pl, Rusks. The Russians: since ca. 1945. Ex Ruski. Berkeley Mather, The Springers, 1968.

russia; R. A pocket-book: c.:—1877; ob. by 1930. The ref. in 'No. 747' is valid for 1845. Because made of Russia (leather).

Russian, Roosian, Rooshian. 'Wild horse, wild cattle' (Baker): Aus.: since earlier C.19. Wilkes quotes D. Mackenzie, The Emigrant's Guide, 1845, and suggests perhaps ex rush.

Russian Coffee-House, the. The Brown Bear tavern in Bow Street, Covent Garden, 'a house of call for the thief-takers and runners of the Bow-street justices' (Grose, 2nd ed.): ca. 1787–1830. Because the brown bear is a characteristic of Russian fauna.

Russian duck. Muck: rhyming s.:—1923 (Manchon); † by 1959 at the latest. (Franklyn, Rhyming).—2. Copulation: low rhyming s.: since ca. 1942. Franklyn 2nd.

Russian law. 'A 100 blows on his bare shins' (John Day, 1641): mid-C.17 coll.

Russian Turk. Work: rhyming s.: ca. 1860–1910. D.W. Barrett, Navvies, 1880.

Russian War. The Crimean War: coll.: from 1854. See come to the Russian war.

Russki or -y, n. and adj. (A) Russian soldier: Services' WW1 and 2, and since 1919, gen. coll. for any Russian, or as adj. (B. & P.) Ex Russian + ski, a frequent Russian termination.

rust, n. Old metal: London:—1884; ob. by 1930. Cf. rusting and rust, v.—2. Money: low: ca. 1855–1910. Mayhew, 1858, 'There's no chance of nabbing any rust (taking any money).—3. In in rust, out of work: theatrical: 1889 (OED); ob. by 1930. Punning rest (see resting) and rusting.—4. In take (the) rust, (of horse) to become restive: coll.: 1775, Colman (take rust); ob. by early C.20. (OED.) Cf. ride rusty. Also nab the rust, q.v.

rust, v.i. To collect and sell old metal: London:—1884; ob. by 1930.

rust-bucket. 'A car in a dangerously rusted condition' (Wilkes, who adds 'from application to ships'): Aus.: later C.20.

rustic. A recruit: military (mostly officers'): from ca. 1925. Ex his 'greenness'.

rustiness. Annoyance (state of); bad temper: 1860 (Whyte-Melville: OED); ob. Ex rusty, adj rusting. The frequent vbl n. of rust, v., q.v.

rustle. The bestir oneself, esp. in business: US (—1872), anglicised ca. 1885 as a coll. But rustler (adopted by Morley Roberts in 1887) has not caught on. In C.20, gen. hustle, q.v.—2. Among Can. soldiers in WW1, rustle and rustler, ex the US senses, to steal cattle and cattle-stealer, were the equivalents of scrounge and scrounger. (B. & P.) Cf.:

rustle up. To obtain, 'organise'; to prepare, v.t., as in 'Try and rustle up some drinks' or 'I'll just rustle us up some supper': coll.: since ca. 1950 (? earlier). An extension of prec., 2.

rusty. An informer: c.: 1830, Lytton, 'He'll turn a rusty, and scrag one of his pals!'; † by 1910. Ex the adj.—2. As Rusty, the 'inevitable' nickname for men surnamed Adams: Services' (mostly army): earlier C.20. (P-G-R.) Perhaps ex one particular.—3. 'A nickname for any red- or auburn-haired man' (L.A., 1974): C.20 And some girls, too; cf. the familiar Ginger.

rusty, adj. Ill-tempered; annoyed: coll.: 1815, Scott, 'The people got rusty about it, and would not deal.' Esp. cut up, or turn, rusty. Prob. ex ride rusty, q.v.—2. Amorous; lecherous: Aus.: late C.19–20. (A.R.L. Wiltshire, 1941.)

rusty ballocks. A red-headed man: mostly RN: late C.19–20. An elab. of rusty, 3.

Rusty Buckles. The 2nd Dragoon Guards: army: C.19–20; ob. (F. & G.) Also the Bays.

rusty guts, rusty-guts; rustyguts. 'An old blunt fellow' (B.E.): late C.17—mid-18.—2. Then, though now slightly ob., any 'blunt surly fellow' (Grose, 1785). Both B.E. and Grose consider it a 'jocular misnomer of rusticus'.—3. HMS Restiguch: RN: WW2.

rusty rifle, get - or have - a. (Of men) to catch—to have—a venereal disease, esp. syphilis: mostly Services': since ca. 1925.

rut, keep a. To make mischief: coll.: late C.17–18. ? ex dial. rut, friction (itself ex rub); the OED considers it ex † rut, noise, disturbance, which is the more likely, for dial. rut may not date back so far.

rutat; occ. rattat. A potato: back s. on tatur. Mid-C.19–20. H., 1st ed.; Ware, Ruttat-pusher (1882). Keeper of a potato car' (i.e., barrow).

rutter. One of a party (gen. numbering four) of swindlers; he stood at the door: c.: late C.16; Greene.

rutty. In a, leading to, consisting of a metaphorical rut, e.g. rutty jobs: coll: since ca. 1930. Weekly Telegraph, 27 Apr. 1946.

rux, n. Bad temper; (a gust of) anger, passion: Public Schools':—1934 (COD Sup.). Either ex Lincolnshire ruck, a noise, a racket, or, more prob., ex Kentish have one's ruck up, to be angry (EDD).—2. 'Noise, fuss, etc.: RN College, Dartmouth, slang' (Granville).—3. In Public School s., rux up the arse = a, or to, kick: since ca. 1880. The ultimate source of all these senses is perhaps rough-house, n., as it is of US and Can. ruckus.

rux, v. To reprimand, or blame, scold, severely: T.M. Ellis, 1899 (OED). Prob. ex dial. rux, shake; to tread upon (EDD).—2. To 'rag', to get up to mischief: Dartmouth Naval College: C.20. (Bowen.) Either ex the orig. of sense 1 or ex rags.

ry. A sharp trick; a dishonest practice: Stock Exchange: from ca. 1860. Brewer's anecdotal origin may just conceivably be correct.

rybeck. A share: low London (mostly Yiddish): 1851 (Mayhew: OED).

ryder. A cloak: low: ca. 1870–1910. Prob. ex Romany ruder, to clothe (B. & L.).

rye. See Romany rye.

rye mort; rye mush. A lady; a gentleman: c.: C.20. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) For rye, see Romany rye; mort, c. for a girl or woman; and see mush, n., 7. Cf. coring mush and tober-mush.

ryebuck, rybuck. See ribuck.

ryer. One shilling and sixpence: turf c.:—1932. Perhaps a corruption of kye, q.v.

ryno. See rhino.

'S; rarely 's. A coll. euph. abbr. of God's in oaths; gen. continuous with governing words as in 'Sblood and 'Slife: C.16–20; from mid-C.18, only 'literary'.

's. (Contrast with dial. s', shall.) Is: late C.16–20: S.E. until C.18, then coll. (though permissible in verse). Richardson, 1741, 'The Devil's in 't if we are not agreed in so clear a case' (OED). Or even = 'it is' (the s forming liaison with the next word): coll.: C.20. H.C. Bailey, Mr Fortune Wonders, 1932, 'You wouldn't blame your dear boy! Your only one! 's too bad.'—2. Are: sol.: C.19 (and presumably centuries earlier) C.19–20. Baumann.—3. Has: coll.: from ca. 1540.—4. Us: late C.16–20: S.E. until C.18, then dial. except in let's, which is coll. Richardson, 1741, 'Let's find him out' (OED).—5. As: C.18–20: dial. and, more rarely, coll.—6. As a; mostly in 's matter of fact: low coll.: late C.19–20. J.A. Bloor in Passing Show, 7 July 1934.—7. As = 'his', 's has not emerged from formal and, in C.19–20, dial. speech.—8. This: coll.: late C.19–20. See quot'n at 'smorning.—9. Does: coll.: late C.19–20. Neil Bell, Winding Road, 1934, 'When's Parliament reassemble, Stephen?' Mostly after when but not unknown after how, as in 'How's he do it? It beats me!'—10. See prec. entry.

s-. 'As I write (1917) there is a slang tendency to say snice for nice, etc.' (W.). See esp. snice mince pie.

s.a.; S.A. Sex appeal: from ca. 1929. Agatha Christie, 1930; Dorothy L. Sayers, Have His Carcase, 1932, 'The girl... exercising S.A. on a group of rather possessive-looking males.'

s.a.b.u. See t.a.b.u.

s.a.m.f.u. Self-adjusting military fuck-up: a S. African Service version of t.a.b.u.: 1940–5.

s. and b. An occ. var.,—1887 (Baumann), of b. and s., brandy and soda.

s.b.a. Nothing: sweet bugger all: perhaps mainly Can.: C.20. (Leech, 1974.) Cf.:-

s.f.a. or S.F.A. Nothing: sweet fuck all; politely, sweet Fanny Adams: C.20. (Gerald Kersh, Bill Nelson, 1942.) See Fanny Adams, and cf. prec.

s.l.j.s. 'Silly Little Jobs' (Sqn Ldr G.D. Wilson): RAF officers': 1970s.

's luck! (Pron. 'sluck; occ. written so.) Here's luck!: coll.: from ca. 1912. Francis D. Grierson, Murder at Lancaster Gate, 1934.

S.M., the. The company sergeant-major: army coll.: earlier C.20. F. & G. (Never in the vocative.)

s.n.a.f.u. and s.n.e.f.u. See snafu.

s.o.b. 'Son of a bitch': Aus. and Can., occ. Brit.: adopted, ex US, ca. 1925. Christina Stead, Seven Poor Men of Sydney, 1934, 'That s.o.b. Montagu got me the job 'ere, you know.' Of the Aus. use, B.P. says, 'it is very widely known but not very commonly used'.—2. 'Shit or bust', q.v.: since ca. 1925.

s.o.b.'s. Silly old buggers, i.e. wardroom officers over the advanced age of 39: RN officers': since ca. 1914. (Granville.) Cf. b.o.f. = boring old fart.

s.o.l. Unlucky: Can.: C.20. (B. & P.) Euph. 'short of luck', actually 'shit out of luck'.

s.o.s. A member of the Australian Signal Corps: Aus. army: 1939+. B., 1942.—2. 'Slip on show'; in the mid-1950s 'Stoke-on-Trent children would use the expression S.O.S. to indicate to a lady that she was improperly dressed [i.e. her petticoat was showing]. I've not heard it since' (J.B. Smith, Bath, 1979). Cf. s.s. and Charley's dead.—3. See same old stew.

S.O.S. course. The Sniping, Observation and Scouting 'course of training at the Sniping Schools established in 1916': army joc. coll.: 1916–18. (F. & G.) Prompted by the distress call.

s.p. Information: raffish, almost c.: since ca. 1950. (Angus Hill, On the Run, 1975; G.F. Newman, 1978.) Ex bookmakers' j. for 'starting price', as in s. p. joint: a starting-price betting-shop: Aus.: C.20 (Baker), whence s.p. merchant, a starting-price bookmaker (B., 1953).

s.p.o. A cheap restaurant specialising in sausages, potatoes and onions: London: from ca. 1925.

s.p.q.r. Small profits, quick returns: joc. coll.: C.20. (OED Sup.) A pun on the L. Senatus Populusque Romanus (the Roman Senate and People).

s.r.d. See soon runs dry.

s.s.; p.p. 'Shimmy' showing; petticoat peeping: hortatory c.pp. from one girl to another, in ref. to dress disarranged: ca. 1895–1915. Cf. s.o.s., 2.

s.t. Sanitary towel: feminine coll.: since ca. 1940.

s.u.e. See servants' united effort.

s.w.a.(l)k. See LOVERS' ACRONYMS, in Appendix.

s.y.t. A 'sweet young thing' (girl): Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P.) sa. Six: showmen's, mostly Parlyaree: from ca. 1850. P.H. Emerson, 1893, 'I was hired out... for sa soldi a day.' Ex Lingua Franca: sa soldi = sixpence.

sa'. Save, esp. in God sa' me: C.17–mid-19: S.E. till ca. 1660, then coll. Shadwell, 1668, 'As God shall sa' me, she is a very ingenious Woman' (OED).

saam. 'E.g. "Can I come saam?" "He went saam"; meaning "Can I come with you?" "He went with them."... An imitation of the Dutch idiom—samen, together—and is current in the Midland districts of the Cape Colony' (Pettman): S. African coll.: C.20.

sabby, sabe. See savvy. The first in H., 3rd ed., 1864.

sable Maria. A var. († by 1920) of black Maria, q.v.

Sabrina. 'Prestwin silo wagon' (Railway, 2nd): railwaymen's: mid-C.20. Prob. ex shape: 'Sabrina' was the stage-name of a well-known and shapely 'dumb blonde' of the 1950s.

sabu. See t.a.b.u.

sac. A saccharine tablet: coll. (domestic, and small traders'): heard in 1917, but not gen. until 1942.

saccer. The sacrament: Harrow School: late C.19–20. By the 'OXFORD -ER'.

sack, n. A pocket: c.: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E.; Mayhew, 1858.) B.E. lists dive into a sack, to pick a pocket.—2. A hammock: RN: C.19. The Night Watch, I, 184, 1828 (Moe).

—3. Hence, any bed, esp. in hit the sack, q.v., go to bed.

—4. A dismissal from employment, a discharge from office, a being discarded by sweetheart or mistress (rarely lover): coll.: since ca. 1840. Esp. in get or give the sack: get... occurs in Sessions, 23 Aug. 1843; by ca. 1860, elab. to the order of the sack, gen. with get or give, occ. bestow, confer, as in Yates, 1864, 'I'd confer on him the order of the sack'. Cf. other examples at order of the...—5. In buy the sack, to become tipsy: s. > coll.: ca. 1720–1840. (A New Canting Dict., 1725; Grose, 1st ed.) Ex sack, generic for the white wines formerly imported from Spain.

sack, v. To 'pocket', take (illicit) possession of: coll.: C.19– 20; ob. E.S. Barrett, 1807, 'He sacked the receipts, without letting them touch one farthing' (OED).—2. To dismiss one from employment or office: from ca. 1840. An early record: Chaplain's Twenty-Third Report of the Preston House of Correction (in a prisoner's statement), 1846. See the n., 4.—3. Hence, to expel: Public Schools': from ca. 1880. Desmond Coke's school stories, passim.—4. To defeat (in a contest, esp. in a game): from ca. 1820 (orig. Anglo-Irish); rare after ca. 1860. ? ex sack, to plunder.

sack 'em up men. Resurrectionists: ca. 1830–70. Harvey Graham, Surgeons All, 1939.

sack of coals. A black cloud (gen. black clouds) in the Southern Hemisphere: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

sack of taters. A stick of (small) bombs, e.g. incendiaries: RAF: 1939+. (H. & P.) Humorous. Delivered like groceries.

sacking, prostitution; sacking law, harlotry as practised by the underworld with a view to further gain: c. of late C.16–early 17. (Greene, 1592, 1591 resp.) Ex the S.E. v., sack, to lay waste. P.B.: but cf. later sack, n., 2 and 3.

sacks. Long trousers: Charterhouse: C.20. On bags.

Sacks and the Sinks, the. The planning staffs of the Supreme Allied Commander, South-East Asia (Lord Louis Mountbatten) and of the Commanders-in-Chief subordinate to him: Higher Command in India: ca. 1943–4. Philip Mason, A Shaft of Sunlight, 1978, p.177.

sacks to the mill, more. Pile it on!; there's plenty here! coll.: late C.16–18, then dial. Nashe; Middleton & Rowley in The Spanish Gipsie; Richardson. (Apperson.) B.P. notes, 1975, 'In Australia, the usual form is a couplet, Sacks to the mill, / More on still!' sackwah. 'Place where drinking, usually illegal or irregular, takes place (W. Indian) (Powis): later C.20.

Sacramentarian, gen. in pl. A Methodist: an Oxford nickname: ca. 1733–1810. OED.

sacred lamp. A ballet-girl burlesque: theatrical: 1883–ca. 1900. (Ware.) Ex a cynicism by John Hollingshead ('The sacred lamp of burlesque').

sacrifice, n. A(n) alleged loss: coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Dickens, 1844, 'Its patterns were last Year's and going at a sacrifice.' Esp. alarming or astounding s.

sacrifice, v. To sell, or claim to sell, at less than cost price: from ca. 1850: coll. >, ca. 1880, S.E. Ex the n.

sad. Mischievous, troublesome, merry, dissipated: late C.17–20 (ob. except in sad dog): coll. Chiefly of a place ('London is a sad place,' Mackenzie, 1771) and of a person, esp. in sad dog, in C.18–mid-19 a debauched fellow, and thereafter rare except in playful reproach. Farquhar, 1706, 'S. You are an ignorant, pretending, impudent Coxcomb. B. Ay, ay, a sad dog.'—2. 'Don't be sad ... Don't be mean.' (C.P. Wittstock, 1946): S. African: C.20. I.e. don't be so serious that you can't be generous: cf. Dutch sadie klass, 'a dull dog'.

sad sack. A spoil-sport or a wet-blanket: RN lowerdeck: adopted, in 1943, ex US servicemen. But in US, a sad sack is 'the inevitable hopeless recruit or enlisted man, always a figure of fun'. (Orig., a blundering, unlikely youth—students' s., since ca. 1930; see W. & F.) 'In the U.S., almost a culture hero, and well-known in Canada' (Leechman).

sad vulgar. A vulgarian: Society: ca. 1770–1820. Ware cites St James's Gazette, 17 Aug. 1883.

saddle. The female pudend; woman as sexual pleasure: coll. verging on euph. S.E.: C.17–20, but rare since C.18.—2. 'An additional charge upon the benefits' from a benefit-performance: 1781 (Parker): theatrical, † by 1920.—3. See suit as a saddle ...—4. In put the saddle on the right or the wrong horse, to blame—occ., to praise—the right or wrong person (loosely, act, thing): coll. (in C.20, S.E.): from ca. 1750. Ex the earlier set ... (1607) and lay ... (1652), both † by 1840. An occ. var.: place, mid-C.19–20, ob. (OED.) Also s. upon ... Cf. the C.17–mid-18 proverbial the fault of the horse is put on the saddle.

saddle-back. See saddleback.

saddle-leather. The skin of the posteriors: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Punning S.E. sense.

saddle (one's) nose. To wear spectacles: coll.: late C.18–mid-19. Grose, 3rd ed.

saddle-sick. Made ill or very sore by riding: coll. and dial.: late C.18–20; ob. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. saddle-leather, q.v.

saddle the spit. To give a meal, esp. a dinner: coll.: late C.18–mid-19. (Grose, 3rd ed.) Ex S.E. saddle a spit, to furnish one.

saddle upon ... See saddle, 4.

saddleback. A louse: C.19–early 20. (Not in the best circles.)—2. Incorrect for saddle-bag (upholstery): from ca. 1830. W.

saddler. As in give us [i.e. me] a saddler, 'Let me ride on the saddle of your bicycle while you pedal' (Mrs Janet Bowater, 1979): Yorkshire children's:—1960. See also croggie.

saddling paddock. 'The bar in the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, known in the nineteenth century as a resort of prostitutes; [hence] any known place of rendezvous' (from ride for the male role in intercourse) (Wilkes): Aus. low coll.: since mid-C.19 (Wilkes's earliest quoted allusion is dated 1868).

sadogue. 'A fat, easy-going person'. (L.E.F. English, Historic Newfoundland, 1955): Newfoundland: perhaps coll. rather than s., or dial. rather than either: C.20. A 'sad dog' or gay fellow?

safe, n. (Gen. the safe.) Inside waistcoat pocket: c.: late C.19–20. Esp. among pickpockets.—2. A condom: Aus.: since ca. 1925. Perhaps suggested by safety. Robin Leech adds, 1980, 'In Canada we say either "safe" or "French safe" for rubber or condom. The usage is not understood in the U.S. at all ... in use in the early 20s, so it may be a WW1 term,' Prob. influenced by French letter.

safe ... , a. E.g. 'He is a safe second', i.e. he is sure to obtain second-class honours: coll.: late C.19–20. SOD.

safe (and sound), be or arrive. To have duly arrived, be at one's destination: coll.: 1710, Swift, 'I send this only to tell that I am safe in London.'

safe as ... , as. Very safe: coll.: none recorded before 1600, thus: as safe as a church, 1891, Hardy (not very gen.); safe as a crow (occ. sow) in a gutter, ca. 1630–1730, Clarke, Ray; as a mouse in a cheese, ca. 1670–1750, Ray; as a mouse in a malt-heap, ca. 1630–1700, Clarke, Ray; as a mouse in a mill, ca. 1600–50, Davenport; as anything, from ca. 1895, F. & H. (1903); as the bank occurs in Boxiana, III, 1818: there, it is written ... Bank, which implies the Bank of England, a phrase that, therefore, dates prob. from late C.18; as houses, 1859 (OED). E. Yates, 1864, 'I have the means of doing that, as safe as houses.' Perhaps, as H. suggests, the phrase arose 'when the railway bubbles began to burst and speculation again favoured houses'; as the bellows, 1851, Mayhew; mostly Cockney, † by 1930; as Chelsea is dial.; as coons, 1864, † by 1920; as safe, 1860, Whyte-Melville. (With hearty thanks to Apperson, the 'locus classicus' for safe as, as for so many other coll. similes and semi-proverbial c.pp.) Contrast: safe as a thief in a mill (, as). Not safe or honest at all: coll.: ca. 1660–1780. With allusion to 'a Miller, who is a Thief by his Trade' (B.E.).

safe card. An alert fellow: ca. 1870–1930. (H., 5th ed.) Cf. card, q.v.

safe conveyance. See patent safety.

safe un. A horse that will not run, certainly will not (because meant not to) win: the turf: 1871, 'Hawk's-Eye', Turf Notes, 'The safe uns, or "stiff uns" ... horses that have no chance of winning.'

safety. A condom: Aus.: since ca. 1920. 'She said it was no go without a safety.' ? Orig. euph. Wilkes, 1979, 'Not peculiarly Aus.: also US'.

safety in numbers, usu. prec. by there's. A late C.19–20 c.p. referring to courting couples, prevented by company, from 'getting up to something'—or by a person wishing to avoid 'petting'.

Saff. South African Air Force: 1939–45. On analogy of Raff. sag, n.; esp. have the sags, to lack energy: racing cyclists':

since ca. 1945. Cf. 'the bonk'. Hence, sag-wagon, a van that, following a race, picks up exhausted riders.

sag, v. 'To drift off course' (Bowen): nautical coll.: late C.19–20.—2. To be illicitly absent from work: Liverpool: late C.19–20: hence—3. To play truant: Merseyside: since ca. 1930. Woman, 28 Aug. 1965.

sahal Good-night!: RN: late C.19–20. (Weekly Telegraph, Nov. 1942.) Ex Maltese.

Sahara. 'Tall person ... (miles and miles of blow all)' (Cape Times, 3 June 1946): S. African: C.20.

sahib. A 'white man', a thoroughly honourable gentleman: mainly in the Services: late C.19–20. Since ca. 1925, often derivative of 'Public School' morals and mentality. (Ian Hay, 1915.) Ex Arabic and Urdu respectful address to Europeans (Ware). 'In Arabic and Urdu "sahib" is respectful address to all and not confined to Europeans only, though always used for Europeans' (Siddiqui).

saida; saida bint or girl. See bint.

said. Have said; esp. in you said it: US, anglicised ca. 1931 via the 'talkies'. Dorothy L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, "'The idea being that ...?' "You said it, chief!'

said he. E.g. "'Do you like that?' ... "No, said he frowning!": a coll. c.p.:—1927 (Collinson). Prob. ex the novelist's trick and the journalist's mannerism.

said than done, no sooner; 2, (that's) easier. Both these phrases, obvious in meaning, are C.19–20 coll.

said the rhyme, did the crime. See smelt it, dealt it.

sail, v. See entries at sailing.

sail about. To saunter about: coll.: late C.17—mid-18. B.E.

sail close to the wind has in the RN (late C.19–20) a specific coll. sense: 'to take risks with Naval Law' (Granville). P.B.: hence, in civilian usage, C.20, to conduct operations close to, or over, the line of illegality.

sail in, v.i. To arrive, to enter: coll.: from ca. 1870. Ex S.E. sail in, to move in a dignified or a billowing manner.—2. Hence, to begin boldly (to act): from ca. 1880.—3. Hence the special sense, to begin to fight: 1891 (Morning Advertiser, 30 Mar.) Cf.:-

sail in the same boat. See boat, n. 5.

sail into. To attack, e.g. with one's fists: from ca. 1891.—2. To begin vigorously on (e.g. a meal). Cf. sail in, 3.—3. To enter (a building, a room, etc.): C.18–20. Tom Brown, 1700, 'From thence I sailed into a Presbyterian Meeting near Covent-Garden' (OED): cf. sail about, q.v.

sail like a haystack. Of a warship: RN: late C.18—mid-19. (Peppitt.)

sail on another board. To behave differently: coll.: C.16—early 17.

sailer. A loose branch: NZ forestry term: C.20. (From an NZ cutting of late 1967.) In a high wind, it tends to 'sail away'. sailing a Naafi queue. 'Pretending to be a sailor' (Peppitt): RN: 1970s.

sailing like a pensioner. Of a ship sailing too close to the wind, i.e. with sails 'trembling like an old person's hands' (Peppitt): nautical: prob. mid-C.19–20.—2. Hence, in the metaphorical sense of 'corner-cutting', or sharp in business: RN: since ca. 1950. (Ibid.)

sailing like a witch. Of a sailing-ship moving faster at night, 'therefore made from stolen timber: RN: early C.19' (Peppitt).

sailor is a Regular Army term of ca. 1855–1910. 'A "sailor" was the slang term for any person whose nature was so generous, and whose finances so sound, as to allow the quaffing of many cups at his personal charge' (Robert Blatchford, My Life in the Army, 1910).

sailor must be thinking of yer, a. A low comment on, or c.p. reply to, a man's remarking 'My arse itches': army and RAF: since ca. 1950(?). By an analogy with the superstitious 'my ears are burning—someone must be thinking of me'. (P.B.) sailor on a water-cart (, like a). Ineffective; inadequate: coll.: prob. C.19–20. (L.A., 1967.)

sailor-teasers. 'Studding sails and flying kites which the sailor disliked intensely': nautical coll.: C.19. Bowen.

sailor without a knife is like a whore without a cunt, a. An RN lowerdeck c.p.: C.20. (Peppitt.)

sailors. See sailors on the sea.

sailor's best friend, a. A hammock: RN: C.20. Granville records the pleasant tradition that, 'if properly lashed with seven regulation marline hitches', it 'will keep him afloat for twenty-four hours'. Cf. soldier's best friend.

sailor's blessing. A curse: nautical: from ca. 1880. Cf. fuck you, Jack, I'm all right and sailor's farewell.

sailor's cake. An occ. var. of Navy cake: Services': since ca. 1940.

sailor's champagne. Beer: lower classes' joc. coll.:—1909; ob. Ware.

sailor's farewell. A parting curse: nautical, military: C.20. Cf. sailor's blessing, soldier's farewell, and butler's grace.—2. 'By WW2 it had come to mean the attitude of—euphemistically speaking—love 'em and leave 'em'' (Edward Bishop, 1979).

sailor's friend, the. The moon: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. Bowen.

sailor's hornpipe. A Wren (member of WRNS): RN: ca. 1941+.

sailors on the sea; often shortened to sailors. Tea: rhyming s.: since ca. 1940, but not common. (Franklyn 2nd.) Cf. Rosie Lea.

sailor's pleasure. 'Yarning, smoking, dancing, growling, &c.' (Clark Russell): 1883; ob. As. applied to the first three, it is S.E.; to the last, coll. Cf. soldier's privilege.—2. 'Overhauling his sea chest or bag and examining its contents': nautical: C.20. Bowen.

sailor's prick. See salt's pricker.

sailor's waiter, the. A second mate on a sailing-ship: nautical:—1840; ob. Dana; Bowen.

sailor's weather. 'A fair wind and just enough of it': sailing-ships' coll.: C.19–20. Bowen.

sails. A sail-maker: nautical:—1840 (Dana). Cf. chips, q.v.—2. See take the wind...

saint. 'A piece of spoilt timber in a coach maker's shop, like a saint, devoted to the flames' (Grose, 2nd ed.): ca. 1785–1850.—2. As S-, one belonging to a religious association at Cambridge: a nickname: ca. 1793–1830. They affected a great sanctity and a marked zeal for orthodoxy (see e.g. Gradus ad Cantabrigiam, 1803).—3. A member of that party which, in England, instituted and fostered the agitation against slavery: a nickname: ca. 1830–50. OED.—4. An inhabitant of Grahamstown, the City of the Saints (q.v.): S. African:—1913 (Pettman).—5. (Gen. pl.) See Saints.

saint and sinner. Dinner: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. (Franklyn, Rhyming.) Cf. glorious sinner.

St Alban's clean shave. The clean-shaven face of a high churchman: ecclesiastical: late C.19—early 20.

St Alban's doves. Two active canvassers of 1869: political of that year. (Ware.) Ex their church.

St Anthony. See Anthony; Anthony's pigs; dine with Duke Humphrey.

St Benedict; St Francis. See St Peter.

St Geoffrey's day. Never: coll.: ca. 1786–1850. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Cf. Queen Dick.

St George, riding and the dragon upon. See riding St George.

St George a-horse-back. The act of kind: C.17–18. Massinger, ca. 1632, omits St.

St Giles, dine with. See dine with St Giles.

St Giles's bread. See Giles's bread.

St Giles's carpet. A sprinkling of sand: Seven Dials, London: C.19. Ware.

St Hugh's bones. Shoemaking tools: coll.: C.17—mid-18; then dial., extant in Cheshire. Dekker, 1600; E. Ward, 1700. Apperson.

St John's Wood donas. Harlots, courtesans: taverns': ca. 1880–1912. (Ware.) Many once lived there.

St Kilda Road Commandos. The staff of the Allied Land HQ, Melbourne: Aus.: WW2. B., 1943.

St Louis blues. Shoes: rhyming s.: since mid-C.20. (Red Daniells, 1980.) Ex the popular American tune.

St Lubbock's Day. August Bank Holiday: coll.: from 1871. Ex Sir John Lubbock, the institutor, who brought in an Act in that year. Ware records St Lubbock, an orgy or drunken riot: lower London: ca. 1880–1914.

St Luke's bird. An ox, 'that evangelist being always represented with an ox' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. or low: ca. 1780–1850.

St Margret's ale. Water: coll.: 1600 (Munday & Drayton); † by 1800. Cf. Adam's ale.

St Martin's le (or the) Grand. A hand: rhymings.: mid-C.19–mid-20. ('Ducange Anglicus', 1857.) Later shortened to St Martins, or poss. just martins, q.v.

St Martin's lace. Imitation gold-lace: coll.: 1607 (Dekker); H., 5th ed. Cf. etym. of taudry; and see St Martin's ring.

St Martin's ring. A copper-gilt ring: coll.: C.17–early 18. Anon., early C.17, Plain Percival, 'I doubt whether all be gold that glistereth, sith Saint Martin's rings be but copper within, though they be gilt without.' Cf. St Martin's lace.

St Mary. See tie with Adam's snout.

Saint Monday. Monday: S. African coll.:—1896. Because observed as a holiday by the Malays. Pettman. Ex:—2. Esp. keep Saint Monday, to be idle on Monday as a result of Sunday's drunkenness: 1753, Scots Magazine, April (title) 'St. Monday; or, the tipping tradesmen.' OED.

St Nicholas. The devil: joc. coll. verging on S.E.: late C.16–early 19. Whence (Old Nick. (Nares.) Ex the patron saint of scholars and? thieves.—2. In clergyman or clerk or knight of St Nicholas, or as St Nicholas's clergyman, etc. A highwayman (? ever in the singular): ca. 1570–1820 (knight not before late C.17): coll. >, by 1660, S.E. (Foxe, Shakespeare, John Wilson, Scott, clerk; R. Harvey, 1598, clergyman.) Ex sense 1, perhaps by a pun on † S.E. St Nicholas ('s) clerks, poor scholars.

saint of the saucepan. A good cook: coll. verging on S.E.: 1749 (Smollett); ob. by 1930. Cf. synon. queen of the dripping pan.

St Old's. St Aldgate's, Oxford: Oxford undergraduates': late C.19–20. Collinson.

St Partridge. The 1st September, when the partridge-shooting opens: sportsmen's coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

St Pat. St Patrick (mostly Anglo-Irish) coll.: C.19–20.

St Patrick. The best whiskey: coll.: ca. 1650–1850. Ex drink at St Patrick's well: coll.: 1648, anon., A Brown Dozen of Drunkards; † by 1850.

St Paul's. See all round St Paul's...

St Peter, silence and mortification; St Radegonde, a small cross studded with nails; St Benedict, a hairshirt; St Francis, the discipline, i.e. the whip or scourge:—Roman Catholic ecclesiastical s.: late C.19–20. Ex incidents recorded in hagiology.

St Peter's son. (Gen. in pl.) A general thief, 'having every finger a fish-hook' (Grose, s.v. fidlam ben, q.v.): c. of ca. 1710–1850.

St Peter's the Beast. St Peter-le-Bailey: Oxford undergraduates': from ca. 1890. To rhyme with St Peter's in the East. Ware—whose definition is incorrect.

St Radegonde. See St Peter.

St Stephen's hell. No. 15 Committee Room, House of Commons: Parliamentary: in the 1880s. Ware explains thus: 'When the Parnellite "split" took place, the Irish Nationalist members "discussed" in this chamber for many days—the noise resulting in the bestowal by the lower officials of this title upon the room in question.'

St Taur. HMS Centaur of 1746: naval: mid-C.18. Bowen.

St Thomas a' Waterings. See 'Spital stands'...

Saint Tibb's (properly) Tib's Eve or Evening. Never: coll., mainly Anglo-Irish (—1785); long ob., except in dial. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. blue moon, S.E. Greek kalends, and Queen Dick. sainted aunt! (oh), my. A joc., mostly upper-class, expletive: ca. 1905–25, lingering in schoolboy usage for perhaps 20 years more. ('Taffrail', Stand By!, 1916.) Cf. my giddy aunt!

Saints. VFL football team of St Kilda, Victoria, C.J. Dennis: Aus., esp. Melbourne, coll.: late C.19–20.—2. The Southampton Association Football Club: English sporting: ate C.19–20. Ex the fact that the orig. name of the Club was Southampton St Mary's Football Club.—3. 'In N.S.W., the St George Rugby League team (also the Dragons)' (Wilkes): Aus. sporting: later C.20.

sakes (alive)! A (low) coll. exclam.: from ca. 1840: mostly dial. and US. OED.

sal. A salivation, or treatment for syphilis: C.18. Anon., A Congratulatory Epistle from a Reformed Rake, 1728, p. 17, 'She's just down in a Sal.'—2. A salary: theatrical: mid-late C.19. H., 1st ed.; Household Words, 29 Aug. 1885.—3. In sleep at Sal's, to sleep at a Salvation Army shelter: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon).

sal hatch, or S.H. An umbrella: lower classes':—1909 (Ware). Perhaps ex a proper name: cf. Mrs Gamp and † S.E. sal hatch, a dirty wench.

sal slappers. A common woman: costers':—1909 (Ware). salaams! (My) compliments (to you, her, etc.): Anglo-Indian coll., fairly gen. in C.20 and almost S.E. Ex Arabic for 'Peace (be upon or with you).'

salad. After having been wakened, to have another nap: nautical, applied only to officers:—1877. Cf. the C.16–early 17 S.E. pick a salad, to be trivially engaged.

salad march. A 'march of ballet girls in green, white, and pale amber—from the usual colours of salads': late C.19–early 20 theatrical coll. Ware.

salad oil. Hair-oil: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon).

salamander. A fire-eating juggler: circus:—1859 (H., 1st ed.)—2. A nickname for 'the first type of Sopwith 'plane with armoured fuselage': RFC: mostly 1915. B. & P.

salami fraud. 'So called because the crooked computer operator slices off interest due on investors' accounts one piece at a time and then pays it into his own false account. He can cream off several hundred pounds' (Now!, 25 Jan. 1980).

salamon. A C.17–19 form of salmon, q.v.

sale. In house of sale, a brothel: coll.: late C.16–17. Shakespeare, Hamlet.—2. In make a sale, to vomit: Aus. low: C.20. B., 1942.

Sale of Two Titties, A. Dickens's A Tale of Two Cities: an intentional spoonerism: since ca. 1925. Perhaps orig. Can. (Leachman.)

salesman's dog. A shop-tout: ca. 1690–1840. (B.E.; A New Canting Dict., 1725 (saleman's..., prob. a misprint); Grose.) On barker, q.v.

Salford Docks; Sometimes merely Salfords. Rocks, esp. on a shore or coastline: rhyming s., esp. in Manchester: C.20. Salford stands on the Mersey Ship Canal.

Salisbury. A civil lie; a polite evasion: political: ca. 1890–1900. Pall Mall Gazette, 5 Mar. 1890, 'The famous Salisbury about the Secret-Treaty... must henceforth be read "cum grano salis-bury".' Ex the statesman.

Sallenger's (or Sallinger's) Round, dance. To wanton; copulate: coll.: C.17–early 18. 'Sallenger's Round' was an delicate ballad of ca. 1600; lit., St Leger's.

Sallies. See Johnnies.—2. As the S., it = the Salvation Army: Aus.: since ca. 1910. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me..., 1958.

Sally. See Aunt Sally.—2. (Also sallow.) An Aus. corruption of Aboriginal sallee, acacia. Morris.—3. Also as Sally Ann, a Salvation Army hostel or canteen: C.20. The short form occurs in James Curtis, What Immortal Hand, 1939. Cf. sal, 3, q.v.

sally, v.; sallying, vbl n. These c. terms, valid for 1865 in 'No. 747', are of obscure sense; it is, however, clear that they refer to some not very skilled 'dodge' for illicitly obtaining money.

Sally Ann. See Sally, 3.

Sally Bash, the. The Salvation Army: occ. low coll.: later C.20. (P.B.)

Sally Booze. Saily-la-Bourse, a village on the Western Front: army: WW1, (F. & G.) By Hobson-Jobson.

Sally Fairy Ann! It doesn't matter!: army: 1915–18. An occ. var. of San fairy ann.

Sally Nixon (occ. s.n.). Salenixon (sal enixum): workmen's: from ca. 1880. (OED Sup.) By Hobson-Jobson.

sally-port. The mouth: nautical:—1923: (Manchon). Ex a ship's sally-port.

Sally Rand. HMS St Lawrent: RN: WW2.

Sally Thompson. A shearer's cook: Aus. rural: since ca. 1910. B., 1942.

salmagundy. A cook: coll.: C.18–early 19. Ex the dish so named.

salmon; occ. salomon, salomon or -an, and solomon. The Mass; Harman defines as also an altar, a sense not recorded after C.16. Rare except in by salmon!, by the Mass!, the beggar's expletive or oath, or in the C.18–early 19 so help me salmon!: c. of ca. 1530–1830. (Copland, Overbury, Moore-Carew, Scott.) Prob. a corruption of the Fr. serment, an oath.—2. A corpse fished from a river (esp. the Thames): water rats' c.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.—3. Abbr. the C.20 senses of salmon and trout.

Salmon and Gluckstein. The Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, heavy German cruisers: RAF: 1941–2. By Hobson-Jobson, on the former well-known firm of tobacconists.

salmon and trout. The mouth: rhyming s.:—1859; ob. H., 1st ed., as salmon trout, which is rare after ca. 1870; the 5th ed. has s. and t.—2. The nose: id., on snout: C.20. (B. & P.) But David Hillman amends, 1974: 'This implies snout is the nose, but to many Cockneys "snout" is slang for cigarette(s). Thus "got any salmon 'n' trout" is a request for a cigarette'.—3. A (usu. bookmaker's) tout: id.: C.20. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.—4. Gout: id. (Ibid.) Franklyn, Rhyming, says 'rare'. However, Red Daniells writes, 1980, 'There is even a Salmon Trout Club, restricted to gout sufferers. They arrange tours of breweries, distilleries, etc.'—5. Stout (the drink): id.: C.20. Franklyn, Rhyming, notes that this is now the commonest use of the term.

salmon-gundy. A (rather low) coll., indeed almost sol. form of salmagundy: late C.18–early 19. (Grose, 2nd ed.) See also salmagundy.

salmon trout. Var. of salmon and trout, esp. in sense 4: C.20.

saloman, -mon. The former a frequent, the latter a rare var. of salmon, q.v.: resp. C.17 and mid-C.16–early 19. Resp., Overbury; Harman, Middleton, Shirley.

Sal's. See sal, 3.

salt, n. A sailor; esp. one of long experience, when often old salt (as in Hughes, 1861): coll.: 1840, Dana, 'My complexion and hands were enough to distinguish me from the regular salt.' Occ., though by 1910, ob.: salt-water.—2. (An instance of) sexual intercourse: coll.: mid-C.17–early 18. Ex salt, amorous, lecherous. Cf. v., 1.—3. Money collected at Montem: Etonians': from ca. 1790. Spy, 1825; B. & L.—4. 'Plain tobacco to mix with dagga' (C.P. Wittstock, letter of 23 May 1946): S. African c.: C.20.—5. In come after with salt and spoons, to be slow or dilatory: coll.: late C.17–18. B.E., 'One that is none of the Hastings'; cf. Hastings (sort), q.v.—6. In we shan't take salt, our box-office returns will be very small: theatrical c.p.:—1909. Ware, 'We shall not take enough money to pay for salt, let alone bread.'

salt, v.i. To copulate: coll. (?) C.17–early 18. Ex the S.E. adj.: cf. salt, n., 2.—2. V.t., to admit (a freshman) by putting salt in his mouth, making him drink salty water, or practising on him some similar burlesquery; students': ca. 1570–1650. OED.—3. In an invoice or account, to price every article very high, gen. in order to allow a seemingly generous discount on settlement (salt an account, an invoice, etc.): commercial: 1882 (Ogilvie). Perhaps directly ex next sense.—4. To insert in the account books fictitious entries with a view to enhancing the value of a business to a prospective buyer: commercial:—1859 (Wm Kelly, Life in Victoria). Gen. salt a book, the books, etc. Prob. suggested by:—5. In mining, to sprinkle or plant an exhausted or a bogus claim with precious dust, nuggets, or gems: orig. (—1864), of gold in Aus.; of diamonds, ca. 1890; of oil, ca. 1900. H., 3rd ed.; Pall Mall Gazette, 22 Dec. 1894, 'Even experienced mining men and engineers have been made victims by salters.'—6. To introduce secretly into (a meeting) opponents of, or persons to oppose, the speaker: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

salt, adj. Dear, costly, excessive in amount (of money): C.18–20. dial. >, ca. 1850, s.; as s., slightly ob. H., 2nd ed., "'It's rather too salt,'" said of an extravagant hotel bill'; F. & H., 'as salt as fire = salt as may be.' Also salty.—2. Aristocratic; wealthy: 1868 (OED); slightly ob. by 1930. Ex the salt of the earth, a phrase that began ca. 1840 to be used of the great in power, rank, wealth,—a trivial use that, during WW1, > ob.—3. Drunk: late C.19–early 20. Abbr. salt junk, adj. (q.v.). Ware.

salt and batter. Assault and battery: partly s., partly illiterate: since ca. 1830. An Old Etonian, Cavendo Tutus; or, Hints upon Slip-Slop, being the 2nd part of his The Alphabet Annotated, 1853. Cf.:

salt and rob. Assault and robbery: S. African c.: C.20. Cape Times, 23 May 1946.

salt as Lot's wife's backbone (, as). Extremely salt: lower classes:—1909 (Ware). Ex the Biblical story.

salt away. See salt down, than which, in later C.20, it is more common.

salt-beef flag. 'The Blue Peter, in anticipation of the diet': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

salt-beef squire. More usual than salt-horse squire, q.v. F. & G.

salt-box. A prison cell; esp. the condemned cell at Newgate: c. of ca. 1810–90. (Vaux; Egan's Grose; H., 2nd ed.) Ex (?smallness and) bitterness.

salt-box cly. A flapped outside pocket: c: ca. 1810–40. Vaux. salt cat. A mess of 'old mortar, cumin seed, and wine' for birds to peck at: bird-fanciers': mid-C.19–20. B. & L.

salt-cellar. The female pudend: low: C.19 (?—20). Cf. salt, n., 2.—2. (Gen. pl.) A very deep hollow, above the collar-bone, in the female neck: coll.: from ca. 1912. OED Sup.

salt chuck, sea-water; the s.c., the sea: Can.: C.20. American pidgin? 'Ex the Chinook jargon (chuck, water). Quite common in British Columbia' (Leechman).

salt down; increasingly, in C.20. away. To put by (money, 1873, or stock, 1897); store it away. Ex salt, to preserve with salt. (OED; P-G-R.)

salt eel. A rope's end, esp. in have (a) salt eel for supper, to receive a thrashing: ca. 1620–1930: naval coll. Mabbe, Congreve, B.E., Smollett, Colman, Grose. (OED); P-G-R.)

salt horse or junk. Salted beef: military and nautical coll. >, by 1870, S.E.: resp. 1831 (Basil Hall); 1829 (George R. Gleig, The Chelsea Pensioners, II, 259; Moe). Whence salt-horse squire.—2. A non-specialist naval officer: RN: early C.20. Bowen.

salt-horse squire. A warrant as opp. a commissioned officer: RN: mid-C.19–early 20. (Ware.) The rank was abolished after WW2 (Granville); see salt-beef squire.

salt it for (a person). To spoil or ruin something for: C.20. (Manchon.) Ex salt, v., 5.

salt junk, adj. Drunk: rhyming s.: ca. 1890–1910. Ware.—N: see salt horse.

salt on (one's), 'its, the tail, -cast or fling or lay or put or throw. To ensnare, capture: coll.: mid-C.17–19, C.18–19, late C.16–19, mid-C.19–20, and C.19–20. Lyly; 'Hudibras' Butler, 'Such great achievements cannot fail/To cast salt on a woman's tail' (see tail); Swift (fling); Lamb, 1806, 'My name is... Betty Finch... you can't catch me by throwing salt on my tail' (Apperson); Dickens, 1861 (put).

salt-pits. A or the store of Attic wit: Oxford University: ca. 1820–40. (Egan's Grose.) Ex Attic salt.

salt-water. See salt, n., 1. (Ainsworth, 1839.)—2. Urine: coll.: late C.17–18. Tom Brown.

Saltash luck. 'A wet seat and no fish caught': RN: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex Saltash, a small town four miles NW of Devonport. Also S. catch: C.20. Granville, 'A wet stern and no fish'—There is a pun: 'salt(-wet) arse'.

salted. Experienced: of horses, coll., 1879; of persons, s., 1889. OED.—2. See salt, v., 5.: recorded by OED in 1886, but doubtless twenty years older.—3. Tipsy: from before 1931, but not very gen. For semantics, cf. the synon. corned and pickled. P.B.: but see also salt junk, of which this could be a shortening; cf. salt, adj., 3.

saltee. A penny: Parlyaree: mid-C.19–20. H., 1st ed.; Reade, 'It had rained kicks all day in lieu of saltees.' Also saulty. Ex It: soliti.

salter. One who salts mines: from ca. 1890. See salt, v., 5. salte or salty. A man-eating crocodile of the coastal areas: N. Queensland coll.: C.20. Jean Devanney, Travels in North Queensland, 1951.

salting, vbl n. See salt, v., 2.—2. See salt, v., 5.

salts. Smelling salts: coll.: 1767; slightly ob. by 1930.—2. Epsom salts: coll.: 1772. OED—3. See dose of salts. salts and senna. A doctor: a nickname from ca. 1860; ob. Ex salts; cf. No. 9.

salt's pricker. A 'thick roll of compressed Cavendish tobacco': RN:—1909 (Ware). The rolled leaf tobacco tightly bound with marline as put up by seamen in the RN was known to their friends ashore to whom they smuggled it as sailors' pricks, ex the shape. P.B.: but, with due respect to E.P.'s imagination, cf. prick, 6, q.v.

salty. See salt, adj., 1: mostly US (1847, Robb).

salubrious. Drunk: from ca. 1870; ob.—2. In reply, esp. to a query as to health, 'Pretty or very well, thanks!': from ca. 1880; ob. Perhaps via scrumptious, q.v. P.B.: more prob. ex S.E. use in such phrases as 'a salubrious resort', 'the salubrious air', etc. In later C.20, occ. used, as an almost nonsense word, to mean 'good', in answer to, e.g., 'How's the situation?'

salvage, v. To scrounge, souvenir, win, liberate, gen. steal: Aus. and NZ army in WW1, > later gen. s. By meiosis. Salvagger Agger, the. The Salvation Army: Oxford undergraduates:—1922 (Marples, 2).

salvation. Station: rhyming s.: ca. 1870–1914. C. Bent, Criminal Life, 1891.

Salvation Army, the. The Salvage Corps: military: from 1915. (B. & P.) Contrast salvo.

Salvation jugginsses – rotters – soul-sneakers. Members of the Salvation Army: London lower classes': 1882–4. Ware.

Salvation Navy, the. The Royal Navy: ca. 1916+. Ex 'Thank God, we've got a Navy!'

salve, n. Praise; flattery: 1859, (H., 1st ed.); ob. by 1935. Cf. S.E. lip(-)salve, flattery.

salve over. To persuade or convince by plausibility or flattery: coll.: 1862 (OED).

salvo. A member of the Salvation Army; the S., the Salvation Army; as. adj., Salvationist: Aus.: since late C.19; the adj., since ca. 1920. Also in pl, and sometimes as the Salvoes, the S.A.—2. A Salvation Army recreation hut: Brit. army: WW1. F. & G.—3. 'A "snappy come-back" which in an argument, completely floors your opponent' (Granville): RN officers': since ca. 1938. Cf. the RAF's shoot down in flames.

Sam; occ. sam. A Liverpudlian: dial. and s.: from ca. 1840. Perhaps ex sammy, 1., q.v. Also and gen. Dicky Sam (1864, H., 3rd ed.)—2. Hence, a fool: 1843, Moncrieff, 'I'm a ruined homo, a muff, a flat, a Sam, a regular ass.' Ex sammy, n., 1, and adj.—3. In upon, or, more gen., 'pon my sam!' A joc. asseveration: 1879 (F.J. Squires: OED). Perhaps cf. salmon, 1; it is, however, not improbable that 'pon my sam' is a corruption of dial. 'pon my sang(s)', recorded as early as 1860, by my sang occurring at least as early as 1790, and my sang ca. 1840 (EDD). Cf. say-so, 3.—4. See stand sam; Uncle Sam.

sam, v. To slam (esp. a door): Lancashire, rhyming s. rather than dial.:—1905 (EDD Sup.)—2. Abbr. of stand sam: proletarian:—1909 (Ware)—3. 'To cheat or deceive' (Powis): c.: later C.20.

Sam Hill. Hell, e.g. 'What the Sam Hill': Cockney euph.: C.20.

Sambo, gen in address. A Negro: coll.: from ca. 1800, orig. US. (Nautically, any Negro rating.) Ex S.E. sense, a Negro with a strain of Indian or European blood. It occurs in John Atkins, A Voyage to Guinea, Brasil, and the West-Indies, 1735. (Moe.) In later C.20, insulting and, in polite circles, almost taboo (P.B.).

same, the. The same person: coll. 'in confirming a conjecture as to the identity of a person mentioned by the speaker': 1889, Chatterbox, 24 Aug. "'The bushranger, do you mean?'" asked Allan. "The same?" (OED). P.B.: occ., for emphasis, 'the very same'; by mid-C.20, very dated, and used only humorously.

same boat. See boat, n.5.

same diff! The Aus. form of the next: since ca. 1945. (B.P.) same difference, it's the. A Can. c.p.: since ca. 1940. Elliptical for 'It's the same thing; there is no difference'. (Leechman.) P.B.: the even more elliptical same difference! has been Brit. usage since mid-C.20, if not earlier.

same here; same there. What you say applies equally to me; to you: resp. from ca. 1880 and from ca. 1870, the latter being orig. a tailors' c.p. B. & L.—2. Either same here or the same here, I fully agree: Aus. coll.: C.20. B., 1943.

same like. Same as; exactly like: coll., almost sol.: from ca. 1870. W. Pett Ridge, Mord Em'ly, 1898, 'Beef Pudding same like Mother makes'—a cheap eating-house's advertisement. P.B.: all same like was a mock-pidgin phrase occ. used by Brit. Servicemen in the Far East, 1960s—and prob. before and after.

same o.b. Same old 'bob' (shilling): lower classes' c.p.: ca. 1880–1910. (Ware.) Ex usual entrance-fee.

same old faces! (, the). The cry that greets the winners of raffles, competitions, and the like (not always kindly meant, for in restricted circles, e.g. a sergeants' mess, it is often true): Services': from ca. 1950 (? earlier). P.B.: E.P. glossed my note, 'Midway between cliché and c.p.') same old shit but (or only) more of it. A Can. army version of snafu: WW2.

same old stew. A punning c.p. on the inevitable stew: military: 1915; ob. (B. & P.) With ref. to an S.O.S. message. same old 3 and 4. Three shillings and four pence a day wages: workmen's:—1909; † by 1920. Ware.

same time. At the same time: i.e. nevertheless, or, 'but, mark you, ...': coll. (mostly in dialogue); C.20. Freeman Wills Crofts, Mystery in the Channel, 'Same time, if we do not learn of her elsewhere, we shall see the skipper of every lugger on the coast.'

same to you with knobs on (, the). See with knobs on. same wavelength. Esp. be, or not to be, on the same ... , to think, speak, feel, the same as another: coll.: since ca. 1965. 'I don't know quite what it is about her, but she and I just aren't on the ...' Ex radio operators' j. (P.B.)

samey. Monotonous: coll.: from ca. 1920. Ex:—2. Indistinguishable; the same: schoolboys': late C.19–20. Ernest Raymond, A Family That Was, 1929, 'The days that followed, becoming "samey" ... , sank out of memory's sight.'

samkin. An occ., now ob., var. (—1886) of simkin, 2.

sammo. A sandwich: Aus.: since ca. 1950. (B.P., 1974) Cf. synon. sanger.

Sammy or sammy; occ. sammy soft or S.S. A fool: from ca. 1830; slightly ob. Peake, 1837, 'What a Sammy, give me a shilling more than I asked him!' Cf. Sam, n., 2, q.v.—2. A Hindu idol (e.g. of Siva): British soldiers' (in India): late C.18–20. Ex Swamy, ex Sanskrit suamin, Lord. Y. & B. (at Swamy).—3. A S. African abbr. of Ramasammy, q.v. (Pettman, 1913.) Also for an Indian pedler of fruit.—4. An American soldier: a coll. nickname: 17 Oct. 1917. Ex Uncle Sam, q.v. (W.)—5. See stand sam.

sammy, v. To clean (equipment, esp. if of leather): military coll.: early C.20. (F. & G.) Ex S.E. sammy, to dry (leather) partially. Also sammy up: whence sammying-up, preparations for guard-duty (B. & P.).

sammy, adj. Foolish: from ca. 1810; ob. by 1930. (Lex Bal.) Whence the n., 1. Cf. Sammy Soft.

Sammy Hall. See rick, v.

sammy-house. An idol-temple: British soldiers' (in India): 1859 (Y. & B.). Ex Sammy, n., 2.

Sammy Soft (or s.s.). A fool: ca. 1840–1940. See Sammy, n., 1.

sammy up; sammying-up. See sammy, v.

Sampan. The ship Sans Pareil: naval: late C.18–early 19. Ware.

sample. To caress intimately, or to 'occupy', a woman for the first time: coll.: C.19–20. Ex sample, to 'obtain a representative experience of'. Cf.:—2. To drink: from ca. 1845. Porter, 1847, 'Old T. never samples too much when on business.' Via 'drink as a test or trial.'

sample-count. A commercial traveller: commercial coll.: late C.19. Egerton, 1894.

sampler. The female pudend: C.19–early 20. Semantics: needlework.

sam(p)son or S. A drink of brandy and cider, with a little water and some sugar: dial. and s.: from ca. 1840; ob. (Halliwell.) Also, mainly dial. and from ca. 1880, Samson with his hair on, which denotes a very strong mixture of the same ingredients, as in 'Q', Troy Town, 1888 (EDD).—2. A baked jam pudding: Durham School: from ca. 1870. Both senses ex the sense of power, the second perhaps also ex toughness.

samshoo. Any spirituous liquor: Anglo-Chinese:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Ex samshoo, a specific fiery spirit, rice-distilled.

Samson. 'A combined magnetic and acoustic mine; from its devastating effect' (Granville): RN: 1940+.—2. See sampson; my name is Simpson...

Samson and Abel. Oxford University: from ca. 1860. 'A group of wrestlers in the quadrangle of Brasenose. [Some said it represented Samson killing a Philistine; others Cain killing Abel: the matter was compromised]' (F. & H., 1903); H., 5th ed., 1874.

san. A sanatorium: coll.: from not later than 1913. Orig. Public Schoolboys': witness Ian Hay, The Lighter Side of School Life, 1914.

san fairy Ann (may also be written as one word). It doesn't matter or It's all the same or why worry?: later WW1, then nostalgically; the military c.p. (B. & P.; F. & G.) Hugh Kimber ends his war novel, San Fairy Ann, 1927, thus: 'There is a magic charter. It runs, "San Fairy Ann".' A perversion of Fr. ca ne fait rien (that makes no odds). Variants: Sally fairy Ann; san fairy Anna; (Aunt) Mary Ann; occ. sandbag Mary Ann; send for Mary Ann. See DCpp.

San Mig. San Miguel beer, orig. brewed in the Philippines, and later in Hong Kong: drinkers', in the Far East: C.20. (P.B.) san skillets, or S.S. The sans-culottes of Paris: proletarian: late C.18. Ware.

San Toys. Crooks: c. rhyming s. (on boys): C.20. P.P., Rhyming Slang, 1932.

sanakatowzer. A heavy fall; a violent blow: nautical: late C.19–early 20. (Bowen.) R/Adm. P.W. Brock cites its use in Rudyard Kipling's 'The Bonds of Discipline' (ca. 1902), collected in Traffics and Discoveries, 1904: 'a sanakatowzer of a smite with the flat of his sword'.—2. Anything very big; e.g. 'a sanakatowzer of an apple': Milton Junior School, Bula-wayo: since ca. 1925. An excellent example of arbitrary coinage that does yet evoke the idea of great size.

sanc. A naval cadet's smoking hide-out: Dartmouth Naval College cadets': C.20. (Bowen.) Ex sanctuary.

sancipees. See sank.

Sanctimoody. Sanctimonious and moody: mostly Nonconformists': C.20. With a more than casual glance at the American evangelists, Ira David Sankey (1840–1908) and Dwight L. Moody (1837–99), who, at their meetings, used their own hymnals, Sacred Songs (1873) and Gospel Hymns (1875–91).

sand, n. Moist sugar: c.: earlier C.19. Vaux; Egan's Grose.—2. Hence, any sugar: later C.19–earlier 20: RN lowerdeck (Goodenough, 1901); Can. (B. & P.); and at Bootham School (Bootham).—3. Money: C.19. Cf. dust.—4. constancy of purpose; courage; stamina: adopted, ex US, ca. 1895, but never very gen. and, by 1930, ob. Cf. the commoner grit.—5. Salt: nautical: mid-C.19–20. Bowen.—6. In eat sand, q.v.

sand-bag, -boy, -man, -paper. See these as single words.

sand groper. See sandgroper.

sand-happy. Odd or eccentric as a result of long-service in the desert: army: 1942–3. Cf. bomb-happy.

sand-hog. See bends, the, 2.

sand in (one's) hair, have. To be accustomed to the desert: army in N. Africa: WW2 (P-G-R.) Cf. and contrast sand in their boots, q.v. at boots, 7.

sand-rat. A moulder in a foundry: engineers': from ca. 1875. B. & L.—2. An Indian Army term, dating from ca. 1880. Richards, 'These native girls, who being in the last stages of the dreaded disease and rotten inside and out, only appeared after dark. These were the sand-rats and it was a horrible form of suicide to go with them.'

sand-scratch. 'To search for surface gold' (B., 1959): Aus. rural coll.: late C.19–20.—2. (Hence?) 'To be on the lookout for a feminine companion' (Ibid.): Aus. low: since ca. 1930.

sand-scratcher. 'Seaman rating, one of whose jobs is sanding the deck' (Granville): RN: C.20.

sand-storm (soup). 'Some kind of ground maize dumped in hot water... It never dissolved' (W.A. Tucker, The Lousier War, 1974): prisoners of war in Germany, WW1. All they got at many meals. Also in F. & G.

sand-storm medal. (Gen. pl.) An Egyptian Army decoration: military: late C.19–early 20. F. & G.

sand(-)vein. The notochord (chorda dorsalis), seen as a dark line down the back of a prepared shrimp: Can.:? coll.:? rather dial.: late C.19–20. (Leechman.)

sandbag, n. A long sausage-shaped bag of sand used as a weapon: orig. (—1871) c.; by 1900 gen. s. and by 1920, S.E. Pocock, Rules of the Games, 1895. (It leaves almost no mark; often employed by soldier deserters or gangsters on Salisbury Plain and on the Etaples dunes during WW1.) Hence: sandbag, v. To fell with a sandbag: orig. (—1890) c. >, ca. 1910, gen. s. >, ca. 1919, S.E. App. both weapon and word—see OED—were first used in US. Hence sandbagger.—2. Hence, 'A slang expression used in poker; [to lull] an opponent or opponents into a false sense of security' (epigraph to Part I of Walter Winward's novel, Rough Deal, 1977): gamblers': since ca. 1920.

sandbag duff. An army pudding made from ground biscuit: NZ army: WW1.

sandbag Mary Ann! See san fairy Ann.

sandbagger. A ruffian using a sandbag as a weapon: c., orig. (1884) US, anglicised ca. 1890: by 1910, gen. s.; by 1920, S.E. Sandbags, the. The Grenadier Guards: from ca. 1855: military. Ob. Also known as the Bermuda Exiles, Coal-Heavers, Housemaids' Pets, and Old Eyes.

sandbeef. A sandwich: Anglo-Indian:—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930.

sandboy (properly sand-boy), as happy or jolly or merry as a. Very happy, etc.: resp. late C.19–20, never very gen.; 1823, 'Jon Bee', this being the usual form; 1841, FitzGerald, 'We will smoke together and be as merry as sandboys' (OED). These coll. phrases > S.E. ca. 1850, ca. 1870, ca. 1910.

sandgroper. 'A native of Western Australia' (Wilkes): Aus.: since late C.19; ob. in later C.20. The State of W.A. consists largely of desert (E.P.). Also Sand Groper, or hyphenated. Hence, sandgroping, living in W.A. sandies. A shortening of Sandy McNab(s), 3.—2. See Sandy, 2.

sandman. A footpad, a 'sandbagger': Aus.: since ca. 1919. B., 1942.—2. In the sandman (from ca. 1870, occ. sandy man) is coming. Addressed to, or remarked of, children showing signs of sleepiness: a nursery coll.: 1861 (OED). Cf. dustman, q.v. Ex rubbing eyes as if sand were in them.

sandpaper. To rub out or off; to remove: 1889, Answers, 9 Feb., "'Can't do it," said Lancaster, "and I hope to be sandpapered if I try"'. Ob. by 1930.

sandpapering the anchor. 'Doing unnecessary work aboard ship': nautical joc. coll.: mid-C.19–20. Bowen.

sands, leave or put a person to the long. To abandon; place in a difficulty: Scots coll. of ca. 1670–1700. J. Brown, 1678, 'How quickly they were put again to the long sands (as we say)' (OED). Ex sands, a desert or perhaps a sand-bank.

sandwich. A sandwich-man: 1864 (H., 3rd ed.) though adumbrated by Dickens ca. 1836: coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E.—2. One of the two boards carried by a sandwich-man: a catachrestic sense dating from ca. 1880.—3. A gentleman between two ladies: from ca. 1870 (H., 5th ed., 1874); ob. Perhaps ex Thackeray's 'A pale young man... walking... en sandwich' (Vanity Fair, 1848). Rather coll. than s. sandwich, v. To set or insert between dissimilars: from ca. 1860: coll. >, ca. 1910 S.E.

sandwich board. A police-ambulance stretcher: lower classes: ca. 1870–1914. Ware.

Sandy. A Scotsman: a coll. nickname (—1785), mostly Scots. (Grose, 1st ed.) Ex Sandy, abbr. Alexander, a very gen. Scottish name.—2. (Gen. pl. sandies) 'Thames barge men who dredge for sand in the river': nautical coll., esp. Thames-side: late C.19–20. Bowen.—3. 'A cute little surfing girl' (Pix, 28 Sep. 1963): Aus. teenage surfers'.—4. Nickname for men surnamed Brown: see NICKNAMES, in Appendix.

sandy blight. Name given to trachoma or any kind of conjunctivitis, when the eyes smart as though filled with sand' (Wilkes): Aus. coll., since mid-C.19; by 1940, Standard Aus. Earlier, 1834, simply the blight or sand-blight.

sandy hooker. A Nelson-born musterer of sheep. Canterbury and Marlborough shepherds' (NZ): late C.19–20. (B., 1941.) Why?

Sandy MacNab (or McNab). A taxicab: rhyming s.: since ca. 1946. Franklyn, Rhyming.—2. A scab: Aus. rhyming s.: since ca. 1920. Jean Devanney; B., 1953.—3. (Usu. pl.) A body louse: rhyming s., on crab: since early WW1. (Brian Inglis, Spectator, 15 Jan. 1977.) 'A dose of the sandies. Animated dandruff' (Red Daniells, 1980).

sandy man. See sandman, 2.

Sandy Powell. Towel: rhyming s.: mid-C.20. S.P. was a pre-WW2 Northern comedian, on music-hall and radio. (David Hillman, 1974.)

sane, n. The sum of ten shillings: low Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1943.) Origin? 'Seems to be derived from S. German numeral "zehn" (pron. tsane). Could it have been brought in by German immigrants, or conceivably by repatriated Anzac ex-POWs of World War I?' (R.S.): more prob. the latter; if so, the dating should rather be 'since 1919 or 1920'.—2. The sum of one pound: Aus. low: since ca. 1925. B., 1959.—3, 4. A prison sentence of ten months; 10 ounces of tobacco: Aus., the former, c.; the latter c. and low s.: since ca. 1930. B., 1959, adds that '10 years' jail or £10 is most commonly a brick'.

sang (occ. sank) bon. Very good indeed; as n., a 'nap' hand at cards: army: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex Fr. cinq fois bon. Cf. sankey, and see bon.

sangaree. A bout of drinking (to excess): coll.: ca. 1820–70. (Halliwell.) Ex S.E. sense, a cold drink made of spiced wine diluted.

sanger (rhyming banger). A sandwich: Aus. coll.: later C.20. I first heard it in 1968 (P.B.). Cf. sammo, and Brit. sarnie.

Sangster. An umbrella: London: ca. 1850–70. Ex the inventor of a special kind. Ware.

sanguinary, joc. for bloody, is s. verging on coll.: C.20. (OED, 1909.) Cf. blood-stained, rose-coloured, ruddy.

Sanguinary Doubles, the. The Piccadilly Saloon: ca. 1850–62. (H., 3rd ed.) Because situated at no. 222 Piccadilly.

sanguinary James. (Cf. bloody Jemmy, its origin.) A (raw) sheep's-head: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.).

sanitary, the, as in 'Here comes the sanitary'. The sanitary inspector: coll.: since ca. 1946.

sank, sanky, occ. sancipees (or centipees, –F. & H. erroneously centipers). A tailor employed by a clothier in the making of soldiers' clothing: ca. 1780–1870. (Grose, 1st ed.) Perhaps ex Yorkshire dial. sanky, boggy, spongy, but prob. cognate with dial. sank, to perform menial offices as servant in a dining-room, itself a var. of skink, to wait on the company (see Grose, P.).

sank bon. See sang bon.

sank-work. The making of soldiers' clothes: coll.: ca. 1850–1920. (Mayhew, 1851; Baumann.) This word bears a curious resemblance to the C.14 S.E. sank, to bring together; cf. blown together, q.v.; see, however, remarks at sank, whence it derives, and cf. Mayhew's suggestion that the origin resides in Fr. sang (Norman sanc), blood, in ref. to a soldier's work or to the colour of his coat.

sankey. A five-franc note: military: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex Fr. cinq francs.

Sankey's Horse. The 39th Foot, now the Dorsetshire Regiment: military: C.18–20. (F. & G.) Ex the name of its colonel in the War of the Spanish Succession (1701–13) and a 'tradition that the battalion was mounted on mules for special service.'

sanniferan. Rare for-sanno. A sanitary inspector: Aus.: since ca. 1930. B., 1953.

sanny. Sanatorium: Public Schools': C.20. Cf. synon. san.—2. A sanitary towel or tampon: middle-class feminine: mid-C.20. Paul Scott, The Towers of Silence, 1971, p. 325.

sans. Worthless; useless; 'dud': Bootham School:—1925 (Bootham). Ex the Shakespeare quot'n. Cf. the Bootham wet.

Santa. Santa Claus: coll., mostly of the nursery: from ca. 1880. Cf. Santy.

Santa Claus. A 'sugar daddy' (rich elderly man keeping or assisting a young mistress): since ca. 1920.

santar or -er. He who, in a trio of thieves working together, carries away the booty: c.: late C.16—early 17. (Greene, 1591.) I.e. to sanctuary.

santeit! See under geluk!

Santy. Santa Claus: coll., mostly Can.: late C.19–20. (John Beames, Gateway, 1932.) Cf. Santa.

sap, n. A fool or a simpleton: 1815 (Scott): coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E. Milliken, ca. 1893, 'Sour old sap.' Abbr. sapskull.—2. One who works, esp. studies, hard; a book-worm: schools': 1798, Charlotte Smith; 1827, Lytton, 'When I once attempted to read Pope's poems out of school hours, I was laughed at, and called a sap'; Goschen, 1888, 'Those who... commit the heinous offence of being absorbed in [work]. Schools and colleges... have invented... phrases... such as "sap", "smug", "swot", "bloke", "a mugster"...—3. 'A weak trainee—"not very bright"' (Home Office): Borstals' and Detention Centres': later C.20. Ex sense 1.

sap, v. To be studious or a great reader: schools': 1830 (OED), but implied in sapping.

sap-head. See EPITHETS, in Appendix.

sap out. To work up (a subject); resolve (a problem or a 'construe'): Shrewsbury School: from ca. 1880. (Desmond Coke, The Bending of a Twig, 1906.) Cf. sap, v., and the 1970s' sus out.

sap the flas. A Cockney c.p. 'used when the drink does not go round freely': ca. 1880–1910. (B. & L.) Back s. for pass the salt.

sapper. One who studies hard: Eton: 1825 (Westmacott: OED). Cf. sap, v. and n, 2.—2. A gay, irresistible fellow: music-halls': late C.19. (Ware.) Ex Fr. sapeur.

Sappers, the. The Royal Engineers: military coll.: from 1856, when the Royal Sappers and Miners were amalgamated with the Royal Engineers as the Corps of Royal Engineers. F. & G. sappiness. Foolishness; folly: coll.: late C.19–20. See sap, n., 1.

sapping. Hard study: schools: 1825 (Westmacott). Cf. sap, n., 2, and v.

sappy. (Of a caning) severe: Durham School: from ca. 1870. Ex S.E. sense: vigorous, rich in vitality, perhaps influenced by dial. sense, putrescent. (—As = foolish, sappy dates from C.17; certainly S.E. up till ca. 1860; by 1870, it seems to have > coll.: see e.g. H., 5th ed.)

Sara. A Saratoga trunk: Aus.: C.20. (John G. Brandon, The Big City, 1931.) Often personified.

Sarah Soo. A Jew: since ca. 1925: rhyming s., orig. under-world, >, by 1960, fairly common. John Gosling, The Ghost Squad, 1959.

Sarabs; more gen. Saras. Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway deferred ordinary stock: late C.19–20 (ob.): Stock Exchange. Prob. on Doras and Coras and Floras. Cf. Sheffields.

Sarah's Boots. The Sierra Buttes Gold Mining Company's shares: late C.19–20: Stock Exchange. Cf. prec.

Saray Marays, the. See Jaopies.

sarc. (Occ. sark.) Sarcasm: schools': from ca. 1920. Cf. sarky, q.v.

sarcky. An occ. form of sarky, q.v. John Brophy, Waterfront, 1934.

sarcy. A low coll. form of saucy: C.19–20. (Moncreiff, 1843.) Prob. influenced by sarcastic: see sarky.

sard, to copulate, C.10–17, seems to have, in late C.16, > a vulg.

sardine-box. A prison-van: lower classes':—1909; ob. (Ware.) Packed as if with sardines.

sardine-tin. A clumsy steamer: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. A Bren-gun carrier (a small, lightly-armoured, tracked vehicle): army: WW2. (H. & P.) Humorous.—3. A torpedo-carrying aircraft: RAF: 1939+. Jackson.—4. A submarine: RN lowerdeck: 1939+. Granville.—5. A mini-car: coll.: 1960s. Bournemouth Evening Echo, 16 Apr. 1966.

Sardines. Royal Sardinian Railway shares: Stock Exchange: late C.19.—2. See packed like sardines.

Sarey Gamp. An elab. of gamp, an umbrella: mid-C.19 London. Ware.

sarga, sarge. Sergeant: military coll.: sarga only, sarge mostly, in address: C.20. (F. & G.) Sarga († by 1950) was orig. an Arabic pron., adopted in the Regular Army. Cf. Corp=corporal, Bomb=bombardier, and contrast the more formal sarnt.

sargentemanly. So gentlemanly: satirical low coll.: ca. 1870–1900. Ware.

Sarie Marais. See Saray Marays, the.

sark. To sulk: Sherborne School: from ca. 1880. Prob. ex sarcastic; cf. sarky.—N.: see sarc.

Sarken News, the. The Clerkenwell News: London: 1860–83. Ware.

sarker. See MOCK AUCTION, in Appendix.

sarky. Sarcastic (low) coll.: late C.19–20. Cf. sarc and sark.

sarm. Image: Aus.: since ca. 1945. 'He's the dead sarm of his father.' This could derive ex a dial. pron. (sahm) of same; but probably Mr Edwin Morrisby's explanation, in a letter, 1958, is correct: Chinese san (pronounced sahn), the number 3, as used in the game of fan-tan, where 3 is said to be the 'safest' number on which to bet. P.B.: 3 is, in Cantonese, pron. sarm.

sarnie. A sandwich: prob. orig. army, since early C.20; in later C.20, more gen. coll. Cf. synonym. Aus. sammo, sanger.

sarnt. 'A smart and soldierly pronunciation of sergeant', used only before the surname; sarnt-major can, however, be used without the surname: coll.: C.20. B. & P.

sarse; occ. sarspidilly. Sarsaparilla: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1953.

sarvice. Service: low coll. and dial.: C.18–20. 'Jon Bee', 1823.

s'arvo. This afternoon: low Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1953.) This arvo (see arvo.)

sass, get too much. To become 'too bold, or powerful, or wicked': 'English negro s.' of the West Coast of Africa: from ca. 1870. (B. & L.) I.e. 'saucy'.

sassenger, sassiger. A sausage: sol., mostly children's: late C.19–20; slightly ob. (Baumann.) In C.20, sssinger is occ. used for humorous effect by adults: 'Oh, goody! Sossingers for supper!' (P.B.)

sasshay (occ. sashy). To go; to move slowly, to promenade: mainly US, but some Brit. use, now ob., in C.20. Ex a perversion of chassé (in dancing); cf. waltz used in this sense. (P.B.)

sassiety. A joc. form of satiety and a sol. form of society: both, from before 1887. Baumann.

Sasso, the. The Senior Air Staff Officer: RAF coll.: 1936+. (Partridge, 1945.) Ex the initials by which he is usu. referred to: S.A.S.O.

sat. Satisfaction: universities': ca. 1860–1900. (Ware.) Ex L. satis.—2. A tag: Public Schools':—1909; ob. (Ware.) Abbr. satellite, a joc. name for a tag.

sat-upon. Repressed, humiliated; down-trodden: coll.: from ca. 1890. OED Sup.

satchel-arsed fellow; satchel-arsed son of a whore. A man fitted by Jon Bee's indictment in 1823: 'Some chaps put on certain habiliments in a very bag-like manner': † by 1900.

sate-poll. A stupid person: low s. > coll.: late C.19–20. ? = sated poll (head).

satín. Gin: from ca. 1860, ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex white satin, q.v.

Hence a yard of satin, which H. records as mostly feminine usage for 'a glass of gin'. Cf. ribbon and tape, esp. among servants.

satú empat jalan. Lit. 'one four road' in Malay, i.e. one for the road, q.v., in Services' macaronic: Forces' in Malaya, 1950s, perhaps earlier; already current when I first heard it in 1954. (P.B.) saturated. Very drunk: occ. var. of soaked: early C.20. Lyell, 1931.

Saturday afternoon sailors. WW2 R Aus.N version of Saturday night sailors. B., 1943.

Saturday afternoon soldiers. The Home Guard: army: 1940–5. Cf.:

Saturday night sailors. 'Lowerdeck pre-1939 view of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve' (Granville). Cf. the RAF's Week-End Air Force, and Saturday night soldiers.

Saturday-night security. A steady boy friend: Aus.: since ca. 1945. He ensures that she doesn't have to stay at home on Saturday nights—a condition truly to be deplored. (B.P.)

Saturday night soldiers. The Territorial Army: C.20. (Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976.) Cf. Saturday soldier.

Saturday nighter. At Harrow, an exercise to be done on Saturday evening: late C.19–20.

Saturday pie. A 'resurrection' pie: lower classes':—1909; ob. Ware.

Saturday soldier. A volunteer. (Globe, 11 Aug. 1890.) Also cat-shooter.

Saturday(-)(to-)(-)Monday. A mistress for the weekend: coll.:—1903; very ob. by 1930.

Saturday-to-Monday Station, the. The Gibraltar naval base, so near England: RN: C.20. Bowen.

Saturday while. See Friday while.

satyr. A professional stealer of cattle, horses, sheep: C.18 c. 'Highwaymen' Smith, 1714 (OED). Prob. ex the Roman representation of satyrs as goat-like.

saucy, n. Impudence, impertinence: coll. and dial.: 1835 (Marryat: OED); perhaps much earlier, ex the S.E. senses, C.16–18, of saucy, q.v. Cf. the C.16 coll. to have eaten sauce, to be very saucy, and Skelton's var., to have drunk of sauce's cup.

Slightly later, C.17–18, is (have) more sauce than pig, a coll. synonym.—2. A venereal infection: coll.: C.18–early 19. Vanbrugh.—3. In carrier's or poor man's sauce, hunger: mid-C.19–early 20: coll., but the latter soon S.E. saucy, v. To charge (a person) extortionately: coll. (or joc. S.E.): late C.16–early 17. Shakespeare.—2. To strike; to thrash: coll.: 1598 (Jonson); † by 1750.—3. Hence, in C.17–18, to reprimand (severely); rebuke smartly: coll. Shakespeare. (Extant in dial.)—4. Hence, to address impertinently: low coll.: from ca. 1860. Dickens, 1865, 'Don't sauce me in the vicious pride of your youth.' (All dates, OED.)

saucy-jack. A corporal (? esp. cook corporal): army: ca. 1900. See ARMY SLANG, final chorus, in Appendix. (P.B.)

saucibox. An impudent or impertinent person: coll.: 1588 (Marprelate's Epistle); ob. Tylney, 1594, 'You, master saucibox, lobcock, cockscomb'; Fielding; Miss Mitford. Cf. saucy, n., 1.—2. (Also dial.) 'In low life it also signifies the mouth' saucepan. Short for various senses of the next. In Aus., sense 3 esp. = a (young) boy (B., 1953).

(H., 3rd ed., 1864); recorded, without comment, in the ed. of 1860.

saucepan lid. £1: rhyming s., on quid: late C.19–mid-20. F. Anstey, 'Bookmakers on the Beach', a 'sketch' in Puppets at Large, 1897: 'Why, I ain't took two blessed sorcepans since I bin 'ere!' Hence, as a collective plural, it = money, esp. in coin: C.20. Franklyn 2nd adduces heap of saucepan lids, lots of money.—2. A Jew: rhyming s. (on Yid): late C.19–20. Franklyn, Rhyming.—3. A child: rhyming s., on kid: late C.19–20. Ibid.—4. A mild deception, a 'leg-pulling'; hence also v., as in 'Now you're saucepan-lidding me': rhyming s., on kid: late C.19–20. Ibid.

saucepan on the fire, have the. To be desirous of, ready for, a scolding bout: coll. and dial.: mid-C.19–20; almost † as coll. Cf.:

saucepan runs (occ. boils) over, your. You're very saucy: a late C.17–18 c.p. or coll. B.E. (runs...). Cf. saucy, n., 1. saucer. In off (one's) saucer, not in the humour; indisposed: Aus.: ca. 1860–1910. (B. & L.) R.S. notes a close correspondence to the Fr. coll. ne pas être dans son assiette.—2. Crazy. See the entries at off (one's)...

saucers. Eyes, esp. if wide-opened or very large: coll.: 1864, Mark Lemon, 'I always know when he has been in his cups by the state of his saucers.' Ex S.E. eyes like (or as big as) saucers, saucer-eyes (or -eyed), etc.

saucy. Impudent or rude; impertinent: coll.: late C.18–20. Ex C.16–18 S.E., senses (insolent, presumptuous).—2. Hence, smart, stylish: coll.: from ca. 1830. An East End tailors' broadside advertisement of ca. 1838 runs, 'Kicksies made very saucy.'

saucy box. A 'saucebox' (1), q.v.: coll.: 1711 (Swift); † by 1780. OED.

Saucy Greens, the. The 36th Foot Regiment, now the Worcester Regiment: army: mid-C.18–20; ob. (F. & G.) Ex facings of 1742–1881.

saucy jack. An impudent fellow: coll.: ca. 1550–1700. Cf. Jack sauce.

Saucy Pompeys, the. See Pompadours, the.

saucy Sal. Sodii sal. (sodium-salicylate, an analgesic): military hospitals': WW1. Olive Dent, A V.A.D. in France, 1917. (With help from Mrs Patricia Pinder; P.B.)

Saucy Seventh, the (old). The 7th Hussars: army: C.19–early 20. Also the Lilywhite Seventh, Old Straus, and Strawboots.

Saucy Sixth, the. The 6th Foot Regiment >, in 1881, the Royal Warwickshires: military: late C.19–20; ob. (F. & G.) Also Guisse's Geese and the Warwickshire Lads.

saucy. See saltee.

saucy. Var. of sawney, 2.

saus, often spelt soos. A sausage: mostly juvenile: C.20. Frank Richards's school stories. (Petch.)

sausage, n. In sexual sense, i.e. penis, it is on the marches of coll. and S.E. The version live sausage is prob. coll.—2. (Or S.—) A German: lower classes': late C.19–20. (Ware; B. & P.; Manchon.) Suggested by German sausage.—3. A German heavy trench-mortar bomb: army: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex shape.—4. A draught-excluder placed at foot of a door: domestic coll.: C.20. Ex shape.—5. A dog in heat: since ca. 1945. A pun on hot dog.—6. Short for sausage and mash, money in cash: since ca. 1870. From ca. 1927, esp. in coll. not (to have) a sausage, (to be) penniless, esp. temporarily (Peter Chamberlain); whence, in much wider sense, not to get a sausage, not to get anything—of whatever is under discussion, as 'Have you heard anything?' 'Not a sausage!' (P.B.)—7. (Usu. in pl.) Human faeces: children's: C.20. (P.B.)—8. 'A motorcycle that has been in a crash' (Dunford): motorcyclists': later C.20. See sausage and mash, 2.—9. A marijuana cigarette: prisoners' c.: later C.20. Home Office.—10. See sausage roll.—11. A term of (usu.) joc., affectionate reproof, esp. to a child or sweetheart, e.g. 'You silly sausage!', or as in '[He] confessed to enjoying his image as a dirty old man. "As I get old, I love people saying, 'There he goes, what a character, what a lusty old sausage'" ('People' column, LAM, 7 Sep. 1982, p. 53): domestic: C.20. (P.B.) sausage, v. To cash; esp. sausage a goose's, to cash a cheque: low: from ca. 1920. Abbr. sausage and mash, rhyming s., to cash, itself dating from ca. 1870. Moreover, goose's = goose's neck, rhyming s. (late C.19–20) for a cheque.

sausage and mash, n. See sausage, n., 6, and sausage, v.—2. A collision: rhyming s., on crash or smash: since the late 1950s. Franklyn 2nd.

sausage dog. A dachshund: since WW1, poss. earlier. Punch cartoons of WW1 years noted the ludicrous, almost hysterical animosity felt towards them—but then, Punch has always been quick to satirise the follies of unthinking public opinion. Also Aus., since ca. 1930 (B.P.). Ex shape, and sausage, n., 2; cf.:-

sausage game. A German game: billiards-players': from ca. 1870; ob. B. & L.

Sausage Hill, go to. To be taken prisoner, "Sausage Hill" being generic for German prison camp' (F. & G.): army: 1915–18.

sausage machine, the. A synonym of mincing machine. sausage roll, or capitals; often shortened to sausage (or S.). A Pole: rhyming s.: prob. since 1939, ex Poland's fate in WW2. John Gosling, The Ghost Squad, 1959; Franklyn 2nd.—2. As the s. r., the dole: rhyming s.: since ca. 1925. Haden-Guest, 1972.

sausage toad. Sausage toad-in-the-hole: eating-houses' coll.: late C.19–20.

sausages. Fetters: low: ca. 1820–65. (Sinks, 1848.) Shape: string of sausages = a chain.—2. Side whiskers: mid-C.19–20.—3. See sausage, n., 7.

sausanmash. A sausage and mashed potatoes: junior clerks':—1909 (Ware).

sav. A saveloy: low: C.20. Gilt Kid, 1936.

savage, Savage. (Gen. pl.) A member of the Savage Club: coll.: late C.19–20. Observer, 11 Aug. 1935.—2. A man able to claim 'native leave', granted to those whose homes are in or near the port where their ships are lying: R Aus. N: WW2. savage, adj. Furiously angry; unsparing in speech: from 1820s: mostly coll. OED.

savage as a meat-axe. See meat-axe.

savage rabbits, do. To wait in readiness for action; 'to conceal small concentrations of tanks for local counter attacks against an enemy offensive': Tank Corps: Feb. 1918; ob. F. & G., 'From a phrase used by General Elles' in that month; Clough Williams-Ellis, The Tank Corps.

save, n. A piece of economy, a saving: dial. >, ca. 1905, low coll.

save, v.t. To protect oneself, or one's book of bets, by hedging; to keep (a horse) on one side, not betting against it, thus making it a clear winner for oneself: the turf: 1869. In C.20, coll.

save!; save? See savvy.

save-all. One of 'boys running about gentlemen's houses in Ireland, who are fed on broken meats that would otherwise be wasted' (Grose, 1785): Anglo-Irish coll.: mid-C.18–mid-19. Prob. ex the save-all candlestick.

save (one's) bacon. To escape narrowly: late C.17–20; coll. from ca. 1750. A. Behn, 1682, 'I go [to church] to save my bacon as they say, once a month' (Apperson). Perhaps from the days of heretics burnt at the stake; A New Canting Dictionary, 1725, however, says that in this phrase bacon 'in the Canting Sense, is the Prize, of whatever kind, which Robbers make in their Enterprizes'. Cf. the 1934 advertisement slogan, 'Breakfast on Shredded Wheat and save your bacon.'

save-reverence. See sirreverence.

save (one)self. To hedge: racing coll.: 1869, Broadwood, The O.V.H., 'Most who received the news at least saved themselves upon the outsider.' See save, v.

saved by his clergy. See TAVERN TERMS, §4, in Appendix.

saved by the bell. Saved by a lucky intervention: coll.; often as a c.p.: late C.19–20. Ex the bell signifying the end of a round in a boxing match.

saveloy. A boy: rhyming s.: C.20. Franklyn 2nd.

Saveloy, the. The Savoy Hotel: London taxi-drivers': since ca. 1910. Herbert Hodge, 1939.

Saveloy Square. Duke Place, Aldgate: East London:—1909. Inhabited by Jews, it rarely sees a sausage. Ware, 'On the lucus a non lucendo principle.'

saver. A prudent covering bet: the turf: from ca. 1890. Nat Gould, 1891, 'I've put a saver on Caloola.' Ex save (oneself), to bet thus.

savers! Halves!: boys!: late C.19–20. Cf. saver, q.v.

saves the washing-up, it (or it'll save ...). Remark to greet the sound of crockery falling with a crash: domestic: since ca. 1920, if not earlier. (P.B.)

savey, savie. See savvy.

saving. See hang saving.

saving chin. A projecting chin: coll.: ca. 1776–1840. Bridges; Grose, 'That catches what may fall from the nose.' Cf. the proverb he would save the droppings of his nose, applied to a miser.

savings. See take up savings.

savvy; also sabby, sabe, savey, savie, savvey, scavey, n. Common sense; good sense; gumption: 1785, Grose; 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1888, 'If George had had the savvy to crack himself up a little.'—Hence, acuteness, cleverness: 1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Forms: savvy, mid-C.19–20; sabby, q.v. (—1864); sabe, since ca. 1820, now rare; savey, 1785; savie, Scottish, C.19–20; savvey, from ca. 1880; scavey, C.19 Ex Negro-ising of Fr. savoir, to know, or more prob of Sp. sabe usted, do you know; imm. ex:

savvy; also sabby, sabe(e); savey, savvey, scavey. (Resp. C.19–20; mid-C.19–20; C.18–20; C.19–20; C.18.) V.t. (in C.20, occ. v.i.), to know: 1785, Grose, 'Massa me no scavey.' For etym., see end of n.—2. In pidgin English, also to have, to do, etc., etc.: C.19–20.

saw, n. See held at a long saw.

saw away. To talk on steadily: coll.: early C.19. Bill Truck, 10 Oct. 1821.

saw-off. 'A tie; one wins on this deal and loses on that, it's a saw-off' (Leechman): Can.: since ca. 1910.

saw off a chunk or a piece. To coit: Can.: since ca. 1920. Semantically cf. the phrases cited at slice, take a, and tear off a piece.

saw them off. To snore; to sleep soundly: C.20 c. >, ca. 1940, low s. (John Worby, Spiv's Progress, 1939.) Ex the noise made with a saw clumsily handled.

saw-tooth edged beanie. See beanie.

saw your timber! Go away!: low: from ca. 1855; ob. (H., 2nd ed.) On cut your stick; a further elab. is amputate your mahogany.

sawbones. A surgeon: from ca. 1835, Dickens in 1837 saying 'I thought everybody know'd as a sawbones was a surgeon.' Sawder, rare except as soft sawder. Flattery; soft speech: 1836 (Haliburton: OED); Grant Allen, 'I didn't try bullying; I tried soft sawder.' Perhaps ex solder, n.; prob. sawder, v. Cf. blarney.

sawder, v. To flatter; speak softly to: 1834 (Lover). Prob. on to solder, perhaps influenced by sawdust, for cf. next two entries.

sawdust. Same as sawder, n.: rather low:—1887 (Baumann); 1893, Milliken, 'True poetry ... not sawdust and snivel'; ob. Either sawder (n.) corrupted or ex sawdust as used, in various sports, to soften a fall.

sawdust bloke. A circus rider: circus coll.: from ca. 1860. B. & L.

sawdust lurk, the. 'Stuffing the differential of an old car with sawdust to get a better price for it' (B.P.): Aus. secondhand-car dealers': since ca. 1920. Cf. speedo lurk.

sawdusty. The adj. of sawdust: low. Punch, 11 Oct. 1884, 'Me doing the sawdusty reglar'.

sawed-off. Short in stature: Can., and occ. Brit., form of sawn-off. 'Look at that sawed-off little runt' (Leechman). sawmill, the. The operating theatre in a hospital: Services': WW1. (F. & G.) Cf. sawbones.

sawn. A softy, a 'dope': low Aus.: since ca. 1920. (Kylie Tennant, The Joyful Condemned, 1953.) Ex sawney, n., 1.

sawn off. (Of a person) short; small; Services (esp. RAF) coll.: since ca. 1920. (H. & P.) I.e. truncated.

sawn off at the waist, should be. An RAF c.p. applied to a 'dumb' girl since ca. 1930.

sawn(e)y. A fool; a stupid or very simple (gen., man): late C.17–20. (B.E., Grose.) In late C.19–20, through (non-Scottish) dial. influence, it often = a soft, good-natured fellow. Prob. ex zany (in 1567 spelt zawne in Edwards's Damon and Pythias), though conceivably influenced by sense 3.

—2. Bacon: c.—1812 (Vaux); Mayhew, who restricts to stolen bacon. ? ex sawn, bacon being cut off in slices (rashers). Cf. sawney-hunter, q.v.—3. As Sawney; occ. sawny, a Scot: a (mainly pej.) coll. nickname: C.18–20. Tom Brown; Gay, 'He sung of Taffy Welch, and Sawney Scot'; Henley & Stevenson. Ex Alexander; cf. Sandy, q.v.

sawn(e)y, v. To wheedle or whine: coll.: ca. 1805–90. Southey, 1808, 'It looks like a sneaking sawneying Methodist parson.' Ex the adj., perhaps also in part ex, or influenced by the East Anglican sanny, 'to utter a whining, wailing cry without apparent cause' (EDD).—2. To be soft; to fool about: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Ex n., 1, and adj., 2.

sawn(e)y, adj. Whining, wheedling: ca. 1800–1850. Cf. sawney, v., 1.—2. Foolish; softly good-natured or sentimental: s. > coll.: C.19–20. Rhoda Broughton, 1873 'There is no sawny sentiment in his tone, none of the lover's whine.' Ex sawney, n., 1.

sawn(e)y (rarely sawny)-hunter. One who purloins bacon and/or cheese from grocers' shops: 1856 (Mayhew, The Great World of London). See sawney, n., 2.

sawyer. The repulsive grasshopper called weta by the Maoris' (B., 1941): NZ: since ca. 1880.

sax. A saxophone: trivial: from ca. 1910. Cf. next.

—2. Sixpence: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (B., 1942.) Cf. zack.

saxa. A saxophone: Aus.: since ca. 1920. K.S. Prichard, Haxby's Circus, 1930.

saxpence. See bang goes saxpence!
say. Yes: back s.:—1851 (Mayhew, I). Logically but not actually sey.—2. Six: Parlyaree: mid-C.19–20. (Ware.) Ex it sei.—3. As say! or I say!, an introductory interj.; a mere exclamation: coll.; resp., orig. US anglicised ca. 1900; C.17–20. Beaumont & Fletcher, 1611, 'I say, open the door, and turn me out these mangy companions' (OED). Say, bo! was a c.p. (term of) address: earlier C.20: adopted ex US. See bo.—4. See Jack Robinson, knife, mouthful, prayers, when.

say an ape's paternoster. To chatter with cold: 1611 (Cotgrave). For the quaint proverbs and proverbial sayings connected with the ape, see esp. G.L. Apperson's English Proverbs, 1929.

say au revoir but not goodbye! See au revoir ...

say away! Speak, then!; 'fire ahead!': coll.: mid-C.19–20. Cf. fire away. P.B.: may be used as rejoinder to a diffident say, 3.

say 'boo' to a goose. See 'bo' to a goose.

say 'cheese' Command by amateur photographers taking snapshots of friends and relations, used in an effort to get at least a semblance of a smile for the picture: since (? early C.20: always joc.; ob. by 1980. See cheesecake. (P.B.)

say it again! I heartily agree with you: tailors' c.p.: from ca. 1870. (B. & L.) A forerunner of you can say that again!

say it with flowers! Send flowers!; hence 'say it nicely!': coll., adopted ex US ca. 1925. The phrase owes its survival to its adoption as a slogan by a well-known firm of florists.

say no more! See wink wink ...

say nothing when you are dead. Be silent!: c.p. of ca. 1670–1750. Ray.

say (one's) piece. To say what one has intended to say, esp.

in business or in moral duty: coll.: since ca. 1910. Ex obligatory recitation at, e.g., a party.

say-so. Authority (e.g. 'On whose say-so?'); a right, privilege; power of making decisions: latish C.19–20. Bill Naughton, Alfie Darling, 1970, 'I let then see I had the complete say-so'.—2. Hence, a leader or chief; a boss: Aus.: from ca. 1930. B., 1942.—3. In on my (sammy) say-so, on my word of honour: coll.: mid-C.18–early C.20; sammy not before ca. 1880. See sam, 3.

say something – even if it's only 'goodbye'! (, well). A c.p. addressed; often mock-sorrowfully, to one who won't answer questions, or is otherwise tongue-tied: since the 1920s. (P.B.)

say when! Orig. a c.p. with 'dovetail' Bob! (or bob!); by 1920, S.E. Modern Society, 6 June 1889, "'Say when," said Bonko ... commencing to pour out the spirit into my glass. "Bob!" replied I.' The dovetail was † by 1920.

say when you're mad! 'Tell me when you're ready to lift': Can. workmen's c.p. as from one to another: since ca. 1930. (Leechman.) saying (one's) prayers (, be). To be scrubbing the floor: joc. domestic: late C.19–20. See also prayers, 2 and 3.

says. See it says.

says he. Said he: coll.: late C.17–20. Congreve. (OED) Cf.: says I; says you. I say; you say: sol. or joc. coll.: late C.17–20. Dryden, Bage. OED.

says you! See sez you!

'Sblood or 'sblood! A coll. form of (by) God's blood!: late C.16–mid-18, then archaic. See 'S and cf. the following more or less coll. oaths: 'Sbobs (i.e. Od's bobs), late C.17–mid-19; 'Sbodikins (= God's bodikins), ca. 1670–1800, then archaic; 'Sbody (God's body), C.17; 'Sbores (like 'Sbobs, obscure in meaning), C.17; 'Sbud(s), which = 'Sbodikins, ca. 1670–1760, then archaic. OED.

scab, n. A pej. applied to persons, a 'scurvy' fellow, a scald or scoundrel: from ca. 1590; slightly ob. except in next sense; not after C.18 applied to women. Occ., as in Lyly, a constable or a sheriff's officer (not after C.18). Shakespeare, Defoe, Kipling. Ex the skin-disease or the crust forming over a sore: cf. scurf.—2. Hence, a workman refusing to strike, esp. one working while his companions are on strike: orig. (1811), US, anglicised ca. 1880. Occ. attributively.—3. Among tailors, a button-hole: from ca. 1870; ob. Ex the shape of a sore-crust.—4. A rupee: army in India: earlier C.20. Cf. synon. rat.—5. A scarab: mostly Public and Grammar Schools: since ca. 1925. Nicholas Blake, Head of a Traveller, 1948.

scab, v. To behave as a, be a, 'scab' (n., 2): C.20, OED recording at 1905.—2. V.t., to treat as 'scabs': from ca. 1906. Francis E. Brett Young, Pilgrim's Rest, 1922, '[The rioting strikers] went away, saying they'd come back again and scab us to-night.'

scab coal. See black coal.

scab-raiser. A drummer: military: ca. 1850–95. (H., 3rd ed.) Because one of his duties was to wield the cat-o'-nine-tails, thus raising sores.

scabbado. Syphilis: mid-C.17–mid-18: coll. verging on S.E. (Bailey's Erasmus, 1725.) Ex S.E. scab + ado, a mock-foreign suffix.

scabby. Vile, contemptible, beggarly: C.18–20: S.E. until mid-C.19, then coll. Smollett; Meredith, 1861, 'A scabby sixpence?' Ex lit. S.E. sense. Cf. scabby sheep, q.v.—2. Among printers, unevenly or blotchily printed: from ca. 1870. Ex sense 1.—3. At Christ's Hospital (School), stinky: mid-C.19–20. Cf. quot'n in sense 1.—4. Pertaining to one who does not employ union labour: from ca. 1890: Aus. s. >, ca. 1910, coll. Ex scab, n. 2.—5. Hence, n., a non-union worker: Aus.: since ca. 1910. B., 1942.

Scabby Liz. Scapa Flow: RN: WW1. (Bowen.) A place of which one easily wearies.

scabby neck (or S.N.). A Dane; esp. a Danish sailor: nautical:—1864; ob. H., 3rd ed.

scadger. A mean fellow, a contemptible begger of loans:

low: from ca. 1860; ob. Perhaps ex cadger (q.v.) on Cornish scadgan, a tramp. At Winchester College, a rascal: † by 1901. E.J.K. Wrench.

scads. Much; e.g. 'scads of money': adopted, ca. 1935, from US, esp. by would be 'slick' thriller-writers.

scaff. A selfish fellow: Christ's Hospital (School): mid-C.19–20. (Cf. scabby, 3, and scaly.) Perhaps influenced by dial. scaff, one who wanders idly about, or derived ex † dial. scaff-and-raft, the rabble (EDD).

scaffold-pole. A fried potato-chip: low London:—1909 (Ware).

scag. (Uncut) heroin: drugs world: adopted, ca. 1970, ex Can., orig. US. (Donald MacKenzie, Raven in Flight, 1976.) In 6000 Words, 1976, it is defined simply as heroin, with alternative skag, and derived as prob. from earlier US s. scag, skag = a cigarette or its butt, of unknown orig. W. & F., 1975, define as 'heroin' among addicts. The etym., just possibly, blends seegar (cigar) + cig(arette).

scalawag; more gen. scallawag and (esp. in C.20) scally-wag; occ. scal(l)iwag, scallowag, skallewag, but very rarely in C.20. A ne'er-do-well or disreputable fellow; a scoundrel. (Esp. in C.20, frequently playful like rascal.) US s. (—1848), anglicised ca. 1860 and >, ca. 1910, coll. Bartlett, 1st ed.; Haliburton, 1855, 'You good-for-nothing young scallowag'; Melbourne Argus, 1870, 'Vagrants are now [in Melbourne] denominated scallowags'. The earliest recorded dates (considerably earlier ones prob. occur in unpublished letters) of the various forms are: scalawag, 1848; scallawag, 1854; scally-wag, 1864; scalliwag, 1891; scallowag, 1855; skallewag, ca. 1870. Origin problematic: I suggest that wag (a playful scamp) has, through a lost reduplication scag-wag, hence scagg-wag, >, scal(l)awag; but it is possible that the term = (scabby >) scaly wag, as applied to 'lean and ill-favoured kine', as in OED at scallywag, p.3, second quot'n; W. suggests origin in dial. scall, skin-disease. More prob., as OED suggests, cognate with, or a survival of, the † Scottish scurrywaig, a vagabond: itself perhaps ex L. scurra vagas, a wandering intruder.—2. Hence, in politics, an impostor or a rascally buffoon: 1864, Sala (OED): s. >, ca. 1890, coll.—3. Ex sense 1, in trade-union s., one (rarely of women) who will not work: 1891, in the Labour Commission glossary (OED); ob. by 1930.

scalawag, etc., as adj., dates in England from ca. 1865. In C.20, coll.

scald, n. Very hot tea (the beverage): RN ratings': C.19. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, I, 53, 'a cup of scald', and 56 'Half an hour was the time allowed to the discussion of the "scald"'. (Moe.) Cf. scaldier, 2.

scald, v. To infect venereally: coll.: late C.16–early 20. (Lit., to burn.) Cf.:

scald, adj.; scalded. Venereally infected: coll.: resp. C.17–18; C.18–20.

scald-rag. A dyer: a C.17 coll. nickname. 'Water Poet' Taylor.

scalded-cat raids. German air-raids of 1943 and earlier half of 1944: that period. Fearing invasion, the Germans were jumpy; they made numerous tip-and-run raids.

scaldex. A venereal infection, esp. a 'clap' (q.v.): low: from ca. 1810; ob. (Lex. Bal.) Cf. scalding-house, q.v.—2. Tea, the beverage: low: from ca. 1890. Sydney Watson, Wops the Waif, 1892, 'I'm good at a hoperation, I can tell yer, when it's on spot and scaldier (which being interpreted, meant cake and tea.)' Ex the heat.

scalding-house, (Cupid's). A brothel: late C.16–17: on border-line between coll. and S.E. Middleton's quot'n, cited by F. & H., makes it, however, appear as if the term had no such gen. meaning, though it may have been so used in allusively joc. S.E.

scaldings! A warning, esp. among sailors and at Winchester: 'get out of the way!' 'be off!' 'look out!' (prob.) mid-C.18–earlier 20. Alfred Burton, The Adventures of Johnny Newcome, 1818; Adam's Wykehamica. Ex cry scaldings, to announce loudly that one is carrying scaldings, i.e. boiling liquid. Cf. gangway for a naval officer, q.v.

scaldrum. A beggar: tramps' c.: mid-C.19—early 20. Prob. ex:

scaldrum-dodge. Tramps' c. of mid-C.19—early 20, as in Mayhew, 1851, London Labour, vol. 1, 'By then Peter was initiated into the scaldrum-dodge, or the art of burning the body with a mixture of acids and gunpowder, so as to suit the hues and complexions of the accident to be deplored.' Practised chiefly by 'schools of shallow coves', groups of men pretending to have escaped from shipwreck, fire, or similar perils. Prob. a perversion of scald or scalding (nn.).

scale, v. To mount a woman: coll.: C.17—20. Wentworth Smith, The Puritan, 1607.—2. To impress; to astound: low:—1887; ob. (Baumann.) Perhaps ex S.E. scale, take by escalade.—3. (Also scale off.) To run away; depart hurriedly or furtively; to disappear of one's own motion: C.20: mostly Colonial (esp. Aus.). Possibly ex scale in, (of a jockey) to be weighed after a race.—4. (?) Hence, to steal (a thing), rob (a person): NZ: C.20.—5. Hence, to swindle: Aus.: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.—6. Hence (?), to ride illicitly free on train, tram, bus: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (Baker.) In later C.20 the predominant sense, according to Wilkes.

scale-backed 'un. (Gen. pl.) A louse: low:—1923 (Manchon).

Scale 'em Corner. 'A George Street corner, near Central Station, Sydney' where appointments are not kept: since ca. 1920. (Baker.) Ex scale, 5.

scale on. To treat (someone) sarcastically: Shrewsbury: since mid-1930s. Marples.

scaler. A thief; a fraud, a swindler; in NZ, esp. one who decamps with his mates' share of the loot: c. > gen. coll., Aus. and NZ: since ca. 1920. Ex scale, 3—2. One who rides illicitly free on public transport: Aus. low > gen. coll.: since early 1920s. Ex scale, 6. B., 1942; B.P.

scales. Plain gold shoulder-straps worn by sub-lieutenants in full-dress uniform. Scales are less elaborate than the epaulettes worn by lieutenants and ranks above' (Granville): RN: C.20.

scaley, scalie. See scaly.

scaling, vbl n. The practice of illicitly riding free on a bus: Aus.: since ca. 1920.

scaliwag, scallawag, scalliwag, scallowag, scallywag. See scalawag.

scallywagging, n. Guerilla warfare: military: since 1940. (Peter Fleming, Invasion 1940, 1957.) Cf. scalawag. Prim—ob. joc.—disapproval?

scalp, n. A charm worn on a bangle: Society: 1896—1914. Ware, 'Given by young men to young girls.'

scalp, v. To buy very cheap so as to sell at less than ruling price: Stock Exchange coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E.: 1888, Pall Mall Gazette, 15 Oct. '... "Scalped" the market on a big scale for a small profit per bushel' (OED). One who does this is a scalper, which occurs in the same article; scalping arose about the same time: both coll. > S.E. not later than 1910.

scalp ticket. Return half of a train or bus ticket: Aus.: since ca. 1920. Baker.

scaly, n. A crocodile: Aus.: since ca. 1910. B., 1943:

scaly; incorrectly scaley. Shabby, poor, in poor health: late C.18—20; ob. (Southey, 1793: OED.) Ex S.E. skin-disease sense.—2. Hence, stingy: from ca. 1810; like sense 1, slightly ob. Lex Bal; Egan, 1821, 'If you are too scaly to tip for it, I'll shell out and shame you.' The sense is very common at Christ's Hospital (School) (cf. scaff, q.v.).—3. Ex senses 1 and 2, despicable: mid-C.19—20. Besant & Rice, 1875, 'If I were an author—they are a scaly lot, and thank Heaven I am not one' (OED).

scaly-back. A sailor: nautical: mid-C.19—20. (Bowen.) Perhaps suggested by scaly fish, q.v.—2. A Naval pensioner: RN: since ca. 1910. P-G-R.

scaly bloke. A thin man: NZ:—1935.

scaly fish. An 'honest, rough, blunt sailor' (Grose, 2nd ed.): late C.18—19.

scam. A (risky) scheme: low coll.: later C.20. (Camilla Raab cites R. Lindsey, The Falcon and the Snowflake, 1980.) Powis defines it as 'a long-firm fraud', whence scamming, taking part in such a fraud. Soon > loosely used, as in 'The style of his success is a clue to the meaning of the whole "new romantic" scam' (New Society, 23 Apr. 1981).

scamander. To loaf: 1860, H., 2nd ed., 'To wander about without a settled purpose.' Coll. Cf. (perhaps ex) Yorkshire dial. skimaunders (hanging about), which may—or may not!—derive ex the Classical river Scamander.

scammered. Topsy: low: ca. 1840—1930. 'Ducange Anglicus'; Carew's Autobiography of a Gipsy, 1891—the ref. being valid for the year 1845. Perhaps (scuppered on) dial. scammer, to climb or scramble.

scamp. A highway robber: 1781, Messink, 'Ye scamps, ye pads, ye divers.' Ex v., 1, q.v.—2. Hence, highway robbery (cf. scampery): 1786 (OED); like sense 1, † by 1840 or, at latest, 1850. To be done for a scamp was, in earlier C.19 c., to be convicted, esp. for highway robbery (Vaux). A royal scamp was 'A highwayman who robs civilly' (Grose, 1st ed.): c.: ca. 1780—1840.—3. A cheat or a swindler: ca. 1805—40; rather s. than c. Ex sense 1.—4. Also ex 1 is go (up) on the scamp, to rob as occasion offers: c.: ca. 1820—1910. (Bee; Baumann.) Applied to tramps and beggars, not to professional thieves.—5. In royal foot scamp, the footpad equivalent of the royal scamp in sense 2: same source and dating.

scamp, v. To be, or go out as, a highway robber: c.: ca. 1750—1840; implied, however, as early as C.16 in scampant, 'used in imitation of rampant in a rogue's burlesque coat of arms' (W.). The Discovery of John Poulter, 1753, 'I'll scamp on the panney,' i.e. go out and rob on the highway. Prob. ex scamper.—2. V.t., to rob (a person) on the highway: c.:—1812; † by 1870. Vaux.

scamper, n. See foot scamper.

scamper. To run hastily; to 'bolt': 1687 ('Facetious' Tom Brown): s. until mid-C.18, then coll. till ca. 1830, then S.E. (B.E. errs in calling it c.) Either ex scamp, v. of motion, or ex † Dutch schampen, to go away, to escape, OED; W. scamperer. A street ruffian: C.18—early 19 prob. orig. c. Steele (OED).

scamping, adj. Dishonest: ca. 1820—60: orig., prob. always, c. Bee, 1823, 'Fellows who pilfer in markets, from stalls or orchards, who snatch off hats, cheat publicans out of liquor, or toss up cheatingly—commit scamping tricks.'

scampsman. A highwayman: c.: late C.18—mid-19. (Vaux.) Ex scamp, n., 2.

Scan. 'A Scandinavian printing machine invented by a native of Stockholm': printers': from ca. 1870; ob. B. & L. Scandahoofian. See Scandihooivan.

scandal-broth, -potion, -soup, -water. Tea: coll.: resp. 1785 (Grose), 1786 (Burns), mid-C.19—mid-20 (Weekend, 2 July 1969; Petch), 1864 (H., 3rd ed.): 1st, 2nd and 4th ob. by 1900, † by 1930.

scandal-proof, adj. Applied to 'a thorough pac'd Alsatian [Q.V.] or Minter' (B.E.): prob. c.: late C.17—mid-18.

scandalous. A wig: c.: late C.17—18. B.E., Grose.

Scandihooivan, Scandinoogian, Scandiwegian. A Scandinavian: W. Can. and nautical: C.20. Scandinoogian in W. McFee, Sailors of Fortune, 1930; the other two, Bowen. John Beames has var. Scandahoofian. Cf. Scowegian.

scannag, from ca. 1850; scan-mag, from ca. 1820; Scan. mag. (or S.M.), 1779 (Sheridan). Scandal. Abbr. scandalum magnatum, an old law term for a scandal of magnates. OED.

scanties. A pair of women's knickers: from ca. 1930. Cf. panties, tighties. See quot'n at briefs, and—scants. 'Scanties' (its orig.; see prec.): mostly feminine, but applied to both female and male 'briefs': since ca. 1950. Groupie, 1968.

scanty. Allowance of bread (ca. 1870—1905): a small loaf for study tea on Sundays (since ca. 1905): Rossall School. Marples.

scapa. An occ. var. spelling of scarper. (Alan Hunter, Gently Sahib, 1964.) A folk-etymol. elab. of scarper, 1, as if Scapa Flow = (rhyming s.) go: since ca. 1918.

scapali. Var. of scaparey, q.v. at Johnny Scaparey, itself a version of scarper, 1.

scapathy. See orkneyitis.

scape. A snipe: a coll. nickname: from ca. 1860. Ex flushed snipe's cry.—2. See 2. in:

scape. 'To neglect one's brush' (Bee): artistic: ca. 1820–50.—2. N. and v. (To) escape: S.E. in Shakespeare, but by 1850 it is coll. Baumann.

scaper. An occ. var. of scarper. Mayhew; EDD.

Scarborough warning; in C.19, occ. S. surprise. A very or too short notice, or none at all: coll.: mid-C.16–20; ob. 'Proverbs' Heywood, Fuller, Grose, P.H. Emerson. 'In 1557 Thomas Stafford entered and took possession of Scarborough Castle before the townsmen were aware of his approach' (EDD).

scarce, make (one)self. To retire; to absent oneself, to disappear: coll.: since later C.18. Grose, 1st ed., 1785; Scott, 1821, 'Make yourself scarce—depart—vanish!'

scare the living daylight out of;... the pants off. To frighten badly: the 1st a var. of frighten the ..., q.v.; the 2nd, coll., since ca. 1955 (Bournemouth Echo, 25 Oct. 1967). Both are prob. euph. for scare the shit out of: low: since late C.19. From this latter derive scare shitless (or euph. spitless) and fartless: see scared...

scare up. To find, discover (e.g. scare up money): coll.: from ca. 1850. Ex shooting game.

scarecrow. 'The boy who has served [a thief] until he is well known to the police, and is so closely watched that he may as well stay at home as go out' (Greenwood, 1884): c.: later C.19.

Scarecrow Patrol, the. Coastal Command's patrol by small, single-engined Hornet Moth and Tiger Moth trainer biplanes in Sep.–Dec. 1939: RAF Coastal Command: 1939+. Ex their pathetic inadequacy to the immensity of the task.

scared fartless or shitless. Admittedly much afraid: Can., C.20; Brit. since late 1930s, the first less common in Eng. usage. The euph. var. scared spitless arose ca. 1942. See scare the living...

scaredy. A timorous person: a frightened one: Anglo-Irish: since ca. 1910. (Patrick Doncaster, A Sight for a Drum-Beat, 1947.) P.B.: also Eng. children's, as adj., esp. in the taunt for cowards: 'Nyah! Scaredy cat, fraidy cat!'

scarehead. A headline in large, thick type meant to arouse attention: journalistic coll.: ca. 1900–1920. Abbr. scare headline.

scarlet. A Mohock or aristocratic street ruffian: coll. or s.: ca. 1750–60. (J. Shebbeare, 1755: OED.) Either ex colour of dress or on blood.—2. In dye scarlet, to drink deep or hard: late C.16–early 17. Shakespeare.

scarlet beans. See sow potatoes.

scarlet countenance, wear a. To be impudent or shameless: coll.: late C.19–20. (Manchon.) Ex S.E. scarlet, (of an offender) deep-dyed.

scarlet-fever. (A) flirtation with or passion for a soldier: joc.: ca. 1860–1910. (Mayhew.) With ref. to the scarlet uniform.—2. A great admiration for soldiers: joc.: later C.19. (B. & L.) P.B.: cf. synon. Ger. Husarenfieber, lit. Hussar-fever.

scarlet horse. A hired horse: ca. 1780–1840. (Grose, 1st ed.) Punning high-red.

Scarlet Lancers. The 16th Lancers: military: from ca. 1880; ob. F. & G., 'The only British lancer regiment wearing scarlet.' Also Red Lancers.

scarlet runner. A Bow Street officer: mid-C.19. Ex the scarlet waistcoat.—2. A footman: from ca. 1860. Partly ex sense 1, partly ex the vegetable.—3. A soldier: late C.19—very early 20. (Manchon.) Also scarlet-runners, the old-fashioned red-jacketed uniform: same period. Gilbert Frankau, Peter Jackson, 1920.—4. A battalion despatch-carrier in action: army: WW1. (F. & G.) Ex his red brassard and his familiar name, runner.—5. See sow potatoes.

scarlet slugs. Tracer-fire from Bofors anti-aircraft guns: Services (esp. RAF): 1939+. H. & P., 'Apt name'. Cf. flaming onions.

Scarlet Town. Reading, Berkshire: provincial coll.: from ca. 1800; very ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Ex pronunciation.

scarper. To run away; v.t. decamp from: Parlyaree and c.; as latter, it > low Cockney ca. 1905. Selby, 1844, 'Vamoose—scarper—fly!' Ex It. scappare via Lingua Franca. See also scapa.—2. On the stage, it = to leave a play without notice: from ca. 1900.

scarper the letty. To leave one's lodgings without paying: mid-C.19–20: Parlyaree >, by 1900, theatrical. Ex scarper, 1.

scarve. A finger-ring: Parlyaree: late C.19–20. (Lester.) Not from any Italian word, but app.—this is a mere guess—a Parlyaree'd shape of an Eng. term, scarf-ring.

scat, n. Man employed to push barrows at Billingsgate Fish Market: C.20. Observer mag., 17 Jan. 1982, p. 28.

scat! (Usu. imperative.) Go away!: coll.: 1869 (OED). Hence, occ. as joc. v.i. As scram is an abbr. of S.E. scramble, so prob. is scat an abbr. of S.E. scatter.—2. In the RAF (1939+), to take off in a hurry. Partridge, 1945.

scats. An occ. var. of scatty, as 'She drives me scats': mid-C.20. (P.B.)

scatter, esp. in imperative. To go (away); move quickly: coll.: C.20. Prob. influenced by scat! 1. P.B.: if so, then it would be a re-lengthening. I propose a military influence, from the command to a bunch of men under fire.—2. To urinate: low: from ca. 1860. (B. & L.) Cf. scatters.

scatter-gun. A shot-gun: coll.; US. (ca. 1870), anglicised ca. 1920. Passing Show, 24 Dec. 1932.

scatters, the. Diarrhoea; get the scatters, to feel very nervous: RN: C.20. ('Taffrail', The Sub, 1917.) See scatter, 2, and cf. synon. skitters and squitters.

scatty. Crazy, feather-brained; slightly mad: lower classes' > gen. coll.: C.20. (J.W. Horsley, I Remember, 1912.) In W.H. Davis, Beggars, 1909, the sense appears to be rather that of 'short-tempered', as if from scotty; but the gen. sense is perhaps ex scatter-brained: cf. Derbyshire scattle (scattel), easily frightened (EDD).

scavenge. To clean up a mess: Public Schools': from ca. 1920.—2. To cadge money, or to thieve in a petty way: Aus.: since ca. 1925. B., 1942.

scavenger's daughter. An instrument of torture: coll.: C.17. (Afterwards, merely historical.) Journals of the House of Commons, 14 May 1604. On Skevington's (or Skeffington's) torture, the technical S.E. term being Skevington's gyves (1564) or irons. Invented ca. 1545 by Leonard Skevington (or Skeffington), Lieutenant of the Tower of London.

scavenging party. In society s. of 1932–34, thus in Ronald Knox, The Body in the Silo, 1933, "'A scavenging party—what on earth's that?'" 'Miles, dear, don't be old-fashioned. A scavenging party is when you go round in cars picking up tramps and feeding them fish and chips...; or collecting sandwich-boards and doorscrapers and things like that. All the brightest young people do it.'" scavey. See savvy.

scawfer. See scoffer.

scawp, v.t. To hit or strike: market-traders': C.20. (M.T.) Var. of Yorkshire dial. scalp, 'To beat about the head; to flog' (EDD).

scellum. See skellum.

scenario. An ephemeral elab. of the next: mid-1970s.

scene. 'Something that's happening or the place where it's happening' (Victoria, BC, Daily Colonist, 16 Apr. 1959, 'Basic Beatnik'): Can. jazz-lovers' and musicians': since ca. 1955. Adopted, ca. 1962, in Britain by jazz musicians and devotees, by drug addicts, by beatniks and then hippies, for the 'world' comprised by those three classes or for 'any specific part of it' (Peter Fryer in Observer colour sup., 3 Dec. 1967).—2. In the underworld, the scene of a crime, the set-up of a burglary or a hold-up: by 1964 at latest. James Barlow, The Burden of Proof, 1968.—3. Hence, the performers, the active participants: raffish London: since ca. 1964. Ibid.—4. The favoured setting or milieu or activity of a group of people or even of an individual: adopted, ca. 1966, ex US; ob. by 1980. Often in negative, as 'I'm afraid jolly little church parties are not my scene', 'Ski-ing isn't my scene'.—5. Hence, a way of life; an attitude: since ca. 1967. Paul Janssen cites the song 'Getting Better', included in the Beatles' album 'Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band', released 1 June 1967.

scene-rat. A supernumerary in ballet or pantomime: theatrical: from ca. 1880; ob.

scene-shifter. The nickname of a big gun in action on the Arras sector in 1917: military; now only historical. (F. & G.) Its shells displaced much earth.

scenery. Up to the minute in appearance, habits, practices: mid-late 1960s. Groupie, 1968, 'It was all very trendy and scenery at Theo's.' While trendy has remained, 1983, 'Trendy'—scenery has not.

scent, on the. On the road; travelling about: show- and circus-men's: from ca. 1865. B. & L.

scent-bottle. A water-closet: euphemistic s. (—1887); † by 1920. Baumann.

scent-box. The nose: pugilistic: from ca. 1825; virtually †. Cf. smeller.

sceptre; in C.18, occ. scepter. A sceptred gold unite: coll.: C.18–20; in mid-C.19–20, virtually S.E. In 1736, Folkes writes, 'Sovereigns or Unites [properly unites], vulgarly called Scepters.' OED.

scew. See skew.

schack-stoner. See shack-stoner.

sch- and sh-. Sch- seems to be the gen. expected spelling in Britain for terms adopted ex Yiddish—and correctly so if directly ex German via Yiddish—and for mock-Yiddish expressions. However, because of the arbitrary and piecemeal way in which this Dictionary has grown over the past half-century, entries are almost randomly split between the two forms sch- and sh-, according to the spelling in which they were first met by the compiler. If a word of this sort is not found immediately below, please see also under sh-, which, it should be noted, is the spelling preferred by Leo Rosten in his highly recommendable study of Yiddish in America. The Joys of Yiddish, 1968.

schainer yid. 'An honest and absolutely trustworthy Jewish man (Yiddish)' (Powis): Londoners': later C.20. Leo Rosten (see prec.) spells it shayner.

scheisspot. 'A person of low character' (Muover): Cockneys': later C.20. Cf. more 'conventional' Eng. shitbag. Ex Yiddish, but cf. shicer, 2, q.v.

scheme. A collection of the questions likely to be asked in the various subjects of examination: universities': ca. 1775–1810. Gentleman's Magazine, 1780 (OED).—2. A practical joke at Winchester, ca. 1840–1910. Wrench, 'The candle on reaching a measured point ignites paper, which by burning a string releases a weight; this falls on the head of the boy to be waked.' Cf. old S.E. scheme, 'a party of pleasure' (Grose), and the more relevant dial. sense, an amusement.

schemozzle. See shemozzle.

schfatzter. A fellow, a chap: c.: since ca. 1930. (Norman.) 'Refers esp. to an old or, at the least, elderly man and is a misshapen form of the Yiddish word for "father"' (Julian Franklyn). R.S., on the other hand, writes, 1967: 'This appears to come from Standard German "Schwatzter"—chatter-box, bore, gas-bag, blatherskite.'

schice(r). See shice(r).

schickster; schickse. See shickster.

schill. See shill.

schimpf. To complain, to grouse: army, esp. and orig. among troops stationed in W. Germany: prob. since 1945. Hence, be schimpfed, to be 'miffed', irritated, peeved. An adaptation of Ger. schimpfen, to revile, abuse. (P.B.)

ship. Wine: S. African c.: C.20; by 1945, low s. 'Prob. from a brand of sherry—"Ship Sherry"' (C.P. Wittstock, letter, 1946).

schism-shop. A nonconformist place of worship: Anglican pej. coll.: late C.18–20. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Cf. heresy-shop, q.v.

schitt. A goal at football: Winchester: ca. 1830–60. (Wrench.)

Prob. ex shot.

1018

schitz or schiz or sclitz or skiz. A schizophrenic: since the late 1920s. (Zenia Field, Under Lock and Key, 1963.) Cf. next entry.

schizo. A schizophrenic: psychologists', esp. psychiatrists' coll.: since ca. 1925. Nigel Balchin, Mine Own Executioner, 1945.

schlemiel, schlemihl, shlemiel. A booby; a slightly pitiable 'twit': Jewish coll., with some more widespread use: late C.19–20. Ex Yiddish.

schlemozzle. See shemozzle.

schlent, n. An impostor: c.: from ca. 1921. Pawnshop Murder. Ex-schlent, v.i. To double-cross; to be evasive for illicit ends: c.: from ca. 1920. (Ibid.) Ex-schlenter. Dubious, untrustworthy; makebelieve: S. African (diamond fields): from ca. 1890: c. >, by 1900, low s. The Comtesse de Brémont, The Gentleman Digger, 1891.—2. Whence, as a n.: imitation gold: 1898 (Cape Argus, weekly ed., 16 Mar.).—3. (Also n., only in pl.) Imitation diamonds: 1899 (Griffith, Knives of Diamonds). Senses 2, 3 were prob., at first, c. Pettman gives no etym.: the term derives ex Dutch slenter, a trick (OED Sup.).

schlep, shlep, v.t. and v.i. To move or travel laboriously; to carry or transport laboriously. Ex Yiddish schlep or schlepen, to drag. Also n., a clumsy or inept person. The v. is Brit.; the n. is Am., whence also Brit. (Based on a note from Robert Claiborne, Sep. 1977.)

schlepper-in. A barker (see barker, 3): orig. and mainly Jewish: C.20. Via Yiddish ex Ger. schleppen, to tug, haul, hence to tout for customers. (R.S.)

schlixer. A clasp-knife: c. (or low): ca. 1820–1910. (Bee; Baumann.) Ex chive, q.v.

schlocky. Adj. derived ex schlock (see next entry) to mean shoddy and used, loosely, as gen. pej. as in 'A wonderful scarf... On one side—beautiful, witty, perfect—was a Breughel reproduced on fine wool. On the other—campy, tacky, schlocky—were Lurex stripes' (Peter York, Harpers & Queen, Oct. 1976). P.Y. also puns schlock horror on the media cliché shock horror, current since mid-1970s. (P.B.)

schlog (or slog) it on. To raise the price extortionately: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (B., 1942.) 'A literal translation of Standard Ger. auf den Preis schlagen—clap the price on, hence push the price up' (R.S.). However, Claiborne suggests, 1966, 'Probably from schlock (Yiddish)=shoddy, overpriced "It's the biggest schlock house on Seventh Avenue"—J. Weidner, I Can Get It for You Wholesale, c. 1940.'

schmal(t)z, n. and adj. (Something) entirely satisfactory, notably if it exhibits panache and esp. of a performance, as in 'Gee, that's schmalz!': theatrical, mostly in Variety: adopted, ca. 1957, ex US, but drastically adapted from the orig. sense of the n., which means 'sweetly sentimental music or song or performance'—a sense current, since ca. 1955, in Britain also. (Richard Merry.) Ex Yiddish schmaltz, 'chicken fat, used for cooking, hence greasy, slick' (W. & F.) Hence the adj. schmal(t)z, sweetly and excessively sentimental. Also schmaltzy, as adj.

Schmitter. A Messerschmitt aircraft (a German fighter): Services: WW2.

schmock. A fool: c. and low s.: since ca. 1910. 'Yiddish for "fool", is used in a particularly derogatory way, and has variant schmuck' (Julian Franklyn); its lit. Yiddish meaning is 'penis'—cf., therefore, the low 'you stupid prick!' Note that Yiddish schmuck, orig. 'jewel' or 'ornament', has been adopted from Ger. Schmuck. (Leonard Goldstein, 1967.)—2. Heroin: drugs world: later C.20. (Sean McConville, in The State of the Language, 1980.) Also spelt shmuck (Home Office). Cf. sense 1, and synon. smack, prob. a var.

schmo(e). A foolish or very naive person, hence anyone objectionable to the speaker: adopted, ca. 1959, ex US. It seems to be a contrived word; mock-Yiddish. (W. & F.) Perhaps, however, ex Yiddish: cf. prec.: 1. R.S. adds, 1967, 'Ca. 1950 in the U.S., there was a comic strip featuring small, armless, pear-shaped bipeds called Schmoos. They were simple, amiable, and everlastingly "put upon."

schmuck. See schmock, 1.

schmutter. 'Clothing, or rags, or rubbish (Yiddish), but especially a suit: "That's a nice schmutter you've got"' (Powis): London.

schnifter. Occ. † var. of snifter, 1, a drink. Henry Holt, Murder at the Bookstall, 1934.

schnoink. 'Unpleasant and insulting term used by a non-Jew for a Jew (not a Yiddish or Hebrew word)' (Powis): low: later C.20. Cf. shonk, q.v.

schnorrer. A Jewish beggar: Yiddish coll.: 1892 (Zangwill). Ex schmurren, to beg. OED.

schnozzle. A nose: adopted, in Brit. and Can., ex US ca. 1940. Can. also took the elab. schnozzola, while Brit. preferred the US abbr. schnozz. Popularised in UK by the famous American comedian with the very prominent nose, Jimmy 'Schnozzle' Durante, † 1980. Ex Ger. Schnauze, an animal's snout or muzzle (W. & F.).

schofel or -ful. See shoful.

schol. A scholar: Harrow: mid-C.19–20.—2. A scholarship: late C.19–20, ibid.; in C.20, gen. school term. Cf. schols, q.v.

scholar. 'In illiterate use, one whom the speaker regards as exceptionally learned,' mid-C.17–20. 'Often merely, one who is able to read and write,' C.19–20. (OED.) Not s. but coll.—2. In as good a scholar as my horse Ball, no scholar at all: a coll., semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1630–70. John Clarke, 1639.

scholarld, schollard. A scholar: resp. C.19–20 C.16–20: low coll. > ca. 1850, sol. Also in senses indicated at scholar, q.v.

schols. (Often without article: e.g., in for schols.) A scholarship examination: schools' (orig. Public Schools'): C.20. Cf. schol, 2, q.v.

school. A number or a group of persons met together in order to gamble: from ca. 1810; perhaps orig. c. > low s. ca. 1880. (Vaux.) Cf. schooling, 2, q.v.—2. Hence, a 'mob' or gang of thieves or beggars: mostly c. (in C.20, however, s.): mid-C.19–20. (Mayhew.) The term may apply to four, three, or even two persons. See quot'n at scaldrum-dodge.

—3. Prison: convicts', hence crooks': late C.19–20. Perhaps esp. in at school, in prison, as in Frederick Manning, Her Privates We, 1930. Cf. schooling, 1.—4. A regular gathering of the same 'serious' drinkers: messes', pubs', etc.: C.20. (P.B.) School board will be after you!, the. Take care!: London lower classes': ca. 1881–1900. Ware.

School-Board worrier. A school-inspector: London teachers':—1887; † by 1920. Baumann.

school-butter. A flogging: C.17–19. Pasquill's Jests, 1604; B.E.; Grose, 1st ed. (Apperson.)

School for Heavy Needlework, His or Her Majesty's. Prison: cultured joc.: mid-C.20. Cf. synon. ironmongery department.

school of Venus. A brothel: coll.: late C.17–19. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.; Baumann.

School of Wind, the. The RN School of Music: RN: since ca. 1920. P-G-R.

School-Street. The University: Oxford University coll.: C.18–early 19.

schoolgirl complexion, that. A c.p. dating from ca. 1923; P.G. Wodehouse has the phrase in Ukridge, 1924. Ex the inspired advertisement-poster by Palmolive Soap. Collinson.

schoolie, y, n. An education officer: orig. army, where coll. for official 'Army schoolmaster', since ca. 1890; thence to RN, ca. 1920 (Granville), and RAF, ca. 1930 (Partridge, 1945). During WW2 and National Service years, ca. 1939–62, applied very widely to the NCOs of the Royal Army Education Corps (P.B.).—2. A schoolteacher, of either sex: Aus. coll.: C.20. Wilkes's first quot'n is dated 1907, for a girl teacher.—3. A school—as opp. to a house—prefect: Scottish Public Schools': from ca. 1880. Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.

schoolie, v.t. To inflict a prefects' beating on (a boy): Scottish Public Schools': C.20. (Ian Miller, School Tie, 1935.) Ex n., 3. schooling. A term of confinement in a reformatory: c.: —1879; ob.—2. 'A low gambling party' (H., 1859): c. >, ca.

1890, low s. See school, 1.—3. Hence, a, or the, playing of pitch and toss: c.:—1888; slightly ob. by 1930.

schoolman. A fellow-member of a 'school' (q.v.): c. or low s.: 1834 (Ainsworth); ob. by 1930.

schoolmaster. (Gen. in training other horses) a horse good at jumping: stables' coll.: late C.19–20. Prob. ex S.E. sense, the leader of a school of fishes; esp. of a bull whale.—2. schoolmaster, bilk the. See bilk.

school's (or the school's) out. A c.p., referring to a sudden crowd: C.20.

schooly. See schoolie.

schooner; frigate; full master. Among youths, new-comer; handy fellow; passed master in navigation: RN: late C.19–early 20. Ware.

schooner on the rocks. 'A cooked joint surrounded by potatoes' (Bowen): RN: late C.19–20. ('Taffrail'). An occ. var. is schooner on a rock, as in Birmingham Mail, 24 Feb. 1939. Defined by Sidney Knock, Clear Lower Decks, 1932, as 'meat sunk into Yorkshire pudding'.

schooner orgy; hermaphrodite brig; bastard brig. A coaster: nautical, esp. RN: from ca. 1860. (B. & L.) 'More strictly, s. for a brigantine, a vessel having a brig's foremast... and a schooner's mainmast... Such vessels were often used in the coastal trade' (R.S.).

schooner-rigged. Destitute: sailing-ships': late C.19–20; ob. Bowen.—2. Hence, not wearing a full, good set of trawler deck-hands' gear: trawlermen's coll.: C.20. 'Certain hands used to go to sea "schooner-rigged"—one of the differences between a schooner and a square-rigged vessel is that the schooner needs less canvas to drive her' (Steven Piper, The North Ships, 1974).

schuffle-hunter. See shuffle-hunter.

schwartz(e), schwarz, swartzer. A Negro; an Indian or Pakistani; loosely, a half-caste: since ca. 1950: low s., perhaps orig. c. (Frank Norman, Encounter, 1959, the 1st spelling; the 3rd in G.F. Newman, Sir, You Bastard, 1970.) Via Yiddish ex German schwarz, black. 'Put in the schwarzes and de-stait it'—rid the property of stats or statutory tenants (Sunday Times, 7 July 1963).

schwassle-box. See swatchel-box.

schwaya or shwaya. Small or insignificant; as n., a small quantity, a little: army in N. Africa: 1940–3. 'He's a schwaya job'—'Give me a schwaya more char'. Ex the Arabic suqair. (P-G-R.) Also spelt shwaiya, and prob. in Service use, esp. army and RAF, since ca. 1925; ob. with the withdrawal from Middle East, ca. 1955. Esp. in stand a shwaiya, stanishwiya, wait a moment. (L.A.; P.B.) sciatic. A sciatic nerve: medical coll.: 1919. E.F. Brett Young, The Young Physician.

science. As the science, boxing or, as in Dickens (1837) fencing: from ca. 1830: s. >, ca. 1870, coll. (OED.) Cf. profession, the, q.v. Hence blind(ed) with science and dazzle with science, qq.v.

scientific. A scientist: coll.: 1830 (Lyell); De Morgan. Slightly ob. OED.

scientifics. Scientific matters: low coll.: ca. 1840–70. Lover (OED).

scissor-bill. A nagging, gossiping, and otherwise objectionable woman: low:—1931 (OED Sup.). Ex the bird so named.

scissor-grinder. An engine-room artificer: RN: C.20, 'Taffrail', Carry On!, 1916; Bowen.

scissorean operation. Gutting a book: literary: ca. 1890–1915. On Caesarean operation.

scissors!; oh, scissors! Indicative of disgust or impatience: 1843 (Selby); ob. by 1930. P.B.: perhaps, like sugar! used thus, euph. for shit!; but cf. —2. In give (someone) scissors, to treat drastically, pay out: mid-C.19–early 20. ?Ex cut up.

scissors-grinder or razor-grinder or merely grinder; occ., dish-lick. The bird known as the Restless Flycatcher: Aus.: late C.19–20. (B., 1943.) Scissor-grinder was E. Anglian dial. term for the night-jar or churn-owl (EDD).

scoach. Rum: army: late C.19–early 20. P.B.: perhaps a perversion of 'Scotch'—not whisky, but see also scooch. scobolotcher. 'An undergraduate walking round a quadrangle hands in pocket and deep in thought' (John Moore, as reported in the Bournemouth Daily Echo, 21 Apr. 1956). J.M. was no doubt quoting, for as scobberlotcher it occurs in Aubrey's 'Life' of Dr Ralph Kettell (1563–1643), President of Trinity College, Oxford. (Aubrey died in 1697. The Lives were deposited in the Ashmolean in 1692. R.S.) Dr Kettell applied it to undergraduates acting in this way, but also counting the trees in 'The Grove'. (With thanks to R.S.) The OED attempts no etym. but does compare the N. Country and E. Anglian scopperloit, scoppolait, a time of idleness or of play, and the rare scoterlope, to wander aimlessly.

scoff, n. Food: S. African coll.: 1856 (the Rev. F. Fleming, Southern Africa: Pettman); 1879, Atcherley. Ex Cape Dutch: see the v. P.B.: very common among army Other Ranks, since mid-C.20 at latest; e.g. 'What's for scoff?'—what is there to be eaten? Cf.:—2. Hence, a meal: id.: late C.19–20. The term, ca. 1890, > gen. among tramps and sailors, often as scorf Cf.:

scoff; often scorf; in S. Africa, gen. skoff. V.t. To eat voraciously: s. (—1864) and dial. (1849). H., 3rd ed. Prob. ex dial. scaff.—2. Hence, modified by S. African usage (see scoff, n.), v.t., simply to eat: from ca. 1880: outside of S. Africa, nautical (W. Clark Russell, 1883) and military.—3. Occ., but seldom after ca. 1920, v.i.: late C.19–20 and rare outside S. Africa. But this may be the primary sense, as we see from Lady Barnard's South African Journal, 1798, '[The Boer] concludes that the passengers want to scoff (to eat)': see W.—4. (Ex sense 1.) To seize; to plunder: 1893, Kipling, 'There's enough [goldleaf] for two first-rates, and I've scoffed the best half of it' (OED).—5. To kill or otherwise dispose of: army: C.20. (P-G-R.) Ex senses 1 and 4.

scoffer; occ. scawfer. Gold or silver plate: c.: mid-C.19–20; ob. 'Gipsy' Carew: a ref. that is valid for 1845.—2. Hence, a (single) plate: vagrants' c.: C.20.

scold. A scolding: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1725; ob. except in Scots.

scold, v.i. To be constantly uttering reproofs: coll.: mid-C.18–20.

scoldrum (dodge). A var. of scaldrum (dodge).

scold's cure. A coffin: low: ca. 1810–60. (Lex. Bal.) Esp. nap the s.c., be confined.

scollogue. To live or act dissipatedly, wildly: low:—1857; † by 1900. ('Ducange Anglicus'.) Perhaps ex scalawag, q.v.

scolpendra. A harlot: ca. 1630–1700. (D'Avenant.) Ex sting in centipede's tail.

sconce, n. The head; esp. the crown of the head: 1567 (Damon and Pythias); Thackeray. Perhaps ex sconce, a fort, or its Dutch original, schans.—2. Hence, wit, sense, judgement, ability: coll.: mid-C.17–20; ob.—3. Occ. the person himself: coll.: ca. 1570–1750. Kendall, 1577 (OED).—4. In do (one's) sconce, to become extremely annoyed or angry: NZ servicemen's: ca. 1944+. Slatter, 'I'll do my sconce proper'. Cf. senses 1 and 2, and semantically do (one's) nut.—5. In build a sconce, 'To run a score at an ale-house' (Bailey: 1730); 'run deep upon tick' (B.E. defining build a large sconce). There is often the connotation of lack of intention to pay the account, for Grose, 1785, defines it as 'a military term for bilking one's quarters'. Ca. 1640, Shirley; Tom Brown; Goldsmith. † by 1840. Ex sconce, a (small) fort.

sconce, v. To fine, mulct: university (orig.—see Minsheu, 1617—and mainly Oxford): C.17–20. Until C.19, of officials fining undergraduates; in C.19–20, of undergraduates fining one of themselves (gen. a tankard of ale) for a breach of manners or convention. Randolph, 'Honours of Oxford' Miller, Colman the Elder, 'C. Bede.' Perhaps ex sconce, n., 1 (via 'so much a head').—2. (Gen. sconce off.) To reduce (the amount of a bill, etc.): coll.: 1768 (Footo); † by 1910. Occ. to sconce one's diet, to eat less: coll. (very ob.): C.19–20.—3. V.i. and v.t. to hinder; get in the way (of): Winchester, mainly in games (e.g. a catch at cricket): late C.19–20. (Public School Magazine, Dec. 1899.) Prob. ex prec. sense.

sconce off; sconce (one's) diet. See sconce, v., 2.

sconcing is the vbl n. of sconce, v., all senses. Very gen. scone, n. Odds of 20 to 1: racing, esp. bookmakers'. (Sunday Telegraph, 7 May 1967.) Why? Or is it merely a misprint for score?—2. (Pron. skon.) A detective: Aus., shortened rhyming s., hot scone=John, a policeman: since ca. 1920. B., 1942.

—3. The head: Aus.: since ca. 1930. Often go off (one's) scone, as in D'Arcy Niland, 1958. Hence suck your scone in!, pull your 'scone' in!—stop talking nonsense: Aus.: since ca. 1950. (Culotta.) See also sconer, sconce, 4, and—scone, v. To hit (someone) on the top of the head: Aus.: since ca. 1935. Ex scone, n., 3. (B.P.)

scone-hot, adj. and adv. An intensive, whether favourable ('He's scone-hot at cricket'), unfavourable ('unreasonable; extortionate'), or neutral ('Go for someone scone-hot'—vigorously): Aus.: since ca. 1925. (Baker.) Newly baked scones are both hot and delicious. P.B.: Wilkes's quot'ns at this entry, from 1944 onwards, make it clear that the phrase is go (someone) scone hot, rather than Baker's go for...

sconer. 'Any skull-threatening bumper' (Ray Robinson, Between Wickets, 1946): Aus. cricketers': since ca. 1925. Ex Aus. s. scone, the head (C.20).

scooch. Spirituous liquor(s): RN (Bowen) and, occ., army: early C.20. A blend of scotch + hooch? Cf. scoach.

scoodyn. The fouling of a ship's bottom': nautical coll.: C.19–20; ob. (Bowen.) Possibly by antiphrasis ex dial. scud, to clean, scrape clean; but prob. ex Shetlands dial. scovin, crust adhering to 'a vessel in which food has been cooked' (EDD).

scoop, n. Male hair worn low and flat on the forehead: army: ca. 1880–90. Ware.—2. In on the scoop, on the drink; engaged in dissipation: 1884 (OED).—3. News obtained (and, of course, printed) in advance of a rival newspaper: journalistic: orig. US, anglicised ca. 1890: s. >, ca. 1920, coll.—4. In the money-market, a sudden reduction of prices enabling operators to buy cheaply and to profit by the ensuing (carefully planned) rise: Stock Exchange: orig. (—1879) US, anglicised ca. 1890: after ca. 1920, coll.—5. An advantage, a (big) 'haul', a very successful or, more properly, a lucky stroke in business: 1893 (Kipling); Daily Chronicle, 27 July 1909, 'Her engagement... at the Palace is a big "scoop"' (OED). This last sense follows ex nos 3, 4, which, in their turn, derive ex the S.E. sense, an act of scooping.—6. In singing, the attack on a commencing note 'by way of a chromatic slide from the "fourth" below': coll.:—1911 (OED Sup.).

scoop, v. (Gen. scoop in, occ. scoop up.) To obtain (a lot of money), make a big 'haul' of; to appropriate in advance: orig. (ca. 1880) US, anglicised ca. 1890. Ex S.E. sense, to heap up by means of a scoop.—2. (Occ. scoop out.) To get the better of (a rival) by anticipating him or by obtaining what he has failed to obtain: journalistic: orig. US, anglicised ca. 1890. Elizabeth Banks, The Newspaper Girl, 1902, 'Miss Jackson... [is] going to print it in to-morrow's paper, and I shall be scooped.' (OED).

scoop in. To persuade (a person) to participate: nautical: from ca. 1915. Hamish Maclaren, The Private Opinions of a British Blue-Jacket, 1929.—2. See scoop, v., 1.

scoop out. See scoop, v., 2.

scoop the pool. To make a 'killing': financial coll.: C.20. Ex gambling.

See scoop, v., 1.

scoot, n. occ. skoot or skute. A scooting (see the v.): s. and dial. from ca. 1860. Esp. in do a scoot, run away, late C.19–20, and on the scoot, on the run (lit. and fig.), 1864.—2. 'A continued bout of drunkenness' (Truth, 27 Apr. 1924): Aus. Hence (get or go) on the scoot, (to go) on the spree, on a drinking-bout: Aus., since ca. 1930; by ca. 1940 also NZ (Slatter). Wilkes. Cf. scoop, n., 2.

scoot, v.; occ.—though, as to the n., very rarely in C.20.—skoot, skute; skewt seems to have remained US. (Gen. with about, along, away, off, round, etc., as adv.) To go (away) hurriedly or with sudden speed: orig. (ca. 1840) US; anglicised ca. 1860: s. until ca. 1910, then coll. Quarterly Review, 1869, 'The laugh of the gull as he scoots along the shore.' Ex the mainly nautical s. scoot, to dart, move quickly: see scoot, v., 1.—2. Loosely, to go, to depart: C.20. Collinson.

scoot-train. An express train: late C.19—early 20. Ex scoot, n., but see v.

scooter. One who goes with sudden swiftness or hurriedly: dial. (—1825) and (from ca. 1860) s. >, ca. 1910, coll. See scoot, v.—2. A coastal motor-boat: from 1915, when introduced as a defence-measure: RN coll. (Bowen.) Ex scoot, v., q.v.—3. A single-deck bus; a one-man-operated bus: busmen's: since ca. 1945. Prob. derog., ex the children's toy.

scope. A telescope; a periscope: since ca. 1910; by 1940, coll.—2. A cystoscope (used in examining the bladder): medical students':—1933 (Slang, p. 190).—3. An oscilloscope: technicians': since ca. 1940. (B.P.) scorch, n. A very fast run on (motor-) cycle or motor-car: 1885 (OED): coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. Ex:

scorch, v.1. To ride a bicycle, drive a car, etc., at considerable or very great speed: coll. (—1891) >, ca. 1905, S.E. Implied in n. and in scorcher.

scorched earth. Destruction of everything that might be useful to an advancing enemy: 1937 (SOD): coll. >, by 1943, S.E.

scorcher. A furious propeller of cycle or car (etc.): 1885 (OED): coll. Daily Telegraph, 7 Jan. 1901, 'The police have been keeping a sharp look-out for scorchers.' Ex the v.—2. An exceedingly hot day: coll.: 1874 (OED). Often a regular scorcher.—3. Any thing or person severe, notably eccentric, deplorably hasty; a scathing remark, vigorous attack, etc.: orig. schoolboys': 1885 (Hawley Smart).—4. Hence, a sensation-causer, habitual or incidental, deliberate or unintentional: 1899 (Conan Doyle: OED); ob.—5. A rotten potato: greengrocers':—1887 (Baumann).

scorching, n. Furious riding (of cycle) or driving (of car, etc.): from ca. 1890: coll. till ca. 1905, then S.E. Ex scorch, v. scorching, adj. Very hot; esp., immoral or indelicate: coll.: 1897 (Referee, 24 Oct.).

scorching your eyes out! See rise and shine!

scorchy. Discoloured: Christ's Hospital (School) coll.: since ca. 1840. Marples. Ex scorched.

score, n. The gaining of a point or points in games: coll.: from ca. 1840.—2. Hence, a notable or successful 'hit' in debate, argument, or keen business: likewise coll.: from ca. 1890. Cf. the v.—3. The sum of £20: c.: late C.19—20. George Ingram, Stir, 1933.—4. 'The number of drinks consumed or the bill to be paid' (H. & P.): Services coll.: since ca. 1915. Ex sense 1.—5. A successful operation: c., esp. pickpockets'; hence, a likely victim: id. Both since late 1940s. Brian Moynahan, The Sunday Times, 11 May 1969.—6. See what's the score?

score, v. To gain (a success): from ca. 1880: coll. Cf. score off.—2. To buy or otherwise obtain drugs, esp. if unexpectedly: adopted, ca. 1955, ex US. John Wyatt, 1973.—3. To achieve intercourse with (also as v.i., to copulate): orig., ca. 1950, the underground, e.g. the 'pop' groups, as in Groupie, 1968, 'Groupies like to tell other groupies who they've scored and what they're like.' Either ex sense 1 or elliptical for score with. The later C.20 Aus. (male) version is score between the posts (A. Buzo, 1973): ex football (Wilkes).

score a bull with (one's) first sighter. 'To effect conception in a single act of intercourse ... Current among undergraduates ca. 1920, hence presumably WW1 or earlier. Army or other marksmen's' (R.S., who adds: 'In competition shooting, a preliminary non-scoring shot is allowed, to check the calibration of the rifle').

score off. To achieve a success over, make a point at the expense or to the detriment of (gen. a person): coll.: 1882, 'Lucas Malet', 'For once she felt she had scored off her adversary' (OED). Ex scoring at games: cf. the n., sense 1.

scorf. See scoff. (A low var., more frequent of the v. than the n.)

scorny; occ. scoreney. Scornful: low coll.: 1836 (Haliburton). Also Cornish dial. (EDD).

scorp. A late C.19—20 Services' abbr. of the next, sense 1. Bowen.

scorpion. A civilian native inhabitant of Gibraltar: military: 1845. Also, from ca. 1870, as in H.M. Field, 1889, 'A choice variety of natives of Gibraltar, called "Rock scorpions"' (OED). Ex the scorpions that infest the Rock of Gibraltar. See Rock and cf. Gib.—2. A very youthful actor or actress, whose advice and remarks are of little use: theatrical:—1909 (Ware.) There is no sting in his tale.

Scot. A very irritable or quickly angered person: from ca. 1810; slightly ob. Vaux; Bee, 1823, shows that, orig. at least, it may have been a butchers' term, 'the small Scots oxen coming to their doom with little resignation to fate.'

—2. Hence, gen. scot, a temper, or passion of irritation: 1859 (H., 1st ed.). Cf. scotty and scottish, adj., and paddy, n., qq.v.

Scotch or (though very rare in C.19) scotch. (A drink of) Scotch whisky: from ca. 1885: coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. 'Pomes' Marshall, 'He had started well on Scotches'.—2. A leg: abbr. Scotch peg, q.v.—3. (Usu. in pl scotches.) A police—esp. a CID—detective: c.: since ca. 1945; hence, also, since ca. 1950, police s. (John Dickson Carr, Patrick Butler for the Defence, 1956.)? Ex Scotland Yard, or some obscure rhyming s.

Scotch, adj. Mean (of persons); ungenerous (of acts): coll.: C.19—20. Esp. be Scotch, as in 'He's (or He must be) Scotch.' (The Scot's, like the Jew's, meanness is actually apocryphal.) Ex following combinations.

Scotch bait. A halt and a rest on one's staff as practised by pedlars: coll.: ca. 1780—1850. Grose, 1st ed.

Scotch bed, make a. To fold blankets into the form of a sleeping-bag: Forces': since ca. 1918. Economical conservation of heat. (L.A.)

Scotch bum. A kind of (dress-)bustle: coll.: C.17. Dekker & Webster.

Scotch by absorption. Not of Scottish extraction, yet fond of Scotch: since ca. 1930.

Scotch casement. A pillory: late C.18—mid-19.

Scotch chocolate. Brimstone and milk: coll.: ca. 1780—1850. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

Scotch coffee. Hot water flavoured with burnt biscuit: from ca. 1860; ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Orig. and mainly nautical; prob. suggested by S. chocolate.

Scotch eggs. (Female) legs: rhyming s.: since ca. 1950. (Haden-Guest, 1972.) Cf. Scotch peg.

Scotch fashion, answer. To reply to a question by asking another (à la Jésus): coll.: 1834 (Michael Scott, The Cruise of the Midge); slightly ob. by 1930.

Scotch fiddle. The itch: coll.: 1675 (Rochester); ob. by 1930. Also Welch (welsh) fiddle. Hence:—2. In play the Scotch fiddle, 'To work the index finger of one hand like a fiddle-stick between the index and middle finger of the other': coll.: ca. 1820—1920. (H., 2nd ed.) To do this 'provokes a Scotchman in the highest degree, it implying that he is afflicted with the itch' (H.).

Scotch (occ. Scots) Greys or greys. Body lice: C.19—early 20. (Egan's Grose; H., 2nd ed.) Punning the regiment. Hence, headquarters of the Scotch Greys, a lousy head: from ca. 1820 (ob.) (Egan's Grose); ob. by 1930. See full march...

Scotch hobby. A scrubby little Scotch horse: coll.: C.17—early 19. B.E.

Scotch or (mid-C.19—20) Scottish mist. Rain: coll.: 1589, Anon., Pap with a Hatchet; 'Phraseologia' Robertson, 1681; Grose, 1st ed., 'A sober soaking rain; a Scotch mist will wet an Englishman to the skin'; Scott. (Apperson).—2. A sarcastic c.p. of the Services (esp. the RAF), implying that one is either 'seeing things' or failing to see things he ought to see: since ca. 1925. H. & P., 1943; Partridge, 1945, "'Can't you see my tapes? What do you think they are—Scotch mist?'" Sometimes fog is used instead of Scotch mist.—3. Hence, of noise: RAF: 1940+. 'A bomb falls. "What was that?"—"Well it wasn't Scotch... mist"' (W/Cdr R.P.

McDouall, 1945).—4. As the Scotch Mist, the Scottish Church canten at Abbassia (Cairo): Army in N. Africa: ca. 1940–3. P.G.R.

Scotch mist, adj. Tippy: racing rhyming s., on missed: since ca. 1920. Cf. Brahms and Liszt.

Scotch navy. The Clan line of steamers: nautical: C.20. Bowen.

Scotch ordinary. A privy: ca. 1670–1750. Ray.

Scotch peg. A leg: rhyming s. from mid-1850s. H., 3rd ed., has it in full, whereas H., 1st ed., only implies it in 'scotches, the legs'; it occurs, however, in 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857.—2. Occ. for 'egg': rhyming s.: C.20.

Scotch pint. A bottle holding two quarts: from ca. 1820; ob. Egan's Grose.

Scotch prize. A capture by mistake: coll., mostly nautical: C.19. A. Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe); Smyth, 1867.

Scotch rabbit. A Welsh rabbit (cf. at Scotch fiddle): ca. 1740–70. Mrs Glasse, the C.18 Mrs Beeton, gives a recipe in 1747. OED.

Scotch seamanship. Seamanship by brute force: nautical coll. from ca. 1890; slightly ob. (St James's Gazette, 9 Apr. 1900.) Cf. Scotch prize, q.v.

Scotch tea. See tea.

scotch up. V.i. and t. To follow up (an attack): military coll.: 1916+. (F. & G.) Ex scotching a snake.

Scotch or occ. Scottish warming-pan. A wench: coll.: ca. 1670–1880. Ray; S. Wesley the Elder; Grose. An elab. of warming-pan, 1.—2. A breaking of wind: low: ca. 1810–1910. Lex. Bal.

scotchie (or S.). A marble with gay stripes: schoolboys': —1887 (Baumann.) In ref. to tartan.—2. (Gen. in pl.) A leg: late C.19–20. (Cheapjack, 1934.) Ex Scotch peg.—3. See Scotch.

Scotchman. A florin: S. Africa, esp. among the natives: —1879 (Atcherley, whom Rider Haggard repeats in Jess, 1886). Ex that canny Scot who, among the Kaffirs, passed off a number of florins as half-crowns; which may account for a story related in J. Milne's The Epistles of Atkins, published in 1902 and dealing with the Boer War.—2. A Scotch fir: coll.: 1901, 'Lucas Malet' (OED).—3. The less gen. form of the Flying Scotsman, q.v.

Scotchman hugging a or the Creole, often without a or the before Scotchman. A clusia or kind of creeper: West Indian coll.: 1835 (M. Scott).

Scotchmen. Lice: c.:—1887 (Baumann). Ex Scotch greys.

Scotchy. A coll. nickname for a Scotsman: prob. C.19–20. Sessions, 9 July 1856.

Scotland Yarders. New Scotland Yard: late C.19—early 20. By the 'OXFORD-ERS'. P.B.: more likely would be Scotters Yarders.

Scotlands. Shares in the Great North of Scotland Railway: Stock Exchange coll.:—1895; † by 1920. A.J. Wilson, Stock Exchange Glossary. Also *haddock*s.

Scots, the. The 26th Foot Regiment (in late C.19–20, the 1st Battalion Cameronians Scottish Rifles): military: coll. rather than s.: C.19—early 20.

Scots Greys. See Scotch Greys.

Scotsman's Cinema, the. Piccadilly Circus: Londoners': from 1933. Ex the numerous electric or neon light advertisements to be seen there—without admission charge.

Scotsman's fifth. Coasting in neutral, i.e. 'fifth gear': see HAULIERS', in Appendix.

Scotti, great. See great Scott!

Scottish. Irritable; easily angered: low: ca. 1810–80. (Vaux.) Ex Scot, 1. It is defined in Sinks, 1848, as 'savage, wild chagrined'. Cf. scotty.

Scottish mist, warming-pan. See Scotch m., w-p.

Scotty. A Scotsman: coll.: late C.19–20. Prob. ex Scotch, q.v.

scotty. Angry; apt to grow easily annoyed: late C.19–20. Ex Scot, 2, q.v.

scour, n. A cleansing; a polishing: coll.: C.20. 'Give the floor a good scour' (OED). Ex Scots. P.B.: or ex the S.E. v., the scouring action of a fast-flowing river on its bed; whichever, S.E. in later C.20. Cf. v., 5.

scour, v.; often spelt scow(e)r, scowre. To decamp, run away, depart hurriedly: ca. 1590–1870: s. with more than a tinge of c., as have the next three senses. Greene, Shadwell, Grose. Ex S.E. scour, to move rapidly or hastily.—2. V.i. to roam noisily about at night, smashing windows, waylaying and often beating wayfarers, and attacking the watch: ca. 1670–1830. Shadwell, Prior.—3. Hence, v.t., to ill-treat (esp. the watch or wayfarers) while street-roistering: ca. 1680–1750. Dryden, 'Scouring the Watch grows out of fashion wit.'—4. V.t. 'to roister through (the streets)': ca. 1690–1830. Grose.—5. To wear, esp. in scour the cramp-ring(s) or darbies, to wear, i.e. to go or lie in chains: ca. 1450–1840 (cramp-rings not before mid-C.16, darbies not before late C.17): s. >, ca. 1560, c. Awdelay, B.E., Egan's Grose. Ex scour, to cleanse by rubbing. (Ex this sense comes scouring, n., q.v.)—6. To coit with (a woman): coll.: C.17–19. (All dates, OED.)

scourer, often scowrex. One who behaves as in scour, 2, q.v.: s. verging on c.: ca. 1670–1830. (Wycherley.) Cf. hawkabite, mohock, mum, nicker, tityre-tu, qq.v.—2. Hence, a night-thief: c.: late C.17–18. Anon., The Gentleman Instructed, ca. 1700, '[In London] he struck up with sharpers, scourers, and Alsatians.'

scouring. (An) imprisonment: c. 1721 (Defoe); † by 1820.—2. Adj. to scour, v., 2–4, q.v.

scours. A purge: coll.:—1923 (Manchon) Ex S.E. scours, diarrhoea.

Scouse, n. and adj. A native of Liverpool; pertaining to Liverpool: perhaps orig. nautical nickname, since early C.19; by late C.19 gen. An early occurrence is in The Night Watch, II (p. 116), 1828 (Moe). Has var. Scouser, and earlier spellings scouce, scowse, skowse. A frequent Services' vocative for any Liverpoolian. Cf. whacker, 3, q.v. Prob. ex:—2. 'Short for lobscouce [q.v.], a favourite dish with Liverpool-born seamen, which consists of meat, vegetables and ship's biscuit' (Granville); in Training ship Conway cadets' coll., from ca. 1880, any kind of stew (John Masefield, 1933): nautical: C.19–20.

Scouseland. Liverpool: orig. nautical, and Liverpool dockers', from late C.19, it has in mid-late C.20 > much more gen. and widespread joc. coll. Ex prec., 1.

scousy or scowsy. Mean, stingy: Christ's Hospital (School): since ca. 1860; ob. Marples, 'Perhaps scabby + lousy'.

scout, n. A college servant at Oxford (cf. the Cambridge gyp): Oxford University: C.18–20; coll. till ca. 1850, then S.E. Hearne (1708: OED); Grose, 1st ed.; 'Cuthbert Bede.' Prob. ex the military, just possibly (W.) ex the † cricket, sense.—2. A member of the watch: c. of mid-C.17—early 19. (Coles, 1676; Shadwell, 1688; Haggart, 1821.) Ex † scout, a watchman.—3. 'A reproachful name for a bold forward girl' (P.W. Joyce, English... in Ireland, 1910): Anglo-Irish: late (? mid) C.19–20.—4. A detective: Glasgow:—1934.—5. In good scout, a good, a trustworthy or helpful person: adopted, ex US, ca. 1920—no doubt reinforced by the popularity of the Scouting movement; by 1980, ob. Occ., scout was used independently = a fellow. Contrast the Scot. scout, a term of contempt, and sense 3.

scout, v.i. To dart; go, move, suddenly and swiftly: mid-C.18—early 19: orig. and mainly nautical. Captain Tyrrell, 1758; Anon., Splendid Follies, 1810, 'Sponge was actually obliged to scout out of the room to conceal his risible muscles' (OED). Ex Swedish skjuta, v.i., to shoot (W.). Cf. scout and shoot in this sense.—2. 'To shoot pigeons outside a gun-club enclosure' (F. & H.): coll.: from ca. 1880. Ex S.E. pigeon-shooting sense of the n.—3. In scout on the lay, to go searching for booty: c.: late C.18–19. See c. lay.

scout-cull. A watchman: c.: C.18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

scout-ken. A watch-house: c. of ca. 1810–40. (Vaux.) Ex scout, n., 2.

scow, v. To be illicitly absent: mostly Liverpool: late C.19–20. Short for:— scowbank, v. To loaf: dial. (1868: EDD) >, ca. 1880, s. See: scowbanker; also skow-, occ. skull- and, ca. 1890–1910, showbanker. A loafer, a tramp: mostly Aus. (—1864); by 1910 slightly, by 1930 very ob. (H., 3rd ed.) Prob. ex scowbank, v., q.v. The Bukman Mercantile Papers (New York Historical Society) show, in letters dated 18 Nov. and 4 Dec. 1750–14 Feb. 1752–30 Nov. 1764, that the word was orig. American. (Moe.) Perhaps of Irish origin. 'In the sense of an idler, this word recalls scrimshanker [q.v.], one who does scrimshaw work in his idle time. Are they both merely facetious inventions?': Leechman.—2. 'An outside paper-maker, one who has not served seven years to the trade': paper-makers:—1909. Ware, who spells it skal-banker.

scowbanking, n. Loafing: see scowbank, v.

Scowegian. (Pron. Scow-wegian.) A Scandinavian: West Can. and nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex Scandinavian and Norwegian. Cf. Scandihooivian. P.B.: Skau is a (?common) Scandinavian surname.

scow(e)r. See scour.

scowre(r). See scour, v., and scourer.

scrag, n. A person's neck: c.: from ca. 1750; slightly ob. ? ex crag, Scottish craig, the neck.—2. The gallows: C.19 c. Ex scrag, v. 1, or abbr. scrag-squeezer, q.v.—3. At Shrewsbury School (—1881), a rent across a paper signifying 'no marks'. Perhaps ex scrag, to handle roughly.—4. A very rough tackle at Rugby football (cf. scrag, v., 4): Public Schools: C.20. (P.G. Wodehouse, Tales of St Austin's, 1903, 'There's all the difference between a decent tackle and a bally scrag like the one that doubled Tony up.') scrag, v.t. To hang by the neck: from ca. 1750 (slightly ob.): c. until ca. 1840, then s. Toldervy (OED); Tomlinson; Grose; Barham.—2. Hence, to wring the neck of: from ca. 1820. 'Jon Bee'.—3. To garrote: c. or low s.: mid-C.19–20.—4. To manhandle, in an unspecified way: low: since early C.19 (Sessions, May 1835); properly (as in Rugby football), to twist the neck of a man whose head is conveniently held under one's arm: late C.19–20. Kipling, Stalky & Co., 'Don't drop oil over my "Fors", or I'll scrag you.' (I'll scrag you has > a vague threat and c.p., esp. among schoolboys.) Ex dial.—5. To scratch (an entry, an event): Shrewsbury: since ca. 1936. Marples.

scrag a lay. 'To steal clothes put on a hedge to dry' (Tufts): c.: late C.18—early 19. Cf. snow, snowdrop, qq.v.

scrag-bag. Var. of scran-bag, 3.

scrag-boy. A hangman: c.: from ca. 1780; ob. by 1930. Ex scrag, n., 1 and v., 1.

scrag-em fair. A public execution: c. of ca. 1810–50. (Lex. Bal.; Hoo.) Ex scrag, v., 1.

scrag-hole. The gallery: theatrical:—1909 (Ware); ob. by 1930. Ex the craning of scrag or necks.

scrag-squeezer. A gallows: ca. 1820–1900: c. Henley, 1887, Villon's Straight Tip, 'Until the squeezer nips your scrag.' Ex scrag, n., 1.

scragged. Dead by hanging: c.: mid-C.18—early 20. (Grose, 1st ed.) P.B.: in C.20 gen. apprehended as having been subjected to scrag, v., 4.

scragger. A hangman: c. or low s.: 1897 (P. Warung). OED.

scragging. An execution: C.19–20: c. >, ca. 1880, low s.; ob. Ex scrag, v., 1.

scragging-post. A gallows: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux.

Scrag's Hotel. The workhouse: tramps' c.: from ca. 1880; ob. Daily Telegraph, 1 Jan. 1886.

scram! Clear out! US; Anglicised, among devotees of the cinema, by 1930. Perhaps ex scramble (v.): cf. South Cheshire scramble, 'to get away; with a notion of fear or stealth' (EDD). It is also short for the official scramble, wrongly classified in the Reader's Digest of Feb. 1941 as s.: (of aircraft) to take off: RAF: since 1939. (Article by E.P. in the New Statesman, 19 Sep. 1942.) See also amscray.

scram bag. See steaming bag.

scramble, n. A dog-fight: RAF: 1939+, but never very much used. Berrey; Jackson.

scrambled egg (RAF: since ca. 1930) is the wearer (mentioned by Jackson), and in the RN, an unpopular wearer of scrambled eggs. The ornate gold oak leaves on the peak of an Air Commodore's cap [actually on that of any officer from Group-Captain upwards] are called "scrambled eggs" (Hector Bolitho, English Digest, Feb. 1941): RAF: since ca. 1925. P.B.: by 1950 often s. egg—the dish is usu. accompanied by a considerable display of fruit salad, q.v. According to Messrs Gieves & Hawkes, Ltd, 1982, the term has long been common to all three Fighting Services for the decoration on the peaks of senior officers' caps. In the MN it is applied to similar headgear worn by master mariners of the major shipping lines.

scran, n.; occ., though—except in dial.—very rare in C.20, skran. A reckoning at a tavern or inn: c. of ca. 1710–1740. In Bacchus and Venus, 1724, 'Frisky Moll's Song' by Harper. App. this sense, without leaving any record that I have found, survived until 1903, when listed as low s. by F. & H.; by 1930, virtually t. ? etym.—2. ? hence (or perhaps cognate with scrannel: W.), food, esp. broken victuals: s. (—1785) and dial. (—1808); in mid-C.19, the word verged on c. (witness 'Ducange Anglicus', 1857). Grose, 1st ed., 'Scran, victuals.'—3. Hence, refuse (of food): mostly dial. (—1808) and, as s., † by 1910.—4. Ex sense 2, a meal: from ca. 1870: mostly military.—5. Bread and butter: army: C.20. B. & P.—6. In bad scran to ..., bad luck to ...!: Anglo-Irish coll.: from ca. 1840. (Lever, P.H. Emerson.) Perhaps ex 2. Cf. cess, in same usage.—7. In out on the scran, begging for scraps of food: c.:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.). Prob. ex scran, v., 2. Cf. scranning.

scran, v.t. To provide with food: c. (in C.19–20, low s.): from ca. 1740; slightly ob. (This entry seems to show that scran, n., 2 existed half a century before our earliest record.)—2. V.i. to collect broken victuals: c. (? orig. dial.) >, ca. 1880, low s.: from the 1830s. (H., 1st ed.) Ex scran, n., 2.—3. V.i. to eat a meal, to take food: army: C.20, esp. in WW1. Ex n., 5.

scran, adj. 'A Naval word meaning "good"' (H. & P.): since ca. 1920. Prob. ex scran, n., 2, 4, and 5. [E.P. later added: 'But this is an adj. only by implication, as in 'That's scran!' = that's real scran (food). In short, the original entry is strictly a 'ghost' entry, retained only as a horrible warning!]

scran-bag. A receptacle for scraps of food: c.: from ca. 1850. Burn, Autobiography of a Beggar-Boy, 1855 (OED). Ex scran, n., 2.—2. Hence, a haversack: military:—1864 (H., 3rd ed.).—3. A receptacle for the impounding of articles carelessly left about: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen. Clive Hardy, 1979, amplifies thus: 'A bag for missing articles, which would be auctioned at the end of the week—to teach tidiness.'

scran-pocket. A c. var. of prec., 1:—1887 (Baumann).

scrand. Occ. var. of scran, v.

scranning, vbl n. A begging of scraps of food: Scots dial. (—1839), whence c. (—1859), as in H., 1st ed. Ex scran, v., 2; cf. scran, n., 7.

scrap, n. A blow, a punch: c. of early C.17. (Rowlands in Martin Mark-All.) Cf. sense 3, of independent origin.—2. (In C.18–19, occ. scrapp.) An intention, design, plot, always either vile or villainous: ca. 1670–1830: either c. (see Grose, 1st ed.) or low s. E.g. in B.E. (at whiddle). ? ex scrape.—3. ? hence, a struggle, scrimmage, fisticuffs (the predominant C.20 sense): from earlier C.19. (H., 5th ed.) In do a scrap, mid-C.19, have a fight; in WW1, and since, a scrap = a battle. Cf. US scrape, a rough encounter, 1812 (Thornton).

scrap, v.i. To fight, esp. with the fists:—1874 (H., 5th ed.). Ex scrap, n., 3.—2. To scrimmage:—1891 (OED).—3. Ex sense 1, v.t. to box with: 1893, P.H. Emerson, 'I was backed to scrap a cove bigger nor me.'

scrap merchants or dealers. Souvenir-hunters: army: WW1. (Petch, 1966.)

scrap-up. Occ. var., later C.19, of scrap, n., 3. B. & L. scrape, n. A shave: joc. coll.: since early C.19. (L.L.G., 8 Nov. 1823; Moe.) Cf. scrapper and the v.—2. Cheap butter: proletarian coll.: since mid-C.19. H., 1st ed. Cf.:—3. In bread and scrape, bread with but a smear of butter: orig. schools': coll.: 1861 (OED); 1873, Rhoda Broughton, 'Happiness thinly spread over their whole lives, like bread and scrape!' Ex S.E. scrape, a thin layer.—4. Hence, bread and scrape, short commons: coll.: from ca. 1865.—5. Hence scrape, short shirt: coll. Pall Mall Gazette, 5 Apr. 1899, 'From the French adventurers he was only likely to get what schoolboys call scrape.'—6. An act of sexual intercourse: Aus. low: since mid-C.20. Wilkes.

scrape, v.i., v.t., and v. reflexive. To shave: joc. coll.: from ca. 1770.—2. In go scrape!, go away!: contemptuous coll.: early C.17. Cotgrave.—3. To copulate: Aus. low: since mid-C.20. Wilkes.

scrape acquaintance. To make acquaintance: coll.:—1698 (Farquhar, 'no scraping acquaintance, for Heaven's sake').

scrape the bottom of the barrel. To use, or to approach in order to enlist, anyone at all to do something, esp. to fill a vacant position: coll.: since ca. 1945. After ca. 1955, often simply scrape the barrel.

scrape the enamel. To scratch the skin by falling: cyclists': from ca. 1890; ob. by 1930.

scrape the kettle. To go to confession: lower-middle-class and proletarian Catholic: late C.19–20.

scraped 'em off me puttees! (I, I've). Army Other Ranks' contemptuous ref. to other soldiers, esp. to the Staff: WW1. (B. & P.) The allusion is to shit, whether lit. or fig.

scraper. A barber: pej. coll.: from ca. 1790.—2. A razor: joc. coll.: from ca. 1860. See scrape, v.—3. A cocked hat: coll., verging on S.E. (EDD): from late C.18. A Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe). Esp. Naval of ca. 1790–1840; W.N. Glascock, The Naval Sketch-Book (I, 34), 1825, defines it as a 'gold-laced cocked hat'. Moe.—4. A 'short one to two-inch whisker, slightly curved': Society: ca. 1880–90. Ware.—5. In take to (one's) scrapers, to make off: Anglo-Irish: from ca. 1820. Here, scraper = a foot, esp. a heel; cf. scrape with one's feet.

scraper ring. 'The middle or half-ring on the cuffs of a Squadron-Leader's tunic': RAF: since ca. 1920. Jackson, 'In a piston there is a compression ring, an oil-retaining ring and a middle, or scraper, ring.'

scrapers. See scraper, 5.

scrapping-castle. A water-closet: low: ca. 1850–90. H., 1st ed.

scrapings. In be away to scrapings, to be doomed or done for or dead: lower classes': early C.20. Perhaps cf. scrape, v., 2.—2. In he wouldn't give you the scrapings of his nails!, a semi-proverbial, coll. c.p., applied to a very mean person: —1887 (Baumann).

scrapp. See scrap, n., 2.

scrapper. A pugilist; any fighter, whether with fists or weapons: from ca. 1820. B. & L.

scrapping. Fighting or boxing: from ca. 1890. See scrap, v., and cf. scrapper.

scrapo. A scrap or fight: Aus. (mostly youthful): since ca. 1925. B., 1943.

scrappy. A farrier: army: late C.19—earlier 20. F. & G.

Scratch. Gen. and orig. Old Scratch. The devil: coll.: 1740 (OED); Amory, 1756 (Scratch). In late C.19–20, mostly dial. Ex scratch, a goblin, on scratch.—2. For the Scratch, see Flea-Pit.

scratch, n. A competitor starting from scratch in a handicap contest: coll.: 1867 (OED).—2. In billiards, a fluke: coll.: from ca. 1890.—3. Generic for genuine bank- and currency- notes: c.—1935 (David Hume). Contrast slush.—4. A housemaid: Christ's Hospital (School): since ca. 1890. Marples.—5. The Captain's Secretary: RN: C.20. (Granville.) Also Sec. (John Winton, We Joined the Navy, 1959). Cf. scratcher, 2.—6. In bring to the scratch and come (up) to the or toe the scratch, to bring oneself or another to the requisite point, lit. or fig.; to do, or cause to do, one's duty: coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; resp. 1827, Scott; 1834, Ainsworth; 1857, 'Cuthbert Bede'. Ex the line drawn on the ground or floor to divide the boxing-ring.—7. In no great scratch, of little value or importance: adopted, ex US, ca. 1858 (H., 1st ed.); ob. by ca. 1940. Lit., not very painful. Cf. no great shakes (at), not very good (at).—8. In have a scratch!, a 'c.p. of satirical concealment to someone at a loss for answer or information' (L.A.): C.20. Leechman proposes perhaps 'a suggestion that the puzzled one should scratch his head in bewilderment'.—9. Have a scratch is also a Cockney c.p. of contemptuous dismissal, as in 'Oi, goo-orn!' 'Op it! Go and 'ave a scratch!': since ca. 1910. (Julian Franklyn.) Cf. scrape, v., 2, and scratch it.

scratch, v. To go fast, travel rapidly: Aus.: since ca. 1920. (Baker.) Like a sprinter from the scratch-mark? App. † in later C.20; by 1930s supplanted by:—2. To be struggling for a living. See scratching, 2.—3. See sixpence to scratch...

scratch a beggar before you die, you'll. You will die a beggar: a semi-proverbial c.p. of ca. 1630–1800. Clarke, Ray, Fuller. (Apperson.)

scratch-cat. A sour-tempered female: NZ feminine: ca. 1910–50. (Jean Devanney, Riven, 1929.) P.B.: not unknown in Britain.

scratch-down. 'The public scolding of a man by a woman': low:—1909 (Ware).

scratch it. To depart; make off: low:—1923 (Manchon).

scratch-me. A lucifer match: London's lower classes':—1909 (Ware.)

scratch my breech and I'll claw your elbow. Let us indulge in reciprocal flattery: C.17–19; a semi-proverbial c.p. Cf. ca me, ca thee, and S.E. scratch me and I'll scratch thee.

scratch-platter. See tailor's ragout.

scratch-rash. A scratched face: artisans':—1909 (Ware). Cf. gravel-rash, q.v.

scratch (one's) wool. To puzzle; wonder greatly: tailors': from ca. 1870. On S.E. scratch one's head; and see wool, hair.

scratched. Tippy: C.17 c. or s. 'Water-Poet' Taylor, 1622.—2. See back scratched.

scratcher. A lucifer match: proletarian:—1909 (Ware). Cf. scratch-me.—2. A paymaster, or his clerk: RN: late C.19–20; ob. Ware, 'From the noisy times of quill pens.'—3. A bed: low Glasgow:—1934. For the semantics, cf. flea-bag. P.B.: since 1939 also Services', esp. RN and RM. (C. Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979.) Army in WW2; not so common later, pit being the usu. term.—4. A toe: Anglo-Irish: C.19. 'A Real Paddy', Life in Ireland, 1822.—5. Usu. pl, scratchers. The hand (Boxiana, IV, 1824): ca. 1815–60.—6. A slow driver: busmen's: since ca. 1925. He 'scratches about'. Contrast slasher 3.—7. A small ship: MN: late C.19–20. 'It scratches the dock wall in entering at ebb tides' (Frank Shaw).—8. Any scratching tool; also, the person operating it: fair-grounds': C.20. W. Buchanan-Taylor, Shake it Again, 1943.—9. A second coxswain: RN submariners': 1960s. (John Malin, 1979.) Perhaps cf. sense 2.—10. A warder expert in searching a cell: prison c.: later C.20. Sean McConville, in The State of the Language, 1980.

scratching, be. To be in a dilemma, a quandary: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) Like a hen, scratching about for food. P.B.: prob., more specifically:—2. 'To be struggling, in difficulty' (Wilkes): Aus. coll.: since 1930s, perhaps earlier. Often elab., as scratching for a living, or for jobs, or for a crust, etc.—3. 'Searching prison establishment buildings' (Home Office): prisons' c.: later C.20. Cf. scratcher, 10.—4. Occ. synonym with be sweating, waiting for a possible, imminent, win at, e.g. tombola: army: mid-C.20. Hence, go scratching, to take part in the game: id. (P.B.) scratching (one's) balls (or ballocks), be or sit. Instead of being either active or alert, to sit or loll in idleness and vacancy: low coll.: late C.19–20.

scratching rake. A comb: proletarian: from ca. 1870; ob. (B. & L.) Cf. bug-rake.

scratchings. 'Scraps of cooked potato and the broken bits of batter which had fallen from frying fish' (Robert Roberts, The Classic Slum, 1971): coll., among the poor, esp. of Lancashire: ca. 1890–1940.

Scratchland. Scotland: ca. 1780–1890. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. Scotch fiddle, q.v.

scratchy. (Of a batsman) lacking sureness and confidence in his strokes: cricket coll.: 1904 (P.F. Warner: Lewis).

scream, n. An extremely ridiculous or funny person or thing: 1915 (SOD): s. >, by 1935, coll. Often a perfect or absolute s. An abbr., with modification of sense, of screamer, 2 and 3. P.B.: a cartoon by A. Wallis Mills, in Punch, 1 Oct. 1919, entitled 'A Proposal à la Mode', shows a dapper young man, accompanied by a fashionably dressed girl; they are passing a shop advertising bridal cakes; he says: 'Well, old scream, what about it?'—2. An uproar; a tremendous fuss, e.g. in the Press: since ca. 1925. Norman.—3. As exemplified by the announcement, 'Police wish to interview a man in connection with ...' (Piers Paul Read, in Observer mag., 16 Apr. 1978).

scream, v. To turn King's (Queen's) evidence: low: from the early 1920s. (OED Sup.) Cf. squeal. Ex:—2. (Of a thief, robbed by another) to apply to the police: c.: from ca. 1885. Cf. screamer, 4.

scream blue murder. The usu. C.20 shape of cry blue murder, q.v. at blue murder(s).

scream like a wounded eagle. 'Said of one who makes a terrific fuss about something' (Leechman): Can.: since ca. 1955.

scream (one)self into fits. To scream excessively: coll.: from ca. 1840. OED.

scream the place down. To go to Scotland Yard to report one's loss: c.: from ca. 1900. Esp., to report a burglary, a sense that >, ca. 1935, gen. urban s. Nigel Dennis in Sunday Telegraph, 9 July 1961.

screamer. An animate or inanimate of exceptional size, intensity, attractiveness: orig. US, anglicised in 1850 by Frank Smedley. Runciman, 1888, 'She's a screamer, she's a real swell' (OED).—2. A startling, exaggerated, or extremely funny book, story, etc.: 1844 (Dickens: OED).—3. Hence, one who tells exaggerated or very funny stories: 1849 (Albert Smith: OED).—4. 'A thief who, robbed by another thief, applies to the police' (F. & H.): c.: from ca. 1890.—5. An exclamation-mark (cf. Christer and shriek-mark): from ca. 1920 and mostly among printers, authors, journalists, typists, and copy-writers. D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'Capital N, capital P, and screamer.'—6. A whistling bomb: civilians and Services: Sep. 1940+. (H. & P.) A 'terror bomb' with a scream-producing device.—7. A man very obviously homosexual: since ca. 1950. (John Gardner, Madrigal, 1967.) A 'roaring queer'.—8. See two-pot screamer.—9. 'Persistently complaining customer' (Clive Graham-Ranger, Sunday Times mag., 9 Aug. 1981, p. 42): car-dealers'.

screamer over the target. A man that sees danger everywhere—and is constantly drawing attention to it: RAF: 1940+.

screamers, the. An intense dislike of operational flying: RAF: 1940–5. (P-G-R.) Cf. screaming shits.

screaminess. The quality of being screamy, q.v.: coll.: from ca. 1880.

screaming. Splendid; excellent: orig. theatrical:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). Ex screamer, 1, q.v.

screaming abdabs. See abdabs, 2, 3.

screaming Alice. Crystal Palace: rhyming s. David Hillman writes, 1974, 'probably another example of railway workers' usage'.

screaming billygoat. Very drunk. See drunk as forty billygoats at DRINKS, in Appendix.

screaming blue murder. See blue murder(s).

screaming downhill, vbl n. 'Making a power dive in a fighter aircraft' (H. & P.): RAF: since ca. 1938. A whistling noise is caused by the wind and perhaps by the propeller. P.B.: or simply a graphic description of speed.

screaming gin and ignorance. Bad newspaper-writing: sporting reporters': 1868–ca. 80. Ware.

screaming hab-dabs. See hab-dabs.

screaming meemies, the. Hysteria; excessive fear, noisily expressed: adopted, 1930s, ex US. Cf. heebie-jeebies, which may also be 'screaming' on occasion.

screaming ostrich. A 'super bird', an exceptionally marked hissing by the audience: theatrical:—1935. See bird in this sense.

screaming pie-ackers. See pie-ackers.

screaming shits, the. Diarrhoea: Forces': since ca. 1939.—2. Hence, give (one) the s.s., to get on the nerves of: Forces': since ca. 1940.

screamy. Apt to scream; (of sound) screaming; fig., very violent, exaggerated, or unseemly in expression; (of colour) glaring: coll.: in 1882, the Spectator describes two of Swinburne's sonnets as 'thoroughly unworthy and screamy'. (OED.) Cf. scream and screamer (2), qq.v screave. See screeve.

screech, n. Whiskey: low: ca. 1880–1930. ? ex its strength, or possibly ex its tendency to make females [sic] screech. See also screigh.—2. Wine obtained by 111 Fighter Squadron, RAF, from the White Fathers at Thibar in Tunisia: 1943.—3. Any hard liquor: RN lowerdeck: mid-C.20. (Heart, 1962.) See quot'n at doggo party.—4. The throat: homosexuals': current ca. 1970.—5. See giggle, n., 2, and cf. scream, n., 1, synon. with this sense.

screecher. A street singer: showmen's: C.20. P. Allingham in the London Evening News, 9 July 1934.

screechers. 'Screeching' drunk; hysterical: since ca. 1930. (Paul Brickhill, The Dam-Busters, 1951.) Occ. Harry Screechers: see HARRY, in Appendix.

screed. Ca. 1870–90 a journalistic coll. (later S.E.) for 'an illogical or badly written article or paper upon any subject' (H., 5th ed.).—2. Hence, a picture execrably painted: artists':—1887 (Baumann); ob. by 1930.

screen. A bank or currency note; esp. if counterfeit: from ca. 1810: c. Vaux, 1812, has queer screen, a forged note, which occurs also in Lytton and Ainsworth. Ca. 1820–50, it often meant esp. a £1 note (cf. screeve, n., 2), as in Egan, 1821. The word, which may be a witty perversion of screeve (q.v.), was ob. by 1900, virtually † by 1930.

screen-faking. The forging of notes: c.: 1830 (Moncrieff). See screen.

screeve (1801); also screave (1821), scrive (from ca. 1850), scrive (1788). Any piece of writing: 1788; Scots s. or coll.—2. Whence, a banknote: (mainly Scottish) c.: ca. 1800–1890.

Sporting Magazine, 1801, 'The one-pound screeves'; Haggart.—3. A begging letter, a petition, a testimonial: c.: from ca. 1810. (Vaux, Mayhew.) See fake a screeve. From ca. 1890, letter is the predominant sense.—4. A drawing in chalk on the pavement: c.: from ca. 1855. Ex screeve, v., 2; and see screeving.—5. A motor-car: market-traders': since ca. 1920. (M.T.) Perhaps ex sense 1, whence, loosely, licence. (Dates, mainly OED.) The etym. is not so simple as it looks: prob. ex dial. scrivee, to write, or ex the Dutch schrijven; ultimately ex L. scribere; cf. the v.

screeve; occ. scrivee. V.t. to write (esp. a begging letter, a petition): c. and East-End s.: mid-C.19–20. ('No. 747', ref. 1845; Mayhew, 1851.) Ex It. scrivere via Lingua Franca; perhaps imm. ex screeve, n., 1–3.—2. Whence, v.i. draw on the pavement with chalk; to do this as a livelihood: c.: 1851 (Mayhew).

screeve-faker. The same as screever, 1, q.v.: ca. 1850–1910.

screever; occ. scriveer. One who, for a living, writes begging letters: c.: 1851 (Mayhew). Ex screeve, v., 1, q.v.—2. A 'pavement artist': c. and East End s.: implied by Mayhew in 1851 (see quot'n at screeving) and recorded by H. in 1859. Punch, 14 July 1883, 'Here is a brilliant opening for merry old Academicians, festive flagstone screevers, and "distinguished amateurs"'.
Screeveton. The Bank of England: low:—1903; ob. Ex screeve, n., 2.

screeving. Vbl n. of screeve, v., 1 and 2. Mayhew, 1851, 'By screeving, that is, by petitions and letters'; Ibid., 'Screeving or writing on the pavement.'

screigh; occ. skreigh. Whiskey: Scottish s.: C.19–20. Lexicographer Jamieson (EDD). I.e. a screech: proleptic usage.

screw, n. A skeleton key: c.: 1795 (Potter); ob. by 1935.—2. ? hence, a turnkey or prison warden: 1821, (Egan); c. until ca. 1860, then low s.—3. A robbery effected with a skeleton key: c. of ca. 1810–90. Vaux.—4. As the screw, the doing of this, esp. as an occupation: c.: ca. 1810–80. Vaux.—5. An old or otherwise worthless horse: 1821 (OED); 'Nimrod' Apperley, 1835, 'Mr Charles Boulton, the best screw driver in England'. Coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Perhaps by the semantic process illustrated by rip (see W.) or orig. of a race-horse that can, by 'screwing', be made to gain a place (OED).—6. Wages, salary:—1859 (H., 1st ed.).—7. Hence (?), a dram, a 'pick-me-up': 1877. Cf. 7, a, a bottle of wine: Anglo-Irish:—1827: ob. Barrington (EDD).—8. A harlot: ca. 1720–1870 (A New Canting Dict., 1725); more usu. a female screw: ca. 1780–1850 (Grose, 1st ed.).—9. (Whence, or more prob. ex screw, v., 3), an act of copulation: C.19–20: low.—10. Whence, a woman qua sexual pleasure: low: late C.19–20.—11. A glance, a look; esp. take a screw at, q.v.—12. A tight-fisted person: coll.: ca. 1820–90. 'He would call her an old screw, or skin-flint' (Hogg's Instructor, Nov. 55, 'Memoranda by a Marine Officer').—13. In all of a screw, very crooked or twisted: coll.:—1887 (Baumann). Perhaps influenced by askew.—14. See under the screw; fake a screw.

screw, v. To break into (a building) by using a skeleton key: c.: from ca. 1810. (Vaux; Arthur Morrison.) See screw, n., 1, 2, and 3.—2. Hence, v.i. to burgle; also, to keep watch for one's burglar-confederate: c.: C.20. (Charles E. Leach, 1933.) Also, v.t., to look at: grafters': C.20. Allingham.—3. To copulate with (a female): low:—1785 (Grose, 1st ed.) P.B.: by the mid-1970s—? thanks to Women's lib.—the v. was applicable to both sexes, as in N.J. Crisp, The Gotland Deal, 1976, 'Apparently she used to screw around on the side as well' (cf. sleep around); and '[She] ... screwed a number of exceedingly dull men' (Angela Carter, New Society, 20 Dec. 1979).—4. To scrutinise (a person); to eye, accusingly, up and down: mostly delinquent teenagers': C.20. (L.A., 1967.) Cf. the n., 12, and sense 2, 2nd meaning, above.—5. To ruin or, at the least, to spoil badly: Can.: since ca. 1965. Leechman cites Maclean's, 17 May 1976, 'I think they've screwed biology in this country for ever.' See screwed up, 3.—6. To swindle: since ca. 1930. Cf. senses 1 and 2.

screw (a woman's) back legs off, (he'd). A c.p. that credits a man with satyriasis: mostly Services', esp. RN: C.20.

screw-driver. A hammer: carpenters' and joiners' joc.: late C.19–20. Often as a jibe with a place-name, e.g., a Brum-magem, or a Chinese, or a Shepherd, screw-driver (P.B.).—2. A drink of vodka (or gin) and orange-juice: since late 1940s. (David Wharton, 6 June 1966.) P.B.: contrast gimlet, gin and lime.—3. 'Principal [prison] officer': prisons' c. pun: later C.20 (Home Office.) Ex screw, n., 2, a warden.

screw-jaws. A wry-mouthed person: coll. (—1788) verging on S.E.; ob. Grose, 2nd ed.

screw loose, a. A phrase indicative of something wrong: from ca. 1820: s. until ca. 1840, then coll. till ca. 1880, then S.E. (Egan, 1821; Dickens; Trollope.) Ob. in this gen. sense.—2. Hence, (slightly) crazy or mad, gen. as have a screw loose: coll.: from ca. 1870.

screw (one's) nut. To 'dodge a blow aimed at the head': London lower classes': from the early 1890s. (People, 6 Jan. 1895: Ware.) A double pun—on nut and on screw. Cf nut screws ... screw the arse off (a woman). To coit with, vigorously and often: low: C.20. (Peter Crookston, Villain, 1967.) Cf. screw back legs off.

screw the bobbin! (Usu. imperative.) Use your common-sense! army: late 1960s—early 70s. (P.B.) screw-thread. See drunken screw-thread.

screw up, v.i. To force one into making a bargain: coll.: late C.17—mid-19. (B.E.) Ex S.E. sense, to tighten up with a screw.—2. To garotte: c.: 1845 (p. 419 of 'No. 747'); ob. by 1930.—3. To do something badly: low coll.: adopted ex N. America, later C.20. 'I am not flying smoothly, accurately, conservatively. In fact, I am screwing up in a big way' (Phantom, 1979). See screwed up, 3. Also as v.t.: 'How was the exam?'—'I screwed it up' (P.B.).

screw up (someone's) ogle. To punch so hard in the eye that it closes: boxing: ca. 1805–40. Plymouth Telegraph, early 1822 (Moe).

screwball, adj. and n. (An) eccentric: Can. adopted, during the 1930s, ex US. Perhaps from billiards or snooker. 'More likely from baseball, in which the screwball is a recognized pitch, but heavily influenced by screwy, 4' (Claiborne, 1966).

screw-driver. See screw-driver.

screwed. Topsy: 1838, Barham. 'Like a four-bottle man in a company screw'd, /Not firm on his legs, but by no means subdued.' S. >, ca. 1870, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. For semantics, cf. tight. Cf. screwy, 2, and blind, blotto, corned, elevated, fuzzy, lushy, muzzy, paralysed, scammered, squiffy, three sheets in the wind, up a tree, wet. F. & H. gives a magnificent synonymy; H., in the Introduction, a good one.—2. Broken-up with hard work: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) E.P. suggests 'Cf screw, a worn-out horse'—but cf. also screwed up, esp. 3.

screwed – blued – and tattooed. 'Misfortune has piled up so that there is no way of escape' (Officer Commanding, T.A. Dear, at Fort Champlain, part of the Royal Military College of Canada, letter, 1969): Can. c.p.: since ca. 1945, if not a generation earlier. Cf. fucked by the fickle finger of fate. Stewed is occ. added for further effect (P.B.). See DCpp.

screwed on. In have (one's) head screwed on, or on right, or on the right way, to be shrewd and businesslike; be able to look after oneself: coll.: since mid-C.19. In C.20 often the shorter version, as 'She's got her head screwed on all right!'

screwed up. Vanquished: Oxford and Cambridge undergraduates': late C.19—early 20. Ex 'the ancient habit of screwing up an offender's door' (Ware).—2. (Also screwed up in a corner.) Penniless: artisans':—1909. Ware, 'Without money—can't move.'—3. (Utterly) spoilt; wrecked; fouled up: Can.: since ca. 1930. (Leechman.) Euph. for fucked-up. In later C.20 also Brit.; see screw up, 3 (P.B.).—4. 'Shut in cell—"banged up"' (Home Office); prison c. pun: later C.20. See screw, n., 2, and cf. screw-driver, 3.—5. As in 'Studies of adults who are screwed up about mathematics' (C. St John-Brooks, New Society, 5 Mar. 1981): loosely, neurotic; tensely anxious: coll.: later C.20. (P.B.) screw or screwman. Occ. variants (C.20: Edgar Wallace, Soooper Speaking, has the latter; 'Stuart Wood', the former) of screwsman.—2. A burglary: c.: since ca. 1945. (Frank Norman, Encounter, 1959.) Ex screw, v., 2; cf.:

screwing. A house- or shop-breaking: c.: from ca. 1810. See screw, v., 1.

screws, the. Rheumatism: coll. and dial.: mid-C.19–20. Ex instrument of torture.

Screws of the World. See Whore's Gazette.

screwsman. A thief using a skeleton key: c.:—1812 (Vaux). Ex screw, n., 1–3. In C.20, esp. a petty house-breaker ('Stuart Wood', Shades of the Prison House, 1932). But Powis, 1977, defines as 'Housebreaker of some skill'.

screwy. Mean, stingy: 1851, Mayhew, 'Mechanics are capital customers ... They are not so screwy,' coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Ex S.E. screw, a miser.—2. Drunk (cf. screwed, q.v.) 1820 (Creevey: OED): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E.; ob. by 1930.—3. (Of horses) unsound: 1852, Smedley, 'It's like turning a screw horse out to grass' (OED): coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. Ex screw, n., 5, q.v.—4 Crazy, mad; (very) eccentric: lower classes', —1935, but in NZ since ca. 1910 (Ruth Park, Pink Flannel, 1955). P.B.: prob. elliptical for screw loose, 2.

scrib. A scribbler (?): late C.16—mid-17. Thomas Middleton, A Mad World, 1608, at III, i, 'Guard me from bonny Scribes and bony Scribes'.

scribblers' luck. 'An empty purse and a full hand' (Pelican, 3 Dec. 1898): coll. of ca. 1890–1915.

scribe. A bad writer: journalistic: ca. 1870–90. Ware.—2. Any clerical rank or rating: RN coll.: C.20. Bowen.—3. A forger: c.: C.20. F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1938.

scrieve. See screeve.

scrigger. Scripture (as a school subject): Christ's Hospital (School): earlier C.20. Marples.

scrim. An abbr. (—1923) of both scrimshank (n. and v.) and scrimshanker.

scrim up. To camouflage with scrim (open-work material, netting): army coll.: since mid-C.20, perhaps earlier. (P.B.)

scrimmage. A free-fight, scuffle, or confused struggle: coll.: 1780, Johnson (skrimmage); 1826, Fenimore Cooper (skrimmage); 1844, Catholic Weekly Instructor (skrimmage); 1859, H., 1st ed. (scrimmage). Ex S.E. sense, a skirmish, prob. via dial. OED.

scrimshander. See scrimshaw.

scrimshank; occ. skrim-. A shirking of duty: military: C.20. Ex the v.—2. A hesitation—in order 'to avoid an issue' (L.E.F. English, 1955): Newfoundland: C.20.

scrimshank; occ. skrim-, v.i. To shirk work: Services': —1890 (B. & L.); Kipling, 1893. Prob. ex work done or a hobby pursued during leisure hours on board ship. The old whalers' logs often had an entry "All hands at scrimshanking" (Leechman).

scrimshanker; occ. skrim-. A shirker: Services':—1890 (B. & L.). Tit-Bits, 26 Apr. 1890, 'Besides the dread of being considered a scrimshanker, a soldier dislikes the necessary restraints of a hospital.' Etym. obscure: perhaps a perversion of scrimshaw, q.v. The importance of the subject may be gauged from the fact that in 1843 there appeared a book entitled On Feigned and Factitious Diseases, chiefly of Soldiers and Seamen.

scrimshanking; skrim-. Vbl n. and ppl adj. ex scrimshank, v., q.v.

scrimshaw (work); occ. scrimshander, -y, mostly US. Small objects, esp. ornaments, made by seamen in their leisure: nautical: from ca. 1850: s. >, ca. 1880, coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E., as the v. has prob. always been. Etym. unknown, though the word is prob. either ex, or influenced by, the surname Scrimshaw. W.; OED.

scrip. A small (gen. written-upon) piece of paper: from ca. 1615: S.E. until ca. 1680, then c. till early C.19, then dial.; in c., esp. in blot the scrip, it occ. = a bond. (B.E., Grose.) ? ex scrap: cf. the famous mere scrap of paper. In its commercial sense, despite Grose, 2nd ed., scrip, having originated as an obvious abbr., has prob. always been S.E. P.B.: ? a mere slovening of S.E. script.

scrip-scrap. Odds and ends: coll.: C.19–20. Reduplication on scrap.

scripper. He who, in a swindle, keeps watch: c.: late C.16—early 17. Greene, describing 'high law'. ? etym., unless ex † Scots scrip, to jeer.

scrippet. Prob. a misprint for, rather than a var. of, the prec.: id. Ibid.

scrive. See screeve, n.

scroat. A low term of abuse. In Clement & La Frenais, A Further Stir of Porridge, 1977; poss. an 'invention': cf. naff, q.v.

scroby, or claws, (for breakfast), – be tipped the. 'To be whipped before the justices' (Grose, 1st ed.): c. (orig. at least) of ca. 1780–1850. The C.18 form is be tipped the scroby; claws came ca. 1810, for breakfast (rare with scroby) was added about the same time; from ca. 1850 († by 1890), the term survived as get scroby (H., 1st ed., 1859, 'to be whipped in prison before the justices'). See tip, v.; with claws cf. cat-o'-nine-tails; scroby is a mystery unless perchance it = scrubby, scurvy, here used fig. (cf. do the dirty on).

scroo(d)ge. See scrouge, v.

scroof, n. A sponger: c. or low:—1823; † by 1890. (Egan's Grose.) A var. form of scuff, scurf, hence anything worthless. Also scroofer. Cf.:-

scroof, v.i. To sponge or live on a person; v.t., scroof with: c.: ca. 1840–1910. B. & L.

scroop. To skirt very closely; to rub: coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Ex S.E. scroop, make a scraping sound.

scrope. A farthing: c. of ca. 1710–1820. (Hall; Grose, 2nd ed.) ? origin. 'Any connection with John Scrope, Secretary to the Treasury, 1724–52?' (R.S.). If so, this would put the earlier date at ca. 1725.

scrotty. Var. of grotty, q.v., dirty: teenagers': early 1980s. (Joanna Williamson, 1982.)

scrouge. See scrouge, v.

scrouge; occ. scrowge. A crush; a crowd: low coll.: 1839. C. Keene, 1887, 'I went to the Academy "Swarry" last night—the usual scrouge' (OED). Ex:

scrouge, the earliest and gen. form; also scroo(d)ge (C.19–20), scroude (C.19–20), scrowge (C.19–20), skrouge (C.19–20), and skrowdige (C.18). V.t. to crowd; to inconvenience by pressing against or by encroaching on the space of: low coll.: mid-C.18–20. Ex scruze, to squeeze, 'still preserved, at least in its corruption, to scrouge, in the London jargon' (Johnson, 1755: OED).—2. V.i. in same senses: from ca. 1820. (Egan.) The vbl n. scrouging is fairly gen.

scrounge, n. Esp. in do a scrounge, to go looking for what one can 'find'; to take it: military: 1914 or 1915. Ex the v. P.B.: by mid-C.20 the phrase had > on the scrounge, usu. be ..., occ. go ..., as ' 'fraid I'm on the scrounge again! Can you lend me ...?'—2. A scrounger: id.: from ca. 1916; † by 1950.

scrounge, v.t. To hunt for; cadge, to get by wheedling; to acquire illicitly; hence, to steal; also v.i.: Services' in WW1; from ca. 1920, fairly gen. Ex dial. scrunge, to steal (esp. apples) or ex dial. and coll. scrouge, q.v., of which, clearly, scrunge may be a var.; cf. skrimp, q.v. The SOD records at 1919; W. quotes Westminster Gazette of Jan. 1920; but the soldiers used it from the early days of the war. See esp. B. & P.—2. In WW2 the soldiers used it to mean 'to avoid a fatigue'. P-G-R.

scrounge on. To sponge on US (—1911) >, by 1918, anglicised. OED Sup.

scrounger. One who does 'scrounge' (see the v.): military: from 1915.

scrounging. vbl n. and ppl adj. of scrounge, v.: military: 1914 or 1915.

scrouperise. To coit: a rather literary coll.: mid-C.17—early 18. Translations of Rabelais. Cf. later S.E. scroop, to scrape.

scrousher. An old, esp. if broken-down, gold prospector or digger: NZ: since ca. 1862; long, merely historical. (Ruth Park, One-a-Pecker, Two-a-Pecker, 1958.) Perhaps an imitative word.—2. Hence (?), a prostitute: low Aus.: late C.19–20. D'Arcy Niland, The Big City, 1959.

scrovie, -y. A useless hand shipped as an able-bodied seaman: nautical: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Cognate with S.E. scuffy: cf. scroof.

scrowge. See scrouge, v.

scrub, n. 'One who pays not his whack at the tavern' (Bee): public-house coll.: ca. 1820–60. Ex scrub, a shabby fellow.—2. A small (dirty or slovenly) boy: Christ's Hospital (School): since ca. 1860. (Marples.) But cf.—3. Handwriting: Christ's Hospital: mid-C.19–20. Ex the v., 2.—4. An inferior bull or cow: Can. rural: since ca. 1920. (Leechman.) Cf. scrubber, 1.—5. A low-class prostitute: C.18. (James Dalton, A Narrative, 1728, p. 17.) Cf. scrubber, 6.

scrub, v. To drudge: coll.: late C.19–20. Ex scrubbing floors, steps, etc.—2. V.t. to write fast: Christ's Hospital (School): mid-C.19–20. Ex L. scribere.—3. Esp in scrub it!, cancel it!; forget it!; Services': since ca. 1910. Esp., later, RAF (H. & P.). I.e. wash it out (as e.g., with a scrubbing-brush).—4. To reprimand: RN: late C.19–20. 'Taffrail', Stand By!, 1916.—5. To dismiss or give up or abandon (someone): Aus.: since ca. 1935. D'Arcy Niland, 1958.—6. 'To assist in a surgical operation. "Will you scrub with me tomorrow?" I.e., will you scrub your hands (for asepsis) and follow me and assist?' (Leechman): Can. surgeons': since ca. 1945.—7. See scrubbing-brush, 2: low coll.: C.20.

scrub and wash clothes. 'A substitute expression in reading aloud for a word suddenly come upon which the reader cannot pronounce': RN coll.: late C.19–20. F. & G.

scrub-bashing. A method of bashing the scrub down before burning it: Aus. farmers': late C.19–20. (Wilkes, letter to Mrs C. Raab, 1982.)

scrub cockie. A small farmer working land mainly covered with trees, or other rough land: Aus. coll.: C.20. (B., 1942.) See cocky, n., 3.

scrub-dangler. A wild bullock: ca. 1885–1920. Cf. scrubber, 1.

scrub-happy. Suffering from nervous exhaustion resulting from service in outback regions, hence in the tropics: Aus. soldiers': 1940–5. (B., 1943.) Cf. bomb-happy, sand-happy, etc.

scrub her (gen. 'er). To sponge off the big odds on one's [bookmaker's] board: turf c.:—1932. Cf. scrubbing-brush, 2.

scrub out. V.i., to cease to be friends: low: from ca. 1919. I.e. to wash it (friendship) out.

scrub round. To agree to forget; to omit; to cancel, ignore: Services': since ca. 1935. (H. & P.) Elab. of scrub, v., 4. Also scrub all round.—2. To take evasive action: 1939+: RAF. (Jackson.) Not gen., because of confusion with sense 1. In the RN, however, the term is frequently used (Granville, 1945).

scrub(b)ado. The itch: mid-C.17–early 19: coll. on † S.E. scrub, the same.

scrubbed. See get scrubbed.

scrubbed-hammock face. 'A miserable-looking person' (Bowen): RN: late C.19–earlier 20. Goodenough, 1901; Bowen, 'The naval hammock... does not look at its best when wet.' Hence, have a scrubbed-hammock face, to look gloomy (F. & G.)

scrubber. An animal living in the scrub: Aus. coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.: 1859, H. Kingsley in Geoffrey Hamlyn; F.D. Davison, Man-Shy, 1934.—2. Hence, a person living there: 1890 ('Rolf Boldrewood').—3. An outsider; in university circles, 'one who will not join in the life of the place' (cf. the Oxford smug): Aus.: 1868; ob. by 1935. (Morris.) Ex sense 1, as is:—4. Any 'starved-looking or ill-bred animal': Aus. coll.:—1898 (Morris). Cf. the Aus. j. scrub-bull, an inferior bull or bullock.—5. Any Other-Ranker: army: ca. 1920–45.—6. A low woman: orig. mostly army, since ca. 1925; by ca. 1950 Services' gen. Ex port cities', e.g., London, Portsmouth, Liverpool, use of the term for a prostitute: C.20. Cf. C.18 synon. scrub, n., 5. Often, in later C.20, qualified old or young scrubber, both pej.—7. Hence, a girl not at all glamorous: since ca. 1955. Via. 'An unwashed female teenager' (Robin Cook, 1962): since ca. 1945: c. >, by ca. 1955, also low s. I.e. young scrubbers.—8. 'Any weedy or unpleasant person' (B., 1943): Aus.: since ca. 1925. Ex sense 4.—9. As exclam., scrubbers!: That's finished, exists no longer: orig. and mainly RAF: since early 1930s. (Jackson.) Ex scrub, v., 3; cf. scrub her.—10. See dry scrub.

scrubbing. A flogging of four cuts: Winchester: ca. 1840–1900. Mansfield, 'The ordinary punishment was called scrubbing.' Ex gen. coll. of ca. 1810–50, often in sense of defeat (OED) scrubbing-brush. The pubic hair: low: mid-C.19–20.—2. An 'outside' horse or dog that 'scrubs' or beats the favourites: turf c.:—1932 (Slang, p. 246).—3. (Usu. pl.) A loaf of bread that contains more bran and chaff than flour: Aus.: ca. 1880–1930. B., 1943.

Scrubs, the. The convict prison at Wormwood Scrubs: c. (—1916) >, by 1923, low s. E.g. in Manchon, 1923; George Baker, The Soul of a Skunk, 1930; Anon., Dartmoor from Within, 1932.

scruey. See screwy, 2. Thackeray, 1855.

scruff, n. Newfoundland s. of ca. 1860–1900. Figaro, 25 Nov. 1870, quoting from Montreal News, on 'Codland Habits': 'The best society is called "merchutable", that being the term for fish of the best quality; while the lowest stratum is "scruff" or "dun".' Ex ob. S.E. scruff applied to anything valueless or contemptible. Current also in Lancashire since ca. 1870 (Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976).—2. A scruffy-looking person: since ca. 1950. 'Who're that load of scruffs, then?' Scruffy is S.E., in gen. use since ca. 1925 (SOD). (P.B.)—3. As the Scruff: 'The Desert Airforce (a combination of scruffy and R.A.F.). Eighth Army used to think that men of the Desert Airforce were dirtier and scruffier than themselves. A debatable point.' Thus Peter Sanders, à propos the war in N. Africa in 1940–3; Sunday Times mag., 10 Sep. 1967.

scruff, v.t. To hang: coll.: C.19. Ex scruff, the nape of the neck.—2. To manhandle; to attack: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. (B., 1942.) I.e. take by the scruff of the neck.—3. To seize (esp. a sheep): Aus. abattoirs' coll.: C.20. (Dick.) Cf. sense 2.

scruff-bag. A 'down-and-out': police and low s.: since ca. 1930. (Tom Barling, Bergman's Blitz, 1973.) P.B.: in later C.20 joc. coll. for any scruffy-looking person.

scruff order (, in). Very informally dressed: army: later C.20. (P.B.)

scruffy. See scruff, n., 2.

Scruffy Kings, the. The Liverpool Regiment: Liverpool: C.20.

scrum, n. A scrimmage in Rugby football: 1888 (OED): coll. till C.20, then S.E.—2. Hence, a crowd or a 'rag': Rugby School: from the 1880s.—3. A threepenny bit: Aus.: late C.19–earlier 20. Baker.

scrum, v. To scrimmage: C.20: Rugby Football coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Ex n., 1.

scrum, adj. Wonderful, excellent: schoolgirls': earlier C.20. Ex scrumptious.

scrumdolious. 'Scrumptious', of which it is an elab.; late C.19–20. J.B. Priestley, Faraway, 1932.

scrummy. 'Scrumptious' (whence it derives): from ca. 1906, on the evidence of Collinson (p. 24); 1918 (Galsworthy: OED Sup.).—2. An occ. corruption of crummy, lousy: NZ army: WW1.

scrimp. See skrimp.

scrumptious. First rate, excellent, 'glorious': coll.: 1859 (H., 1st ed.); 1865, Meredith, 'Hang me, if ever I see such a scrumptious lot' (OED). Ex US coll. sense, stylish (of things), handsome (of persons).—2. The sense 'fastidious, hard to please' is by the OED queried as US only: perhaps orig. US (whence the OED's quot'n, 1845), but app. current in England ca. 1855–75, for the life-time edd. of H. define the word as 'nice, particular, beautiful.' Prob. ex dial. sense of mean, stingy; sense 1, therefore, as W. Points out, may have been influenced by sumptuous.

scrumptiously. The adv. of the prec.: coll.: from not later than 1880.

scrumpy rat. A habitual drunkard: RN lowerdeck: mid-C.20. (Heart, 1962.) Ex (mainly) W. Country dial. scrumpy, rough cider, itself from dial. v. scrimp, to steal apples (SOD, 1977). See skrimp. (P.B.)

scrunch. Food; esp. sweets (lollies): Aus.: since ca. 1920. (Baker.) Echoic, cf.:-

scruncher. A glutton: coll.: from ca. 1860. Ex scrunch, to bite crushingly.

scrunge. See TIDDLYWINKS, in Appendix.

scrutch. To scratch one's crutch: Aus. joc.: since ca. 1930. B., 1943.

scud, n. A fast runner: schools': 1857, Hughes in Tom Brown, 'I say... you ain't a bad scud'; ob. by 1930. Ex scud, to move quickly.—2. Hence, a fast run: from ca. 1870; slightly ob. by 1930. See v.—3. A travelling ticket inspector: railwaymen's: since ca. 1920. (Railway, 2nd.) He works fast.

scud, v. Of persons: to run: naval: late C.18–mid-19. (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, II, 1826: Moe.) Ex the nautical S.E. sense.

scuddick, the gen. form; also scuddock, scurrick, scuttick (mostly dial.), skiddi(c)k (id.), and skuddick. An extremely small sum or coin, amount or object: s. and dial.: from ca. 1780 (EDD); in C.20, only dial. 'Jon Bee', 1823, 'Used negatively; "not a scuddick"... "Every scuddick gone"; "she gets not a scuddick from me".' Perhaps ex † S.E. scud, refuse; more prob. ex dial. scud, a wisp of straw, despite the fact that this sense is not recorded until 1843 (OED),—many dial. terms were almost certainly existent 'ages' before their earliest appearance in print.—2. In c. of ca. 1820–60, a halfpenny; only in form scurrick. Egan's Groser, 1823; Moncrieff, 1843. Cf. skerrick.

scuff. A(ny) crowd: c.: from late 1870s. Macmillan's Magazine, 1879 (XL, 501), 'This got a scuff round us'; 'Dagonet' Sims in the Referee, 12 Feb. 1888. Ex more gen. S.E. sense, a noisy crowd.

scuffer. A policeman: Liverpool: C.20. Ex dial. scuff, to strike. (Frank Shaw.) Cf. scuffer. P.B.: in later C.20, more gen. s., perhaps spread by the 'Merseyside boom' of the 1960s. Hence judy scuffer, a policewoman.

scuffle. To 'get by' or barely manage to exist: beatniks': since ca. 1959. Anderson, 'Some scuffle on leaves and coke' (lettuce and Coca-Cola).

scuffle-hunter. One who hangs about the docks on the pretence of looking for work but actually to steal anything that 'comes his way': c. and nautical s. from ca. 1790; ob. Colquhoun's Police of the Metropolis, 1796; Bowen.

scuffy. Inferior, contemptible: Christ's Hospital (School): —1887 (Baumann). Prob. ex scuffy.

scufter. A policeman: Northern c. (cf. bulky): ca. 1855–90. (H., 2nd ed.) Ex either scuffe, to throw up dust in walking (cf. dial. scuff, to shuffle), or, more likely, scuff, to buffet. Cf. scuffer.

scug; also (very rare in C.20) skug. An untidy or ill-mannered or morally undeveloped boy; a shirker at games; one 'undistinguished in person, in games, or social qualities': Eton and Harrow: from ca. 1820. Westmacott, 1825, refers it to sluggish; perhaps, however, ex Scots and Northern scug (skug), a pretence; ex Yorkshire and Lancashire dial. scug, scum; but possibly scadger, q.v. See esp. ETON, §2, in Appendix.

scuggish; scuggy. Adj. to the prec.

scull. The head of a college: university:—1785; ob. by 1864 (see H., 3rd ed.), † by 1890. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. scull-race and Golgotha, qq.v. P.B.: † a var. spelling of S.E. skull.—2. 'A one-horse chaise or buggy' (Grose, 1st ed., also sculler): ca. 1780–1830.—3. See sculls.

scull about. To seek something easy to steal: c.: since ca. 1910. (Free-Lance Writer, Apr. 1948.) Cf. sculling around; in WW2 sculling about was a var. (P-G-R).

scull-race. An examination: University: ca. 1810–70. Ex scull, 1, q.v.

scull-thatcher. A wig-maker: coll.:—1785; ob. by 1930. Grose, 1st ed.—2. Whence, a hatter: C.19—early 20.

sculler. See scull, 2.

scullery-science. Phrenology: joc. coll.: ca. 1830–60. (Chorley, 1836.) Punning skull.

sculling around. (Of a person) wandering aimlessly; (of a thing) left lying about: nautical: C.20. (Taffrail, The Sub, 1917.) Ex leisurely rowing. P.B.: by mid-C.20 gen. coll., and not always aimless: e.g., 'They're all sculling around looking for her.'

sculls. A waterman plying sculls: coll.: C.18–20. Cf. oars.

sculp. A piece of sculpture: coll.: 1883 (Daily News, 18 Jan.: Ware). Cf.:-

sculp, v.t. To sculpture: from ca. 1780: S.E. until ca. 1880, then (gen. joc.) coll. R.L. Stevenson, 1887.—2. Hence, v.i.: coll.: 1889 (W.E. Norris); 1893, Kipling, 'Men who write, and paint, and sculp' (OED). Rather S.E. than 'unconventional' is sculpt, which, recorded for 1864, is very rare in C.20. See OED. P.B.: pace E.P. and the OED, sculpt is not all that rare, prob. no less used than sculp.

scum, n. A 'fag'; new scum, a new boy: Shrewsbury: C.20. Marples.

scum. Enough: c. of ca. 1720–50. (Street Robberies Considered, 1728.) ? etym.

scun. To wander aimlessly or, by meiosis, purposefully: Services' (? mostly army): WW2. Prob. a blend of scull + swan. (Camilla Raab.)

scungy or -ey. 'A pejorative currently'—June 1963—'popular in Sydney and Melbourne undergraduate circles' (B.P.). Perhaps ex Scottish and N. Irish scunge, to slink about, and scupper. To take by surprise and then massacre: military: 1885 (the Suakin Expedition). W.—2. Hence, to kill: military: late C.19–20. (B. & P.) ? ex cooper (q.v.), to ruin. P.B.: or simply 'allowed to run away through the scuppers—lost at sea'?—3. To spoil or ruin: coll.: C.20. 'I'm afraid he scuppered his chances at the interview by looking so scruffy' (P.B.).

Scottish scunge, a sly or vicious fellow; or, as B.P. suggests, ex Aus. scungy, scabby, itself perhaps s.—dating from ca. 1920. Cf. the archaic S.E. adj. scurvey, and s. gungey.

scupper up. See jug up.

scuppered. Killed, dead in battle: Services': late C.19–20. Perhaps orig. RN, and the orig. of scupper, 2.—2. Sunk: RN: C.20. Bowen.—3. Scattered; demoralised: Services': earlier C.20. F. & G.

scurf, n. A mean, a 'scurvy' fellow: ca. 1850–1915. Mayhew, 1851, "'There's a scurf!' said one; "He's a regular scab," cried another.' Cf. scab, n., 1.—2. A 'scab' as in scab, n., 2, q.v.: from ca. 1850.—3. Also, an employer paying less than the standard wage: from ca. 1850. Like sense 2, first in Mayhew.

scurf, v. To apprehend, arrest: c. of ca. 1810–50. (Vaux.) ? ex S.E. scuff.

scurf, adj. (Of labour) cheap: Cockneys': ca. 1845–90. (Mayhew, II, 1851.) Cf. the n., 2.

scurrick. See scuddick.

scurze. See skers.

scuse or 'scuse. (Esp. in 'scuse me!') To excuse: late C.15–20: S.E. until C.19, then (when not, as occ., deliberately humorous) coll. verging on illiteracy. T.E. Brown, 1887, "'Scuse me, your honour' (OED). Scuse (, please) continues as a coll. slovening of 'please excuse me, I wish to come past you' (P.B., 1981).

scushy. Money: Scottish: late C.18—mid-19. (Shirrefs, Poems, 1790: EDD) Origin?

scut. The female pudend or pubic hair: coll.: late C.16–20; ob. Ex scut, a short upright tail, esp. of hare, rabbit, deer. (Implied in Shakespeare, Cotton, Durfey, and several broadsides, but not, I believe, defined as the pudend before Grose, 1st ed.) Also, the behind: C.18. Ned Ward, 1709 (Matthews).—2. A person; occ. a number of persons: coll. and dial., either joc. or pej.: from early 1890s. (OED Sup.) Ex S.E. sense.—3. A female servant: Tonbridge School: earlier C.20. Also skiff. P.B.: scut (prob. var. of scout, 1), was very ob., and skiff †, by 1946.—4. 'A dirty, mean person' (L.E.F. English, Historic Newfoundland, 1955): Newfoundland: C.20. A specialisation of sense 2.

scutcher. Anything very large or, esp., very good; adj., excellent: Aus.: since ca. 1910. (B., 1942.) ? scotcher something, 'killing' (to scotch a snake).

scutter. To go hastily and fussily or excitedly or timorously: coll. and dial.: from ca. 1780. Mrs Delany, 1781, 'She staid ab' 24 hours, then scutter'd away to Badminton.' The vbl n. is frequent, the ppl. adj. rare. (OED). Prob. ex scuttle on scatter. Imm. ex dial. (1777: EDD).

scuttick. See scuddick.

scuttle, n. An undignified withdrawal: political: 1884 (OED); slightly ob. Ex the v.—2. In do a back scuttle, to engage in an act of sodomy: low: late C.19—earlier 20.—3. To coil dorsally: low: C.20.—4. In on the scuttle, on a bout of drinking or a round of whoring: ca. 1870–1930. Cf. v., 3.

scuttle, v.i. To withdraw with unseemly haste from the occupation, or the administration, of a country: political: 1883 (Lord Randolph Churchill in a speech delivered on 18 Dec.); slightly ob. by 1930. Ex S.E. sense, 'to run with quick, hurried steps' (OED).—2. V.i. to shout in order to attract the attention of the masters to one's being roughly treated: Christ's Hospital (School): mid-C.19—early 20. Whence scuttle-cat, one who does this: † by 1903.—3. To deflower: orig. nautical: mid-C.19–20. Whence scuttle a ship, to take a maidenhead.—4. To stab: c.: from ca. 1860; ob.—5. To go; to depart: schoolboys' s. (from c. 1906) now verging on coll. (Collinson.) Cf. S.E. scuttle away.—6. To disappear: RAF coll.; since ca. 1938. (H. & P.) Cf. 1, 5, and:—7. As v. reflexive, to make oneself scarce: Cape Town University: ca. 1940–5. Prof. W.S. Mackie, Cape Argus, 4 July 1946.—8. To fail (a candidate): id. Ibid.—9. See scuttling, 2, and: scuttle a nob. To break a head: pugilistic: from ca. 1810; ob. Randall.

scuttle a ship. See scuttle, v., 3.

scuttle-cat. See scuttle, v., 2.

scuttle-mouth. A small oyster in a very large shell: costermongers': 1848, though first recorded in vol. I (1851) of Mayhew's London Labour.

scuttle but(t). Rumour; gossip: adopted, late 1960s, ex USN coll.; by 1972, coll. (Chambers's C.20th Dict., 1972.) Ex lit. nautical sense.

scuttled, ppl adj. Captured: military: 1914+. G.H. McKnight, English Words, 1923.

scuttler. An advocate of 'scuttle' (see the n.): political: 1884 (OED); ob.—2. A hooligan or street-fighter. See next, 2.

scuttling. The policy implied in scuttle, v., 1: political: 1884 (OED); ob.—2. As street-fighting between youthful groups, scuttling, like scuttle the v. (1890) and the n. (1864), is gen. considered S.E.: perhaps orig. coll. or dial.—see EDD.

'sdeathl, 'sdeynes' 'sdiiggers! Abbr. God's death!, deynes or dines!, and diggers!: resp. C.17–18, then archaic; early C.17 (Jonson); late C.17. (OED.) All coll. except perhaps the first, which should perhaps be considered S.E.; all may be euph., though this is to underestimate the power of colloquialism, which is at least as great as that of euphemism.

'sdheart. See 'sheart.

sea attorney. Synon. with sea lawyer: RN: since ca. 1810. Fredk Chamier, The Life of a Sailor, 1832, at II, 17. (Moe.)

sea-blessing. A curse; curses: joc. nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

sea-boot face, have a. To look gloomy: RN: C.20. (F. & G.) Cf. scrubbed-hammock face, q.v.

Sea-Boots, the. 'The naval name for the old turret-battleships "Hero" and "Conqueror", which had... the upper works bunched aft': early C.20. Bowen.

sea-coal. Smuggled spirits: mid-C.18–mid-C.19. S.R. Crockett, The Raiders, 1894.—2. Money: C.19, mainly nautical. On sea-cole = sea-sale, and cole = money.

sea-cook. See son of a sea-cook.

sea-coot. A seaman, esp. if of fresh water or scant ability: nautical:—1887; ob. Baumann; Manchon. Prob. ex prec., with a pun on (silly) coot.

sea-crab. A sailor: nautical: ca. 1780–1890. (Grose, 1st ed.; 'Jon Bee', 1823; Baumann.) Cf. scaly fish, q.v.

sea daddy. A staid rating: RN: since ca. 1900. Granville, 'Usually a badgeman who acts as mentor to new entries'. 'Taffrail' uses it in Pincher Martin, 1916.

sea-flea. 'A very fast motor boat that skips and bounces over the ocean like a flea on a sheet' (Leechman): mostly Can.: since ca. 1950. Perhaps ex the US s. sea-flea, an outboard motor boat (W. & F.).

sea-galloper. A special correspondent: RN coll.: C.20; ob. Army and Navy Gazette, 13 July 1901, 'These sea-gallopers—to use Lord Spencer's historical designation.'

Sea-Gallopers' Society, the. The Imperial Maritime League, set up (ca. 1901) in opposition to the Navy League.

sea-grocer. A purser: a nautical nickname: from ca. 1860; ob. Smyth, 1867.

sea-gull. See seagull.

sea-lawyer. A shark; esp. a tiger-shark: coll. nickname: from ca. 1810. (Lex. Bal.) N.B., sea-attorney, the ordinary brown shark, is a mere derivative—and S.E.—2. A grey snapper: id.:—1876 (OED).—3. Ex sense 1 a captious and argumentative, or a scheming, fo'c's'le hand: nautical coll.: since ca. 1820. It occurs in the Canton Register, 4 July 1837 (p. 112), in a letter written by a British sea captain, Christopher Biden, and in W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 18), 1829 (Moe). Whence sea-lawyering, such behaviour: mid-C.19–20. Cf. bush-lawyer, barrack-room lawyer.

sea miles than you've had (or eaten) pusser's peas, I've done (or had) more. A boast of comparatively long service at sea: RN: since ca. 1917. (Pusser, purser.) Cf. the army's and RAF's get your knees brown! (hot-country service) and get some in! (general). Cf. also boasts in the shape (e.g. I've had more—than you've had hot dinners, q.v. at hot dinners).

Sea-Orphan. HMS Seraphim: RN: early 20. (Bowen.) By Hobson-Jobson.

sea-pheasant. A bloater or a kipper: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

sea-pig. A self-appointed guardian of a new hand: RN lowerdeck: C.20. (Knock.) Cf. sea daddy.

sea-pork. The flesh of young whales: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

sea rig. 'Old clothes and duffle coats, woollen stockings and sea-boots' (W.G. Carr, Brass Hats..., 1939): late C.19–20 RN coll. >, by 1920, S.E.

sea-rover. A herring: mostly London:—1890. Gen. in a doorstep and a sea-rover, a slice of bread and a herring, and doorsteps and (a) sea-rover, a herring sandwich, as in Whiteing's No. 5 John Street, 1899.

sea-toss. 'A toss overboard into the sea' (Century Dict, 1891): coll.: late C.19–20.

sea-wag. An ocean-going vessel: nautical: late C.19—early 20.

sea William. A civilian: naval: ca. 1800–50. Marryat (Ware).

seabees. RAF men serving with the RN: 1944–5. (Gordon Holman, Stand by to Beach, 1944.) 'prob. ultimately from US Seabees, Naval Construction [Battalion] workers whose emblem is a (busy) bee, whose six legs hold a hammer, wrench, saw, etc.' (Robert Claiborne, 1976). Ex initials C.B.

seagly. See Sedgley curse.

seagull. 'An old sailorman retired from the sea': nautical: late C.19–20; ob. Bowen.—2. Chicken: Royal Naval College, Dartmouth: C.20. Ibid.—3. 'A casual wharf labourer (from the bird's habit of waiting for and swooping on scraps)' (Wilkes): Aus.: C.20.

seagull on. Synon. with pigeon on: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.

seal, n. A preacher's convert: ecclesiastical: ca. 1850–80. (Conybeare, 1853.) Either ex set one's seal to or ex under (one's) seal. Cf. owned, q.v.—2. The penis: C.17 (?—early 18). John Donne, + 1631, 'To His Mistress Going to Bed', 'Then where my hand is set my seal shall be' (R.S.) Cf. seals, and: seal, v. To impregnate (a woman): C.19—early 20. Cf. sew up, and prec., 2.

sealer. 'One that gives Bonds and Judgments for Goods and Money' (B.E.): c.: late C.17—early 19. (Shadwell, Grose.) Also known as squeeze-wax.

sealing-wax. See long sticks of..., guardsmen.

seals. Testicles: C.19–20; ob. Because they seal a sexual bargain.

seam-squirrel. A louse: military: WW1. (F. & G.) Body-lice make for the seams of one's clothes.

seaman if he carries a millstone will have a quail out of it, a. A mid-C.17—mid-18 semi-proverbial c.p. alluding to the ingenuity displayed by sailors as regards meat and drink. Ray.

seaman's disgrace. A foul anchor: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

seamer. A medium- or a fast-medium-paced ball delivered with a skilful use of the seam: cricketers': since ca. 1948. By 1960, coll.

sear, sere. The female pudend: coll.: late C.16–17. Partly ex sear, the touch-hole of a pistol, and partly ex light (or tickle) of the sear or sere, wanton.

search. (Of a pickpocket) to rob (a person): c.: C.20. David Hume.

search me! or you can (or may) search me! I don't know: c.p.: adopted ex US ca. 1910. (Sc.—but you won't find it!) See DCpp.

searcher. A searching question, an embarrassing problem: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

seaside moths. Bed vermin: middle classes':—1909 (Ware); ob. by 1930.

seasoner. A person in the fashion: coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

seat. A rider: sporting coll.:—1887 (Baumann). Ex have a good seat (in the saddle).—2. the seat is the hip pocket: c.: late C.19–20. I.e. in pickpocketing. Cf. outer, q.v.—3. See hot seat.

seat of honour, shame, vengeance. The posteriors; joc. coll. (in C.20 ob.): resp. 1792, Wolcot (adumbrated in Bailey's Erasmus, 1725); 1821, Combe, and rare; 1749, Smollett,—likewise rare. Ex the fact that 'he was commonly accounted the most honourable that was first seated, and that this honour was commonly done to the posteriors' (Bailey).

seat of magistracy. 'Proctor's authority' (Egan's Grose): Oxford University: ca. 1820–50.

seat-of-the-pants flyer. One of the pioneers of air transport over the unmapped Canadian North during the 1920s and 1930s: Can. coll.: at first, modestly among themselves; then, admiringly by journalists: since ca. 1925; after ca. 1950, mostly historical 'They flew, with few instruments, over practically uninhabited country, to land on small lakes or rude airfields' (F.E.L. Priestley). See fly by the seat...

seats. Buttocks: partly humorous and partly euph.; and, in the main, middle-class dom.: since ca. 1945. 'She has prominent'—or 'a prominent pair of'—'seats'.

Seats Bill. Redistribution (of Seats) Bill: political coll.: 1884. Baumann.

Sebastianist. A Mr Micawber, one who believes that something good will turn up some day: coll. (late C.19–20) among the English Colony at Lisbon. Ex the Portuguese. In 1578, King Sebastian was defeated in Morocco and never again heard of: but half Portugal, refusing to credit his death, believed that he would return and lead them to victory.

sec. A second: coll.: from ca. 1880. Orig.—ca. 1860 (Ware)—a mere abbr.—2. A secretary: coll.:—1923 (Manchon). Granville, 'An Admiral's or a captain's secretary': RN.

secko. A (male) sex pervert: low Aus.: since ca. 1925. (Ruth Park, Poor Man's Orange, 1949.) By abbr. + Aus. -o (Wilkes).

second; third. Second mate; third mate: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. Often in address, as in 'Go easy, third!'—2. (Also adj.) Second-hand; seconds, second-hand goods: dealers' coll.: C.19–20. P.B.: in later C.20 seconds is commercial j. for goods sold cheap because damaged or spoiled in manufacture. Also broken, defective or otherwise unsaleable fish, which Granville notes as fishermen's j.

second-class buff. A stoker, 2nd class: RN: earlier C.20. P-G-R.

second dickey, -ie, -y. The second mate: nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.—2. Hence, the reserve or second pilot in an aircraft: RAF: since ca. 1938. (Jackson.) Don't give yourself away by speaking of a 'first dicky'—the term does not exist. Cf. the RAF boast of long service, 'I flew second dicky to Pontius Pilate.'

second eleven, the. The Commander and the deputy heads of department, as opposed to the Captain and the heads of department, on board a capital ship: RN: since ca. 1940. Ex cricket.—2. 'Old frigates resuscitated from the reserve, and known somewhat unkindly as the "Second Eleven"' (J. Winton, Illustrated London News, June 1977, p. 39): RN, esp. Fisheries Patrol.

second fiddle. An unpleasant job.: tailors': ca. 1870–1915.—2. See play first fiddle... second greaser. 'Second mate under sail': nautical: late C.19–20. Bowen.

second-hand dartboard. A promiscuous woman, as in 'characterising her with epithets new to me: village bicycle, second-hand dartboard, lavatory door in a gale' (Ted Walker, High Path, 1982, writing of the late 1940s). Cf. town or garrison bike, and bangs like a skithouse rat.

second-hand sun. Refracted sunlight [presumably reflected is meant]: proletarian coll.:—1909 (Ware).

second-hand woman. A widow: Army in India: 1859–ca. 1900. Ware.

second horse. See hot seat.

second-liker. A second (e.g. drink) like—the same as—the first: taverns': 1884; slightly ob. by 1930. Ware.

second loote. A second lieutenant: army: WW2, perhaps earlier. See lef, 1.

second mate's nip. 'A full measure of liquor': nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

Second Micks, the. Nickname of the Hertfordshire Territorials of the Bedfordshire Regt: in 1914–15 they served in the 4th Guards Brigade and became known thus because of their close friendship with the 1st Battalion, the Irish Guards. (Carew.) See also Herts Guards.

second over the head. Rather worse than the first: Conway cadets': late C.19–20. John Masefield, The Conway, 1933.

second picture. The 'tableau upon the rising of the curtain to applause, after it has fallen at the end of an act, or a play': theatrical coll.: 1885. Ware.

second-timer. A prisoner convicted for the second time: coll.: late C.19–20.

seconds, the. Esp. in a touch of the seconds, defined by Powis as 'Fear of consequences, second thoughts': police and c.: since mid-C.20. Nicholas Blake, The Whisper in the Gloom, 1954; Alan Hunter, Gently Sahib, 1964, has 'get the seconds'.

seconds up! Second helpings available: Can. army cooks': WW1. B. & P.

secret, n. In the grand secret, dead: coll.: later C.18—early 20. (Grose, 1st ed.) Cf. join the great majority.—2. In let into the secret, swindled, e.g. at horse-racing, sports, games: late C.17—early 19: c. >, ca. 1730, s. B.E., Grose.—3. In let in for a secret, 'When a man suspects another man of trying to get him into a row [or into trouble], he says, "So-and-so wants to let me in for a secret"' (Goodenough, 1901): RN lowerdeck: latish C.19—mid-20. Cf. sense 2.

secret Harry. 'Wardroom jocular for the secretary who knows all the secrets, and, tantalisingly, divulges none' (Granville): RN: mid-C.20.

secret squirrel. 'Intelligence operative' (C. Hawke, For Campaign Service, 1979): Services' in N. Ireland: since ca. 1970.

secret works. Automatic air-brake application: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Ironic.

sect. Sex: C.13–20: S.E. until C.19, then coll. until ca. 1850; then low coll. till C.20, when sol. unless deliberately humorous. Cf. persuasion, q.v.

Sedgley (occ. Seagly) curse. A semi-proverbial coll. of ca. 1620–1840. Fletcher, ca. 1625, 'A seagly curse light on him, which is, Pedro: The feind ride through him booted, and spur'd, with a Sythe at's back'; Ray; Defoe; Scott. Ex a town in Staffordshire; but I cannot improve on Apperson's 'I know not why'.

seduce my ancient footwear! See fuck my old boots.

sedulous ape. A writer who, aiming at a certain periodical, imitates the style, arrangement, etc., of its articles: authors' coll.: since ca. 1890. Ex a famous passage in Robert Louis Stevenson, who speaks of having, in his essays, 'played the sedulous ape' to such as Montaigne and Hazlitt.

see, v.i. To coit: low s. verging on c., for it is a prostitutes' word: C.19–20 (? ob.). Also see stars lying on one's back.—2. To bet (a person); call his bluff: cotton-factors':—1909 (Ware). Ex the v. see in the game of poker.—3. As see!, or you see, a conversational tag among those who possess a meagre vocabulary: late (? mid-) C.19–20. Cf. the dovtail:—4. In I see, I agree or understand (as comment on an explanation or an argument): coll.: C.19–20. An occ., would-be humorous, elab. since mid-C.20 is 'I see', said the blind man.—5. As v.t., in cannot, or be unable to, see it, to see one's way to doing something; to concur or agree: coll.: mid C.19–20. "'Get up, my man, and let us go on," said the stranger, almost throttling Cracroft. That worthy gentleman, however, "could not see it", as we now say in modern slang. With a struggle he stammered that he had lost the wager' (Renton Nicholson, An Autobiography, 1860).

see a man. Usu. in I'm going to see a man, or I must go and ...,

I'm going (out) to get a drink: coll. evasive: since later C.19. Ware cites the Referee, 6 Sep. 1885. Occ. var. see a friend. Perhaps sooner, and therefore the orig. of the more elab.: see a man about a dog. Loosely, synon. with prec.: late C.19–20. Lyell.—2. Properly, to visit a woman sexually: raffish: late C.19–earlier 20. Ibid.—3. Often, too, in answer to an inconvenient question about one's destination: C.20, also=to go to the lavatory (to urinate only): men's: late C.19–20. In C.20, occ. joc. var., see a dog about a man. see a wolf. (Of a woman) to be seduced: coll.: C.19–early 20. Ex the fig. sense, to lose one's voice. R.S., 1973: 'Cf. contemporary Fr. s. avoir vu le loup, to have been seduced.' see about it, I'll. A coll. evasion: mid-C.19–20. see and (another v.) To take care to (do something): coll.: from ca. 1760; slightly ob. Mrs F. Sheridan, ca. 1766, 'David... told me he'd see and get me another every jot as pretty' (OED). see any green? Do you take me for a simpleton?: since ca. 1920. See do you see... see anything, as in 'Have you seen anything?'—'Have you had your monthly period?': a lower and lower-middle class feminine euph.: mid-C.19–20 >, 1910, coll. see (someone's) arse for dust, you couldn't. He departed in a tremendous hurry: c.p.: late C.19–20. A vulgarisation of you couldn't see his heels for (the) dust. see as far into a millstone (or milestone) as... See millstone. see (one's) aunt. To urinate: euph. s. > coll., mostly feminine: since mid-C.19: ob. by later C.20. When not used by the very prim or by the elderly (note of 1977), it is humorously allusive. see candles. See see stars. see (a person) coming. To impose on; esp., to charge too much: coll.: late C.19–20. Gen. in some such phrase as 'He saw you coming', i.e. saw you were gullible and so took advantage of you. Perhaps ex the Fr. voir quelqu'un venir, see one's drift. see company. To live by harlotry; esp., and properly, in a good way of business: low: from the 1740s; ob. John Cleland, 1749; Grose, 1st ed. see (someone) damned or further or hanged or to hell or the devil first, I'll. I certainly don't or won't agree to his proposal, etc.: coll.: resp. 1631, Heywood; mid-C.19–20; 1596, Shakespeare; C.19–20. OED. see-ers-off-ers. R.N. drinking gradations, when drink is shared: allowed to drink the whole of (the rest of) a tot' (L.A., 1967): RN: C.20. See see off, 4. see further through a brick wall than most, (he/she) can. Phrase applied to a shrewd, percipient person: since mid-C.20, ? earlier. See millstone. see (one's) grandmother. To have a nightmare: coll.: ca. 1850–1930. see (one) home. To reprimand, to 'tell off' someone: coll.: earlier C.20. (Ernest Raymond, The Jesting Army, 1930.) Cf. see off, 1. see (or watch) how the cat jumps (or will jump). To watch the course of events before committing oneself to decision or action: coll.: since ca. 1820. Scott; Bulwer-Lytton. see how the land lies. To ask how stands one's account or bill, esp. at a tavern: coll.: late C.17–early 19. B.E., Grose.—2. Gen. sense is S.E. see it coming a mile off. As 'you could see...' or 'we saw it...', intensification of 'see it coming', of an event of any sort, good or bad; esp. in the 'I told you so!' mood: coll.: C.20, ? earlier. (P.B.) see London. See show London. see Mrs Murray. See Mrs Murphy. see-o. See seeo. see off. To 'tell off', reprimand, scold severely. from ca. 1912. (Ernest Raymond, The Jesting Army, 1930.) Granville adds 'Much used in the Navy'. Cf. see home. Prob. ex 'see off the premises'.—2. To defeat (in, e.g., a boat race): RN: C.20.

Granville. 'Current among Cambridge undergraduates at least as early as 1930, as in 'I had an affair with a Buick near Reading, but as he can't corner, I saw him off through that esses bend' (passed him in his despite).—3. Hence, to outwit: RN: since ca. 1920.—4. To attend to (a task, an emergency) effectually: since ca. 1940. Cf. see-ers-off-ers. see-otches. See seeo. see (somebody) over the side. To accompany someone to the door in saying au revoir: Can.: since ca. 1945. Ex the Navy. (Leechman.) see red. To be in, fly into, a rage: coll.: C.20. Ex a bull's reaction to red. see sailor. ? A beggar who pretends to have been a seaman. In a Whitechapel tailor's humorously-worded handbill of 1875, among many s. terms for customers suited, 'See Sailors' appear in company with 'Shallow Coves, or Fellows on the High-Fl'y'. (P.B.) see stars or spots or candles. To be dazed: coll.: resp. late C.19–20 (Century Dict., 1891), mid-C.19–20, and mid-C.18–mid-19. Smollett, 1749, 'He... made me see more candles than ever burnt in Solomon's temple'; Galsworthy, The White Monkey, 1924, "'Per ardua ad astra," "Through hard knocks we shall see stars.'" see stars lying on one's back. See see, 1. see the breeze. To enjoy the fresh air (on a heath): Cockneys': ca. 1877–1900. (Ware.) Cf. taste the sun, q.v. see the colour of (someone's) money. To see his money; esp., to be paid: coll.: since ca. 1710. Dickens (OED). see the devil. To become drunk: early C.18–early 20. Franklin, 1737. see the elephant. To see the world; gain worldly experience: coll.; orig. (ca. 1840), US, anglicised ca. 1860. H., 2nd ed.; Laurence Oliphant; ob.—2. (Gen. to have seen the elephant.) To be seduced: from ca. 1875; ob. Cf. Fr. avoir vu le loup. see the ldng. To be very experienced, knowing, alert: ca. 1870–90. (H., 5th ed.) An English modification of prec., 1. see the shine by moonlight. To take a night walk with a female companion: Aus.: since ca. 1925. (Baker.) The shine on the water of sea or river or billabong. (More poetic than most Aus. s.) see things. To experience hallucinations: coll.: late (? mid) C.19–20. see through. To 'get through' (a meal): coll.: 1863 (OED); ob. by 1930. see (a newspaper) to bed. To set the presses in motion for the print of an edition: journalistic: C.20. see what I mean! In sense 'I told you what would happen—that's how it goes' is C.20 coll. (Granville, 1969.) see what the cat's brought in. A var. of look what..., q.v. at like something... Another var. is see (or look) what the wind's blown in. see with half an eye. To be alert of mind; often with the implication that the deduction is easy to make. Coll.: from ca. 1530: in C.19–20, S.E. The nautical have half an eye, ex the same sense, is perhaps to be considered as coll. see you! Au revoir!; I'll be seeing you: orig. Aus., since ca. 1930 (Baker); by late 1930s also Brit. Often slovened to see ya or yer, it has, in later C.20, almost supplanted so long. Variants are see you soon, occ. countered (usu. joc.) by not if I see you first! (Peter Sanders), and see you around (mainly US). Sometimes elab. to see you in church or court or jail: perhaps orig. Aus. Prob. orig., as Wilkes notes, short for see you later; but as he further points out, both versions had, by mid-C.20, ceased to express any true desire for reunion, and could be used quite unthinkingly as a farewell to a complete stranger. See: see you later – alligator! Au revoir!: c.p., to which the 'dovetail' response is in a while—crocodile! Reinforced by use as the chorus of a very popular 'rock' rhythm song, it swept the English-speaking world in the late 1940s–early 50s. This sort of rhyming c.p. was, ca. 1953–7, a vogue, current also in advertising; it has left a meagre residue of a very few phrases, which, after their heyday, strike one as being even more moronically painful than they were when popular.

see you next Tuesday. An 'explanation' of the letters c.u.n.t. (see cunt): Services': WW2. (E.W. Bishop, 1978.)

see you under the clock! A light-hearted ref. to an agreed meeting soon to take place, but not to any particular clock: mid-C.20. From meetings appointed to take place under, e.g., a railway station clock. (Granville, 1968.) See DCpp.

seed. See run to seed.

seed-plot. The female pudend: C.19–early 20: coll. verging or euph. S.E.

seed tick. The larval stage of the cattle tick' (B., 1959): Aus. rural coll.: C.20.

seeds. Hempseeds used as a drug: drugs world: since ca. 1960. Bournemouth Evening Echo, 21 Jan. 1971 (Petch).

seedy. Of a 'shady' character: low: ca. 1780–1910. G. Parker, 'A queer procession of seedy brims and kids'; Baumann. Ex seedy, shabby. (In other senses—shabby, almost penniless, in poor health—perhaps orig. coll.; but the OED does not think so.) seedy(-boy). A Negro: Anglo-Indian coll.: mid-C.19–20. Also sidi(-boy). Ironically ex Urdu sidi, my lord.

seeing you! A var.—and obviously a derivative—of I'll be seeing you, q.v. at see you!

seek others and lose oneself. To play the fool: coll.: late C.16–17. Florio.

Seeley's pigs. Pig iron, orig. and properly in Government dockyards: nautical: ca. 1870–1910. (H., 5th ed.) Ex Mr Seeley, the MP for Lincoln, who revealed that some of the yards were half-paved with iron pigs: cf. the use, in WW1, of boxes of ammunition and bully-beef as trench-flooring, for which, however, there was often justification.

seem to, cannot or could not. See cannot seem to.

seems to me. Apparently: coll.: 1888, 'John Strange Winter,' 'Seems to me women get like dogs—they get their lessons pretty well fixed in their minds after a time' (OED).

seen dead with, (he, I etc.) would not be. I detest (properly a person, loosely a thing); it, he, etc., is disgusting: coll.: late C.19–20. Lyell.

seen the French king. See TAVERN TERMS, §8, in Appendix.

sees (occ. see-o). Shoes: back s.:—1859. (H., 1st ed.) Instead of seohs. Baumann records the form see-otches.

seer. An eye (gen. the seer): c. (—1785) > low s.; very ob. Grose, 1st ed. Cf.:

sees. The eyes: c. or low s.: from ca. 1810. Lex. Bal.; Moore, 1819, 'To close up their eyes—alias, to sew up their sees', in a boxing context. Cf. seer and daylights.

seething. (In surgery) a seton: low coll. (latterly, sol.): C.19–20. OED.

segarney. A loose, Aus. var. of sirgarneo: C.20. Vance Palmer, Cyclone 1947.

segs on the dooks. Work-called hard skin, or callosities, on the hands: Services', esp. army: since ca. 1939. H. & P., 'Very popular amongst transport drivers.' See dukes; seg or segg is N. Country dial., ? ex Fr. sec, dry.

sei-cordi box. A guitar: Parlyaree: since ca. 1945. Lit., a six-strings box: a guitar usu. has six strings. Like most Parlyaree terms, it comes from Italian.

Selborne's Light Horse. 'The "C.I.V.'s" or "Selborne's Light Horse"... are... the names given to the temporary service ordinary seamen who entered the Navy for five years while Lord Selborne was First Lord of the Admiralty. The scheme was brought in soon after the South African War, hence the names' ('Taffrail'). C.I.V. = City Imperial Volunteers, a London unit raised to fight in the Boer War. See also tickler, 9.

seldom reaches destination. A c.p. parallel with soon run dry, q.v. (B. & P.)

seldoms, the. Money, esp. cash: mostly naval: ? ca. 1810–50. In The Night Watch, II (p. 88), 1828, we find 'To save the seldoms, (you know what I mean, Wad? the dibbs, the shiners, ye rascal!) they sent their daughter to service.' (Moe.) Because seldom come by, hard to get.

self, be. (E.g. be himself.) To be in one's normal health or state of mind: coll.: 1849 (Macaulay); Daily News, 23 May 1883, on a cricket match, 'Mr Grace was all himself.' Also, late C.19–20 (very rarely of things), to feel like (e.g. one-|self). Cf. be one's own man: see own.—2. Hence, of things, be in its usual place: mid-C.19–20.

self and company (or wife, etc.) is joc. coll., excusable only as a jocularity: late C.19–20. OED; Fowler.

sell, n. A successful deception, hoax or swindle (the latter rare in C.20): 1850 (Smedley). Ex the v.—2. Hence, a planned hoax, deception, swindle: from ca. 1860.—3. Ex sense 1, a (great) disappointment: 1860 (H., 2nd ed.); 1874, Mrs H. Wood, 'It's an awful sell... no hunting, and no shooting, and no nothing.'

sell, v. To take in, deceive; impose on, trick, swindle (these more serious senses being somewhat rare in C.20): C.17–20. Jonson, 1607, Volpone, 'When bold, each tempts the other again, and all are sold'; Smedley; 'Rolf Boldrewood'. Prob. ex sell, to betray (a person, cause, party, or country).—2. See sold out and sold up.

sell a bargain. To befool; as in Shakespeare and Swift, who, however, uses it of a specific 'sell' practised at Court. † by ca. 1750. Coll. See esp. Onion's Shakespeare Glossary, Grose, 2nd ed., and F. & H. revised.

sell a pup. To swindle, v.i. Gen. sell one a pup. C. >, ca. 1905, gen. coll.: late C.19–20, though not recorded before 1901, Daily Chronicle, 4 May. 'There is a poetical phrase in our language, "to sell a man a pup"' (OED). Cf. see a man about a dog. Both sell a pup and hold the baby, q.v., are perhaps rather fortuitously than significantly, anticipated in this refrain of a late C.17 or early C.18 ballad (Roxburgh, XXXI, 8): 'This Lady of Pleasure she got all my treasure/Adzooks! she left me the dog to hold.'

sell (a person) blind. To deceive or swindle utterly: c.:—1887 (Baumann).

sell-out, n. A contest for which all the seats are sold: sporting coll.: from ca. 1930. G. Simpson, Daily Mail, 1 Dec. 1934, 'The interest in McAvoy's fight with Kid Tunero... is so great that... the match is a sure sell-out.' P.B.: soon applied also to all the other sorts of entertainment. Prob. a back-formation ex S.E. sold out.

sell out, v.i. To vomit: Aus.: C.20. B., 1942.—2. To betray a cause, one's country, etc.: coll.: adopted, ca. 1945, ex US. Ex selling out one's business to a competitor, esp. if unexpectedly or after loud assurances to the contrary. 'Why not simply S.E. sell, with out as an intensifier implying "totally"?' (Robert Claiborne, 1976). Well, at least as likely.

sell souse. To be sullen, surly; to frown: coll.: C.17. Cotgrave.

sell the dump to a mate. Among Aus. Rugby League players, 'to pass the ball to a team mate in order to avoid being tackled oneself; [hence] generally, to pass the trouble to someone else' (A. Buzo, 1973): since latish 1940s. This dump is that of dump, n., 3. The phrase occurs also in Norm and Ahmed, prod. 1968.

sell the pass. To give away an advantage to one's opponent(s): coll.: C.20. Ex mountain warfare. P.B.: much more prob. ex Rugby Football; cf. prec.

sell the pig. See dear Mother, it's a bugger.

sell the pony (or, occ., lady). To toss for drinks: low: late C.19–20. Ex pony, 3, 5. Hence, he who has to pay, buys the pony.

seller; sellinger. A selling race (one in which the winner must be auctioned): sporting coll.: from ca. 1921. OED Sup.

selling; not. See I'll bite.

selling calico. To have one's shirt-tail hanging out or showing through the seat of one's pants: Midlands proletarian: later C.19—earlier 20. Robert Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976. selopas. Apples: back s.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). A few back s. terms are only in the pl: cf. pinurt pots, seeo, spinsrap, stargs, stooib, qq.v.

s'elp (loosely, selp). So help, esp. in s'elp me God: C.14–20: S.E. until C.19, then coll.; in C.20, almost a sol. Kipling, 1888, 'S'elp me, I believe 'e's dead' (OED). By later C.19, conventionally, and more usu., transliterated s'welp or swelp, as in Whiteing, 1899, 'Swelp me lucky, I ain't tellin' yer no lie!' (P.B.: Does this show a finer ear on the part of the writers, or a genuine change in pronunciation?) See also: s'elp me Bob (or bob); and Ware has baub! So help me God!: low coll.: 1823 ('Jon Bee');—1833 (Benj. Webster, The Golden Farmer). 'Pomes' Marshall. By 1904, swelp ...; a var., P.H. Emerson, 1890 (EDD), was swop me bob!; Manchon, 1923, lists swop me Dick(e)y!, ... anything!, and the elliptical, simple swob! Other variants, all, like the orig., very ob. by mid-C.20, were: s'elp me, Bill Arline!, ca. 1870–1910; swelp me davy!, —1887 (see David); s'elp my or me tater!, 1864 (H., 3rd ed.) >, by 1887, swelp my taters!, with which cf. the—1895 dial. bless my taters! (EDD); s'elp me never!, trans, by Ware, 1909, 'May God never help me if I lie now!'; s'elp my greens! (Mayhew): ca. 1850–1910. Another early rendering, H., 3rd ed., 1864, was s'help, perhaps intermediate between s'elp and swelp, as in s'help the cat!, yet another joc. var., recorded by F. & H., 1890. Franklyn adds that swelp me ten men is a favourite Cockney version (? earlier C.20). Ware writes, of the bob or baub element, 'The word ... comes from Catholic England, and is "babe"—meaning the infant Saviour'; but bob is prob. merely euph. = God.

semi. A semi-detached house: suburban coll.: since ca. 1930. (Ruby Ferguson in The Queen's Book of the Red Cross, 1939; J. Symons, The Gigantic Shadow, 1958.) Also Aus., orig., as prob. in Britain, an estate-agents' term: B., 1953.—2. A semi-final: sporting, esp. Aus.: since ca. 1930; by 1965, coll. (B.P.) semi-bejan. See bejan.

semi-quotes. Single (instead of double) quotation marks: coll.: world of books, esp. and orig. printing: late C.19–20. See quotes.

seminary. The female pudend: mid-C.19—early 20. Punning seminary, a school, college, etc., and semen.

semper. A Winchester term explained by Mansfield (1866) in ref. to ca. 1840 as 'A very common prefix; e.g. a boy was said to be semper continent, tardy ... if he was often at Sick House, or late for Chapel ... An official who was always at the College meetings went by the name of Semper Testis.' Ex L. semper, always. (The s., coll., and j. at Winchester, even more than at Westminster, abound in Latinisms: both schools have always been rightly famous for the excellence of the teaching given in the Ancient Classics). See also WINCHESTER §6, in Appendix.

senal pervitude. Penal servitude: cheap urban witticism: ca. 1900–14. (Ware.) In addition to the switch-over of initial letters, there is a glancing pun on senile.

send. To afford much pleasure to, as in 'His music doesn't send me': Can. (? ex US): since ca. 1935. Perhaps elliptical for 'send into ecstasies'. (Leechman.) Also, to excite. Both nuances were, ca. 1960, adopted by British s., esp. among jazz-lovers.—2. See flea in (one's) ear, 2; send me!

send a baby on an errand. To undertake a probable failure: coll.: mid-C.19—early 20.

send about (one's) business. To dismiss, send packing, just as go about one's business = to depart. In C.17–18, the latter, S.E.; in C.19, both coll.; in C.20, both S.E.

send along. To send to gaol; esp., to cause to be arrested: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1870. (Tom Ronan, Moleskin Midas, 1956.) See next, 2.

send down. (Usu. in passive.) To expel from university: orig. s.,—1891; by later C.20, informal S.E. Marples.—2. To send to gaol; Powis, 1977, 'Send down. Imprisoned': low coll.: later C.20. Cf. sense 1, and prec. See send up, v., 1.

send for Gulliver! A Society c.p. (1887—ca. 95) on 'some affair not worth discussion. From a cascadescent incident' in Part I of Gulliver's Travels (Ware).

send for Mary Ann. See san fairy Ann.

send for the green van! Allusively for 'Take this person away, he/she is crazy': c.p.: 1950s. (Mrs. Shirley M. Pearce, 1975.)

send her down, Hughie! Aus. version of next, though perhaps the request is more urgent. In WW1, the 'Diggers' used send her down, Stevie! (B., 1953). See esp. Wilkes.

send it down, David (or Davy) (, send it down!) (Occ. ... Davy lad!) An army c.p. apropos of a shower, esp. if likely to cause a parade to be postponed or cancelled: earlier C.20, esp. in WW1. David is the patron saint of Wales, 'the Land of Leeks' (leaks). Cf. the Urinal of the Planets, Ireland. F. & G.; B. & P.

send it in. To drive in: ca. 1810–60. Lex. Bal., 'Hand down the jemmy and send it in; apply the crow to the door, and drive it in.'

send me! An 'exclamation of surprise, amusement, annoyance, etc.' (Bootham): schoolboys': late C.19—earlier 20. Dr C.T. Onions wrote to E.P., 1939, that he knew of its use in Birmingham ca. 1890, adding, 'I think it must be from God send ...', i.e. 'grant'.' Bootham also records, 1925, the elliptical send!

send-off. A God-speed: coll.: orig. (1872), US; anglicised ca. 1875.—2. Hence, a start in life, in business, etc.: 1894, A. Morrison, 'A good send-off in the matter of clothes.'—3. Occ. as adj.: 1876, Besant & Rice, 'A beautiful send-off notice.'

send round. C.20. coll. (a) v.t. to send to someone near by; (b) v.i. to send a message to a neighbour. OED.

send round the hat. To make a collection on behalf of a distressed person or people: C.19–20: coll. till C.20, when, by WW1 at latest, it > S.E., as go round with the hat seems to have always been. Wm Maginn, Tales of Military Life, 1829, at l. 64, 'Having "sent round the hat" for the benefit of the poor and half-petrified host' (Moe). Almost as common is pass round the hat, and the word order send, or pass, the hat round.

send the axe after the helve (or better, send the helve after the hatchet). To take a further useless step; send good money after bad: coll.: from C.16; in C.19–20, rare but S.E.

send to Coventry. To ignore socially: mid-C.18–20; orig. military. Coll., > S.E. ca. 1830. Origin uncertain: perhaps ex Coventry Gaol, where many Royalists were imprisoned during the Civil War (see e.g. Clarendon's History of the Rebellion, VI, §83). Lytton, in Alice, 'If any one dares to buy it, we'll send him to Coventry.' Cf. the County Antrim go to Dingley couch, the Ulster send to Dingley-cootch, and see esp. the OED and Grose, P. Cf. go to Coventry.

send to dorse. Knock out: boxing: ca. 1820–70. See doss, 1, and cf.:-

send to grass. To knock down: boxing s. > gen. s.: mid-C.19—early 20. (Hindley.) Orig. ex the old prize-fights waged in a field; Moe cites the Galaxy, Oct. 1868, p. 557. Cf. grass, v., 1.

send (someone) to (his, etc.) long account. To kill, or cause to be killed: coll. (? orig. naval): C.19–20. Fredk Marryat, Frank Mildmay, 1829 (p. 294 of 1897 edition), 'He was one ... whom you sent ... to his long account; and it was fortunate for you that you did; ... that man would have compassed your death.' (Moe.) The final accounting.

send-up, n. A satire, burlesque, parody: coll.: since late 1950s. (Guardian, 17 Dec. 1964.) Ex v., 3 and 4.

send up, v. To commit to prison: orig. US (1852); anglicised by 1887, when Baumann recorded it without comment on its American origin. Westminster Gazette, 30 Apr. 1897, 'Two prisoners ... occupied the prison-van ... Burns was being "sent up" for wife-beating, and Tannahill for theft' (OED): s. >, ca. 1910, coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.—2. To blow sky-high, esp. with heavy shells: Artillery: WW1. Ian Hay, Carrying On, 1917.—3. (Gen. in passive.) En masse to scoff at and mock: upper- and middle-class coll.:—1931. Lyell, 'He was sent up unmercifully by half the room.' Ex the Public School j., to send (a boy) to the headmaster for punishment.—4. Hence (and gen. in active), to make fun of by burlesque, to parody: since ca. 1955. Perhaps influenced also by sense 2. Terence Rattigan, Variation on a Theme, 1958, I, ii, Ron says: 'So you're very fond of me. So why are you always needing me, sending me up, taking the mickey out of me?' Often, since ca. 1970, intensified to send up rotten, as 'They sent him up something rotten.'

send your noble blood to market and see what it will bring. A C.18 c.p. addressed to one boasting about or trading on his high birth. Apperson.

sender. A severe blow: ironic, boxing s. > gen. s.: C.19—early 20. (Boxiana, II, 1818.) Perhaps ex send spinning or flying. sengwich. Sandwich: Cockney sol.: from ca. 1870. (Anstey, Voces Populi II, 1892.) 'But not now! As near as one can get, it is sengwidge or sawwidge or samwidge—the last is suburban' (Julian Franklyn, 1962). P.B.: rather dial. than sol., and coll. when used for humorous effect by speakers of Received Eng., as 'Would you care for a 'em sengwidge?'

Senior. The senior Engineer Lieutenant of the engine-room: RN officers' coll.: C.20. P-G-R.—2. As the Senior, the United Service Club in London: Service officers': C.20. Bowen.—3. See junior.

senior scribe, the. The NCO in charge of the Orderly Room: RAF (mostly officers'): since ca. 1930. (Jackson.) Humorous. Cf. owner's scribe. Ex RN usage (Granville).

sensation. Half a glass of sherry: Aus.: ca. 1859—1890. (OED.) Prob. ex sense 3, though this is recorded later.—2. In England, a quartem of gin: 1859 (H., 1st ed.); † by 1920.—3. A (very) small quantity, esp. of liquor, occ. of food, rather rarely of other things: mid-C.19—20: coll. Lit., just so much as can be perceived by the senses; cf. the French souçon.

sensational, adopted ex US ca. 1870, is, in its exhaustion by journalists and crude authors, on the border-line between S.E. cliché and s. Ware.

sense. See stands to sense.

sensitive plant. The nose: pugilistic c.: ca. 1815—60. Boxiana, II, 1818; III, 1821; IV, 1824.

sent. Sent to prison: lower classes' coll.: late C.19—20. The People, 20 Mar. 1898 (Ware). Cf. send along, send down, and send up, 1.—2. See JAZZ, in Appendix.

sent ashore. Marooned: nautical coll.: late C.19—20. Bowen.—2. Dismissed from the service: RN: C.20. Ibid.

sent for, be. To be done for; to be dead (has been sent for) or dying, doomed to die (is sent for): earlier C.20, esp. in the Army.

sent to the skies. Killed, murdered: lower-middle class's: —1909; † by 1920, WW1 intervening. Ware.

sent up, be. See send up.

sentimental, n. 'A man in an Australian pub will offer a sentimental, meaning a smoke or cigarette, though the verses of A Sentimental Bloke are probably now not much read' (Anthony Burgess, TLS, 16 Oct. 1970, reviewing the 7th ed. of this Dict.): rhyming s.: ? ca. 1920—75.

Sentimental Club, the. The Athenæum: literary: ca. 1890—1915. Is this prompted by a jealousy that imputes to the members a 'mushy' anecdote?

sentimental hairpin. 'An affected, insignificant girl': Society: ca. 1880—1900. Ware.

sentimental journey, arrive at the end of the. To coit with a woman: from ca. 1870; very ob. by 1930. F. & H. says 'common' (i.e. used by the lower classes): should not this be read as 'cultured'? Ex the conclusion of Sterne's Sentimental Journey, 'I put out my hand and caught hold of the fille-de-chambre's—FINIS.' The unworldly postulate 'hand'; the worldly, 'cunt': to those who know their Sterne, verb. sap.

sentiments. See them's my...

sentinel. A candle used at a wake: Anglo-Irish coll.: mid-C.19—20. Punningly: because it keeps watch.

sentry, on. Drunk: rather low: ca. 1885—1914. Ex on sentry-go: but why? Perhaps home-service sentries are tempted to take a tot too many in the laudable desire to keep out the cold on night-duty.

sentry-box, Chelsea Hospital to a. See Lombard Street to a Brummagem...

separate; but extremely rare in the singular. A period of separate confinement in prison, esp. during the first year of a sentence: from ca. 1860: prison c. >, ca. 1890, low s. >, ca. 1920, coll. (Cornhill Magazine, 1862, vol. vi, p. 640; Anon., Five Years' Penal Servitude, 1877.) Abbr. separate confinement.

separate (or, occ., private) peace, I'll make a or I think I'll make a. A wistfully joc. soldiers' c.p. of 1917—18. B & P. separate the men from the boys(, this'll or that'll). This will bring out the 'ability and authority to attain objective not within competence of less experienced' (L.A., 1974): adopted, ex US, late 1930s. The orig. version, this is where the men are separated from the boys, is attributed to the famous actress Mae West, and carries a strong sexual innuendo. See DCpp.

separates. The period (often three months) served in a local prison by one condemned to penal servitude before he begins that servitude: c.—1932 ('Stuart Wood', Shades of the Prison House). Ex separate, q.v.

September morn. An erection: rhyming s., on horn: later C.20. (Red Daniells, 1980.) Cf. synon. hail smiling morn and Colleen Bawn.

septic, n. An American: Aus. rhyming s., septic tank = Yank. Wilkes quotes Cleo, Aug. 1976: 'Even before [est] and R[ecuperation, leave from the Vietnam War], Americans [in Sydney] were septics... Septic is now general usage.' Cf. Sherman Tanks.

septic. Sceptic: joc.: C.20 (The author first heard it in 1912.)—2. Unpleasant; objectionable: from ca. 1930. (H.A. Vachell, Moonhills, 1934.) Suggested by poisonous, q.v.

sepulchre. A large, flat cravat: London middle classes: ca. 1870—85. (Ware.) Ex the 'sins' it covered.

seraglio. 'A lowly, sorry Bawdy-house, a meer Dog-hole' (B.E.): coll.: late C.17—18. A diminutive of:

seraglio. A brothel: coll.: late C.17—early 19. (B.E., Grose.) Ex seraglio, a harem, though seraglio itself was orig. incorrect when used for serai, a Turkish palace. (The term > gen. ca. 1750 with Mrs Goadby, 'the great Goadby', who kept an excellent house in Berwick Street, Soho: Beresford Chancellor, Pleasure Haunts of London.)

serang. See head serang.

sere. See sear.

serene, -eno. See all serene, -eno.

serf. A fag (at school): Cranbrook School: C.20.

serg(e). A tunic: army: early C.20. B. & P.—2. See sarga, sarge.

serge bruises. 'Marks on the limbs caused by sweat bringing out the dye from a seaman's serge uniform' (Granville): RN: C.20.

sergeant. A Commander; Head of Department in a battleship or aircraft carrier: RN wardrooms': C.20 Ex 'the similarity of his three gold stripes to a Marine sergeant's chevrons' (Bowen). Contrast major.—2. In kiss me, sergeant! (occ. kiss me, corporal!, if a corporal is deputising for a sergeant), an army c.p. of earlier C.20. Meant to annoy and gen. uttered during the sergeant's final rounds of barracks, tents, etc. Either derisive of nursemaids' invitations or, less prob., reminiscent of Nelson's kiss me, Hardy. Cf. the famous song of early WW2, 'Kiss Me Goodnight, Sergeant-Major'.—3. See come the sergeant; TAVERN TERMS, § 4, in Appendix. Sergeant Kite or Snap. A recruiting sergeant: allusive coll.: from ca. 1850. (H., 3rd ed.) Ob. by 1900; † by 1920.

sergeant-major. A fat loin of mutton: butchers': late C.19—20. Ex the usual plumpness of sergeant-majors, with whom the cooks and the quarter-master's staff know that it pays to stand well.—2. 'A large piece of mutton in the rib part': butchers':—1889. B. & L., 'From the white stripes like sergeant's stripes.'—3. A zebra: S. African: C.20. Pettman, 'On account of its very distinct stripes.'—4. In the game of crown and anchor, the crown: military: C.20. Often the (good) old sergeant-major. F. & G.; B. & P.—5. In c., dating from ca. 1840 but now ob.: 'a large cold-chisel... for cutting through metal plates', p. 422 of 'No. 747', The Autobiography of a Gipsy, 1891—the ref. valid for 1845.—6. (Also sergeant-major's.) Tea; orig., strong tea esp. if good, then tea drunk between meals: military: from ca. 1910. (B. & P.) The SM could get tea almost whenever he desired it.

sergeant-major's brandy and soda. A gold-laced stable jacket: army: ca. 1885–1914. B. & L.

sergeant-major's tea. Tea with sugar and milk; esp. tea laced with rum: military: from 1915. (F. & G.) Ex sergeant-major, 6.

sergeant-major's wash-cat. A new kit: cavalry: ca. 1885–1910. B. & L.—2. A troop's store-man: ca. 1885–1914. (Ibid.)? because he supplied a basin.

Sergeant of the Coif. See TAVERN TERMS, § 4, in Appendix.

Sergeant Snap. See Sergeant Kite.

sergeant's (or sergeants') run. 'A run ashore given by the Heads of Departments (fellow Commanders—wearers of three stripes) to a departing Commander on the eve of his leaving to take up an appointment elsewhere. If [he is] a popular messmate, members of the sergeants' union give this traditional gin-up at the favourite pub in the port to which the ship is attached' (Granville, 1967): See sergeant, 1.

sergeants' union. The Commanders aboard an HM ship: RN: since ca. 1920. See sergeant, 1; cf. prec., Jimmies' Union and watchkeepers' union.

Seringapatam. Ham: rhyming s.: late C.19—early 20. (Ware.) Cf.:- seringy. The Blackwall frigate Seringapatam: RN: mid-C.19. Bowen.

serpent. In stung by a serpent, got with child: coll.: C.19—early 20.—2. In hold a serpent by the tail, to act foolishly: id. Ray, 1813.

Serpentiners. Those who like (?) to bathe in the Serpentine when it is icy: from ca. 1925.

serpently. (Only in dialogue.) Certainly: joc.: since ca. 1930; ob. by 1970. Dorothy L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933.

Serps, the. The Serpentine: low London: C.20. James Curtis, You're in the Racket Too, 1937.

servants' entrance, send (it) in by the. (Of the male) to coit with (a woman) from the rear: raffish: C.20. Douglas Hayes, A Players' Hide, 1972. 'Standing behind her... I held her as she was, dragged her drawers off, ... set her legs apart, sent Sir John in by the servants' entrance.'

servants' united effort. Lemonade: RMA, Woolwich: from ca. 1920. By indelicate allusion to the colour of the fluid. Gen. abbr. to s.u.e. RMA Woolwich was amalgamated with RMA Sandhurst in 1946.

serve, n. A service in lawn tennis: coll.: C.20. Ex the v.—2. (?) Hence, unjust or painful treatment; adverse criticism; an unfair reprimand: Aus. c. > coll.: later C.20. Wilkes; see also AUSTRALIAN UNDERWORLD, in the Appendix. Poss., as Wilkes suggests, from the serving of a summons. Cf.:-

serve, v. To treat in a specified—and, gen., unpleasant or inequitable—manner: C.13–20: S.E. until 1850, then—except in formal contexts—coll. OED.—2. To rob, thus 'I served him for his thimble,' I robbed him of his watch: c.: from ca. 1810; ob. Vaux.—3. To convict and sentence: c.: from ca. 1810; ob.—4. To injure, wound, treat roughly: c.: ca. 1810–90. (Vaux.) Cf. serve out and out and serve out.—5. To serve a term of imprisonment: criminals' coll. (rather then c.): late C.19–20. Ware.—6. 'To impose a punishment': Bootham School coll.: late C.19–20. Bootham, 1925:

serve (someone) a ticket. To strike, to punch, him: Anglo-Irish: C.19. (Bill Truck, 1821.) Cf. prec., 4; ticket perhaps = summons.

serve (someone) glad! Serve (e.g. him) right! (see serve right): from ca. 1910. Dorothy L. Sayers, Clouds of Witness, 1926, '“Serve him glad,” said Lord Peter viciously.' Ex North Country dial.:—1891 (EDD) serve-out, n. An issue (of, e.g. clothes): RN coll.: C.20. Cf. fit to bust a double ration serve-out of navy-serge.

serve out, v. To take revenge on, to punish; retaliate on (a person) for ...: from ca. 1815: boxing s. >, ca. 1830, gen. coll. Sporting Magazine, 1817, 'The butcher was so completely served out, that he resigned all pretensions to victory' (OED). By 'an ironic application of nautical serve out (grog, etc.)', W.—2. To smash (a fence): hunting s.: 1862 (OED).

serve out and out. To kill: c. of ca 1810–90. (Vaux.) Cf. serve out.

serve out slops. To administer punishment at the gangway: naval: ca. 1790–1890. (W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, I, 1825: Moe.) Cf. serve out, v., 1.

serve right. Coll. only in (and) serve (e.g. you) right!, and serves (e.g. you) right!, which indicate satisfaction that someone has got his deserts: from ca. 1830. Dickens, 1837, 'Workhouse funeral—serve him right' (OED).

serve the poor with a thump on the back with a stone. To be a miser: semi-proverbial coll.: ca. 1670–1750: Ray.

serve up. To reprimand: RN, mostly lowerdeck: C.19 Basil Hall, Voyages, 1931.—2. V. corresponding to serve, n., 2.

served with his papers. 'Being dealt with as an habitual criminal' (F.D. Sharpe, The Flying Squad, 1918): police: C.20.

Servia(n). An incorrect form, very gen. until 1914, of Serbia(n): C.19–20. Ex native Serb. 'Perhaps due to some vague association between Slavs and serfs' (W.). P.B.: or confusion between Cyrillic b and v? service. A imposition: Bootham School: late C.19—early 20. Bootham, 1925.—2. See sling (one's) service about.

service-book. See clerk to the teethward.

service lay. The 'dodge' by which one hires oneself out as a servant and then robs the house: c.: C.18. C. Hitchin, The Regulator, 1718.

service-stripes. 'Broad diamond bracelets, as collected by experienced cocottes' (Raymond Mortimer, Listener, 10 Mar. 1937): Services', hence society: from ca. 1918. An allusion to 'long service and good conduct' badges.

sesame. A password: since ca. 1930. Ex the open sesame! of the Arabian tale.

shesh. Session, as in 'A "rug-cutting" shesh at the local dance-hall' (private letter, 1947): coll. Esp., in Brit. Eng., short for session, q.v.

sesquies, the. 'The 150th anniversary celebrations of Sydney and Parramatta ... in 1938' (B., 1942).

session. 'A period of steady drinking in a group' (Wilkes): Aus. and Brit. drinkers' coll.: since mid-C.20. A specialisation of the orig. coll., by 1980 informal S.E. session, 'A period of time spent in any one activity' (Chambers's C.20th Dict.), e.g., a session with one's dentist, girl-friend, etc. (P.B.). sessions. To commit (one) to the sessions for trial: 1857 (Mayhew: OED).

sessions! Well, I'm blowed!: late C.19—early 20. Ex dial. sessions, a fuss, disturbance, argument, difficulty, task (EDD).

set, n. Abbr. dead set, q.v.: 1829 (The Examiner: OED): s. >, ca. 1860, coll. >, ca. 1900, S.E.—2. An accident: taxicab-drivers': from ca. 1925. Hence car-dealers' phrase, of a car that has suffered (considerable) crash damage, 'it's been in a set', as in Woman's Own, 28 Feb. 1968. Cf. set-out, 7 and set-to, a fight.—3. Full beard and moustache: RN: C.20. (Granville.) Occ., tautologically, a full set.—4. See modified.

set, v. To sit, be seated: C.13–20: S.E. until C.19, then low coll.; in C.20, sol. except in dial.—2. To sit, lie, in fig. senses: C.15–20: S.E. until C.19, then low coll.; in C.20 (except in dial.), sol. Anon., 1803, 'A disappointment that ought not to set very heavily on her mind' (OED).—3. V.t., to fix on as prey or victim; to watch with a view to robbing; make a set at: from ca. 1670; perhaps orig. c., as also in late C.19–20 Aus. Gay, in The Beggar's Opera, 1727, 'There will be deep play to-night at Marybone ... I'll give you the hint who is worth setting' (OED).—4. 'To attack; to regard with disfavour' (C.J. Dennis): low Aus.:—1916. Cf. dead set, q.v., and next, 3-set, adj.; gen. all set. Ready and willing; thoroughly prepared: coll.: C.20: perhaps orig. mostly Aus. Prob. ex S.E. sense, carefully arranged in advance.—2. Cf. the late C.17–18 all set applied to 'desperate fellows, ready for any kind of mischief' (Sinks, 1848).—3. In have (someone) set, 'To set a fox to keep (one's) geese. See fox to keep...

have [him] marked down for punishment or revenge' (C.J. Dennis, 1916): low, mostly Aus.: late C.19–20. Cf. prec., 4.—4. In have (someone) set, to get the better of; take at a disadvantage: low: C.20. F. & G.

set about. To attack, set upon: coll.: 1879, Horsley, 'He set about me with a strap till he was tired' (OED).

set back. To cost (a person) so much: adopted, ex US, ca. 1932: coll. (OED Sup.). 'That set him back a tidy penny, I'll lay' (P.B.).

set (one's) cap at. (Of women only) to try, and keep trying, to gain a man's heart—or hand: coll.: since ca. 1770. (Goldsmith; Thackeray.) Ex navigation: cf. Fr. mettre le cap sur (W.). An early C.19 var., cock one's cap at, occurs in W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints, 1829, II, 145 (Moe).

set (one's) child a-crying. (Of a watchman) to spring or sound one's rattle: fast life: ca. 1810–40. Spy, 1825.

set 'em up in the other alley. 'A c.p. used when a task is accomplished. "O.K. So that's that. Now set 'em up in the other alley." In other words, "Well, that's done. What's next?"' (Leechman.) Mostly printers': C.20. Claiborne, 1976, suggests: 'From bowling (skittles), after the pins in one alley have been knocked down.'

set-down. A sit-down meal: tramps' c.:—1932 (F. Jennings, Tramping with Tramps).

set (something) in a crack. To settle (a matter) quickly; e.g. set a bet in a crack, to wager smartly at two-up; be set in a crack, (of persons) to be comfortably placed (lit. or fig.), to be very pleased with circumstances: NZ: from the 1890s. Perhaps ex the idea of doing a thing as sharply as the crack of a whip.

set jewels; gen. as vbl n., setting jewels. To purloin the best parts of a little-known (esp. if clever) book for incorporation in a new work by another author: literary coll.: 1873, when originated by Charles Reade à propos of a flagrant instance published at Christmas, 1872; ob. H., 5th ed.; Baumann. set-me-up, often prec. by young. One who sets himself up to be somebody: often pej.: late C.19–20. Ian Hay, David and Destiny, 1934.

set of metal jugs. See have kittens. — set on. See get a set on.

set-out. A set or display of china, plate, etc.; coll.: 1806 (J. Beresford).—2. (Of food) a 'spread': coll.: 1809 (Malkin).—3. A 'turn-out', i.e. a carriage 'and all': a mainly sporting coll.: from ca. 1810.—4. A person's costume or manner of dressing (cf. rig-out, q.v.); an outfit, equipment: coll.: from ca. 1830.—5. A public show or performance; 'an entertainment for a number of people'; a party: coll.: 1818 (Lady Morgan).—6. Hence, a company or a set of people: from ca. 1850: coll. (As a beginning (1821), set-out is rather S.E. than coll.) OED.—7. A to-do or fuss: (low) coll.: late C.19–20. D.L. Sayers, Murder Must Advertise, 1933, 'Cool! that was a set-out, that was.'

set the hare's head to the goose giblets. To balance matters, to give as good as one gets: coll.: C.17—early 18. Dekker & Webster.

set the swede down. To have a (short) sleep: military: from ca. 1910. (F. & G.) Ex the resemblance of a large Swede turnip to a man's head. Cf. couch a hogsheed, and the rather more urgent synon. crash the swede.

set the Thames on fire. See Thames on fire.

set to rights. To set right: coll.: C.19–20. (Glascock, Sketch-Book, II, 1826.) Moe.

set-up, n. Bearing, carriage, port: coll.: 1890 (T.C. Crawford); ob. by ca. 1940.—2. 'A place setting at the dining table: knife, fork, spoon, plates, etc. "How many set-ups for the Smith banquet?" "Oh, let's say a hundred and twenty."' (Leechman.) Can. restaurateurs' and caterers' coll.: since ca. 1950.—3. 'A girl whom [a male] has readied and made an assignation with' (L.A.): raffish: since mid-C.20.—4. An arrangement; an organisation or establishment, as 'What sort of a set-up have the Yanks got over there, anyway?': coll., perhaps orig. Services, from mid-C.20; by 1980, verging on informal S.E. Cf. the v., 2. (P.B.) set up, v. To sit up late: C.17–20: S.E. till C.20, then coll.; in C.20,—except in dial.—it is sol. Cf. set, v., 1.—2. To arrange: coll.: since ca. 1930; by 1970s, informal S.E.

set-up, adj. Conceited: coll. and dial.: mid-C.19–20.

set up for, be. To be well supplied with: coll.: 1863, Mrs Henry Wood, 'I'm set up for cotton gownds' (OED). Ex S.E. set up, to establish or to equip in business, etc.

set up (one's) stall. To settle down on an easy wicket and make a big score: since ca. 1930. 'The ball came off the turf and unhurried... It was par excellence the sort of pitch on which, in the cricketer's phrase, a batsman can "set up his stall"' (E.W. Swanton, Daily Telegraph, 26 Oct. 1946).

setta; occ. setter. Seven; sevenpence: Parlyaree:—1859. (H., 1st ed.) Ex It. sette.

setter. See setta.—2. An enticer to liquor or gambling; a confederate of swindlers or sharpers: c.: late C.16–17. Greene, 1592; ob. Ex the dog.—3. Hence, a person used by criminals to watch intended victims: c.: from ca. 1640; ob. Memoirs of John Hall. OED.—4. Hence, 'a Sergeant's Yeoman, or Bailiff's Follower, or Second, and an Excise-Officer to prevent the Brewers defrauding the King', B.E.: c. of late C.17—early 19. Grose, 1st ed. Also setting-dog (B.E.).—5. A police spy; an informer to the police: from ca. 1630: S.E. until ca. 1850, then c. and low s. OED; B. & L.—6. A runner-up of prices: late C.17–20 (ob.): mostly among auctioneers.—7. Only in combination, as in 'a long four setter' (Sir Gordon Lowe, in Lowe's Lawn Tennis Annual, 1935), i.e. a four-set match: lawn tennis coll.: from 1933.—8. See clock-setter.

setting-dog. See setter, 4.

setting jewels. See set jewels.

settle. To stun, finish, knock down: C.17–20: S.E. until ca. 1750, then coll. Grose, 1st ed.; Dickens; Kipling. OED.—2. To give (a person) a life-sentence: c.: mid-C.19–20. Ca. 1850–70, it also = to transport as a convict, as in 'Ducange Anglicus' and H., 1st ed. Cf. winded-settled, q.v.

settle (someone's) hash. See hash, n., 3. settle-us powders. Seidlitz powders: (mostly) Aus.; partly joc. and partly folk-etymological: C.20. (B.P.) settlement. A cemetery: Aus.: late C.19–20. B., 1942.

settlement-in-tail. An act of generation: legal: C.19—early 20. Make settlement in tail, and tenant-in-tail (see tail, n., 2) constitute an indelicate pun on the legal S.E. tail (ex Fr. taille, assessment), limitation as to freehold or inheritance. K.W., 1661, has tenure in tail (OED).

settler. A parting drink: mid-C.18—early 20. M. Bishop, 1744 (OED). Because it is supposed to 'stabilise' the stomach.—2. A crushing remark: coll.: from ca. 1815.—3. A knockdown blow: coll.: 1819, Moore, 'He tipp'd him a settler.'—4. Hence, any 'finisher' whatsoever: from ca. 1820: coll.

Settler's Bible, the. Grahamstown Journal: S. Africans' from ca. 1860; ob. (Petman.) Cf. saint, 4, and City of the Saints, qq.v.

settler's clock; settler's matches. A kookaburra; readily inflammable strips of bark: Aus. coll.: C.19 and later C.19 resp. Baker.

seven. In (it's) all in the seven, to be expected; (as) a matter of course: army coll.: earlier C.20. F. & G., 'In allusion to the soldier's term of service [7 years] with the Colours.' Cf. if you can't take a joke you shouldn't have joined, and roll on my fucking twelve!—2. In more than seven, wide-awake; knowing: coll.: from ca. 1875; ob. A music-hall song of ca. 1876 was entitled 'You're More Than Seven'; Gissing, 1898. Occ. more than twelve.—3. See throw a seven.

seven and six—was she worth it? The number 76 at Tombola/Bingo: orig. Services: WW2 and since. In Services often reduced to seven and six—was she?: an allusion to the price of a marriage licence, seven shillings and sixpence (37½p). (P.B.) See TOMBOLA, in Appendix.

Seven and Sixpennies, the. The 76th Foot (the 2nd Battalion Duke of Wellington's): military: C.19–20. F. & G., 'From the figures of the number, and ... seven and sixpence, a lieutenant's pay per diem.' Also known as the Old Immortals.

seven-bell dinner. 'Special meal served to men at seven bells in the forenoon watch (11.30 am) who are going on watch at mid-day' (Granville): RN: C.20.

seven-bell (tea). Wardroom tea at 3.30 p.m.: RN officers' coll.: since ca. 1910. Granville.

seven-beller. A 'watch-keeper's meal hours' (Knock); s. version of seven-bell dinner: RN lowerdeck: C.20.—2. A cup of tea: RN: since ca. 1920. H. & P.

seven bells. See knock seven bells ...

Seven Bob Beach. Seven Shilling Beach, Sydney: Sydneyites' coll.: C.20. B., 1942.

Seven Dials. Haemorrhoids: rhyming s., on piles: later C.20. (Red Daniells, 1980.) Cf. Farmer Giles.

Seven Dials raker. A harlot 'who never smiles out of the Dials'; London costers':—1909 (Ware); very ob. by 1930.

seven(-)pennorth; sevenpence. Seven years' penal transportation: c. of ca. 1820–70. Egan (sevenpence); Bee and H. (1st ed.) (seven pennorth).—2. (Also seven-pennyworth.) Seven days' confinement to barracks: army: earlier C.20. F. & G.—3. Seven-pennorth. A rest-day when one should be working: London busmen's: since ca. 1930.—4. In sevenpence over the wall, seven days' confinement to camp: RAF: since ca. 1925. (Jackson.) Cf. sense 2 and see over the wall; the abbr. 7d for 'seven days' has been apprehended as 'seven pence'—and vice versa. See Underworld (at 'sevenpence' and 'ninepence').

seven-sided animal. (US var., C.19, s.-s. son of a bitch.) 'A one-eyed man or woman, each having a right side and a left side, a foreside and a backside, an outside, an inside, and a blind side' (Grose, 2nd ed.): low joc., also Somersetshire dial.: ca. 1785–1890. H., 5th ed.

seven-times-seven man. A 'hypocritical religionist': proletarian-satirical:—1909; ob. by 1930. (Ware.) Perhaps seven-times-seven is meant to rhyme heaven.

seven ways for Sunday, looking. See looking seven ways ...

seven years. See first seven years ...

sevendible. Very 'severe, strong, or sound': N. Ireland: mid-C.19–20. 'Derived from sevendouble—that is, sevenfold—and ... applied to linen cloth, a heavy beating, a harsh reprimand, &c.' (H., 3rd ed.). Coll. rather than s., as in the adv. sevendibly: same period (EDD).

severer. A criminal sentenced to seven years: coll.: from the 1890s.

sevenpence. See seven(-)pennorth.

sevens and elevens, everything is or was or will be. Everything is (or was or will be) perfect: Can. c.p.: since ca. 1910. 'From shooting dice, where sevens and elevens are desirable scores' (Leechman).

seventeener. A corpse. Aus. low: C.20. (B., 1942.) Why?

seventy-three. See thirty.

seventy-two. A 72-hours' pass or leave: Services' coll.: since ca. 1914.

severe, n. A severe reprimand: army (esp. NCOs') coll.: C.20. (Gerald Kersh, They Die with their Boots Clean, 1941.) P.B.: by mid-C.20, usu. severe dig, q.v.

severe, v. Excellent; very large or strong or hard to beat: orig. (1834) US (esp. Kentucky), anglicised ca. 1850. De Quincey in 1847 refers to it as 'Jonathan's phrase.' OED.

severe dig or prod. A reprimand from a senior (officer): military coll.: from 1915. B. & P.—2. (Also severe rep.) A severe reprimand, in the military legal sense: army coll.: since mid-C.20, at latest, by which time prod had > rare. (P.B.) Cf. severe, n.

severely. Greatly, excessively: coll.: mid-C.19–20. (Whyte-Melville.) Ex severe, q.v.

Seville. See learn manners ...

sew pillows under folks' elbows. See pillows under ...

sew-sew boy. A sailor undertaking to sew for his mates; a member of a jewing-firm, q.v.: RN: C.20. (Granville.) Prob. ex old China Stations' pidgin (P.B.).

sew up. To impregnate (a woman): coll.: C.19—early 20.—2. See sewed up.

sew up (someone's) stocking. To silence, confute: coll.: 1859 (C. Reade); ob. by 1930.

sewed in his blanket. Dead and buried: Services': early C.20. F. & G.

sewed(-)up; occ. sewn up. Pregnant: coll. (not upper nor middle class): C.19—earlier 20.—2. Exhausted: from ca. 1825 (orig. of horses; not till 1837 of persons): as in Dickens's Pickwick; Smedley, 1850, 'I thought she'd have sewn me up at one time—the pace was terrific': slightly ob. by 1930.—3. Cheated, swindled: 1838 (Haliburton: OED).—4. At a loss, nonplussed, brought to a standstill: 1855, Smedley; 1884, Clark Russell; slightly ob. by 1930.—5. Severely punished; esp. with 'banged-up' eyes: boxing: from ca. 1860; ob.—6. (Ex senses 2, 7.) Sick: late C.19—earlier 20.—7. Drunk: since early C.19. A. Burton, Johnny Newcome, 1818 (Moe); Buckstone, 1829, 'This liquid ... will sew him up'; ob.—8. Grounded: nautical coll.: mid-C.19–20. Also sued up.—9. In the game of pool, (to have been) put into such a ball-position that it is difficult to play: Can.: since ca. 1925. (Leechman.) A specialisation of sense 4, as is its Brit. application to almost any game in which the winning side has an overwhelming and unbeatable advantage (P.B.).—10. See eyes sewed up ...; sewn up.

sewer. The Metropolitan and Metropolitan District Railways: late C.19—early 20: London.—2. See common sewer.

sewer press, the. The gutter press (newspapers careless of morals, negligent of truth, but very, very wide-awake to profit): coll.: since ca. 1943.

sewer-rats. 'Description of passengers in 2d. tube by indignant bus-drivers when the Oxford Street Tube opened in 1900': 1900—ca. 1902.—2. 'L.T.E. motormen' (Railway, 2nd): London Transport employees': since ca. 1945 (?).

sewers. East London Railway shares: Stock Exchange: ca. 1895–1910. Cf. sewer.

sewing machines. Main engines: MN, (?) esp. Thynsend Thoresen Ferries': later C.20. (John Malin, 1979.) Cf. synon. legs, and Granville's, 'she runs like a sewing machine. Said of an engine that runs well and true.'

sewn up. A var. of buttoned up, q.v.: Services': since ca. 1936. (H. & P.) By 1946, quite common, esp. in 'Everything's sewn up' or organized, arranged, settled. Cf. synon. stitched up.—2. See sewed up: it is a var. of most senses.

sex. Sexual gratification: coll.: since mid-1940s; since ca. 1950, have sex, to copulate, has been common and, by 1975, is well on the way to S.E. B.P. told me, 1969, that 'Sydney [Aus.] prostitutes use the term "sex" to distinguish between sexual intercourse and other available services.'—2. The external sexual organs (usu., but not always, female): literary coll.: since ca. 1950. 'She tried to cover her naked sex with an inadequate hand' (any piece of 'classier porn', passim). (P.B.)—3. See not interested ...

sex-appeal bombing. Air-raid(s) directed against hospitals, schools and, in short, against civilians: RAF: 1930+ (Jackson.) Ironic.

sex-appeal Pete. A semi-armour-piercing shell: RN: WW2. (P-G-R.) In the 1930s–40s, the initials S.A. would almost inevitably be taken as = sex appeal.

sex-bomb. Journalistic label for any obviously sexually very attractive girl: later C.20. Cf.:-

sex-kitten. A (young) girl addicted to making the most of her sexual attractions in order to gain masculine admiration and attention: coll.: since late 1950s. It used, ca. 1960, to be very freely applied to Brigitte Bardot and, since ca. 1965, to her imitators.

sex on. See push on.

sex-pot, sexpot. A very desirable female: adopted, ca. 1960, ex US. Cf. sex-bomb. Claiborne adds, 1976, 'Not merely desirable, but (apparently) willing.'

sex(-)up. To render a manuscript (more) sexually exciting: authors' and publishers': since ca. 1945.

sexiness. Attractiveness, as in 'Political sexiness and excitement' (Edward Pearce, Daily Telegraph, 8 July 1982). Cf. sexy, adj.

sexing-piece. Penis: since ca. 1925. Cf. S.E. fowling-piece.
Sexton Blake. The provost sergeant: army: early C.20. (F. & G.) Ex the popular fictional detective.—2. Cake: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. Often shortened to Sexton. Franklyn, Rhyming. 'S.B. was Sherlock Holmes debased to "Penny-blood" level'.—3. A 'take', in the cinematic sense: rhyming s.: since mid-C.20. Haden—Guest, 1972.

sexy, -ie, n. A sexual offender, esp. against children: police coll.: from ca. 1910.—2. A Korean girl generous in her favours: United Nations troops in Korea: ca. 1952–5.

sexy, adj. Agreeably efficient; simple and neat and efficient: Aus., esp. Sydney: since the late 1950s. 'Have you seen the automatic choke in that car?'—'Yes, rather sexy, what!' (B.P.) P.B.: in Brit., also, 1960s–70s, an almost meaningless s. term of approbation, of limitless application; often used ironically. E.g., '[Journalists] believe that McKay [a public relations man] delivers the sexiest stories [about British Leyland] through selected newspapers and carefully-chosen journals' (Peter Dunn, Sunday Times mag., 18 Oct. 1981).—3. As in 'the only reason for many companies being involved is "sheer fashion"', or, in the popular marketing phrase of the moment, sponsorship is "sexy" (Time Out, 30 May 1980). sez you!; occ. says you! A derisive c.p.: orig. US, anglicised ca. 1930. (John Brophy, English Prose, 1932.) See also says.
'sflersh!, 'sfoot!, 'sgad! Coll. euphemisms for God's flesh!, foot!, and Egad!: C.18, C.17, C.18. OED.

sh- See note concerning Yiddish and allied terms beginning sch- and sh- at sch-.

shab, n. A low fellow: 1637 (Bastwick); 1735, Dyche & Pardon, 'Shab, a mean, sorry, pitiful Fellow, one that is guilty of low Tricks, &c'; 1851, Borrow. Ex shab, a sore. Cf. scab, n., 1, q.v.

shab, v.i. To play low or mean tricks: mid-C.18–19; extant in dial. (Johnson.) Ex shab, n.—2. V.t., to rob; perhaps rather, to cheat or to deceive meanly: coll.: ca. 1780–1800. W. Hutton, 1787. OED.—3. V.i., to run away: tramps' and gipsies' c.: C.19–20. (Smart & Crofton.) Cf. much older S.E. shab off, to sneak away.

shab off, v.t. To cheat and then glibly dismiss or otherwise get rid of (someone): (?) ca. 1680–1750. George Farquhar, Love and a Bottle, 1699: 'How eagerly now does my moral Friend run to the Devil, having hopes of profit in the wind! I have shabbed him off purely [thoroughly].'

shab-rag. Shabby, damaged, very worn: from ca. 1760: s. till mid-C.19, then dial. (T. Bridges: OED). Ex shab, n. The n., C.19–20, is solely dial. Cf.:-

shab(a)roon; also shabbaroon (C.18–19), shabberoon (C.17–18). A ragamuffin; a mean, shabby fellow; an otherwise disreputable or a meanspirited person: late C.17–mid-19. (B.E.; Ned Ward; Halliwell.) Ex shab, n., on picaroon. OED.

Shabby Woman, the. The statue of Minerva at the portal of the Athenæum: literary: ca. 1860–1910. Ex shabby, stingy, 'for since the Athenæum Club was established, no member has ever afforded the simplest rites of hospitality to a friend' (H., 3rd ed.). All that has been changed!

shabroon. See shab(a)roon.

shabster, listed by F. & H. as a var. of shab, n., is not in the OED, nor is it supported by quot'n in F. & H., nor have I seen it elsewhere. Prob. genuine, but rare and of ca. 1850–1905.

shack. A misdirected or a returned letter: Post Office: late C.19–early 20. Perhaps ex shack, 'grain fallen from the ear, and available for the feeding of pigs, poultry, etc.' (OED), or ex dial. shack, a vagabond, a worthless fellow. F. & H.—2. A brakeman: Can. railwaymen's: since ca. 1900. Frederick Niven, Wild Honey, 1927.—3. A tramp; any vagrant: market-traders': C.20. M.T.—4. In go shack, to share a parcel with one's schoolfellows: Felsted: since ca. 1875; ob. Cf. Christ's Hospital (School) shag, a share: ? quelquechose pour chaque personne (or ... pour chacun). See shags, go.

shack off. To abuse; to reprimand: Oundle: since mid-1920s. (Marples.) Origin?

shack-per-swaw. Everyone for himself: London's East End and gen. London sporting:—1864; † by 1930. (H., 3rd ed.) A corruption of Fr. chacun pour soi.

shack-stoner; occ. schack-s. A sixpence: low s., perhaps c.: ca. 1890–1910. (P.H. Emerson, Signor Lippi, 1893.)? ex six-stoner. Cf. synon. Aus. & NZ zack.

shack up. To live together although unmarried: Can.: adopted, ca. 1945, ex US. By ca. 1955, also British, esp. Londoners'. Also as in 'They've been shacked up for some months' (Mark McShane, The Straight and Crooked, 1960). Perhaps ex 'to live together in a shack'.—2. Hence, loosely, shack up with (someone), to marry: since ca. 1960. (James Barlow, In All Good Faith, 1971.) By early 1960s, both senses common also in Aus.

shackie. A white girl living with a coloured man: low London: since ca. 1950. Cf. prec.

shackle, n. and v. A, to, 'rag': Dalton Hall, Manchester: since ca. 1935. Daltonian, Dec. 1946.

shackle-up. A meal of stew or broth: vagrants' and tramps' c.: C.20. (Gilt Kid, 1936.) Hence also to cook such a meal, esp. by the roadside. Cf.:-

shackles. Remnants and scrapings of meat in a butcher's shop: lower classes':—1923 (Manchon). Prob. ex shackle, abbr. shackle-bone, a knuckle-bone.—2. Stew; meat-soup: military: C.20. (F. & G.) It bears, among trawlermen, the nuance 'meat, potatoes, carrots, etc., cooked in a pot' (W. Mitford, Lovely She Goes, 1969).

shade, n. A very small portion or quantity added or taken away: coll.: mid-C.19–20. Ex shade, 'a tinge, a minute qualifying infusion' (OED).

shade, v. To keep secret: c.: late C.19–early 20. Ex shade, to hide.—2. To be superior to or better than: Aus. coll.: C.20. Semantics: 'to overshadow'. D'Arcy Niland, Call Me ..., 1958, 'Her figure's no better than mine; in fact, I'd shade her a bit, I'd say.'

shaded, ppl adj. Reduced in price: commercial and trade: since ca. 1920.

shades. Dark glasses: (? orig. c. >) rather low coll.: since 1930s, 'when dark-tinted spectacles began to be worn in place of the old-fashioned eyeshade which was like a green celluloid cap-peak worn with an elastic band round the head; instead of a shade one wore a pair of shades' (Robert Barltrop, letter to P.B., 1981).

shadow. A new boy in the care of one who is not new (the 'substance') and learning the ropes from his temporary guardian: Westminster School: from ca. 1860. Wm Lucas Collins, Public Schools, 1867.—2. A woman watching 'dress-women' prostitutes: c.: ca. 1860–1910. James Greenwood.—3. See may your shadow ...

shadows – the singular is rare. Members of the Opposition's 'Shadow Cabinet': political and journalistic coll.: since ca. 1964. P.B.: ephemeral; perhaps influenced by a 'pop-group' in high esteem early 1960s, Cliff Richard and the Shadows. shadwoking. A 'grotesque rendering of shadowing': Society: ca. 1900–14. Ware.

shady. Uncertain, unreliable, inefficient; unlikely to succeed: 1848, Clough (of a tutor), 'Shady in Latin' (OED): coll.; though perhaps orig. university s.—2. Hence, disreputable; not quite honest, not at all honourable: coll.: 1862, Saturday Review, 8 Feb., 'Whose balance-sheets are "shady"?' (OED).—3. As Shady, a common nickname of men surnamed Lane: C.20. Contrast Dusty Rhodes.

Shady Groves of the Evangelist, the. St John's Wood, London: London: ca. 1865–1910. Punning shady, 2; once a haunt of harlots and demimondaines.

shady side of, on the. Older than: 1807, W. Irving, 'The younger being somewhat on the shady side of thirty' (OED): coll. >, ca. 1910, S.E. shaft, n. An act of intercourse; a woman regarded as sex-object, 'She'd be a great shaft': low: later C.20. Ex.:-

shaft, v. To copulate with (a girl): low: since late 1940s. Perhaps prompted by pole, v., 3. Hence (cf. fuck), in exclam., e.g. 'Cor, shaft me!' (Heart, 1962).

shaft or a bolt of it, make a. To determine that a thing shall be used in one way or another: late C.16–20: coll. till ca. 1660, then proverbial S.E.; in C.19–20, merely archaic. Nashe, 1594; Isaac D'Israeli, 1823. Apperson.

shaftable. (Of a woman) bedworthy: low: since ca. 1950. Ex shaft, v.

shaft(e)sbury; S. A gallon-potful of wine with cock: s. > coll.: late C.17–early 19. (B.E.; Grose.) Presumably ex the Dorsetshire town of Shaftesbury.

shafti, -y. See shuffy.

shag, n. A copulation; also, copulation generically: C.19–20. Ex:—2. A performer (rarely of a woman) of the sexual act, esp. in 'he is but bad shag; he is no able woman's man' (Grose, 2nd ed.); late C.18–mid-19. Ex the v., 1, q.v.—3. 'Any coat other than an "Eton" or "tails" is a "shag"' (R. Airy, Westminster, 1902: OED): Westminster School: late C.19–20. Ex shaggy.—4. In it's a bit of a shag, it's a bore, a nuisance: certain Public Schools': C.20.—5. As Shag, a friendly vocative = mate, old chap: Public Schools': mid-C.20. (P.B.)—6. In wet as a shag, very wet indeed: a mainly rural coll.: from ca. 1830. (Marryat: OED.) Ex shag, a cormorant. Cf.:—7. In miserable as a shag: Aus. coll.: late C.19–20. (B., 1942.) Very miserable indeed, prob. from a combination of sense 6 and (lonely as a) shag on a rock, q.v.—8. Someone 'rough and ready (he's a real shag)' (S/Ldr G.D. Wilson, 1980): RAF: late 1970s. Perhaps ex S.E. shaggy, hairy.

shag, v. To coit (with a woman): late C.18–20. (Grose, 2nd ed.) Very gen. among soldiers in WW1. Hence the late C.19–20 c.p., applied to an inveterate womaniser, he'll shag anything from seventeen to seventy. Prob. ex † shag, to shake, toss about. Cf. n., 1, 2.—2. Whence perhaps, v.i., to masturbate: Public Schools': certainly ca. 1900 and prob. many years earlier. Cf.:

shag, adj. Exhausted, esp. after games: Marlborough College: C.20. Perhaps ex shag, v., 2, q.v. (A thin and weedy dog that, ca. 1919–23, haunted the college precincts, was known as Shagpak or Shagphat, as Mr A.B.R. Fairclough, formerly of the Alcuin Press, tells me.) See PUBLIC ... SCHOOL SLANG.

shag back. To hang back; refuse a fence: hunting coll.: from ca. 1870.

shag-bag. A poor, shabby fellow; a worthless fellow: coll.: late C.17–20; ob. (B.E.) Ex shake-bag on shag-rag, via cock-fighting.—2. A hammock: midshipmen's: latish C.19–early 20. (Cdr. C. Parsons.)—3. A whore: mostly army: since ca. 1930. (B.S. Johnson, ed., All Bull: the National Servicemen, 1973.) Ex shag, v., 1, and bag, n., 5. (P.B.)—4. An extension of shag, n., 5. (P.B.)—5. In pl, shag-bags, a dirty pair of flannel trousers: Cranbrook School: earlier C.20.

shag-bag, adj. Shabby; worthless; inferior: coll.: 1888 (OED); ob. by mid-C.20. Ex prec., 1.

Shag-bat. See Shagbat.

shag labourer. A labourer (or almost) member of the beatnik clan: beatniks': ca. 1960. Anderson, 'Partial to a particularly powerful blend of shag' (tobacco).

shag like a rattlesnake. (Esp. she shags ..., or, more likely, 'I'll bet she...'). The later C.20 low Brit. version of fuck like ..., q.v. (P.B.)

shag (one's) lugs off. (Of a male) to coit vigorously and enthusiastically: RN: C.20.

shag-nasty. A name for an unpopular man, often old s. n.: C.20. Cf., e.g., horror-bollocks and fuck-knuckle.

shag off. To go away: low: late C.19–20. Prompted by fuck off.

shag on a rock, standing out—occ. sitting—like a; or ... like a lily on a dirt-tin; or, rarely, ... like a beer bottle on the Coliseum. These picturesque Aus. similes, dating from, resp., ca. 1925, 1935, 1945, bear three distinct senses: Lonely, as in 'He shot through and left me sitting like a shag on a rock'; conspicuous, as in 'It stood out like a lily on a dirt-tin'; incongruous, as in 'He was as out of place as a beer bottle on the Coliseum' (B.P.). Wilkes, defining the first as 'Isolated, deserted, exposed', quotes R. Howitt, Impressions of Australia Felix, 1845, 'miserable as a shag on a rock'. See also shag, n., 7.

shag-spots. Adolescent pimples: Tonbridge School, and prob. elsewhere: mid-C.20. Also toss-spots, both in allusion to shag, v., 2, thought to be the cause of the affliction. Occ. used as a vocative; cf. shag, n., 5. (P.B.) Cf. shags-pot, q.v.

Shagbat. Nickname for the Vickers Walrus, a pusher biplane reconnaissance flying boat of cumbersome appearance: RN and RAF Coastal Command: WW2. (H. & P.) Partridge, 1945, 'A bat flies; walrus whiskers are shaggy', to which R.S. adds that in WW1 there existed a Sopwith flying-boat nicknamed a bat boat, 'which affords the precedent for the Services' use of the bat component' or element.

shagged, adj. Weary, exhausted: Public Schools', C.20, thence Services', WW2 and since; since ca. 1946, in gen. use.

Cf. shag, adj. Intensified as shagged (right) out, and-shagged to a thin whisker. An intensification of prec., but referring specifically to exhaustion through sexual excess: Services' and raffish: mid-C.20. (P.B.)

shagger. A 'dud' boy: Public Schools': C.20. Perhaps ex shag, v., 2.

shaggin' wag(g)on. A station wagon, a panel van, curtain-fitted and double-mattressed: Aus.: since ca. 1965. Also sin bin. (B.P., 1977.) Cf. passion wagon.

Shagroons. Australian settlers that went, en masse, to Canterbury, NZ, in 1851–2: Aus. and NZ: ca. 1851–70. (B. 1942.) With a pun on shagreen, the rough skin of sharks. But Keith Sinclair, A History of New Zealand, 1959, writes: 'Term used in Canterbury for Australian stockdrovers. (Derived from Irish Shaughraun, Saxon [hence, foreigner]?)' shags, go. To get extremely tired: schoolboys': earlier C.20. Cf. shag, adj.—2. To go shares: Public Schools': late C.19—earlier 20. (Ernest Raymond, Tell England, 1922.) See shack, 4.

shags-pot. A term of abuse for a man, but esp. for a fellow schoolboy: Clifton College: C.20. I.e. a 'pot' (chap) that 'shags' (v., 2). P.B.: but see also shag-spots.

shah. A tremendous 'swell': mostly Cockneys': ca. 1880–1910. B. & L.

Shaiba blues, the. Homesickness among airmen overseas, orig. at the RAF Station, Shaiba, on the Shatt-el-Arab in the Persian Gulf: RAF: since ca. 1925. C.H. Ward Jackson, Airman's Song Book, 1945.

shake, n. A harlot: low London:—1860 (H., 2nd ed.); ob. by 1930. Ex Northern dial; or abbr. shake-bag, 2, q.v.; cf. shag, v., 1.—2. A copulation: id. See v., 1.—3. Abbr. milk-shake, egg-shake, etc.: coll.:—1903. ? Ex US.—4. Generic for instantaneous or very rapid action: from ca. 1815: by C.20, coll. Esp. in a shake (late C.19–20), in the shake of a hand (1816), in a brace (1841) or a couple (1840) of shakes, in two shakes (from ca. 1880), in the shake of a lamb's tail (—1903) or joc., from ca. 1905, of a dead lamb's tail. Also, esp. among Cockneys: (in) two shakes of a donkey's (or a monkey's) tail: from ca. 1910. The lamb's tail form has, since ca. 1905, taken also the form, in two shakes of a dead lamb's tail.—5. Hence, a moment: (? late C.19—) C.20. E. Nesbit, 1904, 'Wait a shake, and I'll undo the side gate' (OED).—6. Hence also, a great shake, a very fast pace: late C.19—early 20.—7. A 'slur' on a printed sheet, the slur being caused by an uneven impression: printers' coll.: mid-C.19–20. B. & L.—8. A throw of the dice to decide who is to pay for drinks: Aus. coll.: C.20. B., 1942.—9. A party: beatniks': since ca. 1958. (Anderson.) Cf. the quot'n at rave, 4.—10. As the shake, pick-pocketing: c.: C.20. Cf. the v., 3, 4.—11. See shakes.

shake, v.t. To coit (with a woman): coll.: ? C.16—early 20. In late C.19–20, rare except in shake a tart. Halliwell, 'This seems to be the ancient form of shag, given by Grose' (see shag, v., 1).—2. ? hence, v. reflexive, to masturbate: C.19–20. Cf. shag, v., 2.—3. V.t., to rob (a person): low s., or perhaps c.:

C.19–20. Lex Bal.; in C.20, mainly Aus. Cf. the C.15–16 S.E. shake (a person) out of (goods, etc.). In earlier C.19 lowerdeck coll., it has the nuance 'to break up', e.g. a cask (Basil Hall, 1831).—4. (? hence) to steal: from ca. 1810: c. >, ca. 1880, low s. Vaux; H. Kingsley, 1859, 'I shook a nag, and got bowled out and lagged.' In C.20, almost wholly Aus. See also shook.—5. Hence, to borrow or 'bludge' money off (a person): Aus.: since ca. 1910. Baker.—6. To stir up (the sluggards) 'Services', esp. RN, coll.: since ca. 1920. P-G-R.—7. As imperative: Shake hands!: from ca. 1890; mainly US. Often shake on it! (Other forms are very rare, except for, e.g., 'Well satisfied, they shook on it.').—8. See shook.

shake a cloth in the wind. To be hanged: late C.18—mid-19. Grose, 2nd ed.—2. (Gen. as ppl adj., shaking...) To be slightly intoxicated: nautical: C.19. The phrase occurs in W.N. Glascock, Naval Sketch-Book (II, 33), 1826 (Moe).

shake a fall. To wrestle: C.19—early 20.

shake a flannin. To fight: navvies': ca. 1870–1914. (Ware.) A flannin is a flannel shirt or jacket.

shake a leg. (Gen. in imperative.) To hurry: coll. (mainly military and nautical): late C.19–20. Anstey, 1892, 'Ain't you shot enough? Shake a leg, can't yer, Jim?' Ex S.E. shake a foot, leg, etc., to dance.

shake a loose leg. To go 'on the loose': coll.: mid-C.19–20.

shake a toe. To dance: ca. 1820–80. Sinks, 1848.

shake and shiver. A river: theatrical rhyming s.: late C.19–20. Franklyn, Rhyming.

shake-bag. Prostitute: ca. 1730–1890. Smollett, Humphrey Clinker, 1771, 'I would pit her for a cool hundred (cried Quin) against the best shake-bag of the whole main.' Cf. shag-bag, 3, shake, n., 1, and:—2. The pudend: low: recorded only from mid-C.19 on, but—cf. sense 1—may go back to early C.18.

shake(-)book. A notebook that, kept by the quartermaster of the watch, contains the names of the men to be roused during the night: RN: C.20. Granville.

shake-buckler. A swashbuckler or bully: coll. nickname: mid-C.16—mid-17. Becon.

shake-down or shakedown, n. and v. Blackmailing of book-makers: c.: C.20. In Aus., violent threats; a 'rough house' (B., 1942, as the shakedown). Prob ex US: SOD, 1977; W. & F. have 'blackmail, exaction under duress'.—2. As v.i., to get used to a job or a condition: coll.: late C.19–20. ('Taffrail', Pincher Martin, 1916.) Cf. S.E. shake-down, a rough bed, and nautical j. shakedown cruise, a fresh crew getting used to a new ship.

shake (a person's) fleas. To thrash: low: C.19. Ware.

shake-glim. A begging letter, or petition, on account of fire: ca. 1850–90. Cf. shake-lurk.

shake hands with an old friend. (Usu. I must go and ...) To urinate (of males): euph. coll.: since ca. 1880. A WW2 Forces' var. is shake hands with the bloke I enlisted with (L.A.) A gen. var., C.20, is shake hands with Mr Right or with him, which bears the additional sense (low: C.20), to masturbate. As 'to urinate', there is a further var.: shake hands with one's wife's best friend, as in Nicholas Monsarrat, The Nylon Pirates, 1960. An earlier C.20 'ritual exchange' starting with 'I must go...', went on, 'Have you known him long?', to be capped with 'Yes—and I've known him longer!' (P.B.) Then there's shake hands with the Devil, to masturbate (of either sex) recorded in Hollander, 1972.

shake it rough, often as ppl adj. or vbl n., shaking it rough. To do one's prison sentence the hard way, instead of 'riding it smooth': Can.: since late 1940s. Leechman cites A. Schroeder, Shaking It Rough, 1976.

shake-lurk. As for shake-glim, only for shipwreck: c. of ca. 1850–1900. (Mayhew, 1851.) See lurk, a dodge or 'lay'; and cf. lurker.

shake-out. A 'sudden revulsion and following clearance—due to panic': Stock Exchange coll.: from ca. 1880. Ware.

Shake, Rattle and Roll. The three tanks landed at Port Said in the campaign against Egypt in late 1956. Ex the title and chorus of a contemporaneous popular song. (P.B.) Cf. Pip, Squeak and Wilfred, 2.

shake (one's) shambles. (Gen. in imperative.) To be off: late C.17—mid-18: either low s. or perhaps, orig. at least, c. B.E. shake the bullet or red rag. See bullet and red rag.—2. To threaten to discharge a person: tailors': from ca. 1870; slightly ob. by 1930.

shake the (occ. one's) elbow. To dice: C.17—early 20: coll. >, ca. 1800, S.E. Frances Boothby, Marcellia, 1670, I, iii, has shake of the elbow (Moe). Cf. Vanbrugh's 'He's always shaking his heels with the ladies [i.e. dancing] and his elbows with the lords.'

shake the ghost into. To frighten (a person) greatly: mid-C.19—early 20. Cf. frighten the daylight out of.

shake the gum out of a sail. To test new canvas for the first time in bad weather: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

shake the lead out of your arse! Get a move on!: Can. workmen's c.p.: since ca. 1930.

shake the pagoda-tree. See pagoda-tree.

shake the tree. See shaking...

shake (one's) toe-rag. To decamp: vagabonds' and beggars' c.:—1909 (Ware). Cf. toe-ragger.

shake (one's) trotters. See Beilby's ball, 2.

shake-up. An unnering experience: coll. late C.19–20.—2. Strenuous 'gym' for a large class: Royal Naval College, Dartmouth: C.20. Granville.

shake up, v.i. To masturbate: C.19—early 20. Cf. shag, v., 2.—2. V.t., to hurry: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. (Bowen.) Ex S.E. shake up, to rouse with, or as with, a shake.

shake your ears! (go). C.p. advice to one who has lost his ears: ca. 1570–1790. G. Harvey, 1573; Shakespeare; Mrs F. Sheridan, 1764. (Apperson.) Cf. the modern crudity get the dirt out of your ears!, wake up!

shaker. A hand: low coll.: mid-C.19—early 20.—2. A shirt: from the 1830s: c. >, ca. 1870, low s. Brandon; Snowden; H., 1st ed.—3. An omnibus: busmen's: from ca. 1870; ob. Cf. bone-shaker.—4. A beggar that pretends to have fits: c.:—1861 (Mayhew).—5. Any rickety vehicle: Aus.: late C.19–20. (B., 1942.) Cf. 3.

Shakers, the. Bury Association Football Club: sporting: C.20. They've 'shaken' many strong teams.

shakes, the. Any illness or chronic disease marked by trembling limbs and muscles: coll.: from the 1830s. OED.

—2. Hence, delirium tremens: coll.: from ca. 1880. Cornhill Magazine, June 1884, 'Until she is pulled up by an attack of delirium tremens, or, as she and her neighbours style it, a fit of the shakes.'—3. Hence, extreme nervousness: coll.: since ca. 1880.—4. In what shakes?, what's the chance of stealing anything?: c.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). See shake, v., 3 and 4.—5. For in a brace or couple of shakes, see shake, n., 5.—6. See no great shakes.

Shakespeare-navels. A 'long-pointed, turned-down collar': London youths': ca. 1870–80. (Ware.) Precisely why? P.B.: perhaps the deep collar in the well-known portrait of Shakespeare is relevant—reaching 'almost to his navel'?

shakester. See stickster.

shaking the tree, n. and ppl, either gen., or shaking (someone's) tree, particular. 'Lighting a fire on his doorstep', i.e. putting very severe moral pressure on someone: later C.20. John Le Carré, The Honourable Schoolboy, 1977.

shakings. Litter, e.g. fragments of paper or thread: naval: ca. 1800–50. W.N. Glascock, Sailors and Saints (I, 143), 1829 (Moe).

shaky, n. Tinned milk: MN: later C.20. (John Malin, 1979.)

shaky do. A mismanaged affair, e.g. a bungled raid, work badly done, something that has—or very nearly has—serious consequences; also, 2, a risky, haphazard raid necessitated by general policy; 3, a dangerous raid, esp. a very dangerous one: RAF: the first (H. & P.), since ca. 1935; the second, since late 1939 (Brickhill & Norton, Escape to Danger, 1946); the third, since late 1940, as in James Aldridge, Signed With Their Honour, 1942, and in Robert Hinde, letter, 1945. See do, n., 2.—4. Hence, an arrangement or agreement or contract that, apparently fair, is, in the fact, one-sided:

since ca. 1945. P.B.: often in pl. as in a protesting 'I say—shaky do's, old boy!' = play fair! Ob. by ca. 1960.

Shaky Isles, the. New Zealand: Aus. coll.: C.20. (B., 1943.) Ex numerous earthquakes, esp. in the North Island.

shaky tot. Synon. with deep-sea tot, P-G-R.

shale shifter. Motorcycle speedway rider: motorcyclists': later C.20. (Dunford.) shaler. See sheila.

shall us? Let's. A c.p., esp. among juveniles: ca. 1895–1914. Perhaps it originates in the Cockneys' shall us? for shall we? (Suggested by the article 'Cockneyism Vindicated' in La Belle Assemblée, new series, no. 148, April 1821, p. 176.)

shaller dodge. See shallow dodge.

shallowing, n. Doing something one wishes or likes to do: army: since ca. 1925. Ex emphatic shall? 'Can Hebrew "shalom" (peace) be involved?' Dr Leechman pertinently asks. Well, it does seem possible. P.B.: From 'Service in Palestine? † by 1950.

shallow. A hat: c.: ca. 1810–70. (Vaux; Renton Nicholson, An Autobiography, 1860.) Hence, a lily-shallow, a white whip-hat, i.e. a low-crowned one: fashionable s.: ca. 1810–40.—2. See shallow brigade, cove, dodge, mort, scrifer. Perhaps ex dial. shalleygonahney, shallegonaked (i.e. shall I go naked?), used chiefly of insufficient clothing (EDD).—3. In do the, or go, shallow, to practise the 'shallow dodge' (q.v.): c.:—1887 (Baumann, go shallow); P.H. Emerson (both forms). The earliest shape of the phrase is go on the shallows, H., 1st ed. Cf. synon. run shallow: c.:—1893 (Ripon Chronicle, 23 Aug.), 'By running shallow I mean that he never wears either boots, coat, or hat, even in the depths of the most dismal winter.'—4. In live shallow, to live in discreet retirement when wanted by the police: c.: later C.19–early 20.

shallow brigade. Perhaps merely a more or less literary synonym for school of shallow coves (see s. cove). Mayhew, 1851.

shallow cove; s. fellow. C.19–20 tramps' c. (first recorded in 1839 and now ob.), as in Brandon and in Mayhew, 1851, 'He scraped acquaintance with a "school of shallow coves"; that is, men who go about half-naked, telling frightful tales about shipwrecks, hair-breadth escapes from houses on fire, and such like... calamities.' Also a shivering Jemmy, q.v. Cf.: shallow dodge. The capitalising of rags and semi-nudity: c.: 1869, Greenwood, 'A pouncing of the exposed parts with common powder blue is found to heighten the frost-bitten effect.' shallow fellow. See shallow cove.

shallow mort or mot(t). A female practiser of the 'shallow dodge': 1842, Edinburgh Review, July (mott); H., 1st ed. (mot). OED. Cf. shallow cove, q.v.

shallow screever, scrifer, etc. A man who, very meagrely dressed, sketches and draws on the pavement: c.:—1859 (H., 1st ed.). See shallow, 2, and screever, n.

shallow-water sailor. Applied occ. to someone walking with legs wide apart so that he almost appears to be drunk, but mostly as 'a term of contempt used by old seamen for men having made only one or two trips to sea [who] are trying to impress others' (Jack Slater): heard in 1963, it goes back to the 1920s—if not a generation earlier.

shally-shally. See shilly-shally.

sham, n. A trick or hoax, an imposture, a fraud: 1677: orig. s., it had by 1700 > S.E. The same with the corresponding v., also in Wycherley in 1677. Prob. ex shame, n. and v.: cf. cut a sham, 'to play a Rogue's Trick', B.E. (who wrongly, as I think, classifies this phrase, along with the simple n., as c.), late C.17–18, and upon the sham, fraudulently (late C.17 only), and put a sham upon, 'to sell', to swindle; ca. 1680–1830,—all three, by the way, s. only for a year or two before being made S.E.—2. Hence, a false testimonial, certificate, or subscription list: c.: from ca. 1840; ob. 'No. 747'.—3. As false sleeve or shirt-front, prob. always S.E.—4. champagne: 1849 (Thackeray). Cf. the early C.20 album c.p.: 'A bottle of champagne for my real friends; of real pain for my sham friends.' Occ.

(—1874) shammy, as in H., 5th ed.: very ob. by 1930. The more gen. C.20 terms are fizz (ob.), bubbly and champers.

sham, v. To ply with, or teaze oneself to, champagne: rare: from ca. 1820. (Byron: Baumann.) Cf. champagne, n., 4.

sham-Abraham seems to be the predominant C.19 Naval ratings' form of Abraham-sham, q.v. W.N. Glascock, Sketch-Book, 2nd series, 1834, at I, 291, and II, 272.

Sham Berlin. The Rt Hon. Neville Chamberlain: lower and lower-middle classes': 22 Sep. 1938–3 Aug. 1939. Ex his propitiatory visits to Hitler (but he was buying time in which to produce weapons in Britain: P.B.). Robert Claborn, 1976, recalls the relevant Fr. expression, M [onsieur]. J'aime Berlin [I love Berlin']. Included as an example of punning Hobson-Jobson.

sham-legger. A man that offers to sell very cheaply goods that are very inferior: low s. (mostly London) of ca. 1870–1910.

sham saint. Esp. in pass a..., to be a hypocrite: c.: early C.18. Ned Ward, 1709.

sham the doctor. To malingering: army: late C.19–early 20. F. & G.

shambles. Uproar; confusion; 'mess': Services (mostly officers): 1939+; by 1945, also civilian. Brickhill & Norton, 1946, 'While the new camp was in the shambles of moving in and settling down' and 'Everything was in a shambles'. Ex the definition of shambles as, e.g., 'bloody confusion'. Hence, as in 'close up from the "loose shambles" formation [the aircraft] have been maintaining so far into a tight, professional-looking box' (Phantom): RAF: 1970s.—2. See shake (one's) shambles.

shambling, n. Ragging the authorities: Royal Naval College, Dartmouth: since ca. 1930. (Granville.) Creating a 'shambles'.

shambly. Shambling, lurching: nautical coll.: late C.19–20. W.E. Llewellyn has described sailors thus: 'Their hands were in a grab half-hook [i.e. as though grasping a grapnel], always, and their shoulders shamblly.'

shambolic, adj. 'In a shambles'; chaotic; in a mess, of place, person, equipment, etc.: Services', esp. in National Service training: since ca. 1950; ob. by 1980. Fancifully ex shambles, q.v., perhaps blended with diabolic. (P.B.)

shame. Anything very ugly, painfully indecent, disgracefully inferior: coll.: 1764, Gray, 'His nose is a shame'; 1815, Scott, 'Three [hens] that were a shame to be seen.' OED.—2. In it's (only) a shame!: var. of it's a rumour!, q.v. at rumour, B., 1942.—3. In the last shame, imprisonment; prison: euph. coll.:—1923 (Manchon).

shame on your shimmy! A partly facetious pun on 'Shame on you!': lower-middle classes': from ca. 1930. Here, shimmy is s. form of chemise.

shame to take the money, (it's) a. That's money very easily come by: c.p.: late C.19–20.

shamez. 'Synagogue official used as a slang word for policeman (Yiddish)' (Powis): c.: later C.20. Cf. shamus, q.v.

shaming. Shameful; 'shy-making': Society: ca. 1929–34. Evelyn Waugh, Vile Bodies, 1930, 'How too shaming.'

shammy. See sham, n., 4.

shampoo attitude or crouch, the. The Nonconformist practice of sitting with head bowed to pray, instead of kneeling: church circles': C.20. (Rev. Walter Green; Mrs Daphne Beale, 1980.) Also known as the Free Church crouch.—2. See shave, n., 7.

shamrock. A prick with a bayonet: army: ca. 1850–1905. Ware.—2. In drown the shamrock, to drink or go drinking on St Patrick's Day, properly and nominally in honour of the shamrock: 1888 (Daily Telegraph, 22 Mar., but prob. in spoken use many, many years earlier): coll. till ca. 1910, then S.E. See CROWN AND ANCHOR, in Appendix.—3. See puff and dart.

shamrock tea. Weak tea—only three leaves in it: tramps' c.: C.20. Toby: a Bristol Tramp Tells his Story, Bristol Broadside, 1979.

shamus. A private detective: adopted, ca. 1944, from US servicemen. (Cf. private eye.) Ex the Irish name Scumas, there being so many Irishmen in America, and so many of them connected with police work. Julian Franklyn, however, suggests that the word may represent the shamos, the sexton or caretaker of a synagogue. Hence, anyone who takes care of somebody else's problems for a fee. 'Assuming this was originally c., as seems likely, it would be consistent with the incorporation of other Yiddish terms into c. (e.g., "gun-moll" from "goniff-moll")' (Robert Claiborne, 1966). 'Seumas' is, in fact, a very uncommon name among Irish Americans. Cf. shamez, q.v.

shan(d). Base or counterfeit coin: c.:—1812; very ob. (Vaux.) Ex dial. shan, paltry. Cf. sheen, q.v.

shandy, for shandygaff, is on the border-line between coll. and S.E.

shandy man. Electrician: circus: since ca. 1910. (Edward Seago, Sons of Sawdust, 1934.) He causes things to sparkle. See also shanty-man: misprint or var., and which of which. shaney is a var. of shanny.

shanghai. To stupefy and then put on a vessel requiring hands: nautical s. (orig. US) >, in C.20, coll.: 1871 (US) and 1887 (England). Ex Shanghai as seaport, or perhaps as propelled from a shanghai or catapult (shanghai, to shoot with a shanghai, is not recorded before C.20). OED.—2. Hence, to detail (someone) for special duty: RN: since ca. 1925. P-G-R. Shanghai gentleman. One definitely not a gentleman: RN: —1909 (Ware).

Shanghai'd (or shanghai'd). Tossed from a horse: Aus.: C.20. (B., 1942.) Ex Aus. shanghai, to shoot with a catapult. Shanghaiander. An inhabitant of the International Concession territory in Shanghai: China coast coll.: earlier C.20. Rhodes Farmer, Shanghai Harvest, 1945.

shangie. A catapult: Aus., esp. juvenile: since ca. 1930. (B., 1953.) Ex shanghai.

Shank-End, the; hence Shankender. The Cape Peninsula; an inhabitant thereof: S. African joc. coll.: late C.19–20. (Pettman.) Cf. the heel of Italy.

shank(-)painter. One's leg: nautical: late C.18–mid-19. Bill Truck, Mar. 1826.

shanker bosun. Chief sick-berth attendant: RN: 1940s. (Pepitt.) Strictly, chancr bosun. Cf., e.g., custard bosun, for joc. use of bosun. (P.B.)

Shanks'(s) mare, nag, naggy, pony. One's legs as conveyance: coll. (in C.20, S.E.): resp. 1795 (S. Bishop); nag, 1774 (Ferguson), and naggy, 1744 (an anon. Scottish song, W.), the former being mostly, the latter wholly Scots; pony 1891 (Globe, 5 June: OED). Joc. on shanks, the legs, and gen. as ride S. m. (or n., or p.). Cf. Fr. s. par le train 11, Hong Kong Cantonese 'go by number 11 bus'—and the Tombola call 'Legs-eleven'. shanky. Thrifty; close-fisted: army: earlier C.20. (F. & G.) Perhaps ex one who walks (see prec.) when the ordinary person would ride or go by bus or train.

Shannon, to have been dipped in the. To be anything but bashful, the immersion being regarded as a cure competely effectual and enduring against that affliction: coll.: ca. 1780–1880. Grose, 1st ed.

shanny. Idiomatic, silly; mad: Cockneys':—1887 (Baumann). Ex Kentish dial.

shant, n. A quart or a pot; a pot of liquor (esp. shant of gatter, a pot of beer): mid-C.19–20; c. and low s. (Mayhew, 1851; P.H. Emerson, 1893.)? etym.: cf. shanty and shanty-liquor, qq.v.—2. Hence, a particular (alcoholic) beverage, 'Thought you'd go for top-end shants—cocktails or sherry' (John Gloag, Unlawful Justice, 1962); C.20. Cf. shanting.

shant, v. To defecate: Felsted School: C.20. Ex Essex dial. shan't (less correctly, shan't). Shall not: coll.: 1664, S. Crossman, My Life and I shan't part; 1741, Richardson (shan't); 1876, Black, 'He sha'n't marry Violet' (app. earliest record of this form). OED.—2. As a n., 1850, Smedley, 'A sulky, half-muttered "shan't" was the only reply' (OED): likewise coll. Ex:—3. As sha'n't!, a somewhat uncouth and gen. angry or sullen form of I sha'n't!, 'I shall not (do so)': a coll. peremptory refusal: C.18–20.

sha'n't play!, I. I'm annoyed; I don't like it: Aus. c.p.: from ca. 1885; ob. (B. & L.) Ex children's peevishness in games. P.B.: not ob. in Brit., C.20; usu. joc., and as 'Sha'n't play!'; 'Sha'n't play unless I can be captain!' is sometimes used as a taunt at someone displaying this kind of peevish attitude. sha'n't be long!, now we. It's all right!: a c.p. of ca. 1895–1915. Daily Telegraph, 8 Sep. 1896; Maugham, Liza of Lambeth, 1897, '“Now we sha'n't be long!” she remarked.' Ware derives it from 'railway travellers' phrase when near the end of a journey'.

shanting, n. The drinking of alcoholic liquor: low London: since ca. 1910. John Gloag, Unlawful Justice, 1962; cf. shant, n., 2.

shanty, n. A public house; a 'sly-grog shop': showmen's s. (prob. from ca. 1850) >, by 1860, Aus. and NZ coll.; in C.20, virtually S.E. H. Lawson, 1902, 'They got up a darnse at Peter Anderson's shanty across the ridges.' Prob. ex Fr. chantier; nevertheless, derivation direct ex shant (q.v.) is not impossible: cf. senses 3 and 4. P.B.: why not simply ex N. American shanty (1820: SOD), a cabin or rough hut?—2. Hence, a brothel: nautical: from ca. 1890. F. & H.—3. A quart of liquor, esp. of beer or ale: 1893 (P.H. Emerson). Prob. ex shant, q.v.—4. Beer-money: 1893, P.H. Emerson, 'Any shanty in your sky-rocket.' Prob. sense 3 is slightly earlier than, and the imm. source of, sense 4.—5. A caboose: Can. railroadmen's:—1931. Derisively ex 1 and 2. shanty, v. To drink often, habitually, at a 'shanty' (sense 1): 1888: Aus. coll. >, ca. 1905, S.E. 'Rolf Boldrewood', 1888, 'The Dalys and us shantying and gaffing.' Century Dict.

shanty-bar. The bar in a 'shanty' (sense 1): late C.19–20: Aus. coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. H. Lawson, 1902, 'Throwing away our money over shanty bars' (OED).

shanty-keeper. One who keeps a 'shanty' (sense 1): 1875: Aus. coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E. Cf. prec. and ensuing entry. Morris.

shanty(-)liquor. Sly-grog-shop drink: Aus. coll. >, ca. 1920, S.E.: 1886, H.C. Kendall, 'He'll... swig at shanty liquors' (OED). Ex shanty, 1.

shanty-man. An electrician: circus-men's:—1932 (Edward Seago, Circus Company). Prob. suggested by juice, electricity: cf. shanty, n., 3, and see shandy-man.

shap. See shapo.

shape, n. In spoil (a woman's) shape, to get her with child: coll.: late C.17–early 20. Facetious Tom Brown, 'The... king who had spoild the shape... of several mistresses.' By an indelicate pun.—2. In there's a shape for you!, a c.p. in respect of an extremely thin person or animal: mid-C.19–early 20. Cf. shapes, 1.—3. In travel on (one's) shape, to live by one's appearance, to swindle: coll.: C.19.—4. See shapes.

shape, v. To shape up to, to (offer to) fight someone: Aus.: C.20. Baker.—2. To behave well: coll., esp. Lancashire: ca. 1870–1940. (R. Roberts, A Ragged Schooling, 1976.) Elliptical for shape up well.

shapes. An ill-made man often in vocative: late C.17–mid-19. B.E.—2. Hence, a very tightly laced girl: ca. 1730–1910. Dyche & Pardon, Halliwell, OED.—3. 'An ill-made irregular Lump of Flesh, &c.' (Dyche & Pardon): ca. 1730–1830.—4. 'The meat ingredient of a meal, especially breakfast: usually the same but in a different shape: rolled for sausages, in a ball for faggots, or round and flat for rissoles': army: C.20. B. & P.—5. In cut up, or show shapes, to frolic; exhibit flightiness: mid-C.19–early 20. (H., 1st ed.). Cf. show (one's) shapes, q.v.

shapes and shirts. Young actors' term, ca. 1883–1900, for 'old actors, who swear by the legitimate Elizabethan drama, which involves either the "shape" or the "shirt"—the first being the cut-in tunic; the... shirt being independent of shape' (Ware).

shapo, rare; gen. shappeau or shappo; rarely shop(p)o; less rarely shap. A hat: late C.17–early 19; c. B.E., 'Shappeau, c. or Shappo, c. for Chappeau',—properly Fr. chapeau—'a Hat, the newest Cant, Nab being very old, and grown too common'; Grose, 2nd ed., has shappo and shap, in 1st ed. only shappo; C. Hitchin, 1718, has shap.

share. A female easily accessible, esp. in 'a bit of share' (copulation): low: since the 1920s. Shared out?

share-bys; timesing. Sums involving division; ditto multiplication: primary schools': C.20. (Mrs Daphne Beale, 1975.) I.e. 'What is A's share of... if...' and 'seven times seven'.

share-certificate. A pimp's prostitute: white-slavers' c.: from ca. 1910. Londres.

share that among you! A soldiers' c.p. (from 1915) on hurling a bomb into an enemy trench or dug-out. (B. & P.) Cf. have among you, blind harpers.

shark. A pickpocket: c. of C.18. J. Stevens, 1707; Grose. OED.—2. (? hence) a customs officer: ca. 1780–1880. Grose, 1st ed.—3. A lawyer: nautical coll.: C.19. In an unidentified British song antedating 1806, the year in which, on 17 May (p. 304), it appeared in an American magazine, The Port Folio (Moe). Baumann, 1887, has black shark.—4. A recruit: army: ca. 1890–1910. ? On rooky, a rook being a shark.—5. A sardine: nautical joc.: since late C.19. 'Taffrail', Pincher Martin, 1916; Granville, 'Tinned sardines: lowerdeck'.

Hence, a box of sharks, a tin of sardines (P-G-R).—6. A professional punter: bookmakers':—1932 (Slang, p. 241).

—7. A ticket inspector: railwaymen's: C.20. Railway, 2nd.—8. See basking shark; sharks.

shark, v. To steal, 'borrow without asking': RN wardrobe: early C.20. "'Who's sharked my chair?' Suggested, Mr President, that the mess committee take steps to prevent people's chairs being stolen in their absence."—"Oh! Go to Jerusalem!" (Musings, p. 35). Cf. synon. vulture.

shark-bait. 'Pickets supplied by a military unit to a town' (Baker): Aus. army: 1939+. Ex:—2. Var., in K.S. Prichard, Intimate Stranger, 1937, of—shark-baiter. A too venturesome swimmer: Aus. coll.: since early C.20.

shark out. To make off; decamp slyly: dial. (—1828) >, by 1880, low coll. Manchon.

Shark Parade. Bedford Row (many solicitors' offices): taxidriers': since ca. 1920. Cf. Thieves' Kitchen, 3.

sharkerie, better -y. Financial sharp-dealing or shameless exploitation of others: Aus. coll.: since ca. 1925. B., 1942.

Shark(-y). The almost inevitable nickname for men surnamed Armstrong: Services': earlier C.20. P-G-R. sharks, the. The press-gang: 1828 (D. Jerrold); † by 1900.

shark's mouth. 'An awning shaped to fit round a mast': nautical coll. verging on j.: late C.19–20. Bowen.

sharoned. Nonplussed: Newfoundland (? dial. rather than s. or coll.): C.20. (L.E.F. English, Historic Newfoundland, 1955.) Ex Gaelic saraich, to distress, to overcome.

sharp, n. A swindler; a cheat: coll.: 1797 (Mrs M. Robinson: OED); Vaux; Maskelyne's title for a most informative book, Sharps and Flats.—2. Hence, an expert, connoisseur, actual or would-be wise man: coll.: 1865, Pall Mall Gazette, 11 Sep., "Sharps" who advertise their "tips" in the sporting journals' (OED). Ex sharp, alert.—3. (Gen. in pl.) A needle: c.: late C.19–20. Ex S.E. sharps, one of three grades of needles, including the longest and most sharply pointed.—4. In has Mr Sharp come in yet?, a trader's c.p. addressed by one (e.g.) shopman to another 'to signify that a customer of suspected honesty is about': from ca. 1860. (H., 3rd ed.) Cf. two upon ten, q.v., and sense 1.

sharp, adj. Rather too smartly dressed: Can.: since ca. 1940. A sharp set of drapes = a too smart suit. Hence, by ca. 1944 (? ex US servicemen), English.

sharp and blunt. The female pudenda: rhyming s., on cunt: since late C.19. Cf. grumble and grunt.

sharp as a box of monkeys. See straight off the turnips.

sharp as the corner of a round table. Stupid: coll. (lower classes'): from ca. 1870; ob. Prob. by opposition to S.E. sharp as a needle or razor or † thorn.

sharp end, the. The bows of the ship: RN joc. upon landlubbers' ignorance: C.20. (Granville.) Cf. blunt end.

—2. Hence, at the sharp—the blunt—end, well forward (at the front), well behind the lines: army: 1940–5. (P-G-R.) Also as up the sharp end; still very common in army usage, 1974 (P.B.).—3. At the sharp end has, late 1970s, found its way into 'civvy street': the Guardian, Jan. 1979, reported the General Secretary of the Society of Civil and Public Servants as saying that secret decision-making in Whitehall on spending was done by 'people who could not know the effect [it] would have on those "at the sharp end"', i.e. the ordinary workers. Adam Thompson, chairman of British Caledonian Airways: 'I've been in at the sharp end of things and I know that in the end cheaper fares will come to Europe' (Sunday Telegraph mag., 30 Nov.1980).

sharper's tools. Fools: rhyming s.: late C.19–20. (As = dice, it is S.E.)

sharpies. That band, or gang, of rivals to the bodgies which lasted only about a year: Aus., esp. Melbourne, teenagers': since mid-1950s. 'I guess you could say they were square-bodgies' (Dick). Ex their 'sharp' bodgie clothes. An Aus. version of the later Brit. bovver boys and punks.

sharping omee. A policeman: c. and Parlyare: ca. 1850–90. (H., 1st ed.) See omee.

sharping tribe, the. See ROGUES, in Appendix.

sharpish, adv. Almost always in understatement, by implication giving the -ish suffix the force of 'very' (as opp. the S.E. adj., where it = somewhat, fairly): coll.: C.20. In, e.g., 'They started shooting, so we moved out a bit sharpish', or 'Sarn't-major wants you. Better get over there pretty sharpish.' (P.B.) sharpish. See go on the sharpo.

Sharps, the. The 3rd County of London Yeomanry (Sharpshooters) were usually referred to by other London Yeomen as "The Sharps" ... [the] unit dated from 1901 ... [merged with the Kent Yeomanry] in 1961 ... to become the Kent and County of London Yeomanry' (Gaylor). Also in S.F. Hatton, The Yarn of a Yeoman, 1930. Cf. Roughs, q.v.

Sharp's Alley bloodworms. Beef sausages; black puddings: ca. 1850–1900. Ex a well-known abattoir near Smithfield. H., 1st ed.

sharp's the word and quick's the motion. A c.p. implying that a person is 'very attentive to his own interest' (Grose, 2nd ed.): late C.18–20; slightly ob. Ex sharp's the word, an enjoining of promptitude, which, in C.20, sometimes carries on and quick's the action. See DCpp.

sharpshooter (activity: sharpshooting). 'A person who mingles with a crowd round a bookmaker's stand, holds out his hand, and demands a ticket for a non-existent bet' (B., 1953): Aus. sporting: since ca. 1930.

sharpy. A derisive coll. nickname for a person self-consciously alert: late C.19–20.

sharry. A charabanc: low coll.: 1924 (OED Sup.). Imm. ex chara.

s'hart. See 'sheart'.

shat, n. A tattler: ca. 1709–20. Steele in the Tattler, no. 71, 1709 (OED).

shat, v. Joc. irreg. formation of a past tense for shit, as in 'The poor old Jaunty nearly shat hi'self' (Heart, 1962); 'he shat blue lights' = he was extremely scared; 'Who's shat?' = who has farted?: low coll.: since ca. 1920. (L.A.; P.B.) But in, e.g., I won't be shat upon!, I won't be squashed, it is prob. a punning blend of sat + shit. See that remains ...

shat or shat-off, adj. Very angry; very much annoyed: low Aus. since ca. 1945. (B.P.) Cf. prec., in such phrases as 'he shat himself with rage' (P.B.).

shat on from a great height. Reprimanded by someone of much higher rank: Services', esp. Can.: WW2. P.B.: since then very widespread in Service use, particularly in remarks like 'he deserves to be shat upon from a great height'.

shatter, n. Esp. in out on a s., engaged in making a heavy raid: RAF Bomber Command: WW2. John Bull, 17 Apr. 1943.

shattered; shattering. Navy, nervous; tiresome, upsetting, boring, unpleasant: Society: from ca. 1925. Agatha Christie, shauri, shauria. See SWAHILI, in Appendix.

The Murder at the Vicarage, 1930, 'I feel shattered' and 'Life's very shattering, don't you think?'; E. Waugh, Decline and Fall, 1928, 'My dear, how too shattering for you.'—2. Utterly exhausted, physically or mentally or both, as 'Doing his finds and running the 1500 metres in the same week? God, he must be shattered!': coll.: since mid-C.20.—3. Completely and helplessly drunk: mostly Services': since ca. 1955. 'Then he took in the slack and went ashore three or four nights on the trot, with subs like, and got absolutely shattered every bastard time' (Heart, 1962).

Shawn Spadah. A car: ephemeral rhyming s.: 1921+; 'Winner of the Grand National [steeplechase] in that year' (David Gardner, MA, of Preston).

shave, n. A narrow escape: 1834 (R.H. Froude: OED): coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. Ex S.E. sense, a slight or grazing touch.—2. Hence, passing an examination by a 'shave': university (orig. Oxford): 1840 (Theodore Hook: OED); slightly ob. by 1930.—3. A definitely false, or at the least, an unauthenticated report: military: 1813 (Capt. R.M. Cairnes: OED), so that Sala was wrong when, in 1884, he implied that the term arose (instead of saying that it > gen. popular) during the Crimean War, though he may have been right when he said that as=a hoax, it arose then; the latter nuance, unless applied to a deliberately false rumour, was † by 1914. 'From a barber's shop, the home of gossip' (B. & P.). Cf. litrine rumour, q.v.—4. 'The proportion of the receipts paid to a travelling company by a local manager' (F. & H., 1903): C.20 theatrical. Ex shaved-off.—5. 'A money consideration paid for the right to vary a contract, by extension of time for delivery or payment, &c.' (F. & H.): orig. US; anglicised ca. 1900.—6. A drink: proletarian: ca. 1884–1914. (Ware.) Perhaps ex the excuse of going for a shave.—7. A customer for a shave: barbers' coll.: 1895 (W. Pett Ridge). So too hair-cut, shampoo, singe.

shave, v. To deprive a person of all his money or goods; to charge him extortunately: late C.14—20: S.E. until C.19, then coll. verging on s. Cf. shaving the ladies, q.v.—2. Hence, to steal (v.t.): late C.16—mid-18. D'Urfey, 'The Maidens had shav'd his Breeches' (OED).

shave, a shilling, and a shove ashore, a. Short leave: RN: C.20. Shove here = a swift copulation, 'a short time'. Cf. shit, shower ... and soldier's three-penn'orth.

shave off! An exclam. of surprise or amazement: RN: since ca. 1920. Perhaps ex shave off, an order issued to those who, after a probationary period, are refused permission 'to grow' (a beard). P.B.: also of defiance, as in a naval chant I heard ca. 1950. 'I'll go to Trafalgar Square [after my demob.] and I'll say to Nelson: "Shave off, get stuffed, you fuckin' RN bastard! ..." Cf.:-

shave off, v.i.; shave off at (someone). To deliver a severe reprimand (to someone): RN since ca. 1920. (Granville, letter, 1962.) John Winton, We Joined the Navy, 1959, 'He shaved off at me this morning before I'd even had a chance to get a grip on things.'

shave through, v.i. Abbr. just shave through: from ca. 1860: university coll. >, ca. 1890, S.E. (H., 2nd ed.) A var. is make a shave: see shave, n., 2.

shaver. A fellow, chap; also a joker, a wag: late C.16—20: coll. From ca. 1830 (though young shaver occurs as early as 1630) only of a youth, and gen. prec. by young or little, very often depreciatively,—except that, at sea, old shaver = a man throughout C.19 (see, e.g. H., 5th ed.). Marlowe, 1592, 'Sirrah, are you not an old shaver? ... Alas, sir! I am a very youth'; 1748, Smollett, 'He drew a pistol and fired it at the unfortunate shaver'; Dickens; P.H. Emerson. Ex shaver, one who shaves (for barbers have always been 'cute, knowledgeable fellows); or perhaps ex shaver, an extortioner (esp. cunning shaver).—2. Very rarely applied to a woman: prob. only in C.17, e.g. Cotton, 1664, 'My Mother's a mad shaver, / No man alive knows where to have her.' (This instance may, however, be merely an extension of the C.17 coll. mad shaver, a roysterer.) Cf. the C.20 sporting women's use of chap in address or application to women.—3. A 'close shave' (escape): since ca. 1830. Disraeli, Coningsby, 1844 (D.B. Gardner).—4. A short jacket: late C.19—early 20: lower classes. Because it gen. fits close; cf. bum-freezer, -perisher.

shaving. A defrauding, whether process or completed act: C.17—20. (Dekker: OED.) Hence shaving terms, the making all the money one can: C.19—20.

shaving-brush. The female pubic hair: from after 1838; ob. by 1930.

shaving-mill. An open boat, sixteen-oared, of a type used as privateers in the war of 1812: Can. Bowen.

shaving the ladies. A drapers' phrase for over-charging women: 1863, 'Ouida', 'We have all heard of an operation called shaving the ladies': ob. by 1930. Ex shave, v., 1.

shavings. Illicit clippings of money: late C.17—20: c. >, ca. 1750, s. >, ca. 1800, coll. >, ca. 1860, S.E. B.E.; Grose, 1st ed.

shawk. An Indian kite: Anglo-Indian: from ca. 1870. A blend of shit(e)-hawk: in allusion to the scavenging characteristics of the bird.

shawl. A greatcoat: army joc.: earlier C.20. F. & G. shawly. An Irish fisherwoman, esp. of Dublin: Anglo-Irish: late C.19—20. (F. Tennyson Jesse, Many Latitudes, 1928.) Ex the great shawl they wear.—2. Hence, a shawl-wearing working-class woman: Anglo-Irish: C.20. (Patrick Doncaster, A Sigh for a Drum Beat, 1947.) Cf. the Anglo-Irish shawl, a prostitute, as in James Joyce, Ulysses, 1922, 'Fornicating with two shawls and a bully on guard.'

shay sho (or so), you don't. A joc. form of 'really!': C.20. Ex tipsy distortion of say and perhaps influenced by so say, q.v. Also I should shay sho or sol, certainly, as in Ian Hay, David and Destiny, 1934, 'I should shay sho! Go right ahead!' P.B.: † by mid-C.20.

shaynex. See shainer.

She. Queen Victoria: Society's nickname: 1887–8. (Ware.) Ex Rider Haggard's She, published early in 1887: it was so popular that Andrew Lang and W.H. Pollock, in the same year, parodied it as He.

she. A woman: mid-C.16—20: S.E. until mid-C.19 then coll.; in C.20, low coll. when not joc.—2. (Also shee.) A plum pudding: Charterhouse: late C.19—20; † by 1923. (A.H. Tod, Charterhouse, 1900.) Cf. he.—3. Her: C.16—20: S.E. until late C.17 then coll.; ca. 1750—1810, low coll.; from ca. 1840, sol. Foote, 1952, 'The fat Cook ... fell out at the Tail of the Waggon; so we left she behind' (OED).—4. Penis: Londoners': C.20. Partly euph., partly proleptic. L.A. cites 'A/C Ross' (T.E. Lawrence), The Mint, written in the 1920s, 'Golly, I didn't half want it, she fair lifted'. The sense occurs also in the card-players' double-entendre, 'Up she comes and the colour's red'.—5. Used for it in impersonal constructions: Aus. coll., based upon a practice common in the dialects of Ireland, Scotland, the North Country: late C.19—20. Aus. examples, extant in the 1960s: she's (or she'll be) apples—jake—right. It's all right, or All's well. (B.P.)—6. Frequently used when referring to a [male] homosexual—"She's an untidy bitch" (Tempest, 1950): prisoners'.

she couldn't cook hot water for a barber. A c.p. (from ca. 1880) applied to a poor housekeeper, esp. to a girl unlikely to be able to 'feed the brute'.

she didn't seem to mind it very much. A proletarian ironic c.p. intimating jealousy: ca. 1885—1900. Ware.

she-dragon. A termagant or a forbidding woman, esp. if elderly: from the 1830s: coll. bordering on, in C.20 >, S.E.—2. A kind of wig, says F. & H.: ? early C.19; prob. coll.

she-flunkey. A lady's maid: coll. (lower classes): from ca. 1875.

she has (or she's) been a good wife to him. An ironic proletarian c.p. 'cast at a drunken woman rolling in the streets' (Ware): from ca. 1905; not wholly †, 1935.

she-house. A house under petticoat rule: late C.18—mid-19. Grose, 1st ed.

she is ... See also she's ...

she is, or was, so innocent that she thinks, or thought, Fucking is, or was, a town in China. A Londoners' c.p.: since ca. 1940. (Chinese Fukien is a S.E. maritime province.) 'She' is a (or the) cat's mother (or grandmother). A c.p. addressed to a child who refers to his mother, or any other grown-up woman he should respect, merely as 'she': since mid-C.19. Sometimes 'And who is "she"? She is ...' (P.B.) she-lion. A shilling: from ca. 1780; very ob. by 1930. (Grose 1st ed.) By a pun.

she-male, n. and adj. Female: orig.—ca. 1880—London lower classes' > by ca. 1912 fairly gen. joc. (Ware.) Pairing with he-male, q.v.—2. A male with (very) long hair or other of what were once considered to be female external characteristics: since 1920s. Also written solid.

she-napper. A female thief-catcher; a bawd, a pimp: late C.17—mid-19: c. > ca. 1750 low s. B.E.; Grose 1st ed.

She-oak. Native ale: Aus. (1888), hence NZ; ob. Cf. shearer's joy. Ex the Aus. tree so named: quite! but why? (Morris.) Whence:-

she-oak net. A net spread under the gangway to catch seamen drunk on 'she-oak': nautical: late C.19—20; ob. Bowen.

she-school. A girls' school: C.19—early 20: coll. Cf. she-house.

she smokes; she's a smoker. She performs penilingism: low: C.20.

she thinks she's wearing a white collar! She's putting on 'side'!: a WAAC's c.p.: 1917—18. (B. & P.) Among the 'Waacs', a white collar was worn by NCOs.

she walks like she's got a feather up her ass. A Can. c.p. (C.20)—applied to a woman with a mincing, self-conscious gait. P.B.: cf. the low Brit. synonym. She walks (or she's walking) like (or as if) she's still got it in. Cf. the late C.16—17 walks wide.

she was only the (someone's) daughter—but she... did something or other that, in scabrous terms appropriate to the father's profession or trade or office, meant that she sexually complied. Not strictly s., nor yet a c.p.: but a coll. usage, a speech pattern. It goes back to late C.19. (A reminder, 1974, from P.B., who instances, interalia, 'She was only the carpenter's daughter—but she took a foot as a rule.') she will... See also she'll...

she (will) die wondering. An Aus. c.p. (C.20)—applied to a virgin spinster. Hence, at least she won't die wondering, applied, since ca. 1920, to a spinster marrying late and badly. (B.P.)

she will go off in an aromatic faint. A Society c.p. of 1883—ca. 86, 'said of a fantastical woman, meaning that her delicate nerves will surely be the death of her' (Ware).

she would (more commonly, she'd) take you in and blow you out as (or in) (little) bubbles. A c.p., used between men, aimed to deflate amorous boasting: raffish: C.20 she wouldn't know if someone was up her. A low c.p., referring to a very stupid girl: mostly Aus.: since ca. 1910. shearer's joy. Colonial beer: Aus. coll.: 1892 (Gilbert Parker). Cf. she-oak q.v. Morris.

shears. In off the shears, (of sheep) very recently shorn: Aus. coll., late C.19—earlier 20, >, by 1940, Standard Aus. B., 1942.—2. See pair of shears.

'sheart; occ. s'heart, shart, s'harte, incorrectly (C.18) 'sheart. A coll. euph. for God's heart!: late C.16—18. Occ. s'hart. OED.

sheary. (Of a painted surface) drying out unevenly: builders' and house-painters': C.20. Perhaps cf. Lincolnshire dial. sheary, sharp, cutting, (of grass) coarse (EDD).

sheath, by my. A trivial oath: coll.: ca. 1530—50. Heywood, More. OED.

sheave-o, sheaveo, sheavo or sheevo. A drunken bout; a free-fight: nautical. (F. & G.; Manchon.) A late C.19—20 derivative of:—2. An entertainment: RN: C.19—20. Indeed, F. & G records it for 1798 thus: 'Sir John Orde gave a grand chevaux' (letter of Lieut. Charles Cathcart, 6 May). Bill Truck, Dec. 1825, spells it sheevoy. See also shivoo; shivaroo.

sheba. An attractive girl or woman; esp. as the counterpart of sheikh (sense 1): from 1926, and mostly American. Ex the Queen of Sheba, reputedly alluring.

shebang. As a hut, room, dwelling, shop, it has remained US; but derivatively as a vehicle (Mark Twain, 1872) it was anglicised in the late 1890s; the debased sense, a thing, matter, business (—1895 in US) esp. in the whole shebang, is not, in C.20, unknown in the Brit. Commonwealth. Prob. ex Fr. cabane (De Vere). Cf. the whole cabush or caboodle.

shebo. Navy soap: RN lowerdeck: C.20. R.S. suggests a deriv. ex Sp. jabón, soap, via Gibraltar.

sheckles. Money: see shekels (the form given by Ware).—2. As expletive: Cockneys': late C.19—early 20. (Pugh, 2.) Perhaps cf. shucks!; perhaps, like sugar!, euph. for shit!

shed, n. A hangar: RAF coll.: since ca. 1925. (Jackson.) By humorous depreciation.—2. Chapel: St Bees: since ca. 1910. Marples.—3. A common Aus. conflation of shithead, q.v., itself Aus. as well as NZ [and Brit.: P.B.]: since ca. 1925. (B.P.) Cf. shawk and shouse.

shed, v. To give; give away (something of little value); drop, let go: coll.: 1855, Dickens, 'Would shed a little money [for] a mission or so to Africa' (OED).

